

POLITICAL SCIENCE JOBS

Online journal from the American Political Science Association

September 2022 | Volume 11, Issue 09

ISSN 2167-8332

In this Issue

Career Resources

Finding a Job in Political Science 3

Job Listings

Administration 4

American Government and Politics 6

Comparative Politics 67

International Relations 111

Methodology 154

Non-Academic 169

Open 172

Other 195

Political Theory 220

Public Administration 238

Public Law 255

Public Policy

About the Journal

Published monthly by the American Political Science Association, Political Science Jobs is an online journal containing all active jobs in political science as listed in the APSA online job board eJobs. The combined resource of the Political Science Jobs journal and the daily updated and fully searchable eJobs platform provides a comprehensive employment resource for political science and supports a transparent, efficient, and ethically-grounded labor market for the discipline.

Access to the journal is made freely accessible to APSA's over 14,000 individual and departmental members within the US and around the world.

Submissions

Job listings may be submitted to the journal via the online eJobs platform at www.apsanet.org/jobs and applicable fees may apply.

Online Access: www.apsanet.org/jobs

The core content in this journal draws upon active listings within eJobs, linkages to association programs and career resources. Readers are encouraged to visit the eJobs website for daily updates on new job listings and candidate resumes, and use the online features including search tool to locate listings by field of interest, employer or candidate name, region, keyword, position, salary, institution type, and most recent submissions.

Copyright © 2012
American Political Science Association
All rights reserved

APSA does not grant permission to any individual or party to republish or otherwise distribute this journal or any portion therein in any print or electronic form.

POLITICAL SCIENCE JOBS

September 2022 | Volume 11, Issue 09

ISSN 2167-8332

Online journal from the American Political Science Association

In this Issue

Career Resources

Finding a Job in Political Science 3

Job Listings

Administration 4 (4 listings)

American Government and Politics 6 (103 listings)

Comparative Politics 67 (74 listings)

International Relations 111 (78 listings)

Methodology 154 (26 listings)

Non-Academic 169 (4 listings)

Open 172 (41 listings)

Other 195 (37 listings)

Political Theory 220 (27 listings)

Public Administration 238 (25 listings)

Public Law 255 (17 listings)

Public Policy (56 listings)

Total listings this issue 492

Resources and Guidance on

Finding a Job in Political Science

Hundreds of academic positions are advertised each year in political science. Finding the openings is the easy part; knowing how to approach the application and interview process is a little more challenging. At APSA, we have collected resources to assist candidates in the academic job search. We would like to highlight a few of these key resources here. The complete list of job resources is available online at www.apsanet.org/jobs.

eJobs: This online resource contains comprehensive online listing of political science jobs, is updated daily with new job listings and candidate resumes, and is fully searchable by field of interest, name of employer/candidate, region, keyword, position, salary, type of institution, and most recent posts.

Data on Jobs Market: APSA gathers and releases data regarding the placement of political science Ph.Ds. View this information at www.apsanet.org/content_7623.cfm.

Mentoring: Enroll in the APSA Mentoring Program online at www.apsanet.org/mentoring.

eJobs Placement Interview Services: The eJobs Annual Meeting Placement Interview Service provides space and facilities for employers who have eJobs posted to interview candidates at the APSA meeting. Many other conferences, such as the Northeastern and Western, also use the APSA online service to schedule placement interviews. Check the listings online in eJobs.

Ethics Guide: The APSA Guide to Professional Ethics in Political Science includes specific guidance on hiring and employment practices. Order a print copy or view online at www.apsanet.org/ethics.

Asking the Right Questions: APSA Job Candidate Questions to Ask Program

Asking the right questions provides valuable information for career decisions. As part of the APSA Job Candidate Questions to Ask (JCQ) Program participating political science departments have agreed to answer the following questions from job candidates.

Salary

1. What is the salary structure?
2. How is salary normally negotiated?
3. How are annual increases handled?
4. Is there an automatic escalator to ensure the salaries of future hires will not outpace those of existing department members?

Service Activities

1. What are the expectations of pre-tenure and tenured faculty regarding:
 - departmental and institutional committee work,
 - professional or disciplinary activities, and
 - outreach activities to communities external to institution?

Research Support

1. What departmental or institutional resources are available to support:
 - access to research materials and equipment,
 - the employment of research assistants,
 - research expenses on/off campus, and
 - travel expenses for conferences?

2. What departmental or institutional resources are available to seek external funding and to administer external funding awards?

Teaching Support

1. What departmental or institutional resources are available to support:
 - the development of teaching expertise,
 - innovations in teaching, and
 - the introduction of new courses and new technologies?
2. What are departmental expectations regarding:
 - the average course load,
 - the number of different courses taught by faculty, and
 - advising of graduate and undergraduate students?

Tenure, Renewal, and Annual Review

1. What policies and procedures govern the granting of tenure, renewal of contracts for pre-tenure faculty, and annual reviews of faculty performance?
2. What are the department's expectations for successful performance leading to the granting of tenure or renewal of contracts for pre-tenure faculty?
3. What are the department's expectations for a positive annual review?

Mentoring and Faculty Support Initiatives

1. What attention does the department give to integrating new faculty into the department, the institution, and in the profession?
2. Does the department or institution have programs that address:
 - the employment of dual-career professional couples,
 - family needs of faculty and staff, and
 - issues associated with minority faculty and staff?

Health and Life Insurance

1. What are the plans offered?
2. How are benefits disbursed?
3. What are the out-of-pocket expenses?
4. Are partners and/or children covered, and to what extent?
5. What portion of my paycheck will be deducted for these benefits?

Retirement

1. How many types of retirement plans are offered?
2. What is the matching percentage of the institution?
3. Is contribution required (and how much)?

More on the APSA Job Candidate Questions to Ask (JCQ) Program

For more information about the JCQ program and to view the departments who agreed to answer these questions at www.apsanet.org/JCQ.

Political Science Jobs for September

ADMINISTRATION

National Defense University

Rank: Dean of Faculty and Academic Programs

Summary

National Defense University (NDU) supports the joint warfighter by providing rigorous Joint Professional Military Education to members of the U.S. Armed Forces and select others in order to develop leaders who have the ability to operate and creatively think in an unpredictable and complex world.

This is a Title 10 Excepted Service Appointment. Appointment is not to exceed 3 years with the possibility for extension.

This job is open to the public - U.S. Citizens, Nationals or those who owe allegiance to the U.S.

Apply online at: <https://www.usajobs.gov/job/671345800>

Open & closing dates

08/16/2022 to 09/13/2022

Salary

$150,859 - $173,470 per year

Pay scale & grade

AD 6

Duties

The Dean of Faculty and Academic Programs fosters institutional collaboration and integration in conjunction with the Dean of Administration, Dean of Students and the functional Directorate Heads; Chief Human Capital Officer (CHCO), Chief Information Officer (CIO), Chief Financial Officer (CFO) and Support Services Director (SSD). The Dean reports to the Component Head and is responsible to the VP-AA/Provost for the management and governance of the academic mission and their respective academic/research programs.

The Dean provides the leadership, management and expertise necessary to accomplish University-wide and component: strategic and operational academic program planning and assessment; development and documentation of required academic policies, guidance and processes; academic program oversight; and faculty talent and performance management and professional development.

Responsible for the content and quality of the college's curricula, the currency, relevance and pedagogical innovation of its component courses, programs and curricula.

Chairs the College Academic Policy Council (APC) or equivalent body for academic governance and peer review purposes.

Provides academic and faculty leadership for the college.

Teaches core, concentration or elective courses as needed to maintain contact with College courses, classrooms and students and to support delivery of the college curriculum.

Participates in University and component engagement efforts to share learning and scholarship within the college and throughout NDU.

Serves as a Working Group member of the Military Education Coordinating Council (MECC)

Performs other duties and projects as assigned.

Requirements

Conditions of Employment

Must be a U.S. Citizen

The individual selected for this position is required to obtain and maintain a Top Secret security determination as a condition of employment.

All federal employees are required to have direct deposit

File a Public Financial Disclosure Report (OGE-278) within 30 days of entering the covered position, annually thereafter, and within 30 days of terminating from a covered position required by the Ethics in Government Act (EIGA).

The incumbent will serve in a probationary status for the first 24 months. If they have served in a supervisory capacity as a Title 10 employee at NDU within the last year, the probationary period is reduced to 18 months.

If selected, you will be required to provide information regarding your COVID-19 vaccination status for the purposes of determining appropriate workplace safety protocols, such as those related to masking, testing, travel, and quarantine.

Qualifications

REQUIRED QUALIFICATIONS:

Must have a doctorate degree (or other equivalent terminal professional degree) with progressive professional experience in a relevant area and a substantial record of excellence in teaching, continuing scholarship, and service contributions within an appropriate field of academic study. Experience in graduate-level education is strongly preferred. Background and degree in a National Security Studies or related is strongly preferred.

Demonstrated successful record of leadership achievements, innovation, and managerial skills.

Must have demonstrated successful experience as a department head or as associate dean in an academic institution, or an equivalent leadership position. Must have a proven record for building partnerships and coalitions at similar or larger/more complex organizations. Must have a record of successfully leading change in an organization of similar or larger size or greater complexity. Must have experience developing the organizational vision and implementing policies and procedures to achieve this vision within available resources in a continuously changing environment.

Experience providing leadership and strategic direction over personnel across complex organizations.

DESIRED QUALIFICATIONS:

Background and degree in a national security studies, or other related areas is strongly preferred.

Experience working in the interagency, joint, multi-service or multi-national military environment.

Knowledge of public and/or private sector academic institutions' organization, structure, and operations.

Familiarity with the missions, organization, and operations of the Department of Defense.

Familiarity with the Joint Strategic Planning System

Experience managing at the highest levels within a large diverse academic environment.

Senior service college graduate level education preferred.

Education

Education Requirement: Ph.D. or other terminal degree from a regionally accredited institution of higher education (or international equivalent) related to the duties of this position, with a focus on national security or higher education academic administration.

Official transcripts will be required at time of selection to verify educational requirements are met.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 9/13/2022

Date Posted: 8/22/2022

Salary: $150,000 - $159,999
eJobs ID: 10753

American Bar Foundation

Rank: Executive Director

The American Bar Foundation (ABF) is extending its search for its next Executive Director and is inviting applications.

Established in 1952, the ABF, a nonprofit corporation, is one of the foremost research institutes dedicated to the empirical and interdisciplinary study of law, legal behavior, legal institutions, and legal processes in the U.S. and internationally. The ABF sponsors Law & Social Inquiry, a quarterly, peer-reviewed scholarly journal of international standing that is published by Cambridge University Press.

The Executive Director oversees the ABF research program through the management of 18 Research Professors, five Faculty Fellows, 13 Affiliated Research Professors, a full-time support staff of 22, and a part-time research assistance staff of 20. The interdisciplinary faculty have advanced degrees in such diverse fields as anthropology, criminology, economics, history, law, political science, psychology, and sociology, and many of the faculty hold both J.D. and Ph.D. degrees.

Executive Director candidates should hold a J.D., with preference given to applicants who also hold a Ph.D. in social sciences or humanities; a record of institutional leadership, including administrative and financial management; success in fundraising and academic grantsmanship; experience with the design and conduct of empirical and interdisciplinary research on law; familiarity with the organized bar and legal profession; and skill in communicating results of scholarly research to the bar, the bench, the academy, and the general public.

The Executive Director is charged with building upon the distinction of the ABF as a premier institute for pathbreaking, interdisciplinary, empirical research on law, legal processes, and legal institutions. Administrative responsibilities include directing, supervising, and promoting institutional research programs; producing multi-year plans for faculty research; directing and participating in institutional fundraising, including meeting with and presenting to public and private foundations, corporations, and major gift prospects; recruiting and retaining an excellent faculty; planning, generating and managing the institutional budget; managing the research faculty and staff; building a comprehensive communications program with all the ABF's constituencies; and regularly reporting to the ABF Board and officers on the research programs and other activities.

A full description of the Executive Director position and responsibilities is available on the ABF website. For details about the ABF faculty and research program, visit the website: americanbarfoundation.org.

Applications are invited for the Executive Director position, with priority consideration for those received by October 1, 2022, and must include a cover letter and curriculum vitae. To apply, please email your application materials to execsearch@abfn.org. The ABF encourages women and applicants from diverse backgrounds to apply. The Executive Director position is anticipated to begin in January 2023.

Start Date: Spring 2023

Application Deadline: 10/1/2022

Date Posted: 7/14/2022

Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 10495

Syracuse University

Rank: Director, Autonomous Systems Policy Institute (ASPI)

Director, Autonomous Systems Policy Institute (ASPI)
 Maxwell School of Citizenship and Public Affairs
 Syracuse University

Syracuse University invites applications for the Director of the Autonomous Systems Policy Institute (ASPI). Housed within the Maxwell School of Citizenship and Public Affairs and involving faculty from across Syracuse University, ASPI is dedicated to interdisciplinary scholarship and teaching related to the design, governance, and wider societal implications of autonomous systems and artificial intelligence. It aims to critically engage and shape the policy and ethical frameworks that will guide the design and use of these emerging technologies. Across its initiatives, ASPI endeavors to be the leader in uniting interdisciplinary scholarship and teaching related to emerging autonomous technologies, in integrating and thinking across different socio-technical systems, and in bringing academic insight, community needs, and industry developments into conversation and joint action.

Launched in 2019, ASPI includes 20 core faculty spread across Syracuse University and more than 130 faculty who are involved in some capacity. The Institute supports multiple interdisciplinary research teams as well as a speaker and research series, and has prioritized developing and maintaining strong relationships with key stakeholders in industry, advocacy, and government domains. Most recently, ASPI has launched initiatives including a graduate-student lab, regular industry roundtables, and an annual public symposium. Future plans include the creation of both undergraduate and graduate academic programs related to autonomous systems and artificial intelligence, innovative executive education programming, and additional faculty hires as part of a cluster hire initiative in Artificial Intelligence, Autonomous Systems, and the Human-Technology Frontier.

The director position in ASPI presents an exceptional opportunity for a visionary and collaborative academic leader with interests at the intersection of emerging autonomous technologies and policy. ASPI is unique among research institutes in its dual focus on the development of autonomous systems across multiple domains (e.g., mobility, healthcare, future of work, AI systems), as well as the need for deep and broad interdisciplinary engagement to understand the social and policy implications of these developments. Harnessing Syracuse University's strengths in public communications, management, design, computer science, and policy, ASPI offers its next director an ideal platform for establishing Syracuse University as the place for interdisciplinary, socially relevant research and teaching on autonomous systems and artificial intelligence.

For ASPI's director, we seek a senior scholar with a stellar research record related to autonomous systems and/or artificial intelligence and established experience in interdisciplinary engagement, program building, and translational work between and among academia, government, advocacy, and industry domains. Preference will be given to candidates who emphasize and demonstrate understanding of how the design, policy, and societal impacts of autonomous systems and artificial intelligence – ASPI's core focus – can be brought together in both scholarship and teaching. A record of extramural grant funding from a range of organizations is expected.

Candidates must have a Ph.D. and demonstrate expertise in policy, governance, and the societal implications of technology through their scholarship, leadership, and teaching. The successful candidate must meet the requirements of being hired as a full professor with tenure. The tenure home for the person hired will be determined in conversation with the candidate.

To apply for the position, candidates must complete an online faculty application (available at <https://www.sujobopps.com/postings/92261>) and submit a curriculum vitae and letter of interest. The search committee will begin reviewing applications on Sept. 15th. We will continue to consider applications until the position is filled.

Syracuse University is an Equal Opportunity Employer. Women, minorities, and individuals with disabilities are encouraged to apply. Successful candidates must be committed to working with diverse student and community populations.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/7/2022

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 10470

Mississippi State University

Rank: Professor and Head

Professor and Head of the Department of Political Science and Public Administration, Mississippi State University. The Department of Political Science and Public Administration is searching for a Department Head at the rank of Professor, beginning July 1, 2022. Applications from Associate Professors could be considered conditional to promotion at the rank of Professor by the time of appointment. We seek an accomplished scholar to lead a dynamic program, with an energetic and productive research and teaching faculty experienced in training high-achieving undergraduate and graduate students. Candidates must have a PhD in Political Science, Public Administration, or related fields, an established research and/or extramural funding record, a commitment to academic excellence, and strong administrative skills. In providing such leadership, the Head will guide curricular revision and programmatic assessment; guide faculty through the tenure and promotion process; oversee all personnel matters; manage the budget; serve as a liaison between faculty and administration; and sustain and enhance collaborative programs with other campus units. Documented experience in departmental or college leadership positions is required. The teaching assignment is negotiable. The salary will be competitive. Degree programs offered include a BA and MA in Political Science, a NASPAA-accredited Master in Public Policy and Administration, and a PhD in Public Policy and Administration. The department consists of 16 faculty members, 236 undergraduate majors, 42 Masters students, and 35 PhD students. The department has strong ties to several research and government centers, including the Social Science Research Center, the John C. Stennis Institute of Government, and the Stennis Center for Public Service. More information on the department is available at <http://www.pspa.msstate.edu>.

Applications are to be submitted electronically by accessing <http://www.msujobs.msstate.edu/> and should include a Vita, a letter describing administrative philosophy and research interests, and supporting materials demonstrating administrative, teaching, service, and scholarly achievement, as well as a list of references. Review of applications will begin February 18, 2022, but applications will be accepted and reviewed until the position is filled.

Start Date: Summer 2022

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 1/11/2022

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 9957

AMERICAN GOVERNMENT AND POLITICS

University of California, Riverside

Rank: Assistant Professor, American Political Institutions

Assistant Professor American Politics

University of California, Riverside Department of Political Science

The Department of Political Science at the University of California, Riverside, invites applications for a tenure-track position at the rank of Assistant Professor in the field of American Politics. We seek a scholar with an active research agenda, and teaching interests, focused on U.S. political institutions, broadly conceived. The successful candidate should be committed to excellence in undergraduate and graduate education and have a record or promise of research publication. The candidate should also be committed to advancing a climate that embraces inclusion and diversity, with a commitment to teaching and mentoring that will enhance the work of the department and support a diverse student body. Ph.D. is preferred; candidates who are ABD at the time of application will be considered. The appointment level and salary will be competitive and commensurate with education and experience. The appointment will commence on July 1, 2023.

Applicants are required to submit a cover letter of interest, an updated CV, a research statement, a writing sample, teaching evidence or evaluations, a statement of Past and/or Planned Future Contributions to Advancing Diversity and Inclusive Excellence, and 3 letters of recommendation to <https://aprecruit.ucr.edu/apply/JPF01642>. Confidential Letters are solicited via the AP Recruit System Only – Applicant inserts reference names and solicits references from within AP Recruit at time of application. Only complete applications will be reviewed by the committee. Questions should be directed to Search Committee Chair Ben Bishin bishin@ucr.edu.

Applicants who use Interfolio may utilize a feature provided by the Interfolio Service to allow Interfolio to upload their letters directly into AP Recruit. Applicants can input an Interfolio-generated email address in place of their letter writer's email address. Interfolio refers to this as Online Application Deliveries. The following link on the Interfolio website shows how to set this up <http://help.interfolio.com/entries/xxx-Uploading-Letters-to-an-Online-Application-System>.

Advancement through the faculty ranks at the University of California is through a series of structured, merit-based evaluations, occurring every 2-3 years, each of which includes substantial peer input.

Faculty in the University of California are expected to engage in research, teaching, and service. The typical course load is four classes over the academic year.

Review of Applications will begin on October 28, 2022 and may continue until the position is filled. Applications and supporting materials received by October 28, 2022 will receive full consideration.

UCR is a world-class research university with an exceptionally diverse undergraduate student body. Its mission is explicitly linked to providing routes to educational success for underrepresented and first-generation college students. A commitment to this mission is a preferred qualification.

The University of California is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer. All qualified candidates will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, age, disability, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law.

University of California COVID-19 Vaccination Program Policy
As a condition of employment, you will be required to comply with the University of California SARS-CoV-2 (COVID-19) Vaccination Program Policy (https://policy.ucop.edu/doc/5000695/SARS-CoV-2_Covid-19). All Covered Individuals under the policy must provide proof of Full Vaccination or, if applicable, submit a request for Exception (based on Medical Exemption, Disability, and/or Religious Objection) or Deferral (based on pregnancy) no later than the applicable deadline. Please refer to Appendix F, Section II.C. of the policy for the deadlines applicable to new University of California employees. Federal, state, or local public health directives may impose additional requirements.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 10/28/2022

Date Posted: 9/2/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10833

University of Rochester

Rank: American Politics

The Department of Political Science at the University of Rochester invites applications from candidates working in all areas of American politics for a tenure-track assistant professor position, starting July 1, 2023. We are particularly interested in candidates with strong methodological skills.

Applications should include a letter of interest, C.V., research statement, teaching statement, letters of recommendation, samples of written work, graduate transcript and a statement of your commitment to advancing equity and fostering an inclusive and diverse community in academia, including past work and future goals. The University of Rochester is firmly committed to advancing equity and fostering an inclusive and diverse community. We ask candidates to include a statement detailing their past work and future plans for achieving these goals

Materials should be submitted online at: www.rockefeller.edu/faculty-recruiting. For more information on the University of Rochester Political Science Department go to: <http://www.sas.rockefeller.edu/pscl>. We will begin reviewing applications on September 23, 2022.

The University of Rochester is an Equal Opportunity Employer and actively encourages applications from candidates from groups underrepresented in higher education.

Start Date: Summer 2023

Application Deadline: 9/23/2022

Date Posted: 9/2/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10837

University of Rochester

Rank: Black Politics

The University of Rochester's Department of Political Science and the Frederick Douglass Institute for African & African-American Studies invite applications from candidates working on Black politics, broadly construed, for a tenure-track or tenured position at the assistant or associate professor rank, starting July 1, 2023. This hire is part of a multi-year initiative to bolster the department's profile in the study of race and ethnic politics. The primary appointment will be in the Department of Political Science, with a joint appointment in the Frederick Douglass Institute. The position is part of a School of Arts and Sciences cluster initiative focused on hiring scholars who do path-breaking research in Black Studies. Research addressing critical issues pertaining to the African Diaspora is supported, in part, by the Frederick Douglass Institute for African and African-American Studies: <https://www.sas.rochester.edu/aas/>. Tenure upon appointment for qualified senior candidates may be granted, contingent on favorable review of the candidate's dossier by the department, the dean of arts & sciences, and the provost.

All applications should include a letter of interest, C.V., research statement, teaching statement, and samples of written work. Candidates for a position at the rank of assistant professor should also include letters of recommendation, and candidates without a prior tenure-track appointment should include a graduate transcript. The University of Rochester is firmly committed to advancing equity and fostering an inclusive and diverse community. We ask candidates to include a statement detailing their past work and future plans for achieving these goals.

Materials should be submitted online at: www.rochester.edu/faculty-recruiting. For more information on the University of Rochester Political Science Department, go to: <http://www.sas.rochester.edu/pscl>. We will begin reviewing applications on September 23, 2022.

The University of Rochester is an Equal Opportunity Employer and actively encourages applications from candidates from groups underrepresented in higher education.

Start Date: Summer 2023

Application Deadline: 9/23/2022

Date Posted: 9/2/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10835

National Defense University

Rank: Academic Specialist

Subfield(s): Non-Academic, American Government and Politics, Other

Summary

National Defense University (NDU) supports the joint warfighter by providing rigorous Joint Professional Military Education to members of the U.S. Armed Forces and select others in order to develop leaders who have the ability to operate and creatively think in an unpredictable and complex world.

This job is open to the public - U.S. Citizens, Nationals or those who owe allegiance to the U.S.

Apply online at: <https://www.usajobs.gov/job/674414700>

Open & closing dates
08/31/2022 to 09/14/2022

Salary
$52,314 - $55,242 per year

Pay scale & grade
AD 1

Location
1 vacancy in the following location: Fort McNair, Washington, DC

Appointment type
Term - 3 years

Duties
Providing academic curriculum and program support through the Learning Management System and other web based tools.
Coordinating copyright clearance and approval through multiple clearance centers.
Assist the production and execution of materials for conferences, workshops, and other events to be hosted by the College.
Must be able to plan and execute budgets and fiscal support.
This position reports to the Director of Operations.

Requirements
Conditions of Employment
Must be a U.S. Citizen
This is a Non-Critical Sensitive position which requires a background investigation. The individual selected for this position is required to obtain and maintain a Secret security clearance.

Qualifications
Required Qualifications:
An earned Bachelor's degree from an accredited academic institution.
Knowledge of basic educational theory and methodology, especially in the procedures for the development of curriculum at the graduate level.
Experience in the copyright process as it relates to the academic environment.
Experience using Learning Management Systems as it relates to the academic environment. Advanced user of Microsoft Suite.
Communicate orally and in writing with core course directors, faculty and internal and external customers.
Experience working in institutional research
Education
Education Requirement: An earned Bachelor's degree from an accredited academic institution.

Official transcripts will be required at time of selection to verify educational requirements are met.

Start Date:
Date Posted: 9/1/2022
Salary: $50,000 - $59,999
eJobs ID: 10830

University of Virginia
Rank: Assistant Professor of Public Policy and Politics, Tenure Track

The Frank Batten School of Leadership and Public Policy at the University of Virginia seeks to fill a tenure-track, Assistant Professor faculty position in public policy and politics with a start date in Fall 2023. We invite applications from candidates who have earned their doctorate in political science, public policy, or related disciplines, with a focus on American Politics. We welcome applicants from all subfields within American politics whose work focuses on the politics affecting U.S. public policies, including but not limited to the bureaucracy, legislative politics, democratic accountability, or state and local government. Candidates who study these topics as they relate to social policy are particularly encouraged to apply.

The successful candidate will demonstrate the ability to produce highly influential scholarship. The successful candidate must have the desire and ability to effectively teach courses on politics, public policy, and leadership at the undergraduate (BA) and graduate (MPP) levels, and a desire and ability to contribute to the Batten mission through service and public outreach and engagement. The successful candidate will be committed to promoting diversity, equity, and inclusion.

While the primary appointment is in the Batten School, a joint/courtesy appointment could be possible in the Politics Department depending on the candidate's interests and qualifications. The Batten School is a dynamic cross-disciplinary school offering highly competitive teaching loads, salaries, and research support. The Batten School is committed to faculty growth, including multiple searches this year.

Built upon the strong foundation of one of the nation's top public universities, the Batten School combines rigorous training in policy analysis with a unique emphasis on the acquisition of leadership skills. The research faculty includes psychologists, economists, and political scientists, and is enriched by professors of practice who bring real-world policymaking expertise to the classroom. The Batten School currently offers an MPP degree and an undergraduate major and minor in public policy and leadership, as well as multiple dual degree programs with other UVA units.

Applications must be received by September 30, 2022, to receive full consideration, after which applications will be considered on a rolling basis.

To apply

Apply online at <https://uva.wd1.myworkdayjobs.com/UVAJobs> Search for requisition R0039915. Complete the application, and upload the following Required materials:

- A curriculum vitae
- Cover letter describing the candidate's interest in the Batten School, as well as research, teaching, and public engagement interests
- Writing Sample
- Research statement
- Teaching statement
- Diversity statement that describes active or potential contributions to diversity-related research, teaching, service, and/or public engagement
- Three letters of recommendation

The candidate should have a PhD, or be on track to attaining the PhD, by August 1, 2023.

 Note: Multiple documents can be uploaded in the CV/Resume box. Incomplete applications that are missing required documents may not be given full consideration.

For questions about the application process, please contact Marcus Rozier, Academic Recruiter, hjv5vm@virginia.edu

COVID Vaccination Requirement and Guidelines
Please visit the UVA COVID-19 Job Requirements and Guidelines webpage prior to applying for current information regarding vaccination requirements and guidelines for employment at UVA.

Start Date: Fall 2023
Date Posted: 9/1/2022
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 10828

University of Arkansas, Little Rock

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

The University of Arkansas at Little Rock's School of Public Affairs invites applications for an Assistant Professor of Political Science – American Politics to begin August 2023. The successful candidate will teach undergraduate courses in American Government, State and Local Government, Public Policy and Administration, and Research Methods. Teaching will include both face-to-face and online course modes. The successful candidate will advise undergraduate students, supervise service learning and internship experiences, and coordinate the Leadership and Public Management certificate program.

The successful candidate will also conduct and publish scholarly research. Research activities will also include community engagement and applied research publications. The successful candidate will seek grant opportunities in support of their research and/or teaching activities.

The successful candidate will participate in faculty governance in the School of Public Affairs, the College of Humanities, Arts, Social Sciences, and Education and the University of Arkansas at Little Rock.

The successful candidate will join a collegial and active faculty in the School of Public Affairs, which is home to programs in Political Science, Public Administration, and Nonprofit Leadership Studies, including a NASPAA-accredited MPA program. The School also includes the Survey Research Center and the Arkansas Public Administration Consortium.

UA Little Rock is a metropolitan institution located in a vibrant capital city. Our location provides opportunities to work with a diverse student body, pursue externally funded research, and engage with the community. Little Rock is known for affordable housing, proximity to wilderness and recreational activities, and numerous cultural and civic attractions, including the William J. Clinton Presidential Library, the Arkansas Studies Institute, and the Arkansas Symphony Orchestra.

Qualifications

Required Education and Experience

A PhD in Political Science with a field or emphasis in American Politics is required. ABD candidates will be considered if the doctoral degree will be complete by the time of employment. Experience in college teaching and evidence of scholarship or scholarly potential is required.

Preferred Experience

Experience with developing service learning and internship opportunities is preferred. Experience in a government agency or nonprofit organization is desirable.

Compensation

This is a 9-month position with $54,000 salary plus a competitive benefits package.

Required Documents

Cover letter, CV, statement of teaching philosophy, and writing sample

Diversity, Equity and Inclusion

The School of Public Affairs and the University of Arkansas at Little Rock is dedicated to building a culturally diverse and pluralistic faculty and staff committed to teaching and working in a multicultural environment. We strongly encourage applications from women, minorities, individuals with disabilities, dual-career professionals, and veterans.

The University of Arkansas at Little Rock is an equal opportunity employer. The University of Arkansas at Little Rock does not discriminate in employment, educational programs, or activities on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, age, ancestry, national origin, sexual orientation, gender identity and expression, military or veteran status, disability, familial status, or political affiliation.

To Apply

Visit <https://ualr.edu/humanresources/jobs/> to apply.

The search committee will begin considering applications immediately. The position will remain open until filled.

For More Information

Contact Dr. Anne Williamson, Director, School of Public Affairs, arwilliamson@ualr.edu or (501) 916-6060.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Date Posted: 8/31/2022

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 10816

Tufts University

Rank: Assistant Professor in American Politics (Tenure-Track)

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Policy, Public Policy

Specializations: American Politics, Gender Politics & Policy, Judicial Politics

Description

The Department of Political Science at Tufts University invites applications for a tenure-track position at the Assistant Professor level in American Politics to begin September 1, 2023. We are particularly interested in candidates who specialize in American political institutions, including the legislative, executive, and judicial branches of government. Within that specialization, we are also interested in candidates whose research addresses gender and politics, racial and ethnic politics, public policy, inequality, and state and local politics.

Please contact Administrative Coordinator Jimmy Pavlick at james.pavlick@tufts.edu with questions.

Qualifications

Promise of excellence in scholarship and teaching is required. Teaching duties are two courses per semester. Ph.D. in Political Science, or expectation of completion of degree requirements by appointment date of September 1, 2023.

All offers of employment are contingent upon the completion of a background check and meeting the University's current COVID-19 vaccination requirements.

Interfolio Application Instructions

Submit application materials to Interfolio at apply.interfolio.com/112555

Applications must include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, research and teaching interests statements, three confidential letters of recommendation uploaded directly by recommenders to Interfolio, and a writing sample.

Note that our department is committed to diversity, equity, and inclusion, and candidates should address, across their materials, how they will promote these priorities in their professional careers and teaching. The search committee will begin screening applications on October 1, 2022, and will continue until the position is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/30/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10807

University of Chicago

Rank: Assistant Professor

Specializations: American Politics, Judicial Politics, Race & Ethnic Politics

Job Description

The Department of Political Science at the University of Chicago invites applications for an Assistant Professor in American Politics. This position is part of a larger departmental hiring initiative in American Politics. We welcome applications from the entire subfield of American politics, and particularly from scholars who work in the areas of racial and ethnic politics, judicial politics, campaigns and elections, state and local politics, and/or the bureaucracy. This position will begin on or after July 1, 2023.

Qualifications

Candidates must have completed all requirements for the PhD degree prior to the start of the appointment.

Application Instructions

Applicants must apply at the University of Chicago's Interfolio website at apply.interfolio.com/112427. Applications must include: 1) a cover letter that, among other things, describes the applicant's prior and potential contributions to diversity in the context of academic research, teaching, and service; 2) a curriculum vitae; 3) a research statement addressing current research and future plans for research; 4) a teaching statement addressing teaching experience and philosophy; 5) two samples of scholarly writing; and 6) three letters of reference. Consideration of applications will begin on September 30, 2022.

Start Date: Summer 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/29/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10794

University of Chicago

Rank: Provost Postdoctoral Fellow

Specializations: American Politics, Judicial Politics, Race & Ethnic Politics

The Department of Political Science at the University of Chicago invites applications for a Provost Postdoctoral Fellow in American Politics. This position is part of a larger departmental hiring initiative in American Politics. We welcome applications from the entire subfield of American politics, and particularly from scholars who work in the areas of racial and ethnic politics, judicial politics, campaigns and elections, state and local politics, and/or the bureaucracy. This fellowship provides up to two years of funding for junior scholars whose accomplishments make them exceptionally competitive for faculty positions. Fellows will teach one course per year. At the end of the fellowship period and following an academic review, the Fellow may be directly promoted to a tenure-track assistant professorship. This position will begin on or after July 1, 2023.

Qualifications

Candidates must have completed all requirements for the PhD degree prior to the start of the appointment.

Application Instructions

Applicants must apply at the University of Chicago's Interfolio website at apply.interfolio.com/112426. Applications must include: 1) a cover letter that, among other things, describes the applicant's prior and potential contributions to diversity in the context of academic research, teaching, and service; 2) a curriculum vitae; 3) a research statement addressing current research and future plans for research; 4) a teaching statement addressing teaching experience and philosophy; 5) two samples of scholarly writing; and 6) three letters of reference. Consideration of applications will begin on September 30, 2022.

Start Date: Summer 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/29/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10793

University of Richmond

Rank: Assistant Professor of Leadership Studies

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, International Relations

The University of Richmond's Jepson School of Leadership Studies (JLS) invites applications for a full-time tenure-track position at the rank of Assistant Professor to begin in the 2023-24 academic year.

The successful candidate must be a quantitative social scientist who will have completed a Ph.D. by August 16, 2023 in anthropology, economics, political science, psychology, sociology, or a related field. We will consider candidates whose demonstrated scholarly work considers how institutions or cultural norms structure leadership and/or decision-making. Successful candidates' specific areas of expertise might include (but are not limited to): whether or how leaders matter, collective intelligence, institutional decision-making, collective action problems, political polarization, institutional change, or cultural evolution.

JLS is a collaborative, inclusive community of scholars with representation from diverse humanities and social science disciplines. Applicants should have the potential and desire to teach in our interdisciplinary undergraduate liberal arts environment (see <http://jepson.richmond.edu/for> more information). The successful candidate will be expected to teach elective courses related to his or her disciplinary training and to contribute to the curriculum by teaching such required courses as Leadership and the Social Sciences, Quantitative Social Science, and Theories and Models of Leadership.

The University of Richmond is a private university located just a short drive from downtown Richmond, Virginia. Through its five schools (including JSLS) and wide array of campus programming, the University combines the best qualities of a small liberal arts college and a large university. With approximately 4,000 students, an 8:1 student-faculty ratio, and more than 90% of traditional undergraduate students living on campus, the University is remarkably student-centered, focused on preparing students “to live lives of purpose, thoughtful inquiry, and responsible leadership in a global and pluralistic society.”

Applicants should apply online at <http://jobs.richmond.edu> and submit a curriculum vitae, cover letter, and teaching statement. In their cover letter, candidates should demonstrate how their scholarly and teaching interests bear on institutional or cultural determinants of leadership and/or decision-making. In addition, applicants should specify in their cover letters how they are prepared to contribute to the unique, interdisciplinary environment at JSLS and to diversity and inclusion. Please also include the names and emails of three references. We will let candidates know in advance if their references will be asked to submit letters (to the University's Human Resources department at URHR@richmond.edu). The teaching statement should articulate the candidate's teaching philosophy and experience, particularly as they relate to the courses the successful candidate is expected to teach.

Applications are due by October 31. Zoom interviews will be conducted in November. We anticipate inviting candidates to campus early 2023.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 10/31/2022

Date Posted: 8/29/2022

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 10795

University of Wisconsin, Madison

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Political Science department at the University of Wisconsin-Madison seeks to hire a faculty member at the level of Assistant Professor who will publish original research and teach courses on the subject of race, ethnic, and identity politics in the United States. The successful candidate will teach at the undergraduate and graduate level while maintaining excellence in research. Faculty positions include a commitment to the important functions of research, instruction, as well as professional and university service as appropriate to faculty rank.

RESPONSIBILITIES. Responsibilities include conducting research and maintaining an active research program, teaching at the graduate and undergraduate level, and service at the professional and university level.

STATEMENT ON DIVERSITY. Diversity is a source of strength, creativity, and innovation for UW-Madison. We value the contributions of each person and respect the profound ways their identity, culture, background, experience, status, abilities, and opinion enrich the university community. We commit ourselves to the pursuit of excellence in teaching, research, outreach, and diversity as inextricably linked goals.

The University of Wisconsin-Madison fulfills its public mission by creating a welcoming and inclusive community for people from every background - people who as students, faculty, and staff serve Wisconsin and the world. We seek faculty members who create a climate that embraces excellence and diversity, and bring a commitment to teaching and mentoring that will enhance the work of the department as well as attract and retain a diverse student body. We are interested in scholars who bring a diversity of intellectual viewpoints to campus. Candidates from under-represented groups are especially encouraged to apply.

EDUCATION: Required Ph.D. in Political Science, with specialization in the politics of race, ethnicity, and identity, by the start of the appointment.

QUALIFICATIONS. Candidates with an excellent publication record or a productive research program with strong publishing potential are encouraged to apply.

COVID-19 CONSIDERATIONS. UW-Madison continues to follow necessary health and safety protocols to protect our campus from COVID-19. All employees remain subject to the COVID-19 Workplace Safety Policy: <https://policy.wisc.edu/library/UW-5086>. Please visit <https://covidresponse.wisc.edu> for the most up-to-date information.

ANTICIPATED START DATE. AUGUST 21, 2023

HOW TO APPLY. To apply, go to <http://jobs.wisc.edu> and search for PVL 265890. To begin the application process, click on the Apply Now button. You will be asked to create a profile and upload the following 4 items: 1) a C.V., 2) cover letter, 3) a research statement, a teaching statement, a diversity statement (all three statements uploaded as 1 document), and 4) 2 samples of written work (please upload these 2 samples together). You will also be asked to provide contact information for three (3) references as part of your online application; each reference will receive an electronic link through which they can upload a signed letter of reference.

The deadline for assuring full consideration is October 7, 2022; however the position will remain open and applications may be considered until the position is filled.

The University of Wisconsin is an Equal Opportunity and Affirmative Action Employer. We promote excellence through diversity and encourage all qualified individuals to apply.

If you need to request an accommodation because of a disability, you can find information about how to make a request at the following website: <https://employeeabilities.wisc.edu/disability-accommodation-information-for-applicants/>

Employment will require a criminal background check. It will also require you and your references to answer questions regarding sexual violence and sexual harassment.

The University of Wisconsin System will not reveal the identities of applicants who request confidentiality in writing, except that the identity of the successful candidate will be released. See Wis. Stat. sec. 19.36(7).

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/29/2022
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 10798

Clark University

Rank: Lloyd B. Politsch '33 Chair

Specializations: Constitutional Law & Theory, Civil Rights & Liberties, Judicial Politics

Clark University invites applications for the newly established Lloyd B. Politsch '33 Chair, a tenured or tenure-track position in the Political Science Department to begin in August 2023. We are interested in candidates with an expertise in constitutional law or public law and an ability to address questions related to the fairness and legitimacy of courts and legal institutions in today's American political climate. While we are open to candidates with expertise in any area of constitutional or public law, we are particularly interested in candidates with the ability to teach and conduct research in areas such as civil rights and civil liberties; voting and voting rights; interactions between citizens and the criminal justice system; the politics of criminal justice reform. Candidates must have Ph.D. or a J.D. We are interested in hiring at the Associate or Full Professor level, but promising candidates at the advanced Assistant Professor level will also be considered.

The usual teaching load for Clark faculty is four courses per academic year. We anticipate that in addition to teaching a mixture of undergraduate courses on constitutional or public law, the successful candidate will contribute to the department's core American politics curriculum and will play a role in maintaining and strengthening the university's interdisciplinary Law and Society Concentration and in supporting Clark's prelaw program. This endowed chair includes a research bursary.

Clark University is a small, liberal arts-based research university, enrolling 2,200 undergraduates and 1,000 graduate students, located in Worcester, Massachusetts. Clark University embraces equal opportunity as a core value: we believe that cultivating an environment that embraces and promotes diversity is fundamental to the success of our students, our employees, and our community. This commitment applies to every aspect of education, services, and employment policies and practices at Clark. Our commitment to diversity informs our efforts in recruitment, hiring and retention. All positions at Clark share in the responsibility for building a community that values diversity and the uniqueness of others by exhibiting integrity and respect in interacting with all members of the Clark community to create an atmosphere of fairness and belonging. We strongly encourage members from historically underrepresented communities, inclusive of all women, to apply.

Additional information about the department can be found at our website: <https://www.clarku.edu/departments/political-science/>. The position will remain open until filled. Applications received by October 15, 2022 will receive full consideration. Send a cover letter, c.v., statement of research and teaching interests, a statement addressing commitment to diversity and inclusion, a writing sample, transcript, names and contact information for three references, and evidence of teaching effectiveness to: <http://clarku.interviewexchange.com/jobofferdetails.jsp?JOBID=152509>.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/28/2022

Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 10792

SUNY, University at Buffalo

Rank: Assistant/Associate Professor

The Department of Political Science, University at Buffalo, The State University of New York seeks an Associate or advanced Assistant Professor in American or Comparative Politics focusing on democratic processes and electoral phenomena.

We welcome applicants whose specialties are related to the study of democratic processes, democratic transition, consolidation, and regression, and specifically to the study of phenomena associated with elections. Issues of election reform, electoral integrity, and violence are central to the functioning of democracy both in the US and abroad. While elections are a central pillar of democratic legitimacy and consolidation, they can also serve as targets for instability incited by groups intent on bringing about democratic backsliding. All applicants studying democratic processes in these and related research areas are invited to apply.

This hire will be one of two new faculty members who study the topics noted above in the American or foreign/comparative contexts. The second hire will be at the Full Professor rank. Candidates that match the Department's strength in quantitative methods of analysis and formal modeling are especially welcome. Teaching will include political science courses at the undergraduate and graduate levels. Normal departmental, university and disciplinary service duties are expected. We encourage applications from Associate Professors and advanced Assistant Professors. Salary and start-up will be competitive and commensurate with rank.

The faculty in the Department of Political Science understand the value and importance of diversity. We are committed to providing an open, supportive, and inclusive environment for all of our students, faculty, and staff members, consistent with the University's commitment to inclusive excellence. Women and underrepresented candidates are encouraged to apply.

A letter of application, a vita, and three letters of recommendation must be submitted electronically at <https://www.ubjobs.buffalo.edu/postings/36989>. Applicants are encouraged to apply by October 31st to receive full consideration, although application review will begin immediately. Questions about the position can be directed to Dr. Elena McLean by email at elenamcl@buffalo.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/26/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10783

Trinity University

Rank: Assistant Professor

Specializations: Congress, Urban Politics, Research Methods

The Department of Political Science invites applications for a tenure-track assistant professor position in American politics beginning August 2023. The Department is particularly interested in candidates with expertise in legislative politics, public policy, and urban politics.

Ability to teach research methods is a plus. Candidates should have the PhD completed by summer 2023.

Trinity University values both strong teaching and research. The successful candidate is expected to maintain a robust research agenda, supported by competitive summer research stipends and pre-tenure academic leave. The successful candidate will teach the lower division survey course in American politics and gradually develop and offer upper division courses in urban politics, public policy, and legislative politics. The candidate will also be expected to contribute to the university's general education curriculum, particularly its First-Year Experience. A strong commitment to undergraduate teaching is essential, as well as a demonstrated commitment to Trinity's value of intentional inclusion. There are many opportunities for Trinity faculty to be engaged in experiential learning, interdisciplinary teaching and research, and faculty-led study abroad programs. The teaching load consists of five courses per academic year.

This search is linked to a cluster hire focused on Building Inclusive Communities, which seeks to recruit, amplify, connect, and empower teacher-scholars whose work contributes to addressing the grand challenge of building and sustaining inclusive communities. Additional tenure-track faculty positions will be advertised as part of the cluster, with the goal of recruiting a diverse interdisciplinary faculty cohort whose research, experience, and interests will benefit from collaboration and intentional support, including individual and group research startup funding. The successful candidate has the option of participating in the cluster hire community.

Trinity University is one of the nation's top liberal arts universities. We're located in the heart of San Antonio, a large, vibrant and diverse city where our students learn from and participate in a multicultural urban environment. Trinity University is a prestigious, selective liberal arts institution, with over 11,000 applications, and approximately 650 first-year students in the Class of 2026.

Trinity University is an equal opportunity employer and as such provides equal opportunity for employment and advancement of all employees without regard to race, color, religion, sex, age, national origin, disability, military/veteran status, sexual orientation, gender identity, gender expression, or any status protected by federal, state, or local laws.

Trinity University is committed to the value of intentional inclusion. Please provide a brief statement (250-500 words) describing your past efforts as well as your future plans to advance diversity, equity and inclusion in your teaching, research, or other professional activities.

Applicants must submit electronic versions of a cover letter, CV, intentional inclusion statement, three letters of recommendation, evidence of teaching effectiveness, writing sample, and transcripts to David Crockett, Department of Political Science, Trinity University, One Trinity Place, San Antonio, TX 78212. Phone: (210) 999-8344. Email: dcrocket@trinity.edu.

The position will remain open until filled. Deadline for receipt of applications is October 1, 2022. The department will be interviewing at the APSA annual conference in Montreal, and strongly urges applicants to participate in that process.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 10/1/2022

Date Posted: 8/26/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10788

University of Maryland, Baltimore County

Rank: Assistant Professor

Position Description

The Department of Political Science at the University of Maryland, Baltimore County (UMBC) invites applications for a tenure track Assistant Professor position in American politics, beginning August 2023. We seek outstanding candidates with a teaching and research concentration in race and ethnic politics. UMBC is a Carnegie Research 1, community-engaged, minority-serving institution focused on inclusive excellence. UMBC is a dynamic and growing public research university located in the Baltimore-Washington Corridor. The university has a student population of 13,640 graduate and undergraduate students. US News and World Report regularly ranks UMBC in the top 10 of most innovative universities, and the Chronicle of Higher Education recognizes UMBC as one its "Great Colleges to Work For" in categories including cooperative governance, compensation, teaching environment, and work-life balance. UMBC is especially proud of the diversity of its student body, and we seek to attract an equally diverse applicant pool for this position. Our faculty and campus community have a strong commitment to equity and social justice, as do our students.

For example, our department's undergraduate Council of Majors is currently spearheading an ongoing project designed to increase diversity and inclusion in the curriculum. To learn more about the Political Science Department, please visit <https://politicalscience.umbc.edu/> and <https://politicalscience.umbc.edu/commitment-to-diversity-equity-and-inclusion/>.

Qualifications

Preference will be given to candidates who already hold a Ph.D. in political science or will have a Ph.D. in hand by August 2023. Candidates must provide evidence of a focused research agenda and a commitment to high quality undergraduate teaching experience. Candidates must also describe the ways in which their research, teaching, and/or life experience contribute to "inclusive excellence," such as their ability to work with underserved and diverse populations and their capacity to respond in pedagogically productive ways to the competence, aspirations and needs of students from diverse backgrounds. The successful candidate will teach two introductory sections of American Government and Politics (counting as two courses) and upper division undergraduate courses in race and ethnic politics. The annual teaching load is five courses.

Application Instructions

Applicants should submit their applications by November 1, 2022 for best consideration, using Interfolio: <http://apply.interfolio.com/112285>. Please provide a cover letter; a statement of research agenda; a statement of teaching philosophy; a statement of commitment to diversity and inclusiveness; CV; up to two writing samples or publications; two sample course syllabi; and three reference letters by November 1, 2022.

Please address questions to Dr. Ian G. Anson, Search Chair, Department of Political Science, iganson@umbc.edu with the subject line "POLI Search."

Start Date: Fall 2023
Application Deadline: 11/1/2022
Date Posted: 8/26/2022
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 10787

University of Texas, Austin

Rank: Electoral and Legislative Processes and Bureaucratic Politics

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Administration, Public Policy

Specializations: American Politics, Electoral Systems, Bureaucracy & Organizational Behavior

The Lyndon B. Johnson School of Public Affairs at the University of Texas at Austin (“LBJ School”) invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant or Associate Professor of Political Science –American Politics to begin in Fall of academic year 2023-24 (with an August 2023 start date). One of the nation’s top ten programs in public affairs, the LBJ School is seeking to strengthen its faculty in policy adoption and implementation. The LBJ School comprises more than 40 faculty members and approximately 300 graduate students, and offers multi-disciplinary curricula leading to the degrees of Master of Public Affairs, Master of Global Policy Studies, and Ph.D. in Public Policy.

The appointee will teach courses focused on either policy adoption or implementation from the perspective of Electoral and Legislative Processes, Bureaucratic Politics & Organization and Public Administration to Master’s and Doctoral students in Public Affairs and possible undergraduates. They will also teach political science-focused courses related to a field of public policy. The appointee’s research will have direct relevance to public policy. The appointee will conduct and publish scholarly research and seek grant opportunities in support of their research and/or teaching activities. The appointee will participate in faculty governance in the LBJ School.

Qualifications

A Ph.D. in Political Science or a related field with an emphasis in American Politics is required. ABD candidates will be considered if the doctoral degree will be complete by the time of employment. Experience in college teaching and evidence of scholarship or scholarly potential is preferred.

Application Instructions

Interested candidates can submit their cover letter, CV, statement of teaching, DEI statement, three letters of reference, and job market paper via Interfolio. Questions about the position can be directed to Taya Kitaysky at taya.kitaysky@austin.utexas.edu.

APPLY VIA INTERFOLIO: <https://faculty.utexas.edu/career/100151>

The search committee will begin considering applications September 15th. The position will remain open until filled.

The LBJ School has robust graduate programs and is committed to a diverse and inclusive working and learning environment and is seeking candidates whose research, teaching, and service has prepared them to contribute to our commitment to diversity, inclusivity and excellence. Candidates who are currently or will potentially make outstanding contributions to the diversification of their scholarly fields and/or institutions of higher education are especially encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2023
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/26/2022
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 10790

Quinnipiac University

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor

Specializations: Congress, Race & Ethnic Politics, Quantitative Methods

The Department of Philosophy and Political Science in the College of Arts and Sciences at Quinnipiac University invites applications for a Visiting Assistant Professor specializing in Political Theory and American Politics to begin August 2023. The selected candidate should have a background in U.S. political institutions; a competency in racial/ethnic or other forms of intercultural politics is desirable. We seek a talented individual who demonstrates a strong commitment to exceptional teaching and experiential learning. Candidates using theoretical, quantitative, interpretive, or historical approaches in political theory and American politics are equally welcome. This is an on-ground position.

This position has the possibility of renewal.

To apply, please go to:

<https://career.qu.edu/cw/en-us/job/494468/fulltime-visiting-faculty-for-2324-ay-political-science>

Start Date: Fall 2023
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/25/2022
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 10775

Princeton University

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Associate, James Madison Program

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Political Theory, Public Law

Invitation for Postdoctoral Research Associate Applications

The James Madison Program in American Ideals and Institutions at Princeton University is dedicated to the pursuit of scholarly excellence in the fields of constitutional law and political thought. Sponsored by Princeton’s Department of Politics, the Program seeks to enrich the intellectual life of Princeton students and faculty by exploring American constitutional principles and structures through research and public discussion.

The Program invites recent Ph.D. recipients to apply for appointments as Postdoctoral Research Associates or more senior researchers for the year from September 1, 2023 to September 1, 2024. Appointments will be through the Department of Politics. All James Madison Program researchers are expected to be in residence in Princeton or the local vicinity, or demonstrate to the program’s satisfaction the ability to be on campus daily, and on short notice, to fulfill responsibilities relating to in-person participation, office hours, and the like. They may not be employed by another institution during the term of their Princeton appointment. They enjoy access to Firestone Library and a wide range of other facilities and activities throughout the University.

Depending on the needs of the University, teaching opportunities may be available, subject to the approval of the Dean of the Faculty. Researchers appointed in the Madison Program are expected to devote full time to their proposed research. They are, however, encouraged to attend or participate in various activities of the Program, including faculty-student seminars, colloquia, and public lectures.

The position is a fully funded, 12-month postdoctoral research associate appointment with benefits. All James Madison Program Postdoctoral Research Associates are required to have a Ph.D. degree awarded within the last three years (no earlier than September 1, 2020). Applications are evaluated on the basis of (1) the significance of the proposed research; (2) the quality of the applicant's past research; and (3) the future contribution the applicant is likely to make to higher education. Positions are open to all regardless of citizenship. This position is subject to the University's background check policy.

How to apply: Applicants are required to submit an online application at %listing_link%

A complete application must include the following:

- * a curriculum vitae;
- * a scholarly paper written in the past three years;
- * a statement (no more than 1,500 words) describing the proposed research;
- * contact information for two references.

For priority consideration, application materials must be received by 11:59 p.m. EST on December 1, 2022; applications will continue to be reviewed until positions are filled. Awards will be announced in March 2023 or before.

Please address any inquiries to:

Shilo Brooks, Ph.D.
 Assistant Director
 James Madison Program in American Ideals and Institutions
 Princeton University
 83 Prospect Avenue
 Princeton, NJ 08540
 E-mail: shilo.brooks@princeton.edu
 Web address: jmp.princeton.edu

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 12/1/2022

Date Posted: 8/24/2022

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 10769

Kenyon College

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

Kenyon College, a highly selective liberal arts college in central Ohio, invites applications for a tenure-track position in the Department of Political Science, with a specialty in American politics, effective July 1, 2023.

Teaching responsibilities consist of five courses per year. Qualified applicants will have a strong teaching and research background in American politics, knowledge of American history, and the ability to teach our introductory American course, "Liberal Democracy in America," and to offer upper-level American politics courses and seminars. Area of specialty is open, but we especially seek candidates with expertise in one or more of the following areas: political parties and elections, Congress, voting behavior, media and politics, and/or American political development. The ability to teach our quantitative analysis course is desirable. Candidates may have opportunities to contribute to interdisciplinary programs in Public Policy and American Studies. Opportunities for teaching and research support and public engagement are available through the College's Center for the Study of American Democracy. Strong preference will go to those with a demonstrable record of excellence in teaching and research. Candidates must be committed to undergraduate teaching in a liberal arts setting and have an active research agenda. Candidates must also have a Ph.D. or be near completion by the beginning of the appointment.

A complete application will include a cover letter, CV, transcript, statement of teaching philosophy which also addresses experience with teaching diverse student populations, as well as how inclusivity is addressed in the classroom setting, writing sample, and a list of names and contact information for three references. The applicant's cover letter should give details of their teaching experience and research interests. Letters of recommendation will be requested of candidates who advance to the interview stage.

All application materials must be submitted electronically through Kenyon's employment website: <http://careers.kenyon.edu>. Review of applications will begin on September 15th and continue until the position is filled. Completed applications received by September 15 will be guaranteed full consideration. Initial interviews will be conducted remotely.

Kenyon College is a nationally prominent, private liberal arts college where academic excellence goes hand in hand with a strong sense of community and close relationships among students and professors.

Compensation and Benefits

Salaries at Kenyon are competitive and are commensurate with experience. There are a number of faculty development opportunities (e.g. travel, research funds, etc.) for which appointees are eligible.

In addition to an attractive salary, Kenyon offers benefits for employees and their family members. Children of employees are eligible for 100% tuition waivers at Kenyon, and through the Great Lakes Colleges Association, children of employees are eligible for 85% tuition waivers at fifteen other of the nation's finest liberal arts colleges.

We also offer health and dental insurance, TIAA retirement, and many other benefits, including provisions for a spouse, families, and domestic partners. Details about benefits as well as conditions of employment are described more fully in our Faculty Handbook.

Kenyon is a great place to live and work. To discover why it should be your next home, click here.

Kenyon College is an Equal Opportunity Employer and applications from members of all underrepresented groups are encouraged. It is the College's policy to evaluate qualified applicants without regard to race, color, national origin, ancestry, sex, gender, gender identity, gender expression, sexual orientation, physical and/or mental disability, age, religion, medical condition, veteran status, marital status, or any other characteristic protected by institutional policy or state, local, or federal law. Kenyon College has a strong commitment to supporting diversity, equity and inclusion. Please visit our Diversity at Kenyon website.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/23/2022
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 10756

University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign

Rank: Political Institutions

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, Methodology

The Department of Political Science at the University of Illinois, Urbana-Champaign invites applications for a full-time tenure stream Assistant/ Associate/Full Professor positions with a focus on the study of political institutions, broadly defined. We anticipate considering candidates primarily from the American Politics subfield but encourage candidates from related fields whose research tackles the analysis of institutions or institutional power to apply as well. Expertise in statistical methods is desirable. Successful candidates are expected to teach effectively at both the undergraduate and graduate levels, establish and maintain an active and independent research program, and provide service to the department, the university, and the profession. We especially encourage applications from members of historically underrepresented groups in the field.

Applicants at the Assistant Professor level must demonstrate evidence of a promising research agenda and a commitment to undergraduate and graduate teaching. Applicants at the Associate/Full Professor level must have an established record in research, teaching, and service. Ph.D. in Political Science or related field required. Target start date is August 16, 2023. Salary is commensurate with rank and qualifications.

The Illinois College of Liberal Arts and Sciences is a world leader in research, teaching, and public engagement. Faculty in the College create knowledge, address critical societal needs through the transfer and application of knowledge, and prepare students for lives of impact in the state, nation, and globally. To meet these objectives, the College embraces and values diversity and difference through hiring faculty candidates who can contribute through their research, teaching, and/or service to the diversity and excellence of the Illinois community.

We have an active and successful dual-career partner placement program and a strong commitment to work-life balance and family-friendly programs for faculty and staff (<http://provost.illinois.edu/faculty-affairs/work-life-balance/>). To find out more about the resources available at the university and Urbana-Champaign community please visit these sites:

Dual Career Program
 Benefits
 Living in Champaign-Urbana

To apply, create your candidate profile through <https://jobs.illinois.edu> and upload your application materials by September 20, 2022: letter of application, CV, a representative publication, statement of teaching and research interests, and a diversity statement. The Department will contact applicants electronically 1-2 business days after submission of the application to request the names and emails for three professional references. Reference writers will be contacted after this information has been provided by the applicant. Only applications submitted through the University of Illinois Job Board will be considered. Questions about the position or application procedures may be directed to the faculty search coordinator at pol@illinois.edu.

The University of Illinois must also comply with applicable federal export control laws and regulations and, as such, reserves the right to employ restricted party screening procedures for applicants.

The University of Illinois System is an equal opportunity employer, including but not limited to disability and/or veteran status, and complies with all applicable state and federal employment mandates. Please visit Required Employment Notices and Posters to view our non-discrimination statement and find additional information about required background checks, sexual harassment/misconduct disclosures, COVID-19 vaccination requirement, and employment eligibility review through E-Verify.

Applicants with disabilities are encouraged to apply and may request a reasonable accommodation under the Americans with Disabilities Act (2008) to complete the application and/or interview process. Requests may be submitted through the reasonable accommodations portal, or by contacting the Accessibility & Accommodations Division of the Office for Access and Equity at 217-333-0885, or by emailing accessibility@illinois.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2023
Application Deadline: 9/20/2022
Date Posted: 8/23/2022
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 10759

University of California, Los Angeles

Rank: Junior Faculty Position Search 2022-2023

The UCLA Department of Political Science invites applications from outstanding candidates for 1 to 3 positions at the rank of Assistant Professor, to begin on July 1, 2023. The department has particular needs in American politics but is open to hiring exceptional candidates in any subfield. We are especially eager to consider applicants who contribute to diversity and inclusion at UCLA and the communities that we serve.

UCLA and the UCLA Department of Political Science are firmly committed to the principles of equity, diversity, and inclusion. Therefore, we ask each applicant to submit with their application a statement that addresses their past efforts, as well as future plans, to advance equity, diversity, and inclusion in their scholarship, teaching, and service.

The online application should include a letter of interest, a curriculum vitae, a statement of research interests, aforementioned diversity statement, evidence of teaching excellence in related courses, at least one writing sample, a graduate transcript, and three letters of recommendation. The letters of recommendation should be uploaded directly by the referees. PhD in Political Science or related field should be in hand prior to the appointment. To ensure full consideration, the online application should be completed by September 1, 2022. After the initial review date, new applications will only be considered if the position has not yet been filled.

The University of California is committed to creating and maintaining a community dedicated to the advancement, application, and transmission of knowledge and creative endeavors through academic excellence, where all individuals who participate in University programs and activities can work and learn together in a safe and secure environment, free of violence, harassment, bullying and other demeaning behavior, discrimination, exploitation, or intimidation. With this commitment as well as a commitment to addressing all forms of academic misconduct, UCLA conducts targeted employment reference checks for finalists to whom departments or other hiring units would like to extend formal offers of appointment into Academic Senate faculty positions. The targeted employment reference checks involve contacting the finalists' current and prior places of employment to ask whether there have been substantiated findings of misconduct that would violate the University's Faculty Code of Conduct. To implement this process, UCLA requires all applicants for Academic Senate faculty positions to complete, sign, and upload the form entitled "Authorization to Release Information" into RECRUIT as part of their application. If the applicant does not include the signed authorization to release information with the application materials, the application will be considered incomplete. As with any incomplete application, the application will not receive further consideration. Although all applicants for faculty recruitments must complete the entire application, only finalists (i.e. those to whom the department or other hiring unit would like to extend a formal offer) considered for Academic Senate faculty positions will be subject to targeted employment reference checks.

The University of California is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability, age or protected veteran status. For the complete University of California nondiscrimination and affirmative action policy, see: UC Nondiscrimination & Affirmative Action Policy.

Apply Now: <https://recruit.apo.ucla.edu/JPF07604>

Help Contact: Evelyn Godinez, egodinez@polisci.ucla.edu

Start Date: Summer 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/19/2022

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 10739

West Chester University of Pennsylvania

Rank: Assistant Professor of American Government and Politics

Position Summary

Join a vibrant campus community whose excellence is reflected in its diversity and student success. The Department of Political Science invites applicants for a full-time, tenure-track, Assistant Professor of American Government and Politics position to begin in August 2023.

West Chester University, a member of the Pennsylvania State System of Higher Education, is a public, comprehensive institution committed to offering high-quality undergraduate education, selected post-baccalaureate and graduate programs, and a variety of educational and cultural resources for its students, alumni, and citizens of southeastern Pennsylvania. The University offers more than 100 graduate and undergraduate programs in the sciences and mathematics, business and public management, arts and humanities, health sciences, education and social work, music, and interdisciplinary studies. We are a community of educators dedicated to developing graduates who succeed personally and professionally and contribute to the common good.

The mission of the Department of Political Science, part of the College of Sciences and Mathematics, is to promote scholarship and responsible citizenship by providing a comprehensive curriculum that exposes students to the principal subfields of the discipline and encourage critical analysis and communication skills. The department's faculty are actively involved in research, teaching, and applied scholarship. They mentor students by encouraging academic challenge and civic involvement in an environment that values diversity.

The ideal candidate's experience, substantive specializations, and pedagogical training will serve to strengthen the department's mission and vision. The incumbent will demonstrate attention to the learning and teaching needs of the students. Teach undergraduate and/or graduate courses offered in-person and online in both synchronous and asynchronous formats. Collaborate with other departmental faculty and staff.

RESPONSIBILITIES INCLUDE:

Teach undergraduate and/or graduate courses in areas of Politics of Diversity, Racial/Ethnic Politics, and Urban Politics. Additional courses within area of specialization may be assigned based on departmental needs.

Engage in scholarly activities such as research, presentations, and publications.

Serve the University and the community through participation in various committees.

Mentoring and advising students.

Other duties as assigned.

Minimum Qualifications

Ph.D. in Political Science (ABD may be considered. Must be completed on or before August 15, 2023).

Demonstrated ability to teach courses in American Government and Specialized Diversity.

Preferred Qualifications

Experience developing course curriculum.

Ability to develop specialized courses in American Government and Specialized Diversity.

Experience with innovative pedagogical.

Special Instructions

Apply online at <https://www.schooljobs.com/careers/wcupa>. Incomplete applications will not be reviewed.

Review of applications will begin in October 2022 and continue until the position has been filled.

Finalist must successfully complete an interview, teaching demonstration, and research presentation.

Required Documents for Consideration

To be considered as an applicant for this position, please submit the following:

Cover letter

Curriculum vitae

Brief writing sample

Statement of teaching philosophy

Statement of research (Include research experience and agenda)

Sample syllabi

Evidence of teaching effectiveness (Such as student class evaluations and peer or supervisor observations)

List of three references with contact information

Unofficial graduate transcripts (Official transcripts will be required at a later date)

Diversity statement (See below)

Commitment to Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion

West Chester University has joined EAB's Moon Shot initiative for Equity in Higher education. This initiative is designed to support faculty, students, and staff who are typically excluded and therefore are underrepresented. As part of your application for a tenure-track faculty position, we request a Diversity Statement. This request highlights our department's commitment to promote diversity and inclusiveness and to cultivate a campus environment that welcomes all. This commitment reflects the Diversity Theme of West Chester University's Strategic Plan and supports initiatives of our Office of Diversity, Equity and Inclusion (WCU Diversity Equity Inclusion). We expect that each applicant's statement will be unique, as informed by their own experiences and goals. Some topics you might address in a 1-2-page statement include the following: (1) How have you supported diversity and inclusion in your interactions with others in classroom and research environments? (2) What have you done to help students from diverse communities (such as underrepresented minorities, non-traditional, LGBTQ, veteran, rural, and/or first generation) succeed, including any programs for these students in which you have participated? (3) Describe your commitment to working toward achieving equity and enhancing diversity at WCU. How might you contribute to our current diversity initiatives, and do you have any other ideas to help promote equity on our campus?

All offers of employment are subject to and contingent upon satisfactory completion of all preemployment criminal background checks.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/19/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10741

Ohio State University

Rank: American Political Institutions

Description:

The Department of Political Science at The Ohio State University seeks applications in American politics for one or more hires at the rank of assistant or associate professor. We are particularly interested in candidates whose research interests and expertise lie in American institutions and who are well-grounded in relevant theoretical perspectives relevant to the study of American institutions. Successful candidates will have advanced skills in quantitative research methods and the ability and willingness to contribute to graduate and undergraduate training in that area. This hire is supported by and may request affiliations with Ohio State University Institutes or Centers, including Institute for Democratic Engagement and Accountability, Translational Data Analytics Institute, and the Kirwan Institute. There will be opportunities, collaborations, and additional mentoring support available through these institutes and centers.

Qualifications:

Candidates should demonstrate a record of publications and provide evidence of accomplishments in teaching and mentorship. Responsibilities of the position include maintaining a robust research program, including actively seeking external funding, contributing to graduate and undergraduate teaching and mentoring, and engaged service to the university and the profession. The position will begin in the fall of 2023. Salary will be commensurate with the candidate's experience and qualifications. Applicants must have completed all doctoral degree requirements by the time of their appointment. Appointment is contingent on the university's verification of credentials and other information required by law and/or university policies, including but not limited to a criminal background check. Successful candidates will have a demonstrated commitment to social equity, diversity, and inclusion. Inquiries may be directed to Professor Janet Box-Steffensmeier at Box-Steffensmeier.1@osu.edu.

About Columbus:

The Ohio State University campus is located in Columbus, the capital city of Ohio. Columbus is the Midwest's fastest-growing city and the nation's 14th largest city. Columbus offers a diverse array of welcoming neighborhoods and a vibrant arts and culture scene. Additional information about all that the Columbus area has to offer is available at <https://visit.osu.edu/experience>.

Application Instructions:

The review of applications will begin on September 15th. Applications will be evaluated as they are received and will be accepted until the positions are filled. To apply, please send a cover letter, curriculum vitae, research statement, teaching statement, diversity statement, job market paper, up to three other papers or chapters, an unofficial graduate transcript, and three professional letters of reference to Academic Jobs Online at <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/22323>. The diversity statement should articulate your demonstrated commitments and capacities to contribute to diversity, equity, and inclusion through research, teaching, mentoring, and/or outreach and engagement.

The Ohio State University is committed to enhancing academic excellence. Recruiting, supporting, and retaining faculty of the highest caliber is a core component of this commitment. In support of this, The Office of Academic Affairs (OAA) has created the Office of Dual Careers and Faculty Relocation (DCFR) to focus on supporting new and prospective faculty. This support includes dual careers services, consultation and resources related to relocation, as well as identifying opportunities to engage on campus and the surrounding community. While employment opportunities are not guaranteed, resources and consultation are available to support the partners of new and prospective faculty as they are considering The Ohio State University and throughout their transition.

The Ohio State University is committed to establishing a culturally and intellectually diverse environment, encouraging all members of our learning community to reach their full potential. Over the next few years, The Ohio State University is committed to welcoming 350 new faculty hires, many of which will contribute to growing our role as a premier research university equipped to answer and interrogate the critical domestic and global societal challenges that deter equality and inclusion. We are responsive to dual-career families and strongly promote work-life balance to support our community members through a suite of institutionalized policies.

The Ohio State University believes in diversity in people and ideas. What Ohio State does matters. And how we do it matters. When we are at our best, we make a real difference to people. We believe that the university should be a place where people can work and learn together in a safe environment, free of violence, harassment, discrimination, exploitation, and intimidation. As such, finalists for any faculty position that carries tenure must sign an authorization and disclosure form, which will allow current or prior employer(s) to share information to the University regarding any findings of employment-related misconduct or disciplinary proceedings against a candidate and/or any pending investigations related to alleged misconduct. Such information shall include findings and pending investigations with respect to sexual harassment, violence, or harassment; research misconduct; financial fraud or misconduct; foreign influence violations, grant misuse or misconduct; and/or any other type of finding or pending investigation relating to a candidate's employer's policies and rules governing faculty conduct that may reasonably be expected to affect a candidate's appointment. If the University becomes aware of any past finding of misconduct or pending investigations that were not disclosed, Ohio State will treat that as a serious omission and reserves the right to rescind an offer or terminate employment. <https://oaa.osu.edu/faculty-misconduct-reference-check>

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/18/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10726

Ohio State University

Rank: Race and Ethnicity in American Politics

Description:

The Department of Political Science invites applications in the area of Race and Ethnicity in American Politics for a faculty position in the Advancing Racial and Criminal Justice Through Collaborative Science Hiring Cluster at The Ohio State University. We are particularly interested in candidates whose research is at the intersections of the study of race and ethnicity, law and criminal justice, or public policy. We invite scholars studying police-citizen encounters and law enforcement policies and practices more generally, prosecutorial and judicial decision making, racial and ethnic disparities in jails, prisons, and community correction facilities, and concentrated disadvantage, segregation, and the reentry of formerly rated individuals. We are also interested in scholars addressing how the observed racial and ethnic disparities in the criminal justice system might be reduced through legal reform, more inclusive, equitable and effective public policy, organizational change, and innovative community initiatives.

We seek candidates who are well-grounded in theoretical perspectives relevant to the study of race, ethnicity, and the criminal justice system, including their intersections and related inequalities in modern society. We welcome scholars employing a variety of methodological approaches including but not limited to the analysis of large-N data, ethnography, experiments, interpretive and critical research methods, machine learning, and simulations.

The scholars will be part of a multi-disciplinary cluster hire focused on advancing racial and criminal justice through collaborative science. In addition to Political Science, the open rank tenured and tenure-track positions are available in the departments of Sociology in the College of Arts and Sciences, Moritz College of Law, and John Glenn College of Public Affairs. The cluster is supported by Ohio State University's Kirwan Institute for the Study of Race and Ethnicity, Institute for Democratic Engagement and Accountability, Translational Data Analytics Institute, Drug Enforcement Policy Center, and the Criminal Justice Research Center. Ohio State has an abundance of ties with local and state criminal justice agencies. Thus, there will be many opportunities, collaborations, and mentoring support available through these institutes, centers, and agencies.

Through the Race, Inclusion and Social Equity (RAISE) initiative, Ohio State is enhancing our world-class research program on race, inclusion, and social equity. Over the next decade, the university will add at least 50 tenure-track faculty members to existing scholars whose research can help to narrow social disparities in educational attainment, health outcomes, rates of incarceration, political representation, environmental impacts, and economic well-being. Adding scholars in focused areas will enhance the University's outstanding faculty and inform solutions to intractable issues. RAISE is part of Ohio State's larger initiative to expand the size and impact of Ohio State's faculty over the coming decade, while also enhancing academic and personal resources to support Ohio State scholars, educators, and practitioners through all phases of their careers.

Qualifications:

Candidates should demonstrate a record of publications and provide evidence of accomplishments in teaching and mentorship. Responsibilities of the position include maintaining a robust research program, including actively seeking external funding, contributing to graduate and undergraduate teaching and mentoring, and engaged service to the university and the profession. The position will begin in the fall of 2023. Salary will be commensurate with the candidate's experience and qualifications. Applicants must have completed all doctoral degree requirements by the time of their appointment. Appointment is contingent on the university's verification of credentials and other information required by law and/or university policies, including but not limited to a criminal background check. Successful candidates will have a demonstrated commitment towards social equity, diversity, and inclusion. For more information, contact Professor Janet Box-Steffensmeier at box-steffensemeier.1@osu.edu.

Application Instructions:

The review of applications will begin on September 15th. Applications will be evaluated as they are received and will be accepted until the positions are filled. To apply, please send a cover letter, curriculum vitae, research statement, teaching statement, diversity statement, job market paper, up to three other papers or chapters, an unofficial graduate transcript, and three professional letters of reference to Academic Jobs Online at <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/22326>. The diversity statement should articulate your demonstrated commitments and capacities to contribute to diversity, equity, and inclusion through research, teaching, mentoring, and/or outreach and engagement.

The Ohio State University is committed to enhancing academic excellence. Recruiting, supporting, and retaining faculty of the highest caliber is a core component of this commitment. In support of this, The Office of Academic Affairs (OAA) has created the Office of Dual Careers and Faculty Relocation (DCFR) to focus on supporting new and prospective faculty. This support includes dual careers services, consultation and resources related to relocation, as well as identifying opportunities to engage on campus and the surrounding community. While employment opportunities are not guaranteed, resources and consultation are available to support the partners of new and prospective faculty as they are considering The Ohio State University and throughout their transition.

The Ohio State University is committed to establishing a culturally and intellectually diverse environment, encouraging all members of our learning community to reach their full potential. Over the next few years, The Ohio State University is committed to welcoming 350 new faculty hires, many of which will contribute to growing our role as a premier research university equipped to answer and interrogate the critical domestic and global societal challenges that deter equality and inclusion. We are responsive to dual-career families and strongly promote work-life balance to support our community members through a suite of institutionalized policies.

Start Date: Fall 2023
Date Posted: 8/18/2022
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 10724

Boston University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

The Department of Political Science at Boston University seeks to hire a tenure-track Assistant Professor specializing in American politics. The position is open with respect to methodological approach and substantive focus within American politics. Applicants who engage public policy or policy analysis in their research and teaching may be particularly welcome. The anticipated start date is July 1, 2023. The successful candidate will hold a PhD at the start of the appointment. The holder of this position will teach undergraduates and graduate students. Please submit a letter of interest to <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/22335>. The application must also include: a curriculum vitae; separate statements about research, teaching, and your capacity to promote diversity and inclusion; a writing sample; and three references. Completed applications are due on September 23, 2022.

We are an equal opportunity employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law. We are a VEVRAA Federal Contractor.

Start Date: Fall 2023
Application Deadline: 9/23/2022
Date Posted: 8/17/2022
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 10713

University of Denver

Rank: Assistant Professor in Political Science

Position Summary

The Department of Political Science at the University of Denver invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professorship to start in Fall 2023 in the field of American politics. We seek applications from American Politics scholars of Congress and/or the domestic Executive with a preference for candidates who have a substantive focus on issues of representation for people who have historically been underrepresented.

The Department of Political Science consists of eleven tenure-line faculty supporting the Bachelors of Arts degree in political science within the College of Arts, Humanities, and Social Sciences at the University of Denver. Our undergraduate program of study serves approximately 200 majors as well as students across campus in the common curriculum. Our faculty are dedicated to the robust pursuit of research, publication, and public engagement. We also value diversity, equity, and inclusion: a commitment by all constituents to create an academic experience that embraces and engages diverse perspectives and communities within an atmosphere of mutual respect. Our curriculum endeavors to develop students' abilities to think critically, communicate clearly, write effectively, and develop compelling analytical argumentation based on justifiable sources of empirical evidence and analytical reasoning.

The University of Denver embraces a teacher-scholar model where faculty balance their commitment to rigorous scholarship with undergraduate education. The position requires teaching the equivalent of two courses per quarter (three quarters per year) in the Political Science department, covering a range of upper division courses in American politics, Introduction to American politics, and common curriculum requirements. Our curriculum is normally delivered via conventional face-to-face classes on our traditional residential campus, with most online-only courses occurring during summer sessions which faculty may elect to teach for supplemental income, pending sufficient enrollment. We welcome the incorporation of experiential learning opportunities in the curriculum, such as community-engaged scholarship. Adhering to the teacher-scholar model, the position requires maintaining an active scholarly agenda as demonstrated via scholarly publications, academic conference participation, etc. The person holding this position would also be expected to contribute to University, College, and departmental service.

Essential Functions

- Pursue a research agenda that results in high-quality scholarly publications.
- Teach the equivalent of six courses across three quarters per academic year, including an introductory course in American politics that serves the common curriculum and political science major program; upper-division courses in the field of American politics and the major Capstone seminar in politics; and possibly seminars for first-year or advanced students in the common curriculum. The teaching schedule will be coordinated with the department chair.
- Meet outside of class in office hours on campus and/or online to provide guidance and assistance to students enrolled in courses taught and to provide major advising to political science students.
- Deploy best practices through the University of Denver's current course management system (Canvas), utilizing Canvas tools such as discussion boards, quizzes, assignments with uploaded files, and the gradebook as the means to collect student work, communicate feedback and assignment grades, and conduct class sessions and individual appointments remotely when the need for this arises.
- Advise students about major and BA requirements.
- Contribute to University, College, and departmental service.

Knowledge, Skills, and Abilities

- Advanced scholarly expertise in the field of American politics (ABD/PhD level) in the following sub-specialties: Congress and/or the domestic Executive with a preference for candidates who have a substantive focus on issues of representation for people who have historically been underrepresented.
- Excellent skills in oral and written communication.
- Ability to interact constructively with a diverse population of faculty, staff, and undergraduate students in both conventional in-person and online settings.

Required Qualifications

- ABD or Ph.D. in Political Science or related field or interdisciplinary program (e.g., American studies). A candidate hired at the ABD level would hold the title of Instructor until completion of Ph.D.

- Evidence of a promising scholarly agenda on Congress and/or the domestic Executive that is likely to result in peer-reviewed publications.
- Experience serving as a graduate teaching assistant or instructor of record in undergraduate courses in political (or related social) science.
- Evidence of a commitment to incorporate inclusive teaching methods and/or pedagogies to engage students from a wide range of backgrounds effectively.

Preferred Qualifications

- Ph.D. in Political Science.
- Successful publication of peer-reviewed scholarship on Congress and/or the domestic Executive and evidence of future promise as a scholar.
- Experience as an instructor teaching Introduction to American politics and upper-division undergraduate courses on Congress and/or the domestic Executive.
- Scholarly expertise to develop upper-division undergraduate courses on representation in the US context.
- Experience interacting with diverse communities in an inclusive approach to engage students from a wide range of backgrounds effectively.
- Experience using course management software (such as Canvas or similar).

Salary Range:

The salary range for this position is $77,000-$82,000.

The University of Denver has provided a compensation range that represents its good faith estimate of what the University may pay for the position at the time of posting. The University may ultimately pay more or less than the posted compensation range. The salary offered to the selected candidate will be determined based on factors such as the qualifications of the selected candidate, departmental budget availability, internal salary equity considerations, and available market information, but not based on a candidate's sex or any other protected status.

Benefits:

The University of Denver offers excellent benefits, including medical, dental, retirement, paid time off, tuition benefit and ECO pass. The University of Denver is a private institution that empowers students who want to make a difference. Learn more about the University of Denver.

Application Deadline

For best consideration, please submit your application materials by 4:00 p.m. (MST) September 21, 2022.

Special Instructions

Candidates must apply online through jobs.du.edu to be considered. Only applications submitted online will be accepted - <https://jobs.du.edu/en-us/job/495440/assistant-professor-american-politics>

Please include the following documents with your application:

1. CV that indicates scholarly specialization, comprehensive exam fields, publications and/or working papers, and courses you have taught before as an instructor or graduate teaching assistant.
2. Cover Letter explaining your interest in and qualifications for this position, followed by three distinct statements (1-2 pages each) that articulate your (a) research agenda, (b) teaching philosophy and methods to engage students, and (c) how the candidate's research, teaching, and/or service contributes to DU's values, practices, and actions regarding diversity, equity, and inclusion, all combined into one pdf file with headers identifying each component. Candidates can view

DU's DEI Strategic Plan [<https://www.du.edu/equity/dei-action-plan>] and/or the College of Arts and Humanities and Social Sciences (CAHSS) DEI Strategic Plan [<https://liberalarts.du.edu/news-events/all-articles/diversity-equity-and-inclusion-strategic-plan-cahss>]

3. Sample of written work (e.g., two chapters from dissertation or book, or one article).

4. Evidence of teaching effectiveness such as (1-2 samples each) syllabi, detailed descriptions of course assignments, accompanying grading rubrics for writing assignments, and any other artifacts of teaching excellence, all combined into one pdf file with headers identifying discrete components.

5. Graduate transcripts

6. DU's online employment application requests contacts for professional/academic references who will be emailed to upload letters of recommendation (at least three). Candidates using Inter-folio may arrange to send all (at least three) letters of recommendation in one pdf file via email to Darlene.Squires@du.edu. No other materials beyond a complete set of letters of recommendation in one document should be sent via Inter-folio.

All offers of employment are contingent upon satisfactory completion of a criminal history background check.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/17/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10714

University of Denver

Rank: Assistant Professor in Political Science

Position Summary

The Department of Political Science at the University of Denver invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professorship to start in Fall 2023 in the field of American politics. We seek applications from American Politics scholars of Congress and/or the domestic Executive with a preference for candidates who have a substantive focus on issues of representation for people who have historically been underrepresented.

The Department of Political Science consists of eleven tenure-line faculty supporting the Bachelors of Arts degree in political science within the College of Arts, Humanities, and Social Sciences at the University of Denver. Our undergraduate program of study serves approximately 200 majors as well as students across campus in the common curriculum. Our faculty are dedicated to the robust pursuit of research, publication, and public engagement. We also value diversity, equity, and inclusion: a commitment by all constituents to create an academic experience that embraces and engages diverse perspectives and communities within an atmosphere of mutual respect. Our curriculum endeavors to develop students' abilities to think critically, communicate clearly, write effectively, and develop compelling analytical argumentation based on justifiable sources of empirical evidence and analytical reasoning.

The University of Denver embraces a teacher-scholar model where faculty balance their commitment to rigorous scholarship with undergraduate education. The position requires teaching the equivalent of two courses per quarter (three quarters per year) in the Political Science department, covering a range of upper division courses in American politics, Introduction to American politics, and common curriculum requirements. Our curriculum is normally delivered via conventional face-to-face classes on our traditional residential campus, with most online-only courses occurring during summer sessions which faculty may elect to teach for supplemental income, pending sufficient enrollment. We welcome the incorporation of experiential learning opportunities in the curriculum, such as community-engaged scholarship. Adhering to the teacher-scholar model, the position requires maintaining an active scholarly agenda as demonstrated via scholarly publications, academic conference participation, etc. The person holding this position would also be expected to contribute to University, College, and departmental service.

Essential Functions

- Pursue a research agenda that results in high-quality scholarly publications.
- Teach the equivalent of six courses across three quarters per academic year, including an introductory course in American politics that serves the common curriculum and political science major program; upper-division courses in the field of American politics and the major Capstone seminar in politics; and possibly seminars for first-year or advanced students in the common curriculum. The teaching schedule will be coordinated with the department chair.
- Meet outside of class in office hours on campus and/or online to provide guidance and assistance to students enrolled in courses taught and to provide major advising to political science students.
- Deploy best practices through the University of Denver's current course management system (Canvas), utilizing Canvas tools such as discussion boards, quizzes, assignments with uploaded files, and the gradebook as the means to collect student work, communicate feedback and assignment grades, and conduct class sessions and individual appointments remotely when the need for this arises.
- Advise students about major and BA requirements.
- Contribute to University, College, and departmental service.

Knowledge, Skills, and Abilities

- Advanced scholarly expertise in the field of American politics (ABD/PhD level) in the following sub-specialties: Congress and/or the domestic Executive with a preference for candidates who have a substantive focus on issues of representation for people who have historically been underrepresented.
- Excellent skills in oral and written communication.
- Ability to interact constructively with a diverse population of faculty, staff, and undergraduate students in both conventional in-person and online settings.

Required Qualifications

- ABD or Ph.D. in Political Science or related field or interdisciplinary program (e.g., American studies). A candidate hired at the ABD level would hold the title of Instructor until completion of Ph.D.
- Evidence of a promising scholarly agenda on Congress and/or the domestic Executive that is likely to result in peer-reviewed publications.
- Experience serving as a graduate teaching assistant or instructor of record in undergraduate courses in political (or related social) science.
- Evidence of a commitment to incorporate inclusive teaching methods and/or pedagogies to engage students from a wide range of backgrounds effectively.

Preferred Qualifications

- Ph.D. in Political Science.
- Successful publication of peer-reviewed scholarship on Congress and/or the domestic Executive and evidence of future promise as a scholar.

- Experience as an instructor teaching Introduction to American politics and upper-division undergraduate courses on Congress and/or the domestic Executive.
- Scholarly expertise to develop upper-division undergraduate courses on representation in the US context.
- Experience interacting with diverse communities in an inclusive approach to engage students from a wide range of backgrounds effectively.
- Experience using course management software (such as Canvas or similar).

Salary Range:

The salary range for this position is $77,000-$82,000.

The University of Denver has provided a compensation range that represents its good faith estimate of what the University may pay for the position at the time of posting. The University may ultimately pay more or less than the posted compensation range. The salary offered to the selected candidate will be determined based on factors such as the qualifications of the selected candidate, departmental budget availability, internal salary equity considerations, and available market information, but not based on a candidate's sex or any other protected status.

Benefits:

The University of Denver offers excellent benefits, including medical, dental, retirement, paid time off, tuition benefit and ECO pass. The University of Denver is a private institution that empowers students who want to make a difference. Learn more about the University of Denver.

Application Deadline

For best consideration, please submit your application materials by 4:00 p.m. (MST) September 21, 2022.

Special Instructions

Candidates must apply online through jobs.du.edu to be considered. Only applications submitted online will be accepted - <https://jobs.du.edu/en-us/job/495440/assistant-professor-american-politics>

Please include the following documents with your application:

1. CV that indicates scholarly specialization, comprehensive exam fields, publications and/or working papers, and courses you have taught before as an instructor or graduate teaching assistant.
2. Cover Letter explaining your interest in and qualifications for this position, followed by three distinct statements (1-2 pages each) that articulate your (a) research agenda, (b) teaching philosophy and methods to engage students, and (c) how the candidate's research, teaching, and/or service contributes to DU's values, practices, and actions regarding diversity, equity, and inclusion, all combined into one pdf file with headers identifying each component. Candidates can view DU's DEI Strategic Plan [<https://www.du.edu/equity/dei-action-plan>] and/or the College of Arts and Humanities and Social Sciences (CAHSS) DEI Strategic Plan [<https://liberalarts.du.edu/news-events/all-articles/diversity-equity-and-inclusion-strategic-plan-cahss>]
3. Sample of written work (e.g., two chapters from dissertation or book, or one article).
4. Evidence of teaching effectiveness such as (1-2 samples each) syllabi, detailed descriptions of course assignments, accompanying grading rubrics for writing assignments, and any other artifacts of teaching excellence, all combined into one pdf file with headers identifying discrete components.
5. Graduate transcripts
6. DU's online employment application requests contacts for professional/academic references who will be emailed to upload letters of recommendation (at least three). Candidates using Inter-folio may arrange to send all (at least three) letters of recommendation in one pdf file via email to Darlene.Squires@du.edu. No other materials beyond a complete set of letters of recommendation in one document should be sent via Inter-folio.

All offers of employment are contingent upon satisfactory completion of a criminal history background check.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/17/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10715

Arkansas State University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, Other

Specializations: Race & Ethnic Politics, Public Opinion, Quantitative Methods

The Department of Political Science at Arkansas State University invites applications for a tenure-track position at the level of assistant professor, beginning fall 2023.

The position is open with respect to any aspect of political behavior (comparative perspectives are openly considered), although candidates whose research and teaching interests are in race and ethnic politics and/or the study of under-represented/marginalized groups are strongly encouraged to apply. Candidates who have a strong theoretical and empirical background with the ability to teach advanced research methods at the undergraduate and graduate level are preferred.

The Department also seeks to attract a candidate who can enhance the department's course offerings in the Masters program in political science, and who can increase the department's mission towards continuing diversity, equity, and inclusion.

To apply and learn more, visit <https://bit.ly/3plf9y6>. All items listed below are requirements must be submitted in order for your file to be considered complete:

- (1) A statement of purpose indicating research and teaching interests and credentials
- (2) Curriculum Vitae
- (3) Graduate transcripts
- (4) Evidence of teaching ability
- (5) A Writing sample (a peer reviewed article that was recently published or dissertation chapter will suffice)
- (6) three letters of recommendation

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 11/1/2022

Date Posted: 8/16/2022

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 10709

Rutgers University, New Brunswick

Rank: Associate or Full Professor joint position in Political Science and the Center for American Women and Politics (CAWP), Eagleton Institute of Politics

The Political Science Department and the Eagleton Institute of Politics at Rutgers University, New Brunswick anticipate hiring a tenured Associate or Full Professor for a joint position in Political Science and the Eagleton Institute's Center for American Women and Politics (CAWP) to begin Sept 1, 2023, subject to the availability of funding. Exceptional advanced assistant professor candidates may be considered.

The candidate should be well-established in the field of Women and Politics and have a record of research and publications in this field. We are particularly interested in candidates whose work addresses the intersections of gender, race, and ethnicity. This position will be part of a cluster hiring initiative to create a new cohort of leading scholars in the social and behavioral sciences who have expertise in race, racism, and inequality.

The successful candidate's tenure home will be in Political Science and they will play a leading role in the Women and Politics Ph.D. subfield in the department. The faculty member will be a Scholar at CAWP and will be expected to contribute to the development of CAWP's research agenda; participate in ongoing CAWP projects; play a public role at CAWP/Eagleton helping to translate academic research for a broad public audience; and participate as a faculty member of the Eagleton Institute of Politics. The faculty member will teach one course per semester in Political Science. A Ph.D. in Political Science or a related field is required by September 1, 2023.

Candidates should submit the following materials: (1) c.v.; (2) cover letter; (3) statement describing how the candidate could contribute to both units; (4) research statement; (5) a writing sample; (6) a diversity statement addressing ways in which their research, teaching, or service will contribute to Rutgers's commitment to enhancing diversity and inclusiveness (broadly construed); (7) the names and contact information for three references. Candidates who are advanced assistant professors should also submit (8) three confidential letters of recommendation. Please submit application materials at: <https://jobs.rutgers.edu/postings/177121>

Review of applications will begin on October 1, 2022 and will continue until the job is filled.

Questions regarding the search may be directed to the chair of the search committee, Professor Kira Sonbanmatsu, at sanbon@rutgers.edu

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/16/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10699

University of California, Merced

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, International Relations

The University of California, Merced, is the newest of the University of California system's 10 campuses. With over 9,000 undergraduate and graduate students (<https://www.ucmerced.edu/fast-facts>), UC

Merced provides outstanding educational opportunities to highly qualified students from the heart of California, the nation, and abroad. The campus has special connections to nearby Yosemite National Park; is on the cutting edge of sustainability in construction and design; and supports the economic development of Central California. The Merced 2020 Project doubled the physical capacity of the campus, and enhanced academic distinction, student success, and research excellence (<https://merced2020.ucmerced.edu/>).

The Political Science Department at the University of California, Merced invites applications for an assistant professor position (tenure track) in either Political Institutions or Political Behavior, with a substantive focus in American Politics, Comparative Politics, or International Relations. The Department especially welcomes applications from candidates who demonstrate both a record of outstanding scholarship and contributions to diversity, equity, and inclusion.

In order to be considered, candidates must have a PhD in Political Science or a closely related field by the position start date.

Anticipated start date is July 1, 2023.

The position will remain open until filled. However, to ensure consideration, applications should be received by September 20, 2022. Applications will be submitted via <https://aprecruit.ucmerced.edu>.

Interested applicants are required to submit 1) a cover letter; 2) curriculum vitae; 3) statement of research; 4) statement of teaching; 5) two writing samples; 6) statement on contributions to equity, diversity, and inclusion; and 7) a list of three references with contact information including mailing address, phone number and e-mail address.

Applicants for the Assistant Professor level should arrange to have three letters of reference submitted online. After an application is submitted, the letters of reference should be electronically uploaded by the letter writers (instructions will be provided by the application system). Letters of reference should be received no later than September 20, 2022.

As a condition of employment, you will be required to comply with the University of California SARS-CoV-2 (COVID-19) Vaccination Program Policy: https://policy.ucop.edu/doc/5000695/SARS-CoV-2_Covid-19. All Covered Individuals under the policy must provide proof of Full Vaccination or, if applicable, submit a request for Exception (based on Medical Exemption, Disability, and/or Religious Objection) or Deferral (based on pregnancy) no later than the applicable deadline. For new University of California employees, the applicable deadline is 14 days after their first date of employment.

Applicants will be notified when the final candidate has been selected.

For additional information, please contact Professor Haifeng Huang at hhuang24@ucmerced.edu.

To apply, please visit our UC Merced job posting at: <https://aprecruit.ucmerced.edu/JPF01382>

The University of California is an Equal Employment Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer and invites applications from all qualified applicants, including women, minorities, veterans, and individual with disabilities, who will enrich the teaching, research and public service missions of the university. All qualified applicants will be considered for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability, age or protected veteran status. For the complete University of California nondiscrimination and affirmative action policy, see: UC Nondiscrimination & Affirmative Action Policy (<https://policy.ucop.edu/doc/4000376/DiscHarassAffirmAction>).

UC Merced is a smoke & tobacco free campus (<https://smokefree.ucmerced.edu/>).

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 9/20/2022

Date Posted: 8/16/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10700

United States Air Force Academy

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

UNITED STATES AIR FORCE ACADEMY

Assistant Professor of Political Science, American Politics (#22-18 DFPS)

The Department of Political Science anticipates filling an Assistant Professor of Political Science position beginning June 20, 2023. Candidates with teaching and research interests in American politics and institutions are encouraged to apply. We are especially interested in scholars engaging generally with political behavior in the American political context. This could include research related to race and ethnicity, economic or educational inequality, or gender politics, but is not limited to these areas. We encourage American politics scholars with an interest in teaching research methods to apply. Responsibilities include teaching upper division American politics courses and taking a lead role in the USAFA American government core course; maintaining a strong record of teaching and research; academic advising; and service to the department and Academy.

The United States Air Force Academy, located just north of Colorado Springs, Colorado, awards the Bachelor of Science degree as part of its mission to educate, train, and inspire men and women to become officers of character, motivated to lead the United States Air Force in service to our nation. The initial appointment is for three years. Successive reappointments of up to four years will be based upon an assessment of performance, Air Force and departmental needs, and funding availability. The Academy faculty is an integrated group of military and civilian educators, with a record of offering continuing appointments to civilian faculty after demonstrated excellence in the initial three-year appointment. The selected candidate will be subject to a security investigation and must meet eligibility requirements for access to the network and the use of government computer systems. The Federal Government is an equal opportunity employer. The United States Air Force Academy is committed to building a culturally diverse educational environment. Applicants are requested to include in their cover letter information about how they will further this goal. USAFA's Department of Political Science homepage is found at <https://www.usafa.edu/departments/political-science/>.

To apply, go to www.usajobs.gov. Type in "United States Air Force Academy, CO" in the "Location" box, and scroll down until you find this position. The deadline for applications is Oct 14, 2022. A doctorate in Political Science or a related field by the start date and U.S. citizenship are required. Essential qualities expected of every faculty member include the personal attributes of integrity, industry, cooperation, initiative, and breadth of intellectual interests.

Start Date: Summer 2023

Application Deadline: 10/14/2022

Date Posted: 8/15/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10493

University of Arizona

Rank: Assistant Professor of Practice

The School of Government and Public Policy at the University of Arizona invites applications for an Assistant Professor of Practice career-track position to contribute to our online and in-person BA Law and Political Science programs. The responsibilities of this full time, fiscal year (12 month) position include: teaching Introduction to American politics and other advanced undergraduate courses (6 total courses per academic year), providing administrative program support, promoting student success, and developing professional opportunities for students in law and politics related fields. We are especially interested in scholars whose teaching and research address questions about the politics of law, race, and/or gender.

You may be asking, what is a Professor of Practice? SGPP views these appointments as members of the core faculty, who may be eligible to serve as graduate faculty. Professors of Practice are central to our instructional and service missions, as well as to the growth of our research and outreach enterprises. Candidates with previous experience exclusively in academia will be considered alongside those with relevant experience outside of the academy. We are interested in candidates with ongoing research agendas; and candidates who are active in community engagement and outreach.

A robust set of policies and procedures outline the rights and responsibilities of career-track faculty at the University of Arizona: <https://facultyaffairs.arizona.edu/career-track-faculty>

Direct link to UArizona Talent Job Posting: <https://arizona.csod.com/ux/ats/careersite/4/home/requisition/8783?c=arizona>

The School of Government and Public Policy supports Inclusive Excellence. Many students in the BA in Law come from diverse backgrounds and are first-generation students. The University of Arizona is the first four-year public university in Arizona to be recognized as a Hispanic Servicing Institution. As a land-grant HSI, we are committed to meeting the educational needs of the vibrant and increasingly diverse communities of Arizona. Candidates are encouraged to support the University and School's diversity and inclusiveness efforts and to be especially supportive of underrepresented communities.

Outstanding UA benefits include health, dental, and vision insurance plans; life insurance and disability programs; paid vacation, sick leave, and holidays; UA/ASU/NAU tuition reduction for the employee and qualified family members; state and optional retirement plans; access to UA recreation and cultural activities; and more!

Duties & Responsibilities: Instruction involves teaching 6 courses per academic year and some possible summer instruction. Courses to be taught include online sections of POL 201 – Introduction to American Government. Additional courses will be developed based around the expertise of the successful candidate.

Service and Outreach includes contributing to the growth and development of undergraduate programs and to student retention. This includes:

- Promoting the program on and off campus.
- Innovating the BA in Law and Political Science course offerings.

- Providing mentorship and guidance for BA in Law and Political Science students, both online and in-person.
- Working with university and college efforts to recruit students and to promote the opportunities, events, and accomplishments of our students and faculty.
- Coordinating annual course offerings in collaboration with Director of Undergraduate Studies and School Director.
- Working closely with all SGPP instructors, including T/TT faculty, Career Track faculty, adjunct instructors, and SGPP PhD students.
- Working with faculty and staff to identify opportunities for collaborations such as internship placements, service-learning opportunities, undergraduate research experiences, and professionalization seminars.
- Recruiting adjunct lecturers for BA in Law and Political Science courses when needed. A commitment to innovative leadership and program growth.
- Excellent communication skills and commitment to working collaboratively and proactively with teams of faculty, staff, graduate, and undergraduate students.
- A commitment to values of diversity, equity, and inclusion. Record of publications in relevant fields.

Minimum Qualifications: Ph.D. in Political Science or related field by time of appointment. 3 years of teaching, providing student support, mentorship, and career counseling.

Preferred Qualifications: Experience using a variety of teaching methods and/or curricular perspectives to respond to the needs of a diverse student body at the undergraduate level.

Contact Information for Candidates: Angela Hackett ahackett@arizona.edu

Documents Needed to Apply:

- Curriculum Vitae (CV)
- Cover Letter
- Teaching Portfolio, including at minimum a Statement on Teaching, Examples of Course Syllabi, and Teaching Evaluations if available
- Diversity Statement with particular focus on your track record, experiences, and commitment to equity and inclusion
- Names and contact information for 3 professional references

Direct link to UArizona Talent Job Posting: <https://arizona.csod.com/ux/ats/careersite/4/home/requisition/8783?c=arizona>

Start Date: Spring 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/15/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10191

Sewanee: The University of the South

Rank: Assistant Professor of American Politics

The Department of Politics at the University of the South seeks applications for a tenure track position in American politics at the Assistant Professor rank, specializing in political behavior, to begin August 2023. ABDs are encouraged to apply, but must possess the PhD by the time of appointment.

The teaching load for this position is five courses per year. The successful candidate will teach American Government and Politics and upper division courses. Candidates should be able to offer courses in political behavior, such as campaigns and elections, media, and parties and interest groups, as well as specialized courses exploring issues of identity and diversity regarding race, ethnicity, gender, and/or sexual orientation. The candidate should also be able to teach research methods, with the focus on quantitative methods. The successful candidate will show evidence of inclusive and effective classroom teaching and a commitment to scholarly research and publication. The University has committed to diversity, equity and inclusion in scholarship and teaching and to that end, candidates whose research contributes to DEI are particularly urged to apply.

Over the next two years, the University plans to hire 15 new tenure-line faculty, providing the institution with the opportunity to focus on interdisciplinary study around crucial issues in society. Faculty hired in these cohorts will team with current faculty to explore through research, teaching, and/or community based learning topics that may include, for example, social justice, data for the public good, and protection of the environment. We expect that the candidate in this position will contribute to knowledge building through a cohort in one or more of such areas.

The University of the South, commonly known as Sewanee, comprises a nationally ranked residential College of Arts and Sciences and a School of Theology. At the University of the South, our commitment to inclusion and belonging is grounded in our core values of community, courage, flourishing, and inquiry. We seek to build a community enriched by our diversity centered on equity, justice, mutual respect, and shared responsibility. Situated on 13,000 acres atop Tennessee's Cumberland Plateau, Sewanee is known for its stunning natural beauty while providing easy access to Chattanooga, Nashville, and Huntsville, AL. The University is affiliated with the Episcopal Church and seeks to support students, faculty, and staff of all backgrounds and identities.

The University of the South stands firmly for the principle that its employees, students, and participants of university-sponsored programs and activities have a right to be free from discrimination based on race, color, sex, religion, national origin, age, disability, sexual orientation, gender identity, veteran status, pregnancy and childbirth, and genetic information. As required by Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990 and the ADA Amendments Act of 2008, Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 and Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972, the University does not discriminate on the basis of sex or other protected categories in the educational programs or activities which it operates. This requirement of non-discrimination extends to admission to and employment in those programs or activities. The University is committed to sustaining a community in which the dignity of every individual is respected. Key to this value are efforts to nurture an environment of civility and mutual respect and to foster a culture of reporting concerns so that the University can respond promptly and equitably whenever an incident occurs. All employees, students, and participants of university-sponsored programs and activities have the right to be free from harassment and retaliation.

For preliminary review, applicants must submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, brief writing sample, sample syllabi, course evaluations, graduate transcript, and a statement demonstrating commitment to and experience with supporting diversity, equity, and inclusion. They should also demonstrate interest in working across disciplines in a cohort of scholars. Applicants will be asked to supply the names and email addresses of three references, who will receive an auto-request to submit their confidential e-letters of recommendation.

Applicant materials should be submitted through the application portal at jobs.sewanee.edu. Eligibility for employment is contingent upon successful prescreening. For full consideration, please submit materials by September 30, 2022. Additional information about the department is available on the department's website.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 9/30/2022

Date Posted: 8/14/2022

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 10693

Washington & Lee University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Politics

Specializations: African American Politics, American Politics, Race & Ethnic Politics

The Department of Politics at Washington and Lee University invites applications for a tenure-track position in American Government that focuses on race and the politics of the South. In addition to teaching the Department's introductory course in American Government, the successful candidate will be expected to teach upper-level courses as part of the Theodore DeLaney Center for the Study of Southern Race Relations, Culture, and Politics. We encourage applicants with a research agenda devoted to African American politics, with specialties in the following areas: race, intersectionality, civil rights, and public policy involving education, healthcare, immigration, or policing; southern voting, elections, and political behavior; or religion and politics in the American South. Opportunities will be available to teach in other subfields in the Department (global politics and political philosophy), as well as interdisciplinary programs at the University, including Africana Studies, Poverty and Human Capability Studies, and Women's, Gender, and Sexuality Studies.

This position requires a strong commitment to undergraduate teaching excellence in a liberal arts environment and welcomes interdisciplinary contributions to the curriculum. Faculty are also expected to have an active research program. To support faculty research agendas, the university has a summer research grant program, a generous five-year sabbatical cycle, as well as a pre-tenure research leave program. A completed Ph.D. is required by the time of appointment, which begins July 1, 2023.

Application Instructions

All application materials must be submitted online at apply through Interfolio at <http://apply.interfolio.com/111327>. Include a letter of application describing why you wish to teach in a liberal arts setting and how your training and research/teaching interests address Southern race relations, culture, and politics. Include a curriculum vitae, graduate transcript (unofficial is acceptable for initial application), teaching evaluations, and three letters of recommendation that speak to teaching and research abilities. Women and minority candidates are especially encouraged to apply. Preliminary interviews will be conducted at APSA-Montreal, but full consideration will be given to all applications that are complete by September 30.

Washington and Lee is a top-ranked, highly selective university devoted to the teaching of the liberal arts. We are committed to excellence in teaching and to the research and professional activity that support it. Situated in the Shenandoah Valley, three hours southwest of Washington, DC, the university enrolls approximately 1,860 undergraduates and 380 law students.

Washington and Lee affirms that diverse perspectives and backgrounds enhance our community. We are committed to the recruitment, enrichment, and retention of students, faculty, and staff who embody many experiences, cultures, points of view, interests, and identities. In keeping with the University Strategic Plan, we encourage applications from underrepresented minority candidates.

Start Date: Summer 2022

Application Deadline: 9/30/2022

Date Posted: 8/13/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10691

Bradley University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

Specializations: Judicial Politics, Civil Rights & Liberties, American Politics

The Department of Political Science and International Studies at Bradley University invites applicants for a full-time, tenure-track position in political science starting Fall 2023. We seek candidates with expertise in American politics/public law. The successful candidate will be expected to teach introduction to American government and undergraduate courses in judicial politics, constitutional law, and other special topics courses. A strong record of teaching excellence is essential. The ideal candidate should also actively engage in scholarship by maintaining a research agenda and publishing in peer-reviewed outlets. Consistent with the University's strategic emphasis on diversity, equity, and inclusion across our community, the ideal candidate will be dedicated to fostering these values through their teaching and service.

Qualifications:

Applicants must have a Ph.D. in political science, with degree in hand by August 15, 2023. The successful candidate must be eligible to work in the United States.

Required Attachments:

Letter of interest

Current vita

Teaching portfolio

Research statement

Professional writing samples

Diversity statement demonstrating commitment to, past evidence of, and future plans for creating equitable opportunities for underrepresented students

Three letters of reference

Application Deadline:

To ensure full consideration applications must be submitted through our ADP online applicant portal. Initial screening of applications will begin on September 15, 2022. Applications will be reviewed until the position has been filled. You may apply at <https://tinyurl.com/3exth4ta>.

Please submit all materials at the time of initial application and have your recommenders send their letters of reference to mremmel@fmail.bradley.edu.

Employment with Bradley University is contingent upon successful completion of a criminal background check.

Bradley University is a top-ranked private university in Peoria, Illinois, that offers nearly 6,000 undergraduate and graduate students opportunities and resources of a larger university and the personal attention and exceptional learning experience of a smaller university. Located midway between Chicago and St. Louis, the Greater Peoria Area has a population of 414,000 and is one of the most innovative and family friendly cities in the nation according to wallethub.com.

Bradley University offers a competitive benefits package including health, dental, vision, life and disability coverages, FSA, HSA, and retirement plan options. Bradley also offers significant higher education cost savings for employees and dependents through the Tuition Remission program.

Bradley University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer. The administration, faculty and staff are committed to attracting qualified candidates from underrepresented groups.

COVID Expectations

ALL students, faculty, and staff MUST have received their second dose of a two dose COVID-19 vaccine series or a single dose COVID-19 vaccine. The ONLY exceptions to this will be for those who receive a medical or religious exemption for vaccination. However, please note, individual programs may require you to be vaccinated to meet their requirements. We recognize the challenges and need for clarity in this ever-changing environment. Please visit the Bradley Unite website for full policy details.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/12/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10679

Centre College

Rank: Assistant Professor

Specializations: Political Behavior, Race & Ethnic Politics, Congress

Centre College invites applications for a tenure-track position beginning in August 2023 in the Politics program with expertise in American political institutions and/or behavior. The successful candidate will be a teacher-scholar who demonstrates a commitment to excellence in teaching at a nationally-ranked liberal arts college. Ideal candidates will have a primary specialization in American political institutions and/or behavior (Congress, Presidency, state and local politics, voting behavior, partisanship, public opinion, etc.) with a secondary focus on one or more of the following areas: race, ethnicity, immigration, gender, LGBTQ identity, and/or social justice.

Centre College is a highly selective liberal arts college of about 1,400 students, has one of the nation's premier study-abroad programs, and is listed among the top national liberal arts colleges by U.S. News & World Report. The Centre Commitment guarantees that all students can study abroad, have an internship or research opportunity, and graduate in four years. With an exceptional faculty of teacher-scholars, classes are small and academic standards are high, and Centre graduates enjoy extraordinary success in top graduate and professional schools, prestigious fellowships, and rewarding careers.

Centre College is committed to an environment that welcomes and supports diversity. As noted in the Statement of Community, Centre strives to create an environment where differences are celebrated, governance is shared, ideas are freely and respectfully exchanged, and all members of the community benefit from the richness of diverse backgrounds and experiences. A number of resources support faculty success, including a robust Center for Teaching and Learning, peer mentoring, membership in the National Center for Faculty Development and Diversity, and endowed funding for professional development.

Centre is located in Danville, Kentucky, a city of 18,000 recognized for its high quality of life, historic downtown, friendly people, beautiful landscapes, and easy access to Lexington, Louisville, and Cincinnati. Centre College is a proud member of the Greater Kentucky Higher Education Recruitment Consortium.

Application Instructions

Applicants are asked to submit a CV and a cover letter that addresses their commitment to teaching at a liberal arts college and to advancing inclusion and equity in higher education. Review of applications will begin on October 7. Applicants selected for additional consideration will be asked to submit a teaching portfolio (teaching statement, teaching evaluations, and/or sample syllabi), research portfolio (research statement and writing sample of no more than forty pages), diversity and inclusion statement, and three letters of recommendation.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 10/7/2022

Date Posted: 8/12/2022

Salary: Any

eJobs ID: 10683

Vanderbilt University

Rank: Junior American Politics & Asian-American Politics

The Department of Political Science at Vanderbilt University invites applications from outstanding political scientists with a specialization in American political behavior for a tenure-track appointment as Assistant Professor. We are especially interested in receiving applications from scholars whose work engages with questions related to Asian-American politics and policy, to help facilitate scholarship and curricular bridges between the Department of Political Science and the Vanderbilt Asian Studies Department.

Qualifications

The ideal candidate will hold a joint appointment in Political Science and Asian Studies. The department is committed to building an intellectually vibrant, culturally inclusive, and academically diverse community of exceptional faculty. The appointment is open with respect to empirical approach. We will give priority to important research that builds synergies within the Political Science Department, and between the Department and the Asian Studies Department. Candidates able to assist in graduate training in quantitative methods, formal theory, or other methods should indicate those competencies. The appointment will begin Fall 2023. Salary and benefits are highly competitive. The Committee will begin reviewing files as early as September 1, 2022. To ensure full consideration, applicants should submit complete applications by September 15, 2022, but we welcome earlier applications, and we may schedule formal interviews at any time. We will accept applications until we fill the position. Among the qualifications required for hire is the Ph.D. in hand or expected by August 1, 2023.

Application Instructions

Interested applicants should submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, a research statement, a teaching statement, a writing sample, teaching evaluations (if applicable), a diversity statement, and three letters of reference electronically via Interfolio at: <http://apply.interfolio.com/111208>. Minorities, women, individuals with disabilities, and members of other underrepresented groups, in particular, are encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/12/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10688

Bradley University

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of Political Science and International Studies at Bradley University invites applicants for a full-time, tenure-track position in political science starting Fall 2023. We seek candidates with expertise in comparative politics. The successful candidate will be expected to teach introductory and special topics courses in comparative politics (specialty open) as well as introduction to American government. A strong record of teaching excellence is essential. The ideal candidate should also actively engage in scholarship by maintaining a research agenda and publishing in peer-reviewed outlets. Consistent with the University's strategic emphasis on diversity, equity, and inclusion across our community, the ideal candidate will be dedicated to fostering these values through their teaching and service.

Qualifications:

Applicants must have a Ph.D. in political science, with degree in hand by August 15, 2023. The successful candidate must be eligible to work in the United States.

Required Attachments:

Letter of interest
Current vita
Graduate transcripts
Teaching evaluations
Professional writing sample(s)
Three letters of reference

Application Deadline:

To ensure full consideration applications must be submitted through our ADP online applicant portal. Initial screening of applications will begin on September 15, 2022. Applications will be reviewed until the position has been filled. You may apply at <https://tinyurl.com/4ywd7a8w>.

Please submit all materials at the time of initial application and have your recommenders send their letters of reference to jkim4@fmail.bradley.edu.

Employment with Bradley University is contingent upon successful completion of a criminal background check.

Bradley University is a top-ranked private university in Peoria, Illinois, that offers nearly 6,000 undergraduate and graduate students opportunities and resources of a larger university and the personal attention and exceptional learning experience of a smaller university. Located midway between Chicago and St. Louis, the Greater Peoria Area has a population of 414,000 and is one of the most innovative and family friendly cities in the nation according to wallethub.com.

Bradley University offers a competitive benefits package including health, dental, vision, life and disability coverages, FSA, HSA, and retirement plan options. Bradley also offers significant higher education cost savings for employees and dependents through the Tuition Remission program.

Bradley University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer. The administration, faculty and staff are committed to attracting qualified candidates from underrepresented groups.

COVID Expectations

ALL students, faculty, and staff MUST have received their second dose of a two dose COVID-19 vaccine series or a single dose COVID-19 vaccine. The ONLY exceptions to this will be for those who receive a medical or religious exemption for vaccination. However, please note, individual programs may require you to be vaccinated to meet their requirements. We recognize the challenges and need for clarity in this ever-changing environment. Please visit the Bradley Unite website for full policy details.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/11/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10666

Arizona State University

Rank: Lecturer

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, American Government and Politics

The School of Politics and Global Studies (SPGS) is pleased to invite applications for a full-time position, benefits eligible, non-tenure track faculty member at the rank of Lecturer. The anticipated start date is January 1, 2023. This is an academic-year position within the SPGS faculty on the Tempe campus. Subsequent annual renewal is desired, contingent upon satisfactory performance, availability of resources, and the needs of the university.

SPGS seeks an applicant with a commitment to undergraduate teaching excellence to join its dynamic faculty. The primary responsibilities of the Lecturer will be to develop and teach in-person and online undergraduate courses on topics such as global studies, comparative politics, and international relations. A typical course load will consist of 4 classes per semester. Additional responsibilities holding office hours, mentoring, serving on committees, and assisting in curriculum development and extracurricular efforts to engage our undergraduate students.

Qualifications

Minimum qualifications:

- A Ph.D. in a relevant field (Anthropology, Global/International Studies, Political Science, Sociology, or similar fields) by the time of appointment

Desired qualifications:

- Prior experience designing and teaching both in person and online courses
- Expertise sufficient to teach courses in comparative politics and global studies, with a preference for background in international relations as well
- Global experience (i.e. studying or working abroad)
- Experience mentoring students

- Demonstrated success in and/or plans for meeting the needs of diverse student populations and/or reaching out to diverse communities.

Application Instructions

The College values cultural and intellectual diversity, and continually strives to foster a welcoming and inclusive environment. We are especially interested in applicants who can strengthen the diversity of the academic community.

To apply, candidates must submit application materials online to Interfolio at apply.interfolio.com/110735 by September 21, 2022; if not filled, complete applications will be reviewed every two weeks thereafter until the search is closed. This is a paperless search; only electronic materials will be accepted. Submit the following: 1) a letter of application stating qualifications, experience, and courses they are able to teach as outlined below 2) a complete curriculum vita, 3) the names and contact information for three references, 4) if available, syllabi and course-related material (including evaluations) for no more than two courses you have taught; and 5) a statement addressing how your past and/or potential contributions to diversity and inclusion will advance ASU's commitment to inclusive excellence.

As part of the application letter, applicants should indicate which of the following courses they would be able and willing to teach (with the understanding that not all of these courses would necessarily need to be covered by the person hired). Candidates optionally may also list other undergraduate Global Studies (SGS) or Political Science (POS) courses that they feel qualified to teach, consulting the ASU course catalog at <https://webapp4.asu.edu/catalog/courselist>.

- POS 150 Comparative Government
- POS 160 Global Politics
- SGS 101 Thinking Globally (introductory course in global studies)
- SGS 204 Professional Global Career Development
- SGS 304 Foundations of Cross-Cultural Awareness
- POS 301/SGS 305 Empirical Political Inquiry
- POS/SGS 401 Political Statistics

Questions about this position should be directed to Sarah Ericson, Academic Personnel Specialist at Sarah.Ericson@asu.edu.

Equal Employment Opportunity Statement

A background check is required for employment. Arizona State University is a VEVRAA Federal Contractor and an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability, protected veteran status, or any other basis protected by law.

(See <https://www.asu.edu/aad/manuals/acd/acd401.html> and <https://www.asu.edu/titleIX/>.)

In compliance with federal law, ASU prepares an annual report on campus security and fire safety programs and resources. ASU's Annual Security and Fire Safety Report is available online at <https://www.asu.edu/police/PDFs/ASU-Clery-Report.pdf> You may request a hard copy of the report by contacting the ASU Police Department at 480-965-3456.

COVID-19 Vaccination - Arizona State University is a federal contractor and subject to federal regulations which may require you to produce a record of a COVID-19 vaccination. For questions about medical or religious accommodations, please visit the Office of Diversity, Equity and Inclusion's webpage.

Start Date: Spring 2023
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/10/2022
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 10665

Princeton University

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Associate

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, International Relations

The Department of Politics at Princeton University seeks applicants for a Postdoctoral Research Associate or more senior research position that involves a year of research at Princeton. Scholars in all subfields of political science will be considered. The aim of the program is to nurture a diverse group of promising scholars, and there is a particular interest in attracting applications from groups that have been historically underrepresented in the field of political science at Princeton University. Ph.D. is required.

Interested applicants must apply online at <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/27002> and submit a CV, cover letter, writing sample, and the names and contact information of three references. For best consideration, apply by September 12, 2022. Initial appointment is for one year with the possibility of renewal subject to satisfactory performance and available funding.

This position is subject to the University's background check policy.

Requisition No: D-23-POL-00005

Start Date:
Date Posted: 8/10/2022
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 10662

The College of New Jersey

Rank: Tenure-track Faculty Position in Political Science (Assistant Professor)

The Department of Political Science at The College of New Jersey (TCNJ) invites applications for a 10-month, tenure-track Assistant Professor position in American Politics to join our community starting in August 2023.

Position Summary:

The successful candidate will specialize in American political institutions, have a productive and rigorous research agenda, excel in the classroom, and seek ways to integrate their scholarship and teaching. The person in this position will teach U.S. federal institutions (with a focus on Congress and/or the Presidency), will ideally participate in the department's methodology training at the undergraduate and/or graduate level, and contribute to the department's new Master of Public Policy (MPP) degree program. The substantive research area is open, but candidates should make the case that there is sufficient overlap between their teaching and research to support TCNJ's teacher-scholar model. The department is especially interested in candidates who can expand subject matter expertise in American politics beyond the current strengths in the department. This might include, but is not limited to, racial and ethnic politics, gender and politics, data analytics and politics, or political parties and interest groups.

Candidates should have an active research agenda focused on U.S. political institutions, broadly defined, and should be committed to high-quality teaching and deep student engagement. The typical teaching load is three courses per semester. Incoming faculty receive a course reassignment per year in two of their first three academic years. After their third year, all faculty can apply for a competitive course reassignment of one course per academic year.

We are interested in candidates whose research and teaching will connect and integrate with other disciplines and who have the potential to collaboratively contribute to interdisciplinary curricular and scholarly efforts.

Candidates should be committed to inclusive excellence in higher education, demonstrated through, for example, culturally responsive course design and pedagogy, equity-minded student engagement and mentorship, and cultivating intercultural competencies needed for meaningful citizenship.

TCNJ has a strong commitment to inclusive excellence in our community and to supporting a healthy work-life balance for our faculty of teacher-scholars. Teaching and research/scholarship/creative expression are mutually supportive activities at TCNJ. Candidates should be strongly committed to the teacher-scholar model, to maintaining both high quality teaching and an active and productive program of scholarship, and to encouraging and mentoring highly motivated students in intensive work both inside and outside the classroom. Faculty members are encouraged and supported in seeking external funding consistent with this mission. They also serve as academic advisors and have service responsibilities within their department, school, and the college. TCNJ supports its community of teacher-scholars through a progressive faculty workload model, generous internal grant and sabbatical programs, professional travel, engaging professional development programs, and other mechanisms. These intentional efforts support the recruitment, retention, and success of our faculty, particularly our teacher-scholars from groups traditionally underrepresented in academe.

Linkage to Two Thematic Clusters:

We are especially interested in candidates who could contribute to either or both of the TCNJ's two thematic clusters (broadly defined): Data-/Cyber-connected disciplines and Social/Racial Justice. The hires will build-on and expand existing faculty strengths in these areas – with an array of institutional supports for them – bringing a cluster of 10 new teacher-scholars and practitioners across a range of academic fields/departments to TCNJ (Accounting; Computer Science; Counselor Education; Criminology; Management; Music; Political Science; Statistics; and Special Education, Language, and Literacy).

Qualifications:

Applicants should:

- * Have a PhD in political science, or a closely related field. ABDs will be considered only if the degree will be completed prior to the start date.
- * Have an active research agenda focused on American political institutions and a strong commitment to teaching.
- * Submit materials that explain how their teaching and research fit the needs of the department and complement the department's existing teaching and research strengths.
- * Explain the candidate's research interests and ability to sustain a productive research agenda focused on US political institutions.

* Discuss their teaching interests and provide evidence of the potential to excel in the classroom, and how the applicant plans to integrate teaching and research.

* Demonstrate cultural competency and ability to foster inclusive learning environments and mutual respect for students and colleagues.

Preferred qualifications

* A PhD in political science.

* Evidence demonstrating the ability to sustain an active and rigorous research agenda focused on US federal institutions.

* Evidence of teaching effectiveness.

* Ability to contribute to the department's research methods training.

* Ability to contribute to the department's MPP program.

Employer Qualifications:

* Final offer of employment is contingent upon the successful completion of a background check.

* COVID-19 Testing and Compliance - The College has a mandatory COVID-19 vaccination requirement. To learn more, please read the policy here: COVID-19

Requirements and Protocols. <https://hr.tcnj.edu/covid-19-employee-info/>

To Apply: Candidates should submit (a) a letter of application highlighting their interest and qualifications, (b) a curriculum vitae, (c) a statement of teaching philosophy/approach (no longer than 2 pages), (d) a description of research interests and goals (no longer than 2 pages), (e) a statement of commitment to diversity, equity, and inclusion (no longer than 2 pages), (f) unofficial transcripts (graduate and undergraduate), and (g) names and contact information for at least three professional references. Applicants should have letter writers email letters of recommendation to: ampolsearch@tcnj.edu and have letter writers include "American Politics Search" in the subject line.

Applications should be submitted electronically to https://tcnj.taleo.net/careersection/00_ex_faculty/jobdetail.fel?job=22002146&lang=en. Review of applications will begin immediately and will continue until the position is filled. For full consideration, applications should be received by September 16, 2022.

Questions about the position can be directed to Tao L. Dumas (dumast@tcnj.edu), American Politics Search Committee Chair.

About the Department: The Department of Political Science is a supportive and dynamic community of teacher-scholars and students. The Department has eight tenured or tenure-track faculty members, and this search is for a ninth member. We offer a major and minor in Political Science and make important contributions to the interdisciplinary International Studies Program. The Department also supports minors in public policy and pre-law, which draw students from across a wide range of academic disciplines. The Department expects to begin enrolling students in the Master of Public Policy degree program in the upcoming academic year.

For more information about the department, please visit: Department of Political Science (tcnj.edu)

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 9/16/2022

Date Posted: 8/10/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10661

University of Massachusetts Boston

Rank: Assistant Professor (Political Science)

The Department of Political Science at the University of Massachusetts Boston invites applications for a tenure-track position in American politics to be filled at the rank of Assistant Professor beginning September 1, 2023. We are particularly interested in candidates whose area of specialization is in race, ethnicity, and politics. Preferred but not required secondary areas of interest include political behavior, inequality, or American political development. A typical teaching load is two courses per semester, and candidates are expected to be productive scholars with active research agendas and pedagogical commitments. UMass Boston aspires to be an anti-racist health promoting institution and encourages applications from scholars with a commitment to community engagement in Boston and beyond.

Requirements:

All candidates should hold a PhD in a relevant field or should have a reasonable expectation of earning the PhD by no later than August 31, 2023.

Application instructions:

Review of applications will begin October 15, 2022 and will continue until the position is filled. Applicants should submit: (1) a cover letter, (2) curriculum vitae, (3) relevant transcripts, (4) a statement of research and teaching interests, (5) a writing sample, (6) a statement on diversity and inclusion, and (7) three letters of recommendation. Please submit application materials at <https://employmentopportunities.umb.edu/boston/en-us/job/515169/assistant-professor-political-science>.

UMass Boston requires all employees to be vaccinated against COVID-19 and to confirm proof of their vaccination status including booster. Exemptions from the vaccine requirement will be permitted only for qualifying religious or medical reasons. Regardless of vaccination status, you must wear a face covering in public indoor spaces on campus.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/10/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10654

American Civil Liberties Union

Rank: Social Science Fellow, Voting Rights

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Policy, Methodology

Specializations: Electoral Systems, Civil Rights & Liberties, American Politics

ABOUT THE JOB

The ACLU seeks a full-time Social Science Fellow, Voting Rights for a period of 18 months in the Analytics Department of the ACLU's National office in New York, NY/ Remote*.

ACLU Analytics partners with teams across the organization to enable the ACLU to make smart, evidence-based decisions and bring quantitative insights on our issues to the courtroom and the public. Our team's work ranges from social science research for litigation & advocacy, to analysis & reporting for fundraising and engagement, to building and maintaining our data infrastructure. We strive to ensure the ACLU leads by example in the ethical use of data and technology.

This includes maintaining our privacy and security standards, pushing for transparent data practices from government and corporate actors, and helping to steward high standards for algorithmic fairness, accountability, and transparency.

Reporting to the Director, Legal Analytics & Quantitative Research, the Social Science Fellow will use data analysis and quantitative social science techniques to defend voting rights and democracy in the courts and on the ballot. Working in close partnership with ACLU Voting Rights Attorneys, organizers, and affiliates, you will shape research questions, conduct descriptive and causal analyses, review expert reports, and translate quantitative findings into recommendations for litigators, policymakers and judges. Your analyses will push for fair maps, fight voter suppression, and identify areas for expansion of voter access.

*Note: this position may be approved for remote work from a different U.S. location

RESPONSIBILITIES

You will be part of the Legal Analytics & Quantitative Research team, and work with team members across Analytics as well as stakeholders in our Legal, Political Advocacy, Digital, and Communications teams. Below is a sampling of projects you can expect to dive into:

- Combine Census demographic data, legislative district maps, and election results to create powerful voting rights datasets
- Review quantitative expert reports and depositions and provide recommendations to colleagues and co-counsel
- Identify, evaluate, acquire, and integrate new Census data products and electoral results
- Implement district simulation analyses and statistical methods such as ecological inference to inform litigation and advocacy efforts
- Develop quantitative research analyses and literature reviews that support ACLU litigation and advocacy
- Support the legal analytics team on other high-priority civil rights cases, including disparate impact claims in criminal justice, housing, or employment
- Identify new opportunities for the ACLU's proactive voter protection efforts
- Engage in special projects and other duties as assigned
- Center principles of equity, inclusion, and belonging in all work, embedding the values in program development, policy application, and organizational practices and processes
- Commitment to the mission of the ACLU
- Demonstrate a commitment to diversity within the office using a personal approach that values all individuals and respects differences in regards to race, ethnicity, age, gender identity and expression, sexual orientation, religion, disability and socio-economic circumstance
- Commitment to work collaboratively and respectfully toward resolving obstacles and/or conflicts

EXPERIENCE & QUALIFICATIONS

- Substantial training and applied experience in a quantitative social science, such as Economics, Political Science, or equivalent
- Fluency in R, Python, or comparable statistical programming language
- Experience providing timely feedback on statistical analyses, for example in reviewing expert reports or peer-reviewing journal articles
- Experience designing and evaluating causal inference research studies
- Ability to clearly translate technical concepts for a non-technical audience

The ideal candidate will have a passion for the ACLU, civil liberties and civil rights, with an emphasis on voting rights and redistricting in particular

PREFERRED QUALIFICATIONS

- Two+ years of graduate-level work or research in US voting and elections, or equivalent work experience
- Experience using ecological inference, simulation analyses, and other social science methods to analyze voting patterns in redistricting
- Experience working directly with US Census data products and precinct-level electoral return data
- Experience using statistical techniques for causal identification in observational or experimental research, either in an academic or applied legal setting
- Experience with Geographic Information Systems (GIS) software and spatial data, or mapping software for redistricting (e.g. Maptitude for Redistricting)

COMPENSATION

The annual salary for this position is $122,576 (Level F). This salary is reflective of a position based in New York, NY. This salary will be subject to a locality adjustment (according to a specific city and state), if an authorization is granted to work outside of the location listed in this posting. Note that most of the salaries listed on our job postings reflect New York, NY salaries, where our National offices are headquartered.

ABOUT THE ACLU

The ACLU dares to create a more perfect union – beyond one person, party, or side. Our mission is to realize this promise of the United States Constitution for all and expand the reach of its guarantees.

For over 100 years, the ACLU has worked to defend and preserve the individual rights and liberties guaranteed by the Constitution and laws of the United States. Whether it's ending mass incarceration, achieving full equality for the LGBTQ+ community, establishing new privacy protections for our digital age, or preserving the right to vote or the right to have an abortion, the ACLU takes up the toughest civil liberties cases and issues to defend all people from government abuse and overreach.

Equity, diversity, and inclusion are core values of the ACLU and central to our work to advance liberty, equality, and justice for all. We are a community committed to learning and growth, humility and grace, transparency and accountability. We believe in a collective responsibility to create a culture of belonging for all people within our organization – one that respects and embraces difference; treats everyone equitably; and empowers our colleagues to do the best work possible. We are as committed to anti-oppression and anti-racism internally as we are externally. Because whether we're in the courts or in the office, we believe 'We the People' means all of us.

The ACLU is an equal opportunity employer. We value a diverse workforce and an inclusive culture. The ACLU encourages applications from all qualified individuals without regard to race, color, religion, gender, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, age, national origin, marital status, citizenship, disability, veteran status and record of arrest or conviction, or any other characteristic protected by applicable law. Black people, Indigenous people, people of color; lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender, queer, and intersex people; women; people with disabilities, protected veterans, and formerly incarcerated individuals are all strongly encouraged to apply.

The ACLU makes every effort to assure that its recruitment and employment provide all qualified persons, including persons with disabilities, with full opportunities for employment in all positions.

The ACLU is committed to providing reasonable accommodation to individuals with disabilities. If you are a qualified individual with a disability and need assistance applying online, please email benefits.hrdept@aclu.org. If you are selected for an interview, you will receive additional information regarding how to request an accommodation for the interview process.

The Department of Education has determined that employment in this position at the ACLU does not qualify for the Public Service Loan Forgiveness Program.

Start Date: Fall 2022

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/9/2022

Salary: $120,000 - $129,999

eJobs ID: 10641

Grinnell College

Rank: Department of Political Science - Tenure-Track Position (Start Fall 2023)

GRINNELL COLLEGE – DEPARTMENT OF POLITICAL SCIENCE/ AMERICAN POLITICS - TENURE-TRACK POSITION (START FALL 2023).

The Grinnell College Department of Political Science has a long-standing record of success in attracting and supporting faculty who are committed scholars and teachers. Our students reflect diverse backgrounds, interests, and academic goals, and they are engaged both in and outside the classroom. Our department invites applications for a tenure-track appointment in American Politics with a focus on race and ethnicity beginning Fall 2023. Assistant Professor (Ph.D.) preferred; Instructor (ABD) or Associate Professor possible. Research and teaching interests related to race and ethnicity might include, but are not limited to: the political behavior of specific demographic groups within the United States; politics of gender or intersectional identities; identity politics; and politics of inequality. Scholars who examine political minorities in the U.S. in a cross-national comparative context are also encouraged to apply. High consideration will be given to individuals who can demonstrate educational, research, service, or other experiences that prepare them to effectively mentor and engage with underrepresented and historically marginalized students and colleagues.

Grinnell College is a highly selective undergraduate liberal arts college with a strong tradition of social responsibility. In letters of application, candidates should discuss their potential to contribute to a college community that maintains a diversity of people and perspectives as one of its core values. To be assured of full consideration, all application materials should be received by September 22, 2022. Please visit our application website at <http://apply.interfolio.com/111344> to find more details about the job and submit applications online. Candidates will need to upload a letter of application, curriculum vitae, transcripts (copies are acceptable), a sample of scholarly written work, and provide email addresses for three references. Questions about this search should be directed to the search chair, Professor Barbara Trish at PoliSci-Search@grinnell.edu or (641) 269-4803.

Grinnell College is committed to establishing and maintaining a safe and nondiscriminatory educational environment for all College community members. It is committed to a policy of nondiscrimination in matters of admission, employment, and housing, and in access to and participation in its education programs, services, and activities. The college does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, ethnicity, national origin, age, sex, gender, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, marital status, veteran status, pregnancy, childbirth, religion, disability, creed, or any other protected class.

An offer for this position will be contingent on successful completion of a background check.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 9/22/2022

Date Posted: 8/9/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10643

University of Chicago

Rank: Associate or Full Professor

Specializations: American Politics, Race & Ethnic Politics, Judicial Politics

Job Description

The Department of Political Science at the University of Chicago invites applications for an Associate or Full Professor in American Politics. This position is part of a larger departmental hiring initiative in American Politics. We welcome applications from the entire sub-field of American politics, and particularly from scholars who work in the areas of racial and ethnic politics, judicial politics, campaigns and elections, state and local politics, and/or the bureaucracy. This position will begin on or after July 1, 2023.

Qualifications

Candidates must have completed all requirements for the PhD degree prior to the start of the appointment.

Application Instructions

Applicants must apply at the University of Chicago's Interfolio website at <https://apply.interfolio.com/111333>. Applications must include: 1) a cover letter that, among other things, describes the applicant's prior and potential contributions to diversity in the context of academic research, teaching, and service; and 2) a curriculum vitae. Short listed candidates will be asked to submit supplemental documents. Consideration of applications will begin on September 15, 2021.

Start Date: Summer 2023

Application Deadline: 9/15/2022

Date Posted: 8/9/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10642

Willamette University

Rank: Assistant Professor

Willamette University invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor in American Politics and Public Policy to join our growing undergraduate program in Politics, Policy, Law & Ethics (PPLE) beginning in August 2023. We seek candidates with expertise in Latinx politics and policy and a deep commitment to undergraduate education. Areas of specialization within the field of Latinx politics and policy are open. Ph.D. is expected by August 2023.

POSITION DESCRIPTION:

Reflecting the importance of interdisciplinarity, the PPLE department at Willamette University relies on coursework and colleagues in the sciences, humanities, and social sciences. We seek a creative, energetic colleague who will share in the teaching of PPLE core courses that introduce students to the study of politics and public policy, and develop new courses that combine scholarship and service to help the department meet the desire of Willamette students to address issues of equity, difference, and justice in their coursework and co-curricular engagement.

Willamette is a small, selective private university committed to providing students with a well-rounded liberal arts education. Approximately 1600 of 2500 students are enrolled in the undergraduate College of Arts & Sciences, and the remaining students are enrolled in the Willamette College of Law, the Atkinson Graduate School of Management, and the Pacific Northwest College of Art, which has both undergraduate and graduate students. The university is located in downtown Salem, across the street from the Oregon State Capitol and in close proximity to dozens of state and county agencies that offer possibilities to cultivate applied research, coursework, and internship opportunities with government and community partners.

Willamette promotes a teacher-scholar model for its faculty: tenure-track faculty teach five undergraduate courses per year, advise students, research and publish in their fields, and engage in rotating service to the department, college, and university. All College of Arts & Sciences professors are expected to teach non-majors as well as majors and to contribute to the General Education curriculum.

Willamette believes that a diverse, inclusive community is essential to achieving academic excellence. Accordingly, we seek candidates who not only have the potential to become outstanding teachers and scholars, but whose work also furthers equity and inclusion, and who will bring to campus varied experiences, perspectives, and backgrounds. The College of Arts & Sciences is proud to enroll a substantial number of low-income, first-generation, and underrepresented students of color. Over the past four years, 24% of our students were first-generation; 24% were Pell-eligible; and 33% identified as African American, Hispanic/Latinx, Native American/Alaska Native, Native Hawaiian/Pacific Islander, or multiracial. Additionally, Willamette Academy, the university's out-of-school college access program, mentors and supports 8th-12th grade students from underrepresented communities (99% students of color, 90% low income, 100% first-generation) in the Salem/Keizer School District.

Candidates will need to upload the following documents separately as part of your online application in the "Resume/CV" section:

- Letter of application describing your qualifications, interest in this position, research expertise, teaching experience, and vision for engaging undergraduate students in the classroom and beyond
- Curriculum vitae
- Graduate school transcripts (unofficial copies accepted)
- A statement (500 word maximum) describing ways you can contribute to the university's mission of promoting an equitable, diverse, and inclusive campus, both in and out of the classroom
- The names and contact information for three professional references (at least one must be able to address teaching experience and teaching effectiveness; please indicate the teaching reference in your letter of application).

(If you reach the maximum to upload documents, please email the remaining documents to human-resources@willamette.edu.)

Additional materials may be requested after initial stages of this search.

Review of applications will begin October 1, 2022 and will continue until the position is filled.

If you have questions about the position, contact:

David Gutterman
Search Committee Chair
dgutterm@willamette.edu or

Richard Ellis
PPLE Department Chair
rellis@willamette.edu

For a quick response, please type "PPLE Position" in the email subject line.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/8/2022

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 10637

Baylor University

Rank: Full-Time Lecturer

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Policy, Public Administration

Baylor University seeks a Lecturer to start August 1, 2023.

Details for this position can be found at apply.interfolio.com/109426.

Position Description

The Department of Political Science at Baylor University invites applications for the position of Regular Lecturer in American Politics. This full-time position emphasizes teaching, although scholarly productivity is appreciated and the ability to generate external grants is recognized. The department is interested in applicants from all fields of American Politics. An ability to teach an introduction to American National Government is essential. In addition, the applicant should be able to teach a broad range of courses on American politics, such as Public Policy, Public Administration, Congress, Political Behavior, State/Local Government, or Race/Ethnicity. Candidates may apply beginning August 3, 2022. To ensure full consideration, completed applications must be submitted by September 18, 2022.

About Baylor University: Located in Waco, Texas, Baylor University is the oldest college in Texas. With a population of 21,000 students, Baylor is one of the top universities in the nation, having just been named an R1 institution by the Carnegie Classification in 2022. Baylor is also on the honor roll of the "Great Colleges to Work For" from The Chronicle of Higher Education; Baylor offers competitive salaries and benefits while giving faculty and staff the chance to live in one of the fastest-growing parts of the state. Our strategic plan, Illuminate, guides the University as we continue to live up to Baylor's mission of educating men and women for worldwide leadership and service by integrating academic excellence and Christian commitment within a caring community.

Qualifications

Candidates should possess an earned doctorate in Political Science or a related field by time of employment. Salary is commensurate with experience and qualifications.

Application Instructions

A complete application consists of (1) a cover letter, (2) a current curriculum vitae, (3) copies of official transcripts showing the highest degree conferred (if a Ph.D. is in progress, a transcript showing hours completed toward the Ph.D. is also required), (4) three letters of recommendation, (5) a statement of participation in a faith community in the Judeo-Christian tradition, (6) a statement of teaching philosophy, (7) evidence of teaching effectiveness including course evaluations, and (8) one writing sample. Finalists will be invited for interview with the department and university administration.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 9/18/2022

Date Posted: 8/6/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10636

National Defense University

Rank: Assistant Research Fellow Team Lead

-- Apply Directly on the USAJobs website -- <https://www.usajobs.gov/job/667739900>

Closes 8/11/2022

Summary

National Defense University (NDU) supports the joint warfighter by providing rigorous Joint Professional Military Education to members of the U.S. Armed Forces and select others in order to develop leaders who have the ability to operate and creatively think in an unpredictable and complex world.

This is a Title 10 Excepted Service Appointment. Appointment is not to exceed 3 years with the possibility for extension.

Salary

$69,441 - $84,062 per year

Pay scale & grade

AD 2

This job is open to the public - U.S. Citizens, Nationals or those who owe allegiance to the U.S.

Duties

Conducts studies and research of national security issues which have significant implications, based on specific guidance from Faculty Assists Faculty in the planning, development and conduct of technical studies and analyses, background papers, literature searches, etc., involving broad areas of national strategy, military policy, and related subject matters at the national level

Provides analyses of issues across military, foreign policy, homeland security, and other relevant U.S. government policies and programs. Contributes to the maintenance of the College by assisting with vital administrative duties in support of travel, conferences, indoor and outdoor events, meetings, workshops, university classes and the general upkeep of the College and its systems.

Participates in the development of curriculum materials and in teaching courses for the components of the National Defense University. Provides periodic reports to the supervisor on team and individual work accomplishments, problems, progress in mastering tasks and work processes, and individual and team training needs.

Administer and oversee the application process and unpaid research internship program to include application requirements, deadlines, and point of contact, among others establishing contacts at major graduate programs to facilitate applications to ensure a high-caliber research team.

Maintain research and administrative reference materials, project files and relevant back-ground documents and make available policies, procedures and written instructions from the Course Directors; maintain current knowledge to answer questions from team members on procedures, policies, OP-MEPS, etc. Perform other duties as assigned.

Requirements

Conditions of Employment

Must be a U.S. Citizen

If selected, you will be required to provide information regarding your COVID-19 vaccination status for the purposes of determining appropriate workplace safety protocols, such as those related to masking, testing, travel, and quarantine.

Must obtain and maintain a Non-Sensitive security clearance.

Qualifications

Possesses a master's degree from a regionally accredited institution of higher education (or international equivalent) in a national security affairs related area or other appropriate discipline.

2 years' experience conducting research, performing studies or providing support to curriculum development.

Experience as a team lead, assigning projects and managing deliverables and timelines.

Exceptional skill in writing and oral communications techniques in order to develop and convey assessments and recommendations to senior leaders.

Strong interpersonal skills with the ability to initiate and maintain positive and productive working relationships with faculty, researchers, students, and colleagues in a group or individual setting.

Experience using Blackboard, Google Cloud, Academic Databases, Search Engines, Excel, PowerPoint and Microsoft Word in conducting research of course materials.

Desired Qualifications:

Knowledge of and skill in applying editorial guidelines and publication standards, including standards of style and accuracy.

Demonstrates strong skills in editing, fact checking and proofreading for publications, reports, presentations as well as course material.

Volunteer Experience: Experience refers to paid and unpaid experience, including volunteer work done through National Service programs (e.g., Peace Corps, AmeriCorps) and other organizations (e.g., professional, philanthropic, religious, spiritual, community, student, social). Volunteer work helps build critical competencies, knowledge, and skills, and can provide valuable training and experience that translates to paid employment. You will receive credit for all qualifying experience, including volunteer experience.

Education

Education Requirement: A master's degree from a regionally accredited institution of higher education (or international equivalent) in a national security affairs related area or other appropriate discipline.

Official transcripts will be required at time of selection to verify educational requirements are met.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 8/11/2022

Date Posted: 8/5/2022

Salary: $70,000 - $79,999

eJobs ID: 10631

Stanford University

Rank: Assistant Professor of American Politics

The Department of Political Science at Stanford University is seeking applications for a tenure line position at the rank of assistant professor in American Politics.

Candidates must have a PhD or be enrolled in a PhD program or equivalent international degree-granting program at the time of application, with expected degree completion by date of appointment as an assistant professor. Candidates should demonstrate evidence of a creative research trajectory and a commitment to excellence in teaching at both graduate and undergraduate levels. Applicants should send a cover letter, CV, research statement, teaching evaluations, and a writing sample along with at least three professional letters of recommendation.

The Political Science Department, School of Humanities and Sciences, and Stanford University value faculty who are committed to advancing diversity, equity, and inclusion. Candidates may optionally include as part of their research or teaching statement a brief discussion of how their work will further these ideals.

Review of applications will begin on September 15, 2022, but applications may be considered after that date. Application materials must be submitted on-line via <https://facultypositions.stanford.edu/en-us/job/493455/assistant-professor-of-political-science-american-politics>

<https://facultypositions.stanford.edu>. Consistent with its obligations under the law, the University will provide reasonable accommodation to any employee with a disability who requires accommodation to perform the essential functions of his or her job.

Stanford is an equal employment opportunity and affirmative action employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law.

Stanford welcomes applications from all who would bring additional dimensions to the University's research, teaching, and clinical missions.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/5/2022

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 10628

Texas Tech University

Rank: Assistant Professor in American Politics

The Department of Political Science at Texas Tech University is seeking applications for a tenure-track position at the Assistant Professor level to begin Fall 2023. We seek candidates with research and teaching specializations in American Politics. Applicants must show evidence and/or promise of excellence in teaching and an active research agenda. Candidates who have very strong records of scholarship supported by extramural funding and who have the proven capacity or clear potential to bring externally sponsored research to Texas Tech University are encouraged to apply. Service to the department, college, and university is expected. Texas Tech is a Hispanic Serving Institution. Candidates should also exhibit a demonstrated and ongoing commitment to serving diverse student populations. A Ph.D. in political science is required by the time of the appointment.

Applicants should submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, writing sample, three letters of reference, and evidence of teaching effectiveness. All items except reference letters should be submitted at <http://www.texastech.edu/careers/>. The requisition number is 29909BR.. Reference letters should be emailed to Prof. Timothy Nokken, Chair, Department of political science at timothy.nokken@ttu.edu. For full consideration, all application materials must be received by 10/1/2022. Questions about the position should be directed to Prof. Timothy Nokken, Chair, Department of political science, timothy.nokken@ttu.edu.

As an Equal Employment Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer, Texas Tech University is dedicated to the goal of building a culturally diverse faculty committed to teaching and working in a multicultural environment. We actively encourage applications from all those who can contribute, through their research, teaching, and/or service, to the diversity and excellence of the academic community at Texas Tech University. The university welcomes applications from minoritized candidates, women, protected veterans, persons with disabilities, and dual-career couples.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 10/1/2022

Date Posted: 8/5/2022

Salary: $80,000 - $89,999

eJobs ID: 10634

University of Idaho

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

Specializations: Congress, Presidency, American Politics

The Department of Politics and Philosophy in the College of Letters, Arts and Social Sciences at the University of Idaho invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track Assistant Professor in American Politics with a focus on American Institutions, broadly construed. The ability to contribute to the department's Masters of Public Administration program and/or expertise in Race, Ethnicity, and Politics is preferred.

Candidates are expected to show a strong potential for excellence in research and teaching, and should have a Ph.D. in hand by the date of appointment, but ABDs close to completion may also be considered.

Required qualifications: (i) Ability to teach Introduction to Political Science, Introduction to American Politics and Policy, Research Methods, and upper-level courses on American Political Institutions, specifically Congress and/or the Presidency, and (ii) Strong potential for research productivity.

Preferred qualifications: (i) Ability to contribute to the department's Masters of Public Administration program, and/or (ii) Expertise in Race, Ethnicity, and Politics. Prior experience teaching and mentoring students from diverse cultural backgrounds is also desirable.

Applications must be received by September 23, 2022 for priority review. Applicant materials must include all of the following:

- 1) cover letter
- 2) curriculum vitae
- 3) 2-3 page statement describing current and future research projects (upload as Statement of Research)
- 4) 2-3 page pedagogy statement (upload as Statement of Teaching)
- 5) writing sample (upload as Other Document 1)
- 6) list of 3 references
- 7) diversity statement that details how your teaching, service, and/or scholarship has supported the success of students from racial, ethnic, and gender backgrounds that are underrepresented in their academic field (upload as Other Document 2). Applicants who have not yet had the opportunity for such experience should note how their work will further University of Idaho's commitment to diversity.

Apply through the University of Idaho's job portal: <https://uidaho.peopleadmin.com/postings/36871>

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/5/2022

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 10633

Agnes Scott College

Rank: Political Science Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Political Theory, Open

Specializations: Race & Ethnic Politics, Gender Politics & Policy, Civil Rights & Liberties

The Department of Political Science at Agnes Scott College seeks to hire a full-time, tenure track Assistant Professor whose primary focus is U.S. politics, with emphasis on racial, ethnic, and/or gender politics. The successful candidate will offer courses at the introductory and advanced levels in U.S. government and in the candidate's field of specialization. Special consideration will be given to applicants who can teach constitutional law and political theory. The 3/2 teaching load may also include contributions to SUMMIT, the college's global learning and leadership development initiative. Candidates should demonstrate a commitment to working with a socially and economically diverse student population.

To apply, send a cover letter that describes your teaching, research, and service, and how your work would contribute to the development of an equitable and inclusive community in the department and at the college. Additionally please include a CV, a statement of teaching philosophy for a diverse student population, and a list of three references. Shortlisted candidates may be asked to supply additional materials at a later date. Direct your materials to the search committee chair, Dr. Mona Tajali at faculty@agnesscott.edu. Applications received by September 30, 2022 will receive the committee's full consideration.

Agnes Scott College is a highly selective, independent, national liberal arts college for women located in metropolitan Atlanta, a cosmopolitan and ethnically diverse region with a vibrant cultural life. The college has been nationally recognized for innovation, a highly diverse student population, and excellence in teaching and is committed to providing its faculty with a supportive academic environment. All faculty reviews evaluate the candidate's performance in the areas of teaching, scholarship, and service, with the highest priority given to teaching. Support for faculty development includes travel funding, a one-semester research leave at full pay after successful completion of the third-year review, a post-tenure sabbatical program, and the opportunity to apply for internal professional development awards. An equal opportunity employer, Agnes Scott College does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, national origin, religion, sex, sexual orientation, age, veteran status, disability or genetic information, gender identity, gender expression or any other characteristic protected by law in its employment. Agnes Scott College has a strong commitment to diversity and urges members of underrepresented groups to apply. www.agnesscott.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/4/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10621

Beloit College

Rank: Assistant Professor of U.S. Government and Politics

Specializations: Race & Ethnic Politics, Immigration Policy, Research Methods

Beloit College seeks candidates for a tenure-track position in U.S. politics, with ability to contribute to one or more of Beloit College's strong interdisciplinary programs, such as environmental studies, critical identity studies, and law and justice. Faculty at Beloit College teach six courses per year. We seek an excellent teacher who is committed to teaching and mentoring undergraduates within a residential, liberal arts environment, and who has demonstrated success in working with ethnically, culturally, and/or socio-economically diverse populations of students.

The area of specialization is open, but we are especially interested in candidates who can teach courses related to race, ethnicity, Indigeneity, immigration, and/or citizenship in the United States. The successful candidate will teach a quantitative research methods course. Faculty in the department also regularly teach senior research or community-based capstone courses related to their fields of expertise, and contribute to all-college learning and mentoring opportunities, such as advanced mentoring, career channels, and off-campus study.

Because equity and inclusion are central to our students' liberal education and vital to the thriving of all members of our residential learning community, Beloit College aspires to be an actively anti-racist institution. We recognize our aspiration as ongoing and institution-wide, involving collective commitment and accountability, as reflected in Beloit College's Becoming Better action plan (<https://www.beloit.edu/becoming-better/>). We welcome employees who are committed to and will actively contribute to our efforts to celebrate our cultural and intellectual richness and be resolute in advancing inclusion and equity. We encourage all interested individuals meeting the criteria of the described position to apply.

Located in a diverse community close to Madison, Milwaukee, and Chicago, Beloit is a selective undergraduate liberal arts college that attracts students from across the United States and the world. The college emphasizes excellence in teaching, learning beyond the traditional classroom, international perspectives, and collaborative research among students and faculty. It is recognized as one of the Colleges That Change Lives.

How to Apply

Applicants should submit a letter of interest that includes a statement of teaching philosophy, curriculum vitae, sample syllabi, and contact information for three references to the link below.

Review of applications will begin October 14 with initial interviews in late October. Questions about the position should be directed to: Pablo Toral, chair of Political Science (toralp@beloit.edu).

Begin Your Application:

<https://www.beloit.edu/live/profiles/6488-assistant-professor-of-political-science>

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/4/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10620

Naval War College

Rank: ASSISTANT PROFESSOR OF STRATEGY AND POLICY

Specializations: Asian American Politics, Political Economy, International Political Economy

Launch your scholarly career in an interdisciplinary department teaching strategy to the next generation of military and national security professionals. The Strategy and Policy Department at the U.S. Naval War College in Newport, Rhode Island seeks to fill an anticipated vacancy beginning in early July 2023 for a tenure-track assistant professor of strategy.

U.S. Naval War College. The Naval War College is a Professional Military Education (PME) institution serving the nation, the Department of Defense, and the U.S. Navy. U.S. and selected international graduates earn Master of Arts degrees in National Security & Strategic Studies or Defense & Strategic Studies accredited by the New England Commission of Higher Education. The College educates and develops future leaders through the development of strategic perspective, critical thinking, and cultural awareness, as well as enhancing the capability to advise senior leaders and policy makers. The College also helps to define the future Navy and its roles and missions; supports combat readiness; strengthens global maritime partnerships; and promotes ethics and leadership throughout the force. We are actively seeking candidates with diverse academic, demographic, and professional backgrounds. More information on the college can be found at www.usnwc.edu.

Strategy and Policy. Long recognized for its innovative curriculum and widespread influence on the study of strategy, the Strategy and Policy Department offers a challenging interdisciplinary education on strategy for students from all military services, various government agencies, and officers from over seventy-five countries. The Department's multidisciplinary faculty presents exciting courses that synthesize strategic theory, historical case studies, and their application to pressing policy and strategy problems. Courses taught by the Strategy and Policy Department develop critical analytical skills for understanding the interrelationship of policy aims, strategy, and military operations through the teaching of strategic theory and both historical and contemporary case studies. The interdisciplinary nature of the strategy courses requires that faculty members develop a breadth of knowledge well beyond their primary area of specialization. You can learn more about the Strategy and Policy Department at our webpage: <https://usnwc.edu/Faculty-and-Departments/Academic-Departments/Strategy-and-Policy-Department>.

Responsibilities. Specific responsibilities include teaching two distinctive core graduate-level courses on strategy over two trimesters, scholarly research and publication, collaborating in curriculum development, engaging in Department and College service, and the option of developing and teaching elective courses in areas of expertise. Teaching is primarily seminar-format with some lectures. The trimester system allows substantial time for research and professional development.

Qualifications. Since Strategy and Policy is an interdisciplinary department focused on the teaching of strategy, we are seeking candidates with a Ph.D. from disciplines related to Political Science, International Relations, Security Studies, Political Economy, Diplomatic and International History, War Studies, Naval / Maritime History, Military History, or a related field.

The Department is particularly interested in scholars in the above fields whose research interests focus on China or the greater Asia-Pacific region. Candidates must have a Ph.D. in hand by 31 May 2023, be a U.S. citizen, and be capable of obtaining a Department of Defense security clearance at the SECRET level. Competitive candidates should have a promising scholarly agenda, teaching experience, and a desire to teach military and security professionals.

Salary. Rank and salary commensurate in accordance with the Department of the Navy Faculty Schedule for assistant professor. This compensation package is accompanied by a generous federal employee benefits package that includes health insurance with employer contribution, retirement savings plan, paid vacation and sick leave, and other benefits.

Application Process. Applications will be accepted until 11:59 pm (EDT), 16 September 2022. Applicants must reference VA#NWC-22-19 and must submit their application package to: nwc-22-19@usnwc.edu. The application package must include a (1) cover letter, (2) curriculum vitae, (3) a writing sample, and (4) the names and contact information for three references.

Questions about the position should be directed to Professor David Stone (david.stone@usnwc.edu).

To ensure compliance with an applicable preliminary nationwide injunction, which may be supplemented, modified, or vacated, depending on the course of ongoing litigation, the Federal Government will take no action to implement or enforce the COVID-19 vaccination requirement Safer Federal Workforce Task Force 2 pursuant to Executive Order 14043 on Requiring Coronavirus Disease 2019 Vaccination for Federal Employees. Therefore, to the extent a Federal job announcement includes the requirement that applicants must be fully vaccinated against COVID-19 pursuant to Executive Order 14043, that requirement does not currently apply. Federal agencies may request information regarding the vaccination status of selected applicants for the purposes of implementing other workplace safety protocols, such as protocols related to masking, physical distancing, testing, travel, and quarantine.

NOTICE OF VETERANS PREFERENCE: There is no formal rating system for applying veteran's preference to the excepted service; however, the Department of Defense considers veterans preference eligibility a positive factor for hiring. Applicants eligible for veterans preference must include that information in their cover letter or resume and attach supporting documentation (e.g., DD Form 214, "Certificate of Release or Discharge from Active Duty" to their submissions. Although the point-preference system is not used, applicants eligible to claim 10-Point preference must submit a Standard Form (SF) 15, "Application for 10-Point Veteran Preference," and supporting documents required for specific type of preference claimed. (SF 15, which lists the types of 10-Point Preference and the required supporting documents, is available from the Office of Personnel Management Website at www.opm.gov.)

Within the Department of Defense (DoD), the appointment of retired military members within 180 days immediately following retirement date to a civilian position is subject to the provisions of 5 United States Code 3326.

The U.S. Naval War College is an Equal Opportunity Employer.

Start Date: Fall 2023
Application Deadline: 9/16/2022
Date Posted: 8/4/2022
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 10624

Syracuse University

Rank: Associate or Full Professor -- Politics & Media

Syracuse University
 Politics & Media

The Department of Political Science at Syracuse University's Maxwell School of Citizenship and Public Affairs seeks to hire a tenured Associate or Full Professor whose scholarship focuses on Politics and Media. This faculty member would be located in Washington D.C. and serve as the inaugural Research Director of the newly launched Center for Democracy, Journalism and Citizenship, a joint center between the Maxwell School and SI Newhouse School of Public Communication.

The political science department is housed within the Maxwell School of Citizenship and Public Affairs, which is committed to citizenship education at the undergraduate level and to graduate education in public affairs and the social sciences. We seek candidates who complement the broader Maxwell mission and have interdisciplinary interests. Applicants should have a Ph.D. in political science or a related field. The Maxwell School is interested in candidates who can contribute to the inclusiveness and diversity of the academic community through their research, teaching, and/or service. This new center will produce applied research, convene and facilitate meetings, and teach students in both traditional and experiential ways.

The center will also include visiting fellows, and Syracuse-based faculty will have an opportunity to participate through events or limited residencies.

We welcome applicants who study political communication. We also are open to multiple methods, and issues in domestic, international, and comparative contexts. This position is open with respect to sub-field and geographic focus. Candidates should have an outstanding record of scholarly publications, the ability to communicate scholarly findings broadly and the ability to teach effectively both at the undergraduate and graduate levels.

This position starts in Fall 2023 and is part of a broader Syracuse University Cluster Hires Initiative. The Citizenship and Democratic Institutions (CDI) Cluster draws together a diverse group of scholars who address critical issues related to the contested meanings of citizenship, civic engagement, public management, and the impacts of democratic institutions on social and economic well-being. The successful candidate will help shape future, multi-disciplinary hiring in the CDI Cluster, and lead and contribute to externally funded projects and interdisciplinary research initiatives within the Maxwell School and across the University.

APPLICATION INSTRUCTIONS:

For consideration, candidates must complete an online faculty application (available at <http://www.sujobopps.com/>) and attach online the following: a letter of interest and a CV, a sample of professional writing, a statement of teaching philosophy, a statement about diversity, equity and inclusion, and evidence of quality teaching. Files may be no larger than 5MB, but you may submit an external link to a larger file if needed.

In addition, applicants will be required to provide the full email addresses of three references.

Applications will be reviewed as they arrive with full consideration given to those received by October 7, 2022. However, the department will continue to consider applications until this position is filled.

Our institution does not discriminate against job candidates on the basis of actual or perceived gender, gender identity, race, color, national origin, sexual orientation, marital status, disability, or religion.

Syracuse University is an equal-opportunity, affirmative-action institution. The University prohibits discrimination and harassment based on race, color, creed, religion, sex, gender, national origin, citizenship, ethnicity, marital status, age, disability, sexual orientation, gender identity and gender expression, veteran status, or any other status protected by applicable law to the extent prohibited by law. This nondiscrimination policy covers admissions, employment, and access to and treatment in University programs, services, and activities.

Start Date: Fall 2023
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/4/2022
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 10615

University of Maryland, College Park

Rank: Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, International Relations

University of Maryland College Park
 Government and Politics and the College of Information Studies (iSchool)

The Department of Government and Politics (GVPT) in the College of Behavioral and Social Sciences (BSOS) and the College of Information Studies (iSchool) at the University of Maryland, College Park, invite applications for two tenure-track positions at the assistant professor level. These positions are open to applicants from any fields within political and information sciences that apply data science concepts and methods in their work. GVPT and the iSchool particularly seek candidates whose scholarship and teaching interests address important social science problems in the fields of American Politics, Comparative Politics, International Politics, and Political Methodology that intersect with Information Science.

We encourage candidates to demonstrate how their research contributes toward social justice and equity, diversity and inclusion, or ethical access to information. Both faculty members will have joint appointments at GVPT and iSchool – one with a tenure home at GVPT and the other at the iSchool.

Tenure home will be negotiated at the time of hire.

The successful candidates will be expected to contribute to the newly formed undergraduate Major in Social Data Science, which is a BSOS-iSchool joint program. We seek a candidates who will build upon our record of educating political and information scientists committed to leadership, service, research, and innovative practice and impact.

The successful candidates will be expected to have a high-impact research agenda and to seek external funding for research. They will also teach at the undergraduate and graduate levels, provide research advising to students at all levels, and engage in service to the profession and shared governance within the university.

In particular candidates whose scholarship speaks to the following broad substantive topics are encouraged to apply:

- 1) Social media politics
- 2) Information disorder (misinformation, disinformation, etc.) Online political and civic participation
- 3) Political power in information systems

While these areas of expertise are of particular interest, candidates with expertise and interest in other relevant topics that apply data science methods are encouraged to apply. Candidates whose work recognizes the information norms and assets of marginalized communities particularly relating to the topics above and other relevant topics, are especially encouraged to apply.

This is a tenure-track appointment. Tenure-track Assistant Professors are hired for 3 years, with potential renewal for three more years and tenure review. Salary and benefits are competitive based upon qualifications and experience. Tenure-track and tenured faculty have 9-month appointments, with opportunities for grant-funded research and university-funded teaching in summers. For this position, the successful candidate will be involved in:

- 1) Developing and conducting research projects and disseminating research results
- 2) Designing and developing curricula related to information science
- 3) Crafting exceptional educational experiences for students Participating in shared governance
- 4) Contributing to relevant professional communities.

To apply you will need to provide:

- 1) A letter of interest that clearly describes your background and expertise in the area and the unique contributions you would make to the GVPT, iSchool and the University of Maryland.
- 2) Your CV
- 3) A list of 3 professional references. For each reference include the person's title, institution, contact information (including phone number and email address), the capacity in which you know this person, and how long you have known this person.
- 3) A statement of your research interests and accomplishments A statement of your teaching philosophy

Interested candidates should apply using the University of Maryland eJobs system. Goto: <https://ejobs.umd.edu/postings/98270>

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/4/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10610

University of Nevada, Reno

Rank: Lecturer

Specializations: Political Thought: Historical, Normative Political Theory, American Politics

The Political Science Department at the University of Nevada, Reno invites applications for a three-year full-time Lecturer appointment (non tenure-eligible) in the area of political theory. We seek a candidate with broad competence in the history of political thought and contemporary political theory, with capacity and willingness to teach the department's introduction to American politics course as well. The position's start date is January 1, 2023.

The successful candidate will be expected to regularly teach the department's introductory-level courses in political theory and American politics, as well as upper-division courses in ancient and modern political theory. We also hope candidates will be interested in teaching other upper-division courses, whether as already listed in the university course catalog or as they connect to the candidate's field of expertise. Some overlap teaching with graduate students is possible. The position is open to candidates with a range of methodological approaches and substantive interests in the subfield of political theory.

The lecturer teaching load is four courses per semester, though course preps will be repeated. Teaching is expected to be in-person. A reduced teaching load could be negotiated if a candidate is interested in coordinating the department's internship program or in working as a faculty advisor to the department's undergraduate students.

Required Qualifications

Ph.D. in Political Science, or closely related field, in hand by July 1, 2023.

Ability to teach a wide range of classes in the subfield of Political Theory, broadly defined.

A record of teaching excellence in Political Theory.

Ability to teach and mentor undergraduate students.

Ability to teach university level Introduction to American Politics.

Preferred Qualifications

Evidence of attention to diversity, equity and inclusion in past research, teaching, and service.

Experience and demonstrated excellence teaching Introduction to American Politics (or a similar course, whether as a teaching assistant or lead instructor).

Willingness to teach Identity Politics in the United States and Women and Politics (existing descriptions of these courses are available in the University course catalog).

Experience advising political science undergraduate students.

To apply, go to:

https://nshe.wd1.myworkdayjobs.com/UNR-external/job/University-of-Nevada-Reno---Main-Campus/Lecturer--Political-Science_R0132264

Please note, once you submit your application the only attachment/s viewable to you will be the attachment/s to the resume/CV section of the application. Any additional required attachment/s to the cover letter, references, additional documents sections of the application, will not be viewable to you after you submit your application. All uploaded attachment/s will be on the application for the committee to review. To request updates to attachments, prior to the committee review of applications, please contact the candidate helpdesk at jobs@unr.edu.

Please attach the following documents to your application

- 1) A complete Curriculum Vita
- 2) A cover letter stating qualifications, relevant experience, and teaching competencies.
- 3) Contact Information for three professional references

4) A brief statement (one page maximum) about how you would contribute toward our mission of creating a culturally diverse, inclusive environment in the role for which you are applying

5) A teaching portfolio including student evaluations from recent semesters of courses taught, plus two sample syllabi for Political Theory courses, and one sample syllabi for Introduction to American Politics. If available, any recent teaching peer reviews would be appreciated.

The search committee will only request letters of recommendation from candidates selected to move on to the next step in the hiring process.

This posting is open until filled

First review of applications will begin Sept. 15, 2022. Qualified individuals are encouraged to apply immediately. This search will close without notice when a sufficient number of applications are received or a hiring decision has been made. Interviews will begin in early October.

Lecturer Statement

The University of Nevada, Reno reserves the right to hire at any level of Lecturer (I-IV) or Teaching Assistant/Associate/Professor (terminal degree candidates) that is appropriate for the hire. If you have questions about title, please inquire during the interview process.

Compensation Grade

Lecturer I

Salary is based on related education and experience, internal equity, and budgets. To view salary schedules, please visit: Salary Schedules (Academic Faculty 9-month)

Remarkable Retirement

Our retirement plan is beyond compare. Your 15.50% contribution is generously matched by the University. With the faculty retirement plan, you are 100% vested your first day. Sit back and watch your retirement dollars grow! All permanent employees on an annual "A" or "B" contract who are employed at least 50% full-time are eligible to participate in the NSHE retirement program unless they are members of PERS of Nevada.

Perks of working at UNR

Health insurance options including dental and vision - Health Insurance

Generous annual and sick leave, life insurance, and long-term disability – Faculty Benefits

E. L. Wiegand Fitness Center offers an annual or semester membership and family membership options. E.L. Wiegand Fitness Center

Mountain EAP supports employees (and eligible dependents) through life's difficult moments. Mountain EAP is located in Reno and specializes in counseling and advising services for personal or interpersonal issues.

Several Diversity Committees and Affinity Groups focusing on campus-wide diversity initiatives to ensure we are working to create a diverse and welcoming campus climate. Diversity Groups

Faculty Senate is the principal representing body for faculty. Its membership includes representatives from each academic and administrative major unit of the University. Faculty Senate

No state income tax

Grants-in-aid

The University is proud to provide a reduced-rate tuition benefit to faculty and qualified dependents. Faculty can take up to six credits per semester at a reduced rate. Dependents of faculty have unlimited credits, but in order to be eligible children must be unmarried and under the age of 24 and must receive at least 50% of their financial support from the employee and/or employee's spouse or domestic partner. Faculty Grant-in-Aid

Faculty Dual Career Assistance Program

The University of Nevada, Reno recognizes the importance of addressing dual-career couples' professional needs. We offer a dual career assistance program to newly hired faculty spouses/partners that provides resources and assists them to identify career opportunities in Northern Nevada. Dual Career Assistance Program

?Department Information

The UNR Department of Political Science is an energetic, collegial and exciting community of political scientists and public policy and public administration scholars with a deep commitment to excellence in research and teaching as well as to leadership in the Department, the University, and the diverse northern Nevada community. The Department is home to three graduate programs that confer MA, MPA and PhD degrees. The PhD includes an emphasis in Public Policy. The Department offers a BA in Political Science and coordinates the International Affairs major and minors in Latin American Studies, Asian Studies and Renewable Energy. Faculty are linked with a variety of College and University-wide initiatives, such as the Cybersecurity Center and the Gender, Race and Identity Program. Additional information about the Department can be found at: <https://www.unr.edu/political-science> .

College of Liberal Arts and University Information

The College emphasizes inquiry, discovery and openness to new ideas and perspectives and supports major scholarly research, teaching and creative activity in the humanities, social sciences and arts. It offers a wide range of undergraduate and graduate degrees. Along with the interdisciplinary Department of Gender, Race and Identity Studies, the College has a Latino Research Center and is actively addressing racism, bias and inequities; for examples, see the Diversity, Research and Engagement website. The world-class Lilley Museum of Art opened in 2019; the many departments of the College have an active intellectual and public events life.

The University of Nevada, Reno is a public land-grant institution with Carnegie Research 1 status. With a student population of approximately 22,000, including over 3,000 graduate students, UNR students and faculty have won numerous national research awards and competitive fellowships. Along with being R1, the university has been designated as a Carnegie Community Engagement university. Nearly half of UNR students are students of color; the university is an Emerging Hispanic Serving Institution. In accordance with the University's mission, our faculty are expected to contribute to the diversity and excellence of the academic community through research, teaching and service in a pluralistic environment.

The University has a dynamic intellectual, artistic and sports life and a close relationship to the city of Reno, an emerging tech and innovation hub with a diverse population and a rich cultural history that hosts an active art, music and festival scene along the Truckee River. Known for its proximity to Lake Tahoe and the Sierra Nevada mountains, Reno is a vibrant, diverse and growing city of 300,000 located on the eastern slope of the Sierra Nevada, about 200 miles east of San Francisco, about 100 miles east of Sacramento and 30 miles north of the state capital, Carson City. Combined with the neighboring city of Sparks, the Reno-Sparks metropolitan area has a population of 450,000. Reno is only 30-45 minutes from Lake Tahoe and major ski resorts and is rated one of the top locations in the United States for living and for outdoor recreation. It has an international airport with direct flights to many transportation hubs. For more information about the city and the surrounding area, please visit www.cityofreno.com and www.visitrenotahoe.com

Exempt

Yes

Full-Time Equivalent

100.0%

Note to Applicant

A background check will be conducted on the candidate(s) selected for hire.

HR will attempt to verify academic credentials upon receipt of hiring documents. If the academic credentials cannot be verified, HR will notify the faculty member that an official transcript of their highest degree must be submitted within thirty days of the faculty member's first day of employment.

References will be contacted at the appropriate phase of the recruitment process.

Applicants hired on a federal contract may be subject to E-Verify.

As part of the hiring process, applicants for positions in the Nevada System of Higher Education may be required to demonstrate the ability to perform job-related tasks.

For positions that require driving, evidence of a valid driver's license will be required at the time of employment and as a condition of continued employment.

Start Date: Spring 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/4/2022

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 10627

University of Tennessee, Knoxville

Rank: Assistant Professor

Description

The Department of Political Science at the University of Tennessee, Knoxville invites applications for a tenure track position in American Politics at the rank of assistant professor to begin in the fall semester of 2023. Applicants from any area of the American Politics field are welcome, but we are especially interested in a scholar whose primary interests lie in American political behavior broadly construed. A research program that addresses fundamental questions about the health, quality, and future of the American democratic system is particularly attractive.

The successful candidate must have strong research skills and a theoretically oriented research agenda that will lead to publication in peer-reviewed outlets (journals and/or books). The successful candidate must also demonstrate evidence of, or potential for, college/university teaching excellence, and exhibit a commitment to diversity and inclusion. The Knoxville campus of the University of Tennessee is seeking candidates who have the ability to contribute in meaningful ways to the diversity and intercultural goals of the University.

The University of Tennessee, Knoxville, is the state's flagship research institution, a campus of choice for outstanding undergraduates, and a premier graduate institution. As a land-grant university, it is committed to excellence in learning, scholarship, and engagement with society. More information about the Department is available at: polisci@utk.edu. Faculty within the department are also associated with a variety of interdisciplinary programs and working groups across the university, including but not limited to the Global Studies program; the Intersectionality Community of Scholars; and the Women, Gender, and Sexuality program.

Qualifications

All the requirements for a Ph.D. in political science or related field must be finished at the time of appointment.

Application Instructions

All the requirements for a Ph.D. in political science or related field must be finished at the time of appointment. Applicants should send a cover letter explaining their research and teaching experience, a current CV, graduate transcripts, a sample of scholarly writing, teaching evaluations (if available), and a statement explaining prior experience with and substantive plans for supporting an inclusive climate in the department. Please submit application materials in digital format via Interfolio (apply.interfolio.com/109944). All applicants should request letters from three references to be sent to the committee also via Interfolio. Review of applications begins September 20, 2022 and will continue until the position is filled. For questions or inquiries, contact Professor Pat Freeland at pfreeland@utk.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/4/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10612

College of the Holy Cross

Rank: Assistant Professor Tenure Track

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, International Relations, Political Theory

College of the Holy Cross: Department of Political Science
Tenure-Track Faculty Appointment in Political Science (Race and Ethnicity)

GENERAL INFORMATION

The Department of Political Science at the College of the Holy Cross invites applications for TWO FULL-TIME TENURE-TRACK APPOINTMENTS to begin in August 2023. We are seeking candidates whose research and teaching interests address race and ethnicity issues, broadly defined. Successful applicants will teach introductory courses in the subfield most compatible with their areas of expertise (American Politics, Political Philosophy, International Relations, or Comparative Politics) as well as upper-division electives that include methods, concepts, and theoretical frameworks from the perspective of Race & Ethnicity studies.

These positions carry a 3-2 teaching load with a full-salary one-semester research leave prior to tenure review, and generous sabbatical and fellowship leaves for tenured faculty. Tenure-track faculty are eligible for travel support and reimbursement of relocation costs within the College's published policies. All full-time appointments offer competitive salaries and include full benefits. To learn more about faculty life at the College & the Worcester area, candidates are encouraged to visit <http://holycross.edu/join>.

QUALIFICATIONS

Candidates must demonstrate commitment to, and excellence in, undergraduate teaching at the introductory and advanced levels as well as scholarly achievement. Ph.D. required.

APPLICATION INSTRUCTIONS

Please submit a cover letter addressing the position requirements listed above, curriculum vitae, statement on teaching, transcripts, and three confidential letters of recommendation.

In your cover letter, in addition to describing your research and teaching interests, please address how your scholarship, teaching, mentoring, and/or service might support the College's mission as a Jesuit, undergraduate liberal arts college (see <http://holycross.edu/mission>) and its core commitment to diversity and inclusion. For more information, please visit <http://holycross.edu/diversity>.

The College of the Holy Cross uses Interfolio to collect all faculty job applications electronically. Please submit all application materials to <https://apply.interfolio.com/110983>.

Review of applications will begin on September 30, and continue until the position has been filled. Initial interviews of selected applicants will be done via Zoom or Google Meets. Questions about this search may be directed to Maria Rodrigues, Chair, mrodrigu@holycross.edu.

COVID-19 VACCINATION POLICY

To mitigate the spread and effects of COVID-19, and as an integral part of its public health and safety measures, College of the Holy Cross requires that all successful applicants show proof of full, up-to-date vaccination (including a booster dose once eligible) by an FDA-approved COVID-19 vaccine before beginning employment, unless an accommodation exempting the applicant from this policy has been granted. Applicants who wish to request an accommodation based on a disability or sincerely-held religious belief should inform Human Resources after an offer of employment is extended; please do not include any medical, genetic, or religious information in your application materials.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 9/30/2022

Date Posted: 8/3/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10600

Harvard University

Rank: TENURE-TRACK PROFESSOR OF GOVERNMENT – RACE, ETHNICITY AND POLITICS

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, Political Theory

Position Description: The Department of Government seeks to appoint a tenure-track professor in Government specializing in Race, Ethnicity and Politics. The appointment is expected to begin on July 1, 2023. The tenure-track professor will be responsible for teaching at the undergraduate and graduate levels. Candidates are encouraged to apply by October 1, 2022; applications will be reviewed until the position is filled.

Basic Qualifications: Doctorate or terminal degree in Political Science, Government or related disciplines required by the time the appointment begins.

Additional Qualifications: Demonstrated strong commitment to teaching and advising is desired.

Special Instructions: Please submit the following materials through the ARIES portal (<https://academicpositions.harvard.edu>). The Committee will begin reviewing applications on September 15, 2022.

1. Cover letter
2. Curriculum Vitae
3. Teaching/advising statement (describing teaching philosophy and practices)
4. Research statement
5. A statement describing efforts to encourage diversity, inclusion, and belonging, including past, current, and anticipated future contributions in these areas.
6. Names and contact information of 3-5 referees, who will be asked by a system-generated email to upload a letter of recommendation once the candidate's application has been submitted. Three letters of recommendation are required, and the application is considered complete only when at least three letters have been received. (*At least one letter must come from someone who has not served as the candidate's undergraduate, graduate, or postdoctoral advisor.)
7. Publications or copies of creative works, if applicable

Start Date: Summer 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/3/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10601

Regent University

Rank: Assistant/Associate Professor of American Government

Regent University's Robertson School of Government seeks to fill a full-time, tenure track faculty position in American Government. This position will be located at Regent University's Virginia Beach, VA campus.

Regent University is one of the nation's leading academic centers for Christian thought and action, offering over 95 associate, bachelors, masters, and doctoral degrees and enrolling more than 10,000 students worldwide. Regent offers high-quality, in-demand affordable degree programs while remaining committed to its foundational mission to educate Christian leaders to change the world.

The Robertson School of Government (RSG) was founded in 1983 in honor of A. Willis Robertson, who served the Commonwealth of Virginia in the U.S. House of Representatives from 1933-1946 and in the U.S. Senate from 1946-1966. Through its alumni and contacts, RSG offers faculty and students significant opportunities for networking and engagement at all levels of government and nonprofits in the U.S. and worldwide.

Qualifications: An earned Ph.D. in Government, Political Science, or a related discipline from a regionally accredited institution required. Additional expertise in public policy desirable. Interest in teaching research methods, political parties, Presidency, and Congress desired. The ability to teach at graduate level online and on-campus required. Administrative experience preferred for senior hire.

Expectations include: 1) a dedication to Biblical Worldview teaching and learning; 2) the ability to teach graduate level courses; 3) experience with online instructional technology; and 4) a willingness to enthusiastically embrace the University identity and mission statements. Applicants must subscribe to a Statement of Christian Faith.

Please include a current CV, three references with email address and phone numbers, a cover letter explaining your interest in and qualifications for this position, and photocopies of your graduate transcripts showing degrees conferred along with your application. Official transcripts will be required at time of employment.

Qualified prospective employees will receive consideration without discrimination of race, color, sex, age, national origin, or disability.

Applications received by November 18, 2022 will receive full consideration.

To apply for this position, please visit regent.edu/jobs.

Start Date: Spring 2022

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/3/2022

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 10596

Swarthmore College

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science - American Politics

The Department of Political Science at Swarthmore College invites applications for a tenure-track position in American politics at the rank of Assistant Professor to begin in the fall semester of 2023. We are particularly interested in candidates with the ability to teach a course in law and society, the courts and American politics, or constitutional law. The course load is four courses a year. More information about the Political Science Department can be found here:

<https://www.swarthmore.edu/department-political-science>

Located in the suburbs of Philadelphia and near Wilmington DE, Swarthmore College is a highly selective liberal arts college whose mission combines academic rigor with social responsibility. Swarthmore has a strong institutional commitment to diversity, and actively seeks and welcomes applications from candidates with exceptional qualifications, particularly those with demonstrable commitments to a more inclusive society and world. Applicants from traditionally underrepresented groups are strongly encouraged to apply. For more information on Faculty Diversity and Excellence at Swarthmore, see <http://www.swarthmore.edu/faculty-diversity-excellence/information-candidates-new-faculty>

Qualifications

The successful candidate will have a PhD in political science in hand by August 2023. Candidates must demonstrate excellence in undergraduate teaching as well as research.

The strongest candidates will demonstrate an active research program and a commitment to creative teaching that can speak to, and motivate, undergraduates from diverse backgrounds.

Application Instructions

Applicants should submit: (1) a cover letter that briefly describes why they want to teach Swarthmore College students, as well as a description of their research agenda; (2) a writing sample of not more than 40 pages; (3) two syllabi (one for an introductory course in American politics, and one for an upper-level course in American politics), which represent an important part of the application; (4) a C.V.; (5) a graduate school transcript; and (6) three letters of recommendation. These materials should be submitted through Interfolio apply.interfolio.com/107901.

The deadline for applications is September 20, 2022.

Effective July 21, 2021, Swarthmore is requiring all new employees to show proof of being fully vaccinated by their start date, unless they have an approved medical or religious exemption. For more information about Swarthmore's vaccine requirements, please visit the Swarthmore COVID-19 Response website.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 9/20/2022

Date Posted: 8/3/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10591

Wake Forest University

Rank: ASSISTANT PROFESSOR OF AFRICANA POLITICAL THOUGHT (TENURE-TRACK POSITION IN POLITICS AND INTERNATIONAL AFFAIRS & AFRICAN AMERICAN STUDIES)

Subfield(s): Political Theory, American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics

Specializations: Africa, African American Politics, Political Theory

WAKE FOREST UNIVERSITY's Department of Politics and International Affairs (POL) and the Program in African American Studies (AAS) seek a teacher-scholar for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position in Africana political thought to start July 1, 2023. We invite applications from scholars with research and teaching expertise in the political, ethical and philosophical discourses produced by continental and diasporic Africans and their descendants in the diaspora. The successful candidate will have the opportunity to contribute to enhancing the curriculum in African American Studies and Politics and International Affairs by developing a signature profile in Africana political thought, deepening scholarly conversations in political theory with critical intellectual traditions, ideas, debates, and conversational partners in Africana political thought, and enhancing the curriculum in African American Studies, particularly the focal areas of “History, Culture, and Theory” and “Ethics, Politics, and Society.” Candidates must have an earned Ph.D. degree or advanced ABD status in African American/Africana Studies, Political Science, or a closely related field, and a record of study and scholarship related to the area of expertise. More information about the Department is available at <http://politics.wfu.edu/> and the Program in African American Studies at <https://afam.wfu.edu/>.

We believe in a diverse intellectual community in which varied perspectives and identities are represented and included in a community that supports excellent teaching and scholarship. Many faculty in both the Program and Department engage formally and informally with interdisciplinary scholarship and collaborate across academic disciplines. Candidates will also have opportunities to develop and teach courses that connect with their research agendas. Compelling applicants will demonstrate a commitment to excellence in teaching, mentoring, and advising undergraduate students from diverse backgrounds, including international students, first generation students, and those who identify as members of historically marginalized communities.

Wake Forest University is a private, coeducational institution dedicated to academic excellence in liberal arts, graduate, and professional education. Founded in 1834, the University is ranked in the top 30 among national universities. With 5,200 undergraduates and 3,200 graduate and professional students, the student-faculty ratio is 11:1. Wake Forest is a collegiate university offering a vibrant intellectual community with a rich cultural life, an impressive array of facilities and an active athletics community. The University has a deep institutional commitment to public service and engagement with the world, encapsulated in its motto “Pro Humanitate.” To learn more about the University, please visit <https://about.wfu.edu/>

Interested applicants should apply via the University’s career website at: <https://hr.wfu.edu/careers/>. The application should be submitted as ONE PDF file, which includes all of the following:

- ? Cover letter addressing the motivation to join our teacher-scholar community;
- ? Curriculum vitae including contact information for three professional references;
- ? Research statement describing candidate’s current research and future trajectory;
- ? Scholarly writing sample (e.g. journal article, dissertation chapter, or draft);
- ? Teaching statement including plan to establish an inclusive learning environment;
- ? Sample undergraduate course syllabi (only required of candidates who advance to a shortlist);
- ? Teaching evaluations or other evidence of effective student engagement (only required of candidates who advance to a shortlist);
- ? Copy of graduate transcript(s) (official copies only required upon employment).

In addition to the above, we ask that candidates have three letters of recommendation emailed directly to wfpul@wfu.edu. Review of applications will begin on September 12, 2022. Applications will be accepted until the position is filled, but to guarantee full consideration they should be received by the end of the business day on September 9, 2022. If access to the internet is an issue, a hard copy of the application can be submitted to the Department of Politics and International Affairs, Wake Forest University, Winston-Salem, NC 27109.

Inquiries about the application process and document submission may be addressed to AskHR@wfu.edu. Inquiries about the faculty position or Department should be directed to Michaelle Browsers, Chair and Professor, Politics and International Affairs, browerm@wfu.edu. Inquiries about the Program in African American Studies should be directed to Corey Walker, Wake Forest Professor of the Humanities and Director of the Program in African American Studies, walkerco@wfu.edu. Wake Forest University, and the Department of Politics and International Affairs welcomes applications from all who would bring additional dimensions to the University’s research, teaching and community engagement.

In order to provide a safe and productive learning and living community, Wake Forest University conducts background investigations for final candidates upon their acceptance of an offer of employment.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/3/2022

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 10590

Yale University

Rank: Assistant/Associate/Full Professor, Political Science

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, American Government and Politics, International Relations

The Department of Political Science at Yale University is seeking to hire several faculty at the rank of Assistant, Associate, or Full Professor with an appointment in the fields of American Politics, Comparative Politics, Political Economy, and/or International Relations, beginning July 1, 2023. We are interested in candidates who study all areas of the world, but we particularly encourage those with strong subject matter expertise in Japanese Politics or the politics of the Middle East to apply. Suitable candidates may also be hired jointly with the Statistics and Data Sciences Department, in which case faculty will be expected to share their teaching and service obligations between the departments. If candidates are appointed at the untenured level, the initial appointment will be for 5 years. The teaching expectation is normally 3 courses per academic year, plus service to the program(s).

<http://apply.interfolio.com/110488>

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 9/5/2023

Date Posted: 8/3/2022

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 10595

Fordham University

Rank: Assistant Professor

Job Ad in American Politics

Department of Political Science
Fordham University

The Department of Political Science at Fordham University invites applications for a tenure-track position in American Politics at the rank of Assistant Professor, beginning Fall 2023. The area of specialization is open, but the department is particularly interested in candidates who specialize in American institutions and might teach courses on the American presidency and American public policy. The position is located at Fordham's Rose Hill campus. We encourage applications from candidates who will deepen our engagement with institutions within New York City, advance strategically focused research, and contribute to the University's and the department's commitment to quality teaching and research.

Consistent with our Jesuit and Catholic mission, we believe that cultural and intellectual diversity and inclusivity are central to the excellence of our academic program and we strive to create an academic community and campus culture that attracts and facilitates the development of promising and diverse teacher-scholars. As our student body becomes increasingly diverse, we are especially interested in candidates with substantive experience and commitment to inclusive teaching and mentoring students from a range of social, cultural and economic backgrounds.

Review of applications will begin on October 1. Interested applicants must submit the following documents in electronic format (PDF or Microsoft Word) via Interfolio, at <http://apply.interfolio.com/108909>: a cover letter addressing research interests and experience, curriculum vitae, writing sample (no more than 30-35 pages), three letters of reference, and evidence of teaching effectiveness. Evidence of teaching effectiveness should include a teaching statement reflecting the candidate's pedagogical approach and experience and may include past course syllabi and/or peer observations; please do not include student evaluations as these will not be considered. Application materials should also address how the candidate's teaching, mentoring, scholarship, and/or community service supports Fordham University's commitment to diversity. Ph.D. at the time of appointment is required. If you have questions about this position, please contact Professor Monika McDermott at mmcdermott@fordham.edu.

Fordham is an independent, Catholic University in the Jesuit tradition committed to excellence through diversity. Fordham is an equal opportunity employer, and we especially encourage women, people of color, veterans, and people with disabilities to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2023
Application Deadline: 10/1/2022
Date Posted: 8/1/2022
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 10552

Gettysburg College

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science (U.S. Politics), Tenure Track

Position summary. The Department of Political Science at Gettysburg College invites applications for a tenure-track position at the assistant professor rank beginning in August 2023. The department seeks candidates in the subfield of U.S. politics, with a specialization in race and identity. The successful candidate will be able to teach the department's introductory U.S. government course, upper-level courses in his/her/their specialty, and contribute to the department's undergraduate methods requirement. The teaching load for this position will be 3-2.

Qualifications. Candidates must have a Ph.D. in Political Science with a subfield specialization in U.S. Politics and a focus on race, identity, and politics. Teaching experience or promise of excellence in teaching is desirable. We strongly encourage applications from candidates who can demonstrate through their teaching, scholarship, and governance that they can contribute to the diversity and inclusivity of our community.

Application details. Applicants should apply online at: <https://gettysburg.peopleadmin.com/postings/4563>. A cover letter, curriculum vitae, and a statement of teaching goals in a liberal arts context should be submitted. As part of the teaching statement, we ask you to elaborate on your cultural proficiencies and experiences engaging an increasingly diverse student body. Applicants should include the names and email addresses of three professional references, at least one of whom can speak to the applicant's teaching effectiveness. After the applicant completes the online application, the professional references indicated will be contacted by Gettysburg College via email to submit letters of recommendation electronically.

Applications and letters of recommendation received by 30 September 2022 will be given fullest consideration; however, submissions will continue to be reviewed until the position is filled. Inquiries can be addressed to Professor Bruce Larson (blarson@gettysburg.edu).

Start Date: Fall 2023
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/1/2022
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 10528

Hope College

Rank: Faculty Full Time

The Department of Political Science at Hope College invites applicants for a full-time tenure-track appointment to begin the Fall 2023. We seek candidates who are broadly trained in political theory; the ideal candidate would also be equipped to teach Introduction to American Politics and otherwise contribute to our course offerings in American politics. Candidates would also be expected to participate on a rotating basis in the leadership of our highly regarded Washington D.C. honors program. Rank is open, but preference will be given to hiring at the assistant professor level. The salary is commensurate with qualifications and experience.

<https://jobs.hope.edu/postings/1618>

Start Date: Fall 2023
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/1/2022
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 10563

University of Chicago

Rank: Collegiate Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, International Relations, Public Policy

Specializations: American Politics, Western Europe, Political Thought: Historical

The College at the University of Chicago is now accepting applications for four-year postdoctoral teaching appointments as Harper and Schmidt Fellows who hold the rank of Collegiate Assistant Professor. Collegiate Assistant Professors are members of the College Faculty whose primary professional responsibility is to teach in the general education (Core) program.

Core courses in the Humanities typically deal with fundamental issues and texts in history, philosophy, and literature. Currently, the Core is organized into eight year-long sequences: Readings in World Literature; Human Being and Citizen; Greece and Rome: Texts, Traditions, Transformations; Philosophical Perspectives on the Humanities; Media Aesthetics; Reading Cultures; Poetry and the Human; and Language and the Human. For a description of these sequences see: <http://collegecatalog.uchicago.edu/thecollege/humanities/>.

Core courses in the Social Sciences explore, on the basis of significant works or primary source materials, the fundamental concepts and the different modes of inquiry that have defined the social sciences in the modern period. Currently, Collegiate Assistant Professors teach in six of the year-long sequences into which the Core is organized: Self, Culture and Society; Classics of Social and Political Thought; Power, Identity, and Resistance; Global Society; Mind (a broad course explaining social science in the context of psychological science research); and Social Science Inquiry. For a description of these sequences see: <http://collegecatalog.uchicago.edu/thecollege/socialsciences/>.

Some Collegiate Assistant Professors also teach in the History of European Civilization Core sequence as well as the Introductions to the Civilizations of East Asian Core sequences. These courses are taught on the basis of intensive readings of significant primary source documents. For descriptions of the History of European Civilization and the Civilizations of East Asia sequences see: <http://collegecatalog.uchicago.edu/thecollege/civilizationstudies/>.

The positions are open to scholars in all disciplines and areas of specialization who will have completed all requirements for their Ph.D. degree no later than August 31, 2023. Candidates must demonstrate excellence in teaching as well as in their original scholarship.

In most years, Collegiate Assistant Professors teach two courses (usually of identical preparation) for each of three quarters. In the second through fourth year of residence, each Collegiate Assistant Professor has the opportunity to design up to two independent courses and each is eligible for one quarter of research sabbatical. In the fourth year there is a possibility of another quarter of sabbatical with salary reduction.

The position comes with an annual salary for 2023-24 of $80,166, carries full benefits, and an annual professional development fund of $6,500. The effective date for these teaching appointments is September 1, 2023.

To apply for these positions, please see our web site at <https://fellows.uchicago.edu>. The web site will be available to accept applications beginning August 19, 2022.

The terms and conditions of these positions are described in the collective bargaining agreement between the University and the Service Employees International Union.

On-line application deadline: 11:59:59 PM EDT, Friday, October 14, 2022.

We seek a diverse pool of applicants who wish to join an academic community that places the highest value on rigorous inquiry and encourages diverse perspectives, experiences, groups of individuals, and ideas to inform and stimulate intellectual challenge, engagement, and exchange. The University's Statements on Diversity are at <https://provost.uchicago.edu/statements-diversity>.

The University of Chicago is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity/Disabled/Veterans Employer and does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national or ethnic origin, age, status as an individual with a disability, protected veteran status, genetic information, or other protected classes under the law. For additional information please see the University's Notice of Nondiscrimination at <https://www.uchicago.edu/nondiscrimination>.

Job seekers in need of a reasonable accommodation to complete the application process should call 773-834-0681 or email dneibel@uchicago.edu with their request.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 10/14/2022

Date Posted: 8/1/2022

Salary: $80,000 - $89,999

eJobs ID: 10577

University of Maryland, College Park

Rank: Assistant Professor-Tenure Track

University of Maryland, College Park

American Politics

Position Summary:

The Department of Government and Politics at the University of Maryland invites applications for a tenure track assistant professor in American Politics, specifically in race and ethnic politics. The department especially welcomes candidates with expertise in racial and ethnic politics that focus on political institutions and creates synergies with our existing faculty. In addition, we seek applicants with theoretically driven research agendas, innovative methodological techniques, and scholars whose substantive research program would benefit from the unique resources available in the Washington, D.C. area.

This is part of a cluster hire in the College of Behavioral and Social Sciences (BSOS) at the University of Maryland around social justice and inequality involving multiple departments (African American Studies, Anthropology, Criminology and Criminal Justice, Government and Politics, Psychology, and Sociology). Faculty recruited through this initiative will join a larger community of scholars in the College conducting fundamental research on inequities as they arise as a function of race, gender, sexual orientation, economic, immigration status, and the intersectionality of these and other identities. The College envisions significant opportunities for cross-disciplinary discussion, collaboration, mentoring, and professional development within the cluster.

Position Duties/Responsibilities:

This is a tenure-track appointment. Tenure-track Assistant Professors are hired for 3 years, with potential renewal for three more years and tenure review. Salary and benefits are competitive based upon qualifications and experience. Tenure-track and tenured faculty have 9-month appointments, with opportunities for grant-funded research and university-funded teaching in summers. For this position, the successful candidate will be involved in:

1. Developing and conducting research projects and disseminating research results
2. Crafting exceptional educational experiences for students
3. Participating in shared governance
4. Contributing to relevant professional communities.

Minimum Qualifications:

1. A Ph.D. at the time of appointment
2. Demonstrated potential for research excellence, including a record of research in one or more areas described in the position summary above, or related areas and potential to attract external support

3. Interest in developing effective and innovative teaching.

Preferred Qualifications:

1. Recognized for notable research projects, peer-reviewed publications, or other scholarly contributions
2. In-person and/or online teaching experience in related areas
3. Demonstrated dedication and service in academia, professional organizations, and research communities

Campus/Department Information:

The person selected for this position will be a member of the Department of Government and Politics (GVPT) at the University of Maryland. With more than 30 tenured and tenure-track faculty, 1,000 undergraduate majors, and 100 graduate students, we are one of the largest departments in the College of Behavioral and Social Sciences (BSOS).

Our faculty teach and conduct research in all of the major fields in our discipline, including American politics, comparative politics, international relations, political theory, political economy, and formal theory and methods. Realizing that many of the key problems we face have a significant political component, our faculty and students study a variety of issues with real-world policy implications ranging from civil wars and ethnic conflict to environmental politics, partisan polarization, and inequality.

Vaccine Protocol:

The University of Maryland has made the safety of our students, faculty and staff, and our surrounding communities a top priority. As part of that commitment, the University System of Maryland (USM) recently announced that students, faculty, and staff on USM campuses this fall, including UMD, are required to be vaccinated against COVID. As a prospective and/or new employee at UMD, you will be required to comply with the University's vaccination protocol. Proof of full vaccination will be required before the start of employment in order to work at any University of Maryland location. Prospective or new employees may seek a medical or religious exemption to the vaccination requirement and must have an approved exemption prior to the start of their employment.

Hiring and appointment are subject to College and University approval.

To apply you will need to provide:

1. A letter of interest that clearly describes your background and expertise in the area and the unique contributions you would make to the GVPT and the University of Maryland.
2. Your CV
3. Provide 3 professional references. Each will receive a request from the University ejobs@umd.edu system. We ask that each reference include their title, institution, contact information (including phone number and e-mail address), the capacity in which they have known you, and how long they have known you.
4. A statement of your research interests and accomplishments
5. A statement of your teaching philosophy

Interested candidates should apply using the University of Maryland eJobs system. Goto: <https://ejobs.umd.edu/postings/97745>

For best consideration, complete applications should be submitted by September 23, 2022.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/1/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10569

University of Mississippi

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of Political Science at the University of Mississippi invites applications to fill a tenure-track position at the level of Assistant Professor in American Politics, starting Fall 2023. The Department is foremost interested in hiring an excellent candidate, with all areas of specialization invited to apply. Successful candidates should add to the Department's strength in quantitative methods. We welcome applications from members of groups traditionally underrepresented in the field. Candidates must complete an online application at <https://careers.olemiss.edu>.

Requirements include at least ABD standing with the expectation of completion by Fall 2023, as well as a potential for or record of excellence in teaching and research.

The online application should include a cover letter indicating research and teaching interests, curriculum vitae, writing samples, graduate transcript, and three letters of recommendation. Review of all applications will begin immediately and continue until the position is filled or until an adequate applicant pool is established.

Founded in 1848, the University of Mississippi (UM), affectionately known to alumni, students and friends as Ole Miss, is Mississippi's flagship university. Included in the elite group of R-1: Doctoral Universities - Highest Research Activity by the Carnegie Classification, it has a long history of producing leaders in public service, academics and business. The University of Mississippi, consistently named by The Chronicle of Higher Education as a "Great College to Work For," is located in Oxford, MS, which is ranked one of the "Top 10 Best College Towns." With more than 24,000 students, UM is the state's largest university and is ranked among the nation's fastest-growing institutions. The University of Mississippi, which has aggressively implemented many health and wellness initiatives for its more than 2,900 employees, has consistently been named one of Mississippi's Healthiest Workplaces.

The University of Mississippi is an EOE/AA/Minorities/Females/Vet/Disability/Sexual Orientation/Gender Identity/Title VI/Title VII/Title IX/504/ADA/ADEA employer.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/1/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10574

University of Mississippi

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science and African American Studies

The Department of Political Science and the African American Studies program at the University of Mississippi invite applications to fill a tenure-track position at the level of Assistant Professor in American Politics, starting Fall 2023. The appointment will be a joint appointment between Political Science and African American Studies. Requirements include a PhD in Political Science, with at least ABD standing with the expectation of completion by Fall 2023, as well as a potential for or record of excellence in teaching and research. We are foremost interested in hiring an excellent candidate, with all areas of specialization invited to apply. We welcome applications from members of groups traditionally underrepresented in the field. The successful candidate must be able to contribute to the undergraduate teaching of both Political Science and African American Studies, and also be able to contribute to the Political Science Department's graduate program. Tenure and promotion reside in the Department of Political Science. Candidates must complete an online application at <https://careers.olemiss.edu>. The online application should include a cover letter indicating research, teaching interests, and a description of demonstrated commitment to diversity, equity, and inclusion in teaching, scholarship, and/or service with descriptions of past efforts and commitment to future activities, curriculum vitae, writing samples, graduate transcript, and three letters of recommendation. Review of all applications will begin September 1, 2022 and continue until the position is filled or until an adequate applicant pool is established.

This tenure-track position is included in the University of Mississippi, College of Liberal Arts multi-year faculty cluster hire initiative. This initiative is designed to expand our understanding of multicultural competence in a number of areas including, among others to be named in future years: successful, effective, and ethical leadership; inclusive pedagogy in STEM; and Black intellectual thought in the Humanities. We seek scholars and scholarship with a focus on the experiences of African Americans and other underrepresented groups and attention to identities with respect to race, ethnicity, gender, and sexuality. Our goal is to attract and support a diverse cohort of tenure-track scholars who will produce cutting-edge research, scholarship, and creative achievement around one of these broad themes in their fields of specialization. For more information and the list of the other positions included in this cluster hire, please visit the College of Liberal Arts website at <https://libarts.olemiss.edu/cluster-hire/>

Founded in 1848, the University of Mississippi (UM), affectionately known to alumni, students and friends as Ole Miss, is Mississippi's flagship university. Included in the elite group of R-1: Doctoral Universities - Highest Research Activity by the Carnegie Classification, it has a long history of producing leaders in public service, academics and business. The University of Mississippi, consistently named by The Chronicle of Higher Education as a "Great College to Work For," is located in Oxford, MS, which is ranked one of the "Top 10 Best College Towns." With more than 24,000 students, UM is the state's largest university and is ranked among the nation's fastest-growing institutions. The University of Mississippi, which has aggressively implemented many health and wellness initiatives for its more than 2,900 employees, has consistently been named one of Mississippi's Healthiest Workplaces.

The University of Mississippi is an EEO/AA/Title VI/Title IX/Section 504/ADA/ADEA employer.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/1/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10575

Southwestern University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

Specializations: Race & Ethnic Politics, African American Politics, Latino Politics

The Department of Political Science at Southwestern University invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor of Political Science position beginning August 2023. The ideal candidate will hold a PhD in political science (ABD, with completion by August 2023, will be considered) and specialize in American Politics, with a focus on race & ethnic politics in the United States. We are particularly interested in applicants whose work falls into the subfields of Black or Latinx politics and who can offer classes that expand beyond our existing strengths in American political behavior and psychology. We strongly encourage candidates from underrepresented backgrounds who can contribute to the diversity and excellence of our academic community to apply.

Successful applicants will demonstrate a commitment to excellence and inclusivity in undergraduate teaching and a willingness to foster undergraduate research. The typical teaching load is five courses per year; this will include 2 sections of our introductory American Politics course and at least one other course that is accessible to nonmajors. Campus-wide responsibilities include advising students and university service.

Building on Southwestern University's commitment to academic excellence and making connections within and across disciplines, we are pleased to share that this position is part of a diversity, equity, and inclusion cohort hiring initiative in the thematic areas of race, ethnicity, and social justice. The thematic hire initiative seeks to recruit and retain a diverse community of teacher-scholars from multiple disciplines in the humanities and social sciences (including English, Feminist Studies, History, Political Science, and Sociology) who will strengthen the University offerings in race, ethnicity, and social justice as well as increase curricular coverage of areas related to diversity and inclusion. As part of the thematic hiring process, Southwestern will provide members of the cohort with opportunities and resources to enhance their success and well being such as participating in mentoring networks, research and writing workshops, and additional ongoing professional development.

The Political Science Department and Southwestern University are committed to recruiting candidates who both excel in teaching and research and can best serve our diverse student population. As of the Fall 2021 semester, over 40% of students enrolled at Southwestern are members of groups traditionally underrepresented in higher education and we are committed to further increasing and supporting the diversity of our students, faculty and curriculum. The Department seeks candidates who have a demonstrated commitment to, and will take an active role in, enhancing diversity, inclusion, and equity across the University, including fostering a sense of community and belonging for students. In your application materials, please include specific and detailed information about how you have worked to enhance diversity and inclusion through your teaching practices, research, and/or service experiences within the college or university setting.

Southwestern University (Georgetown, Texas) is a selective undergraduate residential liberal arts institution located in the greater Austin area. Established in 1840, Southwestern enrolls approximately 1,500 students and maintains a student-faculty ratio of 12 to 1. The university provides a highly interdisciplinary and holistic education that values high-impact learning experiences, such as study abroad, internships, and faculty-student research. A member of the recently formed Liberal Arts Colleges Racial Equity Leadership Alliance, Southwestern is committed to fostering a diverse educational environment and encourages applications from members of groups traditionally underrepresented in academia. Additional information about the university can be found at our website: www.southwestern.edu.

To apply: Candidates should submit a cover letter, C.V., three letters of recommendation, a teaching statement, brief descriptions of 2-3

possible courses and/or sample syllabi, and a research statement by September 23 on <http://apply.interfolio.com/110378> We strongly encourage applicants to include specific and detailed information in these documents about how you have worked to enhance diversity and inclusion through your teaching practices, research, and/or service experiences within the college or university setting. We will be speaking with interested candidates at the APSA Annual Meeting; to set up an appointment or ask questions about this position, please contact the chair of the committee, Emily Sydnor (sydnore@southwestern.edu).

All offers of employment are contingent on successful completion of the University's Background Check Policy process. Southwestern University is an Equal Opportunity Employer. EOE/M/F

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 9/23/2022

Date Posted: 7/29/2022

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 10560

Florida State University

Rank: Assistant Professor in American Political Institutions

The Department of Political Science (<https://coss.fsu.edu/polisci/>) in the College of Social Sciences & Public Policy at Florida State University seeks applications for two tenure-track assistant professor positions to begin in Fall 2023. We seek candidates whose research focuses on American political institutions. The search is open with respect to specialization. Successful candidates are expected to add to the department's strengths in quantitative, experimental, and/or formal methods.

Florida State University is a Carnegie Foundation classified Research I institution. Among its 44,000 students are over 10,000 graduate students pursuing over 200 programs of study. Tallahassee is Florida's capital and has a metropolitan population of over 385,000. Its principal employers are state government and three higher education institutions.

Applicants should submit (1) a letter of application indicating research and teaching interests, (2) a curriculum vitae, (3) writing samples, (4) three letters of recommendation, and (5) a graduate school transcript. All items must be submitted electronically. Send these files as separate email attachments (PDFs are expected) to polisci@fsu.edu and specify "Institutions Search" in the subject line. Review of applications will begin September 16, 2022 and will continue until the position is filled.

Contact: Prof. Robert Jackson

Email: rjackson@fsu.edu

Phone: 850-644-5727

Department of Political Science
Florida State University
P.O. Box 3062160
Bellamy 531
Tallahassee, FL 32306-2230

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 9/16/2022

Date Posted: 7/27/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10546

Florida State University

Rank: Assistant Professor in Race, Ethnicity, and Politics

The Department of Political Science (<https://coss.fsu.edu/polisci/>) in the College of Social Sciences & Public Policy at Florida State University seeks applications for a tenure-track assistant professor to begin in Fall 2023. We seek candidates whose research focuses on race, ethnicity, and politics. The search is open with respect to specialization, although it is expected that applicants will contribute to the study of American or comparative political behavior or political institutions.

Florida State University is a Carnegie Foundation classified Research I institution. Among its 44,000 students are over 10,000 graduate students pursuing over 200 programs of study. Tallahassee is Florida's capital and has a metropolitan population of over 385,000. Its principal employers are state government and three higher education institutions.

Applicants should submit (1) a letter of application indicating research and teaching interests, (2) a curriculum vitae, (3) writing samples, (4) three letters of recommendation, and (5) a graduate school transcript. All items must be submitted electronically. Send these files as separate email attachments (PDFs are expected) to polisci@fsu.edu and specify "REP Search" in the subject line. Review of applications will begin September 2, 2022 and will continue until the position is filled.

Contact: Prof. Amanda Driscoll

Email: adriscoll@fsu.edu

Phone: 850-644-5727

Department of Political Science
Florida State University
P.O. Box 3062160
Bellamy 531
Tallahassee, FL 32306-2230

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 9/2/2022

Date Posted: 7/27/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10544

Johns Hopkins University

Rank: Assistant Program Director/Lecturer or Sr. Lecturer, Policy and Administration

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Public Administration, American Government and Politics

Johns Hopkins University
Zanvyl Krieger School of Arts and Sciences
Advanced Academic Programs

Apply here: <https://apply.interfolio.com/110584>

Location:

Washington, DC

Description:

The Johns Hopkins University invites applications for the position of Assistant Program Director in the area of Public Policy and Administration. This position will support the Master of Arts in Public Management (primary), Master of Arts in Nonprofit Management, and Master of Arts of Government programs in the Center for Advanced Governmental Studies, within the Krieger School of Arts & Sciences' Advanced Academic Programs Division. Reporting to the Director of the Center for Advanced Governmental Studies and Associate Dean for Graduate & Professional Programs, the Assistant Program Director will contribute to the excellence of the programs and will demonstrate and support ongoing innovation in the curriculums. Johns Hopkins University is committed to hiring candidates who, through their teaching and service, will contribute to the diversity and excellence of the academic community.

Advanced Academic Programs:

The Advanced Academic Programs (AAP) is a division of the Krieger School of Arts & Sciences at the Johns Hopkins University (JHU). As the nation's oldest and one of its most prestigious research universities, JHU offers high-quality master's degrees and post-baccalaureate education to students online, at its Washington, DC Center, and at the Homewood campus in Baltimore, MD. AAP enrolls over 6,000 students each academic year in over 45-degree programs.

AAP was started in 1992 to provide students with the opportunity to obtain a master's degree in a professional and part-time graduate program. Over the course of nearly 30 years, AAP has worked diligently to add new degree programs that fit within the academic structure of the Krieger School and satisfy the demands of the marketplace. AAP distinguishes itself through its intensive instructional assistance, selective admissions, and more than 50 dedicated full-time faculty. Tenured Krieger School faculty members serve as Program Chairs within AAP and work together in the Council of Program Chairs, an academic advisory body to the KSAS Dean.

AAP's website, <http://advanced.jhu.edu/>, provides additional information.

The Position:

AAP's programs in public management, nonprofit management, and government prepare students for leadership positions in public service and advocacy. Students develop sophisticated skills in policy analysis, research, and administration. With an ever-growing and diverse student body, the programs are continually expanding and enhancing their course offerings to meet both academic and practitioner needs. Currently, the programs serve over 400 students both onsite and online, including a large number of international students.

In both academic and administrative roles, the Assistant Program Director supports the curriculums, students, and adjunct faculty. The Assistant Program Director will have significant interaction/collaboration with the Program Directors and other faculty within the Center for Advanced Governmental Studies, as well as across other AAP programs, including the Applied Economics and Communication programs.

The Assistant Program Director is a full-time, non-tenure-track, 12-month renewable faculty position with the academic title of Lecturer or Senior Lecturer, commensurate with experience. The Assistant Program Director reports to the Director of the Center for Advanced Governmental Studies, who consults with the Program Chair on academic matters, and to the Associate Dean for Graduate & Professional Programs, who leads the Advanced Academic Programs and reports to the Dean of the Krieger School of Arts & Sciences.

The Assistant Program Director will have the following academic and administrative responsibilities:

Academic Responsibilities:

Teach 6 graduate courses per year, including preparation and time spent in the classroom (both on-site in the Washington, DC Center and online), using best practices for teaching, engaging, and mentoring students from diverse backgrounds in the learning process, and responding to student questions

Advise students, including both program and research/capstone advising

Provide input on the curriculums and new course development to ensure the delivery and growth of quality programs

Other academic duties normally performed by full-time faculty, such as participating on committees, attending academic events, or contributing to other academic service

Administrative Responsibilities:

Assist with the management of degree concentrations or areas of focus

Participate in the adjunct faculty hiring and development processes

Assist the Program Directors with administrative tasks, such as planning events and reviewing admission materials

Other administrative duties as assigned

Qualifications:

The Assistant Program Director role is critical to maintaining the overall high quality of this program. The Assistant Program Director must have a passion for education and its power to change lives, especially for international, part-time, and non-residential students. A track record of successful graduate and/or online teaching, as well as skills in instructional design, content development, and instructional technology, are important.

Candidates who have experience teaching and engaging students from diverse backgrounds are of particular interest.

To be considered, candidates should meet a set of minimum qualifications and ideally meet several additional preferred qualifications.

Minimum Qualifications:

- PhD in public administration, public policy, or political economy, or in a relevant field such as government or political science; other terminal degrees in these or related fields may be considered

- 1-3 years of higher education teaching experience online and/or at the graduate level

- The ability to teach a variety of courses in one or more of the following areas: public administration, policy analysis and evaluation, public financial management and budgeting, political economy

- Strong organizational skills

- Excellent oral and written communication skills

Preferred Qualifications:

- 4 or more years of higher education teaching experience online and/or at the graduate level

- 1-3 years of related professional experience within the areas of public policy, program management, or budget/financial analysis, including but not limited to positions in government (federal, state, or local), think tanks and public policy research organizations, advocacy associations, and nonprofits focused on public policy issues.

- Experience managing a degree or certificate program

- Demonstrated track record of excellence in teaching and innovation in curriculum design
- The ability to work independently in a fast-paced environment with competing demands and multiple deadlines in both on-site and online environments

Application Instructions:

For consideration, interested and qualified candidates should submit the following materials via Interfolio (<https://apply.interfolio.com/110584>):

- Cover letter that describes the applicant's interest in the position
- CV
- Teaching evaluations from the two most recent semesters

The selected candidate will be expected to undergo a background check and to submit proof of educational attainment.

Start Date: Spring 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/27/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10547

Massachusetts Institute of Technology

Rank: Postdoctoral Associate

POSTDOCTORAL ASSOCIATE, Political Science, to join a National Science Foundation-funded computational social science research project with Professor In Song Kim. The project focuses on using computational methods to examine special interest group politics and trade politics in the U.S. Responsibilities include analyzing lobbying and campaign donation data and developing/maintaining a large-scale money in politics database. The team is currently developing novel computational methods for social science research, such as community detection and graphical neural network methods to infer political networks; and NLP methods to investigate congressional bill writing and entity disambiguation. The position offers an opportunity to engage in independent research projects according to the candidate's substantive research interests/background.

Job Requirements

REQUIRED: Ph.D. (or an anticipated Ph.D. completion by May 2023) in and research experience with computational social science, political science, computer science, economics, or a related field; ability to work independently with general supervision and as part of a team; experience working with remote servers (Linux CLI, AWS); Python/Git development skills; and knowledge of SQL and relational database modeling.

PREFERRED: experience with data-driven social sciences; experience with large-scale data handling; knowledge of Postgres.

Visa support provided

A complete application should include (as a single PDF) a cover letter that includes your earliest preferred start date, a curriculum vitae, and a two-to-four-page research statement. Please send that by email to insong@mit.edu. The subject line should be MIT Postdoctoral Associate Application. Applications will be reviewed as they are received, and the position will remain open until filled.

There is a targeted start date of May 2023 (though there may be flexibility to start earlier or later). It is a one-year term appointment with the possibility of renewal based on funding and performance.

Start Date: Spring 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/26/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10534

Princeton University

Rank: Associate or Full Professor, American Politics

The Department of Politics and the Princeton School of Public and International Affairs are seeking applications from well-qualified individuals for a tenured faculty position in American politics. This position involves teaching at the graduate and undergraduate levels and research at the highest level of excellence. We seek faculty members who will create a climate that embraces excellence and diversity, with a commitment to teaching and mentoring that will enhance the work of the department and school and attract and retain a diverse student body. Interested applicants should apply online at <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/26804>.

Applicants should submit a letter of interest along with a vita, but no publications or other writings. Publications may be requested at a later date. References will not be contacted at this time, but may be contacted later in the review process. We will begin reviewing applications on September 12, 2022.

This position is subject to the University's background check policy.

Requisition No: D-23-POL-00004

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/26/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10535

Union College

Rank: Joseph B. Board Professor of Environmental Policy

The Department of Political Science and Environmental Science, Policy, and Engineering (ESPE) Program at Union College invite applications for the Joseph B. Board Professor of Environmental Policy. This is a tenure-track, assistant professor position in the Political Science Department, with the successful candidate contributing courses to Political Science as well as the ESPE Program. This endowed position includes a salary supplement and an annual allowance to support research and travel. The position will begin in fall 2023 and is conditional on budget.

We will hire a faculty member with expertise in environmental policy with a strong preference for a focus on climate policy. We also welcome applicants with additional teaching interests in (but not limited to) one or more of the following: environmental/climate justice, environmental law, the U.S. policymaking process, environmental activism, or global environmental politics. The successful candidate will be expected to teach Introduction to U.S. Politics and the Environmental Science and Policy Senior Seminar (on a topic in their area of expertise) as well as advise a combination of Political Science and ESPE senior projects. Other advanced-level policy courses will be appropriate for Political Science and ESPE students. Union College recognizes the rich possibilities of interdisciplinary studies by offering many opportunities for both faculty and students to engage with multiple disciplines – and each other – in collaborative classroom settings, innovative majors, and unique research initiatives. The successful hire will contribute courses to ESPE and potentially other interdisciplinary programs, depending on their areas of expertise.

Union College is a leading national undergraduate liberal arts college located in Schenectady, NY, a culturally rich and economically diverse city in New York State's Capital Region, and is within three hours from New York City, Boston, and Montreal. Union offers highly competitive salary and benefits. For more information on benefits, please visit our website: <https://www.union.edu/human-resources/benefits>.

The normal teaching load is six courses across a trimester system. Normally, faculty supervise senior projects that count for one course of the teaching load. Tenure track hires have a one course load reduction in their first year and receive additional research support. Evidence of teaching experience and effectiveness will be important, as will evidence of research achievements and an agenda for future work. Candidates with a Ph.D. are preferred, though ABD candidates who will complete their degree requirements by September 1, 2023 will be considered.

Union College is an equal opportunity employer and strongly committed to student and workforce diversity. Union provides a blend of intellectual, social and cultural opportunities to facilitate the integrated academic, social and personal development of a diverse community. We value and are committed to a host of diverse populations and cultures including, but not limited to, those based on race, religion, disability, ethnicity, sexual orientation, gender, gender identity, national origin and veteran status. Increasing diversity on campus is a critical priority for Union, one that is integral to our mission of preparing students for a globally interconnected world. Our goal is not only to increase diversity, but to support a diverse environment in which people from varied backgrounds can succeed and thrive. As such, we welcome applications from members of groups traditionally underrepresented in the field and we ask all applicants to address in their cover letter the ways in which their candidacy represents a commitment to the ideals of joining a community of diverse faculty, students, and staff.

To ensure applications receive full consideration, they should be submitted by September 9, 2022. Please upload a cover letter, CV, a sample of scholarly work, teaching evaluations, and other relevant teaching materials to jobs.union.edu. You will be asked to include names and contact information for three references through our online application system. An email will be sent automatically to references requesting a letter of recommendation.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/21/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10512

Alfred University

Rank: Assistant Professor, Tenure Track: Political Science and Government

Subfield(s): Political Theory, American Government and Politics, Public Law

Specializations: Africa, Gender Politics & Policy, Social Welfare

The Division of Social Sciences in the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences at Alfred University invites applications for a tenure-track

position in political science at the rank of Assistant Professor to begin Fall 2023.

We are seeking someone to teach standard introductory-level and upper-division courses on topics that will interest a broad range of students. Along with courses in their area(s) of interest, the successful candidate will regularly teach our introductory course in American politics and courses in judicial processes and constitutional law. We will give preference to applicants who can teach political theory, identity politics, and/or political institutions such as the presidency and bureaucracy. Candidates with a demonstrated interest in interdisciplinary programs such as Women's and Gender Studies, Social Justice Studies, or Africana Studies are strongly encouraged to apply. We require applicants to have a Ph.D. in political science prior to appointment.

The Division of Social Sciences, which includes political science, sociology, criminal justice studies, and anthropology, is particularly interested in developing interdisciplinary collaborative courses, innovative technologies, and experiential learning. The successful candidate will teach three courses (four credit hours each) per semester. Additional teaching opportunities in the summer and winter breaks are available.

One of the first co-educational institutions in the United States, Alfred University is a top-ranked, small, comprehensive university committed to teaching and research and devoted to pursuing technical expertise, artistic creativity, and humanistic learning. Located in the foothills of the Allegheny Mountains in western New York State, Alfred University has around 1800 full and part-time undergraduate and graduate students and 150 fulltime faculty. In 2003, the University was awarded a Phi Beta Kappa chapter.

To apply submit the following materials:

-letter of interest

-curriculum vitae

-graduate transcripts

-Candidates should also have three references send their confidential letters

of recommendation to humanresources@alfred.edu

We will begin reviewing applications on September 15th and continue until the position is filled. Application materials should highlight the candidate's experience in or plans for promoting diversity, equity, and inclusion through teaching, research, and service.

Please apply here: <https://alfreduniversity.applytojob.com/apply/7GYyflueG/Assistant-Professor-Tenure-Track-Political-Science-And-Government>

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/20/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10507

SUNY, University at Albany

Rank: Assistant Professor

Rockefeller College of Public Affairs seeks an Assistant Professor in the field of American Politics. This is a tenure-track appointment in the Department of Political Science. The course load is four courses a year. The department's priority is a scholar who addresses big questions in American politics, including those related to democracy, justice, or equality. Examples of relevant research topics include those pertaining to the role of institutions, polarization, racial politics, democratic backsliding, and social movements. We are open to methodological diversity and welcome historical perspectives. The department expects that the successful applicant will teach the introductory course in American Politics. Candidates who are poised to seek external funding will be viewed favorably. Contributing to the diversity of the department will also be considered a plus. Candidates should also be willing to teach courses in online formats when specific needs arise. Applicants should have their Ph.D. in hand by May 2023.

Required Qualifications:

- Ph.D. in Political Science or in an appropriate related discipline, with a specialization in American Politics, by May 2023.
- A record of, or demonstrated potential for, successfully publishing research and teaching courses on topics that address big questions in American Politics, including those related to democracy, justice, or equality. (Examples of relevant research topics include those pertaining to the role of institutions, polarization, racial politics, democratic backsliding, and social movements.)
- A record of, or demonstrated potential for, effectively teaching an introductory course in American Politics.

Preferred Qualifications:

- A record of, or demonstrated potential for, seeking external funding for their research.
- Experience with successfully teaching a diverse student population.
- Experience with successfully teaching courses in an online format.
- An ability to collaborate effectively with faculty, staff, and students across a broad range of research, teaching, and service-related tasks.

The Jeanne Clery Disclosure of Campus Security Policy and Campus Crime Statistics Act, or Clery Act, mandates that all Title IV institutions, without exception, prepare, publish and distribute an Annual Security Report. This report consists of two basic parts: disclosure of the University's crime statistics for the past three years; and disclosures regarding the University's current campus security policies. The University at Albany's Annual Security Report is available in portable document format [PDF] by clicking this link <http://police.albany.edu/ASR.shtml>

Pursuant to Executive Order 161, no State entity, as defined by the Executive Order, is permitted to ask, or mandate, in any form, that an applicant for employment provide his or her current compensation, or any prior compensation history, until such time as the applicant is extended a conditional offer of employment with compensation. If such information has been requested from you before such time, please contact the Governor's Office of Employee Relations at (518) 474-6988 or via email at info@goer.ny.gov.

THE UNIVERSITY AT ALBANY IS AN EO/AA/IRCA/ADA EMPLOYER

Please apply online via <http://albany.interviewexchange.com/candapply.jsp?JOBID=150277>

Applicants MUST submit the following documents:

- CV
- Statement of interest
- Graduate transcript
- Writing sample or publication
- Available evidence of teaching effectiveness (e.g., syllabi, student evaluations, and/or teaching statement)
- Contact information for three references

A review of applications will begin on September 6, 2022, and the search will remain open until the position is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/18/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10502

Franklin & Marshall College

Rank: Assistant Professor or Instructor, Political Theory

Specializations: Political Theory, Race & Ethnic Politics, Political Behavior

Franklin & Marshall College invites applications for a tenure-track position in the Department of Government beginning Fall Semester 2023. The rank will be Assistant Professor or Instructor depending on qualifications. Applicants should possess or be close to completing a doctorate degree. We are interested in candidates whose scholarship and teaching focus on some aspect of modern political theory. They should also demonstrate the ability to teach a course on racial justice and other upper level courses that address contemporary political problems. In addition, candidates should be able to contribute to the College's general education program, Connections. Faculty maintain active research programs and contribute to the College's shared governance.

Candidates must submit the following items electronically via Interfolio: (<http://apply.interfolio.com/108951/>): a cover letter, curriculum vitae, graduate transcript(s) (unofficial copies are fine), teaching and research statements, diversity statement, teaching evaluations and/or teaching observations, and names of three references (NOTE: letters of reference will be solicited at a later stage, and once they are solicited referees will need to supply them within three weeks). For full consideration, applications should be received by September 24, 2022.

Pursuant to cultivating an inclusive college community, the search committee will holistically assess the qualifications of each applicant. We will consider an individual's record working with students and colleagues with diverse perspectives, experiences, and backgrounds. We will also consider experience overcoming or helping others overcome barriers to academic success.

Franklin & Marshall College is committed to having an inclusive campus community where all members are treated with dignity and respect. As an Equal Opportunity Employer, the College does not discriminate in its hiring or employment practices on the basis of gender, sex, race, ethnicity, color, national origin, religion, age, disability, family or marital status, sexual orientation, or any protected characteristic. Individuals who need accommodation due to a disability in order to submit an application or to otherwise participate in the employment process should contact the department's academic coordinator, Paulina Erazo Ayala, (717) 358-3961, paulina.erazoayala@fandm.edu.

Franklin and Marshall College is committed to providing a safe and productive learning, living and working community. To assist in achieving this goal, we conduct background investigations for all prospective applicants being considered for employment.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/15/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10499

Furman University

Rank: Assistant, Associate, or Full Professor American Politics

Specializations: Constitutional Law & Theory, Civil Rights & Liberties, Criminal Justice

The candidate will teach five courses per year, including introductory courses in American government and upper-level courses in constitutional law. The ability to offer classes in jurisprudence, legal theory, criminology, civil rights (including voting rights, immigration, criminal justice reform), and other related areas would be particularly welcome. The candidate must demonstrate the potential for superb teaching, excellence in scholarship, and a commitment to mentoring underrepresented students. The person hired must possess the Ph.D. by August 1, 2023. Candidates with a J.D. degree and a license to practice law in the United States are particularly encouraged to apply.

The Politics and International Affairs Department is a large department with specialists in all major political science fields. The Department is committed to diversity, equity, inclusion and a community where every member is treated with dignity. All are welcome to participate in the department's life and the respectful exploration of ideas. The candidate should show interest in and aptitude for contributing to this endeavor.

Applicants should submit to Workday jobs (https://furman.wd5.myworkdayjobs.com/Furman_Careers) a single PDF that includes: a cover letter with a statement of teaching philosophy and description of research agenda, a statement describing how their teaching, scholarship, mentoring, and service might contribute to a liberal arts college community that includes a commitment to diversity as one of its core values; sample course syllabi; teaching evaluations; a copy of graduate transcript(s); and at least one writing sample, preferably single-authored. Candidates also should submit three letters of recommendation to the Department of Politics and International Affairs Department Assistant at Leesie.mappes@furman.edu.

The successful candidate will have the ability to work with historically underrepresented students, including students of color, and be committed to assisting the university in its continuing efforts to become a model of inclusive excellence.

We will begin reviewing applications on September 30, 2022, and continue until the position is filled. We will also meet with interested and qualified candidates at the American Political Science Association convention in Montreal, Canada.

To apply, please go to https://furman.wd5.myworkdayjobs.com/Furman_Careers

For any questions, please contact the chairperson of the search committee, Teresa Cosby, at Teresa.cosby@furman.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/15/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10497

St. Olaf College

Rank: Visiting Instructor or Assistant Professor

Specializations: Race & Ethnic Politics, Latino Politics, African American Politics

The Department of Political Science at St. Olaf College invites applications for a full-time, one-year position in Research Methods and American Politics at the level of Instructor or Assistant Professor, to begin August 2022. The successful candidate will be able to research methods to undergraduate students, as well as courses in American Politics. Ability to teach a course on race and politics is especially desired.

The department is particularly interested in applicants who can and will advance the College's goals for diversity equity and inclusion. We request that in the letter of application, candidates address their potential to contribute to the St. Olaf community that maintains a diversity of people and perspectives as one of its core values. We strongly encourage applications from Black, Indigenous, and people of color and members of other underrepresented groups in accordance with our equity goals.

Applicants must submit materials online at <https://stolaf.hiretouch.com/faculty-postings>. A complete application includes:

Cover letter

Curriculum vitae

The contact information for three professional references who can speak to your abilities in teaching and scholarship.

Review of applications will begin as soon as possible and will continue until the position is filled. Applications received by July 25, 2022 will receive fullest consideration.

Questions about the position, department, or college may be directed to Douglas Casson, Department Chair, at casson@stolaf.edu. Applicants who need assistance with the online application process should call 507-786-3356.

One of the nation's leading liberal arts colleges, St. Olaf College serves 3,000 students, ranks #1 among U.S. colleges for the number of students studying abroad, and celebrates carbon-free electrical power. Its mission is to challenge students to excel in the liberal arts, examine faith and values, and explore meaningful vocation in an inclusive, globally engaged community nourished by Lutheran tradition. The college is located on a picturesque 300-acre campus in Northfield, Minnesota, a vibrant, restored, historic river town of 20,000 located 45 minutes south of the Twin Cities.

To provide a safe and secure educational environment, St. Olaf College verifies the accuracy of all credentials presented by applicants and conducts a criminal background check on every new hire.

St. Olaf College requires all employees to be fully vaccinated for COVID-19 (medical and religious exemptions may apply).

St. Olaf College is an equal employment opportunity and voluntary affirmative action employer. The College is committed to providing an inclusive and welcoming environment for all members of our community. With regard to its hiring and employment practices, the College prohibits all forms of discrimination and harassment based upon an individual's legally protected status including race, color, creed, national origin, gender, gender identity, gender expression, sexual orientation, age, religion, disability, marital status, veteran status, or status with regard to public assistance.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 7/13/2022
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 10488

Santa Clara University

Rank: Assistant Professor

Specializations: Race & Ethnic Politics, Urban Politics, Social Movements

The Department of Political Science at Santa Clara University, a Jesuit, Catholic university, seeks applicants for a tenure-track assistant professor position in Race, Ethnicity, and Politics.

We are especially interested in scholars who focus on public policy, urban politics, or social movements. We seek a teacher-scholar with demonstrated commitment to, and excellence in, undergraduate teaching and scholarly achievement. We are open to applications from those in disciplines closely related to political science and especially interested in candidates with a policy focus that will contribute to the Department's Public-Sector Studies Emphasis. This position is part of a cluster hire in Race, Inequality, and Social Justice. The other participating departments are Art & Art History, English, Psychology, Public Health, and Religious Studies. The position will begin on September 1, 2023.

Applicants must have a Ph.D. at the time of appointment and a clear research trajectory, with experience teaching at the university level and a record of publication strongly preferred. The person we hire will teach a lower-division course in U.S. Politics, upper-division courses in their area of specialty, and either qualitative or quantitative research methods.

For full consideration, applications should be submitted by September 2, 2022 at <https://www.scu.edu/hr/careers/>. Applicants should submit: (1) a cover letter addressing teaching and research interests, teaching philosophy, and experience or interest in working with people of diverse cultures and identities, (2) a CV, (3) sample syllabi and teaching evaluations, (4) a writing sample of no more than 40 pages, and (5) unofficial graduate transcripts. Three confidential letters of recommendation must be emailed directly to the department manager, Casey Robertson, at crobertson2@scu.edu by either the recommenders or a dossier service. For further information about the search, please contact the department chair, Greg Corning, at gcorning@scu.edu.

Located in the heart of northern California's Silicon Valley, Santa Clara is a private, Jesuit, Catholic university committed to promoting social justice in a comprehensive educational setting. Faculty are teaching-scholars who balance a commitment to quality teaching with active programs of research. SCU is on the quarter system and a typical teaching load is two courses per quarter. Faculty receive scholarship support through sabbaticals and travel funds. Housing assistance is available.

Santa Clara University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer committed to the strategic goal of enriching the quality of our community of scholars by increasing the diversity among faculty, staff, and students. Women, persons of color, and members of historically underrepresented groups who can contribute to this goal are especially encouraged to apply and to identify their strengths, experiences, or interests related to achieving this goal in their letter of application.

Start Date: Fall 2023
Application Deadline: 9/2/2022
Date Posted: 7/9/2022
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 10475

St. Norbert College

Rank: Assistant Professor in Political Science

St. Norbert College, a nationally ranked, residential, liberal arts institution with a stable enrollment of 1,900 students, invites applications for a tenure track position as an Assistant Professor in Political Science to begin August 2023. A Ph.D. in Political Science at the time of appointment and strong background in American institutions are required. Commitment to excellence in teaching undergraduates in Political Science and general education courses in a liberal arts setting is essential. Responsibilities include teaching three classes per semester, advising students, maintaining an active research agenda, and providing service to the institution and/or community. The successful candidate will regularly teach Parties and Elections and Congress and the Presidency, as well as an introductory multicultural American politics and government course. An interest in teaching research methods and/or basic statistics for undergraduates will also be considered. Other course assignments will be based on departmental needs and the successful candidate's expertise.

St. Norbert College offers competitive salaries and excellent benefits.

About St. Norbert College

St. Norbert College, located on the ancestral home of the Menominee Nation, is a thriving, nationally ranked Catholic liberal arts college known for its academic excellence, global focus, and leadership and service opportunities. We acknowledge the living history and contributions of the Indigenous communities that inhabited this land prior to the establishment of St. Norbert College, as well as the sovereign Native American Nations who continue to contribute to the flourishing of our communities.

Situated on an attractive, riverside campus in De Pere, Wisconsin -- a community contiguous with the city of Green Bay, St. Norbert -- St. Norbert is the only college in the world sponsored by the Norbertines, a Catholic order devoted to community, education, and serving the needs of others.

The division of Academic Affairs provides safe, inclusive, and anti-racist educational and work experiences for our faculty, staff, and students of color, congruent with our Catholic, Norbertine, and liberal arts values. Therefore, we invite candidates who have research interests, pedagogical experience or lived experience that demonstrates a commitment to equity, diversity, inclusion and belonging to join our community of teaching and learning. We are seeking to hire several new faculty members across the college as part of a cohort of scholars who are committed to meeting together, working as a group to infuse equity, diversity, inclusion and belonging (EDIB) into the curriculum. This past year we conducted a national search to hire an inaugural dean of curriculum and senior diversity officer, which highlights the importance of EDIB work in the curriculum.

As one of the nation's top Catholic liberal arts colleges, St. Norbert builds on the beliefs and practices of an ancient religious order while responding to the current needs of its students and communities. Today at St. Norbert College, the spirit of Norbert of Xanten, who founded the Norbertine order of priests in the twelfth century, lives through this modern, bustling community dedicated to transforming and empowering its students. The college has seen remarkable development in the past decade, particularly the construction and renovation of more than $150 million in campus facilities and infrastructure. St. Norbert is characterized by recent strong enrollments, as evidenced over the past ten years by the largest, most diverse, and most talented first-year classes in the college's history.

At St. Norbert College, a holistic approach to students characterizes the curriculum and classroom; faculty use their award-winning research to challenge and encourage students to greater curiosity, and students learn and collaborate both in and outside the classroom in an integrated experience. St. Norbert College is organized into four academic divisions – Humanities, Natural Sciences, Social Sciences, and Visual & Performing Arts – and the Donald J. Schneider School of Business & Economics.

How to Apply

Applications - consisting of a cover letter, curriculum vitae, writing sample, statement of teaching philosophy and statement addressing the candidate's commitment to EDIB - should be submitted by clicking on the apply now link on this page. In addition, please have three letters of recommendation sent to susan.sorenson@snc.edu (Administrative Specialist, Social Sciences), addressed to Dr. Bola Delano-Oriaran, Dean of Social Sciences. Full consideration will be given to all applications received by October 15. Applications may be sent in complete confidence.

Further information about St. Norbert College is available at www.snc.edu. Questions may be directed to the chair of the search committee, Dr. Wendy Scattergood, at wendy.scattergood@snc.edu.

St. Norbert College is an equal-opportunity employer and is committed to enhancing the diversity of people, ideas, and talents. We welcome individuals with diverse experiences, backgrounds, and skills to join our college community in our pursuit of inclusion and excellence. Women and individuals from underrepresented groups are strongly encouraged to apply.

St. Norbert College, a Catholic institution rooted in the Norbertine tradition, welcomes applications from members of all backgrounds and faith traditions. The College's mission emphasizes the Norbertine vision of community and includes providing "an educational environment that fosters intellectual, spiritual and personal development." We seek those who will contribute to our mission and support our commitment to building a vibrant, diverse and spiritually engaged community. Mission Statement

The College offers an outstanding benefits package including health, dental, and life insurance, retirement plan, paid time-off, and tuition waiver.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/7/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10471

George Washington University

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor

The Department of Political Science invites applications for a one-year position as a visiting professor with a specialization in American Politics and Theory. The candidate hired will teach a 3-3 course load of undergraduate classes during the 2022-2023 academic year.

Minimum Qualifications: Applicants must hold a Ph.D. or doctoral degree in Political Science or a related field, with specialization in American Politics and Theory. Applicants must have experience teaching undergraduate courses.

Application Procedure: To apply please complete an online faculty application at <https://www.gwu.jobs/postings/94001>; upload a cover letter; curriculum vitae; statement of teaching experience; evidence of teaching effectiveness, preferably student evaluations; and include the names of three references (letters of recommendation are not required). Review of applications will begin on 8/5/2022, and will continue until the position is filled. Only complete applications will be considered. Please note the University has an ongoing mandate for all personnel to be fully vaccinated against COVID-19.

The university is an Equal Employment Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer that does not unlawfully discriminate in any of its programs or activities on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, national origin, age, disability, veteran status, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, or on any other basis prohibited by applicable law.

The university and department have a strong commitment to achieving diversity among faculty and staff. We strongly encourage women and persons of color to apply.

Successful completion of a Background Screening will be required as a condition of hire.

Start Date: Fall 2022

Application Deadline: 8/5/2022

Date Posted: 7/6/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10466

Rollins College

Rank: (Tenure-Track) Assistant Professor, American Politics

Assistant Professor, American Politics

Job no: 493342

Work type: Faculty (Tenure-Track)

Location: Orlando, FL, Winter Park, FL

Categories: Political Science

Division: Academic Affairs

For the 13th consecutive year, Rollins College has been named a "Great College to Work For". Be a part of the Rollins experience and find a place where you belong. Ready to join us?

At Rollins, we strive to be responsive, respectful, collaborative, competent, and inclusive in all that we do. Whether serving prospective or current students, alumni, local residents, or our fellow faculty and staff colleagues, these standards define the Rollins service experience.

Position Summary:

The Department of Political Science at Rollins College invites applications for the position of tenure-track Assistant Professor of American Politics, beginning August 2023. We seek a broadly trained Americanist with interests in institutions and quantitative methodology. Applicants able to contribute to Rollins' interdisciplinary programs in American Studies, Data Analytics and/or Public Policy and Political Economy, are especially welcome. Ph.D. at time of appointment is preferred, but ABDs will be considered.

The successful candidate will also have a demonstrated commitment to teaching excellence in a liberal arts institution. Our department is committed to diversity and inclusion – departmental faculty regularly engage in student/faculty collaborative summer research, international field studies, and honors thesis supervision. The regular teaching load is three courses per semester, including introduction to American government and one course yearly for our general education program. Department representatives will also interview candidates at the APSA in September. To schedule for APSA, contact chair via email at mgunter@rollins.edu.

Founded in 1885, Rollins is Florida's oldest recognized college. Rollins is an independent, comprehensive, residential liberal arts college. The campus, noted for its lakefront beauty and for its unique location, is set in the residential community of Winter Park, just 15 minutes from one of the nation's most dynamic urban centers, Orlando. For the last 10 years, U.S. News & World Report ranked Rollins No. 1 or No. 2 among southern regional universities. Rollins is one of only 36 Ashoka U Changemaker Campuses in the world. For additional information, please visit the College website at www.rollins.edu.

Minimum Qualifications and Education:

- Ph.D. (or ABD) in Political Science with a specialization in American politics.
- Demonstrated commitment to teaching excellence in a liberal arts institution.
- Shows potential to effectively educate and mentor a diverse student population.
- Record of scholarly activity showing strong potential for future publication.

COVID-19 Information:

In order to plan and keep our campus as safe as possible during the pandemic, it is imperative that we know how many employees are vaccinated. New employees will need to report their vaccination status within 3 days of their start date.

Instructions to Applicants:

Interested applicants must apply online via the College's employment website and upload the following materials as follows:

1. Letter of interest outlining teaching philosophy.
2. Curriculum vita.
3. Sample of scholarly writing.
4. Teaching evaluations (if applicable).
5. Provide three reference names and email addresses on application.

Applications are due by October 1, 2022.

Inquiries can be directed to:

Mike Gunter

Chair, Department of Political Science

mgunter@rollins.edu

About Rollins College:

Rollins is committed to fostering a diverse and inclusive campus community, and the College celebrates the open exchange of ideas within a climate of civility and mutual respect. We view differences—from race and ethnicity to sexual orientation and political perspectives—as rich opportunities for understanding, learning, and growth.

Through its mission, Rollins College is firmly committed to creating a just community that embraces multiculturalism; persons from historically under-represented minority groups are therefore encouraged to apply. Rollins does not discriminate on the basis of sex, disability, race, age, religion, color, national or ethnic origin, ancestry, marital status, veteran status, sexual orientation, gender identity, gender expression, genetic information, physical characteristics, or any other category protected by federal, state, or local law, in its educational programs and activities.

Benefits & Perks:

- Paid Holidays and College Closure Days
- Eligible for Medical, Prescription, Dental & Vision Insurances (within 30 days of hire)
- 100% Employer-Funded Health Reimbursement Account ($125+/month)
- 100% Employer-Paid Short & Long Term Disability Insurance
- Domestic Partner Benefits
- 11.5% Employer Retirement Contributions
- Discounted On-Campus Dining Meal Plans
- FREE On-Campus Parking
- FREE Access to Campus Amenities (gyms, pools, library, sporting events and more)
- FREE Full Tuition for Employees and their Families
- Pet Insurance
- 100% Employer-Funded Employee Assistance Program
- Flexible Spending Accounts
- Award-Winning Wellbeing Programs: Blue Rewards, Rally Dollars, Hinge Health Musculoskeletal Coaching
- Plus More!

Additional Perks:

- Local & National Discount Programs, including Winter Park Locations (i.e. shops, restaurants, gift cards and more)
- FREE E-Training Courses & Professional Development Opportunities
- IT Software & Laptop Discounts (Apple, Lenovo, and more)
- College Bookstore Discounts
- Annual Service Awards & Recognition Programs
- Discover what it's like to live in Orlando: Live, Work, Play and Learn
- Plus More!

FLSA Status: Exempt

Service Months: 9

Advertised: 27 Jun 2022 Eastern Daylight Time

Applications close: 10 Oct 2022 Eastern Daylight Time

To apply, please visit: <https://apptrkr.com/3186193>

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 10/1/2022

Date Posted: 7/6/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10463

Claremont McKenna College

Rank: The Tuohy Chair in Government and Ethics

The Department of Government at Claremont McKenna College (CMC) invites applications for the Alice Tweed Tuohy Chair in Government and Ethics for a tenured Associate or Full Professorship. The position will begin on July 1, 2023. The department is interested in candidates whose scholarship and teaching focus on the moral and ethical foundations of liberal democracy. Research and teaching topics of particular interest include the grounding of rights and republican government, the ethics and practice of civility and toleration, classical and modern ethics, democratic citizenship, political rhetoric and deliberation, political leadership, the relationship between politics and religion, the virtues and shortcomings of liberal democracy and market capitalism, and constitutionalism and the rule of law.

The ideal candidate will also be a teacher-scholar who can contribute to CMC's Open Academy Initiative, which articulates the College's foundational commitment to freedom of expression and open inquiry, diversity of viewpoint and experience, and constructive dialogue.

The teaching load is two courses per semester. The candidate must have demonstrated ability to maintain an active, high quality research program and to maintain the highest standards of excellence in teaching. The successful applicant will teach courses in their area of expertise, including one introductory course a year.

Given the College's commitment to cultivating an inclusive educational environment, we seek candidates who can demonstrate a commitment to teaching, mentoring, and inspiring students representing a broad range of socioeconomic backgrounds, political opinions, genders, races, ethnicities, nationalities, sexual orientations, and religions.

Applications should include a cover letter; curriculum vitae; research statement; teaching statement that addresses the candidate's ability to teach, mentor, and inspire students representing a broad range of backgrounds; evidence of teaching effectiveness; and a writing sample. Applicants must also submit the names and e-mail addresses of three references; an email will be automatically sent to them with a link to upload their confidential recommendation letter. Please upload application materials at: https://webapps.cmc.edu/jobs/faculty/faculty_opening.php.

Complete applications, including letters of recommendation, will be reviewed beginning October 20, 2022. Review of complete applications will continue until the position is filled. Preliminary interviews may be conducted via Zoom.

Claremont McKenna College is a highly selective undergraduate institution ranked among the top liberal arts colleges nationally. It is part of The Claremont Colleges, which also includes Pomona College, Scripps College, Harvey Mudd College, Pitzer College, Claremont Graduate University, and Keck Graduate Institute. The Claremont Colleges consortium constitutes an academic community of more than 9,000 students. Claremont is located 35 miles east of downtown Los Angeles.

Start Date: Summer 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/29/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10453

Virginia Commonwealth University

Rank: Adjunct Instructor

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Political Theory, Methodology

The Virginia Commonwealth University College of Humanities and Sciences is recruiting a pool of adjunct faculty for AY2022-2023 course sections within the Department of Political Science. This pool will be utilized on an as-needed basis. Your application will remain active for a year; you may resubmit your application for subsequent years. Only those selected for an interview will be contacted.

We welcome applicants with a range of scholarly interests in the subfields of U.S. Government, Comparative Politics, International Relations, Political Theory, Methodology, Civil Rights, Human Security, and Public Policy & Administration.

For AY2022-2023, we are especially interested in offering the following courses: Politics of Race, Class, and Gender; Research Methods in Political Science; and Political Theory.

Applicants are encouraged to visit the VCU POLI bulletin to see a list of the courses offered to our students: <http://bulletin.vcu.edu/undergraduate/college-humanities-sciences/political-science-program/#coursestext>.

Position Responsibilities:

Meet all designated course instruction guidelines; grade assignments and exams in a timely manner based on instructions/rubric provided; respond to student inquiries within 24 hours; and submit final grades according to College/Department policy.

Required Qualifications:

EDUCATION:

Master's degree, PhD, or other doctoral degree in a related field with experience and specialized expertise directly related to the position.

COMPETENCIES/EXPERIENCE:

Demonstrated teaching experience.

To apply, please click on "Apply Now" at <https://vcu.csod.com/ux/ats/careersite/1/home/requisition/1965?c=vcu>. You will be asked to provide a cover letter, CV and contact information for two professional references.

Salary Range: $1,200 per credit hour

Contact Information:

Contact Name: Allie Reckendorf

Contact Email: anreckendorf@vcu.edu

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/28/2022

Salary: Below $20,000

eJobs ID: 10447

Brown University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

The Department of Political Science at Brown University invites applications for a faculty position at the level of Assistant Professor in the subfield of American Political Behavior to begin July 1, 2023. We welcome applicants who use a variety of methodologies to study public opinion, political participation, and other topics relevant to understanding the behavior of individuals and groups in the United States. Candidates must have completed the PhD by summer 2023. Review of applications will begin September 20, 2022.

Brown University is committed to fostering a diverse and inclusive academic global community; as an EEO/AA employer, Brown considers applicants for employment without regard to, and does not discriminate on the basis of, gender, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, age, race, protected veteran status, disability, or any other legally protected status.

Qualifications Needed:

- Candidates must have completed the PhD by summer 2023.

Application Instructions:

- Candidates should submit a cover letter identifying their research and teaching interests, as well as current CV, a statement addressing their commitment to diversity and inclusion, writing sample, graduate transcript, teaching evaluations, and three letters of reference.

Apply: <http://apply.interfolio.com/108475>

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/21/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10429

George Washington University

Rank: Part time faculty

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, International Relations

Political Science at George Washington University explores wide-ranging topics related to political behavior and governance, both in the United States and across the globe. The department houses nationally recognized undergraduate and graduate programs with emphases in the subfields of American Politics, Comparative Politics, International Relations.

The Department of Political Science at George Washington University invites applicants to apply who are interested in serving as a temporary part-time faculty for the fall 2022 semester, teaching in the areas of American Politics, Comparative Politics, International Relations, Political Theory, and Public Policy. The George Washington University is in a Collective Bargaining Agreement (CBA) with the part-time faculty elected union, Service Employees International Union (SEIU) Local 500.

Minimum Qualifications

A Master's degree in political science or related field. Prior experience teaching students at the postgraduate level.

Application Instructions

To apply, interested individuals should email Dr. Susan Wiley (wiley@gwu.edu) a recent curriculum vitae (CV) to express interest in the role. Prior student course evaluations may be requested. Employment offers are contingent on the satisfactory outcome of a standard background screening.

EEO Statement

The university is an Equal Employment Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer that does not unlawfully discriminate in any of its programs or activities on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, national origin, age, disability, veteran status, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, or on any other basis prohibited by applicable law.

Start Date: Fall 2022

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 5/25/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10376

Carleton College

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science and International Relations

The Political Science Department at Carleton College invites applicants for tenure-track Assistant Professor position in American Politics. The department seeks candidates who have expertise in all areas of American politics and can offer courses at all levels. We are particularly interested in applicants with teaching and research interests that relate to the struggle for representation and dynamic power of diverse groups in American politics; such as identity politics, political psychology and behaviors, rural and urban politics, and diverse forms of political participations in the U.S. political system. Carleton operates on a trimester calendar, with faculty teaching five courses per year. Successful candidates will normally teach one or two introductions to American politics per year. We also expect that successful applicants will be part of a rotation of teachers for a course on research methods, which is required for all majors. We would be especially interested in candidates with a demonstrated capacity for mentoring students in diverse research methods such as field research, interviewing, survey techniques that complement multivariate statistical analysis. A Ph.D. or its imminent completion is required. The appointment will begin on September 1, 2023.

The following materials are required: letter of application; curriculum vitae; names and contact information of three references; statement addressing the candidate's teaching experience and interests and scholarly agenda; graduate school transcript; a summary of teaching evaluations or other evidence of demonstrated or potential excellence in undergraduate instruction; one or two sample syllabi; at least one scholarly writing sample. The deadline for receipt of applications is September 15, 2022. All application materials can be submitted at <https://careers.carleton.edu/>

We are particularly interested in candidates committed to teaching a diverse student body. Women and members of underrepresented groups are strongly encouraged to apply. Carleton College does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, creed, ethnicity, religion, sex, national origin, marital status, veteran status, actual or perceived sexual orientation, gender identity and expression, status with regard to public assistance, disability, or age in providing employment or access to its educational facilities and activities.

Carleton is a highly selective liberal arts college with a student body of approximately 2,000, located in the historic and thriving town of Northfield, Minnesota. We are in commuting distance of the Twin Cities of Minneapolis and St. Paul, whose greater metro area has a diverse population of three million people and a rich variety of cultural resources. Our academic year consists of three ten-week terms. The diverse members of Department of Political Science reside in a historic modern building with excellent facilities. The faculty is passionate about teaching and active in scholarship. We are particularly interested in applicants who have a demonstrated commitment to attracting and retaining students from underserved groups and who will contribute to our vibrant college-wide culture of undergraduate research. For further information about the department consult the Department of Political Science website <https://www.carleton.edu/political-science/>

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 9/15/2022

Date Posted: 5/24/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10373

Hope College

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): Political Theory, American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics

The Department of Political Science at Hope College seeks applicants for a visiting assistant professor position beginning by Fall 2022. Strong preference will be given to candidates with expertise in political theory. In addition to political theory, we welcome applications from candidates who are able to teach introductory and upper-level courses in American politics, including a course in state and local politics. The standard teaching load is three courses per semester.

The College offers opportunities for internal research support and assistance in seeking external funding. The Political Science department at Hope has six tenured/tenure-track faculty and graduates about 25 majors each year. The Political Science department also contributes to Hope College's teacher education program as well as interdisciplinary programs in environmental studies and global studies.

Candidates should upload the following documents as part of their application:

Cover letter

Curriculum vitae

A statement indicating a willingness to commit to and engage with Hope's mission statement

A statement describing your teaching philosophy, experience, and interests

Formal teaching evaluations

Sample publications

A statement of your research plans and how you will mentor undergraduates in research (optional)

In addition, you should enter the names and contact information for three references when you apply. References will be contacted via email upon your application, providing with a link to upload a letter of recommendation to your file.

Direct questions can be sent to ryden@hope.edu. For full consideration, candidates should submit their completed materials immediately. Applications will be reviewed as they are received and continue until the search is complete.

Additional information found at jobs.hope.edu

Start Date: Fall 2022

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 5/10/2022

Salary: Any

eJobs ID: 10347

University of Kentucky

Rank: Post-Doctoral Scholar in Political Science

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Law, Public Policy

Specializations: Constitutional Law & Theory, Civil Rights & Liberties, American Politics

The Department of Political Science at the University of Kentucky in Lexington, KY, invites applications for a teaching post-doc position focused on American Political Institutions with a particular interest in law and courts. We are particularly interested in candidates who can contribute to the diversity and inclusion mission of the department. This position will begin August 1, 2022. Applicants are expected to teach a 2/3 load and design at least one new course in the area of Legal Studies.

Applicants should show strong potential to provide effective undergraduate teaching and have a Ph.D. in Political Science in hand by August 2022.

Applicants should submit the following: 1) curriculum vitae, 2) letter stating the candidate's research and teaching interests (uploaded as Cover Letter), 3) copy of transcript for highest degree earned, 4) evidence of teaching experience, particularly syllabi from courses taught (uploaded as specific request 1). Provide the names and contact information for three references when prompted in the academic profile. This information will be used to solicit recommendation letters from your references within the employment system.

Start Date: Fall 2022

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 5/9/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10339

Middle Georgia State University

Rank: Part-Time Instructor

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Administration, Public Policy

Middle Georgia State University has part-time employment opportunities for Political Science instructors, both online and on its campuses in Georgia (Macon, Warner Robins, Cochran, Eastman, and Dublin) for day and evening classes. Our primary need at this time is for faculty qualified to teach, and interested in teaching, daytime sections of American Government (POLS 1101) on the Dublin, Macon, and/or Warner Robins campuses, or at other current and potential teaching sites in Georgia, although opportunities to teach other courses may also be available.

MINIMUM QUALIFICATIONS: To qualify for a teaching position, a candidate is required to have a minimum of an earned master's degree in Political Science or a closely related field (such as Public Administration or Public Policy), or a master's degree in another field with at least 18 graduate semester hours in Political Science courses.

For more information, please contact: Dr. Christopher Lawrence, Chair - Department of Political Science. E-mail: christopher.lawrence@mga.edu. Informal inquiries are welcome.

TO APPLY: Please see the full advertisement in our career opportunities portal by following the instructions below:

1. Visit the MGA Career Opportunities page at <https://www.mga.edu/human-resources/jobs/index.php>.
2. Click on the link labeled "Faculty and Staff Job Opportunities" towards the bottom of the page.
3. Search for position #240725, "Part Time Instructor - Department of Political Science."

Applications will be reviewed and candidates will be selected for vacancies on a rolling basis.

Start Date: Fall 2022

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 3/17/2022

Salary: Below $20,000
eJobs ID: 10210

University of Louisiana at Lafayette

Rank: ASSISTANT PROFESSOR OF POLITICAL SCIENCE: PUBLIC LAW (TENURE-TRACK)

Subfield(s): Public Law, American Government and Politics, Open
Specializations: Constitutional Law & Theory, Civil Rights & Liberties, Judicial Politics

The Department of Political Science seeks applications for a tenure track appointment at the rank of Assistant Professor beginning August 2022. A robust academic record with a teaching specialization in U.S. Public Law is necessary. Successful candidates will be an active educator in their field, with a standard teaching load of three courses per semester. The successful candidate will teach introductory sections of American National Government and upper division pre-law courses in support of the Department of Political Science's Pre-Law Concentration, which is a practically-focused law school preparation curriculum, and which comprises roughly half of the department's majors. The successful candidate will also assist other pre-law faculty in offering required Pre-Law courses such as Introduction to Law & Legal Reasoning, Constitutional Law, Civil Rights Law, and/or Civil Liberties, as well as offer new pre-law courses of the candidate's choosing and design. In addition to teaching these courses via the traditional face-to-face method, the candidate must be willing to develop and teach some of these courses as online and/or hybrid courses. The successful candidate will also share in the department's advising and service responsibilities and will work with colleagues to assess and improve curricula, conduct research and/or creative works such as publications and other scholarship in their respective area of specialization, and demonstrate institutional citizenship through active engagement at the department, college, university, public, and professional communities.

To apply for this, access the University of Louisiana at Lafayette Human Resources page here: <https://louisiana.csod.com/ux/ats/careersite/1/home/requisition/1720?c=louisiana>

Start Date: Fall 2022

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 3/16/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10203

Stetson University

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor of Political Science (International Relations)

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Political Theory, Public Administration

STETSON UNIVERSITY, COLLEGE OF ARTS AND SCIENCES

Visiting Assistant Professor of Political Science (International Relations)

Stetson University seeks two individuals – one with broad interests and training in International Relations, and the other with broad interests and training in Political Theory and/or American Politics – for positions at the rank of Visiting Assistant Professor of Political Science. Each must have a desire to teach in a liberal arts setting with significant personal interactions with undergraduate students. Besides teaching introductory and upper-level undergraduate courses in their appropriate subfields of the discipline, each candidate will develop courses to complement existing strengths in the Department of Political Science and in one or more related programs (e.g. International Studies; Africana Studies; Asian Studies; Gender Studies; Social Studies; Global Development; Latin American & Latino Studies; and Russian, East European and Eurasian Studies). These two 9-month, full-time appointments span August 2022-May 2023.

QUALIFICATIONS:

A Ph.D. in Political Science is preferred, but applicants who are ABD will be considered if they are at the final stage of the dissertation process. Teaching experience beyond typical teaching assistant duties in graduate school is an advantage but not required. Candidates should have a strong commitment to innovative teaching, a creative approach to pedagogical design and implementation, and a strong commitment to all aspects of diversity in our learning-centered community.

RESPONSIBILITIES:

VAP faculty teach four courses each semester. Primary teaching responsibilities for the International Relations position include introductory and upper-level courses in International Relations and related subdisciplines (e.g. migration studies, international diplomacy, international law, security studies, etc.). For the Political Theory and/or American Politics position, teaching responsibilities include introductory and upper-level courses in Political Theory and/or American Politics and related subdisciplines (e.g. American political development, judicial studies, etc.). Other courses can be based on the candidate's expertise and training.

THE DEPARTMENT:

The Department of Political Science (<http://www.stetson.edu/artsci/political-science/>) offers academically rigorous majors in both Political Science and Public Management. Departmental faculty contribute regularly to interdisciplinary programs such as International Studies; Russian, Eastern European and Eurasian Studies; Latin American & Latino Studies; Africana Studies; the Honors Program; Environmental Science and Studies; and Public Health. We have had considerable success placing students in high-quality graduate programs in Political Science, International Affairs, Public Administration, and in prominent law schools. Faculty in the Department are committed to the teacher-scholar model, which involves teaching within a traditional liberal arts environment where the primary focus is extensive interaction with undergraduate students in a small class environment, while also maintaining an active research agenda.

THE COLLEGE OF ARTS AND SCIENCES:

Stetson's College of Arts and Sciences (<http://www.stetson.edu/portal/artsci/>) is the largest and most diverse of the University's colleges and schools; it includes the humanities, social sciences, natural sciences, education, and creative arts. With nineteen academic departments and eight interdisciplinary programs, the College is the liberal arts core of the University. A great strength of the College is its faculty of approximately 140 full-time teacher-scholars. The College offers 31 undergraduate majors and 34 undergraduate minors; six graduate degrees are offered in Education, Counselor Education, and Creative Writing. Every undergraduate major requires a senior research project, giving students the opportunity to design and carry out independent research under faculty mentorship. Our academic programs are shaped by the values of social justice and civic responsibility. All of our courses and programs of study promote engaged learning, whereby students create connections between the classroom or lab and the local, regional, and global community. The academic programs of the College of Arts and Sciences prepare students to live significant lives, to interact with and positively affect the world around them.

THE UNIVERSITY:

Founded in 1883, Stetson University (<http://www.stetson.edu>) is a private, selective university comprised of a rich array of liberal arts and professional academic programs. Collectively, Stetson's faculty works with nearly 4,000 students in undergraduate, graduate, and professional programs. The University's historic main campus, located in DeLand, enrolls more than 3,000 students in undergraduate programs in the College of Arts & Sciences, the School of Business Administration, and the School of Music. Stetson University College of Law, Florida's first law school, moved from the main campus to Gulfport in 1954, and, with the addition of the Tampa Law Center, serves approximately 1,000 students working full-time or part-time toward J.D. or LL.M. degrees. Graduate programs offered include Business, Accounting, Educational Leadership, Counseling, and Creative Writing. Florida's oldest private institution of higher learning, Stetson has regularly been ranked among the best regional universities in the Southeast and was the first private college in Florida to be granted a chapter of Phi Beta Kappa.

Stetson University provides an inspiring education that engages students with rigorous academic and creative study grounded in liberal learning and promotes civic values of personal and social responsibility. Working closely with faculty and with one another, students cultivate abilities to explore issues deeply, think critically, reason empirically, speak persuasively, and connect ideas creatively. Firmly committed to inclusive excellence, our vibrant community of teacher-scholars nurtures the potential of individual students to lead lives of significance and prepares each to meet the challenges of shaping the future—locally, nationally, and globally. Stetson University affirms cultural diversity and inclusion as a core value of academic excellence.

THE COMMUNITY:

DeLand is a picturesque residential community of 39,000 located 20 miles west of Daytona Beach and 35 miles northeast of Orlando. The area offers extensive cultural as well as recreational activities.

SALARY: Salary is competitive.

STARTING DATE: August 10, 2022

APPLICATION:

Applicants must send the following materials for consideration: 1) a cover letter summarizing the candidate's interest in the position and qualifications, 2) a statement of the candidate's teaching philosophy, a representative sample of teaching evaluations, and other relevant teaching materials (e.g. syllabi, assignments, etc.), 3) a curriculum vitae, 4) copies of graduate transcripts, and 5) the names and contact information for three recommenders (at least one of which should be able to evaluate the candidate's teaching ability). Candidates who advance in the review process may be asked to provide letters of recommendation. In their materials, candidates are encouraged to highlight skills and experiences that demonstrate a commitment to social justice, diversity, and inclusion.

Review of applications will begin on March 25, 2022 and continue until the position is filled.

Application materials may be submitted electronically to the search committee at polisearch@stetson.edu or mailed to the following address:

Dr. William Russell Nylan
Chair, VAPs Search Committee
Department of Political Science
Stetson University
421 N. Woodland Blvd. Unit 8301
DeLand, FL 32723

Stetson University is an Equal Opportunity Employer that affirms cultural diversity and inclusion as a core value of academic excellence at Stetson University. We are committed to achieving equal access in education, employment, and participation through the recruitment and retention of outstanding faculty, staff, and students from diverse backgrounds, and to meaningful academic and intellectual transformation in curriculum, research and service. We are dedicated to actions and policies that foster a community in which individuals with various identities, cultures, backgrounds, and viewpoints work together to create opportunities for engagement through rewarding and fulfilling careers and personal experiences in a culturally and racially diverse society and a globalized world. We strongly encourage members of historically under-represented and economically-disadvantaged groups and women to apply for employment. Stetson University is an EEO, ADA, ADEA, and GINA employer.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 3/7/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10177

Stetson University

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor of Political Science (Political Theory and/or American Politics)

STETSON UNIVERSITY, COLLEGE OF ARTS AND SCIENCES

Visiting Assistant Professor of Political Science (Political Theory and/or American Politics)

Stetson University seeks two individuals – one with broad interests and training in International Relations, and the other with broad interests and training in Political Theory and/or American Politics – for positions at the rank of Visiting Assistant Professor of Political Science. Each must have a desire to teach in a liberal arts setting with significant personal interactions with undergraduate students. Besides teaching introductory and upper-level undergraduate courses in their appropriate subfields of the discipline, each candidate will develop courses to complement existing strengths in the Department of Political Science and in one or more related programs (e.g. International Studies; Africana Studies; Asian Studies; Gender Studies; Social Studies; Global Development; Latin American & Latino Studies; and Russian, East European and Eurasian Studies). These two 9-month, full-time appointments span August 2022-May 2023.

QUALIFICATIONS:

A Ph.D. in Political Science is preferred, but applicants who are ABD will be considered if they are at the final stage of the dissertation process. Teaching experience beyond typical teaching assistant duties in graduate school is an advantage but not required. Candidates should have a strong commitment to innovative teaching, a creative approach to pedagogical design and implementation, and a strong commitment to all aspects of diversity in our learning-centered community.

RESPONSIBILITIES:

VAP faculty teach four courses each semester. Primary teaching responsibilities for the International Relations position include introductory and upper-level courses in International Relations and related subdisciplines (e.g. migration studies, international diplomacy, international law, security studies, etc.). For the Political Theory and/or American Politics position, teaching responsibilities include introductory and upper-level courses in Political Theory and/or American Politics and related subdisciplines (e.g. American political development, judicial studies, etc.). Other courses can be based on the candidate's expertise and training.

THE DEPARTMENT:

The Department of Political Science (<http://www.stetson.edu/artsci/political-science/>) offers academically rigorous majors in both Political Science and Public Management. Departmental faculty contribute regularly to interdisciplinary programs such as International Studies; Russian, Eastern European and Eurasian Studies; Latin American & Latino Studies; Africana Studies; the Honors Program; Environmental Science and Studies; and Public Health. We have had considerable success placing students in high-quality graduate programs in Political Science, International Affairs, Public Administration, and in prominent law schools. Faculty in the Department are committed to the teacher-scholar model, which involves teaching within a traditional liberal arts environment where the primary focus is extensive interaction with undergraduate students in a small class environment, while also maintaining an active research agenda.

THE COLLEGE OF ARTS AND SCIENCES:

Stetson's College of Arts and Sciences (<http://www.stetson.edu/portal/artsci/>) is the largest and most diverse of the University's colleges and schools; it includes the humanities, social sciences, natural sciences, education, and creative arts. With nineteen academic departments and eight interdisciplinary programs, the College is the liberal arts core of the University. A great strength of the College is its faculty of approximately 140 full-time teacher-scholars. The College offers 31 undergraduate majors and 34 undergraduate minors; six graduate degrees are offered in Education, Counselor Education, and Creative Writing. Every undergraduate major requires a senior research project, giving students the opportunity to design and carry out independent research under faculty mentorship. Our academic programs are shaped by the values of social justice and civic responsibility. All of our courses and programs of study promote engaged learning, whereby students create connections between the classroom or lab and the local, regional, and global community. The academic programs of the College of Arts and Sciences prepare students to live significant lives, to interact with and positively affect the world around them.

THE UNIVERSITY:

Founded in 1883, Stetson University (<http://www.stetson.edu>) is a private, selective university comprised of a rich array of liberal arts and professional academic programs. Collectively, Stetson's faculty works with nearly 4,000 students in undergraduate, graduate, and professional programs. The University's historic main campus, located in DeLand, enrolls more than 3,000 students in undergraduate programs in the College of Arts & Sciences, the School of Business Administration, and the School of Music. Stetson University College of Law, Florida's first law school, moved from the main campus to Gulfport in 1954, and, with the addition of the Tampa Law Center, serves approximately 1,000 students working full-time or part-time toward J.D. or LL.M. degrees. Graduate programs offered include Business, Accounting, Educational Leadership, Counseling, and Creative Writing. Florida's oldest private institution of higher learning, Stetson has regularly been ranked among the best regional universities in the Southeast and was the first private college in Florida to be granted a chapter of Phi Beta Kappa.

Stetson University provides an inspiring education that engages students with rigorous academic and creative study grounded in liberal learning and promotes civic values of personal and social responsibility. Working closely with faculty and with one another, students cultivate abilities to explore issues deeply, think critically, reason empirically, speak persuasively, and connect ideas creatively. Firmly committed to inclusive excellence, our vibrant community of teacher-scholars nurtures the potential of individual students to lead lives of significance and prepares each to meet the challenges of shaping the future—locally, nationally, and globally. Stetson University affirms cultural diversity and inclusion as a core value of academic excellence.

THE COMMUNITY:

DeLand is a picturesque residential community of 39,000 located 20 miles west of Daytona Beach and 35 miles northeast of Orlando. The area offers extensive cultural as well as recreational activities.

SALARY: Salary is competitive.

STARTING DATE: August 10, 2022

APPLICATION:

Applicants must send the following materials for consideration: 1) a cover letter summarizing the candidate's interest in the position and qualifications, 2) a statement of the candidate's teaching philosophy, a representative sample of teaching evaluations, and other relevant teaching materials (e.g. syllabi, assignments, etc.), 3) a curriculum vitae, 4) copies of graduate transcripts, and 5) the names and contact information for three recommenders (at least one of which should be able to evaluate the candidate's teaching ability). Candidates who advance in the review process may be asked to provide letters of recommendation. In their materials, candidates are encouraged to highlight skills and experiences that demonstrate a commitment to social justice, diversity, and inclusion.

Review of applications will begin on March 25, 2022 and continue until the position is filled.

Application materials may be submitted electronically to the search committee at polisearch@stetson.edu or mailed to the following address:

Dr. William Russell Nylan
Chair, VAPs Search Committee
Department of Political Science
Stetson University
421 N. Woodland Blvd. Unit 8301
DeLand, FL 32723

Stetson University is an Equal Opportunity Employer that affirms cultural diversity and inclusion as a core value of academic excellence at Stetson University. We are committed to achieving equal access in education, employment, and participation through the recruitment and retention of outstanding faculty, staff, and students from diverse backgrounds, and to meaningful academic and intellectual transformation in curriculum, research and service. We are dedicated to actions and policies that foster a community in which individuals with various identities, cultures, backgrounds, and viewpoints work together to create opportunities for engagement through rewarding and fulfilling careers and personal experiences in a culturally and racially diverse society and a globalized world. We strongly encourage members of historically under-represented and economically-disadvantaged groups and women to apply for employment. Stetson University is an EEO, ADA, ADEA, and GINA employer.

Start Date:Application Deadline: Open until FilledDate Posted: 3/7/2022Salary: CompetitiveeJobs ID: 10178Rowan University*Rank: Professor (Asst, Assoc, Full)*Subfield(s): Public Policy, American Government and Politics, International Relations

Rowan University's newly launched Catalysts for Sustainability program seeks to hire 10 new faculty to develop, advance and communicate solutions to humanity's most pressing existential threats posed by the climate and biodiversity crises.

The list below shows the positions to be filled.

- Ric Edelman College of Communication and Creative Arts: Open-rank, Tenure-track Professor
- School of Earth & Environment: Visiting Professor/Professor of Practice
- School of Earth & Environment: Open-rank, Tenure-track Professor
- College of Education: Open-rank, Tenure-track Professor
- Henry M. Rowan College of Engineering: Open-rank, Tenure-track Professor
- College of Humanities & Social Sciences: Open-rank, Tenure-track Professor
- School of Nursing & Health Professions: Open-rank, Tenure-track Professor
- College of Performing Arts: Distinguished Artist-in-Residence for Environmental Sustainability
- College of Science & Mathematics: Open-rank, Tenure-track Professor
- Provost's Fellow for a Sustainable Anthropocene

Unique Opportunity

Our catalysts will immediately be high-visibility scholars poised to reap reputational benefits as influential state and national leaders. They will gain the potential for enhanced funding and enhanced publishing. The faculty—as a cohort and as individuals—will benefit as they develop expansive external networks and connections with high-profile organizations.

Committed throughout the curriculum and community

The University-wide cohort will lead and collaborate across colleges, disciplines and communities. Each college and school on our main campus will be represented, connecting every academic division through a common purpose.

Strategic institutional values

Rowan University's strategic pillars—access, affordability, quality and serving as an economic engine—are at the center of every decision for the institution. The Catalysts for Sustainability recruiting program will be rooted in Rowan's fundamental values and the hires will demonstrate our commitment to diversity, equity and inclusion.

This program will catalyze new initiatives in sustainability research, advocacy and education while leveraging existing strengths. Successful candidates will demonstrate expertise related to the climate and biodiversity crises in one or more of the following areas: environmental justice; education and public engagement including storytelling; public policy and advocacy; discipline-specific sustainability scholarship; and sustainability practice.

Interested candidates must apply through Rowan's online application system (<https://jobs.rowan.edu/cw/en-us/job/495871/rowan-catalysts-for-sustainability>). Review of applications will begin immediately and continue until the positions are filled for a start date of September, 2022.

Start Date: Fall 2022Application Deadline: Open until FilledDate Posted: 12/9/2021Salary: CompetitiveeJobs ID: 9835Case Western Reserve University*Rank: Alexander P. Lamis Memorial Endowed Chair in U.S. Politics

The Department of Political Science at Case Western Reserve University invites applications for the Alexander P. Lamis Memorial Endowed Chair in U.S. Politics. The successful candidate will be competitive at the level of tenured associate professor (currently either as a tenured associate professor or an untenured professor with commensurate productivity and experience). We are interested in candidates across all U.S. politics subfields and methodological approaches, including but not limited to the politics of race and ethnicity, immigration, and the politics of inequality. A Ph.D. in Political Science is required.

The Lamis Chair has been established with a gift from a generous anonymous donor, to honor our late colleague Alec Lamis (PhD Vanderbilt, JD University of Maryland), a popular undergraduate teacher with interests in U.S. politics, parties and elections, judicial politics, and the politics of the U.S. South. Case Western Reserve University is a private R1 research university where Political Science faculty teach a standard 2-2 load. For more information about Professor Lamis, CWRU and the Department, see the full description (<https://politicalscience.case.edu/internship-opportunities/current-opportunities-2/>).

Candidates should submit 1) a cover letter, 2) a curriculum vitae, 3) a research statement, 4) a teaching statement that includes evidence of effective teaching, 5) a publication or writing sample, 6) a diversity statement, and 7) a list of three references.

The one-page diversity statement should explain how one's research, teaching, and/or service have contributed to diversity, equity and inclusion within a scholarly field(s) and/or how individual and/or collaborative efforts have promoted structural justice inside and outside institutions of higher learning. This statement should also reflect on the ways in which the candidate's continued efforts will foster a culture of diversity, pluralism, and individual difference at Case Western Reserve University.

Candidates should upload all application materials electronically through Interfolio at <http://apply.interfolio.com/97399>. Consideration of applicants will begin on 01/10/2022 and continue until the position is filled. Inquiries about the Lamis Chair may be sent to Professor Karen Beckwith, Search Committee Chair, at karen.beckwith@case.edu.

In employment, as in education, Case Western Reserve University is committed to Equal Opportunity and Diversity. As a recipient of the national Higher Education Excellence in Diversity (HEED) award for the past ten years, CWRU has been recognized nationally as a leader in advancing equity and inclusivity. The university and the College of Arts and Sciences at CWRU are committed to creating an inclusive community where all are welcome, valued and heard. Women, veterans, members of underrepresented minority groups, and individuals with disabilities are encouraged to apply.

Case Western Reserve University provides reasonable accommodations to applicants with disabilities. Applicants requiring a reasonable accommodation for any part of the application and hiring process should contact the Office of Equity at 216.368.3066 to request a reasonable accommodation.

Start Date: Fall 2022

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 11/11/2021

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 9700

SUNY, Cortland

Rank: Assistant Professor

Specializations: Congress, Political Parties & Organizations, Presidency

The State University of New York at Cortland (SUNY Cortland) seeks candidates for a tenure track position in American Politics with a focus on American Political Institutions. Specialty may include, but need not be limited to, elections, social movements, legislatures, systemic racism, political parties or the presidency. The successful candidate will teach introductory and upper division courses in the undergraduate curriculum (e.g., Introduction to American Politics, The American Presidency, Congress, Political Parties, Elections). They may also teach a basic methods course. The typical load is three classes per semester.

SUNY Cortland has a strong commitment to the affirmation of diversity and offers courses addressing inclusion studies and global diversity, as well as interdisciplinary programs in Africana Studies, Latinx and Latin American Studies, Women's Gender and Sexuality Studies and Native American Studies.

The Political Science department is a mid-size, undergraduate-teaching department in the school of Arts and Sciences, and is one of the most active and visible in the University. The department has about 100 majors, and is composed of eight full-time faculty, and several adjuncts. Key departmental programs include the Political Science major, Adolescence Education with a concentration in Political Science, a concentration in Law and Justice, and a B.S. degree in Public Administration and Policy.

Candidates for this position should demonstrate: a strong commitment to teaching and research, with a willingness to collaborate with other colleagues on campus in a variety of experiential activities (e.g., internships, civic engagement, student clubs); engagement in service to the department, school, university, local community and profession; a commitment to diversity, equity and inclusion and social justice and support for an equitable and diverse scholarly environment.

Required qualifications: PhD in Political Science by appointment date or ABD with a scheduled completion date; Teaching and research focus on American Politics and higher education teaching experience. Interested candidates should electronically submit 1) a letter of application summarizing qualifications and research interests, 2) a curriculum vita, 3) the names and contact information for at least three references, 4) a statement of teaching philosophy to include evidence of teaching effectiveness, including sample syllabi, if available, 5) a copy of transcript for their highest or most recent degree and 6) a published work or writing sample. <https://jobs.cortland.edu/postings/5109>

Start Date: Fall 2022

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/28/2021

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 9439

Troy University

Rank: Assistant/Associate/Full Professor

The Department of Political Science invites applicants for an open rank, tenure track position in Political Science (with a concentration in American Politics). This is a ten-month tenure-track position at our Troy, Alabama location. Responsibilities include teaching undergraduate political science courses in American Politics; teaching master's degree courses in our public administration (MPA) program, which will be delivered in person as well as online; and advising pre-law students. The position may be asked to teach courses at another Troy location depending on departmental needs.

The Department of Political Science at Troy University currently employs twenty-five faculty members who work in three programs: undergraduate political science, graduate international relations, and graduate public administration.

The start date for the position is August 1, 2022. Candidate must have degree in hand by the start date. Review of applications will begin September 15, 2021.

Please apply online at: <https://www.troyuniversityjobs.com/postings/30415>

Start Date: Fall 2022

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/9/2021

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 9313

Bloomsburg University

Rank: Political Science Temporary Pool-Intro to and U.S. Government

Position Description

The Department of Political Science at Bloomsburg University of Pennsylvania seeks qualified candidates for temporary teaching positions (full-time one semester, part-time one semester or part-time academic year) as needs arise. A successful applicant must be able to teach POLISCI 101:

Elements of Political Science and POLISCI 120: U.S. Government. A description of these courses can be found in the most current Academic Catalog at Bloomsburg University

<https://archive.bloomu.edu/catalog->

Qualifying Education/Experience

Applicants must possess a Master's Degree in Political Science or related field (Public Administration, Public Policy) from a regionally accredited institution. A Ph.D. in Political Science or related field is preferred as is specialization in the disciplinary subfield of American Politics. Applicants should also possess a demonstrated ability to work with diverse populations. Previous college teaching experience is preferred.

Supplemental Information

A complete application includes a cover letter addressing requirements and preferences for the position, a current CV, teaching evaluations (if available), a statement of philosophy of education, and 3 letters of recommendation. Submit application materials online at www.bloomu.edu/jobs Applications to this temporary pool will be accepted through April 30, 2024 (to reflect three-year life cycle of pool). Questions may be directed to Search & Screen Committee Chair, Dr. Neil Strine, hstrin2@bloomu.edu

Finalist(s) for these positions must communicate well and successfully complete an interview process and/or teaching demonstration as judged by the department faculty. Recommendation for hiring is needed from a majority of the regular, full-time department faculty.

Prior to a final offer of employment, the selected candidate will be required to submit to a background check including, but not limited to, employment verification, educational and other credential verification, Pennsylvania Child Abuse History Clearance and criminal background.

Completing this search is contingent upon enrollment and available funding.

The University prohibits any form of discrimination or harassment on the basis of sex, race, color, age, religion, national or ethnic origin, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, pregnancy, marital or family status, medical condition, genetic information, veteran status, or disability in any decision regarding admissions, employment, or participation in a University program or activity in accordance with the letter and spirit of federal, state, and local non-discrimination and equal opportunity laws, such as Titles VI and VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972, the Age Discrimination in Employment Act, the Americans with Disabilities Act and ADA Amendments Act, the Equal Pay Act, and the Pennsylvania Human Relations Act. The University also complies with the Jeanne Clery Disclosure of Campus Security Policy and Campus Crimes Statistics Act, as amended by the Violence Against Women Act (VAWA). Title IX prohibits retaliation for asserting or otherwise participating in claims of discrimination. VAWA imposes additional duties on universities and colleges to investigate and respond to reports of sexual assault, stalking, and dating or domestic violence, and to publish policies and procedures related to the way these reports are handled. The University has designated the Title IX Coordinator (Jennifer Raup, Elwell Hall, ORL, 570-389-4808, jraup@bloomu.edu or titleixcoord@bloomu.edu), to coordinate the University's compliance with Title IX and VAWA and to respond to reports of violations. The University has directed the Bloomsburg University Police Department to coordinate the University's compliance with the VAWA- related Clery reporting requirements. Additionally, inquiries concerning Title IX and its implementing regulation can be made to the U.S. Department of Education, Office of Civil Rights, Region III, The Wanamaker Building, 100 Penn Square East - Suite 505, Philadelphia, PA 19107; Phone: (215) 656-6010; Fax: (215) 656-6020.

Start Date: Spring 2021

Application Deadline: 4/30/2024

Date Posted: 4/30/2021

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 8844

COMPARATIVE POLITICS

Hong Kong University of Science and Technology
Rank: Faculty Positions (Global China Studies and Quantitative Social Science)

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Methodology, Public Administration

Specializations: China, Political Economy, Research Methods

The Division of Social Science at The Hong Kong University of Science and Technology seeks to fill several positions in Global China Studies and Quantitative Social Science.

The University is an English-speaking research university with international faculty. The Division of Social Science is highly ranked internationally.

We invite applications at all ranks (Assistant Professor/Associate Professor/Professor). Preference will be given to candidates with an active research agenda related to contemporary China and quantitative social sciences with demonstrated excellence in scholarship and in research methodology (quantitative or qualitative). Subfields are open but we are particularly interested in candidates who focus on political science, sociology, psychology and economics.

For more information about the Division, please visit <https://sosc.hkust.edu.hk>.

Applicants should have a PhD degree by the time of employment. Successful candidates are expected to teach courses at both the undergraduate and graduate levels.

Salary is competitive and will be commensurate with qualifications and experience. Fringe benefits including annual leave, medical and dental benefits will be provided. Housing benefits will also be provided where applicable. Initial appointment at Associate/Assistant Professor rank will normally be on a three-year contract, renewable subject to mutual agreement. A gratuity will be payable upon successful completion of contract.

Applicants should send a letter of interest, curriculum vitae, research statement, teaching statement, a sample publication, and teaching records electronically via Interfolio (<http://apply.interfolio.com/112648>). Associate/Assistant Professor applicants should arrange for 3 letters of recommendation to be sent via interfolio. For tenured positions, references will be solicited only after both sides agree to proceed with the process of appointment.

Review of applications will start on 13 September 2022 and the search will continue until the positions are filled.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/2/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10834

University of Rochester

Rank: Comparative Politics

The Department of Political Science at the University of Rochester invites applications from candidates working in all areas of comparative politics (without preference for region of focus) for a tenure-track assistant professor position, starting July 1, 2023. We are particularly interested in candidates with strong methodological skills.

Applications should include a letter of interest, C.V., research statement, teaching statement, letters of recommendation, samples of written work, graduate transcript and a statement of your commitment to advancing equity and fostering an inclusive and diverse community in academia, including past work and future goals. The University of Rochester is firmly committed to advancing equity and fostering an inclusive and diverse community. We ask candidates to include a statement detailing their past work and future plans for achieving these goals.

Materials should be submitted online at: www.rochester.edu/faculty-recruiting. For more information on the University of Rochester Political Science Department go to: <http://www.sas.rochester.edu/psc/>. We will begin reviewing applications on September 23, 2022.

The University of Rochester is an Equal Opportunity Employer and actively encourages applications from candidates from groups under-represented in higher education.

Start Date: Summer 2023

Application Deadline: 9/23/2022

Date Posted: 9/2/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10838

College of William & Mary

Rank: Assistant Professor of Government (Non-Western Political Theory)

The Department of Government at William & Mary, a public university of the Commonwealth of Virginia, seeks applications for a tenure track position at the Assistant Professor level in Political Theory. Appointment will begin August 10, 2023. Within political theory, we are especially interested in candidates with interests in non-Western political thought, comparative political thought, and/or the politics of race, ethnicity, indigeneity, or decoloniality. (This is one of three open positions in the Department of Government that are broadly centered on race, ethnicity, and politics). Duties include research, teaching, and service to the University. The applicant is expected to establish and maintain a vibrant research program that inspires a highly motivated undergraduate student body. Teaching expectation is two (2) courses per semester and will include a mix of lecture and seminar courses at the undergraduate level.

Required Qualifications: Applicants must hold a Ph.D., in political science or a related field at the time the appointment begins (August 10, 2023). The successful candidate will have excellent preparation; will possess a demonstrated commitment to producing high-level scholarship and outstanding classroom teaching; will help the Department bring new perspectives to its research profile and curricular offerings; and will be interested in mentoring student research or conducting collaborative research with students.

Preferred Qualifications: Previous experience in teaching and mentoring successful undergraduate research and evidence of scholarly achievement or demonstrated potential as a scholar are preferred.

Applicants must apply online at <https://jobs.wm.edu>. Submit a curriculum vitae, a cover letter, a statement describing previous professional experience or future plans (or both) that demonstrate a commitment to diversity and inclusion, a statement of teaching interests, a statement of research interests, evidence of teaching effectiveness, and a writing sample. You will be prompted to submit online the names and email addresses of three references who will be contacted by the system with instructions for how to submit a letter of reference.

For full consideration, submit application materials by October 1, 2022. Applications received after the review date will be considered if needed.

William & Mary offers our employees a full array of benefits including retirement, health insurance with options for expanded dental and vision along with group and optional life insurance with coverage for spouse and children, flexible spending accounts, and an EAP (Employee Assistance Program).

Our employees enjoy additional university benefits such as educational assistance, professional development, wellness benefits, and a robust holiday schedule. All employees have access to fitness facilities on campus. Staff members also have access to the university libraries, and much more. To learn more, go to: <https://www.wm.edu/offices/hr/currentemployees/benefits/index.php>

Start Date: Summer 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/1/2022

Salary: $80,000 - $89,999

eJobs ID: 10824

Princeton University

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Associate

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Public Policy

Specializations: Economic Policy, International Political Economy, International Law & Organizations

The Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance (NCGG) at Princeton University's School of Public and International Affairs invites applications for a postdoctoral or more senior research associate position from individuals with a Ph.D. degree or who expect to receive a Ph.D. degree by September 1, 2023, for the 2023-2024 academic year. These awards are designed to promote basic research in the broad areas of international and comparative political economy, international organization and global governance, and globalization. Research on the causes and consequences of globalization, the political economy of foreign trade, monetary and regulatory policies, the sources of international cooperation at the global and regional level, the domestic and international politics of economic development, the political economy of human security issues, the evolution and impact of international institutions, and the politics of international law and human rights policies are of relevance. Outstanding scholars anywhere in the world are eligible to apply. The Center invites candidates with a background in political science, economics, modern history, sociology, anthropology, law, business, and other disciplines bearing on the study of globalization to apply. Selected candidates will be required to be in residence in Princeton or the local vicinity, or demonstrate to the program's satisfaction the ability to be on campus on a daily basis and on short notice in order to fulfill responsibilities relating to in-person participation, office hours, and related activities for the duration of the fellowship (September 1, 2023 - July 1, 2024).

Application Deadline - Applicants should apply by Saturday, November 19, 2022 (11:59 pm EST) for full consideration; however, posting will remain open until filled.

Application Process - All candidates must use the online application process to submit materials at: <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/26881>.

Applicants are required to hold a Ph.D. or expect to receive a Ph.D. degree by September 1, 2023, in one of the above-mentioned disciplines. To apply, please provide the following:

- Cover letter explaining the candidate's scholarly career, prospective or actual doctoral defense date, and academic interests;
- Current curriculum vitae, including publications;
- 2,000-word description of the proposed research project, including its specific objectives, importance, and research design;
- One writing sample (limit of 100 pages);
- Contact information for three references, who will be asked to comment specifically on the applicant's qualifications for the proposed research project. Referees will be contacted directly by email with instructions for submitting a confidential recommendation on your behalf. Letters of reference are to be submitted by the end of business day on Wednesday, November 23, 2022. Complete your application well before the deadline so that references can be submitted on time.

Salary – Rank and salary will be contingent on qualifications. NCGG Fellows will receive applicable Princeton University benefits, a taxable moving allowance, and a $5,000 research fund. This is a one-year appointment.

Successful applicants will be notified of the outcome of their application in February 2023. This position is subject to the University's background check policy.

For more information about the Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance fellowship program, please contact Jennifer Bolton, Assistant Director, at nccg@princeton.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 11/19/2022

Date Posted: 9/1/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10743

Princeton University

Rank: Visiting Fellowship Program

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Public Policy

Specializations: Economic Policy, International Political Economy, International Law & Organizations

The Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance (NCGG) at Princeton University's School of Public and International Affairs seeks up to eight visitors for the 2023-2024 academic year in the Visiting Fellowship Program. These awards are designed to promote basic research in the broad areas of international and comparative political economy, international organization and global governance, and globalization. Research on the causes and consequences of globalization, the political economy of foreign trade, monetary and regulatory policies, the sources of international cooperation at the global and regional level, the domestic and international politics of economic development, the political economy of human security issues, the evolution and impact of international institutions, and the politics of international law and human rights policies are of relevance.

Outstanding scholars anywhere in the world are eligible to apply. The Center invites candidates with a background in political science, economics, modern history, sociology, anthropology, law, business, and other disciplines bearing on the study of globalization to apply. Fellows will be required to be in residence in Princeton or the local vicinity, or demonstrate to the program's satisfaction the ability to be on campus daily for the duration of the fellowship (September 1, 2023 - July 1, 2024).

Application Deadline – Applicants should apply by Saturday, November 19, 2022 (11:59 pm EST) for full consideration; however, posting will remain open until filled.

Application Process – All candidates must use the online application process to submit materials at: <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/26901>.

Applicants are required to hold a Ph.D. in one of the above-mentioned disciplines. To apply, please provide the following:

- Cover letter explaining the candidate's scholarly career, prospective or actual doctoral defense date, and academic interests;
- Current curriculum vitae, including publications;
- 2,000-word description of the proposed research project, including its specific objectives, importance, and research design;
- One writing sample (limit of 100 pages);
- Contact information for three references, who will be asked to comment specifically on the applicant's qualifications for the proposed research project. Referees will be contacted directly by email with instructions for submitting a confidential recommendation on your behalf. Letters of reference are to be submitted by the end of the business day (5 pm EST) on Wednesday, November 23, 2022. Complete your application well before the deadline so that references can be submitted on time.

Candidates who hold positions at academic institutions may also be required to submit:

- Home institution policy with regard to sabbatical pay;

- Selected candidates will be asked to either submit a confidential statement indicating their salary for the current academic year (September 2022 - July 1, 2023) or provide written authorization for Princeton to confirm their salary.

Salary – Rank and salary will be contingent on qualifications. NCGG Fellows will receive applicable Princeton University benefits, a taxable moving allowance, and a $5,000 research fund.

Successful applicants will be notified of the outcome of their application in February 2023.

For more information about the Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance fellowship program, please contact Jennifer Bolton, Assistant Director, at nccgg@princeton.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 11/19/2022

Date Posted: 9/1/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10744

Virginia Military Institute

Rank: Assistant Professor of International Studies and Political Science

Specializations: Latin American, Africa, Middle East

Assistant Professor of International Studies and Political Science

The Virginia Military Institute's Department of International Studies and Political Science (IS) announces a full-time, tenure-track assistant professor of comparative politics, beginning 01 August 2023. To be considered for this position, candidates must have completed their PhD requirements by Spring 2023. The successful candidate will demonstrate a capacity to teach the Department's required undergraduate-level course on quantitative political science research methodology. In addition, the successful candidate will possess a substantive and/or geographic specialization that augments the existing strengths of the department's faculty, including (but not limited to) the politics or international relations of Latin America, Africa, or the Middle East. Preference will also be given to those candidates who provide evidence of their potential to develop and maintain a vibrant research agenda and to apply their research in the undergraduate classroom. These endeavors are highly valued and well-supported at VMI. The teaching load is 3/3. Information on the IS Department and curriculum can be found at <https://www.vmi.edu/academics/departments/international-studies-and-political-science/>.

Qualifications: A Ph.D. in Political Science or International Relations at the time of application is preferred, but ABD applicants expecting to complete their dissertation prior to appointment will be considered. Teaching experience at the undergraduate level, with demonstrated evidence of effectiveness, is required.

Applicants should complete an application and submit a cover letter summarizing their interest in the position and qualifications, a curriculum vitae, and graduate transcripts online at: <https://virginiajobs.peopleadmin.com/postings/311143>

Separately, applicants should submit three letters of recommendation via e-mail to the VMI International Studies Department Head, Dennis Foster, at fosterdm@vmi.edu.

To receive full consideration, all application materials should be submitted by 20 October 2022. Review of applications will begin immediately, and will continue until the position is filled. Finalist interviews will be conducted on campus and in-person, as permitted by the public health situation.

Virginia Military Institute is a state-supported four-year undergraduate military college of liberal arts, engineering, and the sciences. It is located in the southern Shenandoah Valley of Virginia. Lexington, population 7,000, is also home to Washington and Lee University and offers a stimulating cultural atmosphere in a pleasant, rural setting.

In a continuing effort to enrich its academic environment and provide equal educational and employment opportunities, VMI encourages women, minorities, disabled individuals and veterans to apply. AmeriCorps, Peace Corps and other national service alumni are also encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 10/20/2022

Date Posted: 8/31/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10814

Centro de Investigacion y Docencia Economicas

Rank: Three tenure track positions (Three Assistant Professorships)

Assistant Professor Position

Political Studies Division

Center for Economics Research and Teaching (CIDE)

Mexico City

The Division of Political Studies at CIDE invites applications for three tenure-track positions at its campus in Mexico City. The position is open to any topic and any subfield, however, we are interested in scholars specialized in political economy, quantitative research methods, and comparative institutions. Women and minorities are strongly encouraged to apply. While immediate fluency in Spanish is not required, the successful applicants are expected to teach classes in Spanish one year after their appointment.

CIDE is a social-science research institute, teaching graduate and undergraduate programs in small groups. The position offers a lower-than-average teaching load, as the faculty's main focus is on research publications. For more details, please contact Víctor Hernández (victor.hernandez@cide.edu) or María Inclán (maria.inclan@cide.edu), who are coordinating this year's search.

Candidates should provide: (1) a short cover letter; (2) a detailed curriculum vitae; (3) a writing sample; and (4) two letters of reference. When sending your application, we ask you to please specify how did you get to know our job posting. Applications should be sent to politics.jobs@cide.edu. Review of applications will begin September 30, 2022, and job interviews will start soon thereafter. Later applications are not guaranteed full consideration. Employment would begin no later than August 2023. The successful candidates are required to hold a PhD before starting employment.

Department's website: <https://www.cide.edu/dep/>

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/30/2022

Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 10760

University of Richmond

Rank: Assistant Professor of Leadership Studies

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, International Relations

The University of Richmond's Jepson School of Leadership Studies (JLS) invites applications for a full-time tenure-track position at the rank of Assistant Professor to begin in the 2023-24 academic year.

The successful candidate must be a quantitative social scientist who will have completed a Ph.D. by August 16, 2023 in anthropology, economics, political science, psychology, sociology, or a related field. We will consider candidates whose demonstrated scholarly work considers how institutions or cultural norms structure leadership and/or decision-making. Successful candidates' specific areas of expertise might include (but are not limited to): whether or how leaders matter, collective intelligence, institutional decision-making, collective action problems, political polarization, institutional change, or cultural evolution.

JLS is a collaborative, inclusive community of scholars with representation from diverse humanities and social science disciplines. Applicants should have the potential and desire to teach in our interdisciplinary undergraduate liberal arts environment (see <http://jepson.richmond.edu/for> more information). The successful candidate will be expected to teach elective courses related to his or her disciplinary training and to contribute to the curriculum by teaching such required courses as Leadership and the Social Sciences, Quantitative Social Science, and Theories and Models of Leadership.

The University of Richmond is a private university located just a short drive from downtown Richmond, Virginia. Through its five schools (including JLS) and wide array of campus programming, the University combines the best qualities of a small liberal arts college and a large university. With approximately 4,000 students, an 8:1 student-faculty ratio, and more than 90% of traditional undergraduate students living on campus, the University is remarkably student-centered, focused on preparing students "to live lives of purpose, thoughtful inquiry, and responsible leadership in a global and pluralistic society."

Applicants should apply online at <http://jobs.richmond.edu> and submit a curriculum vitae, cover letter, and teaching statement. In their cover letter, candidates should demonstrate how their scholarly and teaching interests bear on institutional or cultural determinants of leadership and/or decision-making. In addition, applicants should specify in their cover letters how they are prepared to contribute to the unique, interdisciplinary environment at JLS and to diversity and inclusion. Please also include the names and emails of three references. We will let candidates know in advance if their references will be asked to submit letters (to the University's Human Resources department at URHR@richmond.edu). The teaching statement should articulate the candidate's teaching philosophy and experience, particularly as they relate to the courses the successful candidate is expected to teach.

Applications are due by October 31. Zoom interviews will be conducted in November. We anticipate inviting candidates to campus early 2023.

Start Date: Fall 2023
Application Deadline: 10/31/2022
Date Posted: 8/29/2022
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 10795

Chapman University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

The Wilkinson College of Arts, Humanities, and Social Sciences at Chapman University invites applications for an assistant professor of political science (tenure-track) with area expertise in the Middle East to begin in Fall 2023.

The successful applicant will possess an active research agenda and a strong commitment to undergraduate teaching. Candidates should be prepared to teach upper-level courses that situate the Middle East in the international arena, as well as introductory courses in international relations, comparative politics, or the subfield of their expertise.

Chapman University is a nationally-ranked institution offering traditional undergraduate and graduate programs in the heart of Orange County, one of Southern California's most diverse and vibrant regions. The University has achieved R2 status in the Carnegie Classification of Institutions of Higher Education, a distinction held by just 10 percent of all U.S. universities. Our faculty include academic leaders who excel in research, publishing, and world-class teaching in our 11 schools and colleges. Dedicated to forward-looking, personalized education, we create an environment for unlimited achievement by both our students and faculty.

Qualifications

We seek candidates whose research agendas bridge theory and practice in the contemporary world, and who can therefore contribute to experiential learning programs and other efforts to advance Chapman University's mission of developing global citizens. Some preference will be given to candidates who are familiar with the language(s) and culture(s) of the MENA region. Requirements include a Ph.D. in a relevant field from an accredited University at the time of hire, evidence of promising scholarly work, and a record of effective and innovative teaching.

Responsibilities

The successful candidate will develop and teach upper-level courses that situate the Middle East in the international arena, as well as introductory courses in international relations, comparative politics, or the subfield of their expertise their area of expertise. Tenure-track faculty members are expected to develop and maintain an active research agenda and are evaluated on their research/scholarly/creative activity, teaching, and service.

Required Application Materials

Qualified applicants should electronically submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, statement of research (2 pages max), statement of teaching philosophy (2 pages max), a Chapman faculty employment application, and have three references sent, to:

John Compton, Ph.D., Search Committee Chair

Care of Academic Jobs Online: <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/22512>

For inquiries about this position please email Talisa Flores at flores@chapman.edu. Use "Political Science Position" as the email subject line.

Application review begins September 19 and continues until the position is filled. Writing and syllabi samples may be requested after the initial review of applications by the search committee. Salary is competitive and commensurate with experience. Chapman University offers a relocation expense reimbursement package as well as a first-time Orange County homebuyer assistance program. Successful completion of a background check is required for the final candidate. This position is subject to final budget approval.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 9/19/2022

Date Posted: 8/26/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10791

Louisiana State University

Rank: Assistant Professor

APPLY HERE: https://lsu.wd1.myworkdayjobs.com/LSU/job/LSU---Baton-Rouge/Assistant-Professor_R00070962

The Department of Political Science of Louisiana State University invites applicants for an Assistant Professor position in Comparative Politics, beginning in the fall of 2023. Sub-field specialization is open. Pending final approval, the position will be full-time, tenure-track, with a 2-2 teaching load. Candidates should be prepared to teach both undergraduate and graduate courses. Required Qualifications: Ph.D. in Political Science or related field by the Fall of 2023. Candidates with Ph.D. in hand are preferred, but we will consider those who are close to completion and will finish by the time of the appointment. An active and rigorous research agenda is critical, as well as a commitment to teaching at both the undergraduate and graduate levels. Experience working in and an ability to contribute to a multicultural setting is essential. Application materials should include a letter of application stating the candidate's research and teaching interests, a curriculum vitae, a writing sample, a research statement, a teaching statement, any teaching materials (e.g., course evaluations and syllabi), and a diversity statement addressing commitment to inclusivity and support for diverse populations in their past efforts and plans for future inclusiveness in teaching and research. In addition, three current letters of recommendation should be sent directly to Robert Hogan, Chair, Department of Political Science, 240 Stubbs, Louisiana State University, Baton Rouge, LA 70803-5433 or by email to polisci@lsu.edu. Review of applications will begin on September 19, 2022. Salary for the appointment will be commensurate with educational preparation and experience. Women and minorities are encouraged to apply. LSU is an equal access/equal opportunity employer.

Job Summary:

Tenure-track position that teaches both undergraduate and graduate students, maintains an active research agenda with regular publications, and participates in departmental, college, and university service activities commensurate with rank.

Job Responsibilities:

Teach graduate or undergraduate courses and hold regular office hours. Supervise graduate assistant(s) if assigned. - 50%

Maintain an active research agenda with regular publications. - 50%

Minimum Qualifications:

Ph.D. in Political Science or related or equivalent field.

Additional Job Description:

Special Instructions:

Please attach CV/resume, cover letter, and the names of three professional references. A copy of your transcripts may be attached to your application (if available). However, official transcripts are required prior to hire.

Please attach all documents under the "Resume/CV" section of your application. Attachments are limited to five.

Additional Position Information:

Background Check - An offer of employment is contingent on a satisfactory pre-employment background check.

Benefits - LSU offers outstanding benefits to eligible employees and their dependents including health, life, dental, and vision insurance; flexible spending accounts; retirement options; various leave options; paid holidays; wellness benefits; tuition exemption for qualified positions; training and development opportunities; employee discounts; and more!

LSU is an Equal Opportunity Employer:

LSU believes diversity, equity, and inclusion enrich the educational experience of our students, faculty, and staff, and are necessary to prepare all people to thrive personally and professionally in a global society. We celebrate diversity and are committed to the principles of diversity and inclusion. We actively seek and encourage qualified applications from persons with diverse backgrounds, cultures and experiences. To learn more about how LSU is committed to diversity and inclusivity, please see LSU's Diversity Statement and Roadmap. Persons needing accommodations or assistance with the accessibility of materials related to this search are encouraged to contact the Office of Human Resource Management (hr@lsu.edu).

HCM Contact Information:

Questions or concerns can be directed to the LSU Human Resources Management Office at 225-578-8200 or emailed HR@lsu.edu

Start Date: Fall 2023

Date Posted: 8/26/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10786

SUNY, University at Buffalo

Rank: Assistant/Associate Professor

The Department of Political Science, University at Buffalo, The State University of New York seeks an Associate or advanced Assistant Professor in American or Comparative Politics focusing on democratic processes and electoral phenomena.

We welcome applicants whose specialties are related to the study of democratic processes, democratic transition, consolidation, and regression, and specifically to the study of phenomena associated with elections. Issues of election reform, electoral integrity, and violence are central to the functioning of democracy both in the US and abroad. While elections are a central pillar of democratic legitimacy and consolidation, they can also serve as targets for instability incited by groups intent on bringing about democratic backsliding. All applicants studying democratic processes in these and related research areas are invited to apply.

This hire will be one of two new faculty members who study the topics noted above in the American or foreign/comparative contexts. The second hire will be at the Full Professor rank. Candidates that match the Department's strength in quantitative methods of analysis and formal modeling are especially welcome. Teaching will include political science courses at the undergraduate and graduate levels. Normal departmental, university and disciplinary service duties are expected. We encourage applications from Associate Professors and advanced Assistant Professors. Salary and start-up will be competitive and commensurate with rank.

The faculty in the Department of Political Science understand the value and importance of diversity. We are committed to providing an open, supportive, and inclusive environment for all of our students, faculty, and staff members, consistent with the University's commitment to inclusive excellence. Women and underrepresented candidates are encouraged to apply.

A letter of application, a vita, and three letters of recommendation must be submitted electronically at <https://www.ubjobs.buffalo.edu/postings/36989>. Applicants are encouraged to apply by October 31st to receive full consideration, although application review will begin immediately. Questions about the position can be directed to Dr. Elena McLean by email at elenamcl@buffalo.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/26/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10783

SUNY, University at Buffalo

Rank: Professor

The Department of Political Science, University at Buffalo, The State University of New York seeks a Full Professor in American or Comparative Politics focusing on democratic processes and electoral phenomena.

We welcome applicants whose specialties are related to the study of democratic processes, democratic transition, consolidation, and regression, and specifically to the study of phenomena associated with elections. Issues of election reform, electoral integrity, and violence are central to the functioning of democracy both in the US and abroad. While elections are a central pillar of democratic legitimacy and consolidation, they can also serve as targets for instability incited by groups intent on bringing about democratic backsliding. All applicants studying democratic processes in these and related research areas are invited to apply.

This hire will be one of two new faculty members who study the topics noted above in the American or foreign/comparative contexts.

The second hire will be at the Associate/Advanced Assistant Professor rank. Candidates that match the Department's strength in quantitative methods of analysis and formal modeling are especially welcome. The candidates will be expected to contribute to the Department's PhD program. Teaching will include political science courses at the undergraduate and graduate levels. Normal departmental, university and disciplinary service duties are expected. We encourage applications from Full Professors and Associate Professors with records appropriate for promotion. Salary and start-up will be competitive and commensurate with rank.

The faculty in the Department of Political Science understand the value and importance of diversity. We are committed to providing an open, supportive, and inclusive environment for all of our students, faculty, and staff members, consistent with the University's commitment to inclusive excellence. Women and underrepresented candidates are encouraged to apply.

A letter of application and a vita must be submitted electronically at <https://www.ubjobs.buffalo.edu/postings/36991>. Applicants are encouraged to apply by October 31st to receive full consideration, although application review will begin immediately. Questions about the position can be directed to Dr. Elena McLean by email at elenamcl@buffalo.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/26/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10784

Lafayette College

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of Government and Law at Lafayette College invites applications for a tenure-track position in comparative politics/international relations at the rank of Assistant Professor commencing July 1, 2023. The Department seeks candidates with regional specialization in African politics and topical specialization in one or more of the following: political economy and development; ethnic conflict, transitional justice, and post-conflict processes; migration, immigration, and diaspora studies; and/or post-colonial studies and state building. Applicants should possess a Ph.D. in political science (or closely related field) or demonstrate that the Ph.D. is near completion. The successful candidate will teach Introduction to Comparative Politics, as well as intermediate and advanced courses in their areas of expertise. The successful candidate will also be expected to contribute to the College's interdisciplinary programs and maintain an active research agenda. The Department especially welcomes applications from candidates who will contribute to Lafayette's commitment to diversity and inclusion. The teaching load is four courses (normally, two each semester) during the first year and five courses each year thereafter.

Applications should include a letter of intent that contains a statement of teaching philosophy and scholarly interests, curriculum vitae, sample of scholarly work, graduate school transcript, evidence of teaching ability (including, if available, syllabi and teaching evaluations), and arrange to send three letters of recommendation. In the letter of intent, applicants should address the ways in which their teaching, scholarship, and/or community engagement will advance Lafayette College's commitment to diversity and inclusion articulated in the college's diversity statement (<https://diversity.lafayette.edu/diversity-statement/>).

Please upload application material electronically through Interfolio at <http://apply.interfolio.com/112095>. Review of applications will begin on September 26, 2022 and continue until the position is filled. Questions may be directed to the Search Committee Chair, Associate Professor Il Hyun Cho (choi@lafayette.edu).

Located within 70 miles of New York City and Philadelphia, Lafayette College is a highly selective undergraduate liberal arts and engineering institution with significant resources to support faculty members in their teaching and scholarship. Lafayette is deeply committed to creating a diverse community, one that is inclusive and responsive and is supportive of each and all of its faculty, students, and staff. All members of the College community share in the responsibility for creating, maintaining, and developing a learning environment in which difference is valued, equity is sought, and inclusiveness is practiced. All Lafayette operations reflect the College's commitment to Diversity, Equity, Access, and Inclusion (DEAI) initiatives, and Lafayette welcomes applicants from diverse backgrounds.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/24/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10768

West Chester University

Rank: Tenure-Track Assistant Professor of International Relations and Global Studies

Join a vibrant campus community whose excellence is reflected in its diversity and student success. The Department of Political Science invites applicants for a full-time, tenure-track, Assistant Professor of International Relations and Global Studies position to begin in August 2023.

West Chester University, a member of the Pennsylvania State System of Higher Education, is a public, comprehensive institution committed to offering high-quality undergraduate education, selected post-baccalaureate and graduate programs, and a variety of educational and cultural resources for its students, alumni, and citizens of southeastern Pennsylvania. The University offers more than 100 graduate and undergraduate programs in the sciences and mathematics, business and public management, arts and humanities, health sciences, education and social work, music, and interdisciplinary studies. We are a community of educators dedicated to developing graduates who succeed personally and professionally and contribute to the common good.

The mission of the Department of Political Science, part of the College of Sciences and Mathematics, is to promote scholarship and responsible citizenship by providing a comprehensive curriculum that exposes students to the principal subfields of the discipline and encourage critical analysis and communication skills. The department's faculty are actively involved in research, teaching, and applied scholarship. They mentor students by encouraging academic challenge and civic involvement in an environment that values diversity.

The ideal candidate's experience, substantive specializations, and pedagogical training will serve to strengthen the department's mission and vision. The faculty member will use innovative teaching skills and demonstrate attention to the learning and teaching needs of the students; and teach undergraduate and/or graduate courses offered in-person and online in both synchronous and asynchronous formats.

The faculty member will collaborate with other departmental faculty and staff.

RESPONSIBILITIES INCLUDE:

Teach undergraduate and/or graduate level courses in the areas of International Relations, Comparative Politics, Global Studies, and regional & transnational focus on issues related to Human Rights, Sustainable Development, Energy Policies, and Climate Change. Additional courses within area of specialization may be assigned based on departmental needs.

Engage in scholarly activities such as research, presentations, and publications.

Serve the University and the community through participation in various committees.

Mentoring and advising students.

Other duties as assigned.

Minimum Qualifications:

Ph.D. in Political Science (ABD may be considered. Must be completed on or before August 2023).

Experience teaching courses in International Relations, Comparative Politics, and/or Global Studies.

Experience teaching specialized courses in Middle East, North Africa, Sub-Saharan Africa, and/or transnational issues.

Preferred Qualifications:

Experience developing course curriculum.

Ability to develop specialized courses in International Relations, Comparative Politics, and /or Global Studies.

Experience with innovative pedagogies.

Special Instructions:

Apply online at <https://www.schooljobs.com/careers/wcupa>. Incomplete applications will not be reviewed.

Review of applications will begin October 10, 2022 and continue until the position has been filled.

Finalist must successfully complete an interview, teaching demonstration, and research presentation.

To be considered as an applicant for this position, please submit the following:

Cover letter (Describing teaching and research interests)

Curriculum vitae

Sample syllabus

Evidence of teaching effectiveness (Such as student class evaluations and peer or supervisor observations)

List of three references with contact information

Unofficial graduate transcripts (Official transcripts will be required at a later date)

Diversity statement (See below)

Commitment to Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion:

West Chester University has joined EAB's Moon Shot initiative for Equity in Higher education. This initiative is designed to support faculty, students, and staff who are typically excluded and therefore are underrepresented. As part of your application for a tenure-track faculty position, we request a Diversity Statement. This request highlights our department's commitment to promote diversity and inclusiveness and to cultivate a campus environment that welcomes all. This commitment reflects the Diversity Theme of West Chester University's Strategic Plan and supports initiatives of our Office of Diversity, Equity and Inclusion (WCU Diversity Equity Inclusion). We expect that each applicant's statement will be unique, as informed by their own experiences and goals. Some topics you might address in a 1-2-page statement include the following: (1) How have you supported diversity and inclusion in your interactions with others in classroom and research environments? (2) What have you done to help students from diverse communities (such as underrepresented minorities, non-traditional, LGBTQ, veteran, rural, and/or first generation) succeed, including any programs for these students in which you have participated? (3) Describe your commitment to working toward achieving equity and enhancing diversity at WCU. How might you contribute to our current diversity initiatives, and do you have any other ideas to help promote equity on our campus?

All offers of employment are subject to and contingent upon satisfactory completion of all preemployment criminal background checks.

Developing and sustaining a diverse faculty and staff advances West Chester University's educational mission and strategic Plan for Excellence. West Chester University is an Affirmative Action – Equal Opportunity Employer. Women, minorities, veterans, and individuals with disabilities are encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/24/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10771

University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign

Rank: Political Institutions

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, Methodology

The Department of Political Science at the University of Illinois, Urbana-Champaign invites applications for a full-time tenure stream Assistant/ Associate/Full Professor positions with a focus on the study of political institutions, broadly defined. We anticipate considering candidates primarily from the American Politics subfield but encourage candidates from related fields whose research tackles the analysis of institutions or institutional power to apply as well. Expertise in statistical methods is desirable. Successful candidates are expected to teach effectively at both the undergraduate and graduate levels, establish and maintain an active and independent research program, and provide service to the department, the university, and the profession. We especially encourage applications from members of historically underrepresented groups in the field.

Applicants at the Assistant Professor level must demonstrate evidence of a promising research agenda and a commitment to undergraduate and graduate teaching. Applicants at the Associate/Full Professor level must have an established record in research, teaching, and service. Ph.D. in Political Science or related field required. Target start date is August 16, 2023. Salary is commensurate with rank and qualifications.

The Illinois College of Liberal Arts and Sciences is a world leader in research, teaching, and public engagement. Faculty in the College create knowledge, address critical societal needs through the transfer and application of knowledge, and prepare students for lives of impact in the state, nation, and globally. To meet these objectives, the College embraces and values diversity and difference through hiring faculty candidates who can contribute through their research, teaching, and/or service to the diversity and excellence of the Illinois community.

We have an active and successful dual-career partner placement program and a strong commitment to work-life balance and family-friendly programs for faculty and staff (<http://provost.illinois.edu/>

faculty-affairs/work-life-balance/). To find out more about the resources available at the university and Urbana-Champaign community please visit these sites:

Dual Career Program

Benefits

Living in Champaign-Urbana

To apply, create your candidate profile through <https://jobs.illinois.edu> and upload your application materials by September 20, 2022: letter of application, CV, a representative publication, statement of teaching and research interests, and a diversity statement. The Department will contact applicants electronically 1-2 business days after submission of the application to request the names and emails for three professional references. Reference writers will be contacted after this information has been provided by the applicant.

Only applications submitted through the University of Illinois Job Board will be considered. Questions about the position or application procedures may be directed to the faculty search coordinator at pol@illinois.edu.

The University of Illinois must also comply with applicable federal export control laws and regulations and, as such, reserves the right to employ restricted party screening procedures for applicants.

The University of Illinois System is an equal opportunity employer, including but not limited to disability and/or veteran status, and complies with all applicable state and federal employment mandates. Please visit Required Employment Notices and Posters to view our non-discrimination statement and find additional information about required background checks, sexual harassment/misconduct disclosures, COVID-19 vaccination requirement, and employment eligibility review through E-Verify.

Applicants with disabilities are encouraged to apply and may request a reasonable accommodation under the Americans with Disabilities Act (2008) to complete the application and/or interview process. Requests may be submitted through the reasonable accommodations portal, or by contacting the Accessibility & Accommodations Division of the Office for Access and Equity at 217-333-0885, or by emailing accessibility@illinois.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 9/20/2022

Date Posted: 8/23/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10759

Sam Houston State University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science (Comparative Politics)

The Department of Political Science at Sam Houston State University (SHSU) invites applications for a nine-month Tenure-Track Assistant Professor position in Comparative Politics starting in fall 2023.

The successful candidate will be responsible for teaching three courses per semester and engaging in research/scholarly activities. The successful candidate will also be expected to participate in service activities such as program and curriculum development, face-to-face and online course development, and student recruitment and engagement.

We are especially looking for scholars who can offer Latin American and general comparative politics courses and whose research focuses on one or more of the following areas in a comparative perspective:

Democratization, Democratic Backsliding, Populism, Authoritarian Politics, Immigration, and Comparative Political Economy, broadly construed. Demonstrated competency in one or more Latin American languages will be considered a plus.

Educational Requirements for the Position

The selected candidate must have a Ph.D. in hand by the start date (August 2023). ABD applicants will be considered but must have a granted Ph.D. upon arrival. (August 2023).

Experience Required for the Position

- Demonstrates evidence of ability and desire to teach and establish research/scholarly projects in Latin American Politics and at least one of the following subject areas: 1) Democratization and Democratic Backsliding; 2) Populism; 3) Authoritarian Politics; 4) Immigration, and 5) Comparative Political Economy.
- Applicants must be able to demonstrate the skills and interest in teaching undergraduate and graduate online courses.

Required Application Materials

- Ph.D. in political science or related discipline by August 2023
- Cover Letter that identifies their interests, qualifications, and experience for the position.
- The current CV includes, if applicable, a summary of previous teaching experience and the format of each course taught (i.e., face-to-face, online, hybrid).
- All graduate transcripts – unofficial transcripts will be accepted during the application process. However, the successful candidate must submit official transcripts documenting all post-secondary degrees.
- If available, recent student teaching evaluations cover the last two semesters of teaching. Those without teaching evaluations will need to upload a placeholder document in lieu of evaluations.
- Teaching statement, including a discussion of online pedagogy. If available, sample syllabi for relevant courses.
- Diversity statement discussing how the applicant would engage Sam Houston State University's diverse student population and meet the College of Humanities and Social Sciences' core goals.
- Three letters of recommendation from supervisors who are familiar with the applicant's teaching abilities and who have worked with the applicant in the past two years.

The search committee will start to review applications on October 3rd, 2022. The application process will remain open until the position is filled. Please direct questions to Dr. Dennis Weng (dennis.weng@shsu.edu).

To be considered, you must apply online at: <https://shsu.peopleadmin.com/postings/32437>

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/22/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10755

University of Louisville

Rank: Endowed Chair of Asian Democracy/Assistant or Associate Professor of Political Science

Specializations: Southeast Asia, South Asia, East Asia

The Department of Political Science at the University of Louisville is now accepting applications for an Endowed Chair in Asian Democracy, with an appointment to begin in Fall 2023. Applicants with an active research focus on dynamics of democratization or human rights in the region will be strong candidates. The search is open with regard to geographic focus within the region, as well as research methodology.

The department welcomes applicants for the rank of either Assistant or Associate Professor. Candidates who are ABD will be considered, but College policy requires completion of the PhD by February 15th of the first probationary year.

The Endowed Chair will also join the University of Louisville's Center for Asian Democracy. The Endowed Chair's role within the Center for Asian Democracy will be contingent upon rank and relevant candidate experience. Candidates at the rank of Assistant Professor would not be expected to take on significant service responsibilities within the Center before tenure review.

Candidates for the rank of Associate Professor should have a demonstrated record of research excellence, while candidates for the rank of Assistant Professor should demonstrate significant research potential. The successful candidate will be able to teach upper-level undergraduate and graduate courses related to the Endowed Chair's mission, as well as one introductory-level course in the department. The salary and benefits packages are competitive. Position is subject to final budgetary approval.

The Department of Political Science encourages candidates to apply who have demonstrated capacity to create inclusive work environments and will work effectively on increasingly diverse teams, and will serve the increasingly diverse students we admit and want to attract.

About the University of Louisville's Department of Political Science
The Department of Political Science of the University of Louisville has 19 full-time professors, several of whom are members of the Asian Studies Program, which has twenty faculty affiliates across the College of Arts and Sciences. The Department of Political Science is proud of a diverse and dynamic faculty and student body, with over 500 students enrolled in BA and MA programs. The University of Louisville is a Carnegie-classified R1 metropolitan research university.

About the Center for Asian Democracy

The mission of the Center for Asian Democracy, established in 2006, is to promote research and teaching about democracy and the prospects for democratization in Central, South, Southeast and East Asia. Through publications, conferences, workshops, visiting fellow programs, colloquia, and research projects in Asian countries, the Center creates a forum for studying political dynamics in this vital region.

Application Procedure

All interested candidates must complete two steps to apply. First, all candidates must complete a brief web-based application and attach a CV. This application form and CV upload can be found here: <https://www.higheredjobs.com/institution/details.cfm?JobCode=178064812>. Second, all candidates should submit by email a CV, cover letter, sample of written work, graduate transcripts, and three letters of reference. We ask that in the cover letter, the candidate describe how their research, teaching, or service experiences support inclusive learning and diversity. These materials should be emailed to Dr. Tricia Gray, Chair, Department of Political Science, University of Louisville at polisci@louisville.edu. Priority application deadline is October 1, 2022; application review will continue until the position is filled.

Department faculty will be available for a limited number of informational conversations regarding the position at the 2022 APSA Annual Meeting in Montreal. Potential candidates with an interest in scheduling a meeting should email polisci@louisville.edu with the words "APSA Endowed Chair Meeting Request" in the subject line.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 10/1/2022

Date Posted: 8/22/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10750

University of Minnesota, Twin Cities

Rank: Assistant Professor of Comparative Politics

The Department of Political Science in the College of Liberal Arts at the University of Minnesota-Twin Cities invites applications for a full-time faculty position in Comparative Politics beginning fall semester 2023 (08/28/23). We seek outstanding colleagues committed to scholarly research and teaching at the highest level, and we especially welcome applications from underrepresented groups.

We welcome applications from scholars working in all areas of comparative politics. The search is open with respect to thematic issues and geographic coverage. We have particular needs in the politics of China, Europe, and the Middle East, and in the politics of migration and the environment. In addition, we seek candidates who will advance the department's strategic initiative to explore "democracy under threat," which guides hiring, research, and teaching. We are especially interested in scholars who explore the nature and forms of contemporary threats to democracy and the political, economic, and socio-cultural sources of crises of democratic legitimacy and weakened democratic institutions and governance.

The appointment will be 100% time over the nine-month academic year (late August to late May), and will be made at the rank of tenure-track assistant professor, consistent with collegiate and university policy. Salary is competitive, and dependent on qualifications and experience.

Qualifications:

Required Qualifications:

Ph.D. in political science or related field is required. Advanced ABDs may be considered for appointment at the rank of tenure-track instructor, with the stipulation that the Ph.D. is conferred in the first year of appointment.

Preferred Qualifications:

College/university-level teaching experience is preferred.

Candidates will be evaluated according to (a) overall quality of their academic preparation and scholarly work, (b) contribution of their scholarly research to the department's academic priorities and fields of inquiry, (c) evidence of commitment to teaching and skills as a teacher, and (d) strength of recommendations.

Duties / Responsibilities:

Faculty in the Department of Political Science in the College of Liberal Arts are expected to maintain an active research program, teach and advise undergraduate and graduate students, and contribute service appropriate for the rank of appointment to the department, college, University, and profession.

The Standards for Promotion and Tenure in the Department of Political Science are available at <https://faculty.umn.edu/review-recognition/tenure-review/approved-712-statements>

For information on faculty workload guidelines and principles in the College of Liberal Arts, visit: <https://neighborhood.cla.umn.edu/college-knowledge/workload-principles-and-guidelines>

Application Instructions:

The priority application deadline for the position is September 25, 2022. However, applications will be accepted until the position is filled.

Apply online through the University of Minnesota's Job Center:

<https://hr.umn.edu/Jobs/Find-Job>

- Job Opening ID: 351091
- Job Posting Title: Assistant Professor of Political Science (Comparative Politics)
- Job Code: 9403
- Jobs Posted Within: Last Three Months (or greater)
- Keyword(s): Political Science

Applications must be submitted online. To be considered for this position, please click the Apply button and follow the instructions. You will have the opportunity to complete an online application for the position, and attach a cover letter and C.V. Additional documents must be attached to your "My Job Applications" page, by uploading documents in the "My Cover Letters and Attachments" section.

The following required materials must be attached to your online application:

1. Cover letter
2. Curriculum vitae
3. Writing sample (in the candidate's central area of research)
4. Brief statement of research interests
5. Brief statement of teaching philosophy and interests

Additional materials may be requested from candidates at a future date.

In addition to the electronically submitted materials, applicants are asked to arrange for at least three letters of recommendation to be sent directly to the department.

The letters of recommendation may be emailed to psearch@umn.edu, or mailed to:

Comparative Politics Search Committee
Attn: Alexis Cuttance
Department of Political Science
University of Minnesota-Twin Cities
267 19th Avenue South, Room 1414
Minneapolis, MN 55455

For questions about the position, please contact the Department of Political Science, at psearch@umn.edu or (612) 624-4144.

For questions about the application process, or to request an accommodation during the application process, please email employ@umn.edu or call (612) 624-UOHR (8647).

About the Department / College / University:

The Department of Political Science is committed to excellence in graduate and undergraduate education and to the conduct of leading social science research. The department serves 30 faculty in five sub-fields (American Politics, Comparative Politics, International Relations, Political Theory, and Methods), approximately 50 Ph.D. students, 500 undergraduate majors, and 100 undergraduate minors. For further information, please visit the department website, <https://cla.umn.edu/polisci>

Established in 1868, the College of Liberal Arts supports the University of Minnesota's land-grant mission as home to the arts, social sciences and humanities disciplines and programs. CLA comprises 31 academic departments, over 20 interdisciplinary research centers and administrative / support units, and has over 1,200 faculty and staff spanning research, teaching, advising, outreach, and administrative functions. CLA units reside in over 20 buildings on the East Bank and West Bank of the Twin Cities campus, enrolls nearly 14,000 undergraduate students (half of the undergraduate enrollment on the Twin Cities campus), and over 1,600 graduate students. CLA is committed to intellectual freedom, the pursuit of new knowledge, and the belief that the liberal arts are the foundation of academic learning. CLA prepares students to be independent and original thinkers, innovators in their chosen fields; to create meaning in their lives and in their life's work; and to become productive citizens and leaders in their communities and the world.

CLA values diverse cultures, experiences, and perspectives as key to innovation and excellent education. CLA is a destination for curious, compassionate individuals who are committed to making our increasingly interdependent and diverse global community work for everyone. That foundational commitment begins in our CLA Constitution. CLA is committed to increasing enrollment of underrepresented and under-resourced students, diversifying our faculty across all disciplines, recruiting, and retaining a diverse staff, and promoting the expression and exploration of diverse perspectives and viewpoints - so that we all gain the background knowledge and analytical skills we need to understand and respect differences.

Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion in CLA: <https://cla.umn.edu/about/diversity-equity-inclusion-cla>

Founded in 1851, the University of Minnesota, with its five campuses and more than 65,000 students, is one of the largest, most comprehensive universities in the United States, and ranks among the most prestigious research universities in the world. It is both a major research institution, with scholars of national and international reputation, and a state land-grant university, with a strong tradition of education and public engagement.

Any offer of employment is contingent upon the successful completion of a background check. Our presumption is that prospective employees are eligible to work here. Criminal convictions do not automatically disqualify finalists from employment.

Please note: all employees at the University of Minnesota are required to comply with the University's Administrative Policy: COVID-19 Vaccination and Safety Protocol by either providing proof of being fully vaccinated on their first day of employment, or complete a request for an exemption for medical exemption or religious reasons. To learn more please visit: <https://safe-campus.umn.edu/return-campus/get-the-vax>

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/19/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10742

University of Toronto

Rank: Assistant Professor, Politics of Development in the Middle East and North Africa

The Department of Political Science in the Faculty of Arts and Science at the University of Toronto invites applications for a full-time tenure stream position in the Politics of Development in the Middle East and North Africa. The appointment will be at the rank of Assistant Professor, with an expected start date of July 1, 2023, or shortly thereafter.

Applicants must have earned a PhD degree in Political Science or a related area by the time of the appointment, or shortly thereafter, with a demonstrated record of excellence in research and teaching. We seek candidates with a specialization in Development Studies, whose teaching and research focus on the Middle East and North Africa, and who are competent to teach core courses in Development Studies. Candidates must have experience of the MENA region including but not limited to that rooted in having lived, worked or conducted significant fieldwork in this area. They must also possess knowledge of and appropriate skills in one or more languages common to the MENA region, such as Arabic, Farsi, or Turkish. Examples of research areas that are of strong interest to us are the political economy of development, gender, Islam, ethnicity, and migration. We are particularly interested in applicants whose work uses qualitative or mixed methods.

We seek candidates whose research and teaching interests complement and deepen our existing departmental strengths. The successful candidate will undertake undergraduate and graduate teaching responsibilities on the University of Toronto's downtown (St. George) campus. Applicants are encouraged to review the research and teaching profiles of current faculty members. Please visit our home page (Department of Political Science <https://politics.utoronto.ca>) to learn more about us.

The successful candidate will be expected to pursue innovative and independent research at the highest international level and to establish an outstanding, competitive, and externally funded research program. Candidates must provide evidence of research excellence which can be demonstrated by the submitted research statement, a record of publications in top-ranked and field relevant journals or forthcoming publications meeting high international standards, presentations at significant conferences, and awards and accolades, and strong endorsements from referees of high standing.

Evidence of excellence in teaching will be provided through teaching accomplishments, the teaching dossier (with required materials outlined below) submitted as part of the application, as well as strong letters of reference.

Candidates are also expected to show evidence of a commitment to equity, diversity, inclusion, and the promotion of a respectful and collegial learning and working environment demonstrated through the application materials.

Salary will be commensurate with qualifications and experience.

All qualified candidates are invited to apply online by clicking the link below. Applicants must submit a cover letter; a current curriculum vitae; a research statement outlining current and future research interests; a recent writing sample of no more than 30 pages; and a teaching dossier to include a teaching statement, sample course materials, and teaching evaluations. Equity and diversity are essential to academic excellence. We seek candidates who value diversity and whose research, teaching and service bear out our commitment to equity. Candidates are therefore also asked to submit a 1-2 page statement of their contributions to equity and diversity, which might cover (but need not be limited to): research or teaching that incorporates a focus on underrepresented communities, the development of inclusive pedagogies, or the mentoring of students from underrepresented groups.

Applicants must provide the name and contact information of three references. The University of Toronto's recruiting tool will automatically solicit and collect letters of reference from each after an application is submitted (this happens overnight). Applicants remain responsible for ensuring that references submit letters (on letterhead, dated and signed) by the closing date.

Submission guidelines can be found at <http://uoft.me/how-to-apply>. Your CV and cover letter should be uploaded into the dedicated fields. Please combine additional application materials into one or two files in PDF/MS Word format. If you have any questions about this position, please contact Sari Sherman at chair.polisci@utoronto.ca.

All application materials, including reference letters, must be received by September 26, 2022.

All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply; however, Canadians and permanent residents will be given priority.

Diversity Statement

The University of Toronto is strongly committed to diversity within its community and especially welcomes applications from racialized persons / persons of colour, women, Indigenous / Aboriginal People of North America, persons with disabilities, LGBTQ2S+ persons, and others who may contribute to the further diversification of ideas.

As part of your application, you will be asked to complete a brief Diversity Survey. This survey is voluntary. Any information directly related to you is confidential and cannot be accessed by search committees or human resources staff. Results will be aggregated for institutional planning purposes. For more information, please see <http://uoft.me/UP>.

Accessibility Statement

The University strives to be an equitable and inclusive community, and proactively seeks to increase diversity among its community members. Our values regarding equity and diversity are linked with our unwavering commitment to excellence in the pursuit of our academic mission.

The University is committed to the principles of the Accessibility for Ontarians with Disabilities Act (AODA). As such, we strive to make our recruitment, assessment and selection processes as accessible as possible and provide accommodations as required for applicants with disabilities.

If you require any accommodations at any point during the application and hiring process, please contact uoft.careers@utoronto.ca

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 9/26/2022

Date Posted: 8/19/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10734

Moravian University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Comparative Politics

The Moravian University Political Science Department seeks applications for a tenure-track assistant professor of political science whose primary field of training, research, and teaching is comparative politics. Candidates must have completed a PhD or be ABD in political science with degree completion close to August 2023. We require regional expertise in Asia or Latin America, with preference given to Asia. We are looking for a good colleague who is able to give students access to the work of political scientists who study the political world comparatively as well as transformative experiences with culture, travel, and/or other immersive and experiential forms of learning. The successful comparative politics candidate will work closely with political science colleagues in American politics, international politics, and political theory to facilitate a rigorous and rich experience for majors and non-majors. Candidates should have deep regional knowledge and be able to give students knowledge about the world and a critical and informed perspective on the politics of the United States by comparing institutions and ideologies. Preference is given to multilingual candidates who are interested in culture and consciousness as well as institutions and historical events. The political science department at Moravian University emphasizes dedicated teaching and mentoring to prepare students for informed engagement in political and public affairs through a purposeful consideration of the theoretical nature of politics, the ends towards which politics can be directed, and the means employed to achieve those ends. The comparative position contributes to Track 2: global politics and international political awareness, a concentration designed to develop students' understanding of international politics and global political issues through the study of non-US political systems and the practice of politics in nations and regions beyond the United States. The successful candidate may also contribute to interdisciplinary programs such as Women, Gender, and Sexuality Studies, Africana Studies, Peace and Justice Studies.

Moravian University is a member of the New American Colleges and Universities with a commitment to the liberal arts and student-focused pedagogy. Candidates should have a strong commitment to teaching in a residential learning community and should demonstrate a commitment to undergraduate student research and co-curricular student activities. A clear plan for future scholarship is essential. The department also seeks a candidate who will contribute to the intellectual life of the department and the university community at large. The political science department highly values the diversity of candidates from underrepresented groups. Moravian University is located approximately an hour and a half driving distance from both Philadelphia and New York City.

ESSENTIAL FUNCTIONS AND RESPONSIBILITIES:

3:3 teaching position with significant service and scholarship requirements

Teaching foundational introductory and advanced comparative politics courses

Participating in the work and life of the department and university as a vocal force for good

Advising and mentoring students

Supervision of independent studies, honors projects, and summer research projects (SOAR)
 Contributing to institutional priorities beyond the department such as first year writing seminars, the global education initiative, travel courses, and other community needs beyond the department.

QUALIFICATIONS:

PhD (completed or anticipated by the start of Fall 2023) in political science with a primary subfield dedication to comparative politics
 Teaching experience as instructor of record
 Evidence of excellence in teaching
 Evidence of a plan for scholarly inquiry

TO APPLY: Qualified candidates should attach the following documents to their online application by clicking "Apply Now". Please attach documents as a PDF file.

Cover letter including a research statement and considerations regarding teaching at a liberal arts college
 Curriculum vita
 Pedagogical statement
 DEI statement including international considerations
 Two sample syllabi of courses taught as instructor of record
 Two sets of student teaching evaluations
 One sample publication or dissertation chapter
 Three letters of recommendation, including one from the dissertation advisor. Please request letters of recommendation to be submitted directly to politicalscience@moravian.edu

Review of the applications will begin September 15, 2022 and continue until the position is filled. Incomplete applications will not be considered. The deadline to apply is November 1, 2022.

DEI STATEMENT: Moravian University aspires to be a welcoming community that embraces and values the diversity of all members of the campus community. Learn more about the Office for Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion, and the DEI Action Plan here: <https://www.moravian.edu/dei-action-plan>.

Deep respect for others is fundamental to the Moravian University community. Moravian University does not discriminate against any employee, applicant for employment, student, or applicant for admission on the basis of actual or perceived race, ethnicity, color, sex, religion, age, ancestry, national origin, caste, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, genetic information, pregnancy, familial status, marital status, citizenship status, veteran/military status, disability status, or any other protected category under applicable local, state, or federal laws.

Concerns regarding all forms of discrimination, including sexual harassment and/or sex discrimination in employment:

Leah M. Naso
 Executive Director for Equity & Compliance (Title IX Coordinator)
 210 Colonial Hall
 Moravian University
 1200 Main St.
 Bethlehem, Pennsylvania 18018
 (610) 861-1529
equityandcompliance@moravian.edu

Concerns regarding gender and equity in athletics:

Rebecca May
 Assistant Athletic Director (Deputy Title IX Coordinator)
 148 Johnston Hall
 Moravian University
 1200 Main St.
 Bethlehem, Pennsylvania 18018
 (610) 625-7791
mayr@moravian.edu

Concerns regarding the application of Title IX:
 U.S. Department of Education
 Office of Civil Rights
 100 Penn Square East, Suite 515
 Philadelphia, PA 19107-3323
 (215) 656-8541
ocr.philadelphia@ed.gov

Report sexual harassment/sex discrimination online anytime (can be anonymous) at www.moravian.edu/titleix. Grievance procedures can be found in the institutional Equal Opportunity, Harassment, and Non-Discrimination Policy at www.moravian.edu/policy.

Please visit moravian.edu/benefits to review benefits offered at Moravian University.*

WORK ENVIRONMENT:

The work environment characteristics described here are representative of those encountered while performing the essential functions of this job.

The individual is routinely exposed to indoor conditions, minimum outdoor weather and temperature extremes, and moderate noise level.

Pursuant to the ADA, Moravian University will provide reasonable services and accommodation(s) to employees with qualified disabilities in order to perform the essential functions of their employment, except when doing so would be unduly disruptive and/or result in undue hardship to the University. Accommodations are determined on a case-by-case basis through documentation review and an interactive interview process that includes the employee's supervisor. Requests for accommodation or questions about this process should be directed to Human Resources at hr@moravian.edu or 610.861.1527. View the standard physical demands for positions at Moravian University. If this position requires additional or different demands, a Human Resources team member will notify you.

The specific statements shown in each section of this description are not intended to be all-inclusive. They represent typical elements and criteria necessary to successfully perform the job.

*Please visit this link to review the benefit eligibility status associated with this position.

Moravian University offers students a private education they will not find anywhere else: personal attention and preparation for life with a record of success longer than our nation's history. Located in Bethlehem, Pennsylvania and offering undergraduate and graduate degrees that blend liberal arts with professional programs, Moravian University has been preparing students for reflective lives, fulfilling careers, and transformative leadership in a world of change since 1742. Moravian University is a member of The New American Colleges and Universities (NAC&U), a national consortium of selective, small to mid-size independent colleges and universities dedicated to the purposeful integration of liberal education, professional studies, and civic engagement. Visit moravian.edu to learn more about how the Moravian University focus on education for all prepares its students for life-long success.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/18/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10719

Naval Postgraduate School

Rank: Assistant or Associate Professor

Specializations: Africa, Political Economy, International Political Economy

African Politics and Security

Tenure Track

Assistant or Associate Professor

Department of National Security Affairs

Naval Postgraduate School, Monterey, CA

The Department of National Security Affairs at the Naval Postgraduate School seeks applications for a tenure-track appointment at the rank of assistant or associate professor interested in research and teaching in the field of African Politics and Security. Relevant expertise might include African regional security, African political economy, the international politics of development, political institutions and civil society groups in Africa, or great power interests in the region. Candidates should demonstrate a strong potential for teaching excellence and scholarly research. The successful candidate must also be prepared to teach introductory Masters-level courses on International Relations or Comparative Politics, as well as courses in the candidate's specific research specialty, African politics, and African history.

The Naval Postgraduate School is a fully accredited graduate school whose students are drawn from the armed forces and civilian agencies of the United States and other countries. The Department of National Security Affairs is multi-disciplinary, with curricula based on Political Science, International Affairs, Political Economy, and History. Tenure-track professors typically teach a 2-2 load on a quarter system and are expected to maintain an active portfolio of academic research, publishing, and institutional service.

Minimum qualifications:

- An earned doctoral degree from an accredited institution
- Evidence of teaching aptitude
- Evidence of potential to advise student theses and dissertations
- Evidence of strong potential for scholarship leading to scholarly publications

Employment requirements:

- U.S. citizenship is required
 - Background check and eligibility for a Secret-level clearance
- Applications should include a CV, cover letter (including teaching and research interests), official graduate transcripts, and syllabi of relevant courses taught. Candidates should also submit up to three writing samples and three letters of recommendation. These confidential letters of recommendation should be submitted separately. ABDs are welcome to apply with the understanding that the award of a Ph.D. degree is a condition of employment. Review of applications will begin Friday, October 21, 2022 and will continue until the position is filled. Expected start date is in the summer or fall of 2023. Address applications and supporting materials electronically to the National Security Affairs Department at nsadept@nps.edu.

Questions and any other inquiries may be directed to:

Prof. James J. Wirtz

Chair, African Politics and Security Search Committee

Department of National Security Affairs

Naval Postgraduate School

Monterey, CA 93943

jwirtz@nps.edu

Salary is commensurate with qualifications and experience. Relocation package, including recruitment/relocation incentive may be authorized.

The Naval Postgraduate School is an equal opportunity employer. For additional information about NPS, please refer to the website at <http://www.nps.edu>

NOTE: IF YOU ARE A VETERAN, you are strongly encouraged to identify your Veterans' Preference on your resume or elsewhere in your application package (type of preference, dates of service, date of VA letter, character of service, etc.).

Additional Veterans' Information: if you are not sure of your preference eligibility, visit the Department of Labor's website: <http://dol.gov/elaws/vets/vetpref/mbservice.htm>

For more veterans' preference information, visit: <http://www.fedshirevets.gov/job/vetpref/index.aspx>

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 10/21/2022

Date Posted: 8/18/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10731

Ohio State University

Rank: Comparative Politics

Description:

The Department of Political Science at The Ohio State University invites applications in Comparative Politics for one or more positions at the rank of assistant or associate professor. The appointment will begin in Autumn 2023. We are open as to candidates' scholarly focus, including such topics as economic and/or political development; regime dynamics; comparative institutions; courts, crime, and insecurity; social welfare and health; political, social, or economic inequalities; the politics of race or ethnicity; and others. Candidates are expected to have strong methodological training. Scholars who can engage with other programs and interdisciplinary research centers at the university are welcome. Geographic focus is open, although we are particularly interested in candidates with expertise in areas not already covered by faculty in the department.

Qualifications:

Candidates should demonstrate a record of publications and provide evidence of accomplishments in teaching and mentorship. Responsibilities of the position include maintaining a robust research program, including actively seeking external funding, contributing to graduate and undergraduate teaching and mentoring, and engaged service to the university and the profession. Salary will be commensurate with the candidate's experience and qualifications. Applicants must have completed all doctoral degree requirements by the time of their appointment. Appointment is contingent on the university's verification of credentials and other information required by law and/or university policies, including but not limited to a criminal background check. Successful candidates will have a demonstrated commitment towards social equity, diversity, and inclusion. Inquiries may be directed to Professor Marcus Kurtz, at kurtz.61@osu.edu.

About Columbus:

The Ohio State University campus is located in Columbus, the capital city of Ohio. Columbus is the Midwest's fastest-growing city and the nation's 14th largest city. Columbus offers a diverse array of welcoming neighborhoods and a vibrant arts and culture scene. Additional information about all that the Columbus area has to offer is available at <https://visit.osu.edu/experience>.

Application Instructions:

The review of applications will begin on September 15th. Applications will be evaluated as they are received and will be accepted until the positions are filled. To apply, please send a cover letter, curriculum vitae, research statement, teaching statement, diversity statement, job market paper, up to three other papers or chapters, an unofficial graduate transcript, and three professional letters of reference to Academic Jobs Online at <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/22325>. The diversity statement should articulate your demonstrated commitments and capacities to contribute to diversity, equity, and inclusion through research, teaching, mentoring, and/or outreach and engagement.

The Ohio State University is committed to enhancing academic excellence. Recruiting, supporting, and retaining faculty of the highest caliber is a core component of this commitment. In support of this, The Office of Academic Affairs (OAA) has created the Office of Dual Careers and Faculty Relocation (DCFR) to focus on supporting new and prospective faculty. This support includes dual careers services, consultation and resources related to relocation, as well as identifying opportunities to engage on campus and the surrounding community. While employment opportunities are not guaranteed, resources and consultation are available to support the partners of new and prospective faculty as they are considering Ohio State and throughout their transition.

The Ohio State University is committed to establishing a culturally and intellectually diverse environment, encouraging all members of our learning community to reach their full potential. Over the next few years, The Ohio State University is committed to welcoming 350 new faculty hires, many of which will contribute to growing our role as a premier research university equipped to answer and interrogate the critical domestic and global societal challenges that deter equality and inclusion. We are responsive to dual-career families and strongly promote work-life balance to support our community members through a suite of institutionalized policies.

The Ohio State University believes in diversity in people and ideas. What Ohio State does matters. And how we do it matters. When we are at our best, we make a real difference to people. We believe that the university should be a place where people can work and learn together in a safe environment, free of violence, harassment, discrimination, exploitation, and intimidation. As such, finalists for any faculty position that carries tenure must sign an authorization and disclosure form, which will allow current or prior employer(s) to share information to the University regarding any findings of employment-related misconduct or disciplinary proceedings against a candidate and/or any pending investigations related to alleged misconduct. Such information shall include findings and pending investigations with respect to sexual harassment, violence, or harassment; research misconduct; financial fraud or misconduct; foreign influence violations, grant misuse or misconduct; and/or any other type of finding or pending investigation relating to a candidate's employer's policies and rules governing faculty conduct that may reasonably be expected to affect a candidate's appointment. If the University becomes aware of any past finding of misconduct or pending investigations that were not disclosed, Ohio State will treat that as a serious omission and reserves the right to rescind an offer or terminate employment. <https://oaa.osu.edu/faculty-misconduct-reference-check>

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/18/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10728

Air War College

Rank: Professor of International Security Studies

Specializations: International Security, Foreign Policy, International Political Economy

The United States Air War College Department of International Security Studies invites applications for the position of Professor (open rank) of International Security to begin in 2023 (flexible). AWC faculty mentor & instruct senior defense leaders from the US and partner nations. International Relations or Comparative Politics specializations preferred. Substantive expertise in Asia (China, South Asia, Southeast Asia, or Northeast Asia), Russia, Latin America, and/or international political economy is highly desired.

Responsibilities include teaching graduate level seminars in the International Security Studies core curriculum (Great Power Studies and Regional Security Studies focused on either your region of specialization or on US national security); teaching electives in the applicant's area(s) of specialization; curriculum development; advising student research; and service to the institution. Teaching duties approximate a 2/2 teaching load per academic year. Approximate class sizes are 12-16 students per seminar.

Qualifications and Requirements

The position requires university-equivalent teaching experience (graduate-level preferred) and broad knowledge of the subject matter that comprises the AWC curriculum, i.e., global environment, international political structures and strategy; military thought and theory; military history; organization, capabilities, and limitations of armed forces.

A successful candidate would be expected to maintain an active research agenda including the publication of scholarly works such as articles, monographs, and book reviews in peer reviewed scholarly journals, professional journals and other outlets, and presentation of research at appropriate conferences and symposia. There is time and funding available for research and travel for individual areas of expertise or regional specialty.

We are especially interested in candidates whose teaching and research will contribute to the department's commitment to both diversity and academic excellence. We are dedicated to recruiting and retaining a diverse faculty committed to inclusive teaching and scholarship. Applicants should address how they will further these goals in their cover letter.

Applicants must be:

US citizens

Master's degree (required) in national security studies, international relations, government, political science, history, area studies in the region of specialization, or related field.

Able to obtain a Secret clearance.

Application Materials:

Cover Letter

CV

Application form (available through USA Jobs)

Teaching portfolio including a teaching philosophy and evidence of teaching accomplishments (experience and awards)

Diversity Statement including teaching, life experience and/or research interests that contribute to a climate that values and promotes diversity in all its forms

3 Professional References

Academic Transcript from PhD

For more information about the position, and to apply, please visit <https://www.usajobs.gov/job/671707300>

Point of contact: Christopher Paige, 334-953-3781, christopher.paige@au.af.edu

Note: Only applications submitted through USA Jobs will be considered.

Start Date: Spring 2023

Application Deadline: 10/15/2022

Date Posted: 8/17/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10716

Princeton University

Rank: Research Specialist II

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Non-Academic, Other

Housed at Princeton University, Arab Barometer is a nonpartisan research network that provides insight into the social, political, and economic attitudes and values of citizens across the Middle East and North Africa (MENA). We have been conducting high quality and reliable public opinion surveys since 2006, making us the longest-standing and the largest repository of publicly available data on the views of citizens in the region.

The Research Specialist II will join a face-paced, dynamic environment where a close-knit team of researchers strives to find innovative ways of measuring the preferences and grievances of citizens in MENA. Arab Barometer's goal is not only to implement best practices to learn about the MENA region, but also to learn what the MENA region tells us about survey research. To this end, the Research Specialist will be involved in deciding what questions to ask and how to ask them; working with regional partners to collect high-quality data; analyzing and interpreting survey findings; and disseminating results to a diverse audience. The position reports to the Director of Research but works in close collaboration with the project director, research associates, communication associate, graduate and undergraduate students, and research colleagues in the U.S. and MENA.

The ideal candidate will have a penchant for critical thinking and the perspicacity to keep in mind “the big picture” without sacrificing nuance. The candidate must also have the flexibility to manage multiple requests on a variety of tasks required by diverse stakeholders. This is an excellent opportunity to further develop both qualitative and quantitative research skills and to learn about the logistics of navigating research across different political and social contexts in the MENA region.

*This is a 2-year term position with possibility of renewal. This position is based in the Arab Barometer's Washington, DC office.

For full consideration, applicants must submit a cover letter and include an answer to the following question:

Arab Barometer's Wave VII Questionnaire is publicly available on our website (arabbarometer.org). What one topic would you like to see covered—or covered differently—on the next Arab Barometer survey? Please tell us why you think the topic should be added or amended. Then, provide one or two questions in both English and Arabic that you would add to the survey.

Responsibilities

*Drafting qualitative literature reviews or annotated bibliographies on assorted topics slated for inclusion on the survey and compiling lists of validated survey questions on these topics asked in MENA or elsewhere

*Incorporating questionnaire feedback from numerous stakeholders and managing version control and translation updates in both Arabic and English

*Providing write-ups and analyses of outcomes from pretesting methods (such as focus groups and cognitive pretests)

*Helping to prepare training materials in both Arabic and English for survey teams in the region and documenting training accomplishments

*Managing Arab Barometer's Arabic and English-language question banks (the internal repository of all questions posed on Arab Barometer's seven waves)

*Liaising with regional partners during survey fielding to monitor survey progress and to update quality control trackers

*Assisting in data management by providing data labels and graph titles in both Arabic and English

*Writing or contributing to authorship of Arab Barometer country reports, topical reports, and Arab Pulse blogs

*Fact checking and number checking reports of other Arab Barometer colleagues or contributors

*Drafting presentations of findings for various audiences including academics, government officials, policy makers, and civil society practitioners

Required Qualifications

*A propensity for “thinking outside the box” and taking initiative

*Strong qualitative research skills

*Excellent oral and written communication skills in both Arabic and English

*Interest in and knowledge of Middle Eastern and North African affairs

*Baseline knowledge of statistics/survey data or willingness to develop skills through independent study if needed

*Highly organized and attentive to details

*Ability to multi-task effectively, including meeting tight deadlines across multiple survey projects while ensuring accuracy of results

*In-depth knowledge of at least one MENA country, combined with an ability to look broadly at the region.

*B.A. degree in social sciences, humanities, MENA region area studies, or statistics. MA preferred.

*1-3 years of experience in undertaking research involving qualitative and/or quantitative analysis (internships, volunteer positions, research assistantships for professors, or extra-academic pursuits all count)

Preferred Qualifications

*Knowledge of survey questionnaire design

*Knowledge of LaTeX

*Knowledge of R or STATA

Apply online at <https://main-princeton.icims.com/jobs/15465/research-specialist-ii/job?hub=15>.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/17/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10717

Arkansas State University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, Other

Specializations: Race & Ethnic Politics, Public Opinion, Quantitative Methods

The Department of Political Science at Arkansas State University invites applications for a tenure-track position at the level of assistant professor, beginning fall 2023.

The position is open with respect to any aspect of political behavior (comparative perspectives are openly considered), although candidates whose research and teaching interests are in race and ethnic politics and/or the study of under-represented/marginalized groups are strongly encouraged to apply. Candidates who have a strong theoretical and empirical background with the ability to teach advanced research methods at the undergraduate and graduate level are preferred.

The Department also seeks to attract a candidate who can enhance the department's course offerings in the Masters program in political science, and who can increase the department's mission towards continuing diversity, equity, and inclusion.

To apply and learn more, visit <https://bit.ly/3plf9y6>. All items listed below are requirements must be submitted in order for your file to be considered complete:

- (1) A statement of purpose indicating research and teaching interests and credentials
- (2) Curriculum Vitae
- (3) Graduate transcripts
- (4) Evidence of teaching ability
- (5) A Writing sample (a peer reviewed article that was recently published or dissertation chapter will suffice)
- (6) three letters of recommendation

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 11/1/2022

Date Posted: 8/16/2022

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 10709

Tecnológico de Monterrey

Rank: Assistant Professor Positions

Subfield(s): International Relations, Public Policy, Comparative Politics

Assistant Professor Positions

School of Social Sciences and Government, Department of Political Science and International Relations in Mexico City, Monterrey, and other major campuses in Mexico, Graduate School of Government, Escuela de Gobierno y Transformación Pública, Mexico City, Federal District and Monterrey, Nuevo León

The Tecnológico de Monterrey (Tec) invites applications from candidates in political science, international relations, public policy, political economy, and related social science fields. The search is open with respect to specialty and methodological approaches. We are recruiting candidates with the potential to conduct theoretically informed, methodologically rigorous research for publication in top peer-reviewed venues.

We have two types of openings. In IR, we are interested in scholars from any of the major subfields, including comparative international political economy, security studies, and or international organizations. In public policy, substantive areas include data sciences for public service and governance, education policy, or health policy (obesity research). The Tecnológico de Monterrey offers a dynamic academic environment with excellent research support.

Minimum Requirements:

Candidates must have a demonstrated ability in conducting theoretical and empirical research in one or more of the aforementioned areas. The Tecnológico de Monterrey also prizes an excellent background in teaching. Professors are expected to teach and mentor undergraduates as well as graduate students. We are primarily interested in scholars early in their academic careers for the Assistant Research Professor track with teaching obligations that approximate a 2-2 load. We also have openings for Assistant Teaching Professors (3-3 or 4-4) and Student Advisor Professors (2-2 or 3-3), depending on the campus. Applications from ABD candidates will be considered if they include a letter from the dissertations chair stating a defense date, which should occur no later than June 2023.

Compensation is competitive and it includes incentives and support for research activities. The Tecnológico de Monterrey will provide legal assistance for foreign nationals in order to obtain work permits and visas for the candidate and his or her dependents.

Applicants should send the following documents in PDF format through the APSA placement.

- Curriculum Vitae accompanied by a cover letter.
- Research statement for the next 3 years (no longer than three pages).
- A statement of teaching philosophy (no more than two pages). Finalists may be asked to provide evidence of teaching performance.
- Writing sample, not to exceed 50 double spaced pages. If co-authored the candidate should be the first author.

- Three letters of recommendation. Ph.D. candidates should include a letter from their chair indicating defense date.

For informal inquiries please contact the following committee members:

Prof. Mariana Rangel: mariana.rangel@tec.mx

Prof. Gabriel Aguilera: gabe.aguilera@tec.mx

About the Tecnológico de Monterrey:

The Tecnológico de Monterrey is ranked highly among the top universities in Latin America and Mexico. Undergraduate departments and programs in political science, international relations, economics, law, and public policy are housed in the School of Social Sciences and Government at our major campuses in Mexico City, Monterrey, Queretaro, and Guadalajara. For more information, visit <https://tec.mx/es/noticias/ciencias-sociales-y-gobierno>.

For more information on the Graduate School of Government, Escuela de Gobierno y Transformación Pública, visit <http://escueladegobierno.itesm.mx/> The graduate school has campuses in Mexico City and Monterrey.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 11/30/2022

Date Posted: 8/16/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10707

University of California, Merced

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, International Relations

The University of California, Merced, is the newest of the University of California system's 10 campuses. With over 9,000 undergraduate and graduate students (<https://www.ucmerced.edu/fast-facts>), UC Merced provides outstanding educational opportunities to highly qualified students from the heart of California, the nation, and abroad. The campus has special connections to nearby Yosemite National Park; is on the cutting edge of sustainability in construction and design; and supports the economic development of Central California. The Merced 2020 Project doubled the physical capacity of the campus, and enhanced academic distinction, student success, and research excellence (<https://merced2020.ucmerced.edu/>).

The Political Science Department at the University of California, Merced invites applications for an assistant professor position (tenure track) in either Political Institutions or Political Behavior, with a substantive focus in American Politics, Comparative Politics, or International Relations. The Department especially welcomes applications from candidates who demonstrate both a record of outstanding scholarship and contributions to diversity, equity, and inclusion.

In order to be considered, candidates must have a PhD in Political Science or a closely related field by the position start date.

Anticipated start date is July 1, 2023.

The position will remain open until filled. However, to ensure consideration, applications should be received by September 20, 2022. Applications will be submitted via <https://aprecruit.ucmerced.edu>.

Interested applicants are required to submit 1) a cover letter; 2) curriculum vitae; 3) statement of research; 4) statement of teaching; 5) two writing samples; 6) statement on contributions to equity, diversity, and inclusion; and 7) a list of three references with contact information including mailing address, phone number and e-mail address.

Applicants for the Assistant Professor level should arrange to have three letters of reference submitted online. After an application is submitted, the letters of reference should be electronically uploaded by the letter writers (instructions will be provided by the application system). Letters of reference should be received no later than September 20, 2022.

As a condition of employment, you will be required to comply with the University of California SARS-CoV-2 (COVID-19) Vaccination Program Policy: https://policy.ucop.edu/doc/5000695/SARS-CoV-2_Covid-19. All Covered Individuals under the policy must provide proof of Full Vaccination or, if applicable, submit a request for Exception (based on Medical Exemption, Disability, and/or Religious Objection) or Deferral (based on pregnancy) no later than the applicable deadline. For new University of California employees, the applicable deadline is 14 days after their first date of employment.

Applicants will be notified when the final candidate has been selected.

For additional information, please contact Professor Haifeng Huang at hhuang24@ucmerced.edu.

To apply, please visit our UC Merced job posting at: <https://aprecruit.ucmerced.edu/JPF01382>

The University of California is an Equal Employment Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer and invites applications from all qualified applicants, including women, minorities, veterans, and individual with disabilities, who will enrich the teaching, research and public service missions of the university. All qualified applicants will be considered for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability, age or protected veteran status. For the complete University of California nondiscrimination and affirmative action policy, see: UC Nondiscrimination & Affirmative Action Policy (<https://policy.ucop.edu/doc/4000376/DiscHarassAffirmAction>).

UC Merced is a smoke & tobacco free campus (<https://smokefree.ucmerced.edu/>).

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 9/20/2022

Date Posted: 8/16/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10700

Central European University

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow Position in Horizon Europe CCIN-DLE Project on Feminist Responses to Anti-Gender and Anti-Democratic Forces

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Methodology, Public Policy

Specializations: Normative Political Theory, Social Movements, Gender Politics & Policy

Starting date: October/November 2022, exact date negotiable

Application deadline: Review of applications will start 31 August 2022

Full- Or Part-Time: Full-time for 36 months, possibility of extension for 10 more months, part-time
Location: Budapest

The Democracy Institute at CEU invites applications for a full-time Postdoctoral Research Fellow position within the framework of the Horizon Europe research project CCINDLE (Co-Creating Inclusive Intersectional Democratic Spaces Across Europe). The CEU team is led by Senior Research Fellow Andrea Krizsan (https://people.ceu.edu/andrea_krizsan).

The CCINDLE Project

This project aims to contribute to strengthening and re-invigorating European democracies by building on the assumption that feminist theories and activism are essential sources of both resistance to anti-gender discourses and politics, and to re-kindling citizens' engagement with democratic institutions and values. We also build on the recognition that addressing the increasing challenges posed to Western democracies require a combination of excellent academic research and well-informed practical solutions which: a) are feminist, anti-homophobic and anti-racist, b) could efficiently support high quality democratic governance, c) may create a push-back against authoritarian and anti-gender efforts.

By conducting research in seven European countries with different social and political backgrounds, and at the EU level, the project aims to:

- Deepen our understanding of the state of democracy in Europe, especially on core challenges it faces in different political and social contexts related to the principles of inclusion and participation, and as a result of anti-gender/anti-LGBTQ movements.
- Identify and analyze different feminist responses that are a) present in theories, b) worked out within feminist movements, c) provided via feminist cooperation with formal institutions to anti-democratic trends and to the anti-gender forces.
- Identify specific tools and practical approaches, which in specific political and social contexts could lead to strengthening democracy, gender equality, and intersectional justice.
- Facilitate putting these tools and approaches into practice to support actors that embrace the twin goals of promoting equality and strengthening democracy, through co-creating actions with selected movement and institutional actors, with feminist and pro-democratic media, with universities as prominent actors in the politics of knowledge, and with philanthropic organizations promoting democracy and feminism.

Project partners:

- Mieke Verloo, RADBOUD UNIVERSITEIT NL, Coordinator
- Johanna Kantola, UNIVERSITY OF HELSINKI FI
- Andrea Krizsan, CENTRAL EUROPEAN UNIVERSITY HU
- Emanuela Lombardo, UNIVERSIDAD COMPLUTENSE DE MADRID ES
- Petra Meier, UNIVERSITEIT ANTWERPEN BE
- Conny Roggeband, UNIVERSITEIT VAN AMSTERDAM NL
- Elena Pavan, UNIVERSITA DEGLI STUDI DI TRENTO IT
- Marta Rawluzsko, UNIWERSYTET WARSZAWSKI PL
- Elzbieta Korolczuk, SODERTORNS HOGSKOLA SE
- Akwugo Emejulu, UNIVERSITY OF WARWICK, UK
- Olivia Ianelli, TRILATERAL RESEARCH LTD UK

Duties and responsibilities:

The Postdoctoral Research Fellow will be expected to contribute to the development of the CCINDLE project's methodological, theoretical, and empirical tasks. The researcher will engage in both collaborative and autonomous research work of collecting and analyzing data on anti-gender campaigns, and feminist movements and institutional actors' responses to anti-gender and antidemocratic forces in Hungary and comparatively in Europe. The research work will be aimed at the preparation, drafting and submission of research reports to the European Commission, submission of high-quality publications, and organization of social impact activities in co-creation with civil society and institutions in Hungary and at the European level.

Skills and qualifications:

- PhD in Political science, Gender studies, Sociology, Human Rights or related discipline (to be defended within max 6 months after the application but no longer than 3 years before the application).
- Experience in qualitative (interviews, focus groups, policy frame analysis) research methodologies and analysis and preferably some knowledge of quantitative (online survey) methodologies.
- Excellent written and spoken language skills in both English and Hungarian.
- Some background knowledge on the politics of inequality is required. Specific experience in gender and politics research, feminist movements, intersectionality, gender equality policies and institutions, gender and democracy, antigender campaigns, and feminist organizations is an asset.
- Strong interest in academic research, ideally proven through international publications and/or collaboration in research projects.
- Ability to work effectively, both independently and collaboratively, in an international team.

What we offer

- A three-year full-time appointment (employment contract with benefits for 36 months) based in the Budapest campus, with a possibility of extension for another 10 months part-time.
- Integration in the CCINDLE research team, with excellent opportunities for international networking with top scholars on gender and politics in Europe and relevant civil society actors at national and European level.
- Integration in the Inequalities and Democracy research group of the Democracy Institute in Budapest, including professional mentoring by lead researchers.
- Competitive salary with full benefit package depending on university personnel rules and research experience.

How to apply:

Applicants need to submit:

- an up-to-date CV
- motivation letter explaining how your research profile and interests relate to the project and what could be your contribution to the CCINDLE team
- a writing sample (preferably single-authored publications)
- names and contact details of two scholars who could supply recommendation letters

Please send your complete application package as one single pdf file to: advert055@ceu.edu - including the job code in the subject line: 2022/055.

Informal inquiries can be addressed to the CEU team lead researcher of the project, Andrea Krizsan at krizsana@ceu.edu.

The applications will be processed starting August 31, 2022. Start date of employment: October/November 2022.

The privacy of your personal information is very important to us. We collect, use, and store your personal information in accordance with the requirements of the applicable data privacy rules, including specifically the General Data Protection Regulation. To learn more about how we manage your personal data during the recruitment process, please see our Privacy Notice at: <https://www.ceu.edu/recruitment-privacy-notice>.

CEU is an equal opportunity employer and values geographical and gender diversity, thus encouraging applications from women and/or other underrepresented groups and taking into consideration geographical diversity, as well. Since CEU strives to increase the share of women in professorial positions, given equal qualifications, preference will be given to female applicants.

CEU recognizes that personal and family circumstances shape the trajectory of one's career and working patterns. As such, and in line with CEU's promotion of Equal Opportunities, we encourage applicants to detail periods of leave, part-time work or other such situations in their applications so that the Search Committee is able to assess an applicant's academic record fairly in the context of their circumstances. Any declaration of personal and family circumstances is voluntary and will be handled confidentially and only considered in so far as it impacts on the academic career of an applicant.

CEU is strongly committed to the promotion of gender equality and equal opportunities within our institution. Previous training, work experience and/or engagement with matters of equality, diversity and inclusion at the organizational level will be an asset.

About CEU

Central European University (CEU) is a research-intensive university specializing in the social sciences, humanities, law, public policy and management. It is accredited in the United States, Austria and Hungary. CEU's mission is to promote academic excellence, state-of-the-art research, research-based teaching and learning and civic engagement, in order to contribute to the development of open societies. CEU offers bachelor's, master's and doctoral programs and enrolls more than 1,400 students from over 100 countries. The teaching staff consists of resident faculty from over 50 countries and prominent visiting scholars from around the world. The language of instruction is English.

For more information, please visit <https://www.ceu.edu/>.

About the Democracy Institute

The Democracy Institute, based in Budapest, strives to enable the renewal and strengthening of democratic and open societies through world-class research, collaboration across academic and professional disciplines, teaching and the free exchange of ideas, and public engagement on a local, regional, and global scale. For more information, please visit <https://democracyinstitute.ceu.edu>.

Start Date: Fall 2022

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/12/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10680

Centre College

Rank: Assistant Professor

Specializations: Race & Ethnic Politics, South Asia, Southeast Asia

Centre College invites applications for a tenure-track position beginning in August 2023 in the Politics program with expertise in comparative politics, and/or international relations. The successful candidate will be a teacher-scholar who demonstrates a commitment to excellence in teaching at a nationally-ranked liberal arts college. Ideal candidates will have a primary specialization in comparative politics and/or international relations (regional specialization in Asian politics preferred) with a secondary emphasis on examining the field(s) of race, ethnicity, immigration, and/or imperialism. Candidates who are engaged in political economy or public policy discourses are especially encouraged to apply.

Centre College is a highly selective liberal arts college of about 1,400 students, has one of the nation's premier study-abroad programs, and is listed among the top national liberal arts colleges by U.S. News & World Report. The Centre Commitment guarantees that all students can study abroad, have an internship or research opportunity, and graduate in four years. With an exceptional faculty of teacher-scholars, classes are small and academic standards are high, and Centre graduates enjoy extraordinary success in top graduate and professional schools, prestigious fellowships, and rewarding careers.

Centre College is committed to an environment that welcomes and supports diversity. As noted in the Statement of Community, Centre strives to create an environment where differences are celebrated, governance is shared, ideas are freely and respectfully exchanged, and all members of the community benefit from the richness of diverse backgrounds and experiences. A number of resources support faculty success, including a robust Center for Teaching and Learning, peer mentoring, membership in the National Center for Faculty Development and Diversity, and endowed funding for professional development.

Centre is located in Danville, Kentucky, a city of 18,000 recognized for its high quality of life, historic downtown, friendly people, beautiful landscapes, and easy access to Lexington, Louisville, and Cincinnati. Centre College is a proud member of the Greater Kentucky Higher Education Recruitment Consortium.

Application Instructions

Applicants are asked to submit a CV and a cover letter that addresses their commitment to teaching at a liberal arts college and to advancing inclusion and equity in higher education. Review of applications will begin on October 7. Applicants selected for additional consideration will be asked to submit a teaching portfolio (teaching statement, teaching evaluations, and/or sample syllabi), research portfolio (research statement and writing sample of no more than forty pages), diversity and inclusion statement, and three letters of recommendation.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 10/7/2022

Date Posted: 8/12/2022

Salary: Any

eJobs ID: 10684

Vanderbilt University

Rank: Junior Comparative Politics

The Department of Political Science at Vanderbilt University invites applications from outstanding political scientists with a specialization in comparative politics for a tenure-track appointment as Assistant Professor. The department is committed to building an intellectually vibrant, culturally inclusive, and academically diverse community of exceptional faculty.

Qualifications

We will give priority to important research that builds synergies within the department, and across other units at Vanderbilt University. We are especially interested in receiving applications from scholars whose work addresses issues related to democratic development, political economy, and/or identity politics. We likewise welcome applications from scholars who specialize in Asia and/or Eastern Europe, to help facilitate scholarship and curricular bridges between the Department of Political Science and the Vanderbilt Asian Studies Department and/or the Max Kade Center for European and German Studies. Candidates able to assist in graduate training in quantitative methods, formal theory, or other methods should indicate those competencies. The appointment will begin Fall 2023. Salary and benefits are highly competitive. The Committee will begin reviewing files as early as September 1, 2022. To ensure full consideration, applicants should submit complete applications by September 15, 2022, but we welcome earlier applications and we may schedule formal interviews at any time. We will accept applications until we fill the position. Among the qualifications required for hire is the Ph.D. in hand or expected by August 1, 2023.

Application Instructions

Interested applicants should submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, a research statement, a teaching statement, a writing sample, teaching evaluations (if applicable), a diversity statement, and three letters of reference electronically via Interfolio here: <http://apply.interfolio.com/111209>.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/12/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10689

Bradley University

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of Political Science and International Studies at Bradley University invites applicants for a full-time, tenure-track position in political science starting Fall 2023. We seek candidates with expertise in comparative politics. The successful candidate will be expected to teach introductory and special topics courses in comparative politics (specialty open) as well as introduction to American government. A strong record of teaching excellence is essential. The ideal candidate should also actively engage in scholarship by maintaining a research agenda and publishing in peer-reviewed outlets. Consistent with the University's strategic emphasis on diversity, equity, and inclusion across our community, the ideal candidate will be dedicated to fostering these values through their teaching and service.

Qualifications:

Applicants must have a Ph.D. in political science, with degree in hand by August 15, 2023. The successful candidate must be eligible to work in the United States.

Required Attachments:

- Letter of interest
- Current vita
- Graduate transcripts
- Teaching evaluations
- Professional writing sample(s)
- Three letters of reference

Application Deadline:

To ensure full consideration applications must be submitted through our ADP online applicant portal. Initial screening of applications will begin on September 15, 2022. Applications will be reviewed until the position has been filled. You may apply at <https://tinyurl.com/4ywd7a8w>.

Please submit all materials at the time of initial application and have your recommenders send their letters of reference to jkim4@fsmail.bradley.edu.

Employment with Bradley University is contingent upon successful completion of a criminal background check.

Bradley University is a top-ranked private university in Peoria, Illinois, that offers nearly 6,000 undergraduate and graduate students opportunities and resources of a larger university and the personal attention and exceptional learning experience of a smaller university. Located midway between Chicago and St. Louis, the Greater Peoria Area has a population of 414,000 and is one of the most innovative and family friendly cities in the nation according to wallethub.com.

Bradley University offers a competitive benefits package including health, dental, vision, life and disability coverages, FSA, HSA, and retirement plan options. Bradley also offers significant higher education cost savings for employees and dependents through the Tuition Remission program.

Bradley University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer. The administration, faculty and staff are committed to attracting qualified candidates from underrepresented groups.

COVID Expectations

ALL students, faculty, and staff MUST have received their second dose of a two dose COVID-19 vaccine series or a single dose COVID-19 vaccine. The ONLY exceptions to this will be for those who receive a medical or religious exemption for vaccination. However, please note, individual programs may require you to be vaccinated to meet their requirements. We recognize the challenges and need for clarity in this ever-changing environment. Please visit the Bradley Unite website for full policy details.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/11/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10666

Arizona State University

Rank: Lecturer

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, American Government and Politics

The School of Politics and Global Studies (SPGS) is pleased to invite applications for a full-time position, benefits eligible, non-tenure track faculty member at the rank of Lecturer. The anticipated start date is January 1, 2023. This is an academic-year position within the SPGS faculty on the Tempe campus. Subsequent annual renewal is desired, contingent upon satisfactory performance, availability of resources, and the needs of the university.

SPGS seeks an applicant with a commitment to undergraduate teaching excellence to join its dynamic faculty. The primary responsibilities of the Lecturer will be to develop and teach in-person and online undergraduate courses on topics such as global studies, comparative politics, and international relations. A typical course load will consist of 4 classes per semester. Additional responsibilities holding office hours, mentoring, serving on committees, and assisting in curriculum development and extracurricular efforts to engage our undergraduate students.

Qualifications

Minimum qualifications:

- A Ph.D. in a relevant field (Anthropology, Global/International Studies, Political Science, Sociology, or similar fields) by the time of appointment

Desired qualifications:

- Prior experience designing and teaching both in person and online courses
- Expertise sufficient to teach courses in comparative politics and global studies, with a preference for background in international relations as well
- Global experience (i.e. studying or working abroad)
- Experience mentoring students
- Demonstrated success in and/or plans for meeting the needs of diverse student populations and/or reaching out to diverse communities.

Application Instructions

The College values cultural and intellectual diversity, and continually strives to foster a welcoming and inclusive environment. We are especially interested in applicants who can strengthen the diversity of the academic community.

To apply, candidates must submit application materials online to Interfolio at apply.interfolio.com/110735 by September 21, 2022; if not filled, complete applications will be reviewed every two weeks thereafter until the search is closed. This is a paperless search; only electronic materials will be accepted. Submit the following: 1) a letter of application stating qualifications, experience, and courses they are able to teach as outlined below 2) a complete curriculum vita, 3) the names and contact information for three references, 4) if available, syllabi and course-related material (including evaluations) for no more than two courses you have taught; and 5) a statement addressing how your past and/or potential contributions to diversity and inclusion will advance ASU's commitment to inclusive excellence.

As part of the application letter, applicants should indicate which of the following courses they would be able and willing to teach (with the understanding that not all of these courses would necessarily need to be covered by the person hired). Candidates optionally may also list other undergraduate Global Studies (SGS) or Political Science (POS) courses that they feel qualified to teach, consulting the ASU course catalog at <https://webapp4.asu.edu/catalog/courselist>.

- POS 150 Comparative Government
- POS 160 Global Politics
- SGS 101 Thinking Globally (introductory course in global studies)
- SGS 204 Professional Global Career Development
- SGS 304 Foundations of Cross-Cultural Awareness
- POS 301/SGS 305 Empirical Political Inquiry
- POS/SGS 401 Political Statistics

Questions about this position should be directed to Sarah Ericson, Academic Personnel Specialist at Sarah.Ericson@asu.edu.

Equal Employment Opportunity Statement

A background check is required for employment. Arizona State University is a VEVRAA Federal Contractor and an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability, protected veteran status, or any other basis protected by law.

(See <https://www.asu.edu/aad/manuals/acd/acd401.html> and <https://www.asu.edu/titleIX/>.)

In compliance with federal law, ASU prepares an annual report on campus security and fire safety programs and resources. ASU's Annual Security and Fire Safety Report is available online at <https://www.asu.edu/police/PDFs/ASU-Clery-Report.pdf> You may request a hard copy of the report by contacting the ASU Police Department at 480-965-3456.

COVID-19 Vaccination - Arizona State University is a federal contractor and subject to federal regulations which may require you to produce a record of a COVID-19 vaccination. For questions about medical or religious accommodations, please visit the Office of Diversity, Equity and Inclusion's webpage.

Start Date: Spring 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/10/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10665

Copenhagen Business School

Rank: Postdoc in Business and Government

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Public Policy, Methodology

Call for expression of interest

Postdoc in Business and Government at the Department of International Economics, Government and Business (EGB) at Copenhagen Business School (CBS).

EGB invites expressions of interest for a vacant position for a four-year postdoc in Business and Government. You should hold, or be close to completing, a PhD in Political Science, Political Economy, or a related field. The postdoc is a four-year position with a 25% teaching load. The postdoc will be part of the project "Tycoon Candidates: Why Wealthy Business Candidates Get Elected for Office and How it Matters". The project is led by professor (mso) Mogens K. Justesen and funded by the Independent Research Fund Denmark. The postdoc will be based at the Department of International Economics, Government and Business (EGB).

The project

The "Tycoon Candidate" project consists of two work packages. Work package I examines why ordinary voters – including low-income groups – sometimes support wealthy businesspeople running for office in democratic elections. Work package II moves on to examine how the election of businesspeople for political offices matters for the firms they are connected to and public policies provided to voters and the wider society.

The postdoc will conduct work on Work Package I, which involves research on voter support for wealthy business candidates. To this end, the postdoc will be involved in designing, implementing and analysing two large-scale surveys with survey experiments in South Africa and Ukraine – which will constitute the empirical backbone of the research and articles for Work Package I. It is essential that applicants have strong research potential within the area of the project. It is also essential that applicants have excellent skills in quantitative methods, particularly the design and analysis of surveys and survey experiments (including conjoint experiments).

The postdoc will be part of a team conducting research within the project. Strong abilities to work on research in a team and collaborate/co-author with other team members are essential for the position. A certain amount of travelling and field work in connection with the project should be expected.

The department

EGB is a multidisciplinary department, which conducts high-quality research in the fields of political science and international business with direct relevance to business, policy-makers and the public.

The department has two principal focus areas of research: 'Business & Government' and 'International Business'. Business & Government is rooted in the disciplines of political science and political economy. International Business includes both the disciplines of international economics and international management. EGB conducts research within these principal focus areas and their interfaces and is uniquely positioned to generate research at the intersection of these two focus areas.

Research in the fields of Business & Government and Political Economy at the department is informed by a range of theoretical and methodological traditions in Political Science. Faculty combine an emphasis on methodological excellence with a drive for empirical impact and relevance and a keen sensitivity to the broader societal contexts in which firm and government activity is situated.

While societal challenges are inherently changing and dynamic, at present, research at the department resonates with seven challenges in particular: (1) Inequality; (2) Technological change and digital transformation; (3) Regulating societal transformations; (4) The ethical MNE; (5) Emerging markets and rise of Asia; (6) Business, global shifts and policy challenges; and (7) Business and democracy.

Non-exhaustive examples of research areas that the postdoc may cover:

- Political behavior and voter support for business candidates
- Survey design and experimental methods
- Political economy of development
- Business-government relations
- Money in politics

The postdoc will have a 25% teaching obligation. Much of EGB's teaching is affiliated with the BSc/MSc in International Business and Politics (IBP); the BSc/MSc in International Business (IB); and the BSc in International Business in Asia (IBA).

To learn more about the research and education profile of the department, please visit the departmental homepage; <https://bit.ly/2NPRIwB>

Candidates who are available for a physical interview during the 2022 APSA meeting, 15-18 September, 2022, should send an expression of interest, CV, and job market paper, following the guideline; see link to online form here <https://bit.ly/3JM0o0x>

There is no requirement for reference letters. The deadline for submitting an expression of interest is September 7, 2022.

We encourage women and members of underrepresented communities to apply.

Starting date: Flexible, preferably Spring 2023.

For further information regarding the project, please contact professor (mso) Mogens K. Justesen (mkj.egb@cbs.dk).

For further information regarding the department, please visit the EGB website or contact Head of Department Jens Gammelgaard (jg.egb@cbs.dk).

Informal job talks will be carried out by Mogens K. Justesen and Jens Gammelgaard, and relevant colleague(s).

Start Date: Summer 2023

Application Deadline: 9/7/2022

Date Posted: 8/10/2022

Salary: $70,000 - $79,999

eJobs ID: 10659

Copenhagen Business School

Rank: Tenure Track Assistant Professor in Business and Government

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Public Policy, International Relations

Call for expression of interest

Tenure Track Assistant Professor Position in Business and Government at the Department of International Economics, Government and Business (EGB) at Copenhagen Business School (CBS)

EGB invites expressions of interest for a vacant position as tenure track assistant professor in Business and Government. You should hold, or be close to completing, a PhD in Political Science, Political Economy, or a related field. You should be able to demonstrate strong research potential and have excellent methodological skills. Participation in teaching and an interest in developing research-based teaching courses are expected of a tenure track assistant professor at CBS.

EGB is a multidisciplinary department, which conducts high-quality research in the fields of political science and international business with direct relevance to business, policy-makers and the public.

The department has two principal focus areas of research: 'Business & Government' and 'International Business'. Business & Government is rooted in the disciplines of political science and political economy. International Business includes both the disciplines of international economics and international management. EGB conducts research within these principal focus areas and their interfaces and is uniquely positioned to generate research at the intersection of these two focus areas.

Research in the fields of Business & Government and Political Economy at the department is informed by a range of theoretical and methodological traditions in Political Science. Faculty combine an emphasis on methodological excellence with a drive for empirical impact and relevance and a keen sensitivity to the broader societal contexts in which firm and government activity is situated.

While societal challenges are inherently changing and dynamic, at present, research at the department resonates with seven challenges in particular: (1) Inequality; (2) Technological change and digital transformation; (3) Regulating societal transformations; (4) The ethical MNE; (5) Emerging markets and rise of Asia; (6) Business, global shifts and policy challenges; and (7) Business and democracy.

Examples (non-exhaustive) of research and teaching areas that the assistant professor may cover:

- Business and Government
- Political Economy
- Public Policy
- International Business and Government
- Money in Politics

To learn more about the research and education profile of the department, please visit the departmental homepage; <https://bit.ly/2NPR1wB>.

Candidates who are available for a physical interview during the 2022 APSA meeting, 15-18 September, 2022, should send an expression of interest, CV, and job market paper, following the guideline, see link to online form; <https://bit.ly/3SSk3Aj>.

There is no requirement for reference letters. The deadline for submitting an expression of interest is September 7, 2022.

We encourage women and members of underrepresented communities to apply.

Starting date: Flexible, at the latest 15 August 2023.

For further information regarding the department, please visit the EGB website or contact Head of Department Jens Gammelgaard (jg.egb@cbs.dk). Informal job talks will be carried out by Jens Gammelgaard and relevant colleague(s).

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 9/7/2022

Date Posted: 8/10/2022

Salary: $80,000 - $89,999

eJobs ID: 10657

Princeton University

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Associate

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, International Relations

The Department of Politics at Princeton University seeks applicants for a Postdoctoral Research Associate or more senior research position that involves a year of research at Princeton. Scholars in all subfields of political science will be considered. The aim of the program is to nurture a diverse group of promising scholars, and there is a particular interest in attracting applications from groups that have been historically underrepresented in the field of political science at Princeton University. Ph.D. is required.

Interested applicants must apply online at <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/27002> and submit a CV, cover letter, writing sample, and the names and contact information of three references. For best consideration, apply by September 12, 2022. Initial appointment is for one year with the possibility of renewal subject to satisfactory performance and available funding.

This position is subject to the University's background check policy.

Requisition No: D-23-POL-00005

Start Date:

Date Posted: 8/10/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10662

Singapore Management University

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow in Southeast Asian Politics

Job Description

- School of Social Sciences (SOSS) at Singapore Management University (SMU) invites applications for one postdoctoral position in political science.
- SOSS at SMU is an interdisciplinary unit with fields of strength in Political Science, Psychology, and Sociology.
- We have a growing strength in the study of Southeast Asia, with a group of seven faculty specializing in the region.
- This postdoctoral scholar will benefit from close collaboration with our faculty and will provide support for a set of new projects examining public attitudes toward politics in the region.
- SOSS is seeking an early career scholar with a doctoral degree in political science or a closely related field who is interested in the politics of at least one of the countries of Southeast Asia or the region as a whole.
- We are also particularly interested in candidates who have expertise in survey design, data collection, and analysis.
- The position is initially for 1 year, with the possibility of renewal for up to 3 years.
- Conduct their own research as well as work with our political science faculty on projects.
- The successful candidate will teach 2 undergraduate courses over the year (1 per term).

Qualification

- A doctoral degree in political science or a closely related field.
- The degree should have been completed within the past five years.
- The candidate should be interested in the politics of at least 1 of the countries of Southeast Asia or the region as a whole.
- It is desirable that they also have expertise in survey design, data collection, and analysis.
- Evidence of strong research and teaching track record would be advantageous.
- Applicants should submit the following documents in one (1) combined pdf:
 1. Curriculum Vitae
 2. Application cover letter, including a statement of candidate's research and teaching interests (maximum 1000 words)
 3. One writing sample (dissertation chapter or publication)
 4. Name and contact details of at least two referees, one of which should be the candidate's dissertation advisor

To apply via link here: <https://smu.recruiterpal.com/career/jobs/9j4va>

Start Date: Winter 2022

Application Deadline: 10/10/2022

Date Posted: 8/10/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10660

Texas Tech University

Rank: Assistant Professor in Comparative Politics

The Department of Political Science at Texas Tech University is seeking applications for a tenure-track position at the Assistant Professor level in Comparative Politics to begin Fall 2023. The department is seeking candidates with research and teaching specializations in comparative political behavior. We prefer those candidates with strong, quantitative methods training. Evidence of excellence in teaching and research, and a commitment to attracting external funds are also highly valued. We expect faculty to provide service to the department, TTU, and the community. Experience working with diverse student populations and first-generation students is highly desirable. The successful candidate will have their PhD in Political Science completed by the start of the appointment.

Applicants should submit a cover letter, curriculum vita, writing sample, contact information for three references, and evidence of teaching effectiveness. All items should be submitted at <http://www.texastech.edu/careers/>. The requisition number is 29907BR. Applications for the position will start to be reviewed on or about 10/1/2022. For questions about the position, contact the department chair, Prof. Timothy Nokken, timothy.nokken@ttu.edu.

As an Equal Employment Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer, Texas Tech University is dedicated to the goal of building a culturally diverse faculty committed to teaching and working in a multicultural environment. Texas Tech is an Hispanic Serving Institution. We actively encourage applications from all those who can contribute, through their research, teaching, and/or service, to the diversity and excellence of the academic community at Texas Tech University. The university welcomes applications from minoritized candidates, women, protected veterans, persons with disabilities, and dual-career couples.

Start Date: Fall 2023
Application Deadline: 10/1/2022
Date Posted: 8/5/2022
Salary: $80,000 - $89,999
eJobs ID: 10635

University of Maryland, College Park

Rank: Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, International Relations

University of Maryland College Park
 Government and Politics and the College of Information Studies (iSchool)

The Department of Government and Politics (GVPT) in the College of Behavioral and Social Sciences (BSOS) and the College of Information Studies (iSchool) at the University of Maryland, College Park, invite applications for two tenure-track positions at the assistant professor level. These positions are open to applicants from any fields within political and information sciences that apply data science concepts and methods in their work. GVPT and the iSchool particularly seek candidates whose scholarship and teaching interests address important social science problems in the fields of American Politics, Comparative Politics, International Politics, and Political Methodology that intersect with Information Science.

We encourage candidates to demonstrate how their research contributes toward social justice and equity, diversity and inclusion, or ethical access to information. Both faculty members will have joint appointments at GVPT and iSchool – one with a tenure home at GVPT and the other at the iSchool.

Tenure home will be negotiated at the time of hire.

The successful candidates will be expected to contribute to the newly formed undergraduate Major in Social Data Science, which is a BSOS-iSchool joint program. We seek a candidates who will build upon our record of educating political and information scientists committed to leadership, service, research, and innovative practice and impact.

The successful candidates will be expected to have a high-impact research agenda and to seek external funding for research. They will also teach at the undergraduate and graduate levels, provide research advising to students at all levels, and engage in service to the profession and shared governance within the university.

In particular candidates whose scholarship speaks to the following broad substantive topics are encouraged to apply:

- 1) Social media politics
- 2) Information disorder (misinformation, disinformation, etc.) Online political and civic participation
- 3) Political power in information systems

While these areas of expertise are of particular interest, candidates with expertise and interest in other relevant topics that apply data science methods are encouraged to apply. Candidates whose work recognizes the information norms and assets of marginalized communities particularly relating to the topics above and other relevant topics, are especially encouraged to apply.

This is a tenure-track appointment. Tenure-track Assistant Professors are hired for 3 years, with potential renewal for three more years and tenure review. Salary and benefits are competitive based upon qualifications and experience. Tenure-track and tenured faculty have 9-month appointments, with opportunities for grant-funded research and university-funded teaching in summers. For this position, the successful candidate will be involved in:

- 1) Developing and conducting research projects and disseminating research results
- 2) Designing and developing curricula related to information science
- 3) Crafting exceptional educational experiences for students Participating in shared governance
- 4) Contributing to relevant professional communities.

To apply you will need to provide:

- 1) A letter of interest that clearly describes your background and expertise in the area and the unique contributions you would make to the GVPT, iSchool and the University of Maryland.
- 2) Your CV
- 3) A list of 3 professional references. For each reference include the person's title, institution, contact information (including phone number and email address), the capacity in which you know this person, and how long you have known this person.
- 3) A statement of your research interests and accomplishments A statement of your teaching philosophy

Interested candidates should apply using the University of Maryland eJobs system. Goto: <https://ejobs.umd.edu/postings/98270>

Start Date: Fall 2023
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/4/2022
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 10610

Harvard UniversityRank: TENURE-TRACK PROFESSOR OF GOVERNMENT – RACE, ETHNICITY AND POLITICS*Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, Political Theory

Position Description: The Department of Government seeks to appoint a tenure-track professor in Government specializing in Race, Ethnicity and Politics. The appointment is expected to begin on July 1, 2023. The tenure-track professor will be responsible for teaching at the undergraduate and graduate levels. Candidates are encouraged to apply by October 1, 2022; applications will be reviewed until the position is filled.

Basic Qualifications: Doctorate or terminal degree in Political Science, Government or related disciplines required by the time the appointment begins.

Additional Qualifications: Demonstrated strong commitment to teaching and advising is desired.

Special Instructions: Please submit the following materials through the ARIES portal (<https://academicpositions.harvard.edu>). The Committee will begin reviewing applications on September 15, 2022.

1. Cover letter
2. Curriculum Vitae
3. Teaching/advising statement (describing teaching philosophy and practices)
4. Research statement
5. A statement describing efforts to encourage diversity, inclusion, and belonging, including past, current, and anticipated future contributions in these areas.
6. Names and contact information of 3-5 referees, who will be asked by a system-generated email to upload a letter of recommendation once the candidate's application has been submitted. Three letters of recommendation are required, and the application is considered complete only when at least three letters have been received. (*At least one letter must come from someone who has not served as the candidate's undergraduate, graduate, or postdoctoral advisor.)
7. Publications or copies of creative works, if applicable

Start Date: Summer 2023Application Deadline: Open until FilledDate Posted: 8/3/2022Salary: CompetitiveeJobs ID: 10601University of Toronto*Rank: Assistant Professor in European Politics

The Department of Political Science in the Faculty of Arts and Science at the University of Toronto invites applications for a full-time tenure stream position in the area of European Politics. The appointment will be at the rank of Assistant Professor, with an expected start date of July 1, 2023, or shortly thereafter.

Applicants must have earned a PhD degree in Political Science or a related area by the time of appointment, or shortly thereafter, with a demonstrated record of excellence in research and teaching. The area of specialization within European Politics is open. We seek candidates with deep contextual knowledge of their case(s), broad comparative knowledge of Europe, and appropriate linguistic skills. We are particularly interested in applicants whose work uses qualitative or mixed methods.

We seek candidates whose research and teaching interests complement and deepen our existing departmental strengths. The successful candidate will undertake undergraduate and graduate teaching responsibilities on the University of Toronto's downtown (St. George) campus. Applicants are encouraged to review the research and teaching profiles of current faculty members. Please visit our home page (Department of Political Science <https://politics.utoronto.ca>) to learn more about us.

The successful candidate will be expected to pursue innovative and independent research at the highest international level and to establish an outstanding, competitive, and externally funded research program. Candidates must provide evidence of research excellence which can be demonstrated by the submitted research statement, a record of publications in top-ranked and field relevant journals or forthcoming publications meeting high international standards, presentations at significant conferences, awards and accolades, and strong endorsements from referees of high standing.

Evidence of excellence in teaching will be provided through teaching accomplishments, the teaching dossier (with required materials outlined below) submitted as part of the application, as well as strong letters of reference.

Candidates are also expected to show evidence of a commitment to equity, diversity, inclusion, and the promotion of a respectful and collegial learning and working environment demonstrated through the application materials.

Salary will be commensurate with qualifications and experience.

All qualified candidates are invited to apply online by clicking the link below. Applicants must submit a cover letter; a current curriculum vitae; a research statement outlining current and future research interests; a recent writing sample of no more than 30 pages; and a teaching dossier to include a teaching statement, sample course materials, and teaching evaluations. Equity and diversity are essential to academic excellence. We seek candidates who value diversity and whose research, teaching and service bear out our commitment to equity. Candidates are therefore also asked to submit a 1-2 page statement of their contributions to equity and diversity, which might cover topics such as (but need not be limited to): research or teaching that incorporates a focus on underrepresented communities, the development of inclusive pedagogies, or the mentoring of students from underrepresented groups.

Applicants must provide the name and contact information of three references. The University of Toronto's recruiting tool will automatically solicit and collect letters of reference from each after an application is submitted (this happens overnight). Applicants remain responsible for ensuring that references submit letters (on letterhead, dated and signed) by the closing date.

Submission guidelines can be found at <http://uoft.me/how-to-apply>. Your CV and cover letter should be uploaded into the dedicated fields. Please combine additional application materials into one or two files in PDF/MS Word format. If you have any questions about this position, please contact Sari Sherman at chair.polisci@utoronto.ca.

All application materials, including reference letters, must be received by October 11, 2022.

All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply; however, Canadians and permanent residents will be given priority.

Diversity Statement

The University of Toronto is strongly committed to diversity within its community and especially welcomes applications from racialized persons / persons of colour, women, Indigenous / Aboriginal People of North America, persons with disabilities, LGBTQ2S+ persons, and others who may contribute to the further diversification of ideas.

As part of your application, you will be asked to complete a brief Diversity Survey. This survey is voluntary. Any information directly related to you is confidential and cannot be accessed by search committees or human resources staff. Results will be aggregated for institutional planning purposes. For more information, please see <http://uoft.me/UP>.

Accessibility Statement

The University strives to be an equitable and inclusive community, and proactively seeks to increase diversity among its community members. Our values regarding equity and diversity are linked with our unwavering commitment to excellence in the pursuit of our academic mission.

The University is committed to the principles of the Accessibility for Ontarians with Disabilities Act (AODA). As such, we strive to make our recruitment, assessment and selection processes as accessible as possible and provide accommodations as required for applicants with disabilities.

If you require any accommodations at any point during the application and hiring process, please contact uoft.careers@utoronto.ca.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 10/11/2022

Date Posted: 8/3/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10605

Utah State University

Rank: Assistant Professor (2 TT lines in Comparative Politics)

The Department of Political Science at Utah State University (USU) is seeking to hire two (2) tenure-track, nine-month, academic-year, Assistant Professors in comparative politics to start August 1, 2023. The positions are open with respect to substantive or methodological expertise, but a regional focus on Latin America or East Asia is preferred. USU is committed to diversifying its faculty.

Review of applications will begin on September 15, 2022.

Responsibilities:

The successful candidates will be expected to 1) teach graduate and undergraduate political science courses linked to the requested areas of expertise and to departmental needs; 2) mentor undergraduate and graduate students in research; 3) engage in individual and collaborative research and scholarship; 4) secure external funding to support research activities; and 5) provide service to the department, college, and the political science profession.

Minimum Qualifications:

* PhD in political science or related discipline by August 2023

* Evidence of teaching effectiveness, or promise of teaching effectiveness due to training and interest.

* Evidence of an established or emerging research trajectory that has or will lead to publications in scholarly journals and/or scholarly books.

Required Documents:

Along with the online application, please attach:

* CV to be uploaded at the beginning of your application in the Candidate Profile under "Resume/CV"

* Names and contact information of at least three references (requested in the online application and will be contacted to upload letters of references)

* Documents below to be uploaded at the beginning of your application in the Candidate Profile under "Documents 1-10"

- Cover Letter

- Research statement

- Writing sample

- Teaching statement

- Student evaluations if available

Document size may not exceed 10 MB.

Utah State University (USU) is a Carnegie Foundation classified R-1 institution. USU enrolls approximately 27,500 students. The USU main campus is located in beautiful Logan, Utah, a city of about 50,000 situated in a picturesque mountain valley about 80 miles north of Salt Lake City. Outstanding recreational opportunities abound in the nearby mountains and proximate region.

For more details and to apply online (if link does not work copy and paste into web browser):

<https://careers-usu.icims.com/jobs/5451/job>

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/3/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10597

Wake Forest University

Rank: ASSISTANT PROFESSOR OF AFRICANA POLITICAL THOUGHT (TENURE-TRACK POSITION IN POLITICS AND INTERNATIONAL AFFAIRS & AFRICAN AMERICAN STUDIES)

Subfield(s): Political Theory, American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics

Specializations: Africa, African American Politics, Political Theory

WAKE FOREST UNIVERSITY's Department of Politics and International Affairs (POL) and the Program in African American Studies

(AAS) seek a teacher-scholar for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position in Africana political thought to start July 1, 2023. We invite applications from scholars with research and teaching expertise in the political, ethical and philosophical discourses produced by continental and diasporic Africans and their descendants in the diaspora. The successful candidate will have the opportunity to contribute to enhancing the curriculum in African American Studies and Politics and International Affairs by developing a signature profile in Africana political thought, deepening scholarly conversations in political theory with critical intellectual traditions, ideas, debates, and conversational partners in Africana political thought, and enhancing the curriculum in African American Studies, particularly the focal areas of "History, Culture, and Theory" and "Ethics, Politics, and Society." Candidates must have an earned Ph.D. degree or advanced ABD status in African American/Africana Studies, Political Science, or a closely related field, and a record of study and scholarship related to the area of expertise. More information about the Department is available at <http://politics.wfu.edu/> and the Program in African American Studies at <https://afam.wfu.edu/>.

We believe in a diverse intellectual community in which varied perspectives and identities are represented and included in a community that supports excellent teaching and scholarship. Many faculty in both the Program and Department engage formally and informally with interdisciplinary scholarship and collaborate across academic disciplines. Candidates will also have opportunities to develop and teach courses that connect with their research agendas. Compelling applicants will demonstrate a commitment to excellence in teaching, mentoring, and advising undergraduate students from diverse backgrounds, including international students, first generation students, and those who identify as members of historically marginalized communities.

Wake Forest University is a private, coeducational institution dedicated to academic excellence in liberal arts, graduate, and professional education. Founded in 1834, the University is ranked in the top 30 among national universities. With 5,200 undergraduates and 3,200 graduate and professional students, the student-faculty ratio is 11:1. Wake Forest is a collegiate university offering a vibrant intellectual community with a rich cultural life, an impressive array of facilities and an active athletics community. The University has a deep institutional commitment to public service and engagement with the world, encapsulated in its motto "Pro Humanitate." To learn more about the University, please visit <https://about.wfu.edu/>

Interested applicants should apply via the University's career website at: <https://hr.wfu.edu/careers/>. The application should be submitted as ONE PDF file, which includes all of the following:

- ? Cover letter addressing the motivation to join our teacher-scholar community;
- ? Curriculum vitae including contact information for three professional references;
- ? Research statement describing candidate's current research and future trajectory;
- ? Scholarly writing sample (e.g. journal article, dissertation chapter, or draft);
- ? Teaching statement including plan to establish an inclusive learning environment;
- ? Sample undergraduate course syllabi (only required of candidates who advance to a shortlist);
- ? Teaching evaluations or other evidence of effective student engagement (only required of candidates who advance to a shortlist);

? Copy of graduate transcript(s) (official copies only required upon employment).

In addition to the above, we ask that candidates have three letters of recommendation emailed directly to wfupol@wfu.edu. Review of applications will begin on September 12, 2022. Applications will be accepted until the position is filled, but to guarantee full consideration they should be received by the end of the business day on September 9, 2022. If access to the internet is an issue, a hard copy of the application can be submitted to the Department of Politics and International Affairs, Wake Forest University, Winston-Salem, NC 27109.

Inquiries about the application process and document submission may be addressed to AskHR@wfu.edu. Inquiries about the faculty position or Department should be directed to Michaelle Browsers, Chair and Professor, Politics and International Affairs, browerm@wfu.edu. Inquiries about the Program in African American Studies should be directed to Corey Walker, Wake Forest Professor of the Humanities and Director of the Program in African American Studies, walkerco@wfu.edu. Wake Forest University, and the Department of Politics and International Affairs welcomes applications from all who would bring additional dimensions to the University's research, teaching and community engagement.

In order to provide a safe and productive learning and living community, Wake Forest University conducts background investigations for final candidates upon their acceptance of an offer of employment.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/3/2022

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 10590

Wake Forest University

Rank: ASSISTANT PROFESSOR OF POLITICS (TENURE-TRACK POSITION IN RUSSIAN AND EURASIAN POLITICS)

Specializations: Russia, Post Soviet Region, Post Communist Europe

WAKE FOREST UNIVERSITY's Department of Politics and International Affairs (POL) seeks a teacher-scholar for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position in the field of Russian and Eurasian politics to start July 1, 2023. We believe that a diverse community in which varied perspectives and identities are represented and included is a community that supports excellent teaching and scholarship and, thus, desire candidates whose areas of specialty will complement those already represented in the Department and Program. More information about the Department is available at <http://politics.wfu.edu/>.

The Department is particularly interested in applicants that can fill our need to teach courses on the territory of the former Soviet Union, including states in Eastern Europe (Belarus, Georgia, Moldova, Russia, Ukraine), the Caucasus region (Armenia and Azerbaijan) and Central Asia (Kazakhstan, Kyrgyzstan, Tajikistan, Turkmenistan, Uzbekistan). The successful candidate would teach POL 114 Introduction to Comparative Government, a divisional offering in high demand in POL. Candidates should have an earned Ph.D. degree or advanced ABD status in Political Science and a record of study and scholarship related to the region. Demonstrated competency in one or more regional languages and field research experience is also highly desirable.

The successful candidate will combine an active research agenda with a commitment to excellence in teaching and offer introductory courses in comparative politics. Candidates will also have opportunities to develop and teach courses that connect with their research agendas. Besides a commitment to research and excellence in teaching, compelling candidates will demonstrate the ability to mentor and advise undergraduate students from diverse backgrounds, including international students, first-generation students, and those who identify as members of historically marginalized communities.

Many faculty in the Politics and International Affairs Department engage formally and informally with interdisciplinary academic programs including, Russian and Eastern European Studies; Latin American and Latino Studies; Middle East and South Asia Studies; East Asian Studies; African Studies; Women's, Gender, and Sexuality Studies; American Ethnic Studies; International Studies; and Environmental and Sustainability Studies.

Wake Forest University is a private, coeducational institution dedicated to academic excellence in liberal arts, graduate, and professional education. Founded in 1834, the University is ranked in the top 30 among national universities. With 5,200 undergraduates and 3,200 graduate and professional students, the University has a student-faculty ratio of 11:1. Wake Forest is a collegiate university offering a vibrant intellectual community with a rich cultural life, an impressive array of facilities and an active athletics community.

The University has a deep institutional commitment to public service and engagement with the world, encapsulated in its motto "pro-Humanitate." The Office of Civic and Community Engagement works to realize that ideal by serving as a hub for connecting students, staff, and faculty with community partners to create meaningful social change. To learn more about the University, please visit <https://about.wfu.edu/>

Interested applicants should apply via the University's career website at: <https://hr.wfu.edu/careers/>. The application should be submitted as ONE PDF file, which includes all of the following:

- ? Cover letter addressing the motivation to join our teacher-scholar community;
- ? Curriculum vitae including contact information for three professional references;
- ? Research statement describing candidate's current research and future trajectory;
- ? Scholarly writing sample (e.g. journal article, dissertation chapter, or draft);
- ? Teaching statement including plan to establish an inclusive learning environment;
- ? Sample undergraduate course syllabi;
- ? Teaching evaluations or other evidence of effective student engagement;
- ? Copy of graduate transcript(s) (official copies only required upon employment).

In addition to the above, we ask that candidates have three letters of recommendation sent directly to wfupol@wfu.edu. Review of applications will begin on September 12, 2022. Applications will be accepted until the position is filled, but to guarantee full consideration they should be received by the end of the business day on September 9, 2022.

Inquiries about the application process and document submission may be addressed to AskHR@wfu.edu. Inquiries about the faculty position or department should be directed to Michaelle Browsers, Chair and Professor, Politics and International Affairs, browerm@wfu.edu.

In order to provide a safe and productive learning and living community, Wake Forest University conducts background investigations for final candidates upon their acceptance of an offer of employment.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/3/2022

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 10592

Wake Forest University

Rank: ASSOCIATE/OPEN RANK PROFESSOR OF LATIN AMERICAN POLITICS (TENURED/TENURE-TRACK POSITION IN POLITICS AND INTERNATIONAL AFFAIRS & LATIN AMERICAN AND LATINO STUDIES)

Specializations: Latin American, Latino Politics, South America

WAKE FOREST UNIVERSITY's Department of Politics and International Affairs (POL) and the Program in Latin American and Latino Studies (LAS) seek a teacher-scholar for a tenured Associate Professor position in the field of Latin American politics to start July 1, 2023. Although the position is approved at the Associate Professor level, the committee will consider applications for all tenured/tenure track ranks. We believe that a diverse community in which varied perspectives and identities are represented and included is a community that supports excellent teaching and scholarship and, thus, desire candidates whose areas of specialty will complement those already represented among Latin American politics scholars in the Department and Program. More information about the Department is available at <http://politics.wfu.edu/>. More information about the LAS Program is available at <https://lals.wfu.edu/>.

We invite applications from Latin American politics scholars, and have a particular interest in those with expertise in any of the following, listed in no particular order: political economy, electoral analysis, social movements, ethnonationalism, populism, conflict studies, migration, and environmental policy. Candidates should have an earned Ph.D. degree or advanced ABD status in Political Science and a record of study and scholarship related to the region. Demonstrated competency in one or more of the languages of and experience of field research in the region are also highly desirable.

The successful candidate would expect to play a major role in building Wake Forest's Latin American and Latino Studies Program, including regularly teaching the Program's LAS 210 Introduction to Latin American and Latino Studies. Other courses would be offered in the Politics and International Affairs Department, many of which we expect to crosslist with LAS and, as needed, would include contributing to the teaching of POL 114 Introduction to Comparative Government, a divisional offering in high demand in the Department.

Many faculty in the Politics and International Affairs Department engage formally and informally with interdisciplinary academic programs including, in addition to Latin American and Latino Studies: Middle East and South Asia Studies; East Asian Studies; African Studies; Women's, Gender, and Sexuality Studies; American Ethnic Studies; International Studies; and Environmental and Sustainability Studies.

We seek candidates pursuing an active research agenda and committed to excellence in teaching who are prepared to teach introductory courses in comparative politics. Candidates will also have opportunities to develop and teach courses that connect with their research agendas. Compelling applicants will demonstrate a commitment to excellence in teaching, mentoring, and advising undergraduate students from diverse backgrounds, including international students, first generation students, and those who identify as members of historically marginalized communities.

Wake Forest University is a private, coeducational institution dedicated to academic excellence in liberal arts, graduate, and professional education. Founded in 1834, the University is ranked in the top 30 among national universities. With 5,200 undergraduates and 3,200 graduate and professional students, the student-faculty ratio is 11:1. Wake Forest is a collegiate university offering a vibrant intellectual community with a rich cultural life, an impressive array of facilities and an active athletics community.

The University has a deep institutional commitment to public service and engagement with the world, encapsulated in its motto “pro-Humanitate.” The Office of Civic and Community Engagement works to realize that ideal by serving as a hub for connecting students, staff, and faculty with community partners to create meaningful social change. To learn more about the University, please visit <https://about.wfu.edu/>

Interested applicants should apply via the University’s career website at: <https://hr.wfu.edu/careers/>. The application should be submitted as ONE PDF file, which includes all of the following:

- ? Cover letter addressing the motivation to join our teacher-scholar community;
- ? Curriculum vitae including contact information for three professional references;
- ? Research statement describing candidate’s current research and future trajectory;
- ? Scholarly writing sample (e.g. journal article, dissertation chapter, or draft);
- ? Teaching statement including plan to establish an inclusive learning environment;
- ? Sample undergraduate course syllabi;
- ? Teaching evaluations or other evidence of effective student engagement;
- ? Copy of graduate transcript(s) (official copies only required upon employment).

In addition to the above, we ask that candidates have three letters of recommendation emailed directly to wfupol@wfu.edu. Review of applications will begin on September 12, 2022. Applications will be accepted until the position is filled, but to guarantee full consideration they should be received by the end of the business day on September 9, 2022.

Inquiries about the application process and document submission may be addressed to AskHR@wfu.edu. Inquiries about the faculty position or department should be directed to Michaëlle Browsers, Chair and Professor, Politics and International Affairs, browerm@wfu.edu.

In order to provide a safe and productive learning and living community, Wake Forest University conducts background investigations for final candidates upon their acceptance of an offer of employment

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/3/2022

Salary: $90,000 - $99,999

eJobs ID: 10593

Yale University

Rank: Assistant/Associate/Full Professor, Political Science

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, American Government and Politics, International Relations

The Department of Political Science at Yale University is seeking to hire several faculty at the rank of Assistant, Associate, or Full Professor with an appointment in the fields of American Politics, Comparative Politics, Political Economy, and/or International Relations, beginning July 1, 2023. We are interested in candidates who study all areas of the world, but we particularly encourage those with strong subject matter expertise in Japanese Politics or the politics of the Middle East to apply. Suitable candidates may also be hired jointly with the Statistics and Data Sciences Department, in which case faculty will be expected to share their teaching and service obligations between the departments. If candidates are appointed at the untenured level, the initial appointment will be for 5 years. The teaching expectation is normally 3 courses per academic year, plus service to the program(s).

<http://apply.interfolio.com/110488>

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 9/5/2023

Date Posted: 8/3/2022

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 10595

Yale University

Rank: Associate/Full Professor, International Relations, Comparative Political Economy, Comparative Politics

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Other

The Department of Political Science and the Jackson School of Global Affairs at Yale University are looking to hire several faculty at the rank of Associate or Full Professor with tenure, with an appointment in International Relations, Comparative Political Economy, and Comparative Politics, beginning July 1, 2023. Faculty are expected to share their teaching and service obligations between both the Political Science Department and the Jackson School of Global Affairs. The teaching expectation is normally 3 courses per academic year, plus service to the programs.

<http://apply.interfolio.com/110491>

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 9/5/2023

Date Posted: 8/3/2022

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 10594

Hebrew University of Jerusalem

Rank: position at the PPE department

Specializations: Political Behavior, Political Economy, Political Development

The Integrative Program in Philosophy, Economics, and Politics (PPE) - 2023

The Integrative Program in Politics, Philosophy and Economics (PPE) is looking to recruit full-time faculty for a position beginning July 2023. We welcome applicants whose research and teaching deal with issues, or employ methods, that belong to at least two of the PPE disciplines.

In Political Science we are particularly interested in applicants who conduct empirical research (we are open to diverse methods and regions of interest). In Economics we will consider applicants in all fields. In Philosophy we are particularly interested in applicants whose one of their AOS is the philosophy of social science.

Applicants must also apply simultaneously to a position at the other relevant department at HUJI.

Salary will be determined according to salary criteria existing in the institution and experience. The amount shown in APSA is not final, It's estimated.

Application Submission

A. Please fill out the Online Application Form

B. Please upload the following documents according to Documents Upload page:

- Detailed CV
- Full list of publications
- A scientific biography, including a research plan for the next several years
- Teaching evaluations
- A list of relevant courses that the applicant is willing to teach
- Copies of most recent publications.

C. Three letters of recommendation - sent according to the guidelines described here

D. Please follow the instructions shown on 'Submission Status' page

The language of teaching at The Hebrew University of Jerusalem is Hebrew, though some courses are taught in English. New faculty members are expected to be able to teach in Hebrew within a few years of their arrival.

The deadline for applications is 30.09.2022

Applicants will have to compete for appointment with other candidates in other departments within the faculty of social science.

Priority will be given to women, as well as members of other under-represented visible minorities.

Proficiency in the Hebrew language is an advantage but not a requirement.

For more details: ittay.nissan@mail.huji.ac.il

Start Date: Summer 2023

Application Deadline: 9/30/2022

Date Posted: 8/2/2022

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 10580

Morgan State University

Rank: Assistant Professor - International Relations

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Open

Specializations: Middle East, Africa, Caribbean

The Department of Political Science invites applicants for a full-time tenure track position at the rank of Assistant Professor effective August 2023. The applicant must hold the Ph. D in Political Science with a concentration in International Relations. The applicant is expected to teach undergraduate and upper-level courses as well as graduate courses in International Studies. The courses include International Relations, Political Theory, Comparative Governments, and Foreign Affairs. The candidate is expected to teach one regional area such as Europe, sub-Sahara Africa, Asia, Middle East and North Africa, the Caribbean and Latin America. Occasionally, the applicant may teach critical topics such as International Problems, Politics of Climate Changes, and Migration and must be willing to engage in inter/transdisciplinary collaborations in teaching.

In addition to teaching, duties will include research, service to the program, university, and the community, especially initiating and participating in student-centered activities, and helping students to develop skills that are fundamental to a liberal education such as critical thinking and analytical writing.

The successful candidate is expected to commit to excellence; to create a welcoming and supportive environment for all students; contribute to student learning and an ability and willingness to participate actively in the Department's advisement of students and service responsibilities.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/2/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10588

Brown University

Rank: Watson Institute Postdoctoral Fellows Program 2022-2024

Subfield(s): International Relations, Public Policy, Comparative Politics

The Watson Institute for International and Public Affairs at Brown University aspires to promote a just and peaceful world through research, teaching, and public engagement. Central to this mission is the Watson Postdoctoral Fellows Program, an effort to galvanize the careers of young social scientists conducting research related to the Institute's three core thematic areas:

development, governance, and security. Participants in this program will join an interdisciplinary community of scholars engaged in theoretically and substantively important research addressing the most pressing global issues of our time. Fellows receive two years of support, with the expectation that they will pursue research and participate fully in the intellectual life of the Institute. Fellows will also teach one course per year in the Institute or in an affiliated Brown University social science department. Watson Institute is especially interested in qualified candidates who can contribute, through their research, teaching, and/or service, to the diversity and excellence of the academic community.

Founded in 1764, Brown is a leading research university distinct for its student-centered learning and deep sense of purpose. Brown University students, faculty, and staff are driven by the idea that their work will have an impact on the world. Brown is a place where rigorous scholarship, complex problem-solving, and service to the public good are defined by collaboration, intellectual discovery, and working in ways that transcend traditional disciplinary boundaries.

The fellowship competition is open to candidates from the social sciences, including anthropology, economics, history, political science, and sociology. The selection process, open with regard to nationality and geographic area of research, is highly competitive and typically generates over 500 applications for 4 or 5 places. Scholars who have received their PhDs within two years of the application deadline are eligible to apply. Individuals who are currently – or have previously been – postdoctoral fellows in other programs are not eligible to apply. Fellows will receive an annual stipend of $60,000, for this benefits-eligible position. Additional funding will be made available for research expenses and research-related programming on campus. Candidates selected for the Postdoctoral Fellows program who have not completed their dissertations by July 1, 2023, will be paid a reduced salary until their dissertation is defended.

To receive full consideration, the following materials should be submitted by September 30, 2022 to the application portal <http://apply.interfolio.com/109862>

- A cover letter stating the applicant's academic field, status of their dissertation, and proposed research to be conducted during their fellowship period. The cover letter should not exceed 2,000 words and should make clear where in the Institute's core areas of security, development, or governance the proposed research best fits.

Please also include a statement about teaching in a diverse and inclusive classroom.

- An up-to-date curriculum vitae.
- A copy of each graduate transcript.
- A writing sample.
- Three letters of recommendation from scholars familiar with the applicant's research.

Review of applications will begin on September 30; to receive full consideration applications should be received by that date. Awards will be announced in January 2023.

For further information regarding the Watson Institute Postdoctoral Fellows Program, please visit the Watson Institute website (watson.brown.edu) or contact: Professor J. Nicholas Ziegler, Faculty Director of the Watson Postdoctoral Fellows Program, 2022-2023, Thomas J. Watson Jr. Institute for International and Public Affairs, Brown University, 111 Thayer Street, Box 1970 Providence, RI 02912. j_ziegler@brown.edu. For information about the application process, please email: Watson_Applications@brown.edu

Brown University is situated on the East Side of Providence, on historic College Hill, overlooking downtown Providence. The area around Brown has a friendly, residential vibe, with plentiful housing options, shopping, cafés, and restaurants, all within walking distance of campus. With its low cost of living and historic architecture, the capital city is a vibrant place to live and work that offers a dynamic arts and culture scene, including many music, theater, and art venues. Located in southern New England, the State of Rhode Island features more than 400 miles of coastline and 100 beaches. Beautiful farms, vineyards, orchards, wooded trails, and numerous historic towns cover its 1200 square miles.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 9/30/2020

Date Posted: 8/1/2022

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 10554

Smith College

Rank: Assistant Professor of Government

Specializations: International Political Economy, Southeast Asia, Gender Politics & Policy

The Department of Government (GOV) at Smith College invites applications for two tenure-track positions: one in Political Theory and another in Comparative Politics and/or International Relations. Both positions are at the rank of Assistant Professor and will begin July 1, 2023.

By time of appointment each applicant must have a Ph.D. in Political Science or a closely related discipline (e.g. philosophy; public policy). Each position has a teaching load of 2:2—i.e., four semester-long courses over the academic year. The hires will also be expected to contribute to student learning beyond regular classes through directing student research and Honors Theses, offering independent studies, and helping with departmental administrative, curricular, and advising responsibilities.

Candidates for the Political Theory position should specialize in modern political thought of the 18th, 19th, and/or 20th centuries. Our ideal candidate will have expertise in one or more of the following areas: feminist political thought; political theories of gender and sexuality; continental political thought; and/or critical theory. We anticipate that a successful candidate for this position will regularly teach Introduction to Political Thinking (an introductory course in the history of political thought which serves as a gateway to the Government major), courses in Modern Political Thought, and upper-division courses relating to their areas of expertise (e.g., Feminist Political Thought; Queer Theory; Critical Theory; Marxism).

Candidates for the Comparative Politics/International Relations position should have regional expertise in the politics of South and/or Southeast Asia. We encourage applications for this position from scholars using a range of methodological approaches and focusing on a variety of topics, including but not limited to: the politics of religion and ethnicity; political violence; political parties and elections; regional security; geopolitical rivalries; and regional conflict and cooperation. We anticipate that a successful candidate for this position will be prepared to teach Introduction to Comparative Politics and/or Introduction to International Relations, courses on the politics of South or Southeast Asia or particular countries within those regions, and upper-division courses relating to their area(s) of expertise.

Candidates from groups underrepresented in political science are encouraged to apply. Successful candidates should be prepared to engage actively with diverse students across the liberal arts.

Located in Northampton, MA, Smith College is the largest women's college in the country, dedicated to excellence in teaching and research across the liberal arts. A faculty of outstanding scholars interact with students in small classes, as advisors, and through student-faculty research projects. Smith College offers opportunities to foster faculty success at every career stage, such as those listed here.

The College is a member of the Five College Consortium with Amherst, Hampshire, and Mt. Holyoke Colleges, and the University of Massachusetts Amherst. Students cross-enroll and faculty cross-teach across the Five Colleges. Details about the Department of Government may be found at <https://www.smith.edu/gov/>.

Submit applications at <http://apply.interfolio.com/110549> with a cover letter describing your research and teaching interests, curriculum vitae, teaching statement, diversity/inclusion statement, chapter- or article-length writing sample, and the contact information for three confidential references. Finalists may be asked for additional materials. Review of applications will begin October 1, 2022.

Diversity and a culture of equity and inclusion among students, staff, faculty, and administration are crucial to the mission and values of Smith College. We are an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity employer and do not discriminate on the basis of race, gender, age, color, religion, national origin, disability, sexual orientation, gender identity and expression, or veteran status in the recruitment and employment of faculty and staff, and the operation of any of its programs and activities, as specified by all applicable laws and regulations. Women, historically underrepresented minorities, veterans, and individuals with disabilities are encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Summer 2023

Application Deadline: 10/1/2022

Date Posted: 8/1/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10565

University of Memphis

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of Political Science at The University of Memphis invites applications for a tenure track position in Comparative Politics at the level of Assistant Professor. The position will start in the fall 2023 pending the availability of funds. Candidates must have the Ph.D. in hand by August 2023. We seek applications from candidates in all areas of comparative politics. Candidates must be able to teach undergraduate and graduate classes in comparative politics and must show promise of excellence in research and teaching. Salary is competitive and commensurate with qualifications and experience.

Please submit a letter detailing current research interests and teaching experience, a curriculum vitae, a graduate transcript, a writing sample (dissertation chapter, published article or conference paper), evidence of teaching potential, and three letters of recommendation on-line at <https://workforum.memphis.edu/postings/32341>.

For all other inquiries please contact: Comparative Politics Search Committee, Department of Political Science, The University of Memphis, TN 38152. Review of applications will begin on October 1, 2022 and may continue until the position is filled. The University of Memphis is a Research I University with an enrollment of approximately 20,000 students. The University of Memphis is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer committed to diversifying its work force. Applications from women, minorities, and individuals with disabilities are strongly encouraged.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 10/1/2022

Date Posted: 8/1/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10508

Boston College

Rank: Assistant Professor in Comparative Politics of Middle East/North Africa

The Department of Political Science of Boston College invites applications for a full-time tenure-track position at the Assistant Professor rank in Comparative Politics of Middle East/North Africa. This position is open in regard to research focus and methods. Preference will be given to candidates with substantive fieldwork and demonstrated teaching excellence, and a broad knowledge of the region.

The appointment begins late-August 2023. Candidates are expected to have their Ph.D. in hand by the start date. Interested candidates should upload their letter of interest, stating research and teaching interests; curriculum vitae and writing sample; and evidence of teaching quality to Interfolio at APPLY.INTERFOLIO.COM/110037. Three confidential letters of recommendation should be uploaded to Interfolio by the individual letter writers. Applications must be received by October 1, 2022. No email applications or U.S.P.S. applications will be accepted.

Boston College conducts pre-employment background checks as part of the hiring process and requires all its employees to be fully vaccinated and boosted for COVID-19.

Boston College is a Jesuit, Catholic university that strives to integrate research excellence with a foundational commitment to formative liberal arts education. We encourage applications from candidates who are committed to fostering a diverse and inclusive academic community. Boston College is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer and does not discriminate on the basis of any legally protected category including disability and protected veteran status. To learn more about how BC supports diversity and inclusion throughout the university, please visit the Office for Institutional Diversity at <http://www.bc.edu/offices/diversity>.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 10/1/2022

Date Posted: 7/28/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10551

Tulane University

Rank: Assistant Professor (Tenure-track) in International Development

Specializations: Africa, South Asia, India

Position description: We seek an Assistant Professor (tenure-track) in International Development. Applications with specializations in gender and development or climate/resource politics, and a regional focus on Africa or South Asia/India, are especially welcome. The teaching load is 2-2. The prospective hire will contribute to the Political Science program at the undergraduate and graduate curricular levels. The expected start date for this position is July 1, 2023. For further questions about the position, contact Prof. Eduardo Silva, gesilva@tulane.edu

Qualifications: PhD in Political Science preferred. ABD candidates will be considered.

We value diversity and inclusion. Members of minorities and traditionally underrepresented groups are encouraged to apply.

Application instructions: Please send in a cover letter, a CV, a statement of research, a teaching statement, a diversity statement, a writing sample, and 3 letters of recommendation by September 9, 2022.

All materials should be uploaded directly in Interfolio: apply.interfolio.com/110111

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 9/9/2022

Date Posted: 7/28/2022

Salary: $70,000 - $79,999
eJobs ID: 10553

Boston College

Rank: Assistant Professor in Comparative Politics of Latin America

The Department of Political Science of Boston College invites applications for a full-time tenure-track position at the Assistant Professor rank in Comparative Politics of Latin America. The position is open in regard to research focus and methods. Preference will be given to candidates with substantive fieldwork and demonstrated teaching excellence, and a broad knowledge of the region. We are particularly interested in candidates whose research and teaching are in the areas of Religion and Politics, Migration and Refugee Politics, Ethno-racial and Identity Politics or Post-Colonialism. This position will complement other academic programs at Boston College.

The appointment begins late-August 2023. Candidates are expected to have their Ph.D. in hand by the start date. Interested candidates should upload their letter of interest, stating research and teaching interests; curriculum vitae and writing sample; and evidence of teaching quality to Interfolio at APPLY.INTERFOLIO.COM/110035. Three confidential letters of recommendation should be uploaded to Interfolio by the individual letter writers. Applications must be received by October 1, 2022. No email applications or U.S.P.S. applications will be accepted.

Boston College conducts pre-employment background checks as part of the hiring process and requires all its employees to be fully vaccinated and boosted for COVID-19.

Boston College is a Jesuit, Catholic university that strives to integrate research excellence with a foundational commitment to formative liberal arts education. We encourage applications from candidates who are committed to fostering a diverse and inclusive academic community. Boston College is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer and does not discriminate on the basis of any legally protected category including disability and protected veteran status. To learn more about how BC supports diversity and inclusion throughout the university, please visit the Office for Institutional Diversity at <http://www.bc.edu/offices/diversity>

Start Date: Fall 2023
Application Deadline: 10/1/2022
Date Posted: 7/27/2022
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 10541

Florida State University

Rank: Assistant Professor in Race, Ethnicity, and Politics

The Department of Political Science (<https://coss.fsu.edu/polisci/>) in the College of Social Sciences & Public Policy at Florida State University seeks applications for a tenure-track assistant professor to begin in Fall 2023. We seek candidates whose research focuses on race, ethnicity, and politics. The search is open with respect to specialization, although it is expected that applicants will contribute to the study of American or comparative political behavior or political institutions.

Florida State University is a Carnegie Foundation classified Research I institution. Among its 44,000 students are over 10,000 graduate students pursuing over 200 programs of study. Tallahassee is Florida's capital and has a metropolitan population of over 385,000. Its principal employers are state government and three higher education institutions.

Applicants should submit (1) a letter of application indicating research and teaching interests, (2) a curriculum vitae, (3) writing samples, (4) three letters of recommendation, and (5) a graduate school transcript. All items must be submitted electronically. Send these files as separate email attachments (PDFs are expected) to polisci@fsu.edu and specify "REP Search" in the subject line. Review of applications will begin September 2, 2022 and will continue until the position is filled.

Contact: Prof. Amanda Driscoll
Email: adriscoll@fsu.edu
Phone: 850-644-5727

Department of Political Science
 Florida State University
 P.O. Box 3062160
 Bellamy 531
 Tallahassee, FL 32306-2230

Start Date: Fall 2023
Application Deadline: 9/2/2022
Date Posted: 7/27/2022
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 10544

Johns Hopkins University

Rank: Assistant Program Director/Lecturer or Sr. Lecturer, Security and Intelligence

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Other
Specializations: Intelligence, Defense, Foreign Policy

Johns Hopkins University
 Zanvyl Krieger School of Arts and Sciences
 Advanced Academic Programs

Apply here: <https://apply.interfolio.com/110586>

Location:
 Washington, DC

Description:
 The Johns Hopkins University invites applications for the position of Assistant Program Director in the area of Security and Intelligence. This position will support the MA in Global Security Studies (primary), MS in Intelligence Analysis, and MS in Geospatial Intelligence programs in the Center for Advanced Governmental Studies, within the Krieger School of Arts & Sciences' Advanced Academic Programs Division. Reporting to the Director of the Center for Advanced Governmental Studies and Associate Dean for Graduate & Professional Programs, the Assistant Program Director will contribute to the excellence of the programs and will demonstrate and support ongoing innovation in the curriculums. Johns Hopkins University is committed to hiring candidates who, through their teaching and service, will contribute to the diversity and excellence of the academic community.

Advanced Academic Programs:

The Advanced Academic Programs (AAP) is a division of the Krieger School of Arts & Sciences at the Johns Hopkins University (JHU). As the nation's oldest and one of its most prestigious research universities, JHU offers high-quality master's degrees and post-baccalaureate education to students online, at its Washington, DC Center, and at the Homewood campus in Baltimore, MD. AAP enrolls over 6,000 students each academic year in over 45-degree programs.

AAP was started in 1992 to provide students with the opportunity to obtain a master's degree in a professional and part-time graduate program. Over the course of nearly 30 years, AAP has worked diligently to add new degree programs that fit within the academic structure of the Krieger School and satisfy the demands of the marketplace. AAP distinguishes itself through its intensive instructional assistance, selective admissions, and more than 50 dedicated full-time faculty. Tenured Krieger School faculty members serve as Program Chairs within AAP and work together in the Council of Program Chairs, an academic advisory body to the KSAS Dean.

AAP's website, <http://advanced.jhu.edu/>, provides additional information.

The Position:

AAP's programs in security and intelligence prepare students for positions in foreign affairs, national security and the intelligence community. Students learn how to confront the complexities of today's security environment with the latest policy and theoretical tools for analysis and action. The programs' courses are designed to maximize individual attention, encourage student contribution, build analytical skills, and provide the tools for engaging in original research. With an ever-growing and diverse student body, the programs are continually expanding and enhancing their course offerings to meet both academic and practitioner needs. Currently, the programs serve nearly 400 students both onsite and online, including a growing number of international students.

In both academic and administrative roles, the Assistant Program Director supports the curriculums, students, and adjunct faculty. The Assistant Program Director will have significant interaction/collaboration with the Program Directors and other faculty within the Center for Advanced Governmental Studies, as well as across other AAP programs, including the Energy Policy and Climate and Environmental Sciences and Policy programs.

The Assistant Program Director is a full-time, non-tenure-track, 12-month renewable faculty position with the academic title of Lecturer or Senior Lecturer, commensurate with experience. The Assistant Program Director reports to the Director of the Center for Advanced Governmental Studies, who consults with the Program Chair on academic matters, and to the Associate Dean for Graduate & Professional Programs, who leads the Advanced Academic Programs and reports to the Dean of the Krieger School of Arts & Sciences.

The Assistant Program Director will have the following academic and administrative responsibilities:

Academic Responsibilities:

Teach 6 graduate courses per year, including preparation and time spent in the classroom (both on-site in the Washington, DC Center and online), using best practices for teaching, engaging, and mentoring students from diverse backgrounds in the learning process, and responding to student questions
Advise students, including both program and research advising

Provide input on the curriculums and new course development to ensure the delivery and growth of quality programs
Other academic duties normally performed by full-time or regular part-time faculty, such as participating on committees, attending academic events, or contributing to other academic service

Administrative Responsibilities:

Assist with the management of degree concentrations or areas of focus
Participate in the adjunct faculty hiring and development processes
Assist the Program Directors with administrative tasks, such as planning events and reviewing admission materials
Other administrative duties as assigned

Qualifications:

The Assistant Program Director role is critical to maintaining the overall high quality of this program. The Assistant Program Director must have passion for education and its power to change lives, especially for international, part-time, and non-residential students. A track record of successful graduate and/or online teaching, as well as skills in instructional design, content development, and instructional technology, are important.

Candidates who have experience teaching and engaging students from diverse backgrounds are of particular interest.

To be considered, candidates should meet a set of minimum qualifications and ideally meet several additional preferred qualifications.

Minimum Qualifications:

- PhD in political science, international affairs, security studies, intelligence, or other field relevant to the interdisciplinary nature of global security studies; other terminal degrees in these or related fields may be considered
- 1-3 years of higher education teaching experience online and/or at the graduate level
- The ability to teach a variety of courses in the global security fields, including research-focused courses
- Strong organizational skills
- Excellent oral and written communication skills

Preferred Qualifications:

- 4 or more years of higher education teaching experience online and/or at the graduate level
- 1-3 years of work experience related professional work experience outside of academia, including but not limited to, government service, outside consulting, or collaborative work within fields related to security studies and intelligence
- Experience managing a degree or certificate program
- Demonstrated track record of excellence in teaching and innovation in curriculum design
- The ability to work independently in a fast-paced environment with competing demands and multiple deadlines in both on-site and online environments

Application Instructions:

For consideration; interested and qualified candidates should submit the following materials via Interfolio (<https://apply.interfolio.com/110586>):

- Cover letter that describes the applicant's interest in the position
- CV
- Teaching evaluations from the two most recent semesters

The selected candidate will be expected to undergo a background check and to submit proof of educational attainment.

Start Date: Spring 2023
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 7/27/2022
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 10548

Western Washington University

Rank: Assistant Professor, Comparative Politics

About the University:
 Western Washington University, with over 16,000 students in seven colleges and the graduate school, is nationally recognized for its educational programs, students and faculty. Western is the highest-ranking public, master's-granting university in the Pacific Northwest, according to the 2019 U.S. News & World Report rankings. Its mission is to serve the state of Washington and beyond by bringing together individuals of diverse backgrounds and perspectives in an inclusive university that develops the potential of learners and the well-being of communities.

Faculty at Western Washington University enjoy a balance of teaching, scholarship, and service at this leading public comprehensive university in the Pacific Northwest.

The campus is located in Bellingham, Washington, a coastal community of 90,000 overlooking Bellingham Bay, the San Juan Islands and the North Cascades Mountain range. The city lies 90 miles north of Seattle and 60 miles south of Vancouver, British Columbia. <http://www.wwu.edu/>

About the Department:
 The Department of Political Science has 16 full-time tenured and tenure track faculty members and approximately 340 majors and minors. Our work encompasses American politics, comparative politics, international relations, public policy, and political theory. We bring cross-cultural and intersectional knowledge to bear on all of our course offerings. We have a history of and a pedagogical commitment to integrating considerations of race, gender, class and sexuality into all aspects of our curriculum. The Department affirms Western's mission to welcome and embraces diversity, equity and inclusion, and we encourage applications from diverse candidates.

About the Position:
 The Political Science Department at Western Washington University invites applications for a tenure-track position in Comparative Politics with a specialization in the politics of the Middle East or Africa at the rank of Assistant Professor, beginning in September 2023.

The position requires teaching at both introductory and advanced undergraduate levels; an active research program; and service to the Political Science department, the university and the profession. Teaching will include introductory and upper division courses in Comparative Politics and advanced courses in the candidate's area of specialization. Teaching contribution is two courses per term. Criteria for promotion are described in the Political Science Department Unit Evaluation Plan, available on request. <https://chss.wwu.edu>

For the full position description go to the WWU HR Careers page: <https://hr.wwu.edu/careers-faculty?job=499957>

Required Qualifications:
 Doctorate or ABD at time of application in Political Science. If ABD, all degree requirements must be completed by June 15th of the first year of employment (e.g., for a September 2023 start date, all degree requirements must be completed by June 15, 2024).

 Specialization in one or both of the following: Politics of the Middle East or Africa
 Ability to effectively teach introductory and upper division courses in Comparative Politics
 Ability to develop and sustain a high quality research program
 Ability to work effectively within a diverse community of students, faculty, and staff

Preferred Qualifications:
 Demonstrated ability and commitment to cultivating learning environments that are equitable and inclusive of students with diverse social identities and backgrounds.

Salary:
 $66,000 - $69,000 commensurate with experience and qualifications. Relocation assistance may be available per University guidelines. Salary and start-up funds are to be determined upon being offered the position.

Application Instructions:
 Please submit a letter of application addressing the required and preferred qualifications, curriculum vitae, teaching materials including teaching philosophy, syllabi, and course evaluations (if available), and an example of scholarly writing. Three letters of recommendation will be required; please do not submit these. You will be required to provide the names and contact information of three references, and the Western PageUp application system will automatically send out the requests for these letters to your references.

Inquiries may be directed to the search committee chair, Shirin Deylami, at deylams@wwu.edu

Closing Date:
 Position closes September 16, 2022 at 11:55 pm.

Start Date: Fall 2023
Application Deadline: 9/16/2022
Date Posted: 7/27/2022
Salary: $60,000 - $69,999
eJobs ID: 10537

Academia Sinica

Rank: Assistant Research Fellow (equivalent to Assistant Professor)
Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Methodology

Position Announcement
 Institute of Political Science at Academia Sinica

1. The Institute of Political Science at Academia Sinica (IPSAS), Taipei, Taiwan, seeks to appoint full-time faculty members at the rank of assistant research fellow (which is equivalent to assistant professor). Application for higher rank will also be considered.

2. The applicant should specialize at least one of the following fields: (1) Taiwan politics and comparative democracy; (2) China and comparative politico-economic transition; (3) cross-Strait relations and international relations theory; (4) political changes in Asia and global democratic development; and, (5) political methodology.

3. The applicant must have a doctoral degree in political science or related disciplines, or is able to receive a Ph.D. degree by August 31, 2023.

4. Applicants for positions of assistant research fellow should submit the following documents:

- (1) curriculum vitae and a list of publications;
- (2) a photocopy of the doctoral degree certificate or certification for completion of course work and successful defense of dissertation (for applicants who have not yet passed the oral examination, proof for completion of courses and a letter certifying imminent holding of oral examination are required);
- (3) two copies of the doctoral dissertation (or draft) and other publications;
- (4) an abstract (in both English and Chinese) of the doctoral dissertation;
- (5) transcripts from undergraduate and graduate schools;
- (6) a statement of research accomplishments and research plan (in both English and Chinese and within three pages); and,
- (7) three letters of recommendation (written in English or Chinese and mailed directly by the recommender to IPSAS. If sending by email, please send the email by the school department or by a certification agency such as interfolio; those applying for the position of assistant research fellow should have one letter from the dissertation advisor).

5. Applicants for positions of associate research fellow or above should submit the following documents:

- (1) curriculum vitae and a list of publications;
- (2) a photocopy of the doctoral degree certificate;
- (3) three representative publications (and two copies each);
- (4) proofs for appointments in Taiwanese or international academic institutes;
- (5) a statement of research accomplishments and research plan (in both English and Chinese and within three pages); and,
- (6) three letters of recommendation (written in English or Chinese and mailed directly by the recommender to IPSAS. If sending by email, please send the email by the school department or by a certification agency such as interfolio).

6. The application should be sent to Dr. Chung-li Wu, Director, Institute of Political Science, Academia Sinica, 128 Academia Rd., Sec. 2, Taipei 115201, Taiwan, R.O.C.

7. Further questions can be forwarded to Ms. Ren-Yuan Lo at 886-2-2652-5303, faxed to 886-2-2783-2610, or e-mailed to ipsas@gate.sinica.edu.tw.

8. The application should be received by October 31, 2022.

Start Date: Spring 2023

Application Deadline: 10/31/2022

Date Posted: 7/22/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10513

New York University Faculty of Arts and Science
Rank: Faculty Fellow, The Center for European and Mediterranean Studies

Specializations: Environmental Policy, Civil Rights & Liberties, Western Europe

Faculty Fellow

The Center for European and Mediterranean Studies
 New York University Faculty of Arts and Science

Deadline: December 20, 2022

The Center for European and Mediterranean Studies in Arts and Science at New York University invites applicants for a Faculty Fellow position in the field of Mediterranean Studies. The initial appointment will be for one year beginning September 1, 2023, renewable annually for a maximum of three years, pending administrative and budgetary approval.

CEMS/NYU seeks a scholar experienced in advising student research and specializing in one or more of the following fields: comparative European and Mediterranean politics, anthropology, or sociology; or modern Mediterranean history. We seek the candidates with research and/or teaching interests concerning Southern Europe and the Mediterranean regions, with a specific focus on questions of migration, human rights, identity, inequality, or the environment.

Responsibilities include teaching three graduate and undergraduate courses per year - possibly including a graduate research methods seminar and overseeing undergraduate independent studies. The position also involves a significant role in advising theses for both master's students and undergraduate honors majors. Service to the program will involve representing the Center at university occasions and committee meetings. Candidates should demonstrate a commitment to interdisciplinary scholarship and excellence in teaching.

Qualifications

Candidates should have completed their Ph.D. no earlier than January 2018 and no later than August 1, 2023.

To apply, please submit a cover letter (including research interests and any undergraduate/graduate level courses for which you were the primary instructor or TA), CV, three letters of recommendation, writing sample, and a statement of diversity and inclusion. As diversity is an important part of the NYU mission, for the latter statement we ask you to provide a brief paragraph telling us how diversity figures into your past and present teaching, research, community engagement, and/or life experience, as well as how you would bring issues of diversity to bear on the teaching and programming of NYU CEMS. Information about diversity statements may be found at <http://as.nyu.edu/departments/facultydiversity/recruitment/diversity-statements.html>.

Applications should be submitted through <http://apply.interfolio.com/109626>

The Faculty of Arts and Science at NYU is at the heart of a leading research university that spans the globe. We seek scholars of the highest caliber who embody the diversity of the United States as well as the global society in which we live. We strongly encourage applications from women, racial and ethnic minorities, and other individuals who are under-represented in the profession, across color, creed, race, ethnic and national origin, physical ability, gender and sexual identity, or any other legally protected basis. NYU affirms the value of differing perspectives on the world as we strive to build the strongest possible university with the widest reach. To learn more about the FAS commitment to diversity, equality and inclusion, please read here <http://as.nyu.edu/departments/facultydiversity.html>.

EOE/Affirmative Action/Minorities/Females/Vet/Disabled/Sexual Orientation/Gender Identity.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 12/20/2022

Date Posted: 7/22/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10518

University of Delaware

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

The University of Delaware invites applications for a tenure track Assistant Professor of Political Science in the Department of Political Science and International Relations. Successful candidates should have a scholarly specialization in Comparative Politics. The effective start date is September 1, 2023.

We are seeking a scholar with research interests in democratization, de-democratization, democratic backsliding, and/or populism, broadly construed. We are open to various approaches to these issues. The region of specialization is open. Strong quantitative and/or qualitative methodological skills are required, and the selected candidate will be expected to be able to teach research methods classes (quantitative or qualitative) at the graduate level.

QUALIFICATIONS AND RESPONSIBILITIES: The selected candidate must have a Ph.D. in hand by September 1, 2023. Applicants who are ABD will be considered but must have a granted Ph.D. upon arrival. Applicants must be able to demonstrate the skills and capacity necessary for excellence in teaching and research in one or more of the specific areas listed above. The selected applicant will contribute to the Department's teaching, research, and service missions.

POLITICAL SCIENCE AND INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS AT UD: The Department of Political Science and International Relations within the College of Arts and Sciences has 23 full-time faculty, nearly 1,000 undergraduate majors and minors, and 40 doctoral students. The Department offers two undergraduate majors (Political Science and International Relations) and undergraduate minors in Political Science, Political Communication, and Politics and Social Justice, as well as a Ph.D. in Political Science. The department faculty covers five subfields of political science: American politics, comparative politics, international relations, political theory, and methodology. The faculty is a methodologically diverse and collegial group of research-intensive and nationally and internationally known scholars. They are outstanding teachers, mentors, advisers and public servants. We have interdisciplinary connections to several other UD departments, including Africana Studies, Communication, Psychological and Brain Sciences, Women and Gender Studies, as well as the Center for Global and Area Studies. We are also a partner in the Center for Political Communication. For more information, please see our website at <https://www.poscir.udel.edu/>

The College of Arts and Sciences at the University of Delaware offers exceptional educational experiences including integrated instruction, research and public engagement. With 24 academic departments and more than 25 centers, programs and institutes, the College serves close to 7,000 undergraduate students and over 1,000 graduate students with CAS majors, but also every single University student through foundational course work. The College's 600 faculty members emphasize the enduring value of an arts and science education and share a deep commitment to excellence in scholarship and all forms of creative and intellectual expression. The College has departments in the arts, humanities, social sciences and natural sciences, and features outstanding research and teaching facilities. Faculty and staff encourage and support innovative interdisciplinary collaborations and students engage local, national and global audiences through research and creative activity. With annual research expenditures of approximately $38 million and growing, the College currently houses several large, interdisciplinary grants with significant funding from the NIH and NSF.

The University of Delaware (www.udel.edu) is one of the nation's oldest institutions of higher education, combining tradition and innovation. The university recognizes and values the importance of diversity and inclusion in enriching the experience of its employees and in supporting its academic mission. We are committed to attracting and retaining employees with varying identities and backgrounds, and we strongly encourage applications from educators from underrepresented groups. UD provides equal access to and opportunity in its programs, facilities, and employment without regard to race, color, creed, religion, national origin, gender, age, marital status, disability, public assistance status, veteran status, sexual orientation, gender identity, or gender expression.

TO APPLY:

Apply at <https://careers.udel.edu/cw/en-us/job/499097/tenure-track-assistant-professor-political-science>

Review of applications will begin on September 30, 2022, and will continue until the position is filled. Applicants should upload a letter of application, curriculum vitae, research statement, statement of teaching philosophy, teaching evaluations and any other evidence of teaching quality, writing sample or sample publication, and letters from three references at <http://www.udel.edu/careers>. Questions, but not application materials, may be sent to Dr. Julio Carrión, search committee chair, at jcarrion@udel.edu.

SALARY AND BENEFITS: Compensation packages are highly competitive and commensurate with experience and qualifications. The UD benefits package is one of the best in the nation.

EQUAL EMPLOYMENT OPPORTUNITY: The University of Delaware is an Equal Opportunity Employer and encourages applications from members of underrepresented groups. The University's Notice of Non-Discrimination can be found at <http://www.udel.edu/aboutus/legalnotices.html>.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 9/30/2022

Date Posted: 7/19/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10505

Rice University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

The Department of Political Science at Rice University, located in Houston, Texas, invites applications for a tenure-track position to begin July 1, 2023. The appointment will be made at the rank of assistant professor. Assistant professors will teach undergraduate and graduate courses, perform research in their specialized area, and contribute to university service. Therefore, successful candidates will have a promising research agenda and strong analytical and empirical skills as well as aspire to the highest standards of scholarship, professional activity, and commitment to graduate and undergraduate education.

We are particularly interested in candidates whose research interests and expertise lie in the cross-national study of democratic representation. Regional specialization is open, and we are interested in candidates focusing on mass political behavior and/or elite behavior and political institutions. Successful candidates will have advanced skills in quantitative research methods. Candidates must currently have a Ph.D. or complete the Ph.D. by July 1, 2023.

Rice University and the Department of Political Science are committed to building and sustaining an inclusive, diverse environment for our faculty, staff, and students. We encourage applications from individuals who have been historically underrepresented in academia, including people of color, LGBTQI+ people, women, and people with disabilities. We strive to counter prejudice actively and to create a working environment that is inclusive and equitable.

The application deadline is September 20, 2022. A complete application must include a letter of application; a curriculum vitae; research, teaching, and DEI statements; graduate school transcripts; two writing samples; and three letters of recommendation (applicants must provide contact information for three references who will be contacted automatically for letters of recommendation). All applications should be submitted electronically at <https://apply.interfolio.com/109667>.

Equal Opportunity Employer - Females/Minorities/Veterans/Disabled/Sexual Orientation/Gender Identity

Start Date: Summer 2023
Application Deadline: 9/20/2022
Date Posted: 7/13/2022
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 10490

Harvard Business School

Rank: Tenure Track Position in Political Science 2022-23
Specializations: Political Economy, International Political Economy, Political Development

Harvard Business School is seeking candidates for a tenure-track position in the Business, Government, and the International Economy (BGIE) unit. Applications are welcome from candidates in all sub-fields, and special preference will be given to candidates whose research interests include American political development, international political economy or comparative political economy, and environmental politics. The search is open with regard to methodological approach. Candidates may come directly from Ph.D. programs or from the faculties of other universities. The appointment will begin on July 1, 2023.

All applicants should have excellent academic credentials and a demonstrated potential for conducting outstanding research. The School is particularly interested in applicants with interdisciplinary interests and strong records of, or potential for, excellence in teaching.

Successful candidates will, at the outset, teach a required first-year MBA course on the economic, political, and social environment of global business.

Review of applications will begin September 20, 2022. Applications should include: cover letter, curriculum vitae, description of research, and writing sample (preferably dissertation chapters). Three confidential letters of recommendation should be submitted through the online portal by the referees.

To apply please go to this website and select "Tenure-Track Position in Political Science" when choosing a position on the application:

<https://www.hbs.edu/faculty/Pages/positions.aspx>

Start Date: Summer 2023
Application Deadline: 9/20/2022
Date Posted: 7/11/2022
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 10476

George Washington University

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor

The Department of Political Science invites applications for a one-year position as a visiting professor with a specialization in Comparative Politics. The candidate hired will teach a 3-3 course load of undergraduate classes during the 2022-2023 academic year.

Minimum Qualifications: Applicants must hold a Ph.D. or doctoral degree in Political Science or a related field. Applicants must have experience teaching undergraduate courses.

Application Procedure: To apply please complete an online faculty application at <https://www.gwu.jobs/postings/93999>; upload a cover letter; curriculum vitae; statement of teaching experience; evidence of teaching effectiveness, preferably student evaluations; and include the names of three references (letters of recommendation are not required). Review of applications will begin on 8/5/2022, and will continue until the position is filled. Only complete applications will be considered. Please note the University has an ongoing mandate for all personnel to be fully vaccinated against COVID-19.

The university is an Equal Employment Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer that does not unlawfully discriminate in any of its programs or activities on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, national origin, age, disability, veteran status, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, or on any other basis prohibited by applicable law.

The university and department have a strong commitment to achieving diversity among faculty and staff. We strongly encourage women and persons of color to apply.

Successful completion of a Background Screening will be required as a condition of hire.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: 8/5/2022
Date Posted: 7/6/2022
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 10465

University of Western Ontario

Rank: International/Comparative Politics

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Other
 Political Science – International/Comparative Politics

The Department of Political Science, Faculty of Social Science at Western University invites applications for highly qualified applicants for a probationary (tenure-track) appointment in the area of International/Comparative politics, broadly defined, with a starting date of July 1, 2023 or as negotiated.

We seek individuals with a demonstrated commitment to excellence in research, teaching, and service who can help advance Western's Strategic Plan: <https://strategicplan.uwo.ca/>. In particular, we will favour candidates whose teaching and scholarship addresses one or more of: threats to democracy, environmental politics, sustainability, climate change, systemic racism, and/or socioeconomic inequality. The successful candidate could approach these issues from either the system- or individual-level. Western Political Science aims to be Canada's top destination for graduate training in empirical research methods. The ability to teach empirical research methods will be considered an asset.

To address Western's commitment to equity, diversity, inclusion, and decolonization, applicants who self-identify as a woman, Indigenous person, member of a racialized community, person with a disability, or who identify as 2SLGBTQ+ are encouraged to apply to this position.

Applications should include the following:

- 1) application form (<http://www.uwo.ca/facultyrelations/pdf/careers/Faculty/Application-FullTime-Faculty-Position-Form.pdf>),
- 2) cover letter that addresses how the candidate fits the position and the department, and includes a brief statement of how the candidate will contribute to our commitment to Equity, Diversity, Inclusion, and Decolonization.
- 3) curriculum vitae,
- 4) short statement of teaching and research interests,
- 5) copies of published or ongoing research as well as links to other papers,
- 6) names and contact information of three academic referees,

The deadline for receipt of applications is September 15th, 2022, or until the position is filled.

This material should be sent to: polisci-recruitment@uwo.ca

Professor Matthew Lebo, Chair
Department of Political Science
Western University
Room 4154, Social Science Centre
London, Ontario, CANADA N6A 5C2
EMAIL: polisci-recruitment@uwo.ca

Positions are subject to budget approval. Applicants should have fluent written and oral communication skills in English. Effective September 7, 2021, all employees and visitors to campus are required to comply with Western's COVID-19 Vaccination Policy.

Since 1878, Western University has been committed to serving our communities through the pursuit of academic excellence and by providing students, faculty, and community members with life-long opportunities for intellectual, social, and cultural growth. We seek excellent students, faculty, and staff to join us in what has become known as the "Western Experience" – an opportunity to contribute to a better world through the development of new knowledge, new abilities, new connections, and new ways to make a difference.

Effective September 7, 2021, all employees and visitors to campus are required to comply with Western's Covid Vaccination Policy.

Positions are subject to budget approval. Applicants should have fluent written and oral communication skills in English. The University invites applications from all qualified individuals. Western is committed to employment equity and diversity in the workplace and welcomes applications from women, members of racialized groups/visible minorities, Aboriginal persons, persons with disabilities, persons of any sexual orientation, and persons of any gender identity or gender expression.

In accordance with Canadian Immigration requirements, priority will be given to Canadian citizens and permanent residents. For any questions about the position or application please contact: matthew.lebo@uwo.ca.

Accommodations are available for applicants with disabilities throughout the recruitment process. If you require accommodations for interviews or other meetings, please contact Shannon Doyle, sdoyle3@uwo.ca.

Start Date: Summer 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/20/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10425

American University

Rank: Assistant Professor

The School of Public Affairs at American University invites applications for a tenure-line position at the rank of Assistant Professor in Comparative Politics beginning August 1, 2023. Applicants should have a PhD or an anticipated PhD completed by August 2023. Successful candidates will have strong quantitative skills. The search is open with regard to subfield, though the Department is especially interested in scholars whose research and teaching interests include institutions and political economy. Most of all, the department seeks scholars who will further its goals of producing high impact research, providing innovative undergraduate and graduate teaching, and contributing to high visibility centers and research initiatives at American University.

Salary and benefits are competitive. Review of applications will begin on September 21 and will continue until the position is filled, subject to ongoing budgetary approval. Please submit applications via: <https://apply.interfolio.com/108453>. Include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, and statement of research interests. Applicants should include three letters of recommendation. Please email govsearch@american.edu if you have any questions.

Established in 1934, the School of Public Affairs offers undergraduate and graduate programs in the departments of Government; Justice, Law, & Criminology; and Public Administration & Policy. The School's programs are consistently ranked among the best in the field of public affairs by U.S. News & World Report. Learn more about the School of Public Affairs at www.american.edu/spa.

American University is a private institution within easy reach of many centers of government, business, research, and arts located in the nation's capital. For more information about American University, visit www.american.edu.

American University is an equal opportunity, affirmative action institution that operates in compliance with applicable laws and regulations. The university does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, national origin, religion, sex (including pregnancy), age, sexual orientation, disability, marital status, personal appearance, gender identity and expression, family responsibilities, political affiliation, source of income, veteran status, an individual's genetic information or any other bases under federal or local laws (collectively "Protected Bases") in its programs and activities. American University is a tobacco and smoke free campus.

Start Date: Fall

Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 6/17/2022
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 10424

Stanford University

Rank: Faculty Appointment on China and Climate Change
Subfield(s): International Relations, Public Policy, Comparative Politics
Specializations: East Asia, China, Energy Policy

Stanford University invites applications for a joint appointment as a continuing-term senior fellow and tenured faculty at the associate or full professor level in the broad area of China and Climate Change. The focus of the search is open. We are searching for creative and innovative scholars with an established record of outstanding policy-relevant research and education around the topics of China and climate change. We invite candidates from a broad range of disciplines to apply.

This joint hire is part of a broader effort by Stanford University in building the new Doerr School of Sustainability. The appointment from this search will be made jointly in the Freeman Spogli Institute for International Studies and in the Doerr School of Sustainability, which will begin operating in the 2022-2023 academic year.

Candidates must have a PhD in a field relevant to climate change, expertise on China, an excellent record of scholarly, policy-relevant research, a dedication to teaching, and a demonstrated commitment to diversity, equity, and inclusion. Application packages should be submitted online and include the following documents: 1) a curriculum vitae; 2) a research statement (up to 3 pages); 3) a diversity statement that demonstrates the applicant's commitment and potential to contribute to Stanford's goals of diversity, equity, and inclusion through personal experience or perspective, scholarship, teaching, or service (1 page); 4) a statement of teaching interests (1 page); and 5) a cover letter. Review of applications will begin upon receipt and continue until the position is filled. All are welcome to apply.

Apply at:
<https://facultypositions.stanford.edu/en-us/job/493398/faculty-appointment-on-china-and-climate-change>

Start Date: Fall 2023
Date Posted: 6/8/2022
Salary: Any
eJobs ID: 10406

Hampden-Sydney College

Rank: Assistant Professor
Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Other
Specializations: International Law & Organizations, Latin American, Foreign Policy

Hampden-Sydney College invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track appointment at the rank of Assistant Professor within the Department of Government and Foreign Affairs. Candidates should specialize in International Law and the U.S. Constitution and Foreign Affairs; additional subfields in Latin American politics and/or U.S. national security policy are highly desired. Candidates should be able to teach, as needed, Introduction to American Government and, particularly, introduction to World Politics. The ability to offer courses in Western Culture or political philosophy is a plus.

Hampden-Sydney College highly values the teacher/scholar model. Effective teaching, a commitment to scholarly productivity, willingness to engage in community service, and a dedication to student success, are all qualities required of a successful candidate. Teaching load for this position is seven courses per year.

Hampden-Sydney College is a selective liberal arts institution enrolling approximately 1000 students. Founded in 1775, it is the tenth oldest institution of higher learning in the United States. Our beautiful 1300-acre campus is less than 7 miles from downtown Farmville, home to Longwood University and the Moton Museum, which is listed on the U.S. Civil Rights Trail. The campus is located 65 miles west of Richmond, 50 miles east of Lynchburg, and 75 miles south of Charlottesville, providing abundant cultural, recreational and artistic resources. Hampden-Sydney is one of four liberal arts colleges in the United States dedicated to the education of men, and our mission is to educate "good men and good citizens in an atmosphere of sound learning." As a community, we are dedicated to the goal of building a culturally diverse faculty committed to working in a multicultural environment and strongly encourage applications from women and minoritized groups. Hampden-Sydney College values diversity, prohibits discrimination, and is committed to equal opportunity for all employees and applicants for employment.

To apply, please submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, teaching philosophy, and three confidential reference letters via Interfolio at <http://apply.interfolio.com/107980>. Applicants should have a Ph.D. in political science by the time of appointment.

Questions about this position may be addressed to Dr. John Eastby at jeastby@hsc.edu or Dr. Celia Carroll Jones at ccarroll@hsc.edu. Review of applications will begin immediately, and the position will remain open until filled.

Start Date: Fall 2023
Application Deadline: 9/5/2022
Date Posted: 6/6/2022
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 10395

Hampden-Sydney College

Rank: Assistant Professor
Specializations: Middle East, East Asia, Political Development

Hampden-Sydney College invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track appointment at the rank of Assistant Professor within the Department of Government and Foreign Affairs. The successful candidate should be prepared to offer courses in Asian and Middle Eastern politics. The ability to teach upper-level international policy in a specialized area (environment, trade, immigration, health, security, etc.) or political philosophy is a plus. The successful applicant is expected to participate in the college-wide Global Cultures program and to teach, as needed, Introduction to World Politics and Introduction to American Government courses.

Hampden-Sydney College highly values the teacher/scholar model. Effective teaching, a commitment to scholarly productivity, willingness to engage in community service, and a dedication to student success, are all qualities required of a successful candidate. Teaching load for this position is seven courses per year.

Hampden-Sydney College is a selective liberal arts institution enrolling approximately 1000 students. Founded in 1775, it is the tenth oldest institution of higher learning in the United States. Our beautiful 1300-acre campus is less than 7 miles from downtown Farmville, home to Longwood University and the Moton Museum, which is listed on the U.S. Civil Rights Trail. The campus is located 65 miles west of Richmond, 50 miles east of Lynchburg, and 75 miles south of Charlottesville, providing abundant cultural, recreational and artistic resources. Hampden-Sydney is one of four liberal arts colleges in the United States dedicated to the education of men, and our mission is to educate “good men and good citizens in an atmosphere of sound learning.” As a community, we are dedicated to the goal of building a culturally diverse faculty committed to working in a multicultural environment and strongly encourage applications from women and minoritized groups. Hampden-Sydney College values diversity, prohibits discrimination, and is committed to equal opportunity for all employees and applicants for employment.

To apply, please submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, teaching philosophy, and three confidential reference letters via Interfolio at <http://apply.interfolio.com/107981>. Applicants should have a Ph.D. in political science by the time of appointment.

Questions about this position may be addressed to Dr. John Eastby at jeastby@hsc.edu or Dr. Celia Carroll Jones at ccarroll@hsc.edu. Review of applications will begin immediately, and the position will remain open until filled.

Start Date: Fall 2023
Application Deadline: 9/5/2022
Date Posted: 6/6/2022
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 10396

George Washington University

Rank: Part time faculty
Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, International Relations

Political Science at George Washington University explores wide-ranging topics related to political behavior and governance, both in the United States and across the globe. The department houses nationally recognized undergraduate and graduate programs with emphases in the subfields of American Politics, Comparative Politics, International Relations.

The Department of Political Science at George Washington University invites applicants to apply who are interested in serving as a temporary part-time faculty for the fall 2022 semester, teaching in the areas of American Politics, Comparative Politics, International Relations, Political Theory, and Public Policy. The George Washington University is in a Collective Bargaining Agreement (CBA) with the part-time faculty elected union, Service Employees International Union (SEIU) Local 500.

Minimum Qualifications
 A Master’s degree in political science or related field. Prior experience teaching students at the postgraduate level.

Application Instructions
 To apply, interested individuals should email Dr. Susan Wiley (wiley@gwu.edu) a recent curriculum vitae (CV) to express interest in the role. Prior student course evaluations may be requested. Employment offers are contingent on the satisfactory outcome of a standard background screening.

EEO Statement
 The university is an Equal Employment Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer that does not unlawfully discriminate in any of its programs or activities on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, national origin, age, disability, veteran status, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, or on any other basis prohibited by applicable law.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 5/25/2022
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 10376

Hope College

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor
Subfield(s): Political Theory, American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics

The Department of Political Science at Hope College seeks applicants for a visiting assistant professor position beginning by Fall 2022. Strong preference will be given to candidates with expertise in political theory. In addition to political theory, we welcome applications from candidates who are able to teach introductory and upper-level courses in American politics, including a course in state and local politics. The standard teaching load is three courses per semester.

The College offers opportunities for internal research support and assistance in seeking external funding. The Political Science department at Hope has six tenured/tenure-track faculty and graduates about 25 majors each year. The Political Science department also contributes to Hope College’s teacher education program as well as interdisciplinary programs in environmental studies and global studies.

Candidates should upload the following documents as part of their application:

- Cover letter
- Curriculum vitae
- A statement indicating a willingness to commit to and engage with Hope’s mission statement
- A statement describing your teaching philosophy, experience, and interests
- Formal teaching evaluations
- Sample publications
- A statement of your research plans and how you will mentor undergraduates in research (optional)

In addition, you should enter the names and contact information for three references when you apply. References will be contacted via email upon your application, providing with a link to upload a letter of recommendation to your file.

Direct questions can be sent to ryden@hope.edu. For full consideration, candidates should submit their completed materials immediately. Applications will be reviewed as they are received and continue until the search is complete.

Additional information found at jobs.hope.edu

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 5/10/2022

Salary: Any
eJobs ID: 10347

University of Kentucky

Rank: Post-Doctoral Scholar in Political Science

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Public Law

The Department of Political Science at the University of Kentucky in Lexington, KY, invites applications for a teaching post-doc position in International Relations or Comparative Politics with particular interest in international organizations, international law, and/or comparative judicial politics. We are particularly interested in candidates who can contribute to the diversity and inclusion mission of the department. The position will begin August 1, 2022. Applicants are expected to teach a 2/3 load and design at least one new course in the area of Legal Studies.

Applicants should show strong potential to provide effective undergraduate teaching and have a Ph.D. in Political Science in hand by August 2022.

Applicants should submit the following: 1) curriculum vitae, 2) letter stating the candidate's research and teaching interests (uploaded as Cover Letter), 3) copy of transcript for highest degree earned, 4) evidence of teaching experience, particularly syllabi from courses taught (uploaded as specific request 1). Provide the names and contact information for three references when prompted in the academic profile. This information will be used to solicit recommendation letters from your references within the employment system.

Start Date: Fall 2022

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 5/9/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10340

Wheaton College

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor in Comparative Politics

The Department of Politics and International Relations at Wheaton College invites applications for a half-year appointment as a Visiting Assistant Professor for the Spring 2023 semester. We seek applicants who specialize in comparative politics and are open to all specializations. Ph.D. is expected and teaching experience is preferred.

Please send a letter describing teaching experience and commitment to the Christian faith along with a current curriculum vitae to Dr. Michael McKoy, Search Committee Chair, Department of Politics & International Relations (michael.mckoy@wheaton.edu). Promising candidates will receive full application materials.

Review of completed applications will begin August 1 and continue until the position is filled.

Wheaton College complies with federal and state guidelines for non-discrimination in employment, and is an evangelical Protestant Christian liberal arts college whose faculty and staff affirm a Statement of Faith and adhere to the lifestyle expectations of the Wheaton College Community Covenant. Information on both may be found here. Women and minority candidates are strongly encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Spring 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 5/9/2022

Salary: $40,000 - $49,999

eJobs ID: 10337

Brown University

Rank: Post-Doctoral Fellow in Political Science and International and Public Affairs

Specializations: International Security, Public Opinion, Criminal Justice

Professor Robert Blair (Department of Political Science and Watson Institute for International and Public Affairs) is accepting applications for a post-doctoral fellowship beginning in fall 2022. The fellow will work closely with Professor Blair on collaborative research projects. Professor Blair's current research interests include policy reforms and evaluations to improve police performance and police-community relations in low- and middle-income countries; the impact of UN peacekeeping on security and justice sector reform (among other outcomes) in countries recovering from civil war; and the development of mechanisms to reduce partisan polarization and prevent democratic erosion in the US, among other topics. The ideal candidate will have similarly broad research interests, and will be eager to collaborate on projects spanning multiple substantive areas in multiple geographical locations.

Qualifications needed:

- PhD in political science, economics, or related discipline by the fellowship start date
- Experience with quantitative data analysis in Stata or R (preferably both)
- Experience running surveys, field experiments, and/or other forms of complex field-based research
- Excellent written and verbal communication skills
- Spoken Spanish is desirable but not necessary

Application instructions: Please provide a cover letter, CV, research statement, writing sample, and two letters of recommendation.

Please apply here: <http://apply.interfolio.com/103774>

Start Date: Summer 2022

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 3/18/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10213

College of the Holy Cross

Rank: Visiting Full-Time Faculty/Comparative Politics/Latin American/Migration

GENERAL INFORMATION

The Department of Political Science at College of the Holy Cross invites applications for a visiting full-time faculty position in Comparative Politics, with a focus on Latin America and migration studies, for the 2022-2023 academic year to begin in August 2022. Specific courses include Latin American Politics, an introductory course in Comparative Politics, and an upper-level course in the candidate's area of specialty to be determined in consultation with the Chair of Political Science and the Director of the Latin American, Latinx, and the Caribbean Studies Program (LALC), preferably in the field of migration studies. Additional information about departments/programs the position will serve can be found here

<https://www.holycross.edu/academics/programs/political-science>;
<https://www.holycross.edu/academics/programs/latin-american-latinx-and-caribbean-studies> and <https://www.holycross.edu/academics/programs/international-studies>

Visiting full-time faculty teach 3 courses each semester and are eligible for travel support and reimbursement of relocation costs within the College's published policies. All full-time appointments offer competitive salaries and include full benefits.

QUALIFICATIONS

Candidates must demonstrate commitment to, and excellence in, undergraduate teaching as informed by current practice and scholarship in the field.

APPLICATION INSTRUCTIONS

Please submit a letter of application, current curriculum vitae, a statement on teaching philosophy and specific teaching interests, transcripts (A Ph.D. in Political Science is preferred but ABD candidates will be considered.), and two confidential letters of recommendation.

As a Jesuit, undergraduate liberal arts college, the College values dialogue among people from diverse perspectives as integral to the mission and essential to the excellence of our academic program (see <http://holycross.edu/mission>). In your application, please highlight how your teaching, scholarship, mentorship, and/or service might support the College's mission and its commitment to diversity and inclusion. For more information, please visit <http://holycross.edu/diversity>.

College of the Holy Cross uses Interfolio to collect all faculty job applications electronically. Please submit all application materials to <https://apply.interfolio.com/103706>.

Review of applications will begin immediately and continue until the position has been filled. For full consideration, please apply by April 4, 2022. Questions about this search may be directed to Prof. Maria G. Rodrigues, Chair of the Department of Political Science, and Chair of the Search Committee at mrodrigu@holycross.edu.

COVID-19 VACCINATION POLICY

College of the Holy Cross requires that all faculty and staff show proof of full vaccination by an FDA-approved COVID-19 vaccine before beginning employment, unless an exemption from this policy has been granted. New faculty members believing they need an accommodation of this policy because of a disability, sincerely-held religious belief, or otherwise should inform Human Resources after an offer of employment is extended; please do not include any medical, genetic, or religious information in your application materials.

EQUAL OPPORTUNITY EMPLOYMENT STATEMENT

The College of the Holy Cross is a highly selective Catholic liberal arts college in the Jesuit tradition. It enrolls about 3,000 students and is located in a medium-sized city 45 miles west of Boston. The College seeks faculty members whose scholarship, teaching, and on- and off-campus service demonstrate commitment to the educational benefits of a richly diverse community.

Holy Cross aspires to meet the needs of dual-career couples, in part through its membership in the Higher Education Consortium of Central Massachusetts and the New England Higher Education Recruitment Consortium (<http://www.newenglandherc.org>). The College is an Equal Employment Opportunity Employer and complies with all Federal and Massachusetts laws concerning equal opportunity and affirmative action in the workplace.

Start Date: Fall 2022

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 3/4/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10176

INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS

University of Rochester

Rank: International Relations

The Department of Political Science at the University of Rochester invites applications from candidates working in all areas of international relations for a tenure-track assistant professor position, starting July 1, 2023. We are particularly interested in candidates with strong methodological skills.

Applications should include a letter of interest, C.V., research statement, teaching statement, letters of recommendation, samples of written work, graduate transcript and a statement of your commitment to advancing equity and fostering an inclusive and diverse community in academia, including past work and future goals. The University of Rochester is firmly committed to advancing equity and fostering an inclusive and diverse community. We ask candidates to include a statement detailing their past work and future plans for achieving these goals.

Materials should be submitted online at: www.rochester.edu/faculty-recruiting. For more information on the University of Rochester Political Science Department go to: <http://www.sas.rochester.edu/pscl/>. We will begin reviewing applications on September 23, 2022.

The University of Rochester is an Equal Opportunity Employer and actively encourages applications from candidates from groups underrepresented in higher education.

Start Date: Summer 2023

Application Deadline: 9/23/2022

Date Posted: 9/2/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10839

Princeton University

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Associate

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Public Policy

Specializations: Economic Policy, International Political Economy, International Law & Organizations

The Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance (NCGG) at Princeton University's School of Public and International Affairs invites applications for a postdoctoral or more senior research associate position from individuals with a Ph.D. degree or who expect to receive a Ph.D. degree by September 1, 2023, for the 2023-2024 academic year. These awards are designed to promote basic research in the broad areas of international and comparative political economy, international organization and global governance, and globalization. Research on the causes and consequences of globalization, the political economy of foreign trade, monetary and regulatory policies, the sources of international cooperation at the global and regional level, the domestic and international politics of economic development, the political economy of human security issues, the evolution and impact of international institutions, and the politics of international law and human rights policies are of relevance. Outstanding scholars anywhere in the world are eligible to apply. The Center invites candidates with a background in political science, economics, modern history, sociology, anthropology, law, business, and other disciplines bearing on the study of globalization to apply. Selected candidates will be required to be in residence in Princeton or the local vicinity, or demonstrate to the program's satisfaction the ability to be on campus on a daily basis and on short notice in order to fulfill responsibilities relating to in-person participation, office hours, and related activities for the duration of the fellowship (September 1, 2023 - July 1, 2024).

Application Deadline - Applicants should apply by Saturday, November 19, 2022 (11:59 pm EST) for full consideration; however, posting will remain open until filled.

Application Process - All candidates must use the online application process to submit materials at: <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/26881>.

Applicants are required to hold a Ph.D. or expect to receive a Ph.D. degree by September 1, 2023, in one of the above-mentioned disciplines. To apply, please provide the following:

- Cover letter explaining the candidate's scholarly career, prospective or actual doctoral defense date, and academic interests;
- Current curriculum vitae, including publications;
- 2,000-word description of the proposed research project, including its specific objectives, importance, and research design;
- One writing sample (limit of 100 pages);
- Contact information for three references, who will be asked to comment specifically on the applicant's qualifications for the proposed research project. Referees will be contacted directly by email with instructions for submitting a confidential recommendation on your behalf. Letters of reference are to be submitted by the end of business day on Wednesday, November 23, 2022. Complete your application well before the deadline so that references can be submitted on time.

Salary – Rank and salary will be contingent on qualifications. NCGG Fellows will receive applicable Princeton University benefits, a taxable moving allowance, and a $5,000 research fund. This is a one-year appointment.

Successful applicants will be notified of the outcome of their application in February 2023. This position is subject to the University's background check policy.

For more information about the Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance fellowship program, please contact Jennifer Bolton, Assistant Director, at ncgg@princeton.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 11/19/2022

Date Posted: 9/1/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10743

Princeton University

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Associate Fellowship Program in Regional Political Economy

The Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance (NCGG) at Princeton University's School of Public and International Affairs invites applications for a postdoctoral or more senior research associate position from individuals with a Ph.D. degree or who expect to receive a Ph.D. degree by September 1, 2023, for the Postdoctoral Fellowship Program in regional political economy for the 2023-2024 academic year. This fellows' program aims to develop a generation of scholars able to analyze and make policy recommendations about the regional political economy in the Middle East, East, South and Southeast Asia, Africa, and Latin America. The Center welcomes applications from candidates with a background in economics, political science, contemporary history, sociology, law, business, and other disciplines bearing on the study of markets, politics, and economic development, focusing on the regions of the Middle East, East, South, or Southeast Asia, Africa and Latin America. Scholarly work should explore the ways in which the politics within and between a set of countries intersect with natural resource endowments, market conditions, technological and physical infrastructure, and cultural biases to explain existing patterns of economic development and promote higher levels of development more effectively. Selected candidates will be required to be in residence in Princeton or the local vicinity, or demonstrate to the program's satisfaction the ability to be on campus on a daily basis and on short notice in order to fulfill responsibilities relating to in-person participation, office hours, and the like for the duration of the fellowship (September 1, 2023 - July 1, 2024).

Application Deadline – Applicants should apply by Monday, December 5, 2022 (11:59 pm EST), for full consideration; however, posting will remain open until filled.

Application Process – All candidates must use the online application process to submit materials at: <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/26904>.

Applicants are required to hold a Ph.D. in one of the above-mentioned disciplines or expect to receive a Ph.D. by September 1, 2023. To apply, please provide the following:

- Cover letter explaining the candidate's scholarly career, prospective or actual doctoral defense date, and academic interests;
- Current curriculum vitae, including publications;
- 2,000-word description of the proposed research project, including its specific objectives, importance, and research design;
- One writing sample (limit of 100 pages);
- Contact information for three references, who will be asked to comment specifically on the applicant's qualifications for the proposed research project. Referees will be contacted directly by email with instructions for submitting a confidential recommendation on your behalf. Letters of reference are to be submitted by the end of business day (5 pm EST) on Thursday, December 8, 2022. Complete your application well before the deadline so that references can be submitted on time.

Salary – Rank and salary will be contingent on qualifications. NCGG Fellows will receive applicable Princeton University benefits, a taxable moving allowance, and a $5,000 research fund. This is a one-year appointment.

Successful applicants will be notified of the outcome of their application in February 2023.

For more information about the Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance fellowship program, please contact Jennifer Bolton, Assistant Director, at ncgg@princeton.edu. This position is subject to the University's background check policy.

Start Date: Fall 2023
Application Deadline: 12/5/2022
Date Posted: 9/1/2022
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 10745

Princeton University

Rank: Visiting Fellowship Program
Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Public Policy
Specializations: Economic Policy, International Political Economy, International Law & Organizations

The Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance (NCGG) at Princeton University's School of Public and International Affairs seeks up to eight visitors for the 2023-2024 academic year in the Visiting Fellowship Program. These awards are designed to promote basic research in the broad areas of international and comparative political economy, international organization and global governance, and globalization. Research on the causes and consequences of globalization, the political economy of foreign trade, monetary and regulatory policies, the sources of international cooperation at the global and regional level, the domestic and international politics of economic development, the political economy of human security issues, the evolution and impact of international institutions, and the politics of international law and human rights policies are of relevance.

Outstanding scholars anywhere in the world are eligible to apply. The Center invites candidates with a background in political science, economics, modern history, sociology, anthropology, law, business, and other disciplines bearing on the study of globalization to apply. Fellows will be required to be in residence in Princeton or the local vicinity, or demonstrate to the program's satisfaction the ability to be on campus daily for the duration of the fellowship (September 1, 2023 - July 1, 2024).

Application Deadline – Applicants should apply by Saturday, November 19, 2022 (11:59 pm EST) for full consideration; however, posting will remain open until filled.

Application Process – All candidates must use the online application process to submit materials at: <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/26901>.

Applicants are required to hold a Ph.D. in one of the above-mentioned disciplines. To apply, please provide the following:

- Cover letter explaining the candidate's scholarly career, prospective or actual doctoral defense date, and academic interests;
- Current curriculum vitae, including publications;
- 2,000-word description of the proposed research project, including its specific objectives, importance, and research design;
- One writing sample (limit of 100 pages);
- Contact information for three references, who will be asked to comment specifically on the applicant's qualifications for the proposed research project. Referees will be contacted directly by email with instructions for submitting a confidential recommendation on your behalf. Letters of reference are to be submitted by the end of the business day (5 pm EST) on Wednesday, November 23, 2022.

Complete your application well before the deadline so that references can be submitted on time.

Candidates who hold positions at academic institutions may also be required to submit:

- Home institution policy with regard to sabbatical pay;
- Selected candidates will be asked to either submit a confidential statement indicating their salary for the current academic year (September 2022 - July 1, 2023) or provide written authorization for Princeton to confirm their salary.

Salary – Rank and salary will be contingent on qualifications. NCGG Fellows will receive applicable Princeton University benefits, a taxable moving allowance, and a $5,000 research fund.

Successful applicants will be notified of the outcome of their application in February 2023.

For more information about the Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance fellowship program, please contact Jennifer Bolton, Assistant Director, at ncgg@princeton.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2023
Application Deadline: 11/19/2022
Date Posted: 9/1/2022
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 10744

Princeton University

Rank: Visiting Fellowship Program in Regional Political Economy

The Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance (NCGG) at Princeton University's School of Public and International Affairs seeks two or more candidates for the Visiting Fellowship Program in Regional Political Economy for the 2023-2024 academic year. This fellows' program aims to develop a generation of scholars able to analyze and make policy recommendations about the regional political economy in the Middle East, East, South or Southeast Asia, Africa, and Latin America. Candidates with a background in economics, political science, contemporary history, sociology, law, business, and other disciplines bearing on the study of markets, politics, and economic development, focusing on the regions mentioned above, are invited to apply. Scholarly work should explore the ways in which the politics within and between a set of countries intersect with natural resource endowments, market conditions, technological and physical infrastructure, and cultural biases to explain existing patterns of economic development and to promote higher levels of development more effectively. Fellows will be required to be in residence in Princeton or the local vicinity, or demonstrate to the program's satisfaction the ability to be on campus daily and on short notice, to fulfill responsibilities relating to in-person participation for the duration of the fellowship (September 1, 2023 - July 1, 2024).

Application Deadline - Applicants should apply by Monday, December 5, 2022 (11:59 pm EST), for full consideration; however, posting will remain open until filled.

Application Process -All candidates must use the online application process to submit materials at: <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/26903>.

Applicants are required to hold a Ph.D. in one of the above-mentioned disciplines. To apply, please provide the following:

- Cover letter explaining the candidate's scholarly career, prospective or actual doctoral defense date, and academic interests;
- Current curriculum vitae, including publications;
- 2,000-word description of the proposed research project, including its specific objectives, importance, and research design;
- One writing sample (limit of 100 pages);
- Contact information for three references, who will be asked to comment specifically on the applicant's qualifications for the proposed research project. Referees will be contacted directly by email with instructions for submitting a confidential recommendation on your behalf. Letters of reference are to be submitted by the end of the business day (5 pm EST) on Thursday, December 8, 2022. Complete your application well before the deadline so that references can be submitted on time.

Candidates who hold positions at academic institutions may also be required to submit:

- Home institution policy with regard to sabbatical pay;
- Selected candidates will be asked to either submit a confidential statement indicating their salary for the current academic year (September 2022 - July 1, 2023) or provide written authorization for Princeton to confirm their salary.

Salary - Rank and salary will be contingent on qualifications. NCGG Fellows will receive applicable Princeton University benefits, a taxable moving allowance, and a $5,000 research fund. For more information about the Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance fellowship program, please contact Jennifer Bolton, Assistant Director, at nccg@princeton.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2023
Application Deadline: 12/5/2022
Date Posted: 9/1/2022
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 10746

University of Houston

Rank: Assistant Professor

Assistant Professor – International Relations

The Department of Political Science at the University of Houston invites applications for a tenure-track assistant professor position, to begin Fall 2023. We seek applicants whose research and teaching interests focus on International Relations. Although candidates from all subfields of International Relations are invited to apply, we are particularly interested in those who focus on international political economy. Special consideration will be given to candidates whose research agendas add to the department's existing strengths. Successful candidates should have strong methodological training, demonstrated excellence in scholarly research and publication, and a clear commitment to graduate and undergraduate teaching. Review of applications will begin October 1 and continue until the position is filled.

The University of Houston, a Carnegie Tier-1 research university with one of the most diverse student bodies in the nation, seeks to recruit and retain a diverse community of scholars.

The Department of Political Science provides high-quality undergraduate and graduate education, with over 800 majors and 75 M.A. and Ph.D. students. The Department capitalizes on the strengths of our city, offering students and faculty opportunities to research the politics of the future in a dynamic hub of international commerce, and in a region which is on the leading edge of national demographic and economic trends.

Applications should be submitted through the University's online job site, <http://www.uh.edu/human-resources/uh-careers/>. The position number keyword is FAC002553. To apply please submit a letter of application, CV, short writing sample, unofficial transcripts, and contact information for three professional references. Listed references will be asked to provide letters of recommendation.

For further information please contact Professor Tyson Chatagnier, Department of Political Science, University of Houston, at jtchatagnier@uh.edu

The University of Houston is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer. Minorities, veterans, women and persons with disabilities are encouraged to apply. The University of Houston is responsive to the needs of dual career couples. Additionally, the University prohibits discrimination in employment on the basis of sexual orientation, gender identity or gender expression.

Start Date: Fall 2023
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/1/2022
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 10829

Syracuse University

Rank: Tenure-Track Assistant or Tenured Associate Professor
 Position in Diversity and Public Organizations

Tenure-Track Assistant or Tenured Associate Professor Position in Diversity and Public Organizations
 Public Administration and International Affairs
 Maxwell School of Citizenship and Public Affairs, Syracuse University

The Department of Public Administration and International Affairs (PAIA) at Syracuse University's Maxwell School of Citizenship and Public Affairs seeks to appoint a tenure-track Assistant Professor or tenured Associate Professor. We are looking for a scholar who focuses on the development, management, and leadership of diverse, equitable, and inclusive public organizations. The appointment is expected to begin in August 2023.

Applicants should have a Ph.D. in public administration, management, organizational behavior, sociology, political science, social psychology, history, a related social science discipline, or an appropriate interdisciplinary field. We are open to a wide range of theoretical and methodological approaches.

We strongly value excellence in research and teaching. Candidates should demonstrate high-quality research and productivity commensurate with the rank of the position. In addition, the successful candidate will contribute to both core and elective courses—particularly those in public management—in the PAIA Department's Master of Public Administration Program. Candidates may also teach in other PAIA and Maxwell programs at the doctoral, masters, and undergraduate level.

The Maxwell School of Citizenship and Public Affairs is home to the social science disciplines at Syracuse University and is ranked #1 in the nation for graduate education in public affairs, according to the 2023 edition of U.S. News & World Report's Best Graduate Schools.

The successful candidate will have the opportunity to work in or collaborate with interdisciplinary research centers across the Maxwell School, including the Campbell Public Affairs Institute, the Center for Environmental Policy and Administration, the Center for Policy Research, the Institute for the Study of the Judiciary, Politics, and the Media, the Lerner Center for Public Health Promotion, the Maxwell X Lab, the Moynihan Institute of Global Affairs, and the Program for the Advancement of Research on Conflict and Collaboration, among several others.

Syracuse University is committed to fostering a diverse, equitable, inclusive, and accessible (DEIA) environment. We seek candidates whose research, teaching, service, or lived experiences have prepared them to contribute to our commitment to DEIA in our work with students, colleagues, and wider communities. The Maxwell School has an Associate Dean of Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion who works with the entire Maxwell community to support faculty and students of color, a Faculty of Color group, and several affinity groups. Syracuse University is an EO/AA employer and particularly encourages applications from women and minority candidates.

To apply for the position, candidates must complete an online faculty application (available at <https://www.sujobopps.com/postings/95458>) and submit a letter of interest, a curriculum vitae, a list of recommenders, and a writing sample. In addition, applicants should submit a one-page diversity statement that describes how they would contribute to the development of an equitable and inclusive community in the department through their teaching, research, and service.

Applications will be reviewed as they arrive, with full consideration given to those received by November 1. We will continue to consider applications until the position is filled.

Syracuse University is an Equal Opportunity Employer. Women, minorities, and individuals with disabilities are encouraged to apply. Successful candidates must be committed to working with diverse student and community populations.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/31/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10811

Victoria University of Wellington

Rank: Lecturer in International Relations

Do you have knowledge about international relations?

Are you passionate and committed to teaching?

Do you have, or will have, a relevant completed PhD?

Mo Te Herenga Waka - About Our University

Te Herenga Waka - Victoria University of Wellington is a global-civic university with our marae at our heart. This iho draws off our heritage and is further defined by our turangawaewae, in particular Wellington, Aotearoa, and the Asia-Pacific, all of which are expressed in our position as Aotearoa New Zealand's globally ranked capital city university.

Our core ethical values are respect, responsibility, fairness, integrity, and empathy. These core ethical values are demonstrated in our commitment to sustainability, wellbeing, inclusivity, equity, diversity, collegiality, and openness. With, and as, tangatawhenua, we value Te Tiritio Waitangi, rangatiratanga, manaakitanga, kaitiakitanga, whai-matauranga, whanaungatanga, and akoranga.

Korero mo te turanga - About the role

Te Herenga Waka - Victoria University of Wellington is currently recruiting for a Permanent Lecturer in International Relations to join our team in the School of History, Philosophy, Political Science and International Relations (equivalent to tenured assistant professor). The starting date is 11 January 2023 (negotiable). The successful candidate will have expertise in Environmental Politics and/or Political Economy. Comparative Politics scholars who are working on these issues are also encouraged to apply if they can contribute to teaching in International Relations.

Key responsibilities:

Advance a sustained and disciplinary - relevant research programme
Develop and maintain teaching contributions to undergraduate and postgraduate courses

Successfully supervise post-graduate students to completion

Contribute to Haututanga/leadership, administrative roles, and outreach to the wider community

O pumanawa - About you

You will be someone who is knowledgeable about International Relations and enjoys contributing to teaching and learning in a research-focused environment.

Key requirements:

An established track record of, or a substantial potential for, a programme of research in environmental politics and/or political economy
A strong commitment to effective teaching and to postgraduate student supervision

Holds a PhD in a relevant field at the time of appointment

Etahi korero hai awhina i a koe - Why you should join our team

Te Kura Aro Whakamuri, Rapunga Whakaaro, Matai Torangapu me te Ao - the School of History, Philosophy, Political Science and International Relations is one of the largest Schools in the University. The three disciplines within the School represent important fields of study, each with their own set of concepts and perspectives. Many students take courses in each of them. Graduates develop skills in critical and creative thinking, leadership, communication and research. The School is committed to excellence in research and teaching.

Our Political Science and International Relations (PSIR) Programme is Aotearoa New Zealand's largest and oldest department of politics. It is in the top 100 in the world in the QS rankings. The programme has 23 academic staff and is responsible for teaching two majors within the Bachelor of Arts and one major within the Bachelor of Communication. The programme also offers four taught Master's degrees, and attracts a significant number of research Master's students and PhD students. Our research and teaching routinely engages with government due to our capital city location, and many of our staff are involved in international research collaborations and are on externally funded research projects. The diversity of our Programme's research, teaching, engagement and leadership activities make it a dynamic and stimulating place to work and study.

Role Description

Whakapa Mai - Contact details for vacancy

If you have any questions regarding this role please get in touch with the Tumuaki - Head of School, Associate Professor Xavier Marquez, e-mail xavier.marquez@vuw.ac.nz. But applicants should follow all steps listed below.?

Important - Application steps and information

Download and complete the University Application Form

Then, please combine your cover letter, CV and the University Application Form into a single file (preferably in pdf format).

Click Apply Now. Follow the process to enter your contact details and attach your combined file (CV, cover letter and the University application form) using the 'CV/Resume' button.

If you have any issues uploading your application, please email the completed application form, cover letter and CV to erecruit@vuw.ac.nz stating the reference number and position title from the advert in the subject line.

Please apply at <https://www.wgtn.ac.nz/about/working-here/current-vacancies-broadbean>

Start Date: Winter 2023

Application Deadline: 10/15/2022

Date Posted: 8/31/2022

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 10817

Georgia Institute of Technology

Rank: Assistant Professor International Security

The Sam Nunn School of International Affairs (www.inta.gatech.edu) at the Georgia Institute of Technology invites applications for a tenure-track assistant professor position in International Security to begin Fall 2023. Scholars with a research specialization in emerging technologies are encouraged to apply. While the department is open to substantive, regional, and technological specialization, the ability to contribute to the department's teaching needs in Eurasian or East Asian politics is highly desirable. Candidates are expected to demonstrate an exceptional commitment to research and to teaching, as well as evidence of dedication to policy relevance in addition to academic rigor.

The Nunn School is multidisciplinary and focuses on understanding the global context of advances in science and technology. Georgia Tech is a top-ranked public research university situated in the heart of Atlanta, a diverse and vibrant city with great economic and cultural strengths. The Institute is a member of the University System of Georgia, the Georgia Research Alliance, and the Association of American Universities. The Nunn School is a member of the Association of Professional Schools of International Affairs. Nunn School faculty may hold joint appointments with other units across the Institute including but not limited to the School of Public Policy, the School of Cybersecurity and Privacy, and the Scheller College of Business. Georgia Tech prides itself on its technology resources, collaborations, high-quality student body, and its commitment to diversity, equity, and inclusion.

Applicants should submit a letter of application, curriculum vitae, a statement of research interests, a description of teaching interests and philosophy, and the names and contact information for at least three references. Application materials should be submitted as .PDF files via Georgia Tech's CAREERS website. Letter writers should submit their letters directly to the same site at the time of application. Enquiries may be directed to Search Committee Chair Rachel Whitlark (Rachel.whitlark@inta.gatech.edu). To ensure consideration, applications must be received by October 15th, but the search will continue until the position is filled. An earned doctorate is required by the start of the appointment, and a background check must be completed prior to employment.

Georgia Tech provides equal opportunity to all faculty, staff, students, and all other members of the Georgia Tech community, including applicants for admission and/or employment, contractors, volunteers, and participants in institutional programs, activities, or services. Georgia Tech complies with all applicable laws and regulations governing equal opportunity in the workplace and in educational activities. Georgia Tech prohibits discrimination, including discriminatory harassment, on the basis of race, ethnicity, ancestry, color, religion, sex (including pregnancy), sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, age, disability, genetics, or veteran status in its programs, activities, employment, and admissions. This prohibition applies to faculty, staff, students, and all other members of the Georgia Tech community, including affiliates, invitees, and guests.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 10/15/2022

Date Posted: 8/30/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10810

University of Richmond

Rank: Assistant Professor of Leadership Studies

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, International Relations

The University of Richmond's Jepson School of Leadership Studies (JSLS) invites applications for a full-time tenure-track position at the rank of Assistant Professor to begin in the 2023-24 academic year.

The successful candidate must be a quantitative social scientist who will have completed a Ph.D. by August 16, 2023 in anthropology, economics, political science, psychology, sociology, or a related field. We will consider candidates whose demonstrated scholarly work considers how institutions or cultural norms structure leadership and/or decision-making. Successful candidates' specific areas of expertise might include (but are not limited to): whether or how leaders matter, collective intelligence, institutional decision-making, collective action problems, political polarization, institutional change, or cultural evolution.

JSLS is a collaborative, inclusive community of scholars with representation from diverse humanities and social science disciplines. Applicants should have the potential and desire to teach in our interdisciplinary undergraduate liberal arts environment (see <http://jepson.richmond.edu> for more information). The successful candidate will be expected to teach elective courses related to his or her disciplinary training and to contribute to the curriculum by teaching such required courses as Leadership and the Social Sciences, Quantitative Social Science, and Theories and Models of Leadership.

The University of Richmond is a private university located just a short drive from downtown Richmond, Virginia. Through its five schools (including JSLS) and wide array of campus programming, the University combines the best qualities of a small liberal arts college and a large university. With approximately 4,000 students, an 8:1 student-faculty ratio, and more than 90% of traditional undergraduate students living on campus, the University is remarkably student-centered, focused on preparing students “to live lives of purpose, thoughtful inquiry, and responsible leadership in a global and pluralistic society.”

Applicants should apply online at <http://jobs.richmond.edu> and submit a curriculum vitae, cover letter, and teaching statement. In their cover letter, candidates should demonstrate how their scholarly and teaching interests bear on institutional or cultural determinants of leadership and/or decision-making. In addition, applicants should specify in their cover letters how they are prepared to contribute to the unique, interdisciplinary environment at JSL and to diversity and inclusion. Please also include the names and emails of three references. We will let candidates know in advance if their references will be asked to submit letters (to the University’s Human Resources department at URHR@richmond.edu). The teaching statement should articulate the candidate’s teaching philosophy and experience, particularly as they relate to the courses the successful candidate is expected to teach.

Applications are due by October 31. Zoom interviews will be conducted in November. We anticipate inviting candidates to campus early 2023.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 10/31/2022

Date Posted: 8/29/2022

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 10795

Chapman University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

The Wilkinson College of Arts, Humanities, and Social Sciences at Chapman University invites applications for an assistant professor of political science (tenure-track) with area expertise in the Middle East to begin in Fall 2023.

The successful applicant will possess an active research agenda and a strong commitment to undergraduate teaching. Candidates should be prepared to teach upper-level courses that situate the Middle East in the international arena, as well as introductory courses in international relations, comparative politics, or the subfield of their expertise.

Chapman University is a nationally-ranked institution offering traditional undergraduate and graduate programs in the heart of Orange County, one of Southern California’s most diverse and vibrant regions. The University has achieved R2 status in the Carnegie Classification of Institutions of Higher Education, a distinction held by just 10 percent of all U.S. universities. Our faculty include academic leaders who excel in research, publishing, and world-class teaching in our 11 schools and colleges. Dedicated to forward-looking, personalized education, we create an environment for unlimited achievement by both our students and faculty.

Qualifications

We seek candidates whose research agendas bridge theory and practice in the contemporary world, and who can therefore contribute to experiential learning programs and other efforts to advance Chapman University’s mission of developing global citizens. Some preference will be given to candidates who are familiar with the language(s) and culture(s) of the MENA region. Requirements include a Ph.D. in a relevant field from an accredited University at the time of hire, evidence of promising scholarly work, and a record of effective and innovative teaching.

Responsibilities

The successful candidate will develop and teach upper-level courses that situate the Middle East in the international arena, as well as introductory courses in international relations, comparative politics, or the subfield of their expertise. Tenure-track faculty members are expected to develop and maintain an active research agenda and are evaluated on their research/scholarly/creative activity, teaching, and service.

Required Application Materials

Qualified applicants should electronically submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, statement of research (2 pages max), statement of teaching philosophy (2 pages max), a Chapman faculty employment application, and have three references sent, to:

John Compton, Ph.D., Search Committee Chair

Care of Academic Jobs Online: <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajojobs/22512>

For inquiries about this position please email Talisa Flores at flores@chapman.edu. Use “Political Science Position” as the email subject line.

Application review begins September 19 and continues until the position is filled. Writing and syllabi samples may be requested after the initial review of applications by the search committee. Salary is competitive and commensurate with experience. Chapman University offers a relocation expense reimbursement package as well as a first-time Orange County homebuyer assistance program. Successful completion of a background check is required for the final candidate. This position is subject to final budget approval.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 9/19/2022

Date Posted: 8/26/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10791

Lafayette College

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of Government and Law at Lafayette College invites applications for a tenure-track position in comparative politics/international relations at the rank of Assistant Professor commencing July 1, 2023. The Department seeks candidates with regional specialization in African politics and topical specialization in one or more of the following: political economy and development; ethnic conflict, transitional justice, and post-conflict processes; migration, immigration, and diaspora studies; and/or post-colonial studies and state building. Applicants should possess a Ph.D. in political science (or closely related field) or demonstrate that the Ph.D. is near completion. The successful candidate will teach Introduction to Comparative Politics, as well as intermediate and advanced courses in their areas of expertise. The successful candidate will also be expected to contribute to the College’s interdisciplinary programs and maintain an active research agenda.

The Department especially welcomes applications from candidates who will contribute to Lafayette's commitment to diversity and inclusion. The teaching load is four courses (normally, two each semester) during the first year and five courses each year thereafter.

Applications should include a letter of intent that contains a statement of teaching philosophy and scholarly interests, curriculum vitae, sample of scholarly work, graduate school transcript, evidence of teaching ability (including, if available, syllabi and teaching evaluations), and arrange to send three letters of recommendation. In the letter of intent, applicants should address the ways in which their teaching, scholarship, and/or community engagement will advance Lafayette College's commitment to diversity and inclusion articulated in the college's diversity statement (<https://diversity.lafayette.edu/diversity-statement/>).

Please upload application material electronically through Interfolio at <http://apply.interfolio.com/112095>. Review of applications will begin on September 26, 2022 and continue until the position is filled. Questions may be directed to the Search Committee Chair, Associate Professor Il Hyun Cho (choi@lafayette.edu).

Located within 70 miles of New York City and Philadelphia, Lafayette College is a highly selective undergraduate liberal arts and engineering institution with significant resources to support faculty members in their teaching and scholarship. Lafayette is deeply committed to creating a diverse community, one that is inclusive and responsive and is supportive of each and all of its faculty, students, and staff. All members of the College community share in the responsibility for creating, maintaining, and developing a learning environment in which difference is valued, equity is sought, and inclusiveness is practiced. All Lafayette operations reflect the College's commitment to Diversity, Equity, Access, and Inclusion (DEAI) initiatives, and Lafayette welcomes applicants from diverse backgrounds.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/24/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10768

West Chester University

Rank: Tenure-Track Assistant Professor of International Relations and Global Studies

Join a vibrant campus community whose excellence is reflected in its diversity and student success. The Department of Political Science invites applicants for a full-time, tenure-track, Assistant Professor of International Relations and Global Studies position to begin in August 2023.

West Chester University, a member of the Pennsylvania State System of Higher Education, is a public, comprehensive institution committed to offering high-quality undergraduate education, selected post-baccalaureate and graduate programs, and a variety of educational and cultural resources for its students, alumni, and citizens of southeastern Pennsylvania. The University offers more than 100 graduate and undergraduate programs in the sciences and mathematics, business and public management, arts and humanities, health sciences, education and social work, music, and interdisciplinary studies. We are a community of educators dedicated to developing graduates who succeed personally and professionally and contribute to the common good.

The mission of the Department of Political Science, part of the College of Sciences and Mathematics, is to promote scholarship and responsible citizenship by providing a comprehensive curriculum that exposes students to the principal subfields of the discipline and encourage critical analysis and communication skills. The department's faculty are actively involved in research, teaching, and applied scholarship. They mentor students by encouraging academic challenge and civic involvement in an environment that values diversity.

The ideal candidate's experience, substantive specializations, and pedagogical training will serve to strengthen the department's mission and vision. The faculty member will use innovative teaching skills and demonstrate attention to the learning and teaching needs of the students; and teach undergraduate and/or graduate courses offered in-person and online in both synchronous and asynchronous formats. The faculty member will collaborate with other departmental faculty and staff.

RESPONSIBILITIES INCLUDE:

Teach undergraduate and/or graduate level courses in the areas of International Relations, Comparative Politics, Global Studies, and regional & transnational focus on issues related to Human Rights, Sustainable Development, Energy Policies, and Climate Change. Additional courses within area of specialization may be assigned based on departmental needs.

Engage in scholarly activities such as research, presentations, and publications.

Serve the University and the community through participation in various committees.

Mentoring and advising students.

Other duties as assigned.

Minimum Qualifications:

Ph.D. in Political Science (ABD may be considered. Must be completed on or before August 2023).

Experience teaching courses in International Relations, Comparative Politics, and/or Global Studies.

Experience teaching specialized courses in Middle East, North Africa, Sub-Saharan Africa, and/or transnational issues.

Preferred Qualifications:

Experience developing course curriculum.

Ability to develop specialized courses in International Relations, Comparative Politics, and /or Global Studies.

Experience with innovative pedagogies.

Special Instructions:

Apply online at <https://www.schooljobs.com/careers/wcupa>. Incomplete applications will not be reviewed.

Review of applications will begin October 10, 2022 and continue until the position has been filled.

Finalist must successfully complete an interview, teaching demonstration, and research presentation.

To be considered as an applicant for this position, please submit the following:

Cover letter (Describing teaching and research interests)

Curriculum vitae

Sample syllabus

Evidence of teaching effectiveness (Such as student class evaluations and peer or supervisor observations)

List of three references with contact information

Unofficial graduate transcripts (Official transcripts will be required at a later date)

Diversity statement (See below)

Commitment to Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion:

West Chester University has joined EAB's Moon Shot initiative for Equity in Higher education. This initiative is designed to support faculty, students, and staff who are typically excluded and therefore are underrepresented. As part of your application for a tenure-track faculty position, we request a Diversity Statement. This request highlights our department's commitment to promote diversity and inclusiveness and to cultivate a campus environment that welcomes all. This commitment reflects the Diversity Theme of West Chester University's Strategic Plan and supports initiatives of our Office of Diversity, Equity and Inclusion (WCU Diversity Equity Inclusion). We expect that each applicant's statement will be unique, as informed by their own experiences and goals. Some topics you might address in a 1-2-page statement include the following: (1) How have you supported diversity and inclusion in your interactions with others in classroom and research environments? (2) What have you done to help students from diverse communities (such as underrepresented minorities, non-traditional, LGBTQ, veteran, rural, and/or first generation) succeed, including any programs for these students in which you have participated? (3) Describe your commitment to working toward achieving equity and enhancing diversity at WCU. How might you contribute to our current diversity initiatives, and do you have any other ideas to help promote equity on our campus?

All offers of employment are subject to and contingent upon satisfactory completion of all preemployment criminal background checks.

Developing and sustaining a diverse faculty and staff advances West Chester University's educational mission and strategic Plan for Excellence. West Chester University is an Affirmative Action – Equal Opportunity Employer. Women, minorities, veterans, and individuals with disabilities are encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/24/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10771

University of Denver

Rank: Assistant Professor, Global Orders and Governance; Assistant Professor, Environmental or Natural Resource Policy and Economics

Specializations: Environmental Policy, Economic Policy, Foreign Policy

Global Governance

<https://jobs.du.edu/en-us/job/495451/assistant-professor-global-orders-and-governance-josef-korbel-school-of-international-studies>

Job no: 495451

Work type: Faculty Full-Time

Location: Denver, CO

Categories: Faculty

Application Deadline: September 16, 2022

The Josef Korbel School of International Studies at the University of Denver seeks to hire an assistant professor, tenure track, in the fields of global governance or international relations, with a preference for those studying challenges related to the global order in the 21st century and the prospects for new orders. Possible research interests include such core issues of international relations and the global order as the efficacy of international institutions, limits on the use of force for territorial gain, respect for human rights, authoritarianism and the international order, rising powers, and existential rivalries in the international arena. The position will commence in September 2023. The successful candidate for this position will function effectively as a scholar and teacher in an interdisciplinary school and will complement the expertise of the existing faculty who specialize in global governance (through the lens of human and international security, global development, and/or international political economy). The successful candidate for this position will be prepared to teach graduate and undergraduate students in several Korbel degree programs. Through research and outreach this faculty member will contribute to the School's commitment to engaged scholarship.

Environmental/Natural Resource Policy and Economics

<https://jobs.du.edu/en-us/job/495450/assistant-professor-environmental-or-natural-resource-policy-and-economics-josef-korbel-school-of-international-studies>

Job no: 495450

Work type: Faculty Full-Time

Location: Denver, CO

Categories: Faculty

Application Deadline: September 23, 2022

The Josef Korbel School of International Studies of the University of Denver seeks to hire an assistant professor, tenure-track, in the fields of ecological, environmental, or natural resource policy and/or economics. The position will commence in September 2023.

The successful candidate for this position will function effectively as a scholar and teacher in an interdisciplinary school and will complement the expertise of the existing faculty who specialize in environmental issues. The subfield is open, but we will give special consideration to scholars who focus on the economic features or societal consequences of climate change, the efficacy of market-related policy instruments, and the design and execution of policy in the context of complex systems and deep uncertainty. Possible topics include but are not limited to climate tax and regulatory policy, corporate environmental and social governance, climate justice and sustainable economic development, climate and economic inequality, and stakeholder participation in policy design, enactment, and assessment.

The faculty member in this position will be prepared to introduce and teach core courses in the Korbel School's MA in Global Environmental Sustainability, which also enrolls students from other Korbel graduate programs, and in the Korbel School's undergraduate programs. Through research and outreach the person in this position will contribute to the growth of the School's Sustainability Initiative and to the School's commitment to engaged scholarship.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/23/2022

Salary: $80,000 - $89,999

eJobs ID: 10758

University of Louisville

Rank: Endowed Chair of Asian Democracy/Assistant or Associate Professor of Political Science

Specializations: Southeast Asia, South Asia, East Asia

The Department of Political Science at the University of Louisville is now accepting applications for an Endowed Chair in Asian Democracy, with an appointment to begin in Fall 2023. Applicants with an active research focus on dynamics of democratization or human rights in the region will be strong candidates. The search is open with regard to geographic focus within the region, as well as research methodology.

The department welcomes applicants for the rank of either Assistant or Associate Professor. Candidates who are ABD will be considered, but College policy requires completion of the PhD by February 15th of the first probationary year.

The Endowed Chair will also join the University of Louisville's Center for Asian Democracy. The Endowed Chair's role within the Center for Asian Democracy will be contingent upon rank and relevant candidate experience. Candidates at the rank of Assistant Professor would not be expected to take on significant service responsibilities within the Center before tenure review.

Candidates for the rank of Associate Professor should have a demonstrated record of research excellence, while candidates for the rank of Assistant Professor should demonstrate significant research potential. The successful candidate will be able to teach upper-level undergraduate and graduate courses related to the Endowed Chair's mission, as well as one introductory-level course in the department. The salary and benefits packages are competitive. Position is subject to final budgetary approval.

The Department of Political Science encourages candidates to apply who have demonstrated capacity to create inclusive work environments and will work effectively on increasingly diverse teams, and will serve the increasingly diverse students we admit and want to attract.

About the University of Louisville's Department of Political Science
The Department of Political Science of the University of Louisville has 19 full-time professors, several of whom are members of the Asian Studies Program, which has twenty faculty affiliates across the College of Arts and Sciences. The Department of Political Science is proud of a diverse and dynamic faculty and student body, with over 500 students enrolled in BA and MA programs. The University of Louisville is a Carnegie-classified R1 metropolitan research university.

About the Center for Asian Democracy

The mission of the Center for Asian Democracy, established in 2006, is to promote research and teaching about democracy and the prospects for democratization in Central, South, Southeast and East Asia. Through publications, conferences, workshops, visiting fellow programs, colloquia, and research projects in Asian countries, the Center creates a forum for studying political dynamics in this vital region.

Application Procedure

All interested candidates must complete two steps to apply. First, all candidates must complete a brief web-based application and attach a CV. This application form and CV upload can be found here: <https://www.higheredjobs.com/institution/details.cfm?JobCode=178064812>. Second, all candidates should submit by email a CV, cover letter, sample of written work, graduate transcripts, and three letters of reference. We ask that in the cover letter, the candidate describe how their research, teaching, or service experiences support inclusive learning and diversity. These materials should be emailed to Dr. Tricia Gray, Chair, Department of Political Science, University of Louisville at polisci@louisville.edu. Priority application deadline is October 1, 2022; application review will continue until the position is filled.

Department faculty will be available for a limited number of informational conversations regarding the position at the 2022 APSA Annual Meeting in Montreal. Potential candidates with an interest in scheduling a meeting should email polisci@louisville.edu with the words "APSA Endowed Chair Meeting Request" in the subject line.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 10/1/2022

Date Posted: 8/22/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10750

Duke University

Rank: Assistant Professor of International Policy

Specializations: Environmental Policy, Health Care, Developing Nations

The Sanford School of Public Policy seeks to hire a tenure-line political scientist with a focus on international policy at the rank of assistant professor and expertise that aligns with one or more of the following areas: international development, health, energy, and the environment.

Candidates must have a Ph.D. in political science or in public policy with a concentration in political science, and a record of (or demonstrated capacity for) scholarly publication and excellence in teaching. The Sanford School values applications from candidates with a strong interest in policy engagement. Candidates should be able to teach courses in the Sanford undergraduate and graduate core curriculum in addition to their own areas of policy specialization.

The Sanford School includes an interdisciplinary full-time faculty of almost 70 and offers an undergraduate major, four Masters programs, and a Ph.D. program. The Sanford School houses several research centers and offers degree-related programs and opportunities in Washington, China, Scotland, London and Geneva. More information on the Sanford School can be found at <https://www.sanford.duke.edu>.

Candidates should submit a letter of application that describes their research and teaching interests and experiences, CV, writing sample, and names and contact information for three references. These materials should be submitted via the following website: <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/22386>

Applications submitted by September 30th, 2022 will be guaranteed full consideration. For further information, contact Anirudh Krishna, search committee chair, at ak30@duke.edu.

Duke University is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer committed to providing employment opportunity without regard to an individual's age, color, disability, genetic information, gender, gender identity, national origin, race, religion, sexual orientation, or veteran status.

Start Date: Summer 2023

Application Deadline: 9/30/2022

Date Posted: 8/18/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10729

Naval Postgraduate School

Rank: Assistant or Associate Professor

Specializations: Africa, Political Economy, International Political Economy

African Politics and Security

Tenure Track

Assistant or Associate Professor

Department of National Security Affairs
Naval Postgraduate School, Monterey, CA

The Department of National Security Affairs at the Naval Postgraduate School seeks applications for a tenure-track appointment at the rank of assistant or associate professor interested in research and teaching in the field of African Politics and Security. Relevant expertise might include African regional security, African political economy, the international politics of development, political institutions and civil society groups in Africa, or great power interests in the region. Candidates should demonstrate a strong potential for teaching excellence and scholarly research. The successful candidate must also be prepared to teach introductory Masters-level courses on International Relations or Comparative Politics, as well as courses in the candidate's specific research specialty, African politics, and African history.

The Naval Postgraduate School is a fully accredited graduate school whose students are drawn from the armed forces and civilian agencies of the United States and other countries. The Department of National Security Affairs is multi-disciplinary, with curricula based on Political Science, International Affairs, Political Economy, and History. Tenure-track professors typically teach a 2-2 load on a quarter system and are expected to maintain an active portfolio of academic research, publishing, and institutional service.

Minimum qualifications:

- An earned doctoral degree from an accredited institution
- Evidence of teaching aptitude
- Evidence of potential to advise student theses and dissertations
- Evidence of strong potential for scholarship leading to scholarly publications

Employment requirements:

- U.S. citizenship is required
 - Background check and eligibility for a Secret-level clearance
- Applications should include a CV, cover letter (including teaching and research interests), official graduate transcripts, and syllabi of relevant courses taught. Candidates should also submit up to three writing samples and three letters of recommendation. These confidential letters of recommendation should be submitted separately. ABDs are welcome to apply with the understanding that the award of a Ph.D. degree is a condition of employment. Review of applications will begin Friday, October 21, 2022 and will continue until the position is filled. Expected start date is in the summer or fall of 2023. Address applications and supporting materials electronically to the National Security Affairs Department at nsadept@nps.edu.

Questions and any other inquiries may be directed to:

Prof. James J. Wirtz
Chair, African Politics and Security Search Committee
Department of National Security Affairs
Naval Postgraduate School
Monterey, CA 93943
jwirtz@nps.edu

Salary is commensurate with qualifications and experience. Relocation package, including recruitment/relocation incentive may be authorized.

The Naval Postgraduate School is an equal opportunity employer. For additional information about NPS, please refer to the website at <http://www.nps.edu>

NOTE: IF YOU ARE A VETERAN, you are strongly encouraged to identify your Veterans' Preference on your resume or elsewhere in your application package (type of preference, dates of service, date of VA letter, character of service, etc.).

Additional Veterans' Information: if you are not sure of your preference eligibility, visit the Department of Labor's website: <http://dol.gov/elaws/vets/vetpref/mservice.htm>

For more veterans' preference information, visit: <http://www.fedshirevets.gov/job/vetpref/index.aspx>

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 10/21/2022

Date Posted: 8/18/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10731

Ohio State University

Rank: International Relations

Description:

The Department of Political Science at The Ohio State University invites applications for a tenure-track position in International Relations at the rank of Assistant Professor. The appointment will begin in Autumn 2023. We are interested in candidates with scholarly interests in the areas of international political economy, international organization, political psychology of international relations, and human security. Candidates are expected to have strong methodological training.

Qualifications:

Candidates must demonstrate excellence in research, teaching, and mentorship. Responsibilities of the position include maintaining an active research program, including actively seeking external funding, contributing to graduate and undergraduate teaching, mentoring, and engaged service to the university and the profession. Salary will be commensurate with the candidate's experience and qualifications. Applicants must have completed all doctoral degree requirements by the time of their appointment. Appointment is contingent on the university's verification of credentials and other information required by law and/or university policies, including but not limited to a criminal background check. Successful candidates will have a demonstrated commitment towards social equity, diversity, and inclusion. Inquiries may be directed to Professor Sarah Brooks, at brooks.317@polisci.osu.edu.

About Columbus:

The Ohio State University campus is located in Columbus, the capital city of Ohio. Columbus is the Midwest's fastest-growing city and the nation's 14th largest city. Columbus offers a diverse array of welcoming neighborhoods and a vibrant arts and culture scene. Additional information about all that the Columbus area has to offer is available at <https://visit.osu.edu/experience>.

Application Instructions:

The review of applications will begin on September 15th. Applications will be evaluated as they are received and will be accepted until the positions are filled. To apply, please send a cover letter, curriculum vitae, research statement, teaching statement, diversity statement, job market paper, up to three other papers or chapters, an unofficial graduate transcript, and three professional letters of reference to Academic Jobs Online at <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/22327>. The diversity statement should articulate your demonstrated commitments and capacities to contribute to diversity, equity, and inclusion through research, teaching, mentoring, and/or outreach and engagement.

The Ohio State University is committed to enhancing academic excellence. Recruiting, supporting, and retaining faculty of the highest caliber is a core component of this commitment. In support of this, The Office of Academic Affairs (OAA) has created the Office of Dual Careers and Faculty Relocation (DCFR) to focus on supporting new and prospective faculty. This support includes dual careers services, consultation and resources related to relocation, as well as identifying opportunities to engage on campus and the surrounding community. While employment opportunities are not guaranteed, resources and consultation are available to support the partners of new and prospective faculty as they are considering The Ohio State University and throughout their transition.

The Ohio State University is committed to establishing a culturally and intellectually diverse environment, encouraging all members of our learning community to reach their full potential. Over the next few years, The Ohio State University is committed to welcoming 350 new faculty hires, many of which will contribute to growing our role as a premier research university equipped to answer and interrogate the critical domestic and global societal challenges that deter equality and inclusion. We are responsive to dual-career families and strongly promote work-life balance to support our community members through a suite of institutionalized policies.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/18/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10723

Universidad Torcuato Di Tella

Rank: Assistant or Associate Professor

The Department of Political Science and International Studies at Universidad Torcuato Di Tella (UTDT) seeks candidates for two tenure-track assistant professor positions in International Relations, with an expected (but negotiable) start date of August 2023. Very strong candidates at the associate level will also be considered. We are open with respect to substantive subfield, theoretical orientation and methodological approach. The ability to teach courses on research design, quantitative data analysis and/or causal inference is a plus. Candidates are expected to demonstrate a strong commitment to research and to teaching and mentoring students. The teaching load is three courses per year. Most courses are taught in Spanish, although a growing number are offered in English. The position includes a research fund and a year's sabbatical (at full salary) every six years.

Duties will include teaching assigned courses in international relations at both the undergraduate and graduate levels, conducting research, writing for publication in high-quality academic venues, advising students, participating in department governance, and university service.

Qualifications: Ph.D. in Political Science or related disciplines (advanced ABD candidates will also be considered), a demonstrated record of excellence in research and teaching, and proficiency in Spanish and English. Questions should be directed to Professor Carlos Gervasoni, Chair of the Department of Political Science and International Studies, at cgervasoni@utdt.edu.

Please send your application materials as PDF documents to postulacion.cpei@utdt.edu, by October 31, 2022 (applications received after this date will continue to be reviewed until the positions are filled). The required documents include: A cover letter, CV, a research statement, a teaching statement, a writing sample, and two letters of reference.

Universidad Torcuato Di Tella is a private research university located in Buenos Aires, Argentina. Our Department is consistently ranked as one of the best in Latin America in terms of reputation and research excellence. Our guiding principles are Academic Excellency, Pluralism of Ideas and Equal Opportunity. UTDT is committed to creating a diverse community of students, faculty and staff, following the principles of equal opportunity and treatment in education and employment, regardless of national origin, race, color, ethnicity, religion, political ideology, age, sex, sexual orientation, or gender identity. The university encourages applications of individuals from traditionally underrepresented groups who will further enrich the diversity of our educational community. We welcome applications from all nationalities. Approximately 25% of the Department's research professors are foreigners.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/18/2022

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 10730

Air War College

Rank: Professor of International Security Studies

Specializations: International Security, Foreign Policy, International Political Economy

The United States Air War College Department of International Security Studies invites applications for the position of Professor (open rank) of International Security to begin in 2023 (flexible). AWC faculty mentor & instruct senior defense leaders from the US and partner nations. International Relations or Comparative Politics specializations preferred. Substantive expertise in Asia (China, South Asia, Southeast Asia, or Northeast Asia), Russia, Latin America, and/or international political economy is highly desired.

Responsibilities include teaching graduate level seminars in the International Security Studies core curriculum (Great Power Studies and Regional Security Studies focused on either your region of specialization or on US national security); teaching electives in the applicant's area(s) of specialization; curriculum development; advising student research; and service to the institution. Teaching duties approximate a 2/2 teaching load per academic year. Approximate class sizes are 12-16 students per seminar.

Qualifications and Requirements

The position requires university-equivalent teaching experience (graduate-level preferred) and broad knowledge of the subject matter that comprises the AWC curriculum, i.e., global environment, international political structures and strategy; military thought and theory; military history; organization, capabilities, and limitations of armed forces.

A successful candidate would be expected to maintain an active research agenda including the publication of scholarly works such as articles, monographs, and book reviews in peer reviewed scholarly journals, professional journals and other outlets, and presentation of research at appropriate conferences and symposia. There is time and funding available for research and travel for individual areas of expertise or regional specialty.

We are especially interested in candidates whose teaching and research will contribute to the department's commitment to both diversity and academic excellence. We are dedicated to recruiting and retaining a diverse faculty committed to inclusive teaching and scholarship. Applicants should address how they will further these goals in their cover letter.

Applicants must be:

US citizens

Master's degree (required) in national security studies, international relations, government, political science, history, area studies in the region of specialization, or related field.

Able to obtain a Secret clearance.

Application Materials:

Cover Letter

CV

Application form (available through USA Jobs)

Teaching portfolio including a teaching philosophy and evidence of teaching accomplishments (experience and awards)

Diversity Statement including teaching, life experience and/or research interests that contribute to a climate that values and promotes diversity in all its forms

3 Professional References

Academic Transcript from PhD

For more information about the position, and to apply, please visit <https://www.usajobs.gov/job/671707300>

Point of contact: Christopher Paige, 334-953-3781, christopher.paige@au.af.edu

Note: Only applications submitted through USA Jobs will be considered.

Start Date: Spring 2023

Application Deadline: 10/15/2022

Date Posted: 8/17/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10716

KDI School of Public Policy and Management

Rank: 2022-2023 KDI School Job Openings for Tenure-Track Professors

Subfield(s): International Relations, Public Administration, Public Policy

KDI (Korea Development Institute) School of Public Policy and Management invites applications for full-time, tenure track positions at all levels in the fields specified below. KDI was ranked 1st in Asia and 5th among non-U.S. think tanks in the 2020 Global Think Tank Index and the School has a vibrant and diverse academic community with some 140 countries represented among our student body and alumni. KDI School is the only international policy school with NASPAA recognition in Korea and the first in Asia.

As a graduate-level international policy school, we offer master's and Ph.D. programs focusing on public policy, development policy, and public management. The normal class teaching load is four courses per year spread out over three trimesters and most courses are taught in English. The School provides internationally competitive compensation, faculty housing options, child education benefits (when available), moving expense support, generous research funding opportunities, and conference travel support.

KDI School invites applications for a position in the following areas:

- Data Science for Public Policy / Computational Social Science

We seek applications from scholars in the area of machine learning(ML), artificial intelligence (AI), and data science (broadly construed). Substantive expertise of interests are in areas such as ML, AI, AI ethics, network analysis, and the application of advanced computational techniques to social, economic, and/or policy issues. Successful candidates can be from any computational background (e.g. computer science, informatics) with research expertise in developing and applying ML, AI, and data science approaches for answering questions in public policy and the social sciences, although candidates from social science fields (economics, sociology, political science, and public policy) will be also welcomed and considered under the same criteria. A teaching portfolio is expected to suit the needs of an international public policy school with a diverse student body.

- International Relations

We seek applications from scholars who conduct research in topics related to international relations (international security and/or international political economy). Substantive expertise in the East Asian, South/Southeast Asian, Latin American region, training in causal inference including experimental methods, background in working with non-traditional data using computational social science skills, or extensive training in qualitative methods are preferred but not required. Successful candidates should have strong training in applied empirical methodology, substantive interests in policy-relevant research, and a teaching portfolio that can suit the needs of an international public policy school with a diverse student body.

- Competition Policy

We seek applications for a faculty position in competition policy. The position requires substantial theoretical knowledge and strong empirical research skills in industrial organization and regulatory economics. Priority will be given to candidates working on emerging issues in competition policy, such as the digital economy and the environment. The ideal candidate should have a broad range of policy interests to interact with students, scholars, and policymakers.

- Public Economics and Welfare Policy

We seek applications for a faculty position in the quantitative analysis of welfare policy. The ideal candidate should have a substantial public/welfare economics background, strong research potential in the empirical analysis of welfare policy. We are particularly interested in candidates who can develop and offer courses that address national-level policies, such as pensions, health insurance, and various welfare programs, with academic rigor.

- Strategic Management and Entrepreneurship

We seek applications from scholars in the area of strategic management and entrepreneurship. The ideal candidate should have a strong research capability in the empirical analysis and case studies of strategic management in public organizations (including public enterprises), non-profit organizations, social entrepreneurship, entrepreneurship policy, and entrepreneurial finance. Priority will be given to candidates working on emerging issues such as digital transformation, data analytics, supply chain management, and the metaverse. We are particularly interested in candidates who can develop innovative courses and interact with a broad range of policymakers, scholars, and practitioners in this dynamic and constantly evolving field.

- Public Administration, Public Management, and Governance
We seek applications for a faculty position in public administration, public management, and governance. A competitive applicant may have an academic and practical expertise in such domains as collaborative governance, institutional analysis, and theories/practices of the policy process. Those whose research methods can be characterized as qualitative (e.g., case study, ethnography, grounded theory, etc.) or mixed (quantitative and/or qualitative) are preferred. Applicants who are interested (and specialized) in connecting data science to public administration for their research and teaching are also welcome.

*Please find the attached file for detailed information at <https://bit.ly/3JWtBH>

*Please submit application materials electronically at <http://apply.interfolio.com/111719>

Start Date: Spring 2023

Application Deadline: 11/10/2022

Date Posted: 8/16/2022

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 10696

Rutgers University, New Brunswick

Rank: Assistant Prof. International Relations/Int'l Security-Tenure-Track

The Political Science Department at Rutgers University, New Brunswick anticipates hiring an international relations scholar whose research focuses on International Security and/or Foreign Policy (including great power competition) to begin Sept 1, 2023, subject to availability of funding. The successful candidate will be responsible for teaching standard undergraduate survey courses in international relations. We welcome candidates with expertise in quantitative approaches to causal inference and/or advanced computational methods, as well as those with an ability to contribute to the minor we offer in Critical Intelligence Studies. A Ph.D. in Political Science or a related field is required by Sept 1 2023.

Candidates should submit the following materials: (1) c.v.; (2) cover letter; (3) research statement, (4) teaching statement, (5) a writing sample; (6) a diversity statement addressing ways in which their research, teaching, or service will contribute to Rutgers's commitment to enhancing diversity and inclusiveness (broadly construed); (7) three confidential letters of recommendation. Submit application materials at: <https://jobs.rutgers.edu/postings/177078>

Review of applications will begin on October 1, 2022 and will continue until the job is filled.

Question regarding the search may be directed to Ms. Jovani Reaves at joreaves@polisci.rutgers.edu

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/16/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10701

Tecnologico de Monterrey

Rank: Assistant Professor Positions

Subfield(s): International Relations, Public Policy, Comparative Politics

Assistant Professor Positions

School of Social Sciences and Government, Department of Political Science and International Relations in Mexico City, Monterrey, and other major campuses in Mexico, Graduate School of Government, Escuela de Gobierno y Transformación Pública, Mexico City, Federal District and Monterrey, Nuevo León

The Tecnológico de Monterrey (Tec) invites applications from candidates in political science, international relations, public policy, political economy, and related social science fields. The search is open with respect to specialty and methodological approaches. We are recruiting candidates with the potential to conduct theoretically informed, methodologically rigorous research for publication in top peer-reviewed venues.

We have two types of openings. In IR, we are interested in scholars from any of the major subfields, including comparative international political economy, security studies, and or international organizations. In public policy, substantive areas include data sciences for public service and governance, education policy, or health policy (obesity research). The Tecnológico de Monterrey offers a dynamic academic environment with excellent research support.

Minimum Requirements:

Candidates must have a demonstrated ability in conducting theoretical and empirical research in one or more of the aforementioned areas. The Tecnológico de Monterrey also prizes an excellent background in teaching. Professors are expected to teach and mentor undergraduates as well as graduate students. We are primarily interested in scholars early in their academic careers for the Assistant Research Professor track with teaching obligations that approximate a 2-2 load. We also have openings for Assistant Teaching Professors (3-3 or 4-4) and Student Advisor Professors (2-2 or 3-3), depending on the campus. Applications from ABD candidates will be considered if they include a letter from the dissertations chair stating a defense date, which should occur no later than June 2023.

Compensation is competitive and it includes incentives and support for research activities. The Tecnológico de Monterrey will provide legal assistance for foreign nationals in order to obtain work permits and visas for the candidate and his or her dependents.

Applicants should send the following documents in PDF format through the APSA placement.

- Curriculum Vitae accompanied by a cover letter.
- Research statement for the next 3 years (no longer than three pages).
- A statement of teaching philosophy (no more than two pages). Finalists may be asked to provide evidence of teaching performance.
- Writing sample, not to exceed 50 double spaced pages. If co-authored the candidate should be the first author.

- Three letters of recommendation. Ph.D. candidates should include a letter from their chair indicating defense date.

For informal inquiries please contact the following committee members:

Prof. Mariana Rangel: mariana.rangel@tec.mx

Prof. Gabriel Aguilera: gabe.aguilera@tec.mx

About the Tecnológico de Monterrey:

The Tecnológico de Monterrey is ranked highly among the top universities in Latin America and Mexico. Undergraduate departments and programs in political science, international relations, economics, law, and public policy are housed in the School of Social Sciences and Government at our major campuses in Mexico City, Monterrey, Queretaro, and Guadalajara. For more information, visit <https://tec.mx/es/noticias/ciencias-sociales-y-gobierno>.

For more information on the Graduate School of Government, Escuela de Gobierno y Transformación Pública, visit <http://escueladegobierno.itesm.mx/> The graduate school has campuses in Mexico City and Monterrey.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 11/30/2022

Date Posted: 8/16/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10707

University of California, Merced

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, International Relations

The University of California, Merced, is the newest of the University of California system's 10 campuses. With over 9,000 undergraduate and graduate students (<https://www.ucmerced.edu/fast-facts>), UC Merced provides outstanding educational opportunities to highly qualified students from the heart of California, the nation, and abroad. The campus has special connections to nearby Yosemite National Park; is on the cutting edge of sustainability in construction and design; and supports the economic development of Central California. The Merced 2020 Project doubled the physical capacity of the campus, and enhanced academic distinction, student success, and research excellence (<https://merced2020.ucmerced.edu/>).

The Political Science Department at the University of California, Merced invites applications for an assistant professor position (tenure track) in either Political Institutions or Political Behavior, with a substantive focus in American Politics, Comparative Politics, or International Relations. The Department especially welcomes applications from candidates who demonstrate both a record of outstanding scholarship and contributions to diversity, equity, and inclusion.

In order to be considered, candidates must have a PhD in Political Science or a closely related field by the position start date.

Anticipated start date is July 1, 2023.

The position will remain open until filled. However, to ensure consideration, applications should be received by September 20, 2022. Applications will be submitted via <https://aprecruit.ucmerced.edu>.

Interested applicants are required to submit 1) a cover letter; 2) curriculum vitae; 3) statement of research; 4) statement of teaching; 5) two writing samples; 6) statement on contributions to equity, diversity, and inclusion; and 7) a list of three references with contact information including mailing address, phone number and e-mail address.

Applicants for the Assistant Professor level should arrange to have three letters of reference submitted online. After an application is submitted, the letters of reference should be electronically uploaded by the letter writers (instructions will be provided by the application system). Letters of reference should be received no later than September 20, 2022.

As a condition of employment, you will be required to comply with the University of California SARS-CoV-2 (COVID-19) Vaccination Program Policy: https://policy.ucop.edu/doc/5000695/SARS-CoV-2_Covid-19. All Covered Individuals under the policy must provide proof of Full Vaccination or, if applicable, submit a request for Exception (based on Medical Exemption, Disability, and/or Religious Objection) or Deferral (based on pregnancy) no later than the applicable deadline. For new University of California employees, the applicable deadline is 14 days after their first date of employment.

Applicants will be notified when the final candidate has been selected.

For additional information, please contact Professor Haifeng Huang at hhuang24@ucmerced.edu.

To apply, please visit our UC Merced job posting at: <https://aprecruit.ucmerced.edu/JPF01382>

The University of California is an Equal Employment Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer and invites applications from all qualified applicants, including women, minorities, veterans, and individual with disabilities, who will enrich the teaching, research and public service missions of the university. All qualified applicants will be considered for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability, age or protected veteran status. For the complete University of California nondiscrimination and affirmative action policy, see: UC Nondiscrimination & Affirmative Action Policy (<https://policy.ucop.edu/doc/4000376/DiscHarassAffirmAction>).

UC Merced is a smoke & tobacco free campus (<https://smokefree.ucmerced.edu/>).

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 9/20/2022

Date Posted: 8/16/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10700

Centre College

Rank: Assistant Professor

Specializations: Race & Ethnic Politics, South Asia, Southeast Asia

Centre College invites applications for a tenure-track position beginning in August 2023 in the Politics program with expertise in comparative politics, and/or international relations. The successful candidate will be a teacher-scholar who demonstrates a commitment to excellence in teaching at a nationally-ranked liberal arts college. Ideal candidates will have a primary specialization in comparative politics and/or international relations (regional specialization in Asian politics preferred) with a secondary emphasis on examining the field(s) of race, ethnicity, immigration, and/or imperialism. Candidates who are engaged in political economy or public policy discourses are especially encouraged to apply.

Centre College is a highly selective liberal arts college of about 1,400 students, has one of the nation's premier study-abroad programs, and is listed among the top national liberal arts colleges by U.S. News & World Report. The Centre Commitment guarantees that all students can study abroad, have an internship or research opportunity, and graduate in four years. With an exceptional faculty of teacher-scholars, classes are small and academic standards are high, and Centre graduates enjoy extraordinary success in top graduate and professional schools, prestigious fellowships, and rewarding careers.

Centre College is committed to an environment that welcomes and supports diversity. As noted in the Statement of Community, Centre strives to create an environment where differences are celebrated, governance is shared, ideas are freely and respectfully exchanged, and all members of the community benefit from the richness of diverse backgrounds and experiences. A number of resources support faculty success, including a robust Center for Teaching and Learning, peer mentoring, membership in the National Center for Faculty Development and Diversity, and endowed funding for professional development.

Centre is located in Danville, Kentucky, a city of 18,000 recognized for its high quality of life, historic downtown, friendly people, beautiful landscapes, and easy access to Lexington, Louisville, and Cincinnati. Centre College is a proud member of the Greater Kentucky Higher Education Recruitment Consortium.

Application Instructions

Applicants are asked to submit a CV and a cover letter that addresses their commitment to teaching at a liberal arts college and to advancing inclusion and equity in higher education. Review of applications will begin on October 7. Applicants selected for additional consideration will be asked to submit a teaching portfolio (teaching statement, teaching evaluations, and/or sample syllabi), research portfolio (research statement and writing sample of no more than forty pages), diversity and inclusion statement, and three letters of recommendation.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 10/7/2022

Date Posted: 8/12/2022

Salary: Any

eJobs ID: 10684

George Washington University

Rank: Assistant Professor

International Relations

The Department of Political Science invites applications for a tenure-track position in International Relations at the rank of assistant professor. The position will start in Fall 2023. The position is pending final budgetary approval.

The successful candidate will teach graduate and undergraduate courses and maintain an active theoretically-oriented research agenda.

Minimum Qualifications: Applicants must have an active, theoretically-oriented research agenda as evidenced by working papers or publications, and be able to teach graduate and undergraduate courses as indicated by research presentations and/or teaching assessments. Applicants must have strong substantive and methodological training, as demonstrated by completed coursework. Applicants must hold a Ph.D. or doctoral degree in Political Science or a related field. ABDs will be considered but must have completed all requirements for the Ph.D. by the date of appointment.

Application Procedure: To apply please complete an online faculty application at <https://www.gwu.jobs/postings/95399> and upload a cover letter, curriculum vitae, statement of teaching/research interest (including a summary of teaching evaluations, if available), and samples of written work. In addition, please send at least three letters of recommendation to pscjobs_IR@gwu.edu. Review of applications will begin on September 15, 2022, and will continue until the position is filled. Only complete applications will be considered.

The university is an Equal Employment Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer that does not unlawfully discriminate in any of its programs or activities on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, national origin, age, disability, veteran status, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, or on any other basis prohibited by applicable law.

The university and department have a strong commitment to achieving diversity among faculty and staff. We strongly encourage women and persons of color to apply.

Employment offers are contingent on the satisfactory outcome of a standard background screening.

Start Date:

Date Posted: 8/12/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10681

Middlebury College

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor of Political Science

MIDDLEBURY COLLEGE, the Department of Political Science invites applications for a two-year visiting assistant professor position in international relations, with a focus on international cooperation, beginning ideally in fall 2022 but with the possibility of starting in spring 2023 in an 18 month appointment. We are seeking broadly trained candidates prepared to teach an introductory course in international relations, an intermediate level course in international political economy as well as a variety of upper-tier courses on topics such as international organizations, humanitarianism and NGOs, or other courses related to international political economy. Ability to teach courses on Latin American politics or sub-Saharan African politics is also welcome. Appointment will be made at the rank of Visiting Assistant Professor or Instructor. Candidates should provide evidence of commitment to excellent teaching, including strategies for fostering an inclusive classroom environment, and scholarly potential.

Middlebury College is a top-tier liberal arts college with a demonstrated commitment to excellence in faculty teaching and research and where diversity, equity, and inclusion are core values. The College is committed to hiring a diverse faculty as we work to foster innovation in our curriculum and to provide a rich and varied educational experience to our increasingly diverse student body. To this end, the College recruits talented and diverse faculty, staff, and students from across the United States and around the world. Middlebury College encourages applications from women, people of color, people with disabilities, and members of other protected classes and historically underrepresented communities. The College also invites applications from individuals who demonstrate an ongoing commitment to advancing diversity, equity, and inclusion in the workplace.

Middlebury College uses Interfolio to collect all faculty job applications electronically. Email and paper applications will not be accepted. At Middlebury, we strive to make our campus a respectful, engaged community that embraces difference, with all the complexity and individuality each person brings. With your application materials provide a separate, one-page statement on inclusion that addresses how your teaching, scholarship, mentorship, and/or community service demonstrate a commitment to and/or evidence of engaging with issues of diversity and inclusion. Through Interfolio submit: a letter of application addressed to Amy Yuen, Department Chair; a curriculum vitae; undergraduate and graduate transcripts; a statement of teaching and research plans; a sample of scholarly production; and three current letters of recommendation, at least two of which must speak to teaching ability/promise. More information is available at <http://apply.interfolio.com/111407> and <https://www.middlebury.edu/academics/ps>. Review of applications will begin immediately and continue until the position is filled. Information on our background check policy can be found here: <http://go.middlebury.edu/backgroundchecks>

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/12/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10690

United States Air Force Academy

Rank: Visiting Professor of Military and Strategic Studies

Teaches undergraduate cadets at the US Air Force Academy. Typically teaches two sections of either International Security Studies or Military Strategy and Joint Operations or a special topics course of your choosing.

This is a two-semester position, June through May.

Salary: you will receive your current salary from your current employer. The Air Force Academy will reimburse your current organization and pay for moving expenses.

To qualify, you must be a full-time employee at a US institution (university, think-tank, NGO, or government organization) with the intent to return there. PhD is preferred but Master's is acceptable. We are very flexible with types of degrees as long as they relate to national security or military strategy.

To apply, send a letter of application and a curriculum vitae to: michael.fowler@afacademy.af.edu. Applications received by October 1, 2022 will receive primary consideration.

Start Date: Summer 2023

Application Deadline: 9/30/2022

Date Posted: 8/12/2022

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 10685

Trinity University

Rank: Assistant Professor

Specializations: International Security, East Asia, Research Methods

The Department of Political Science invites applications for a tenure-track assistant professor position in International Relations beginning August 2023. The Department is particularly interested in candidates with expertise in Global Security broadly defined, and with an emphasis in one or more of the following fields: environmental politics, migration, and/or economic development. Strong preference will be given to candidates with a regional expertise in East Asia. Ability to teach research methods is a plus. Candidates should have the PhD completed by summer 2023.

Trinity University values both strong teaching and research. The successful candidate is expected to maintain a robust research agenda, supported by competitive summer research stipends and pre-tenure academic leave. The successful candidate will teach the lower division survey course in international relations and the upper division course in global security, and may develop and teach courses in the other listed subfields. The candidate will also be expected to contribute to the university's general education curriculum, particularly its First-Year Experience. A strong commitment to undergraduate teaching is essential, as well as a demonstrated commitment to Trinity's value of intentional inclusion. There are many opportunities for Trinity faculty to be engaged in experiential learning, interdisciplinary teaching and research, and faculty-led study abroad programs. The teaching load consists of five courses per academic year.

Trinity University is one of the nation's top liberal arts universities. We're located in the heart of San Antonio, a large, vibrant and diverse city where our students learn from and participate in a multicultural urban environment. Trinity University is a prestigious, selective liberal arts institution, with over 11,000 applications, and approximately 650 first-year students in the Class of 2026.

Trinity University is an equal opportunity employer and as such provides equal opportunity for employment and advancement of all employees without regard to race, color, religion, sex, age, national origin, disability, military/veteran status, sexual orientation, gender identity, gender expression, or any status protected by federal, state, or local laws.

Trinity University is committed to the value of intentional inclusion. Please provide a brief statement (250-500 words) describing your past efforts as well as your future plans to advance diversity, equity and inclusion in your teaching, research, or other professional activities.

Applicants must submit electronic versions of a cover letter, CV, intentional inclusion statement, three letters of recommendation, evidence of teaching effectiveness, writing sample, and transcripts to Rosa Aloisi, Department of Political Science, Trinity University, One Trinity Place, San Antonio, TX 78212. Phone: (210) 999-8341. Email: raloisi@trinity.edu.

The position will remain open until filled. Deadline for receipt of applications is October 1, 2022. The department will be interviewing at the APSA annual conference in Montreal, and strongly urges applicants to participate in that process.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 10/1/2022

Date Posted: 8/11/2022

Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 10675

Arizona State University

Rank: Lecturer

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, American Government and Politics

The School of Politics and Global Studies (SPGS) is pleased to invite applications for a full-time position, benefits eligible, non-tenure track faculty member at the rank of Lecturer. The anticipated start date is January 1, 2023. This is an academic-year position within the SPGS faculty on the Tempe campus. Subsequent annual renewal is desired, contingent upon satisfactory performance, availability of resources, and the needs of the university.

SPGS seeks an applicant with a commitment to undergraduate teaching excellence to join its dynamic faculty. The primary responsibilities of the Lecturer will be to develop and teach in-person and online undergraduate courses on topics such as global studies, comparative politics, and international relations. A typical course load will consist of 4 classes per semester. Additional responsibilities holding office hours, mentoring, serving on committees, and assisting in curriculum development and extracurricular efforts to engage our undergraduate students.

Qualifications

Minimum qualifications:

- A Ph.D. in a relevant field (Anthropology, Global/International Studies, Political Science, Sociology, or similar fields) by the time of appointment

Desired qualifications:

- Prior experience designing and teaching both in person and online courses
- Expertise sufficient to teach courses in comparative politics and global studies, with a preference for background in international relations as well
- Global experience (i.e. studying or working abroad)
- Experience mentoring students
- Demonstrated success in and/or plans for meeting the needs of diverse student populations and/or reaching out to diverse communities.

Application Instructions

The College values cultural and intellectual diversity, and continually strives to foster a welcoming and inclusive environment. We are especially interested in applicants who can strengthen the diversity of the academic community.

To apply, candidates must submit application materials online to Interfolio at apply.interfolio.com/110735 by September 21, 2022; if not filled, complete applications will be reviewed every two weeks thereafter until the search is closed. This is a paperless search; only electronic materials will be accepted. Submit the following: 1) a letter of application stating qualifications, experience, and courses they are able to teach as outlined below 2) a complete curriculum vita, 3) the names and contact information for three references, 4) if available, syllabi and course-related material (including evaluations) for no more than two courses you have taught; and 5) a statement addressing how your past and/or potential contributions to diversity and inclusion will advance ASU's commitment to inclusive excellence.

As part of the application letter, applicants should indicate which of the following courses they would be able and willing to teach (with the understanding that not all of these courses would necessarily need to be covered by the person hired). Candidates optionally may also list other undergraduate Global Studies (SGS) or Political Science (POS) courses that they feel qualified to teach, consulting the ASU course catalog at <https://webapp4.asu.edu/catalog/courselist>.

- POS 150 Comparative Government
- POS 160 Global Politics
- SGS 101 Thinking Globally (introductory course in global studies)
- SGS 204 Professional Global Career Development
- SGS 304 Foundations of Cross-Cultural Awareness
- POS 301/SGS 305 Empirical Political Inquiry
- POS/SGS 401 Political Statistics

Questions about this position should be directed to Sarah Ericson, Academic Personnel Specialist at Sarah.Ericson@asu.edu.

Equal Employment Opportunity Statement

A background check is required for employment. Arizona State University is a VEVRAA Federal Contractor and an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability, protected veteran status, or any other basis protected by law.

(See <https://www.asu.edu/aad/manuals/acd/acd401.html> and <https://www.asu.edu/titleIX/>.)

In compliance with federal law, ASU prepares an annual report on campus security and fire safety programs and resources. ASU's Annual Security and Fire Safety Report is available online at <https://www.asu.edu/police/PDFs/ASU-Clery-Report.pdf> You may request a hard copy of the report by contacting the ASU Police Department at 480-965-3456.

COVID-19 Vaccination - Arizona State University is a federal contractor and subject to federal regulations which may require you to produce a record of a COVID-19 vaccination. For questions about medical or religious accommodations, please visit the Office of Diversity, Equity and Inclusion's webpage.

Start Date: Spring 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/10/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10665

Copenhagen Business School

Rank: Tenure Track Assistant Professor in Business and Government

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Public Policy, International Relations

Call for expression of interest

Tenure Track Assistant Professor Position in Business and Government at the Department of International Economics, Government and Business (EGB) at Copenhagen Business School (CBS)

EGB invites expressions of interest for a vacant position as tenure track assistant professor in Business and Government. You should hold, or be close to completing, a PhD in Political Science, Political Economy, or a related field. You should be able to demonstrate strong research potential and have excellent methodological skills. Participation in teaching and an interest in developing research-based teaching courses are expected of a tenure track assistant professor at CBS.

EGB is a multidisciplinary department, which conducts high-quality research in the fields of political science and international business with direct relevance to business, policy-makers and the public.

The department has two principal focus areas of research: 'Business & Government' and 'International Business'. Business & Government is rooted in the disciplines of political science and political economy. International Business includes both the disciplines of international economics and international management. EGB conducts research within these principal focus areas and their interfaces and is uniquely positioned to generate research at the intersection of these two focus areas.

Research in the fields of Business & Government and Political Economy at the department is informed by a range of theoretical and methodological traditions in Political Science. Faculty combine an emphasis on methodological excellence with a drive for empirical impact and relevance and a keen sensitivity to the broader societal contexts in which firm and government activity is situated.

While societal challenges are inherently changing and dynamic, at present, research at the department resonates with seven challenges in particular: (1) Inequality; (2) Technological change and digital transformation; (3) Regulating societal transformations; (4) The ethical MNE; (5) Emerging markets and rise of Asia; (6) Business, global shifts and policy challenges; and (7) Business and democracy.

Examples (non-exhaustive) of research and teaching areas that the assistant professor may cover:

- Business and Government
- Political Economy
- Public Policy
- International Business and Government
- Money in Politics

To learn more about the research and education profile of the department, please visit the departmental homepage; <https://bit.ly/2NPRlwB>.

Candidates who are available for a physical interview during the 2022 APSA meeting, 15-18 September, 2022, should send an expression of interest, CV, and job market paper, following the guideline, see link to online form; <https://bit.ly/3SSk3Aj>.

There is no requirement for reference letters. The deadline for submitting an expression of interest is September 7, 2022.

We encourage women and members of underrepresented communities to apply.

Starting date: Flexible, at the latest 15 August 2023.

For further information regarding the department, please visit the EGB website or contact Head of Department Jens Gammelgaard (jg.egb@cbs.dk). Informal job talks will be carried out by Jens Gammelgaard and relevant colleague(s).

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 9/7/2022

Date Posted: 8/10/2022

Salary: $80,000 - $89,999

eJobs ID: 10657

Princeton University

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Associate

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, International Relations

The Department of Politics at Princeton University seeks applicants for a Postdoctoral Research Associate or more senior research position that involves a year of research at Princeton. Scholars in all subfields of political science will be considered. The aim of the program is to nurture a diverse group of promising scholars, and there is a particular interest in attracting applications from groups that have been historically underrepresented in the field of political science at Princeton University. Ph.D. is required.

Interested applicants must apply online at <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/27002> and submit a CV, cover letter, writing sample, and the names and contact information of three references. For best consideration, apply by September 12, 2022. Initial appointment is for one year with the possibility of renewal subject to satisfactory performance and available funding.

This position is subject to the University's background check policy.

Requisition No: D-23-POL-00005

Start Date:

Date Posted: 8/10/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10662

Francis Marion University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

Assistant Professor of Political Science (22-72)

Francis Marion University and the Department of Political Science and Geography invite applications for an Assistant Professor of Political Science. This is a tenure track position. The department is particularly interested in candidates who specialize in international organization and global governance; especially candidates with a research/teaching focus in environmental politics.

A Ph.D. in Political Science is preferred; ABD will be considered. The successful candidate will teach courses related to their area of expertise, "Introduction to US Government," and upper-level courses in support of our International Affairs Track: e.g., "International Law and Institutions," "International Relations," as well as courses on regional and environmental politics. The teaching load is 3-4.

Candidates must demonstrate a commitment to excellence in teaching, university service and scholarship. Generous professional development and summer research stipends are available on a competitive basis for tenure and tenure track faculty.

Francis Marion University is a state-supported regional university with a strong emphasis on the liberal arts. Located in Florence, SC, a growing city with a vibrant arts culture, FMU is within easy driving distance of the state capital, Columbia, Myrtle Beach, Charleston, Savannah, Atlanta and Charlotte.

Start Date: August 16, 2023

Required Application Materials:

1. Letter of Interest (Referencing Position Number 22-72);
2. Copies of all transcripts (official transcripts will be required of the successful candidate);
3. Curriculum vitae;
4. Evidence of teaching effectiveness (e.g., course evaluations and sample syllabi)
5. Writing sample
6. A list of three professional references; and
7. FMU Faculty Application.

To access the FMU Faculty Application, please click here.

We will also meet with interested candidates at the American Political Science Association convention in Montreal, Canada. Please contact Dr. Dillon Stone Tatum (dtatum@fmarion.edu) if interested.

Please email complete application packet to: Dr. Dillon Stone Tatum, Chair, Department of Political Science and Geography, Francis Marion University. Email: dtatum@fmarion.edu

Applications should be submitted by October 15th, 2022.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 10/15/2022

Date Posted: 8/9/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10648

Wellesley College

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science (International Relations)

Specializations: Lesbian & Gay Studies, International Law & Organizations, International Law & Organizations

The Department of Political Science at Wellesley College invites applications for a tenure-track appointment at the assistant professor level in international relations, beginning in the academic year 2023-24.

We seek candidates with expertise in international organization and global governance, broadly defined. We are open to all areas of specialization in these subfields, but are particularly interested in scholars whose research concerns issues such as international organizations (global and regional), international law, technology, human rights, inequality, race, or LGBTQ+ issues. The search is open as to regional expertise. In addition to teaching courses on global governance, the successful candidate will also regularly teach a broad introduction to international relations. We would additionally be interested in candidates who could offer a research methods course.

Candidates should have a strong commitment to teaching undergraduate students in a liberal arts environment. Faculty members at Wellesley teach two courses per semester.

Applications should include the following:

A cover letter of no more than two pages;

A one-page teaching statement;

Additional teaching materials (e.g., evaluations and sample syllabi);

Writing samples of research;

A curriculum vitae; and

Three (3) letters of recommendation.

Wellesley is dedicated to the goal of building a diverse and inclusive academic community through teaching, research, and service. Familiarity with and experience using pedagogical methods that enable students across racial, ethnic, and socio-economic groups to reach their maximum potential is a valuable qualification. Where applicable, candidates should include (as relevant) how diversity, inclusion, and equity connect to their teaching, scholarship, and service.

All materials should be submitted online by visiting our application website at <https://www.wellesley.edu/hr/jobseekers>. We will begin reviewing applications on October 1, 2020, and will continue accepting applications after that date. If circumstances do not allow you to submit materials through our on-line application system, please email us at working@wellesley.edu. Specific inquiries should be addressed to Prof. Tom Burke, chairperson of the department, at tburke@wellesley.edu.

Wellesley College is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer. All employees hired after August 2, 2021 are required to upload proof of vaccination against COVID-19, subject to approved medical or religious exemptions or disability accommodations.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 10/1/2022

Date Posted: 8/9/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10639

Stanford University

Rank: International Relations, Open Rank

The Department of Political Science at Stanford University is seeking applications for an open rank, tenure line position in international relations.

Candidates for an untenured position at the rank of assistant professor must have a PhD or be enrolled in a PhD program or equivalent international degree-granting program at the time of application, with expected degree completion by date of appointment as an assistant professor. Candidates should demonstrate evidence of a creative research trajectory and a commitment to excellence in teaching at both graduate and undergraduate levels. Untenured applicants should send a cover letter, CV, research statement, teaching evaluations, and a writing sample along with at least three professional letters of recommendation.

Candidates for a tenured position at the rank of associate or full professor must have a conferred PhD or equivalent international degree. Candidates should demonstrate substantial evidence of a creative research career, impact on his or her field of study, and a commitment to excellence in teaching and advising students at both graduate and undergraduate levels. Tenured applicants should send a letter of interest, CV, research statement, and teaching evaluations.

The Political Science Department, School of Humanities and Sciences, and Stanford University value faculty who are committed to advancing diversity, equity, and inclusion. Candidates may optionally include as part of their research or teaching statement a brief discussion of how their work will further these ideals.

Review of applications will begin on September 15, 2022 but applications may be considered after that date. Application materials must be submitted on-line via <https://facultypositions.stanford.edu/en-us/job/493462/international-relations-open-rank-faculty-position-in-political-science> <https://facultypositions.stanford.edu.>>

Consistent with its obligations under the law, the University will provide reasonable accommodation to any employee with a disability who requires accommodation to perform the essential functions of his or her job.

Stanford is an equal employment opportunity and affirmative action employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law.

Stanford welcomes applications from all who would bring additional dimensions to the University's research, teaching, and clinical missions.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/5/2022

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 10629

United States Air Force Academy

Rank: Assistant Professor of Military and Strategic Studies

Subfield(s): International Relations, Public Policy, Other

Specializations: International Security, Defense, Intelligence

Teach undergraduate courses in military strategy and/or international security. Provide well-organized instruction to facilitate, assess, and continuously improve cadet learning. Conduct research in the field which contributes to the body of knowledge. Pursue personal professional development and engages in scholarly and professional activities to maintain academic currency as well as advance the discipline, the department, and the US Air Force Academy. For more details on this position, please contact Dr. Mike Fowler via email posted at <https://www.usafa.edu/facultyprofile/?smid=28765>.

Note: USAF Academy does not currently have a tenure system but plans to adopt one, pending congressional approval.

To apply, go to usajobs at <https://www.usajobs.gov/job/664233600>.

Start Date: Summer 2023

Application Deadline: 10/2/2022

Date Posted: 8/5/2022

Salary: $90,000 - $99,999

eJobs ID: 10632

Tulane University

Rank: Assistant Professor (Tenure-track) in International Relations

Position description: We are looking to hire an Assistant Professor (tenure-track) in International Relations. We are especially interested in candidates engaged in empirical research in the areas of human rights, international law, international organizations, and/or feminist theories of international relations. The teaching load is 2-2. The prospective hire will contribute to the Political Science program at the undergraduate and graduate curricular levels. The expected start date for this position is July 1, 2023. For further questions about the position, contact Prof. Thomas Oatley, toatley@tulane.edu.

Qualifications: PhD in Political Science preferred. ABD candidates will be considered.

We value diversity and inclusion. Members of minorities and traditionally underrepresented groups are encouraged to apply.

Application instructions: Please send in a cover letter, a CV, a statement of research, a teaching statement, a diversity statement, a writing sample, and 3 letters of recommendation by September 7, 2022.

All materials should be uploaded directly in Interfolio: apply.interfolio.com/110499

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 9/7/2022

Date Posted: 8/4/2022

Salary: $70,000 - $79,999

eJobs ID: 10626

University of Maryland, College Park

Rank: Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, International Relations

University of Maryland College Park

Government and Politics and the College of Information Studies (iSchool)

The Department of Government and Politics (GVPT) in the College of Behavioral and Social Sciences (BSOS) and the College of Information Studies (iSchool) at the University of Maryland, College Park, invite applications for two tenure-track positions at the assistant professor level. These positions are open to applicants from any fields within political and information sciences that apply data science concepts and methods in their work. GVPT and the iSchool particularly seek candidates whose scholarship and teaching interests address important social science problems in the fields of American Politics, Comparative Politics, International Politics, and Political Methodology that intersect with Information Science.

We encourage candidates to demonstrate how their research contributes toward social justice and equity, diversity and inclusion, or ethical access to information. Both faculty members will have joint appointments at GVPT and iSchool – one with a tenure home at GVPT and the other at the iSchool.

Tenure home will be negotiated at the time of hire.

The successful candidates will be expected to contribute to the newly formed undergraduate Major in Social Data Science, which is a BSOS-iSchool joint program. We seek a candidates who will build upon our record of educating political and information scientists committed to leadership, service, research, and innovative practice and impact.

The successful candidates will be expected to have a high-impact research agenda and to seek external funding for research. They will also teach at the undergraduate and graduate levels, provide research advising to students at all levels, and engage in service to the profession and shared governance within the university.

In particular candidates whose scholarship speaks to the following broad substantive topics are encouraged to apply:

- 1) Social media politics
- 2) Information disorder (misinformation, disinformation, etc.) Online political and civic participation

3) Political power in information systems

While these areas of expertise are of particular interest, candidates with expertise and interest in other relevant topics that apply data science methods are encouraged to apply. Candidates whose work recognizes the information norms and assets of marginalized communities particularly relating to the topics above and other relevant topics, are especially encouraged to apply.

This is a tenure-track appointment. Tenure-track Assistant Professors are hired for 3 years, with potential renewal for three more years and tenure review. Salary and benefits are competitive based upon qualifications and experience. Tenure-track and tenured faculty have 9-month appointments, with opportunities for grant-funded research and university-funded teaching in summers. For this position, the successful candidate will be involved in:

- 1) Developing and conducting research projects and disseminating research results
- 2) Designing and developing curricula related to information science
- 3) Crafting exceptional educational experiences for students Participating in shared governance
- 4) Contributing to relevant professional communities.

To apply you will need to provide:

- 1) A letter of interest that clearly describes your background and expertise in the area and the unique contributions you would make to the GVPT, iSchool and the University of Maryland.
- 2) Your CV
- 3) A list of 3 professional references. For each reference include the person's title, institution, contact information (including phone number and email address), the capacity in which you know this person, and how long you have known this person.
- 3) A statement of your research interests and accomplishments A statement of your teaching philosophy

Interested candidates should apply using the University of Maryland ejobs system. Goto: <https://ejobs.umd.edu/postings/98270>

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/4/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10610

College of the Holy Cross

Rank: Assistant Professor Tenure Track

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, International Relations, Political Theory

College of the Holy Cross: Department of Political Science
Tenure-Track Faculty Appointment in Political Science (Race and Ethnicity)

GENERAL INFORMATION

The Department of Political Science at the College of the Holy Cross invites applications for TWO FULL-TIME TENURE-TRACK APPOINTMENTS to begin in August 2023. We are seeking candidates whose research and teaching interests address race and ethnicity issues, broadly defined. Successful applicants will teach introductory courses in the subfield most compatible with their areas of expertise (American Politics, Political Philosophy, International Relations, or Comparative Politics) as well as upper-division electives that include methods, concepts, and theoretical frameworks from the perspective of Race & Ethnicity studies.

These positions carry a 3-2 teaching load with a full-salary one-semester research leave prior to tenure review, and generous sabbatical and fellowship leaves for tenured faculty. Tenure-track faculty are eligible for travel support and reimbursement of relocation costs within the College's published policies. All full-time appointments offer competitive salaries and include full benefits. To learn more about faculty life at the College & the Worcester area, candidates are encouraged to visit <http://holycross.edu/join>.

QUALIFICATIONS

Candidates must demonstrate commitment to, and excellence in, undergraduate teaching at the introductory and advanced levels as well as scholarly achievement. Ph.D. required.

APPLICATION INSTRUCTIONS

Please submit a cover letter addressing the position requirements listed above, curriculum vitae, statement on teaching, transcripts, and three confidential letters of recommendation.

In your cover letter, in addition to describing your research and teaching interests, please address how your scholarship, teaching, mentoring, and/or service might support the College's mission as a Jesuit, undergraduate liberal arts college (see <http://holycross.edu/mission>) and its core commitment to diversity and inclusion. For more information, please visit <http://holycross.edu/diversity>.

The College of the Holy Cross uses Interfolio to collect all faculty job applications electronically. Please submit all application materials to <https://apply.interfolio.com/110983>.

Review of applications will begin on September 30, and continue until the position has been filled. Initial interviews of selected applicants will be done via Zoom or Google Meets. Questions about this search may be directed to Maria Rodrigues, Chair, mrodrigu@holycross.edu.

COVID-19 VACCINATION POLICY

To mitigate the spread and effects of COVID-19, and as an integral part of its public health and safety measures, College of the Holy Cross requires that all successful applicants show proof of full, up-to-date vaccination (including a booster dose once eligible) by an FDA-approved COVID-19 vaccine before beginning employment, unless an accommodation exempting the applicant from this policy has been granted. Applicants who wish to request an accommodation based on a disability or sincerely-held religious belief should inform Human Resources after an offer of employment is extended; please do not include any medical, genetic, or religious information in your application materials.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 9/30/2022

Date Posted: 8/3/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10600

University of Toronto

Rank: Assistant Professor in International Relations

The Department of Political Science in the Faculty of Arts and Science at the University of Toronto invites applications for a full-time tenure stream position in the area of International Relations. The appointment will be at the rank of Assistant Professor, with an expected start date of July 1, 2023, or shortly thereafter.

Applicants must have earned a PhD degree in Political Science, International Relations, or a related area by the time of appointment, or shortly thereafter, with a demonstrated record of excellence in research and teaching. The area of specialization within International Relations is open; theoretical and methodological approaches are also open.

We seek candidates whose research and teaching interests complement and deepen our existing departmental strengths. The successful candidate will undertake undergraduate and graduate teaching responsibilities on the University of Toronto's downtown (St. George) campus. Applicants are encouraged to review the research and teaching profiles of current faculty members. Please visit our home page (Department of Political Science <https://politics.utoronto.ca>) to learn more about us.

The successful candidate will be expected to pursue innovative and independent research at the highest international level and to establish an outstanding, competitive, and externally funded research program. Candidates must provide evidence of research excellence which can be demonstrated by the submitted research statement, a record of publications in top-ranked and field relevant journals or forthcoming publications meeting high international standards, presentations at significant conferences, awards and accolades and strong endorsements from referees of high standing.

Evidence of excellence in teaching will be provided through teaching accomplishments, the teaching dossier (with required materials outlined below) submitted as part of the application, as well as strong letters of reference.

Candidates are also expected to show evidence of a commitment to equity, diversity, inclusion, and the promotion of a respectful and collegial learning and working environment demonstrated through the application materials.

Salary will be commensurate with qualifications and experience.

All qualified candidates are invited to apply online by clicking the link below. Applicants must submit a cover letter; a current curriculum vitae; a research statement outlining current and future research interests; a recent writing sample of no more than 30 pages; and a teaching dossier to include a teaching statement, sample course materials, and teaching evaluations. Equity and diversity are essential to academic excellence. We seek candidates who value diversity and whose research, teaching and service bear out our commitment to equity. Candidates are therefore also asked to submit a 1-2 page statement of their contributions to equity and diversity, which might cover topics such as (but need not be limited to): research or teaching that incorporates a focus on underrepresented communities, the development of inclusive pedagogies, or the mentoring of students from underrepresented groups.

Applicants must provide the name and contact information of three references. The University of Toronto's recruiting tool will automatically solicit and collect letters of reference from each after an application is submitted (this happens overnight). Applicants remain responsible for ensuring that references submit letters (on letterhead, dated and signed) by the closing date.

Submission guidelines can be found at <http://uoft.me/how-to-apply>. Your CV and cover letter should be uploaded into the dedicated fields. Please combine additional application materials into one or two files in PDF/MS Word format. If you have any questions about this position, please contact Sari Sherman at chair.polisci@utoronto.ca.

All application materials, including reference letters, must be received by October 3, 2022.

All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply; however, Canadians and permanent residents will be given priority.

Diversity Statement

The University of Toronto is strongly committed to diversity within its community and especially welcomes applications from racialized persons / persons of colour, women, Indigenous / Aboriginal People of North America, persons with disabilities, LGBTQ2S+ persons, and others who may contribute to the further diversification of ideas.

As part of your application, you will be asked to complete a brief Diversity Survey. This survey is voluntary. Any information directly related to you is confidential and cannot be accessed by search committees or human resources staff. Results will be aggregated for institutional planning purposes. For more information, please see <http://uoft.me/UP>.

Accessibility Statement

The University strives to be an equitable and inclusive community, and proactively seeks to increase diversity among its community members. Our values regarding equity and diversity are linked with our unwavering commitment to excellence in the pursuit of our academic mission.

The University is committed to the principles of the Accessibility for Ontarians with Disabilities Act (AODA). As such, we strive to make our recruitment, assessment and selection processes as accessible as possible and provide accommodations as required for applicants with disabilities.

If you require any accommodations at any point during the application and hiring process, please contact uoft.careers@utoronto.ca.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 10/3/2022

Date Posted: 8/3/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10606

Yale University

Rank: Assistant/Associate/Full Professor, Political Science

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, American Government and Politics, International Relations

The Department of Political Science at Yale University is seeking to hire several faculty at the rank of Assistant, Associate, or Full Professor with an appointment in the fields of American Politics, Comparative Politics, Political Economy, and/or International Relations, beginning July 1, 2023. We are interested in candidates who study all areas of the world, but we particularly encourage those with strong subject matter expertise in Japanese Politics or the politics of the Middle East to apply. Suitable candidates may also be hired jointly with the Statistics and Data Sciences Department, in which case faculty will be expected to share their teaching and service obligations between the departments. If candidates are appointed at the untenured level, the initial appointment will be for 5 years. The teaching expectation is normally 3 courses per academic year, plus service to the program(s).

<http://apply.interfolio.com/110488>

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 9/5/2023
Date Posted: 8/3/2022
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 10595

Yale University

Rank: Associate/Full Professor, International Relations, Comparative Political Economy, Comparative Politics
Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Other

The Department of Political Science and the Jackson School of Global Affairs at Yale University are looking to hire several faculty at the rank of Associate or Full Professor with tenure, with an appointment in International Relations, Comparative Political Economy, and Comparative Politics, beginning July 1, 2023. Faculty are expected to share their teaching and service obligations between both the Political Science Department and the Jackson School of Global Affairs. The teaching expectation is normally 3 courses per academic year, plus service to the programs.

<http://apply.interfolio.com/110491>

Start Date: Fall 2023
Application Deadline: 9/5/2023
Date Posted: 8/3/2022
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 10594

Morgan State University

Rank: Assistant Professor - International Relations
Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Open
Specializations: Middle East, Africa, Caribbean

The Department of Political Science invites applicants for a full-time tenure track position at the rank of Assistant Professor effective August 2023. The applicant must hold the Ph. D in Political Science with a concentration in International Relations. The applicant is expected to teach undergraduate and upper-level courses as well as graduate courses in International Studies. The courses include International Relations, Political Theory, Comparative Governments, and Foreign Affairs. The candidate is expected to teach one regional area such as Europe, sub-Saharan Africa, Asia, Middle East and North Africa, the Caribbean and Latin America. Occasionally, the applicant may teach critical topics such as International Problems, Politics of Climate Changes, and Migration and must be willing to engage in inter/transdisciplinary collaborations in teaching.

In addition to teaching, duties will include research, service to the program, university, and the community, especially initiating and participating in student-centered activities, and helping students to develop skills that are fundamental to a liberal education such as critical thinking and analytical writing.

The successful candidate is expected to commit to excellence; to create a welcoming and supportive environment for all students; contribute to student learning and an ability and willingness to participate actively in the Department's advisement of students and service responsibilities.

Start Date: Fall 2023
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/2/2022
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 10588

Brown University

Rank: Watson Institute Postdoctoral Fellows Program 2022-2024
Subfield(s): International Relations, Public Policy, Comparative Politics

The Watson Institute for International and Public Affairs at Brown University aspires to promote a just and peaceful world through research, teaching, and public engagement. Central to this mission is the Watson Postdoctoral Fellows Program, an effort to galvanize the careers of young social scientists conducting research related to the Institute's three core thematic areas:

development, governance, and security. Participants in this program will join an interdisciplinary community of scholars engaged in theoretically and substantively important research addressing the most pressing global issues of our time. Fellows receive two years of support, with the expectation that they will pursue research and participate fully in the intellectual life of the Institute. Fellows will also teach one course per year in the Institute or in an affiliated Brown University social science department. Watson Institute is especially interested in qualified candidates who can contribute, through their research, teaching, and/or service, to the diversity and excellence of the academic community.

Founded in 1764, Brown is a leading research university distinct for its student-centered learning and deep sense of purpose. Brown University students, faculty, and staff are driven by the idea that their work will have an impact on the world. Brown is a place where rigorous scholarship, complex problem-solving, and service to the public good are defined by collaboration, intellectual discovery, and working in ways that transcend traditional disciplinary boundaries.

The fellowship competition is open to candidates from the social sciences, including anthropology, economics, history, political science, and sociology. The selection process, open with regard to nationality and geographic area of research, is highly competitive and typically generates over 500 applications for 4 or 5 places. Scholars who have received their PhDs within two years of the application deadline are eligible to apply. Individuals who are currently – or have previously been – postdoctoral fellows in other programs are not eligible to apply. Fellows will receive an annual stipend of $60,000, for this benefits-eligible position. Additional funding will be made available for research expenses and research-related programming on campus. Candidates selected for the Postdoctoral Fellows program who have not completed their dissertations by July 1, 2023, will be paid a reduced salary until their dissertation is defended.

To receive full consideration, the following materials should be submitted by September 30, 2022 to the application portal <http://apply.interfolio.com/109862>

- A cover letter stating the applicant's academic field, status of their dissertation, and proposed research to be conducted during their fellowship period. The cover letter should not exceed 2,000 words and should make clear where in the Institute's core areas of security, development, or governance the proposed research best fits.

Please also include a statement about teaching in a diverse and inclusive classroom.

- An up-to-date curriculum vitae.
- A copy of each graduate transcript.
- A writing sample.

· Three letters of recommendation from scholars familiar with the applicant's research.

Review of applications will begin on September 30; to receive full consideration applications should be received by that date. Awards will be announced in January 2023.

For further information regarding the Watson Institute Postdoctoral Fellows Program, please visit the Watson Institute website (watson.brown.edu) or contact: Professor J. Nicholas Ziegler, Faculty Director of the Watson Postdoctoral Fellows Program, 2022-2023, Thomas J. Watson Jr. Institute for International and Public Affairs, Brown University, 111 Thayer Street, Box 1970 Providence, RI 02912. j_ziegler@brown.edu. For information about the application process, please email: Watson_Applications@brown.edu

Brown University is situated on the East Side of Providence, on historic College Hill, overlooking downtown Providence. The area around Brown has a friendly, residential vibe, with plentiful housing options, shopping, cafés, and restaurants, all within walking distance of campus. With its low cost of living and historic architecture, the capital city is a vibrant place to live and work that offers a dynamic arts and culture scene, including many music, theater, and art venues. Located in southern New England, the State of Rhode Island features more than 400 miles of coastline and 100 beaches. Beautiful farms, vineyards, orchards, wooded trails, and numerous historic towns cover its 1200 square miles.

Start Date: Fall 2023
Application Deadline: 9/30/2020
Date Posted: 8/1/2022
Salary: $60,000 - $69,999
eJobs ID: 10554

Clark University

Rank: Assistant Professor of International Relations

The Department of Political Science at Clark University invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position in International Relations, with a specialization in international organization (broadly defined), to begin in August 2023. Candidates must have evidence of teaching excellence and scholarly promise. Candidates must have their Ph.D. in hand by August 2023.

Recognizing the proliferation of transnational and global political and security issues and challenges (i.e., climate change, global pandemics, economic inequality, democratic decay, and the proliferation of identity-based violence and discrimination) and the utility of existing regional and international institutions as well as international non-governmental organizations (INGOs), the Department seeks a teacher-scholar who will teach courses and conduct research in the area of international organization, broadly defined. This may include (but is not limited to) the prospects for and practices of global governance, the design, function, and effectiveness of international institutions (including international and regional governing organizations), the impact and contributions of INGOs, and various forms of transnational activity (political, economic, social, and cultural). In addition to teaching courses on international organization, the candidate will also be expected to teach regularly the Introduction to International Relations course as well as a junior/senior capstone seminar in IR. The teaching load is a total of four courses per academic year.

Founded in 1887, Clark was one of the first all-graduate institutions in the United States. Today the University is a highly-ranked, student-centered institution educating approximately 2,350 undergraduate and 1,150 graduate students to be imaginative and contributing citizens of the world and to advance the frontiers of knowledge and understanding through rigorous scholarship and creative effort. This commitment to scholarship and inquiry reflects the University's commitment to "challenge convention and change our world" and to address issues of critical importance to society. It is also reflected by Clark's many national and international distinctions, including recognition for its diversity and inclusion efforts, innovation, community engagement and impact, as a top green campus, and for having a distinguished geography and international development program. Clark has also been included in the groundbreaking Colleges that Change Lives guide since it was first published in 1996.

Clark is located in Worcester, Massachusetts, a dynamic, diverse city "on the rise." The second largest city in New England, Worcester is home to 11 institutions of higher learning and is increasingly recognized for its growing healthcare and biotechnology communities, its thriving cultural scene, and as a vibrant food hub.

Application Instructions:

To be considered for this position, you must submit your credentials online, using this link:

<http://clarku.interviewexchange.com/jobofferdetails.jsp?JOBID=151138>

You will be able to upload the following documents, which are required for consideration:

- CV
- Statement of Research and Teaching Interests
- Diversity and Inclusion Statement
- Writing Sample
- Transcript
- 3 Letters of Recommendation
- Evidence of Teaching Effectiveness

Please contact us if you need assistance applying through this website. Review of applications will begin immediately and continue until the position is filled. Salary will be commensurate with skills and experience. Applicants must be currently authorized to work in the United States for any employer.

Start Date: Fall 2023
Application Deadline: 9/30/2022
Date Posted: 8/1/2022
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 10576

National University of Singapore

Rank: Research Fellow/Senior Research Fellow, International Relations with a focus on Technology and Artificial Intelligence (3 year-contract, renewable)

The Centre on Asia and Globalisation (CAG), at the Lee Kuan Yew School of Public Policy, National University of Singapore, invites applications for a Research Fellowship in the field of International Relations with a focus on technology and artificial intelligence (AI).

The Lee Kuan Yew School is a leading school of public policy with an international faculty and student body. CAG was established in 2006 to provide accurate, independent, and high-quality analysis on issues of regional and global significance for academia, decision-makers, commentators, and the general public. Its current research agenda focuses on: the prospects of regional and global order; the future of economic globalisation/de-globalisation and their impact on Asia; the alignment postures of Southeast Asia in an era of superpower competition; and the impact of technology and artificial intelligence on international politics (<https://lkyspp.nus.edu.sg/cag>).

Job Description

The candidate will conduct independent, in-depth, and fruitful research on issues in his/her expertise and contribute to the Centre's research on technology and AI in international politics, including techno-nationalism and the impact of technology and AI on US-China rivalry. He/she is expected to initiate and organize research projects, workshops, conferences and other research events. He/she should be able to reach out to publishers and actively engage with academia, policy practitioners, media and business leaders as well as apply for external grants. In addition, he/she is expected to play a role in coordinating with other researchers and contribute to the broader intellectual life of the centre which focuses on the international relations of Asia.

Job Requirement

- A Ph.D. degree in Political Science/International Relations
- Expertise in the international relations aspects of technology and AI
- An ability to engage with policy and research communities in Singapore, Asia, and around the world
- A strong and demonstrated sense of academic independence and collegiality
- A willingness to engage in interdisciplinary interactions at the School

Benefits Include:

- Internationally competitive salary, 3-year renewable contract
- Housing benefit, travel assistance, and transit accommodation, subject to NUS eligibility criteria
- Highly collegial working environment with an internationally diverse group of scholars
- Excellent research support provided by CAG, the LKY School and the University

Application Procedure

Applicants should submit the following in electronic form (MS Word or PDF file):

- Cover letter, with a brief statement of research expertise and its relevance to CAG's existing research interests
- Detailed curriculum vitae
- Academic certificates and transcripts
- Two samples of academic publications
- Three letters of reference (mail to cag@nus.edu.sg)
- Joining date: June 15, 2023 (preferred, but negotiable)
- Application deadline: September 30, 2022

Please send electronic submissions to Ms. Serene Teang (cag@nus.edu.sg)

Start Date: Summer 2023

Application Deadline: 9/30/2022

Date Posted: 8/1/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10550

Smith College

Rank: Assistant Professor of Government

Specializations: International Political Economy, Southeast Asia, Gender Politics & Policy

The Department of Government (GOV) at Smith College invites applications for two tenure-track positions: one in Political Theory and another in Comparative Politics and/or International Relations. Both positions are at the rank of Assistant Professor and will begin July 1, 2023.

By time of appointment each applicant must have a Ph.D. in Political Science or a closely related discipline (e.g. philosophy; public policy). Each position has a teaching load of 2:2—i.e., four semester-long courses over the academic year. The hires will also be expected to contribute to student learning beyond regular classes through directing student research and Honors Theses, offering independent studies, and helping with departmental administrative, curricular, and advising responsibilities.

Candidates for the Political Theory position should specialize in modern political thought of the 18th, 19th, and/or 20th centuries. Our ideal candidate will have expertise in one or more of the following areas: feminist political thought; political theories of gender and sexuality; continental political thought; and/or critical theory. We anticipate that a successful candidate for this position will regularly teach Introduction to Political Thinking (an introductory course in the history of political thought which serves as a gateway to the Government major), courses in Modern Political Thought, and upper-division courses relating to their areas of expertise (e.g., Feminist Political Thought; Queer Theory; Critical Theory; Marxism).

Candidates for the Comparative Politics/International Relations position should have regional expertise in the politics of South and/or Southeast Asia. We encourage applications for this position from scholars using a range of methodological approaches and focusing on a variety of topics, including but not limited to: the politics of religion and ethnicity; political violence; political parties and elections; regional security; geopolitical rivalries; and regional conflict and cooperation. We anticipate that a successful candidate for this position will be prepared to teach Introduction to Comparative Politics and/or Introduction to International Relations, courses on the politics of South or Southeast Asia or particular countries within those regions, and upper-division courses relating to their area(s) of expertise.

Candidates from groups underrepresented in political science are encouraged to apply. Successful candidates should be prepared to engage actively with diverse students across the liberal arts.

Located in Northampton, MA, Smith College is the largest women's college in the country, dedicated to excellence in teaching and research across the liberal arts. A faculty of outstanding scholars interact with students in small classes, as advisors, and through student-faculty research projects. Smith College offers opportunities to foster faculty success at every career stage, such as those listed here.

The College is a member of the Five College Consortium with Amherst, Hampshire, and Mt. Holyoke Colleges, and the University of Massachusetts Amherst. Students cross-enroll and faculty cross-teach across the Five Colleges. Details about the Department of Government may be found at <https://www.smith.edu/gov/>.

Submit applications at <http://apply.interfolio.com/110549> with a cover letter describing your research and teaching interests, curriculum vitae, teaching statement, diversity/inclusion statement, chapter- or article-length writing sample, and the contact information for three confidential references. Finalists may be asked for additional materials. Review of applications will begin October 1, 2022.

Diversity and a culture of equity and inclusion among students, staff, faculty, and administration are crucial to the mission and values of Smith College. We are an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity employer and do not discriminate on the basis of race, gender, age, color, religion, national origin, disability, sexual orientation, gender identity and expression, or veteran status in the recruitment and employment of faculty and staff, and the operation of any of its programs and activities, as specified by all applicable laws and regulations. Women, historically underrepresented minorities, veterans, and individuals with disabilities are encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Summer 2023

Application Deadline: 10/1/2022

Date Posted: 8/1/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10565

University of Chicago

Rank: Collegiate Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, International Relations, Public Policy

Specializations: American Politics, Western Europe, Political Thought: Historical

The College at the University of Chicago is now accepting applications for four-year postdoctoral teaching appointments as Harper and Schmidt Fellows who hold the rank of Collegiate Assistant Professor. Collegiate Assistant Professors are members of the College Faculty whose primary professional responsibility is to teach in the general education (Core) program.

Core courses in the Humanities typically deal with fundamental issues and texts in history, philosophy, and literature. Currently, the Core is organized into eight year-long sequences: Readings in World Literature; Human Being and Citizen; Greece and Rome: Texts, Traditions, Transformations; Philosophical Perspectives on the Humanities; Media Aesthetics; Reading Cultures; Poetry and the Human; and Language and the Human. For a description of these sequences see: <http://collegecatalog.uchicago.edu/thecollege/humanities/>.

Core courses in the Social Sciences explore, on the basis of significant works or primary source materials, the fundamental concepts and the different modes of inquiry that have defined the social sciences in the modern period. Currently, Collegiate Assistant Professors teach in six of the year-long sequences into which the Core is organized: Self, Culture and Society; Classics of Social and Political Thought; Power, Identity, and Resistance; Global Society; Mind (a broad course explaining social science in the context of psychological science research); and Social Science Inquiry. For a description of these sequences see: <http://collegecatalog.uchicago.edu/thecollege/socialsciences/>.

Some Collegiate Assistant Professors also teach in the History of European Civilization Core sequence as well as the Introductions to the Civilizations of East Asian Core sequences. These courses are taught on the basis of intensive readings of significant primary source documents. For descriptions of the History of European Civilization and the Civilizations of East Asia sequences see: <http://collegecatalog.uchicago.edu/thecollege/civilizationstudies/>.

The positions are open to scholars in all disciplines and areas of specialization who will have completed all requirements for their Ph.D.

degree no later than August 31, 2023. Candidates must demonstrate excellence in teaching as well as in their original scholarship.

In most years, Collegiate Assistant Professors teach two courses (usually of identical preparation) for each of three quarters. In the second through fourth year of residence, each Collegiate Assistant Professor has the opportunity to design up to two independent courses and each is eligible for one quarter of research sabbatical. In the fourth year there is a possibility of another quarter of sabbatical with salary reduction.

The position comes with an annual salary for 2023-24 of $80,166, carries full benefits, and an annual professional development fund of $6,500. The effective date for these teaching appointments is September 1, 2023.

To apply for these positions, please see our web site at <https://fellows.uchicago.edu>. The web site will be available to accept applications beginning August 19, 2022.

The terms and conditions of these positions are described in the collective bargaining agreement between the University and the Service Employees International Union.

On-line application deadline: 11:59:59 PM EDT, Friday, October 14, 2022.

We seek a diverse pool of applicants who wish to join an academic community that places the highest value on rigorous inquiry and encourages diverse perspectives, experiences, groups of individuals, and ideas to inform and stimulate intellectual challenge, engagement, and exchange. The University's Statements on Diversity are at <https://provost.uchicago.edu/statements-diversity>.

The University of Chicago is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity/Disabled/Veterans Employer and does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national or ethnic origin, age, status as an individual with a disability, protected veteran status, genetic information, or other protected classes under the law. For additional information please see the University's Notice of Nondiscrimination at <https://www.uchicago.edu/nondiscrimination>.

Job seekers in need of a reasonable accommodation to complete the application process should call 773-834-0681 or email dneibel@uchicago.edu with their request.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 10/14/2022

Date Posted: 8/1/2022

Salary: $80,000 - $89,999

eJobs ID: 10577

University of Memphis

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of Political Science at The University of Memphis invites applications for a tenure track position in Comparative Politics at the level of Assistant Professor. The position will start in the fall 2023 pending the availability of funds. Candidates must have the Ph.D. in hand by August 2023. We seek applications from candidates in all areas of comparative politics. Candidates must be able to teach undergraduate and graduate classes in comparative politics and must show promise of excellence in research and teaching. Salary is competitive and commensurate with qualifications and experience.

Please submit a letter detailing current research interests and teaching experience, a curriculum vitae, a graduate transcript, a writing sample (dissertation chapter, published article or conference paper), evidence of teaching potential, and three letters of recommendation on-line at <https://workforum.memphis.edu/postings/32341>.

For all other inquiries please contact: Comparative Politics Search Committee, Department of Political Science, The University of Memphis, TN 38152. Review of applications will begin on October 1, 2022 and may continue until the position is filled. The University of Memphis is a Research I University with an enrollment of approximately 20,000 students. The University of Memphis is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer committed to diversifying its work force. Applications from women, minorities, and individuals with disabilities are strongly encouraged.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 10/1/2022

Date Posted: 8/1/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10508

Tulane University

Rank: Assistant Professor (Tenure-track) in International Development

Specializations: Africa, South Asia, India

Position description: We seek an Assistant Professor (tenure-track) in International Development. Applications with specializations in gender and development or climate/resource politics, and a regional focus on Africa or South Asia/India, are especially welcome. The teaching load is 2-2. The prospective hire will contribute to the Political Science program at the undergraduate and graduate curricular levels. The expected start date for this position is July 1, 2023. For further questions about the position, contact Prof. Eduardo Silva, gesilva@tulane.edu

Qualifications: PhD in Political Science preferred. ABD candidates will be considered.

We value diversity and inclusion. Members of minorities and traditionally underrepresented groups are encouraged to apply.

Application instructions: Please send in a cover letter, a CV, a statement of research, a teaching statement, a diversity statement, a writing sample, and 3 letters of recommendation by September 9, 2022.

All materials should be uploaded directly in Interfolio: apply.interfolio.com/110111

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 9/9/2022

Date Posted: 7/28/2022

Salary: $70,000 - $79,999

eJobs ID: 10553

Florida State University

Rank: Assistant Professor in International Relations

The Department of Political Science (<https://coss.fsu.edu/polisci/>) in the College of Social Sciences & Public Policy at Florida State University seeks applications for a tenure-track assistant professor to begin in Fall 2023. We seek candidates whose research focuses on international relations. The search is open with respect to specialization within the IR subfield, but the successful candidate is expected to add to the department's strengths in quantitative, experimental, and/or formal methods.

Florida State University is a Carnegie Foundation classified Research I institution. Among its 44,000 students are over 10,000 graduate students pursuing over 200 programs of study. Tallahassee is Florida's capital and has a metropolitan population of over 385,000. Its principal employers are state government and three higher education institutions.

Applicants should submit (1) a letter of application indicating research and teaching interests, (2) a curriculum vitae, (3) writing samples, (4) three letters of recommendation, and (5) a graduate school transcript. All items must be submitted electronically. Send these files as separate email attachments (PDFs are expected) to polisci@fsu.edu and specify "IR Assistant Search" in the subject line. Review of applications will begin September 16, 2022 and will continue until the position is filled.

Contact: Prof. Mark Souva

Email: msouva@fsu.edu

Phone: 850-644-5727

Department of Political Science
Florida State University
P.O. Box 3062160
Bellamy 531
Tallahassee, FL 32306-2230

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 9/16/2022

Date Posted: 7/27/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10542

Florida State University

Rank: Associate or Full Professor in International Relations

The Department of Political Science (<https://coss.fsu.edu/polisci/>) in the College of Social Sciences & Public Policy at Florida State University seeks applications for a tenured associate or full professor to begin in Fall 2023. We seek candidates whose research focuses on international relations. The search is open with respect to specialization within the IR subfield. The successful candidate should have a strong scholarly record and is expected to contribute significantly to the department's research and teaching mission.

Florida State University is a Carnegie Foundation classified Research I institution. Among its 44,000 students are over 10,000 graduate students pursuing over 200 programs of study. Tallahassee is Florida's capital and has a metropolitan population of over 385,000. Its principal employers are state government and three higher education institutions.

Applicants should submit (1) a letter of application indicating research and teaching interests, (2) a curriculum vitae, (3) writing samples, and (4) a list of professional references. All items must be submitted electronically. Send these files as separate email attachments (PDFs are expected) to polisci@fsu.edu and specify "IR Senior Search" in the subject line. Review of applications will begin October 21, 2022 and will continue until the position is filled.

Contact: Prof. Mark Souva

Email: msouva@fsu.edu

Phone: 850-644-5727

Department of Political Science
Florida State University
P.O. Box 3062160
Bellamy 531
Tallahassee, FL 32306-2230

Start Date: Fall 2023
Date Posted: 7/27/2022
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 10543

Johns Hopkins University

Rank: Assistant Program Director/Lecturer or Sr. Lecturer, Security and Intelligence

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Other
Specializations: Intelligence, Defense, Foreign Policy

Johns Hopkins University
Zanvyl Krieger School of Arts and Sciences
Advanced Academic Programs

Apply here: <https://apply.interfolio.com/110586>

Location:
Washington, DC

Description:

The Johns Hopkins University invites applications for the position of Assistant Program Director in the area of Security and Intelligence. This position will support the MA in Global Security Studies (primary), MS in Intelligence Analysis, and MS in Geospatial Intelligence programs in the Center for Advanced Governmental Studies, within the Krieger School of Arts & Sciences' Advanced Academic Programs Division. Reporting to the Director of the Center for Advanced Governmental Studies and Associate Dean for Graduate & Professional Programs, the Assistant Program Director will contribute to the excellence of the programs and will demonstrate and support ongoing innovation in the curriculums. Johns Hopkins University is committed to hiring candidates who, through their teaching and service, will contribute to the diversity and excellence of the academic community.

Advanced Academic Programs:

The Advanced Academic Programs (AAP) is a division of the Krieger School of Arts & Sciences at the Johns Hopkins University (JHU). As the nation's oldest and one of its most prestigious research universities, JHU offers high-quality master's degrees and post-baccalaureate education to students online, at its Washington, DC Center, and at the Homewood campus in Baltimore, MD. AAP enrolls over 6,000 students each academic year in over 45-degree programs.

AAP was started in 1992 to provide students with the opportunity to obtain a master's degree in a professional and part-time graduate program. Over the course of nearly 30 years, AAP has worked diligently to add new degree programs that fit within the academic structure of the Krieger School and satisfy the demands of the marketplace. AAP distinguishes itself through its intensive instructional assistance, selective admissions, and more than 50 dedicated full-time faculty. Tenured Krieger School faculty members serve as Program Chairs within AAP and work together in the Council of Program Chairs, an academic advisory body to the KSAS Dean.

AAP's website, <http://advanced.jhu.edu/>, provides additional information.

The Position:

AAP's programs in security and intelligence prepare students for positions in foreign affairs, national security and the intelligence community. Students learn how to confront the complexities of today's security environment with the latest policy and theoretical tools for analysis and action. The programs' courses are designed to maximize individual attention, encourage student contribution, build analytical skills, and provide the tools for engaging in original research. With an ever-growing and diverse student body, the programs are continually expanding and enhancing their course offerings to meet both academic and practitioner needs. Currently, the programs serve nearly 400 students both onsite and online, including a growing number of international students.

In both academic and administrative roles, the Assistant Program Director supports the curriculums, students, and adjunct faculty. The Assistant Program Director will have significant interaction/collaboration with the Program Directors and other faculty within the Center for Advanced Governmental Studies, as well as across other AAP programs, including the Energy Policy and Climate and Environmental Sciences and Policy programs.

The Assistant Program Director is a full-time, non-tenure-track, 12-month renewable faculty position with the academic title of Lecturer or Senior Lecturer, commensurate with experience. The Assistant Program Director reports to the Director of the Center for Advanced Governmental Studies, who consults with the Program Chair on academic matters, and to the Associate Dean for Graduate & Professional Programs, who leads the Advanced Academic Programs and reports to the Dean of the Krieger School of Arts & Sciences.

The Assistant Program Director will have the following academic and administrative responsibilities:

Academic Responsibilities:

Teach 6 graduate courses per year, including preparation and time spent in the classroom (both on-site in the Washington, DC Center and online), using best practices for teaching, engaging, and mentoring students from diverse backgrounds in the learning process, and responding to student questions
Advise students, including both program and research advising
Provide input on the curriculums and new course development to ensure the delivery and growth of quality programs
Other academic duties normally performed by full-time or regular part-time faculty, such as participating on committees, attending academic events, or contributing to other academic service

Administrative Responsibilities:

Assist with the management of degree concentrations or areas of focus
Participate in the adjunct faculty hiring and development processes
Assist the Program Directors with administrative tasks, such as planning events and reviewing admission materials
Other administrative duties as assigned

Qualifications:

The Assistant Program Director role is critical to maintaining the overall high quality of this program. The Assistant Program Director must have passion for education and its power to change lives, especially for international, part-time, and non-residential students. A track record of successful graduate and/or online teaching, as well as skills in instructional design, content development, and instructional technology, are important.

Candidates who have experience teaching and engaging students from diverse backgrounds are of particular interest.

To be considered, candidates should meet a set of minimum qualifications and ideally meet several additional preferred qualifications.

Minimum Qualifications:

- PhD in political science, international affairs, security studies, intelligence, or other field relevant to the interdisciplinary nature of global security studies; other terminal degrees in these or related fields may be considered
- 1-3 years of higher education teaching experience online and/or at the graduate level
- The ability to teach a variety of courses in the global security fields, including research-focused courses
- Strong organizational skills
- Excellent oral and written communication skills

Preferred Qualifications:

- 4 or more years of higher education teaching experience online and/or at the graduate level
- 1-3 years of work experience related professional work experience outside of academia, including but not limited to, government service, outside consulting, or collaborative work within fields related to security studies and intelligence
- Experience managing a degree or certificate program
- Demonstrated track record of excellence in teaching and innovation in curriculum design
- The ability to work independently in a fast-paced environment with competing demands and multiple deadlines in both on-site and online environments

Application Instructions:

For consideration; interested and qualified candidates should submit the following materials via Interfolio (<https://apply.interfolio.com/110586>):

- Cover letter that describes the applicant's interest in the position
- CV
- Teaching evaluations from the two most recent semesters

The selected candidate will be expected to undergo a background check and to submit proof of educational attainment.

Start Date: Spring 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/27/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10548

Washington University in St. Louis

Rank: Assistant, Associate, or Full Professor in International Relations

The Department of Political Science at Washington University in St. Louis invites applications for three tenure-track/tenured faculty appointments at the rank of assistant, associate, or full professor in international relations. For all appointments we seek scholars with research interests in international political economy or conflict studies. For one of these appointments, we are also seeking a scholar whose primary publication record demonstrates a commitment to formal theory. The appointment is to begin in the fall semester of 2023. A Ph.D. in Political Science or a closely related field is required at the time of appointment. Candidates for associate or full professor should have an outstanding publication, teaching, and service record commensurate with tenure at that rank. Duties for all positions will include teaching courses at the undergraduate and graduate level, conducting and publishing research, advising undergraduate and graduate students, and participating in department and university governance.

Application materials should include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, statement of research and teaching interests, at least three letters of reference (for untenured applicants), writing samples, and other relevant materials.

The application deadline is October 1, 2022. All applications and supporting documentation should be submitted electronically through Interfolio (<http://apply.interfolio.com/110471>). If you encounter difficulties with the application process or have any other questions, please email Heather Sloan-Randick at hsloanra@wustl.edu.

Washington University in St. Louis is committed to the principles and practices of equal employment opportunity and especially encourages applications by those underrepresented in their academic fields. It is the University's policy to recruit, hire, train, and promote persons in all job titles without regard to race, color, age, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, national origin, protected veteran status, disability, or genetic information.

Each year Washington University publishes a Safety and Security brochure that details what to do and whom to contact in an emergency. This report also publishes the federally required annual security and fire safety reports, containing campus crime and fire statistics as well as key university policies and procedures. You may access the Safety and Security brochure at <https://police.wustl.edu/clery-reports-logs/>.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 10/1/2022

Date Posted: 7/26/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10536

Gonzaga University

Rank: Assistant Professor, Political Science

Specializations: China, East Asia, Quantitative Methods

The Department of Political Science at Gonzaga University in Spokane, WA invites applications for a full-time tenure-track appointment at the rank of assistant professor in the field of International Relations beginning in the fall semester of 2023. We seek applicants who will teach courses and conduct research primarily in the field of International Relations and Asian Politics, with a strong preference for a candidate with research and teaching expertise in Chinese politics. We are also interested in candidates who desire to develop and teach a course on quantitative research methods appropriate for undergraduates. In addition, we seek applicants whose teaching methods and materials intentionally foster the full participation and engagement of our students, with particular attention to students from diverse and marginalized backgrounds.

The ideal candidate will hold a PhD in Political Science by July 2023 and will become an integral part of a department of eight faculty members dedicated primarily to excellence in undergraduate teaching. The successful candidate will regularly teach Introduction to International Relations as part of their 3-3 load, along with upper-division courses consistent with their research specialization and aligned with departmental needs. An active research agenda leading to publication in the field and significant undergraduate advising and mentoring will be expected of the candidate who joins our department. The ideal candidate's teaching, research, and service would contribute to fostering an inclusive learning community on campus.

Required Qualifications:

- Ph.D. in Political Science, International Relations, or International Equivalent (ABD will be considered if the degree will be conferred by July 15, 2023)
- Evidence of teaching effectiveness.
- Evidence of effective use of classroom strategies and pedagogies to advance equity and inclusion.
- Demonstrated active research agenda focusing on international relations and/or Asian politics.
- Evidence of specialization in international relations as well as in East Asian politics.

Desired Qualifications:

- Evidence of research and teaching experience in Chinese politics.
- Evidence of desire and ability to design and teach an introductory course on quantitative research methods for undergraduates.

Job Duties:

- Teach three courses per semester, including the introductory course in International Relations, courses required for the POLS major and minor, and upper division courses in the candidate's areas of expertise.
- Engage in research, publication, and other scholarly activity appropriate to the candidate's research agenda and areas of expertise.
- Provide curriculum and career advising and mentoring to the program's undergraduates.
- Support the department, university, and discipline through service and other forms of academic citizenship.

About Gonzaga University and Spokane, Washington

Founded in 1887, Gonzaga is a private, liberal arts institution located in Spokane, WA. The Department of Political Science awards the BA degree and enjoys a growing enrollment of politically involved, social justice-minded students. The average class size of 23 enables our faculty to invest in engaged pedagogy and transformational teaching. Gonzaga is ranked in the top 20 for excellence in undergraduate teaching among National Universities by US News and World Report.

Gonzaga's 152-acre campus sits along the Spokane River within walking distance of downtown Spokane, on the ancestral homelands of the Spokane Tribe of Indians. Spokane is the second largest city in Washington and pairs a lower cost of living with many urban advantages, including a conveniently located international airport, a vibrant art community, and a range of exciting restaurants. Located on the east side of Washington State, Spokane offers many options for outdoor enjoyment including hiking, boating and fishing on numerous local lakes, and several ski resorts within driving distance.

Application Process:

To apply, please visit our website at www.gonzaga.edu/jobs. Applicants must complete an online application and electronically submit (1) a cover letter, (2) curriculum vitae, (3) a 1-2 page statement of teaching philosophy and evidence of teaching effectiveness, (4) a statement detailing your experience engaging with diverse communities and articulating how your teaching, scholarship and service would contribute toward fostering an inclusive learning environment on campus, (5) unofficial copies of graduate school transcripts, and (6) the names and email addresses of three persons who will be writing letters of recommendation (letters will be solicited for candidates placed on the long list). The position closes on September 23, 2022 at 11:59 p.m. U.S. PST. For assistance with your online application, please contact Human Resources at (509) 313-5996. Direct other inquiries to the chair of the search committee, Dr. Stacy Taninchev, taninchev@gonzaga.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 9/23/2022

Date Posted: 7/25/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10520

Wabash College

Rank: Tenure-Track Byron K. Trippet Assistant or Associate Professor of Political Science

The Political Science Department at Wabash College invites applications for a tenure-track appointment as Byron K. Trippet Assistant or Associate Professor of Political Science. The position begins July 1, 2023 and carries a 3-3 teaching load. In addition to generous salary, benefits, and professional travel support available to all full-time faculty at the College, the Byron K. Trippet appointment provides research support for new tenure-track faculty during the pre-tenure period.

We seek candidates who are international relations specialists with research and teaching interests that will broaden the Department's existing strengths and course offerings. In addition, we seek candidates who can periodically teach International political economy and other courses that may be cross-listed with Philosophy, Politics, and Economics (PPE) or other interdisciplinary programs such as Asian Studies, Black Studies, Environmental Studies, Gender Studies, Global Health, and Hispanic Studies. We give preference to candidates with a strong commitment to the liberal arts, college-level teaching experience, and a demonstrated commitment to inclusive pedagogy that serves a diverse student body. A Ph.D. in hand at the time of appointment is preferred, but ABD candidates will be considered.

The successful candidate will:

- Teach introductory international relations and a variety of upper-level undergraduate international relations courses
- Support undergraduate research, including through teaching in the Political Science Department's research methods sequence (PSC 200: Political Inquiry & Analysis; PSC 300: Research Methods & Statistics in Political Science; and PSC 497: Senior Seminar), as well as independent study and/or research internship supervision
- Periodically develop and teach immersion learning courses, which are courses that include a significant travel experience as a course requirement (for more information, see <https://www.wabash.edu/international/immersion>)
- Serve as an academic advisor and contribute to teaching the College's freshman year experience courses, Freshman Tutorial and Enduring Questions
- Contribute to shared governance through departmental and college service
- Maintain an active research and publication program

Founded in 1832, Wabash College is a private, independent, residential four-year liberal arts college for men. Its faculty is highly ranked nationally for accessibility and quality by the Princeton Review. The College invests significant resources to ensure students can participate in off-campus and international immersion learning experiences. Our 65-acre wooded campus is located 50 miles west of Indianapolis and three hours from Chicago. In addition to the amenities these and other nearby cities offer, we are near some of the best outdoor recreation in the state.

Wabash is home to the Malcolm X Institute of Black Studies, which celebrated its 50th anniversary in 2020. More than 25% of our students are federal Pell Grant recipients, one-third of our students are first-generation college students, and about 20% of our students identify as domestic students of color. As a member of the USC Race and Equity Center's Liberal Arts Colleges Racial Equity Leadership Alliance, a top-60 Liberal Arts College according to U.S. News, and a member of Colleges That Change Lives, Wabash College is in the midst of a strategic transformation to advance the success of its first-generation students, students of color, and students from low-income families. Many students, staff, and faculty find the close-knit community of the residential college one of the most rewarding aspects of their time here.

To ensure full consideration, applications must be received by September 20, 2022. To apply, go to www.wabash.edu/employment and click the "Apply Now" button to submit your cover letter, CV, statement of teaching philosophy, one writing sample (a recent publication or dissertation chapter), unofficial undergraduate and graduate transcripts (official transcripts will be required upon hire), and email addresses for three persons who will submit confidential letters of recommendation. In addition to describing your research trajectory, your cover letter should discuss your teaching and service qualifications and interests. Please direct questions about the position to Dr. Shamira Gelbman, Chair of the Political Science Department, at gelbmans@wabash.edu.

Wabash College, a liberal arts college for men, seeks faculty and staff who are committed to providing quality engagement with students, high levels of academic challenge and support, and meaningful experiences that prepare students for life and leadership among diverse populations around the globe. Wabash is an equal opportunity employer and welcomes applications from persons of all backgrounds.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 9/20/2022

Date Posted: 7/25/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10530

Academia Sinica

Rank: Assistant Research Fellow (equivalent to Assistant Professor)

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Methodology

Position Announcement

Institute of Political Science at Academia Sinica

1. The Institute of Political Science at Academia Sinica (IPSAS), Taipei, Taiwan, seeks to appoint full-time faculty members at the rank of assistant research fellow (which is equivalent to assistant professor). Application for higher rank will also be considered.

2. The applicant should specialize at least one of the following fields: (1) Taiwan politics and comparative democracy; (2) China and comparative politico-economic transition; (3) cross-Strait relations and international relations theory; (4) political changes in Asia and global democratic development; and, (5) political methodology.

3. The applicant must have a doctoral degree in political science or related disciplines, or is able to receive a Ph.D. degree by August 31, 2023.

4. Applicants for positions of assistant research fellow should submit the following documents:

- (1) curriculum vitae and a list of publications;
- (2) a photocopy of the doctoral degree certificate or certification for completion of course work and successful defense of dissertation (for applicants who have not yet passed the oral examination, proof for completion of courses and a letter certifying imminent holding of oral examination are required);
- (3) two copies of the doctoral dissertation (or draft) and other publications;
- (4) an abstract (in both English and Chinese) of the doctoral dissertation;
- (5) transcripts from undergraduate and graduate schools;
- (6) a statement of research accomplishments and research plan (in both English and Chinese and within three pages); and,
- (7) three letters of recommendation (written in English or Chinese and mailed directly by the recommender to IPSAS. If sending by email, please send the email by the school department or by a certification agency such as interfolio; those applying for the position of assistant research fellow should have one letter from the dissertation advisor).

5. Applicants for positions of associate research fellow or above should submit the following documents:

- (1) curriculum vitae and a list of publications;
- (2) a photocopy of the doctoral degree certificate;
- (3) three representative publications (and two copies each);
- (4) proofs for appointments in Taiwanese or international academic institutes;
- (5) a statement of research accomplishments and research plan (in both English and Chinese and within three pages); and,
- (6) three letters of recommendation (written in English or Chinese and mailed directly by the recommender to IPSAS. If sending by email, please send the email by the school department or by a certification agency such as interfolio).

6. The application should be sent to Dr. Chung-li Wu, Director, Institute of Political Science, Academia Sinica, 128 Academia Rd., Sec. 2, Taipei 115201, Taiwan, R.O.C.

7. Further questions can be forwarded to Ms. Ren-Yuan Lo at 886-2-2652-5303, faxed to 886-2-2783-2610, or e-mailed to ipsas@gate.sinica.edu.tw.

8. The application should be received by October 31, 2022.

Start Date: Spring 2023

Application Deadline: 10/31/2022

Date Posted: 7/22/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10513

Claremont McKenna College

Rank: Assistant Professor in International Relations

The Department of Government of Claremont McKenna College (CMC) invites applications for a tenure-track position, at the early assistant professor level, in the subfield of international relations with a focus on transnational issues such as climate change, global health, or migration, beginning July 2023. A qualified candidate would have a PhD in political science in hand or a nearly completed doctoral dissertation, and the capacity to teach core courses in international relations.

The candidate must have demonstrated ability to maintain an active, high quality research program and the highest standards of excellence in teaching. The teaching load at CMC is two courses per semester.

Given our commitment to cultivating a challenging and inclusive educational environment, we seek candidates who can demonstrate a commitment to teaching, mentoring, and inspiring students representing a broad range of socioeconomic backgrounds, political opinion, genders, races, ethnicities, nationalities, sexual orientations, and religions.

The review of applications will begin September 5, 2022, and will continue until the position is filled.

All applications must include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, detailed research statement, and a statement regarding teaching philosophy and demonstrated commitment to teaching, mentoring, and inspiring students representing a broad range of backgrounds. Applicants must also submit the names and e-mail addresses of three or more references; an email will be automatically sent to them with a link to upload their recommendation letter. Letters of recommendation should evaluate the candidate's research and teaching. Applications must be submitted electronically at the following link: https://webapps.cmc.edu/jobs/faculty/faculty_opening.php.

CMC is a highly selective undergraduate institution ranked among the top liberal arts colleges nationally. It is part of The Claremont Colleges, which also includes Pomona College, Scripps College, Harvey Mudd College, Pitzer College, Claremont Graduate University, and Keck Graduate Institute. Combined, the members of The Claremont Colleges have more than 6,000 students. Claremont is located 35 miles east of downtown Los Angeles.

Claremont McKenna College is an Equal Opportunity Employer, strongly committed to diversity, and encourages applications from the broadest range of individuals.

Start Date: Summer 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/20/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10510

Wesleyan University

Rank: Assistant Professor, Department of Government

The Department of Government at Wesleyan University seeks applicants for a tenure-track position in international relations specializing in international security. The appointment begins July 1, 2023.

Candidates must have a Ph.D. in Political Science in hand by the time of appointment to be hired as an Assistant Professor; a successful candidate may be hired as an Instructor if the candidate does not have a Ph.D. in hand at the time of appointment, but will complete the Ph.D. in Political Science within one year of hire. The teaching load is 2/2. Additional duties include advising and mentoring students, carrying on a program of research, and participating in faculty governance at the departmental and university levels. Applicants should be prepared to teach the introductory international relations course and other upper-division courses in international security.

Wesleyan is a highly selective liberal arts college that values both scholarship and teaching, has a strong, diverse undergraduate student body, and offers a generous sabbatical program and competitive salaries and benefits.

To apply, please go to <https://careers.wesleyan.edu/postings/8994>. A complete application includes (1) a cover letter of application, (2) a curriculum vitae, (3) graduate school transcripts, (4) an article-length writing sample (e.g., the first chapter of your dissertation), (5) a statement about your teaching philosophy and methods, (6) teaching evaluation statistics or other evidence of teaching effectiveness (but please do not send copies of individual student evaluations), and (7) sample syllabi if available.

In the cover letter, applicants should describe how they will embrace the University's commitment to fostering an inclusive community, as well as their experience working with individuals from historically marginalized or underserved groups. You will also be asked to provide the email addresses of three referees from whom we may obtain confidential letters of recommendation. Applications should be submitted online at <http://careers.wesleyan.edu/postings/8994>.

Applications received by September 30, 2022, will receive full consideration. Please contact Ms. Susan Lundgren-Regan (slundgrenreg@wesleyan.edu), the Government Department administrative assistant, if you have questions about the application process.

Start Date: Summer 2023

Application Deadline: 9/30/2022

Date Posted: 7/20/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10509

Massachusetts Institute of Technology

Rank: Russian Foreign and National Security Policy Fellow

The Security Studies Program in the Center for International Studies at MIT is soliciting applications for a two-year residential fellowship for scholars of post-Cold War Russian foreign and national security policy. We interpret this broadly, to include any aspect of Russia's foreign relations including economic, political, military, or intelligence efforts. The fellow will be expected to participate fully in the activities of the Security Studies Program, and to interact intensively with faculty, students, and other fellows. Regular publication and other forms of outreach are central to the position. Applicants from the scholarly or policy communities are welcome. There is some flexibility about career phase and seniority. Academics must, however, have their doctoral degree in hand. Others should demonstrate several years of practical and analytic experience.

Applications should include a current CV, a writing sample, and a brief discussion of the applicant's planned research for the fellowship period. We will begin reviewing applications on September 1, 2022. There is flexibility on starting dates, which could be as early as January 1, 2023. Please send applications to mailto:ssp-fellowships@mit.edu and ussp-fellowships@mit.edu.

MIT is an equal employment opportunity employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment and will not be discriminated against on the basis of race, color, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, religion, disability, age, genetic information, veteran status, ancestry, or national or ethnic origin. MIT's full policy on Nondiscrimination can be found <https://policies.mit.edu/policies-procedures/90-relations-and-responsibilities-within-mit-community/93-nondiscriminationhere.>

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/19/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10504

Bowdoin College

Rank: Tenure-track Position in International Political Economy

Specializations: International Political Economy, Political Economy, Economic Policy

As part of a larger multi-year cohort initiative including positions in U.S. politics, Latin American politics, and international law, the Bowdoin College Department of Government and Legal Studies invites applications for a full-time tenure-track position in International Relations, specializing in international political economy, broadly defined. We expect to hire at the rank of assistant professor but will consider applications from candidates at all levels.

The position would begin July 1, 2023. A PhD in political science or a related field is required by the start of this appointment. Teaching load is two courses per semester.

Bowdoin requires its faculty to have a promise of long-term successful research and a strong commitment to inclusive excellence in their teaching. (For a description of inclusive excellence, please consult Williams, et. al., Toward a Model of Inclusive Excellence). We are particularly interested in candidates with a strong commitment to undergraduate liberal arts education.

The Bowdoin community warmly welcomes people of all backgrounds. We encourage applications from candidates committed to the instruction and support of a diverse student population and those who will enrich and contribute to the College's multifaceted diversity. We especially encourage people from historically excluded groups to apply. We recognize that recruiting and retaining faculty may involve considerations of spouses and domestic partners. To that end, where possible, the College will attempt to accommodate and respond creatively to the needs of partners and spouses of members of the faculty.

Bowdoin College offers opportunities for professional development, a fully-funded, year-long junior sabbatical leave (after three years of teaching and successful reappointment), and regular, generously funded, post-tenure sabbaticals. Support for teaching, grant-writing, digital initiatives, computing software, and community partnerships in courses is readily available to all faculty. The College also offers robust programming and resources for establishing and enhancing mentoring networks.

Bowdoin College accepts only electronic submissions. Please visit <https://careers.bowdoin.edu> to submit:

1) a cover letter; 2) a curriculum vitae; 3) a description of your research plans; 4) a statement that describes your teaching philosophy and how your teaching, scholarship, and mentorship supports our commitment to equity and inclusion; and 5) the names and contact information for three references who have agreed to provide letters of recommendation.

Review of applications will begin on October 15, 2022 and continue until the position is filled.

Founded in 1794 on the Maine coast, Bowdoin is one of the oldest and most selective coeducational, residential liberal arts colleges in the country. Located in Brunswick, a 30-minute drive north of Portland and 2+ hours north of Boston -- connected to Boston and beyond by public transportation -- the College is in an area rich with natural beauty and year-round outdoor activities. Bowdoin's reputation rests on the excellence of its faculty and students, intimate size, strong sense of community, and commitment to diversity (40% students of color, 7% international students and approximately 17% first generation college students).

For further information about the College and our department, please visit our website (<http://www.bowdoin.edu>) or contact department chair Andrew Rudalevige (arudalev@bowdoin.edu).

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/15/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10492

Department of Defense

Rank: Operations Research Analyst

Subfield(s): Methodology, International Relations, Non-Academic
Specializations: Quantitative Methods, Research Methods, Conflict Processes

Are you interested in international relations, comparative politics, political economy or foreign policy? Do you want to use cutting-edge quantitative methods to apply research to real world problems? The Joint Warfare Analysis Center is the place for you!

Join a team of smart, motivated individuals with access to cutting-edge technology while enjoying work-life balance and generous benefits. Join us in doing research that makes a difference.

The Joint Warfare Analysis Center (JWAC) is currently recruiting motivated individuals who are excited about the opportunity to research projects and develop advanced methods for defense analysis.

JWAC's mission is to provide the U.S. military with effects-based analysis to support U.S. national security and military strategies during peace, crisis, and war. Learn more about JWAC and its mission at <https://www.jwac.mil/>.

Ideal candidates will have both a strong quantitative methods background, including the ability to use R or Python, and either professional experience or substantive research in the areas of military affairs, foreign policy, international relations, comparative politics, or political economy.

We offer a range of benefits; including medical, dental and life insurance, paid time to exercise, and generous time off; and competitive pay with contribution-based bonuses. U.S. citizenship and the ability to obtain and maintain a security clearance are required for all positions.

If you are interested in more information please email: stratcom.south-potomac.jwac.list.recruiting-sociopoli@mail.mil

Start Date: Spring 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/15/2022

Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 10501

California State Polytechnic University, Pomona

Rank: Assistant Professor - International Relations

Specializations: Foreign Policy, International Law & Organizations, International Political Economy

Tenure Track Faculty Position

Political Science

College of Letters, Arts, and Social Sciences

California State Polytechnic University, Pomona invites applications for a tenure track faculty ASSISTANT PROFESSOR position in the Political Science Department in an area related to the study and/or promotion of International Relations.

Position description: The Political Science Department in the College of Letters, Arts, and Social Sciences at Cal Poly Pomona invites applications for a tenure-track position at the rank of Assistant Professor for appointment beginning in the 2023-2024 academic year, specializing in International Relations. The position requires excellence in teaching and advising, professional and scholarly achievements, and a commitment to service to the university. Applicants whose work demonstrates a commitment to inclusive excellence and diversity in higher education are particularly encouraged to apply. Cal Poly Pomona is a Hispanic-serving institution, and the faculty member will be an advisor to many under-represented minorities and first-generation college students.

The faculty member will primarily teach courses in international relations such as International Law, International Political Economy, and/or US Foreign Policy, and will have the opportunity to develop courses in their area of expertise.

University Statement. California State Polytechnic University, Pomona invites applications for a tenure track faculty position at the rank of Assistant Professor in the Department of Political Science. Cal Poly Pomona is one of three polytechnic universities in the 23-campus California State University system and among 11 such institutions nationwide. Since its founding in 1938, Cal Poly Pomona students participate in an integrative experiential learning education that is inclusive, relevant, and values diverse perspectives and experiences. With a variety of degree programs in the arts, humanities, sciences, engineering, and professional disciplines, the university is well known for its learn-by-doing approach and Teacher Scholar Model.

The university is noted for its scenic and historic 1,400-acre campus, which was once the winter ranch of cereal magnate W.K. Kellogg. We acknowledge that Cal Poly Pomona resides on the territorial and homelands of the Tongva and Tataavium people who are the traditional land caretakers of Tovaangar. The university's nearly 30,000 students are taught and mentored by the campus's more than 1,400 faculty as part of 54 baccalaureate and 29 master's degree programs, 11 credential and certificate programs, and a doctorate in educational leadership.

Highly regarded among its peer institutions, Cal Poly Pomona is No. 2 in the U.S. News and World Report rankings of top public regional universities in the west and was named the No. 15 best value college in the nation by Money Magazine. Cal Poly Pomona, a Hispanic-Serving Institution and an Asian American and Native American Pacific Islander-Serving Institution, stands as a national leader in promoting social mobility, and was placed among the 25 top institutions in the country in awarding bachelor's degrees to minoritized students by Diverse Issues in Higher Education.

The Cal Poly Pomona campus is located less than 30 miles east of downtown Los Angeles at the intersection of Los Angeles, Orange, Riverside and San Bernardino counties. It is within an hour's drive of beaches, mountains and deserts. For additional information about the university, please visit www.cpp.edu, and for more about faculty life, please see YourLife@CPP.

Student Population. California residents comprise the majority (96%) of applicants to undergraduate programs at Cal Poly Pomona – nearly half (49%) of new students were transfers in Fall 2020. 58% of Cal Poly Pomona students are first generation, 70% receive financial aid, and 44% qualify as Pell-eligible. The university enrolls a diverse student body that identifies as 49% Latinx, 21% Asian, 15% White, 3% Black, 5% International 3% two or more races, 3% unknown and less than 1% Native Hawaiian or Native Pacific Islander and less than 1% Native American Indigenous. Thirty-nine percent of the student body were STEM majors with the top enrolled programs including psychology, mechanical engineering, civil engineering, biology and computer science.

Inclusive Excellence Criteria. We aspire to be the model inclusive polytechnic university in the nation. We have a strong commitment to inclusive excellence and to educational experiences that leverage the diverse perspectives and experiences needed to succeed and thrive in a diverse society.

Tenure track faculty hires will demonstrate a commitment and record of contributions through their teaching, scholarship, or service to these inclusive excellence criteria (a minimum of two must be addressed in the Student Success Statement):

- *Integrates the values of equity and inclusivity into their teaching, scholarship and/or service contributions with diverse student populations;
- *Incorporates the contributions and struggles of historic ethnic minority groups and communities into their teaching, scholarly work, and/or service contributions;
- *Adopts teaching strategies that supports the learning and success of students from diverse student populations;
- *Mentors and engages diverse student populations in discovery, scholarship, and creative activities;
- *Engages students in problem-based projects and learning that address the needs of diverse communities;
- *Possesses knowledge of challenges and barriers for underrepresented students and faculty within the discipline;
- *Mentors and assists diverse student populations interested in pursuing graduate education;
- *Engages in community-responsive action research or service with diverse student populations and communities;
- *Has experience in or demonstrates a commitment to adopting experiential learning activities and pedagogy with diverse student populations and communities; and

*Has expertise in or demonstrated commitment to teaching, scholarship and/or service that contributes to access, diversity, and equal opportunity in higher education.

College: Cal Poly Pomona's College of Letters, Arts, and Social Sciences (CLASS) brings to life a vibrant hands-on experience through disciplines in the humanities, performing arts, and social sciences. As the heart and soul of the campus, the College's mission is to cultivate one's intellectual development, ethical reasoning, and aesthetic sensibility to support creative and critical thinking in a dynamic world of competing challenges. We are a community diverse in backgrounds, expertise, and thought, committed to improving the human condition and to bettering the world. Our faculty, students, and staff are devoted to creating an inclusive environment where all can thrive through the College's programs, research activities, creative performances, community outreach, and signature experiences. Learn more about the College of Letters, Arts, and Social Sciences and our 12 distinct departments at www.cpp.edu/class.

Department: The Department of Political Science has over four hundred undergraduate political science majors and approximately fifty students in our NASPAA-accredited MPA program. We also offer a Political Science minor and participate significantly in the university's General Education offerings. The Department sponsors a Model United Nations program and a Mock Trial Team, both with a history of national recognition. Members of the Department have traditionally been actively involved across campus and in the community. Sixty percent of our majors are first generation and 70% identify with a minoritized group. The major enrolls a diverse student body that identifies as 64% Latinx, 14% White, 8% Asian, 5% Black, 3% two or more races, 3% international, 3% unknown, and less than 1% Native Hawaiian or Native Pacific Islander.

Minimum requirements include:

*Ph.D. in Political Science or related discipline from an accredited university at the time of appointment. Degree must be conferred by the start date of the position

*A commitment and a record of contributions to student success through applicant's teaching, scholarship, or service. This will be described in the Student Success Statement, which must address at least two of the inclusive excellence criteria listed above.

Preferred/Desired Qualifications: University teaching experience as instructor of record and/or teaching assistant, and the ability to teach one or more of the three courses listed above. Preference will be given to candidates who can demonstrate the ability to mentor and advise under-served populations including, but not limited to, African-American, Hispanic, and Native American students.

Conditions of Employment:

The person offered this position is required to pass a background check.

The CSU requires faculty, staff, and students who are accessing campus facilities to be immunized against COVID-19 or declare a medical or religious exemption from doing so. Any candidates advanced in a currently open search process should be prepared to comply with this requirement. The systemwide policy can be found at <https://calstate.policystat.com/policy/9779821/latest/>. Questions regarding the policy may be sent to avpfa@cpp.edu.

Application Process:

A completed application will consist of:

- 1) Cover letter in which you describe teaching performance, research experience and interests, and how you meet the duties and qualifications articulated in the position description;
- 2) A Student Success Statement (up to 2 pages, single-spaced) about your teaching or other experiences, successes, and challenges in working with a diverse student population. Please address at least two of the inclusive excellence criteria listed above;
- 3) Curriculum vitae;
- 4) The names and contact information for at least three individuals who can serve as references;
- 5) Unofficial transcripts (undergraduate and graduate, official transcripts will be required of finalists);
- 6) Recent teaching evaluation summaries and sample syllabi, if available

Finalists for the position will:

*be required to provide official transcripts for highest degree before the on-campus interview;

*be required to provide three letters of reference dated within the last two years;

*Final candidates being interviewed are expected to make a presentation of creative work and a teaching demonstration to faculty and interact with students.

Department representatives will be present at the APSA Annual Meeting Career Fair on Thursday, September 15 from 4:00pm-6:00pm EST in Montréal, Quebec, Canada. If in attendance, prospective applicants are encouraged to ask questions.

Department representatives will also be holding two Zoom open houses on: Monday, September 26: 10am-12pm PST and Thursday, September 29: 2pm-4pm PST. Zoom link: <https://cpp.zoom.us/j/81284066966>. Prospective candidates are encouraged to attend the Zoom open houses if they are unable to attend the APSA Career Fair to ask questions.

To Apply. Applications accepted only via PageUp – online application portal - for University hires. To apply, visit the Job Application page (<https://careers.pageuppeople.com/873/po/en-us/job/516673/political-science-assistant-professor>) or visit <https://careers.cpp.edu/>.

The position is open until filled. First consideration will be given to completed applications received no later than October 1, 2022

Please direct inquiries to:

Dr. Marc Scarcelli, Search Committee Chair
Political Science Department
California State Polytechnic University, Pomona
Email: scarcelli@cpp.edu

Jessica Castillo, Administrative Support Coordinator
Political Science Department
California State Polytechnic University, Pomona
Email: jmcastillo2@cpp.edu

Advertised: July 12, 2022 (9:00 AM) Pacific Daylight Time
Applications close: Open Until Filled

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/13/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10489

Rice University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

The Department of Political Science at Rice University, located in Houston, Texas, invites applications for a tenure-track position to begin July 1, 2023. The appointment will be made at the rank of assistant professor. Assistant professors will teach undergraduate and graduate courses, perform research in their specialized area, and contribute to university service. Therefore, successful candidates will have a promising research agenda and strong analytical and empirical skills as well as aspire to the highest standards of scholarship, professional activity, and commitment to graduate and undergraduate education.

We are particularly interested in candidates whose research interests and expertise lie in the area of political violence, civil war, and/or the microprocesses of conflict. Successful candidates will have advanced skills in quantitative research methods. Candidates must currently have a Ph.D. or complete the Ph.D. by July 1, 2023.

Rice University and the Department of Political Science are committed to building and sustaining an inclusive, diverse environment for our faculty, staff, and students. We encourage applications from individuals who have been historically underrepresented in academia, including people of color, LGBTQI+ people, women, and people with disabilities. We strive to counter prejudice actively and to create a working environment that is inclusive and equitable.

The application deadline is September 20, 2022. A complete application must include a letter of application; a curriculum vitae; research, teaching, and DEI statements; graduate school transcripts; two writing samples; and three letters of recommendation (applicants must provide contact information for three references who will be contacted automatically for letters of recommendation). All applications should be submitted electronically at <http://apply.interfolio.com/109663>.

Equal Opportunity Employer - Females/Minorities/Veterans/Disabled/Sexual Orientation/Gender Identity

Start Date: Summer 2023

Application Deadline: 9/20/2022

Date Posted: 7/13/2022

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 10491

Bocconi University

Rank: Assistant Professor, International Relations

The Department of Social and Political Sciences at Bocconi University is inviting applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position in Political Science, specifically within the subfield of international relations, with an appointment beginning on September 1, 2023.

The area of research specialization in IR is open, but to complement the existing strengths and profile of the department, candidates engaged in research employing rigorous quantitative analysis are preferred. The candidate should show evidence of a promising research agenda, and should also be able to teach courses in international relations at the undergraduate and graduate levels.

Bocconi University is a leading European research and teaching institution in economics, social sciences, management and related disciplines. In the 2022 QS World University Ranking of Social Science and Management programs, Bocconi ranked 4th in Europe and 10th worldwide. The Department of Social and Political Sciences has a major role in staffing an undergraduate program in International Politics and Government, a master's program in Politics and Policy Analysis, and a PhD program in Social and Political Sciences.

Bocconi provides an ideal interdisciplinary research environment. The Department of Social and Political Sciences combines faculty from several allied disciplines and fields of study--public administration, political science, sociology, economics, history, public health, demography--who share an interest in policy--relevant research. The Department counts 60 tenured or tenure-track faculty members. Bocconi is located in Italy's most vibrant center, Milan, a historic, cosmopolitan and international city in a metropolitan area of 3 million that is well connected to the rest of Europe and the world. Knowledge of Italian is not required. Terms of employment are competitive.

Applications should be received by October 15, 2022. Applicants must submit (1) a current curriculum vitae, (2) a job market paper (and other published papers), (3) a cover letter, and (4) teaching and research statements via the on-line form using PDF attachments at www.unibocconi.eu/jobmarket. Additionally, at least three academic letters of reference must also be submitted by referees via www.unibocconi.eu/jobmarket.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 10/15/2022

Date Posted: 7/1/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10402

Massachusetts Institute of Technology

Rank: Associate Professor of Political Science

Senior Search in Security Studies

The Massachusetts Institute of Technology (MIT) Department of Political Science invites applications for a full-time faculty member in Security Studies at the rank of tenured Associate Professor effective July 1st, 2023 or as soon thereafter as possible. Responsibilities include graduate and undergraduate teaching and student research supervision. MIT is an Equal Employment Opportunity employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment and will not be discriminated against on the basis of race, color, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, religion, disability, age, genetic information, veteran status, ancestry, or national or ethnic origin. Applications should include a cover letter which addresses your research agenda and teaching interests, and how your past efforts and future plans will advance diversity, equity, and inclusion in your scholarship, teaching, and service. Also include a CV, writing sample(s), and a list of three references.

Please submit online applications to <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/21971>

Completed applications must be submitted by September 15, 2022.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 9/15/2022

Date Posted: 6/24/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10436

University of Virginia

Rank: Full Professor, Department of Politics

In the fall of 2020, with the generous support of the John L. Nau Foundation and the Andrew W. Mellon Foundation, the University of Virginia's Democracy Initiative and College of Arts & Sciences launched a multiyear faculty hiring project. Over four years, we will hire a dozen or more new faculty members at all ranks in the departments of Classics, History, and Philosophy, Politics, and elsewhere. Across all the searches, the Departments seek to appoint scholars whose primary research is focused on the study of the principles of democracy, democratic accountability, and representation, either to advance the work of the core lab on the history and principles of democracy or to contribute to one of the Initiative's other projects.

This year, with the support of the Nau Foundation, the Department of Politics at the University of Virginia invites applications for a tenured full professor who studies democracy in the subfield of international relations or the subfield of political theory. Candidates should have an active research agenda and a strong commitment to excellent teaching at both the graduate and undergraduate levels.

The mission of the Democracy Initiative is to promote excellence in research, teaching, and public engagement on democracy at a global scale by bringing together a diverse range of scholars, government leaders, and practitioners to study and advance the prospects of democracy around the world. The Democracy Initiative is interdisciplinary and supports and advances the work of faculty, as well as graduate and undergraduate students, in the humanities, the arts, and the social sciences. To that end, the Initiative supports a variety of labs built on models of collaborative work. The Democracy Labs consist of a series of three-year, rotating labs on various topics, connected by the work of the John Nau III History and Principles of Democracy Lab (the Nau Core Lab), an interdisciplinary hub of research, teaching, and outreach. Current labs are focused on corruption and the rule of law, democracy and new media, democratic statecraft, the links between environmental and racial inequality, and race, religion, and democracy. The Democracy Initiative also supports two projects focused on community engagement and research, the Memory Project and The Equity Center. In addition to holding appointments in their home departments, each new faculty member hired under this initiative will also be a member either of the Nau Core lab or one of the Initiative's other research labs or projects.

Application review will begin September 15th, 2022, and the position will remain open until filled. The appointment begins with the fall semester of 2023. Applicants must have received their PhD at least three years prior to the time of appointment.

TO APPLY:

Please apply through Workday, and search for R0037131. Complete an application online with the following documents:

.Cover letter of application describing (1) areas of research and teaching interest; (2) potential research collaborations; (3) your demonstrated past experience working on issues of diversity, equity, and inclusion, and/or working with diverse populations (not to exceed three single spaced pages).

.Current curriculum vitae, including the names of three references

.A statement outlining what kinds of intellectual and/or institutional contributions you could envision making to the Democracy Initiative (not to exceed two single-spaced pages)

.A research statement (not to exceed three single-spaced pages)

.A teaching philosophy (not to exceed one single-spaced page)

Upload all materials into the resume submission field, multiple documents can be submitted into this one field. Alternatively, merge all documents into one PDF for submission. Applications that do not contain all required documents will not receive full consideration. Internal applicants must apply through their UVA Workday profile by searching 'Find Jobs'.

Questions about this position should be directed to Department Chair, Jennifer Lawless at jl9jx@virginia.edu, or Search Committee Chair John Owen at jmo4n@virginia.edu. Questions regarding the application process should be directed to Melanie Sponaugle, Academic Recruiter, at unw5dq@virginia.edu.

The University will perform background checks on all new faculty hires prior to making a final offer of employment.

UVA is located in beautiful Charlottesville with easy access to the Blue Ridge Mountains, the eastern shore and the nation's Capital. Charlottesville is one of the best places to live; outdoors, vibrant town with culture, music, restaurants, excellent schools, etc. Opportunities for excellent clinical, and laboratory-based research and teaching pursuits working within the collegial work environment are available.

UVA assists faculty spouses and partners seeking employment in the Charlottesville area. To learn more please visit <https://dualcareer.virginia.edu/>

For more information about UVA and the Charlottesville community please see <http://www.virginia.edu/life/charlottesville> and <https://embarkcva.com/>.

For more information on the benefits available to faculty at UVA, visit <https://provost.virginia.edu/subsite/faculty-development> and hr.virginia.edu/benefits.

COVID Vaccination Requirement and Guidelines

Please visit the UVA COVID-19 Job Requirements and Guidelines webpage prior to applying for current information regarding vaccination requirements?and?guidelines for employment at UVA.

The University of Virginia, including the UVA Health System which represents the UVA Medical Center, Schools of Medicine and Nursing, UVA Physician's Group and the Claude Moore Health Sciences Library, are fundamentally committed to the diversity of our faculty and staff. We believe diversity is excellence expressing itself through every person's perspectives and lived experiences. We are equal opportunity and affirmative action employers. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to age, color, disability, gender identity or expression, marital status, national or ethnic origin, political affiliation, race, religion, sex (including pregnancy), sexual orientation, veteran status, and family medical or genetic information.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/22/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10432

Brown University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

The Department of Political Science at Brown University invites applications for a faculty position at the level of Assistant Professor in the field of International Political Economy to begin July 1, 2023. The department is open to all substantive fields of IPE scholarship and has a preference for candidates who use mixed methods in their research. Candidates must have completed the PhD by summer 2023. Review of applications will begin September 20, 2022.

Brown University is committed to fostering a diverse and inclusive academic global community; as an EEO/AA employer, Brown considers applicants for employment without regard to, and does not discriminate on the basis of, gender, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, age, race, protected veteran status, disability, or any other legally protected status.

Qualifications Needed:

- Candidates must have completed the PhD by summer 2023.

Application Instructions:

- Candidates should submit a cover letter identifying their research and teaching interests, as well as current CV, a statement addressing their commitment to diversity and inclusion, writing sample, graduate transcript, teaching evaluations, and three letters of reference.

Apply: <http://apply.interfolio.com/108469>

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/21/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10430

University of Western Ontario

Rank: International/Comparative Politics

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Other

Political Science – International/Comparative Politics

The Department of Political Science, Faculty of Social Science at Western University invites applications for highly qualified applicants for a probationary (tenure-track) appointment in the area of International/Comparative politics, broadly defined, with a starting date of July 1, 2023 or as negotiated.

We seek individuals with a demonstrated commitment to excellence in research, teaching, and service who can help advance Western's Strategic Plan: <https://strategicplan.uwo.ca/>. In particular, we will favour candidates whose teaching and scholarship addresses one or more of: threats to democracy, environmental politics, sustainability, climate change, systemic racism, and/or socioeconomic inequality. The successful candidate could approach these issues from either the system- or individual-level. Western Political Science aims to be Canada's top destination for graduate training in empirical research methods. The ability to teach empirical research methods will be considered an asset.

To address Western's commitment to equity, diversity, inclusion, and decolonization, applicants who self-identify as a woman, Indigenous person, member of a racialized community, person with a disability, or who identify as 2SLGBTQ+ are encouraged to apply to this position.

Applications should include the following:

- 1) application form (<http://www.uwo.ca/facultyrelations/pdf/careers/Faculty/Application-FullTime-Faculty-Position-Form.pdf>),
- 2) cover letter that addresses how the candidate fits the position and the department, and includes a brief statement of how the candidate will contribute to our commitment to Equity, Diversity, Inclusion, and Decolonization.
- 3) curriculum vitae,
- 4) short statement of teaching and research interests,
- 5) copies of published or ongoing research as well as links to other papers,
- 6) names and contact information of three academic referees,

The deadline for receipt of applications is September 15th, 2022, or until the position is filled.

This material should be sent to: polisci-recruitment@uwo.ca

Professor Matthew Lebo, Chair
Department of Political Science
Western University
Room 4154, Social Science Centre
London, Ontario, CANADA N6A 5C2
EMAIL: polisci-recruitment@uwo.ca

Positions are subject to budget approval. Applicants should have fluent written and oral communication skills in English. Effective September 7, 2021, all employees and visitors to campus are required to comply with Western's COVID-19 Vaccination Policy.

Since 1878, Western University has been committed to serving our communities through the pursuit of academic excellence and by providing students, faculty, and community members with life-long opportunities for intellectual, social, and cultural growth. We seek excellent students, faculty, and staff to join us in what has become known as the "Western Experience" – an opportunity to contribute to a better world through the development of new knowledge, new abilities, new connections, and new ways to make a difference.

Effective September 7, 2021, all employees and visitors to campus are required to comply with Western's Covid Vaccination Policy.

Positions are subject to budget approval. Applicants should have fluent written and oral communication skills in English. The University invites applications from all qualified individuals. Western is committed to employment equity and diversity in the workplace and welcomes applications from women, members of racialized groups/visible minorities, Aboriginal persons, persons with disabilities, persons of any sexual orientation, and persons of any gender identity or gender expression.

In accordance with Canadian Immigration requirements, priority will be given to Canadian citizens and permanent residents. For any questions about the position or application please contact: matthew.lebo@uwo.ca.

Accommodations are available for applicants with disabilities throughout the recruitment process. If you require accommodations for interviews or other meetings, please contact Shannon Doyle, sdoyle3@uwo.ca.

Start Date: Summer 2023
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 6/20/2022
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 10425

Georgia Institute of Technology

Rank: Assistant Professor International Political Economy
Specializations: Political Economy, International Political Economy, Quantitative Methods

Faculty Position in International Political Economy

The Sam Nunn School of International Affairs (www.inta.gatech.edu) at the Georgia Institute of Technology invites applications for a tenure-track assistant professor position in International Political Economy. Scholars with a research specialization in international financial governance and/or statecraft/diplomacy are particularly encouraged to apply. The ability to teach quantitative empirical methods is highly desirable, as well. Candidates are expected to demonstrate an exceptional commitment to research and to the teaching and mentoring of students.

Georgia Tech is a top-ranked public research university situated in the heart of Atlanta, a diverse and vibrant city with great economic and cultural strengths. The Institute is a member of the University System of Georgia, the Georgia Research Alliance, and the Association of American Universities. The Nunn School is a member of the Association of Professional Schools of International Affairs. Georgia Tech prides itself on its technology resources, collaborations, high-quality student body, and its commitment to diversity, equity, and inclusion.

Applicants should submit a letter of application, curriculum vitae, a statement of research interests, a description of teaching interests and advising/mentoring philosophy, and the names and contact information for at least three references. Application materials should be submitted as .PDF files via Georgia Tech's CAREERS website. Letter writers should submit their letters directly to the same site at the time of application. Inquiries may be directed to Alasdair Young (Alasdair.young@gatech.edu). To ensure consideration, applications must be received by 10 October, but the search will continue until the position is filled. An earned doctorate is required by the start of the appointment, and a background check must be completed prior to employment.

Georgia Tech provides equal opportunity to all faculty, staff, students, and all other members of the Georgia Tech community, including applicants for admission and/or employment, contractors, volunteers, and participants in institutional programs, activities, or services. Georgia Tech complies with all applicable laws and regulations governing equal opportunity in the workplace and in educational activities. Georgia Tech prohibits discrimination, including discriminatory harassment, on the basis of race, ethnicity, ancestry, color, religion, sex (including pregnancy), sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, age, disability, genetics, or veteran status in its programs, activities, employment, and admissions. This prohibition applies to faculty, staff, students, and all other members of the Georgia Tech community, including affiliates, invitees, and guests.

Start Date:
Date Posted: 6/13/2022

Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 10415

Stanford University

Rank: Faculty Appointment on China and Climate Change
Subfield(s): International Relations, Public Policy, Comparative Politics
Specializations: East Asia, China, Energy Policy

Stanford University invites applications for a joint appointment as a continuing-term senior fellow and tenured faculty at the associate or full professor level in the broad area of China and Climate Change. The focus of the search is open. We are searching for creative and innovative scholars with an established record of outstanding policy-relevant research and education around the topics of China and climate change. We invite candidates from a broad range of disciplines to apply.

This joint hire is part of a broader effort by Stanford University in building the new Doerr School of Sustainability. The appointment from this search will be made jointly in the Freeman Spogli Institute for International Studies and in the Doerr School of Sustainability, which will begin operating in the 2022-2023 academic year.

Candidates must have a PhD in a field relevant to climate change, expertise on China, an excellent record of scholarly, policy-relevant research, a dedication to teaching, and a demonstrated commitment to diversity, equity, and inclusion. Application packages should be submitted online and include the following documents: 1) a curriculum vitae; 2) a research statement (up to 3 pages); 3) a diversity statement that demonstrates the applicant's commitment and potential to contribute to Stanford's goals of diversity, equity, and inclusion through personal experience or perspective, scholarship, teaching, or service (1 page); 4) a statement of teaching interests (1 page); and 5) a cover letter. Review of applications will begin upon receipt and continue until the position is filled. All are welcome to apply.

Apply at:
<https://facultypositions.stanford.edu/en-us/job/493398/faculty-appointment-on-china-and-climate-change>

Start Date: Fall 2023
Date Posted: 6/8/2022
Salary: Any
eJobs ID: 10406

Hampden-Sydney College

Rank: Assistant Professor
Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Other
Specializations: International Law & Organizations, Latin American, Foreign Policy

Hampden-Sydney College invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track appointment at the rank of Assistant Professor within the Department of Government and Foreign Affairs. Candidates should specialize in International Law and the U.S. Constitution and Foreign Affairs; additional subfields in Latin American politics and/or U.S. national security policy are highly desired. Candidates should be able to teach, as needed, Introduction to American Government and, particularly, introduction to World Politics. The ability to offer courses in Western Culture or political philosophy is a plus.

Hampden-Sydney College highly values the teacher/scholar model. Effective teaching, a commitment to scholarly productivity, willingness to engage in community service, and a dedication to student success, are all qualities required of a successful candidate. Teaching load for this position is seven courses per year.

Hampden-Sydney College is a selective liberal arts institution enrolling approximately 1000 students. Founded in 1775, it is the tenth oldest institution of higher learning in the United States. Our beautiful 1300-acre campus is less than 7 miles from downtown Farmville, home to Longwood University and the Moton Museum, which is listed on the U.S. Civil Rights Trail. The campus is located 65 miles west of Richmond, 50 miles east of Lynchburg, and 75 miles south of Charlottesville, providing abundant cultural, recreational and artistic resources. Hampden-Sydney is one of four liberal arts colleges in the United States dedicated to the education of men, and our mission is to educate "good men and good citizens in an atmosphere of sound learning." As a community, we are dedicated to the goal of building a culturally diverse faculty committed to working in a multicultural environment and strongly encourage applications from women and minoritized groups. Hampden-Sydney College values diversity, prohibits discrimination, and is committed to equal opportunity for all employees and applicants for employment.

To apply, please submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, teaching philosophy, and three confidential reference letters via Interfolio at <http://apply.interfolio.com/107980>. Applicants should have a Ph.D. in political science by the time of appointment.

Questions about this position may be addressed to Dr. John Eastby at jeastby@hsc.edu or Dr. Celia Carroll Jones at ccarroll@hsc.edu. Review of applications will begin immediately, and the position will remain open until filled.

Start Date: Fall 2023
Application Deadline: 9/5/2022
Date Posted: 6/6/2022
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 10395

George Washington University

Rank: Part time faculty
Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, International Relations

Political Science at George Washington University explores wide-ranging topics related to political behavior and governance, both in the United States and across the globe. The department houses nationally recognized undergraduate and graduate programs with emphases in the subfields of American Politics, Comparative Politics, International Relations.

The Department of Political Science at George Washington University invites applicants to apply who are interested in serving as a temporary part-time faculty for the fall 2022 semester, teaching in the areas of American Politics, Comparative Politics, International Relations, Political Theory, and Public Policy. The George Washington University is in a Collective Bargaining Agreement (CBA) with the part-time faculty elected union, Service Employees International Union (SEIU) Local 500.

Minimum Qualifications

A Master's degree in political science or related field. Prior experience teaching students at the postgraduate level.

Application Instructions

To apply, interested individuals should email Dr. Susan Wiley (wiley@gwu.edu) a recent curriculum vitae (CV) to express interest in the role. Prior student course evaluations may be requested. Employment offers are contingent on the satisfactory outcome of a standard background screening.

EEO Statement

The university is an Equal Employment Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer that does not unlawfully discriminate in any of its programs or activities on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, national origin, age, disability, veteran status, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, or on any other basis prohibited by applicable law.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 5/25/2022
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 10376

University of Kentucky

Rank: Post-Doctoral Scholar in Political Science
Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Public Law

The Department of Political Science at the University of Kentucky in Lexington, KY, invites applications for a teaching post-doc position in International Relations or Comparative Politics with particular interest in international organizations, international law, and/or comparative judicial politics. We are particularly interested in candidates who can contribute to the diversity and inclusion mission of the department. The position will begin August 1, 2022. Applicants are expected to teach a 2/3 load and design at least one new course in the area of Legal Studies.

Applicants should show strong potential to provide effective undergraduate teaching and have a Ph.D. in Political Science in hand by August 2022.

Applicants should submit the following: 1) curriculum vitae, 2) letter stating the candidate's research and teaching interests (uploaded as Cover Letter), 3) copy of transcript for highest degree earned, 4) evidence of teaching experience, particularly syllabi from courses taught (uploaded as specific request 1). Provide the names and contact information for three references when prompted in the academic profile. This information will be used to solicit recommendation letters from your references within the employment system.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 5/9/2022
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 10340

Brown University

Rank: Post-Doctoral Fellow in Political Science and International and Public Affairs
Specializations: International Security, Public Opinion, Criminal Justice

Professor Robert Blair (Department of Political Science and Watson Institute for International and Public Affairs) is accepting applications for a post-doctoral fellowship beginning in fall 2022. The fellow will work closely with Professor Blair on collaborative research projects. Professor Blair's current research interests include policy reforms and evaluations to improve police performance and police-community relations in low- and middle-income countries; the impact of UN peacekeeping on security and justice sector reform (among other outcomes) in countries recovering from civil war; and the development of mechanisms to reduce partisan polarization and prevent democratic erosion in the US, among other topics. The ideal candidate will have similarly broad research interests, and will be eager to collaborate on projects spanning multiple substantive areas in multiple geographical locations.

Qualifications needed:

- PhD in political science, economics, or related discipline by the fellowship start date
- Experience with quantitative data analysis in Stata or R (preferably both)
- Experience running surveys, field experiments, and/or other forms of complex field-based research
- Excellent written and verbal communication skills
- Spoken Spanish is desirable but not necessary

Application instructions: Please provide a cover letter, CV, research statement, writing sample, and two letters of recommendation.

Please apply here: <http://apply.interfolio.com/103774>

Start Date: Summer 2022

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 3/18/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10213

Rowan University

Rank: Professor (Asst, Assoc, Full)

Subfield(s): Public Policy, American Government and Politics, International Relations

Rowan University's newly launched Catalysts for Sustainability program seeks to hire 10 new faculty to develop, advance and communicate solutions to humanity's most pressing existential threats posed by the climate and biodiversity crises.

The list below shows the positions to be filled.

- Ric Edelman College of Communication and Creative Arts: Open-rank, Tenure-track Professor
- School of Earth & Environment: Visiting Professor/Professor of Practice
- School of Earth & Environment: Open-rank, Tenure-track Professor
- College of Education: Open-rank, Tenure-track Professor
- Henry M. Rowan College of Engineering: Open-rank, Tenure-track Professor
- College of Humanities & Social Sciences: Open-rank, Tenure-track Professor
- School of Nursing & Health Professions: Open-rank, Tenure-track Professor
- College of Performing Arts: Distinguished Artist-in-Residence for Environmental Sustainability
- College of Science & Mathematics: Open-rank, Tenure-track Professor
- Provost's Fellow for a Sustainable Anthropocene

Unique Opportunity

Our catalysts will immediately be high-visibility scholars poised to reap reputational benefits as influential state and national leaders. They will gain the potential for enhanced funding and enhanced publishing. The faculty—as a cohort and as individuals—will benefit as they develop expansive external networks and connections with high-profile organizations.

Committed throughout the curriculum and community

The University-wide cohort will lead and collaborate across colleges, disciplines and communities. Each college and school on our main campus will be represented, connecting every academic division through a common purpose.

Strategic institutional values

Rowan University's strategic pillars—access, affordability, quality and serving as an economic engine—are at the center of every decision for the institution. The Catalysts for Sustainability recruiting program will be rooted in Rowan's fundamental values and the hires will demonstrate our commitment to diversity, equity and inclusion.

This program will catalyze new initiatives in sustainability research, advocacy and education while leveraging existing strengths. Successful candidates will demonstrate expertise related to the climate and biodiversity crises in one or more of the following areas: environmental justice; education and public engagement including storytelling; public policy and advocacy; discipline-specific sustainability scholarship; and sustainability practice.

Interested candidates must apply through Rowan's online application system (<https://jobs.rowan.edu/cw/en-us/job/495871/rowan-catalysts-for-sustainability>). Review of applications will begin immediately and continue until the positions are filled for a start date of September, 2022.

Start Date: Fall 2022

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 12/9/2021

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 9835

Ripon College

Rank: Assistant/Associate Professor, International Relations

The faculty at Ripon College are a talented and dynamic group of teacher-scholars who work closely with a diverse student population on capstone and undergraduate research projects, and participate in interdisciplinary collaboration with one another on scholarship and creative activity. The faculty benefit from wide-ranging opportunities for support including curriculum development grants, travel grants, scholarly/artistic grants, and colleague teaching grants. Successful applicants for faculty positions at Ripon College will join a group of teacher-scholars who embrace the standards of social justice; value the principles of equity and inclusion; and seek to foster and facilitate student achievement at all levels.

The Department of Politics and Government at Ripon College is seeking qualified applicants for a full-time, tenure-track position as Assistant/Associate Professor in International Relations to begin August 2022. The department is open to all areas of specialization, but particularly welcomes expertise in international political economy, political psychology, international law, or global environmental politics.

The teaching load is three courses per semester.

Ripon College is home to the Center for Politics and the People, which promotes constructive political debate outside of the classroom by informing students, the community and citizens concerned with good governance in politics and public policy.

Deadline: Screening will begin immediately and continue until the position is filled.

Applicants should submit the following materials as PDF files to Dr. Henrik Schatzinger, Search Committee Chair, at polssearch@ripon.edu

- Letter of interest
- Curriculum vitae
- Statements outlining
 - Teaching philosophy
 - Philosophy on diversity, inclusion, and access
 - Research agenda
- Unofficial transcripts
- Three letters of recommendation

Required Qualifications:

- Ph.D. in Political Science, by August 15, 2022
- Energy and enthusiasm for service within the Department of Politics and Government and as an active recruiter of prospective students
- Strong commitment to student-centered active learning and student engagement

Preferred Qualifications:

- The department is open to all areas of specialization, but particularly welcomes expertise in international political economy, political psychology, international law, or global environmental politics.
- Demonstrated experience working in multicultural environments and interest in developing curricula related to diverse populations
- Willingness to develop courses building on the established curricula
- Willingness to engage in collaborative work across disciplines
- Commitment to undergraduate education
- Evidence of teaching experience

This position is open to all qualified applicants. Ripon College encourages applications from individuals from underrepresented groups in the professoriate, including, for example, African Americans, Hispanics, Native Americans, Alaska Natives, Native Hawaiians, other Pacific Islanders, first generation college students, members of the LGBTQIA+ community, individuals who have followed non-traditional pathways to college due to exceptional talent and motivation in the face of adversity, such as societal, economic or academic disadvantages, and individuals with a demonstrated commitment to applying and including diverse backgrounds and perspectives to learning, scholarship, and leadership in the academy. Employment-based visa sponsorship (including H1B sponsorship) is available for this position.

Ripon College is committed to the principles of equal opportunity and adheres to non-discriminatory policies in employment and student enrollment. Ripon College is an equal-opportunity employer. <http://www.ripon.edu>.

Start Date: Fall 2022

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/23/2021

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 9415

Salve Regina University

Rank: Assistant Professor, Political Science and International Relations

Subfield(s): International Relations, International Relations, International Relations

About Salve Regina University:

Salve Regina University, ranked as one of the most transformative colleges in the United States by Money Magazine, is a comprehensive Catholic University located in the scenic coastal community of Newport, Rhode Island. The University's commitment to academic success and personal discovery extends beyond its historic campus into a dynamic world where the application of higher thinking and skill are most valued. Salve Regina offers bachelor's and master's degree programs, graduate certificates, and doctoral programs in humanities, international relations and nursing. Enrollment includes more than 2,600 undergraduate and graduate students from across the U.S. and around the world.

Job Description:

BASIC FUNCTION:

The Department of Political Science and International Relations at Salve Regina University invites applications for a tenure track, assistant professor in international relations with primary regional expertise in Africa or Latin America to begin August 2022. The department administers a B.A. in political science and an online M.A. and Ph.D. in international relations. The successful candidate will contribute to all three degree programs in their area of geographic expertise and in other international relations subjects, such as international organizations and law, public policy, security, human rights, migration, or the environment. We welcome applicants who take a variety of approaches to these topics. The position also offers opportunities for teaching in the university's undergraduate core curriculum and honors program.

ESSENTIAL DUTIES AND RESPONSIBILITIES:

Contractual teaching load is 4-3. Duties include teaching undergraduate and graduate courses, advising undergraduate students, mentoring student research, dissertation advising, and committee service. The successful candidate is expected to engage in peer-reviewed scholarship and/or grant activity, university outreach, and collaboration with other academic departments in the teaching of cross-listed interdisciplinary undergraduate courses. Campus resources that are available for fostering the professional development of new faculty include a mentoring program, grand development support, and a Center for Teaching and Learning.

Requirements:

Candidates should have a record of teaching excellence and the promise of scholarly productivity. Candidates who have experience working in settings with students from diverse backgrounds and who are committed to improving access to higher education for students from historically underrepresented groups are especially encouraged to apply. A Ph.D. in political science or international relations must be completed by the time of appointment.

Additional Information:

Salve Regina University offers generous benefits to eligible employees including:

health and dental coverage life insurance long-term disability 403B plan
tuition benefits and more

Salve Regina University strives to provide equal opportunity in employment and education to all employees, students and applicants. No employee, student or applicant shall be discriminated against or harassed on the basis of race, color, national and ethnic origin, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, religion, disability, age, marital or parental status, military or veteran status, genetic information or any other basis protected by applicable federal or state law, in the administration of Salve Regina's employment policies, education policies, admission policies, scholarship and loan programs, athletic and other University administered programs. In accordance with Title IX, it does not discriminate on the basis of sex in any of its educational programs or activities. Salve Regina is also committed to making its programs and campus accessible to its visitors and compliant with all applicable non-discrimination laws.

Application Instructions:

Applicants must apply online by providing a cover letter, curriculum vitae, unofficial copy of graduate program transcript, teaching philosophy statement, statement of scholarly interests, and contact information for three references who can submit letters of recommendation after the initial screening of applications is completed. We ask that applicants discuss in the cover letter and teaching philosophy statement how their work fosters inclusive learning for diverse student populations. Pre-employment background checks and reference checks are required of successful candidates. Salve Regina University participates in E-verify.

The review of applications will begin on November 15, 2021, and will continue until the position is filled.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/22/2021

Salary: $70,000 - $79,999

eJobs ID: 9396

METHODOLOGY

Hong Kong University of Science and Technology

Rank: Faculty Positions (Global China Studies and Quantitative Social Science)

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Methodology, Public Administration

Specializations: China, Political Economy, Research Methods

The Division of Social Science at The Hong Kong University of Science and Technology seeks to fill several positions in Global China Studies and Quantitative Social Science.

The University is an English-speaking research university with international faculty. The Division of Social Science is highly ranked internationally.

We invite applications at all ranks (Assistant Professor/Associate Professor/Professor). Preference will be given to candidates with an active research agenda related to contemporary China and quantitative social sciences with demonstrated excellence in scholarship and in research methodology (quantitative or qualitative). Subfields are open but we are particularly interested in candidates who focus on political science, sociology, psychology and economics.

For more information about the Division, please visit <https://sosc.hkust.edu.hk>.

Applicants should have a PhD degree by the time of employment. Successful candidates are expected to teach courses at both the undergraduate and graduate levels.

Salary is competitive and will be commensurate with qualifications and experience. Fringe benefits including annual leave, medical and dental benefits will be provided. Housing benefits will also be provided where applicable. Initial appointment at Associate/Assistant Professor rank will normally be on a three-year contract, renewable subject to mutual agreement. A gratuity will be payable upon successful completion of contract.

Applicants should send a letter of interest, curriculum vitae, research statement, teaching statement, a sample publication, and teaching records electronically via Interfolio (<http://apply.interfolio.com/112648>). Associate/Assistant Professor applicants should arrange for 3 letters of recommendation to be sent via interfolio. For tenured positions, references will be solicited only after both sides agree to proceed with the process of appointment.

Review of applications will start on 13 September 2022 and the search will continue until the positions are filled.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/2/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10834

University of Rochester

Rank: Political Methodology

The Department of Political Science at the University of Rochester invites applications from candidates working in the field of political methodology, broadly defined, for a tenure-track assistant professor position, starting July 1, 2023. We encourage applicants working at the frontiers of statistics and computational social science, including but not limited to those studying causal inference, machine learning, and methods for analyzing massive or complex data.

Applications should include a letter of interest, C.V., research statement, teaching statement, letters of recommendation, samples of written work, graduate transcript and a statement of your commitment to advancing equity and fostering an inclusive and diverse community in academia, including past work and future goals. The University of Rochester is firmly committed to advancing equity and fostering an inclusive and diverse community. We ask candidates to include a statement detailing their past work and future plans for achieving these goals.

Materials should be submitted online at: www.rochester.edu/faculty-recruiting. For more information on the University of Rochester

Political Science Department go to: <http://www.sas.rochester.edu/psc/>. We will begin reviewing applications on September 23, 2022.

The University of Rochester is an Equal Opportunity Employer and actively encourages applications from candidates from groups under-represented in higher education.

Start Date: Summer 2023
Application Deadline: 9/23/2022
Date Posted: 9/2/2022
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 10836

Dartmouth College

Rank: Assistant Professor of Quantitative Social Science

The Program in Quantitative Social Science (QSS) at Dartmouth College seeks a scholar for a full-time tenure-track appointment as Assistant Professor, to be appointed as early as July 1, 2023. QSS is an interdisciplinary program that integrates modern statistical, computational, and mathematical tools with social science. Potential fields for this position include applied mathematics, demography, economics, geography, political science, sociology, or related disciplines. Applicants should have a strong computational background and be able to conduct research using modern computational methods and teach these methods at the undergraduate level. The person appointed to this position will be expected to foster cross-disciplinary connections at Dartmouth around computational methods.

To learn more about Dartmouth College and QSS, visit <http://qss.dartmouth.edu>.

QSS, and Dartmouth as a whole, are highly committed to fostering a diverse and inclusive population of students, faculty, and staff. We are especially interested in applicants who are able to work effectively with students, faculty, and staff from all backgrounds, including but not limited to: racial and ethnic minorities, women, individuals who identify with LGBTQ+ communities, individuals with disabilities, individuals from lower income backgrounds, and/or first-generation college graduates. Applicants should state in their letter of interest how their teaching, research, service, and/or life experiences prepare them to advance Dartmouth's commitments to diversity, equity, and inclusion.

Qualifications

Qualified candidates should have a Ph.D. (or be ABD with degree expected by the appointment date) in a relevant discipline, such as Applied Mathematics, Demography, Economics, Education, Geography, Political Science, or Sociology, among others.

Application Instructions

Please submit the following materials electronically via Interfolio.

- 1) Letter of interest.
- 2) Current curriculum vitae.
- 3) One writing sample that demonstrates strong applied skills in computational methods.
- 4) Three letters of recommendation.

For a complete position description, visit apply.interfolio.com/111336. Review of applications will begin on October 15, 2022, and will continue until the position is filled. Questions may be sent to the search committee chair, Brendan Nyhan, at nyhan@dartmouth.edu.

Start Date: Summer 2023
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/31/2022
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 10812

Centro de Investigacion y Docencia Economicas

Rank: Three tenure track positions (Three Assistant Professorships)

Assistant Professor Position
 Political Studies Division
 Center for Economics Research and Teaching (CIDE)
 Mexico City

The Division of Political Studies at CIDE invites applications for three tenure-track positions at its campus in Mexico City. The position is open to any topic and any subfield, however, we are interested in scholars specialized in political economy, quantitative research methods, and comparative institutions. Women and minorities are strongly encouraged to apply. While immediate fluency in Spanish is not required, the successful applicants are expected to teach classes in Spanish one year after their appointment.

CIDE is a social-science research institute, teaching graduate and undergraduate programs in small groups. The position offers a lower-than-average teaching load, as the faculty's main focus is on research publications. For more details, please contact Víctor Hernández (vic-tor.hernandez@cide.edu) or María Inclán (maria.inclan@cide.edu), who are coordinating this year's search.

Candidates should provide: (1) a short cover letter; (2) a detailed curriculum vitae; (3) a writing sample; and (4) two letters of reference. When sending your application, we ask you to please specify how did you get to know our job posting. Applications should be sent to politics.jobs@cide.edu. Review of applications will begin September 30, 2022, and job interviews will start soon thereafter. Later applications are not guaranteed full consideration. Employment would begin no later than August 2023. The successful candidates are required to hold a PhD before starting employment.

Department's website: <https://www.cide.edu/dep/>

Start Date: Fall 2023
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/30/2022
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 10760

University of California, Davis

Rank: Assistant (tenure-track) or Associate (tenured) Professor

The Department of Political Science at UC Davis, a leading R1 institution, invites applications for a position at the Assistant (tenure-track) or Associate (tenured) Professor level in Political Methodology. We seek applicants who have exceptional potential for research; who will contribute to teaching our graduate methods curriculum; who can contribute to meeting the needs of our diverse state and student population; and who can contribute to the department's efforts to promote the success, both at the undergraduate and graduate level, of historically underrepresented, socio-economically disadvantaged, and marginalized student communities. In addition to their expertise in methods, applicants are expected to have strong substantive interests. Of particular interest are candidates whose substantive interests include Identity Politics, broadly defined, though we will seriously consider all applicants with demonstrated substantive interests that complement their methods training.

Applications will be accepted on-line at <https://recruit.ucdavis.edu/JPF05136>. Candidates should upload a curriculum vitae, cover letter, a statement describing their research interests, sample publications or an article-length writing sample, a statement of Contributions to Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion, and a statement of teaching accomplishments and philosophy. Applicants will also be asked to provide three to five letters of reference through the online recruitment system. A Ph.D. or evidence that the degree would be complete by the time of the appointment start date is required. The anticipated starting date is July 1, 2023. Applications must be received by October 2, 2022 to guarantee initial full consideration, but the position will remain open until filled.

If you experience technical problems in uploading your application materials, please contact our Academic Personnel Coordinator, Angus Chang, at aychang@ucdavis.edu.

The University of California, Davis and the Department of Political Science are interested in candidates committed to the highest standards of scholarship and professional activities, and to the development of a campus climate that supports diversity, equity, and inclusion that are embedded within our Principles of Community. The University of California is an affirmative action/equal opportunity employer, and we particularly encourage applications from members of historically underrepresented racial/ethnic groups, women, individuals with disabilities, veterans, LGBTQ community members, and others who demonstrate the ability to help us achieve our vision of a diverse and inclusive community.

Start Date: Summer 2023
Application Deadline: 10/2/2022
Date Posted: 8/30/2022
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 10803

University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign

Rank: Political Institutions

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, Methodology

The Department of Political Science at the University of Illinois, Urbana-Champaign invites applications for a full-time tenure stream Assistant/ Associate/Full Professor positions with a focus on the study of political institutions, broadly defined. We anticipate considering candidates primarily from the American Politics subfield but encourage candidates from related fields whose research tackles the analysis of institutions or institutional power to apply as well. Expertise in statistical methods is desirable. Successful candidates are expected to teach effectively at both the undergraduate and graduate levels, establish and maintain an active and independent research program, and provide service to the department, the university, and the profession. We especially encourage applications from members of historically underrepresented groups in the field.

Applicants at the Assistant Professor level must demonstrate evidence of a promising research agenda and a commitment to undergraduate and graduate teaching. Applicants at the Associate/Full Professor level must have an established record in research, teaching, and service. Ph.D. in Political Science or related field required. Target start date is August 16, 2023. Salary is commensurate with rank and qualifications.

The Illinois College of Liberal Arts and Sciences is a world leader in research, teaching, and public engagement. Faculty in the College create knowledge, address critical societal needs through the transfer and application of knowledge, and prepare students for lives of impact in the state, nation, and globally. To meet these objectives, the College embraces and values diversity and difference through hiring faculty candidates who can contribute through their research, teaching, and/or service to the diversity and excellence of the Illinois community.

We have an active and successful dual-career partner placement program and a strong commitment to work-life balance and family-friendly programs for faculty and staff (<http://provost.illinois.edu/faculty-affairs/work-life-balance/>). To find out more about the resources available at the university and Urbana-Champaign community please visit these sites:

Dual Career Program
 Benefits
 Living in Champaign-Urbana

To apply, create your candidate profile through <https://jobs.illinois.edu> and upload your application materials by September 20, 2022: letter of application, CV, a representative publication, statement of teaching and research interests, and a diversity statement. The Department will contact applicants electronically 1-2 business days after submission of the application to request the names and emails for three professional references. Reference writers will be contacted after this information has been provided by the applicant. Only applications submitted through the University of Illinois Job Board will be considered. Questions about the position or application procedures may be directed to the faculty search coordinator at pol@illinois.edu.

The University of Illinois must also comply with applicable federal export control laws and regulations and, as such, reserves the right to employ restricted party screening procedures for applicants.

The University of Illinois System is an equal opportunity employer, including but not limited to disability and/or veteran status, and complies with all applicable state and federal employment mandates. Please visit Required Employment Notices and Posters to view our non-discrimination statement and find additional information about required background checks, sexual harassment/misconduct disclosures, COVID-19 vaccination requirement, and employment eligibility review through E-Verify.

Applicants with disabilities are encouraged to apply and may request a reasonable accommodation under the Americans with Disabilities Act (2008) to complete the application and/or interview process. Requests may be submitted through the reasonable accommodations portal, or by contacting the Accessibility & Accommodations Division of the Office for Access and Equity at 217-333-0885, or by emailing accessibility@illinois.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2023
Application Deadline: 9/20/2022
Date Posted: 8/23/2022
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 10759

Johns Hopkins University

Rank: Adjunct Faculty: Data Analytics and Policy

Johns Hopkins University: Zanvyl Krieger School of Arts and Sciences: Advanced Academic Programs

Description

Institution Description:

The Advanced Academic Programs (AAP) is a division of the Krieger School of Arts and Sciences at the Johns Hopkins University (JHU). As the nation's oldest and one of the most prestigious research universities, Johns Hopkins offers high-quality master's degrees and post-baccalaureate education to students in the mid-Atlantic region and online. In addition to the online programs, AAP also offers master's degrees and graduate certificate programs at its Washington, DC Center and at the Homewood campus in Baltimore, MD. AAP has approximately 18,000 enrollments each academic year. JHU is committed to hiring candidates who, through their teaching and service, will contribute to the diversity and excellence of the academic community.

Position Description:

The Advanced Academic Programs (AAP) division seeks non-tenure track adjunct faculty to teach one of several courses within the Master of Science in Data Analytics and Policy program. Specifically, we are seeking instructors qualified to teach Probability and Statistics (470.681), Programming and Data Management (470.768), Quantitative Methods (470.709), or Data Visualization (470.673). The course(s) will be taught fully online beginning in the spring 2023 semester. Candidates with online course development and teaching experience and those with experience teaching and engaging students from diverse backgrounds are of particular interest.

These four courses are part of the core curriculum in the Data Analytics and Policy program. The courses introduce learners to statistical analysis and programming using R. Topics include probability theory, descriptive statistics, data visualization, research design for causal inference, and linear regression analysis. Full course descriptions and an overview of our full curriculum are available on the program website. The program has course templates for each course from which the candidate will teach. Faculty duties include supporting student learning, evaluating student work, and working with the Program Director to revise and update course materials as needed.

These courses are taught on a regular basis with semester-length contracts. Adjunct faculty may be included in future course development projects.

Qualifications

Minimum Qualifications:

- Master's degree with training in quantitative statistical methods (e.g., political science, sociology, business analytics, economics, geography, public policy, psychology, or similar)
- Demonstrated experience doing original work using R for programming, data visualization, and statistical analysis

Preferred Qualifications:

- A terminal degree with training in quantitative statistical methods (e.g., political science, sociology, business analytics, economics, geography, public policy, psychology, or similar)
- 1-3 years of graduate level teaching experience
- Online teaching experience
- Training in statistical programming and analysis using Python

- Professional experience in applied statistics, predictive modeling, machine learning, database management, and related data science topics

Application Instructions:

The position(s) will remain open until filled. For best consideration, please apply by September 16, 2022.

Candidates must submit the following:

- Cover letter
- Curriculum vitae
- Teaching evaluations for two most recently taught courses, if applicant has teaching experience
- Professional or academic references

The selected candidate will be expected to undergo a background check and to submit proof of educational attainment.

Submit your application online only at <http://apply.interfolio.com/112053> using the "Apply Now" button.

Start Date: Spring 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/22/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10751

George Washington University

Rank: Postdoctoral Associate

The George Washington University Political Science Department is seeking an exceptional candidate for a full-time, academic research position at the rank of postdoctoral associate. The term of this position is one year beginning in July 2023. The researcher will work on topics broadly related to online hate and extremism, using computational and statistical methods. Substantive interest in social media research is particularly welcomed. Candidates with experience using machine learning and natural-language processing tools are especially encouraged to apply.

The postdoctoral associate will work closely with Professor Yonatan Lupu, while also engaging with other participating researchers in the GW Dynamic Online Networks Lab. The successful candidate will be expected to contribute to all parts of the research process, including design, implementation, manuscript preparation, and presentation of results.

Minimum Qualifications: Qualified candidates will hold a Doctoral degree. Degree must be conferred by the start date of the position.

Preferred Qualifications:

- * PhD in fields including political science, computational social science, computer science, social psychology, complex systems, judgment and decision-making, social network analysis, or other related fields
- * Completion of upper level (undergraduate) and/or graduate level coursework involving computer programming.
- * Fluency in one or more of the following requested: R, Python, and similar languages.
- * A successful candidate will have familiarity with both social science and computational science, though not necessarily mastery of both.

* Strong communication skills

*The ability to work in a highly collaborative and interdisciplinary environment

Application Procedure: To apply please complete an online application at <https://www.gwu.jobs/postings/95138> and upload a cover letter, curriculum vitae, statement of research interest, samples of written work, and names and contact information of three professional references. Review of applications will begin on September 15, 2022, and will continue until the position is filled. Only complete applications will be considered.

Please direct all questions to Prof. Yonatan Lupu at ylupu@gwu.edu.

The university is an Equal Employment Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer that does not unlawfully discriminate in any of its programs or activities on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, national origin, age, disability, veteran status, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, or on any other basis prohibited by applicable law.

The university and department have a strong commitment to achieving diversity among faculty and staff. We strongly encourage women and persons of color to apply.

Employment offers are contingent on the satisfactory outcome of a standard background screening.

Start Date: Summer 2023

Application Deadline: 9/15/2022

Date Posted: 8/18/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10721

Ohio State University

Rank: Quantitative Political Methodology

Description:

The Department of Political Science at The Ohio State University seeks to hire a tenure-track assistant professor with expertise in quantitative political methodology. We encourage applicants with innovative approaches to studying methodological or theoretically substantive questions, including but not limited to the use of novel, massive, or complex data, and original techniques for causal inference or machine learning. Candidates must show promise of excellence in research and teaching and potential for attracting external funding. The successful candidate will join a collaborative faculty and have opportunities to build connections with strong departments, centers and institutes across the university, including the Translational Data Analytics Institute and the Institute for Population Research.

Qualifications:

Candidates should demonstrate a record of publications and provide evidence of accomplishments in teaching and mentorship. Responsibilities of the position include maintaining a robust research program, including actively seeking external funding, contributing to graduate and undergraduate teaching and mentoring, and engaged service to the university and the profession. The position will begin in the fall of 2023. Salary will be commensurate with the candidate's experience and qualifications. Applicants must have completed all doctoral degree requirements by the time of their appointment. Appointment is contingent on the university's verification of credentials and other information required by law and/or university policies, including but not limited to a criminal background check. Successful candidates will have a demonstrated commitment towards social equity, diversity, and inclusion. For more information, contact Professor William Minozzi, at Minozzi.1@osu.edu.

About Columbus:

The Ohio State University campus is located in Columbus, the capital city of Ohio. Columbus is the Midwest's fastest-growing city and the nation's 14th largest city. Columbus offers a diverse array of welcoming neighborhoods and a vibrant arts and culture scene. Additional information about all that the Columbus area has to offer is available at <https://visit.osu.edu/experience>.

Application Instructions:

The review of applications will begin on September 15th. Applications will be evaluated as they are received and will be accepted until the positions are filled. To apply, please send a cover letter, curriculum vitae, research statement, teaching statement, diversity statement, job market paper, up to three other papers or chapters, an unofficial graduate transcript, and three professional letters of reference to Academic Jobs Online at <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/22324>. The diversity statement should articulate your demonstrated commitments and capacities to contribute to diversity, equity, and inclusion through research, teaching, mentoring, and/or outreach and engagement.

The Ohio State University is committed to enhancing academic excellence. Recruiting, supporting, and retaining faculty of the highest caliber is a core component of this commitment. In support of this, The Office of Academic Affairs (OAA) has created the Office of Dual Careers and Faculty Relocation (DCFR) to focus on supporting new and prospective faculty. This support includes dual careers services, consultation and resources related to relocation, as well as identifying opportunities to engage on campus and the surrounding community. While employment opportunities are not guaranteed, resources and consultation are available to support the partners of new and prospective faculty as they are considering Ohio State and throughout their transition.

The Ohio State University is committed to establishing a culturally and intellectually diverse environment, encouraging all members of our learning community to reach their full potential. Over the next few years, The Ohio State University is committed to welcoming 350 new faculty hires, many of which will contribute to growing our role as a premier research university equipped to answer and interrogate the critical domestic and global societal challenges that deter equality and inclusion. We are responsive to dual-career families and strongly promote work-life balance to support our community members through a suite of institutionalized policies.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/18/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10727

Central European University

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow Position in Horizon Europe CCIN-DLE Project on Feminist Responses to Anti-Gender and Anti-Democratic Forces

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Methodology, Public Policy

Specializations: Normative Political Theory, Social Movements, Gender Politics & Policy

Starting date: October/November 2022, exact date negotiable

Application deadline: Review of applications will start 31 August 2022

Full- Or Part-Time: Full-time for 36 months, possibility of extension for 10 more months, part-time
Location: Budapest

The Democracy Institute at CEU invites applications for a full-time Postdoctoral Research Fellow position within the framework of the Horizon Europe research project CCINDLE (Co-Creating Inclusive Intersectional Democratic Spaces Across Europe). The CEU team is led by Senior Research Fellow Andrea Krizsan (https://people.ceu.edu/andrea_krizsan).

The CCINDLE Project

This project aims to contribute to strengthening and re-invigorating European democracies by building on the assumption that feminist theories and activism are essential sources of both resistance to anti-gender discourses and politics, and to re-kindling citizens' engagement with democratic institutions and values. We also build on the recognition that addressing the increasing challenges posed to Western democracies require a combination of excellent academic research and well-informed practical solutions which: a) are feminist, anti-homophobic and anti-racist, b) could efficiently support high quality democratic governance, c) may create a push-back against authoritarian and anti-gender efforts.

By conducting research in seven European countries with different social and political backgrounds, and at the EU level, the project aims to:

- Deepen our understanding of the state of democracy in Europe, especially on core challenges it faces in different political and social contexts related to the principles of inclusion and participation, and as a result of anti-gender/anti-LGBTQ movements.
- Identify and analyze different feminist responses that are a) present in theories, b) worked out within feminist movements, c) provided via feminist cooperation with formal institutions to anti-democratic trends and to the anti-gender forces.
- Identify specific tools and practical approaches, which in specific political and social contexts could lead to strengthening democracy, gender equality, and intersectional justice.
- Facilitate putting these tools and approaches into practice to support actors that embrace the twin goals of promoting equality and strengthening democracy, through co-creating actions with selected movement and institutional actors, with feminist and pro-democratic media, with universities as prominent actors in the politics of knowledge, and with philanthropic organizations promoting democracy and feminism.

Project partners:

- Mieke Verloo, RADBOUD UNIVERSITEIT NL, Coordinator
- Johanna Kantola, UNIVERSITY OF HELSINKI FI
- Andrea Krizsan, CENTRAL EUROPEAN UNIVERSITY HU
- Emanuela Lombardo, UNIVERSIDAD COMPLUTENSE DE MADRID ES
- Petra Meier, UNIVERSITEIT ANTWERPEN BE
- Conny Roggeband, UNIVERSITEIT VAN AMSTERDAM NL
- Elena Pavan, UNIVERSITA DEGLI STUDI DI TRENTO IT
- Marta Rawluzsko, UNIWERSYTET WARSZAWSKI PL
- Elzbieta Korolczuk, SODERTORNS HOGSKOLA SE
- Akwugo Emejulu, UNIVERSITY OF WARWICK, UK
- Olivia Ianelli, TRILATERAL RESEARCH LTD UK

Duties and responsibilities:

The Postdoctoral Research Fellow will be expected to contribute to the development of the CCINDLE project's methodological, theoretical, and empirical tasks. The researcher will engage in both collaborative and autonomous research work of collecting and analyzing data on anti-gender campaigns, and feminist movements and institutional actors' responses to anti-gender and antidemocratic forces in Hungary and comparatively in Europe. The research work will be aimed at the preparation, drafting and submission of research reports to the European Commission, submission of high-quality publications, and organization of social impact activities in co-creation with civil society and institutions in Hungary and at the European level.

Skills and qualifications:

- PhD in Political science, Gender studies, Sociology, Human Rights or related discipline (to be defended within max 6 months after the application but no longer than 3 years before the application).
- Experience in qualitative (interviews, focus groups, policy frame analysis) research methodologies and analysis and preferably some knowledge of quantitative (online survey) methodologies.
- Excellent written and spoken language skills in both English and Hungarian.
- Some background knowledge on the politics of inequality is required. Specific experience in gender and politics research, feminist movements, intersectionality, gender equality policies and institutions, gender and democracy, antigender campaigns, and feminist organizations is an asset.
- Strong interest in academic research, ideally proven through international publications and/or collaboration in research projects.
- Ability to work effectively, both independently and collaboratively, in an international team.

What we offer

- A three-year full-time appointment (employment contract with benefits for 36 months) based in the Budapest campus, with a possibility of extension for another 10 months part-time.
- Integration in the CCINDLE research team, with excellent opportunities for international networking with top scholars on gender and politics in Europe and relevant civil society actors at national and European level.
- Integration in the Inequalities and Democracy research group of the Democracy Institute in Budapest, including professional mentoring by lead researchers.
- Competitive salary with full benefit package depending on university personnel rules and research experience.

How to apply:

Applicants need to submit:

- an up-to-date CV
- motivation letter explaining how your research profile and interests relate to the project and what could be your contribution to the CCINDLE team
- a writing sample (preferably single-authored publications)
- names and contact details of two scholars who could supply recommendation letters

Please send your complete application package as one single pdf file to: advert055@ceu.edu - including the job code in the subject line: 2022/055.

Informal inquiries can be addressed to the CEU team lead researcher of the project, Andrea Krizsan at krizsana@ceu.edu.

The applications will be processed starting August 31, 2022. Start date of employment: October/November 2022.

The privacy of your personal information is very important to us. We collect, use, and store your personal information in accordance with the requirements of the applicable data privacy rules, including specifically the General Data Protection Regulation. To learn more about how we manage your personal data during the recruitment process, please see our Privacy Notice at: <https://www.ceu.edu/recruitment-privacy-notice>.

CEU is an equal opportunity employer and values geographical and gender diversity, thus encouraging applications from women and/or other underrepresented groups and taking into consideration geographical diversity, as well. Since CEU strives to increase the share of women in professorial positions, given equal qualifications, preference will be given to female applicants.

CEU recognizes that personal and family circumstances shape the trajectory of one's career and working patterns. As such, and in line with CEU's promotion of Equal Opportunities, we encourage applicants to detail periods of leave, part-time work or other such situations in their applications so that the Search Committee is able to assess an applicant's academic record fairly in the context of their circumstances. Any declaration of personal and family circumstances is voluntary and will be handled confidentially and only considered in so far as it impacts on the academic career of an applicant.

CEU is strongly committed to the promotion of gender equality and equal opportunities within our institution. Previous training, work experience and/or engagement with matters of equality, diversity and inclusion at the organizational level will be an asset.

About CEU

Central European University (CEU) is a research-intensive university specializing in the social sciences, humanities, law, public policy and management. It is accredited in the United States, Austria and Hungary. CEU's mission is to promote academic excellence, state-of-the-art research, research-based teaching and learning and civic engagement, in order to contribute to the development of open societies. CEU offers bachelor's, master's and doctoral programs and enrolls more than 1,400 students from over 100 countries. The teaching staff consists of resident faculty from over 50 countries and prominent visiting scholars from around the world. The language of instruction is English.

For more information, please visit <https://www.ceu.edu/>.

About the Democracy Institute

The Democracy Institute, based in Budapest, strives to enable the renewal and strengthening of democratic and open societies through world-class research, collaboration across academic and professional disciplines, teaching and the free exchange of ideas, and public engagement on a local, regional, and global scale. For more information, please visit <https://democracyinstitute.ceu.edu>.

Start Date: Fall 2022

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/12/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10680

Copenhagen Business School

Rank: Postdoc in Business and Government

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Public Policy, Methodology

Call for expression of interest

Postdoc in Business and Government at the Department of International Economics, Government and Business (EGB) at Copenhagen Business School (CBS).

EGB invites expressions of interest for a vacant position for a four-year postdoc in Business and Government. You should hold, or be close to completing, a PhD in Political Science, Political Economy, or a related field. The postdoc is a four-year position with a 25% teaching load. The postdoc will be part of the project "Tycoon Candidates: Why Wealthy Business Candidates Get Elected for Office and How it Matters". The project is led by professor (mso) Mogens K. Justesen and funded by the Independent Research Fund Denmark. The postdoc will be based at the Department of International Economics, Government and Business (EGB).

The project

The "Tycoon Candidate" project consists of two work packages. Work package I examines why ordinary voters – including low-income groups – sometimes support wealthy businesspeople running for office in democratic elections. Work package II moves on to examine how the election of businesspeople for political offices matters for the firms they are connected to and public policies provided to voters and the wider society.

The postdoc will conduct work on Work Package I, which involves research on voter support for wealthy business candidates. To this end, the postdoc will be involved in designing, implementing and analysing two large-scale surveys with survey experiments in South Africa and Ukraine – which will constitute the empirical backbone of the research and articles for Work Package I. It is essential that applicants have strong research potential within the area of the project. It is also essential that applicants have excellent skills in quantitative methods, particularly the design and analysis of surveys and survey experiments (including conjoint experiments).

The postdoc will be part of a team conducting research within the project. Strong abilities to work on research in a team and collaborate/co-author with other team members are essential for the position. A certain amount of travelling and field work in connection with the project should be expected.

The department

EGB is a multidisciplinary department, which conducts high-quality research in the fields of political science and international business with direct relevance to business, policy-makers and the public.

The department has two principal focus areas of research: 'Business & Government' and 'International Business'. Business & Government is rooted in the disciplines of political science and political economy. International Business includes both the disciplines of international economics and international management. EGB conducts research within these principal focus areas and their interfaces and is uniquely positioned to generate research at the intersection of these two focus areas.

Research in the fields of Business & Government and Political Economy at the department is informed by a range of theoretical and methodological traditions in Political Science. Faculty combine an emphasis on methodological excellence with a drive for empirical impact and relevance and a keen sensitivity to the broader societal contexts in which firm and government activity is situated.

While societal challenges are inherently changing and dynamic, at present, research at the department resonates with seven challenges in particular: (1) Inequality; (2) Technological change and digital transformation; (3) Regulating societal transformations; (4) The ethical MNE; (5) Emerging markets and rise of Asia; (6) Business, global shifts and policy challenges; and (7) Business and democracy.

Non-exhaustive examples of research areas that the postdoc may cover:

- Political behavior and voter support for business candidates
- Survey design and experimental methods
- Political economy of development
- Business-government relations
- Money in politics

The postdoc will have a 25% teaching obligation. Much of EGB's teaching is affiliated with the BSc/MSc in International Business and Politics (IBP); the BSc/MSc in International Business (IB); and the BSc in International Business in Asia (IBA).

To learn more about the research and education profile of the department, please visit the departmental homepage; <https://bit.ly/2NPRlwB>

Candidates who are available for a physical interview during the 2022 APSA meeting, 15-18 September, 2022, should send an expression of interest, CV, and job market paper, following the guideline; see link to online form here <https://bit.ly/3JM0o0x>

There is no requirement for reference letters. The deadline for submitting an expression of interest is September 7, 2022.

We encourage women and members of underrepresented communities to apply.

Starting date: Flexible, preferably Spring 2023.

For further information regarding the project, please contact professor (mso) Mogens K. Justesen (mkj.egb@cbs.dk).

For further information regarding the department, please visit the EGB website or contact Head of Department Jens Gammelgaard (jg.egb@cbs.dk).

Informal job talks will be carried out by Mogens K. Justesen and Jens Gammelgaard, and relevant colleague(s).

Start Date: Summer 2023

Application Deadline: 9/7/2022

Date Posted: 8/10/2022

Salary: $70,000 - $79,999

eJobs ID: 10659

American Civil Liberties Union

Rank: Social Science Fellow, Voting Rights

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Policy, Methodology

Specializations: Electoral Systems, Civil Rights & Liberties, American Politics

ABOUT THE JOB

The ACLU seeks a full-time Social Science Fellow, Voting Rights for a period of 18 months in the Analytics Department of the ACLU's National office in New York, NY/ Remote*.

ACLU Analytics partners with teams across the organization to enable the ACLU to make smart, evidence-based decisions and bring quantitative insights on our issues to the courtroom and the public. Our team's work ranges from social science research for litigation & advocacy, to analysis & reporting for fundraising and engagement, to building and maintaining our data infrastructure. We strive to ensure the ACLU leads by example in the ethical use of data and technology. This includes maintaining our privacy and security standards, pushing for transparent data practices from government and corporate actors, and helping to steward high standards for algorithmic fairness, accountability, and transparency.

Reporting to the Director, Legal Analytics & Quantitative Research, the Social Science Fellow will use data analysis and quantitative social science techniques to defend voting rights and democracy in the courts and on the ballot. Working in close partnership with ACLU Voting Rights Attorneys, organizers, and affiliates, you will shape research questions, conduct descriptive and causal analyses, review expert reports, and translate quantitative findings into recommendations for litigators, policymakers and judges. Your analyses will push for fair maps, fight voter suppression, and identify areas for expansion of voter access.

*Note: this position may be approved for remote work from a different U.S. location

RESPONSIBILITIES

You will be part of the Legal Analytics & Quantitative Research team, and work with team members across Analytics as well as stakeholders in our Legal, Political Advocacy, Digital, and Communications teams. Below is a sampling of projects you can expect to dive into:

Combine Census demographic data, legislative district maps, and election results to create powerful voting rights datasets

Review quantitative expert reports and depositions and provide recommendations to colleagues and co-counsel

Identify, evaluate, acquire, and integrate new Census data products and electoral results

Implement district simulation analyses and statistical methods such as ecological inference to inform litigation and advocacy efforts

Develop quantitative research analyses and literature reviews that support ACLU litigation and advocacy

Support the legal analytics team on other high-priority civil rights cases, including disparate impact claims in criminal justice, housing, or employment

Identify new opportunities for the ACLU's proactive voter protection efforts

Engage in special projects and other duties as assigned

Center principles of equity, inclusion, and belonging in all work, embedding the values in program development, policy application, and organizational practices and processes

Commitment to the mission of the ACLU

Demonstrate a commitment to diversity within the office using a personal approach that values all individuals and respects differences in regards to race, ethnicity, age, gender identity and expression, sexual orientation, religion, disability and socio-economic circumstance

Commitment to work collaboratively and respectfully toward resolving obstacles and/or conflicts

EXPERIENCE & QUALIFICATIONS

Substantial training and applied experience in a quantitative social science, such as Economics, Political Science, or equivalent

Fluency in R, Python, or comparable statistical programming language

Experience providing timely feedback on statistical analyses, for example in reviewing expert reports or peer-reviewing journal articles

Experience designing and evaluating causal inference research studies

Ability to clearly translate technical concepts for a non-technical audience

The ideal candidate will have a passion for the ACLU, civil liberties and civil rights, with an emphasis on voting rights and redistricting in particular

PREFERRED QUALIFICATIONS

Two+ years of graduate-level work or research in US voting and elections, or equivalent work experience

Experience using ecological inference, simulation analyses, and other social science methods to analyze voting patterns in redistricting

Experience working directly with US Census data products and precinct-level electoral return data

Experience using statistical techniques for causal identification in observational or experimental research, either in an academic or applied legal setting

Experience with Geographic Information Systems (GIS) software and spatial data, or mapping software for redistricting (e.g. Maptitude for Redistricting)

COMPENSATION

The annual salary for this position is $122,576 (Level F). This salary is reflective of a position based in New York, NY. This salary will be subject to a locality adjustment (according to a specific city and state), if an authorization is granted to work outside of the location listed in this posting. Note that most of the salaries listed on our job postings reflect New York, NY salaries, where our National offices are headquartered.

ABOUT THE ACLU

The ACLU dares to create a more perfect union – beyond one person, party, or side. Our mission is to realize this promise of the United States Constitution for all and expand the reach of its guarantees.

For over 100 years, the ACLU has worked to defend and preserve the individual rights and liberties guaranteed by the Constitution and laws of the United States. Whether it's ending mass incarceration, achieving full equality for the LGBTQ+ community, establishing new privacy protections for our digital age, or preserving the right to vote or the right to have an abortion, the ACLU takes up the toughest civil liberties cases and issues to defend all people from government abuse and overreach.

Equity, diversity, and inclusion are core values of the ACLU and central to our work to advance liberty, equality, and justice for all. We are a community committed to learning and growth, humility and grace, transparency and accountability. We believe in a collective responsibility to create a culture of belonging for all people within our organization – one that respects and embraces difference; treats everyone equitably; and empowers our colleagues to do the best work possible. We are as committed to anti-oppression and anti-racism internally as we are externally. Because whether we're in the courts or in the office, we believe 'We the People' means all of us.

The ACLU is an equal opportunity employer. We value a diverse workforce and an inclusive culture. The ACLU encourages applications from all qualified individuals without regard to race, color, religion, gender, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, age, national origin, marital status, citizenship, disability, veteran status and record of arrest or conviction, or any other characteristic protected by applicable law. Black people, Indigenous people, people of color; lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender, queer, and intersex people; women; people with disabilities, protected veterans, and formerly incarcerated individuals are all strongly encouraged to apply.

The ACLU makes every effort to assure that its recruitment and employment provide all qualified persons, including persons with disabilities, with full opportunities for employment in all positions.

The ACLU is committed to providing reasonable accommodation to individuals with disabilities. If you are a qualified individual with a disability and need assistance applying online, please email benefits.hrdept@aclu.org. If you are selected for an interview, you will receive additional information regarding how to request an accommodation for the interview process.

The Department of Education has determined that employment in this position at the ACLU does not qualify for the Public Service Loan Forgiveness Program.

Start Date: Fall 2022

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/9/2022

Salary: $120,000 - $129,999

eJobs ID: 10641

Teachers College, Columbia University

Rank: Assistant/Associate Professor, Politics & Education, Education Policy & Social Analysis Department

Assistant/Associate Professor, Politics & Education, Education Policy & Social Analysis Department

Posting Summary:

The Department of Education Policy & Social Analysis (EPSA) at Teachers College, Columbia University is seeking a tenure-track assistant or associate professor who studies education within the disciplinary framework of political science. The person we hire will conduct original research and distill important ideas and evidence from political science to improve understanding of how contests over power and authority, and ideas about democracy and governance, affect how societies produce and distribute educational opportunities and with what consequences for whom. We are particularly interested in scholarship on the politics of inequality, and the distribution of resources and opportunities to members of historically underrepresented and minoritized groups. We will consider applicants whose research is primarily qualitative, primarily quantitative, or mixed methods in design, but we value those who are conversant in a range of empirical approaches. While we expect the person we hire would have a primary focus on the U.S., we'd also value work that draws connections across national and cultural contexts.

Job Summary/Basic Function:

The Department of Education Policy & Social Analysis (EPSA) at Teachers College, Columbia University is seeking a tenure-track assistant or associate professor who studies education within the disciplinary framework of political science. The person we hire will conduct original research and distill important ideas and evidence from political science to improve understanding of how contests over power and authority, and ideas about democracy and governance, affect how societies produce and distribute educational opportunities and with what consequences for whom. We are particularly interested in scholarship on the politics of inequality, and the distribution of resources and opportunities to members of historically underrepresented and minoritized groups. We will consider applicants whose research is primarily qualitative, primarily quantitative, or mixed methods in design, but we value those who are conversant in a range of empirical approaches. While we expect the person we hire would have a primary focus on the U.S., we'd also value work that draws connections across national and cultural contexts.

EPSA includes programs in Economics and Education, Politics and Education, Sociology and Education, and Education Policy. For more information on EPSA, see <https://www.tc.columbia.edu/education-policy-and-social-analysis>. Faculty and students work closely and collaboratively across programs. The Department's 13 tenure-track faculty, four research professors and two professors of practice draw upon multiple disciplinary perspectives, including law, sociology, economics, and political science, to explore education policies and practices across the pre-K to higher education spectrum. Outside of the institution, our faculty and students also benefit from the rich cultural, policy, and intellectual environment of New York City.

Responsibilities: Teach graduate courses in the politics of education at the local, state, and national level. Maintain an active research and publications profile. Play a leadership role in, and likely serve as director of, a program in which students can pursue a Master's or a Ph.D. in politics & education. Participate in administration and development activities. Work collegially with students and faculty within EPSA, finding and building upon common research and intellectual interests. This tenure-track Assistant or Associate Professor position begins September 1, 2023. The standard teaching load is four courses per academic year.

Minimum Qualifications:

Earned doctorate in political science, public policy, education policy or directly related field; evidence of scholarly accomplishments and likelihood of future productivity; promise or history of external research support.

Preferred Qualifications:

The department is especially interested in candidates who will contribute to the diversity and excellence of our academic community.

To apply, please visit: <https://apptrkr.com/3295109>

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 9/14/2022

Date Posted: 8/4/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10617

Texas A&M University

Rank: Tenure-Track, Assistant Professor in International Affairs

The Department of International Affairs in the Bush School of Government and Public Service at Texas A&M University invites applications and nominations for a full-time, 9 month tenure-track, assistant professor position in International Affairs with skill in quantitative methodology.

The successful candidate will be expected to teach more than one section of the required course in introductory-level quantitative methods for master's degree students. We are open to a candidate's area of international affairs specialization. Candidates with research focus on international relations, comparative politics, and international development are encouraged to apply. We have a preference for candidates who would also be able to teach more advanced quantitative or qualitative methods courses.

Bush School faculty teach master's degree graduate students in international affairs and a new undergraduate program in international affairs in a standard 2-2 load. Additional information about the Bush School and department is available at <http://bush.tamu.edu>.

Applicants must have a Ph.D. in Political Science, International Relations, or a related discipline by September 2023. The individual selected will have demonstrated a strong commitment to teaching and research in the context of a public policy graduate school environment. The start date for this position will be August 1, 2023.

Applicants should upload a formal letter of interest that includes reference to the position, a curriculum vitae, a sample of written work, along with three letters of recommendation, to: <http://apply.interfolio.com/109233>.

Contact: Peg Hosea (979) 458-2276 or plhosea@tamu.edu

The review of applications will begin September 20, 2022, and will continue until the position is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/4/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10611

University of Toronto

Rank: Associate Professor in Canadian Politics

The Department of Political Science in the Faculty of Arts and Science at the University of Toronto invites applications for a full-time tenure stream position in the area of Canadian Politics. The appointment will be at the rank of Associate Professor, with an expected start date of July 1, 2023, or shortly thereafter.

Applicants must have earned a PhD degree in Political Science or a related discipline, with a clearly demonstrated record of excellence in research and teaching. We seek candidates whose research focuses on Canadian Politics. The successful candidate will be expected to promote the study of Canadian Politics within the Department and to provide intellectual and administrative leadership in this area, including through graduate supervision. Candidates must be prepared to teach core courses in Canadian Politics at both undergraduate and graduate levels. The area of specialization within Canadian Politics is open, as are theoretical and methodological approaches.

We seek candidates whose research and teaching interests complement and deepen our existing departmental strengths. The successful candidate will undertake undergraduate and graduate teaching responsibilities on the University of Toronto's downtown (St. George) campus. Applicants are encouraged to review the research and teaching profiles of current faculty members. Please visit our home page (Department of Political Science <https://politics.utoronto.ca>) to learn more about us.

The successful candidate will be expected to pursue innovative and independent research at the highest international level and to establish an outstanding, competitive, and externally funded research program. Candidates must provide evidence of research excellence which can be demonstrated by the submitted research statement, a record of publications in top-ranked and field relevant journals, presentations at significant conferences, and distinguished awards and accolades and other noteworthy activities that contribute to the visibility and prominence of the discipline, as well as strong endorsements from referees of high standing.

Evidence of excellence in teaching will be provided through teaching accomplishments, the teaching dossier (with required materials outlined below) submitted as part of the application, as well as strong letters of reference.

Candidates are also expected to show evidence of a commitment to equity, diversity, inclusion, and the promotion of a respectful and collegial learning and working environment demonstrated through the application materials.

Salary will be commensurate with qualifications and experience.

All qualified candidates are invited to apply online by clicking the link below. Applicants must submit a cover letter; a current curriculum vitae; a research statement outlining current and future research interests; a recent writing sample of no more than 30 pages; and a teaching dossier to include a teaching statement, sample course materials, and teaching evaluations. Equity and diversity are essential to academic excellence. We seek candidates who value diversity and whose research, teaching and service bear out our commitment to equity. Candidates are therefore also asked to submit a 1-2 page statement of their contributions to equity and diversity, which might cover (but need not be limited to): research or teaching that incorporates a focus on underrepresented communities, the development of inclusive pedagogies, or the mentoring of students from underrepresented groups.

Applicants must provide the name and contact information of three references. The University of Toronto's recruiting tool will automatically solicit and collect letters of reference from each after an application is submitted (this happens overnight). Applicants remain responsible for ensuring that references submit letters (on letterhead, dated and signed) by the closing date.

Submission guidelines can be found at <http://uoft.me/how-to-apply>. Your CV and cover letter should be uploaded into the dedicated fields. Please combine additional application materials into one or two files in PDF/MS Word format. If you have any questions about this position, please contact Sari Sherman at chair.polisci@utoronto.ca.

All application materials, including reference letters, must be received by September 15, 2022.

All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply; however, Canadians and permanent residents will be given priority.

Diversity Statement

The University of Toronto is strongly committed to diversity within its community and especially welcomes applications from racialized persons / persons of colour, women, Indigenous / Aboriginal People of North America, persons with disabilities, LGBTQ2S+ persons, and others who may contribute to the further diversification of ideas.

As part of your application, you will be asked to complete a brief Diversity Survey. This survey is voluntary. Any information directly related to you is confidential and cannot be accessed by search committees or human resources staff. Results will be aggregated for institutional planning purposes. For more information, please see <http://uoft.me/UP>.

Accessibility Statement

The University strives to be an equitable and inclusive community, and proactively seeks to increase diversity among its community members. Our values regarding equity and diversity are linked with our unwavering commitment to excellence in the pursuit of our academic mission.

The University is committed to the principles of the Accessibility for Ontarians with Disabilities Act (AODA). As such, we strive to make our recruitment, assessment and selection processes as accessible as possible and provide accommodations as required for applicants with disabilities.

If you require any accommodations at any point during the application and hiring process, please contact uoft.careers@utoronto.ca.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 9/15/2022

Date Posted: 8/3/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10604

Harvard University

Rank: Senior Lecturer in Quantitative Methods

The Government Department seeks applications for a full-time Senior Lecturer in quantitative methods. The appointment is expected to begin on July 1, 2023. The senior lecturer will be responsible for teaching three courses over the academic year, advising undergraduate senior theses, and helping to administer the undergraduate data science program. This is a five-year position that is renewable contingent on performance, enrollments, and curricular needs.

Basic Qualifications: Candidates must have demonstrated that they are exceptional teachers and have taught within the tenured associate or full professor ranks at a university or peer undergraduate institution, with a commensurate scholarly record. They are required to have a Ph.D. in quantitative methods or related discipline.

Additional Qualifications: The position also requires evidence of effective teaching of introductory undergraduate methods courses.

Special Instructions: Please submit the following materials through the ARIES portal (<https://academicpositions.harvard.edu>). Candidates are encouraged to apply by October 1; applications will be reviewed until the position is filled.

1. Cover letter
2. Curriculum Vitae
3. A teaching/advising statement that describes the candidate's philosophy and practices related to undergraduate teaching and advising.
4. Research statement
5. Statement describing efforts to encourage diversity, inclusion, and belonging, including past, current, and anticipated future contributions in these areas.
6. Names and contact information of 3-5 references, who will be asked by a system-generated email to upload a letter of recommendation once the candidate's application has been submitted. Three letters of recommendation are required, and the application is considered complete only when at least three letters have been received.

Start Date: Summer 2023

Application Deadline: 10/1/2022

Date Posted: 8/1/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10564

Massachusetts Institute of Technology

Rank: Postdoctoral Associate

POSTDOCTORAL ASSOCIATE, Political Science, to join a National Science Foundation-funded computational social science research project with Professor In Song Kim. The project focuses on using computational methods to examine special interest group politics and trade politics in the U.S. Responsibilities include analyzing lobbying and campaign donation data and developing/maintaining a large-scale money in politics database. The team is currently developing novel computational methods for social science research, such as community detection and graphical neural network methods to infer political networks; and NLP methods to investigate congressional bill writing and entity disambiguation. The position offers an opportunity to engage in independent research projects according to the candidate's substantive research interests/background.

Job Requirements

REQUIRED: Ph.D. (or an anticipated Ph.D. completion by May 2023) in and research experience with computational social science, political science, computer science, economics, or a related field; ability to work independently with general supervision and as part of a team; experience working with remote servers (Linux CLI, AWS); Python/Git development skills; and knowledge of SQL and relational database modeling.

PREFERRED: experience with data-driven social sciences; experience with large-scale data handling; knowledge of Postgres.

Visa support provided

A complete application should include (as a single PDF) a cover letter that includes your earliest preferred start date, a curriculum vitae, and a two-to-four-page research statement. Please send that by email to insong@mit.edu. The subject line should be MIT Postdoctoral Associate Application. Applications will be reviewed as they are received, and the position will remain open until filled.

There is a targeted start date of May 2023 (though there may be flexibility to start earlier or later). It is a one-year term appointment with the possibility of renewal based on funding and performance.

Start Date: Spring 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/26/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10534

Washington University in St. Louis

Rank: Assistant, Associate, or Full Professor in International Relations

The Department of Political Science at Washington University in St. Louis invites applications for three tenure-track/tenured faculty appointments at the rank of assistant, associate, or full professor in international relations. For all appointments we seek scholars with research interests in international political economy or conflict studies. For one of these appointments, we are also seeking a scholar whose primary publication record demonstrates a commitment to formal theory. The appointment is to begin in the fall semester of 2023. A Ph.D. in Political Science or a closely related field is required at the time of appointment. Candidates for associate or full professor should have an outstanding publication, teaching, and service record commensurate with tenure at that rank. Duties for all positions will include teaching courses at the undergraduate and graduate level, conducting and publishing research, advising undergraduate and graduate students, and participating in department and university governance.

Application materials should include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, statement of research and teaching interests, at least three letters of reference (for untenured applicants), writing samples, and other relevant materials.

The application deadline is October 1, 2022. All applications and supporting documentation should be submitted electronically through Interfolio (<http://apply.interfolio.com/110471>). If you encounter difficulties with the application process or have any other questions, please email Heather Sloan-Randick at hsloanra@wustl.edu.

Washington University in St. Louis is committed to the principles and practices of equal employment opportunity and especially encourages applications by those underrepresented in their academic fields. It is the University's policy to recruit, hire, train, and promote persons in all job titles without regard to race, color, age, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, national origin, protected veteran status, disability, or genetic information.

Each year Washington University publishes a Safety and Security brochure that details what to do and whom to contact in an emergency. This report also publishes the federally required annual security and fire safety reports, containing campus crime and fire statistics as well as key university policies and procedures. You may access the Safety and Security brochure at <https://police.wustl.edu/clery-reports-logs/>.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 10/1/2022

Date Posted: 7/26/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10536

Oklahoma State University

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of Political Science at Oklahoma State University invites applications for a tenure-track assistant professor position to begin in August 2023. Candidates should possess expertise in quantitative methodology that will support a productive research agenda. Preferred methodological techniques include data visualization, data science and analytics, and machine learning. Candidates should also be able to serve as effective teachers who can relate the real-world applications of methodology and data analysis to students at a leading, land-grant university. The successful candidate will be expected to teach courses in the department's undergraduate and graduate research methods sequences, in addition to elective courses in her/his/their substantive area of interest; the teaching load is normally two courses per semester. A Ph.D. in Political Science or a related field is expected at the time of appointment.

Oklahoma State University is one of the state's two comprehensive research universities. Its Stillwater campus has a population of over 23,000 students. The Department of Political Science is housed within the College of Arts and Sciences and offers B.S. and B.A. degrees, with degree options in campaigning, global politics, pre-law, and public policy. It also offers M.A. degrees in Politics and Policy Studies, as well as Peace, Conflict, and Security Studies. The department will give full consideration to applications received by September 15, 2022, but the search will continue until the position is filled.

Applicants can submit their materials through Interfolio <http://apply.interfolio.com/110181> including the following items:

- letter of application
- vitae
- graduate transcripts; the department will accept unofficial transcripts as part of the initial application submission but will expect receipt of official transcripts before a candidate interviews on campus
- a list of three references; the department will expect receipt of recommendation letters from these three referees within two weeks of contacting candidates for a preliminary Zoom interview
- evidence of successful teaching and scholarship
- statements of teaching and research interests

Candidates should address their commitment to a diverse, equitable, and inclusive university in their letter of application, as well as in their statements on teaching and research interests, as appropriate. Please contact Dr. Joshua Hansa (joshua.jansa@okstate.edu) with any questions about this position. For more information about the department, please visit polsci.okstate.edu.

The department is committed to creating an inclusive space for our students, faculty, and staff and to teaching and mentoring our undergraduate and graduate scholars from various backgrounds. As such, the department seeks a diverse pool of applicants. Currently, 40 percent of our department's undergraduate student body is comprised of members of underrepresented racial/ethnic minority groups; women comprise 50 percent. Members of these groups are encouraged to apply.

Oklahoma State University is an AA/EEO/E-Verify employer committed to diversity. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment and will not be discriminated against based on race, color, religion, sex, national origin, disability or protected veteran status. For more information, visit <https://eeo.okstate.edu> This position is contingent upon availability of funds.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 9/15/2022

Date Posted: 7/25/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10514

Academia Sinica

Rank: Assistant Research Fellow (equivalent to Assistant Professor)

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Methodology

Position Announcement

Institute of Political Science at Academia Sinica

1. The Institute of Political Science at Academia Sinica (IPSAS), Taipei, Taiwan, seeks to appoint full-time faculty members at the rank of assistant research fellow (which is equivalent to assistant professor). Application for higher rank will also be considered.

2. The applicant should specialize at least one of the following fields: (1) Taiwan politics and comparative democracy; (2) China and comparative politico-economic transition; (3) cross-Strait relations and international relations theory; (4) political changes in Asia and global democratic development; and, (5) political methodology.

3. The applicant must have a doctoral degree in political science or related disciplines, or is able to receive a Ph.D. degree by August 31, 2023.

4. Applicants for positions of assistant research fellow should submit the following documents:

- (1) curriculum vitae and a list of publications;
- (2) a photocopy of the doctoral degree certificate or certification for completion of course work and successful defense of dissertation (for applicants who have not yet passed the oral examination, proof for completion of courses and a letter certifying imminent holding of oral examination are required);
- (3) two copies of the doctoral dissertation (or draft) and other publications;
- (4) an abstract (in both English and Chinese) of the doctoral dissertation;
- (5) transcripts from undergraduate and graduate schools;
- (6) a statement of research accomplishments and research plan (in both English and Chinese and within three pages); and,
- (7) three letters of recommendation (written in English or Chinese and mailed directly by the recommender to IPSAS. If sending by email, please send the email by the school department or by a certification agency such as interfolio; those applying for the position of assistant research fellow should have one letter from the dissertation advisor).

5. Applicants for positions of associate research fellow or above should submit the following documents:

- (1) curriculum vitae and a list of publications;
- (2) a photocopy of the doctoral degree certificate;
- (3) three representative publications (and two copies each);
- (4) proofs for appointments in Taiwanese or international academic institutes;
- (5) a statement of research accomplishments and research plan (in both English and Chinese and within three pages); and,
- (6) three letters of recommendation (written in English or Chinese and mailed directly by the recommender to IPSAS. If sending by email, please send the email by the school department or by a certification agency such as interfolio).

6. The application should be sent to Dr. Chung-li Wu, Director, Institute of Political Science, Academia Sinica, 128 Academia Rd., Sec. 2, Taipei 115201, Taiwan, R.O.C.

7. Further questions can be forwarded to Ms. Ren-Yuan Lo at 886-2-2652-5303, faxed to 886-2-2783-2610, or e-mailed to ipsas@gate.sinica.edu.tw.

8. The application should be received by October 31, 2022.

Start Date: Spring 2023

Application Deadline: 10/31/2022

Date Posted: 7/22/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10513

Princeton University

Rank: Assistant Professor, Quantitative Methods

The Princeton University Department of Politics seeks applications from well-qualified individuals for a tenure-track junior faculty position in quantitative methods. This position involves teaching at the graduate and undergraduate levels. We seek faculty members who will create a climate that embraces excellence and diversity, with a commitment to teaching and mentoring that will enhance the work of the department and attract and retain a diverse student body. Interested applicants should apply online at <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/26803>.

Candidates should submit a Curriculum Vitae, cover letter, research statement, writing sample, transcripts, and the names and contact information of three references. Unofficial transcripts are sufficient and may be uploaded with the application. Applicants who are unable to upload unofficial transcripts may send official transcripts to Quantitative Methods Search Committee, Department of Politics, 001 Fisher Hall, Princeton, NJ 08544.

For best consideration apply by September 12, 2022.

This position is subject to the University's background check policy.

Requisition No: D-23-POL-00003

Start Date: Fall 2023

Date Posted: 7/22/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10517

Department of Defense

Rank: Operations Research Analyst

Subfield(s): Methodology, International Relations, Non-Academic

Specializations: Quantitative Methods, Research Methods, Conflict Processes

Are you interested in international relations, comparative politics, political economy or foreign policy? Do you want to use cutting-edge quantitative methods to apply research to real world problems? The Joint Warfare Analysis Center is the place for you!

Join a team of smart, motivated individuals with access to cutting-edge technology while enjoying work-life balance and generous benefits. Join us in doing research that makes a difference.

The Joint Warfare Analysis Center (JWAC) is currently recruiting motivated individuals who are excited about the opportunity to research projects and develop advanced methods for defense analysis.

JWAC's mission is to provide the U.S. military with effects-based analysis to support U.S. national security and military strategies during peace, crisis, and war. Learn more about JWAC and its mission at <https://www.jwac.mil/>.

Ideal candidates will have both a strong quantitative methods background, including the ability to use R or Python, and either professional experience or substantive research in the areas of military affairs, foreign policy, international relations, comparative politics, or political economy.

We offer a range of benefits; including medical, dental and life insurance, paid time to exercise, and generous time off; and competitive pay with contribution-based bonuses. U.S. citizenship and the ability to obtain and maintain a security clearance are required for all positions.

If you are interested in more information please email: stratcom.south-potomac.jwac.list.recruiting-sociopoli@mail.mil

Start Date: Spring 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/15/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10501

St. Olaf College

Rank: Visiting Instructor or Assistant Professor

Specializations: Race & Ethnic Politics, Latino Politics, African American Politics

The Department of Political Science at St. Olaf College invites applications for a full-time, one-year position in Research Methods and American Politics at the level of Instructor or Assistant Professor, to begin August 2022. The successful candidate will be able to research methods to undergraduate students, as well as courses in American Politics. Ability to teach a course on race and politics is especially desired.

The department is particularly interested in applicants who can and will advance the College's goals for diversity equity and inclusion. We request that in the letter of application, candidates address their potential to contribute to the St. Olaf community that maintains a diversity of people and perspectives as one of its core values. We strongly encourage applications from Black, Indigenous, and people of color and members of other underrepresented groups in accordance with our equity goals.

Applicants must submit materials online at <https://stolaf.hiretouch.com/faculty-postings>. A complete application includes:

Cover letter

Curriculum vitae

The contact information for three professional references who can speak to your abilities in teaching and scholarship.

Review of applications will begin as soon as possible and will continue until the position is filled. Applications received by July 25, 2022 will receive fullest consideration.

Questions about the position, department, or college may be directed to Douglas Casson, Department Chair, at casson@stolaf.edu. Applicants who need assistance with the online application process should call 507-786-3356.

One of the nation's leading liberal arts colleges, St. Olaf College serves 3,000 students, ranks #1 among U.S. colleges for the number of students studying abroad, and celebrates carbon-free electrical power. Its mission is to challenge students to excel in the liberal arts, examine faith and values, and explore meaningful vocation in an inclusive, globally engaged community nourished by Lutheran tradition. The college is located on a picturesque 300-acre campus in Northfield, Minnesota, a vibrant, restored, historic river town of 20,000 located 45 minutes south of the Twin Cities.

To provide a safe and secure educational environment, St. Olaf College verifies the accuracy of all credentials presented by applicants and conducts a criminal background check on every new hire.

St. Olaf College requires all employees to be fully vaccinated for COVID-19 (medical and religious exemptions may apply).

St. Olaf College is an equal employment opportunity and voluntary affirmative action employer. The College is committed to providing an inclusive and welcoming environment for all members of our community. With regard to its hiring and employment practices, the College prohibits all forms of discrimination and harassment based upon an individual's legally protected status including race, color, creed, national origin, gender, gender identity, gender expression, sexual orientation, age, religion, disability, marital status, veteran status, or status with regard to public assistance.

Start Date: Fall 2022

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/13/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10488

Virginia Commonwealth University

Rank: Adjunct Instructor

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Political Theory, Methodology

The Virginia Commonwealth University College of Humanities and Sciences is recruiting a pool of adjunct faculty for AY2022-2023 course sections within the Department of Political Science. This pool will be utilized on an as-needed basis. Your application will remain active for a year; you may resubmit your application for subsequent years. Only those selected for an interview will be contacted.

We welcome applicants with a range of scholarly interests in the subfields of U.S. Government, Comparative Politics, International Relations, Political Theory, Methodology, Civil Rights, Human Security, and Public Policy & Administration.

For AY2022-2023, we are especially interested in offering the following courses: Politics of Race, Class, and Gender; Research Methods in Political Science; and Political Theory.

Applicants are encouraged to visit the VCU POLI bulletin to see a list of the courses offered to our students: <http://bulletin.vcu.edu/undergraduate/college-humanities-sciences/political-science-program/#coursestext>.

Position Responsibilities:

Meet all designated course instruction guidelines; grade assignments and exams in a timely manner based on instructions/rubric provided; respond to student inquiries within 24 hours; and submit final grades according to College/Department policy.

Required Qualifications:

EDUCATION:

Master's degree, PhD, or other doctoral degree in a related field with experience and specialized expertise directly related to the position.

COMPETENCIES/EXPERIENCE:

Demonstrated teaching experience.

To apply, please click on "Apply Now" at <https://vcu.csod.com/ux/ats/careersite/1/home/requisition/1965?c=vcu>. You will be asked to provide a cover letter, CV and contact information for two professional references.

Salary Range: $1,200 per credit hour

Contact Information:

Contact Name: Allie Reckendorf

Contact Email: anreckendorf@vcu.edu

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/28/2022

Salary: Below $20,000

eJobs ID: 10447

University of Michigan, Ann Arbor

Rank: Assistant Professor

All applications must be submitted electronically to <http://apply.interfolio.com/107856>

Applicants should include the following application materials in PDF format: a cover letter, curriculum vitae, a concise statement describing current and future plans for research, a statement of teaching philosophy and experience, evidence of teaching excellence (if any), writing samples, graduate transcripts, and a statement of activities contributing to diversity, equity, and inclusion in academia. Applications should also submit three letters of recommendation.

Summary

The University of Michigan's Department of Political Science invites applications from outstanding candidates for a tenure track position for a scholar who combines advanced skills in Methods of Causal Inference, Big Data, Computational Social Science, and/or Field Experiments, with strong substantive interests and expertise in American political behavior, Race and Ethnic Politics, Campaigns and Elections, International Political Economy, and/or the Comparative Politics of Developing Countries.

This position is at the assistant professor rank and is a university year appointment. It is anticipated to begin September 1, 2023. Promise of excellence in research and teaching is required.

Mission Statement

The mission of the University of Michigan is to serve the people of Michigan and the world through preeminence in creating, communicating, preserving and applying knowledge, art, and academic values, and in developing leaders and citizens who will challenge the present and enrich the future.

Required Qualifications*

Candidates for this position must have completed their PhD by September 1, 2023.

Background Screening

The University of Michigan conducts background checks on all job candidates upon acceptance of a contingent offer and may use a third party administrator to conduct background checks. Background checks are performed in compliance with the Fair Credit Reporting Act.

Application Deadline

For full consideration, complete applications should be submitted by August 31, 2022.

U-M EEO/AA Statement

The University of Michigan is an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer.

U-M COVID-19 Vaccination Policy

COVID-19 vaccinations, including boosters when eligible, are required for all University of Michigan students, faculty and staff across all campuses, including Michigan Medicine. This includes those working remotely. More information on this new policy is available on the Campus Blueprint website or the UM-Dearborn and UM-Flint websites.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 9/1/2022

Date Posted: 6/14/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10419

Johns Hopkins University

Rank: Adjunct Faculty

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Methodology, Public Administration

Specializations: Economic Policy, Research Methods, Public Finance & Budgeting

Institution Description:

The Advanced Academic Programs (AAP) is a division of the Krieger School of Arts and Sciences at the Johns Hopkins University (JHU). As the nation's oldest and one of the most prestigious research universities, Johns Hopkins offers high-quality master's degrees and post-baccalaureate education to students in the mid-Atlantic region and online. In addition to the online programs, AAP also offers master's degrees and graduate certificate programs at its Washington, DC Center and at the Homewood campus in Baltimore, Maryland. AAP has approximately 18,000 enrollments each academic year. JHU is committed to hiring candidates who, through their teaching and service, will contribute to the diversity and excellence of the academic community.

Position Description:

The Advanced Academic Programs (AAP) division seeks non-tenure track adjunct faculty to teach several courses within the MA in Public Management program (see below). The courses will be taught online and/or onsite in Washington, DC in Fall 2022 and beyond. Candidates with online course development and teaching experience and those with experience teaching and engaging students from diverse backgrounds are of particular interest.

- 470.854 Fundamentals of Quantitative Methods

This course trains students to be informed consumers of quantitative studies, in addition to teaching the tools of basic statistical work. The course material covers basic descriptive statistics, inferential statistics, and data collection. The key learning objective is for students to develop a better understanding of the statistical and econometric results they may encounter in their careers.

- 470.631 Economics for Public Decision-making

This course aims to offer students an understanding of economics and its importance in public policymaking. The first half of the course will offer students an understanding of microeconomic and macroeconomic theory, including a discussion of when markets can work to achieve policy goals and when "market failures" call for government intervention. The second half of the class will use these economic tools and theories to survey several specific policy areas, including health policy, tax policy, and the national debt.

- 470.608 Public Policy Evaluation and the Policy Process

This course introduces students to the public policymaking process, the basics of policy analysis, and the substance of some of today's major policy debates. The first half of the course focuses on establishing a framework in which to analyze public policy formulation within the United States. The class also reviews the tools for developing and implementing policy. The second half of the course turns to policy analysis of some critical contemporary issues.

- 470.605 Global Political Economy

In this course, students investigate core topics in international political economy, analyzing the security implications of each. Topics include trade relations, international finance, monetary relations, poverty, and development.

Qualifications

Minimum Qualifications:

- An advanced degree in public policy/public administration or in a relevant field, such as public finance, economics, or political economy, with a master's degree at minimum
- Two years of professional work experience within the relevant fields

Preferred Qualifications:

- A terminal degree in public policy/public administration or in a relevant field, such as public finance, economics, or political economy
- 1-3 years of graduate-level teaching experience
- Online teaching experience
- In-person/in the classroom teaching experience.
- The background to teach a wide variety of courses in the public management program.

Application Instructions

PLEASE APPLY HERE: <https://apply.interfolio.com/107918>

The positions will remain open until filled.

Candidates must submit the following:

- Cover letter: should indicate the course or courses you are interested in teaching and describe your relevant teaching and professional experience.
- Resume or Curriculum vitae
- Teaching evaluations for two most recently taught courses (if applicable)
- References upon request

The selected candidate will be expected to undergo a background check and to submit proof of educational attainment.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/6/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10394

NON-ACADEMIC

National Defense University

Rank: Academic Specialist

Subfield(s): Non-Academic, American Government and Politics, Other

Summary

National Defense University (NDU) supports the joint warfighter by providing rigorous Joint Professional Military Education to members of the U.S. Armed Forces and select others in order to develop leaders who have the ability to operate and creatively think in an unpredictable and complex world.

This job is open to the public - U.S. Citizens, Nationals or those who owe allegiance to the U.S.

Apply online at: <https://www.usajobs.gov/job/674414700>

Open & closing dates
08/31/2022 to 09/14/2022

Salary
$52,314 - $55,242 per year

Pay scale & grade
AD 1

Location
1 vacancy in the following location: Fort McNair, Washington, DC

Appointment type
Term - 3 years

Duties
Providing academic curriculum and program support through the Learning Management System and other web based tools.
Coordinating copyright clearance and approval through multiple clearance centers.
Assist the production and execution of materials for conferences, workshops, and other events to be hosted by the College.
Must be able to plan and execute budgets and fiscal support.
This position reports to the Director of Operations.

Requirements
Conditions of Employment
Must be a U.S. Citizen

This is a Non-Critical Sensitive position which requires a background investigation. The individual selected for this position is required to obtain and maintain a Secret security clearance.

Qualifications
Required Qualifications:

An earned Bachelor's degree from an accredited academic institution. Knowledge of basic educational theory and methodology, especially in the procedures for the development of curriculum at the graduate level. Experience in the copyright process as it relates to the academic environment.

Experience using Learning Management Systems as it relates to the academic environment. Advanced user of Microsoft Suite.

Communicate orally and in writing with core course directors, faculty and internal and external customers.

Experience working in institutional research

Education

Education Requirement: An earned Bachelor's degree from an accredited academic institution.

Official transcripts will be required at time of selection to verify educational requirements are met.

Start Date:

Date Posted: 9/1/2022

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 10830

Princeton University

Rank: Research Specialist II

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Non-Academic, Other

Housed at Princeton University, Arab Barometer is a nonpartisan research network that provides insight into the social, political, and economic attitudes and values of citizens across the Middle East and North Africa (MENA). We have been conducting high quality and reliable public opinion surveys since 2006, making us the longest-standing and the largest repository of publicly available data on the views of citizens in the region.

The Research Specialist II will join a face-paced, dynamic environment where a close-knit team of researchers strives to find innovative ways of measuring the preferences and grievances of citizens in MENA. Arab Barometer's goal is not only to implement best practices to learn about the MENA region, but also to learn what the MENA region tells us about survey research. To this end, the Research Specialist will be involved in deciding what questions to ask and how to ask them; working with regional partners to collect high-quality data; analyzing and interpreting survey findings; and disseminating results to a diverse audience. The position reports to the Director of Research but works in close collaboration with the project director, research associates, communication associate, graduate and undergraduate students, and research colleagues in the U.S. and MENA.

The ideal candidate will have a penchant for critical thinking and the perspicacity to keep in mind "the big picture" without sacrificing nuance. The candidate must also have the flexibility to manage multiple requests on a variety of tasks required by diverse stakeholders. This is an excellent opportunity to further develop both qualitative and quantitative research skills and to learn about the logistics of navigating research across different political and social contexts in the MENA region.

*This is a 2-year term position with possibility of renewal. This position is based in the Arab Barometer's Washington, DC office.

For full consideration, applicants must submit a cover letter and include an answer to the following question:

Arab Barometer's Wave VII Questionnaire is publicly available on our website (arabbarometer.org). What one topic would you like to see covered—or covered differently—on the next Arab Barometer survey? Please tell us why you think the topic should be added or amended. Then, provide one or two questions in both English and Arabic that you would add to the survey.

Responsibilities

*Drafting qualitative literature reviews or annotated bibliographies on assorted topics slated for inclusion on the survey and compiling lists of validated survey questions on these topics asked in MENA or elsewhere
*Incorporating questionnaire feedback from numerous stakeholders and managing version control and translation updates in both Arabic and English

*Providing write-ups and analyses of outcomes from pretesting methods (such as focus groups and cognitive pretests)

*Helping to prepare training materials in both Arabic and English for survey teams in the region and documenting training accomplishments

*Managing Arab Barometer's Arabic and English-language question banks (the internal repository of all questions posed on Arab Barometer's seven waves)

*Liaising with regional partners during survey fielding to monitor survey progress and to update quality control trackers

*Assisting in data management by providing data labels and graph titles in both Arabic and English

*Writing or contributing to authorship of Arab Barometer country reports, topical reports, and Arab Pulse blogs

*Fact checking and number checking reports of other Arab Barometer colleagues or contributors

*Drafting presentations of findings for various audiences including academics, government officials, policy makers, and civil society practitioners

Required Qualifications

- *A propensity for “thinking outside the box” and taking initiative
- *Strong qualitative research skills
- *Excellent oral and written communication skills in both Arabic and English
- *Interest in and knowledge of Middle Eastern and North African affairs
- *Baseline knowledge of statistics/survey data or willingness to develop skills through independent study if needed
- *Highly organized and attentive to details
- *Ability to multi-task effectively, including meeting tight deadlines across multiple survey projects while ensuring accuracy of results
- *In-depth knowledge of at least one MENA country, combined with an ability to look broadly at the region.
- *B.A. degree in social sciences, humanities, MENA region area studies, or statistics. MA preferred.
- *1-3 years of experience in undertaking research involving qualitative and/or quantitative analysis (internships, volunteer positions, research assistantships for professors, or extra-academic pursuits all count)

Preferred Qualifications

- *Knowledge of survey questionnaire design
- *Knowledge of LaTeX
- *Knowledge of R or STATA

Apply online at <https://main-princeton.icims.com/jobs/15465/research-specialist-ii/job?hub=15>.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/17/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10717

Department of Defense

Rank: Operations Research Analyst

Subfield(s): Methodology, International Relations, Non-Academic

Specializations: Quantitative Methods, Research Methods, Conflict Processes

Are you interested in international relations, comparative politics, political economy or foreign policy? Do you want to use cutting-edge quantitative methods to apply research to real world problems? The Joint Warfare Analysis Center is the place for you!

Join a team of smart, motivated individuals with access to cutting-edge technology while enjoying work-life balance and generous benefits. Join us in doing research that makes a difference.

The Joint Warfare Analysis Center (JWAC) is currently recruiting motivated individuals who are excited about the opportunity to research projects and develop advanced methods for defense analysis.

JWAC's mission is to provide the U.S. military with effects-based analysis to support U.S. national security and military strategies during peace, crisis, and war. Learn more about JWAC and its mission at <https://www.jwac.mil/>.

Ideal candidates will have both a strong quantitative methods background, including the ability to use R or Python, and either professional experience or substantive research in the areas of military affairs, foreign policy, international relations, comparative politics, or political economy.

We offer a range of benefits; including medical, dental and life insurance, paid time to exercise, and generous time off; and competitive pay with contribution-based bonuses. U.S. citizenship and the ability to obtain and maintain a security clearance are required for all positions.

If you are interested in more information please email: stratcom.south-potomac.jwac.list.recruiting-sociopoli@mail.mil

Start Date: Spring 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/15/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10501

American Bar Foundation

Rank: Executive Director

The American Bar Foundation (ABF) is extending its search for its next Executive Director and is inviting applications.

Established in 1952, the ABF, a nonprofit corporation, is one of the foremost research institutes dedicated to the empirical and interdisciplinary study of law, legal behavior, legal institutions, and legal processes in the U.S. and internationally. The ABF sponsors Law & Social Inquiry, a quarterly, peer-reviewed scholarly journal of international standing that is published by Cambridge University Press.

The Executive Director oversees the ABF research program through the management of 18 Research Professors, five Faculty Fellows, 13 Affiliated Research Professors, a full-time support staff of 22, and a part-time research assistance staff of 20. The interdisciplinary faculty have advanced degrees in such diverse fields as anthropology, criminology, economics, history, law, political science, psychology, and sociology, and many of the faculty hold both J.D. and Ph.D. degrees.

Executive Director candidates should hold a J.D., with preference given to applicants who also hold a Ph.D. in social sciences or humanities; a record of institutional leadership, including administrative and financial management; success in fundraising and academic grantsmanship; experience with the design and conduct of empirical and interdisciplinary research on law; familiarity with the organized bar and legal profession; and skill in communicating results of scholarly research to the bar, the bench, the academy, and the general public.

The Executive Director is charged with building upon the distinction of the ABF as a premier institute for pathbreaking, interdisciplinary, empirical research on law, legal processes, and legal institutions. Administrative responsibilities include directing, supervising, and promoting institutional research programs; producing multi-year plans for faculty research; directing and participating in institutional fundraising, including meeting with and presenting to public and private foundations, corporations, and major gift prospects; recruiting and retaining an excellent faculty; planning, generating and managing the institutional budget; managing the research faculty and staff; building a comprehensive communications program with all the ABF's constituencies; and regularly reporting to the ABF Board and officers on the research programs and other activities.

A full description of the Executive Director position and responsibilities is available on the ABF website. For details about the ABF faculty and research program, visit the website: americanbarfoundation.org.

Applications are invited for the Executive Director position, with priority consideration for those received by October 1, 2022, and must include a cover letter and curriculum vitae. To apply, please email your application materials to execsearch@abfn.org. The ABF encourages women and applicants from diverse backgrounds to apply. The Executive Director position is anticipated to begin in January 2023.

Start Date: Spring 2023
Application Deadline: 10/1/2022
Date Posted: 7/14/2022
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 10495

OPEN

Hebrew University of Jerusalem

Rank: open rank

Tenure-Track Position in Political Science

The Department of Political Science at the Hebrew University of Jerusalem invites applications for a tenure-track position* (open rank), beginning fall 2023. We welcome applications from outstanding candidates with a record of excellence in research in all fields of political science. We currently have a particular interest in researchers working in methodology, Israeli and regional politics, political economy and political sociology. Both junior and senior researchers, holding a PhD in political science or a closely related discipline, are encouraged to apply. Candidates are expected to have their dissertation approved no later than October 18th 2023.

The Department of Political Science is committed to equal opportunities. Applicants from disadvantaged groups under-represented in our faculty, including women and minorities, are encouraged to apply.

To apply, please submit the following materials:

- Curriculum Vitae
- Scientific biography outlining research orientation and plans for the coming years
- Electronic copies of up to three writing samples
- List of courses the candidate can teach at the undergraduate and graduate level
- Teaching evaluations, if available
- A letter of intent stating willingness to begin teaching in the fall of 2023

Additionally, three letters of recommendation should be submitted directly to the Search Committee. Please submit all application materials electronically at: <http://ttp.huji.ac.il>

The language of teaching at The Hebrew University of Jerusalem is Hebrew, though some courses are taught in English. New faculty members are expected to be able to teach in Hebrew within a few years of their arrival.

The deadline for applications is October 18th, 2022. Candidates selected by the Department will compete with candidates from other departments in the Faculty of Social Sciences for available positions.

For inquiries concerning the search please contact Prof. David Levi-Faur at levifaur@mail.huji.ac.il.

Start Date: Fall 2023
Application Deadline: 10/18/2022
Date Posted: 9/1/2022
Salary: $60,000 - $69,999
eJobs ID: 10748

University of California, Berkeley

Rank: Associate/Full Professor - Understanding (Non)Citizenship Cluster - Department of Political Science
Subfield(s): Open, Public Law, Public Policy

Associate/Full Professor - Understanding (Non)Citizenship Cluster - Department of Political Science

Position overview
 Anticipated start: 07/01/2023

Application Window
 Open August 16, 2022 through Friday, Sep 23, 2022 at 11:59pm (Pacific Time)

If you apply to this recruitment by September 23, 2022, you will have until October 7, 2022 to complete your application.

Position description

The Charles and Louise Travers Department of Political Science in the College of Letters and Science at the University of California, Berkeley invites applications for a full-time tenured Associate or Full Professor faculty position in political science.

Applicants to this position will be appointed in Political Science, however successful candidates' scholarship must speak to and advance the goals of the "Understanding (Non)Citizenship" initiative at the University of California, Berkeley, which aims to hire an interdisciplinary cluster of faculty on this topic over two years. The cluster tackles three overarching themes: issues of justice, fairness and equality as related to (non)citizenship; the determinants and content of (non)citizenship; and the consequences of (non)citizenship. The cluster considers citizenship broadly, as a legal, social and cultural status that combines civil, political and social rights with a sense of identity, encompassing those who lack formal citizenship but also those who experience "second-class" citizenship through differential rights and treatment. Fully understanding (non)citizenship requires an interdisciplinary approach: claims for citizenship and equality are invariably normative, while the consequences and drivers of (non)citizenship must be studied empirically to understand change and effects. For this reason, this innovative cluster of faculty hiring will bring together diverse units in the social sciences, humanities and professional schools across UC-Berkeley. Faculty hired through the Understanding (Non)-Citizenship cluster will hold positions in Philosophy, Political Science, Public Policy, Sociology and Law. In 2022-23, the University seeks applicants for an Assistant Professor position in Philosophy and a tenured (Associate or Full Professor) position in Political Science.

Considering the significant disruptions caused by the Covid-19 pandemic, particularly for disadvantaged groups, in our evaluation of applicants, dips in productivity in otherwise strong records occurring with the onset of the pandemic will be evaluated with the context of the pandemic in mind.

The Charles and Louise Travers Department of Political Science is committed to fostering an environment in which all members of the Berkeley community feel empowered to pursue their educational goals in a welcoming environment. We believe that every individual must be treated with equality and dignity as we work together to ensure the success of students, staff, and faculty. For more information, please visit the department website: <https://polisci.berkeley.edu/>. Additional information about programs and resources supporting the advancement of diversity, equity, inclusion, and belonging is available at: <https://ls.berkeley.edu/about/diversity-equity-and-inclusion> <https://ls.berkeley.edu/ls-divisions/social-sciences/diversity-equity-and-inclusion>

The Charles and Louise Travers Department of Political Science is committed to addressing the family needs of faculty, including dual career couples and single parents. We are also interested in candidates who have had non-traditional career paths or who have taken time off for family reasons, or who have achieved excellence in careers outside academia. For information about potential relocation to Berkeley, or career needs of accompanying partners and spouses, please visit: <http://ofew.berkeley.edu/new-faculty>.

Department: <https://polisci.berkeley.edu/>

Qualifications Basic qualifications (required at time of application) Ph.D. (or equivalent international degree), or enrolled in Ph.D. or equivalent international degree-granting program at the time of application.

Additional qualifications (required at time of start) Candidates should have tenure or are eligible for tenure at their current institutions.

Preferred qualifications Preferred candidates should demonstrate the highest standards of professional research, teaching, and service and contribute to our commitment to diversity and equal opportunity in higher education.

Application Requirements Document requirements

- Curriculum Vitae - Your most recently updated C.V.
- Cover Letter
- Statement of Research - Statement of research, including past research accomplishments and proposed research at Berkeley.
- Statement of Teaching and Service - Statement of teaching and service, including prior teaching experience, teaching philosophy, future teaching interests, prior and proposed academic, professional and/or community service.
- Statement on Contributions to Advancing Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion - Statement on your contributions to diversity, equity, and inclusion, including information about your understanding of these topics, your record of activities to date, and your specific plans and goals for advancing equity and inclusion if hired at Berkeley (for additional information go to <https://ofew.berkeley.edu/recruitment/contributions-diversity><https://ofew.berkeley.edu/recruitment/contributions-diversity>).
- Publication/Writing Sample #1 - Journal article, book chapter, dissertation chapter, or other appropriate products.
- Publication/Writing Sample #2 - Journal article, book chapter, dissertation chapter, or other appropriate products. (Optional)

- Publication/Writing Sample #3 - Journal article, book chapter, dissertation chapter, or other appropriate products. (Optional)

Reference requirements

- 3 required (contact information only)

If necessary, letters of reference will be solicited at a later stage.

Apply link: <https://apptrkr.com/3348045>

Help contact: knera@berkeley.edu

Campus Information

Diversity, equity, inclusion, and belonging are core values at UC Berkeley. Our excellence can only be fully realized by faculty, students, and academic and non-academic staff who share our commitment to these values. Successful candidates for our academic positions will demonstrate evidence of a commitment to advancing equity, inclusion, and belonging.

The University of California, Berkeley is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability, age, or protected veteran status. For the complete University of California nondiscrimination and affirmative action policy see: <http://policy.ucop.edu/doc/4000376/NondiscrimAffirmAct>

In searches when letters of reference are required all letters will be treated as confidential per University of California policy and California state law. Please refer potential referees, including when letters are provided via a third party (i.e., dossier service or career center), to the UC Berkeley statement of confidentiality (<http://apo.berkeley.edu/ucb-confidentiality-policy>) prior to submitting their letter.

As a condition of employment, you will be required to comply with the University of California SARS-CoV-2 (COVID-19) Vaccination Program Policy. All Covered Individuals under the policy must provide proof of Full Vaccination or, if applicable, submit a request for Exception (based on Medical Exemption, Disability, and/or Religious Objection) or Deferral (based on pregnancy) no later than the applicable deadline. Please refer to Appendix F, Section II.C. of the policy for the deadlines applicable to new University of California employees. (Capitalized terms in this paragraph are defined in the policy.) Federal, state, or local public health directives may impose additional requirements.

Positions that are represented by a collective bargaining unit or agent have particular contracts. For more information, please refer to the relevant contract: <https://ucnet.universityofcalifornia.edu/labor/bargaining-units/ix/index.html>, <https://ucnet.universityofcalifornia.edu/labor/bargaining-units/px/index.html>, <https://ucnet.universityofcalifornia.edu/labor/bargaining-units/ra/index.html>, and <https://ucnet.universityofcalifornia.edu/labor/bargaining-units/lx/index.html>. Questions about represented positions can be directed to the hiring unit.

Job location Berkeley, CA

To apply, visit <https://apptrkr.com/3348045>

Copyright ©2022 Jobelephant.com Inc. All rights reserved.

<https://www.jobelephant.com/>

Start Date:Application Deadline: 9/23/2022Date Posted: 8/30/2022Salary: CompetitiveeJobs ID: 10809University of Vermont*Rank: Endowed Chair in Environmental Politics

The University of Vermont's Department of Political Science in the College of Arts & Sciences invites applications for the endowed Gund Professor of Liberal Arts. The successful candidate will join a highly productive department and contribute to UVM's distinctive strength in research related to the environment. The appointment will be made at the rank of Associate Professor or Full Professor (with tenure) depending on qualifications and experience. The endowment provides research support. The position will start in the fall semester of 2023.

The subfield specialization for the position is open. The most successful candidates will be individuals with national and international reputations in environmental politics who show outstanding potential to enhance UVM's research profile in this area.

QUALIFICATIONS:

The successful candidate should:

- Have an outstanding record of teaching and scholarship;
- Hold a Ph.D. degree in Political Science or in a related discipline;
- Show promise toward developing a competitively funded research program;
- Be prepared to teach undergraduate courses in the field of environmental politics and policy, as well as those within their specific subfield within Political Science;
- Be able to successfully mentor and advise undergraduate students and support graduate students through one of UVM's environmentally focused graduate programs such as Natural Resources or Sustainable Development Policy, Economics and Governance;
- Affiliate with UVM's Gund Institute for the Environment.

RESPONSIBILITIES:

The successful candidate will assume a range of responsibilities that include:

- Maintaining an active research agenda, securing external funding, and publishing in peer-reviewed journals;
- Teaching and advising undergraduate students in the Department of Political Science and offering courses that are suitable for students majoring in Environmental Studies;
- Collaborating with Department of Political Science faculty and staff in departmental governance, program development, scholarship, and service; Serving as an active member of relevant scholarly societies and/or professional associations;
- Engaging in service and outreach activities at the college, university, regional, state, national and international levels.

APPLICATION PROCESS:

Review of applications will begin November 15, 2022 and continue until the position is filled.

For more detailed information about us, visit our web pages at the Department of Political Science's website www.uvm.edu/cas/polisci; the College of Arts & Sciences' website, www.uvm.edu/cas; and the University of Vermont's website, www.uvm.edu.

Anticipated start date is August 20, 2023. Please apply online at www.uvmjobs.com. Applicants are asked to include:

- a curriculum vitae (CV);
- two representative publications;
- a statement of research focus;
- a teaching statement describing approach, philosophy and interests;
- an inclusive excellence statement. Please see below for more details on this.
- contact information for three professional references. The reference providers will be emailed information to upload their letters.

For more information about the position, please contact Melissa Willard-Foster at Melissa.Willard-Foster@uvm.edu.

THE UNIVERSITY

Established in 1791, the University of Vermont is considered a public-ivvy and consistently ranked as one of the top public universities in the United States. Our academic programs combine faculty-student relationships most commonly found in a small liberal arts college with the resources of a land-grant research institution. UVM's tradition of equity and social justice extends not only to faculty, staff, and students, but also is reflected in a commitment to environmentally sound and sustainable practices. The environment is a signature scholarly area at UVM and one that is well represented by faculty in every academic unit. Our expectation is that the Gund Chair will enhance our research profile and substantive teaching content in this area.

THE COLLEGE

In the College of Arts and Sciences (CAS), students experience the connectedness and accessibility of a small liberal arts college within a high caliber public research institution. Whether students are pursuing the Fine Arts, the Humanities, Natural Science and Mathematics or Social Sciences, they have a place here, in the College of Arts and Sciences' academic ecosystem. The College of Arts and Sciences highly values the excellence that results when people from different backgrounds and perspectives work, interact, and learn together. In this way, commitment to diversity fosters our educational mission. For our students, it prepares them for life and work ahead: it recognizes that we are a culturally, ethnically, and racially diverse nation, one that is also situated in an increasingly global environment. For our faculty, scholarship and research are increasingly cooperative activities—often crossing national borders—requiring the abilities and skills to work with others often from very different backgrounds. For both our students and faculty, diversity enhances our curriculum, enriches the classroom experience, and fosters the exchange of ideas. As our society, economy, politics, and global interactions become increasingly diverse, so too must our intellectual community of students, faculty, and staff.

THE DEPARTMENT

The Department of Political Science is one of the largest departments in UVM's College of Arts and Sciences and continues to attract a growing number of undergraduate students. Our internationally recognized faculty include highly productive scholars who have won grants from major foundations and published in some of the best outlets in the field. Our faculty have also been recognized as among the best teachers at UVM. For more information about the department, see: <https://www.uvm.edu/cas/polisci>

THE COMMUNITY

UVM is located in Burlington, Vermont, which is rated as one of the best small cities in the country. The greater Burlington area has an increasingly diverse population of about 125,000 and enjoys a panoramic setting on the shore of Lake Champlain, between the Green Mountains of Vermont and the Adirondack Mountains of New York State. The surrounding area provides an environment rich in cultural, civic and recreational activities. Vermont has a deep history of social activism and political participation. It offers many opportunities for collaborative partnerships in community and state-wide human service and social change organizations in multiple fields of practice, including state agencies.

Establishing a diverse and inclusive culture is a priority at the University of Vermont. In fact, UVM holds that diversity and academic excellence are inseparable. Read UVM's Why Diversity Statement and Our Common Ground values. The University of Vermont is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability, protected veteran status, or any other category legally protected by federal or state law. The University encourages applications from all individuals who will contribute to the diversity and excellence of the institution.

UVM is especially interested in scholars who can contribute to the College of Arts and Sciences diversity plan, which was designed in part to ensure faculty, students, and staff members from underrepresented and marginalized populations are an integral part of the life and governance of the institution. Applicants are requested to include in their cover letter information about how they will further this goal.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/30/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10806

University of Chicago

Rank: Instructional Professor in the Social Sciences Collegiate Division –Gender and Sexuality and Civilization Studies
Subfield(s): Open, Political Theory, Other

The Social Sciences Collegiate Division at the University of Chicago is now accepting applications for a full-time Assistant Instructional Professor who will teach undergraduate courses in gender and sexuality studies and the Civilization Studies Program. The appointment is non-renewable, for a one-year term that begins September 20, 2022.

The Assistant Instructional Professor will teach six quarter-length courses or the equivalent during the academic year. The assignment will include two undergraduate seminars in gender and sexuality studies and courses in the Civilization Studies program, a part of the University's general education curriculum that introduces students to one of the world's great civilizations through direct encounters with significant and exemplary documents. Specific Civilization Studies courses will be assigned based on the successful applicant's qualifications. More information about the Civilization Studies program is available in the College Catalog: <http://collegecatalog.uchicago.edu/thecollege/civilizationstudies/>. Depending on curricular needs, the Assistant Instructional Professor's duties may also include teaching BA thesis seminars or advising undergraduate theses in a related major.

The position requires a Ph.D. in a humanities or social science discipline. Experience teaching at the college level is required. Experience teaching or conducting research in gender and/or sexuality studies is preferred. Candidates must have completed all degree requirements no later than September 19, 2022.

To apply for this position, you must submit your application through the University of Chicago 's Interfolio job board at apply.interfolio.com/112305 and upload the following: 1) a letter of application describing your academic interests and teaching background; 2) a curriculum vitae; 3) evidence of teaching effectiveness, such as student evaluations or performance reviews; 4) a teaching statement; 5) a sample syllabus; 6) a chapter-length piece of writing; and 7) three letters of recommendation.

The review of applications will begin on September 10, 2022, and continue until the position is filled or the search is closed.

The terms and conditions of employment for this position are covered by a collective bargaining agreement between the Service Employees International Union (SEIU) and the University.

Position contingent upon budget approval.

Equal Employment Opportunity Statement

We seek a diverse pool of applicants who wish to join an academic community that places the highest value on rigorous inquiry and encourages diverse perspectives, experiences, groups of individuals, and ideas to inform and stimulate intellectual challenge, engagement, and exchange. The University's Statements on Diversity are at <https://provost.uchicago.edu/statements-diversity>.

The University of Chicago is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity/Disabled/Veterans Employer and does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national or ethnic origin, age, status as an individual with a disability, protected veteran status, genetic information, or other protected classes under the law. For additional information please see the University's Notice of Nondiscrimination.

Job seekers in need of a reasonable accommodation to complete the application process should call 773-834-3988 or email equalopportunity@uchicago.edu with their request.

Start Date: Fall 2022

Date Posted: 8/29/2022

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 10799

University of Colorado, Boulder

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of Political Science at the University of Colorado Boulder invites applications for a tenure-track position at the assistant professor level in race and ethnic politics to begin Fall 2023. The search is open to experts on race and ethnic politics in any subfield of political science. The successful candidate will teach courses on race and ethnic politics at the undergraduate and graduate levels. Full consideration will be given to applications that are completed by October 7, 2022. Applications will continue to be reviewed until the position is filled. Candidates must have a Ph.D. in political science or closely related field, and they must have the Ph.D. in hand or imminent by August 15, 2023. Candidates who do not yet have a Ph.D. but are ABD are welcome to apply.

Applications are accepted electronically at <https://jobs.colorado.edu/jobs/JobDetail?jobId=42211>, and should include a letter of interest along with a current CV, writing samples, diversity and inclusion statement, and evidence of teaching effectiveness. Applicants will also be asked to supply the names and email addresses of three references. Please direct inquiries to Andy Baker at andy.baker@colorado.edu or by mail at Race and Ethnic Politics Search Committee, Department of Political Science, 333 UCB, Boulder, Colorado, 80309-0333.

The University of Colorado Boulder is committed to building a culturally diverse community of faculty, staff, and students dedicated to contributing to an inclusive campus environment. We are an Equal Opportunity employer, including veterans and individuals with disabilities.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/26/2022

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 10785

Yale University

Rank: Multi-year Lecturer, Program of Ethics, Politics, and Economics

The Program on Ethics, Politics, and Economics sponsors interdisciplinary teaching and research in the Social Sciences and Humanities at Yale. It is designed to foster informed debate about public policy in the light of disciplined reflection on the fundamentals of human association. The Program was created in the belief that, for all the value of specialized fields and subdisciplines, these should not displace attempts to integrate empirical, analytical, and normative concerns that range over different disciplines in the modern university. The undergraduate major in Ethics, Politics, and Economics joins the analytic rigor of the social sciences and the enduring normative questions of philosophy to promote an integrative and critical understanding of the institutions, practices, and policies that shape the contemporary world.

EP&E is now offering a multi-year lecturer position. We welcome applications from PhDs from political science, economics, philosophy, and business with excellent teaching evaluations, and experience teaching courses that integrate Ethics with either Political Science, Economics, or both disciplines. In particular, we encourage PhDs with an interest and experience in teaching the Classics of Ethics, Politics & Economics to apply for this position.

In addition to teaching three courses per year, lecturers are expected to be available to meet undergraduate students of the EP&E major, and assist with advising majors on their senior essays.

The position is for two years, with the possibility of extending the contract conditional upon performance and available resources. Starting salary is $70,000 with Yale health benefits. Salary is negotiable depending on qualifications and teaching experience. In addition to salary, multi-year instructors will receive a $3,000 research account. Starting date is August 1, 2023 or negotiable.

Please submit application materials electronically to Interfolio at apply.interfolio.com/111113.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 9/15/2023

Date Posted: 8/24/2022

Salary: $70,000 - $79,999

eJobs ID: 10763

University of Pittsburgh

Rank: Mellon Chair in Political Science

Mellon Chair in Political Science

The Department of Political Science at the University of Pittsburgh invites applications from nationally prominent scholars to fill the Mellon Endowed Chair in Political Science, with the appointment to begin in the 2023-2024 academic year, pending budgetary approval. In filling this chair, the Department seeks candidates with extraordinary credentials in research, teaching, and mentorship.

We welcome candidates from any subfield and are particularly interested in scholars whose expertise contributes to or complements one or more of the following cross-cutting themes: 1) Global and Transnational Challenges, 2) Groups and Identities, 3) Democracy and Development, 4) Representation and Accountability, and/or whose leadership will shape an emerging initiative in Structural Racism, Oppression, and Black Political Experiences (see our ad for an assistant/associate professor).

The Political Science Department at the University of Pittsburgh has faculty members with vibrant and varied research agendas. It has long fostered collegiality and a culture of collaboration among faculty and graduate students. The Department benefits from numerous synergies with other units on campus, including the University Center for International Studies, a world renowned, multidisciplinary institute housing centers for area studies and for topical specializations in international studies, and the Graduate School of Public and International Affairs, a public administration and public policy school emphasizing international relations and political development. The City of Pittsburgh frequently tops "most livable city" rankings thanks to its numerous social and cultural offerings and relatively low cost of living.

Minimum qualifications: applicants must have a PhD, at least 6 years of experience, significant record of publications, and demonstrated ability to deliver high-quality instruction, to contribute to an inclusive climate, and to attract and retain a diverse study body.

The committee will begin looking at applications November 15, 2022 but will continue to accept materials until the position is filled. Candidates should send a letter of interest, a CV, and 3 names of people that can provide references when needed; cover letters should include a discussion how the candidate's research, teaching or service demonstrates a commitment to diversity and inclusion.

Application should be submitted at the following site:

https://cfopitt.taleo.net/careersection/pitt_faculty_external/jobdetail.ftl?job=22007007&tz=GMT-04%3A00&tzname=America%2FNew_York

The Political Science Department telephone number is (412) 648-7290; the contact e-mail address is wynn2@pitt.edu.

The University of Pittsburgh is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer and values equality of opportunity, human dignity and diversity. EOE, including disability/vets.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 11/15/2022

Date Posted: 8/23/2022

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 10762

Rice University

Rank: Tenured Faculty Member and Director of the Center for African and African American Studies (CAAAS)

Rice University is seeking a tenured advanced associate or full professor in Sociology, Anthropology, Political Science, Psychological Sciences, Linguistics, History, English, Visual Arts, Religion, Philosophy, Modern and Classical Literatures and Cultures, or Art History. The successful candidate will additionally serve as Director of the Center for African and African American Studies (CAAAS), appointment beginning July 1, 2023. The Center for African and African American Studies bridges the School of Humanities and the School of Social Sciences. CAAAS currently encompasses ten departments and some thirty faculty members. We seek an innovative and capacious scholar, who will teach undergraduate and graduate courses, advance the Center's interdisciplinary research endeavors and continue to expand its new and vibrant curriculum at the undergraduate and graduate levels. The Center director will also work with the two deans of Humanities and Social Sciences to raise an endowment for faculty chairs, postdoctoral fellowships, and a distinguished lecture series.

CAAAS has a permanent operating budget, a designated half-time staff member, and administrative support from the two schools. The Center received approval upon its founding for the hire of ten new faculty members during its first five years. The first four faculty members were appointed in 2020 and 2021 (Art History, English, Anthropology) and two additional searches will take place in 2022-23 in Black French Studies and Modern African History (Humanities) with two Social Sciences searches planned for 2023-24. The new director will have a vital role in shaping the future faculty appointments in CAAAS.

The director of CAAAS will hold an appointment at the rank of full or advanced associate professor with tenure in one of the relevant departments: Sociology, Anthropology, Political Science, Psychological Sciences, Linguistics, History, English, Visual Arts, Religion, Philosophy, Modern and Classical Literatures and Cultures, or Art History. Ph.D. or relevant terminal degree in a relevant or related field is required. Previous leadership experience as department chair, center or program director or associate director, or other positions of leadership, is strongly preferred for this appointment.

Only electronic applications will be accepted, via Interfolio. We will start reviewing application materials on October 15, 2022. For fullest consideration all materials should be submitted by November 1, 2022.

Please attach a letter of application summarizing your interest and qualifications, C.V., an article-length writing sample, and statements on teaching and research philosophies, each uploaded separately to their respective tabs. Please list three references with contact information, from whom we might solicit letters as the search progresses. We particularly encourage applications from women and members of historically underrepresented groups who bring diverse cultural experiences and who are especially qualified to mentor and advise members of our diverse student population. The start date of the position is July 1, 2023.

Rice University is a private, comprehensive research university located in the heart of Houston's dynamic Museum District. Houston is the fourth largest city in the United States and also one of the most diverse cities in the country and home to a significant African diasporic population. Rice offers undergraduate and graduate degrees across eight schools and has a student body of approximately 4,000 undergraduate and 3,000 graduate students. Rice consistently ranks among the top 20 national universities and the top 10 in undergraduate teaching (US News & World Report); its endowment ranks among the top 20 of US universities. To learn more about Rice, please visit www.rice.edu.

Apply here: <https://apply.interfolio.com/111886>

Equal Employment Opportunity Statement

Rice University is an Equal Opportunity Employer with commitment to diversity at all levels, and considers for employment qualified applicants without regard to race, color, religion, age, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national or ethnic origin, genetic information, disability or protected veteran status.

Rice University Standard of Civility Serves as a representative of the University, displaying courtesy, tact, consideration and discretion in all interactions with other members of the Rice community and with the public.

Start Date: Summer 2023

Application Deadline: 11/1/2022

Date Posted: 8/22/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10754

University of Central Florida

Rank: Assistant Professor, Associate Professor, or Professor Violence Against Women Cluster

The University of Central Florida (UCF) has established several interdisciplinary faculty research clusters to strengthen its academic offerings and research mission. In support of this effort, we are recruiting faculty in the area of gender-based violence for a tenure-earning assistant professor or tenured associate professor or professor position for the Violence Against Women Cluster. To learn more about the Violence Against Women Cluster, please visit our home page by clicking on the following link: <https://www.ucf.edu/research/violence-against-women>.

This is an interdisciplinary position that will be expected to strengthen both the cluster and a chosen tenure home department and may include a combination of joint appointments. Potential tenure home departments are anthropology; computer science; counselor education and school psychology; criminal justice; global health management and informatics; health sciences; legal studies; nursing practice; nursing systems; politics, security, and international affairs; population health sciences; public administration; social work; sociology; and statistics and data science. In the cover letter, applicants should specify one or two departments as potential tenure homes. Questions about potential home departments should be directed to the search chair, Dr. Alison Cares, at alison.cares@ucf.edu. Both individual/interdisciplinary infrastructure and startup support will be provided with this new position. The position will carry a rank commensurate with the candidate's prior experience and record. This position has an anticipated start date of August 8, 2023.

The ideal candidate will have significant funding (or potential for funding if at the assistant professor level) and scholarship focused on public and population health aspects of gender-based violence. They will have a research impact as reflected in high-quality publications and the potential to develop a well-funded research program. We welcome applications from individuals whose work includes a focus on the epidemiology of gender-based violence (sexual, physical, emotional, and financial); social determinants of gender-based violence and its health consequences; gender-based violence in a global context; health disparities and gender-based violence; physical and mental health correlates, and consequences; social welfare, advocacy, and victim services; healthcare and healthcare systems' response to violence and victims; community-based interventions; primary, secondary, and tertiary prevention; intentional injury; human rights; and/or public safety and criminal justice systems. All relevant technical areas will be considered. We are looking for a team player who can help bring together current UCF efforts in addressing and eradicating gender-based violence.

Applications are due by September 29, 2022.

More details and application instructions may be found at: https://ucf.wd1.myworkdayjobs.com/en-US/careers/job/Assistant-Professor--Associate-Professor--or-Professor--Violence-Against-Women-Cluster_R101162

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 9/29/2022

Date Posted: 8/20/2022

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 10747

University of California, Los Angeles

Rank: Junior Faculty Position Search 2022-2023

The UCLA Department of Political Science invites applications from outstanding candidates for 1 to 3 positions at the rank of Assistant Professor, to begin on July 1, 2023. The department has particular needs in American politics but is open to hiring exceptional candidates in any subfield. We are especially eager to consider applicants who contribute to diversity and inclusion at UCLA and the communities that we serve.

UCLA and the UCLA Department of Political Science are firmly committed to the principles of equity, diversity, and inclusion. Therefore, we ask each applicant to submit with their application a statement that addresses their past efforts, as well as future plans, to advance equity, diversity, and inclusion in their scholarship, teaching, and service.

The online application should include a letter of interest, a curriculum vitae, a statement of research interests, aforementioned diversity statement, evidence of teaching excellence in related courses, at least one writing sample, a graduate transcript, and three letters of recommendation. The letters of recommendation should be uploaded directly by the referees. PhD in Political Science or related field should be in hand prior to the appointment. To ensure full consideration, the online application should be completed by September 1, 2022. After the initial review date, new applications will only be considered if the position has not yet been filled.

The University of California is committed to creating and maintaining a community dedicated to the advancement, application, and transmission of knowledge and creative endeavors through academic excellence, where all individuals who participate in University programs and activities can work and learn together in a safe and secure environment, free of violence, harassment, bullying and other demeaning behavior, discrimination, exploitation, or intimidation. With this commitment as well as a commitment to addressing all forms of academic misconduct, UCLA conducts targeted employment reference checks for finalists to whom departments or other hiring units would like to extend formal offers of appointment into Academic Senate faculty positions. The targeted employment reference checks involve contacting the finalists' current and prior places of employment to ask whether there have been substantiated findings of misconduct that would violate the University's Faculty Code of Conduct. To implement this process, UCLA requires all applicants for Academic Senate faculty positions to complete, sign, and upload the form entitled "Authorization to Release Information" into RECRUIT as part of their application. If the applicant does not include the signed authorization to release information with the application materials, the application will be considered incomplete. As with any incomplete application, the application will not receive further consideration. Although all applicants for faculty recruitments must complete the entire application, only finalists (i.e. those to whom the department or other hiring unit would like to extend a formal offer) considered for Academic Senate faculty positions will be subject to targeted employment reference checks.

The University of California is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability, age or protected veteran status. For the complete University of California nondiscrimination and affirmative action policy, see: UC Nondiscrimination & Affirmative Action Policy.

Apply Now: <https://recruit.apo.ucla.edu/JPF07604>

Help Contact: Evelyn Godinez, egodinez@polisci.ucla.edu

Start Date: Summer 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/19/2022

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 10739

University of California, Los Angeles

Rank: Junior Faculty Position Search 2022-2023: Latina/o Experiences in Politics & Society

The UCLA Department of Political Science invites applications from outstanding candidates in any subfield of political science or political sociology whose teaching, research, and scholarship and/or mentoring has strong ties to Latina/o experiences in the United States, for 1 to 2 positions at the rank of Assistant Professor, to begin on July 1, 2023. We are especially eager to consider applicants who contribute to teaching and research on gender and Latinas, and who will help bolster our diversity and inclusion at UCLA and the communities that we serve.

UCLA aims to achieve federal designation as a Hispanic Serving Institution by 2025. In preparation for this designation, the Office of the Chancellor and the Executive Vice Chancellor and Provost have sponsored this search in order to recruit exceptional scholars whose teaching, scholarship and/or mentoring has strong ties to Latina/o experiences in the United States. This search is conducted in partnership between the Department of Political Science and the Chicano Studies Research Center. Faculty hired through this search are expected to maintain an active affiliation to the Chicano Studies Research Center and encourage the success of Latina/o and first generation scholars.

UCLA and the UCLA Department of Political Science are firmly committed to the principles of equity, diversity, and inclusion. Therefore, we ask each applicant to submit with their application a statement that addresses their past efforts, as well as future plans, to advance equity, diversity, and inclusion in their scholarship, teaching, and service, including how their research, teaching and service relate to advancing gender equity or Latina experiences.

The online application should include a letter of interest, a curriculum vitae, a statement of research interests, aforementioned diversity statement, evidence of teaching excellence in related courses, at least one writing sample, a graduate transcript, and three letters of recommendation. The letters of recommendation should be uploaded directly by the referees. PhD in Political Science or related field should be in hand prior to the appointment. To ensure full consideration, the online application should be completed by September 4, 2022. After the initial review date, new applications will only be considered if the position has not yet been filled.

The University of California is committed to creating and maintaining a community dedicated to the advancement, application, and transmission of knowledge and creative endeavors through academic excellence, where all individuals who participate in University programs and activities can work and learn together in a safe and secure environment, free of violence, harassment, bullying and other demeaning behavior, discrimination, exploitation, or intimidation. With this commitment as well as a commitment to addressing all forms of academic misconduct, UCLA conducts targeted employment reference checks for finalists to whom departments or other hiring units would like to extend formal offers of appointment into Academic Senate faculty positions. The targeted employment reference checks involve contacting the finalists' current and prior places of employment to ask whether there have been substantiated findings of misconduct that would violate the University's Faculty Code of Conduct. To implement this process, UCLA requires all applicants for Academic Senate faculty positions to complete, sign, and upload the form entitled "Authorization to Release Information" into RECRUIT as part of their application. If the applicant does not include the signed authorization to release information with the application materials, the application will be considered incomplete. As with any incomplete application, the application will not receive further consideration. Although all applicants for faculty recruitments must complete the entire application, only finalists (i.e. those to whom the department or other hiring unit would like to extend a formal offer) considered for Academic Senate faculty positions will be subject to targeted employment reference checks.

The University of California is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability, age or protected veteran status. For the complete University of California nondiscrimination and affirmative action policy, see: UC Nondiscrimination & Affirmative Action Policy.

Apply Now: <https://recruit.apo.ucla.edu/JPF07685>

Help Contact: Evelyn Godinez, egodinez@polisci.ucla.edu

Start Date: Summer 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/19/2022

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 10740

University of Toronto

Rank: Assistant Professor, Canadian Politics

The Department of Political Science in the Faculty of Arts and Science at the University of Toronto invites applications for a full-time tenure stream position in the area of Canadian Politics. The appointment will be at the rank of Assistant Professor, with an expected start date of July 1, 2023, or shortly thereafter.

Applicants must have earned a PhD degree in Political Science or a related discipline by the time of appointment, or shortly thereafter, with a demonstrated record of excellence in research and teaching. We seek candidates whose research focuses on Canadian Politics and who are prepared to teach core courses in Canadian Politics at both undergraduate and graduate levels. The area of specialization within Canadian Politics is open, as are theoretical and methodological approaches.

We seek candidates whose research and teaching interests complement and deepen our existing departmental strengths. The successful candidate will undertake undergraduate and graduate teaching responsibilities on the University of Toronto's downtown (St. George) campus. Applicants are encouraged to review the research and teaching profiles of current faculty members. Please visit our home page (Department of Political Science <https://politics.utoronto.ca>) to learn more about us.

The successful candidate will be expected to pursue innovative and independent research at the highest international level and to establish an outstanding, competitive, and externally funded research program. Candidates must provide evidence of research excellence which can be demonstrated by the submitted research statement, a record of publications in top-ranked and field relevant journals or forthcoming publications meeting high international standards, presentations at significant conferences, and awards and accolades, and strong endorsements from referees of high standing.

Evidence of excellence in teaching will be provided through teaching accomplishments, the teaching dossier (with required materials outlined below) submitted as part of the application, as well as strong letters of reference.

Candidates are also expected to show evidence of a commitment to equity, diversity, inclusion, and the promotion of a respectful and collegial learning and working environment demonstrated through the application materials.

Salary will be commensurate with qualifications and experience.

All qualified candidates are invited to apply online by clicking the link below. Applicants must submit a cover letter; a current curriculum vitae; a research statement outlining current and future research interests; a recent writing sample of no more than 30 pages; and a teaching dossier to include a teaching statement, sample course materials, and teaching evaluations. Equity and diversity are essential to academic excellence. We seek candidates who value diversity and whose research, teaching and service bear out our commitment to equity. Candidates are therefore also asked to submit a 1-2 page statement of their contributions to equity and diversity, which might cover (but need not be limited to): research or teaching that incorporates a focus on underrepresented communities, the development of inclusive pedagogies, or the mentoring of students from underrepresented groups.

Applicants must provide the name and contact information of three references. The University of Toronto's recruiting tool will automatically solicit and collect letters of reference from each after an application is submitted (this happens overnight). Applicants remain responsible for ensuring that references submit letters (on letterhead, dated and signed) by the closing date.

Submission guidelines can be found at <http://uoft.me/how-to-apply>. Your CV and cover letter should be uploaded into the dedicated fields. Please combine additional application materials into one or two files in PDF/MS Word format. If you have any questions about this position, please contact Sari Sherman at chair.polisci@utoronto.ca.

All application materials, including reference letters, must be received by September 15, 2022.

All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply; however, Canadians and permanent residents will be given priority.

Diversity Statement

The University of Toronto is strongly committed to diversity within its community and especially welcomes applications from racialized persons / persons of colour, women, Indigenous / Aboriginal People of North America, persons with disabilities, LGBTQ2S+ persons, and others who may contribute to the further diversification of ideas.

As part of your application, you will be asked to complete a brief Diversity Survey. This survey is voluntary. Any information directly related to you is confidential and cannot be accessed by search committees or human resources staff. Results will be aggregated for institutional planning purposes. For more information, please see <http://uoft.me/UP>.

Accessibility Statement

The University strives to be an equitable and inclusive community, and proactively seeks to increase diversity among its community members. Our values regarding equity and diversity are linked with our unwavering commitment to excellence in the pursuit of our academic mission.

The University is committed to the principles of the Accessibility for Ontarians with Disabilities Act (AODA). As such, we strive to make our recruitment, assessment and selection processes as accessible as possible and provide accommodations as required for applicants with disabilities.

If you require any accommodations at any point during the application and hiring process, please contact uoft.careers@utoronto.ca.

Start Date: Fall 2023
Application Deadline: 9/15/2022
Date Posted: 8/19/2022
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 10735

George Washington University

Rank: Postdoctoral Associate

The George Washington University Political Science Department is seeking an exceptional candidate for a full-time, academic research position at the rank of postdoctoral associate. The term of this position is one year beginning in July 2023. The researcher will work on topics broadly related to online hate and extremism, using computational and statistical methods. Substantive interest in social media research is particularly welcomed. Candidates with experience using machine learning and natural-language processing tools are especially encouraged to apply.

The postdoctoral associate will work closely with Professor Yonatan Lupu, while also engaging with other participating researchers in the GW Dynamic Online Networks Lab. The successful candidate will be expected to contribute to all parts of the research process, including design, implementation, manuscript preparation, and presentation of results.

Minimum Qualifications: Qualified candidates will hold a Doctoral degree. Degree must be conferred by the start date of the position.

Preferred Qualifications:

- * PhD in fields including political science, computational social science, computer science, social psychology, complex systems, judgment and decision-making, social network analysis, or other related fields
- * Completion of upper level (undergraduate) and/or graduate level coursework involving computer programming.
- * Fluency in one or more of the following requested: R, Python, and similar languages.
- * A successful candidate will have familiarity with both social science and computational science, though not necessarily mastery of both.
- * Strong communication skills
- *The ability to work in a highly collaborative and interdisciplinary environment

Application Procedure: To apply please complete an online application at <https://www.gwu.jobs/postings/95138> and upload a cover letter, curriculum vitae, statement of research interest, samples of written work, and names and contact information of three professional references. Review of applications will begin on September 15, 2022, and will continue until the position is filled. Only complete applications will be considered.

Please direct all questions to Prof. Yonatan Lupu at ylupu@gwu.edu.

The university is an Equal Employment Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer that does not unlawfully discriminate in any of its programs or activities on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, national origin, age, disability, veteran status, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, or on any other basis prohibited by applicable law.

The university and department have a strong commitment to achieving diversity among faculty and staff. We strongly encourage women and persons of color to apply.

Employment offers are contingent on the satisfactory outcome of a standard background screening.

Start Date: Summer 2023
Application Deadline: 9/15/2022
Date Posted: 8/18/2022
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 10721

Hertie School – the University of Governance in Berlin

Rank: Postdoctoral Researcher - Digital Governance

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Open, Other

The Hertie School in Berlin prepares exceptional students for leadership positions in government, business, and civil society. The school offers master's programmes, executive education and doctoral programmes, distinguished by interdisciplinary and practice-oriented teaching, as well as outstanding research. Its extensive international network positions it as an ambassador of good governance, characterised by public debate and engagement. The school was founded in 2003 by the Hertie Foundation, which remains its major funder. The Hertie School is accredited by the state and the German Science Council.

The Hertie School seeks to fill the following position: Postdoctoral Researcher - Digital Governance (f/m/div) on a full-time basis (40 hours per week).

The contract shall commence in fall 2022 and is limited for three years. The successful candidate will be affiliated with the Hertie School's Centre for Digital Governance (<https://www.hertie-school.org/en/centre-for-digital-governance>).

Your tasks:

Your main tasks at the Hertie School will be to further develop your own independent research programme with relevance for the Centre. Research areas may include, but are not limited to: digitalisation of government, artificial intelligence and human development, social media governance, and open data and data sharing. Your goal should be to publish relevant research in leading peer-reviewed journals.

In a minor role, you will be asked to contribute towards core activities of the Centre for Digital Governance, such as supporting grant-writing activities or helping with the organisation of the Centre's research colloquium and smaller workshops or events.

Your profile:

PhD (or equivalent) in a relevant discipline with publications demonstrating sufficient transdisciplinary understanding and capacities, and an excellent potential for academic achievement.

Keen interest in the interplay of questions related to the topics mentioned above is a must-have.

Excellent oral and written communication skills in English.

We offer:

A stimulating international and diverse environment in multiple areas of social science, high-quality teaching and public policy. The Hertie School is a vibrant academic community that emphasizes excellence in research and teaching as well as an interdisciplinary perspective. Our school has been certified as a family friendly work environment in higher education and an equal opportunity employer. Severely disabled applicants are given preferential consideration in the event of equal qualification.

Please submit your application portfolio (a CV, a cover letter describing your research plans and interest, two writing samples, and names and contact information of at least two references). Please submit your complete and relevant application documents in a single PDF file by 11 September 2022 here: <https://hertie-school.dvinci-easy.com/en/p/en/jobs/50634/intro>

Start Date: Fall 2022

Date Posted: 8/18/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10718

Aarhus University

Rank: Assistant professor in Political Science

Please see the link below:

<https://international.au.dk/about/profile/vacant-positions/job/assistant-professor-in-political-science-3>

Start Date: Spring

Application Deadline: 9/15/2022

Date Posted: 8/17/2022

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 10710

Washington University in St. Louis

Rank: Tenured/Tenure Track Faculty Position in the Area of Race, Ethnicity, and Politics

Through the Race and Ethnicity Cluster Hire Initiative, Washington University in St. Louis aims to build a world-class research program on race. Two previous rounds of this cluster hire initiative took place in 2020-21 and 2021-22. The Political Science Department is considering candidates for these positions and is seeking applications for a full-time, tenure-track or tenured appointment in the area of Race, Ethnicity, and Politics. The position is open with respect to rank and subfield. We are particularly interested in scholars whose research focuses on race, ethnicity, and political mobilization (including, but not limited to voting); structural racial and ethnic inequalities; racial and ethnic disparities in public health, education, and other public goods; racial and ethnic bias in immigration and law enforcement; racial and ethnic violence; urban politics; and related topics. Scholars whose research focuses on the U.S. as well as non-U.S. contexts are all encouraged to apply. The Department of Political Science at Washington University is a vibrant intellectual community, widely recognized for its strengths in theory, methods, and the rigorous combination of the two. More information about the department is available at <https://polisci.wustl.edu/>.

Candidates must have a PhD or other terminal degree in a field related to one or more of the units listed below, or else complete all degree requirements by July 1, 2023. Candidates must have an active and innovative research agenda focused on race and/or ethnicity and a commitment to excellent teaching. Candidates for the rank of associate or full professor should have an outstanding teaching, service, and publication record commensurate with tenure at that rank.

Equity, Diversity, and Inclusion are core values at Washington University in St. Louis. Strong candidates will be required to demonstrate the ability to create inclusive classrooms and environments in which a diverse array of students can learn and thrive. Washington University especially encourages applications from women and members of minoritized groups.

Applications should be received by October 3, 2022, to ensure full consideration. Interested applicants should submit a cover letter and curriculum vitae by this date. Additional materials may be requested upon initial review of applications, including a statement of research and teaching interests, a statement describing your commitment to and experiences with advancing equity, diversity, and inclusion in teaching, research, and service, names and contact information for three references, and two writing samples. These supporting documents should not be submitted at this time, however. Applications may be submitted electronically via Interfolio <http://apply.interfolio.com/111329>.

If applicants have questions about the application process, they should contact Professor David Cunningham at david.cunningham@wustl.edu.

Washington University in St. Louis is committed to the principles and practices of equal employment opportunity and especially encourages applications by those underrepresented in their academic fields. It is the University's policy to provide equal opportunity and access to persons in all job titles without regard to race, color, age, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, national origin, protected veteran status, disability, or genetic information.

Employment eligibility verification required upon hire.

Start Date: Fall 2023
Application Deadline: 10/3/2022
Date Posted: 8/16/2022
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 10705

Harvard University

Rank: Harvard Academy Scholar

The Academy Scholars Program of The Harvard Academy for International and Area Studies identifies and supports outstanding scholars at the start of their academic careers whose work combines excellence in a social science discipline with a command of the language and knowledge or expertise of countries or regions outside of the United States and/or Canada. Their scholarship should span traditional disciplinary divisions and elucidate comparative, transnational, or domestic issues, past or present.

The Academy Scholars are a select community of individuals with resourcefulness, initiative, and originality whose work shows promise as a foundation for careers in research universities or international institutions. They receive substantial financial and research assistance which permits them to undertake robust research projects and skills development in their chosen fields and areas. They meet at dinners, seminars, and informal get-togethers in order to pursue innovative interdisciplinary approaches to their work. They are mentored by the Academy Senior Scholars, a cohort of faculty members who act as a selection committee, participate in Academy events, and are committed to supporting the Academy Scholars as they work to achieve their potential.

The Harvard Academy is dedicated to building an inclusive community of scholars with an array of experiences, perspectives, and methods and welcomes a diverse pool of applicants.

Eligibility

These awards are open to recipients of PhD or comparable doctoral degree (within two years of the August 1, 2023, start date) and advanced doctoral candidates in the social sciences. Scholars nearing dissertation completion must be able to submit degree conferral documentation issued by their university registrar's office by June 30, 2023, for an August 1, 2023, start date. Individuals who hold or have completed another Harvard postdoctoral fellowship are not eligible to apply.

Terms

Each year, five or six Academy Scholars are named for two-year appointments with an annual stipend of $75,000, with the two years to be completed within a three-year window. Year 1 of the fellowship must be taken up no later than the fall immediately following the postdoctoral fellowship offer. Delays or deferrals in the start of Year 1 are not permitted. Between Years 1 and 2, Academy Scholars may apply for a one-time leave (up to 12 months), either to accept or to continue with a tenure-track teaching appointment but for no other reason. Academy Scholars may not accept other sources of funding, awards, or obligations during their appointment.

How to Apply

All application materials must be submitted by the deadline of September 23, 2022. We do not accept late applications.

The completed application will include:

- Curriculum vitae (CV) or resume; including list of publications
- Research proposal (2000 words maximum); including intellectual objectives and planned methodological and disciplinary work
- One scholarly writing sample (e.g., PhD dissertation chapter or peer-reviewed academic journal article); only ONE sample may be submitted, fifty pages maximum, and it must be in English
- A copy of your PhD program transcript
- Three letters of recommendation (uploaded through the online application)

Letters of recommendation must be uploaded by the deadline of September 23, 2022.

All parts of the application, including the three letters of recommendation, are submitted online as PDF documents. Please note that a full application packet must not exceed 10MB in size, so be sure to minimize the size of any large PDF files before uploading.

The online application is accessed through the homepage of The Harvard Academy's website. To access the application, click on the APPLY ONLINE button.

Questions should be emailed to: applicationinquiries@wcfia.harvard.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2023
Date Posted: 8/15/2022
Salary: $70,000 - $79,999
eJobs ID: 10652

University of Florida

Rank: Visiting Faculty Fellow

The Hamilton Center for Classical and Civic Education at the University of Florida is a multidisciplinary university center that conducts teaching, research, and public programming concerning the ideas, traditions, and texts that form the foundations of Western Civilization and the American political order.

The Center invites college and university professors and other professionals with established records of scholarship to apply for appointments as Visiting Faculty Fellows for the spring semester 2023 (classes run from January 6 to May 5, 2023). Applicants will normally be tenured or tenure-track professors or other professionals planning to take leave from their home institutions. Start and end dates are negotiable. Compensation is competitive. The appointment may be extended to one or more additional semesters if mutually agreeable. Within the bounds of our academic mission, the Center is flexible as to the disciplinary focus of our applicants, but applications for this cycle are especially encouraged from scholars working in classics, history, literature, law, philosophy, and political science.

Hamilton Center Visiting Faculty Fellows will teach up to one course per semester and pursue individual research. They enjoy access to the university library system and a wide range of other facilities and activities throughout the University. They are also encouraged to attend or participate in various activities of the Center including faculty-student seminars, colloquia, and public lectures.

How to apply: Applicants are required to submit an online application at: <https://explore.jobs.ufl.edu/en-us/job/523229/visiting-faculty-fellow>.

A complete application must include the following:

- * a curriculum vitae;
- * a scholarly paper written in the past three years;
- * a statement (no more than 1,500 words) describing the proposed research;
- * contact information for two references.

For priority consideration application materials must be received by 11:59 p.m. EST on August 23, 2022; applications will continue to be reviewed until positions are filled. Awards will be announced as soon as practicable.

Please address any inquiries to:

John Stinneford, Director
Hamilton Center for Classical and Civic Education
University of Florida
P.O. Box 117625
Gainesville, FL 32611-7625
E-mail: jstinneford@ufl.edu

Start Date: Spring 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/11/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10667

Stanford University

Rank: IDEAL Provostial Fellows for Studies in Race and Ethnicity

Stanford University, in conjunction with its IDEAL initiative, is pleased to announce that it is seeking to appoint four to five early career fellows engaged in the study of race and ethnicity. The purpose of this program is to support the work of early-career researchers, who will lead the next generation of scholarship in race and ethnicity and whose work will point the way forward for reshaping race relations in America. Fellowships may be in any of the seven schools in the University (Business, Doerr School of Sustainability, Education, Engineering, Humanities & Sciences, Law, Medicine).

Applicants will be asked to identify the school or department that aligns with the field of their Ph.D. The selected fellows will be assigned a faculty mentor from their home department or school and will have the opportunity to be involved with the other early career fellows and Stanford faculty in a variety of activities. Informally, they will be invited to lunches and dinners to meet with other Stanford faculty who share their interests. They also will be invited to engage with the intellectual programming offered by the African and African-American Studies program, the Center for Comparative Studies in Race and Ethnicity and the Martin Luther King Research and Education Institute.

The early career fellows will have an opportunity each year to teach one course that will be cross-listed in the curricula of the Center for Comparative Studies in Race and Ethnicity and/or the African and African American Studies program. This course may be taught by the fellow or the fellow may team-teach a course with another member of the Stanford faculty. The fellows also will be involved in the organization of a major conference that brings to Stanford scholars who are at the forefront of scholarship in the study of race and ethnicity.

Criteria: Scholars interested in any field of study are accepted. Early career fellows should have received their terminal degree (PhD, JD, MFA, EdD, DSW, etc.) prior to the start of the fellowship. Selection criteria includes the originality and quality of the research, as well as demonstrated potential for intellectual achievement. The term of these fellowships is three years, with a start date of September 1, 2023. To be eligible for an early career fellowship, a candidate must have received their terminal degree no earlier than September 1, 2020.

Applicants for early career fellowships should submit their applications electronically and include a cover letter (detailing the candidate's interest in the position), curriculum vitae, a statement of research interests, a statement of teaching interests, samples of written work, and three letters of recommendation (provide contact information for each and a system generated request will be delivered to each referee). In these materials, please include how your interests would be advanced by a fellowship, needs for laboratory access or special equipment, etc.

The deadline for receiving applications for early career fellowships is November 1, 2022. No application will be accepted after the deadline. Applications will not be accepted by email.

Inquiries about this program can be directed to facultydevelopment@stanford.edu. Please include "IDEAL Provostial Fellows" in the subject line.

Additional details about the fellowship program can be found at <https://facultydevelopment.stanford.edu/ideal-provostial-fellows>.

More information about Stanford's IDEAL initiative is available at <https://ideal.stanford.edu/>.

Stanford is an equal employment opportunity and affirmative action employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law. Stanford welcomes applications from all who would bring additional dimensions to the University's research, teaching and clinical missions. Consistent with its obligations under the law, the University will provide reasonable accommodation to any employee with a disability who requires accommodation to perform the essential functions of his or her job.

Start Date:

Date Posted: 8/5/2022

Salary: $80,000 - $89,999

eJobs ID: 10630

Agnes Scott College

Rank: Political Science Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Political Theory, Open

Specializations: Race & Ethnic Politics, Gender Politics & Policy, Civil Rights & Liberties

The Department of Political Science at Agnes Scott College seeks to hire a full-time, tenure track Assistant Professor whose primary focus is U.S. politics, with emphasis on racial, ethnic, and/or gender politics. The successful candidate will offer courses at the introductory and advanced levels in U.S. government and in the candidate's field of specialization. Special consideration will be given to applicants who can teach constitutional law and political theory. The 3/2 teaching load may also include contributions to SUMMIT, the college's global learning and leadership development initiative. Candidates should demonstrate a commitment to working with a socially and economically diverse student population.

To apply, send a cover letter that describes your teaching, research, and service, and how your work would contribute to the development of an equitable and inclusive community in the department and at the college. Additionally please include a CV, a statement of teaching philosophy for a diverse student population, and a list of three references. Shortlisted candidates may be asked to supply additional materials at a later date. Direct your materials to the search committee chair, Dr. Mona Tajali at facultyserve@agnesscott.edu. Applications received by September 30, 2022 will receive the committee's full consideration.

Agnes Scott College is a highly selective, independent, national liberal arts college for women located in metropolitan Atlanta, a cosmopolitan and ethnically diverse region with a vibrant cultural life. The college has been nationally recognized for innovation, a highly diverse student population, and excellence in teaching and is committed to providing its faculty with a supportive academic environment. All faculty reviews evaluate the candidate's performance in the areas of teaching, scholarship, and service, with the highest priority given to teaching. Support for faculty development includes travel funding, a one-semester research leave at full pay after successful completion of the third-year review, a post-tenure sabbatical program, and the opportunity to apply for internal professional development awards. An equal opportunity employer, Agnes Scott College does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, national origin, religion, sex, sexual orientation, age, veteran status, disability or genetic information, gender identity, gender expression or any other characteristic protected by law in its employment. Agnes Scott College has a strong commitment to diversity and urges members of underrepresented groups to apply. www.agnesscott.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/4/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10621

Teachers College, Columbia University

Rank: Assistant/Associate Professor, Politics & Education, Education Policy & Social Analysis Department

Assistant/Associate Professor, Politics & Education, Education Policy & Social Analysis Department

Posting Summary:

The Department of Education Policy & Social Analysis (EPSA) at Teachers College, Columbia University is seeking a tenure-track assistant or associate professor who studies education within the disciplinary framework of political science. The person we hire will conduct original research and distill important ideas and evidence from political science to improve understanding of how contests over power and authority, and ideas about democracy and governance, affect how societies produce and distribute educational opportunities and with what consequences for whom. We are particularly interested in scholarship on the politics of inequality, and the distribution of resources and opportunities to members of historically underrepresented and minoritized groups. We will consider applicants whose research is primarily qualitative, primarily quantitative, or mixed methods in design, but we value those who are conversant in a range of empirical approaches. While we expect the person we hire would have a primary focus on the U.S., we'd also value work that draws connections across national and cultural contexts.

Job Summary/Basic Function:

The Department of Education Policy & Social Analysis (EPSA) at Teachers College, Columbia University is seeking a tenure-track assistant or associate professor who studies education within the disciplinary framework of political science. The person we hire will conduct original research and distill important ideas and evidence from political science to improve understanding of how contests over power and authority, and ideas about democracy and governance, affect how societies produce and distribute educational opportunities and with what consequences for whom. We are particularly interested in scholarship on the politics of inequality, and the distribution of resources and opportunities to members of historically underrepresented and minoritized groups. We will consider applicants whose research is primarily qualitative, primarily quantitative, or mixed methods in design, but we value those who are conversant in a range of empirical approaches. While we expect the person we hire would have a primary focus on the U.S., we'd also value work that draws connections across national and cultural contexts.

EPSA includes programs in Economics and Education, Politics and Education, Sociology and Education, and Education Policy. For more information on EPSA, see <https://www.tc.columbia.edu/education-policy-and-social-analysis>. Faculty and students work closely and collaboratively across programs. The Department's 13 tenure-track faculty, four research professors and two professors of practice draw upon multiple disciplinary perspectives, including law, sociology, economics, and political science, to explore education policies and practices across the pre-K to higher education spectrum. Outside of the institution, our faculty and students also benefit from the rich cultural, policy, and intellectual environment of New York City.

Responsibilities: Teach graduate courses in the politics of education at the local, state, and national level. Maintain an active research and publications profile. Play a leadership role in, and likely serve as director of, a program in which students can pursue a Master's or a Ph.D. in politics & education. Participate in administration and development activities. Work collegially with students and faculty within EPSA, finding and building upon common research and intellectual interests. This tenure-track Assistant or Associate Professor position begins September 1, 2023. The standard teaching load is four courses per academic year.

Minimum Qualifications:

Earned doctorate in political science, public policy, education policy or directly related field; evidence of scholarly accomplishments and likelihood of future productivity; promise or history of external research support.

Preferred Qualifications:

The department is especially interested in candidates who will contribute to the diversity and excellence of our academic community.

To apply, please visit: <https://apprtrkr.com/3295109>

Start Date:Application Deadline: 9/14/2022Date Posted: 8/4/2022Salary: CompetitiveeJobs ID: 10617University of Michigan*Rank: University of Michigan LSA Collegiate Fellows

University of Michigan LSA Collegiate Fellows

Application Deadline: Monday, September 19, 2022, by 11:59 EDT

Reference Letter Deadline: Wednesday, September 21, 2022, by 11:59 EDT

Application & Reference Letter Deadline for the Departments of Chemistry, Mathematics and Statistics: Tuesday, November 1, 2022, by 9:00 a.m. EDT

The College of Literature Science and the Arts (LSA) at the University of Michigan seeks outstanding scholars in the natural and social sciences whose teaching and mentoring, AND/OR, research and scholarship, AND/OR service and engagement will contribute to our interconnected goals of excellence, diversity, equity, and inclusion.

The LSA Collegiate Fellows Program aims to recruit and hire exceptional early career faculty and promote an inclusive scholarly environment. The fellowship provides one- two years of support for early career scholars with dedicated research time, mentorship, research and travel funding, and cohort- and program-based professional development opportunities related to scholarship and teaching.

The LSA Collegiate Fellows Program was launched in 2016 as a major college initiative aimed at promoting an intellectually rich and inclusive scholarly environment, recruiting and retaining exceptional early career faculty scholars, and supporting these outstanding scholars who are committed to working with college colleagues to build a diverse, equitable scholarly and learning community. The program is administered by U-M's National Center for Institutional Diversity (NCID) in conjunction with LSA academic departments.

Eligibility:

For the 2022-2023 academic year applications are welcome from natural science or social science fields represented in LSA academic departments. Applicants must apply through NCID's application portal in order to be considered for a Collegiate Fellowship (linked below). A list of participating departments/units, eligibility requirements, and crucial application information can be found at <http://myumi.ch/JYppY>. Inquiries may be directed to lsacollegiate@umich.edu.

Start Date:Application Deadline: 9/19/2021Date Posted: 8/4/2022Salary: $60,000 - $69,999eJobs ID: 10622Clemson University*Rank: Department Chair and Professor of Political Science

Clemson University's Department of Political Science is seeking applications for the position of Department Chair, a tenure-line position with faculty rank of Full Professor, to begin July 1, 2023. The Chair will report directly to the Dean of the College of Behavioral, Social and Health Sciences (CBSHS), which includes the following departments:

Communication; Parks, Recreation and Tourism Management; Political Science; Psychology; Public Health Sciences; Sociology, Anthropology and Criminal Justice; and the School of Nursing (see <https://www.clemson.edu/cbshs/index.html>).

The Department of Political Science offers courses in American politics, comparative politics, international relations, political theory, public policy, and public administration. Students have the option of earning either a Bachelor of Arts (B.A.) or a Bachelor of Science (B.S.) degree in political science. Graduate degrees include a Master of Public Administration (MPA) and a Ph.D. in Policy Studies. The MPA program serves working professionals throughout the region and provides important connections to South Carolina communities and Clemson's land grant mission. The Ph.D. program has the primary objective of training policy scholars who can serve in academic, government, or other research settings (see: <https://www.clemson.edu/cbshs/departments/political-science/index.html>).

Political science majors enjoy many small classes that foster research, critical thinking, student participation, and faculty-student interaction. The department is known for both teaching excellence and rigorous academic standards. Since 1990, political science faculty have won the Alumni Master Teacher Award, the Centennial Professorship Award, the Provost Excellence in Teaching Award, and numerous other teaching awards. The department draws from among the highest achieving undergraduate students and is a strong partner with the Honors College. Many of its undergraduate honors students have won major fellowships including the Truman, Knight-Hennessy, and Fulbright Scholarships.

The Department of Political Science faculty are active scholars, have authored or edited nearly four dozen books, and have published peer-reviewed articles in many of the top journals in the discipline. Areas of research foci are diverse, spanning American politics, comparative politics, international relations, political theory, collaborative governance, rural and regional development, and health policy. In addition, faculty have won grants and financial awards from, among others, the National Science Foundation, the Fulbright Program, Olin and MacArthur Foundations, the Twentieth Century Fund, the Hoover Institution, Society for the Scientific Study of Religion, the Woods Hole Oceanographic Institution, Woodrow Wilson Center, Ewing Marion Kauffman Foundation, U.S. Institute of Peace and the Stockholm International Peace Research Institute, U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, U.S. Department of State, IBM, and the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration. The Department of Political Science is committed to educating and producing leaders who can navigate the challenges of an ever-changing global community. The department espouses an environment of collegiality and collaboration and aims to achieve goals for inclusive excellence set forth by the college and university's strategic plans. We are dedicated to promoting diversity through teaching, scholarship, and service on campus and in the community.

The Department of Political Science has 400 undergraduate majors, 130 MPA students, and 25 Ph.D. students. The department has 26 full-time faculty (including post-docs and full-time lecturers) and 4 full-time staff. Clemson University is a land-grant public institution located along the shores of Lake Hartwell in the foothills of the Blue Ridge Mountains. The area is valued by many for its wonderful outdoor recreation opportunities, great weather, low cost of living, and friendly people. An overview of the Department can be found here.

Position Expectations:

The expectations of the Chair include, but are not limited to:

- ? Provide leadership to advance a culture of collaboration, transparency, and excellence.
- ? Promote diversity, equity and inclusive excellence among faculty, staff, and students in our department.
- ? Manage and build financial resources necessary to accomplish the mission of the department.
- ? Execute and adapt the strategic plan to ensure alignment with and support of our college and university level strategic plans.
- ? Develop and implement a plan to raise the research profile of the department in support of the University's R1 mission.
- ? Maintain and model excellence in research scholarship
- ? Promote interdisciplinary teaching, research and collaboration.

Qualifications:

To apply for this position, candidates should have at least three years of department, college, or university level administrative experience. The candidate will be a leader with a vision for helping maintain the department's strong commitment to student success while advancing and expanding our research efforts as an R1 institution.

Responsibilities include working with faculty and staff to chart a vision for the future of the Department of Political Science, working collaboratively with college and university administrators, facilitating student recruitment, fundraising, budget administration, and personnel management. The ideal candidate will be fiscally responsible, possess excellent interpersonal skills, and demonstrate a strong sense of stewardship.

Application Instructions

Review of applications will begin October 1, 2022 and continue until the position is filled. To apply, please follow this link, <https://apply.interfolio.com/110294> and upload the following: (1) a cover letter detailing the applicant's qualifications for the position, (2) a current curriculum vitae, (3) a statement detailing how the applicant's teaching, research, and/or service experiences contribute to a culture of diversity and inclusion, and (4) contact information for five professional references.

If you have questions or would like to discuss the position please contact: Dr. Lori Dickes, Search Committee Chair, (864) 656-7831, lorid@clemsun.edu

This institution is using Interfolio's By Committee to conduct this search. Applicants to this position receive a free Dossier account and can upload all application materials, including confidential letters of recommendation.

Clemson University

One of the most productive public research universities in the nation, Clemson University attracts and unites students and faculty whose greatest desire is to make a difference in the lives of others. In 2021, Clemson was once again ranked as one of the top public universities in the country by U.S. News & World Report and has a long-standing reputation of dedication to teaching, research and service. Clemson was also named a top employer by Forbes in 2021.

Clemson University is committed to embracing and promoting an inclusive environment for higher learning and has recently received the Higher Education Excellence in Diversity (HEED) Award (2021) from INSIGHT Into Diversity magazine as well as one of only 14 schools to be named Diversity Champion, scoring in top tier of all HEED Award institutions.

Start Date: Summer 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/2/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10584

Morgan State University

Rank: Assistant Professor - International Relations

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Open

Specializations: Middle East, Africa, Caribbean

The Department of Political Science invites applicants for a full-time tenure track position at the rank of Assistant Professor effective August 2023. The applicant must hold the Ph. D in Political Science with a concentration in International Relations. The applicant is expected to teach undergraduate and upper-level courses as well as graduate courses in International Studies. The courses include International Relations, Political Theory, Comparative Governments, and Foreign Affairs. The candidate is expected to teach one regional area such as Europe, sub-Saharan Africa, Asia, Middle East and North Africa, the Caribbean and Latin America. Occasionally, the applicant may teach critical topics such as International Problems, Politics of Climate Changes, and Migration and must be willing to engage in inter/transdisciplinary collaborations in teaching.

In addition to teaching, duties will include research, service to the program, university, and the community, especially initiating and participating in student-centered activities, and helping students to develop skills that are fundamental to a liberal education such as critical thinking and analytical writing.

The successful candidate is expected to commit to excellence; to create a welcoming and supportive environment for all students; contribute to student learning and an ability and willingness to participate actively in the Department's advisement of students and service responsibilities.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/2/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10588

Morgan State University

Rank: Assistant Professor in American Government and Public Policy

Specializations: Political Theory, African American Politics, Congress

The Department of Political Science invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor in American Politics, to begin in the fall 2023 semester. Candidates must possess a Ph.D., in Political Science, with a concentration in American Government and Public Policy. Candidates will be expected to teach undergraduate introductory and advanced political science courses, as well as graduate courses in the MA program in International Studies, and must be willing to engage in inter/transdisciplinary collaborations in teaching.

In addition to teaching, duties will include grant-writing, research, service to the program, university, and the community, especially initiating and participating in student-centered activities. The successful candidate is also expected to commit to excellence; to create a welcoming and supportive environment for all students; contribute to student learning and an ability and willingness to participate actively in the Department's advisement of students and service responsibilities.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/2/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10587

New York University

Rank: Assistant Professor

Position Description:

The Wilf Family Department of Politics seeks qualified candidates for up to three positions at the assistant professor level, open to subfield. The department seeks outstanding scholars who rigorously approach the systematic study of political phenomena. The positions are to begin September 1, 2023, pending administrative approval.

Qualifications:

Candidates are expected to possess a PhD by September 2023, in political science or a cognate discipline; to have records of excellent research; and to indicate the potential to be future disciplinary leaders in their respective fields of expertise. Candidates should also have demonstrated ability as excellent teachers at the undergraduate and/or graduate level.

The Politics Department at NYU is dedicated to the goal of building a diverse and inclusive academic community. Accordingly, we strongly encourage applications from candidates who can demonstrate through their scholarship, teaching and mentoring, and/or service engagement commitment to these goals. We are particularly interested in hearing about steps you have taken (or plan to take) to foster an open and inclusive intellectual environment in the classroom, in the department and on campus, and/or in your field more generally.

Application Instructions:

Please apply online at: <http://apply.interfolio.com/110485>. Candidates seeking the fullest consideration should submit their applications by September 15, 2022. Candidates are strongly encouraged to supply links to their professional websites; this will enhance their applications by allowing the search committee easy access to additional information that might be needed.

Required Applicant Documents:

- Cover letter
- CV or Resume
- Statement of Research and Goals
- Statement of Teaching
- Writing Sample
- Three Letters of Reference

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 9/15/2022

Date Posted: 8/2/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10589

Washington State University

Rank: Assistant Professor, Native American/Indigenous Law and Policy

The School of Politics, Philosophy and Public Affairs (PPPA) at Washington State University invites applications for a permanent, full-time, nine-month, tenure-track Assistant Professor position in Pullman, WA, with a specialty in Native American/Indigenous Law and Policy. We seek applicants who conduct research related to tribal sovereignty broadly, using the lens of the law and public policy. Research might address how attitudes about Indigenous Peoples inform and influence law and policies that affect Indigenous and Native American nations, the social and political consequences of tensions between Native legal institutions and state and federal courts, or how an understanding of the law might help address the inequities that exist in Native American and other Indigenous communities.

WSU is committed to building a diverse, equitable, and inclusive university community. The university recognizes that fostering an inclusive environment for all, with particular attention to the needs of historically marginalized populations, is vital to the pursuit of excellence in all aspects of our institutional mission. Towards continually strengthening this commitment, we seek candidates whose research, teaching, and/or service has prepared them to be an integral contributor to the continued advancement of inclusion, diversity, equity, and access here at WSU.

This position is part of a faculty cluster hire initiative in the scholarship and teaching about racism and social inequality in the Americas, with a particular focus this year on Native American/Indigenous communities. The university is particularly interested in hiring scholars who are deeply connected to and integrated into the communities that they study, as a means to build on our strong tradition of engaged and applied scholarship at WSU.

It is anticipated that the successful candidate will begin the appointment on August 16, 2023.

Job duties:

Developing and maintaining a productive program of scholarship (which may be multi-disciplinary, appear in non-traditional or specialized venues, share authorship with non-academic or community partners, or speak to teaching), seeking appropriate grant funding, mentoring graduate student research, teaching graduate and undergraduate courses on topics in the law, policy and Native American/Indigenous studies, collaborating with members of other departments and programs (e.g., WSU's Center for Native American Research and Collaboration (CNRC); <https://native.wsu.edu/cnrc/>), and participating in meaningful community engagement.

Required Qualifications:

Earned doctoral degree in Political Science, Public Policy, Public Administration, Law, Legal Studies or a related field or a Juris Doctor (J.D.) by August 15, 2023

Demonstrated record of or potential for scholarship that addresses Native American/Indigenous law and policy

Proven or potential for successful teaching and instruction

Demonstrated commitment to campus diversity, equity, and inclusion efforts

Significant engagement with the communities involved in their research

Preferred Qualifications:

Ability to teach courses such as Judicial Process, Civil Liberties and U.S. Constitution

Demonstrated ability to work collegially and collaboratively with internal and external constituencies that represent diverse cultures, backgrounds, and ideologies.

Screening Begin Date: Formal screening of applications will begin October 1, 2022, and continue until the position is filled.

Application Instructions: Apply using this link: https://wsu.wd5.myworkdayjobs.com/en-US/WSU_Jobs/job/Assistant-Professor_R-6748

Application materials should clearly communicate how the applicant meets all required qualifications and additional requirements. Applicants are required to include contact information for professional references within the application.

Inquiries should be directed to Dr. Steven Stehr, Chair, Native American/Indigenous Law and Policy Faculty Search Committee, at stehr@wsu.edu.

Required Documents:

A cover letter addressing qualifications for this position

Curriculum vitae

Teaching portfolio that includes a statement of teaching philosophy and other indicators of teaching success such as quantitative evaluations and peer reviews

Research statement

Contributions to Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion statement

Names, addresses, and contact information of at least three references who can address your history of and potential for excellence in research, teaching, and service (letters will be requested at a later time)

WASHINGTON STATE UNIVERSITY IS AN EQUAL OPPORTUNITY/AFFIRMATIVE ACTION EDUCATOR AND EMPLOYER. Members of ethnic minorities, women, special disabled veterans, veterans of the Vietnam-era, recently separated veterans, and other protected veteran, persons of disability and/or persons age 40 and over are encouraged to apply.

WSU employs only U.S. citizens and lawfully authorized non-U.S. citizens. All new employees must show employment eligibility verification as required by the U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Services.

WSU is committed to providing access and reasonable accommodation in its services, programs, activities, education and employment for individuals with disabilities. To request disability accommodation in the application process, contact Human Resource Services: 509-335-4521 (v), Washington State TDD Relay Service: Voice Callers: 1-800-833-6384; TDD Callers: 1-800-833-6388, 509-335-1259(f), or hrs@wsu.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 10/1/2022

Date Posted: 8/2/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10586

Princeton University

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Associate, Program in Latin American Studies

The Program in Latin American Studies (PLAS) is seeking candidates from any discipline who are engaged in scholarly research on topics related to Latin American Studies, including the Caribbean and Brazil, to fill two Postdoctoral Research Associate or more senior research positions. Candidates will be expected to devote themselves to research and writing, and may teach not more than one course per semester. When teaching, successful candidates will hold the secondary rank of Lecturer, and any teaching opportunities are subject to sufficient enrollments and the approval of the Dean of the Faculty. They also will be invited to participate regularly in the scholarly activities of the PLAS intellectual community.

Appointments are for a 12-month term, starting September 1, 2023, with the possibility of renewal, contingent on satisfactory performance and continued funding.

A competitive salary commensurate with experience and excellent benefits will be offered.

This position is subject to the University's background check policy.

How to Apply

For full consideration complete applications including letters of recommendation should be submitted by December 2, 2022, 11:59 p.m. EST.

All candidates must apply online and submit the below materials (in English) at <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/26501>.

- 1) Cover letter
- 2) Curriculum vitae
- 3) Statement of research interests (1,000 – 1,500 words)
- 4) A representative sample of recent work (under 30 written pages or equivalent)
- 5) Three letters of recommendation

Required Qualifications: Doctoral degree (earned within three years of the start date). Academic excellence, potential to bring new ideas and approaches to Princeton University and to interact successfully with a broad range of faculty and students.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 12/2/2022

Date Posted: 8/1/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10481

Princeton University, Program in Latin American Studies

Rank: Visiting Fellow, Program in Latin American Studies

The Program in Latin American Studies is launching an open call for applications for next year's visiting short-term fellowships. We are looking for top scholars in their field. Applications will be accepted from outstanding scholars in the humanities and social sciences, as well as from established writers, artists, filmmakers, or architects working on projects relating to Latin America who are stellar teachers.

Appointments will be for one month during the 2023-2024 academic year (September 1, 2023 to June 30, 2024). The Office of the Dean of the Faculty determines stipend on the basis of current academic rank; appointment rank at Princeton is determined on the basis of seniority and current institutional affiliation.

Visiting Fellows will be expected to devote themselves to research and to participate regularly in the scholarly activities of the PLAS intellectual community.

How to Apply:

For full consideration, all the materials listed below must be received by October 16, 2022. All candidates must apply online to submit materials at <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/26502>.

Cover letter (in English) indicating when the applicant proposes to stay for one month during the academic year (September 1, 2023 to June 30, 2024), title of the proposed research project, and an explanation for reasons to be here at Princeton (i.e., use the library, look at particular archives, work with members of the faculty, etc.);

- 1) Curriculum vitae (in English);
- 2) A statement (in English) describing the research project and its scholarly contribution (1,500 – 2,000 words);
- 3) The names and contact information of two referees. (The Program will contact them, if needed, later).

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 10/16/2022

Date Posted: 8/1/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10483

Princeton University, Program in Latin American Studies

Rank: Visiting Research Scholar, Program in Latin American Studies

The Program in Latin American Studies (PLAS) is seeking top scholars in their fields who have teaching experience and will provide Princeton students with a unique opportunity to study topics that are not regularly offered at the University. Applications will be accepted from outstanding scholars in the humanities and social sciences, as well as from established writers, artists, filmmakers, or architects working on projects relating to Latin America who are stellar teachers.

Visiting Research Scholars will be expected to teach one undergraduate course per semester, conditional upon sufficient enrollments and approval of a Princeton department and the Dean of the Faculty, and to participate in PLAS-related events on campus.

Appointments are for one or two semesters, during the 2023-2024 academic year (fall semester: September 1, 2023 - January 16, 2024; spring semester: January 16, 2024 - June 1, 2024). A competitive salary commensurate with experience and excellent benefits will be offered. The Office of the Dean of the Faculty determines salary on the basis of current academic rank and award duration; appointment rank at Princeton is determined on the basis of experience and current institutional affiliation.

How to Apply:

For full consideration, all the materials listed must be received by October 16, 2022, 11:59 p.m. EST. All candidates must submit materials (in English) and apply online at <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/26503>.

- 1) Cover letter indicating the applicant's proposed length of stay (1-2 semesters), title of the proposed research project, and teaching interests;
- 2) Curriculum vitae;
- 3) One undergraduate seminar proposal or syllabus for each proposed semester of the fellowship, including a statement of how the course(s) would enhance undergraduate education at Princeton;
- 4) A statement describing the research project and its scholarly contribution (2,000 – 3,000 words);
- 5) The names and contact information of two referees (the Program will contact them, if needed, later).

Advanced degree preferred.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 10/16/2022

Date Posted: 8/1/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10482

University of Texas, Arlington

Rank: Department Chair

Position ID: F00322P

The Department of Political Science in the College of Liberal Arts, at the University of Texas at Arlington, invites applications for the position of department chair. Applicants must be eligible to meet the criteria for the rank of either associate professor or professor.

The successful candidate will lead a dynamic program that offers undergraduate degrees and concentrations in Political Behavior and Processes, Public Law, Public Policy, and Comparative Politics, and International Relations, and an M.A. in Political Science. The department also offers two mandatory undergraduate courses that are essential to the university's mission. The successful candidate will have demonstrated strong administrative skills, leadership abilities, interpersonal and problem-solving skills, and provide advocacy for diverse student and faculty concerns. Demonstrated experience in program growth/development and in cultivating relationships external to the university are especially welcomed. The chair will be expected to guide curricular/program assessment; revision and development; guide faculty through the tenure and promotion process; oversee all personnel matters for faculty and staff; manage the budget and other departmental resources; partner with the university in enrollment management; serve as a liaison between faculty and administration; and sustain and enhance collaborative programs with other campus units and external partners. A terminal degree in Political Science is required. Candidates with prior administrative experience, including experience as a department chair, associate chair, or college level administrator, will receive special consideration.

Situated within the Dallas-Fort Worth Metroplex area, UT Arlington is a diverse academic community of students working together with faculty committed to outstanding teaching, research, and scholarship. With a global enrollment of approximately 60,000 students, The University of Texas at Arlington is the largest institution in North Texas. It is one of 131 universities nationwide to receive the R-1: Doctoral Universities—Very High Research Activity designation by the Carnegie Classification of Institutions of Higher Education, the definitive list for the top doctoral research universities in the United States. In 2021, UTA received the Texas Tier One designation reserved for the state's top institutions for academic and research excellence and the Higher Education Excellence in Diversity Award (HEED) award for outstanding commitment to diversity, equity and inclusion in higher education. The University ranks No. 1 nationally in the Military Times' annual "Best for Vets: Colleges" list, is designated as a Hispanic-Serving Institution and an Asian American and Native American Pacific Islander-Serving Institution and has approximately 240,000 alumni making an impact across Texas and beyond. UTA currently requires periodic COVID-19 testing for all employees.

The Department of Political Science (<http://www.uta.edu/pols/> and <https://www.facebook.com/POLSatUT Arlington>) offers a Bachelor of Arts and Master of Arts. It serves students from across the University (in state-mandated introductory courses) as well as over two hundred and forty undergraduate majors and minors and ten to twenty graduate students.

Successful candidates are expected to demonstrate a commitment to diversity and equity in education through their scholarship, teaching, and/or service as well as a strong commitment to teaching, advising, and mentoring undergraduate and graduate students from diverse backgrounds.

To apply applicants should go to <http://uta.peopleadmin.com/> and submit the following materials: 1) a current CV, 2) a letter of interest, 3) a diversity statement, and 4) at least three reference letters. Review of applications will begin immediately and will continue until the position is filled. The start date for the position is August 1, 2023.

Questions may be addressed to Dr. Heather Jacobson (jacobson@uta.edu). For more information about UTA, please visit: <http://www.uta.edu/uta>.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/27/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10539

Catholic University of America

Rank: Assistant Professor of Practice

The Department of Politics at The Catholic University of America seeks to fill a full-time Assistant Professor of Practice position to direct the University's Intelligence Studies Program, teach intelligence courses, and administer the Certificate program in Intelligence Studies. This appointment will begin on August 20, 2023. The appointment would be for two years and is renewable.

The successful candidate will teach two undergraduate intelligence courses per semester, monitor the progress of students enrolled in the Certificate, manage the participation of adjunct professors teaching in the program, advise students interested in pursuing intelligence as a career, serve as faculty advisor for the Catholic University Intelligence Club, and help schedule speakers and other intelligence-related events for students.

The department seeks candidates with a doctoral degree from an accredited university in a field relevant to intelligence, e.g., in the humanities, social science, economics and business, engineering, the hard sciences, or computer and cyber areas. We especially encourage applications from candidates with prior teaching experience at the university level and practical career experience in the United States Intelligence Community. The Department is particularly interested in candidates who are enthusiastic about teaching and advising undergraduates.

The successful candidate will teach the popular introductory course on American intelligence and will be expected to develop other intelligence courses based on his or her areas of career expertise. In addition to past scholarship, a willingness to engage in further research and publication, consistent with Catholic University's commitment to excellence as a research university, would be welcome.

We seek candidates who understand and support the mission of the University, which can be found here: <https://www.catholic.edu/about-us/at-a-glance/index.html>.

Applications should be sent to pol-search@cua.edu and include the following: (1) a cover letter stating your interest, (2) a curriculum vitae, (3) the names and contact information of three references, and (4) a one- to two-page personal statement indicating how your research, teaching, and service will make a distinctive contribution to our University's mission and to the vision of Catholic education as outlined in the Apostolic Constitution on Catholic Universities Ex Corde Ecclesiae.

Review of applications will begin on October 17, 2022, and will continue until the position is filled. Questions about this position can be directed to the Department Chair, Matthew Green (greenm@cua.edu).

The Catholic University of America is an Equal Opportunity Employer.

Start Date: Summer 2022

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/25/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10525

Gustavus Adolphus College

Rank: Assistant Professor

Position Details: Gustavus Adolphus College invites applications for a tenure-track position of Assistant Professor in the Department of Political Science to begin September 1, 2023. We seek applications from teacher-scholars in any subfield of political science whose research and/or teaching specialization is race, ethnicity, and politics. We are especially interested in candidates who will further diversify our faculty and curriculum and who will contribute to general education and interdisciplinary programs (particularly African/African Diaspora Studies, but we are also open to interests in Environmental Studies; Gender, Women, and Sexuality Studies; Japanese Studies; Latin American, Latinx, and Caribbean Studies; and/or Peace, Justice and Conflict Studies).

Institution Information: Gustavus Adolphus College seeks employees who are committed to and will be resolute in advancing inclusion and equity. We seek candidates whose experience has prepared them to help us realize our college-wide goal of engagement and inclusion of culturally and racially diverse audiences in the humanities, arts, and sciences. The Gustavus Acts strategic plan renews our commitment to equip students to lead purposeful lives, and to act on the great challenges of our time by diversifying and expanding the Gustavus community and delivering a distinctive and integrated liberal arts education.

Minnesota is home to vibrant Black American communities and growing communities of Hmong, Latinx, and Somali peoples, as well as significant numbers of Indigenous people. We believe that representation from these groups contributes positively to our student body.

We are committed to fostering a community that embodies the value of a liberal arts education rooted in pluralism. We engage in this work at a coeducational, private, Lutheran (ELCA) College of Swedish immigrant heritage that is a leading residential, national liberal arts institution of 2200 students.

Department Information: The Department of Political Science helps students develop an understanding of political processes, political institutions, and the issues and problems that politics tries to manage. The Department also teaches students skills of analysis, research, and evaluation so that they can become more informed citizens. For more information about the department, its faculty, students, and courses, please see the department website at <https://gustavus.edu/poli-sci/>.

Major/Essential Functions: Gustavus faculty teach, advise, conduct research, and serve the college and department. Currently, tenure-line Gustavus faculty have a 6-course equivalent teaching assignment. In their first year, the successful candidate will receive a reduced teaching assignment of five courses, plus one fully-compensated course release.

Primary teaching responsibilities will include 2-3 introductory level courses (U.S. Government and Politics, International Relations, Comparative Politics, and/or Political and Legal Thinking, depending on the candidate's subfield) and intermediate and/or advanced courses in the candidate's subfield and area of specialization.

Application Procedures: To apply, visit <https://gustavus.edu/jobs> and complete the online application. The documents that must be uploaded include the following:

- Letter of application that addresses the position qualifications
- Curriculum vitae
- A brief (one page) statement of teaching philosophy
- A brief (one page) statement of research interests
- A brief (one page) statement of inclusion and equity commitment
- Transcripts (scanned copies acceptable)
- The names and contact information for three professional references (at least one must be able to address teaching experience and teaching effectiveness; please indicate the teaching reference in your letter of application). Please do not ask references to submit letters of recommendation; the committee will conduct reference checks by phone.

For full consideration, applications must be received by October 1, 2022. While applications may be accepted after this date, it is not guaranteed that they will be considered. At this time, please only upload the required documents listed above; finalists will be asked to submit syllabi and publications. Incomplete applications will not be considered by the search committee.

Gustavus Adolphus College is an Equal Opportunity and Affirmative Action Employer. The College does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, creed, religion, age, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, marital status, disability, or veteran status in its education or employment programs or activities.

Prerequisites

Minimum Qualifications:

- PhD in political science (we will consider candidates who have achieved ABD status and who will complete their degree by September 30, 2023)
- Political science teaching experience at the college or university level
- Teaching and/or research specialization or expertise in race, ethnicity, and politics
- Demonstrated commitment to supporting students from diverse backgrounds and identities

Preferred Qualifications:

- Demonstrated effectiveness in teaching
- Ability to teach existing introductory courses and develop/expand departmental course offerings at the undergraduate level
- Interest and ability to contribute to African/African Diaspora Studies or other interdisciplinary programs
- An emerging pattern of research and professional activities
- Demonstrated commitment to the value of a liberal arts education

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 10/1/2022

Date Posted: 7/25/2022

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 10522

University of British Columbia

Rank: Tenure-Track Position in Canadian Politics

The Department of Political Science at The University of British Columbia (Vancouver) invites applications for up to two tenure-track positions in Canadian Politics, with the possibility of an appointment at the Assistant Professor, Associate Professor, or Professor rank.

The area of research and teaching specialization within the field of Canadian politics is open. The Department has a particular interest in scholars who will enhance its diversity.

The successful candidate will have a completed Ph.D. in Political Science (or related field), or be able to adequately demonstrate all Ph.D. requirements are sufficiently close to completion. The successful candidate is expected to have a Ph.D. for the start of the appointment. The anticipated start date is?July 1, 2023.

The successful candidate will be expected to develop and maintain an active program of research in Canadian Politics leading to peer-reviewed publications and the securing of external research funding, and to contribute to the education and training of undergraduate as well as graduate students.

This position is subject to final budgetary approval.?While at this time we expect in-person campus interviews to take place, applicants must be prepared to conduct interviews remotely if circumstances require. Salary will be commensurate with qualifications and experience.

To apply, applicants must upload online the following in order at <https://poli.air.arts.ubc.ca/job-application-tenure-track-position-in-canadian-politics-2022/>

- an application letter;
- a curriculum vitae;
- a statement of teaching philosophy, interests and accomplishments (maximum 2 pages);

- a description of current and future research interests (maximum 2 pages);
- evidence of teaching effectiveness (e.g., summaries of teaching evaluations (official preferred), peer reviews of teaching, sample course material);
- a 1-page statement about the applicant's experience working with a diverse student body and contributions or potential contributions to creating/advancing a culture of equity and inclusion.
- one electronic sample of research or publication; and
- if invited for an on-campus interview, candidates must provide a written paper associated with their job talk if the talk is not based on the originally submitted sample.

In addition, applicants should arrange for three confidential signed letters of recommendation to be sent separately to the Department of Political Science care of Jeff Yupiter, Assistant to the Department Head, at poli.recruitment@ubc.ca. Review of applications begins on October 1, 2022, and will continue until the position is filled.

UBC-Vancouver's Point Grey Campus is located on the traditional, ancestral, and unceded territories of the Musqueam people, with whom UBC shares a framework Memorandum of Affiliation. For information relating to Indigenous initiatives that are available at UBC, visit the UBC Vancouver Indigenous portal at <https://indigenous.ubc.ca>. The Department of Political Science at UBC is committed to increasing Indigenous engagement within its curriculum.

Equity and diversity are essential to academic excellence. An open and diverse community fosters the inclusion of voices that have been underrepresented or discouraged. We encourage applications from members of groups that have been marginalized on any grounds enumerated under the B.C. Human Rights Code, including sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, racialization, disability, political belief, religion, marital or family status, age, and/or status as a First Nation, Metis, Inuit, or Indigenous person. All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply; however, Canadians and permanent residents of Canada will be given priority.

Start Date: Summer 2023

Application Deadline: 10/1/2022

Date Posted: 7/25/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10515

Princeton University

Rank: Laurance S. Rockefeller Visiting Faculty Fellowships

The University Center for Human Values at Princeton University invites applications for Laurance S. Rockefeller Visiting Faculty Fellowships for the academic year 2023-24. Fellows devote an academic year in residence at Princeton to research and writing about topics involving human values in public and private life. This full-time visiting program is open to scholars in all disciplines across the humanities and social sciences. For 2023-24, the Center's designated research theme is Reckoning with Race. We welcome research that analyzes the category of race in both local and global contexts and in different periods of history, as well as research that investigates intersections of race, ethnicity, and indigeneity. Applications on other areas of research are also welcomed; we anticipate that roughly half of the fellowships awarded for 2023-24 will fall within the research theme. For applications relevant to the research theme, please state this explicitly and describe the relevance of the research to the theme. In assessing each application, we look for the potential of applicants to contribute to and benefit from a research community that draws together scholars who work in and across different disciplines.

Fellows are expected to reside in or around Princeton or demonstrate to the program's satisfaction the ability to be on campus on a daily basis and on short notice in order to fulfill responsibilities relating to in-person participation. Fellows are expected to pursue their own research and to be active contributors to the intellectual life of the Center. This includes participating in a weekly seminar attended by fellows and Center faculty to discuss work in progress and in various other seminars, colloquia and lectures sponsored by the Center. Fellows enjoy access to Firestone Library and to a wide range of activities throughout the University.

Candidates must have a doctorate or equivalent professional degree and a strong record of research publications appropriate to their career stage. Typically Fellows hold faculty positions at other universities or colleges; in exceptional cases we consider applications from independent scholars when there is a high level of scholarly achievement. This is not a postdoctoral fellowship program and we do not generally consider candidates who will have held the Ph.D. for less than two years at the time of appointment.

The fellowship period extends from September 1 to June 1. Fellows receive a stipend paid in nine equal installments. Ordinarily their home institutions provide a portion of their salaries in addition to all benefits, although this is not a requirement for appointment. Independent scholars are eligible to apply.

The main considerations in the evaluation of applications are the following:

- The significance of the proposed research and its relevance to the purposes of the University Center for Human Values (see <http://uchv.princeton.edu/> for more information);
- The quality of a candidate's previous research and the contribution the candidate is likely to make in the future through teaching and writing;
- The likelihood that the research would benefit from being conducted in the University Center environment.
- Where applicable, the relevance of the application to the Center's designated research theme, Reckoning with Race.

HOW TO APPLY

Candidates must submit an online application at <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/26381>.

The following materials will be required:

1. A curriculum vitae;
2. A scholarly paper (of no more than about 12,000 words) written in the past three years;
3. A statement (of no more than 1,500 words) describing the proposed research project and including a brief working title for the project. Please describe the project's relevance to the research theme where applicable; and
4. Contact information for three referees, including at least one referee who was not a graduate advisor. Referees will be contacted directly with instructions for uploading letters of reference.

These materials must be submitted online by the application deadline of Tuesday, October 18th, 2022, 11:59 p.m. EST. We do not accept application materials by any other method. The selection committee begins reviewing applications immediately and incomplete applications may be at a disadvantage. Decisions are expected to be announced by late March 2023.

Princeton University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to age, race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 10/18/2022

Date Posted: 7/14/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10494

Brigham Young University

Rank: History and Political Science Librarian

Required Degree: MLS from an ALA-accredited institution OR If the applicant does not have an MLS, a master's or doctoral degree in history or political science or a related field is required.

Individuals hired without an MLS must complete the MLS degree within a specific period of time. They will be provided a minimum of 36 months from date of hire.

Experience: Additional advanced degree and/or experience in history and/or political research and reference tools in an academic environment preferred.

Duties/Expectations:

- Meet and communicate regularly with teaching faculty in assigned academic departments.
- Develop collections and manage content in assigned areas.
- Provide reference/research support.
- Teach library instruction classes.
- Publish significant and original contributions relevant to librarianship and/or fields appropriate to subject assignment.
- Present research or innovative/unique information at conferences, workshops, seminars, and/or other professional/scholarly meetings.

This announcement is for a CFS-Professional track faculty position, but it may be filled with visiting faculty (Non-CFS-Professional).

BYU, an equal opportunity employer, requires all faculty to observe the university's honor code and dress and grooming standards. Preference is given to qualified candidates who are members in good standing of the affiliated church, The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints.

Please contact library_hr@byu.edu for a complete job description.

To apply, go to <https://yjobs.byu.edu/> and search for Job ID 110747. Fill out the application and attach your CV and cover letter to the faculty application.

Start Date: Winter 2023

Application Deadline: 8/31/2022

Date Posted: 7/13/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10487

Aarhus University

Rank: Associate professor

Please see this link:

<https://international.au.dk/about/profile/vacant-positions/job/associate-professor-in-political-science-3>

Start Date: Winter 2023

Application Deadline: 9/15/2022

Date Posted: 7/5/2022

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 10459

University of Gothenburg

Rank: Associate Senior Lecturer (Assistant Professor, Tenure track)

The Department of Political Science seeks to encourage an open exchange of minds in academic debates, and scholars participation in the public sphere. Research areas of specialization include elections, democracy, corruption, governance, globalization, environmental politics as well as European studies. The department offers education on all levels; undergraduate, graduate and postgraduate, carried out in both English and Swedish. A total of 1,400 students are enrolled in our courses, we have over 160 people employed. The department is centrally located in the city of Gothenburg.

For more information about the Department, go to www.pol.gu.se

The Department of Political Science is currently hiring one or several Associate Senior Lecturer (Assistant Professor, tenure track)

Read more about the position and apply on the University of Gothenburg's "Job portal": https://web103.reachmee.com/ext/1005/1035/job?site=7&lang=UK&validator=9b89bead79bb7258ad55c8d75228e5b7&job_id=26494

Start Date: Summer 2023

Application Deadline: 9/2/2022

Date Posted: 7/4/2022

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 10458

University of Gothenburg

Rank: Senior Lecturer in Political Science

The Department of Political Science has an open climate that encourages involvement in broader societal debates. Research areas of specialisation include elections, democracy, corruption, governance, environmental politics and European studies. We offer degree programmes at undergraduate, Master's and doctoral level, as well as freestanding courses. Education is provided in both Swedish and English. We have a total of 1 400 students and a staff of about 160. The Department is centrally located in the city of Gothenburg.

For more information about the Department, go to www.pol.gu.se

The Department of Political Science is currently hiring one or several Senior Lecturers (Associate Professors) in Political Science who are able to contribute to its research and education

Read more about the position and apply on the University of Gothenburg's "Job portal":

https://web103.reachmee.com/ext/I005/1035/job?site=7&lang=UK&validator=9b89bead79bb7258ad55c8d75228e5b7&job_id=26467

Start Date: Summer 2023

Application Deadline: 9/2/2022

Date Posted: 7/4/2022

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 10457

Notre Dame Institute for Advanced Study

Rank: Faculty Fellowship

The Notre Dame Institute for Advanced Study (NDIAS) promotes issue-engaged, inclusive, and interdisciplinary study of questions that affect our ability to lead valuable, meaningful lives. Each year, the NDIAS convenes a diverse group of 8-10 Faculty Fellows to conduct research on projects related to its yearly research theme.

During the 2023-2024 academic year, the Notre Dame Institute for Advanced Study is sponsoring residential research projects that investigate The Long Run.

Practical decision-making, ethical evaluation, scientific modeling, and cultural meaning-making all increasingly push us to consider causes that extend further and further into the past and consequences that extend further and further into the future. The Long Run Project will bring together humanists, scientists, social scientists, policy scholars, and artists to consider how we understand, manage, and respond to events that lie in the distant future or past, or challenges that unfold over long periods of time.

Faculty Fellows typically have a faculty appointment at their home institution, but the Fellowships are also open to independent researchers, public practitioners, postdoctoral scholars, those who have recently received their Ph.D. (or equivalent terminal) degree, those who are pursuing the creative arts, and faculty from Notre Dame. Scholars from outside the U.S. are welcome to apply—there are no citizenship requirements for these fellowships. Current graduate students are eligible to apply only if they will receive their terminal degree by August 1, 2023.

Faculty Fellows receive half their base salary per academic year (up to $75,000), a housing subsidy (for those who currently reside outside of the South Bend area), a research allowance of $500 per semester, and a private office at the NDIAS. Fellows' home institutions provide the remainder of their salaries as well as all benefits, including health insurance.

All NDIAS Fellows are expected to reside in the South Bend area and to remain in residence at the University of Notre Dame during the period of their fellowship (except for vacation periods, holidays, and University breaks). Preference is given to those who can join the NDIAS for the entire academic year (August - May), but fellowships for shorter periods of time may be possible.

Applications must be submitted through Interfolio and should include the following:

Cover letter

Curriculum vitae (no more than four pages, single-spaced)

Proposal abstract (no more than 400 words)

Fellowship research proposal (no more than six pages double-spaced; research proposals may include a works-cited or bibliography page, which does not count toward the 6-page limit). In the research proposal, applicants should provide an explanation of the project they intend to pursue at the NDIAS, including:

-How the proposed research aligns with the research theme and mission of the Institute (see ndias.nd.edu/about);

-Preliminary objectives for the research to be conducted (i.e., whether the research might result in a book, journal article, art work, etc.);

-The proposed work plan (including what research or work has already been accomplished, what will be done during the fellowship period, the methodology to be employed, and the organization of the scholarly project, book, or other work).

A Research Letter of Reference that addresses the strength and promise of the applicant's proposed research project and its fit with the 2023-2024 theme of The Long Run. This letter should come from a colleague, mentor, or other suitable referee for the research area.

An Interdisciplinary Community Letter of Reference that addresses one or more of the questions below. This letter should come from a colleague that you have worked with in a department, center, institute, or university context.

-Can you describe an experience where the applicant collaborated to help another researcher improve a project?

-What experience does the applicant have engaging with faculty from backgrounds different from their own? What skills do they bring to such collaboration? What skills might they work to grow in?

-Do you recommend this candidate for a highly collaborative, inclusive, interdisciplinary fellowship program like the NDIAS fellowship?

(Optional) Up to two pages of non-text materials supporting the research proposal.

Note: applicants are responsible for letting their letter writers know which type of letter to write and the instructions provided above.

All 2023-2024 NDIAS Faculty Fellowship applications, including letters of reference and supporting documentation, must be received by 11:59 p.m. (EDT) on Monday, October 3, 2022.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 10/3/2022

Date Posted: 7/3/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10433

University of Louisiana at Lafayette

Rank: ASSISTANT PROFESSOR OF POLITICAL SCIENCE: PUBLIC LAW (TENURE-TRACK)

Subfield(s): Public Law, American Government and Politics, Open

Specializations: Constitutional Law & Theory, Civil Rights & Liberties, Judicial Politics

The Department of Political Science seeks applications for a tenure track appointment at the rank of Assistant Professor beginning August 2022. A robust academic record with a teaching specialization in U.S. Public Law is necessary. Successful candidates will be an active educator in their field, with a standard teaching load of three courses per semester. The successful candidate will teach introductory sections of American National Government and upper division pre-law courses in support of the Department of Political Science's Pre-Law Concentration, which is a practically-focused law school preparation curriculum, and which comprises roughly half of the department's majors. The successful candidate will also assist other pre-law faculty in offering required Pre-Law courses such as Introduction to Law & Legal Reasoning, Constitutional Law, Civil Rights Law, and/or Civil Liberties, as well as offer new pre-law courses of the candidate's choosing and design. In addition to teaching these courses via the traditional face-to-face method, the candidate must be willing to develop and teach some of these courses as online and/or hybrid courses. The successful candidate will also share in the department's advising and service responsibilities and will work with colleagues to assess and improve curricula, conduct research and/or creative works such as publications and other scholarship in their respective area of specialization, and demonstrate institutional citizenship through active engagement at the department, college, university, public, and professional communities.

To apply for this, access the University of Louisiana at Lafayette Human Resources page here: <https://louisiana.csod.com/ux/ats/careersite/1/home/requisition/1720?c=louisiana>

Start Date: Fall 2022

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 3/16/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10203

OTHER

Indiana University, Bloomington

Rank: Assistant Professor

Gender and Politics (Assistant Professor)

The Department of Political Science at Indiana University-Bloomington invites applications for a full-time tenure track professor in the field of Gender and Politics, beginning August of 2023. Our goal is to hire the strongest candidate available who is doing interesting and important scholarship on questions of gender and politics. This thematic focus may be approached from any subfield or combination of subfields in the discipline including but not limited to American politics, comparative politics, international relations, and political theory. This position is at the rank of Assistant Professor.

Candidates should demonstrate broad theoretical interests, active research agendas with the promise for publication in high-quality venues, strong teaching credentials, and proficiency in appropriate research methods. In addition to maintaining an ongoing research program, this faculty member would be expected to teach courses at both the undergraduate and graduate levels, and to participate actively in departmental activities.

Successful candidates will have completed their Ph.D. degree in Political Science by August 1, 2023.

We especially encourage applications from members of groups that are traditionally-underrepresented in academia as we seek to diversify our faculty. Both the Department of Political Science and the College of Arts and Sciences are committed to building and supporting a diverse inclusive and equitable community of students and scholars.

Indiana University is an equal employment and affirmative action employer and a provider of ADA services. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment based on individual qualifications. Indiana University prohibits discrimination based on age, ethnicity, color, race, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, genetic information, marital status, national origin, disability status or protected veteran status. Applications received by October 31, 2022 will be assured full consideration; however, the search will remain open until the position is filled.

Applicants should submit a letter of application, complete curriculum vitae, two publications or papers, course syllabi and summary of teaching, have at least three letters of recommendation forwarded to us, and a 1-2 page statement with information and specific examples about the applicant's past present and future contributions to promoting diversity, equity and inclusion in their professional careers. All application materials should be submitted online to the attention of Lauren M. MacLean, Department Chair, Department of Political Science at:

<https://indiana.peopleadmin.com/postings/13698>.

Questions regarding the position or application process should be directed to Jessica Williams at 812-855-1209; email: jeewilli@indiana.edu; Department of Political Science, 210 Woodburn Hall, 1100 E. Seventh Street, Indiana University-Bloomington, Bloomington, Indiana, 47405-7110.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/1/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10826

London School of Economics

Rank: Assistant Professor Political Science

LSE is committed to building a diverse, equitable and truly inclusive university. For this post, we particularly welcome applications from women and people from minority ethnic communities.

Government: Assistant Professor in Political Science

Salaries will be on the appropriate salary scale and will be commensurate with experience, taking into account pay equity within the Department.

The salary scale starts at £58,519 per annum (pay award pending) and the salary scale can be found on the LSE website.

We are recruiting for a new career-track Assistant Professor in Political Science, with a specialism in Political Economy. Candidates should have empirical research and teaching interests in Political Economy.

The post holder will add to our existing strengths in this area.

We welcome candidates with expertise in any region, country or set of issues.

Candidates should have excellent written and oral communication skills, the ability to teach political economy at undergraduate and postgraduate levels and the ability to establish international reputation in political economy.

Candidates must have an emerging research record and trajectory in political economy, evidenced by existing publications or the potential to publish articles in highly rated academic journals and/or books with leading academic presses.

The successful candidates should have, or be close to obtaining (by 1 September 2023), a PhD in Political Science or a closely related discipline.

The other criteria that will be used when shortlisting for this post can be found on the person specification, which is attached to this vacancy on the LSE's online recruitment system.

In addition to a competitive salary the benefits that come with this job include an occupational pension scheme, a research incentive scheme with personal reward options, generous research leave (sabbatical) entitlement, a world-class research environment and excellent support, training, and development opportunities.

The post will commence on 1 September 2023.

For further information about the post, please see the how to apply document, job description and the person specification available here:

<https://jobs.lse.ac.uk/Vacancies/W/2662/0/360023/15539/assistant-professor-political-science-pspe>

If you have any technical queries with applying on the online system, please use the "contact us" links at the bottom of the LSE Jobs page.

Should you have any queries about the role, please email Gov.HoD@lse.ac.uk

The closing date for receipt of applications is 2 October 2022 (23.59 UK time). Regrettably, we are unable to accept any late applications.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 10/2/2022

Date Posted: 9/1/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10823

National Defense University

Rank: Academic Specialist

Subfield(s): Non-Academic, American Government and Politics, Other

Summary

National Defense University (NDU) supports the joint warfighter by providing rigorous Joint Professional Military Education to members of the U.S. Armed Forces and select others in order to develop leaders who have the ability to operate and creatively think in an unpredictable and complex world.

This job is open to the public - U.S. Citizens, Nationals or those who owe allegiance to the U.S.

Apply online at: <https://www.usajobs.gov/job/674414700>

Open & closing dates

08/31/2022 to 09/14/2022

Salary

$52,314 - $55,242 per year

Pay scale & grade

AD 1

Location

1 vacancy in the following location: Fort McNair, Washington, DC

Appointment type

Term - 3 years

Duties

Providing academic curriculum and program support through the Learning Management System and other web based tools.

Coordinating copyright clearance and approval through multiple clearance centers.

Assist the production and execution of materials for conferences, workshops, and other events to be hosted by the College.

Must be able to plan and execute budgets and fiscal support.

This position reports to the Director of Operations.

Requirements

Conditions of Employment

Must be a U.S. Citizen

This is a Non-Critical Sensitive position which requires a background investigation. The individual selected for this position is required to obtain and maintain a Secret security clearance.

Qualifications

Required Qualifications:

An earned Bachelor's degree from an accredited academic institution. Knowledge of basic educational theory and methodology, especially in the procedures for the development of curriculum at the graduate level. Experience in the copyright process as it relates to the academic environment.

Experience using Learning Management Systems as it relates to the academic environment. Advanced user of Microsoft Suite.

Communicate orally and in writing with core course directors, faculty and internal and external customers.

Experience working in institutional research

Education

Education Requirement: An earned Bachelor's degree from an accredited academic institution.

Official transcripts will be required at time of selection to verify educational requirements are met.

Start Date:

Date Posted: 9/1/2022

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 10830

University of Connecticut

Rank: Assistant Professor, American Politics and Big Data (Political Science)

INTRODUCTION

The Department of Political Science at the University of Connecticut (UConn) in Storrs is pleased to invite applications for a faculty position in American Politics at the rank of Assistant Professor. The Department is especially interested in candidates with the ability to contribute to the University's Big Data and Data Science/Applied Data Analysis initiatives, including the teaching of quantitative methods. The Department currently has 40 full-time faculty who are responsible for more than 700 undergraduate majors and 150 minors, as well as more than 40 graduate students. Exceptionally strong candidates will be able to contribute to the Department's strengths in the areas of political psychology, human rights, inequality, and/or environmental politics.

The successful candidate will be expected to contribute to research and scholarship through high-quality publications as well as the potential to seek extramural funding. Applicants should share a deep commitment to effective instruction at the undergraduate and graduate levels, innovative courses and instruction methods, and the mentoring of students in research, outreach, and professional development. The successful candidate will also be expected to broaden participation among members of underrepresented groups; demonstrate through research, teaching, and/or public engagement the commitment to, and support of, diversity in the learning experience; integrate multicultural experiences into instructional methods and research tools; and provide leadership in developing pedagogical techniques designed to meet the needs of diverse learning styles and intellectual interests. Candidates should be committed to effective teaching, including integrating technology into instruction and online instruction as well as the ability to contribute through research, teaching, and/or public engagement to the diversity and excellence of the learning experience.

Founded in 1881, UConn is a Land Grant and Sea Grant institution and member of the Space Grant Consortium. It is the state's flagship institution of higher education and includes a main campus in Storrs, CT, four regional campuses throughout the state, and 13 Schools and Colleges, including a Law School in Hartford, and Medical and Dental Schools at the UConn Health campus in Farmington. The University has approximately 10,000 faculty and staff and 32,000 students, including nearly 24,000 undergraduates and over 8,000 graduate and professional students. UConn is a Carnegie Foundation R1 (highest research activity) institution, among the top 25 public universities in the nation. Through research, teaching, service, and outreach, UConn embraces diversity and cultivates leadership, integrity, and engaged citizenship in its students, faculty, staff, and alumni. UConn promotes the health and well-being of citizens by enhancing the social, economic, cultural, and natural environments of the state and beyond. The University serves as a beacon of academic and research excellence as well as a center for innovation and social service to communities. UConn is a leader in many scholarly, research, and innovation areas. Today, the path forward includes exciting opportunities and notable challenges. Record numbers of undergraduate applications and support for student success have enabled the University to become extraordinarily selective.

MINIMUM QUALIFICATIONS

- Ph.D. in Political Science or related field, or international equivalent, by the time of appointment.
- Expertise in American Politics and Big Data/Quantitative Methods.
- Evidence of potential for excellence in teaching.
- Evidence of potential for successful research and scholarship.
- A deep commitment to promoting diversity through their academic and research programs.

PREFERRED QUALIFICATIONS

- Outstanding potential for or record of research and scholarship excellence.
- Substantive specialization in political psychology, inequality, and/or environmental politics.
- Ability to teach software such as GIS, Python, R, and/or Stata.
- A record of, or strong potential for, obtaining external research support.
- Evidence of contributions to the diversity and excellence of student learning experience through research, teaching, and/or public engagement.

APPOINTMENT TERMS

This is a full-time, 9-month, tenure-track position with an anticipated start date of Fall 2023. The successful candidate's academic appointment will be at the Storrs campus. Salary will be commensurate with qualifications and experience.

TERMS AND CONDITIONS OF EMPLOYMENT

Employment of the successful candidate is contingent upon the successful completion of a pre-employment criminal background check. TO APPLY

Please apply online to Academic Jobs Online <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/22468> and submit the following application materials:

- A cover letter,
- Curriculum vitae,
- Research and scholarship statement (innovative concepts that will form the basis of academic career, experience in proposal development, mentorship of graduate students, etc.).
- Teaching statement (including teaching philosophy, teaching experience, commitment to effective learning, concepts for new course development, etc.).
- Commitment to diversity statement (including broadening participation, integrating multicultural experiences in instruction and research and pedagogical techniques to meet the needs of diverse learning styles, etc.).
- Sample journal articles or books,
- Three letters of reference.

Evaluation of applicants will begin on September 20, 2022. For more information regarding the Department of Political Science please visit the Department's website at <https://polisci.uconn.edu/>.

At the University of Connecticut, our commitment to excellence is complemented by our commitment to building a culturally diverse community.

This position will be filled subject the budgetary approval.

All employees are subject to adherence to the State Code of Ethics which may be found at <http://www.ct.gov/ethics/site/default.asp>.

The University of Connecticut is committed to building and supporting a multicultural and diverse community of students, faculty and staff. The diversity of students, faculty and staff continues to increase, as does the number of honors students, valedictorians and salutatorians who consistently make UConn their top choice. More than 100 research centers and institutes serve the University's teaching, research, diversity, and outreach missions, leading to UConn's ranking as one of the nation's top research universities. UConn's faculty and staff are the critical link to fostering and expanding our vibrant, multicultural and diverse University community. As an Affirmative Action/Equal Employment Opportunity employer, UConn encourages applications from women, veterans, people with disabilities and members of traditionally underrepresented populations.

Start Date:

Date Posted: 9/1/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10832

University of Michigan

Rank: Professorship in Jewish Thought

The Frankel Center for Judaic Studies at the University of Michigan invites applications for the Padnos Family Professorship in Jewish Thought. Successful candidates will be appointed at the tenured rank of Associate or Full Professor (UK/Commonwealth: Senior Lecturer or above).

This field as we envision it encompasses the full range and dynamism of textual, material, embodied, and ritual sources that Jews across the globe have thought with and through. We invite applications from scholars working in all subfields, geographical areas, periods, and languages of Jewish thought. We welcome scholars whose work in related fields such as anthropology, political theory, law, religious studies, gender/sexuality/queer studies, environment and ecology intersects with the study of Jewish thought.

Candidates should demonstrate outstanding scholarly achievement as well as excellence in undergraduate and graduate teaching and mentorship. They will also be expected to contribute to the Frankel Center's public outreach efforts and participate in cross-departmental initiatives and collaborations.

This is a university-year appointment with an expected start date of August 28, 2023.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/1/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10827

Syracuse University

Rank: Associate/Full Professor - Citizenship and Democratic Institutions

Associate/Full Professor- Citizenship and Democratic Institutions

Syracuse University's S.I. Newhouse School of Public Communications invites applications for two full-time tenured positions at the Associate or Full Professor rank to begin Fall 2023. Review of applications will begin October 1, 2022 and continue until positions are filled.

The School seeks multidisciplinary scholars who have significant, established track records of published research, extramural grant acquisition, and thought leadership in the area of journalism and democracy to be a part of Syracuse University's new Center for Democracy, Journalism and Citizenship (<https://newhouse.syr.edu/news/syracuse-university-to-launch-washington-d-c-based-center-for-democracy-journalism-and-citizenship/>). The Center, located in Washington, D.C., is a joint effort of the Newhouse School and Syracuse University's Maxwell School of Citizenship and Public Affairs and promotes nonpartisan, evidence-based research and dialogue in the public interest. One of the positions would be based at the Newhouse School in Syracuse, while the other position would be based at the Center in Washington, D.C.

We seek colleagues who can lead multidisciplinary research efforts to analyze the forces that damage trust in journalism and democracy and to strengthen the ability of journalists and others to rebuild credibility. Candidates should be familiar with the historical and contemporary issues in American journalism that make it prone to distrust, including from members of marginalized groups; be able to critically evaluate these issues; consider solutions; and engage in productive self-reflection. A wide range of theoretical and methodological approaches will be considered, from a range of disciplines including political science, psychology, sociology, computer science, and history in addition to mediated communication. The ability to secure grant funding is essential.

This recruitment is part of an ambitious Invest Syracuse Cluster Hire Initiative in the broad area of Citizenship and Democratic Institutions. As an integral part of this investment, Syracuse University will recruit multiple candidates for faculty positions across departments for this cluster. Faculty hired into these positions will build on our existing strengths in the focus area and will participate in an organized research cluster that spans multiple departments in the Newhouse School, the Maxwell School of Citizenship & Public Affairs, the Law School, and across Syracuse University.

The successful candidates will teach graduate and/or undergraduate courses in their areas of expertise and will have a teaching load appropriate for a productive scholar. S/he will have a track record of collegial collaboration and be expected to advise doctoral dissertations and master's theses. The Washington-based scholar also will be expected to make research visible to policy makers and others so as to have an impact on the conversation around journalism's role in democracy. A Ph.D. is strongly preferred. Applicants should specify if they are applying for the Syracuse-based or the DC-based position.

Widely regarded as the nation's leading school of communications, the S.I. Newhouse School of Public Communications at Syracuse University is home to approximately 2,000 undergraduates, 180 residential master's degree students, 200 online master's degree students and 15 doctoral degree students. They are among the best in the country, having secured a place in the class through a highly competitive admissions process. The typical admitted first-year student has a 3.8 GPA.

The school's 250,000-square-foot, three-building complex is a leading-edge learning environment where students are exposed to the tools and technologies used by professionals in the field. Features include Dick Clark Studios, a high-tech entertainment production facility that rivals many Hollywood studios; the Diane and Bob Miron Digital News Center, complete with a contemporary news set, a green screen, state-of-the-art lighting systems and cameras; the Alan Gerry Center for Media Innovation, a creative hub where Newhouse expertise in content development and production meets the latest media technology and programming trends; the Emerging Insights Lab, a state-of-the-art social media command center; and the Collaborative Media Room, home to the student-produced multimedia news site, The NewsHouse.

In January 2020, the S.I. Newhouse Foundation announced a $75 million gift to the Newhouse School, the largest donation to Syracuse University in its 150-year history and one of the largest ever to any communications school.

To learn more about the Newhouse School, visit <https://newhouse.syr.edu>.

How to Apply

For full consideration, candidates must complete an online application and electronically attach a cover letter, curriculum vitae emphasizing teaching experience, teaching statement, diversity and inclusion statement, and contact information of four professional references through <https://www.sujobopps.com/postings/94869>. To be competitive, we strongly encourage candidates to apply early. The review of applications will continue until the position is filled.

Syracuse University is an Equal Opportunity Employer.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/31/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10815

Georgia Institute of Technology

Rank: Assistant Professor International Security

The Sam Nunn School of International Affairs (www.inta.gatech.edu) at the Georgia Institute of Technology invites applications for a tenure-track assistant professor position in International Security to begin Fall 2023. Scholars with a research specialization in emerging technologies are encouraged to apply. While the department is open to substantive, regional, and technological specialization, the ability to contribute to the department's teaching needs in Eurasian or East Asian politics is highly desirable. Candidates are expected to demonstrate an exceptional commitment to research and to teaching, as well as evidence of dedication to policy relevance in addition to academic rigor.

The Nunn School is multidisciplinary and focuses on understanding the global context of advances in science and technology. Georgia Tech is a top-ranked public research university situated in the heart of Atlanta, a diverse and vibrant city with great economic and cultural strengths. The Institute is a member of the University System of Georgia, the Georgia Research Alliance, and the Association of American Universities. The Nunn School is a member of the Association of Professional Schools of International Affairs. Nunn School faculty may hold joint appointments with other units across the Institute including but not limited to the School of Public Policy, the School of Cybersecurity and Privacy, and the Scheller College of Business. Georgia Tech prides itself on its technology resources, collaborations, high-quality student body, and its commitment to diversity, equity, and inclusion.

Applicants should submit a letter of application, curriculum vitae, a statement of research interests, a description of teaching interests and philosophy, and the names and contact information for at least three references. Application materials should be submitted as .PDF files via Georgia Tech's CAREERS website. Letter writers should submit their letters directly to the same site at the time of application. Enquiries may be directed to Search Committee Chair Rachel Whitlark (Rachel.whitlark@inta.gatech.edu). To ensure consideration, applications must be received by October 15th, but the search will continue until the position is filled. An earned doctorate is required by the start of the appointment, and a background check must be completed prior to employment.

Georgia Tech provides equal opportunity to all faculty, staff, students, and all other members of the Georgia Tech community, including applicants for admission and/or employment, contractors, volunteers, and participants in institutional programs, activities, or services. Georgia Tech complies with all applicable laws and regulations governing equal opportunity in the workplace and in educational activities. Georgia Tech prohibits discrimination, including discriminatory harassment, on the basis of race, ethnicity, ancestry, color, religion, sex (including pregnancy), sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, age, disability, genetics, or veteran status in its programs, activities, employment, and admissions. This prohibition applies to faculty, staff, students, and all other members of the Georgia Tech community, including affiliates, invitees, and guests.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 10/15/2022

Date Posted: 8/30/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10810

Loyola Marymount University

Rank: Assistant Professor in Environmental/Climate Governance and/or Justice

FACULTY POSITION ANNOUNCEMENT

Assistant professor in environmental/climate governance, environmental justice, and/or climate justice

The Urban and Environmental Studies Department at Loyola Marymount University invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track assistant professor position in climate change, climate justice, and/or environmental justice beginning fall semester 2023. The successful candidate will teach lower division courses in introductory environmental studies and upper division courses in the areas of specialization.

Candidates who are also capable of contributing to one or more of the department themes in sustainability/resilience policy and planning, environmental social movements, the intersectionality of environmental justice with race/ethnicity and/or the Global South, and geographical information systems are particularly encouraged to apply. Given the interdisciplinary nature of the department, teacher-scholars with the appropriate expertise in climate change, climate justice, and/or environmental justice from a range of social science disciplines and interdisciplinary fields including geography, political science, public policy, planning, ethnic studies, and environmental studies are welcome to apply. The Ph.D. is required; however ABD applicants who anticipate completion of the doctorate by fall 2023 will be considered.

Applicants must submit the following materials no later than October 15, 2022: (1) a letter of application including a statement of teaching and research interests and experience, (2) a curriculum vitae, (3) a copy of Ph.D. transcripts, (4) a scholarly writing sample or appropriate link, and (5) the names/addresses of three references. Please upload electronic copies of all the required materials to Tenure Line Environmental Studies (myworkdayjobs.com). https://lmu.wd1.myworkdayjobs.com/Careers/job/Westchester-Campus/Tenure-Line-Urban-and-Environmental-Studies_R3548

Note: Be aware that Workday has a limitation on the number of documents you can upload (5 documents) as well as size limitations (5 MB). If you have documentation that exceeds the Workday limits, please send additional materials as an email attachment with the subject line "[candidate name] Environmental Studies Application Materials" to: ryan.yandell@lmu.edu

Three letters of recommendation with the subject line "[candidate name] Recommendation for Environmental Studies" should be emailed no later than October 15, 2022, directly by the recommender to: ryan.yandell@lmu.edu

Questions may be directed to: Peter Hoffman, Chair, Urban and Environmental Studies Department: peter.hoffman@lmu.edu

Note: To ensure the safety and well-being of our community, Loyola Marymount University requires that all students, faculty and staff are vaccinated or have been approved for a qualifying medical or religious exemption.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 10/15/2022

Date Posted: 8/30/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10808

University of Chicago

Rank: Instructional Professor in the Social Sciences Collegiate Division –Gender and Sexuality and Civilization Studies

Subfield(s): Open, Political Theory, Other

The Social Sciences Collegiate Division at the University of Chicago is now accepting applications for a full-time Assistant Instructional Professor who will teach undergraduate courses in gender and sexuality studies and the Civilization Studies Program. The appointment is non-renewable, for a one-year term that begins September 20, 2022.

The Assistant Instructional Professor will teach six quarter-length courses or the equivalent during the academic year. The assignment will include two undergraduate seminars in gender and sexuality studies and courses in the Civilization Studies program, a part of the University's general education curriculum that introduces students to one of the world's great civilizations through direct encounters with significant and exemplary documents. Specific Civilization Studies courses will be assigned based on the successful applicant's qualifications. More information about the Civilization Studies program is available in the College Catalog: <http://collegecatalog.uchicago.edu/thecollege/civilizationstudies/>. Depending on curricular needs, the Assistant Instructional Professor's duties may also include teaching BA thesis seminars or advising undergraduate theses in a related major.

The position requires a Ph.D. in a humanities or social science discipline. Experience teaching at the college level is required. Experience teaching or conducting research in gender and/or sexuality studies is preferred. Candidates must have completed all degree requirements no later than September 19, 2022.

To apply for this position, you must submit your application through the University of Chicago's Interfolio job board at apply.interfolio.com/112305 and upload the following: 1) a letter of application describing your academic interests and teaching background; 2) a curriculum vitae; 3) evidence of teaching effectiveness, such as student evaluations or performance reviews; 4) a teaching statement; 5) a sample syllabus; 6) a chapter-length piece of writing; and 7) three letters of recommendation.

The review of applications will begin on September 10, 2022, and continue until the position is filled or the search is closed.

The terms and conditions of employment for this position are covered by a collective bargaining agreement between the Service Employees International Union (SEIU) and the University.

Position contingent upon budget approval.

Equal Employment Opportunity Statement

We seek a diverse pool of applicants who wish to join an academic community that places the highest value on rigorous inquiry and encourages diverse perspectives, experiences, groups of individuals, and ideas to inform and stimulate intellectual challenge, engagement, and exchange. The University's Statements on Diversity are at <https://provost.uchicago.edu/statements-diversity>.

The University of Chicago is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity/Disabled/Veterans Employer and does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national or ethnic origin, age, status as an individual with a disability, protected veteran status, genetic information, or other protected classes under the law. For additional information please see the University's Notice of Nondiscrimination.

Job seekers in need of a reasonable accommodation to complete the application process should call 773-834-3988 or email equalopportunity@uchicago.edu with their request.

Start Date: Fall 2022

Date Posted: 8/29/2022

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 10799

Daniel K. Inouye Asia-Pacific Center for Security Studies

Rank: ASSOCIATE/FULL PROFESSOR

Specializations: Asian American Politics, East Asia, South Asia

About the Position:

The Daniel K. Inouye Asia-Pacific Center for Security Studies (DKI APCSS) invites applications for an executive education faculty member to educate, connect and empower mid- to senior-level security practitioners primarily from the Indo-Pacific region. The faculty member will offer presentations, facilitate discussions, lead and support a variety of engagements and mentor practitioners in ways that build capacity and increase mutual understanding in support of a free and prosperous Indo-Pacific.

Expertise:

All applicants with expertise in Indo-Pacific security challenges and collaborative opportunities will be considered. Priority will be given to those candidates with particular expertise in any of the following areas:

- Environmental and Climate Security – Particularly Related to Climate Change
- Pacific Island Governance and Regional Security
- South Asia and the Indian Ocean Regional Security
- Northeast Asia Regional Security
- Cyber and Technology Governance and Security

Responsibilities:

- Educating, connecting, and empowering international and U.S. leaders and security practitioners on security issues;
- Making positive contributions to a collegial, team-centric working environment of transparency, mutual respect, and inclusion;
- Leading teams of peers to accomplish objectives;
- Creating and presenting executive education content that spurs discussion, reflection, and learning among the audience members;
- Facilitating objective-based discussions among fellows that encourage consolidation of learning and critical reasoning;
- Contributing to distinguished visitor engagements with subject matter expertise;
- Performing various administrative and institutional duties to support the executive education functions of the Daniel K. Inouye Asia-Pacific Center;
- Occasionally conducting official travel to engage with international and U.S. leaders and security practitioners; and
- As assigned: developing, managing, coordinating, conducting and assessing all aspects of engagements, including courses, workshops, and partnerships.

Essential Selection Criteria:

- Expertise and ability to carry out the position responsibilities.

- General understanding of Indo-Pacific security dynamics including the interplay of some or all of: history, geography, environment, politics, economics, population, demographics and culture.
- Knowledge of key public and private actors and networks that can contribute to developing collaborative strategies to contend with Indo-Pacific security challenges.
- Ability to recommend policy objectives to address Indo-Pacific security challenges.

Requirements:

- U.S. citizen, or a foreign national who has resided in the U.S. for three years and is eligible for H-1B work visa
- If a male born after December 31, 1959, must certify registration with the Selective Service System, or be exempt from having to do so under the Selective Service Law
- Master or higher degree in a security-related field.

Preferred Attributes:

- PhD in a security-related field.
- Experience living or working in the Indo-Pacific Region
- Proven ability in teaching and seminar facilitation
- Proven ability to function as an effective, collaborative team member

Desirable Selection Criteria:

- Experience working in multinational settings at the operational, strategic, or policy level.

Salary and Conditions:

- Salary and rank are commensurate with qualifications. Salary range is $96,865 - $179,477 inclusive of locality pay (20.40%). You will also be entitled to cost of living allowance (COLA), currently 9.75%, but subject to change.
- All faculty at the Daniel K. Inouye Asia-Pacific Center for Security Studies are employed on a limited term, excepted-service positions, for up to three years, with the possibility of renewal. Relocation expenses may be authorized.
- Professors are designated with either a Full or Associate based on a holistic assessment of expertise and previous positions held. Advancement from Associate to Full Professor is considered after at least two years of demonstrated professional excellence in the role at DKI APCSS.

Benefits: A career with the U.S. government provides employees with a comprehensive benefits package. As a federal employee, you and your family will have access to a range of benefits that are designed to make your federal career very rewarding. Benefits include Healthcare Insurance, Dental and Vision Insurance, Flexible Spending Accounts, Long-Term Care Insurance, Federal Employees Group Life Insurance, Federal Employees Retirement System, Thrift Savings Plan, Leave and Holidays.

About DKI APCSS:

- The Daniel K. Inouye Asia-Pacific Center for Security Studies (DKI APCSS) is a Honolulu-based Department of Defense executive education institution that builds resilient capacity, shared understanding and networked relationships among civilian, military and non-governmental security practitioners and institutions.
- The center performs its mission in order to promote collaborative, inclusive security in support of a free and open Indo-Pacific region.
- DKI APCSS addresses traditional and non-traditional security issues aligned with the Secretary of Defense and U.S. Indo-Pacific Command strategic security priorities. The Center offers executive education programs that include courses, workshops and partnerships in Honolulu and in the broader Indo-Pacific region.

- The engagement program educates, connects and empowers current and future leaders and security practitioners. Engagement participants include mid- to senior-level security practitioners drawn from the whole of society – civilian, military and non-governmental -- from the Indo-Pacific region and beyond.

APPLICATION PROCEDURES

Interested candidates must submit all of the following items indicated below by email to happlications@dkiapcss.net. Incomplete applications will not be considered. Please ensure you type the title of the position you are applying to in the subject line of email and job announcement number CSS-20220822-01:

- LETTER OF INTEREST. Provide a brief description of your professional goals, personal interests, and desired areas of study. No more than two pages.
- CURRICULUM VITAE. Should reflect the following: educational background, teaching and mentoring experience, relevant work experience, publications, and salary history.
- TWO ORIGINAL LETTERS OF REFERENCE.

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION

- Application deadline: Open until 09/27/2022 from publication of solicitation.
- Applications will be considered against current faculty requirements.
- Application packages will be retained for one year.
- Application materials become the property of the U.S. Department of Defense and will not be returned.
- Individuals selected for interviews will be asked to provide bona fide transcripts from the academic institutions granting their advanced degree(s) and two samples of their publications.
- The Department of Defense is an Equal Opportunity Employer.
- All qualified candidates will receive consideration without regard to race, color, religion, sex, national origin, age, disability, marital status, political affiliation, sexual orientation, or any other non-merit factor. U.S. Citizenship is not required; however, applicants must be eligible for an H1B or other work visa.
- The Department of Defense provides reasonable accommodation to applicants with disabilities. Applicants with disabilities who believe they require reasonable accommodation should contact the Center's Human Resources Department at happlications@dkiapcss.net to ensure that the Department of Defense can consider such a request. The decision to grant an accommodation will be made on a case-by-case basis.
- Learn more about the Daniel K. Inouye Asia-Pacific Center for Security Studies by visiting: www.apcss.org

Start Date:Application Deadline: 9/30/2022Date Posted: 8/26/2022Salary: $90,000 - $99,999eJobs ID: 10776Hamilton College*Rank: Data Science/Analysis Research Librarian

Location

Clinton, NY

Open Date

Aug 18, 2022

Description

Hamilton College invites applications for the position of Data Science/Analysis Research Librarian in the Library and Information Technology Services (LITS). The Data Science/Analysis Research Librarian will provide research support and introduce cutting-edge data analysis tools and methodologies to LITS patrons as a member of the Research and Instructional Design (R&ID) Team where research and technology experts work together to support faculty and students with research and teaching. The R&ID Team provides an inclusive, respectful, and responsive service point, works collaboratively to meet exciting research challenges, supports learning communities, and introduces and facilitates the use of innovative technologies through consultation and instruction.

In addition, the Data Science/Analysis Research Librarian will focus on assisting a diverse audience of social science faculty and students with collection or creation, processing, and analysis of data. The Data Science/Analysis Research Librarian will refer or work with others in LITS and with LITS partners to support visualization, preservation, access, and reuse of data with the purpose of informing social science research and helping undergraduate students understand important social science concepts.

We are seeking a creative and analytical individual who enjoys variety in their work, thrives on working with others to solve challenging data-related problems, and is committed to lifelong teaching and learning of data analysis and technical skills. The position will serve as library liaison to one or more academic departments, based on data analysis needs and the individual's educational background.

Responsibilities Include:

Research, Teaching, and Learning Support:

- Actively participate in supporting diversity, equity, and inclusion in the Hamilton community.
- Provide research support to the Hamilton faculty and students in the social sciences, members of the public, and the larger scholarly community.
- Collaborate with faculty, educational technologists, and other academic partners to provide instructional design support and promote digital and information literacy in the social sciences and across the curriculum.
- Serve as primary liaison to assigned academic departments, programs, and academic resource centers.
- Participate in the ongoing training and mentoring of the R&ID student tutors.
- Build collections in multiple formats to support the academic goals of the college.
- Maintain and apply a current awareness of best practices in teaching and learning, especially as related to data analysis and digital and information fluencies.
- Develop and maintain library resource guides for faculty and students.
- Engage in a variety of professional development activities.
- Participate in other duties and responsibilities as assigned.

Data Science/Data Analysis:

- Uses advanced skills with data analysis, data cleaning/wrangling/normalization, regular expressions, web scraping, and APIs to support and collaborate with researchers on data-related research.
- Retrieve/manipulate complex data from a variety of sources; transfer data between platforms for use in multiple computing environments.
- Work closely with and provide direct assistance to students in data science/analysis including workshops or other instruction.
- Assists with in-class instruction of statistic-based labs in the social sciences.
- Assist students with research projects and course assignments that require data analysis.
- Works collaboratively with others in LITS and with LITS partners such as the Quantitative & Symbolic Reasoning Center (QSR), Oral Communication Center (OCC), and the Writing Center.
- Assist in the choice, application, and interpretation of quantitative research methods, and with the use of statistical software needed to implement these methods.
- Works consistently to enhance technical skills and develop proficiency with new data analysis tools and techniques.
- Develops services in response to needs of faculty and students in the social sciences, LITS priorities, and diverse Hamilton populations.
- Build effective working relationships with faculty and students.
- Identifies, evaluates and recommends new and emerging data analysis research tools and methods for social science students and faculty, and LITS.

Qualifications

- ALA-accredited master's degree in Library or Information Science, and/or related advanced degree in quantitative social science; extensive coursework in economics and econometrics.
- Equivalent combination of education, training, and experience will be considered.
- Experience conducting social science research at the graduate level.
- Experience providing data-related services in a library or research setting, either one-on-one or in a classroom setting.
- Intermediate to expert experience with R and STATA; experience with SPSS and SAS highly desirable.
- Proficiency with at least one programming language (such as Python or Java) highly desirable.
- Demonstrated advanced data skills, including data cleaning/wrangling/normalization, using regular expressions, and web scraping.
- Knowledge of software and tools supporting the discovery, management, analysis, and visualization of research data; including keeping abreast of current and emerging trends.
- Proficiency using tools and programming libraries to support text analysis.
- Experience working effectively with a team to plan and complete projects.

- Demonstrated ability to work with diverse populations as well as demonstrated commitment to diversity, inclusion, and accessibility.

Job-related qualifications representing the knowledge, skills, and attributes an individual needs to possess in order to perform the job in a satisfactory manner.

- Demonstrated ability and experience functioning successfully in a fast-paced environment with a strong service orientation.
- Ability to work collegially and communicate effectively with colleagues, faculty, and students.
- In-depth knowledge of a wide range of information sources and technologies, especially data science/analysis.
- Superior teaching skills.
- Curiosity about how technology is affecting research and teaching, and enthusiasm for collaboration with faculty and students in a liberal arts context.
- Excellent writing, problem-solving, and presentation skills.
- Demonstrated aptitude for quickly learning new tools and technologies.

Application Instructions

Please visit <https://apptrkr.com/3373033>.

LITS is committed to creating an accessible, supportive environment and an educational experience that recognizes diversity and cultural competence as integral components of academic excellence. Candidates who can contribute to that goal are encouraged to apply and to identify their strengths in this area.

Hamilton College (<http://www.hamilton.edu/>) is a residential liberal arts college located in the Mohawk Valley of upstate New York. Applicants with dual-career considerations can find other Hamilton and nearby academic job listings at <http://www.upstatenyherc.org/>, as well as additional information at <https://www.hamilton.edu/dof/faculty-development/resources-for-prospective-or-new-faculty/opportunities-for-spouses-or-partners> (Opportunities for Spouses or Partners). Hamilton College is an affirmative action, equal opportunity employer and is committed to diversity in all areas of the campus community. Hamilton provides domestic partner benefits. Candidates from underrepresented groups in higher education are especially encouraged to apply.

Equal Employment Opportunity Statement

Hamilton College is an Affirmative Action, Equal Opportunity employer and encourages diversity in all areas of the campus community.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/25/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10772

New York University Abu Dhabi

Rank: Post-Doctoral Associate in the Division of Social Science - Research on Africa

We are inviting applications for a post-doctoral fellowship in the Division of Social Science at NYU Abu Dhabi from those who have or will soon receive a PhD in one of the social sciences or a related discipline. The appointment will begin September 1, 2023, subject to final budget approval. Post-doctoral fellows will spend half their time on independent research, and half on collaborative research with Professors Melina Platas, Peter van der Windt, J. Andrew Harris, who will also serve as mentors. The collaborative research will involve multi-site survey-based research on governance and perceptions of climate change in the Global South, and Africa in particular. The ideal candidate would have significant experience with fieldwork and survey implementation. Essential skills include programming experience in R/Stata/Python and experience with and/or strong interest in survey experiments, sampling, and design. The position does not require teaching, but it may be possible to get teaching experience for compensation.

The position is based in Abu Dhabi and will start on September 1, 2023. The fellow will be part of a group of over 20 post-doctoral fellows and 70 faculty in the Division of Social Science. This is a two-year position, renewable for a third year depending on performance. We will begin reviewing applications on October 15, 2022, and will continue until the position is filled.

About NYU Abu Dhabi

Established in partnership between New York University (NYU) and the emirate of Abu Dhabi, NYU Abu Dhabi (NYUAD) has assembled a remarkable community of scholars, students, researchers, artists, inventors, and others who are establishing a new global model of higher education for today's complex world. We seek to attract outstanding post-doctoral researchers who will contribute to an intellectually rich environment.

NYUAD is committed to building and strengthening a university-wide culture of inclusion, diversity, belonging, and equity (IDBE). For more information on NYUAD's commitment to IDBE and how these values are fundamental to our mission please visit <https://nyuad.nyu.edu/en/about/inclusion-diversity-belonging-and-equity.html>.

Working for NYUAD

To help post-doctoral fellows and faculty thrive, we offer a comprehensive benefits package. This starts with a generous relocation allowance to ensure a smooth transition to Abu Dhabi. It includes a competitive salary; housing and transportation allowances; educational assistance for your dependents attending school in the UAE; and access to health and wellness services. Click here for more information on benefits for you and your family.

Qualifications

This position requires a Ph.D. in a social science or a related discipline and evidence of a strong program of high-quality research.

Application Instructions

To apply for this position, please submit the following items:

- CV
- Cover Letter
- Statement of Research Interests
- Three (3) Representative Writing Samples
- List of three references that may be contacted

Link to apply for the position - <http://apply.interfolio.com/101345>

Women, underrepresented minorities, and UAE citizens are especially encouraged to apply.

For questions about this position, please email nyuad.socials-science@nyu.edu

Join NYU Abu Dhabi, an exceptional place for exceptional people.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 10/15/2022

Date Posted: 8/25/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10777

University of Pittsburgh

Rank: Assistant and Associate Professor – Structural Racism, Oppression, and Black Political Experiences

Assistant and Associate Professor – Structural Racism, Oppression, and Black Political Experiences

The Department of Political Science at the University of Pittsburgh invites applications for two positions—an assistant and an associate professor (pending budgetary approval) in any subfield of political science or related discipline whose work addresses structural racism, oppression, or Black political experiences, conceived domestically, comparatively, or globally. We encourage applications from scholars working on problems of racial oppression and racialized inequalities and hierarchies – in race and ethnic politics, in political behavior, in political economy, in international and transnational politics, in global or domestic institutions (of the US or other countries), as well as any other topic related to our theme (including inequalities in cities, health, education, and technology).

The Department intends to make three hires in the coming years (pending budgetary approval), in coordination with a cluster in Race, Representation, and Anti-Black and Systemic Racism within the Kenneth P. Dietrich School of Arts and Sciences. The related University Race and Social Determinants of Equity and Well-being Cluster Hire and Retention Initiative is also aimed at creating and sustaining a cohort of scholars whose research, service, and community engagement are aimed at strengthening knowledge and addressing racial disparities in the social determinants of equity and wellbeing. We thus welcome applicants whose interests complement current and new cluster faculty pertaining to race and inequality and their impact on communities of color.

The starting date for these positions is September 1, 2023. Successful candidates are expected to engage in research, teaching, and service that contributes to the department's mission. Required qualifications: applicants have or expect to have a Ph.D. in hand before the appointment begins, research interests related to structural racism, oppression, or Black political experiences, and demonstrated ability or potential to deliver high-quality instruction, to publish high-quality scholarship, and to contribute to an inclusive climate and attract and retain a diverse student body.

Applications should include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, statement of research and teaching interests, two or three writing samples, teaching evaluations (if available), a diversity statement (brief description of how your research, teaching or service demonstrates a commitment to diversity and inclusion), and a minimum of three letters of reference; references should send their letters directly to psjobs@pitt.edu.

Please apply online at:

Assistant Professor Position:

https://cfopitt.taleo.net/careersection/pitt_faculty_external/jobdetail.ftl?job=22007072&tz=GMT-04%3A00&tzname=America%2FNew_York

Associate Professor Position:

https://cfopitt.taleo.net/careersection/pitt_faculty_external/jobdetail.ftl?job=22007073&tz=GMT-04%3A00&tzname=America%2FNew_York

In order to ensure full consideration, applications must be received by Sept. 30, 2022 and the review of applications will continue until the position is filled. The Political Science Department telephone number is (412) 648-7290; the contact e-mail address is wynn2@pitt.edu.

The University of Pittsburgh is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer and values equality of opportunity, human dignity and diversity. EOE, including disability/vets.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 9/30/2022

Date Posted: 8/24/2022

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 10767

National Defense University

Rank: Dean of Faculty and Academic Programs

Summary

National Defense University (NDU) supports the joint warfighter by providing rigorous Joint Professional Military Education to members of the U.S. Armed Forces and select others in order to develop leaders who have the ability to operate and creatively think in an unpredictable and complex world.

This is a Title 10 Excepted Service Appointment. Appointment is not to exceed 3 years with the possibility for extension.

This job is open to the public - U.S. Citizens, Nationals or those who owe allegiance to the U.S.

Apply online at: <https://www.usajobs.gov/job/671345800>

Open & closing dates
08/16/2022 to 09/13/2022

Salary
$150,859 - $173,470 per year

Pay scale & grade
AD 6

Duties

The Dean of Faculty and Academic Programs fosters institutional collaboration and integration in conjunction with the Dean of Administration, Dean of Students and the functional Directorate Heads; Chief Human Capital Officer (CHCO), Chief Information Officer (CIO), Chief Financial Officer (CFO) and Support Services Director (SSD). The Dean reports to the Component Head and is responsible to the VP-AA/Provost for the management and governance of the academic mission and their respective academic/research programs.

The Dean provides the leadership, management and expertise necessary to accomplish University-wide and component: strategic and operational academic program planning and assessment; development and documentation of required academic policies, guidance and processes; academic program oversight; and faculty talent and performance management and professional development.

Responsible for the content and quality of the college's curricula, the currency, relevance and pedagogical innovation of its component courses, programs and curricula.

Chairs the College Academic Policy Council (APC) or equivalent body for academic governance and peer review purposes.

Provides academic and faculty leadership for the college.

Teaches core, concentration or elective courses as needed to maintain contact with College courses, classrooms and students and to support delivery of the college curriculum.

Participates in University and component engagement efforts to share learning and scholarship within the college and throughout NDU.

Serves as a Working Group member of the Military Education Coordinating Council (MECC)

Performs other duties and projects as assigned.

Requirements

Conditions of Employment

Must be a U.S. Citizen

The individual selected for this position is required to obtain and maintain a Top Secret security determination as a condition of employment.

All federal employees are required to have direct deposit

File a Public Financial Disclosure Report (OGE-278) within 30 days of entering the covered position, annually thereafter, and within 30 days of terminating from a covered position required by the Ethics in Government Act (EIGA).

The incumbent will serve in a probationary status for the first 24 months. If they have served in a supervisory capacity as a Title 10 employee at NDU within the last year, the probationary period is reduced to 18 months.

If selected, you will be required to provide information regarding your COVID-19 vaccination status for the purposes of determining appropriate workplace safety protocols, such as those related to masking, testing, travel, and quarantine.

Qualifications

REQUIRED QUALIFICATIONS:

Must have a doctorate degree (or other equivalent terminal professional degree) with progressive professional experience in a relevant area and a substantial record of excellence in teaching, continuing scholarship, and service contributions within an appropriate field of academic study. Experience in graduate-level education is strongly preferred. Background and degree in a National Security Studies or related is strongly preferred.

Demonstrated successful record of leadership achievements, innovation, and managerial skills.

Must have demonstrated successful experience as a department head or as associate dean in an academic institution, or an equivalent leadership position. Must have a proven record for building partnerships and coalitions at similar or larger/more complex organizations. Must have a record of successfully leading change in an organization of similar or larger size or greater complexity. Must have experience developing the organizational vision and implementing policies and procedures to achieve this vision within available resources in a continuously changing environment.

Experience providing leadership and strategic direction over personnel across complex organizations.

DESIRED QUALIFICATIONS:

Background and degree in a national security studies, or other related areas is strongly preferred.

Experience working in the interagency, joint, multi-service or multinational military environment.

Knowledge of public and/or private sector academic institutions' organization, structure, and operations.

Familiarity with the missions, organization, and operations of the Department of Defense.

Familiarity with the Joint Strategic Planning System

Experience managing at the highest levels within a large diverse academic environment.

Senior service college graduate level education preferred.

Education

Education Requirement: Ph.D. or other terminal degree from a regionally accredited institution of higher education (or international equivalent) related to the duties of this position, with a focus on national security or higher education academic administration.

Official transcripts will be required at time of selection to verify educational requirements are met.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 9/13/2022

Date Posted: 8/22/2022

Salary: $150,000 - $159,999

eJobs ID: 10753

Hertie School – the University of Governance in Berlin

Rank: Postdoctoral Researcher - Digital Governance

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Open, Other

The Hertie School in Berlin prepares exceptional students for leadership positions in government, business, and civil society. The school offers master's programmes, executive education and doctoral programmes, distinguished by interdisciplinary and practice-oriented teaching, as well as outstanding research. Its extensive international network positions it as an ambassador of good governance, characterised by public debate and engagement. The school was founded in 2003 by the Hertie Foundation, which remains its major funder. The Hertie School is accredited by the state and the German Science Council.

The Hertie School seeks to fill the following position: Postdoctoral Researcher - Digital Governance (f/m/div) on a full-time basis (40 hours per week).

The contract shall commence in fall 2022 and is limited for three years. The successful candidate will be affiliated with the Hertie School's Centre for Digital Governance (<https://www.hertie-school.org/en/centre-for-digital-governance>).

Your tasks:

Your main tasks at the Hertie School will be to further develop your own independent research programme with relevance for the Centre. Research areas may include, but are not limited to: digitalisation of government, artificial intelligence and human development, social media governance, and open data and data sharing. Your goal should be to publish relevant research in leading peer-reviewed journals. In a minor role, you will be asked to contribute towards core activities of the Centre for Digital Governance, such as supporting grant-writing activities or helping with the organisation of the Centre's research colloquium and smaller workshops or events.

Your profile:

PhD (or equivalent) in a relevant discipline with publications demonstrating sufficient transdisciplinary understanding and capacities, and an excellent potential for academic achievement.

Keen interest in the interplay of questions related to the topics mentioned above is a must-have.

Excellent oral and written communication skills in English.

We offer:

A stimulating international and diverse environment in multiple areas of social science, high-quality teaching and public policy. The Hertie School is a vibrant academic community that emphasizes excellence in research and teaching as well as an interdisciplinary perspective. Our school has been certified as a family friendly work environment in higher education and an equal opportunity employer. Severely disabled applicants are given preferential consideration in the event of equal qualification.

Please submit your application portfolio (a CV, a cover letter describing your research plans and interest, two writing samples, and names and contact information of at least two references). Please submit your complete and relevant application documents in a single PDF file by 11 September 2022 here: <https://hertie-school.dvinci-easy.com/en/p/en/jobs/50634/intro>

Start Date: Fall 2022

Date Posted: 8/18/2022

Salary: Competitive

Jobs ID: 10718

Princeton University

Rank: Research Specialist II

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Non-Academic, Other

Housed at Princeton University, Arab Barometer is a nonpartisan research network that provides insight into the social, political, and economic attitudes and values of citizens across the Middle East and North Africa (MENA). We have been conducting high quality and reliable public opinion surveys since 2006, making us the longest-standing and the largest repository of publicly available data on the views of citizens in the region.

The Research Specialist II will join a face-paced, dynamic environment where a close-knit team of researchers strives to find innovative ways of measuring the preferences and grievances of citizens in MENA. Arab Barometer's goal is not only to implement best practices to learn about the MENA region, but also to learn what the MENA region tells us about survey research. To this end, the Research Specialist will be involved in deciding what questions to ask and how to ask them; working with regional partners to collect high-quality data; analyzing and interpreting survey findings; and disseminating results to a diverse audience. The position reports to the Director of Research but works in close collaboration with the project director, research associates, communication associate, graduate and undergraduate students, and research colleagues in the U.S. and MENA.

The ideal candidate will have a penchant for critical thinking and the perspicacity to keep in mind "the big picture" without sacrificing nuance. The candidate must also have the flexibility to manage multiple requests on a variety of tasks required by diverse stakeholders. This is an excellent opportunity to further develop both qualitative and quantitative research skills and to learn about the logistics of navigating research across different political and social contexts in the MENA region.

*This is a 2-year term position with possibility of renewal. This position is based in the Arab Barometer's Washington, DC office.

For full consideration, applicants must submit a cover letter and include an answer to the following question:

Arab Barometer's Wave VII Questionnaire is publicly available on our website (arabbarometer.org). What one topic would you like to see covered—or covered differently—on the next Arab Barometer survey? Please tell us why you think the topic should be added or amended. Then, provide one or two questions in both English and Arabic that you would add to the survey.

Responsibilities

*Drafting qualitative literature reviews or annotated bibliographies on assorted topics slated for inclusion on the survey and compiling lists of validated survey questions on these topics asked in MENA or elsewhere

*Incorporating questionnaire feedback from numerous stakeholders and managing version control and translation updates in both Arabic and English

*Providing write-ups and analyses of outcomes from pretesting methods (such as focus groups and cognitive pretests)

*Helping to prepare training materials in both Arabic and English for survey teams in the region and documenting training accomplishments

*Managing Arab Barometer's Arabic and English-language question banks (the internal repository of all questions posed on Arab Barometer's seven waves)

*Liaising with regional partners during survey fielding to monitor survey progress and to update quality control trackers

*Assisting in data management by providing data labels and graph titles in both Arabic and English

*Writing or contributing to authorship of Arab Barometer country reports, topical reports, and Arab Pulse blogs

*Fact checking and number checking reports of other Arab Barometer colleagues or contributors

*Drafting presentations of findings for various audiences including academics, government officials, policy makers, and civil society practitioners

Required Qualifications

*A propensity for "thinking outside the box" and taking initiative

*Strong qualitative research skills

*Excellent oral and written communication skills in both Arabic and English

*Interest in and knowledge of Middle Eastern and North African affairs

*Baseline knowledge of statistics/survey data or willingness to develop skills through independent study if needed

*Highly organized and attentive to details

*Ability to multi-task effectively, including meeting tight deadlines across multiple survey projects while ensuring accuracy of results

*In-depth knowledge of at least one MENA country, combined with an ability to look broadly at the region.

*B.A. degree in social sciences, humanities, MENA region area studies, or statistics. MA preferred.

*1-3 years of experience in undertaking research involving qualitative and/or quantitative analysis (internships, volunteer positions, research assistantships for professors, or extra-academic pursuits all count)

Preferred Qualifications

*Knowledge of survey questionnaire design

*Knowledge of LaTeX

*Knowledge of R or STATA

Apply online at <https://main-princeton.icims.com/jobs/15465/research-specialist-ii/job?hub=15>.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/17/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10717

Arkansas State University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, Other

Specializations: Race & Ethnic Politics, Public Opinion, Quantitative Methods

The Department of Political Science at Arkansas State University invites applications for a tenure-track position at the level of assistant professor, beginning fall 2023.

The position is open with respect to any aspect of political behavior (comparative perspectives are openly considered), although candidates whose research and teaching interests are in race and ethnic politics and/or the study of under-represented/marginalized groups are strongly encouraged to apply. Candidates who have a strong theoretical and empirical background with the ability to teach advanced research methods at the undergraduate and graduate level are preferred.

The Department also seeks to attract a candidate who can enhance the department's course offerings in the Masters program in political science, and who can increase the department's mission towards continuing diversity, equity, and inclusion.

To apply and learn more, visit <https://bit.ly/3plf9y6>. All items listed below are requirements must be submitted in order for your file to be considered complete:

- (1) A statement of purpose indicating research and teaching interests and credentials
- (2) Curriculum Vitae
- (3) Graduate transcripts
- (4) Evidence of teaching ability
- (5) A Writing sample (a peer reviewed article that was recently published or dissertation chapter will suffice)
- (6) three letters of recommendation

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 11/1/2022

Date Posted: 8/16/2022

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 10709

Carleton College

Rank: Assistant Professor - Native American and Indigenous Studies

The American Studies program at Carleton College invites applications for a tenure-track position in Native American and Indigenous Studies to begin September 2023. This position is open in terms of research focus but a PhD in American Studies or Ethnic or Native American / Indigenous Studies is strongly preferred. Candidates with a PhD in another field will be considered if they demonstrate extensive interdisciplinary training in a field closely related to Native American / Indigenous Studies at the PhD level. Possible research focus areas, in addition to American Studies, include Art and Art History (including museum studies), Biology, English, or Political Science. Carleton is committed to developing its faculty to better reflect the diversity of our student body and American society. Gender-diverse individuals and members of underrepresented minority groups are strongly encouraged to apply.

Successful candidates may have training in a range of disciplines and fields, but their research and teaching must primarily concern Native American and Indigenous Studies. They will be expected to teach undergraduate courses with a focus on Native American / Indigenous studies as well as courses in the partner department for a total of five courses over three trimesters per year. Departmental service responsibilities will be primarily contributed to American Studies. The successful candidate will be an equity-minded individual committed to mentoring students from a broad range of socioeconomic backgrounds, genders, orientations, abilities, and cultural heritages. We seek applicants who understand the benefits that diversity brings to Carleton's small residential community, and who are committed to furthering the College's goals of closing equity gaps and providing a safe learning environment for all students. Successful applicants will be invested in building reciprocal relationships with local Native nations and Native community organizations.

An ideal candidate should also have a demonstrated track record of socially-engaged research, in collaboration with Indigenous Peoples, with a commitment to the transformative integration of Indigenous Peoples' concerns or ways of knowing into their teaching and scholarship.

To apply, please visit the Carleton College website at careers.carleton.edu and complete the online application by submitting a cover letter; CV; statement of teaching philosophy; and contact information for three references, including a reference from a community partner. Application deadline is October 15, 2022. Full letters of reference and a writing sample will be requested later.

Carleton is a highly selective undergraduate liberal arts college with a student body of approximately 2,000. Located in the thriving two-college town of Northfield, Minnesota, it is forty-five miles from the Twin Cities of Minneapolis and St. Paul, a metropolitan area with a vibrant Native community. This new position is a part of a broader institutional commitment to build capacity in Native American and Indigenous studies, in acknowledgement of Carleton's location on the homelands of the Wahpekute and Mdewakanton Dakota peoples. The successful candidate will join another dedicated American Studies faculty member who teaches Indigenous Histories and Native American and Indigenous Studies, will be supported through a full time Indigenous Communities Liaison staff member, and will partner with an active student organization, the Indigenous Peoples Alliance.

Carleton College does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, creed, ethnicity, religion, sex, national origin, marital status, veteran status, actual or perceived sexual orientation, gender identity and expression, status with regard to public assistance, disability, or age in providing employment or access to its educational facilities and activities.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 10/15/2022

Date Posted: 8/16/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10623

SUNY, University at Albany

Rank: Assistant or Associate Professor

The School of Criminal Justice invites applications for a full-time tenured or tenure-track faculty appointment at the academic rank of Assistant Professor or Associate Professor to begin Fall 2023. We seek a scholar with an active and productive program of research and with a record of or strong potential for obtaining external funding. Area of research focus is open. Candidates should be able to effectively teach a 2-2 load of relevant undergraduate and graduate courses, mentor graduate and undergraduate students, and engage in service to the School, University, community, and profession. A Ph.D. in criminal justice, criminology, or related discipline (e.g., sociology, political science, psychology, economics) is required, in hand by September 1, 2023. Degrees must be from a university accredited by the U.S. Department of Education or an internationally recognized accrediting organization.

Applicants should address in their application their ability to work with and instruct a diverse population and their willingness to teach remotely or online, if needed, in addition to traditional in-person instruction. Candidates must be willing to contribute to the University's priorities, including student success, research, diversity and inclusion, internationalization, and community engagement and service.

The School of Criminal Justice has an internationally renowned doctoral program, a Master's Degree program, and a selective BA program. The University at Albany is one of the four University Centers of the State University of New York; its approximately 17,000 students include roughly 5000 graduate students, and its full-time faculty number about 700. Albany, the capital of New York, is in a metropolitan area with a population of approximately 800,000. Located in beautiful upstate New York, it is in close proximity to the Berkshires, the Catskills, the Adirondacks, and the Hudson River Valley and is also convenient to Boston, Montreal, and New York City.

Review of applications will begin September 15, 2022 and will continue until the position is filled.

Required Qualifications:

- Ph.D. in criminal justice, criminology, or related discipline (e.g., sociology, political science, psychology, economics) from a university accredited by the U.S. Department of Education or an internationally recognized accrediting organization, in hand by September 1, 2023
- active and productive program of research
- record of or strong potential for externally funded research
- ability to effectively teach relevant undergraduate and graduate courses
- ability to mentor graduate and undergraduate students

- ability to work with and instruct a diverse population
- willingness to teach remotely or online, should needs arise
- willingness to contribute to the University's priorities, including student success, research, diversity and inclusion, internationalization, and community engagement and service

Applicants should apply online via <https://albany.interviewexchange.com/jobofferdetails.jsp?JOBID=151140>

Applicants should submit:

- 1) a letter of application addressing each of the qualifications outlined in the position announcement
- 2) statements of research and teaching interests and experience
- 3) a curriculum vitae
- 4) the names and contact information of three references

Review of applications will begin September 15, 2022 and will continue until the position is filled.

The University at Albany is an EEO/AA/IRCA/ADA employer.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/15/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10694

University of Toronto

Rank: Associate Professor / Professor and Chair in Global China

Closing Date: Thursday October 6, 2022

The Munk School of Global Affairs & Public Policy in the Faculty of Arts & Science at the University of Toronto invites applications for a full-time tenure stream position in the area of Global China. The appointment will be at the rank of Associate Professor or Professor, with an expected start date of July 1, 2023. The successful candidate may be appointed as the endowed Munk Chair in Global China for a five-year term.

Applicants must have earned a Ph.D. in any social sciences field relating to Global China or a related area such as Economics, Political Science, Sociology, with a clearly demonstrated exceptional record of excellence in research and teaching. The Munk School seeks a scholar whose research and teaching interests complement and enhance one or more of our existing strengths, which include the Future of Democratic Societies, the Changing World Order, the Political Economy of Innovation, and the Digital World. Candidates will have an established international reputation and will be expected to sustain and lead innovative and independent research at the highest international level and to maintain an outstanding, competitive, externally funded research program. The Committee especially welcomes candidates whose work focuses on the global role of China within the political economy of innovation, and the role of democratic societies, justice, and foreign relations.

Candidates must provide evidence of research excellence which can be demonstrated by a record of sustained high-impact contributions and publications in top-ranked disciplinary and/or field-relevant academic journals or academic presses, the submitted research statement, presentations at significant conferences, distinguished awards and accolades, other noteworthy activities that contribute to the visibility and prominence of the field, as well as strong endorsements from referees of high standing.

Evidence of excellence in teaching will be demonstrated through teaching accomplishments, through the teaching dossier submitted as part of the application including a teaching statement, sample course materials, teaching evaluations, and through endorsements of teaching in the letters of reference.

Candidates are also expected to show evidence of a commitment to equity, diversity, inclusion, and the promotion of a respectful and collegial learning and working environment demonstrated through the application materials.

The successful candidate will teach undergraduate and graduate courses, including in the Munk School's professional graduate programs (the Master of Global Affairs and the Master of Public Policy) to students from a wide range of academic backgrounds and interests and will also expand teaching capacity in the Asian Institute Collaborative Master's Specialization in Contemporary East and Southeast Asian Studies and the Dr. David Chu program in Contemporary Asian Studies. The successful candidate will have experience or demonstrable interest in a professional school and/or in an interdisciplinary environment.

Salary and rank will be commensurate with qualifications and experience.

For more information about the Munk School of Global Affairs & Public Policy at the University of Toronto St. George campus, please visit our home page at <https://munkschool.utoronto.ca/>.

All qualified candidates are invited to apply online by clicking the link below. Applicants must submit a cover letter; curriculum vitae; writing sample; teaching dossier (including a teaching statement and sample course materials and teaching evaluations); and a research statement outlining current and future research interests. We seek candidates who value diversity and whose research, teaching and service bear out our commitment to equity. Candidates are therefore also asked to submit a 1-2 page statement of contributions to equity and diversity, which might cover topics such as (but not limited to): research or teaching that incorporates a focus on underrepresented communities, the development of inclusive pedagogies, or the mentoring of students from underrepresented groups.

Applicants must provide the name and contact information of three references. The University of Toronto's recruiting tool will automatically solicit and collect letters of reference from each after an application is submitted (this happens overnight). Applicants remain responsible for ensuring that references submit letters (on letterhead, dated and signed) by the closing date.

Submission guidelines can be found at <http://uoft.me/how-to-apply>. Your CV and cover letter should be uploaded into the dedicated fields. Please combine additional application materials into one or two files in the PDF/MS Word format. If you have any questions about this position, please contact munkschool.academic@utoronto.ca.

All application materials, including reference letters, must be received by Thursday October 6, 2022.

All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply; however, Canadians and permanent residents will be given priority.

Diversity Statement:

The University of Toronto is strongly committed to diversity within its community and especially welcomes applications from racialized persons / persons of colour, women, Indigenous / Aboriginal People of North America, persons with disabilities, LGBTQ2S+ persons, and others who may contribute to the further diversification of ideas.

As part of your application, you will be asked to complete a brief Diversity Survey. This survey is voluntary. Any information directly related to you is confidential and cannot be accessed by search committees or human resources staff. Results will be aggregated for institutional planning purposes. For more information, please see <http://uoft.me/UP>.

Accessibility Statement:

The University strives to be an equitable and inclusive community, and proactively seeks to increase diversity among its community members. Our values regarding equity and diversity are linked with our unwavering commitment to excellence in the pursuit of our academic mission.

The University is committed to the principles of the Accessibility for Ontarians with Disabilities Act (AODA). As such, we strive to make our recruitment, assessment and selection processes as accessible as possible and provide accommodations as required for applicants with disabilities.

If you require any accommodations at any point during the application and hiring process, please contact uoft.careers@utoronto.ca.

To apply please click here. (jobs.utoronto.ca)

Start Date: Summer 2023

Application Deadline: 10/6/2022

Date Posted: 8/11/2022

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 10670

U.S. Naval War College

Rank: Assistant Professor, Strategic Deterrence Initiative

The U.S. Naval War College is a Professional Military Education (PME) institution serving the nation, the Department of Defense, and the U.S. Navy. U.S. and selected international graduates earn Master of Arts degrees in National Security & Strategic Studies or Defense & Strategic Studies accredited by the New England Commission of Higher Education. The College educates and develops future leaders through the development of strategic perspective, critical thinking, and cultural awareness, as well as enhancing the capability to advise senior leaders and policy makers. The College also helps to define the future Navy and its roles and missions; supports combat readiness; strengthens global maritime partnerships; and promotes ethics and leadership throughout the force. We are actively seeking candidates with diverse academic, demographic and professional backgrounds. More information on the college can be found at www.usnwc.edu

Strategic Deterrence Initiative. The robust Cold War understanding of the nuclear balance and its implications for deterrence and warfighting has atrophied considerably. These changes warrant a major investment of time and resources to engage in focused research on deterrence from the conventional, through high-conventional, cross-domain, to the full nuclear spectrum. The Naval War College's Strategic Deterrence Initiative will keep the College on the cutting edge of research, education, and fleet support on deterrence and warfighting in these domains.

Strategic and Operational Research Department (SORDD). The SORDD produces innovative research and analysis for the U.S. Navy, the U.S. Department of Defense, the U.S. interagency, and the broader national security community. It also generates new scholarship in security studies and actively participates in the broader academic community. The SORDD is home to a number of specialized centers, institutes, and advanced research groups that foster deeper levels of research, analysis, and teaching on subjects of critical interest for the Navy: the China Maritime Studies Institute, the Cyber & Innovation Policy Institute, the Russia Maritime Studies Institute, and the Halsey, and Brodie groups. The SORDD's faculty employ varied and multi-disciplinary approaches to national security issues, generating new knowledge for the Navy and the Department of Defense.

Responsibilities. The incumbent will conduct individual and team research, engagement, and education to support Navy leadership on strategic deterrence. Research topics might include—but not be limited to—questions about nuclear deterrence and coercion, crisis instability, non-nuclear strategic deterrence, technology and the future of strategic deterrence, and comparative analysis of great power nuclear balances and policies. Candidates will be expected to assist standing up and managing an Advanced Research Program on strategic deterrence and nuclear matters, which may involve developing and teaching relevant courses at the masters level.

Qualifications and Competencies. Qualified candidates must have an advanced degree from an accredited university. A Master's Degree or enrollment in a Ph.D. program is required. A Ph.D. in a research-related field such as political science, history, economics, or a relevant scientific field is highly preferred. Ph.D. candidates who are close to defending their dissertations are encouraged to apply. Successful candidates will have an active and ambitious research agenda they will continue to pursue at the Naval War College. Preferred applicants will demonstrate the ability to publish research on nuclear deterrence, coercion, and conflict; and will possess a significant research background on topics such as nuclear deterrence and coercion, crisis stability between nuclear-armed powers, non-nuclear strategic deterrence, technology and the future of strategic deterrence, and comparative analysis of international nuclear balances and policies. Professional and operational experience relevant to strategic deterrence will be considered as important complements to scholarly credentials. Familiarity with naval/maritime strategies, concepts, and capabilities is desirable. Teaching experience is also valued.

Candidates must be U.S. citizens capable of obtaining a Department of Defense security clearance at the TOP SECRET/SCI level. The selected candidate will be subject to a pre-employment drug screening test and random drug testing thereafter. Any current or prior military service should be described including assignments, positions held, highest rank attained, and dates of service.

Salary Considerations. Salary is competitive and is accompanied by a generous Federal Civil Service package that includes health insurance, pension and retirement saving plans (with employer matching contributions), paid vacation and sick leave, and other benefits. Rank and salary are commensurate with experience and credentials in accordance with Department of the Navy Faculty Pay Schedule. This is a tenure-track position.

Application Process. Applicants must reference VA#NWC-22-21 and submit their application package to: NWC-22-21@usnwc.edu. The application package must include: (1) cover letter; (2) curriculum vitae; (3) research agenda (no more than 2000 words); and (4) names and contact information for three references. Applications will be accepted through 11:59 pm (EDT), 26 September 2022.

Questions about this position should be directed via email to CAPT Michael Marston, USN, michael.marston@usnwc.edu or Dr. Colin Jackson, colin.jackson@usnwc.edu.

To ensure compliance with an applicable preliminary nationwide injunction, which may be supplemented, modified, or vacated, depending on the course of ongoing litigation, the Federal Government will take no action to implement or enforce the COVID-19 vaccination requirement Safer Federal Workforce Task Force 2 pursuant to Executive Order 14043 on Requiring Coronavirus Disease 2019 Vaccination for Federal Employees. Therefore, to the extent a Federal job announcement includes the requirement that applicants must be fully vaccinated against COVID-19 pursuant to Executive Order 14043, that requirement does not currently apply. Federal agencies may request information regarding the vaccination status of selected applicants for the purposes of implementing other workplace safety protocols, such as protocols related to masking, physical distancing, testing, travel, and quarantine.

NOTICE OF VETERANS PREFERENCE: There is no formal rating system for applying veterans' preference to the excepted service; however, the Department of Defense considers veterans' preference eligibility a positive factor for hiring. Applicants eligible for veterans' preference must include that information in their cover letter or resume and attach supporting documentation (e.g., DD Form 214, "Certificate of Release or Discharge from Active Duty" to their submissions. Although the point-preference system is not used, applicants eligible to claim 10-Point preference must submit a Standard Form (SF) 15, "Application for 10-Point Veteran Preference," and supporting documents required for specific type of preference claimed. (SF 15, which lists the types of 10-Point Preference and the required supporting documents, is available from the Office of Personnel Management Website at www.opm.gov.)

Within the Department of Defense (DoD), the appointment of retired military members within 180 days immediately following retirement dated to a civilian position is subject to the provisions of 5 United States Code 3326.

The Naval War College is an Equal Opportunity Employer.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 9/26/2022

Date Posted: 8/10/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10664

University of Toronto

Rank: Associate Professor / Professor and Chair in Global Affairs

The Munk School of Global Affairs & Public Policy in the Faculty of Arts & Science at the University of Toronto invites applications for a full-time tenure stream position in the area of Global Affairs. The appointment will be at the rank of Associate Professor or Professor, with an expected start date of July 1, 2023. The successful candidate may be appointed as the endowed Munk Chair in Global Affairs for a five-year term.

Applicants must have earned a Ph.D. in any social sciences field relating to Global Affairs or a related area such as Economics, Political Science, or Sociology, with a clearly demonstrated exceptional record of excellence in research and teaching. The Munk School seeks a scholar whose research and teaching interests complement and enhance one or more of our existing strengths, which include the Future of Democratic Societies, the Changing World Order, the Political Economy of Innovation, and the Digital World. Candidates will have an established international reputation and will be expected to sustain and lead innovative and independent research at the highest international level and to maintain an outstanding, competitive, externally funded research program. The Committee especially welcomes candidates whose work focuses on global regulation of data, international standard setting, or the governance of technology platforms, in combination with research on global politics, industry, trade, inequality, and international organizations.

Candidates must provide evidence of research excellence which can be demonstrated by a record of sustained high-impact contributions and publications in top-ranked disciplinary and/or field-relevant academic journals or academic presses, the submitted research statement, presentations at significant conferences, distinguished awards and accolades, and other noteworthy activities that contribute to the visibility and prominence of the discipline, as well as strong endorsements from referees of high standing.

Evidence of excellence in teaching will be demonstrated through teaching accomplishments, through the teaching dossier submitted as part of the application including a teaching statement, sample course materials, teaching evaluations, and through endorsements of teaching in the letters of reference.

Candidates are also expected to show evidence of a commitment to equity, diversity, inclusion, and the promotion of a respectful and collegial learning and working environment demonstrated through the application materials.

The successful candidate will teach undergraduate and graduate courses, including in the Munk School's professional graduate programs (the Master of Global Affairs and the Master of Public Policy) to students from a wide range of academic backgrounds and interests. The successful candidate will have experience or demonstrable interest in a professional school and/or in an interdisciplinary environment.

Salary and rank will be commensurate with qualifications and experience.

For more information about the Munk School of Global Affairs & Public Policy at the University of Toronto St. George campus, please visit our home page at <https://munkschool.utoronto.ca/>.

All qualified candidates are invited to apply online by clicking the link below. Applicants must submit a cover letter; curriculum vitae; writing sample; teaching dossier (including a teaching statement and sample course materials and teaching evaluations); and a research statement outlining current and future research interests. We seek candidates who value diversity and whose research, teaching and service bear out our commitment to equity. Candidates are therefore also asked to submit a 1-2 page statement of contributions to equity and diversity, which might cover topics such as (but not limited to): research or teaching that incorporates a focus on underrepresented communities, the development of inclusive pedagogies, or the mentoring of students from underrepresented groups.

Applicants must provide the name and contact information of three references. The University of Toronto's recruiting tool will automatically solicit and collect letters of reference from each after an application is submitted (this happens overnight). Applicants remain responsible for ensuring that references submit letters (on letterhead, dated and signed) by the closing date.

Submission guidelines can be found at <http://uoft.me/how-to-apply>. Your CV and cover letter should be uploaded into the dedicated fields. Please combine additional application materials into one or two files in the PDF/MS Word format. If you have any questions about this position, please contact munkschool.academic@utoronto.ca.

All application materials, including reference letters, must be received by Thursday September 22, 2022.

All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply; however, Canadians and permanent residents will be given priority.

Diversity Statement:

The University of Toronto is strongly committed to diversity within its community and especially welcomes applications from racialized persons / persons of colour, women, Indigenous / Aboriginal People of North America, persons with disabilities, LGBTQ2S+ persons, and others who may contribute to the further diversification of ideas.

As part of your application, you will be asked to complete a brief Diversity Survey. This survey is voluntary. Any information directly related to you is confidential and cannot be accessed by search committees or human resources staff. Results will be aggregated for institutional planning purposes. For more information, please see <http://uoft.me/UP>.

Accessibility Statement:

The University strives to be an equitable and inclusive community, and proactively seeks to increase diversity among its community members. Our values regarding equity and diversity are linked with our unwavering commitment to excellence in the pursuit of our academic mission.

The University is committed to the principles of the Accessibility for Ontarians with Disabilities Act (AODA). As such, we strive to make our recruitment, assessment and selection processes as accessible as possible and provide accommodations as required for applicants with disabilities.

If you require any accommodations at any point during the application and hiring process, please contact uoft.careers@utoronto.ca.

To apply please click here. (jobs.utoronto.ca)

Start Date: Summer 2023

Application Deadline: 9/22/2022

Date Posted: 8/9/2022

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 10640

United States Air Force Academy

Rank: Assistant Professor of Military and Strategic Studies

Subfield(s): International Relations, Public Policy, Other

Specializations: International Security, Defense, Intelligence

Teach undergraduate courses in military strategy and/or international security. Provide well-organized instruction to facilitate, assess, and continuously improve cadet learning. Conduct research in the field which contributes to the body of knowledge. Pursue personal professional development and engages in scholarly and professional activities to maintain academic currency as well as advance the discipline, the department, and the US Air Force Academy. For more details on this position, please contact Dr. Mike Fowler via email posted at <https://www.usafa.edu/facultyprofile/?smid=28765>.

Note: USAF Academy does not currently have a tenure system but plans to adopt one, pending congressional approval.

To apply, go to usajobs at <https://www.usajobs.gov/job/664233600>.

Start Date: Summer 2023

Application Deadline: 10/2/2022

Date Posted: 8/5/2022

Salary: $90,000 - $99,999

eJobs ID: 10632

Brown University

Rank: Lecturer in Development, Governance, and Security

As part of a major hiring initiative, The Watson Institute for International and Public Affairs at Brown University invites applications for multiple Lecturer positions in the areas of Development, Security, and Governance. These full-time faculty positions -- open to rank (i.e., Lecturer, Senior Lecturer, Distinguished Senior Lecturer) -- are focused on teaching, advising, and teaching-related administration in the Watson Institute's undergraduate International and Public Affairs program.

For each position, the initial appointment is for three years, and is renewable at regular intervals of three to six years. Appointments for these positions will begin on July 1, 2023.

We welcome applicants whose teaching expertise intersects with any of the Watson Institute's core research areas in Development, Governance, and Security. The Watson Institute is especially interested in qualified candidates who can contribute through their research, teaching, and service to the diversity and excellence of the academic community. The Watson Institute is committed to diversity and inclusion, and welcomes applications from members of historically underrepresented groups.

For at least one of these positions, we particularly seek applicants with expertise in international security broadly defined, including but not limited to grand strategy and geopolitical rivalry, civil war and post-war reconstruction, defense policy and military intervention, nuclear proliferation and deterrence, terrorism and counterterrorism, cybersecurity and surveillance, and resource conflicts and the security implications of climate change.

Also, for at least one of these positions, we seek applicants who, in addition to their excellence in teaching, have a demonstrated record of academic administration in undergraduate education. Such a record might include prior service as director of undergraduate studies in an academic department, director of a multi-disciplinary undergraduate major/concentration, or director of undergraduate advising.

Applicants must have a PhD in the social sciences or related disciplines. Current PhD candidates must have the degree in hand by the time of appointment.

All candidates should submit: 1) a cover letter describing relevant professional and teaching experience, 2) a curriculum vitae, 3) a teaching statement. Candidates should also have three letters of reference and their official graduate transcript uploaded to Interfolio at the time of application.

Review of applications will begin on September 23, 2022, but applications will be accepted until the position is filled.

Brown University is committed to fostering a diverse and inclusive academic global community; as an EEO/AA employer, Brown considers applicants for employment without regard to, and does not discriminate on the basis of, gender, race, protected veteran status, disability, or any other legally protected status.

Apply here: <http://apply.interfolio.com/110653>

Start Date: Summer 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/4/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10619

Brown University

Rank: Professor of Cyber and Security and International and Public Affairs

Specializations: Intelligence, International Security, Science & Technology

The Watson Institute for International and Public Affairs at Brown University invites applications for a faculty position in "cyber and security" to begin in July 2023. We are seeking applicants whose research focuses on various aspects of the intersection between cyber technologies and human security. Research of interest includes, but is not limited to, topics such as the impact of algorithm-based surveillance on marginalized communities, the strategic manipulation of cyber information for geopolitical gain, the intersection between social media and surveillance, the implications of autonomous weapons systems and drone warfare, and the development of offensive and defensive cyber weaponry.

This faculty position will involve a joint appointment between the Watson Institute and a relevant tenure-granting disciplinary department at Brown. We welcome applicants with doctoral degrees from all relevant disciplines, including STEM fields (e.g., Computer Science, Applied Mathematics, etc.) and the social sciences (e.g., Sociology, Economics, Political Science, Anthropology, History, Africana Studies). The Watson Institute is especially interested in qualified candidates who can contribute through their research, teaching, and service to the diversity and excellence of the academic community. The Watson Institute is especially interested in qualified candidates who can contribute through their research, teaching, and service to the diversity and excellence of the academic community. The Watson Institute is committed to diversity and inclusion, and welcomes applications from members of historically underrepresented groups.

Candidates at all ranks are welcome. A successful senior candidate must have an outstanding record of scholarly achievement, a proven record of successful research funding, and a demonstrated commitment to undergraduate and graduate teaching and advising. A successful junior candidate must be engaged in a research program with the potential to influence their field, and a strong commitment to undergraduate and graduate teaching and advising.

Junior candidates must have completed their PhD by the time of appointment. Review of applications will begin on Sept. 23, 2022, but applications will be accepted until the position is filled.

All candidates should submit: 1) a cover letter describing research completed and planned, 2) a curriculum vitae, 3) a short writing sample, and 4) a teaching statement. We ask that in both the cover letter and teaching statement, the candidate describe how their work fosters inclusive learning and diversity.

Senior candidates should include the names of five references whom the search committee can contact at an appropriate time. The list of references can be submitted via the "additional documents" field in Interfolio.

Junior candidates should have three letters of reference and their official graduate transcript uploaded to Interfolio at the time of the application. The confidential recommendation letters should be uploaded to Interfolio by the referee.

Brown University is committed to fostering a diverse and inclusive academic global community; as an EEO/AA employer, Brown considers applicants for employment without regard to, and does not discriminate on the basis of, gender, race, protected veteran status, disability, or any other legally protected status.

Apply here: <http://apply.interfolio.com/110611>

Start Date: Summer 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/4/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10618

University of Tennessee, Knoxville

Rank: Assistant Professor

Description

The Department of Political Science at the University of Tennessee invites applications for a tenure track, assistant professor position in the politics of populism, nationalism, and/or identity to begin Fall 2023. We are particularly interested in applicants who use rigorous and creative analytical approaches to address substantively important questions pertaining to these themes. Relevant research interests include (but are not limited to): nationalist, populist, or nativist parties or movements; conflicts, inequalities, or other relations between identity groups such as those based on ethnicity, race, religion, caste, social class, or national origin; politics of and policies pertaining to historically marginalized groups; xenophobia and discrimination toward migrants, refugees, or other marginalized individuals; etc.

The successful candidate must have strong research skills and a theoretically oriented research agenda that will lead to publication in peer-reviewed outlets (journals and/or books). The position is open with respect to method, subfield, and geographic region. Preference will be shown for applicants who have research and teaching interests that complement existing departmental interests and strengths (especially in the areas of global security and/or the politics of inequality), have a capacity for attracting extramural funding, demonstrate evidence of or potential for college/university teaching excellence, and exhibit a commitment to diversity and inclusion. The Knoxville campus of the University of Tennessee is seeking candidates who have the ability to contribute in meaningful ways to the diversity and intercultural goals of the University. The position is a 9-month, tenure-track appointment, and the salary is competitive and commensurate with qualifications and experience.

The University of Tennessee, Knoxville, is the state's flagship research institution, a campus of choice for outstanding undergraduates, and a premier graduate institution. As a land-grant university, it is committed to excellence in learning, scholarship, and engagement with society. More information about the Department is available at: <https://polisci.utk.edu/>. The Department also has a close working relationship with the Howard H. Baker, Jr. Center for Public Policy, which can provide a variety of resources and opportunities for faculty.

Qualifications

All the requirements for a Ph.D. in political science, public policy, or related discipline must be finished at the time of appointment.

Application Instructions

Applicants should send a cover letter, a current CV, graduate transcripts, a sample of scholarly writing, a research statement, a teaching statement, and a statement concerning experience with and plans for contributing to diversity, equity, and inclusion. All applicants should request letters from three references to be directly uploaded to Interfolio. Please submit application materials in digital format via Interfolio (apply.interfolio.com/109943). Review of applications begins September 20, 2022, and will continue until the position is filled. For questions or inquiries, contact Professor Matt Buehler at mbuehle2@utk.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/4/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10613

Yale University

Rank: Associate/Full Professor, International Relations, Comparative Political Economy, Comparative Politics

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Other

The Department of Political Science and the Jackson School of Global Affairs at Yale University are looking to hire several faculty at the rank of Associate or Full Professor with tenure, with an appointment in International Relations, Comparative Political Economy, and Comparative Politics, beginning July 1, 2023. Faculty are expected to share their teaching and service obligations between both the Political Science Department and the Jackson School of Global Affairs. The teaching expectation is normally 3 courses per academic year, plus service to the programs.

<http://apply.interfolio.com/110491>

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 9/5/2023

Date Posted: 8/3/2022

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 10594

University of Pennsylvania, Wharton School

Rank: Full-Time Tenure Track - Assistant, Associate or Full Professor

The Management Department of the Wharton School is seeking applicants for a full-time, tenure-track faculty position at any level: Assistant, Associate, or Full Professor in the areas of:

- Entrepreneurial Management
- Human Resource Management

- Multinational /Comparative Management
- Organizational Behavior
- Organizational Theory
- Strategy

Demonstrated ability or potential for high quality research and teaching are important. Applicants must have a Ph.D. (expected completion by June 30, 2024 is acceptable) from an accredited institution.

The appointment is expected to begin July 1, 2023.

Interested individuals should complete and submit our online application via our secure website, and must include:

- A cover letter (indicating the areas for which you wish to be considered)
- Curriculum vitae
- 3 Letters of Recommendation
- Job Market Paper and Abstract

To apply please visit: <http://apply.interfolio.com/109290>

Recruitment Committee review of applications will begin on September 1, 2022. Candidates are strongly encouraged to have their completed application submitted by that date for full consideration.

If you have any questions please contact the Management Department Recruitment Coordinator at: mgmt-recruitment@wharton.u-penn.edu.

Start Date: Summer 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/1/2022

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 10573

Bates College

Rank: Assistant Professor of Politics

The Department of Politics at Bates College invites applications for a tenure-track position focusing on racial and ethnic politics in the US. We are open to and encourage a variety of methodological approaches and paths to scholarly and teaching excellence in this field. Applicants should show a strong commitment to excellence in undergraduate teaching, to scholarly research, and to the implementation of inclusive pedagogies. The position would start on August 1, 2023. Faculty members teach five courses per year as well as advise individual senior theses.

The college and the department are committed to enhancing the diversity and inclusivity of the campus community and the curriculum. Candidates who can contribute to this goal and identify their strengths and experiences in this area are encouraged to apply. Consideration of applications will begin September 19, 2022 and continue until the position is filled.

Qualifications

Candidates should have PhD in hand or close to completion in Political Science or related field.

Application Instructions

Review of applications begins September 19, 2022 and will continue until the position is filled. Applicants should submit the following:

- (1) a letter of application, (2) curriculum vita, (3) pedagogy statement, (4) research statement, (5) statement on how attention to inclusion and equity informs your teaching and research, (6) writing sample, (7) graduate transcripts, and (8) three letters of recommendation.

Employment is contingent upon successful completion of a background check.

APPLY HERE: <https://www.bates.edu/employment/opportunities/?job=492558>

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 9/23/2022

Date Posted: 7/28/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10556

Johns Hopkins University

Rank: Assistant Program Director/Lecturer or Sr. Lecturer, Security and Intelligence

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Other

Specializations: Intelligence, Defense, Foreign Policy

Johns Hopkins University
Zanvyl Krieger School of Arts and Sciences
Advanced Academic Programs

Apply here: <https://apply.interfolio.com/110586>

Location:

Washington, DC

Description:

The Johns Hopkins University invites applications for the position of Assistant Program Director in the area of Security and Intelligence. This position will support the MA in Global Security Studies (primary), MS in Intelligence Analysis, and MS in Geospatial Intelligence programs in the Center for Advanced Governmental Studies, within the Krieger School of Arts & Sciences' Advanced Academic Programs Division. Reporting to the Director of the Center for Advanced Governmental Studies and Associate Dean for Graduate & Professional Programs, the Assistant Program Director will contribute to the excellence of the programs and will demonstrate and support ongoing innovation in the curriculums. Johns Hopkins University is committed to hiring candidates who, through their teaching and service, will contribute to the diversity and excellence of the academic community.

Advanced Academic Programs:

The Advanced Academic Programs (AAP) is a division of the Krieger School of Arts & Sciences at the Johns Hopkins University (JHU). As the nation's oldest and one of its most prestigious research universities, JHU offers high-quality master's degrees and post-baccalaureate education to students online, at its Washington, DC Center, and at the Homewood campus in Baltimore, MD. AAP enrolls over 6,000 students each academic year in over 45-degree programs.

AAP was started in 1992 to provide students with the opportunity to obtain a master's degree in a professional and part-time graduate program. Over the course of nearly 30 years, AAP has worked diligently to add new degree programs that fit within the academic structure of the Krieger School and satisfy the demands of the marketplace. AAP distinguishes itself through its intensive instructional assistance, selective admissions, and more than 50 dedicated full-time faculty. Tenured Krieger School faculty members serve as Program Chairs within AAP and work together in the Council of Program Chairs, an academic advisory body to the KSAS Dean.

AAP's website, <http://advanced.jhu.edu/>, provides additional information.

The Position:

AAP's programs in security and intelligence prepare students for positions in foreign affairs, national security and the intelligence community. Students learn how to confront the complexities of today's security environment with the latest policy and theoretical tools for analysis and action. The programs' courses are designed to maximize individual attention, encourage student contribution, build analytical skills, and provide the tools for engaging in original research. With an ever-growing and diverse student body, the programs are continually expanding and enhancing their course offerings to meet both academic and practitioner needs. Currently, the programs serve nearly 400 students both onsite and online, including a growing number of international students.

In both academic and administrative roles, the Assistant Program Director supports the curriculums, students, and adjunct faculty. The Assistant Program Director will have significant interaction/collaboration with the Program Directors and other faculty within the Center for Advanced Governmental Studies, as well as across other AAP programs, including the Energy Policy and Climate and Environmental Sciences and Policy programs.

The Assistant Program Director is a full-time, non-tenure-track, 12-month renewable faculty position with the academic title of Lecturer or Senior Lecturer, commensurate with experience. The Assistant Program Director reports to the Director of the Center for Advanced Governmental Studies, who consults with the Program Chair on academic matters, and to the Associate Dean for Graduate & Professional Programs, who leads the Advanced Academic Programs and reports to the Dean of the Krieger School of Arts & Sciences.

The Assistant Program Director will have the following academic and administrative responsibilities:

Academic Responsibilities:

Teach 6 graduate courses per year, including preparation and time spent in the classroom (both on-site in the Washington, DC Center and online), using best practices for teaching, engaging, and mentoring students from diverse backgrounds in the learning process, and responding to student questions

Advise students, including both program and research advising
Provide input on the curriculums and new course development to ensure the delivery and growth of quality programs
Other academic duties normally performed by full-time or regular part-time faculty, such as participating on committees, attending academic events, or contributing to other academic service

Administrative Responsibilities:

Assist with the management of degree concentrations or areas of focus
Participate in the adjunct faculty hiring and development processes
Assist the Program Directors with administrative tasks, such as planning events and reviewing admission materials
Other administrative duties as assigned

Qualifications:

The Assistant Program Director role is critical to maintaining the overall high quality of this program. The Assistant Program Director must have passion for education and its power to change lives, especially for international, part-time, and non-residential students. A track record of successful graduate and/or online teaching, as well as skills in instructional design, content development, and instructional technology, are important.

Candidates who have experience teaching and engaging students from diverse backgrounds are of particular interest.

To be considered, candidates should meet a set of minimum qualifications and ideally meet several additional preferred qualifications.

Minimum Qualifications:

- PhD in political science, international affairs, security studies, intelligence, or other field relevant to the interdisciplinary nature of global security studies; other terminal degrees in these or related fields may be considered
- 1-3 years of higher education teaching experience online and/or at the graduate level
- The ability to teach a variety of courses in the global security fields, including research-focused courses
- Strong organizational skills
- Excellent oral and written communication skills

Preferred Qualifications:

- 4 or more years of higher education teaching experience online and/or at the graduate level
- 1-3 years of work experience related professional work experience outside of academia, including but not limited to, government service, outside consulting, or collaborative work within fields related to security studies and intelligence
- Experience managing a degree or certificate program
- Demonstrated track record of excellence in teaching and innovation in curriculum design
- The ability to work independently in a fast-paced environment with competing demands and multiple deadlines in both on-site and online environments

Application Instructions:

For consideration; interested and qualified candidates should submit the following materials via Interfolio (<https://apply.interfolio.com/110586>):

- Cover letter that describes the applicant's interest in the position
- CV
- Teaching evaluations from the two most recent semesters

The selected candidate will be expected to undergo a background check and to submit proof of educational attainment.

Start Date: Spring 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/27/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10548

APSA

Rank: STAFF ACCOUNTANT I

AMERICAN POLITICAL SCIENCE ASSOCIATION (APSA)
POSITION ANNOUNCEMENT

https://workforcenow.adp.com/mascsr/default/mdf/recruitment/recruitment.html?cid=14a57c82-310e-42e3-8cc8-6b9883f0d8a9&ccId=19000101_000001&lang=en_US&selectedMenuKey=CareerCenterSTAFF_ACCOUNTANT_I>

The American Political Science Association (APSA) seeks a candidate to fill a full-time non-exempt position in its Finance department. The Staff Accountant I supports the Finance Team in carrying out the responsibilities of accounts payables, section accounting and reporting, credit card transactions, AP reconciliations and helping with monthly closing.

ESSENTIAL RESPONSIBILITIES

Accounts Payables:

APSA:

- Collect payment requests, review supporting documents and budget accounts, and make sure all requests are approved by department supervisors before being processed.
- Collect credit card receipts and review monthly transactions of APSA business credit cards. Contact department supervisors about budget accounts to make sure each transaction is recorded correctly.
- When required, issuance of purchase orders to appropriate vendor.
- Maintains all form W-9 Files for outside vendors - individuals and organizations.

APSA Organized Section:

- Review and process all section payment requests weekly and ensure section expenses are properly recorded for reporting purpose.
- Email Organized Section Treasurers requesting approval of all invoices and payments and efficiently resolve any related issues
- Properly and timely file email requests and supporting documents (Invoice, Receipt, W-9/W-8 forms)received for section and forward to Section Liaison/membership Director for review.

General Ledger:

- Prepare all Organized Section financial reports by the 15th, monthly.
- Assist in the monthly closing
- Conduct Reconciliations of AP accounts and maintain AP aging schedule.
- Assist in fulfilling requests during Annual Audit.
- Prepare the annual DC Retail Income and Expense reports for buildings 1828 18th Street NW and 1527 New Hampshire Avenue NW.

Other responsibilities:

- All other responsibilities as required.

ESSENTIAL SKILLS & EXPERIENCE

- Bachelor's degree required. Degree in accounting or equivalent preferred.
- Thorough understanding of Generally Accepted Accounting Principles (GAAP). Knowledge of Statutory accounting principles.
- Strong analytical and accounting skills.
- Intermediate to advanced experience with MS Word, MS Excel (Pivot tables) and MS Outlook.

•Intermediate to advanced knowledge of major accounting software packages for both general ledger and statutory accounting. Knowledge of Sage/Intaact and membership databases preferred.

•Must be able to effectively handle multiple projects simultaneously in a deadline driven environment.

•Excellent verbal, written communication, and interpersonal skills.

•Ability to work independently and as part of a team and take on new tasks with high level of difficulty.

•The individual will be expected to work with minimal up-front guidance and take ownership of his / her work product.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/18/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10503

Massachusetts Institute of Technology

Rank: Tenure-track faculty positions - Work & Organization Studies

The Work and Organization Studies (WOS) group at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology (MIT) Sloan School has openings for tenure track faculty members to start July 1, 2023, or soon thereafter, as possible, whose teaching and research focus on work, employment, and organizational issues. The rank is open and both junior and senior candidates at the Assistant Professor, Associate Professor, and Full Professor levels will be considered.

Faculty responsibilities include teaching courses and conducting research related to Work and Organization Studies. WOS has current teaching needs in courses on organizational processes, power and influence, as well as courses on work and employment issues.

WOS builds on the traditions of Organization Studies and the Institute for Work and Employment Research and has Ph.D. programs in both areas. The WOS faculty is interdisciplinary.

At the Assistant Professor level, candidates must possess, or be close to completion of, a Ph.D. in a field related to Work and Organization Studies, such as Sociology, Organizational Behavior, Industrial Relations, Social Psychology, Political Science, or Economics, at the start of employment. At the Associate Professor and Full Professor levels, a Ph.D. and demonstrated research experience is required.

WOS Research styles may include quantitative, ethnographic, field based, and/or lab based. (For more information about our group, go to: <https://mitsloan.mit.edu/faculty/academic-groups/work-and-organization-studies/about-us>).

The WOS group is part of the Behavioral and Policy Sciences Area, one of three major academic areas at Sloan. We encourage multidisciplinary work with colleagues in other parts of the School, and several members of the group are also members of other groups/units in the School (Communication; Economic Sociology; Technological Innovation, Entrepreneurship, and Strategy Management; System Dynamics; Global Economics and Management; and Information Technology).

Please submit applications electronically at <http://apply.interfolio.com/109621> providing a cover letter outlining interests and experience, a current CV, and one or two papers that indicate your research focus and capabilities. Applicants should also arrange for three letters of recommendation to be submitted via this link. Applications will be reviewed as received but are due no later than September 2, 2022.

MIT is an equal opportunity employer committed to building a culturally diverse and pluralistic intellectual community and strongly encourages applications from women and minorities.

Questions should be addressed to SloanSearchMaster@mit.edu

Start Date: Summer 2023

Application Deadline: 9/2/2022

Date Posted: 7/13/2022

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 10479

Princeton University

Rank: Harold T. Shapiro Postdoctoral Research Associate in Bioethics

The Princeton University Center for Human Values invites applications for the Harold T. Shapiro Postdoctoral Fellowship in Bioethics for a position starting in September 2023. The Shapiro Fellowship supports outstanding scholars studying ethical issues rising from developments in medicine, the biological sciences, or population health. We particularly encourage proposals focusing on problems of practical importance that have broader theoretical interest.

The Shapiro Fellow will spend from one to three years at Princeton conducting research and teaching the equivalent of one course each year (subject to sufficient enrollments and approval by the Dean of the Faculty). They will participate in the Ira W. DeCamp Seminar in Bioethics and will be invited to participate in other activities of the University Center for Human Values including a year-long research seminar for visiting fellows and Center faculty.

Qualifications

Applications welcome from candidates who have or expect to have a Ph.D., M.D., or other equivalent doctoral degree by the start, normally beginning September 1, 2023. Applicants should not have more than two years of postdoctoral experience by the date of appointment. An applicant may have a background in any area of ethical studies, not necessarily in bioethics. However, the proposed research plan should be related to the field of bioethics.

Applications will be evaluated on the basis of the applicant's previous accomplishments and the promise of the proposed research project in bioethics. The capacity to contribute to the University's teaching program will also be considered.

Term of Appointment

The term of the fellowship is one year, normally beginning September 1, 2023, with the possibility of renewal for up to two additional years pending satisfactory performance. Appointment will be made to the rank of Postdoctoral Research Associate; the Shapiro Fellow will also carry the title of Lecturer, if teaching. Princeton University offers a competitive salary and employee benefits.

How to Apply

Candidates must submit an online application at

<https://puwebp.princeton.edu/AcadHire/apply/application.xhtml?listingId=26382>

A complete application will include the following supporting materials:

1. A curriculum vitae;
2. A research proposal (not to exceed 1,500 words). Please provide an indicative title in the heading;
3. A scholarly paper (of no more than 12,000 words, not including bibliography) representing the applicant's scholarly achievement or potential;
4. Contact information for two referees, who should be prepared to comment specifically about the applicant's qualifications for the proposed research project. Referees will be contacted directly with instructions for uploading letters of reference.

These materials must be submitted online by the application deadline of Monday, November 14, 2022, 11:59 p.m. EST. We do not accept application materials by any other method. Letters of reference should be submitted by Monday, November 21, 2022. The selection committee will begin reviewing applications immediately so letters of reference received after the priority deadline may put candidates at a disadvantage.

Decisions will be announced in late March 2023. This position is subject to the University's background check policy.

Princeton University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to age, race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/6/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10464

Johns Hopkins University

Rank: P3 Lab Postdoctoral Fellow

P3 Lab Postdoctoral Fellow

The P3 Lab at Johns Hopkins University is seeking to hire a qualified a Postdoctoral Fellow to work with Faculty Director, Professor Hahrie Han, and Lab Director, Jane Booth-Tobin, on a range of studies focused on social movements and community organizing, particularly within race-class subjugated communities. The Postdoctoral Fellow will be hired for a yearlong term beginning no earlier than September 2022.

The position requires someone with a strong background in social science research grounded in the study of collective action and social movements. Post-docs must be excellent writers, capable with quantitative data analysis, and have experience with qualitative fieldwork. Applicants should have a PhD in a relevant social science field from an accredited institution and a record of being an outstanding scholar. Postdoctoral Fellows will be exempt from teaching and service duties and will devote their full-time effort to working on research. The expectation is that the fellow's time will be divided between working on a P3 research project and building out their own research.

Lab Description

At P3, we envision a world where people's participation in public life is possible, probable, and powerful: people across race and class have to be able to participate, they have to want to participate, and their participation has to matter. Realizing this vision necessitates designing a new civic architecture that enables people to engage in public life in ways that are grounded in their own experience, connected to one another, and organized through vehicles of collective action that give people ownership over the ongoing process of systemic struggle and change.

We are a multi-disciplinary research lab based at the SNF Agora Institute at Johns Hopkins University committed to learning and shared inquiry that meets the twin goals of relevance and rigor while helping to realize our vision. Our work simultaneously pushes the frontiers of strategic thinking in organizing and knowledge-building in academic scholarship.

Learn more about our work on our website: https://www.p3researchlab.org/mission_vision

Responsibilities

The Postdoctoral Fellow will be responsible for:

- Leading a to-be-determined project that is likely to include the following:
 - o Coordinating communities and researchers to develop a study that bridges practitioner and scholarly goals
 - o Developing a research team that supports cross-generational learning in the lab
 - o Conducting a literature review
 - o Conducting data collection and analysis
 - o Writing up results in both academic and practitioner-friendly formats
- Actively engaging in the P3 scholarly community by attending regular lab meetings and collaborating with fellow lab members on their projects.

Term of Appointment

The term of appointment is for 12 months, beginning no sooner than September 2022. Applicants will receive a small research budget that they can use at their discretion. Applicants can work remotely from anywhere in the United States, but must be willing to travel regularly to meet the P3 team. Johns Hopkins University offers a competitive salary and employee benefits.

Qualifications:

- Ph.D. degree in political science, sociology, or related areas by the start of the appointment
- Outstanding mixed-methods research and writing skills
- Experience working with constituency-based organizations either as a researcher or as a community organizer
- An understanding of or a desire to learn about the field of constituency-based organizations and social movements in the United States, as well as the ecosystems of funders, political parties, etc. they operate within
- Strong organizational skills and ability to simultaneously manage multiple large-scale projects
- Experience and interest in convening and managing events for diverse stakeholders (e.g., conferences, symposia, workshops)
- Commitment to the P3 Lab Mission
- Excellent communication skills
- Ability to work independently and in teams

In addition to the qualifications above, theoretical and empirical familiarity with the field of civic data, movement building, and aspects of computational social science; experience in statistical and spatial data analysis and data visualization; and/or advanced programming in R, STATA, or another statistical package would be valued.

Application Instructions

To apply, please submit your application at: <http://apply.interfolio.com/109351> and include the following materials:

1. Letter of application that includes:
 - a. a description of what you are hoping to get out of a fellowship with P3 and how it fits into your own scholarship
 - b. your understanding of what community organizing is, why it matters, and how it relates to your own research
2. A two-to-five page research statement detailing your substantive and methodological research experience
3. Curriculum vitae
4. A representative manuscript or publication (please note that to the extent possible, this should be a single-authored piece. Excellent writing skills are a must and we would like to be able to review people's writing style)
5. Three names of references at the time of the application.

Application review will begin 7/5/2022, but the position will remain open to accept additional applications until the position filled. Inquiries may be sent electronically to Jane Booth-Tobin, P3 Lab Director (jboothtobin@jhu.edu)

Start Date: Fall 2022

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/5/2022

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 10461

University of Western Ontario

Rank: International/Comparative Politics

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Other

Political Science – International/Comparative Politics

The Department of Political Science, Faculty of Social Science at Western University invites applications for highly qualified applicants for a probationary (tenure-track) appointment in the area of International/Comparative politics, broadly defined, with a starting date of July 1, 2023 or as negotiated.

We seek individuals with a demonstrated commitment to excellence in research, teaching, and service who can help advance Western's Strategic Plan: <https://strategicplan.uwo.ca/>. In particular, we will favour candidates whose teaching and scholarship addresses one or more of: threats to democracy, environmental politics, sustainability, climate change, systemic racism, and/or socioeconomic inequality. The successful candidate could approach these issues from either the system- or individual-level. Western Political Science aims to be Canada's top destination for graduate training in empirical research methods. The ability to teach empirical research methods will be considered an asset.

To address Western's commitment to equity, diversity, inclusion, and decolonization, applicants who self-identify as a woman, Indigenous person, member of a racialized community, person with a disability, or who identify as 2SLGBTQ+ are encouraged to apply to this position.

Applications should include the following:

- 1) application form (<http://www.uwo.ca/facultyrelations/pdf/careers/Faculty/Application-FullTime-Faculty-Position-Form.pdf>),
- 2) cover letter that addresses how the candidate fits the position and the department, and includes a brief statement of how the candidate will contribute to our commitment to Equity, Diversity, Inclusion, and Decolonization.
- 3) curriculum vitae,
- 4) short statement of teaching and research interests,
- 5) copies of published or ongoing research as well as links to other papers,
- 6) names and contact information of three academic referees,

The deadline for receipt of applications is September 15th, 2022, or until the position is filled.

This material should be sent to: polisci-recruitment@uwo.ca

Professor Matthew Lebo, Chair
 Department of Political Science
 Western University
 Room 4154, Social Science Centre
 London, Ontario, CANADA N6A 5C2
 EMAIL: polisci-recruitment@uwo.ca

Positions are subject to budget approval. Applicants should have fluent written and oral communication skills in English. Effective September 7, 2021, all employees and visitors to campus are required to comply with Western's COVID-19 Vaccination Policy.

Since 1878, Western University has been committed to serving our communities through the pursuit of academic excellence and by providing students, faculty, and community members with life-long opportunities for intellectual, social, and cultural growth. We seek excellent students, faculty, and staff to join us in what has become known as the "Western Experience" – an opportunity to contribute to a better world through the development of new knowledge, new abilities, new connections, and new ways to make a difference.

Effective September 7, 2021, all employees and visitors to campus are required to comply with Western's Covid Vaccination Policy.

Positions are subject to budget approval. Applicants should have fluent written and oral communication skills in English. The University invites applications from all qualified individuals. Western is committed to employment equity and diversity in the workplace and welcomes applications from women, members of racialized groups/visible minorities, Aboriginal persons, persons with disabilities, persons of any sexual orientation, and persons of any gender identity or gender expression.

In accordance with Canadian Immigration requirements, priority will be given to Canadian citizens and permanent residents. For any questions about the position or application please contact: matt.lebo@uwo.ca.

Accommodations are available for applicants with disabilities throughout the recruitment process. If you require accommodations for interviews or other meetings, please contact Shannon Doyle, sdoyle3@uwo.ca.

Start Date: Summer 2023
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 6/20/2022

Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 10425

Hampden-Sydney College

Rank: Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Other
Specializations: International Law & Organizations, Latin American, Foreign Policy

Hampden-Sydney College invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track appointment at the rank of Assistant Professor within the Department of Government and Foreign Affairs. Candidates should specialize in International Law and the U.S. Constitution and Foreign Affairs; additional subfields in Latin American politics and/or U.S. national security policy are highly desired. Candidates should be able to teach, as needed, Introduction to American Government and, particularly, introduction to World Politics. The ability to offer courses in Western Culture or political philosophy is a plus.

Hampden-Sydney College highly values the teacher/scholar model. Effective teaching, a commitment to scholarly productivity, willingness to engage in community service, and a dedication to student success, are all qualities required of a successful candidate. Teaching load for this position is seven courses per year.

Hampden-Sydney College is a selective liberal arts institution enrolling approximately 1000 students. Founded in 1775, it is the tenth oldest institution of higher learning in the United States. Our beautiful 1300-acre campus is less than 7 miles from downtown Farmville, home to Longwood University and the Moton Museum, which is listed on the U.S. Civil Rights Trail. The campus is located 65 miles west of Richmond, 50 miles east of Lynchburg, and 75 miles south of Charlottesville, providing abundant cultural, recreational and artistic resources. Hampden-Sydney is one of four liberal arts colleges in the United States dedicated to the education of men, and our mission is to educate "good men and good citizens in an atmosphere of sound learning." As a community, we are dedicated to the goal of building a culturally diverse faculty committed to working in a multicultural environment and strongly encourage applications from women and minoritized groups. Hampden-Sydney College values diversity, prohibits discrimination, and is committed to equal opportunity for all employees and applicants for employment.

To apply, please submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, teaching philosophy, and three confidential reference letters via Interfolio at <http://apply.interfolio.com/107980>. Applicants should have a Ph.D. in political science by the time of appointment.

Questions about this position may be addressed to Dr. John Eastby at jeastby@hsc.edu or Dr. Celia Carroll Jones at ccarroll@hsc.edu. Review of applications will begin immediately, and the position will remain open until filled.

Start Date: Fall 2023
Application Deadline: 9/5/2022
Date Posted: 6/6/2022
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 10395

Western Carolina University

Rank: Instructor - Political Science & Public Affairs

The Department of Political Science and Public Affairs at Western Carolina University is searching for a 9-month fixed-term instructor in Political Science, International Studies, or related field. The successful candidate will contribute to the department by teaching eight courses per academic year, including introductory classes and upper-level courses within the candidate's area of specialization. A preference will be given to a candidate who can teach our undergraduate fundamentals of research methods two-course sequence. Competitive candidates will hold a doctorate in Political Science or a PhD in a related field from an accredited institution. Exceptional ABD candidates with a minimum of 18 credit hours in the academic field will also be considered. The position begins August 2022 and the salary is competitive. Review of applications will begin immediately and continue until the position is filled.

Western Carolina University is a 12,000-student campus in the University of North Carolina system that offers more than 120 areas of study for undergraduates and more than 50 graduate-level programs. WCU is committed to the Boyer model of scholarship, the stewardship of place, integrated learning, and engagement. The campus is located in a beautiful mountain setting between the Great Smoky and Blue Ridge mountains, 50 miles west of Asheville, North Carolina, and only minutes from Cherokee, NC and the Great Smoky Mountains National Park.

Start Date: Fall 2022

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 12/22/2021

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 9906

POLITICAL THEORY

University of Chicago

Rank: Instructional Professor in the Social Sciences Collegiate Division –Gender and Sexuality and Civilization Studies
Subfield(s): Open, Political Theory, Other

The Social Sciences Collegiate Division at the University of Chicago is now accepting applications for a full-time Assistant Instructional Professor who will teach undergraduate courses in gender and sexuality studies and the Civilization Studies Program. The appointment is non-renewable, for a one-year term that begins September 20, 2022.

The Assistant Instructional Professor will teach six quarter-length courses or the equivalent during the academic year. The assignment will include two undergraduate seminars in gender and sexuality studies and courses in the Civilization Studies program, a part of the University's general education curriculum that introduces students to one of the world's great civilizations through direct encounters with significant and exemplary documents. Specific Civilization Studies courses will be assigned based on the successful applicant's qualifications. More information about the Civilization Studies program is available in the College Catalog: <http://collegecatalog.uchicago.edu/thecollege/civilizationstudies/>. Depending on curricular needs, the Assistant Instructional Professor's duties may also include teaching BA thesis seminars or advising undergraduate theses in a related major.

The position requires a Ph.D. in a humanities or social science discipline. Experience teaching at the college level is required. Experience teaching or conducting research in gender and/or sexuality studies is preferred. Candidates must have completed all degree requirements no later than September 19, 2022.

To apply for this position, you must submit your application through the University of Chicago's Interfolio job board at apply.interfolio.com/112305 and upload the following: 1) a letter of application describing your academic interests and teaching background; 2) a curriculum vitae; 3) evidence of teaching effectiveness, such as student evaluations or performance reviews; 4) a teaching statement; 5) a sample syllabus; 6) a chapter-length piece of writing; and 7) three letters of recommendation.

The review of applications will begin on September 10, 2022, and continue until the position is filled or the search is closed.

The terms and conditions of employment for this position are covered by a collective bargaining agreement between the Service Employees International Union (SEIU) and the University.

Position contingent upon budget approval.

Equal Employment Opportunity Statement

We seek a diverse pool of applicants who wish to join an academic community that places the highest value on rigorous inquiry and encourages diverse perspectives, experiences, groups of individuals, and ideas to inform and stimulate intellectual challenge, engagement, and exchange. The University's Statements on Diversity are at <https://provost.uchicago.edu/statements-diversity>.

The University of Chicago is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity/Disabled/Veterans Employer and does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national or ethnic origin, age, status as an individual with a disability, protected veteran status, genetic information, or other protected classes under the law. For additional information please see the University's Notice of Nondiscrimination.

Job seekers in need of a reasonable accommodation to complete the application process should call 773-834-3988 or email equalopportunity@uchicago.edu with their request.

Start Date: Fall 2022

Date Posted: 8/29/2022

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 10799

University of Pennsylvania - Political Science

Rank: Assistant Professor in Environmental/Climate Politics and Policy - Tenure Track

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Public Administration, Political Theory

The Department of Political Science, University of Pennsylvania, in collaboration with Penn's undergraduate program in Philosophy, Politics, and Economics (PPE), invites applications for a tenure-track assistant professor in Political Science whose primary area of interest is environmental/climate politics and policy. The search is open with respect to subfield and disciplinary background. Applicants should have a grounding in the public policy and/or public administration literature within political science and related fields, as well as an active, high-quality research program. Teaching responsibilities in PPE include a core interdisciplinary course, "The Public Policy Process," a senior seminar related to any policy topic, and a third course taught in the political science major.

The appointment will begin on July 1, 2023. A Ph.D. or equivalent degree is expected at the start of the appointment. Candidates should submit a vita, cover letter, research statement, writing sample, and three letters of recommendation to <http://apply.interfolio.com/112085>

Review of applications will begin on September 16th and continue until the line has been filled.

The Department of Political Science is strongly committed to Penn's Action Plan for Faculty Diversity and Excellence and to creating an intellectually vibrant, culturally inclusive, and academically diverse community of faculty, and we welcome applications from scholars of diverse backgrounds and those historically under-represented in the academy (for more information see: <http://www.upenn.edu/almanac/volumes/v58/n02/diversityplan.html>).

The University of Pennsylvania is an Equal Opportunity, Affirmative Action Employer of all protected classes, including veterans and individuals with disabilities. Women, racial and ethnic minorities, individuals with disabilities, and veterans are encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Summer 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/29/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10797

University of Pennsylvania - Political Science

Rank: Assistant Professor in Political Theory - Tenure Track

The Political Science Department at the University of Pennsylvania seeks applications for a tenure-track assistant professor position in Political Theory. The search is open with regard to specialization in the subfield. Candidates with wide-ranging research agendas on such topics as justice, freedom, liberation, power, and various forms of inequality such as race, gender, class, and sexuality are especially encouraged to apply. We particularly seek candidates with a strong commitment to teaching and to a scholarly community shaped by values of excellence and diversity.

The appointment will begin on July 1, 2023. A Ph.D. or equivalent degree is expected at the start of the appointment. Candidates should submit a vita, cover letter, research statement, writing sample, and three letters of recommendation to <http://apply.interfolio.com/112084>

Review of applications will begin on September 30th and continue until the line has been filled.

The Department of Political Science is strongly committed to Penn's Action Plan for Faculty Diversity and Excellence and to creating an intellectually vibrant, culturally inclusive, and academically diverse community of faculty, and we welcome applications from scholars of diverse backgrounds and those historically under-represented in the academy (for more information see: <http://www.upenn.edu/almanac/volumes/v58/n02/diversityplan.html>).

The University of Pennsylvania is an Equal Opportunity, Affirmative Action Employer of all protected classes, including veterans and individuals with disabilities. Women, racial and ethnic minorities, individuals with disabilities, and veterans are encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Summer 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/29/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10796

Quinnipiac University

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor

Specializations: Congress, Race & Ethnic Politics, Quantitative Methods

The Department of Philosophy and Political Science in the College of Arts and Sciences at Quinnipiac University invites applications for a Visiting Assistant Professor specializing in Political Theory and American Politics to begin August 2023. The selected candidate should have a background in U.S. political institutions; a competency in racial/ethnic or other forms of intercultural politics is desirable. We seek a talented individual who demonstrates a strong commitment to exceptional teaching and experiential learning. Candidates using theoretical, quantitative, interpretive, or historical approaches in political theory and American politics are equally welcome. This is an on-ground position.

This position has the possibility of renewal.

To apply, please go to:

<https://career.qu.edu/cw/en-us/job/494468/fulltime-visiting-faculty-for-2324-ay-political-science>

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/25/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10775

Princeton University

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Associate, James Madison Program

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Political Theory, Public Law

Invitation for Postdoctoral Research Associate Applications

The James Madison Program in American Ideals and Institutions at Princeton University is dedicated to the pursuit of scholarly excellence in the fields of constitutional law and political thought. Sponsored by Princeton's Department of Politics, the Program seeks to enrich the intellectual life of Princeton students and faculty by exploring American constitutional principles and structures through research and public discussion.

The Program invites recent Ph.D. recipients to apply for appointments as Postdoctoral Research Associates or more senior researchers for the year from September 1, 2023 to September 1, 2024. Appointments will be through the Department of Politics. All James Madison Program researchers are expected to be in residence in Princeton or the local vicinity, or demonstrate to the program's satisfaction the ability to be on campus daily, and on short notice, to fulfill responsibilities relating to in-person participation, office hours, and the like. They may not be employed by another institution during the term of their Princeton appointment. They enjoy access to Firestone Library and a wide range of other facilities and activities throughout the University. Depending on the needs of the University, teaching opportunities may be available, subject to the approval of the Dean of the Faculty. Researchers appointed in the Madison Program are expected to devote full time to their proposed research. They are, however, encouraged to attend or participate in various activities of the Program, including faculty-student seminars, colloquia, and public lectures.

The position is a fully funded, 12-month postdoctoral research associate appointment with benefits. All James Madison Program Postdoctoral Research Associates are required to have a Ph.D. degree awarded within the last three years (no earlier than September 1, 2020). Applications are evaluated on the basis of (1) the significance of the proposed research; (2) the quality of the applicant's past research; and (3) the future contribution the applicant is likely to make to higher education. Positions are open to all regardless of citizenship. This position is subject to the University's background check policy.

How to apply: Applicants are required to submit an online application at %listing_link%

A complete application must include the following:

- * a curriculum vitae;
- * a scholarly paper written in the past three years;
- * a statement (no more than 1,500 words) describing the proposed research;
- * contact information for two references.

For priority consideration, application materials must be received by 11:59 p.m. EST on December 1, 2022; applications will continue to be reviewed until positions are filled. Awards will be announced in March 2023 or before.

Please address any inquiries to:

Shilo Brooks, Ph.D.

Assistant Director

James Madison Program in American Ideals and Institutions

Princeton University

83 Prospect Avenue

Princeton, NJ 08540

E-mail: shilo.brooks@princeton.edu

Web address: jmp.princeton.edu

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 12/1/2022

Date Posted: 8/24/2022

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 10769

University of California, Berkeley

Rank: Assistant Professor Political Economy

Assistant Professor Political Economy

Position overview

Position title: Assistant Professor

Anticipated start: July 1, 2023

Application Window

Open August 18th, 2022 through Tuesday, Oct 4, 2022 at 11:59pm (Pacific Time)

Position description

The Political Economy Program at the University of California, Berkeley seeks a tenure-track assistant professor for a position 50% in Political Economy and 50% in a related discipline such as Economics, History, Sociology, Anthropology, Political Science, or Business.

Berkeley Political Economy has been a leading program in interdisciplinary political economy for undergraduates for more than 40 years and has recently launched a graduate program, the Designated Emphasis in Political Economy. This search represents an important step in an ambitious plan to expand and strengthen political economy at Berkeley: adding faculty, developing courses, building the graduate program, and expanding the Network for a New Political Economy (a campus network of faculty and students interested in political economy) into a leading research center.

We seek scholars from a related discipline who would be enthusiastic about joining such an enterprise and participating in the reconceptualization of this program. We encourage applications from scholars whose long-term research agenda seeks to bridge multiple fields. We would especially be interested in scholars who could offer required courses in Economics (such as introduction to economics or intermediate macroeconomics or microeconomics) and/or History (such as a global history survey or more focused historical context courses), or upper division courses in priority areas for curriculum expansion such as finance, public health, climate change, the digital economy, race, ethnicity, and/or immigration and migration.

We encourage applications from current or recent PhD candidates and graduates; current and recent postdocs; current assistant professors (including those who are "senior" assistant professors near tenure).

The Political Economy program recognizes the intrinsic relationship between diversity and excellence in all our endeavors. We embrace open and equitable access to opportunities for learning and development as our obligation and goal. We seek candidates who demonstrate a commitment to advancing diversity, equity, inclusion, and belonging through their research, teaching, and/or service. UC Berkeley is committed to upholding the university's principles of community so that every individual can be successful in a healthy, welcoming, and safe environment. Additional information about programs and resources supporting the advancement of diversity, equity, inclusion, and belonging is available at:

<https://ls.berkeley.edu/about/diversity-equity-and-inclusion> <https://ls.berkeley.edu/ls-divisions/social-sciences/diversity-equity-and-inclusion>

Considering the significant disruptions caused by the Covid-19 pandemic, particularly for disadvantaged groups, in our evaluation of applicants, dips in productivity in otherwise strong records occurring with the onset of the pandemic will be evaluated with the context of the pandemic in mind.

The department is committed to addressing the family needs of faculty, including dual career couples and single parents, as well as candidates who have had non-traditional career paths or who have taken time off for family reasons. For information about potential relocation to Berkeley, or career needs of accompanying partners and spouses, please visit: <http://ofew.berkeley.edu/new-faculty>.

Program: <https://politicaleconomy.berkeley.edu/>

Program: <https://n2pe.berkeley.edu/>

Program: <https://politicaleconomy.berkeley.edu/graduate-program/>

Qualifications Basic qualifications (required at time of application) PhD or JD (or equivalent international degree), or enrolled in PhD or JD or equivalent international degree-granting program at the time of application.

Preferred qualifications

Past research record or future research plans for research in interdisciplinary political economy, past teaching record or future teaching plans for teaching courses in interdisciplinary political economy, a commitment to the mission of developing the best possible interdisciplinary political program for scholarly research, undergraduate teaching, and graduate teaching.

Application Requirements Document requirements

- Curriculum Vitae - Your most recently updated C.V.
- Cover Letter
- Statement of Research
- Statement of Teaching
- Statement on Contributions to Advancing Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion - Statement on your contributions to diversity, equity, and inclusion, including information about your understanding of these topics, your record of activities to date, and your specific plans and goals for advancing equity and inclusion if hired at Berkeley (for additional information go to <https://ofew.berkeley.edu/recruitment/contributions-diversity><https://ofew.berkeley.edu/recruitment/contributions-diversity>).
- Writing Sample - Submit a writing sample that represents your best work: one chapter or article, with a recommended length of 5000-15,000 words, although we recognize that length and format may vary by discipline. If the sample is excerpted from a larger work, please include a short abstract of the full work.

Reference requirements

- 3 letters of reference required

Applicants should arrange to have 3 letters of reference submitted via this web portal. It is preferred that letters of reference be uploaded by the final date to apply

Apply link: <https://apptrkr.com/3374758>

Help contact: ap-issp@berkeley.edu

Campus Information

Diversity, equity, inclusion, and belonging are core values at UC Berkeley. Our excellence can only be fully realized by faculty, students, and academic and non-academic staff who share our commitment to these values. Successful candidates for our academic positions will demonstrate evidence of a commitment to advancing equity, inclusion, and belonging.

The University of California, Berkeley is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability, age, or protected veteran status. For the complete University of California nondiscrimination and affirmative action policy see: <http://policy.ucop.edu/doc/4000376/NondiscrimAffirmAct>

In searches when letters of reference are required all letters will be treated as confidential per University of California policy and California state law. Please refer potential referees, including when letters are provided via a third party (i.e., dossier service or career center), to the UC Berkeley statement of confidentiality (<http://apo.berkeley.edu/ucb-confidentiality-policy>) prior to submitting their letter.

As a condition of employment, you will be required to comply with the University of California SARS-CoV-2 (COVID-19) Vaccination Program Policy. All Covered Individuals under the policy must provide proof of Full Vaccination or, if applicable, submit a request for Exception (based on Medical Exemption, Disability, and/or Religious Objection) or Deferral (based on pregnancy) no later than the applicable deadline. Please refer to Appendix F, Section II.C. of the policy for the deadlines applicable to new University of California employees. (Capitalized terms in this paragraph are defined in the policy.) Federal, state, or local public health directives may impose additional requirements.

Positions that are represented by a collective bargaining unit or agent have particular contracts. For more information, please refer to the relevant contract: <https://ucnet.universityofcalifornia.edu/labor/bargaining-units/ix/index.html>, <https://ucnet.universityofcalifornia.edu/labor/bargaining-units/px/index.html>, <https://ucnet.universityofcalifornia.edu/labor/bargaining-units/ra/index.html>, and <https://ucnet.universityofcalifornia.edu/labor/bargaining-units/lx/index.html>. Questions about represented positions can be directed to the hiring unit.

Job location Berkeley, CA

To apply, visit <https://apptrkr.com/3374758>

Copyright ©2022 Jobelephant.com Inc. All rights reserved.

<https://www.jobelephant.com/>

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 10/4/2022

Date Posted: 8/24/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10770

Boston University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

The Department of Political Science at Boston University seeks to hire a tenure-track Assistant Professor specializing in Political Theory. We are especially interested in candidates whose research and teaching focus on the history of political thought; race, ethnicity, or indigeneity; and/or the politics of colonialism and/or imperialism. The anticipated start date is July 1, 2023. The successful candidate will hold a PhD at the start of the appointment. The holder of this position will teach undergraduates and graduate students. Please submit a letter of interest to <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/22336>. The application must also include: a curriculum vitae; separate statements about research, teaching, and your capacity to promote diversity and inclusion; a writing sample; and three references. Completed applications are due on September 23, 2022.

We are an equal opportunity employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law. We are a VEVRAA Federal Contractor.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 9/23/2022

Date Posted: 8/17/2022

Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 10712

Baldwin-Wallace University

Rank: Assistant Professor, Political Science

Specializations: Race & Ethnic Politics, Normative Political Theory, Environmental Policy

Rank: Assistant Professor – Political Science
 Subfield(s): Political Theory

The Department of Politics and Global Citizenship at Baldwin Wallace (BW) University invites applications for a tenure-track appointment in Political Science effective August 2023. Applicants must be committed to undergraduate education and demonstrate the potential for excellence in all facets of a faculty appointment, especially teaching.

The Department welcomes applications from candidates who will build on existing programs and areas of strength in the Department and help us continue supporting interdisciplinary programs on inclusion and social justice at BW. The position is intended to meet and expand curricular needs within the Department; to broaden the Department's experiential learning opportunities; and to contribute to initiatives in the College of Arts and Sciences and to the Baldwin Wallace University's mission of "assisting students in their preparation to become contributing, compassionate citizens of an increasingly global society and encourages their pursuit of personal and professional excellence."

Broadly trained candidates with expertise in political theory or related fields are encouraged to apply. The ideal candidate will be able to offer courses covering canonical texts in ancient, modern, and contemporary political theory. Relevant teaching and/or professional experience that intersect with questions of race and ethnicity, democratic theory, historically excluded groups, and environmental political thought would be desirable.

A Ph.D. degree in Political Science or a related area by the time of appointment, interdisciplinary expertise, teaching experience in related areas, and willingness to mentor undergraduate students are required. Candidates should demonstrate knowledge and expertise in teaching, advising, and a desire to contribute to the Department's experiential learning opportunities we offer to our student body. The successful candidate will be expected to teach the introductory course in American Government, the entry-level course on democracy and citizenship, and upper-division courses related to the candidate's interests and students' interests. And, as schedule permits, contribute to University's First-Year Seminar (FYS) offerings.

Baldwin Wallace University is a selective liberal arts university on the outskirts of Cleveland, Ohio. Its Political Science, International Studies, National Security, and Legal Studies programs currently serve approximately one-hundred majors and minors while playing an active role in campus internationalization. BW emphasizes teaching, advising, and service and also encourages and supports scholarship.

Interested candidates should submit a cover letter summarizing their interest and qualifications (no more than 2 pages), curriculum vitae, teaching evaluations, other evidence of effective teaching, and contact information for three professional references in one (1) Word or one (1) PDF document and submit via the To Apply link on the BW's Employment and Careers' web page at <https://www.bw.edu/about/>

hr/employment/. These documents must be uploaded as a single file at the time of application.

The cover letter must include a statement of interest in Baldwin Wallace, an explanation of the applicant's expertise in political theory in language that would excite undergraduates and faculty who are outside the field, teaching philosophy, a description of relevant teaching experience referencing the course topics mentioned above, a brief description of research on the disciplinary themes mentioned above, and a description of how you would involve undergraduates in experiential learning. Additional documentation will be requested of search finalists.

Review of applications will begin on September 19, 2022 and continue until the position is filled. Inquiries about the faculty position or the Department should be directed to Javier Morales-Ortiz, Chair and Associate Professor at jmorales@bw.edu. Questions about the application process and document submission may be addressed to Jacquelin Yavornitzky, Administrative Specialist at JaYavorn@bw.edu.

Baldwin Wallace University is an EEO/AA employer and educator. At BW, we support and encourage diversity in a variety of forms. We value and appreciate inclusive excellence in the classroom, within extracurricular activities, and as we engage our community partners. Learn more about BW at Diversity Affairs - <https://www.bw.edu/about/diversity>.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/16/2022

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 10695

University of Toronto

Rank: Associate Professor/Professor – Black Political Thought

The Department of Political Science in the Faculty of Arts and Science at the University of Toronto invites applications for a full-time tenure stream position in the area of Black Political Thought. The appointment will be at the rank of Associate Professor or Professor, with an expected start date of July 1, 2023, or shortly thereafter.

Applicants must have earned a PhD degree in Political Science or a related discipline by the time of appointment, or shortly thereafter, with a clearly demonstrated record of excellence in research and teaching. The successful candidate will specialize in Black Political Thought, understood broadly to include political thought from Africa, the Caribbean, Latin America, Canada, the United States, Europe, or other parts of the world. Lived experience related to Africa and its diaspora will be an asset. The position is open with respect to approach and methodology. Examples of possible research areas include but are not limited to the history of political thought; critical analysis of race and racism; gendered and class hierarchies of power; colonialism, imperialism, slavery, and their afterlives; political solidarity and social movements; and the implications of Black political thought for comparative political theory.

We seek candidates whose research and teaching interests complement and deepen our existing departmental strengths. The successful candidate will undertake undergraduate and graduate teaching responsibilities on the University of Toronto's downtown (St. George) campus. Applicants are encouraged to review the research and teaching profiles of current faculty members. Please visit our home page (Department of Political Science <https://politics.utoronto.ca>) to learn more about us.

The successful candidate will be expected to pursue innovative and independent research at the highest international level and to establish an outstanding, competitive, and externally funded research program. Candidates must provide evidence of research excellence which can be demonstrated by the submitted research statement, a record of publications in top-ranked and field relevant journals, presentations at significant conferences, distinguished awards and accolades and other noteworthy activities that contribute to the visibility and prominence of the discipline, as well as strong endorsements from referees of high standing.

Evidence of excellence in teaching will be provided through teaching accomplishments, the teaching dossier (with required materials outlined below) submitted as part of the application, as well as strong letters of reference.

Candidates are also expected to show evidence of a commitment to equity, diversity, inclusion, and the promotion of a respectful and collegial learning and working environment demonstrated through the application materials.

Salary and rank will be commensurate with qualifications and experience.

All qualified candidates are invited to apply online by clicking the link below. Applicants must submit a cover letter; a current curriculum vitae; a research statement outlining current and future research interests; a recent writing sample of no more than 30 pages; and a teaching dossier to include a teaching statement, sample course materials, and teaching evaluations. Equity and diversity are essential to academic excellence. We seek candidates who value diversity and whose research, teaching and service bear out our commitment to equity. Candidates are therefore also asked to submit a 1-2 page statement of their contributions to equity and diversity, which might cover topics such as (but need not be limited to): research or teaching that incorporates a focus on underrepresented communities, the development of inclusive pedagogies, or the mentoring of students from underrepresented groups.

Applicants must provide the name and contact information of three references. The University of Toronto's recruiting tool will automatically solicit and collect letters of reference from each after an application is submitted (this happens overnight). Applicants remain responsible for ensuring that references submit letters (on letterhead, dated and signed) by the closing date.

Submission guidelines can be found at <http://uoft.me/how-to-apply>. Your CV and cover letter should be uploaded into the dedicated fields. Please combine additional application materials into one or two files in PDF/MS Word format. If you have any questions about this position, please contact Sari Sherman at chair.polisci@utoronto.ca.

All application materials, including reference letters, must be received by September 26, 2022.

All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply; however, Canadians and permanent residents will be given priority.

Diversity Statement

The University of Toronto is strongly committed to diversity within its community and especially welcomes applications from racialized persons / persons of colour, women, Indigenous / Aboriginal People of North America, persons with disabilities, LGBTQ2S+ persons, and others who may contribute to the further diversification of ideas.

As part of your application, you will be asked to complete a brief Diversity Survey. This survey is voluntary. Any information directly related to you is confidential and cannot be accessed by search committees or human resources staff. Results will be aggregated for institutional planning purposes. For more information, please see <http://uoft.me/UP>.

Accessibility Statement

The University strives to be an equitable and inclusive community, and proactively seeks to increase diversity among its community members. Our values regarding equity and diversity are linked with our unwavering commitment to excellence in the pursuit of our academic mission.

The University is committed to the principles of the Accessibility for Ontarians with Disabilities Act (AODA). As such, we strive to make our recruitment, assessment and selection processes as accessible as possible and provide accommodations as required for applicants with disabilities.

If you require any accommodations at any point during the application and hiring process, please contact uoft.careers@utoronto.ca.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 9/26/2022

Date Posted: 8/9/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10645

Agnes Scott College

Rank: Political Science Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Political Theory, Open

Specializations: Race & Ethnic Politics, Gender Politics & Policy, Civil Rights & Liberties

The Department of Political Science at Agnes Scott College seeks to hire a full-time, tenure track Assistant Professor whose primary focus is U.S. politics, with emphasis on racial, ethnic, and/or gender politics. The successful candidate will offer courses at the introductory and advanced levels in U.S. government and in the candidate's field of specialization. Special consideration will be given to applicants who can teach constitutional law and political theory. The 3/2 teaching load may also include contributions to SUMMIT, the college's global learning and leadership development initiative. Candidates should demonstrate a commitment to working with a socially and economically diverse student population.

To apply, send a cover letter that describes your teaching, research, and service, and how your work would contribute to the development of an equitable and inclusive community in the department and at the college. Additionally please include a CV, a statement of teaching philosophy for a diverse student population, and a list of three references. Shortlisted candidates may be asked to supply additional materials at a later date. Direct your materials to the search committee chair, Dr. Mona Tajali at facultyserve@agnesscott.edu. Applications received by September 30, 2022 will receive the committee's full consideration.

Agnes Scott College is a highly selective, independent, national liberal arts college for women located in metropolitan Atlanta, a cosmopolitan and ethnically diverse region with a vibrant cultural life. The college has been nationally recognized for innovation, a highly diverse student population, and excellence in teaching and is committed to providing its faculty with a supportive academic environment. All faculty reviews evaluate the candidate's performance in the areas of teaching, scholarship, and service, with the highest priority given to teaching. Support for faculty development includes travel funding, a one-semester research leave at full pay after successful completion of the third-year review, a post-tenure sabbatical program, and the opportunity to apply for internal professional development awards. An equal opportunity employer, Agnes Scott College does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, national origin, religion, sex, sexual orientation, age, veteran status, disability or genetic information, gender identity, gender expression or any other characteristic protected by law in its employment. Agnes Scott College has a strong commitment to diversity and urges members of underrepresented groups to apply. www.agnesscott.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/4/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10621

University of Nevada, Reno

Rank: Lecturer

Specializations: Political Thought: Historical, Normative Political Theory, American Politics

The Political Science Department at the University of Nevada, Reno invites applications for a three-year full-time Lecturer appointment (non tenure-eligible) in the area of political theory. We seek a candidate with broad competence in the history of political thought and contemporary political theory, with capacity and willingness to teach the department's introduction to American politics course as well. The position's start date is January 1, 2023.

The successful candidate will be expected to regularly teach the department's introductory-level courses in political theory and American politics, as well as upper-division courses in ancient and modern political theory. We also hope candidates will be interested in teaching other upper-division courses, whether as already listed in the university course catalog or as they connect to the candidate's field of expertise. Some overlap teaching with graduate students is possible. The position is open to candidates with a range of methodological approaches and substantive interests in the subfield of political theory.

The lecturer teaching load is four courses per semester, though course preps will be repeated. Teaching is expected to be in-person. A reduced teaching load could be negotiated if a candidate is interested in coordinating the department's internship program or in working as a faculty advisor to the department's undergraduate students.

Required Qualifications

Ph.D. in Political Science, or closely related field, in hand by July 1, 2023.

Ability to teach a wide range of classes in the subfield of Political Theory, broadly defined.

A record of teaching excellence in Political Theory.

Ability to teach and mentor undergraduate students.

Ability to teach university level Introduction to American Politics.

Preferred Qualifications

Evidence of attention to diversity, equity and inclusion in past research, teaching, and service.

Experience and demonstrated excellence teaching Introduction to American Politics (or a similar course, whether as a teaching assistant or lead instructor).

Willingness to teach Identity Politics in the United States and Women and Politics (existing descriptions of these courses are available in the University course catalog).

Experience advising political science undergraduate students.

To apply, go to:

https://nshe.wd1.myworkdayjobs.com/UNR-external/job/University-of-Nevada-Reno---Main-Campus/Lecturer--Political-Science_R0132264

Please note, once you submit your application the only attachment/s viewable to you will be the attachment/s to the resume/CV section of the application. Any additional required attachment/s to the cover letter, references, additional documents sections of the application, will not be viewable to you after you submit your application. All uploaded attachment/s will be on the application for the committee to review. To request updates to attachments, prior to the committee review of applications, please contact the candidate helpdesk at jobs@unr.edu.

Please attach the following documents to your application

- 1) A complete Curriculum Vita
- 2) A cover letter stating qualifications, relevant experience, and teaching competencies.
- 3) Contact Information for three professional references
- 4) A brief statement (one page maximum) about how you would contribute toward our mission of creating a culturally diverse, inclusive environment in the role for which you are applying
- 5) A teaching portfolio including student evaluations from recent semesters of courses taught, plus two sample syllabi for Political Theory courses, and one sample syllabi for Introduction to American Politics. If available, any recent teaching peer reviews would be appreciated.

The search committee will only request letters of recommendation from candidates selected to move on to the next step in the hiring process.

This posting is open until filled

First review of applications will begin Sept. 15, 2022. Qualified individuals are encouraged to apply immediately. This search will close without notice when a sufficient number of applications are received or a hiring decision has been made. Interviews will begin in early October.

Lecturer Statement

The University of Nevada, Reno reserves the right to hire at any level of Lecturer (I-IV) or Teaching Assistant/Associate/Professor (terminal degree candidates) that is appropriate for the hire. If you have questions about title, please inquire during the interview process.

Compensation Grade

Lecturer I

Salary is based on related education and experience, internal equity, and budgets. To view salary schedules, please visit: Salary Schedules (Academic Faculty 9-month)

Remarkable Retirement

Our retirement plan is beyond compare. Your 15.50% contribution is generously matched by the University. With the faculty retirement plan, you are 100% vested your first day. Sit back and watch your retirement dollars grow! All permanent employees on an annual "A" or "B" contract who are employed at least 50% full-time are eligible to participate in the NSHE retirement program unless they are members of PERS of Nevada.

Perks of working at UNR

Health insurance options including dental and vision - Health Insurance

Generous annual and sick leave, life insurance, and long-term disability – Faculty Benefits

E. L. Wiegand Fitness Center offers an annual or semester membership and family membership options. E.L. Wiegand Fitness Center

Mountain EAP supports employees (and eligible dependents) through life's difficult moments. Mountain EAP is located in Reno and specializes in counseling and advising services for personal or interpersonal issues.

Several Diversity Committees and Affinity Groups focusing on campus-wide diversity initiatives to ensure we are working to create a diverse and welcoming campus climate. Diversity Groups

Faculty Senate is the principal representing body for faculty. Its membership includes representatives from each academic and administrative major unit of the University. Faculty Senate

No state income tax

Grants-in-aid

The University is proud to provide a reduced-rate tuition benefit to faculty and qualified dependents. Faculty can take up to six credits per semester at a reduced rate. Dependents of faculty have unlimited credits, but in order to be eligible children must be unmarried and under the age of 24 and must receive at least 50% of their financial support from the employee and/or employee's spouse or domestic partner. Faculty Grant-in-Aid

Faculty Dual Career Assistance Program

The University of Nevada, Reno recognizes the importance of addressing dual-career couples' professional needs. We offer a dual career assistance program to newly hired faculty spouses/partners that provides resources and assists them to identify career opportunities in Northern Nevada. Dual Career Assistance Program

?Department Information

The UNR Department of Political Science is an energetic, collegial and exciting community of political scientists and public policy and public administration scholars with a deep commitment to excellence in research and teaching as well as to leadership in the Department, the University, and the diverse northern Nevada community. The Department is home to three graduate programs that confer MA, MPA and PhD degrees. The PhD includes an emphasis in Public Policy. The Department offers a BA in Political Science and coordinates the International Affairs major and minors in Latin American Studies, Asian Studies and Renewable Energy. Faculty are linked with a variety of College and University-wide initiatives, such as the Cybersecurity Center and the Gender, Race and Identity Program. Additional information about the Department can be found at: <https://www.unr.edu/political-science> .

College of Liberal Arts and University Information

The College emphasizes inquiry, discovery and openness to new ideas and perspectives and supports major scholarly research, teaching and creative activity in the humanities, social sciences and arts. It offers a wide range of undergraduate and graduate degrees. Along with the interdisciplinary Department of Gender, Race and Identity Studies, the College has a Latino Research Center and is actively addressing racism, bias and inequities; for examples, see the Diversity, Research and Engagement website. The world-class Lilley Museum of Art opened in 2019; the many departments of the College have an active intellectual and public events life.

The University of Nevada, Reno is a public land-grant institution with Carnegie Research 1 status. With a student population of approximately 22,000, including over 3,000 graduate students, UNR students and faculty have won numerous national research awards and competitive fellowships. Along with being R1, the university has been designated as a Carnegie Community Engagement university. Nearly half of UNR students are students of color; the university is an Emerging Hispanic Serving Institution. In accordance with the University's mission, our faculty are expected to contribute to the diversity and excellence of the academic community through research, teaching and service in a pluralistic environment.

The University has a dynamic intellectual, artistic and sports life and a close relationship to the city of Reno, an emerging tech and innovation hub with a diverse population and a rich cultural history that hosts an active art, music and festival scene along the Truckee River. Known for its proximity to Lake Tahoe and the Sierra Nevada mountains, Reno is a vibrant, diverse and growing city of 300,000 located on the eastern slope of the Sierra Nevada, about 200 miles east of San Francisco, about 100 miles east of Sacramento and 30 miles north of the state capital, Carson City. Combined with the neighboring city of Sparks, the Reno-Sparks metropolitan area has a population of 450,000. Reno is only 30-45 minutes from Lake Tahoe and major ski resorts and is rated one of the top locations in the United States for living and for outdoor recreation. It has an international airport with direct flights to many transportation hubs. For more information about the city and the surrounding area, please visit www.cityofreno.com and www.visitrenotahoe.com

Exempt

Yes

Full-Time Equivalent

100.0%

Note to Applicant

A background check will be conducted on the candidate(s) selected for hire.

HR will attempt to verify academic credentials upon receipt of hiring documents. If the academic credentials cannot be verified, HR will notify the faculty member that an official transcript of their highest degree must be submitted within thirty days of the faculty member's first day of employment.

References will be contacted at the appropriate phase of the recruitment process.

Applicants hired on a federal contract may be subject to E-Verify.

As part of the hiring process, applicants for positions in the Nevada System of Higher Education may be required to demonstrate the ability to perform job-related tasks.

For positions that require driving, evidence of a valid driver's license will be required at the time of employment and as a condition of continued employment.

Start Date: Spring 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/4/2022

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 10627

College of the Holy Cross

Rank: Assistant Professor Tenure Track

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, International Relations, Political Theory

College of the Holy Cross: Department of Political Science
Tenure-Track Faculty Appointment in Political Science (Race and Ethnicity)

GENERAL INFORMATION

The Department of Political Science at the College of the Holy Cross invites applications for TWO FULL-TIME TENURE-TRACK APPOINTMENTS to begin in August 2023. We are seeking candidates whose research and teaching interests address race and ethnicity issues, broadly defined. Successful applicants will teach introductory courses in the subfield most compatible with their areas of expertise (American Politics, Political Philosophy, International Relations, or Comparative Politics) as well as upper-division electives that include methods, concepts, and theoretical frameworks from the perspective of Race & Ethnicity studies.

These positions carry a 3-2 teaching load with a full-salary one-semester research leave prior to tenure review, and generous sabbatical and fellowship leaves for tenured faculty. Tenure-track faculty are eligible for travel support and reimbursement of relocation costs within the College's published policies. All full-time appointments offer competitive salaries and include full benefits. To learn more about faculty life at the College & the Worcester area, candidates are encouraged to visit <http://holycross.edu/join>.

QUALIFICATIONS

Candidates must demonstrate commitment to, and excellence in, undergraduate teaching at the introductory and advanced levels as well as scholarly achievement. Ph.D. required.

APPLICATION INSTRUCTIONS

Please submit a cover letter addressing the position requirements listed above, curriculum vitae, statement on teaching, transcripts, and three confidential letters of recommendation.

In your cover letter, in addition to describing your research and teaching interests, please address how your scholarship, teaching, mentoring, and/or service might support the College's mission as a Jesuit, undergraduate liberal arts college (see <http://holycross.edu/mission>) and its core commitment to diversity and inclusion. For more information, please visit <http://holycross.edu/diversity>.

The College of the Holy Cross uses Interfolio to collect all faculty job applications electronically. Please submit all application materials to <https://apply.interfolio.com/110983>.

Review of applications will begin on September 30, and continue until the position has been filled. Initial interviews of selected applicants will be done via Zoom or Google Meets. Questions about this search may be directed to Maria Rodrigues, Chair, mrodrigu@holycross.edu.

COVID-19 VACCINATION POLICY

To mitigate the spread and effects of COVID-19, and as an integral part of its public health and safety measures, College of the Holy Cross requires that all successful applicants show proof of full, up-to-date vaccination (including a booster dose once eligible) by an FDA-approved COVID-19 vaccine before beginning employment, unless an accommodation exempting the applicant from this policy has been granted. Applicants who wish to request an accommodation based on a disability or sincerely-held religious belief should inform Human Resources after an offer of employment is extended; please do not include any medical, genetic, or religious information in your application materials.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 9/30/2022

Date Posted: 8/3/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10600

Harvard University

Rank: TENURE-TRACK PROFESSOR OF GOVERNMENT – RACE, ETHNICITY AND POLITICS

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, Political Theory

Position Description: The Department of Government seeks to appoint a tenure-track professor in Government specializing in Race, Ethnicity and Politics. The appointment is expected to begin on July 1, 2023. The tenure-track professor will be responsible for teaching at the undergraduate and graduate levels. Candidates are encouraged to apply by October 1, 2022; applications will be reviewed until the position is filled.

Basic Qualifications: Doctorate or terminal degree in Political Science, Government or related disciplines required by the time the appointment begins.

Additional Qualifications: Demonstrated strong commitment to teaching and advising is desired.

Special Instructions: Please submit the following materials through the ARIeS portal (<https://academicpositions.harvard.edu>). The Committee will begin reviewing applications on September 15, 2022.

1. Cover letter
2. Curriculum Vitae
3. Teaching/advising statement (describing teaching philosophy and practices)
4. Research statement
5. A statement describing efforts to encourage diversity, inclusion, and belonging, including past, current, and anticipated future contributions in these areas.
6. Names and contact information of 3-5 referees, who will be asked by a system-generated email to upload a letter of recommendation once the candidate's application has been submitted. Three letters of recommendation are required, and the application is considered complete only when at least three letters have been received. (*At least one letter must come from someone who has not served as the candidate's undergraduate, graduate, or postdoctoral advisor.)
7. Publications or copies of creative works, if applicable

Start Date: Summer 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/3/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10601

Wake Forest University

Rank: ASSISTANT PROFESSOR OF AFRICANA POLITICAL THOUGHT (TENURE-TRACK POSITION IN POLITICS AND INTERNATIONAL AFFAIRS & AFRICAN AMERICAN STUDIES)

Subfield(s): Political Theory, American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics

Specializations: Africa, African American Politics, Political Theory

WAKE FOREST UNIVERSITY's Department of Politics and International Affairs (POL) and the Program in African American Studies (AAS) seek a teacher-scholar for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position in Africana political thought to start July 1, 2023. We invite applications from scholars with research and teaching expertise in the political, ethical and philosophical discourses produced by continental and diasporic Africans and their descendants in the diaspora. The successful candidate will have the opportunity to contribute to enhancing the curriculum in African American Studies and Politics and International Affairs by developing a signature profile in Africana political thought, deepening scholarly conversations in political theory with critical intellectual traditions, ideas, debates, and conversational partners in Africana political thought, and enhancing the curriculum in African American Studies, particularly the focal areas of "History, Culture, and Theory" and "Ethics, Politics, and Society." Candidates must have an earned Ph.D. degree or advanced ABD status in African American/Africana Studies, Political Science, or a closely related field, and a record of study and scholarship related to the area of expertise. More information about the Department is available at <http://politics.wfu.edu/> and the Program in African American Studies at <https://afam.wfu.edu/>.

We believe in a diverse intellectual community in which varied perspectives and identities are represented and included in a community that supports excellent teaching and scholarship. Many faculty in both the Program and Department engage formally and informally with interdisciplinary scholarship and collaborate across academic disciplines. Candidates will also have opportunities to develop and teach courses that connect with their research agendas. Compelling applicants will demonstrate a commitment to excellence in teaching, mentoring, and advising undergraduate students from diverse backgrounds, including international students, first generation students, and those who identify as members of historically marginalized communities.

Wake Forest University is a private, coeducational institution dedicated to academic excellence in liberal arts, graduate, and professional education. Founded in 1834, the University is ranked in the top 30 among national universities. With 5,200 undergraduates and 3,200 graduate and professional students, the student-faculty ratio is 11:1. Wake Forest is a collegiate university offering a vibrant intellectual community with a rich cultural life, an impressive array of facilities and an active athletics community. The University has a deep institutional commitment to public service and engagement with the world, encapsulated in its motto "Pro Humanitate." To learn more about the University, please visit <https://about.wfu.edu/>

Interested applicants should apply via the University's career website at: <https://hr.wfu.edu/careers/>. The application should be submitted as ONE PDF file, which includes all of the following:

- ? Cover letter addressing the motivation to join our teacher-scholar community;
- ? Curriculum vitae including contact information for three professional references;
- ? Research statement describing candidate's current research and future trajectory;
- ? Scholarly writing sample (e.g. journal article, dissertation chapter, or draft);
- ? Teaching statement including plan to establish an inclusive learning environment;
- ? Sample undergraduate course syllabi (only required of candidates who advance to a shortlist);
- ? Teaching evaluations or other evidence of effective student engagement (only required of candidates who advance to a shortlist);
- ? Copy of graduate transcript(s) (official copies only required upon employment).

In addition to the above, we ask that candidates have three letters of recommendation emailed directly to wfupol@wfu.edu. Review of applications will begin on September 12, 2022. Applications will be accepted until the position is filled, but to guarantee full consideration they should be received by the end of the business day on September 9, 2022. If access to the internet is an issue, a hard copy of the application can be submitted to the Department of Politics and International Affairs, Wake Forest University, Winston-Salem, NC 27109.

Inquiries about the application process and document submission may be addressed to AskHR@wfu.edu. Inquiries about the faculty position or Department should be directed to Michaelle Browers, Chair and Professor, Politics and International Affairs, browerm@wfu.edu. Inquiries about the Program in African American Studies should be directed to Corey Walker, Wake Forest Professor of the Humanities and Director of the Program in African American Studies, walkerco@wfu.edu. Wake Forest University, and the Department of Politics and International Affairs welcomes applications from all who would bring additional dimensions to the University's research, teaching and community engagement.

In order to provide a safe and productive learning and living community, Wake Forest University conducts background investigations for final candidates upon their acceptance of an offer of employment.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/3/2022

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 10590

Hope College

Rank: Faculty Full Time

The Department of Political Science at Hope College invites applicants for a full-time tenure-track appointment to begin the Fall 2023. We seek candidates who are broadly trained in political theory; the ideal candidate would also be equipped to teach Introduction to American Politics and otherwise contribute to our course offerings in American politics. Candidates would also be expected to participate on a rotating basis in the leadership of our highly regarded Washington D.C. honors program. Rank is open, but preference will be given to hiring at the assistant professor level. The salary is commensurate with qualifications and experience.

<https://jobs.hope.edu/postings/1618>

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/1/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10563

Princeton University

Rank: Assistant Professor, Political Theory

The Princeton University Department of Politics seeks applications from well-qualified individuals for a tenure-track junior faculty position in political theory. This position involves teaching at the graduate and undergraduate levels and research at the highest level of excellence. We seek faculty members who will create a climate that embraces excellence and diversity, with a commitment to teaching and mentoring that will enhance the work of the department and attract and retain a diverse student body. Interested applicants should apply online at <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/26802>.

Candidates should submit a vita, cover letter, research statement, writing sample, transcripts, and the names and contact information of three references. Unofficial transcripts are sufficient and may be uploaded with the application. Applicants who are unable to upload unofficial transcripts may send official transcripts to Political Theory Junior Search Committee, Department of Politics, 001 Fisher Hall, Princeton, NJ 08544.

For best consideration apply by September 6, 2022.

This position is subject to the University's background check policy.

Requisition No: D-23-POL-00002

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 9/6/2022

Date Posted: 7/22/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10516

Alfred University

Rank: Assistant Professor, Tenure Track: Political Science and Government

Subfield(s): Political Theory, American Government and Politics, Public Law

Specializations: Africa, Gender Politics & Policy, Social Welfare

The Division of Social Sciences in the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences at Alfred University invites applications for a tenure-track position in political science at the rank of Assistant Professor to begin Fall 2023.

We are seeking someone to teach standard introductory-level and upper-division courses on topics that will interest a broad range of students. Along with courses in their area(s) of interest, the successful candidate will regularly teach our introductory course in American politics and courses in judicial processes and constitutional law. We will give preference to applicants who can teach political theory, identity politics, and/or political institutions such as the presidency and bureaucracy. Candidates with a demonstrated interest in interdisciplinary programs such as Women's and Gender Studies, Social Justice Studies, or Africana Studies are strongly encouraged to apply. We require applicants to have a Ph.D. in political science prior to appointment.

The Division of Social Sciences, which includes political science, sociology, criminal justice studies, and anthropology, is particularly interested in developing interdisciplinary collaborative courses, innovative technologies, and experiential learning. The successful candidate will teach three courses (four credit hours each) per semester. Additional teaching opportunities in the summer and winter breaks are available.

One of the first co-educational institutions in the United States, Alfred University is a top-ranked, small, comprehensive university committed to teaching and research and devoted to pursuing technical expertise, artistic creativity, and humanistic learning. Located in the foothills of the Allegheny Mountains in western New York State, Alfred University has around 1800 full and part-time undergraduate and graduate students and 150 fulltime faculty. In 2003, the University was awarded a Phi Beta Kappa chapter.

To apply submit the following materials:

- letter of interest
- curriculum vitae
- graduate transcripts

-Candidates should also have three references send their confidential letters of recommendation to humanresources@alfred.edu

We will begin reviewing applications on September 15th and continue until the position is filled. Application materials should highlight the candidate's experience in or plans for promoting diversity, equity, and inclusion through teaching, research, and service.

Please apply here: <https://alfreduniversity.applytojob.com/apply/7GYyflueG/Assistant-Professor-Tenure-Track-Political-Science-And-Government>

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/20/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10507

Franklin & Marshall College

Rank: Assistant Professor or Instructor, Political Theory

Specializations: Political Theory, Race & Ethnic Politics, Political Behavior

Franklin & Marshall College invites applications for a tenure-track position in the Department of Government beginning Fall Semester 2023. The rank will be Assistant Professor or Instructor depending on qualifications. Applicants should possess or be close to completing a doctorate degree. We are interested in candidates whose scholarship and teaching focus on some aspect of modern political theory. They should also demonstrate the ability to teach a course on racial justice and other upper level courses that address contemporary political problems. In addition, candidates should be able to contribute to the College's general education program, Connections. Faculty maintain active research programs and contribute to the College's shared governance.

Candidates must submit the following items electronically via Interfolio: (<http://apply.interfolio.com/108951/>): a cover letter, curriculum vitae, graduate transcript(s) (unofficial copies are fine), teaching and research statements, diversity statement, teaching evaluations and/or teaching observations, and names of three references (NOTE: letters of reference will be solicited at a later stage, and once they are solicited referees will need to supply them within three weeks). For full consideration, applications should be received by September 24, 2022.

Pursuant to cultivating an inclusive college community, the search committee will holistically assess the qualifications of each applicant. We will consider an individual's record working with students and colleagues with diverse perspectives, experiences, and backgrounds. We will also consider experience overcoming or helping others overcome barriers to academic success.

Franklin & Marshall College is committed to having an inclusive campus community where all members are treated with dignity and respect. As an Equal Opportunity Employer, the College does not discriminate in its hiring or employment practices on the basis of gender, sex, race, ethnicity, color, national origin, religion, age, disability, family or marital status, sexual orientation, or any protected characteristic. Individuals who need accommodation due to a disability in order to submit an application or to otherwise participate in the employment process should contact the department's academic coordinator, Paulina Erazo Ayala, (717) 358-3961, paulina.erazoayala@fandm.edu.

Franklin and Marshall College is committed to providing a safe and productive learning, living and working community. To assist in achieving this goal, we conduct background investigations for all prospective applicants being considered for employment.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/15/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10499

George Washington University

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor

The Department of Political Science invites applications for a one-year position as a visiting professor with a specialization in American Politics and Theory. The candidate hired will teach a 3-3 course load of undergraduate classes during the 2022-2023 academic year.

Minimum Qualifications: Applicants must hold a Ph.D. or doctoral degree in Political Science or a related field, with specialization in American Politics and Theory. Applicants must have experience teaching undergraduate courses.

Application Procedure: To apply please complete an online faculty application at <https://www.gwu.jobs/postings/94001>; upload a cover letter; curriculum vitae; statement of teaching experience; evidence of teaching effectiveness, preferably student evaluations; and include the names of three references (letters of recommendation are not required). Review of applications will begin on 8/5/2022, and will continue until the position is filled. Only complete applications will be considered. Please note the University has an ongoing mandate for all personnel to be fully vaccinated against COVID-19.

The university is an Equal Employment Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer that does not unlawfully discriminate in any of its programs or activities on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, national origin, age, disability, veteran status, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, or on any other basis prohibited by applicable law.

The university and department have a strong commitment to achieving diversity among faculty and staff. We strongly encourage women and persons of color to apply.

Successful completion of a Background Screening will be required as a condition of hire.

Start Date: Fall 2022

Application Deadline: 8/5/2022

Date Posted: 7/6/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10466

Macalester College, Political Science

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Theory

At Macalester College, diversity, equity, and inclusion are central to our educational mission and values. We are committed to the institutional change required for visioning and realizing a more equitable and socially just college and society.

The Department of Political Science at Macalester College seeks candidates for a full-time, tenure-track position at the level of Assistant Professor to begin in August 2023. We invite applications from Political Theorists whose teaching and research intersect with questions of race and ethnicity. The successful candidate will contribute to the undergraduate curriculum with offerings in Political Theory at the introductory, intermediate and advanced levels, as well as electives focused on race and ethnicity. The teaching load is five courses per year. We welcome candidates whose teaching and scholarly interests can build bridges to other disciplines or Macalester's interdisciplinary departments and concentrations, such as American Studies, International Studies, Asian Studies, Critical Theory, Middle Eastern Studies, Media and Cultural Studies, Environmental Studies, and Women, Gender and Sexuality Studies.

Applicants should submit a cover letter that includes a statement of interest in Macalester and discusses demonstrated activity and contributions to diversity, equity and inclusion initiatives in their teaching, advising, mentorship, curriculum, scholarship, service or community and professional engagement. Strong candidates will have experience and vision regarding teaching and mentorship of students of multiple and diverse backgrounds with attention to structural barriers that limit access to educational opportunities.

Applications should also include a curriculum vitae; a statement of teaching interests and philosophy, a research statement, an example of recent scholarship, evidence of effective teaching, and three reference letters. Candidates may include the following:

Teaching Statement

Teaching philosophy and effective strategies for teaching and learning Experience teaching, advising, or mentoring undergraduate students Applied knowledge of supporting students of diverse backgrounds, interests, or prior experience with political theory

Research Statement

Research specialization in political theory with focus on race and ethnicity Commitment to and interest in maintaining an active research agenda Understanding of scholarly research in a liberal arts college and support of undergraduate student research

All materials (cover letter, CV, teaching statement, research statement, research example, evidence of effective teaching, and three reference letters) must be submitted to Academic Jobs Online. Inquiries can be directed to Professor Lesley Lavery, Chair of Political Science, llavery@macalester.edu. Applications are due no later than October 1, 2022.

Macalester College is located in Saint Paul, Minnesota, on the ancestral homeland of the Dakota people who were forcibly exiled because of aggressive and persistent settler colonialism.

Macalester is a highly selective, private liberal arts college in the vibrant Minneapolis-Saint Paul metropolitan area, with a population of approximately three million people and home to numerous colleges and universities, including the University of Minnesota. Macalester's diverse student body comprises over 2000 undergraduates from all 50 states and the District of Columbia and 99 countries. The College maintains a longstanding commitment to academic excellence with a special emphasis on internationalism, multiculturalism, and service to society. As an Equal Opportunity employer supportive of affirmative efforts to achieve diversity among its faculty, Macalester College strongly encourages applications from women and members of underrepresented minority groups. International scholars will receive H-1B visa assistance if selected for this position.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 10/1/2022

Date Posted: 7/6/2022

Salary: $70,000 - $79,999

eJobs ID: 10469

Ethics Institute at Dartmouth College

Rank: Burt Dorsett '53 Postdoctoral Fellow in Ethics,

The Ethics Institute at Dartmouth College invites applications for the Burt Dorsett '53 postdoctoral fellow in ethics. The Dorsett fellowship program supports new scholars whose research addresses questions of ethics from a range of perspectives in moral philosophy, political philosophy, applied ethics, professional ethics or philosophy of law.

This is a two-year residential fellowship program. For the duration of the fellowship, Dorsett fellows are expected to pursue independent research while participating in the intellectual life of the Ethics Institute. This includes participating in the Institute's annual moral and political philosophy workshop where both junior and senior scholars come to campus to discuss new work in ethics. The Dorsett fellow will also participate in the Institute's annual student fellowship program by discussing their own research with our undergraduate fellows. The Dorsett fellow will also teach a course related to ethics in the second year. Fellows receive an annual stipend of approximately $57,960 plus benefits and an allocation for research expenses (exact funding levels will be set at the time of offer).

The fellow will also join the broader community of postdoctoral research fellows that includes the Provost's Fellowship Program, Dartmouth Society of Fellows, the John Sloan Dickey Fellows, the Neukom Institute Fellows, the Rockefeller Center Fellows, the Quantitative Social Sciences Fellows, and the Mellon Postdoctoral Fellows in the Humanities and Humanistic Social Sciences.

Applicants should have a Ph.D. in Philosophy, Ethics, Political Science or a related discipline or be ABD with a Ph.D. expected before the start date of their appointment. Applicants will be selected on the basis of their academic achievement, promise in both research and teaching, and their demonstrated commitment to advancing the mission of the Ethics Institute.

Dartmouth is highly committed to fostering a diverse and inclusive population of students, faculty, and staff. We are especially interested in applicants who are able to work effectively with students, faculty, and staff from all backgrounds, including but not limited to: racial and ethnic minorities, women, individuals who identify with LGBTQ+ communities, individuals with disabilities, individuals from lower income backgrounds, and/or first generation college graduates. Applicants should state in their cover letter how their teaching, research, service, and/or life experiences prepare them to advance Dartmouth's commitments to diversity, equity, and inclusion.

To apply, submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, dissertation abstract, writing sample, and three confidential letters of recommendation to apply.interfolio.com/107477. To ensue full consideration by the search committee, applications should be submitted by November 1, 2022.

Equal Employment Opportunity Statement

Dartmouth College is an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer with a strong commitment to diversity and inclusion. We prohibit discrimination on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, age, national origin, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, disability, veteran status, marital status, or any other legally protected status. Applications by members of all underrepresented groups are encouraged.

Your offer is contingent upon your consent to a pre-employment background check with results acceptable under Dartmouth policy. https://www.dartmouth.edu/~hrs/pdfs/background_check_policy.pdf

For additional job openings at Dartmouth College, please see the Office of the Provost and Human Resources.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 11/1/2022

Date Posted: 7/1/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10445

Virginia Commonwealth University

Rank: Adjunct Instructor

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Political Theory, Methodology

The Virginia Commonwealth University College of Humanities and Sciences is recruiting a pool of adjunct faculty for AY2022-2023 course sections within the Department of Political Science. This pool will be utilized on an as-needed basis. Your application will remain active for a year; you may resubmit your application for subsequent years. Only those selected for an interview will be contacted.

We welcome applicants with a range of scholarly interests in the subfields of U.S. Government, Comparative Politics, International Relations, Political Theory, Methodology, Civil Rights, Human Security, and Public Policy & Administration.

For AY2022-2023, we are especially interested in offering the following courses: Politics of Race, Class, and Gender; Research Methods in Political Science; and Political Theory.

Applicants are encouraged to visit the VCU POLI bulletin to see a list of the courses offered to our students: <http://bulletin.vcu.edu/undergraduate/college-humanities-sciences/political-science-program/#coursestext>.

Position Responsibilities:

Meet all designated course instruction guidelines; grade assignments and exams in a timely manner based on instructions/rubric provided; respond to student inquiries within 24 hours; and submit final grades according to College/Department policy.

Required Qualifications:

EDUCATION:

Master's degree, PhD, or other doctoral degree in a related field with experience and specialized expertise directly related to the position.

COMPETENCIES/EXPERIENCE:

Demonstrated teaching experience.

To apply, please click on "Apply Now" at <https://vcu.csod.com/ux/ats/careersite/1/home/requisition/1965?c=vcu>. You will be asked to provide a cover letter, CV and contact information for two professional references.

Salary Range: $1,200 per credit hour

Contact Information:

Contact Name: Allie Reckendorf

Contact Email: anreckendorf@vcu.edu

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/28/2022

Salary: Below $20,000

eJobs ID: 10447

University of Virginia

Rank: Full Professor, Department of Politics

In the fall of 2020, with the generous support of the John L. Nau Foundation and the Andrew W. Mellon Foundation, the University of Virginia's Democracy Initiative and College of Arts & Sciences launched a multiyear faculty hiring project. Over four years, we will hire a dozen or more new faculty members at all ranks in the departments of Classics, History, and Philosophy, Politics, and elsewhere. Across all the searches, the Departments seek to appoint scholars whose primary research is focused on the study of the principles of democracy, democratic accountability, and representation, either to advance the work of the core lab on the history and principles of democracy or to contribute to one of the Initiative's other projects.

This year, with the support of the Nau Foundation, the Department of Politics at the University of Virginia invites applications for a tenured full professor who studies democracy in the subfield of international relations or the subfield of political theory. Candidates should have an active research agenda and a strong commitment to excellent teaching at both the graduate and undergraduate levels.

The mission of the Democracy Initiative is to promote excellence in research, teaching, and public engagement on democracy at a global scale by bringing together a diverse range of scholars, government leaders, and practitioners to study and advance the prospects of democracy around the world. The Democracy Initiative is interdisciplinary and supports and advances the work of faculty, as well as graduate and undergraduate students, in the humanities, the arts, and the social sciences. To that end, the Initiative supports a variety of labs built on models of collaborative work. The Democracy Labs consist of a series of three-year, rotating labs on various topics, connected by the work of the John Nau III History and Principles of Democracy Lab (the Nau Core Lab), an interdisciplinary hub of research, teaching, and outreach. Current labs are focused on corruption and the rule of law, democracy and new media, democratic statecraft, the links between environmental and racial inequality, and race, religion, and democracy. The Democracy Initiative also supports two projects focused on community engagement and research, the Memory Project and The Equity Center. In addition to holding appointments in their home departments, each new faculty member hired under this initiative will also be a member either of the Nau Core lab or one of the Initiative's other research labs or projects.

Application review will begin September 15th, 2022, and the position will remain open until filled. The appointment begins with the fall semester of 2023. Applicants must have received their PhD at least three years prior to the time of appointment.

TO APPLY:

Please apply through Workday, and search for R0037131. Complete an application online with the following documents:

.Cover letter of application describing (1) areas of research and teaching interest; (2) potential research collaborations; (3) your demonstrated past experience working on issues of diversity, equity, and inclusion, and/or working with diverse populations (not to exceed three single spaced pages).

.Current curriculum vitae, including the names of three references
.A statement outlining what kinds of intellectual and/or institutional contributions you could envision making to the Democracy Initiative (not to exceed two single-spaced pages)

.A research statement (not to exceed three single-spaced pages)

.A teaching philosophy (not to exceed one single-spaced page)

Upload all materials into the resume submission field, multiple documents can be submitted into this one field. Alternatively, merge all documents into one PDF for submission. Applications that do not contain all required documents will not receive full consideration. Internal applicants must apply through their UVA Workday profile by searching 'Find Jobs'.

Questions about this position should be directed to Department Chair, Jennifer Lawless at jll9jx@virginia.edu, or Search Committee Chair John Owen at jmo4n@virginia.edu. Questions regarding the application process should be directed to Melanie Sponaugle, Academic Recruiter, at unw5dq@virginia.edu.

The University will perform background checks on all new faculty hires prior to making a final offer of employment.

UVA is located in beautiful Charlottesville with easy access to the Blue Ridge Mountains, the eastern shore and the nation's Capital. Charlottesville is one of the best places to live; outdoors, vibrant town with culture, music, restaurants, excellent schools, etc. Opportunities for excellent clinical, and laboratory-based research and teaching pursuits working within the collegial work environment are available.

UVA assists faculty spouses and partners seeking employment in the Charlottesville area. To learn more please visit <https://dualcareer.virginia.edu/>

For more information about UVA and the Charlottesville community please see <http://www.virginia.edu/life/charlottesville> and <https://embarkcva.com/>.

For more information on the benefits available to faculty at UVA, visit <https://provost.virginia.edu/subsite/faculty-development> and hr.virginia.edu/benefits.

COVID Vaccination Requirement and Guidelines

Please visit the UVA COVID-19 Job Requirements and Guidelines webpage prior to applying for current information regarding vaccination requirements and guidelines for employment at UVA.

The University of Virginia, including the UVA Health System which represents the UVA Medical Center, Schools of Medicine and Nursing, UVA Physician's Group and the Claude Moore Health Sciences Library, are fundamentally committed to the diversity of our faculty and staff. We believe diversity is excellence expressing itself through every person's perspectives and lived experiences. We are equal opportunity and affirmative action employers. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to age, color, disability, gender identity or expression, marital status, national or ethnic origin, political affiliation, race, religion, sex (including pregnancy), sexual orientation, veteran status, and family medical or genetic information.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/22/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10432

Hope College

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): Political Theory, American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics

The Department of Political Science at Hope College seeks applicants for a visiting assistant professor position beginning by Fall 2022. Strong preference will be given to candidates with expertise in political theory. In addition to political theory, we welcome applications from candidates who are able to teach introductory and upper-level courses in American politics, including a course in state and local politics. The standard teaching load is three courses per semester.

The College offers opportunities for internal research support and assistance in seeking external funding. The Political Science department at Hope has six tenured/tenure-track faculty and graduates about 25 majors each year. The Political Science department also contributes to Hope College's teacher education program as well as interdisciplinary programs in environmental studies and global studies.

Candidates should upload the following documents as part of their application:

Cover letter

Curriculum vitae

A statement indicating a willingness to commit to and engage with Hope's mission statement

A statement describing your teaching philosophy, experience, and interests

Formal teaching evaluations

Sample publications

A statement of your research plans and how you will mentor undergraduates in research (optional)

In addition, you should enter the names and contact information for three references when you apply. References will be contacted via email upon your application, providing with a link to upload a letter of recommendation to your file.

Direct questions can be sent to ryden@hope.edu. For full consideration, candidates should submit their completed materials immediately. Applications will be reviewed as they are received and continue until the search is complete.

Additional information found at jobs.hope.edu

Start Date: Fall 2022

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 5/10/2022

Salary: Any

eJobs ID: 10347

Stetson University

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor of Political Science (International Relations)

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Political Theory, Public Administration

STETSON UNIVERSITY, COLLEGE OF ARTS AND SCIENCES

Visiting Assistant Professor of Political Science (International Relations)

Stetson University seeks two individuals – one with broad interests and training in International Relations, and the other with broad interests and training in Political Theory and/or American Politics – for positions at the rank of Visiting Assistant Professor of Political Science. Each must have a desire to teach in a liberal arts setting with significant personal interactions with undergraduate students. Besides teaching introductory and upper-level undergraduate courses in their appropriate subfields of the discipline, each candidate will develop courses to complement existing strengths in the Department of Political Science and in one or more related programs (e.g. International Studies; Africana Studies; Asian Studies; Gender Studies; Social Studies; Global Development; Latin American & Latino Studies; and Russian, East European and Eurasian Studies). These two 9-month, full-time appointments span August 2022-May 2023.

QUALIFICATIONS:

A Ph.D. in Political Science is preferred, but applicants who are ABD will be considered if they are at the final stage of the dissertation process. Teaching experience beyond typical teaching assistant duties in graduate school is an advantage but not required. Candidates should have a strong commitment to innovative teaching, a creative approach to pedagogical design and implementation, and a strong commitment to all aspects of diversity in our learning-centered community.

RESPONSIBILITIES:

VAP faculty teach four courses each semester. Primary teaching responsibilities for the International Relations position include introductory and upper-level courses in International Relations and related subdisciplines (e.g. migration studies, international diplomacy, international law, security studies, etc.). For the Political Theory and/or American Politics position, teaching responsibilities include introductory and upper-level courses in Political Theory and/or American Politics and related subdisciplines (e.g. American political development, judicial studies, etc.). Other courses can be based on the candidate's expertise and training.

THE DEPARTMENT:

The Department of Political Science (<http://www.stetson.edu/artsci/political-science/>) offers academically rigorous majors in both Political Science and Public Management. Departmental faculty contribute regularly to interdisciplinary programs such as International Studies; Russian, Eastern European and Eurasian Studies; Latin American & Latino Studies; Africana Studies; the Honors Program; Environmental Science and Studies; and Public Health. We have had considerable success placing students in high-quality graduate programs in Political Science, International Affairs, Public Administration, and in prominent law schools. Faculty in the Department are committed to the teacher-scholar model, which involves teaching within a traditional liberal arts environment where the primary focus is extensive interaction with undergraduate students in a small class environment, while also maintaining an active research agenda.

THE COLLEGE OF ARTS AND SCIENCES:

Stetson's College of Arts and Sciences (<http://www.stetson.edu/portal/artsci/>) is the largest and most diverse of the University's colleges and schools; it includes the humanities, social sciences, natural sciences, education, and creative arts. With nineteen academic departments and eight interdisciplinary programs, the College is the liberal arts core of the University. A great strength of the College is its faculty of approximately 140 full-time teacher-scholars. The College offers 31 undergraduate majors and 34 undergraduate minors; six graduate degrees are offered in Education, Counselor Education, and Creative Writing. Every undergraduate major requires a senior research project, giving students the opportunity to design and carry out independent research under faculty mentorship. Our academic programs are shaped by the values of social justice and civic responsibility. All of our courses and programs of study promote engaged learning, whereby students create connections between the classroom or lab and the local, regional, and global community. The academic programs of the College of Arts and Sciences prepare students to live significant lives, to interact with and positively affect the world around them.

THE UNIVERSITY:

Founded in 1883, Stetson University (<http://www.stetson.edu>) is a private, selective university comprised of a rich array of liberal arts and professional academic programs. Collectively, Stetson's faculty works with nearly 4,000 students in undergraduate, graduate, and professional programs. The University's historic main campus, located in DeLand, enrolls more than 3,000 students in undergraduate programs in the College of Arts & Sciences, the School of Business Administration, and the School of Music. Stetson University College of Law, Florida's first law school, moved from the main campus to Gulfport in 1954, and, with the addition of the Tampa Law Center, serves approximately 1,000 students working full-time or part-time toward J.D. or LL.M. degrees. Graduate programs offered include Business, Accounting, Educational Leadership, Counseling, and Creative Writing. Florida's oldest private institution of higher learning, Stetson has regularly been ranked among the best regional universities in the Southeast and was the first private college in Florida to be granted a chapter of Phi Beta Kappa.

Stetson University provides an inspiring education that engages students with rigorous academic and creative study grounded in liberal learning and promotes civic values of personal and social responsibility. Working closely with faculty and with one another, students cultivate abilities to explore issues deeply, think critically, reason empirically, speak persuasively, and connect ideas creatively. Firmly committed to inclusive excellence, our vibrant community of teacher-scholars nurtures the potential of individual students to lead lives of significance and prepares each to meet the challenges of shaping the future—locally, nationally, and globally. Stetson University affirms cultural diversity and inclusion as a core value of academic excellence.

THE COMMUNITY:

DeLand is a picturesque residential community of 39,000 located 20 miles west of Daytona Beach and 35 miles northeast of Orlando. The area offers extensive cultural as well as recreational activities.

SALARY: Salary is competitive.

STARTING DATE: August 10, 2022

APPLICATION:

Applicants must send the following materials for consideration: 1) a cover letter summarizing the candidate's interest in the position and qualifications, 2) a statement of the candidate's teaching philosophy, a representative sample of teaching evaluations, and other relevant teaching materials (e.g. syllabi, assignments, etc.), 3) a curriculum vitae, 4) copies of graduate transcripts, and 5) the names and contact information for three recommenders (at least one of which should be able to evaluate the candidate's teaching ability). Candidates who advance in the review process may be asked to provide letters of recommendation. In their materials, candidates are encouraged to highlight skills and experiences that demonstrate a commitment to social justice, diversity, and inclusion.

Review of applications will begin on March 25, 2022 and continue until the position is filled.

Application materials may be submitted electronically to the search committee at polisearch@stetson.edu or mailed to the following address:

Dr. William Russell Nylan
Chair, VAPs Search Committee
Department of Political Science
Stetson University
421 N. Woodland Blvd. Unit 8301
DeLand, FL 32723

Stetson University is an Equal Opportunity Employer that affirms cultural diversity and inclusion as a core value of academic excellence at Stetson University. We are committed to achieving equal access in education, employment, and participation through the recruitment and retention of outstanding faculty, staff, and students from diverse backgrounds, and to meaningful academic and intellectual transformation in curriculum, research and service. We are dedicated to actions and policies that foster a community in which individuals with various identities, cultures, backgrounds, and viewpoints work together to create opportunities for engagement through rewarding and fulfilling careers and personal experiences in a culturally and racially diverse society and a globalized world. We strongly encourage members of historically under-represented and economically-disadvantaged groups and women to apply for employment. Stetson University is an EEO, ADA, ADEA, and GINA employer.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 3/7/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10177

Stetson University

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor of Political Science (Political Theory and/or American Politics)

STETSON UNIVERSITY, COLLEGE OF ARTS AND SCIENCES

Visiting Assistant Professor of Political Science (Political Theory and/or American Politics)

Stetson University seeks two individuals – one with broad interests and training in International Relations, and the other with broad interests and training in Political Theory and/or American Politics – for positions at the rank of Visiting Assistant Professor of Political Science. Each must have a desire to teach in a liberal arts setting with significant personal interactions with undergraduate students. Besides teaching introductory and upper-level undergraduate courses in their appropriate subfields of the discipline, each candidate will develop courses to complement existing strengths in the Department of Political Science and in one or more related programs (e.g. International Studies; Africana Studies; Asian Studies; Gender Studies; Social Studies; Global Development; Latin American & Latino Studies; and Russian, East European and Eurasian Studies). These two 9-month, full-time appointments span August 2022-May 2023.

QUALIFICATIONS:

A Ph.D. in Political Science is preferred, but applicants who are ABD will be considered if they are at the final stage of the dissertation process. Teaching experience beyond typical teaching assistant duties in graduate school is an advantage but not required. Candidates should have a strong commitment to innovative teaching, a creative approach to pedagogical design and implementation, and a strong commitment to all aspects of diversity in our learning-centered community.

RESPONSIBILITIES:

VAP faculty teach four courses each semester. Primary teaching responsibilities for the International Relations position include introductory and upper-level courses in International Relations and related subdisciplines (e.g. migration studies, international diplomacy, international law, security studies, etc.). For the Political Theory and/or American Politics position, teaching responsibilities include introductory and upper-level courses in Political Theory and/or American Politics and related subdisciplines (e.g. American political development, judicial studies, etc.). Other courses can be based on the candidate's expertise and training.

THE DEPARTMENT:

The Department of Political Science (<http://www.stetson.edu/artsci/political-science/>) offers academically rigorous majors in both Political Science and Public Management. Departmental faculty contribute regularly to interdisciplinary programs such as International Studies; Russian, Eastern European and Eurasian Studies; Latin American & Latino Studies; Africana Studies; the Honors Program; Environmental Science and Studies; and Public Health. We have had considerable success placing students in high-quality graduate programs in Political Science, International Affairs, Public Administration, and in prominent law schools. Faculty in the Department are committed to the teacher-scholar model, which involves teaching within a traditional liberal arts environment where the primary focus is extensive interaction with undergraduate students in a small class environment, while also maintaining an active research agenda.

THE COLLEGE OF ARTS AND SCIENCES:

Stetson's College of Arts and Sciences (<http://www.stetson.edu/portal/artsci/>) is the largest and most diverse of the University's colleges and schools; it includes the humanities, social sciences, natural sciences, education, and creative arts. With nineteen academic departments and eight interdisciplinary programs, the College is the liberal arts core of the University. A great strength of the College is its faculty of approximately 140 full-time teacher-scholars. The College offers 31 undergraduate majors and 34 undergraduate minors; six graduate degrees are offered in Education, Counselor Education, and Creative Writing. Every undergraduate major requires a senior research project, giving students the opportunity to design and carry out independent research under faculty mentorship. Our academic programs are shaped by the values of social justice and civic responsibility. All of our courses and programs of study promote engaged learning, whereby students create connections between the classroom or lab and the local, regional, and global community. The academic programs of the College of Arts and Sciences prepare students to live significant lives, to interact with and positively affect the world around them.

THE UNIVERSITY:

Founded in 1883, Stetson University (<http://www.stetson.edu>) is a private, selective university comprised of a rich array of liberal arts and professional academic programs. Collectively, Stetson's faculty works with nearly 4,000 students in undergraduate, graduate, and professional programs. The University's historic main campus, located in DeLand, enrolls more than 3,000 students in undergraduate programs in the College of Arts & Sciences, the School of Business Administration, and the School of Music. Stetson University College of Law, Florida's first law school, moved from the main campus to Gulfport in 1954, and, with the addition of the Tampa Law Center, serves approximately 1,000 students working full-time or part-time toward J.D. or LL.M. degrees. Graduate programs offered include Business, Accounting, Educational Leadership, Counseling, and Creative Writing. Florida's oldest private institution of higher learning, Stetson has regularly been ranked among the best regional universities in the Southeast and was the first private college in Florida to be granted a chapter of Phi Beta Kappa.

Stetson University provides an inspiring education that engages students with rigorous academic and creative study grounded in liberal learning and promotes civic values of personal and social responsibility. Working closely with faculty and with one another, students cultivate abilities to explore issues deeply, think critically, reason empirically, speak persuasively, and connect ideas creatively. Firmly committed to inclusive excellence, our vibrant community of teacher-scholars nurtures the potential of individual students to lead lives of significance and prepares each to meet the challenges of shaping the future—locally, nationally, and globally. Stetson University affirms cultural diversity and inclusion as a core value of academic excellence.

THE COMMUNITY:

DeLand is a picturesque residential community of 39,000 located 20 miles west of Daytona Beach and 35 miles northeast of Orlando. The area offers extensive cultural as well as recreational activities.

SALARY: Salary is competitive.

STARTING DATE: August 10, 2022

APPLICATION:

Applicants must send the following materials for consideration: 1) a cover letter summarizing the candidate's interest in the position and qualifications, 2) a statement of the candidate's teaching philosophy, a representative sample of teaching evaluations, and other relevant teaching materials (e.g. syllabi, assignments, etc.), 3) a curriculum vitae, 4) copies of graduate transcripts, and 5) the names and contact information for three recommenders (at least one of which should be able to evaluate the candidate's teaching ability). Candidates who advance in the review process may be asked to provide letters of recommendation. In their materials, candidates are encouraged to highlight skills and experiences that demonstrate a commitment to social justice, diversity, and inclusion. Review of applications will begin on March 25, 2022 and continue until the position is filled.

Application materials may be submitted electronically to the search committee at polisearch@stetson.edu or mailed to the following address:

Dr. William Russell Nylan
Chair, VAPs Search Committee
Department of Political Science
Stetson University

421 N. Woodland Blvd. Unit 8301
DeLand, FL 32723

Stetson University is an Equal Opportunity Employer that affirms cultural diversity and inclusion as a core value of academic excellence at Stetson University. We are committed to achieving equal access in education, employment, and participation through the recruitment and retention of outstanding faculty, staff, and students from diverse backgrounds, and to meaningful academic and intellectual transformation in curriculum, research and service. We are dedicated to actions and policies that foster a community in which individuals with various identities, cultures, backgrounds, and viewpoints work together to create opportunities for engagement through rewarding and fulfilling careers and personal experiences in a culturally and racially diverse society and a globalized world. We strongly encourage members of historically under-represented and economically-disadvantaged groups and women to apply for employment. Stetson University is an EEO, ADA, ADEA, and GINA employer.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 3/7/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10178

Bloomsburg UniversityRank: Political Science Temporary Pool-Political Theory*Position Description

The Department of Political Science at Bloomsburg University of Pennsylvania seeks qualified candidates for temporary teaching positions (full-time one semester, part-time one semester or part-time academic year) as needs arise. A successful applicant must be able to teach our introductory course in political theory, POLISCI 108: Contemporary Political Ideologies. A description of this courses can be found in the most current Academic Catalog at Bloomsburg University <https://archive.bloomu.edu/catalog-> .

Qualifying Education/Experience

Applicants must possess a Master's Degree in Political Science or related field (Public Administration, Public Policy) from a regionally accredited institution. A Ph.D. in Political Science or related field is preferred as is specialization in the disciplinary subfield of political theory. Applicants should also possess a demonstrated ability to work with diverse populations. Previous college teaching experience is preferred.

Supplemental Information

A complete application includes a cover letter addressing requirements and preferences for the position, a current CV, teaching evaluations (if available), a statement of philosophy of education, and 3 letters of recommendation. Submit application materials online at www.bloomu.edu/jobs Applications to this temporary pool will be accepted through April 30, 2024 (to reflect three-year life cycle of pool). Questions may be directed to Search & Screen Committee

Chair, Dr. Neil Strine, hstrin2@bloomu.edu

Finalist(s) for these positions must communicate well and successfully complete an interview process and/or teaching demonstration as judged by the department faculty. Recommendation for hiring is needed from a majority of the regular, full-time department faculty.

Prior to a final offer of employment, the selected candidate will be required to submit to a background check including, but not limited to, employment verification, educational and other credential verification, Pennsylvania Child Abuse History Clearance and criminal background.

Completing this search is contingent upon enrollment and available funding.

The University prohibits any form of discrimination or harassment on the basis of sex, race, color, age, religion, national or ethnic origin, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, pregnancy, marital or family status, medical condition, genetic information, veteran status, or disability in any decision regarding admissions, employment, or participation in a University program or activity in accordance with the letter and spirit of federal, state, and local non-discrimination and equal opportunity laws, such as Titles VI and VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972, the Age Discrimination in Employment Act, the Americans with Disabilities Act and ADA Amendments Act, the Equal Pay Act, and the Pennsylvania Human Relations Act. The University also complies with the Jeanne Clery Disclosure of Campus Security Policy and Campus Crimes Statistics Act, as amended by the Violence Against Women Act (VAWA). Title IX prohibits retaliation for asserting or otherwise participating in claims of sex discrimination. VAWA imposes additional duties on universities and colleges to investigate and respond to reports of sexual assault, stalking, and dating or domestic violence, and to publish policies and procedures related to the way these reports are handled. The University has designated the Title IX Coordinator (Jennifer Raup, Elwell Hall, ORL, 570-389-4808, jraup@bloomu.edu or titleixcoord@bloomu.edu), to coordinate the University's compliance with Title IX and VAWA and to respond to reports of violations. The University has directed the Bloomsburg University Police Department to coordinate the University's compliance with the VAWA-related Clery reporting requirements. Additionally, inquiries concerning Title IX and its implementing regulation can be made to the U.S. Department of Education, Office of Civil Rights, Region III, The Wanamaker Building, 100 Penn Square East - Suite 505, Philadelphia, PA 19107; Phone: (215) 656-6010;

Fax: (215) 656-6020.

Start Date: Spring 2021

Application Deadline: 4/30/2024

Date Posted: 4/30/2021

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 8845

PUBLIC ADMINISTRATION

Hong Kong University of Science and Technology
Rank: Faculty Positions (Global China Studies and Quantitative Social Science)

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Methodology, Public Administration

Specializations: China, Political Economy, Research Methods

The Division of Social Science at The Hong Kong University of Science and Technology seeks to fill several positions in Global China Studies and Quantitative Social Science.

The University is an English-speaking research university with international faculty. The Division of Social Science is highly ranked internationally.

We invite applications at all ranks (Assistant Professor/Associate Professor/Professor). Preference will be given to candidates with an active research agenda related to contemporary China and quantitative social sciences with demonstrated excellence in scholarship and in research methodology (quantitative or qualitative). Subfields are open but we are particularly interested in candidates who focus on political science, sociology, psychology and economics.

For more information about the Division, please visit <https://sosc.hkust.edu.hk>.

Applicants should have a PhD degree by the time of employment. Successful candidates are expected to teach courses at both the undergraduate and graduate levels.

Salary is competitive and will be commensurate with qualifications and experience. Fringe benefits including annual leave, medical and dental benefits will be provided. Housing benefits will also be provided where applicable. Initial appointment at Associate/Assistant Professor rank will normally be on a three-year contract, renewable subject to mutual agreement. A gratuity will be payable upon successful completion of contract.

Applicants should send a letter of interest, curriculum vitae, research statement, teaching statement, a sample publication, and teaching records electronically via Interfolio (<http://apply.interfolio.com/112648>). Associate/Assistant Professor applicants should arrange for 3 letters of recommendation to be sent via interfolio. For tenured positions, references will be solicited only after both sides agree to proceed with the process of appointment.

Review of applications will start on 13 September 2022 and the search will continue until the positions are filled.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/2/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10834

National University of Singapore

Rank: Assistant Professor - Public Administration/Public Management/Public Policy/Political Science

Assistant Professor - Public Administration/Public Management/Public Policy/Political Science, Lee Kuan Yew School of Public Policy, National University of Singapore

Job Description

The Lee Kuan Yew School of Public Policy (LKYSPP), National University of Singapore, invites applications for multiple tenure track Assistant Professor appointments. Applicants are expected to have research and teaching expertise in the fields of public policy, public administration, and/or public management of particular interest are scholars whose research and teaching focuses on Public Management, Leadership, and Ethics; Law, Regulation, and Governance of Emerging Technologies; Decentralization, Urbanization, and Local Government; Bureaucracies, Public Finance, and Policy Processes; and Data Analytics/Science and Public Policy. Scholarship that have applications to Asia, particularly East and Southeast Asia, but speaks to the broader field are welcomed.

The ideal candidate will have:

- a completed PhD by July 2023 in public administration, public management, public policy, political science, or related disciplines
- potential to publish in world class academic research outlets
- ability to teach core and specialized courses in public administration, public management, and public policy
- a willingness and ability to mentor graduate students and supervise graduate degree theses
- a willingness to engage with a wide range of external interests including public bodies, businesses, not-for-profits and research or learning communities.

How to apply

The complete application package should be emailed to the Public Policy Selection Committee at ohrbox46@nus.edu.sg. Please use the subject line “LKYSPP Application Submission” for application submissions and “Application Enquiries” for application-related enquiries.

The application package should include the following in electronic form (MS Word or PDF): 1) a cover letter; 2) a Curriculum Vita; 3) a research statement describing candidate’s current research and future agendas; 4) a teaching statement describing candidate’s pedagogical beliefs and practices as well as evidence of teaching effectiveness (if any); 5) names, rank and affiliation, and contact information of three referees, and 6) up to 2 of the candidate’s best papers or book chapters.

The review of applications will begin in early October 2022 and continue until positions are filled.

About Lee Kuan Yew School of Public Policy

LKYSPP is a leading public policy school in Asia, attracting an internationally diverse, world-class faculty and student body to engage and address the world’s most pressing challenges. Its mission is to to inspire, improve lives, and take central positions in the policy and governance conversations within Asia and beyond. We do this by working hard on two planks: pursuing academic and intellectual excellence, and crafting lessons for meaningful public policy-making. The school is housed within the National University of Singapore, the highest ranked university in Asia and the 11th in the world.

LKYSPP offers highly competitive research funding, salary, relocation and housing support, and other benefits. The teaching load (typically three per academic year) allows faculty to focus on providing quality instruction while maintaining their research excellence. For more information about the LKY School, please visit www.lkyspp.nus.edu.sg.

Contact Information

BTC HR

Contact Email: ohrbox46@nus.edu.sg

Start Date:

Date Posted: 9/1/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10801

Syracuse University

Rank: Tenure-Track Assistant or Tenured Associate Professor
Position in Diversity and Public Organizations

Tenure-Track Assistant or Tenured Associate Professor Position in Diversity and Public Organizations

Public Administration and International Affairs

Maxwell School of Citizenship and Public Affairs, Syracuse University

The Department of Public Administration and International Affairs (PAIA) at Syracuse University’s Maxwell School of Citizenship and Public Affairs seeks to appoint a tenure-track Assistant Professor or tenured Associate Professor. We are looking for a scholar who focuses on the development, management, and leadership of diverse, equitable, and inclusive public organizations. The appointment is expected to begin in August 2023.

Applicants should have a Ph.D. in public administration, management, organizational behavior, sociology, political science, social psychology, history, a related social science discipline, or an appropriate interdisciplinary field. We are open to a wide range of theoretical and methodological approaches.

We strongly value excellence in research and teaching. Candidates should demonstrate high-quality research and productivity commensurate with the rank of the position. In addition, the successful candidate will contribute to both core and elective courses—particularly those in public management—in the PAIA Department’s Master of Public Administration Program. Candidates may also teach in other PAIA and Maxwell programs at the doctoral, masters, and undergraduate level.

The Maxwell School of Citizenship and Public Affairs is home to the social science disciplines at Syracuse University and is ranked #1 in the nation for graduate education in public affairs, according to the 2023 edition of U.S. News & World Report’s Best Graduate Schools. The successful candidate will have the opportunity to work in or collaborate with interdisciplinary research centers across the Maxwell School, including the Campbell Public Affairs Institute, the Center for Environmental Policy and Administration, the Center for Policy Research, the Institute for the Study of the Judiciary, Politics, and the Media, the Lerner Center for Public Health Promotion, the Maxwell X Lab, the Moynihan Institute of Global Affairs, and the Program for the Advancement of Research on Conflict and Collaboration, among several others.

Syracuse University is committed to fostering a diverse, equitable, inclusive, and accessible (DEIA) environment. We seek candidates whose research, teaching, service, or lived experiences have prepared them to contribute to our commitment to DEIA in our work with students, colleagues, and wider communities. The Maxwell School has an Associate Dean of Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion who works with the entire Maxwell community to support faculty and students of color, a Faculty of Color group, and several affinity groups. Syracuse University is an EO/AA employer and particularly encourages applications from women and minority candidates.

To apply for the position, candidates must complete an online faculty application (available at <https://www.sujobopps.com/postings/95458>) and submit a letter of interest, a curriculum vitae, a list of recommenders, and a writing sample. In addition, applicants should submit a one-page diversity statement that describes how they would contribute to the development of an equitable and inclusive community in the department through their teaching, research, and service.

Applications will be reviewed as they arrive, with full consideration given to those received by November 1. We will continue to consider applications until the position is filled.

Syracuse University is an Equal Opportunity Employer. Women, minorities, and individuals with disabilities are encouraged to apply. Successful candidates must be committed to working with diverse student and community populations.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/31/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10811

University of Pennsylvania - Political Science

Rank: Assistant Professor in Environmental/Climate Politics and Policy - Tenure Track

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Public Administration, Political Theory

The Department of Political Science, University of Pennsylvania, in collaboration with Penn's undergraduate program in Philosophy, Politics, and Economics (PPE), invites applications for a tenure-track assistant professor in Political Science whose primary area of interest is environmental/climate politics and policy. The search is open with respect to subfield and disciplinary background. Applicants should have a grounding in the public policy and/or public administration literature within political science and related fields, as well as an active, high-quality research program. Teaching responsibilities in PPE include a core interdisciplinary course, "The Public Policy Process," a senior seminar related to any policy topic, and a third course taught in the political science major.

The appointment will begin on July 1, 2023. A Ph.D. or equivalent degree is expected at the start of the appointment. Candidates should submit a vita, cover letter, research statement, writing sample, and three letters of recommendation to <http://apply.interfolio.com/112085>

Review of applications will begin on September 16th and continue until the line has been filled.

The Department of Political Science is strongly committed to Penn's Action Plan for Faculty Diversity and Excellence and to creating an intellectually vibrant, culturally inclusive, and academically diverse community of faculty, and we welcome applications from scholars of diverse backgrounds and those historically under-represented in the academy (for more information see: <http://www.upenn.edu/almanac/volumes/v58/n02/diversityplan.html>).

The University of Pennsylvania is an Equal Opportunity, Affirmative Action Employer of all protected classes, including veterans and individuals with disabilities. Women, racial and ethnic minorities, individuals with disabilities, and veterans are encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Summer 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/29/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10797

University of Texas, Austin

Rank: Electoral and Legislative Processes and Bureaucratic Politics

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Administration, Public Policy

Specializations: American Politics, Electoral Systems, Bureaucracy & Organizational Behavior

The Lyndon B. Johnson School of Public Affairs at the University of Texas at Austin ("LBJ School") invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant or Associate Professor of Political Science –American Politics to begin in Fall of academic year 2023-24 (with an August 2023 start date). One of the nation's top ten programs in public affairs, the LBJ School is seeking to strengthen its faculty in policy adoption and implementation. The LBJ School comprises more than 40 faculty members and approximately 300 graduate students, and offers multi-disciplinary curricula leading to the degrees of Master of Public Affairs, Master of Global Policy Studies, and Ph.D. in Public Policy.

The appointee will teach courses focused on either policy adoption or implementation from the perspective of Electoral and Legislative Processes, Bureaucratic Politics & Organization and Public Administration to Master's and Doctoral students in Public Affairs and possible undergraduates. They will also teach political science-focused courses related to a field of public policy. The appointee's research will have direct relevance to public policy. The appointee will conduct and publish scholarly research and seek grant opportunities in support of their research and/or teaching activities. The appointee will participate in faculty governance in the LBJ School.

Qualifications

A Ph.D. in Political Science or a related field with an emphasis in American Politics is required. ABD candidates will be considered if the doctoral degree will be complete by the time of employment. Experience in college teaching and evidence of scholarship or scholarly potential is preferred.

Application Instructions

Interested candidates can submit their cover letter, CV, statement of teaching, DEI statement, three letters of reference, and job market paper via Interfolio. Questions about the position can be directed to Taya Kitaysky at taya.kitaysky@austin.utexas.edu.

APPLY VIA INTERFOLIO: <https://faculty.utexas.edu/career/100151>

The search committee will begin considering applications September 15th. The position will remain open until filled.

The LBJ School has robust graduate programs and is committed to a diverse and inclusive working and learning environment and is seeking candidates whose research, teaching, and service has prepared them to contribute to our commitment to diversity, inclusivity and excellence. Candidates who are currently or will potentially make outstanding contributions to the diversification of their scholarly fields and/or institutions of higher education are especially encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/26/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10790

Georgetown University

Rank: Assistant/ Associate Professor in Public Management

The McCourt School of Public Policy at Georgetown University invites applications for a tenure line assistant or associate professor position in public management.

The ideal candidate will have a specialization in comparative/international public management, with an open geographic focus. Successful candidates are expected to teach "Comparative Public Management" in our Political Institutions and Processes track in the School's Master of Public Policy program, as well as other public management and elective courses in their own areas of research interest. Candidates should demonstrate a research interest in the functioning of public services and implementation of public policies.

Applicants should have a PhD in public management/administration, political science or a related field at the time of hire. Depending on qualifications, the appointee to this position may be recommended for tenure at the time of hiring.

The committee will begin reviewing applications September 15, 2022 and continue until the position is filled.

Apply at <https://apply.interfolio.com/111488>

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/22/2022

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 10752

Murray State University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Public Administration (Tenure Track)

The Department of Political Science and Sociology at Murray State University invites applications for a tenure-track position in public administration starting in August 2023. We offer both an on-campus and online MPA program with several concentrations. Teaching may include a variety of undergraduate and graduate courses in political science and public administration. We are particularly interested in candidates who can teach courses on Public Organizations, Public Sector Human Resource Management, Research Methods, and Foundations of Public Administration along with other courses that contribute to the department's programs.

Candidates will be expected to demonstrate a commitment to scholarship and service as well as excellence in teaching and must also be able to use multiple delivery methods in non-traditional formats (e.g. online, ITV, and in-person).

Preferred and Minimum Education and Experience:

Ph.D., DPA, or related doctorate in political science, public administration, or public policy is required. ABDs will be considered with a letter from their advisor indicating the expected graduation date and their progress towards completing the Ph.D. Prior teaching experience is also preferred.

Application Materials:

- Letter of Interest
- CV
- Teaching Philosophy
- Evidence of Teaching Effectiveness
- Three Letters of Reference
- Unofficial transcripts
- Research Sample

Apply online: <https://www.murraystatejobs.com/postings/10387>

For best consideration, please submit a completed application along with all required materials by October 15, 2022. Applications will be accepted until the position is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/19/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10737

KDI School of Public Policy and Management

Rank: 2022-2023 KDI School Job Openings for Tenure-Track Professors

Subfield(s): International Relations, Public Administration, Public Policy

KDI (Korea Development Institute) School of Public Policy and Management invites applications for full-time, tenure track positions at all levels in the fields specified below. KDI was ranked 1st in Asia and 5th among non-U.S. think tanks in the 2020 Global Think Tank Index and the School has a vibrant and diverse academic community with some 140 countries represented among our student body and alumni. KDI School is the only international policy school with NASPAA recognition in Korea and the first in Asia.

As a graduate-level international policy school, we offer master's and Ph.D. programs focusing on public policy, development policy, and public management. The normal class teaching load is four courses per year spread out over three trimesters and most courses are taught in English. The School provides internationally competitive compensation, faculty housing options, child education benefits (when available), moving expense support, generous research funding opportunities, and conference travel support.

KDI School invites applications for a position in the following areas:

- Data Science for Public Policy / Computational Social Science
We seek applications from scholars in the area of machine learning (ML), artificial intelligence (AI), and data science (broadly construed). Substantive expertise of interests are in areas such as ML, AI, AI ethics, network analysis, and the application of advanced computational techniques to social, economic, and/or policy issues. Successful candidates can be from any computational background (e.g. computer science, informatics) with research expertise in developing and applying ML, AI, and data science approaches for answering questions in public policy and the social sciences, although candidates from social science fields (economics, sociology, political science, and public policy) will be also welcomed and considered under the same criteria. A teaching portfolio is expected to suit the needs of an international public policy school with a diverse student body.

- International Relations
We seek applications from scholars who conduct research in topics related to international relations (international security and/or international political economy). Substantive expertise in the East Asian, South/Southeast Asian, Latin American region, training in causal inference including experimental methods, background in working with non-traditional data using computational social science skills, or extensive training in qualitative methods are preferred but not required. Successful candidates should have strong training in applied empirical methodology, substantive interests in policy-relevant research, and a teaching portfolio that can suit the needs of an international public policy school with a diverse student body.

- Competition Policy
We seek applications for a faculty position in competition policy. The position requires substantial theoretical knowledge and strong empirical research skills in industrial organization and regulatory economics. Priority will be given to candidates working on emerging issues in competition policy, such as the digital economy and the environment. The ideal candidate should have a broad range of policy interests to interact with students, scholars, and policymakers.

- Public Economics and Welfare Policy
We seek applications for a faculty position in the quantitative analysis of welfare policy. The ideal candidate should have a substantial public/welfare economics background, strong research potential in the empirical analysis of welfare policy. We are particularly interested in candidates who can develop and offer courses that address national-level policies, such as pensions, health insurance, and various welfare programs, with academic rigor.

- Strategic Management and Entrepreneurship
We seek applications from scholars in the area of strategic management and entrepreneurship. The ideal candidate should have a strong research capability in the empirical analysis and case studies of strategic management in public organizations (including public enterprises), non-profit organizations, social entrepreneurship, entrepreneurship policy, and entrepreneurial finance. Priority will be given to candidates working on emerging issues such as digital transformation, data analytics, supply chain management, and the metaverse. We are particularly interested in candidates who can develop innovative courses and interact with a broad range of policymakers, scholars, and practitioners in this dynamic and constantly evolving field.

- Public Administration, Public Management, and Governance
We seek applications for a faculty position in public administration, public management, and governance. A competitive applicant may have an academic and practical expertise in such domains as collaborative governance, institutional analysis, and theories/practices of the policy process. Those whose research methods can be characterized as qualitative (e.g., case study, ethnography, grounded theory, etc.) or mixed (quantitative and/or qualitative) are preferred. Applicants who are interested (and specialized) in connecting data science to public administration for their research and teaching are also welcome.

*Please find the attached file for detailed information at <https://bit.ly/3JWTtBH>

*Please submit application materials electronically at <http://apply.interfolio.com/111719>

Start Date: Spring 2023
Application Deadline: 11/10/2022
Date Posted: 8/16/2022
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 10696

SUNY, University at Albany

Rank: Assistant Professor

Assistant Professor

About University at Albany:

Established in 1844 and designated a University Center of the State University of New York in 1962, the University at Albany's broad mission of excellence in undergraduate and graduate education, research and public service engages a diverse student body of more than 17,900 students in nine schools and colleges across three campuses. Located in Albany, New York, New York State's capital, the University is convenient to Boston, New York City and the Adirondacks.

Job Description:

The Department of Public Administration and Policy, housed within the Rockefeller College of Public Affairs and Policy, is seeking to hire a tenure-track assistant professor in nonprofit management and nonprofit policy, starting Fall 2023.

We welcome applications from candidates engaged in high-quality nonprofit management and policy research. Our program on Nonprofit Management, ranked 14th in US News and World Report, emphasizes the "nuts and bolts" of operating and sustaining nonprofit organizations and the tactics and strategies of creating social change toward greater equity and justice. Candidates conducting research on nonprofit financial management and nonprofit governance are especially sought. Other areas of scholarship of interest to the department include nonprofit resource generation and sustainability, nonprofit and nonprofit-government collaboration and networking, service delivery by nonprofits, and nonprofit capacity building, among others.

Faculty in Rockefeller College are expected to pursue an active research program, teach and supervise undergraduate and graduate students, and engage in service activities. As such, applicants must 1) be willing to participate and collaborate in departmental activities involving graduate and undergraduate students and 2) possess excellent communication skills, including the ability to communicate effectively - orally and in writing - to diverse audiences.

The successful candidate will be committed to excellence in scholarly research and should be an effective teacher able to instruct both graduate and undergraduate students. We particularly encourage candidates from underrepresented groups to apply, and all applicants should address their ability to work with culturally diverse populations in their application.

Requirements:

Minimum Requirements:

- A PhD in Public Administration, Public/Nonprofit Management, Public Affairs, or an allied field such as Sociology or Political Science, completed by September 1, 2023.
- A record of research excellence and a strong research trajectory.
- Ability to teach effectively at graduate and undergraduate levels, including Nonprofit Management and core Public Administration courses.
- Ability to work with and instruct a culturally diverse population, and willingness to teach both in person and online.

Preferred Qualifications: The following criteria will be considered a plus in the selection process but not a requirement.

- Practical experience working in or leading a nonprofit or nongovernmental organization.
- Prior success securing research grants from external funding sources
- Training and experience with quantitative methods, and the ability to teach these methods
- Ability to communicate effectively - orally and in writing - to diverse audiences.
- Ability to collaborate effectively with faculty, staff, and students across a broad range of research, teaching, and service-related tasks.

Additional Information:

Professional Rank and Salary Range: Assistant Professor (10 month) Salary will be commensurate with the candidate's experience and qualifications.

Starting date is August 15, 2023.

The Jeanne Clery Disclosure of Campus Security Policy and Campus Crime Statistics Act, or Clery Act, mandates that all Title IV institutions, without exception, prepare, publish and distribute an Annual Security Report. This report consists of two basic parts: disclosure of the University's crime statistics for the past three years; and disclosures regarding the University's current campus security policies. The University at Albany's Annual Security Report is available in portable document format [PDF] by clicking this link <http://police.albany.edu/ASR.shtml>

Pursuant to Executive Order 161, no State entity, as defined by the Executive Order, is permitted to ask, or mandate, in any form, that an applicant for employment provide his or her current compensation, or any prior compensation history, until such time as the applicant is extended a conditional offer of employment with compensation. If such information has been requested from you before such time, please contact the Governor's Office of Employee Relations at (518) 474-6988 or via email at info@goer.ny.gov.

THE UNIVERSITY AT ALBANY IS AN EO/AA/IRCA/ADA EMPLOYER

Please apply online via <http://albany.interviewexchange.com/candapply.jsp?JOBID=151927>

Application Instructions:

Applicants MUST submit the following documents:

- CV
- Cover letter addressed to Dr. Susan Appe, Chair of the Search Committee stating all the required minimum qualifications and any of the applicable preferred qualifications.
- A writing sample
- Teaching evaluations, if available
- Graduate transcripts

- Contact information for three references

Note: After submitting your CV, the subsequent pages give you instructions for uploading additional documents (i.e. cover letter etc.). See the FAQ for using our online system. Please contact us if you need assistance applying through this website.

Returning Applicants - Login to your UAlbany Careers Account to check your completed application.

A review of applications will start on October 1, 2022, and will continue until the position is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/16/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10702

Colorado State University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Environmental Policy and Administration

The Department of Political Science at Colorado State University invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position in environmental policy and administration. Advanced Assistant Professors are encouraged to apply. We are especially interested in candidates with a substantive focus in agriculture, food, water, resilience, urban sustainability, and/or natural resource policy.

The Department values both strong teaching and research. Successful candidates will be expected to offer courses in the public policy and administration curriculum at both the undergraduate and graduate levels, including graduate and undergraduate courses on U.S. environmental policy. Additional teaching assignments will depend on the candidate's interests and expertise as well as departmental needs. The normal teaching load is 2-2.

Faculty members are also expected to advise and mentor graduate and undergraduate students; demonstrate an active research agenda; and provide service to the department, college, university, and community. Approximately one-third of undergraduate political science majors at CSU are first-generation college students. The Department offers programs of study leading to the B.A., M.A., and Ph.D. degrees. The doctoral degree emphasizes the study of environmental politics and policy.

Required Job Qualifications: Primary teaching and/or scholarly emphasis in public policy & administration; evidence of an active research agenda focused on environmental policy; ability to teach courses on U.S. environmental policy; PhD in Political Science, public policy, public administration, or related field by August 16, 2023; evidence of teaching effectiveness.

Preferred Job Qualifications: Ability to enhance the Department's commitment to diversity and inclusion reflecting Departmental and institutional values. Substantive focus in agriculture, food, water, resilience, urban sustainability, and/or natural resource policy. Candidates who can teach any of the department's methods courses (quantitative, qualitative, or research design) are encouraged to apply.

Application Procedure: Applications will be accepted until the position is filled; to ensure full consideration, complete applications should be received by September 16, 2022. Applicants should submit: 1) a letter of application outlining teaching interests and research agenda as well as a brief statement on how your teaching, research and/or service demonstrate a commitment to diversity and inclusion; 2) Curriculum vitae; 3) Graduate school transcripts (unofficial transcripts acceptable at the initial stage of the search), 4) Evidence of demonstrated or potential teaching effectiveness (syllabi, teaching evaluations, letters of observation), 5) One sample of published or presented work, and 6) the names and contact information of three professional references. Reference letters will be requested at the finalist interview stage. References will not be contacted without prior notification of candidates. Application materials of semi-finalist candidates will be made available for review by the entire faculty in the Department of Political Science. Questions about the position can be directed to Dr. Robert Duffy (Robert.Duffy@colostate.edu).

For more information and to apply please visit: <https://jobs.colostate.edu/postings/10944>

CSU is an EO/EA/AA employer and conducts background checks on all final candidates

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 9/16/2022

Date Posted: 8/12/2022

Salary: $70,000 - $79,999

eJobs ID: 10687

Texas Tech University

Rank: Program Director for Master of Public Administration

The Master of Public Administration Program in the Department of Political Science at Texas Tech University invites applications for the Director of the Master of Public Administration program at the Associate or Full level, to begin August 2023.

Applicants from all areas of public and nonprofit administration are encouraged to apply. The successful candidate must show evidence and/or promise of excellence in teaching and an active research agenda. Demonstrated administrative experience is also desirable. Candidates who have very strong records of scholarship supported by extramural funding and who have the proven capacity or clear potential to bring externally sponsored research to Texas Tech University are encouraged to apply. As the director, the successful candidate is expected to lead the program's NASPAA accreditation and assessment efforts; support faculty research and teaching, manage program scheduling; oversee the delivery of the program at the Lubbock and TTU regional site locations, continue efforts to increase enrollment, and to maintain strong relationships with the program's alumni. As a faculty member, the candidate will maintain a solid research program leading to high quality publications in appropriate peer-reviewed outlets, teach MPA and undergraduate courses, and mentor MPA students. Experience working with diverse student populations and first-generation students is highly desirable. The candidate is expected to engage in service activities in the department, including program-building and commitment to extra-curricular efforts. Service to the college and university is expected.

Texas Tech is a Hispanic Serving Institution. As an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer, Texas Tech University is dedicated to the goal of building a culturally diverse faculty committed to teaching and working in a multicultural environment. We actively encourage applications who can contribute, through their research, teaching, and/or service, to the diversity and excellence of the academic community at Texas Tech to apply. The university welcomes applications from minoritized candidates, women, veterans, and persons with disabilities. The Department of Political Science has 24 faculty members, offers the B.A., M.A., and Ph.D. degrees in addition to the MPA. And the Department is home to one of the four campuses with USGS-funded South Central Climate Science Center and works closely with other research institutes on campus such as the National Wind Institute and the Department of Public Health in the TTU Health Sciences Center. The MPA program at Texas Tech University is NASPAA accredited, and the faculty in the Department receive substantial financial resources for research support and conference travel. Texas Tech University is Tier One Carnegie Research Institution and has over 40,000 students in undergraduate and graduate programs that include Arts, Sciences, Medicine, Law, Engineering, Media and Communications, and Agricultural Sciences. Lubbock is a growing city of over 250,000 and is the commercial, medical, financial and cultural hub of the South Plains.

Review of applications will begin on October 15, 2022. Applicants should include a cover letter addressing the candidate's qualifications, a current CV, a list of contact information for three references, and a writing sample. These items should be submitted at <http://www.texastech.edu/careers/>. The requisition number is 29985BR. Please contact the chair of the Department of Political Science, Prof. Timothy Nokken, timothy.nokken@ttu.edu, with any questions.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 10/15/2022

Date Posted: 8/12/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10686

University of Utah

Rank: Assistant Professor Public Administration

The Political Science Department and the Programs of Public Affairs at the University of Utah invite applications for a tenure-track faculty position in Public Administration starting July 1, 2023. We welcome applications from candidates seeking an Assistant Professor position. The successful candidate will have a PhD in public administration, nonprofit/philanthropy, political science, or a JD focused on public law. The candidate should exhibit a robust research and teaching record (and agenda) in the areas of public sector or non-profit sector leadership, and/or administrative law. We are particularly interested in candidates that can help further diversify the lived experiences of our faculty, those adept at applying a critical lens to their teaching and research, and/or those whose work focuses on social justice, equity, inclusion, and diversity. Experiences publishing, teaching, and working outside academia in public or non-profit service are valued. The position carries a teaching responsibility of 4 courses per year in the Master of Public Administration (MPA), Master of Public Policy (MPP), and/or Masters of International Affairs and Global Enterprise (MIAGE) programs, as well as service to Programs of Public Affairs graduate students and Political Science undergraduate and graduate students.

The subfield of Public Administration is inherently interdisciplinary and has a strong link to the world of practice. We embrace diversity of thought, methodological training, multi-method approaches, and collegiality in our continuous efforts to improve the quality of our research, teaching, and practice relevance. Our MPA program is NASPAA accredited and has a 50-year record of accomplishment training public and non-profit leaders in the Intermountain West. We offer an evening full/part-time program for early service students and a weekend-based Executive MPA program for mid- to senior service students. Courses are offered as in-person, hybrid, and online modalities three semesters per year.

The Programs of Public Affairs are leading efforts within the College of Social and Behavioral Science to increase and support diversity of all kinds, though its JEDI initiative and by mentoring, resourcing and advocating for faculty, staff, and students who identify as diverse. Diverse faculty are key to securing equity and quality in our students' educational experiences, and for building trusting partnerships with our community stakeholders. Experiences of equity and diversity create a sense of belonging that makes the University of Utah campus a community where people can thrive.

For best consideration applications should be submitted by September 15, 2022, but applications received after this date will be reviewed until the position is filled. Applications should be filed using the online system at <https://utah.peopleadmin.com/postings/137588>. Applications should include: a cover letter detailing research and teaching interests and experience along with a statement on diversity describing how the candidate's work and experiences can contribute to the success of underrepresented and minoritized students, a CV, a writing sample, and three references who can be contacted for letters of recommendation.

For any questions please contact Professor Lina Svedin, Search Committee chair at: lina.svedin@utah.edu.

Start Date: Summer 2023

Application Deadline: 9/15/2022

Date Posted: 8/11/2022

Salary: $80,000 - $89,999

eJobs ID: 10669

University of Cincinnati

Rank: Assistant Professor

Assistant Professor, School of Public and International Affairs

Founded in 1819, the University of Cincinnati ranks among the nation's best urban public research universities. Home to more than 47,000 students, 10,500 faculty and staff and 330,000 alumni, UC combines a Top 35 research university with a physical setting The New York Times calls "the most ambitious campus design program in the country."

With the launch of Next Lives Here, the Cincinnati Innovation District, a $100 million JobsOhio investment, eight straight years of record enrollment, worldwide leadership in cooperative education, a dynamic academic health center and entry into the Big 12 athletic conference, UC's momentum has never been stronger. UC's annual budget tops $1.6 billion and its endowment totals $1.9 billion.

Job Overview: The School of Public and International Affairs (SPIA) at the University of Cincinnati invites applications for a full-time tenure-track Assistant Professor with a primary workload focus in support of our Public Administration sub-field. The master's in public administration program at the University of Cincinnati is anchored in a social justice framework curriculum that addresses public administration in the context of social equity and justice through all methodologies, including community-based research methods, along with other substantive areas including nonprofit management, legal governance, fundraising, and grant-writing. For details on our MPA-Social Justice program see our MPA website.

In addition to the MPA program, SPIA offers a MA and PhD in Political Science as well as three undergraduate BAs (Political Science, International Affairs, and Law and Society). SPIA also houses two research centers—the Center for Truth, Racial Healing and Transformation (CTRHT) and the Center for Cyber Strategy and Policy (CCSP). CTRHT uses research, learning, and action to provide space for healing the harms caused by racial injustice. CCSP seeks to engage scholars, students, and practitioners in interdisciplinary work related to digital strategy and policy. The successful candidate will have the opportunity to affiliate with these centers if they wish.

As one part of its overall programming, SPIA seeks to strengthen its digital justice footprint and advance its research connection with the University's Digital Futures project exploring the intersection of social justice, public administration and the challenges and opportunities provided by technology. This programming seeks investigation of threats to justice posed by technology, particularly through algorithmic data bias, and the opportunities to leverage technology more effectively for public administration to advance equitable outcomes through a framework of digital justice and technological innovation.

Essential Functions

- The successful candidate will be expected to teach, research, and advise students principally in our Master's in Public Administration program (MPA), which is anchored in a research-based, social justice perspective.
- The course load for research active tenure-track faculty is 2-2 (two courses per 2 semesters).
- Applicants will be expected to teach core MPA courses and elective classes, such as but not limited to Introduction to Public Administration, Social and Urban Policy, Public Administration and Smart Cities, and support SPIA's overall mission through such activities as teaching, research, committee service and work with SPIA partners.
- Research activities include conducting, presenting, and publishing of scholarship and analysis in political science, public administration, and related fields as well as foundational work such as grant activity, network and partner-building associated with community-engaged research methodology.
- Service activities can include committee membership in SPIA, the college, university and national and international levels, community-engagement, public service, and student advising.

Minimum Requirements

- Prior to effective date of the appointment, candidates must have a completed PhD (i.e., must have completed all requirements for graduation) in Public Administration, Political Science or a related field.
- The expected appointment will begin August 15, 2023, although the possibility of a January 1, 2023, appointment can be explored with the successful candidate if desired.

Application Process

Interested and qualified applicants must complete our on-line application. <https://jobs.uc.edu/job/Cincinnati-Assistant-Professor%2C-School-of-Public-and-International-Affairs-OH-45201/920113700/>

In addition to the basic online application, please provide:

- Cover letter indicating fit with the job description and SPIA programs outlined above.
- Full and current CV.
- Three names of references (letters of reference will be required of short-listed finalists).
- One writing sample.

- Please use the 'additional documents' feature to include all these required items.

Review of Applications will begin September 1st with applications accepted until the position is filled. Questions should be directed to Dr. Kimberly Conger, MPA Director and Search Committee Chair at: congerky@ucmail.uc.edu

Compensation and Benefits

UC offers a wide array of complementary and affordable benefit options, to meet the financial, educational, health, and wellness needs of you and your family. Eligibility varies by position and FTE.

- Competitive salary range dependent on the candidate's experience.
- Comprehensive insurance plans including medical, dental, vision, and prescription coverage.
- Flexible spending accounts and an award-winning employee wellness program, plus an employee assistance program.
- Financial security via our life and long-term disability insurance, accident and illness insurance, and retirement savings plans.
- Generous paid time off work options including vacation, sick leave, annual holidays, and winter season days in addition to paid parental leave.
- Tuition remission is available for employees and their eligible dependents.
- Enjoy discounts for on and off-campus activities and services.

FOR ALL FACULTY HIRES OFFICIAL ACADEMIC TRANSCRIPTS WILL BE REQUIRED AT THE TIME OF HIRE

The University of Cincinnati, as a multi-national and culturally diverse university, is committed to providing an inclusive, equitable and diverse place of learning and employment. As part of a complete job application you will be asked to include a Contribution to Diversity and Inclusion statement.

As a UC employee, and an employee of an Ohio public institution, if hired you will not contribute to the federal Social Security system, other than contributions to Medicare. Instead, UC employees have the option to contribute to a state retirement plan (OPERS, STRS) or an alternative retirement plan (ARP).

The University of Cincinnati is an Affirmative Action / Equal Opportunity Employer / Minority / Female / Disability / Veteran.
REQ: 88001

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/9/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10638

University of Maryland

Rank: Faculty Appointment in Management and Leadership (Associate or Full Professor)

The School of Public Policy at the University of Maryland, College Park seeks to appoint an Associate or Full Professor in the Management and Leadership field, starting in Fall 2023. The successful candidate will add to the school's long-standing research and pedagogical strengths in both leadership and management. Candidates who have demonstrated a commitment to working with women, non-binary and underrepresented minority students, and persons with disabilities through teaching, mentoring, or service are especially encouraged to apply, as are those whose hiring would enhance the School's diversity.

Candidates should have an outstanding record of research, teaching and service commensurate with expectations for a tenured associate or full professor appointment at a highly ranked public policy or public administration program. This includes a superior record of scholarly publications in leading refereed outlets, policy and practice engagement and impact, teaching effectiveness, and institutional service. It also includes success in securing external funding for collaborative research projects. The specific focus of research within the broader management and leadership area is open, but we particularly value demonstration that the candidate is able to focus on these issues across more than one sector—public, nonprofit, and private. The successful candidate will become a key intellectual player in the School's new Institute for Public Leadership, funded by the Maryland General Assembly. Depending on the interests and background of the candidate, they may also play a role in leading the Institute.

The successful candidate will teach in its undergraduate and graduate programs, contribute to a planned Master's in Public Administration degree, mentor doctoral students, and help students gain practical experience in the policy world. They will also mentor faculty colleagues, as appropriate.

Application materials should include a letter of interest describing qualifications, a curriculum vitae, contact information for at least three references, and three recent publication or writing samples. The School is committed to increasing diversity of our departmental community as well the greater campus community. We embrace diversity in multiple forms, including identity, background, theoretical and methodological orientations, and opinions. In addition, we ask that candidates explicitly address how their experience and background has prepared them to assist the school in meeting its diversity, equity, inclusion, and belonging (DEIB) goals. Either in a cover letter, or in a separate statement, this should include information outlining how, if appointed, the candidate's will assist the school in its commitment to DEIB.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/9/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10655

Baylor University

Rank: Full-Time Lecturer

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Policy, Public Administration

Baylor University seeks a Lecturer to start August 1, 2023.

Details for this position can be found at apply.interfolio.com/109426.

Position Description

The Department of Political Science at Baylor University invites applications for the position of Regular Lecturer in American Politics. This full-time position emphasizes teaching, although scholarly productivity is appreciated and the ability to generate external grants is recognized. The department is interested in applicants from all fields of American Politics. An ability to teach an introduction to American National Government is essential. In addition, the applicant should be able to teach a broad range of courses on American politics, such as Public Policy, Public Administration, Congress, Political Behavior, State/Local Government, or Race/Ethnicity. Candidates may apply beginning August 3, 2022. To ensure full consideration, completed applications must be submitted by September 18, 2022.

About Baylor University: Located in Waco, Texas, Baylor University is the oldest college in Texas. With a population of 21,000 students, Baylor is one of the top universities in the nation, having just been named an R1 institution by the Carnegie Classification in 2022. Baylor is also on the honor roll of the "Great Colleges to Work For" from The Chronicle of Higher Education; Baylor offers competitive salaries and benefits while giving faculty and staff the chance to live in one of the fastest-growing parts of the state. Our strategic plan, Illuminate, guides the University as we continue to live up to Baylor's mission of educating men and women for worldwide leadership and service by integrating academic excellence and Christian commitment within a caring community.

Qualifications

Candidates should possess an earned doctorate in Political Science or a related field by time of employment. Salary is commensurate with experience and qualifications.

Application Instructions

A complete application consists of (1) a cover letter, (2) a current curriculum vitae, (3) copies of official transcripts showing the highest degree conferred (if a Ph.D. is in progress, a transcript showing hours completed toward the Ph.D. is also required), (4) three letters of recommendation, (5) a statement of participation in a faith community in the Judeo-Christian tradition, (6) a statement of teaching philosophy, (7) evidence of teaching effectiveness including course evaluations, and (8) one writing sample. Finalists will be invited for interview with the department and university administration.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 9/18/2022

Date Posted: 8/6/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10636

Colorado State University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Public Policy and Administration

The Department of Political Science at Colorado State University invites applications for two tenure-track Assistant Professor positions in public policy and administration. Advanced Assistant Professors are encouraged to apply. The Department offers programs of study leading to the B.A., M.A., and Ph.D. degrees; the graduate program emphasizes the study of environmental politics and policy.

The Department values both strong teaching and research. Successful candidates will be expected to offer courses in public policy and administration curriculum at both the undergraduate and graduate levels, including some subset of public administration, policy process, environmental policy, urban policy, policy methods, or local and state government. The normal teaching load is 2-2.

Faculty members are also expected to advise and mentor graduate and undergraduate students; demonstrate an active research agenda; and provide service to the department, college, university, and community. Approximately one-third of undergraduate political science majors at CSU are first-generation college students. The Department offers programs of study leading to the B.A., M.A., and Ph.D. degrees. The doctoral degree emphasizes the study of environmental politics and policy.

Required Job Qualifications: Primary teaching and/or scholarly emphasis in public policy & administration; evidence of an active research agenda focused on public policy and administration; PhD in Political Science, public policy, public administration, or related field by August 16, 2023; evidence of teaching effectiveness.

Preferred Job Qualifications: Ability to enhance the Department's commitment to diversity and inclusion reflecting Departmental and institutional values. Focus on environmental policy, urban policy, policy methods, or local and state government.

Application Procedure: Applications will be accepted until the position is filled; to ensure full consideration, complete applications should be received by September 16, 2022. Applicants should submit: 1) a letter of application outlining teaching interests and research agenda as well as a brief statement on how your teaching, research and/or service demonstrate a commitment to diversity and inclusion; 2) Curriculum vitae; 3) Graduate school transcripts (unofficial transcripts acceptable at the initial stage of the search), 4) Evidence of demonstrated or potential teaching effectiveness (syllabi, teaching evaluations, letters of observation), 5) One sample of published or presented work, and 6) the names and contact information of three professional references. Reference letters will be requested at the finalist interview stage. References will not be contacted without prior notification of candidates. Application materials of semi-finalist candidates will be made available for review by the entire faculty in the Department of Political Science. The names and contact information of three professional referees. Application materials of semi-finalist candidates, including letters of reference, will be made available for review by the entire faculty in the Department of Political Science. Questions about the position can be directed to Dr. Robert Duffy (Robert.Duffy@colostate.edu).

For more information and to apply, please go to: <https://jobs.colostate.edu/postings/109435>

CSU is an EO/EA/AA employer and conducts background checks on all final candidates.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 9/16/2022

Date Posted: 8/3/2022

Salary: $70,000 - $79,999

eJobs ID: 10609

Appalachian State University

Rank: Non-Profit Public Administration

The Department of Government and Justice Studies at Appalachian State University invites applications for a tenure-track faculty position at the rank of Assistant Professor in the field of Public Administration beginning August 2023. Primary areas of interest are nonprofit management and philanthropy, which will serve our MPA nonprofit management concentration and our nonprofit certificate program. Professional experience in public administration is desired. Applicants without nonprofit practitioner and/or nonprofit academic experience will not be considered. A Ph.D. in Public Administration, Political Science, or a related discipline is required at the time of appointment. A J.D. is not sufficient for this position.

The teaching load is three courses per semester for faculty who maintain an active research agenda. Responsibilities include instruction at the graduate and undergraduate levels, an active program of scholarship, instruction at on-campus and off-campus sites, student advising, and participation in service activities.

The Master of Public Administration program is NASPAA-accredited and has over 60 students, most of whom specialize in local government or non-profit administration (see mpa.appstate.edu). The Department houses undergraduate programs in criminal justice and political science and graduate programs in political science and public administration. The Department's Diversity Commitment can be found at <https://gjs.appstate.edu/node/302> and additional information about the Department of Government and Justice Studies can be found at <http://gjs.appstate.edu>.

Applicants must submit an electronic application consisting of (1) a letter outlining teaching and research interests; (2) a current vitae; (3) a transcript from the Ph.D. granting institution; and (4) contact information for three references noting that references will not be contacted without prior notice to the candidate. Applications must be submitted at <https://appstate.peopleadmin.com/postings/34893>

Any additional questions can be directed to the search chair, Dr. Brian Bulla, at pubadmsearch@appstate.edu.

Review of applications will begin on September 1, 2022, and will continue until the position is filled. Any offer of employment will be conditioned upon the University's receipt of a satisfactory criminal background report. For more information, please visit <http://www.hrs.appstate.edu/employment/epa-jobs/academic-affairs>.

Appalachian State University, in North Carolina's Blue Ridge Mountains, prepares students to lead purposeful lives as global citizens who understand and engage their responsibilities in creating a sustainable future for all. The transformational Appalachian experience promotes a spirit of inclusion that brings people together in inspiring ways to acquire and create knowledge, to grow holistically, to act with passion and determination, and embrace diversity and difference. As one of 17 campuses in the University of North Carolina system, Appalachian enrolls about 20,000 students, has a low student-to-faculty ratio and offers more than 150 undergraduate and graduate majors. The Department of Government and Justice Studies (GJS) is home to over 800 undergraduate majors and over 70 graduate students. It has 35 full-time tenure-track faculty who are at the forefront of their diverse areas of expertise and are amongst the most honored teachers at Appalachian State University.

Appalachian State University is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer. The University does not discriminate in access to its educational programs and activities, or with respect to hiring or the terms and conditions of employment, on the basis of race, color, national origin, religion, sex, gender identity and expression, political affiliation, age, disability, veteran status, genetic information or sexual orientation.

Individuals with disabilities may request accommodations in the application process by contacting Maranda Maxey, Director & ADA/504 Coordinator, at 828- 262-3056 or maxeymr@appstate.edu.

Proper documentation of identity and employability will be required before the hiring process can be finalized. For more information, please visit <https://appstate.peopleadmin.com/>

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 9/1/2022

Date Posted: 8/2/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10583

Occidental College

Rank: Assistant Professor of Urban Policy and Politics

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Public Law, Public Administration

The Urban & Environmental Policy Department at Occidental College invites applications for a teacher and scholar at the Assistant Professor level in Urban Policy and Politics, with a focus on Community Organizing, Labor Studies, Urban Political Economy, and/or Public Policy. The position will begin August 2023.

We are interested in candidates who understand urban and environmental problems as deeply linked, and whose research and teaching examine issues of economic and social inequalities, labor and community organizing, and the social, economic, racial, and gender dimensions of workplaces and the labor market. We are interested in candidates whose work considers the role of politics and policymaking at local, state, and national levels, and the challenges faced by policymakers to address existing inequities while also finding sustainable, and democratic solutions to environmental and economic injustice. We seek a scholar who approaches their work through interdisciplinary analysis and considers the role of labor and community organizing as an important response to and strategy to address inequality and to advance social justice.

Occidental faculty are committed teacher-scholars who bring research and creative discovery to life for students in classrooms, labs, studios, and mentored projects. They teach broadly in the curricula of their departments, advise students, carry out research and creative work, and provide departmental, college-wide, and external service. The primary responsibilities of the selected candidate will include the development and teaching of introductory and core courses in the discipline, including courses in your area(s) of specialization. Specific courses that include the introductory level department course (UEP 101), Community Organizing and Leadership, Community Internship/Practicum; and Urban Politics and Policy; ; the senior comprehensive seminar; and a college-wide first year seminar as well as as well as developing new courses in Labor Studies and Public Policy Analysis. and/or a new course in their own area of expertise. The candidate will also be responsible for producing scholarship commensurate with the requirements for tenure and will be expected to develop a program of research that engages undergraduate students. Incoming faculty will be expected to contribute to and participate in the life and development of the department, advise students, serve on committees, and participate in the broader college and disciplinary communities.

We invite candidates from a range of disciplines, including sociology, political science, social work, social welfare, labor studies, urban planning, geography, applied economics, law, and public policy. In particular, we seek candidates with emphases from a range of disciplines in subfields of: race, gender, and work; urban politics; community organizing; and labor and globalization. Candidates are expected to hold the Ph.D. degree or terminal degree in their field, and must have completed or be completing their doctorate by fall 2023.

We are open to considering non-traditional candidates with extensive professional and community experience as well as a demonstrated record of research and teaching experience but who may not have a Ph.D. or other terminal degree but would prioritize engagement with students while bringing their extensive field experience into the academy.

Required Qualifications

demonstrated commitment to and excellence in undergraduate teaching. We seek an effective and engaged teacher able to explain the relationships between local and global aspects of our urban problems and how policy practitioners, advocates and researchers, along with government officials, can create practical solutions at the community, local, state, national, and global levels, and teach students to understand and apply ideas about urban politics and political economy, including issues of race, place, poverty, inequality, and policy in the context of a global political economy.

a strong record of scholarly accomplishments appropriate to the level of appointment or demonstration of applied research and written policy analyses for nontraditional candidates; an existing research program with a plan to integrate undergraduate students into their research.

demonstrated experience in a range of practices (advocacy, community organizing, government, community engaged research, and public service) with preference for experience working on how policy and organizing impacts marginalized, low-income, and communities of color.

demonstrated experience in working collaboratively with colleagues demonstrated potential for effective integration of technology into instruction

demonstrated commitment to working effectively with students from minoritized and marginalized social groups

ability to balance excellent teaching, scholarship, and service demonstrated commitment to the four cornerstones of the mission of the College: excellence, equity, community, and service contribution to community engaged teaching and research, a central priority of the College's strategic plan.

Preferred Qualifications

experience working collaboratively with local community organizations

industry experience

Application Submission Materials

You must submit a complete application package electronically to be considered. To apply, please send the following required materials to UEPurbansearch@oxy.edu:

Cover Letter in which you respond to the required and preferred (if applicable) qualifications

Curriculum Vitae

Research Statement

Teaching Philosophy Statement

Commitment to Inclusive Excellence Statement

This statement provides your unique perspective on your past and present contributions to and future aspirations for promoting justice, equity, inclusion, and diversity in your professional career. This should include your demonstrated commitment to, past evidence of, and future plans for creating equitable opportunities for learning and mentoring especially for students from marginalized and minoritized groups. The purpose of this statement is to help the department identify candidates who have professional experience, intellectual commitments, and/or willingness to engage in activities that could help the College contribute to its mission in these areas.

List of three references with relevant contact information

If you advance to the finalist phase, you will be asked to have each of your three references submit a letter of recommendation. Please have these ready for the referents to submit should you move forward to this phase of the search. Do not submit these letters with your initial application.

Upon receipt of a complete application package, you will receive a preliminary questionnaire. You must complete this questionnaire to move forward in the search process.

Please direct all questions about the position to: UEPurbansearch@oxy.edu

Application Deadline

To be assured full consideration, your application materials must be received by October 3, 2022.

The Department and College

The Urban and Environmental Policy Department is unique among liberal arts colleges. Many liberal arts colleges have urban studies, public policy, or environmental studies programs. Occidental's UEP major integrates each of these disciplines into a single interdisciplinary major, one that is uniquely situated in a liberal arts college located in the dynamic city of Los Angeles.

UEP is an interdisciplinary program that has multiple goals for student learning outcomes: critical thinking; writing and speaking skills; recognition and capacity to engage in policy development; knowledge about diverse communities and institutions; and an ability to translate what the students learn into a path for future learning and career development.

Our curriculum includes a heavy emphasis on writing and presentations, a strong focus on original research, including applied and policy-relevant research, community-engaged and client-based projects, and multiple strategies for community engagement, including community engaged research, internship requirements and opportunities in Los Angeles and beyond, and classes geared to providing an understanding of the policy process, with a focus on cities and the process of urbanization.

Oxy's location in urban Los Angeles sets it apart from other liberal arts colleges, most located outside of cities in more rural or suburban locations. UEP and the College has centered Oxy's Los Angeles location as critical to its curriculum. Our presence in Los Angeles offers the perfect setting for integrating the study of urban and environmental issues.

Finally, the Urban & Environmental Policy Institute (UEPI), our research, policy, and advocacy institute, mirrors our UEP major as a campus-wide center for community engagement, research, and advocacy. Through private foundation and government grants, UEPI has conducted research, engaged in policy analysis, and participated in advocacy efforts that have made a major difference in Los Angeles and around the country for over 15 years. UEPI has a professional research and program staff who develop programs and initiatives in the community that provide opportunities for all Oxy students to conduct research, study policy, and participate in advocacy. In the past four years more than 350 students from multiple majors across campus have participated in UEPI-funded projects. UEPI staff members bring professional degrees and experience to the classroom and have taught several UEP courses and advised, mentored, and provided research assistance to dozens of Oxy students – both UEP and non-UEP majors. Thus, UEPI has had a significant impact on the College's mission in terms of both classroom teaching and undergraduate research.

Additional Information

Occidental is an Equal Opportunity Employer and does not unlawfully discriminate against employees or applicants on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, gender expression, pregnancy, breastfeeding or related medical condition, national origin, ancestry, citizenship, age, marital status, physical disability, mental disability, medical condition, genetic characteristic or information, military and veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by state or federal law. Occidental is strongly committed to increasing the diversity of the campus community and the curriculum, and to fostering an inclusive, equitable, and just environment within which students, staff, administrators, and faculty thrive. Candidates who can contribute to this goal through their teaching, research, advising, and other activities are encouraged to identify their strengths and experiences in this area. Individuals advancing the College's strategic equity and justice goals and those from groups whose underrepresentation in the American professoriate has been severe and longstanding are particularly encouraged to apply.

Salary is commensurate with experience and qualifications. Moving expense reimbursement (up to $5000, taxable according to current IRS regulations), start-up funds, and a one-course reduction of teaching load in the first year are provided. A comprehensive benefits package is available that includes: excellent health, dental, life, and retirement benefits; tuition benefits for the employee, spouse, domestic partner, and dependents; additional extras including use of gym facilities and the College Library. For a detailed description of benefits, please visit <https://www.oxy.edu/offices-services/human-resources/benefits-information>.

All qualified applicants will be considered for employment, including those with criminal histories, in a manner consistent with the requirements of applicable state and local laws, including the City of Los Angeles' Fair Chance Initiative for Hiring Ordinance.

Occidental College is committed to working with and providing reasonable accommodations to applicants with qualifying disabilities. If you need a reasonable accommodation because of a disability for any part of the application or employment process, please contact Human Resources (hr@oxy.edu).

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 10/3/2022

Date Posted: 7/29/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10561

Johns Hopkins University

Rank: Assistant Program Director/Lecturer or Sr. Lecturer, Policy and Administration

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Public Administration, American Government and Politics

Johns Hopkins University
Zanvyl Krieger School of Arts and Sciences
Advanced Academic Programs

Apply here: <https://apply.interfolio.com/110584>

Location:
Washington, DC

Description:

The Johns Hopkins University invites applications for the position of Assistant Program Director in the area of Public Policy and Administration. This position will support the Master of Arts in Public

Management (primary), Master of Arts in Nonprofit Management, and Master of Arts of Government programs in the Center for Advanced Governmental Studies, within the Krieger School of Arts & Sciences' Advanced Academic Programs Division. Reporting to the Director of the Center for Advanced Governmental Studies and Associate Dean for Graduate & Professional Programs, the Assistant Program Director will contribute to the excellence of the programs and will demonstrate and support ongoing innovation in the curriculums. Johns Hopkins University is committed to hiring candidates who, through their teaching and service, will contribute to the diversity and excellence of the academic community.

Advanced Academic Programs:

The Advanced Academic Programs (AAP) is a division of the Krieger School of Arts & Sciences at the Johns Hopkins University (JHU). As the nation's oldest and one of its most prestigious research universities, JHU offers high-quality master's degrees and post-baccalaureate education to students online, at its Washington, DC Center, and at the Homewood campus in Baltimore, MD. AAP enrolls over 6,000 students each academic year in over 45-degree programs.

AAP was started in 1992 to provide students with the opportunity to obtain a master's degree in a professional and part-time graduate program. Over the course of nearly 30 years, AAP has worked diligently to add new degree programs that fit within the academic structure of the Krieger School and satisfy the demands of the marketplace. AAP distinguishes itself through its intensive instructional assistance, selective admissions, and more than 50 dedicated full-time faculty. Tenured Krieger School faculty members serve as Program Chairs within AAP and work together in the Council of Program Chairs, an academic advisory body to the KSAS Dean.

AAP's website, <http://advanced.jhu.edu/>, provides additional information.

The Position:

AAP's programs in public management, nonprofit management, and government prepare students for leadership positions in public service and advocacy. Students develop sophisticated skills in policy analysis, research, and administration. With an ever-growing and diverse student body, the programs are continually expanding and enhancing their course offerings to meet both academic and practitioner needs. Currently, the programs serve over 400 students both onsite and online, including a large number of international students.

In both academic and administrative roles, the Assistant Program Director supports the curriculums, students, and adjunct faculty. The Assistant Program Director will have significant interaction/collaboration with the Program Directors and other faculty within the Center for Advanced Governmental Studies, as well as across other AAP programs, including the Applied Economics and Communication programs.

The Assistant Program Director is a full-time, non-tenure-track, 12-month renewable faculty position with the academic title of Lecturer or Senior Lecturer, commensurate with experience. The Assistant Program Director reports to the Director of the Center for Advanced Governmental Studies, who consults with the Program Chair on academic matters, and to the Associate Dean for Graduate & Professional Programs, who leads the Advanced Academic Programs and reports to the Dean of the Krieger School of Arts & Sciences.

The Assistant Program Director will have the following academic and administrative responsibilities:

Academic Responsibilities:

Teach 6 graduate courses per year, including preparation and time spent in the classroom (both on-site in the Washington, DC Center and online), using best practices for teaching, engaging, and mentoring students from diverse backgrounds in the learning process, and responding to student questions

Advise students, including both program and research/capstone advising

Provide input on the curriculums and new course development to ensure the delivery and growth of quality programs

Other academic duties normally performed by full-time faculty, such as participating on committees, attending academic events, or contributing to other academic service

Administrative Responsibilities:

Assist with the management of degree concentrations or areas of focus

Participate in the adjunct faculty hiring and development processes

Assist the Program Directors with administrative tasks, such as planning events and reviewing admission materials

Other administrative duties as assigned

Qualifications:

The Assistant Program Director role is critical to maintaining the overall high quality of this program. The Assistant Program Director must have a passion for education and its power to change lives, especially for international, part-time, and non-residential students. A track record of successful graduate and/or online teaching, as well as skills in instructional design, content development, and instructional technology, are important.

Candidates who have experience teaching and engaging students from diverse backgrounds are of particular interest.

To be considered, candidates should meet a set of minimum qualifications and ideally meet several additional preferred qualifications.

Minimum Qualifications:

- PhD in public administration, public policy, or political economy, or in a relevant field such as government or political science; other terminal degrees in these or related fields may be considered
- 1-3 years of higher education teaching experience online and/or at the graduate level
- The ability to teach a variety of courses in one or more of the following areas: public administration, policy analysis and evaluation, public financial management and budgeting, political economy
- Strong organizational skills
- Excellent oral and written communication skills

Preferred Qualifications:

- 4 or more years of higher education teaching experience online and/or at the graduate level
- 1-3 years of related professional experience within the areas of public policy, program management, or budget/financial analysis, including but not limited to positions in government (federal, state, or local), think tanks and public policy research organizations, advocacy associations, and nonprofits focused on public policy issues.
- Experience managing a degree or certificate program
- Demonstrated track record of excellence in teaching and innovation in curriculum design
- The ability to work independently in a fast-paced environment with competing demands and multiple deadlines in both on-site and online environments

Application Instructions:

For consideration, interested and qualified candidates should submit the following materials via Interfolio (<https://apply.interfolio.com/110584>):

- Cover letter that describes the applicant's interest in the position
- CV
- Teaching evaluations from the two most recent semesters

The selected candidate will be expected to undergo a background check and to submit proof of educational attainment.

Start Date: Spring 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/27/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10547

Miami UniversityRank: Assistant or Associate Professor in Public Administration

Assistant or Associate Professor in Public Administration to teach courses across the public administration core and elective curriculum for the undergraduate major and courses for the MA program; advise students; conduct relevant research leading to a record of published scholarship; provide institutional and professional service; and participate in applied research projects through the Center for Public Management and Regional Affairs. The position will begin in the start of the academic year August 2023.

Required: Doctorate in public policy, public administration, political science, or a closely related field (completed by December 31, 2023 for re-appointment to a second year) for all levels of appointment including at the assistant rank. For appointment as an Associate Professor requires collegiate teaching expertise and high-quality research.

Consideration may be given to candidates with substantive expertise in an area of public policy and policy analysis.

Submit letter of interest, curriculum vitae, evidence of teaching effectiveness, teaching philosophy, statement of research plans, transcripts, writing sample, a one-page diversity statement addressing past and/or potential contributions to advancing diversity, equity, and inclusion through research, teaching, and/or service to <https://jobs.miamioh.edu/cw/en-us/job/500451/assistant-or-associate-professor-public-administration>. Department will request letters of recommendation from references listed in the application. Inquiries may be addressed to Dr. Patrick Haney at haneypj@miamioh.edu. Screening of applications will begin September 9, 2022 and will continue until the position is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/29/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10451

University of South CarolinaRank: Visiting Assistant Professor in Public Administration

The Department of Political Science at the University of South Carolina seeks applications for a 9-month, non-tenure track visiting assistant professor position in Public Administration to begin August 16, 2022. The salary for this position is $65,000. This is a 9-month non-tenure track appointment, renewable for a second year based on Dean's approval, satisfactory performance, departmental needs, and the availability of funding.

The position is open with regard to substantive specialization. The successful candidate will be able to teach a variety of classes in the department's NASPAA accredited Master in Public Administration program. Preference will be given to candidates who can teach financial management and/or nonprofit management. The visiting assistant professor position entails a 3+2 teaching load.

A Ph.D. in Public Administration, Political Science or a closely related field of study is required by the start date of appointment. Exceptions may be made for those who have successfully defended their dissertation prospectus and are actively working on completing their dissertation.

Candidates must submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, graduate transcript, and a list of three references with contact information. Review of applications will begin immediately and continue until the position is filled. All applicants must fill out an online application at USC Jobs: <https://uscjobs.sc.edu/TMP01074PO22>.

Please contact the search committee chair, Xuhong Su, suxuhong@mailbox.sc.edu, with any questions.

The University of South Carolina-Columbia is classified as R1: Doctoral Universities – Highest research activity in the Carnegie Classification of Institutions of Higher Education. Information regarding the Department of Political Science can be found at the department's website: <http://artsandsciences.sc.edu/poli/welcome>. Positions are advertised for a minimum of five (5) business days on our job website. After five (5) business days, positions can be closed at the discretion of the department at any time. This employment site is updated on a regular basis. The length of the recruitment and screening process may vary from position to position, depending upon a variety of factors. Should review of your qualifications result in a decision to pursue your candidacy, you will be contacted by phone or email.

The University of South Carolina is an affirmative action, equal opportunity employer. Minorities and women are encouraged to apply. The University of South Carolina does not discriminate in educational or employment opportunities on the basis of race, sex, gender, gender identity, transgender status, age, color, religion, national origin, disability, sexual orientation, genetics, protected veteran status, pregnancy, childbirth or related medical conditions.

Start Date: Fall 2022

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/8/2022

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 10403

Johns Hopkins University

Rank: Adjunct Faculty

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Methodology, Public Administration

Specializations: Economic Policy, Research Methods, Public Finance & Budgeting

Institution Description:

The Advanced Academic Programs (AAP) is a division of the Krieger School of Arts and Sciences at the Johns Hopkins University (JHU). As the nation's oldest and one of the most prestigious research universities, Johns Hopkins offers high-quality master's degrees and post-baccalaureate education to students in the mid-Atlantic region and online. In addition to the online programs, AAP also offers master's degrees and graduate certificate programs at its Washington, DC Center and at the Homewood campus in Baltimore, Maryland. AAP has approximately 18,000 enrollments each academic year. JHU is committed to hiring candidates who, through their teaching and service, will contribute to the diversity and excellence of the academic community.

Position Description:

The Advanced Academic Programs (AAP) division seeks non-tenure track adjunct faculty to teach several courses within the MA in Public Management program (see below). The courses will be taught online and/or onsite in Washington, DC in Fall 2022 and beyond. Candidates with online course development and teaching experience and those with experience teaching and engaging students from diverse backgrounds are of particular interest.

- 470.854 Fundamentals of Quantitative Methods

This course trains students to be informed consumers of quantitative studies, in addition to teaching the tools of basic statistical work. The course material covers basic descriptive statistics, inferential statistics, and data collection. The key learning objective is for students to develop a better understanding of the statistical and econometric results they may encounter in their careers.

- 470.631 Economics for Public Decision-making

This course aims to offer students an understanding of economics and its importance in public policymaking. The first half of the course will offer students an understanding of microeconomic and macroeconomic theory, including a discussion of when markets can work to achieve policy goals and when "market failures" call for government intervention. The second half of the class will use these economic tools and theories to survey several specific policy areas, including health policy, tax policy, and the national debt.

- 470.608 Public Policy Evaluation and the Policy Process

This course introduces students to the public policymaking process, the basics of policy analysis, and the substance of some of today's major policy debates. The first half of the course focuses on establishing a framework in which to analyze public policy formulation within the United States. The class also reviews the tools for developing and implementing policy. The second half of the course turns to policy analysis of some critical contemporary issues.

- 470.605 Global Political Economy

In this course, students investigate core topics in international political economy, analyzing the security implications of each. Topics include trade relations, international finance, monetary relations, poverty, and development.

Qualifications

Minimum Qualifications:

- An advanced degree in public policy/public administration or in a relevant field, such as public finance, economics, or political economy, with a master's degree at minimum
- Two years of professional work experience within the relevant fields

Preferred Qualifications:

- A terminal degree in public policy/public administration or in a relevant field, such as public finance, economics, or political economy
- 1-3 years of graduate-level teaching experience
- Online teaching experience
- In-person/in the classroom teaching experience.

- The background to teach a wide variety of courses in the public management program.

Application Instructions

PLEASE APPLY HERE: <https://apply.interfolio.com/107918>

The positions will remain open until filled.

Candidates must submit the following:

- Cover letter: should indicate the course or courses you are interested in teaching and describe your relevant teaching and professional experience.
- Resume or Curriculum vitae
- Teaching evaluations for two most recently taught courses (if applicable)
- References upon request

The selected candidate will be expected to undergo a background check and to submit proof of educational attainment.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/6/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10394

Middle Georgia State University

Rank: Part-Time Instructor

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Administration, Public Policy

Middle Georgia State University has part-time employment opportunities for Political Science instructors, both online and on its campuses in Georgia (Macon, Warner Robins, Cochran, Eastman, and Dublin) for day and evening classes. Our primary need at this time is for faculty qualified to teach, and interested in teaching, daytime sections of American Government (POLS 1101) on the Dublin, Macon, and/or Warner Robins campuses, or at other current and potential teaching sites in Georgia, although opportunities to teach other courses may also be available.

MINIMUM QUALIFICATIONS: To qualify for a teaching position, a candidate is required to have a minimum of an earned master's degree in Political Science or a closely related field (such as Public Administration or Public Policy), or a master's degree in another field with at least 18 graduate semester hours in Political Science courses.

For more information, please contact: Dr. Christopher Lawrence, Chair - Department of Political Science. E-mail: christopher.lawrence@mga.edu. Informal inquiries are welcome.

TO APPLY: Please see the full advertisement in our career opportunities portal by following the instructions below:

1. Visit the MGA Career Opportunities page at <https://www.mga.edu/human-resources/jobs/index.php>.
2. Click on the link labeled "Faculty and Staff Job Opportunities" towards the bottom of the page.
3. Search for position #240725, "Part Time Instructor - Department of Political Science."

Applications will be reviewed and candidates will be selected for vacancies on a rolling basis.

Start Date: Fall 2022

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 3/17/2022

Salary: Below $20,000

eJobs ID: 10210

Stetson University

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor of Political Science (International Relations)

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Political Theory, Public Administration

STETSON UNIVERSITY, COLLEGE OF ARTS AND SCIENCES

Visiting Assistant Professor of Political Science (International Relations)

Stetson University seeks two individuals – one with broad interests and training in International Relations, and the other with broad interests and training in Political Theory and/or American Politics – for positions at the rank of Visiting Assistant Professor of Political Science. Each must have a desire to teach in a liberal arts setting with significant personal interactions with undergraduate students. Besides teaching introductory and upper-level undergraduate courses in their appropriate subfields of the discipline, each candidate will develop courses to complement existing strengths in the Department of Political Science and in one or more related programs (e.g. International Studies; Africana Studies; Asian Studies; Gender Studies; Social Studies; Global Development; Latin American & Latino Studies; and Russian, East European and Eurasian Studies). These two 9-month, full-time appointments span August 2022-May 2023.

QUALIFICATIONS:

A Ph.D. in Political Science is preferred, but applicants who are ABD will be considered if they are at the final stage of the dissertation process. Teaching experience beyond typical teaching assistant duties in graduate school is an advantage but not required. Candidates should have a strong commitment to innovative teaching, a creative approach to pedagogical design and implementation, and a strong commitment to all aspects of diversity in our learning-centered community.

RESPONSIBILITIES:

VAP faculty teach four courses each semester. Primary teaching responsibilities for the International Relations position include introductory and upper-level courses in International Relations and related subdisciplines (e.g. migration studies, international diplomacy, international law, security studies, etc.). For the Political Theory and/or American Politics position, teaching responsibilities include introductory and upper-level courses in Political Theory and/or American Politics and related subdisciplines (e.g. American political development, judicial studies, etc.). Other courses can be based on the candidate's expertise and training.

THE DEPARTMENT:

The Department of Political Science (<http://www.stetson.edu/artsci/political-science/>) offers academically rigorous majors in both Political Science and Public Management. Departmental faculty contribute regularly to interdisciplinary programs such as International Studies; Russian, Eastern European and Eurasian Studies; Latin American & Latino Studies; Africana Studies; the Honors Program; Environmental Science and Studies; and Public Health. We have had considerable success placing students in high-quality graduate programs in Political Science, International Affairs, Public Administration, and in prominent law schools. Faculty in the Department are committed to the teacher-scholar model, which involves teaching within a traditional liberal arts environment where the primary focus is extensive interaction with undergraduate students in a small class environment, while also maintaining an active research agenda.

THE COLLEGE OF ARTS AND SCIENCES:

Stetson's College of Arts and Sciences (<http://www.stetson.edu/portal/artsci/>) is the largest and most diverse of the University's colleges and schools; it includes the humanities, social sciences, natural sciences, education, and creative arts. With nineteen academic departments and eight interdisciplinary programs, the College is the liberal arts core of the University. A great strength of the College is its faculty of approximately 140 full-time teacher-scholars. The College offers 31 undergraduate majors and 34 undergraduate minors; six graduate degrees are offered in Education, Counselor Education, and Creative Writing. Every undergraduate major requires a senior research project, giving students the opportunity to design and carry out independent research under faculty mentorship. Our academic programs are shaped by the values of social justice and civic responsibility. All of our courses and programs of study promote engaged learning, whereby students create connections between the classroom or lab and the local, regional, and global community. The academic programs of the College of Arts and Sciences prepare students to live significant lives, to interact with and positively affect the world around them.

THE UNIVERSITY:

Founded in 1883, Stetson University (<http://www.stetson.edu>) is a private, selective university comprised of a rich array of liberal arts and professional academic programs. Collectively, Stetson's faculty works with nearly 4,000 students in undergraduate, graduate, and professional programs. The University's historic main campus, located in DeLand, enrolls more than 3,000 students in undergraduate programs in the College of Arts & Sciences, the School of Business Administration, and the School of Music. Stetson University College of Law, Florida's first law school, moved from the main campus to Gulfport in 1954, and, with the addition of the Tampa Law Center, serves approximately 1,000 students working full-time or part-time toward J.D. or LL.M. degrees. Graduate programs offered include Business, Accounting, Educational Leadership, Counseling, and Creative Writing. Florida's oldest private institution of higher learning, Stetson has regularly been ranked among the best regional universities in the Southeast and was the first private college in Florida to be granted a chapter of Phi Beta Kappa.

Stetson University provides an inspiring education that engages students with rigorous academic and creative study grounded in liberal learning and promotes civic values of personal and social responsibility. Working closely with faculty and with one another, students cultivate abilities to explore issues deeply, think critically, reason empirically, speak persuasively, and connect ideas creatively. Firmly committed to inclusive excellence, our vibrant community of teacher-scholars nurtures the potential of individual students to lead lives of significance and prepares each to meet the challenges of shaping the future—locally, nationally, and globally. Stetson University affirms cultural diversity and inclusion as a core value of academic excellence.

THE COMMUNITY:

DeLand is a picturesque residential community of 39,000 located 20 miles west of Daytona Beach and 35 miles northeast of Orlando. The area offers extensive cultural as well as recreational activities.

SALARY: Salary is competitive.

STARTING DATE: August 10, 2022

APPLICATION:

Applicants must send the following materials for consideration: 1) a cover letter summarizing the candidate's interest in the position and qualifications, 2) a statement of the candidate's teaching philosophy, a representative sample of teaching evaluations, and other relevant teaching materials (e.g. syllabi, assignments, etc.), 3) a curriculum vitae, 4) copies of graduate transcripts, and 5) the names and contact information for three recommenders (at least one of which should be able to evaluate the candidate's teaching ability). Candidates who advance in the review process may be asked to provide letters of recommendation. In their materials, candidates are encouraged to highlight skills and experiences that demonstrate a commitment to social justice, diversity, and inclusion.

Review of applications will begin on March 25, 2022 and continue until the position is filled.

Application materials may be submitted electronically to the search committee at polisearch@stetson.edu or mailed to the following address:

Dr. William Russell Nylan
Chair, VAPs Search Committee
Department of Political Science
Stetson University
421 N. Woodland Blvd. Unit 8301
DeLand, FL 32723

Stetson University is an Equal Opportunity Employer that affirms cultural diversity and inclusion as a core value of academic excellence at Stetson University. We are committed to achieving equal access in education, employment, and participation through the recruitment and retention of outstanding faculty, staff, and students from diverse backgrounds, and to meaningful academic and intellectual transformation in curriculum, research and service. We are dedicated to actions and policies that foster a community in which individuals with various identities, cultures, backgrounds, and viewpoints work together to create opportunities for engagement through rewarding and fulfilling careers and personal experiences in a culturally and racially diverse society and a globalized world. We strongly encourage members of historically under-represented and economically-disadvantaged groups and women to apply for employment. Stetson University is an EEO, ADA, ADEA, and GINA employer.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 3/7/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10177

Troy University

Rank: Assistant/Associate/Full Professor

The Department of Political Science invites applicants for an open rank, tenure track position in Political Science (with a concentration in American Politics). This is a ten-month tenure-track position at our Troy, Alabama location. Responsibilities include teaching undergraduate political science courses in American Politics; teaching master's degree courses in our public administration (MPA) program, which will be delivered in person as well as online; and advising pre-law students. The position may be asked to teach courses at another Troy location depending on departmental needs.

The Department of Political Science at Troy University currently employs twenty-five faculty members who work in three programs: undergraduate political science, graduate international relations, and graduate public administration.

The start date for the position is August 1, 2022. Candidate must have degree in hand by the start date. Review of applications will begin September 15, 2021.

Please apply online at: <https://www.troyuniversityjobs.com/postings/30415>

Start Date: Fall 2022

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/9/2021

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 9313

PUBLIC LAW

University of California, Berkeley

Rank: Associate/Full Professor - Understanding (Non)Citizenship Cluster - Department of Political Science
Subfield(s): Open, Public Law, Public Policy

Associate/Full Professor - Understanding (Non)Citizenship Cluster - Department of Political Science

Position overview

Anticipated start: 07/01/2023

Application Window

Open August 16, 2022 through Friday, Sep 23, 2022 at 11:59pm (Pacific Time)

If you apply to this recruitment by September 23, 2022, you will have until October 7, 2022 to complete your application.

Position description

The Charles and Louise Travers Department of Political Science in the College of Letters and Science at the University of California, Berkeley invites applications for a full-time tenured Associate or Full Professor faculty position in political science.

Applicants to this position will be appointed in Political Science, however successful candidates' scholarship must speak to and advance the goals of the "Understanding (Non)Citizenship" initiative at the University of California, Berkeley, which aims to hire an interdisciplinary cluster of faculty on this topic over two years. The cluster tackles three overarching themes: issues of justice, fairness and equality as related to (non)citizenship; the determinants and content of (non)citizenship; and the consequences of (non)citizenship. The cluster considers citizenship broadly, as a legal, social and cultural status that combines civil, political and social rights with a sense of identity, encompassing those who lack formal citizenship but also those who experience "second-class" citizenship through differential rights and treatment. Fully understanding (non)citizenship requires an interdisciplinary approach: claims for citizenship and equality are invariably normative, while the consequences and drivers of (non)citizenship must be studied empirically to understand change and effects. For this reason, this innovative cluster of faculty hiring will bring together diverse units in the social sciences, humanities and professional schools across UC-Berkeley. Faculty hired through the Understanding (Non)-Citizenship cluster will hold positions in Philosophy, Political Science,

Public Policy, Sociology and Law. In 2022-23, the University seeks applicants for an Assistant Professor position in Philosophy and a tenured (Associate or Full Professor) position in Political Science.

Considering the significant disruptions caused by the Covid-19 pandemic, particularly for disadvantaged groups, in our evaluation of applicants, dips in productivity in otherwise strong records occurring with the onset of the pandemic will be evaluated with the context of the pandemic in mind.

The Charles and Louise Travers Department of Political Science is committed to fostering an environment in which all members of the Berkeley community feel empowered to pursue their educational goals in a welcoming environment. We believe that every individual must be treated with equality and dignity as we work together to ensure the success of students, staff, and faculty. For more information, please visit the department website: <https://polisci.berkeley.edu/>. Additional information about programs and resources supporting the advancement of diversity, equity, inclusion, and belonging is available at: <https://ls.berkeley.edu/about/diversity-equity-and-inclusion> <https://ls.berkeley.edu/ls-divisions/social-sciences/diversity-equity-and-inclusion>

The Charles and Louise Travers Department of Political Science is committed to addressing the family needs of faculty, including dual career couples and single parents. We are also interested in candidates who have had non-traditional career paths or who have taken time off for family reasons, or who have achieved excellence in careers outside academia. For information about potential relocation to Berkeley, or career needs of accompanying partners and spouses, please visit: <http://ofew.berkeley.edu/new-faculty>.

Department: <https://polisci.berkeley.edu/>

Qualifications Basic qualifications (required at time of application) Ph.D. (or equivalent international degree), or enrolled in Ph.D. or equivalent international degree-granting program at the time of application.

Additional qualifications (required at time of start)

Candidates should have tenure or are eligible for tenure at their current institutions.

Preferred qualifications

Preferred candidates should demonstrate the highest standards of professional research, teaching, and service and contribute to our commitment to diversity and equal opportunity in higher education.

Application Requirements Document requirements

- Curriculum Vitae - Your most recently updated C.V.
- Cover Letter
- Statement of Research - Statement of research, including past research accomplishments and proposed research at Berkeley.
- Statement of Teaching and Service - Statement of teaching and service, including prior teaching experience, teaching philosophy, future teaching interests, prior and proposed academic, professional and/or community service.
- Statement on Contributions to Advancing Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion - Statement on your contributions to diversity, equity, and inclusion, including information about your understanding of these topics, your record of activities to date, and your specific plans and goals for advancing equity and inclusion if hired at Berkeley (for additional information go to <https://ofew.berkeley.edu/recruitment/contributions-diversity><https://ofew.berkeley.edu/recruitment/contributions-diversity>).

- Publication/Writing Sample #1 - Journal article, book chapter, dissertation chapter, or other appropriate products.
- Publication/Writing Sample #2 - Journal article, book chapter, dissertation chapter, or other appropriate products. (Optional)
- Publication/Writing Sample #3 - Journal article, book chapter, dissertation chapter, or other appropriate products. (Optional)

Reference requirements

- 3 required (contact information only)

If necessary, letters of reference will solicited at a later stage.

Apply link: <https://apptrkr.com/3348045>

Help contact: knera@berkeley.edu

Campus Information

Diversity, equity, inclusion, and belonging are core values at UC Berkeley. Our excellence can only be fully realized by faculty, students, and academic and non-academic staff who share our commitment to these values. Successful candidates for our academic positions will demonstrate evidence of a commitment to advancing equity, inclusion, and belonging.

The University of California, Berkeley is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability, age, or protected veteran status. For the complete University of California nondiscrimination and affirmative action policy see: <http://policy.ucop.edu/doc/4000376/NondiscrimAffirmAct>

In searches when letters of reference are required all letters will be treated as confidential per University of California policy and California state law. Please refer potential referees, including when letters are provided via a third party (i.e., dossier service or career center), to the UC Berkeley statement of confidentiality (<http://apo.berkeley.edu/ucb-confidentiality-policy>) prior to submitting their letter.

As a condition of employment, you will be required to comply with the University of California SARS-CoV-2 (COVID-19) Vaccination Program Policy. All Covered Individuals under the policy must provide proof of Full Vaccination or, if applicable, submit a request for Exception (based on Medical Exemption, Disability, and/or Religious Objection) or Deferral (based on pregnancy) no later than the applicable deadline. Please refer to Appendix F, Section II.C. of the policy for the deadlines applicable to new University of California employees. (Capitalized terms in this paragraph are defined in the policy.) Federal, state, or local public health directives may impose additional requirements.

Positions that are represented by a collective bargaining unit or agent have particular contracts. For more information, please refer to the relevant contract: <https://ucnet.universityofcalifornia.edu/labor/bargaining-units/ix/index.html>, <https://ucnet.universityofcalifornia.edu/labor/bargaining-units/px/index.html>, <https://ucnet.universityofcalifornia.edu/labor/bargaining-units/ra/index.html>, and <https://ucnet.universityofcalifornia.edu/labor/bargaining-units/lx/index.html>. Questions about represented positions can be directed to the hiring unit.

<https://ucnet.universityofcalifornia.edu/labor/bargaining-units/px/index.html>, <https://ucnet.universityofcalifornia.edu/labor/bargaining-units/ra/index.html>, and <https://ucnet.universityofcalifornia.edu/labor/bargaining-units/lx/index.html>. Questions about represented positions can be directed to the hiring unit.

Job location Berkeley, CA

To apply, visit <https://apptrkr.com/3348045>

Copyright ©2022 Jobelephant.com Inc. All rights reserved.

<https://www.jobelephant.com/>

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 9/23/2022

Date Posted: 8/30/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10809

Clark University

Rank: Lloyd B. Politsch '33 Chair

Specializations: Constitutional Law & Theory, Civil Rights & Liberties, Judicial Politics

Clark University invites applications for the newly established Lloyd B. Politsch '33 Chair, a tenured or tenure-track position in the Political Science Department to begin in August 2023. We are interested in candidates with an expertise in constitutional law or public law and an ability to address questions related to the fairness and legitimacy of courts and legal institutions in today's American political climate. While we are open to candidates with expertise in any area of constitutional or public law, we are particularly interested in candidates with the ability to teach and conduct research in areas such as civil rights and civil liberties; voting and voting rights; interactions between citizens and the criminal justice system; the politics of criminal justice reform. Candidates must have Ph.D. or a J.D. We are interested in hiring at the Associate or Full Professor level, but promising candidates at the advanced Assistant Professor level will also be considered.

The usual teaching load for Clark faculty is four courses per academic year. We anticipate that in addition to teaching a mixture of undergraduate courses on constitutional or public law, the successful candidate will contribute to the department's core American politics curriculum and will play a role in maintaining and strengthening the university's interdisciplinary Law and Society Concentration and in supporting Clark's prelaw program. This endowed chair includes a research bursary.

Clark University is a small, liberal arts-based research university, enrolling 2,200 undergraduates and 1,000 graduate students, located in Worcester, Massachusetts. Clark University embraces equal opportunity as a core value: we believe that cultivating an environment that embraces and promotes diversity is fundamental to the success of our students, our employees, and our community. This commitment applies to every aspect of education, services, and employment policies and practices at Clark. Our commitment to diversity informs our efforts in recruitment, hiring and retention. All positions at Clark share in the responsibility for building a community that values diversity and the uniqueness of others by exhibiting integrity and respect in interacting with all members of the Clark community to create an atmosphere of fairness and belonging. We strongly encourage members from historically underrepresented communities, inclusive of all women, to apply.

Additional information about the department can be found at our website: <https://www.clarku.edu/departments/political-science/>. The position will remain open until filled. Applications received by October 15, 2022 will receive full consideration. Send a cover letter, c.v., statement of research and teaching interests, a statement addressing commitment to diversity and inclusion, a writing sample, transcript, names and contact information for three references, and evidence of teaching effectiveness to: <http://clarku.interviewexchange.com/jobofferdetails.jsp?JOBID=152509>.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/28/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10792

Oklahoma State University

Rank: Assistant Professor

Assistant Professor: Pre-law and legal studies

The Department of Political Science at Oklahoma State University invites applications for a tenure-track assistant professor position in judicial politics or empirical legal studies to begin in August 2023. Candidates with expertise in one or more of the following areas are encouraged to apply: gender and the law; Native American and indigenous people's law; race and the law, and sexuality and the law. Competitive candidates will demonstrate the potential for a productive research agenda and an ability to teach and mentor students, effectively, at a leading, land-grant university. As such, they will work to connect the implications of legal interpretations to the lived experiences of individuals across the community.

The successful candidate will teach required and elective courses as part of the department's general undergraduate degree curriculum, as well as its pre-law bachelor's degree option and legal studies minor. The teaching load is normally two courses per semester. A Ph.D. in Political Science or a related field is expected at the time of appointment.

Oklahoma State University is one of the state's two comprehensive research universities. Its Stillwater campus has a population of over 23,000 students. The Department of Political Science is housed within the College of Arts and Sciences and offers B.S. and B.A. degrees, with degree options in campaigning, global politics, pre-law, and public policy. It also offers M.A. degrees in Politics and Policy Studies, as well as Peace, Conflict, and Security Studies. The department will give full consideration to applications received by October 15, 2022, but the search will continue until the position is filled.

Applicants can submit their materials through Interfolio <http://apply.interfolio.com/112132>, including the following items:

- letter of application
- vitae
- graduate transcripts; the department will accept unofficial transcripts as part of the initial application submission but will expect receipt of official transcripts before a candidate interviews on campus
- a list of three references; the department will expect receipt of recommendation letters from these three referees within two weeks of contacting candidates for a preliminary Zoom interview
- evidence of successful teaching and scholarship
- statements of teaching and research interests

Candidates should address their commitment to a diverse, equitable, and inclusive university in their letter of application, as well as in their statements on teaching and research interests, as appropriate. Please contact Dr. Howard Sanborn (howard.sanborn@okstate.edu) with any questions about this position. For more information about the department, please visit polsci.okstate.edu.

The department is committed to creating an inclusive space for our students, faculty, and staff and to teaching and mentoring our undergraduate and graduate scholars from various backgrounds. As such, the department seeks a diverse pool of applicants. Currently, 40 percent of our department's undergraduate student body is comprised of members of underrepresented racial/ethnic minority groups; women comprise 50 percent. Members of these groups are encouraged to apply.

Oklahoma State University is an AA/EEO/E-verify employer committed to diversity. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment and will not be discriminated against based on race, color, religion, sex, national origin, disability or protected veteran status. For more information visit <https://eeo.okstate.edu> This position is contingent upon availability of funds.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 10/15/2022

Date Posted: 8/26/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10757

Princeton University

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Associate, James Madison Program
Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Political Theory, Public Law

Invitation for Postdoctoral Research Associate Applications

The James Madison Program in American Ideals and Institutions at Princeton University is dedicated to the pursuit of scholarly excellence in the fields of constitutional law and political thought. Sponsored by Princeton's Department of Politics, the Program seeks to enrich the intellectual life of Princeton students and faculty by exploring American constitutional principles and structures through research and public discussion.

The Program invites recent Ph.D. recipients to apply for appointments as Postdoctoral Research Associates or more senior researchers for the year from September 1, 2023 to September 1, 2024. Appointments will be through the Department of Politics. All James Madison Program researchers are expected to be in residence in Princeton or the local vicinity, or demonstrate to the program's satisfaction the ability to be on campus daily, and on short notice, to fulfill responsibilities relating to in-person participation, office hours, and the like. They may not be employed by another institution during the term of their Princeton appointment. They enjoy access to Firestone Library and a wide range of other facilities and activities throughout the University. Depending on the needs of the University, teaching opportunities may be available, subject to the approval of the Dean of the Faculty. Researchers appointed in the Madison Program are expected to devote full time to their proposed research. They are, however, encouraged to attend or participate in various activities of the Program, including faculty-student seminars, colloquia, and public lectures.

The position is a fully funded, 12-month postdoctoral research associate appointment with benefits. All James Madison Program Postdoctoral Research Associates are required to have a Ph.D. degree awarded within the last three years (no earlier than September 1, 2020). Applications are evaluated on the basis of (1) the significance of the proposed research; (2) the quality of the applicant's past research; and (3) the future contribution the applicant is likely to make to higher education. Positions are open to all regardless of citizenship. This position is subject to the University's background check policy.

How to apply: Applicants are required to submit an online application at %listing_link%

A complete application must include the following:

- * a curriculum vitae;
- * a scholarly paper written in the past three years;
- * a statement (no more than 1,500 words) describing the proposed research;
- * contact information for two references.

For priority consideration, application materials must be received by 11:59 p.m. EST on December 1, 2022; applications will continue to be reviewed until positions are filled. Awards will be announced in March 2023 or before.

Please address any inquiries to:

Shilo Brooks, Ph.D.

Assistant Director

James Madison Program in American Ideals and Institutions

Princeton University

83 Prospect Avenue

Princeton, NJ 08540

E-mail: shilo.brooks@princeton.edu

Web address: jmp.princeton.edu

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 12/1/2022

Date Posted: 8/24/2022

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 10769

University of California, Berkeley

Rank: Assistant Professor / Professor - Entry Level / Lateral - School of Law

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA, BERKELEY, SCHOOL OF LAW

The University of California, Berkeley, School of Law, invites applications from tenured and untenured candidates for full-time, tenured and tenure-track faculty positions with an expected start date of July 1, 2023. We welcome applications from candidates across all areas of law, but have a particular interest in the fields of Comparative Law, Employment Law, Environmental Justice, Health Law, Race and the Law, and Tax for lateral candidates.

Berkeley Law is interested in candidates who have demonstrated a commitment to excellence by providing leadership in teaching, research and service toward building an equitable and diverse scholarly environment.

For more information about the positions, including required qualifications and application materials:

Entry-level candidates who have not previously held a tenure-track position, including those who have registered with the Association of American Law Schools (AALS) Faculty Appointment Register (FAR), must complete an online application with Berkeley law via the following link: <https://apptrkr.com/3340959>. Applications will be accepted through January 31, 2023. Early applications are encouraged.

Lateral candidates who hold tenured or tenure-track positions at other institutions must complete an online application via the following link: <https://aprecruit.berkeley.edu/JPF03545>. Applications will be accepted through February 28, 2023.

Further information about Berkeley Law is available at: <http://www.law.berkeley.edu>. Additional materials may be required of candidates during the recruitment process.

All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability, age, or protected veteran status.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/18/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10732

University of Nebraska, Lincoln

Rank: Assistant Professor of Practice

The Department of Political Science at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln invites applications for an Assistant Professor of Practice position to begin August 2023. We seek a dynamic, creative teacher who will teach courses in the area of U.S. courts and law and who will help support our pre-law students and programming. The Assistant Professor of Practice position is a non-tenure line, multiyear renewable position, with the possibility of promotion to Associate and then Full Professor of Practice. Initial appointment is customarily for three years. More information on the details of a Professor of Practice position may be found at <https://cas.unl.edu/professors-practice-guidelines>.

This is a full-time, benefits-eligible position with at least 80% assigned to teaching/instruction and the remaining 20% allotted to research and service. The 80% teaching apportionment represents 8 courses per year (although the course load may be decreased in proportion to other equivalent teaching duties, such as major curricular development, program building, and advising). This position is designed for individuals seeking a teaching-focused career who prioritize excellent pedagogy and undergraduate mentoring. The successful candidate must demonstrate potential for effective teaching in the area of US courts and law. A limited research appointment is available for those interested in conducting research in the area of US courts/laws. We expect all faculty to contribute to an environment in which every person and every interaction matters.

Minimum required qualifications include: a Ph.D. in political science or related field or evidence the degree will be completed by August 2023; evidence of teaching experience and excellence; and a strong interest in teaching US courts/law. Preferred qualifications include: evidence of interest in the scholarship of teaching; a research agenda focused on some aspect of US courts/law, including pedagogical research; experience teaching in-person and online undergraduate courses. Salary, start-up package, and fringe benefits are competitive.

Review of applications will begin October 10, 2022, and continue until the position is filled. To be considered for the position, please go to <http://employment.unl.edu>, requisition F_220136 and click "apply for this job." Candidates should submit a letter of intent, curriculum vitae, a statement of teaching interests/experience, a short teaching statement, and three letters of recommendation.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/16/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10706

Bradley University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

Specializations: Judicial Politics, Civil Rights & Liberties, American Politics

The Department of Political Science and International Studies at Bradley University invites applicants for a full-time, tenure-track position in political science starting Fall 2023. We seek candidates with expertise in American politics/public law. The successful candidate will be expected to teach introduction to American government and undergraduate courses in judicial politics, constitutional law, and other special topics courses. A strong record of teaching excellence is essential. The ideal candidate should also actively engage in scholarship by maintaining a research agenda and publishing in peer-reviewed outlets. Consistent with the University's strategic emphasis on diversity, equity, and inclusion across our community, the ideal candidate will be dedicated to fostering these values through their teaching and service.

Qualifications:

Applicants must have a Ph.D. in political science, with degree in hand by August 15, 2023. The successful candidate must be eligible to work in the United States.

Required Attachments:

Letter of interest

Current vita

Teaching portfolio

Research statement

Professional writing samples

Diversity statement demonstrating commitment to, past evidence of, and future plans for creating equitable opportunities for underrepresented students

Three letters of reference

Application Deadline:

To ensure full consideration applications must be submitted through our ADP online applicant portal. Initial screening of applications will begin on September 15, 2022. Applications will be reviewed until the position has been filled. You may apply at <https://tinyurl.com/3exth4ta>.

Please submit all materials at the time of initial application and have your recommenders send their letters of reference to mremmel@fsmail.bradley.edu.

Employment with Bradley University is contingent upon successful completion of a criminal background check.

Bradley University is a top-ranked private university in Peoria, Illinois, that offers nearly 6,000 undergraduate and graduate students opportunities and resources of a larger university and the personal attention and exceptional learning experience of a smaller university. Located midway between Chicago and St. Louis, the Greater Peoria Area has a population of 414,000 and is one of the most innovative and family friendly cities in the nation according to wallethub.com.

Bradley University offers a competitive benefits package including health, dental, vision, life and disability coverages, FSA, HSA, and retirement plan options. Bradley also offers significant higher education cost savings for employees and dependents through the Tuition Remission program.

Bradley University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer. The administration, faculty and staff are committed to attracting qualified candidates from underrepresented groups.

COVID Expectations

ALL students, faculty, and staff MUST have received their second dose of a two dose COVID-19 vaccine series or a single dose COVID-19 vaccine. The ONLY exceptions to this will be for those who receive a medical or religious exemption for vaccination. However, please note, individual programs may require you to be vaccinated to meet their requirements. We recognize the challenges and need for clarity in this ever-changing environment. Please visit the Bradley Unite website for full policy details.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/12/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10679

Swarthmore College

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science - American Politics

The Department of Political Science at Swarthmore College invites applications for a tenure-track position in American politics at the rank of Assistant Professor to begin in the fall semester of 2023. We are particularly interested in candidates with the ability to teach a course in law and society, the courts and American politics, or constitutional law. The course load is four courses a year. More information about the Political Science Department can be found here: <https://www.swarthmore.edu/departments-political-science>

Located in the suburbs of Philadelphia and near Wilmington DE, Swarthmore College is a highly selective liberal arts college whose mission combines academic rigor with social responsibility. Swarthmore has a strong institutional commitment to diversity, and actively seeks and welcomes applications from candidates with exceptional qualifications, particularly those with demonstrable commitments to a more inclusive society and world. Applicants from traditionally underrepresented groups are strongly encouraged to apply. For more information on Faculty Diversity and Excellence at Swarthmore, see <http://www.swarthmore.edu/faculty-diversity-excellence/information-candidates-new-faculty>

Qualifications

The successful candidate will have a PhD in political science in hand by August 2023. Candidates must demonstrate excellence in undergraduate teaching as well as research.

The strongest candidates will demonstrate an active research program and a commitment to creative teaching that can speak to, and motivate, undergraduates from diverse backgrounds.

Application Instructions

Applicants should submit: (1) a cover letter that briefly describes why they want to teach Swarthmore College students, as well as a description of their research agenda; (2) a writing sample of not more than 40 pages; (3) two syllabi (one for an introductory course in American politics, and one for an upper-level course in American politics), which represent an important part of the application; (4) a C.V.; (5) a graduate school transcript; and (6) three letters of recommendation. These materials should be submitted through Interfolio apply.interfolio.com/107901.

The deadline for applications is September 20, 2022.

Effective July 21, 2021, Swarthmore is requiring all new employees to show proof of being fully vaccinated by their start date, unless they have an approved medical or religious exemption. For more information about Swarthmore's vaccine requirements, please visit the Swarthmore COVID-19 Response website.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 9/20/2022

Date Posted: 8/3/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10591

Occidental College

Rank: Assistant Professor of Urban Policy and Politics

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Public Law, Public Administration

The Urban & Environmental Policy Department at Occidental College invites applications for a teacher and scholar at the Assistant Professor level in Urban Policy and Politics, with a focus on Community Organizing, Labor Studies, Urban Political Economy, and/or Public Policy. The position will begin August 2023.

We are interested in candidates who understand urban and environmental problems as deeply linked, and whose research and teaching examine issues of economic and social inequalities, labor and community organizing, and the social, economic, racial, and gender dimensions of workplaces and the labor market. We are interested in candidates whose work considers the role of politics and policymaking at local, state, and national levels, and the challenges faced by policymakers to address existing inequities while also finding sustainable, and democratic solutions to environmental and economic injustice. We seek a scholar who approaches their work through interdisciplinary analysis and considers the role of labor and community organizing as an important response to and strategy to address inequality and to advance social justice..

Occidental faculty are committed teacher-scholars who bring research and creative discovery to life for students in classrooms, labs, studios, and mentored projects. They teach broadly in the curricula of their departments, advise students, carry out research and creative work, and provide departmental, college-wide, and external service. The primary responsibilities of the selected candidate will include the development and teaching of introductory and core courses in the discipline, including courses in your area(s) of specialization. Specific courses that include the introductory level department course (UEP 101), Community Organizing and Leadership, Community Internship/Practicum; and Urban Politics and Policy; ; the senior comprehensive seminar; and a college-wide first year seminar as well as as well as developing new courses in Labor Studies and Public Policy Analysis. and/or a new course in their own area of expertise. The candidate will also be responsible for producing scholarship commensurate with the requirements for tenure and will be expected to develop a program of research that engages undergraduate students. Incoming faculty will be expected to contribute to and participate in the life and development of the department, advise students, serve on committees, and participate in the broader college and disciplinary communities.

We invite candidates from a range of disciplines, including sociology, political science, social work, social welfare, labor studies, urban planning, geography, applied economics, law, and public policy. In particular, we seek candidates with emphases from a range of disciplines in subfields of: race, gender, and work; urban politics; community organizing; and labor and globalization. Candidates are expected to hold the Ph.D. degree or terminal degree in their field, and must have completed or be completing their doctorate by fall 2023.

We are open to considering non-traditional candidates with extensive professional and community experience as well as a demonstrated record of research and teaching experience but who may not have a Ph.D. or other terminal degree but would prioritize engagement with students while bringing their extensive field experience into the academy.

Required Qualifications

demonstrated commitment to and excellence in undergraduate teaching. We seek an effective and engaged teacher able to explain the relationships between local and global aspects of our urban problems and how policy practitioners, advocates and researchers, along with government officials, can create practical solutions at the community, local, state, national, and global levels, and teach students to understand and apply ideas about urban politics and political economy, including issues of race, place, poverty, inequality, and policy in the context of a global political economy.

a strong record of scholarly accomplishments appropriate to the level of appointment or demonstration of applied research and written policy analyses for nontraditional candidates; an existing research program with a plan to integrate undergraduate students into their research.

demonstrated experience in a range of practices (advocacy, community organizing, government, community engaged research, and public service) with preference for experience working on how policy and organizing impacts marginalized, low-income, and communities of color.

demonstrated experience in working collaboratively with colleagues demonstrated potential for effective integration of technology into instruction

demonstrated commitment to working effectively with students from minoritized and marginalized social groups

ability to balance excellent teaching, scholarship, and service

demonstrated commitment to the four cornerstones of the mission of the College: excellence, equity, community, and service contribution to community engaged teaching and research, a central priority of the College's strategic plan.

Preferred Qualifications

experience working collaboratively with local community organizations

industry experience

Application Submission Materials

You must submit a complete application package electronically to be considered. To apply, please send the following required materials to UEPurbansearch@oxy.edu:

Cover Letter in which you respond to the required and preferred (if applicable) qualifications

Curriculum Vitae

Research Statement

Teaching Philosophy Statement

Commitment to Inclusive Excellence Statement

This statement provides your unique perspective on your past and present contributions to and future aspirations for promoting justice, equity, inclusion, and diversity in your professional career. This should include your demonstrated commitment to, past evidence of, and future plans for creating equitable opportunities for learning and mentoring especially for students from marginalized and minoritized groups. The purpose of this statement is to help the department identify candidates who have professional experience, intellectual commitments, and/or willingness to engage in activities that could help the College contribute to its mission in these areas.

List of three references with relevant contact information

If you advance to the finalist phase, you will be asked to have each of your three references submit a letter of recommendation. Please have these ready for the referents to submit should you move forward to this phase of the search. Do not submit these letters with your initial application.

Upon receipt of a complete application package, you will receive a preliminary questionnaire. You must complete this questionnaire to move forward in the search process.

Please direct all questions about the position to: UEPurbansearch@oxy.edu

Application Deadline

To be assured full consideration, your application materials must be received by October 3, 2022.

The Department and College

The Urban and Environmental Policy Department is unique among liberal arts colleges. Many liberal arts colleges have urban studies, public policy, or environmental studies programs. Occidental's UEP major integrates each of these disciplines into a single interdisciplinary major, one that is uniquely situated in a liberal arts college located in the dynamic city of Los Angeles.

UEP is an interdisciplinary program that has multiple goals for student learning outcomes: critical thinking; writing and speaking skills; recognition and capacity to engage in policy development; knowledge about diverse communities and institutions; and an ability to translate what the students learn into a path for future learning and career development.

Our curriculum includes a heavy emphasis on writing and presentations, a strong focus on original research, including applied and policy-relevant research, community-engaged and client-based projects, and multiple strategies for community engagement, including community engaged research, internship requirements and opportunities in Los Angeles and beyond, and classes geared to providing an understanding of the policy process, with a focus on cities and the process of urbanization.

Oxy's location in urban Los Angeles sets it apart from other liberal arts colleges, most located outside of cities in more rural or suburban locations. UEP and the College has centered Oxy's Los Angeles location as critical to its curriculum. Our presence in Los Angeles offers the perfect setting for integrating the study of urban and environmental issues.

Finally, the Urban & Environmental Policy Institute (UEPI), our research, policy, and advocacy institute, mirrors our UEP major as a campus-wide center for community engagement, research, and advocacy. Through private foundation and government grants, UEPI has conducted research, engaged in policy analysis, and participated in advocacy efforts that have made a major difference in Los Angeles and around the country for over 15 years. UEPI has a professional research and program staff who develop programs and initiatives in the community that provide opportunities for all Oxy students to conduct research, study policy, and participate in advocacy. In the past four years more than 350 students from multiple majors across campus have participated in UEPI-funded projects. UEPI staff members bring professional degrees and experience to the classroom and have taught several UEP courses and advised, mentored, and provided research assistance to dozens of Oxy students – both UEP and non-UEP majors. Thus, UEPI has had a significant impact on the College's mission in terms of both classroom teaching and undergraduate research.

Additional Information

Occidental is an Equal Opportunity Employer and does not unlawfully discriminate against employees or applicants on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, gender expression, pregnancy, breastfeeding or related medical condition, national origin, ancestry, citizenship, age, marital status, physical disability, mental disability, medical condition, genetic characteristic or information, military and veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by state or federal law. Occidental is strongly committed to increasing the diversity of the campus community and the curriculum, and to fostering an inclusive, equitable, and just environment within which students, staff, administrators, and faculty thrive. Candidates who can contribute to this goal through their teaching, research, advising, and other activities are encouraged to identify their strengths and experiences in this area. Individuals advancing the College's strategic equity and justice goals and those from groups whose underrepresentation in the American professoriate has been severe and longstanding are particularly encouraged to apply.

Salary is commensurate with experience and qualifications. Moving expense reimbursement (up to $5000, taxable according to current IRS regulations), start-up funds, and a one-course reduction of teaching load in the first year are provided. A comprehensive benefits package is available that includes: excellent health, dental, life, and retirement benefits; tuition benefits for the employee, spouse, domestic partner, and dependents; additional extras including use of gym facilities and the College Library. For a detailed description of benefits, please visit <https://www.oxy.edu/offices-services/human-resources/benefits-information>.

All qualified applicants will be considered for employment, including those with criminal histories, in a manner consistent with the requirements of applicable state and local laws, including the City of Los Angeles' Fair Chance Initiative for Hiring Ordinance.

Occidental College is committed to working with and providing reasonable accommodations to applicants with qualifying disabilities. If you need a reasonable accommodation because of a disability for any part of the application or employment process, please contact Human Resources (hr@oxy.edu).

Start Date: Fall 2023
Application Deadline: 10/3/2022
Date Posted: 7/29/2022
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 10561

Alfred University

Rank: Assistant Professor, Tenure Track: Political Science and Government

Subfield(s): Political Theory, American Government and Politics, Public Law

Specializations: Africa, Gender Politics & Policy, Social Welfare

The Division of Social Sciences in the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences at Alfred University invites applications for a tenure-track position in political science at the rank of Assistant Professor to begin Fall 2023.

We are seeking someone to teach standard introductory-level and upper-division courses on topics that will interest a broad range of students. Along with courses in their area(s) of interest, the successful candidate will regularly teach our introductory course in American politics and courses in judicial processes and constitutional law. We will give preference to applicants who can teach political theory, identity politics, and/or political institutions such as the presidency and bureaucracy. Candidates with a demonstrated interest in interdisciplinary programs such as Women's and Gender Studies, Social Justice Studies, or Africana Studies are strongly encouraged to apply. We require applicants to have a Ph.D. in political science prior to appointment.

The Division of Social Sciences, which includes political science, sociology, criminal justice studies, and anthropology, is particularly interested in developing interdisciplinary collaborative courses, innovative technologies, and experiential learning. The successful candidate will teach three courses (four credit hours each) per semester. Additional teaching opportunities in the summer and winter breaks are available.

One of the first co-educational institutions in the United States, Alfred University is a top-ranked, small, comprehensive university committed to teaching and research and devoted to pursuing technical expertise, artistic creativity, and humanistic learning. Located in the foothills of the Allegheny Mountains in western New York State, Alfred University has around 1800 full and part-time undergraduate and graduate students and 150 fulltime faculty. In 2003, the University was awarded a Phi Beta Kappa chapter.

To apply submit the following materials:

- letter of interest
- curriculum vitae
- graduate transcripts
- Candidates should also have three references send their confidential letters

of recommendation to humanresources@alfred.edu

We will begin reviewing applications on September 15th and continue until the position is filled. Application materials should highlight the candidate's experience in or plans for promoting diversity, equity, and inclusion through teaching, research, and service.

Please apply here: <https://alfreduniversity.applytojob.com/apply/7GYyflueG/Assistant-Professor-Tenure-Track-Political-Science-And-Government>

Start Date: Fall 2023
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 7/20/2022
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 10507

Lehigh University

Rank: Assistant Professor - Constitutional Law/Public Law

The Department of Political Science at Lehigh University is seeking applications for a full-time, tenure-track faculty position at the rank of Assistant Professor, beginning in August 2023. The successful candidate will possess a doctoral degree in Political Science or related field by the date of hire and contribute to research and teaching in constitutional law and public law. The teaching load for this position is two four-credit courses per semester.

Applicants should submit the following: a letter of interest that includes how they will contribute to a diverse and equitable community, curriculum vitae, a research statement, a teaching statement and the contact information for three professional references via Academic Jobs Online.

Serving approximately 110 undergraduate majors and 20 graduate students, the Department of Political Science offers a B.A. and M.A. degree as well as a Master of Public Policy. Interested applicants are invited to visit the Department of Political Science website: <https://polisci.cas.lehigh.edu/>

Founded in 1865, Lehigh University has combined outstanding academic and learning opportunities with leadership in fostering innovative research. Recognized among the nation's highly ranked research universities, Lehigh offers a rigorous academic community for nearly 7,000 students. Lehigh University has some 5,000 undergraduates, 2,000 graduate students, and about 550 full-time faculty members. Lehigh University is located in Bethlehem, PA., a vibrant and historic area. Over 820,000 people live in the Lehigh Valley, which is in close proximity to New York City and Philadelphia. Lehigh University ranks in the top 50 among national universities in U.S. News & World Report ratings and is in the most competitive category in both Peterson's Guide and Barron's Profiles of American Colleges. The university is located on a scenic, 1,600-acre campus in historic Bethlehem in a region of eastern Pennsylvania (USA) known as the Lehigh Valley. About 90 minutes from New York and Philadelphia, the Lehigh Valley is an attractive place to live and work with reasonable cost of living, easy commuting, good schools, and abundant cultural activities.

Lehigh University is an affirmative action/equal opportunity employer and does not discriminate on the basis of age, color, disability, gender, gender identity, genetic information, marital status, national or ethnic origin, race, religion, sexual orientation, or veteran status. We are committed to increasing the diversity of the campus community. Lehigh University is committed to a culturally and intellectually diverse academic community and is especially interested in candidates who can contribute, through their research, teaching and/or service, to this mission. Lehigh University is the recipient of an NSF ADVANCE Institutional Transformation award for promoting the careers of women in academic sciences and engineering <http://www.lehigh.edu/> luadvance/ and is among institutions of higher education recognized for excellence in diversity with the INSIGHT into Diversity HEED Award. Additional information about Lehigh's commitment to diversity and inclusion is available at <https://diversityandinclusion.lehigh.edu/>. Lehigh University provides competitive salaries and comprehensive benefits, including domestic partner benefits. More information about Work/Life Balance for Faculty can be found at: <https://www.lehigh.edu/~inprv/faculty/worklifebalance.html> Lehigh University supports dual career efforts for following spouses/partners of newly hired faculty. Learn more about Dual Career Assistance at: <https://www.lehigh.edu/~inprv/faculty/dualcareer.html>.

The deadline for all applications is October 1, 2022. Questions about this position should be directed to the search committee chair, Professor Laura Katz Olson, at lko1@lehigh.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2023
Application Deadline: 10/1/2022
Date Posted: 7/12/2022
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 10486

Miami University

Rank: Assistant Professor in Public Law and/or Judicial Politics
Specializations: Judicial Politics, Civil Rights & Liberties, Constitutional Law & Theory

Assistant Professor in Public Law and/or Judicial Politics to teach courses in American politics, constitutional law, civil rights and liberties, racial politics and law, and elective curriculum for the undergraduate major and courses for the MA program; advise students; conduct relevant research leading to a record of published scholarship; and provide institutional and professional service. The position will begin in the start of the academic year August 2023.

Required: Doctorate in political science, or a closely related field completed by December 31, 2023 for re-appointment to a second year.

Submit letter of interest, curriculum vitae, evidence of teaching effectiveness, teaching philosophy, statement of research plans, transcripts, writing sample, and a one-page diversity statement addressing past and/or potential contributions to advancing diversity, equity, and inclusion through research, teaching, and/or service to <https://jobs.miamioh.edu/cw/en-us/job/500454/assistant-professor-public-law-and-judicial-politics>. Department will request letters of recommendation from references listed in the application. Inquiries may be addressed to Dr. Bryan Marshall at marshabw@miamioh.edu. Screening of applications will begin September 9, 2022 and will continue until the position is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2023
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 6/29/2022
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 10452

Occidental College

Rank: Part Time Non Tenure Track Faculty Instructor

Occidental College's Politics Department is seeking candidates for a non-tenure track faculty position to teach two companion law courses in the Spring 2023 semester. The first, "Lawyering for Social Justice," is a seminar on public interest law. The second, "Community Law Internship," involves preparing students for and placing them (all undergraduates) in internships with a variety of public interest law firms and nonprofit advocacy groups in the Los Angeles area. Students take both courses together. The internships take place at organizations engaged in public interest law and students' internships are a minimum of 12 hours each week, arranged at mutually convenient times. The seminar meets three hours per week and provides in-class instruction that scaffolds the internships. The instructor supports students in finding and navigating their internships and leads the seminar that provides a practical, academic, and/or legal context for the internship experience. Many students will be contemplating attending law school, but this is not the major goal of these courses.

Start Date: Spring 2023
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 5/26/2022
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 10381

University of Kentucky

Rank: Post-Doctoral Scholar in Political Science
Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Law, Public Policy
Specializations: Constitutional Law & Theory, Civil Rights & Liberties, American Politics

The Department of Political Science at the University of Kentucky in Lexington, KY, invites applications for a teaching post-doc position focused on American Political Institutions with a particular interest in law and courts. We are particularly interested in candidates who can contribute to the diversity and inclusion mission of the department. This position will begin August 1, 2022. Applicants are expected to teach a 2/3 load and design at least one new course in the area of Legal Studies.

Applicants should show strong potential to provide effective undergraduate teaching and have a Ph.D. in Political Science in hand by August 2022.

Applicants should submit the following: 1) curriculum vitae, 2) letter stating the candidate's research and teaching interests (uploaded as Cover Letter), 3) copy of transcript for highest degree earned, 4) evidence of teaching experience, particularly syllabi from courses taught (uploaded as specific request 1). Provide the names and contact information for three references when prompted in the academic profile. This information will be used to solicit recommendation letters from your references within the employment system.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 5/9/2022
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 10339

University of Kentucky

Rank: Post-Doctoral Scholar in Political Science
Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Public Law

The Department of Political Science at the University of Kentucky in Lexington, KY, invites applications for a teaching post-doc position in International Relations or Comparative Politics with particular interest in international organizations, international law, and/or comparative judicial politics. We are particularly interested in candidates who can contribute to the diversity and inclusion mission of the department. The position will begin August 1, 2022. Applicants are expected to teach a 2/3 load and design at least one new course in the area of Legal Studies.

Applicants should show strong potential to provide effective undergraduate teaching and have a Ph.D. in Political Science in hand by August 2022.

Applicants should submit the following: 1) curriculum vitae, 2) letter stating the candidate's research and teaching interests (uploaded as Cover Letter), 3) copy of transcript for highest degree earned, 4) evidence of teaching experience, particularly syllabi from courses taught (uploaded as specific request 1). Provide the names and contact information for three references when prompted in the academic profile. This information will be used to solicit recommendation letters from your references within the employment system.

Start Date: Fall 2022

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 5/9/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10340

University of New Orleans

Rank: Associate Professor or Assistant Professor

POLITICAL SCIENCE ASSOCIATE OR ASSISTANT PROFESSOR IN PUBLIC LAW

Tenure-Track

The University of New Orleans is a welcoming and inclusive university in one of America's most diverse and culturally vibrant cities.

Is This The Right Job For You?

? This Associate or Assistant Professor of Political Science in the field of Public Law is a great opportunity to continue the growth and success of your career in a Political Science Department that has long been recognized as expert in New Orleans and the region.

? The Department offers two degrees, a BA in Political Science and Master of Public Administration. The MPA program is professionally accredited by NASPAA (Network of Schools of Public Policy, Affairs, and Administration).

? We also contribute to UNO's interdisciplinary PhD in Justice program, which has four concentrations: social justice, criminal justice, environmental justice, and educational justice.

? You will enjoy a city with unmatched history, culture, and character. If you want to learn more, these quotes by well-known authors are a great place to start - <https://www.goodreads.com/quotes/tag/new-orleans>.

About Us

- Located on the southern shore of Lake Pontchartrain, only 15 minutes from the French Quarter, the University of New Orleans occupies a 195-acre campus in one of the finest residential areas of the city.
- UNO is ranked Top 50 in the Nation for Social Mobility by U.S. News & World Report.
- The Brookings Institution ranked UNO third in the nation for providing equal access to higher education for students from all income levels.

- For years, UNO has appeared on U.S. News & World Report's least debt list (schools whose graduates have the least amount of debt) among national universities.

UNO Welcomes Job Applicants from Diverse Backgrounds

Founded in 1958, the University of New Orleans was the first integrated university to open in the South. Given its history of educational access for all, UNO is committed to fostering diversity, equity, and inclusion - core values that inform all we do.

Job Summary

- Teach both undergraduate and graduate courses. Typical teaching load is three courses per semester.
- Contribute to our Master of Public Administration program (Law and Ethics) and our interdisciplinary Ph.D. program in Justice Studies.
- Serve as pre-law advisor.

Required Qualifications

- Candidates should have PhD in hand or close to completion in Political Science, Public Law, or related field.
- Excellent classroom presentation skills.
- Evidence of research productivity at the Associate Professor rank, or evidence of potential for research productivity at the Assistant Professor rank, should be provided.

Desired Qualifications

- Although not required, the ideal candidate will have the ability to teach courses in research methods.
- Although not required, the ideal candidate will also have a J.D.

Salary

Salary range is $62,000 to $80,000 commensurate with experience and rank.

Position Will Remain Open Until Filled

Desired starting date for the successful candidate is fall 2022. Review of applications will begin April 14, 2022, but the position will remain open until filled.

APPLY at <https://www.uno.edu/careers>

The University of New Orleans is an Equal Employment Opportunity and Affirmative Action employer.

Start Date: Fall 2022

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 3/31/2022

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 10249

University of Louisiana at Lafayette

Rank: ASSISTANT PROFESSOR OF POLITICAL SCIENCE: PUBLIC LAW (TENURE-TRACK)

Subfield(s): Public Law, American Government and Politics, Open
Specializations: Constitutional Law & Theory, Civil Rights & Liberties, Judicial Politics

The Department of Political Science seeks applications for a tenure track appointment at the rank of Assistant Professor beginning August 2022. A robust academic record with a teaching specialization in U.S. Public Law is necessary. Successful candidates will be an active educator in their field, with a standard teaching load of three courses per semester. The successful candidate will teach introductory sections of American National Government and upper division pre-law courses in support of the Department of Political Science's Pre-Law Concentration, which is a practically-focused law school preparation curriculum, and which comprises roughly half of the department's majors. The successful candidate will also assist other pre-law faculty in offering required Pre-Law courses such as Introduction to Law & Legal Reasoning, Constitutional Law, Civil Rights Law, and/or Civil Liberties, as well as offer new pre-law courses of the candidate's choosing and design. In addition to teaching these courses via the traditional face-to-face method, the candidate must be willing to develop and teach some of these courses as online and/or hybrid courses. The successful candidate will also share in the department's advising and service responsibilities and will work with colleagues to assess and improve curricula, conduct research and/or creative works such as publications and other scholarship in their respective area of specialization, and demonstrate institutional citizenship through active engagement at the department, college, university, public, and professional communities.

To apply for this, access the University of Louisiana at Lafayette Human Resources page here: <https://louisiana.csod.com/ux/ats/careersite/1/home/requisition/1720?c=louisiana>

Start Date: Fall 2022

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 3/16/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10203

PUBLIC POLICY

Duke University

Rank: Assistant/Associate Professor of Ethics and Public Policy

The Sanford School of Public Policy at Duke University seeks to hire a tenure-line faculty member with a focus on ethics and public policy at the rank of assistant or associate professor. This faculty member will hold the inaugural Bruce Payne Chair in the Sanford School.

The Payne Chair will have academic training and an established track record of research and teaching at the intersection of ethics and public policy. The ideal candidate will also have demonstrated expertise in technology ethics. Possible areas of emphasis include privacy, data bias, algorithmic systems, structural inequalities in technology access, or the democratic or societal implications of technological change. The Payne Chair would also potentially play a leadership role in the design and coordination of the Sanford School's core curriculum courses in ethics.

Candidates should be able to teach courses in their area of specialization and core courses in the Sanford curriculum such as Policy Choice as Value Conflict, Ethics of Public Policymaking, and Organizational Ethics. Applicants must have a Ph.D. in a policy and ethics-relevant discipline such as political science, philosophy, or science and technology studies, and a record of (or demonstrated capacity for) scholarly publication, public engagement, and excellence in teaching.

The Sanford School includes an interdisciplinary full-time faculty of almost 70 and offers an undergraduate major, four Masters programs, and a Ph.D. program. The Sanford School houses several research centers and offers degree-related programs and opportunities in Washington, China, Scotland, London and Geneva. More information on the Sanford School can be found at <https://www.sanford.duke.edu>.

Candidates should submit a letter of application that describes their research and teaching interests and experiences, and that includes a brief statement addressing how they foster an equitable and inclusive learning and research environment; a CV; writing sample; and names and contact information for three references. These materials should be submitted via the following website: <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/22460>

Applications submitted by September 30th will be guaranteed full consideration. For further information, contact Jennifer Siegel, search committee chair, at j.siegel@duke.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 9/30/2022

Date Posted: 9/1/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10825

National University of Singapore

Rank: Assistant Professor - Public Administration/Public Management/Public Policy/Political Science

Assistant Professor - Public Administration/Public Management/Public Policy/Political Science, Lee Kuan Yew School of Public Policy, National University of Singapore

Job Description

The Lee Kuan Yew School of Public Policy (LKYSPP), National University of Singapore, invites applications for multiple tenure track Assistant Professor appointments. Applicants are expected to have research and teaching expertise in the fields of public policy, public administration, and/or public management of particular interest are scholars whose research and teaching focuses on Public Management, Leadership, and Ethics; Law, Regulation, and Governance of Emerging Technologies; Decentralization, Urbanization, and Local Government; Bureaucracies, Public Finance, and Policy Processes; and Data Analytics/Science and Public Policy. Scholarship that have applications to Asia, particularly East and Southeast Asia, but speaks to the broader field are welcomed.

The ideal candidate will have:

- a completed PhD by July 2023 in public administration, public management, public policy, political science, or related disciplines
- potential to publish in world class academic research outlets
- ability to teach core and specialized courses in public administration, public management, and public policy
- a willingness and ability to mentor graduate students and supervise graduate degree theses
- a willingness to engage with a wide range of external interests including public bodies, businesses, not-for-profits and research or learning communities.

How to apply

The complete application package should be emailed to the Public Policy Selection Committee at ohrbox46@nus.edu.sg. Please use the subject line "LKYSPP Application Submission" for application submissions and "Application Enquiries" for application-related enquiries.

The application package should include the following in electronic form (MS Word or PDF): 1) a cover letter; 2) a Curriculum Vita;

3) a research statement describing candidate's current research and future agendas; 4) a teaching statement describing candidate's pedagogical beliefs and practices as well as evidence of teaching effectiveness (if any); 5) names, rank and affiliation, and contact information of three referees, and 6) up to 2 of the candidate's best papers or book chapters.

The review of applications will begin in early October 2022 and continue until positions are filled.

About Lee Kuan Yew School of Public Policy

LKYSPP is a leading public policy school in Asia, attracting an internationally diverse, world-class faculty and student body to engage and address the world's most pressing challenges. Its mission is to inspire, improve lives, and take central positions in the policy and governance conversations within Asia and beyond. We do this by working hard on two planks: pursuing academic and intellectual excellence, and crafting lessons for meaningful public policy-making. The school is housed within the National University of Singapore, the highest ranked university in Asia and the 11th in the world.

LKYSPP offers highly competitive research funding, salary, relocation and housing support, and other benefits. The teaching load (typically three per academic year) allows faculty to focus on providing quality instruction while maintaining their research excellence. For more information about the LKY School, please visit www.lkyspp.nus.edu.sg.

Contact Information
BTC HR

Contact Email: ohrbox46@nus.edu.sg

Start Date:

Date Posted: 9/1/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10801

Princeton University

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Associate

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Public Policy

Specializations: Economic Policy, International Political Economy, International Law & Organizations

The Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance (NCGG) at Princeton University's School of Public and International Affairs invites applications for a postdoctoral or more senior research associate position from individuals with a Ph.D. degree or who expect to receive a Ph.D. degree by September 1, 2023, for the 2023-2024 academic year. These awards are designed to promote basic research in the broad areas of international and comparative political economy, international organization and global governance, and globalization. Research on the causes and consequences of globalization, the political economy of foreign trade, monetary and regulatory policies, the sources of international cooperation at the global and regional level, the domestic and international politics of economic development, the political economy of human security issues, the evolution and impact of international institutions, and the politics of international law and human rights policies are of relevance. Outstanding scholars anywhere in the world are eligible to apply. The Center invites candidates with a background in political science, economics, modern history, sociology, anthropology, law, business, and other disciplines bearing on the study of globalization to apply. Selected candidates will be required to be in residence in Princeton or the local vicinity, or demonstrate to the program's satisfaction the ability to be on campus on a daily basis and on short notice in order to fulfill responsibilities relating to in-person participation, office hours, and related activities for the duration of the fellowship (September 1, 2023 - July 1, 2024).

Application Deadline - Applicants should apply by Saturday, November 19, 2022 (11:59 pm EST) for full consideration; however, posting will remain open until filled.

Application Process - All candidates must use the online application process to submit materials at: <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/26881>.

Applicants are required to hold a Ph.D. or expect to receive a Ph.D. degree by September 1, 2023, in one of the above-mentioned disciplines. To apply, please provide the following:

- Cover letter explaining the candidate's scholarly career, prospective or actual doctoral defense date, and academic interests;
- Current curriculum vitae, including publications;
- 2,000-word description of the proposed research project, including its specific objectives, importance, and research design;
- One writing sample (limit of 100 pages);
- Contact information for three references, who will be asked to comment specifically on the applicant's qualifications for the proposed research project. Referees will be contacted directly by email with instructions for submitting a confidential recommendation on your behalf. Letters of reference are to be submitted by the end of business day on Wednesday, November 23, 2022. Complete your application well before the deadline so that references can be submitted on time.

Salary – Rank and salary will be contingent on qualifications. NCGG Fellows will receive applicable Princeton University benefits, a taxable moving allowance, and a $5,000 research fund. This is a one-year appointment.

Successful applicants will be notified of the outcome of their application in February 2023. This position is subject to the University's background check policy.

For more information about the Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance fellowship program, please contact Jennifer Bolton, Assistant Director, at nccg@princeton.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 11/19/2022

Date Posted: 9/1/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10743

Princeton University

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Associate Fellowship Program in Regional Political Economy

The Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance (NCGG) at Princeton University's School of Public and International Affairs invites applications for a postdoctoral or more senior research associate position from individuals with a Ph.D. degree or who expect to receive a Ph.D. degree by September 1, 2023, for the Postdoctoral Fellowship Program in regional political economy for the 2023-2024 academic year. This fellows' program aims to develop a generation of scholars able to analyze and make policy recommendations about the regional political economy in the Middle East, East, South and Southeast Asia, Africa, and Latin America. The Center welcomes applications from candidates with a background in economics, political science, contemporary history, sociology, law, business, and other disciplines bearing on the study of markets, politics, and economic development, focusing on the regions of the Middle East, East, South, or Southeast Asia, Africa and Latin America. Scholarly work should explore the ways in which the politics within and between a set of countries intersect with natural resource endowments, market conditions, technological and physical infrastructure, and cultural biases to explain existing patterns of economic development and promote higher levels of development more effectively. Selected candidates will be required to be in residence in Princeton or the local vicinity, or demonstrate to the program's satisfaction the ability to be on campus on a daily basis and on short notice in order to fulfill responsibilities relating to in-person participation, office hours, and the like for the duration of the fellowship (September 1, 2023 - July 1, 2024).

Application Deadline – Applicants should apply by Monday, December 5, 2022 (11:59 pm EST), for full consideration; however, posting will remain open until filled.

Application Process – All candidates must use the online application process to submit materials at: <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/26904>.

Applicants are required to hold a Ph.D. in one of the above-mentioned disciplines or expect to receive a Ph.D. by September 1, 2023. To apply, please provide the following:

- Cover letter explaining the candidate's scholarly career, prospective or actual doctoral defense date, and academic interests;
- Current curriculum vitae, including publications;
- 2,000-word description of the proposed research project, including its specific objectives, importance, and research design;
- One writing sample (limit of 100 pages);
- Contact information for three references, who will be asked to comment specifically on the applicant's qualifications for the proposed research project. Referees will be contacted directly by email with instructions for submitting a confidential recommendation on your behalf. Letters of reference are to be submitted by the end of business day (5 pm EST) on Thursday, December 8, 2022. Complete your application well before the deadline so that references can be submitted on time.

Salary – Rank and salary will be contingent on qualifications. NCGG Fellows will receive applicable Princeton University benefits, a taxable moving allowance, and a $5,000 research fund. This is a one-year appointment.

Successful applicants will be notified of the outcome of their application in February 2023.

For more information about the Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance fellowship program, please contact Jennifer Bolton, Assistant Director, at necgg@princeton.edu. This position is subject to the University's background check policy.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 12/5/2022

Date Posted: 9/1/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10745

Princeton University

Rank: Visiting Fellowship Program

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Public Policy

Specializations: Economic Policy, International Political Economy, International Law & Organizations

The Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance (NCGG) at Princeton University's School of Public and International Affairs seeks up to eight visitors for the 2023-2024 academic year in the Visiting Fellowship Program. These awards are designed to promote basic research in the broad areas of international and comparative political economy, international organization and global governance, and globalization. Research on the causes and consequences of globalization, the political economy of foreign trade, monetary and regulatory policies, the sources of international cooperation at the global and regional level, the domestic and international politics of economic development, the political economy of human security issues, the evolution and impact of international institutions, and the politics of international law and human rights policies are of relevance.

Outstanding scholars anywhere in the world are eligible to apply. The Center invites candidates with a background in political science, economics, modern history, sociology, anthropology, law, business, and other disciplines bearing on the study of globalization to apply. Fellows will be required to be in residence in Princeton or the local vicinity, or demonstrate to the program's satisfaction the ability to be on campus daily for the duration of the fellowship (September 1, 2023 - July 1, 2024).

Application Deadline – Applicants should apply by Saturday, November 19, 2022 (11:59 pm EST) for full consideration; however, posting will remain open until filled.

Application Process – All candidates must use the online application process to submit materials at: <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/26901>.

Applicants are required to hold a Ph.D. in one of the above-mentioned disciplines. To apply, please provide the following:

- Cover letter explaining the candidate's scholarly career, prospective or actual doctoral defense date, and academic interests;
- Current curriculum vitae, including publications;
- 2,000-word description of the proposed research project, including its specific objectives, importance, and research design;
- One writing sample (limit of 100 pages);
- Contact information for three references, who will be asked to comment specifically on the applicant's qualifications for the proposed research project. Referees will be contacted directly by email with instructions for submitting a confidential recommendation on your behalf. Letters of reference are to be submitted by the end of the business day (5 pm EST) on Wednesday, November 23, 2022. Complete your application well before the deadline so that references can be submitted on time.

Candidates who hold positions at academic institutions may also be required to submit:

- Home institution policy with regard to sabbatical pay;
- Selected candidates will be asked to either submit a confidential statement indicating their salary for the current academic year (September 2022 - July 1, 2023) or provide written authorization for Princeton to confirm their salary.

Salary – Rank and salary will be contingent on qualifications. NCGG Fellows will receive applicable Princeton University benefits, a taxable moving allowance, and a $5,000 research fund.

Successful applicants will be notified of the outcome of their application in February 2023.

For more information about the Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance fellowship program, please contact Jennifer Bolton, Assistant Director, at nccg@princeton.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 11/19/2022

Date Posted: 9/1/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10744

Princeton University

Rank: Visiting Fellowship Program in Regional Political Economy

The Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance (NCGG) at Princeton University's School of Public and International Affairs seeks two or more candidates for the Visiting Fellowship Program in Regional Political Economy for the 2023-2024 academic year. This fellows' program aims to develop a generation of scholars able to analyze and make policy recommendations about the regional political economy in the Middle East, East, South or Southeast Asia, Africa, and Latin America. Candidates with a background in economics, political science, contemporary history, sociology, law, business, and other disciplines bearing on the study of markets, politics, and economic development, focusing on the regions mentioned above, are invited to apply. Scholarly work should explore the ways in which the politics within and between a set of countries intersect with natural resource endowments, market conditions, technological and physical infrastructure, and cultural biases to explain existing patterns of economic development and to promote higher levels of development more effectively. Fellows will be required to be in residence in Princeton or the local vicinity, or demonstrate to the program's satisfaction the ability to be on campus daily and on short notice, to fulfill responsibilities relating to in-person participation for the duration of the fellowship (September 1, 2023 - July 1, 2024).

Application Deadline - Applicants should apply by Monday, December 5, 2022 (11:59 pm EST), for full consideration; however, posting will remain open until filled.

Application Process -All candidates must use the online application process to submit materials at: <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/26903>.

Applicants are required to hold a Ph.D. in one of the above-mentioned disciplines. To apply, please provide the following:

- Cover letter explaining the candidate's scholarly career, prospective or actual doctoral defense date, and academic interests;
- Current curriculum vitae, including publications;
- 2,000-word description of the proposed research project, including its specific objectives, importance, and research design;
- One writing sample (limit of 100 pages);
- Contact information for three references, who will be asked to comment specifically on the applicant's qualifications for the proposed research project. Referees will be contacted directly by email with instructions for submitting a confidential recommendation on your behalf. Letters of reference are to be submitted by the end of the business day (5 pm EST) on Thursday, December 8, 2022. Complete your application well before the deadline so that references can be submitted on time.

Candidates who hold positions at academic institutions may also be required to submit:

- Home institution policy with regard to sabbatical pay;
- Selected candidates will be asked to either submit a confidential statement indicating their salary for the current academic year (September 2022 - July 1, 2023) or provide written authorization for Princeton to confirm their salary.

Salary - Rank and salary will be contingent on qualifications. NCGG Fellows will receive applicable Princeton University benefits, a taxable moving allowance, and a $5,000 research fund. For more information about the Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance fellowship program, please contact Jennifer Bolton, Assistant Director, at nccg@princeton.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 12/5/2022

Date Posted: 9/1/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10746

University of Virginia

Rank: Assistant Professor of Public Policy and Politics, Tenure Track

The Frank Batten School of Leadership and Public Policy at the University of Virginia seeks to fill a tenure-track, Assistant Professor faculty position in public policy and politics with a start date in Fall 2023. We invite applications from candidates who have earned their doctorate in political science, public policy, or related disciplines, with a focus on American Politics. We welcome applicants from all subfields within American politics whose work focuses on the politics affecting U.S. public policies, including but not limited to the bureaucracy, legislative politics, democratic accountability, or state and local government. Candidates who study these topics as they relate to social policy are particularly encouraged to apply.

The successful candidate will demonstrate the ability to produce highly influential scholarship. The successful candidate must have the desire and ability to effectively teach courses on politics, public policy, and leadership at the undergraduate (BA) and graduate (MPP) levels, and a desire and ability to contribute to the Batten mission through service and public outreach and engagement. The successful candidate will be committed to promoting diversity, equity, and inclusion.

While the primary appointment is in the Batten School, a joint/courtesy appointment could be possible in the Politics Department depending on the candidate's interests and qualifications. The Batten School is a dynamic cross-disciplinary school offering highly competitive teaching loads, salaries, and research support. The Batten School is committed to faculty growth, including multiple searches this year.

Built upon the strong foundation of one of the nation's top public universities, the Batten School combines rigorous training in policy analysis with a unique emphasis on the acquisition of leadership skills. The research faculty includes psychologists, economists, and political scientists, and is enriched by professors of practice who bring real-world policymaking expertise to the classroom. The Batten School currently offers an MPP degree and an undergraduate major and minor in public policy and leadership, as well as multiple dual degree programs with other UVA units.

Applications must be received by September 30, 2022, to receive full consideration, after which applications will be considered on a rolling basis.

To apply

Apply online at <https://uva.wd1.myworkdayjobs.com/UVAJobs> Search for requisition R0039915. Complete the application, and upload the following Required materials:

- A curriculum vitae
- Cover letter describing the candidate's interest in the Batten School, as well as research, teaching, and public engagement interests
- Writing Sample
- Research statement
- Teaching statement
- Diversity statement that describes active or potential contributions to diversity-related research, teaching, service, and/or public engagement
- Three letters of recommendation

The candidate should have a PhD, or be on track to attaining the PhD, by August 1, 2023.

 Note: Multiple documents can be uploaded in the CV/Resume box. Incomplete applications that are missing required documents may not be given full consideration.

For questions about the application process, please contact Marcus Rozier, Academic Recruiter, hjv5vm@virginia.edu

COVID Vaccination Requirement and Guidelines
Please visit the UVA COVID-19 Job Requirements and Guidelines webpage prior to applying for current information regarding vaccination requirements and guidelines for employment at UVA.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Date Posted: 9/1/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10828

Tufts University

Rank: Assistant Professor in American Politics (Tenure-Track)

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Policy, Public Policy

Specializations: American Politics, Gender Politics & Policy, Judicial Politics

Description

The Department of Political Science at Tufts University invites applications for a tenure-track position at the Assistant Professor level in American Politics to begin September 1, 2023. We are particularly interested in candidates who specialize in American political institutions, including the legislative, executive, and judicial branches of government. Within that specialization, we are also interested in candidates whose research addresses gender and politics, racial and ethnic politics, public policy, inequality, and state and local politics.

Please contact Administrative Coordinator Jimmy Pavlick at james.pavlick@tufts.edu with questions.

Qualifications

Promise of excellence in scholarship and teaching is required. Teaching duties are two courses per semester. Ph.D. in Political Science, or expectation of completion of degree requirements by appointment date of September 1, 2023.

All offers of employment are contingent upon the completion of a background check and meeting the University's current COVID-19 vaccination requirements.

Interfolio Application Instructions

Submit application materials to Interfolio at apply.interfolio.com/112555

Applications must include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, research and teaching interests statements, three confidential letters of recommendation uploaded directly by recommenders to Interfolio, and a writing sample.

Note that our department is committed to diversity, equity, and inclusion, and candidates should address, across their materials, how they will promote these priorities in their professional careers and teaching. The search committee will begin screening applications on October 1, 2022, and will continue until the position is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/30/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10807

University of California, Berkeley

Rank: Associate/Full Professor - Understanding (Non)Citizenship Cluster - Department of Political Science

Subfield(s): Open, Public Law, Public Policy

Associate/Full Professor - Understanding (Non)Citizenship Cluster - Department of Political Science

Position overview

Anticipated start: 07/01/2023

Application Window

Open August 16, 2022 through Friday, Sep 23, 2022 at 11:59pm (Pacific Time)

If you apply to this recruitment by September 23, 2022, you will have until October 7, 2022 to complete your application.

Position description

The Charles and Louise Travers Department of Political Science in the College of Letters and Science at the University of California, Berkeley invites applications for a full-time tenured Associate or Full Professor faculty position in political science.

Applicants to this position will be appointed in Political Science, however successful candidates' scholarship must speak to and advance the goals of the "Understanding (Non)Citizenship" initiative at the University of California, Berkeley, which aims to hire an interdisciplinary cluster of faculty on this topic over two years. The cluster tackles three overarching themes: issues of justice, fairness and equality as related to (non)citizenship; the determinants and content of (non)citizenship; and the consequences of (non)citizenship. The cluster considers citizenship broadly, as a legal, social and cultural status that combines civil, political and social rights with a sense of identity, encompassing those who lack formal citizenship but also those who experience “second-class” citizenship through differential rights and treatment. Fully understanding (non)citizenship requires an interdisciplinary approach: claims for citizenship and equality are invariably normative, while the consequences and drivers of (non)citizenship must be studied empirically to understand change and effects. For this reason, this innovative cluster of faculty hiring will bring together diverse units in the social sciences, humanities and professional schools across UC-Berkeley. Faculty hired through the Understanding (Non)-Citizenship cluster will hold positions in Philosophy, Political Science, Public Policy, Sociology and Law. In 2022-23, the University seeks applicants for an Assistant Professor position in Philosophy and a tenured (Associate or Full Professor) position in Political Science.

Considering the significant disruptions caused by the Covid-19 pandemic, particularly for disadvantaged groups, in our evaluation of applicants, dips in productivity in otherwise strong records occurring with the onset of the pandemic will be evaluated with the context of the pandemic in mind.

The Charles and Louise Travers Department of Political Science is committed to fostering an environment in which all members of the Berkeley community feel empowered to pursue their educational goals in a welcoming environment. We believe that every individual must be treated with equality and dignity as we work together to ensure the success of students, staff, and faculty. For more information, please visit the department website: <https://polisci.berkeley.edu/>. Additional information about programs and resources supporting the advancement of diversity, equity, inclusion, and belonging is available at: <https://ls.berkeley.edu/about/diversity-equity-and-inclusion> <https://ls.berkeley.edu/ls-divisions/social-sciences/diversity-equity-and-inclusion>

The Charles and Louise Travers Department of Political Science is committed to addressing the family needs of faculty, including dual career couples and single parents. We are also interested in candidates who have had non-traditional career paths or who have taken time off for family reasons, or who have achieved excellence in careers outside academia. For information about potential relocation to Berkeley, or career needs of accompanying partners and spouses, please visit: <http://ofew.berkeley.edu/new-faculty>.

Department: <https://polisci.berkeley.edu/>

Qualifications Basic qualifications (required at time of application) Ph.D. (or equivalent international degree), or enrolled in Ph.D. or equivalent international degree-granting program at the time of application.

Additional qualifications (required at time of start)

Candidates should have tenure or are eligible for tenure at their current institutions.

Preferred qualifications

Preferred candidates should demonstrate the highest standards of professional research, teaching, and service and contribute to our commitment to diversity and equal opportunity in higher education.

Application Requirements Document requirements

- Curriculum Vitae - Your most recently updated C.V.
- Cover Letter
- Statement of Research - Statement of research, including past research accomplishments and proposed research at Berkeley.

- Statement of Teaching and Service - Statement of teaching and service, including prior teaching experience, teaching philosophy, future teaching interests, prior and proposed academic, professional and/or community service.

- Statement on Contributions to Advancing Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion - Statement on your contributions to diversity, equity, and inclusion, including information about your understanding of these topics, your record of activities to date, and your specific plans and goals for advancing equity and inclusion if hired at Berkeley (for additional information go to <https://ofew.berkeley.edu/recruitment/contributions-diversity><https://ofew.berkeley.edu/recruitment/contributions-diversity>).

- Publication/Writing Sample #1 - Journal article, book chapter, dissertation chapter, or other appropriate products.

- Publication/Writing Sample #2 - Journal article, book chapter, dissertation chapter, or other appropriate products. (Optional)

- Publication/Writing Sample #3 - Journal article, book chapter, dissertation chapter, or other appropriate products. (Optional)

Reference requirements

- 3 required (contact information only)

If necessary, letters of reference will solicited at a later stage.

Apply link: <https://apptrkr.com/3348045>

Help contact: knera@berkeley.edu

Campus Information

Diversity, equity, inclusion, and belonging are core values at UC Berkeley. Our excellence can only be fully realized by faculty, students, and academic and non-academic staff who share our commitment to these values. Successful candidates for our academic positions will demonstrate evidence of a commitment to advancing equity, inclusion, and belonging.

The University of California, Berkeley is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability, age, or protected veteran status. For the complete University of California nondiscrimination and affirmative action policy see: <http://policy.ucop.edu/doc/4000376/NondiscrimAffirmAct>

In searches when letters of reference are required all letters will be treated as confidential per University of California policy and California state law. Please refer potential referees, including when letters are provided via a third party (i.e., dossier service or career center), to the UC Berkeley statement of confidentiality (<http://apo.berkeley.edu/ucb-confidentiality-policy>) prior to submitting their letter.

As a condition of employment, you will be required to comply with the University of California SARS-CoV-2 (COVID-19) Vaccination Program Policy. All Covered Individuals under the policy must provide proof of Full Vaccination or, if applicable, submit a request for Exception (based on Medical Exemption, Disability, and/or Religious Objection) or Deferral (based on pregnancy) no later than the applicable deadline. Please refer to Appendix F, Section II.C. of the policy for the deadlines applicable to new University of California employees.

(Capitalized terms in this paragraph are defined in the policy.) Federal, state, or local public health directives may impose additional requirements.

Positions that are represented by a collective bargaining unit or agent have particular contracts. For more information, please refer to the relevant contract: <https://ucnet.universityofcalifornia.edu/labor/bargaining-units/ix/index.html>, <https://ucnet.universityofcalifornia.edu/labor/bargaining-units/px/index.html>, <https://ucnet.universityofcalifornia.edu/labor/bargaining-units/ra/index.html>, and <https://ucnet.universityofcalifornia.edu/labor/bargaining-units/lx/index.html>. Questions about represented positions can be directed to the hiring unit.

Job location Berkeley, CA

To apply, visit <https://aptrkr.com/3348045>

Copyright ©2022 Jobelephant.com Inc. All rights reserved.

<https://www.jobelephant.com/>

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 9/23/2022

Date Posted: 8/30/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10809

University of California, Berkeley

Rank: Assistant/Associate/Full Professor - Business and Public Policy - Haas School of Business

Assistant/Associate/Full Professor - Business and Public Policy - Haas School of Business

Position overview Position titles:

- Assistant Professor, Business and Public Policy
- Assistant Professor, Business and Public Policy
- Associate/Full Professor, Business and Public Policy

Anticipated start: July 1, 2023

Application Window

Open August 20, 2022 through Monday, Nov 28, 2022 at 11:59pm (Pacific Time)

Position description

The Haas School of Business at the University of California, Berkeley invites applications for tenured/tenure-track faculty positions in the Business and Public Policy group. We will fill up to two faculty positions.

We are particularly interested in candidates whose research connects to areas of environmental policy, climate change, and efforts to address climate change. Core themes of the Business and Public Policy group involve political institutions, public policy, norms and values, the law, and the many private and public governance arrangements that shape societal outcomes. We are seeking candidates that deepen and/or complement Berkeley Haas's preexisting strengths in these areas.

The Haas School of Business has an unequivocal commitment to supporting diversity, equity, and inclusion as defined by Berkeley's

Division of Equity & Inclusion: <https://diversity.berkeley.edu/>. Integrating diversity, equity and inclusion (DEI) throughout our organization is essential to our mission as a public university. As a community, we aspire to leverage our unique Berkeley Haas culture <https://haas.berkeley.edu/about/the-haas-difference/our-culture/> to make collective progress toward our objective of being the top business school at equipping students, faculty, staff, and alumni to lead in a diverse world.

Berkeley Haas is committed to addressing the family needs of faculty, including dual career couples and single parents. We are also interested in candidates who have had non-traditional career paths or who have taken time off for family reasons, or who have achieved excellence in careers outside academia. For information about potential relocation to Berkeley, or career needs of accompanying partners and spouses, please visit: <http://ofew.berkeley.edu/new-faculty>.

School: <https://haas.berkeley.edu/>

Qualifications Basic qualifications (required at time of application) Applicants must have a PhD (or equivalent international degree) or be enrolled in a PhD (or equivalent international degree) granting program at the time of application.

Preferred qualifications

We are especially interested in applicants with a PhD in Business, Business and Public Policy, Economics, or other closely related fields. We prefer applicants who currently have a PhD or who have advanced to PhD candidacy and will complete the doctoral degree or equivalent degree within six months of the start date.

Application Requirements by Level Assistant Professor (New/Recent PhD)

Position title: Assistant Professor, Business and Public Policy

Apply Here: Applicants who are new/recent PhDs and/or Post Docs

Document requirements

- Curriculum Vitae - Your most recently updated C.V.
- Job Market Paper
- Statement on Contributions to Advancing Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion - We ask that all applicants include a Statement of Contributions to Diversity, Equity, Inclusion, and Belonging with their application package. For a guide to writing this statement, please visit <https://haas.berkeley.edu/wp-content/uploads/Haas-Faculty-Recruitment-Diversity-Statement-Guide-2022.pdf>
- Statement of Research
- Statement of Teaching
- Teaching Evaluations (Optional)
- Additional Research Paper (Optional)
- Additional Research Paper (Optional)
- Cover Letter (Optional)

Reference requirements

- 3 required (contact information only)

References will only be contacted for candidates under serious consideration and we will seek your permission before doing so.

Apply link: <https://apptrkr.com/3376825>

Assistant Professor (Advanced)

Position title: Assistant Professor, Business and Public Policy

Apply Here: Applicants who currently hold, or have held, a tenure-track faculty position (Assistant Professor or Associate Professor without Tenure)

Document requirements

- Curriculum Vitae - Your most recently updated C.V.
- Job Market Paper
- Statement on Contributions to Advancing Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion - We ask that all applicants include a Statement of Contributions to Diversity, Equity, Inclusion, and Belonging with their application package. For a guide to writing this statement, please visit <https://haas.berkeley.edu/wp-content/uploads/Haas-Faculty-Recruitment-Diversity-Statement-Guide-2022.pdf>
- Statement of Research
- Statement of Teaching
- Teaching Evaluations (Optional)
- Additional Research Paper (Optional)
- Additional Research Paper (Optional)
- Cover Letter (Optional)

Reference requirements

- 3 required (contact information only)

References will only be contacted for candidates under serious consideration and we will seek your permission before doing so.

Apply link: <https://apptrkr.com/3376825>

Associate/Full Professor

Position title: Associate/Full Professor, Business and Public Policy

Apply Here: Applicants who currently hold, or have held, a tenured faculty position (Associate or Full Professor)

Document requirements

- Curriculum Vitae - Your most recently updated C.V.
- Job Market Paper
- Statement on Contributions to Advancing Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion - We ask that all applicants include a Statement of Contributions to Diversity, Equity, Inclusion, and Belonging with their application package. For a guide to writing this statement, please visit <https://haas.berkeley.edu/wp-content/uploads/Haas-Faculty-Recruitment-Diversity-Statement-Guide-2022.pdf>

- Additional Research Paper (Optional)

- Additional Research Paper (Optional)

Reference requirements

- No references required

Apply link: <https://apptrkr.com/3376825>

Help contact: facultyrecruitment@haas.berkeley.edu

Campus Information

Diversity, equity, inclusion, and belonging are core values at UC Berkeley. Our excellence can only be fully realized by faculty, students, and academic and non-academic staff who share our commitment to these values. Successful candidates for our academic positions will demonstrate evidence of a commitment to advancing equity, inclusion, and belonging.

The University of California, Berkeley is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability, age, or protected veteran status. For the complete University of California nondiscrimination and affirmative action policy see: <http://policy.ucop.edu/doc/4000376/NondiscrimAffirmAct>

In searches when letters of reference are required all letters will be treated as confidential per University of California policy and California state law. Please refer potential referees, including when letters are provided via a third party (i.e., dossier service or career center), to the UC Berkeley statement of confidentiality (<http://apo.berkeley.edu/ucb-confidentiality-policy>) prior to submitting their letter.

As a condition of employment, you will be required to comply with the University of California SARS-CoV-2 (COVID-19) Vaccination Program Policy. All Covered Individuals under the policy must provide proof of Full Vaccination or, if applicable, submit a request for Exception (based on Medical Exemption, Disability, and/or Religious Objection) or Deferral (based on pregnancy) no later than the applicable deadline. Please refer to Appendix F, Section II.C. of the policy for the deadlines applicable to new University of California employees. (Capitalized terms in this paragraph are defined in the policy.) Federal, state, or local public health directives may impose additional requirements.

Positions that are represented by a collective bargaining unit or agent have particular contracts. For more information, please refer to the relevant contract: <https://ucnet.universityofcalifornia.edu/labor/bargaining-units/ix/index.html>, <https://ucnet.universityofcalifornia.edu/labor/bargaining-units/px/index.html>, and <https://ucnet.universityofcalifornia.edu/labor/bargaining-units/lx/index.html>. Questions about represented positions can be directed to the hiring unit.

Job location Berkeley, CA

To apply, visit <https://apptrkr.com/3376825>

Copyright ©2022 Jobelephant.com Inc. All rights reserved.

<https://www.jobelephant.com/>

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 11/28/2022
Date Posted: 8/29/2022
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 10800

University of Pennsylvania - Political Science
Rank: Assistant Professor in Environmental/Climate Politics and Policy - Tenure Track
Subfield(s): Public Policy, Public Administration, Political Theory

The Department of Political Science, University of Pennsylvania, in collaboration with Penn's undergraduate program in Philosophy, Politics, and Economics (PPE), invites applications for a tenure-track assistant professor in Political Science whose primary area of interest is environmental/climate politics and policy. The search is open with respect to subfield and disciplinary background. Applicants should have a grounding in the public policy and/or public administration literature within political science and related fields, as well as an active, high-quality research program. Teaching responsibilities in PPE include a core interdisciplinary course, "The Public Policy Process," a senior seminar related to any policy topic, and a third course taught in the political science major.

The appointment will begin on July 1, 2023. A Ph.D. or equivalent degree is expected at the start of the appointment. Candidates should submit a vita, cover letter, research statement, writing sample, and three letters of recommendation to <http://apply.interfolio.com/112085>

Review of applications will begin on September 16th and continue until the line has been filled.

The Department of Political Science is strongly committed to Penn's Action Plan for Faculty Diversity and Excellence and to creating an intellectually vibrant, culturally inclusive, and academically diverse community of faculty, and we welcome applications from scholars of diverse backgrounds and those historically under-represented in the academy (for more information see: <http://www.upenn.edu/almanac/volumes/v58/n02/diversityplan.html>).

The University of Pennsylvania is an Equal Opportunity, Affirmative Action Employer of all protected classes, including veterans and individuals with disabilities. Women, racial and ethnic minorities, individuals with disabilities, and veterans are encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Summer 2023
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/29/2022
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 10797

University of Pennsylvania - Political Science
Rank: Assistant Professor in Political Theory - Tenure Track

The Political Science Department at the University of Pennsylvania seeks applications for a tenure-track assistant professor position in Political Theory. The search is open with regard to specialization in the subfield. Candidates with wide-ranging research agendas on such topics as justice, freedom, liberation, power, and various forms of inequality such as race, gender, class, and sexuality are especially encouraged to apply. We particularly seek candidates with a strong commitment to teaching and to a scholarly community shaped by values of excellence and diversity.

The appointment will begin on July 1, 2023. A Ph.D. or equivalent degree is expected at the start of the appointment. Candidates should submit a vita, cover letter, research statement, writing sample, and three letters of recommendation to <http://apply.interfolio.com/112084>

Review of applications will begin on September 30th and continue until the line has been filled.

The Department of Political Science is strongly committed to Penn's Action Plan for Faculty Diversity and Excellence and to creating an intellectually vibrant, culturally inclusive, and academically diverse community of faculty, and we welcome applications from scholars of diverse backgrounds and those historically under-represented in the academy (for more information see: <http://www.upenn.edu/almanac/volumes/v58/n02/diversityplan.html>).

The University of Pennsylvania is an Equal Opportunity, Affirmative Action Employer of all protected classes, including veterans and individuals with disabilities. Women, racial and ethnic minorities, individuals with disabilities, and veterans are encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Summer 2023
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/29/2022
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 10796

University of Texas, Austin
Rank: Electoral and Legislative Processes and Bureaucratic Politics
Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Administration, Public Policy
Specializations: American Politics, Electoral Systems, Bureaucracy & Organizational Behavior

The Lyndon B. Johnson School of Public Affairs at the University of Texas at Austin ("LBJ School") invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant or Associate Professor of Political Science –American Politics to begin in Fall of academic year 2023-24 (with an August 2023 start date). One of the nation's top ten programs in public affairs, the LBJ School is seeking to strengthen its faculty in policy adoption and implementation. The LBJ School comprises more than 40 faculty members and approximately 300 graduate students, and offers multi-disciplinary curricula leading to the degrees of Master of Public Affairs, Master of Global Policy Studies, and Ph.D. in Public Policy.

The appointee will teach courses focused on either policy adoption or implementation from the perspective of Electoral and Legislative Processes, Bureaucratic Politics & Organization and Public Administration to Master's and Doctoral students in Public Affairs and possible undergraduates. They will also teach political science-focused courses related to a field of public policy. The appointee's research will have direct relevance to public policy. The appointee will conduct and publish scholarly research and seek grant opportunities in support of their research and/or teaching activities. The appointee will participate in faculty governance in the LBJ School.

Qualifications
A Ph.D. in Political Science or a related field with an emphasis in American Politics is required. ABD candidates will be considered if the doctoral degree will be complete by the time of employment.

Experience in college teaching and evidence of scholarship or scholarly potential is preferred.

Application Instructions

Interested candidates can submit their cover letter, CV, statement of teaching, DEI statement, three letters of reference, and job market paper via Interfolio. Questions about the position can be directed to Taya Kitaysky at taya.kitaysky@austin.utexas.edu.

APPLY VIA INTERFOLIO: <https://faculty.utexas.edu/career/100151>

The search committee will begin considering applications September 15th. The position will remain open until filled.

The LBJ School has robust graduate programs and is committed to a diverse and inclusive working and learning environment and is seeking candidates whose research, teaching, and service has prepared them to contribute to our commitment to diversity, inclusivity and excellence. Candidates who are currently or will potentially make outstanding contributions to the diversification of their scholarly fields and/or institutions of higher education are especially encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/26/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10790

Princeton University

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Associate/Senior Researcher

The School of Public and International Affairs and the Department of Politics at Princeton University, invites applications for a Postdoctoral Research Associate or more senior researcher. They will work with Professor Saad Gulzar. Professor Gulzar conducts research employing field and natural experimental methods to understand the determinants and impacts of representative government on policy. Gulzar and his research collaborators bring new evidence to policy challenges that political parties, bureaucrats, and government agencies navigate.

Position

The researcher will join Professor Saad Gulzar's team to collaborate on new and on-going projects related to political economy, development, and environment related topics, with some focus on South Asia. The principal job of the researcher will be to conduct rigorous quantitative analyses using advanced methods of causal inference, and to design and implement experimental studies with policy partners. The postdoctoral associate will be involved in all aspects of the research, including identification, design, data acquisition, data analysis, interpretation of results, and writing reports, grants, and academic papers. They will have the opportunity to co-author papers, reporting on the results of the studies. While the majority of the researcher's time will be dedicated to collaborative projects, there will also be time set aside for independent research.

The position is offered for one year, with the possibility of renewal, contingent upon funding and satisfactory performance. The start date is flexible: the researcher can begin in January 2023 or summer 2023. Salary is competitive and benefits are provided.

Qualifications

The researcher will have completed a Ph.D. – Political Science, Economics, Computer Science are preferred. Applications are welcome from recent PhDs and PhD students who will earn their degree soon after starting the position. They should have a range of statistical and data skills including graduate-level knowledge of program evaluation methods, data management, and data analysis; advanced proficiency in one or more of the following programming languages Stata, R, Python; experience with high performance computing such as a university cluster computer will be useful; experience in running and analyzing field experiments and/or conducting quasi-experimental program evaluations are useful; knowledge of and familiarity with the political economy of development and/or knowledge and familiarity with the political economy of environment are desired; and the ability to use a South Asian language other than English are also valued. This position is subject to the University's background check policy. The position is open to non-U.S. citizens and work authorization in the U.S. is not required.

How to submit an application?

Applications should include a cover letter, CV, graduate school transcripts, and a writing sample. In addition to research interests, please include a short description of technical/technological expertise, experience with particular research designs, as well as experience of working in a collaborative research environment in the cover letter. Letters of recommendation will be requested from shortlisted candidates. Additional papers may be requested at a later date. Applicants should be prepared to complete a research design and data analysis exercise as part of the interview process. For questions about the position, contact Prof. Saad Gulzar at gulzar@princeton.edu. The submission must be online via <https://puwebp.princeton.edu/AcadHire/apply/application.xhtml?listingId=27261>. We will begin processing applications on Sep 20, 2022, but applications may continue to be considered after the deadline.

We at the School of Public and International Affairs believe that it is vital to cultivate an environment that embraces and promotes diversity, equity and inclusion - fundamental to the success of our education and research mission. This commitment to diversity informs our efforts in recruitment and hiring as we actively seek colleagues of exceptional ability who represent a broad range of viewpoints, experiences and value systems, and who share Princeton University's dedication to excellence.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 9/27/2022

Date Posted: 8/25/2022

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 10774

University of Chicago

Rank: Assistant Professor - Political Science/Political Economy

The Harris School of Public Policy at the University of Chicago invites applications for tenure-track faculty positions in Political Science or Political Economy at the Assistant Professor level. The search is open with respect to subfield. Applicants are expected to complete a Ph.D. by July 31, 2023 and demonstrate strong promise for a scholarly career.

To apply for this position, candidates must submit their application through the University of Chicago's Interfolio academic job board at: apply.interfolio.com/112309. Applicants are required to submit: 1) curriculum vitae, 2) two letters of recommendation, 3) one writing sample, 4) research statement, 5) teaching statement, and 6) no more than one-page abstract from their job market paper or dissertation. Applicants may also submit additional optional documents such as: a cover letter, additional writing sample, and/or a third letter of reference. Review of applicants will begin on September 25, 2022. No applications will be accepted after May 1, 2023.

Equal Employment Opportunity Statement

We seek a diverse pool of applicants who wish to join an academic community that places the highest value on rigorous inquiry and encourages diverse perspectives, experiences, groups of individuals, and ideas to inform and stimulate intellectual challenge, engagement, and exchange. The University's Statements on Diversity are at <https://provost.uchicago.edu/statements-diversity>.

The University of Chicago is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity/Disabled/Veterans Employer and does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national or ethnic origin, age, status as an individual with a disability, protected veteran status, genetic information, or other protected classes under the law. For additional information please see the University's Notice of Nondiscrimination.

Job seekers in need of a reasonable accommodation to complete the application process should call 773-834-3988 or email equalopportunity@uchicago.edu with their request.

Start Date: Summer 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/25/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10773

University of Denver

Rank: Assistant Professor, Global Orders and Governance; Assistant Professor, Environmental or Natural Resource Policy and Economics

Specializations: Environmental Policy, Economic Policy, Foreign Policy

Global Governance

<https://jobs.du.edu/en-us/job/495451/assistant-professor-global-orders-and-governance-josef-korbel-school-of-international-studies>

Job no: 495451

Work type: Faculty Full-Time

Location: Denver, CO

Categories: Faculty

Application Deadline: September 16, 2022

The Josef Korbel School of International Studies at the University of Denver seeks to hire an assistant professor, tenure track, in the fields of global governance or international relations, with a preference for those studying challenges related to the global order in the 21st century and the prospects for new orders. Possible research interests include such core issues of international relations and the global order as the efficacy of international institutions, limits on the use of force for territorial gain, respect for human rights, authoritarianism and the international order, rising powers, and existential rivalries in the international arena. The position will commence in September 2023. The successful candidate for this position will function effectively as a scholar and teacher in an interdisciplinary school and will complement the expertise of the existing faculty who specialize in global governance (through the lens of human and international security, global development, and/or international political economy). The successful candidate for this position will be prepared to teach graduate and undergraduate students in several Korbel degree programs. Through research and outreach this faculty member will contribute to the School's commitment to engaged scholarship.

Environmental/Natural Resource Policy and Economics

<https://jobs.du.edu/en-us/job/495450/assistant-professor-environmental-or-natural-resource-policy-and-economics-josef-korbel-school-of-international-studies>

Job no: 495450

Work type: Faculty Full-Time

Location: Denver, CO

Categories: Faculty

Application Deadline: September 23, 2022

The Josef Korbel School of International Studies of the University of Denver seeks to hire an assistant professor, tenure-track, in the fields of ecological, environmental, or natural resource policy and/or economics. The position will commence in September 2023.

The successful candidate for this position will function effectively as a scholar and teacher in an interdisciplinary school and will complement the expertise of the existing faculty who specialize in environmental issues. The subfield is open, but we will give special consideration to scholars who focus on the economic features or societal consequences of climate change, the efficacy of market-related policy instruments, and the design and execution of policy in the context of complex systems and deep uncertainty. Possible topics include but are not limited to climate tax and regulatory policy, corporate environmental and social governance, climate justice and sustainable economic development, climate and economic inequality, and stakeholder participation in policy design, enactment, and assessment.

The faculty member in this position will be prepared to introduce and teach core courses in the Korbel School's MA in Global Environmental Sustainability, which also enrolls students from other Korbel graduate programs, and in the Korbel School's undergraduate programs. Through research and outreach the person in this position will contribute to the growth of the School's Sustainability Initiative and to the School's commitment to engaged scholarship.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/23/2022

Salary: $80,000 - $89,999

eJobs ID: 10758

Duke University

Rank: Open-rank Professor of Climate Policy

The Sanford School of Public Policy at Duke University seeks to hire a tenure-line faculty member with a focus on climate policy at the rank of assistant, associate, or full professor. While the search is open as to rank, the ideal candidate will be qualified for appointment at the full professor level.

The ideal candidate will have an established track record of research, teaching, and public engagement in the area of climate policy. Applicants must have a Ph.D. in a relevant discipline such as economics, public policy or a related field. Applicants should be able to teach courses in their area of specialization, as well as core Sanford policy courses. Ability to teach statistics and quantitative methods courses across the Sanford core curriculum is desirable.

The Sanford School includes an interdisciplinary full-time faculty of almost 70 and offers an undergraduate major, four Masters programs, and a Ph.D. program. The Sanford School houses several research centers and offers degree-related programs and opportunities in Washington, China, Scotland, London and Geneva. More information on the Sanford School can be found at <https://www.sanford.duke.edu>.

Candidates should submit a letter of application that describes their research and teaching interests and experiences, CV, writing sample, and names and contact information for three references. These materials should be submitted via the following website: <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/22416>

Applications submitted by September 30th will be guaranteed full consideration, though the committee will continue to consider applications after this date as long as the search remains open. For further information, contact Marc Jeuland, search committee chair, at marc-jeuland@duke.edu.

Duke University is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer committed to providing employment opportunity without regard to an individual's age, color, disability, genetic information, gender, gender identity, national origin, race, religion, sexual orientation, or veteran status.

Start Date: Summer 2023

Application Deadline: 9/30/2022

Date Posted: 8/22/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10749

Georgetown University

Rank: Assistant/ Associate Professor in Public Management

The McCourt School of Public Policy at Georgetown University invites applications for a tenure line assistant or associate professor position in public management.

The ideal candidate will have a specialization in comparative/international public management, with an open geographic focus. Successful candidates are expected to teach "Comparative Public Management" in our Political Institutions and Processes track in the School's Master of Public Policy program, as well as other public management and elective courses in their own areas of research interest. Candidates should demonstrate a research interest in the functioning of public services and implementation of public policies.

Applicants should have a PhD in public management/administration, political science or a related field at the time of hire. Depending on qualifications, the appointee to this position may be recommended for tenure at the time of hiring.

The committee will begin reviewing applications September 15, 2022 and continue until the position is filled.

Apply at <https://apply.interfolio.com/111488>

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/22/2022

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 10752

Johns Hopkins University

Rank: Adjunct Faculty: Data Analytics and Policy

Johns Hopkins University: Zanvyl Krieger School of Arts and Sciences: Advanced Academic Programs

Description

Institution Description:

The Advanced Academic Programs (AAP) is a division of the Krieger School of Arts and Sciences at the Johns Hopkins University (JHU). As the nation's oldest and one of the most prestigious research universities, Johns Hopkins offers high-quality master's degrees and post-baccalaureate education to students in the mid-Atlantic region and online. In addition to the online programs, AAP also offers master's degrees and graduate certificate programs at its Washington, DC Center and at the Homewood campus in Baltimore, MD. AAP has approximately 18,000 enrollments each academic year. JHU is committed to hiring candidates who, through their teaching and service, will contribute to the diversity and excellence of the academic community.

Position Description:

The Advanced Academic Programs (AAP) division seeks non-tenure track adjunct faculty to teach one of several courses within the Master of Science in Data Analytics and Policy program. Specifically, we are seeking instructors qualified to teach Probability and Statistics (470.681), Programming and Data Management (470.768), Quantitative Methods (470.709), or Data Visualization (470.673). The course(s) will be taught fully online beginning in the spring 2023 semester. Candidates with online course development and teaching experience and those with experience teaching and engaging students from diverse backgrounds are of particular interest.

These four courses are part of the core curriculum in the Data Analytics and Policy program. The courses introduce learners to statistical analysis and programming using R. Topics include probability theory, descriptive statistics, data visualization, research design for causal inference, and linear regression analysis. Full course descriptions and an overview of our full curriculum are available on the program website. The program has course templates for each course from which the candidate will teach. Faculty duties include supporting student learning, evaluating student work, and working with the Program Director to revise and update course materials as needed.

These courses are taught on a regular basis with semester-length contracts. Adjunct faculty may be included in future course development projects.

Qualifications

Minimum Qualifications:

- Master's degree with training in quantitative statistical methods (e.g., political science, sociology, business analytics, economics, geography, public policy, psychology, or similar)
- Demonstrated experience doing original work using R for programming, data visualization, and statistical analysis

Preferred Qualifications:

- A terminal degree with training in quantitative statistical methods (e.g., political science, sociology, business analytics, economics, geography, public policy, psychology, or similar)
- 1-3 years of graduate level teaching experience
- Online teaching experience
- Training in statistical programming and analysis using Python

- Professional experience in applied statistics, predictive modeling, machine learning, database management, and related data science topics

Application Instructions:

The position(s) will remain open until filled. For best consideration, please apply by September 16, 2022.

Candidates must submit the following:

- Cover letter
- Curriculum vitae
- Teaching evaluations for two most recently taught courses, if applicant has teaching experience
- Professional or academic references

The selected candidate will be expected to undergo a background check and to submit proof of educational attainment.

Submit your application online only at <http://apply.interfolio.com/112053> using the "Apply Now" button.

Start Date: Spring 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/22/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10751

Duke University

Rank: Assistant Professor of International Policy

Specializations: Environmental Policy, Health Care, Developing Nations

The Sanford School of Public Policy seeks to hire a tenure-line political scientist with a focus on international policy at the rank of assistant professor and expertise that aligns with one or more of the following areas: international development, health, energy, and the environment.

Candidates must have a Ph.D. in political science or in public policy with a concentration in political science, and a record of (or demonstrated capacity for) scholarly publication and excellence in teaching. The Sanford School values applications from candidates with a strong interest in policy engagement. Candidates should be able to teach courses in the Sanford undergraduate and graduate core curriculum in addition to their own areas of policy specialization.

The Sanford School includes an interdisciplinary full-time faculty of almost 70 and offers an undergraduate major, four Masters programs, and a Ph.D. program. The Sanford School houses several research centers and offers degree-related programs and opportunities in Washington, China, Scotland, London and Geneva. More information on the Sanford School can be found at <https://www.sanford.duke.edu>.

Candidates should submit a letter of application that describes their research and teaching interests and experiences, CV, writing sample, and names and contact information for three references. These materials should be submitted via the following website: <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/22386>

Applications submitted by September 30th, 2022 will be guaranteed full consideration. For further information, contact Anirudh Krishna, search committee chair, at ak30@duke.edu.

Duke University is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer committed to providing employment opportunity without regard to an individual's age, color, disability, genetic information, gender, gender identity, national origin, race, religion, sexual orientation, or veteran status.

Start Date: Summer 2023

Application Deadline: 9/30/2022

Date Posted: 8/18/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10729

Hertie School – the University of Governance in Berlin

Rank: Postdoctoral Researcher - Digital Governance

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Open, Other

The Hertie School in Berlin prepares exceptional students for leadership positions in government, business, and civil society. The school offers master's programmes, executive education and doctoral programmes, distinguished by interdisciplinary and practice-oriented teaching, as well as outstanding research. Its extensive international network positions it as an ambassador of good governance, characterised by public debate and engagement. The school was founded in 2003 by the Hertie Foundation, which remains its major funder. The Hertie School is accredited by the state and the German Science Council.

The Hertie School seeks to fill the following position: Postdoctoral Researcher - Digital Governance (f/m/div) on a full-time basis (40 hours per week).

The contract shall commence in fall 2022 and is limited for three years. The successful candidate will be affiliated with the Hertie School's Centre for Digital Governance (<https://www.hertie-school.org/en/centre-for-digital-governance>).

Your tasks:

Your main tasks at the Hertie School will be to further develop your own independent research programme with relevance for the Centre. Research areas may include, but are not limited to: digitalisation of government, artificial intelligence and human development, social media governance, and open data and data sharing. Your goal should be to publish relevant research in leading peer-reviewed journals.

In a minor role, you will be asked to contribute towards core activities of the Centre for Digital Governance, such as supporting grant-writing activities or helping with the organisation of the Centre's research colloquium and smaller workshops or events.

Your profile:

PhD (or equivalent) in a relevant discipline with publications demonstrating sufficient transdisciplinary understanding and capacities, and an excellent potential for academic achievement.

Keen interest in the interplay of questions related to the topics mentioned above is a must-have.

Excellent oral and written communication skills in English.

We offer:

A stimulating international and diverse environment in multiple areas of social science, high-quality teaching and public policy. The Hertie School is a vibrant academic community that emphasizes excellence in research and teaching as well as an interdisciplinary perspective. Our school has been certified as a family friendly work environment in higher education and an equal opportunity employer. Severely disabled applicants are given preferential consideration in the event of equal qualification.

Please submit your application portfolio (a CV, a cover letter describing your research plans and interest, two writing samples, and names and contact information of at least two references). Please submit your complete and relevant application documents in a single PDF file by 11 September 2022 here: <https://hertie-school.dvinci-easy.com/en/p/en/jobs/50634/intro>

Start Date: Fall 2022

Date Posted: 8/18/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10718

University of Pennsylvania

Rank: Open-Rank Tenure-Track Faculty Positions in Critical Race and Policy Studies

Open-Rank Tenure-Track Faculty Positions in Critical Race and Policy Studies

University of Pennsylvania: School of Social Policy and Practice

Location: Philadelphia, PA

Open Date: Aug 15, 2022

Description

The University of Pennsylvania's School of Social Policy & Practice (SP2) invites applications for tenure-track appointments to begin July 1, 2023.

SP2 seeks candidates whose research and scholarship are related to social policy, defined as a subset of public policy that focuses on solving social problems such as economic and educational inequality, racial and health disparities, among others. As such, social policy initiatives and outcomes actively attend to social issues of equity, equality, and adequacy. Advancing social justice is a core component of SP2's vision and a mission that unites all of its programs.

SP2 is particularly interested in recruiting faculty who study social policy with a critical focus on inequality and power structures; scholars who are informed by or engage in critical race studies, critical ethnic studies, LatCRT, Black radical thought, Black feminisms, postcolonial studies, queer studies and queer of color critique, indigenous studies, DisCRT, critical posthumanisms, affect theory, or other areas of critical scholarship. Applicants should have a background in interdisciplinary social science, humanistic social science, critical legal studies, cultural studies or critical theory, though the specific disciplinary home may be in any field, including social work, law, political science, sociology, anthropology, cultural studies, public health, among others. Global scholarship is also of strong interest though not required.

This position is for a faculty member whose primary responsibilities will be in the Master of Science in Social Policy (MSSP) Program. We welcome, however, candidates with the capacity for and interest in working across the school's three master's programs (Social Policy, Social Work, Nonprofit Leadership), as well its two doctoral programs (Doctorate in Clinical Social Work, and Ph.D. in Social Welfare).

Many opportunities for collaboration exist within the wider University of Pennsylvania academic community, as well as with health, educational, social service, nonprofit, and government organizations regionally, nationally, and globally.

Please submit the following materials through our online application system:

- CV.
- Cover letter.
- Research statement that includes current activities and future plans.
- Teaching statement that includes identification of SP2 courses of interest.
- DEI statement.
- Three samples of scholarly writing.
- Contact information for three references.

Formal review of applicants will begin immediately and will continue until the position is filled. Please contact Dr. Yoosun Park (yoosunp@upenn.edu) for further information.

If interested, please apply: <https://apptrkr.com/3348908>

Equal Employment Opportunity Statement

The University of Pennsylvania values diversity and seeks talented students, faculty and staff from diverse backgrounds. The University of Pennsylvania is an equal opportunity and affirmative action employer. Candidates are considered for employment without regard to race, color, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, religion, creed, national or ethnic origin, citizenship status, age, disability, veteran status or any other legally protected class. Questions or concerns about this should be directed to the Executive Director of the Office of Affirmative Action and Equal Opportunity Programs, University of Pennsylvania, 421 Franklin Building, 3451 Walnut Street, Philadelphia, PA 19104-6205; or (215) 898-6993 (Voice) or (215) 898-7803 (TDD).

COVID-19 Vaccination Policy

COVID-19 vaccination is a requirement for all employees at the University of Pennsylvania. New hires are expected to be fully vaccinated before beginning work at the University. For more information about Penn's vaccine requirements and the use of Penn Open Pass, visit the Penn COVID-19 Response website for the latest information.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/18/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10733

KDI School of Public Policy and Management

Rank: 2022-2023 KDI School Job Openings for Tenure-Track Professors

Subfield(s): International Relations, Public Administration, Public Policy

KDI (Korea Development Institute) School of Public Policy and Management invites applications for full-time, tenure track positions at all levels in the fields specified below. KDI was ranked 1st in Asia and 5th among non-U.S. think tanks in the 2020 Global Think Tank Index and the School has a vibrant and diverse academic community with some 140 countries represented among our student body and alumni. KDI School is the only international policy school with NASPAA recognition in Korea and the first in Asia.

As a graduate-level international policy school, we offer master's and Ph.D. programs focusing on public policy, development policy, and public management. The normal class teaching load is four courses per year spread out over three trimesters and most courses are taught in English. The School provides internationally competitive compensation, faculty housing options, child education benefits (when available), moving expense support, generous research funding opportunities, and conference travel support.

KDI School invites applications for a position in the following areas:

- Data Science for Public Policy / Computational Social Science
We seek applications from scholars in the area of machine learning (ML), artificial intelligence (AI), and data science (broadly construed). Substantive expertise of interests are in areas such as ML, AI, AI ethics, network analysis, and the application of advanced computational techniques to social, economic, and/or policy issues. Successful candidates can be from any computational background (e.g. computer science, informatics) with research expertise in developing and applying ML, AI, and data science approaches for answering questions in public policy and the social sciences, although candidates from social science fields (economics, sociology, political science, and public policy) will be also welcomed and considered under the same criteria. A teaching portfolio is expected to suit the needs of an international public policy school with a diverse student body.

- International Relations
We seek applications from scholars who conduct research in topics related to international relations (international security and/or international political economy). Substantive expertise in the East Asian, South/Southeast Asian, Latin American region, training in causal inference including experimental methods, background in working with non-traditional data using computational social science skills, or extensive training in qualitative methods are preferred but not required. Successful candidates should have strong training in applied empirical methodology, substantive interests in policy-relevant research, and a teaching portfolio that can suit the needs of an international public policy school with a diverse student body.

- Competition Policy
We seek applications for a faculty position in competition policy. The position requires substantial theoretical knowledge and strong empirical research skills in industrial organization and regulatory economics. Priority will be given to candidates working on emerging issues in competition policy, such as the digital economy and the environment. The ideal candidate should have a broad range of policy interests to interact with students, scholars, and policymakers.

- Public Economics and Welfare Policy
We seek applications for a faculty position in the quantitative analysis of welfare policy. The ideal candidate should have a substantial public/welfare economics background, strong research potential in the empirical analysis of welfare policy. We are particularly interested in candidates who can develop and offer courses that address national-level policies, such as pensions, health insurance, and various welfare programs, with academic rigor.

- Strategic Management and Entrepreneurship
We seek applications from scholars in the area of strategic management and entrepreneurship. The ideal candidate should have a strong research capability in the empirical analysis and case studies of strategic management in public organizations (including public enterprises), non-profit organizations, social entrepreneurship, entrepreneurship policy, and entrepreneurial finance. Priority will be given to candidates working on emerging issues such as digital transformation, data analytics, supply chain management, and the metaverse. We are particularly interested in candidates who can develop innovative courses and interact with a broad range of policymakers, scholars, and practitioners in this dynamic and constantly evolving field.

- Public Administration, Public Management, and Governance
We seek applications for a faculty position in public administration, public management, and governance. A competitive applicant may have an academic and practical expertise in such domains as collaborative governance, institutional analysis, and theories/practices of the policy process. Those whose research methods can be characterized as qualitative (e.g., case study, ethnography, grounded theory, etc.) or mixed (quantitative and/or qualitative) are preferred. Applicants who are interested (and specialized) in connecting data science to public administration for their research and teaching are also welcome.

*Please find the attached file for detailed information at <https://bit.ly/3JWTtBH>

*Please submit application materials electronically at <http://apply.interfolio.com/111719>

Start Date: Spring 2023

Application Deadline: 11/10/2022

Date Posted: 8/16/2022

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 10696

Tecnologico de Monterrey

Rank: Assistant Professor Positions

Subfield(s): International Relations, Public Policy, Comparative Politics

Assistant Professor Positions

School of Social Sciences and Government, Department of Political Science and International Relations in Mexico City, Monterrey, and other major campuses in Mexico, Graduate School of Government, Escuela de Gobierno y Transformación Pública, Mexico City, Federal District and Monterrey, Nuevo León

The Tecnológico de Monterrey (Tec) invites applications from candidates in political science, international relations, public policy, political economy, and related social science fields. The search is open with respect to specialty and methodological approaches. We are recruiting candidates with the potential to conduct theoretically informed, methodologically rigorous research for publication in top peer-reviewed venues.

We have two types of openings. In IR, we are interested in scholars from any of the major subfields, including comparative international political economy, security studies, and or international organizations. In public policy, substantive areas include data sciences for public service and governance, education policy, or health policy (obesity research). The Tecnológico de Monterrey offers a dynamic academic environment with excellent research support.

Minimum Requirements:

Candidates must have a demonstrated ability in conducting theoretical and empirical research in one or more of the aforementioned areas. The Tecnológico de Monterrey also prizes an excellent background in teaching. Professors are expected to teach and mentor undergraduates as well as graduate students. We are primarily interested in scholars early in their academic careers for the Assistant Research Professor track with teaching obligations that approximate a 2-2 load. We also have openings for Assistant Teaching Professors (3-3 or 4-4) and Student Advisor Professors (2-2 or 3-3), depending on the campus. Applications from ABD candidates will be considered if they include a letter from the dissertations chair stating a defense date, which should occur no later than June 2023.

Compensation is competitive and it includes incentives and support for research activities. The Tecnológico de Monterrey will provide legal assistance for foreign nationals in order to obtain work permits and visas for the candidate and his or her dependents.

Applicants should send the following documents in PDF format through the APSA placement.

- Curriculum Vitae accompanied by a cover letter.
- Research statement for the next 3 years (no longer than three pages).
- A statement of teaching philosophy (no more than two pages). Finalists may be asked to provide evidence of teaching performance.
- Writing sample, not to exceed 50 double spaced pages. If co-authored the candidate should be the first author.
- Three letters of recommendation. Ph.D. candidates should include a letter from their chair indicating defense date.

For informal inquiries please contact the following committee members:

Prof. Mariana Rangel: mariana.rangel@tec.mx
 Prof. Gabriel Aguilera: gabe.aguilera@tec.mx

About the Tecnológico de Monterrey:

The Tecnológico de Monterrey is ranked highly among the top universities in Latin America and Mexico. Undergraduate departments and programs in political science, international relations, economics, law, and public policy are housed in the School of Social Sciences and Government at our major campuses in Mexico City, Monterrey, Queretaro, and Guadalajara. For more information, visit <https://tec.mx/es/noticias/ciencias-sociales-y-gobierno>.

For more information on the Graduate School of Government, Escuela de Gobierno y Transformación Pública, visit <http://escueladegobierno.itesm.mx/> The graduate school has campuses in Mexico City and Monterrey.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 11/30/2022

Date Posted: 8/16/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10707

University of California, Berkeley

Rank: Associate/Full Specialist - California Policy Lab - Institute for Research on Labor and Employment

Associate/Full Specialist - California Policy Lab - Institute for Research on Labor and Employment

Position overview

Position title: Researcher

Salary range: $85,000 - $125,000

Percent time: 100%

Anticipated start: September 2022

Position duration: Two years with the possibility of renewal based on funding and performance

Application Window

Open date: August 5th, 2022

Next review date: Friday, Aug 19, 2022 at 11:59pm (Pacific Time)

Apply by this date to ensure full consideration by the committee.

Final date: Sunday, Sep 4, 2022 at 11:59pm (Pacific Time)

Applications will continue to be accepted until this date, but those received after the review date will only be considered if the position has not yet been filled.

Position description California Policy Lab

The California Policy Lab (CPL) creates data-driven insights for the public good. Our mission is to improve the lives of Californians by generating evidence that transforms public policy. We do this by forming lasting partnerships between government and California's flagship public universities to harness the power of research and administrative data. We work on California's most urgent issues, including homelessness, poverty, criminal justice reform, and education inequality. We facilitate close working partnerships between policymakers and researchers at the University of California to help evaluate and improve public programs through rigorous empirical research and technical assistance. CPL recognizes the value of having a diverse staff at all levels of the organization.

CPL-Berkeley is a center within the Institute for Research on Labor and Employment (IRLE).

Position Duties

The Specialist conducts independent quantitative research, including conceptualizing research questions and design; requesting, receiving, and cleaning data files; creating and implementing an analysis plan; conducting quality assurance reviews; summarizing results in documents for both academic and policy audiences; and generating replicability documentation. The Specialist may implement multiple research designs and analysis techniques, including but not limited to randomized control trials, quasi-experimental designs using natural experiments or other such variation, and difference-in-difference and event study analyses. Further, a successful candidate can lead research projects with small teams, write proposals to support research projects, and ensure timely and high quality completion of research tasks. The Specialist will mentor other research staff, and may serve as a supervisor.

The position will report to the Research Director, and will work directly with leading social policy researchers at UC and beyond, state and local government agency staff, and CPL's leadership team.

California Policy Lab: <https://www.capolicylab.org/>

IRLE: <https://irle.berkeley.edu/>

Qualifications Basic qualifications (required at time of application)
 Bachelor's degree or equivalent international degree

Additional qualifications (required at time of start)
 Associate Specialist:

- Bachelor's degree or equivalent international degree plus five (5) years of professional research experience.

OR

- Master's degree or equivalent international degree plus three (3) years of professional research experience.

Full Specialist:

- Bachelor's degree or equivalent international degree plus ten (10) years of professional research experience.

OR

- Master's degree or equivalent international degree plus (8) years of professional research experience.

OR

- PhD or equivalent international degree plus two (2) years of professional research experience.

Preferred qualifications

- ? Training and experience that clearly demonstrates qualifications
- ? PhD or equivalent international degree in economics, public policy, or related social science field, or equivalent experience
- ? Record of independent research and publication, including leading research design and analysis and writing for both academic and policy audiences
- ? Fluency in data-analysis packages from commonly used programming languages like Python, R, Stata, SQL, and/or SAS.
- ? Experience working with large and complex datasets, including administrative datasets
- ? Knowledge of data management systems, practices, and standards
- ? Strong interpersonal and communication skills
- ? Strong organizational skills and attention to detail
- ? Ability to multi-task with demanding timeframes
- ? Ability to work both independently and as a team member
- ? Ability to work discreetly with sensitive and confidential data
- ? A commitment to advancing racial equity and inclusion through research as well CPL's internal and external relationships
- ? Post-PhD experience managing projects as a Principal Investigator and supervising project staff
- ? Experience writing grant proposals, communicating with funders, and managing grant reporting
- ? Experience collaborating with government agency partners
- ? Expertise in one or more of CPL's primary policy areas

Application Requirements Document requirements

- Curriculum Vitae - Your most recently updated C.V.
- Cover Letter
- Statement on Contributions to Advancing Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion
- Writing Sample - One or more illustrative examples of the candidate's research - a "job market paper," a manuscript, or other research product suitable to the candidate's field. The candidate should be the primary author.
- Statement of Research (Optional)

Reference requirements

- 3 required (contact information only)

Applicants will be asked to name references to complete their application, but the references will not be asked to provide letters unless the analyst requests them.

Apply link: <https://apptrkr.com/3341627>

Help contact: myearian@berkeley.edu

Campus Information

Diversity, equity, inclusion, and belonging are core values at UC Berkeley. Our excellence can only be fully realized by faculty, students, and academic and non-academic staff who share our commitment to these values. Successful candidates for our academic positions will demonstrate evidence of a commitment to advancing equity, inclusion, and belonging.

The University of California, Berkeley is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability, age, or protected veteran status. For the complete University of California nondiscrimination and affirmative action policy see: <http://policy.ucop.edu/doc/4000376/NondiscrimAffirmAct>

In searches when letters of reference are required all letters will be treated as confidential per University of California policy and California state law. Please refer potential referees, including when letters are provided via a third party (i.e., dossier service or career center), to the UC Berkeley statement of confidentiality (<http://apo.berkeley.edu/ucb-confidentiality-policy>) prior to submitting their letter.

As a condition of employment, you will be required to comply with the University of California SARS-CoV-2 (COVID-19) Vaccination Program Policy. All Covered Individuals under the policy must provide proof of Full Vaccination or, if applicable, submit a request for Exception (based on Medical Exemption, Disability, and/or Religious Objection) or Deferral (based on pregnancy) no later than the applicable deadline. Please refer to Appendix F, Section II.C. of the policy for the deadlines applicable to new University of California employees. (Capitalized terms in this paragraph are defined in the policy.) Federal, state, or local public health directives may impose additional requirements.

Positions that are represented by a collective bargaining unit or agent have particular contracts. For more information, please refer to the relevant contract: <https://ucnet.universityofcalifornia.edu/labor/bargaining-units/ix/index.html>, <https://ucnet.universityofcalifornia.edu/labor/bargaining-units/px/index.html>, <https://ucnet.universityofcalifornia.edu/labor/bargaining-units/ra/index.html>, and <https://ucnet.universityofcalifornia.edu/labor/bargaining-units/lx/index.html>. Questions about represented positions can be directed to the hiring unit.

Job location Berkeley, CA

To apply, visit <https://apptrkr.com/3341627>

Copyright ©2022 Jobelephant.com Inc. All rights reserved.

<https://www.jobelephant.com/>

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 9/4/2022

Date Posted: 8/16/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10703

University of Nebraska, Lincoln

Rank: Assistant Professor of Practice

The Department of Political Science at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln invites applications for an Assistant Professor of Practice position to begin August 2023. We seek a dynamic, creative teacher who will teach courses in the area of U.S. courts and law and who will help support our pre-law students and programming. The Assistant Professor of Practice position is a non-tenure line, multiyear renewable position, with the possibility of promotion to Associate and then Full Professor of Practice. Initial appointment is customarily for three years. More information on the details of a Professor of Practice position may be found at <https://cas.unl.edu/professors-practice-guidelines>.

This is a full-time, benefits-eligible position with at least 80% assigned to teaching/instruction and the remaining 20% allotted to research and service. The 80% teaching apportionment represents 8 courses per year (although the course load may be decreased in proportion to other equivalent teaching duties, such as major curricular development, program building, and advising). This position is designed for individuals seeking a teaching-focused career who prioritize excellent pedagogy and undergraduate mentoring. The successful candidate must demonstrate potential for effective teaching in the area of US courts and law. A limited research appointment is available for those interested in conducting research in the area of US courts/laws. We expect all faculty to contribute to an environment in which every person and every interaction matters.

Minimum required qualifications include: a Ph.D. in political science or related field or evidence the degree will be completed by August 2023; evidence of teaching experience and excellence; and a strong interest in teaching US courts/law. Preferred qualifications include: evidence of interest in the scholarship of teaching; a research agenda focused on some aspect of US courts/law, including pedagogical research; experience teaching in-person and online undergraduate courses. Salary, start-up package, and fringe benefits are competitive.

Review of applications will begin October 10, 2022, and continue until the position is filled. To be considered for the position, please go to <http://employment.unl.edu>, requisition F_220136 and click "apply for this job." Candidates should submit a letter of intent, curriculum vitae, a statement of teaching interests/experience, a short teaching statement, and three letters of recommendation.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/16/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10706

Central European University

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow Position in Horizon Europe CCINDLE Project on Feminist Responses to Anti-Gender and Anti-Democratic Forces

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Methodology, Public Policy

Specializations: Normative Political Theory, Social Movements, Gender Politics & Policy

Starting date: October/November 2022, exact date negotiable

Application deadline: Review of applications will start 31 August 2022

Full- Or Part-Time: Full-time for 36 months, possibility of extension for 10 more months, part-time

Location: Budapest

The Democracy Institute at CEU invites applications for a full-time Postdoctoral Research Fellow position within the framework of the Horizon Europe research project CCINDLE (Co-Creating Inclusive Intersectional Democratic Spaces Across Europe). The CEU team is led by Senior Research Fellow Andrea Krizsan (https://people.ceu.edu/andrea_krizsan).

The CCINDLE Project

This project aims to contribute to strengthening and re-invigorating European democracies by building on the assumption that feminist theories and activism are essential sources of both resistance to anti-gender discourses and politics, and to re-kindling citizens' engagement with democratic institutions and values. We also build on the recognition that addressing the increasing challenges posed to Western democracies require a combination of excellent academic research and well-informed practical solutions which: a) are feminist, anti-homophobic and anti-racist, b) could efficiently support high quality democratic governance, c) may create a push-back against authoritarian and anti-gender efforts.

By conducting research in seven European countries with different social and political backgrounds, and at the EU level, the project aims to:

- Deepen our understanding of the state of democracy in Europe, especially on core challenges it faces in different political and social contexts related to the principles of inclusion and participation, and as a result of anti-gender/anti-LGBTQ movements.
- Identify and analyze different feminist responses that are a) present in theories, b) worked out within feminist movements, c) provided via feminist cooperation with formal institutions to anti-democratic trends and to the anti-gender forces.
- Identify specific tools and practical approaches, which in specific political and social contexts could lead to strengthening democracy, gender equality, and intersectional justice.
- Facilitate putting these tools and approaches into practice to support actors that embrace the twin goals of promoting equality and strengthening democracy, through co-creating actions with selected movement and institutional actors, with feminist and pro-democratic media, with universities as prominent actors in the politics of knowledge, and with philanthropic organizations promoting democracy and feminism.

Project partners:

- Mieke Verloo, RADBOUD UNIVERSITEIT NL, Coordinator
- Johanna Kantola, UNIVERSITY OF HELSINKI FI
- Andrea Krizsan, CENTRAL EUROPEAN UNIVERSITY HU
- Emanuela Lombardo, UNIVERSIDAD COMPLUTENSE DE MADRID ES
- Petra Meier, UNIVERSITEIT ANTWERPEN BE
- Conny Roggeband, UNIVERSITEIT VAN AMSTERDAM NL
- Elena Pavan, UNIVERSITA DEGLI STUDI DI TRENTO IT
- Marta Rawluzsko, UNIWERSYTET WARSZAWSKI PL
- Elzbieta Korolczuk, SODERTORNS HOGSKOLA SE
- Akwugo Emejulu, UNIVERSITY OF WARWICK, UK
- Olivia Ianelli, TRILATERAL RESEARCH LTD UK

Duties and responsibilities:

The Postdoctoral Research Fellow will be expected to contribute to the development of the CCINDLE project's methodological, theoretical, and empirical tasks. The researcher will engage in both collaborative and autonomous research work of collecting and analyzing data on anti-gender campaigns, and feminist movements and institutional actors' responses to anti-gender and antidemocratic forces in Hungary and comparatively in Europe. The research work will be aimed at the preparation, drafting and submission of research reports to the European Commission, submission of high-quality publications, and organization of social impact activities in co-creation with civil society and institutions in Hungary and at the European level.

Skills and qualifications:

- PhD in Political science, Gender studies, Sociology, Human Rights or related discipline (to be defended within max 6 months after the application but no longer than 3 years before the application).
- Experience in qualitative (interviews, focus groups, policy frame analysis) research methodologies and analysis and preferably some knowledge of quantitative (online survey) methodologies.
- Excellent written and spoken language skills in both English and Hungarian.
- Some background knowledge on the politics of inequality is required. Specific experience in gender and politics research, feminist movements, intersectionality, gender equality policies and institutions, gender and democracy, antigender campaigns, and feminist organizations is an asset.
- Strong interest in academic research, ideally proven through international publications and/or collaboration in research projects.
- Ability to work effectively, both independently and collaboratively, in an international team.

What we offer

- A three-year full-time appointment (employment contract with benefits for 36 months) based in the Budapest campus, with a possibility of extension for another 10 months part-time.
- Integration in the CCINDLE research team, with excellent opportunities for international networking with top scholars on gender and politics in Europe and relevant civil society actors at national and European level.
- Integration in the Inequalities and Democracy research group of the Democracy Institute in Budapest, including professional mentoring by lead researchers.
- Competitive salary with full benefit package depending on university personnel rules and research experience.

How to apply:

Applicants need to submit:

- an up-to-date CV
- motivation letter explaining how your research profile and interests relate to the project and what could be your contribution to the CCINDLE team
- a writing sample (preferably single-authored publications)
- names and contact details of two scholars who could supply recommendation letters

Please send your complete application package as one single pdf file to: advert055@ceu.edu - including the job code in the subject line: 2022/055.

Informal inquiries can be addressed to the CEU team lead researcher of the project, Andrea Krizsan at krizsana@ceu.edu.

The applications will be processed starting August 31, 2022. Start date of employment: October/November 2022.

The privacy of your personal information is very important to us. We collect, use, and store your personal information in accordance with the requirements of the applicable data privacy rules, including specifically the General Data Protection Regulation. To learn more about how we manage your personal data during the recruitment process, please see our Privacy Notice at: <https://www.ceu.edu/recruitment-privacy-notice>.

CEU is an equal opportunity employer and values geographical and gender diversity, thus encouraging applications from women and/or other underrepresented groups and taking into consideration geographical diversity, as well. Since CEU strives to increase the share of women in professorial positions, given equal qualifications, preference will be given to female applicants.

CEU recognizes that personal and family circumstances shape the trajectory of one's career and working patterns. As such, and in line with CEU's promotion of Equal Opportunities, we encourage applicants to detail periods of leave, part-time work or other such situations in their applications so that the Search Committee is able to assess an applicant's academic record fairly in the context of their circumstances. Any declaration of personal and family circumstances is voluntary and will be handled confidentially and only considered in so far as it impacts on the academic career of an applicant.

CEU is strongly committed to the promotion of gender equality and equal opportunities within our institution. Previous training, work experience and/or engagement with matters of equality, diversity and inclusion at the organizational level will be an asset.

About CEU

Central European University (CEU) is a research-intensive university specializing in the social sciences, humanities, law, public policy and management. It is accredited in the United States, Austria and Hungary. CEU's mission is to promote academic excellence, state-of-the-art research, research-based teaching and learning and civic engagement, in order to contribute to the development of open societies. CEU offers bachelor's, master's and doctoral programs and enrolls more than 1,400 students from over 100 countries. The teaching staff consists of resident faculty from over 50 countries and prominent visiting scholars from around the world. The language of instruction is English.

For more information, please visit <https://www.ceu.edu/>.

About the Democracy Institute

The Democracy Institute, based in Budapest, strives to enable the renewal and strengthening of democratic and open societies through world-class research, collaboration across academic and professional disciplines, teaching and the free exchange of ideas, and public engagement on a local, regional, and global scale. For more information, please visit <https://democracyinstitute.ceu.edu>.

Start Date: Fall 2022

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/12/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10680

Colorado State University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Environmental Policy and Administration

The Department of Political Science at Colorado State University invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position in environmental policy and administration. Advanced Assistant Professors are encouraged to apply. We are especially interested in candidates with a substantive focus in agriculture, food, water, resilience, urban sustainability, and/or natural resource policy.

The Department values both strong teaching and research. Successful candidates will be expected to offer courses in the public policy and administration curriculum at both the undergraduate and graduate levels, including graduate and undergraduate courses on U.S. environmental policy. Additional teaching assignments will depend on the candidate's interests and expertise as well as departmental needs. The normal teaching load is 2-2.

Faculty members are also expected to advise and mentor graduate and undergraduate students; demonstrate an active research agenda; and provide service to the department, college, university, and community. Approximately one-third of undergraduate political science majors at CSU are first-generation college students. The Department offers programs of study leading to the B.A., M.A., and Ph.D. degrees. The doctoral degree emphasizes the study of environmental politics and policy.

Required Job Qualifications: Primary teaching and/or scholarly emphasis in public policy & administration; evidence of an active research agenda focused on environmental policy; ability to teach courses on U.S. environmental policy; PhD in Political Science, public policy, public administration, or related field by August 16, 2023; evidence of teaching effectiveness.

Preferred Job Qualifications: Ability to enhance the Department's commitment to diversity and inclusion reflecting Departmental and institutional values. Substantive focus in agriculture, food, water, resilience, urban sustainability, and/or natural resource policy. Candidates who can teach any of the department's methods courses (quantitative, qualitative, or research design) are encouraged to apply.

Application Procedure: Applications will be accepted until the position is filled; to ensure full consideration, complete applications should be received by September 16, 2022. Applicants should submit: 1) a letter of application outlining teaching interests and research agenda as well as a brief statement on how your teaching, research and/or service demonstrate a commitment to diversity and inclusion; 2) Curriculum vitae; 3) Graduate school transcripts (unofficial transcripts acceptable at the initial stage of the search), 4) Evidence of demonstrated or potential teaching effectiveness (syllabi, teaching evaluations, letters of observation), 5) One sample of published or presented work, and 6) the names and contact information of three professional references. Reference letters will be requested at the finalist interview stage. References will not be contacted without prior notification of candidates. Application materials of semi-finalist candidates will be made available for review by the entire faculty in the Department of Political Science. Questions about the position can be directed to Dr. Robert Duffy (Robert.Duffy@colostate.edu).

For more information and to apply please visit: <https://jobs.colostate.edu/postings/10944>

CSU is an EO/EA/AA employer and conducts background checks on all final candidates

Start Date: Fall 2023
Application Deadline: 9/16/2022
Date Posted: 8/12/2022
Salary: $70,000 - $79,999
eJobs ID: 10687

Tulane University

Rank: Advanced Assistant (tenure-track)/early Associate Professor (tenured) in U.S. Public Policy

Position description: The Department of Political Science and the Murphy Institute at Tulane University invite applications for a tenure track line at the advanced assistant/early associate level in U.S. public policy, with specializations in race and public policy and/or housing and/or urban affairs. Teaching and service responsibilities will be split (50/50) between the Department of Political Science and the Murphy Institute, with a tenure home in political science.

The teaching load is 2-1. The prospective hire will contribute to the Political Science program at the undergraduate and graduate curricular levels and to the Murphy Institute with teaching one course of Comparative and International Political Economy a year and service and directing the Murphy Institute's Center for Public Policy Research. The Murphy Institute's Center for Public Policy Research supports lectures, seminars, and conferences and hosts faculty fellowships. The expected start date for this position is July 1, 2023. For further questions about the position, contact Prof. Mirya Holman, mholman@tulane.edu

Qualifications: PhD in Political Science or Public Policy preferred.

We value diversity and inclusion. Women and members of minorities and traditionally underrepresented groups are encouraged to apply.

Application instructions: Please provide a cover letter, a CV, a teaching statement that outlines the courses the applicant could contribute to political science and how they would approach a course on Comparative and International Political Economy, a diversity statement, a writing sample, and 3 letters of recommendation by October 1, 2022.

All materials should be uploaded directly in Interfolio: apply.interfolio.com/111173

Start Date: Fall 2023
Date Posted: 8/11/2022
Salary: $70,000 - $79,999
eJobs ID: 10677

University of Florida

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow

The Hamilton Center invites recent Ph.D. (or relevant terminal degree) recipients to apply for one-year appointments as Postdoctoral Fellows for the period from August 24, 2022, to August 23, 2023, or from January 1 to December 31, 2023. Start and end dates are flexible. The appointment may be extended up to two additional years at the discretion of the Director. Hamilton Center postdocs are expected to be in residence in Gainesville or the local vicinity, or demonstrate the ability to be on campus daily, to fulfill responsibilities relating to teaching, in-person participation, office hours, etc. They may not be employed by another institution during the term of their Hamilton Center appointment. They enjoy access to the university library system and a wide range of other facilities and activities throughout the University.

Postdoctoral Fellows are expected to devote full time to their work at the Center. This work will include teaching one limited-enrollment course (no more than 20 students) per semester or spending equivalent time on administrative responsibilities, assisting with other courses as needed, and pursuing individual research. They are also encouraged to attend or participate in various activities of the Center including faculty-student seminars, colloquia, and public lectures. The position is a fully funded, 12-month postdoctoral fellow appointment with benefits. Annual salary is $60,000. Some moving support is available. All Hamilton Center Postdoctoral Fellows are expected to have a Ph.D. degree or the equivalent terminal degree for their discipline. Applications are evaluated on the basis of (1) the significance of the proposed research; (2) the quality of the applicant's past research (dissertation and/or scholarly publications); and (3) the future contribution the applicant is likely to make to higher education. The Center is flexible as to areas of discipline, but the primary focus of the postdoctoral program will be classics, history, literature, law, philosophy, and political science.

How to apply: Applicants are required to submit an online application at: <https://explore.jobs.ufl.edu/en-us/job/523141/postdoc-associate>

A complete application must include the following:

- * a curriculum vitae;
- * a scholarly paper (dissertation and/or publication) written in the past three years;
- * a statement (no more than 1,500 words) describing the proposed research;
- * contact information for two references.

For priority consideration application materials must be received by 11:59 p.m. EST on August 16, 2022; applications will continue to be reviewed until positions are filled. Awards will be announced as soon as practicable.

Final candidate will be required to provide official transcript to the hiring department upon hire. A transcript will not be considered "official" if a designation of "Issued to Student" is visible. Degrees earned from an education institution outside of the United States are required to be evaluated by a professional credentialing service provider approved by National Association of Credential Evaluation Services (NACES), which can be found at <http://www.naces.org/>.

Start Date: Spring 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/11/2022

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 10668

Vanderbilt University

Rank: POSTDOCTORAL POSITIONS AT VANDERBILT UNIVERSITY WITH THE VANDERBILT LGBTQ+ POLICY LAB

The Vanderbilt LGBTQ+ Policy Lab (<https://www.vanderbilt.edu/lgbtq-policy-lab/>) is seeking applications for a postdoctoral scholar position in the areas of LGBTQ+ health inequities, policies, and populations to begin in Summer 2023. The ideal candidate is an empirical social scientist who has an interest in studying the causes and consequences of LGBTQ-related public policies (e.g., same-sex marriage, non-discrimination, transgender sports bans, 'Don't Say Gay' laws, 'bathroom bills', religious freedom exemptions, and others) on a range of social, economic, political, health, education, and demographic outcomes. Experience with programming in STATA, SAS, or R and handling large datasets is highly preferred; experience with qualitative research is a plus. A PhD in demography, economics, education, health services research, law/jurisprudence, LGBTQ studies, political science, public health, health policy, public policy, sociology, or a related field is required.

Please note that while the administrative home of this postdoctoral appointment will be in Vanderbilt's Department of Economics and the Department of Medicine, Health & Society; we invite applications from and plan to hire researchers in multiple disciplines.

Responsibilities include:

1. Carrying out a full-time active research program focusing primarily on LGBTQ+ health, LGBTQ+ politics and policies, and/or LGBTQ+ populations, including solo publications and/or joint papers with Vanderbilt LGBTQ+ Policy Lab faculty and external collaborators.
2. Attending a weekly colloquium series on LGBTQ+ health inequities, policies, and populations.
3. Guest lecturing in courses related to LGBTQ+ inequities, policies, and populations.
4. Serving as a liaison to campus and community leaders on LGBTQ+ policy topics.
5. Mentoring, with supervision from LGBTQ+ Policy Lab faculty, undergraduate and graduate student research.

The Vanderbilt LGBTQ+ Policy Lab brings together experts from multiple units including: economics; medicine, health & society (MHS); sociology; education; divinity; health policy; law; medicine; political science; religious studies; public policy studies (PPS); gender and sexuality studies; and psychology and human development. Vanderbilt LGBTQ+ Policy Lab Faculty have secured over $5 million in external funding to support research on LGBTQ+ inequities, health, policies, and populations. Our faculty's research has been published in high-impact journals such as the Harvard Law Review, JAMA, LGBT Health, Industrial and Labor Relations Review, and The New England Journal of Medicine; covered by NBC, the New York Post, and the Washington Post; and cited in Supreme Court briefs on marriage equality and LGBTQ employment nondiscrimination. Previous postdoctoral fellows trained in the LGBTQ+ Policy Lab have secured tenure-track faculty positions at R1 universities; won prestigious awards including the Vanderbilt Postdoctoral Fellow of the Year award; and published in top-tier journals such as JAMA Pediatrics.

All postdoctoral scholars will be supervised by a Director (Kitt Carpenter) or Associate Director (Tara McKay and Gilbert Gonzales) of the Vanderbilt LGBTQ+ Policy Lab and one or more affiliated faculty mentors depending on discipline. For example, while candidates with economics PhDs will work closely with Kitt Carpenter and/or Marcus Dillender; candidates with sociology PhDs may work more closely with Tara McKay; and candidates with public health, epidemiology, or health policy PhDs may work more closely with Gilbert Gonzales and/or Kirsty Clark.

The one-year postdoctoral fellowships will begin 7/1/2023 (or possibly earlier if mutually agreeable), with an initial end date of 6/30/2024, and carry the possibility of a one-year renewal. [Our preference is for candidates to be able to spend both academic year (AY) 23-24 and 24-25 at Vanderbilt.] Each position carries a twelve-month salary of $67,500, office space, health insurance, and eligibility for other benefits (<https://www.vanderbilt.edu/postdoc/faqs/>). These full-time and in-residence positions require a physical presence in Nashville for the term of the fellowship.

Applicants should provide a cover letter describing interesting in the position and future research plans, CV, a research paper or writing sample, and three references at: <https://apply.interfolio.com/111367>. Applications will be reviewed immediately and until the positions are filled.

Vanderbilt University is committed to recruiting and retaining an academically and culturally diverse community of exceptional scholars. Women, minorities, and members of other underrepresented groups are strongly encouraged to apply. Vanderbilt University is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity employer.

Start Date: Summer 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/11/2022

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 10673

Copenhagen Business School

Rank: Postdoc in Business and Government

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Public Policy, Methodology

Call for expression of interest

Postdoc in Business and Government at the Department of International Economics, Government and Business (EGB) at Copenhagen Business School (CBS).

EGB invites expressions of interest for a vacant position for a four-year postdoc in Business and Government. You should hold, or be close to completing, a PhD in Political Science, Political Economy, or a related field. The postdoc is a four-year position with a 25% teaching load. The postdoc will be part of the project "Tycoon Candidates: Why Wealthy Business Candidates Get Elected for Office and How it Matters". The project is led by professor (mso) Mogens K. Justesen and funded by the Independent Research Fund Denmark. The postdoc will be based at the Department of International Economics, Government and Business (EGB).

The project

The "Tycoon Candidate" project consists of two work packages. Work package I examines why ordinary voters – including low-income groups – sometimes support wealthy businesspeople running for office in democratic elections. Work package II moves on to examine how the election of businesspeople for political offices matters for the firms they are connected to and public policies provided to voters and the wider society.

The postdoc will conduct work on Work Package I, which involves research on voter support for wealthy business candidates. To this end, the postdoc will be involved in designing, implementing and analysing two large-scale surveys with survey experiments in South Africa and Ukraine – which will constitute the empirical backbone of the research and articles for Work Package I. It is essential that applicants have strong research potential within the area of the project. It is also essential that applicants have excellent skills in quantitative methods, particularly the design and analysis of surveys and survey experiments (including conjoint experiments).

The postdoc will be part of a team conducting research within the project. Strong abilities to work on research in a team and collaborate/co-author with other team members are essential for the position. A certain amount of travelling and field work in connection with the project should be expected.

The department

EGB is a multidisciplinary department, which conducts high-quality research in the fields of political science and international business with direct relevance to business, policy-makers and the public.

The department has two principal focus areas of research: 'Business & Government' and 'International Business'. Business & Government is rooted in the disciplines of political science and political economy. International Business includes both the disciplines of international economics and international management. EGB conducts research within these principal focus areas and their interfaces and is uniquely positioned to generate research at the intersection of these two focus areas.

Research in the fields of Business & Government and Political Economy at the department is informed by a range of theoretical and methodological traditions in Political Science. Faculty combine an emphasis on methodological excellence with a drive for empirical impact and relevance and a keen sensitivity to the broader societal contexts in which firm and government activity is situated.

While societal challenges are inherently changing and dynamic, at present, research at the department resonates with seven challenges in particular: (1) Inequality; (2) Technological change and digital transformation; (3) Regulating societal transformations; (4) The ethical MNE; (5) Emerging markets and rise of Asia; (6) Business, global shifts and policy challenges; and (7) Business and democracy.

Non-exhaustive examples of research areas that the postdoc may cover:

- Political behavior and voter support for business candidates
- Survey design and experimental methods
- Political economy of development
- Business-government relations
- Money in politics

The postdoc will have a 25% teaching obligation. Much of EGB's teaching is affiliated with the BSc/MSc in International Business and Politics (IBP); the BSc/MSc in International Business (IB); and the BSc in International Business in Asia (IBA).

To learn more about the research and education profile of the department, please visit the departmental homepage; <https://bit.ly/2NPR1wB>

Candidates who are available for a physical interview during the 2022 APSA meeting, 15-18 September, 2022, should send an expression of interest, CV, and job market paper, following the guideline; see link to online form here <https://bit.ly/3JM0o0x>

There is no requirement for reference letters. The deadline for submitting an expression of interest is September 7, 2022.

We encourage women and members of underrepresented communities to apply.

Starting date: Flexible, preferably Spring 2023.

For further information regarding the project, please contact professor (mso) Mogens K. Justesen (mkj.egb@cbs.dk).

For further information regarding the department, please visit the EGB website or contact Head of Department Jens Gammelgaard (jg.egb@cbs.dk).

Informal job talks will be carried out by Mogens K. Justesen and Jens Gammelgaard, and relevant colleague(s).

Start Date: Summer 2023

Application Deadline: 9/7/2022

Date Posted: 8/10/2022

Salary: $70,000 - $79,999
eJobs ID: 10659

Copenhagen Business School

Rank: Tenure Track Assistant Professor in Business and Government

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Public Policy, International Relations

Call for expression of interest

Tenure Track Assistant Professor Position in Business and Government at the Department of International Economics, Government and Business (EGB) at Copenhagen Business School (CBS)

EGB invites expressions of interest for a vacant position as tenure track assistant professor in Business and Government. You should hold, or be close to completing, a PhD in Political Science, Political Economy, or a related field. You should be able to demonstrate strong research potential and have excellent methodological skills. Participation in teaching and an interest in developing research-based teaching courses are expected of a tenure track assistant professor at CBS.

EGB is a multidisciplinary department, which conducts high-quality research in the fields of political science and international business with direct relevance to business, policy-makers and the public.

The department has two principal focus areas of research: 'Business & Government' and 'International Business'. Business & Government is rooted in the disciplines of political science and political economy. International Business includes both the disciplines of international economics and international management. EGB conducts research within these principal focus areas and their interfaces and is uniquely positioned to generate research at the intersection of these two focus areas.

Research in the fields of Business & Government and Political Economy at the department is informed by a range of theoretical and methodological traditions in Political Science. Faculty combine an emphasis on methodological excellence with a drive for empirical impact and relevance and a keen sensitivity to the broader societal contexts in which firm and government activity is situated.

While societal challenges are inherently changing and dynamic, at present, research at the department resonates with seven challenges in particular: (1) Inequality; (2) Technological change and digital transformation; (3) Regulating societal transformations; (4) The ethical MNE; (5) Emerging markets and rise of Asia; (6) Business, global shifts and policy challenges; and (7) Business and democracy.

Examples (non-exhaustive) of research and teaching areas that the assistant professor may cover:

- Business and Government
- Political Economy
- Public Policy
- International Business and Government
- Money in Politics

To learn more about the research and education profile of the department, please visit the departmental homepage; <https://bit.ly/2NPRlwB>.

Candidates who are available for a physical interview during the 2022 APSA meeting, 15-18 September, 2022, should send an expression of interest, CV, and job market paper, following the guideline, see link to online form; <https://bit.ly/3SSk3Aj>.

There is no requirement for reference letters. The deadline for submitting an expression of interest is September 7, 2022.

We encourage women and members of underrepresented communities to apply.

Starting date: Flexible, at the latest 15 August 2023.

For further information regarding the department, please visit the EGB website or contact Head of Department Jens Gammelgaard (jg.egb@cbs.dk). Informal job talks will be carried out by Jens Gammelgaard and relevant colleague(s).

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 9/7/2022

Date Posted: 8/10/2022

Salary: $80,000 - $89,999

eJobs ID: 10657

American Civil Liberties Union

Rank: Social Science Fellow, Voting Rights

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Policy, Methodology

Specializations: Electoral Systems, Civil Rights & Liberties, American Politics

ABOUT THE JOB

The ACLU seeks a full-time Social Science Fellow, Voting Rights for a period of 18 months in the Analytics Department of the ACLU's National office in New York, NY/ Remote*.

ACLU Analytics partners with teams across the organization to enable the ACLU to make smart, evidence-based decisions and bring quantitative insights on our issues to the courtroom and the public. Our team's work ranges from social science research for litigation & advocacy, to analysis & reporting for fundraising and engagement, to building and maintaining our data infrastructure. We strive to ensure the ACLU leads by example in the ethical use of data and technology. This includes maintaining our privacy and security standards, pushing for transparent data practices from government and corporate actors, and helping to steward high standards for algorithmic fairness, accountability, and transparency.

Reporting to the Director, Legal Analytics & Quantitative Research, the Social Science Fellow will use data analysis and quantitative social science techniques to defend voting rights and democracy in the courts and on the ballot. Working in close partnership with ACLU Voting Rights Attorneys, organizers, and affiliates, you will shape research questions, conduct descriptive and causal analyses, review expert reports, and translate quantitative findings into recommendations for litigators, policymakers and judges. Your analyses will push for fair maps, fight voter suppression, and identify areas for expansion of voter access.

*Note: this position may be approved for remote work from a different U.S. location

RESPONSIBILITIES

You will be part of the Legal Analytics & Quantitative Research team, and work with team members across Analytics as well as stakeholders in our Legal, Political Advocacy, Digital, and Communications teams. Below is a sampling of projects you can expect to dive into:

Combine Census demographic data, legislative district maps, and election results to create powerful voting rights datasets

Review quantitative expert reports and depositions and provide recommendations to colleagues and co-counsel

Identify, evaluate, acquire, and integrate new Census data products and electoral results

Implement district simulation analyses and statistical methods such as ecological inference to inform litigation and advocacy efforts

Develop quantitative research analyses and literature reviews that support ACLU litigation and advocacy

Support the legal analytics team on other high-priority civil rights cases, including disparate impact claims in criminal justice, housing, or employment

Identify new opportunities for the ACLU's proactive voter protection efforts

Engage in special projects and other duties as assigned

Center principles of equity, inclusion, and belonging in all work, embedding the values in program development, policy application, and organizational practices and processes

Commitment to the mission of the ACLU

Demonstrate a commitment to diversity within the office using a personal approach that values all individuals and respects differences in regards to race, ethnicity, age, gender identity and expression, sexual orientation, religion, disability and socio-economic circumstance

Commitment to work collaboratively and respectfully toward resolving obstacles and/or conflicts

EXPERIENCE & QUALIFICATIONS

Substantial training and applied experience in a quantitative social science, such as Economics, Political Science, or equivalent

Fluency in R, Python, or comparable statistical programming language

Experience providing timely feedback on statistical analyses, for example in reviewing expert reports or peer-reviewing journal articles

Experience designing and evaluating causal inference research studies

Ability to clearly translate technical concepts for a non-technical audience

The ideal candidate will have a passion for the ACLU, civil liberties and civil rights, with an emphasis on voting rights and redistricting in particular

PREFERRED QUALIFICATIONS

Two+ years of graduate-level work or research in US voting and elections, or equivalent work experience

Experience using ecological inference, simulation analyses, and other social science methods to analyze voting patterns in redistricting

Experience working directly with US Census data products and precinct-level electoral return data

Experience using statistical techniques for causal identification in observational or experimental research, either in an academic or applied legal setting

Experience with Geographic Information Systems (GIS) software and spatial data, or mapping software for redistricting (e.g. Mapitude for Redistricting)

COMPENSATION

The annual salary for this position is $122,576 (Level F). This salary is reflective of a position based in New York, NY. This salary will be subject to a locality adjustment (according to a specific city and state), if an authorization is granted to work outside of the location listed in this posting. Note that most of the salaries listed on our job postings reflect New York, NY salaries, where our National offices are headquartered.

ABOUT THE ACLU

The ACLU dares to create a more perfect union – beyond one person, party, or side. Our mission is to realize this promise of the United States Constitution for all and expand the reach of its guarantees.

For over 100 years, the ACLU has worked to defend and preserve the individual rights and liberties guaranteed by the Constitution and laws of the United States. Whether it's ending mass incarceration, achieving full equality for the LGBTQ+ community, establishing new privacy protections for our digital age, or preserving the right to vote or the right to have an abortion, the ACLU takes up the toughest civil liberties cases and issues to defend all people from government abuse and overreach.

Equity, diversity, and inclusion are core values of the ACLU and central to our work to advance liberty, equality, and justice for all. We are a community committed to learning and growth, humility and grace, transparency and accountability. We believe in a collective responsibility to create a culture of belonging for all people within our organization – one that respects and embraces difference; treats everyone equitably; and empowers our colleagues to do the best work possible. We are as committed to anti-oppression and anti-racism internally as we are externally. Because whether we're in the courts or in the office, we believe 'We the People' means all of us.

The ACLU is an equal opportunity employer. We value a diverse workforce and an inclusive culture. The ACLU encourages applications from all qualified individuals without regard to race, color, religion, gender, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, age, national origin, marital status, citizenship, disability, veteran status and record of arrest or conviction, or any other characteristic protected by applicable law. Black people, Indigenous people, people of color; lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender, queer, and intersex people; women; people with disabilities, protected veterans, and formerly incarcerated individuals are all strongly encouraged to apply.

The ACLU makes every effort to assure that its recruitment and employment provide all qualified persons, including persons with disabilities, with full opportunities for employment in all positions.

The ACLU is committed to providing reasonable accommodation to individuals with disabilities. If you are a qualified individual with a disability and need assistance applying online, please email benefits.hrdept@aclu.org. If you are selected for an interview, you will receive additional information regarding how to request an accommodation for the interview process.

The Department of Education has determined that employment in this position at the ACLU does not qualify for the Public Service Loan Forgiveness Program.

Start Date: Fall 2022

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/9/2022

Salary: $120,000 - $129,999

eJobs ID: 10641

University of Maryland

Rank: Faculty Appointment in Management and Leadership (Associate or Full Professor)

The School of Public Policy at the University of Maryland, College Park seeks to appoint an Associate or Full Professor in the Management and Leadership field, starting in Fall 2023. The successful candidate will add to the school's long-standing research and pedagogical strengths in both leadership and management. Candidates who have demonstrated a commitment to working with women, non-binary and underrepresented minority students, and persons with disabilities through teaching, mentoring, or service are especially encouraged to apply, as are those whose hiring would enhance the School's diversity.

Candidates should have an outstanding record of research, teaching and service commensurate with expectations for a tenured associate or full professor appointment at a highly ranked public policy or public administration program. This includes a superior record of scholarly publications in leading refereed outlets, policy and practice engagement and impact, teaching effectiveness, and institutional service. It also includes success in securing external funding for collaborative research projects. The specific focus of research within the broader management and leadership area is open, but we particularly value demonstration that the candidate is able to focus on these issues across more than one sector—public, nonprofit, and private. The successful candidate will become a key intellectual player in the School's new Institute for Public Leadership, funded by the Maryland General Assembly. Depending on the interests and background of the candidate, they may also play a role in leading the Institute.

The successful candidate will teach in its undergraduate and graduate programs, contribute to a planned Master's in Public Administration degree, mentor doctoral students, and help students gain practical experience in the policy world. They will also mentor faculty colleagues, as appropriate.

Application materials should include a letter of interest describing qualifications, a curriculum vitae, contact information for at least three references, and three recent publication or writing samples. The School is committed to increasing diversity of our departmental community as well the greater campus community. We embrace diversity in multiple forms, including identity, background, theoretical and methodological orientations, and opinions. In addition, we ask that candidates explicitly address how their experience and background has prepared them to assist the school in meeting its diversity, equity, inclusion, and belonging (DEIB) goals. Either in a cover letter, or in a separate statement, this should include information outlining how, if appointed, the candidate's will assist the school in its commitment to DEIB.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/9/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10655

Baylor University

Rank: Full-Time Lecturer

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Policy, Public Administration

Baylor University seeks a Lecturer to start August 1, 2023.

Details for this position can be found at apply.interfolio.com/109426.

Position Description

The Department of Political Science at Baylor University invites applications for the position of Regular Lecturer in American Politics. This full-time position emphasizes teaching, although scholarly productivity is appreciated and the ability to generate external grants is recognized. The department is interested in applicants from all fields of American Politics. An ability to teach an introduction to American National Government is essential. In addition, the applicant should be able to teach a broad range of courses on American politics, such as Public Policy, Public Administration, Congress, Political Behavior, State/Local Government, or Race/Ethnicity. Candidates may apply beginning August 3, 2022. To ensure full consideration, completed applications must be submitted by September 18, 2022.

About Baylor University: Located in Waco, Texas, Baylor University is the oldest college in Texas. With a population of 21,000 students, Baylor is one of the top universities in the nation, having just been named an R1 institution by the Carnegie Classification in 2022. Baylor is also on the honor roll of the "Great Colleges to Work For" from The Chronicle of Higher Education; Baylor offers competitive salaries and benefits while giving faculty and staff the chance to live in one of the fastest-growing parts of the state. Our strategic plan, Illuminate, guides the University as we continue to live up to Baylor's mission of educating men and women for worldwide leadership and service by integrating academic excellence and Christian commitment within a caring community.

Qualifications

Candidates should possess an earned doctorate in Political Science or a related field by time of employment. Salary is commensurate with experience and qualifications.

Application Instructions

A complete application consists of (1) a cover letter, (2) a current curriculum vitae, (3) copies of official transcripts showing the highest degree conferred (if a Ph.D. is in progress, a transcript showing hours completed toward the Ph.D. is also required), (4) three letters of recommendation, (5) a statement of participation in a faith community in the Judeo-Christian tradition, (6) a statement of teaching philosophy, (7) evidence of teaching effectiveness including course evaluations, and (8) one writing sample. Finalists will be invited for interview with the department and university administration.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 9/18/2022

Date Posted: 8/6/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10636

United States Air Force Academy

Rank: Assistant Professor of Military and Strategic Studies

Subfield(s): International Relations, Public Policy, Other

Specializations: International Security, Defense, Intelligence

Teach undergraduate courses in military strategy and/or international security. Provide well-organized instruction to facilitate, assess, and continuously improve cadet learning. Conduct research in the field which contributes to the body of knowledge. Pursue personal professional development and engages in scholarly and professional activities to maintain academic currency as well as advance the discipline, the department, and the US Air Force Academy. For more details on this position, please contact Dr. Mike Fowler via email posted at <https://www.usafa.edu/facultyprofile/?smid=28765>.

Note: USAF Academy does not currently have a tenure system but plans to adopt one, pending congressional approval.

To apply, go to usajobs at <https://www.usajobs.gov/job/664233600>.

Start Date: Summer 2023

Application Deadline: 10/2/2022

Date Posted: 8/5/2022

Salary: $90,000 - $99,999

eJobs ID: 10632

Syracuse University

Rank: Associate or Full Professor -- Politics & Media

Syracuse University
Politics & Media

The Department of Political Science at Syracuse University's Maxwell School of Citizenship and Public Affairs seeks to hire a tenured Associate or Full Professor whose scholarship focuses on Politics and Media. This faculty member would be located in Washington D.C. and serve as the inaugural Research Director of the newly launched Center for Democracy, Journalism and Citizenship, a joint center between the Maxwell School and SI Newhouse School of Public Communication.

The political science department is housed within the Maxwell School of Citizenship and Public Affairs, which is committed to citizenship education at the undergraduate level and to graduate education in public affairs and the social sciences. We seek candidates who complement the broader Maxwell mission and have interdisciplinary interests. Applicants should have a Ph.D. in political science or a related field. The Maxwell School is interested in candidates who can contribute to the inclusiveness and diversity of the academic community through their research, teaching, and/or service. This new center will produce applied research, convene and facilitate meetings, and teach students in both traditional and experiential ways.

The center will also include visiting fellows, and Syracuse-based faculty will have an opportunity to participate through events or limited residencies.

We welcome applicants who study political communication. We also are open to multiple methods, and issues in domestic, international, and comparative contexts. This position is open with respect to sub-field and geographic focus. Candidates should have an outstanding record of scholarly publications, the ability to communicate scholarly findings broadly and the ability to teach effectively both at the undergraduate and graduate levels.

This position starts in Fall 2023 and is part of a broader Syracuse University Cluster Hires Initiative. The Citizenship and Democratic Institutions (CDI) Cluster draws together a diverse group of scholars who address critical issues related to the contested meanings of citizenship, civic engagement, public management, and the impacts of democratic institutions on social and economic well-being. The successful candidate will help shape future, multi-disciplinary hiring in the CDI Cluster, and lead and contribute to externally funded projects and interdisciplinary research initiatives within the Maxwell School and across the University.

APPLICATION INSTRUCTIONS:

For consideration, candidates must complete an online faculty application (available at <http://www.sujobops.com/>) and attach online the following: a letter of interest and a CV, a sample of professional writing, a statement of teaching philosophy, a statement about diversity, equity and inclusion, and evidence of quality teaching. Files may be no larger than 5MB, but you may submit an external link to a larger file if needed.

In addition, applicants will be required to provide the full email addresses of three references.

Applications will be reviewed as they arrive with full consideration given to those received by October 7, 2022. However, the department will continue to consider applications until this position is filled.

Our institution does not discriminate against job candidates on the basis of actual or perceived gender, gender identity, race, color, national origin, sexual orientation, marital status, disability, or religion.

Syracuse University is an equal-opportunity, affirmative-action institution. The University prohibits discrimination and harassment based on race, color, creed, religion, sex, gender, national origin, citizenship, ethnicity, marital status, age, disability, sexual orientation, gender identity and gender expression, veteran status, or any other status protected by applicable law to the extent prohibited by law. This nondiscrimination policy covers admissions, employment, and access to and treatment in University programs, services, and activities.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/4/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10615

Colorado State University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Public Policy and Administration

The Department of Political Science at Colorado State University invites applications for two tenure-track Assistant Professor positions in public policy and administration. Advanced Assistant Professors are encouraged to apply. The Department offers programs of study leading to the B.A., M.A., and Ph.D. degrees; the graduate program emphasizes the study of environmental politics and policy.

The Department values both strong teaching and research. Successful candidates will be expected to offer courses in public policy and administration curriculum at both the undergraduate and graduate levels, including some subset of public administration, policy process, environmental policy, urban policy, policy methods, or local and state government. The normal teaching load is 2-2.

Faculty members are also expected to advise and mentor graduate and undergraduate students; demonstrate an active research agenda; and provide service to the department, college, university, and community. Approximately one-third of undergraduate political science majors at CSU are first-generation college students. The Department offers programs of study leading to the B.A., M.A., and Ph.D. degrees. The doctoral degree emphasizes the study of environmental politics and policy.

Required Job Qualifications: Primary teaching and/or scholarly emphasis in public policy & administration; evidence of an active research agenda focused on public policy and administration; PhD in Political Science, public policy, public administration, or related field by August 16, 2023; evidence of teaching effectiveness.

Preferred Job Qualifications: Ability to enhance the Department's commitment to diversity and inclusion reflecting Departmental and institutional values. Focus on environmental policy, urban policy, policy methods, or local and state government.

Application Procedure: Applications will be accepted until the position is filled; to ensure full consideration, complete applications should be received by September 16, 2022. Applicants should submit: 1) a letter of application outlining teaching interests and research agenda as well as a brief statement on how your teaching, research and/or service demonstrate a commitment to diversity and inclusion; 2) Curriculum vitae; 3) Graduate school transcripts (unofficial transcripts acceptable at the initial stage of the search), 4) Evidence of demonstrated or potential teaching effectiveness (syllabi, teaching evaluations, letters of observation), 5) One sample of published or presented work, and 6) the names and contact information of three professional references. Reference letters will be requested at the finalist interview stage. References will not be contacted without prior notification of candidates. Application materials of semi-finalist candidates will be made available for review by the entire faculty in the Department of Political Science. The names and contact information of three professional referees. Application materials of semi-finalist candidates, including letters of reference, will be made available for review by the entire faculty in the Department of Political Science. Questions about the position can be directed to Dr. Robert Duffy (Robert.Duffy@colostate.edu).

For more information and to apply, please go to: <https://jobs.colostate.edu/postings/109435>

CSU is an EO/EA/AA employer and conducts background checks on all final candidates.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 9/16/2022

Date Posted: 8/3/2022

Salary: $70,000 - $79,999

eJobs ID: 10609

University of California, Berkeley

Rank: Assistant Professor - Public Management, Policy Implementation, and Governance - Goldman School of Public Policy

Assistant Professor - Public Management, Policy Implementation, and Governance - Goldman School of Public Policy

Position overview

Position title: Assistant Professor of Public Policy

Anticipated start: July 1, 2023

Application Window

Open July 28th, 2022 through Saturday, Oct 1, 2022 at 11:59pm (Pacific Time)

Position description

The Goldman School of Public Policy at the University of California, Berkeley, invites applications for a tenure-track appointment to the faculty at the Assistant Professor rank.

We seek applications from intellectually rigorous and exciting scholars whose research focuses on some combination of public policy implementation, public management, bureaucracy, improving government performance, electoral administration, organizational behavior, or behavioral economics, and who can teach innovative courses on these topics to our graduate students. We welcome applications from researchers studying these topics in the United States and/or in other countries. We expect a demonstrated interest in using research to advance public policy and address pressing public problems.

The Goldman School encourages applications from individuals of any scholarly discipline whose research focuses on these questions, including those in public policy, political science, economics, public affairs, sociology, psychology, business, and law, or data scientists with roots in computer science, schools of information, economics, and other fields. Preference will be given to scholars who have demonstrated the potential to make significant research contributions and who have a clear interest in teaching in the core of the School's Masters in Public Policy professional program. Public-sector experience, including in public management, is also desirable.

The Goldman School of Public Policy is committed to addressing the family needs of faculty, including dual career couples and single parents. We are also interested in candidates who have had non-traditional career paths or who have taken time off for family reasons, or who have achieved excellence in careers outside academia. For information about potential relocation to Berkeley, or career needs of accompanying partners and spouses, please visit: <http://ofew.berkeley.edu/new-faculty>

School: <https://gspp.berkeley.edu/>

Qualifications Basic qualifications (required at time of application) PhD (or equivalent international degree), or enrolled in PhD or equivalent international degree-granting program at the time of application.

Preferred qualifications

Preference will be given to scholars who have demonstrated the potential to make significant research contributions and who have a clear interest in teaching in the core of the School's Masters in Public Policy professional program. Public-sector experience, including in public management, is also desirable.

Application Requirements Document requirements

- Curriculum Vitae - Your most recently updated C.V.
- Cover Letter
- Statement of Research
- Statement on Contributions to Advancing Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion - Statement on your contributions to diversity, equity, and inclusion, including information about your understanding of these topics, your record of activities to date, and your specific plans and goals for advancing equity and inclusion if hired at Berkeley (for additional information go to <https://ofew.berkeley.edu/recruitment/contributions-diversity><https://ofew.berkeley.edu/recruitment/contributions-diversity>).
- Significant Research Sample
- Statement of Teaching (Optional)

Reference requirements

- 3-5 letters of reference required

Apply link: <https://apptrkr.com/3295061>

Help contact: aaschiller@berkeley.edu

Campus Information

Diversity, equity, inclusion, and belonging are core values at UC Berkeley. Our excellence can only be fully realized by faculty, students, and academic and non-academic staff who share our commitment to these values. Successful candidates for our academic positions will demonstrate evidence of a commitment to advancing equity, inclusion, and belonging.

The University of California, Berkeley is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability, age, or protected veteran status. For the complete University of California nondiscrimination and affirmative action policy see: <http://policy.ucop.edu/doc/4000376/NondiscrimAffirmAct>

In searches when letters of reference are required all letters will be treated as confidential per University of California policy and California state law. Please refer potential referees, including when letters are provided via a third party (i.e., dossier service or career center), to the UC Berkeley statement of confidentiality (<http://apo.berkeley.edu/ucb-confidentiality-policy>) prior to submitting their letter.

As a condition of employment, you will be required to comply with the University of California SARS-CoV-2 (COVID-19) Vaccination Program Policy. All Covered Individuals under the policy must provide proof of Full Vaccination or, if applicable, submit a request for Exception (based on Medical Exemption, Disability, and/or Religious Objection) or Deferral (based on pregnancy) no later than the applicable deadline. Please refer to Appendix F, Section II.C. of the policy for the deadlines applicable to new University of California employees. (Capitalized terms in this paragraph are defined in the policy.) Federal, state, or local public health directives may impose additional requirements.

Positions that are represented by a collective bargaining unit or agent have particular contracts. For more information, please refer to the relevant contract: <https://ucnet.universityofcalifornia.edu/labor/bargaining-units/ix/index.html>, <https://ucnet.universityofcalifornia.edu/labor/bargaining-units/px/index.html>, <https://ucnet.universityofcalifornia.edu/labor/bargaining-units/ra/index.html>, and <https://ucnet.universityofcalifornia.edu/labor/bargaining-units/lx/index.html>. Questions about represented positions can be directed to the hiring unit.

Job location Berkeley, CA

To apply, visit <https://apptrkr.com/3295080>

Copyright ©2022 Jobelephant.com Inc. All rights reserved.

<https://www.jobelephant.com/>

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 10/1/2022

Date Posted: 8/3/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10602

University of Massachusetts, Amherst

Rank: Assistant Professor of Public Policy and Management

Apply here: <https://careers.umass.edu/amherst/en-us/job/515192/assistant-professorpublic-policy-and-management-school-of-public-policy>

About UMass Amherst

UMass Amherst, the Commonwealth's flagship campus, is a nationally ranked public research university offering a full range of undergraduate, graduate and professional degrees. The University sits on nearly 1,450-acres in the scenic Pioneer Valley of Western Massachusetts and offers a rich cultural environment in a bucolic setting close to major urban centers. In addition, the University is part of the Five Colleges (including Amherst College, Hampshire College, Mount Holyoke College, and Smith College), which adds to the intellectual energy of the region.

Job Description

SPP invites applications for a tenure track faculty position at the level of Assistant Professor, expected to start on September 1, 2023. The successful candidate will contribute to SPP's growing programs and community of programs, students, staff and faculty by building our interdisciplinary and community-engaged research and teaching agenda. Areas of interest for the search include public and nonprofit management; state and/or local government; policy or management approaches to inequality; climate, energy, and/or environmental justice policy or management; social enterprises and new organizational forms for the public good; comparative and/or international policy or management; public and nonprofit budgeting and/or finance. Competitive candidates' research will reflect an intersectional approach including but not limited to race, gender, sexuality, and migration. Candidates should be able to teach required courses in the undergraduate and master's programs and contribute specialized courses in their areas of expertise.

The School of Public Policy's work is constructed on the principles of democracy, social justice and equity, respect for human rights, and sustainability. We are a dynamic, interdisciplinary knowledge hub of undergraduate and graduate students, faculty, staff, and community partners, all of whom examine issues, ranging from the local to the global, through innovative social science methods. We emphasize real-world impact as we strive to understand, manage, and develop policy solutions.

With 13 full-time faculty and 10 jointly appointed faculty from across campus, SPP celebrates multidisciplinary in its research and teaching. It was named to be among the most innovative public service programs in the United States by the independent group Best Value Schools and received the National Association of Schools of Public Affairs and Administration's inaugural Social Equity Award in recognition of its commitment to teaching, research, and service aimed at advancing social justice and social change. It offers both undergraduate and graduate degrees and an alumni network spanning public, nonprofit and private sectors.

Minimum Requirements

Successful candidates will exhibit promise in scholarly publishing, a commitment to public policy and management education, and a willingness to contribute to the growth of the School of Public Policy. Applicants must have earned a PhD in Public Policy, Public Administration, or a closely related social science discipline, by the starting date of the appointment.

Application Instructions

Applicants should submit the following materials:

1. A letter of interest addressed to Professor Jane Fountain, Director, School of Public Policy, Thompson Hall, 200 Hicks Way, Amherst, MA 01003 USA
2. A diversity statement (see below)
3. Curriculum vitae
4. Up to three samples of written work
5. Evidence of quality teaching (such as summaries of teaching evaluations and/or a teaching statement)

6. Names and contact information for three (3) professional references

The one-page diversity statement should discuss the candidate's skills, experiences and commitment to: teaching and mentoring diverse and historically underserved student populations; professional service that assists in achieving equity, inclusion, and diversity; and, how the candidate's past or future research and teaching addresses fundamental questions important to an increasingly diverse and global society.

Applicants are required to apply through the UMass online application system:

<https://careers.umass.edu/amherst/en-us/job/515192/assistant-professor-public-policy-and-management-school-of-public-policy>

Any questions about the position may be sent to:
SPP Faculty Search Committee, School of Public Policy at sppfaculty-search@umass.edu.

Please apply by September 22, 2022, to ensure priority consideration. The search may remain open until a suitable candidate pool has been identified, or the position is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 9/22/2022

Date Posted: 8/3/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10607

Brown University

Rank: Watson Institute Postdoctoral Fellows Program 2022-2024

Subfield(s): International Relations, Public Policy, Comparative Politics

The Watson Institute for International and Public Affairs at Brown University aspires to promote a just and peaceful world through research, teaching, and public engagement. Central to this mission is the Watson Postdoctoral Fellows Program, an effort to galvanize the careers of young social scientists conducting research related to the Institute's three core thematic areas:

development, governance, and security. Participants in this program will join an interdisciplinary community of scholars engaged in theoretically and substantively important research addressing the most pressing global issues of our time. Fellows receive two years of support, with the expectation that they will pursue research and participate fully in the intellectual life of the Institute. Fellows will also teach one course per year in the Institute or in an affiliated Brown University social science department. Watson Institute is especially interested in qualified candidates who can contribute, through their research, teaching, and/or service, to the diversity and excellence of the academic community.

Founded in 1764, Brown is a leading research university distinct for its student-centered learning and deep sense of purpose. Brown University students, faculty, and staff are driven by the idea that their work will have an impact on the world. Brown is a place where rigorous scholarship, complex problem-solving, and service to the public good are defined by collaboration, intellectual discovery, and working in ways that transcend traditional disciplinary boundaries.

The fellowship competition is open to candidates from the social sciences, including anthropology, economics, history, political science, and sociology. The selection process, open with regard to nationality and geographic area of research, is highly competitive and typically generates over 500 applications for 4 or 5 places. Scholars who have received their PhDs within two years of the application deadline are eligible to apply. Individuals who are currently – or have previously been – postdoctoral fellows in other programs are not eligible to apply. Fellows will receive an annual stipend of $60,000, for this benefits-eligible position. Additional funding will be made available for research expenses and research-related programming on campus. Candidates selected for the Postdoctoral Fellows program who have not completed their dissertations by July 1, 2023, will be paid a reduced salary until their dissertation is defended.

To receive full consideration, the following materials should be submitted by September 30, 2022 to the application portal <http://apply.interfolio.com/109862>

- A cover letter stating the applicant's academic field, status of their dissertation, and proposed research to be conducted during their fellowship period. The cover letter should not exceed 2,000 words and should make clear where in the Institute's core areas of security, development, or governance the proposed research best fits.

Please also include a statement about teaching in a diverse and inclusive classroom.

- An up-to-date curriculum vitae.
- A copy of each graduate transcript.
- A writing sample.
- Three letters of recommendation from scholars familiar with the applicant's research.

Review of applications will begin on September 30; to receive full consideration applications should be received by that date. Awards will be announced in January 2023.

For further information regarding the Watson Institute Postdoctoral Fellows Program, please visit the Watson Institute website (watson.brown.edu) or contact: Professor J. Nicholas Ziegler, Faculty Director of the Watson Postdoctoral Fellows Program, 2022-2023, Thomas J. Watson Jr. Institute for International and Public Affairs, Brown University, 111 Thayer Street, Box 1970 Providence, RI 02912. j_ziegler@brown.edu. For information about the application process, please email: Watson_Applications@brown.edu

Brown University is situated on the East Side of Providence, on historic College Hill, overlooking downtown Providence. The area around Brown has a friendly, residential vibe, with plentiful housing options, shopping, cafés, and restaurants, all within walking distance of campus. With its low cost of living and historic architecture, the capital city is a vibrant place to live and work that offers a dynamic arts and culture scene, including many music, theater, and art venues. Located in southern New England, the State of Rhode Island features more than 400 miles of coastline and 100 beaches. Beautiful farms, vineyards, orchards, wooded trails, and numerous historic towns cover its 1200 square miles.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 9/30/2020

Date Posted: 8/1/2022

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 10554

Fordham UniversityRank: Assistant Professor

Job Ad in American Politics

Department of Political Science
Fordham University

The Department of Political Science at Fordham University invites applications for a tenure-track position in American Politics at the rank of Assistant Professor, beginning Fall 2023. The area of specialization is open, but the department is particularly interested in candidates who specialize in American institutions and might teach courses on the American presidency and American public policy. The position is located at Fordham's Rose Hill campus. We encourage applications from candidates who will deepen our engagement with institutions within New York City, advance strategically focused research, and contribute to the University's and the department's commitment to quality teaching and research.

Consistent with our Jesuit and Catholic mission, we believe that cultural and intellectual diversity and inclusivity are central to the excellence of our academic program and we strive to create an academic community and campus culture that attracts and facilitates the development of promising and diverse teacher-scholars. As our student body becomes increasingly diverse, we are especially interested in candidates with substantive experience and commitment to inclusive teaching and mentoring students from a range of social, cultural and economic backgrounds.

Review of applications will begin on October 1. Interested applicants must submit the following documents in electronic format (PDF or Microsoft Word) via Interfolio, at <http://apply.interfolio.com/108909>: a cover letter addressing research interests and experience, curriculum vitae, writing sample (no more than 30-35 pages), three letters of reference, and evidence of teaching effectiveness. Evidence of teaching effectiveness should include a teaching statement reflecting the candidate's pedagogical approach and experience and may include past course syllabi and/or peer observations; please do not include student evaluations as these will not be considered. Application materials should also address how the candidate's teaching, mentoring, scholarship, and/or community service supports Fordham University's commitment to diversity. Ph.D. at the time of appointment is required. If you have questions about this position, please contact Professor Monika McDermott at mmcdermott@fordham.edu.

Fordham is an independent, Catholic University in the Jesuit tradition committed to excellence through diversity. Fordham is an equal opportunity employer, and we especially encourage women, people of color, veterans, and people with disabilities to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2023Application Deadline: 10/1/2022Date Posted: 8/1/2022Salary: CompetitiveeJobs ID: 10552University of Chicago*Rank: Collegiate Assistant Professor*Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, International Relations, Public PolicySpecializations: American Politics, Western Europe, Political Thought: Historical

The College at the University of Chicago is now accepting applications for four-year postdoctoral teaching appointments as Harper and Schmidt Fellows who hold the rank of Collegiate Assistant Professor. Collegiate Assistant Professors are members of the College Faculty whose primary professional responsibility is to teach in the general education (Core) program.

Core courses in the Humanities typically deal with fundamental issues and texts in history, philosophy, and literature. Currently, the Core is organized into eight year-long sequences: Readings in World Literature; Human Being and Citizen; Greece and Rome: Texts, Traditions, Transformations; Philosophical Perspectives on the Humanities; Media Aesthetics; Reading Cultures; Poetry and the Human; and Language and the Human. For a description of these sequences see: <http://collegecatalog.uchicago.edu/thecollege/humanities/>.

Core courses in the Social Sciences explore, on the basis of significant works or primary source materials, the fundamental concepts and the different modes of inquiry that have defined the social sciences in the modern period. Currently, Collegiate Assistant Professors teach in six of the year-long sequences into which the Core is organized: Self, Culture and Society; Classics of Social and Political Thought; Power, Identity, and Resistance; Global Society; Mind (a broad course explaining social science in the context of psychological science research); and Social Science Inquiry. For a description of these sequences see: <http://collegecatalog.uchicago.edu/thecollege/socialsciences/>.

Some Collegiate Assistant Professors also teach in the History of European Civilization Core sequence as well as the Introductions to the Civilizations of East Asian Core sequences. These courses are taught on the basis of intensive readings of significant primary source documents. For descriptions of the History of European Civilization and the Civilizations of East Asia sequences see: <http://collegecatalog.uchicago.edu/thecollege/civilizationstudies/>.

The positions are open to scholars in all disciplines and areas of specialization who will have completed all requirements for their Ph.D. degree no later than August 31, 2023. Candidates must demonstrate excellence in teaching as well as in their original scholarship.

In most years, Collegiate Assistant Professors teach two courses (usually of identical preparation) for each of three quarters. In the second through fourth year of residence, each Collegiate Assistant Professor has the opportunity to design up to two independent courses and each is eligible for one quarter of research sabbatical. In the fourth year there is a possibility of another quarter of sabbatical with salary reduction.

The position comes with an annual salary for 2023-24 of $80,166, carries full benefits, and an annual professional development fund of $6,500. The effective date for these teaching appointments is September 1, 2023.

To apply for these positions, please see our web site at <https://fellows.uchicago.edu>. The web site will be available to accept applications beginning August 19, 2022.

The terms and conditions of these positions are described in the collective bargaining agreement between the University and the Service Employees International Union.

On-line application deadline: 11:59:59 PM EDT, Friday, October 14, 2022.

We seek a diverse pool of applicants who wish to join an academic community that places the highest value on rigorous inquiry and encourages diverse perspectives, experiences, groups of individuals, and ideas to inform and stimulate intellectual challenge, engagement, and exchange. The University's Statements on Diversity are at <https://provost.uchicago.edu/statements-diversity>.

The University of Chicago is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity/Disabled/Veterans Employer and does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national or ethnic origin, age, status as an individual with a disability, protected veteran status, genetic information, or other protected classes under the law. For additional information please see the University's Notice of Nondiscrimination at <https://www.uchicago.edu/nondiscrimination>.

Job seekers in need of a reasonable accommodation to complete the application process should call 773-834-0681 or email dneibel@uchicago.edu with their request.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 10/14/2022

Date Posted: 8/1/2022

Salary: $80,000 - $89,999

eJobs ID: 10577

Occidental College

Rank: Assistant Professor of Urban Policy and Politics

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Public Law, Public Administration

The Urban & Environmental Policy Department at Occidental College invites applications for a teacher and scholar at the Assistant Professor level in Urban Policy and Politics, with a focus on Community Organizing, Labor Studies, Urban Political Economy, and/or Public Policy. The position will begin August 2023.

We are interested in candidates who understand urban and environmental problems as deeply linked, and whose research and teaching examine issues of economic and social inequalities, labor and community organizing, and the social, economic, racial, and gender dimensions of workplaces and the labor market. We are interested in candidates whose work considers the role of politics and policymaking at local, state, and national levels, and the challenges faced by policymakers to address existing inequities while also finding sustainable, and democratic solutions to environmental and economic injustice. We seek a scholar who approaches their work through interdisciplinary analysis and considers the role of labor and community organizing as an important response to and strategy to address inequality and to advance social justice..

Occidental faculty are committed teacher-scholars who bring research and creative discovery to life for students in classrooms, labs, studios, and mentored projects. They teach broadly in the curricula of their departments, advise students, carry out research and creative work, and provide departmental, college-wide, and external service. The primary responsibilities of the selected candidate will include the development and teaching of introductory and core courses in the discipline, including courses in your area(s) of specialization. Specific courses that include the introductory level department course (UEP 101), Community Organizing and Leadership, Community Internship/Practicum; and Urban Politics and Policy; ; the senior comprehensive seminar; and a college-wide first year seminar as well as as well as developing new courses in Labor Studies and Public Policy Analysis. and/or a new course in their own area of expertise. The candidate will also be responsible for producing scholarship commensurate with the requirements for tenure and will be expected to develop a program of research that engages undergraduate students. Incoming faculty will be expected to contribute to and participate in the life and development of the department, advise students, serve on committees, and participate in the broader college and disciplinary communities.

We invite candidates from a range of disciplines, including sociology, political science, social work, social welfare, labor studies, urban planning, geography, applied economics, law, and public policy. In particular, we seek candidates with emphases from a range of disciplines in subfields of: race, gender, and work; urban politics; community organizing; and labor and globalization. Candidates are expected to hold the Ph.D. degree or terminal degree in their field, and must have completed or be completing their doctorate by fall 2023.

We are open to considering non-traditional candidates with extensive professional and community experience as well as a demonstrated record of research and teaching experience but who may not have a Ph.D. or other terminal degree but would prioritize engagement with students while bringing their extensive field experience into the academy.

Required Qualifications

demonstrated commitment to and excellence in undergraduate teaching. We seek an effective and engaged teacher able to explain the relationships between local and global aspects of our urban problems and how policy practitioners, advocates and researchers, along with government officials, can create practical solutions at the community, local, state, national, and global levels, and teach students to understand and apply ideas about urban politics and political economy, including issues of race, place, poverty, inequality, and policy in the context of a global political economy.

a strong record of scholarly accomplishments appropriate to the level of appointment or demonstration of applied research and written policy analyses for nontraditional candidates; an existing research program with a plan to integrate undergraduate students into their research.

demonstrated experience in a range of practices (advocacy, community organizing, government, community engaged research, and public service) with preference for experience working on how policy and organizing impacts marginalized, low-income, and communities of color.

demonstrated experience in working collaboratively with colleagues demonstrated potential for effective integration of technology into instruction

demonstrated commitment to working effectively with students from minoritized and marginalized social groups

ability to balance excellent teaching, scholarship, and service

demonstrated commitment to the four cornerstones of the mission of the College: excellence, equity, community, and service contribution to community engaged teaching and research, a central priority of the College's strategic plan.

Preferred Qualifications

experience working collaboratively with local community organizations

industry experience

Application Submission Materials

You must submit a complete application package electronically to be considered. To apply, please send the following required materials to UEPurbanserch@oxy.edu:

Cover Letter in which you respond to the required and preferred (if applicable) qualifications

Curriculum Vitae

Research Statement

Teaching Philosophy Statement

Commitment to Inclusive Excellence Statement

This statement provides your unique perspective on your past and present contributions to and future aspirations for promoting justice, equity, inclusion, and diversity in your professional career. This should include your demonstrated commitment to, past evidence of, and future plans for creating equitable opportunities for learning and mentoring especially for students from marginalized and minoritized groups. The purpose of this statement is to help the department identify candidates who have professional experience, intellectual commitments, and/or willingness to engage in activities that could help the College contribute to its mission in these areas.

List of three references with relevant contact information

If you advance to the finalist phase, you will be asked to have each of your three references submit a letter of recommendation. Please have these ready for the referents to submit should you move forward to this phase of the search. Do not submit these letters with your initial application.

Upon receipt of a complete application package, you will receive a preliminary questionnaire. You must complete this questionnaire to move forward in the search process.

Please direct all questions about the position to: UEPurbanserch@oxy.edu

Application Deadline

To be assured full consideration, your application materials must be received by October 3, 2022.

The Department and College

The Urban and Environmental Policy Department is unique among liberal arts colleges. Many liberal arts colleges have urban studies, public policy, or environmental studies programs. Occidental's UEP major integrates each of these disciplines into a single interdisciplinary major, one that is uniquely situated in a liberal arts college located in the dynamic city of Los Angeles.

UEP is an interdisciplinary program that has multiple goals for student learning outcomes: critical thinking; writing and speaking skills; recognition and capacity to engage in policy development; knowledge about diverse communities and institutions; and an ability to translate what the students learn into a path for future learning and career development.

Our curriculum includes a heavy emphasis on writing and presentations, a strong focus on original research, including applied and policy-relevant research, community-engaged and client-based projects, and multiple strategies for community engagement, including community engaged research, internship requirements and opportunities in Los Angeles and beyond, and classes geared to providing an understanding of the policy process, with a focus on cities and the process of urbanization.

Oxy's location in urban Los Angeles sets it apart from other liberal arts colleges, most located outside of cities in more rural or suburban locations. UEP and the College has centered Oxy's Los Angeles location as critical to its curriculum. Our presence in Los Angeles offers the perfect setting for integrating the study of urban and environmental issues.

Finally, the Urban & Environmental Policy Institute (UEPI), our research, policy, and advocacy institute, mirrors our UEP major as a campus-wide center for community engagement, research, and advocacy. Through private foundation and government grants, UEPI has conducted research, engaged in policy analysis, and participated in advocacy efforts that have made a major difference in Los Angeles and around the country for over 15 years. UEPI has a professional research and program staff who develop programs and initiatives in the community that provide opportunities for all Oxy students to conduct research, study policy, and participate in advocacy. In the past four years more than 350 students from multiple majors across campus have participated in UEPI-funded projects. UEPI staff members bring professional degrees and experience to the classroom and have taught several UEP courses and advised, mentored, and provided research assistance to dozens of Oxy students – both UEP and non-UEP majors. Thus, UEPI has had a significant impact on the College's mission in terms of both classroom teaching and undergraduate research.

Additional Information

Occidental is an Equal Opportunity Employer and does not unlawfully discriminate against employees or applicants on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, gender expression, pregnancy, breastfeeding or related medical condition, national origin, ancestry, citizenship, age, marital status, physical disability, mental disability, medical condition, genetic characteristic or information, military and veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by state or federal law. Occidental is strongly committed to increasing the diversity of the campus community and the curriculum, and to fostering an inclusive, equitable, and just environment within which students, staff, administrators, and faculty thrive. Candidates who can contribute to this goal through their teaching, research, advising, and other activities are encouraged to identify their strengths and experiences in this area. Individuals advancing the College's strategic equity and justice goals and those from groups whose underrepresentation in the American professoriate has been severe and longstanding are particularly encouraged to apply.

Salary is commensurate with experience and qualifications. Moving expense reimbursement (up to $5000, taxable according to current IRS regulations), start-up funds, and a one-course reduction of teaching load in the first year are provided. A comprehensive benefits package is available that includes: excellent health, dental, life, and retirement benefits; tuition benefits for the employee, spouse, domestic partner, and dependents; additional extras including use of gym facilities and the College Library. For a detailed description of benefits, please visit <https://www.oxy.edu/offices-services/human-resources/benefits-information>.

All qualified applicants will be considered for employment, including those with criminal histories, in a manner consistent with the requirements of applicable state and local laws, including the City of Los Angeles' Fair Chance Initiative for Hiring Ordinance.

Occidental College is committed to working with and providing reasonable accommodations to applicants with qualifying disabilities. If you need a reasonable accommodation because of a disability for any part of the application or employment process, please contact Human Resources (hr@oxy.edu).

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 10/3/2022

Date Posted: 7/29/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10561

Florida State University

Rank: Assistant Professor in Public Policy

The Department of Political Science (<https://coss.fsu.edu/polisci/>) in the College of Social Sciences & Public Policy at Florida State University seeks applications for two tenure-track assistant professor positions to begin in Fall 2023. We seek candidates whose research focuses on public policy. The search is open with respect to specialization, and applicants studying American or comparative public policy are welcome. Successful candidates are expected to add to the department's strengths in quantitative, experimental, and/or formal methods.

Florida State University is a Carnegie Foundation classified Research I institution. Among its 44,000 students are over 10,000 graduate students pursuing over 200 programs of study. Tallahassee is Florida's capital and has a metropolitan population of over 385,000. Its principal employers are state government and three higher education institutions.

Applicants should submit (1) a letter of application indicating research and teaching interests, (2) a curriculum vitae, (3) writing samples, (4) three letters of recommendation, and (5) a graduate school transcript. All items must be submitted electronically. Send these files as separate email attachments (PDFs are expected) to polisci@fsu.edu and specify "Public Policy Search" in the subject line. Review of applications will begin September 16, 2022 and will continue until the position is filled.

Contact: Prof. Eric Coleman

Email: ecoleman@fsu.edu

Phone: 850-644-5727

Department of Political Science
Florida State University
P.O. Box 3062160
Bellamy 531
Tallahassee, FL 32306-2230

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 9/16/2022

Date Posted: 7/27/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10545

Johns Hopkins University

Rank: Assistant Program Director/Lecturer or Sr. Lecturer, Policy and Administration

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Public Administration, American Government and Politics

Johns Hopkins University
Zanvyl Krieger School of Arts and Sciences
Advanced Academic Programs

Apply here: <https://apply.interfolio.com/110584>

Location:
Washington, DC

Description:

The Johns Hopkins University invites applications for the position of Assistant Program Director in the area of Public Policy and Administration. This position will support the Master of Arts in Public

Management (primary), Master of Arts in Nonprofit Management, and Master of Arts of Government programs in the Center for Advanced Governmental Studies, within the Krieger School of Arts & Sciences' Advanced Academic Programs Division. Reporting to the Director of the Center for Advanced Governmental Studies and Associate Dean for Graduate & Professional Programs, the Assistant Program Director will contribute to the excellence of the programs and will demonstrate and support ongoing innovation in the curriculums. Johns Hopkins University is committed to hiring candidates who, through their teaching and service, will contribute to the diversity and excellence of the academic community.

Advanced Academic Programs:

The Advanced Academic Programs (AAP) is a division of the Krieger School of Arts & Sciences at the Johns Hopkins University (JHU). As the nation's oldest and one of its most prestigious research universities, JHU offers high-quality master's degrees and post-baccalaureate education to students online, at its Washington, DC Center, and at the Homewood campus in Baltimore, MD. AAP enrolls over 6,000 students each academic year in over 45-degree programs.

AAP was started in 1992 to provide students with the opportunity to obtain a master's degree in a professional and part-time graduate program. Over the course of nearly 30 years, AAP has worked diligently to add new degree programs that fit within the academic structure of the Krieger School and satisfy the demands of the marketplace. AAP distinguishes itself through its intensive instructional assistance, selective admissions, and more than 50 dedicated full-time faculty. Tenured Krieger School faculty members serve as Program Chairs within AAP and work together in the Council of Program Chairs, an academic advisory body to the KSAS Dean.

AAP's website, <http://advanced.jhu.edu/>, provides additional information.

The Position:

AAP's programs in public management, nonprofit management, and government prepare students for leadership positions in public service and advocacy. Students develop sophisticated skills in policy analysis, research, and administration. With an ever-growing and diverse student body, the programs are continually expanding and enhancing their course offerings to meet both academic and practitioner needs. Currently, the programs serve over 400 students both onsite and online, including a large number of international students.

In both academic and administrative roles, the Assistant Program Director supports the curriculums, students, and adjunct faculty. The Assistant Program Director will have significant interaction/collaboration with the Program Directors and other faculty within the Center for Advanced Governmental Studies, as well as across other AAP programs, including the Applied Economics and Communication programs.

The Assistant Program Director is a full-time, non-tenure-track, 12-month renewable faculty position with the academic title of Lecturer or Senior Lecturer, commensurate with experience. The Assistant Program Director reports to the Director of the Center for Advanced Governmental Studies, who consults with the Program Chair on academic matters, and to the Associate Dean for Graduate & Professional Programs, who leads the Advanced Academic Programs and reports to the Dean of the Krieger School of Arts & Sciences.

The Assistant Program Director will have the following academic and administrative responsibilities:

Academic Responsibilities:

Teach 6 graduate courses per year, including preparation and time spent in the classroom (both on-site in the Washington, DC Center and online), using best practices for teaching, engaging, and mentoring students from diverse backgrounds in the learning process, and responding to student questions

Advise students, including both program and research/capstone advising

Provide input on the curriculums and new course development to ensure the delivery and growth of quality programs

Other academic duties normally performed by full-time faculty, such as participating on committees, attending academic events, or contributing to other academic service

Administrative Responsibilities:

Assist with the management of degree concentrations or areas of focus

Participate in the adjunct faculty hiring and development processes

Assist the Program Directors with administrative tasks, such as planning events and reviewing admission materials

Other administrative duties as assigned

Qualifications:

The Assistant Program Director role is critical to maintaining the overall high quality of this program. The Assistant Program Director must have a passion for education and its power to change lives, especially for international, part-time, and non-residential students. A track record of successful graduate and/or online teaching, as well as skills in instructional design, content development, and instructional technology, are important.

Candidates who have experience teaching and engaging students from diverse backgrounds are of particular interest.

To be considered, candidates should meet a set of minimum qualifications and ideally meet several additional preferred qualifications.

Minimum Qualifications:

- PhD in public administration, public policy, or political economy, or in a relevant field such as government or political science; other terminal degrees in these or related fields may be considered
- 1-3 years of higher education teaching experience online and/or at the graduate level
- The ability to teach a variety of courses in one or more of the following areas: public administration, policy analysis and evaluation, public financial management and budgeting, political economy
- Strong organizational skills
- Excellent oral and written communication skills

Preferred Qualifications:

- 4 or more years of higher education teaching experience online and/or at the graduate level
- 1-3 years of related professional experience within the areas of public policy, program management, or budget/financial analysis, including but not limited to positions in government (federal, state, or local), think tanks and public policy research organizations, advocacy associations, and nonprofits focused on public policy issues.
- Experience managing a degree or certificate program
- Demonstrated track record of excellence in teaching and innovation in curriculum design
- The ability to work independently in a fast-paced environment with competing demands and multiple deadlines in both on-site and online environments

Application Instructions:

For consideration, interested and qualified candidates should submit the following materials via Interfolio (<https://apply.interfolio.com/110584>):

- Cover letter that describes the applicant's interest in the position
- CV
- Teaching evaluations from the two most recent semesters

The selected candidate will be expected to undergo a background check and to submit proof of educational attainment.

Start Date: Spring 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/27/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10547

Union CollegeRank: Joseph B. Board Professor of Environmental Policy

The Department of Political Science and Environmental Science, Policy, and Engineering (ESPE) Program at Union College invite applications for the Joseph B. Board Professor of Environmental Policy. This is a tenure-track, assistant professor position in the Political Science Department, with the successful candidate contributing courses to Political Science as well as the ESPE Program. This endowed position includes a salary supplement and an annual allowance to support research and travel. The position will begin in fall 2023 and is conditional on budget.

We will hire a faculty member with expertise in environmental policy with a strong preference for a focus on climate policy. We also welcome applicants with additional teaching interests in (but not limited to) one or more of the following: environmental/climate justice, environmental law, the U.S. policymaking process, environmental activism, or global environmental politics. The successful candidate will be expected to teach Introduction to U.S. Politics and the Environmental Science and Policy Senior Seminar (on a topic in their area of expertise) as well as advise a combination of Political Science and ESPE senior projects. Other advanced-level policy courses will be appropriate for Political Science and ESPE students. Union College recognizes the rich possibilities of interdisciplinary studies by offering many opportunities for both faculty and students to engage with multiple disciplines – and each other – in collaborative classroom settings, innovative majors, and unique research initiatives. The successful hire will contribute courses to ESPE and potentially other interdisciplinary programs, depending on their areas of expertise.

Union College is a leading national undergraduate liberal arts college located in Schenectady, NY, a culturally rich and economically diverse city in New York State's Capital Region, and is within three hours from New York City, Boston, and Montreal. Union offers highly competitive salary and benefits. For more information on benefits, please visit our website: <https://www.union.edu/human-resources/benefits>.

The normal teaching load is six courses across a trimester system. Normally, faculty supervise senior projects that count for one course of the teaching load. Tenure track hires have a one course load reduction in their first year and receive additional research support. Evidence of teaching experience and effectiveness will be important, as will evidence of research achievements and an agenda for future work. Candidates with a Ph.D. are preferred, though ABD candidates who will complete their degree requirements by September 1, 2023 will be considered.

Union College is an equal opportunity employer and strongly committed to student and workforce diversity. Union provides a blend of intellectual, social and cultural opportunities to facilitate the integrated academic, social and personal development of a diverse community. We value and are committed to a host of diverse populations and cultures including, but not limited to, those based on race, religion, disability, ethnicity, sexual orientation, gender, gender identity, national origin and veteran status. Increasing diversity on campus is a critical priority for Union, one that is integral to our mission of preparing students for a globally interconnected world. Our goal is not only to increase diversity, but to support a diverse environment in which people from varied backgrounds can succeed and thrive. As such, we welcome applications from members of groups traditionally underrepresented in the field and we ask all applicants to address in their cover letter the ways in which their candidacy represents a commitment to the ideals of joining a community of diverse faculty, students, and staff.

To ensure applications receive full consideration, they should be submitted by September 9, 2022. Please upload a cover letter, CV, a sample of scholarly work, teaching evaluations, and other relevant teaching materials to jobs.union.edu. You will be asked to include names and contact information for three references through our online application system. An email will be sent automatically to references requesting a letter of recommendation.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/21/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10512

Claremont McKenna College

Rank: Assistant Professor of American Public Policy

The Department of Government at Claremont McKenna College (CMC) invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professorship in American public policy. The position will begin on July 1, 2023. The successful candidate is expected to hold a Ph.D. in political science, public policy, or a closely related field by the time of the appointment.

The successful applicant will teach courses in public policy, American politics, and empirical methods. The teaching load is two courses per semester. The candidate must have demonstrated ability to maintain an active, high quality research program and the highest standards of excellence in teaching.

Given the College's commitment to cultivating an inclusive educational environment, we seek candidates who can demonstrate a commitment to teaching, mentoring, and inspiring students representing a broad range of socioeconomic backgrounds, political opinions, genders, races, ethnicities, nationalities, sexual orientations, and religions. Candidates should demonstrate this commitment in their application materials.

Applications should include a cover letter; curriculum vitae; research statement; statement of teaching philosophy; evidence of teaching effectiveness; and writing sample. Applicants must also submit the names and e-mail addresses of three references; an email will be automatically sent to them with a link to upload their confidential recommendation letter. Please upload application materials at: https://webapps.cmc.edu/jobs/faculty/faculty_opening.php.

Complete applications, including letters of recommendation, will be reviewed beginning September 1, 2022. Review of complete applications will continue until the position is filled. Preliminary interviews will be conducted via Zoom.

Claremont McKenna College is a highly selective undergraduate institution ranked among the top liberal arts colleges nationally. It is part of The Claremont Colleges, which also includes Pomona College, Scripps College, Harvey Mudd College, Pitzer College, Claremont Graduate University, and Keck Graduate Institute. The Claremont Colleges consortium constitutes an academic community of more than 9,000 students. Claremont is located 35 miles east of downtown Los Angeles.

Claremont McKenna College is an equal opportunity employer. In a continuing effort to enrich its academic environment and provide equal educational and employment opportunities, the College actively encourages a diverse set of applications.

Start Date: Summer 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/20/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10511

Franklin & Marshall College

Rank: Assistant Professor or Instructor, Public Health

Franklin & Marshall College invites applications for a tenure-track position in the Public Health program beginning in Fall Semester 2023. The Department of Government would serve as the new hire's home department. The rank will be Assistant Professor or Instructor depending on qualifications. Applicants should possess or be close to completing one of the following degrees: (1) a doctorate in a public health discipline; (2) a Master's in Public Health or its equivalent and a doctorate in social science; or (3) a doctorate in social science with research in a public health field. Areas of specialization in Public Health are open, and may include Health Policy and Management, Global Health, and Community Health, as well as experience with community engagement.

The hire will join a rapidly-growing program that is a high priority for the college. The candidate should be able to contribute to the core courses in Public Health, including Introduction to Public Health, Understanding Public Policy, Health Policy, and the Public Health Research capstone. The candidate will have the opportunity to develop other electives in Public Health along with contributions in the College's general education program. All faculty maintain active research programs and contribute to the College's shared governance.

Candidates must submit the following items electronically via Interfolio: (<http://apply.interfolio.com/109512>): a cover letter, curriculum vitae, graduate transcript(s) (unofficial copies are fine), teaching and research statements (1-2 pages each), diversity statement, teaching evaluations, and names of three references (letters of reference will be solicited at a later stage, and once they are solicited, referees will need to supply them within three weeks). For full consideration, applications should be received by Oct. 1, 2022.

Pursuant to cultivating an inclusive college community, the search committee will holistically assess the qualifications of each applicant. We will consider an individual's record working with students and colleagues with diverse perspectives, experiences, and backgrounds. We will also consider experience overcoming or helping others overcome barriers to academic success.

Franklin & Marshall College is committed to having an inclusive campus community where all members are treated with dignity and respect. As an Equal Opportunity Employer, the College does not discriminate in its hiring or employment practices on the basis of gender, sex, race, ethnicity, color, national origin, religion, age, disability, family or marital status, sexual orientation, or any protected characteristic. Individuals who need accommodation due to a disability in order to submit an application or to otherwise participate in the employment process should contact the department's academic coordinator, Paulina Erazo Ayala at paulina.erazoayala@fandm.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/15/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10498

Stanford University

Rank: Faculty Appointment on China and Climate Change

Subfield(s): International Relations, Public Policy, Comparative Politics

Specializations: East Asia, China, Energy Policy

Stanford University invites applications for a joint appointment as a continuing-term senior fellow and tenured faculty at the associate or full professor level in the broad area of China and Climate Change. The focus of the search is open. We are searching for creative and innovative scholars with an established record of outstanding policy-relevant research and education around the topics of China and climate change. We invite candidates from a broad range of disciplines to apply.

This joint hire is part of a broader effort by Stanford University in building the new Doerr School of Sustainability. The appointment from this search will be made jointly in the Freeman Spogli Institute for International Studies and in the Doerr School of Sustainability, which will begin operating in the 2022-2023 academic year.

Candidates must have a PhD in a field relevant to climate change, expertise on China, an excellent record of scholarly, policy-relevant research, a dedication to teaching, and a demonstrated commitment to diversity, equity, and inclusion. Application packages should be submitted online and include the following documents: 1) a curriculum vitae; 2) a research statement (up to 3 pages); 3) a diversity statement that demonstrates the applicant's commitment and potential to contribute to Stanford's goals of diversity, equity, and inclusion through personal experience or perspective, scholarship, teaching, or service (1 page); 4) a statement of teaching interests (1 page); and 5) a cover letter. Review of applications will begin upon receipt and continue until the position is filled. All are welcome to apply.

Apply at:

<https://facultypositions.stanford.edu/en-us/job/493398/faculty-appointment-on-china-and-climate-change>

Start Date: Fall 2023

Date Posted: 6/8/2022

Salary: Any

eJobs ID: 10406

Johns Hopkins University

Rank: Adjunct Faculty

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Methodology, Public Administration

Specializations: Economic Policy, Research Methods, Public Finance & Budgeting

Institution Description:

The Advanced Academic Programs (AAP) is a division of the Krieger School of Arts and Sciences at the Johns Hopkins University (JHU). As the nation's oldest and one of the most prestigious research universities, Johns Hopkins offers high-quality master's degrees and post-baccalaureate education to students in the mid-Atlantic region and online. In addition to the online programs, AAP also offers master's degrees and graduate certificate programs at its Washington, DC Center and at the Homewood campus in Baltimore, Maryland. AAP has approximately 18,000 enrollments each academic year. JHU is committed to hiring candidates who, through their teaching and service, will contribute to the diversity and excellence of the academic community.

Position Description:

The Advanced Academic Programs (AAP) division seeks non-tenure track adjunct faculty to teach several courses within the MA in Public Management program (see below). The courses will be taught online and/or onsite in Washington, DC in Fall 2022 and beyond. Candidates with online course development and teaching experience and those with experience teaching and engaging students from diverse backgrounds are of particular interest.

- 470.854 Fundamentals of Quantitative Methods

This course trains students to be informed consumers of quantitative studies, in addition to teaching the tools of basic statistical work. The course material covers basic descriptive statistics, inferential statistics, and data collection. The key learning objective is for students to develop a better understanding of the statistical and econometric results they may encounter in their careers.

- 470.631 Economics for Public Decision-making

This course aims to offer students an understanding of economics and its importance in public policymaking. The first half of the course will offer students an understanding of microeconomic and macroeconomic theory, including a discussion of when markets can work to achieve policy goals and when "market failures" call for government intervention. The second half of the class will use these economic tools and theories to survey several specific policy areas, including health policy, tax policy, and the national debt.

- 470.608 Public Policy Evaluation and the Policy Process

This course introduces students to the public policymaking process, the basics of policy analysis, and the substance of some of today's major policy debates. The first half of the course focuses on establishing a framework in which to analyze public policy formulation within the United States. The class also reviews the tools for developing and implementing policy. The second half of the course turns to policy analysis of some critical contemporary issues.

- 470.605 Global Political Economy

In this course, students investigate core topics in international political economy, analyzing the security implications of each. Topics include trade relations, international finance, monetary relations, poverty, and development.

Qualifications

Minimum Qualifications:

- An advanced degree in public policy/public administration or in a relevant field, such as public finance, economics, or political economy, with a master's degree at minimum
- Two years of professional work experience within the relevant fields

Preferred Qualifications:

- A terminal degree in public policy/public administration or in a relevant field, such as public finance, economics, or political economy
- 1-3 years of graduate-level teaching experience
- Online teaching experience
- In-person/in the classroom teaching experience.
- The background to teach a wide variety of courses in the public management program.

Application Instructions

PLEASE APPLY HERE: <https://apply.interfolio.com/107918>

The positions will remain open until filled.

Candidates must submit the following:

- Cover letter: should indicate the course or courses you are interested in teaching and describe your relevant teaching and professional experience.
- Resume or Curriculum vitae
- Teaching evaluations for two most recently taught courses (if applicable)
- References upon request

The selected candidate will be expected to undergo a background check and to submit proof of educational attainment.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/6/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10394

University of Kentucky

Rank: Post-Doctoral Scholar in Political Science

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Law, Public Policy

Specializations: Constitutional Law & Theory, Civil Rights & Liberties, American Politics

The Department of Political Science at the University of Kentucky in Lexington, KY, invites applications for a teaching post-doc position focused on American Political Institutions with a particular interest in law and courts. We are particularly interested in candidates who can contribute to the diversity and inclusion mission of the department. This position will begin August 1, 2022. Applicants are expected to teach a 2/3 load and design at least one new course in the area of Legal Studies.

Applicants should show strong potential to provide effective undergraduate teaching and have a Ph.D. in Political Science in hand by August 2022.

Applicants should submit the following: 1) curriculum vitae, 2) letter stating the candidate's research and teaching interests (uploaded as Cover Letter), 3) copy of transcript for highest degree earned, 4) evidence of teaching experience, particularly syllabi from courses taught (uploaded as specific request 1). Provide the names and contact information for three references when prompted in the academic profile. This information will be used to solicit recommendation letters from your references within the employment system.

Start Date: Fall 2022

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 5/9/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 10339

Rowan University

Rank: Lecturer of Political Science

The Department of Political Science and Economics invites applications for a Lecturer of Political Science which is a full-time, non-tenure track, renewable faculty teaching position to begin September 1, 2022. We seek candidates who are passionate about teaching and mentoring students at both the undergraduate and graduate levels. In addition to teaching responsibilities, the successful candidate will serve as Coordinator of Master of Public Policy (MPP) program and make substantive service contributions to help launch and lead this exciting new degree program. The successful candidate will also be expected to participate in professional development to stay current in their content area.

Lecturers are 10-month positions with a 12-semester-hour work load, serving as Coordinator of the MPP program will be included in this load each semester. While these are non-tenure track positions, they are renewable, with expectations for continuing renewal of two, three, four, and then five years per contract. In addition, the position has a promotion path to Senior Lecturer and Master Lecturer, and includes benefits.

Responsibilities for this position include:

- Serving as the MPP Coordinator, leading and implementing all aspects of the program (including but not limited to advertisement/promotion, student recruitment, admissions, and graduation);
- Teaching graduate courses in public policy (including the MPP's capstone course) and, as needed, undergraduate courses in American politics and Public Policy;
- Utilize, establish, develop, and coordinate contacts in policy circles (public, private, and non-profit) to create internship and capstone project opportunities for MPP students as well as job placement pathways;
- Collaborate with The Sweeney Center for Public Policy and the Rowan Institute for Public Policy and Citizenship to organize policy-related events, internship opportunities, and career placement;
- Participating in curricular development, including taking leadership in the further development and advancement of the MPP program;
- Attending open houses, orientations, and other recruitment events as needed;
- Mentoring and advising students within the MPP program; and
- Attending departmental meetings and annual retreats.

Qualifications:

Candidates with a Ph.D. in Political Science, Public Policy, or a related field are preferred, but those with a Master of Public Policy or Master of Public Administration degree and field experience will also be considered. In addition, candidates are expected to have evidence of strong teaching, student advising, and mentoring experience at the college level.

How to Apply:

The application must be submitted through Rowan University's online application system <https://jobs.rowan.edu/en-us/listing/> and must include a curriculum vitae, a statement of teaching philosophy, graduate transcripts, two letters of recommendation, and a cover letter explaining your relevant experience and why your profile prepares you to serve as Coordinator of the Master of Public Policy program.

All completed applications, including letters of recommendation, must be received by May 30, 2022 to receive full consideration, after which applications will be considered on a rolling basis.

Female candidates and candidates of color are strongly encouraged to apply. Rowan University is an equal opportunity and affirmative action employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to age, color, disability, gender, gender expression, gender identity, genetic information, national origin, race, religion, sex, sexual orientation, or status as a protected veteran.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: 5/30/2022
Date Posted: 4/29/2022
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 10319

Middle Georgia State University

Rank: Part-Time Instructor

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Administration, Public Policy

Middle Georgia State University has part-time employment opportunities for Political Science instructors, both online and on its campuses in Georgia (Macon, Warner Robins, Cochran, Eastman, and Dublin) for day and evening classes. Our primary need at this time is for faculty qualified to teach, and interested in teaching, daytime sections of American Government (POLS 1101) on the Dublin, Macon, and/or Warner Robins campuses, or at other current and potential teaching sites in Georgia, although opportunities to teach other courses may also be available.

MINIMUM QUALIFICATIONS: To qualify for a teaching position, a candidate is required to have a minimum of an earned master's degree in Political Science or a closely related field (such as Public Administration or Public Policy), or a master's degree in another field with at least 18 graduate semester hours in Political Science courses.

For more information, please contact: Dr. Christopher Lawrence, Chair - Department of Political Science. E-mail: christopher.lawrence@mga.edu. Informal inquiries are welcome.

TO APPLY: Please see the full advertisement in our career opportunities portal by following the instructions below:

1. Visit the MGA Career Opportunities page at <https://www.mga.edu/human-resources/jobs/index.php>.
2. Click on the link labeled "Faculty and Staff Job Opportunities" towards the bottom of the page.
3. Search for position #240725, "Part Time Instructor - Department of Political Science."

Applications will be reviewed and candidates will be selected for vacancies on a rolling basis.

Start Date: Fall 2022
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 3/17/2022
Salary: Below $20,000
eJobs ID: 10210

Rowan University

Rank: Professor (Asst, Assoc, Full)

Subfield(s): Public Policy, American Government and Politics, International Relations

Rowan University's newly launched Catalysts for Sustainability program seeks to hire 10 new faculty to develop, advance and communicate solutions to humanity's most pressing existential threats posed by the climate and biodiversity crises.

The list below shows the positions to be filled.

- Ric Edelman College of Communication and Creative Arts: Open-rank, Tenure-track Professor
- School of Earth & Environment: Visiting Professor/Professor of Practice
- School of Earth & Environment: Open-rank, Tenure-track Professor
- College of Education: Open-rank, Tenure-track Professor
- Henry M. Rowan College of Engineering: Open-rank, Tenure-track Professor
- College of Humanities & Social Sciences: Open-rank, Tenure-track Professor
- School of Nursing & Health Professions: Open-rank, Tenure-track Professor
- College of Performing Arts: Distinguished Artist-in-Residence for Environmental Sustainability
- College of Science & Mathematics: Open-rank, Tenure-track Professor
- Provost's Fellow for a Sustainable Anthropocene

Unique Opportunity

Our catalysts will immediately be high-visibility scholars poised to reap reputational benefits as influential state and national leaders. They will gain the potential for enhanced funding and enhanced publishing. The faculty—as a cohort and as individuals—will benefit as they develop expansive external networks and connections with high-profile organizations.

Committed throughout the curriculum and community The University-wide cohort will lead and collaborate across colleges, disciplines and communities. Each college and school on our main campus will be represented, connecting every academic division through a common purpose.

Strategic institutional values

Rowan University's strategic pillars—access, affordability, quality and serving as an economic engine—are at the center of every decision for the institution. The Catalysts for Sustainability recruiting program will be rooted in Rowan's fundamental values and the hires will demonstrate our commitment to diversity, equity and inclusion.

This program will catalyze new initiatives in sustainability research, advocacy and education while leveraging existing strengths. Successful candidates will demonstrate expertise related to the climate and biodiversity crises in one or more of the following areas: environmental justice; education and public engagement including storytelling; public policy and advocacy; discipline-specific sustainability scholarship; and sustainability practice.

Interested candidates must apply through Rowan's online application system (<https://jobs.rowan.edu/cw/en-us/job/495871/rowan-catalysts-for-sustainability>). Review of applications will begin immediately and continue until the positions are filled for a start date of September, 2022.

Start Date: Fall 2022

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 12/9/2021

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 9835