

POLITICAL SCIENCE JOBS

Online journal from the American Political Science Association

October 2023 | Volume 12, Issue 10

ISSN 2167-8332

In this Issue

Career Resources

Finding a Job in Political Science 3

Job Listings

Administration 4

American Government and Politics 8

Comparative Politics

International Relations

Methodology

Non-Academic

Open

Other

Political Theory

Public Administration

Public Law

Public Policy

About the Journal

Published monthly by the American Political Science Association, Political Science Jobs is an online journal containing all active jobs in political science as listed in the APSA online job board eJobs. The combined resource of the Political Science Jobs journal and the daily updated and fully searchable eJobs platform provides a comprehensive employment resource for political science and supports a transparent, efficient, and ethically-grounded labor market for the discipline.

Access to the journal is made freely accessible to APSA's over 14,000 individual and departmental members within the US and around the world.

Submissions

Job listings may be submitted to the journal via the online eJobs platform at www.apsanet.org/jobs and applicable fees may apply.

Online Access: www.apsanet.org/jobs

The core content in this journal draws upon active listings within eJobs, linkages to association programs and career resources. Readers are encouraged to visit the eJobs website for daily updates on new job listings and candidate resumes, and use the online features including search tool to locate listings by field of interest, employer or candidate name, region, keyword, position, salary, institution type, and most recent submissions.

Copyright © 2012
American Political Science Association
All rights reserved

APSA does not grant permission to any individual or party to republish or otherwise distribute this journal or any portion therein in any print or electronic form.

POLITICAL SCIENCE JOBS

October 2023 | Volume 12, Issue 10

ISSN 2167-8332

Online journal from the American Political Science Association

In this Issue

Career Resources

Finding a Job in Political Science 3

Job Listings

Administration 4 (6 listings)

American Government and Politics 8 (99 listings)

Comparative Politics (81 listings)

International Relations (93 listings)

Methodology (32 listings)

Non-Academic (55 listings)

Open (58 listings)

Other (31 listings)

Political Theory (23 listings)

Public Administration (23 listings)

Public Law (61 listings)

Public Policy (listings)

Total listings this issue 562

Resources and Guidance on

Finding a Job in Political Science

Hundreds of academic positions are advertised each year in political science. Finding the openings is the easy part; knowing how to approach the application and interview process is a little more challenging. At APSA, we have collected resources to assist candidates in the academic job search. We would like to highlight a few of these key resources here. The complete list of job resources is available online at www.apsanet.org/jobs.

eJobs: This online resource contains comprehensive online listing of political science jobs, is updated daily with new job listings and candidate resumes, and is fully searchable by field of interest, name of employer/candidate, region, keyword, position, salary, type of institution, and most recent posts.

Data on Jobs Market: APSA gathers and releases data regarding the placement of political science Ph.Ds. View this information at www.apsanet.org/content_7623.cfm.

Mentoring: Enroll in the APSA Mentoring Program online at www.apsanet.org/mentoring.

eJobs Placement Interview Services: The eJobs Annual Meeting Placement Interview Service provides space and facilities for employers who have eJobs posted to interview candidates at the APSA meeting. Many other conferences, such as the Northeastern and Western, also use the APSA online service to schedule placement interviews. Check the listings online in eJobs.

Ethics Guide: The APSA Guide to Professional Ethics in Political Science includes specific guidance on hiring and employment practices. Order a print copy or view online at www.apsanet.org/ethics.

Asking the Right Questions: APSA Job Candidate Questions to Ask Program

Asking the right questions provides valuable information for career decisions. As part of the APSA Job Candidate Questions to Ask (JCQ) Program participating political science departments have agreed to answer the following questions from job candidates.

Salary

1. What is the salary structure?
2. How is salary normally negotiated?
3. How are annual increases handled?
4. Is there an automatic escalator to ensure the salaries of future hires will not outpace those of existing department members?

Service Activities

1. What are the expectations of pre-tenure and tenured faculty regarding:
 - departmental and institutional committee work,
 - professional or disciplinary activities, and
 - outreach activities to communities external to institution?

Research Support

1. What departmental or institutional resources are available to support:
 - access to research materials and equipment,
 - the employment of research assistants,
 - research expenses on/off campus, and
 - travel expenses for conferences?

2. What departmental or institutional resources are available to seek external funding and to administer external funding awards?

Teaching Support

1. What departmental or institutional resources are available to support:
 - the development of teaching expertise,
 - innovations in teaching, and
 - the introduction of new courses and new technologies?
2. What are departmental expectations regarding:
 - the average course load,
 - the number of different courses taught by faculty, and
 - advising of graduate and undergraduate students?

Tenure, Renewal, and Annual Review

1. What policies and procedures govern the granting of tenure, renewal of contracts for pre-tenure faculty, and annual reviews of faculty performance?
2. What are the department's expectations for successful performance leading to the granting of tenure or renewal of contracts for pre-tenure faculty?
3. What are the department's expectations for a positive annual review?

Mentoring and Faculty Support Initiatives

1. What attention does the department give to integrating new faculty into the department, the institution, and in the profession?
2. Does the department or institution have programs that address:
 - the employment of dual-career professional couples,
 - family needs of faculty and staff, and
 - issues associated with minority faculty and staff?

Health and Life Insurance

1. What are the plans offered?
2. How are benefits disbursed?
3. What are the out-of-pocket expenses?
4. Are partners and/or children covered, and to what extent?
5. What portion of my paycheck will be deducted for these benefits?

Retirement

1. How many types of retirement plans are offered?
2. What is the matching percentage of the institution?
3. Is contribution required (and how much)?

More on the APSA Job Candidate Questions to Ask (JCQ) Program

For more information about the JCQ program and to view the departments who agreed to answer these questions at www.apsanet.org/JCQ.

Political Science Jobs for October

ADMINISTRATION

University of Southern California

Rank: Chair, Department of Public Policy and Management;

Professor in Public Policy and Management

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Public Administration, Administration

Position Description and Qualifications

The Sol Price School of Public Policy at the University of Southern California seeks a senior faculty member at the rank of professor (tenured) to serve as the Chair of the Department of Public Policy and Management. The individual will have a stellar record of scholarship and leadership in public policy and management. Of particular interest will be a focus on civic engagement, democratic processes and institutions, collective action, public policy processes and analytics, and public and nonprofit management. We are interested in scholars from all relevant disciplines as well as an interest in a wide array of issue areas that are part of the School's portfolio. Applicants must present evidence of a creative and intellectually rigorous research agenda, significant accomplishments in their field, and demonstrated ability to advance one of the School's most prestigious and influential departments.

About the Department of Public Policy and Management

The Department houses some of the core programs at the Price School of Public Policy. It offers three nationally ranked professional masters degrees: MPA, MPP and MNLM, as well as a Ph.D. in Public Policy and Management and a professional doctorate in Policy, Planning and Development. In addition, it offers an undergraduate degree in public policy and an executive master's degree in International Public Policy and Management. The Department contains 30 faculty spanning a wide array of research interests, including the policy process, policy analytics, and public and nonprofit management.

Compensation and Benefits

The University of Southern California offers a competitive salary within an academic environment based on the candidate's experience and accomplishments. The university also offers excellent benefits to employees, which include: health, dental and life insurance; tuition assistance; disability and retirement plans; credit union membership; and participation in cultural and social events, as well as access to athletic and recreational facilities.

The annual base salary range for this position (9-months) is $200,000-$275,000.

When extending an offer of employment, the University of Southern California considers factors such as (but not limited to) the scope and responsibilities of the position, the candidate's work experience, education/training, key skills, internal peer equity, federal, state, and local laws, contractual stipulations, grant funding, as well as external market and organizational considerations.

Note: The core 9-month base salary for this position will be determined by rank and commensurate with experience, skills, education, and training.

To review the complete job description and to apply, please visit the USC Careers website at [usccareers.usc.edu](http://usc Careers website at usccareers.usc.edu) (ref: REQ20138522).

Start Date:

Date Posted: 9/26/2023

Salary: Above $159,999

eJobs ID: 12611

University of Alabama, Tuscaloosa

Rank: Department Chair

The Department of Political Science at the University of Alabama seeks applications for our next department chair. We are a well-functioning mid-sized department with strong and growing scholarly output and faculty committed to teaching excellence. The Department offers BA, MA, and PhD degrees in political science and a Master of Public Administration degree. We seek a leader who will maintain the well-established democratic culture and procedures in the department and contribute to our collegial atmosphere.

We are open to applicants from any subfield of political science or public administration, all methodological approaches, and at the associate or full level.

The University of Alabama is the flagship of the state university system, recognized as an R1 research university, and remains financially sound and well-positioned for future expansion.

The University of Alabama also maintains several competitive athletic programs and is located in the pleasant and affordable college town of Tuscaloosa, an hour's drive from Birmingham, three hours from Atlanta and Nashville, four hours from New Orleans, and less than five hours from the Gulf Coast beaches.

Minimum Qualifications

Ph.D. in of political science, public administration, or related field.

Preferred Qualifications

Administrative experience managing personnel, budgets, teaching assignments, assessment reports, and program reviews. Demonstrated excellence in teaching, mentoring, and/or supporting faculty members and students. Established scholarly profile.

Instructions and Required Materials for Application

Applicants should complete the online application at <https://careers.ua.edu/jobs/3680b9ca-d774-40f6-a062-543aa4dc8594>. The application should include 1) a letter of application that includes summary of administrative experience and explains reasons for interest in the position, and 2) a current curriculum vita. References will be requested of finalists. Names of applicants will be kept confidential until a list of finalists is confirmed. Review of applications will begin November 1, 2023, and continue until the position is filled. Inquiries about the position can be sent to the search committee chair, Dr. Waleed Hazbun at whazbun@ua.edu.

About the Division/College/School

The College of Arts and Sciences at The University of Alabama offers an exciting and dynamic environment for faculty seeking to make an impact in their field and in the lives of the innovators and changemakers of tomorrow.

As the largest college at The University, we house over 8000 students and 1000 faculty and staff across our 25 departments.

With nationally recognized programs and award-winning faculty, our College has positioned itself as a leader in higher education. Our facilities and resources include state-of-the-art laboratories, research centers, and performance venues, providing students with hands-on learning experiences and opportunities for research and creative expression.

The College is committed to the liberal arts philosophy that fosters creative and critical thinking and a lifetime of learning.

About the University

The University of Alabama, part of The University of Alabama System, is the state's flagship university. UA shapes a better world through its teaching, research and service. With a global reputation for excellence, UA provides an inclusive, forward-thinking environment and nearly 200 degree programs on a beautiful, student-centered campus.

A leader in cutting-edge research, UA advances discovery, creative inquiry and knowledge through more than 30 research centers. The University of Alabama has R1: Doctoral Universities – Very High Research Activity status by the Carnegie Classification of Institutions of Higher Education and is among the top doctoral research universities in the United States.

As the state's largest higher education institution, UA drives economic growth in Alabama and beyond.

About Tuscaloosa

Tuscaloosa is so much more than a college town. It's a vibrant community that's filled with legendary history. Located along the Black Warrior River, the city features a walkable downtown that's complete with live music, locally owned shops, outdoor spaces to explore and local restaurants to meet every palate. With a geography ranging from suburban to rural, the area offers a variety of housing options along with excellent public and private schools and a wealth of recreational and entertainment options.

With a metro area population of 235,000, the Druid City lies about an hour southwest of Birmingham, in west-central Alabama. It's within a few hours' drive of Gulf Coast beaches and major cities like Nashville, New Orleans and Atlanta, making it a great base for growing better acquainted with the South's finest offerings.

Prior to hiring, the final candidate(s) must successfully pass a pre-employment background investigation and information obtained from social media and other internet sources. A prior conviction reported as a result of the background investigation DOES NOT automatically disqualify a candidate from consideration for this position. A candidate with a prior conviction or negative behavioral red flags will receive an individualized review of the prior conviction or negative behavioral red flags before a hiring decision is made.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/14/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12520

Boston University

Rank: Assistant Director

The Assistant Director works under the leadership of the Faculty Director. S/he works with the Director to manage the day-to-day operations of the Center and coordinate the academic programs. The successful candidate provides administrative and program support to the Director of CURA: The Institute on Culture, Religion & World Affairs. The successful candidate will develop, manage, advertise, and schedule a broad range of center events workshops, symposia, conferences, etc. They will oversee the institutes operational budget and prepare and maintain a variety of reports, correspondences, including filing financial reports. They will build public awareness of the work of CURAs faculty and students by consistently and proactively sharing the mission, vision, and work of the institute to relevant audiences within the academic community and through media. They will foster partnerships & increase engagement with CURAs research by leveraging established channels (email, social media, website) to enable dialogue and connections between CURA and target audiences and stakeholders including media, scholars, and partners. They will hire and supervise student workers and contractors as required or needed. Knowledge of religious studies and/or the social sciences preferred, but not required. Other duties include management of the Muslim Studies curricular program and events; support the MENA studies program; managing CURAs program for visiting scholars/visiting researchers; administering the CURA colloquium and CURA Fellows program. Interacting with students, student organizations, faculty, staff, and other parties as a source of information. They will also manage the Directors calendar, support the Directors research as it relates to CURA, and prioritize tasks and other duties for the Director.

COMMUNICATION: Maintain and provide frequent updates to the Centers website, including weekly reports on faculty and student activities related to religion and world affairs; coordinate use of and provide weekly updates on other social media, as well as hire and supervise student workers and contractors as required or needed; communicate and coordinate with BU faculty and student organizations oriented to religion and world affairs; coordinate planning of joint events with CURA-linked students. The ideal candidate will implement CURAs media and communication strategy to build awareness of CURA and improve its influence. Consistently and proactively share the mission work of CURA and its affiliated faculty, and students to relevant audiences within the academic community and in general media. In conjunction with the Pardee School Communications Specialist, leverage established channels (email, social media, website) to enable dialogue and connections between CURA and target audiences including media, scholars, and partners.

FINANCE AND ADMINISTRATION: In partnership with the Pardee Director of Finance and Administration, oversee the institutes operational budget and prepare and maintain a variety of reports, correspondences, including CURA annual budget together with the Pardee Director Finance & Administration; process all A/P travel reports and other payments associated with the Centers operations. Assist director in the preparation and submission of grant applications in collaboration with Pardee Finance Office and BU Sponsored Research Administration Office, provides oversight of all sponsored research for the Center including coordinating and drafting all financial reports, progress reports and follow University and School policy on these submissions. Interact with students, student organizations, faculty, staff, and other parties as a source of information. Coordinate all event-related tasks, including room reservations, setup, cleanup, speaker travel arrangements, post-event dinners, reimbursement of speakers out-of-pocket expenses, etc.

ACADEMIC SUPPORT: Management of the CURA colloquium and CURA fellows Program; support for the Muslim Studies minors, Graduate Certificate in conjunction with the Associate Dean of Studies and will manage the travel and research grants. Manage our programs for visiting scholars/ visiting researchers and support visiting researchers. Interact with students, student organizations, faculty, staff, and other parties as a source of information. In conjunction with the Pardee Faculty Affairs Office, update each semester our CURA-related course lists including Muslim Studies courses that satisfy BU Hub requirements; distribution of said lists to relevant faculty and departments and students; inform departments and CURA-linked students of related courses offered each semester.

Required Skills

Bachelors degree required with 5-8 years of experience. Excellent writing skills, project management experience, an ability to work independently, and skills engaging with a variety of stakeholders. Knowledge of religious studies and/or social science preferred, but not required.

Experience with SAP software is a strong plus.

This position is eligible for Boston University's generous benefits package including health, dental, and retirement. This position directly supervises staff and/or students. Supervision generally includes recommendations for hiring and firing, completing performance evaluations, training, allocation of work, and problem resolution.

Read more and apply at https://bu.silkroad.com/epostings/index.cfm?fuseaction=app.jobinfo&jobid=312948&company_id=15509&version=1&source=ONLINE&JobOwner=1018687&startflag=1

We are an equal opportunity employer, and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, age, national origin, physical or mental disability, sexual orientation, gender identity, genetic information, military service, pregnancy or pregnancy-related condition, or because of marital, parental, or veteran status. We are a VEVRAA Federal Contractor.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/13/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12511

University of Tennessee

Rank: Associate Professor/Professor for Public Administration

Subfield(s): Administration, Public Administration, Public Policy

Associate Professor/Professor for Public Administration (2 positions needed), Fall 2024

Location

Baker School

Position Type

UTK Tenure Track Faculty

Position URL

apply.interfolio.com/127756

Position Description

The Howard H. Baker, Jr. School of Public Policy and Public Affairs at the University of Tennessee, Knoxville invites applications for a tenure-track faculty position in Public Policy and Public Affairs to begin in August 2024. We are seeking two scholars to contribute primarily to graduate and undergraduate degree programs in public administration. This search is for tenured applicants at the Associate Professor or Full Professor rank with established research and teaching records.

2 Positions needed.

Qualifications

Candidates must have tenure at the Associate Professor or Full Professor rank with established research and teaching records. Candidates must have a doctoral degree in Public Administration, Public Management, Public Policy, Political Science, or a related field. Candidates must be able to contribute to teaching in a master's program in public administration, including field courses and core coursework in public budgeting, human resources management, public and non-profit management, and emergency management; provide service to the university and community; contribute to current research activities; and develop new avenues of research and teaching.

Candidates for Associate Professor should have a demonstrated record of publishing in appropriate journals, exceptional teaching, and internal and external service to their professional community. Candidates who have experience in securing and executing externally funded research are preferred, though this is not a requirement of the position.

Candidates for Full Professor should have a demonstrated record of publishing in appropriate journals, exceptional teaching, and internal and external service to their professional community. In addition, the candidate should have national/international recognition in their field of study. Candidates who have experience in securing and executing externally funded research are preferred, though this is not a requirement of the position.

The successful candidates will be part of a multidisciplinary hiring initiative to build the new Baker School of Public Policy and Public Affairs, the first such organization at a public institution in the State of Tennessee. We are seeking future colleagues who will help build the School and can contribute fresh ideas, a growth mindset, and interdisciplinary experience.

In addition to teaching responsibilities, the candidates will ideally contribute with their research to one of the three active research and engagement centers that are part of the School: the Center for National Security and Foreign Affairs; the Center for Energy, Transportation, and Environmental Policy; the Center for Economic and Community Development; and the Institute of American Civics.

Application Instructions

To Apply: apply.interfolio.com/127756

The University of Tennessee, Knoxville, is the state's flagship research institution, a campus of choice for outstanding undergraduates, and a premier graduate institution. As a land-grant university, it is committed to excellence in learning, scholarship, and engagement with society.

Applicants should submit the following via Interfolio: a cover letter explaining their research and teaching experience, a current CV, graduate transcripts, a sample of scholarly writing, and teaching evaluations (if available). All applicants should request letters from three references. These letters will be uploaded to Interfolio. Review of applications will begin October 1, 2023, and will continue until the position is filled. For questions or inquiries, contact John M. Scheb, Interim Associate Dean for Academic Affairs (scheb@utk.edu).

The Knoxville campus of the University of Tennessee is seeking candidates who have the ability to contribute in meaningful ways to the diversity and intercultural goals of the University.

About the Baker School

The new Howard H. Baker Jr. School for Public Policy and Public Affairs (Baker School), was established in 2023 to honor the distinguished life and legacy of Howard H. Baker Jr., a former US Senator, Senate Majority Leader, White House Chief of Staff, and Ambassador to Japan. Located in a 51,000-sq. ft purpose-built facility, the Baker School evolved from the Baker Center, which for twenty years has operated as a think-tank producing research, public engagement programming, and an active set of student programs. The Baker School is very excited to add degree programs and to grow its research programming into independent research centers. In addition, the Baker School houses the Institute of American Civics, which is responsible for encouraging civic knowledge and civic participation among UT undergraduates and the state at large.

Who We Are

We are a dynamic and close-knit team of dedicated and hardworking individuals who are devoted to research, education, and public service initiatives that address real world problems in local, state, national, and global communities. Each member of our team is a valuable contributor to achieving our mission and we work together to find innovative approaches to moving the Baker School forward. We are fast-moving and growing. Our work is constantly evolving to meet changing needs.

Who We Are Looking For

We are in search of a solution-finder, someone who enthusiastically embraces opportunities to address novel situations through teamwork and collaboration. We need a hardworking and flexible professional, who thrives in developing out-of-the-box approaches and addressing new challenges. We are looking for an achiever, someone who is searching for a chance to grow their skills and who is open to learning from others. We need a critical thinker who exercises good judgment and who can be relied upon and trusted to provide sound counsel to colleagues and leadership. We need teammates who are dedicated to public service.

Equal Employment Opportunity Statement

All qualified applicants will receive equal consideration for employment and admission without regard to race, color, national origin, religion, sex, pregnancy, marital status, sexual orientation, gender identity, age, physical or mental disability, genetic information, veteran status, and parental status, or any other characteristic protected by federal or state law. In accordance with the requirements of Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972, Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, and the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990, the University of Tennessee affirmatively states that it does not discriminate on the basis of race, sex, or disability in its education programs and activities, and this policy extends to employment by the university. Inquiries and charges of violation of Title VI (race, color, and national origin), Title IX (sex), Section 504 (disability), the ADA (disability), the Age Discrimination in Employment Act (age), sexual orientation, or veteran status should be directed to the Office of Equity and Diversity, 1840 Melrose Avenue, Knoxville, TN 37996-3560, telephone 865-974-2498.

Requests for accommodation of a disability should be directed to the ADA Coordinator at the Office of Equity and Diversity.

Start Date: Fall

Date Posted: 9/6/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12464

University of Tennessee

Rank: Professor/Associate Professor of Public Policy and Public Affairs

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Administration, International Relations

Specializations: Energy Policy, Environmental Policy, Trade

The University of Tennessee, Knoxville, invites applications for three tenure-track faculty positions in Public Policy and Public Affairs at the Howard H. Baker Jr. School of Public Policy and Public Affairs. These positions are set to commence in August 2024 and offer a unique opportunity to contribute to both undergraduate and graduate degree programs in public policy.

Ideal candidates should hold a PhD in Economics, Political Science, Public Policy, or a related field and possess relevant experience commensurate with Associate or Full Professor rank. Responsibilities include teaching relevant program courses, including research methods, statistics, policy analysis, microeconomics, and policy communication. Candidates should actively engage in research, with specializations in areas such as energy, transportation, environmental policy, national security, or foreign policy.

Associate Professor applicants should demonstrate a strong publishing record, exceptional teaching skills, and service to the academic community. While experience in securing external researching funding is preferred, it is not mandatory. Full Professor candidates should additionally have national/international recognition in their field.

For more information, and to apply, visit the provided link: <https://apply.interfolio.com/127813>

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/6/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12461

Johns Hopkins University

Rank: Associate Program Director, Nonprofit Management

Subfield(s): Administration, Public Administration, Other

Associate Program Director Lecturer/Sr. Lecturer, Nonprofit Management

Johns Hopkins University: Zanvyl Krieger School of Arts and Sciences: Advanced Academic Programs

Apply here: <https://apply.interfolio.com/129081>

Location

Washington, DC or Remote

Open Date

Jul 27, 2023

Description

POSITION:

Associate Program Director, Nonprofit Management
Krieger School of Arts & Sciences
Advanced Academic Programs

REPORT TO:

Program Director, Public Management

INSTITUTION:

Johns Hopkins University

Position Description:

The Johns Hopkins University invites applications for Associate Program Director, Nonprofit Management in the Advanced Academic Programs' (AAP) Center for Data Analytics, Policy, and Government, a division of the Krieger School of Arts & Sciences. The Associate Program Director will report to the Director of the Public Management Program. The Johns Hopkins University is committed to hiring candidates who, through their teaching and service, will contribute to the diversity and excellence of the academic community.

The Center seeks to hire an innovative and forward-thinking individual to manage the online MA in Nonprofit Management program. This faculty member will also work collaboratively with other Center faculty to set goals and direction in its pursuit of teaching excellence. This is a full-time, non-tenure-track, 12-month renewable faculty position with the academic title of Lecturer or Senior Lecturer.

Advanced Academic Programs:

AAP offers rigorous and high-quality master's degrees and certificates in three locations: the Washington, DC Center, the Homewood campus in Baltimore, MD, and online. AAP enrolls almost 6,000 students each academic year in over 45 programs and distinguishes itself through its intensive instructional assistance, selective admissions, and over 60 dedicated full-time faculty. Tenured Krieger School faculty members serve as Program Chairs and oversee the academic rigor of AAP programs and courses. AAP's website, <http://advanced.jhu.edu/>, provides additional information.

Academic Responsibilities:

- Teach 4 graduate courses per year, including preparation and time spent in the classroom (online), using best practices for teaching, engaging, and mentoring students from diverse backgrounds in the learning process, and responding to student questions
- Advise students, including both program and research/capstone advising
- Provide innovative leadership for curriculum design and new course development to ensure the delivery and growth of a quality program
- Other academic duties normally performed by full-time faculty, such as participating on committees, attending academic events, or contributing to other academic service

Administrative Responsibilities:

- Work with the Program Director and Center Director to hire, mentor, and evaluate adjunct faculty
- Oversee the program's admissions process, including reviewing and approving prospective students' admissions materials
- Provide overall supervision for the Nonprofit Management program
- Schedule courses and set teaching assignments throughout the year
- Host events for current and prospective students

Qualifications:

The Associate Program Director's role is critical to maintaining the overall high quality of this program. The Associate Program Director must have a passion for education and its power to change lives, especially for part-time and non-residential students. A track record of building and managing successful onsite and online education programs, and skills in instructional design, content development, and instructional technologies, are important. Candidates who have experience teaching and engaging students from diverse backgrounds are of particular interest.

Minimum Qualifications:

- PhD in Nonprofit Management, Management, Administration, or a related field
- One to three years of higher education teaching experience online and/or at the graduate level
- One to three years of experience at the Assistant Director level, or equivalent administrative experience
- Ability to teach a variety of courses in the nonprofit management field
- Excellent oral and written communication skills
- Strong organizational

Preferred Qualifications:

- Four or more years of higher education teaching experience online and/or at the graduate level
- Professional work experience in the nonprofit management field
- Demonstrated track record of excellence in teaching and innovation in curriculum design
- The ability to work independently in a fast-paced environment with competing demands and multiple deadlines
- Experience managing a degree or certificate program

Application Instructions:

The position will remain open until it is filled. Candidates must submit the following:

- Cover letter
- Curriculum vitae
- Teaching evaluations for the two most recent semesters taught

The selected candidate will undergo a background check, provide three references, and official transcripts for each credential.

Application Process

This institution is using Interfolio's Faculty Search to conduct this search. Applicants to this position receive a free Dossier account and can send all application materials, including confidential letters of recommendation, free of charge: <https://apply.interfolio.com/129081>

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/31/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12179

AMERICAN GOVERNMENT AND POLITICS

University of Connecticut

Rank: Assistant Professor in American Politics

INTRODUCTION

The Department of Political Science at the University of Connecticut (UConn) in Storrs is pleased to invite applications for a faculty position at the rank of Assistant Professor in American Politics with a specialization in state and local politics and policy. The Department currently has 40 full-time faculty who are responsible for more than 700 undergraduate majors and 150 minors, as well as more than 40 graduate students. Exceptionally strong candidates will be able to contribute to the Department's strengths in the areas of political institutions, public opinion, voting behavior and/or race, ethnic, or Indigenous politics/Tribal governance.

The successful candidate will be expected to contribute to research and scholarship through high-quality publications as well as the potential to seek extramural funding. Applicants should share a deep commitment to effective instruction at the undergraduate and graduate levels, innovative courses and instruction methods, and the mentoring of students in research, outreach, and professional development. The successful candidate will also be expected to broaden participation among members of underrepresented groups; demonstrate through research, teaching, and/or public engagement the commitment to, and support of, diversity in the learning experience; integrate multicultural experiences into instructional methods and research tools; and provide leadership in developing pedagogical techniques designed to meet the needs of diverse learning styles and intellectual interests. Candidates should be committed to effective teaching, including integrating technology into instruction and online instruction as well as the ability to contribute through research, teaching, and/or public engagement to the diversity and excellence of the learning experience.

Founded in 1881, UConn is a Land Grant and Sea Grant institution and member of the Space Grant Consortium. It is the state's flagship institution of higher education and includes a main campus in Storrs, CT, four regional campuses throughout the state, and 13 Schools and Colleges, including a Law School in Hartford, and Medical and Dental Schools at the UConn Health campus in Farmington. The University has approximately 10,000 faculty and staff and 32,000 students, including nearly 24,000 undergraduates and over 8,000 graduate and professional students. UConn is a Carnegie Foundation R1 (highest research activity) institution, among the top 25 public universities in the nation. Through research, teaching, service, and outreach, UConn embraces diversity and cultivates leadership, integrity, and engaged citizenship in its students, faculty, staff, and alumni. UConn promotes the health and well-being of citizens by enhancing the social, economic, cultural, and natural environments of the state and beyond. The University serves as a beacon of academic and research excellence as well as a center for innovation and social service to communities. UConn is a leader in many scholarly, research, and innovation areas. Today, the path forward includes exciting opportunities and notable challenges. Record numbers of undergraduate applications and support for student success have enabled the University to become extraordinarily selective.

MINIMUM QUALIFICATIONS

- Ph.D. in political science or a related field, or international equivalent, by the time of appointment.
- Expertise in American Politics as well as state and local politics.
- Evidence of potential for excellence in teaching.
- Evidence of potential for successful research and scholarship.
- A deep commitment to promoting diversity through their academic and research programs.

PREFERRED QUALIFICATIONS

- Outstanding potential for or record of research and scholarship excellence.
- Substantive specialization in political institutions, public opinion, voting behavior, and/or race and ethnic politics.

- A record of, or strong potential for, obtaining external research support.
- Evidence of contributions to the diversity and excellence of student learning experience through research, teaching, and/or public engagement.

APPOINTMENT TERMS

This is a full-time, 9-month, tenure-track position with an anticipated start date of Fall 2024. The successful candidate's academic appointment will be at the Storrs campus. Salary will be commensurate with qualifications and experience.

TERMS AND CONDITIONS OF EMPLOYMENT

Employment of the successful candidate is contingent upon the successful completion of a pre-employment criminal background check.

TO APPLY

Please apply online to Academic Jobs Online <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/25807> and submit the following application materials:

- A cover letter,
- Curriculum vitae,
- Research and scholarship statement (innovative concepts that will form the basis of academic career, experience in proposal development, mentorship of graduate students, etc.).
- Teaching statement (including teaching philosophy, teaching experience, commitment to effective learning, concepts for new course development, etc.).
- Commitment to diversity statement (including broadening participation, integrating multicultural experiences in instruction and research and pedagogical techniques to meet the needs of diverse learning styles, etc.).
- Sample journal articles or books,
- Three letters of reference.

Evaluation of applicants will begin on October 15, 2023. For more information regarding the Department of Political Science please visit the Department's website at <https://polisci.uconn.edu/>.

At the University of Connecticut, our commitment to excellence is complemented by our commitment to building a culturally diverse community.

This position will be filled subject the budgetary approval.

All employees are subject to adherence to the State Code of Ethics which may be found at <http://www.ct.gov/ethics/site/default.asp>.

All members of the University of Connecticut are expected to exhibit appreciation of, and contribute to, an inclusive, respectful, and diverse environment for the University community.

The University of Connecticut aspires to create a community built on collaboration and belonging and has actively sought to create an inclusive culture within the workforce. The success of the University is dependent on the willingness of our diverse employee and student populations to share their rich perspectives and backgrounds in a respectful manner. This makes it essential for each member of our community to feel secure and welcomed and to thoroughly understand and believe that their ideas are respected by all. We strongly respect each individual employee's unique experiences and perspectives and encourage all members of the community to do the same. All applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, gender, gender identity or expression, sexual orientation, national origin, genetics, disability, age, or veteran status.

The University of Connecticut is an AA/EEO Employer.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/28/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12621

Princeton University

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Associate/2024-2025 CSDP Fellow

Postdoctoral Research Associate/2024-2025 CSDP Fellow

Princeton University's Center for the Study of Democratic Politics (CSDP) seeks post-doctoral or more senior research associates for ten-month positions anticipated to start on September 1, 2024. The Center supports empirical research on democratic political processes and institutions. PhD required.

Each research associate will pursue research and contribute to the intellectual life of the Center, the Princeton School of Public and International Affairs, and the Department of Politics. CSDP scholars are expected to participate in the weekly CSDP seminars and related weekly research seminars in the Department of Politics, as well as occasional lectures, conferences, and other events.

Successful candidates will receive a competitive salary and applicable Princeton University benefits in accordance with university guidelines, a taxable moving allowance, and a research allowance. Selected candidates will be required to be in residence in Princeton or the local vicinity, or demonstrate to the program's satisfaction the ability to be on campus on a daily basis and on short notice in order to fulfill responsibilities relating to in-person participation for the duration of the fellowship (September 1, 2024 - July 1, 2025).

Applicants must apply online and submit a CV, a 3-5 page (double-spaced) statement of research interest/research proposal, a writing sample, and the names of two (and not more than two) references. A cover letter is optional. Applicants for this 2024-2025 postdoctoral research associate position must apply to <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/31461>. The deadline for receipt of complete applications is Friday, December 1, 2023, at 11:59 p.m. EST. Referees will be contacted directly by email with instructions for submitting a confidential recommendation on your behalf. Letters of reference are to be submitted by the end of the business day on Wednesday, December 6, 2023. Complete your application well before the deadline so that references can be submitted in a timely manner. This position is subject to the University's background check policy.

We at the School of Public and International Affairs believe that it is vital to cultivate an environment that embraces and promotes diversity, equity, and inclusion, which are fundamental to the success of our education and research mission. This commitment to diversity informs our efforts in recruitment and hiring as we actively seek colleagues of exceptional ability who represent a broad range of viewpoints, experiences, and value systems, and who share Princeton University's dedication to excellence.

Princeton University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to age, race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law. EEO IS THE LAW

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 12/1/2023

Date Posted: 9/27/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12618

Princeton University

Rank: Visiting Research Scholar/2024-2025 CSDP Fellow

Princeton University's Center for the Study of Democratic Politics (CSDP) seeks visiting scholars for the 2024-2025 academic year. The Center supports empirical research on democratic political processes and institutions. Applications are welcome from political scientists and scholars in related social science disciplines. CSDP visiting scholar positions are restricted to employed scholars on leave who are expected to return to their positions.

Each scholar will pursue research and contribute to the intellectual life of the Center, the Department of Politics, and the Princeton School of Public and International Affairs. CSDP scholars are expected to participate in the weekly CSDP seminars and related weekly research seminars in the Department of Politics, as well as occasional lectures, conferences, and other events.

Visiting scholars from academic institutions often receive up to one-half of their academic-year salaries from their home institutions for the appointment period. The amount that Princeton contributes to the scholar's salary is based on the financial support provided by their home institution. Selected candidates will be asked to indicate, or provide written authorization for Princeton to confirm, what percentage of financial support their home institution and other sources are likely to provide during their visit, if any, and to submit a confidential statement indicating salary for the current academic year (September 1, 2023 - July 1, 2024) or provide written authorization for Princeton to confirm their salary. Successful candidates will also receive applicable benefits, one trip to and from Princeton, and a research allowance.

Selected candidates will be required to be in residence in Princeton or the local vicinity or demonstrate to the program's satisfaction the ability to be on campus on a daily basis and on short notice in order to fulfill responsibilities relating to in-person participation for the duration of the fellowship (September 1, 2024 - July 1, 2025).

Verification of employment will be requested prior to approval by the Dean of the Faculty. PhD or equivalent doctoral degree required.

Applicants for this Visiting Research Scholar position for 2024-2025 must apply online at <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/31925> and submit a CV, a 3-5 page (double-spaced) statement of research interest/research proposal, a writing sample, and a statement of the home institution's leave policy. A cover letter is optional.

The deadline for receipt of complete applications is Tuesday, December 1, 2023, at 11:59 p.m. EST.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 12/1/2023

Date Posted: 9/27/2023

Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 12617

University of California, Berkeley

Rank: Assistant Professor - Department of Political Science

Assistant Professor - Department of Political Science

Position overview

Salary range: The posted UC academic salary scales set the minimum pay determined by rank and step at appointment. See the following table for the current salary scale for this position: https://www.ucop.edu/academic-personnel-programs/_files/2023-24/oct-2023-acad-salary-scales/t1.pdf. The current base salary range for this position is $74,600-$97,200. "Off-scale salaries" and other components of pay, which would yield compensation that is higher than the published system-wide salary at the designated rank and step, are offered when necessary to meet competitive conditions.

Anticipated start: 7/1/2024

Application Window

Open date: September 20, 2023

Next review date: Friday, Oct 20, 2023 at 11:59pm (Pacific Time)

Apply by this date to ensure full consideration by the committee.

Final date: Friday, Oct 20, 2023 at 11:59pm (Pacific Time)

Applications will continue to be accepted until this date, but those received after the review date will only be considered if the position has not yet been filled.

Position description

The Charles and Louise Travers Department of Political Science in the College of Letters and Science at the University of California, Berkeley invites applications for a full-time tenure-track Assistant Professor faculty position in political science, with preference for scholars who work in the areas of: American Politics, a focus on Institutions; Race, Ethnicity and Politics; Contemporary Political Theory.

The Charles and Louise Travers Department of Political Science is committed to fostering an environment in which all members of the Berkeley community feel empowered to pursue their educational goals in a welcoming environment. We believe that every individual must be treated with equality and dignity as we work together to ensure the success of students, staff, and faculty. For more information, please visit the department website: <https://polisci.berkeley.edu/>.

The Charles and Louise Travers Department of Political Science and the Division of Social Sciences recognize the intrinsic relationship between diversity and excellence in all our endeavors. We embrace open and equitable access to opportunities for learning and development as our obligation and goal. We seek candidates who demonstrate a commitment to advancing diversity, equity, inclusion, and belonging through their research, teaching, and/or service. UC Berkeley is committed to upholding the university's principles of community so that every individual can be successful in a healthy, welcoming, and safe environment. Additional information about programs and resources supporting the advancement of diversity, equity, inclusion, and belonging is available at:

<https://ls.berkeley.edu/about/diversity-equity-and-inclusion>

<https://ls.berkeley.edu/ls-divisions/social-sciences/diversity-equity-and-inclusion>

The Charles and Louise Travers Department of Political Science is committed to addressing the family needs of faculty, including dual career couples and single parents. We are also interested in candidates who have had non-traditional career paths or who have taken time off for family reasons, or who have achieved excellence in careers outside academia. For information about potential relocation to Berkeley, or career needs of accompanying partners and spouses, please visit: <http://ofew.berkeley.edu/new-faculty>.

Preferred candidates should demonstrate the highest standards of professional research, teaching, and service and contribute to our commitment to diversity and equal opportunity in higher education.

The University of California is committed to creating and maintaining a community dedicated to the advancement, application, and transmission of knowledge and creative endeavors through academic excellence, where all individuals who participate in University programs and activities can work and learn together in a safe and secure environment, free of violence, harassment, discrimination, exploitation, or intimidation. Consistent with this commitment, UC Berkeley requires all applicants for Senate faculty positions to complete, sign, and upload an Authorization of Information Release form into AP Recruit as part of their application. If an applicant does not include the signed authorization, the application will be considered incomplete, and as with any incomplete application, will not receive further consideration. Although all applicants for faculty recruitments must complete the entire application, applicants will only be subject to reference checks if and when they are selected as the candidate to whom the hiring unit would like to extend a formal offer. More information is available on <https://ofew.berkeley.edu/attestation-prior-misconduct>.

Department: <https://polisci.berkeley.edu/>

Qualifications

Basic qualifications (required at time of application)

Ph.D. (or equivalent international degree), or enrolled in Ph.D. or equivalent international degree-granting program at the time of application.

Application Requirements

Document requirements

- Curriculum Vitae - Your most recently updated C.V.
- Cover Letter
- Statement of Research
- Statement of Teaching
- Statement on Contributions to Advancing Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion - Statement on your contributions to diversity, equity, and inclusion, including information about your understanding of these topics, your record of activities to date, and your specific plans and goals for advancing equity and inclusion if hired at Berkeley. /shortcuts/ofew_contributions_diversity.
- Sample of Significant Written Scholarship One - Please provide a sample of significant written scholarship.
- Sample of Significant Written Scholarship Two - Please provide a sample of significant written scholarship.

(Optional)

- Sample of Significant Written Scholarship Three - Please provide a sample of significant written scholarship.

(Optional)

- Covid Impact Statement - If applicable, please provide a statement discussing if COVID-19 has impacted your research.

(Optional)

- Authorization to Release Information Form - A reference check will be completed only if you are selected as the candidate to whom the hiring unit would like to extend a formal offer. Download, complete, sign, and upload the https://ofew.berkeley.edu/sites/default/files/auth_release_info.pdf.

Reference requirements

- 3 letters of reference required

Apply link: <https://apptrkr.com/4624299>

Help contact: <mailto:knera@berkeley.edu>

Campus Information

UC Berkeley is committed to diversity, equity, inclusion, and belonging. The excellence of the institution requires an environment in which the diverse community of faculty, students, and staff are welcome and included. Successful candidates will demonstrate knowledge and skill related to ensuring equity and inclusion in the activities of their academic position (e.g., teaching, research, and service, as applicable).

The University of California, Berkeley is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability, age, or protected veteran status. For the complete University of California nondiscrimination and affirmative action policy see: <http://policy.ucop.edu/doc/4000376/NondiscrimAffirmAct>

In searches when letters of reference are required all letters will be treated as confidential per University of California policy and California state law. Please refer potential referees, including when letters are provided via a third party (i.e., dossier service or career center), to the <http://apo.berkeley.edu/ucb-confidentiality-policy> prior to submitting their letter.

As a University employee, you will be required to comply with all applicable University policies and/or collective bargaining agreements, as may be amended from time to time. Federal, state, or local government directives may impose additional requirements.

Job location
Berkeley, CA

To apply, visit <https://apptrkr.com/4624299>

Copyright ©2022 Jobelephant.com Inc. All rights reserved.

<https://www.jobelephant.com/>

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 10/20/2023

Date Posted: 9/27/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12620

University of Texas, Tyler

Rank: Assistant or Associate Professor of Political Science

Specializations: Congress, Quantitative Methods, Legislative Studies

The Department of Political Science at the University of Texas at Tyler invites applications for a tenure track Assistant or Associate Professor position specializing in American politics. The successful candidate will teach courses on Campaign Politics, Congress, and Research Methods and will be responsible for the Center for Public Opinion Research, an in-house polling center, whose results have been published state and nationwide in the past. The successful candidate will join an academically vibrant community, making impactful contributions to teaching, research, and community service.

Job responsibilities include a 3/3 course load at the undergraduate and graduate level with a possibility of release times for running the Center for Public Opinion Research. The successful candidate should have an earned Ph.D. in Political Science and should demonstrate the ability to teach undergraduate and graduate courses, maintain a record of research, advise students, and serve the department, college, and university. Salary is competitive and based upon experience.

Situated approximately ninety minutes to the east of Dallas/Ft. Worth, Tyler is a growing city with a population exceeding 100,000 residents. Serving as a pivotal educational institution in the area, The University of Texas at Tyler accommodates over 10,000 students and stands prominently as the central hub for cultural and academic pursuits in the region.

Qualified candidates may apply at <https://www.uttyler.edu/human-resources/prospective-employees/>. Please submit a letter of application, detailing teaching and research interests, curriculum vitae, unofficial transcripts, and the names of three references all in one document. Review of applications begins the week of October 30, 2023, and will continue until the position is filled.

The successful applicant must be able to demonstrate eligibility to work in the United States. This position is security-sensitive and subject to Texas Education Code Section 51.215, which authorizes the employer to obtain criminal history record information. The University of Texas at Tyler is an Equal Employment Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer. All qualified applications will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, national origin, age, sexual orientation, gender identity, status as a protected veteran, among other things, or status as a qualified individual with disability. Women, minorities, protected veterans, and individuals with disabilities are encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 10/30/2023

Date Posted: 9/26/2023

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 12613

Stanford

Rank: CDDRL Pre & Postdoctoral Fellowship

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, American Government and Politics

Stanford University Center on Democracy, Development, and the Rule of Law welcomes applications from pre-doctoral students at the write-up stage and from post-doctoral scholars working in any of the four program areas of democracy, development, evaluating the efficacy of democracy promotion, and rule of law.

Pre-doctoral fellows must be enrolled currently in a doctoral program or equivalent through the time of intended residency at Stanford and must be at the dissertation write-up (post course work) phase of their doctoral program. Post-doctoral fellows must have earned their Ph.D. within 3 years of the start of the fellowship, or plan to have successfully defended their Ph.D. dissertations by July 31, 2024.

In addition to our regular call for applications, CDDRL invites applications for the Gerhard Casper Fellow in Rule of Law for 2024-25. We welcome research on any aspect of rule of law, including judicial politics, criminal justice, and the politicization of judicial institutions. We are an interdisciplinary center; candidates from any relevant field (i.e. the social sciences, law) are welcome to apply. The Gerhard Casper Fellow will be part of CDDRL's larger cohort of pre- and postdoctoral fellows. Please apply through the CDDRL fellowship application process and indicate that you would like to be considered for the Gerhard Casper Rule of Law Fellowship.

The application cycle for the 2024-2025 academic year will be open from Monday, September 25, 2023, through Friday, December 15, 2023. Applicants can apply online at https://webportalapp.com/sp/stanford_cddrl_fellowship.

More information on the application and the guidelines to apply can be found at our website at <https://cddrl.fsi.stanford.edu/cddrl-pre-doctoral-and-postdoctoral-fellowships>.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 12/15/2023

Date Posted: 9/25/2023

Salary: $70,000 - $79,999

eJobs ID: 12587

University of Missouri, Columbia

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of Black Studies at the University of Missouri, Columbia, invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor to begin on August 15, 2024. A Ph.D. by the start of the appointment is required. While all specializations are welcome, we are particularly interested in applicants whose work focuses on Black gender and sexuality studies, including Black women in work, sport, media, business, academia, religion, healthcare, or migration. The ideal candidate would be able to teach various interdisciplinary courses on aspects of Black history, politics, and culture. Disciplinary areas include Arts and Humanities and Social and Behavioral Sciences. The candidate we hire will have a 2/2 teaching load in addition to research and service requirements.

The University of Missouri (MU or Mizzou), located in Columbia, has an enrollment of more than 30,000 students and is Missouri's largest public research university. Mizzou is also the flagship campus of the four-campus University of Missouri System and one of only five universities nationwide with law, medicine, veterinary medicine, and a nuclear research reactor on one campus. A member of the prestigious Association of American Universities since 1908, Mizzou is considered one of the nation's top-tier (R1) institutions.

Please apply online at: <https://hr.missouri.edu/job-openings> (Job ID 48241) and be prepared to upload the following:

1. An application letter (2-3 pages)
2. Your current C.V. (15 pages maximum)
3. A statement of research (2-3 pages)
4. A teaching statement (2-3 pages)
5. A writing sample (30 pages maximum)

We value the uniqueness of every individual and strive to ensure each person's success. Contributions from individuals with diverse backgrounds, experiences and perspectives promote intellectual pluralism and enable us to achieve the excellence that we seek in learning, research and engagement. This commitment makes our university a better place to work, learn and innovate. In your application materials, please discuss your experiences and expertise that support these values and enrich our missions of teaching, research and engagement.

In addition, solicit three recommenders for confidential letters of recommendation to be sent directly to Dr. Linda S. Reeder (ReederLS@missouri.edu) by the application deadline. Review of applications will begin October 1, 2023. Applicants should apply by this date for full consideration.

Applicants may contact Dr. Linda S. Reeder (ReederLS@missouri.edu), chair of the Search Committee, or Dr. Daive Dunkley (dunkleyd@missouri.edu), chair of Black Studies, with any questions about the job duties. Contact Human Resource Services (muhrs@missouri.edu) for any questions about the application process.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Date Posted: 9/22/2023

Salary: Any

eJobs ID: 12590

CUNY-Queens College

Rank: Assistant Professor

Queens College is a senior college in the City University of New York (CUNY), the nation's largest urban public university. We are a comprehensive college serving up to 20,000 students drawn primarily from Queens and Long Island. The Queens borough of New York City has a population of 2.4 million that is the most diverse of any large county in the US, where nearly half the residents are foreign born. As the public university of one of America's great immigration gateways, our institution has the pleasure of teaching large numbers of immigrant and first-generation students, and we are proud to rank among the top one percent of colleges in helping students achieve upward socio-economic mobility. Our successes as researchers and teachers help ensure that high-quality educational opportunities are available to thousands of regular New Yorkers.

The Department of Political Science at Queens College is pleased to invite applications for a tenure-track appointment at the level of Assistant Professor in the field of American Politics to begin in the Fall 2024 semester. We are looking for individuals who combine a strong record of scholarship with a commitment to excellence in teaching in an extraordinarily diverse undergraduate environment. We are especially interested in applicants who can teach courses in public law and/or environmental politics, though we are open to a range of possible subfields. An emphasis on experiential learning and/or public service is also desirable. The successful applicant is also expected to maintain an active research agenda and to participate in the department's advisement and service responsibilities.

The faculty in the Department of Political Science includes award-winning teachers and nationally-recognized scholars who publish in top journals and presses, serve as editors for scholarly journals, hold positions of disciplinary association leadership, and receive disciplinary awards. Our location in New York City offers an unmatched range of opportunities to connect and collaborate with other scholars and civic leaders, and many of our faculty maintain an affiliation with the CUNY Graduate Center's doctoral program in political science. We are deeply invested in CUNY and its mission to provide a first-rate education to all students, regardless of means or background, and we are eager to find a colleague who shares our commitment to high-quality teaching, research, and service in an urban public university serving an extraordinarily diverse student population. In return, we offer an opportunity to join thousands of faculty members at Queens College and CUNY for an exceptionally rewarding academic career!

Applicants should email a cover letter, curriculum vitae, writing sample, evidence of teaching effectiveness, and graduate school transcript to the search committee at qcpsci@gmail.com, and have at least two, but preferably three, letters of recommendation emailed to that address. Applications must be received by Oct. 20, 2023. In addition, in order for their application to be considered complete, applicants must also upload (in a combined document) their cover letter, cv, and the names of at least two references to CUNYfirst.

If you are viewing this job posting on any website other than CUNYfirst, please follow the instructions below:

- Go to cuny.jobs
- In the box under "job title/ keyword", enter "27368"
- Click on "Assistant Professor – Political Science"
- Click on the "Apply Now" button and follow the instructions.

Please note that all candidates must upload to CUNYfirst a cover letter describing related qualifications and experience, resume, and the name and contact information of at least two professional references as ONE DOCUMENT in any of the following formats: .doc, .docx, or .pdf format.

Please use a simple name for the document that you uploaded, for example: JDoeResume. Documents with long names cannot be parsed by the application system.

The application deadline is October 20, 2023.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 10/20/2023

Date Posted: 9/21/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12581

University of Florida

Rank: Assistant Professor in American Politics (Judicial)

The Department of Political Science at the University of Florida, College of Liberal Arts and Sciences, invites applications for a full-time, nine-month, tenure-track Assistant Professor in American Politics (Judicial) to begin August 16, 2024. The Department is open to all fields of specialization, including but not limited to the carceral state, citizenship and immigration, digital technology, and more generally on judicial decision-making and the evolution of civil and criminal law in the United States.

The Department seeks to hire faculty broadly engaged in research that is field-bridging, adding to our Department's long tradition of intellectual diversity and pluralism in keeping with the themes of our recent cluster hires. While we are open to fields of study, we are particularly interested in candidates who combine rigorous and original scholarship and evidence of grant activity.

Successful applicants are expected to teach two courses per fall and two courses per spring semester, with a mix of introductory and advanced undergraduate courses and graduate seminars. Of particular interest are course offerings on the courts, constitutional law, or the judicial process at the upper division undergraduate and graduate levels. The ability to develop experiential learning opportunities for undergraduates and excel in mentoring undergraduate research in the Department's Honors and Junior Fellows programs is a plus.

More information about the Department of Political Science can be found at: <http://www.polisci.ufl.edu>.

UF is the state's oldest, largest, and most comprehensive land grant university with an enrollment of over 50,000 students and was ranked the Number 1 public university in the United States by Wall Street Journal in its "2024 Best Colleges in the U.S." report. UF is located in Gainesville, a city of approximately 150,000 residents in North-Central Florida, 50 miles from the Gulf of Mexico, and 67 miles from the Atlantic Ocean, and within a 2-hour drive to large metropolitan areas (Orlando, Tampa, Jacksonville). The beautiful climate and extensive nearby parks and recreational areas afford year-round outdoor activities, including hiking, biking, and nature photography. UF's large college sports programs, museums, and performing arts center support a range of activities and cultural events for residents to enjoy. Alachua County schools are highly rated and offer a variety of programs including magnet schools and an international baccalaureate program.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/21/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12574

University of Houston

Rank: Assistant Professor

Assistant Professor – American Politics

The Department of Political Science at the University of Houston invites applications for a tenure-track assistant professor position, to begin Fall 2024. We seek applicants whose research and teaching interests focus on American political behavior. Special consideration will be given to those whose research agendas will add to the department's existing strengths in this subfield and have potential for collaboration with a variety of current faculty. Successful candidates should have extensive methodological training, demonstrated excellence in scholarly research and publication, and a clear commitment to undergraduate teaching. Review of applications will begin October 9 and continue until the position is filled.

The University of Houston, a dynamic research institution founded in 1927, stands as a vibrant hub of academic excellence and cultural diversity in Texas. With over 46,000 students, it offers a comprehensive range of programs across 15 colleges, fostering innovation in fields such as energy, health, hospitality, business, education, law,

STEM, and the humanities. Boasting top-tier faculty, state-of-the-art facilities, student success initiatives, and a strong commitment to community engagement, UH prepares students to thrive in a globally interconnected world while contributing impactful research and innovation to the region and beyond.

The Department of Political Science provides high-quality undergraduate and graduate education, with over 800 majors and 75 M.A. and Ph.D. students. The Department capitalizes on the strengths of our city, offering students and faculty opportunities to research the politics of the future in a dynamic hub of international commerce, and in a region that is on the leading edge of national demographic and economic trends.

The University's prime location in America's fourth-largest city supports extensive industry partnerships and experiential learning opportunities. Renowned for its energy industry and NASA's Space Center, Houston is home to a vibrant cultural scene with world-class museums, theaters, and restaurants. Houston thrives as a hub for innovation, education, and arts, fostering a unique blend of community charm and modern progress.

Applications should be submitted through the University's online job site, <http://www.uh.edu/human-resources/uh-careers/>. The position number keyword is FAC003039. To apply please submit a letter of application, CV, short writing sample, unofficial transcripts, and contact information for three professional references. Listed references will be asked to provide letters of recommendation.

For further information please contact Professor Elizabeth Simas, Department of Political Science, University of Houston, at ensimas@uh.edu

The University of Houston is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer. Minorities, veterans, women and persons with disabilities are encouraged to apply. The University of Houston is responsive to the needs of dual career couples.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/21/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12584

University of Chicago

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Public Administration, American Government and Politics

Specializations: Urban Politics, Public Finance & Budgeting, United States

The Mansueto Institute for Urban Innovation at the University of Chicago invites applications for Institute Postdoctoral Fellows for appointments for the 2024-25 academic year. We welcome individuals from a variety of disciplines and perspectives who are interested in building a scholarly understanding of cities.

Fellowships at the Mansueto Institute provide exceptional emergent scholars with a unique nurturing environment that includes advanced technical training, a platform for interdisciplinary research, mentoring by senior faculty, and a community of people studying and working on issues impacting cities from a diversity of areas and perspectives.

Postdoctoral fellows come to us with a variety of backgrounds, including traditional social science disciplines such as economics, political science, and sociology, as well as allied disciplines such as public policy, urban planning, and data science.

Institute Postdoctoral Fellowships are full-time, year-long appointments that can be renewed for a second year, subject to a mutual agreement. Positions are structured between the Mansueto Institute and one of the University of Chicago's Departments or Schools.

Application review will begin December 15.

Apply <https://miurban.uchicago.edu/opportunities/mansuetofellowspostdoc/>

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 12/15/2023

Date Posted: 9/19/2023

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 12552

University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill

Rank: Assistant Professor

American Politics/Comparative Politics. The Department of Political Science at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill invites applications for a tenure-track position at the rank of Assistant Professor, with appointment beginning July 1, 2024. We particularly welcome applications from scholars doing innovative research in political economy, political behavior or applied experimental research, including scholars whose work crosses traditional subfield or disciplinary boundaries. We seek applicants with a PhD or ABD in political science or related social science and/or computational social science fields, who show promise of research excellence and a desire to teach and train undergraduate and graduate students.

The University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill is an equal opportunity and affirmative action employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to age, color, disability, gender, gender expression, gender identity, genetic information, national origin, race, religion, sex, sexual orientation, or status as a protected veteran.

Review of applications will begin October 8, 2023 and will continue until the position is filled. To apply for the position, follow this link: <https://unc.peopleadmin.com/postings/265896>. Please include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, research statement, teaching statement (including available teaching evaluations and other evidence of teaching excellence), and a writing sample. Applicants are required to identify the names, titles and email addresses of professional references at the time of application (please note that four are required). Recommenders will be contacted via email with instructions for uploading their letters of support. Alternatively, applicants may list Interfolio as a reference: see <http://help.interfolio.com/entries/24062742-Uploading-Letters-to-an-Online-Application-System> for instructions. Applicants may also list the email of a Graduate Coordinator who will upload their references. Departmental contact person is Shannon Eubanks; Department of Political Science, University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, CB# 3265, Hamilton Hall; Chapel Hill, NC 27599-3265; <http://www.unc.edu/depts/polisci>.

Start Date: Summer 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/19/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12555

Drake University

Rank: Assistant Professor, Political Science (American Political Behavior)

Job Summary:

The Department of Political Science at Drake University seeks a tenure track Assistant Professor of Political Science in American Politics to begin August 2024.

We are excited to welcome a new colleague with expertise in political behavior and the politics of race, ethnicity, and identity. With more than 200 students and 7 full-time faculty, our department offers 3 majors and 3 minors, featuring small class sizes, outstanding student engagement, and many collaborative opportunities for teaching and research.

Teaching responsibilities include upper-level courses covering public opinion, elections, race and American politics, and topics appropriate to the candidate's research and teaching interests and may also include the introductory American Politics course or the Research Methods class. The teaching load is 3-3.

We serve an increasingly diverse student body and seek to enhance the diversity of our faculty ranks. More specifically, we seek candidates for this position who have experience working with students from a diverse background and have a demonstrated commitment to inclusive learning.

The search committee is particularly interested in candidates who, through their research, teaching, and/or service, will contribute to the diversity and excellence of the academic community.

The start date for this appointment will be in August 2024.

To find out more about the department, visit <https://www.drake.edu/polsci/>.

Minimum Qualifications:

Applicants should possess a Ph.D. in Political Science (ABDs will be considered) and have a demonstrable commitment to teaching excellence.

Special Instructions to Applicants:

To apply, please complete the online application and attach: (1) a cover letter, (2) current curriculum vitae, (3) at least two letters of recommendation with emphasis on the candidate's teaching experience and pedagogical approach, (4) a statement of teaching philosophy, (5) evidence of teaching effectiveness (which may include course evaluations and/or sample syllabi), (6) and a statement reflecting their commitment to diversity, equity, and inclusion.

All job offers are contingent upon satisfactory completion of a background check, satisfactory reference checks, and proof of authorization to work in the United States.

Have Questions?

Questions about this position can be directed to the search chair, Professor Rachel Paine Caufield at rachel.caufield@drake.edu.

Questions about the application process, working at Drake, spouse/partner support, reasonable accommodations, benefits, or additional information about Drake or Des Moines, Iowa may be directed to Drake Human Resources at jobs@drake.edu.

Review of Applications Begins:

For full consideration, apply by September 15, 2023. The position will remain posted until filled.

Salary & Benefits

Salary is competitive with peer schools and will be commensurate with qualifications and experience of the selected candidate.

At Drake, we are proud to offer our employees, their spouses, and eligible dependents a comprehensive benefits package, which includes a wide range of core benefits, perks, and discounts. If you are exploring a job with Drake University, we invite you to spend a little time with our digital benefits guide: Drake Benefits Guide (Plan Year 2023).

One of our very popular policies provides a tuition waiver for Drake employees, their spouses, and eligible dependents. Drake also participates in not one, but two tuition exchange programs available to dependent children. You can learn about both the tuition waiver policy and tuition exchange programs here: Tuition Benefits.

For faculty positions, selection will depend on the receipt of recommendation confirming the candidate's scholarly achievements and teaching abilities and/or on the candidate's satisfactory passing of a teaching demonstration if selected for an on-campus interview. For staff positions, selection will depend upon careful review of each applicant's references, education, and, if applicable, experience.

About Drake:

Drake University is recognized as a top private university in the Midwest. Drake is a midsize university in Des Moines, Iowa, with an increasingly diverse student body. We are deeply committed to equity and inclusion and creating a sense of belonging for all members of the campus community—faculty, staff, and students alike. More than 900 faculty and staff are part of the Bulldog pack, a close-knit group of colleagues enthusiastic about preparing students to be global citizens and leaders, challenging assumptions. Drake University is not only an outstanding institution of higher learning, it is also a wonderful place to work. We are enthusiastically committed to welcoming new ideas and people into the fold, and to retaining and rewarding stellar employees.

All positions at Drake provide opportunities to contribute to Drake University's core mission of creating of creating an exceptional learning environment that prepares students of all backgrounds for meaningful lives and professional accomplishments.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/18/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12548

University of North Texas

Rank: Assistant/Associate professor

Specializations: Race & Ethnic Politics, Political Behavior, Quantitative Methods

The Department of Political Science at the University of North Texas invites applications for an Assistant/Associate (tenure-track or tenured) professor position beginning fall 2024 in American Politics with a desired specialization in the field of race and ethnic politics. Specifically, we envision hiring a scholar who studies such topics as minority group behavior, minority representation, Black political philosophy, intersectionality, and/or intergroup cooperation and conflict.

The faculty member will be expected to teach upper-level undergraduate courses, and graduate courses in race and ethnic politics. Additionally, the faculty member will be expected to teach core undergraduate American politics courses (as is required of all faculty irrespective of subfield). The faculty member will continue a record of robust scholarly research, direct graduate research, and provide service to the department, college, and university. The typical teaching load is 2/2.

Ph.D. in Political Science or ABD with expected degree completion by first date of employment.

Preference will be given to candidates with strong methods skills, particularly in survey research, causal inference and experiments (field and/or survey), and who are likely to publish in top-tier journals, seek external funding, and who show a willingness to work with other faculty and graduate students.

Applications should be submitted here: <https://jobs.untsystem.edu/postings/76475>

Reviews of applications will begin on October 9, 2023

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 11/16/2023

Date Posted: 9/18/2023

Salary: $80,000 - $89,999

eJobs ID: 12549

Murray State University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

Summary of Job Duties and Responsibilities:

The Department of Political Science and Sociology at Murray State University invites applications for a position as a tenure-track assistant professor in political science starting in August 2024. We are an interdisciplinary department offering majors in political science, pre-law, international studies, sociology, and social inequality and human rights. In addition, we have a Master of Public Administration program. While the area of specialization is open, the successful candidate should be able to teach courses in the fields of Political Theory and American Politics. Ideally, the candidate for this position would also be willing and able to teach graduate-level courses for our growing Master of Public Administration (MPA) program, such as Ethics in Public Administration.

In addition to the above, a successful candidate may be asked to

- * teach online, in-person, and ITV
- * teach at the graduate and undergraduate level
- * teach other courses in the department as needed
- * advise students in the political science program or the department's other programs as needed
- * assist with the recruitment of majors
- * build relationships between the political science program and the community
- * maintain a record excellence in teaching
- * maintain a record of scholarship and publications
- * build and maintain a record of service

Minimum Education and Qualifications:

Ph.D. in Political Science or a related field is required. ABDs with a documented plan of completion by appointment date will be considered. Teaching experience is preferred.

Submit your application through the following link: <https://www.murraystatejobs.com/postings/11057>

For best consideration, please submit a completed application along with all required materials by November 1, 2023. Applications will be accepted until the position is filled.

Murray State blends educational opportunities found at research institutions with collaborative interactions among students, faculty and staff found at smaller universities. Students receive personalized attention from supportive faculty and staff as the University offers a 16:1 student-to-faculty ratio. Murray State University places our highest priority on student learning and excellent teaching, blending the range of educational opportunities often experienced at research institutions with the nurturing student-teacher interactions usually found at smaller universities.

Located in the West Kentucky region, Murray State University is a public, comprehensive University which offers a low cost of living, low property taxes, and a four-season climate. Murray has a friendly, small-town atmosphere with locally-owned specialty shops and restaurants, an acclaimed community theater, art guild and award-winning public schools. The area is home to Kentucky Lake and Land Between the Lakes, a 170,000-acre National Recreation Area, which offers a wide-range of activities and amenities for residents and visitors alike. Located in close proximity to major cities and nearby access to Interstate 24, Murray is just a few hours from Nashville, St. Louis, Louisville and Memphis.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/15/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12487

Pennsylvania State University

Rank: Assistant Professor of American Politics

Assistant Professor, American Politics

The Department of Political Science at The Pennsylvania State University in University Park, Pennsylvania, USA, invites applications for an Assistant Professor of American Politics. This is a tenure-line position to begin in Fall 2024.

Duties for an Assistant Professor will involve a combination of research, teaching, and service. In the role, the selected candidate will be expected to focus their research and teaching on social inequity and/or health or wellbeing widely defined. For example, the department welcomes applications from scholars whose work focuses on race or ethnicity, class, gender, sexual orientation, gender identity, disability, mental health, and/or political voice and representation. Assistant Professor positions at Penn State involve substantial research support and offer significant release time.

This position is co-funded by Penn State's interdisciplinary Social Science Research Institute and is part of an initiative to hire faculty members in different units across Penn State. These faculty members join an existing campus cluster, with the goal to foster collaborations among social and behavioral scientists and others, working at different levels of aggregation on understanding and reducing disparities.

Candidates whose research addresses critical social problems and shows evidence of, or potential for, interdisciplinary collaborations across disciplinary lines are particularly desired. We particularly welcome scholars who build on existing departmental strengths. Scholars whose work speaks to questions or policies that fit well with the cluster focus, are especially encouraged to apply. A description of the Social Science Research Institute's Strategic Foci can be found at <https://ssri.psu.edu/about/ssri-overview>.

Candidates for this position should show demonstrated ability as a researcher and teacher, evidence of scholarly and professional growth, and demonstrate the potential for external funding. Candidates must have completed their Ph.D. in American Politics or related field by the time of appointment.

In addition, successful candidates must either have demonstrated a commitment to building an inclusive, equitable, and diverse campus community, or describe one or more ways they would envision doing so, given the opportunity.

To apply, submit a cover letter outlining your research interests and teaching credentials, a curriculum vitae that provides evidence of qualifications, a sample of scholarly writing, evidence of effectiveness as a teacher (e.g., course evaluations, sample syllabi/assignments, teaching statement), and the names/contact information of three references at Penn State's Job Posting Board.

System limitations allow for a total of 5 documents (5mb per document) as part of your application. Please combine materials to meet the 5-document limit.

Review of applications will begin immediately and continue until the position is filled. To receive full consideration, materials should be received by October 15, 2023.

Penn State is committed to and accountable for advancing diversity, equity, and inclusion in all of its forms. We embrace individual uniqueness, foster a culture of inclusion that supports both broad and specific diversity initiatives, leverage the educational and institutional benefits of diversity, and engage all individuals to help them thrive. We value inclusion as a core strength and an essential element of our public service mission.

Penn State offers competitive benefits to full-time employees, including medical, dental, vision, and retirement plans, in addition to 75% tuition discounts (including for a spouse and dependent children up to the age of 26) and paid holidays. Please visit <https://hr.psu.edu/benefits> for more detailed information.

To apply, please visit https://psu.wd1.myworkdayjobs.com/PSU_Academic/job/Penn-State-University-Park/Assistant-Professor--American-Politics_REQ_0000048762

To review the Annual Security Report which contains information about crime statistics and other safety and security matters and policies, please go to <https://www.police.psu.edu/annual-security-reports>, which will also explain how to request a paper copy of the Annual Security Report.

Penn State is an equal opportunity, affirmative action employer, and is committed to providing employment opportunities to all qualified applicants without regard to race, color, religion, age, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability or protected veteran.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/15/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12534

Stony Brook University

Rank: Associate/Full Professor in Political Psychology

Specializations: Political Psychology, Political Behavior, American Politics

The Department of Political Science at Stony Brook University invites applications for a tenured Associate or Full Professor position in political psychology. This position would begin in Fall 2024. The department is interested in applicants with expertise in any area of political psychology research. Successful candidates will have a strong publication record and demonstrated research excellence. Advanced skills in quantitative methods and/or experiments in addition to an established track record of graduate student collaboration and mentoring are highly desirable. Additional duties include fostering inclusive teaching at the graduate and undergraduate levels, conducting a program of research, and participating in faculty governance at the departmental, college, and university levels.

Qualifications

Required Qualifications:

Ph.D. (or foreign equivalent) in Political Science, Psychology, or a closely related field.

Specific research interests and training in any substantive area of Political Psychology including but not limited to partisanship and polarization, ideology and belief systems, democratic norms, misinformation and political communication, intergroup relations, race and ethnic politics, political affect, and decision making.

Preferred Qualifications:

Demonstrated record of the following, as evidenced by the applicant's CV and supporting materials:

record of producing high-quality research strong research background and training

strong publication record

experience teaching at the undergraduate and/or graduate level past graduate student mentoring and collaboration

Application Instructions

Apply through Interfolio at the job posting here: <https://apply.interfolio.com/131893>

Please upload:

Cover letter

Curriculum Vitae

Writing samples

Teaching statement

Research statement

Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion (DEI) statement

Three reference contacts able to provide letters of reference upon request

All application materials must be submitted online. Please use the Apply Now button to begin your application. For technical support, please visit Interfolio's Support Site (<https://support.interfolio.com/>) or reach out to their Scholar Service Team at help@interfolio.com or (877) 997-8807.

For questions regarding this position, please contact the search chair, Professor Gallya Lahav at Gallya.Lahav@stonybrook.edu and Stanley Feldman at Stanley.Feldman@stonybrook.edu.

For full consideration please submit your materials by 11:59 PM Eastern Time on Friday, October 20, 2023.

Special Notes: This is a tenure track position. FLSA Exempt position, not eligible for the overtime provisions of the FLSA.

The selected candidate must successfully clear a background investigation.

In accordance with the Title II Crime Awareness and Security Act, a copy of our crime statistics is available upon request by calling (631) 632- 6350. It can also be viewed online at the University Police website at <http://www.stonybrook.edu/police>.

About the Department:

The Department of Political Science is committed to excellence in research and scholarship, graduate student training, undergraduate teaching and learning, public outreach, and the promotion of responsible citizenship. It contributes to the generation of knowledge about politics and aims to deepen scholarly and public understanding of political institutions and the citizenry. The department seeks to prepare students for successful careers in government, academics, and the private sector. The Department provides training for PhD and MA students in cutting-edge approaches to the empirical study of political science to produce graduates with outstanding research, teaching, and professional skills. <http://www.stonybrook.edu/polsci/>

About the College:

As part of a great research university, the College of Arts and Sciences at Stony Brook University focuses on scholarly creativity, connecting our disciplines of fine arts; humanities; social, behavioral and natural sciences; and mathematics with medicine, technology, culture, education, business and environment. As the largest College for the campus, we help students and faculty begin a lifetime of learning and discovery by exploring new ideas that drive innovation and inspiration across all sectors of society. <http://www.stonybrook.edu/cas/>

Campus Description:

Stony Brook University, one of two flagships within the State University of New York (SUNY) system, is one of America's most dynamic public universities, a center of academic excellence, and an internationally recognized research institution that is changing the world. After more than 60 years of existence, it is ranked among the top 100 universities in the nation and the top 25 public universities in the nation. It is a member of the prestigious invitation-only Association of American Universities, composed of the top 66 leading research institutions in North America. As Long Island's largest single-site employer, Stony Brook has nearly 15,000 full- and part-time employees, including 2,800 faculty and nearly 27,000 students — including almost 18,000 undergraduates — and offers more than 200 majors, minors and combined-degree programs. Located approximately 60 miles east of Manhattan on Long Island's beautiful North Shore, Stony Brook is situated on 1,454 wooded acres, encompassing 13 schools and colleges; a Research and Development Park; world-class athletics facilities, including an 8,300-seat stadium and a 4,000-seat arena; and Stony Brook Medicine, Long Island's premier academic medical center. Also part of the University is a teaching and research campus in Southampton, New York, which offers graduate arts programs and is the site of the Marine Sciences Center. In addition, Stony Brook has a role in running, and performs joint research with, Brookhaven National Laboratory, the only Department of Energy Laboratory in the Northeast. Home to the Emerson String Quartet, the Pollock-Krasner House in East Hampton, NY, and the Humanities Institute, with endeavors that extend to the Turkana Basin Institute in Kenya and the Ranomafana National Park in Madagascar, Stony Brook sustains an international reputation that cuts across the arts, humanities, social sciences and natural sciences.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 10/20/2023

Date Posted: 9/14/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12524

Syracuse University

Rank: Associate Professor - Citizenship and Democratic Institutions - #077305

Associate Professor - Citizenship and Democratic Institutions - #077305

Syracuse University's S.I. Newhouse School of Public Communications invites applications for one full-time tenured position at the Associate or Full Professor rank to begin Fall 2024. Review of applications will begin October 1, 2023 and continue until the position is filled.

The School seeks a multidisciplinary scholar who has a significant, established track record of published research, extramural grant acquisition, and thought leadership in the area of journalism and democracy to be a part of Syracuse University's new Institute for Democracy, Journalism and Citizenship (IDJC). The Institute, located in Washington, D.C., is a joint effort of the Newhouse School and Syracuse University's Maxwell School of Citizenship and Public Affairs and promotes nonpartisan, evidence-based research and dialogue in the public interest. The position will be based at the Institute in Washington, D.C.

We seek a colleague who can lead multidisciplinary research efforts to analyze the forces that damage trust in journalism and democracy and to strengthen the ability of journalists and others to rebuild credibility. The candidate should be familiar with the historical and contemporary issues in American journalism that make it prone to distrust, including from members of marginalized groups; be able to critically evaluate these issues; consider solutions; and engage in productive self-reflection. A wide range of theoretical and methodological approaches will be considered, from a range of disciplines including political science, psychology, sociology, computer science, and history in addition to mediated communication. The ability to secure grant funding is essential.

This recruitment is part of an ambitious Invest Syracuse Cluster Hire Initiative in the broad area of Citizenship and Democratic Institutions. As an integral part of this investment, Syracuse University will recruit multiple candidates for faculty positions across departments for this cluster. Faculty hired into these positions will build on our existing strengths in the focus area and will participate in an organized research cluster that spans multiple departments in the Newhouse School, the Maxwell School of Citizenship & Public Affairs, the Law School, and across Syracuse University.

The successful candidate will teach graduate and/or undergraduate courses in their areas of expertise and will have a teaching load appropriate for a productive scholar. They will have a track record of collegial collaboration and be expected to advise doctoral dissertations and master's theses. They also will be expected to make research visible to policy makers and others so as to have an impact on the conversation around journalism's role in democracy. A Ph.D. is strongly preferred.

Widely regarded as the nation's leading school of communications, the S.I. Newhouse School of Public Communications at Syracuse University is home to approximately 2,000 undergraduates, 180 residential master's degree students, 200 online master's degree students and 15 doctoral degree students. They are among the best in the country, having secured a place in the class through a highly competitive admissions process. The typical admitted first-year student has a 3.8 GPA.

The School's 250,000-square-foot, three-building complex is a leading-edge learning environment where students are exposed to the tools and technologies used by professionals in the field. Features include Dick Clark Studios, a high-tech entertainment production facility that rivals many Hollywood studios; the Diane and Bob Miron Digital News Center, complete with a contemporary news set, a green screen, state-of-the-art lighting systems and cameras; the Alan Gerry Center for Media Innovation, a creative hub where Newhouse expertise in content development and production meets the latest media technology and programming trends; the Emerging Insights Lab, a state-of-the-art social media command center; and the Collaborative Media Room, home to the student-produced multimedia news site, The NewsHouse.

In January 2020, the S.I. Newhouse Foundation announced a $75 million gift to the Newhouse School, the largest donation to Syracuse University in its 150-year history and one of the largest ever to any communications school.

To learn more about the Newhouse School, visit <https://newhouse.syr.edu>.

To apply, please visit <https://www.sujobopps.com/postings/100848>.

Syracuse University is an equal-opportunity, affirmative-action institution.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/14/2023

Salary: $80,000 - $89,999

eJobs ID: 12525

Texas Woman's University

Rank: Assistant Professor in Political Science - IRC 52812

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Policy, Other

Specializations: Ethnic & Feminist Theory, Race & Ethnic Politics, Political Behavior

Type: Full-Time

Salary: Salary Competitive

Posted: 09/07/2023

Application Due: Open Until Filled

Category: Political Science

JOB DESCRIPTION:

The Department of Social Sciences and Historical Studies at Texas Woman's University invites applicants for a tenure-track Assistant Professor of Political Science position beginning fall 2024. The successful applicant will be broadly trained in political science with a primary field of American Politics. Special attention will be given to candidates with expertise in one or more of the following areas: public policy; racial, ethnic, or gender politics; or political behavior. Candidates should hold a Ph.D. in Political Science or a related field and demonstrate a commitment to excellence in undergraduate and graduate teaching and an active record of research. The successful candidate will teach the introductory American government course, as well as advanced undergraduate courses and Master's level courses. Candidates will also advise students and serve the department, university, and profession. Favor will be shown to candidates who can propose interdisciplinary courses with department colleagues in History and/or Sociology.

Required qualifications:

- Earned doctorate in Political Science or related field;
- Demonstrated potential for teaching excellence; and
- Demonstrated potential for research and publication.

Preferred qualifications:

- Prior teaching experience.

The Department offers both Bachelor's and Master's degrees in Political Science as well as a Bachelor's in Criminal Justice (co-administered with Sociology). Beginning in fall 2023, our Master's program is fully online. The department has five Political Science faculty members (plus the chair, a political scientist), five History faculty, and six Sociology faculty. Political Science offers degrees to approximately 100 undergraduate Political Science majors and 15 Master's students.

How to apply:

Please submit the following items as a single combined PDF to facultyjobs@twu.edu:

1. Cover Letter (that briefly addresses teaching and research philosophies);
2. Curriculum Vitae;
3. Copy of Graduate Transcripts; and
4. Three Letters of Support/Reference.

Additional materials may be requested at a later date.

The email Header or Subject line must include job title and job code 52812. Review of applications will begin on Friday, October 20, 2023.

University Information:

TWU is a system encompassing three campuses: Houston, Dallas, and the main campus in Denton (population 115,000), located 40 miles north of the Dallas/Fort Worth area. The DFW metroplex, the nation's fourth largest urban center, has world-class museums, orchestras, opera, ballet, theater companies, as well as an array of professional and collegiate sports venues. Additional information about the University is available at <http://www.twu.edu>.

TWU prides itself on providing students with a well-rounded educational experience focused on service, integrity, and health and well-being. Hallmarks of a TWU education include respect for diversity in all dimensions (TWU is currently ranked 6th in the nation for diversity) and a safe campus environment (TWU is among the safest campuses in the nation). TWU faculty and staff are passionate defenders of a “learn by doing” experiential learning environment where they provide students with opportunities to engage in campus, workplace, and community activities that can help shape their sense of purpose, their appreciation for the importance of building quality personal and professional relationships, and their ability to address life’s challenges. This holistic, mentoring approach to developing students and future librarians as engaged, productive citizens in the complex world of the 21st Century encompasses understanding of the balance of health, spiritual and mental well-being.

TWU strives to provide an educational environment that affirms the rights and dignity of each individual, fosters diversity, and encourages a respect for the differences among persons. Discrimination or harassment of any kind is considered inappropriate. TWU is committed to equal opportunity in employment and education and does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, national or ethnic origin, age, veteran's status, genetic information, or against qualified disabled persons.

TWU strives to provide an educational environment that affirms the rights and dignity of each individual, fosters diversity, and encourages a respect for the differences among persons. Discrimination or harassment of any kind is considered inappropriate.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/14/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12526

Luther College

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

Specializations: American Politics, Immigration Policy, Race & Ethnic Politics

Luther College seeks an Assistant Professor of Political Science for a tenure-track position to begin in Fall 2024. Luther College is an undergraduate liberal arts college with a population of fifteen hundred students.

Our faculty and students are highly engaged in academics and research, music programs, athletics, social justice, sustainability, and service. Founded in 1861 by Norwegian immigrants, Luther values its heritage, just as it values the diversity of its students, staff, and faculty, who hail from many faith backgrounds and heritages. Coming from 44 states and 60 countries, 13% of our students are domestic students of color and 11% are international students. Our location in the beautiful Driftless region of northeast Iowa offers a wealth of opportunities not often found in small towns. The economic vitality of the Decorah area is attributable to being a regional hub for outdoor recreation, two nationally recognized healthcare systems, top-ranked schools, business, agriculture, specialty retail, dining, and tourism. In a scenic rural setting, we are an easy 70-mile drive to three urban areas including Rochester, MN, home of Mayo Clinic and an IBM major campus.

Position and Qualifications: The Political Science Department invites applications for a tenure-track position beginning in August 2024. A Ph.D. or equivalent is required by the time of appointment. The successful candidate will primarily teach introductory and upper-level courses in American Politics. The area of specialization is open, with a preference for topics related to race, ethnicity, immigration, comparative legal systems, and international law. The ability to contribute to one of our interdisciplinary programs including Law and Values, International Studies, Identity Studies, and Paideia is beneficial. The willingness to serve as an advisor to Luther's Mock Trial team would be a plus but is not required. Teaching responsibilities include six courses spread over Fall, January, and Spring terms, with an average class size smaller than twenty-five. Additional duties include student recruitment and advising, departmental and college service, and scholarly activity.

Apply: Review of applications will begin October 13, 2023, and continue until the position is filled. Apply at <https://www.luther.edu/offices/hr/careers>. Applicant's dossier will include:

a cover letter (include past and potential contributions to diversity, equity, and inclusion)

curriculum vitae

a statement of teaching philosophy

evidence of teaching effectiveness

unofficial graduate and undergraduate transcripts

three references (requests for letters of recommendation will be sent later in the search process)

Questions about the position may be directed to Carly Hayden Foster, Department Head, Department of Political Science, Luther College, 700 College Drive, Decorah, IA, 52101; email: fostca01@luther.edu. Additional information about the college is available by visiting the college website www.luther.edu. Questions regarding the application process should be directed to: hr@luther.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/13/2023

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 12508

Misericordia University

Rank: Assistant Professor in Government, Law, and National Security

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Methodology, Public Policy

Specializations: American Politics, State Politics, Judicial Politics

Misericordia University invites applications for a tenure-track position at the level of Assistant Professor in the Government, Law, and National Security program (GLNS) starting in the fall 2024. The GLNS program, which is part of the university's Department of History and Government, seeks a specialist in American Politics with expertise in American political institutions, public policy, public law, and/or homeland security. The candidate will have the freedom to develop elective courses based on their expertise. A Ph.D. in Political Science is preferred by the time of appointment, but ABD candidates will be considered. Teaching experience is preferred.

Misericordia University is committed to student, faculty and staff diversity and values the educational benefit this brings to campus. Candidates should indicate any experience and/or leadership that contribute to this goal.

Misericordia University, founded in 1924 by the Sisters of Mercy, is located adjacent to the Pocono Mountains region of Northeastern Pennsylvania, approximately two hours from New York city and Philadelphia. The University's approach of combining a quality liberal arts education with professional preparation and service leadership has resulted in its wide regional acclaim.

Review of credentials will begin immediately and continue until the position is filled. For confidential consideration, applicants should submit a letter of application that contains a curriculum vitae, letters of reference, statements of teaching philosophy and research agenda, and teaching evaluations online at www.misericordia.edu/hr under Faculty Opportunities or by mail to Human Resources Department, Misericordia University, 301 Lake Street, Dallas, PA, 18612.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/12/2023

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 12499

Stony Brook University

Rank: Assistant Professor in American Politics

Specializations: American Politics, Political Behavior, Race & Ethnic Politics

The Department of Political Science at Stony Brook University invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position in American politics. This position would begin in Fall 2024. The department is interested in applicants with expertise in political behavior, political parties, judicial politics, or a closely related substantive area. Successful candidates will have a strong record of demonstrated research excellence. Advanced skills in quantitative methods and/or experiments in addition to an established track record of graduate student collaboration and mentoring are highly desirable. Additional duties include fostering inclusive teaching at the graduate and undergraduate levels, conducting a program of research, and participating in faculty governance at the departmental, college, and university levels.

Qualifications

Required Qualifications:

1. Ph.D. (or foreign equivalent) in Political Science or a closely related field in hand by August 31, 2024.
2. Specific research interests and training in political behavior, political parties, judicial politics, or a closely related substantive area.

Preferred Qualifications:

1. Demonstrated record of the following, as evidenced by the applicant's CV and three letters of recommendation:
 - a. record of producing high-quality research
 - b. strong research background and training
 - c. strong publication record
 - d. experience teaching at the undergraduate and/or graduate level

Application Instructions

Apply through Interfolio at the job posting here: <https://apply.interfolio.com/130609>

Please upload:

1. Cover letter
2. Curriculum Vitae
3. Samples of written work
4. Teaching statement
5. Research statement
6. Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion (DEI) statement
7. Three letters of recommendation submitted via Interfolio

All application materials must be submitted online. Please use the Apply Now button to begin your application. For technical support, please visit Interfolio's Support Site (<https://support.interfolio.com/>) or reach out to their Scholar Service Team at help@interfolio.com or (877) 997-8807.

For questions regarding this position, please contact the search chair, Professor Ryan Vander Wielen at Ryan.Vanderwielen@stonybrook.edu.

For full consideration please submit your materials by 11:59 PM Eastern Time on Friday, October 13, 2023.

Special Notes: This is a tenure track position. FLSA Exempt position, not eligible for the overtime provisions of the FLSA.

The selected candidate must successfully clear a background investigation.

In accordance with the Title II Crime Awareness and Security Act, a copy of our crime statistics is available upon request by calling (631) 632- 6350. It can also be viewed online at the University Police website at <http://www.stonybrook.edu/police>.

About the Department:

The Department of Political Science is committed to excellence in research and scholarship, graduate student training, undergraduate teaching and learning, public outreach, and the promotion of responsible citizenship. It contributes to the generation of knowledge about politics and aims to deepen scholarly and public understanding of political institutions and the citizenry. The department seeks to prepare students for successful careers in government, academics, and the private sector. The Department provides training for PhD and MA students in cutting-edge approaches to the empirical study of political science to produce graduates with outstanding research, teaching, and professional skills. <http://www.stonybrook.edu/polsci/>

About the College:

As part of a great research university, the College of Arts and Sciences at Stony Brook University focuses on scholarly creativity, connecting our disciplines of fine arts; humanities; social, behavioral and natural sciences; and mathematics with medicine, technology, culture, education, business and environment. As the largest College for the campus, we help students and faculty begin a lifetime of learning and discovery by exploring new ideas that drive innovation and inspiration across all sectors of society. <http://www.stonybrook.edu/cas/>

Campus Description:

Stony Brook University, one of two flagships within the State University of New York (SUNY) system, is one of America's most dynamic public universities, a center of academic excellence, and an internationally recognized research institution that is changing the world. After more than 60 years of existence, it is ranked among the top 100 universities in the nation and the top 25 public universities in the nation. It is a member of the prestigious invitation-only Association of American Universities, composed of the top 66 leading research institutions in North America. As Long Island's largest single-site employer, Stony Brook has nearly 15,000 full- and part-time employees, including 2,800 faculty and nearly 27,000 students — including almost 18,000 undergraduates — and offers more than 200 majors, minors and combined-degree programs. Located approximately 60 miles east of Manhattan on Long Island's beautiful North Shore, Stony Brook is situated on 1,454 wooded acres, encompassing 13 schools and colleges; a Research and Development Park; world-class athletics facilities, including an 8,300-seat stadium and a 4,000-seat arena; and Stony Brook Medicine, Long Island's premier academic medical center. Also part of the University is a teaching and research campus in Southampton, New York, which offers graduate arts programs and is the site of the Marine Sciences Center. In addition, Stony Brook has a role in running, and performs joint research with, Brookhaven National Laboratory, the only Department of Energy Laboratory in the Northeast. Home to the Emerson String Quartet, the Pollock-Krasner House in East Hampton, NY, and the Humanities Institute, with endeavors that extend to the Turkana Basin Institute in Kenya and the Ranomafana National Park in Madagascar, Stony Brook sustains an international reputation that cuts across the arts, humanities, social sciences and natural sciences

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 10/13/2023

Date Posted: 9/12/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12503

California State University-Sacramento

Rank: Department Chairperson and Tenured Associate/Full Professor

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Public Administration, American Government and Politics

The Department of Public Policy and Administration at Sacramento State seeks applications for Department Chair at the level of Associate or Full Professor. The Department prepares future leaders to address the complex issues facing California; it focuses on professional training for graduate students. Application review begins on October 8, 2023 and the position will remain open until filled. Application submission requirements are available at <https://careers.csus.edu/en-us/job/531163/tenured-faculty-and-department-chair-public-policy-and-administration>.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/11/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12498

Florida International University

Rank: Visiting Assistant Teaching Professor

Visiting Assistant Teaching Professor, American Politics

The Department of Politics and International Relations, in the Steven J. Green School of International & Public Affairs at Florida International University in Miami, FL, is seeking to hire a Visiting Assistant Teaching Professor in American Politics, to begin teaching in the Spring 2024 term.

The successful candidate for this position must have a demonstrated ability to effectively teach the introductory course in American Government (in person and/or online), and should also be able to teach a small selection of upper-level courses, which could include one or more of the following: Political Parties; The Presidency; Legislative Process; Federalism and Intergovernmental Relations; State Government and Politics; Florida Politics; Politics in the American South; or Politics of Voting Rights.

The standard teaching assignment is four courses per semester in Fall and Spring. There may also be opportunities, budget permitting, to teach in the Summer term for additional salary. A Ph.D. in Political Science, with dissertation defended by the starting date, is required. The anticipated contract start date is December 27, 2023; classes for the Spring 2024 term begin on January 8, 2024.

The contract period for this non-tenure track Visiting Faculty position is one year, though contracts may be renewed by the School of International & Public Affairs—based on performance, as well as the needs of the Department—for up to three additional years.

Interested, qualified candidates should email the following materials to the Chairperson, Department of Politics and International Relations, at pir_dept_chair@fiu.edu: (1) a curriculum vitae, (2) a cover letter, (3) a statement of teaching philosophy and teaching interests, (4) evidence of teaching effectiveness, (5) a statement on diversity, equity and inclusion, and (6) the names and contact information for three references (who will be contacted if you advance in the screening process). Review of applications will begin immediately and will be accepted until the position is filled.

The Department of Politics and International Relations, situated in the Steven J. Green School of International and Public Affairs (<https://sipa.fiu.edu>), is home to more than 1,500 undergraduate majors, more than 50 graduate students, and 38 faculty (<https://pir.fiu.edu>). The university and the department value the diversity and inclusivity of our campus community and the curriculum. Faculty enjoy opportunities to work with colleagues in FIU's centers and institutes: the African and African Diaspora Studies program, the Center for the Administration of Justice, the Center for Women's and Gender Studies, the Cuban Research Institute, the Global Energy Security Forum, the Jack D. Gordon Institute for Public Policy and Citizenship Studies, the Jewish Studies Program, the Latin American and Caribbean Center, the Miami-Florida Jean Monnet European Studies Program, the Jaffer Center for Muslim World Studies, and more.

In September 2021, the Steven J. Green School of International and Public Affairs (SIPA) received full membership in the Association of Professional Schools of International Affairs (APSIA). This prestigious organization includes the top 40 schools of international affairs in the world. The SIPA is among 25 in the US with this designation, 5th in the Southeastern United States, and the 1st and only in the State of Florida.

Florida International University is Miami's public research university, focused on student success. According to U.S. News and World Report, FIU has 42 top-50 rankings in the nation among public universities. FIU is a top U.S. research university (R1), with more than $200 million in annual expenditures. FIU ranks 15th in the nation among public universities for patent production, which drives innovation, and is one of the institutions that helps make Florida the top state for higher education. The Next Horizon fundraising campaign is furthering FIU's commitment to providing students Worlds Ahead opportunities. Today, FIU has two campuses and multiple centers, and supports artistic and cultural engagement through its three museums: Patricia & Phillip Frost Art Museum, the Wolfsonian-FIU, and the Jewish Museum of Florida-FIU. FIU is a member of Conference USA, with more than 400 student-athletes participating in 18 sports. The university has awarded more than 330,000 degrees to many leaders in South Florida and beyond. For more information about FIU, visit www.fiu.edu.

FIU is a member of the State University System of Florida and an Equal Opportunity, Equal Access Affirmative Action Employer all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability or protected veteran status.

Start Date: Spring 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/11/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12496

University of Tulsa

Rank: Assistant Professor of American Politics

Specializations: Judicial Politics, Constitutional Law & Theory, Civil Rights & Liberties

The Department of Political Science at the University of Tulsa invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor in American Politics, with an emphasis on Law and Courts, to begin Fall 2024. The search is open with respect to substantive focus and methodological orientation. An interest in teaching research methods is a plus.

Applicants should submit the following materials: (1) a cover letter; (2) a curriculum vitae; (3) a research statement; (4) a statement of teaching philosophy (including a list of courses taught and courses the candidate is prepared to teach); (5) a writing sample, preferably a sole-authored paper (if a multi-authored paper, the candidate should describe their contribution); and (6) three letters of recommendation. Candidates may be asked to submit additional materials as the review process unfolds. All application materials must be submitted online through People Admin (<https://universitytulsa.peopleadmin.com/postings/8108>).

Review of applications will begin September 24, 2023 and will continue until the position is filled. Questions about the position can be directed to Department Chair Matt Hindman (matt-hindman@utulsa.edu).

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/11/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12497

Alma College

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of Political Science at Alma College invites applications for a tenure-track position in American Politics at the Assistant Professor level beginning in August 2024. This position will play a central role in revitalizing Alma College's pre-law program, including the development and direction of a Moot Court program; as such, a preference will be given to applicants with research and teaching interests broadly touching on public law and politics in the United States. The Moot Court program will reflect Alma College's emphasis on experiential learning broadly and complement our nationally-recognized Model UN program in particular. Please contact Dr. Britt Cartrite, Chair of Political Science, for questions about the position (cartrite@alma.edu).

Candidates will need to provide 1) a letter of interest addressing qualifications, teaching philosophy, and research interests, 2) curriculum vitae, 3) writing sample, 4) statement that indicates commitment to diversity and inclusion and how this informs pedagogy, and 5) three confidential letters of recommendation. Application materials should be sent to: Alma College Provost and Vice President for Academic Affairs (provost@alma.edu). Review of materials will begin on October 16, 2023. An offer for this position will be contingent on successful completion of a background check.

Alma College is a selective, baccalaureate Liberal Arts College committed to academic excellence and development of responsible leaders. Alma's students thrive on challenging academic programs in a supportive, small-college environment emphasizing active, collaborative learning and close student-faculty interaction. Alma is a private Phi Beta Kappa institution located in the center of Michigan's Lower Peninsula, is an Equal Opportunity Employer, and is committed to recruiting and retaining a diverse faculty, staff and student body.

Alma College recognizes that we are all transformed when we celebrate and value the varied identities backgrounds, experiences, and perspectives in our campus community. We are committed to recognizing and removing barriers to success and providing equitable access to opportunities through education and advocacy. In our increasingly diverse campus and world, we pledge to create a climate where everyone is safe and free to grow intellectually, spiritually, and emotionally. For more information about the College, visit www.alma.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 10/15/2023

Date Posted: 9/8/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12483

Catholic University of America

Rank: Assistant Professor of Politics

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Policy, Political Theory

Assistant Professor of Politics (American Politics)

The Department of Politics at The Catholic University of America invites applications for a tenure-track faculty appointment in American politics, to begin in the fall of 2024. We are interested in a candidate with a range of interests, including but not limited to public opinion, ideology, political parties, elections, and the presidency. The successful candidate could also play an important advisory role for our Washington, D.C. internship programs. The department especially welcomes applicants whose research interests complement its traditional strengths in historical, theoretical, and institutional perspectives. Situated on a large and beautiful campus, Catholic University is only three metro stops from the Capitol. Politics is one of the largest majors on campus, attracting many students who value the community of a Catholic university while pursuing careers related to politics and law in the nation's capital. The department's Ph.D program has a long and distinguished history, and the development of professionally minded M.A. programs is a university priority.

We seek candidates who understand, are enthusiastic about, and will make a significant contribution to the mission of the University, which reads as follows: "As the national university of the Catholic Church in the United States, founded and sponsored by the bishops of the country with the approval of the Holy See, The Catholic University of America is committed to being a comprehensive Catholic and American institution of higher learning, faithful to the teachings of Jesus Christ as handed on by the Church. Dedicated to advancing the dialogue between faith and reason, The Catholic University of America seeks to discover and impart the truth through excellence in teaching and research, all in service to the Church, the nation and the world.”

Applicants should submit a cover letter, a curriculum vitae, a statement of current research and future research plans, a statement of teaching philosophy, graduate school transcript, and a sample of written work (including scholarly publications) to pol-search@cua.edu and arrange for the submission of three letters of reference. In addition, applicants are asked to submit a one- to two-page personal statement indicating how their research, teaching, and service will make a distinctive contribution to our University’s mission and to the vision of Catholic education outlined in the Apostolic Constitution on Catholic Universities Ex Corde Ecclesiae.

Review of applications will begin November 15 and continue until the position is filled. Questions may be directed to Jakub Grygiel, Department Chair, at grygiel@cua.edu.

The Catholic University of America is an Equal Opportunity Employer.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/7/2023

Salary: $70,000 - $79,999

eJobs ID: 12478

Catholic University of America

Rank: Clinical Assistant Professor of Politics

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Comparative Politics, American Government and Politics

Specializations: American Politics, Latin American, Political Theory
Clinical Assistant Professor of Politics (Public Policy)

The Department of Politics at The Catholic University of America invites applications for a clinical (non-tenure track, two-year renewable contract) faculty appointment, to begin in the fall of 2024. Candidates should have expertise in public policy (American and/or comparative, as well as familiarity with the principles of Catholic social teaching). The department especially welcomes applicants whose research interests complement its traditional strengths in historical, theoretical, ethical and institutional perspectives. The successful candidate will have an opportunity to teach both undergraduates and graduates, including students in a new MA in Public Policy program currently under development.

We seek candidates who understand, are enthusiastic about, and will make a significant contribution to the mission of the University, which reads as follows: “As the national university of the Catholic Church in the United States, founded and sponsored by the bishops of the country with the approval of the Holy See, The Catholic University of America is committed to being a comprehensive Catholic and American institution of higher learning, faithful to the teachings of Jesus Christ as handed on by the Church. Dedicated to advancing the dialogue between faith and reason, The Catholic University of America seeks to discover and impart the truth through excellence in teaching and research, all in service to the Church, the nation and the world.”

Applicants should submit a cover letter, a curriculum vitae, a statement of current research and future research plans, a statement of teaching philosophy, graduate school transcript, and a sample of written work (including scholarly publications) to pol-search@cua.edu and arrange for the submission of three letters of reference. In addition, applicants are asked to submit a one- to two-page personal statement indicating how their research, teaching, and service will make a distinctive contribution to our University’s mission and to the vision of Catholic education outlined in the Apostolic Constitution on Catholic Universities Ex Corde Ecclesiae.

Review of applications will begin November 15 and continue until the position is filled.

Questions may be directed to Jakub Grygiel, Department Chair, at grygiel@cua.edu.

The Catholic University of America is an Equal Opportunity Employer.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/7/2023

Salary: $70,000 - $79,999

eJobs ID: 12475

University of Missouri, Kansas City

Rank: Norman Royall Endowed Professor/Associate Professor of Political Communication/UMKC School of Humanities & Social Sciences

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, Other

The School of Humanities and Social Sciences at the University of Missouri-Kansas City

Job Description

The UMKC School of Humanities and Social Sciences invites applications for the Norman Royall Endowed Professor or Associate Professor with expertise in political communication and quantitative methods, data science, or data analytics research. This is a full-time appointment with rank commensurate with experience.

The successful candidate will play a critical role in the research and teaching mission of the School of Humanities and Social Sciences including securing extramural research funding, working collaboratively with counterparts in data science and analytics across campus, and teaching courses related to political communication and data science in the Political Science, Communication, and Journalism programs.

In support of our goals to be a workplace of choice and a national leader in research and scholarship, UMKC strives to assure that all individuals appointed to endowed chairs and professorships are outstanding leaders in scholarship, teaching, and service. Applicants for this endowed position are encouraged to review UMKC’s Guidelines for Evaluation of Endowed Chairs and Professors at the following link: <https://info.umkc.edu/academichiring/endowed-chairs-professorships/>.

Minimum Qualifications

A Ph.D. in Political Science or Communication Studies or a closely related field.

A full-time ranked faculty appointment at the associate or full professor rank.

Full Time/Part Time

Professor or Associate Professor - Tenure-Eligible. This is a full-time 9-month, ranked, benefit-eligible faculty position. Salary is commensurate with experience and qualifications.

The start date is August 2024.

Application Deadline

Applications accepted until position is filled. Review of completed applications will begin upon receipt, with priority consideration for those received by October 15, 2023.

Application Instructions

For consideration, you must apply online at www.umkc.edu/jobs, click in Academic Positions Job Opening ID 48454.

Please combine all application materials (curriculum vitae, letter of application addressing your research interests and teaching philosophy, and a list of three academic and/or professional references with current full contact information) into one PDF or Microsoft Word document and upload as your resume attachments. Limit document name to 50 characters and do not include any special characters (e.g., /, &, %, etc.).

· If you are experiencing technical problems during application, please email umpshrsupport@umsystem.edu

· For questions about the position, please contact umkcfacultysearch@umkc.edu including the Job Identification number 48454 and name of the position.

· Reasonable accommodations may be requested during the application and recruitment process. If you need an accommodation, please contact the Office of Affirmative Action at (816) 235-1323.

We will contact references and request educational transcripts for applicants who progress to the finalist stage.

Comments

UMKC is a public, urban, research university with more than 15,000 undergraduate, graduate, and professional students. It is part of the larger University of Missouri System. Our university is committed to being a model urban university that is recognized for our partnerships with diverse communities to effectively foster a healthy, safe, more economically secure and socially just quality of life.

A City on the Rise: Big City Life and Midwest Charm, Kansas City offers the best of both worlds – a vibrant, urban community with midwestern appeal and an affordable cost of living. The university is in one of the most entrepreneurial cities in America, and the metropolitan area has a population of more than 2.4 million. Our UMKC campuses are centered in the hubs of business activity, cultural arts, and health science research engagement. Our community boasts championship professional athletic teams, NASCAR racing, and a rich history of music and performing arts. Our beautiful state provides rivers, lakes, biking/hiking trails and mountains for outdoor enthusiasts, all within an easy drive.

Equal Employment Opportunity

Equal Opportunity is and shall be provided for all employees and applicants for employment on the basis of their demonstrated ability and competence without unlawful discrimination on the basis of their race, color, national origin, ancestry, religion, sex, pregnancy, sexual orientation, gender identity, gender expression, age, disability, protected veteran status, or any other status protected by applicable state or federal law. This policy shall not be interpreted in such a manner as to violate the legal rights of religious organizations or the recruiting rights of military organizations associated with the Armed Forces or the Department of Homeland Security of the United States of America. For more information, call Human Resources at 816-235-1621.

To request ADA accommodations, please call the Office of Equity & Title IX at 816-235-6910.

Know Your Rights

To read more about Equal Employment Opportunity (EEO) please use the following links:

Know Your Rights English Version

Know Your Rights Spanish Version

UMKC Statement on Diversity

Values Commitment

We value the uniqueness of every individual and strive to ensure each person's success. Contributions from individuals with diverse backgrounds, experiences and perspectives promote intellectual pluralism and enable us to achieve the excellence that we seek in learning, research and engagement. This commitment makes our university a better place to work, learn and innovate.

In your application materials, please discuss your experiences and expertise that support these values and enrich our missions of teaching, research and engagement.

Benefit Eligibility

Why UMKC?

We offer full benefits that start day one, generous paid time off, holiday pay, paid winter break (December 26-December 31), and continuing education benefits. Visit our Total Rewards page to learn more.

Also, explore the Total Rewards website to learn more about the rewards package we offer to acknowledge our employees as the university's most important resource.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/7/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12479

Centre College

Rank: Tenured or Tenure-Track faculty position in Politics

Centre College invites applications for a tenured or tenure-track faculty position in Politics to begin August 2024. With expertise in American Politics, the successful candidate will also have a strong commitment to student-centered teaching and mentoring undergraduate research. Ideal candidates will employ inclusive pedagogies, support students beyond the classroom and be qualified to offer courses in American political institutions and/or behavior, state/local politics, and one or more of the following topics: reproductive rights, voter suppression, federalism, race, gender, LGBTQ identity, immigration, ethnicity, and/or social justice.

Candidates should be appreciative of the unique attributes of a residential liberal arts college and provide evidence of scholarly potential or achievement. Candidates must have a PhD by the time of appointment or have a scheduled dissertation defense date.

Centre College is nationally-ranked, with ~1,400 students and an exceptional faculty of teacher-scholars. Centre's robust academic programs span the arts, humanities, social sciences, and natural sciences, and Centre hosts one of the nation's premier study abroad programs, a world-class performing arts center, and competitive Division III athletics. Classes are small and academic standards are high, and Centre graduates enjoy extraordinary success in top graduate and professional schools, prestigious fellowships, and rewarding careers. The Centre Commitment guarantees that all students can study abroad, have an internship or research opportunity, and graduate in four years.

Centre College is committed to academic freedom and an environment that welcomes and supports diversity. As noted in the Statement of Community, Centre strives to create an environment where differences are celebrated, governance is shared, ideas are freely and respectfully exchanged, and all members of the community benefit from the richness of diverse backgrounds and experiences. Therefore, the Politics program strongly encourages applications from candidates who further diversify our faculty, who celebrate the rich diversity of our student body, and who utilize inclusive and engaging pedagogical practices. To apply, please go to:

<http://apply.interfolio.com/131586>

A complete application will include: 1) a letter of application that describes your interest in, and qualifications for, this particular position at Centre College, 2) your curriculum vitae, 3) a statement of your teaching philosophy, experience, and effectiveness, 4) a diversity statement addressing your approach and/or commitment to inclusive excellence in the classroom and across our campus community, and 5) three confidential letters of reference from individuals able to share insight into your professional expertise and future potential.

Review of applications will begin on October 6, 2023.

Centre College is a proud member of the Greater Kentucky Higher Education Recruitment Consortium: www.greaterkyherc.org. The Greater Kentucky HERC is a non-profit organization composed of a diverse group of colleges, universities, hospitals, government agencies, non-profit organizations, and members of private industry committed to recruiting and retaining a diverse, talented workforce. Member representatives include faculty, staff, human resources professionals, institutional leaders, and faculty relations experts. Centre College is an equal opportunity employer.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 10/31/2023

Date Posted: 9/6/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12474

Covenant College

Rank: Tenure Track Faculty Position in Political Science

The Department of History, Politics, and International Studies at Covenant College seeks to hire in the field of Political Science (tenure track) with appointment beginning July 1, 2024.

Covenant College is an academically rigorous Christian college emphasizing the liberal arts in the Reformed and Presbyterian tradition. Located in the southern Appalachian mountains near Chattanooga, Tennessee, Covenant College is a four-year, residential liberal arts institution affiliated with the Presbyterian Church in America (PCA).

Candidates should have a Ph.D. in Political Science or be ABD with plans for degree completion prior to the appointment date. Expertise in American Government (first or second field) is required. Undergraduate teaching responsibilities include American Government, Civil Rights and Liberties, Executive and Legislative Branches, Federalism and Separation of Powers, and Public Policy. The ideal candidate will have an active research agenda in the field, an eagerness to incorporate students into that research where appropriate, a commitment to effective academic advising, and enthusiasm for professional and institutional service.

Interested and qualified candidates should send the following documentation to Dr. Collin Messer:

? Curriculum Vitae

? A brief Philosophy of Christian Higher Education

? A brief Testimony of Christian Faith and Experience

? A brief Response to the Westminster Confession (located at <https://www.pcaac.org/bco/westminster-confession/>) indicating agreement, and any scruples, with rationales

Dr. Collin Messer, Vice-President for Academic Affairs

Covenant College

14049 Scenic Highway

Lookout Mt., GA 30750

Email: academicaffairs@covenant.edu

Start Date: Summer 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/6/2023

Salary: Any

eJobs ID: 12462

University of South Florida

Rank: Assistant Professor of Instruction in American Civics

The School of Interdisciplinary Global Studies at the University of South Florida invites applications for a 9-month Assistant Professor of Instruction position in American Civics beginning on August 7, 2024. This instructional position is non-tenure stream but is eligible for annual reappointment and promotion to Associate Professor of Instruction and Professor of Instruction.

The incumbent will teach 8 undergraduate political science courses each year. Most semesters they will teach three sections of American National Government and a class in their area of expertise. This position is being established to support the state of Florida's Postsecondary Civics Literacy Requirement, which has increased demand for our introductory American National Government course. Summer teaching opportunities for additional compensation are likely to become available.

We are looking for a colleague who wants a career as a political science teacher at the university level. The minimum requirement for this position is a Ph.D. in Political Science, or a juris doctorate, from an accredited institution. Applications from individuals who are ABD will be accepted, but the degree must be conferred by the appointment start date. Preference will be given to applicants who have substantial experience teaching American government classes as instructor of record at the university level.

The salary is $55,000 per year. A review of applications will begin October 1, 2023. To apply, please visit <http://employment.usf.edu>.

Applicants should compile the following items into a SINGLE FILE and attach it to their application: cover letter, curriculum vitae, graduate transcript, teaching philosophy statement, sample syllabus, and evidence of teaching success. Three letters of recommendation should be sent electronically to jamielane@usf.edu or in hard copy to:

Jamie Lane, Department Operations Manager

School of Interdisciplinary Global Studies

University of South Florida

4202 East Fowler Ave, SOC 107

Tampa, FL 33620

The University of South Florida, a high-impact research university dedicated to student success and committed to community engagement, generates an annual economic impact of more than $6 billion. With campuses in Tampa, St. Petersburg and Sarasota-Manatee, USF serves approximately 50,000 students who represent nearly 150 different countries. For four consecutive years, U.S. News & World Report has ranked USF as one of the nation's top 50 public universities, including USF's highest ranking ever in 2023 (No. 42). In 2023, USF became the first public university in Florida in nearly 40 years to be invited to join the Association of American Universities, a prestigious group of the leading universities in the United States and Canada. Through hundreds of millions of dollars in research activity each year and as one of top universities in the world for securing new patents, USF is a leader in solving global problems and improving lives. USF is a member of the American Athletic Conference. Learn more at www.usf.edu

Conclusion of this search is subject to final budget approval. According to Florida Law, applications and meetings regarding them are open to the public. USF is an Equal Opportunity/Equal Access institution. For disability accommodations, contact Jamie Lane at 813/974-0842 or jamielane@usf.edu, a minimum of five working days in advance.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 10/1/2023

Date Posted: 9/6/2023

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 12472

University of Virginia

Rank: Assistant Professor/Associate Professor - Politics

Assistant Professor/Associate Professor - Politics

University of Virginia: UVA Provost's Office: College and Graduate School of Arts & Sciences: Politics

Location: Charlottesville, VA

Open Date: Sep 06, 2023

Description

The Department of Politics at the University of Virginia invites applications for a tenure-track assistant or associate professor position for a scholar who studies democracy, race, and U.S. politics. Applicants must hold a Ph.D. in political science by the time of the appointment.

This position is part of a multiyear hiring initiative. In the fall of 2020, with the generous support of the John L. Nau Foundation and the Andrew W. Mellon Foundation, the University of Virginia's Democracy Initiative and College of Arts & Sciences launched a faculty hiring project. Over four years, we will hire a dozen or more new faculty members at all ranks in the departments of Classics, History, and Philosophy, Politics, and elsewhere. Across all the searches, the Departments seek to appoint scholars whose primary research is focused on the study of the principles of democracy, democratic accountability and representation.

The mission of the Democracy Initiative is to promote excellence in research, teaching, and public engagement on democracy at a global scale by bringing together a diverse range of scholars, government leaders, and practitioners to study and advance the prospects of democracy around the world. The Democracy Initiative is interdisciplinary and supports and advances the work of faculty, as well as graduate and undergraduate students, in the humanities, the arts, and the social sciences.

Qualifications

Candidates should have an active research agenda that engages with normative and /or practical questions pertaining to race and democracy in the United States, a strong interest in teaching at both the graduate and undergraduate levels, and a willingness to contribute to the scholarly life of the Department of Politics and the Democracy Initiative. Application review will begin October 9, 2023, and the position will remain open until filled. The appointment begins with the fall semester of 2024. Applicants must have received their PhD by time of appointment.

Application Instructions

TO APPLY:

Apply online at :<https://apply.interfolio.com/129311>

All applications must include:

1. A cover letter addressing the candidate's past and future research, as well as their teaching experience and interests, including how their skills and experiences could advance the University's ambition to cultivate the most vibrant community in higher education in order to prepare students to be citizen-leaders in a diverse and globally connected world
2. Current curriculum vitae
3. Research statement (not to exceed three single-spaced pages)
4. Teaching philosophy (not to exceed one single-spaced page)
5. Statement outlining intellectual and/or institutional contributions you could envision making to the Democracy Initiative (not to exceed one single-spaced page)
6. One article-length writing sample
7. Three letters of recommendation

We will only consider complete applications.

Questions about this position should be directed to Department Chair Jennifer Lawless at jl9jx@virginia.edu .

Application Process

This institution is using Interfolio's Faculty Search to conduct this search. Applicants to this position receive a free Dossier account and can send all application materials, including confidential letters of recommendation, free of charge.

Apply <http://apply.interfolio.com/129311>

Equal Employment Opportunity Statement

The University of Virginia, including the UVA Health System which represents the UVA Medical Center, Schools of Medicine and Nursing, UVA Physicians Group and the Claude Moore Health Sciences Library, are fundamentally committed to the diversity of our faculty and staff. We believe diversity is excellence expressing itself through every person's perspectives and lived experiences. We are equal opportunity and affirmative action employers. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to age, color, disability, gender identity or expression, marital status, national or ethnic origin, political affiliation, race, religion, sex, pregnancy, sexual orientation, veteran or military status, and family medical or genetic information.

The University of Virginia offers confidential Dual Career Services to partners of incoming faculty candidates. To learn more, please visit www.dualcareer.virginia.edu

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/6/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12467

University of Colorado, Colorado Springs

Rank: Assistant Professor - American Politics

The Department of Political Science at the University of Colorado, Colorado Springs invites applications for a position at the rank of assistant professor in American Politics beginning August 2024.

Successful candidates will have research and teaching interests in one or more of the following areas: American Institutions, Constitutionalism, American Political Development, and American Political Thought. The successful candidate will be required to teach our introductory course in American Politics. A Ph.D. in Political Science or a related field is required at the time of appointment. Candidates from underrepresented groups are especially encouraged to apply.

Applications should be submitted by October 1, 2023 at 5:00pm MDT and must include the following materials:

- (1) Cover letter
- (2) CV
- (3) Sample course syllabus
- (4) Unofficial graduate transcripts

To submit an application and for more information about this position, visit:

<https://cu.taleo.net/careersection/targeted+hire/jobdetail.ftl?job=31047&lang=en>

Start Date: Fall 2024

Date Posted: 9/5/2023

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 12450

James Madison University

Rank: Tenure Track Assistant Professor of Political Science - Race and Ethnic Politics

Mission

We are a community committed to preparing students to be educated and enlightened citizens who lead productive and meaningful lives.

Vision

To be the national model for the engaged university: engaged with ideas and the world.

Who We Are

Located in the heart of Virginia's beautiful Shenandoah Valley, the city of Harrisonburg is approximately 120 miles from Washington, D.C. and Richmond, VA. With a population of just over 53,000, Harrisonburg is one of the most diverse communities in the Commonwealth of Virginia. JMU is a selective, public institution with a growing national reputation for offering experiences that lead to an outstanding education and inclusive environment for students, faculty and staff. The student body includes approximately 20,000 undergraduate and 1,900 graduate students, with over 1,000 full-time instructional faculty.

JMU offers thriving programs in the liberal arts, science and technology, and professional disciplines at the undergraduate, master's and doctoral levels. The university is committed to expanding diversity, fostering equity and inclusion, and supporting superlative teaching and scholarship. JMU has achieved national recognition for the high quality of its academic programs, focus on maintaining strong student/faculty interaction, and innovative faculty research.

The College of Arts and Letters in which the Department of Political Science is located, enrolls over 3,100 undergraduate majors and about 150 graduate students across ten academic units in the humanities, social sciences, and communication studies. Home to several interdisciplinary centers and institutes, the College employs 270 full-time faculty. We embrace the teacher-scholar model, and encourage excellent applicants within our particular disciplines, as well as scholars and teachers eager to work across them. We look to enhance our existing interdisciplinary strengths and to extend our offerings in global cultures, politics, and religions, as well as in global justice, disability studies, and digital humanities.

The Position

The Department of Political Science at James Madison University invites applications for one tenure track assistant professor position in Political Science with a specialization in Race and Ethnic Politics. The department includes undergraduate majors in Political Science, International Affairs, and Public Administration and graduate programs in Political Science and Public Administration. Faculty in the department also support a wide range of collaborative and interdisciplinary minors, including but not limited to those in: African, African American, and Diaspora Studies; Asian Studies; Environmental Science; Environmental Studies; Humanitarian Affairs; Latin American, Latinx, and Caribbean Studies; Middle Eastern Communities and Migrations; Modern European Studies; Political Communication; and Women, Gender, and Sexuality Studies.

The successful candidate will teach introduction to U.S. government and introduction to Race & Ethnic Politics. The department anticipates that the new colleague will also teach one or more additional courses in their area of specialization related to Race & Ethnic Politics. The ability to teach undergraduate research methods or policy analysis is desired but not required. The standard teaching load is 3-2, but the position will come with 1 course release in the first year. The position will begin in August 2024.

Candidates should hold a Ph.D. in Political Science (or a closely related field) or have ABD status with an expected Ph.D. completion date within 10 months from the start date of the position. Applicants should demonstrate excellence in teaching, advising and research and a commitment to an inclusive classroom and work environment.

Employment is contingent upon the successful completion of a criminal background check.

E-Verify Notice: After accepting employment, new hires are required to complete an I-9 form and present documentation of their identity and eligibility to work in the United States. James Madison University uses the E-Verify system to confirm identity and work authorization.

Applicants should apply via JMU Joblink: <https://joblink.jmu.edu/postings/15338>

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/4/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12434

St. John Fisher University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Legal Studies

Subfield(s): Public Law, American Government and Politics, Other
Specializations: Constitutional Law & Theory, Civil Rights & Liberties, Judicial Politics

St. John Fisher University, an independent, liberal arts institution in the Catholic tradition located in Rochester, New York, seeks applications for a tenure-track assistant professor of Legal Studies to begin fall 2024.

The successful candidate will contribute to our legal studies program by offering courses in the field of law, politics and society. The ability to offer classes in legal theory, in legal processes, or in US or comparative public law are particularly welcome. The candidate must demonstrate the potential for superior teaching, excellence in scholarship, and an ability to provide excellent advising and mentorship for the many students preparing for law school. The person hired must possess their Ph.D. by August 2024. Prior teaching experience is highly valued. Additional JD degree, or experience in law school and law advising is strongly preferred.

Applicants are encouraged to visit our web page to get more information about the requirements and coursework in Legal Studies. <https://www.sjf.edu/major-minors/legal-studies/>

The application can be found on our Human Resources Webpage at <https://jobs.sjf.edu/postings/3080>

Founded in 1948, St. John Fisher University is ranked among the top colleges and universities in the northeast and has a rich history of academic excellence and an outstanding reputation for its commitment to a student-centered, personalized educational environment. The educational philosophy of the founding Basilian Fathers—Teach me goodness, discipline, and knowledge—reflects Fisher's traditions and values today, and the campus prepares individuals for lives of intellectual, professional, and civic integrity and where diversity and service to others are valued and practiced,

The School of Arts and Sciences at St John Fisher University serves all undergraduate students through 33 programs, the Core general education curriculum, and pre-professional requirements. The School provides all the liberal arts offerings required for baccalaureate degrees, thus providing critical skills and perspectives across a wide range of disciplines.

The new faculty will arrive at an exciting time in our University's history. Our Legal Studies program is one of the fastest growing programs in the School of Arts and Sciences. Our student-focused faculty promote active and applied learning. We pride ourselves on the strength of our relationships with program alumni and offer our undergraduate high-impact programs such as our local and DC internships and many other experiential learning experiences.

Job Responsibilities

Required qualifications:

- PhD or ABD in Political Science, Law and Society, or related field with expected completion by August 2024.
- Additional JD degree preferred. Candidates with a JD only, and significant teaching and research experience, will be considered on an ad hoc basis.
- Ability to teach a wide range of courses at the undergraduate level in Legal Studies and for our Core general education curriculum.
- Demonstrated ability to be an excellent teacher.
- Commitment to a consistent, high-quality scholarly agenda and high potential for publishing in peer-reviewed scholarly venues.
- Commitment to mentoring and advising students, especially regarding law school applications and careers in law.
- Commitment to contributing to a climate of equity and inclusion.
- Commitment to service.
- Commitment to community engagement.
- Excellent communication skills.
- Applicants must be legally authorized to work in the US and be available to start teaching in fall 2024.

Education / Experience:

Applications are invited from candidates who have completed a PhD or joint PhD/JD, or from doctoral candidates with a scheduled completion date for the dissertation by August 2024. Candidates with a JD only, and significant teaching and research experience, will be considered on an ad hoc basis.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 10/15/2023

Date Posted: 9/4/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12433

Murray State University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

Summary of Job Duties and Responsibilities:

The Department of Political Science and Sociology at Murray State University invites applications for a position as a tenure-track assistant professor in political science starting in August 2024. We are an interdisciplinary department offering majors in political science, pre-law, international studies, sociology, and social inequality and human rights. In addition, we have a Master of Public Administration program. While the area of specialization is open, the successful candidate should be able to teach courses in the fields of Political Theory and American Politics. Ideally, the candidate for this position would also be willing and able to teach graduate-level courses for our growing Master of Public Administration (MPA) program, such as Ethics in Public Administration.

In addition to the above, a successful candidate may be asked to

- * teach online, in-person, and ITV
- * teach at the graduate and undergraduate level
- * teach other courses in the department as needed
- * advise students in the political science program or the department's other programs as needed
- * assist with the recruitment of majors
- * build relationships between the political science program and the community
- * maintain a record excellence in teaching
- * maintain a record of scholarship and publications
- * build and maintain a record of service

Minimum Education and Qualifications:
Ph.D. in Political Science or a related field is required. ABDs with a documented plan of completion by appointment date will be considered. Teaching experience is preferred.

Submit your application through the following link: <https://www.murraystatejobs.com/postings/11057>

For best consideration, please submit a completed application along with all required materials? by November 1, 2023.? Applications will be accepted until the position is filled.

Murray State blends educational opportunities found at research institutions with collaborative interactions among students, faculty and staff found at smaller universities. Students receive personalized attention from supportive faculty and staff as the University offers a 16:1 student-to-faculty ratio. Murray State University places our highest priority on student learning and excellent teaching, blending the range of educational opportunities often experienced at research institutions with the nurturing student-teacher interactions usually found at smaller universities.

Located in the West Kentucky region, Murray State University is a public, comprehensive University which offers a low cost of living, low property taxes, and a four-season climate. Murray has a friendly, small-town atmosphere with locally-owned specialty shops and restaurants, an acclaimed community theater, art guild and award-winning public schools. The area is home to Kentucky Lake and Land Between the Lakes, a 170,000-acre National Recreation Area, which offers a wide-range of activities and amenities for residents and visitors alike. Located in close proximity to major cities and nearby access to Interstate 24, Murray is just a few hours from Nashville, St. Louis, Louisville and Memphis.

Start Date: Fall 2024
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/30/2023
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 12408

University of California, San Diego

Rank: Assistant Professor - American Politics

The Department of Political Science (<http://polisci.ucsd.edu>) within the School of Social Sciences at the University of California, San Diego invites applications in American Politics for appointment at the rank of tenure-track Assistant Professor to begin July 1, 2024.

We seek candidates whose research, teaching, and service will advance scholarship in the area of American political institutions and behavior by: building and maintaining a record of high quality scholarship and professional activity; providing meaningful service including contributions to a campus and professional community that supports equity, inclusion, and diversity; and teaching and advising graduate student and undergraduate students (the teaching load in the department is 4 courses per year, typically distributed as 3 undergraduate and 1 graduate course. Faculty are also expected to participate in the undergraduate honors seminar and serve on PhD exam and dissertation committees). Candidates must currently hold a PhD in Political Science or a related field or be currently pursuing a PhD with ABD status.

Additional information and a link to the online application portal is at: <https://apol-recruit.ucsd.edu/JPF03704>

Application review will begin September 23, 2023 and continue until the position is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2024
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/30/2023
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 12411

University of California, San Diego

Rank: Assistant Professor - American Politics

The Department of Political Science (<http://polisci.ucsd.edu>) within the School of Social Sciences at the University of California, San Diego invites applications in American Politics for appointment at the rank of tenure-track Assistant Professor to begin July 1, 2024.

We seek candidates whose research, teaching, and service will advance scholarship in the area of American political institutions and behavior by: building and maintaining a record of high quality scholarship and professional activity; providing meaningful service including contributions to a campus and professional community that supports equity, inclusion, and diversity; and teaching and advising graduate student and undergraduate students (the teaching load in the department is 4 courses per year, typically distributed as 3 undergraduate and 1 graduate course. Faculty are also expected to participate in the undergraduate honors seminar and serve on PhD exam and dissertation committees). Candidates must currently hold a PhD in Political Science or a related field or be currently pursuing a PhD with ABD status.

Information regarding application documents, salary range, and a link to the online application portal is at: <https://apol-recruit.ucsd.edu/JPF03704>

Application review will begin September 23, 2023 and continue until the position is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2024
Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/30/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12412

University of California, San Diego

Rank: Assistant Professor - American Politics

The Department of Political Science (<https://polisci.ucsd.edu/>) within the School of Social Sciences at the University of California, San Diego invites applications in American Politics for appointment at the rank of tenure-track Assistant Professor to begin July 1, 2024.

We seek candidates whose research, teaching, and service will advance scholarship in the area of American political institutions and behavior by: building and maintaining a record of high quality scholarship and professional activity; providing meaningful service including contributions to a campus and professional community that supports equity, inclusion, and diversity; and teaching and advising graduate student and undergraduate students (the teaching load in the department is 4 courses per year, typically distributed as 3 undergraduate and 1 graduate course. Faculty are also expected to participate in the undergraduate honors seminar and serve on PhD committees).

Information regarding application requirements, position qualifications, salary, and a link to the online application portal are at: <https://apol-recruit.ucsd.edu/JPF03704>.

Apply by September 23, 2023 at 11:59pm (PT) in order to ensure full consideration by the committee.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/30/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12414

California State University, Dominguez Hills

Rank: Assistant Professor

Assistant Professor

Department of Political Science (American Politics)

College of Natural & Behavioral Sciences

Position Description

The Department of Political Science at California State University, Dominguez Hills (CSUDH) invites applications for a Tenure-track position at the rank of Assistant Professor (Academic Year) with the appointment starting in Fall 2024.

At CSUDH, we celebrate and respect diversity in all forms that include every race, religion, gender, ethnicity, veterans, people with varied abilities, and members of the LGBTQ+ community. CSUDH is seeking applications from candidates who can demonstrate experience in teaching and working with individuals from diverse backgrounds and contribute to the University's mission, vision, and core values.

For more information: Mission, Vision, and Core Values.

The Position

The Department of Political Science intends to hire a scholar-educator in the field of American Politics. The successful candidate will begin a tenure-track position in the department as of fall 2024, as an Assistant Professor.

The Ideal Candidate

The ideal candidate will have a promising record of effective teaching, scholarly writing and service, and will be an innovative thinker. The candidate will be well qualified to contribute to in a department strongly committed to academic excellence, community outreach and the development of partnerships with local and federal government institutions and businesses to enhance the learning experience of political science students and to help prepare them for success in the job market, legal careers or graduate school.

Responsibilities

The selected candidate will be responsible for teaching, performing service on departmental and university-wide bases, publishing in peer-reviewed academic journals relevant to the discipline of Political Science/the subfield of American Politics, maintaining office hours, providing advising for our majors and minors, and participating with colleagues in curricular development.

Qualifications

Required Qualifications

A earned PhD in Political Science from an accredited institution of higher education, with emphasis in American Politics by the start of the appointment.

Teaching experience of at least one year or training in teaching techniques.

Applicants must have experience or interest in teaching undergraduates from diverse age, socioeconomic, cultural, and academic backgrounds.

Preferred Qualifications

Expertise in one or more fields of American politics

Strong preference will be given to applicants with experience teaching American Politics.

Demonstrated interest in student-involved research

How to Apply

A completed on-line application must be received by electronic submission to be considered. To apply, please visit CSUDH career opportunities.

Application Deadline Date:

The position is open until filled. Review of applications will begin in October, 2023. For full consideration, please submit your completed application with the required materials no later than October 15, 2023:

Current Curriculum Vitae with contact information

Cover letter

Statement on Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion (2 pages maximum)*

List of 3 references with contact information

Unofficial transcripts (an official transcript will be required for the finalist)

A Statement on Teaching (2 pages maximum)

A Statement on Research (2 pages maximum)

Sample Publications or Evidence of Creative/Scholarly Activity

Teaching Evaluations (if available)

*Given CSUDH's commitment to diversity and inclusion for all students, faculty, staff, and administrators, describe your individual commitment and experiences in advancing diversity and inclusion and how they relate to your future teaching and research.

This position requires three letters of recommendation (LORs). Please do not upload your LORs with your application. Your list of references will be notified at the appropriate time during the search process. They will receive a request via email along with information on uploading the LOR. You will be able to verify that each letter has been received by CSUDH by logging back into your applicant portal.

For finalist with International transcripts, a United States Equivalency certification will be required.

A United States (US) Equivalency certification is required for earned/awarded/conferred foreign terminal degrees, which is from a foreign Academic Institution for foreign studies. The US Equivalency certification is used to validate foreign studies from an academic credential evaluation agency and is evaluated on foreign studies and deemed to be equivalent to degrees from the United States. The certification must translate the information in English, and confirm that your highest terminal degree is US Equivalent to a US terminal degree (i.e., Bachelor's, Master's, Doctorate's, Doctor's of Philosophy). The certification can be emailed to facultyaffairs@csudh.edu or mailed directly to the office of Faculty Affairs and Development, 1000 East Victoria Street, WH-368, Carson, CA 90747.

If you have questions regarding the position, please contact:

Christopher R. Hallenbrook

Search Committee Chair

challenbrook@csudh.edu

American Political Science Association (APSA) 2023

The search committee will be available to meet with and provide information to interested candidates at the 2023 meeting of the American Political Science Association in Los Angeles. Meeting at the APSA is not required for full consideration of an applicant. To schedule a meeting, contact the chair of the search committee:

Dr. Christopher R. Hallenbrook

challenbrook@csudh.edu

Department of Political Science

The Political Science Department is located in the College of Natural and Behavioral Sciences. The current faculty is comprised of five tenured and tenure-track faculty joined by four to five part-time faculty each term. The department provides excellent opportunities for the study of governments, politics, Political Theory, the Constitution, and pre-law. Over 40 courses cover all the major aspects of the discipline. Students develop an understanding of human behavior as it relates to politics. They learn to discuss and analyze critically current philosophical questions and public policy issues facing the United States and the world. They are taught how to critically observe and understand world affairs and comparative politics. They are trained in appropriate research techniques for the study of political processes.

The department offers a major that allows students significant choice to explore their specific interests. Students may choose a concentration in American Politics and Constitutional Law, International Relations and Comparative Politics, or Political Theory. Students may also choose a general track composed of core courses in Research Methods, History of Political Thought, American Politics, Comparative Politics, and International Relations. Regardless of concentration, majors select breadth courses in American Politics, Comparative Politics, and International Relations along with five elective courses selected from departmental offerings. The Political Science Department is home to the university's first and only endowed chair, the Lyman G. Chaffee Endowed Chair of global and Comparative Politics. The endowed chair supports undergraduate research in global politics and overseas study tours for CSUDH students. The Chaffee Endowment also funds scholarships for political science students studying abroad. The department offers internship opportunities at the national, California government and local government levels. The department sponsors an active student organization (APSS, the Association of Political Science Students), houses a faculty advisor to the on-campus Pre-law Society and boasts successful Model United Nations (MUN) and Mock Trial programs for students.

For more information: <https://www.csudh.edu/political-science/>

Additional Information

The Assistant Professor (Academic Year) classification salary range is $5,450 to $11,994 per month (12 monthly payments per academic year); The anticipated hiring salary is $6,584 to $6,750. This position will be commensurate with experience and current CSUDH faculty salaries in the academic department/discipline. Faculty salaries are subject to budgetary authorization and any California State University System faculty contract increases. Summer research grants, moving expenses, start-up funds, and a reduced teaching load may be available.

An excellent comprehensive benefits package is available that includes: health/vision/dental plans; spouse, domestic partner and dependent fee-waiver; access to campus child-care; and a defined-benefit retirement through the state system along with optional tax sheltering opportunities. For a detailed description of benefits, please visit: <https://www.csudh.edu/hr/benefits/>.

Background Check

Satisfactory completion of a background check (including a criminal records check) is required for employment. CSU will make a conditional offer of employment, which may be rescinded if the background check reveals disqualifying information, and/or it is discovered that the candidate knowingly withheld or falsified information. Failure to satisfactorily complete the background check may affect the continued employment of a current CSU employee who was conditionally offered the position.

CSU COVID-19 Vaccination Policy

The California State University (CSU) is committed to safeguarding the health and well-being of our students, faculty, staff, administrators, and the communities we serve, as well as maintaining higher education access and attainment for our students, as such, we embrace a comprehensive strategy designed to reduce the likelihood of transmission of the COVID-19 virus. The CSU strongly recommends that all individuals who access any in-person program or activity (on- or off-campus) operated or controlled by the University follow COVID-19 vaccine recommendations adopted by the U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) and the California Department of Public Health (CDPH) applicable to their age, medical condition, and other relevant indications and comply with other safety measures established by each campus. The systemwide policy can be found at CSU Vaccination Policy and any questions you have may be submitted to hrm@csudh.edu.

Mandated Reporter Per CANRA

The person holding this position is considered a 'mandated reporter' under the California Child Abuse and Neglect Reporting Act (CANRA) and is required to comply with the requirements set forth in CSU Executive Order 1083, revised July 21, 2017, as a condition of employment.

Closing Statement

CSUDH is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer. We consider qualified applicants for employment without regard to race, religion, color, national origin, ancestry, age, sex, gender, gender identity, gender expression, sexual orientation, genetic information, medical condition, disability, marital status, or protected veteran status.

For more information: U.S. Equal Employment Opportunity Commission

Individuals with disabilities requesting accommodations under the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) may call the Human Resources' Office (310) 243-3771.

Clery Act crime statistics for CSUDH are available at Campus Security Report (Clery), or by calling University Police at (310) 243-3639.

Upon appointment, all candidates must furnish proof of eligibility to work in the U.S.

The California State University is Smoke and Tobacco Free. Smoking, Vaping and other Tobacco use are Not Permitted anywhere on University property. Education Code 42356, CCR Title 5, Article 9.

For more information see: Smoke & Tobacco-Free

Advertised: 28 Aug 2023 Pacific Daylight Time

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/29/2023

Salary: $70,000 - $79,999

eJobs ID: 12395

Sam Houston State University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science (American Politics)

Primary Duties and Responsibilities:

The Department of Political Science at Sam Houston State University invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track faculty position at the rank of Assistant Professor beginning August 2024. The successful candidate will be responsible for teaching three courses per semester and engaging in research/scholarly activities. The successful candidate will also be expected to participate in service activities such as program and curriculum development, face-to-face and online course development, and student recruitment and engagement.

Required Qualifications:

The successful candidates will possess the following required qualifications:

1. A doctoral degree in political science from an accredited institution of higher education. ABD candidates will be considered, but they must have a PhD by the start date (August 2024).
2. Demonstrated evidence of ability and/or desire to teach a variety of undergraduate (face-to-face and online) and graduate (online) courses related to American politics, especially courses covering U.S. Congress and legislative politics more broadly.
3. Demonstrated evidence of an established or emerging research/scholarly program in American politics.

Required Application Materials:

- Cover letter that identifies interests, qualifications, and experience for the position.
- Current CV that includes, if applicable, a summary of previous teaching experience and the format of each course taught (i.e., face-to-face, online, hybrid).
- All graduate transcripts. Unofficial transcripts will be accepted during the application process; however, the successful candidate must submit official transcripts documenting all post-secondary degrees.
- Three letters of recommendation from individuals who are familiar with the applicant's teaching and research abilities.

- Recent student teaching evaluations covering the last two semesters of teaching, if available. Those without teaching evaluations will need to upload a placeholder document in lieu of evaluations.
- Teaching statement, including a discussion of online pedagogy and how the applicant's teaching will meet the specific needs of Sam Houston State University's students.
- If available, sample syllabi for relevant courses.

A review of materials will begin September 24, 2023, and will continue until the search is completed. The application process will remain open until the position is filled. Please direct questions to Dr. Tamara Waggener (pol_taw@shsu.edu).

To be considered, you must apply online at: <https://shsu.peopleadmin.com/postings/36345>

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/29/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12405

University of Pittsburgh

Rank: Assistant Professor - American Politics

Assistant Professor – American Politics

The Department of Political Science at the University of Pittsburgh invites applications for a tenure-stream position at the level of Assistant Professor of American Politics, with a focus on partisanship, polarization, representation, and challenges to democracy. We are particularly interested in candidates working in areas including (but not limited to) group identity and bias, media consumption, public-elite interactions, and policy responsiveness. Preferred candidates would also complement the Department's current strengths, which include state politics, identity politics, structural racism, and community-engaged research. In addition, while it is not required for this position, we also value the ability of an applicant to augment the Department's and the University of Pittsburgh's training and reputation in computational social science and methodology. Applicants are required to have or expect to have a Ph.D. in Political Science or a related field before the appointment begins. Applications should include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, statement of research and teaching interests, two or three writing samples, teaching evaluations (if available), a brief description of how your research, teaching or service demonstrates a commitment to diversity, equity, and inclusion, and a minimum of three letters of reference; references will receive email notification with instructions about submitting their letters. In order to ensure full consideration, applications must be received by September 22, 2023, and the review of applications will continue until the position is filled.

Applications should include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, statement of research and teaching interests, two or three writing samples, teaching evaluations (if available), a brief description of how your research, teaching or service demonstrates a commitment to diversity, equity, and inclusion, and a minimum of three letters of reference; references will receive email notification with instructions about submitting their letters.

The University of Pittsburgh is committed to championing all aspects of diversity, equity, inclusion, and accessibility within our community.

This commitment is a fundamental value of the University and is crucial in helping us advance our mission, which includes attracting and retaining diverse workforces. We will continue to create and maintain an environment that allows individuals to discover, belong, contribute, and grow, while honoring the experiences, perspectives, and unique identities of all.

The University of Pittsburgh is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer and values equality of opportunity, human dignity, and diversity. EOE, including disability/vets. The University of Pittsburgh requires all Pitt constituents (employees and students) on all campuses to be vaccinated against COVID-19 or have an approved exemption. Visit coronavirus.pitt.edu to learn more about this requirement.

Applicants should be submitted at the following site:

https://cfopitt.taleo.net/careersection/pitt_faculty_external/jobdetail.ftl?job=23006664&tz=GMT-04%3A00&tzname=America%2FNew_York

The political science Department telephone number is (412) 648-7290; the contact e-mail address is nek89@pitt.edu.

The University of Pittsburgh is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer and values equality of opportunity, human dignity, and diversity. EOE, including disability/vets.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 9/23/2023

Date Posted: 8/29/2023

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 12396

University of Southern California

Rank: (Open Rank) Professor in American Politics

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Law, Public Policy

The Department of Political Science and International Relations (POIR) in the Dana and David Dornsife College of Letters, Arts and Sciences at the University of Southern California (USC) in Los Angeles invites applications for a tenure-track or tenured position in American Politics as part of a major hiring initiative.

We seek candidates with a strong substantive research program in any domain of American politics, whose work advances theoretical and empirical research on important questions in their subfield.

Candidates are expected to have strong methodological training, and their methodological skills, ability to advise graduate students on methodological issues and teach graduate classes in the Department's core methods sequence will be a consideration. A strong commitment to undergraduate and graduate education is also expected.

The candidate must have completed a Ph.D. by the appointment date. Review of applications will start September 15, 2023 and will continue until the positions are filled.

In order to be considered for this position, applicants are required to submit an electronic USC application; follow this job link or paste in a browser: <https://uscareers.usc.edu/job/los-angeles/open-rank-faculty-position-in-american-politics/1209/53486590032>. Required materials for upload include a CV, letter of interest, sample research paper(s), statement of research interests, evidence of teaching effectiveness, the names of three individuals who will be contacted by USC for a letter of reference, and official graduate transcripts. Send inquiries to poir@usc.edu. Materials submitted by regular mail will not be accepted.

The annual base salary range for this position is $93,500 - $175,700. When extending an offer of employment, the University of Southern California considers factors such as (but not limited to) the scope and responsibilities of the position, the candidate's work experience, education/training, key skills, internal peer equity, federal, state and local laws, contractual stipulations, grant funding, as well as external market and organizational considerations.

USC is an equal-opportunity educator and employer, proudly pluralistic and firmly committed to providing equal opportunity for outstanding persons of every race, gender, creed and background. The University particularly encourages women, members of underrepresented groups, veterans and individuals with disabilities to apply. USC will make reasonable accommodations for qualified individuals with known disabilities unless doing so would result in an undue hardship. Further information is available by contacting uschr@usc.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/29/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12398

Princeton University

Rank: James Madison Program Visiting Fellow

Subfield(s): Political Theory, American Government and Politics, Public Law

Specializations: Political Philosophy & Theory, Constitutional Law & Theory, American Politics

The James Madison Program in American Ideals and Institutions at Princeton University is dedicated to the pursuit of scholarly excellence in the fields of constitutional law and political thought. Sponsored by Princeton's Department of Politics, the Program seeks to enrich the intellectual life of Princeton students and faculty by exploring American constitutional principles and structures through research and public discussion.

The Program invites college and university professors and other professionals with established records of scholarship to apply for appointments as Visiting Fellows for the academic year running from September 1, 2024 to June 1, 2025. One-semester appointments are possible but not preferred. Depending on the needs of the University, teaching opportunities may be available, subject to sufficient enrollment and approval of the Dean of the Faculty.

All James Madison Program Visiting Fellows will spend an academic year (9-month term) in residence at Princeton University or the local vicinity, or demonstrate to the program's satisfaction the ability to be on campus daily, and on short notice, in order to fulfill responsibilities relating to in-person participation. They enjoy access to Firestone Library and a wide range of other facilities and activities throughout the University.

Visiting Fellows are expected to devote full time to their proposed research. They are encouraged, however, to attend or participate in various activities of the Program, including faculty-student seminars, colloquia, and public lectures.

All James Madison Program Fellows must have a doctorate or equivalent degree. Positions are open to all regardless of citizenship. Fellows normally receive a stipend of one-half their academic-year salary plus a living allowance. The fellows' home institutions are expected to provide at least half of their academic-year salaries.

How to apply: Applicants are required to submit an online application at: <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/31661>

A complete application must include the following:

- * a curriculum vitae;
- * a scholarly paper written in the past three years;
- * a statement (no more than 1,500 words) describing the proposed research;
- * contact information for two references

Selected candidates will be asked to either submit a confidential statement indicating salary for the current academic year (September 1, 2023 - June 1, 2024) or provide written authorization for Princeton to confirm their salary.

For priority consideration application materials must be received by 11:59 p.m. EST on December 1, 2023 for appointments beginning in September 2024. Awards will be announced in March 2024 or before.

Please address any inquiries to:

Shilo Brooks, Ph.D.

Executive Director

James Madison Program in American Ideals and Institutions

Princeton University

83 Prospect Avenue

Princeton, NJ 08540

E-mail: shilo.brooks@princeton.edu / Web address: jmp.princeton.edu

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 12/1/2023

Date Posted: 8/28/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12379

Princeton University

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Associate, James Madison Program

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Political Theory, Public Law

Invitation for Postdoctoral Research Associate Applications

The James Madison Program in American Ideals and Institutions at Princeton University is dedicated to the pursuit of scholarly excellence in the fields of constitutional law and political thought. Sponsored by Princeton's Department of Politics, the Program seeks to enrich the intellectual life of Princeton students and faculty by exploring American constitutional principles and structures through research and public discussion.

The Program invites recent Ph.D. recipients to apply for appointments as Postdoctoral Research Associates or more senior researchers for the year from September 1, 2024 to September 1, 2025. Appointments will be through the Department of Politics. All James Madison Program researchers are expected to be in residence in Princeton or the local vicinity, or demonstrate to the program's satisfaction the ability to be on campus daily, and on short notice, to fulfill responsibilities relating to in-person participation, office hours, and the like. They may not be employed by another institution during the term of their Princeton appointment. They enjoy access to Firestone Library and a wide range of other facilities and activities throughout the University. Depending on the needs of the University, teaching opportunities may be available, subject to the approval of the Dean of the Faculty. Researchers appointed in the Madison Program are expected to devote full time to their proposed research. They are, however, encouraged to attend or participate in various activities of the Program, including faculty-student seminars, colloquia, and public lectures.

The position is a fully funded, 12-month postdoctoral research associate appointment with benefits. All James Madison Program Postdoctoral Research Associates are required to have a Ph.D. degree awarded within the last three years (no earlier than September 1, 2021). All requirements for the Ph.D. must be met by June 30, 2024. Applications are evaluated on the basis of (1) the significance of the proposed research; (2) the quality of the applicant's past research; and (3) the future contribution the applicant is likely to make to higher education. Positions are open to all regardless of citizenship. This position is subject to the University's background check policy.

How to apply: Applicants are required to submit an online application at <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/31662>

A complete application must include the following:

- * a curriculum vitae;
- * a scholarly paper written in the past three years;
- * a statement (no more than 1,500 words) describing the proposed research;
- * contact information for two references.

For priority consideration, application materials must be received by 11:59 p.m. EST on December 1, 2023; applications will continue to be reviewed until positions are filled. Awards will be announced in March 2024 or before.

Please address any inquiries to:

Shilo Brooks, Ph.D.
Executive Director
James Madison Program in American Ideals and Institutions
Princeton University
83 Prospect Avenue
Princeton, NJ 08540
E-mail: shilo.brooks@princeton.edu
Web address: jmp.princeton.edu

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 12/1/2023

Date Posted: 8/28/2023

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 12378

Texas Tech University

Rank: Assistant Professor in American Politics

The Department of Political Science in the College of Arts and Sciences at Texas Tech University invites applications for a full-time, 9-month tenure-track Assistant Professor in Political Science with broad training in the field of American Politics, position to begin Fall 2024.

Required Qualifications:

In line with TTU's strategic priorities to engage and empower a diverse student body, enable innovative research and creative activities, and transform lives and communities through outreach and engaged scholarship, applicants must have experience working with diverse student populations at the undergraduate and graduate levels within or across the areas of teaching, research/creative activity, and service. Additional required qualifications are:

1. A Ph.D. in political science is required by the time of the appointment;
2. Applicants must show evidence and/or promise of excellence in teaching and an active research agenda;
3. We seek candidates with broad training in American politics. The position is open to all American Politics subfields.

Preferred Qualifications:

Candidates with strong quantitative and/or formal methods training are preferred, as well as the ability to teach graduate methods courses. Candidates who have very strong records of scholarship supported by extramural funding and have proven capacity or clear potential to bring externally sponsored research to Texas Tech University are encouraged to apply.

About the University, College, and Department/School/Area

Established in 1923, Texas Tech University is a Carnegie R1 (very high research activity) Doctoral/Research-Extensive, Hispanic Serving, and state-assisted institution. Located on a beautiful 1,850-acre campus in Lubbock, a city in West Texas with a growing metropolitan-area population of over 300,000, the university enrolls over 40,000 students with 33,000 undergraduate and 7,000 graduate students. As the primary research institution in the western two-thirds of the state, Texas Tech University is home to 10 colleges, the Schools of Law and Veterinary Medicine, and the Graduate School. The flagship of the Texas Tech University System, Texas Tech is dedicated to student success by preparing learners to be ethical leaders for a diverse and globally competitive workforce. It is committed to enhancing the cultural and economic development of the state, nation, and world.

Founded in 1925 as one of the university's four original colleges, the College of Arts & Sciences is comprised of 15 departments, offering a wide variety of courses and programs in the humanities, social and behavioral sciences, mathematics, physical sciences, and natural sciences. The College has more than 10,000 students enrolled representing more than a quarter of the overall Texas Tech University student population while maintaining a 22:1 student to faculty ratio.

The Department of Political science is dedicated to excellence, aspiring to the highest national standards in teaching, research, and service. Our faculty have active research agendas and teaching responsibilities across the fields of American Politics, Comparative Politics, International Relations, and Public Administration. The department offers two B.A. degrees, in political science and global studies. As well as three graduate degrees, an M.A. and Ph.D. in political science and an MPA.

About Lubbock

Referred to as the "Hub City" because it serves as the educational, cultural, economic, and health care hub of the South Plains region, Lubbock boasts a diverse population and a strong connection to community, history, and land. With a mild climate, highly rated public schools, and a low cost of living, Lubbock is a family-friendly community that is ranked as one of the best places to live in Texas. Lubbock is home to a celebrated and ever-evolving music scene, a vibrant arts community, and is within driving distance of Dallas, Austin, Santa Fe, and other major metropolitan cities. Lubbock's Convention & Visitors Bureau provides a comprehensive overview of the Lubbock community and its resources, programs, events, and histories.

Equal Opportunity Statement

All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, gender expression, national origin, age, disability, genetic information or status as a protected veteran.

To Apply for this Position

Please include the following documents in your application:

1. Curriculum Vitae
2. Cover Letter
3. Writing sample
4. Evidence of teaching effectiveness
5. Three letters of reference

Reference letters should be emailed to Prof. Mark McKenzie, American Politics Search Chair, Department of Political Science at mark.mckenzie@ttu.edu. Questions about this position should be directed to Prof. Toby J Rider, Chair, Department of Political Science, at toby.rider@ttu.edu. If you need assistance with the application process, contact Human Resources, Talent Acquisition at hrs.recruiting@ttu.edu or 806-742-3851.

Application Process

Review of applications will begin on December 15. To ensure full consideration, please complete an online application at <https://www.texastech.edu/careers/>. Requisition # 34873BR

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 12/15/2023

Date Posted: 8/28/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12387

Cornell University

Rank: Climate Politics and Equitable Futures - AP

Climate change and the coming climate transitions are radically reshaping global politics, with profound domestic and international implications. We aim to make Cornell's Government Department a disciplinary leader in the integrated study of the complex political transformations that are already in process as a result of global warming as well as in developing the transformative politics needed to respond to global warming and its consequences. We are interested in scholarship that addresses topics such as the intersection of climate and environmental politics with racial and ethnic politics, indigenous politics, political economy, environmental justice, the (in)equitable distribution of the costs of climate change, the politics of sustainability, and the politics of climate related migration, among others.

As part of this initiative, the Department of Government invites applications from scholars of American politics for a tenure-track position at the rank of assistant professor to begin in the fall semester 2024. A PhD is required no later than July 1, 2024.

Applicants should apply online at <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/25456>. Interested candidates should submit a letter of application, curriculum vitae, two samples of written work, three letters of recommendation, and teaching evaluations. In addition, we ask applicants to share their experiences and/or approaches (past, current, or future) to fostering learning, research, service, and/or outreach in a diverse community; applicants may submit a stand-alone statement or embed the information in other parts of their application.

We will begin to review applications starting September 20, 2023, and will continue until the search is complete.

Diversity and Inclusion are a part of Cornell University's heritage. We are a recognized employer and educator valuing AA/EEO, Protected Veterans, and Individuals with Disabilities. We also recognize a lawful preference in employment practices for Native Americans living on or near Indian reservations. Cornell University embraces diversity and seeks candidates who will contribute to a climate that supports students, faculty, and staff of all identities and backgrounds. We strongly encourage individuals from underrepresented and/or marginalized identities to apply.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/25/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12374

Coastal Carolina University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

Specializations: Political Communication, Public Opinion, Quantitative Methods

Assistant Professor of Political Science

The Spadoni College of Education and Social Sciences at Coastal Carolina University invites applications for a tenure-track appointment in the Department of Political Science to begin in August 2024.

We seek to hire a candidate who specializes in political methodology, in particular quantitative methods. Experience with a range of programs, such as Stata, R, Python, UCINET, and ArcGIS, is especially desired. The person hired will work closely with the College's new Social Science Research Lab (SSRL) in the development of new courses and certificate programs at the undergraduate and graduate levels. Summer compensation will be provided so that courses and workshops can be offered to students.

The candidate will also teach in their substantive area(s) of research, and we are specifically focused on candidates who study mass media, social media, political communication, and/or public opinion in the United States.

The chosen candidate is required to have a Ph.D. in Political Science or related discipline by the time of appointment. Candidates must demonstrate how their scholarship and training, to date, make them a good fit for working collaboratively with the department and the SSRL.

Interested candidates should submit: a letter of application that addresses their qualifications, a curriculum vitae, a writing sample, copies of undergraduate and graduate transcripts, a combined statement about teaching and research, and contact information for three (3) professional references electronically at: <https://jobs.coastal.edu/postings/21246> Review of application materials will begin October 2nd, 2023, and continue until the position is filled.

Coastal Carolina University is a public comprehensive liberal arts institution located in Conway, South Carolina, just nine miles from the Atlantic coastal resort city of Myrtle Beach. Coastal Carolina University enrolls over 10,000 students from 49 states and 55 nations. The University is accredited by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools Commission on Colleges to award the baccalaureate and master's degrees of national and/or regional significance in the arts and sciences, business, humanities, education, and health and human services, a specialist degree in instructional technology, and PhD degrees in marine science: coastal and marine systems science and education sciences.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/24/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12355

Salem State University

Rank: Faculty - Public Policy - Full Time, Temporary

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Methodology, Public Policy

Specializations: Race & Ethnic Politics, Housing, American Politics

The politics, policy and international relations department at Salem State University invites a full-time, temporary faculty position for the 2024-2025 academic year. We are seeking a public policy specialist with familiarity with policies in an urban context such as housing, education, transportation, policing, poverty, and/or immigration. This position is part of a Salem State initiative to help establish and advance our proposed North Shore Policy Lab and may be reappointed for up to two additional years subject to available funding. With continued growth of the program, there may be additional tenure track lines in the department.

Housed in the department's Bates Center for Public and Global Affairs, the North Shore Policy Lab will involve students in research conducted on behalf of local and state government and non-governmental organizations in order to prepare them for jobs in the public, non-profit and/or private sectors.

The candidate should be well-versed in both quantitative and qualitative research methods and be able to teach our current Research Methods course as well as a new, advanced multi-methods class that will serve as the foundation for student work on applied policy research projects as a part of the policy lab. The ideal candidate will have a demonstrated record of community-based research and community partnerships with a focus on equity issues in the context of urban areas like those served by Salem State.

Salem State University is committed to excellence in teaching. We pride ourselves in providing first-rate classroom experiences and supervising intensive learning opportunities such as research and internships. Many of our students are first generation, racial/ethnic minorities, veterans, and adult learners. Salem State University is located in the Greater Boston area in the historic city of Salem, Massachusetts. The Greater Boston region is famous for its world-class education, healthcare, and business enterprises and the area offers numerous opportunities for professional and personal enrichment.

Duties and Responsibilities

Candidates are required to perform duties in accordance with the MSCA contract. Duties include teaching, advising, scholarship and contributions to continuously improve the department and university.

The standard teaching load is 12 credit hours per semester. The position is subject to available funding.

Required Qualifications:

Earned PhD in public policy or a related field from an accredited institution (ABD considered if degree will be conferred by September 2024)

Advising and/or mentoring experience

Preferred Qualifications:

Commitment to anti-racist, culturally responsive teaching

Demonstrated expertise in community-based research

Active publication record and/or exemplary scholarly potential (e.g., ABD candidates with strong pipeline of research)

Prior applied experience in non-profit or public sector settings

Demonstrated excellence in teaching

As an emerging Hispanic Serving Institution (HSI), Salem State University seeks to enrich the faculty/librarian ranks by actively encouraging candidates whose lived and scholarly experiences directly address issues regarding the health, welfare, and representation of Latinx populations in the United States. Candidates who meet this strongly desired qualification should present documented activities in Latinx-related teaching, scholarship/research, and service, including community-based endeavors in each of these three areas.

Working Conditions:

This is an on-site, in-person position.

Salem State University complies with the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) to provide reasonable accommodation to qualified applicants and employees with disabilities. For accommodation information or requests please email eo-hr@salemstate.edu.

Special Instructions to Applicants:

Please apply online and attach curriculum vitae, cover letter, teaching philosophy, and a diversity statement (please read our institutional diversity statement and describe how you would contribute to our mission in your teaching, research, mentoring/advising, and service).

The online portal can be found at: <https://internal-salemstate.icims.com/jobs/2894/faculty%2c-political-science-%28public-policy%29%2c-full-time%2c-temporary%2c-fall-2024/job>

Employment is contingent upon a completed background and CORI check satisfactory to the university.

This position is not eligible for H1B visa sponsorship.

Please Note: If there is no application deadline associated with a position, it may be removed at any time and additional applications will not be accepted.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/23/2023

Salary: $70,000 - $79,999

eJobs ID: 12351

Colgate University

Rank: Tenure Track Assistant Professor in American Politics, Political Science

Tenure Track Assistant Professor in American Politics, Political Science

The department of political science at Colgate University invites applications for a tenure-stream position in American Politics at the rank of Assistant Professor. The appointment will begin in the fall of 2024. We seek an Americanist who focuses on political institutions, public policy and/or political economy. We welcome any substantive focus, with a special interest in scholarship related to inequality, poverty, class, gender, immigration, or populism. The successful candidate should be able to teach an introductory course on Congress as well as more advanced courses in the candidate's areas of interest. All Colgate faculty are also expected to participate in all-university programs, including the Liberal Arts Core Curriculum. The teaching load is five courses (or their equivalent) over two semesters. The salary for this position will range from $89,500 (for ABD applicants) to $93,500 (for applicants with a PhD in hand).

Please submit a letter of interest, curriculum vitae, evidence of teaching excellence (e.g., statement of teaching philosophy and student evaluations of teaching), a writing sample (30 pages single-spaced or 60 pages double-spaced), and three letters of recommendation. Completion of PhD is required before, or shortly after, the date of hire.

All materials must be submitted online at [<http://apply.interfolio.com/130449>]. Review of applications will begin October 2nd and continue until the position is filled.

Colgate strives to be a community supportive of diverse perspectives and identities. All applications should speak directly, particularly in the cover letter, to the candidate's ability to work effectively with students across a wide range of identities and backgrounds.

Colgate University is a leading liberal arts university of 3200 students situated in central New York state. Applicants with dual-career considerations can find postings of other employment opportunities at Colgate and at other institutions of higher education in upstate New York at www.upstatenyherc.org.

It is the policy of Colgate University not to discriminate against any employee or applicant for employment based on their race, color, creed, religion, age, sex, pregnancy, national origin, marital status, disability, protected Veterans status, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, being or having been victims of domestic violence or stalking, familial status, or any other categories covered by law. Colgate is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer. Candidates from historically underrepresented groups, women, persons with disabilities, and protected veterans are encouraged to apply.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/22/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12344

Oklahoma State University

Rank: Assistant Professor

Specializations: American Politics, Political Parties & Organizations, Presidency

Assistant Professor: Campaigns, Money, and/or Lobbying

The Department of Political Science at Oklahoma State University invites applications for a tenure-track assistant professor position in American politics, with a substantive focus in campaigns, money in politics, and/or lobbying, to begin in August 2024. Competitive candidates will demonstrate the potential for a productive research agenda and an ability to teach and mentor both undergraduate and graduate students, effectively, at a leading, land-grant university. Preference will be given to candidates who can demonstrate a commitment to teaching courses with significant real-world applicability and experiential-learning opportunities. A Ph.D. in Political Science is expected at the time of appointment.

The teaching load for the successful candidate is two courses per semester. These offerings will be drawn from sections of introductory American government, requirements for the department's popular Campaigning, Lobbying, and Policymaking degree option and Campaigns and Lobbying minor, and undergraduate and graduate seminars that reflect the candidate's research expertise. In addition, the department keeps the service load of new, assistant professors to a minimum and provides generous start-up funds and travel support to support research.

Oklahoma State University is one of the state's two comprehensive research universities. Its Stillwater campus has a population of over 23,000 students. The Department of Political Science is housed within the College of Arts and Sciences and offers B.S. and B.A. degrees, with degree options in campaigning, global politics, pre-law, and public policy. It also offers M.A. degrees in Politics and Policy Studies, as well as Peace, Conflict, and Security Studies. The department will give full consideration to applications received by October 5, 2023, but the search will continue until the position is filled.

Applicants can submit their materials through Interfolio <https://apply.interfolio.com/130504> (link here), including the following items:

- letter of application, which should address their commitment to the education of all students, regardless of background
- vitae
- graduate transcripts; the department will accept unofficial transcripts as part of the initial application submission but will expect receipt of official transcripts before a candidate interviews on campus
- a list of three references; the department will expect receipt of recommendation letters from these three referees within one week of contacting candidates for a preliminary Zoom interview
- evidence of successful teaching and scholarship
- statements of teaching and research interests

Candidates may also address their perspectives on furthering the understanding of, and interest in, the challenges and opportunities facing all populations in their statements on teaching and research interests, as appropriate. The department is committed to promoting a welcoming and supportive culture in which all students, professors, and staff members feel that their contributions are valued. As such, the department seeks a rich and deep pool of applicants. Please, contact Dr. Howard Sanborn (howard.sanborn@okstate.edu) with any questions about this position. For more information about the department, please visit polsci.okstate.edu.

The department is committed to creating an inclusive space for our students, faculty, and staff and to teaching and mentoring our undergraduate and graduate scholars from various backgrounds. As such, the department seeks a diverse pool of applicants. Currently, 40 percent of our department's undergraduate student body is comprised of members of underrepresented racial/ethnic minority groups; women comprise 50 percent. Members of these groups are encouraged to apply.

Oklahoma State University, as an equal opportunity employer, complies with all applicable federal and state laws regarding non-discrimination and affirmative action. Oklahoma State University is committed to a policy of equal opportunity for all individuals and does not discriminate based on race, religion, age, sex, color, national origin, marital status, sexual orientation, gender identity/expression, disability, or veteran status with regard to employment, educational programs and activities, and/or admissions. For more information, visit <https://eeo.okstate.edu>. This position is contingent upon availability of funds.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 10/6/2023

Date Posted: 8/22/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12343

California State University, Fresno

Rank: Assistant Professor of Public Administration

The Department of Political Science in the College of Social Sciences at California State University, Fresno, seeks applicants for a tenure-track, academic-year position as an Assistant Professor with a concentration in Public Administration. The successful candidate will teach undergraduate and graduate students, conduct basic and/or applied scholarly research, and engage in service. Primary teaching and research responsibilities will be in public administration. Teaching responsibilities will include courses in our Master of Public Administration (MPA) program such as budgeting, human resources, organizational theory, ethics, administration and society, and diversity, equity, and inclusion in public management. The new hire may also be required to play an active role with other faculty in helping to run or grow the MPA program, as needed. The candidate must also be able to teach public administration courses to undergraduate political science majors, and it is preferred they can teach an undergraduate course on public policy making. Finally, the candidate must be able to teach a lower division introductory course (for all university students) on American government and politics.

The candidate must be available for Academic Year 2024/25 and will gain a clear path to tenure through the University's Probationary Plan Process.

Overview: The Department of Political Science is one of the strongest in the California State University system. It serves well over 200 majors in the undergraduate program as well as dozens of graduate students seeking master's degrees in our NASPAA accredited public administration program. All the major sub-disciplines of political science are represented within the department, and faculty are well-known for their balanced commitment to teaching, research, and university/ public service. For more information, see <https://socialsciences.fresnostate.edu/polisci/> Specific assignments are dependent on departmental needs and the background of the individual.

Our Students: California State University, Fresno is committed to serving our students with a focus on inclusion. Fresno State has been recognized as a Hispanic-Serving Institution (HSI); an Asian American/Native American/Pacific Islander-Serving Institution (AANAPISI); and has been designated to the Community Engagement Classification by the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching.

Qualifications:

Required Education (from an accredited institution or foreign equivalent):

1. An earned doctorate (Ph.D.) in political science or public administration from an accredited institution is required.

Applicants nearing completion of the doctorate (ABD status) may be considered for the position, but the doctorate must be completed by August 1, 2024 for continued employment in the tenure-track position. Failure to earn the terminal degree prior to this date will invalidate the appointment.

Required Experience:

Applicants must be able to demonstrate:

1. A record of teaching excellence at the undergraduate level, as demonstrated through prior teaching experience and teaching evaluations and/or other evidence
2. A strong foundation of a career-long research agenda in political science as evidenced (for example) by one or more academic conference paper presentations or peer-reviewed publications
3. A specialization in public administration
4. Appropriate academic training to teach an introductory course on American government
5. A commitment to working effectively and collegially with faculty, staff, and students from diverse ethnic, cultural, and socioeconomic backgrounds.

Preferred Qualifications:

1. Teaching experience at the graduate level in public administration or political science
2. At least one sole-authored research paper presented at an academic conference
3. One or more peer-reviewed publications in political science or public administration
4. Experience teaching an introductory American government course

Application Procedures: Review of applications will begin October 16, 2023, and priority consideration will be given to applications received by that date. This position automatically closes on March 31, 2024. Note: All positions at Fresno State are subject to funding availability.

See more information and apply online at: <http://careers.csufresno.edu>

Attach the following:

1. A cover letter specifically addressing required experience and preferred qualifications;
2. a curriculum vitae;
3. statement of teaching philosophy;
4. recent teaching evaluations (if available);
5. a research paper presented at an academic conference or a peer-reviewed publication, preferably a sole-authored work;

6. a list of three professional references;
7. Statement addressing your commitment to working with faculty, staff, and students from diverse ethnic, cultural, and socioeconomic backgrounds and;
8. unofficial graduate transcripts.

Candidates invited for an on-campus visit will be asked to submit the following items by a designated deadline:

1. Three current letters of recommendation
2. Official transcripts

If you have any questions or need more information contact search chair:

Dr. Thomas Holyoke (tholyoke@csufresno.edu).

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 10/16/2023

Date Posted: 8/21/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12341

The University of Scranton

Rank: Assistant Professor in U.S. Politics

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Law, Political Theory

Specializations: American Politics, Constitutional Law & Theory, Political Philosophy & Theory

The Department of Political Science at The University of Scranton invites applications for a tenure-track position in U.S. Politics at the Assistant Professor level beginning in August 2024.

Strong commitment to undergraduate teaching, scholarship, and service. Teaching responsibilities include introductory and elective courses in U.S. Politics, electives in law and politics, and required courses for majors in political theory. Candidates will have the ability to design new law and political theory courses aligned with their interests and expertise and in support of departmental curriculum in Political Science and Public Policy & Service. The standard teaching load is 3-3. Applicants will be expected to support Pre-Law activities of Department majors and the broader University.

Applicants should have a Ph.D. in Political Science or related field at time of appointment; strong ABD candidates in Political Science or related field will be considered.

Apply online at <https://universityofscrantonjobs.com>. Please include in the online application 1) a letter of interest addressing qualifications, teaching philosophy and research interests, 2) curriculum vitae, 3) writing sample, 4) statement that indicates commitment to diversity and inclusion and how this informs pedagogy, and 5) three confidential letters of recommendation.

Review of applications will begin on October 16, 2023. Applications will be accepted until the position is filled.

For further information about the Political Science Department, visit our web page at <https://www.scranton.edu/academics/cas/political-science/index.shtml>. For information about the University's law-related programs, visit <https://www.scranton.edu/academics/cas/pre-law/index.shtml>. The Department also directs the Center for Ethics and Excellence in Public Service (CEEPS).

Please contact Dr. Mike Allison, Chair of the Department of Political Science, via email at michael.allison@scranton.edu for questions about the position.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/18/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12325

University of California, Davis

Rank: Assistant (tenure-track)

The Department of Political Science at UC Davis, a leading R1 institution, invites applications for a position at the Assistant (tenure-track) Professor level in American Politics. While our needs span multiple areas within the field, we are especially interested in candidates who can contribute in the areas of race, ethnicity, gender, and identity politics. We seek applicants who have exceptional potential for research; who aspire to educate a student body rich in diversity with respect to gender, ethnicity, first-generation students, socioeconomic status, and academic interests; and who will contribute to the department's efforts to promote the success, both at the undergraduate and graduate level, of historically underrepresented, socio-economically disadvantaged, and marginalized student communities.

Applications will be accepted on-line at <https://recruit.ucdavis.edu/JPF05926>. Candidates should upload a curriculum vitae, cover letter, a statement describing their research interests, sample publications or an article-length writing sample, a statement of Contributions to Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion, and a statement of teaching accomplishments and philosophy. Applicants will also be asked to provide three to five letters of reference through the online recruitment system. A Ph.D. or evidence that the degree would be complete by the time of the appointment start date is required. The anticipated starting date is July 1, 2024. Applications must be received by October 1, 2023 to guarantee initial full consideration, but the position will remain open until filled. Appointment level and salary are commensurate with experience. A reasonable estimate for this position is $103,000-135,000.

This recruitment is conducted at the assistant rank. The resulting hire will be at the assistant rank, regardless of the proposed appointee's qualifications. If you experience technical problems in uploading your application material please contact our Academic Personnel Coordinator, Angus Chang, at aychang@ucdavis.edu.

The University of California, Davis and the Department of Political Science are interested in candidates committed to the highest standards of scholarship and professional activities, and to the development of a campus climate that supports diversity, equity, and inclusion that are embedded within our Principles of Community. The University of California is an affirmative action/equal opportunity employer, and we particularly encourage applications from members of historically underrepresented racial/ethnic groups, women, individuals with disabilities, veterans, LGBTQ community members, and others who demonstrate the ability to help us achieve our vision of a diverse and inclusive community.

Start Date: Summer 2024

Application Deadline: 10/1/2023

Date Posted: 8/18/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12326

University of Denver

Rank: Professor in American Politics / Race, Ethnicity, and Politics

The Department of Political Science and the Critical Race and Ethnic Studies Program (CRES) at the University of Denver (DU) invite applications for a jointly appointed tenure-line Assistant or tenured Associate Professor to start in Fall 2024 in the field of American politics. DU defines Critical Race and Ethnic Studies broadly. A specialization in critical race theory is not required, and we invite all scholars whose work speaks to race and ethnic politics to apply.

The Department of Political Science consists of twelve tenured or tenure-line faculty supporting the Bachelors of Arts degree in political science within the College of Arts, Humanities, and Social Sciences at the University of Denver. The Critical Race and Ethnic Studies program (CRES) was founded in 2018 with an undergraduate minor, expanding to a full program with a tenured faculty director, two visiting faculty members, and numerous affiliated faculty members. CRES now offers an undergraduate major and minor and has approval for additional faculty lines being added over the next few years. Political Science serves approximately 200 majors and CRES serves 50 minors. Both programs serve undergraduate students across campus in the common curriculum. Our faculty are dedicated to the robust pursuit of research, publication, and public engagement. We also value diversity, equity, and inclusion: a commitment by all constituents to create an academic experience that embraces and engages diverse perspectives and communities within an atmosphere of mutual respect. Our curricula endeavor to develop students' abilities to think critically, communicate clearly, write effectively, and develop compelling analytical argumentation based on justifiable sources of empirical evidence and analytical reasoning.

Position Summary

We seek applications from American Politics scholars who study Race, Ethnicity, and Politics. Specific concentrations within American Politics and Race, Ethnicity, and Politics are open.

The University of Denver embraces a teacher-scholar model where faculty balance their commitments to rigorous scholarship and undergraduate education. The position requires teaching the equivalent of five courses over the standard academic year (three quarters) in the Political Science department and/or CRES program, covering a range of CRES major requirements (i.e., Introduction, Theory, or Quantitative Methods in CRES) and cross listed upper division courses. The faculty member will be a fully participating and voting member of the Political Science Department. During the first two years of the position, the faculty member will also assist the Director of the CRES program in developing the new CRES major. To facilitate this, the faculty member will be protected from other substantial service obligations. After the first two years, the CRES program and Political Science department have established a practical distribution of teaching and service obligations.

Our curriculum is delivered via conventional face-to-face classes on our traditional residential campus, with most online-only courses occurring during summer sessions (which faculty may elect to teach for supplemental income, pending sufficient enrollment). We welcome the incorporation of experiential learning opportunities in the curriculum. Adhering to the teacher-scholar model, the position requires maintaining an active scholarly agenda as demonstrated via scholarly publications, academic conference participation, etc. The person holding this position would also be expected to contribute to University, College, and departmental/program service.

Essential Functions

- Pursue a research agenda that results in high-quality scholarly publications.
- Teach the equivalent of five courses across three quarters per academic year, including cross-listed upper division classes between Political Science and the CRES program, as well as introductory, methods, theory, and senior project courses within the CRES program specifically. The teaching schedule will be annually coordinated with the CRES program director and Political Science department chair.
- Meet outside of class in office hours on campus and/or online to provide guidance and assistance to students enrolled in courses taught and to provide major advising to political science and CRES students.
- Deploy best practices through the University of Denver's current course management system (Canvas), utilizing Canvas tools such as discussion boards, quizzes, assignments with uploaded files, and the gradebook as the means to collect student work, communicate feedback and assignment grades, and conduct class sessions and individual appointments remotely when the need for this arises.
- Advise students about program and BA requirements.
- Contribute to University, College, departmental, and program service.

Knowledge, Skills, and Abilities

- Advanced scholarly expertise (PhD level) in the field of American politics, focusing on Race, Ethnicity, and Politics.
- Successful publication of peer-reviewed scholarship on American politics, focusing on Race, Ethnicity, and Politics, and evidence of future promise as a scholar.
- Excellent skills in oral and written communication.
- Excellent undergraduate teaching skills
- Ability to interact constructively with a diverse population of faculty, staff, and undergraduate students.

Required Qualifications

- Ph.D. in Political Science or related field or interdisciplinary program (e.g. American studies). Must have a Ph.D. by start of appointment.
- Evidence of a relevant established scholarly agenda that is indicated by peer-reviewed publications.
- Experience serving as an instructor of record in undergraduate &/or graduate courses in political (or related social) science.
- Interest in (at the Assistant Level) or expertise in (at the Associate Level) developing upper-division undergraduate courses to help build out the CRES curriculum.
- Growth toward (at the Assistant Level) or evidence of (at the Associate Level) teaching excellence and a commitment to incorporate inclusive teaching methods and/or pedagogies to effectively engage students from a wide range of backgrounds.
- A demonstrated commitment to, and experience in, promoting DEI and in using inclusive pedagogies.
- Experience using course management software (such as Canvas or similar).

Salary Range:

The salary range for this position is Assistant Professor $70,000-$82,000 and Associate Professor (with tenure) $83,000-$95,000.

The University of Denver has provided a compensation range that represents its good faith estimate of what the University may pay for the position at the time of posting. The University may ultimately pay more or less than the posted compensation range. The salary offered to the selected candidate will be determined based on factors such as the qualifications of the selected candidate, departmental budget availability, internal salary equity considerations, and available market information, but not based on a candidate's sex or any other protected status.

Benefits:

The University of Denver offers excellent benefits, including medical, dental, retirement, paid time off, tuition benefit and ECO pass. <https://www.du.edu/sites/default/files/2022-05/benefits-overview-benefited-employees.pdf>

Application Deadline

For best consideration, please submit your application materials by 5:00 p.m. (MST) September 15, 2023

Special Instructions

Candidates must apply online through jobs.du.edu to be considered. Only applications submitted online will be accepted. Here is the direct link to the online listing: <https://jobs.du.edu/en-us/job/496675/assistantassociate-professor-in-political-science-critical-race-and-ethnic-studies>

Please include the following documents with your application:

1. CV that indicates scholarly specialization, publications and/or working papers, and courses you have taught before as an instructor.
2. Cover Letter explaining your interest in and qualifications for this position
3. Three distinct statements (1-2 pages each), combined into one document with identifying headers, that articulate your (a) research agenda, (b) teaching philosophy and methods to engage students, and (c) how your research, teaching, and/or service contribute to DU's values, practices, and actions regarding diversity, equity, and inclusion. Candidates can view DU's DEI Action Plan [<https://www.du.edu/equity/dei-action-plan>] and/or the College of Arts and Humanities and Social Sciences (CAHSS) DEI Strategic Plan [<https://liberalarts.du.edu/news-events/all-articles/diversity-equity-and-inclusion-strategic-plan-cahss>] for reference.
4. Three samples of written work (e.g., two chapters from dissertation or book and one article).
5. Evidence of teaching effectiveness such as two course syllabi, a set of teaching evaluations from two different courses, and any other artifacts of teaching excellence (e.g., a teaching award), all combined into one pdf file with headers identifying each discrete component.
6. For applicants who have not finished their PhD, please include graduate transcripts.
7. Contact information for three professional/academic references who will be emailed to upload letters of recommendation if required. Candidates using Interfolio may arrange to send all three letters of recommendation in one pdf file via email to Darlene.Squires@du.edu. No other materials beyond letters of recommendation should be sent via Interfolio.

Diversity, Equity, Inclusion, & Justice

The University of Denver recognizes that its success in being a great university dedicated to the public good depends greatly on how well it engages, supports, and champions the values of diversity, equity, inclusion, and justice. As part of our intentionality in recruiting and retaining faculty from a wide variety of historically excluded intersecting identities, including those from communities of color, with diverse gender and sexual identities, first-generation college graduates, or with disabilities, new faculty will have the opportunity to choose to participate in a university-wide initiative. This initiative will connect new colleagues in a cohort, building community across units with supportive programming led by the Office of the Vice Provost of Faculty Affairs in collaboration with the Division of Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion and each faculty participant's academic unit. To learn more about the University of Denver's commitments and work in support of DEI and J, please visit: <https://www.du.edu/equity>. For more information about this program or if you have any questions, please email inclusion@du.edu and/or visit <https://duvpfa.du.edu/faculty-resources/prospective-faculty/>.

The University of Denver is an equal opportunity employer. The University of Denver prohibits discrimination on the basis of race, color, national origin, age (40 years and over in the employment context), religion, disability, sexual orientation, gender identity, gender expression, genetic information, marital status, veterans status, and any other class of individuals protected from discrimination under federal, state, or local law, regulation, or ordinance in any of the university's educational programs and activities, and in the employment (including application for employment) and admissions (including application for admission) context, as required by Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972; Title III of the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990, as amended in 2008; Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973; Title VI and VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964; the Age Discrimination Act of 1975; the Age Discrimination in Employment Act of 1967; and any other federal, state, and local laws, regulations, or ordinances that prohibit discrimination, harassment, and/or retaliation. For the university's complete Non-Discrimination Statement, please see non discrimination statement [<https://www.du.edu/equalopportunity/non-discrimination-statement>].

All offers of employment are contingent upon satisfactory completion of a criminal history background check.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Date Posted: 8/17/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12289

University of Rochester

Rank: Black Politics

The University of Rochester's Department of Political Science invites applications from candidates working on Black Politics, broadly construed, for a tenure-track or tenured position at the assistant or associate professor rank, starting July 1, 2024. The primary appointment will be in the Department of Political Science, with the possibility of a joint appointment in the Department of Black Studies. The position is part of an effort to foster path-breaking research in Black Politics, and to strengthen ties with the Frederick Douglass Institute and the Department of Black Studies. This hire is also part of a multi-year initiative to bolster the department's profile in the rigorous analysis of race and ethnic politics. Tenure upon appointment for qualified senior candidates may be granted, contingent on favorable review of the candidate's dossier by the department, the dean of arts & sciences, and the provost.

Salary: $105,000 – $225,000. The referenced pay range represents the full base range of pay for this job. Individual salaries will be determined within the job's salary range and established based on market data, experience and expertise of the individual, and internal equity considerations.

All applications should include a letter of interest, C.V., research statement, teaching statement, and samples of written work. Candidates for a position at the rank of assistant professor should also include letters of recommendation, and candidates without a prior tenure-track appointment should include a graduate transcript. The University of Rochester is firmly committed to advancing equity and fostering an inclusive and diverse community. We ask candidates to include a statement detailing their past work and future plans for achieving these goals.

Materials should be submitted online at: www.rochester.edu/faculty-recruiting. For more information on the University of Rochester Political Science Department, go to: <http://www.sas.rochester.edu/psc/>. For more information on the Frederick Douglass Institute and Department of Black Studies, go to: <https://www.sas.rochester.edu/aas/>.

We will begin reviewing applications on September 22, 2023.

Start Date: Summer 2024

Application Deadline: 9/22/2023

Date Posted: 8/17/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12285

Furman University

Rank: Assistant, Associate, or full Professor in Politics and International Affairs

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Open, Open

The Department of Politics and International Affairs at Furman University invites applications for a tenure-track appointment at the Assistant, Associate, or Full professorial rank in American politics, specializing in racial and ethnic politics, to begin August 1, 2024. The candidate will teach five courses per year, including introductory and upper-level courses in American politics. The candidate must demonstrate the potential for superb teaching and excellence in scholarship. The person hired must possess a Ph.D. in Political Science by August 1, 2024.

Applicants should submit the following documents as a single PDF in the order listed: a letter of interest, C.V., diversity statement, and complete contact information for three references. The diversity statement should describe how the candidate's teaching, scholarship, mentoring and/or service might contribute to a liberal arts college community that includes a commitment to diversity as one of its core values.

Furman University is committed to advancing diversity, equity, and inclusion in all facets of university life and strives to create an anti-racist community through excellence in teaching, mentorship, and programming. Numerous initiatives and programs are underway or planned to promote these ideals, including historical projects, dialogue initiatives, the Center for Inclusive Communities, and a recently approved major in Africana Studies.

The successful candidate will have the ability to work with historically underrepresented students, including students of color, and be committed to assisting the university in its continuing efforts to become a model of inclusive excellence.

The Politics and International Affairs Department is a large department with specialists in all major political science fields. The Department is committed to fostering a professional community where every member is treated with dignity. All are welcome to participate in the department's life and the respectful exploration of ideas. The candidate should show interest in and aptitude for contributing to this endeavor.

The Furman student experience is supported by a rich network of centers and institutes that includes The Riley Institute, The David E. Shi Center for Sustainability, The Hill Institute for Innovation and Entrepreneurship, The Institute for the Advancement of Community Health, The Herring Center for Continuing, Graduate, and Professional Education, The Rinker Center for Study Away and International Education, The Cothran Center for Vocational Exploration, The Shucker Center for Leadership Development, The Malone Center for Career Engagement, The Center for Inclusive Communities, the Furman Humanities Center, and our newest addition, the Tocqueville Center for the Study of Democracy and Society.

Furman is located in Greenville, South Carolina, one of the fastest-growing cities in the Southeast, and is ranked among "America's Ten Best" by Forbes Magazine. The thriving downtown features excellent restaurants, in-town parks, shops, museums, galleries, music venues, and theaters. Greenville also enjoys an impressive network of nonprofits, small businesses, and international corporations. The city also has excellent public and private schools and a vibrant international community. A 20-mile bike and running trail connects the university to Greenville and to Travelers Rest, which was named "one of America's coolest small towns." The surrounding area abounds with outdoor recreational activities and has some of the country's most beautiful lakes, rivers, and mountains. Greenville is 2½ hours from Atlanta, 1½ hours from Charlotte, and only one hour from Asheville, North Carolina. Greenville is within easy reach of the Blue Ridge Mountains and Atlantic Beaches. The newly renovated Greenville-Spartanburg Airport, located just 25 minutes from downtown, runs daily flights to major cities and airline hubs. It is an ideal place to live and work.

We will begin reviewing applications on October 23, 2023, and continue until the position is filled.

To apply, use click on this link:

https://furman.wd5.myworkdayjobs.com/Furman_Careers/job/Main-Campus/Assistant--Associate--or-Full-Professor-in-Politics-and-International-Affairs_R002271

Questions should be directed to the chairperson of the search committee, Professor Teresa Cosby, at Teresa.cosby@furman.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Date Posted: 8/16/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12279

University of Virginia

Rank: Assistant Professor of Public Policy and Politics, Tenure Track

Specializations: Bureaucracy & Organizational Behavior, Legislative Studies, State Politics

The Frank Batten School of Leadership and Public Policy at the University of Virginia seeks to fill a tenure-track, Assistant Professor faculty position in public policy and politics with a start date in Fall 2024. We invite applications from candidates who have earned their doctorate in political science, public policy, or related disciplines, with a focus on American political institutions. We welcome applicants from all subfields within American political institutions whose work focuses on the politics affecting U.S. public policies, including but not limited to the bureaucracy, legislative politics, or state and local government.

The successful candidate will demonstrate the ability to produce highly influential scholarship. The successful candidate must have the desire and ability to effectively teach courses on politics, public policy, and leadership at the undergraduate (BA) and graduate (MPP) levels, and a desire and ability to contribute to the Batten mission through service and public outreach and engagement. The successful candidate will be committed to promoting diversity, equity, and inclusion.

While the primary appointment is in the Batten School, a joint/courtesy appointment could be possible in the Politics Department depending on the candidate's interests and qualifications. The Batten School is a dynamic cross-disciplinary school offering highly competitive teaching loads, salaries, and research support. The Batten School is committed to faculty growth, including multiple searches this year.

Built upon the strong foundation of one of the nation's top public universities, the Batten School combines rigorous training in policy analysis with a unique emphasis on the acquisition of leadership skills. The research faculty includes psychologists, economists, and political scientists, and is enriched by professors of practice who bring real-world policymaking expertise to the classroom. The Batten School currently offers an MPP degree and an undergraduate major and minor in public policy and leadership, as well as multiple dual degree programs with other UVA units.

The candidate should have a PhD, or be on track to attaining the PhD, by August 1, 2024. Applications must be received by September 30, 2023, to receive full consideration, after which applications will be considered on a rolling basis.

TO APPLY

Please apply through Interfolio: <http://apply.interfolio.com/128626>

Applicants must complete the online application and submit the following required materials:

- A cover letter
- A CV
- Three letters of recommendation
- A writing sample
- A research statement
- A teaching statement
- The University's Mission Statement affirms its enduring commitment to a vibrant and unique residential learning environment marked by the free and collegial exchange of ideas; unwavering support of a collaborative, diverse community bound together by distinctive foundational values of honor, integrity, trust, and respect; and universal dedication to excellence and affordable access. As part of your application, please describe your potential contributions to any aspect of this mission in a separate statement. Please focus upon your work skills and experience. In doing so, you may choose to refer to your personal perspective, but the focus of our consideration is on your potential contributions through skills and experience, rather than personal opinions or beliefs.

The selected candidate will be required to complete a background check at time of offer per University Policy.

For questions about the application process, please contact Jennett Murphy, Assistant Director of Faculty Affairs jennett.murphy@virginia.edu.

UVA assists faculty spouses and partners seeking employment in the Charlottesville area. To learn more please visit dualcareer.virginia.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Date Posted: 8/15/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12268

Claremont McKenna College

Rank: Assistant Professor in Public Law / American Politics

Position Details

Posting ID: 17022

Position Title: Assistant Professor in Public Law / American Politics

Category: Tenure-track

Department: Government

Department URL: <http://www.claremontmckenna.edu/govt/>

Description:

The Department of Government at Claremont McKenna College (CMC) invites applications for a tenure-track assistant professorship in public law/American politics. The position will begin on July 1, 2024. The successful candidate is expected to hold a Ph.D. in political science by the time of the appointment and to be a recent Ph.D. or early assistant professor.

The successful applicant will teach courses in constitutional law, legal studies, and American politics using historical, institutional, and theoretical perspectives. The teaching load is two courses per semester.

The candidate must demonstrate the ability to maintain an active, high quality research program and the highest standards of excellence in teaching. In addition, the applicant should be prepared to assist with the development and administration of the College's interdisciplinary legal studies program.

Given the College's commitment to cultivating an inclusive educational environment, we seek candidates who can demonstrate a commitment to teaching, mentoring, and inspiring students representing a broad range of socioeconomic backgrounds, political opinions, genders, races, ethnicities, nationalities, sexual orientations, and religions. Candidates should demonstrate this commitment in their application materials.

Procedures and Timetable:

Applications should include a cover letter; curriculum vitae; research statement; statement of teaching philosophy; evidence of teaching effectiveness; and writing sample. Applicants must also submit the names and e-mail addresses of three references; an email will be automatically sent to them with a link to upload their confidential recommendation letter. Please upload application materials at: https://webapps.cmc.edu/jobs/faculty/faculty_opening.php.

Complete applications, including letters of recommendation, will be reviewed beginning September 1, 2023. Review of complete applications will continue until the position is filled. Preliminary interviews will be conducted via Zoom.

Claremont McKenna College is a highly selective undergraduate institution ranked among the top liberal arts colleges nationally. It is part of The Claremont Colleges, which also includes Pomona College, Scripps College, Harvey Mudd College, Pitzer College, Claremont Graduate University, and Keck Graduate Institute. The Claremont Colleges consortium constitutes an academic community of more than 9,000 students. Claremont is located 35 miles east of downtown Los Angeles.

Claremont McKenna College is an equal opportunity employer. In a continuing effort to enrich its academic environment and provide equal educational and employment opportunities, the College actively encourages a diverse set of applications.

To apply: <https://apptrkr.com/4451870>

Claremont McKenna College hires and promotes individuals on the basis of their qualifications, consistent with applicable state and federal laws, without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, gender expression, pregnancy, breastfeeding or related medical condition, national origin, ancestry, citizenship, age, marital status, physical disability, mental disability, medical condition, genetic characteristic or information, military and veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by state or federal law. Inquiries may be directed to the Director for Human Resources, 528 N. Mills Avenue, Claremont, California 91711-4015, (909) 621-8490. All applicants must complete and submit an online application to be considered for an open position.

Employment is contingent upon new employee providing documents verifying U.S. citizenship or, for aliens, documents verifying legal permission to work in the United States, applicant's acceptability for positions requiring use of a college vehicle is contingent upon a driving record acceptable to the College's automobile liability insurance. Promotion from within is encouraged whenever qualified employees of Claremont McKenna College are available. Interested employees of the College are urged to contact the Director of Human Resources if qualified for any open position. Please do not contact departments directly.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/11/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12256

University of Chicago

Rank: Collegiate Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): Public Policy, American Government and Politics, International Relations

Specializations: Political Philosophy & Theory, History & Politics, Quantitative Methods

The College at the University of Chicago is now accepting applications for four-year postdoctoral teaching appointments as Harper and Schmidt Fellows who hold the rank of Collegiate Assistant Professor. Collegiate Assistant Professors are members of the College Faculty whose primary professional responsibility is to teach in the general education (Core) program. <https://college.uchicago.edu/academics/core-curriculum>

Core courses in the Humanities typically deal with fundamental issues and texts in history, philosophy, and literature. Currently, the Core is organized into eight year-long sequences: Readings in World Literature; Human Being and Citizen; Greece and Rome: Texts, Traditions, Transformations; Philosophical Perspectives on the Humanities; Media Aesthetics; Reading Cultures; Poetry and the Human; and

Language and the Human. We encourage applicants to spend time reviewing the descriptions and syllabi for Core sequences to understand the distinct topics and approaches and gauge best fit. Descriptions of these courses are available here: <https://college.uchicago.edu/academics/core/humanities-core>

Core courses in the Social Sciences explore, on the basis of significant works or primary source materials, the fundamental concepts and the different modes of inquiry that have defined the social sciences in the modern period. Currently, we are inviting applications for Collegiate Assistant Professors to teach in some of the year-long sequences into which the Core is organized: Self, Culture and Society; Classics of Social and Political Thought; Power, Identity, and Resistance; Democracy: Equality, Liberty and the Dilemma of Self-Governance; Global Society; Mind; and Social Science Inquiry. We encourage applicants to spend time reviewing the descriptions and syllabi for Core sequences to understand the distinct topics and approaches and gauge best fit. Descriptions of these courses are available here: <https://college.uchicago.edu/academics/core/social-sciences-core>

Some Collegiate Assistant Professors also teach in the History of European Civilization Core sequence as well as the Introductions to the Civilizations of East Asian Core sequences. These courses are taught on the basis of intensive readings of significant primary source documents. For descriptions and syllabi of the History of European Civilization and the Civilizations of East Asia sequences see: <https://college.uchicago.edu/academics/core/civilization-studies-core>

The positions are open to scholars in all disciplines and areas of specialization who will have completed all requirements for their Ph.D. degree no later than August 31, 2024. Candidates must demonstrate excellence in teaching as well as in their original scholarship. While many Core sequences feature set reading lists, applicants need not have conventional expertise in the specific texts and topics that are currently taught. Rather, we welcome applicants from a wide variety of disciplinary backgrounds who can apply conceptual and methodological creativity and skill to the teaching of general education courses. Applicants should be prepared 1) to identify and guide students through fundamental questions in a Core sequence and 2) to contribute meaningfully to the instructional community and the curricular evolution for that Core sequence.

In most years, Collegiate Assistant Professors teach two courses (usually of identical preparation) for each of three quarters. In the second through fourth year of residence, each Collegiate Assistant Professor has the opportunity to design up to two independent courses and each is eligible for one quarter of research sabbatical. In the fourth year there is a possibility of another quarter of sabbatical with salary reduction.

The position comes with an annual salary for 2024-25 of $82,571, carries full benefits, and an annual professional development fund of $6,500. The effective date for these teaching appointments is September 1, 2024.

To apply for these positions, please see our web site at <https://fellows.uchicago.edu>.

The terms and conditions of these positions are described in the collective bargaining agreement between the University and the Service Employees International Union.

On-line application deadline: 11:59:59 PM EDT, Friday, October 13, 2023.

All University departments and institutes are charged with building a faculty from a diversity of backgrounds and with diverse viewpoints; with cultivating an inclusive community that values freedom of expression; and with welcoming and supporting all their members.

We seek a diverse pool of applicants who wish to join an academic community that places the highest value on rigorous inquiry and encourages diverse perspectives, experiences, groups of individuals, and ideas to inform and stimulate intellectual challenge, engagement, and exchange. The University's Statements on Diversity are at <https://provost.uchicago.edu/statements-diversity>.

The University of Chicago is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity/Disabled/Veterans Employer and does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national or ethnic origin, age, status as an individual with a disability, protected veteran status, genetic information, or other protected classes under the law. For additional information please see the University's Notice of Nondiscrimination.

Job seekers in need of a reasonable accommodation to complete the application process should call 773-834-0681 or email dneibel@uchicago.edu with their request before the application deadline.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 10/13/2023

Date Posted: 8/11/2023

Salary: $80,000 - $89,999

eJobs ID: 12264

University of Pennsylvania

Rank: Assistant Professor in Race and Ethnic Politics

THE DEPARTMENT OF Political Science, UNIVERSITY OF PENNSYLVANIA, invites applications for a tenure-track assistant professor position in Political Science whose primary area of interest is race and ethnic politics in the United States, including the intersection of race and ethnicity with institutions, political behavior, public policy, and the law. The appointment will begin on July 1, 2024. A Ph.D. or equivalent degree is expected at the start of the appointment.

Political Science is housed within the School of Arts & Sciences, which is comprised of 28 academic departments, the College of Arts and Sciences, the Graduate Division, and the College of Liberal and Professional Studies. Interdisciplinary research and collaboration are supported by the breadth and depth of academic pursuits at Penn as well as the proximity of resources on our contiguous green urban campus in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. We promote and encourage curiosity, intellectual engagement, and discovery among all our students and faculty. University, School, and departmental resources that support faculty include but are not limited to: the Offices of the Vice Provost for Faculty and Vice Provost for Research, PennGlobal and Perry World House, Wellness at Penn, the Center for Teaching and Learning, the Penn Center for Undergraduate Research and Fellowships, and Penn Human Resources.

With 35 tenured and tenure-track faculty, over 300 undergraduate student majors, and 80 graduate students, we are one of the largest departments in School of Arts and Sciences. Our faculty teach and conduct research in all of the major fields in our discipline, including American politics, comparative politics, international relations, political theory, political economy and methods. With many of the key problems society faces having a significant political component, our faculty and students study a range of issues with real-world policy implications ranging from civil wars and ethnic conflict to environmental politics, partisan polarization, and inequality. Our program has an excellent placement record: PhDs go on to jobs in teaching and research in higher education, as well as successful careers outside academia.

We seek candidates who share our strong commitment to research, teaching and mentoring, and to a scholarly community shaped by values of inclusive excellence. The School of Arts and Sciences at the University of Pennsylvania is committed to cultivating and sustaining a community of students, scholars, researchers, and staff that reflects the diversity of our world. We nurture working and learning environments that are affirming, equitable, and inclusive. As a community, we are committed to thoughtful discussions and dynamic interactions as we strive for an environment where everyone is supported and valued. Please see our School's Inclusion and Antiracism Initiatives to learn more about our active priorities: <https://www.sas.upenn.edu/2020-inclusion-and-anti-racism-initiatives>
Qualifications

The successful candidate will be expected to demonstrate potential for a high-impact research agenda and plan to seek external funding for research. They will teach three courses per year at the undergraduate and graduate levels. They will also provide research advising to students at all levels and will engage in service to the profession and shared governance within the University.

Application Instructions

Candidates should submit a cover letter, personal statement, curriculum vita, research statement, writing sample (approximately 30 pages), and three letters of recommendation to: apply.interfolio.com/129788

Review of applications will begin on September 1st, 2023, and continue until the position has been filled.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/11/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12259

University of Mississippi

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of Political Science at the University of Mississippi invites applications to fill a tenure-track position at the level of Assistant Professor in American Politics, starting Fall 2024. The Department is foremost interested in hiring an excellent candidate, with all areas of specialization invited to apply. Successful candidates should be able to contribute to the graduate program. We welcome applications from members of groups traditionally underrepresented in the field, as well as from applicants already holding Assistant rank.

Candidates must complete an online application at <https://careers.olemiss.edu>. Requirements include at least ABD standing with the expectation of completion by Fall 2024, as well as a potential for or record of excellence in teaching and research. The online application should include a cover letter indicating research and teaching interests, curriculum vitae, writing samples, graduate transcript. Letters of recommendation will be solicited after application. Review of all applications will begin immediately and continue until the position is filled or until an adequate applicant pool is established.

Founded in 1848, the University of Mississippi (UM), affectionately known to alumni, students and friends as Ole Miss, is Mississippi's flagship university. Included in the elite group of R-1: Doctoral Universities - Highest Research Activity by the Carnegie Classification, it has a long history of producing leaders in public service, academics and business. The University of Mississippi, consistently named by The Chronicle of Higher Education as a "Great College to Work For," is located in Oxford, MS, which is ranked one of the "Top 10 Best College Towns." With more than 24,000 students, UM is the state's largest university and is ranked among the nation's fastest-growing institutions. The University of Mississippi, which has aggressively implemented many health and wellness initiatives for its more than 2,900 employees, has consistently been named one of Mississippi's Healthiest Workplaces.

Touted as the "Cultural Mecca of the South", creativity abounds in Oxford as musicians, artists and writers alike find inspiration in Oxford's rich history, small town charm and creative community. Oxford is a one-hour drive south of Memphis, TN and is known as the home of Nobel Prize winning author William Faulkner. Over the years Oxford has also been known for offering exceptional culinary experiences and as the home of the University of Mississippi and the Ole Miss Rebels, there is always something here to immerse yourself in. Oxford has also been featured as a literary and arts destination in such publications as The New York Times, Southern Living, Condé Nast Traveler, and GQ. Among other cultural activities, annual events include the Oxford Film Festival, a thriving local music scene, and the Ford Center Performing Arts Series. Oxford is a vibrant university town, filled with unique shops and galleries, eclectic restaurants and clubs, historic landmarks, and comfortable inns.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/10/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12246

University of Maryland, College Park

Rank: Assistant Professor

Specializations: Political Behavior, Latino Politics, Immigration Policy

The Department of Government and Politics (GVPT) in the College of Behavioral and Social Sciences (BSOS) at the University of Maryland, College Park, invites applications for a tenure-track position at the Assistant Professor level. This position is open to applicants who specialize in research on U.S. marginalized communities and political behavior. GVPT especially seeks candidates whose scholarship and teaching interests address immigrant and/or Latino/a/x communities and politics.

The successful candidate will be expected to demonstrate potential for a high-impact research agenda and plan to seek external funding for research. They will teach three to four courses per year at the undergraduate and graduate levels. They will also provide research advising to students at all levels and will engage in service to the profession and shared governance within the university. The position requires a Ph.D. prior to starting in August 2024.

Candidates whose scholarship speaks to the following broad substantive topics are encouraged to apply:

- Immigrant communities of color
- Latino/a/x politics
- Intersections between gender and race or gender and migration

This is a 3-year tenure-track appointment, with potential renewal for three years and tenure review. Salary and benefits are competitive based on qualifications and experience.

To Apply:

A full position description and the application link is available online through the University of Maryland eJobs system at: <https://ejobs.umd.edu/postings/110565>

For best consideration, applications must be submitted by September 8, 2023. Applications must include:

- A letter of interest that clearly describes your background, expertise, and accomplishments in the area and the unique contributions you would make to GVPT and the University of Maryland;
- A CV;
- Contact information for three references;
- A writing sample;
- A statement of your teaching philosophy; and
- A statement on your contributions to advancing diversity, equity, and inclusion.

Questions or inquiries should be directed to Dr. Janelle Wong, janellew@umd.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 9/8/2023

Date Posted: 8/8/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12237

Utah State University

Rank: Assistant Professor

Overview

The Department of Political Science at Utah State University invites applications for a tenure-track position at the rank of Assistant Professor of Political Science beginning August 2024. We seek to fill a position in U.S. government and politics. The area of specialization is open. Application review will begin September 15, 2023 and will continue until the position is filled.

Responsibilities

Responsibilities will include a primary role in research, high quality teaching at both the master's and undergraduate levels, and service. Preference will be given to those with a strong research trajectory and demonstrated interest in teaching courses of need to the department. The anticipated teaching load is two classes per semester.

Qualifications

Minimum Qualifications:

- Candidates must have a doctoral degree in Political Science or a comparable field of study as of employment date
- Candidates must demonstrate accomplishments and/or clear potential for success in research
- Candidates must demonstrate accomplishments and/or clear potential for success in teaching
- The successful applicant must generate a satisfactory outcome on a background check.

Required Documents

To apply, visit <https://careers-usu.icims.com/jobs/6850/assistant-professor/job> or visit <https://careers-usu.icims.com/jobs/intro> and search for Requisition ID 2023-6850. Along with the online application, please attach:

1. CV to be uploaded at the beginning of your application in the Candidate Profile under "Resume/CV"
 2. Documents below to be uploaded at the beginning of your application in the Candidate Profile under "Documents 1-10"
 - o Cover Letter
 - o Writing Sample
 - o Research Statement
 - o Statement of Teaching Philosophy
 - o Evidence of Effective Teaching.
 3. Names and email addresses of three references (who will be asked to upload letters of recommendation)
- Document size may not exceed 10 MB.

Advertised Salary

Commensurate with qualifications and experience, plus excellent benefits

ADA

Employees typically work indoors and are protected from weather and/or contaminants, but not, necessarily, occasional temperature changes. College/Department Highlights

The Department of Political Science is a vibrant community of about 14 tenured or tenure-track faculty with a strong tradition for excellence. The department is one of 8 departments situated in the College of Humanities & Social Sciences. This position is based on our main campus in Logan, Utah in the scenic Cache Valley and offers abundant opportunities for cultural experiences, shopping, and access to nature.

University Highlights

Founded in 1888, Utah State University is Utah's premier land-grant and space-grant university, with a strong commitment to excellence, access, and inclusion. USU serves approximately 27,500 students throughout the state at three residential campuses, eight statewide campuses, and 23 education centers. USU Online has served students from all 50 states and 55 countries for over 25 years, and USU Extension provides outreach and service to all counties in Utah.

As a land-grant university, USU engages communities and empowers people to lead successful lives of involvement, innovation, and impact. As an R1 research institution, USU provides a high-quality undergraduate and graduate education at an affordable price. Washington Monthly has consistently ranked USU in the top 10 among public universities for contribution to social mobility, research, and public service.

Utah State is committed to cultivating a diverse, equitable, and inclusive community where different perspectives, values, cultures, and identities are acknowledged, welcomed, and valued. We seek to recruit, hire, and retain people from all walks of life who will champion excellence in education, research, discovery, outreach, and service. We believe that promoting a strong sense of community and belonging empowers and engages all members of USU to thrive and be successful. Learn more about USU.

The university provides a Dual Career Assistance Program to support careers for partners who are also seeking employment. Additionally, USU is committed to providing access and reasonable accommodations for individuals with disabilities. To request a reasonable accommodation for a disability, contact the university's ADA Coordinator in the Office of Human Resources at (435) 797-0122 or hr@usu.edu.

About the Region

U.S. News and World Report ranked Utah first for its strong economy, fiscal stability, education, and health care. Outstanding outdoor recreational opportunities abound throughout the state, including five national parks, 43 state parks and recreation areas, and 15 alpine ski resorts. The home of USU's main campus, Logan, is a city of 54,000-plus people in a picturesque mountain valley 80 miles north of Salt Lake City. The Logan metro area claimed the top spot in the Milken Institute's 2022 ranking for best-performing small cities in the nation.

*updated 7/2023

Notice of Non-discrimination

In its programs and activities, including in admissions and employment, Utah State University does not discriminate or tolerate discrimination, including harassment, based on race, color, religion, sex, national origin, age, genetic information, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, disability, status as a protected veteran, or any other status protected by University policy, Title IX, or any other federal, state, or local law.

The following individuals have been designated to handle inquiries regarding the application of Title IX and its implementing regulations and/or USU's non-discrimination policies:

Executive Director of the Office of Equity Matthew Pinner, discrimination@usu.edu, Distance Education Rm. 401, 435-797-1266

Title IX Coordinator Matthew Pinner, titleix@usu.edu, Distance Education Rm. 404, 435-797-1266

Mailing address: 5100 Old Main Hill, Logan, Ut 84322

For further information regarding non-discrimination, please visit <https://equity.usu.edu/>, or contact:

U.S. Department of Education, Office of Assistant Secretary for Civil Rights, 800-421-3481, OCR@ed.gov

U.S. Department of Education, Denver Regional Office, 303-844-5695, OCR.Denver@ed.gov

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/8/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12238

Colorado State University

Rank: Assistant Professor of American Politics

Position Summary: The Department of Political Science at Colorado State University invites applications for an entry-level tenure-track Assistant Professor position in American politics with a specialization in racial and ethnic politics. We are open with respect to theoretical orientation, substantive focus, and methodological approaches, and encourage applicants with a broad array of expertise in racial and ethnic politics in the US to apply.

The Department values both strong teaching and research. Successful candidates will be expected to offer courses in the American politics curriculum at both the undergraduate and graduate levels, including an upper-division undergraduate course in US racial and ethnic politics. Additional teaching assignments will depend on the candidate's interests and expertise as well as departmental needs. The normal teaching load is 2-2. Faculty members are also expected to advise and mentor graduate and undergraduate students; develop an active research agenda; and provide service to the department, college, university, and community. The Department offers programs of study leading to the B.A., M.A., and Ph.D. degrees; the doctoral program emphasizes the study of environmental politics and policy. Approximately one-third of undergraduate political science majors at CSU are first-generation college students.

Required Job Qualifications: Primary teaching and scholarly emphasis in American politics; evidence of an active research agenda focused on racial and ethnic politics in the US; PhD in Political Science or related field by August 16, 2024; evidence of teaching effectiveness including the capacity to teach an upper division undergraduate course on racial and ethnic politics in the US; ability to enhance the Department's commitment to diversity and inclusion reflecting Departmental and institutional values.

Application Procedure: Applications will be accepted until the position is filled; to ensure full consideration, complete applications should be received by September 8, 2023. Applicants should submit: 1) a letter of application outlining teaching interests and research agenda as well as a brief statement on how your teaching, research and/or service demonstrate a commitment to diversity and inclusion; 2) Curriculum vitae; 3) Graduate school transcripts (unofficial transcripts acceptable at the initial stage of the search), 4) Evidence of demonstrated or potential teaching effectiveness (syllabi, teaching evaluations, letters of observation), 5) One sample of published or presented work, and 6) The names and contact information of three professional referees who will be emailed immediately upon submission of an application with a request to submit a letter of reference. Please note that a complete application consists of the requested materials and three letters of references. Your referees will be emailed a request for a letter of reference immediately upon submission of your application. As such, applicants should allow sufficient time for their letters to be submitted by September 15, 2023 to ensure full consideration. Application materials of semi-finalist candidates, including letters of reference, will be made available for review by the entire faculty in the Department of Political Science. Questions about the position can be directed to Dr. Courtenay Daum (Courtenay.Daum@colostate.edu)

To apply, please visit: <http://jobs.colostate.edu/postings/59062>

CSU is an EO/EA/AA employer and conducts background checks on all final candidates. The Department of Political Science strives to create and support a diverse and inclusive environment appreciating and valuing the uniqueness of the individual. We value intellectual diversity and embrace a pluralistic approach to scholarship and teaching that reflects the broader society.

Background Check Policy Statement

Colorado State University (CSU) strives to provide a safe study, work, and living environment for its faculty, staff, volunteers and students. To support this environment and comply with applicable laws and regulations, CSU conducts background checks. The type of background check conducted varies by position and can include, but is not limited to, criminal (felony and misdemeanor) history, sex offender registry, motor vehicle history, financial history, and/or education verification. Background checks will be conducted when required by law or contract and when, in the discretion of the university, it is reasonable and prudent to do so.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/7/2023

Salary: $70,000 - $79,999

eJobs ID: 12231

Yale University

Rank: Assistant/Associate/Full Professor, Political Science

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, International Relations

Specializations: American Politics, Political Economy, International Law & Organizations

Position Description

The Department of Political Science at Yale University is seeking to hire several faculty members at the rank of Assistant, Associate, or Full Professor with an appointment in the fields of American Politics, Comparative Politics, Political Economy, and/or International Relations, beginning July 1, 2024. The successful applicant will be expected to teach courses in their substantive area of expertise in political science.

Qualifications

If candidates are appointed at the untenured level, the initial appointment will be for 5 years. The teaching expectation is normally 3 courses per academic year.

Ph.D. or equivalent degree required at time of hire.

Application Instructions

All applications must include a cover letter, CV, and a list of 3 references. Untenured candidates should also supply 3 recommendation letters, 2 writing samples, and separate short (2 pages or less) research and teaching statements. All materials should be uploaded to Interfolio at <http://apply.interfolio.com/129113>. Review of applications will begin September 15, 2023, and to guarantee full consideration your file should be complete by this date.

Please contact Ms. Xaria Callender, Sr. Administrative Assistant for the Political Science Department, at xaria.callender@yale.edu if you have questions about the application process.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Date Posted: 8/7/2023

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 12216

Yale University

Rank: Assistant/Associate/Full Professor, Quantitative Political Science

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, American Government and Politics, Methodology

Specializations: Quantitative Methods, Political Economy, American Politics

Position Description

The Department of Political Science at Yale University is seeking to hire a faculty member with expertise in Quantitative Political Science at the rank of Assistant, Associate, or Full Professor with substantive expertise in American Politics, Comparative Politics, Political Economy, International Relations, or the intersection of these fields, beginning July 1, 2024. This is not a position solely in quantitative methodology; we instead seek a scholar who would be comfortable teaching courses in quantitative research methods and who applies methods of quantitative political science to applied questions in their area of expertise.

Qualifications

If candidates are appointed at the untenured level, the initial appointment will be for 5 years. The teaching expectation is normally 3 courses per academic year.

Ph.D. or equivalent degree required at time of hire.

Application Instructions

All applications must include a cover letter, CV, and a list of 3 references. Untenured candidates should also supply 3 recommendation letters, 2 writing samples, and separate short (2 pages or less) research and teaching statements. All materials should be uploaded to Interfolio at <http://apply.interfolio.com/129106>. Review of applications will begin September 15, 2023, and to guarantee full consideration your file should be complete by this date.

Please contact Ms. Xaria Callender, Sr. Administrative Assistant for the Political Science Department, at xaria.callender@yale.edu if you have questions about the application process.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 7/31/2024

Date Posted: 8/7/2023

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 12215

Johns Hopkins University

Rank: Associate Director, new interdisciplinary undergraduate major, Moral and Political Economy

Subfield(s): Political Theory, American Government and Politics, Other

The Center for Economy and Society, a division of the SNF Agora Institute at Johns Hopkins University, invites applications for Associate Director of its new interdisciplinary undergraduate major, Moral and Political Economy, with an anticipated start date on or before July 1, 2024. The Associate Director will direct the senior thesis seminar, advise undergraduates in the major, work closely with the Director and the Faculty Advisory Board in developing and overseeing the curriculum, and participate actively in the intellectual life of the Center. Candidates are expected to have a PhD in hand at the time of application in Anthropology, Economics, History, Philosophy, Political Science, Sociology, or cognate fields, and substantial teaching experience on themes related to moral and political economy. Please submit a cover letter, CV, an article-length writing sample, and a teaching portfolio (including a teaching statement, evaluations, and past syllabi) online via Interfolio at <http://apply.interfolio.com/128845>. Review of applications will begin on October 20, 2023, and will continue until the position is filled.

Johns Hopkins University is committed to active recruitment of a diverse faculty and student body. The University is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer of women, minorities, protected veterans and individuals with disabilities and encourages applications from these and other protected group members. Consistent with the University's goals of achieving excellence in all areas, we will assess the comprehensive qualifications of each applicant.

Start Date: Summer 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/4/2023

Salary: $80,000 - $89,999

eJobs ID: 12211

Johns Hopkins University

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellowship in Moral and Political Economy

Subfield(s): Political Theory, American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics

The Center for Economy and Society, a division of the SNF Agora Institute at Johns Hopkins University, invites applications for two postdoctoral fellowships in Moral and Political Economy. Applications are encouraged from scholars working on cross-disciplinary topics related to moral and political economy, who anticipate having a Ph.D. in hand prior to the anticipated start date of July 1, 2024. Fellows will be appointed for a three-year term, and will be expected to teach two sections in the first year, and three sections or seminars in both the second and third years. In the third year they will also advise senior thesis students in the major. During the academic year fellows are expected to remain in residence in the Baltimore-Washington region, and to participate actively in the intellectual community of CES. Please submit a statement of purpose outlining your research interests and teaching experience (up to 1,500 words), a CV, an article-length writing sample, and three letters of recommendation online via Interfolio at <http://apply.interfolio.com/128921>. Review of applications will begin on December 1, 2023.

Johns Hopkins University is committed to active recruitment of a diverse faculty and student body. The University is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer of women, minorities, protected veterans and individuals with disabilities and encourages applications from these and other protected group members. Consistent with the University's goals of achieving excellence in all areas, we will assess the comprehensive qualifications of each applicant.

Start Date: Summer 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/4/2023

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 12212

Hamilton College

Rank: Assistant Professor of Government

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Policy, Public Administration

The Government Department at Hamilton College invites applications for three tenure-track positions at the rank of Assistant Professor, beginning July 1, 2024. The new hires will collectively cover courses in public policy, American politics, and research methods, allocated based on individual expertise. This coordinated hire is part of a commitment to nourishing a diverse learning community and increasing possibilities for exchange focused on issues related to equality and inequality. We actively encourage applications from candidates whose work investigates the politics and policy of equality and inequality along one or more of the following axes: race and ethnicity; gender; class; sexuality; ability; religion; and migrant, refugee, or citizenship status. We seek candidates trained in either or both quantitative and qualitative methods and with academic backgrounds in American Politics, Public Policy, or Public Administration. Beyond that, there are no restrictions on area focus.

We are seeking candidates who can demonstrate their experience in teaching or working with diverse student populations. Your cover letter should address ways in which you raise issues of diversity and inclusion in your teaching, scholarship, and/or service.

These positions require institutional service including academic advising of undergraduate students after the first year.

The Government Department is responsible for the study of politics and public affairs at Hamilton. The department, which is one of Hamilton's largest, currently includes 17 faculty members, 12 of whom are tenured or pre-tenure. Department faculty include specialists in American politics, comparative politics, international relations, political theory, and public policy, and we teach a wide variety of courses across all these subfields. Each year, we also hire two practitioners, each of whom teaches a single one-semester course. The Department offers three majors: Government, World Politics, and Public Policy. Taken together, these three majors total about 85 students a year.

Candidates with ABD will be considered (and hired at the Instructor level until successful completion of their dissertation), although candidates with a Ph.D. are preferred. The teaching load for these positions is four courses during the first year and five courses thereafter. The expected salary range for these positions is $88,000 to $94,100. Candidates should submit cover letter, c.v., a writing sample, evidence of teaching ability, and a list of references via Interfolio at <https://apply.interfolio.com/129439>. Questions regarding the search may be directed to Peter F. Cannavò, Search Committee Chair, at pcannavo@hamilton.edu. Our review of applications will begin on October 1, 2023.

Hamilton College is a residential liberal arts college located in upstate New York. The College has built its reputation on the teaching excellence and leading scholarship of its faculty, and on the academic distinction and intellectual curiosity of its approximately 2000 students who take advantage of Hamilton's open curriculum (<https://www.hamilton.edu/academics/open-curriculum>). Please visit the college website for more information (www.hamilton.edu).

Applicants with dual-career considerations can find other Hamilton and nearby academic job listings at <https://www.hercjobs.org/regions/higher-ed-careers-upstate-new-york/>, as well as additional information at <https://www.hamilton.edu/dof/faculty-development/resources-for-prospective-or-new-faculty/opportunities-for-spouses-or-partners> (Opportunities for Spouses or Partners). Hamilton provides domestic partner benefits.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 10/1/2023

Date Posted: 8/1/2023

Salary: $90,000 - $99,999

eJobs ID: 12190

Georgetown University in Qatar

Rank: Faculty Position in American Politics – Associate Professor / Professor

Georgetown University in Qatar invites applications for one (1) senior core associate or professor position in American Politics. Core faculty positions are full-time positions designed to replicate the institutional commitment to academic freedom and professional opportunities associated with tenure-track and tenured appointments, in compliance with Georgetown University's academic governance guidelines.

The successful candidate will have demonstrated excellence in teaching and research. They will be able to teach undergraduate courses on the US political system and US foreign policy. This position may also include teaching at the graduate level. We welcome a range of substantive research specialties, including but not limited to, American political institutions, American political processes, American foreign policy, American political thought, race and politics, and gender politics. The ability to teach an undergraduate course on Scope and Methods in Political Science will be an advantage, as will the ability to teach, and mentor, quantitative research in politics and international relations.

Successful candidates are expected to contribute to a climate that embraces excellence and diversity, with a commitment to teaching and mentoring that will enhance the work of GU-Q and attract and retain a diverse student body. The successful applicant will take their place at a top-ranking research institution, and will have as colleagues a team of internationally-recognized scholars.

GU-Q provides generous research support and support for conference travel. Faculty at Georgetown University in Qatar are eligible to apply for GU-Q Faculty Research Funds and the Qatar National Research Fund's Qatar Academic Research Grant (<https://connect.qrdi.org.qa/scientific-research/p/opportunities/p/19>) and National Research Program (<https://connect.qrdi.org.qa/scientific-research/p/opportunities/p/22>). Colleagues with senior core faculty status are eligible to apply for periodic research sabbaticals.

The teaching load is 2-2. GU-Q boasts best-in-class teaching facilities including a Global Classroom for classes connecting students in Washington, D.C. and Doha.

Compensation is very competitive in relation to the US academic market. It includes an annual summer research stipend for active scholars, amounting to an additional 2/9 of the base salary. The expatriate benefits package (<https://www.qatar.georgetown.edu/about/careers/human-resources/benefits-and-allowances/>) includes: fully-furnished high-quality housing, transportation allowance, annual family home leave allowance, health insurance (worldwide coverage), generous private school tuition support for accompanying children, etc.

GU-Q was established in 2005 alongside other elite international universities in Education City (<https://www.qf.org.qa/education/education-city>), in partnership with Qatar Foundation. GU-Q is an integral part of Georgetown University, delivering the renowned School of Foreign Service's Bachelor of Science in Foreign Service (<https://www.qatar.georgetown.edu/academics/programs/bachelor-science-foreign-service-bsfs-degree-program/>) degree: a liberal arts program (<https://www.qatar.georgetown.edu/academics/programs/bsfs-core-curriculum-first-two-years-degree/>) offering majors in International Politics, International History, Culture and Politics, and International Economics. Several MA programs are in development. Degrees are issued by Georgetown University. GU-Q is a research-focused, student-oriented institution with a globally competitive research and publications record and it houses the Center for International and Regional Studies (CIRS <https://cirs.georgetown.edu/>). GU-Q values interdisciplinarity, and its faculty and students benefit from the opportunities offered by the wider academic eco-system of Education City. For more information on GU-Q, see <https://www.qatar.georgetown.edu>.

Qatar offers a diverse, safe and family-friendly living environment. Ranked the safest country in the world in 2020 (<https://www>).

middleeastmonitor.com/20200714-qatar-ranked-safest-country-in-the-world-for-sixth-time/), it is connected by direct flights to over 160 destinations in 90 countries. The iconic National Library, adjacent to GU-Q in Education City and designed by Rem Koolhaas, provides free membership to all faculty and students. Public parks, beaches, sports facilities (including Education City's extensive sports venues), museums (<https://www.qm.org.qa/en>), cafes and restaurants abound, and a state-of-the-art metro system connects all parts of Doha and nearby locations (see <https://www.visitqatar.qa/en/home>). For a glimpse of what it is like to teach and live in Qatar, see: <https://youtu.be/HNoERrWln4k>.

Review of applications will begin on October 1, and continue until the position is filled. Applicants should provide a cover letter detailing teaching and research interests, curriculum vitae, and the names of three scholarly references.

All application materials must be submitted via Georgetown's online application management system at <https://apply.interfolio.com/128997>. Faxed or emailed applications will not be accepted. Questions about the online application system should be directed to Ms. Carina Lawson at cl978@georgetown.edu.

Queries about the position should be directed to Professor Gerd Nonneman, Search Committee Chair, at gn72@georgetown.edu. Please reference "American Politics Search" in the subject line.

Start Date: Fall 2024
Application Deadline: 10/1/2023
Date Posted: 7/30/2023
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 12178

SUNY, University at Buffalo

Rank: Assistant/Associate Professor

The Department of Political Science, University at Buffalo, The State University of New York seeks an Associate or Assistant Professor (tenure-track) in American or Comparative Politics focusing on democratic processes and electoral phenomena.

We welcome applicants whose specialties are related to the study of democratic processes, democratic transition, consolidation, and regression, and specifically to the study of phenomena associated with elections. Issues of election reform, electoral integrity, and violence are central to the functioning of democracy both in the US and abroad. While elections are a central pillar of democratic legitimacy and consolidation, they can also serve as targets for instability incited by groups intent on bringing about democratic backsliding. All applicants studying democratic processes in these, and related research areas are invited to apply.

This hire will continue our recent faculty growth in the study of the topics noted above in the American or foreign/comparative contexts. Candidates that match the Department's strength in quantitative methods of analysis and formal modeling are especially welcome. Teaching will include political science courses at the undergraduate and graduate levels. Normal departmental, university and disciplinary service duties are expected. We encourage applications from Associate Professors, Assistant Professors, and graduate students who will complete their degree prior to the position start date. Salary and start-up will be competitive and commensurate with rank.

The faculty in the Department of Political Science understand the value and importance of diversity. We are committed to providing an open, supportive, and inclusive environment for all of our students, faculty, and staff members, consistent with the University's commitment to inclusive excellence.

A letter of application, a vita, and three letters of recommendation must be submitted electronically at <https://www.ubjobs.buffalo.edu/postings/43767>. Applicants applying at the Assistant Professor rank (including those who are ABD) should provide research and teaching statements. All applicants are encouraged to apply by October 1, 2023, to receive full consideration, although application review will begin immediately. Questions about the position can be directed to Dr. Rachael Hinkle by email at rkhinkle@buffalo.edu.

The Department of Political Science at UB is nationally recognized for its research in international relations, public law, and comparative and American politics. The department's strengths lie in its national and international reputation for high quality research. In addition to its strong PhD program, the department offers BA and MA degrees in both Political Science and Global Affairs.

University at Buffalo is an affirmative action/equal opportunity employer and, in keeping with our commitment, welcomes all to apply including veterans and individuals with disabilities.

Start Date: Fall 2024
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 7/28/2023
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 12162

University of Massachusetts, Boston

Rank: Assistant Professor

Specializations: Race & Ethnic Politics, Political Development, Political Behavior

The Department of Political Science at the University of Massachusetts Boston invites applications for a tenure-track position in American politics to be filled at the rank of Assistant Professor beginning September 1, 2024. We are particularly interested in candidates whose area of specialization is in race, ethnicity, and politics. Preferred but not required secondary areas of interest include political behavior, inequality, or American political development. A typical teaching load is two courses per semester, and candidates are expected to be productive scholars with active research agendas and pedagogical commitments. UMass Boston aspires to be an anti-racist health promoting institution and encourages applications from scholars with a commitment to community engagement in Boston and beyond.

Requirements:

All candidates should hold a PhD in a relevant field or should have a reasonable expectation of earning the PhD by no later than August 31, 2024.

Application Instructions:

Review of applications will begin October 1, 2023 and will continue until the position is filled. Applicants should submit: (1) a cover letter, (2) curriculum vitae, (3) relevant transcripts, (4) a statement of research and teaching interests, (5) a writing sample, (6) a statement on diversity and inclusion, and (7) three letters of recommendation. Please submit application materials online.

Start Date: Fall 2024
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 7/28/2023
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 12169

East Tennessee State University

Rank: Assistant Professor - American Politics and Public Administration

The Department of Political Science, International Affairs, and Public Administration at East Tennessee State University invites applications for a 9-month tenure-track appointment at the level of assistant professor beginning August 15, 2024. We are seeking a candidate that can offer classes in the undergraduate subfield of American Politics, graduate classes in the Public Administration core, and either Research Methods or Public Law.

The appointment normally carries a 3/3 teaching load, shared between the undergraduate Political Science program, and the graduate Public Administration program, and comes with generous startup funding designed to promote a promising research agenda leading to peer-reviewed publication. Candidates must also be capable of excellent teaching in undergraduate and graduate courses. Service to the department, university, profession, and community is also expected.

Applicants must apply through eJobs at <https://jobs.etsu.edu>.

Knowledge, Skills and Abilities: Ability to teach in the undergraduate political science program and MPA program.

Required Qualifications: Ph.D. in Public Administration, Political Science, or a related discipline, with the ability to teach in both the undergraduate political science program and the MPA program. ABD will be accepted if the graduation date is prior to August 1, 2024.

Preferred Qualifications: Ph.D. subfields and teaching in American politics, Public Administration, and Research Methods or Public Law.

Start Date: Fall 2024
Application Deadline: 10/15/2023
Date Posted: 7/27/2023
Salary: $50,000 - $59,999
eJobs ID: 12156

East Tennessee State University

Rank: Assistant Professor - Public Administration and American Politics

The Department of Political Science, International Affairs, and Public Administration at East Tennessee State University invites applications for a 9-month tenure-track appointment at the level of assistant professor beginning August 15, 2024. We are seeking a candidate that can offer both graduate classes in the Public Administration core and classes in the undergraduate subfield of American Politics and Research Methods/Policy Analysis. We welcome any subfield, but City Management, Regional Planning, or Non-Profit Management are especially desired.

The appointment normally carries a 3/3 teaching load, shared between the graduate Public Administration program and the undergraduate Political Science program, and comes with generous startup funding designed to promote a promising research agenda leading to peer-reviewed publication. Candidates must also be capable of excellent teaching in graduate and undergraduate courses. Service to the department, university, profession, and community is also expected.

Applicants must apply through eJobs at <https://jobs.etsu.edu>.

Knowledge, Skills and Abilities: Ability to teach in MPA Program and undergraduate political science program.

Required Qualifications: Ph.D. in Public Administration, Political Science, or a related discipline, with the ability to teach in both the MPA Program and the undergraduate political science program. ABD will be accepted if the graduation date is prior to August 1, 2024.

Preferred Qualifications: Ph.D. subfields and teaching Public Administration, American Politics, and research methods.

Start Date: Fall 2024
Application Deadline: 11/1/2023
Date Posted: 7/27/2023
Salary: $50,000 - $59,999
eJobs ID: 12157

New York University

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Wilf Family Department of Politics seeks outstanding and innovative scholars for a position in US politics at the assistant professor level. The position is to commence September 1, 2024, pending administrative and budgetary approval.

Please apply online at: <https://apply.interfolio.com/128720>. Candidates seeking the fullest consideration should submit their applications by September 15, 2023. Applicants should submit a cover letter, CV, research statement, teaching statement, writing sample, and three confidential letters of recommendation. Candidates are strongly encouraged to supply links to their professional websites; this will enhance their applications by allowing the search committee easy access to additional information that might be needed.

Start Date: Fall 2024
Application Deadline: 9/15/2023
Date Posted: 7/26/2023
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 12146

Rice University

Rank: Associate or Full Professor of Political Science

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, International Relations

The Department of Political Science at Rice University, located in Houston, Texas, invites applications for an associate or full professor to begin July 1, 2024. Associate and full professors are expected to teach undergraduate and graduate courses, mentor students, perform research in their specialized area, and contribute to department and university service and leadership. Therefore, successful candidates will have an active research program, a record of publication and external funding commensurate with the proposed rank, and a record of excellence in teaching, mentoring, and service/leadership. Candidates must have a Ph.D in political science or a related field.

The position is open with regard to research specialty, but we are particularly interested in candidates who connect to our areas of departmental strength in democratic political representation (U.S. or comparative), international security, and/or quantitative methods.

Rice University and the Department of Political Science are committed to building and sustaining an inclusive, diverse environment for our faculty, staff, and students. We encourage applications from individuals who have been historically underrepresented in academia, including people of color, LGBTQI+ people, women, and people with disabilities. We strive to counter prejudice actively and to create a working environment that is inclusive and equitable.

The application deadline is October 1, 2023. A complete application must include a letter of application; a curriculum vitae; research, teaching, DEI, and leadership/service statements; two writing samples; evidence of teaching effectiveness; and contact information for three references. References will be contacted for a subset of candidates. All applications should be submitted electronically at apply.in-terfolio.com/128783.

Start Date: Summer 2024

Application Deadline: 10/1/2023

Date Posted: 7/21/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12132

CUNY-Baruch College

Rank: Assistant Professor - International Security

Subfield(s): International Relations, Public Policy, American Government and Politics

The Austin W. Marxe School of Public and International Affairs at Baruch College invites applications for an Assistant Professor (Marxe School), tenure track, with a specialization in international security and technology. Areas of policy research could address cyber conflict, disinformation, military uses of AI, hybrid warfare, weapons proliferation, and other national security and global security challenges of the 21st century. Teaching responsibilities will include electives in a new Global Security concentration and core courses in the Master of International Affairs (MIA) program.

This position is part of an interdisciplinary cluster of new faculty across the College studying data science. Faculty in this cluster will prepare students to understand the threats and opportunities of the digital world. They will form an interdisciplinary data analytics group that will conduct high level research while simultaneously suffusing data science across all areas of the Baruch curriculum to improve student employment prospects.

Compensation and Benefits:

90,134 - 99,532; Commensurate with qualifications and experience. CUNY offers faculty a competitive compensation and benefits package covering health insurance, pension and retirement benefits, paid parental leave, and savings programs. We also provide mentoring and support for research, scholarship, and publication as part of our commitment to ongoing faculty professional development.

Qualifications:

Ph.D. degree in area(s) of experience or equivalent. Also required are the ability to teach successfully, demonstrated scholarship or achievement, and ability to cooperate with others for the good of the institution.

How to apply:

Go to the CUNY website cuny.jobs to see the complete position description and job requirements in CUNYFirst under Job Opening ID #27080. You can view and apply for this job in CUNYFirst via the following direct link to the posting <https://cuny.jobs/new-york-ny/assistant-professor-of-policy-cyber-security/85CF44B277D7485D89E11ED06ABE4027/job/>

Candidate should provide:

- Cover letter explaining your interest in the position
- Curriculum vitae
- One recent scholarly publication or paper
- Statement of scholarship interest (1 page maximum)
- A narrative statement describing your commitment to working effectively with faculty, staff, and students in a multicultural/multiethnic urban campus environment with a substantial population of students who are among the first-generation of their family to attend a college or university. (1 page maximum)
- Reference list with contact information

Closing Date:

This position will be open until filled and review of applications will start on October 1, 2023.

EEO Statement:

CUNY encourages people with disabilities, minorities, veterans and women to apply. At CUNY, Italian Americans are also included among our protected groups. Applicants and employees will not be discriminated against on the basis of any legally protected category, including sexual orientation or gender identity. EEO/AA/Vet/Disability Employer.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/20/2023

Salary: $90,000 - $99,999

eJobs ID: 12119

Saint Louis University

Rank: Assistant Professor- American Politics

Specializations: Judicial Politics, Constitutional Law & Theory, Criminal Justice

The Department of Political Science at Saint Louis University seeks applicants for a tenure track position in American politics starting in August 2024. The ideal candidate will have primary teaching and research interests in American Politics, with an emphasis on law and courts.

Previous teaching experience and a Ph.D. in Political Science are preferred, but ABD candidates will be considered. The appointment will be at the level of Assistant Professor. The teaching assignment is 2/2. The department offers a BA and MA and, in coordination with the Sociology/Anthropology department, a Ph.D. in Public and Social Policy. Members of underrepresented groups in the Political Science discipline are particularly encouraged to apply.

To apply, we ask that applicants upload the following materials combined into a single pdf (see upload instructions below): (1) a curriculum vitae; (2) a cover letter that includes research and teaching interests; (3) a statement of teaching philosophy; (4) evidence of teaching effectiveness (e.g., recent teaching evaluations, officially produced if possible, and sample syllabi); (5) a research statement; and (6) a single-authored writing sample. Please have unofficial graduate transcripts sent to Ms. Claire Bruce at claire.bruce@slu.edu. Letters of recommendation are not required at this stage but will be accepted. We will request three letters of recommendation from shortlisted candidates after our initial review of applications. For questions about the position, please contact Dr. Morgan Hazelton, morgan.hazelton@slu.edu, chair of the search committee, or call the department office, 314-977-3035. Review of applications will begin on Sep. 1, 2023, and continue until the position is filled.

Application Upload Instructions: Please visit SLU's Workday portal at <https://slu.wd5.myworkdayjobs.com/Careers>. When prompted to upload your Resume/CV on the "My Experience" page, please upload a single PDF of the documents requested above. SLU Workday applications must be completed in one sitting. You will not be able to revise your application once submitted.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 9/1/2023

Date Posted: 7/20/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12121

Saint Louis University

Rank: Assistant Professor- American Politics

The Department of Political Science at Saint Louis University seeks applicants for a tenure track position in American politics starting in August 2024. Research and teaching interests within the field of American Politics are open. Previous teaching experience and a Ph.D. in Political Science are preferred, but ABD candidates will be considered. The appointment will be at the level of Assistant Professor. The teaching assignment is 2/2. The department offers a BA and MA and, in coordination with the Sociology/Anthropology department, a Ph.D. in Public and Social Policy. Members of underrepresented groups in the Political Science discipline are particularly encouraged to apply.

To apply, we ask that applicants upload the following materials combined into a single pdf (see upload instructions below): (1) a curriculum vitae; (2) a cover letter that includes research and teaching interests; (3) a statement of teaching philosophy; (4) evidence of teaching effectiveness (e.g., recent teaching evaluations, officially produced if possible, and sample syllabi); (5) a research statement; and (6) a single-authored writing sample. Please have unofficial graduate transcripts sent to Ms. Claire Bruce at claire.bruce@slu.edu. Letters of recommendation are not required at this stage but will be accepted. We will request three letters of recommendation from shortlisted candidates after our initial review of applications. For questions about the position, please contact Dr. Steven Rogers, steven.rogers@slu.edu, chair of the search committee, or call the department office, 314-977-3035. Review of applications will begin on Sep. 22, 2023, and continue until the position is filled.

Application Upload Instructions: Please visit SLU's Workday portal at <https://slu.wd5.myworkdayjobs.com/Careers>. When prompted to upload your Resume/CV on the "My Experience" page, please upload a single PDF of the documents requested above. SLU Workday applications must be completed in one sitting. You will not be able to revise your application once submitted.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 9/22/2023

Date Posted: 7/20/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12122

Princeton University

Rank: Research Director

The Center for the Study of Democratic Politics (CSDP) seeks a dynamic Research Director (RD). CSDP serves as Princeton's primary center for studying democratic political processes, behavior, and institutions. The Center brings together a large, vibrant and interdisciplinary community of scholars interested in democratic politics, supports their empirical research, and communicates those findings to inform public policy debates inside and outside the academy.

In concert with the faculty Director(s), the RD directs, oversees, guides, and implements CSDP's academic and policy research programs. The RD envisions, develops, and manages CSDP's research missions and strategy. They monitor and address Affiliates' research needs, including affiliated faculty, researchers (fellows, scholars, and so on), and students. They keep up with and bring to bear research resources and knowledge from across and outside Princeton. The RD will also help CSDP implement SPIA's strategic priorities, especially data science, policy relevance, and DEI.

Responsibilities:

- Design and deliver hands-on workshops on research methods, tools, and applications, including the collection or use of datasets, according to affiliates' needs
- Research and statistical consulting to CSDP affiliates and make recommendations and oversee the selection of research-relevant software
- Assist with the review, selection, recruiting, and mentoring of CSDP's fellows and research staff
- Assist with reading and selecting grant applications submitted for CSDP funding and also with the development and writing of CSDP directors' applications and proposals for funding
- Develop and oversee a new MPA fellows' program and supervise its fellows including their research activities and their policy-oriented writing
- Write reports and other content translating CSDP research for public and policymaker audiences, with the assistance of the MPA fellows

Essential requirements:

- PhD in political science
- Training in and experience using political science research methods including a strong quantitative background
- Strong programming skills, including in R
- At least one publication in an academic political science journal on topics in CSDP's core mission (the study of democratic politics)
- Minimum one-year post-PhD work experience in an academic setting
- Experience teaching research methods, data science, or related programming skills, or advising student activities in these areas
- Meticulous attention to detail and ability to proof one's own work and others'
- Demonstrated ability for creative problem-solving, active listening and interpersonal skills, empathy for others, proactive approach to work issues, openness to feedback on one's work performance, and taking initiative to address, anticipate and head off problems
- Experience with managing research projects from initiation through completion
- Eagerness to collaborate on projects and to cooperate with others in the work environment
- Motivated to produce at a high level of productivity and excellence

Preferred:

- Experience with data use agreements and how to develop partnerships and collaborations to obtain data
- working with or merging large or administrative datasets
- Specialized technical skills for the social sciences
- Experience communicating about political science or policy for broad audience

The RD will have a research budget for their use in attending conferences and similar activities facilitating their ongoing professional development as a researcher.

The position is for a three-year term, with the possibility of renewal, contingent on satisfactory performance. This position is subject to a background check.

Applicants must submit a CV, a cover letter describing their areas of expertise and research interests, and contact information for three references. References may be contacted for the candidates who make the shortlist for this position.

The submission must be online via AHIRE link.: <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/29741>

Start Date: Summer 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/18/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12108

Syracuse University

Rank: Assistant Professor - American Politics

Specializations: Congress, Bureaucracy & Organizational Behavior, Race & Ethnic Politics

Syracuse University
American Politics

The Department of Political Science seeks a tenure-track Assistant Professor in American Politics. The search is open to candidates whose teaching and research focus on political institutions broadly. We are particularly interested in candidates who study public policy, Congress, the bureaucracy, interest groups, and/or race.

The political science department is housed within the Maxwell School of Citizenship and Public Affairs, which is committed to citizenship education at the undergraduate level and to graduate education in public affairs and the social sciences. We seek candidates who complement the broader Maxwell mission and have interdisciplinary interests. Successful candidates may be invited to affiliate with the Campbell Public Affairs Institute or one of Maxwell's other interdisciplinary centers (<http://www.maxwell.syr.edu/centers/>). The successful candidate will teach at both the undergraduate and graduate level. The typical course load is 2 classes a semester.

Applicants should have a Ph.D. in political science or a related field or a credible expectation of completing all requirements for the Ph.D. by August 2024. The Maxwell School is interested in candidates who can contribute to the inclusiveness and diversity of the academic community through their research, teaching, and/or service.

APPLICATION INSTRUCTIONS:

For consideration, candidates must complete an online faculty application (available at <http://www.sujobops.com/>) and attach online the following: a letter of interest and a CV, a research statement, a sample of professional writing, a statement of teaching philosophy, and evidence of quality teaching. Files may be no larger than 5MB, but you may submit an external link to a larger file if needed.

In addition, applicants will be required to provide the full email addresses of three references.

Applications will be reviewed as they arrive with full consideration given to those received by October 1, 2023. However, the department will continue to consider applications until this position is filled. We encourage dual career academic couples to apply as well.

Syracuse University is an equal-opportunity, affirmative-action institution. The University prohibits discrimination and harassment based on race, color, creed, religion, sex, gender, national origin, citizenship, ethnicity, marital status, age, disability, sexual orientation, gender identity and gender expression, veteran status, or any other status protected by applicable law to the extent prohibited by law. This nondiscrimination policy covers admissions, employment, and access to and treatment in university programs, services, and activities.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/18/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12104

University of Iowa

Rank: Assistant Professor

Assistant Professor in American Politics and Computational Social Science

The Department of Political Science at the University of Iowa invites applications for a tenure-track position at the rank of Assistant Professor with a focus in American Politics and Computational Social Science (e.g. Machine learning, text/audio/video as data, networks, big data). The Department welcomes applications from candidates in any subfield in American politics who are doing research using computational social science approaches. Candidates must be able to teach courses in American politics as well as introductory and advanced graduate quantitative methods courses, including computational social science courses. Candidates should clearly describe their research and teaching interests in their letter of application and include a CV, research statement, teaching statement, writing sample, teaching evaluations, and letters of recommendation.

The position will begin on August 21, 2024, and the appointment requires a Ph.D. in Political Science or Government by start date. The review of applicants will begin September 12, 2023 and will continue until the position is filled.

For information on how to apply, please visit <http://jobs.uiowa.edu/> and reference Requisition #74875. Electronic attachments to the online application include a letter of interest, curriculum vitae, research statement, teaching statement, writing sample, teaching evaluations and information for 3 letters of reference. Question can be directed to polisci@uiowa.edu.

The University of Iowa is an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer. All qualified applicants are encouraged to apply and will receive consideration for employment free from discrimination on the basis of race, creed, color, religion, national origin, age, sex, pregnancy (including childbirth and related conditions), disability, genetic information, status as a U.S. veteran, service in the U.S. military, sexual orientation, gender identity, or associational preferences.

Required Qualifications

- PhD in Political Science, Government, or related field by start date.
- Has a primary research and teaching specialty in American Politics
- Has conducted research using Computational Social Science methods
- Ability to teach American Politics and Computational Social Science classes at the graduate level.

Desirable Qualifications

- Ability to publish in general field refereed journals or books
- Demonstrated strong computational social science data modeling skills
- Ability to be an effective instructor

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/18/2023

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 12109

American University

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of Government in the School of Public Affairs at American University invites applications for two full-time, tenure-track positions beginning in Academic Year 2024-25. The positions will be at the rank of Assistant Professor. The Department is seeking American Politics scholars and Political Methodologists with substantive expertise in American politics. Applications from candidates who would enhance the diversity of the department are especially welcome.

Applicants should hold a PhD. Candidates should be effective teachers and must be strongly committed to excellence in scholarly research. The search is open regarding areas of substantive specialty, but the Department is especially interested in scholars whose research and teaching interests include American political institutions. Most of all, the department seeks scholars who will further its goals of producing high impact research and providing innovative undergraduate and graduate teaching. Applications are particularly welcome from scholars who can contribute to high visibility centers and research initiatives at American University, such as the Women and Politics Institute, Center for Congressional and Presidential Studies, Center for Data Science, and Center for Environmental Policy. In addition to scholarship and teaching, all faculty are expected to hold office hours and participate in School and University activities and service.

Review of applications will begin on September 1, 2023, and will continue until the positions are filled, subject to on-going budgetary approvals. The positions begin August 1, 2024. Applicants should have a PhD or an anticipated PhD completion date by August 2024.

Salary and benefits are competitive. Please submit applications via: <http://apply.interfolio.com/128065> . Include a letter of application, curriculum vitae, three confidential letters of recommendation, research and teaching narratives, and a writing sample. Please contact Rachel Whelan, Faculty Coordinator, 202-885-6201 or spa_academicaffairs@american.edu if you have any questions.

Established in 1934, the School of Public Affairs offers undergraduate and graduate programs in the departments of Government; Justice, Law, & Criminology; and Public Administration & Policy. The School's programs are consistently ranked among the best in the field of public affairs by U.S. News & World Report. Learn more about the School of Public Affairs at www.american.edu/spa.

American University is a private institution within easy reach of the many centers of government, business, research, and the arts located within the nation's capital. For more information about American University, visit www.american.edu.

American University is an equal opportunity, affirmative action institution that operates in compliance with applicable laws and regulations. The university does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, national origin, religion, sex (including pregnancy), age, sexual orientation, disability, marital status, personal appearance, gender identity and expression, family responsibilities, political affiliation, source of income, veteran status, an individual's genetic information or any other bases under federal or local laws (collectively "Protected Bases") in its programs and activities.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/13/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12091

Suffolk University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

Specializations: Race & Ethnic Politics, American Politics, African American Politics

The Political Science and Legal Studies (PSLS) Department at Suffolk University invites applicants for a full time, tenure-track position in American Politics and Public Policy. The Department is interested in recruiting a teacher scholar with a focus on civil rights and liberties, race and ethnic politics, the role of identity in politics, or the impact of economic, social, or political inequality on marginalized groups.

Candidates should provide evidence of commitment to excellent teaching and scholarly potential including a research agenda and plans for peer-reviewed publication. The successful candidate will teach at the undergraduate and graduate level; previous teaching experience is preferred. The PSLS department offers three undergraduate majors (political science, international relations, and law) and two graduate programs (Master's in Applied Politics and a Master's in Global Public Policy). We are looking for candidates who are excited about developing and teaching courses in American Politics, American Institutions and/or public policy. Research methods is also a need in the department.

The successful candidate will contribute to a rich tradition of community-engaged teaching and experiential education that prepares our diverse, substantially first-generation college students—40% of whom are Pell eligible—for careers and civic engagement. The successful candidate will have a commitment to inclusive pedagogy and curricular diversity, mentoring and advising students—especially first-generation college students—as well as conducting impactful research.

Not sure this is you? Contact us to find out! Research indicates that women and members of under-represented groups tend not to apply to jobs when they think they do not meet every qualification, when, in fact, they often do. Suffolk University is dedicated to a diverse and inclusive academic community. Familiarity with and experience using pedagogical methods that enable students across racial, ethnic, socio-economic, and ability groups to reach their maximum potential is a valuable qualification.

Faculty in the PSLS department are award-winning teachers recognized for innovative pedagogical practices, community leaders civically engaged in advancing social justice, internationally recognized policy and political consultants and active researchers and scholars. Department faculty take advantage of our location in the heart of Boston to design exciting real-world learning opportunities.

Diversity, equity and inclusion are woven into Suffolk University's very fabric. We have been providing access and expanding opportunities for under-represented groups for more than a century. This mission is lived through our decisions at every level. U.S. News ranked Suffolk University among the top 100 universities in the country for social mobility. Suffolk was also listed 14th nationally in percentage of international students. Through student, faculty and staff recruitment and support, community engagement, curriculum development, and research, the University community works to advance equity for every student, every day. Learn more about how we manifest the core values of our mission at Suffolk DEI.

Candidates must hold a PhD by the commencement of the 2024/2025 academic year; ABD candidates in the final stages of completing their degrees will be considered.

Application should be made through the Suffolk University Human Resources' Careers at Suffolk site. A complete submission will include: cover letter (including research agenda); CV; graduate transcripts; research writing sample; statement of teaching philosophy; student course evaluations; and contact information for three professional references. For full consideration, applications should be submitted by September 30. Initial interviews will be via Zoom followed by on-campus interviews. The department will also hold an information session at the 2023 APSA conference in August.

Suffolk University is a private, comprehensive, urban university located in downtown Boston, and is an equal opportunity employer committed to faculty diversity. Candidates from underrepresented groups are encouraged to apply. You can learn more about Suffolk University from our website. To learn more about the Political Science & Legal Studies department, go to our department website.

Inquiries about the position and the APSA information session should be addressed to Dr. Rachael Cobb, Chair of the PSLS Department at rcobb@suffolk.edu.

Start Date: Summer 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/13/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12094

University of Maryland, Baltimore County

Rank: Assistant Professor in American Politics with Focus on Race & Ethnic Politics

The Department of Political Science at the University of Maryland, Baltimore County (UMBC) invites applications for a tenure track Assistant Professor position in American politics, beginning August 2024. We seek candidates with a teaching and research concentration in race and ethnic politics.

UMBC is a Carnegie Research 1, minority-serving institution focused on inclusive excellence. Preference will be given to candidates who already hold a Ph.D. in political science or related field, or who will have completed the Ph.D. by August 2024. Candidates must provide evidence of a focused research agenda and a commitment to high quality undergraduate teaching experience. Candidates must also describe the ways in which their research, teaching, and/or life experience contributes to "inclusive excellence," such as their ability to work with underserved and diverse populations or their capacity to respond in pedagogically productive ways to the competence, aspirations and needs of students from diverse backgrounds.

The annual teaching load is five courses. Candidates will teach two introductory sections of American Government and Politics (counting as two courses) and be prepared to offer upper division undergraduate courses in race and ethnic politics.

Applicants should submit their applications by October 1, 2023, for best consideration. Please provide a cover letter, a statement of research agenda, a statement of teaching philosophy, a statement of commitment to diversity and inclusiveness; CV; up to two sample publications; two sample course syllabi; and three reference letters by October 1, 2023.

Please address questions to Dr. Tom Schaller, Search Chair, Department of Political Science, schaller@umbc.edu, with the subject line, "POLI Search." Required application materials and submission instructions are available at <https://apply.interfolio.com/127870>.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 10/1/2023

Date Posted: 7/12/2023

Salary: $80,000 - $89,999

eJobs ID: 12089

Stanford University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science - American Politics

Assistant Professor of Political Science - American Politics

The Department of Political Science at Stanford University is seeking applications for a tenure line position at the rank of assistant professor in American Politics.

Candidates must have a PhD or be enrolled in a PhD program or equivalent international degree-granting program at the time of application, with expected degree completion by date of appointment as an assistant professor. Candidates should demonstrate evidence of a creative research trajectory and a commitment to excellence in teaching at both graduate and undergraduate levels. Applicants should send a cover letter, CV, research statement, teaching evaluations, Ph.D. program transcripts, and a writing sample along with at least three professional letters of recommendation.

The Department of Political Science, School of Humanities and Sciences and Stanford University value faculty who will help foster an inclusive academic environment for colleagues, students, and staff with a wide range of backgrounds, identities, and outlooks. Candidates may choose to include as part of their research and teaching statements a brief discussion about how their work and experience will further these ideals. Additional information about Stanford's IDEAL initiative may be found here: <https://ideal.stanford.edu/about-ideal/diversity-statement>.

Review of applications will begin on September 8, 2023, but applications may be considered after that date. Application materials must be submitted on-line via <https://facultypositions.stanford.edu>.

Consistent with its obligations under the law, the University will provide reasonable accommodation to any employee with a disability who requires accommodation to perform the essential functions of his or her job.

Stanford is an equal employment opportunity and affirmative action employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law.

Stanford welcomes applications from all who would bring additional dimensions to the University's research, teaching, and clinical missions.

The salary range for this position is $135,620 - $144,577 for 2023-24.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 10/15/2023

Date Posted: 7/11/2023

Salary: $130,000 - $139,999

eJobs ID: 12083

University of Rhode Island

Rank: Assistant Professor in Political Science

Specializations: Congress, Presidency, Quantitative Methods

The Department of Political Science at the University of Rhode Island anticipates an opening for a faculty position in American politics specializing in U.S. political institutions, particularly Congress and the Presidency, and quantitative research methods. This is a tenure-track, academic year appointment at the rank of Assistant Professor to commence in the Fall of 2024.

We are seeking to attract a diverse pool of job applicants for this position. A key pillar of URI's mission is to "inspire an enlightened community that is characterized by vibrant cultural diversity; that embraces difference; that is built upon a learning environment that fosters respect, understanding, and social justice; and that rejects prejudice and intolerance." Our department seeks candidates whose principles align with that mission.

DUTIES AND RESPONSIBILITIES

The successful applicant will be expected to teach undergraduate political science courses in the areas of American politics and quantitative research methods that serve as requirements for the Political Science program. Some of these undergraduate classes may have up to 250 students.

Expected to publish original research in their respective field of study and advise undergraduate and graduate students.

Provide service to the department, the university and the profession.

REQUIRED QUALIFICATIONS:

- 1) Ph.D., or expectation of completion of degree requirements by appointment date of September 1, 2024, in Political Science.
- 2) Primary or secondary specialization in the following areas: American politics, Congress, and/or the Presidency.

3) Demonstrated ability to excel in teaching large, broad-based introductory political science courses in the area of American politics.

4) Demonstrated ability to teach upper-level political science courses on U.S. political institutions, especially Congress and/or the Presidency.

5) Evidence of research in the field of American politics with scholarly work commensurate with level of academic experience.

6) Ability to teach large introductory research methods courses.

7) Demonstrated experience working with diverse populations or in diverse environments.

All requirements are subject to possible modification to reasonably accommodate individuals with disabilities.

PREFERRED QUALIFICATIONS:

1) Ability to develop an externally grant-funded research program relevant to the field.

The application deadline is September 15, 2023.

For the full job posting and to apply online, please visit: <https://jobs.uri.edu/postings/11940>

SPECIAL INSTRUCTIONS TO APPLICANTS

Required Documents: Please attach 5 (PDF) documents to your online Faculty Profile Application:

- 1) A letter of application that describes your interest in this position
- 2) A Curriculum Vitae which includes the names/contact information for three references, a list of all completed graduate-level courses, and, if available, course syllabi and teaching evaluations for any courses you have taught (note: please scan and attach all of this information as a single CV document),
- 3) A brief research and teaching statement
- 4) A statement on diversity, equity, and inclusion reflecting on URI's mission to "inspire an enlightened community that is characterized by vibrant cultural diversity; that embraces difference; that is built upon a learning environment that fosters respect, understanding, and social justice; and that rejects prejudice and intolerance."
- 5) If applicable, submit an article-length sample of relevant scholarly work.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 9/15/2023

Date Posted: 7/11/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12081

Pomona College

Rank: Assistant Professor in the Politics of the United States

The Department of Politics at Pomona College invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor in the politics of the United States, with a focus on race, ethnicity and/or identity politics. Qualified candidates should have a PhD in political science or related field. Candidates prepared to teach institutions and/or public policy a plus.

Our department has a broad understanding of political science and encourages applications from a variety of approaches, methodologies and perspectives within the discipline. We seek to attract, develop, and retain faculty that contribute to the cultural, linguistic, experiential, and ideological diversity of our campus community.

Pomona is a top-ten liberal arts college that offers a need-blind, no-loan admissions policy and values equal access to higher education. This achievement is reflected in our diverse and outstanding student body of approximately 1,700 students, over 55% of whom identify as a person of color. The College maintains a student-to-faculty ratio of eight to one and is strongly committed to small-scale residential education. Accordingly, the department values excellent teaching and encourages applications from women, minorities, and individuals committed to mentoring our diverse and engaged student body. Faculty at Pomona teach two courses a semester, including introductory courses - in this case at least one section of Introduction to American Politics annually. College faculty are expected to maintain an active scholarship and service profile. The College offers many forms of support for scholarship, including a full-year, pre-tenure research leave. Founded in 1887, Pomona College is the founding member of the Claremont Colleges, a unique constellation of five small undergraduate colleges and two graduate institutions located in southern California near the foothills of the San Gabriel mountains, about 35 miles east of Los Angeles. Students of the Claremont Colleges can cross-register for courses at any of the colleges, and faculty and staff across the colleges often collaborate.

For full consideration, applications must be submitted by September 17, 2023. To apply, please submit for Assistant Professor of Politics on AcademicJobsOnline: 1) a cover letter; 2) a curriculum vitae; 3) graduate school transcripts; 4) a statement of teaching philosophy; 5) evidence of teaching effectiveness; 6) three sample syllabi; 7) a research statement; 8) written samples of your research; 9) a statement addressing your demonstrated knowledge of inclusive pedagogy and demonstrated ability to teach and mentor a diverse student body (more details here), and 10) three letters of recommendation. Alternatively, hard copies of the same materials may be sent to: Amanda Hollis-Brusky, Chair, Pomona College Politics Department, 425 North College Avenue, Claremont, CA. 91711. For more information, contact amanda.hollis-brusky@pomona.edu.

Pomona College is an Equal Opportunity Employer

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 9/17/2023

Date Posted: 7/7/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12072

New Mexico State University

Rank: Tenure Track Assistant Professor in Political Science & American Government Job No# 498239 and Position No# 197401

The Department of Government at New Mexico State University invites applications for the position of Tenure Track Assistant Professor in Political Science with a focus on American government. Employment will start August 19, 2024. Applicants must have a Ph.D. or have ABD status in Political Science or a related field. Preferred qualifications are teaching experience in Political Science and American government.

The Department of Government offers a BA in Government, a Supplementary Major in Law and Society, an MA in Government, and a nationally accredited Masters of Public Administration (MPA). It is also one of the lead departments for the new Interdisciplinary Ph.D. Program in Transborder and Global Human Dynamics. The department has a proud tradition of enhancing student success and social mobility, outstanding research and valuable work in service and outreach. The Tenure Track Assistant Professor will teach a mix of undergraduate and graduate classes in the areas of political science and American government, totaling three classes per semester, as well as serve on the MA committee within the Department of Government. For inquiries, please contact the search committee chair, Dr. Seong Kang, at sckang@nmsu.edu. To be considered, applications must be submitted online by September 28, 2023 at: <https://careers.nmsu.edu/jobs/assistant-professor-las-cruces-new-mexico-united-states>

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 9/28/2023

Date Posted: 7/5/2023

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 12066

Sam Houston State University

Rank: AY2023-2024 Lecturer–Pool Faculty (Political Science)–up to 3 positions to be filled

Usual Duties:

The Department of Political Science seeks a qualified instructor to teach “American Politics” and “The U.S. Congress” in our online MA in Political Science program during the 2023-2024 academic year. We could have additional opportunities in American Government, Texas Government, Quantitative Methods, and other upper-division undergraduate courses in American politics. Undergraduate courses could be taught online or face-to-face at the main Sam Houston State University campus in Huntsville, TX.

Degree Requirements:

Ph.D. in political science preferred; will consider candidates that are ABD in a relevant Ph.D. program and/or candidates that have a master's degree in political science.

Experience Requirements:

Teaching experience, especially online-teaching experience, is preferred.

Required Documents:

1. Cover Letter
2. CV (with references)
3. Transcripts

Optional Documents:

1. Letter of recommendation 1
2. Letter of recommendation 2
3. Letter of recommendation 3

Link to Apply:

<https://shsu.peopleadmin.com/postings/35401>

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/3/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12064

Bucknell University

Rank: Tenure-Track position in Political Science (American Politics)

Bucknell University's Department of Political Science invites applications for a tenure-track position in American Politics beginning in Fall, 2024. We expect to hire at the Assistant Professor level but are open to considering outstanding candidates at other ranks. We seek candidates whose scholarly and teaching interests include race and ethnic politics in the U.S. The successful candidate will be prepared to teach a core course in American politics, a course in race and ethnic politics, a course in quantitative or qualitative research methods, and other American politics courses in the candidate's areas of specialization.

We welcome candidates who demonstrate excellence in reflective multicultural and inclusive teaching practices and who display a strong commitment to collaboration and interdisciplinarity. Evidence of teaching excellence as well as the promise of being a productive scholar are critically important. The teaching load is five courses over two semesters. By the start date of the position, candidates are expected to have a Ph.D. in Political Science with a sub-field specialization in American politics, but ABD candidates will also be considered with the understanding that the Ph.D. must be completed before the beginning of the second year.

For additional information and to apply, please go to careers.bucknell.edu. The application should include a cover letter, C.V., statement of teaching philosophy, statement of commitment to diversity, three letters of recommendation, graduate transcripts, sample publications or papers, course evaluations, and sample syllabi relevant to this position. Applicants with questions about this position are encouraged to contact Professor Doug Hecock at douglas.hecock@bucknell.edu. The review of applications will begin on September 23, 2023 and will continue until filled.

About Bucknell

Bucknell University is a private, highly ranked, primarily undergraduate, national liberal arts institution that also offers strong professional programs in engineering, management, education, and music.

Bucknell University is an Equal Opportunity Employer. The university believes that students learn best in a diverse, inclusive community and is therefore committed to academic excellence through diversity in its faculty, staff, and students. Applications from members of groups that have been historically underrepresented in higher education are encouraged.

Bucknell is committed to creating a climate that fosters inclusion, growth, and development for a diverse student body, and seeks candidates who are also committed to these goals.

Bucknell is committed to supporting the teacher-scholar model of faculty development. With a student-faculty ratio of about 9:1, small class sizes are a hallmark of the Bucknell educational experience. The university sponsors a range of activities to support the development of its faculty, including a Teaching-Learning Center and generous research support and leave policies.

Bucknell is located in Lewisburg, Pennsylvania, on the banks of the Susquehanna River. The Lewisburg area offers a combination of outdoor recreation opportunities and small-town amenities. In addition to the cultural and athletic events offered at the University and in town, the region offers strong schools and medical facilities, and an affordable cost of living. Bucknell is about three hours from Philadelphia, New York, Baltimore, and Washington, D.C.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 9/23/2023

Date Posted: 6/29/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12059

Wellesley College

Rank: Assistant/Associate Professor of American Politics

The Department of Political Science at Wellesley College invites applications for a tenure-track or tenured appointment at the assistant or associate professor level in American politics, beginning in the academic year 2024-2025.

We are seeking candidates with expertise in a wide range of fields, though we are particularly interested in candidates whose research involves American political institutions and organizations, either at the national or subnational level. We are also interested in candidates who can teach an introductory methods course, whether qualitative, quantitative, or some combination. The person hired will be expected to teach our introductory course in American politics.

Candidates should have a strong commitment to teaching undergraduate students in a liberal arts environment. Faculty members at Wellesley teach two courses per semester.

Applications should include the following:

- A cover letter of no more than two pages;
- A one-page teaching statement;
- Teaching evaluations and syllabi (or a draft syllabus if you have one);
- Writing samples of research;
- A curriculum vitae; and
- Three (3) letters of recommendation.

ABD applicants should also include a graduate school transcript.

Not sure you meet all qualifications? Let us decide! Research shows that women and members of other under-represented groups tend to not apply to jobs when they think they may not meet every qualification, when in fact, they often do. Wellesley is dedicated to the goal of building a diverse and inclusive academic community through teaching, research, and service. Familiarity with and experience using pedagogical methods that enable students across racial, ethnic, and socio-economic groups to reach their maximum potential is a valuable qualification. Where applicable, candidates should include (as relevant) how diversity, inclusion, and equity connect to their teaching, scholarship, and service.

All materials should be submitted online by visiting our application website at <https://shorturl.at/hDE13>. We will begin reviewing applications on September 15, 2023, and will continue accepting applications after that date. If circumstances do not allow you to submit materials through our on-line application system, please email us at working@wellesley.edu. Wellesley College is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer.

Specific inquiries should be addressed to Prof. Tom Burke, chair of the search committee, at tburke@wellesley.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 9/15/2023

Date Posted: 6/2/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12002

California State University, Bakersfield

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

The Department of Political Science at California State University, Bakersfield invites candidates to apply for a Tenure-Track faculty position in American Politics with a focus on Environmental Politics, Sustainability and Justice. Among the topics of interest that should be focused on are: climate change, global warming, and energy politics, agricultural and industrial environmental pollution, water politics and policy, homelessness, migration – locally and across various regions of the country and world, and America's global environmental footprint – with special attention to people from marginalized communities.

The Political Science Department is small but thriving – it is home to a robust Pre-Law Program, and a Model United Nations Program among others. The Department's student demographics are 70% women, and a substantial percentage of First-Generation students, and recently Forbes Magazine ranked CSUB 18th as Top Performer on social mobility. Furthermore, CSUB is a great location for anyone who is interested in studying what politics and policy looks like at the intersection of ethnorace, class, and an ongoing climate crisis. CSUB is located in Kern County which is over 60% Latinx and considered both an agricultural and oil and gas hub. The Central Valley is also the second-most pumped aquifer system in the U.S. We are located one hour and thirty minutes north of the Hollywood Bowl. One hour and 20 minutes from the Central California Coastal Wine Country, and one hour and 40 minutes to the state's central coast. Kern County is where more than 250 different crops are grown and where approximately 75% of California's irrigated land is located. A scholar professor would not only be able to conduct vital research for and about the region on the topics of water and agriculture but Kern county is also known for its involvement with oil and gas making CSUB a fruitful location to also study energy policy.

As a department, we are looking for a qualified and committed candidate with a PhD (ABDs may be also considered) in American Politics with an emphasis in Environmental Politics, Sustainability and Justice (Public Policy, Political Economy, Policy and Politics are encouraged to apply) who can develop and teach courses that are reflective of our community, issues, the state of California, and the US public policy making process. Additionally, candidates for the position would be expected to teach the department's Core Courses, Research Methods, and Introduction to American Government among others.

Required Qualifications:

- Earned a Ph.D. (ABD with degree completed before start date) in Political Science, from an accredited doctoral-granting institution.
- Demonstrated commitment to teaching undergraduates from diverse socioeconomic, cultural, and academic backgrounds, including first-generation students.
- Teaching experience using a variety of teaching modalities (in person, synchronous, asynchronous).
- Possess a commitment to promote equity and inclusion through teaching, research, and service at CSUB.

- Evidence of Scholarship/Research

Minimum Qualifications:

- Evidence of effective teaching.
- Possible Course Proposals
- Evidence of potential to conduct independent research in the area of expertise as well as mentor undergraduate students in research.

Preferred Qualifications:

- Experience with academic advising and student mentorship (if applicable).

To be considered, complete application materials must include:

- Cover Letter
- Current Curriculum Vitae
- Statement of Teaching Philosophy
- Research Statement
- Statement of contribution to diversity, equity and inclusion. Please include information on how you currently or will potentially promote diversity, equity and inclusion through teaching, research and service at CSU Bakersfield.
- Copy of university transcripts verifying academic record and award of doctorate (or anticipated date of award)
- List of three (3) references with contact information

Interviews will be conducted at the annual APSA meeting in Los Angeles, CA. Contact Dr. Ivy AM Cargile if you would like to schedule an appointment.

All applications materials should be sent electronically as one PDF in the order listed above to Ms. Christina Ochoa, department Administrative Assistant: cochoa@csub.edu.

Background Check: A background check (including a criminal records check) must be completed satisfactorily before any candidate can be offered a position with the CSU. Failure to satisfactorily complete the background check may affect the application status of applicants or continued employment of current CSU employees who apply for the position.

For any questions please contact: Dr. Ivy AM Cargile (icargile@csub.edu) or Dr. Jeanine Kraybill (jkraybill@csub.edu).

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 9/15/2023

Date Posted: 5/24/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 11984

Johns Hopkins University

Rank: Adjunct Faculty: Intelligence Analysis

Subfield(s): International Relations, American Government and Politics, Other

Specializations: Intelligence, Defense, International Security

Johns Hopkins University: Zanvyl Krieger School of Arts and Sciences: Advanced Academic Programs

Location:

Washington, DC or Online (Remote)

Open Date:

Feb 01, 2023

POSITION:

Adjunct Faculty, Intelligence Analysis
Krieger School of Arts and Sciences
Advanced Academic Programs

INSTITUTION:

Johns Hopkins University

Institution Description:

The Advanced Academic Programs (AAP) is a division of the Krieger School of Arts and Sciences at the Johns Hopkins University (JHU). As the nation's oldest and one of the most prestigious research universities, Johns Hopkins offers high-quality master's degrees and post-baccalaureate education to students in the mid-Atlantic region and online. In addition to the online programs, AAP also offers master's degrees and graduate certificate programs at its Washington, DC Center and at the Homewood campus in Baltimore, MD. AAP has approximately 18,000 enrollments each academic year. JHU is committed to hiring candidates who, through their teaching and service, will contribute to the diversity and excellence of the academic community.

Position Description:

The Advanced Academic Programs (AAP) division seeks non-tenure track adjunct faculty to teach several courses within the MS in Intelligence Analysis program. The course(s) will be taught fully online beginning in Summer 2023 and beyond. Candidates with online course development and teaching experience and those with experience teaching and engaging students from diverse backgrounds are of particular interest. We are looking for faculty who can teach one or more of the following courses:

473.600 the Art and Practice of Intelligence

This course introduces students to the field of intelligence, particularly as practiced in the United States. After a brief overview of the historical foundations of modern intelligence, it discusses how intelligence is conducted including collection, analysis, counterintelligence, covert action, and oversight. It also discusses intelligence ethics, as well as the disruptive influences of September 11, new technologies, and emerging social trends.

473.602 Intelligence Analysis

Intelligence analysis is fundamentally about understanding and communicating to decision makers what is known, not known, and surmised, as it can best be determined. Students will read seminal texts on intelligence analysis, discuss the complex cognitive, psychological, organizational, ethical, and legal issues surrounding intelligence analysis now and, in the past, and apply analytic methodologies to real-world problems.

473.604 Advanced Critical Thinking and Analysis

Critical thinking involves the methods and principles of correct reasoning and argumentation. Students will apply a combination of logic, critical thinking skills, and structured analytical techniques to identify biases, promote self-reflective reasoning, and improve the quality of intelligence analysis. Using a selection of empirical case studies and operational exemplars, students will conduct a comparative assessment of analytical outcomes based on the application of course learnings versus outcomes derived in their absence.

473.607 Intelligence Ethics

This course will address the ethical dilemmas and issues that challenge intelligence and government decision makers in an increasingly complex operational and technological environment. We will examine basic moral, ethical and privacy considerations at several key points in intelligence operations from collection to covert action. The course will analyze the evolving nature of privacy concerns worldwide, with an emphasis on the balance between individual rights and national security. Students will examine the policy implications inherent in seeking to address these tensions.

473.606 Legal Issues in Intelligence

This class will examine the interplay between the laws and the practices and policies of the United States' Intelligence Community and national security system, both foreign and domestic. While discussion of the history of intelligence activities and laws dating from the origins of our colonial days will necessarily shape the framework of the class, the focus shall particularly be on current debates and challenges faced by the United States in the 21st Century.

473.800 Research Seminar

This course will introduce a variety of research, analytical, and statistical methods intended to provide a basis for designing a research project, including an introduction to quantitative, qualitative, and mixed method research design. Within the context of the course, students will complete foundational work for the capstone project, including identifying and accessing relevant primary and secondary source data, surveying and evaluating the literature, and framing a research question based on the intersection of empirical studies and organizational needs. Attention will be given to the unique restrictions placed on research design and publication within the intelligence community.

473.801 Capstone: Current Issues in Intelligence

In this culminating course, students complete an independent, faculty-approved project that will address a substantive or methodological challenge in intelligence analysis. A successful capstone will include research that provides evidence of the student's mastery of the theoretical knowledge and analytical skills central to the degree's learning outcomes. The capstone provides an opportunity to apply the skills acquired throughout the program to a key challenge facing their organization or community. Students will conduct a literature review, select a research method appropriate to their study, analyze data using qualitative or quantitative methods in their capstone project, and propose and defend their findings.

Minimum Qualifications:

- An advanced degree in any relevant field, with a master's degree at minimum.
- At least five years of professional work experience within the intelligence field.

Preferred Qualifications:

- A terminal degree in international relations, global security studies, political science, history, or in a relevant field related to intelligence.
- A scholar-practitioner background and publications in the field.
- 1-3 years of graduate level teaching experience.
- Leadership experience within the US Intelligence Community.
- Online teaching experience.
- Experience in developing graduate courses.
- The background to teach a wide variety of courses in an intelligence analysis program.
- Strong interest in advising graduate students interested in an intelligence career.

Application Instructions

The position will remain open until filled. For best consideration, please apply by April 1 2023.

Candidates must submit the following:

- Cover letter should indicate the course or courses you're interested in teaching plus your experience with online learning management systems (i.e., Canvas)
- Curriculum vitae
- Teaching evaluations for two most recently taught courses
- Transcript from highest degree earned
- The selected candidate will undergo a background check and provide three references.

APPLY HERE: <https://apply.interfolio.com/120762>

Start Date: Summer 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 2/1/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 11649

Yale University

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellowships with the Leitner Program on Effective Democratic Governance at Yale, 2023-24

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Law, Public Policy

Specializations: Economic Policy, Political Economy, Regulatory Policy

Postdoctoral Fellowships with the Leitner Program on Effective Democratic Governance at Yale, 2023-24

Yale University's Leitner Program on Effective Democratic Governance housed at the Jackson School of Global Affairs is seeking applications for a Postdoctoral Associate with strong training in political economy and quantitative methods. We are interested in candidates who study the effects of regime type, electoral systems, and the rule of law on the economy with particular attention to economic growth, regulation, social protection, and the performance of financial markets." The Postdoctoral Associate will work with a Yale group led by Professor Ian Shapiro.

This is a full-time position. The Postdoctoral Associate will spend fifty percent of their time working collaboratively on this project and the other fifty percent pursuing their own research.

The appointment period will run for twelve months, starting in July 2023. Fellows will be expected to be in full-time residence at Yale for the duration of their appointment.

Applicants should submit a cover letter, CV, one page description of research plans, and two letters of recommendation. All information from the applicant should be submitted electronically through Interfolio at <http://apply.interfolio.com/118479>.

Compensation includes a salary of $65,000 for the duration of the appointment, health insurance, and other benefits afforded to postdoctoral associates at Yale. For more information see <https://your.yale.edu/enroll#pda>.

Review of applications will begin on December 15, 2022 and will continue until the position is filled.

For questions concerning this search, please contact larisa.satara@yale.edu

Start Date: Summer 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 12/8/2022

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 11487

Ramapo College of New Jersey

Rank: Assistant or Associate Professor of Political Science & Public Policy - 10 month - Tenure Track

Job Details

Title:

Assistant or Associate Professor of Political Science & Public Policy - 10 month - Tenure Track

Position Number:

641050

Position Type:

Faculty Tenure Track - 10 Month

Department:

SHGS

Posted Date:

10/06/2022

Position Type and Expected Hours of Work:

Full-time tenure-track - Starting August 30, 2023

Job Summary/Description:

RAMAPO COLLEGE OF NEW JERSEY:

Mission: Ramapo College of New Jersey is New Jersey's Public Liberal Arts College, dedicated to providing students with a strong foundation for a lifetime of achievement. The College is committed to academic excellence through interdisciplinary and experiential learning and international and intercultural understanding. Ramapo College emphasizes teaching and individual attention to all students. We promote diversity, inclusiveness, sustainability, student engagement, and community involvement.

Established in 1969, Ramapo College offers bachelor's degrees in the arts, business, humanities, social sciences, and the sciences, as well as in professional studies, which include business, elementary education, nursing, and social work. The College also offers articulated programs, including dental, optometry, chiropractic, and health professions, as well as visual arts therapy and law, with colleges and institutions in New Jersey and New York.

Undergraduate students may choose to concentrate their studies in one of five schools with over 500 course offerings and more than 40 academic programs. Ramapo College boasts an average student/faculty ratio of 15:1 and an average class size of 21, which allows students to develop close ties to the College's exceptional faculty

The School of Humanities and Global Studies aims to create a holistic educational experience that enables our students to become literate, intentional, and empowered global citizens who are prepared, not only in specific recognized fields but also in interdisciplinary dialogue. Through our varied offerings (in Anthropology, American Studies, Foreign Languages, History, International Studies, Literature, Political Science, Liberal Studies, and Philosophy), we seek to enhance students' understanding and appreciation of the complex cultural, political, and imaginative dimensions of human existence.

Our teaching, service, and scholarly or creative achievement combine to help our students develop their powers of reasoning, speaking, writing, and creativity, thus equipping them for the challenges of contemporary life. The School's faculty members are dedicated to teaching and scholarship, have traveled extensively and studied abroad, and have backgrounds in foreign languages, humanities, and social sciences.

EEO STATEMENT:

Ramapo College is an Affirmative Action/Equal Employment Opportunity Employer. Ramapo has a long history of advocating, advising, and supporting diversity, equity, and inclusiveness. Examples can be found in its mission statement, strategic plans, degree and course offerings, community outreach programs, and diversity programs. Ramapo's commitment to diversity and inclusion is infused across all facets of the College; where the environment is welcoming, dedicated to social justice, respectful of freedom of expression, focused on educating and having an ongoing conversation regarding cultural competence and the benefits and importance of diversity.

JOB SUMMARY:

Ramapo College of New Jersey invites applications for one assistant Professor or Associate Professor (tenure-track) position in Political Science and Public Policy. Primary teaching responsibilities include public policy courses in the Political Science program and in the Public Policy minor. Areas of policy research and methodology are open. Rank will depend on experience. The appointment will begin on August 30, 2023, subject to administrative and budgetary approval. Successful applicants must show commitment to teaching, the potential for success in scholarly achievement and productivity, commitment to service to the institution and community, and the ability to develop a public policy curriculum. The candidate must have a strong background in their discipline, as evidenced by publications, presentations, professional experience, external funding record, and/or their work as a Ph.D. candidate. Applicants whose work demonstrates a commitment to diversity and inclusion in higher education are particularly encouraged to apply.

Duties/Responsibilities:

Duties/Responsibilities:

Primary teaching responsibilities include six (6) courses per academic year within the Political Science major and Public Policy minor. Develop courses and curriculum in public policy. Develop policy-related student internships and co-curricular activities. Demonstrate excellence in teaching and advising, professional and scholarly achievements, and a commitment to service to the institution and community. Perform other duties as assigned.

Education/Experience:

Candidates must have earned a Ph.D. in Political Science or Public Policy by August 30, 2023, and must demonstrate the potential to be an excellent teacher, mentor, curriculum developer, and researcher in Political Science and Public Policy.

Application Process:

Applications will begin to be reviewed starting October 24, 2022. Apply through <https://www.ramapojobs.com/>. Inquiries may be directed to Professor Michael Unger, Search Committee Chair, School of Humanities & Global Studies (unger@ramapo.edu). To request accommodations, call (201) 684 - 7732. For more information about the Political Science program (major and minor) and the Public Policy minor at Ramapo College, please visit our webpage: <https://www.ramapo.edu/majors - minors/majors/political - science/> and <https://www.ramapo.edu/majors - minors/majors/public - policy>.

Application Materials :

Cover letter
CV
Statement of teaching philosophy
Experience with curriculum development
One sample of research/scholarship
List of three references
Start Date: Fall 2023
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/7/2022
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 11128

Bloomsburg University

Rank: Political Science Temporary Pool-Intro to and U.S. Government

Position Description

The Department of Political Science at Bloomsburg University of Pennsylvania seeks qualified candidates for temporary teaching positions (full-time one semester, part-time one semester or part-time academic year) as needs arise. A successful applicant must be able to teach POLISCI 101: Elements of Political Science and POLISCI 120: U.S. Government. A description of these courses can be found in the most current Academic Catalog at Bloomsburg University <https://archive.bloomu.edu/catalog->

Qualifying Education/Experience

Applicants must possess a Master's Degree in Political Science or related field (Public Administration, Public Policy) from a regionally accredited institution. A Ph.D. in Political Science or related field is preferred as is specialization in the disciplinary subfield of American Politics. Applicants should also possess a demonstrated ability to work with diverse populations. Previous college teaching experience is preferred.

Supplemental Information

A complete application includes a cover letter addressing requirements and preferences for the position, a current CV, teaching evaluations (if available), a statement of philosophy of education, and 3 letters of recommendation. Submit application materials online at www.bloomu.edu/jobs Applications to this temporary pool will be accepted through April 30, 2024 (to reflect three-year life cycle of pool). Questions may be directed to Search & Screen Committee Chair, Dr. Neil Strine, hstrin2@bloomu.edu

Finalist(s) for these positions must communicate well and successfully complete an interview process and/or teaching demonstration as judged by the department faculty. Recommendation for hiring is needed from a majority of the regular, full-time department faculty.

Prior to a final offer of employment, the selected candidate will be required to submit to a background check including, but not limited to, employment verification, educational and other credential verification, Pennsylvania Child Abuse History Clearance and criminal background.

Completing this search is contingent upon enrollment and available funding.

The University prohibits any form of discrimination or harassment on the basis of sex, race, color, age, religion, national or ethnic origin, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, pregnancy, marital or family status, medical condition, genetic information, veteran status, or disability in any decision regarding admissions, employment, or participation in a University program or activity in accordance with the letter and spirit of federal, state, and local non-discrimination and equal opportunity laws, such as Titles VI and VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972, the Age Discrimination in Employment Act, the Americans with Disabilities Act and ADA Amendments Act, the Equal Pay Act, and the Pennsylvania Human Relations Act. The University also complies with the Jeanne Clery Disclosure of Campus Security Policy and Campus Crimes Statistics Act, as amended by the Violence Against Women Act (VAWA). Title IX prohibits retaliation for asserting or otherwise participating in claims of sex discrimination. VAWA imposes additional duties on universities and colleges to investigate and respond to reports of sexual assault, stalking, and dating or domestic violence, and to publish policies and procedures related to the way these reports are handled. The University has designated the Title IX Coordinator (Jennifer Raup, Elwell Hall, ORL, 570-389-4808, jraup@bloomu.edu or titleixcoord@bloomu.edu), to coordinate the University's compliance with Title IX and VAWA and to respond to reports of violations. The University has directed the Bloomsburg University Police Department to coordinate the University's compliance with the VAWA-related Clery reporting requirements. Additionally, inquiries concerning Title IX and its implementing regulation can be made to the U.S. Department of Education, Office of Civil Rights, Region III, The Wanamaker Building, 100 Penn Square East - Suite 505, Philadelphia, PA 19107; Phone: (215) 656-6010; Fax: (215) 656-6020.

Start Date: Spring 2021

Application Deadline: 4/30/2024
Date Posted: 4/30/2021
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 8844

COMPARATIVE POLITICS

Princeton University

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Associate/2024-2025 CSDP Fellow

Postdoctoral Research Associate/2024-2025 CSDP Fellow

Princeton University's Center for the Study of Democratic Politics (CSDP) seeks post-doctoral or more senior research associates for ten-month positions anticipated to start on September 1, 2024. The Center supports empirical research on democratic political processes and institutions. PhD required.

Each research associate will pursue research and contribute to the intellectual life of the Center, the Princeton School of Public and International Affairs, and the Department of Politics. CSDP scholars are expected to participate in the weekly CSDP seminars and related weekly research seminars in the Department of Politics, as well as occasional lectures, conferences, and other events.

Successful candidates will receive a competitive salary and applicable Princeton University benefits in accordance with university guidelines, a taxable moving allowance, and a research allowance. Selected candidates will be required to be in residence in Princeton or the local vicinity, or demonstrate to the program's satisfaction the ability to be on campus on a daily basis and on short notice in order to fulfill responsibilities relating to in-person participation for the duration of the fellowship (September 1, 2024 - July 1, 2025).

Applicants must apply online and submit a CV, a 3-5 page (double-spaced) statement of research interest/research proposal, a writing sample, and the names of two (and not more than two) references. A cover letter is optional. Applicants for this 2024-2025 postdoctoral research associate position must apply to <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/31461>. The deadline for receipt of complete applications is Friday, December 1, 2023, at 11:59 p.m. EST. Referees will be contacted directly by email with instructions for submitting a confidential recommendation on your behalf. Letters of reference are to be submitted by the end of the business day on Wednesday, December 6, 2023. Complete your application well before the deadline so that references can be submitted in a timely manner. This position is subject to the University's background check policy.

We at the School of Public and International Affairs believe that it is vital to cultivate an environment that embraces and promotes diversity, equity, and inclusion, which are fundamental to the success of our education and research mission. This commitment to diversity informs our efforts in recruitment and hiring as we actively seek colleagues of exceptional ability who represent a broad range of viewpoints, experiences, and value systems, and who share Princeton University's dedication to excellence.

Princeton University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to age, race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law. EEO IS THE LAW

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 12/1/2023
Date Posted: 9/27/2023
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 12618

Princeton University

Rank: Visiting Research Scholar/2024-2025 CSDP Fellow

Princeton University's Center for the Study of Democratic Politics (CSDP) seeks visiting scholars for the 2024-2025 academic year. The Center supports empirical research on democratic political processes and institutions. Applications are welcome from political scientists and scholars in related social science disciplines. CSDP visiting scholar positions are restricted to employed scholars on leave who are expected to return to their positions.

Each scholar will pursue research and contribute to the intellectual life of the Center, the Department of Politics, and the Princeton School of Public and International Affairs. CSDP scholars are expected to participate in the weekly CSDP seminars and related weekly research seminars in the Department of Politics, as well as occasional lectures, conferences, and other events.

Visiting scholars from academic institutions often receive up to one-half of their academic-year salaries from their home institutions for the appointment period. The amount that Princeton contributes to the scholar's salary is based on the financial support provided by their home institution. Selected candidates will be asked to indicate, or provide written authorization for Princeton to confirm, what percentage of financial support their home institution and other sources are likely to provide during their visit, if any, and to submit a confidential statement indicating salary for the current academic year (September 1, 2023 - July 1, 2024) or provide written authorization for Princeton to confirm their salary. Successful candidates will also receive applicable benefits, one trip to and from Princeton, and a research allowance.

Selected candidates will be required to be in residence in Princeton or the local vicinity or demonstrate to the program's satisfaction the ability to be on campus on a daily basis and on short notice in order to fulfill responsibilities relating to in-person participation for the duration of the fellowship (September 1, 2024 - July 1, 2025).

Verification of employment will be requested prior to approval by the Dean of the Faculty. PhD or equivalent doctoral degree required.

Applicants for this Visiting Research Scholar position for 2024-2025 must apply online at <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/31925> and submit a CV, a 3-5 page (double-spaced) statement of research interest/research proposal, a writing sample, and a statement of the home institution's leave policy. A cover letter is optional.

The deadline for receipt of complete applications is Tuesday, December 1, 2023, at 11:59 p.m. EST.

Start Date: Fall 2024
Application Deadline: 12/1/2023
Date Posted: 9/27/2023
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 12617

Stanford University

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellowship on Contemporary Japan 2024-2025

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Public Policy

Stanford University: 2024-2025 Postdoctoral Fellowship on Contemporary Japan

The Japan Program at Stanford University's Walter H. Shorenstein Asia-Pacific Research Center is pleased to announce its search for a 2024-2025 Japan Program Postdoctoral Fellow on contemporary Japan. The award will be made to one junior scholar (recent PhDs must have degree conferral and approval by June 30, 2024) for research and writing on Japan.

The primary focus of the fellowship is multidisciplinary research including, but not limited to the areas of political science, economics, sociology, law, policy studies, and international relations of Japan. The postdoctoral fellowship is a 10-month appointment with a salary rate commensurate with Stanford policy, plus up to $3,000 for research expenses. Appointments will begin in the fall quarter of the 2024-2025 academic year.

Applications will be accepted until December 1, 2023.

For additional information and to apply, visit:
<https://aparc.fsi.stanford.edu/education/fellowship-and-training-opportunities/postdoctoral-fellowship-contemporary-japan>

About the Japan Program:

The Japan Program at Stanford's Shorenstein Asia-Pacific Research Center cultivates multidisciplinary research and education on contemporary Japanese affairs. Through collaboration with experts from academia, government, business, and civil society, we engage in policy-relevant dialogue and scholarship to promote a comprehensive understanding of the internal and external political, economic, and social factors that influence the progress and development of Japan and its role within the Asia-Pacific region and on the world's stage.

Start Date: Fall 2024
Application Deadline: 12/1/2023
Date Posted: 9/27/2023
Salary: $60,000 - $69,999
eJobs ID: 12614

Northwestern University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Comparative Politics

The Department of Political Science at Northwestern University seeks applications for a full-time, tenure-track Assistant Professor working in the field of Comparative Politics to begin on September 1, 2024. The search is open with respect to substantive, methodological, and regional specialization within the field of Comparative Politics. We seek an excellent scholar who employs theory and methodology in the effort to generate new and important empirical findings about substantively interesting questions, and whose teaching and mentorship inspire the next generation of scholars of Comparative Politics.

The successful candidate will teach a combination of graduate and undergraduate courses, as well as participate in activities and service in the Department and University. Ph.D. or equivalent terminal degree is required; however, ABD applicants who anticipate completion of the doctorate by Fall 2024 will be considered. The candidate will have the opportunity to collaborate with the Weinberg College Center for International and Area Studies, the Buffett Institute for Global Affairs, the Global Poverty Research Lab, and regional clusters including African Studies, Latin America and Caribbean Studies, and the Middle East and North Africa program, among others. The Department is particularly interested in recruiting scholars who will contribute to the Department's goal of diversifying and increasing external funding for research in line with the Comparative Politics subfield's strong record of current funding (e.g., NSF, Departments of State and Defense, and Folke Bernadotte Academy). In addition, the Department is interested in candidates who can contribute to ongoing efforts of colleagues to build institutional links for the study of Comparative Politics (current collaborations include Universidad de los Andes, Kyiv School of Economics, US Air Force Academy, and Peace Research Institute Oslo).

Applications should include a cover letter, current CV, two writing samples, research statement, teaching statement, evidence of teaching effectiveness, diversity statement, and three letters of recommendation. The two writing samples should include a portion of the candidate's doctoral dissertation and optionally one additional paper or article.

Review will begin immediately. All applications received by October 27th will be given priority.

You may apply here: https://facultyrecruiting.northwestern.edu/apply/MTkxOA==" target="_blankhttps://facultyrecruiting.northwestern.edu/apply/MTkxOA==

For inquiries about the job advertisement or application, please reach out to Stephen Monteiro, Business Administrator in the Department of Political Science, by email: <mailto:stephen.monteiro@northwestern.edu>" target="_blankstephen.monteiro@northwestern.edu

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 10/27/2023

Date Posted: 9/26/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12616

Stanford

Rank: CDDRL Pre & Postdoctoral Fellowship

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, American Government and Politics

Stanford University Center on Democracy, Development, and the Rule of Law welcomes applications from pre-doctoral students at the write-up stage and from post-doctoral scholars working in any of the four program areas of democracy, development, evaluating the efficacy of democracy promotion, and rule of law.

Pre-doctoral fellows must be enrolled currently in a doctoral program or equivalent through the time of intended residency at Stanford and must be at the dissertation write-up (post course work) phase of their doctoral program. Post-doctoral fellows must have earned their Ph.D. within 3 years of the start of the fellowship, or plan to have successfully defended their Ph.D. dissertations by July 31, 2024.

In addition to our regular call for applications, CDDRL invites applications for the Gerhard Casper Fellow in Rule of Law for 2024-25.

We welcome research on any aspect of rule of law, including judicial politics, criminal justice, and the politicization of judicial institutions. We are an interdisciplinary center; candidates from any relevant field (i.e. the social sciences, law) are welcome to apply. The Gerhard Casper Fellow will be part of CDDRL's larger cohort of pre- and postdoctoral fellows. Please apply through the CDDRL fellowship application process and indicate that you would like to be considered for the Gerhard Casper Rule of Law Fellowship.

The application cycle for the 2024-2025 academic year will be open from Monday, September 25, 2023, through Friday, December 15, 2023. Applicants can apply online at https://webportalapp.com/sp/stanford_cddrl_fellowship.

More information on the application and the guidelines to apply can be found at our website at <https://cddrl.fsi.stanford.edu/cddrl-pre-doctoral-and-postdoctoral-fellowships>.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 12/15/2023

Date Posted: 9/25/2023

Salary: $70,000 - $79,999

eJobs ID: 12587

Duke Kunshan University

Rank: Faculty Position in Political Economy

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Public Policy

Duke Kunshan University invites applications for a visiting assistant professor in political economy, with a focus on Chinese politics. The successful candidate will contribute to DKU's political economy major and may also teach in our team-taught common core course, China in the world. Candidates who have the ability to teach cross-cultural leadership are encouraged to apply. The successful candidate will obtain a contract of between two and three years. As part of this appointment, in year two of the appointment, candidates have the option to complete a non-credit bearing certificate in "Innovative Curriculum Design and Pedagogy" offered by DKU's Center for Teaching and Learning.

In order to meet Chinese visa requirements, prior to the position start date international (non-Chinese) candidates must have worked full-time (work experience obtained while studying full-time is not considered as full-time work experience) for at least two years in a relevant area (including post-doctoral work) after receiving their Bachelor's degree, or begin their appointment at DKU within 12 months of obtaining their master's degree/Ph.D. and without having work experience between graduation date on master's degree diploma/Ph.D. diploma and position start date.

DKU is a collaborative partnership of Duke University, Wuhan University and the Municipality of Kunshan, China (<https://dukekunshan.edu.cn/>). Our campus provides an innovative and robustly interdisciplinary undergraduate liberal arts experience to a student body that will number 2000 students and 150+ faculty, with an acceptance rate of <8% and a student body represented by over 60 countries. We also offer a discrete number of Master's level graduate programs. The DKU pedagogical model draws on the best of Duke's educational experience and resources to reimagine undergraduate instruction on an intimate campus setting.

Similar to the best liberal arts colleges in the United States, DKU values dedication to teaching excellence in a liberal arts environment, as well as a strong commitment to successful scholarly engagement and research. This includes research with undergraduate students. As a whole, the Duke Kunshan faculty will have strong commitments to teaching and research, and outstanding quality in both areas will be highly valued.

Candidates must hold a Ph.D. degree or equivalent in a relevant field. Research experience at a postdoctoral level (or greater) and teaching experience are desirable, as is experience working in an interdisciplinary setting. Applicants should provide a cover letter including a clear statement of the candidate's specific interest in DKU, a curriculum vitae, a research statement, a teaching statement, and three reference letters. All materials should be submitted through Academic Jobs Online: <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/25752>. The search committee also invites and encourages letters of nomination for potential candidates. Nominations and questions about the positions may be sent to social-science-search@dukekunshan.edu.cn using the subject "Chinese Political Economy" as the subject line. Priority will be given to applications received by October 27, 2023; we will accept applications until the positions are filled.

The DKU campus is 37 miles west of Shanghai in Kunshan, and is connected to Shanghai via an 18-minute high-speed train and a subway-light rail train system. DKU provides internationally competitive compensation, housing allowance, child education benefits (for applicable faculty positions), and a discretionary fund or start-up package.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/23/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12598

Brown University

Rank: Watson Institute Postdoctoral Fellows Program 2024-2026

Subfield(s): International Relations, Public Policy, Comparative Politics

Postdoctoral Fellow at Watson Institute for International and Public Affairs at Brown University

The Watson Institute for International and Public Affairs at Brown University aspires to promote a just and peaceful world through research, teaching, and public engagement. Central to this mission is the Watson Postdoctoral Fellows Program, an effort to galvanize the careers of young social scientists conducting research related to the Institute's three core thematic areas: development, governance, and security. Participants in this program will join an interdisciplinary community of scholars engaged in theoretically and substantively important research addressing the most pressing global issues of our time. Fellows receive two years of support, with the expectation that they will pursue research and participate fully in the intellectual life of the Institute. Fellows will also teach one course per year in the Institute or in an affiliated Brown University social science department. Watson Institute is especially interested in qualified candidates who can contribute, through their research, teaching, and/or service, to the diversity and excellence of the academic community.

Founded in 1764, Brown is a leading research university distinct for its student-centered learning and deep sense of purpose. Brown University students, faculty, and staff are driven by the idea that their work will have an impact on the world. Brown is a place where rigorous scholarship, complex problem-solving, and service to the public good are defined by collaboration, intellectual discovery, and working in ways that transcend traditional disciplinary boundaries.

The fellowship competition is open to candidates from the social sciences, including anthropology, economics, history, political science, and sociology. The selection process, open with regard to nationality and geographic area of research, is highly competitive and typically generates over 500 applications for 4 or 5 places. Scholars who have received their PhDs within two years of the application deadline are eligible to apply. Individuals who are currently – or have previously been – postdoctoral fellows in other programs are not eligible to apply. Fellows will receive an annual stipend of $75,000, for this benefits-eligible position. Additional funding will be made available for research expenses and research-related programming on campus. Candidates selected for the Postdoctoral Fellows program who have not completed their dissertations by July 1, 2024, will be paid a reduced salary until their dissertation is defended.

To receive full consideration, the following materials should be submitted by October 18, 2023 to the application portal <http://apply.interfolio.com/130655>

- A cover letter stating the applicant's academic field, status of their dissertation, and proposed research to be conducted during their fellowship period. The cover letter should not exceed 2,000 words and should make clear where in the Institute's core areas of security, development, or governance the proposed research best fits. Please also include a statement about teaching in a diverse and inclusive classroom.
- An up-to-date curriculum vitae.
- A copy of each graduate transcript.
- A writing sample.
- Three letters of recommendation from scholars familiar with the applicant's research.

Review of applications will begin on October 18; to receive full consideration applications should be received by that date. Awards will be announced in January 2024.

For further information regarding the Watson Institute Postdoctoral Fellows Program, please visit the Watson Institute website (watson.brown.edu) or contact:

Professor Rose McDermott, Faculty Director of the Watson Postdoctoral Fellows Program, Thomas J. Watson Jr. Institute for International and Public Affairs, Brown University, 111 Thayer Street, Box 1970 Providence, RI 02912. rose_mcdermott@brown.edu. For information about the application process, please email: Watson_Applications@brown.edu

Brown University is situated on the East Side of Providence, on historic College Hill, overlooking downtown Providence. The area around Brown has a friendly, residential vibe, with plentiful housing options, shopping, cafés, and restaurants, all within walking distance of campus. With its low cost of living and historic architecture, the capital city is a vibrant place to live and work that offers a dynamic arts and culture scene, including many music, theater, and art venues. Located in southern New England, the State of Rhode Island features more than 400 miles of coastline and 100 beaches. Beautiful farms, vineyards, orchards, wooded trails, and numerous historic towns cover its 1200 square miles.

As an EEO/AA employer, Brown University provides equal opportunity and prohibits discrimination, harassment and retaliation based upon a person's race, color, religion, sex, age, national or ethnic origin, disability, veteran status, sexual orientation, gender identity, gender expression, or any other characteristic protected under applicable law, and caste, which is protected by our University policies.

Start Date: Summer

Application Deadline: 10/18/2023

Date Posted: 9/22/2023

Salary: $70,000 - $79,999

eJobs ID: 12594

Harvard University

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Public Policy

Specializations: Japan, East Asia, Advanced Industrial Societies

The Program on U.S.-Japan Relations at Harvard University's Weatherhead Center for International Affairs will offer postdoctoral fellowships during the 2024-25 academic year. We seek applications from outstanding recent PhDs in the social sciences who are conducting research that illuminates Japan's relations with the rest of the world in the broadest sense. We welcome applications from anthropology, business, economics, history, international relations, law, political science, psychology, public health, public policy, and sociology, among other fields. Scholars may examine domestic issues that bear on Japan's external relations or problems that it shares with other countries, and we encourage projects that compare Japan's experience cross-nationally.

A knowledge of the Japanese language is not required. Applicants must have received their doctoral degree in 2019 or later, in a discipline bearing on the Program's research areas. Research projects that focus on Japan or Japan's international role from a comparative, historical, or global perspective are welcome. Those who are selected to receive fellowships must have a Registrar-certified PhD degree by July 31, 2024.

The grant includes a stipend of $67,000 (over a 10-month period); health insurance coverage for grantee; and up to $5,000 in research funds. This fellowship is made possible by support from the Edwin O. Reischauer Institute of Japanese Studies.

Please note that the application deadline is December 15, 2023. For more details and application instructions, please see: <https://programs.wcfia.harvard.edu/us-japan/apply-become-postdoctoral-fellow>

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 12/15/2023

Date Posted: 9/22/2023

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 12592

Princeton University

Rank: Post Doctoral Research Associate - Politics

The Mamdouha S. Bobst Center for Peace and Justice at Princeton University, under the auspices of the Department of Politics and in collaboration with the School of Public and International Affairs, invites applications for postdoctoral or more senior research positions for the 2024-25 year. The aim of the program is to promote a group of promising scholars in the broad area of comparative politics, with a special but not exclusive focus on empirical democratic theory and comparative institutions. This position is overseen by Professor Carles Boix, Robert Garrett Professor of Politics and Public Affairs.

Applications are welcome from scholars who have or expect to have a Ph.D. in the fields of political science, history, political sociology, and economics. Selected candidates will be required to be in residence for the duration of the appointment (anticipated to be September 1, 2024, through August 31, 2025).

For full consideration, apply by December 10, 2023, 11:59 p.m. EST.

Interested applicants must apply online at <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/32162> submit a CV, cover letter, writing sample, transcript and the names and contact information of three references. The cover letter should describe how applicants might engage in collaborative research projects with Princeton politics faculty members.

Successful applicants will be provided a competitive salary, standard benefits, and an annual allowance to support conference and career development travel. Successful applicants will be notified of the outcome of their application in January 2024.

For more information about the Comparative Politics Postdoctoral Program at the Mamdouha S. Bobst Center for Peace and Justice, please contact Michelle Anderson, Program Manager at mcanders@princeton.edu.

These positions are subject to the University's background check policy.

Req Num: D-24-POL-00008

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/22/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12593

Washington State University

Rank: Assistant Professor

Specializations: Conflict Processes, Gender Politics & Policy, Political Psychology

Washington State University – Pullman, WA

Assistant Professor, Global Politics – Tenure Track

School of Politics, Philosophy and Public Affairs

NOTICE OF VACANCY

Position Summary:

The School of Politics, Philosophy and Public Affairs at Washington State University invites applications for a permanent, full-time, nine-month, tenure-track Assistant Professor position in Pullman, WA, with a specialty in Global Politics (including comparative politics or international relations). We seek applicants whose research focuses on democracy/autocracy (such as backsliding, liberal world order, revanchist policies) or conflict processes (broadly interpreted). Specifically, we are especially interested in those who address these topics through a lens of gender or political psychology and those who focus on the inequitable impacts of such global processes.

It is anticipated that the successful candidate will begin the appointment on August 16, 2024.

Job duties:

The workload of this position is 40% teaching, 40% research and 20% service.

- Teaching two courses each semester in the areas of international relations or comparative politics
- Mentoring of graduate students in the political science M.A. and Ph.D. programs
- Conducting original research, which will be reflected in annual refereed publications and scholarly conference presentations
- Serving on school, college, and university committees and participating in the shared governance of the School of Politics, Philosophy and Public Affairs

Required Qualifications:

- Completed Ph.D. in political science or related discipline by time of appointment.
- Demonstrated record of or potential for research in international relations and/or comparative politics that addresses democracy/autocracy (such as backsliding, liberal world order, or revanchist policies) or conflict processes and uses psychological or gender-based approaches to the study of global politics to focus on the inequitable impacts of such global processes.
- Proven record of or potential for successful teaching and instruction in international relations and/or comparative politics
- Proven record of or potential for successful mentoring of graduate students in international relations and/or comparative politics
- Demonstrated record of or potential for commitment to inclusion, diversity, equity, and access efforts
- Potential for or demonstrated ability to teach research methods at the graduate level

Salary/Benefits: $74,000-79,000 per nine-month academic year

In accordance with RCW 49.58.110, the above salary reflects the full salary range for this position. Individual placement within the range is based on the candidate's current experience, education, skills, and abilities related to the position or as mandated by a U.S. Department of Labor prevailing wage determination. WSU offers a comprehensive benefits package which includes paid sick and vacation leave; paid holidays; medical, dental, life and disability insurance package for employees and dependents; retirement; deferred compensation and optional supplemental retirement accounts. For additional information, please review the detailed Summary of Benefits offered by WSU for Faculty and Total Compensation.

Posting Close Date: Applicants must submit their completed application by Monday, October 23, 2023 at 11:59 p.m.

Background Check: This position has been designated by the department to require a background check because it requires access to children or vulnerable adults as defined by RCW 74.34, engages in law enforcement, requires security clearance, interacts with WSU students in a counseling or advising capacity, has access to personal identifying and/or financial information, unsupervised access to university buildings/property, or other business-related need. A background check will not be completed until an initial determination of qualification for employment has been made.

Application Instructions: Use R-10359 at <https://hrs.wsu.edu/jobs/> to find the job listing. Applicants must upload the following required documents to their online application. External candidates, please upload all documents in the "Resume/CV" section of your application. Internal candidates, please upload all documents in the "Resume/Cover Letter" section of your application. Documents may be submitted in one file or separate files. Applicants are encouraged to upload as a PDF if possible. Applicants will be requested to provide contact information for professional references within the online application. Application materials should clearly communicate how the applicant meets all required qualifications and additional requirements.

Inquiries should be directed to the search committee chair, Michael Salamone (michael.salamone@wsu.edu).

Required documents:

- A cover letter addressing qualifications for this position.
- Curriculum vitae
- Teaching statement that describes your teaching experience and philosophy, which may incorporate experience from formal or informal teaching and mentoring opportunities, and/or teaching evaluations
- Research/Scholarship/Creative Activity statement that outlines your scholarly work and includes your future plans.
- A sample of scholarly writing from the past 3 years (for example, dissertation chapter, working paper, or publication)
- Contributions to Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion statement that includes your demonstrated and or potential for contributions to diversity, equity, and inclusion efforts through scholarship/research, and/or teaching/mentoring, and/or service/engagement. There may be some overlap with your research and teaching statements.
- Names, addresses, and contact information of at least three references who can address your history of and potential for excellence in research, teaching, and service. References should send letters of recommendation to pppa.facultysearch@wsu.edu by the application deadline.

About WSU, Pullman, CAS, and School of Politics, Philosophy and Public Affairs: Washington State University is a land grant, multiple-campus Research 1 institution. This position will serve on the Pullman campus, which has an enrollment of around 20,000 students and is located in Southeastern Washington on the homelands of the Nimiipuu (Nez Perce) Tribe and Palus people. Located 80 miles south of metropolitan Spokane, Pullman is also a quick drive away from the scenic Idaho panhandle and Moscow Mountain. The rolling hills of the Palouse offer a wide range of activities and a true four-season climate. The area provides ample opportunity to enjoy the cultural and academic hub of both Washington State University and the University of Idaho, in the neighboring town of Moscow, Idaho. For more information about the region, please see <https://pullmanchamber.com>.

Encompassing more than 30 departments, schools, and research institutes on five campuses statewide, the College of Arts & Sciences is the heart of WSU. Together our 730+ faculty and staff deliver more than 50% of WSU's total undergraduate and graduate instruction, including the vast majority of WSU's core curriculum. We also drive annual research expenditures of more than $26 million, with wide interdisciplinary strengths in public and community health, environmental change, equity and social justice, and data and technology at the boundaries. As Arts & Sciences begins its 10th anniversary as a unified college, we seek to lead a reimagining of WSU's land-grant mission for the 21st century, expanding the boundaries of creativity and discovery while simultaneously recognizing more completely our obligations to Native and Indigenous peoples. For more about the College of Arts & Sciences at WSU, please see <https://cas.wsu.edu>.

The School of Politics, Philosophy and Public Affairs has approximately 300 undergraduate majors and approximately 30 graduate students across its M.A. and Ph D. programs in Political Science. Detailed information about faculty and programs in the School appears at <https://pppa.wsu.edu>. For more information on the College of Arts and Sciences at Washington State University, see <https://cas.wsu.edu/>.

WSU acknowledges that its locations statewide are on the homelands of Native American peoples, who have lived in this region and have been caretakers of the land from time immemorial. The Morrill Act of 1862 established our land-grant institution by providing public and federal lands that are traced back to the disposition of Indigenous lands, often taken by coercive and violent acts, and the disregard of treaties. For that, we extend our deepest apologies. We owe our deepest gratitude to the Native peoples of this region and maintain our commitment towards reconciliation. And as a land-grant institution, WSU is deeply committed to the land-grant mission, its Memorandums of Understanding with Native tribes in the region, and a tradition of service to society. To read the full WSU land acknowledgement, please see <https://wsu.edu/about/ws-land-acknowledgement/>.

Washington State University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Educator and Employer. Members of ethnic minorities, women, special disabled veterans, veterans of the Vietnam-era, recently separated veterans, and other protected veteran, persons of disability and/or persons age 40 and over are encouraged to apply.

WSU is committed to excellence through diversity and faculty-friendly policy action, including partner accommodation and NSF ADVANCE Institutional Transformation programs (<http://www.advance.wsu.edu/>). WSU employs only U.S. citizens and lawfully authorized non-U.S. citizens. All new employees must show employment eligibility verification as required by the U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Services.

WSU is committed to providing access and reasonable accommodation in its services, programs, activities, education and employment for individuals with disabilities. To request disability accommodation in the application process, contact Human Resource Services: 509-335-4521 (v), Washington State TDD Relay Service: Voice Callers: 1-800-833-6384; TDD Callers: 1-800-833-6388, 509-335-1259(f), or hrs@wsu.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 10/23/2023

Date Posted: 9/22/2023

Salary: $70,000 - $79,999

eJobs ID: 12596

College of the Holy Cross

Rank: Visiting Full Time Assistant Professor

Specializations: China, Latin American, Russia

The COLLEGE OF the HOLY CROSS

Department of Political Science

Visiting Full-Time Faculty Positions in Political Science for Spring 2024 and Academic Year 2024-2025

GENERAL INFORMATION

The Department of Political Science at the College of the Holy Cross invites applications for two visiting full-time faculty positions in Political Science to begin in January 2024, and continuing through the academic year 2024-2025 (a total of three semesters). Specific teaching requirements include introductory courses in the subfield of the candidate's specialization, and upper-level courses related to the candidate's preferred subfield, to be determined in consultation with the Chair of Political Science. We are particularly interested in candidates who specialize in Comparative Politics, but will consider candidates with expertise in all subfields. Additional information about departments/programs the position will serve can be found here <https://www.holycross.edu/academics/programs/political-science> and <https://www.holycross.edu/academics/programs/international-studies>.

Visiting full-time faculty teach 3 courses each semester and are eligible for travel support and reimbursement of relocation costs within the College's published policies. All full-time appointments offer competitive salaries and include full benefits.

QUALIFICATIONS

Candidates must demonstrate commitment to, and excellence in, undergraduate teaching as informed by current practice and scholarship in the field.

APPLICATION MATERIALS

Please submit a letter of application, current curriculum vitae, a statement on teaching philosophy and specific teaching interests, transcripts (Ph.D. in Political Science or ABD status in a Political Science graduate program.), and two confidential letters of recommendation.

As a Jesuit, undergraduate liberal arts college, the College values dialogue among people from diverse perspectives as integral to the mission and essential to the excellence of our academic program (see <http://holycross.edu/mission>). In your application, please highlight how your teaching, scholarship, mentorship, and/or service might support the College's mission and its commitment to diversity and inclusion. For more information, please visit <http://holycross.edu/diversity>.

College of the Holy Cross uses Interfolio to collect all faculty job applications electronically. Please submit all application materials to <https://apply.interfolio.com/132720>.

Review of applications will begin immediately and continue until the position has been filled. For full consideration, please apply by October 30, 2023. Questions about this search may be directed to Prof. Maria G. Rodrigues, Chair of the Department of Political Science, and Chair of the Search Committee at mrodrigu@holycross.edu.

COLLEGE OF THE HOLY CROSS

The College of the Holy Cross is a highly selective Catholic liberal arts college in the Jesuit tradition. It enrolls about 3,000 students and is located in a medium-sized city 45 miles west of Boston. The College seeks faculty members whose scholarship, teaching, and on- and off-campus service demonstrate commitment to the educational benefits of a richly diverse community.

Holy Cross aspires to meet the needs of dual-career couples, in part through its membership in the Higher Education Consortium of Central Massachusetts and the New England Higher Education Recruitment Consortium (<http://www.newenglandherc.org>).

EQUAL OPPORTUNITY EMPLOYMENT STATEMENT

The College is an Equal Employment Opportunity Employer and complies with all Federal and Massachusetts laws concerning equal opportunity and affirmative action in the workplace.

Start Date: Spring 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/21/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12576

Yale University

Rank: Associate/Full Professor, International Relations, Comparative Politics and Political Economy

Position Description

The Department of Political Science at Yale University and the Jackson School of Global Affairs are seeking to jointly hire several faculty members at the rank of Associate or Full Professor with tenure with an appointment in the fields of Comparative Politics, Comparative Political Economy, Political Economy, and/or International Relations, beginning July 1, 2024. Faculty are expected to share their teaching and service obligations between both the Political Science Department and the Jackson School of Global Affairs. The teaching expectation is normally 3 courses per academic year.

Qualifications

Ph.D. or equivalent degree required at time of hire.

Application Instructions

All applications must include a cover letter and a CV. All materials should be uploaded to Interfolio at <http://apply.interfolio.com/131556>. Review of applications will begin October 15, 2023 (or 30 days after posting, whichever is later), and to guarantee full consideration your file should be complete by this date.

Please contact Ms. Xaria Callender, Sr. Administrative Assistant for the Political Science Department, at xaria.callender@yale.edu if you have questions about the application process.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 9/21/2024

Date Posted: 9/21/2023

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 12585

Harvard University

Rank: William Lyon Mackenzie King Postdoctoral Fellowship

The Canada Program at Harvard University's Weatherhead Center for International Affairs invites applications for the William Lyon Mackenzie King Postdoctoral Fellowship. This is a two-year position. Two fellows will be appointed for the 2024–2026 academic years—conditional on the approval of the dean of the Faculty of Arts and Sciences and Weatherhead Center associated faculty.

The fellowships are open to scholars in all disciplines who are engaged in Canadian studies broadly defined. Scholars working on comparative US-Canada research may receive preference. To be eligible, applicants must have been awarded the PhD no earlier than July 31, 2019. For candidates who will have completed the PhD within twelve months of the August 1, 2024 start date, verification of completion of the degree will be required prior to the appointment.

The fellowships provide an annual stipend of $68,000, which is supplemented by funding for research and for individual health insurance coverage. A dependent care subsidy of $10,000 per dependent per year is also provided. Fellows are expected to engage with the Canada Program and with the University's wider community. Fellows receive shared office space at the Weatherhead Center for International Affairs, and enjoy full access to the University's library, archival, and computing resources.

TO APPLY: Candidates should submit: a letter of application describing their suitability for the fellowship; a curriculum vitae with a list of publications; a sample of their written work; and three letters of recommendation.

TO SUBMIT: <https://academicpositions.harvard.edu/postings/12456>

DEADLINE:

All application materials must be received no later than Friday, December 1, 2023.

We are an equal opportunity employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, gender identity, sexual orientation, pregnancy and pregnancy-related conditions, or any other characteristic protected by law.

Start Date: Summer

Application Deadline: 12/1/2023

Date Posted: 9/20/2023

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 12560

Marquette University

Rank: Assistant Professor (Tenure Track) - International Political Economy

The Department of Political Science invites applications for a tenure-track position in International Political Economy at the Assistant Professor level beginning in August 2024. An ability to teach courses related to environmental sustainability is especially desirable. Candidates will hold the Ph.D. degree or be near completion, and they will have excellent teaching skills and a demonstrated potential for excellence in research. Marquette is a Jesuit, Catholic university and seeks candidates who will contribute to its mission, a statement of which can be found at <https://www.marquette.edu/about/mission.php>. Candidates who demonstrate success with marginalized and underrepresented students and lived experiences are especially encouraged to apply. Additional information about the university and department can be found at <http://www.marquette.edu>.

Review of applications will begin October 23, 2023 and will continue until the position is filled.

To apply for the position, follow this link: <https://employment.marquette.edu/postings/20284>.

All applications for this position must be received through Marquette University's electronic recruiting system. Please attach 1) a letter of application, 2) a current Curriculum Vitae, 3) a state on teaching philosophy, 4) a writing sample, 5) unofficial graduate level transcripts and 6) names and email addresses of 3 references. After submitting your application, contact the three references and have them send letters of recommendation to

Search Committee
Department of Political Science
Marquette University
PO Box 1881
Milwaukee, WI 53201-1881

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/20/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12559

University of Pennsylvania

Rank: Korean Politics - James Joo-Jin Kim Chair in Korean Politics

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Other

The Political Science Department at the University of Pennsylvania invites applications for an open rank tenure-track faculty position in Korean politics, to hold the inaugural James Joo-Jin Kim named chair. The search is open with regard to specialization in the subfield. Candidates with wide-ranging research agendas on such topics as political economy, public policy, political institutions, political behavior, foreign policy, and gender politics are especially encouraged to apply. Candidates are expected to actively engage in research and teaching related to Korean politics as well as to promote Korean Studies at Penn and beyond.

Political Science is housed within the School of Arts & Sciences, which is comprised of 28 academic departments, the College of Arts and Sciences, the Graduate Division, and the College of Liberal and Professional Studies. Interdisciplinary research and collaboration are supported by the breadth and depth of academic pursuits at Penn as well as the proximity of resources on our contiguous green urban campus in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. We promote and encourage curiosity, intellectual engagement, and discovery among all our students and faculty. University, School, and departmental resources that support faculty include but are not limited to: the Offices of the Vice Provost for Faculty and Vice Provost for Research, Penn Global and Perry World House, Wellness at Penn, the Center for Teaching and Learning, the Penn Center for Undergraduate Research and Fellowships, and Penn Human Resources.

The department offers an undergraduate major that provides students an understanding of the modern discipline of political science. More generally, faculty teach approximately 2,000 undergraduates each year and have a program of about 80 graduate students. Our graduate students often go on to become assistant professors, post-docs or work in related areas outside academia.

We seek candidates who share our strong commitment to research, teaching and mentoring, and to a scholarly community shaped by values of inclusive excellence. The School of Arts and Sciences at the University of Pennsylvania is committed to cultivating and sustaining a community of students, scholars, researchers, and staff that reflects the diversity of our world. We nurture working and learning environments that are affirming, equitable, and inclusive. As a community, we are committed to thoughtful discussions and dynamic interactions as we strive for an environment where everyone is supported and valued. Please see our School's Inclusion and Antiracism Initiatives to learn more about our active priorities: <https://www.sas.upenn.edu/2020-inclusion-and-anti-racism-initiatives>.

Qualifications

The successful candidate is expected to:

- *demonstrate potential for an active high-impact research agenda;
- have or plan to seek external funding for research;
- have a deep commitment to teaching undergraduate and graduate students and mentoring and supporting a diverse student body;
- teach three courses per year at the undergraduate and graduate levels;
- have a publication record appropriate to the rank being sought;
- contribute actively to Korean Studies at Penn;
- engage in service to the profession and shared governance within the University.

The appointment will begin on July 1, 2024, though the start date may be negotiable. A Ph.D. or equivalent degree is expected at the start of the appointment.

Application Instructions

Candidates should submit a cover letter, personal statement, curriculum vita, research statement, writing sample (approximately 30 pages), and the names and contact information for three referees to: apply.in-terfolio.com/132227.

Review of applications will begin on October 15, 2023 and continue until the line has been filled.

Start Date: Summer 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/20/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12564

University of South Carolina

Rank: Assistant Professor in Comparative Politics

The Department of Political Science at the University of South Carolina seeks applications for a nine month, full-time, tenure-track Assistant Professor position in Comparative Politics, to begin August 16, 2024. We seek candidates with well-conceived, theoretically informed research agendas who have published in or demonstrate the promise of publishing in leading outlets. Successful candidates will be able to teach substantive courses in Comparative Politics and contribute to the department's graduate and undergraduate programs in methodology. A Ph.D. in political science is required by the start date of appointment.

From the Upstate to the Lowcountry, the University of South Carolina system is transforming the lives of South Carolinians through the impact of our eight institutions and 20 locations throughout the state. More than 50,000 students are enrolled at one of eight institutions, including the research campus in Columbia and comprehensive four-year universities in Aiken, Upstate and Beaufort. In addition, our Palmetto College campuses in Salkehatchie, Union, Lancaster, and Sumter enable students to earn associate or bachelor's degrees through a combination of in-person, online or blended learning. All of our system institutions place strong emphasis on service — helping to build healthier, more educated communities in South Carolina and beyond.

At the University of South Carolina, we strive to cultivate an inclusive environment that is open, welcoming, and supportive of individuals of all backgrounds. We recognize diversity in our workforce is essential to providing academic excellence and critical to our sustainability. The University is committed to eliminating barriers created by institutional discrimination through accountability and continuous process improvement. We celebrate the diverse voices, perspectives, and experiences of our employees.

The University of South Carolina is an affirmative action, equal opportunity employer. Minorities and women are encouraged to apply. The University of South Carolina does not discriminate in educational or employment opportunities on the basis of race, sex, gender, gender identity, transgender status, age, color, religion, national origin, disability, sexual orientation, genetics, protected veteran status, pregnancy, childbirth or related medical conditions.

How to Apply

Applicants must submit a cover letter; curriculum vitae; two writing samples that demonstrate a significant ongoing research agenda; statements of research and teaching interests; graduate transcript; contact information (including telephone number and email address) for three references; and a diversity statement that articulates the candidate's commitment and capacity to contribute to diversity, equity, and inclusion through research, teaching, mentoring, outreach, and engagement. References will be contacted directly for letters of recommendation (which must be submitted on appropriate letterhead). The position will remain open until filled, and the search committee will begin reviewing applications on October 13, 2023. All applicants must fill out an online application at USC Jobs: <https://uscjobs.sc.edu/postings/152730>

Please contact the search committee chair, Dr. John Hsieh (jfhhsieh0@mailbox.sc.edu) with any questions. Information regarding the Department of Political Science can be found at the department's website: <http://artsandsciences.sc.edu/poli/welcome>.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/20/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12572

University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill

Rank: Assistant Professor

American Politics/Comparative Politics. The Department of Political Science at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill invites applications for a tenure-track position at the rank of Assistant Professor, with appointment beginning July 1, 2024. We particularly welcome applications from scholars doing innovative research in political economy, political behavior or applied experimental research, including scholars whose work crosses traditional subfield or disciplinary boundaries. We seek applicants with a PhD or ABD in political science or related social science and/or computational social science fields, who show promise of research excellence and a desire to teach and train undergraduate and graduate students.

The University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill is an equal opportunity and affirmative action employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to age, color, disability, gender, gender expression, gender identity, genetic information, national origin, race, religion, sex, sexual orientation, or status as a protected veteran.

Review of applications will begin October 8, 2023 and will continue until the position is filled. To apply for the position, follow this link: <https://unc.peopleadmin.com/postings/265896>. Please include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, research statement, teaching statement (including available teaching evaluations and other evidence of teaching excellence), and a writing sample. Applicants are required to identify the names, titles and email addresses of professional references at the time of application (please note that four are required). Recommenders will be contacted via email with instructions for uploading their letters of support. Alternatively, applicants may list Interfolio as a reference: see <http://help.interfolio.com/entries/24062742-Uploading-Letters-to-an-Online-Application-System> for instructions. Applicants may also list the email of a Graduate Coordinator who will upload their references. Departmental contact person is Shannon Eubanks; Department of Political Science, University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, CB# 3265, Hamilton Hall; Chapel Hill, NC 27599-3265; <http://www.unc.edu/depts/polisci>.

Start Date: Summer 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/19/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12555

University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill

Rank: Assistant Professor or Associate Professor

Comparative Politics. The Department of Political Science at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill invites applications for a tenure-track position at the rank of Assistant or Associate Professor or Associate Professor with Tenure, with appointment beginning July 1, 2024. Required qualifications are ABD or Ph.D. or an equivalent degree in Political Science or related Social Science and/or Computational Social Science fields. We particularly welcome applications from scholars working on Europe but also welcome applications from scholars doing innovative research that crosses traditional subfield boundaries. Applicants need to show promise or achievement of research excellence and a desire to teach and train undergraduate and graduate students.

The University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill is an equal opportunity and affirmative action employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to age, color, disability, gender, gender expression, gender identity, genetic information, national origin, race, religion, sex, sexual orientation, or status as a protected veteran.

Review of applications will begin October 8, 2023 and will continue until the position is filled. To apply for the position, please follow this link: <https://unc.peopleadmin.com/postings/265611>. Please include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, research statement, teaching statement (including available teaching evaluations and other evidence of teaching excellence), and a writing sample. Applicants will be required to identify the names, titles and email addresses of professional references at the time of application (please note that four are required). Recommenders will be contacted via email with instructions for uploading their letters of support. Alternatively, applicants may list Interfolio as a reference. Please see <http://help.interfolio.com/entries/24062742-Uploading-Letters-to-an-Online-Application-System> for instructions. Applicants may also list the email of a Graduate Coordinator who will upload their references. Departmental contact person is Shannon Eubanks; Department of Political Science, University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, CB# 3265, Chapel Hill, NC 27599-3265; <http://www.unc.edu/depts/polisci>.

Start Date: Summer 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/19/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12556

IE University

Rank: Tenure-Track Assistant Professor in Comparative Politics 2024-2025

Specializations: Africa, Middle East, Political Behavior

Tenure-Track Assistant Professor in Comparative Politics 2024-2025 IE University's School of Politics, Economics, and Global Affairs (SPEGA) seeks applicants for a tenure-track faculty position in Comparative Politics at the rank of Assistant Professor starting September 1, 2024. We are especially but not exclusively interested in candidates with regional expertise on Africa or the Middle East, and candidates with an emphasis on political behavior and experimental methodology. Successful candidates will demonstrate capacity to produce publications in top peer-reviewed outlets (both generalist and field journals) in the coming years, and their research should display advanced research design and methodological skills.

More generally, we seek academics with the capacity to engage in policy-relevant work and an overall commitment to institution-building - applying for research grants, participating in affiliated research centers and academic programs, and expanding our current network and partnerships.

Successful candidates will join the Political Science and International Relations group within SPEGA, which consists of 14 tenured and tenure-track scholars studying comparative politics, international relations, political economy, and political behavior. Recent publications from this group appear in APSR, AJPS, JOP, BJPS, and many other top generalist and field outlets.

Candidates should have a PhD from a recognized department of political science, international relations, public policy, economics, or a related field, or demonstrate clear evidence that their PhD will be complete by July 2024.

The IE SPEGA is part of IE University, located in Madrid and Segovia, Spain, and is a full-member of the Association of Professional Schools in International Affairs (APSIA). We are a fast-growing department of professors committed to world-class academic research and teaching in the social sciences, public policy, and international affairs.

We offer a competitive remuneration package, attractive teaching commitments, and an enriching and cosmopolitan work environment in the heart of Madrid. Our working language is English, and both our faculty and student body are highly diverse and international.

IE University is an Equal Opportunity Employer and strongly encourages applications from individuals who will expand the ethnic and gender diversity of our faculty.

Applications should include a cover letter and vita, a job market paper, and three confidential letters of recommendation.

Candidates may apply via Interfolio by October 20, 2023, using the following link: <http://apply.interfolio.com/132210>

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 10/20/2023

Date Posted: 9/18/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12543

Kadir Has University, Istanbul-Turkey

Rank: Open Rank Faculty Position in Department of Political Science and Public Administration

The Department of Political Science and Public Administration at Kadir Has University invites applications for an open rank position from candidates in the field of comparative politics. The research area of specialization is open, however, all applicants must demonstrate potential for excellence in research and teaching, and the ability to secure grants and funding for research in commensurate with the rank that they are applying for. Preference will be given to candidates who have already obtained their Ph.D. in comparative politics.

The candidates interested in the position are kindly invited to send their current curriculum vitae (including their publications and the names of 2-3 potential references), one sample publication (working paper, published paper or thesis chapter), a motivation letter (explaining their current and future research agenda and their teaching focus) merged as a single pdf file to sbky@khas.edu.tr by October 20th, 2023. Shortlisted candidates will be contacted by November 1st, 2023.

Kadir Has University (KHAS) was founded in 1997, in Istanbul, Turkey. The university, with its five faculties of Engineering and Natural Sciences, Economics, Administrative and Social Sciences, Communication, Law, and Fine Arts, is dedicated to become a leader in educational and cultural fields in Turkey, as well as establishing itself as an international center for research and scientific development. The Department of Political Science and Public Administration along with the Department of International Relations at Kadir Has University, have been ranked among the top 6 departments in the field of Political Science and International Relations in the 2021 TUBITAK Field-Based Analysis Report of Universities in Turkey.

Start Date: Spring 2023

Application Deadline: 10/20/2023

Date Posted: 9/18/2023

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 12528

Columbia University

Rank: István Deák Visiting Assistant Professor/Visiting Associate Professor/Visiting Professor

Columbia University invites applications for István Deák Visiting Professorship(s) in East Central European Studies for one or two semesters (fall and/or spring) in the academic year 2024-2025. The professorship, commemorating Professor Deák's legacy of excellence in research and teaching, is open to scholars who have active interest and accomplishments in East and Central European studies. Appointment(s) will be open-rank, to be filled at any level from Visiting Assistant to Visiting Full Professor.

The visiting professor(s) will be appointed in one of the Humanities or Social Science departments of the Faculty of Arts and Sciences. The visitors will teach two courses per semester, one a lecture course of broad interest for undergraduates, the other a seminar for upper-level undergraduates and graduate students. The visitors are expected to give one public lecture and participate in the academic life of the University, whose interests in East and Central European studies are well represented on campus by the East Central European Center, the European Institute, and the Harriman Institute.

Qualifications

Ph.D. or professional equivalent. Distinction in teaching and research within the field of East Central European studies.

Application Instructions

Please provide a letter of application, curriculum vitae, the names of three persons who may be asked to provide a letter of reference, and a modest sample (article or book chapter) of scholarship. The letter of application should include a statement of which semester the applicant prefers, a list with titles and brief (one-paragraph long) descriptions of two courses which the applicant might teach, and a description of the applicant's current research interests.

For inquiries about the István Deák Visiting Professorship, please contact Christopher Harwood: cwh4@columbia.edu

Review of applications will begin on December 15, 2023 and continue until the position(s) are filled.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/15/2023

Salary: $40,000 - $49,999

eJobs ID: 12529

Colby College

Rank: Assistant Professor - Political Economy (tenure-track)

Specializations: East Asia, Africa, South Asia

The Department of Government at Colby College invites applications for a tenure-track position in international relations and/or comparative politics with a focus on political economy, starting in the fall of 2024. We would welcome candidates whose regional expertise can complement our department's existing strengths in Latin America, Europe, and the Middle East.

Colby is a highly selective liberal arts college located in Central Maine with high standards for teaching and research. Our students are motivated, intellectually curious, and easily engaged in the classroom and in independent research. Our department faculty have active research agendas and receive generous support from the college, including a pre-tenure sabbatical during the fourth year, start-up and travel funds, divisional research grant opportunities, and department funded student research assistants. The teaching load at Colby is 4.5 courses per year.

We seek highly qualified candidates who have demonstrated excellence in teaching and who are committed to working with an increasingly diverse student body. The successful applicant will teach Introduction to International Relations, and either an introductory comparative politics course or an introductory course in research methods, as well as additional courses chosen in consultation with the department chair.

Candidates must have completed a Ph.D. in political science by September 1, 2024. The successful candidate will provide evidence of excellence in teaching a diverse student body and present a strong and on-going research program that is open to the inclusion of undergraduates. The college and the department are committed to enhancing the diversity and inclusivity of the campus community and the curriculum; candidates who can contribute to these goals are encouraged to identify their strengths and experiences in these areas when they apply.

Applicants should submit the following materials: a letter of application, a curriculum vitae, a statement outlining the candidate's research agenda, a recent sample of scholarly writing, a statement expressing the candidate's teaching experience and philosophy, course descriptions and/or syllabi for three proposed courses, evidence of teaching excellence, a graduate school transcript, and three confidential letters of recommendation. Please submit all of these materials via Interfolio: <http://apply.interfolio.com/132217>. Review of applications will begin October 15, and will continue until the position is filled. Questions about this position should be directed to:

government-pe-search@colby.edu

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/14/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12518

Colby College

Rank: Assistant Professor - Conflict and Human Security (tenure-track)

Specializations: Africa, East Asia, South Asia

The Department of Government at Colby College invites applications for a tenure-track position in international relations and/or comparative politics with a focus on conflict and human security, starting in the fall of 2024. Possible strengths might include human rights, the intersection between climate change and conflict, migration and refugees, gender and sexuality, and/or global health. We are particularly interested in candidates whose work analyzes human security within the Global South, or in the connections between the Global South and the Global North. We welcome candidates whose regional expertise can complement our department's existing strengths in Latin America, Europe, and the Middle East, and who can contribute to important interdisciplinary programs on campus.

Colby is a highly selective liberal arts college located in Central Maine with high standards for teaching and research. Our students are motivated, intellectually curious, and easily engaged in the classroom and in independent research. Our department faculty have active research agendas and receive generous support from the college, including a pre-tenure sabbatical during the fourth year, start-up and travel funds, divisional research grant opportunities, and department funded student research assistants. The teaching load at Colby is 4.5 courses per year.

We seek highly qualified candidates who have demonstrated excellence in teaching and who are committed to working with an increasingly diverse student body. The successful applicant will teach Introduction to International Relations, and either an introductory comparative politics course or an introductory course in research methods, as well as additional courses chosen in consultation with the department chair.

Candidates must have completed a Ph.D. in political science by September 1, 2024. The successful candidate will provide evidence of excellence in teaching a diverse student body and present a strong and on-going research program that is open to the inclusion of undergraduates. The college and the department are committed to enhancing the diversity and inclusivity of the campus community and the curriculum; candidates who can contribute to these goals are encouraged to identify their strengths and experiences in these areas when they apply.

Applicants should submit the following materials: a letter of application, a curriculum vitae, a statement outlining the candidate's research agenda, a recent sample of scholarly writing, a statement expressing the candidate's teaching experience and philosophy, course descriptions and/or syllabi for three proposed courses, evidence of teaching excellence, a graduate school transcript, and three confidential letters of recommendation. Please submit all of these materials via Interfolio: <http://apply.interfolio.com/132183>. Review of applications will begin October 1, and will continue until the position is filled. Questions about this position should be directed to: government-chs-search@colby.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/13/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12513

University of North Texas

Rank: Assistant Professor Comparative Politics

Specializations: China, Southeast Asia, Middle East

The Department of Political Science at the University of North Texas invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position anticipated to begin in the Fall of 2024. We seek candidates who study comparative politics with a focus on East/Southeast/South Asia or the Middle East. We prefer candidates who can add to the department's existing strengths in the study of political conflict, contentious politics, human rights, human security, marginalized populations, political economy, and democratization. The successful candidate should be committed to excellence in undergraduate and graduate education and have a record or promise of research publication. The Department seeks applicants who will pursue a research agenda commensurate with UNT's status as a Carnegie-ranked, Tier One public research university. Ph.D. in Political Science or ABD with degree to be completed by the first day of employment is required. Preferred applicants will be able to teach quantitative methods at both the undergraduate and graduate level.

Applications should be submitted here: <https://jobs.untsystem.edu/postings/76219>.

Reviews of applications will begin on October 23, 2023.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 10/23/2023

Date Posted: 9/12/2023

Salary: $70,000 - $79,999

eJobs ID: 12504

Stanford University

Rank: Shorenstein Postdoctoral Fellowship on Contemporary Asia 2024-2025

Subfield(s): International Relations, Public Policy, Comparative Politics

Specializations: East Asia, Southeast Asia, South Asia

Stanford University: 2024–2025 Postdoctoral Fellowship on Contemporary Asia

The Walter H. Shorenstein Asia-Pacific Research Center at Stanford University is pleased to announce its search for up to two 2024–2025 Shorenstein Postdoctoral Fellows on Contemporary Asia-Pacific Studies. Made possible through the generosity of Walter H. Shorenstein, awards will be made to two junior scholars (recent PhDs must have degree conferral and approval by June 30, 2024) for research and writing on Asia.

The primary focus of the fellowship is on contemporary political, economic, or social change in the Asia-Pacific region (including North-east, Southeast, and South Asia), or topics in international relations and international political economy. The postdoctoral fellowship is a 10-month appointment with salary rate commensurate with Stanford policy, plus up to $3,000 for research expenses. Appointments will begin in the fall quarter of the 2024-2025 academic year.

Applications will be accepted until December 1, 2023.

For additional information and to apply, visit:

<https://aparc.fsi.stanford.edu/education/fellowship-and-training-opportunities/shorenstein-postdoctoral-fellowship>

About the Center:

The Shorenstein Asia-Pacific Research Center (APARC) is dedicated to the study of critical issues affecting the countries of Asia and their regional and global relations. Our scholar community is comprised of distinguished academics and practitioners in government, business, and civil society. Through policy-relevant research, publications, education, public programs, and international collaborations, we address pressing challenges in a world in which Asia plays an increasingly central role.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 12/1/2023

Date Posted: 9/11/2023

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 12451

Vienna University of Economics and Business

Rank: 2 Post-Doc/Fellowships Energy Finance Project

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Methodology

Specializations: History & Politics, Economic Policy, International Political Economy

You want to understand how things are connected and make a fundamental impact? We offer an environment where you can realize your full potential. At one of Europe's largest and most modern business and economics universities. On a campus where quality of work is also quality of life. We are looking for support at the:

Department of Socioeconomics
Vienna University of Economics and Business
Fulltime, 40 hours/week
Starting as soon as possible, and limited for 1 year (possible extension up to 4 years)

Summary

We invite applications for one Postdoctoral position (qual) and one Postdoctoral position (quant) in the research project Energy Transitions and the Rise and Fall of Great Financial Centers (ENFIN) funded within the ERC framework.

We particularly encourage social scientists (preferably with disciplinary backgrounds in economics, political science, international political economy, sociology, economic history, geography or data analysis) for this position who have an interest in interdisciplinary multi-method research covering the fields: economic geography, financial history & sociology, comparative politics, and international political economy.

What to expect

The postdoctoral researcher will be part of a team starting a new research direction in the study of energy- and financial transitions that will have important implications for studying phenomena at the intersection of energy geopolitics, geoeconomics, and geofinance. The initial contract is for one year, possibly extending annually up to 4 years. There is a possibility to teach between year 2–4.

- Producing high-quality research and joint publications aligned with the ENFIN scope in high-impact journals
- Help shape and participate in seminars and conferences organized around the ERC project
- Some traveling/fieldwork is expected
- Opportunity for further career and professional development (e.g. via methodological trainings, and media training)
- Close collaboration with the PI and the rest of the team
- Opportunity to mentor and supervise postgraduate students

What you have to offer

- Completed a Ph.D. at a leading University in a related social science discipline with a strong commitment to research
- An excellent publication record relative to career stage (articles in top-tier journals will be considered as an asset)
- Excellent spoken and written English
- Sound knowledge in finance, economics or politics
- Ability and commitment to work both independently and collaboratively as part of an interdisciplinary and international team
- Make a solid contribution to the program's research culture and environment
- Postdoc qual: outstanding and demonstrated expertise in qualitative methods (e.g., case study, process tracing, historical- and comparative approaches), experience in Bayesian Inference in a qualitative context is a plus
- Postdoc quant: excellent analytical and methodological skills, advanced training in quantitative data analysis (expertise in latent growth curve modeling (e.g., multigroup LGCM) will be considered an asset)

Detailed job description:

<https://www.wu.ac.at/en/careers/careers-at-wu/current-job-openings/?yid=1865>

The minimum monthly gross salary amounts to €4,351.90 (14 times per year). This salary may be adjusted based on equivalent prior work experience. In addition, we offer a wide range of attractive social benefits.

Any queries should be made by email to: Juergen.Braunstein@wu.ac.at

The closing date for the application is 25 October 2023

Application link:

<https://www.wu.ac.at/en/careers/careers-at-wu/current-job-openings/?yid=1865&af=1>

Start Date: Winter 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/8/2023

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 12482

William & Mary

Rank: Assistant Professor of Government

The Department of Government at William & Mary, a public university of the Commonwealth of Virginia, seeks applications for a tenure track position at the Assistant Professor level in the International Relations of East Asia.

Appointment will begin August 10, 2024. We are interested in individuals with research and teaching expertise in the international relations/comparative politics of East Asia (especially China). Topics of interest include, but are not limited to Chinese foreign policy, US-China relations, or the political economy or security of East Asia.

Duties include research, teaching, and service to the University. The applicant is expected to establish and maintain a vibrant research program that inspires a highly motivated undergraduate student body. Teaching expectation is 2 courses per semester. Successful applicants must possess the skills to teach compelling introductory courses in International Relations and other lecture and seminar-style courses in International Relations or Comparative Politics of East Asia.

Required Qualifications

Applicants must hold a Ph.D. in political science or a related field at the time the appointment begins (August 10, 2024). The successful candidate will possess a demonstrated commitment to producing high-level scholarship and outstanding classroom teaching; will help the Department enhance diversity of new perspectives to its research profile and curricular offerings; and will be interested in mentoring student research or conducting collaborative research with students.

Preferred Qualifications

Previous experience in teaching and mentoring successful undergraduate research is preferred. Evidence of scholarly achievement or demonstrated potential as a scholar is preferred.

Applicants must apply online at <https://jobs.wm.edu>. Submit a curriculum vitae, a cover letter, a statement of teaching interests, a statement of research interests, writing sample and evidence of teaching effectiveness. A diversity statement is not required. Candidates are encouraged to reflect on their past experiences or future plans to foster an inclusive and welcoming climate for learners/scholars in International Relations/Comparative Politics in any of the aforementioned required documents. You will be prompted to submit online the names and email addresses of three references who will be contacted by the system with instructions for how to submit a letter of reference.

For full consideration, submit application materials by the initial review date, [October 15]. Applications received after the initial review date will be considered if needed.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/8/2023

Salary: $90,000 - $99,999

eJobs ID: 12485

Catholic University of America

Rank: Clinical Assistant Professor of Politics

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Comparative Politics, American Government and Politics

Specializations: American Politics, Latin American, Political Theory

Clinical Assistant Professor of Politics (Public Policy)

The Department of Politics at The Catholic University of America invites applications for a clinical (non-tenure track, two-year renewable contract) faculty appointment, to begin in the fall of 2024. Candidates should have expertise in public policy (American and/or comparative, as well as familiarity with the principles of Catholic social teaching). The department especially welcomes applicants whose research interests complement its traditional strengths in historical, theoretical, ethical and institutional perspectives. The successful candidate will have an opportunity to teach both undergraduates and graduates, including students in a new MA in Public Policy program currently under development.

We seek candidates who understand, are enthusiastic about, and will make a significant contribution to the mission of the University, which reads as follows: "As the national university of the Catholic Church in the United States, founded and sponsored by the bishops of the country with the approval of the Holy See, The Catholic University of America is committed to being a comprehensive Catholic and American institution of higher learning, faithful to the teachings of Jesus Christ as handed on by the Church. Dedicated to advancing the dialogue between faith and reason, The Catholic University of America seeks to discover and impart the truth through excellence in teaching and research, all in service to the Church, the nation and the world."

Applicants should submit a cover letter, a curriculum vitae, a statement of current research and future research plans, a statement of teaching philosophy, graduate school transcript, and a sample of written work (including scholarly publications) to pol-search@cua.edu and arrange for the submission of three letters of reference. In addition, applicants are asked to submit a one- to two-page personal statement indicating how their research, teaching, and service will make a distinctive contribution to our University's mission and to the vision of Catholic education outlined in the Apostolic Constitution on Catholic Universities Ex Corde Ecclesiae.

Review of applications will begin November 15 and continue until the position is filled.

Questions may be directed to Jakub Grygiel, Department Chair, at grygiel@cua.edu.

The Catholic University of America is an Equal Opportunity Employer.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/7/2023

Salary: $70,000 - $79,999

eJobs ID: 12475

University of Missouri, Kansas City

Rank: Norman Royall Endowed Professor/Associate Professor of Political Communication/UMKC School of Humanities & Social Sciences

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, Other

The School of Humanities and Social Sciences at the University of Missouri-Kansas City

Job Description

The UMKC School of Humanities and Social Sciences invites applications for the Norman Royall Endowed Professor or Associate Professor with expertise in political communication and quantitative methods, data science, or data analytics research. This is a full-time appointment with rank commensurate with experience.

The successful candidate will play a critical role in the research and teaching mission of the School of Humanities and Social Sciences including securing extramural research funding, working collaboratively with counterparts in data science and analytics across campus, and teaching courses related to political communication and data science in the Political Science, Communication, and Journalism programs.

In support of our goals to be a workplace of choice and a national leader in research and scholarship, UMKC strives to assure that all individuals appointed to endowed chairs and professorships are outstanding leaders in scholarship, teaching, and service. Applicants for this endowed position are encouraged to review UMKC's Guidelines for Evaluation of Endowed Chairs and Professors at the following link: <https://info.umkc.edu/academichiring/endowed-chairs-professorships/>.

Minimum Qualifications

A Ph.D. in Political Science or Communication Studies or a closely related field.

A full-time ranked faculty appointment at the associate or full professor rank.

Full Time/Part Time

Professor or Associate Professor - Tenure-Eligible. This is a full-time 9-month, ranked, benefit-eligible faculty position. Salary is commensurate with experience and qualifications.

The start date is August 2024.

Application Deadline

Applications accepted until position is filled. Review of completed applications will begin upon receipt, with priority consideration for those received by October 15, 2023.

Application Instructions

For consideration, you must apply online at www.umkc.edu/jobs, click in Academic Positions Job Opening ID 48454.

Please combine all application materials (curriculum vitae, letter of application addressing your research interests and teaching philosophy, and a list of three academic and/or professional references with current full contact information) into one PDF or Microsoft Word document and upload as your resume attachments. Limit document name to 50 characters and do not include any special characters (e.g., /, &, %, etc.).

· If you are experiencing technical problems during application, please email umpshrsupport@umsystem.edu

· For questions about the position, please contact umkcfacultysearch@umkc.edu including the Job Identification number 48454 and name of the position.

· Reasonable accommodations may be requested during the application and recruitment process. If you need an accommodation, please contact the Office of Affirmative Action at (816) 235-1323.

We will contact references and request educational transcripts for applicants who progress to the finalist stage.

Comments

UMKC is a public, urban, research university with more than 15,000 undergraduate, graduate, and professional students. It is part of the larger University of Missouri System. Our university is committed to being a model urban university that is recognized for our partnerships with diverse communities to effectively foster a healthy, safe, more economically secure and socially just quality of life.

A City on the Rise: Big City Life and Midwest Charm, Kansas City offers the best of both worlds – a vibrant, urban community with midwestern appeal and an affordable cost of living. The university is in one of the most entrepreneurial cities in America, and the metropolitan area has a population of more than 2.4 million. Our UMKC campuses are centered in the hubs of business activity, cultural arts, and health science research engagement. Our community boasts championship professional athletic teams, NASCAR racing, and a rich history of music and performing arts. Our beautiful state provides rivers, lakes, biking/hiking trails and mountains for outdoor enthusiasts, all within an easy drive.

Equal Employment Opportunity

Equal Opportunity is and shall be provided for all employees and applicants for employment on the basis of their demonstrated ability and competence without unlawful discrimination on the basis of their race, color, national origin, ancestry, religion, sex, pregnancy, sexual orientation, gender identity, gender expression, age, disability, protected veteran status, or any other status protected by applicable state or federal law. This policy shall not be interpreted in such a manner as to violate the legal rights of religious organizations or the recruiting rights of military organizations associated with the Armed Forces or the Department of Homeland Security of the United States of America. For more information, call Human Resources at 816-235-1621.

To request ADA accommodations, please call the Office of Equity & Title IX at 816-235-6910.

Know Your Rights

To read more about Equal Employment Opportunity (EEO) please use the following links:

Know Your Rights English Version

Know Your Rights Spanish Version

UMKC Statement on Diversity

Values Commitment

We value the uniqueness of every individual and strive to ensure each person's success. Contributions from individuals with diverse backgrounds, experiences and perspectives promote intellectual pluralism and enable us to achieve the excellence that we seek in learning, research and engagement. This commitment makes our university a better place to work, learn and innovate.

In your application materials, please discuss your experiences and expertise that support these values and enrich our missions of teaching, research and engagement.

Benefit Eligibility

Why UMKC?

We offer full benefits that start day one, generous paid time off, holiday pay, paid winter break (December 26-December 31), and continuing education benefits. Visit our Total Rewards page to learn more.

Also, explore the Total Rewards website to learn more about the rewards package we offer to acknowledge our employees as the university's most important resource.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/7/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12479

University of Zurich

Rank: Post-Doctoral Research Position at the Chair of Political Institutions 80%

Description of UZH unit

The Department of Political Science at the University of Zurich (<http://www.ipz.uzh.ch>) invites applications for a postdoctoral position (80%) in the research group of Prof. Dr. Jonathan Slapin, who holds the Professorship in Political Institutions and European Politics.

Responsibilities

The successful candidate will engage in research and teaching in the area of comparative politics, political institutions, parties, political behavior and/or European politics. Preference will be given to candidates with a demonstrated substantive interest in parties, legislatures, electoral institutions, or other topics related to the research priorities of the chair.

The successful candidate is expected to pursue their own research interests, contribute to research ongoing within the Chair, acquire funded projects and produce outstanding scholarship with publications in top journals and presses.

Teaching includes seminars or courses in English or German (approx. 2 - 4 hours weekly in 2 semesters of 14 weeks) and advising students.

Qualifications

- PhD in political science or relevant neighboring discipline (completed or close to completion).

- Outstanding research potential in the area of comparative political institutions, broadly defined.
- Excellent quantitative methods skills (e.g., econometrics, psychometrics, computational methods) with knowledge of relevant statistical software (e.g. Stata, R, Python).
- Ability to work in a team and also to conduct independent research.
- Motivation to pursue an international academic career.
- Excellent command of English, knowledge of German is a plus.
- International experience is a plus.

We offer

- Starting date: February 1, 2024 or later upon agreement.
- Duration of employment: 3 years with renewal for further 3 years contingent on research productivity, teaching quality and participation to departmental activities.
- Salary according to UZH/cantonal guidelines, approx. CHF 80,000 per year.
- Opportunities for possible additional teaching.
- Funding for conferences, additional training, and research.
- A highly motivated, engaged and supportive team.
- Excellent intellectual and working environment in a leading, international department.
- Career mentoring.

Place of work
Zurich

Further information

- Applications should include: a letter of interest, CV including a list of publications, a writing sample, the contact details of 2 - 3 people willing to serve as references, and the following form: http://www.ipz.uzh.ch/static/forms/download/additional_application_form.pdf
- Please send your application electronically as one single pdf file to the personnel office of Department of Political Science (personal@ipz.uzh.ch)
- Review of Applications will begin on October 2, 2023 and will continue until the position is filled. Early applications are encouraged.
- Further inquiries can be directed to Jonathan Slapin (slapin@ipz.uzh.ch)

Start Date: Spring 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/7/2023

Salary: $70,000 - $79,999

eJobs ID: 12477

Duke University

Rank: Assistant Professor

Assistant Professor Position in Comparative Ethnic Politics

The Department of Political Science at Duke University in Durham, NC invites applications and nominations for a tenure-track position at the assistant professor level in Comparative Ethnic Politics to begin July 1, 2024. Candidates are expected to demonstrate theoretical innovation, regional expertise, and empirical acumen in their research and teaching. The search committee is particularly interested in scholars studying the formation and expression of ethnic identity, the salience of ethnic political demands, the political mobilization of ethnic groups, the representation of ethnic groups in political institutions and constitutional design across different types of regimes, the relationship between ethnic identity, distributional outcomes and/or ethnic conflict. Fault-lines in some societies focus on sectarian rather than ethnic identity. The scope of the search includes such cases. Finally, the committee is also interested in theoretical and methodological innovations in the conceptualization and measurement of ethnic identity.

Duke University and The Department of Political Science are strongly committed to advancing inclusive excellence throughout our research, teaching, and service activities. A diverse faculty – defined broadly as representing a wide range of identities, lived experiences, and perspectives – is a prerequisite for excellence and is essential to driving innovation within our scholarly community. To achieve these goals, it is essential that all members of the community feel valued and welcome, that the contributions of all individuals are respected, and that all voices are heard. All members of our community are expected to uphold these values, and we seek to hire faculty who are passionate about working to increase the participation and success of individuals from different backgrounds and communities.

Applicants should submit a letter of interest, along with a curriculum vitae, a statement describing their research agenda in no more than three pages, graduate school transcripts, two writing samples, a teaching statement covering evidence of teaching excellence, a statement on how they would contribute to advancing the university's diversity mission, as explained below, and three letters of recommendation. All application materials should be submitted electronically using the following site: <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/25591>. Address correspondence through that portal to: Prof. Edmund Malesky, PhD, Chair of the CEP Search Committee, Department of Political Science, Duke University, 140 Science Drive; 208 Gross Hall; Campus Box 90204; Durham, NC 27708.

Review of applications will begin on October 1, 2023 and continue until the position is filled.

Duke University is an Equal Opportunity Employer committed to providing employment opportunities without regard to an individual's age, color, disability, gender, gender expression, gender identity, genetic information, national origin, race, religion, sex, sexual orientation, or veteran status.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Date Posted: 9/6/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12469

Duke University

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of Political Science at Duke University invites applications for a tenure track position at the rank of assistant professor in Comparative Political Economy to begin on July 1, 2024. Candidates are expected to demonstrate theoretical creativity and empirical acumen in research and teaching. The search committee is particularly interested in scholars studying comparative (including historical) political and economic development, the causes and consequences of economic inequalities or such topics as the political consequences of technological change, the political economy of climate change, and the political economy of the digital revolution.

Applicants should submit a letter of interest, along with a curriculum vitae, a statement describing their research agenda in no more than three pages, graduate school transcripts, two writing samples, a teaching statement covering evidence of teaching excellence, a statement on how they would contribute to advancing the university's diversity mission, as explained below, and three letters of recommendation. All application materials should be submitted electronically using the following site: <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/25592>. Address correspondence through that portal to: Professor Timur Kuran, Chair of Political Economy Search Committee, Department of Political Science, 140 Science Drive, 208 Gross Hall, Box 90204, Duke University, Durham, NC 27708-0204.

Review of applications will begin on October 1, 2023, and continue until the position is filled.

Duke University and its Department of Political Science are strongly committed to advancing inclusive excellence through research, teaching, and service. A diverse faculty – defined broadly to cover identities, lived experiences, perspectives, and viewpoints – is essential to learning and creativity within our scholarly community. To achieve this goal, all members of the community must feel valued and welcome, their contributions must be respected, and their voices must be heard. Every member of our community is expected to uphold these values. We seek to hire faculty who are passionate about working to advance the participation and success of individuals from various backgrounds and communities.

Duke University is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer committed to providing employment opportunity without regard to an individual's age, color, disability, gender, gender expression, gender identity, genetic information, national origin, race, religion, sex, sexual orientation, or veteran status.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Date Posted: 9/6/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12470

University of Wisconsin, Madison

Rank: Assistant Professor

Job Summary:

The Political Science department at the University of Wisconsin-Madison seeks to hire a faculty member at the level of Assistant Professor who will publish original research and teach courses on the subject of political economy in the field of comparative politics. The successful candidate will teach at the undergraduate and graduate level while maintaining excellence in research. The successful candidate will contribute to an inclusive, fair, and equitable environment that fosters engagement and a sense of belonging for faculty, staff, students and members of the broader community. Faculty positions include a commitment to the important functions of research, instruction, as well as professional and university service as appropriate to faculty rank.

Responsibilities:

Responsibilities include conducting research and maintaining an active research program, teaching at the graduate and undergraduate level, and service at the professional and university level.

The successful candidate, will proactively contribute to, support, and advance the college's commitment to diversity, equity, and inclusion among all aspects of teaching, research, and service.

Education:

Required

Ph.D. in Political Science by start of the appointment, the subfield of comparative politics, with a specialization in the subject of comparative political economy.

Qualifications:

Candidates must have an excellent publication record or a productive research program with strong publishing potential.

The successful candidate will demonstrate experience with fostering or the ability to foster an inclusive and equity-centered teaching, learning, departmental, and research environment where all can thrive.

Work Type:

Full Time: 100%

This position may require some work to be performed in-person, onsite, at a designated campus work location. Some work may be performed remotely, at an offsite, non-campus work location.

Appointment Type, Duration:

Ongoing/Renewable

Anticipated Begin Date:

AUGUST 19, 2024

Salary:

Negotiable

ACADEMIC (9 months)

Additional Information:

The Department of Political Science at UW-Madison is highly rated and is a leader in its field. Our department is multidisciplinary and has a highly collaborative environment. Madison as a city is the consistently ranked at the top of the best places to live in the U.S. It offers an ideal combination of natural beauty, stimulating cultural events, outstanding schools, and outdoor recreation.

The College of Letters & Science is committed to creating an inclusive environment in which all of us - students, staff, and faculty - can thrive. Ours is a community in which we all are welcome. Most importantly, we strive to build a community in which all of us feel a great sense of belonging. There is no excellence without diversity, equity and inclusion in all its forms; diverse teams are more creative and successful than homogeneous ones. We are better when we are diverse and when we acknowledge, celebrate and honor our diversity, equity and inclusion. In acknowledging and honoring our diversity, we also assume a responsibility to support and stand up for each other.

How to Apply:

Apply online at "Jobs at UW" (<http://jobs.wisc.edu>) under job number 286568. Applications must be received through UW-Madison's online application system. Applications submitted outside of this system will not be considered. To begin the application process please click on the 'Apply Now' button. You will be asked to create a profile and upload a C.V., cover letter, a research statement, a teaching statement, and 2 samples of written work (please upload these 2 samples together). You will also be asked to provide contact information for three (3) references as part of your online application; each reference will receive an electronic link through which they can upload a signed letter of reference.

Please note that applicants will be evaluated based upon submitted application materials and therefore should speak to and include evidence of their qualifications.

The deadline for assuring full consideration is October 8, 2023, however the position will remain open and applications may be considered until the position is filled.

Employment will require an institutional reference check regarding any misconduct. To be considered, applicants must upload a signed 'Authorization to Release Information' form as part of the application. The authorization form and a definition of 'misconduct' can be found here: <https://hr.wisc.edu/institutional-reference-check/https://hr.wisc.edu/institutional-reference-check/>

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/6/2023

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 12458

University of Wisconsin, Madison

Rank: Assistant Professor

Job Summary:

The Political Science department at the University of Wisconsin-Madison seeks to hire a faculty member at the level of Assistant Professor who will publish original research and teach courses on the subject of political violence in the field of comparative politics. The successful candidate will teach at the undergraduate and graduate level while maintaining excellence in research. The successful candidate will contribute to an inclusive, fair, and equitable environment that fosters engagement and a sense of belonging for faculty, staff, students and members of the broader community. Faculty positions include a commitment to the important functions of research, instruction, as well as professional and university service as appropriate to faculty rank.

Responsibilities:

Responsibilities include conducting research and maintaining an active research program, teaching at the graduate and undergraduate level, and service at the professional and university level.

The successful candidate will proactively contribute to, support, and advance the college's commitment to diversity, equity, and inclusion among all aspects of teaching, research, and service.

Education:

Preferred

Ph.D. in Political Science by start of appointment, the subfield of comparative politics, with a specialization in the subject of political violence.

Qualifications:

Candidates must have an excellent publication record or a productive research program with strong publishing potential.

The successful candidate will demonstrate experience with fostering or the ability to foster an inclusive and equity-centered teaching, learning, departmental, and research environment where all can thrive.

Work Type:

Full Time: 100%

This position may require some work to be performed in-person, onsite, at a designated campus work location. Some work may be performed remotely, at an offsite, non-campus work location.

Appointment Type, Duration:

Ongoing/Renewable

Anticipated Begin Date:

AUGUST 19, 2024

Salary:

Negotiable

ACADEMIC (9 months)

Additional Information:

The Department of Political Science at UW-Madison is highly rated and is a leader in its field. Our department is multidisciplinary and has a highly collaborative environment. Madison as a city is the consistently ranked at the top of the best places to live in the U.S. It offers an ideal combination of natural beauty, stimulating cultural events, outstanding schools, and outdoor recreation.

The College of Letters & Science is committed to creating an inclusive environment in which all of us - students, staff, and faculty - can thrive. Ours is a community in which we all are welcome. Most importantly, we strive to build a community in which all of us feel a great sense of belonging. There is no excellence without diversity, equity and inclusion in all its forms; diverse teams are more creative and successful than homogeneous ones. We are better when we are diverse and when we acknowledge, celebrate and honor our diversity, equity and inclusion. In acknowledging and honoring our diversity, we also assume a responsibility to support and stand up for each other.

How to Apply:

Apply online at "Jobs at UW" (<http://jobs.wisc.edu>) under job number 286570. Applications must be received through UW-Madison's online application system. Applications submitted outside of this system will not be considered. To begin the application process please click on the 'Apply Now' button. You will be asked to create a profile and upload a C.V., cover letter, a research statement, a teaching statement, and 2 samples of written work (please upload these 2 samples together). You will also be asked to provide contact information for three (3) references as part of your online application; each reference will receive an electronic link through which they can upload a signed letter of reference.

Please note that applicants will be evaluated based upon submitted application materials and therefore should speak to and include evidence of their qualifications.

The deadline for assuring full consideration is October 8, 2023, however the position will remain open and applications may be considered until the position is filled.

Employment will require an institutional reference check regarding any misconduct. To be considered, applicants must upload a signed 'Authorization to Release Information' form as part of the application. The authorization form and a definition of 'misconduct' can be found here: <https://hr.wisc.edu/institutional-reference-check/https://hr.wisc.edu/institutional-reference-check/>

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/6/2023

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 12459

Hong Kong University of Science and Technology

Rank: Faculty Positions (Global China Studies and Quantitative Social Science)

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Methodology, Public Administration

Specializations: China, Political Economy, Research Methods

The Division of Social Science at The Hong Kong University of Science and Technology seeks to fill several positions in Global China Studies and Quantitative Social Science.

The University is an English-speaking research university with international faculty. The Division of Social Science is highly ranked internationally.

We invite applications at all ranks (Assistant Professor/Associate Professor/Professor). Preference will be given to candidates with an active research agenda related to contemporary China and quantitative social sciences with demonstrated excellence in scholarship and in research methodology (quantitative or qualitative). Subfields are open but we are particularly interested in candidates who focus on political science, sociology, psychology and economics.

For more information about the Division, please visit <https://sosc.hkust.edu.hk>.

Applicants should have a PhD degree by the time of employment. Successful candidates are expected to teach at both the undergraduate and graduate levels.

Salary is competitive and will be commensurate with qualifications and experience. Fringe benefits including annual leave, medical and dental benefits will be provided. Housing benefits will also be provided where applicable. Initial appointment at Associate/Assistant Professor rank will normally be on a three-year contract, renewable subject to mutual agreement. A gratuity will be payable upon successful completion of contract.

Applicants should send a letter of interest, curriculum vitae, research statement, teaching statement, a sample publication, and teaching records electronically via Interfolio at <http://apply.interfolio.com/131209>.

Associate/Assistant Professor applicants should arrange for 3 letters of recommendation to be sent via interfolio. For tenured positions, references will be solicited only after both sides agree to proceed with the process of appointment.

Review of applications will start on 1 November 2023 and the search will continue until the positions are filled.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/5/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12457

University of Texas, Austin

Rank: Latin American Comparative Policy and Politics (Assistant Professor)

Latin American Comparative Policy and Politics (Assistant Professor)

The University of Texas at Austin: LBJ School of Public Affairs

Location: Austin, TX

Open Date: Sep 01, 2023

Description

Latin American Comparative Policy and Politics (Assistant Professor)

The Lyndon B. Johnson School of Public Affairs (LBJ School) at the University of Texas at Austin invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor of Latin American Comparative Policy and Politics to begin in Fall of academic year 2024-25 (with an August 2024 start date). This faculty position will be housed at the LBJ School with commitments to cross-list elective courses and collaborate with the Teresa Lozano Long Institute of Latin American Studies (LLILAS).

The appointee's research may investigate political, social, and economic phenomena in the region with a focus on democracy, human rights, and comparative policy. Some potential topics of study in this field include:

- Comparative policy: analyzing policy decisions and outcomes across different countries, with a focus on issues such as redistribution, education, health care, labor, and social welfare.
- Democratic consolidation: studying the quality and stability of democratic institutions, the role of civil society and social movements, and the impact of economic development on democratic consolidation.
- Human rights: examining the protection and promotion of human rights, the role of international institutions, and the influence of social and political actors in promoting or hindering human rights protections.

The appointee will teach core courses either in the master's program or the new undergraduate program as well as electives in the areas of specialization described above. The appointee's research will have direct relevance to public policy. The appointee will conduct and publish scholarly research and seek grant opportunities in support of their research and/or teaching activities. The appointee will participate in faculty governance in the LBJ School.

One of the nation's top ten programs in public affairs, the LBJ School comprises more than 40 faculty members and approximately 300 graduate students, and offers multi-disciplinary curricula leading to the degrees of Master of Public Affairs, Master of Global Policy Studies, and Ph.D. in Public Policy. In its 75-year history, LLILAS is among the largest Latin American studies centers in the US, with an academic unit with several undergraduate and graduate degrees and an interdisciplinary research and outreach center. LLILAS and the LBJ School have had a longstanding relationship, which includes teaching and research initiatives in areas such as public health, environmental and migratory policy, and security; faculty-led research projects, student opportunities, scholarly programming, and public outreach. LLILAS and the LBJ School offer an MA dual degree. This degree responds to an increased need in both public and private sectors for policy specialists, who have a global perspective on public affairs and related fields, and a desire to specialize on Latin America and US-Latin American relations.

Qualifications:

A Ph.D. in Political Science or a related field is required. ABD candidates will be considered if the doctoral degree will be complete by the time of employment. Experience in college teaching and evidence of scholarship or scholarly potential is preferred.

Application Instructions:

Interested candidates can submit their cover letter, CV, statement of teaching, three years of teaching evaluations (or fewer if unavailable), three letters of reference, and one article-length writing sample via <https://apptrkr.com/4559455>. Questions about the position can be directed to Sergio Garcia-Rios at garcia.rios@utexas.edu. Questions about the application can be directed to Shannon LaFevers at slafevers@austin.utexas.edu

The search committee will begin considering applications October 15th. The position will remain open until filled.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/5/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12454

New York University Abu Dhabi

Rank: Post-Doctoral Associate in the Division of Social Science (Political Science) - Dr. Leonid Peisakhin

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Methodology

Description

We are inviting applications for a three-year Post-Doctoral Associate in the Division of Social Science at NYU Abu Dhabi from individuals who have or will soon receive a PhD in political science or a related discipline. The appointment will begin September 1, 2024, subject to final budget approval.

The post-doctoral associate will spend half their time on independent research, and half of their time on collaborative research with Drs. Leonid Peisakhin, Joan Barceló, and Jeff Jensen. The collaborative research will be in the field of historical legacy research, with an emphasis on the legacy of conflict and historical institutions. This position is open as to geographical area.

The ideal candidate will specialize in historical political economy and will have an interest in conflict studies, post-conflict reconciliation, as well as broader topics in political economy; strong candidates with research interests in other subfields will also be given full consideration. Advanced methodological training is essential; this includes high-level familiarity with causal inference and econometric techniques. Experience working with historical sources and familiarity with public opinion research would be helpful, but not required.

The position does not require teaching, but it may be possible to get teaching experience for compensation. You would be part of a group of over 20 post-doctoral fellows and 70 faculty in the Division of Social Science.

Please use the following link to apply: <https://apply.interfolio.com/130629>

For consideration, applicants need to submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae with a full publication list, statement of research interests and two letters of reference, all in PDF format by December 1, 2023. Applications will be considered on a rolling basis. If you have any questions, please email Dr. Leonid Peisakhin leonid.peisakhin@nyu.edu

About NYU Abu Dhabi

NYU Abu Dhabi is a degree-granting research university with a fully integrated liberal arts and science undergraduate program in the Arts, Sciences, Social Sciences, Humanities, and Engineering. NYU Abu Dhabi, NYU New York, and NYU Shanghai, form the backbone of NYU's global network university, an interconnected network of portal campuses and academic centers across six continents that enable seamless international mobility of students and faculty in their pursuit of academic and scholarly activity. This global university represents a transformative shift in higher education, one in which the intellectual and creative endeavors of academia are shaped and examined through an international and multicultural perspective. As a major intellectual hub at the crossroads of the Arab world, NYUAD serves as a center for scholarly thought, advanced research, knowledge creation, and sharing, through its academic, research, and creative activities.

EOE/AA/Minorities/Females/Vet/Disabled/Sexual Orientation/Gender Identity Employer

UAE Nationals are encouraged to apply

Working for NYUAD

To help Postdoctoral Associates and faculty thrive, we offer a comprehensive benefits package. This starts with a generous relocation allowance to ensure a smooth transition to Abu Dhabi. It includes a competitive salary; housing and transportation allowances; educational assistance for your dependents attending school in the UAE; and access to health and wellness services.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 12/1/2023

Date Posted: 8/31/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12422

New York University Abu Dhabi

Rank: Post-Doctoral Associate in the Division of Social Science (Political Science) - Dr. Leonid Peisakhin

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Methodology

Description

We are inviting applications for a three-year Post-Doctoral Associate in the Division of Social Science at NYU Abu Dhabi from individuals who have or will soon receive a PhD in political science or a related discipline. The appointment will begin September 1, 2024, subject to final budget approval.

The post-doctoral associate will spend half their time on independent research, and half of their time on collaborative research with Drs. Leonid Peisakhin, Joan Barceló, and Jeff Jensen. The collaborative research will be in the field of historical legacy research, with an emphasis on the legacy of conflict and historical institutions. This position is open as to geographical area.

The ideal candidate will specialize in historical political economy and will have an interest in conflict studies, post-conflict reconciliation, as well as broader topics in political economy; strong candidates with research interests in other subfields will also be given full consideration. Advanced methodological training is essential; this includes high-level familiarity with causal inference and econometric techniques. Experience working with historical sources and familiarity with public opinion research would be helpful, but not required.

The position does not require teaching, but it may be possible to get teaching experience for compensation. You would be part of a group of over 20 post-doctoral fellows and 70 faculty in the Division of Social Science.

Please use the following link to apply: <https://apply.interfolio.com/130629>

For consideration, applicants need to submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae with a full publication list, statement of research interests and two letters of reference, all in PDF format by December 1, 2023. Applications will be considered on a rolling basis. If you have any questions, please email Dr. Leonid Peisakhin leonid.peisakhin@nyu.edu

About NYU Abu Dhabi

NYU Abu Dhabi is a degree-granting research university with a fully integrated liberal arts and science undergraduate program in the Arts, Sciences, Social Sciences, Humanities, and Engineering. NYU Abu Dhabi, NYU New York, and NYU Shanghai, form the backbone of NYU's global network university, an interconnected network of portal campuses and academic centers across six continents that enable seamless international mobility of students and faculty in their pursuit of academic and scholarly activity. This global university represents a transformative shift in higher education, one in which the intellectual and creative endeavors of academia are shaped and examined through an international and multicultural perspective. As a major intellectual hub at the crossroads of the Arab world, NYUAD serves as a center for scholarly thought, advanced research, knowledge creation, and sharing, through its academic, research, and creative activities.

EOE/AA/Minorities/Females/Vet/Disabled/Sexual Orientation/Gender Identity Employer

UAE Nationals are encouraged to apply

Working for NYUAD

To help Postdoctoral Associates and faculty thrive, we offer a comprehensive benefits package. This starts with a generous relocation allowance to ensure a smooth transition to Abu Dhabi. It includes a competitive salary; housing and transportation allowances; educational assistance for your dependents attending school in the UAE; and access to health and wellness services.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 12/1/2023

Date Posted: 8/31/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12423

New York University Arts and Science

Rank: Assistant Professor - Social Media and Computational Social Science

Subfield(s): Political Theory, Public Policy, Comparative Politics

Specializations: Political Communication, Social Movements, Quantitative Methods

Assistant Professor - Social Media and Computational Social Science
Center for Social Media and Politics
New York University Arts and Science

The NYU School of Arts and Science seeks excellent candidates whose research stands at the intersection of digital media and politics. This tenure track, assistant professor position is open to scholars across disciplines. The successful candidate will join the appropriate academic department in the NYU School of Arts and Science and is expected to play an integral role in the NYU Center for Social Media and Politics (CSMaP). Methodologically, applicants should demonstrate a mastery of quantitative and/or computational methods in the social sciences. Substantively, applicants should have research interests that align with and/or compliment the areas of interest at CSMaP. The position is to begin September 1, 2024, pending budgetary and administrative approval.

In compliance with NYC's Pay Transparency Act, the annual base salary range for this position is $100,000 - $150,000. New York University considers factors such as (but not limited to) the scope and responsibilities of the position, the candidate's work experience, education/training, key skills, internal peer equity, as well as market and organizational considerations when extending an offer.

Qualifications

Candidates are expected to possess a PhD by September 1, 2024 in a relevant social science or related discipline; to have records of excellent research; and to indicate the potential to be future disciplinary leaders in their respective fields of expertise.

The School of Arts and Science at NYU is dedicated to the goal of building a diverse and inclusive academic community. Accordingly, we strongly encourage applications from candidates who demonstrate through their scholarship, teaching and mentoring, and/or service engagement, a commitment to these goals. We are particularly interested in hearing about steps you have taken (or plan to take) to foster an open and inclusive intellectual environment in the classroom, in the department and on campus, and/or in your field more generally.

Initial application deadline is September 5, 2023, but applications will be considered until the position is filled. Interested candidates should submit: a cover letter, CV, a research statement, a teaching statement, a one-page statement as to how the candidate will contribute to a diverse and inclusive environment at NYU, a job market paper, two additional research papers, and three letters of recommendation. All of these documents are to be uploaded to the following Interfolio link: <https://apply.interfolio.com/129573>

The Faculty of Arts and Science at NYU is at the heart of a leading research university that spans the globe. We seek scholars of the highest caliber, who embody the diversity of the United States as well as the global society in which we live. We strongly encourage applications from women, racial and ethnic minorities, and other individuals who are under-represented in the profession, across color, creed, race, ethnic and national origin, physical ability, gender and sexual identity, or any other legally protected basis. NYU affirms the value of differing perspectives on the world as we strive to build the strongest possible university with the widest reach. To learn more about the Arts and Science commitment to equality and inclusion, please read see <http://as.nyu.edu/departments/facultydiversity.html>

EOE/Affirmative Action/Minorities/Females/Vet/Disabled/Sexual Orientation/Gender Identity.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/31/2023

Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 12428

Rhodes College

Rank: Assistant Professor of International Relations/Comparative Politics

The Department of International Studies at Rhodes College invites applications for a tenure-track position at the rank of assistant professor to begin Fall of 2024. Rhodes College believes that diversity and inclusion are critical to our success as an institution, and we seek to recruit, develop, and retain the most talented people from a diverse candidate pool. Furthermore, Rhodes College is committed to supporting the work-life alignment of its faculty. We encourage applications from candidates who have expertise in security, peace, and conflict. The search is open in terms of regional or area studies expertise. This position has a 3:2 teaching load, and applicants should demonstrate a firm commitment to teaching and research in an undergraduate, liberal arts environment. The successful candidate will have classroom experience and is expected to teach introductory and advanced courses in either International Relations or Comparative Politics. Additional courses will be based on the candidate's area of specialization. Preference will be given to candidates who can teach an upper-level course on international conflict or security and those who can contribute to an interdisciplinary atmosphere. The successful candidate is expected to earn their Ph.D. by July 2024.

Rhodes is a nationally ranked residential college committed to the liberal arts and sciences. Our highest priorities are intellectual engagement, service to others, commitment to diversity and inclusion, and honor among ourselves. Our students live and learn on one of the country's most beautiful campuses, located in the heart of Memphis, an economic, medical, and culturally diverse center, making Rhodes one of a handful of prominent liberal arts colleges in a major metropolitan area.

Rhodes College prides itself on being a diverse, inclusive, and welcoming environment. We are an equal opportunity employer committed to diversity and anti-discrimination.

A complete application will include 1) a cover letter that addresses the strengths the candidate will bring as a teacher and scholar to a liberal arts college environment; 2) a curriculum vitae; 3) a separate statement that addresses how the candidate's experiences with teaching, scholarship, and/or service will contribute to a college community that includes a commitment to diversity and inclusion as one of its core values; 4) a writing sample; 5) an unofficial graduate transcript; and 6) evidence of teaching performance (if applicable). Review of completed applications will begin on October 1, 2023, and will continue until the position is filled. Candidates from backgrounds typically underrepresented in higher education are strongly encouraged to apply. Letters of recommendation will only be solicited for short-listed applicants, at which time you will be prompted for the names and contact information for three (3) references. Background checks are required before candidates can be brought to campus for interviews.

For further information, please contact Dr. Chien-Kai Chen, chair of the search committee, at [chenc@rhodes.edu].

Please apply here: [https://rhodes.wd5.myworkdayjobs.com/Rhodes_Careers/job/Memphis-Tennessee/Assistant-Professor-of-International-Relations-Comparative-Politics_JR-471].

Start Date: Fall 2024
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/31/2023
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 12427

Emory University

Rank: Assistant/Associate/Full Professor—Comparative Politics

Emory University and the Department of Political Science are committed to building a diverse and inclusive academic community for our faculty, staff, and students. We are recruiting for an open rank position in Comparative Politics. We welcome applications from scholars with a broad range of substantive foci and methodological approaches to the study of comparative politics. We also welcome applications from scholars whose teaching and research interests would allow for collaborations within the department and across Emory.

JOB DESCRIPTION

Assistant professors are expected to teach undergraduate and graduate courses, have a promising research agenda that encompasses strong theoretical, analytical and empirical skills, and contribute to department and university service at a level appropriate to rank. The candidate should have completed the Ph.D. or be very close to completing the Ph.D. by September 2024.

Associate and full professors are expected to teach undergraduate and graduate courses, mentor students, conduct impactful research in their specialized area, and contribute to department and university service and leadership. Successful candidates will have an active research program, a record of publication and external funding commensurate with the proposed rank, and a record of excellence in teaching, mentoring, and service/leadership. Candidates for a tenured appointment must have a Ph.D. in political science or a related field.

Additional information relating to faculty responsibilities can be found at the following link to the Emory College of Arts and Sciences Faculty Responsibilities document: <http://college.emory.edu/faculty/documents/faculty/faculty-responsibilities.pdf>.

APPLICATION INSTRUCTIONS

A complete application must include a cover letter, a statement describing current and future research, curriculum vitae, a writing sample, and a list of three references. Untenured candidates should also supply three recommendation letters, a graduate transcript, and a statement of teaching philosophy and experience. Emory University is committed to student and faculty diversity, equity, and inclusion. All applicants should also submit a brief statement describing their experience and vision for the teaching and mentorship of students from diverse backgrounds.

All applications should be submitted electronically at <http://apply.interfolio.com/130944>. Candidates are strongly encouraged to apply by September 29, when we will begin review of applications. All applications received by October 29, 2023 will be given full consideration.

Emory University is an equal employment opportunity and affirmative action employer. We encourage applications from individuals who have been historically underrepresented in academia, including women, people of color, LGBTQI+ people, people with disabilities, and veterans.

Please contact Michelle Brown, Program Coordinator, at michelle.brown@emory.edu, with any questions about the application process.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 10/29/2023

Date Posted: 8/29/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12388

California State University, Fullerton

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

The Department of Political Science in the Division of Politics, Administration, and Justice at California State University, Fullerton, invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position in Political Science with an appointment to begin Fall 2024.

California State University, Fullerton (CSUF) is a minority-serving institution, affirmative action, and equal opportunity employer. CSUF is firmly committed to increasing the diversity of the campus community and the curriculum and fostering an inclusive environment within which students, staff, administrators, and faculty thrive. Candidates who can contribute to this goal through their teaching, research, advising and other activities are encouraged to identify their strengths and experiences. Individuals advancing the University's strategic diversity goals and those from groups whose underrepresentation in the American professoriate has been severe and longstanding are particularly encouraged to apply. CSUF is committed to retaining all faculty and has established affinity groups you can join to support your success.

The Dean's Office of the College of Humanities and Social Sciences (H&SS) also supports the Collective for Justice, Equity & Transformation (CoJET). CoJET consists of a team of H&SS faculty whose expertise addresses issues of equity, diversity, justice, community, and organizational transformation. CoJET aims to transform higher education structures, policies, and practices by focusing on college-based initiatives. The CSU is currently engaged in a directed multi-year initiative to improve equity in graduation rates for all students, regardless of racial, ethnic or financial background.

Position

The Political Science Department in the Division of Politics, Administration & Justice at California State University, Fullerton, seeks a candidate whose primary field of teaching and research is Comparative Politics. Regional expertise of Latin America and/or Caribbean is preferred; however, other regions and countries outside of China and Russia will be considered. Additionally, candidates with an interest in one or more of the following areas are encouraged to apply: gender politics, identity politics, human rights, political violence and security, political engagement, political accountability, and democratic consolidation. The successful candidate would be responsible for teaching the introductory course in Comparative Politics, upper-level courses in the candidate's area of specialty, and a graduate-level course in Comparative Politics. In addition, the successful candidate will have the opportunity to collaborate with faculty in Women and Gender Studies. CSUF encourages excellent teaching, scholarship, and service.

Preference will be given to candidates interested in directing the department's Center of Academic Excellence (CAE) Intelligence Community Scholars Program and the Pre-Professional Certificate in Security Studies.

CSUF faculty are committed teacher/scholars who bring research and creative discovery to life for students in classrooms, labs, studios, and individually mentored projects. They teach broadly in the curricula of their departments, advise students, and serve on departmental and university-wide committees. The primary responsibilities of the person in this position will include the development and teaching of introductory and core courses in the discipline and the development of courses in their area(s) of specialization. Specific courses that this person will teach include introductory and graduate courses in comparative politics. Faculty generally teach three classes per semester. A reduced teaching load is provided for the first two years. This person will also be responsible for producing scholarship commensurate with the requirements for tenure. The successful candidate will be expected to contribute to and participate in the life and development of the department, advise students, serve on committees, and participate in the broader university and disciplinary communities.

Required Qualifications

- Ph.D. in Political Science at time of appointment with an emphasis in Comparative Politics.
- Demonstrated commitment to excellence in teaching a diverse student population.
- A strong record of scholarly accomplishments appropriate to the level of appointment [publications, conference presentations, etc.]
- Experience and commitment to being collaborative and a good colleague.
- Ability to balance strong teaching, scholarship, and service.
- Demonstrated commitment to working effectively with students from intersecting marginalized social groups

Preferred Qualifications

- Experience in working with interdisciplinary programs.
- Regional expertise of Latin America and/or Caribbean.
- Willingness to direct mentoring/networking and certificate programs.

Application

A complete online application must be received by electronic submission to be considered. To apply, please visit <http://hr.fullerton.edu/careers/Faculty.php>, choose full-time faculty, search for the position 531262, and provide the following required materials:

- cover letter in which you respond to the required qualifications
- curriculum vitae
- research statement describing an area of research and current/future research agenda. Please limit to two pages. describing teaching approach and philosophy. Please limit to two pages.
- teaching statement
- candidate statement on commitment to inclusive excellence
 - o This statement provides the candidate's demonstrated experience in promoting diversity, inclusion, and social justice in higher education and/or their professional careers and their future aspirations in doing so. The statement shall address the following criteria:
 1. The candidate can demonstrate knowledge of barriers for underrepresented students and faculty in higher education.
 2. The candidate has experience in and is committed to engaging in service with underrepresented populations in higher education.

3. The candidate has experience in and is committed to teaching and/or mentoring underrepresented students in a higher education environment.
 4. The candidate has experience integrating underrepresented populations and communities into scholarly and creative activities.
 - A list of three references with relevant contact information
- o Finalists must submit three letters of recommendation. Please have these ready for the referents to submit. On the References page of the online application, enter information and email addresses for three referents who will provide a confidential letter of reference for your application. At the appropriate time in the search process, they will receive a request via email along with information on uploading the letter. You can verify that CSUF has received each letter by logging back into your applicant portal.

Finalists will be asked to have each of their three referents submit a letter of recommendation. Please have these ready for the referents to offer should you proceed to this search phase.

Please direct all questions about the position to: Dr. Valerie O'Regan, Search Committee Chair, at voregan@fullerton.edu or call 657-278-3468.

Application Deadline

To be assured full consideration, all application materials must be received by October 6, 2023. The anticipated appointment date is August 2024.

The College and Department

The Department of Political Science provides students with an education that is grounded in theory and evidence-based research. We prepare our students for law school or graduate school, government employment on the local, state and national levels, foreign service, teaching, business, journalism, or leadership in civic and political activities. The Department of Political Science is situated within the Division of Politics, Administration & Justice, a multi-disciplinary Division that provides faculty excellent opportunities for collaboration with colleagues from within Public Administration and Criminal Justice. The Division is housed within the College of Humanities and Social Sciences with programs and departments that offer students the breadth of a traditional liberal arts education in the humanities and social sciences while preparing them to be members of a global society participating in a wide range of professions or advanced academic or professional study.

Compensation

The Assistant Professor (Academic Year) classification salary range is $5,405 to $11,994 monthly (12 monthly payments per academic year). The anticipated hiring range is $6,690 to $6,790 per month.

Salary offered is commensurate with experience and qualifications. In addition, the California Equal Pay Act prohibits employers from paying its employees less than those of the opposite sex and/or another race or ethnicity for substantially similar work (https://www.dir.ca.gov/dlse/california_equal_pay_act.htm).

Summer research grants, moving expenses, start-up funds, and a reduced teaching load may be available.

CSUF Benefits

An excellent comprehensive benefits package includes health/vision/dental plans; spouse, domestic partner, and dependent fee-waiver;

access to campus child-care; and a defined-benefit retirement through the state system and optional tax sheltering opportunities. For a detailed description of benefits, please visit <https://hr.fullerton.edu/total-wellness/>.

Additional Information

Multiple positions may be hired from this recruitment based on the strength of the applicant pool.

CSU Policies

The person holding this position is considered a 'mandated reporter' under the California Child Abuse and Neglect Reporting Act and must comply with the requirements set forth in CSU Executive Order 1083, revised July 21, 2017, as a condition of employment.

A background check (including a criminal records check) must be completed satisfactorily before any candidate can be formally offered a position with the CSU. Failure to satisfactorily complete the background check may affect the application status of applicants or the continued employment of current CSU employees who apply for the position.

Reasonable accommodations will be provided for qualified applicants with disabilities who self-disclose.

Notice of Non-Discrimination based on Gender or Sex and Contact Information for Title IX Coordinator (<http://www.fullerton.edu/titleix/about/notice.php>).

In accordance with the California State University (CSU) Out-of-State Employment Policy, the CSU is a state entity whose business operations reside within the State of California. It requires hiring employees to perform CSU-related work within the State of California.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 10/6/2023

Date Posted: 8/28/2023

Salary: $80,000 - $89,999

eJobs ID: 12380

Copenhagen Business School

Rank: Postdoc in Business and Government

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Methodology, Public Policy

We invite applications for a 2-year postdoc on the project "The Determinants and Consequences of Legislative Capacity" starting August 1st, 2024. The project is led by associate professors Florian M. Hollenbach (CBS) and David Fortunato (UCSD) and funded by the Independent Research Fund Denmark. The postdoc will be based at the Department of International Economics, Government and Business (EGB) at the Copenhagen Business School. It is a 100% research postdoc—there are no teaching requirements. It is our hope that the postdoc will coauthor with the project leaders and develop publications related to the project.

The project

Because policy is written by elected representatives but implemented by unelected bureaucratic agents with their own preferences, the legislature's capacity for ex-ante policy design and ex-post oversight sets a de facto budget constraint on potential democratic responsiveness. Importantly, parliaments choose their own capacity by allocating resources necessary for legislative work, yet we observe tremendous variation in these endowments. Why? In this project, we investigate the determinants of capacity choices and their broader implications for democratic accountability.

The “Legislative Capacity” project consists of two work packages. Work package I will focus on developing a formal theoretical model of the legislature’s choice over its capacity for policy influence. The model will consider the trade-offs for current majorities to increase capacity to improve its policy making power while also handing more efficient institutions to future governments, should it lose power. Work package II moves on to empirically investigate the relationships predicted by the theoretical model. To do so, we will collect data on legislative capacity in OECD countries over the last 20 years, as well as subnational legislatures.

The postdoc will work on both packages, contributing to development of the central theoretical model, data collection, analysis, and writing. It is essential that applicants have strong research potential in comparative political economy and the ability to work in a team environment, collaborating/co-authoring with other team members.

Non-exhaustive examples of research areas that the postdoc may cover:

Comparative Political Economy
Social Data Science
Quantitative Methods
Formal Modelling
Political Institutions

Department

EGB is a multidisciplinary department that conducts high-quality research in the fields of international business and political science with direct relevance to business, policymakers, and the public. Research at the department focuses on two principal focus areas Business & Government and International Business, in relation to societal challenges. To learn more about the research and education of the department, please visit the departmental homepage; www.cbs.dk/egb.

Qualifications

The applicant must have completed – or be close to completing – a PhD in the political science, political economy, or a related field. The applicant must have excellent research skills and proficiency in English (written and spoken). The ideal applicant will have solid skills in formal modelling and advanced quantitative methods.

To fulfill the research requirements of the position, the postdoc is expected to be physically present at the department on a regular basis.

Copenhagen Business School has a broad commitment to the excellence, distinctiveness and relevance of its teaching and research programs. Candidates who wish to join us should demonstrate enthusiasm for working in an organization of this type.

Appointment and salary will be in accordance with the Ministry of Finance’s agreement with the Central Academic Organisation (presently approximately $70,080 USD including pension contribution).

Applications must be sent via the electronic recruitment system, using the link; <https://www.cbs.dk/en/about-cbs/jobs-cbs/vacant-positions/postdoc-in-business-and-government-copenhagen-business-school-2-years>

Applications must include:

A cover letter outlining the candidate’s main strengths and abilities. Transcript(s) and a full CV

A job market paper

A complete, numbered list of publications (indicating titles, co-authors, page numbers and year) with an * marking of the academic productions to be considered during the assessment. A maximum of 5 publications for assessment are allowed. Applicants are requested to prioritise their publications in relation to the field of this job advertisement.

Copies of the publications marked with an *. Only publications written in English (or another specified principal language, according to research tradition) or one of the Scandinavian languages will be taken into consideration)

A brief (1-page) research statement for the 2-year postdoc period, and possibly beyond.

Recruitment procedure

The Recruitment Committee will shortlist a minimum of two applicants; when possible five or more applicants will be shortlisted. The shortlisted applicants will be assessed by the Assessment Committee. All applicants will be notified of their status in the recruitment process shortly after the application deadline.

The applicants selected for assessment will be notified about the composition of the Assessment Committee and later in the process about the result of the assessment.

Once the recruitment process is completed each applicant will be notified of the outcome of their application.

Closing date: October 30, 2023

Copenhagen Business School must receive all application material, including all appendices (see items above), by the application deadline.

For further information about the project, please contact: Associate Professor Florian M. Hollenbach, e-mail: fho.egb@cbs.dk.

For further information about the department (EGB), please contact: Head of Department Jens Gammelgaard, e-mail jg.egb@cbs.dk.

Details about Copenhagen Business School are available at www.cbs.dk

Closing date: 30 October 2023.

Apply online

<https://www.cbs.dk/en/about-cbs/jobs-cbs/vacant-positions/postdoc-in-business-and-government-copenhagen-business-school-2-years>

CBS is a globally recognised business school with deep roots in the Nordic socio-economic model. We have a broad focus on business and societal challenges of the 21st century. As such we have a full portfolio of high-quality disciplinary and interdisciplinary research and education that has equipped generations of professionals and leaders in the private sector and beyond.

Located at Frederiksberg, Denmark, the school has approx. 21,000 full and part-time students, 760 full-time faculty members, 210 PhD students and 680 administrative staff, and a full portfolio of Bachelor, Master's, MBA/EMBA, PhD and Executive programmes delivered in English and Danish.

Our global profile carries the obligation to develop the transformational capabilities of students, graduates and business leaders via our educational activities and opportunities for lifelong learning. Complex challenges call for joint action, and therefore our strategy focuses on strengthening current and starting new partnerships with other sciences, the business community, authorities and civil society.

CBS is working continuously on becoming a diverse and inclusive organization, and we encourage all regardless of gender identity and expression, ethnicity, religious beliefs, LGBT+ status, cultural background etc. to apply.

Reach out to us if you need assistance in the application or recruitment process, if there is something we should know, or if as a person with disability you wish to make use of your preferential access.

Start Date: Summer 2024

Application Deadline: 10/30/2023

Date Posted: 8/25/2023

Salary: $70,000 - $79,999

eJobs ID: 12363

Ohio State University

Rank: Comparative Politics

Description:

The Department of Political Science at The Ohio State University invites applications in Comparative Politics for one position at the rank of assistant professor. The appointment will begin in autumn 2024. We are open as to candidates' scholarly focus, including such topics as economic and/or political development; regime dynamics; comparative institutions; courts, crime, and insecurity; social welfare and health; political, social, or economic inequalities; the politics of race or ethnicity; and others. Candidates are expected to have methodological training appropriate to their research interests. Scholars who can work collaboratively with a multidisciplinary team are of particular interest, as are those who can engage with other programs and interdisciplinary research centers at the university. Geographic focus is open, although we are particularly interested in candidates with expertise in areas not already covered by faculty in the department.

Qualifications:

Candidates should have a PhD in Political Science or related appropriate discipline, or expect to complete the degree by August of 2024. Candidates should demonstrate a record of publications and/or working papers, and provide evidence of accomplishments in teaching. Responsibilities of the position include maintaining a robust research program, including actively seeking external funding, contributing to graduate and undergraduate teaching and mentoring, and engaged service to the department, university, and the profession. Salary will be commensurate with the candidate's experience and qualifications. Applicants must have completed all doctoral degree requirements by the time of their appointment. Inquiries may be directed to Professor Marcus Kurtz, at kurtz.61@osu.edu. Appointment is contingent on the university's verification of credentials and other information required by law and/or university policies, including but not limited to a criminal background check.

Application Instructions:

Apply to The Ohio State University Careers website at https://osu.wd1.myworkdayjobs.com/OSUCareers/job/Columbus-Campus/Assistant-Professor_R87426-1. A competitive application consists of the following required elements: a cover letter, curriculum vitae, research and teaching statements, an unofficial transcript, one or more writing samples, and three letters of reference. We also invite candidates to consider providing an optional statement that reflects upon their experiences and endeavors related to OSU's Shared Values (see below).

How to Apply:

You will be presented with the opportunity to attach up to five documents in the Application Documents section. Please include the following:

- Attachment 1: Cover Letter
- Attachment 2: Curriculum Vitae and unofficial transcript in a single file
- Attachment 3: Teaching Statement and Research Statement in a single file
- Attachment 4: Two or more writing samples in a single file
- Attachment 5 (optional): Values Statement: Description of efforts that reflect Ohio State's Shared Values.

You will be sent an email with instructions to provide names and contact information for three reference letters following submission of your application materials.

The Ohio State University's Shared Values include Excellence and Impact, Diversity and Innovation, Inclusion and Equity, Care and Compassion, and Integrity and Respect. Our university community welcomes differences, encourages open-minded exploration and courageous thinking, and upholds freedom of expression. We define diversity broadly and value multiple dimensions of diversity including, but not limited to demographic, religion, country of origin, perspective, ability status, and background.

Ohio State prides itself on welcoming a wide range of viewpoints and providing opportunities for all to deepen and develop their intellectual curiosities. As a land-grant university, we recognize and understand that a diverse faculty, staff, and student body in which all may engage in open dialogue, be exposed to new ideas and perspectives, belong, and feel valued and included is essential to our efforts in meeting our mission of academic excellence and public service.

Please share your own demonstrated efforts in your research, teaching, and/or outreach and engagement that reflect Ohio State's Shared Values and that might further advance our mission and institutional excellence.

Review of applications will begin on October 1 and will continue until the position is filled. Inquiries may be directed to Marcus Kurtz at kurtz.61@osu.edu.

About Columbus:

The Ohio State University campus is located in Columbus, the capital city of Ohio. Columbus is the Midwest's fastest-growing city and the nation's 14th largest city. Columbus offers a diverse array of welcoming neighborhoods and a vibrant arts and culture scene. Additional information about all that the Columbus area has to offer is available at <https://visit.osu.edu/experience>.

The Ohio State University is committed to enhancing academic excellence. Recruiting, supporting, and retaining faculty of the highest caliber is a core component of this commitment. In support of this, the Office of Academic Affairs (OAA) has created the Office of Dual Careers and Faculty Relocation (DCFR) to focus on supporting new and prospective faculty. This support includes dual careers services, consultation and resources related to relocation, as well as identifying opportunities to engage on campus and the surrounding community. While employment opportunities are not guaranteed, resources and consultation are available to support the partners of new and prospective faculty as they are considering The Ohio State University and throughout their transition.

The Ohio State University is an equal opportunity employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation or identity, national origin, disability status, or protected veteran status.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/25/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12368

University of Georgia

Rank: Assistant Professor

Specializations: Central America, South America, Mexico

The Department of International Affairs (DIA) at the University of Georgia invites applications for a tenure track position at the rank of Assistant Professor to begin in the fall of 2024. We seek a scholar who researches Latin America and is trained in the concepts, methods, and approaches used in the study of comparative politics. Candidates are expected to have a demonstrated ability to produce high-quality research, show promise of attracting external funding and teaching effectiveness, and be well-trained in research methods, including qualitative and/or quantitative methods. The University of Georgia supports a culture of active learning in which students think about what they are learning while they are learning it, and instructors utilize instructional practices that purposefully engage all students in the learning process.

Prospective candidates must apply for the position through the UGA Faculty Job site at: <https://www.ugajobsearch.com/postings/338135>. To complete the application, candidates will need to submit a cover letter indicating interest and qualifications, a current curriculum vita, a writing sample, teaching evaluations demonstrating excellence in instruction, original transcripts, and three letters of recommendation. Questions or hard copies of letters of recommendation can be sent to Bill Zachmann, Department of International Affairs, University of Georgia, Candler Hall 219, Athens, GA 30602 (zachmann@uga.edu). Applicants should have an earned Ph.D. degree in political science or a related discipline by August 1, 2024. Applications received by October 15, 2023 will be assured full consideration.

Georgia is well known for its quality of life, outdoor and cultural amenities, and affordability (<https://www.exploregeorgia.org> and <https://www.georgia.org/competitive-advantages/life-georgia>). UGA (www.uga.edu) is a land/sea grant institution located 75 miles northeast of Atlanta.

The University of Georgia is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, national origin, disability, or protected veteran status.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/25/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12375

University of Georgia

Rank: Lecturer

The Department of International Affairs at the University of Georgia invites applications for a Lecturer to begin in the fall of 2024. This is a nine-month academic-year appointment that is renewable on an annual basis. The Lecturer will teach eight courses a year, four courses in the fall semester and four courses in the spring semester. Typically, two or more sections of the same course are to be offered each semester and/or during the same academic year. Some courses will be capped at fewer than 20 students per class. The allocation of effort at appointment will be 100% teaching. The ideal candidate will have primary teaching and research interests in international relations and/or comparative politics. The Lecturer will be expected to teach introductory courses on global issues, comparative politics, and international relations, as well as upper-level undergraduate courses in areas such as international law, security, and human rights. Candidates are expected to have a demonstrated ability to teach current political science and international affairs research. The University of Georgia supports a culture of active learning in which students think about what they are learning while they are learning it, and instructors utilize instructional practices that purposefully engage all students in the learning process.

Lecturers are eligible to participate in professional development opportunities and receive funds for professional travel when they are available.

Prospective candidates must apply for the position through the UGA Faculty Job site at: <https://www.ugajobsearch.com/postings/338142>. To complete the application, candidates will need to submit a cover letter indicating interest and qualifications, a current curriculum vita, teaching evaluations demonstrating excellence in instruction, original transcripts, and three letters of recommendation. Questions or hard copies of letters of recommendation can be sent to Bill Zachmann, Department of International Affairs, University of Georgia, Candler Hall 219, Athens, GA 30602 (zachmann@uga.edu). Applicants should have an earned Ph.D. degree in political science or a related discipline by August 1, 2024. Applications received by October 15, 2023 will be assured full consideration.

Georgia is well known for its quality of life both outdoor and urban activities (www.georgia.gov). UGA (www.uga.edu) is a land/sea grant institution located 75 miles northeast of Atlanta.

The University of Georgia is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, national origin, disability, or protected veteran status.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/25/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12370

Universidad Catolica del Uruguay

Rank: Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Methodology

Ref: LLAMACA-181

Call for applications to fill a position of Assistant Professor (Full time) at the Department of Social Sciences

The Universidad Católica del Uruguay calls for applications to fill a position of Assistant Professor (Full time) at its Department of Social Sciences. Candidates should hold a Ph.D. or be near completion (December 2023) in Political Science or Sociology, but candidates in other social science disciplines such as Demography, Human Geography, Criminology or Social Work are also encouraged to apply. Candidates may be specialized in any substantive subarea (for example, research methods, public policy, comparative politics, political economy, social stratification, or socioeconomic inequalities).

Candidates must demonstrate excellence in teaching, an active substantive research agenda, and a demonstrated ability to publish and teach in English and Spanish. Successful candidates are expected to work full-time (160 hours per month) and start working in February or August 2024.

Applications will start being analyzed on September 30, 2023, but applications received after that will still be considered until the position is filled or the university closes the call. A complete application must contain (1) a cover letter, (2) CV, (3) an example of an undergraduate course program that the candidate would be able to teach, (4) up to 2 examples of academic research work, (5) teacher evaluations, and (6) three letters of recommendation. The application should be made electronically (<https://bpm.ucu.edu.uy/public/01LPOSD>). Letters of recommendation can be included by the candidate in the application or can be directly sent by their author to the following email: departamentos@ucu.edu.uy (Ref: LLAMACA-181 – Letter of recommendation for [Name Last name]).

The selection process will consist on the following stages. First, a short list of candidates will be selected to be interviewed by the Selection Committee in person or via videoconference in case of residing abroad. Then, 3 shortlisted candidates will be invited to the Montevideo campus to present their research and hold interviews with members of the Department and other authorities. The selection committee may request from the candidates, at any time during the process, additional materials, or the corresponding accreditations. The decisions of the selection committee will be final. The Universidad Católica del Uruguay reserves the right not to hire any candidates without responsibility of any kind at its own expense.

For additional information, applicants may contact the Department's Chair, Rosario Queirolo (rosario.queirolo@ucu.edu.uy).

Start Date: Spring 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/22/2023

Salary: $40,000 - $49,999

eJobs ID: 12350

Columbia University

Rank: Assistant Professor/Associate Professor/Professor

Columbia University's Department of Political Science invites applications for a position in comparative politics at any academic rank, from tenure-track assistant professor to tenured full professor. Candidates will be expected to sustain an active research and publication agenda and teach in undergraduate and graduate programs. All candidates must have excellent scholarship and strong promise for future development as scholars and teachers. Ph.D. required.

All applications must be submitted through Columbia University's Academic Search and Recruiting (ARS) system at <http://apply.interfolio.com/130138>.

Non-tenured applicants should provide a cover letter, curriculum vitae, three reference letters, and a writing sample. Tenured applicants should upload a vitae and letter of interest detailing current and future research plans. All applications should provide a statement addressing past and/or potential contributions to diversity and inclusion through teaching, professional activity, and/or service.

The search committee will begin reviewing applications on September 15th, and will continue to consider applications until the position is filled.

Start Date: Summer 2024

Date Posted: 8/21/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12331

New York University Graduate School of Arts and Science

Rank: Faculty Fellow

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Political Theory, International Relations

Specializations: Social Movements, Science & Technology, Urban Politics

Faculty Fellow

XE: Experimental Humanities & Social Engagement

New York University Graduate School of Arts and Science

XE: Experimental Humanities & Social Engagement, an interdisciplinary master's program in the Graduate School of Arts and Science at New York University, invites applications for a Faculty Fellow position in the social sciences. The initial appointment will be for one year beginning September 1, 2024, renewable annually for a maximum of three years, pending administrative and budgetary approval.

We seek outstanding interdisciplinary scholars of the social sciences whose work engages intersectional social justice. The successful candidate will be committed to cutting-edge interdisciplinary inquiry and their fields will include, span, or exceed: anthropology, sociology, science and technology studies, politics, or urban studies, addressing urgent topics such as displacement and migration, indigenous rights, anti-racism, decolonization, incarceration, health, or environmental justice, among others.

Faculty fellows teach three graduate seminars per year, advise and mentor students, oversee master's theses, organize public programs, and actively participate in shaping the life of the program.

XE is a highly innovative master's program and tight-knit community of scholars and practitioners who value collaborative mentoring and career building, as well as exploring new pedagogies and research methods at the intersection of creativity, criticality, and social engagement.

Qualifications:

We seek candidates with a PhD in the social sciences. While PhDs are required, we welcome candidates who have a public-facing critical or artistic practice in their field/s. Candidates should have completed their Ph.D. no earlier than 2020 and no later than by August 1, 2024.

To apply, please submit: a cover letter, curriculum vitae, a 20- to 30-page writing sample, sample syllabi for two dream classes, three letters of recommendation, and a statement of diversity and inclusion.

Applications should be submitted through Interfolio: <http://apply.interfolio.com/129772>

The search committee will begin reviewing applications on January 5, 2023 and will continue until the position is filled.

As diversity is a priority for NYU and for this position, for the latter statement we ask you to provide a brief paragraph telling us how diversity figures into your past and present teaching, research, community engagement, and/or life experience, as well as how you would bring issues of diversity to bear on the teaching and programming of XE. Information about diversity statements may be found at <http://as.nyu.edu/departments/facultydiversity/recruitment/diversity-statements.html. >

In compliance with NYC's Pay Transparency Act, the annual base salary for this position is $60,000. New York University considers factors such as (but not limited to) the scope and responsibilities of the position, the candidate's work experience, education/training, key skills, internal peer equity, as well as market and organizational considerations when extending an offer.

The Faculty of Arts and Science at NYU is at the heart of a leading research university that spans the globe. We seek scholars of the highest caliber who embody the diversity of the United States as well as the global society in which we live. We strongly encourage applications from women, racial and ethnic minorities, and other individuals who are under-represented in the profession, across color, creed, race, ethnic and national origin, physical ability, gender and sexual identity, or any other legally protected basis. NYU affirms the value of differing perspectives on the world as we strive to build the strongest possible university with the widest reach. To learn more about the FAS commitment to diversity, equality and inclusion, please read here: <http://as.nyu.edu/departments/facultydiversity.html>.

EOE/Affirmative Action/Minorities/Females/Vet/Disabled/Sexual Orientation/Gender Identity.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 1/5/2024

Date Posted: 8/21/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12334

Princeton University

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Associate, Program in Latin American Studies

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Public Policy

Program in Latin American Studies (PLAS) Postdoctoral Fellowship, 2024-2025

Job Title: Postdoctoral Research Associate

Requisition Number: D-24-LAS-00001

The Program in Latin American Studies (PLAS) is seeking candidates from any discipline who are engaged in scholarly research on topics related to Latin American Studies, including the Caribbean and Brazil, to fill Postdoctoral Research Associate or more senior research positions. Candidates will be expected to devote themselves to research and writing, and may teach not more than one course per semester. When teaching, successful candidates will hold the secondary rank of Lecturer, and any teaching opportunities are subject to sufficient enrollments and the approval of the Dean of the Faculty. They also will be invited to participate regularly in the scholarly activities of the PLAS intellectual community.

Appointments are for a 12-month term during the 2024-2025 academic year, starting September 1, 2024, with the possibility of renewal, contingent on satisfactory performance and continued funding.

A competitive salary commensurate with experience and excellent benefits will be offered.

This position is subject to the University's background check policy.

How to Apply

For full consideration complete applications including letters of recommendation should be submitted by December 3, 2023, 11:59 p.m. EST.

All candidates must apply online and submit the below materials (in English) at <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/31282>.

- 1) Cover letter
- 2) Curriculum vitae
- 3) Statement of research interests (1,000 – 1,500 words)
- 4) A representative sample of recent work (under 30 written pages or equivalent)
- 5) Three letters of recommendation

Required Qualifications: Doctoral degree (earned within three years of the start date). Academic excellence, potential to bring new ideas and approaches to Princeton University and to interact successfully with a broad range of faculty and students.

Princeton University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer, and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to age, race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 12/3/2023

Date Posted: 8/17/2023

Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 12290

Boston University

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of Political Science at Boston University seeks to hire a tenure-track Assistant Professor specializing in Political Economy (comparative and/or international). The search is open with respect to specific substantive focus and methodological orientation. The anticipated start date is July 1, 2024, pending final budgetary approval. The successful candidate will teach graduate and undergraduate students and will hold a PhD at the start of the appointment.

To ensure full consideration, please submit the following materials by October 1, 2023: cover letter, CV, research statement, teaching statement, diversity statement, sample of scholarly writing, and three letters of reference. In the diversity statement, applicants should demonstrate past/current or outline future contributions to inclusive excellence in research, teaching, and/or outreach. Please submit applications via <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajol/jobs/25353>.

BU conducts a background check on all final candidates for certain faculty and staff positions. The background check includes contacting the final candidate's current and previous employer(s) to ask whether, in the last seven years, there has been a substantiated finding of misconduct violating that employer's applicable sexual misconduct policies. To implement this process, the University requires a final candidate to complete and sign the form entitled "Authorization to Release Information" after execution of an offer letter.

We are an equal opportunity employer, and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, age, national origin, physical or mental disability, sexual orientation, gender identity, genetic information, military service, pregnancy or pregnancy-related condition, or because of marital, parental, or veteran status. We are a VEVRAA Federal Contractor.

Start Date: Fall 2024
Application Deadline: 10/1/2023
Date Posted: 8/16/2023
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 12284

National University of Singapore

Rank: Lecturer

The Department of Political Science at the National University of Singapore invites applications for one full-time educator-track position in Comparative Politics at the rank of Lecturer. We welcome applications from candidates working in all areas of the subfield. We especially welcome applications from candidates with Asia-related research programmes. Candidates who have interest in and are comfortable teaching political science methodology (qualitative and/or quantitative) will be preferred.

Candidates should submit a letter of application detailing research and teaching interests and expertise; curriculum vitae; publications or other writing samples; three letters of recommendation; and a teaching portfolio comprising a teaching statement, sample syllabi, teaching evaluations, and/or other evidence of teaching quality. We will begin to review applications on 1 October 2023 and continue until the search is complete. Application materials should be sent to the Chair of the Search Committee at polbox5@nus.edu.sg.

The teaching load is six modules per academic year (three per semester). Lectureship at NUS is a career position open to advancement to open-contracted Associate Professor and Professor appointments. Initial appointment is for three years and is renewable on an ongoing basis. Compensation and benefits are competitive and includes eligibility for annual performance bonus and salary increment, subsidized housing, medical benefits, and substantial research support.

<https://careers.nus.edu.sg/job-invite/21677/>

Start Date:
Application Deadline: 9/30/2023
Date Posted: 8/16/2023
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 12278

Dartmouth College

Rank: Assistant Professor of Comparative Politics

The Department of Government at Dartmouth College invites applications for a full-time tenure-track Assistant Professor of Comparative Politics. We are particularly interested in scholars who study the politics of China or South Asian countries. Applications by researchers whose areas of expertise intersect traditional subfields in political science are welcomed. Teaching responsibilities will include an introductory course on comparative politics as well as other courses in the candidate's areas of expertise. Applicants should have a Ph.D. in political science or a closely related field or be ABD with a Ph.D. expected before the start date of the appointment. For a complete position description, visit Interfolio (<http://apply.interfolio.com/129899>). Review of applications begins September 16, 2023 and will continue until the position is filled.

Questions may be sent to Professor Jeremy Ferwerda, chair of the search committee: jeremy.a.ferwerda@dartmouth.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2024
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/15/2023
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 12269

Central Intelligence Agency

Rank: Analyst

Subfield(s): International Relations, Methodology, Comparative Politics

Specializations: Bureaucracy & Organizational Behavior, Conflict Processes, Economic Policy

Let's Reach New Heights Together!

- The CIA has numerous full-time positions as well as undergraduate and graduate internships and scholarships.
- There are opportunities for foreign travel, language training, and overseas postings. CIA provides competitive salaries, relocation expenses, and student loan repayment programs.
- All positions require US citizenship, relocation to the Washington, DC metropolitan area, and a top-secret security clearance.

Featured Positions:

- Leadership Analyst: <https://www.cia.gov/careers/jobs/leadership-analyst/>
 - Political Analyst: <https://www.cia.gov/careers/jobs/political-analyst/>
 - Analytic Methodologist: <https://www.cia.gov/careers/jobs/analytic-methodologist/>

Please visit us on CIA.GOV/CAREERS, bring a hard copy resume, two sample writings (3-5 pages max), and an unofficial transcript to CIA booth #505 and meet with a CIA Recruiter.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/14/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12105

Washington University in St. Louis

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science- International Relations or Comparative Politics (East Asia)

The Department of Political Science and the Global Studies Program at Washington University in St. Louis invite applications for a tenure-track faculty appointment in comparative politics or international relations with a focus on East Asia. The appointment is at the rank of Assistant Professor to begin in the fall semester of 2024. A Ph.D. in Political Science or a closely related field is required at the time of appointment. Duties will include teaching assigned courses, conducting research, writing for publication, advising students, participating in department and program governance, and university service.

Diversity and Inclusion are core values at Washington University, and we seek to create inclusive classrooms and environments in which a diverse array of students can learn and thrive.

Each year Washington University publishes a Safety and Security brochure that details what to do and whom to contact in an emergency. This report also publishes the federally required annual security and fire safety reports, containing campus crime and fire statistics as well as key university policies and procedures. You may access the Safety and Security brochure at <https://police.wustl.edu/clery-reports-logs/>.

Application materials should include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, statements of research and teaching interests, at least three letters of reference, writing samples, and other relevant materials.

Applications received before September 15, 2023 will receive full consideration. Consideration after that date will be at the discretion of the search committee. All applications and supporting documentation should be submitted electronically through Interfolio at <http://apply.interfolio.com/129812>. If you encounter difficulties with the application process or have any additional questions, please email Autumn Dennis autumnd@wustl.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/14/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12315

Harvard University

Rank: TENURE-TRACK PROFESSOR OF GOVERNMENT – KOREAN POLITICS

The Department of Government seeks to appoint a tenure-track professor in Government specializing in Korean Politics. The search is open with regard to specific area of interest within the field or methodology employed. The appointment is expected to begin on July 1, 2024. The tenure-track professor will be responsible for teaching at the undergraduate and graduate levels. Candidates are encouraged to apply by October 1, 2023; applications will be reviewed until the position is filled.

Keywords:*

assistant, associate, faculty, instructor, tenure track

Boston, Cambridge, Massachusetts, MA, Northeast, New England

Comparative Politics, International Relations, Political Methodology, Political Theory

Basic Qualifications: Doctorate or terminal degree in Political Science, Government or related disciplines required by the time the appointment begins.

Additional Qualifications: Demonstrated strong commitment to teaching and advising is desired. Korean language proficiency in conducting research is expected.

Special Instructions: Please submit the following materials through the ARIES portal (<https://academicpositions.harvard.edu>). The Committee will begin reviewing applications on September 18, 2023.

1. Cover letter
2. Curriculum Vitae
3. Teaching/advising statement (describing teaching philosophy and practices)
4. Research statement
5. A statement describing efforts to encourage diversity, inclusion, and belonging, including past, current, and anticipated future contributions in these areas.
6. Names and contact information of 3-5 referees, who will be asked by a system-generated email to upload a letter of recommendation once the candidate's application has been submitted. Three letters of recommendation are required, and the application is considered complete only when at least three letters have been received. At least one letter must come from someone who has not served as the candidate's undergraduate thesis advisor, chair of the dissertation committee, or primary advisor in a postdoctoral fellowship.

7. Writing sample

Start Date: Summer 2024Date Posted: 8/10/2023Salary: CompetitiveeJobs ID: 12249Mount Saint Mary's University*Rank: Assistant Professor of Political ScienceSpecializations: China, East Asia, Southeast Asia

START DATE CHANGED TO AUGUST 2024. DEADLINE FOR APPLICATION EXTENDED.

The Department of Political Science at Mount St. Mary's University in Emmitsburg, MD is conducting a search for a tenure-track Assistant Professor of Political Science to begin in August 2024. The ideal candidate will possess a specialization in Comparative Politics with a focus on Asian Politics, especially China, East Asia, or Southeast Asia. Candidates with a doctorate in International Studies will be considered if they specialize in Asian culture and politics. We desire someone who can diversify and complement the existing strengths and course offerings in the Department of Political Science, in the International Studies major, and, more broadly, in the College of Liberal Arts.

Essential Duties and Responsibilities:

Teaching responsibilities will also include courses that contribute to our common liberal arts curriculum. Candidates with a specific scholarly record on the politics of China/East Asia/Southeast Asia are encouraged to apply. We are also seeking applicants with lived experience as part of a traditionally underrepresented group.

Job Requirements: Education, Experience and Skills:

The successful candidate will have Ph.D. in hand by January 2024 or a letter from the dissertation supervisor verifying that a defense date has been scheduled by August 15 2024, a scholarly record in Asian studies/politics, and will have demonstrated a student-centered philosophy consistent with teaching at a liberal arts college.

Applications received by OCTOBER 15 will be given full consideration.

Applicants should use this link to apply: https://msmu.wd1.myworkdayjobs.com/MSMU/job/Emmitsburg-Campus/Assistant-Professor---Political-Science_R0000361

*Required Documents for first round of applicants (teaching evaluations, letters of reference, or other materials may be requested later):

- Cover letter that summarizes your qualifications and interest in the position
- Curriculum vitae
- Three professional references
- One scholarly writing sample

Salary/Benefits

This position offers full benefits and annual, holiday and sick leave. The university offers a generous benefits package, including tuition remission for graduate and undergraduate classes at Mount St. Mary's University, retirement program with a match as well as a generous paid time off schedule. Competitive salary commensurate to experience.

We seek to build an inclusive faculty that can engage the interests of an increasingly diverse student population. Candidates from diverse backgrounds are encouraged to apply. The university has a strong institutional commitment to excellence through diversity in its educational programs and employment practices; we actively seek and welcome applications from candidates with exceptional qualifications, particularly those with demonstrable commitments to a more inclusive society and world. Successful candidates will share our commitment to the dignity and solidarity of all persons, the value of intercultural understanding, and will be able to articulate how they can contribute to the Mount's Catholic liberal-arts mission.

Start Date:Application Deadline: 9/18/2023Date Posted: 8/10/2023Salary: $50,000 - $59,999eJobs ID: 12253Smith College*Rank: Assistant Professor of Government

The Department of Government (GOV) at Smith College invites applications for a tenure-track position in Comparative Politics and/or International Relations at the rank of Assistant Professor, to begin July 1, 2024.

By time of appointment applicants must have a Ph.D. in Political Science or a closely related discipline (e.g. public policy). The position has a teaching load of 2:2—i.e., four semester-long courses over the academic year. The hire will also be expected to contribute to student learning beyond regular classes through directing student research and Honors Theses, offering independent studies, and helping with departmental administrative, curricular, and advising responsibilities.

Candidates for the position should have regional expertise in the politics of South and/or Southeast Asia. We encourage applications for this position from scholars using a range of methodological approaches and focusing on a variety of topics, including but not limited to: the politics of religion and ethnicity; political violence; political parties and elections; regional security; geopolitical rivalries and regional conflict and cooperation. We anticipate that a successful candidate for this position will be prepared to teach Introduction to Comparative Politics and/or Introduction to International Relations, courses on the politics of South or Southeast Asia or particular countries within those regions, and upper-division courses relating to their area(s) of expertise.

Candidates from groups underrepresented in political science are encouraged to apply. Successful candidates should be prepared to engage actively with diverse students across the liberal arts.

Located in Northampton, MA, Smith College is the largest women's college in the country, dedicated to excellence in teaching and research across the liberal arts. A faculty of outstanding scholars interact with students in small classes, as advisors, and through student-faculty research projects. Smith College offers opportunities to foster faculty success at every career stage, such as those listed here.

The College is a member of the Five College Consortium with Amherst, Hampshire, and Mt. Holyoke Colleges, and the University of Massachusetts Amherst. Students cross-enroll and faculty cross-teach across the Five Colleges. Details about the Department of Government may be found at <https://www.smith.edu/gov/>.

Submit applications at <https://apply.interfolio.com/129477> with a cover letter describing your research and teaching interests, curriculum vitae, teaching statement, diversity/inclusion statement, chapter- or article-length writing sample, and three confidential letters of reference. Finalists may be asked for additional materials. Review of applications will begin October 1, 2023.

As set forth in our mission and values, Smith College is committed to promoting a culture of equity and inclusion among students, staff and faculty. The College will not discriminate in employment on the basis of age, race, color, ethnicity, national origin, creed, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, gender expression, pregnancy, genetic information, age, veteran status, physical or mental disability, or any other classification protected by law. Smith College is an equal opportunity employer and complies with all state and federal laws that prohibit discrimination.

Start Date: Summer 2024

Application Deadline: 10/1/2023

Date Posted: 8/9/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12241

Princeton University

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Associate

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Public Policy

Specializations: Economic Policy, International Political Economy, International Law & Organizations

The Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance (NCGG) at Princeton University's School of Public and International Affairs invites applications for postdoctoral or more senior research associate positions from individuals with a Ph.D. degree or who expect to receive a Ph.D. degree by August 1, 2024, for the 2024-2025 academic year. These awards are designed to promote basic research in the broad areas of international and comparative political economy, international organization and global governance, and globalization. Research on the causes and consequences of globalization, the political economy of foreign trade, monetary and regulatory policies, the sources of international cooperation at the global and regional level, the domestic and international politics of economic development, the political economy of human security issues, the evolution and impact of international institutions, and the politics of international law and human rights policies are of relevance. Outstanding scholars anywhere in the world are eligible to apply. The Center invites candidates with a background in political science, economics, modern history, sociology, anthropology, law, business, and other disciplines bearing on the study of globalization to apply. Selected candidates will be required to be in residence in Princeton or the local vicinity, or demonstrate to the program's satisfaction the ability to be on campus on a daily basis and on short notice in order to fulfill responsibilities relating to in-person participation, office hours, and related activities for the duration of the fellowship (August 1, 2024 - July 1, 2025).

Application Deadline - Applicants should apply by Wednesday, November 1, 2023 (11:59 pm EST) for full consideration; however, posting will remain open until filled.

Application Process - All candidates must use the online application process to submit materials at: <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/30941>.

Applicants are required to hold a Ph.D. or expect to receive a Ph.D. degree by August 1, 2024, in one of the above-mentioned disciplines. To apply, please provide the following:

*Cover letter explaining the candidate's scholarly career, prospective or actual doctoral defense date, and academic interests;

*Current curriculum vitae, including publications;

*2,000-word description of the proposed research project, including its specific objectives, importance, and research design;

*One writing sample (limit of 50 pages);

*Contact information for three references, who will be asked to comment specifically on the applicant's qualifications for the proposed research project. Referees will be contacted directly by email with instructions for submitting a confidential recommendation on your behalf. Letters of reference are to be submitted by the end of business day on Saturday, November 4, 2023. Complete your application well before the deadline so that references can be submitted on time.

Salary - Rank and salary will be contingent on qualifications. NCGG Fellows will receive applicable Princeton University benefits, a taxable moving allowance, and a $5,000 research fund. This is a one-year appointment.

Successful applicants will be notified of the outcome of their application in February 2024. This position is subject to the University's background check policy.

For more information about the Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance fellowship program, please contact Jennifer Bolton, Assistant Director, at jbolton@princeton.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 11/1/2023

Date Posted: 8/7/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12220

Princeton University

Rank: Visiting Fellowship Program

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Public Policy

Specializations: Economic Policy, International Political Economy, International Law & Organizations

The Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance (NCGG) at Princeton University's School of Public and International Affairs seeks two or more visitors for the 2024-2025 academic year in the Visiting Fellowship Program. These awards are designed to promote basic research in the broad areas of international and comparative political economy, international organization and global governance, and globalization. Research on the causes and consequences of globalization, the political economy of foreign trade, monetary and regulatory policies, the sources of international cooperation at the global and regional level, the domestic and international politics of economic development, the political economy of human security issues, the evolution and impact of international institutions, and the politics of international law and human rights policies are of relevance.

Outstanding scholars anywhere in the world are eligible to apply. The Center invites candidates with a background in political science, economics, modern history, sociology, anthropology, law, business, and other disciplines bearing on the study of globalization to apply. Fellows will be required to be in residence in Princeton or the local vicinity, or demonstrate to the program's satisfaction the ability to be on campus daily for the duration of the fellowship (expected to be September 1, 2024 - July 1, 2025).

Application Deadline - Applicants should apply by Wednesday, November 1, 2023 (11:59 pm EST) for full consideration; however, posting will remain open until filled.

Application Process - All candidates must use the online application process to submit materials at: <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/31261>

Applicants are required to hold a Ph.D. in one of the above-mentioned disciplines. To apply, please provide the following:

*Cover letter explaining the candidate's scholarly career, prospective or actual doctoral defense date, and academic interests;

*Current curriculum vitae, including publications;

*2,000-word description of the proposed research project, including its specific objectives, importance, and research design;

*One writing sample (limit of 50 pages);

*Contact information for three references, who will be asked to comment specifically on the applicant's qualifications for the proposed research project. Referees will be contacted directly by email with instructions for submitting a confidential recommendation on your behalf. Letters of reference are to be submitted by the end of the business day (5 pm EST) on Saturday, November 4, 2023. Complete your application well before the deadline so that references can be submitted on time.

Candidates who hold positions at academic institutions may also be required to submit:

*Home institution policy with regard to sabbatical pay;

*Selected candidates will be asked to either submit a confidential statement indicating their salary for the current academic year (September 2023 - July 2024) or provide written authorization for Princeton to confirm their salary.

Salary - Rank and salary will be contingent on qualifications. NCGG Fellows will receive applicable Princeton University benefits, reimbursement of travel to/from Princeton, and a $10,000 research fund.

Successful applicants will be notified of the outcome of their application in February 2024.

For more information about the Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance fellowship program, please contact Jennifer Bolton, Assistant Director, at jbolton@princeton.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 11/1/2023

Date Posted: 8/7/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12219

University of Massachusetts, Boston

Rank: Assistant Professor, Critical Security Studies

Subfield(s): International Relations, Political Theory, Comparative Politics

Specializations: Ethnic & Feminist Theory, International Security, Gender Politics & Policy

The Department of Conflict Resolution, Human Security, and Global Governance (CRHSGG) at the University of Massachusetts Boston

invites qualified applicants for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position to join our vibrant, interdisciplinary faculty beginning September 1, 2024.

We are seeking a scholar of critical security studies, broadly defined, who can contribute to and strengthen the core curriculum of the graduate programs in Global Governance and Human Security in CRHSGG. We are particularly interested in candidates whose areas of focus include gender, race, and/or decolonial theory. The position is open to scholars from a range of social sciences, including but not limited to political science, geography, sociology, anthropology, and gender studies, who connect questions of global governance with imperatives for human security.

We are open to a variety of areas of topical focus within critical security studies broadly understood, to all research methodological strategies, and to either a regional or global focus that complements existing expertise in the department. Candidates must possess an earned doctorate in a relevant social science discipline by the date of appointment. Candidates should be prepared to teach in the Global Governance and Human Security core. An ability to contribute to other departmental graduate and undergraduate programs, in International Relations, Conflict Resolution, and Global Affairs, is a plus.

UMass Boston is one of the most diverse campuses in the Northeast region of the U.S. and has a well-established commitment to social justice, equity, and inclusion, with an anti-racist and health-promoting mission. We strongly encourage applications from persons with diverse backgrounds and provide equal employment opportunities without regard to race, color, religion, gender, gender identity or expression, age, sexual orientation, national origin, ancestry, disability, military status, or genetic information.

The Department provides a rich environment for interdisciplinary, collaborative research, policy, and practice, and houses multiple degree programs at the graduate and undergraduate levels. The Department also houses two vibrant research Centers (the Center for Peace, Democracy & Development, and the Center for Governance and Sustainability) and has a strong connection with the Center for Women in Public Policy.

To apply, submit through the application portal (<https://employmentopportunities.umb.edu/en-us/job/519911/assistant-professor-conflict-resolution-human-security-and-global-governance>): a cover letter, curriculum vitae, a writing sample, and the names and contact information for three references who may be contacted at later stages of the selection process. Inquiries regarding the position may be directed to the search committee chair, Dr. Jeffrey Pugh, at Jeffrey.Pugh@umb.edu. Review of applications begins on October 1st and will continue until the position is filled. Responses to frequently asked questions and updates on the search will be posted publicly at https://docs.google.com/document/d/1uNGCFC8q4aAo52y_V4n7ZAS7vQAVEx9pz9-iB8VwNNM/edit?usp=sharing.

UMass Boston is committed to the full inclusion of all qualified individuals. As part of this commitment, we will ensure that persons with disabilities are provided reasonable accommodations for the hiring process. If reasonable accommodation is needed, please contact HRDirect@umb.edu or 617-287-5150.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 10/1/2023

Date Posted: 8/7/2023

Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 12230

Yale University

Rank: Assistant/Associate/Full Professor, Political Science
Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, International Relations
Specializations: American Politics, Political Economy, International Law & Organizations

Position Description

The Department of Political Science at Yale University is seeking to hire several faculty members at the rank of Assistant, Associate, or Full Professor with an appointment in the fields of American Politics, Comparative Politics, Political Economy, and/or International Relations, beginning July 1, 2024. The successful applicant will be expected to teach courses in their substantive area of expertise in political science.

Qualifications

If candidates are appointed at the untenured level, the initial appointment will be for 5 years. The teaching expectation is normally 3 courses per academic year.

Ph.D. or equivalent degree required at time of hire.

Application Instructions

All applications must include a cover letter, CV, and a list of 3 references. Untenured candidates should also supply 3 recommendation letters, 2 writing samples, and separate short (2 pages or less) research and teaching statements. All materials should be uploaded to Interfolio at <http://apply.interfolio.com/129113>. Review of applications will begin September 15, 2023, and to guarantee full consideration your file should be complete by this date.

Please contact Ms. Xaria Callender, Sr. Administrative Assistant for the Political Science Department, at xaria.callender@yale.edu if you have questions about the application process.

Start Date: Fall 2024
Date Posted: 8/7/2023
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 12216

Yale University

Rank: Assistant/Associate/Full Professor, Quantitative Political Science
Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, American Government and Politics, Methodology
Specializations: Quantitative Methods, Political Economy, American Politics

Position Description

The Department of Political Science at Yale University is seeking to hire a faculty member with expertise in Quantitative Political Science at the rank of Assistant, Associate, or Full Professor with substantive expertise in American Politics, Comparative Politics, Political Economy, International Relations, or the intersection of these fields, beginning July 1, 2024. This is not a position solely in quantitative methodology; we instead seek a scholar who would be comfortable teaching courses in quantitative research methods and who applies methods of quantitative political science to applied questions in their area of expertise.

Qualifications

If candidates are appointed at the untenured level, the initial appointment will be for 5 years. The teaching expectation is normally 3 courses per academic year.

Ph.D. or equivalent degree required at time of hire.

Application Instructions

All applications must include a cover letter, CV, and a list of 3 references. Untenured candidates should also supply 3 recommendation letters, 2 writing samples, and separate short (2 pages or less) research and teaching statements. All materials should be uploaded to Interfolio at <http://apply.interfolio.com/129106>. Review of applications will begin September 15, 2023, and to guarantee full consideration your file should be complete by this date.

Please contact Ms. Xaria Callender, Sr. Administrative Assistant for the Political Science Department, at xaria.callender@yale.edu if you have questions about the application process.

Start Date: Fall 2024
Application Deadline: 7/31/2024
Date Posted: 8/7/2023
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 12215

Johns Hopkins University

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellowship in Moral and Political Economy
Subfield(s): Political Theory, American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics

The Center for Economy and Society, a division of the SNF Agora Institute at Johns Hopkins University, invites applications for two postdoctoral fellowships in Moral and Political Economy. Applications are encouraged from scholars working on cross-disciplinary topics related to moral and political economy, who anticipate having a Ph.D. in hand prior to the anticipated start date of July 1, 2024. Fellows will be appointed for a three-year term, and will be expected to teach two sections in the first year, and three sections or seminars in both the second and third years. In the third year they will also advise senior thesis students in the major. During the academic year fellows are expected to remain in residence in the Baltimore-Washington region, and to participate actively in the intellectual community of CES. Please submit a statement of purpose outlining your research interests and teaching experience (up to 1,500 words), a CV, an article-length writing sample, and three letters of recommendation online via Interfolio at <http://apply.interfolio.com/128921>. Review of applications will begin on December 1, 2023.

Johns Hopkins University is committed to active recruitment of a diverse faculty and student body. The University is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer of women, minorities, protected veterans and individuals with disabilities and encourages applications from these and other protected group members. Consistent with the University's goals of achieving excellence in all areas, we will assess the comprehensive qualifications of each applicant.

Start Date: Summer 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/4/2023

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 12212

University of Central Florida

Rank: Assistant Professor, Associate Professor, or Professor, and Endowed Professor in India Politics and Director of the India Center

Specializations: India, Southeast Asia, South Asia

The School of Politics, Security, and International Affairs (SPSIA) at the University of Central Florida (UCF) invites applications for a full-time, nine-month, tenure-earning advanced assistant professor or tenured associate professor or professor as an endowed position with a focus on politics in India and director of the India Center at UCF. The anticipated starting date is August 2024; however, a starting date of January 2024 is possible.

The ideal candidate will have a recognized research program focused on politics in India, demonstrated commitment to teaching excellence, and leadership experience. As director of the India Center, the successful candidate will be expected to develop programming of interest to the larger university community, engage in community outreach, develop and strengthen partnerships with the community as well as nationally and internationally, supervise the center's full-time director of Public Affairs, engage in fundraising, work with offices and units across the university, manage the India Center's budget, and develop curriculum and teach in the area of politics in India, among others. The successful candidate is expected to combine the role of faculty member with that of director of the India Center.

We are especially interested in an individual who can contribute through their research, teaching, mentoring, and service to the excellence of our academic community and foster an environment in which faculty, staff, and students from a variety of backgrounds, cultures, and personal experiences are welcomed and can thrive.

The School of Politics, Security, and International Affairs houses two undergraduate majors, a master's program in Political Science, and a Ph.D. program in Security Studies. In addition, the school is home to five institutes, programs and centers including the India Center. The mission of the India Center at UCF is to broaden the awareness and understanding of contemporary India. The India Center promotes the study of India's role in the world today through partnerships, scholarship and research, education, and outreach to the Indian community in Florida and nationally. The center aims to serve the broader UCF community. It currently has one full-time director of Public Affairs. For more information, visit <https://sciences.ucf.edu/politics/> and <https://theindiacenter.ucf.edu/>.

The College of Sciences (COS) houses most of the university's natural, computational, and social sciences in eight departments, two schools, and several centers. The college's programs play a key role in advancing UCF as a national research university that is determined to help students from all backgrounds achieve success. For more information, visit <https://sciences.ucf.edu/>.

The University of Central Florida (UCF), located in Orlando, is a metropolitan research university classified as a Very High Research Activity university by the Carnegie Foundation. At UCF, we solve tomorrow's greatest challenges through a commitment to academic and operational excellence. Leveraging innovative learning, discovery, and partnerships, we foster social mobility while developing the skilled talent needed to advance industry for our region, state and beyond. A Hispanic Serving Institution, UCF is home to a diverse student population of over 70,000 students, almost 2,000 faculty, and more than 4,700 staff. UCF is invested in identifying candidates who will contribute to its mission through equity-minded practice and culturally responsive pedagogy. For more information, visit <http://www.ucf.edu>.

Minimum Qualifications: A doctorate in Political Science or a closely related field from an accredited institution by time of application is required. To be eligible for appointment as a tenured associate professor or professor upon hire, the selected candidate must have a demonstrated record of teaching, research, and service commensurate with a tenured faculty appointment at the rank of associate professor or professor.

Preferred Qualifications: Preference will be given to candidates who have a demonstrated interest and experience in developing and leading a program or center and a successful research and teaching record commensurate with their faculty rank.

UCF requires all applications and supporting documents be submitted electronically through the Human Resources employment opportunities website, <https://www.ucf.edu/jobs/>. In addition to the online application, interested candidates should upload the following materials: (1) a current curriculum vitae, (2) a letter detailing your interest in the position, relevant experience including leadership experience, and vision for the India Center; (3) a research statement outlining the research record and future plans (one to two pages); and (4) a teaching statement (one to two pages); and (5) the names and contact information for three professional references.

NOTE: Please have all documents ready when applying so they can be simultaneously uploaded. Once the online submission process is finalized, the system does not allow applicants to submit additional documents later.

Review of applications will begin on September 29, 2023 and continue until the position is filled. For the application to be considered, all materials will need to be uploaded and the application must be complete.

Questions regarding the position should be directed to Dr. Kerstin Hamann, search committee chair, at Kerstin.Hamann@ucf.edu.

Job Close Date: Open until filled.

The University of Central Florida is proud to be a smoke-free campus and an E-Verify employer. Unless explicitly stated on the job posting, it is UCF's expectation that an employee of UCF will reside in Florida as of the date the employment begins.

Additional Requirements related to Research Positions: Pursuant to Florida State Statute 1010.35, prior to offering employment to certain individuals in research-related positions, UCF is required to conduct additional screening. Applicants subject to additional screening include any citizen of a foreign country who is not a permanent resident of the U.S., or who is a citizen or permanent resident but is affiliated with or has had at least 1 year of higher education, employment, or training in China, Cuba, Iran, Russia, North Korea, Syria, or Venezuela.

The additional screening requirements only apply to employment in research-related positions, including, but not limited to faculty positions.

Equal Employment Opportunity Statement: As an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer, UCF encourages all qualified applicants to apply, including women, veterans, individuals with disabilities, and members of traditionally underrepresented populations. UCF's Equal Opportunity Statement can be viewed at <http://www.oie.ucf.edu/documents/PresidentsStatement.pdf>.

As a Florida public university, UCF makes all application materials and selection procedures available to the public upon request.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/4/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12209

Providence College

Rank: African Politics - Assistant Professor of International Relations/Comparative Politics

The Political Science Department at Providence College invites applications for a tenure-track position at the assistant professor level, in the field of African Politics, grounded in perspectives from either International Relations or Comparative Politics. The field of "African Politics" is understood broadly by our Department, and we welcome applicants across a range of methodologies and substantive interests, such as, for example, contemporary Africa in geopolitical context; ancient, colonial, and modern political systems; colonial and post-colonial conflict, institutions, and practices; state-building, democratization, partisan mobilization, and social movements; internal migration, immigration, and emigration; security challenges and conflict resolution; natural resource and environmental politics; national and regional political economy; gender, health, education, labor, and social policy; or other Africa-centered topics. Geographically, we welcome candidates who focus on any of the continent's nations or regions, or those who work within a pan-African framework.

Teaching Responsibilities: The normal teaching load will be three courses per semester, with class sizes of 12 to 25 students. Core assignments each year will include African Politics and one or more of the following: Introduction to International Relations, Introduction to Comparative Politics, Introduction to Politics, or Research Methods. We keep our curriculum fresh by giving colleagues the opportunity to design new lecture, seminar, and research courses in areas which reflect their particular interests and expertise. In all cases, faculty enjoy substantial autonomy in the design and content of courses.

Research Expectations and Support: Our political science faculty are respected scholars with active research agendas who provide generous professional advice and mentoring for junior colleagues. Other support for research includes College-sponsored research grants, grant writing assistance, conference and research travel funds, individual discretionary funds, access to research librarians and other library resources, undergraduate research assistants, and opportunities for collaboration with faculty at other Rhode Island universities including, for example, Brown University, the University of Rhode Island, and Roger Williams University.

Our Political Science Department has fourteen full-time faculty members who are known for effective teaching, grounded in cutting-edge scholarship. They research and teach about politics in the U.S. and other regions, with particular strengths in East Asia, Latin America, and the Middle East. We offer a wide portfolio of courses, including many which are cross-listed in other Arts and Sciences departments and programs including Black Studies, Women's and Gender Studies, Global Studies, Latin American and Latina/o Studies, Asian and Asian American Studies, American Studies, Public and Community Service Studies, Public Administration, Communication, and the College's newest interdisciplinary program—Middle East Studies. Political science faculty frequently direct interdisciplinary programs like these, and teach in the Liberal Arts Honors and Development of Western Civilization programs. Within the political science profession our colleagues are well-known participants and leaders in the American, Western, New England, Midwest, and Northeastern political science associations, as well as the Latin American Studies Association, National Conference of Black Political Scientists, International Studies Association, and International Political Science Association. We author scholarly books and research articles at premier journals and academic presses, publish op-eds in local and regional newspapers, and frequently appear as expert analysts for New England's print, broadcast, and online news media.

Providence College is located in the City of Providence—the capital of the State of Rhode Island ("The Ocean State"), and the third-largest city in New England. Founded in 1636, Providence is one of North America's oldest European settler cities. Nearby Pawtucket, RI, was the birthplace of the American Industrial Revolution in 1793, and Providence has long welcomed immigrant populations, most recently from West Africa, Latin America, and Southeast Asia. Providence is a majority-minority city, and more than 30% of its 2020 population was foreign-born. At present, the state's largest foreign-born African-descent populations come from Cape Verde, Nigeria, and Liberia. The Providence metropolitan area's population of 1.7 million is served by many retail, restaurant, and professional enterprises, as well as churches and social service organizations, established within these African immigrant communities. The city's annual calendar is filled with diverse ethnic and cultural festivals, while a vibrant arts scene is anchored by world-class galleries, museums, live theater, performances across music genres and traditions, and film festivals. Located on the main highway and rail corridors serving the northeastern United States—I-95 and Amtrak's Northeast Corridor—Providence is also connected to Boston via MBTA commuter rail, to New York via frequent rail and air service, and to the rest of the world via T.F. Green International Airport, with more than 100 daily nonstop flights to and from Atlanta, Baltimore, Charleston, Charlotte, Chicago, Cincinnati, Detroit, Ft. Lauderdale, Jacksonville, Los Angeles, Miami, Minneapolis St. Paul, Nashville, New York City, Newark, Norfolk, Orlando, Philadelphia, Richmond, Tampa, Washington, D.C.—and Santo Domingo, DR.

Salary, Benefits, and Resources: The position offers very competitive salary and benefits, generous annual and step salary increases, and campus amenities including fitness center, swimming pool and athletic facilities, free on-campus parking, chapels and meditation spaces, and information technology resources including MacOS and Windows desktop systems on secure campus networks. NOTE: If appropriate, Providence College will file a petition for an Employment-Based Immigrant Visa, in Category H-1B, once a final job offer is tendered and accepted.

How to Apply: Applicants should possess a PhD in political science (or be very close to completion), and will be asked to demonstrate evidence of the potential for teaching excellence, strong research skills, and potential for continued research productivity. Apply online at <https://careers.providence.edu> where you will submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, three letters of recommendation, teaching materials, and one or more samples of scholarly writing, either published or unpublished.

For additional information, please contact Dr. Tony Affigne, chair of the search committee, at affigne@providence.edu or Dr. Matt Guardino, department chair, at mguardin@providence.edu. NOTE: search committee members will be hosting optional informational interviews at APSA in Los Angeles, and prospective applicants who wish to schedule an informational interview during the conference are encouraged to contact us no later than August 15. Those unable to attend the conference may contact Dr. Affigne to schedule a remote informational interview.

Deadline: For full consideration, your completed application should be submitted no later than October 1, 2023. Review of applications will commence as they are received, and will continue until the position is filled. We anticipate completing on-campus interviews by December 8, and making a final decision by early January 2024.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 10/1/2023

Date Posted: 7/28/2023

Salary: $70,000 - $79,999

eJobs ID: 12170

SUNY, University at Buffalo

Rank: Assistant/Associate Professor

The Department of Political Science, University at Buffalo, The State University of New York seeks an Associate or Assistant Professor (tenure-track) in American or Comparative Politics focusing on democratic processes and electoral phenomena.

We welcome applicants whose specialties are related to the study of democratic processes, democratic transition, consolidation, and regression, and specifically to the study of phenomena associated with elections. Issues of election reform, electoral integrity, and violence are central to the functioning of democracy both in the US and abroad. While elections are a central pillar of democratic legitimacy and consolidation, they can also serve as targets for instability incited by groups intent on bringing about democratic backsliding. All applicants studying democratic processes in these, and related research areas are invited to apply.

This hire will continue our recent faculty growth in the study the topics noted above in the American or foreign/comparative contexts. Candidates that match the Department's strength in quantitative methods of analysis and formal modeling are especially welcome. Teaching will include political science courses at the undergraduate and graduate levels. Normal departmental, university and disciplinary service duties are expected. We encourage applications from Associate Professors, Assistant Professors, and graduate students who will complete their degree prior to the position start date. Salary and start-up will be competitive and commensurate with rank.

The faculty in the Department of Political Science understand the value and importance of diversity. We are committed to providing an open, supportive, and inclusive environment for all of our students, faculty, and staff members, consistent with the University's commitment to inclusive excellence.

A letter of application, a vita, and three letters of recommendation must be submitted electronically at <https://www.ubjobs.buffalo.edu/>

postings/43767 Applicants applying at the Assistant Professor rank (including those who are ABD) should provide research and teaching statements. All applicants are encouraged to apply by October 1, 2023, to receive full consideration, although application review will begin immediately. Questions about the position can be directed to Dr. Rachael Hinkle by email at rkhinkle@buffalo.edu.

The Department of Political Science at UB is nationally recognized for its research in international relations, public law, and comparative and American politics. The department's strengths lie in its national and international reputation for high quality research. In addition to its strong PhD program, the department offers BA and MA degrees in both Political Science and Global Affairs.

University at Buffalo is an affirmative action/equal opportunity employer and, in keeping with our commitment, welcomes all to apply including veterans and individuals with disabilities.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/28/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12162

University of North Carolina, Charlotte

Rank: Postdoctoral Researcher

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Methodology, International Relations

We invite applications for a postdoctoral research position with strong data analysis and management skills to work on a multi-year project on "Collective Shocks and Social Preferences" led by Professors James Walsh and Alexander Kustov at the University of North Carolina at Charlotte.

The project examines how people's social preferences, such as altruism and trust, are affected by negative collective shocks such as wars, natural disasters, or economic disruptions. Some studies find that these shocks make people more prosocial, but others find that they reduce cooperation. Since most of this research focuses on just one region or outcome, it is hard to know whether the results are generalizable. To address this question, the project aims to create a comprehensive cross-national time-series dataset on various shocks and preferences at the subnational level.

The postdoctoral position is a full-time research-focused role to lead the construction of the dataset for the project. The role includes:

- * Leading the data collection and management efforts needed to construct the original dataset, including cross-national surveys on social preferences and administrative data on collective shocks.
- * Conducting and publishing high-quality research in close collaboration and under the guidance of project leaders.
- * Dedicating time to personal research as part of the position (approximately 40%).
- * Participating in the broader intellectual life of the Department of Political Science and Public Administration, and the interdisciplinary Public Policy and Data Science programs.

The Postdoctoral appointee must have recently (within the last eight years) been awarded a Ph.D. or equivalent doctorate. Strong training and skills in quantitative data analysis in R is required. Preference will be given to applicants with demonstrated skills in one or more of the following areas: data management, survey methodology, multilevel regression, causal inference, machine learning, cross-national research.

Preference is also given to applicants with research interests in one or more of the following areas related to the project: conflict and cooperation, political economy, political psychology, state capacity, social preferences, migration.

Postdoc appointments are characterized by all of the following conditions:

- * the appointee was recently (within the last eight years) awarded a Ph.D. or equivalent doctorate (e.g., Sc.D., M.D.);
- * the appointment is temporary;
- * the appointment involves substantially full-time research or scholarship;
- * the appointment is viewed as preparatory for a full-time academic and/or research career;
- * the appointee works under the supervision of a faculty member; and
- * the appointee has the freedom and is expected to publish the results of his or her research or scholarship during the period of appointment.

Screening of applicants will begin on August 15, 2023 and continue until the position is filled. The position is renewable based on performance. For further information, please contact James Walsh (jwalsh@charlotte.edu) and Alexander Kustov (akustov@charlotte.edu).

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/28/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12171

University of Wisconsin, Eau Claire

Rank: Assistant Professor of Comparative Government

The Department of Political Science invites applications for a tenure-track faculty position at the rank of Assistant Professor to begin August 19, 2024. We seek candidates with expertise in comparative government (any region) who are committed to excellence in undergraduate instruction, will engage undergraduate students in research, and embrace the department and university commitments to equity, diversity, and inclusion. The successful candidate will contribute to a vibrant global politics curriculum by teaching both introductory and upper-level courses.

MINIMUM QUALIFICATIONS: Earned Ph.D. by August 19, 2024 (ABD applicants may be considered but must complete the terminal degree by March 15, 2025.) and ability to teach thematic and regional comparative government courses.

PREFERRED QUALIFICATIONS: Evidence of successful university teaching, productive scholarship, and a demonstrated commitment to involving undergraduate students in research.

DUTIES: Teach courses in the Department of Political Science based on program needs and in accordance with specialization; participate in research and scholarly activities; engage in service to the department, University and profession; and provide academic advising to students as assigned.

DEPARTMENT: The Department of Political Science consists of 13 full-time faculty in the fields of political science and criminal justice. With approximately 400 majors and 100 minors, the department is one of the largest in the College of Arts and Sciences. Our award-winning program faculty work collaboratively with students on research, oversee Service-learning and internship projects, lead international and domestic immersion experiences, and have opportunities to teach abroad.

UNIVERSITY and EAU CLAIRE COMMUNITY: UW-Eau Claire, an institution of approximately 10,000 students and 1,100 faculty and staff, is consistently recognized as a top comprehensive university in the Midwest and is widely known as a leader in faculty-undergraduate research and study abroad. We strive for excellence in liberal education and select graduate and professional programs through commitment to teaching and learning and dedication to our core values of diversity, sustainability, leadership, and innovation. To learn more about UWEC, visit <https://www.uwec.edu/human-resources/employment-opportunities/>.

The City of Eau Claire, situated at the confluence of the Chippewa and Eau Claire rivers, is at the center of a metropolitan area of approximately 100,000 people located 90 miles east of Minneapolis/St. Paul. The area features beautiful parks and trails, strong public schools, a vibrant arts scene and local food culture, and abundant recreational opportunities.

APPLICATION PROCEDURE: Applications are submitted electronically. Please follow instructions found at <https://www.uwec.edu/job-postings/>. You must create an account and login before you can apply. If you have not yet registered, click on the "Click here to Register" link to begin the registration process. If you are already a registered user, input your "User Name" and "Password" and select "Login." Click the link to the Political Science: Assistant Professor position (Job ID #19924) and then click the "Apply Now" button to submit your application electronically. Your application will not be considered complete until all required documents are attached and all required fields are completed. Please be sure you have included the following in PDF format:

- Letter of application
- Curriculum vita
- Statement of teaching philosophy
- Names and contact information for three references.

Please direct requests for additional information to: Rodd Freitag, Interim Department Chair, freitard@uwec.edu.

To ensure consideration, completed applications must be received by October 6, 2023. However, screening may continue until the position is filled.

UW-Eau Claire is an AA/EEO/Veterans/Disability employer dedicated to enhancing equity, diversity, and inclusion.

The University reserves the right to contact additional references with notice given to the candidates at an appropriate time in the process. Employment will require a background check. Employment will also require you and your references to answer questions regarding past conduct related to sexual violence and sexual harassment.

The University of Wisconsin System will not reveal the identities of applicants who request confidentiality in writing, except that the identity of the successful candidate will be released. See Wis. Stat. §. 19.36(7).

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 10/6/2023

Date Posted: 7/26/2023

Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 12148

San Diego State University

Rank: Politics of East Asia

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Other

The Political Science Department at San Diego State University invites applications for a tenure-track position in East Asian Politics at the rank of Assistant Professor, to begin Fall 2024. Applicants should demonstrate a well-developed research agenda, a promise of sustained scholarship, and a record of effective teaching.

Qualifications

The department seeks a scholar with research and teaching expertise in the politics of East Asia, broadly understood to encompass North-east and Southeast Asia. We are open to applications from scholars in both comparative politics and international relations whose research is focused on one or more countries in the region. The successful candidate's research may focus on any of a range of substantive topics – including but not limited to, democratization, political economy, state-society relations, and foreign policy – and should demonstrate a capacity to engage with normative issues underlying critical debates in the field. The candidate would be expected to work closely with the program on International Security and Conflict Resolution and the Center for Asian & Pacific Studies. The department is open to a diversity of theoretical and methodological approaches.

The Political Science Department at San Diego State is dedicated to the ideal of the engaged teacher-scholar. It has over 600 undergraduate majors and provides course offerings for students with a wide variety of backgrounds and interests. At the graduate level, the department maintains an M.A. program of high quality. The members of the faculty share a strong commitment to collegiality, active participation in the governing of the department, innovative scholarship, methodological pluralism, rigorous teaching, and robust intellectual and normative engagement. Candidates are encouraged to consult the department website: <http://politicalscience.sdsu.edu>.

We are seeking applicants with demonstrated experience in and/or commitment to teaching and working effectively with individuals from diverse backgrounds and members of underrepresented groups. Candidates must satisfy two or more of the eight Building on Inclusive Excellence (BIE) criteria. Candidates that meet BIE criteria: (a) are committed to engaging in service with underrepresented populations within the discipline, (b) have demonstrated knowledge of barriers for underrepresented students and faculty within the discipline, (c) have experience or have demonstrated commitment to teaching and mentoring underrepresented students, (d) have experience or have demonstrated commitment to integrating understanding of underrepresented populations and communities into research, (e) have experience in or have demonstrated commitment to extending knowledge of opportunities and challenges in achieving artistic/scholarly success to members of an underrepresented group, (f) have experience in or have demonstrated commitment to research that engages underrepresented communities, (g) have expertise or demonstrated commitment to developing expertise in cross-cultural communication and collaboration, and/or (h) have research interests that contribute to diversity and equal opportunity in higher education. Please indicate in a separate diversity statement how you meet at least two (2) of these criteria. Additional guidance on our BIE program for applicants is here.

SDSU is the oldest institution of higher education in the San Diego region, with a campus in San Diego serving 36,000 undergraduate and graduate students and additional locations in Southern California's Imperial Valley and Tbilisi in the Republic of Georgia. SDSU is included in the Carnegie Foundation's Doctoral Universities: High Research Activity category. Established in 1897, SDSU offers bachelor degrees in 97 areas, masters in 84 and doctorates in 23. See <http://www.sdsu.edu> for more information. SDSU is a large, diverse, urban university, an Asian-Native American-Pacific Islander-Serving Institution and a Hispanic-Serving Institution with a commitment to diversity, equity, and inclusive excellence. Our campus community is diverse in many ways, including race, religion, color, sex, age, disability, marital status, sexual orientation, gender identity and expression, national origin, pregnancy, medical condition, and covered veteran status. We strive to build and sustain a welcoming environment for all.

Application Instructions

Applicants must apply via Interfolio at <http://apply.interfolio.com/127871>. A completed file includes a letter of interest, a curriculum vitae, graduate transcripts, complete teaching evaluations (quantitative evaluations and complete sets of qualitative evaluations of recent courses), sample syllabi, academic writing samples, diversity statement, and three letters of recommendation. To ensure full consideration, submit all materials by September 21st, 2023. Screening of applications will begin then. Applicants who will have completed the Ph.D. by the start of the term of appointment will be given priority. Those without a Ph.D. in-hand should include in their letter of interest a statement of progress on the dissertation and reasons to expect completion in a timely fashion.

Further inquiries should be addressed to Farid Abdel-Nour, Chair of the Department of Political Science, at abdelnou@sdsu.edu.

The minimum salary for this position is based on the current CSU salary schedule for Assistant Professors and may be revised based on contract collective bargaining. The anticipated salary range is from $79,000 to $83,000. Salary placement will be based on the selected candidate's qualifications and experience, and salaries higher than the published maximums may be offered in limited circumstances. San Diego State University offers a rich benefits package that constitutes a major portion of total compensation. For benefits information, click here.

As part of its commitment to a safe and equitable "OneSDSU" community, SDSU requires that individuals seeking faculty employment provide at the time of application authorization to conduct background checks if they become a finalist for the position; applications without this authorization will be considered incomplete and not considered.

A background check (including a criminal records check) must be completed before any candidate can be offered a position with the CSU. Failure to satisfactorily complete the background check may affect the application status of applicants or continued employment of current CSU employees who apply for the position.

The person holding this position is considered a "mandated reporter" under the California Child Abuse and Neglect Reporting Act and is required to comply with the requirements set forth in CSU Executive Order 1083 as a condition of employment.

Equal Employment Opportunity Statement

SDSU is a Title IX, equal opportunity employer and does not discriminate against persons on the basis of race, religion, national origin, sexual orientation, gender, gender identity and expression, marital status, age, disability, pregnancy, medical condition, or covered veteran status.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 9/21/2023

Date Posted: 7/24/2023

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 12136

Dickinson College

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science (Latin American Politics)

The Political Science Department at Dickinson College seeks applications for a tenure-track position in comparative politics at the rank of Assistant Professor. The position is broadly defined, but a successful applicant will have research and teaching interests in Latin American politics. This position has a five-course teaching load. The department expects the successful candidate to be a committed, collaborative, and imaginative scholar with a Ph.D. in hand by September 2024.

Dickinson College values interdisciplinary teaching and learning, and many in the Department teach and research outside traditional disciplinary boundaries. The successful candidate will be expected to support the College's interdisciplinary program in Latin American, Latinx & Caribbean Studies. Spanish fluency is highly desirable.

Dickinson College is a highly selective four-year, independent liberal arts college with 2300 students. It is located 20 minutes west of Harrisburg and is a two-hour drive from Baltimore, Washington, D.C., and Philadelphia. Students, faculty, and staff often enjoy the food, art, entertainment, and cultural enrichment of these major hubs and/or New York City.

The ability to create inclusive learning environments for an increasingly diverse student body will be an important characteristic of the successful candidate. Applicants may highlight their ongoing or anticipated contributions to promoting equity and inclusion in their materials.

Candidates should submit via QUEST (online application system) at <https://jobs.dickinson.edu>

Please include a letter of application, a curriculum vitae, a graduate transcript, a writing sample, three letters of recommendation, a statement of teaching philosophy, sample syllabi, and teaching evaluations or other evidence of teaching effectiveness. Review of applications will begin on October 1, 2023. Any job offer will be contingent on available funding. Please address questions to the department chair, David O'Connell, at oonnell@dickinson.edu.

Dickinson College is committed to building a representative and diverse faculty, administrative staff, and student body. We strive to foster an inclusive community where members from all backgrounds can live, learn, and thrive together. Accordingly, we encourage applications from all qualified persons.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Date Posted: 7/21/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12127

Rice University

Rank: Associate or Full Professor of Political Science

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, International Relations

The Department of Political Science at Rice University, located in Houston, Texas, invites applications for an associate or full professor to begin July 1, 2024. Associate and full professors are expected to teach undergraduate and graduate courses, mentor students, perform research in their specialized area, and contribute to department and university service and leadership. Therefore, successful candidates will have an active research program, a record of publication and external funding commensurate with the proposed rank, and a record of excellence in teaching, mentoring, and service/leadership. Candidates must have a Ph.D. in political science or a related field.

The position is open with regard to research specialty, but we are particularly interested in candidates who connect to our areas of departmental strength in democratic political representation (U.S. or comparative), international security, and/or quantitative methods.

Rice University and the Department of Political Science are committed to building and sustaining an inclusive, diverse environment for our faculty, staff, and students. We encourage applications from individuals who have been historically underrepresented in academia, including people of color, LGBTQI+ people, women, and people with disabilities. We strive to counter prejudice actively and to create a working environment that is inclusive and equitable.

The application deadline is October 1, 2023. A complete application must include a letter of application; a curriculum vitae; research, teaching, DEI, and leadership/service statements; two writing samples; evidence of teaching effectiveness; and contact information for three references. References will be contacted for a subset of candidates. All applications should be submitted electronically at apply.interfolio.com/128783.

Start Date: Summer 2024

Application Deadline: 10/1/2023

Date Posted: 7/21/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12132

Colorado College

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

The Department of Political Science at Colorado College is hiring an Assistant Professor in Comparative Politics, with a focus on China. We particularly welcome candidates who situate China in comparative perspective. Crucial to the position is potential for excellence in scholarship as well as commitment to providing students with a liberal education. All requirements for the Ph.D. should be complete by the starting date of August 24, 2024.

Colorado College is committed to becoming an anti-racist institution. Through our anti-racism initiative, we are working to foster an intellectually rigorous and inclusive environment in which students and employees of diverse backgrounds, cultures, and perspectives can learn and work. Candidates should identify the ways in which they can contribute to these goals. Details about Colorado College's antiracism plan can be found at <https://www.coloradocollege.edu/other/antiracism-commitment/>

Colorado College has a distinctive academic program, the Block Plan, in which professors teach, and students take, one course at a time. Each block is three and a half weeks long, with an academic year of eight and a half blocks. The average teaching load is five blocks per year, with an additional block overseeing senior research. Faculty can apply for a limited number of release blocks, as well as various sources of funding, to pursue research.

EQUAL OPPORTUNITY EMPLOYER: Colorado College is an equal opportunity employer committed to increasing the diversity of its community. We do not discriminate on the basis of race, color, national origin, gender, age, religion, gender identity or expression, disability, or sexual orientation in our educational programs and activities or our employment practices.

Applicants should submit the following to <https://employment.coloradocollege.edu/postings/7192>:

(1) a cover letter, (2) a curriculum vitae, (3) a statement of research goals, (4) a statement of pedagogical principles, (5) evidence of teaching effectiveness (including syllabi and evaluations), (6) graduate transcripts, (7) a dissertation abstract, (8) a sample of scholarly publications, and (9) three letters of recommendation.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 9/15/2023

Date Posted: 7/18/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12110

American University

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of Government at the School of Public Affairs at American University invites applications for a tenure-line position at the rank of Assistant Professor in Comparative Politics beginning in Academic Year 2024-25.

Applicants should have a PhD or anticipate PhD completion by August 2024. Successful candidates will have strong methodological skills. The search is open with regard to research specialty, although the Department of Government is especially interested in scholars whose research and teaching interests include comparative political institutions. Applications from candidates who would enhance the diversity of the department are especially welcome. Most of all, the department seeks scholars who will further its goals of producing high impact research, providing innovative undergraduate and graduate teaching, and contributing to high visibility centers and research initiatives at American University. Review of applications will begin on September 1, 2023, and will continue until the position is filled, subject to on-going budgetary approvals. The position begins August 1, 2024. Applicants should have a PhD or an anticipated PhD completion by August 2024.

Salary and benefits are competitive. Please submit applications via: <http://apply.interfolio.com/128076>. Include a letter of application, curriculum vitae, three confidential letters of recommendation, research and teaching narratives, and a writing sample. Please contact Rachel Whelan, Faculty Coordinator, 202-885-6201 or spa_academicaffairs@american.edu if you have any questions.

Established in 1934, the School of Public Affairs offers undergraduate and graduate programs in the departments of Government; Justice, Law, & Criminology; and Public Administration & Policy. The School's programs are consistently ranked among the best in the field of public affairs by U.S. News & World Report. Learn more about the School of Public Affairs at www.american.edu/spa.

American University is a private institution within easy reach of the many centers of government, business, research, and the arts located within the nation's capital. For more information about American University, visit www.american.edu.

American University is an equal opportunity, affirmative action institution that operates in compliance with applicable laws and regulations. The university does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, national origin, religion, sex (including pregnancy), age, sexual orientation, disability, marital status, personal appearance, gender identity and expression, family responsibilities, political affiliation, source of income, veteran status, an individual's genetic information or any other bases under federal or local laws (collectively "Protected Bases") in its programs and activities.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/13/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12092

European University Institute

Rank: Peter Mair Assistant Professorship in Comparative Politics

The Department of Political and Social Sciences at the European University Institute seeks to make an appointment for the Peter Mair Assistant Professorship in Comparative Politics. The position is advertised at the rank of Assistant Professor to commence in the academic year 2024/25. Applications are invited from candidates engaged in advanced comparative political science research, across the globe, with preference given to a focus outside Europe.

Please find more information about the position here: <https://www.eui.eu/About/JobOpportunities/Open-competitions-for-academic-posts> (Peter Mair Assistant Professorship in Comparative Politics).

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 9/14/2023

Date Posted: 7/7/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12069

Williams College

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

The Political Science Department at Williams College is seeking an Assistant Professor of Political Science with scholarly expertise in African or South Asian politics. We seek a colleague who has a record of excellence in research and is committed to inclusive undergraduate education in the classroom. This tenure track appointment will begin in the 2024-2025 academic year. We welcome applications from members of groups traditionally underrepresented in the field. Candidates should have the Ph.D. completed by June 2024.

Application items should include: a cover letter detailing scholarly interests as well as teaching experience; a curriculum vitae; a writing sample of only one article or chapter; and three letters of recommendation. We ask you to write in your cover letter about your ability to work effectively with a student population that is broadly diverse with regard to gender, race, ethnicity, nationality, sexual orientation, and religion. Candidates invited to the first round of (zoom) interviews will be asked at that time to provide sample syllabi and evidence of teaching effectiveness.

The deadline for the submission of applications is September 15th. All application materials should be submitted through Interfolio [<http://apply.interfolio.com/127266>]. Fax and email applications will not be not accepted. Inquiries may be sent to Sarah Campbell-Copp at sjc2@williams.edu. All offers of employment are contingent upon completion of a background check. Further information is available here: <https://faculty.williams.edu/prospective-faculty/background-check-policy/>

Williams College is a liberal arts institution located in the Berkshire Hills of western Massachusetts. The college has built its reputation on outstanding teaching and scholarship and on the academic excellence of its approximately 2,000 students. Please visit the Williams College website (<http://www.williams.edu>) to learn more about the College and in particular its professional development resources for faculty. Beyond meeting fully its legal obligations for non-discrimination, Williams College is committed to building a diverse and inclusive community where members from all backgrounds can live, learn, and thrive.

Start Date: Summer 2024
Application Deadline: 9/15/2023
Date Posted: 6/21/2023
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 12043

Hampden-Sydney College

Rank: Assistant Professor/Comparative Politics
Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Open
Specializations: Middle East, East Asia, Latin American

Hampden-Sydney College invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track appointment at the rank of Assistant Professor within the Department of Government and Foreign Affairs to begin in the fall of 2024. Candidates should be broadly trained in the foundations of political thought and have teaching interests in comparative politics and institutions. An ability to teach in at least one regional area--Middle East, East Asia, Latin America, etc.--is expected. The willingness to offer courses on global or regional policymaking in a specialized area is also welcomed. The successful applicant may participate in the college-wide Core Cultures program and teach, as needed, introductory courses in world politics. Faculty teach on a three-year course load rotation with six courses per year for two years and seven courses in the third year.

Hampden-Sydney College highly values the teacher/scholar model. Successful applicants will have a record of effective classroom teaching, a commitment to scholarly productivity, and a willingness to work with colleagues on professional service responsibilities. Applicants should have a Ph.D. in political science or a comparable degree by the time of appointment.

Please submit a letter of application, curriculum vitae, teaching statement, research statement, and three letters of reference to Dr. Celia Carroll Jones, Chair, Department of Government and Foreign Affairs, Hampden-Sydney College via Interfolio: <http://apply.interfolio.com/122859>. Review of applications will begin in October 2023 and continue until the position is filled. Application Deadline: September 30, 2023.

Hampden-Sydney College is a selective liberal arts institution enrolling approximately 1000 students. Founded in 1775, it is the tenth oldest institution of higher learning in the United States Hampden-Sydney is one of three liberal arts colleges in the United States dedicated to the education of men. Our mission is to educate "good men and good citizens in an atmosphere of sound learning."

Our beautiful 1300-acre campus is less than 7 miles from downtown Farmville, home to Longwood University and the Moton Museum, which is listed on the U.S. Civil Rights Trail. The campus is located 65 miles west of Richmond, 50 miles east of Lynchburg, and 75 miles south of Charlottesville, providing abundant cultural, recreational and artistic resources. As a community, we are dedicated to the goal of building a culturally diverse faculty committed to working in a multicultural environment and strongly encourage applications from women and minoritized groups. Hampden-Sydney College values diversity, prohibits discrimination, and is committed to equal opportunity for all employees and applicants for employment.

Start Date: Fall 2024
Application Deadline: 9/30/2023
Date Posted: 6/15/2023
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 11861

University of Michigan, Ann Arbor

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science
Subfield(s): Methodology, International Relations, Comparative Politics
Specializations: Political Behavior, Political Economy, Race & Ethnic Politics

The Department of Political Science at the University of Michigan is conducting an Assistant Professor search.

The full job posting can be found below and at: https://careers.umich.edu/job_detail/235272/asst-professor

How to Apply

All applications must be submitted electronically to <https://apply.interfolio.com/126053>

Applicants should include the following application materials in PDF format: a cover letter, curriculum vitae, a concise statement describing current and future plans for research, a statement of teaching philosophy and experience, evidence of teaching excellence (if any), writing samples, graduate transcripts, and a statement of activities contributing to diversity, equity, and inclusion in academia. Applications should also submit three letters of recommendation.

Summary

The University of Michigan's Department of Political Science invites applications from outstanding candidates for a tenure track position for a scholar who combines advanced skills in Methods of Causal Inference, Big Data, Computational Social Science, Data Science, and/or Field Experiments, open with respect to substantive interest; the department has specific interests in international political economy, comparative developing countries, and political behavior in race and ethnic politics.

This position is at the assistant professor rank and is a university year appointment. It is anticipated to begin August 26, 2024. Promise of excellence in research and teaching is required.

Application Instructions

Applicants should include the following application materials in PDF format: a cover letter, curriculum vitae, a concise statement describing current and future plans for research, a statement of teaching philosophy and experience, evidence of teaching excellence (if any), writing samples, graduate transcripts, and a statement of activities contributing to diversity, equity, and inclusion in academia. Applications should also submit three letters of recommendation. Information on our research initiatives and scholarly interests of current faculty can be found on the Department's website: <https://lsa.umich.edu/polisci>.

For full consideration, complete applications should be submitted by August 31, 2023.

The University of Michigan conducts background checks on all job candidates and may use a third-party administrator to conduct background checks. Background checks will be performed in compliance with the Fair Credit Reporting Act and offers for this appointment are contingent on successful completion of a background screening.

The University of Michigan is committed to fostering and maintaining a diverse work culture that respects the rights of each individual, without regard to race, color, national origin, ancestry, religious creed, sex, gender identity, sexual orientation, gender expression, height, weight, marital status, disability, medical condition, age, or veteran status. The University of Michigan is supportive of the needs of dual career couples and is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer. Women and minorities are encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 8/31/2023

Date Posted: 6/7/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12007

Hampden-Sydney College

Rank: Assistant Professor/International Organization & European Politics

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Open

Specializations: International Law & Organizations, Western Europe, Post Communist Europe

Hampden-Sydney College invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track appointment at the rank of Assistant Professor within the Department of Government and Foreign Affairs to begin in the fall of 2024. Candidates should have expertise in the development of international organization as well as research and teaching interests in European politics. The ability to offer courses on global and regional policymaking is a plus. The successful applicant will participate in the college-wide Core Cultures program and teach, as needed, introductory courses in world politics. Faculty teach on a three-year course load rotation with six courses per year for two years and seven courses in the third year.

Hampden-Sydney College highly values the teacher/scholar model. Successful applicants will have a record of effective classroom teaching, a commitment to scholarly productivity, and a willingness to work with colleagues on professional service responsibilities. Applicants should have a Ph.D. in political science by the time of appointment.

Please submit a letter of application, curriculum vitae, teaching statement, research statement, and three letters of reference to Dr. Celia

Carroll Jones, Chair, Department of Government and Foreign Affairs, Hampden-Sydney College via Interfolio. Review of applications will begin in the fall of 2023 and continue until the position is filled. Application Deadline: October 20, 2023.

Hampden-Sydney College is a selective liberal arts institution enrolling approximately 1000 students. Founded in 1775, it is the tenth oldest institution of higher learning in the United States and one of four liberal arts colleges in the United States dedicated to the education of men. Our mission is to educate "good men and good citizens in an atmosphere of sound learning."

Our beautiful 1300-acre campus is less than 7 miles from downtown Farmville, home to Longwood University and the Moton Museum, which is listed on the U.S. Civil Rights Trail. The campus is located 65 miles west of Richmond, 50 miles east of Lynchburg, and 75 miles south of Charlottesville, providing abundant cultural, recreational and artistic resources. As a community, we are dedicated to the goal of building a culturally diverse faculty committed to working in a multicultural environment and strongly encourage applications from women and minoritized groups. Hampden-Sydney College values diversity, prohibits discrimination, and is committed to equal opportunity for all employees and applicants for employment.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 10/20/2023

Date Posted: 5/31/2023

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 11995

New School for Social Research

Rank: Professor, Comparative Politics (one semester, fixed-term)

The Department of Politics at The New School seeks applicants for a one-semester professorship in comparative politics. The Professor will offer one graduate and one undergraduate seminar during the spring 2024 semester (January 22-May 17, 2024). While research and teaching can cover any themes or regions, the department prefers applicants with a demonstrated record of university teaching experience.

The Department of Politics specializes in critical, historical, grounded, and interdisciplinary approaches to the study of politics. Faculty and students bring the leading edge of scholarly debate and analysis into conversation with pressing issues of our time. We engage in political and intellectual life at the university, in New York City, and as a part of extensive global research networks. The Department offers Bachelor of Arts, Master of Arts, and PhD degrees.

The New School is strongly committed to diversity and inclusion in the workplace and particularly seeks applications from members of underrepresented groups, as well as candidates who share this commitment.

RESPONSIBILITIES

The term Professor will be expected to offer one graduate seminar and one undergraduate seminar in spring 2024. In addition to holding regular office hours, the Faculty will be expected to take part in the curricular and intellectual life of the department, by giving one research presentation, sitting on a field examination committee, and attending department events.

MINIMUM QUALIFICATIONS

The selection among eligible candidates will be based on:

A PhD in Political Science or cognate discipline or program

Evidence of progress toward research publications

Evidence of instructional experience (teaching assistant, instructor)

Ability to adhere to University COVID-19 Policy

WORK MODALITY

On-Campus Position: Faculty are expected to work on-campus due to the nature of the work in accordance with the University policies as set forth in the Full-Time Faculty Handbook..

SALARY RANGE

$50,000 - $55,000

TO APPLY

Review of applications will begin on May 1, 2023 and may continue until the position is filled. Interested candidates should submit:

Cover letter outlining research and teaching interests and relevant experience

Curriculum Vitae

Names and contact information of three references

Applicants may be contacted at the discretion of the department faculty for additional materials.

For information on the University benefits package including health and retirement plans, please visit <http://www.newschool.edu/human-resources/benefits/>.

To apply please visit: <https://newschool.wd1.myworkdayjobs.com/External/job/D---6-East-16th-Street/Professor--Comparative-Politics--one-semester--fixed-term--JR103245>

We look forward to receiving your application!

Start Date: Spring 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 4/19/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 11917

University of Kentucky

Rank: Teaching Post-Doctoral Scholar

The Department of Political Science in the College of Arts and Sciences at the University of Kentucky in Lexington, KY, invites applications for a teaching post-doc position in International Relations or Comparative Politics. We are particularly interested in candidates who can contribute to the diversity and inclusion mission of the department. The position will begin August 1, 2023. Applicants are expected to teach a 3/3 load. Applicants should show strong potential to provide effective undergraduate teaching and have a Ph.D. in Political Science in hand by August 2023.

Interested applicants should apply online at: <https://ukjobs.uky.edu/postings/457530>. Applicants should submit the following: 1) curriculum vitae, 2) letter stating the candidate's research and teaching interests (uploaded as Cover Letter), 3) copy of transcript for highest degree earned, and 4) evidence of teaching experience, particularly syllabi from courses taught (uploaded as specific request 1). Provide the names and contact information for three references when prompted in the academic profile. This information may be used to solicit recommendation letters from your references within the employment system.

Questions about this position should be addressed to Dr. Emily Bacchus, Associate Chair, Department of Political Science, University of Kentucky (emily.beaulieu@uky.edu).

The University of Kentucky is an Equal Opportunity Employer and encourages applications from veterans, individuals with disabilities, women, African Americans, and all minorities.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 3/27/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 11837

INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS

Stanford University

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellowship on Contemporary Japan 2024-2025

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Public Policy

Stanford University: 2024–2025 Postdoctoral Fellowship on Contemporary Japan

The Japan Program at Stanford University's Walter H. Shorenstein Asia-Pacific Research Center is pleased to announce its search for a 2024-2025 Japan Program Postdoctoral Fellow on contemporary Japan. The award will be made to one junior scholar (recent PhDs must have degree conferral and approval by June 30, 2024) for research and writing on Japan.

The primary focus of the fellowship is multidisciplinary research including, but not limited to the areas of political science, economics, sociology, law, policy studies, and international relations of Japan. The postdoctoral fellowship is a 10-month appointment with a salary rate commensurate with Stanford policy, plus up to $3,000 for research expenses. Appointments will begin in the fall quarter of the 2024-2025 academic year.

Applications will be accepted until December 1, 2023.

For additional information and to apply, visit: <https://aparc.fsi.stanford.edu/education/fellowship-and-training-opportunities/postdoctoral-fellowship-contemporary-japan>

About the Japan Program:

The Japan Program at Stanford's Shorenstein Asia-Pacific Research Center cultivates multidisciplinary research and education on contemporary Japanese affairs. Through collaboration with experts from academia, government, business, and civil society, we engage in policy-relevant dialogue and scholarship to promote a comprehensive understanding of the internal and external political, economic, and social factors that influence the progress and development of Japan and its role within the Asia-Pacific region and on the world's stage.

Start Date: Fall 2024
Application Deadline: 12/1/2023
Date Posted: 9/27/2023
Salary: $60,000 - $69,999
eJobs ID: 12614

Stanford

Rank: CDDRL Pre & Postdoctoral Fellowship
Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, American Government and Politics

Stanford University Center on Democracy, Development, and the Rule of Law welcomes applications from pre-doctoral students at the write-up stage and from post-doctoral scholars working in any of the four program areas of democracy, development, evaluating the efficacy of democracy promotion, and rule of law.

Pre-doctoral fellows must be enrolled currently in a doctoral program or equivalent through the time of intended residency at Stanford and must be at the dissertation write-up (post course work) phase of their doctoral program. Post-doctoral fellows must have earned their Ph.D. within 3 years of the start of the fellowship, or plan to have successfully defended their Ph.D. dissertations by July 31, 2024.

In addition to our regular call for applications, CDDRL invites applications for the Gerhard Casper Fellow in Rule of Law for 2024-25. We welcome research on any aspect of rule of law, including judicial politics, criminal justice, and the politicization of judicial institutions. We are an interdisciplinary center; candidates from any relevant field (i.e. the social sciences, law) are welcome to apply. The Gerhard Casper Fellow will be part of CDDRL's larger cohort of pre- and postdoctoral fellows. Please apply through the CDDRL fellowship application process and indicate that you would like to be considered for the Gerhard Casper Rule of Law Fellowship.

The application cycle for the 2024-2025 academic year will be open from Monday, September 25, 2023, through Friday, December 15, 2023. Applicants can apply online at https://webportalapp.com/sp/stanford_cddrl_fellowship.

More information on the application and the guidelines to apply can be found at our website at <https://cddrl.fsi.stanford.edu/cddrl-pre-doctoral-and-postdoctoral-fellowships>.

Start Date: Fall 2023
Application Deadline: 12/15/2023
Date Posted: 9/25/2023
Salary: $70,000 - $79,999
eJobs ID: 12587

University of Arizona

Rank: Assistant Professor – International Law/ International Organizations

The School of Government & Public Policy (SGPP) at the University of Arizona is seeking applicants for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position to conduct research, teaching, and outreach related to international law and/or international organizations. We are interested in individuals addressing the politics or policy of international law and/or international organizations as they intersect with a substantive strength of the SGPP, such as climate change adaptation, peace and conflict, international development, democracy, rights, governance, justice, gender, and/or migration.

The position includes responsibility to teach four classes per year (a 2:2 teaching load). We are especially interested in individuals who can contribute classes in the areas of international law, international organization, and/or international relations, which will primarily serve students on our BA Law, BA Political Science, MA International Security Studies, and/or PhD Government & Public Policy programs. Candidates should have the ability to work effectively within a broadly diverse community of students, scholars, and stakeholders.

The University of Arizona is an equal opportunity employer, and the department strongly encourages candidates of all backgrounds to apply. Outstanding UA benefits include health, dental, and vision insurance plans; life insurance and disability programs; paid vacation, sick leave, and holidays; UA/ASU/NAU tuition reduction for the employee and qualified family members; state and optional retirement plans; access to UA recreation and cultural activities; and more! The University of Arizona has been recognized for our innovative work-life programs. For more information about working at the University of Arizona and relocations services, please click here.

Duties and Responsibilities: Publish in refereed journals and other appropriate outlets. Teach classes on international law, international organization, and/or international relations. Participate in faculty governance through service on departmental committees. Provide professional and public service as appropriate. Demonstrate a commitment to collaboration and engagement with diverse scholars and stakeholders. Perform other duties as assigned.

Knowledge, Skills, and Abilities: Strong communication skills. Strong empirical research skills.

Minimum Qualifications: Ph.D. in political science, public policy, or closely related discipline, at time of appointment. Experience with and commitment to contributing to an inclusive, diverse, and collegial community.

Preferred Qualifications: Established record of published research; experience teaching at the university level; evidence of grant-writing experience.

Contact Information for Candidates: SGPP Associate Director, Professor Alex Braithwaite at abraith@arizona.edu.

Direct link to application website: <https://arizona.csod.com/ux/ats/careersite/4/home/requisition/17629?c=arizona>

Documents needed to apply:

1. Curriculum vitae
2. Cover letter expressing why you are interested in this position
3. Job market paper or writing sample
4. A two-page research statement describing your goals and vision for your future research program at the University of Arizona.
5. A two-page teaching statement describing your approach to teaching and the range of classes you would be excited to offer.
6. Contact information for three references

The application review process will begin Monday October 9th and continue until a suitable candidate is identified.

Start Date: Fall 2024
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/25/2023
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 12608

Duke Kunshan University

Rank: Faculty Position in Political Economy

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Public Policy

Duke Kunshan University invites applications for a visiting assistant professor in political economy, with a focus on Chinese politics. The successful candidate will contribute to DKU's political economy major and may also teach in our team-taught common core course, China in the world. Candidates who have the ability to teach cross-cultural leadership are encouraged to apply. The successful candidate will obtain a contract of between two and three years. As part of this appointment, in year two of the appointment, candidates have the option to complete a non-credit bearing certificate in "Innovative Curriculum Design and Pedagogy" offered by DKU's Center for Teaching and Learning.

In order to meet Chinese visa requirements, prior to the position start date international (non-Chinese) candidates must have worked full-time (work experience obtained while studying full-time is not considered as full-time work experience) for at least two years in a relevant area (including post-doctoral work) after receiving their Bachelor's degree, or begin their appointment at DKU within 12 months of obtaining their master's degree/Ph.D. and without having work experience between graduation date on master's degree diploma/Ph.D. diploma and position start date.

DKU is a collaborative partnership of Duke University, Wuhan University and the Municipality of Kunshan, China (<https://dukekunshan.edu.cn/>). Our campus provides an innovative and robustly interdisciplinary undergraduate liberal arts experience to a student body that will number 2000 students and 150+ faculty, with an acceptance rate of <8% and a student body represented by over 60 countries. We also offer a discrete number of Master's level graduate programs. The DKU pedagogical model draws on the best of Duke's educational experience and resources to reimagine undergraduate instruction on an intimate campus setting.

Similar to the best liberal arts colleges in the United States, DKU values dedication to teaching excellence in a liberal arts environment, as well as a strong commitment to successful scholarly engagement and research. This includes research with undergraduate students. As a whole, the Duke Kunshan faculty will have strong commitments to teaching and research, and outstanding quality in both areas will be highly valued.

Candidates must hold a Ph.D. degree or equivalent in a relevant field. Research experience at a postdoctoral level (or greater) and teaching experience are desirable, as is experience working in an interdisciplinary setting. Applicants should provide a cover letter including a clear statement of the candidate's specific interest in DKU, a curriculum vitae, a research statement, a teaching statement, and three reference letters. All materials should be submitted through Academic Jobs Online: <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/25752>. The search committee also invites and encourages letters of nomination for potential candidates. Nominations and questions about the positions may be sent to social-science-search@dukekunshan.edu.cn using the subject "Chinese Political Economy" as the subject line. Priority will be given to applications received by October 27, 2023; we will accept applications until the positions are filled.

The DKU campus is 37 miles west of Shanghai in Kunshan, and is connected to Shanghai via an 18-minute high-speed train and a sub-way-light rail train system. DKU provides internationally competitive compensation, housing allowance, child education benefits (for applicable faculty positions), and a discretionary fund or start-up package.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/23/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12598

Brown University

Rank: Watson Institute Postdoctoral Fellows Program 2024-2026

Subfield(s): International Relations, Public Policy, Comparative Politics

Postdoctoral Fellow at Watson Institute for International and Public Affairs at Brown University

The Watson Institute for International and Public Affairs at Brown University aspires to promote a just and peaceful world through research, teaching, and public engagement. Central to this mission is the Watson Postdoctoral Fellows Program, an effort to galvanize the careers of young social scientists conducting research related to the Institute's three core thematic areas: development, governance, and security. Participants in this program will join an interdisciplinary community of scholars engaged in theoretically and substantively important research addressing the most pressing global issues of our time. Fellows receive two years of support, with the expectation that they will pursue research and participate fully in the intellectual life of the Institute. Fellows will also teach one course per year in the Institute or in an affiliated Brown University social science department. Watson Institute is especially interested in qualified candidates who can contribute, through their research, teaching, and/or service, to the diversity and excellence of the academic community.

Founded in 1764, Brown is a leading research university distinct for its student-centered learning and deep sense of purpose. Brown University students, faculty, and staff are driven by the idea that their work will have an impact on the world. Brown is a place where rigorous scholarship, complex problem-solving, and service to the public good are defined by collaboration, intellectual discovery, and working in ways that transcend traditional disciplinary boundaries.

The fellowship competition is open to candidates from the social sciences, including anthropology, economics, history, political science, and sociology. The selection process, open with regard to nationality and geographic area of research, is highly competitive and typically generates over 500 applications for 4 or 5 places. Scholars who have received their PhDs within two years of the application deadline are eligible to apply. Individuals who are currently – or have previously been – postdoctoral fellows in other programs are not eligible to apply. Fellows will receive an annual stipend of $75,000, for this benefits-eligible position. Additional funding will be made available for research expenses and research-related programming on campus. Candidates selected for the Postdoctoral Fellows program who have not completed their dissertations by July 1, 2024, will be paid a reduced salary until their dissertation is defended.

To receive full consideration, the following materials should be submitted by October 18, 2023 to the application portal <http://apply.interfolio.com/130655>

· A cover letter stating the applicant's academic field, status of their dissertation, and proposed research to be conducted during their fellowship period. The cover letter should not exceed 2,000 words and should make clear where in the Institute's core areas of security, development, or governance the proposed research best fits. Please also include a statement about teaching in a diverse and inclusive classroom.

- An up-to-date curriculum vitae.
- A copy of each graduate transcript.
- A writing sample.
- Three letters of recommendation from scholars familiar with the applicant's research.

Review of applications will begin on October 18; to receive full consideration applications should be received by that date. Awards will be announced in January 2024.

For further information regarding the Watson Institute Postdoctoral Fellows Program, please visit the Watson Institute website (watson.brown.edu) or contact:

Professor Rose McDermott, Faculty Director of the Watson Postdoctoral Fellows Program, Thomas J. Watson Jr. Institute for International and Public Affairs, Brown University, 111 Thayer Street, Box 1970 Providence, RI 02912. rose_mcdermott@brown.edu. For information about the application process, please email: Watson_Applications@brown.edu

Brown University is situated on the East Side of Providence, on historic College Hill, overlooking downtown Providence. The area around Brown has a friendly, residential vibe, with plentiful housing options, shopping, cafés, and restaurants, all within walking distance of campus. With its low cost of living and historic architecture, the capital city is a vibrant place to live and work that offers a dynamic arts and culture scene, including many music, theater, and art venues. Located in southern New England, the State of Rhode Island features more than 400 miles of coastline and 100 beaches. Beautiful farms, vineyards, orchards, wooded trails, and numerous historic towns cover its 1200 square miles.

As an EEO/AA employer, Brown University provides equal opportunity and prohibits discrimination, harassment and retaliation based upon a person's race, color, religion, sex, age, national or ethnic origin, disability, veteran status, sexual orientation, gender identity, gender expression, or any other characteristic protected under applicable law, and caste, which is protected by our University policies.

Start Date: Summer

Application Deadline: 10/18/2023

Date Posted: 9/22/2023

Salary: $70,000 - $79,999

eJobs ID: 12594

Harvard University

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Public Policy

Specializations: Japan, East Asia, Advanced Industrial Societies

The Program on U.S.-Japan Relations at Harvard University's Weatherhead Center for International Affairs will offer postdoctoral fellowships during the 2024-25 academic year. We seek applications from outstanding recent PhDs in the social sciences who are conducting research that illuminates Japan's relations with the rest of the world in the broadest sense. We welcome applications from anthropology, business, economics, history, international relations, law, political science, psychology, public health, public policy, and sociology, among other fields. Scholars may examine domestic issues that bear on Japan's external relations or problems that it shares with other countries, and we encourage projects that compare Japan's experience cross-nationally.

A knowledge of the Japanese language is not required. Applicants must have received their doctoral degree in 2019 or later, in a discipline bearing on the Program's research areas. Research projects that focus on Japan or Japan's international role from a comparative, historical, or global perspective are welcome. Those who are selected to receive fellowships must have a Registrar-certified PhD degree by July 31, 2024.

The grant includes a stipend of $67,000 (over a 10-month period); health insurance coverage for grantee; and up to $5,000 in research funds. This fellowship is made possible by support from the Edwin O. Reischauer Institute of Japanese Studies.

Please note that the application deadline is December 15, 2023. For more details and application instructions, please see: <https://programs.wcfia.harvard.edu/us-japan/apply-become-postdoctoral-fellow>

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 12/15/2023

Date Posted: 9/22/2023

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 12592

University of Missouri, Columbia

Rank: Assistant Professor

The University of Missouri-Columbia's Peace Studies Program and Department of Black Studies are seeking applications for a tenure-track assistant professor to begin on August 15, 2024. The position will be called the Mehr Family Faculty Scholar in Peace Studies & Black Studies, with the faculty member teaching approximately 75% Peace Studies and 25% Black Studies. A Ph.D. by the start of the appointment is required and can come from any disciplinary area in the Arts and Humanities or Social and Behavioral Sciences. The faculty member will have a 2/2 teaching load and report to the chair of Black Studies, with responsibilities in teaching and service in both Black Studies and Peace Studies. The successful candidate will be expected to teach introductory courses in Peace Studies, covering topics such as peace movements, peace education, peace building, and conflict resolution on a national and global level. Additionally, candidates with expertise in social inequalities, environmental issues, sports, politics, media, or religion impacting the lives of people of Black Africa and/or its global diaspora are encouraged to apply.

The University of Missouri (MU or Mizzou), located in Columbia, has an enrollment of more than 30,000 students and is Missouri's largest public research university. Mizzou is also the flagship campus of the four-campus University of Missouri System and one of only five universities nationwide with law, medicine, veterinary medicine, and a nuclear research reactor on one campus. A member of the prestigious Association of American Universities since 1908, Mizzou is considered one of the nation's top-tier (R1) institutions.

Please apply online at: <https://hr.missouri.edu/job-openings> (Job ID 48243) and be prepared to upload the following:

1. An application letter (2-3 pages)

2. Your current C.V. (15 pages maximum)
3. A statement of research (2-3 pages)
4. A teaching statement (2-3 pages)
5. A writing sample (30 pages maximum)

We value the uniqueness of every individual and strive to ensure each person's success. Contributions from individuals with diverse backgrounds, experiences and perspectives promote intellectual pluralism and enable us to achieve the excellence that we seek in learning, research and engagement. This commitment makes our university a better place to work, learn and innovate. In your application materials, please discuss your experiences and expertise that support these values and enrich our missions of teaching, research and engagement.

In addition, please solicit three recommenders for confidential letters of recommendation to be sent directly to Dr. David J. Schenker (SchenkerD@missouri.edu), chair of the Search Committee, by the application deadline. The review of applications will begin on October 1, 2023. Applicants should apply by this date for full consideration. Applicants may contact Dr. Schenker or Dr. Daive Dunkley (dunkleyd@missouri.edu), director of Peace Studies and chair of Black Studies, with questions about the job duties. Contact Human Resource Services (muhrs@missouri.edu) for any questions about the application process.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/22/2023

Salary: Any

eJobs ID: 12591

Washington State University

Rank: Assistant Professor

Specializations: Conflict Processes, Gender Politics & Policy, Political Psychology

Washington State University – Pullman, WA

Assistant Professor, Global Politics – Tenure Track

School of Politics, Philosophy and Public Affairs

NOTICE OF VACANCY

Position Summary:

The School of Politics, Philosophy and Public Affairs at Washington State University invites applications for a permanent, full-time, nine-month, tenure-track Assistant Professor position in Pullman, WA, with a specialty in Global Politics (including comparative politics or international relations). We seek applicants whose research focuses on democracy/autocracy (such as backsliding, liberal world order, revanchist policies) or conflict processes (broadly interpreted). Specifically, we are especially interested in those who address these topics through a lens of gender or political psychology and those who focus on the inequitable impacts of such global processes.

It is anticipated that the successful candidate will begin the appointment on August 16, 2024.

Job duties:

The workload of this position is 40% teaching, 40% research and 20% service.

- Teaching two courses each semester in the areas of international relations or comparative politics
- Mentoring of graduate students in the political science M.A. and Ph.D. programs
- Conducting original research, which will be reflected in annual refereed publications and scholarly conference presentations
- Serving on school, college, and university committees and participating in the shared governance of the School of Politics, Philosophy and Public Affairs

Required Qualifications:

- Completed Ph D. in political science or related discipline by time of appointment.
- Demonstrated record of or potential for research in international relations and/or comparative politics that addresses democracy/autocracy (such as backsliding, liberal world order, or revanchist policies) or conflict processes and uses psychological or gender-based approaches to the study of global politics to focus on the inequitable impacts of such global processes.
- Proven record of or potential for successful teaching and instruction in international relations and/or comparative politics
- Proven record of or potential for successful mentoring of graduate students in international relations and/or comparative politics
- Demonstrated record of or potential for commitment to inclusion, diversity, equity, and access efforts
- Potential for or demonstrated ability to teach research methods at the graduate level

Salary/Benefits: $74,000-79,000 per nine-month academic year

In accordance with RCW 49.58.110, the above salary reflects the full salary range for this position. Individual placement within the range is based on the candidate's current experience, education, skills, and abilities related to the position or as mandated by a U.S. Department of Labor prevailing wage determination. WSU offers a comprehensive benefits package which includes paid sick and vacation leave; paid holidays; medical, dental, life and disability insurance package for employees and dependents; retirement; deferred compensation and optional supplemental retirement accounts. For additional information, please review the detailed Summary of Benefits offered by WSU for Faculty and Total Compensation.

Posting Close Date: Applicants must submit their completed application by Monday, October 23, 2023 at 11:59 p.m.

Background Check: This position has been designated by the department to require a background check because it requires access to children or vulnerable adults as defined by RCW 74.34, engages in law enforcement, requires security clearance, interacts with WSU students in a counseling or advising capacity, has access to personal identifying and/or financial information, unsupervised access to university buildings/property, or other business-related need. A background check will not be completed until an initial determination of qualification for employment has been made.

Application Instructions: Use R-10359 at <https://hrs.wsu.edu/jobs/> to find the job listing. Applicants must upload the following required documents to their online application. External candidates, please upload all documents in the "Resume/CV" section of your application. Internal candidates, please upload all documents in the "Resume/Cover Letter" section of your application. Documents may be submitted in one file or separate files. Applicants are encouraged to upload as a PDF if possible. Applicants will be requested to provide contact information for professional references within the online application. Application materials should clearly communicate how the applicant meets all required qualifications and additional requirements.

Inquiries should be directed to the search committee chair, Michael Salamone (michael.salamone@wsu.edu).

Required documents:

- A cover letter addressing qualifications for this position.
- Curriculum vitae
- Teaching statement that describes your teaching experience and philosophy, which may incorporate experience from formal or informal teaching and mentoring opportunities, and/or teaching evaluations
- Research/Scholarship/Creative Activity statement that outlines your scholarly work and includes your future plans.
- A sample of scholarly writing from the past 3 years (for example, dissertation chapter, working paper, or publication)
- Contributions to Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion statement that includes your demonstrated and or potential for contributions to diversity, equity, and inclusion efforts through scholarship/research, and/or teaching/mentoring, and/or service/engagement. There may be some overlap with your research and teaching statements.
- Names, addresses, and contact information of at least three references who can address your history of and potential for excellence in research, teaching, and service. References should send letters of recommendation to pppa.facultysearch@wsu.edu by the application deadline.

About WSU, Pullman, CAS, and School of Politics, Philosophy and Public Affairs: Washington State University is a land grant, multiple-campus Research 1 institution. This position will serve on the Pullman campus, which has an enrollment of around 20,000 students and is located in Southeastern Washington on the homelands of the Nimiipuu (Nez Perce) Tribe and Palus people. Located 80 miles south of metropolitan Spokane, Pullman is also a quick drive away from the scenic Idaho panhandle and Moscow Mountain. The rolling hills of the Palouse offer a wide range of activities and a true four-season climate. The area provides ample opportunity to enjoy the cultural and academic hub of both Washington State University and the University of Idaho, in the neighboring town of Moscow, Idaho. For more information about the region, please see <https://pullmanchamber.com>.

Encompassing more than 30 departments, schools, and research institutes on five campuses statewide, the College of Arts & Sciences is the heart of WSU. Together our 730+ faculty and staff deliver more than 50% of WSU's total undergraduate and graduate instruction, including the vast majority of WSU's core curriculum. We also drive annual research expenditures of more than $26 million, with wide interdisciplinary strengths in public and community health, environmental change, equity and social justice, and data and technology at the boundaries. As Arts & Sciences begins its 10th anniversary as a unified college, we seek to lead a reimagining of WSU's land-grant mission for the 21st century, expanding the boundaries of creativity and discovery while simultaneously recognizing more completely our obligations to Native and Indigenous peoples. For more about the College of Arts & Sciences at WSU, please see <https://cas.wsu.edu>.

The School of Politics, Philosophy and Public Affairs has approximately 300 undergraduate majors and approximately 30 graduate students across its M.A. and Ph D. programs in Political Science. Detailed information about faculty and programs in the School appears at <https://pppa.wsu.edu>. For more information on the College of Arts and Sciences at Washington State University, see <https://cas.wsu.edu/>.

WSU acknowledges that its locations statewide are on the homelands of Native American peoples, who have lived in this region and have been caretakers of the land from time immemorial. The Morrill Act of 1862 established our land-grant institution by providing public and federal lands that are traced back to the disposition of Indigenous lands, often taken by coercive and violent acts, and the disregard of treaties. For that, we extend our deepest apologies. We owe our deepest gratitude to the Native peoples of this region and maintain our commitment towards reconciliation. And as a land-grant institution, WSU is deeply committed to the land-grant mission, its Memorandums of Understanding with Native tribes in the region, and a tradition of service to society. To read the full WSU land acknowledgement, please see <https://wsu.edu/about/wsu-land-acknowledgement/>.

Washington State University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Educator and Employer. Members of ethnic minorities, women, special disabled veterans, veterans of the Vietnam-era, recently separated veterans, and other protected veteran, persons of disability and/or persons age 40 and over are encouraged to apply.

WSU is committed to excellence through diversity and faculty-friendly policy action, including partner accommodation and NSF ADVANCE Institutional Transformation programs (<http://www.advance.wsu.edu/>). WSU employs only U.S. citizens and lawfully authorized non-U.S. citizens. All new employees must show employment eligibility verification as required by the U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Services.

WSU is committed to providing access and reasonable accommodation in its services, programs, activities, education and employment for individuals with disabilities. To request disability accommodation in the application process, contact Human Resource Services: 509-335-4521 (v), Washington State TDD Relay Service: Voice Callers: 1-800-833-6384; TDD Callers: 1-800-833-6388, 509-335-1259(f), or hrs@wsu.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 10/23/2023

Date Posted: 9/22/2023

Salary: $70,000 - $79,999

eJobs ID: 12596

University of Houston

Rank: Open Rank

Open Rank Position – International Relations

The Department of Political Science at the University of Houston invites applications for a tenured or tenure-track position (Full, Associate, or Assistant Professor), to begin in the Fall semester of 2024. We seek applicants whose research and teaching interests focus on International Relations. Although candidates from all subfields of International Relations are invited to apply, we are particularly interested in those who focus on international political economy and international development, broadly defined, or whose work lies at the intersection of international political economy and conflict. Special consideration will be given to candidates whose research agendas add to the department's existing strengths. Successful candidates should have strong methodological training, demonstrated excellence in scholarly research and publication, and a clear commitment to graduate and undergraduate teaching. Review of applications will begin October 2 and will continue until the position is filled.

UH is a Carnegie Tier One public research university that is located on a park-like campus a few minutes from Houston city center. The university has embarked on an exciting period of research growth, a rising reputation, and committed leadership.

The Department of Political Science provides high-quality undergraduate and graduate education, with over 800 majors and 75 M.A. and Ph.D. students. The Department capitalizes on the strengths of our city, offering students and faculty opportunities to research the politics of the future in a dynamic hub of international commerce, and in a region which is on the leading edge of national demographic and economic trends.

Houston is the fourth largest city in the United States. It is an international and multicultural city, with world-class restaurants, theaters, museums, and thrilling sports teams. It offers affordable housing and enjoys a low cost of living. The university is close to the Texas Medical Center, the largest in the world, a large industrial base, and NASA.

Applications should be submitted through the University's online job site, <http://www.uh.edu/human-resources/uh-careers/>. The position number keyword is FAC003041. To apply please submit a letter of application, CV, short writing sample, unofficial transcripts, and contact information for three professional references. Listed references will be asked to provide letters of recommendation.

For further information please contact Professor Eduardo Alemán, Department of Political Science, University of Houston, at ealeman2@uh.edu.

The University of Houston is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer. Minorities, veterans, women and persons with disabilities are encouraged to apply. The University of Houston is responsive to the needs of dual career couples.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/21/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12583

Harvard University

Rank: William Lyon Mackenzie King Postdoctoral Fellowship

The Canada Program at Harvard University's Weatherhead Center for International Affairs invites applications for the William Lyon Mackenzie King Postdoctoral Fellowship. This is a two-year position. Two fellows will be appointed for the 2024–2026 academic years—conditional on the approval of the dean of the Faculty of Arts and Sciences and Weatherhead Center associated faculty.

The fellowships are open to scholars in all disciplines who are engaged in Canadian studies broadly defined. Scholars working on comparative US-Canada research may receive preference. To be eligible, applicants must have been awarded the PhD no earlier than July 31, 2019. For candidates who will have completed the PhD within twelve months of the August 1, 2024 start date, verification of completion of the degree will be required prior to the appointment.

The fellowships provide an annual stipend of $68,000, which is supplemented by funding for research and for individual health insurance coverage. A dependent care subsidy of $10,000 per dependent per year is also provided. Fellows are expected to engage with the Canada Program and with the University's wider community. Fellows receive shared office space at the Weatherhead Center for International Affairs, and enjoy full access to the University's library, archival, and computing resources.

TO APPLY: Candidates should submit: a letter of application describing their suitability for the fellowship; a curriculum vitae with a list of publications; a sample of their written work; and three letters of recommendation.

TO SUBMIT: <https://academicpositions.harvard.edu/postings/12456>

DEADLINE:

All application materials must be received no later than Friday, December 1, 2023.

We are an equal opportunity employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, gender identity, sexual orientation, pregnancy and pregnancy-related conditions, or any other characteristic protected by law.

Start Date: Summer

Application Deadline: 12/1/2023

Date Posted: 9/20/2023

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 12560

Marquette University

Rank: Assistant Professor (Tenure Track) - International Political Economy

The Department of Political Science invites applications for a tenure-track position in International Political Economy at the Assistant Professor level beginning in August 2024. An ability to teach courses related to environmental sustainability is especially desirable. Candidates will hold the Ph.D. degree or be near completion, and they will have excellent teaching skills and a demonstrated potential for excellence in research. Marquette is a Jesuit, Catholic university and seeks candidates who will contribute to its mission, a statement of which can be found at <https://www.marquette.edu/about/mission.php>. Candidates who demonstrate success with marginalized and underrepresented students and lived experiences are especially encouraged to apply. Additional information about the university and department can be found at <http://www.marquette.edu>.

Review of applications will begin October 23, 2023 and will continue until the position is filled.

To apply for the position, follow this link: <https://employment.marquette.edu/postings/20284>.

All applications for this position must be received through Marquette University's electronic recruiting system. Please attach 1) a letter of application, 2) a current Curriculum Vitae, 3) a state on teaching philosophy, 4) a writing sample, 5) unofficial graduate level transcripts and 6) names and email addresses of 3 references. After submitting your application, contact the three references and have them send letters of recommendation to

Search Committee
Department of Political Science
Marquette University
PO Box 1881
Milwaukee, WI 53201-1881

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/20/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12559

University of Pennsylvania

Rank: Korean Politics - James Joo-Jin Kim Chair in Korean Politics

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Other

The Political Science Department at the University of Pennsylvania invites applications for an open rank tenure-track faculty position in Korean politics, to hold the inaugural James Joo-Jin Kim named chair. The search is open with regard to specialization in the subfield. Candidates with wide-ranging research agendas on such topics as political economy, public policy, political institutions, political behavior, foreign policy, and gender politics are especially encouraged to apply. Candidates are expected to actively engage in research and teaching related to Korean politics as well as to promote Korean Studies at Penn and beyond.

Political Science is housed within the School of Arts & Sciences, which is comprised of 28 academic departments, the College of Arts and Sciences, the Graduate Division, and the College of Liberal and Professional Studies. Interdisciplinary research and collaboration are supported by the breadth and depth of academic pursuits at Penn as well as the proximity of resources on our contiguous green urban campus in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. We promote and encourage curiosity, intellectual engagement, and discovery among all our students and faculty. University, School, and departmental resources that support faculty include but are not limited to: the Offices of the Vice Provost for Faculty and Vice Provost for Research, Penn Global and Perry World House, Wellness at Penn, the Center for Teaching and Learning, the Penn Center for Undergraduate Research and Fellowships, and Penn Human Resources.

The department offers an undergraduate major that provides students an understanding of the modern discipline of political science. More generally, faculty teach approximately 2,000 undergraduates each year and have a program of about 80 graduate students. Our graduate students often go on to become assistant professors, post-docs or work in related areas outside academia.

We seek candidates who share our strong commitment to research, teaching and mentoring, and to a scholarly community shaped by values of inclusive excellence. The School of Arts and Sciences at the University of Pennsylvania is committed to cultivating and sustaining a community of students, scholars, researchers, and staff that reflects the diversity of our world. We nurture working and learning environments that are affirming, equitable, and inclusive. As a community, we are committed to thoughtful discussions and dynamic interactions as we strive for an environment where everyone is supported and valued. Please see our School's Inclusion and Antiracism Initiatives to learn more about our active priorities: <https://www.sas.upenn.edu/2020-inclusion-and-anti-racism-initiatives>.

Qualifications

The successful candidate is expected to:

- *demonstrate potential for an active high-impact research agenda;
- have or plan to seek external funding for research;
- have a deep commitment to teaching undergraduate and graduate students and mentoring and supporting a diverse student body;
- teach three courses per year at the undergraduate and graduate levels;
- have a publication record appropriate to the rank being sought;
- contribute actively to Korean Studies at Penn;
- engage in service to the profession and shared governance within the University.

The appointment will begin on July 1, 2024, though the start date may be negotiable. A Ph.D. or equivalent degree is expected at the start of the appointment.

Application Instructions

Candidates should submit a cover letter, personal statement, curriculum vita, research statement, writing sample (approximately 30 pages), and the names and contact information for three referees to: apply.interfolio.com/132227.

Review of applications will begin on October 15, 2023 and continue until the line has been filled.

Start Date: Summer 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/20/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12564

University of Pittsburgh

Rank: Tenure-Stream Assistant Professor in International Affairs and Security

The Graduate School of Public and International Affairs (GSPIA) at the University of Pittsburgh invites applications for a tenure-stream faculty position at the assistant professor level in the field of international affairs with a focus on international security, broadly defined, to begin in the fall term of 2024.

The successful candidate will have both research and teaching interests related to international security. We conceive of international security broadly: potential areas of focus within this policy area include but are not limited to, alliances and international organizations, arms control, diplomacy, economics and security, foreign policy, national security policymaking, proliferation and use of weapons of mass destruction, and technology and security. We seek candidates whose research and teaching complement the existing strengths of the School. Applications from candidates with specific regional expertise are especially welcome. Theoretical and methodological approaches are open. Applicants must have earned a Ph.D. in a relevant field (e.g., international affairs, political science, economics, security studies, public affairs, psychology, or history) by the time of hire.

GSPIA is a dynamic, multidisciplinary school with a top-ranked international affairs degree program and a highly successful Security and Intelligence studies concentration. The successful applicant will have many opportunities for collaboration within the school and across the University, including with research centers such as the Matthew B. Ridgway Center for International Security Studies, Ford Institute for Human Security, Center for Analytical Approaches to Social Innovation, Center for Governance and Markets, Johnson Institute for Responsible Leadership, the University of Pittsburgh Institute for Cyber Law, Policy, and Security, and the University Center for International Studies, which houses several federally-funded area studies centers.

As a School devoted to public service and to the values of liberty, equality, and justice, GSPIA is committed to helping realize the vision of a more equitable and inclusive society. We embrace the diversity of experience and perspective of all members of our community, including those arising from differences of race, gender and gender identity, ethnicity, abilities/disabilities, age, religion, sexual orientation, political beliefs, socioeconomic status, geographic region, migrant/immigrant/refugee status, and veteran status. Our goal is a diverse, cosmopolitan community of faculty, staff, students, and alumni. The search committee is especially interested in candidates who, through their research, teaching, and/or service, will contribute to advancing this goal.

Qualified applicants should submit the following:

- A letter of application, maximum 3 pages. This cover letter should address research interests; relevant teaching interests and experience; experience contributing to, or influencing, policy; and plans to address diversity, equity, and inclusion in research, teaching, and service.
- A current curriculum vitae
- A sample of scholarly writing
- List of three references (letters will be requested at a later stage)

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 10/1/2023

Date Posted: 9/20/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12569

Carnegie Mellon University

Rank: International Relations & Emerging Technologies-Multiple Faculty Lines

Subfield(s): International Relations, Methodology, Open

Carnegie Mellon University (CMU) has launched a major new initiative devoted to the wise development, use and governance of new and emerging technologies that are changing the national and international security landscape. As part of this forward-looking enterprise, the university seeks top tenure-line scholars in political science, international relations, and other related disciplines with established interest in emerging technologies relevant to international affairs.

We seek scholars at both the entry and senior levels. This is an outstanding opportunity to become part of a new, interdisciplinary initiative that will combine Carnegie Mellon's existing strengths in AI, cybersecurity, block chain, robotics, and other technologies, with scholarship focused on national security, international relations, ethics, law, and policy. We seek intellectually agile, innovative scholars willing to work cooperatively across disciplinary boundaries to tackle the challenges of emergent technologies for war and peace.

Background

Carnegie Mellon University (CMU) launched a major new interdisciplinary institute, the Carnegie Mellon Institute for Security and Technology (CMIST), in 2023. CMIST is a university-wide initiative devoted to the wise development, use, and governance of new and emerging technologies that are changing the national and international security landscape.

The home for Carnegie Mellon University's (CMU) study of Political Science and International Relations, CMIST is also uniquely poised to take advantage of the university's strengths in computer science and engineering and its distinctive tradition of collaborative, cross-university, cross-disciplinary research. CMU is ranked in the top five in the U.S. in Computer Science and in Engineering. It is ranked #1 in the subfields of artificial intelligence, computer engineering, cybersecurity, information systems, and software engineering. It has leading research institutes in areas such as robotics, machine learning, natural language technologies, human-computer interaction, engineering and public policy, and public policy and management--all designed to reach across disciplinary boundaries to solve key problems and address the highest-priority challenges facing humanity. Tying these areas of strength to crucial questions of strategy, security, ethics, and policy, CMIST is the newest addition to this rich CMU research landscape.

Carnegie Mellon University

Formally established in 1967, CMU is a dynamic R1 institution that has an exceptional impact on the world. Despite its relative youth, Carnegie Mellon consistently ranks in the top 25 US national universities. CMU is a global, research-intensive university with more than 14,000 students, more than 110,000 living alumni, approximately 5,000 faculty and staff, and over 100 research centers. It is a place of creativity, entrepreneurship, pragmatism, and ambition, with a tradition of strategically focusing its efforts and resources in areas where it can lead, then pursuing those areas with startling intensity. The research and teaching initiative in CMIST is just such a strategic undertaking.

Carnegie Mellon University is an equal opportunity employer and is committed to increasing the diversity of its community on a range of intellectual and cultural dimensions. Carnegie Mellon welcomes faculty applicants who will contribute to this diversity through their research, teaching and service, including women, members of minority groups, protected veterans, individuals with disabilities, and others who would contribute in different ways. Carnegie Mellon University seeks to meet the needs of dual-career couples and is a member of the Higher Education Recruitment Consortium (HERC) that assists with dual-career searches.

How to Apply

Applications should be submitted electronically via the Interfolio application system at <http://apply.interfolio.com/132453>. They should include the following:

For Junior Scholars:

- A cover letter explaining the candidate's interest in the position, and detailing the applicant's research, teaching, and service record to date.
- A curriculum vitae.
- Up to three writing samples.
- A projection of the candidate's future research agenda.
- A short teaching portfolio, including statement of teaching philosophy, courses the candidate might propose to teach, and any evidence of teaching effectiveness (e.g., teaching evaluations)

- The names and addresses of three references, who will be requested to submit letters through the Interfolio system.

For Senior Scholars:

- A cover letter explaining the candidate's reasons for being interested in the position.
- A detailed curriculum vitae.
- Other materials and names of references may be requested thereafter. Review of applications will begin on October 23, 2023, and will continue until the positions are filled.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/19/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12551

IE University

Rank: Tenure-track faculty position in International Relations 2024-2025

Specializations: Conflict Processes, Defense, International Security

Tenure-track faculty position in International Relations 2024-2025

IE University's School of Politics, Economics, and Global Affairs (SPEGA) seeks applicants for a tenure-track faculty position in International Relations at the rank of Assistant Professor starting September 1, 2024.

We seek candidates addressing substantive questions of broad disciplinary relevance in security, geopolitics, and civil conflict. We are especially but not exclusively interested in candidates whose work addresses European defense, US foreign policy, NATO, and related topics.

Successful candidates will demonstrate the capacity to produce publications in top peer-reviewed outlets (both generalist and field journals) in the coming years, and their research should employ advanced research design and methodological skills.

All in all, we seek academics with the capacity to engage in policy-relevant work and an overall commitment to institution-building - applying for research grants, participating in affiliated research centers and academic programs, and expanding our current network and partnerships.

Successful candidates will join the Political Science and International Relations group within SPEGA, which consists of 14 tenured and tenure-track scholars studying comparative politics, international relations, political economy, and political behavior. Recent publications from this group appear in APSR, AJPS, JOP, BJPS, and many other top generalist and field outlets.

Candidates should have a PhD from a recognized department of political science, international relations, or a related field, or demonstrate clear evidence that their PhD will be complete by July 2024.

The IE SPEGA is part of IE University, located in Madrid and Segovia, Spain, and is a full-member of the Association of Professional Schools in International Affairs (APSIA). We are a fast-growing department of professors committed to world-class academic research and teaching in the social sciences, public policy, and international affairs.

We offer a competitive remuneration package, attractive teaching commitments, and an enriching and cosmopolitan work environment in the heart of Madrid. Our working language is English, and both our faculty and student body are highly diverse and international.

IE University is an Equal Opportunity Employer and strongly encourages applications from individuals who will expand the ethnic and gender diversity of our faculty.

Applications should include a cover letter and vita, a job market paper, and three confidential letters of recommendation.

Candidates may apply via Interfolio by October 20, 2023, using the following link: <https://apply.interfolio.com/132073>

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 10/20/2023

Date Posted: 9/18/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12539

Swarthmore College

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor of Political Science (International Relations)

The Department of Political Science at Swarthmore College invites applications for a 1.5 year (three semester) position as a Visiting Assistant Professor in International Relations. The position will begin in January 2024 and continue through the 2024-2025 academic year (encompassing the spring semester of 2024, the fall semester of 2024, and the spring semester of 2025). The area of specialization within International Relations is open. Candidates will be expected to teach "Introduction to International Relations" as well as upper level courses in International Relations.

The Department of Political Science provides students with a rigorous education that spans all four traditional subfields of the discipline. The Department consists of nine tenure-line faculty members and four visiting faculty members (including this position). Visiting faculty teach the same 2-2 course load as tenure-track faculty, are provided mentoring and professional development opportunities, and are eligible for funds to support research and conference travel. The salary is highly competitive.

Additional information about the Department of Political Science can be found at <https://www.swarthmore.edu/political-science>

Located in the suburbs of Philadelphia and near Wilmington DE, Swarthmore College is a highly selective liberal arts college whose mission combines academic rigor with social responsibility. Swarthmore has a strong institutional commitment to diversity, and actively seeks and welcomes applications from candidates with exceptional qualifications, particularly those with demonstrable commitments to a more inclusive society and world. Applicants from traditionally underrepresented groups are strongly encouraged to apply. For more information on Faculty Diversity and Excellence at Swarthmore, see <http://www.swarthmore.edu/faculty-diversity-excellence/information-candidates-new-faculty>

Qualifications

Applicants should have either completed a Ph.D. in Political Science or be close to finishing a Ph.D. ("all but dissertation" or ABD).

The strongest candidates will demonstrate an active research program and a commitment to creative teaching that speaks to and motivates undergraduates from diverse backgrounds

Application Instructions

Candidates must demonstrate excellence in undergraduate teaching as well as an active research profile. Applicants should include:

A cover letter describing the applicant's research agenda, teaching philosophy, courses previously taught, potential courses for Swarthmore, and their experience of (and/or plans for) creating an inclusive environment for students.

A curriculum vitae.

A sample of the candidate's research, such as an article, book chapter, or dissertation chapter.

A sample syllabus for a course in International Relations that they might teach at Swarthmore.

A graduate school transcript.

Three letters of recommendation (at least one letter should specifically comment on the candidate's teaching).

Applications received by October 25, 2023 will receive full consideration. Apply via Interfolio at <http://apply.interfolio.com/132311>. Selected applicants will be invited for interviews. Please address any questions you may have to Christina Dahl, Political Science Department at cdahl1@swarthmore.edu.

Start Date: Winter 2024

Application Deadline: 10/25/2023

Date Posted: 9/16/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12532

American Enterprise Institute

Rank: Jeane Kirkpatrick Fellowship Program

Overview

The American Enterprise Institute is inviting candidates to apply for two open scholar positions in the Jeane Kirkpatrick Fellowship Program in Foreign and Defense Policy Studies. The program is open to mid-career academics, government, and civilian professionals in foreign policy and security studies who are looking for an opportunity to deepen their work.

The application period commences on August 14, 2023 and concludes on December 1, 2023. The program begins in January 2024, although the starting date for new Jeane Kirkpatrick scholars is negotiable to accommodate existing personal and professional obligations. The program's duration is one year from the start date, with the possibility of a one-year extension.

Applications are reviewed on a rolling basis.

Fellowship Benefits:

Guided by the belief that American liberties are best preserved by a robust national defense and US global leadership, senior research fellows will conduct in-depth research to produce policy recommendations intended to enhance American security and interests. AEI will assist fellows in developing and disseminating their research by providing the support and training needed to publish serious longer works, place their work in the nation's most-read publications, brief policy-makers, and host public and private events at the Institute.

Application Process:

Qualified applicants should apply at www.aei.org/jobs and submit a resume and a 1,000-word statement addressing academic interests, how this fellowship will enhance their professional goals, and which scholars they would like to work with in AEI's foreign and defense policy department.

Start Date: Spring 2024

Application Deadline: 12/1/2023

Date Posted: 9/15/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12531

Colby College

Rank: Assistant Professor - Political Economy (tenure-track)

Specializations: East Asia, Africa, South Asia

The Department of Government at Colby College invites applications for a tenure-track position in international relations and/or comparative politics with a focus on political economy, starting in the fall of 2024. We would welcome candidates whose regional expertise can complement our department's existing strengths in Latin America, Europe, and the Middle East.

Colby is a highly selective liberal arts college located in Central Maine with high standards for teaching and research. Our students are motivated, intellectually curious, and easily engaged in the classroom and in independent research. Our department faculty have active research agendas and receive generous support from the college, including a pre-tenure sabbatical during the fourth year, start-up and travel funds, divisional research grant opportunities, and department funded student research assistants. The teaching load at Colby is 4.5 courses per year.

We seek highly qualified candidates who have demonstrated excellence in teaching and who are committed to working with an increasingly diverse student body. The successful applicant will teach Introduction to International Relations, and either an introductory comparative politics course or an introductory course in research methods, as well as additional courses chosen in consultation with the department chair.

Candidates must have completed a Ph.D. in political science by September 1, 2024. The successful candidate will provide evidence of excellence in teaching a diverse student body and present a strong and on-going research program that is open to the inclusion of undergraduates. The college and the department are committed to enhancing the diversity and inclusivity of the campus community and the curriculum; candidates who can contribute to these goals are encouraged to identify their strengths and experiences in these areas when they apply.

Applicants should submit the following materials: a letter of application, a curriculum vitae, a statement outlining the candidate's research agenda, a recent sample of scholarly writing, a statement expressing the candidate's teaching experience and philosophy, course descriptions and/or syllabi for three proposed courses, evidence of teaching excellence, a graduate school transcript, and three confidential letters of recommendation. Please submit all of these materials via Interfolio: <http://apply.interfolio.com/132217>. Review of applications will begin October 15, and will continue until the position is filled. Questions about this position should be directed to: government-pe-search@colby.edu

Start Date: Fall 2024
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/14/2023
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 12518

Colby College

Rank: Assistant Professor - Conflict and Human Security (tenure-track)

Specializations: Africa, East Asia, South Asia

The Department of Government at Colby College invites applications for a tenure-track position in international relations and/or comparative politics with a focus on conflict and human security, starting in the fall of 2024. Possible strengths might include human rights, the intersection between climate change and conflict, migration and refugees, gender and sexuality, and/or global health. We are particularly interested in candidates whose work analyzes human security within the Global South, or in the connections between the Global South and the Global North. We welcome candidates whose regional expertise can complement our department's existing strengths in Latin America, Europe, and the Middle East, and who can contribute to important interdisciplinary programs on campus.

Colby is a highly selective liberal arts college located in Central Maine with high standards for teaching and research. Our students are motivated, intellectually curious, and easily engaged in the classroom and in independent research. Our department faculty have active research agendas and receive generous support from the college, including a pre-tenure sabbatical during the fourth year, start-up and travel funds, divisional research grant opportunities, and department funded student research assistants. The teaching load at Colby is 4.5 courses per year.

We seek highly qualified candidates who have demonstrated excellence in teaching and who are committed to working with an increasingly diverse student body. The successful applicant will teach Introduction to International Relations, and either an introductory comparative politics course or an introductory course in research methods, as well as additional courses chosen in consultation with the department chair.

Candidates must have completed a Ph.D. in political science by September 1, 2024. The successful candidate will provide evidence of excellence in teaching a diverse student body and present a strong and on-going research program that is open to the inclusion of undergraduates. The college and the department are committed to enhancing the diversity and inclusivity of the campus community and the curriculum; candidates who can contribute to these goals are encouraged to identify their strengths and experiences in these areas when they apply.

Applicants should submit the following materials: a letter of application, a curriculum vitae, a statement outlining the candidate's research agenda, a recent sample of scholarly writing, a statement expressing the candidate's teaching experience and philosophy, course descriptions and/or syllabi for three proposed courses, evidence of teaching excellence, a graduate school transcript, and three confidential letters of recommendation. Please submit all of these materials via Interfolio: <http://apply.interfolio.com/132183>. Review of applications will begin October 1, and will continue until the position is filled. Questions about this position should be directed to: government-chs-search@colby.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2024
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/13/2023
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 12513

Florida State University

Rank: Assistant, Associate, or Full Professor in International Relations

The Department of Political Science (<https://coss.fsu.edu/polisci/>) in the College of Social Sciences & Public Policy at Florida State University seeks applications for an open rank tenured/tenure-track position to begin in Fall 2024. We seek candidates whose research focuses on international relations. The search is open with respect to specialization within the IR subfield, but the successful candidate is expected to add to the department's strengths in quantitative, experimental, and/or formal methods.

The position is open with regard to rank (Assistant Professor, Associate Professor, or Professor), but preference will be given to scholars who have already established a strong publication record.

Florida State University is a Carnegie Foundation classified Research I institution. Among its 44,000 students are over 10,000 graduate students pursuing over 200 programs of study. Tallahassee is Florida's capital and has a metropolitan population of over 385,000. Its principal employers are state government and three higher education institutions.

Applicants at the Associate Professor or Professor ranks should submit (1) a letter of application indicating research and teaching interests, (2) a curriculum vitae, (3) writing samples, and (4) a list of professional references. Applicants at the Assistant Professor rank should submit (1) a letter of application indicating research and teaching interests, (2) a curriculum vitae, (3) writing samples, (4) three letters of recommendation, and (5) a graduate school transcript. All items must be submitted electronically. Send these files as separate email attachments (PDFs are expected) to polisci@fsu.edu and specify "IR Search 2023" in the subject line. Review of applications will begin October 6, 2023 and will continue until the position is filled.

Contact: Prof. Mark Souva

Email: msouva@fsu.edu

Phone: 850-644-5727

Department of Political Science
 Florida State University
 P.O. Box 3062160
 Bellamy 531
 Tallahassee, FL 32306-2230

Start Date: Fall 2024
Application Deadline: 10/6/2023
Date Posted: 9/13/2023
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 12512

Department of International Studies, Hamilton Lugar School, Indiana University

Rank: Tenure Track/Tenured Professor of Global Economic Development

Subfield(s): International Relations, Public Law, Public Policy

Specializations: Economic Policy, Foreign Policy, International Law & Organizations

The Hamilton Lugar School of Global and International Studies at Indiana University Bloomington seeks to hire a professor of Global Economic Development, with an emphasis on issues at the intersection of economic development, inequality, and governance, to begin August 1, 2024. This is an open rank tenured/tenure track position in the school's multidisciplinary Department of International Studies.

The department seeks a scholar of economic development who focuses on the role of international economic and financial organizations, donor countries, prominent recipient countries, and/or international civil society organizations in driving development initiatives, influencing their implementation, and/or affecting development and distributional outcomes.

The successful candidate will hold a PhD or equivalent in a relevant discipline in the social sciences or the humanities. Candidates should have an outstanding record of research, publication, teaching and professional service (appropriate to their rank). The selected candidate will be appointed at the rank of Assistant Professor, Associate Professor, or Professor, depending upon their qualifications.

Practical experience in the development field, and/or experience teaching in professional master's programs is desirable. In addition, scholars who combine quantitative methodology with qualitative field-based methods are especially encouraged to apply.

Interested candidates should review the application requirements and submit the following documentation within their portfolio of materials: a cover letter highlighting qualifications and fit with the department's strengths and its needs, curriculum vitae, two writing samples, and the names and contact information for three academic references. A separate statement that addresses past and/or potential contributions to diversity, equity and inclusion must also be included in the application materials. Interested candidates should review the application requirements and submit their application at: <https://indiana.peopleadmin.com/postings/20148>

Review of applications will begin on October 8, 2023 and continue until the position is filled. All applications received by October 8, 2023 will be guaranteed full consideration.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Date Posted: 9/11/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12490

Indiana University

Rank: Tenure Track/Tenured Professor of Cyber Security and Governance

Subfield(s): International Relations, Public Law, Public Policy

Specializations: International Security, Foreign Policy, Science & Technology

Indiana University's Hamilton Lugar School of Global and International Studies invites applications for a full-time position in Cyber Security and Governance to begin August 1, 2024. This is an open rank tenured/tenure track position in the school's multidisciplinary Department of International Studies.

The successful candidate will have an active research agenda and teaching experience at the intersections of emerging cyber technologies and threats, global governance and security, and international law. We seek candidates who demonstrate a deep familiarity with the range of legal and ethical challenges pertaining to information and artificial intelligence governance at the state, international, and transnational levels.

The selected candidate will be appointed at the rank of Assistant Professor, Associate Professor, or Professor, depending upon their qualifications.

Candidates should hold a PhD or equivalent in a relevant discipline in the social sciences, humanities, or law and have a strong record of research, publication, teaching, and professional service (appropriate to their rank).

Interested candidates should review the application requirements and submit the following documentation within their portfolio of materials: a cover letter highlighting their research and teaching, a curriculum vitae, two writing samples, and the names and contact information for three academic references. A separate statement that addresses past and/or potential contributions to diversity, equity and inclusion must also be included in the application materials. Interested candidates should review the application requirements and submit their application at: <https://indiana.peopleadmin.com/postings/20162>

Review of applications will begin on October 11, 2023 and continue until the position is filled. All applications received by October 11, 2023 will be guaranteed full consideration.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Date Posted: 9/11/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12489

Stanford University

Rank: Shorenstein Postdoctoral Fellowship on Contemporary Asia 2024-2025

Subfield(s): International Relations, Public Policy, Comparative Politics

Specializations: East Asia, Southeast Asia, South Asia

Stanford University: 2024-2025 Postdoctoral Fellowship on Contemporary Asia

The Walter H. Shorenstein Asia-Pacific Research Center at Stanford University is pleased to announce its search for up to two 2024-2025 Shorenstein Postdoctoral Fellows on Contemporary Asia-Pacific Studies. Made possible through the generosity of Walter H. Shorenstein, awards will be made to two junior scholars (recent PhDs must have degree conferral and approval by June 30, 2024) for research and writing on Asia.

The primary focus of the fellowship is on contemporary political, economic, or social change in the Asia-Pacific region (including North-east, Southeast, and South Asia), or topics in international relations and international political economy. The postdoctoral fellowship is a 10-month appointment with salary rate commensurate with Stanford policy, plus up to $3,000 for research expenses. Appointments will begin in the fall quarter of the 2024-2025 academic year.

Applications will be accepted until December 1, 2023.

For additional information and to apply, visit:
<https://aparc.fsi.stanford.edu/education/fellowship-and-training-opportunities/shorenstein-postdoctoral-fellowship>

About the Center:

The Shorenstein Asia-Pacific Research Center (APARC) is dedicated to the study of critical issues affecting the countries of Asia and their regional and global relations. Our scholar community is comprised of distinguished academics and practitioners in government, business, and civil society. Through policy-relevant research, publications, education, public programs, and international collaborations, we address pressing challenges in a world in which Asia plays an increasingly central role.

Start Date: Fall 2024
Application Deadline: 12/1/2023
Date Posted: 9/11/2023
Salary: $60,000 - $69,999
eJobs ID: 12451

Boston University

Rank: Professor of International Relations and Director of the Pardee Center for the Study of the Longer-Range Future
Specializations: Environmental Policy, Science & Technology, International Security

The Pardee School of Global Studies at Boston University invites applications for a Director, at the rank of Professor with tenure, of the Pardee Center for the Study of the Longer-Range Future. The appointment is expected to begin July 1, 2024. The search is open to applicants from all disciplines and functional specializations. Successful candidates would be expected to have demonstrated the potential for excellence in any discipline relevant to international affairs, and share a commitment to the Pardee School's institutional values of diversity, equity, inclusion, and social justice. The successful candidate must have a demonstrated record of interdisciplinary research that addresses globally important issues that affect the human condition presently, with increasing global relevance over the next several decades. Scholars and practitioners whose work addresses the challenges of climate change and other forms of environmental degradation, artificial intelligence, cyber security, the future of technologies, governance, or human security are especially encouraged to apply. We are particularly interested in work that has policy relevance.

The Frederick S. Pardee Center for the Study of the Longer-Range Future is an interdisciplinary research center of the Frederick S. Pardee School of Global Studies at Boston University. The Pardee Center was established in 2000 through the generosity of the late Frederick S. Pardee, whose career as a systems analyst and an economic forecaster was imbued with a passion for analyzing trends for the future. Both the Pardee Center and the Pardee School are motivated by Mr. Pardee's lifelong dedication to the creation of a better future for all of humanity. The Center conducts interdisciplinary research on globally important issues that affect the human condition over the course of several decades. Through programs of scholarship, outreach, and education, the Pardee Center works to improve public decision-making and policy and to train future generations of interdisciplinary scholars.

The Center Director oversees the operations and activities of the Center, including research affiliates, research seminars, summer graduate fellows program, and supervises staff. The Director is expected to participate in fundraising activities for the School and the Pardee Center. In addition to leading the work of the Center, the successful candidate will be expected to teach courses in his/her/their area(s) of functional expertise, and will also advise and mentor our undergraduate and graduate students. A distinguished record of publication and research and the capacity for excellence in teaching are essential. The Pardee School of Global Studies is committed to multidisciplinary, policy-relevant research and teaching and to nurturing the next generation of international relations practitioners, and it is expected that candidates will share this commitment. Candidates who have demonstrated policy experience in addition to scholarly qualifications are encouraged to apply.

Boston University is a member of the prestigious Association of American Universities, with a rich tradition of inclusion and social justice. We are proud of our record of inclusiveness, including being the first American university to award a PhD to a woman and the institution from which Martin Luther King, Jr. received his PhD. We are also the home of the BU Center for Antiracist Research. We are dedicated to increasing participation of all talented students and professionals, especially women and underrepresented minorities. We are an equal opportunity employer: all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law. We are a Vietnam Era Veterans' Readjustment Assistance Act federal contractor.

BU conducts a background check on all final candidates for certain faculty and staff positions. The background check includes contacting the final candidate's current and previous employer(s) to ask whether, in the last seven years, there has been a substantiated finding of misconduct violating that employer's applicable sexual misconduct policies. To implement this process, the University requires a final candidate to complete and sign the form entitled "Authorization to Release Information" after execution of an offer letter.

Please submit 1) a letter of application describing your teaching and research interests and professional experience, 2) statement of how you will support the university's commitment to diversity, equity, and inclusion, and 3) curriculum vitae electronically at <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/25543>. Questions about the position or school may be directed to Ms. Elaine Bidianos at elaineb@bu.edu. Applications will be reviewed on a rolling basis, beginning October 1, 2023, but applications will be accepted until the job is filled. The expected starting date for employment is July 1, 2024.

Start Date: Summer 2024
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/8/2023
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 12484

Vienna University of Economics and Business

Rank: 2 Post-Doc/Fellowships Energy Finance Project

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Methodology

Specializations: History & Politics, Economic Policy, International Political Economy

You want to understand how things are connected and make a fundamental impact? We offer an environment where you can realize your full potential. At one of Europe's largest and most modern business and economics universities. On a campus where quality of work is also quality of life. We are looking for support at the:

Department of Socioeconomics

Vienna University of Economics and Business

Fulltime, 40 hours/week

Starting as soon as possible, and limited for 1 year (possible extension up to 4 years)

Summary

We invite applications for one Postdoctoral position (qual) and one Postdoctoral position (quant) in the research project Energy Transitions and the Rise and Fall of Great Financial Centers (ENFIN) funded within the ERC framework.

We particularly encourage social scientists (preferably with disciplinary backgrounds in economics, political science, international political economy, sociology, economic history, geography or data analysis) for this position who have an interest in interdisciplinary multi-method research covering the fields: economic geography, financial history & sociology, comparative politics, and international political economy.

What to expect

The postdoctoral researcher will be part of a team starting a new research direction in the study of energy- and financial transitions that will have important implications for studying phenomena at the intersection of energy geopolitics, geoeconomics, and geofinance. The initial contract is for one year, possibly extending annually up to 4 years. There is a possibility to teach between year 2–4.

- Producing high-quality research and joint publications aligned with the ENFIN scope in high-impact journals
- Help shape and participate in seminars and conferences organized around the ERC project
- Some traveling/fieldwork is expected
- Opportunity for further career and professional development (e.g. via methodological trainings, and media training)
- Close collaboration with the PI and the rest of the team
- Opportunity to mentor and supervise postgraduate students

What you have to offer

- Completed a Ph.D. at a leading University in a related social science discipline with a strong commitment to research
- An excellent publication record relative to career stage (articles in top-tier journals will be considered as an asset)
- Excellent spoken and written English
- Sound knowledge in finance, economics or politics
- Ability and commitment to work both independently and collaboratively as part of an interdisciplinary and international team

- Make a solid contribution to the program's research culture and environment
- Postdoc qual: outstanding and demonstrated expertise in qualitative methods (e.g., case study, process tracing, historical- and comparative approaches), experience in Bayesian Inference in a qualitative context is a plus
- Postdoc quant: excellent analytical and methodological skills, advanced training in quantitative data analysis (expertise in latent growth curve modeling (e.g., multigroup LGCM) will be considered an asset)

Detailed job description:

<https://www.wu.ac.at/en/careers/careers-at-wu/current-job-openings/?yid=1865>

The minimum monthly gross salary amounts to €4,351.90 (14 times per year). This salary may be adjusted based on equivalent prior work experience. In addition, we offer a wide range of attractive social benefits.

Any queries should be made by email to: Juergen.Braunstein@wu.ac.at

The closing date for the application is 25 October 2023

Application link:

<https://www.wu.ac.at/en/careers/careers-at-wu/current-job-openings/?yid=1865&af=1>

Start Date: Winter 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/8/2023

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 12482

William & Mary

Rank: Assistant Professor of Government

The Department of Government at William & Mary, a public university of the Commonwealth of Virginia, seeks applications for a tenure track position at the Assistant Professor level in the International Relations of East Asia.

Appointment will begin August 10, 2024. We are interested in individuals with research and teaching expertise in the international relations/comparative politics of East Asia (especially China). Topics of interest include, but are not limited to Chinese foreign policy, US-China relations, or the political economy or security of East Asia.

Duties include research, teaching, and service to the University. The applicant is expected to establish and maintain a vibrant research program that inspires a highly motivated undergraduate student body. Teaching expectation is 2 courses per semester. Successful applicants must possess the skills to teach compelling introductory courses in International Relations and other lecture and seminar-style courses in International Relations or Comparative Politics of East Asia.

Required Qualifications

Applicants must hold a Ph.D. in political science or a related field at the time the appointment begins (August 10, 2024). The successful candidate will possess a demonstrated commitment to producing high-level scholarship and outstanding classroom teaching; will help the Department enhance diversity of new perspectives to its research profile and curricular offerings; and will be interested in mentoring student research or conducting collaborative research with students.

Preferred Qualifications

Previous experience in teaching and mentoring successful undergraduate research is preferred. Evidence of scholarly achievement or demonstrated potential as a scholar is preferred.

Applicants must apply online at <https://jobs.wm.edu>. Submit a curriculum vitae, a cover letter, a statement of teaching interests, a statement of research interests, writing sample and evidence of teaching effectiveness. A diversity statement is not required. Candidates are encouraged to reflect on their past experiences or future plans to foster an inclusive and welcoming climate for learners/scholars in International Relations/Comparative Politics in any of the aforementioned required documents. You will be prompted to submit online the names and email addresses of three references who will be contacted by the system with instructions for how to submit a letter of reference.

For full consideration, submit application materials by the initial review date, [October 15]. Applications received after the initial review date will be considered if needed.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/8/2023

Salary: $90,000 - $99,999

eJobs ID: 12485

University of Tennessee

Rank: Professor/Associate Professor of Public Policy and Public Affairs

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Administration, International Relations

Specializations: Energy Policy, Environmental Policy, Trade

The University of Tennessee, Knoxville, invites applications for three tenure-track faculty positions in Public Policy and Public Affairs at the Howard H. Baker Jr. School of Public Policy and Public Affairs. These positions are set to commence in August 2024 and offer a unique opportunity to contribute to both undergraduate and graduate degree programs in public policy.

Ideal candidates should hold a PhD in Economics, Political Science, Public Policy, or a related field and possess relevant experience commensurate with Associate or Full Professor rank. Responsibilities include teaching relevant program courses, including research methods, statistics, policy analysis, microeconomics, and policy communication. Candidates should actively engage in research, with specializations in areas such as energy, transportation, environmental policy, national security, or foreign policy.

Associate Professor applicants should demonstrate a strong publishing record, exceptional teaching skills, and service to the academic community. While experience in securing external researching funding is preferred, it is not mandatory. Full Professor candidates should additionally have national/international recognition in their field.

For more information, and to apply, visit the provided link: <https://apply.interfolio.com/127813>

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/6/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12461

University of Texas, Austin

Rank: Latin American National Security and Foreign Policy (Assistant Professor or Professor of Practice)

Latin American National Security and Foreign Policy (Assistant Professor or Professor of Practice)

The University of Texas at Austin: LBJ School of Public Affairs

Location: Austin, TX

Open Date: Sep 01, 2023

Description

Latin American National Security and Foreign Policy (Assistant Professor or Professor of Practice)

The Lyndon B. Johnson School of Public Affairs (LBJ School) at the University of Texas at Austin invite applications for a Professor of Practice or a tenure-track Assistant Professor of Latin American National Security and Foreign Policy to begin in Fall of academic year 2024-25 (with an August 2024 start date). This faculty position will be housed at the LBJ School with commitments to cross-list elective courses and collaborate with the Teresa Lozano Long Institute of Latin American Studies (LLILAS).

The appointee's research may focus on:

- Intelligence sharing: analyzing the mechanisms and effectiveness of intelligence sharing between Latin American countries, as well as with external partners, such as the United States and Europe.
 - Drug trafficking: studying the dynamics of drug trafficking in the region, including the role of transnational criminal organizations, drug cartels, and local criminal networks.
 - Arms trafficking: examining the flow of arms across national borders in Latin America, including the sources of illicit arms, the actors involved in arms trafficking, and the impacts on regional security.
 - Cybersecurity: analyzing the emerging threats to cybersecurity in Latin America, including the rise of cybercrime and cyber espionage, and the capacity of states to respond to these threats.
 - Transnational organized crime: exploring the broader phenomenon of transnational organized crime in Latin America, including human trafficking, money laundering, and corruption.
 - Border security: studying the policies and practices of border security in Latin America, including the construction of physical barriers, the use of surveillance technologies, and the management of migration flows.
- Political violence: studying the causes, dynamics, and impacts of political violence, including terrorism, civil wars, and human rights abuses.
- Foreign policy: examining the role of Latin American countries in international relations, including issues such as regional integration, relations with the United States, and South-South cooperation.

The appointee will teach core courses either in the master's program or the new undergraduate program as well as electives in the areas of specialization described above. The appointee's research will have direct relevance to public policy. The appointee may conduct and publish scholarly research and seek grant opportunities in support of their research and/or teaching activities. In the case of a Professor of Practice position, the appointee will be expected to actively engage in policy development and teaching. The appointee will participate in faculty governance in the LBJ School.

One of the nation's top ten programs in public affairs, the LBJ School comprises more than 40 faculty members and approximately 300 graduate students, and offers multi-disciplinary curricula leading to the degrees of Master of Public Affairs, Master of Global Policy Studies, and Ph.D. in Public Policy. In its 75-year history, LLILAS is among the largest Latin American studies centers in the US, with an academic unit with several undergraduate and graduate degrees and an interdisciplinary research and outreach center. LLILAS and the LBJ School have had a longstanding relationship, which includes teaching and research initiatives in areas such as public health, environmental and migratory policy, and security; faculty-led research projects, student opportunities, scholarly programming, and public outreach. LLILAS and the LBJ School offer an MA dual degree. This degree responds to an increased need in both public and private sectors for policy specialists, who have a global perspective on public affairs and related fields, and a desire to specialize on Latin America and US-Latin American relations.

Qualifications:

A master's degree in a related field is required for a Professor of Practice position. For a tenure-track Assistant Professor, a PhD is required. ABD candidates will be considered if the doctoral degree will be complete by the time of employment. Experience in college teaching and evidence of scholarship or scholarly potential is preferred.

Application Instructions:

Interested candidates can submit their cover letter, CV, statement of teaching, three years of teaching evaluations (or fewer if unavailable), three letters of reference, and one article-length writing sample via <https://apptrkr.com/4559587>. Questions about the position can be directed to Sergio Garcia-Rios at garcia.rios@utexas.edu. Questions about the application can be directed to Shannon LaFevers at slafev-ers@austin.utexas.edu

The search committee will begin considering applications October 15th. The position will remain open until filled.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/5/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12453

James Madison University

Rank: Tenure Track Assistant Professor of Political Science - International Relations and Security Studies

Mission

We are a community committed to preparing students to be educated and enlightened citizens who lead productive and meaningful lives.

Vision

To be the national model for the engaged university: engaged with ideas and the world.

Who We Are

Located in the heart of Virginia's beautiful Shenandoah Valley, the city of Harrisonburg is approximately 120 miles from Washington, D.C. and Richmond, VA. With a population of just over 53,000, Harrisonburg is one of the most diverse communities in the Commonwealth of Virginia. JMU is a selective, public institution with a growing national reputation for offering experiences that lead to an outstanding education and inclusive environment for students, faculty and staff. The student body includes approximately 20,000 undergraduate and 1,900 graduate students, with over 1,000 full-time instructional faculty.

JMU offers thriving programs in the liberal arts, science and technology, and professional disciplines at the undergraduate, master's and doctoral levels. The university is committed to expanding diversity, fostering equity and inclusion, and supporting superlative teaching and scholarship. JMU has achieved national recognition for the high quality of its academic programs, focus on maintaining strong student/faculty interaction, and innovative faculty research.

The College of Arts and Letters in which the Department of Political Science is located, enrolls over 3,100 undergraduate majors and about 150 graduate students across ten academic units in the humanities, social sciences, and communication studies. Home to several interdisciplinary centers and institutes, the College employs 270 full-time faculty. We embrace the teacher-scholar model, and encourage excellent applicants within our particular disciplines, as well as scholars and teachers eager to work across them. We look to enhance our existing interdisciplinary strengths and to extend our offerings in global cultures, politics, and religions, as well as in global justice, disability studies, and digital humanities.

The Position

The Department of Political Science at James Madison University invites applications for one tenure track assistant professor position in Political Science with a specialization in International Relations and Security Studies. The department includes undergraduate majors in Political Science, International Affairs, and Public Administration and graduate programs in Political Science and Public Administration. Faculty in the department also support a wide range of collaborative and interdisciplinary minors, including but not limited to those in: African, African American, and Diaspora Studies; Asian Studies; Environmental Science; Environmental Studies; Humanitarian Affairs; Latin American, Latinx, and Caribbean Studies; Middle Eastern Communities and Migrations; Modern European Studies; Political Communication; and Women, Gender, and Sexuality Studies. In addition to interdisciplinary minors and programs, there are opportunities for collaboration with the Center for International Stabilization and Recovery.

The successful candidate will teach an introductory course on global political issues and an advanced undergraduate course in U.S. foreign policy. The new colleague will also teach a graduate-level course that contributes to the Master of Public Administration concentration in International Stabilization and Recovery Operations. The ability to teach undergraduate research methods is desired, but not required. The standard teaching load is 3-2, but the position will come with 1 course release in the first year. The position will begin in August 2024. Applicants should apply via JMU Joblink: <https://joblink.jmu.edu/postings/15338>

Candidates should hold a Ph.D. in Political Science (or a closely related field) or have ABD status with an expected Ph.D. completion date within 10 months from the start date of the position. Applicants should demonstrate excellence in teaching, advising and research and a commitment to an inclusive classroom and work environment.

Employment is contingent upon the successful completion of a criminal background check.

E-Verify Notice: After accepting employment, new hires are required to complete an I-9 form and present documentation of their identity and eligibility to work in the United States. James Madison University uses the E-Verify system to confirm identity and work authorization.

Applicants should apply via JMU Joblink: <https://joblink.jmu.edu/postings/15338>

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/4/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12435

George Washington University

Rank: Assistant Professor in International Security

Position Description Summary:

The George Washington University's Elliott School of International Affairs and the Department of Political Science invite applications for a tenure track position in the field of Political Science with a specialization in International Security, beginning in Fall semester 2024. We look to hire a scholar at the Assistant Professor level who will teach and produce scholarship in areas such as (but not limited to) the causes, conduct, control, and termination of armed conflict between or within states; deterrence and compellence; nuclear weapons; alliances and security institutions; grand strategy; cybersecurity; and military intervention—as well as international relations theories that are relevant to assessing these issue areas.

Specific Duties and Responsibilities:

The successful candidate will develop new undergraduate and graduate courses in international security/security studies and may also teach other courses in international relations and/or regional studies in their area of expertise. This hire will be affiliated with the Elliott School's Institute for Security and Conflict Studies—as well as any of the School's regionally focused research institutes, as appropriate. Elliott School faculty are expected to engage with policy issues and the policy community in addition to teaching, research, and service.

Minimum Qualifications:

Applicants must have a Ph.D. in Political Science or other relevant social science discipline or inter-disciplinary field at the time of appointment. Applicants must have demonstrated significant record of sustained and continuing high quality research and substantial teaching experience.

Other Information:

The culture of George Washington University reflects its shared values, including respect and diversity. The Elliott School recognizes that diversity and social mobility are among our country's greatest assets in engaging the rest of the world; we are deeply committed as a school to fostering an inclusive community. To this end, we encourage candidates from diverse identities, backgrounds, and experiences. We are particularly interested in receiving applications from members of underrepresented groups. The selected candidate will be expected to provide evidence of inclusive excellence, including inclusive teaching. To learn more about the Elliott School's commitment to diversity, equity, and inclusion, please visit elliott.gwu.edu/diversityand-inclusion.

Special Instructions to Applicants:

To be considered, complete an online application at <https://www.gwu.jobs/postings/104830> and upload a CV, cover letter, statement of research and teaching interests and qualifications, course evaluations (if available), samples of written work, and statement on how your past and/or potential contributions to diversity, equity and inclusion will advance the Elliott School's commitment to inclusive excellence. In addition, please have at least three letters of recommendation sent to esiafacrecruit@gwu.edu.

Review of applications will begin on October 2, 2023 and continue until the position is filled. Only complete applications will be considered. Employment offers are contingent on the satisfactory outcome of a standard background screening.

EEO Statement:

The university is an Equal Employment Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer that does not unlawfully discriminate in any of its programs or activities on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, national origin, age, disability, veteran status, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, or on any other basis prohibited by applicable law.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/1/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12431

Lehigh University

Rank: Assistant Professor Environmental Security

The Department of International Relations (IR) at Lehigh University invites applications for a tenure-track faculty position at the Assistant Professor rank in Environmental Security, starting in August 2024. The successful candidate should have an earned Ph.D. in Political Science or related field by the date of employment.

Interested candidates should submit a letter of interest, CV, writing samples/publications, statement of teaching philosophy, and, if available, evidence of teaching effectiveness to the IR search committee by uploading them to Academic Jobs Online at (<https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/25540>). Please also arrange to have three letters of recommendation submitted via Academic Jobs Online. Only submissions via Academic Jobs Online will be considered. Applications received by October 15, 2023, will be given fullest consideration and will continue to be reviewed until the post is filled.

Lehigh is among the few higher education institutions in the US that has long had a separate department of IR. This means that students with a particular interest in international affairs will benefit from a concentrated program of study that few other schools offer. The standard teaching load is 2-2, and the successful candidate will join a department with a strong commitment to both research and undergraduate teaching.

Founded in 1865, Lehigh University has combined outstanding academic and learning opportunities with leadership in fostering innovative research. Lehigh is recognized among the nation's highly-ranked research universities and offers a rigorous academic community for nearly 7,000 students. Lehigh University has 5,000 undergraduates, 2,000 graduate students, and about 550 full-time faculty members.

Lehigh University is located in Bethlehem, PA., a vibrant and historic area. Over 820,000 people live in the Lehigh Valley, close to New York City and Philadelphia.

Lehigh University is an affirmative action/equal opportunity employer and does not discriminate on the basis of age, color, disability, gender identity or expression, genetic information, marital or familial status, national or ethnic origin, race, religion, sex, sexual orientation, or veteran status. We are committed to increasing the diversity of the campus community. Lehigh University is committed to a culturally and intellectually diverse academic community and is especially interested in candidates who can contribute, through their research, teaching and/or service, to this mission. Lehigh University is the recipient of an NSF ADVANCE Institutional Transformation award for promoting the careers of women in academic sciences and engineering (<http://www.lehigh.edu/luadvance/>) and is among institutions of higher education recognized for excellence in diversity with the INSIGHT into Diversity HEED Award. Additional information about Lehigh's commitment to diversity and inclusion is available at <https://diversityandinclusion.lehigh.edu/>.

Lehigh University provides competitive salaries and comprehensive benefits, including domestic partner benefits. More information about Work/Life Balance for Faculty can be found at <https://provost.lehigh.edu/work-life-balance>.

Lehigh University supports dual career efforts for following spouses/partners of newly hired faculty <https://dualcareer.lehigh.edu/dual-career>

All inquiries regarding the search should be directed to Ms. Edann Brady at ininr@lehigh.edu or 610-758-3390.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 10/15/2023

Date Posted: 9/1/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12430

University of California, Los Angeles

Rank: Faculty Position Search, 2023-2024

APPLICATION WINDOW:

Open date: September 1, 2023

Review date: October 1, 2023

The UCLA Department of Political Science invites applications from outstanding candidates for an open-rank position in the field of International Relations, to begin on July 1, 2024. While the department has particular needs in this field, we also welcome applications from exceptional candidates in any field who contribute to diversity and inclusion at UCLA and the communities that we serve.

UCLA and the UCLA Department of Political Science are firmly committed to the principles of equity, diversity, and inclusion. Therefore, we ask each applicant to submit with their application a statement that addresses their past efforts, as well as future plans, to advance equity, diversity, and inclusion in their scholarship, teaching, and service.

The online application should include a letter of interest, a curriculum vitae, a statement of research interests, the aforementioned diversity statement, evidence of teaching excellence in related courses, at least one writing sample, completed Authorization to Release Information form, and three letters of reference. Applicants who do not yet hold a faculty position or who have held one for fewer than two years should also include a graduate transcript. The letters of recommendation should be uploaded directly by the referees. A PhD in Political Science or related field should be in hand prior to the appointment. To ensure full consideration, please submit applications by October 1, 2023, however, applications will be accepted through June 30, 2024. After the initial review date, new applications will only be considered if the position has not yet been filled. Sample guidance for EDI statement: <https://ucla.app.box.com/v/sample-EDI-statements>.

The posted UC salary scales set the minimum pay determined by rank and/or step at appointment. The on-scale salary range for the open-rank position in International Relations is $74,600 - $197,100. Off-scale salaries (i.e., a salary that is higher than the published system-wide salary at the designated rank and step), and other components of pay, are offered when necessary to meet competitive conditions. UC salary scales: <https://www.ucop.edu/academicpersonnel-programs/compensation/index.html>.

The University of California is committed to creating and maintaining a community dedicated to the advancement, application, and transmission of knowledge and creative endeavors through academic excellence, where all individuals who participate in University programs and activities can work and learn together in a safe and secure environment, free of violence, harassment, bullying and other demeaning behavior, discrimination, exploitation, or intimidation. With this commitment as well as a commitment to addressing all forms of academic misconduct, UCLA conducts targeted employment reference checks for finalists to whom departments or other hiring units would like to extend formal offers of appointment into Academic Senate faculty positions. The targeted employment reference checks involve contacting the finalists' current and prior places of employment to ask whether there have been substantiated findings of misconduct that would violate the University's Faculty Code of Conduct. To implement this process, UCLA requires all applicants for Academic Senate faculty positions to complete, sign, and upload the form entitled "Authorization to Release Information" into RECRUIT as part of their application. If the applicant does not include the signed authorization to release information with the application materials, the application will be considered incomplete. As with any incomplete application, the application will not receive further consideration. Although all applicants for faculty recruitments must complete the entire application, only finalists (i.e. those to whom the department or other hiring unit would like to extend a formal offer) considered for Academic Senate faculty positions will be subject to targeted employment reference checks.

As a University employee, you will be required to comply with all applicable University policies and/or collective bargaining agreements, as may be amended from time to time. Federal, state, or local government directives may impose additional requirements.

The University of California is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability, age or protected veteran status. For the complete University of California nondiscrimination and affirmative action policy, see: UC Nondiscrimination & Affirmative Action Policy.

Apply Now: <https://recruit.apo.ucla.edu/JPF08716>

Help Contact: Belinda Sunnu; bsunnu@polisci.ucla.edu

Start Date: Summer 2024
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/1/2023
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 12432

New York University Abu Dhabi

Rank: Post-Doctoral Associate in the Division of Social Science (Political Science) - Dr. Leonid Peisakhin

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Methodology

Description

We are inviting applications for a three-year Post-Doctoral Associate in the Division of Social Science at NYU Abu Dhabi from individuals who have or will soon receive a PhD in political science or a related discipline. The appointment will begin September 1, 2024, subject to final budget approval.

The post-doctoral associate will spend half their time on independent research, and half of their time on collaborative research with Drs. Leonid Peisakhin, Joan Barceló, and Jeff Jensen. The collaborative research will be in the field of historical legacy research, with an emphasis on the legacy of conflict and historical institutions. This position is open as to geographical area.

The ideal candidate will specialize in historical political economy and will have an interest in conflict studies, post-conflict reconciliation, as well as broader topics in political economy; strong candidates with research interests in other subfields will also be given full consideration. Advanced methodological training is essential; this includes high-level familiarity with causal inference and econometric techniques. Experience working with historical sources and familiarity with public opinion research would be helpful, but not required.

The position does not require teaching, but it may be possible to get teaching experience for compensation. You would be part of a group of over 20 post-doctoral fellows and 70 faculty in the Division of Social Science.

Please use the following link to apply: <https://apply.interfolio.com/130629>

For consideration, applicants need to submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae with a full publication list, statement of research interests and two letters of reference, all in PDF format by December 1, 2023. Applications will be considered on a rolling basis. If you have any questions, please email Dr. Leonid Peisakhin leonid.peisakhin@nyu.edu

About NYU Abu Dhabi

NYU Abu Dhabi is a degree-granting research university with a fully integrated liberal arts and science undergraduate program in the Arts, Sciences, Social Sciences, Humanities, and Engineering. NYU Abu Dhabi, NYU New York, and NYU Shanghai, form the backbone of NYU's global network university, an interconnected network of portal campuses and academic centers across six continents that enable seamless international mobility of students and faculty in their pursuit of academic and scholarly activity. This global university represents a transformative shift in higher education, one in which the intellectual and creative endeavors of academia are shaped and examined through an international and multicultural perspective. As a major intellectual hub at the crossroads of the Arab world, NYUAD serves as a center for scholarly thought, advanced research, knowledge creation, and sharing, through its academic, research, and creative activities.

EOE/AA/Minorities/Females/Vet/Disabled/Sexual Orientation/Gender Identity Employer

UAE Nationals are encouraged to apply

Working for NYUAD

To help Postdoctoral Associates and faculty thrive, we offer a comprehensive benefits package. This starts with a generous relocation allowance to ensure a smooth transition to Abu Dhabi. It includes a competitive salary; housing and transportation allowances; educational assistance for your dependents attending school in the UAE; and access to health and wellness services.

Start Date: Fall 2024
Application Deadline: 12/1/2023
Date Posted: 8/31/2023
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 12422

New York University Abu Dhabi

Rank: Post-Doctoral Associate in the Division of Social Science (Political Science) - Dr. Leonid Peisakhin

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Methodology

Description

We are inviting applications for a three-year Post-Doctoral Associate in the Division of Social Science at NYU Abu Dhabi from individuals who have or will soon receive a PhD in political science or a related discipline. The appointment will begin September 1, 2024, subject to final budget approval.

The post-doctoral associate will spend half their time on independent research, and half of their time on collaborative research with Drs. Leonid Peisakhin, Joan Barceló, and Jeff Jensen. The collaborative research will be in the field of historical legacy research, with an emphasis on the legacy of conflict and historical institutions. This position is open as to geographical area.

The ideal candidate will specialize in historical political economy and will have an interest in conflict studies, post-conflict reconciliation, as well as broader topics in political economy; strong candidates with research interests in other subfields will also be given full consideration. Advanced methodological training is essential; this includes high-level familiarity with causal inference and econometric techniques. Experience working with historical sources and familiarity with public opinion research would be helpful, but not required.

The position does not require teaching, but it may be possible to get teaching experience for compensation. You would be part of a group of over 20 post-doctoral fellows and 70 faculty in the Division of Social Science.

Please use the following link to apply: <https://apply.interfolio.com/130629>

For consideration, applicants need to submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae with a full publication list, statement of research interests and two letters of reference, all in PDF format by December 1, 2023. Applications will be considered on a rolling basis. If you have any questions, please email Dr. Leonid Peisakhin leonid.peisakhin@nyu.edu

About NYU Abu Dhabi

NYU Abu Dhabi is a degree-granting research university with a fully integrated liberal arts and science undergraduate program in the Arts, Sciences, Social Sciences, Humanities, and Engineering. NYU Abu Dhabi, NYU New York, and NYU Shanghai, form the backbone of NYU's global network university, an interconnected network of portal campuses and academic centers across six continents that enable seamless international mobility of students and faculty in their pursuit of academic and scholarly activity. This global university represents a transformative shift in higher education, one in which the intellectual and creative endeavors of academia are shaped and examined through an international and multicultural perspective. As a major intellectual hub at the crossroads of the Arab world, NYUAD serves as a center for scholarly thought, advanced research, knowledge creation, and sharing, through its academic, research, and creative activities.

EOE/AA/Minorities/Females/Vet/Disabled/Sexual Orientation/Gender Identity Employer

UAE Nationals are encouraged to apply

Working for NYUAD

To help Postdoctoral Associates and faculty thrive, we offer a comprehensive benefits package. This starts with a generous relocation allowance to ensure a smooth transition to Abu Dhabi. It includes a competitive salary; housing and transportation allowances; educational assistance for your dependents attending school in the UAE; and access to health and wellness services.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 12/1/2023

Date Posted: 8/31/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12423

Rhodes College

Rank: Assistant Professor of International Relations/Comparative Politics

The Department of International Studies at Rhodes College invites applications for a tenure-track position at the rank of assistant professor to begin Fall of 2024. Rhodes College believes that diversity and inclusion are critical to our success as an institution, and we seek to recruit, develop, and retain the most talented people from a diverse candidate pool. Furthermore, Rhodes College is committed to supporting the work-life alignment of its faculty. We encourage applications from candidates who have expertise in security, peace, and conflict. The search is open in terms of regional or area studies expertise. This position has a 3:2 teaching load, and applicants should demonstrate a firm commitment to teaching and research in an undergraduate, liberal arts environment. The successful candidate will have classroom experience and is expected to teach introductory and advanced courses in either International Relations or Comparative Politics. Additional courses will be based on the candidate's area of specialization. Preference will be given to candidates who can teach an upper-level course on international conflict or security and those who can contribute to an interdisciplinary atmosphere. The successful candidate is expected to earn their Ph.D. by July 2024.

Rhodes is a nationally ranked residential college committed to the liberal arts and sciences. Our highest priorities are intellectual engagement, service to others, commitment to diversity and inclusion, and honor among ourselves. Our students live and learn on one of the country's most beautiful campuses, located in the heart of Memphis, an economic, medical, and culturally diverse center, making Rhodes one of a handful of prominent liberal arts colleges in a major metropolitan area.

Rhodes College prides itself on being a diverse, inclusive, and welcoming environment. We are an equal opportunity employer committed to diversity and anti-discrimination.

A complete application will include 1) a cover letter that addresses the strengths the candidate will bring as a teacher and scholar to a liberal arts college environment; 2) a curriculum vitae; 3) a separate statement that addresses how the candidate's experiences with teaching, scholarship, and/or service will contribute to a college community that includes a commitment to diversity and inclusion as one of its core values; 4) a writing sample; 5) an unofficial graduate transcript; and 6) evidence of teaching performance (if applicable). Review of completed applications will begin on October 1, 2023, and will continue until the position is filled. Candidates from backgrounds typically underrepresented in higher education are strongly encouraged to apply. Letters of recommendation will only be solicited for short-listed applicants, at which time you will be prompted for the names and contact information for three (3) references. Background checks are required before candidates can be brought to campus for interviews.

For further information, please contact Dr. Chien-Kai Chen, chair of the search committee, at chenc@rhodes.edu.

Please apply here: [https://rhodes.wd5.myworkdayjobs.com/Rhodes_Careers/job/Memphis-Tennessee/Assistant-Professor-of-International-Relations-Comparative-Politics_JR-471].

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/31/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12427

Emory University

Rank: Assistant Professor – International Relations

Emory University and the Department of Political Science are committed to building a diverse and inclusive academic community for our faculty, staff, and students. We are recruiting a tenure-track Assistant Professor in International Relations to begin August 2024. We welcome applications from scholars with a broad range of substantive foci and methodological approaches to the study of international relations. We also welcome applications from scholars whose teaching and research interests would allow for collaborations within the department and across Emory.

Assistant professors are expected to teach undergraduate and graduate courses, have a promising research agenda that encompasses strong theoretical, analytical and empirical skills, and contribute to department and university service at a level appropriate to rank. The candidate should have completed the Ph.D. or be very close to completing the Ph.D. by September 2024.

Additional information relating to faculty responsibilities can be found at the following link to the Emory College of Arts and Sciences Faculty Responsibilities document: <http://college.emory.edu/faculty/documents/faculty/faculty-responsibilities.pdf>.

A complete application must include a cover letter, a statement describing current and future research, curriculum vitae, a writing sample, a graduate transcript, a statement of teaching philosophy and experience and three recommendation letters. Emory University is committed to student and faculty diversity, equity, and inclusion. All applicants should also submit a brief statement describing their experience and vision for the teaching and mentorship of students from diverse backgrounds.

All applications should be submitted electronically at <http://apply.interfolio.com/130947>. Candidates are strongly encouraged to apply by September 29, when we will begin review of applications. All applications received by October 29, 2023 will be given full consideration.

Emory University is an equal employment opportunity and affirmative action employer. We encourage applications from individuals who have been historically underrepresented in academia, including women, people of color, LGBTQI+ people, people with disabilities, and veterans.

Please contact Michelle Brown, Program Coordinator, at michelle.brown@emory.edu, with any questions about the application process.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 10/29/2023

Date Posted: 8/29/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12389

U.S. Naval Academy

Rank: Assistant Professor (International Relations)

Assistant Professor (Political Science)

LOCATION:

United States Naval Academy, Political Science Department

APPLICATION TIMELINE:

Application review will begin on October 1, 2023 and will continue until the position is filled.

ABOUT THE U.S. NAVAL ACADEMY:

The United States Naval Academy is a unique institution of higher learning located in Annapolis, Maryland. As a service academy and premier undergraduate college, the United States Naval Academy has its own distinctive niche amongst American higher education institutions. Our talented faculty and staff are united by a common purpose—to develop the next generation of officers to be exceptional leaders in our naval service.

The United States Naval Academy is committed to building a diverse workforce of faculty and staff who provide a multi-disciplinary and hands-on approach to student learning and leadership development. We believe that individuals from diverse backgrounds and perspectives strengthen our programs and positively impact student success. We encourage qualified applicants from all backgrounds to apply for consideration.

Every year more than one million people tour “the Yard”; to experience what our employees already know — the United States Naval Academy is a special place, with a special purpose. Employees will find challenging and rewarding work; state-of-the-art facilities which inspire academic and athletic excellence; the benefits of Federal employment; and exceptional quality-of-life.

POSITION DESCRIPTION:

The Political Science Department invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position beginning as early as July 2024. USNA is a service academy and top tier liberal arts college with a commitment to excellence in faculty teaching and research. International Relations scholars with expertise in international organizations, international law, international political economy, or human rights are encouraged to apply. A strong methodological background and commitment to undergraduate teaching are essential. Candidates should have a robust interest in teaching introduction to international relations, undergraduate research methods, and upper-level electives in their fields of concentration. The teaching load is typically three sections per semester with small section sizes (16-18 students) and 2-4 course preparations per year. Candidates should have a robust research agenda and demonstrate potential for research excellence. Candidates should also have a strong commitment to advising and mentoring student from a wide variety of geographic, racial, and socioeconomic backgrounds and to service to the institution.

The Political Science Department at the Naval Academy is a large department of civilian and military academics whose specialties cover the full range of subfields in political science. We recognize the value of a department that is diverse and inclusive. In staffing, course offerings, research support, and collective department culture, we are committed to building and maintaining a varied academic program that values the contributions of all without bias regarding race, gender, ethnicity, culture, or sexual orientation. We believe that this commitment to inclusivity and focus on critical thinking skills facilitates a strong education for midshipmen as they study and train to become military officers who will lead diverse teams of sailors and marines.

This is an onsite, 10-month compensation, excepted service federal faculty position with a 3-year renewable appointment, a highly competitive salary, and full federal benefits. Salary is commensurate with experience and qualifications.

MINIMUM AND PREFERRED QUALIFICATIONS:

Minimum:

A Ph.D. or equivalent in Political Science or related field is required (anticipated completion of Ph.D. no later than June 2024 is acceptable).

Preferred:

A teaching interest in the following areas: international relations, international organizations, international law, international political economy, or human rights.

HOW TO APPLY FOR POSITION:

Interested candidates should send a cover letter, teaching and research statements, diversity statement, curriculum vitae, and arrange for three letters of recommendation that address both teaching and research abilities to be sent to the Chair of the Hiring Committee at polisci-ir-ay24-group@usna.edu.

Please note: Applications will be reviewed beginning October 1, 2023 but the position will remain open until filled.

CONDITIONS OF EMPLOYMENT:

U.S. Citizenship is required.

All Civilian Excepted Service/Faculty Positions at USNA are subject to a background investigation. The selected candidate will be subject to a security investigation leading to successful completion of a background investigation with a favorable adjudication. The selectee's failure to meet this requirement will be grounds for termination. More information about the background investigation process can be found at the Academic Dean and Provost's website here <http://www.usna.edu/Academics/Faculty-Information/Background-Investigation-Info.php>.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION:

Education must be accredited by an accrediting institution recognized by the U.S. Department of Education in order for it to be credited towards qualifications. Therefore, provide only the attendance and/or degrees from schools accredited by accrediting institutions recognized by the U.S. Department of Education.

The Department of the Navy provides reasonable accommodation to applicants with disabilities. Applicants with disabilities who believe they require reasonable accommodation should contact our Human Resource Office to ensure that the Department of the Navy can consider such requests. The decision to grant an accommodation will be made on a case by case basis.

OPTIONAL DEMOGRAPHIC INFORMATION REQUEST:

Submit a Demographic Information on Applicants Form to rsharps@usna.edu. This form is optional; your responses will not be shared with the hiring committee or anyone involved in the hiring process.

Link to job posting on USNA website: <https://www.usna.edu/HRO/jobinfo/Tenure-track-PoliSci-AY24.php>

Start Date: Summer 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/29/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12406

University of Pittsburgh

Rank: Assistant Professor - International Relations

Assistant Professor – International Relations

The Department of Political Science at the University of Pittsburgh invites applications for a tenure-stream position at the level of Assistant Professor in International Relations. We welcome applications from all areas of international relations but are particularly interested in candidates who can contribute to teaching and research in international organizations, international cooperation, foreign policy, the international dimensions of digital technology or international political economy. In addition, while it is not required for this position, we also value the ability of an applicant to augment the departments and the University of Pittsburgh's training and reputation in computational social science and methodology. Applicants are required to have or expect to have a Ph.D. in Political Science or a related field before the appointment begins.

Applications should include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, statement of research and teaching interests, two or three writing samples, teaching evaluations (if available), a brief description of how your research, teaching or service demonstrates a commitment to diversity, equity, and inclusion, and a minimum of three letters of reference; references will receive email notification with instructions about submitting their letters. In order to ensure full consideration, applications must be received by September 22, 2023, and the review of applications will continue until the position is filled.

The University of Pittsburgh is committed to championing all aspects of diversity, equity, inclusion, and accessibility within our community. This commitment is a fundamental value of the University and is crucial in helping us advance our mission, which includes attracting and retaining diverse workforces. We will continue to create and maintain an environment that allows individuals to discover, belong, contribute, and grow, while honoring the experiences, perspectives, and unique identities of all.

The University of Pittsburgh is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer and values equality of opportunity, human dignity, and diversity. EOE, including disability/vets. The University of Pittsburgh requires all Pitt constituents (employees and students) on all campuses to be vaccinated against COVID-19 or have an approved exemption. Visit coronavirus.pitt.edu to learn more about this requirement.

Applicants should be submitted at the following site:

https://cfopitt.taleo.net/careersection/pitt_faculty_external/jobdetail.ftl?job=23006603&tz=GMT-04%3A00&tzname=America%2FNew_York

The political science Department telephone number is (412) 648-7290; the contact e-mail address is nek89@pitt.edu.

The University of Pittsburgh is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer and values equality of opportunity, human dignity, and diversity. EOE, including disability/vets.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 9/23/2023

Date Posted: 8/29/2023

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 12394

Princeton University, School of Public and International Affairs

Rank: Open Rank Professor of Latino Society

Assistant, Associate or Full Professor (joint department TBD). The School of Public and International Affairs at Princeton University invites applicants for a tenure-track (assistant professor) or tenured position (associate or full professor) in Latino Society in the US. The ideal candidate will show clear dedication to contributing to both the study of Latino/as and to the policies relevant to that population.

Candidates with a range of disciplinary training are encouraged to apply, including scholars in psychology, economics, sociology, and political science. The faculty appointment may be joint with a disciplinary department.

Interested parties should apply online at: <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/31303>

The successful candidate will be appointed in the School with a possible joint appointment with another academic department. Interested candidates should submit a letter of interest, a curriculum vita, a 2-3 page statement summarizing research accomplishments and future plans. Please provide contact information for three references. No letters of recommendation are required until the interview stage. Screening will begin on October 15, 2023 and continue until the position is filled.

Princeton is especially interested in candidates who, through their research, teaching, and service, will contribute to the diversity and excellence of the academic community. Women and underrepresented minorities are strongly encouraged to submit applications.

This position is subject to the University's background check policy.

We at the School of Public and International Affairs believe that it is vital to cultivate an environment that embraces and promotes diversity, equity and inclusion - fundamental to the success of our education and research mission. This commitment to diversity informs our efforts in recruitment and hiring as we actively seek colleagues of exceptional ability who represent a broad range of viewpoints, experiences and value systems, and who share Princeton University's dedication to excellence.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/28/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12382

Cornell University

Rank: Climate Politics and Equitable Futures - IR

Climate change and the coming climate transitions are radically reshaping global politics, with profound domestic and international implications. We aim to make Cornell's Government Department a disciplinary leader in the integrated study of the complex political transformations that are already in process as a result of global warming as well as in developing the transformative politics needed to respond to global warming and its consequences. We are interested in scholarship that addresses topics such as the intersection of climate and environmental politics with racial and ethnic politics, indigenous politics, political economy, environmental justice, the (in)equitable distribution of the costs of climate change, the politics of sustainability, and the politics of climate related migration, among others.

As part of this initiative, the Department of Government invites applications from scholars with international, global, or transnational interests for a tenure-track position in international relations at the rank of assistant professor to begin in the fall semester 2024. A PhD is required no later than July 1, 2024.

Applicants should apply online at <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajob/jobs/25454>. Interested candidates should submit a letter of application, curriculum vitae, two samples of written work, three letters of recommendation, and teaching evaluations. In addition, we ask applicants to share their experiences and/or approaches (past, current, or future) to fostering learning, research, service, and/or outreach in a diverse community; applicants may submit a stand-alone statement or embed the information in other parts of their application.

We will begin to review applications starting September 20, 2023, and will continue until the search is complete.

Diversity and Inclusion are a part of Cornell University's heritage. We are a recognized employer and educator valuing AA/EEO, Protected Veterans, and Individuals with Disabilities. We also recognize a lawful preference in employment practices for Native Americans living on or near Indian reservations. Cornell University embraces diversity and seeks candidates who will contribute to a climate that supports students, faculty, and staff of all identities and backgrounds. We strongly encourage individuals from underrepresented and/or marginalized identities to apply.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/25/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12373

University of Georgia

Rank: Lecturer

The Department of International Affairs at the University of Georgia invites applications for a Lecturer to begin in the fall of 2024. This is a nine-month academic-year appointment that is renewable on an annual basis. The Lecturer will teach eight courses a year, four courses in the fall semester and four courses in the spring semester. Typically, two or more sections of the same course are to be offered each semester and/or during the same academic year. Some courses will be capped at fewer than 20 students per class. The allocation of effort at appointment will be 100% teaching. The ideal candidate will have primary teaching and research interests in international relations and/or comparative politics. The Lecturer will be expected to teach introductory courses on global issues, comparative politics, and international relations, as well as upper-level undergraduate courses in areas such as international law, security, and human rights. Candidates are expected to have a demonstrated ability to teach current political science and international affairs research. The University of Georgia supports a culture of active learning in which students think about what they are learning while they are learning it, and instructors utilize instructional practices that purposefully engage all students in the learning process.

Lecturers are eligible to participate in professional development opportunities and receive funds for professional travel when they are available.

Prospective candidates must apply for the position through the UGA Faculty Job site at: <https://www.ugajobsearch.com/postings/338142>. To complete the application, candidates will need to submit a cover letter indicating interest and qualifications, a current curriculum vita, teaching evaluations demonstrating excellence in instruction, original transcripts, and three letters of recommendation. Questions or hard copies of letters of recommendation can be sent to Bill Zachmann, Department of International Affairs, University of Georgia, Candler Hall 219, Athens, GA 30602 (zachmann@uga.edu). Applicants should have an earned Ph.D. degree in political science or a related discipline by August 1, 2024. Applications received by October 15, 2023 will be assured full consideration.

Georgia is well known for its quality of life both outdoor and urban activities (www.georgia.gov). UGA (www.uga.edu) is a land/sea grant institution located 75 miles northeast of Atlanta.

The University of Georgia is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, national origin, disability, or protected veteran status.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/25/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12370

Universidad Catolica del Uruguay

Rank: Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Methodology

Ref: LLAMACA-181

Call for applications to fill a position of Assistant Professor (Full time) at the Department of Social Sciences

The Universidad Católica del Uruguay calls for applications to fill a position of Assistant Professor (Full time) at its Department of Social Sciences. Candidates should hold a Ph.D. of be near completion (December 2023) in Political Science or Sociology, but candidates in other social science disciplines such as Demography, Human Geography, Criminology or Social Work are also encouraged to apply. Candidates may be specialized in any substantive subarea (for example, research methods, public policy, comparative politics, political economy, social stratification, or socioeconomic inequalities).

Candidates must demonstrate excellence in teaching, an active substantive research agenda, and a demonstrated ability to publish and teach in English and Spanish. Successful candidates are expected to work full-time (160 hours per month) and start working in February or August 2024.

Applications will start being analyzed on September 30, 2023, but applications received after that will still be considered until the position is filled or the university closes the call. A complete application must contain (1) a cover letter, (2) CV, (3) an example of an undergraduate course program that the candidate would be able to teach, (4) up to 2 examples of academic research work, (5) teacher evaluations, and (6) three letters of recommendation. The application should be made electronically (<https://bpm.ucu.edu.uy/public/01LPOSD>). Letters of recommendation can be included by the candidate in the application or can be directly sent by their author to the following email: departamentos@ucu.edu.uy (Ref: LLAMACA-181 – Letter of recommendation for [Name Last name]).

The selection process will consist on the following stages. First, a short list of candidates will be selected to be interviewed by the Selection Committee in person or via videoconference in case of residing abroad. Then, 3 shortlisted candidates will be invited to the Montevideo campus to present their research and hold interviews with members of the Department and other authorities. The selection committee may request from the candidates, at any time during the process, additional materials, or the corresponding accreditations. The decisions of the selection committee will be final. The Universidad Católica del Uruguay reserves the right not to hire any candidates without responsibility of any kind at its own expense.

For additional information, applicants may contact the Department's Chair, Rosario Queirolo (rosario.queirolo@ucu.edu.uy).

Start Date: Spring 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/22/2023

Salary: $40,000 - $49,999

eJobs ID: 12350

New York University Graduate School of Arts and Science

Rank: Faculty Fellow

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Political Theory, International Relations

Specializations: Social Movements, Science & Technology, Urban Politics

Faculty Fellow

XE: Experimental Humanities & Social Engagement

New York University Graduate School of Arts and Science

XE: Experimental Humanities & Social Engagement, an interdisciplinary master's program in the Graduate School of Arts and Science at New York University, invites applications for a Faculty Fellow position in the social sciences. The initial appointment will be for one year beginning September 1, 2024, renewable annually for a maximum of three years, pending administrative and budgetary approval.

We seek outstanding interdisciplinary scholars of the social sciences whose work engages intersectional social justice. The successful candidate will be committed to cutting-edge interdisciplinary inquiry and their fields will include, span, or exceed: anthropology, sociology, science and technology studies, politics, or urban studies, addressing urgent topics such as displacement and migration, indigenous rights, anti-racism, decolonization, incarceration, health, or environmental justice, among others.

Faculty fellows teach three graduate seminars per year, advise and mentor students, oversee master's theses, organize public programs, and actively participate in shaping the life of the program.

XE is a highly innovative master's program and tight-knit community of scholars and practitioners who value collaborative mentoring and career building, as well as exploring new pedagogies and research methods at the intersection of creativity, criticality, and social engagement.

Qualifications:

We seek candidates with a PhD in the social sciences. While PhDs are required, we welcome candidates who have a public-facing critical or artistic practice in their field/s. Candidates should have completed their Ph.D. no earlier than 2020 and no later than by August 1, 2024.

To apply, please submit: a cover letter, curriculum vitae, a 20- to 30-page writing sample, sample syllabi for two dream classes, three letters of recommendation, and a statement of diversity and inclusion.

Applications should be submitted through Interfolio: <http://apply.interfolio.com/129772>

The search committee will begin reviewing applications on January 5, 2023 and will continue until the position is filled.

As diversity is a priority for NYU and for this position, for the latter statement we ask you to provide a brief paragraph telling us how diversity figures into your past and present teaching, research, community engagement, and/or life experience, as well as how you would bring issues of diversity to bear on the teaching and programming of XE. Information about diversity statements may be found at <http://as.nyu.edu/departments/facultydiversity/recruitment/diversity-statements.html. >

In compliance with NYC's Pay Transparency Act, the annual base salary for this position is $60,000. New York University considers factors such as (but not limited to) the scope and responsibilities of the position, the candidate's work experience, education/training, key skills, internal peer equity, as well as market and organizational considerations when extending an offer.

The Faculty of Arts and Science at NYU is at the heart of a leading research university that spans the globe. We seek scholars of the highest caliber who embody the diversity of the United States as well as the global society in which we live. We strongly encourage applications from women, racial and ethnic minorities, and other individuals who are under-represented in the profession, across color, creed, race, ethnic and national origin, physical ability, gender and sexual identity, or any other legally protected basis. NYU affirms the value of differing perspectives on the world as we strive to build the strongest possible university with the widest reach. To learn more about the FAS commitment to diversity, equality and inclusion, please read here: <http://as.nyu.edu/departments/facultydiversity.html>.

EOE/Affirmative Action/Minorities/Females/Vet/Disabled/Sexual Orientation/Gender Identity.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 1/5/2024

Date Posted: 8/21/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12334

Ripon College

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

The faculty at Ripon College are a talented and dynamic group of teacher-scholars who work closely with a diverse student population on capstone and undergraduate research projects, and participate in interdisciplinary collaboration with one another on scholarship and creative activity. The faculty benefit from wide-ranging opportunities for support including curriculum development grants, travel grants, scholarly/artistic grants, and colleague teaching grants. Successful applicants for faculty positions at Ripon College will join a group of teacher-scholars who embrace the standards of social justice; value the principles of equity and inclusion; and seek to foster and facilitate student achievement at all levels.

The Department of Political Science at Ripon College is seeking qualified applicants for a full-time, tenure-track position in International Relations at the rank of Assistant Professor to begin either January 2024 or August 2024. The department is particularly interested in candidates who have the capacity to expand interdisciplinary collaborations across majors and programs. Specifically, preference will be given to applicants whose courses could be cross-listed with other departments and programs on campus (e.g., Psychology, Economics, Computer & Data Sciences, Mathematics, Environmental Studies, Sociology, History). Candidates are expected to be well trained in research methods, especially quantitative methods. The teaching load is three courses per semester.

Ripon College is home to the Center for Politics and the People, which promotes constructive political debate outside of the classroom by informing students, the community and citizens concerned with good governance in politics and public policy.

Deadline: Screening will begin on September 25, 2023, and continue until the position is filled.

Applicants should submit the following materials as PDF files to Dr. Henrik Schatzinger, Search Committee Chair, at polsearch@ripon.edu.

- Letter of interest
- Curriculum vitae
- Statements outlining
 - o Teaching philosophy
 - o Philosophy on diversity, inclusion, and access
 - o Research agenda
- Evidence of teaching effectiveness
- Unofficial transcripts
- Three letters of recommendation

Required Qualifications:

- Ph.D. in Political Science or closely related field, by January 1, 2024, for Spring 2024 employment, or by July 1, 2024, for Fall 2024 employment
- Energy and enthusiasm for service within the Department of Political Science, including outreach to prospective students
- Strong commitment to student-centered active learning and student engagement

Preferred Qualifications:

- Commitment to interdisciplinary collaboration and teaching
- Demonstrated experience working in multicultural environments and interest in developing curricula related to diverse populations
- Willingness to develop courses building on the established curricula
- Willingness to engage in collaborative work across disciplines
- Commitment to undergraduate education
- Evidence of teaching experience

This position is open to all qualified applicants. Ripon College encourages applications from individuals from underrepresented groups in the professoriate, including, for example, African Americans, Hispanics, Native Americans, Alaska Natives, Native Hawaiians, other Pacific Islanders, first generation college students, members of the LGBTQIA+ community, individuals who have followed non-traditional pathways to college due to exceptional talent and motivation in the face of adversity, such as societal, economic or academic disadvantages, and individuals with a demonstrated commitment to applying and including diverse backgrounds and perspectives to learning, scholarship, and leadership in the academy. Employment-based visa sponsorship (including H1B sponsorship) is available for this position.

Ripon College is committed to the principles of equal opportunity and adheres to non-discriminatory policies in employment and student enrollment. Ripon College is an equal-opportunity employer. <http://www.ripon.edu>

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 9/25/2023

Date Posted: 8/21/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12333

National University of Singapore

Rank: Associate Professor

The Department of Political Science at the National University of Singapore invites application for one full-time tenure-track or tenured position in International Relations at the rank of full Professor or Associate Professor. We welcome applications from candidates working in all areas of the subfield, and we especially welcome applications from candidates with Asia-related research. Candidates should submit a letter of application detailing research and teaching interests as well as leadership experience; curriculum vitae; up to three writing samples; four references; and teaching evaluations and materials if available. Review of applications on 1 October 2023 and continue until the search is complete. Application materials should be sent to the Chair of the Search Committee at polbox5@nus.edu.sg.

The teaching load is three modules per academic year. Compensation is competitive and includes eligibility for annual performance bonus and salary increment, subsidized housing, medical benefits, and substantial research support.

Please submit your application through <https://careers.nus.edu.sg/job-invite/21719/>

Please note that only short-listed candidates will be notified.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 9/30/2023

Date Posted: 8/20/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12329

Auburn University Montgomery

Rank: Associate/Full Professor of Political Science and Khaled Chair

The Department of Political Science and Public Administration at Auburn University at Montgomery invites applications for the endowed Khaled Chair in Political Science and International Policy. The successful applicant will have an expertise in international relations. Applicants must have a Ph.D. in political science, international affairs, international relations, or a related field. Appointment will be made at the associate or full professor level depending upon the successful applicant's experience, with a start date of August 2024.

The Department of Political Science and Public Administration offers bachelor's and master's degree programs in political science, a NAS-PAA-accredited master's degree program in public administration, and a doctoral program in public administration and public policy jointly with Auburn University's Department of Political Science. The successful candidate is expected to teach, recruit, and help grow the department's programs. The endowment provides the Khaled Chair with a summer research stipend, research and travel support, a research assistant, and a reduced teaching load.

Review of applications begins on November 1, 2023, with interviews beginning shortly thereafter. A departmental representative will be attending the American Political Science Association annual conference and will be available to answer questions. To apply, complete an online application at <https://www.jobs.aum.edu/postings/6327> and upload the following materials: (1) a cover letter addressing suitability for the position, experience, and expertise in the areas of teaching, research, and service; (2) a curriculum vitae; (3) two recent writing samples; (4) graduate transcript (an official transcript will be needed at the time of hire); and (5) contact information for at least three professional references. Separately, three confidential letters of reference are required and must be sent by email to politicalscience@aum.edu by the application deadline.

Auburn University at Montgomery (AUM) is a comprehensive public university and is the metropolitan campus of Auburn University. Located in the state capital on a 500-acre campus, AUM enrolls approximately 5000 undergraduate and graduate students and attracts a diverse student body. AUM is ranked by U.S. News and World Report as one of the top twenty-five Comprehensive Regional Universities in the South and by the Princeton Review as one of the best colleges in the Southeast.

Montgomery is a diverse city offering an array of cultural and recreational opportunities including the Alabama Shakespeare Festival, world-class museums and memorials including the Legacy Museum and the National Memorial for Peace and Justice, a ballet company, a natural habitat zoo, a chamber music society, an independent film theater, and the Montgomery Biscuits Double-A baseball team; it is home to Maxwell-Gunter Air Force Base and Air University, Hyundai Motor's U.S. production facility, and the headquarters of leading non-profits including Equal Justice Initiative and the Southern Poverty Law Center. The campus is within a two-and-a-half-hour drive to Atlanta, ninety minutes to Birmingham, and less than three hours to the Gulf Coast.

Auburn University at Montgomery is an Equal Opportunity Employer committed to achieving excellence through diversity; therefore, we encourage applications from historically underrepresented groups, veterans, and individuals with disabilities.

While this position is open until filled, Auburn University at Montgomery reserves the right to stop accepting applications once interviewing has begun.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 11/1/2023

Date Posted: 8/18/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12301

National University of Singapore

Rank: Post-doctoral/Research Fellow/Senior Research Fellow, International Relations of Southeast Asia (3 year-contract, renewable)

Post-doctoral/Research Fellow/Senior Research Fellow, International Relations of Southeast Asia (3 year-contract, renewable)

The Centre on Asia and Globalisation (CAG), at the Lee Kuan Yew School of Public Policy, National University of Singapore, invites applications for Research Fellowships in the field of International Relations, with a focus on Southeast Asia.

The Lee Kuan Yew School is a leading school of public policy with an international faculty and student body. CAG was established in 2006 to provide accurate, independent, and high-quality analysis on issues of regional and global significance for academia, decision-makers, commentators, and the general public. Its current research agenda focuses on the prospects of regional and global order; the future of economic globalisation/de-globalisation and their impact on Asia; the alignment postures of Southeast Asia in an era of superpower competition; and the impact of technology and artificial intelligence on international politics (<https://lkyspp.nus.edu.sg/cag>).

Job Description

The candidate will conduct independent, in-depth, and publishable research on issues in his/her expertise and contribute to the Centre's agenda on international relations of Southeast Asia.

S/he is expected to initiate and organize research projects, workshops, conferences, and other research events. S/he should be able to reach out to publishers and actively engage with academia, policy practitioners, and media and business leaders, as well as apply for external grants. In addition, s/he is expected to play a role in coordinating with other researchers and contribute to the broader intellectual life of the centre.

Job Requirements

- A Ph.D. degree in the social sciences with preference for Political Science/International Relations
- Expertise in the International Relations of Southeast Asia. We are particularly interested in candidates specializing in the interface between domestic politics and foreign/security/military policy
- An ability to engage with policy and research communities in Singapore, Asia, and around the world
- A strong and demonstrated sense of academic independence and collegiality
- A willingness to engage in interdisciplinary interactions at the School

Benefits Include

- Internationally competitive salary, 3-year renewable contract
- Housing benefit, travel assistance, and transit accommodation, subject to NUS eligibility criteria
- Highly collegial working environment with an internationally diverse group of scholars
- Excellent research support provided by CAG, the LKY School, and the University

Application Procedure

Applicants should submit the following in electronic form (MS Word or PDF file):

- Cover letter, with a brief statement of research expertise and its relevance to CAG's existing research interests
- Detailed curriculum vitae
- Copies of academic certificates and transcripts
- Two samples of academic publications
- Three letters of reference (mail to cag@nus.edu.sg)
- Joining date: 1 December 2023 (preferred, but negotiable)
- Application deadline: Open until filled

Please send electronic submissions to Ms. Serene Teang (cag@nus.edu.sg)

Start Date: Winter 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/18/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12297

University of British Columbia

Rank: Assistant Professor in China Policy and Governance

The School of Public Policy and Global Affairs (SPPGA) at The University of British Columbia (Vancouver) invites applications for the tenure-track position of Assistant Professor in China Policy and Governance to begin on July 1, 2024.

We seek a scholar who engages in applied research on policy and governance issues related to China. This may include expertise on issues of policy and governance within China, with regards to China's global engagements, and/or comparative work between Chinese and other actors or institutions. We welcome and are committed to supporting candidates with critical perspectives, from a broad array of personal backgrounds and experiences, and across a range of potential disciplinary training. Evidence of experience in communicating to both academic and non-academic audiences and contributing to or influencing policy will be considered an asset.

Candidates should have demonstrated excellence or promise of excellence in research and have a strong commitment to teaching. The successful candidate will be expected to develop and support a dynamic research program, including active policy engagements. The position is open to those specializing in quantitative as well as qualitative research. They are expected to contribute to teaching in the core curriculum of the professional Master of Public Policy and Global Affairs (MPPGA) as well as elective courses on China.

Candidates for this position must have a completed Ph.D. from any disciplinary or interdisciplinary field within the social sciences. Those who have progressed to the point where completion of the PhD is imminent and who demonstrate clear and superior promise of excellent research and teaching will also be considered. The successful candidate is expected to have a Ph.D. for the start of the appointment. The anticipated start date is July 1, 2024.

Applicants should be prepared to upload by the closing deadline of October 16, 2023 in the following order and in a single PDF file (maximum size 15MB):

- Cover letter (up to 2 pages) that contains:
 - o description of current and proposed research;
 - o teaching interests and accomplishments;
 - o experience of contributing to, or influencing, policy;
 - o names and contact information for three scholars from whom confidential letters of assessment can be obtained.
- Curriculum vitae;
- Description of current and proposed research (up to 2 pages);
- Statement (300-500 words) identifying the applicant's philosophy of working with a diverse student body, and contributions, or potential contributions, to advancing a culture of inclusion within the university and beyond;
- Teaching statement and evidence of teaching ability and effectiveness, including sample syllabi (may include teaching evaluations, and teaching dossier);
- One sample of research or publication similar in length to a journal article;
- One sample of writing that aims at communicating the results of research to a policy audience.

Review of applications will begin on 16 October 2023, and will continue until the position has been filled. Applicants with questions about the position are welcome to contact the Administration Manager, Ian Taylor, at ian.taylor@ubc.ca. This position is subject to final budgetary approval. Salary is competitive and will be commensurate with experience.

Further Information:

UBC's School of Public Policy and Global Affairs (SPPGA) is an interdisciplinary and collaborative hub that contributes to developing policies and solutions to complex global and local issues. The School offers the Master of Public Policy and Global Affairs (MPPGA), a 2-year professional global public policy program with particular expertise in Asia Pacific and sustainability. For more information on the SPPGA visit <https://sppga.ubc.ca/>

UBC-Vancouver's Point Grey Campus is located on the traditional, ancestral, and ceded territories of the Musqueam people, with whom UBC shares a framework Memorandum of Affiliation. For information on Indigenous initiatives at UBC, visit: <http://indigenous.ubc.ca/>. SPPGA is committed to increasing Indigenous engagement within its curriculum.

We are actively seeking to recruit from a diverse pool of applicants. Equity and diversity are essential to academic excellence. An open and diverse community fosters the inclusion of voices that have been underrepresented or discouraged. We encourage applications from members of groups that have been marginalized on any grounds enumerated under the B.C. Human Rights Code, including sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, racialization, disability, political belief, religion, marital or family status, age, and/or status as a First Nation, Metis, Inuit, or Indigenous person. All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply; however, Canadians and permanent residents of Canada will be given priority.

UBC welcomes and encourages applications from persons with disabilities. Accommodations are available on request for all candidates taking part in all aspects of the selection process. For requests, contact SPPGA Administration Manager, Ian Taylor (ian.taylor@ubc.ca). The University committed to creating and maintaining an inclusive and equitable work environment for all members of its workforce, and in particular, for its employees with disabilities. An inclusive work environment for employees with disabilities presumes an environment where differences are accepted, recognized, and integrated into current structures, planning, and decision-making modes. For contact information regarding UBC's accommodation and access policies and resources (for faculty and staff as well as students), please visit the Centre for Workplace Accessibility.

<https://hr.ubc.ca/health-and-wellbeing/working-injury-illness-or-disability/centre-workplace-accessibility>

APPLY NOW: <https://sppga.air.arts.ubc.ca/application-for-assistant-professor-in-china-policy-and-governance/>

Start Date: Summer 2024

Application Deadline: 10/16/2023

Date Posted: 8/18/2023

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 12328

Davidson College

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science - International Relations (East Asia)

International Relations of East Asia

The Department of Political Science invites applications for a tenure-track assistant professor position in International Relations with a regional focus on East Asia. The start date is July 1, 2024. Demonstrated potential for excellence in and enthusiasm for teaching, active and high-quality scholarship, and a commitment to student advising and support are essential. We are interested in candidates whose teaching and research interests include regional courses (e.g. the politics and foreign policy of specific East Asian countries, regional political economy, regional politics, etc.) as well as core courses in International Relations (such as International Security, Causes of War, International Organizations, International Law, International Political Economy, International Trade Theory and Policy, Politics of Global Finance, Globalization and International Development, Regional Security, International Relations of East Asia and the Pacific, etc.).

In addition, the candidate should possess a willingness to expand their teaching and research interests in response to emerging political issues. We also welcome applications from candidates with strong multi-methodological skills, a pluralistic approach to social science methodology, and transdisciplinary interests that complement Davidson College's growing interdisciplinary programs, such as East Asian Studies, and the Data Science interdisciplinary minor. The successful applicant will be expected to offer five courses per year (four in the first year of employment), including an introductory course in either international or comparative politics and upper-level courses and seminars in International Relations. Applications from both Ph.D. holders and very advanced ABDs will be considered.

The following materials are required:

- letter of application;
- curriculum vitae;
- three letters of reference;
- an unofficial copy of graduate school transcript;
- a statement addressing the candidate's research agenda and interests;
- a statement explaining the candidate's demonstrated or potential excellence in and enthusiasm for undergraduate teaching;
- and a statement of contributions to inclusive pedagogy, research, and service. This statement (approximately 500-1000 words) should describe how your teaching, research, and service will support Davidson's commitment to supporting diversity, inclusion, and access (<https://www.davidson.edu/diversity-equity-inclusion>). Specifically, please answer how your past experiences, skills, knowledge, and/or training inform your answers to the following questions:

1. What barriers and practices prevent students from being welcome and included in higher education and from accessing opportunities or resources during their undergraduate education?
2. How will you work to alleviate these barriers in your teaching, mentoring, research, and service?

Your past experiences, knowledge, and/or training that have contributed to your viewpoints or practices related to diversity, inclusion, and access in education could include, but are not limited to, formal and informal teaching and mentoring experiences, workshops, community organizing, and/or lived experiences. We understand that some applicants may have little knowledge of or experience with such statements; please know that we are not looking for a particular response, but for an authentic expression of your perspective and experience.

The deadline for receipt of applications is September 22, 2023. All application materials can be submitted at <http://employment.davidson.edu>. To learn more about Davidson's policy on immigration sponsorship for college employees please visit this page: <https://www.davidson.edu/offices-and-services/human-resources/employee-guide/immigration-sponsorship-college-employees>.

Davidson College is a highly selective liberal arts college located about 20 minutes north of the thriving city of Charlotte, North Carolina, and less than two hours from the cultural and natural riches of the Blue Ridge Mountains. The successful candidate will have an opportunity to participate in the life of collegial departments and a vibrant academic community. To learn more about Davidson College, how we support tenure-track faculty, and the local area, please visit this page: https://docs.google.com/document/d/14lu22CKhpT29IRXCve_gzIb-lsyM7nW499d1E5xx9rE/edit?usp=sharing.

At Davidson College, we believe the college grows stronger by recruiting and retaining a diverse faculty and staff committed to building an inclusive community. In order to achieve and sustain educational excellence, we seek to hire talented faculty and staff across the intersections of diverse races, ethnicities, religions and worldviews, sexual orientations, gender identities, ages, socio-economic backgrounds, political perspectives, abilities, veteran status, cultures, and national origins.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 9/22/2023

Date Posted: 8/17/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12292

Princeton University

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Associate, Program in Latin American Studies

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Public Policy

Program in Latin American Studies (PLAS) Postdoctoral Fellowship, 2024-2025

Job Title: Postdoctoral Research Associate

Requisition Number: D-24-LAS-00001

The Program in Latin American Studies (PLAS) is seeking candidates from any discipline who are engaged in scholarly research on topics related to Latin American Studies, including the Caribbean and Brazil, to fill Postdoctoral Research Associate or more senior research positions. Candidates will be expected to devote themselves to research and writing, and may teach not more than one course per semester. When teaching, successful candidates will hold the secondary rank of Lecturer, and any teaching opportunities are subject to sufficient enrollments and the approval of the Dean of the Faculty. They also will be invited to participate regularly in the scholarly activities of the PLAS intellectual community.

Appointments are for a 12-month term during the 2024-2025 academic year, starting September 1, 2024, with the possibility of renewal, contingent on satisfactory performance and continued funding.

A competitive salary commensurate with experience and excellent benefits will be offered.

This position is subject to the University's background check policy.

How to Apply

For full consideration complete applications including letters of recommendation should be submitted by December 3, 2023, 11:59 p.m. EST.

All candidates must apply online and submit the below materials (in English) at <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/31282>.

- 1) Cover letter
- 2) Curriculum vitae
- 3) Statement of research interests (1,000 – 1,500 words)

4) A representative sample of recent work (under 30 written pages or equivalent)

5) Three letters of recommendation

Required Qualifications: Doctoral degree (earned within three years of the start date). Academic excellence, potential to bring new ideas and approaches to Princeton University and to interact successfully with a broad range of faculty and students.

Princeton University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer, and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to age, race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 12/3/2023

Date Posted: 8/17/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12290

University of Toronto

Rank: Assistant Professor - International Relations

The Department of Political Science and The Munk School of Global Affairs and Public Policy, in the Faculty of Arts and Science at the University of Toronto invites applications for a full-time tenure stream position in the area of International Relations. The appointment will be at the rank of Assistant Professor, with an expected start date of July 1, 2024, or shortly thereafter. This will be a joint appointment between The Department of Political Science (75%) and The Munk School of Global Affairs and Public Policy (25%).

Applicants must have earned a PhD degree in Political Science, International Relations, or a related area by the time of the appointment, or shortly thereafter, with a demonstrated record of excellence in research and teaching. The area of specialization within International Relations is open; theoretical and methodological approaches are also open.

We seek candidates whose research and teaching interests complement and strengthen our existing departmental strengths. The successful candidate will undertake undergraduate and graduate teaching responsibilities on the University of Toronto's downtown (St. George) campus. Applicants are encouraged to review the research and teaching profiles of current faculty members. Please visit our home pages (Department of Political Science <https://politics.utoronto.ca>) and (Munk School of Global Affairs and Public Policy <https://munkschool.utoronto.ca>) to learn more about us.

The successful candidate will be expected to pursue innovative and independent research at the highest international level and to establish an outstanding, competitive, and externally funded research program. Candidates must provide evidence of research excellence which can be demonstrated by the submitted research statement, a record of publications in top-ranked and field relevant journals or forthcoming publications meeting high international standards, presentations at significant conferences, awards and accolades, and strong endorsements from referees of high standing.

Evidence of excellence in teaching will be provided through teaching accomplishments, the teaching dossier (with required materials outlined below) submitted as part of the application, as well as strong letters of reference.

Candidates are also expected to show evidence of a commitment to equity, diversity, inclusion, and the promotion of a respectful and collegial learning and working environment demonstrated through the application materials.

Salary will be commensurate with qualifications and experience.

All qualified candidates are invited to apply online by clicking the link below. Applicants must submit a cover letter; a current curriculum vitae; a research statement outlining current and future research interests; a recent writing sample of no more than 30 pages; and a teaching dossier to include a teaching statement, sample course materials, and teaching evaluations. Equity and diversity are essential to academic excellence. We seek candidates who value diversity and whose research, teaching and service bear out our commitment to equity. Candidates are therefore also asked to submit a 1-2 page statement of their contributions to equity and diversity, which might cover topics such as (but need not be limited to): research or teaching that incorporates a focus on underrepresented communities, the development of inclusive pedagogies, or the mentoring of students from underrepresented groups.

Applicants must provide the name and contact information of three references. The University of Toronto's recruiting tool will automatically solicit and collect letters of reference from each after an application is submitted (this happens overnight). Applicants remain responsible for ensuring that references submit letters (on letterhead, dated and signed) by the closing date.

Submission guidelines can be found at <http://uoft.me/how-to-apply>. Your CV and cover letter should be uploaded into the dedicated fields. Please combine additional application materials into one or two files in PDF/MS Word format. If you have any questions about this position, please contact Sari Sherman at chair.polisci@utoronto.ca.

All application materials, including reference letters, must be received by October 16, 2023.

All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply; however, Canadians and permanent residents will be given priority.

Diversity Statement

The University of Toronto embraces Diversity and is building a culture of belonging that increases our capacity to effectively address and serve the interests of our global community. We strongly encourage applications from Indigenous Peoples, Black and racialized persons, women, persons with disabilities, and people of diverse sexual and gender identities. We value applicants who have demonstrated a commitment to equity, diversity and inclusion and recognize that diverse perspectives, experiences, and expertise are essential to strengthening our academic mission.

As part of your application, you will be asked to complete a brief Diversity Survey. This survey is voluntary. Any information directly related to you is confidential and cannot be accessed by search committees or human resources staff. Results will be aggregated for institutional planning purposes. For more information, please see <http://uoft.me/UP>.

Accessibility Statement

The University strives to be an equitable and inclusive community, and proactively seeks to increase diversity among its community members. Our values regarding equity and diversity are linked with our unwavering commitment to excellence in the pursuit of our academic mission.

The University is committed to the principles of the Accessibility for Ontarians with Disabilities Act (AODA). As such, we strive to make our recruitment, assessment and selection processes as accessible as possible and provide accommodations as required for applicants with disabilities.

If you require any accommodations at any point during the application and hiring process, please contact uoft.careers@utoronto.ca.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 10/16/2023

Date Posted: 8/17/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12286

Boston University

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of Political Science at Boston University seeks to hire a tenure-track Assistant Professor specializing in International Politics. The search is open with respect to specific substantive focus and methodological orientation. The anticipated start date is July 1, 2024, pending final budgetary approval. The successful candidate will teach graduate and undergraduate students and will hold a PhD at the start of the appointment.

To ensure full consideration, please submit the following materials by October 1, 2023: cover letter, CV, research statement, teaching statement, diversity statement, sample of scholarly writing, and three letters of reference. In the diversity statement, applicants should demonstrate past/current or outline future contributions to inclusive excellence in research, teaching, and/or outreach. Please submit applications via <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajol/jobs/25352>.

BU conducts a background check on all final candidates for certain faculty and staff positions. The background check includes contacting the final candidate's current and previous employer(s) to ask whether, in the last seven years, there has been a substantiated finding of misconduct violating that employer's applicable sexual misconduct policies. To implement this process, the University requires a final candidate to complete and sign the form entitled "Authorization to Release Information" after execution of an offer letter.

We are an equal opportunity employer, and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, age, national origin, physical or mental disability, sexual orientation, gender identity, genetic information, military service, pregnancy or pregnancy-related condition, or because of marital, parental, or veteran status. We are a VEVRAA Federal Contractor.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 10/1/2023

Date Posted: 8/16/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12283

Boston University

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of Political Science at Boston University seeks to hire a tenure-track Assistant Professor specializing in Political Economy (comparative and/or international). The search is open with respect to specific substantive focus and methodological orientation. The anticipated start date is July 1, 2024, pending final budgetary approval. The successful candidate will teach graduate and undergraduate students and will hold a PhD at the start of the appointment.

To ensure full consideration, please submit the following materials by October 1, 2023: cover letter, CV, research statement, teaching statement, diversity statement, sample of scholarly writing, and three letters of reference. In the diversity statement, applicants should demonstrate past/current or outline future contributions to inclusive excellence in research, teaching, and/or outreach. Please submit applications via <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/25353>.

BU conducts a background check on all final candidates for certain faculty and staff positions. The background check includes contacting the final candidate's current and previous employer(s) to ask whether, in the last seven years, there has been a substantiated finding of misconduct violating that employer's applicable sexual misconduct policies. To implement this process, the University requires a final candidate to complete and sign the form entitled "Authorization to Release Information" after execution of an offer letter.

We are an equal opportunity employer, and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, age, national origin, physical or mental disability, sexual orientation, gender identity, genetic information, military service, pregnancy or pregnancy-related condition, or because of marital, parental, or veteran status. We are a VEVRAA Federal Contractor.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 10/1/2023

Date Posted: 8/16/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12284

Central Intelligence Agency

Rank: Analyst

Subfield(s): International Relations, Methodology, Comparative Politics

Specializations: Bureaucracy & Organizational Behavior, Conflict Processes, Economic Policy

Let's Reach New Heights Together!

- The CIA has numerous full-time positions as well as undergraduate and graduate internships and scholarships.
- There are opportunities for foreign travel, language training, and overseas postings. CIA provides competitive salaries, relocation expenses, and student loan repayment programs.
- All positions require US citizenship, relocation to the Washington, DC metropolitan area, and a top-secret security clearance.

Featured Positions:

- Leadership Analyst: <https://www.cia.gov/careers/jobs/leadership-analyst/>
- Political Analyst: <https://www.cia.gov/careers/jobs/political-analyst/>

- Analytic Methodologist: <https://www.cia.gov/careers/jobs/analytic-methodologist/>

Please visit us on CIA.GOV/CAREERS, bring a hard copy resume, two sample writings (3-5 pages max), and an unofficial transcript to CIA booth #505 and meet with a CIA Recruiter.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/14/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12105

Washington University in St. Louis

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science- International Relations or Comparative Politics (East Asia)

The Department of Political Science and the Global Studies Program at Washington University in St. Louis invite applications for a tenure-track faculty appointment in comparative politics or international relations with a focus on East Asia. The appointment is at the rank of Assistant Professor to begin in the fall semester of 2024. A Ph.D. in Political Science or a closely related field is required at the time of appointment. Duties will include teaching assigned courses, conducting research, writing for publication, advising students, participating in department and program governance, and university service.

Diversity and Inclusion are core values at Washington University, and we seek to create inclusive classrooms and environments in which a diverse array of students can learn and thrive.

Each year Washington University publishes a Safety and Security brochure that details what to do and whom to contact in an emergency. This report also publishes the federally required annual security and fire safety reports, containing campus crime and fire statistics as well as key university policies and procedures. You may access the Safety and Security brochure at <https://police.wustl.edu/clery-reports-logs/>.

Application materials should include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, statements of research and teaching interests, at least three letters of reference, writing samples, and other relevant materials.

Applications received before September 15, 2023 will receive full consideration. Consideration after that date will be at the discretion of the search committee. All applications and supporting documentation should be submitted electronically through Interfolio at <http://apply.interfolio.com/129812>. If you encounter difficulties with the application process or have any additional questions, please email Autumn Dennis autumnd@wustl.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/14/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12315

Bates College

Rank: Assistant Professor of Politics

The Department of Politics at Bates College invites applications for a tenure-track position in international relations. We look for candidates whose regional expertise is on Europe. We are open to a variety of theoretical and methodological approaches, but we encourage candidates whose disciplinary focus is in the areas of security studies (broadly defined to include interstate and intra-state conflict, human security, and environmental security), environmental politics, or international governance. We are interested in candidates who can enhance the diversity of perspectives in the department, who are excited to contribute to the college's ongoing commitment to social and cultural diversity and inclusion, who are attentive to the design of inclusive pedagogy, and who can connect with other disciplinary and interdisciplinary efforts at the college, especially with the European Studies program.

The duties of this position include the three main areas of faculty work: teaching, professional achievement, and governance and engagement. Applicants should show a strong commitment to excellence in undergraduate teaching, to academic advising, to scholarly research, to the implementation of inclusive pedagogies, and to taking part in our system of governance and engagement. Faculty members teach five courses per year as well as advise individual senior theses. Courses include those required within the major and those that are part of our general education curriculum. The position would start on August 1, 2024.

We strongly encourage applications from individuals with identities that have been historically marginalized in political science, individuals who have followed non-traditional pathways to higher education due to societal, economic, or academic disadvantages, and individuals with a demonstrated capacity to advance the college's continuing commitments to equitable, inclusive, and anti-racist teaching.

About Bates:

Bates College is a residential liberal arts college in Lewiston, Maine. Details about the college and its community can be found here. Lewiston is a diverse and growing city in Maine, two and a half hours north of Boston and 45 minutes from Portland, Maine's largest city.

Bates supports new faculty with a course reduction in the first year of teaching, formal mentoring, and new-faculty development programming. Bates provides tenure-track faculty with a paid pre-tenure leave and support for post-tenure sabbaticals. Faculty scholarship is supported by start-up packages, internal grants, and a robust external grants office. Teaching is supported by a new Center for Inclusive Teaching and Learning. Community-engaged learning and study abroad are encouraged and robustly supported.

Bates is committed to supporting educational access for all. Educational access and justice are central to Bates' history and mission. That work is supported in a variety of ways, including a Schuler Education Foundation Grant to support financial aid for Pell-eligible students, low income, and undocumented students, and a Mellon Foundation Curricular Transformation Grant. Read more about our faculty's commitment to equity and inclusion here.

Qualifications

Candidates should have PhD in hand or close to completion in Political Science or related field.

Application Instructions: Review of applications will begin on September 22, 2023 and continue until the position is filled. Applicants should submit the following: a cover letter addressing interest in the position and Bates College, curriculum vitae, statement discussing teaching philosophy and experience, statement discussing research interests and proposed research program, three confidential letters of recommendation and copies of graduate transcripts. Our vision of success as a department includes the thriving of all students and colleagues. The candidate's past and potential contributions to equity and inclusion, and their capacity to contribute to and expand upon this vision for a thriving department, should be addressed either in a separate, additional document, or integrated into the teaching and research statements.

Employment is contingent upon successful completion of a background check.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 10/1/2023

Date Posted: 8/11/2023

Salary: $80,000 - $89,999

eJobs ID: 12260

Bates College

Rank: Assistant Professor of Politics

The Department of Politics at Bates College invites applications for a tenure-track position in international relations. We look for candidates whose regional expertise is on East Asia. We are open to a variety of theoretical and methodological approaches, but we encourage candidates whose disciplinary focus is in the areas of security studies (broadly defined to include interstate and intra-state conflict, human security, and environmental security), environmental politics, or international governance. We are interested in candidates who can enhance the diversity of perspectives in the department, who are excited to contribute to the college's ongoing commitment to social and cultural diversity and inclusion, who are attentive to the design of inclusive pedagogy, and who can connect with other disciplinary and interdisciplinary efforts at the college, especially with the Asian Studies program.

The duties of this position include the three main areas of faculty work: teaching, professional achievement, and governance and engagement. Applicants should show a strong commitment to excellence in undergraduate teaching, to academic advising, to scholarly research, to the implementation of inclusive pedagogies, and to taking part in our system of governance and engagement. Faculty members teach five courses per year as well as advise individual senior theses. Courses include those required within the major and those that are part of our general education curriculum. The position would start on August 1, 2024.

We strongly encourage applications from individuals with identities that have been historically marginalized in political science, individuals who have followed non-traditional pathways to higher education due to societal, economic, or academic disadvantages, and individuals with a demonstrated capacity to advance the college's continuing commitments to equitable, inclusive, and anti-racist teaching.

About Bates

Bates College is a residential liberal arts college in Lewiston, Maine. Details about the college and its community can be found here. Lewiston is a diverse and growing city in Maine, two and a half hours north of Boston and 45 minutes from Portland, Maine's largest city.

Bates supports new faculty with a course reduction in the first year of teaching, formal mentoring, and new-faculty development programming. Bates provides tenure-track faculty with a paid pre-tenure leave and support for post-tenure sabbaticals. Faculty scholarship is supported by start-up packages, internal grants, and a robust external grants office. Teaching is supported by a new Center for Inclusive Teaching and Learning. Community-engaged learning and study abroad are encouraged and robustly supported.

Bates is committed to supporting educational access for all. Educational access and justice are central to Bates' history and mission. That work is supported in a variety of ways, a SCHULER Education Foundation Grant to support financial aid for Pell-eligible students, low income, and undocumented students, and a Mellon Foundation Curricular Transformation Grant. Read more about our faculty's commitment to equity and inclusion here.

Qualifications

Candidates should have PhD in hand or close to completion in Political Science or related field.

Application Instructions: Review of applications will begin on September 22, 2023 and continue until the position is filled. Applicants should submit the following: a cover letter addressing interest in the position and Bates College, curriculum vitae, statement discussing teaching philosophy and experience, statement discussing research interests and proposed research program, three confidential letters of recommendation and copies of graduate transcripts. Our vision of success as a department includes the thriving of all students and colleagues. The candidate's past and potential contributions to equity and inclusion, and their capacity to contribute to and expand upon this vision for a thriving department, should be addressed either in a separate, additional document, or integrated into the teaching and research statements.

Employment is contingent upon successful completion of a background check.

APPLY HERE: <http://apply.interfolio.com/129067>

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 10/1/2023

Date Posted: 8/11/2023

Salary: $80,000 - $89,999

eJobs ID: 12261

University of Chicago

Rank: Collegiate Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): Public Policy, American Government and Politics, International Relations

Specializations: Political Philosophy & Theory, History & Politics, Quantitative Methods

The College at the University of Chicago is now accepting applications for four-year postdoctoral teaching appointments as Harper and Schmidt Fellows who hold the rank of Collegiate Assistant Professor. Collegiate Assistant Professors are members of the College Faculty whose primary professional responsibility is to teach in the general education (Core) program. <https://college.uchicago.edu/academics/core-curriculum>

Core courses in the Humanities typically deal with fundamental issues and texts in history, philosophy, and literature. Currently, the Core is organized into eight year-long sequences: Readings in World Literature; Human Being and Citizen; Greece and Rome: Texts, Traditions, Transformations; Philosophical Perspectives on the Humanities; Media Aesthetics; Reading Cultures; Poetry and the Human; and Language and the Human. We encourage applicants to spend time reviewing the descriptions and syllabi for Core sequences to understand the distinct topics and approaches and gauge best fit. Descriptions of these courses are available here: <https://college.uchicago.edu/academics/core/humanities-core>

Core courses in the Social Sciences explore, on the basis of significant works or primary source materials, the fundamental concepts and the different modes of inquiry that have defined the social sciences in the modern period. Currently, we are inviting applications for Collegiate Assistant Professors to teach in some of the year-long sequences into which the Core is organized: Self, Culture and Society; Classics of Social and Political Thought; Power, Identity, and Resistance; Democracy: Equality, Liberty and the Dilemma of Self-Governance; Global Society; Mind; and Social Science Inquiry. We encourage applicants to spend time reviewing the descriptions and syllabi for Core sequences to understand the distinct topics and approaches and gauge best fit. Descriptions of these courses are available here: <https://college.uchicago.edu/academics/core/social-sciences-core>

Some Collegiate Assistant Professors also teach in the History of European Civilization Core sequence as well as the Introductions to the Civilizations of East Asian Core sequences. These courses are taught on the basis of intensive readings of significant primary source documents. For descriptions and syllabi of the History of European Civilization and the Civilizations of East Asia sequences see: <https://college.uchicago.edu/academics/core/civilization-studies-core>

The positions are open to scholars in all disciplines and areas of specialization who will have completed all requirements for their Ph.D. degree no later than August 31, 2024. Candidates must demonstrate excellence in teaching as well as in their original scholarship. While many Core sequences feature set reading lists, applicants need not have conventional expertise in the specific texts and topics that are currently taught. Rather, we welcome applicants from a wide variety of disciplinary backgrounds who can apply conceptual and methodological creativity and skill to the teaching of general education courses. Applicants should be prepared 1) to identify and guide students through fundamental questions in a Core sequence and 2) to contribute meaningfully to the instructional community and the curricular evolution for that Core sequence.

In most years, Collegiate Assistant Professors teach two courses (usually of identical preparation) for each of three quarters. In the second through fourth year of residence, each Collegiate Assistant Professor has the opportunity to design up to two independent courses and each is eligible for one quarter of research sabbatical. In the fourth year there is a possibility of another quarter of sabbatical with salary reduction.

The position comes with an annual salary for 2024-25 of $82,571, carries full benefits, and an annual professional development fund of $6,500. The effective date for these teaching appointments is September 1, 2024.

To apply for these positions, please see our web site at <https://fellows.uchicago.edu>.

The terms and conditions of these positions are described in the collective bargaining agreement between the University and the Service Employees International Union.

On-line application deadline: 11:59:59 PM EDT, Friday, October 13, 2023.

All University departments and institutes are charged with building a faculty from a diversity of backgrounds and with diverse viewpoints; with cultivating an inclusive community that values freedom of expression; and with welcoming and supporting all their members.

We seek a diverse pool of applicants who wish to join an academic community that places the highest value on rigorous inquiry and encourages diverse perspectives, experiences, groups of individuals, and ideas to inform and stimulate intellectual challenge, engagement, and exchange. The University's Statements on Diversity are at <https://provost.uchicago.edu/statements-diversity>.

The University of Chicago is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity/Disabled/Veterans Employer and does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national or ethnic origin, age, status as an individual with a disability, protected veteran status, genetic information, or other protected classes under the law. For additional information please see the University's Notice of Nondiscrimination.

Job seekers in need of a reasonable accommodation to complete the application process should call 773-834-0681 or email dneibel@uchicago.edu with their request before the application deadline.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 10/13/2023

Date Posted: 8/11/2023

Salary: $80,000 - $89,999

eJobs ID: 12264

Smith College

Rank: Assistant Professor of Government

The Department of Government (GOV) at Smith College invites applications for a tenure-track position in Comparative Politics and/or International Relations at the rank of Assistant Professor, to begin July 1, 2024.

By time of appointment applicants must have a Ph.D. in Political Science or a closely related discipline (e.g. public policy). The position has a teaching load of 2:2—i.e., four semester-long courses over the academic year. The hire will also be expected to contribute to student learning beyond regular classes through directing student research and Honors Theses, offering independent studies, and helping with departmental administrative, curricular, and advising responsibilities.

Candidates for the position should have regional expertise in the politics of South and/or Southeast Asia. We encourage applications for this position from scholars using a range of methodological approaches and focusing on a variety of topics, including but not limited to: the politics of religion and ethnicity; political violence; political parties and elections; regional security; geopolitical rivalries and regional conflict and cooperation. We anticipate that a successful candidate for this position will be prepared to teach Introduction to Comparative Politics and/or Introduction to International Relations, courses on the politics of South or Southeast Asia or particular countries within those regions, and upper-division courses relating to their area(s) of expertise.

Candidates from groups underrepresented in political science are encouraged to apply. Successful candidates should be prepared to engage actively with diverse students across the liberal arts.

Located in Northampton, MA, Smith College is the largest women's college in the country, dedicated to excellence in teaching and research across the liberal arts. A faculty of outstanding scholars interact with students in small classes, as advisors, and through student-faculty research projects. Smith College offers opportunities to foster faculty success at every career stage, such as those listed here.

The College is a member of the Five College Consortium with Amherst, Hampshire, and Mt. Holyoke Colleges, and the University of Massachusetts Amherst. Students cross-enroll and faculty cross-teach across the Five Colleges. Details about the Department of Government may be found at <https://www.smith.edu/gov/>.

Submit applications at <https://apply.interfolio.com/129477> with a cover letter describing your research and teaching interests, curriculum vitae, teaching statement, diversity/inclusion statement, chapter- or article-length writing sample, and three confidential letters of reference. Finalists may be asked for additional materials. Review of applications will begin October 1, 2023.

As set forth in our mission and values, Smith College is committed to promoting a culture of equity and inclusion among students, staff and faculty. The College will not discriminate in employment on the basis of age, race, color, ethnicity, national origin, creed, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, gender expression, pregnancy, genetic information, age, veteran status, physical or mental disability, or any other classification protected by law. Smith College is an equal opportunity employer and complies with all state and federal laws that prohibit discrimination.

Start Date: Summer 2024

Application Deadline: 10/1/2023

Date Posted: 8/9/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12241

Dickinson College

Rank: Assistant Professor of International Studies (Global Economy)

The Department of International Studies at Dickinson College is seeking applications for a tenure track, assistant professor position beginning in the academic year 2024-25. The position has a five-course teaching load. The successful candidate is expected to teach a section of Global Economy each semester. This course is a required course for the interdisciplinary International Studies major, and it has introductory micro- and macro-economics as prerequisites. The other three courses should be topical electives and/or seminars on issues in the contemporary world economy that must be accessible to non-economics majors. The Department is open to various possibilities, including, but not limited to, topical courses on international development, global energy politics, the economics of world sustainability, global health economics, and the political economy of trade and investment. Candidates should indicate in their letter of application the courses they are prepared to teach. The search committee is especially interested in candidates whose research and teaching interests address issues relevant to the political economy of Africa, Asia, Latin America, or the Global South more generally. A completed or nearly completed PhD in Economics, International Studies, Political Science, Economic History, Public Administration, or a related field is required; in all cases, a strong foundation in international economics is expected.

Applicants should be active scholars with a strong commitment to teaching undergraduate students in an interdisciplinary liberal arts environment. Approximately 90% of International Studies majors at Dickinson College study abroad during their four years – taking advantage of more than fifty study abroad options around the globe. The Department plays an important role in preparing International Studies majors, and Dickinson students more broadly, to meaningfully engage with diverse global perspectives. Colleagues are expected to participate fully in the intellectual life of the department. Furthermore, the ability to create inclusive learning environments for an increasingly diverse student body will be an important characteristic of the successful candidate.

Dickinson College is a selective four-year, independent liberal arts college with 2300 students. It is located 20 minutes west of Harrisburg and is a two-hour drive from Baltimore, Washington D.C., and Philadelphia. Candidates should submit via QUEST (online application system) at <https://jobs.dickinson.edu>. Please include a letter of application, a curriculum vitae, a graduate transcript, three letters of recommendation, a writing sample, a statement of teaching philosophy, sample syllabi and teaching evaluations or other evidence of teaching effectiveness. Address any questions to the search committee chair, Andrew Wolff, at wolffan@dickinson.edu. Review of applications will begin Monday, October 2, 2023.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 10/2/2023

Date Posted: 8/8/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12239

Louisiana State University

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of Political Science of Louisiana State University invites applicants for an Assistant Professor position in International Relations, beginning in the Fall of 2024. Sub-field specialization is open. Pending final approval, the position will be full-time, tenure-track, with a 2-2 teaching load. Candidates should be prepared to teach both undergraduate and graduate courses.

Required Qualifications: Ph.D. in Political Science or related field by the Fall of 2024. Candidates with Ph.D. in hand are preferred, but we will consider those who are close to completion and will finish by the time of the appointment. An active and rigorous research agenda is critical, as well as a commitment to teaching at both the undergraduate and graduate levels. Experience working in and an ability to contribute to a multicultural setting is essential.

Salary for the appointment will be commensurate with educational preparation and experience. Women and minorities are encouraged to apply. LSU is an equal access/equal opportunity employer.

Job Summary:

Tenure-track position that teaches both undergraduate and graduate students, maintains an active research agenda with regular publications, and participates in departmental, college, and university service activities commensurate with rank.

Job Responsibilities:

Teach graduate or undergraduate courses and hold regular office hours. Supervise graduate assistant(s) if assigned. - 50%

Maintain an active research agenda with regular publications. - 50%

Minimum Qualifications:

Ph.D. in Political Science or related or equivalent field.

Special Instructions:

Application materials should include a letter of application stating the candidate's research and teaching interests, a curriculum vitae, a writing sample, a research statement, a teaching statement, any teaching materials (e.g., course evaluations and syllabi), and a diversity statement addressing commitment to inclusivity and support for diverse populations in their past efforts and plans for future inclusiveness in teaching and research. In addition, three current letters of recommendation should be sent directly to Robert Hogan, Chair, Department of Political Science, 240 Stubbs, Louisiana State University, Baton Rouge, LA 70803-5433 or by email to polisci@lsu.edu. Review of applications will begin on September 15, 2023.

Please attach all documents under the "Resume/CV" section of your application. Attachments are limited to five.

Click HERE to apply: https://lsu.wd1.myworkdayjobs.com/LSU/job/0240-WC-Stubbs-Hall/Assistant-Professor_R00084375-1

Posting Date:

August 7, 2023

Closing Date (Open Until Filled if No Date Specified):

Additional Information:

Background Check - An offer of employment is contingent on a satisfactory pre-employment background check.

Benefits - LSU offers outstanding benefits to eligible employees and their dependents including health, life, dental, and vision insurance; flexible spending accounts; retirement options; various leave options; paid holidays; wellness benefits; tuition exemption for qualified positions; training and development opportunities; employee discounts; and more!

Remote Work - Positions approved to work remotely outside the State of Louisiana shall be employed through Louisiana State University's partner, nextSource Workforce Solutions, for Employer of Record Services including but not limited to employment, benefits, payroll, and tax compliance. Positions employed through Employer of Record Services will be offered benefits and retirement as applicable through their provider and will not be eligible for State of Louisiana benefits and retirement.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/7/2023

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 12223

Princeton University

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Associate

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Public Policy

Specializations: Economic Policy, International Political Economy, International Law & Organizations

The Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance (NCGG) at Princeton University's School of Public and International Affairs invites applications for postdoctoral or more senior research associate positions from individuals with a Ph.D. degree or who expect to receive a Ph.D. degree by August 1, 2024, for the 2024-2025 academic year. These awards are designed to promote basic research in the broad areas of international and comparative political economy, international organization and global governance, and globalization. Research on the causes and consequences of globalization, the political economy of foreign trade, monetary and regulatory policies, the sources of international cooperation at the global and regional level, the domestic and international politics of economic development, the political economy of human security issues, the evolution and impact of international institutions, and the politics of international law and human rights policies are of relevance. Outstanding scholars anywhere in the world are eligible to apply. The Center invites candidates with a background in political science, economics, modern history, sociology, anthropology, law, business, and other disciplines bearing on the study of globalization to apply. Selected candidates will be required to be in residence in Princeton or the local vicinity, or demonstrate to the program's satisfaction the ability to be on campus on a daily basis and on short notice in order to fulfill responsibilities relating to in-person participation, office hours, and related activities for the duration of the fellowship (August 1, 2024 - July 1, 2025).

Application Deadline - Applicants should apply by Wednesday, November 1, 2023 (11:59 pm EST) for full consideration; however, posting will remain open until filled.

Application Process - All candidates must use the online application process to submit materials at: <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/30941>.

Applicants are required to hold a Ph.D. or expect to receive a Ph.D. degree by August 1, 2024, in one of the above-mentioned disciplines. To apply, please provide the following:

*Cover letter explaining the candidate's scholarly career, prospective or actual doctoral defense date, and academic interests;

*Current curriculum vitae, including publications;
*2,000-word description of the proposed research project, including its specific objectives, importance, and research design;

*One writing sample (limit of 50 pages);

*Contact information for three references, who will be asked to comment specifically on the applicant's qualifications for the proposed research project. Referees will be contacted directly by email with instructions for submitting a confidential recommendation on your behalf. Letters of reference are to be submitted by the end of business day on Saturday, November 4, 2023. Complete your application well before the deadline so that references can be submitted on time.

Salary - Rank and salary will be contingent on qualifications. NCGG Fellows will receive applicable Princeton University benefits, a taxable moving allowance, and a $5,000 research fund. This is a one-year appointment.

Successful applicants will be notified of the outcome of their application in February 2024. This position is subject to the University's background check policy.

For more information about the Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance fellowship program, please contact Jennifer Bolton, Assistant Director, at jbolton@princeton.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 11/1/2023

Date Posted: 8/7/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12220

Princeton University

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Associate Fellowship Program in Regional Political Economy

The Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance (NCGG) at Princeton University's School of Public and International Affairs invites applications for postdoctoral or more senior research associate positions from individuals with a Ph.D. degree or who expect to receive a Ph.D. degree by August 1, 2024, for the Postdoctoral Fellowship Program in regional political economy for the 2024-2025 academic year. This fellows' program aims to develop a generation of scholars able to analyze and make policy recommendations about the regional political economy in the Middle East, East, South and Southeast Asia, Africa, and Latin America. The Center welcomes applications from candidates with a background in economics, political science, contemporary history, sociology, law, business, and other disciplines bearing on the study of markets, politics, and economic development, focusing on the regions of the Middle East, East, South, or Southeast Asia, Africa and Latin America. Scholarly work should explore the ways in which the politics within and between a set of countries intersect with natural resource endowments, market conditions, technological and physical infrastructure, and cultural biases to explain existing patterns of economic development and promote higher levels of development more effectively. Selected candidates will be required to be in residence in Princeton or the local vicinity, or demonstrate to the program's satisfaction the ability to be on campus on a daily basis and on short notice in order to fulfill responsibilities relating to in-person participation, office hours, and the like for the duration of the fellowship (August 1, 2024 - July 1, 2025).

Application Deadline - Applicants should apply by Wednesday, November 1, 2023 (11:59 pm EST), for full consideration; however, posting will remain open until filled.

Application Process -All candidates must use the online application process to submit materials at: <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/30944>

Applicants are required to hold a Ph.D. in one of the above-mentioned disciplines or expect to receive a Ph.D. by August 1, 2024. To apply, please provide the following:

*Cover letter explaining the candidate's scholarly career, prospective or actual doctoral defense date, and academic interests;

*Current curriculum vitae, including publications;

*2,000-word description of the proposed research project, including its specific objectives, importance, and research design;

*One writing sample (limit of 50 pages);

*Contact information for three references, who will be asked to comment specifically on the applicant's qualifications for the proposed research project. Referees will be contacted directly by email with instructions for submitting a confidential recommendation on your behalf. Letters of reference are to be submitted by the end of business day (5 pm EST) on Saturday, November 4, 2023. Complete your application well before the deadline so that references can be submitted on time.

Salary - Rank and salary will be contingent on qualifications. NCGG Fellows will receive applicable Princeton University benefits, a taxable moving allowance, and a $5,000 research fund. This is a one-year appointment.

Successful applicants will be notified of the outcome of their application in February 2024. This position is subject to the University's background check policy.

For more information about the Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance fellowship program, please contact Jennifer Bolton, Assistant Director, at jbolton@princeton.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 11/1/2023

Date Posted: 8/7/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12218

Princeton University

Rank: Visiting Fellowship Program

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Public Policy

Specializations: Economic Policy, International Political Economy, International Law & Organizations

The Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance (NCGG) at Princeton University's School of Public and International Affairs seeks two or more visitors for the 2024-2025 academic year in the Visiting Fellowship Program. These awards are designed to promote basic research in the broad areas of international and comparative political economy, international organization and global governance, and globalization. Research on the causes and consequences of globalization, the political economy of foreign trade, monetary and regulatory policies, the sources of international cooperation at the global and regional level, the domestic and international politics of economic development, the political economy of human security issues, the evolution and impact of international institutions, and the politics of international law and human rights policies are of relevance.

Outstanding scholars anywhere in the world are eligible to apply. The Center invites candidates with a background in political science, economics, modern history, sociology, anthropology, law, business, and other disciplines bearing on the study of globalization to apply. Fellows will be required to be in residence in Princeton or the local vicinity, or demonstrate to the program's satisfaction the ability to be on campus daily for the duration of the fellowship (expected to be September 1, 2024 - July 1, 2025).

Application Deadline - Applicants should apply by Wednesday, November 1, 2023 (11:59 pm EST) for full consideration; however, posting will remain open until filled.

Application Process - All candidates must use the online application process to submit materials at: <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/31261>

Applicants are required to hold a Ph.D. in one of the above-mentioned disciplines. To apply, please provide the following:

*Cover letter explaining the candidate's scholarly career, prospective or actual doctoral defense date, and academic interests;

*Current curriculum vitae, including publications;

*2,000-word description of the proposed research project, including its specific objectives, importance, and research design;

*One writing sample (limit of 50 pages);

*Contact information for three references, who will be asked to comment specifically on the applicant's qualifications for the proposed research project. Referees will be contacted directly by email with instructions for submitting a confidential recommendation on your behalf. Letters of reference are to be submitted by the end of the business day (5 pm EST) on Saturday, November 4, 2023. Complete your application well before the deadline so that references can be submitted on time.

Candidates who hold positions at academic institutions may also be required to submit:

*Home institution policy with regard to sabbatical pay;

*Selected candidates will be asked to either submit a confidential statement indicating their salary for the current academic year (September 2023 - July 2024) or provide written authorization for Princeton to confirm their salary.

Salary - Rank and salary will be contingent on qualifications. NCGG Fellows will receive applicable Princeton University benefits, reimbursement of travel to/from Princeton, and a $10,000 research fund.

Successful applicants will be notified of the outcome of their application in February 2024.

For more information about the Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance fellowship program, please contact Jennifer Bolton, Assistant Director, at jbolton@princeton.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 11/1/2023

Date Posted: 8/7/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12219

Princeton University

Rank: Visiting Fellowship Program in Regional Political Economy

Specializations: Political Economy, Economic Policy, International Political Economy

The Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance (NCGG) at Princeton University's School of Public and International Affairs seeks two or more candidates for the Visiting Fellowship Program in Regional Political Economy for the 2024-2025 academic year. This fellows' program aims to develop a generation of scholars able to analyze and make policy recommendations about the regional political economy in the Middle East, East, South or Southeast Asia, Africa, and Latin America. Candidates with a background in economics, political science, contemporary history, sociology, law, business, and other disciplines bearing on the study of markets, politics, and economic development, focusing on the regions mentioned above, are invited to apply. Scholarly work should explore the ways in which the politics within and between a set of countries intersect with natural resource endowments, market conditions, technological and physical infrastructure, and cultural biases to explain existing patterns of economic development and to promote higher levels of development more effectively. Fellows will be required to be in residence in Princeton or the local vicinity, or demonstrate to the program's satisfaction the ability to be on campus daily and on short notice, to fulfill responsibilities relating to in-person participation for the duration of the fellowship (expected to be September 1, 2024 - July 1, 2025).

Application Deadline - Applicants should apply by Wednesday, November 1, 2023 (11:59 pm EST), for full consideration; however, posting will remain open until filled.

Application Process -All candidates must use the online application process to submit materials at: <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/31262>.

Applicants are required to hold a Ph.D. in one of the above-mentioned disciplines. To apply, please provide the following:

*Cover letter explaining the candidate's scholarly career, prospective or actual doctoral defense date, and academic interests;

*Current curriculum vitae, including publications;

*2,000-word description of the proposed research project, including its specific objectives, importance, and research design;

*One writing sample (limit of 50 pages);

*Contact information for three references, who will be asked to comment specifically on the applicant's qualifications for the proposed research project. Referees will be contacted directly by email with instructions for submitting a confidential recommendation on your behalf. Letters of reference are to be submitted by the end of the business day (5 pm EST) on Saturday, November 4, 2023. Complete your application well before the deadline so that references can be submitted on time.

Candidates who hold positions at academic institutions may also be required to submit:

*Home institution policy with regard to sabbatical pay;

*Selected candidates will be asked to either submit a confidential statement indicating their salary for the current academic year (September 2023 - July 2024) or provide written authorization for Princeton to confirm their salary.

Salary - Rank and salary will be contingent on qualifications. NCGG Fellows will receive applicable Princeton University benefits, reimbursement of roundtrip travel to/from Princeton, and a $10,000 research fund.

Successful applicants will be notified of the outcome of their application in February 2024.

For more information about the Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance fellowship program, please contact Jennifer Bolton, Assistant Director, at jbolton@princeton.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 11/1/2023

Date Posted: 8/7/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12217

University of Massachusetts, Boston

Rank: Assistant Professor, Critical Security Studies

Subfield(s): International Relations, Political Theory, Comparative Politics

Specializations: Ethnic & Feminist Theory, International Security, Gender Politics & Policy

The Department of Conflict Resolution, Human Security, and Global Governance (CRHSGG) at the University of Massachusetts Boston invites qualified applicants for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position to join our vibrant, interdisciplinary faculty beginning September 1, 2024.

We are seeking a scholar of critical security studies, broadly defined, who can contribute to and strengthen the core curriculum of the graduate programs in Global Governance and Human Security in CRHSGG. We are particularly interested in candidates whose areas of focus include gender, race, and/or decolonial theory. The position is open to scholars from a range of social sciences, including but not limited to political science, geography, sociology, anthropology, and gender studies, who connect questions of global governance with imperatives for human security.

We are open to a variety of areas of topical focus within critical security studies broadly understood, to all research methodological strategies, and to either a regional or global focus that complements existing expertise in the department. Candidates must possess an earned doctorate in a relevant social science discipline by the date of appointment. Candidates should be prepared to teach in the Global Governance and Human Security core. An ability to contribute to other departmental graduate and undergraduate programs, in International Relations, Conflict Resolution, and Global Affairs, is a plus.

UMass Boston is one of the most diverse campuses in the Northeast region of the U.S. and has a well-established commitment to social justice, equity, and inclusion, with an anti-racist and health-promoting mission. We strongly encourage applications from persons with diverse backgrounds and provide equal employment opportunities without regard to race, color, religion, gender, gender identity or expression, age, sexual orientation, national origin, ancestry, disability, military status, or genetic information.

The Department provides a rich environment for interdisciplinary, collaborative research, policy, and practice, and houses multiple degree programs at the graduate and undergraduate levels. The Department also houses two vibrant research Centers (the Center for Peace, Democracy & Development, and the Center for Governance and Sustainability) and has a strong connection with the Center for Women in Public Policy.

To apply, submit through the application portal (<https://employmentopportunities.umb.edu/en-us/job/519911/assistant-professor-conflict-resolution-human-security-and-global-governance>): a cover letter, curriculum vitae, a writing sample, and the names and contact information for three references who may be contacted at later stages of the selection process. Inquiries regarding the position may be directed to the search committee chair, Dr. Jeffrey Pugh, at Jeffrey.Pugh@umb.edu. Review of applications begins on October 1st and will continue until the position is filled. Responses to frequently asked questions and updates on the search will be posted publicly at https://docs.google.com/document/d/1uNGCFC8q4A052y_V4n7ZAS7vQAVEx9pz9-iB8VwNNM/edit?usp=sharing.

UMass Boston is committed to the full inclusion of all qualified individuals. As part of this commitment, we will ensure that persons with disabilities are provided reasonable accommodations for the hiring process. If reasonable accommodation is needed, please contact HRDirect@umb.edu or 617-287-5150.

Start Date: Fall 2024
Application Deadline: 10/1/2023
Date Posted: 8/7/2023
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 12230

Yale University

Rank: Assistant/Associate/Full Professor, Political Science
Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, International Relations
Specializations: American Politics, Political Economy, International Law & Organizations

Position Description

The Department of Political Science at Yale University is seeking to hire several faculty members at the rank of Assistant, Associate, or Full Professor with an appointment in the fields of American Politics, Comparative Politics, Political Economy, and/or International Relations, beginning July 1, 2024. The successful applicant will be expected to teach courses in their substantive area of expertise in political science.

Qualifications

If candidates are appointed at the untenured level, the initial appointment will be for 5 years. The teaching expectation is normally 3 courses per academic year.

Ph.D. or equivalent degree required at time of hire.

Application Instructions

All applications must include a cover letter, CV, and a list of 3 references. Untenured candidates should also supply 3 recommendation letters, 2 writing samples, and separate short (2 pages or less) research and teaching statements. All materials should be uploaded to Interfolio at <http://apply.interfolio.com/129113>. Review of applications will begin September 15, 2023, and to guarantee full consideration your file should be complete by this date.

Please contact Ms. Xaria Callender, Sr. Administrative Assistant for the Political Science Department, at xaria.callender@yale.edu if you have questions about the application process.

Start Date: Fall 2024
Date Posted: 8/7/2023
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 12216

Yale University

Rank: Assistant/Associate/Full Professor, South Asian Politics
Specializations: India, International Law & Organizations, International Political Economy

Position Description

The Department of Political Science at Yale University is seeking to hire a faculty member with expertise in South Asian Politics at the rank of Assistant, Associate, or Full Professor, beginning July 1, 2024. A successful applicant will be expected to teach courses in their substantive area of expertise in political science and courses with a regional focus on South Asia.

Qualifications

If candidates are appointed at the untenured level, the initial appointment will be for 5 years. The teaching expectation is normally 3 courses per academic year.

Ph.D. or equivalent degree required at time of hire.

Application Instructions

All applications must include a cover letter, CV, and a list of 3 references. Untenured candidates should also supply 3 recommendation letters, 2 writing samples, and separate short (2 pages or less) research and teaching statements. All materials should be uploaded to Interfolio at <http://apply.interfolio.com/129098>. Review of applications will begin September 15, 2023, and to guarantee full consideration your file should be complete by this date.

Please contact Ms. Xaria Callender, Sr. Administrative Assistant for the Political Science Department, at xaria.callender@yale.edu if you have questions about the application process.

Start Date: Fall 2024
Application Deadline: 7/31/2024
Date Posted: 8/7/2023
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 12214

Simon Fraser University

Rank: Teaching Faculty Lecturer in International Security, Defence & Diplomacy, with support for the NATO Field School

The Department of Political Science invites applications for a continuing Lecturer position in Defence, Diplomacy, and International Security. This position will provide teaching and support to the NATO Field School (NFS) and contribute to the development of a Security and Defence Engagement program. In addition, the candidate will teach core courses and/or courses in their areas of expertise. The position will start when filled; preferred starting date is January 2024.

Please see the full job ad with affiliated links here: <https://www.sfu.ca/politics/about/jobs/faculty.html>

We seek candidates who have a strong background in Defense, Diplomacy, and/or International Security as well as outstanding teaching skills in a diversity of classroom settings. Relevant experiences in experiential learning (hands-on learning, field exercises, summer schools, simulations, case studies, role-play exercises, peer group learning, etc.) are an asset.

The successful candidate will collaborate with the NFS Director in preparing and teaching the NFS. The NFS is a growing teaching and engagement endeavour with an emphasis on professional placement of its graduates.

Duties

As per the SFUFA Collective Agreement, the standard course load for Teaching Faculty at SFU varies by rank. Lecturers typically teach an equivalent of eight courses annually. This position will likely be paired with an additional service role – involving logistical and administrative tasks to support the NFS – which may reduce the overall teaching load based on the level of support during their appointment in as the NATO FS administrator. It is expected that the successful candidate will contribute to the Department, Faculty, University and to the academic profession through service.

Required Qualifications

- The chosen candidate must hold a PhD in Political Science or in a related field, with teaching experience in Defence, Diplomacy, and/or International Security. Candidates with firm defence dates by Spring 2024 may be considered
- Candidates are expected to show excellence in teaching large classes

Desirable Qualifications

The following attributes will be considered as additional assets for the position:

- Academic expertise in the following areas: NATO; international institutions; diplomacy and negotiations; North American security and defence; Indo-Pacific security and defence; alliances and multilateral security cooperation; Canadian foreign policy; cyber information warfare and artificial intelligence.
- Teaching experience in experiential and engagement courses, including field schools and security simulations for university students.
- Professional experience in defence or international relations
- Research experience and related publications that can inform teaching and enhance the classroom/field school experience is an asset

Candidates must submit the following documents in a single PDF to pol_apply@sfu.ca:

- Cover letter, including academic interests
- Curriculum vitae
- Teaching portfolio demonstrating teaching excellence in experiential learning and simulations
- List of three possible referees, to be contacted if the candidate is short-listed
- Statement on equity, diversity, and inclusion (optional)

Complete applications will be reviewed on a rolling basis as they are received starting 15 September 2023. The deadline to apply is 1 October 2023. Short-listed candidates will be contacted to have three letters of reference forwarded directly to the department.

Simon Fraser University is an institution whose strength is based on our shared commitment to diversity, equity, and inclusion. Diversity is an underlying principle of our Strategic Vision, which pledges SFU to “foster a culture of inclusion and mutual respect, celebrating the diversity reflected among its students, faculty, staff, and our community.” SFU is committed to ensuring that no individual is denied access to employment opportunities for reasons unrelated to ability or qualifications. Consistent with this principle, SFU will advance the interests of underrepresented members of the work force, including Indigenous peoples, persons with disabilities, racialized persons, and women; embrace gender and sexual diversity; ensure that equal opportunity is afforded to all who seek employment at the University; and treat all employees equitably. Candidates that belong to underrepresented groups are particularly encouraged to apply.

SFU is consistently ranked among the top comprehensive universities in Canada and was recently ranked in the top 50 in the world for engaged research. The Department of Political Science at SFU has a growing number of faculty in diverse fields and is strongly supportive of faculty members’ strengths, interests, and career progress. The department strongly believes in methodological pluralism. More information about the department and the university can be found on our website: <http://www.sfu.ca/politics.html>. The campus is located on Burnaby Mountain in Greater Vancouver. Vancouver is a scenic waterfront city located minutes from the mountains and a wide range of outdoor activities. It has a reputation as a clean, safe, multicultural, and ethnically diverse city and is one of the very top cities in the world in which to live and work.

All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply; however, Canadian citizens and permanent residents will be given priority. This position is subject to the availability of funding.

Under the authority of the University Act, personal information that is required by the University for academic appointment competitions will be collected. For further details, refer to the Collection Notice.

Please submit all inquiries and application materials to pol_apply@sfu.ca

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 10/1/2023

Date Posted: 8/4/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12210

University of Central Florida

Rank: Assistant Professor, Associate Professor, or Professor, and Endowed Professor in India Politics and Director of the India Center

Specializations: India, Southeast Asia, South Asia

The School of Politics, Security, and International Affairs (SPSIA) at the University of Central Florida (UCF) invites applications for a full-time, nine-month, tenure-earning advanced assistant professor or tenured associate professor or professor as an endowed position with a focus on politics in India and director of the India Center at UCF. The anticipated starting date is August 2024; however, a starting date of January 2024 is possible.

The ideal candidate will have a recognized research program focused on politics in India, demonstrated commitment to teaching excellence, and leadership experience. As director of the India Center, the successful candidate will be expected to develop programming of interest to the larger university community, engage in community outreach, develop and strengthen partnerships with the community as well as nationally and internationally, supervise the center’s full-time director of Public Affairs, engage in fundraising, work with offices and units across the university, manage the India Center’s budget, and develop curriculum and teach in the area of politics in India, among others. The successful candidate is expected to combine the role of faculty member with that of director of the India Center.

We are especially interested in an individual who can contribute through their research, teaching, mentoring, and service to the excellence of our academic community and foster an environment in which faculty, staff, and students from a variety of backgrounds, cultures, and personal experiences are welcomed and can thrive.

The School of Politics, Security, and International Affairs houses two undergraduate majors, a master’s program in Political Science, and a Ph.D. program in Security Studies. In addition, the school is home to five institutes, programs and centers including the India Center. The mission of the India Center at UCF is to broaden the awareness and understanding of contemporary India. The India Center promotes the study of India's role in the world today through partnerships, scholarship and research, education, and outreach to the Indian community in Florida and nationally. The center aims to serve the broader UCF community. It currently has one full-time director of Public Affairs. For more information, visit <https://sciences.ucf.edu/politics/> and <https://theindiacenter.ucf.edu/>.

The College of Sciences (COS) houses most of the university's natural, computational, and social sciences in eight departments, two schools, and several centers. The college's programs play a key role in advancing UCF as a national research university that is determined to help students from all backgrounds achieve success. For more information, visit <https://sciences.ucf.edu/>.

The University of Central Florida (UCF), located in Orlando, is a metropolitan research university classified as a Very High Research Activity university by the Carnegie Foundation. At UCF, we solve tomorrow's greatest challenges through a commitment to academic and operational excellence. Leveraging innovative learning, discovery, and partnerships, we foster social mobility while developing the skilled talent needed to advance industry for our region, state and beyond. A Hispanic Serving Institution, UCF is home to a diverse student population of over 70,000 students, almost 2,000 faculty, and more than 4,700 staff. UCF is invested in identifying candidates who will contribute to its mission through equity-minded practice and culturally responsive pedagogy. For more information, visit <http://www.ucf.edu>.

Minimum Qualifications: A doctorate in Political Science or a closely related field from an accredited institution by time of application is required. To be eligible for appointment as a tenured associate professor or professor upon hire, the selected candidate must have a demonstrated record of teaching, research, and service commensurate with a tenured faculty appointment at the rank of associate professor or professor.

Preferred Qualifications: Preference will be given to candidates who have a demonstrated interest and experience in developing and leading a program or center and a successful research and teaching record commensurate with their faculty rank.

UCF requires all applications and supporting documents be submitted electronically through the Human Resources employment opportunities website, <https://www.ucf.edu/jobs/>. In addition to the online application, interested candidates should upload the following materials: (1) a current curriculum vitae, (2) a letter detailing your interest in the position, relevant experience including leadership experience, and vision for the India Center; (3) a research statement outlining the research record and future plans (one to two pages); and (4) a teaching statement (one to two pages); and (5) the names and contact information for three professional references.

NOTE: Please have all documents ready when applying so they can be simultaneously uploaded. Once the online submission process is finalized, the system does not allow applicants to submit additional documents later.

Review of applications will begin on September 29, 2023 and continue until the position is filled. For the application to be considered, all materials will need to be uploaded and the application must be complete.

Questions regarding the position should be directed to Dr. Kerstin Hamann, search committee chair, at Kerstin.Hamann@ucf.edu.

Job Close Date: Open until filled.

The University of Central Florida is proud to be a smoke-free campus and an E-Verify employer. Unless explicitly stated on the job posting, it is UCF's expectation that an employee of UCF will reside in Florida as of the date the employment begins.

Additional Requirements related to Research Positions: Pursuant to Florida State Statute 1010.35, prior to offering employment to certain individuals in research-related positions, UCF is required to conduct additional screening. Applicants subject to additional screening include any citizen of a foreign country who is not a permanent resident of the U.S., or who is a citizen or permanent resident but is affiliated with or has had at least 1 year of higher education, employment, or training in China, Cuba, Iran, Russia, North Korea, Syria, or Venezuela.

The additional screening requirements only apply to employment in research-related positions, including, but not limited to faculty positions.

Equal Employment Opportunity Statement: As an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer, UCF encourages all qualified applicants to apply, including women, veterans, individuals with disabilities, and members of traditionally underrepresented populations. UCF's Equal Opportunity Statement can be viewed at <http://www.oie.ucf.edu/documents/PresidentsStatement.pdf>.

As a Florida public university, UCF makes all application materials and selection procedures available to the public upon request.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/4/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12209

Northwestern University

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor in Political Science (2023-24), International Relations and U.S. Foreign Policy

Subfield(s): International Relations, Methodology, Open

Specializations: Foreign Policy, International Security, International Political Economy

To apply, please complete the following form and upload your application dossier here: https://app.smartsheet.com/b/form/463ea03dad5344b38ae0e98bf0b96825>APPLICATION PORTAL

The Department of Political Science at Northwestern invites applications for a Visiting Assistant Professor (VAP) in the field of International Relations, with a preference for candidates with experience teaching Introduction to International Relations &/or Introduction to Comparative Politics, U.S. Foreign Policy, National Security, Globalization, Environmental Politics, International Relations Theory, or related subjects. This is a one-year position with the possibility of renewal for the 2024-25 academic year. We seek a teacher-scholar with a Ph.D. degree in political science. ABD candidates nearing completion of their degree requirement will be considered in the search. Successful candidates for the position will teach six courses, distributed across three quarters that comprise Northwestern's academic calendar. Candidates are welcome to teach 6 unique courses, but applicants should expect to prepare no more than 4 courses, including at least one quarter of an introductory course.

Excellent candidates for this position will be able to teach an introductory undergraduate course in the field of International Relations as well as more advanced courses in the candidate's area of expertise.

The Visiting Assistant Professor will have additional opportunities for teaching and research collaboration with the Institute for Policy Research, the Weinberg College Center for International and Area Studies, the Center for the Study of Diversity and Democracy, and the Buffett Institute for Global Affairs, the Global Poverty Research Lab, among other regional and thematic clusters related to the candidate's expertise.

Review will begin immediately and continue until the position is filled. Applications received by Friday, August 18th will receive full consideration.

To apply, please complete the following form and upload your application dossier.

Required Materials:

Curriculum Vitae
 Graduate Program Transcripts (unofficial welcome)
 Research Statement
 Teaching Statement
 Evidence of Teaching Effectiveness
 List of at least 3 references with contact information

For inquiries about the job advertisement or application, please reach out to Stephen Monteiro, Business Administrator in the Department of Political Science, by email: stephen.monteiro@northwestern.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/3/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12206

Webster University

Rank: Assistant Professor in National Security Studies

Position: Assistant Professor in National Security Studies

Department: History, Politics, and International Relations

Starting date: August 2024

Qualifications: PhD in International Relations or Political Science with an emphasis in National Security or International Security Studies

Duties: Duties of the position include: teaching in, overseeing, and building the profile of our M.A. in National Security Studies program; teaching courses in International Security and International Relations at the graduate and undergraduate levels; and contributing to the field of national security studies through research and/or service. Applicants with research and teaching expertise in the field of Eastern Europe, Russia, or the former Soviet Republics are especially welcome.

To apply, visit <https://recruiting.adp.com/srccar/public/RTI.home?r=5000974090206&c=1180715&d=ExternalCareerSite&rb=jolephant>

Applicants should submit: (1) a letter of interest that addresses qualifications and fit to the position. (2) a curriculum vitae, (3) evidence of teaching effectiveness, and (4) three letters of reference. Please have your reference writers submit the letters of reference to the Chair of the Department at robbieotoole@webster.edu.

Additional materials may be requested at a later date.

Review of applications will begin immediately and continue until the position is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/3/2023

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 12207

London School of Economics

Rank: Assistant Professor in International Relations Theory

Based in the Department of International Relations, the post holder will contribute to the intellectual life of the School through conducting and publishing outstanding quality research, engaging in high quality teaching as instructed by the Head of Department, and participating in the School and wider Department activities.

All candidates must have expertise and research interests in International Relations Theory or International Relations, and ideally in the areas of race, Indigeneity, postcolonialism or decoloniality. They must show a clear and viable strategy for future top-quality research. The successful candidate must be able to teach undergraduate and post-graduate courses on International Relations Theory and International Relations.

Candidates will need a completed PhD, or be close to obtaining one, in International Relations, Political Science, or a related field by 2 September 2024. Candidates should also have a proven or developing record of publications in refereed international journals or with highly-respected book publishers based on research that is, or has the potential to be, internationally-excellent and, ideally, world-leading in terms of originality, significance and rigour.

The Department is committed to promoting diversity in the field of International Relations, by fostering and supporting new generations of scholars from diverse backgrounds, by teaching an innovative, inclusive and diverse curriculum, and by supporting an inclusive departmental research culture. To that end, a candidate's cover letter must include a 300-word statement on how they incorporate diversity in their teaching and professional practice.

In addition to a competitive salary the benefits that come with this job include an occupational pension scheme, a research incentive scheme with personal reward options, generous research leave (sabbatical) entitlement, a collegial faculty environment and excellent support, training and development opportunities.

The post will start on 2 September 2024.

To view the job description, person specification and details on how to apply, please visit:

<https://jobs.lse.ac.uk/Vacancies/W/1870/0/400119/15539/assistant-professor-in-international-relations-theory>

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 9/10/2023

Date Posted: 8/2/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12198

Knox College

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science & International Relations

The Department of Political Science & International Relations at Knox College invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track appointment as Assistant Professor of Political Science & International Relations, to begin September 1, 2024. We seek applications from international relations scholars and are open to specialization within the IR field.

Knox College, established in 1837, is an independent, selective liberal arts institution with a mission of access, a diverse student body, and a strong commitment to undergraduate teaching. We are particularly interested in creative, energetic teachers of undergraduate students who can contribute to Knox College's considerable diversity and reflect that diversity in their teaching, mentoring, and research. With over 35% of the student body identifying as U.S. students of color and more than 15% international students, the College seeks courses appealing and welcoming to all of Knox's students.

The position involves a six-course teaching load (two courses in each of three 10-week terms) that includes introductory, intermediate, and advanced courses in international relations, as well as other courses that are within the candidate's area of expertise and that contribute to the general liberal arts curriculum.

Our department covers diverse areas in our teaching and research methods and interests, to which an ideal candidate will contribute. The candidate we hire will have substantial autonomy to revise our long-standing and popular International Relations major around their own set of specializations and priorities.

Knox College provides a competitive salary and a strong benefit package including health, dental, vision and life insurance, and access to a retirement plan; a tuition remission benefit is available after a two-year waiting period. Additional information can be found on our Human Resources webpage at <https://www.knox.edu/offices/human-resources/employee-benefits-and-forms>.

Qualifications: Ph.D. is expected at the time of appointment, but exceptional ABD candidates will be considered.

Candidates should submit:

- A cover letter that addresses the qualifications listed above, including the candidate's research interests, teaching interests, and approach to teaching a diverse community of undergraduate students
- Curriculum vitae
- Unofficial graduate transcript
- Three letters of recommendation

Additional materials may be requested at a later date.

Submission via Interfolio: <http://apply.interfolio.com/128895>

Review of applications will begin on September 12, 2023 and continue until the position is filled.

Questions may be addressed to: klstewart@knox.edu

Start Date: Fall 2024

Date Posted: 7/28/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12161

Providence College

Rank: African Politics - Assistant Professor of International Relations/Comparative Politics

The Political Science Department at Providence College invites applications for a tenure-track position at the assistant professor level, in the field of African Politics, grounded in perspectives from either International Relations or Comparative Politics. The field of "African Politics" is understood broadly by our Department, and we welcome applicants across a range of methodologies and substantive interests, such as, for example, contemporary Africa in geopolitical context; ancient, colonial, and modern political systems; colonial and post-colonial conflict, institutions, and practices; state-building, democratization, partisan mobilization, and social movements; internal migration, immigration, and emigration; security challenges and conflict resolution; natural resource and environmental politics; national and regional political economy; gender, health, education, labor, and social policy; or other Africa-centered topics. Geographically, we welcome candidates who focus on any of the continent's nations or regions, or those who work within a pan-African framework.

Teaching Responsibilities: The normal teaching load will be three courses per semester, with class sizes of 12 to 25 students. Core assignments each year will include African Politics and one or more of the following: Introduction to International Relations, Introduction to Comparative Politics, Introduction to Politics, or Research Methods. We keep our curriculum fresh by giving colleagues the opportunity to design new lecture, seminar, and research courses in areas which reflect their particular interests and expertise. In all cases, faculty enjoy substantial autonomy in the design and content of courses.

Research Expectations and Support: Our political science faculty are respected scholars with active research agendas who provide generous professional advice and mentoring for junior colleagues. Other support for research includes College-sponsored research grants, grant writing assistance, conference and research travel funds, individual discretionary funds, access to research librarians and other library resources, undergraduate research assistants, and opportunities for collaboration with faculty at other Rhode Island universities including, for example, Brown University, the University of Rhode Island, and Roger Williams University.

Our Political Science Department has fourteen full-time faculty members who are known for effective teaching, grounded in cutting-edge scholarship. They research and teach about politics in the U.S. and other regions, with particular strengths in East Asia, Latin America, and the Middle East. We offer a wide portfolio of courses, including many which are cross-listed in other Arts and Sciences departments and programs including Black Studies, Women's and Gender Studies, Global Studies, Latin American and Latina/o Studies, Asian and Asian American Studies, American Studies, Public and Community Service Studies, Public Administration, Communication, and the College's newest interdisciplinary program—Middle East Studies. Political science faculty frequently direct interdisciplinary programs like these, and teach in the Liberal Arts Honors and Development of Western Civilization programs. Within the political science profession our colleagues are well-known participants and leaders in the American, Western, New England, Midwest, and Northeastern political science associations, as well as the Latin American Studies Association, National Conference of Black Political Scientists, International Studies Association, and International Political Science Association. We author scholarly books and research articles at premier journals and academic presses, publish op-eds in local and regional newspapers, and frequently appear as expert analysts for New England's print, broadcast, and online news media.

Providence College is located in the City of Providence—the capital of the State of Rhode Island (“The Ocean State”), and the third-largest city in New England. Founded in 1636, Providence is one of North America's oldest European settler cities. Nearby Pawtucket, RI, was the birthplace of the American Industrial Revolution in 1793, and Providence has long welcomed immigrant populations, most recently from West Africa, Latin America, and Southeast Asia. Providence is a majority-minority city, and more than 30% of its 2020 population was foreign-born. At present, the state's largest foreign-born African-descent populations come from Cape Verde, Nigeria, and Liberia. The Providence metropolitan area's population of 1.7 million is served by many retail, restaurant, and professional enterprises, as well as churches and social service organizations, established within these African immigrant communities. The city's annual calendar is filled with diverse ethnic and cultural festivals, while a vibrant arts scene is anchored by world-class galleries, museums, live theater, performances across music genres and traditions, and film festivals. Located on the main highway and rail corridors serving the northeastern United States—I-95 and Amtrak's Northeast Corridor—Providence is also connected to Boston via MBTA commuter rail, to New York via frequent rail and air service, and to the rest of the world via T.F. Green International Airport, with more than 100 daily nonstop flights to and from Atlanta, Baltimore, Charleston, Charlotte, Chicago, Cincinnati, Detroit, Ft. Lauderdale, Jacksonville, Los Angeles, Miami, Minneapolis St. Paul, Nashville, New York City, Newark, Norfolk, Orlando, Philadelphia, Richmond, Tampa, Washington, D.C.—and Santo Domingo, DR.

Salary, Benefits, and Resources: The position offers very competitive salary and benefits, generous annual and step salary increases, and campus amenities including fitness center, swimming pool and athletic facilities, free on-campus parking, chapels and meditation spaces, and information technology resources including MacOS and Windows desktop systems on secure campus networks. NOTE: If appropriate, Providence College will file a petition for an Employment-Based Immigrant Visa, in Category H-1B, once a final job offer is tendered and accepted.

How to Apply: Applicants should possess a PhD in political science (or be very close to completion), and will be asked to demonstrate evidence of the potential for teaching excellence, strong research skills, and potential for continued research productivity. Apply online at <https://careers.providence.edu> where you will submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, three letters of recommendation, teaching materials, and one or more samples of scholarly writing, either published or unpublished.

For additional information, please contact Dr. Tony Affigne, chair of the search committee, at affigne@providence.edu or Dr. Matt Guardino, department chair, at mguardin@providence.edu. NOTE: search committee members will be hosting optional informational interviews at APSA in Los Angeles, and prospective applicants who wish to schedule an informational interview during the conference are encouraged to contact us no later than August 15. Those unable to attend the conference may contact Dr. Affigne to schedule a remote informational interview.

Deadline: For full consideration, your completed application should be submitted no later than October 1, 2023. Review of applications will commence as they are received, and will continue until the position is filled. We anticipate completing on-campus interviews by December 8, and making a final decision by early January 2024.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 10/1/2023

Date Posted: 7/28/2023

Salary: $70,000 - $79,999

eJobs ID: 12170

University of North Carolina, Charlotte

Rank: Postdoctoral Researcher

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Methodology, International Relations

We invite applications for a postdoctoral research position with strong data analysis and management skills to work on a multi-year project on “Collective Shocks and Social Preferences” led by Professors James Walsh and Alexander Kustov at the University of North Carolina at Charlotte.

The project examines how people's social preferences, such as altruism and trust, are affected by negative collective shocks such as wars, natural disasters, or economic disruptions. Some studies find that these shocks make people more prosocial, but others find that they reduce cooperation. Since most of this research focuses on just one region or outcome, it is hard to know whether the results are generalizable. To address this question, the project aims to create a comprehensive cross-national time-series dataset on various shocks and preferences at the subnational level.

The postdoctoral position is a full-time research-focused role to lead the construction of the dataset for the project. The role includes:

- * Leading the data collection and management efforts needed to construct the original dataset, including cross-national surveys on social preferences and administrative data on collective shocks.
- * Conducting and publishing high-quality research in close collaboration and under the guidance of project leaders.
- * Dedicating time to personal research as part of the position (approximately 40%).
- * Participating in the broader intellectual life of the Department of Political Science and Public Administration, and the interdisciplinary Public Policy and Data Science programs.

The Postdoctoral appointee must have recently (within the last eight years) been awarded a Ph.D. or equivalent doctorate. Strong training and skills in quantitative data analysis in R is required. Preference will be given to applicants with demonstrated skills in one or more of the following areas: data management, survey methodology, multilevel regression, causal inference, machine learning, cross-national research. Preference is also given to applicants with research interests in one or more of the following areas related to the project: conflict and cooperation, political economy, political psychology, state capacity, social preferences, migration.

Postdoc appointments are characterized by all of the following conditions:

- * the appointee was recently (within the last eight years) awarded a Ph.D. or equivalent doctorate (e.g., Sc.D., M.D.);
- * the appointment is temporary;
- * the appointment involves substantially full-time research or scholarship;
- * the appointment is viewed as preparatory for a full-time academic and/or research career;

- * the appointee works under the supervision of a faculty member; and
- * the appointee has the freedom and is expected to publish the results of his or her research or scholarship during the period of appointment.

Screening of applicants will begin on August 15, 2023 and continue until the position is filled. The position is renewable based on performance. For further information, please contact James Walsh (jwalsh@charlotte.edu) and Alexander Kustov (akustov@charlotte.edu).

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/28/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12171

S. Rajaratnam School of International Studies

Rank: Assistant or Associate Professor in Strategic Studies / International Relations (Tenure-Track/Tenured)

Subfield(s): International Relations, Open, Other

S. Rajaratnam School of International Studies

Assistant or Associate Professor in Strategic Studies / International Relations (Tenure-Track/Tenured)

The S. Rajaratnam School of International Studies (RSIS) at Nanyang Technological University, Singapore, is seeking to appoint Assistant or Associate Professor in Strategic Studies (2 positions) and Assistant or Associate Professor in International Relations (1 position). Applications are welcome from both early career and established scholars. We are open regarding specific areas of research and teaching specialisation. As the School has previously recruited experts in international relations of China and South Asia, it does not require experts in these areas at the moment.

The successful candidates will be expected to be conceptually and empirically grounded in their own areas of specialisations; to demonstrate an active research and publication agenda; to teach, supervise, and examine in either Strategic Studies or International Relations at the graduate level; to contribute to the administrative work of the School; and to provide teaching and pastoral support to students.

A relevant PhD and a good publication record commensurate with the level of appointment are essential requirements. Candidates must submit evidence of demonstrated excellence in teaching. If successful, the candidate will teach up to 3 courses per year, including one core course for either the MSc in Strategic Studies (Analysis of Defence and Security Policies or Evolution of Strategic Thought) or MSc in International Relations (Study of International Relations) programme depending on their specialisation.

To apply for this position, candidates are required to submit their application via Nanyang Technological University's online application system, click on this link to access - https://ntu.wd3.myworkdayjobs.com/Careers/job/NTU-Main-Campus-Singapore/Assistant-or-Associate-Professor-in-Strategic-Studies---International-Relations---Tenure-Track-Tenured---RSIS--_R00013946

All applicants should submit the following:

1. A cover letter specifying how your qualifications match the job description;
2. A detailed curriculum vitae (including records of competitive grants, fellowships, and graduate supervision, if applicable);

3. Statements of research and teaching interests and teaching evaluation;
4. Three (3) published articles or writing samples;
5. Google Scholar citation report if available;

Applicants applying for the Assistant Professor position, please include the name and details of THREE referees of the rank of Associate Professor/Professor; and applicants applying for the Associate Professor position, please include the name and details of FOUR referees of the rank of Professor.

If you have any questions about this position, please write in (or email) to:

The Search Committee
S. Rajaratnam School of International Studies
Nanyang Technological University
50 Nanyang Avenue
Block S4, Level B4,
Singapore 639798
Email: rsisrecruitment@ntu.edu.sg

Applications will close on 15 November 2023.

We regret that only shortlisted candidates will be notified.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 11/15/2023

Date Posted: 7/25/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12143

San Diego State University

Rank: Politics of East Asia

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Other

The Political Science Department at San Diego State University invites applications for a tenure-track position in East Asian Politics at the rank of Assistant Professor, to begin Fall 2024. Applicants should demonstrate a well-developed research agenda, a promise of sustained scholarship, and a record of effective teaching.

Qualifications

The department seeks a scholar with research and teaching expertise in the politics of East Asia, broadly understood to encompass North-east and Southeast Asia. We are open to applications from scholars in both comparative politics and international relations whose research is focused on one or more countries in the region. The successful candidate's research may focus on any of a range of substantive topics – including but not limited to, democratization, political economy, state-society relations, and foreign policy – and should demonstrate a capacity to engage with normative issues underlying critical debates in the field. The candidate would be expected to work closely with the program on International Security and Conflict Resolution and the Center for Asian & Pacific Studies. The department is open to a diversity of theoretical and methodological approaches.

The Political Science Department at San Diego State is dedicated to the ideal of the engaged teacher-scholar. It has over 600 undergraduate majors and provides course offerings for students with a wide variety of backgrounds and interests. At the graduate level, the department maintains an M.A. program of high quality. The members of the faculty share a strong commitment to collegiality, active participation in the governing of the department, innovative scholarship, methodological pluralism, rigorous teaching, and robust intellectual and normative engagement. Candidates are encouraged to consult the department website: <http://politicalscience.sdsu.edu>.

We are seeking applicants with demonstrated experience in and/or commitment to teaching and working effectively with individuals from diverse backgrounds and members of underrepresented groups. Candidates must satisfy two or more of the eight Building on Inclusive Excellence (BIE) criteria. Candidates that meet BIE criteria: (a) are committed to engaging in service with underrepresented populations within the discipline, (b) have demonstrated knowledge of barriers for underrepresented students and faculty within the discipline, (c) have experience or have demonstrated commitment to teaching and mentoring underrepresented students, (d) have experience or have demonstrated commitment to integrating understanding of underrepresented populations and communities into research, (e) have experience in or have demonstrated commitment to extending knowledge of opportunities and challenges in achieving artistic/scholarly success to members of an underrepresented group, (f) have experience in or have demonstrated commitment to research that engages underrepresented communities, (g) have expertise or demonstrated commitment to developing expertise in cross-cultural communication and collaboration, and/or (h) have research interests that contribute to diversity and equal opportunity in higher education. Please indicate in a separate diversity statement how you meet at least two (2) of these criteria. Additional guidance on our BIE program for applicants is here.

SDSU is the oldest institution of higher education in the San Diego region, with a campus in San Diego serving 36,000 undergraduate and graduate students and additional locations in Southern California's Imperial Valley and Tbilisi in the Republic of Georgia. SDSU is included in the Carnegie Foundation's Doctoral Universities: High Research Activity category. Established in 1897, SDSU offers bachelor degrees in 97 areas, masters in 84 and doctorates in 23. See <http://www.sdsu.edu> for more information. SDSU is a large, diverse, urban university, an Asian-Native American-Pacific Islander-Serving Institution and a Hispanic-Serving Institution with a commitment to diversity, equity, and inclusive excellence. Our campus community is diverse in many ways, including race, religion, color, sex, age, disability, marital status, sexual orientation, gender identity and expression, national origin, pregnancy, medical condition, and covered veteran status. We strive to build and sustain a welcoming environment for all.

Application Instructions

Applicants must apply via Interfolio at <http://apply.interfolio.com/127871>. A completed file includes a letter of interest, a curriculum vitae, graduate transcripts, complete teaching evaluations (quantitative evaluations and complete sets of qualitative evaluations of recent courses), sample syllabi, academic writing samples, diversity statement, and three letters of recommendation. To ensure full consideration, submit all materials by September 21st, 2023. Screening of applications will begin then. Applicants who will have completed the Ph.D. by the start of the term of appointment will be given priority. Those without a Ph.D. in-hand should include in their letter of interest a statement of progress on the dissertation and reasons to expect completion in a timely fashion.

Further inquiries should be addressed to Farid Abdel-Nour, Chair of the Department of Political Science, at abdelnou@sdsu.edu.

The minimum salary for this position is based on the current CSU salary schedule for Assistant Professors and may be revised based on contract collective bargaining. The anticipated salary range is from $79,000 to $83,000. Salary placement will be based on the selected candidate's qualifications and experience, and salaries higher than the published maximums may be offered in limited circumstances. San Diego State University offers a rich benefits package that constitutes a major portion of total compensation. For benefits information, click here.

As part of its commitment to a safe and equitable "OneSDSU" community, SDSU requires that individuals seeking faculty employment provide at the time of application authorization to conduct background checks if they become a finalist for the position; applications without this authorization will be considered incomplete and not considered.

A background check (including a criminal records check) must be completed before any candidate can be offered a position with the CSU. Failure to satisfactorily complete the background check may affect the application status of applicants or continued employment of current CSU employees who apply for the position.

The person holding this position is considered a "mandated reporter" under the California Child Abuse and Neglect Reporting Act and is required to comply with the requirements set forth in CSU Executive Order 1083 as a condition of employment.

Equal Employment Opportunity Statement

SDSU is a Title IX, equal opportunity employer and does not discriminate against persons on the basis of race, religion, national origin, sexual orientation, gender, gender identity and expression, marital status, age, disability, pregnancy, medical condition, or covered veteran status.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 9/21/2023

Date Posted: 7/24/2023

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 12136

Rice University

Rank: Associate or Full Professor of Political Science

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, International Relations

The Department of Political Science at Rice University, located in Houston, Texas, invites applications for an associate or full professor to begin July 1, 2024. Associate and full professors are expected to teach undergraduate and graduate courses, mentor students, perform research in their specialized area, and contribute to department and university service and leadership. Therefore, successful candidates will have an active research program, a record of publication and external funding commensurate with the proposed rank, and a record of excellence in teaching, mentoring, and service/leadership. Candidates must have a Ph.D in political science or a related field.

The position is open with regard to research specialty, but we are particularly interested in candidates who connect to our areas of departmental strength in democratic political representation (U.S. or comparative), international security, and/or quantitative methods.

Rice University and the Department of Political Science are committed to building and sustaining an inclusive, diverse environment for our faculty, staff, and students. We encourage applications from individuals who have been historically underrepresented in academia, including people of color, LGBTQI+ people, women, and people with disabilities. We strive to counter prejudice actively and to create a working environment that is inclusive and equitable.

The application deadline is October 1, 2023. A complete application must include a letter of application; a curriculum vitae; research, teaching, DEI, and leadership/service statements; two writing samples; evidence of teaching effectiveness; and contact information for three references. References will be contacted for a subset of candidates. All applications should be submitted electronically at apply.in-terfolio.com/128783.

Start Date: Summer 2024

Application Deadline: 10/1/2023

Date Posted: 7/21/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12132

CUNY-Baruch College

Rank: Assistant Professor - International Security

Subfield(s): International Relations, Public Policy, American Government and Politics

The Austin W. Marxe School of Public and International Affairs at Baruch College invites applications for an Assistant Professor (Marxe School), tenure track, with a specialization in international security and technology. Areas of policy research could address cyber conflict, disinformation, military uses of AI, hybrid warfare, weapons proliferation, and other national security and global security challenges of the 21st century. Teaching responsibilities will include electives in a new Global Security concentration and core courses in the Master of International Affairs (MIA) program.

This position is part of an interdisciplinary cluster of new faculty across the College studying data science. Faculty in this cluster will prepare students to understand the threats and opportunities of the digital world. They will form an interdisciplinary data analytics group that will conduct high level research while simultaneously suffusing data science across all areas of the Baruch curriculum to improve student employment prospects.

Compensation and Benefits:

90,134 - 99,532; Commensurate with qualifications and experience. CUNY offers faculty a competitive compensation and benefits package covering health insurance, pension and retirement benefits, paid parental leave, and savings programs. We also provide mentoring and support for research, scholarship, and publication as part of our commitment to ongoing faculty professional development.

Qualifications:

Ph.D. degree in area(s) of experience or equivalent. Also required are the ability to teach successfully, demonstrated scholarship or achievement, and ability to cooperate with others for the good of the institution.

How to apply:

Go to the CUNY website cuny.jobs to see the complete position description and job requirements in CUNYFirst under Job Opening ID #27080. You can view and apply for this job in CUNYFirst via the following direct link to the posting <https://cuny.jobs/new-york-ny/assistant-professor-of-policy-cyber-security/85CF44B277D7485D89E11ED06ABE4027/job/>

Candidate should provide:

- Cover letter explaining your interest in the position
- Curriculum vitae
- One recent scholarly publication or paper
- Statement of scholarship interest (1 page maximum)
- A narrative statement describing your commitment to working effectively with faculty, staff, and students in a multicultural/multiethnic urban campus environment with a substantial population of students who are among the first-generation of their family to attend a college or university. (1 page maximum)
- Reference list with contact information

Closing Date:

This position will be open until filled and review of applications will start on October 1, 2023.

EEO Statement:

CUNY encourages people with disabilities, minorities, veterans and women to apply. At CUNY, Italian Americans are also included among our protected groups. Applicants and employees will not be discriminated against on the basis of any legally protected category, including sexual orientation or gender identity. EEO/AA/Vet/Disability Employer.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/20/2023

Salary: $90,000 - $99,999

eJobs ID: 12119

University of Maryland, Baltimore County

Rank: Assistant Professor of International Relations with Focus on China, East Asian International Relations, and International Political Economy

Specializations: China, East Asia, Political Economy

The Department of Political Science at the University of Maryland, Baltimore County (UMBC) invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position in international relations with a specialization in China, East Asian international relations, and international political economy, beginning in August 2024. UMBC is a Carnegie Research 1, community-engaged, minority-serving institution focused on inclusive excellence.

This job is one of four positions in a cluster hire in Asian Studies. UMBC is searching in 2023-2024 for Asian Studies specialists, in Ancient Studies, History, Philosophy, and Political Science. Faculty hired as part of the cluster will have opportunities to collaborate across disciplines and develop alongside a cohort of new faculty members with an interest in Asian Studies. Though the new faculty members will be housed in their respective academic departments, they will also be affiliate faculty in, and contribute to the success, of, the interdisciplinary Asian Studies Program at UMBC through their course offerings, participation in research seminars, and engagement with Asia-related programming on campus.

Preference will be given to candidates who have a Ph.D. in political science/international relations, or will have a Ph.D. in hand by August 2024. Applicants must provide evidence of a focused, ambitious research agenda and a commitment to excellent undergraduate teaching. Candidates must also describe how their research, teaching, and/or life experiences contribute to “inclusive excellence.”

such as their ability to work with underserved and diverse populations and their capacity to respond in pedagogically productive ways to the competence, aspirations, and needs of students from diverse backgrounds. The successful candidate will teach two introductory sections of International Relations (counting as two courses) and upper-level undergraduate courses in Chinese politics and foreign policy, East Asian international relations, and international political economy. The annual teaching load is five courses.

For best consideration, applicants should submit their applications by October 15, 2023, using Interfolio: <https://apply.interfolio.com/127984>

Please provide a cover letter, a CV, a statement of your research agenda; a statement of your teaching philosophy; a statement of your commitment to diversity, equity, and inclusion; up to two publications of other writing samples; two sample course syllabi; and three letters of reference. Questions should be addressed to either of the search co-chairs, Dr. Cynthia Hody (hody@umbc.edu) and Dr. Devin T. Hagerty (dhagerty@umbc.edu), using the subject line "POLI Search".

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 10/15/2023

Date Posted: 7/12/2023

Salary: $80,000 - $89,999

eJobs ID: 12088

Stanford University

Rank: International Relations, Open Rank Faculty Position in Political Science

International Relations, Open Rank Faculty Position in Political Science

The Department of Political Science at Stanford University is seeking applications for an open rank, tenure line position in international relations.

Candidates for an untenured position at the rank of assistant professor must have a PhD or be enrolled in a PhD program or equivalent international degree-granting program at the time of application, with expected degree completion by date of appointment as an assistant professor. Candidates should demonstrate evidence of a creative research trajectory and a commitment to excellence in teaching at both graduate and undergraduate levels. Untenured applicants should send a cover letter, CV, research statement, teaching evaluations, Ph.D. program transcripts, and a writing sample along with at least three professional letters of recommendation.

Candidates for a tenured position at the rank of associate or full professor must have a conferred PhD or equivalent international degree. Candidates should demonstrate substantial evidence of a creative research career, impact on his or her field of study, and a commitment to excellence in teaching and advising students at both graduate and undergraduate levels. Tenured applicants should send a letter of interest, CV, research statement, and teaching evaluations.

The Department of Political Science, School of Humanities and Sciences and Stanford University value faculty who will help foster an inclusive academic environment for colleagues, students, and staff with a wide range of backgrounds, identities, and outlooks. Candidates may choose to include as part of their research and teaching statements a brief discussion about how their work and experience will further these ideals. Additional information about Stanford's IDEAL initiative may be found here: <https://ideal.stanford.edu/about-ideal/diversity-statement>.

Review of applications will begin on September 5, 2023 but applications may be considered after that date. Application materials must be submitted on-line via <https://facultypositions.stanford.edu>.

Consistent with its obligations under the law, the University will provide reasonable accommodation to any employee with a disability who requires accommodation to perform the essential functions of his or her job.

Stanford is an equal employment opportunity and affirmative action employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law.

Stanford welcomes applications from all who would bring additional dimensions to the University's research, teaching, and clinical missions.

The salary range for this position is $135,620-$361,647 for 2023-24.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 10/15/2023

Date Posted: 7/11/2023

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 12084

Williams College

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

The Political Science Department at Williams College is seeking an Assistant Professor of Political Science with scholarly expertise in African or South Asian politics. We seek a colleague who has a record of excellence in research and is committed to inclusive undergraduate education in the classroom. This tenure track appointment will begin in the 2024-2025 academic year. We welcome applications from members of groups traditionally underrepresented in the field. Candidates should have the Ph.D. completed by June 2024.

Application items should include: a cover letter detailing scholarly interests as well as teaching experience; a curriculum vitae; a writing sample of only one article or chapter; and three letters of recommendation. We ask you to write in your cover letter about your ability to work effectively with a student population that is broadly diverse with regard to gender, race, ethnicity, nationality, sexual orientation, and religion. Candidates invited to the first round of (zoom) interviews will be asked at that time to provide sample syllabi and evidence of teaching effectiveness.

The deadline for the submission of applications is September 15th. All application materials should be submitted through Interfolio [<http://apply.interfolio.com/127266>]. Fax and email applications will not be accepted. Inquiries may be sent to Sarah Campbell-Copp at sjc2@williams.edu. All offers of employment are contingent upon completion of a background check. Further information is available here: <https://faculty.williams.edu/prospective-faculty/background-check-policy/>

Williams College is a liberal arts institution located in the Berkshire Hills of western Massachusetts. The college has built its reputation on outstanding teaching and scholarship and on the academic excellence of its approximately 2,000 students. Please visit the Williams College website (<http://www.williams.edu>) to learn more about the College and in particular its professional development resources for faculty. Beyond meeting fully its legal obligations for non-discrimination, Williams College is committed to building a diverse and inclusive community where members from all backgrounds can live, learn, and thrive.

Start Date: Summer 2024
Application Deadline: 9/15/2023
Date Posted: 6/21/2023
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 12043

Hampden-Sydney College

Rank: Assistant Professor/Comparative Politics
Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Open
Specializations: Middle East, East Asia, Latin American

Hampden-Sydney College invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track appointment at the rank of Assistant Professor within the Department of Government and Foreign Affairs to begin in the fall of 2024. Candidates should be broadly trained in the foundations of political thought and have teaching interests in comparative politics and institutions. An ability to teach in at least one regional area--Middle East, East Asia, Latin America, etc.--is expected. The willingness to offer courses on global or regional policymaking in a specialized area is also welcomed. The successful applicant may participate in the college-wide Core Cultures program and teach, as needed, introductory courses in world politics. Faculty teach on a three-year course load rotation with six courses per year for two years and seven courses in the third year.

Hampden-Sydney College highly values the teacher/scholar model. Successful applicants will have a record of effective classroom teaching, a commitment to scholarly productivity, and a willingness to work with colleagues on professional service responsibilities. Applicants should have a Ph.D. in political science or a comparable degree by the time of appointment.

Please submit a letter of application, curriculum vitae, teaching statement, research statement, and three letters of reference to Dr. Celia Carroll Jones, Chair, Department of Government and Foreign Affairs, Hampden-Sydney College via Interfolio: <http://apply.interfolio.com/122859>. Review of applications will begin in October 2023 and continue until the position is filled. Application Deadline: September 30, 2023.

Hampden-Sydney College is a selective liberal arts institution enrolling approximately 1000 students. Founded in 1775, it is the tenth oldest institution of higher learning in the United States. Hampden-Sydney is one of three liberal arts colleges in the United States dedicated to the education of men. Our mission is to educate "good men and good citizens in an atmosphere of sound learning."

Our beautiful 1300-acre campus is less than 7 miles from downtown Farmville, home to Longwood University and the Moton Museum, which is listed on the U.S. Civil Rights Trail. The campus is located 65 miles west of Richmond, 50 miles east of Lynchburg, and 75 miles south of Charlottesville, providing abundant cultural, recreational and artistic resources. As a community, we are dedicated to the goal of building a culturally diverse faculty committed to working in a multicultural environment and strongly encourage applications from women and minoritized groups. Hampden-Sydney College values diversity, prohibits discrimination, and is committed to equal opportunity for all employees and applicants for employment.

Start Date: Fall 2024
Application Deadline: 9/30/2023
Date Posted: 6/15/2023
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 11861

Macalester College

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of Political Science seeks candidates for a full-time, tenure-track position at the level of Assistant Professor to begin in August 2024. We invite applications from International Relations scholars with a primary teaching and research emphasis in the subfield of global political economy. The successful candidate will contribute to the undergraduate curriculum by teaching Foundations of International Relations, an intermediate-level course on global political economy and electives in at least one of the following additional areas: postcolonial studies; critical international theory; Indigenous international relations; the international politics of migration; race and international relations; Global IR; or non-Western European approaches to international relations.

The teaching load is five courses per year. We welcome candidates whose teaching and scholarly interests can build bridges to other disciplines or Macalester's interdisciplinary departments and concentrations, such as International Studies, Asian Studies, Middle Eastern Studies and Islamic Civilization, Community and Global Health, Environmental Studies, Urban Studies and Women, Gender and Sexuality Studies.

Applicants should submit a cover letter that includes a statement of interest in Macalester and discusses demonstrated activity and contributions to diversity, equity and inclusion initiatives in their teaching, advising, mentorship, curriculum, scholarship, service or community and professional engagement. Strong candidates will have experience and vision regarding teaching and mentorship of students of multiple and diverse backgrounds with attention to structural barriers that limit access to educational opportunities.

Applications should also include a curriculum vitae; a statement of teaching interests and philosophy, a research statement, an example of recent scholarship, evidence of effective teaching (e.g. sample syllabi, course evaluations, comments in reference letters), and three reference letters.

Teaching Statements should include:

-Teaching philosophy and statement of effective strategies for teaching and learning; -Experience teaching, advising, or mentoring undergraduate students; -Applied knowledge of supporting students of diverse backgrounds, interests, or prior experience with international relations coursework

Research Statements should include:

-Research specialization in international relations; -Commitment to and interest in maintaining an active research agenda; -Understanding of scholarly research in a liberal arts college and support of undergraduate student research;

All materials (cover letter, CV, teaching statement, research statement, research sample, evidence of effective teaching, and three reference letters) must be submitted to Academic Jobs Online. Inquiries can be directed to Professor Lesley Lavery, Chair of Political Science, llavery@macalester.edu. Applications received by October 1, 2023 will be granted full review.

Macalester is a highly selective, private liberal arts college in the vibrant Minneapolis-Saint Paul metropolitan area, with a population of approximately three million people and home to numerous colleges and universities, including the University of Minnesota. Macalester's diverse student body comprises over 2000 undergraduates from all 50 states and the District of Columbia and 99 countries. The College maintains a longstanding commitment to academic excellence with a special emphasis on internationalism, multiculturalism, and service to society. As an Equal Opportunity employer supportive of affirmative efforts to achieve diversity among its faculty, Macalester College strongly encourages applications from women and members of under-represented minority groups. International scholars will receive H-1B visa assistance if selected for this position.

Please note that candidates who are invited for a campus interview will be required to complete faculty screening questions, and offers of employment are contingent upon a successful criminal background check at the time of offer. Additionally, finalist candidates will be asked for additional references.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 10/1/2023

Date Posted: 6/15/2023

Salary: $70,000 - $79,999

eJobs ID: 12028

University of Michigan, Ann Arbor

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

Subfield(s): Methodology, International Relations, Comparative Politics

Specializations: Political Behavior, Political Economy, Race & Ethnic Politics

The Department of Political Science at the University of Michigan is conducting an Assistant Professor search.

The full job posting can be found below and at: https://careers.umich.edu/job_detail/235272/asst-professor

How to Apply

All applications must be submitted electronically to <https://apply.interfolio.com/126053>

Applicants should include the following application materials in PDF format: a cover letter, curriculum vitae, a concise statement describing current and future plans for research, a statement of teaching philosophy and experience, evidence of teaching excellence (if any), writing samples, graduate transcripts, and a statement of activities contributing to diversity, equity, and inclusion in academia. Applications should also submit three letters of recommendation.

Summary

The University of Michigan's Department of Political Science invites applications from outstanding candidates for a tenure track position for a scholar who combines advanced skills in Methods of Causal Inference, Big Data, Computational Social Science, Data Science, and/or Field Experiments, open with respect to substantive interest; the department has specific interests in international political economy, comparative developing countries, and political behavior in race and ethnic politics.

This position is at the assistant professor rank and is a university year appointment. It is anticipated to begin August 26, 2024. Promise of excellence in research and teaching is required.

Application Instructions

Applicants should include the following application materials in PDF format: a cover letter, curriculum vitae, a concise statement describing current and future plans for research, a statement of teaching philosophy and experience, evidence of teaching excellence (if any), writing samples, graduate transcripts, and a statement of activities contributing to diversity, equity, and inclusion in academia. Applications should also submit three letters of recommendation. Information on our research initiatives and scholarly interests of current faculty can be found on the Department's website: <https://lsa.umich.edu/polisci>.

For full consideration, complete applications should be submitted by August 31, 2023.

The University of Michigan conducts background checks on all job candidates and may use a third-party administrator to conduct background checks. Background checks will be performed in compliance with the Fair Credit Reporting Act and offers for this appointment are contingent on successful completion of a background screening.

The University of Michigan is committed to fostering and maintaining a diverse work culture that respects the rights of each individual, without regard to race, color, national origin, ancestry, religious creed, sex, gender identity, sexual orientation, gender expression, height, weight, marital status, disability, medical condition, age, or veteran status. The University of Michigan is supportive of the needs of dual career couples and is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer. Women and minorities are encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 8/31/2023

Date Posted: 6/7/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12007

Hampden-Sydney College

Rank: Assistant Professor/International Law & IR

Subfield(s): International Relations, Political Theory, Other

Specializations: International Law & Organizations, International Security, Normative Political Theory

Hampden-Sydney College invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track appointment at the rank of Assistant Professor within the Department of Government and Foreign Affairs to begin in the fall of 2024. Candidates should have expertise in the history and development of international law, theories of international relations, and the role of the U.S. Constitution in foreign affairs. The ability to teach courses in regional or global policymaking is also welcome. The successful applicant may participate in the college-wide Core Cultures program and teach, as needed, introductory courses in world politics. Faculty teach on a three-year course load rotation with six courses per year for two years and seven courses in the third year.

Hampden-Sydney College highly values the teacher/scholar model. Successful applicants will have a record of effective classroom teaching, a commitment to scholarly productivity, and the willingness to work with colleagues on professional service responsibilities. Applicants should have a Ph.D. in political science or comparable degree by the time of appointment.

Please submit a letter of application, curriculum vitae, teaching statement, research statement, and three letters of reference to Dr. Celia Carroll Jones, Chair, Department of Government and Foreign Affairs, Hampden-Sydney College via Interfolio. Review of applications will begin in fall 2023; application deadline is September 10, 2023.

Hampden-Sydney College is a selective liberal arts institution enrolling approximately 1000 students. Founded in 1775, it is the tenth oldest institution of higher learning in the United States and one of four liberal arts colleges in the United States dedicated to the education of men. Our mission is to educate “good men and good citizens in an atmosphere of sound learning.”

Our beautiful 1300-acre campus is less than 7 miles from downtown Farmville, home to Longwood University and the Moton Museum, which is listed on the U.S. Civil Rights Trail. The campus is located 65 miles west of Richmond, 50 miles east of Lynchburg, and 75 miles south of Charlottesville, providing abundant cultural, recreational and artistic resources. As a community, we are dedicated to the goal of building a culturally diverse faculty committed to working in a multicultural environment and strongly encourage applications from women and minoritized groups. Hampden-Sydney College values diversity, prohibits discrimination, and is committed to equal opportunity for all employees and applicants for employment.

Start Date: Fall 2024
Application Deadline: 9/10/2023
Date Posted: 5/31/2023
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 11994

Hampden-Sydney College

Rank: Assistant Professor/International Organization & European Politics

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Open
Specializations: International Law & Organizations, Western Europe, Post Communist Europe

Hampden-Sydney College invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track appointment at the rank of Assistant Professor within the Department of Government and Foreign Affairs to begin in the fall of 2024. Candidates should have expertise in the development of international organization as well as research and teaching interests in European politics. The ability to offer courses on global and regional policymaking is a plus. The successful applicant will participate in the college-wide Core Cultures program and teach, as needed, introductory courses in world politics. Faculty teach on a three-year course load rotation with six courses per year for two years and seven courses in the third year.

Hampden-Sydney College highly values the teacher/scholar model. Successful applicants will have a record of effective classroom teaching, a commitment to scholarly productivity, and a willingness to work with colleagues on professional service responsibilities. Applicants should have a Ph.D. in political science by the time of appointment.

Please submit a letter of application, curriculum vitae, teaching statement, research statement, and three letters of reference to Dr. Celia

Carroll Jones, Chair, Department of Government and Foreign Affairs, Hampden-Sydney College via Interfolio. Review of applications will begin in the fall of 2023 and continue until the position is filled. Application Deadline: October 20, 2023.

Hampden-Sydney College is a selective liberal arts institution enrolling approximately 1000 students. Founded in 1775, it is the tenth oldest institution of higher learning in the United States and one of four liberal arts colleges in the United States dedicated to the education of men. Our mission is to educate “good men and good citizens in an atmosphere of sound learning.”

Our beautiful 1300-acre campus is less than 7 miles from downtown Farmville, home to Longwood University and the Moton Museum, which is listed on the U.S. Civil Rights Trail. The campus is located 65 miles west of Richmond, 50 miles east of Lynchburg, and 75 miles south of Charlottesville, providing abundant cultural, recreational and artistic resources. As a community, we are dedicated to the goal of building a culturally diverse faculty committed to working in a multicultural environment and strongly encourage applications from women and minoritized groups. Hampden-Sydney College values diversity, prohibits discrimination, and is committed to equal opportunity for all employees and applicants for employment.

Start Date: Fall 2023
Application Deadline: 10/20/2023
Date Posted: 5/31/2023
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 11995

Massachusetts Institute of Technology

Rank: Director of Research and Principal Research Scientist

DIRECTOR OF RESEARCH / PRINCIPAL RESEARCH SCIENTIST, MIT Center for International Studies, will be responsible for overseeing research activities, data administration, visiting scholar engagement and fellowships. Research activities will include grant- and visitor-related research activities and engagements hosted by the Center, including the review and oversight of various awards. The individual will also maintain an active research agenda related to the mission of the Center. The Director of Research will report directly to the Center Director to develop a strategic approach to research initiatives and in consultation with other Center leadership to disseminate key findings to the MIT and broader communities.

Minimum Required Education And Experience:
 Ph.D. in a social science field related to international affairs and a strong record of scholarly publication appropriate for number of years since receipt of the degree. At least two years of experience studying, working, and/or conducting research overseas. Minimum of 2 years of experience as a researcher at research universities or other research organizations (external to the candidate’s PhD-granting institution).

The individual may need to travel up to 6 weeks / year for research, conferences, and exchanges. The individual may need to work up to 15 additional days and/ or nights/year for special events, workshops, etc.

Deals with confidential information and/or issues using discretion and judgment.

Preferred Education And Experience:
 Fluency in at least one foreign language. Advanced quantitative analysis and/or GIS analysis skills. Experience developing databases.

To be considered for this position, application material must be submitted by September 30, 2023

Please apply here: <https://bit.ly/22478-DoR-PRS><https://bit.ly/22478-DoR-PRS>

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 3/30/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 11839

University of Kentucky

Rank: Teaching Post-Doctoral Scholar

The Department of Political Science in the College of Arts and Sciences at the University of Kentucky in Lexington, KY, invites applications for a teaching post-doc position in International Relations or Comparative Politics. We are particularly interested in candidates who can contribute to the diversity and inclusion mission of the department. The position will begin August 1, 2023. Applicants are expected to teach a 3/3 load. Applicants should show strong potential to provide effective undergraduate teaching and have a Ph.D. in Political Science in hand by August 2023.

Interested applicants should apply online at: <https://ukjobs.uky.edu/postings/457530>. Applicants should submit the following: 1) curriculum vitae, 2) letter stating the candidate's research and teaching interests (uploaded as Cover Letter), 3) copy of transcript for highest degree earned, and 4) evidence of teaching experience, particularly syllabi from courses taught (uploaded as specific request 1). Provide the names and contact information for three references when prompted in the academic profile. This information may be used to solicit recommendation letters from your references within the employment system.

Questions about this position should be addressed to Dr. Emily Bacchus, Associate Chair, Department of Political Science, University of Kentucky (emily.beaulieu@uky.edu).

The University of Kentucky is an Equal Opportunity Employer and encourages applications from veterans, individuals with disabilities, women, African Americans, and all minorities.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 3/27/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 11837

Yale University

Rank: International Relations Lecturer

Position Description

The Department of Political Science at Yale University invites applications for a 1-year visiting lecturer in the area of international relations. Responsibilities will be to teach 3 or 4 courses in AY 23-24, of which at least one course is an entry- or mid-level lecture. One course may be a graduate course depending on departmental need.

Evidence of teaching effectiveness is appreciated, including, for example, course evaluations, syllabi, and as communicated in the requested letters of recommendation.

Qualifications

Candidates must have PhD degree in hand or evidence that they have completed all requirements to be awarded the degree by September 1, 2023.

Application Instructions

Applications will be considered beginning March 22, 2023. Complete applications should include a cover letter, teaching statement, CV, graduate transcript, 2 letters of recommendation, and one piece of scholarly writing related to the general area in which you will teach.

Application may be submitted via: apply.interfolio.com/121544

Questions may be directed to xaria.callender@yale.edu, Chair's Assistant.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 2/22/2024

Date Posted: 2/22/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 11745

Johns Hopkins University

Rank: Adjunct Faculty: Intelligence Analysis

Subfield(s): International Relations, American Government and Politics, Other

Specializations: Intelligence, Defense, International Security

Johns Hopkins University: Zanvyl Krieger School of Arts and Sciences: Advanced Academic Programs

Location:

Washington, DC or Online (Remote)

Open Date:

Feb 01, 2023

POSITION:

Adjunct Faculty, Intelligence Analysis

Krieger School of Arts and Sciences

Advanced Academic Programs

INSTITUTION:

Johns Hopkins University

Institution Description:

The Advanced Academic Programs (AAP) is a division of the Krieger School of Arts and Sciences at the Johns Hopkins University (JHU). As the nation's oldest and one of the most prestigious research universities, Johns Hopkins offers high-quality master's degrees and post-baccalaureate education to students in the mid-Atlantic region and online. In addition to the online programs, AAP also offers master's degrees and graduate certificate programs at its Washington, DC Center and at the Homewood campus in Baltimore, MD. AAP has approximately 18,000 enrollments each academic year. JHU is committed to hiring candidates who, through their teaching and service, will contribute to the diversity and excellence of the academic community.

Position Description:

The Advanced Academic Programs (AAP) division seeks non-tenure track adjunct faculty to teach several courses within the MS in Intelligence Analysis program. The course(s) will be taught fully online beginning in Summer 2023 and beyond. Candidates with online course development and teaching experience and those with experience teaching and engaging students from diverse backgrounds are of particular interest. We are looking for faculty who can teach one or more of the following courses:

473.600 the Art and Practice of Intelligence

This course introduces students to the field of intelligence, particularly as practiced in the United States. After a brief overview of the historical foundations of modern intelligence, it discusses how intelligence is conducted including collection, analysis, counterintelligence, covert action, and oversight. It also discusses intelligence ethics, as well as the disruptive influences of September 11, new technologies, and emerging social trends.

473.602 Intelligence Analysis

Intelligence analysis is fundamentally about understanding and communicating to decision makers what is known, not known, and surmised, as it can best be determined. Students will read seminal texts on intelligence analysis, discuss the complex cognitive, psychological, organizational, ethical, and legal issues surrounding intelligence analysis now and, in the past, and apply analytic methodologies to real-world problems.

473.604 Advanced Critical Thinking and Analysis

Critical thinking involves the methods and principles of correct reasoning and argumentation. Students will apply a combination of logic, critical thinking skills, and structured analytical techniques to identify biases, promote self-reflective reasoning, and improve the quality of intelligence analysis. Using a selection of empirical case studies and operational exemplars, students will conduct a comparative assessment of analytical outcomes based on the application of course learnings versus outcomes derived in their absence.

473.607 Intelligence Ethics

This course will address the ethical dilemmas and issues that challenge intelligence and government decision makers in an increasingly complex operational and technological environment. We will examine basic moral, ethical and privacy considerations at several key points in intelligence operations from collection to covert action. The course will analyze the evolving nature of privacy concerns worldwide, with an emphasis on the balance between individual rights and national security. Students will examine the policy implications inherent in seeking to address these tensions.

473.606 Legal Issues in Intelligence

This class will examine the interplay between the laws and the practices and policies of the United States' Intelligence Community and national security system, both foreign and domestic. While discussion of the history of intelligence activities and laws dating from the origins of our colonial days will necessarily shape the framework of the class, the focus shall particularly be on current debates and challenges faced by the United States in the 21st Century.

473.800 Research Seminar

This course will introduce a variety of research, analytical, and statistical methods intended to provide a basis for designing a research project, including an introduction to quantitative, qualitative, and mixed method research design. Within the context of the course, students will complete foundational work for the capstone project, including identifying and accessing relevant primary and secondary source data, surveying and evaluating the literature, and framing a research question based on the intersection of empirical studies and organizational needs. Attention will be given to the unique restrictions placed on research design and publication within the intelligence community.

473.801 Capstone: Current Issues in Intelligence

In this culminating course, students complete an independent, faculty-approved project that will address a substantive or methodological challenge in intelligence analysis. A successful capstone will include research that provides evidence of the student's mastery of the theoretical knowledge and analytical skills central to the degree's learning outcomes. The capstone provides an opportunity to apply the skills acquired throughout the program to a key challenge facing their organization or community. Students will conduct a literature review, select a research method appropriate to their study, analyze data using qualitative or quantitative methods in their capstone project, and propose and defend their findings.

Minimum Qualifications:

- An advanced degree in any relevant field, with a master's degree at minimum.
- At least five years of professional work experience within the intelligence field.

Preferred Qualifications:

- A terminal degree in international relations, global security studies, political science, history, or in a relevant field related to intelligence.
- A scholar-practitioner background and publications in the field.
- 1-3 years of graduate level teaching experience.
- Leadership experience within the US Intelligence Community.
- Online teaching experience.
- Experience in developing graduate courses.
- The background to teach a wide variety of courses in an intelligence analysis program.
- Strong interest in advising graduate students interested in an intelligence career.

Application Instructions

The position will remain open until filled. For best consideration, please apply by April 1 2023.

Candidates must submit the following:

- Cover letter should indicate the course or courses you're interested in teaching plus your experience with online learning management systems (i.e., Canvas)
- Curriculum vitae
- Teaching evaluations for two most recently taught courses
- Transcript from highest degree earned
- The selected candidate will undergo a background check and provide three references.

APPLY HERE: <https://apply.interfolio.com/120762>

Start Date: Summer 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 2/1/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 11649

University of Florida

Rank: Lecturer

The International Studies Program at the University of Florida (UF), College of Liberal Arts and Sciences, invites applications for a full-time, non-tenure track appointment at the rank of Lecturer. Applicants should focus regionally on the Middle East and/or North Africa, and topically in the areas of global health, governance, civil society, data and public policy, sustainable development, or related subjects.

The International Studies program is a dynamic interdisciplinary major at UF that prepares students for careers in global affairs, international business, research organizations, and other careers by providing foreign language skills, regional cultural awareness, and informed knowledge of critical international issues in global and local context. The International Studies Program is housed in UF's Bob Graham Center for Public Service. The Graham Center prepares students to engage in their communities, to influence policy, and to interact with lawmakers through the Center's public programs, special projects, academic coursework, and research initiatives. The successful candidate will join a collaborative and inclusive team dedicated to promoting the ideals of civic engagement, public leadership, and public service at the local, national, and global levels.

The Lecturer will teach two courses per semester and provide substantial service. Of those courses, it is expected that two will be regularly offered core courses for the International Studies Program: 1) an introductory course in International Studies (INS3004: International Studies Perspectives); and 2) a senior capstone course for majors (INS4930: Senior Research Seminar in International Studies). The remainder of courses taught will correspond to the Lecturer's specialization. Outside of teaching, the Lecturer will serve as the Experiential Learning Coordinator for the International Studies Program, partnering with other programs at UF to identify and develop opportunities for internships, study abroad experiences, and student research. The exact balance between service and teaching duties will depend on the needs of the program and will be determined on an annual basis.

Lecturers are highly valued by the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences and by the University of Florida. To encourage and facilitate the professional development of lecturers, the university provides opportunities for promotion from the ranks of Lecturer to Senior Lecturer and Master Lecturer. Lecturer appointments are typically for nine months per year and are annually renewable.

The International Studies Program and the Bob Graham Center are committed to fostering an environment that affirms diversity across a variety of dimensions including ethnicity/race, gender identity and expression. We particularly welcome applicants who can contribute to developing such an environment through their scholarship, teaching, mentoring, and professional service.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 1/3/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 11562

METHODOLOGY

University of Texas, Tyler

Rank: Assistant or Associate Professor of Political Science

Specializations: Congress, Quantitative Methods, Legislative Studies

The Department of Political Science at the University of Texas at Tyler invites applications for a tenure track Assistant or Associate Professor position specializing in American politics. The successful candidate will teach courses on Campaign Politics, Congress, and Research Methods and will be responsible for the Center for Public Opinion Research, an in-house polling center, whose results have been published state and nationwide in the past. The successful candidate will join an academically vibrant community, making impactful contributions to teaching, research, and community service.

Job responsibilities include a 3/3 course load at the undergraduate and graduate level with a possibility of release times for running the Center for Public Opinion Research. The successful candidate should have an earned Ph.D. in Political Science and should demonstrate the ability to teach undergraduate and graduate courses, maintain a record of research, advise students, and serve the department, college, and university. Salary is competitive and based upon experience.

Situated approximately ninety minutes to the east of Dallas/Ft. Worth, Tyler is a growing city with a population exceeding 100,000 residents. Serving as a pivotal educational institution in the area, The University of Texas at Tyler accommodates over 10,000 students and stands prominently as the central hub for cultural and academic pursuits in the region.

Qualified candidates may apply at <https://www.uttyler.edu/human-resources/prospective-employees/>. Please submit a letter of application, detailing teaching and research interests, curriculum vitae, unofficial transcripts, and the names of three references all in one document. Review of applications begins the week of October 30, 2023, and will continue until the position is filled.

The successful applicant must be able to demonstrate eligibility to work in the United States. This position is security-sensitive and subject to Texas Education Code Section 51.215, which authorizes the employer to obtain criminal history record information. The University of Texas at Tyler is an Equal Employment Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer. All qualified applications will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, national origin, age, sexual orientation, gender identity, status as a protected veteran, among other things, or status as a qualified individual with disability. Women, minorities, protected veterans, and individuals with disabilities are encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 10/30/2023

Date Posted: 9/26/2023

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 12613

Duke Kunshan University

Rank: Faculty Position in Environmental Policy

Specializations: Environmental Policy, Quantitative Methods, Research Methods

Duke Kunshan University (DKU) invites applications for a faculty position in environmental public policy to begin in the academic year 2024-2025. The successful candidate will be appointed jointly in DKU's undergraduate program and related graduate program, the International Master of Environmental Policy. We seek candidates with strong quantitative skills. Teaching a graduate course entitled "Statistics and Program Evaluation" is required of the successful candidate. Candidates employing computational methods in their research are especially encouraged to apply. This call is open with regard to rank, including tenured and tenure track positions.

In order to meet Chinese visa requirements, prior to the position start date international (non-Chinese) candidates must have worked full-time (work experience obtained while studying full-time is not considered as full-time work experience) for at least two years in a relevant area (including post-doctoral work) after receiving their Bachelor's degree, or begin their appointment at DKU within 12 months of obtaining their master's degree/Ph.D. and without having work experience between graduation date on master's degree diploma/Ph.D. diploma and position start date.

DKU is a collaborative partnership of Duke University, Wuhan University and the Municipality of Kunshan, China (<https://dukekunshan.edu.cn/>). Our campus provides an innovative and robustly interdisciplinary undergraduate liberal arts experience to a student body that will number 2000 students and 150+ faculty, with an acceptance rate of <8% and a student body represented by over 60 countries. We also offer a discrete number of Master's level graduate programs. The DKU pedagogical model draws on the best of Duke's educational experience and resources to reimagine undergraduate instruction on an intimate campus setting.

Similar to the best liberal arts colleges in the United States, DKU values dedication to teaching excellence in a liberal arts environment, as well as a strong commitment to successful scholarly engagement and research. This includes research with undergraduate students. As a whole, the Duke Kunshan faculty will have strong commitments to teaching and research, and outstanding quality in both areas will be highly valued.

Candidates must hold a Ph.D. degree or equivalent in a relevant field. Research experience at a postdoctoral level (or greater) and teaching experience are desirable, as is experience working in an interdisciplinary setting. Applicants should provide a cover letter including a clear statement of the candidate's specific interest in DKU, a curriculum vitae, a research statement, a teaching statement, and three reference letters. All materials should be submitted through Academic Jobs Online: <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/25838>. The search committee also invites and encourages letters of nomination for potential candidates. Nominations and questions about the positions may be sent to social-science-search@dukekunshan.edu.cn using the subject "Environmental Public Policy" as the subject line. Priority will be given to applications received by October 27, 2023; we will accept applications until the positions are filled.

The DKU campus is 37 miles west of Shanghai in Kunshan, and is connected to Shanghai via an 18-minute high-speed train and a subway-light rail train system. DKU provides internationally competitive compensation, housing allowance, child education benefits (for applicable faculty positions), and a discretionary fund or start-up package.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/23/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12597

Whitman College

Rank: Assistant Professor of Politics (Global Environmental)

Specializations: Environmental Policy, Race & Ethnic Politics, Gender Politics & Policy

Located in the vibrant community of Walla Walla, WA, Whitman College is home to an intellectually diverse, dynamic, and supportive community of some 500 staff and faculty serving roughly 1,500 students from the local region and across the globe. With exceptional students, accomplished faculty and staff, and engaged alumni, Whitman College continues to build on its national reputation for academic excellence as one of the top undergraduate, liberal arts colleges in the country.

The Department of Politics seeks applicants for a Tenure-Track position beginning August 2024 with expertise in Global Environmental Politics, broadly conceived, at the rank of assistant professor. Applicants must have a Ph.D. at the start of the position. We welcome applicants from a variety of disciplinary homes. The successful applicant will offer courses of their own design in support of the Politics and ES-Politics majors, including a mix of introductory courses and advanced seminars, and contribute to the College's general education requirements. Areas of scholarly interest and expertise might include global perspectives on: environmental racism; Environmental Justice; Political Ecology; decolonial strategies; plantations; land grabs; climate change and migration; urban environmental politics; conservation politics; climate governance; political thought and the environment; agriculture and food sovereignty. We are particularly interested in candidates whose research centers the Global South as a political category.

Our department takes a transdisciplinary approach to the study of politics, with a strong commitment to methodological pluralism and diverse modes of scholarship, including scholar-activism, community-based research, and other kinds of public-facing research. In addition to the College's vibrant and growing Environmental Studies program, the candidate would have the opportunity to contribute to interdisciplinary programs such as Indigeneity, Race and Ethnicity Studies; Gender Studies; Asian and Middle Eastern Studies; and the Center for Global Studies, or to new emerging curricular formations.

The College provides a generous pre-tenure sabbatical leave program and professional development support for both research and teaching. The successful candidate will demonstrate potential to sustain an active scholarly or creative research agenda and to participate in faculty governance, mentorship, or other forms of service that contribute to the overall functioning of the college.

Whitman College is committed to fostering an inclusive learning community that values diverse identities, experiences, and perspectives. In the cover letter, candidates should describe their interest in teaching undergraduates, majors as well as non-majors, at all levels of instruction. In doing so, candidates should address how their lived experiences and classroom and scholarly practices will advance equity and inclusion in the learning environment and help Whitman promote antiracist, systemic change.

To apply, go to <https://apply.interfolio.com/132680>. The online application will prompt you to submit all of the required materials: a cover letter; curriculum vitae; separate statements addressing the candidate's teaching interests and scholarly agenda; graduate transcripts; and evidence of demonstrated or potential excellence in undergraduate instruction. The committee will solicit three letters of recommendation from applicants who reach the interview stage.

Review of applications will begin November 6, 2023

Salary Range: $74,000-$82,000

Whitman College offers a competitive benefits package that is designed to attract qualified candidates and retain talented employees. Full-time employees enjoy the following benefits: Medical/Dental/Vision Insurances; basic life, accidental death and dismemberment and long term disability insurances with the capability to elect additional voluntary coverage; 403(b) Defined Contribution Retirement Plan with a 10% matching contribution after eligibility requirements are met; Tuition Remission – Dependent Children, after eligibility requirements; employee tuition waiver for one Whitman course per semester; and an Employee Assistance Program. New faculty receive reimbursement for moving expenses based on the distance of relocation and are compensated $1,500 for attending a required New Faculty Orientation.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/20/2023

Salary: $70,000 - $79,999

eJobs ID: 12571

Carnegie Mellon University

Rank: International Relations & Emerging Technologies-Multiple Faculty Lines

Subfield(s): International Relations, Methodology, Open

Carnegie Mellon University (CMU) has launched a major new initiative devoted to the wise development, use and governance of new and emerging technologies that are changing the national and international security landscape. As part of this forward-looking enterprise, the university seeks top tenure-line scholars in political science, international relations, and other related disciplines with established interest in emerging technologies relevant to international affairs.

We seek scholars at both the entry and senior levels. This is an outstanding opportunity to become part of a new, interdisciplinary initiative that will combine Carnegie Mellon's existing strengths in AI, cybersecurity, block chain, robotics, and other technologies, with scholarship focused on national security, international relations, ethics, law, and policy. We seek intellectually agile, innovative scholars willing to work cooperatively across disciplinary boundaries to tackle the challenges of emergent technologies for war and peace.

Background

Carnegie Mellon University (CMU) launched a major new interdisciplinary institute, the Carnegie Mellon Institute for Security and Technology (CMIST), in 2023. CMIST is a university-wide initiative devoted to the wise development, use, and governance of new and emerging technologies that are changing the national and international security landscape.

The home for Carnegie Mellon University's (CMU) study of Political Science and International Relations, CMIST is also uniquely poised to take advantage of the university's strengths in computer science and engineering and its distinctive tradition of collaborative, cross-university, cross-disciplinary research. CMU is ranked in the top five in the U.S. in Computer Science and in Engineering. It is ranked #1 in the subfields of artificial intelligence, computer engineering, cybersecurity, information systems, and software engineering. It has leading research institutes in areas such as robotics, machine learning, natural language technologies, human-computer interaction, engineering and public policy, and public policy and management--all designed to reach across disciplinary boundaries to solve key problems and address the highest-priority challenges facing humanity. Tying these areas of strength to crucial questions of strategy, security, ethics, and policy, CMIST is the newest addition to this rich CMU research landscape.

Carnegie Mellon University

Formally established in 1967, CMU is a dynamic R1 institution that has an exceptional impact on the world. Despite its relative youth, Carnegie Mellon consistently ranks in the top 25 US national universities. CMU is a global, research-intensive university with more than 14,000 students, more than 110,000 living alumni, approximately 5,000 faculty and staff, and over 100 research centers. It is a place of creativity, entrepreneurship, pragmatism, and ambition, with a tradition of strategically focusing its efforts and resources in areas where it can lead, then pursuing those areas with startling intensity. The research and teaching initiative in CMIST is just such a strategic undertaking.

Carnegie Mellon University is an equal opportunity employer and is committed to increasing the diversity of its community on a range of intellectual and cultural dimensions. Carnegie Mellon welcomes faculty applicants who will contribute to this diversity through their research, teaching and service, including women, members of minority groups, protected veterans, individuals with disabilities, and others who would contribute in different ways. Carnegie Mellon University seeks to meet the needs of dual-career couples and is a member of the Higher Education Recruitment Consortium (HERC) that assists with dual-career searches.

How to Apply

Applications should be submitted electronically via the Interfolio application system at <http://apply.interfolio.com/132453>. They should include the following:

For Junior Scholars:

- A cover letter explaining the candidate's interest in the position, and detailing the applicant's research, teaching, and service record to date.
- A curriculum vitae.
- Up to three writing samples.
- A projection of the candidate's future research agenda.
- A short teaching portfolio, including statement of teaching philosophy, courses the candidate might propose to teach, and any evidence of teaching effectiveness (e.g., teaching evaluations)
- The names and addresses of three references, who will be requested to submit letters through the Interfolio system.

For Senior Scholars:

- A cover letter explaining the candidate's reasons for being interested in the position.
- A detailed curriculum vitae.
- Other materials and names of references may be requested thereafter.

Review of applications will begin on October 23, 2023, and will continue until the positions are filled.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/19/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12551

Indiana University, Bloomington

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of Political Science at Indiana University-Bloomington invites applications for a full-time tenure track Assistant Professor in the field of quantitative political methodology, beginning August of 2024. Our goal is to hire the strongest candidate available who is doing interesting and important scholarship on questions of quantitative political methodology broadly defined and who can contribute to the campus's strengths in social science methodology more generally, especially in Artificial Intelligence and Cybersecurity. This thematic focus may be approached from any subfield or combination of subfields such as American politics, comparative politics, and international relations.

Candidates should demonstrate broad theoretical interests, active research agendas with the promise for publication in high-quality venues, strong teaching credentials, and proficiency in appropriate research methods. In addition to maintaining an ongoing research program, this faculty member would be expected to teach courses at both the undergraduate and graduate levels, and to participate actively in departmental activities.

Successful candidates will have completed their Ph.D. degree in Political Science by August 1, 2024.

We especially encourage applications from members of groups that are traditionally underrepresented in academia as we seek to diversify our faculty. Both the Department of Political Science and the College of Arts and Sciences are committed to building and supporting a diverse inclusive and equitable community of students and scholars.

Indiana University is an equal employment and affirmative action employer and a provider of ADA services. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment based on individual qualifications. Indiana University prohibits discrimination based on age, ethnicity, color, race, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, genetic information, marital status, national origin, disability status or protected veteran status. Applications received by October 15, 2023 will be assured full consideration; however, the search will remain open until the position is filled.

Applicants should submit a letter of application, complete curriculum vitae, two publications or papers, course syllabi and summary of teaching, and a short statement with information and specific examples about the applicant's past, present, and future contributions to promoting diversity, equity and inclusion in their professional careers. Candidates should have at least three letters of recommendation forwarded to us. All application materials should be submitted online to the attention of Aurelian Craiutu, Department Chair, Department of Political Science at: <https://indiana.peopleadmin.com/postings/20219>

Questions regarding the position or application process should be directed to Jan Peterson, Department Manager, at 812- 855-6308; email: janpeter@indiana.edu, Department of Political Science, 210 Woodburn Hall, 1100 E. Seventh Street, Indiana University-Bloomington, Bloomington, Indiana, 47405-7110.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 12/29/2023

Date Posted: 9/18/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12542

Pennsylvania State University

Rank: Tenured or Tenure Track position in PLSC

Open Rank Professor of Political Science and Social Data Analytics

The Department of Political Science and the Institute for Computational and Data Sciences at the Pennsylvania State University at University Park, PA, USA, invite applications for a tenured or tenure-track Assistant Professor, Associate Professor or Professor of Political Science and Social Data Analytics to begin in Fall 2024 for faculty whose substantive research interests on politics are informed by, or inform the development of, innovative quantitative, statistical, data-intensive, or computationally-intensive techniques. The substantive research area is open.

Candidates should be able to contribute to our undergraduate Social Data Analytics (<https://soda.la.psu.edu/>) major, which offers upper-level undergraduate courses that fuse substantive material and data analysis, and our graduate course offerings in Social Data Analytics and political methodology. Faculty positions at Penn State involve substantial research support; in addition, this position will offer significant release time.

Candidates for Assistant Professor must have demonstrated ability as a teacher, scholar, and researcher in a field relevant to the Department of Political Science and the Institute for Computational and Data Sciences and have shown evidence of scholarly or professional achievement. Duties will involve a combination of teaching, research, and service, based on the candidate's qualifications.

Candidates for Associate Professor must have demonstrated excellence as a teacher, scholar, and researcher in a field relevant to the Department of Political Science and the Institute for Computational and Data Sciences and have an established reputation in scholarly or professional achievement. Duties will involve a combination of teaching, research, and service, based on the candidate's qualifications.

Candidates for Professor must have demonstrated excellence as a teacher, scholar, and researcher in a field relevant to the Department of Political Science and the Institute for Computational and Data Sciences and have evidence of a substantial record of advanced research as well as leadership in their field of specialization. Duties will involve a combination of teaching, research, and service, based on the candidate's qualifications.

Applicants for all ranks should possess a terminal degree (Ph.D.) in either Political Science, Social Data Analytics, or another field relevant to the Department of Political Science and the Institute for Computational and Data Sciences. Candidates must have their Ph.D. in hand by the appointment date.

Candidates for all ranks should have a record of publication in high-quality venues and demonstrate the potential for external funding.

In addition, successful candidates must either have demonstrated a commitment to building an inclusive, equitable, and diverse campus community, or describe one or more ways they would envision doing so, given the opportunity.

This position is co-funded by the College of the Liberal Arts and the Institute for Computational and Data Sciences. As an ICDS co-hire, the successful candidate is expected to engage in interdisciplinary research that relies substantially on innovative approaches to quantitative, computational, and/or big data analysis.

The Institute for Computational and Data Sciences (ICDS; <https://www.icds.psu.edu/>), one of Penn State's five university wide research institutes, connects researchers from numerous disciplines to answer critical scientific questions and societal issues through cyber enabled research and methodology. ICDS has nearly 300 affiliated faculty, with over 20 tenure-track, co-hired faculty, engaged in interdisciplinary computation and data enabled research. Our affiliated faculty utilize our ICDS-operated advanced computing (Roar), Penn State's high performance research cloud, which is in the top 15 among our peers.

Application review will begin immediately and continue until the position is filled. Applicants should submit a cover letter explaining their research and teaching experience, a current CV, two samples of scholarly writing, evidence of effectiveness as a teacher (e.g., course evaluations, sample syllabi/assignments, teaching statement), and contact information for three references. Apply online at Penn State's Job Posting Board.

System limitations allow for a total of 5 documents (5mb per document) as part of your application. Please combine materials to meet the 5-document limit.

Penn State is committed to and accountable for advancing diversity, equity, and inclusion in all of its forms. We embrace individual uniqueness, foster a culture of inclusion that supports both broad and specific diversity initiatives, leverage the educational and institutional benefits of diversity, and engage all individuals to help them thrive. We value inclusion as a core strength and an essential element of our public service mission.

Penn State offers competitive benefits to full-time employees, including medical, dental, vision, and retirement plans, in addition to 75% tuition discounts (including for a spouse and dependent children up to the age of 26) and paid holidays. Please visit <https://hr.psu.edu/benefits> for more detailed information.

To apply, please visit https://psu.wd1.myworkdayjobs.com/PSU_Academic/job/Penn-State-University-Park/Open-Rank-Professor-of-Political-Science-and-Social-Data-Analytics_REQ_0000048755-1

To review the Annual Security Report which contains information about crime statistics and other safety and security matters and policies, please go to <https://www.police.psu.edu/annual-security-reports>, which will also explain how to request a paper copy of the Annual Security Report.

Penn State is an equal opportunity, affirmative action employer, and is committed to providing employment opportunities to all qualified applicants without regard to race, color, religion, age, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability or protected veteran.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/15/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12533

Misericordia University

Rank: Assistant Professor in Government, Law, and National Security

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Methodology, Public Policy

Specializations: American Politics, State Politics, Judicial Politics

Misericordia University invites applications for a tenure-track position at the level of Assistant Professor in the Government, Law, and National Security program (GLNS) starting in the fall 2024. The GLNS program, which is part of the university's Department of History and Government, seeks a specialist in American Politics with expertise in American political institutions, public policy, public law, and/or homeland security. The candidate will have the freedom to develop elective courses based on their expertise. A Ph.D. in Political Science is preferred by the time of appointment, but ABD candidates will be considered. Teaching experience is preferable.

Misericordia University is committed to student, faculty and staff diversity and values the educational benefit this brings to campus. Candidates should indicate any experience and/or leadership that contribute to this goal.

Misericordia University, founded in 1924 by the Sisters of Mercy, is located adjacent to the Pocono Mountains region of Northeastern Pennsylvania, approximately two hours from New York city and Philadelphia. The University's approach of combining a quality liberal arts education with professional preparation and service leadership has resulted in its wide regional acclaim.

Review of credentials will begin immediately and continue until the position is filled. For confidential consideration, applicants should submit a letter of application that contains a curriculum vitae, letters of reference, statements of teaching philosophy and research agenda, and teaching evaluations online at www.misericordia.edu/hr under Faculty Opportunities or by mail to Human Resources Department, Misericordia University, 301 Lake Street, Dallas, PA, 18612.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/12/2023

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 12499

University of Massachusetts, Amherst

Rank: Lecturer

To apply: See application instructions below.

The Data Analytics and Computational Social Science (DACSS) Program at the University of Massachusetts Amherst invites applicants for a position as a Lecturer in Computational Social Science. This is a full-time, one-year position, with the expectation of reappointment contingent upon funding and the candidate's performance. This is an academic year appointment, and the preferred start date is September 1, 2024.

The successful candidate will be expected to offer three unique in-person, online, or multimodal courses each year (6 total sections), including one of the four DACSS core courses covering topics in data science, quantitative analysis, research design, and data visualization; and at least one technical elective covering topics such as text, networks, machine learning, surveys, experiments, simulations, and advanced quantitative analysis. All courses will be taught with guidance from a tenured or tenure track UMass faculty mentor; extensive course preparation is not required.

After the completion of their first year of teaching, the lecturer may apply for support to design and teach a new course and an opportunity to earn additional compensation for teaching summer or intersession courses.

Requirements

PhD in anthropology, communications, economics, political science, psychology, sociology, computer science, data science, or a related discipline.

Demonstrated teaching and/or research interests in computational social science.

Applicants with a background in digital humanities will also be considered.

Application Instructions

Please submit a cover letter that addresses the candidate's research and teaching background in computational social science, a curriculum vitae, an article-length writing sample, and a teaching statement reflecting on a time when the applicant struggled with teaching (in or out of the classroom) in the past.

Review of applicants will continue until a suitable candidate pool has been identified.

The College of Social and Behavioral Sciences is committed to building and sustaining an equitable and inclusive work environment where cultural diversity is celebrated and valued. We believe diversity benefits and enriches the development of all of our students, staff, and faculty in our college. To learn more, please visit <https://www.umass.edu/sbs/diversity-equity-and-inclusion>.

To apply:

Follow this link and click the "APPLY NOW" button on the right hand side of the job description: <https://careers.umass.edu/amherst/en-us/job/520262/lecturer-data-analytics-computational-social-science-dacss>

UMass Amherst, the Commonwealth's flagship campus, is a nationally ranked public research university offering a full range of undergraduate, graduate and professional degrees. The University sits on nearly 1,450-acres in the scenic Pioneer Valley of Western Massachusetts, and offers a rich cultural environment in a bucolic setting close to major urban centers. In addition, the University is part of the Five Colleges (including Amherst College, Hampshire College, Mount Holyoke College, and Smith College), which adds to the intellectual energy of the region.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 10/15/2023

Date Posted: 9/12/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12501

University of Massachusetts, Amherst

Rank: Lecturer

To apply: See application instructions below.

The Data Analytics and Computational Social Science (DACSS) Program at the University of Massachusetts Amherst invites applicants for a position as a Lecturer in Computational Social Science. This is a full-time, one-year position, with the expectation of reappointment contingent upon funding and the candidate's performance. This is an academic year appointment, and the preferred start date is September 1, 2024.

The successful candidate will be expected to offer three unique in-person, online, or multimodal courses each year (6 total sections), including one of the four DACSS core courses covering topics in data science, quantitative analysis, research design, and data visualization; and at least one technical elective covering topics such as text, networks, machine learning, surveys, experiments, simulations, and advanced quantitative analysis. All courses will be taught with guidance from a tenured or tenure track UMass faculty mentor; extensive course preparation is not required.

After the completion of their first year of teaching, the lecturer may apply for support to design and teach a new course and an opportunity to earn additional compensation for teaching summer or intersession courses.

Requirements

PhD in anthropology, communications, economics, political science, psychology, sociology, computer science, data science, or a related discipline.

Demonstrated teaching and/or research interests in computational social science.

Applicants with a background in digital humanities will also be considered.

Application Instructions

Please submit a cover letter that addresses the candidate's research and teaching background in computational social science, a curriculum vitae, an article-length writing sample, and a teaching statement reflecting on a time when the applicant struggled with teaching (in or out of the classroom) in the past.

Review of applicants will continue until a suitable candidate pool has been identified.

The College of Social and Behavioral Sciences is committed to building and sustaining an equitable and inclusive work environment where cultural diversity is celebrated and valued. We believe diversity benefits and enriches the development of all of our students, staff, and faculty in our college. To learn more, please visit <https://www.umass.edu/sbs/diversity-equity-and-inclusion>.

To apply:

Follow this link and click the "APPLY NOW" button on the right hand side of the job description: <https://careers.umass.edu/amherst/en-us/job/520262/lecturer-data-analytics-computational-social-science-dacss>

UMass Amherst, the Commonwealth's flagship campus, is a nationally ranked public research university offering a full range of undergraduate, graduate and professional degrees. The University sits on nearly 1,450-acres in the scenic Pioneer Valley of Western Massachusetts, and offers a rich cultural environment in a bucolic setting close to major urban centers. In addition, the University is part of the Five Colleges (including Amherst College, Hampshire College, Mount Holyoke College, and Smith College), which adds to the intellectual energy of the region.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 10/15/2023

Date Posted: 9/12/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12502

University of North Texas

Rank: Assistant Professor Comparative Politics

Specializations: China, Southeast Asia, Middle East

The Department of Political Science at the University of North Texas invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position anticipated to begin in the Fall of 2024. We seek candidates who study comparative politics with a focus on East/Southeast/South Asia or the Middle East. We prefer candidates who can add to the department's existing strengths in the study of political conflict, contentious politics, human rights, human security, marginalized populations, political economy, and democratization. The successful candidate should be committed to excellence in undergraduate and graduate education and have a record or promise of research publication. The Department seeks applicants who will pursue a research agenda commensurate with UNT's status as a Carnegie-ranked, Tier One public research university. Ph.D. in Political Science or ABD with degree to be completed by the first day of employment is required. Preferred applicants will be able to teach quantitative methods at both the undergraduate and graduate level.

Applications should be submitted here: <https://jobs.untsystem.edu/postings/76219>.

Reviews of applications will begin on October 23, 2023.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 10/23/2023

Date Posted: 9/12/2023

Salary: $70,000 - $79,999

eJobs ID: 12504

Vienna University of Economics and Business

Rank: 2 Post-Doc/Fellowships Energy Finance Project

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Methodology

Specializations: History & Politics, Economic Policy, International Political Economy

You want to understand how things are connected and make a fundamental impact? We offer an environment where you can realize your full potential. At one of Europe's largest and most modern business and economics universities. On a campus where quality of work is also quality of life. We are looking for support at the:

Department of Socioeconomics

Vienna University of Economics and Business

Fulltime, 40 hours/week

Starting as soon as possible, and limited for 1 year (possible extension up to 4 years)

Summary

We invite applications for one Postdoctoral position (qual) and one Postdoctoral position (quant) in the research project Energy Transitions and the Rise and Fall of Great Financial Centers (ENFIN) funded within the ERC framework.

We particularly encourage social scientists (preferably with disciplinary backgrounds in economics, political science, international political economy, sociology, economic history, geography or data analysis) for this position who have an interest in interdisciplinary multi-method research covering the fields: economic geography, financial history & sociology, comparative politics, and international political economy.

What to expect

The postdoctoral researcher will be part of a team starting a new research direction in the study of energy- and financial transitions that will have important implications for studying phenomena at the intersection of energy geopolitics, geoeconomics, and geofinance. The initial contract is for one year, possibly extending annually up to 4 years. There is a possibility to teach between year 2–4.

- Producing high-quality research and joint publications aligned with the ENFIN scope in high-impact journals
- Help shape and participate in seminars and conferences organized around the ERC project
- Some traveling/fieldwork is expected

- Opportunity for further career and professional development (e.g. via methodological trainings, and media training)
- Close collaboration with the PI and the rest of the team
- Opportunity to mentor and supervise postgraduate students

What you have to offer

- Completed a Ph.D. at a leading University in a related social science discipline with a strong commitment to research
- An excellent publication record relative to career stage (articles in top-tier journals will be considered as an asset)
- Excellent spoken and written English
- Sound knowledge in finance, economics or politics
- Ability and commitment to work both independently and collaboratively as part of an interdisciplinary and international team
- Make a solid contribution to the program's research culture and environment
- Postdoc qual: outstanding and demonstrated expertise in qualitative methods (e.g., case study, process tracing, historical- and comparative approaches), experience in Bayesian Inference in a qualitative context is a plus
- Postdoc quant: excellent analytical and methodological skills, advanced training in quantitative data analysis (expertise in latent growth curve modeling (e.g., multigroup LGCM) will be considered an asset)

Detailed job description:

<https://www.wu.ac.at/en/careers/careers-at-wu/current-job-openings/?yid=1865>

The minimum monthly gross salary amounts to €4,351.90 (14 times per year). This salary may be adjusted based on equivalent prior work experience. In addition, we offer a wide range of attractive social benefits.

Any queries should be made by email to: Juergen.Braunstein@wu.ac.at

The closing date for the application is 25 October 2023

Application link:

<https://www.wu.ac.at/en/careers/careers-at-wu/current-job-openings/?yid=1865&af=1>

Start Date: Winter 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/8/2023

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 12482

Hong Kong University of Science and Technology

Rank: Faculty Positions (Global China Studies and Quantitative Social Science)

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Methodology, Public Administration

Specializations: China, Political Economy, Research Methods

The Division of Social Science at The Hong Kong University of Science and Technology seeks to fill several positions in Global China Studies and Quantitative Social Science.

The University is an English-speaking research university with international faculty. The Division of Social Science is highly ranked internationally.

We invite applications at all ranks (Assistant Professor/Associate Professor/Professor). Preference will be given to candidates with an active research agenda related to contemporary China and quantitative social sciences with demonstrated excellence in scholarship and in research methodology (quantitative or qualitative). Subfields are open but we are particularly interested in candidates who focus on political science, sociology, psychology and economics.

For more information about the Division, please visit <https://sosc.hkust.edu.hk>.

Applicants should have a PhD degree by the time of employment. Successful candidates are expected to teach at both the undergraduate and graduate levels.

Salary is competitive and will be commensurate with qualifications and experience. Fringe benefits including annual leave, medical and dental benefits will be provided. Housing benefits will also be provided where applicable. Initial appointment at Associate/Assistant Professor rank will normally be on a three-year contract, renewable subject to mutual agreement. A gratuity will be payable upon successful completion of contract.

Applicants should send a letter of interest, curriculum vitae, research statement, teaching statement, a sample publication, and teaching records electronically via Interfolio at <http://apply.interfolio.com/131209>.

Associate/Assistant Professor applicants should arrange for 3 letters of recommendation to be sent via interfolio. For tenured positions, references will be solicited only after both sides agree to proceed with the process of appointment.

Review of applications will start on 1 November 2023 and the search will continue until the positions are filled.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/5/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12457

Princeton University

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Associate, Formal Theory/Quantitative Methods

Specializations: Quantitative Methods, Political Economy, International Political Economy

The Department of Politics at Princeton University seeks applicants for postdoctoral research associates or more senior research positions in the fields of formal theory or quantitative methods. This position involves a year of research at Princeton with the possibility of renewal for another year based on satisfactory performance and continued funding. The aim of the program is to nurture a diverse group of promising scholars and to increase the critical mass of scholars with interests in formal theory and quantitative methods at Princeton.

Interested applicants must apply online at <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/31821> and submit a CV, cover letter, writing sample, transcript and the names and contact information of three references. Ph.D. is required. The cover letter should describe how applicants might engage in collaborative research projects with Princeton Politics faculty members. Unofficial transcripts are sufficient and may be uploaded with the application. Applicants who are unable to upload unofficial transcripts may send official transcripts to F/Q Postdoc Search, Department of Politics, 001 Fisher Hall, Princeton University, Princeton, NJ 08544. We will begin reviewing applications on February 15, 2024.

This position is subject to the University's background check policy.

Requisition No: D-24-POL-00007

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 2/15/2024

Date Posted: 9/1/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12429

New York University Abu Dhabi

Rank: Post-Doctoral Associate in the Division of Social Science (Political Science) - Dr. Leonid Peisakhin

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Methodology

Description

We are inviting applications for a three-year Post-Doctoral Associate in the Division of Social Science at NYU Abu Dhabi from individuals who have or will soon receive a PhD in political science or a related discipline. The appointment will begin September 1, 2024, subject to final budget approval.

The post-doctoral associate will spend half their time on independent research, and half of their time on collaborative research with Drs. Leonid Peisakhin, Joan Barceló, and Jeff Jensen. The collaborative research will be in the field of historical legacy research, with an emphasis on the legacy of conflict and historical institutions. This position is open as to geographical area.

The ideal candidate will specialize in historical political economy and will have an interest in conflict studies, post-conflict reconciliation, as well as broader topics in political economy; strong candidates with research interests in other subfields will also be given full consideration. Advanced methodological training is essential; this includes high-level familiarity with causal inference and econometric techniques. Experience working with historical sources and familiarity with public opinion research would be helpful, but not required.

The position does not require teaching, but it may be possible to get teaching experience for compensation. You would be part of a group of over 20 post-doctoral fellows and 70 faculty in the Division of Social Science.

Please use the following link to apply: <https://apply.interfolio.com/130629>

For consideration, applicants need to submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae with a full publication list, statement of research interests and two letters of reference, all in PDF format by December 1, 2023. Applications will be considered on a rolling basis. If you have any questions, please email Dr. Leonid Peisakhin leonid.peisakhin@nyu.edu

About NYU Abu Dhabi

NYU Abu Dhabi is a degree-granting research university with a fully integrated liberal arts and science undergraduate program in the Arts, Sciences, Social Sciences, Humanities, and Engineering. NYU Abu Dhabi, NYU New York, and NYU Shanghai, form the backbone of NYU's global network university, an interconnected network of portal campuses and academic centers across six continents that enable seamless international mobility of students and faculty in their pursuit of academic and scholarly activity. This global university represents a transformative shift in higher education, one in which the intellectual and creative endeavors of academia are shaped and examined through an international and multicultural perspective. As a major intellectual hub at the crossroads of the Arab world, NYUAD serves as a center for scholarly thought, advanced research, knowledge creation, and sharing, through its academic, research, and creative activities.

EOE/AA/Minorities/Females/Vet/Disabled/Sexual Orientation/Gender Identity Employer

UAE Nationals are encouraged to apply

Working for NYUAD

To help Postdoctoral Associates and faculty thrive, we offer a comprehensive benefits package. This starts with a generous relocation allowance to ensure a smooth transition to Abu Dhabi. It includes a competitive salary; housing and transportation allowances; educational assistance for your dependents attending school in the UAE; and access to health and wellness services.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 12/1/2023

Date Posted: 8/31/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12422

New York University Abu Dhabi

Rank: Post-Doctoral Associate in the Division of Social Science (Political Science) - Dr. Leonid Peisakhin

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Methodology

Description

We are inviting applications for a three-year Post-Doctoral Associate in the Division of Social Science at NYU Abu Dhabi from individuals who have or will soon receive a PhD in political science or a related discipline. The appointment will begin September 1, 2024, subject to final budget approval.

The post-doctoral associate will spend half their time on independent research, and half of their time on collaborative research with Drs. Leonid Peisakhin, Joan Barceló, and Jeff Jensen. The collaborative research will be in the field of historical legacy research, with an emphasis on the legacy of conflict and historical institutions. This position is open as to geographical area.

The ideal candidate will specialize in historical political economy and will have an interest in conflict studies, post-conflict reconciliation, as well as broader topics in political economy; strong candidates with research interests in other subfields will also be given full consideration. Advanced methodological training is essential; this includes high-level familiarity with causal inference and econometric techniques.

Experience working with historical sources and familiarity with public opinion research would be helpful, but not required.

The position does not require teaching, but it may be possible to get teaching experience for compensation. You would be part of a group of over 20 post-doctoral fellows and 70 faculty in the Division of Social Science.

Please use the following link to apply: <https://apply.interfolio.com/130629>

For consideration, applicants need to submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae with a full publication list, statement of research interests and two letters of reference, all in PDF format by December 1, 2023. Applications will be considered on a rolling basis. If you have any questions, please email Dr. Leonid Peisakhin leonid.peisakhin@nyu.edu

About NYU Abu Dhabi

NYU Abu Dhabi is a degree-granting research university with a fully integrated liberal arts and science undergraduate program in the Arts, Sciences, Social Sciences, Humanities, and Engineering. NYU Abu Dhabi, NYU New York, and NYU Shanghai, form the backbone of NYU's global network university, an interconnected network of portal campuses and academic centers across six continents that enable seamless international mobility of students and faculty in their pursuit of academic and scholarly activity. This global university represents a transformative shift in higher education, one in which the intellectual and creative endeavors of academia are shaped and examined through an international and multicultural perspective. As a major intellectual hub at the crossroads of the Arab world, NYUAD serves as a center for scholarly thought, advanced research, knowledge creation, and sharing, through its academic, research, and creative activities.

EOE/AA/Minorities/Females/Vet/Disabled/Sexual Orientation/Gender Identity Employer

UAE Nationals are encouraged to apply

Working for NYUAD

To help Postdoctoral Associates and faculty thrive, we offer a comprehensive benefits package. This starts with a generous relocation allowance to ensure a smooth transition to Abu Dhabi. It includes a competitive salary; housing and transportation allowances; educational assistance for your dependents attending school in the UAE; and access to health and wellness services.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 12/1/2023

Date Posted: 8/31/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12423

University of California, San Diego

Rank: Assistant Professor - Methodology

The Department of Political Science (<https://polisci.ucsd.edu/>) within the School of Social Sciences at the University of California, San Diego invites applications in Methodology for appointment at the rank of tenure-track Assistant Professor to begin July 1, 2024.

We seek candidates whose research, teaching, and service will advance scholarship in the area of Political Methodology by: building and maintaining a record of high quality scholarship and professional activity; providing meaningful service including contributions to a campus and professional community that supports equity, inclusion, and diversity; and teaching and advising graduate student and undergraduate students (the teaching load in the department is 4 courses per year, typically distributed as 3 undergraduate and 1 graduate course. Faculty are also expected to participate in the undergraduate honors seminar and serve on PhD committees). Candidates must currently hold a PhD in Political Science or a related field or be currently pursuing a PhD with ABD status.

Additional information, and a link to the online application portal is at:

<https://apol-recruit.ucsd.edu/JPF03705>

Review of applications will begin on September 25, 2023 and continue until the position is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Date Posted: 8/30/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12415

University of Southern California

Rank: (Open Rank) Professor in International Relations

The Department of Political Science and International Relations (POIR) in the Dana and David Dornsife College of Letters, Arts and Sciences at the University of Southern California (USC) in Los Angeles, California invites applications for a tenure-track or tenured position in International Relations as part of a major hiring initiative.

We seek candidates with a strong substantive research program in any domain of International Relations whose work advances theoretical and empirical research on important questions in their subfield. Candidates are expected to have strong methodological training, and their methodological skills, ability to advise graduate students on methodological issues and teach graduate classes in the Department's core methods sequence will be a consideration. A strong commitment to undergraduate and graduate education is also expected.

The candidate must have completed a Ph.D. by the appointment date. Review of applications will start September 15, 2023 and will continue until the positions are filled.

In order to be considered for this position, applicants are required to submit an electronic USC application; follow this job link or paste in a browser: <https://usccareers.usc.edu/job/los-angeles/open-rank-faculty-position-in-international-relations/1209/53486590048>. Required materials for upload include a CV, letter of interest, sample research paper(s), statement of research interests, evidence of teaching effectiveness, the names of three individuals who will be contacted by USC for a letter of reference, and official graduate transcripts. Send inquiries to poir@usc.edu. Materials submitted by regular mail will not be accepted.

The annual base salary range for this position is $93,500 - $175,700. When extending an offer of employment, the University of Southern California considers factors such as (but not limited to) the scope and responsibilities of the position, the candidate's work experience, education/training, key skills, internal peer equity, federal, state and local laws, contractual stipulations, grant funding, as well as external market and organizational considerations.

USC is an equal-opportunity educator and employer, proudly pluralistic and firmly committed to providing equal opportunity for outstanding persons of every race, gender, creed and background. The University particularly encourages women, members of underrepresented groups, veterans and individuals with disabilities to apply. USC will make reasonable accommodations for qualified individuals with known disabilities unless doing so would result in an undue hardship. Further information is available by contacting uschr@usc.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/29/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12402

Copenhagen Business School

Rank: Postdoc in Business and Government

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Methodology, Public Policy

We invite applications for a 2-year postdoc on the project "The Determinants and Consequences of Legislative Capacity" starting August 1st, 2024. The project is led by associate professors Florian M. Hollenbach (CBS) and David Fortunato (UCSD) and funded by the Independent Research Fund Denmark. The postdoc will be based at the Department of International Economics, Government and Business (EGB) at the Copenhagen Business School. It is a 100% research postdoc—there are no teaching requirements. It is our hope that the postdoc will coauthor with the project leaders and develop publications related to the project.

The project

Because policy is written by elected representatives but implemented by unelected bureaucratic agents with their own preferences, the legislature's capacity for ex-ante policy design and ex-post oversight sets a de facto budget constraint on potential democratic responsiveness. Importantly, parliaments choose their own capacity by allocating resources necessary for legislative work, yet we observe tremendous variation in these endowments. Why? In this project, we investigate the determinants of capacity choices and their broader implications for democratic accountability.

The "Legislative Capacity" project consists of two work packages. Work package I will focus on developing a formal theoretical model of the legislature's choice over its capacity for policy influence. The model will consider the trade-offs for current majorities to increase capacity to improve its policy making power while also handing more efficient institutions to future governments, should it lose power. Work package II moves on to empirically investigate the relationships predicted by the theoretical model. To do so, we will collect data on legislative capacity in OECD countries over the last 20 years, as well as subnational legislatures.

The postdoc will work on both packages, contributing to development of the central theoretical model, data collection, analysis, and writing. It is essential that applicants have strong research potential in comparative political economy and the ability to work in a team environment, collaborating/co-authoring with other team members.

Non-exhaustive examples of research areas that the postdoc may cover:

Comparative Political Economy

Social Data Science
Quantitative Methods
Formal Modelling
Political Institutions

Department

EGB is a multidisciplinary department that conducts high-quality research in the fields of international business and political science with direct relevance to business, policymakers, and the public. Research at the department focuses on two principal focus areas Business & Government and International Business, in relation to societal challenges. To learn more about the research and education of the department, please visit the departmental homepage; www.cbs.dk/egb.

Qualifications

The applicant must have completed – or be close to completing – a PhD in the political science, political economy, or a related field. The applicant must have excellent research skills and proficiency in English (written and spoken). The ideal applicant will have solid skills in formal modelling and advanced quantitative methods.

To fulfill the research requirements of the position, the postdoc is expected to be physically present at the department on a regular basis.

Copenhagen Business School has a broad commitment to the excellence, distinctiveness and relevance of its teaching and research programs. Candidates who wish to join us should demonstrate enthusiasm for working in an organization of this type.

Appointment and salary will be in accordance with the Ministry of Finance's agreement with the Central Academic Organisation (presently approximately $70,080 USD including pension contribution).

Applications must be sent via the electronic recruitment system, using the link; <https://www.cbs.dk/en/about-cbs/jobs-cbs/vacant-positions/postdoc-in-business-and-government-copenhagen-business-school-2-years>

Applications must include:

A cover letter outlining the candidate's main strengths and abilities. Transcript(s) and a full CV

A job market paper

A complete, numbered list of publications (indicating titles, co-authors, page numbers and year) with an * marking of the academic productions to be considered during the assessment. A maximum of 5 publications for assessment are allowed. Applicants are requested to prioritise their publications in relation to the field of this job advertisement.

Copies of the publications marked with an *. Only publications written in English (or another specified principal language, according to research tradition) or one of the Scandinavian languages will be taken into consideration)

A brief (1-page) research statement for the 2-year postdoc period, and possibly beyond.

Recruitment procedure

The Recruitment Committee will shortlist a minimum of two applicants; when possible five or more applicants will be shortlisted. The shortlisted applicants will be assessed by the Assessment Committee. All applicants will be notified of their status in the recruitment process shortly after the application deadline.

The applicants selected for assessment will be notified about the composition of the Assessment Committee and later in the process about the result of the assessment.

Once the recruitment process is completed each applicant will be notified of the outcome of their application.

Closing date: October 30, 2023

Copenhagen Business School must receive all application material, including all appendices (see items above), by the application deadline.

For further information about the project, please contact: Associate Professor Florian M. Hollenbach, e-mail: fho.egb@cbs.dk.

For further information about the department (EGB), please contact: Head of Department Jens Gammelgaard, e-mail jg.egb@cbs.dk.

Details about Copenhagen Business School are available at www.cbs.dk

Closing date: 30 October 2023.

Apply online

<https://www.cbs.dk/en/about-cbs/jobs-cbs/vacant-positions/postdoc-in-business-and-government-copenhagen-business-school-2-years>

CBS is a globally recognised business school with deep roots in the Nordic socio-economic model. We have a broad focus on business and societal challenges of the 21st century. As such we have a full portfolio of high-quality disciplinary and interdisciplinary research and education that has equipped generations of professionals and leaders in the private sector and beyond.

Located at Frederiksberg, Denmark, the school has approx. 21.000 full and part-time students, 760 full-time faculty members, 210 PhD students and 680 administrative staff, and a full portfolio of Bachelor, Master's, MBA/EMBA, PhD and Executive programmes delivered in English and Danish.

Our global profile carries the obligation to develop the transformational capabilities of students, graduates and business leaders via our educational activities and opportunities for lifelong learning. Complex challenges call for joint action, and therefore our strategy focuses on strengthening current and starting new partnerships with other sciences, the business community, authorities and civil society.

CBS is working continuously on becoming a diverse and inclusive organization, and we encourage all regardless of gender identity and expression, ethnicity, religious beliefs, LGBTQ+ status, cultural background etc. to apply.

Reach out to us if you need assistance in the application or recruitment process, if there is something we should know, or if as a person with disability you wish to make use of your preferential access.

Start Date: Summer 2024

Application Deadline: 10/30/2023
Date Posted: 8/25/2023
Salary: $70,000 - $79,999
eJobs ID: 12363

Coastal Carolina University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science
Specializations: Political Communication, Public Opinion, Quantitative Methods

Assistant Professor of Political Science

The Spadoni College of Education and Social Sciences at Coastal Carolina University invites applications for a tenure-track appointment in the Department of Political Science to begin in August 2024.

We seek to hire a candidate who specializes in political methodology, in particular quantitative methods. Experience with a range of programs, such as Stata, R, Python, UCINET, and ArcGIS, is especially desired. The person hired will work closely with the College's new Social Science Research Lab (SSRL) in the development of new courses and certificate programs at the undergraduate and graduate levels. Summer compensation will be provided so that courses and workshops can be offered to students.

The candidate will also teach in their substantive area(s) of research, and we are specifically focused on candidates who study mass media, social media, political communication, and/or public opinion in the United States.

The chosen candidate is required to have a Ph.D. in Political Science or related discipline by the time of appointment. Candidates must demonstrate how their scholarship and training, to date, make them a good fit for working collaboratively with the department and the SSRL.

Interested candidates should submit: a letter of application that addresses their qualifications, a curriculum vitae, a writing sample, copies of undergraduate and graduate transcripts, a combined statement about teaching and research, and contact information for three (3) professional references electronically at: <https://jobs.coastal.edu/postings/21246> Review of application materials will begin October 2nd, 2023, and continue until the position is filled.

Coastal Carolina University is a public comprehensive liberal arts institution located in Conway, South Carolina, just nine miles from the Atlantic coastal resort city of Myrtle Beach. Coastal Carolina University enrolls over 10,000 students from 49 states and 55 nations. The University is accredited by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools Commission on Colleges to award the baccalaureate and master's degrees of national and/or regional significance in the arts and sciences, business, humanities, education, and health and human services, a specialist degree in instructional technology, and PhD degrees in marine science: coastal and marine systems science and education sciences.

Start Date: Fall 2024
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/24/2023
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 12355

Salem State University

Rank: Faculty - Public Policy - Full Time, Temporary
Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Methodology, Public Policy
Specializations: Race & Ethnic Politics, Housing, American Politics

The politics, policy and international relations department at Salem State University invites a full-time, temporary faculty position for the 2024-2025 academic year. We are seeking a public policy specialist with familiarity with policies in an urban context such as housing, education, transportation, policing, poverty, and/or immigration. This position is part of a Salem State initiative to help establish and advance our proposed North Shore Policy Lab and may be reappointed for up to two additional years subject to available funding. With continued growth of the program, there may be additional tenure track lines in the department.

Housed in the department's Bates Center for Public and Global Affairs, the North Shore Policy Lab will involve students in research conducted on behalf of local and state government and non-governmental organizations in order to prepare them for jobs in the public, non-profit and/or private sectors.

The candidate should be well-versed in both quantitative and qualitative research methods and be able to teach our current Research Methods course as well as a new, advanced multi-methods class that will serve as the foundation for student work on applied policy research projects as a part of the policy lab. The ideal candidate will have a demonstrated record of community-based research and community partnerships with a focus on equity issues in the context of urban areas like those served by Salem State.

Salem State University is committed to excellence in teaching. We pride ourselves in providing first-rate classroom experiences and supervising intensive learning opportunities such as research and internships. Many of our students are first generation, racial/ethnic minorities, veterans, and adult learners. Salem State University is located in the Greater Boston area in the historic city of Salem, Massachusetts. The Greater Boston region is famous for its world-class education, healthcare, and business enterprises and the area offers numerous opportunities for professional and personal enrichment.

Duties and Responsibilities

Candidates are required to perform duties in accordance with the MSCA contract. Duties include teaching, advising, scholarship and contributions to continuously improve the department and university. The standard teaching load is 12 credit hours per semester. The position is subject to available funding.

Required Qualifications:

Earned PhD in public policy or a related field from an accredited institution (ABD considered if degree will be conferred by September 2024)
 Advising and/or mentoring experience

Preferred Qualifications:

Commitment to anti-racist, culturally responsive teaching
 Demonstrated expertise in community-based research
 Active publication record and/or exemplary scholarly potential (e.g., ABD candidates with strong pipeline of research)
 Prior applied experience in non-profit or public sector settings
 Demonstrated excellence in teaching

As an emerging Hispanic Serving Institution (HSI), Salem State University seeks to enrich the faculty/librarian ranks by actively encouraging candidates whose lived and scholarly experiences directly address issues regarding the health, welfare, and representation of Latinx populations in the United States. Candidates who meet this strongly desired qualification should present documented activities in Latinx-related teaching, scholarship/research, and service, including community-based endeavors in each of these three areas.

Working Conditions:

This is an on-site, in-person position.

Salem State University complies with the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) to provide reasonable accommodation to qualified applicants and employees with disabilities. For accommodation information or requests please email eo-hr@salemstate.edu.

Special Instructions to Applicants:

Please apply online and attach curriculum vitae, cover letter, teaching philosophy, and a diversity statement (please read our institutional diversity statement and describe how you would contribute to our mission in your teaching, research, mentoring/advising, and service).

The online portal can be found at: <https://internal-salemstate.icims.com/jobs/2894/faculty%2c-political-science-%28public-policy%29%2c-full-time%2c-temporary%2c-fall-2024/job>

Employment is contingent upon a completed background and CORI check satisfactory to the university.

This position is not eligible for H1B visa sponsorship.

Please Note: If there is no application deadline associated with a position, it may be removed at any time and additional applications will not be accepted.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/23/2023

Salary: $70,000 - $79,999

eJobs ID: 12351

Universidad Catolica del Uruguay

Rank: Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Methodology

Ref: LLAMACA-181

Call for applications to fill a position of Assistant Professor (Full time) at the Department of Social Sciences

The Universidad Católica del Uruguay calls for applications to fill a position of Assistant Professor (Full time) at its Department of Social Sciences. Candidates should hold a Ph.D. of be near completion (December 2023) in Political Science or Sociology, but candidates in other social science disciplines such as Demography, Human Geography, Criminology or Social Work are also encouraged to apply. Candidates may be specialized in any substantive subarea (for example, research methods, public policy, comparative politics, political economy, social stratification, or socioeconomic inequalities).

Candidates must demonstrate excellence in teaching, an active substantive research agenda, and a demonstrated ability to publish and teach in English and Spanish. Successful candidates are expected to work full-time (160 hours per month) and start working in February or August 2024.

Applications will start being analyzed on September 30, 2023, but applications received after that will still be considered until the position is filled or the university closes the call. A complete application must contain (1) a cover letter, (2) CV, (3) an example of an undergraduate course program that the candidate would be able to teach, (4) up to 2 examples of academic research work, (5) teacher evaluations, and (6) three letters of recommendation. The application should be made electronically (<https://bpm.ucu.edu.uy/public/01LPOSD>). Letters of recommendation can be included by the candidate in the application or can be directly sent by their author to the following email: departamentos@ucu.edu.uy (Ref: LLAMACA-181 – Letter of recommendation for [Name Last name]).

The selection process will consist on the following stages. First, a short list of candidates will be selected to be interviewed by the Selection Committee in person or via videoconference in case of residing abroad. Then, 3 shortlisted candidates will be invited to the Montevideo campus to present their research and hold interviews with members of the Department and other authorities. The selection committee may request from the candidates, at any time during the process, additional materials, or the corresponding accreditations. The decisions of the selection committee will be final. The Universidad Católica del Uruguay reserves the right not to hire any candidates without responsibility of any kind at its own expense.

For additional information, applicants may contact the Department's Chair, Rosario Queirolo (rosario.queirolo@ucu.edu.uy).

Start Date: Spring 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/22/2023

Salary: $40,000 - $49,999

eJobs ID: 12350

Dartmouth College

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Program in Quantitative Social Science (QSS) at Dartmouth College seeks a teacher-scholar for a tenure-track appointment as Assistant Professor, to be appointed as early as July 1, 2024. QSS is an interdisciplinary program that integrates modern statistical, computational, and mathematical tools with social science. With an emphasis on tackling social science questions, relevant fields include applied mathematics, statistics, demography, economics, geography, political science, sociology, and related disciplines. Applicants should have a strong methodological background and be able to (1) conduct research using either machine learning techniques or advanced statistical methods with a focus on social science applications and (2) teach these methods primarily at the undergraduate level and also competently at the postgraduate level as needed. Keen interest in mentoring of undergraduates is a must, along with a demonstrated interest in encouraging students of all backgrounds and disciplinary interests. The person in this position will be expected to foster cross-disciplinary connections at Dartmouth around modern research methods. Qualified candidates should have a Ph.D. (or be ABD with degree expected by appointment date) in a relevant discipline, such as Applied Mathematics, Statistics, Demography, Economics, Education, Geography, Political Science, or Sociology, among others. For a complete position description, visit <https://apply.interfolio.com/130125>. Review of applications will begin on October 14, 2023, and continue until the position is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/17/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12294

University of Rochester

Rank: Tenure-Track Assistant Professor in Computational Social Science

The University of Rochester seeks applicants for a tenure-track assistant professor in computational social science. This will be a joint appointment between the Goergen Institute for Data Science (GIDS) and a tenure home department in Political Science, Economics, or Linguistics, depending on which best aligns with the applicant's research and teaching. Exceptional candidates in all areas of computational social science are encouraged to apply.

Applicants must have (or be about to receive) a doctorate in computer science, data science, operations research, applied mathematics, statistics, economics, linguistics, political science, or a related discipline. Candidates should have strong skills in computational social science and/or data analytics, as well as a research agenda that uses these methods to analyze substantive issues in political science, economics, or linguistics.

Teaching responsibilities for this position will be split between GIDS and the home department. The successful candidate will have the opportunity to supervise PhD, Master's, and undergraduate students at the home department and at GIDS.

All applications should include a letter of interest, curriculum vitae, research statement, teaching statement, and samples of written work. Candidates without a prior tenure-track appointment should include a graduate transcript. Applicants must also arrange for three letters of recommendation to be submitted online. The University of Rochester is firmly committed to advancing equity and fostering an inclusive and diverse community. We ask candidates to include a statement detailing their past work and future plans for achieving these goals.

Application materials should be submitted online at: www.rochester.edu/faculty-recruiting. We will begin reviewing applications on September 15, 2023. Applications will continue to be reviewed on a rolling basis until a candidate is hired or until February 1, 2024.

The Goergen Institute for Data Science (GIDS) was founded in 2015 as part of the University of Rochester's $100 million commitment to making data science its top research priority. The Institute serves as a hub for interdisciplinary data science research, interdepartmental data science academic programs, and collaborations with industry. GIDS is housed in the newly constructed Wegmans Hall, a brand-new, 58,000-square-foot building completed in 2017. The Institute offers Bachelor of Arts, Bachelor of Science, and Master of Science degrees, as well as an Advanced Graduate Certificate program in data science for professionals. A Doctoral degree in data science is undergoing the formal approval process, with a first cohort of students expected in 2024. Eighty-five faculty members from a variety of disciplines across the campus are affiliated with GIDS. Areas of expertise of these faculty members include foundations of AI and ML; health analytics and digital health; life sciences and biomedical data science; imaging science, visual science, and optics; human-data-system interfaces; AI-augmented learning and work; audio and music engineering; economics and business data analytics; computational social science; materials design; network data science; and robotics. With a unique structure, GIDS fosters industry engagement via the Center of Excellence (CoE) in Data Science. The CoE helps drive regional economic development through basic research, training, and technology development in all areas related to data science. The University of Rochester is a private, Tier I research institution with approximately 6,600 undergraduates and 5,500 graduate students. We are deeply committed to building a more diverse and representative faculty, and strongly encourage applications from groups underrepresented in STEM and in higher education. We are actively working to improve the environment for all underrepresented groups as we strive to weave diversity, equity, and inclusion throughout the University's mission to learn, discover, heal, and create. Anchoring the Finger Lakes region of Western New York State, the greater Rochester area is home to over a million people, and offers unsurpassed quality of life, with a thriving arts scene, excellent public schools, affordable housing, and a huge range of cultural and recreational opportunities.

<https://www.sas.rochester.edu/dsc/about/jobs.html>

Salary Range: $110,000.00 - $180,000.00

Start Date: Summer 2024

Application Deadline: 2/1/2024

Date Posted: 8/17/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12287

Central Intelligence Agency

Rank: Analyst

Subfield(s): International Relations, Methodology, Comparative Politics

Specializations: Bureaucracy & Organizational Behavior, Conflict Processes, Economic Policy

Let's Reach New Heights Together!

- The CIA has numerous full-time positions as well as undergraduate and graduate internships and scholarships.
- There are opportunities for foreign travel, language training, and overseas postings. CIA provides competitive salaries, relocation expenses, and student loan repayment programs.
- All positions require US citizenship, relocation to the Washington, DC metropolitan area, and a top-secret security clearance.

Featured Positions:

- Leadership Analyst: <https://www.cia.gov/careers/jobs/leadership-analyst/>
- Political Analyst: <https://www.cia.gov/careers/jobs/political-analyst/>
- Analytic Methodologist: <https://www.cia.gov/careers/jobs/analytic-methodologist/>

Please visit us on CIA.GOV/CAREERS, bring a hard copy resume, two sample writings (3-5 pages max), and an unofficial transcript to CIA booth #505 and meet with a CIA Recruiter.

Start Date:Application Deadline: Open until FilledDate Posted: 8/14/2023Salary: CompetitiveeJobs ID: 12105Yale University*Rank: Assistant/Associate/Full Professor, Quantitative Political ScienceSubfield(s): Comparative Politics, American Government and Politics, MethodologySpecializations: Quantitative Methods, Political Economy, American PoliticsPosition Description

The Department of Political Science at Yale University is seeking to hire a faculty member with expertise in Quantitative Political Science at the rank of Assistant, Associate, or Full Professor with substantive expertise in American Politics, Comparative Politics, Political Economy, International Relations, or the intersection of these fields, beginning July 1, 2024. This is not a position solely in quantitative methodology; we instead seek a scholar who would be comfortable teaching courses in quantitative research methods and who applies methods of quantitative political science to applied questions in their area of expertise.

Qualifications

If candidates are appointed at the untenured level, the initial appointment will be for 5 years. The teaching expectation is normally 3 courses per academic year.

Ph.D. or equivalent degree required at time of hire.

Application Instructions

All applications must include a cover letter, CV, and a list of 3 references. Untenured candidates should also supply 3 recommendation letters, 2 writing samples, and separate short (2 pages or less) research and teaching statements. All materials should be uploaded to Interfolio at <http://apply.interfolio.com/129106>. Review of applications will begin September 15, 2023, and to guarantee full consideration your file should be complete by this date.

Please contact Ms. Xaria Callender, Sr. Administrative Assistant for the Political Science Department, at xaria.callender@yale.edu if you have questions about the application process.

Start Date: Fall 2024Application Deadline: 7/31/2024Date Posted: 8/7/2023Salary: NegotiableeJobs ID: 12215Northwestern University*Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor in Political Science (2023-24), International Relations and U.S. Foreign PolicySubfield(s): International Relations, Methodology, OpenSpecializations: Foreign Policy, International Security, International Political Economy

To apply, please complete the following form and upload your application dossier here: <https://app.smartsheet.com/b/form/463ea03dad5344b38ae0e98bf0b96825>

463ea03dad5344b38ae0e98bf0b96825>APPLICATION PORTAL

The Department of Political Science at Northwestern invites applications for a Visiting Assistant Professor (VAP) in the field of International Relations, with a preference for candidates with experience teaching Introduction to International Relations &/or Introduction to Comparative Politics, U.S. Foreign Policy, National Security, Globalization, Environmental Politics, International Relations Theory, or related subjects. This is a one-year position with the possibility of renewal for the 2024-25 academic year. We seek a teacher-scholar with a Ph.D. degree in political science. ABD candidates nearing completion of their degree requirement will be considered in the search. Successful candidates for the position will teach six courses, distributed across three quarters that comprise Northwestern's academic calendar. Candidates are welcome to teach 6 unique courses, but applicants should expect to prepare no more than 4 courses, including at least one quarter of an introductory course.

Excellent candidates for this position will be able to teach an introductory undergraduate course in the field of International Relations as well as more advanced courses in the candidate's area of expertise. The Visiting Assistant Professor will have additional opportunities for teaching and research collaboration with the Institute for Policy Research, the Weinberg College Center for International and Area Studies, the Center for the Study of Diversity and Democracy, and the Buffett Institute for Global Affairs, the Global Poverty Research Lab, among other regional and thematic clusters related to the candidate's expertise.

Review will begin immediately and continue until the position is filled. Applications received by Friday, August 18th will receive full consideration.

To apply, please complete the following form and upload your application dossier.

Required Materials:

Curriculum Vitae

Graduate Program Transcripts (unofficial welcome)

Research Statement

Teaching Statement

Evidence of Teaching Effectiveness

List of at least 3 references with contact information

For inquiries about the job advertisement or application, please reach out to Stephen Monteiro, Business Administrator in the Department of Political Science, by email: stephen.monteiro@northwestern.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2023Application Deadline: Open until FilledDate Posted: 8/3/2023Salary: CompetitiveeJobs ID: 12206University of North Carolina, Charlotte*Rank: Postdoctoral ResearcherSubfield(s): Comparative Politics, Methodology, International Relations

We invite applications for a postdoctoral research position with strong data analysis and management skills to work on a multi-year project on "Collective Shocks and Social Preferences" led by Professors James Walsh and Alexander Kustov at the University of North Carolina at Charlotte.

The project examines how people's social preferences, such as altruism and trust, are affected by negative collective shocks such as wars, natural disasters, or economic disruptions. Some studies find that these shocks make people more prosocial, but others find that they reduce cooperation. Since most of this research focuses on just one region or outcome, it is hard to know whether the results are generalizable. To address this question, the project aims to create a comprehensive cross-national time-series dataset on various shocks and preferences at the subnational level.

The postdoctoral position is a full-time research-focused role to lead the construction of the dataset for the project. The role includes:

- * Leading the data collection and management efforts needed to construct the original dataset, including cross-national surveys on social preferences and administrative data on collective shocks.
- * Conducting and publishing high-quality research in close collaboration and under the guidance of project leaders.
- * Dedicating time to personal research as part of the position (approximately 40%).
- * Participating in the broader intellectual life of the Department of Political Science and Public Administration, and the interdisciplinary Public Policy and Data Science programs.

The Postdoctoral appointee must have recently (within the last eight years) been awarded a Ph.D. or equivalent doctorate. Strong training and skills in quantitative data analysis in R is required. Preference will be given to applicants with demonstrated skills in one or more of the following areas: data management, survey methodology, multilevel regression, causal inference, machine learning, cross-national research. Preference is also given to applicants with research interests in one or more of the following areas related to the project: conflict and cooperation, political economy, political psychology, state capacity, social preferences, migration.

Postdoc appointments are characterized by all of the following conditions:

- * the appointee was recently (within the last eight years) awarded a Ph.D. or equivalent doctorate (e.g., Sc.D., M.D.);
- * the appointment is temporary;
- * the appointment involves substantially full-time research or scholarship;
- * the appointment is viewed as preparatory for a full-time academic and/or research career;
- * the appointee works under the supervision of a faculty member; and
- * the appointee has the freedom and is expected to publish the results of his or her research or scholarship during the period of appointment.

Screening of applicants will begin on August 15, 2023 and continue until the position is filled. The position is renewable based on performance. For further information, please contact James Walsh (jwalsh@charlotte.edu) and Alexander Kustov (akustov@charlotte.edu).

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/28/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12171

University of Iowa

Rank: Assistant Professor

Assistant Professor in American Politics and Computational Social Science

The Department of Political Science at the University of Iowa invites applications for a tenure-track position at the rank of Assistant Professor with a focus in American Politics and Computational Social Science (e.g. Machine learning, text/audio/video as data, networks, big data). The Department welcomes applications from candidates in any subfield in American politics who are doing research using computational social science approaches. Candidates must be able to teach courses in American politics as well as introductory and advanced graduate quantitative methods courses, including computational social science courses. Candidates should clearly describe their research and teaching interests in their letter of application and include a CV, research statement, teaching statement, writing sample, teaching evaluations, and letters of recommendation.

The position will begin on August 21, 2024, and the appointment requires a Ph.D. in Political Science or Government by start date. The review of applicants will begin September 12, 2023 and will continue until the position is filled.

For information on how to apply, please visit <http://jobs.uiowa.edu/> and reference Requisition #74875. Electronic attachments to the online application include a letter of interest, curriculum vitae, research statement, teaching statement, writing sample, teaching evaluations and information for 3 letters of reference. Question can be directed to polisci@uiowa.edu.

The University of Iowa is an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer. All qualified applicants are encouraged to apply and will receive consideration for employment free from discrimination on the basis of race, creed, color, religion, national origin, age, sex, pregnancy (including childbirth and related conditions), disability, genetic information, status as a U.S. veteran, service in the U.S. military, sexual orientation, gender identity, or associational preferences.

Required Qualifications

- PhD in Political Science, Government, or related field by start date.
- Has a primary research and teaching specialty in American Politics
- Has conducted research using Computational Social Science methods
- Ability to teach American Politics and Computational Social Science classes at the graduate level.

Desirable Qualifications

- Ability to publish in general field refereed journals or books
- Demonstrated strong computational social science data modeling skills
- Ability to be an effective instructor

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/18/2023

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 12109

American UniversityRank: Assistant Professor

The Department of Government in the School of Public Affairs at American University invites applications for two full-time, tenure-track positions beginning in Academic Year 2024-25. The positions will be at the rank of Assistant Professor. The Department is seeking American Politics scholars and Political Methodologists with substantive expertise in American politics. Applications from candidates who would enhance the diversity of the department are especially welcome.

Applicants should hold a PhD. Candidates should be effective teachers and must be strongly committed to excellence in scholarly research. The search is open regarding areas of substantive specialty, but the Department is especially interested in scholars whose research and teaching interests include American political institutions. Most of all, the department seeks scholars who will further its goals of producing high impact research and providing innovative undergraduate and graduate teaching. Applications are particularly welcome from scholars who can contribute to high visibility centers and research initiatives at American University, such as the Women and Politics Institute, Center for Congressional and Presidential Studies, Center for Data Science, and Center for Environmental Policy. In addition to scholarship and teaching, all faculty are expected to hold office hours and participate in School and University activities and service.

Review of applications will begin on September 1, 2023, and will continue until the positions are filled, subject to on-going budgetary approvals. The positions begin August 1, 2024. Applicants should have a PhD or an anticipated PhD completion date by August 2024.

Salary and benefits are competitive. Please submit applications via: <http://apply.interfolio.com/128065>. Include a letter of application, curriculum vitae, three confidential letters of recommendation, research and teaching narratives, and a writing sample. Please contact Rachel Whelan, Faculty Coordinator, 202-885-6201 or spa_academicaffairs@american.edu if you have any questions.

Established in 1934, the School of Public Affairs offers undergraduate and graduate programs in the departments of Government; Justice, Law, & Criminology; and Public Administration & Policy. The School's programs are consistently ranked among the best in the field of public affairs by U.S. News & World Report. Learn more about the School of Public Affairs at www.american.edu/spa.

American University is a private institution within easy reach of the many centers of government, business, research, and the arts located within the nation's capital. For more information about American University, visit www.american.edu.

American University is an equal opportunity, affirmative action institution that operates in compliance with applicable laws and regulations. The university does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, national origin, religion, sex (including pregnancy), age, sexual orientation, disability, marital status, personal appearance, gender identity and expression, family responsibilities, political affiliation, source of income, veteran status, an individual's genetic information or any other bases under federal or local laws (collectively "Protected Bases") in its programs and activities.

Start Date: Fall 2024Application Deadline: Open until FilledDate Posted: 7/13/2023Salary: CompetitiveeJobs ID: 12091University of Michigan-Ann Arbor*Rank: Assistant Professor*Subfield(s): Methodology, Public Policy, Political TheorySpecializations: Quantitative Methods, Science & Technology, Political Economy

The Center for the Study of Complex Systems (CSCS) at the University of Michigan seeks applicants for a tenure-track faculty position in complex systems science. The Center is a broad, interdisciplinary unit whose faculty use and develop tools from applied mathematics, computation, physics, statistics, engineering, and network theory to understand questions in the social, biological, and physical sciences. This is a University-year appointment at the Assistant Professor level. The expected start date is August 26, 2024.

Required Qualifications: We seek applicants with a research agenda focused on the development and/or application of complex systems models and/or methods. This may involve theoretical or applied research in areas of complex systems including (but not limited to) mathematical and computational work in network science, computational approaches in complex systems and related topics in computer science, social science, emergence and robustness, or scientific applications where complex systems theory lies at the core of the approach such as: quantitative modeling of biological and social systems, complex systems approaches to systemic racism and health disparities, biological and social evolution, artificial life, and cognition. We are particularly interested in candidates with a record of working across disciplines.

How to Apply: All applications must be uploaded here: <https://webapps.lsa.umich.edu/apply/1700>

This faculty position will be in the Center for the Study of Complex Systems or joint between Complex Systems and another academic department or school at the University of Michigan. If a joint appointment is preferred, candidates should suggest possible partner departments or schools. Complex Systems has a tradition of jointly appointed faculty across a wide range of schools and colleges at the University of Michigan, however both joint and 100% Complex Systems appointments will be considered. Applicants must submit a CV, a statement of current and future research plans, a statement of teaching philosophy and experience, and evidence of teaching excellence, if any. At least three letters of recommendation are required and must be uploaded by the letter writers to the same website. Finally, please include a diversity statement that demonstrates your commitment to diversity, equity, and inclusion through scholarship/research, and/or teaching/mentoring, and/or service/engagement. There may be some overlap with your research proposal and teaching statements (1-3 pages).

Review of applications will begin on October 1, 2023 and continue until the position is filled.

Offers for this appointment are contingent on successful completion of a background screening. The University of Michigan is supportive of the needs of dual career couples and is an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer. Women and minority groups are encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2024Application Deadline: 10/1/2023Date Posted: 7/12/2023

Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 12090

European University Institute

Rank: Assistant Professor in Computational Social Science

The Department of Political and Social Sciences at the European University Institute seeks to appoint an Assistant Professor in Computational Social Science, broadly understood. The position is advertised at the rank of Assistant Professor to commence in the academic year 2024/25. We welcome applicants from candidates with a substantive research agenda either in political science or in sociology, and who integrate research ethics into their methods teaching and research. Please find more information about the position here: <https://www.eui.eu/About/JobOpportunities/Open-competitions-for-academic-posts> (Assistant Professor in Computational Social Science).

Start Date: Fall 2024
Application Deadline: 9/14/2023
Date Posted: 7/7/2023
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 12070

University of Michigan, Ann Arbor

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science
Subfield(s): Methodology, International Relations, Comparative Politics
Specializations: Political Behavior, Political Economy, Race & Ethnic Politics

The Department of Political Science at the University of Michigan is conducting an Assistant Professor search. The full job posting can be found below and at: https://careers.umich.edu/job_detail/235272/asst-professor

How to Apply
All applications must be submitted electronically to <https://apply.interfolio.com/126053>

Applicants should include the following application materials in PDF format: a cover letter, curriculum vitae, a concise statement describing current and future plans for research, a statement of teaching philosophy and experience, evidence of teaching excellence (if any), writing samples, graduate transcripts, and a statement of activities contributing to diversity, equity, and inclusion in academia. Applications should also submit three letters of recommendation.

Summary

The University of Michigan's Department of Political Science invites applications from outstanding candidates for a tenure track position for a scholar who combines advanced skills in Methods of Causal Inference, Big Data, Computational Social Science, Data Science, and/or Field Experiments, open with respect to substantive interest; the department has specific interests in international political economy, comparative developing countries, and political behavior in race and ethnic politics.

This position is at the assistant professor rank and is a university year appointment. It is anticipated to begin August 26, 2024. Promise of excellence in research and teaching is required.

Application Instructions

Applicants should include the following application materials in PDF format: a cover letter, curriculum vitae, a concise statement describing current and future plans for research, a statement of teaching philosophy and experience, evidence of teaching excellence (if any), writing samples, graduate transcripts, and a statement of activities contributing to diversity, equity, and inclusion in academia. Applications should also submit three letters of recommendation. Information on our research initiatives and scholarly interests of current faculty can be found on the Department's website: <https://lsa.umich.edu/polisci>.

For full consideration, complete applications should be submitted by August 31, 2023.

The University of Michigan conducts background checks on all job candidates and may use a third-party administrator to conduct background checks. Background checks will be performed in compliance with the Fair Credit Reporting Act and offers for this appointment are contingent on successful completion of a background screening.

The University of Michigan is committed to fostering and maintaining a diverse work culture that respects the rights of each individual, without regard to race, color, national origin, ancestry, religious creed, sex, gender identity, sexual orientation, gender expression, height, weight, marital status, disability, medical condition, age, or veteran status. The University of Michigan is supportive of the needs of dual career couples and is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer. Women and minorities are encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2024
Application Deadline: 8/31/2023
Date Posted: 6/7/2023
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 12007

NON-ACADEMIC

OPEN

Eastern Illinois University

Rank: Department Chair

Eastern Illinois University invites applications for a full-time, 12-month, Chair for the Department of Political Science to begin July 1, 2024 (academic rank to be determined based on qualifications). Under the direction of the Dean of the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences, the Chair serves as the chief administrative and academic officer of the department with primary responsibility for the leadership, supervision, coordination, and administration of programs and activities of the department in a shared governance environment.

The Department of Political Science offers a BA with two options (Civic and Nonprofit Leadership and International Studies), two undergraduate minors (Political Science and Civic and Nonprofit Leadership) a 6-year joint BA/JD program in cooperation with Northern Illinois University, a face-to-face MA in Political Science, an online MA in Political Science with an option in Public Administration & Public Policy, an online graduate certificate in Public Planning, and an accelerated BA/MA program. The Department also collaborates closely with the Social Science Teacher Licensure program and the Pre-Law Studies minor.

Primary Responsibilities:

- Develop, review, and lead the implementation of the department's mission
- Provide leadership on curriculum, instruction, and academic advising
- Promote diversity, equity, and inclusive excellence among faculty, staff, and students in the department
- Facilitate communications among department, college, university, community, and alumni stakeholders
- Recruit, make recommendations for hiring, supervise, and evaluate high quality faculty and staff
- Encourage professional development of faculty
- Facilitate student recruitment and marketing
- Manage financial resources to accomplish the department's mission
- Oversee the administration of departmental scholarship funds
- Teach one course per semester

Qualifications: Required qualifications include a doctorate in a discipline represented within the Department, leadership experience, excellent written communication skills, and evidence of achievement in teaching, research, and service. A successful candidate will demonstrate excellent oral communication and interpersonal skills, and the ability to lead the faculty through collegial processes in the Department. Demonstrated commitment to diversity and inclusive excellence is required.

Application Instructions: Review of application materials will begin October 30 and continue until the position is filled. A complete application includes a letter of application addressing the position requirements, curriculum vita, unofficial transcripts (official transcripts will be required at the time of hiring), and names, addresses, email addresses, and phone numbers of five references. Application materials should be addressed to Dr. Angela Vietto, Search Committee Chair, Political Science Department Chair Search and uploaded to the Interfolio link at <http://apply.interfolio.com/132951>. For questions about the search, please contact Dr. Vietto at arvietto@eiu.edu or by phone at 217-581-2428.

The University and Community

Eastern Illinois University takes pride in creating a warm, welcoming environment for all faculty, staff and students. Established in 1895, EIU boasts a rich tradition of preparing students for their personal and professional goals. A traditional regional residential institution, EIU offers a superior education at a relatively low cost while consistently earning high rankings and distinctions for its affordability, academic program quality, career placement rates, campus safety, online degree options, student support, and sustainability initiatives. EIU focuses on individualized attention and superior student relationships and has earned recognition as the highest-ranking independent public regional university in Illinois and a place among the Midwest's top public regional universities according to U.S. News and World Report. EIU hosts more than 175 student organizations on campus, and offers a variety of cultural events, NCAA Division I athletics, and active research opportunities for its students to enjoy and to thrive. EIU has become recognized for providing the resources of a large institution while creating the kinds of individual relationships that support student and alumni success.

Eastern Illinois University is located in Charleston, Illinois – a comfortable and safe east central town within a two-to three-hour drive of three major metropolitan areas -- Chicago, Indianapolis, and St. Louis.

Diversity and Inclusion: Eastern Illinois University is committed to fostering a learning community where all members feel welcomed and valued. The university provides equality of opportunity in all areas of campus life and we strive to recognize and appreciate the unique value of our students, faculty, and staff. Every member of campus has the right to learn and work in an environment free of discrimination and harassment, and beyond that, our goal is for all members of our community to develop a strong sense of belonging to Eastern Illinois University.

Start Date: Summer 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/25/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12605

Indiana University - Bloomington

Rank: Tenure Track/Tenured Professor of Global Health Governance

The Hamilton Lugar School of Global and International Studies at Indiana University-Bloomington is inviting applications for a full-time position in Global Health Governance to begin on August 1, 2024. This is an open rank tenured/tenure track position in the school's multidisciplinary Department of International Studies.

The successful candidate will have a strong research and teaching record in global health issues, with a particular emphasis on international governance and institutions. Expertise in the sociocultural, historical, or political dimensions of governmental or non-governmental global health organizations and/ or institutions would be particularly welcome. Candidates should hold a PhD or equivalent in a relevant discipline in the social sciences or humanities and an outstanding record of research, publication, teaching and professional service (appropriate to their rank). The selected candidate will be appointed at the rank of Assistant Professor, Associate Professor, or Professor, depending upon their qualifications.

Interested candidates should review the application requirements and submit the following documentation within their portfolio of materials: a cover letter highlighting their research and teaching, a curriculum vitae, two writing samples, and the names of three academic references. Candidates may choose to submit a diversity statement as an optional supplement to their application if so inclined. Interested candidates should review the application requirements and submit their application at: <https://indiana.peopleadmin.com/postings/20118>

Review of applications will begin immediately and continue until the position is filled. All applications received by January 5, 2024 will be guaranteed full consideration.

Indiana University is an equal employment and affirmative action employer and a provider of ADA services. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment based on individual qualifications. Indiana University prohibits discrimination based on age, ethnicity, color, race, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, genetic information, marital status, national origin, disability status or protected veteran status.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Date Posted: 9/25/2023

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 12606

Johns Hopkins University

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow in Racial Politics

Subfield(s): Open, Other, Other

The Department of Political Science at The Johns Hopkins University invites applications for the position of postdoctoral fellow in racial politics for a three-year term with an anticipated start date of July 1, 2024. We seek outstanding scholars of Political Science whose research examines the political production of race and racism. The successful candidate will be committed to cutting-edge inquiry in one or more of the major subfields of Political Science (American Politics, International Relations, Political Theory, and Comparative Politics) and is interested in reshaping the discipline. The successful candidate will be expected to contribute to grant applications, so experience in grant-writing is advantageous. The successful candidate will also be expected to teach one course per academic year. Aside from these duties, the successful candidate will be encouraged to and supported in pursuing their own research projects. The Department is committed to conducting a broad and inclusive search for a candidate who will contribute to the diversity and excellence of the academic community.

Qualifications:

A Ph.D. is required, but we will accept applications from doctoral students expected to fulfill Ph. D degree requirements by July 1, 2024.

Application Instructions: Applications should include a cover letter, CV, a description of scholarly and teaching activity, and three letters of reference.

All application material should be submitted online via Interfolio. Review of applications will begin on October 16th 2023 and will continue until the position is filled.

Start Date: Summer 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/25/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12607

Northern Arizona University

Rank: Assistant Professor

Assistant Professor

Location: Politics & Int'l Affairs

Regular/Temporary: Regular

Job ID: 607490

Full/Part Time: Full-Time

Workplace Culture

NAU aims to be the nation's preeminent engine of opportunity, vehicle of economic mobility, and driver of social impact by delivering equitable postsecondary value in Arizona and beyond.

<https://nau.edu/president/strategic-plan/>

About NAU

Northern Arizona University serves almost 30,000 students. We are a vibrant community, with 21,000 students in Flagstaff—the home of our largest campus—and the remainder online or at our 20+ statewide locations. Our institution has carefully integrated on-campus education with distance learning, forming seamless avenues for students to earn degrees.

Committed to an inclusive university environment, NAU has all the benefits of a large institution with a personal touch. We carefully balance teaching, scholarship, and service for faculty members. Supporting our core value of student-centrism, NAU's faculty members promote learning and help students reach academic milestones.

Flagstaff is an outdoorsy mountain town with four seasons and a thriving cultural scene. Located at 7,000 feet, Flagstaff houses 70,000 people and sits at the base of the sacred San Francisco Peaks.

For more about inclusive excellence at NAU, visit the <https://in.nau.edu/center-for-university-access-and-inclusion/>.

About the Department/College

Housed in the College of Social & Behavioral Science, the Department of Politics and International Affairs consists of 20 full-time permanent faculty members, 11 of whom are tenure-track or tenured. We are a community of political scientists dedicated to excellence in teaching, research, and service. We use the study of politics to empower scholars, students, and the public at large to use critical thinking and communication skills to expand curiosity and integrity in our diverse and ever-changing world. We have approximately 450 undergraduate majors (Fall 2023), as well as MA, MPA, and PhD programs.

About the Position

The Department of Politics and International Affairs (PIA) is seeking a Tenure-Track Assistant Professor of American Institutions and American Politics. We are looking for a dynamic candidate with a strong background in American politics and a passion for teaching and research. The successful candidate should be an American politics generalist. The candidate should have a demonstrated record of teaching undergraduate/graduate courses related to American institutions and American politics. (e.g., American institutions, branches of government, the U.S. Constitution, and American government agencies). The standard teaching load in the College of Social and Behavioral Sciences is 3-3, although additional responsibilities can reduce this load. The applicant's area of research expertise should be related to American institutions and politics, and they should have a demonstrated record and potential for future publications in this field. The successful applicant will coordinate, teach, and train graduate students in American institutions and politics. Preferably, the successful candidate would have applied experiences in their past scholarship or work such as studying or working with lobbyists, legislators, non-profits, campaigns, or government agencies. Furthermore, the successful candidate would have experiences and networks that lend themselves to applied student experiences.

The successful candidate will actively participate in research and teaching, while also advancing the mission of the Department of Politics and International Affairs and the <https://nau.edu/college-social-behavioral-sciences/>, contributing to our research and teaching missions on the Flagstaff Mountain campus.

We encourage applications from individuals who meet some or all of the preferred qualifications. Where you do not have direct experience, please describe course work, training, other similar experiences, and/or evidence of interest that may demonstrate your ability to succeed in this position.

Responsibilities Include:

- Delivering engaging instruction in American institutions and politics, including large freshmen classes.
- Engaging in scholarly research related to American institutions and politics, and serving the department and university in various committees.
- Cultivating collaborative relationships with graduate students.
- Mentoring and guiding both undergraduate and graduate students in American institutions and politics.
- Fostering a diverse and inclusive learning environment.
- Coordinating, teaching, and mentoring graduate students in their roles as instructors for American institutions and politics courses.

This position is a 9-month tenure track position.

This position is an on-site position which requires the incumbent to complete their work primarily at an NAU site, campus, or facility with or without accommodation. Opportunities for remote work are rare.

Minimum Qualifications

- A Ph.D. in Political Science, or a closely related field conferred by appointment date.
- Demonstrated record of teaching or ability to teach American institutions and American politics.
- Demonstrated record of publications or ability to publish in the field of American institutions and American politics.

Preferred Qualifications

- Two or more years of undergraduate teaching experience of American institutions and politics.
- Experience or interest in teaching in American institutions and politics at the graduate level (e.g., research expertise, experiences).
- Evidence of a strong research agenda.
- Experience with mentoring, guiding, and coordinating graduate students for teaching and research in the field of American institutions and politics.
- Professional background and experiences that are related to applied student experiences (e.g., governmental, nonprofit, campaign, or legislative experiences).
- Experience and success in fostering and creating a collaborative, inclusive, and supportive learning and working environment that forwards <https://nau.edu/president/strategic-plan/> goals.

Knowledge, Skills, & Abilities

- Knowledge of public education needs.
- Knowledge of learning management systems.
- Knowledge of instructional design, effective pedagogy, and innovative learning methodologies.
- Program development skills.
- Effective leadership and active listening skills.
- Effective communication.
- Ability to teach a wide variety of courses.
- Ability to advocate for faculty, staff, and students in the department.

Compensation & Benefits

Salary range begins at $70,000. Annual salary commensurate with candidate's qualifications and related experience.

This is a Faculty (FAC) position. NAU offers an excellent benefit package including generous health, dental and vision insurance; participation in the Arizona State Retirement System (ASRS) or the Optional Retirement Program (ORP); sick leave accruals and 10 holidays per year; and tuition reduction for employees and qualified family members. More information on benefits at NAU is available at the NAU <https://nau.edu/Human-Resources/Benefits/>. Faculty are hired on a contract basis, renewable according to terms of the <http://nau.edu/Provost/Resources-Policies/>. Employees offered a position will be eligible for state health plans (including NAU's BCBS Plan). Employees will have 31 days from date of hire to enroll in benefits, and their benefits will then be effective the first day of the pay period following their completed enrollment. If a new employee chooses the Arizona State Retirement System (ASRS) retirement option, participation in the ASRS Plan (and the long-term disability coverage that accompanies it) will begin on the first of the pay period following 183 days of employment. New employees who choose to participate in the Optional Retirement Plan (ORP; an alternative to the ASRS plan) will begin to participate on the first day of the pay period following election. The long-term disability plan that accompanies the ORP will begin on the first day of the pay period following election. More information about NAU benefits is available at the NAU <https://nau.edu/Human-Resources/Benefits/>.

Pre-Employment Check

Northern Arizona University requires satisfactory results for the following: a criminal background investigation, an employment history verification and a degree verification (in some cases) prior to employment. You may also be required to complete a fingerprint background check. Additionally, as an employer in the state of Arizona, NAU is required to participate in the federal E-Verify program that assists employers with verifying new employees' right to work in the United States. Finally, each year Northern Arizona University releases an <https://in.nau.edu/police-department/annual-security-and-fire-safety-reports/>. The report is a result of a federal law known as the Clery Act. The report includes Clery reportable crime statistics for the three most recent completed calendar years and discloses procedures, practices and programs NAU uses to keep students and employees safe including how to report crimes or other emergencies occurring on campus. In addition, the <https://in.nau.edu/police-department/annual-security-and-fire-safety-reports/> is combined with the Annual Security Report for the NAU Flagstaff Mountain Campus as this campus has on-campus student housing. This report discloses fire safety policies and procedures related to on-campus student housing and statistics for fires that occurred in those facilities. If you would like a free paper copy of the report, please contact the NAUPD Records Department at (928) 523-8884 or by visiting the department at 525 E. Pine Knoll Drive in Flagstaff.

FLSA Status

This position is exempt from the overtime provisions of the Fair Labor Standards Act (FLSA) and therefore will not earn overtime or compensatory time for additional time worked.

Submit Your Application

Vacancy will remain open until filled. Applications received before October 23, 2023 will receive full consideration.

To apply for this position, please click on the "Apply" button at the end of the job description (if viewing this position through the NAU HR website). Otherwise, to view the original post and to apply, proceed to <http://nau.jobs>, follow the 'Current Openings' link, locate vacancy 607490, and then "Apply" at the bottom of the page.

Application must include (saved as PDF and/or Word documents):

- a cover letter highlighting your particular qualifications for this position;
- a curriculum vitae; and
- names and contact information for three references.

Please do not include any other documents.

If you need assistance completing your application there are instructions available on the <https://in.nau.edu/human-resources/employment-application-instructions/> or in person in the Human Resources Department located in Building 91 on the NAU Campus - on the corner of Beaver and DuPont Streets.

If you are an individual with a disability and need a reasonable accommodation to participate in the hiring process, please contact the Disability Resources Office at 928-523-8773, <http://DR@nau.edu>, or PO Box 5633, Flagstaff AZ 86011.

Equal Employment Opportunity

Northern Arizona University is a committed Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Institution. Women, minorities, veterans and individuals with disabilities are encouraged to apply. NAU is responsive to the needs of dual career couples.

<https://in.nau.edu/Human-Resources/Posters-Required-by-Law/>

NAU is an Employer of National Service. AmeriCorps, Peace Corps, and other National Service alumni are encouraged to apply.

To apply, visit <https://apptrkr.com/4630341>

Copyright ©2022 Jobelephant.com Inc. All rights reserved.

<https://www.jobelephant.com/>

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 10/25/2023

Date Posted: 9/25/2023

Salary: $70,000 - $79,999

eJobs ID: 12609

Brown University

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellows at the Africa Initiative at Watson Institute for International and Public Affairs at Brown University, 2024-2026

Postdoctoral Fellows at the Africa Initiative at Watson Institute for International and Public Affairs at Brown University, 2024-2026

As part of a broader commitment to develop its programmatic focus on Africa, the Watson Institute for International and Public Affairs at Brown University seeks to appoint two two-year postdoctoral fellows who will participate actively in the ongoing Africa Initiative. Broadly, the Watson Institute aspires to promote a just and peaceful world through research, teaching, and public engagement. The Africa Initiative postdoctoral fellows will contribute to this core mission with a specific focus on Africa. A main aim is to galvanize the careers of young social scientists conducting research in Africa related to the Institute's three core thematic areas: development, governance, and security. Participants in this program will join an interdisciplinary community of scholars engaged in theoretically and substantively important research addressing the most pressing global issues of our time. Fellows receive two years of support, with the expectation that they will pursue research and participate fully in the intellectual life of the Africa Initiative and the Institute. Fellows will also teach one course per year in the Institute or in an affiliated Brown University social science department. Watson Institute is especially interested in qualified candidates who can contribute, through their research, teaching, and/or service, to the diversity and excellence of the academic community.

Founded in 1764, Brown is a leading research university distinct for its student-centered learning and deep sense of purpose. Brown University students, faculty, and staff are driven by the idea that their work will have an impact on the world. Brown is a place where rigorous scholarship, complex problem-solving, and service to the public good are defined by collaboration, intellectual discovery, and working in ways that transcend traditional disciplinary boundaries.

The fellowship competition is open to candidates from the social sciences, including anthropology, economics, history, political science, and sociology. The selection process is open with regard to nationality. Candidates from or located in Africa strongly encouraged to apply. Scholars who have received their PhDs within three years of the application deadline are eligible to apply. Fellows will receive an annual stipend of $75,000, for this benefits-eligible position. Additional funding will be made available for research expenses and research-related programming on campus. Candidates selected for the postdoctoral fellows' positions who have not completed their dissertations by July 1, 2024, will be paid a reduced salary until their dissertation is defended.

To receive full consideration, the following materials should be submitted by November 15, 2023, to the application portal: <http://apply.interfolio.com/131819>

- A cover letter stating the applicant's academic field, status of their dissertation, and proposed research to be conducted during their fellowship period. The cover letter should not exceed 2,000 words and should make clear the focus on Africa as well as where in the Institute's core areas of security, development, or governance the proposed research best fits. Please also include a statement about teaching in a diverse and inclusive classroom.

- An up-to-date curriculum vitae.
- A copy of each graduate transcript.
- A writing sample.
- Three letters of recommendation from scholars familiar with the applicant's research.

Review of applications will begin on November 15, 2023; to receive full consideration applications should be received by that date. Awards will be announced in February 2024.

For further information regarding the Watson Institute Africa Initiative Postdoctoral Fellows position, please contact:

Professor Daniel Jordan Smith, Director of the Africa Initiative, Watson Institute for International and Public Affairs: daniel_j_smith@brown.edu

Brown University is situated on the East Side of Providence, on historic College Hill, overlooking downtown Providence. The area around Brown has a friendly, residential atmosphere, with plentiful housing options, shopping, cafés, and restaurants, all within walking distance of campus. With its low cost of living and historic architecture, the capital city is a vibrant place to live and work that offers a dynamic arts and culture scene, including many music, theater, and art venues. Located in southern New England, the State of Rhode Island features more than 400 miles of coastline and 100 beaches. Beautiful farms, vineyards, orchards, wooded trails, and numerous historic towns cover its 1200 square miles.

Start Date: Summer 2023

Application Deadline: 11/15/2023

Date Posted: 9/22/2023

Salary: $70,000 - $79,999

eJobs ID: 12595

Northwestern University

Rank: 2024-26 SPAN Postdoctoral Fellows

Specializations: Gender Politics & Policy, Lesbian & Gay Studies, Women & Politics

The Sexualities Project at Northwestern (SPAN) invites applications for two-year postdoctoral fellowships in Sexuality Studies, to run from September 1, 2024 through August 31, 2026. Applications are welcome from scholars who study sexuality from a social science perspective (broadly construed). Each Fellow's appointment will be a joint one: in the Gender & Sexuality Studies Program and in another department relevant to the Fellow's research interests. We are particularly interested in candidates who could affiliate with one of the following participating departments: Anthropology, Black Studies, Communication Studies, History, Human Development and Social Policy, Linguistics, Performance Studies, Political Science, Religious Studies, or Sociology. That is, the Fellow must have relevant expertise in both Sexuality Studies and one of these other disciplines, and must be prepared to teach courses that reflect that combined expertise.

Fellows will pursue a program of independent scholarship under the guidance of a faculty mentor and will teach two undergraduate courses (typically one seminar and one lecture course) over the course of each year. Northwestern is on the quarter system by which the Fellows' two courses will be distributed across three academic quarters. Fellows will also be expected to be active participants in SPAN's community of faculty and graduate students and, as applicable, in their affiliated department by attending talks and events, and by giving a public talk once each year. Finally, they will assist in the organization of on-campus educational activities such as the annual SPAN workshop.

Fellows will be expected to be in residence for each of the academic years of their appointment, and all teaching will be conducted in person.

Applicants with a PhD (or equivalent doctoral degree) must have completed it after September 1, 2020. Applicants without a PhD (or equivalent doctoral degree) must complete all the requirements for the degree before September 1, 2024. At time of application, the applicant must be available for the full two-year term of the Fellowship. The stipend is $64,000 in the first year of the fellowship. In addition, the Fellow is eligible for $4,000 per year to fund research and conference travel, and up to $2,000 for allowable relocation expenses in the first year. Up to $1,000 is also available for allowable travel expenses for an area visit prior to the start of the postdoc term. This is a full-time, benefits eligible position.

All application materials other than letters of recommendation must be received by 11:59 p.m. on December 1, 2023. The initial letter of recommendation is due no later than December 8, 2023. Given that your references will not receive submission instructions until you submit your completed application, we urge you to submit your application well before the deadline.

FAQs and submission instructions appear below. Administrative questions not addressed below should be directed to Ariel Clark-Semyck (mailto:sexualities@northwestern.edu; blankssexualities@northwestern.edu). Substantive questions not addressed below may be sent to the Co-Directors of SPAN, Héctor Carrillo (mailto:hector@northwestern.edu; blankhector@northwestern.edu) and Gregory Ward (mailto:gw@northwestern.edu; blankgw@northwestern.edu). For more information about Programs and Departments at Northwestern, visit: <https://offices.northwestern.edu/browse/A/academic>.

Northwestern requires all staff and faculty to be vaccinated against COVID-19, subject to limited exceptions. For more information, please visit our COVID-19 and Campus Updates website.

The Northwestern campus sits on the traditional homelands of the people of the Council of Three Fires, the Ojibwe, Potawatomi, and Odawa as well as the Menominee, Miami and Ho-Chunk nations. We acknowledge and honor the original people of the land upon which Northwestern University stands, and the Native people who remain on this land today.

Northwestern University is an Equal Opportunity, Affirmative Action Employer of all protected classes, including veterans and individuals with disabilities. Women, racial and ethnic minorities, individuals with disabilities, and veterans are encouraged to apply.

<https://www.sexualities.northwestern.edu/funding-opportunities/postdoc-applications/>; Click here for more details, and to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 12/1/2023

Date Posted: 9/22/2023

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 12589

Duke University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Public Policy

The Sanford School of Public Policy invites applicants for up to three tenure-track Assistant Professor positions across a range of policy areas including Climate, Development, Education, Health, Democratic Governance, Local/State Policy, Migration, Poverty, Social and Economic Inequality/Inequity, Social Safety Nets, and Urban Policy. The focus could be on domestic or global issues. We invite applicants with doctoral-level training in public policy and related disciplines, such as economics, political science, public health, psychology, or sociology. We welcome scholars with expertise in quantitative and qualitative research methods. Successful candidates will be expected to teach courses in Sanford's core curriculum, which includes policy analysis, political analysis, microeconomics, ethics, and statistics.

Duke University and the Sanford School of Public Policy are strongly committed to advancing inclusive excellence throughout our research, teaching, and service activities. A diverse faculty – defined broadly as representing a wide range of identities, lived experiences, and perspectives – is a prerequisite for excellence and is essential to driving innovation within our scholarly community. To achieve these goals, it is essential that all members of the community feel valued and welcome, that the contributions of all individuals are respected, and that all voices are heard. All members of our community are expected to uphold these values, and we seek to hire faculty who are passionate about increasing the participation and success of individuals from all different backgrounds and communities.

Interested candidates should submit the following materials for review: (i) cover letter describing their motivation to be part of a policy school; (ii) curriculum vitae; (iii) a representative research paper; (iv) a one- to two-page research statement that describes current and future research, as well as the ways that lived experience influences their approach to research; (v) a one-page statement describing their teaching philosophy, previous experiences, future plans for teaching, and experience and approach to fostering an inclusive learning and mentoring environment for their students; and (vi) the names of three references or three reference letters. The deadline for priority review is October 31, 2023. Applications will then be reviewed on a rolling basis until April 30, 2024, or until the position has been filled. To apply, visit this website: <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/25832>

Duke University is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer committed to providing employment opportunity without regard to an individual's age, color, disability, gender, gender expression, gender identity, genetic information, national origin, race, religion, sex, sexual orientation, or veteran status.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 4/30/2023

Date Posted: 9/21/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12580

LaGuardia Community College

Rank: Lecturer or Lecturer (Doctoral Schedule) - Political Science

Job Title: Lecturer or Lecturer (Doctoral Schedule) - Political Science
Job ID: 27331

Location: LaGuardia Community College

Full/Part Time: Full-Time

Regular/Temporary: Regular

FACULTY VACANCY ANNOUNCEMENT

LaGuardia Community College, located in Long Island City, Queens, educates more than 20,000 New Yorkers annually through degree, certificate, and continuing education programs. A Hispanic-Serving Institution, located in Long Island City, Queens offers more than 50 degrees and certificates, and more than 65 continuing education programs to educate New Yorkers seeking new skills and careers. As an institution of the City University of New York (CUNY), the College reflects the legacy of our namesake, Fiorello H. LaGuardia, the former NYC mayor beloved for his advocacy of underserved populations. Since 1971, LaGuardia's academic programs and support services have advanced the socioeconomic mobility of students while providing them with access to a high quality, affordable college education. Visit www.LaGuardia.edu to learn more.

The Social Science Department at LaGuardia Community College is seeking highly motivated and innovative candidates to fill one full-time position in Political Science at the Lecturer or Lecturer (Doctoral Schedule) level. Although lectureships are not tenure-track positions, lecturers who complete five years of service may apply for a Certificate of Continuous Employment, which provides job protection comparable to tenure.

Primary responsibilities will include teaching U.S. Power and Politics and other political science courses according to interest and need. The position carries a 4/4 teaching load, eight courses per academic year. The successful candidate will participate in departmental and college-wide initiatives and demonstrate cooperation with others for the good of the institution; provide academic advisement and student guidance; contribute to curriculum and program development; and participate in appropriate professional development. Candidates must demonstrate a strong commitment to undergraduate teaching and the ability to work with diverse populations.

QUALIFICATIONS

Lecturer: Master's degree in Political Science with teaching experience at the college level, required.

Lecturer (Doctoral Schedule): Ph.D. degree in Political Science with teaching experience at the college level, required.

PREFERRED QUALIFICATIONS

Ability to contribute to fostering inclusivity among culturally diverse faculty, staff, and student populations preferred.

COMPENSATION

For Lecturer: $52,072 - $83,764

For Lecturer (Doctoral Schedule): $56,821 - $88,998

CUNY offers faculty a competitive compensation and benefits package covering health insurance, pension and retirement benefits, paid parental leave, and savings programs. We also provide mentoring and support for research, scholarship, and publication as part of our commitment to ongoing faculty professional development.

HOW TO APPLY

From our job posting system (<http://cuny.jobs>), select "Apply Now" and create or log in to a user account, and provide the requested information. If you are viewing this posting from outside our system, access the employment page on our web site and search for this vacancy using the Job ID or Title.

Candidates should provide a cover letter, curriculum vitae (CV) and statement of teaching philosophy

CLOSING DATE

October 13th 2023

JOB SEARCH CATEGORY

CUNY Job Posting: Faculty

EQUAL EMPLOYMENT OPPORTUNITY

CUNY encourages people with disabilities, minorities, veterans and women to apply. At CUNY, Italian Americans are also included among our protected groups. Applicants and employees will not be discriminated against on the basis of any legally protected category, including sexual orientation or gender identity. EEO/AA/Vet/Disability Employer.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/21/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12582

Carnegie Mellon University

Rank: International Relations & Emerging Technologies-Multiple Faculty Lines

Subfield(s): International Relations, Methodology, Open

Carnegie Mellon University (CMU) has launched a major new initiative devoted to the wise development, use and governance of new and emerging technologies that are changing the national and international security landscape. As part of this forward-looking enterprise, the university seeks top tenure-line scholars in political science, international relations, and other related disciplines with established interest in emerging technologies relevant to international affairs.

We seek scholars at both the entry and senior levels. This is an outstanding opportunity to become part of a new, interdisciplinary initiative that will combine Carnegie Mellon's existing strengths in AI, cybersecurity, block chain, robotics, and other technologies, with scholarship focused on national security, international relations, ethics, law, and policy. We seek intellectually agile, innovative scholars willing to work cooperatively across disciplinary boundaries to tackle the challenges of emergent technologies for war and peace.

Background

Carnegie Mellon University (CMU) launched a major new interdisciplinary institute, the Carnegie Mellon Institute for Security and Technology (CMIST), in 2023. CMIST is a university-wide initiative devoted to the wise development, use, and governance of new and emerging technologies that are changing the national and international security landscape.

The home for Carnegie Mellon University's (CMU) study of Political Science and International Relations, CMIST is also uniquely poised to take advantage of the university's strengths in computer science and engineering and its distinctive tradition of collaborative, cross-university, cross-disciplinary research. CMU is ranked in the top five in the U.S. in Computer Science and in Engineering. It is ranked #1 in the subfields of artificial intelligence, computer engineering, cybersecurity, information systems, and software engineering. It has leading research institutes in areas such as robotics, machine learning, natural language technologies, human-computer interaction, engineering and public policy, and public policy and management--all designed to reach across disciplinary boundaries to solve key problems and address the highest-priority challenges facing humanity. Tying these areas of strength to crucial questions of strategy, security, ethics, and policy, CMIST is the newest addition to this rich CMU research landscape.

Carnegie Mellon University

Formally established in 1967, CMU is a dynamic R1 institution that has an exceptional impact on the world. Despite its relative youth, Carnegie Mellon consistently ranks in the top 25 US national universities. CMU is a global, research-intensive university with more than 14,000 students, more than 110,000 living alumni, approximately 5,000 faculty and staff, and over 100 research centers. It is a place of creativity, entrepreneurship, pragmatism, and ambition, with a tradition of strategically focusing its efforts and resources in areas where it can lead, then pursuing those areas with startling intensity. The research and teaching initiative in CMIST is just such a strategic undertaking.

Carnegie Mellon University is an equal opportunity employer and is committed to increasing the diversity of its community on a range of intellectual and cultural dimensions. Carnegie Mellon welcomes faculty applicants who will contribute to this diversity through their research, teaching and service, including women, members of minority groups, protected veterans, individuals with disabilities, and others who would contribute in different ways. Carnegie Mellon University seeks to meet the needs of dual-career couples and is a member of the Higher Education Recruitment Consortium (HERC) that assists with dual-career searches.

How to Apply

Applications should be submitted electronically via the Interfolio application system at <http://apply.interfolio.com/132453>. They should include the following:

For Junior Scholars:

- A cover letter explaining the candidate's interest in the position, and detailing the applicant's research, teaching, and service record to date.
- A curriculum vitae.
- Up to three writing samples.
- A projection of the candidate's future research agenda.
- A short teaching portfolio, including statement of teaching philosophy, courses the candidate might propose to teach, and any evidence of teaching effectiveness (e.g., teaching evaluations)
- The names and addresses of three references, who will be requested to submit letters through the Interfolio system.

For Senior Scholars:

- A cover letter explaining the candidate's reasons for being interested in the position.
- A detailed curriculum vitae.
- Other materials and names of references may be requested thereafter.

Review of applications will begin on October 23, 2023, and will continue until the positions are filled.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/19/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12551

New York University Abu Dhabi

Rank: Assistant Professor of Strategy, Tenure Track - Stern at NYUAD

NYU Abu Dhabi, in partnership with NYU Stern, invites applications for tenure-track Assistant Professor faculty positions in the field of Strategy for the Stern School of Business at NYU Abu Dhabi (Stern at NYUAD). We seek scholars, including advanced assistant professors, of the highest caliber who are committed to transformative teaching and innovative research, and who embody the global society in which we live.

Applicants should be able to demonstrate a strong commitment to excellence in scholarly research and teaching across various management-related fields, including economics, political science, and organizational theory. Responsibilities include conducting rigorous academic research and teaching/developing core and elective courses in strategy and related areas of expertise.

Stern at NYUAD offers world-class compensation and benefits packages, and a competitive teaching load.

About Stern at NYUAD

In 2023, NYU Abu Dhabi and NYU Stern entered into an agreement to create the Stern School of Business at NYU Abu Dhabi (Stern at NYUAD), an extension of NYU Stern in the emirate of Abu Dhabi. Stern at NYUAD will leverage NYU Stern's leadership in business education and research, and NYU Abu Dhabi's established academic excellence and local expertise, to offer world-class business programming in the heart of the UAE that will reach all business centers of the world.

About NYU Stern

NYU Stern School of Business was established in 1900 as one of the first business schools in the United States. Located in Greenwich Village and deeply connected with the dynamic global business city for which it is named, NYU Stern is one of the world's premier management education schools and research centers. It has an internationally diverse faculty and student body, a broad portfolio of programs at the graduate, undergraduate, and executive levels, and a welcoming community that inspires its members to embrace and lead change in a rapidly transforming world.

About NYU Abu Dhabi

Established in partnership between New York University (NYU) and the emirate of Abu Dhabi in 2007, NYUAD has assembled a remarkable community of scholars, students, researchers, artists, inventors, and others to become an internationally recognized center of excellence in teaching and research. By attracting talent from virtually every part of the globe, NYUAD has contributed to the emergence of Abu Dhabi as a global hub of knowledge and culture. Stern at NYUAD represents a key pillar in NYU Abu Dhabi's growth in the next decade, adding outstanding business education to first-class foundations in the liberal arts, sciences, and engineering.

Working for NYUAD

NYUAD offers competitive salaries and working conditions, including a comprehensive benefits package designed to help make Abu Dhabi your home. This starts with a generous relocation allowance to ensure a smooth transition to Abu Dhabi, followed by a competitive salary, housing benefits, and transportation allowance; educational assistance for your dependents; access to health and wellness services, and more. NYUAD is committed to faculty success throughout the academic career trajectory, providing support for ambitious and world-class research projects and innovative, interactive teaching approaches. Support for dual-career families is a priority. More information on benefits for you and your dependents.

Qualifications

This position requires a Ph.D. in Management, Economics, Political Science, Organization Theory, or a related field.

Application Instructions

To apply for this position, please submit the following items:

- Cover Letter
- Curriculum Vitae
- Teaching Statement
- Research Statement
- Recent teaching evaluations (if available)

-Up to three (3) representative publications or three (3) Representative Writing Samples

-Names and email addresses of three (3) individuals who will provide reference letters (Each referee will be contacted to upload their reference letter via Interfolio)

Applications will be reviewed on a rolling basis. Those submitted prior to November 1, 2023, will receive full consideration. For questions about this position, please email nyuad.academicrecruitment@nyu.edu.

Equal Employment Opportunity Statement

NYUAD is committed to equality and is an equal opportunity employer. We encourage applications from candidates who will enrich and contribute to the cultural and ethnic diversity of our university. We particularly welcome applications from members of traditionally underrepresented groups, women, and UAE nationals.

Our commitment to Inclusion, Diversity, Belonging and Equity Multidisciplinary research and exceptional teaching in a highly diverse and inclusive campus community are hallmarks of the University's mission. Visit our website for more information on NYUAD's commitment to IDBE and how these values are fundamental to our mission.

Join Stern at NYUAD, an exceptional place for exceptional people.

@WorkAtNYUAD

#nyuadfacultycareers

Start Date: Spring 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/19/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12603

New York University Abu Dhabi

Rank: Clinical Assistant/Associate/Full Professor, Fixed-Term Contract - Stern at NYUAD

NYU Abu Dhabi, in partnership with NYU Stern, invites applications for multiple full-time, non-tenure track, clinical faculty appointments (at the assistant, associate or full levels) for the Stern School of Business at NYU Abu Dhabi (Stern at NYUAD). We seek scholars/practitioners of the highest caliber equipped to teach courses in one or more of the following areas: Accounting, Finance, Entrepreneurship, Management and Organizations, Technology, Business Analytics/Statistics, and Marketing.

Applicants must present evidence of an outstanding teaching record at a business school or a distinguished career as a business practitioner. Applicants should have stellar interpersonal, collaborative and pedagogical abilities, including classroom performance, curriculum development, and teaching innovation in their area of expertise.

Stern at NYUAD offers world-class compensation and benefits packages, and a competitive teaching load.

About Stern at NYUAD

In 2023, NYU Abu Dhabi and NYU Stern entered into an agreement to create the Stern School of Business at NYU Abu Dhabi (Stern at NYUAD), an extension of NYU Stern in the emirate of Abu Dhabi. Stern at NYUAD will leverage NYU Stern's leadership in business education and research, and NYU Abu Dhabi's established academic excellence and local expertise, to offer world-class business programming in the heart of the UAE that will reach all business centers of the world.

About NYU Stern

NYU Stern School of Business was established in 1900 as one of the first business schools in the United States. Located in Greenwich Village and deeply connected with the dynamic global business city for which it is named, NYU Stern is one of the world's premier management education schools and research centers. It has an internationally diverse faculty and student body, a broad portfolio of programs at the graduate, undergraduate, and executive levels, and a welcoming community that inspires its members to embrace and lead change in a rapidly transforming world.

About NYU Abu Dhabi

Established in partnership between New York University (NYU) and the emirate of Abu Dhabi in 2007, NYUAD has assembled a remarkable community of scholars, students, researchers, artists, inventors, and others to become an internationally recognized center of excellence in teaching and research. By attracting talent from virtually every part of the globe, NYUAD has contributed to the emergence of Abu Dhabi as a global hub of knowledge and culture. Stern at NYUAD represents a key pillar in NYU Abu Dhabi's growth in the next decade, adding outstanding business education to first-class foundations in the liberal arts, sciences, and engineering.

Working for NYUAD

NYUAD offers competitive salaries and working conditions, including a comprehensive benefits package designed to help make Abu Dhabi your home. This starts with a generous relocation allowance to ensure a smooth transition to Abu Dhabi, followed by a competitive salary, housing benefits, and transportation allowance; educational assistance for your dependents; access to health and wellness services, and more. NYUAD is committed to faculty success throughout the academic career trajectory, providing support for ambitious and world-class research projects and innovative, interactive teaching approaches. Support for dual-career families is a priority. More information on benefits for you and your dependents.

Qualifications

Candidates must possess a Ph.D. or relevant terminal degree in Accounting, Finance, Entrepreneurship, Management and Organizations, Technology, Business Analytics/Statistics, or Marketing. Candidates with a non-terminal degree, and extensive industry/professional experience (e.g., 10 years) will be considered.

Application Instructions

To apply for this position, please submit the following items:

- Cover Letter
- Curriculum Vitae (CV)
- Teaching Statement
- Recent teaching evaluations (if available)
- Names and email addresses of three (3) individuals who will provide reference letters (Each referee will be contacted to upload their reference letter via Interfolio). Senior candidates may delay naming references until they are contacted by the committee.

Review of applications will begin November 15, 2023 and will continue until the position is filled. For questions about this position, please email nyuad.academicrecruitment@nyu.edu.

Equal Employment Opportunity Statement

NYUAD is committed to equality and is an equal opportunity employer. We encourage applications from candidates who will enrich and contribute to the cultural and ethnic diversity of our university. We particularly welcome applications from members of traditionally underrepresented groups, women, and UAE nationals.

Our commitment to Inclusion, Diversity, Belonging and Equity Multidisciplinary research and exceptional teaching in a highly diverse and inclusive campus community are hallmarks of the University's mission. Visit our website for more information on NYUAD's commitment to IDBE and how these values are fundamental to our mission.

Join Stern at NYUAD, an exceptional place for exceptional people.

@WorkAtNYUAD

#nyuadfacultycareers

Start Date: Spring 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/19/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12600

New York University Abu Dhabi

Rank: Clinical Assistant/Associate/Full Professor, Fixed-Term Contract - Stern at NYUAD

NYU Abu Dhabi, in partnership with NYU Stern, invites applications for multiple full-time, non-tenure track, clinical faculty appointments (at the assistant, associate or full levels) for the Stern School of Business at NYU Abu Dhabi (Stern at NYUAD). We seek scholars/practitioners of the highest caliber equipped to teach courses in one or more of the following areas: Accounting, Finance, Entrepreneurship, Management and Organizations, Technology, Business Analytics/Statistics, and Marketing.

Applicants must present evidence of an outstanding teaching record at a business school or a distinguished career as a business practitioner. Applicants should have stellar interpersonal, collaborative and pedagogical abilities, including classroom performance, curriculum development, and teaching innovation in their area of expertise.

Stern at NYUAD offers world-class compensation and benefits packages, and a competitive teaching load.

About Stern at NYUAD

In 2023, NYU Abu Dhabi and NYU Stern entered into an agreement to create the Stern School of Business at NYU Abu Dhabi (Stern at NYUAD), an extension of NYU Stern in the emirate of Abu Dhabi. Stern at NYUAD will leverage NYU Stern's leadership in business education and research, and NYU Abu Dhabi's established academic excellence and local expertise, to offer world-class business programming in the heart of the UAE that will reach all business centers of the world.

About NYU Stern

NYU Stern School of Business was established in 1900 as one of the first business schools in the United States. Located in Greenwich Village and deeply connected with the dynamic global business city for which it is named, NYU Stern is one of the world's premier management education schools and research centers. It has an internationally diverse faculty and student body, a broad portfolio of programs at the graduate, undergraduate, and executive levels, and a welcoming community that inspires its members to embrace and lead change in a rapidly transforming world.

About NYU Abu Dhabi

Established in partnership between New York University (NYU) and the emirate of Abu Dhabi in 2007, NYUAD has assembled a remarkable community of scholars, students, researchers, artists, inventors, and others to become an internationally recognized center of excellence in teaching and research. By attracting talent from virtually every part of the globe, NYUAD has contributed to the emergence of Abu Dhabi as a global hub of knowledge and culture. Stern at NYUAD represents a key pillar in NYU Abu Dhabi's growth in the next decade, adding outstanding business education to first-class foundations in the liberal arts, sciences, and engineering.

Working for NYUAD

NYUAD offers competitive salaries and working conditions, including a comprehensive benefits package designed to help make Abu Dhabi your home. This starts with a generous relocation allowance to ensure a smooth transition to Abu Dhabi, followed by a competitive salary, housing benefits, and transportation allowance; educational assistance for your dependents; access to health and wellness services, and more. NYUAD is committed to faculty success throughout the academic career trajectory, providing support for ambitious and world-class research projects and innovative, interactive teaching approaches. Support for dual-career families is a priority. More information on benefits for you and your dependents.

Qualifications

Candidates must possess a Ph.D. or relevant terminal degree in Accounting, Finance, Entrepreneurship, Management and Organizations, Technology, Business Analytics/Statistics, or Marketing. Candidates with a non-terminal degree, and extensive industry/professional experience (e.g., 10 years) will be considered.

Application Instructions

To apply for this position, please submit the following items:

- Cover Letter
- Curriculum Vitae (CV)
- Teaching Statement
- Recent teaching evaluations (if available)
- Names and email addresses of three (3) individuals who will provide reference letters (Each referee will be contacted to upload their reference letter via Interfolio). Senior candidates may delay naming references until they are contacted by the committee.

Review of applications will begin November 15, 2023 and will continue until the position is filled. For questions about this position, please email nyuad.academicrecruitment@nyu.edu.

Equal Employment Opportunity Statement

NYUAD is committed to equality and is an equal opportunity employer. We encourage applications from candidates who will enrich and contribute to the cultural and ethnic diversity of our university. We particularly welcome applications from members of traditionally underrepresented groups, women, and UAE nationals.

Our commitment to Inclusion, Diversity, Belonging and Equity Multidisciplinary research and exceptional teaching in a highly diverse and inclusive campus community are hallmarks of the University's mission. Visit our website for more information on NYUAD's commitment to IDBE and how these values are fundamental to our mission.

Join Stern at NYUAD, an exceptional place for exceptional people.

@WorkAtNYUAD
#nyuadfacultycareers

To apply, please submit your application to <https://apply.interfolio.com/132060>

Start Date: Spring 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/19/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12601

Rice University

Rank: Director of Economic Mobility

The Kinder Institute for Urban Research at Rice University is seeking a tenured Associate or Full Professor to fill the position of Director of Economic Mobility. This director will oversee an interdisciplinary team of community-engaged researchers who work closely with local partners on topics such as labor economics, economic development, discrimination, income and wealth inequality, financial security, and inter- and intra-generational mobility. Faculty directors in the Kinder Institute are expected to work closely with the institute director and leadership team to develop and maintain relationships with community partners, set the research agenda together with these partners, coordinate intersecting projects across research teams, and ensure that research use and impact are maximized. Faculty directors are also expected to secure research grants, working closely with the leadership and grant writing teams. Leadership experience and community partnership experience is required.

Candidates must have a Ph.D. or terminal degree and an outstanding record in urban research, experience leading a research team, and experience in community-engaged research done in partnership with local organizations that apply the research in meaningful ways. Faculty members are on nine-month appointments and the successful candidate will have a tenure home in the department that aligns with the selected applicant's disciplinary background (see here for a list of departments at Rice), which includes teaching undergraduate and graduate courses in that department. Grant funding may be used for course buyouts. Kinder faculty directors are expected to center their research efforts on institute projects, utilizing the institute's resources, and co-developed with the institute's community partners, aiming to inform their efforts to improve lives. Because the Kinder Institute focuses on maximizing research use and impact, institute researchers work closely with community partners to develop the research agenda, plan how research will be used, and generate informative research products beyond, but inclusive of, academic publications.

The Kinder Institute for Urban Research is an interdisciplinary research organization that works in direct partnership with local agencies and organizations that use its research, data, and policy analysis to implement solutions to critical challenges facing the Houston region. The institute aims to improve lives through data, research, engagement, and action. It consists of (and is developing) five centers that conduct research on housing, education, public health, economic mobility, and population dynamics. Centers conduct research that focuses on their particular topics, as well as research that intersects across centers, through interdisciplinary teams that specialize in solutions-oriented, community-engaged research called research-practice partnerships (RPPs).

The Kinder Institute has a team of over 60 full-time research and administrative staff, plus faculty and student affiliates. Researchers benefit from access to hundreds of datasets, established long-term community partnerships, highly skilled interdisciplinary teams, and extensive research support such as financial, communications, and grant writing teams. Founded in 2010, the Kinder Institute was endowed with a gift from Houston philanthropists Richard and Nancy Kinder. Today, the institute generates funding from research grants, corporate sponsorships, individual donors, and an endowment.

The Kinder Institute is committed to promoting diversity, equity, and inclusion in our research and service endeavors. We strive to promote an environment that welcomes and respects diverse backgrounds, experiences, and views, as this diversity strengthens our research and our collaborative outreach efforts. In this spirit, we particularly welcome applications from all genders and members of historically underrepresented groups who exemplify diverse experiences. The search committee is eager to receive applications from scholars with lived experience related to the issues on which the Kinder Institute is focused.

Interested candidates should submit application materials through Interfolio at <http://apply.interfolio.com/132357>, including a CV, cover letter, research sample, and statement of partnership research. References will be requested for candidates that advance to the short-list. All materials must be submitted by Nov 1, 2023. The start date is July 1, 2024. In the cover letter and statement of research partnership, applicants are encouraged to address their experience with and/or plans for building and leading inclusive research teams.

Rice University is a private, comprehensive university located in the heart of Houston's dynamic Museum District. The Houston, Texas, metro is one of the largest and most diverse in the country. Rice offers undergraduate and graduate degrees across eight schools and has approximately 4,000 undergraduate and 3,000 graduate students. Rice consistently ranks among the top 20 US universities and the top 10 in undergraduate teaching; its endowment ranks among the top 20 (US News & World Report).

Start Date: Summer 2024

Application Deadline: 11/1/2023

Date Posted: 9/19/2023

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 12554

Rice University

Rank: Director of Housing and Neighborhoods

The Kinder Institute for Urban Research at Rice University is seeking a tenured Associate or Full Professor to fill the position of Director of Housing and Neighborhoods. This director will oversee an interdisciplinary team of community-engaged researchers who work closely with local partners on topics such as housing affordability, home ownership, segregation, eviction, gentrification, and neighborhood development. Faculty directors in the Kinder Institute are expected to work closely with the institute director and leadership team to develop and maintain relationships with community partners, set the research agenda together with these partners, coordinate intersecting projects across research teams, and ensure that research use and impact are maximized. Faculty directors are also expected to secure research grants, working closely with the leadership and grant writing teams. Leadership experience and community partnership experience is required.

Candidates must have a Ph.D. or terminal degree and an outstanding record in urban research, experience leading a research team, and experience in community-engaged research done in partnership with local organizations that apply the research in meaningful ways. Faculty members are on nine-month appointments and the successful candidate will have a tenure home in the department that aligns with the selected applicant's disciplinary background (see here for a list of departments at Rice), which includes teaching undergraduate and graduate courses in that department. Grant funding may be used for course buyouts. Kinder Faculty directors are expected to center their research efforts on institute projects, utilizing the institute's resources, and co-developed with the institute's community partners, aiming to inform their efforts to improve lives. Because the Kinder Institute focuses on maximizing research use and impact, institute researchers work closely with community partners to develop the research agenda, plan how research will be used, and generate informative research products beyond, but inclusive of, academic publications.

The Kinder Institute for Urban Research is an interdisciplinary research organization that works in direct partnership with local agencies and organizations that use its research, data, and policy analysis to implement solutions to critical challenges facing the Houston region. The institute aims to improve lives through data, research, engagement, and action. It consists of (and is developing) five centers that conduct research on housing, education, public health, economic mobility, and population dynamics. Centers conduct research that focuses on their particular topics, as well as research that intersects across centers, through interdisciplinary teams that specialize in solutions-oriented, community-engaged research called research-practice partnerships (RPPs).

The Kinder Institute has a team of over 60 full-time research and administrative staff, plus faculty and student affiliates. Researchers benefit from access to hundreds of datasets, established long-term community partnerships, highly skilled interdisciplinary teams, and extensive research supports such as financial, communications, and grant writing teams. Founded in 2010, the Kinder Institute was endowed with a gift from Houston philanthropists Richard and Nancy Kinder. Today, the institute generates funding from research grants, corporate sponsorships, individual donors, and an endowment.

The Kinder Institute is committed to promoting diversity, equity, and inclusion in our research and service endeavors. We strive to promote an environment that welcomes and respects diverse backgrounds, experiences, and views, as this diversity strengthens our research and our collaborative outreach efforts. In this spirit, we particularly welcome applications from all genders and members of historically underrepresented groups who exemplify diverse experiences. The search committee is eager to receive applications from scholars with lived experience related to the issues on which the Kinder Institute is focused.

Interested candidates should submit application materials through Interfolio at <http://apply.interfolio.com/131911>, including a CV, cover letter, research sample, and statement of partnership research. References will be requested for candidates that advance to the short-list. All materials must be submitted by Nov 1, 2023. The start date is July 1, 2024. In the cover letter and statement of a research partnership, applicants are encouraged to address their experience with and/or plans for building and leading inclusive research teams.

Rice University is a private, comprehensive university located in the heart of the dynamic Museum District in Houston, Texas. The Houston metro is one of the largest and most diverse in the country. Rice offers undergraduate and graduate degrees across eight schools and has approximately 4,000 undergraduate and 3,000 graduate students. Rice consistently ranks among the top 20 US universities and the top 10 in undergraduate teaching; its endowment ranks among the top 20 (US News & World Report).

Start Date: Summer 2024

Application Deadline: 11/1/2023

Date Posted: 9/19/2023

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 12553

University of Notre Dame

Rank: Signature Course Fellowship

The Notre Dame Institute for Advanced Study (NDIAS) is a university-wide institute that convenes an interdisciplinary group of fellows each year to study questions that engage complex ethical challenges of our time and affect our ability to lead valuable, meaningful lives.

Made possible by a grant from the John Templeton Foundation, the Signature Course Fellowship funds and supports faculty who have a vision for translating research on human flourishing into large-scale, public-facing, pedagogically innovative courses that have the potential to serve as a cornerstone in their university's curriculum.

Paradigmatic examples of signature courses include Michael Sandel's Justice (Harvard), Bill Burnett and Dave Evans' Designing Your Life (Stanford), and Meghan Sullivan's God and the Good Life (Notre Dame).

The Signature Course Fellowship Program aims to gather a cohort of scholars from across disciplines and higher education who are ready to build and launch their own signature course addressing a pressing question for human flourishing.

During the 2024-2025 academic year, the program will fund 15 faculty members for residential sabbaticals to pursue their projects: two during the Fall 2024 semester, three during the Spring 2025 semester, and 10 during an intensive, one-month program in Summer 2025 (likely in June).

Semester-long Fellows (Fall 2024, Spring 2025) will receive a $50,000 fellowship stipend during the semester of residency as well as subsidized housing near Notre Dame. Summer 2025 Fellows will receive a $15,000 fellowship stipend during their four weeks of residency as well as subsidized housing.

All funded course proposals will be provided a $10,000 subgrant to help launch their course along with a $7,000 design fund allotment to develop assets for the course (such as the creation of a course trailer videos, publicity posters, co-curricular activities, field experiences, etc.). A portion of the design fund should also be used to conduct a benchmarking assessment before or during residency.

Signature Course Fellows will have the opportunity to work with a student intern to support their course-creation efforts. For semester-long Fellows (Fall 2024, Spring 2025), this student will be from Notre Dame and will be provided by the NDIAS. For summer 2025 Fellows, each Fellow will be invited to select one student from their institution to join the summer program as a research intern. Summer student interns receive a $2,500 stipend, housing during their internship at Notre Dame, and a food stipend.

Signature Course Fellowships are open to distinguished or high-potential tenure-stream scholars who are developing a signature course on a topic connected to human flourishing or ethics.

Faculty from any academic discipline that engages with ethics and human flourishing are invited to apply—indeed, one goal of the program is to support a Faculty cohort that represents a broad range of disciplinary perspectives.

To be eligible for a Fellowship, candidates should have assurance from their home institution that the course will be launched, supported, and sustained post-fellowship. Fellows will need to submit letters of support from their department chair and dean-level administrator (dean, associate dean, etc.) indicating this assurance at the time of application.

Faculty members from any university, including the University of Notre Dame, are welcome to apply. While some Fellowships will be awarded to Notre Dame faculty, the majority will be awarded to faculty from other institutions.

There are no citizenship requirements for these fellowships—scholars from outside the U.S. are invited to apply.

Although we anticipate that the majority of the courses developed in the Signature Course Fellowship program will be targeted to undergraduates, applicants who are developing courses targeted to graduate or professional students are also welcome to apply.

We will also consider proposals for dual-instructor, team-taught courses. The instructors may apply for the Fellowship jointly, with the intention that both instructors will serve as Signature Course Fellows simultaneously during the same fellowship period. Or one instructor may apply for the Fellowship individually, without the intention that the other will serve as a Fellow. In the case where only one instructor serves as a Fellow, they may request additional funding if they would like to make it possible for the un-funded co-instructor to visit the program on an occasional basis.

One goal of the fellowship selection process is the creation of a diverse and collaborative community of Fellows with a range of disciplines and academic ranks. Applicants who are members of traditionally under-represented groups are encouraged to apply.

The Signature Course Fellowship program is an in-person, residential program. All Fellows are expected to reside in the South Bend area and remain in residence at the University of Notre Dame during the period of their fellowship (except for vacation periods, holidays, and University breaks).

Fellows should be free of their regular commitments and have their primary office at the NDIAS so they may devote themselves full time to the work outlined in their proposal and participate fully in the engaging and cooperative community of scholars at the Institute.

Fellows are required to attend the Vision Summit (August 2024), all planning seminars during their fellowship period, and the Summative Conference (May 2026).

Fellows are expected to teach the course they've developed at least three times in the three years after the fellowship period and to develop a website to accompany the course. (Website development will be a central task during the Fellowship program, and Fellows will receive substantial website training and support while in residence.)

Fellows must also commit to participate in program evaluation of their course and their Fellowship experience. This may require writing self-study reports, conducting interviews with students, creating and distributing surveys, and permitting evaluators to visit and evaluate the course during the launch phase.

Applications for Faculty Fellowships must be submitted through Interfolio and should include the following:

- 1) Cover Letter
- 2) CV
- 3) Project Proposal (2-3 pages, single spaced). The Project Proposal should describe the course the applicant intends to build, including its anticipated scale (class/audience size), the pedagogical tools employed, and key learning goals. The applicant should also situate the course in their department's or university's curriculum and discuss the unmet need it will fill.
- 4) Letters of endorsement from the applicant's department chair and dean-level administrator (dean, associate dean, etc.). These letters should address the strength of the applicant's course proposal, its importance to the university's curriculum, and the applicant's availability for a full-time residential fellowship of the sort our program provides. The letters should also provide assurance that the applicant will be able to teach the course at least three times in the three years following the fellowship.

Finalists will be asked to be available for a brief Zoom conversation with committee members during the final stage of the selection process.

Applicants will be evaluated according to the following criteria:

Course Content and Learning Goals. The course should be informed by up-to-date scholarship in the relevant disciplines, be appropriately engaged with practical questions facing students, and include at least one significant learning goal that requires students to apply this scholarship to their own lives in the context of the course themes.

Scholarly Excellence: The course should reflect the most significant ideas coming out of relevant research on flourishing from the relevant disciplines. The instructor should have a plan for integrating their research, teaching, and public engagement, and the course should reflect both breadth and depth of engagement in its design.

Sustainability and Institutional Visibility: The course should fulfill a clear, unmet need in the home university's curriculum. The plan for meeting the need should be innovative and benefit from a semester of intensive design. The home university should have a plan for integrating the course into department requirements and/or the core curriculum.

Scale and Likely Impact: There should be demonstrated potential for public impact and a thoughtful balance of breadth, approachability, and rigor. At some institutions, this will mean offering the course to a large number of students. At others this will mean building out a mechanism for the public to engage with and learn from the project.

Learn more and apply at <https://ndias.nd.edu/fellowships/signature-course-fellowships/>.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 11/6/2023

Date Posted: 9/19/2023

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 12557

Bard College

Rank: Assistant Professor (Tenure Track) - History of the Middle East and North Africa

The Historical Studies Program and Middle Eastern Studies Program at Bard College invite applications for a full-time, tenure-track position at the rank of assistant professor in the history of the Middle East and North Africa since 1800. The position begins in fall 2024.

The successful candidate will have an active scholarly research agenda and be able to teach survey, thematic, and advanced courses contributing to a vibrant, interdisciplinary curriculum. Applicants should have a PhD at the time of appointment in Islamic, Middle Eastern and North African, Ottoman, or Turkish history. Applications received by October 31, 2023 will receive the fullest consideration.

Compensation: $87,000-$90,000 annually

This salary range reflects the College's good faith and reasonable estimate of the compensation for the position at the time of the job posting. Salary decisions are dependent on several factors including but not limited to market and organizational considerations, experience, and qualifications of a selected candidate as well as internal and external equity.

To Apply

Please submit a letter of application describing current and future research, writing sample, curriculum vitae, course syllabi, a teaching statement and, if available, student evaluations, and three confidential letters of reference via Interfolio at: <https://apply.interfolio.com/132002>

About Bard College

Bard College is a highly selective co-educational liberal arts college with an intellectually and socially engaged student body. It is located in the Hudson Valley, 90 miles north of New York City. For more information on Bard, visit <https://www.bard.edu/>

About Diversity, Equity and Inclusion at Bard

Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion (DEI) at Bard seeks to materialize our commitment to plurality, dialogue, and rigorous study. We strive to create a learning environment that upholds the College's mission to meaningfully include the voices, works, and ideas of communities and cultures historically marginalized in liberal arts and sciences education. DEI at Bard aims to work at the systemic as well as the interpersonal level to address the implicit and explicit ways racism, sexism, classism, ableism, homophobia, transphobia, and religious discrimination impact the learning process.

Start Date:

Date Posted: 9/15/2023

Salary: $80,000 - $89,999

eJobs ID: 12535

University of Colorado, Boulder

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of Political Science at the University of Colorado Boulder invites applications for a tenure-track position at the Assistant Professor level to begin Fall 2024. The department is particularly interested in scholars who specialize in the study of institutions with expertise in the area of race, ethnicity, and politics. The ability to teach research methods would be an advantage. Scholars with these specialties from all subfields of political science are encouraged to apply. Scholars who can contribute to the thematic Racial and Structural Inequality hiring plan in the CU Social Sciences Division are also encouraged to apply. The successful candidate will teach courses at the undergraduate and graduate levels.

The CU Political Science department comprises roughly 25 full-time faculty, over 1,000 undergraduate majors, about 50 Ph.D. students, and three full-time staff members. We provide students with a rigorous education and conduct influential research in all subfields of the discipline.

Your key responsibilities will be teaching, research and service.

This is a tenure track position at the rank of assistant professor. As part of the University of Colorado Boulder's deep commitment to equity, diversity, and inclusion, the campus has implemented a reference check program with respect to final candidates for tenured faculty appointments. The reference check program is intended to allow CU Boulder to collect and review information about a candidate's conduct at their previous institutions, specifically conduct related to sexual misconduct, harassment, and/or discrimination – before making hiring decisions. All final candidates for tenured faculty appointments are required to complete an Authorization to Release Information.

The successful candidate will have the knowledge and skills necessary to teach undergraduate and graduate courses on political institutions and race and ethnic politics. Ability to teach undergraduate and graduate courses on research methods will be an advantage. They will also have the ability to conduct high quality political science research that is publishable in professional peer-reviewed outlets.

The salary range for this full-time appointment is $95,000-$100,000 annually.

Link to the additional job information: <https://jobs.colorado.edu/jobs/JobDetail/Assistant-Professor/51594>

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/15/2023

Salary: Any

eJobs ID: 12530

University of Louisiana at Lafayette

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of Political Science at the University of Louisiana at Lafayette seeks to fill a tenure-track Assistant Professor faculty position. This position is a full-time, 9-month appointment, beginning August 1, 2024. Salary is commensurate with qualifications and experience.

We invite applications from candidates who have earned their doctorate in political science or related disciplines. We welcome applicants from all subfields of Political Science with an ability to support undergraduate courses in a department that houses three tracks: Pre-Law, International Relations, as well as Political Science. The successful candidate must demonstrate a commitment to teaching excellence in a diverse student-centered learning environment and will teach three courses a semester in Political Science, primarily in areas of Research Methods and Political Behavior.

The successful candidate will demonstrate the ability to produce scholarship at an R1 university, advise undergraduate students and contribute to departmental, college, university and professional service. The successful candidate must have the ability to effectively teach undergraduate Political Science courses including, but not limited to Research Methods, State and Local Government, U.S. Government, and Political Behavior online and in traditional classroom settings.

The University of Louisiana at Lafayette is an R1 Carnegie Research University and the flagship campus of nine publicly supported universities in the University of Louisiana System. The University's enrollment in fall 2022 was 18,864, with over 800 full and part-time faculty members across eight degree-granting colleges and the Graduate School. The University offers 110 degrees and certificates at the bachelor, master, and doctoral levels. Additional information is available at the University's web page at www.louisiana.edu.

Qualifications:

The candidate should have obtained a Ph.D. in Political Science or related discipline by August 1, 2024.

To apply, submit a cover letter, a CV, a statement of research, a teaching philosophy statement, a writing sample, and 3 letters of recommendation by October 15, 2023 by visiting the following website: <https://louisiana.csod.com/ux/ats/careersite/1/home/req/2502?c=louisiana>

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 10/15/2023

Date Posted: 9/15/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12523

University of Louisiana at Lafayette

Rank: Assistant/Associate Professor

The Department of Political Science at the University of Louisiana at Lafayette seeks to fill a tenure-track Assistant/Associate Professor faculty position. This position is a full-time, 9-month appointment, beginning August 1, 2024. Salary is commensurate with qualifications and experience.

We invite applications from candidates who have earned their doctorate in political science or related disciplines. We welcome applicants from all subfields of Political Science with an ability to support undergraduate courses in a department that houses three tracks: Pre-Law, International Relations, as well as Political Science. The successful candidate must demonstrate a commitment to teaching excellence in a diverse student-centered learning environment and will teach three courses a semester in Political Science, primarily in areas of American Political Institutions.

The successful candidate will demonstrate the ability to produce scholarship at an R1 university, advise undergraduate students and contribute to departmental, college, university and professional service. The successful candidate must have the ability to effectively teach undergraduate Political Science courses including, but not limited to The Presidency, Congress, The Courts, State and Local Government and/or U.S. Government online and in traditional classroom settings.

The University of Louisiana at Lafayette is an R1 Carnegie Research University and the flagship campus of nine publicly supported universities in the University of Louisiana System. The University's enrollment in fall 2022 was 18,864, with over 800 full and part-time faculty members across eight degree-granting colleges and the Graduate School. The University offers 110 degrees and certificates at the bachelor, master, and doctoral levels. Additional information is available at the University's web page at www.louisiana.edu.

Qualifications:

The candidate should have obtained a Ph.D. in Political Science or a related discipline by August 1, 2024.

To apply, submit a cover letter, a CV, a statement of research, a teaching philosophy statement, a writing sample, and 3 letters of recommendation by October 15, 2023 at the following website: <https://louisiana.csod.com/ux/ats/careersite/1/home/requisition/2485?c=louisiana>

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/15/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12522

Colby College

Rank: Assistant Professor - Artificial Intelligence in Politics and Policy (tenure-track)

The Department of Government at Colby College invites applications for a tenure-track position to begin in the fall of 2024. The candidate should have a research and teaching focus analyzing the intersections of artificial intelligence, politics, and policy – as well as the ability to use machine learning/artificial intelligence in this research. The candidate will be expected to teach courses that explore the social, ethical, and policy implications of AI and machine learning, as well as courses on how to apply methodological tools from artificial intelligence/machine learning for social science research. The successful applicant will be expected to teach the department's introductory course in research methods as well as additional courses chosen in consultation with the department chair.

Colby is a highly selective liberal arts college located in Central Maine with high standards for teaching and research. Our students are motivated, intellectually curious, and easily engaged in the classroom and in independent research. Our department faculty have active research agendas and receive generous support from the college, including a pre-tenure sabbatical during the fourth year, start-up and travel funds, divisional research grant opportunities, and department funded student research assistants. The teaching load at Colby is 4.5 courses per year.

Thanks to the generous gift that created the Davis Institute for Artificial Intelligence, Colby College will be hiring an interdisciplinary cluster of two faculty members and one postdoctoral associate this academic year. Faculty at Colby have numerous opportunities to collaborate on research and teaching related to AI; currently there are faculty pursuing AI-related scholarship in chemistry, philosophy, environmental science, anthropology, music, physics, economics, statistics, east Asian studies and computer science. The successful applicant for the present position will be expected to contribute to the college's AI programs and interdisciplinary initiatives. For more about the Davis Institute for AI see <https://davisinstituteai.colby.edu>

The ideal candidate will hold a Ph.D. in political science, public policy, or a related field (ABD will be considered). The successful candidate will provide evidence of excellence in teaching a diverse student body and present a strong and on-going research program that is open to the inclusion of undergraduates. The college and the department are committed to enhancing the diversity and inclusivity of the campus community and the curriculum; candidates who can contribute to these goals are encouraged to identify their strengths and experiences in these areas when they apply.

Applicants should submit the following materials: a letter of application, a curriculum vitae, a statement outlining the candidate's research agenda, a recent sample of scholarly writing, a statement expressing the candidate's teaching experience and philosophy, course descriptions and/or syllabi for three proposed courses, evidence of teaching excellence, a graduate school transcript, and three confidential letters of recommendation. Please submit all of these materials via Interfolio: <http://apply.interfolio.com/132179>. Review of applications will begin October 15 and will continue until the position is filled. Questions about this position should be directed to: government-ai-search@colby.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/14/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12519

University of Alabama, Tuscaloosa

Rank: Department Chair

The Department of Political Science at the University of Alabama seeks applications for our next department chair. We are a well-functioning mid-sized department with strong and growing scholarly output and faculty committed to teaching excellence. The Department offers BA, MA, and PhD degrees in political science and a Master of Public Administration degree. We seek a leader who will maintain the well-established democratic culture and procedures in the department and contribute to our collegial atmosphere.

We are open to applicants from any subfield of political science or public administration, all methodological approaches, and at the associate or full level.

The University of Alabama is the flagship of the state university system, recognized as an R1 research university, and remains financially sound and well-positioned for future expansion.

The University of Alabama also maintains several competitive athletic programs and is located in the pleasant and affordable college town of Tuscaloosa, an hour's drive from Birmingham, three hours from Atlanta and Nashville, four hours from New Orleans, and less than five hours from the Gulf Coast beaches.

Minimum Qualifications

Ph.D. in of political science, public administration, or related field.

Preferred Qualifications

Administrative experience managing personnel, budgets, teaching assignments, assessment reports, and program reviews. Demonstrated excellence in teaching, mentoring, and/or supporting faculty members and students. Established scholarly profile.

Instructions and Required Materials for Application

Applicants should complete the online application at <https://careers.ua.edu/jobs/3680b9ca-d774-40f6-a062-543aa4dc8594>. The application should include 1) a letter of application that includes summary

https://edzz.fa.em3.oraclecloud.com:443/hcmUI/CandidateExperience/en/job/2911/share/300000883713946?utm_medium=jobshareAssociate Professor / https://edzz.fa.em3.oraclecloud.com:443/hcmUI/CandidateExperience/en/job/2884/share/300000883713945?utm_medium=jobshareFull Professor in Governance and Development + Director - Governance and Social Development Resource Centre - GSDRC

• Computational Social Science:

https://edzz.fa.em3.oraclecloud.com/hcmUI/CandidateExperience/en/sites/CX_6001/job/2933/?mode=locationAssistant Professor / https://edzz.fa.em3.oraclecloud.com/hcmUI/CandidateExperience/en/sites/CX_6001/job/2932/?mode=locationAssociate Professor in Transformative Technologies, Innovation and Global Affairs
https://edzz.fa.em3.oraclecloud.com:443/hcmUI/CandidateExperience/en/job/2937/share/300000883713987?utm_medium=jobshareAssistant Professor / https://edzz.fa.em3.oraclecloud.com:443/hcmUI/CandidateExperience/en/job/2913/share/300000883714140?utm_medium=jobshareAssociate Professor in Government and Artificial Intelligence, Data Science or Computational Social Science (2 positions)

The University of Birmingham is one of the world's leading research universities, ranked in the top 100 globally. We are dedicated to academic excellence, pioneering research advancing understanding of real-world challenges, and enriching community locally and worldwide. We are one of the largest Schools of Government in the United Kingdom – home to more than 90 full-time academic staff, more than 1,500 undergraduate and taught postgraduate students, and more than 70 doctoral researchers.

Appointments will be made in the School's constituent departments of [Candidates at all ranks must demonstrate excellence in both research and teaching. We aim to build an outstanding scholarly community that thrives on academic rigor, interdisciplinary collaboration, and embodies the diversity of society worldwide.](https://www.birmingham.ac.uk/schools/government/departments/public-administration-and-policy/index.aspxPublic Administration and Policy , https://www.birmingham.ac.uk/schools/government/departments/international-development/index.aspxInternational Development and https://www.birmingham.ac.uk/schools/government/departments/political-science-international-studies/index.aspxPolitical Science and International Studies based on scholarly background and expertise. <div data-bbox=)

To apply, please submit a cover letter, CV, research statement, teaching statement, and names of 3 referees via corresponding links above.

Candidates shortlisted for interview will also be invited for a campus visit to meet the faculty in the School and Department. We are starting to consider applications for interview as early as late September, but the call is open until positions are filled or November 30, 2023 at the latest, whichever occurs first so we encourage early applications.

For questions, please contact Professor René Lindstädt (Head of School of Government) at R.Lindstaedt@bham.ac.uk.

We aim to ensure that Equality, Diversity, and Inclusion are embedded across the University of Birmingham and welcome applications from all sections of the community and are open to discussions around all forms of flexible working.

Start Date: Winter 2024

Application Deadline: 11/30/2023

Date Posted: 9/14/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12516

The University of Texas at Austin

Rank: Professor (Open Rank)

Subfield(s): Open, Political Theory, Public Law

The School of Civic Leadership at The University of Texas at Austin (UT Austin) invites applications for full-time tenure-track and tenured faculty positions at the assistant, associate, or full professor level.

Description

Considering the responsibility public institutions of higher education have to prepare students for leadership in a free society, the University of Texas System Board of Regents recently established the School of Civic Leadership at UT Austin. Building on the strengths of the Civitas Institute, the School of Civic Leadership is an interdisciplinary school whose dual mission is to equip students with the knowledge and aptitudes necessary to lead in a free society, and to produce academic research at the highest levels of scholarly excellence.

Qualifications

We seek outstanding candidates from a broad range of disciplines whose work speaks to the School of Civic Leadership's core themes: political, economic, and individual liberty and its philosophical underpinnings; constitutionalism and the rule of law; and the political economy of a free society. Ideal candidates will (1) have excellent records of scholarship with robust research agendas, (2) provide evidence of exceptional teaching, and (3) show a readiness to contribute to the intellectual life, governance, and programmatic development of the School of Civic Leadership.

Application Instructions

The School of Civic Leadership invites applicants to submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, and list of three academic references. (References do not need to submit full letters at this stage.) Cover letters should give a brief overview of the candidate's research agenda, highlight areas of teaching competence, and concisely describe how the candidate would contribute to developing the School of Civic Leadership.

Please submit applications through Interfolio using this link: <http://apply.interfolio.com/131417>.

Review of applications will begin on October 1. Questions may be directed to Justin Dyer, interim dean of the School of Civic Leadership, at justin.dyer@austin.utexas.edu.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/13/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12507

American University-SIS

Rank: Politics, Governance, and Economics (Full-Time, Tenure Track)

The Department of Politics, Governance, and Economics in the School of International Service (SIS) at American University (AU) invites applications for a full-time, tenure-line position at the rank of Assistant Professor beginning August 1, 2024.

Candidates conducting innovative international affairs research in the fields of international or comparative politics, economics, and/or governance are encouraged to apply. The Department particularly welcomes candidates with area or regional expertise, and a strong quantitative foundation in both teaching and research.

The successful candidate will be enthusiastic about working in a multidisciplinary school that includes political scientists, geographers, sociologists, anthropologists, economists, and international relations scholars. Preference will be given to applicants whose work is theoretically grounded, empirically tested, and policy relevant.

The successful candidate will also be enthusiastic about teaching international affairs from a multidisciplinary perspective at the undergraduate and graduate levels. Preference will be given to candidates who can teach required courses in the school (e.g., research methods, quantitative analysis) and department. Willingness to mentor PhD candidates in our vibrant PhD program is also desirable.

The successful candidate will also share a commitment to the university's diversity and inclusion plan.

Applicants should hold a PhD or the highest equivalent degree in a social science discipline by the start date, though ABD applications will be considered. The standard course load for a tenure line faculty is 2/2, with an annual service requirement. Salary and benefits are competitive. Review of applications will begin on 09/15/2023 and will continue until the position is filled.

Applications must be submitted electronically via the Interfolio application system [<http://apply.interfolio.com/131192>]. Applications should include the following:

- A cover letter detailing your research, teaching and service record to date
- Curriculum vitae
- Sample publications
- A short teaching portfolio with a statement of teaching philosophy and evidence of teaching effectiveness (e.g., teaching evaluations)
- A statement describing past examples of your contributions to diversity and inclusion in your scholarship, the classroom, and/or in other professional settings
- The names and email addresses of three references that Interfolio system can contact for a confidential letter of recommendation.

Queries about the search may be sent to Professor Agustina Giraudy (giraudy@american.edu). Queries about the online application system may be sent to SIS faculty affairs coordinator Alissa Iwaniuk (aiwaniuk@american.edu) and help@interfolio.com.

American University is a private institution of higher education in the nation's capital (Please visit www.american.edu for more information). American University's School of International Service (SIS) is a top-ten school of international affairs with 3,000 students, 120 full-time faculty and more than 20,000 alumni worldwide. SIS faculty produce transformational research and our prime location provides opportunities for collaboration with professionals in government, the private sector, and think tanks and other non-profits. The Department of Politics, Governance, and Economics offers graduate degree programs in International Economic Relations, Comparative and Regional Studies, Quantitative Methods, and Global Governance, Politics, and Security as well as undergraduate thematic areas in Global and Comparative Governance and the Global Economy. Learn more about SIS at www.american.edu/sis and the department at <https://www.american.edu/sis/departments/politics-governance-economics>.

American University is a tobacco and smoke free campus.

Hiring offers for this position are contingent on the successful completion of a background check.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/6/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12465

Princeton University

Rank: Visiting Research Scholar, Fung Global Fellows Program

Princeton University is pleased to announce the call for applications to the Fung Global Fellows Program at the Princeton Institute for International and Regional Studies (PIIRS). The program will select early-career scholars from around the world to be in residence at Princeton for an academic year and to engage in research and discussion around a common theme. The fellowships will be awarded to scholars employed outside the United States who have a faculty appointment, a professional research appointment, or are an established independent scholar. They will also be expected to return to their positions at the conclusion of the fellowship. Lastly, they must have demonstrated outstanding scholarly achievement and unusual intellectual promise. Early-career scholars will be appointed at the rank of Visiting Research Scholar. The number of candidates hired at this rank will depend on the qualifications of the overall applicant pool.

During the academic year 2024-25, the program theme will be "Colonial Residues." Colonialism is frequently evoked today as a root cause of global inequity or, in some jarring instances, nostalgic celebration. In both the "new" states and the "old" ones that reluctantly let them go, colonialism's many impacts are ubiquitous-its traces often tangible and measurable, shaping political regimes and socioeconomic wellbeing while also determining whose stories are told and by whom; whose achievements are celebrated and how; and whose resources are used, removed, or polluted. We invite applications from scholars whose work expands our understanding of this phenomenon. Applicants may address any region of the world, past and present, and may be from any disciplinary background in the humanities and social sciences. The hope is that we will enable a truly exceptional set of international scholars to come together to interrogate today's colonial residues, asking how they may be apprehended, and if there might not even be scalable solutions for our common future.

Applicants must apply online at <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/31841>. Applications are due on November 15, 2023 (11:59 p.m. EST). To be eligible, applicants must have received their Ph.D. (or equivalent) no earlier than September 1, 2014. Fellowships will be awarded on the strength of a candidate's proposed research project, the relationship of the project to the program's theme, the candidate's scholarly record and ability to contribute to the intellectual life of the program. More information: <https://funggfp.princeton.edu/applications>.

The following items must be submitted by the applicant, in English, by November 15, 2023:

- Cover letter (1.5 pages maximum)
- Curriculum Vitae (including publications)
- Research proposal (maximum of 3 pages, single spaced)
- One writing sample (article or book chapter, maximum of 50 pages)
- For those applicants with a current faculty appointment or a professional research appointment, an official letter from the applicant's current employer affirming that, should an offer be made, the applicant would be permitted to accept it and to spend the academic year at Princeton University. If applicant is an established independent scholar, please upload a PDF stating this as the applicant's current status.
- The names and email addresses for three referees, who will be contacted automatically by the online application system with an invitation to upload their letter of recommendation to the system by the application deadline. (Please note: all letters of reference should be submitted by your referees before the November 15, 2023 deadline.)

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 11/15/2023

Date Posted: 9/5/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12448

Princeton University

Rank: Visiting Research Scholar, Fung Global Fellows Program

(Revised: 9/15/2023)

Princeton University is pleased to announce the call for applications to the Fung Global Fellows Program at the Princeton Institute for International and Regional Studies (PIIRS). The program will select early-career scholars from around the world to be in residence at Princeton for an academic year (10 months) and to engage in research and discussion around a common theme. The fellowships will be awarded to scholars employed outside the United States who have a faculty appointment, a professional research appointment, or are an established independent scholar. They will also be expected to return to their positions at the conclusion of the fellowship. Lastly, they must have demonstrated outstanding scholarly achievement and unusual intellectual promise. Early-career scholars will be appointed at the rank of Visiting Research Scholar.

During the academic year 2024-25, the program theme will be "Colonial Residues." Colonialism is frequently evoked today as a root cause of global inequity or, in some jarring instances, nostalgic celebration. In both the "new" states and the "old" ones that reluctantly let them go, colonialism's many impacts are ubiquitous-its traces often tangible and measurable, shaping political regimes and socioeconomic wellbeing while also determining whose stories are told and by whom; whose achievements are celebrated and how; and whose resources are used, removed, or polluted. We invite applications from scholars whose work expands our understanding of this phenomenon. Applicants may address any region of the world, past and present, and may be from any disciplinary background in the humanities and social sciences. The hope is that we will enable a truly exceptional set of international scholars to come together to interrogate today's colonial residues, asking how they may be apprehended, and if there might not even be scalable solutions for our common future.

Applicants must apply online at <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/31841>. Applications are due on November 15, 2023 (11:59 p.m. EST). Applicants should have received their Ph.D. (or equivalent) generally no earlier than September 1, 2014. Fellowships will be awarded on the strength of a candidate's proposed research project, the relationship of the project to the program's theme, the candidate's scholarly record and ability to contribute to the intellectual life of the program. More information: <https://funggfp.princeton.edu/applications>.

The following items must be submitted by the applicant, in English, by November 15, 2023:

- Cover letter (1.5 pages maximum)
- Curriculum Vitae (including publications)
- Research proposal (maximum of 3 pages, single spaced)
- One writing sample (article or book chapter, maximum of 50 pages)
- For those applicants with a current faculty appointment or a professional research appointment, an official letter from the applicant's current employer affirming that, should an offer be made, the applicant would be permitted to accept it and to spend the academic year at Princeton University. If applicant is an established independent scholar, please upload a PDF stating this as the applicant's current status.
- The names and email addresses for three referees, who will be contacted automatically by the online application system with an invitation to upload their letter of recommendation to the system by the application deadline. (Please note: all letters of reference should be submitted by your referees before the November 15, 2023 deadline.)

Start Date: Fall 2024

Date Posted: 9/5/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12449

University of California, Los Angeles

Rank: Faculty Position Search, 2023-2024

APPLICATION WINDOW:

Open date: September 1, 2023

Review date: October 1, 2023

The UCLA Department of Political Science invites applications from outstanding candidates for an open-rank position in the field of International Relations, to begin on July 1, 2024. While the department has particular needs in this field, we also welcome applications from exceptional candidates in any field who contribute to diversity and inclusion at UCLA and the communities that we serve.

UCLA and the UCLA Department of Political Science are firmly committed to the principles of equity, diversity, and inclusion. Therefore, we ask each applicant to submit with their application a statement that addresses their past efforts, as well as future plans, to advance equity, diversity, and inclusion in their scholarship, teaching, and service.

The online application should include a letter of interest, a curriculum vitae, a statement of research interests, the aforementioned diversity statement, evidence of teaching excellence in related courses, at least one writing sample, completed Authorization to Release Information form, and three letters of reference. Applicants who do not yet hold a faculty position or who have held one for fewer than two years should also include a graduate transcript. The letters of recommendation should be uploaded directly by the referees. A PhD in Political Science or related field should be in hand prior to the appointment. To ensure full consideration, please submit applications by October 1, 2023, however, applications will be accepted through June 30, 2024. After the initial review date, new applications will only be considered if the position has not yet been filled. Sample guidance for EDI statement: <https://ucla.app.box.com/v/sample-EDI-statements>.

The posted UC salary scales set the minimum pay determined by rank and/or step at appointment. The on-scale salary range for the open-rank position in International Relations is $74,600 - $197,100. Off-scale salaries (i.e., a salary that is higher than the published system-wide salary at the designated rank and step), and other components of pay, are offered when necessary to meet competitive conditions. UC salary scales: <https://www.ucop.edu/academicpersonnel-programs/compensation/index.html>.

The University of California is committed to creating and maintaining a community dedicated to the advancement, application, and transmission of knowledge and creative endeavors through academic excellence, where all individuals who participate in University programs and activities can work and learn together in a safe and secure environment, free of violence, harassment, bullying and other demeaning behavior, discrimination, exploitation, or intimidation. With this commitment as well as a commitment to addressing all forms of academic misconduct, UCLA conducts targeted employment reference checks for finalists to whom departments or other hiring units would like to extend formal offers of appointment into Academic Senate faculty positions. The targeted employment reference checks involve contacting the finalists' current and prior places of employment to ask whether there have been substantiated findings of misconduct that would violate the University's Faculty Code of Conduct. To implement this process, UCLA requires all applicants for Academic Senate faculty positions to complete, sign, and upload the form entitled "Authorization to Release Information" into RECRUIT as part of their application. If the applicant does not include the signed authorization to release information with the application materials, the application will be considered incomplete. As with any incomplete application, the application will not receive further consideration. Although all applicants for faculty recruitments must complete the entire application, only finalists (i.e. those to whom the department or other hiring unit would like to extend a formal offer) considered for Academic Senate faculty positions will be subject to targeted employment reference checks.

As a University employee, you will be required to comply with all applicable University policies and/or collective bargaining agreements, as may be amended from time to time. Federal, state, or local government directives may impose additional requirements.

The University of California is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability, age or protected veteran status. For the complete University of California nondiscrimination and affirmative action policy, see: UC Nondiscrimination & Affirmative Action Policy.

Apply Now: <https://recruit.apo.ucla.edu/JPF08716>

Help Contact: Belinda Sunnu; bsunnu@polisci.ucla.edu

Start Date: Summer 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/1/2023

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 12432

University of California, San Diego

Rank: Assistant Teaching Professor (LPSOE)

The Department of Political Science at the University of California, San Diego (<https://polisci.ucsd.edu>) invites applications for appointment as tenure-track Assistant Teaching Professor to begin July 1, 2024. The position is open with regard to area of specialization, but candidates should be prepared to teach courses in political science methodology to first-generation college students and/or Law and Politics.

An Assistant Teaching Professor is also known within the UC system as a Lecturer with Potential Security of Employment (LPSOE). The Teaching Professor series parallels that of the research-focused faculty series but with emphasis upon excellence in teaching and other instruction-related activities. Individuals in the position are expected to provide outstanding teaching, as well as to engage in professional and/or scholarly activity and service related to the pedagogical mission and commitment to equity, and, inclusion shared by the program and university. This appointment confers membership in UCSD's Academic Senate. The Teaching Professor series includes security of employment analogous to tenure granted upon promotion to the Associate (LSOE) level. Candidates must currently hold a PhD in Political Science or a related field or be currently pursuing a PhD with ABD status.

Additional information and a link to the online application portal is at: <https://apol-recruit.ucsd.edu/JPF03714>

Review of applications will begin on September 19, 2023 and continue until the position is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Date Posted: 8/30/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12418

University of California, San Diego

Rank: Associate Professor - Designing Just Futures

The Department of Political Science within the School of Social Sciences at the University of California, San Diego invites applications for an Associate Professor as part of UCSD's Designing Just Futures Cluster Hire Initiative, to begin July 1, 2024. We are committed to academic excellence and diversity within the faculty, staff, and student body. We welcome applications from subfields across political science (American, Comparative, International Relations, Political Theory and Methods) and other disciplines that focus on the unique political, legal, economic, and cultural status of Indigenous nations, and their relationships to local, state, and federal governments.

The selected candidate will conduct research, teaching, and service that will advance scholarship and institutional solutions for addressing systemic and structural inequities and advancing UCSD's commitment to Indigenous inclusion, anti-racism, anti-oppression, equity, and social justice. Candidates will utilize their professional experience, community engagement, and personal background that have facilitated their understanding of and ability to better serve students from Indigenous and other underrepresented populations. Candidates must currently hold a PhD in Political Science or a related field.

This search is part of a UC San Diego-wide cluster hire on Designing Just Futures that aims to recruit scholars, artists, or practitioners who can contribute to the advancement of design, social justice, and futures and seeks engagement across disciplines to address issues of territory, access and equity, and social and political debates pertinent to Native American, Indigenous, Black, and migrant communities, while also working within their home departments and professional communities. Faculty hired under this initiative will join the UC San Diego Design Lab and the Indigenous Futures Institute to forge a new paradigm of engagement and collaboration that draws on the geographic, academic, institutional, and cultural strengths of our tri-national region across Southern California, Baja California, and the Kumeyaay region.

UC San Diego was built on the unceded territory of the Kumeyaay people. Today and every day we honor their stewardship of this land and their tremendous contributions to our region. Land acknowledgements are an important gesture of collective recognition and accountability. But we also commit ourselves as a department to action, to truth in learning and teaching the history of this place and its people, a reckoning with injustices, past and present, and a pathway forward that respects the dignity and human rights of all.

Additional information and a link to the online application portal is at: <https://apol-recruit.ucsd.edu/JPF03703>

Review of applications will begin on September 26, 2023 and continue until the position is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2024
Date Posted: 8/30/2023
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 12417

New York University

Rank: Assistant Professor - Social Media and Computational Social Science

Description

The NYU School of Arts and Science seeks excellent candidates whose research stands at the intersection of digital media and politics. This tenure track, assistant professor position is open to scholars across disciplines. The successful candidate will join the appropriate academic department in the NYU School of Arts and Science and is expected to play an integral role in the NYU Center for Social Media and Politics (CSMaP). Methodologically, applicants should demonstrate a mastery of quantitative and/or computational methods in the social sciences. Substantively, applicants should have research interests that align with and/or compliment the areas of interest at CSMaP. The position is to begin September 1, 2024, pending budgetary and administrative approval.

Compensation: In compliance with NYC's Pay Transparency Act, the annual base salary range for this position is $100,000 - $150,000. New York University considers factors such as (but not limited to) the scope and responsibilities of the position, the candidate's work experience, education/training, key skills, internal peer equity, as well as market and organizational considerations when extending an offer.

Qualifications

Candidates are expected to possess a PhD by September 1, 2024 in a relevant social science or related discipline; to have records of excellent research; and to indicate the potential to be future disciplinary leaders in their respective fields of expertise.

The School of Arts and Science at NYU is dedicated to the goal of building a diverse and inclusive academic community. Accordingly, we strongly encourage applications from candidates who demonstrate through their scholarship, teaching and mentoring, and/or service engagement, a commitment to these goals. We are particularly interested in hearing about steps you have taken (or plan to take) to foster an open and inclusive intellectual environment in the classroom, in the department and on campus, and/or in your field more generally.

Application Instructions

Initial application review will begin Sept 15, 2023, but applications will be considered until the position is filled. Interested candidates should submit: a cover letter, CV, a research statement, a teaching statement, a one-page statement as to how the candidate will contribute to a diverse and inclusive environment at NYU, a job market paper, one (or two) additional research papers, and three letters of recommendation. All of these documents are to be uploaded in Interfolio at <https://apply.interfolio.com/129573>.

The Faculty of Arts and Science at NYU is at the heart of a leading research university that spans the globe. We seek scholars of the highest caliber, who embody the diversity of the United States as well as the global society in which we live. We strongly encourage applications from women, racial and ethnic minorities, and other individuals who are under-represented in the profession, across color, creed, race, ethnic and national origin, physical ability, gender and sexual identity, or any other legally protected basis. NYU affirms the value of differing perspectives on the world as we strive to build the strongest possible university with the widest reach. To learn more about the Arts and Science commitment to equality and inclusion, please read see <http://as.nyu.edu/departments/facultydiversity.html>

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/29/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12403

University of Southern California

Rank: (Open Rank) Professor in Comparative Politics

The Department of Political Science and International Relations (POIR) in the Dana and David Dornsife College of Letters, Arts and Sciences at the University of Southern California (USC) in Los Angeles, California invites applications for a tenure-track or tenured position in Comparative Politics as part of a major hiring initiative.

We seek candidates with a strong substantive research program in any domain of Comparative Politics, whose work advances theoretical and empirical research on important questions in their subfield.

Candidates are expected to have strong methodological training, and their methodological skills, ability to advise graduate students on methodological issues and teach graduate classes in the Department's core methods sequence will be a consideration. A strong commitment to undergraduate and graduate education is also expected.

The candidate must have completed a Ph.D. by the appointment date. Review of applications will start September 15, 2023 and will continue until the positions are filled.

In order to be considered for this position, applicants are required to submit an electronic USC application; follow this job link or paste in a browser: <https://usccareers.usc.edu/job/los-angeles/open-rank-faculty-position-in-comparative-politics/1209/53486590016>. Required materials for upload include a CV, letter of interest, sample research paper(s), statement of research interests, evidence of teaching effectiveness, the names of three individuals who will be contacted by USC for a letter of reference, and official graduate transcripts. Send inquiries to poir@usc.edu. Materials submitted by regular mail will not be accepted.

The annual base salary range for this position is $93,500 - $175,700. When extending an offer of employment, the University of Southern California considers factors such as (but not limited to) the scope and responsibilities of the position, the candidate's work experience, education/training, key skills, internal peer equity, federal, state and local laws, contractual stipulations, grant funding, as well as external market and organizational considerations.

USC is an equal-opportunity educator and employer, proudly pluralistic and firmly committed to providing equal opportunity for outstanding persons of every race, gender, creed and background. The University particularly encourages women, members of underrepresented groups, veterans and individuals with disabilities to apply. USC will make reasonable accommodations for qualified individuals with known disabilities unless doing so would result in an undue hardship. Further information is available by contacting uschr@usc.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/29/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12399

University of Southern California

Rank: (Open Rank) Professor in Comparative Politics

The Department of Political Science and International Relations (POIR) in the Dana and David Dornsife College of Letters, Arts and Sciences at the University of Southern California (USC) in Los Angeles, California invites applications for a tenure-track or tenured position in Comparative Politics as part of a major hiring initiative.

We seek candidates with a strong substantive research program in any domain of Comparative Politics, whose work advances theoretical and empirical research on important questions in their subfield. Candidates are expected to have strong methodological training, and their methodological skills, ability to advise graduate students on methodological issues and teach graduate classes in the Department's core methods sequence will be a consideration. A strong commitment to undergraduate and graduate education is also expected.

The candidate must have completed a Ph.D. by the appointment date. Review of applications will start September 15, 2023 and will continue until the positions are filled.

In order to be considered for this position, applicants are required to submit an electronic USC application; follow this job link or paste in a browser: <https://usccareers.usc.edu/job/los-angeles/open-rank-faculty-position-in-comparative-politics/1209/53486590016>. Required materials for upload include a CV, letter of interest, sample research paper(s), statement of research interests, evidence of teaching effectiveness, the names of three individuals who will be contacted by USC for a letter of reference, and official graduate transcripts. Send inquiries to poir@usc.edu. Materials submitted by regular mail will not be accepted.

The annual base salary range for this position is $93,500 - $175,700. When extending an offer of employment, the University of Southern California considers factors such as (but not limited to) the scope and responsibilities of the position, the candidate's work experience, education/training, key skills, internal peer equity, federal, state and local laws, contractual stipulations, grant funding, as well as external market and organizational considerations.

USC is an equal-opportunity educator and employer, proudly pluralistic and firmly committed to providing equal opportunity for outstanding persons of every race, gender, creed and background. The University particularly encourages women, members of underrepresented groups, veterans and individuals with disabilities to apply. USC will make reasonable accommodations for qualified individuals with known disabilities unless doing so would result in an undue hardship. Further information is available by contacting uschr@usc.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/29/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12400

University of Houston

Rank: Visiting Professor - Ethics and Leadership

The Elizabeth D. Rockwell Center on Ethics and Leadership at the Hobby School of Affairs invites applications for a Visiting Professor position in Ethics and Leadership to begin September 1, 2024. Competitive candidates should have a PhD in political theory, social and political philosophy, ethics, or leadership studies with some connection to public policy.

The goal of this Visiting Professor position is to provide junior researchers who have recently received their PhDs with an opportunity to develop their research program and make contacts with people in their field prior to taking on a tenure-track position. Teaching and service expectations are relatively light. The Visiting Professor will teach one course per semester for each semester during their appointment. The Visiting Professor will also be expected to attend events sponsored by the Elizabeth Rockwell Center and possibly help plan some events.

The salary range is $65,000-$85,000 per year depending on experience and qualifications plus medical and other benefits as well as $4000 per year in discretionary research funds for conferences, books, and research travel. A small moving stipend will also be available. Applicants should have earned their PhD before beginning this position on September 1, 2024.

This appointment is for a one-year term with the possibility of renewal for an additional year.

Applications for this position should include:

*A formal letter of application detailing your interest in this position and relevant qualifications.

*A curriculum vitae.

*One research article or dissertation chapter.

*Evidence of teaching effectiveness, if available (e.g., student evaluations, a teaching observation, a brief assessment by a professor for whom you were at teaching assistant).

*Three letters of reference. Please provide contact information for three references.

Apply online at https://uhs.taleo.net/careersection/ex2_uhf/jobdetail.ftl?job=FAC002943.

Review of applications will begin December 1 and continue until the position is filled. For questions about this position, please contact Daniel Engster at daengste@central.uh.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Date Posted: 8/27/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12377

Iowa State University

Rank: Assistant Professor in Political Science, Public Policy or related field

The Department of Political Science at Iowa State University (Ames, Iowa) invites applications for two tenure-track faculty members at the rank of assistant professor. The successful candidates will conduct research and teach in at least one of four critical areas identified by the University: Climate Science and Sustainability, Critical Materials, Cybersecurity, and/or Human Health Initiatives (i.e. Health Politics and Policy). The ability to contribute to the department's instructional needs in the areas of American Politics, Global Politics, Research Methods, or pre-Law is a plus.

Responsibilities for this position include conducting research, including participation in multi-disciplinary research teams; mentoring students and teaching undergraduate and graduate courses; and providing service to the department, university, profession, and community.

Required Minimum Qualifications:

Ph.D. in Political Science, Public Policy, or related field. The degree must be conferred by the date of appointment

Scholarly expertise in at least one of the following: Climate Science and Sustainability, Critical Materials, Cybersecurity, and/or Human Health Initiatives (i.e. Health Politics and Policy).

Preferred Qualifications:

Research excellence, as demonstrated by a record of high-quality publications and external funding, or by the promise thereof

A research agenda with the potential for multi-disciplinary collaborations

Demonstrated ability in teaching in American Politics, Global Politics, Methods, or pre-Law

Demonstrated excellence in undergraduate and/or graduate teaching and student mentoring

Application Instructions:

Applications will be accepted until the position is filled. However, to receive full consideration, applications should be received by Monday, October 16, 2023.

All interested, qualified persons must apply for this position online at jobs.iastate.edu to Job Requisition Number R12791. Application instructions and required materials are available online.

Please direct questions to Dr. Karen M. Kedrowski, Search Committee chair, at karenmk1@iastate.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 10/16/2023

Date Posted: 8/25/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12371

Sewanee: The University of the South

Rank: Gender in Politics (Full-Time, Tenure-Track)

The Departments of Politics and Women's and Gender Studies (WGS) at the University of the South seek applications for a professor at the Assistant level in gender in politics, with a preference for a specialization in Black feminist politics. The position will begin in August 2024.

The teaching load for this position is five courses per year. The successful candidate will teach a variety of courses in both Politics and the WGS program on Black feminist politics and theory, as well as courses on gender in the global and/or domestic realm. This may include courses on Black feminist political engagement, political behavior, political thought, and/or history. An introductory course on Black Women's Studies is also highly desirable. The successful candidate will show evidence of inclusive and effective classroom teaching and a commitment to scholarly research and publication. The University has committed to diversity, equity, and inclusion in scholarship and teaching, and to that end, candidates whose research contributes to DEI are particularly urged to apply.

Sewanee has been chosen by the American Association of Colleges and Universities as one of 16 campuses to host a Truth, Reconciliation, Healing, and Transformation (TRHT) Campus Center for our ongoing work to foster racial reconciliation. The faculty member hired in this position, together with others across a range of disciplines, will form the inaugural TRHT Scholars. This cohort will have enhanced institutional support to engage in teaching, research, and service projects to further the Center's goals: to create a positive narrative about race in our community; to promote racial healing activities on campus and in our community; to erase institutional barriers to equal treatment; to prepare the next generation of leaders to build just and equitable communities.

The University of the South, commonly known as Sewanee, comprises a nationally ranked residential College of Arts and Sciences and a School of Theology. The university is strongly committed to the values of intellectual inquiry, diversity, equity, and inclusion, and living and serving in community. We seek to build a community enriched by our diversity centered on equity, justice, mutual respect, and shared responsibility. Situated on 13,000 acres atop Tennessee's Cumberland Plateau, Sewanee is known for its stunning natural beauty while providing easy access to Chattanooga, Nashville, and Huntsville, AL. The University is affiliated with the Episcopal Church and seeks to support students, faculty, and staff of all backgrounds and identities.

The University of the South stands firmly for the principle that its employees, students, and participants of university-sponsored programs and activities have a right to be free from discrimination based on race, color, sex, religion, national origin, age, disability, sexual orientation, gender identity, veteran status, pregnancy and childbirth, and genetic information. As required by Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990 and the ADA Amendments Act of 2008, Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, and Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972, the University does not discriminate based on sex or other protected categories in the educational programs or activities which it operates. This nondiscrimination requirement extends to admission to and employment in those programs or activities. The University is committed to sustaining a community in which the dignity of every individual is respected. Key to this value are efforts to nurture an environment of civility and mutual respect and to foster a culture of reporting concerns so that the University can respond promptly and equitably whenever an incident occurs. All employees, students, and participants of university-sponsored programs and activities have the right to be free from harassment and retaliation.

Applicants should submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, course evaluations, graduate transcript, a statement demonstrating a commitment to and experience supporting diversity, equity, and how the applicant's teaching, research, or service agenda contributes to the mission and goals of the TRHT cohort mentioned above. Applicants will be asked to supply the names and email addresses of three references, who will receive an auto-request to submit their confidential e-letters of recommendation.

Applicant materials should be submitted through the application portal at jobs.sewanee.edu. Employment eligibility is contingent upon successful prescreening. For full consideration, please submit materials by September 30, 2023. Additional information about the Politics Department and the Women and Gender Studies Program are available on their respective websites. If you have any questions about the position, please contact Dr. Rodelio Manacsa (romanacs@sewanee.edu).

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 9/30/2023

Date Posted: 8/21/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12338

Princeton University

Rank: Assistant Professor, Associate Professor (with tenure) or Professor, Ethics in Society

Princeton University invites applications for a faculty position in ethics in society based in the University Center for Human Values, to begin on or after July 1, 2024. Rank: open. The Center is an interdisciplinary community of scholars whose additional principal affiliations currently include history, philosophy, politics, psychology, public policy and international affairs, religion, and sociology. The Center seeks scholars of distinction and promise, especially those who research ethical dimensions of one or more specific social contexts, which may include (but are not limited to) particular domains of contemporary science and technology, such as artificial intelligence, data science, genomics, or climate science, and studies of disability, race, gender, or species. Scholars with research interests and training in philosophy, political theory, legal scholarship, religious ethics, or related areas, and those working on ethical issues in specific social contexts in other disciplines or from interdisciplinary approaches, are encouraged to apply. A joint appointment with another academic unit, such as an academic department, may be possible.

To better realize its scholarly mission and contribute to the University, the Center is committed to enhancing and valuing a diversity of perspectives and experiences among its faculty. The Center seeks to be an inclusive academic community and strongly encourages applications from individuals who identify as members of groups that are underrepresented in their respective discipline. Princeton University is especially interested in qualified candidates who can contribute, through their research, teaching, and/or service, to the diversity and excellence of our academic community.

An appointment at the level of full or associate professor will be tenured; an appointment at the level of assistant professor will be tenure track. A Ph.D. or equivalent by September 1, 2024, is strongly preferred, but not required. Candidates for the Ph.D. who have not completed all the requirements by September 1, 2024, will be appointed at the rank of Instructor for one year (renewable), with promotion to Assistant Professor dependent on the timely completion of the Ph.D.

A complete application will contain the following materials:

- 1) a letter of application
- 2) a curriculum vitae
- 3) a sample of writing in the candidate's field of specialization
- 4) the names and contact details of three persons willing to serve as references.

Please direct all materials to: <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/31621>.

Applications that are complete by October 9, 2023, will be assured of the most careful consideration.

This position is subject to the University's background check policy. Princeton University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to age, race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/18/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12302

Princeton University

Rank: Assistant Professor, Associate Professor (with tenure) or Professor, Ethics in Society

Princeton University invites applications for a faculty position in ethics in society based in the University Center for Human Values, to begin on or after July 1, 2024. Rank: open. The Center is an interdisciplinary community of scholars whose additional principal affiliations currently include history, philosophy, politics, psychology, public policy and international affairs, religion, and sociology. The Center seeks scholars of distinction and promise, especially those who research ethical dimensions of one or more specific social contexts, which may include (but are not limited to) particular domains of contemporary science and technology, such as artificial intelligence, data science, genomics, or climate science, and studies of disability, race, gender, or species. Scholars with research interests and training in philosophy, political theory, legal scholarship, religious ethics, or related areas, and those working on ethical issues in specific social contexts in other disciplines or from interdisciplinary approaches, are encouraged to apply. A joint appointment with another academic unit, such as an academic department, may be possible.

To better realize its scholarly mission and contribute to the University, the Center is committed to enhancing and valuing a diversity of perspectives and experiences among its faculty. The Center seeks to be an inclusive academic community and strongly encourages applications from individuals who identify as members of groups that are underrepresented in their respective discipline. Princeton University is especially interested in qualified candidates who can contribute, through their research, teaching, and/or service, to the diversity and excellence of our academic community.

An appointment at the level of full or associate professor will be tenured; an appointment at the level of assistant professor will be tenure track. A Ph.D. or equivalent by September 1, 2024, is strongly preferred, but not required. Candidates for the Ph.D. who have not completed all the requirements by September 1, 2024, will be appointed at the rank of Instructor for one year (renewable), with promotion to Assistant Professor dependent on the timely completion of the Ph.D.

A complete application will contain the following materials:

- 1) a letter of application
- 2) a curriculum vitae
- 3) a sample of writing in the candidate's field of specialization
- 4) the names and contact details of three persons willing to serve as references.

Please direct all materials to: <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/31621>.

Applications that are complete by October 9, 2023, will be assured of the most careful consideration.

This position is subject to the University's background check policy. Princeton University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to age, race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/18/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12303

Princeton University

Rank: Open Rank: Assistant Professor, Associate Professor (with tenure) or Professor, Ethics in Society

Princeton University invites applications for a faculty position in ethics in society based in the University Center for Human Values, to begin on or after July 1, 2024. Rank: open. The Center is an interdisciplinary community of scholars whose additional principal affiliations currently include history, philosophy, politics, psychology, public policy and international affairs, religion, and sociology. The Center seeks scholars of distinction and promise, especially those who research ethical dimensions of one or more specific social contexts, which may include (but are not limited to) particular domains of contemporary science and technology, such as artificial intelligence, data science, genomics, or climate science, and studies of disability, race, gender, or species. Scholars with research interests and training in philosophy, political theory, legal scholarship, religious ethics, or related areas, and those working on ethical issues in specific social contexts in other disciplines or from interdisciplinary approaches, are encouraged to apply. A joint appointment with another academic unit, such as an academic department, may be possible.

To better realize its scholarly mission and contribute to the University, the Center is committed to enhancing and valuing a diversity of perspectives and experiences among its faculty. The Center seeks to be an inclusive academic community and strongly encourages applications from individuals who identify as members of groups that are underrepresented in their respective discipline. Princeton University is especially interested in qualified candidates who can contribute, through their research, teaching, and/or service, to the diversity and excellence of our academic community.

An appointment at the level of full or associate professor will be tenured; an appointment at the level of assistant professor will be tenure track. A Ph.D. or equivalent by September 1, 2024, is strongly preferred, but not required. Candidates for the Ph.D. who have not completed all the requirements by September 1, 2024, will be appointed at the rank of Instructor for one year (renewable), with promotion to Assistant Professor dependent on the timely completion of the Ph.D.

A complete application will contain the following materials:

- 1) a letter of application
- 2) a curriculum vitae
- 3) a sample of writing in the candidate's field of specialization
- 4) the names and contact details of three persons willing to serve as references.

Please direct all materials to: <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/31621>.

Applications that are complete by October 9, 2023, will be assured of the most careful consideration.

This position is subject to the University's background check policy. Princeton University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to age, race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law.

Start Date: Summer 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/18/2023
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 12304

Princeton University

Rank: Visiting Research Scholar, Program in Latin American Studies

Program in Latin American Studies (PLAS) Visiting Fellowship, 2024-2025

Job Title: Visiting Research Scholar

Requisition Number: D-24-LAS-00002

The Program in Latin American Studies (PLAS) is seeking top scholars in their fields who have teaching experience and will provide Princeton students with a unique opportunity to study topics that are not regularly offered at the University. Applications will be accepted from outstanding scholars in the humanities and social sciences, as well as from established writers, artists, filmmakers, or architects working on projects relating to Latin America who are stellar teachers.

Visiting Research Scholars will be expected to teach one undergraduate course per semester, conditional upon sufficient enrollments and approval of the Dean of the Faculty, and to participate in PLAS-related events on campus.

Appointments are expected to be for one or two semesters, during the 2024-2025 academic year (fall semester: September 1, 2024 - January 16, 2025; spring semester: January 16, 2025 - June 1, 2025). A competitive salary commensurate with experience and excellent benefits will be offered. The Office of the Dean of the Faculty determines salary on the basis of current academic rank and award duration; appointment rank at Princeton is determined on the basis of experience and current institutional affiliation.

How to Apply:

For full consideration, all the materials listed must be received by October 15, 2023, 11:59 p.m. EST. All candidates must submit materials (in English) and apply online at <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/31283>.

- 1) Cover letter indicating the applicant's proposed length of stay (1-2 semesters), title of the proposed research project, and teaching interests;
- 2) Curriculum vitae;
- 3) One undergraduate seminar proposal or syllabus for each proposed semester of the fellowship, including a statement of how the course(s) would enhance undergraduate education at Princeton;
- 4) A statement describing the research project and its scholarly contribution (2,000 – 3,000 words);
- 5) The names and contact information of two referees (the Program will contact them, if needed, later).

Advanced degree preferred.

Princeton University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer, and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to age, race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law.

Start Date: Fall 2024
Application Deadline: 10/15/2023
Date Posted: 8/17/2023
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 12291

Princeton University, Program in Latin American Studies

Rank: Visiting Fellow

Program in Latin American Studies (PLAS) Short-term Visiting Fellowships, 2024-2025

Job Title: Visiting Fellow

Requisition Number: D-24-LAS-00003

The Program in Latin American Studies is launching an open call for applications for next year's visiting short-term fellowships. We are looking for advanced or mid-career scholars in their field. Applications will be accepted from outstanding scholars in the humanities and social sciences, as well as from established writers, artists, filmmakers, or architects working on projects relating to Latin America who are stellar teachers.

Appointments will be for one month during the 2024-2025 academic year (September 1, 2024 to June 30, 2025) or the summer (July and August) to be determined on a case-by-case basis. The Office of the Dean of the Faculty determines stipend on the basis of current academic rank; appointment rank at Princeton is determined on the basis of seniority and current institutional affiliation.

Visiting Fellows will be expected to devote themselves to research and to participate regularly in the scholarly activities of the PLAS intellectual community.

How to Apply:

For full consideration, all the materials listed below must be received by October 15, 2023. All candidates must apply online to submit materials at <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/31302>.

- 1) Cover letter (in English) indicating the calendar month the applicant proposes to stay), title of the proposed research project, and an explanation for reasons to be here at Princeton (i.e., use the library, look at particular archives, work with members of the faculty, etc.);
- 2) Curriculum vitae (in English);
- 3) A statement (in English) describing the research project and its scholarly contribution as well as the ways Princeton resources and/or faculty will be useful for the project (1,500 - 2,000 words);
- 4) The names and contact information of two referees. (The Program will contact them, if needed, later).

Princeton University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer, and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to age, race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law.

Start Date: Fall 2024
Application Deadline: 10/15/2023
Date Posted: 8/17/2023

Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 12293

Furman University

Rank: Assistant, Associate, or full Professor in Politics and International Affairs

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Open, Open

The Department of Politics and International Affairs at Furman University invites applications for a tenure-track appointment at the Assistant, Associate, or Full professorial rank in American politics, specializing in racial and ethnic politics, to begin August 1, 2024. The candidate will teach five courses per year, including introductory and upper-level courses in American politics. The candidate must demonstrate the potential for superb teaching and excellence in scholarship. The person hired must possess a Ph.D. in Political Science by August 1, 2024.

Applicants should submit the following documents as a single PDF in the order listed: a letter of interest, C.V., diversity statement, and complete contact information for three references. The diversity statement should describe how the candidate's teaching, scholarship, mentoring and/or service might contribute to a liberal arts college community that includes a commitment to diversity as one of its core values.

Furman University is committed to advancing diversity, equity, and inclusion in all facets of university life and strives to create an anti-racist community through excellence in teaching, mentorship, and programming. Numerous initiatives and programs are underway or planned to promote these ideals, including historical projects, dialogue initiatives, the Center for Inclusive Communities, and a recently approved major in Africana Studies.

The successful candidate will have the ability to work with historically underrepresented students, including students of color, and be committed to assisting the university in its continuing efforts to become a model of inclusive excellence.

The Politics and International Affairs Department is a large department with specialists in all major political science fields. The Department is committed to fostering a professional community where every member is treated with dignity. All are welcome to participate in the department's life and the respectful exploration of ideas. The candidate should show interest in and aptitude for contributing to this endeavor.

The Furman student experience is supported by a rich network of centers and institutes that includes The Riley Institute, The David E. Shi Center for Sustainability, The Hill Institute for Innovation and Entrepreneurship, The Institute for the Advancement of Community Health, The Herring Center for Continuing, Graduate, and Professional Education, The Rinker Center for Study Away and International Education, The Cothran Center for Vocational Exploration, The Shucker Center for Leadership Development, The Malone Center for Career Engagement, The Center for Inclusive Communities, the Furman Humanities Center, and our newest addition, the Tocqueville Center for the Study of Democracy and Society.

Furman is located in Greenville, South Carolina, one of the fastest-growing cities in the Southeast, and is ranked among "America's Ten Best" by Forbes Magazine. The thriving downtown features excellent restaurants, in-town parks, shops, museums, galleries, music venues, and theaters. Greenville also enjoys an impressive network of nonprofits, small businesses, and international corporations. The city also has excellent public and private schools and a vibrant international community. A 20-mile bike and running trail connects the university to Greenville and to Travelers Rest, which was named "one of America's coolest small towns." The surrounding area abounds with outdoor recreational activities and has some of the country's most beautiful lakes, rivers, and mountains. Greenville is 2½ hours from Atlanta, 1½ hours from Charlotte, and only one hour from Asheville, North Carolina. Greenville is within easy reach of the Blue Ridge Mountains and Atlantic Beaches. The newly renovated Greenville-Spartanburg Airport, located just 25 minutes from downtown, runs daily flights to major cities and airline hubs. It is an ideal place to live and work.

We will begin reviewing applications on October 23, 2023, and continue until the position is filled.

To apply, use click on this link:

https://furman.wd5.myworkdayjobs.com/Furman_Careers/job/Main-Campus/Assistant--Associate--or-Full-Professor-in-Politics-and-International-Affairs_R002271

Questions should be directed to the chairperson of the search committee, Professor Teresa Cosby, at Teresa.cosby@furman.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Date Posted: 8/16/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12279

Portland State University

Rank: Adjunct Faculty Pool

The Department of Politics and Global Affairs is housed in the Mark O Hatfield School of Government, part of the College of Urban and Public Affairs at Portland State University. We offer bachelor's degrees in political science and international & global studies (optional specializations include public service, law & legal studies, international development), and a master's degree in political science.

The Department of Politics and Global Affairs invites applicants to join our part-time adjunct instructor pool for positions beginning in academic year 2023-2024. Review of applications occurs as new sections or instructors are needed. This position entails teaching undergraduate courses in Political Science and/or International & Global Studies. (A list of courses offered by Political Science and International Studies can be found in the PSU Bulletin.)

Minimum Qualifications:

Graduate degree in the subject (Masters or equivalent) and 3 years of professional experience, or current Ph.D. candidate in Political Science, Public Affairs & Policy, Public Policy, International & Global Studies or related disciplines.

Preferred Qualifications:

- Doctoral degree in the areas listed above
- Experience creating and teaching asynchronous online courses

Key Cultural Competencies:

- Creates an environment that acknowledges, encourages and celebrates differences.
- Functions and communicates effectively and respectfully within the context of varying beliefs, behaviors, orientations, identities and cultural backgrounds.

- Seeks opportunities to gain experience working and collaborating in diverse, multicultural, and inclusive settings with a willingness to change for continual improvement
- Adheres to all PSU's policies including the policies on Prohibited Discrimination & Harassment and the Professional Standards of Conduct.

Environmental Stewardship

Contributes to a culture of environmental stewardship, practices resource conservation, and actively works toward achieving long-term sustainability goals.

Required Professional Standards of Conduct:

At Portland State University, all employees are expected to conduct themselves in a professional manner which maintains a safe, respectful, and productive environment for faculty, students, administrators, and staff. It is the responsibility of every member of the Portland State University community to conduct themselves in accordance with our PSU Professional Standards of Conduct which are available at www.pdx.edu/hr/professional-standards-conduct.

Compensation:

Adjunct instructors are paid per credit hour, per the PSUFA Collective Bargaining Agreement.

To view the full job posting and apply, please visit: <https://jobs.hrc.pdx.edu/postings/42404>

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/15/2023

Salary: Below $20,000

eJobs ID: 12275

Washington University in St. Louis

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science- Racial and Ethnic Politics

The Department of Political Science at Washington University in St. Louis invite applications for two tenure-track faculty appointments in racial and ethnic politics at the rank of Assistant Professor to begin in the fall semester of 2024. A Ph.D. in Political Science or a closely related field is required at the time of appointment. Duties will include teaching assigned courses, conducting research, writing for publication, advising students, participating in department and program governance, and university service.

Diversity and Inclusion are core values at Washington University, and we seek to create inclusive classrooms and environments in which a diverse array of students can learn and thrive.

Each year Washington University publishes a Safety and Security brochure that details what to do and whom to contact in an emergency. This report also publishes the federally required annual security and fire safety reports, containing campus crime and fire statistics as well as key university policies and procedures. You may access the Safety and Security brochure at <https://police.wustl.edu/clery-reports-logs/>.

Application materials should include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, statements of research and teaching interests, at least three letters of reference, writing samples, diversity statement, and other relevant materials.

Applications received before September 15, 2023 will receive full consideration. Consideration after that date will be at the discretion of the search committee. All applications and supporting documentation should be submitted electronically through Interfolio at <http://apply.interfolio.com/129800>. If you encounter difficulties with the application process or have any additional questions, please email Autumn Dennis autumnd@wustl.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/14/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12313

Trinity College

Rank: Director, Greenberg Center for the Study of Religion in Public Life

Trinity College seeks the next Director of the Leonard E. Greenberg Center for the Study of Religion in Public Life, commencing July 2024. Non-sectarian and non-partisan, the Greenberg Center was established at Trinity College in 1996 to advance knowledge and understanding of the varied roles that religious movements, institutions, and ideas play in the contemporary world. The Center sponsors public lectures, organizes conferences and workshops, contributes to the liberal arts curriculum, and supports the publication and dissemination of materials for both academic and general audiences. Its initiatives are designed to foster discussion of religion in public life both within the campus community and among various external publics.

We seek a mid-career or advanced candidate with a Ph.D. and a record of success in program administration, teaching, and scholarship. The Director serves as an 9-month administrative faculty member with joint appointments in Trinity's Public Policy & Law Program and Religious Studies Department. The Director's faculty title will be commensurate with experience.

The Director will shape the Center's goals and activities; enhance the Center's profile on and off campus; and evaluate the Center's impact. The position co-supervises a Program and Communications Assistant and convenes a Center advisory board. As a faculty member, the Director teaches three courses per academic year during the Fall and Spring semesters, cross-listed in Religious Studies and Public Policy & Law. The successful candidate will manage an annual budget of over $65,000, including generous research funds.

We encourage applicants who share our commitment to diversity and inclusion and seek applications from historically underrepresented candidates. Trinity College seeks a faculty that reflects the changing demographics of our student body. Our student body is diverse, representing 41 states and 70 countries, with 21 percent U.S. students of color and 50 percent who identify as women. More than 90 percent of students live on campus. Trinity is a highly selective, independent, nonsectarian liberal arts institution located in the capital city of Hartford, Conn. With more than 2,100 full-time undergraduate students and 91 graduate students, the college maintains a rigorous academic profile complemented by a vibrant and diverse co-curricular program. We consider our location in a culturally and socioeconomically diverse capital city to be among Trinity's most distinctive assets, and we cultivate strong connections with our surrounding neighbors and with institutions and organizations throughout Hartford and the region. As a preeminent liberal arts college in an urban setting, Trinity College prepares students to be bold, independent thinkers who lead transformative lives.

Evidence of demonstrable success in program administration, teaching, and scholarship is required. A Ph.D. in Religious Studies, Public Policy, or a related field should be in hand by July 2024.

Competitive salary and benefits, plus start-up expense fund.

To ensure full consideration please submit a cover letter (describing research; teaching; and commitment to advancing diversity, equity, and inclusion), CV, sample of scholarly writing, course syllabi and evaluations (if available), and the names of three referees who can provide letters of reference to by October 2, 2023. Please contact Administrative Assistant Christine.McMorris@trincoll.edu with questions.

<https://trincoll.peopleadmin.com/postings/3085>

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/11/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12233

University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign

Rank: International Political Economy/Open Rank Faculty Position

The Department of Political Science at the University of Illinois, Urbana-Champaign invites applications for a full-time tenure stream open-rank faculty position in International Political Economy, broadly defined. We welcome applications from those studying goods, capital, labor, or services, as well as those studying climate change, human rights, or migration. Expertise in statistical methods is desirable. Successful candidates are expected to teach effectively at both the undergraduate and graduate levels, establish and maintain an active and independent research program, and provide service to the department, the university, and the profession. Candidates who have demonstrated a commitment to working with students or faculty from groups historically marginalized or underrepresented in the field through teaching, mentoring, or administration are especially encouraged to apply.

Applicants at the Assistant Professor level must demonstrate evidence of a promising research agenda and a commitment to undergraduate and graduate teaching. Applicants at the Associate/Full Professor level must have an established record in research, teaching, and service. Ph.D. in Political Science or related field required. Target start date is August 16, 2024. Salary is commensurate with rank and qualifications.

The Illinois College of Liberal Arts and Sciences is a world leader in research, teaching, and public engagement. Faculty in the College create knowledge, address critical societal needs through the transfer and application of knowledge, and prepare students for lives of impact in the state, nation, and globally. To meet these objectives, the College embraces and values diversity and difference through hiring faculty candidates who can contribute through their research, teaching, and/or service to the diversity and excellence of the Illinois community.

We have an active and successful dual-career partner placement program and a strong commitment to work-life balance and family-friendly programs for faculty and staff (<http://provost.illinois.edu/faculty-affairs/work-life-balance/>). To find out more about the resources available at the university and Urbana-Champaign community please visit these sites:

Dual Career Program

Benefits

Living in Champaign-Urbana

To apply, create your candidate profile through <https://jobs.illinois.edu> and upload your application materials by 6:00pm (CST) on September 15, 2023: letter of application, CV, a representative publication, statement of teaching and research interests, and a statement detailing how their teaching, service and/or scholarship has contributed to the success of all students, including those from racial, ethnic, and gender backgrounds that are underrepresented in their academic field. Applicants who have not yet had the opportunity for such experience should note how their work will further Illinois' and the College of LAS' commitment to Inclusive Excellence and the success of all students.

We ask that all documents be uploaded in a single .pdf file as an upload in the "Resume/CV" section. An email request for contact information for three professional references will be sent to you 1-2 business days after you application is submitted. Once the contact information for the references is uploaded into the system, their letters will be invited. Early application submission is encouraged to allow time for referees to submit letters of recommendation.

Only applications submitted through the University of Illinois Job Board will be considered. Questions about the position or application procedures may be directed to the faculty search coordinator at pol@illinois.edu.

The University of Illinois must also comply with applicable federal export control laws and regulations and, as such, reserves the right to employ restricted party screening procedures for applicants.

The University of Illinois System is an equal opportunity employer, including but not limited to disability and/or veteran status, and complies with all applicable state and federal employment mandates. Please visit Required Employment Notices and Posters to view our non-discrimination statement and find additional information about required background checks, sexual harassment/misconduct disclosures, COVID-19 vaccination requirement, and employment eligibility review through E-Verify.

Applicants with disabilities are encouraged to apply and may request a reasonable accommodation under the Americans with Disabilities Act (2008) to complete the application and/or interview process. Requests may be submitted through the reasonable accommodations portal, or by contacting the Accessibility & Accommodations Division of the Office for Access and Equity at 217-333-0885, or by emailing accessibility@illinois.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Date Posted: 8/9/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12245

Bilkent University

Rank: Multiple Positions - Assistant Professor in International Relations

The Department of International Relations at Bilkent University invites applications for multiple tenure-track assistant professor positions in international relations, beginning in September 2024. The department welcomes applications from scholars working in any area of specialization within the field of international relations broadly defined.

Successful candidates will have a strong publication record, be expected to produce peer-reviewed research, and contribute to teaching at the undergraduate and graduate programs. The positions entail a teaching load of two courses per semester, with a possibility of a 50% course load reduction for the first 2 – 4 semesters.

Bilkent University and the Department of International Relations are strongly committed to faculty diversity. We welcome applications from scholars of diverse backgrounds, especially from those historically under-represented in the academy.

To apply, candidates must submit: 1) CV, 2) cover letter that includes a description of research and teaching interests, 3) contact information for three scholars who can provide letters of recommendation, 4) a writing sample via <https://stars.bilkent.edu.tr/staffapp/IR2024>. Applicants are expected to have completed a Ph.D. in Political Science, International Relations, or a related academic discipline by the beginning of the appointment. The deadline for submission is October 15th, 2023.

Faculty members from Bilkent IR department will be present at the APSA 2023 Annual Meeting in Los Angeles, CA. Please contact us via ir@bilkent.edu.tr to arrange an informal meeting if you would like to get more information about the position, the department, and the university.

Bilkent University is an English-medium not-for-profit private research university located in Ankara, Turkey. It is the country's first such university, and global rankings regularly highlight its place as one of the leading universities in Turkey, and in the world. The university offers on-campus housing, International Baccalaureate schooling options for dependents, a diverse intellectual environment, access to excellent private health care, and a variety of facilities and opportunities for its staff. The Department of International Relations, which serves approximately 600 undergraduate students and 70 graduate students, fully embraces the university's foundational objectives of providing high-quality education, producing high-impact research, and developing critical and analytical thinking.

Please direct questions about the application process and the positions to ir@bilkent.edu.tr.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 10/15/2023

Date Posted: 8/3/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12150

Northwestern University

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor in Political Science (2023-24), International Relations and U.S. Foreign Policy

Subfield(s): International Relations, Methodology, Open

Specializations: Foreign Policy, International Security, International Political Economy

To apply, please complete the following form and upload your application dossier here: <https://app.smartsheet.com/b/form/463ea03dad5344b38ae0e98bf0b96825>; APPLICATION PORTAL

The Department of Political Science at Northwestern invites applications for a Visiting Assistant Professor (VAP) in the field of International Relations, with a preference for candidates with experience teaching Introduction to International Relations &/or Introduction to Comparative Politics, U.S. Foreign Policy, National Security, Globalization, Environmental Politics, International Relations Theory, or related subjects. This is a one-year position with the possibility of renewal for the 2024-25 academic year. We seek a teacher-scholar with a Ph.D. degree in political science. ABD candidates nearing completion of their degree requirement will be considered in the search. Successful candidates for the position will teach six courses, distributed across three quarters that comprise Northwestern's academic calendar. Candidates are welcome to teach 6 unique courses, but applicants should expect to prepare no more than 4 courses, including at least one quarter of an introductory course.

Excellent candidates for this position will be able to teach an introductory undergraduate course in the field of International Relations as well as more advanced courses in the candidate's area of expertise. The Visiting Assistant Professor will have additional opportunities for teaching and research collaboration with the Institute for Policy Research, the Weinberg College Center for International and Area Studies, the Center for the Study of Diversity and Democracy, and the Buffett Institute for Global Affairs, the Global Poverty Research Lab, among other regional and thematic clusters related to the candidate's expertise.

Review will begin immediately and continue until the position is filled. Applications received by Friday, August 18th will receive full consideration.

To apply, please complete the following form and upload your application dossier.

Required Materials:

Curriculum Vitae

Graduate Program Transcripts (unofficial welcome)

Research Statement

Teaching Statement

Evidence of Teaching Effectiveness

List of at least 3 references with contact information

For inquiries about the job advertisement or application, please reach out to Stephen Monteiro, Business Administrator in the Department of Political Science, by email: stephen.monteiro@northwestern.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/3/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12206

Stanford University

Rank: IDEAL Provostial Fellows for Studies in Race and Ethnicity

Stanford University, in conjunction with its IDEAL initiative, is pleased to announce that it is seeking to appoint four to five early career fellows engaged in the study of race and ethnicity. The purpose of this program is to support the work of early-career researchers, who will lead the next generation of scholarship in race and ethnicity and whose work will point the way forward for reshaping race relations in America. Fellowships may be in any of the seven schools in the University (Business, Doerr School of Sustainability, Education, Engineering, Humanities & Sciences, Law, Medicine).

Applicants will be asked to identify the school or department that aligns with the field of their Ph.D. The selected fellows will be assigned a faculty mentor from their home department or school and will have the opportunity to be involved with the other early career fellows and Stanford faculty in a variety of activities. Informally, they will be invited to lunches and dinners to meet with other Stanford faculty who share their interests. They also will be invited to engage with the intellectual programming offered by the African and African-American Studies program, the Center for Comparative Studies in Race and Ethnicity and the Martin Luther King Research and Education Institute.

The early career fellows will have an opportunity each year to teach one course that will be cross-listed in the curricula of the Center for Comparative Studies in Race and Ethnicity and/or the African and African American Studies program. This course may be taught by the fellow or the fellow may team-teach a course with another member of the Stanford faculty. The fellows also will be involved in the organization of a major conference that brings to Stanford scholars who are at the forefront of scholarship in the study of race and ethnicity.

Criteria: Scholars interested in any field of study are accepted. Early career fellows should have received their terminal degree (PhD, JD, MFA, EdD, DSW, etc.) prior to the start of the fellowship. Selection criteria include the originality and quality of the research, as well as demonstrated potential for intellectual achievement. The term of these fellowships is three years, with a start date of September 1, 2024. To be eligible for an early career fellowship, a candidate must have received their terminal degree no earlier than September 1, 2021.

Applicants for early career fellowships should submit their applications electronically and include a cover letter (detailing the candidate's interest in the position), curriculum vitae, a statement of research interests, a statement of teaching interests, samples of written work, and three letters of recommendation (provide contact information for each and a system generated request will be delivered to each referee). In these materials, please include how your interests would be advanced by a fellowship, needs for laboratory access or special equipment, etc.

The deadline for receiving applications for early career fellowships is November 1, 2023. No application will be accepted after the deadline. Applications will not be accepted by email.

Inquiries about this program can be directed to facultydevelopment@stanford.edu. Please include "IDEAL Provostial Fellows" in the subject line.

Additional details about the fellowship program can be found at <https://facultydevelopment.stanford.edu/ideal-provostial-fellows/about-program>.

More information about Stanford's IDEAL initiative is available at <https://ideal.stanford.edu/>.

Stanford is an equal employment opportunity and affirmative action employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law. Stanford welcomes applications from all who would bring additional dimensions to the University's research, teaching and clinical missions. Consistent with its obligations under the law, the University will provide reasonable accommodation to any employee with a disability who requires accommodation to perform the essential functions of his or her job.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 11/1/2023

Date Posted: 8/2/2023

Salary: $80,000 - $89,999

eJobs ID: 12201

S. Rajaratnam School of International Studies

Rank: Assistant or Associate Professor in Strategic Studies / International Relations (Tenure-Track/Tenured)

Subfield(s): International Relations, Open, Other

S. Rajaratnam School of International Studies

Assistant or Associate Professor in Strategic Studies / International Relations (Tenure-Track/Tenured)

The S. Rajaratnam School of International Studies (RSIS) at Nanyang Technological University, Singapore, is seeking to appoint Assistant or Associate Professor in Strategic Studies (2 positions) and Assistant or Associate Professor in International Relations (1 position). Applications are welcome from both early career and established scholars. We are open regarding specific areas of research and teaching specialisation. As the School has previously recruited experts in international relations of China and South Asia, it does not require experts in these areas at the moment.

The successful candidates will be expected to be conceptually and empirically grounded in their own areas of specialisations; to demonstrate an active research and publication agenda; to teach, supervise, and examine in either Strategic Studies or International Relations at the graduate level; to contribute to the administrative work of the School; and to provide teaching and pastoral support to students.

A relevant PhD and a good publication record commensurate with the level of appointment are essential requirements. Candidates must submit evidence of demonstrated excellence in teaching. If successful, the candidate will teach up to 3 courses per year, including one core course for either the MSc in Strategic Studies (Analysis of Defence and Security Policies or Evolution of Strategic Thought) or MSc in International Relations (Study of International Relations) programme depending on their specialisation.

To apply for this position, candidates are required to submit their application via Nanyang Technological University's online application system, click on this link to access - https://ntu.wd3.myworkdayjobs.com/Careers/job/NTU-Main-Campus-Singapore/Assistant-or-Associate-Professor-in-Strategic-Studies---International-Relations---Tenure-Track-Tenured---RSIS--_R00013946

All applicants should submit the following:

1. A cover letter specifying how your qualifications match the job description;
2. A detailed curriculum vitae (including records of competitive grants, fellowships, and graduate supervision, if applicable);
3. Statements of research and teaching interests and teaching evaluation;
4. Three (3) published articles or writing samples;
5. Google Scholar citation report if available;

Applicants applying for the Assistant Professor position, please include the name and details of THREE referees of the rank of Associate Professor/Professor; and applicants applying for the Associate Professor position, please include the name and details of FOUR referees of the rank of Professor.

If you have any questions about this position, please write in (or email) to:

The Search Committee
S. Rajaratnam School of International Studies
Nanyang Technological University
50 Nanyang Avenue
Block S4, Level B4,
Singapore 639798
Email: rsisrecruitment@ntu.edu.sg

Applications will close on 15 November 2023.

We regret that only shortlisted candidates will be notified.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 11/15/2023

Date Posted: 7/25/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12143

Texas A&M University

Rank: Associate Professor or Full Professor

The Department of Political Science, Bush School of Government & Public Service at Texas A&M University (<http://bush.tamu.edu/pols>) is recruiting 2 tenured full-time, nine-month positions which are open with respect to subfields. This search is for the rank of Associate or Full Professor. Successful candidates will be expected to carry out a vigorous program of research and actively contribute to undergraduate and graduate teaching, and service to the profession. Strong research and teaching interests across traditional subfields of political science will be highly valued. A Ph.D. is required. The expected starting date for this position is August 1, 2024. The Bush School of Government and Public Service at Texas A&M University in College Station, Texas was founded in 1997 under President George H. W. Bush's philosophy that "public service is a noble calling." <https://bush.tamu.edu/>

This position requires a Ph.D. in political science or a related field. All appointees are expected to be committed to teaching and research of the highest quality.

Applicants should submit the following materials electronically through Interfolio at <http://apply.interfolio.com/127657>: 1) cover letter 2) curriculum vitae, 3) personal statement, (your statement should include your philosophy and plans for teaching), 4) graduate school transcripts, 5) any available teaching evaluations, 6) writing sample, 7) three confidential letters of recommendation requested through applicant's Interfolio account, and 8) provide contact information for two additional professional references. Salary is competitive and will be commensurate with qualifications and experience. The review of applications will begin on September 15, 2023, and will continue until the positions are filled.

Questions regarding this position should be sent to Mrs. Carrie Kilpatrick at carriek@tamu.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/17/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12101

Princeton University

Rank: Laurance S. Rockefeller Visiting Fellow

The University Center for Human Values invites applications for Laurance S. Rockefeller Visiting Faculty Fellowships for academic year 2024-25. Fellows devote an academic year in residence to research and writing about topics involving human values in public and private life. This full-time visiting program is open to scholars in all disciplines across the humanities and social sciences. For 2024-25, the Center's designated research theme is Criminal Justice, but scholars need not work on Criminal Justice to apply. We anticipate that roughly half of the fellowships awarded for 2024-25 will fall within the research theme, and welcome applications for research projects in any area of human values, broadly defined. We welcome applications from scholars from a variety of disciplines for both our theme and non-theme fellowships.

For those proposing research on the theme of Criminal Justice, we are especially interested in research which may critically analyze underlying values in the philosophy and practice of criminal justice; evaluate institutional formations and policy proposals in light of those values; and explore the roles played by race, ethnicity, gender, and other factors in the differential ways that criminal justice is conceived and carried out in specific contexts.

For thematically relevant applications, please state this explicitly and describe the relevance of the research to the theme. In assessing each application, we look for the potential of applicants to contribute to and benefit from a research community that draws together scholars who work in and across different disciplines.

Fellows are expected to reside in or around Princeton or demonstrate to the program's satisfaction the ability to be on campus daily and on short notice. Fellows are expected to pursue their own research and to be active contributors to the intellectual life of UCHV. This includes participating in a weekly seminar to discuss work in progress. Candidates must have a doctorate or equivalent professional degree and a strong record of research publications appropriate to their career stage. Typically, Fellows hold faculty positions at other universities or colleges; in exceptional cases we consider applications from independent scholars when there is a high level of scholarly achievement. This is not a postdoctoral fellowship program and we do not generally consider candidates who will have held the Ph.D. for less than two years at the time of appointment.

The fellowship typically extends from September 1 to June 1. Fellows receive a stipend paid in nine equal installments. Ordinarily, home institutions provide a portion of their salaries in addition to benefits, although this is not a requirement. Independent scholars are eligible to apply.

Main considerations are the following:

*The significance of the proposed research and its relevance to the purposes of the University Center for Human Values

*The quality of a candidate's previous research and the contribution the candidate is likely to make in the future

*The likelihood that the research would benefit from being conducted at UCHV

*Where applicable, the relevance of the application to the Center's designated research theme

HOW TO APPLY

Candidates must submit an online application at <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/30681>.

Required materials:

1. A CV
2. A scholarly paper (no more than 12,000 words) written in the past three years
3. A statement (no more than 1,500 words) describing the proposed project. Describe the project's relevance to the research theme where applicable
4. Contact information for three referees, including one who was not a graduate advisor (note, the priority deadline for letters of reference only is Thursday, October 26, 2023; all other applicant materials must be submitted by the earlier deadline stated below). Referees will be contacted directly Applicant materials must be submitted by: Thursday, October 19, 2023, 11:59 p.m. EST. Decisions expected by late March 2024.

Start Date:

Date Posted: 7/11/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12079

University of Notre Dame

Rank: Faculty Fellowship

The Notre Dame Institute for Advanced Study (NDIAS) promotes issue-engaged, inclusive, and interdisciplinary study of questions that affect our ability to lead valuable, meaningful lives. Each year, the NDIAS convenes a diverse group of 8-10 Faculty Fellows to conduct research on projects related to its yearly research theme.

During the 2024-2025 academic year, the Notre Dame Institute for Advanced Study is sponsoring residential research projects that investigate The Good Life.

The Good Life fellowship program will bring together ethicists, humanities faculty, scientists, social scientists, policy scholars, and artists with projects that advance our understanding of human flourishing. We are particularly interested in projects that contribute to ethical research and debates surrounding flourishing, including foundational topics in philosophy and psychology but also applied questions across many different disciplines. We seek scholars who will deepen our understanding, teach us novel methods, and translate the institute's discussions into interdisciplinary and public debates about the good life.

For a list of potential research topics related to the theme, please see ndias.nd.edu/fellowships/faculty.

Faculty Fellows typically have a faculty appointment at their home institution, but the Fellowships are also open to independent researchers, public practitioners, postdoctoral scholars, those who have recently received their Ph.D. (or equivalent terminal) degree, those who are pursuing the creative arts, and faculty from Notre Dame. Scholars from outside the U.S. are welcome to apply—there are no citizenship requirements for these fellowships. Current graduate students are eligible to apply only if they will receive their terminal degree by August 1, 2024.

Faculty Fellows receive half their base salary per academic year (up to $75,000), a housing subsidy (for those who currently reside outside of the South Bend area), a research allowance of $500 per semester, and a private office at the NDIAS. Fellows' home institutions provide the remainder of their salaries as well as all benefits, including health insurance.

Postdocs are welcome to apply and receive a stipend of up to $60,000 paid directly to them (rather than to a home institution). Postdocs are also provided health insurance benefits.

All NDIAS Fellows are expected to reside in the South Bend area and to remain in residence at the University of Notre Dame during the period of their fellowship (except for vacation periods, holidays, and University breaks). Preference is given to those who can join the NDIAS for the entire academic year (August - May), but fellowships for shorter periods of time may be possible.

Applications must be submitted through Interfolio and should include the following:

- 1) Cover letter
- 2) Curriculum vitae (no more than four pages, single-spaced)
- 3) Proposal abstract (no more than 400 words)
- 4) Fellowship research proposal (no more than six pages double-spaced; research proposals may include a works-cited or bibliography page, which does not count toward the 6-page limit). In the research proposal, applicants should provide an explanation of the project they intend to pursue at the NDIAS, including:
 - How the proposed research aligns with the research theme and mission of the Institute (see ndias.nd.edu/about);
 - Preliminary objectives for the research to be conducted (i.e., whether the research might result in a book, journal article, art work, etc.);
 - The proposed work plan (including what research or work has already been accomplished, what will be done during the fellowship period, the methodology to be employed, and the organization of the scholarly project, book, or other work).
- 5) Public-engagement proposal (no more than two pages, double sided). In the public-engagement proposal, applicants should explain how they plan to engage a public audience with their proposed research project (e.g., through a newspaper op-ed, public discussion, podcast episode, etc.).
- 6) Two Letters of Reference. The letters should address the strength of the applicant's proposed research project, its fit with the 2024-2025 theme of The Good Life, and the applicant's collaborative potential and collegiality.
- 7) (Optional) Up to two pages of non-text materials supporting the research proposal.

Finalists will be asked to be available for a brief Zoom conversation with committee members during the final stage of the selection process.

All 2024-2025 NDIAS Faculty Fellowship applications, including letters of reference and supporting documentation, must be received by 11:59 p.m. (ET) on Monday, October 2, 2023.

For more information, please visit ndias.nd.edu/fellowships/faculty.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 10/2/2023

Date Posted: 6/21/2023

Salary: $70,000 - $79,999
eJobs ID: 12041

Hampden-Sydney College

Rank: Assistant Professor/Comparative Politics
Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Open
Specializations: Middle East, East Asia, Latin American

Hampden-Sydney College invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track appointment at the rank of Assistant Professor within the Department of Government and Foreign Affairs to begin in the fall of 2024. Candidates should be broadly trained in the foundations of political thought and have teaching interests in comparative politics and institutions. An ability to teach in at least one regional area—Middle East, East Asia, Latin America, etc.—is expected. The willingness to offer courses on global or regional policymaking in a specialized area is also welcomed. The successful applicant may participate in the college-wide Core Cultures program and teach, as needed, introductory courses in world politics. Faculty teach on a three-year course load rotation with six courses per year for two years and seven courses in the third year.

Hampden-Sydney College highly values the teacher/scholar model. Successful applicants will have a record of effective classroom teaching, a commitment to scholarly productivity, and a willingness to work with colleagues on professional service responsibilities. Applicants should have a Ph.D. in political science or a comparable degree by the time of appointment.

Please submit a letter of application, curriculum vitae, teaching statement, research statement, and three letters of reference to Dr. Celia Carroll Jones, Chair, Department of Government and Foreign Affairs, Hampden-Sydney College via Interfolio: <http://apply.interfolio.com/122859>. Review of applications will begin in October 2023 and continue until the position is filled. Application Deadline: September 30, 2023.

Hampden-Sydney College is a selective liberal arts institution enrolling approximately 1000 students. Founded in 1775, it is the tenth oldest institution of higher learning in the United States. Hampden-Sydney is one of three liberal arts colleges in the United States dedicated to the education of men. Our mission is to educate “good men and good citizens in an atmosphere of sound learning.”

Our beautiful 1300-acre campus is less than 7 miles from downtown Farmville, home to Longwood University and the Moton Museum, which is listed on the U.S. Civil Rights Trail. The campus is located 65 miles west of Richmond, 50 miles east of Lynchburg, and 75 miles south of Charlottesville, providing abundant cultural, recreational and artistic resources. As a community, we are dedicated to the goal of building a culturally diverse faculty committed to working in a multicultural environment and strongly encourage applications from women and minoritized groups. Hampden-Sydney College values diversity, prohibits discrimination, and is committed to equal opportunity for all employees and applicants for employment.

Start Date: Fall 2024
Application Deadline: 9/30/2023
Date Posted: 6/15/2023
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 11861

Hampden-Sydney College

Rank: Assistant Professor/International Organization & European Politics
Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Open
Specializations: International Law & Organizations, Western Europe, Post Communist Europe

Hampden-Sydney College invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track appointment at the rank of Assistant Professor within the Department of Government and Foreign Affairs to begin in the fall of 2024. Candidates should have expertise in the development of international organization as well as research and teaching interests in European politics. The ability to offer courses on global and regional policymaking is a plus. The successful applicant will participate in the college-wide Core Cultures program and teach, as needed, introductory courses in world politics. Faculty teach on a three-year course load rotation with six courses per year for two years and seven courses in the third year.

Hampden-Sydney College highly values the teacher/scholar model. Successful applicants will have a record of effective classroom teaching, a commitment to scholarly productivity, and a willingness to work with colleagues on professional service responsibilities. Applicants should have a Ph.D. in political science by the time of appointment.

Please submit a letter of application, curriculum vitae, teaching statement, research statement, and three letters of reference to Dr. Celia Carroll Jones, Chair, Department of Government and Foreign Affairs, Hampden-Sydney College via Interfolio. Review of applications will begin in the fall of 2023 and continue until the position is filled. Application Deadline: October 20, 2023.

Hampden-Sydney College is a selective liberal arts institution enrolling approximately 1000 students. Founded in 1775, it is the tenth oldest institution of higher learning in the United States and one of four liberal arts colleges in the United States dedicated to the education of men. Our mission is to educate “good men and good citizens in an atmosphere of sound learning.”

Our beautiful 1300-acre campus is less than 7 miles from downtown Farmville, home to Longwood University and the Moton Museum, which is listed on the U.S. Civil Rights Trail. The campus is located 65 miles west of Richmond, 50 miles east of Lynchburg, and 75 miles south of Charlottesville, providing abundant cultural, recreational and artistic resources. As a community, we are dedicated to the goal of building a culturally diverse faculty committed to working in a multicultural environment and strongly encourage applications from women and minoritized groups. Hampden-Sydney College values diversity, prohibits discrimination, and is committed to equal opportunity for all employees and applicants for employment.

Start Date: Fall 2023
Application Deadline: 10/20/2023
Date Posted: 5/31/2023
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 11995

Yale University

Rank: Lecturer, Ethics, Politics, and Economics

The Program on Ethics, Politics, and Economics sponsors interdisciplinary teaching and research in the Social Sciences and Humanities at Yale. It is designed to foster informed debate about public policy in the light of disciplined reflection on the fundamentals of human association. The Program was created in the belief that, for all the value of specialized fields and subdisciplines, these should not displace attempts to integrate empirical, analytical, and normative concerns that range over different disciplines in the modern university. The undergraduate major in Ethics, Politics, and Economics joins the analytic rigor of the social sciences and the enduring normative questions of philosophy to promote an integrative and critical understanding of the institutions, practices, and policies that shape the contemporary world.

EP&E is now offering a single year lecturer position. We welcome applications from PhDs from political science, economics, philosophy, and business with excellent teaching evaluations, and experience teaching courses that integrate Ethics with either Political Science, Economics, or both disciplines. We encourage PhDs with an interest in teaching the Classics of Ethics, Politics & Economics to apply for this position.

In addition to teaching four courses per year, lecturers are expected to be available to meet undergraduate students of the EP&E major, and assist with advising majors on their senior essays.

The position is for one year, with the possibility of extending the contract conditional upon performance and available resources. Starting salary is $70,000 with Yale health benefits. Salary is negotiable depending on qualifications and teaching experience. In addition to salary, instructor will receive a $1,500 research account. Starting date is August 1, 2023 or negotiable.

Applicants should have completed PhD (or equivalent degree) requirements by August 2023.

Applications should include the following:

- A cover letter indicating your interest in the position
- CV
- Job Market Paper or at least one scholarly writing sample (in English)
- PhD program transcript
- A preliminary syllabus for an interdisciplinary undergraduate course that integrates Ethics with either Political Science, Economics, or both disciplines.
- Teaching evaluations
- Three letters of recommendation

Please submit application materials electronically here: <http://apply.interfolio.com/123777>. The review process will begin on May 14, 2023. We will continue to accept applications until the position has been filled. Please direct inquiries to Ana De La O, Director of Ethics, Politics, and Economics, ana.delao@yale.edu

Start Date: Fall

Application Deadline: 4/11/2024

Date Posted: 4/14/2023

Salary: $70,000 - $79,999

eJobs ID: 11899

OTHER

KDI School of Public Policy and Management

Rank: 2023-2024 KDI School Job Openings for Tenure-Track Professors

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Public Administration, Other

*Please find the attached file for detailed information at <https://bit.ly/kdischool-2024-job-openings>.

*Please submit application materials electronically at <http://apply.interfolio.com/130014>.

1. Artificial Intelligence (AI) & Machine Learning (ML) for Public Policy

We invite applications from scholars specializing in the application of artificial intelligence (AI) and machine learning (ML) to address public policy and social science concerns. The ideal applicant will have research expertise that bridges the innovative technologies of AI and ML with nuanced public policy considerations. Successful candidates can be from any computational background (e.g. computational social science, computer science, information science) with research expertise in developing and applying ML, AI, or data science approaches for answering questions in public policy and the social sciences, although candidates from broader social science fields will be also welcomed and considered under the same criteria.

2. Human Computer Interaction & Data-driven Communication for Public Policy

We seek applications from scholars in the area of data science (broadly construed). Substantive expertise of interests are in one or more of the following areas are desired:

- Human-computer interaction (HCI)
- Data-driven journalism or communication
- Science and technology policies or ethical dilemmas presented by modern data science and AI applications
- Application of advanced computational techniques including the use of unstructured data beyond text (image, audio, video, sensor, geospatial, etc.) to social, economic, and/or policy issues

Successful candidates should hold a disciplinary foundation in fields such as computational social science, computer science, or information science, broadly defined. Prospective applicants will not only be judged on their technical proficiency but also their ability to weave data science techniques into the intricate web of public policy issues. A teaching portfolio is expected to suit the needs of an international public policy school with a diverse student body.

3. Strategic Management

We are seeking candidates in the area of strategic management. The ideal candidate would be a scholar who is interested in research and teaching focusing on traditional strategic management and/or economics. Strong research capabilities in strategic management of public organizations (including public enterprises), non-profit organizations and/or social enterprises is preferred. We are particularly interested in candidates who can develop innovative courses and interact with a broad range of policymakers, scholars, and practitioners in this dynamic and constantly evolving field.

4. Development Economics/Development Studies

We seek applications for a tenure track position in development studies at any rank. While we welcome applicants from any expertise of development studies, preference is given to candidates who majored in development economics and focus on Southeast Asia or Latin America. The successful candidate will provide strategic academic leadership in research, education, and policy consultation. Therefore, substantive expertise in international development cooperation, fieldwork, or public sector involvement is highly desirable, although not mandatory.

* Qualifications

1. Candidates with research methods that incorporate data science techniques may receive additional consideration for all positions mentioned in this announcement.

– We welcome applicants with diverse research backgrounds, including qualitative, quantitative, or mixed-method.

2. Successful candidates should have strong training in applied empirical methodology, substantive interests in policy-relevant research, and a teaching portfolio that can suit the needs of an international public policy school with a diverse student body.

3. Applicants should have either completed their Ph.D. or be in the advanced stages of their Ph.D. (ABD status), and be able to submit confirmation of their degree by 31 August 2024 for their appointment.

4. All positions are tenure-track and open rank, and candidates with experience from academic or research institutions are preferred.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 10/31/2023

Date Posted: 9/26/2023

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 12558

University of Texas at El Paso

Rank: Assistant Professor

About The University of Texas at El Paso

The University of Texas at El Paso is America's leading Hispanic-serving university. Located at the westernmost tip of Texas, where three states and two countries converge along the Rio Grande, UTEP is a comprehensive public research university that is increasing access to excellent higher education. We advance the discovery of public value and positively impact the health, culture, education, and economy of the community we serve. Eighty-four percent of our students are Hispanic, and half of undergraduates are the first in their families to go to college. Deeply woven into the University's character are the distinctive strengths of the people we serve. At UTEP, our 24,000 students have access to 169 bachelor's, master's, and doctoral degree programs. Located in the second-most educated city in Texas, UTEP is recognized as one of the best research universities in the country for connecting students with the community around them. UTEP is one of only four institutions in Texas to hold both the top research and community engagement designations from the Carnegie Classification of Institutions of Higher Education.

The Department of Communication is one of the largest majors at the university, with faculty and over 700 students in five areas of study: Advertising, Communication Studies, Corporate and Organizational Communication, Digital Media Production, and Multimedia Journalism. The Department also offers a Master Arts in Communication. Our 12 tenured and tenure-track faculty and a diverse pool of non-tenure track faculty, engage in communication research and prepare students for applied communication careers; many faculty members focus on Latina/o communication issues in the United States, and we also have a number of faculty focused on global issues and international contexts.

The Department of Political Science and Public Administration is a growing unit of scholars dedicated to disciplinary and interdisciplinary research. Our current composition of 13 tenured and tenure-track faculty and 6 non-tenure track faculty also dedicate themselves to educate future generations of leaders. The Department offers a Master of Public Administration accredited by the Network of Schools of Public Policy, Affairs and Administration (NASPAA), a Graduate Certificate in Nonprofit Administration, and an undergraduate concentration and minor in Public Administration.

Job Description:

We are seeking a scholar with a focus on human resource management (preferably as it relates to diversity management), organizational communication, communication and organizational culture, and/or stakeholder/community engagement and responsiveness. We are especially interested in scholars that conduct empirical research that examines how public and nonprofits actors engage underserved or traditionally marginalized groups. The position will be a joint appointment between the Department of Communication and the Department of Political Science and Public Administration with a tenure home in one of these two departments.

Requirements

Required Qualifications: Applicants must have a Ph.D. in Public Administration, Communication, or a closely related field from an accredited university. ABD applicants will be considered if a doctorate will be in hand by fall 2024. An active research agenda and published scholarly journal articles are required. The potential to secure external funding is highly valued.

Preferred Areas: Preference will be given to candidates who have teaching and/or research expertise in one or more areas listed in the job description.

Application Instructions

Applicants must electronically submit: (1) letter of interest that specifies teaching areas and research expertise; (2) curriculum vita; (3) one scholarly publication or working paper; (4) evidence of teaching effectiveness; (5) graduate transcript (unofficial is acceptable for application; official one needed at hiring) and (6) names and full contact information of three references that we may contact. If you have questions about the position, please contact the Search Committee Chair, Dr. Eric Boyer at ejboyer@utep.edu

Application Review Date: Review of applications will begin December 1, 2023, and will continue until the position is filled.

To apply, please visit www.utep.edu/employment.

Additional Information

Hiring decisions are based on budget approval.

In keeping with its access, excellence, and impact mission, The University of Texas at El Paso is committed to an open, diverse, and inclusive learning and working environment that honors the talents, respects the differences, and nurtures the growth and development of all. We seek to attract faculty and staff who share our commitment.

The University of Texas at El Paso is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer. The University does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, national origin, sex, religion, age, disability, genetic information, veteran status, sexual orientation, or gender identity in employment or the provision of services in accordance with state and federal law. Discrimination on the basis of sex includes an employee's or prospective employee's right to be free from sexual harassment under Title IX of the Higher Education Amendments of 1972.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/26/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12610

Johns Hopkins University

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow in Racial Politics

Subfield(s): Open, Other, Other

The Department of Political Science at The Johns Hopkins University invites applications for the position of postdoctoral fellow in racial politics for a three-year term with an anticipated start date of July 1, 2024. We seek outstanding scholars of Political Science whose research examines the political production of race and racism. The successful candidate will be committed to cutting-edge inquiry in one or more of the major subfields of Political Science (American Politics, International Relations, Political Theory, and Comparative Politics) and is interested in reshaping the discipline. The successful candidate will be expected to contribute to grant applications, so experience in grant-writing is advantageous. The successful candidate will also be expected to teach one course per academic year. Aside from these duties, the successful candidate will be encouraged to and supported in pursuing their own research projects. The Department is committed to conducting a broad and inclusive search for a candidate who will contribute to the diversity and excellence of the academic community.

Qualifications:

A Ph.D. is required, but we will accept applications from doctoral students expected to fulfill Ph. D degree requirements by July 1, 2024.

Application Instructions: Applications should include a cover letter, CV, a description of scholarly and teaching activity, and three letters of reference.

All application material should be submitted online via Interfolio. Review of applications will begin on October 16th 2023 and will continue until the position is filled.

Start Date: Summer 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/25/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12607

Northwestern University

Rank: 2024-26 SPAN Postdoctoral Fellows

Specializations: Gender Politics & Policy, Lesbian & Gay Studies, Women & Politics

The Sexualities Project at Northwestern (SPAN) invites applications for two-year postdoctoral fellowships in Sexuality Studies, to run from September 1, 2024 through August 31, 2026. Applications are welcome from scholars who study sexuality from a social science perspective (broadly construed). Each Fellow's appointment will be a joint one: in the Gender & Sexuality Studies Program and in another department relevant to the Fellow's research interests. We are particularly interested in candidates who could affiliate with one of the following participating departments: Anthropology, Black Studies, Communication Studies, History, Human Development and Social Policy, Linguistics, Performance Studies, Political Science, Religious Studies, or Sociology. That is, the Fellow must have relevant expertise in both Sexuality Studies and one of these other disciplines, and must be prepared to teach courses that reflect that combined expertise.

Fellows will pursue a program of independent scholarship under the guidance of a faculty mentor and will teach two undergraduate courses (typically one seminar and one lecture course) over the course of each year. Northwestern is on the quarter system by which the Fellows' two courses will be distributed across three academic quarters. Fellows will also be expected to be active participants in SPAN's community of faculty and graduate students and, as applicable, in their affiliated department by attending talks and events, and by giving a public talk once each year. Finally, they will assist in the organization of on-campus educational activities such as the annual SPAN workshop.

Fellows will be expected to be in residence for each of the academic years of their appointment, and all teaching will be conducted in person.

Applicants with a PhD (or equivalent doctoral degree) must have completed it after September 1, 2020. Applicants without a PhD (or equivalent doctoral degree) must complete all the requirements for the degree before September 1, 2024. At time of application, the applicant must be available for the full two-year term of the Fellowship. The stipend is $64,000 in the first year of the fellowship. In addition, the Fellow is eligible for $4,000 per year to fund research and conference travel, and up to $2,000 for allowable relocation expenses in the first year. Up to $1,000 is also available for allowable travel expenses for an area visit prior to the start of the postdoc term. This is a full-time, benefits eligible position.

All application materials other than letters of recommendation must be received by 11:59 p.m. on December 1, 2023. The initial letter of recommendation is due no later than December 8, 2023. Given that your references will not receive submission instructions until you submit your completed application, we urge you to submit your application well before the deadline.

FAQs and submission instructions appear below. Administrative questions not addressed below should be directed to Ariel Clark-Semyck (mailto:sexualities@northwestern.edu). Substantive questions not addressed below may be sent to the Co-Directors of SPAN, Héctor Carrillo (mailto:hector@northwestern.edu) and Gregory Ward (mailto:gw@northwestern.edu). For more information about Programs and Departments at Northwestern, visit: <https://offices.northwestern.edu/browse/A/academic>.

Northwestern requires all staff and faculty to be vaccinated against COVID-19, subject to limited exceptions. For more information, please visit our COVID-19 and Campus Updates website.

The Northwestern campus sits on the traditional homelands of the people of the Council of Three Fires, the Ojibwe, Potawatomi, and Odawa as well as the Menominee, Miami and Ho-Chunk nations. We acknowledge and honor the original people of the land upon which Northwestern University stands, and the Native people who remain on this land today.

Northwestern University is an Equal Opportunity, Affirmative Action Employer of all protected classes, including veterans and individuals with disabilities. Women, racial and ethnic minorities, individuals with disabilities, and veterans are encouraged to apply.

<https://www.sexualities.northwestern.edu/funding-opportunities/postdoc-applications/> target=“blank”& Click here for more details, and to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2024
Application Deadline: 12/1/2023
Date Posted: 9/22/2023
Salary: $60,000 - $69,999
eJobs ID: 12589

The University of Hong Kong

Rank: Tenure-Track Assistant Professor / Associate Professor in International Relations

The University of Hong Kong

Applications are invited for appointment as Tenure-Track Assistant Professor / Associate Professor in International Relations in the Department of Politics and Public Administration (Ref: 522867), to commence in August 2024 or as soon as possible thereafter, on a three-year fixed-term basis, with the possibility of renewal and consideration for tenure before the expiry of a second three-year fixed-term contract. Exceptionally outstanding candidates at the Associate Professor level may be considered for appointment on direct tenure terms subject to the University's approval.

The Department of Politics and Public Administration has played a leading role in Politics and Public Administration research and education since its establishment in 1970. The Department offers three highly successful taught postgraduate programmes – Master of Public Administration (MPA), Master in International and Public Affairs (MIPA), and Doctor of Public Administration (DPA)—as well as a thriving undergraduate programme. More information about the Department can be obtained at <https://ppa.hku.hk/>.

Applicants should possess a Ph.D. degree and demonstrate excellence in research and teaching. Candidates with the potential to make significant achievements of contributions to the field, complementing the strengths of our department, are preferred. The position is open with respect to specialization, but applicants should have a clear focus in their research, backed by strong empirical skills.

A highly competitive salary commensurate with qualifications and experience will be offered, in addition to annual leave and medical benefits. At the current rates, salaries tax does not exceed 15% of the gross income. The appointment will attract a contract-end gratuity and University contribution to a retirement benefits scheme, totalling up to 15% of the basic salary. Housing benefits will be provided as applicable.

The University only accepts online application for the above post. Applicants should apply online at the University's careers site (<https://jobs.hku.hk>) and upload (1) an up-to-date CV, (2) a letter of interest, (3) graduate transcripts, (4) writing samples, (5) a research statement, (6) a teaching statement, (7) teaching evaluations, and (8) the contact information of three referees. Review of applications will start on September 1, 2023 and continue until March 31, 2024, or until the post is filled, whichever is the earlier.

The University is an equal opportunities employer and is committed to equality, ethics, inclusivity, diversity and transparency.

Start Date:
Date Posted: 9/22/2023
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 12588

Georgetown University

Rank: Security Studies Tenure-line professor (Open Rank)

The Walsh School of Foreign Service seeks qualified applicants for a tenure-line professor in security studies. The successful candidate will be appointed within the Security Studies Program (SSP) of the School of Foreign Service (SFS).

Ideal candidates will have an active research agenda on issues related to security studies. We encourage candidates from multiple disciplines to apply, including but not limited to political science, international relations, economics, cyber operations, history, and public policy. The incumbent will teach courses on topics such as (but not limited to) technology and security, the economics of security, human security, military operations, and other security-related areas. Candidates must have completed their PhDs by the time of appointment for the fall 2024 semester.

To apply, please submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, a writing sample, three reference letters, and if possible, evidence of teaching record (syllabi, course evaluations, etc.). The SFS is strongly committed to fostering a climate that encourages diversity, equity and inclusion. Applicants should also submit a brief statement that discusses how they would contribute to inclusiveness in the areas of research, teaching, and service in the SFS and reflects on their teaching and mentorship of students from diverse backgrounds. The committee will consider candidates at the assistant, associate, and full levels.

All applications and supporting materials must be submitted through the following link <http://apply.interfolio.com/132869> Faxed, emailed, or mailed applications will not be accepted. The committee will start reviewing applications on October 10th, 2023, but applications will be accepted until October 20, 2023. Invited interviews will occur shortly thereafter.

Questions about the online application should be directed to Lauren Bauschard, Director of Faculty Affairs, at lb1230@georgetown.edu. Questions about the position should be directed to Professor Katharine Donato, SFS Faculty Council Chair and Donald G. Herzberg Professor of International Migration, at http://georgetown.edu/.

Georgetown University is an <https://policymanual.hr.georgetown.edu/https%3A//policymanual.gudrupal.georgetown.edu/201-Equal-Employment-Opportunity-Affirmative-Action> fully dedicated to achieving a diverse faculty and staff. All qualified applicants are encouraged to apply and will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, national origin, age, sex (including pregnancy, gender identity and expression, and sexual orientation), disability status, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic <https://www.dol.gov/ofccp/regs/compliance/posters/pdf/eeopost.pdf>.

If you are a qualified individual with a disability and need a reasonable accommodation for any part of the application and hiring process, please <https://idea.georgetown.edu/accommodations/procedures/applicants> for more information, or contact the Office of Institutional

Diversity, Equity & Affirmative Action (IDEAA) at (202) 687-4798.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 10/19/2023

Date Posted: 9/21/2023

Salary: Any

eJobs ID: 12586

University of Cambridge

Rank: Assistant Professor in China and Global Development

Specializations: China, Developing Nations, International Political Economy

Applications are invited for an Assistant Professor in China and Global Development position at the Centre of Development Studies in the Department of Politics and International Studies (POLIS) The start date for this role will be September 2024.

The successful candidate will have a record of research publications commensurate with the international reputation of the University of Cambridge. The candidate should show an outstanding record of publications, which may include published monographs or monographs nearing publication, that demonstrate clear research trajectory and promise. The candidate will be expected to provide at least 40 hours of lectures and seminars annually, supervise MPhil dissertations, conduct small-group undergraduate teaching (supervisions) and perform academic administration and examining.

To compliment the work of the vibrant teaching and research community at the Centre, we invite candidates who critically focus on China's growing role as a global economic and political power from a developmental perspective.

The successful candidate is expected to contribute positively to the teaching-intensive Centre. The Centre has a target of 85 MPhil students and a strong group of 33 PhD students, drawn from all over the world and from a wide range of disciplinary backgrounds. The post-holder will: (i) deliver teaching for the MPhil and the PhD programmes in Development Studies; (ii) take on a range of necessary administrative duties in the Centre and Department; (iii) conduct original research of international standards; (iv) contribute to other teaching in the Department where appropriate.

Candidates must be able to show evidence of research of international standing, demonstrate a willingness and ability to contribute collegially to the life of the Centre and the Department, and possess a flexible approach to teaching and administrative duties.

The Centre of Development Studies sees the diversity of ideas and backgrounds as a source of strength and creativity, especially in the context of global inequality and development. We strongly encourage candidates from BAME backgrounds to apply.

Further information about the Department and Centres can be found at: www.polis.cam.ac.uk
<https://www.devstudies.cam.ac.uk>

Click the 'Apply' button in the following link for further information on the role and to apply:

<https://www.jobs.cam.ac.uk/job/42755/>

The closing date for this post is midnight on Tuesday, 7 November 2023.

References will be requested from short-listed candidates.

Enquiries about applications should be addressed to the Departmental Administrator, Ms Emma King (ek564@cam.ac.uk). Please quote reference UE38331 on your application and in any correspondence about this vacancy.

The University actively supports equality, diversity and inclusion and encourages applications from all sections of society. We particularly welcome applications from candidates from a BAME background for this vacancy as they are currently under-represented at this level in our department.

The University has a responsibility to ensure that all employees are eligible to live and work in the UK.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 11/8/2023

Date Posted: 9/21/2023

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 12579

University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill

Rank: Assistant Professor, Associate Professor

Subfield(s): Political Theory, Public Policy, Other

Specializations: Political Philosophy & Theory, Political Theory, Political Economy

The Department of Political Science and the Philosophy, Politics, and Economics Program (PPE) Program in the College of Arts and Sciences at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill invite applications for a tenure-track position at the rank of Assistant or Associate Professor or Associate Professor with tenure in political theory starting July 1, 2024. Required qualifications are ABD or Ph.D or an equivalent degree in Political Science, Philosophy, Public Policy or a related field in the humanities or social sciences. The successful candidate will be a core faculty member in UNC's thriving Philosophy, Politics, and Economics Program and will be expected to take an active role in developing and expanding the PPE Program. The successful candidate must have research and teaching interests that include the intersection of philosophy, politics, and economics, and be committed to the value of PPE as an educational and intellectual endeavor. The successful candidate will be expected to teach the core courses in PPE and thus must have a working knowledge of political economy and game theory. We are primarily seeking candidates trained in political theory who are able to teach normative political theory courses. However, candidates with a strong normative background who primarily teach American or Comparative politics will be considered as will candidates with an expertise in ethics and public policy who have an interest in a primary appointment in the Department of Public Policy. Significant promise of research excellence is a necessary condition for consideration, as is evidence of significant skills in teaching. Salary commensurate with qualifications.

The University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill is an equal opportunity and affirmative action employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to age, color, disability, gender, gender expression, gender identity, genetic information, national origin, race, religion, sex, sexual orientation, or status as a protected veteran.

Review of applications will begin October 8th 2023, and will continue until the position is filled. To apply for the position, please follow this link <https://unc.peopleadmin.com/postings/265898>. Please include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, research statement, teaching statement (including available teaching evaluations and other evidence of teaching excellence), and a writing sample. Applicants will be required to identify the names, titles and email addresses of professional references at the time of application (please note that four are required). Recommenders identified by the applicant will be contacted via email with instructions for uploading their letters of support. Alternatively, applicants may list Interfolio as a reference and the application system will solicit recommendations directly from Interfolio. Please see <http://help.interfolio.com/entries/24062742-Uploading-Letters-to-an-Online-Application-System> for instructions. Applicants may also list the email of a Graduate Coordinator who will upload their references instead of the referring faculty. The departmental contact person is Shannon Eubanks; the department address is Department of Political Science, University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, CB# 3265, Chapel Hill, NC 27599-3265 and the web address is <http://www.unc.edu/depts/polisci>.

Start Date: Summer 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/20/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12561

University of Pennsylvania

Rank: Korean Politics - James Joo-Jin Kim Chair in Korean Politics

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Other

The Political Science Department at the University of Pennsylvania invites applications for an open rank tenure-track faculty position in Korean politics, to hold the inaugural James Joo-Jin Kim named chair. The search is open with regard to specialization in the subfield. Candidates with wide-ranging research agendas on such topics as political economy, public policy, political institutions, political behavior, foreign policy, and gender politics are especially encouraged to apply. Candidates are expected to actively engage in research and teaching related to Korean politics as well as to promote Korean Studies at Penn and beyond.

Political Science is housed within the School of Arts & Sciences, which is comprised of 28 academic departments, the College of Arts and Sciences, the Graduate Division, and the College of Liberal and Professional Studies. Interdisciplinary research and collaboration are supported by the breadth and depth of academic pursuits at Penn as well as the proximity of resources on our contiguous green urban campus in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. We promote and encourage curiosity, intellectual engagement, and discovery among all our students and faculty. University, School, and departmental resources that support faculty include but are not limited to: the Offices of the Vice Provost for Faculty and Vice Provost for Research, Penn Global and Perry World House, Wellness at Penn, the Center for Teaching and Learning, the Penn Center for Undergraduate Research and Fellowships, and Penn Human Resources.

The department offers an undergraduate major that provides students an understanding of the modern discipline of political science. More generally, faculty teach approximately 2,000 undergraduates each year and have a program of about 80 graduate students. Our graduate students often go on to become assistant professors, post-docs or work in related areas outside academia.

We seek candidates who share our strong commitment to research, teaching and mentoring, and to a scholarly community shaped by values of inclusive excellence. The School of Arts and Sciences at the University of Pennsylvania is committed to cultivating and sustaining a community of students, scholars, researchers, and staff that reflects the diversity of our world. We nurture working and learning environments that are affirming, equitable, and inclusive. As a community, we are committed to thoughtful discussions and dynamic interactions as we strive for an environment where everyone is supported and valued. Please see our School's Inclusion and Antiracism Initiatives to learn more about our active priorities: <https://www.sas.upenn.edu/2020-inclusion-and-anti-racism-initiatives>.

Qualifications

The successful candidate is expected to:

- *demonstrate potential for an active high-impact research agenda;
- have or plan to seek external funding for research;
- have a deep commitment to teaching undergraduate and graduate students and mentoring and supporting a diverse student body;
- teach three courses per year at the undergraduate and graduate levels;
- have a publication record appropriate to the rank being sought;
- contribute actively to Korean Studies at Penn;
- engage in service to the profession and shared governance within the University.

The appointment will begin on July 1, 2024, though the start date may be negotiable. A Ph.D. or equivalent degree is expected at the start of the appointment.

Application Instructions

Candidates should submit a cover letter, personal statement, curriculum vita, research statement, writing sample (approximately 30 pages), and the names and contact information for three referees to: apply.interfolio.com/132227.

Review of applications will begin on October 15, 2023 and continue until the line has been filled.

Start Date: Summer 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/20/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12564

Georgetown University

Rank: Open-rank professor - Ethics

McDonough School of Business seeks to add to its ethics faculty. We have one opening for a professor of ethics to begin in the 2024-25 academic year. We have permission to hire at the assistant professor or tenured associate professor level, but we have a strong preference for an experienced professor who is ready to teach ethics courses in the MBA and executive curriculum as well as at the undergraduate level. Applications for lateral moves are welcome and will be given priority consideration. McDonough's ethics courses are an amalgam of true normative ethics with social psychology, political science, and economics. All contain an experiential aspect in which the students engage in real time ethical decision making. We seek a dynamic classroom teacher able to publish research that can meet McDonough's rigorous standards for tenure.

ABOUT GEORGETOWN UNIVERSITY'S MCDONOUGH SCHOOL OF BUSINESS

Located in Washington, D.C., Georgetown University's McDonough School of Business offers unparalleled access to the world's business, policy, and thought leaders. The school, which attracts faculty and students from around the world, is committed to building global business knowledge and inspiring ethical leaders to serve the common good. The school's undergraduate, MBA, Executive MBA, and specialized programs provide solid grounding in all the core management disciplines, with an emphasis on the global, ethical, and political environment of business. The McDonough School of Business has an ongoing commitment to diversity, equity, and inclusion as a fundamental aspect of the Georgetown community.

APPLICATION PROCEDURE

Submit your cover letter and CV or resume to Interfolio (<http://apply.interfolio.com/132180>). Please indicate your present position and rank for those interested in a lateral move.

Applications are due no later than November 15, 2023.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 11/15/2023

Date Posted: 9/18/2023

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 12544

IE University

Rank: Tenure-Track Faculty Position in Political Economy 2024-2025

Tenure-Track Faculty Position in Political Economy 2024-2025
IE University's School of Politics, Economics, and Global Affairs (SPEGA) seeks applicants for a tenure-track faculty position in Political Economy at the rank of Assistant Professor starting September 1, 2024. We seek candidates using quantitative methods and/or formal theory to study substantive questions of broad disciplinary relevance. We are especially but not exclusively interested in candidates whose work addresses the interface between political-economy and new technologies.

Successful candidates will demonstrate capacity to produce publications in top peer-reviewed outlets (both generalist and field journals) in the coming years. More generally, we seek academics with the capacity to engage in policy-relevant work and an overall commitment to institution-building - applying for research grants, participating in affiliated research centers and academic programs, and expanding our current network and partnerships.

Successful candidates will join the Political Science and International Relations group within SPEGA, which consists of 14 tenured and tenure-track scholars studying comparative politics, international relations, political economy, and political behavior. Recent publications from this group appear in APSR, AJPS, JOP, BJPS, and many other top generalist and field outlets.

Candidates should have a PhD from a recognized department of political science, public policy, economics, or a related field, or demonstrate clear evidence that their PhD will be complete by July 2024.

The IE SPEGA is part of IE University, located in Madrid and Segovia, Spain, and is a full member of the Association of Professional Schools in International Affairs (APSIA). We are a fast-growing department of professors committed to world-class academic research and teaching in the social sciences, public policy, and international affairs.

We offer a competitive remuneration package, attractive teaching commitments, and an enriching and cosmopolitan work environment in the heart of Madrid. Our working language is English, and both our faculty and student body are highly diverse and international.

IE University is an Equal Opportunity Employer and strongly encourages applications from individuals who will expand the ethnic and gender diversity of our faculty.

Applications should include a cover letter and vita, a job market paper, and three confidential letters of recommendation.

Candidates may apply via Interfolio by October 20, 2023, using the following link: <http://apply.interfolio.com/132207>

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 10/20/2023

Date Posted: 9/18/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12541

University of Colorado Boulder

Rank: Visiting Scholar in Conservative Thought and Policy

Job Description: The College of Arts and Sciences at the University of Colorado Boulder invites applications for the position of Visiting Scholar in Conservative Thought and Policy. We seek a highly visible individual who is deeply engaged in either the analytical scholarship or practice of conservative thought and policymaking, or both. Thus, applications will be welcome from the academic, policy, military, and media communicators, among others. The term of the appointment is variable, with a minimum of two to a maximum of four semesters. The position begins August 2024.

Who We Are

The mission of the Benson Center is to explore the culture, languages and ideas of the Western tradition, ranging from antiquity to modern society. The Center is especially concerned with the values that emerge from that tradition, and their ongoing role in the institutions of the United States. Integral to this mission is the Center's commitment to fostering research, debate and dialogue on the fundamental issues of our time – moral, political and economic. Our aim is to promote a lively and balanced conversation that respects both conservative and liberal ideals, thus fostering the full diversity of political, economic and philosophical perspectives on the CU Boulder campus.

What Your Key Responsibilities Will Be

The Visiting Scholar will continue an open and vigorous dialogue on campus featuring the principles of conservatism in historical and contemporary contexts. Specific duties include teaching undergraduate courses, delivering public lectures, and organizing visiting speakers and events.

What You Should Know

The successful candidate will receive a senior professorial appointment, without tenure, in the College of Arts and Sciences. Faculty with previous University teaching experience will be hired as Visiting (rank) Professor.

What We Can Offer

The hiring salary for this 100% position is $185,000 annually. The compensation package is competitive, including relocation subsidy, dedicated budget, and administrative assistance.

The University of Colorado offers excellent benefits, including medical, dental, retirement, paid time off, tuition benefit and ECO Pass. The University of Colorado Boulder is one of the largest employers in Boulder County and offers an inspiring higher education environment.

What We Require

Candidates are expected to have a Ph.D. at the time of appointment.

Special Instructions

To apply, please submit the following materials:

1. Cover Letter
2. CV/Resume
3. Diversity and Inclusion Statement
3. During the application process you will need to enter contact information for three references who will be contacted to provide letters of recommendation as the search progresses.

Full consideration will be given to applications received by October 2, 2023.

Note: Application materials will not be accepted via email. For consideration, please apply through CU Boulder Jobs.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/18/2023

Salary: Above $159,999

eJobs ID: 12547

University of Hawaii, Hilo

Rank: Assistant Professor, Administration of Justice/Indigenous Justice

UH Hilo, College of Arts & Sciences, position number 82009, tenure-track, full-time, general funds, nine-month appointment to begin approximately August 2024, pending position clearance and availability of funding.

Duties:

Teach undergraduate courses, including Intro to Administration of Justice, Indigenous Justice, Race and Violence, Advocacy and Criminal Justice, Research Methodology, Seminar in Administration of Justice, and other upper division AJ courses in the area of criminal justice related to the applicant's specialty; serve on university committees; engage in scholarly activities; provide academic advising to students; engage in periodic assessment activities; participate in department, university, and community service.

Minimum Qualifications:

A Ph.D. in Indigenous Studies, Native American Studies, Criminal Justice, Criminology, or related social science field related to the job duties from an accredited university is required at the time of appointment; demonstrated expertise in the fields of Indigenous Studies and Criminal Justice; strong evidence of research productivity, or clear potential for developing a strong program of research in the area of U.S. criminal justice; demonstrated excellence in college teaching; familiarity with the use of technology in teaching for classroom and online instruction required. Desirable Qualifications: Documented excellence in teaching courses listed under Duties; demonstrated excellence in online instruction in various formats, including synchronous, asynchronous, and Hybrid-Flexible models; experience in teaching, advising, or counseling in a multi-cultural setting; research focus on the impact of the criminal justice system on Indigenous peoples in the U.S., and especially Hawai'i.

Salary Information: Commensurate with qualifications and experience. To Apply: For a complete description, application instructions and to submit an application, please visit <https://www.schooljobs.com/careers/hawaii/edu> and search for #82009 or Assistant Professor Administration of Justice/Indigenous Justice. Please be sure to review the full job posting before applying. Failure to submit all required documents shall deem an application to be incomplete. Incomplete applications will not be considered. Note: If you have not applied for a position before using NEOGOV, you will need to create an account.

Inquiries: Katherine Young, Youngkat@hawaii.edu

Deadline: First review date on or about October 16 2023, and will continue until the position is filled.

Start Date: Spring 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/15/2023

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 12537

Princeton University

Rank: Harold T. Shapiro Postdoctoral Research Associate in Bioethics

The Princeton University Center for Human Values invites applications for the Harold T. Shapiro Postdoctoral Fellowship in Bioethics for a possible available position starting in September 2024. The Shapiro Fellowship supports outstanding scholars studying ethical issues arising from developments in medicine, the biological sciences, or population health. We particularly encourage proposals focusing on problems of practical importance that have broader theoretical interest.

The Shapiro Postdoctoral Research Associate will spend from one to three years at Princeton conducting research and teaching the equivalent of one course each year (subject to sufficient enrollments and approval by the Dean of the Faculty). They will participate in the Ira W. DeCamp Seminar in Bioethics and will be invited to participate in other activities of the University Center for Human Values including a year-long research seminar for visiting fellows and Center faculty.

QUALIFICATIONS

Applications welcome from candidates who have or expect to have a Ph.D., M.D., or other equivalent doctoral degree by the start, normally beginning September 1, 2024. Applicants should not have more than two years of postdoctoral experience by the date of appointment. An applicant may have a background in any area of ethical studies, not necessarily in bioethics. However, the proposed research plan should be related to the field of bioethics.

Applications will be evaluated on the basis of the applicant's previous accomplishments and the promise of the proposed research project in bioethics. The capacity to contribute to the University's teaching program will also be considered.

TERM OF APPOINTMENT

The term of the fellowship is one year, normally beginning September 1, 2024, with the possibility of renewal for up to two additional years pending satisfactory performance. Appointment will be made to the rank of Postdoctoral Research Associate; the Shapiro Associate will also carry the title of Lecturer, if teaching. Princeton University offers competitive salary and employee benefits.

HOW TO APPLY

Candidates must submit an online application at <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/32066>.

A complete application will include the following supporting materials:

1. A curriculum vitae;
2. A research proposal (not to exceed 1,500 words). Please provide an indicative title in the heading;
3. A scholarly paper (of no more than 12,000 words, not including bibliography) representing the applicant's scholarly achievement or potential;
4. Contact information for two referees, who should be prepared to comment specifically about the applicant's qualifications for the proposed research project. Referees will be contacted directly with instructions for uploading letters of reference.

These materials must be submitted online by the application deadline of Thursday, November 30, 2023, 11:59 p.m. EST. We do not accept application materials by any other method. Letters of reference should be submitted by Thursday, December 7, 2023 11:59 p.m. EST. The selection committee will begin reviewing applications immediately so letters of reference received after the priority deadline may put candidates at a disadvantage.

Decisions will be announced in late March, 2024. This position is subject to the University's background check policy.

Princeton University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to age, race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Date Posted: 9/14/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12521

Syracuse University

Rank: Associate Professor - Citizenship and Democratic Institutions - #077305

Associate Professor - Citizenship and Democratic Institutions - #077305

Syracuse University's S.I. Newhouse School of Public Communications invites applications for one full-time tenured position at the Associate or Full Professor rank to begin Fall 2024. Review of applications will begin October 1, 2023 and continue until the position is filled.

The School seeks a multidisciplinary scholar who has a significant, established track record of published research, extramural grant acquisition, and thought leadership in the area of journalism and democracy to be a part of Syracuse University's new Institute for Democracy, Journalism and Citizenship (IDJC). The Institute, located in Washington, D.C., is a joint effort of the Newhouse School and Syracuse University's Maxwell School of Citizenship and Public Affairs and promotes nonpartisan, evidence-based research and dialogue in the public interest. The position will be based at the Institute in Washington, D.C.

We seek a colleague who can lead multidisciplinary research efforts to analyze the forces that damage trust in journalism and democracy and to strengthen the ability of journalists and others to rebuild credibility. The candidate should be familiar with the historical and contemporary issues in American journalism that make it prone to distrust, including from members of marginalized groups; be able to critically evaluate these issues; consider solutions; and engage in productive self-reflection. A wide range of theoretical and methodological approaches will be considered, from a range of disciplines including political science, psychology, sociology, computer science, and history in addition to mediated communication. The ability to secure grant funding is essential.

This recruitment is part of an ambitious Invest Syracuse Cluster Hire Initiative in the broad area of Citizenship and Democratic Institutions. As an integral part of this investment, Syracuse University will recruit multiple candidates for faculty positions across departments for this cluster. Faculty hired into these positions will build on our existing strengths in the focus area and will participate in an organized research cluster that spans multiple departments in the Newhouse School, the Maxwell School of Citizenship & Public Affairs, the Law School, and across Syracuse University.

The successful candidate will teach graduate and/or undergraduate courses in their areas of expertise and will have a teaching load appropriate for a productive scholar. They will have a track record of collegial collaboration and be expected to advise doctoral dissertations and master's theses. They also will be expected to make research visible to policy makers and others so as to have an impact on the conversation around journalism's role in democracy. A Ph.D. is strongly preferred.

Widely regarded as the nation's leading school of communications, the S.I. Newhouse School of Public Communications at Syracuse University is home to approximately 2,000 undergraduates, 180 residential master's degree students, 200 online master's degree students and 15 doctoral degree students. They are among the best in the country, having secured a place in the class through a highly competitive admissions process. The typical admitted first-year student has a 3.8 GPA.

The School's 250,000-square-foot, three-building complex is a leading-edge learning environment where students are exposed to the tools and technologies used by professionals in the field. Features include Dick Clark Studios, a high-tech entertainment production facility that rivals many Hollywood studios; the Diane and Bob Miron Digital News Center, complete with a contemporary news set, a green screen, state-of-the-art lighting systems and cameras; the Alan Gerry Center for Media Innovation, a creative hub where Newhouse expertise in content development and production meets the latest media technology and programming trends; the Emerging Insights Lab, a state-of-the-art social media command center; and the Collaborative Media Room, home to the student-produced multimedia news site, The NewsHouse.

In January 2020, the S.I. Newhouse Foundation announced a $75 million gift to the Newhouse School, the largest donation to Syracuse

University in its 150-year history and one of the largest ever to any communications school.

To learn more about the Newhouse School, visit <https://newhouse.syr.edu>.

To apply, please visit <https://www.sujobopps.com/postings/100848>.

Syracuse University is an equal-opportunity, affirmative-action institution.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/14/2023

Salary: $80,000 - $89,999

eJobs ID: 12525

Texas Woman's University

Rank: Assistant Professor in Political Science - IRC 52812

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Policy, Other

Specializations: Ethnic & Feminist Theory, Race & Ethnic Politics, Political Behavior

Type: Full-Time

Salary: Salary Competitive

Posted: 09/07/2023

Application Due: Open Until Filled

Category: Political Science

JOB DESCRIPTION:

The Department of Social Sciences and Historical Studies at Texas Woman's University invites applicants for a tenure-track Assistant Professor of Political Science position beginning fall 2024. The successful applicant will be broadly trained in political science with a primary field of American Politics. Special attention will be given to candidates with expertise in one or more of the following areas: public policy; racial, ethnic, or gender politics; or political behavior. Candidates should hold a Ph.D. in Political Science or a related field and demonstrate a commitment to excellence in undergraduate and graduate teaching and an active record of research. The successful candidate will teach the introductory American government course, as well as advanced undergraduate courses and Master's level courses. Candidates will also advise students and serve the department, university, and profession. Favor will be shown to candidates who can propose interdisciplinary courses with department colleagues in History and/or Sociology.

Required qualifications:

- Earned doctorate in Political Science or related field;
- Demonstrated potential for teaching excellence; and
- Demonstrated potential for research and publication.

Preferred qualifications:

- Prior teaching experience.

The Department offers both Bachelor's and Master's degrees in Political Science as well as a Bachelor's in Criminal Justice (co-administered with Sociology). Beginning in fall 2023, our Master's program is fully online. The department has five Political Science faculty members (plus the chair, a political scientist), five History faculty, and six Sociology faculty. Political Science offers degrees to approximately 100 undergraduate Political Science majors and 15 Master's students.

How to apply:

Please submit the following items as a single combined PDF to facultyjobs@twu.edu:

1. Cover Letter (that briefly addresses teaching and research philosophies);
2. Curriculum Vitae;
3. Copy of Graduate Transcripts; and
4. Three Letters of Support/Reference.

Additional materials may be requested at a later date.

The email Header or Subject line must include job title and job code 52812. Review of applications will begin on Friday, October 20, 2023.

University Information:

TWU is a system encompassing three campuses: Houston, Dallas, and the main campus in Denton (population 115,000), located 40 miles north of the Dallas/Fort Worth area. The DFW metroplex, the nation's fourth largest urban center, has world-class museums, orchestras, opera, ballet, theater companies, as well as an array of professional and collegiate sports venues. Additional information about the University is available at <http://www.twu.edu>.

TWU prides itself on providing students with a well-rounded educational experience focused on service, integrity, and health and well-being. Hallmarks of a TWU education include respect for diversity in all dimensions (TWU is currently ranked 6th in the nation for diversity) and a safe campus environment (TWU is among the safest campuses in the nation). TWU faculty and staff are passionate defenders of a "learn by doing" experiential learning environment where they provide students with opportunities to engage in campus, workplace, and community activities that can help shape their sense of purpose, their appreciation for the importance of building quality personal and professional relationships, and their ability to address life's challenges. This holistic, mentoring approach to developing students and future librarians as engaged, productive citizens in the complex world of the 21st Century encompasses understanding of the balance of health, spiritual and mental well-being.

TWU strives to provide an educational environment that affirms the rights and dignity of each individual, fosters diversity, and encourages a respect for the differences among persons. Discrimination or harassment of any kind is considered inappropriate. TWU is committed to equal opportunity in employment and education and does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, national or ethnic origin, age, veteran's status, genetic information, or against qualified disabled persons.

TWU strives to provide an educational environment that affirms the rights and dignity of each individual, fosters diversity, and encourages a respect for the differences among persons. Discrimination or harassment of any kind is considered inappropriate.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/14/2023

Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 12526

Université de Montréal

Rank: Assistant Professor in Political and Social Data Science or Gender and Politics

The Department of Political Science at Université de Montréal (www.pol.umontreal.ca) seeks candidates for two (2) full-time, tenure-track positions at the Assistant Professor level in

- Political and Social Data Science

- Gender and Politics

The appointed candidates will be expected to teach undergraduate and graduate courses, supervise graduate students, be active in research, publishing, and the transmission of knowledge, and contribute to the activities of the University.

Requirements

> Ph. D. in political science or related discipline (Ph.D. candidates who are near completion will also be considered);

> Strong publication record ;

> Demonstrated ability to provide high quality university education;

> An adequate knowledge of French or a strong commitment to mastering the proficiency level required, in accordance to Université de Montréal's Language Policy;

> An institutional learning support program is offered to all professors wishing to learn French or improve their communication skills.

How to submit your application

The application file sent to the Department Chair should contain the following documents:

> A cover letter; application must include in the cover letter one of the following statements: "I am a citizen/ permanent resident of Canada." or "I am not a citizen or permanent resident of Canada."

> Your curriculum vitae;

> Three recent publications;

> Three letters of recommendation are also to be sent directly to the Department Chair by the referees.

Applications and letters of recommendation must be submitted by email to the Department Chair, Frédéric Mérand, no later than October 13th, 2023 at the following address: direction@pol.umontreal.ca

Start Date: Summer 2024

Application Deadline: 10/13/2023

Date Posted: 9/13/2023

Salary: $70,000 - $79,999

eJobs ID: 12495

University of Notre Dame

Rank: Assistant Professor of Climate Change, Environment, and Peace Studies

The University of Notre Dame's Keough School of Global Affairs invites applications for a tenure-track position in climate change, environment, and peace studies, based in the Kroc Institute for International Peace Studies (<https://kroc.nd.edu/>). The disciplinary and regional specialization for the position is open. The Keough School is open to the possibility of a joint appointment with a disciplinary department at the University of Notre Dame.

We welcome candidates working in one or more of the following themes:

- conflict transformation as it relates to the environment, natural resources, and climate change
- environmental justice and social transformation
- violence induced by climate change and environmental degradation

The successful applicant is expected to play a leading role in enhancing the Kroc Institute's research and teaching cluster on climate change and environment as they relate to conflict and peace. They would be part of a growing community of scholars within the Keough School (<https://keough.nd.edu>) working on environmental policy in a global context. The Keough School advances integral human development through research, policy and practice, transformative educational programs, and partnerships for global engagement. It promotes interdisciplinary research on critical issues in global affairs. We encourage applications from scholars who can engage in interdisciplinary research and teaching, thereby contributing to the integrative mission of the Keough School. We particularly welcome scholars whose research has direct relevance to peacebuilding practice and policy and have a proven record of publications in peer-reviewed venues. A PhD is required prior to the start date.

All applicants are required to submit a letter of interest/cover letter, a CV, a two-page statement of research, and a two-page teaching statement which includes a summary of any teaching evaluations available, and arrange for the submission of three confidential letters of reference. All application materials must be submitted through the Interfolio/Notre Dame online application system: <http://apply.interfolio.com/131504>

Nominations and inquiries may be sent via email to:

Prof. Asher Kaufman

Chair, Environment, Climate Change and Peace Search Committee
 Kroc Institute for International Peace Studies

Keough School of Global Affairs

University of Notre Dame

kaufman.15@nd.edu

The position will close on October 31, 2023 and review of applications will begin at that time.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 10/31/2023

Date Posted: 9/13/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12509

Harvard University

Rank: FELLOWS-IN-RESIDENCE PROGRAM

Subfield(s): Other, Public Administration, Public Policy

The Edmond & Lily Safra Center for Ethics at Harvard University invites applications from a broad range of researchers and practitioners who will work over the course of the year on pressing issues in ethics. Faculty in arts and sciences and professional schools, postdoctoral scholars, practitioners, and researchers from industry, government, and NGOs are eligible to apply. The call for applications for the 2024-25 is completely open: we will consider any topic pertaining to the serious ethical questions of our time. All eligible applicants are encouraged to apply and will be given careful consideration; priority will be given to outstanding early career scholars and practitioners.

As always, our goal will be to craft a cohort in which all fellows will find valuable intellectual partnerships to support and spur their work. The ideal candidates are those who are willing to invest time and energy into building community with the other fellows in their cohort.

Fellows-in-Residence will be expected to devote the majority of their time to their individual projects and to participate in regular work-in-progress seminars. In addition, Fellows are strongly encouraged to participate in—and contribute to—the Center's programming, which includes public lectures, themed seminars and reading groups, conferences, workshops, and lunch discussions.

This Fellowship is intended to be residential. With the exception of travel to conferences and meetings, Fellows are expected to be in residence in the Boston area at least four working days per week during the term.

For the last few years, the Center has offered the possibility of joint fellowship opportunities with several other Centers at Harvard. We continue to offer that possibility, with specific potential affiliations to be worked out on a case-by-case basis:

- Berkman Klein Center for Internet and Society at Harvard University
- Carr Center for Human Rights at the Harvard Kennedy School
- Center for Bioethics at the Harvard Medical School
- Center for Research on Computation and Society at the Harvard John A. Paulson School of Engineering and Applied Sciences
- Hutchins Center for African & African American Research at Harvard University
- Petrie-Flom Center for Health Law Policy, Biotechnology and Bioethics at the Harvard Law School

Applicants will be invited to indicate on the application form whether they wish to be considered for a joint fellowship position with one of these Centers. If selected, the joint fellowship will offer access to development opportunities and programming at the Edmond & Lily Safra Center for Ethics and the partnering center.

ELIGIBILITY

Applicants must have a PhD, professional degree, or a minimum of 5 years of equivalent professional experience by the start of the fellowship year. Applicants from any discipline or professional field will be considered. Those who have previously held a yearlong residential Fellowship at the Center are not eligible; this limitation does not apply to former Undergraduate Fellows or former Graduate Fellows. The Fellows-in-Residence Program runs the course of the academic year, typically from the beginning of September through the end of May, and is open to all applicants who meet the above criteria, regardless of citizenship.

STIPEND

Faculty:

We offer a stipend of one-half of your base academic year salary, up to $80,000, and a research allowance of up to $5,000 for approved expenses directly related to your work, such as travel, books, and research assistance.

Post-Doc:

The stipend for post-doctoral fellows will be $70,000 for 2024-25. We also provide a research allowance of up to $5,000 for approved expenses directly related to your work, such as travel, books, and research assistance.

Practitioner:

Practitioner stipends are determined on a case-by-case basis, commensurate with experience, up to a maximum of $80,000. We also provide a research allowance of up to $5,000 for approved expenses directly related to your work, such as travel, books, and research assistance.

APPLICATION REQUIREMENTS

Before beginning the application, you may wish to have the following information available:

- The title of your research proposal
- Names and contact information for 3 references (no letters are accepted at this stage)

To apply, complete our online application form, which will request the information noted above. You will also be asked to upload the following documents:

- Cover letter stating your background and interest in the Fellows-in-Residence Program at the Edmond & Lily Safra Center for Ethics
- Curriculum Vitae
- Research proposal
- Recent writing sample

Please note: Name and contact information for three professional references will be requested, but no letters will be accepted at this stage.

The deadline to submit an application is November 15, 2023, with decisions likely to be announced in February 2024. Please note that the application form will be saved automatically while in progress, but no edits or alterations will be allowed once you have submitted the application. Please direct questions regarding this application process to EJSafraFellowships@fas.harvard.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 11/15/2023

Date Posted: 9/12/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12500

University of Massachusetts, Amherst

Rank: Lecturer

To apply: See application instructions below.

The Data Analytics and Computational Social Science (DACSS) Program at the University of Massachusetts Amherst invites applicants for a position as a Lecturer in Computational Social Science. This is a full-time, one-year position, with the expectation of reappointment contingent upon funding and the candidate's performance. This is an academic year appointment, and the preferred start date is September 1, 2024.

The successful candidate will be expected to offer three unique in-person, online, or multimodal courses each year (6 total sections), including one of the four DACSS core courses covering topics in data science, quantitative analysis, research design, and data visualization; and at least one technical elective covering topics such as text, networks, machine learning, surveys, experiments, simulations, and advanced quantitative analysis. All courses will be taught with guidance from a tenured or tenure track UMass faculty mentor; extensive course preparation is not required.

After the completion of their first year of teaching, the lecturer may apply for support to design and teach a new course and an opportunity to earn additional compensation for teaching summer or intersession courses.

Requirements

PhD in anthropology, communications, economics, political science, psychology, sociology, computer science, data science, or a related discipline.
Demonstrated teaching and/or research interests in computational social science.
Applicants with a background in digital humanities will also be considered.

Application Instructions

Please submit a cover letter that addresses the candidate's research and teaching background in computational social science, a curriculum vitae, an article-length writing sample, and a teaching statement reflecting on a time when the applicant struggled with teaching (in or out of the classroom) in the past.

Review of applicants will continue until a suitable candidate pool has been identified.

The College of Social and Behavioral Sciences is committed to building and sustaining an equitable and inclusive work environment where cultural diversity is celebrated and valued. We believe diversity benefits and enriches the development of all of our students, staff, and faculty in our college. To learn more, please visit <https://www.umass.edu/sbs/diversity-equity-and-inclusion>.

To apply:

Follow this link and click the "APPLY NOW" button on the right hand side of the job description: <https://careers.umass.edu/amherst/en-us/job/520262/lecturer-data-analytics-computational-social-science-dacss>

UMass Amherst, the Commonwealth's flagship campus, is a nationally ranked public research university offering a full range of undergraduate, graduate and professional degrees. The University sits on nearly 1,450-acres in the scenic Pioneer Valley of Western Massachusetts, and offers a rich cultural environment in a bucolic setting close to major urban centers. In addition, the University is part of the Five Colleges (including Amherst College, Hampshire College, Mount Holyoke College, and Smith College), which adds to the intellectual energy of the region.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 10/15/2023

Date Posted: 9/12/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12501

University of Massachusetts, Amherst

Rank: Lecturer

To apply: See application instructions below.

The Data Analytics and Computational Social Science (DACSS) Program at the University of Massachusetts Amherst invites applicants for a position as a Lecturer in Computational Social Science. This is a full-time, one-year position, with the expectation of reappointment contingent upon funding and the candidate's performance. This is an academic year appointment, and the preferred start date is September 1, 2024.

The successful candidate will be expected to offer three unique in-person, online, or multimodal courses each year (6 total sections), including one of the four DACSS core courses covering topics in data science, quantitative analysis, research design, and data visualization; and at least one technical elective covering topics such as text, networks, machine learning, surveys, experiments, simulations, and advanced quantitative analysis. All courses will be taught with guidance from a tenured or tenure track UMass faculty mentor; extensive course preparation is not required.

After the completion of their first year of teaching, the lecturer may apply for support to design and teach a new course and an opportunity to earn additional compensation for teaching summer or intersession courses.

Requirements

PhD in anthropology, communications, economics, political science, psychology, sociology, computer science, data science, or a related discipline.
Demonstrated teaching and/or research interests in computational social science.
Applicants with a background in digital humanities will also be considered.

Application Instructions

Please submit a cover letter that addresses the candidate's research and teaching background in computational social science, a curriculum vitae, an article-length writing sample, and a teaching statement reflecting on a time when the applicant struggled with teaching (in or out of the classroom) in the past.

Review of applicants will continue until a suitable candidate pool has been identified.

The College of Social and Behavioral Sciences is committed to building and sustaining an equitable and inclusive work environment where cultural diversity is celebrated and valued. We believe diversity benefits and enriches the development of all of our students, staff, and faculty in our college. To learn more, please visit <https://www.umass.edu/sbs/diversity-equity-and-inclusion>.

To apply:

Follow this link and click the "APPLY NOW" button on the right hand side of the job description: <https://careers.umass.edu/amherst/en-us/job/520262/lecturer-data-analytics-computational-social-science-dacss>

UMass Amherst, the Commonwealth's flagship campus, is a nationally ranked public research university offering a full range of undergraduate, graduate and professional degrees. The University sits on nearly 1,450-acres in the scenic Pioneer Valley of Western Massachusetts, and offers a rich cultural environment in a bucolic setting close to major urban centers. In addition, the University is part of the Five Colleges (including Amherst College, Hampshire College, Mount Holyoke College, and Smith College), which adds to the intellectual energy of the region.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 10/15/2023

Date Posted: 9/12/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12502

George C. Marshall European Center for Security Studies

Rank: Faculty Member

The George C. Marshall European Center for Security Studies is a renowned international security and defense studies institute located in Garmisch-Partenkirchen, Germany. A bilateral partnership between the U.S. and Germany, it is a lasting cooperation that promotes dialogue and understanding among the nations of North America, Europe and Eurasia and engages participants from around the globe. The College of International Security Studies (CISS), invites applications for multiple full time, term faculty positions (assistant, associate, and full professor opportunities). We especially seek faculty colleagues for current openings in Cyber Security and Countering Terrorism.

CISS is committed to providing the highest quality resident and outreach programming to our allies and partners, while building a network of national security professionals committed to peace and stability across the globe. In addition to bringing in approximately 800 practitioner students to the campus each year, GCMC offers a Masters in International Security Studies (MISS) for security professionals in partnership with the Universität der Bundeswehr München. Additionally, faculty support multiple outreach and Alumni events each year as speakers and facilitators.

Additionally, we seek expertise in any of the following areas: strategic power competition, emerging security threats, countering organized crime, European security, human security, political economy, national security strategy development, Russia and China.

Candidates should have a Ph.D. in a relevant field (e.g. political science, political economy, international law, international development, international studies, sociology). Candidates for associate and full professor positions, in addition to a Ph.D., are expected to have a strong record of excellence in teaching and mentorship at all levels. Highly-qualified, senior technical personnel with Masters' in relevant areas may be considered for certain positions.

Please send a cover letter and Curriculum Vitae to: gcmc.ciss.facultyhire@marshallcenter.org

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/7/2023

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 12476

University of Missouri, Kansas City

Rank: Norman Royall Endowed Professor/Associate Professor of Political Communication/UMKC School of Humanities & Social Sciences

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, Other

The School of Humanities and Social Sciences at the University of Missouri-Kansas City

Job Description

The UMKC School of Humanities and Social Sciences invites applications for the Norman Royall Endowed Professor or Associate Professor with expertise in political communication and quantitative methods, data science, or data analytics research. This is a full-time appointment with rank commensurate with experience.

The successful candidate will play a critical role in the research and teaching mission of the School of Humanities and Social Sciences including securing extramural research funding, working collaboratively with counterparts in data science and analytics across campus, and teaching courses related to political communication and data science in the Political Science, Communication, and Journalism programs.

In support of our goals to be a workplace of choice and a national leader in research and scholarship, UMKC strives to assure that all individuals appointed to endowed chairs and professorships are outstanding leaders in scholarship, teaching, and service. Applicants for this endowed position are encouraged to review UMKC's Guidelines for Evaluation of Endowed Chairs and Professors at the following link: <https://info.umkc.edu/academichiring/endowed-chairs-professorships/>.

Minimum Qualifications

A Ph.D. in Political Science or Communication Studies or a closely related field.

A full-time ranked faculty appointment at the associate or full professor rank.

Full Time/Part Time

Professor or Associate Professor - Tenure-Eligible. This is a full-time 9-month, ranked, benefit-eligible faculty position. Salary is commensurate with experience and qualifications.

The start date is August 2024.

Application Deadline

Applications accepted until position is filled. Review of completed applications will begin upon receipt, with priority consideration for those received by October 15, 2023.

Application Instructions

For consideration, you must apply online at www.umkc.edu/jobs, click in Academic Positions Job Opening ID 48454.

Please combine all application materials (curriculum vitae, letter of application addressing your research interests and teaching philosophy, and a list of three academic and/or professional references with current full contact information) into one PDF or Microsoft Word document and upload as your resume attachments. Limit document name to 50 characters and do not include any special characters (e.g., /, &, %, etc.).

· If you are experiencing technical problems during application, please email umpshrsupport@umsystem.edu

· For questions about the position, please contact umkcfacultysearch@umkc.edu including the Job Identification number 48454 and name of the position.

· Reasonable accommodations may be requested during the application and recruitment process. If you need an accommodation, please contact the Office of Affirmative Action at (816) 235-1323.

We will contact references and request educational transcripts for applicants who progress to the finalist stage.

Comments

UMKC is a public, urban, research university with more than 15,000 undergraduate, graduate, and professional students. It is part of the larger University of Missouri System. Our university is committed to being a model urban university that is recognized for our partnerships with diverse communities to effectively foster a healthy, safe, more economically secure and socially just quality of life.

A City on the Rise: Big City Life and Midwest Charm, Kansas City offers the best of both worlds – a vibrant, urban community with midwestern appeal and an affordable cost of living. The university is in one of the most entrepreneurial cities in America, and the metropolitan area has a population of more than 2.4 million. Our UMKC campuses are centered in the hubs of business activity, cultural arts, and health science research engagement. Our community boasts championship professional athletic teams, NASCAR racing, and a rich history of music and performing arts. Our beautiful state provides rivers, lakes, biking/hiking trails and mountains for outdoor enthusiasts, all within an easy drive.

Equal Employment Opportunity

Equal Opportunity is and shall be provided for all employees and applicants for employment on the basis of their demonstrated ability and competence without unlawful discrimination on the basis of their race, color, national origin, ancestry, religion, sex, pregnancy, sexual orientation, gender identity, gender expression, age, disability, protected veteran status, or any other status protected by applicable state or federal law. This policy shall not be interpreted in such a manner as to violate the legal rights of religious organizations or the recruiting rights of military organizations associated with the Armed Forces or the Department of Homeland Security of the United States of America. For more information, call Human Resources at 816-235-1621.

To request ADA accommodations, please call the Office of Equity & Title IX at 816-235-6910.

Know Your Rights

To read more about Equal Employment Opportunity (EEO) please use the following links:

Know Your Rights English Version

Know Your Rights Spanish Version

UMKC Statement on Diversity

Values Commitment

We value the uniqueness of every individual and strive to ensure each person's success. Contributions from individuals with diverse backgrounds, experiences and perspectives promote intellectual pluralism and enable us to achieve the excellence that we seek in learning, research and engagement. This commitment makes our university a better place to work, learn and innovate.

In your application materials, please discuss your experiences and expertise that support these values and enrich our missions of teaching, research and engagement.

Benefit Eligibility

Why UMKC?

We offer full benefits that start day one, generous paid time off, holiday pay, paid winter break (December 26-December 31), and continuing education benefits. Visit our Total Rewards page to learn more.

Also, explore the Total Rewards website to learn more about the rewards package we offer to acknowledge our employees as the university's most important resource.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/7/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12479

London School of Economics

Rank: Assistant Professor Political Science and Public Policy

London School of Economics and Political Science

Department of Government

Assistant Professor in Political Science and Public Policy

Salary is competitive with Departments at our peer institutions worldwide and not less than £61,446 per annum inclusive.

We are recruiting a new career-track Assistant Professor in Political Science with expertise and research interest in Public Policy and Administration. Candidates should have strong research and teaching interests in Political Science.

We are open to all methodological approaches.

Candidates must have an emerging research record and trajectory in political science, evidenced by existing publications, or potential to publish in top journals. The successful candidates should have, or be close to obtaining a PhD in political science by the start date, 1 September 2024.

Candidates should have excellent written and oral communication skills. Candidates are expected to lead, and contribute to, the departmental undergraduate and postgraduate teaching in public policy and administration.

In addition to a competitive salary the benefits that come with this job include an occupational pension scheme, a research incentive scheme with personal reward options, generous research leave (sabbatical) entitlement, a world-class research environment and excellent support, training, and development opportunities.

For further information or to apply for this post, please see the how to apply document, job description and the person specification on the LSE website: www.lse.ac.uk/LSEJobs.

If you have any technical queries with applying on the online system, please use the “contact us” links at the bottom of the LSE Jobs page.

Should you have any queries about the role, please email Gov.HoD@lse.ac.uk

The closing date for receipt of applications is 1 October 2023 (23.59 UK time).

Regrettably, we are unable to accept any late applications.

Shortlisted candidates will be invited to interview and to present their research in November 2023.

Start Date: Fall 2024
Application Deadline: 1/10/2024
Date Posted: 9/6/2023
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 12447

Salve Regina University

Rank: The David & Carolyn Brodsky Chair in U.S. Constitutional Democracy & Culture

Subfield(s): Other, Other, Other

About Salve Regina University:

Salve Regina University, ranked as one of the most transformative colleges in the United States by Money Magazine, is a comprehensive Catholic University located in the scenic coastal community of Newport, Rhode Island. The University's commitment to academic success and personal discovery extends beyond its historic campus into a dynamic world where the application of higher thinking and skill are most valued. Salve Regina offers bachelor's and master's degree programs, graduate certificates, and doctoral programs in humanities, international relations and nursing. Enrollment includes more than 2,600 undergraduate and graduate students from across the U.S. and around the world.

Job Description:

Salve Regina University invites applications for the David and Carolyn Brodsky Chair in U.S. Constitutional Democracy and Culture.

The newly endowed chair was established to promote teaching and research that examines the potential for civil discourse and civic engagement to deepen public understanding of the legacies of democratic ideals articulated in the Declaration of Independence and the U.S. Constitution, their meaning and limitations, their uneven application during the nation's history, and their potential to unify Americans in the twenty-first century.

This is a tenured position beginning in late August 2024, at the rank of associate or full professor with an appointment in the Department of Political Science. An interdisciplinary approach to teaching and research as well as a profile as a public scholar are encouraged. The Brodsky Chair holder is expected to collaborate across campus to foster opportunities for students and community members to explore the roles of civil discourse and civic engagement in American democracy.

The Brodsky Chair will have the opportunity to work with the University's Pell Center for International Relations and Public Policy to create research and public programming around challenges to American democracy as well as opportunities to strengthen it: <https://salve.edu/pell-center-for-international-relations-and-public-policy>

Dedicated funds are available for forums, conferences, sponsored research, and student engagement.

Like all members of the full-time faculty at Salve Regina, the Brodsky Chair holder is expected to be a visible presence across the institution, teaching and working in-person on the University's beautiful and historic seaside campus in Newport.

Duties include teaching two courses per semester, active research, and service/outreach. Salary will be commensurate with the rank, qualifications, and record of the successful candidate.

Requirements:

The successful candidate will have an established commitment to undergraduate education, a substantial record of research and publications, and evidence of teaching excellence meriting the rank of associate or full professor.

Additional Information:

Salve Regina University offers generous benefits to eligible employees including (waiting periods apply):

health, dental and vision coverage available on the first of the month following date of hire

403(b) retirement plan through TIAA with employee and employer contributions as well as access to advising services long-term disability coverage employer-paid life and AD&D insurance up to 100% free tuition at Salve for eligible employees and qualified dependents robust wellness program and free access to the on-campus Fitness Center

Other available benefits include:

supplemental life insurance for employees and dependents

supplemental insurance coverage through Aflac

Tuition Exchange scholarship program. Application available for qualified dependents of eligible employees working full-time discounted pet insurance through ASPCA student loan forgiveness assistance program (SAVI) discounted auto and home insurance through Liberty Mutual employee Assistance Program through Coastline EAP flexible spending health and dependent care accounts health savings accounts

529 collegebound saver program

For more detailed information on Salve's benefits, visit <https://salve.edu/human-resources/benefits>.

Salve Regina University strives to cultivate belonging values through diversity, equity inclusion in order to foster a welcoming culture for our staff, faculty and students, as well as the wider community. Salve Regina University embraces all people with grace. No matter the path traveled to get here, the University acknowledges that many identities will intersect. Salve Regina belongs to all in its community.

Application Instructions:

Applicants must apply online via this link: <http://salve.interviewexchange.com/jobofferdetails.jsp?JOBID=167115> by providing a cover letter, curriculum vitae, and the names and contact information for three professional references. Review of applications will begin on October 31, 2023, with the position closing on November 15, 2023. Pre-employment background checks and reference checks are required of successful candidates. Salve Regina University participates in E-verify.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 11/15/2023

Date Posted: 9/6/2023

Salary: $120,000 - $129,999

eJobs ID: 12463

University of Minnesota, Twin Cities

Rank: Advanced Assistant Professor or Tenured Associate/Full Professor

Link for the complete job posting: <https://hr.myu.umn.edu/jobs/ext/357115>

For questions about the position, please contact the Department of African American & African Studies at aaashire@umn.edu.

The Department of African American & African Studies (AA&AS) at the University of Minnesota, Twin Cities, invites applications for a full-time, open rank position (tenure-track advanced assistant, tenured associate, or tenured full professor) in African American & African Studies to begin as soon as August 26, 2024. We seek an interdisciplinary scholar whose research engages with major themes of African American Studies from a national, regional, global and/or transnational perspective.

The appointment will be 100% time over the nine-month academic year (late-August to late-May) at the rank of tenure-track assistant professor, tenured associate professor or tenured professor, depending on qualifications and experience, and consistent with collegiate and University policy.

The preferred candidate would have a distinguished record of interdisciplinary training, accomplishment, and/or engagement in the field of African American Studies. While the areas of expertise are open, we are particularly interested in candidates whose research engages with Black transnational studies; Black digital studies (exploring the connection between digital inequality, technology, race, and data science); Black music; Black disability studies; comparative race, ethnicity, indigeneity, and gender studies; social movements; racial capitalism; carcerality; health and inequality; or law and public policy.

Initial review of applications will begin 01 October 2023, and additional materials will be requested of candidates who advance to the second round. Review of applications will continue until the search is concluded.

Required Qualifications

A Ph.D. in a relevant field in the arts, humanities and/or social sciences is required. To be considered for a tenured position in African American & African Studies, candidates must possess a distinguished record of academic achievement (scholarly research, teaching, service, community engagement) that satisfies the criteria for holding an appointment with indefinite tenure in the Department of African American & African Studies at the University of Minnesota.

Preferred Qualifications

In addition to a strong record of interdisciplinary scholarship and research, the successful applicant will have evidence of teaching excellence in undergraduate and graduate education; experience in curriculum and program building as well as experience in departmental leadership; and demonstrated commitment to collaborative and community-engaged work.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/6/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12468

University of Minnesota, Twin Cities

Rank: Assistant Professor of Black Feminist Literary & Cultural Studies

Link for the complete job posting: <https://hr.myu.umn.edu/jobs/ext/357103>

For questions about the position, please contact the Department of African American & African Studies at aaashire@umn.edu.

The Department of African American & African Studies (AA&AS) at the University of Minnesota, Twin Cities, invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track position in Black feminist literary and cultural studies to begin Fall 2024 (August 26, 2024).

The appointment will be 100% time over the nine-month academic year (late-August to late-May). The appointment will be made at the rank of tenure-track assistant professor depending on qualifications and experience and consistent with collegiate and University policy.

The preferred candidate would be broadly trained in the fields of African American literature, cultural studies, public humanities, and/or other forms of creative expression. We are particularly interested in candidates who can demonstrate a commitment to charting broadly-based humanistic inquiries grounded in Black feminist scholarship.

Initial review of applications will begin 01 October 2023, and additional materials will be requested of candidates who advance to the second round. Review of applications will continue until the search is concluded.

Required Qualifications

A Ph.D. in English, Literature, African American Studies, American Studies, Cultural Studies, Gender Studies, Ethnic Studies, or a related field in the arts, humanities and/or social sciences is required. Advanced ABD's may be considered for appointment at the rank of tenure-track instructor, with the understanding that the Ph.D. must be conferred in the first year of appointment.

Preferred Qualifications

In addition to a record of interdisciplinary scholarship, the successful applicant will have a strong commitment to contribute at all levels of our undergraduate and graduate education, and have a demonstrated commitment to collaborative and community-engaged work.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/6/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12466

Occidental College

Rank: Assistant Professor with expertise on Central America (20th & 21st centuries)

The Latino/a and Latin American Studies Department at Occidental College invites applicants for a tenure-track Assistant Professor with expertise on Central America (20th & 21st centuries) to begin Fall 2024.

Position

The Latino/a and Latin American Studies Department at Occidental College invites applicants trained in a social science for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position. Candidates must have expertise in Central America (20th & 21st centuries). The successful candidate will have the demonstrated expertise to teach classes on i) the major social-economic and political dynamics of Central American countries (20th and 21st c); ii) a yearly (or by-yearly) class on qualitative social science methods; iii) one or two yearly classes in the College's First Year Seminar program. It would be ideal (but not a requirement) if the successful candidate could also teach a class on iv) the de facto refugee experiences of Central Americans in the U.S. (or in transit). In addition to teaching five classes per year, the successful candidate is expected to advise students, carry out research, and provide departmental and college wide service. You will also be responsible for producing scholarship commensurate with the requirements for tenure and promotion. Occidental College is committed to academic excellence in a diverse community and strongly encourages applications from candidates committed to the College's mission of equity, excellence, community, and service.

Required Qualifications

? Applicants should have training and expertise in relevant areas of Politics, or International Relations, Sociology or Latin American Studies, and should hold a PhD at the time of appointment.

? Demonstrated commitment to undergraduate teaching.

? A strong record of scholarly accomplishments appropriate to the level of appointment

? Demonstrated commitment to working effectively with students from minoritized and marginalized social groups.

? Potential for balance teaching, scholarship and service

Expected Salary Range: $84,500- $96,000

Application Submission Materials

You must submit a complete application package electronically to be considered. To apply, please visit apply.interfolio.com/129357

? Cover Letter in which you respond to the required qualifications

? Curriculum Vitae

? Research Statement

? Teaching Philosophy Statement

? Commitment to Inclusive Excellence Statement: This statement provides your unique perspective on your past and present contributions to and future aspirations for promoting justice, equity, inclusion, and diversity in your professional career. This should include your demonstrated commitment to, past evidence of, and future plans for creating equitable opportunities for learning and mentoring especially for students from marginalized and minoritized groups. The purpose of this statement is to help the department identify candidates who have professional experience, intellectual commitments, and/or willingness to engage in activities that could help the College contribute to its mission in these areas.

? List of three references with relevant contact information. If you advance to the finalist phase, you will be asked to have each of your three references submit a letter of recommendation. Please have these ready for the referents to submit should you move forward to this phase of the search. Do not submit these letters with your initial application. Please direct all questions about the position to: Dolores Trevizo dtrevizo@oxy.edu

Application Deadline

To be assured full consideration, your application materials must be received by November 1, 2023.

The Latino/a and Latin American Studies (LLAS) major offers an interdisciplinary approach to the study of the societies and cultures of Latin America and the Latino and Chicano experience in the United States. By extending the study of 'Latin America' beyond the geopolitical borders of the region to include the Caribbean and the United States, the major emphasizes the importance of migrations, interethnic interactions, and cultural exchanges of Indigenous, European, African, and Asian peoples throughout the Americas. The LLAS program engages students with a variety of perspectives on the socio-political complexities and cultural traditions of the Americas, and the historical development of unique regional societies and cultures. The transnational perspective of our curriculum distinguishes the LLAS major from more traditional area studies programs.

Occidental College is committed to academic excellence in a diverse community and to supporting interdisciplinary and multicultural academic programs that provide a gifted and diverse group of students with an educational experience that prepares them for leadership in a pluralistic world. We strongly encourage applications from candidates who will further Occidental's mission of excellence and equity in their teaching, scholarship, and service.

Salary is commensurate with experience and qualifications. Moving expense reimbursement (up to $5000, taxable according to current IRS regulations), start-up funds, and a one-course reduction of teaching load in the first year are provided. A comprehensive benefits package is available that includes: excellent health, dental, life, and retirement benefits; tuition benefits for the employee, spouse, domestic partner, and dependents; additional extras including use of gym facilities and the College Library. For a detailed description of benefits, please visit <https://www.oxy.edu/offices-services/human-resources/benefits-information>.

All qualified applicants will be considered for employment, including those with criminal histories, in a manner consistent with the requirements of applicable state and local laws, including the City of Los Angeles' Fair Chance Initiative for Hiring Ordinance.

Occidental College is committed to working with and providing reasonable accommodations to applicants with qualifying disabilities. If you need a reasonable accommodation because of a disability for any part of the application or employment process, please contact HumanResources (hr@oxy.edu).

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/5/2023

Salary: $90,000 - $99,999

eJobs ID: 12456

St. John Fisher University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Legal Studies

Subfield(s): Public Law, American Government and Politics, Other

Specializations: Constitutional Law & Theory, Civil Rights & Liberties, Judicial Politics

St. John Fisher University, an independent, liberal arts institution in the Catholic tradition located in Rochester, New York, seeks applications for a tenure-track assistant professor of Legal Studies to begin fall 2024.

The successful candidate will contribute to our legal studies program by offering courses in the field of law, politics and society. The ability to offer classes in legal theory, in legal processes, or in US or comparative public law are particularly welcome. The candidate must demonstrate the potential for superior teaching, excellence in scholarship, and an ability to provide excellent advising and mentorship for the many students preparing for law school. The person hired must possess their Ph.D. by August 2024. Prior teaching experience is highly valued. Additional JD degree, or experience in law school and law advising is strongly preferred.

Applicants are encouraged to visit our web page to get more information about the requirements and coursework in Legal Studies. <https://www.sjf.edu/major-minors/legal-studies/>

The application can be found on our Human Resources Webpage at <https://jobs.sjf.edu/postings/3080>

Founded in 1948, St. John Fisher University is ranked among the top colleges and universities in the northeast and has a rich history of academic excellence and an outstanding reputation for its commitment to a student-centered, personalized educational environment. The educational philosophy of the founding Basilian Fathers—Teach me goodness, discipline, and knowledge—reflects Fisher’s traditions and values today, and the campus prepares individuals for lives of intellectual, professional, and civic integrity and where diversity and service to others are valued and practiced,

The School of Arts and Sciences at St John Fisher University serves all undergraduate students through 33 programs, the Core general education curriculum, and pre-professional requirements. The School provides all the liberal arts offerings required for baccalaureate degrees, thus providing critical skills and perspectives across a wide range of disciplines.

The new faculty will arrive at an exciting time in our University’s history. Our Legal Studies program is one of the fastest growing programs in the School of Arts and Sciences. Our student-focused faculty promote active and applied learning. We pride ourselves on the strength of our relationships with program alumni and offer our undergraduate high-impact programs such as our local and DC internships and many other experiential learning experiences.

Job Responsibilities

Required qualifications:

- PhD or ABD in Political Science, Law and Society, or related field with expected completion by August 2024.
- Additional JD degree preferred. Candidates with a JD only, and significant teaching and research experience, will be considered on an ad hoc basis.
- Ability to teach a wide range of courses at the undergraduate level in Legal Studies and for our Core general education curriculum.
- Demonstrated ability to be an excellent teacher.

- Commitment to a consistent, high-quality scholarly agenda and high potential for publishing in peer-reviewed scholarly venues.
- Commitment to mentoring and advising students, especially regarding law school applications and careers in law.
- Commitment to contributing to a climate of equity and inclusion.
- Commitment to service.
- Commitment to community engagement.
- Excellent communication skills.
- Applicants must be legally authorized to work in the US and be available to start teaching in fall 2024.

Education / Experience:

Applications are invited from candidates who have completed a PhD or joint PhD/JD, or from doctoral candidates with a scheduled completion date for the dissertation by August 2024. Candidates with a JD only, and significant teaching and research experience, will be considered on an ad hoc basis.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 10/15/2023

Date Posted: 9/4/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12433

Hoover Institution, Stanford University

Rank: W. Glenn Campbell and Rita Ricardo-Campbell National Fellow

W. Glenn Campbell and Rita Ricardo-Campbell National Fellows

The Hoover Institution Glenn Campbell and Rita Ricardo-Campbell National Fellows Program allows outstanding scholars from colleges, universities, and institutions around the world to be freed from academic and professional responsibilities to devote one year to unrestricted, creative research and publication. National Fellows Program fellowships provide scholars the opportunity to complete an original significant research project with the expectation of generating a publishable manuscript while in residence at the Hoover Institution at Stanford University, Stanford, California.

Two unique resources frame the Hoover Institution National Fellows program:

- The Hoover Library and Archives affords Fellows access to the richest private archive collections in the United States. With nearly one million volumes and more than six thousand archival collections from 171 countries, the Hoover Library and Archives is a national and international center for primary-source documentation and research on problems of political, economic, and social change.
- National Fellows are able to draw on the experience of outstanding resident scholars at the Hoover Institution and Stanford University. Resident fellows and university faculty are available to discuss research topics, as well as provide insight into policy issues and strategic challenges.

Multiple National Fellows Program fellowships are awarded annually. Participation in the program begins September 1 and ends August 31 of the following year. National Fellows are encouraged to engage in the intellectual life of the Hoover Institution and are expected to make at least one presentation on their research before an appropriate group of scholars during the year in residence.

ADMINISTRATION

The selection committee is made up of Hoover Senior Fellows and distinguished scholars from Stanford University. The committee selects program participants and makes recommendations to the Director of the Hoover Institution regarding each year's participants.

APPLICATION

Application to the program requires the online submission of:

- Cover letter
- Curriculum vitae
- Three (3) to five (5) page research proposal
- Three (3) to five (5) confidential letters of recommendation from leading scholars

Qualified candidates should hold a Ph.D. degree or its equivalent, have an established publication record, and hold promise as a productive scholar. Candidates are generally five (5) to ten (10) years beyond the Ph.D. degree. They are expected to resume pre-existing full-time appointments at highly regarded institutions or universities upon completion of the National Fellows program. Hoover National Fellows receive financial support solely on the merits of their proposed research and scholarly record, irrespective of pre-existing support.

All materials must be submitted electronically by November 17, 2023, at <https://applynationalfellows.hoover.org/>

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 11/17/2023

Date Posted: 8/25/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12376

University of Florida

Rank: Lecturer

Subfield(s): Other, Other, Other

Established in 2022, the Hamilton Center is a multidisciplinary academic unit whose purpose is to support teaching and research concerning the ideas, traditions, and texts that shape Western civilization and American values and institutions. The Center also seeks to promote civil discourse and the ethic of citizenship, and prepare students for meaningful careers.

The Center seeks to fill several at the rank of Lecturer, to start in the 2024–2025 academic year. Applications are welcome from all relevant disciplines, including history, political science (especially political theory and international relations), philosophy, literature, religion, economics, public policy, and classics.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/25/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12369

Princeton University

Rank: Open Rank: Assistant, Associate or Full Professor

The Wythes Center on Contemporary China at the Princeton Institute for International and Regional Studies (PIIRS) seeks to hire a social science scholar working on China. While the position is open to rank, preference will be given to early-career scholars from the social sciences whose scholarship and teaching combine disciplinary expertise, methodological rigor, and deep regional knowledge of China (including the ability to read, write, and speak Chinese).

The successful candidate will be jointly appointed in a social science or related department at Princeton. They will complement our existing strengths and areas of concentration and enjoy cross-disciplinary ties with other units on campus. Princeton is especially interested in candidates who, through their research, teaching, and service, will contribute to the diversity and excellence of the academic community.

Interested applicants should apply online at <https://puwebp.princeton.edu/AcadHire/apply/application.xhtml?listingId=31801>. Please include a curriculum vitae, a publication list, a statement of research and teaching interests, and a separate statement outlining how the applicant sees themselves contributing to our mission of expanding our strengths in China-relevant social sciences. Please also include the names and contact information for three references. For junior candidates, referees will be contacted directly by email with instructions for submitting a confidential recommendation on your behalf. For senior candidates, referees will not be contacted until later in the process. Review of applications will begin immediately but accepted until the position is filled. For fullest consideration, apply by October 31, 2023.

This position is subject to the University's background check policy.

Princeton University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer, and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to age, race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/24/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12354

Princeton University

Rank: Professor, Bioethics

Princeton University invites applications for a faculty position in bioethics in the University Center for Human Values, to begin on or after July 1, 2024. Rank: full professor. The Center is an interdisciplinary community of scholars whose additional principal affiliations currently include history, philosophy, politics, psychology, public policy and international affairs, religion, and sociology. The Center seeks scholars of distinction with expertise in bioethics, broadly construed (including environmental ethics and animal ethics). Scholars with research interests and training in philosophy, political theory, legal scholarship, religious ethics and related areas, as well as those working on any of the ethical issues described above in other disciplines or from interdisciplinary approaches, are encouraged to apply. A joint appointment with another academic unit, such as an academic department, may be possible.

To better realize its scholarly mission and contribute to the University, the Center is committed to enhancing and valuing a diversity of perspectives and experiences among its faculty. The Center seeks to be an inclusive academic community and strongly encourages applications from individuals who identify as members of groups that are underrepresented in their respective discipline. Princeton University is especially interested in qualified candidates who can contribute, through their research, teaching, and/or service, to the diversity and excellence of our academic community.

A complete application will contain the following materials:

- 1) a letter of application
- 2) a curriculum vitae
- 3) a sample of writing in the candidate's field of specialization
- 4) the names and contact details of three persons willing to serve as references.

Please direct all materials to <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/31681>.

Applications that are complete by October 9, 2023, will be assured of the most careful consideration. This position is subject to the University's background check policy.

Start Date: Summer 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/24/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12356

University of Missouri, Columbia

Rank: Assistant, Associate, Full Professor, Comparative Politics

Assistant, Associate, Full Professor, Comparative Politics

The University of Missouri Truman School of Government and Public Affairs is searching for a Korea Foundation Endowed Professor. The position is an open rank tenured/tenure track position focused on Korean politics to begin in the Fall Semester of 2024. This is a 9-month teaching and research appointment. The typical teaching load will be 2 courses per semester. Additional expectations include active engagement with the University of Missouri Institute for Korean Studies and facilitation of connections between the University of Missouri and Korean universities.

Competitive applicants will have a clear research agenda, strong theoretical orientation, excellent methodological skills, ability to publish in highly ranked journals and academic presses, and potential for effective teaching at the graduate and undergraduate levels.

Applicants from scholars from all subfields of political science whose research has an emphasis on Korea are encouraged to apply, although, the ideal candidate will do research in comparative politics. An earned doctorate in political science or a related field is required at the time of appointment.

Please apply online at: <https://hr.missouri.edu/job-openings> (Job ID 48238). Candidates should submit their curriculum vitae, a cover letter, writing samples, and evidence of quality teaching. Candidates at the assistant professor level should have three references provide letters of recommendations to the Truman School Director's Office (mutspadirector@missouri.edu). Candidates at the associate or full professor level should provide three names and contact information of references. Written references will be required prior to an on-campus interview. The cover letter should address the following: current and future research, teaching interests including how the applicant ensures the classroom is inclusive of multiple perspectives and of students from different backgrounds, as well as, how the applicant envisions engaging in research focused on Korea, and with universities there. This information can also be provided in separate teaching and research statements.

We value the uniqueness of every individual and strive to ensure each person's success. Contributions from individuals with diverse backgrounds, experiences and perspectives promote intellectual pluralism and enable us to achieve the excellence that we seek in learning, research, and engagement. This commitment makes our university a better place to work, learn and innovate. In your application materials, please discuss your experiences and expertise that support these values and enrich our missions of teaching, research, and engagement.

Questions concerning the positions can be sent to Professor Laron Williams (williamslaro@missouri.edu). Contact Human Resource Services (muhrs@missouri.edu) for any question about the application process.

We will begin reviewing applications on September 18th, 2023, and continue until the position is filled.

The Truman School of Government and Public Affairs has 33 faculty with academic appointments in the school and houses a PhD in Political Science, a PhD in Public Affairs, a Master's in Public Affairs, and a Master's in Defense and Strategic Studies, as well as BA in Political Science, and a BA in Public Administration and Policy. For more information see: <https://truman.missouri.edu/>.

This position is eligible for University benefits. The University offers a comprehensive benefits package, including medical, dental and vision plans, retirement, and educational fee discounts. For additional information on University benefits, please visit the Faculty & Staff Benefits website at <http://www.umsystem.edu/totalrewards/benefits>.

Equal Opportunity is and shall be provided for all employees and applicants for employment on the basis of their demonstrated ability and competence without unlawful discrimination on the basis of their race, color, national origin, ancestry, religion, sex, pregnancy, sexual orientation, gender identity, gender expression, age, disability, protected veteran status, or any other status protected by applicable state or federal law. This policy shall not be interpreted in such a manner as to violate the legal rights of religious organizations or the recruiting rights of military organizations associated with the Armed Forces or the Department of Homeland Security of the United States of America. For more information, call the Director of Employee and Labor Relations at 573-884-2577. To request ADA accommodations, please call the Director of Accessibility and ADA at 573-884-7278.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/18/2023

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 12322

University of Notre Dame

Rank: Assistant Professor of Democracy Studies

The University of Notre Dame's Keough School of Global Affairs invites applicants for a tenure-track position of assistant professor working on the study of democracy and democratic backsliding. The ideal candidate will have a comparative research agenda focused on questions of democratic erosion, democratic resilience, and strategies to protect democracy. The position is funded by the Kellogg Institute for International Studies, as part of Notre Dame's new Democracy Initiative.

The search is open in terms of methodological perspectives and geographic area focus, but competitive candidates are expected to possess strong empirical skills (with a preference for mixed methods) and to be conversant across research traditions, theoretical perspectives, and geographic regions. Successful candidates must provide evidence of high-quality research, as well as an interest to engage global policy debates about the future of democracy.

The successful candidate will be expected to develop novel analytic perspectives in the study of democracy and regime change to inform his or her research, teaching, and service. The position will be based in the Keough School (<https://keough.nd.edu>), which advances integral human development through research, policy and practice, transformative educational programs, and partnerships for global engagement. We are particularly interested in candidates whose research agendas inspire lessons for democratic practitioners. The candidate will interact with colleagues in Political Science, Sociology, and related fields. The Keough School is open to the possibility of a joint appointment with a disciplinary department.

The Keough School is committed to fostering a culture of diverse views and approaches to Global Affairs. All applicants whose scholarly pursuits will enhance our ability to fulfill that commitment are encouraged to apply.

The position will close on October 31, 2023 and review of applications will begin at that time. Applicants are required to submit a cover letter, C.V., three letters of recommendation, a writing sample, a research statement, and a teaching statement or teaching portfolio. All application materials must be submitted through the Interfolio/Notre Dame online application system: <http://apply.interfolio.com/130347> Questions about the position can be directed to Aníbal Pérez-Liñán at aperezl1@nd.edu

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 10/31/2023

Date Posted: 8/18/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12298

University of Notre Dame

Rank: Professor of Computational Social Science

The University of Notre Dame's Keough School of Global Affairs in conjunction with the Notre Dame Lucy Family Institute for Data and Society invites applicants for a tenure-track (open rank) professorship focused in the area of computational social science. The ideal candidate will have completed a Ph.D. in business, computer science, economics, information science, public policy, political science, psychology, sociology, or a related field with a strong research focus on the intersection of business and society.

The candidate should have strong skills in computational social science and data analytics with expertise in methods such as machine learning, network analysis, system dynamics or big-data analytics and visualization. They should have a strong research agenda focused on using these methods to help understand the role and impacts of business policies, practice and performance in society with a particular focus on public policy interventions to address challenges of human development, persistent poverty and growing inequality. Areas of particular interest include, but are not limited to, a focus on lower income countries, implementation of environmental social and governance (ESG) principles, global supply chains, trade, migration, and human trafficking.

Competitive candidates for this professorship will have a scholarly track record with evidence of high-quality research as well as experience or interest in policy engagement on questions of social and economic development. Scholars with direct experience working on policy with governments, international organizations, or non-governmental organizations are encouraged to apply. The successful candidate is expected to participate in the Keough School in all dimensions of research, teaching, and service.

The professorship will be based in the Keough School (<https://keough.nd.edu>), which advances integral human development through research, policy and practice, transformative educational programs, and partnerships for global engagement. It promotes interdisciplinary research on critical issues in global affairs. The successful candidate will be appointed as an affiliated faculty member of Notre Dame's Lucy Family Institute (<https://lucyinstitute.nd.edu/>), which seeks to advance data innovation to help transform society and individual lives.

The Keough School is committed to fostering a culture of diverse views and approaches to Global Affairs. All applicants whose scholarly pursuits will enhance our ability to fulfill that commitment are encouraged to apply. Questions about the position can be directed to Tom Mustillo at tmustill@nd.edu. All applicants are required to submit a cover letter, C.V., and research statement summarizing examples of recent or ongoing research in the above areas of interest. Evidence of teaching effectiveness is also welcomed. Junior candidates should also arrange for the submission of three confidential letters of reference. All application materials must be submitted through the Interfolio/Notre Dame online application system: <http://apply.interfolio.com/122625>

The position will close on September 29, 2023 and review of applications will begin at that time.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 9/29/2023

Date Posted: 8/18/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12300

University of Notre Dame

Rank: Professor of Development Policy

Specializations: Developing Nations, Political Economy, Environmental Policy

The University of Notre Dame's Keough School of Global Affairs invites applicants for a tenured policy professorship (associate or full) focused in the area of development. The ideal candidate would have a strong research agenda focused on poverty and inequality in the context of low- and middle-income countries. Areas of particular interest include, but are not limited to, issues around climate change and environmental justice such as climate-induced migration, climate adaptation, just climate transitions, climate-resilient agriculture systems, equitable natural resource management, climate financing, and resource mobilization. For an accomplished senior candidate, an endowed chair would be considered.

Competitive candidates for this professorship will have a strong scholarly track record with evidence of high-quality research as well as substantial policy engagement in global and national discussions on development. Applicants should demonstrate evidence of prominence in their academic field and among development policymakers and practitioners. Scholars with direct experience working in development policy with international organizations, governments or non-governmental organizations are encouraged to apply. The search is open with respect to discipline and may include anthropology, demography, economics, geography, political science, psychology, public policy, sociology or related fields.

The successful candidate is expected to provide leadership in the Keough School in these areas across all dimensions of research, teaching, and service. The professorship will be based in the Keough School (<https://keough.nd.edu>), which advances integral human development through research, policy and practice, transformative educational programs, and partnerships for global engagement. It promotes interdisciplinary research on critical issues in global affairs.

The Keough School is committed to fostering a culture of diverse views and approaches to Global Affairs. All applicants whose scholarly pursuits will enhance our ability to fulfill that commitment are encouraged to apply. Questions about the position can be directed to Andrés Mejía Acosta at amejiaac@nd.edu. All applicants are required to submit a cover letter, C.V., and research statement summarizing examples of recent or ongoing research in the above areas of interest. Evidence of teaching effectiveness is also welcomed. All application materials must be submitted through the Interfolio/Notre Dame online application system: <http://apply.interfolio.com/121176>

The position will close on September 29, 2023 and review of applications will begin at that time.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 9/29/2023

Date Posted: 8/18/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12299

Amherst College

Rank: Visiting Assistant, Associate, or Full Professor of Political Science

Visiting Assistant, Associate, or Full Professor of Political Science

Amherst College: Faculty Search: Department of Political Science

Location

Amherst, MA

Open Date

Jul 06, 2023

Amherst College's Department of Political Science invites applications for a full-time, two-year visiting appointment in Middle Eastern politics at the rank of assistant, associate, or full professor, beginning on July 1, 2024. The successful candidate will demonstrate competence and sensitivity in working in a department in which students are broadly diverse with regard to gender, race, ethnicity, nationality, sexual identity, and religion. Teaching responsibilities include two courses per semester and supervision of senior honors projects. We are particularly interested in candidates who are specialists in a particular Middle Eastern country or who study the region as a whole, or the role of the Middle East in international affairs. We are seeking candidates with a broad range of interests, including resource conflicts; natural resource economy; comparative or international political economy of the area; human rights; religion, and politics; refugees and displacement; civil-military relations; political uprisings and social movements; and the Israeli-Palestinian conflict.

The position requires a Ph.D. Applicants are asked to submit electronically to <http://apply.interfolio.com/127839> a cover letter, addressed to Professor Austin Sarat; curriculum vitae; sample of their scholarship; and three confidential letters of recommendation. Review of applications will begin on September 15, 2023, and will continue until the position is filled.

Amherst College is a private undergraduate liberal arts college with 1,800 students and more than 200 faculty members. Located in the Connecticut River Valley of western Massachusetts, Amherst participates with Hampshire, Mount Holyoke, and Smith Colleges and the University of Massachusetts in the Five-College Consortium.

Amherst College is an equal opportunity employer and encourages persons of all genders, persons of color, and persons with disabilities to apply. The college is committed to enriching its educational experience and its culture through the diversity of its faculty, administration, and staff.

Start Date: Summer 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/17/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12102

University of Rochester

Rank: Tenure-Track Assistant Professor in Computational Social Science

The University of Rochester seeks applicants for a tenure-track assistant professor in computational social science. This will be a joint appointment between the Goergen Institute for Data Science (GIDS) and a tenure home department in Political Science, Economics, or Linguistics, depending on which best aligns with the applicant's research and teaching. Exceptional candidates in all areas of computational social science are encouraged to apply.

Applicants must have (or be about to receive) a doctorate in computer science, data science, operations research, applied mathematics, statistics, economics, linguistics, political science, or a related discipline. Candidates should have strong skills in computational social science and/or data analytics, as well as a research agenda that uses these methods to analyze substantive issues in political science, economics, or linguistics.

Teaching responsibilities for this position will be split between GIDS and the home department. The successful candidate will have the opportunity to supervise PhD, Master's, and undergraduate students at the home department and at GIDS.

All applications should include a letter of interest, curriculum vitae, research statement, teaching statement, and samples of written work. Candidates without a prior tenure-track appointment should include a graduate transcript. Applicants must also arrange for three letters of recommendation to be submitted online. The University of Rochester is firmly committed to advancing equity and fostering an inclusive and diverse community. We ask candidates to include a statement detailing their past work and future plans for achieving these goals.

Application materials should be submitted online at: www.rochester.edu/faculty-recruiting. We will begin reviewing applications on September 15, 2023. Applications will continue to be reviewed on a rolling basis until a candidate is hired or until February 1, 2024.

The Goergen Institute for Data Science (GIDS) was founded in 2015 as part of the University of Rochester's $100 million commitment to making data science its top research priority. The Institute serves as a hub for interdisciplinary data science research, interdepartmental data science academic programs, and collaborations with industry. GIDS is housed in the newly constructed Wegmans Hall, a brand-new, 58,000-square-foot building completed in 2017. The Institute offers Bachelor of Arts, Bachelor of Science, and Master of Science degrees, as well as an Advanced Graduate Certificate program in data science for professionals. A Doctoral degree in data science is undergoing the formal approval process, with a first cohort of students expected in 2024. Eighty-five faculty members from a variety of disciplines across the campus are affiliated with GIDS. Areas of expertise of these faculty members include foundations of AI and ML; health analytics and digital health; life sciences and biomedical data science; imaging science, visual science, and optics; human-data-system interfaces; AI-augmented learning and work; audio and music engineering; economics and business data analytics; computational social science; materials design; network data science; and robotics. With a unique structure, GIDS fosters industry engagement via the Center of Excellence (CoE) in Data Science. The CoE helps drive regional economic development through basic research, training, and technology development in all areas related to data science. The University of Rochester is a private, Tier I research institution with approximately 6,600 undergraduates and 5,500 graduate students. We are deeply committed to building a more diverse and representative faculty, and strongly encourage applications from groups underrepresented in STEM and in higher education. We are actively working to improve the environment for all underrepresented groups as we strive to weave diversity, equity, and inclusion throughout the University's mission to learn, discover, heal, and create. Anchoring the Finger Lakes region of Western New York State, the greater Rochester area is home to over a million people, and offers unsurpassed quality of life, with a thriving arts scene, excellent public schools, affordable housing, and a huge range of cultural and recreational opportunities.

<https://www.sas.rochester.edu/dsc/about/jobs.html>

Salary Range: $110,000.00 - $180,000.00

Start Date: Summer 2024

Application Deadline: 2/1/2024

Date Posted: 8/17/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12287

Northwestern University

Rank: Graduate Program Coordinator

APPLY HERE: [https://careers.northwestern.edu/psp/hr857prd_er/EMPLOYEE/HRMS/c/HRS_HRAM_FL.HRS_CG_SEARCH_FL.GBL?Page=HRS_APP_JBPST_FL&Action=U&SiteId=1&FOCUS=Applicant&JobOpeningId=48443&PostingSeq=1"](https://careers.northwestern.edu/psp/hr857prd_er/EMPLOYEE/HRMS/c/HRS_HRAM_FL.HRS_CG_SEARCH_FL.GBL?Page=HRS_APP_JBPST_FL&Action=U&SiteId=1&FOCUS=Applicant&JobOpeningId=48443&PostingSeq=1" target="_blank); target="_blankNorthwestern Job Board

<Department: WCAS Political Science

Salary/Grade: EXS/5

Job Summary:

Are you a motivated and organized individual with a passion for higher education and a drive to improve research, training, and professional outcomes for graduate workers in a diverse, interdisciplinary, and innovative setting? If so, we invite you to join the Political Science department at Northwestern University as the Graduate Program Coordinator. As a leading research-intensive university, we are dedicated to fostering an environment of innovation, discovery, and excellence in education. In this role, you will play a vital role in shaping the future of our graduate programs and contributing to the success of our students.

Under the general director of the department's business administrator, and in partnership with faculty and graduate student leadership, the Graduate Program Coordinator will collaborate with faculty, students, and administrative staff to ensure the smooth operation of our dynamic and diverse graduate programs. This role requires a proactive and detail-oriented individual who can effectively manage administrative tasks, provide outstanding student support, and contribute to the overall enhancement of the graduate student experience. The Graduate Program Coordinator manages graduate student services (including the development of curricular initiatives and special programs for members of the graduate program), manages graduate program administration (including advising graduate students regarding admissions, academic, and career and development matters, managing department budget for graduate affairs and working with the Director of Graduate Studies), and ensures graduate workers and faculty receive superior service.

Specific Responsibilities:

Administration

- Manages day to day operations.
- Ensures that program/project mission, values, guidelines, policies & procedures are implemented & maintained.
- Manages design and development of program databases; compiles & analyzes data; prepares reports.
- Reviews processes and recommends changes to incorporate state-of-the-art technology as appropriate into administrative, recruitment, marketing, and educational components.
- Identifies service improvement opportunities that will better enable program/project to achieve its goals and objectives.
- Acts as liaison to IT to ensure technology systems are properly installed & maintained.
- Proactively seeks and implements best practices and ensures each staff member is operating at his or her maximum potential including financial operations, faculty affairs, undergraduate program, and graduate program; Ensures that needs, activities, and programs of faculty and students are being fully supported by staff; and ensures the complex assembly of intellectual and educational activities are well coordinated and effectively carried out.

Budgets & Financial

- Participates in budget preparation.
- Maintains budget & associated analysis & reports.
- In partnership with the Finance coordinator, enters individual &/or summary of transactions into journals &/or general ledger or other NU enterprise system.
- Evaluate stipend and tuition awards: annual planning to stay within TGS budget; data entry; advise and consult with students on changes to quarterly funding plans; make adjustments based on external awards and grants to individual student funding plans; keep records of all stipend and tuition awards
- Review and approve Conference Travel Grants; advise students on grant application and distribution of funds
- Review and award Summer Program Grants; advise students on applications and projects, oversee distribution of funds
- Serve as program contact for all TGS grants, as well as internal and external fellowships and assistantships (collection of materials, submission, distribution of funds)
- Participates in determination of budget including fiscal resource allocation of appropriated, discretionary, endowment &/or gift revenues as it relates to academic programs.

Communication, Outreach & Recruitment

- Develops coordinated, consistent marketing and brand messages.
- Creates state-of-the-art website.
- Incorporates social media and networking into program/project aspects as appropriate.
- Strengthens partnerships with external resources by defining, promoting and marketing benefits of participation and involvement to the organization.
- Creates and nurtures relationships with organizations to develop a network of enthusiastic organizations engaged via active participation in the success of program/project.

Evaluation

- Coordinates the collection, analysis & reporting of required information for surveys, review documents, public information documents, etc.
- Analyzes evaluation data from instructors, students, participants, etc. to assist in program/project development and updates.
- Implements corrective actions required as a result of surveys or other indicators.
- Prepare reports annually showcasing outcomes related to admissions, recruitment results, academic and degree progress, career and placement, and other ad hoc reports as needed.

Events

- Coordinates programming, educational, student, alumni, workshops, meetings, etc. including speakers, agendas, etc.
- Develops plans and arranges meetings, workshops, events, etc. designed to exchange information, promote research objectives, and to build internal and external relationships within NU.
- In partnership with the Events and Communications coordinator, ensures that event details including communication, venues, presenters, travel arrangements, materials, refreshments and technology are arranged and completed in an appropriate and timely manner.

Program Development

- Manages program/project curriculum, seminars, presentations, workshops, learning experiences, chat rooms, websites, social networking, etc. based on goals/objectives.
- Manages academic quality and continued growth and expansion.
- Identifies & obtains external expertise as needed and works with content experts for current and new programs.
- Reviews programs/projects to increase efficiencies to support growth.
- Manages speaker selection, communication, and topic development.
- Leads program/project updates and improvements.

Regulatory Compliance

- Ensures compliance with all necessary organizations.
- Prepares documentation as required.

Strategic Planning

- Administers & maintains existing strategic plans.
- Participates with area/unit senior staff in the conceptualization, development and presentation of materials used in functional operations.

Student Support

- Advises students regarding admissions, academic, career and development matters.
- Implements strategy regarding structure, process, & staff support of students in compliance with NU policy.
- Resolves administrative issues (RAS forms, stipends, monitors fellowships, etc.)
- Organizes new student activities.

- Tracks data entry of grades into CAESAR, assuring faculty completes process by deadline.
- Provides administrative support to the Department Chair, Director of Graduate Studies, and other faculty graduate program leadership roles.
- Provide direct support to improve student-faculty advisor interaction. Discuss course plans and student progress with students and faculty advisors. Alert faculty advisors about student problems or issues requiring attention.
- Advise students facing academic probation, and develop functional strategies with faculty advisors to help students get back on track.
- Approve eligibility of students to advance through program milestones (e.g., to take comprehensive exams, hold a dissertation prospectus defense, and sit for dissertation defense).
- Organize periodic meetings and workshops on program requirements and milestones in collaboration with DGS and graduate student commune.
- Act as liaison between TGS and the department on data management: receive, review, and execute program changes in accordance with TGS data on probation, years to completion, and other general trends in the graduate program. Share department data with TGS with the goal of achieving the best outcomes for graduate students.
- Organize, facilitate and recommends changes to increase effectiveness and efficiency of admissions and recruitment
- Plans student events throughout the year and ensures all logistics are met.

Miscellaneous

- Performs other duties as assigned.

Minimum Qualifications

- Bachelor's in business, accounting or a related field + 1 year program administration or similar experience; or 3 years program administration or similar experience.

Minimum Competencies: (Skills, knowledge, and abilities.)

- Excellent interpersonal and communication skills, both oral and written.
- Ability to effectively explain and present complex information to diverse audiences;
- Ability to establish and maintain effective working relationships, and to handle the demands of multiple deadlines and interruptions;
- Excellent problem solving and follow-through and the ability to manage projects through to completion independently with little supervision.

Preferred Qualifications:

- Master's degree in Higher Education Administration or related field.
- Four to six years of experience working in an academic environment directly related to supporting education programs, including regular contact with students and faculty.
- Seven to ten years professional work experience;
- Experience with graduate students;
- Experience working with NU Financials and budgets;
- Experience appropriately handling confidential information (FERPA).

Preferred Competencies: (Skills, knowledge, and abilities)

- Skillful at problem solving and anticipating issues before they arise; Being receptive to feedback, willing to learn, embracing continuous improvement;

- Experience with data analysis and reporting (Excel, R, SQL, Python)

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/15/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12270

Brown University

Rank: Professor of Climate Policy and Social Science and International and Public Affairs

The Watson Institute for International and Public Affairs at Brown University invites applications for a faculty position in “climate change and social science” to begin in July 2024. We are seeking applicants whose research is solution-oriented, focusing on the transition to a low-carbon economy (mitigation) and/or adapting to unavoidable climate change. Research of interest includes, but is not limited to, topics such as the politics and political economy of decarbonization; climate-induced migration and displacement; environmental justice as it pertains to creating climate solutions; technology policy and climate change; the social, racial, and political aspects of economic transitions away from fossil fuels in the United States or elsewhere in the world; and international trade and finance in an age of climate change.

This faculty position will involve a joint appointment between the Watson Institute and a relevant tenure-granting disciplinary department at Brown. We welcome applicants with doctoral degrees from all relevant disciplines in the social sciences (e.g., Sociology, Political Science, Economics, Anthropology, History, Africana Studies, Public Policy). The Watson Institute is especially interested in qualified candidates who can contribute through their research, teaching, and service to the diversity and excellence of the academic community. Candidates from historically underrepresented groups in higher education are strongly encouraged to apply.

Candidates at all ranks are welcome. A successful senior candidate must have an outstanding record of scholarly achievement and a demonstrated commitment to undergraduate and graduate teaching and advising. A successful junior candidate must be engaged in a research program with the potential to influence their field, and a strong commitment to undergraduate and graduate teaching and advising.

Review of applications will begin on Sept. 24, 2023, but applications will be accepted until the position is filled. Junior candidates must have completed their PhD by the time of appointment.

All candidates should submit: 1) a cover letter describing research completed and planned, 2) a curriculum vitae, 3) a short writing sample, and 4) a teaching statement. In the teaching statement, the candidate should describe how they foster inclusive learning and diversity.

Senior candidates should include the names of five references whom the search committee can contact at an appropriate time. The list of references can be submitted via the “additional documents” field in Interfolio.

Junior candidates should have three letters of reference and their official graduate transcript uploaded to Interfolio at the time of the application. The confidential recommendation letters should be uploaded to Interfolio by the referee.

Brown University is committed to fostering a diverse and inclusive academic global community; as an EEO/AA employer, Brown considers applicants for employment without regard to, and does not discriminate on the basis of, gender, race, protected veteran status, disability, or any other legally protected status.

Apply here: <http://apply.interfolio.com/127027>

Start Date: Summer 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/14/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12266

Oklahoma State University

Rank: Assistant Professor

Assistant Professor: Environmental and/or Energy Politics

The Department of Political Science at Oklahoma State University invites applications for a tenure-track assistant professor position in environmental and/or energy politics to begin in August 2024. Competitive candidates will demonstrate the potential for a productive research agenda and an ability to teach and mentor both undergraduate and graduate students, effectively, at a leading, land-grant university. Preference will be given to candidates who can demonstrate a commitment to teaching courses with significant real-world applicability and experiential-learning opportunities. A Ph.D. in Political Science is expected at the time of appointment.

The teaching load for the successful candidate is two courses per semester. These offerings will be drawn from introductory political science sections, including American government, undergraduate and graduate seminars on public policy, and electives that reflect the candidate’s research expertise.

The department keeps the service load of new, assistant professors to a minimum and provides generous start-up funds and travel support. It also encourages collaborations on research, grant, and extension work with students and colleagues engaged in environment and energy-based projects across the university, including the College of Engineering, Architecture, and Technology (CEAT) and the Ferguson College of Agriculture.

Oklahoma State University is one of the state’s two comprehensive research universities. Its Stillwater campus has a population of over 23,000 students. The Department of Political Science is housed within the College of Arts and Sciences and offers B.S. and B.A. degrees, with degree options in campaigning, global politics, pre-law, and public policy. It also offers M.A. degrees in Politics and Policy Studies, as well as Peace, Conflict, and Security Studies. The department will give full consideration to applications received by October 1, 2023, but the search will continue until the position is filled.

Applicants can submit their materials through Interfolio <https://apply.interfolio.com/130026> to include the following items:

- letter of application, which should address their commitment to the education of all students, regardless of background
- vitae
- graduate transcripts; the department will accept unofficial transcripts as part of the initial application submission but will expect receipt of official transcripts before a candidate interviews on campus

- a list of three references; the department will expect receipt of recommendation letters from these three referees within one week of contacting candidates for a preliminary Zoom interview
- evidence of successful teaching and scholarship
- statements of teaching and research interests

Candidates may also address their perspectives on furthering the understanding of, and interest in, the challenges and opportunities facing all populations in their statements on teaching and research interests, as appropriate. The department is committed to promoting a welcoming and supportive culture in which all students, professors, and staff members feel that their contributions are valued. As such, the department seeks a rich and deep pool of applicants. Please, contact Dr. Howard Sanborn (howard.sanborn@okstate.edu) with any questions about this position. For more information about the department, please visit polsci.okstate.edu.

The department is committed to creating an inclusive space for our students, faculty, and staff and to teaching and mentoring our undergraduate and graduate scholars from various backgrounds. As such, the department seeks a diverse pool of applicants. Currently, 40 percent of our department's undergraduate student body is comprised of members of underrepresented racial/ethnic minority groups; women comprise 50 percent. Members of these groups are encouraged to apply.

Oklahoma State University, as an equal opportunity employer, complies with all applicable federal and state laws regarding non-discrimination and affirmative action. Oklahoma State University is committed to a policy of equal opportunity for all individuals and does not discriminate based on race, religion, age, sex, color, national origin, marital status, sexual orientation, gender identity/expression, disability, or veteran status with regard to employment, educational programs and activities, and/or admissions. For more information, visit <https://eeo.okstate.edu>. This position is contingent upon availability of funds.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 10/1/2023

Date Posted: 8/14/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12257

Stanford University

Rank: Hoover Fellow

2024 Hoover Fellow Position

Hoover Institution, Stanford University

Early-Career Scholars

The Hoover Institution at Stanford University seeks outstanding scholars for positions as a Hoover Fellow. The term of the appointment is five years and may be renewed.

During their Fellowship period, Hoover Fellows should publish scholarly articles and books that have implications for public policy. Hoover Fellows are also expected to contribute to the intellectual life of the Hoover Institution. There are no teaching responsibilities associated with this position. The 12-month base salary range for this position is $150,000 to $220,000.

Candidates must have a PhD or equivalent degree in a relevant field, including economics, history, international relations, national security, political science, and public policy, or expect to compete that degree by September 1st, 2024.

Hoover Fellows are encouraged to engage with Stanford's broader research community in their respective fields.

Submit:

- A cover letter or statement of interest that includes a description of academic background and experience
- One or more recent publications, working papers or draft book chapters.
- A curriculum vitae
- A statement about future research plans (two pages maximum)
- Three letters of recommendation that focus on the candidate's research and research potential.

Submit completed applications online at <https://applyhooverfellows.hoover.org/> by November 17, 2023.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 11/17/2023

Date Posted: 8/14/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12267

Harvard University

Rank: TENURE-TRACK PROFESSOR IN WOMEN, GENDER, AND SEXUALITY

Specializations: Women & Politics, Gender Politics & Policy, Lesbian & Gay Studies

TENURE-TRACK PROFESSOR IN WOMEN, GENDER, AND SEXUALITY

Harvard University

Faculty of Arts and Sciences

Committee on Degrees in Women, Gender, and Sexuality

Cambridge, MA

Position Description: The Committee on Degrees in Women, Gender, and Sexuality at Harvard University seeks to appoint a tenure-track assistant professor in Women, Gender, and Sexuality whose research focuses on gender in the global south. We seek scholars who will engage in interdisciplinary research, teaching, and advising, and who will contribute to the intellectual and administrative life of the Program. The appointment is expected to begin on July 1, 2024.

Basic Qualifications: Doctorate or terminal degree required by the time the appointment begins.

Additional Qualifications: Demonstrated excellence in teaching; experience advising and teaching diverse students.

Special Instructions: Please submit the following materials through the ARIeS portal

(<https://academicpositions.harvard.edu/postings/12619>) Candidates are encouraged to apply by September 15, 2023; applications will be reviewed until the position is filled.

1. Cover letter
2. Curriculum Vitae

3. Teaching/advising statement (describing teaching philosophy and practices)
4. Research statement
5. Statement describing efforts to encourage diversity, inclusion, and belonging, including past, current, and anticipated future contributions in these areas.
6. Names and contact information of 3-5 referees, who will be asked by a system-generated email to upload a letter of recommendation on behalf of long-listed candidates. Three letters of recommendation are required for further consideration at that time. At least one letter must come from someone who has not served as the candidate's undergraduate, graduate, or postdoctoral advisor.
7. One article or chapter, published or unpublished, that best represents the candidate's research, preferably no longer than 50 pages.

The health of our workforce is a priority for Harvard University. With that in mind, we strongly encourage all employees to be up-to-date on CDC-recommended vaccines.

Harvard is an equal opportunity employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, sex, gender identity, sexual orientation, religion, creed, national origin, ancestry, age, protected veteran status, disability, genetic information, military service, pregnancy and pregnancy-related conditions, or other protected status.

Contact Information: Professor Jocelyn Viterna, Chair of Women, Gender, and Sexuality Studies
Email: joeymfk@fas.harvard.edu

Start Date: Summer 2024

Application Deadline: 9/15/2023

Date Posted: 8/11/2023

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 12258

Columbia University

Rank: Lecturer in Discipline, DAQA

The School of International and Public Affairs at Columbia University in the City of New York invites applications for a full-time, non-tenure-track, renewable position of Lecturer in Discipline, to begin July 1, 2024.

Disciplinary specialization is open. Applications are encouraged from scholars working in computational social sciences and/or quantitative methodology for the social sciences, such as Applied Statistics, Computer Science, Econometrics and Political Methodology.

The successful candidate will contribute to teaching and intellectual leadership in the SIPA Data Analytics and Quantitative Analysis Curriculum at the master's level, and ideally engage with other SIPA and Columbia faculty to address one or more of the following global policy challenges:

democratic resilience; technology and innovation; geopolitical stability; inclusive prosperity and macroeconomic performance; climate and sustainable development.

Qualifications

Ph.D. required at the time of appointment. Candidates must have demonstrated record of accomplishment in teaching and in an appropriate field of research. Research interests should be policy-relevant.

Application Instructions

Applicants should upload a cover letter, curriculum vitae, letters of references (3), and a writing sample.

Please visit our online application site at: <https://apply.interfolio.com/129345> for further information about this position and to submit your application.

Screening of the candidates will begin immediately, and the search will remain open for at least 30 days from the day of posting and continue until filled. For further information, please contact Deirdre Brady, Senior Assistant Dean for Academic Affairs, at d.brady@columbia.edu.

Columbia University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer. SIPA is dedicated to the goal of building a culturally diverse and pluralistic faculty and staff committed to teaching and working in a diverse environment, and strongly encourages applications from women, minorities, individuals with disabilities, and veterans.

Start Date:

Date Posted: 8/9/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12243

Northwest Missouri State University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Criminology, Humanities & Social Science

PRIMARY DUTY: To teach lower division and upper division courses in Criminology and Criminal Justice and to coordinate and develop programs both on campus and online. Successful candidates will demonstrate a strong commitment to teaching within a comprehensive regional state university, engagement in student support and university service, and the promise of scholarly achievement.

ESSENTIAL FUNCTIONS:

1. Ability to teach lower division and upper division courses on campus and online in Criminology and Criminal Justice (4-4 load)
2. Ability to use multiple delivery systems, including blended, online, and distant learning formats.
3. Advise students in undergraduate course programs and in applications for graduate programs and employment opportunities.
4. Ability to work with diverse populations or completed coursework demonstrating understanding of diverse populations.
5. Familiarity with developing academic programs
6. Scholarly research in academic field
7. Experience in any area of the criminology and criminal justice fields
8. Department service, including student organization assistance and sponsorship
9. University service, including committee work
10. Other duties as assigned.

REQUIREMENTS:

Education: PhD in Criminology, Criminal Justice, or related field

Experience: Successful teaching experience at college level preferred

Skills: teaching ability in Criminology & Criminal Justice as well as scholarly research in the field

WORKING CONDITIONS: The position entails classroom instruction in upper and lower division courses in classes typically ranging from 15 to 60 students. Faculty maintain regular office hours within the department area to support students.

EQUIPMENT/MATERIALS USED: Faculty are issued a personal laptop with a Microsoft software suite. Classrooms are technology-enhanced (document stations, video equipment, Internet access).

TYPICAL PHYSICAL DEMANDS: Ability to meet essential classroom functions

COMMUNITY: Northwest Missouri State University is located in Maryville, Missouri, a community of 12,000 with a diverse economy and a strong industrial base. Maryville is located 45 miles north of St. Joseph, Missouri, 90 miles north of Kansas City, Missouri, and 110 miles southeast of Omaha, Nebraska. For more information visit the city's website at www.maryville.org.

UNIVERSITY: With an enrollment of about 8,000 students, Northwest is a coeducational, primarily residential four-year university that offers a broad range of undergraduate and selected graduate programs on its Maryville campus as well as its Northwest-Kansas City location at the Northland Innovation Center and through Northwest Online.

Founded in 1905, Northwest places a high emphasis on profession-based learning to help graduates get a jumpstart on their careers. Students have opportunities to build their résumés with experiences on campus in nearly every area of study, including the Horace Mann Laboratory School, National Public Radio affiliate KXCV, the R.T. Wright Farm, Mazingo Outdoor Education Recreation Area or Knacktive, a student-driven integrated digital marketing communications agency.

The University is a national model for student success and career placement. In addition, 98 percent of Northwest bachelor's degree earners and nearly 100 percent of master's degree earners secure employment or continue their education within six months of graduation, according to the most recent data.

Furthermore, its vibrant and diverse learning community offers more than 150 student organizations, and textbooks and a laptop are included in tuition, which is among the lowest in the nation, saving students an estimated $6,800 over four years. Northwest also offers 1,200 student employment positions, allowing students to build professional skills through its internationally benchmarked student employment program. Designated the Missouri Arboretum, the Northwest campus was named one of the "50 Most Amazing University Botanical Gardens and Arboretums in the U.S."

For more information about Northwest and its performance, visit www.nwmissouri.edu.

APPLICATION DEADLINE: Until filled

DATE AVAILABLE: January 3, 2024

TO APPLY: Please fill out a Northwest application online by clicking <https://www.schooljobs.com/careers/nwmissouri> to reach our employment opportunities listing. You will also need to submit the application materials below in order for your application materials to be complete. Please contact the Office of Human Resources at 660-562-1127 or email bbadger@nwmissouri.edu for more information.

INQUIRIES FOR THE POSITION CAN BE MADE TO:

Dr. Jessica Gracey
Chair, Department of Humanities and Social Sciences
800 University Drive
Northwest Missouri State University

Maryville, Missouri 64468 660-562-1051
jessicag@nwmissouri.edu

Start Date:

Date Posted: 8/8/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12232

Johns Hopkins University

Rank: Associate Director, new interdisciplinary undergraduate major, Moral and Political Economy

Subfield(s): Political Theory, American Government and Politics, Other

The Center for Economy and Society, a division of the SNF Agora Institute at Johns Hopkins University, invites applications for Associate Director of its new interdisciplinary undergraduate major, Moral and Political Economy, with an anticipated start date on or before July 1, 2024. The Associate Director will direct the senior thesis seminar, advise undergraduates in the major, work closely with the Director and the Faculty Advisory Board in developing and overseeing the curriculum, and participate actively in the intellectual life of the Center. Candidates are expected to have a PhD in hand at the time of application in Anthropology, Economics, History, Philosophy, Political Science, Sociology, or cognate fields, and substantial teaching experience on themes related to moral and political economy. Please submit a cover letter, CV, an article-length writing sample, and a teaching portfolio (including a teaching statement, evaluations, and past syllabi) online via Interfolio at <http://apply.interfolio.com/128845>. Review of applications will begin on October 20, 2023, and will continue until the position is filled.

Johns Hopkins University is committed to active recruitment of a diverse faculty and student body. The University is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer of women, minorities, protected veterans and individuals with disabilities and encourages applications from these and other protected group members. Consistent with the University's goals of achieving excellence in all areas, we will assess the comprehensive qualifications of each applicant.

Start Date: Summer 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/4/2023

Salary: $80,000 - $89,999

eJobs ID: 12211

London School of Economics

Rank: Assistant Professor in International Relations Theory

Based in the Department of International Relations, the post holder will contribute to the intellectual life of the School through conducting and publishing outstanding quality research, engaging in high quality teaching as instructed by the Head of Department, and participating in the School and wider Department activities.

All candidates must have expertise and research interests in International Relations Theory or International Relations, and ideally in the areas of race, Indigeneity, postcolonialism or decoloniality. They must show a clear and viable strategy for future top-quality research. The successful candidate must be able to teach undergraduate and postgraduate courses on International Relations Theory and International Relations.

Candidates will need a completed PhD, or be close to obtaining one, in International Relations, Political Science, or a related field by 2 September 2024. Candidates should also have a proven or developing record of publications in refereed international journals or with highly-respected book publishers based on research that is, or has the potential to be, internationally-excellent and, ideally, world-leading in terms of originality, significance and rigour.

The Department is committed to promoting diversity in the field of International Relations, by fostering and supporting new generations of scholars from diverse backgrounds, by teaching an innovative, inclusive and diverse curriculum, and by supporting an inclusive departmental research culture. To that end, a candidate's cover letter must include a 300-word statement on how they incorporate diversity in their teaching and professional practice.

In addition to a competitive salary the benefits that come with this job include an occupational pension scheme, a research incentive scheme with personal reward options, generous research leave (sabbatical) entitlement, a collegial faculty environment and excellent support, training and development opportunities.

The post will start on 2 September 2024.

To view the job description, person specification and details on how to apply, please visit:

<https://jobs.lse.ac.uk/Vacancies/W/1870/0/400119/15539/assistant-professor-in-international-relations-theory>

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 9/10/2023

Date Posted: 8/2/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12198

University of Toronto

Rank: Associate Professor / Professor and Munk-Trinity Chair in International Relations & Global Economics

The Munk School of Global Affairs & Public Policy in the Faculty of Arts & Science at the University of Toronto invites applications for a full-time tenure stream position in the area of International Relations & Global Economics. The appointment will be at the rank of Associate Professor or Professor, with an expected start date of July 1, 2024, or shortly thereafter. The successful candidate may be appointed as the endowed Munk-Trinity Chair in International Relations & Global Economics for a five-year term.

Applicants must have earned a Ph.D. in any social sciences or humanities field and have demonstrated expertise relating to Global Economics, with a clearly demonstrated exceptional record of excellence in research and teaching. The Munk School seeks a scholar whose research and teaching interests complement and enhance one or more of our existing strengths, which include the Future of Democratic Societies, the Changing World Order, the Political Economy of Innovation, and the Digital World. Candidates will have an established international reputation and will be expected to sustain and lead innovative and independent research at the highest international level and to maintain an outstanding, competitive, externally funded research program. The Committee especially welcomes candidates whose work focuses on macroeconomics, international political economy, global finance and global economic migration.

Candidates must provide evidence of research excellence which can be demonstrated by a record of sustained high-impact contributions and publications in top-ranked disciplinary and/or field-relevant academic journals or academic presses, the submitted research statement, presentations at significant conferences, distinguished awards and accolades, other noteworthy activities that contribute to the visibility and prominence of the field, as well as strong endorsements from referees of high standing.

Evidence of excellence in teaching will be demonstrated through teaching accomplishments, through the teaching dossier submitted as part of the application including a teaching statement, sample course materials, teaching evaluations, and through endorsements of teaching in the letters of reference.

Candidates are also expected to show evidence of a commitment to equity, diversity, inclusion, and the promotion of a respectful and collegial learning and working environment demonstrated through the application materials.

The successful candidate will teach undergraduate and graduate courses, including in the Munk School's professional graduate programs (the Master of Global Affairs and the Master of Public Policy) to students from a wide range of academic backgrounds and interests and will also expand teaching capacity in Trinity College. The successful candidate will have experience or demonstrable interest in a professional school and/or in an interdisciplinary environment.

Salary and rank will be commensurate with qualifications and experience.

For more information about the Munk School of Global Affairs & Public Policy at the University of Toronto St. George campus, please visit our home page at <https://munkschool.utoronto.ca/>.

All qualified candidates are invited to apply online by clicking the link below. Applicants must submit a cover letter; curriculum vitae; writing sample; teaching dossier (including a teaching statement and sample course materials and teaching evaluations); and a research statement outlining current and future research interests. We seek candidates who value diversity and whose research, teaching and service bear out our commitment to equity. Candidates are therefore also asked to submit a 1-2 page statement of contributions to equity and diversity, which might cover topics such as (but not limited to): research or teaching that incorporates a focus on underrepresented communities, the development of inclusive pedagogies, or the mentoring of students from underrepresented groups.

Applicants must provide the name and contact information of three references. The University of Toronto's recruiting tool will automatically solicit and collect letters of reference from each after an application is submitted (this happens overnight). Applicants remain responsible for ensuring that references submit letters (on letterhead, dated and signed) by the closing date. More details on the automatic reference letter collection, including timelines, are available in the candidate FAQ.

Submission guidelines can be found at <http://uoft.me/how-to-apply>. Your CV and cover letter should be uploaded into the dedicated fields. Please combine additional application materials into one or two files in the PDF/MS Word format. If you have any questions about this position, please contact munkschool.academic@utoronto.ca.

All application materials, including reference letters, must be received by September 14, 2023.

All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply; however, Canadians and permanent residents will be given priority.

Diversity Statement

The University of Toronto embraces Diversity and is building a culture of belonging that increases our capacity to effectively address and serve the interests of our global community. We strongly encourage applications from Indigenous Peoples, Black and racialized persons, women, persons with disabilities, and people of diverse sexual and gender identities. We value applicants who have demonstrated a commitment to equity, diversity and inclusion and recognize that diverse perspectives, experiences, and expertise are essential to strengthening our academic mission.

As part of your application, you will be asked to complete a brief Diversity Survey. This survey is voluntary. Any information directly related to you is confidential and cannot be accessed by search committees or human resources staff. Results will be aggregated for institutional planning purposes. For more information, please see <http://uoft.me/UP>.

Accessibility Statement

The University strives to be an equitable and inclusive community, and proactively seeks to increase diversity among its community members. Our values regarding equity and diversity are linked with our unwavering commitment to excellence in the pursuit of our academic mission.

The University is committed to the principles of the Accessibility for Ontarians with Disabilities Act (AODA). As such, we strive to make our recruitment, assessment and selection processes as accessible as possible and provide accommodations as required for applicants with disabilities.

If you require any accommodations at any point during the application and hiring process, please contact uoft.careers@utoronto.ca.

To apply please click here. (<https://jobs.utoronto.ca/job/Toronto-Associate-ProfessorProfessor-and-Munk-Trinity-Chair-in-International-Relations-&-Global-Economics-ON/572613117/>)

Start Date: Summer 2024

Application Deadline: 9/14/2023

Date Posted: 8/2/2023

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 12189

Occidental College

Rank: Assistant Professor of Latino/a and Latin American Studies
Subfield(s): Other, Other, Other

The Latino/a and Latin American Studies Department at Occidental College invites applicants for a tenure-track Assistant Professor with expertise on Central America (20th & 21st centuries) to begin Fall 2024.

Position

The Latino/a and Latin American Studies Department at Occidental College invites applicants trained in a social science for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position. Candidates must have expertise in Central America (20th & 21st centuries). The successful candidate will have the demonstrated expertise to teach classes on i) the major social-economic and political dynamics of Central American countries (20th and 21st c); ii) a yearly (or by-yearly) class on qualitative social science methods; iii) one or two yearly classes in the College's First Year Seminar program. It would be ideal (but not a requirement) if the successful candidate could also teach a class on iv) the de facto refugee experiences of Central Americans in the U.S. (or in transit). In addition to teaching five classes per year, the successful candidate is expected to advise students, carry out research, and provide departmental and college wide service. You will also be responsible for producing scholarship commensurate with the requirements for tenure and promotion. Occidental College is committed to academic excellence in a diverse community and strongly encourages applications from candidates committed to the College's mission of equity, excellence, community, and service.

Required Qualifications

? Applicants should have training and expertise in relevant areas of Politics, or International Relations, Sociology or Latin American Studies, and should hold a PhD at the time of appointment.

? Demonstrated commitment to undergraduate teaching.

? A strong record of scholarly accomplishments appropriate to the level of appointment

? Demonstrated commitment to working effectively with students from minoritized and marginalized social groups.

? Potential for balance teaching, scholarship and service

Expected Salary Range: $84,500- $96,000

Application Submission Materials

You must submit a complete application package electronically to be considered. To apply, please visit apply.interfolio.com/129357

? Cover Letter in which you respond to the required qualifications

? Curriculum Vitae

? Research Statement

? Teaching Philosophy Statement

? Commitment to Inclusive Excellence Statement: This statement provides your unique perspective on your past and present contributions to and future aspirations for promoting justice, equity, inclusion, and diversity in your professional career. This should include your demonstrated commitment to, past evidence of, and future plans for creating equitable opportunities for learning and mentoring especially for students from marginalized and minoritized groups. The purpose of this statement is to help the department identify candidates who have professional experience, intellectual commitments, and/or willingness to engage in activities that could help the College contribute to its mission in these areas.

? List of three references with relevant contact information. If you advance to the finalist phase, you will be asked to have each of your three references submit a letter of recommendation. Please have these ready for the referents to submit should you move forward to this phase of the search. Do not submit these letters with your initial application.

Please direct all questions about the position to: Dolores Trevizo dtrevizo@oxy.edu

Application Deadline

To be assured full consideration, your application materials must be received by November 1, 2023.

The Latino/a and Latin American Studies (LLAS) major offers an interdisciplinary approach to the study of the societies and cultures of Latin America and the Latino and Chicano experience in the United States. By extending the study of 'Latin America' beyond the geopolitical borders of the region to include the Caribbean and the United States, the major emphasizes the importance of migrations, interethnic interactions, and cultural exchanges of Indigenous, European, African, and Asian peoples throughout the Americas. The LLAS program engages students with a variety of perspectives on the socio-political complexities and cultural traditions of the Americas, and the historical development of unique regional societies and cultures. The transnational perspective of our curriculum distinguishes the LLAS major from more traditional area studies programs.

Occidental College is committed to academic excellence in a diverse community and to supporting interdisciplinary and multicultural academic programs that provide a gifted and diverse group of students with an educational experience that prepares them for leadership in a pluralistic world. We strongly encourage applications from candidates who will further Occidental's mission of excellence and equity in their teaching, scholarship, and service. Occidental is an Equal Opportunity Employer and does not unlawfully discriminate against employees or applicants on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, gender expression, pregnancy, breastfeeding or related medical condition, national origin, ancestry, citizenship, age, marital status, physical disability, mental disability, medical condition, genetic characteristic or information, military and veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by state or federal law.

Occidental is strongly committed to increasing the diversity of the campus community and the curriculum, and to fostering an inclusive, equitable, and just environment within which students, staff, administrators, and faculty thrive. Candidates who can contribute to this goal through their teaching, research, advising, and other activities are encouraged to identify their strengths and experiences in this area. Individuals advancing the College's strategic equity and justice goals and those from groups whose underrepresentation in the American professoriate has been severe and longstanding are particularly encouraged to apply.

Salary is commensurate with experience and qualifications. Moving expense reimbursement (up to $5000, taxable according to current IRS regulations), start-up funds, and a one-course reduction of teaching load in the first year are provided. A comprehensive benefits package is available that includes: excellent health, dental, life, and retirement benefits; tuition benefits for the employee, spouse, domestic partner, and dependents; additional extras including use of gym facilities and the College Library. For a detailed description of benefits, please visit <https://www.oxy.edu/offices-services/human-resources/benefits-information>.

All qualified applicants will be considered for employment, including those with criminal histories, in a manner consistent with the requirements of applicable state and local laws, including the City of Los Angeles' Fair Chance Initiative for Hiring Ordinance.

Occidental College is committed to working with and providing reasonable accommodations to applicants with qualifying disabilities. If you need a reasonable accommodation because of a disability for any part of the application or employment process, please contact HumanResources (hr@oxy.edu).

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 11/1/2023

Date Posted: 8/1/2023

Salary: $80,000 - $89,999

eJobs ID: 12193

Johns Hopkins University

Rank: Associate Program Director, Nonprofit Management

Subfield(s): Administration, Public Administration, Other

Associate Program Director Lecturer/Sr. Lecturer, Nonprofit Management

Johns Hopkins University: Zanvyl Krieger School of Arts and Sciences: Advanced Academic Programs

Apply here: <https://apply.interfolio.com/129081>

Location

Washington, DC or Remote

Open Date

Jul 27, 2023

Description

POSITION:

Associate Program Director, Nonprofit Management

Krieger School of Arts & Sciences

Advanced Academic Programs

REPORT TO:

Program Director, Public Management

INSTITUTION:

Johns Hopkins University

Position Description:

The Johns Hopkins University invites applications for Associate Program Director, Nonprofit Management in the Advanced Academic Programs' (AAP) Center for Data Analytics, Policy, and Government, a division of the Krieger School of Arts & Sciences. The Associate Program Director will report to the Director of the Public Management Program. The Johns Hopkins University is committed to hiring candidates who, through their teaching and service, will contribute to the diversity and excellence of the academic community.

The Center seeks to hire an innovative and forward-thinking individual to manage the online MA in Nonprofit Management program. This faculty member will also work collaboratively with other Center faculty to set goals and direction in its pursuit of teaching excellence. This is a full-time, non-tenure-track, 12-month renewable faculty position with the academic title of Lecturer or Senior Lecturer.

Advanced Academic Programs:

AAP offers rigorous and high-quality master's degrees and certificates in three locations: the Washington, DC Center, the Homewood campus in Baltimore, MD, and online. AAP enrolls almost 6,000 students each academic year in over 45 programs and distinguishes itself through its intensive instructional assistance, selective admissions, and over 60 dedicated full-time faculty. Tenured Krieger School faculty members serve as Program Chairs and oversee the academic rigor of AAP programs and courses. AAP's website, <http://advanced.jhu.edu/>, provides additional information.

Academic Responsibilities:

- Teach 4 graduate courses per year, including preparation and time spent in the classroom (online), using best practices for teaching, engaging, and mentoring students from diverse backgrounds in the learning process, and responding to student questions
- Advise students, including both program and research/capstone advising
- Provide innovative leadership for curriculum design and new course development to ensure the delivery and growth of a quality program
- Other academic duties normally performed by full-time faculty, such as participating on committees, attending academic events, or contributing to other academic service

Administrative Responsibilities:

- Work with the Program Director and Center Director to hire, mentor, and evaluate adjunct faculty
- Oversee the program's admissions process, including reviewing and approving prospective students' admissions materials
- Provide overall supervision for the Nonprofit Management program
- Schedule courses and set teaching assignments throughout the year
- Host events for current and prospective students

Qualifications:

The Associate Program Director's role is critical to maintaining the overall high quality of this program. The Associate Program Director must have a passion for education and its power to change lives, especially for part-time and non-residential students. A track record of building and managing successful onsite and online education programs, and skills in instructional design, content development, and instructional technologies, are important. Candidates who have experience teaching and engaging students from diverse backgrounds are of particular interest.

Minimum Qualifications:

- PhD in Nonprofit Management, Management, Administration, or a related field
- One to three years of higher education teaching experience online and/or at the graduate level
- One to three years of experience at the Assistant Director level, or equivalent administrative experience
- Ability to teach a variety of courses in the nonprofit management field
- Excellent oral and written communication skills
- Strong organizational

Preferred Qualifications:

- Four or more years of higher education teaching experience online and/or at the graduate level
- Professional work experience in the nonprofit management field
- Demonstrated track record of excellence in teaching and innovation in curriculum design
- The ability to work independently in a fast-paced environment with competing demands and multiple deadlines
- Experience managing a degree or certificate program

Application Instructions:

The position will remain open until it is filled. Candidates must submit the following:

- Cover letter
- Curriculum vitae
- Teaching evaluations for the two most recent semesters taught

The selected candidate will undergo a background check, provide three references, and official transcripts for each credential.

Application Process

This institution is using Interfolio's Faculty Search to conduct this search. Applicants to this position receive a free Dossier account and can send all application materials, including confidential letters of recommendation, free of charge: <https://apply.interfolio.com/129081>

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/31/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12179

Western Carolina University

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Emergency and Disaster Management Program within the Department of Criminology & Criminal Justice is seeking two faculty members at the rank of Assistant Professor, beginning August 1, 2024. These are nine-month positions with summer teaching possibilities and are for our residential program with some likely online teaching responsibilities. Salary is commensurate with qualifications and experience. Responsibilities include teaching, research, and service.

Candidates must have a Ph.D. in Emergency and Disaster Management, Criminology/Criminal Justice, Public Administration, Sociology, Urban Planning or other discipline closely related to the field of Emergency & Disaster Management. Highly qualified ABD candidates will be considered if completion of the degree is imminent. Candidates must have a clearly articulated research agenda in Emergency & Disaster Management and a commitment of academic excellence and collegiality

The Emergency and Disaster Program has an established record of engaging students through undergraduate research and experiential learning and is consistently ranked as one of the best undergraduate programs in the nation. The ideal candidate will have an interest in contributing to these efforts and have a firm foundation to teach a range of emergency and disaster management courses.

Application Process:

Application materials must be submitted online to Western Carolina University Human Resources Portal at <http://jobs.wcu.edu>. Candidates should submit an online candidate profile, cover letter, curriculum vitae, statement of research interests, unofficial transcripts, evidence of teaching experience/philosophy, and contact information for three current references.

Review of applications will begin September 15th and continue until the position is filled.

Contact:

Inquiries may be directed to Committee Chair and EDM Director Dr. Lisa Briggs at lbriggs@wcu.edu or 828.227.2180.

About WCU:

Western Carolina University is the UNC system's westernmost campus and has been consistently ranked as one of the Top 15 public regional institutions in the South. WCU's main campus sits in the beautiful mountains of Western, North Carolina, near the Great Smoky and Blue Ridge mountains, fifty-two miles west of Asheville. WCU's location in the rural mountains amidst incredible biodiversity and unique communities creates an opportunity for academic discovery service and is a haven for outdoor enthusiasts. The campus covers approximately 600 acres, with a student body population of over 11,500. Please go to <https://www.wcu.edu> for more information.

The Western Carolina University Annual Safety Report can be found at <https://www.wcu.edu/WebFiles/2022ASFSR.pdf> or in hard-copy by request at the office of the Vice Chancellor for Student Affairs, 114 Scott, Cullowhee, NC 28723 (828.227.7234) or the Office of University Police, 111 Camp Annex, Cullowhee, NC 28723 (828.227.7301).

Persons with disabilities requiring accommodations in the application and interview process please call 828.227.7218 or email at <http://jobs.wcu.edu>.

Start Date: Summer 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/26/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12147

S. Rajaratnam School of International Studies

Rank: Assistant or Associate Professor in Strategic Studies / International Relations (Tenure-Track/Tenured)

Subfield(s): International Relations, Open, Other

S. Rajaratnam School of International Studies

Assistant or Associate Professor in Strategic Studies / International Relations (Tenure-Track/Tenured)

The S. Rajaratnam School of International Studies (RSIS) at Nanyang Technological University, Singapore, is seeking to appoint Assistant or Associate Professor in Strategic Studies (2 positions) and Assistant or Associate Professor in International Relations (1 position). Applications are welcome from both early career and established scholars. We are open regarding specific areas of research and teaching specialisation. As the School has previously recruited experts in international relations of China and South Asia, it does not require experts in these areas at the moment.

The successful candidates will be expected to be conceptually and empirically grounded in their own areas of specialisations; to demonstrate an active research and publication agenda; to teach, supervise, and examine in either Strategic Studies or International Relations at the graduate level; to contribute to the administrative work of the School; and to provide teaching and pastoral support to students.

A relevant PhD and a good publication record commensurate with the level of appointment are essential requirements. Candidates must submit evidence of demonstrated excellence in teaching. If successful, the candidate will teach up to 3 courses per year, including one core course for either the MSc in Strategic Studies (Analysis of Defence and Security Policies or Evolution of Strategic Thought) or MSc in International Relations (Study of International Relations) programme depending on their specialisation.

To apply for this position, candidates are required to submit their application via Nanyang Technological University's online application system, click on this link to access - https://ntu.wd3.myworkdayjobs.com/Careers/job/NTU-Main-Campus-Singapore/Assistant-or-Associate-Professor-in-Strategic-Studies---International-Relations---Tenure-Track-Tenured---RSIS--_R00013946

All applicants should submit the following:

1. A cover letter specifying how your qualifications match the job description;
2. A detailed curriculum vitae (including records of competitive grants, fellowships, and graduate supervision, if applicable);
3. Statements of research and teaching interests and teaching evaluation;
4. Three (3) published articles or writing samples;
5. Google Scholar citation report if available;

Applicants applying for the Assistant Professor position, please include the name and details of THREE referees of the rank of Associate Professor/Professor; and applicants applying for the Associate Professor position, please include the name and details of FOUR referees of the rank of Professor.

If you have any questions about this position, please write in (or email) to:

The Search Committee
S. Rajaratnam School of International Studies
Nanyang Technological University
50 Nanyang Avenue
Block S4, Level B4,
Singapore 639798
Email: rsisrecruitment@ntu.edu.sg

Applications will close on 15 November 2023.

We regret that only shortlisted candidates will be notified.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 11/15/2023

Date Posted: 7/25/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12143

San Diego State University

Rank: Politics of East Asia

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Other

The Political Science Department at San Diego State University invites applications for a tenure-track position in East Asian Politics at the rank of Assistant Professor, to begin Fall 2024. Applicants should demonstrate a well-developed research agenda, a promise of sustained scholarship, and a record of effective teaching.

Qualifications

The department seeks a scholar with research and teaching expertise in the politics of East Asia, broadly understood to encompass North-east and Southeast Asia. We are open to applications from scholars in both comparative politics and international relations whose research is focused on one or more countries in the region. The successful candidate's research may focus on any of a range of substantive topics – including but not limited to, democratization, political economy, state-society relations, and foreign policy – and should demonstrate a capacity to engage with normative issues underlying critical debates in the field. The candidate would be expected to work closely with the program on International Security and Conflict Resolution and the Center for Asian & Pacific Studies. The department is open to a diversity of theoretical and methodological approaches.

The Political Science Department at San Diego State is dedicated to the ideal of the engaged teacher-scholar. It has over 600 undergraduate majors and provides course offerings for students with a wide variety of backgrounds and interests. At the graduate level, the department maintains an M.A. program of high quality. The members of the faculty share a strong commitment to collegiality, active participation in the governing of the department, innovative scholarship, methodological pluralism, rigorous teaching, and robust intellectual and normative engagement. Candidates are encouraged to consult the department website: <http://politicalscience.sdsu.edu>.

We are seeking applicants with demonstrated experience in and/or commitment to teaching and working effectively with individuals from diverse backgrounds and members of underrepresented groups. Candidates must satisfy two or more of the eight Building on Inclusive Excellence (BIE) criteria. Candidates that meet BIE criteria: (a) are committed to engaging in service with underrepresented populations within the discipline, (b) have demonstrated knowledge of barriers for underrepresented students and faculty within the discipline, (c) have experience or have demonstrated commitment to teaching and mentoring underrepresented students, (d) have experience or have demonstrated commitment to integrating understanding of underrepresented populations and communities into research, (e) have experience in or have demonstrated commitment to extending knowledge of opportunities and challenges in achieving artistic/scholarly success to members of an underrepresented group, (f) have experience in or have demonstrated commitment to research that engages underrepresented communities, (g) have expertise or demonstrated commitment to developing expertise in cross-cultural communication and collaboration, and/or (h) have research interests that contribute to diversity and equal opportunity in higher education. Please indicate in a separate diversity statement how you meet at least two (2) of these criteria. Additional guidance on our BIE program for applicants is here.

SDSU is the oldest institution of higher education in the San Diego region, with a campus in San Diego serving 36,000 undergraduate and graduate students and additional locations in Southern California's Imperial Valley and Tbilisi in the Republic of Georgia. SDSU is included in the Carnegie Foundation's Doctoral Universities: High Research Activity category. Established in 1897, SDSU offers bachelor degrees in 97 areas, masters in 84 and doctorates in 23. See <http://www.sdsu.edu> for more information. SDSU is a large, diverse, urban university, an Asian-Native American-Pacific Islander-Serving Institution and a Hispanic-Serving Institution with a commitment to diversity, equity, and inclusive excellence. Our campus community is diverse in many ways, including race, religion, color, sex, age, disability, marital status, sexual orientation, gender identity and expression, national origin, pregnancy, medical condition, and covered veteran status. We strive to build and sustain a welcoming environment for all.

Application Instructions

Applicants must apply via Interfolio at <http://apply.interfolio.com/127871>. A completed file includes a letter of interest, a curriculum vitae, graduate transcripts, complete teaching evaluations (quantitative evaluations and complete sets of qualitative evaluations of recent courses), sample syllabi, academic writing samples, diversity statement, and three letters of recommendation. To ensure full consideration, submit all materials by September 21st, 2023. Screening of applications will begin then. Applicants who will have completed the Ph.D. by the start of the term of appointment will be given priority. Those without a Ph.D. in-hand should include in their letter of interest a statement of progress on the dissertation and reasons to expect completion in a timely fashion.

Further inquiries should be addressed to Farid Abdel-Nour, Chair of the Department of Political Science, at abdelnou@sdsu.edu.

The minimum salary for this position is based on the current CSU salary schedule for Assistant Professors and may be revised based on contract collective bargaining. The anticipated salary range is from $79,000 to $83,000. Salary placement will be based on the selected candidate's qualifications and experience, and salaries higher than the published maximums may be offered in limited circumstances. San Diego State University offers a rich benefits package that constitutes a major portion of total compensation. For benefits information, click here.

As part of its commitment to a safe and equitable "OneSDSU" community, SDSU requires that individuals seeking faculty employment provide at the time of application authorization to conduct background checks if they become a finalist for the position; applications without this authorization will be considered incomplete and not considered.

A background check (including a criminal records check) must be completed before any candidate can be offered a position with the CSU. Failure to satisfactorily complete the background check may affect the application status of applicants or continued employment of current CSU employees who apply for the position.

The person holding this position is considered a "mandated reporter" under the California Child Abuse and Neglect Reporting Act and is required to comply with the requirements set forth in CSU Executive Order 1083 as a condition of employment.

Equal Employment Opportunity Statement

SDSU is a Title IX, equal opportunity employer and does not discriminate against persons on the basis of race, religion, national origin, sexual orientation, gender, gender identity and expression, marital status, age, disability, pregnancy, medical condition, or covered veteran status.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 9/21/2023

Date Posted: 7/24/2023

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 12136

University of Michigan

Rank: Lama Shetzer Professorship in Contemporary Jewish Life

The Frankel Center for Judaic Studies at the University of Michigan invites applications for the Lama Shetzer Professorship in Contemporary Jewish Life. Successful candidates will be appointed at the rank of tenure-track Assistant Professor or tenured Associate Professor. This is a university-year appointment with an expected start date of August 26, 2024.

We invite scholars whose research and teaching engages the complexity of Jewish identities, experiences, and practices in the contemporary world. Scholars whose work draws on social science theories and methods (including, but not limited to, anthropology, sociology, political thought, ethics, and media & communication studies) are particularly encouraged to apply.

Candidates should demonstrate outstanding scholarly achievement as well as excellence in teaching and mentorship. They will also be expected to contribute to the Frankel Center's public outreach efforts and participate in cross-departmental initiatives and collaborations.

A completed Ph. D. is required by the time of appointment. Application review begins on September 18, 2023 and will continue until an appointment is made.

All application materials should be submitted online through Interfolio <http://apply.interfolio.com/127450>. Materials should include a cover letter detailing the candidate's interest in and qualifications for the position, curriculum vitae, statement of teaching philosophy and experience (2-3 pages), statement of current and future research plans (2-3 pages), a writing sample (approximately 25 pages), teaching evaluations and other evidence of teaching excellence. Additionally, please include a diversity statement that demonstrates your commitment to diversity, equity, and inclusion through scholarship/research, and/or teaching/mentoring, and/or service/engagement. There may be some overlap with your research proposal and teaching statements. Candidates selected for interviews will be asked to provide three letters of reference.

For any questions, please contact Michele Fleming at js-secretary-admin@umich.edu.

Offers for this appointment are contingent on successful completion of a background screening. The University of Michigan is supportive of the needs of dual career couples and is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer. Women and members of minority groups are encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/10/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12078

Hampden-Sydney College

Rank: Assistant Professor/International Law & IR

Subfield(s): International Relations, Political Theory, Other

Specializations: International Law & Organizations, International Security, Normative Political Theory

Hampden-Sydney College invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track appointment at the rank of Assistant Professor within the Department of Government and Foreign Affairs to begin in the fall of 2024. Candidates should have expertise in the history and development of international law, theories of international relations, and the role of the U.S. Constitution in foreign affairs. The ability to teach courses in regional or global policymaking is also welcome. The successful applicant may participate in the college-wide Core Cultures program and teach, as needed, introductory courses in world politics. Faculty teach on a three-year course load rotation with six courses per year for two years and seven courses in the third year.

Hampden-Sydney College highly values the teacher/scholar model. Successful applicants will have a record of effective classroom teaching, a commitment to scholarly productivity, and the willingness to work with colleagues on professional service responsibilities. Applicants should have a Ph.D. in political science or comparable degree by the time of appointment.

Please submit a letter of application, curriculum vitae, teaching statement, research statement, and three letters of reference to Dr. Celia Carroll Jones, Chair, Department of Government and Foreign Affairs, Hampden-Sydney College via Interfolio. Review of applications will begin in fall 2023; application deadline is September 10, 2023.

Hampden-Sydney College is a selective liberal arts institution enrolling approximately 1000 students. Founded in 1775, it is the tenth oldest institution of higher learning in the United States and one of four liberal arts colleges in the United States dedicated to the education of men. Our mission is to educate "good men and good citizens in an atmosphere of sound learning."

Our beautiful 1300-acre campus is less than 7 miles from downtown Farmville, home to Longwood University and the Moton Museum, which is listed on the U.S. Civil Rights Trail. The campus is located 65 miles west of Richmond, 50 miles east of Lynchburg, and 75 miles south of Charlottesville, providing abundant cultural, recreational and artistic resources. As a community, we are dedicated to the goal of building a culturally diverse faculty committed to working in a multicultural environment and strongly encourage applications from women and minoritized groups. Hampden-Sydney College values diversity, prohibits discrimination, and is committed to equal opportunity for all employees and applicants for employment.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 9/10/2023

Date Posted: 5/31/2023

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 11994

Washington University in St. Louis

Rank: Political Science and Weidenbaum Center on Economy, Government, and Public Policy Postdoctoral Fellowship

The Department of Political Science and the Weidenbaum Center on the Economy, Government, and Public Policy at Washington University in St. Louis invite applications for a one-year postdoctoral fellowship, for a scholar with quantitative methods skills as well as strengths in database management (e.g., SQL) and data analytic methods (e.g., webscraping, Python, and R). Training in political science and/or experience in urban or local electoral politics and representation is a bonus.

The position begins July 1, 2023. The fellow will work under the supervision of Political Science Professors Brian Crisp and Matthew Gabel.

Fellows are expected to be in residence during the fellowship period and to participate in the intellectual life of the Department of Political Science along with the other units of Washington University relevant to the Fellow's research interests. Fellows will work together in a collaborative setting with a team on research projects toward the production of jointly published scholarly research. The Fellow will mostly be working on collaborative projects with the supervising faculty, but will also have time for their own projects. There are no teaching or service obligations.

Qualifications

Required qualifications include a Ph.D. and training in Political Science, Public Policy, or other related fields. For candidates finishing their Ph.D. in 2023, all requirements of the degree must be finished no later than June 30, 2023. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to sex, race, ethnicity, protected veteran, or disability status.

Employment eligibility verification required upon hire.

Application Instructions

Please apply here: <https://apply.interfolio.com/120801>

Applicants should submit: a CV, writing sample, cover letter, and letters of reference (3).

Direct questions about application process to Elizabeth Larson at Elizabeth.Larson@wustl.edu.

Start Date: Summer 2023

Date Posted: 2/9/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 11685

Johns Hopkins University

Rank: Adjunct Faculty: Intelligence Analysis

Subfield(s): International Relations, American Government and Politics, Other

Specializations: Intelligence, Defense, International Security

Johns Hopkins University: Zanvyl Krieger School of Arts and Sciences: Advanced Academic Programs

Location:

Washington, DC or Online (Remote)

Open Date:

Feb 01, 2023

POSITION:

Adjunct Faculty, Intelligence Analysis

Krieger School of Arts and Sciences

Advanced Academic Programs

INSTITUTION:

Johns Hopkins University

Institution Description:

The Advanced Academic Programs (AAP) is a division of the Krieger School of Arts and Sciences at the Johns Hopkins University (JHU). As the nation's oldest and one of the most prestigious research universities, Johns Hopkins offers high-quality master's degrees and post-baccalaureate education to students in the mid-Atlantic region and online. In addition to the online programs, AAP also offers master's degrees and graduate certificate programs at its Washington, DC Center and at the Homewood campus in Baltimore, MD. AAP has approximately 18,000 enrollments each academic year. JHU is committed to hiring candidates who, through their teaching and service, will contribute to the diversity and excellence of the academic community.

Position Description:

The Advanced Academic Programs (AAP) division seeks non-tenure track adjunct faculty to teach several courses within the MS in Intelligence Analysis program. The course(s) will be taught fully online beginning in Summer 2023 and beyond. Candidates with online course development and teaching experience and those with experience teaching and engaging students from diverse backgrounds are of particular interest. We are looking for faculty who can teach one or more of the following courses:

473.600 the Art and Practice of Intelligence

This course introduces students to the field of intelligence, particularly as practiced in the United States. After a brief overview of the historical foundations of modern intelligence, it discusses how intelligence is conducted including collection, analysis, counterintelligence, covert action, and oversight. It also discusses intelligence ethics, as well as the disruptive influences of September 11, new technologies, and emerging social trends.

473.602 Intelligence Analysis

Intelligence analysis is fundamentally about understanding and communicating to decision makers what is known, not known, and surmised, as it can best be determined. Students will read seminal texts on intelligence analysis, discuss the complex cognitive, psychological, organizational, ethical, and legal issues surrounding intelligence analysis now and, in the past, and apply analytic methodologies to real-world problems.

473.604 Advanced Critical Thinking and Analysis

Critical thinking involves the methods and principles of correct reasoning and argumentation. Students will apply a combination of logic, critical thinking skills, and structured analytical techniques to identify biases, promote self-reflective reasoning, and improve the quality of intelligence analysis. Using a selection of empirical case studies and operational exemplars, students will conduct a comparative assessment of analytical outcomes based on the application of course learnings versus outcomes derived in their absence.

473.607 Intelligence Ethics

This course will address the ethical dilemmas and issues that challenge intelligence and government decision makers in an increasingly complex operational and technological environment. We will examine basic moral, ethical and privacy considerations at several key points in intelligence operations from collection to covert action. The course will analyze the evolving nature of privacy concerns worldwide, with an emphasis on the balance between individual rights and national security. Students will examine the policy implications inherent in seeking to address these tensions.

473.606 Legal Issues in Intelligence

This class will examine the interplay between the laws and the practices and policies of the United States' Intelligence Community and national security system, both foreign and domestic. While discussion of the history of intelligence activities and laws dating from the origins of our colonial days will necessarily shape the framework of the class, the focus shall particularly be on current debates and challenges faced by the United States in the 21st Century.

473.800 Research Seminar

This course will introduce a variety of research, analytical, and statistical methods intended to provide a basis for designing a research project, including an introduction to quantitative, qualitative, and mixed method research design. Within the context of the course, students will complete foundational work for the capstone project, including identifying and accessing relevant primary and secondary source data, surveying and evaluating the literature, and framing a research question based on the intersection of empirical studies and organizational needs. Attention will be given to the unique restrictions placed on research design and publication within the intelligence community.

473.801 Capstone: Current Issues in Intelligence

In this culminating course, students complete an independent, faculty-approved project that will address a substantive or methodological challenge in intelligence analysis. A successful capstone will include research that provides evidence of the student's mastery of the theoretical knowledge and analytical skills central to the degree's learning outcomes. The capstone provides an opportunity to apply the skills acquired throughout the program to a key challenge facing their organization or community. Students will conduct a literature review, select a research method appropriate to their study, analyze data using qualitative or quantitative methods in their capstone project, and propose and defend their findings.

Minimum Qualifications:

- An advanced degree in any relevant field, with a master's degree at minimum.
- At least five years of professional work experience within the intelligence field.

Preferred Qualifications:

- A terminal degree in international relations, global security studies, political science, history, or in a relevant field related to intelligence.
- A scholar-practitioner background and publications in the field.
- 1-3 years of graduate level teaching experience.
- Leadership experience within the US Intelligence Community.
- Online teaching experience.
- Experience in developing graduate courses.
- The background to teach a wide variety of courses in an intelligence analysis program.
- Strong interest in advising graduate students interested in an intelligence career.

Application Instructions

The position will remain open until filled. For best consideration, please apply by April 1 2023.

Candidates must submit the following:

- Cover letter should indicate the course or courses you're interested in teaching plus your experience with online learning management systems (i.e., Canvas)
- Curriculum vitae
- Teaching evaluations for two most recently taught courses
- Transcript from highest degree earned
- The selected candidate will undergo a background check and provide three references.

APPLY HERE: <https://apply.interfolio.com/120762>

Start Date: Summer 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 2/1/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 11649

POLITICAL THEORY

Duke Kunshan University

Rank: Faculty Position in Political Theory

Duke Kunshan University invites applications for a visiting assistant professor in political theory. The successful candidate will contribute to DKU's team-taught foundational course, Foundational Questions in Social Science, while offering electives in their area of expertise. Candidates who have the ability to teach cross-cultural leadership are encouraged to apply. The successful candidate will obtain a contract of between 2 and three years. As part of this appointment, in year two of the appointment, candidates have the option to complete a non-credit bearing certificate in "Innovative Curriculum Design and Pedagogy" offered by DKU's Center for Teaching and Learning.

In order to meet Chinese visa requirements, prior to the position start date international (non-Chinese) candidates must have worked full-time (work experience obtained while studying full-time is not considered as full-time work experience) for at least two years in a relevant area (including post-doctoral work) after receiving their Bachelor's degree, or begin their appointment at DKU within 12 months of obtaining their master's degree/Ph.D. and without having work experience between graduation date on master's degree diploma/Ph.D. diploma and position start date.

DKU is a collaborative partnership of Duke University, Wuhan University and the Municipality of Kunshan, China (<https://dukekunshan.edu.cn/>). Our campus provides an innovative and robustly interdisciplinary undergraduate liberal arts experience to a student body that will number 2000 students and 150+ faculty, with an acceptance rate of <8% and a student body represented by over 60 countries. We also offer a discrete number of Master's level graduate programs. The DKU pedagogical model draws on the best of Duke's educational experience and resources to reimagine undergraduate instruction on an intimate campus setting.

Similar to the best liberal arts colleges in the United States, DKU values dedication to teaching excellence in a liberal arts environment, as well as a strong commitment to successful scholarly engagement and research. This includes research with undergraduate students. As a whole, the Duke Kunshan faculty will have strong commitments to teaching and research, and outstanding quality in both areas will be highly valued.

Candidates must hold a Ph.D. degree or equivalent in a relevant field. Research experience at a postdoctoral level (or greater) and teaching experience are desirable, as is experience working in an interdisciplinary setting. Applicants should provide a cover letter including a clear statement of the candidate's specific interest in DKU, a curriculum vitae, a research statement, a teaching statement, and three reference letters. All materials should be submitted through Academic Jobs Online: <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajol/jobs/25753>. The search committee also invites and encourages letters of nomination for potential candidates. Nominations and questions about the positions may be sent to social-science-search@dukekunshan.edu.cn using the subject "Political Theory" as the subject line. Priority will be given to applications received by October 27, 2023; we will accept applications until the positions are filled.

The DKU campus is 37 miles west of Shanghai in Kunshan, and is connected to Shanghai via an 18-minute high-speed train and a subway-light rail train system. DKU provides internationally competitive compensation, housing allowance, child education benefits (for applicable faculty positions), and a discretionary fund or start-up package.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/23/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12599

University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill

Rank: Assistant Professor, Associate Professor

Subfield(s): Political Theory, Public Policy, Other

Specializations: Political Philosophy & Theory, Political Theory, Political Economy

The Department of Political Science and the Philosophy, Politics, and Economics Program (PPE) Program in the College of Arts and Sciences at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill invite applications for a tenure-track position at the rank of Assistant or Associate Professor or Associate Professor with tenure in political theory starting July 1, 2024. Required qualifications are ABD or Ph.D or an equivalent degree in Political Science, Philosophy, Public Policy or a related field in the humanities or social sciences. The successful candidate will be a core faculty member in UNC's thriving Philosophy, Politics, and Economics Program and will be expected to take an active role in developing and expanding the PPE Program. The successful candidate must have research and teaching interests that include the intersection of philosophy, politics, and economics, and be committed to the value of PPE as an educational and intellectual endeavor. The successful candidate will be expected to teach the core courses in PPE and thus must have a working knowledge of political economy and game theory. We are primarily seeking candidates trained in political theory who are able to teach normative political theory courses. However, candidates with a strong normative background who primarily teach American or Comparative politics will be considered as will candidates with an expertise in ethics and public policy who have an interest in a primary appointment in the Department of Public Policy. Significant promise of research excellence is a necessary condition for consideration, as is evidence of significant skills in teaching. Salary commensurate with qualifications.

The University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill is an equal opportunity and affirmative action employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to age, color, disability, gender, gender expression, gender identity, genetic information, national origin, race, religion, sex, sexual orientation, or status as a protected veteran.

Review of applications will begin October 8th 2023, and will continue until the position is filled. To apply for the position, please follow this link <https://unc.peopleadmin.com/postings/265898>. Please include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, research statement, teaching statement (including available teaching evaluations and other evidence of teaching excellence), and a writing sample. Applicants will be required to identify the names, titles and email addresses of professional references at the time of application (please note that four are required). Recommenders identified by the applicant will be contacted via email with instructions for uploading their letters of support. Alternatively, applicants may list Interfolio as a reference and the application system will solicit recommendations directly from Interfolio. Please see <http://help.interfolio.com/entries/24062742-Uploading-Letters-to-an-Online-Application-System> for instructions. Applicants may also list the email of a Graduate Coordinator who will upload their references instead of the referring faculty. The departmental contact person is Shannon Eubanks; the department address is Department of Political Science, University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, CB# 3265, Chapel Hill, NC 27599-3265 and the web address is <http://www.unc.edu/depts/polisci>.

Start Date: Summer 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/20/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12561

Georgetown University

Rank: Open-rank professor - Ethics

McDonough School of Business seeks to add to its ethics faculty. We have one opening for a professor of ethics to begin in the 2024-25 academic year. We have permission to hire at the assistant professor or tenured associate professor level, but we have a strong preference for an experienced professor who is ready to teach ethics courses in the MBA and executive curriculum as well as at the undergraduate level. Applications for lateral moves are welcome and will be given priority consideration. McDonough's ethics courses are an amalgam of true normative ethics with social psychology, political science, and economics. All contain an experiential aspect in which the students engage in real time ethical decision making. We seek a dynamic classroom teacher able to publish research that can meet McDonough's rigorous standards for tenure.

ABOUT GEORGETOWN UNIVERSITY'S MCDONOUGH SCHOOL OF BUSINESS

Located in Washington, D.C., Georgetown University's McDonough School of Business offers unparalleled access to the world's business, policy, and thought leaders. The school, which attracts faculty and students from around the world, is committed to building global business knowledge and inspiring ethical leaders to serve the common good. The school's undergraduate, MBA, Executive MBA, and specialized programs provide solid grounding in all the core management disciplines, with an emphasis on the global, ethical, and political environment of business. The McDonough School of Business has an ongoing commitment to diversity, equity, and inclusion as a fundamental aspect of the Georgetown community.

APPLICATION PROCEDURE

Submit your cover letter and CV or resume to Interfolio (<http://apply.interfolio.com/132180>). Please indicate your present position and rank for those interested in a lateral move.

Applications are due no later than November 15, 2023.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 11/15/2023

Date Posted: 9/18/2023

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 12544

University of Michigan

Rank: WCEE Postdoctoral Fellow

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Public Law, Political Theory

The Weiser Center for Europe and Eurasia (WCEE) at the University of Michigan invites scholars with a recent PhD to apply for a two-year WCEE Postdoctoral Fellowship, from August 2024 – July 2026.

WCEE Postdoctoral Fellows are expected to focus on their own research, participate in the center's events, present at least one public lecture during their two-year fellowship, and teach one course per year at the University of Michigan while in full-time residency.

Two positions are open for the 2024-26 fellowship:

1. Contemporary Russian Society and Politics

We welcome applicants in any social science field focused on key aspects of contemporary Russian society and politics, including but not limited to: Russian nationalism, post-Soviet politics, ethno-cultural and religious movements, authoritarianism and Putinism, and Russian economic policy and practice.

2. Ukraine in Context

We welcome applicants from history, the social sciences, law, and public policy, whose research sheds light on: the causes and consequences of the war in Ukraine; its related histories and geopolitical dynamics; and/or the relationship of Ukraine with its neighbors, the EU, NATO countries, and the international community.

Eligibility:

Eligibility is restricted to applicants who have obtained their PhD no earlier than January 1, 2022. Current doctoral candidates are eligible to apply but must have defended and filed their dissertations by August 31, 2024.

Benefits:

Fellowships carry an annual salary of $60,000 and up to $10,000 in research funds during the postdoctoral appointment. Fellowship recipients will be eligible for U-M health, dental, and life insurance options (beginning August 1, 2024 through July 31, 2026). Fellows have full access to U-M library resources.

Application materials:

Candidates should submit the following via Interfolio (<http://apply.interfolio.com/130617>) and indicate on the research proposal what position they are applying for:

- A research proposal (2000 words maximum) that describes your intellectual objectives and concrete plan for the fellowship duration
- Curriculum Vitae
- A scholarly writing sample, such as a dissertation chapter or peer-reviewed journal article (50 pages maximum)
- Teaching statement with potential course topics
- DEI statement
- Two letters of recommendation

To be assured full consideration, fellowship applications should be received by October 15, 2023, 11:59 PM EST. Successful applicants will be notified by December 2023.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 10/15/2023

Date Posted: 9/18/2023

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 12545

CUNY-John Jay College

Rank: Assistant Professor in Political Theory

ABOUT JOHN JAY COLLEGE

John Jay College of Criminal Justice is a senior college of the City University of New York (CUNY) and an internationally recognized leader in educating for justice. John Jay is laser-focused on fueling the success of our exceptional student scholars pursuing a justice-focused education. Led by President Karol V. Mason, John Jay is a federally designated Hispanic-serving institution, it is ranked third in the nation in Black student success, and it is a top ten institution for promoting student social mobility. John Jay is proud to serve a diverse and dynamic student body of 15,000 students, nearly fifty percent of whom are first in their family to attend college, and many of them are immigrants or children of immigrants.

The College participates in the doctoral programs of the Graduate Center of CUNY and offers bachelor's and master's degrees both in traditional criminal justice-related fields of study as well as in a robust portfolio of liberal arts and sciences programs that highlight themes of justice across the arts, sciences, humanities, and social sciences. The College seeks staff and faculty members who thrive in a multicultural academic environment and are committed to cementing our culture of pride, distinction and excellence.

POSITION OVERVIEW

The Department of Political Science at John Jay College of the City University of New York invites applications for a tenure-track position in Political Theory at the rank of Assistant Professor beginning Fall 2024. We seek candidates whose research and teaching focus on recent and contemporary critical theories of race/racism, coloniality, ethnicity/diaspora, migration, class struggle, gender, sexuality, environmental justice, and/or democracy. The successful candidate will perform teaching, research, and guidance duties in their area(s) of expertise. They will also share responsibility for committee and department assignments including administrative, supervisory, and other functions.

Candidates are expected to bring enthusiasm and demonstrated commitment to teaching and to develop and maintain an active research and publication agenda. Teaching responsibilities would include introductory courses on political theory. The successful candidate would also be encouraged to develop and teach new courses in their area of specialty. They will also advise students. Forty-seven percent of John Jay students are first-generation college students, and John Jay is a recognized Hispanic and Minority-Serving Institution. The successful candidate must be eager and qualified to work with our diverse student body, and have a demonstrated commitment to diversity, equity, and inclusion. As demonstrated in John Jay College's Seven Principles for a Culturally Responsive, Inclusive, and Anti-Racist Curriculum (https://new.jjay.cuny.edu/sites/default/files/2023-08/7_Princip_Cultur_Resp_Incl_AntiRacist_Curric_Adopt_4.8.21-brief.pdf), the College seeks a faculty member who thrives in a multicultural, collaborative academic environment and is committed to both access and excellence in higher education.

QUALIFICATIONS

Ph.D. in Political science. Although outstanding ABDs near completion will be considered, degree must be completed by August 2024. Candidates holding only a J.D. will not be considered. Also required are the ability to teach successfully, the potential for scholarly productivity, and ability to cooperate with others for the good of the institution. Candidates are expected to bring enthusiasm and demonstrated commitment to teaching, as well as a demonstrated commitment to diversity, equity, and inclusion.

COMPENSATION

$52,667- $99,532 Salary commensurate with education and credentials.

CUNY offers faculty a competitive compensation and benefits package covering health insurance, pension and retirement benefits, paid parental leave, and savings programs. We also provide mentoring and support for research, scholarship, and publication as part of our commitment to ongoing faculty professional development.

HOW TO APPLY

If you are viewing the job posting on John Jay College website or in CUNYfirst, please select the "Apply Now" button. If you are viewing the job posting on any other website, please follow the instructions below:

-Go to www.cuny.edu/employment

-Click "Search job postings."

-Click the link for "Faculty" and browse to job Opening ID number 27323

-Click on the "Apply Now" button and follow the instructions

Candidates should provide a letter of application, a CV, and, in one document:

- 1) a writing sample;
- 2) a single-spaced, one-page research statement describing the candidate's theoretical contributions and broader research agenda;
- 3) a statement of teaching philosophy, including a discussion of their abilities to create an equitable and accessible learning environment for our students; and
- 4) a portfolio of teaching materials (e.g., evidence of preparedness to teach a diverse student body, sample syllabi and assignments, teaching observation reports, and student evaluations).

All should be provided electronically through CUNYfirst. In addition, three letters of recommendation should be emailed directly to the Chair of the Political Science Department, Prof. Maxwell Mak (mmak@jjay.cuny.edu). Applications will be reviewed on a rolling basis with a final deadline of October 27.

For more information about the position, you can email the Chair of the Search Committee, Professor Michael Yarbrough (myarbrough@jjay.cuny.edu).

CLOSING DATE

Review of the resumes will begin on September 27, 2023.
Deadline to apply is October 27, 2023

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 10/27/2023

Date Posted: 9/17/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12538

Murray State University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

Summary of Job Duties and Responsibilities:

The Department of Political Science and Sociology at Murray State University invites applications for a position as a tenure-track assistant professor in political science starting in August 2024. We are an interdisciplinary department offering majors in political science, pre-law, international studies, sociology, and social inequality and human rights. In addition, we have a Master of Public Administration program. While the area of specialization is open, the successful candidate should be able to teach courses in the fields of Political Theory and American Politics. Ideally, the candidate for this position would also be willing and able to teach graduate-level courses for our growing Master of Public Administration (MPA) program, such as Ethics in Public Administration.

In addition to the above, a successful candidate may be asked to

- * teach online, in-person, and ITV
- * teach at the graduate and undergraduate level
- * teach other courses in the department as needed
- * advise students in the political science program or the department's other programs as needed
- * assist with the recruitment of majors
- * build relationships between the political science program and the community
- * maintain a record excellence in teaching

* maintain a record of scholarship and publications

* build and maintain a record of service

Minimum Education and Qualifications:

Ph.D. in Political Science or a related field is required. ABDs with a documented plan of completion by appointment date will be considered. Teaching experience is preferred.

Submit your application through the following link: <https://www.murraystatejobs.com/postings/11057>

For best consideration, please submit a completed application along with all required materials by November 1, 2023. Applications will be accepted until the position is filled.

Murray State blends educational opportunities found at research institutions with collaborative interactions among students, faculty and staff found at smaller universities. Students receive personalized attention from supportive faculty and staff as the University offers a 16:1 student-to-faculty ratio. Murray State University places our highest priority on student learning and excellent teaching, blending the range of educational opportunities often experienced at research institutions with the nurturing student-teacher interactions usually found at smaller universities.

Located in the West Kentucky region, Murray State University is a public, comprehensive University which offers a low cost of living, low property taxes, and a four-season climate. Murray has a friendly, small-town atmosphere with locally-owned specialty shops and restaurants, an acclaimed community theater, art guild and award-winning public schools. The area is home to Kentucky Lake and Land Between the Lakes, a 170,000-acre National Recreation Area, which offers a wide-range of activities and amenities for residents and visitors alike. Located in close proximity to major cities and nearby access to Interstate 24, Murray is just a few hours from Nashville, St. Louis, Louisville and Memphis.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/15/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12487

The University of Texas at Austin

Rank: Professor (Open Rank)

Subfield(s): Open, Political Theory, Public Law

The School of Civic Leadership at The University of Texas at Austin (UT Austin) invites applications for full-time tenure-track and tenured faculty positions at the assistant, associate, or full professor level.

Description

Considering the responsibility public institutions of higher education have to prepare students for leadership in a free society, the University of Texas System Board of Regents recently established the School of Civic Leadership at UT Austin. Building on the strengths of the Civitas Institute, the School of Civic Leadership is an interdisciplinary school whose dual mission is to equip students with the knowledge and aptitudes necessary to lead in a free society, and to produce academic research at the highest levels of scholarly excellence.

Qualifications

We seek outstanding candidates from a broad range of disciplines whose work speaks to the School of Civic Leadership's core themes: political, economic, and individual liberty and its philosophical underpinnings; constitutionalism and the rule of law; and the political economy of a free society. Ideal candidates will (1) have excellent records of scholarship with robust research agendas, (2) provide evidence of exceptional teaching, and (3) show a readiness to contribute to the intellectual life, governance, and programmatic development of the School of Civic Leadership.

Application Instructions

The School of Civic Leadership invites applicants to submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, and list of three academic references. (References do not need to submit full letters at this stage.) Cover letters should give a brief overview of the candidate's research agenda, highlight areas of teaching competence, and concisely describe how the candidate would contribute to developing the School of Civic Leadership.

Please submit applications through Interfolio using this link: <http://apply.interfolio.com/131417>.

Review of applications will begin on October 1. Questions may be directed to Justin Dyer, interim dean of the School of Civic Leadership, at justin.dyer@austin.utexas.edu.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/13/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12507

Lehigh University

Rank: Assistant Professor - Political Theory

The Department of Political Science at Lehigh University is seeking applications for a full-time, tenure-track faculty position at the rank of Assistant Professor, beginning in August 2024. The successful candidate will possess a doctoral degree in Political Science or directly related field by the date of hire.

The teaching load for this position is two four-credit courses per semester. The successful candidate will contribute to research and teaching in political theory, specifically in American, contemporary, and/or environmental political thought.

Applicants should submit the following: a letter of interest that includes how you will contribute to a diverse and equitable community, curriculum vitae, a research statement, a teaching statement, and the contact information for three professional references. All materials should be submitted via Academic Jobs Online. The deadline for applications is November 15, 2023. Questions about this position should be directed to the search committee chair, Professor Brian Fife, at blf218@lehigh.edu.

Serving approximately 130 undergraduate majors and 20 graduate students, the Department of Political Science offers a B.A. and M.A. degree as well as a Master of Public Policy. Interested applicants are invited to visit the Department of Political Science website: <https://polisci.cas.lehigh.edu/>

Founded in 1865, Lehigh University has combined outstanding academic and learning opportunities with leadership in fostering innovative research. Recognized among the nation's highly ranked research universities, Lehigh offers a rigorous academic community for nearly 7,000 students. Lehigh University has some 5,000 undergraduates, 2,000 graduate students, and about 550 full-time faculty members. Lehigh University is located in Bethlehem, PA., a vibrant and historic area. Over 820,000 people live in the Lehigh Valley, which is in close proximity to New York City and Philadelphia.

Lehigh University is an affirmative action/equal opportunity employer and does not discriminate on the basis of age, color, disability, gender identity or expression, genetic information, marital or familial status, national or ethnic origin, race, religion, sex, sexual orientation, or veteran status. We are committed to increasing the diversity of the campus community. Lehigh University is committed to a culturally and intellectually diverse academic community and is especially interested in candidates who can contribute, through their research, teaching and/or service, to this mission. Lehigh University is the recipient of an NSF ADVANCE Institutional Transformation award for promoting the careers of women in academic sciences and engineering (<http://www.lehigh.edu/luadvance/>) and is among institutions of higher education recognized for excellence in diversity with the INSIGHT into Diversity HEED Award. Additional information about Lehigh's commitment to diversity and inclusion is available at <https://diversityandinclusion.lehigh.edu/>. Lehigh University provides competitive salaries and comprehensive benefits, including domestic partner benefits. More information about Work/Life Balance for Faculty can be found at <https://provost.lehigh.edu/work-life-balance>. Lehigh University supports dual career efforts for following spouses/partners of newly hired faculty (<https://provost.lehigh.edu/work-life-balance>).

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 11/15/2023

Date Posted: 9/11/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12494

Catholic University of America

Rank: Assistant Professor of Politics

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Policy, Political Theory

Assistant Professor of Politics (American Politics)

The Department of Politics at The Catholic University of America invites applications for a tenure-track faculty appointment in American politics, to begin in the fall of 2024. We are interested in a candidate with a range of interests, including but not limited to public opinion, ideology, political parties, elections, and the presidency. The successful candidate could also play an important advisory role for our Washington, D.C. internship programs. The department especially welcomes applicants whose research interests complement its traditional strengths in historical, theoretical, and institutional perspectives. Situated on a large and beautiful campus, Catholic University is only three metro stops from the Capitol. Politics is one of the largest majors on campus, attracting many students who value the community of a Catholic university while pursuing careers related to politics and law in the nation's capital. The department's Ph.D program has a long and distinguished history, and the development of professionally minded M.A. programs is a university priority.

We seek candidates who understand, are enthusiastic about, and will make a significant contribution to the mission of the University, which reads as follows: "As the national university of the Catholic Church in the United States, founded and sponsored by the bishops of the country with the approval of the Holy See, The Catholic University of America is committed to being a comprehensive Catholic and American institution of higher learning, faithful to the teachings of Jesus Christ as handed on by the Church. Dedicated to advancing the dialogue between faith and reason, The Catholic University of America seeks to discover and impart the truth through excellence in teaching and research, all in service to the Church, the nation and the world.”

Applicants should submit a cover letter, a curriculum vitae, a statement of current research and future research plans, a statement of teaching philosophy, graduate school transcript, and a sample of written work (including scholarly publications) to pol-search@cua.edu and arrange for the submission of three letters of reference. In addition, applicants are asked to submit a one- to two-page personal statement indicating how their research, teaching, and service will make a distinctive contribution to our University’s mission and to the vision of Catholic education outlined in the Apostolic Constitution on Catholic Universities Ex Corde Ecclesiae.

Review of applications will begin November 15 and continue until the position is filled. Questions may be directed to Jakub Grygiel, Department Chair, at grygiel@cua.edu.

The Catholic University of America is an Equal Opportunity Employer.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/7/2023

Salary: $70,000 - $79,999

eJobs ID: 12478

Oberlin College

Rank: Assistant Professor of Politics (Political Theory)

The Politics Department at Oberlin College invites applications for a full-time tenure track faculty position in the College of Arts and Sciences in the area of political theory. Initial appointment to this position will be for a term of four years, beginning fall semester of 2024, and will carry the rank of Assistant Professor.

We seek candidates with teaching and research interests in political theory. We are particularly interested in candidates whose focus includes theories of global justice, global environmental political theory, postcolonial theory, or comparative political theory. Within these areas, we are open to a variety of approaches and methods.

The incumbent will teach the standard teaching load (4.5 courses per year) and will be expected to engage in sustained scholarly research. The incumbent is also expected to participate in the full range of faculty responsibilities, including academic advising and service on committees.

Among the qualifications required for appointment is the Ph.D. degree (in hand or expected by first semester of academic year 2024-25). Candidates must demonstrate interest and potential excellence in undergraduate teaching. Successful teaching experience at the college level is desirable.

A complete application will be comprised of: 1) a cover letter describing your teaching, scholarship, mentorship, and service, detailing any connections to supporting an inclusive learning environment; 2) a Curriculum Vitae; 3) an unofficial graduate transcript; 4) a statement (or statements) on your teaching philosophy and experience in diversity, equity, and inclusion; 5) a research statement that includes how you will support undergraduate research and, if applicable, how you might incorporate undergraduate students into your research program; 6) a writing sample of up to 40 pages; and 7) letters of reference from three recommenders.*

All application materials must be submitted electronically through Oberlin College and Conservatory’s online application process at: <https://jobs.oberlin.edu/>

*By providing three letters of reference, you agree that we may contact your letter writers.

Review of applications will begin on October 15, 2023, and will continue until the position is filled. Completed applications received by the October 15, 2023 deadline will be guaranteed full consideration.

Questions about the position can be addressed to Kristina Mani, Professor and Chair of the Politics Department, kmani@oberlin.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/5/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12455

New York University Arts and Science

Rank: Assistant Professor - Social Media and Computational Social Science

Subfield(s): Political Theory, Public Policy, Comparative Politics

Specializations: Political Communication, Social Movements, Quantitative Methods

Assistant Professor - Social Media and Computational Social Science Center for Social Media and Politics
New York University Arts and Science

The NYU School of Arts and Science seeks excellent candidates whose research stands at the intersection of digital media and politics. This tenure track, assistant professor position is open to scholars across disciplines. The successful candidate will join the appropriate academic department in the NYU School of Arts and Science and is expected to play an integral role in the NYU Center for Social Media and Politics (CSMaP). Methodologically, applicants should demonstrate a mastery of quantitative and/or computational methods in the social sciences. Substantively, applicants should have research interests that align with and/or compliment the areas of interest at CSMaP. The position is to begin September 1, 2024, pending budgetary and administrative approval.

In compliance with NYC’s Pay Transparency Act, the annual base salary range for this position is $100,000 - $150,000. New York University considers factors such as (but not limited to) the scope and responsibilities of the position, the candidate’s work experience, education/training, key skills, internal peer equity, as well as market and organizational considerations when extending an offer.

Qualifications

Candidates are expected to possess a PhD by September 1, 2024 in a relevant social science or related discipline; to have records of excellent research; and to indicate the potential to be future disciplinary leaders in their respective fields of expertise.

The School of Arts and Science at NYU is dedicated to the goal of building a diverse and inclusive academic community. Accordingly, we strongly encourage applications from candidates who demonstrate through their scholarship, teaching and mentoring, and/or service engagement, a commitment to these goals. We are particularly interested in hearing about steps you have taken (or plan to take) to foster an open and inclusive intellectual environment in the classroom, in the department and on campus, and/or in your field more generally.

Initial application deadline is September 5, 2023, but applications will be considered until the position is filled. Interested candidates should submit: a cover letter, CV, a research statement, a teaching statement, a one-page statement as to how the candidate will contribute to a diverse and inclusive environment at NYU, a job market paper, two additional research papers, and three letters of recommendation. All of these documents are to be uploaded to the following Interfolio link: <https://apply.interfolio.com/129573>

The Faculty of Arts and Science at NYU is at the heart of a leading research university that spans the globe. We seek scholars of the highest caliber, who embody the diversity of the United States as well as the global society in which we live. We strongly encourage applications from women, racial and ethnic minorities, and other individuals who are under-represented in the profession, across color, creed, race, ethnic and national origin, physical ability, gender and sexual identity, or any other legally protected basis. NYU affirms the value of differing perspectives on the world as we strive to build the strongest possible university with the widest reach. To learn more about the Arts and Science commitment to equality and inclusion, please read see <http://as.nyu.edu/departments/facultydiversity.html>

EOE/Affirmative Action/Minorities/Females/Vet/Disabled/Sexual Orientation/Gender Identity.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/31/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12428

California State University, Long Beach

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science (Political Theory)

Assistant Professor of Political Science (Political Theory)

Job no: 531489

Work type: Instructional Faculty – Tenured/Tenure-Track

Location: Long Beach

Categories: Unit 3 - CFA - California Faculty Association, Faculty - Letters/Humanities, Tenured/Tenure-Track, Full Time

Position: Assistant Professor of Political Science (Political Theory)

Effective Date: August 19, 2024 (Fall Semester)

Salary: The Assistant Professor (Academic Year) classification salary is $5,405 to $11,994/per month (12 monthly payments per academic year). The anticipated hiring range is $6,667 to $7,084/per month. Salary offered is commensurate with qualifications and experience.

Application Deadline: Review of applications to begin October 3, 2023. Position opened until filled (or recruitment canceled).

College of Liberal Arts
Department of Political Science

Required Qualifications:

- Ph.D. in Political Science or appropriate related discipline with specialization in Political Theory. Degree at time of application or official notification of completion of the doctoral degree by August 1, 2024.

- Record of, or demonstrated potential for, effective teaching

- Record of, or demonstrated potential for, successful research and publication

- Experience with, or demonstrated potential for, effective participation in faculty governance

- Demonstrated commitment to working successfully with a diverse student population

Preferred Qualifications:

- Evidence of academic training in the canon of political theory (i.e., antiquity, modernity, and contemporary thought)

- Evidence of scholarly activities grounded in political theory and focusing on timely topics central to the discipline (e.g., ancient, modern, and contemporary theories; democratic and critical race theory, gender studies and feminist scholarship, migration studies, postcolonial and decolonial theory, politics of indigeneity, environmental theory, disability studies, non-Western and queer theory, the carceral state, political economy and inequality/oppression, nationalism, technology and political theory, and the impact of COVID)

- Evidence of ability to effectively teach current University course offerings in political theory at the undergraduate and graduate levels (e.g., ancient and modern political thought, recent ideology, special topics in political theory, and the graduate seminar)

- Evidence of ability to develop new course offerings in political theory that engage issues of diversity

- Evidence of support for and/or experience related to the University's strong commitment to the academic success of its diverse student body

- Evidence of interest in and/or experience with department, college, university and community service

- Experience of successfully working with populations demographically and socioeconomically similar to the CSULB student body (Demographics)

Duties:

- Teach courses in political theory at the undergraduate and graduate levels [Mode of instruction may include in-person, hybrid, online, and/or any combination thereof.]

- Develop courses in political theory at undergraduate and graduate levels

- Advise and mentor students, including the supervision of Master's students taking comprehensive exams and theses

- Engage in research leading to conference participation and peer-reviewed publications

- Participate in faculty governance
- Participate in service to the department, college, university, and community

The Department of Political Science takes great pride in having one of the most diverse student bodies in higher education. We have more than 600 students in one of our three academic programs: a Bachelor of Arts, a Minor, and a Master of Arts. Our 19 full-time and 15 part-time faculty are passionate about teaching politics in the twenty-first century, offering courses that are directly relevant to the contemporary world. Together we seek to provide our students the foundational knowledge and skills essential to understand and engage issues relevant to our common political life today. Our department offers numerous programs and clubs, including Moot Court, Model United Nations, undergraduate and graduate student associations, a chapter of the Pi Sigma Alpha National Honor Society, internship and research opportunities, a Legal Studies certificate, and much more.

The College of Liberal Arts at CSULB is the largest college on campus, with thirty-one excellent departments and programs, several innovative centers and projects, over 685 outstanding faculty members, and over 74 individual staff members. The college faculty are among the best in the nation and have received a variety of national and international awards. CLA has 9300 undergraduate students pursuing a variety of highly valued degrees through the college's 99 unique majors and minors. Additionally, 575 graduate students are also obtaining advanced degrees and special certificates in the college. With degrees ranging from humanities and foreign languages to social and behavioral sciences, CLA's graduates are well-rounded citizens, effective communicators, and analytical thinkers who live knowledgeably, responsibly, and humanely in a world where complex problems demand informed, creative, and thoughtful solutions. The skills gained through degrees from CLA are invaluable and open up countless career paths for graduates to follow.

CSULB seeks to recruit faculty who enthusiastically support the University's strong commitment to the academic success of all of our students, including students of color, students with disabilities, students who are first generation to college, veterans, students with diverse socio-economic backgrounds, and students of diverse sexual orientations and gender expressions. CSULB seeks to recruit and retain a diverse workforce as a reflection of our commitment to serve the People of California, to maintain the excellence of the University, and to offer our students a rich variety of expertise, perspectives, and ways of knowing and learning.

Information on excellent benefits package available to CSULB faculty is located here: CSU Employee Benefits

How to Apply - Required Documentation:

- An Equity and Diversity Statement about your teaching or other experiences, successes, and challenges in working with a diverse student population (maximum two pages, single-spaced). For further information and guidelines, please visit: Equity and Diversity Statement
- Letter of application addressing the required and preferred qualifications
- CV
- Names and contact information for three references (to be contacted for confidential letters of recommendation should the applicant reach the semi-finalist stage)

- Writing sample(s)
- Teaching evaluations, if applicable
- Copy of transcript from institution awarding highest degree (to be submitted by request should you reach the semi-finalist stage)
- Finalists should be prepared to submit an official transcript (e-transcript preferred, if available)

How to Apply: Click Apply Now icon (at the web address below) to complete the CSULB online application

Requests for information about the position should be addressed to:

Mary Caputi, Professor
California State University, Long Beach
Department of Political Science
1250 Bellflower Boulevard
Long Beach, CA 90840-4605

562-985-4705 or E-Mail: mary.caputi@csulb.edu

EMPLOYMENT REQUIREMENTS:

A background check (including a criminal records check and telephone reference check with most recent employer) must be completed satisfactorily before any candidate can be offered a position with the CSU. Failure to satisfactorily complete the background check may affect the application status of applicants or continued employment of current CSU employees who apply for the position.

The person holding this position is considered a "mandated reporter" under the California Child Abuse and Neglect Reporting Act and is required to comply with the requirements set forth in CSU Executive Order 1083 Revised July 21, 2017 as a condition of employment.

CSU Vaccination Policy

CSU requires faculty, staff, and students who are accessing campus facilities to be immunized against COVID-19 or declare a medical or religious exemption from doing so. Any candidates advanced in a currently open search process should be prepared to comply with this requirement. The systemwide policy can be found at <https://calstate.policystat.com/policy/9779821/latest/> and questions may be sent to fahr@csulb.edu.

CSULB is committed to creating a community in which a diverse population can learn, live, and work in an atmosphere of tolerance, civility and respect for the rights and sensibilities of each individual, without regard to race or ethnicity (including color or ancestry), nationality, religion or religious creed, gender (or sex), gender identity (including transgender), gender expression, sexual orientation, marital status, disability (physical or mental), medical condition, genetic information, age, veteran or military status. CSULB is an Equal Opportunity Employer.

Applications close: Open until filled

Full information with active links available here: <https://careers.pageuppeople.com/873/lb/en-us/job/531489/assistant-professor-of-political-science-political-theory>

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/30/2023
Salary: $80,000 - $89,999
eJobs ID: 12420

Murray State University
Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

Summary of Job Duties and Responsibilities:

The Department of Political Science and Sociology at Murray State University invites applications for a position as a tenure-track assistant professor in political science starting in August 2024. We are an interdisciplinary department offering majors in political science, pre-law, international studies, sociology, and social inequality and human rights. In addition, we have a Master of Public Administration program. While the area of specialization is open, the successful candidate should be able to teach courses in the fields of Political Theory and American Politics. Ideally, the candidate for this position would also be willing and able to teach graduate-level courses for our growing Master of Public Administration (MPA) program, such as Ethics in Public Administration.

In addition to the above, a successful candidate may be asked to

- * teach online, in-person, and ITV
- * teach at the graduate and undergraduate level
- * teach other courses in the department as needed
- * advise students in the political science program or the department's other programs as needed
- * assist with the recruitment of majors
- * build relationships between the political science program and the community
- * maintain a record of excellence in teaching
- * maintain a record of scholarship and publications
- * build and maintain a record of service

Minimum Education and Qualifications:

Ph.D. in Political Science or a related field is required. ABDs with a documented plan of completion by appointment date will be considered. Teaching experience is preferred.

Submit your application through the following link: <https://www.murraystatejobs.com/postings/11057>

For best consideration, please submit a completed application along with all required materials by November 1, 2023. Applications will be accepted until the position is filled.

Murray State blends educational opportunities found at research institutions with collaborative interactions among students, faculty and staff found at smaller universities. Students receive personalized attention from supportive faculty and staff as the University offers a 16:1 student-to-faculty ratio. Murray State University places our highest priority on student learning and excellent teaching, blending the range of educational opportunities often experienced at research institutions with the nurturing student-teacher interactions usually found at smaller universities.

Located in the West Kentucky region, Murray State University is a public, comprehensive University which offers a low cost of living, low property taxes, and a four-season climate. Murray has a friendly, small-town atmosphere with locally-owned specialty shops and restaurants, an acclaimed community theater, art guild and award-winning public schools. The area is home to Kentucky Lake and Land Between the Lakes, a 170,000-acre National Recreation Area, which offers a wide-range of activities and amenities for residents and visitors alike. Located in close proximity to major cities and nearby access to Interstate 24, Murray is just a few hours from Nashville, St. Louis, Louisville and Memphis.

Start Date: Fall 2024
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/30/2023
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 12408

Princeton University

Rank: James Madison Program Visiting Fellow
Subfield(s): Political Theory, American Government and Politics, Public Law
Specializations: Political Philosophy & Theory, Constitutional Law & Theory, American Politics

The James Madison Program in American Ideals and Institutions at Princeton University is dedicated to the pursuit of scholarly excellence in the fields of constitutional law and political thought. Sponsored by Princeton's Department of Politics, the Program seeks to enrich the intellectual life of Princeton students and faculty by exploring American constitutional principles and structures through research and public discussion.

The Program invites college and university professors and other professionals with established records of scholarship to apply for appointments as Visiting Fellows for the academic year running from September 1, 2024 to June 1, 2025. One-semester appointments are possible but not preferred. Depending on the needs of the University, teaching opportunities may be available, subject to sufficient enrollment and approval of the Dean of the Faculty.

All James Madison Program Visiting Fellows will spend an academic year (9-month term) in residence at Princeton University or the local vicinity, or demonstrate to the program's satisfaction the ability to be on campus daily, and on short notice, in order to fulfill responsibilities relating to in-person participation. They enjoy access to Firestone Library and a wide range of other facilities and activities throughout the University.

Visiting Fellows are expected to devote full time to their proposed research. They are encouraged, however, to attend or participate in various activities of the Program, including faculty-student seminars, colloquia, and public lectures.

All James Madison Program Fellows must have a doctorate or equivalent degree. Positions are open to all regardless of citizenship. Fellows normally receive a stipend of one-half their academic-year salary plus a living allowance. The fellows' home institutions are expected to provide at least half of their academic-year salaries.

How to apply: Applicants are required to submit an online application at: <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/31661>

A complete application must include the following:

- * a curriculum vitae;
- * a scholarly paper written in the past three years;
- * a statement (no more than 1,500 words) describing the proposed research;
- * contact information for two references

Selected candidates will be asked to either submit a confidential statement indicating salary for the current academic year (September

1, 2023 - June 1, 2024) or provide written authorization for Princeton to confirm their salary.

For priority consideration application materials must be received by 11:59 p.m. EST on December 1, 2023 for appointments beginning in September 2024. Awards will be announced in March 2024 or before.

Please address any inquiries to:

Shilo Brooks, Ph.D.

Executive Director

James Madison Program in American Ideals and Institutions

Princeton University

83 Prospect Avenue

Princeton, NJ 08540

E-mail: shilo.brooks@princeton.edu / Web address: jmp.princeton.edu

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 12/1/2023

Date Posted: 8/28/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12379

Princeton University

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Associate, James Madison Program

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Political Theory, Public Law

Invitation for Postdoctoral Research Associate Applications

The James Madison Program in American Ideals and Institutions at Princeton University is dedicated to the pursuit of scholarly excellence in the fields of constitutional law and political thought. Sponsored by Princeton's Department of Politics, the Program seeks to enrich the intellectual life of Princeton students and faculty by exploring American constitutional principles and structures through research and public discussion.

The Program invites recent Ph.D. recipients to apply for appointments as Postdoctoral Research Associates or more senior researchers for the year from September 1, 2024 to September 1, 2025. Appointments will be through the Department of Politics. All James Madison Program researchers are expected to be in residence in Princeton or the local vicinity, or demonstrate to the program's satisfaction the ability to be on campus daily, and on short notice, to fulfill responsibilities relating to in-person participation, office hours, and the like. They may not be employed by another institution during the term of their Princeton appointment. They enjoy access to Firestone Library and a wide range of other facilities and activities throughout the University. Depending on the needs of the University, teaching opportunities may be available, subject to the approval of the Dean of the Faculty. Researchers appointed in the Madison Program are expected to devote full time to their proposed research. They are, however, encouraged to attend or participate in various activities of the Program, including faculty-student seminars, colloquia, and public lectures.

The position is a fully funded, 12-month postdoctoral research associate appointment with benefits. All James Madison Program Postdoctoral Research Associates are required to have a Ph.D. degree awarded within the last three years (no earlier than September 1, 2021). All requirements for the Ph.D. must be met by June 30, 2024. Applications are evaluated on the basis of (1) the significance of the proposed research; (2) the quality of the applicant's past research; and (3) the future contribution the applicant is likely to make to higher education.

Positions are open to all regardless of citizenship. This position is subject to the University's background check policy.

How to apply: Applicants are required to submit an online application at <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/31662>

A complete application must include the following:

* a curriculum vitae;

* a scholarly paper written in the past three years;

* a statement (no more than 1,500 words) describing the proposed research;

* contact information for two references.

For priority consideration, application materials must be received by 11:59 p.m. EST on December 1, 2023; applications will continue to be reviewed until positions are filled. Awards will be announced in March 2024 or before.

Please address any inquiries to:

Shilo Brooks, Ph.D.

Executive Director

James Madison Program in American Ideals and Institutions

Princeton University

83 Prospect Avenue

Princeton, NJ 08540

E-mail: shilo.brooks@princeton.edu

Web address: jmp.princeton.edu

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 12/1/2023

Date Posted: 8/28/2023

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 12378

Washington & Lee University

Rank: Assistant Professor of American Politics

The Department of Politics at Washington and Lee University invites applications for at least one tenure-track position in American politics. Our preference is for a second field in Political Theory. The department has needs in the study of parties and elections, public opinion, and methodology. Opportunities will be available to teach in interdisciplinary programs at the University—including Africana Studies, Latin American and Caribbean Studies, Poverty and Human Capability Studies, and Women's, Gender, and Sexuality Studies—as well as the DeLaney Center for the Study of Southern Race Relations, Culture, and Politics.

In addition to teaching the Department's introductory courses in American politics and political philosophy, the successful candidate will be expected to teach upper-level courses in their areas of interest.

This position requires a strong commitment to undergraduate teaching excellence in a liberal arts environment and welcomes interdisciplinary contributions to the curriculum. The school calendar consists of two 13-week terms, one in the fall and one in the winter, along with our unique 4-week spring term. The regular teaching load is 5 courses per year. New hires teach a 2-2 load in their first year.

Faculty are also expected to have an active research program. To support faculty research agendas, the university has generous travel funding, a summer research grant program, a five-year sabbatical cycle, as well as a pre-tenure research leave program.

Washington and Lee is a top-ranked, highly selective university devoted to the teaching of the liberal arts. We are committed to excellence in teaching and to the research and professional activity that support it. Situated in the Shenandoah Valley, three hours southwest of Washington, DC, the university enrolls approximately 1,860 undergraduates and 380 law students.

Qualifications

A completed Ph.D. is required by the time of appointment, which begins July 1, 2024.

Application Instructions

All application materials must be submitted online through Interfolio: <http://apply.interfolio.com/128336>. Application review will begin immediately with full consideration given to applications that are complete by September 29, 2023.

Your letter of application should explain why you wish to teach in a liberal arts setting and how your training and research/teaching interests align with this position. Include a curriculum vitae, graduate transcript (unofficial is acceptable for initial application), teaching evaluations, and three letters of recommendation that speak to teaching and research abilities. Women and minority candidates are especially encouraged to apply. While preliminary interviews will not be conducted at APSA-Los Angeles, members of the Politics Department will be available to speak with interested candidates. Send inquiries to PoliticsSearch@wlu.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 9/29/2023

Date Posted: 8/28/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12385

New York University Graduate School of Arts and Science

Rank: Faculty Fellow

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Political Theory, International Relations

Specializations: Social Movements, Science & Technology, Urban Politics

Faculty Fellow

XE: Experimental Humanities & Social Engagement
New York University Graduate School of Arts and Science

XE: Experimental Humanities & Social Engagement, an interdisciplinary master's program in the Graduate School of Arts and Science at New York University, invites applications for a Faculty Fellow position in the social sciences. The initial appointment will be for one year beginning September 1, 2024, renewable annually for a maximum of three years, pending administrative and budgetary approval.

We seek outstanding interdisciplinary scholars of the social sciences whose work engages intersectional social justice. The successful candidate will be committed to cutting-edge interdisciplinary inquiry and their fields will include, span, or exceed: anthropology, sociology, science and technology studies, politics, or urban studies, addressing urgent topics such as displacement and migration, indigenous rights, anti-racism, decolonization, incarceration, health, or environmental justice, among others.

Faculty fellows teach three graduate seminars per year, advise and mentor students, oversee master's theses, organize public programs, and actively participate in shaping the life of the program.

XE is a highly innovative master's program and tight-knit community of scholars and practitioners who value collaborative mentoring and career building, as well as exploring new pedagogies and research methods at the intersection of creativity, criticality, and social engagement.

Qualifications:

We seek candidates with a PhD in the social sciences. While PhDs are required, we welcome candidates who have a public-facing critical or artistic practice in their field/s. Candidates should have completed their Ph.D. no earlier than 2020 and no later than by August 1, 2024.

To apply, please submit: a cover letter, curriculum vitae, a 20- to 30-page writing sample, sample syllabi for two dream classes, three letters of recommendation, and a statement of diversity and inclusion.

Applications should be submitted through Interfolio: <http://apply.interfolio.com/129772>

The search committee will begin reviewing applications on January 5, 2023 and will continue until the position is filled.

As diversity is a priority for NYU and for this position, for the latter statement we ask you to provide a brief paragraph telling us how diversity figures into your past and present teaching, research, community engagement, and/or life experience, as well as how you would bring issues of diversity to bear on the teaching and programming of XE. Information about diversity statements may be found at <http://as.nyu.edu/departments/facultydiversity/recruitment/diversity-statements.html. >

In compliance with NYC's Pay Transparency Act, the annual base salary for this position is $60,000. New York University considers factors such as (but not limited to) the scope and responsibilities of the position, the candidate's work experience, education/training, key skills, internal peer equity, as well as market and organizational considerations when extending an offer.

The Faculty of Arts and Science at NYU is at the heart of a leading research university that spans the globe. We seek scholars of the highest caliber who embody the diversity of the United States as well as the global society in which we live. We strongly encourage applications from women, racial and ethnic minorities, and other individuals who are under-represented in the profession, across color, creed, race, ethnic and national origin, physical ability, gender and sexual identity, or any other legally protected basis. NYU affirms the value of differing perspectives on the world as we strive to build the strongest possible university with the widest reach. To learn more about the FAS commitment to diversity, equality and inclusion, please read here: <http://as.nyu.edu/departments/facultydiversity.html>.

EOE/Affirmative Action/Minorities/Females/Vet/Disabled/Sexual Orientation/Gender Identity.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 1/5/2024

Date Posted: 8/21/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12334

The University of Scranton

Rank: Assistant Professor in U.S. Politics

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Law, Political Theory

Specializations: American Politics, Constitutional Law & Theory, Political Philosophy & Theory

The Department of Political Science at The University of Scranton invites applications for a tenure-track position in U.S. Politics at the Assistant Professor level beginning in August 2024.

Strong commitment to undergraduate teaching, scholarship, and service. Teaching responsibilities include introductory and elective courses in U.S. Politics, electives in law and politics, and required courses for majors in political theory. Candidates will have the ability to design new law and political theory courses aligned with their interests and expertise and in support of departmental curriculum in Political Science and Public Policy & Service. The standard teaching load is 3-3. Applicants will be expected to support Pre-Law activities of Department majors and the broader University.

Applicants should have a Ph.D. in Political Science or related field at time of appointment; strong ABD candidates in Political Science or related field will be considered.

Apply online at <https://universityofscrantonjobs.com>. Please include in the online application 1) a letter of interest addressing qualifications, teaching philosophy and research interests, 2) curriculum vitae, 3) writing sample, 4) statement that indicates commitment to diversity and inclusion and how this informs pedagogy, and 5) three confidential letters of recommendation.

Review of applications will begin on October 16, 2023. Applications will be accepted until the position is filled.

For further information about the Political Science Department, visit our web page at <https://www.scranton.edu/academics/cas/political-science/index.shtml>. For information about the University's law-related programs, visit <https://www.scranton.edu/academics/cas/pre-law/index.shtml>. The Department also directs the Center for Ethics and Excellence in Public Service (CEEPS).

Please contact Dr. Mike Allison, Chair of the Department of Political Science, via email at michael.allison@scranton.edu for questions about the position.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/18/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12325

Harvard University

Rank: Tenure-Track Professor of Government - Political Theory

The Department of Government seeks to appoint a tenure-track professor in Government specializing in Political Theory. The appointment is expected to begin on July 1, 2024. The tenure-track professor will be responsible for teaching at the undergraduate and graduate levels. Candidates are encouraged to apply by September 15, 2023; applications will be reviewed until the position is filled.

Keywords:*

assistant, associate, faculty, instructor, tenure track
Boston, Cambridge, Massachusetts, MA, Northeast, New England

Basic Qualifications: Doctorate or terminal degree in Political Science, Government or related disciplines required by the time the appointment begins.

Additional Qualifications: Demonstrated strong commitment to teaching and advising is desired.

Special Instructions: Please submit the following materials through the ARIeS portal (<https://academicpositions.harvard.edu>). The Committee will begin reviewing applications on September 8, 2022.

1. Cover letter
2. Curriculum Vitae
3. Teaching/advising statement (describing teaching philosophy and practices)
4. Research statement
5. A statement describing efforts to encourage diversity, inclusion, and belonging, including past, current, and anticipated future contributions in these areas.
6. Names and contact information of 3-5 referees, who will be asked by a system-generated email to upload a letter of recommendation once the candidate's application has been submitted. Three letters of recommendation are required, and the application is considered complete only when at least three letters have been received. At least one letter must come from someone who has not served as the candidate's undergraduate, graduate, or postdoctoral advisor.
7. Publications or copies of creative works, if applicable

Start Date: Summer 2024

Date Posted: 8/10/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12248

University of Richmond

Rank: Assistant Professor of Leadership Studies

Specializations: Leadership Studies, Political Philosophy & Theory, Political Behavior

The University of Richmond's Jepson School of Leadership Studies (JLS) invites applications for a full-time tenure-track position at the rank of Assistant Professor to begin in the 2024-25 academic year.

The successful candidate must have completed a Ph.D. in Philosophy or a related field by August 15, 2024. We seek applicants with the potential and desire to develop, from their disciplinary training, an active scholarly agenda on the ethics of leadership. Successful candidates' specific areas of expertise and experience should be in applied or professional ethics, including (but not limited to) political or business ethics.

JLS is a collaborative, inclusive community of scholars with representation from diverse humanities and social science disciplines. Applicants should have the potential and desire to teach in our interdisciplinary undergraduate liberal arts environment (see <http://jepson.richmond.edu/> for more information). The successful candidate will be expected to teach required courses such as Leadership Ethics, Critical Thinking, and Leadership and the Humanities, as well as elective courses that address leadership from a philosophical perspective. Applicants should also be prepared to share in responsibilities for coaching our "Ethics Bowl" team.

The University of Richmond is a private university located just a short drive from downtown Richmond, Virginia. Through its five schools (including JSLS) and wide array of campus programming, the University combines the best qualities of a small liberal arts college and a large university. With approximately 4,000 students, an 8:1 student-faculty ratio, and more than 90% of traditional undergraduate students living on campus, the University is remarkably student-centered, focused on preparing students “to live lives of purpose, thoughtful inquiry, and responsible leadership in a global and pluralistic society.”

The University of Richmond is committed to developing a diverse and inclusive campus community, which values the expression of difference in ways that promote a sense of belonging as well as excellence in teaching, learning, and personal development. The JSLS supports the University's commitment to promoting a diverse and inclusive campus community.

Applicants should apply online at <http://jobs.richmond.edu> and submit a curriculum vitae, cover letter, and teaching statement. In their cover letter, candidates should demonstrate how, given their scholarly and teaching interests, they have the potential to address issues in leadership ethics from a philosophical perspective. In addition, applicants should specify in their cover letters how they are prepared to contribute to the unique, interdisciplinary environment at JSLS and to diversity and inclusion. Candidates for this position may be asked, at a later date, to provide the names and contact information for three references who will be asked to submit letters of recommendation. The teaching statement should articulate the candidate's teaching philosophy and experience, particularly as they relate to the courses the successful candidate is expected to teach.

Review of applications will commence November 1, 2023; the deadline for applications is November 15, 2023. Phone or Zoom interviews will be conducted in December. We anticipate inviting candidates to campus in January.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 11/15/2023

Date Posted: 8/10/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12247

Loyola University Maryland

Rank: Tenure-track Assistant Professor in Political Philosophy/Political Theory

The Department of Political Science at Loyola University Maryland invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor in Political Philosophy/Political Theory to begin July 2024. The successful applicant will be expected to teach a 3-3 load (reduced to 2-3 in the first year); sustain ongoing scholarship and publication; and engage in service, including advising majors. Specific teaching requirements are that the applicant offer courses in classical and/or modern political theory; an introductory course in “Politics”; and occasional special seminars in the Honors Program and first-year Messina program, or other interdisciplinary programs. The Department values an intentional approach to teaching and welcomes courses that take thematic, question-driven, or problem-based approaches.

Required Qualifications: 1) a Ph.D. or soon-to-be Ph.D. in Political Science; 2) ability to teach a range of political philosophy/political theory courses; 3) a strong commitment to excellence in teaching, including an awareness of and interest in high-impact teaching practices in keeping with the mission of Jesuit higher education; 4) a clear record of promise as a scholar.

To apply, candidates submit:

1. Cover letter
2. Curriculum Vitae,
3. Teaching statement, (Other 1)
4. Teaching evaluations and/or syllabi developed by the candidate,
5. Research statement (Other 2)
6. A sample of scholarship (published or in draft form),
7. Graduate transcripts,
8. Two letters of recommendation.

Completed applications received by October 2, 2023 will receive priority consideration, though we will continue to review additional applications until the position is filled. Questions may be directed to Dr. Diana Schaub (dschaub@loyola.edu).

Loyola University Maryland is a Jesuit, Catholic university committed to the educational and spiritual traditions of the Society of Jesus and to the ideals of liberal education and the development of the whole person. Accordingly, Loyola inspires students to learn, lead, and serve in a diverse and changing world. Loyola's beautiful, historic Evergreen campus is located in Baltimore, and its graduate centers are in Timonium and Columbia. Loyola enrolls 4,000 undergraduate and 2,000 graduate students across the Sellinger School of Business and Management, the School of Education, and Loyola College of Arts and Sciences. Founded in 1852, Loyola is one of 27 Jesuit colleges and universities in the United States and the first to bear the name of Saint Ignatius Loyola, founder of the Society of Jesus.

Successful candidates for any staff, faculty, or administrative position at Loyola University Maryland will be subject to a pre-employment background check. In uploading documents in the online application at <https://careers.loyola.edu/postings/6877>, please use the “Other 1” category for a teaching statement, “Other 2” for a research statement, and “Writing Sample” for the sample of scholarship.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/8/2023

Salary: $70,000 - $79,999

eJobs ID: 12236

University of Massachusetts, Boston

Rank: Assistant Professor, Critical Security Studies

Subfield(s): International Relations, Political Theory, Comparative Politics

Specializations: Ethnic & Feminist Theory, International Security, Gender Politics & Policy

The Department of Conflict Resolution, Human Security, and Global Governance (CRHSGG) at the University of Massachusetts Boston invites qualified applicants for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position to join our vibrant, interdisciplinary faculty beginning September 1, 2024.

We are seeking a scholar of critical security studies, broadly defined, who can contribute to and strengthen the core curriculum of the graduate programs in Global Governance and Human Security in CRHSGG. We are particularly interested in candidates whose areas of focus include gender, race, and/or decolonial theory. The position is open to scholars from a range of social sciences, including but not limited to political science, geography, sociology, anthropology, and gender studies, who connect questions of global governance with imperatives for human security.

We are open to a variety of areas of topical focus within critical security studies broadly understood, to all research methodological strategies, and to either a regional or global focus that complements existing expertise in the department. Candidates must possess an earned doctorate in a relevant social science discipline by the date of appointment. Candidates should be prepared to teach in the Global Governance and Human Security core. An ability to contribute to other departmental graduate and undergraduate programs, in International Relations, Conflict Resolution, and Global Affairs, is a plus.

UMass Boston is one of the most diverse campuses in the Northeast region of the U.S. and has a well-established commitment to social justice, equity, and inclusion, with an anti-racist and health-promoting mission. We strongly encourage applications from persons with diverse backgrounds and provide equal employment opportunities without regard to race, color, religion, gender, gender identity or expression, age, sexual orientation, national origin, ancestry, disability, military status, or genetic information.

The Department provides a rich environment for interdisciplinary, collaborative research, policy, and practice, and houses multiple degree programs at the graduate and undergraduate levels. The Department also houses two vibrant research Centers (the Center for Peace, Democracy & Development, and the Center for Governance and Sustainability) and has a strong connection with the Center for Women in Public Policy.

To apply, submit through the application portal (<https://employmentopportunities.umb.edu/en-us/job/519911/assistant-professor-conflict-resolution-human-security-and-global-governance>): a cover letter, curriculum vitae, a writing sample, and the names and contact information for three references who may be contacted at later stages of the selection process. Inquiries regarding the position may be directed to the search committee chair, Dr. Jeffrey Pugh, at Jeffrey.Pugh@umb.edu. Review of applications begins on October 1st and will continue until the position is filled. Responses to frequently asked questions and updates on the search will be posted publicly at https://docs.google.com/document/d/1uNGCFC8q4aAo52y_V4n7ZAS7vQAVEx9pz9-iB8VwNNM/edit?usp=sharing.

UMass Boston is committed to the full inclusion of all qualified individuals. As part of this commitment, we will ensure that persons with disabilities are provided reasonable accommodations for the hiring process. If reasonable accommodation is needed, please contact HRDirect@umb.edu or 617-287-5150.

Start Date: Fall 2024
Application Deadline: 10/1/2023
Date Posted: 8/7/2023
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 12230

Johns Hopkins University

Rank: Associate Director, new interdisciplinary undergraduate major, Moral and Political Economy
Subfield(s): Political Theory, American Government and Politics, Other

The Center for Economy and Society, a division of the SNF Agora Institute at Johns Hopkins University, invites applications for Associate Director of its new interdisciplinary undergraduate major, Moral and Political Economy, with an anticipated start date on or before

July 1, 2024. The Associate Director will direct the senior thesis seminar, advise undergraduates in the major, work closely with the Director and the Faculty Advisory Board in developing and overseeing the curriculum, and participate actively in the intellectual life of the Center. Candidates are expected to have a PhD in hand at the time of application in Anthropology, Economics, History, Philosophy, Political Science, Sociology, or cognate fields, and substantial teaching experience on themes related to moral and political economy. Please submit a cover letter, CV, an article-length writing sample, and a teaching portfolio (including a teaching statement, evaluations, and past syllabi) online via Interfolio at <http://apply.interfolio.com/128845>. Review of applications will begin on October 20, 2023, and will continue until the position is filled.

Johns Hopkins University is committed to active recruitment of a diverse faculty and student body. The University is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer of women, minorities, protected veterans and individuals with disabilities and encourages applications from these and other protected group members. Consistent with the University's goals of achieving excellence in all areas, we will assess the comprehensive qualifications of each applicant.

Start Date: Summer 2024
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/4/2023
Salary: $80,000 - $89,999
eJobs ID: 12211

Johns Hopkins University

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellowship in Moral and Political Economy
Subfield(s): Political Theory, American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics

The Center for Economy and Society, a division of the SNF Agora Institute at Johns Hopkins University, invites applications for two postdoctoral fellowships in Moral and Political Economy. Applications are encouraged from scholars working on cross-disciplinary topics related to moral and political economy, who anticipate having a Ph.D. in hand prior to the anticipated start date of July 1, 2024. Fellows will be appointed for a three-year term, and will be expected to teach two sections in the first year, and three sections or seminars in both the second and third years. In the third year they will also advise senior thesis students in the major. During the academic year fellows are expected to remain in residence in the Baltimore-Washington region, and to participate actively in the intellectual community of CES. Please submit a statement of purpose outlining your research interests and teaching experience (up to 1,500 words), a CV, an article-length writing sample, and three letters of recommendation online via Interfolio at <http://apply.interfolio.com/128921>. Review of applications will begin on December 1, 2023.

Johns Hopkins University is committed to active recruitment of a diverse faculty and student body. The University is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer of women, minorities, protected veterans and individuals with disabilities and encourages applications from these and other protected group members. Consistent with the University's goals of achieving excellence in all areas, we will assess the comprehensive qualifications of each applicant.

Start Date: Summer 2024
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/4/2023

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999
eJobs ID: 12212

University of Toronto

Rank: Assistant Professor – Black Political Thought

The Department of Political Science in the Faculty of Arts and Science at the University of Toronto invites applications for a full-time tenure stream position in the area of Black Political Thought. The appointment will be at the rank of Assistant Professor, with an expected start date of July 1, 2024, or shortly thereafter.

Applicants must have earned a PhD degree in Political Science or a related discipline by the time of appointment, or shortly thereafter, with a clearly demonstrated record of excellence in research and teaching. The successful candidate will specialize in Black Political Thought, understood broadly to include political thought from Africa, the Caribbean, Latin America, Canada, the United States, Europe, or other parts of the world. Lived experience related to Africa and its diaspora will be an asset. The position is open with respect to approach and methodology. Examples of possible research areas include but are not limited to the history of political thought; critical analysis of race, racism, and ethnicity; gendered and class hierarchies of power; colonialism, imperialism, slavery, and their afterlives; political solidarity and social movements; and the implications of Black political thought for comparative political theory. This search aligns with the University's commitment to strategically and proactively promote diversity among our community members (Statement on Equity, Diversity & Excellence). Recognizing that Black, Indigenous, and other Racialized communities have experienced inequities that have developed historically and are ongoing, we strongly welcome and encourage candidates from those communities to apply.

We seek candidates whose research and teaching interests complement and deepen our existing departmental strengths. The successful candidate will undertake undergraduate and graduate teaching responsibilities on the University of Toronto's downtown (St. George) campus. Applicants are encouraged to review the research and teaching profiles of current faculty members. Please visit our home page (Department of Political Science <https://politics.utoronto.ca>) to learn more about us.

The successful candidate will be expected to pursue innovative and independent research at the highest international level and to establish an outstanding, competitive, and externally funded research program. Candidates must provide evidence of research excellence which can be demonstrated by the submitted research statement, a record of publications in top-ranked and field relevant journals or forthcoming publications meeting high international standards, presentations at significant conferences, awards and accolades and, as well as strong endorsements from referees of high standing.

Evidence of excellence in teaching will be provided through teaching accomplishments, the teaching dossier (with required materials outlined below) submitted as part of the application, as well as strong letters of reference.

Candidates are also expected to show evidence of a commitment to equity, diversity, inclusion, and the promotion of a respectful and collegial learning and working environment demonstrated through the application materials.

Salary will be commensurate with qualifications and experience.

All qualified candidates are invited to apply online by clicking the link below. Applicants must submit a cover letter; a current curriculum vitae; a research statement outlining current and future research interests; a recent writing sample of no more than 30 pages; and a teaching dossier to include a teaching statement, sample course materials, and teaching evaluations. Equity and diversity are essential to academic excellence. We seek candidates who value diversity and whose research, teaching and service bear out our commitment to equity. Candidates are therefore also asked to submit a 1-2 page statement of their contributions to equity and diversity, which might cover topics such as (but need not be limited to): research or teaching that incorporates a focus on underrepresented communities, the development of inclusive pedagogies, or the mentoring of students from underrepresented groups.

Applicants must provide the name and contact information of three references. The University of Toronto's recruiting tool will automatically solicit and collect letters of reference from each after an application is submitted (this happens overnight). Applicants remain responsible for ensuring that references submit letters (on letterhead, dated and signed) by the closing date. More details on the automatic reference letter collection, including timelines, are available in the candidate FAQ.

Submission guidelines can be found at <http://uoft.me/how-to-apply>. Your CV and cover letter should be uploaded into the dedicated fields. Please combine additional application materials into one or two files in PDF/MS Word format. If you have any questions about this position, please contact Sari Sherman at chair.polisci@utoronto.ca.

All application materials, including reference letters, must be received by October 5, 2023.

Diversity Statement

The University of Toronto embraces Diversity and is building a culture of belonging that increases our capacity to effectively address and serve the interests of our global community. We strongly encourage applications from Indigenous Peoples, Black and racialized persons, women, persons with disabilities, and people of diverse sexual and gender identities. We value applicants who have demonstrated a commitment to equity, diversity and inclusion and recognize that diverse perspectives, experiences, and expertise are essential to strengthening our academic mission.

As part of your application, you will be asked to complete a brief Diversity Survey. This survey is voluntary. Any information directly related to you is confidential and cannot be accessed by search committees or human resources staff. Results will be aggregated for institutional planning purposes. For more information, please see <http://uoft.me/UP>.

Accessibility Statement

The University strives to be an equitable and inclusive community, and proactively seeks to increase diversity among its community members. Our values regarding equity and diversity are linked with our unwavering commitment to excellence in the pursuit of our academic mission.

The University is committed to the principles of the Accessibility for Ontarians with Disabilities Act (AODA). As such, we strive to make our recruitment, assessment and selection processes as accessible as possible and provide accommodations as required for applicants with disabilities.

If you require any accommodations at any point during the application and hiring process, please contact uoft.careers@utoronto.ca.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 10/5/2023

Date Posted: 8/3/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12205

University of Toronto

Rank: Associate Professor/Professor – Black Political Thought

The Department of Political Science in the Faculty of Arts and Science at the University of Toronto invites applications for a full-time tenure stream position in the area of Black Political Thought. The appointment will be at the rank of Associate Professor or Professor, with an expected start date of July 1, 2024, or shortly thereafter.

Applicants must have earned a PhD degree in Political Science or a related discipline with a clearly demonstrated record of excellence in research and teaching. The successful candidate will specialize in Black Political Thought, understood broadly to include political thought from Africa, the Caribbean, Latin America, Canada, the United States, Europe, or other parts of the world. Lived experience related to Africa and its diaspora will be an asset. The position is open with respect to approach and methodology. Examples of possible research areas include but are not limited to the history of political thought; critical analysis of race, racism, and ethnicity; gendered and class hierarchies of power; colonialism, imperialism, slavery, and their afterlives; political solidarity and social movements; and the implications of Black political thought for comparative political theory. This search aligns with the University's commitment to strategically and proactively promote diversity among our community members (Statement on Equity, Diversity & Excellence). Recognizing that Black, Indigenous, and other Racialized communities have experienced inequities that have developed historically and are ongoing, we strongly welcome and encourage candidates from those communities to apply.

We seek candidates whose research and teaching interests complement and deepen our existing departmental strengths. The successful candidate will undertake undergraduate and graduate teaching responsibilities on the University of Toronto's downtown (St. George) campus. Applicants are encouraged to review the research and teaching profiles of current faculty members. Please visit our home page (Department of Political Science <https://politics.utoronto.ca>) to learn more about us.

The successful candidate will be expected to sustain and lead innovative and independent research at the highest international level and maintain an outstanding, competitive, and externally funded research program, and will have an established reputation. Candidates must provide evidence of research excellence which can be demonstrated by the submitted research statement, a record of sustained high-impact contributions and publications in top-ranked and field relevant journals, presentations at significant conferences, distinguished awards and accolades and other noteworthy activities that contribute to the visibility and prominence of the discipline, as well as strong endorsements from referees of high standing.

Evidence of excellence in teaching will be provided through teaching accomplishments, the teaching dossier (with required materials outlined below) submitted as part of the application, as well as strong letters of reference.

Candidates are also expected to show evidence of a commitment to equity, diversity, inclusion, and the promotion of a respectful and collegial learning and working environment demonstrated through the application materials.

Salary and rank will be commensurate with qualifications and experience.

All qualified candidates are invited to apply online by clicking the link below. Applicants must submit a cover letter; a current curriculum vitae; a research statement outlining current and future research interests; a recent writing sample of no more than 30 pages; and a teaching dossier to include a teaching statement, sample course materials, and teaching evaluations. Equity and diversity are essential to academic excellence. We seek candidates who value diversity and whose research, teaching and service bear out our commitment to equity. Candidates are therefore also asked to submit a 1-2 page statement of their contributions to equity and diversity, which might cover topics such as (but need not be limited to): research or teaching that incorporates a focus on underrepresented communities, the development of inclusive pedagogies, or the mentoring of students from underrepresented groups.

Applicants must provide the name and contact information of three references. The University of Toronto's recruiting tool will automatically solicit and collect letters of reference from each after an application is submitted (this happens overnight). Applicants remain responsible for ensuring that references submit letters (on letterhead, dated and signed) by the closing date. More details on the automatic reference letter collection, including timelines, are available in the candidate FAQ.

Submission guidelines can be found at <http://uoft.me/how-to-apply>. Your CV and cover letter should be uploaded into the dedicated fields. Please combine additional application materials into one or two files in PDF/MS Word format. If you have any questions about this position, please contact Sari Sherman at chair.polisci@utoronto.ca.

All application materials, including reference letters, must be received by October 5, 2023.

Diversity Statement

The University of Toronto embraces Diversity and is building a culture of belonging that increases our capacity to effectively address and serve the interests of our global community. We strongly encourage applications from Indigenous Peoples, Black and racialized persons, women, persons with disabilities, and people of diverse sexual and gender identities. We value applicants who have demonstrated a commitment to equity, diversity and inclusion and recognize that diverse perspectives, experiences, and expertise are essential to strengthening our academic mission.

As part of your application, you will be asked to complete a brief Diversity Survey. This survey is voluntary. Any information directly related to you is confidential and cannot be accessed by search committees or human resources staff. Results will be aggregated for institutional planning purposes. For more information, please see <http://uoft.me/UP>.

Accessibility Statement

The University strives to be an equitable and inclusive community, and proactively seeks to increase diversity among its community members. Our values regarding equity and diversity are linked with our unwavering commitment to excellence in the pursuit of our academic mission.

The University is committed to the principles of the Accessibility for Ontarians with Disabilities Act (AODA). As such, we strive to make our recruitment, assessment and selection processes as accessible as possible and provide accommodations as required for applicants with disabilities.

If you require any accommodations at any point during the application and hiring process, please contact uoft.careers@utoronto.ca.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 10/5/2023

Date Posted: 8/3/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12204

Princeton University

Rank: Postdoctoral Researcher in Political Theory

The Princeton University Center for Human Values invites applications for a Postdoctoral Researcher in Political Theory for a position starting in September 2024.

The researcher's duties will include making progress on their own research projects, teaching the equivalent of one course each year, and actively participating in the intellectual community of the University Center for Human Values. The teaching will likely involve running a senior thesis seminar rather than teaching a traditional course, subject to approval of Princeton's Dean of the Faculty. The postdoc will be expected to participate in a year-long research seminar for visiting fellows and Center faculty, as well as a year-long seminar for the Center's cohort of Postdoctoral Associates. (Each of these seminars meets roughly every other week.) The postdoc will also be expected to regularly attend some of the talks, panels, and conferences sponsored by the Center.

The University Center for Human Values has a strong record of placing our Postdoctoral Researchers in excellent tenure-track academic jobs. Some recent postdocs can be seen here: <https://uchv.princeton.edu/people/postdoctoral-research-associates>.

Qualifications

Applications are welcome from candidates who have or expect to have a Ph.D. by the start date of their appointment, normally beginning September 1, 2024. Applicants should not have more than two years of postdoctoral experience by the date of appointment. Applicants should have a serious research specialization in Political Theory. We understand Political Theory broadly to include the history of political thought, normative analysis, and intellectual projects involving work jointly with other subfields in political science, related disciplines, or in interdisciplinary areas. While most political theorists are trained in departments of politics and political science, we also welcome applications from candidates with research expertise in political theory who are trained in other disciplines or in interdisciplinary approaches.

Applications will be evaluated on the basis of the applicant's previous accomplishments and the promise of the proposed research project in Political Theory.

Term of Appointment

The term of the fellowship is one year, normally beginning September 1, 2024, with the possibility of renewal for up to one additional year pending satisfactory performance. Appointment will be made to the rank of Postdoctoral Research Associate. Princeton University offers competitive salary and employee benefits.

How to Apply

Candidates must submit an online application at <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/31081>.

A complete application will include the following supporting materials:

1. A curriculum vitae;
2. A research proposal (not to exceed 1,500 words) describing the research project(s) the applicant plans to work on during the fellowship. Please provide an indicative title in the heading;
3. A scholarly paper (of no more than 12,000 words, not including bibliography) representing the applicant's scholarly achievement or potential;
4. Contact information for three referees, who should be prepared to comment specifically about the applicant's qualifications for the proposed research project. Referees will be contacted directly with instructions for uploading letters of reference.

Applicant materials must be submitted online by the application deadline of November 1, 2023, 11:59 p.m. EST. We do not accept application materials by any other method. Letters of reference should be submitted by the priority deadline of November 8, 2023, 11:59 p.m. EST. The selection committee will begin reviewing applications immediately, so letters of reference received after the priority deadline may put candidates at a disadvantage.

We expect to announce decisions in late March 2024. This position is subject to the University's background check policy.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 11/1/2023

Date Posted: 8/2/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12202

University of Toronto

Rank: Assistant Professor - Liberal Democratic Theory

The Department of Political Science in the Faculty of Arts and Science at the University of Toronto invites applications for a full-time tenure stream position in liberal democratic theory. The appointment will be at the rank of Assistant Professor, with an expected start date of July 1, 2024, or shortly thereafter.

Applicants must have earned a PhD degree in Political Science or a related area by the time of the appointment, or shortly thereafter, with a demonstrated record of excellence in research and teaching. The successful candidate will specialize in liberal democratic theory and its critics.

The position is open with respect to approaches and methods. We are particularly interested in candidates whose research addresses the ideals and challenges of liberal democratic politics.

We seek candidates whose research and teaching interests complement and deepen our existing departmental strengths. The successful candidate will undertake undergraduate and graduate teaching responsibilities on the University of Toronto's downtown (St. George) campus. Applicants are encouraged to review the research and teaching profiles of current faculty members. Please visit our home page (Department of Political Science <https://politics.utoronto.ca>) to learn more about us.

The successful candidate will be expected to pursue innovative and independent research at the highest international level and to establish an outstanding, competitive, and externally funded research program. Candidates must provide evidence of research excellence which can be demonstrated by the submitted research statement, a record of publications in top-ranked and field relevant journals or forthcoming publications meeting high international standards, presentations at significant conferences, and awards and accolades, and strong endorsements from referees of high standing.

Evidence of excellence in teaching will be provided through teaching accomplishments, the teaching dossier (with required materials outlined below) submitted as part of the application, as well as strong letters of reference.

Candidates are also expected to show evidence of a commitment to equity, diversity, inclusion, and the promotion of a respectful and collegial learning and working environment demonstrated through the application materials.

Salary will be commensurate with qualifications and experience.

All qualified candidates are invited to apply online by clicking the link below. Applicants must submit a cover letter; a current curriculum vitae; a research statement outlining current and future research interests; a recent writing sample of no more than 30 pages; and a teaching dossier to include a teaching statement, sample course materials, and teaching evaluations.

Equity and diversity are essential to academic excellence. We seek candidates who value diversity and whose research, teaching and service bear out our commitment to equity.

Candidates are therefore also asked to submit a 1–2-page statement of their contributions to equity and diversity, which might cover topics such as (but need not be limited to): research or teaching that incorporates a focus on underrepresented communities, the development of inclusive pedagogies, or the mentoring of students from underrepresented groups.

Applicants must provide the name and contact information of three references. The University of Toronto's recruiting tool will automatically solicit and collect letters of reference from each after an application is submitted (this happens overnight). Applicants remain responsible for ensuring that references submit letters (on letterhead, dated and signed) by the closing date. More details on the automatic reference letter collection, including timelines, are available in the FAQ.

Submission guidelines can be found at <http://uoft.me/how-to-apply>. Your CV and cover letter should be uploaded into the dedicated fields. Please combine additional application materials into one or two files in PDF/MS Word format. If you have any questions about this position, please contact Sari Sherman at chair.polisci@utoronto.ca.

All application materials, including reference letters, must be received by September 26, 2023.

All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply; however, Canadians and permanent residents will be given priority.

Diversity Statement

The University of Toronto embraces Diversity and is building a culture of belonging that increases our capacity to effectively address and serve the interests of our global community.

We strongly encourage applications from Indigenous Peoples, Black and racialized persons, women, persons with disabilities, and people of diverse sexual and gender identities. We value applicants who have demonstrated a commitment to equity, diversity and inclusion and recognize that diverse perspectives, experiences, and expertise are essential to strengthening our academic mission.

As part of your application, you will be asked to complete a brief Diversity Survey. This survey is voluntary. Any information directly related to you is confidential and cannot be accessed by search committees or human resources staff. Results will be aggregated for institutional planning purposes. For more information, please see <http://uoft.me/UP>.

Accessibility Statement

The University strives to be an equitable and inclusive community, and proactively seeks to increase diversity among its community members. Our values regarding equity and diversity are linked with our unwavering commitment to excellence in the pursuit of our academic mission.

The University is committed to the principles of the Accessibility for Ontarians with Disabilities Act (AODA). As such, we strive to make our recruitment, assessment and selection processes as accessible as possible and provide accommodations as required for applicants with disabilities.

If you require any accommodations at any point during the application and hiring process, please contact uoft.careers@utoronto.ca.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 9/26/2023

Date Posted: 7/24/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12133

University of Michigan-Ann Arbor

Rank: Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): Methodology, Public Policy, Political Theory

Specializations: Quantitative Methods, Science & Technology, Political Economy

The Center for the Study of Complex Systems (CSCS) at the University of Michigan seeks applicants for a tenure-track faculty position in complex systems science. The Center is a broad, interdisciplinary unit whose faculty use and develop tools from applied mathematics, computation, physics, statistics, engineering, and network theory to understand questions in the social, biological, and physical sciences. This is a University-year appointment at the Assistant Professor level. The expected start date is August 26, 2024.

Required Qualifications: We seek applicants with a research agenda focused on the development and/or application of complex systems models and/or methods. This may involve theoretical or applied research in areas of complex systems including (but not limited to) mathematical and computational work in network science, computational approaches in complex systems and related topics in computer science, social science, emergence and robustness, or scientific applications where complex systems theory lies at the core of the approach such as: quantitative modeling of biological and social systems, complex systems approaches to systemic racism and health disparities, biological and social evolution, artificial life, and cognition. We are particularly interested in candidates with a record of working across disciplines.

How to Apply: All applications must be uploaded here: <https://webapps.lsa.umich.edu/apply/1700>

This faculty position will be in the Center for the Study of Complex Systems or joint between Complex Systems and another academic department or school at the University of Michigan. If a joint appointment is preferred, candidates should suggest possible partner departments or schools. Complex Systems has a tradition of jointly appointed faculty across a wide range of schools and colleges at the University of Michigan, however both joint and 100% Complex Systems appointments will be considered. Applicants must submit a CV, a statement of current and future research plans, a statement of teaching philosophy and experience, and evidence of teaching excellence, if any. At least three letters of recommendation are required and must be uploaded by the letter writers to the same website. Finally, please include a diversity statement that demonstrates your commitment to diversity, equity, and inclusion through scholarship/research, and/or teaching/mentoring, and/or service/engagement. There may be some overlap with your research proposal and teaching statements (1-3 pages).

Review of applications will begin on October 1, 2023 and continue until the position is filled.

Offers for this appointment are contingent on successful completion of a background screening. The University of Michigan is supportive of the needs of dual career couples and is an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer. Women and minority groups are encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 10/1/2023

Date Posted: 7/12/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12090

Hampden-Sydney College

Rank: Assistant Professor/International Law & IR

Subfield(s): International Relations, Political Theory, Other

Specializations: International Law & Organizations, International Security, Normative Political Theory

Hampden-Sydney College invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track appointment at the rank of Assistant Professor within the Department of Government and Foreign Affairs to begin in the fall of 2024. Candidates should have expertise in the history and development of international law, theories of international relations, and the role of the U.S. Constitution in foreign affairs. The ability to teach courses in regional or global policymaking is also welcome. The successful applicant may participate in the college-wide Core Cultures program and teach, as needed, introductory courses in world politics. Faculty teach on a three-year course load rotation with six courses per year for two years and seven courses in the third year.

Hampden-Sydney College highly values the teacher/scholar model. Successful applicants will have a record of effective classroom teaching, a commitment to scholarly productivity, and the willingness to work with colleagues on professional service responsibilities. Applicants should have a Ph.D. in political science or comparable degree by the time of appointment.

Please submit a letter of application, curriculum vitae, teaching statement, research statement, and three letters of reference to Dr. Celia Carroll Jones, Chair, Department of Government and Foreign Affairs, Hampden-Sydney College via Interfolio. Review of applications will begin in fall 2023; application deadline is September 10, 2023.

Hampden-Sydney College is a selective liberal arts institution enrolling approximately 1000 students. Founded in 1775, it is the tenth oldest institution of higher learning in the United States and one of four liberal arts colleges in the United States dedicated to the education of men. Our mission is to educate “good men and good citizens in an atmosphere of sound learning.”

Our beautiful 1300-acre campus is less than 7 miles from downtown Farmville, home to Longwood University and the Moton Museum, which is listed on the U.S. Civil Rights Trail. The campus is located 65 miles west of Richmond, 50 miles east of Lynchburg, and 75 miles south of Charlottesville, providing abundant cultural, recreational and artistic resources. As a community, we are dedicated to the goal of building a culturally diverse faculty committed to working in a multicultural environment and strongly encourage applications from women and minoritized groups. Hampden-Sydney College values diversity, prohibits discrimination, and is committed to equal opportunity for all employees and applicants for employment.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 9/10/2023

Date Posted: 5/31/2023

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 11994

Bloomsburg University

Rank: Political Science Temporary Pool-Political Theory

Position Description

The Department of Political Science at Bloomsburg University of Pennsylvania seeks qualified candidates for temporary teaching positions (full-time one semester, part-time one semester or part-time academic year) as needs arise. A successful applicant must be able to teach our introductory course in political theory, POLISCI 108: Contemporary Political Ideologies. A description of this courses can be found in the most current Academic Catalog at Bloomsburg University <https://archive.bloomu.edu/catalog/>.

Qualifying Education/Experience

Applicants must possess a Master's Degree in Political Science or related field (Public Administration, Public Policy) from a regionally accredited institution. A Ph.D. in Political Science or related field is preferred as is specialization in the disciplinary subfield of political theory. Applicants should also possess a demonstrated ability to work with diverse populations. Previous college teaching experience is preferred.

Supplemental Information

A complete application includes a cover letter addressing requirements and preferences for the position, a current CV, teaching evaluations (if available), a statement of philosophy of education, and 3 letters of recommendation. Submit application materials online at www.bloomu.edu/jobs Applications to this temporary pool will be accepted through April 30, 2024 (to reflect three-year life cycle of pool). Questions may be directed to Search & Screen Committee Chair, Dr. Neil Strine, hstrin2@bloomu.edu

Finalist(s) for these positions must communicate well and successfully complete an interview process and/or teaching demonstration as judged by the department faculty. Recommendation for hiring is needed from a majority of the regular, full-time department faculty.

Prior to a final offer of employment, the selected candidate will be required to submit to a background check including, but not limited to, employment verification, educational and other credential verification, Pennsylvania Child Abuse History Clearance and criminal background.

Completing this search is contingent upon enrollment and available funding.

The University prohibits any form of discrimination or harassment on the basis of sex, race, color, age, religion, national or ethnic origin, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, pregnancy, marital or family status, medical condition, genetic information, veteran status, or disability in any decision regarding admissions, employment, or participation in a University program or activity in accordance with the letter and spirit of federal, state, and local non-discrimination and equal opportunity laws, such as Titles VI and VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972, the Age Discrimination in Employment Act, the Americans with Disabilities Act and ADA Amendments Act, the Equal Pay Act, and the Pennsylvania Human Relations Act. The University also complies with the Jeanne Clery Disclosure of Campus Security Policy and Campus Crimes Statistics Act, as amended by the Violence Against Women Act (VAWA). Title IX prohibits retaliation for asserting or otherwise participating in claims of sex discrimination. VAWA imposes additional duties on universities and colleges to investigate and respond to reports of sexual assault, stalking, and dating or domestic violence, and to publish policies and procedures related to the way these reports are handled. The University has designated the Title IX Coordinator (Jennifer Raup, Elwell Hall, ORL, 570-389-4808, jraup@bloomu.edu or titleixcoord@bloomu.edu), to coordinate the University's compliance with Title IX and VAWA and to respond to reports of violations. The University has directed the Bloomsburg University Police Department to coordinate the University's compliance with the VAWA- related Clery reporting requirements. Additionally, inquiries concerning Title IX and its implementing regulation can be made to the U.S. Department of Education, Office of Civil Rights, Region III, The Wanamaker Building, 100 Penn Square East - Suite 505, Philadelphia, PA 19107; Phone: (215) 656-6010; Fax: (215) 656-6020.

Start Date: Spring 2021

Application Deadline: 4/30/2024

Date Posted: 4/30/2021

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 8845

PUBLIC ADMINISTRATION

KDI School of Public Policy and Management

Rank: 2023-2024 KDI School Job Openings for Tenure-Track Professors

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Public Administration, Other

*Please find the attached file for detailed information at <https://bit.ly/kdischool-2024-job-openings>.

*Please submit application materials electronically at <http://apply.interfolio.com/130014>.

1. Artificial Intelligence (AI) & Machine Learning (ML) for Public Policy

We invite applications from scholars specializing in the application of artificial intelligence (AI) and machine learning (ML) to address public policy and social science concerns. The ideal applicant will have research expertise that bridges the innovative technologies of AI and ML with nuanced public policy considerations. Successful candidates can be from any computational background (e.g. computational social science, computer science, information science) with research expertise in developing and applying ML, AI, or data science approaches for answering questions in public policy and the social sciences, although candidates from broader social science fields will be also welcomed and considered under the same criteria.

2. Human Computer Interaction & Data-driven Communication for Public Policy

We seek applications from scholars in the area of data science (broadly construed). Substantive expertise of interests are in one or more of the following areas are desired:

- Human-computer interaction (HCI)
 - Data-driven journalism or communication
 - Science and technology policies or ethical dilemmas presented by modern data science and AI applications
 - Application of advanced computational techniques including the use of unstructured data beyond text (image, audio, video, sensor, geospatial, etc.) to social, economic, and/or policy issues
- Successful candidates should hold a disciplinary foundation in fields such as computational social science, computer science, or information science, broadly defined. Prospective applicants will not only be judged on their technical proficiency but also their ability to weave data science techniques into the intricate web of public policy issues. A teaching portfolio is expected to suit the needs of an international public policy school with a diverse student body.

3. Strategic Management

We are seeking candidates in the area of strategic management. The ideal candidate would be a scholar who is interested in research and teaching focusing on traditional strategic management and/or economics. Strong research capabilities in strategic management of public organizations (including public enterprises), non-profit organizations and/or social enterprises is preferred. We are particularly interested in candidates who can develop innovative courses and interact with a broad range of policymakers, scholars, and practitioners in this dynamic and constantly evolving field.

4. Development Economics/Development Studies

We seek applications for a tenure track position in development studies at any rank. While we welcome applicants from any expertise of development studies, preference is given to candidates who majored in development economics and focus on Southeast Asia or Latin America. The successful candidate will provide strategic academic leadership in research, education, and policy consultation. Therefore, substantive expertise in international development cooperation, fieldwork, or public sector involvement is highly desirable, although not mandatory.

* Qualifications

1. Candidates with research methods that incorporate data science techniques may receive additional consideration for all positions mentioned in this announcement.
– We welcome applicants with diverse research backgrounds, including qualitative, quantitative, or mixed-method.
2. Successful candidates should have strong training in applied empirical methodology, substantive interests in policy-relevant research, and a teaching portfolio that can suit the needs of an international public policy school with a diverse student body.
3. Applicants should have either completed their Ph.D. or be in the advanced stages of their Ph.D. (ABD status), and be able to submit confirmation of their degree by 31 August 2024 for their appointment.
4. All positions are tenure-track and open rank, and candidates with experience from academic or research institutions are preferred.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 10/31/2023

Date Posted: 9/26/2023

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 12558

University of Southern California

Rank: Assistant Professor of Public Policy

The Sol Price School of Public Policy at the University of Southern California invites applications for an assistant professor (tenure-track) in the Department of Public Policy and Management. The Department is interested in candidates with research and teaching interests in social policy – including economic mobility and opportunity and/or social insurance and welfare programs – focusing on analytical approaches to evaluating public policies and programs and/or frameworks for understanding the policy-making process.

The individual will have demonstrated potential for a stellar record of scholarship, and an interest in teaching across the Department's programs at the undergraduate, masters and Ph.D. levels. Candidates from all disciplines and fields that contribute to the vibrant and rigorous study of public policy are encouraged to apply. Candidates should hold a doctoral degree at the time of appointment.

Numerous opportunities for collaboration are available within the Department and the School and its research centers, institutes, and initiatives, including The Bedrosian Center for Governance and the Public Enterprise, The Center on Philanthropy and Public Policy, The Price Center for Social Innovation, and The Schaeffer Center for Health Policy and Economics.

About the Department of Public Policy and Management

The Department houses some of the core programs at the Price School of Public Policy. It offers three nationally ranked professional masters degrees: MPA, MPP and MNLM, as well as a Ph.D. in Public Policy and Management and a professional doctorate in Policy, Planning and Development. In addition, it offers an undergraduate degree in public policy and an executive master's degree in International Public Policy and Management. The Department contains 30 faculty spanning a wide array of research interests, including the policy process, policy analytics, and public and nonprofit management.

The USC Sol Price School of Public Policy

Ranked among the foremost schools of public policy in the nation, the USC Sol Price School of Public Policy generates uncommon knowledge for the common good. The school is composed of overlapping disciplines that generate innovative approaches to critical issues ranging from health-care policy to homelessness, and sustainability to congestion – to name a few. A wide-ranging curriculum, including extensive experiential learning, prepares our graduates to navigate problems that demand multi-layered solutions driven by critical, informed thinking.

The Price School, founded in 1929, is anchored by four departments: Public Policy and Management, Health Policy and Management, Wilbur H. Smith III Department of Estate Development; and Urban Planning and Spatial Analysis. The School's rigorous academic programs provide students with the knowledge and distinctive opportunities to make meaningful contributions to their professions. Integrating classroom instruction with real-world experience and led by some of the world's most renowned faculty in their fields, our students establish a clear pathway to successful careers.

Our academic programs are augmented by numerous research centers, institutes and initiatives that provide additional research expertise and experiences, notable among them are: The Judith and John Bedrosian Center on Governance and the Public; The Center for Philanthropy and Public Policy; The USC Lusk Center for Real Estate; The MET-RANS Transportation Consortium; The Leonard D. Schaeffer Center for Health Policy & Economics; and The Schwarzenegger Institute for State and Global Policy. Together, they account for over $100 million in externally funded research grants and contracts.

Our departments and research enterprise provide unmatched breadth and depth to tackle an enormous range of challenges facing our country and the world. And it's why our graduates hold leadership positions across diverse sectors – public, private, and nonprofit – championing the advancement of the common good. They come from around the world and from a variety of cultures and socio-economic backgrounds to create a rich intellectual environment that celebrates, supports and benefits from diverse people and opinions.

For additional information, see our website: <https://priceschool.usc.edu>.

Compensation and Benefits

The University of Southern California offers a competitive salary within an academic environment based on the candidate's experience and accomplishments. The university also offers excellent benefits to employees, which include: health, dental and life insurance; tuition assistance; disability and retirement plans; credit union membership; and participation in cultural and social events, as well as access to athletic and recreational facilities.

The annual base salary range for this position (9-months) is $125,000-$175,000.

When extending an offer of employment, the University of Southern California considers factors such as (but not limited to) the scope and responsibilities of the position, the candidate's work experience, education/training, key skills, internal peer equity, federal, state, and local laws, contractual stipulations, grant funding, as well as external market and organizational considerations.

Note: The core 9-month base salary for this position will be determined by rank and commensurate with experience, skills, education, and training.

To review the complete job description and to apply, please visit the USC Careers website at usccareers.usc.edu (ref: REQ20138524).

Start Date:

Date Posted: 9/26/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12612

University of Southern California

Rank: Chair, Department of Public Policy and Management;

Professor in Public Policy and Management

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Public Administration, Administration

Position Description and Qualifications

The Sol Price School of Public Policy at the University of Southern California seeks a senior faculty member at the rank of professor (tenured) to serve as the Chair of the Department of Public Policy and Management. The individual will have a stellar record of scholarship and leadership in public policy and management. Of particular interest will be a focus on civic engagement, democratic processes and institutions, collective action, public policy processes and analytics, and public and nonprofit management. We are interested in scholars from all relevant disciplines as well as an interest in a wide array of issue areas that are part of the School's portfolio. Applicants must present evidence of a creative and intellectually rigorous research agenda, significant accomplishments in their field, and demonstrated ability to advance one of the School's most prestigious and influential departments.

About the Department of Public Policy and Management

The Department houses some of the core programs at the Price School of Public Policy. It offers three nationally ranked professional masters degrees: MPA, MPP and MNLM, as well as a Ph.D. in Public Policy and Management and a professional doctorate in Policy, Planning and Development. In addition, it offers an undergraduate degree in public policy and an executive master's degree in International Public Policy and Management. The Department contains 30 faculty spanning a wide array of research interests, including the policy process, policy analytics, and public and nonprofit management.

Compensation and Benefits

The University of Southern California offers a competitive salary within an academic environment based on the candidate's experience and accomplishments. The university also offers excellent benefits to employees, which include: health, dental and life insurance; tuition assistance; disability and retirement plans; credit union membership; and participation in cultural and social events, as well as access to athletic and recreational facilities.

The annual base salary range for this position (9-months) is $200,000-$275,000.

When extending an offer of employment, the University of Southern California considers factors such as (but not limited to) the scope and responsibilities of the position, the candidate's work experience, education/training, key skills, internal peer equity, federal, state, and local laws, contractual stipulations, grant funding, as well as external market and organizational considerations.

Note: The core 9-month base salary for this position will be determined by rank and commensurate with experience, skills, education, and training.

To review the complete job description and to apply, please visit the USC Careers website at usccareers.usc.edu (ref: REQ20138522).

Start Date:

Date Posted: 9/26/2023

Salary: Above $159,999

eJobs ID: 12611

University of Texas at El Paso

Rank: Assistant Professor

About The University of Texas at El Paso

The University of Texas at El Paso is America's leading Hispanic-serving university. Located at the westernmost tip of Texas, where three states and two countries converge along the Rio Grande, UTEP is a comprehensive public research university that is increasing access to excellent higher education. We advance the discovery of public value and positively impact the health, culture, education, and economy of the community we serve. Eighty-four percent of our students are Hispanic, and half of undergraduates are the first in their families to go to college. Deeply woven into the University's character are the distinctive strengths of the people we serve. At UTEP, our 24,000 students have access to 169 bachelor's, master's, and doctoral degree programs. Located in the second-most educated city in Texas, UTEP is recognized as one of the best research universities in the country for connecting students with the community around them. UTEP is one of only four institutions in Texas to hold both the top research and community engagement designations from the Carnegie Classification of Institutions of Higher Education.

The Department of Communication is one of the largest majors at the university, with faculty and over 700 students in five areas of study; Advertising, Communication Studies, Corporate and Organizational Communication, Digital Media Production, and Multimedia Journalism. The Department also offers a Master Arts in Communication. Our 12 tenured and tenure-track faculty and a diverse pool of non-tenure track faculty, engage in communication research and prepare students for applied communication careers; many faculty members focus on Latina/o communication issues in the United States, and we also have a number of faculty focused on global issues and international contexts.

The Department of Political Science and Public Administration is a growing unit of scholars dedicated to disciplinary and interdisciplinary research. Our current composition of 13 tenured and tenure-track faculty and 6 non-tenure track faculty also dedicate themselves to educate future generations of leaders. The Department offers a Master of Public Administration accredited by the Network of Schools of Public Policy, Affairs and Administration (NASPAA), a Graduate Certificate in Nonprofit Administration, and an undergraduate concentration and minor in Public Administration.

Job Description:

We are seeking a scholar with a focus on human resource management (preferably as it relates to diversity management), organizational communication, communication and organizational culture, and/or stakeholder/community engagement and responsiveness. We are especially interested in scholars that conduct empirical research that examines how public and nonprofits actors engage underserved or traditionally marginalized groups. The position will be a joint appointment between the Department of Communication and the Department of Political Science and Public Administration with a tenure home in one of these two departments.

Requirements

Required Qualifications: Applicants must have a Ph.D. in Public Administration, Communication, or a closely related field from an accredited university. ABD applicants will be considered if a doctorate will be in hand by fall 2024. An active research agenda and published scholarly journal articles are required. The potential to secure external funding is highly valued.

Preferred Areas: Preference will be given to candidates who have teaching and/or research expertise in one or more areas listed in the job description.

Application Instructions

Applicants must electronically submit: (1) letter of interest that specifies teaching areas and research expertise; (2) curriculum vita; (3) one scholarly publication or working paper; (4) evidence of teaching effectiveness; (5) graduate transcript (unofficial is acceptable for application; official one needed at hiring) and (6) names and full contact information of three references that we may contact. If you have questions about the position, please contact the Search Committee Chair, Dr. Eric Boyer at ejboyer@utep.edu

Application Review Date: Review of applications will begin December 1, 2023, and will continue until the position is filled.

To apply, please visit www.utep.edu/employment.

Additional Information

Hiring decisions are based on budget approval.

In keeping with its access, excellence, and impact mission, The University of Texas at El Paso is committed to an open, diverse, and inclusive learning and working environment that honors the talents, respects the differences, and nurtures the growth and development of all. We seek to attract faculty and staff who share our commitment.

The University of Texas at El Paso is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer. The University does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, national origin, sex, religion, age, disability, genetic information, veteran status, sexual orientation, or gender identity in employment or the provision of services in accordance with state and federal law. Discrimination on the basis of sex includes an employee's or prospective employee's right to be free from sexual harassment under Title IX of the Higher Education Amendments of 1972.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/26/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12610

University of Wyoming

Rank: Assistant Professor

The University of Wyoming's School of Politics, Public Affairs, and International Studies (SPPAIS) invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track position at the rank of Assistant Professor to contribute to its Master of Public Administration program with emphasis in policy analysis beginning August 2024.

Research area is open. Minimum qualifications include a PhD (or ABD near completion of the PhD) in public administration or related field and the ability to teach courses in Policy Analysis, Empirical Methods, and/or Policy Process. Desired qualifications include an ability to contribute to core courses in the larger MPA curriculum such as public personnel and introduction to public administration at the graduate and undergraduate level.

Interested individuals must complete on-line application at:

https://eeik.fu.us2.oraclecloud.com/hcmUI/CandidateExperience/en/sites/CX_1/job/233188/?utm_medium=jobshare

A completed application includes uploading the following as one PDF document: Letter of application that includes a statement of teaching interests and experience, a research agenda; current CV; list of graduate courses or a graduate transcript; and contact information for at least three work-related references. Review of applications will begin October 23rd, 2023.

The School of Politics, Public Affairs, and International Studies offers bachelor's degrees in Political Science and International Studies and master's degrees in Political Science, International Studies, and Public Administration. Political Science majors pursue a variety of career interests with a plurality having the goal of attending law school. SPPAIS faculty members are drawn from diverse academic backgrounds, utilize a variety of approaches in teaching and scholarly activity, and collaborate with faculty in other academic units (<https://www.uwyo.edu/sppais>).

The University of Wyoming is located in Laramie, a town of 30,000 in the heart of the Rocky Mountain West. The state of Wyoming continues to invest in its university, helping to make it a leader in academics, research and outreach. The university has state-of-the-art facilities in many areas and the community provides the advantages of a major university.

Located in a high mountain valley near the Colorado border, Laramie offers both outstanding recreational opportunities and close proximity to Colorado's Front Range, a bustling group of metropolitan cities including Denver, Boulder, and Fort Collins. This beautiful mountain landscape offers outdoor enjoyment in all seasons, with over 300 days of sunshine annually. For more information about the region, please visit <http://visitlaramie.org/>

The University of Wyoming is an Equal Employment Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability or protected veteran status or any other characteristic protected by law and University policy. To review the EEO is the Law Poster and its Supplement, please see The Diversity & Fairness page.

Pursuant to Wyoming State law, W.S. 19-14-102, as amended, an honorably discharged veteran who has been a resident of the state of Wyoming for one (1) year or more at any time prior to the date when the veteran applies for employment, or any surviving spouse who was married to such veteran at the time of the veteran's death, who is receiving federal survivor benefits based on the veteran's military service and is applying for employment, shall receive an interview preference during the applicant screening process with the University of Wyoming. At the time of application the applicant must possess the business capacity, competency, education or other qualifications required for the position. If disabilities do not materially interfere with performance of job duties, disabled veterans will be given preference over able-bodied veterans. Appropriate documentation of veteran status must be provided at time of application as outlined in the application process. No preference will be given to a veteran currently employed by a public department.

We conduct background investigations for all final candidates being considered for employment. Offers of employment are contingent upon the completion of the background check.

Applicants with disabilities may request accommodation to complete the application and selection process. Please notify Human Resources at least three (3) working days prior to the date of need.

Questions regarding the position can be directed to Robert Schuhmann, search committee chair, at robert.schuhmann@uwyo.edu, and to Andrew Garner, SPPAIS Chair, at agarner1@uwyo.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/21/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12575

University of Chicago

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Public Administration, American Government and Politics

Specializations: Urban Politics, Public Finance & Budgeting, United States

The Mansueto Institute for Urban Innovation at the University of Chicago invites applications for Institute Postdoctoral Fellows for appointments for the 2024-25 academic year. We welcome individuals from a variety of disciplines and perspectives who are interested in building a scholarly understanding of cities.

Fellowships at the Mansueto Institute provide exceptional emergent scholars with a unique nurturing environment that includes advanced technical training, a platform for interdisciplinary research, mentoring by senior faculty, and a community of people studying and working on issues impacting cities from a diversity of areas and perspectives.

Postdoctoral fellows come to us with a variety of backgrounds, including traditional social science disciplines such as economics, political science, and sociology, as well as allied disciplines such as public policy, urban planning, and data science.

Institute Postdoctoral Fellowships are full-time, year-long appointments that can be renewed for a second year, subject to a mutual agreement. Positions are structured between the Mansueto Institute and one of the University of Chicago's Departments or Schools.

Application review will begin December 15.

Apply <https://mirurban.uchicago.edu/opportunities/mansuetofellowspostdoc/>

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 12/15/2023

Date Posted: 9/19/2023

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 12552

Murray State University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Public Administration

The department of Political Science and Sociology invites applications for two full-time, tenure-track Assistant Professors to begin August 2024.

Responsibilities will include:

*Teaching online, in-person, and ITV

*Teaching at the graduate and undergraduate level

*Contributing to required/core courses in the program such as research methods, foundations (intro) to public administration, public policy analysis, public budgeting and finance, public organizations, and the capstone course

*Contributing to other elective courses in the department

*Advising students in the Master of Public Administration program

*Building relationships between the MPA program and the community

*Maintaining a record of scholarship and publications

*Building and maintaining a record of service

Minimum Qualifications and Experience:

Ph.D., DPA, or related doctorate in political science, public administration or public policy is required. ABDs with a documented plan of completion by appointment date will be considered.

Submit your application through the following link:

<https://www.murraystatejobs.com/postings/11026>

For best consideration, please submit a completed application along with all required materials by November 15, 2023. Applications will be accepted until the position is filled.

Murray State blends educational opportunities found at research institutions with collaborative interactions among students, faculty and staff found at smaller universities. Students receive personalized attention from supportive faculty and staff as the University offers a 16:1 student-to-faculty ratio. Murray State University places our highest priority on student learning and excellent teaching, blending the range of educational opportunities often experienced at research institutions with the nurturing student-teacher interactions usually found at smaller universities.

Located in the West Kentucky region, Murray State University is a public, comprehensive University which offers a low cost of living, low property taxes, and a four-season climate. Murray has a friendly, small-town atmosphere with locally-owned specialty shops and restaurants, an acclaimed community theater, art guild and award-winning public schools. The area is home to Kentucky Lake and Land Between the Lakes, a 170,000-acre National Recreation Area, which offers a wide-range of activities and amenities for residents and visitors alike. Located in close proximity to major cities and nearby access to Interstate 24, Murray is just a few hours from Nashville, St. Louis, Louisville and Memphis.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 11/15/2023

Date Posted: 9/15/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12486

University of Texas at El Paso

Rank: Assistant Professor of Public Administration

About The University of Texas at El Paso:

The University of Texas at El Paso is America's leading Hispanic-serving university. Located at the westernmost tip of Texas, where three states and two countries converge along the Rio Grande, UTEP is a comprehensive public research university designated by the Carnegie Classification of Institutions of Higher Education as an institution with a "very high research activity" that is increasing access to excellent higher education (Carnegie R1). We advance the discovery of public values and positively impact the health, culture, education, and economy of the community we serve. Eighty-four percent of our students are Hispanic, and half of undergraduates are the first in their families to go to college. Deeply woven into the University's character are the distinctive strengths of the people we serve. At UTEP, our 24,000 students have access to 169 bachelor's, master's, and doctoral degree programs. Located in the second-most educated city in Texas, UTEP is recognized as one of the best research universities in the country for connecting students with the community around them. The Department of Political Science and Public Administration is a growing unit of scholars dedicated to disciplinary and interdisciplinary research. Our current composition of 13 tenured and tenure-track faculty and 6 non-tenure track faculty also dedicate themselves to educate future generations of leaders. The Department offers a Master of Public Administration accredited by the Network of Schools of Public Policy, Affairs and Administration (NASPAA), a Graduate Certificate in Nonprofit Administration, and an undergraduate concentration and minor in Public Administration.

Job Description:

The Department of Political Science and Public Administration is seeking to fill one full-time tenure-track position beginning Fall 2024 at the Assistant Professor level. The successful candidate will teach in the Master of Public Administration and undergraduate courses in public and nonprofit administration. The ability to teach MPA and undergraduate courses is required. The ability to teach courses in quantitative research methods (graduate and undergraduate) is highly desirable. We prefer candidates who can engage with the local public and/or nonprofit community through community-engaged teaching and applied research.

Requirements:

Required Qualifications: Applicants must have a Ph.D. in Public Administration or a closely related field from an accredited university. ABD applicants will be considered if a doctorate will be in hand by Fall 2024. An active research agenda and published scholarly journal articles are required. A strong record of peer-reviewed publications will ultimately be required for tenure. The potential to secure external funding is highly valued.

Preferred Areas: Preference will be given to candidates who have teaching and/or research expertise in public and/or nonprofit management, public administration, fund development for nonprofits, program evaluation, and/or the roles of nonprofits in serving undocumented migrants or other vulnerable populations.

Additional Information:

Hiring decisions are based on budget approval.

In keeping with its Access and Excellence mission, The University of Texas at El Paso is committed to an open, diverse, and inclusive learning and working environment that honors the talents, respects the differences, and nurtures the growth and development of all. We seek to attract faculty and staff who share our commitment.

The University of Texas at El Paso is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer. The University does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, national origin, sex, religion, age, disability, genetic information, veteran status, sexual orientation, or gender identity in employment or the provision of services in accordance with state and federal law. Discrimination on the basis of sex includes an employee's or prospective employee's right to be free from sexual harassment under Title IX of the Higher Education Amendments of 1972. Inquiries-including the filing of a Formal Complaint or reporting an incident-about the application of Title IX may be referred to the Title IX Coordinator, who can be reached by phone at (915) 747-8358, by email at titleix@utep.edu, or by mail at 500 W. University Ave., El Paso, TX, Kelly Hall, Room 312.

For accommodation information for employees and applicants with disabilities, please contact UTEP's Equal Opportunity Office at eoaa@utep.edu.

Application Instructions:

Applicants must electronically submit: (1) letter of interest that specifies teaching areas and research expertise; (2) curriculum vita; (3) one scholarly publication or working paper; (4) evidence of teaching effectiveness; (5) graduate transcript (unofficial is acceptable for application; official one needed at hiring) and (6) names and full contact information of three references that we may contact. If you have questions about the position, please contact the Search Committee Chair, Dr. Eric Boyer at ejboyer@utep.edu

Application Review Date:

Review of applications will begin November 1, 2023, and will continue until the position is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/15/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12527

Harvard University

Rank: FELLOWS-IN-RESIDENCE PROGRAM

Subfield(s): Other, Public Administration, Public Policy

The Edmond & Lily Safra Center for Ethics at Harvard University invites applications from a broad range of researchers and practitioners who will work over the course of the year on pressing issues in ethics. Faculty in arts and sciences and professional schools, postdoctoral scholars, practitioners, and researchers from industry, government, and NGOs are eligible to apply. The call for applications for the 2024-25 is completely open: we will consider any topic pertaining to the serious ethical questions of our time. All eligible applicants are encouraged to apply and will be given careful consideration; priority will be given to outstanding early career scholars and practitioners.

As always, our goal will be to craft a cohort in which all fellows will find valuable intellectual partnerships to support and spur their work. The ideal candidates are those who are willing to invest time and energy into building community with the other fellows in their cohort.

Fellows-in-Residence will be expected to devote the majority of their time to their individual projects and to participate in regular work-in-progress seminars. In addition, Fellows are strongly encouraged to participate in—and contribute to—the Center’s programming, which includes public lectures, themed seminars and reading groups, conferences, workshops, and lunch discussions.

This Fellowship is intended to be residential. With the exception of travel to conferences and meetings, Fellows are expected to be in residence in the Boston area at least four working days per week during the term.

For the last few years, the Center has offered the possibility of joint fellowship opportunities with several other Centers at Harvard. We continue to offer that possibility, with specific potential affiliations to be worked out on a case-by-case basis:

- Berkman Klein Center for Internet and Society at Harvard University
- Carr Center for Human Rights at the Harvard Kennedy School
- Center for Bioethics at the Harvard Medical School
- Center for Research on Computation and Society at the Harvard John A. Paulson School of Engineering and Applied Sciences
- Hutchins Center for African & African American Research at Harvard University
- Petrie-Flom Center for Health Law Policy, Biotechnology and Bioethics at the Harvard Law School

Applicants will be invited to indicate on the application form whether they wish to be considered for a joint fellowship position with one of these Centers. If selected, the joint fellowship will offer access to development opportunities and programming at the Edmond & Lily Safra Center for Ethics and the partnering center.

ELIGIBILITY

Applicants must have a PhD, professional degree, or a minimum of 5 years of equivalent professional experience by the start of the fellowship year. Applicants from any discipline or professional field will be considered. Those who have previously held a yearlong residential Fellowship at the Center are not eligible; this limitation does not apply to former Undergraduate Fellows or former Graduate Fellows. The Fellows-in-Residence Program runs the course of the academic year, typically from the beginning of September through the end of May, and is open to all applicants who meet the above criteria, regardless of citizenship.

STIPEND

Faculty:

We offer a stipend of one-half of your base academic year salary, up to $80,000, and a research allowance of up to $5,000 for approved expenses directly related to your work, such as travel, books, and research assistance.

Post-Doc:

The stipend for post-doctoral fellows will be $70,000 for 2024-25. We also provide a research allowance of up to $5,000 for approved expenses directly related to your work, such as travel, books, and research assistance.

Practitioner:

Practitioner stipends are determined on a case-by-case basis, commensurate with experience, up to a maximum of $80,000. We also provide a research allowance of up to $5,000 for approved expenses directly related to your work, such as travel, books, and research assistance.

APPLICATION REQUIREMENTS

Before beginning the application, you may wish to have the following information available:

- The title of your research proposal
- Names and contact information for 3 references (no letters are accepted at this stage)

To apply, complete our online application form, which will request the information noted above. You will also be asked to upload the following documents:

- Cover letter stating your background and interest in the Fellows-in-Residence Program at the Edmond & Lily Safra Center for Ethics
- Curriculum Vitae
- Research proposal
- Recent writing sample

Please note: Name and contact information for three professional references will be requested, but no letters will be accepted at this stage.

The deadline to submit an application is November 15, 2023, with decisions likely to be announced in February 2024. Please note that the application form will be saved automatically while in progress, but no edits or alterations will be allowed once you have submitted the application. Please direct questions regarding this application process to EJSafraFellowships@fas.harvard.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 11/15/2023

Date Posted: 9/12/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12500

California State University-Sacramento

Rank: Department Chairperson and Tenured Associate/Full Professor

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Public Administration, American Government and Politics

The Department of Public Policy and Administration at Sacramento State seeks applications for Department Chair at the level of Associate or Full Professor. The Department prepares future leaders to address the complex issues facing California; it focuses on professional training for graduate students. Application review begins on October 8, 2023 and the position will remain open until filled. Application submission requirements are available at <https://careers.csus.edu/en-us/job/531163/tenured-faculty-and-department-chair-public-policy-and-administration> .

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/11/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12498

University of Miami

Rank: Assistant Professor of Public Administration

The Department of Political Science at the University of Miami invites applications for a tenure-track faculty position at the rank of Assistant Professor to begin August 15, 2024. The department seeks candidates in the field of public administration and welcomes applications from all public administration and public management scholars, especially those with expertise in budget and financial management; equity and diversity; leadership and ethics; nonprofit management; and data science, big data, and artificial intelligence. Demonstrated interest in community engagement and partnerships and public-facing work are also desirable.

The expected teaching commitment is 2-2. The successful candidate will contribute to our graduate programs in public administration (MPA) and public policy (MPP) and to our undergraduate major in public administration through teaching, research, and service. Candidates must have a Ph.D. in Public Administration or a related field in hand by August 15, 2024.

Interested applicants may apply online at www.miami.edu/careers. Applicants should upload a single document including: (1) cover letter; (2) CV; (3) a statement of teaching philosophy focused on your ability to contribute to inclusive graduate and undergraduate environments; (4) a statement detailing past, as well as expected, contributions to fostering diversity, equity and inclusion; (5) PhD transcript (unofficial is acceptable for initial application); (6) writing sample. Please arrange for three reference letters to be sent directly to the search chair at {uscinski@miami.edu}. Applications received on or before September 25, 2023 will be given full consideration, though the committee will continue to accept applications until the position is filled. For further information about the position please contact the search committee chair (Joseph Uscinski, {uscinski@miami.edu}). Additional information about the department is available at <http://www.as.miami.edu/politicalscience/>.

To apply, please visit https://umiami.wd1.myworkdayjobs.com/en-US/UMFaculty/job/Assistant-Professor-of-Public-Administration_R100069525

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/11/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12492

University of Tennessee

Rank: Associate Professor/Professor for Public Administration

Subfield(s): Administration, Public Administration, Public Policy

Associate Professor/Professor for Public Administration (2 positions needed), Fall 2024

Location

Baker School

Position Type

UTK Tenure Track Faculty

Position URL

apply.interfolio.com/127756

Position Description

The Howard H. Baker, Jr. School of Public Policy and Public Affairs at the University of Tennessee, Knoxville invites applications for a tenure-track faculty position in Public Policy and Public Affairs to begin in August 2024. We are seeking two scholars to contribute primarily to graduate and undergraduate degree programs in public administration. This search is for tenured applicants at the Associate Professor or Full Professor rank with established research and teaching records.

2 Positions needed.

Qualifications

Candidates must have tenure at the Associate Professor or Full Professor rank with established research and teaching records. Candidates must have a doctoral degree in Public Administration, Public Management, Public Policy, Political Science, or a related field. Candidates must be able to contribute to teaching in a master's program in public administration, including field courses and core coursework in public budgeting, human resources management, public and non-profit management, and emergency management; provide service to the university and community; contribute to current research activities; and develop new avenues of research and teaching.

Candidates for Associate Professor should have a demonstrated record of publishing in appropriate journals, exceptional teaching, and internal and external service to their professional community. Candidates who have experience in securing and executing externally funded research are preferred, though this is not a requirement of the position.

Candidates for Full Professor should have a demonstrated record of publishing in appropriate journals, exceptional teaching, and internal and external service to their professional community. In addition, the candidate should have national/international recognition in their field of study. Candidates who have experience in securing and executing externally funded research are preferred, though this is not a requirement of the position.

The successful candidates will be part of a multidisciplinary hiring initiative to build the new Baker School of Public Policy and Public Affairs, the first such organization at a public institution in the State of Tennessee. We are seeking future colleagues who will help build the School and can contribute fresh ideas, a growth mindset, and interdisciplinary experience.

In addition to teaching responsibilities, the candidates will ideally contribute with their research to one of the three active research and engagement centers that are part of the School: the Center for National Security and Foreign Affairs; the Center for Energy, Transportation, and Environmental Policy; the Center for Economic and Community Development; and the Institute of American Civics.

Application Instructions

To Apply: apply.interfolio.com/127756

The University of Tennessee, Knoxville, is the state's flagship research institution, a campus of choice for outstanding undergraduates, and a premier graduate institution. As a land-grant university, it is committed to excellence in learning, scholarship, and engagement with society.

Applicants should submit the following via Interfolio: a cover letter explaining their research and teaching experience, a current CV, graduate transcripts, a sample of scholarly writing, and teaching evaluations (if available). All applicants should request letters from three references. These letters will be uploaded to Interfolio. Review of applications will begin October 1, 2023, and will continue until the position is filled. For questions or inquiries, contact John M. Scheb, Interim Associate Dean for Academic Affairs (scheb@utk.edu).

The Knoxville campus of the University of Tennessee is seeking candidates who have the ability to contribute in meaningful ways to the diversity and intercultural goals of the University.

About the Baker School

The new Howard H. Baker Jr. School for Public Policy and Public Affairs (Baker School), was established in 2023 to honor the distinguished life and legacy of Howard H. Baker Jr., a former US Senator, Senate Majority Leader, White House Chief of Staff, and Ambassador to Japan. Located in a 51,000-sq. ft purpose-built facility, the Baker School evolved from the Baker Center, which for twenty years has operated as a think-tank producing research, public engagement programming, and an active set of student programs. The Baker School is very excited to add degree programs and to grow its research programming into independent research centers. In addition, the Baker School houses the Institute of American Civics, which is responsible for encouraging civic knowledge and civic participation among UT undergraduates and the state at large.

Who We Are

We are a dynamic and close-knit team of dedicated and hardworking individuals who are devoted to research, education, and public service initiatives that address real world problems in local, state, national, and global communities. Each member of our team is a valuable contributor to achieving our mission and we work together to find innovative approaches to moving the Baker School forward. We are fast-moving and growing. Our work is constantly evolving to meet changing needs.

Who We Are Looking For

We are in search of a solution-finder, someone who enthusiastically embraces opportunities to address novel situations through teamwork and collaboration. We need a hardworking and flexible professional, who thrives in developing out-of-the-box approaches and addressing new challenges. We are looking for an achiever, someone who is searching for a chance to grow their skills and who is open to learning from others. We need a critical thinker who exercises good judgment and who can be relied upon and trusted to provide sound counsel to colleagues and leadership. We need teammates who are dedicated to public service.

Equal Employment Opportunity Statement

All qualified applicants will receive equal consideration for employment and admission without regard to race, color, national origin, religion, sex, pregnancy, marital status, sexual orientation, gender identity, age, physical or mental disability, genetic information, veteran status, and parental status, or any other characteristic protected by federal or state law. In accordance with the requirements of Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972, Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, and the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990, the University of Tennessee affirmatively states that it does not discriminate on the basis of race, sex, or disability in its education programs and activities, and this policy extends to employment by the university. Inquiries and charges of violation of Title VI (race, color, and national origin), Title IX (sex), Section 504 (disability), the ADA (disability), the Age Discrimination in Employment Act (age), sexual orientation, or veteran status should be directed to the Office of Equity and Diversity, 1840 Melrose Avenue, Knoxville, TN 37996-3560, telephone 865-974-2498. Requests for accommodation of a disability should be directed to the ADA Coordinator at the Office of Equity and Diversity.

Start Date: Fall

Date Posted: 9/6/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12464

Hong Kong University of Science and Technology

Rank: Faculty Positions (Global China Studies and Quantitative Social Science)

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Methodology, Public Administration

Specializations: China, Political Economy, Research Methods

The Division of Social Science at The Hong Kong University of Science and Technology seeks to fill several positions in Global China Studies and Quantitative Social Science.

The University is an English-speaking research university with international faculty. The Division of Social Science is highly ranked internationally.

We invite applications at all ranks (Assistant Professor/Associate Professor/Professor). Preference will be given to candidates with an active research agenda related to contemporary China and quantitative social sciences with demonstrated excellence in scholarship and in research methodology (quantitative or qualitative). Subfields are open but we are particularly interested in candidates who focus on political science, sociology, psychology and economics.

For more information about the Division, please visit <https://sosc.hkust.edu.hk>.

Applicants should have a PhD degree by the time of employment. Successful candidates are expected to teach at both the undergraduate and graduate levels.

Salary is competitive and will be commensurate with qualifications and experience. Fringe benefits including annual leave, medical and dental benefits will be provided. Housing benefits will also be provided where applicable. Initial appointment at Associate/Assistant Professor rank will normally be on a three-year contract, renewable subject to mutual agreement. A gratuity will be payable upon successful completion of contract.

Applicants should send a letter of interest, curriculum vitae, research statement, teaching statement, a sample publication, and teaching records electronically via Interfolio at <http://apply.interfolio.com/131209>.

Associate/Assistant Professor applicants should arrange for 3 letters of recommendation to be sent via interfolio. For tenured positions, references will be solicited only after both sides agree to proceed with the process of appointment.

Review of applications will start on 1 November 2023 and the search will continue until the positions are filled.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/5/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12457

Sam Houston State University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science (Public Administration)

Primary Duties and Responsibilities:

The Department of Political Science at Sam Houston State University invites applications for a nine-month tenure-track Assistant Professor position starting in fall 2024. The successful candidate will be responsible for teaching three courses per semester and engaging in research/scholarly activities. The successful candidate will also be expected to participate in service activities such as program and curriculum development, face-to-face and online course development, and student recruitment and engagement.

Required Qualifications:

The successful candidates will possess the following required qualifications:

1. A doctoral degree in public administration, public affairs, or public policy from an accredited institution of higher education. ABD candidates will be considered, but they must have a PhD by the start date (August 2024).
2. Demonstrated evidence of ability and/or desire to teach undergraduate and online graduate courses on the topics of disaster resilience, emergency management, public administration and management, and related subjects.
3. Demonstrated evidence of an established or emerging research/scholarly program in public administration and disaster and emergency management.
4. Demonstrated effective communication skills.

Required Application Materials:

- Cover letter that identifies interests, qualifications, and experience for the position.
- Current CV that includes, if applicable, a summary of previous teaching experience and the format of each course taught (i.e., face-to-face, online, hybrid).
- All graduate transcripts. Unofficial transcripts will be accepted during the application process; however, the successful candidate must submit official transcripts documenting all post-secondary degrees.
- Three letters of recommendation from supervisors who have worked with the applicant and are familiar with the applicant's teaching and research abilities.
- Recent student teaching evaluations covering the last two semesters of teaching, if available. Those without teaching evaluations will need to upload a placeholder document in lieu of evaluations.
- Teaching statement, including a discussion of online pedagogy and how the applicant's teaching will meet the specific needs of Sam Houston State University's students.
- If available, sample syllabi for relevant courses.

The search committee will start to review applications on October 9, 2023. The application process will remain open until the position is filled. Please direct questions to Dr. Fatih Demiroz (demiroz@shsu.edu).

To be considered, you must apply online at: <https://shsu.peopleadmin.com/postings/36339>

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/29/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12404

Texas Tech University

Rank: Assistant Professor in Public Administration

The Master of Public Administration Program in the Department of Political Science in the College of Arts and Sciences at Texas Tech University invites applications for a full-time, 9-month tenure-track Assistant Professor, position to begin Fall 2024.

Required Qualifications:

In line with TTU's strategic priorities to engage and empower a diverse student body, enable innovative research and creative activities, and transform lives and communities through outreach and engaged scholarship, applicants must have experience working with diverse student populations at the undergraduate and graduate levels within or across the areas of teaching, research/creative activity, and service. Additional required qualifications are:

1. A Ph.D. in public administration (or a closely related discipline) is required by the time of the appointment;
2. Applicants must show evidence and/or promise of excellence in teaching and an active research agenda;
3. Applicants from all areas of public administration are encouraged to apply. Applicants must have substantive knowledge about public and/or nonprofit organizations and have an active research agenda in a specialized area of expertise. We welcome applications who can contribute to the department's in-person and online courses at both the undergraduate and graduate levels. Applicants must possess the ability to teach core and elective courses in the MPA curriculum.

Preferred Qualifications:

Candidates who have very strong records of scholarship supported by extramural funding and how have proven capacity or clear potential to bring externally sponsored research to Texas Tech University are encouraged to apply. Responsibilities of the position include maintaining a solid research program leading to high quality publications in appropriate peer-reviewed outlets, teaching MPA courses, mentoring MPA students and participating in services. Experience working with diverse student populations and first-generation students is highly desirable. Service duties include program-building, as well as commitment to extra-curricular activities. Service to the department, college, and university is expected.

About the University, College, and Department/School/Area
Established in 1923, Texas Tech University is a Carnegie R1 (very high research activity) Doctoral/Research-Extensive, Hispanic Serving, and state-assisted institution. Located on a beautiful 1,850-acre campus in Lubbock, a city in West Texas with a growing metropolitan-area population of over 300,000, the university enrolls over 40,000 students with 33,000 undergraduate and 7,000 graduate students. As the primary research institution in the western two-thirds of the state, Texas Tech University is home to 10 colleges, the Schools of Law and Veterinary Medicine, and the Graduate School. The flagship of the Texas Tech University System, Texas Tech is dedicated to student success by preparing learners to be ethical leaders for a diverse and globally competitive workforce. It is committed to enhancing the cultural and economic development of the state, nation, and world.

Founded in 1925 as one of the university's four original colleges, the College of Arts & Sciences is comprised of 15 departments, offering a wide variety of courses and programs in the humanities, social and behavioral sciences, mathematics, physical sciences, and natural sciences. The College has more than 10,000 students enrolled representing more than a quarter of the overall Texas Tech University student population while maintaining a 22:1 student to faculty ratio.

The Department of Political science is dedicated to excellence, aspiring to the highest national standards in teaching, research, and service. Our faculty have active research agendas and teaching responsibilities across the fields of American Politics, Comparative Politics, International Relations, and Public Administration. The department offers two B.A. degrees, in political science and global studies. As well as three graduate degrees, an M.A. and Ph.D. in political science and an MPA.

About Lubbock

Referred to as the "Hub City" because it serves as the educational, cultural, economic, and health care hub of the South Plains region, Lubbock boasts a diverse population and a strong connection to community, history, and land. With a mild climate, highly rated public schools, and a low cost of living, Lubbock is a family-friendly community that is ranked as one of the best places to live in Texas. Lubbock is home to a celebrated and ever-evolving music scene, a vibrant arts community, and is within driving distance of Dallas, Austin, Santa Fe, and other major metropolitan cities. Lubbock's Convention & Visitors Bureau provides a comprehensive overview of the Lubbock community and its resources, programs, events, and histories.

Equal Opportunity Statement

All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, gender expression, national origin, age, disability, genetic information or status as a protected veteran.

To Apply for this Position

Please include the following documents in your application:

1. Curriculum Vitae
2. Cover Letter
3. Writing sample
4. Evidence of teaching effectiveness
5. Three letters of reference

Reference letters should be emailed to Prof. Daniel Scheller, Master of Public Administration Search Chair, Department of Political Science at Daniel.Scheller@ttu.edu. Questions about this position should be directed to Prof. Toby J Rider, Chair, Department of Political Science, at toby.rider@ttu.edu. If you need assistance with the application process, contact Human Resources, Talent Acquisition at hrs.recruiting@ttu.edu or 806-742-3851.

Application Process

Review of applications will begin on October 1st. To ensure full consideration, please complete an online application at <https://www.texastech.edu/careers/>. Requisition # 34871BR

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 10/1/2023

Date Posted: 8/29/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12390

California State University, Fullerton

Rank: Assistant Professor of Public Administration

The Division of Politics, Administration, and Justice at California State University, Fullerton, invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position in Public Administration with an appointment to begin Fall 2024.

California State University, Fullerton (CSUF) is a minority-serving institution, affirmative action, and equal opportunity employer. CSUF is firmly committed to increasing the diversity of the campus community and the curriculum and fostering an inclusive environment within which students, staff, administrators, and faculty thrive. Candidates who can contribute to this goal through their teaching, research, advising and other activities are encouraged to identify their strengths and experiences. Individuals advancing the University's strategic diversity goals and those from groups whose underrepresentation in the American professoriate has been severe and longstanding are particularly encouraged to apply.

CSUF is committed to retaining all faculty and has established affinity groups you can join to support your success. The CSU is currently engaged in a directed multi-year initiative to improve graduation rates for all students, with a particular focus on first-generation college students, low-socioeconomic students, Latinx, African American, and Native American students.

We are committed to pedagogy and scholarship that acknowledges historical and current structural inequalities. We will prioritize candidates whose work will engage students in questions of fairness in public policy and governance.

Position

CSUF faculty are committed teacher/scholars who bring research and creative discovery to life for students in classrooms, labs, studios, and individually mentored projects. They teach broadly in the curricula of their departments, advise students, and serve on departmental and university-wide committees. The person's primary responsibilities in this position will include developing and teaching courses in public administration and their area(s) of specialization. Specific courses that this person will teach may include graduate and undergraduate courses in at least three of the following areas: Public Policy Analysis, Public Policy Process, Research Methods, Public Economics, and/or Public Finance. This person will also be responsible for producing scholarship or creative work commensurate with the requirements for tenure. The successful candidate will also be expected to contribute to and participate in the life and development of the MPA program, advise students, serve on committees, and participate in the broader university and disciplinary communities.

Required Qualifications

- Ph.D. in Public Administration, Public Affairs, or a related field, research specialization open
- Ability to teach graduate and/or undergraduate courses in at least two of the following areas: Public Policy Analysis, Public Policy Process, Research Methods, Public Economics, and/or Public Finance.

- A strong record of scholarly accomplishments appropriate to the level of appointment
- Ability to balance excellent teaching, scholarship, and service
- Ability to integrate technology into class instruction
- Demonstrated knowledge or experience in public administration and/or public affairs education

Preferred Qualifications

- Ability to teach graduate and/or undergraduate courses in at least three of the following areas: Public Policy Analysis, Public Policy Process, Research Methods, Public Economics, and/or Public Finance.
- A coherent research agenda
- Ability and/or experience teaching in multiple modalities
- Experience working in or with governments or not-for-profit organizations
- Demonstrated commitment to and excellence in teaching in a public administration or public affairs program
- Demonstrated commitment to working effectively with students from marginalized social groups
- Experience working collaboratively with colleagues
- A commitment to high-quality graduate and undergraduate education

Application

A complete online application must be received by electronic submission to be considered. To apply, please visit <http://hr.fullerton.edu/careers/Faculty.php>, choose full-time faculty, search for position 531196, and provide the following required materials:

- Cover letter in which you respond to the required qualifications
- Curriculum vitae
- Graduate transcripts
- Research statement (1-2 pages)
- Writing/publication sample(s)
- Teaching statement (1-2 pages)
- Teaching materials (sample of syllabi, assignments, performance data, etc.)
- Candidate statement on commitment to inclusive excellence
 - o This statement provides the candidate's unique perspective on their past and present contributions to and future aspirations for promoting diversity, inclusion, and social justice in their professional careers. This statement aims to help the department identify candidates with professional experience, intellectual commitments, and/or willingness to engage in activities that could help CSUF contribute to its mission in these areas. The statement shall address one or more of the following criteria:
 1. The candidate has acquired knowledge of barriers for underrepresented students and faculty in higher education.
 2. The candidate has experience in and is committed to engaging in service with underrepresented populations in higher education.
 3. The candidate has experience in and is committed to teaching and/or mentoring underrepresented students in a higher education environment.
 4. The candidate has experience integrating underrepresented populations and communities into scholarly and creative activities.
- A list of three references with relevant contact information
 - o Semi-finalists must submit three letters of recommendation. Please have these ready for the referents to submit. On the References page of the online application, enter information and email addresses for three referents who will provide a confidential letter of reference for your application. At the appropriate time in the search process, they will receive a request via email along with information on uploading the letter. You can verify that CSUF has received each letter by logging back into your applicant portal.

Finalists will be asked to have each of their three referents submit a letter of recommendation. Please have these ready for the referents to offer should you proceed to this search phase.

Please direct all questions about the position to: Dr. Samuel B. Stone at ssone@fullerton.edu or call 657-278-3728.

Application Deadline

To be assured full consideration, all application materials must be received by October 15, 2023. The anticipated appointment date is August 2024

The College and Department

The Department of Public Administration is situated within the Division of Politics, Administration & Justice, a multi-disciplinary Division that provides faculty opportunities for collaboration with colleagues from Political Science and Criminal Justice. The Division is housed within the College of Humanities and Social Sciences.

Compensation

The Assistant Professor (Academic Year) classification salary range is $5,405 to $11,994 monthly (12 monthly payments per academic year). The anticipated hiring range is $6,690 to $6,790 per month.

Salary offered is commensurate with experience and qualifications. In addition, the California Equal Pay Act prohibits employers from paying its employees less than those of the opposite sex and/or another race or ethnicity for substantially similar work (https://www.dir.ca.gov/dlse/california_equal_pay_act.htm).

Summer research grants, moving expenses, start-up funds, and a reduced teaching load may be available.

CSUF Benefits

An excellent comprehensive benefits package includes health/vision/dental plans; spouse, domestic partner, and dependent fee-waiver; access to campus child-care; and a defined-benefit retirement through the state system and optional tax sheltering opportunities. For a detailed description of benefits, please visit <https://hr.fullerton.edu/total-wellness/>.

Additional Information

Multiple positions may be hired from this recruitment based on the strength of the applicant pool.

CSU Policies

The person holding this position is considered a 'mandated reporter' under the California Child Abuse and Neglect Reporting Act and must comply with the requirements set forth in CSU Executive Order 1083, revised July 21, 2017, as a condition of employment.

A background check (including a criminal records check) must be completed satisfactorily before any candidate can be formally offered a position with the CSU. Failure to satisfactorily complete the background check may affect the application status of applicants or the continued employment of current CSU employees who apply for the position.

Reasonable accommodations will be provided for qualified applicants with disabilities who self-disclose.

Notice of Non-Discrimination based on Gender or Sex and Contact Information for Title IX Coordinator (<http://www.fullerton.edu/titleix/about/notice.php>).

In accordance with the California State University (CSU) Out-of-State Employment Policy, the CSU is a state entity whose business operations reside within the State of California. It requires hiring employees to perform CSU-related work within the State of California.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 10/15/2023

Date Posted: 8/28/2023

Salary: $80,000 - $89,999

eJobs ID: 12381

California State University, Fresno

Rank: Assistant Professor of Public Administration

The Department of Political Science in the College of Social Sciences at California State University, Fresno, seeks applicants for a tenure-track, academic-year position as an Assistant Professor with a concentration in Public Administration. The successful candidate will teach undergraduate and graduate students, conduct basic and/or applied scholarly research, and engage in service. Primary teaching and research responsibilities will be in public administration. Teaching responsibilities will include courses in our Master of Public Administration (MPA) program such as budgeting, human resources, organizational theory, ethics, administration and society, and diversity, equity, and inclusion in public management. The new hire may also be required to play an active role with other faculty in helping to run or grow the MPA program, as needed. The candidate must also be able to teach public administration courses to undergraduate political science majors, and it is preferred they can teach an undergraduate course on public policy making. Finally, the candidate must be able to teach a lower division introductory course (for all university students) on American government and politics.

The candidate must be available for Academic Year 2024/25 and will gain a clear path to tenure through the University's Probationary Plan Process.

Overview: The Department of Political Science is one of the strongest in the California State University system. It serves well over 200 majors in the undergraduate program as well as dozens of graduate students seeking master's degrees in our NASPAA accredited public administration program. All the major sub-disciplines of political science are represented within the department, and faculty are well-known for their balanced commitment to teaching, research, and university/ public service. For more information, see <https://socialsciences.fresnostate.edu/polisci/> Specific assignments are dependent on departmental needs and the background of the individual.

Our Students: California State University, Fresno is committed to serving our students with a focus on inclusion. Fresno State has been recognized as a Hispanic-Serving Institution (HSI); an Asian American/Native American/Pacific Islander-Serving Institution (AANAPISI); and has been designated to the Community Engagement Classification by the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching.

Qualifications:

Required Education (from an accredited institution or foreign equivalent):

1. An earned doctorate (Ph.D.) in political science or public administration from an accredited institution is required. Applicants nearing completion of the doctorate (ABD status) may be considered for the position, but the doctorate must be completed by August 1, 2024 for continued employment in the tenure-track position. Failure to earn the terminal degree prior to this date will invalidate the appointment.

Required Experience:

Applicants must be able to demonstrate:

1. A record of teaching excellence at the undergraduate level, as demonstrated through prior teaching experience and teaching evaluations and/or other evidence
2. A strong foundation of a career-long research agenda in political science as evidenced (for example) by one or more academic conference paper presentations or peer-reviewed publications
3. A specialization in public administration
4. Appropriate academic training to teach an introductory course on American government
5. A commitment to working effectively and collegially with faculty, staff, and students from diverse ethnic, cultural, and socioeconomic backgrounds.

Preferred Qualifications:

1. Teaching experience at the graduate level in public administration or political science
2. At least one sole-authored research paper presented at an academic conference
3. One or more peer-reviewed publications in political science or public administration
4. Experience teaching an introductory American government course

Application Procedures: Review of applications will begin October 16, 2023, and priority consideration will be given to applications received by that date. This position automatically closes on March 31, 2024. Note: All positions at Fresno State are subject to funding availability.

See more information and apply online at: <http://careers.csufresno.edu>

Attach the following:

1. A cover letter specifically addressing required experience and preferred qualifications;
2. a curriculum vitae;
3. statement of teaching philosophy;
4. recent teaching evaluations (if available);
5. a research paper presented at an academic conference or a peer-reviewed publication, preferably a sole-authored work;
6. a list of three professional references;
7. Statement addressing your commitment to working with faculty, staff, and students from diverse ethnic, cultural, and socioeconomic backgrounds and;
8. unofficial graduate transcripts.

Candidates invited for an on-campus visit will be asked to submit the following items by a designated deadline:

1. Three current letters of recommendation
2. Official transcripts

If you have any questions or need more information contact search chair:

Dr. Thomas Holyoke (tholyoke@csufresno.edu).

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 10/16/2023

Date Posted: 8/21/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12341

Hamilton College

Rank: Assistant Professor of Government

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Policy, Public Administration

The Government Department at Hamilton College invites applications for three tenure-track positions at the rank of Assistant Professor, beginning July 1, 2024. The new hires will collectively cover courses in public policy, American politics, and research methods, allocated based on individual expertise. This coordinated hire is part of a commitment to nourishing a diverse learning community and increasing possibilities for exchange focused on issues related to equality and inequality. We actively encourage applications from candidates whose work investigates the politics and policy of equality and inequality along one or more of the following axes: race and ethnicity; gender; class; sexuality; ability; religion; and migrant, refugee, or citizenship status. We seek candidates trained in either or both quantitative and qualitative methods and with academic backgrounds in American Politics, Public Policy, or Public Administration. Beyond that, there are no restrictions on area focus.

We are seeking candidates who can demonstrate their experience in teaching or working with diverse student populations. Your cover letter should address ways in which you raise issues of diversity and inclusion in your teaching, scholarship, and/or service.

These positions require institutional service including academic advising of undergraduate students after the first year.

The Government Department is responsible for the study of politics and public affairs at Hamilton. The department, which is one of Hamilton's largest, currently includes 17 faculty members, 12 of whom are tenured or pre-tenure. Department faculty include specialists in American politics, comparative politics, international relations, political theory, and public policy, and we teach a wide variety of courses across all these subfields. Each year, we also hire two practitioners, each of whom teaches a single one-semester course. The Department offers three majors: Government, World Politics, and Public Policy. Taken together, these three majors total about 85 students a year.

Candidates with ABD will be considered (and hired at the Instructor level until successful completion of their dissertation), although candidates with a Ph.D. are preferred. The teaching load for these positions is four courses during the first year and five courses thereafter. The expected salary range for these positions is $88,000 to $94,100. Candidates should submit cover letter, c.v., a writing sample, evidence of teaching ability, and a list of references via Interfolio at <https://apply.interfolio.com/129439>. Questions regarding the search may be directed to Peter F. Cannavò, Search Committee Chair, at pcannavo@hamilton.edu. Our review of applications will begin on October 1, 2023.

Hamilton College is a residential liberal arts college located in upstate New York. The College has built its reputation on the teaching excellence and leading scholarship of its faculty, and on the academic distinction and intellectual curiosity of its approximately 2000 students who take advantage of Hamilton's open curriculum (<https://www.hamilton.edu/academics/open-curriculum>). Please visit the college website for more information (www.hamilton.edu).

Applicants with dual-career considerations can find other Hamilton and nearby academic job listings at <https://www.hercjobs.org/regions/higher-ed-careers-upstate-new-york/>, as well as additional information at <https://www.hamilton.edu/dof/faculty-development/resources-for-prospective-or-new-faculty/opportunities-for-spouses-or-partners> (Opportunities for Spouses or Partners). Hamilton provides domestic partner benefits.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 10/1/2023

Date Posted: 8/1/2023

Salary: $90,000 - $99,999

eJobs ID: 12190

Johns Hopkins University

Rank: Associate Program Director, Nonprofit Management

Subfield(s): Administration, Public Administration, Other

Associate Program Director Lecturer/Sr. Lecturer, Nonprofit Management

Johns Hopkins University: Zanvyl Krieger School of Arts and Sciences: Advanced Academic Programs

Apply here: <https://apply.interfolio.com/129081>

Location

Washington, DC or Remote

Open Date

Jul 27, 2023

Description

POSITION:

Associate Program Director, Nonprofit Management

Krieger School of Arts & Sciences

Advanced Academic Programs

REPORT TO:

Program Director, Public Management

INSTITUTION:

Johns Hopkins University

Position Description:

The Johns Hopkins University invites applications for Associate Program Director, Nonprofit Management in the Advanced Academic Programs' (AAP) Center for Data Analytics, Policy, and Government, a division of the Krieger School of Arts & Sciences. The Associate Program Director will report to the Director of the Public Management Program. The Johns Hopkins University is committed to hiring candidates who, through their teaching and service, will contribute to the diversity and excellence of the academic community.

The Center seeks to hire an innovative and forward-thinking individual to manage the online MA in Nonprofit Management program.

This faculty member will also work collaboratively with other Center faculty to set goals and direction in its pursuit of teaching excellence. This is a full-time, non-tenure-track, 12-month renewable faculty position with the academic title of Lecturer or Senior Lecturer.

Advanced Academic Programs:

AAP offers rigorous and high-quality master's degrees and certificates in three locations: the Washington, DC Center, the Homewood campus in Baltimore, MD, and online. AAP enrolls almost 6,000 students each academic year in over 45 programs and distinguishes itself through its intensive instructional assistance, selective admissions, and over 60 dedicated full-time faculty. Tenured Krieger School faculty members serve as Program Chairs and oversee the academic rigor of AAP programs and courses. AAP's website, <http://advanced.jhu.edu/>, provides additional information.

Academic Responsibilities:

- Teach 4 graduate courses per year, including preparation and time spent in the classroom (online), using best practices for teaching, engaging, and mentoring students from diverse backgrounds in the learning process, and responding to student questions
- Advise students, including both program and research/capstone advising
- Provide innovative leadership for curriculum design and new course development to ensure the delivery and growth of a quality program
- Other academic duties normally performed by full-time faculty, such as participating on committees, attending academic events, or contributing to other academic service

Administrative Responsibilities:

- Work with the Program Director and Center Director to hire, mentor, and evaluate adjunct faculty
- Oversee the program's admissions process, including reviewing and approving prospective students' admissions materials
- Provide overall supervision for the Nonprofit Management program
- Schedule courses and set teaching assignments throughout the year
- Host events for current and prospective students

Qualifications:

The Associate Program Director's role is critical to maintaining the overall high quality of this program. The Associate Program Director must have a passion for education and its power to change lives, especially for part-time and non-residential students. A track record of building and managing successful onsite and online education programs, and skills in instructional design, content development, and instructional technologies, are important. Candidates who have experience teaching and engaging students from diverse backgrounds are of particular interest.

Minimum Qualifications:

- PhD in Nonprofit Management, Management, Administration, or a related field
- One to three years of higher education teaching experience online and/or at the graduate level
- One to three years of experience at the Assistant Director level, or equivalent administrative experience
- Ability to teach a variety of courses in the nonprofit management field
- Excellent oral and written communication skills
- Strong organizational

Preferred Qualifications:

- Four or more years of higher education teaching experience online and/or at the graduate level
- Professional work experience in the nonprofit management field
- Demonstrated track record of excellence in teaching and innovation in curriculum design
- The ability to work independently in a fast-paced environment with competing demands and multiple deadlines
- Experience managing a degree or certificate program

Application Instructions:

The position will remain open until it is filled. Candidates must submit the following:

- Cover letter
- Curriculum vitae
- Teaching evaluations for the two most recent semesters taught

The selected candidate will undergo a background check, provide three references, and official transcripts for each credential.

Application Process

This institution is using Interfolio's Faculty Search to conduct this search. Applicants to this position receive a free Dossier account and can send all application materials, including confidential letters of recommendation, free of charge: <https://apply.interfolio.com/129081>

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/31/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12179

East Tennessee State University

Rank: Assistant Professor - American Politics and Public Administration

The Department of Political Science, International Affairs, and Public Administration at East Tennessee State University invites applications for a 9-month tenure-track appointment at the level of assistant professor beginning August 15, 2024. We are seeking a candidate that can offer classes in the undergraduate subfield of American Politics, graduate classes in the Public Administration core, and either Research Methods or Public Law.

The appointment normally carries a 3/3 teaching load, shared between the undergraduate Political Science program, and the graduate Public Administration program, and comes with generous startup funding designed to promote a promising research agenda leading to peer-reviewed publication. Candidates must also be capable of excellent teaching in undergraduate and graduate courses. Service to the department, university, profession, and community is also expected.

Applicants must apply through eJobs at <https://jobs.etsu.edu>.

Knowledge, Skills and Abilities: Ability to teach in the undergraduate political science program and MPA program.

Required Qualifications: Ph.D. in Public Administration, Political Science, or a related discipline, with the ability to teach in both the undergraduate political science program and the MPA program. ABD will be accepted if the graduation date is prior to August 1, 2024.

Preferred Qualifications: Ph.D. subfields and teaching in American politics, Public Administration, and Research Methods or Public Law.

Start Date: Fall 2024
Application Deadline: 10/15/2023
Date Posted: 7/27/2023
Salary: $50,000 - $59,999
eJobs ID: 12156

East Tennessee State University

Rank: Assistant Professor - Public Administration and American Politics

The Department of Political Science, International Affairs, and Public Administration at East Tennessee State University invites applications for a 9-month tenure-track appointment at the level of assistant professor beginning August 15, 2024. We are seeking a candidate that can offer both graduate classes in the Public Administration core and classes in the undergraduate subfield of American Politics and Research Methods/Policy Analysis. We welcome any subfield, but City Management, Regional Planning, or Non-Profit Management are especially desired.

The appointment normally carries a 3/3 teaching load, shared between the graduate Public Administration program and the undergraduate Political Science program, and comes with generous startup funding designed to promote a promising research agenda leading to peer-reviewed publication. Candidates must also be capable of excellent teaching in graduate and undergraduate courses. Service to the department, university, profession, and community is also expected.

Applicants must apply through eJobs at <https://jobs.etsu.edu>.

Knowledge, Skills and Abilities: Ability to teach in MPA Program and undergraduate political science program.

Required Qualifications: Ph.D. in Public Administration, Political Science, or a related discipline, with the ability to teach in both the MPA Program and the undergraduate political science program. ABD will be accepted if the graduation date is prior to August 1, 2024.

Preferred Qualifications: Ph.D. subfields and teaching Public Administration, American Politics, and research methods.

Start Date: Fall 2024
Application Deadline: 11/1/2023
Date Posted: 7/27/2023
Salary: $50,000 - $59,999
eJobs ID: 12157

Western Carolina University

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Emergency and Disaster Management Program within the Department of Criminology & Criminal Justice is seeking two faculty members at the rank of Assistant Professor, beginning August 1, 2024. These are nine-month positions with summer teaching possibilities and are for our residential program with some likely online teaching responsibilities. Salary is commensurate with qualifications and experience. Responsibilities include teaching, research, and service.

Candidates must have a Ph.D. in Emergency and Disaster Management, Criminology/Criminal Justice, Public Administration, Sociology, Urban Planning or other discipline closely related to the field of Emergency & Disaster Management. Highly qualified ABD candidates will be considered if completion of the degree is imminent.

Candidates must have a clearly articulated research agenda in Emergency & Disaster Management and a commitment of academic excellence and collegiality

The Emergency and Disaster Program has an established record of engaging students through undergraduate research and experiential learning and is consistently ranked as one of the best undergraduate programs in the nation. The ideal candidate will have an interest in contributing to these efforts and have a firm foundation to teach a range of emergency and disaster management courses.

Application Process:

Application materials must be submitted online to Western Carolina University Human Resources Portal at <http://jobs.wcu.edu>. Candidates should submit an online candidate profile, cover letter, curriculum vitae, statement of research interests, unofficial transcripts, evidence of teaching experience/philosophy, and contact information for three current references.

Review of applications will begin September 15th and continue until the position is filled.

Contact:

Inquiries may be directed to Committee Chair and EDM Director Dr. Lisa Briggs at lbriggs@wcu.edu or 828.227.2180.

About WCU:

Western Carolina University is the UNC system's westernmost campus and has been consistently ranked as one of the Top 15 public regional institutions in the South. WCU's main campus sits in the beautiful mountains of Western, North Carolina, near the Great Smoky and Blue Ridge mountains, fifty-two miles west of Asheville. WCU's location in the rural mountains amidst incredible biodiversity and unique communities creates an opportunity for academic discovery service and is a haven for outdoor enthusiasts. The campus covers approximately 600 acres, with a student body population of over 11,500. Please go to <https://www.wcu.edu> for more information.

The Western Carolina University Annual Safety Report can be found at <https://www.wcu.edu/WebFiles/2022ASFSR.pdf> or in hard-copy by request at the office of the Vice Chancellor for Student Affairs, 114 Scott, Cullowhee, NC 28723 (828.227.7234) or the Office of University Police, 111 Camp Annex, Cullowhee, NC 28723 (828.227.7301).

Persons with disabilities requiring accommodations in the application and interview process please call 828.227.7218 or email at <http://jobs.wcu.edu>.

Start Date: Summer 2024
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 7/26/2023
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 12147

Sam Houston State University

Rank: AY2023-2024 Lecturer – Pool Faculty (Public Administration) – up to 3 positions to be filled

Usual Duties:

The Department of Political Science seeks a qualified instructor to teach courses in our online Masters in Public Administration (MPA) program during the 2023-2024 academic year. We are especially interested in finding a candidate that could teach "Global Disaster Politics” or offer a “Special Topics” course that would fit into the program’s concentration in Emergency Management. Depending on student demand and instructor qualifications, we could have additional opportunities upper-division undergraduate courses.

Degree Requirements:

Ph.D. in political science or public administration preferred; will consider candidates that are ABD in a relevant Ph.D. program and/or candidates that have a master’s degree in public administration

Experience Requirements:

Teaching experience, especially online-teaching experience, is preferred.

Required Documents:

1. Cover Letter
2. CV (with references)
3. Transcripts

Optional Documents:

1. Letter of recommendation 1
2. Letter of recommendation 2
3. Letter of recommendation 3

Link to Apply: <https://shsu.peopleadmin.com/postings/35403>

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/17/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12106

PUBLIC LAW

California State Polytechnic University, Pomona

Rank: Political Science, Assistant Professor

Position description: The faculty member will be part of a collegial Political Science Department that grants both B.A. degrees and M.P.A. (Master’s in Public Administration) degrees. The position requires excellence in teaching and advising, professional and scholarly achievements, and a commitment to service to the university. Applicants whose work demonstrates a commitment to inclusive excellence and diversity in higher education are particularly encouraged to apply. Cal Poly Pomona is a Hispanic-serving institution, and the faculty member will be an advisor to many under-represented minorities and first-generation college students.

The faculty member will be expected to teach from courses in the public law subfield, such as Introduction to Public Law, Constitutional Law: Rights and Liberties, Constitutional Law: Governmental Powers, Jurisprudence, and Contemporary Issues in Law. There will be opportunities to develop new courses in accordance to the faculty member’s expertise (for example, law and society, judicial politics, critical legal studies, social justice).

Minimum requirements include:

Ph.D. in Political Science from an accredited university at the time of appointment. Degree must be conferred by the start date of the position (Degree must be conferred by the start date of the position.) Demonstrated commitment to inclusivity and equity. Evidence should be provided in a Student Success Statement that responds to the prompt above - “Inclusive Excellence and Student Success”

University teaching experience as instructor of record and/or teaching assistant

Evidence of scholarly potential (conference presentations, publications, grant development, etc.)

Evidence of demonstrated ability to contribute to the diversity and excellence of the academic and broader community through research, teaching, and/or service and work, as well as experience fostering an inclusive environment.

Preferred/Desired Qualifications: Research interests related to law and society, judicial politics, critical legal studies, and/or social justice would be a plus. Additionally, preference will be given to candidates who can demonstrate the ability to mentor and advise under-served populations including, but not limited to, African-American, Hispanic, and Native American students.

Conditions of Employment:

The person offered this position is required to pass a background check.

Application Process:

A completed application will consist of

- Cover letter in which you describe your interest in the position, teaching performance, research experience and interests, and how you meet the minimum and preferred qualifications;
- A Student Success Statement (up to 2 pages, single-spaced) that responds to the prompt above - “Inclusive Excellence and Student Success” and addresses at least two of the inclusive excellence criteria listed (please indicate the criteria numbers in your Statement).
- Curriculum vitae;
- The names and contact information for at least three individuals that can serve as references;
- Unofficial transcripts (undergraduate and graduate, official transcripts will be required of finalists);

Finalists for the position will:

- be required to provide official transcripts for highest degree before the on-campus interview;
- be required to provide three letters of reference dated within the last two years;

Final candidates being interviewed are expected to make a presentation of creative work and a teaching demonstration to faculty and interact with students.

Please direct inquiries to:

Brady Collins, Search Committee Chair

Political Science Department

California State Polytechnic University, Pomona

Email: bjcollins@cpp.edu

Beatriz Garcia, Administrative Support Coordinator

Political Science Department

California State Polytechnic University, Pomona

Email: beatrizg@cpp.edu

Applications accepted only via PageUp—online application portal—for University hires.

<https://careers.pageuppeople.com/873/po/en-us/job/532415/political-science-assistant-professor>

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/27/2023

Salary: $80,000 - $89,999

eJobs ID: 12619

American University

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of Justice, Law & Criminology in the School of Public Affairs at American University invites applications for a full time, tenure-line position at the rank of Assistant Professor beginning August 1, 2024.

The successful candidate will be able to complement our department's strengths in areas such as policing, court systems, victimology, juvenile justice, criminological theory, quantitative and/or qualitative methods. Successful applicants must have a strong research portfolio in criminal justice or criminology that includes a track record of publications in high-quality peer-reviewed outlets as well as the ability to attract external funding for their research. Applicants also need documented experience in teaching at the undergraduate and graduate levels. Candidates should be effective teachers and must be strongly committed to excellence in scholarly research.

A Ph.D. in criminal justice, criminology, sociology, or a closely related field at the time of appointment is required. Candidates who possess a law degree only (J.D. or LL.M.) will not be considered for this position.

Start Date: Summer 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/20/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12562

American University

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of Justice, Law & Criminology in the School of Public Affairs at American University invites applications for a full time, tenure-line position at the rank of Assistant Professor beginning August 1, 2024.

The position is focused on candidates who conduct research and teaching in the field of legal studies, sociology of law, or other disciplinary expertise that focuses on hate crimes or related areas. We especially welcome applications from scholars at the intersection between law/legal studies and hate crimes or political violence broadly defined. Competitive candidates will possess a strong background in social science methodologies and a productive research portfolio, including publications in high-quality peer reviewed outlets. The Department is home to a range of disciplines, approaches, and methods. We are particularly interested in individuals whose research is interdisciplinary. Candidates should be effective teachers and must be strongly committed to excellence in scholarly research.

Applicants should have a Ph.D. in Law & Society, legal studies or related field or must have completed all Ph.D. requirements by the time of appointment. Candidates who possess a law degree only (J.D. or LL.M.) will not be considered for this position. The successful candidate will be able to teach our doctoral proseminar in Law and Society and undergraduate and graduate courses on legal studies, law and socio-economic and racial disparities, violence, institutions, and policing.

Start Date: Summer 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/20/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12563

California State University, Northridge

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science - Public Law

The Department of Political Science at California State University, Northridge (CSUN) invites applications for a full-time tenure-track Assistant Professor in Public Law beginning in August 2024, with a preferred teaching and research emphasis on race and the law, ethnicity and the law, and/or gender and the law. The successful candidate will be expected to teach regularly courses within the department's core Public Law curriculum, as well as other Political Science courses offered by the department. The core Public Law courses include Constitutional Law I, Constitutional Law II, Criminal Procedures, The Judicial Process, Jurisprudence, and the Public Law Proseminar. Descriptions of the Public Law courses and all other Political Science courses in our department can be found here: <https://catalog.csun.edu/academics/pols/courses/>. The department is particularly interested in candidates who will expand our curriculum to include courses on how the law affects marginalized and/or minoritized communities. The successful candidate will have preferred interests in researching Public Law topics related to race and the law, ethnicity and the law, and/or gender and the law.

In addition to teaching, the position requires weekly office hours, attending faculty meetings, participation in assessment of student learning, and service to the department, college, and university. The successful candidate will be held to the standards and requirements of the college and department in which he/she/they is/are housed for recommending tenure and promotion. Given CSUN's commitment to excellence in teaching, research, and engagement in a diverse environment, the successful candidate will help the department achieve equitable academic outcomes for all students through teaching, student mentorship, scholarship, and service.

Required Qualifications:

-A Ph.D. from an accredited institution in Political Science with a focus on Public Law by the time of appointment. ABD applicants are encouraged to apply but must provide official notification of the terminal degree by date of appointment.

-Evidence of, or the clear potential for, excellence in teaching Public Law courses in person.

-Evidence of, or the clear potential for, scholarly development and publication in the field of Political Science.

-Evidence of, or the clear potential for, mentoring students from diverse backgrounds at the college level.

Preferred Qualifications:

- Evidence of excellence in teaching Public Law courses that focus on race and the law, ethnicity and the law, and/or gender and the law.
- Evidence of, or the clear potential for, excellence in teaching Political Science courses in subfields other than Public Law.
- Evidence of, or the clear potential for, scholarly publications within the Public Law subfield.
- Evidence of a commitment to develop new courses in the department that focus on how the law affects marginalized and/or minoritized communities.
- Evidence of, or the clear potential for, effective engagement with a diverse student body.
- Experience using, or the clear potential for using, culturally responsive pedagogy that leads to equitable outcomes for all students.
- Experience creating, or the clear potential for creating, a student-centered learning environment.
- Research experience that includes working with, or a research agenda that demonstrates the clear potential for working with, students from diverse backgrounds.

Responsibilities:

Faculty success at CSUN is measured by three criteria: teaching effectiveness; contributions to one's field of study; and service to the University and Community.

The normal teaching load is 12 units (4 courses) per semester. However, new faculty members in their first two years teach 9 units per semester (3 courses). Faculty members can also apply for competitive awards that provide course releases for research.

The successful candidate will also be expected to produce peer-reviewed scholarly publications and participate in professional conferences. Presentations at academic conferences are supported with annual travel funds.

Tenure-track faculty members participate in shared governance, usually in Department, College, and University committees and other service assignments.

Application Deadline:

Screening of applications will begin October 12, 2023. Priority will be given to applicants who meet the screening deadline; however, the position will remain open until filled.

How to Apply:

Candidates should apply by completing the CSUN online application. To apply and for more detailed information on the application and hiring process, please visit this link: www.csun.edu/careers.

Applicants must submit to the website above:

- A cover letter not to exceed two single-spaced pages, addressing the qualifications described above (which can be supplemented by the Teaching and Mentoring Statements required below);
- A Curriculum Vitae, which includes contact information for three professional references;
- A Statement of Teaching Philosophy of no more than two single-spaced pages that includes, in part, a description of your approach to teaching students from diverse backgrounds;
- A writing sample within the field of Political Science that is approximately the length of a book chapter,

- an academic article, or a conference paper; and
- A Statement of Mentoring Philosophy of no more than one single-spaced page, which includes a description of your approach to mentoring students from diverse backgrounds.

At the time of appointment, the successful candidate, if not a U.S. citizen, must have authorization from the United States Citizenship and Immigration Services (USCIS) to work in the United States.

General Information:

In compliance with the Annual Security Report & Fire Safety Report of Campus Security Policy and Campus Crime Statistics Act, California State University, Northridge has made crime-reporting statistics available on-line here. Print copies are available by request from the Department of Police Services, the Office for Faculty Affairs, and the Office of Equity and Diversity.

The person holding this position may be considered a 'mandated reporter' under the California Child Abuse and Neglect Reporting Act and is required to comply with the requirements set forth in CSU Executive Order 1083 as a condition of employment.

A background check (including a criminal records check) must be completed satisfactorily before any candidate can be offered a position with the CSU. Failure to satisfactorily complete the background check may affect the application status of applicants or continued employment of current CSU employees who apply for the position.

In accordance with the California State University (CSU) Out-of-State Employment Policy, the CSU is a state entity whose business operations reside within the State of California and prohibits hiring employees to perform CSU-related work outside of California. CSUN is an Equal Opportunity Employer and prohibits discrimination based on race, color, ethnicity, religion, national origin, age, gender, gender identity/expression, sexual orientation, genetic information, medical condition, marital status, veteran status, and disability. Our nondiscrimination policy is set forth in CSU Nondiscrimination Policy. Reasonable accommodations will be provided for applicants with disabilities who self-disclose by contacting Dr. Tyler Hughes, Political Science Department Chair, at 818-677-3488.

CSUN's Commitment to You:

CSUN is committed to achieving excellence through teaching, scholarship, learning and inclusion. Our values include a respect for all people, building partnerships with the community and the encouragement of innovation, experimentation, and creativity. CSUN strives to cultivate a community in which a diverse population can learn and work in an atmosphere of civility and respect. CSUN is especially interested in candidates who make contributions to equity and inclusion in the pursuit of excellence for all members of the university community.

As a Hispanic-serving Institution (HSI), inclusiveness and diversity are integral to CSUN's commitment to excellence in teaching, research, and engagement. As of Fall 2022, CSUN enrolls ~38,000 students, where 57.3% are Latinx, 19.8% are White, 9.2% are Asian-American, 4.9% are Black/African American, 0.1% are Native American, and 0.2% are Native Hawaiian or Pacific Islander.

For more information about the University, visit: <http://www.csun.edu>

For more information about the College of Social and Behavioral Sciences, visit: <https://www.csun.edu/social-behavioral-sciences>

About the Department:

For more information about the Department of Political Science, visit: <https://www.csun.edu/social-behavioral-sciences/political-science>

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 10/12/2023

Date Posted: 9/18/2023

Salary: $70,000 - $79,999

eJobs ID: 12550

University of Michigan

Rank: WCEE Postdoctoral Fellow

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Public Law, Political Theory

The Weiser Center for Europe and Eurasia (WCEE) at the University of Michigan invites scholars with a recent PhD to apply for a two-year WCEE Postdoctoral Fellowship, from August 2024 – July 2026.

WCEE Postdoctoral Fellows are expected to focus on their own research, participate in the center's events, present at least one public lecture during their two-year fellowship, and teach one course per year at the University of Michigan while in full-time residency.

Two positions are open for the 2024-26 fellowship:

1. Contemporary Russian Society and Politics

We welcome applicants in any social science field focused on key aspects of contemporary Russian society and politics, including but not limited to: Russian nationalism, post-Soviet politics, ethno-cultural and religious movements, authoritarianism and Putinism, and Russian economic policy and practice.

2. Ukraine in Context

We welcome applicants from history, the social sciences, law, and public policy, whose research sheds light on: the causes and consequences of the war in Ukraine; its related histories and geopolitical dynamics; and/or the relationship of Ukraine with its neighbors, the EU, NATO countries, and the international community.

Eligibility:

Eligibility is restricted to applicants who have obtained their PhD no earlier than January 1, 2022. Current doctoral candidates are eligible to apply but must have defended and filed their dissertations by August 31, 2024.

Benefits:

Fellowships carry an annual salary of $60,000 and up to $10,000 in research funds during the postdoctoral appointment. Fellowship recipients will be eligible for U-M health, dental, and life insurance options (beginning August 1, 2024 through July 31, 2026). Fellows have full access to U-M library resources.

Application materials:

Candidates should submit the following via Interfolio (<http://apply.interfolio.com/130617>) and indicate on the research proposal what position they are applying for:

- A research proposal (2000 words maximum) that describes your intellectual objectives and concrete plan for the fellowship duration
- Curriculum Vitae
- A scholarly writing sample, such as a dissertation chapter or peer-reviewed journal article (50 pages maximum)

- Teaching statement with potential course topics
- DEI statement
- Two letters of recommendation

To be assured full consideration, fellowship applications should be received by October 15, 2023, 11:59 PM EST. Successful applicants will be notified by December 2023.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 10/15/2023

Date Posted: 9/18/2023

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 12545

The University of Texas at Austin

Rank: Professor (Open Rank)

Subfield(s): Open, Political Theory, Public Law

The School of Civic Leadership at The University of Texas at Austin (UT Austin) invites applications for full-time tenure-track and tenured faculty positions at the assistant, associate, or full professor level.

Description

Considering the responsibility public institutions of higher education have to prepare students for leadership in a free society, the University of Texas System Board of Regents recently established the School of Civic Leadership at UT Austin. Building on the strengths of the Civitas Institute, the School of Civic Leadership is an interdisciplinary school whose dual mission is to equip students with the knowledge and aptitudes necessary to lead in a free society, and to produce academic research at the highest levels of scholarly excellence.

Qualifications

We seek outstanding candidates from a broad range of disciplines whose work speaks to the School of Civic Leadership's core themes: political, economic, and individual liberty and its philosophical underpinnings; constitutionalism and the rule of law; and the political economy of a free society. Ideal candidates will (1) have excellent records of scholarship with robust research agendas, (2) provide evidence of exceptional teaching, and (3) show a readiness to contribute to the intellectual life, governance, and programmatic development of the School of Civic Leadership.

Application Instructions

The School of Civic Leadership invites applicants to submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, and list of three academic references. (References do not need to submit full letters at this stage.) Cover letters should give a brief overview of the candidate's research agenda, highlight areas of teaching competence, and concisely describe how the candidate would contribute to developing the School of Civic Leadership.

Please submit applications through Interfolio using this link: <http://apply.interfolio.com/131417>.

Review of applications will begin on October 1. Questions may be directed to Justin Dyer, interim dean of the School of Civic Leadership, at justin.dyer@austin.utexas.edu.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/13/2023
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 12507

Department of International Studies, Hamilton Lugar School, Indiana University

Rank: Tenure Track/Tenured Professor of Global Economic Development

Subfield(s): International Relations, Public Law, Public Policy
Specializations: Economic Policy, Foreign Policy, International Law & Organizations

The Hamilton Lugar School of Global and International Studies at Indiana University Bloomington seeks to hire a professor of Global Economic Development, with an emphasis on issues at the intersection of economic development, inequality, and governance, to begin August 1, 2024. This is an open rank tenured/tenure track position in the school's multidisciplinary Department of International Studies.

The department seeks a scholar of economic development who focuses on the role of international economic and financial organizations, donor countries, prominent recipient countries, and/or international civil society organizations in driving development initiatives, influencing their implementation, and/or affecting development and distributional outcomes.

The successful candidate will hold a PhD or equivalent in a relevant discipline in the social sciences or the humanities. Candidates should have an outstanding record of research, publication, teaching and professional service (appropriate to their rank). The selected candidate will be appointed at the rank of Assistant Professor, Associate Professor, or Professor, depending upon their qualifications.

Practical experience in the development field, and/or experience teaching in professional master's programs is desirable. In addition, scholars who combine quantitative methodology with qualitative field-based methods are especially encouraged to apply.

Interested candidates should review the application requirements and submit the following documentation within their portfolio of materials: a cover letter highlighting qualifications and fit with the department's strengths and its needs, curriculum vitae, two writing samples, and the names and contact information for three academic references. A separate statement that addresses past and/or potential contributions to diversity, equity and inclusion must also be included in the application materials. Interested candidates should review the application requirements and submit their application at: <https://indiana.peopleadmin.com/postings/20148>

Review of applications will begin on October 8, 2023 and continue until the position is filled. All applications received by October 8, 2023 will be guaranteed full consideration.

Start Date: Fall 2024
Date Posted: 9/11/2023
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 12490

Indiana University

Rank: Tenure Track/Tenured Professor of Cyber Security and Governance

Subfield(s): International Relations, Public Law, Public Policy
Specializations: International Security, Foreign Policy, Science & Technology

Indiana University's Hamilton Lugar School of Global and International Studies invites applications for a full-time position in Cyber Security and Governance to begin August 1, 2024. This is an open rank tenured/tenure track position in the school's multidisciplinary Department of International Studies.

The successful candidate will have an active research agenda and teaching experience at the intersections of emerging cyber technologies and threats, global governance and security, and international law. We seek candidates who demonstrate a deep familiarity with the range of legal and ethical challenges pertaining to information and artificial intelligence governance at the state, international, and transnational levels.

The selected candidate will be appointed at the rank of Assistant Professor, Associate Professor, or Professor, depending upon their qualifications.

Candidates should hold a PhD or equivalent in a relevant discipline in the social sciences, humanities, or law and have a strong record of research, publication, teaching, and professional service (appropriate to their rank).

Interested candidates should review the application requirements and submit the following documentation within their portfolio of materials: a cover letter highlighting their research and teaching, a curriculum vitae, two writing samples, and the names and contact information for three academic references. A separate statement that addresses past and/or potential contributions to diversity, equity and inclusion must also be included in the application materials. Interested candidates should review the application requirements and submit their application at: <https://indiana.peopleadmin.com/postings/20162>

Review of applications will begin on October 11, 2023 and continue until the position is filled. All applications received by October 11, 2023 will be guaranteed full consideration.

Start Date: Fall 2024
Date Posted: 9/11/2023
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 12489

University of North Florida

Rank: Assistant Professor

UNIVERSITY OF NORTH FLORIDA: Assistant Professor – Public Law

The Department of Political Science and Public Administration at the University of North Florida seeks a candidate for a tenure-track position as an Assistant Professor in Public Law beginning in August 2024. The desired focus within Public Law is open. The department is especially interested in applicants prepared to teach and conduct research in subfields including, but not limited to, judicial politics and behavior, constitutional law, administrative law, or state and federal courts. The department also welcomes applications from candidates with expertise in international law. Successful applicants will be expected to excel and employ innovative teaching technologies including distance learning and hybrid classes. There are also opportunities for the selected candidate to teach in the department's Masters of Public Administration and Masters of International Affairs programs. UNF faculty are expected to maintain the highest standards of academic excellence in all phases of instruction, research/scholarship/creative activity, and service. The teaching load is a 3/3. A Ph.D. in Political Science or Government, or a closely related discipline is required by August 2024.

Applicants must complete an online application and upload supplemental documents at www.unfjobs.org to be considered for this position. Applicants who do not apply online and/or upload all the required documents will not be considered for this position. Once you submit both your completed application and uploaded documents, you will receive a confirmation number. Keep the confirmation number for your records. Applicants must attach the following required documents to be considered for this position.

- (1) a letter of interest stating teaching interests and research plans
- (2) a complete curriculum vitae
- (3) graduate school transcripts
- (4) one sample of research and writing
- (5) evidence of teaching effectiveness
- (6) list of three professional references

Review of applications will begin on October 18, 2023, and will continue until the position is filled.

Note: Recommendation letters will be required prior to any on-campus interviews. Official transcripts are required by the time of employment. The University of North Florida is an Equal Opportunity/Equal Access Institution.

For further information, please contact search committee chair Mike Binder via email at m.binder@unf.edu.

Applications may be submitted at <https://www.unfjobs.org/postings/25381>

UNF is a Carnegie Community Engaged institution. This designation celebrates the University's collaboration with community partners from the local to the global level. It reflects UNF's mission to contribute to the public good and prepare educated, engaged citizens. We are especially interested in candidates who can contribute to the diversity and excellence of the academic community through their research, teaching and service. The successful candidate will be able to excel at teaching courses throughout the curriculum, conduct research involving undergraduate students, and be committed to increasing the participation of the major.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 10/18/2023

Date Posted: 9/11/2023

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 12493

University of Tulsa

Rank: Assistant Professor of American Politics

Specializations: Judicial Politics, Constitutional Law & Theory, Civil Rights & Liberties

The Department of Political Science at the University of Tulsa invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor in American Politics, with an emphasis on Law and Courts, to begin Fall 2024. The search is open with respect to substantive focus and methodological orientation. An interest in teaching research methods is a plus.

Applicants should submit the following materials: (1) a cover letter; (2) a curriculum vitae; (3) a research statement; (4) a statement of teaching philosophy (including a list of courses taught and courses the candidate is prepared to teach); (5) a writing sample, preferably a sole-authored paper (if a multi-authored paper, the candidate should describe their contribution); and (6) three letters of recommendation. Candidates may be asked to submit additional materials as the review process unfolds. All application materials must be submitted online through People Admin (<https://universitytulsa.peopleadmin.com/postings/8108>).

Review of applications will begin September 24, 2023 and will continue until the position is filled. Questions about the position can be directed to Department Chair Matt Hindman (matt-hindman@utulsa.edu).

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/11/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12497

Alma College

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of Political Science at Alma College invites applications for a tenure-track position in American Politics at the Assistant Professor level beginning in August 2024. This position will play a central role in revitalizing Alma College's pre-law program, including the development and direction of a Moot Court program; as such, a preference will be given to applicants with research and teaching interests broadly touching on public law and politics in the United States. The Moot Court program will reflect Alma College's emphasis on experiential learning broadly and complement our nationally-recognized Model UN program in particular. Please contact Dr. Britt Cartrite, Chair of Political Science, for questions about the position (cartrite@alma.edu).

Candidates will need to provide 1) a letter of interest addressing qualifications, teaching philosophy, and research interests, 2) curriculum vitae, 3) writing sample, 4) statement that indicates commitment to diversity and inclusion and how this informs pedagogy, and 5) three confidential letters of recommendation. Application materials should be sent to: Alma College Provost and Vice President for Academic Affairs (provost@alma.edu). Review of materials will begin on October 16, 2023. An offer for this position will be contingent on successful completion of a background check.

Alma College is a selective, baccalaureate Liberal Arts College committed to academic excellence and development of responsible leaders. Alma's students thrive on challenging academic programs in a supportive, small-college environment emphasizing active, collaborative learning and close student-faculty interaction. Alma is a private Phi Beta Kappa institution located in the center of Michigan's Lower Peninsula, is an Equal Opportunity Employer, and is committed to recruiting and retaining a diverse faculty, staff and student body.

Alma College recognizes that we are all transformed when we celebrate and value the varied identities backgrounds, experiences, and perspectives in our campus community. We are committed to recognizing and removing barriers to success and providing equitable access to opportunities through education and advocacy. In our increasingly diverse campus and world, we pledge to create a climate where everyone is safe and free to grow intellectually, spiritually, and emotionally. For more information about the College, visit www.alma.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 10/15/2023

Date Posted: 9/8/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12483

St. John Fisher University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Legal Studies

Subfield(s): Public Law, American Government and Politics, Other

Specializations: Constitutional Law & Theory, Civil Rights & Liberties, Judicial Politics

St. John Fisher University, an independent, liberal arts institution in the Catholic tradition located in Rochester, New York, seeks applications for a tenure-track assistant professor of Legal Studies to begin fall 2024.

The successful candidate will contribute to our legal studies program by offering courses in the field of law, politics and society. The ability to offer classes in legal theory, in legal processes, or in US or comparative public law are particularly welcome. The candidate must demonstrate the potential for superior teaching, excellence in scholarship, and an ability to provide excellent advising and mentorship for the many students preparing for law school. The person hired must possess their Ph.D. by August 2024. Prior teaching experience is highly valued. Additional JD degree, or experience in law school and law advising is strongly preferred.

Applicants are encouraged to visit our web page to get more information about the requirements and coursework in Legal Studies. <https://www.sjf.edu/major-minors/legal-studies/>

The application can be found on our Human Resources Webpage at <https://jobs.sjf.edu/postings/3080>

Founded in 1948, St. John Fisher University is ranked among the top colleges and universities in the northeast and has a rich history of academic excellence and an outstanding reputation for its commitment to a student-centered, personalized educational environment. The educational philosophy of the founding Basilian Fathers—Teach me goodness, discipline, and knowledge—reflects Fisher's traditions and values today, and the campus prepares individuals for lives of intellectual, professional, and civic integrity and where diversity and service to others are valued and practiced,

The School of Arts and Sciences at St John Fisher University serves all undergraduate students through 33 programs, the Core general education curriculum, and pre-professional requirements. The School provides all the liberal arts offerings required for baccalaureate degrees, thus providing critical skills and perspectives across a wide range of disciplines.

The new faculty will arrive at an exciting time in our University's history. Our Legal Studies program is one of the fastest growing programs in the School of Arts and Sciences. Our student-focused faculty promote active and applied learning. We pride ourselves on the strength of our relationships with program alumni and offer our undergraduate high-impact programs such as our local and DC internships and many other experiential learning experiences.

Job Responsibilities

Required qualifications:

- PhD or ABD in Political Science, Law and Society, or related field with expected completion by August 2024.
- Additional JD degree preferred. Candidates with a JD only, and significant teaching and research experience, will be considered on an ad hoc basis.
- Ability to teach a wide range of courses at the undergraduate level in Legal Studies and for our Core general education curriculum.
- Demonstrated ability to be an excellent teacher.
- Commitment to a consistent, high-quality scholarly agenda and high potential for publishing in peer-reviewed scholarly venues.
- Commitment to mentoring and advising students, especially regarding law school applications and careers in law.
- Commitment to contributing to a climate of equity and inclusion.
- Commitment to service.
- Commitment to community engagement.
- Excellent communication skills.
- Applicants must be legally authorized to work in the US and be available to start teaching in fall 2024.

Education / Experience:

Applications are invited from candidates who have completed a PhD or joint PhD/JD, or from doctoral candidates with a scheduled completion date for the dissertation by August 2024. Candidates with a JD only, and significant teaching and research experience, will be considered on an ad hoc basis.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 10/15/2023

Date Posted: 9/4/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12433

University of Southern California

Rank: (Open Rank) Professor in American Politics

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Law, Public Policy

The Department of Political Science and International Relations (POIR) in the Dana and David Dornsife College of Letters, Arts and Sciences at the University of Southern California (USC) in Los Angeles invites applications for a tenure-track or tenured position in American Politics as part of a major hiring initiative.

We seek candidates with a strong substantive research program in any domain of American politics, whose work advances theoretical and empirical research on important questions in their subfield. Candidates are expected to have strong methodological training, and their methodological skills, ability to advise graduate students on methodological issues and teach graduate classes in the Department's core methods sequence will be a consideration. A strong commitment to undergraduate and graduate education is also expected.

The candidate must have completed a Ph.D. by the appointment date. Review of applications will start September 15, 2023 and will continue until the positions are filled.

In order to be considered for this position, applicants are required to submit an electronic USC application; follow this job link or paste in a browser: <https://usccareers.usc.edu/job/los-angeles/open-rank-faculty-position-in-american-politics/1209/53486590032> . Required materials for upload include a CV, letter of interest, sample research paper(s), statement of research interests, evidence of teaching effectiveness, the names of three individuals who will be contacted by USC for a letter of reference, and official graduate transcripts. Send inquiries to poir@usc.edu. Materials submitted by regular mail will not be accepted.

The annual base salary range for this position is $93,500 - $175,700. When extending an offer of employment, the University of Southern California considers factors such as (but not limited to) the scope and responsibilities of the position, the candidate's work experience, education/training, key skills, internal peer equity, federal, state and local laws, contractual stipulations, grant funding, as well as external market and organizational considerations.

USC is an equal-opportunity educator and employer, proudly pluralistic and firmly committed to providing equal opportunity for outstanding persons of every race, gender, creed and background. The University particularly encourages women, members of underrepresented groups, veterans and individuals with disabilities to apply. USC will make reasonable accommodations for qualified individuals with known disabilities unless doing so would result in an undue hardship. Further information is available by contacting uschr@usc.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/29/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12398

Princeton University

Rank: James Madison Program Visiting Fellow

Subfield(s): Political Theory, American Government and Politics, Public Law

Specializations: Political Philosophy & Theory, Constitutional Law & Theory, American Politics

The James Madison Program in American Ideals and Institutions at Princeton University is dedicated to the pursuit of scholarly excellence in the fields of constitutional law and political thought. Sponsored by Princeton's Department of Politics, the Program seeks to enrich the intellectual life of Princeton students and faculty by exploring American constitutional principles and structures through research and public discussion.

The Program invites college and university professors and other professionals with established records of scholarship to apply for appointments as Visiting Fellows for the academic year running from September 1, 2024 to June 1, 2025. One-semester appointments are possible but not preferred. Depending on the needs of the University, teaching opportunities may be available, subject to sufficient enrollment and approval of the Dean of the Faculty.

All James Madison Program Visiting Fellows will spend an academic year (9-month term) in residence at Princeton University or the local vicinity, or demonstrate to the program's satisfaction the ability to be on campus daily, and on short notice, in order to fulfill responsibilities relating to in-person participation. They enjoy access to Firestone Library and a wide range of other facilities and activities throughout the University.

Visiting Fellows are expected to devote full time to their proposed research. They are encouraged, however, to attend or participate in various activities of the Program, including faculty-student seminars, colloquia, and public lectures.

All James Madison Program Fellows must have a doctorate or equivalent degree. Positions are open to all regardless of citizenship. Fellows normally receive a stipend of one-half their academic-year salary plus a living allowance. The fellows' home institutions are expected to provide at least half of their academic-year salaries.

How to apply: Applicants are required to submit an online application at: <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/31661>

A complete application must include the following:

- * a curriculum vitae;
- * a scholarly paper written in the past three years;
- * a statement (no more than 1,500 words) describing the proposed research;
- * contact information for two references

Selected candidates will be asked to either submit a confidential statement indicating salary for the current academic year (September 1, 2023 - June 1, 2024) or provide written authorization for Princeton to confirm their salary.

For priority consideration application materials must be received by 11:59 p.m. EST on December 1, 2023 for appointments beginning in September 2024. Awards will be announced in March 2024 or before.

Please address any inquiries to:

Shilo Brooks, Ph.D.

Executive Director

James Madison Program in American Ideals and Institutions

Princeton University

83 Prospect Avenue

Princeton, NJ 08540

E-mail: shilo.brooks@princeton.edu / Web address: jmp.princeton.edu

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 12/1/2023

Date Posted: 8/28/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12379

Princeton University

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Associate, James Madison Program

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Political Theory, Public Law

Invitation for Postdoctoral Research Associate Applications

The James Madison Program in American Ideals and Institutions at Princeton University is dedicated to the pursuit of scholarly excellence in the fields of constitutional law and political thought. Sponsored by Princeton's Department of Politics, the Program seeks to enrich the intellectual life of Princeton students and faculty by exploring American constitutional principles and structures through research and public discussion.

The Program invites recent Ph.D. recipients to apply for appointments as Postdoctoral Research Associates or more senior researchers for the year from September 1, 2024 to September 1, 2025. Appointments will be through the Department of Politics. All James Madison Program researchers are expected to be in residence in Princeton or the local vicinity, or demonstrate to the program's satisfaction the ability to be on campus daily, and on short notice, to fulfill responsibilities relating to in-person participation, office hours, and the like. They may not be employed by another institution during the term of their Princeton appointment. They enjoy access to Firestone Library and a wide range of other facilities and activities throughout the University. Depending on the needs of the University, teaching opportunities may be available, subject to the approval of the Dean of the Faculty. Researchers appointed in the Madison Program are expected to devote full time to their proposed research. They are, however, encouraged to attend or participate in various activities of the Program, including faculty-student seminars, colloquia, and public lectures.

The position is a fully funded, 12-month postdoctoral research associate appointment with benefits. All James Madison Program Postdoctoral Research Associates are required to have a Ph.D. degree awarded within the last three years (no earlier than September 1, 2021). All requirements for the Ph.D. must be met by June 30, 2024. Applications are evaluated on the basis of (1) the significance of the proposed research; (2) the quality of the applicant's past research; and (3) the future contribution the applicant is likely to make to higher education. Positions are open to all regardless of citizenship. This position is subject to the University's background check policy.

How to apply: Applicants are required to submit an online application at <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/31662>

A complete application must include the following:

- * a curriculum vitae;
- * a scholarly paper written in the past three years;
- * a statement (no more than 1,500 words) describing the proposed research;
- * contact information for two references.

For priority consideration, application materials must be received by 11:59 p.m. EST on December 1, 2023; applications will continue to be reviewed until positions are filled. Awards will be announced in March 2024 or before.

Please address any inquiries to:

Shilo Brooks, Ph.D.
Executive Director
James Madison Program in American Ideals and Institutions
Princeton University
83 Prospect Avenue
Princeton, NJ 08540
E-mail: shilo.brooks@princeton.edu
Web address: jmp.princeton.edu

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 12/1/2023

Date Posted: 8/28/2023

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 12378

The University of Scranton

Rank: Assistant Professor in U.S. Politics

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Law, Political Theory

Specializations: American Politics, Constitutional Law & Theory, Political Philosophy & Theory

The Department of Political Science at The University of Scranton invites applications for a tenure-track position in U.S. Politics at the Assistant Professor level beginning in August 2024.

Strong commitment to undergraduate teaching, scholarship, and service. Teaching responsibilities include introductory and elective courses in U.S. Politics, electives in law and politics, and required courses for majors in political theory. Candidates will have the ability to design new law and political theory courses aligned with their interests and expertise and in support of departmental curriculum in Political Science and Public Policy & Service. The standard teaching load is 3-3. Applicants will be expected to support Pre-Law activities of Department majors and the broader University.

Applicants should have a Ph.D. in Political Science or related field at time of appointment; strong ABD candidates in Political Science or related field will be considered.

Apply online at <https://universityofscrantonjobs.com>. Please include in the online application 1) a letter of interest addressing qualifications, teaching philosophy and research interests, 2) curriculum vitae, 3) writing sample, 4) statement that indicates commitment to diversity and inclusion and how this informs pedagogy, and 5) three confidential letters of recommendation.

Review of applications will begin on October 16, 2023. Applications will be accepted until the position is filled.

For further information about the Political Science Department, visit our web page at <https://www.scranton.edu/academics/cas/political-science/index.shtml>. For information about the University's law-related programs, visit <https://www.scranton.edu/academics/cas/pre-law/index.shtml>. The Department also directs the Center for Ethics and Excellence in Public Service (CEEPS).

Please contact Dr. Mike Allison, Chair of the Department of Political Science, via email at michael.allison@scranton.edu for questions about the position.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/18/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12325

California Polytechnic State University

Rank: Tenure-Track Assistant Professor with Specialization in Law and Society

The Department of Political Science in the College of Liberal Arts at California Polytechnic State University (Cal Poly), San Luis Obispo, California, invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track, academic-year Assistant Professor with a specialization in law and society or law and politics, to begin September 16, 2024. Ph.D. in Political Science or a related field is required at time of appointment. Evidence of strong teaching skills and an active research program is required.

Substantive areas of expertise might include constitutional law, law and society, or judicial politics, among others. The successful candidate should be able to teach core undergraduate courses in law, such as Judicial Process, Constitutional Law, Civil Rights, Civil Liberties, Jurisprudence and Constitutional Theory. Preference is given to candidates with teaching and research interest in social justice issues.

An earned doctorate (Ph.D.) in Political Science or a closely related field from an accredited institution or international equivalent is required. Candidates nearing completion of the doctorate (ABD) may be considered but must provide proof that the doctorate has been completed prior to the start of the appointment. The initial appointment is for two years, subject to renewal.

Although Cal Poly is primarily a teaching university, our faculty are expected to balance teaching with an active program of research/professional development (including publication), student supervision and advising, and participation in service activities at the department and college/university level. The typical teaching load is 12 units (three courses) per quarter, with a reduction in course load in each of the first two years to help new faculty establish an active program of research and professional development. Cal Poly strongly values diversity, equity, and inclusion (DEI), especially in the classroom and among its areas of study.

The College of Liberal Arts (CLA) sees diversity as central to its mission and is committed to fostering an equitable and inclusive environment within the college and university. We value our diversity of complex and intersecting identities, while striving to maintain an environment that is equitable, respectful, and inclusive. The successful applicant should be able to clearly demonstrate how they have infused these values and student learning objectives into their work. They should be prepared to present clear examples of how they would infuse these areas into their work as a faculty member.

At California Polytechnic State University, San Luis Obispo, we believe that cultivating an environment that embraces and promotes diversity is fundamental to the success of our students, our employees and our community. Bringing people together from different backgrounds and experiences fosters the innovative and creative thinking that exemplifies Cal Poly's values of free inquiry and reflection on impacts of cultural context, mutual respect, civic engagement, and social and environmental responsibility. Cal Poly's commitment to DEI informs our efforts in recruitment, hiring and retention. California Polytechnic State University is an equal opportunity employer.

Required Qualifications:

- Ph.D. in Political Science or a closely related field
- Demonstrated experience and commitment to student-centered learning and teaching,
- The ability to collaboratively work in multidisciplinary settings is required.
- Demonstrated proficiency in written and oral use of the English language is required.

Preferred Qualifications:

- J.D. (in addition to the Ph.D.) is preferred but not required;
- Teaching and research interest in social justice issues;
- Preference will be given to those with experience in working with diverse populations and fostering a collaborative, supportive and inclusive environment;
- Preference will also be given to those with relevant work experience and those who bring professional capabilities.

The person holding this position is considered a 'mandated reporter' under the California Child Abuse and Neglect Reporting Act and is required to comply with the requirements set forth in CSU Executive Order 1083 as a condition of employment.

Following a conditional offer of employment, a background check (including a criminal records check) must be completed satisfactorily before any candidate may start work with Cal Poly, San Luis Obispo. Failure to satisfactorily complete the background check may result in the withdrawal of the offer of employment. Note: Cal Poly cannot deny an applicant a position solely or in part due to a criminal conviction history until it has performed an individualized assessment and linked the relevant conviction history with specific job duties in the position being sought.

Please note: Current employees who are offered positions on campus will be required to undergo a background check for any position where a background check is required by law or that Cal Poly has designated as sensitive. Sensitive positions are those requiring heightened scrutiny of individuals holding the position based on potential for harm to children, concerns for the safety and security of people, animals, or property, or heightened risk of financial loss to Cal Poly or individuals in the university community.

For health and well-being, Cal Poly is a smoke & tobacco-free campus. The university is committed to promoting a healthy environment for all members of our community.

In accordance with the California State University (CSU) Out-of-State Employment Policy, the CSU is a state entity whose business operations reside within the State of California and prohibits hiring employees to perform CSU related work outside of California.

About the Department

The Cal Poly Political Science Department prides itself on its collegiality and commitment to excellence in teaching and scholarship. The department serves approximately 350 majors, 180 minors, and 25 graduate students. At the undergraduate level, the department offers concentrations in American Politics, Global Politics, Pre-Law and Individualized Courses of Study, as well as minors in Law & Society, Political Science, and Global Politics. It also administers a Master of Public Policy Program.

How to Apply

To apply, please visit <http://jobs.calpoly.edu/>, complete a required online faculty application and apply to Requisition #529094 Please upload the following required materials as part of the electronic application:

- Cover letter: address the feasibility of conducting a research program within the context of a primarily teaching-oriented undergraduate program
- Current curriculum vitae
- Statement of demonstrated commitment to DEI in teaching, scholarship and/or service describing past experience, contributions to DEI efforts, the impact on students, faculty, staff and/or your field and a description of how you will demonstrate a commitment in these areas in teaching, research, and/or service at Cal Poly
- Unofficial transcripts showing highest degree earned, official transcripts showing highest degree earned will be required prior to appointment.

Please be prepared to provide three professional references with names and email addresses when completing the online faculty application.

Projected Start Date: 09-16-2024

Review Begin Date: Oct-1-2023. Applicants with complete files by the Review Begin Date will be given full consideration. Applications received after this date may be considered.

For questions about the position please contact Helene Shanruo Ning Zhang via email at nizhang@calpoly.edu

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 10/1/2023

Date Posted: 8/15/2023

Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 12273

Claremont McKenna College

Rank: Assistant Professor in Public Law / American Politics

Position Details

Posting ID: 17022
 Position Title: Assistant Professor in Public Law / American Politics
 Category: Tenure-track
 Department: Government
 Department URL: <http://www.claremontmckenna.edu/govt/>

Description:

The Department of Government at Claremont McKenna College (CMC) invites applications for a tenure-track assistant professorship in public law/American politics. The position will begin on July 1, 2024. The successful candidate is expected to hold a Ph.D. in political science by the time of the appointment and to be a recent Ph.D. or early assistant professor.

The successful applicant will teach courses in constitutional law, legal studies, and American politics using historical, institutional, and theoretical perspectives. The teaching load is two courses per semester.

The candidate must demonstrate the ability to maintain an active, high quality research program and the highest standards of excellence in teaching. In addition, the applicant should be prepared to assist with the development and administration of the College's interdisciplinary legal studies program.

Given the College's commitment to cultivating an inclusive educational environment, we seek candidates who can demonstrate a commitment to teaching, mentoring, and inspiring students representing a broad range of socioeconomic backgrounds, political opinions, genders, races, ethnicities, nationalities, sexual orientations, and religions. Candidates should demonstrate this commitment in their application materials.

Procedures and Timetable:

Applications should include a cover letter; curriculum vitae; research statement; statement of teaching philosophy; evidence of teaching effectiveness; and writing sample. Applicants must also submit the names and e-mail addresses of three references; an email will be automatically sent to them with a link to upload their confidential recommendation letter. Please upload application materials at: https://webapps.cmc.edu/jobs/faculty/faculty_opening.php.

Complete applications, including letters of recommendation, will be reviewed beginning September 1, 2023. Review of complete applications will continue until the position is filled. Preliminary interviews will be conducted via Zoom.

Claremont McKenna College is a highly selective undergraduate institution ranked among the top liberal arts colleges nationally. It is part of The Claremont Colleges, which also includes Pomona College, Scripps College, Harvey Mudd College, Pitzer College, Claremont Graduate University, and Keck Graduate Institute. The Claremont Colleges consortium constitutes an academic community of more than 9,000 students. Claremont is located 35 miles east of downtown Los Angeles.

Claremont McKenna College is an equal opportunity employer. In a continuing effort to enrich its academic environment and provide equal educational and employment opportunities, the College actively encourages a diverse set of applications.

To apply: <https://apptrkr.com/4451870>

Claremont McKenna College hires and promotes individuals on the basis of their qualifications, consistent with applicable state and federal laws, without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, gender expression, pregnancy, breastfeeding or related medical condition, national origin, ancestry, citizenship, age, marital status, physical disability, mental disability, medical condition, genetic characteristic or information, military and veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by state or federal law. Inquiries may be directed to the Director for Human Resources, 528 N. Mills Avenue, Claremont, California 91711-4015, (909) 621-8490. All applicants must complete and submit an online application to be considered for an open position.

Employment is contingent upon new employee providing documents verifying U.S. citizenship or, for aliens, documents verifying legal permission to work in the United States, applicant's acceptability for positions requiring use of a college vehicle is contingent upon a driving record acceptable to the College's automobile liability insurance. Promotion from within is encouraged whenever qualified employees of Claremont McKenna College are available. Interested employees of the College are urged to contact the Director of Human Resources if qualified for any open position. Please do not contact departments directly.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/11/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12256

University of Richmond

Rank: Assistant Professor of Leadership Studies

Specializations: Leadership Studies, Political Philosophy & Theory, Political Behavior

The University of Richmond's Jepson School of Leadership Studies (JLS) invites applications for a full-time tenure-track position at the rank of Assistant Professor to begin in the 2024-25 academic year.

The successful candidate must have completed a Ph.D. in Philosophy or a related field by August 15, 2024. We seek applicants with the potential and desire to develop, from their disciplinary training, an active scholarly agenda on the ethics of leadership. Successful candidates' specific areas of expertise and experience should be in applied or professional ethics, including (but not limited to) political or business ethics.

JLS is a collaborative, inclusive community of scholars with representation from diverse humanities and social science disciplines. Applicants should have the potential and desire to teach in our interdisciplinary undergraduate liberal arts environment (see <http://jepson.richmond.edu/> for more information). The successful candidate will be expected to teach required courses such as Leadership Ethics, Critical Thinking, and Leadership and the Humanities, as well as elective courses that address leadership from a philosophical perspective. Applicants should also be prepared to share in responsibilities for coaching our "Ethics Bowl" team.

The University of Richmond is a private university located just a short drive from downtown Richmond, Virginia. Through its five schools (including JSLS) and wide array of campus programming, the University combines the best qualities of a small liberal arts college and a large university. With approximately 4,000 students, an 8:1 student-faculty ratio, and more than 90% of traditional undergraduate students living on campus, the University is remarkably student-centered, focused on preparing students “to live lives of purpose, thoughtful inquiry, and responsible leadership in a global and pluralistic society.”

The University of Richmond is committed to developing a diverse and inclusive campus community, which values the expression of difference in ways that promote a sense of belonging as well as excellence in teaching, learning, and personal development. The JSLS supports the University’s commitment to promoting a diverse and inclusive campus community.

Applicants should apply online at <http://jobs.richmond.edu> and submit a curriculum vitae, cover letter, and teaching statement. In their cover letter, candidates should demonstrate how, given their scholarly and teaching interests, they have the potential to address issues in leadership ethics from a philosophical perspective. In addition, applicants should specify in their cover letters how they are prepared to contribute to the unique, interdisciplinary environment at JSLS and to diversity and inclusion. Candidates for this position may be asked, at a later date, to provide the names and contact information for three references who will be asked to submit letters of recommendation. The teaching statement should articulate the candidate’s teaching philosophy and experience, particularly as they relate to the courses the successful candidate is expected to teach.

Review of applications will commence November 1, 2023; the deadline for applications is November 15, 2023. Phone or Zoom interviews will be conducted in December. We anticipate inviting candidates to campus in January.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 11/15/2023

Date Posted: 8/10/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12247

University of San Diego

Rank: Assistant Professor in Public Law

The Department of Political Science and International Relations at the University of San Diego invites applications for a tenure track position at the Assistant Professor level with expertise in public law.

Successful candidates should be committed to excellent, inclusive teaching at the lower and upper division levels, and to engage in student advising. Candidates will pursue a scholarly agenda and engage in service at the departmental, college, and university levels. The teaching load is three courses per semester. The University of San Diego is a teaching focused liberal arts institution, and all faculty in the department of Political Science and International Relations are committed to offering a range of courses aligned with their interests and in support of the departmental curriculum.

The candidate will offer courses that address the relationships between the law, politics, and structural inequity, with a specific expectation that they will regularly offer upper division courses in Constitutional Law and lower division courses in political theory and/or race and ethnic politics. Within the scope of these parameters, the position is open to teacher-scholars of a variety of sub-disciplinary approaches to public law, including law & society, political theory, judicial politics, legal institutions, critical legal studies, politics of race & ethnicity, feminist legal theory, or comparative law. The successful candidate will also contribute courses in other core areas of departmental curricular need and participate actively in student advising, including especially pre-law advising.

In addition to outlining their own interests in and approaches to teaching and research in a liberal arts environment, candidates should also describe how their research or teaching connects to one or more of the following three cluster themes in the College of Arts and Sciences. (link to cluster hire here: <https://www.sandiego.edu/cas/about/diversity-equity-inclusion/hiring.php>). These clusters will include new faculty from multiple academic disciplines who have research or teaching interests in one of the following substantive themes: Borders and Social Justice, Technology and the Human Experience, and Climate Change and Environmental Justice. The goal of these themed clusters is to facilitate collaborative research, provide opportunities for interdisciplinary teaching, and build community among faculty and students throughout the University. Candidates are encouraged to interpret these themes broadly and creatively to indicate how their teaching and research in political science and public law may be understood to intersect with one or more of the three themes.

Click Apply Now at the following link to apply: <https://jobs.sandiego.edu/cw/en-us/job/496415/assistant-professor-of-political-science-and-international-relations-in-public-law>

Candidates are asked to submit, at the earliest convenience, but no later than August 21, 2023, the following materials:

Letter of application

Curriculum vitae

Letters of application should explain how the candidate’s expertise aligns with the job description of this position as described above, including especially teaching interests and reference to the cluster(s) of interest. The department will review these materials, and candidates will be notified of the department’s interest on a rolling basis, but no later than September 8.

At that point, we will invite candidates in whom the department is interested to submit the following further materials:

Teaching Statement and a sample syllabus

Research Statement and a sample of scholarly or creative work

Diversity statement, in which you address A) your values with respect to diversity, equity, and inclusion; B) your experience working with minoritized populations and/or on issues that disproportionately affect diverse populations, and C) your plans related to diversity and inclusion in your teaching and research.

Contact information for three references who will be sent a link to upload letters.

Contact: Questions should be directed to the Search Committee Chair, Dr. Timothy Wyman McCarty, tmccarty@sandiego.edu.

If you have any technical questions or difficulties please contact the Employment Services Team at 619-260-6806, or email us at jobs@sandiego.edu

Special Conditions of Employment:

Effective June 1, 2023, based on CDC guidance, the University strongly encourages all campus members to stay up to date with Influenza and COVID-19 vaccination recommendations. For more regarding information USD's COVID-19 protocols, please visit san-diego.edu/onward.

Background check: Successful completion of a pre-employment background check.

Degree Verification Requirement: Persons offered employment in this position will be required to provide official education transcripts for degree verification purposes.

The successful candidates will:

Hold an advanced degree, preferably a doctorate or other terminal degree. ABD candidates will be considered on a case by case basis. Have demonstrated a commitment to teaching and research, mentoring undergraduates, and fostering a climate of inclusion and diversity. Please note that most positions will be hired at the Assistant Professor level.

BB Positions

$6,833.33 - 7,083.33/month; Excellent Benefits

The University of San Diego offers a very competitive benefits package including; medical, dental, vision, a retirement contribution given to you by the University, and access to on-campus Fitness Centers. Please visit the benefits section of our website to view all of the perks and benefits that USD has to offer. USD: Human Resources: Benefits

The salary range provided in this posting reflects what we reasonably expect to pay for this position. Actual compensation offered or earned is dependent on experience, education and other factors including departmental budget.

The University of San Diego, a contemporary and engaged Roman Catholic institution, was founded by the Diocese of San Diego and the Society of the Sacred Heart in 1949. Governed by an independent board of trustees since 1972, USD remains committed to a liberal arts education grounded in the Catholic intellectual tradition and the pursuit of truth, goodness and beauty. Inspired by this centuries old tradition of Catholic higher education, the University welcomes people of all faith traditions and any, or no, religious background. The future success of USD relies on the contributions of those who seek to foster the development of engaged global citizens and an earnest confrontation of humanity's urgent challenges.

The College of Arts and Sciences and University of San Diego
The College of Arts and Sciences is at the heart of the University of San Diego. Our philosophy is built on the enduring values of the Catholic intellectual tradition, immersing students in the concepts of free inquiry, diversity and inclusion, ethical conduct and compassionate service. The College aims to establish an academic foundation for students to thrive and gain a comprehensive education, which spans the sciences, arts and social sciences. Through our exemplary liberal arts education and rigorous scholarship, we aspire to not only educate the mind but also develop the whole person.

The Department of Political Science and International Relations is committed to the liberal arts tradition of intellectual curiosity, academic rigor, and a pluralistic and diverse curriculum. We provide students with a solid understanding of the theories, practices and institutions of politics, but also with an appreciation of how to create a more just and humane world.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 8/21/2023

Date Posted: 7/11/2023

Salary: $80,000 - $89,999

eJobs ID: 12080

Stockton University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science, tenure-track

Responsibilities: The Political Science Program of Stockton University invites applications for a tenure-track position beginning September 1, 2024. The rank is Assistant Professor for applicants who possess a Ph.D. in Political Science or related field or a J.D. by September 1, 2024. Advanced ABD candidates will be considered, but the rank is Instructor until the degree is completed. Stockton offers a B.A. degree and Minor in Political Science as well as a Pre-Law Concentration, which is the most popular option among our majors. Candidates will be expected to regularly teach advanced undergraduate courses in Civil Liberties and Constitutional Law. An ideal candidate will also be prepared to rotate teaching lower-level and advanced-level pre-law electives such as Judicial Process, Advanced Constitutional Litigation, and the Supreme Court, special topics in the law (e.g., gender, environment, technology, etc.), and other courses as proposed and reviewed within the program. Applicants will be expected to have a research program broadly related to law and the courts. The program is dedicated to maintaining a high-quality pre-law concentration, and applicants interested in teaching at a public university are encouraged to apply. There is a separate position of a campus-wide Pre-Law Coordinator that this candidate would be expected to consider in the future. Stockton offers opportunities for interdisciplinary teaching and engagement.

Descriptions of Essential Duties/Responsibilities:

- Teach three 4-credit courses per semester. This includes 1-to-2 interdisciplinary General Studies courses annually as part of one's regular teaching load. These General Studies courses might include courses for the University's interdisciplinary minors.
- Engage in ongoing scholarship/research.
- Serve as a preceptor (advisor) to students, as assigned.
- Provide service to the University, community, and profession.
- Demonstrate a commitment to diversity, equity, and inclusion and a strong student-centered vision and public mission.

Required Qualifications:

- Ph.D. in Political Science or closely related field OR advanced ABD (with a timeline for degree completion) OR J.D.
- Research focus on American Law/Courts/Public Law.

Preferred Qualifications:

- 1-5 years of undergraduate or graduate-level teaching experience.
- Teaching and/or research experience in Civil Liberties and/or Constitutional Law.
- Teaching and/or research experience in a specialized legal field such as gender, environment, technology, etc.
- Pre-law advising or service experience.
- For J.D. applicants, a master's degree in policy, political science, or related field.

- For J.D. applicants, experience as a judicial law clerk (preferably at appellate level), and/or experience in constitutional or civil rights litigation including appellate litigation, and/or service on law journal editorial board.

Screening Information: Screening of applications begins immediately and will continue until the position is filled. Applications received by September 15th will receive full consideration.

How to Apply: To apply visit <https://employment.stockton.edu>. Please complete the online application and include three professional references in addition to the following required documents. Only electronic documents will be accepted. All required documents (Microsoft Word or PDF) must be submitted in order for your application to move forward:

- 1) A letter of interest describing qualifications and accomplishments
- 2) A curriculum vitae
- 3) Unofficial Graduate transcripts
- 4) A Teaching Portfolio including a 1-2 page teaching philosophy statement and evidence of teaching effectiveness including syllabi, student evaluations, samples of innovative pedagogical assignments, etc.
- 5) A 1-2 page description of scholarship plans and research capabilities
- 6) Up to 3 samples of scholarly work

Salary commensurate with experience and is accompanied by an extremely competitive University benefits package.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/10/2023

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 12075

Stockton University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science, tenure-track

Responsibilities: The Political Science Program of Stockton University invites applications for a tenure-track position beginning September 1, 2024. The rank is Assistant Professor for applicants who possess a Ph.D. in Political Science or related field or a J.D. by September 1, 2024. Advanced ABD candidates will be considered, but the rank is Instructor until the degree is completed. Stockton offers a B.A. degree and Minor in Political Science as well as a Pre-Law Concentration, which is the most popular option among our majors. Candidates will be expected to regularly teach advanced undergraduate courses in Civil Liberties and Constitutional Law. An ideal candidate will also be prepared to rotate teaching lower-level and advanced level pre-law electives such as Judicial Process, Advanced Constitutional Litigation, and the Supreme Court, special topics in the law (e.g., gender, environment, technology, etc.), and other courses as proposed and reviewed within the program. Applicants will be expected to have a research program broadly related to law and the courts. The program is dedicated to maintaining a high-quality pre-law concentration, and applicants interested in teaching at a public university are encouraged to apply. There is a separate position of a campus-wide Pre-Law Coordinator that this candidate would be expected to consider in the future. Stockton offers opportunities for interdisciplinary teaching and engagement.

Descriptions of Essential Duties/Responsibilities:

- Teach three 4-credit courses per semester. This includes 1-to-2 interdisciplinary General Studies courses annually as part of one's regular teaching load. These General Studies courses might include courses for the University's interdisciplinary minors.

- Engage in ongoing scholarship/research.
- Serve as a preceptor (advisor) to students, as assigned.
- Provide service to the University, community, and profession.
- Demonstrate a commitment to diversity, equity, and inclusion and a strong student-centered vision and public mission.

Required Qualifications:

- Ph.D. in Political Science or closely related field OR advanced ABD (with a timeline for degree completion) OR J.D.
- Research focus on American Law/Courts/Public Law.

Preferred Qualifications:

- 1-5 years of undergraduate or graduate-level teaching experience.
- Teaching and/or research experience in Civil Liberties and/or Constitutional Law.
- Teaching and/or research experience in a specialized legal field such as gender, environment, technology, etc.
- Pre-law advising or service experience.
- For J.D. applicants, a master's degree in policy, political science, or related field.
- For J.D. applicants, experience as a judicial law clerk (preferably at appellate level), and/or experience in constitutional or civil rights litigation including appellate litigation, and/or service on law journal editorial board.

Screening Information: Screening of applications begins immediately and will continue until the position is filled. Applications received by September 15th will receive full consideration.

How to Apply: To apply visit <https://employment.stockton.edu>. Please complete the online application and include three professional references in addition to the following required documents. Only electronic documents will be accepted. All required documents (Microsoft Word or PDF) must be submitted in order for your application to move forward:

- 1) A letter of interest describing qualifications and accomplishments
- 2) A curriculum vitae
- 3) Unofficial Graduate transcripts
- 4) A Teaching Portfolio including a 1-2 page teaching philosophy statement and evidence of teaching effectiveness including syllabi, student evaluations, samples of innovative pedagogical assignments, etc.
- 5) A 1-2 page description of scholarship plans and research capabilities
- 6) Up to 3 samples of scholarly work

Salary commensurate with experience and is accompanied by an extremely competitive University benefits package.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/10/2023

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 12076

Yale University

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellowships with the Leitner Program on Effective Democratic Governance at Yale, 2023-24

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Law, Public Policy

Specializations: Economic Policy, Political Economy, Regulatory Policy

Postdoctoral Fellowships with the Leitner Program on Effective Democratic Governance at Yale, 2023-24

Yale University's Leitner Program on Effective Democratic Governance housed at the Jackson School of Global Affairs is seeking applications for a Postdoctoral Associate with strong training in political economy and quantitative methods. We are interested in candidates who study the effects of regime type, electoral systems, and the rule of law on the economy with particular attention to economic growth, regulation, social protection, and the performance of financial markets." The Postdoctoral Associate will work with a Yale group led by Professor Ian Shapiro.

This is a full-time position. The Postdoctoral Associate will spend fifty percent of their time working collaboratively on this project and the other fifty percent pursuing their own research.

The appointment period will run for twelve months, starting in July 2023. Fellows will be expected to be in full-time residence at Yale for the duration of their appointment.

Applicants should submit a cover letter, CV, one page description of research plans, and two letters of recommendation. All information from the applicant should be submitted electronically through Interfolio at <http://apply.interfolio.com/118479>.

Compensation includes a salary of $65,000 for the duration of the appointment, health insurance, and other benefits afforded to postdoctoral associates at Yale. For more information see <https://your.yale.edu/enroll#pda>.

Review of applications will begin on December 15, 2022 and will continue until the position is filled.

For questions concerning this search, please contact larisa.satara@yale.edu

Start Date: Summer 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 12/8/2022

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 11487

PUBLIC POLICY

Stanford University

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellowship on Contemporary Japan 2024-2025

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Public Policy

Stanford University: 2024–2025 Postdoctoral Fellowship on Contemporary Japan

The Japan Program at Stanford University's Walter H. Shorenstein Asia-Pacific Research Center is pleased to announce its search for a 2024-2025 Japan Program Postdoctoral Fellow on contemporary Japan. The award will be made to one junior scholar (recent PhDs must have degree conferral and approval by June 30, 2024) for research and writing on Japan.

The primary focus of the fellowship is multidisciplinary research including, but not limited to the areas of political science, economics, sociology, law, policy studies, and international relations of Japan. The postdoctoral fellowship is a 10-month appointment with a salary rate commensurate with Stanford policy, plus up to $3,000 for research expenses. Appointments will begin in the fall quarter of the 2024-2025 academic year.

Applications will be accepted until December 1, 2023.

For additional information and to apply, visit:

<https://apar.fsi.stanford.edu/education/fellowship-and-training-opportunities/postdoctoral-fellowship-contemporary-japan>

About the Japan Program:

The Japan Program at Stanford's Shorenstein Asia-Pacific Research Center cultivates multidisciplinary research and education on contemporary Japanese affairs. Through collaboration with experts from academia, government, business, and civil society, we engage in policy-relevant dialogue and scholarship to promote a comprehensive understanding of the internal and external political, economic, and social factors that influence the progress and development of Japan and its role within the Asia-Pacific region and on the world's stage.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 12/1/2023

Date Posted: 9/27/2023

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 12614

KDI School of Public Policy and Management

Rank: 2023-2024 KDI School Job Openings for Tenure-Track Professors

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Public Administration, Other

*Please find the attached file for detailed information at <https://bit.ly/kdischool-2024-job-openings>.

*Please submit application materials electronically at <http://apply.interfolio.com/130014>.

1. Artificial Intelligence (AI) & Machine Learning (ML) for Public Policy

We invite applications from scholars specializing in the application of artificial intelligence (AI) and machine learning (ML) to address public policy and social science concerns. The ideal applicant will have research expertise that bridges the innovative technologies of AI and ML with nuanced public policy considerations. Successful candidates can be from any computational background (e.g. computational social science, computer science, information science) with research expertise in developing and applying ML, AI, or data science approaches for answering questions in public policy and the social sciences, although candidates from broader social science fields will be also welcomed and considered under the same criteria.

2. Human Computer Interaction & Data-driven Communication for Public Policy

We seek applications from scholars in the area of data science (broadly construed). Substantive expertise of interests are in one or more of the following areas are desired:

- Human-computer interaction (HCI)
 - Data-driven journalism or communication
 - Science and technology policies or ethical dilemmas presented by modern data science and AI applications
 - Application of advanced computational techniques including the use of unstructured data beyond text (image, audio, video, sensor, geospatial, etc.) to social, economic, and/or policy issues
- Successful candidates should hold a disciplinary foundation in fields such as computational social science, computer science, or information science, broadly defined. Prospective applicants will not only be judged on their technical proficiency but also their ability to weave data science techniques into the intricate web of public policy issues. A teaching portfolio is expected to suit the needs of an international public policy school with a diverse student body.

3. Strategic Management

We are seeking candidates in the area of strategic management. The ideal candidate would be a scholar who is interested in research and teaching focusing on traditional strategic management and/or economics. Strong research capabilities in strategic management of public organizations (including public enterprises), non-profit organizations and/or social enterprises is preferred. We are particularly interested in candidates who can develop innovative courses and interact with a broad range of policymakers, scholars, and practitioners in this dynamic and constantly evolving field.

4. Development Economics/Development Studies

We seek applications for a tenure track position in development studies at any rank. While we welcome applicants from any expertise of development studies, preference is given to candidates who majored in development economics and focus on Southeast Asia or Latin America. The successful candidate will provide strategic academic leadership in research, education, and policy consultation. Therefore, substantive expertise in international development cooperation, field-work, or public sector involvement is highly desirable, although not mandatory.

* Qualifications

1. Candidates with research methods that incorporate data science techniques may receive additional consideration for all positions mentioned in this announcement.
– We welcome applicants with diverse research backgrounds, including qualitative, quantitative, or mixed-method.
2. Successful candidates should have strong training in applied empirical methodology, substantive interests in policy-relevant research, and a teaching portfolio that can suit the needs of an international public policy school with a diverse student body.
3. Applicants should have either completed their Ph.D. or be in the advanced stages of their Ph.D. (ABD status), and be able to submit confirmation of their degree by 31 August 2024 for their appointment.
4. All positions are tenure-track and open rank, and candidates with experience from academic or research institutions are preferred.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 10/31/2023

Date Posted: 9/26/2023

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 12558

University of Southern California

Rank: Assistant Professor of Public Policy

The Sol Price School of Public Policy at the University of Southern California invites applications for an assistant professor (tenure-track) in the Department of Public Policy and Management. The Department is interested in candidates with research and teaching interests in social policy – including economic mobility and opportunity and/or social insurance and welfare programs – focusing on analytical approaches to evaluating public policies and programs and/or frameworks for understanding the policy-making process.

The individual will have demonstrated potential for a stellar record of scholarship, and an interest in teaching across the Department's programs at the undergraduate, masters and Ph.D. levels. Candidates from all disciplines and fields that contribute to the vibrant and rigorous study of public policy are encouraged to apply. Candidates should hold a doctoral degree at the time of appointment.

Numerous opportunities for collaboration are available within the Department and the School and its research centers, institutes, and initiatives, including The Bedrosian Center for Governance and the Public Enterprise, The Center on Philanthropy and Public Policy, The Price Center for Social Innovation, and The Schaeffer Center for Health Policy and Economics.

About the Department of Public Policy and Management

The Department houses some of the core programs at the Price School of Public Policy. It offers three nationally ranked professional masters degrees: MPA, MPP and MNLM, as well as a Ph.D. in Public Policy and Management and a professional doctorate in Policy, Planning and Development. In addition, it offers an undergraduate degree in public policy and an executive master's degree in International Public Policy and Management. The Department contains 30 faculty spanning a wide array of research interests, including the policy process, policy analytics, and public and nonprofit management.

The USC Sol Price School of Public Policy

Ranked among the foremost schools of public policy in the nation, the USC Sol Price School of Public Policy generates uncommon knowledge for the common good. The school is composed of overlapping disciplines that generate innovative approaches to critical issues ranging from health-care policy to homelessness, and sustainability to congestion – to name a few. A wide-ranging curriculum, including extensive experiential learning, prepares our graduates to navigate problems that demand multi-layered solutions driven by critical, informed thinking.

The Price School, founded in 1929, is anchored by four departments: Public Policy and Management, Health Policy and Management, Wilbur H. Smith III Department of Estate Development; and Urban Planning and Spatial Analysis. The School's rigorous academic programs provide students with the knowledge and distinctive opportunities to make meaningful contributions to their professions. Integrating classroom instruction with real-world experience and led by some of the world's most renowned faculty in their fields, our students establish a clear pathway to successful careers.

Our academic programs are augmented by numerous research centers, institutes and initiatives that provide additional research expertise and experiences, notable among them are: The Judith and John Bedrosian Center on Governance and the Public; The Center for Philanthropy and Public Policy; The USC Lusk Center for Real Estate; The MET-RANS Transportation Consortium; The Leonard D. Schaeffer Center for Health Policy & Economics; and The Schwarzenegger Institute for State and Global Policy. Together, they account for over $100 million in externally funded research grants and contracts.

Our departments and research enterprise provide unmatched breadth and depth to tackle an enormous range of challenges facing our country and the world. And it's why our graduates hold leadership positions across diverse sectors – public, private, and nonprofit – championing the advancement of the common good. They come from around the world and from a variety of cultures and socio-economic backgrounds to create a rich intellectual environment that celebrates, supports and benefits from diverse people and opinions.

For additional information, see our website: <https://priceschool.usc.edu>.

Compensation and Benefits

The University of Southern California offers a competitive salary within an academic environment based on the candidate's experience and accomplishments. The university also offers excellent benefits to employees, which include: health, dental and life insurance; tuition assistance; disability and retirement plans; credit union membership; and participation in cultural and social events, as well as access to athletic and recreational facilities.

The annual base salary range for this position (9-months) is $125,000-$175,000.

When extending an offer of employment, the University of Southern California considers factors such as (but not limited to) the scope and responsibilities of the position, the candidate's work experience, education/training, key skills, internal peer equity, federal, state, and local laws, contractual stipulations, grant funding, as well as external market and organizational considerations.

Note: The core 9-month base salary for this position will be determined by rank and commensurate with experience, skills, education, and training.

To review the complete job description and to apply, please visit the USC Careers website at [usccareers.usc.edu](http://usc Careers website at usccareers.usc.edu) (ref: REQ20138524).

Start Date:

Date Posted: 9/26/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12612

University of Southern California

Rank: Chair, Department of Public Policy and Management;
Professor in Public Policy and Management

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Public Administration, Administration

Position Description and Qualifications

The Sol Price School of Public Policy at the University of Southern California seeks a senior faculty member at the rank of professor (tenured) to serve as the Chair of the Department of Public Policy and Management. The individual will have a stellar record of scholarship and leadership in public policy and management. Of particular interest will be a focus on civic engagement, democratic processes and institutions, collective action, public policy processes and analytics, and public and nonprofit management. We are interested in scholars from all relevant disciplines as well as an interest in a wide array of issue areas that are part of the School's portfolio. Applicants must present evidence of a creative and intellectually rigorous research agenda, significant accomplishments in their field, and demonstrated ability to advance one of the School's most prestigious and influential departments.

About the Department of Public Policy and Management

The Department houses some of the core programs at the Price School of Public Policy. It offers three nationally ranked professional masters degrees: MPA, MPP and MNLM, as well as a Ph.D. in Public Policy and Management and a professional doctorate in Policy, Planning and Development. In addition, it offers an undergraduate degree in public policy and an executive master's degree in International Public Policy and Management. The Department contains 30 faculty spanning a wide array of research interests, including the policy process, policy analytics, and public and nonprofit management.

Compensation and Benefits

The University of Southern California offers a competitive salary within an academic environment based on the candidate's experience and accomplishments. The university also offers excellent benefits to employees, which include: health, dental and life insurance; tuition assistance; disability and retirement plans; credit union membership; and participation in cultural and social events, as well as access to athletic and recreational facilities.

The annual base salary range for this position (9-months) is $200,000-$275,000.

When extending an offer of employment, the University of Southern California considers factors such as (but not limited to) the scope and responsibilities of the position, the candidate's work experience, education/training, key skills, internal peer equity, federal, state, and local laws, contractual stipulations, grant funding, as well as external market and organizational considerations.

Note: The core 9-month base salary for this position will be determined by rank and commensurate with experience, skills, education, and training.

To review the complete job description and to apply, please visit the USC Careers website at [usccareers.usc.edu](http://usc Careers website at usccareers.usc.edu) (ref: REQ20138522).

Start Date:

Date Posted: 9/26/2023

Salary: Above $159,999

eJobs ID: 12611

Duke Kunshan University

Rank: Faculty Position in Environmental Policy

Specializations: Environmental Policy, Quantitative Methods, Research Methods

Duke Kunshan University (DKU) invites applications for a faculty position in environmental public policy to begin in the academic year 2024-2025. The successful candidate will be appointed jointly in DKU's undergraduate program and related graduate program, the International Master of Environmental Policy. We seek candidates with strong quantitative skills. Teaching a graduate course entitled "Statistics and Program Evaluation" is required of the successful candidate. Candidates employing computational methods in their research are especially encouraged to apply. This call is open with regard to rank, including tenured and tenure track positions.

In order to meet Chinese visa requirements, prior to the position start date international (non-Chinese) candidates must have worked full-time (work experience obtained while studying full-time is not considered as full-time work experience) for at least two years in a relevant area (including post-doctoral work) after receiving their Bachelor's degree, or begin their appointment at DKU within 12 months of obtaining their master's degree/Ph.D. and without having work experience between graduation date on master's degree diploma/ Ph.D. diploma and position start date.

DKU is a collaborative partnership of Duke University, Wuhan University and the Municipality of Kunshan, China (<https://dukekunshan.edu.cn/>). Our campus provides an innovative and robustly interdisciplinary undergraduate liberal arts experience to a student body that will number 2000 students and 150+ faculty, with an acceptance rate of <8% and a student body represented by over 60 countries. We also offer a discrete number of Master's level graduate programs. The DKU pedagogical model draws on the best of Duke's educational experience and resources to reimagine undergraduate instruction on an intimate campus setting.

Similar to the best liberal arts colleges in the United States, DKU values dedication to teaching excellence in a liberal arts environment, as well as a strong commitment to successful scholarly engagement and research. This includes research with undergraduate students. As a whole, the Duke Kunshan faculty will have strong commitments to teaching and research, and outstanding quality in both areas will be highly valued.

Candidates must hold a Ph.D. degree or equivalent in a relevant field. Research experience at a postdoctoral level (or greater) and teaching experience are desirable, as is experience working in an interdisciplinary setting. Applicants should provide a cover letter including a clear statement of the candidate's specific interest in DKU, a curriculum vitae, a research statement, a teaching statement, and three reference letters. All materials should be submitted through Academic Jobs Online: <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/25838>. The search committee also invites and encourages letters of nomination for potential candidates. Nominations and questions about the positions may be sent to social-science-search@dukekunshan.edu.cn using the subject "Environmental Public Policy" as the subject line. Priority will be given to applications received by October 27, 2023; we will accept applications until the positions are filled.

The DKU campus is 37 miles west of Shanghai in Kunshan, and is connected to Shanghai via an 18-minute high-speed train and a subway-light rail train system. DKU provides internationally competitive compensation, housing allowance, child education benefits (for applicable faculty positions), and a discretionary fund or start-up package.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/23/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12597

Duke Kunshan University

Rank: Faculty Position in Political Economy

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Public Policy

Duke Kunshan University invites applications for a visiting assistant professor in political economy, with a focus on Chinese politics. The successful candidate will contribute to DKU's political economy major and may also teach in our team-taught common core course, China in the world. Candidates who have the ability to teach cross-cultural leadership are encouraged to apply. The successful candidate will obtain a contract of between two and three years. As part of this appointment, in year two of the appointment, candidates have the option to complete a non-credit bearing certificate in "Innovative Curriculum Design and Pedagogy" offered by DKU's Center for Teaching and Learning.

In order to meet Chinese visa requirements, prior to the position start date international (non-Chinese) candidates must have worked full-time (work experience obtained while studying full-time is not considered as full-time work experience) for at least two years in a relevant area (including post-doctoral work) after receiving their Bachelor's degree, or begin their appointment at DKU within 12 months of obtaining their master's degree/Ph.D. and without having work experience between graduation date on master's degree diploma/ Ph.D. diploma and position start date.

DKU is a collaborative partnership of Duke University, Wuhan University and the Municipality of Kunshan, China (<https://dukekunshan.edu.cn/>). Our campus provides an innovative and robustly interdisciplinary undergraduate liberal arts experience to a student body that will number 2000 students and 150+ faculty, with an acceptance rate of <8% and a student body represented by over 60 countries. We also offer a discrete number of Master's level graduate programs. The DKU pedagogical model draws on the best of Duke's educational experience and resources to reimagine undergraduate instruction on an intimate campus setting.

Similar to the best liberal arts colleges in the United States, DKU values dedication to teaching excellence in a liberal arts environment, as well as a strong commitment to successful scholarly engagement and research. This includes research with undergraduate students. As a whole, the Duke Kunshan faculty will have strong commitments to teaching and research, and outstanding quality in both areas will be highly valued.

Candidates must hold a Ph.D. degree or equivalent in a relevant field. Research experience at a postdoctoral level (or greater) and teaching experience are desirable, as is experience working in an interdisciplinary setting. Applicants should provide a cover letter including a clear statement of the candidate's specific interest in DKU, a curriculum vitae, a research statement, a teaching statement, and three reference letters. All materials should be submitted through Academic Jobs Online: <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/25752>. The search committee also invites and encourages letters of nomination for potential candidates. Nominations and questions about the positions may be sent to social-science-search@dukekunshan.edu.cn using the subject "Chinese Political Economy" as the subject line. Priority will be given to applications received by October 27, 2023; we will accept applications until the positions are filled.

The DKU campus is 37 miles west of Shanghai in Kunshan, and is connected to Shanghai via an 18-minute high-speed train and a subway-light rail train system. DKU provides internationally competitive compensation, housing allowance, child education benefits (for applicable faculty positions), and a discretionary fund or start-up package.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/23/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12598

Brown University

Rank: Watson Institute Postdoctoral Fellows Program 2024-2026

Subfield(s): International Relations, Public Policy, Comparative Politics

Postdoctoral Fellow at Watson Institute for International and Public Affairs at Brown University

The Watson Institute for International and Public Affairs at Brown University aspires to promote a just and peaceful world through research, teaching, and public engagement. Central to this mission is the Watson Postdoctoral Fellows Program, an effort to galvanize the careers of young social scientists conducting research related to the Institute's three core thematic areas: development, governance, and security. Participants in this program will join an interdisciplinary community of scholars engaged in theoretically and substantively important research addressing the most pressing global issues of our time. Fellows receive two years of support, with the expectation that they will pursue research and participate fully in the intellectual life of the Institute. Fellows will also teach one course per year in the Institute or in an affiliated Brown University social science department. Watson Institute is especially interested in qualified candidates who can contribute, through their research, teaching, and/or service, to the diversity and excellence of the academic community.

Founded in 1764, Brown is a leading research university distinct for its student-centered learning and deep sense of purpose. Brown University students, faculty, and staff are driven by the idea that their work will have an impact on the world. Brown is a place where rigorous scholarship, complex problem-solving, and service to the public good are defined by collaboration, intellectual discovery, and working in ways that transcend traditional disciplinary boundaries.

The fellowship competition is open to candidates from the social sciences, including anthropology, economics, history, political science, and sociology. The selection process, open with regard to nationality and geographic area of research, is highly competitive and typically generates over 500 applications for 4 or 5 places. Scholars who have received their PhDs within two years of the application deadline are eligible to apply. Individuals who are currently – or have previously been – postdoctoral fellows in other programs are not eligible to apply. Fellows will receive an annual stipend of $75,000, for this benefits-eligible position. Additional funding will be made available for research expenses and research-related programming on campus. Candidates selected for the Postdoctoral Fellows program who have not completed their dissertations by July 1, 2024, will be paid a reduced salary until their dissertation is defended.

To receive full consideration, the following materials should be submitted by October 18, 2023 to the application portal <http://apply.interfolio.com/130655>

- A cover letter stating the applicant's academic field, status of their dissertation, and proposed research to be conducted during their fellowship period. The cover letter should not exceed 2,000 words and should make clear where in the Institute's core areas of security, development, or governance the proposed research best fits. Please also include a statement about teaching in a diverse and inclusive classroom.

- An up-to-date curriculum vitae.
- A copy of each graduate transcript.
- A writing sample.

- Three letters of recommendation from scholars familiar with the applicant's research.

Review of applications will begin on October 18; to receive full consideration applications should be received by that date. Awards will be announced in January 2024.

For further information regarding the Watson Institute Postdoctoral Fellows Program, please visit the Watson Institute website (watson.brown.edu) or contact:

Professor Rose McDermott, Faculty Director of the Watson Postdoctoral Fellows Program, Thomas J. Watson Jr. Institute for International and Public Affairs, Brown University, 111 Thayer Street, Box 1970 Providence, RI 02912. rose_mcdermott@brown.edu. For information about the application process, please email: Watson_Applications@brown.edu

Brown University is situated on the East Side of Providence, on historic College Hill, overlooking downtown Providence. The area around Brown has a friendly, residential vibe, with plentiful housing options, shopping, cafés, and restaurants, all within walking distance of campus. With its low cost of living and historic architecture, the capital city is a vibrant place to live and work that offers a dynamic arts and culture scene, including many music, theater, and art venues. Located in southern New England, the State of Rhode Island features more than 400 miles of coastline and 100 beaches. Beautiful farms, vineyards, orchards, wooded trails, and numerous historic towns cover its 1200 square miles.

As an EEO/AA employer, Brown University provides equal opportunity and prohibits discrimination, harassment and retaliation based upon a person's race, color, religion, sex, age, national or ethnic origin, disability, veteran status, sexual orientation, gender identity, gender expression, or any other characteristic protected under applicable law, and caste, which is protected by our University policies.

Start Date: Summer

Application Deadline: 10/18/2023

Date Posted: 9/22/2023

Salary: $70,000 - $79,999

eJobs ID: 12594

Harvard University

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Public Policy

Specializations: Japan, East Asia, Advanced Industrial Societies

The Program on U.S.-Japan Relations at Harvard University's Weatherhead Center for International Affairs will offer postdoctoral fellowships during the 2024-25 academic year. We seek applications from outstanding recent PhDs in the social sciences who are conducting research that illuminates Japan's relations with the rest of the world in the broadest sense. We welcome applications from anthropology, business, economics, history, international relations, law, political science, psychology, public health, public policy, and sociology, among other fields. Scholars may examine domestic issues that bear on Japan's external relations or problems that it shares with other countries, and we encourage projects that compare Japan's experience cross-nationally.

A knowledge of the Japanese language is not required. Applicants must have received their doctoral degree in 2019 or later, in a discipline bearing on the Program's research areas. Research projects that focus on Japan or Japan's international role from a comparative, historical, or global perspective are welcome. Those who are selected to receive fellowships must have a Registrar-certified PhD degree by July 31, 2024.

The grant includes a stipend of $67,000 (over a 10-month period); health insurance coverage for grantee; and up to $5,000 in research funds. This fellowship is made possible by support from the Edwin O. Reischauer Institute of Japanese Studies.

Please note that the application deadline is December 15, 2023. For more details and application instructions, please see: <https://programs.wcfia.harvard.edu/us-japan/apply-become-postdoctoral-fellow>

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 12/15/2023

Date Posted: 9/22/2023

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 12592

University of Missouri, Columbia

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of Black Studies at the University of Missouri, Columbia, invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor to begin on August 15, 2024. A Ph.D. by the start of the appointment is required. While all specializations are welcome, we are particularly interested in applicants whose work focuses on Black gender and sexuality studies, including Black women in work, sport, media, business, academia, religion, healthcare, or migration. The ideal candidate would be able to teach various interdisciplinary courses on aspects of Black history, politics, and culture. Disciplinary areas include Arts and Humanities and Social and Behavioral Sciences. The candidate we hire will have a 2/2 teaching load in addition to research and service requirements.

The University of Missouri (MU or Mizzou), located in Columbia, has an enrollment of more than 30,000 students and is Missouri's largest public research university. Mizzou is also the flagship campus of the four-campus University of Missouri System and one of only five universities nationwide with law, medicine, veterinary medicine, and a nuclear research reactor on one campus. A member of the prestigious Association of American Universities since 1908, Mizzou is considered one of the nation's top-tier (R1) institutions.

Please apply online at: <https://hr.missouri.edu/job-openings> (Job ID 48241) and be prepared to upload the following:

1. An application letter (2-3 pages)
2. Your current C.V. (15 pages maximum)
3. A statement of research (2-3 pages)
4. A teaching statement (2-3 pages)
5. A writing sample (30 pages maximum)

We value the uniqueness of every individual and strive to ensure each person's success. Contributions from individuals with diverse backgrounds, experiences and perspectives promote intellectual pluralism and enable us to achieve the excellence that we seek in learning, research and engagement. This commitment makes our university a better place to work, learn and innovate. In your application materials, please discuss your experiences and expertise that support these values and enrich our missions of teaching, research and engagement.

In addition, solicit three recommenders for confidential letters of recommendation to be sent directly to Dr. Linda S. Reeder (ReederLS@missouri.edu) by the application deadline. Review of applications will begin October 1, 2023. Applicants should apply by this date for full consideration.

Applicants may contact Dr. Linda S. Reeder (ReederLS@missouri.edu), chair of the Search Committee, or Dr. Daive Dunkley (dunkleyd@missouri.edu), chair of Black Studies, with any questions about the job duties. Contact Human Resource Services (muhrs@missouri.edu) for any questions about the application process.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Date Posted: 9/22/2023

Salary: Any

eJobs ID: 12590

Duke University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Public Policy

The Sanford School of Public Policy invites applicants for up to three tenure-track Assistant Professor positions across a range of policy areas including Climate, Development, Education, Health, Democratic Governance, Local/State Policy, Migration, Poverty, Social and Economic Inequality/Inequity, Social Safety Nets, and Urban Policy. The focus could be on domestic or global issues. We invite applicants with doctoral-level training in public policy and related disciplines, such as economics, political science, public health, psychology, or sociology. We welcome scholars with expertise in quantitative and qualitative research methods. Successful candidates will be expected to teach courses in Sanford's core curriculum, which includes policy analysis, political analysis, microeconomics, ethics, and statistics.

Duke University and the Sanford School of Public Policy are strongly committed to advancing inclusive excellence throughout our research, teaching, and service activities. A diverse faculty – defined broadly as representing a wide range of identities, lived experiences, and perspectives – is a prerequisite for excellence and is essential to driving innovation within our scholarly community. To achieve these goals, it is essential that all members of the community feel valued and welcome, that the contributions of all individuals are respected, and that all voices are heard. All members of our community are expected to uphold these values, and we seek to hire faculty who are passionate about increasing the participation and success of individuals from all different backgrounds and communities.

Interested candidates should submit the following materials for review: (i) cover letter describing their motivation to be part of a policy school; (ii) curriculum vitae; (iii) a representative research paper; (iv) a one- to two-page research statement that describes current and future research, as well as the ways that lived experience influences their approach to research; (v) a one-page statement describing their teaching philosophy, previous experiences, future plans for teaching, and experience and approach to fostering an inclusive learning and mentoring environment for their students; and (vi) the names of three references or three reference letters. The deadline for priority review is October 31, 2023. Applications will then be reviewed on a rolling basis until April 30, 2024, or until the position has been filled. To apply, visit this website: <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/25832>

Duke University is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer committed to providing employment opportunity without regard to an individual's age, color, disability, gender, gender expression, gender identity, genetic information, national origin, race, religion, sex, sexual orientation, or veteran status.

Start Date: Fall 2024
Application Deadline: 4/30/2023
Date Posted: 9/21/2023
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 12580

University of Florida

Rank: Assistant Professor in American Politics (Public Policy)

The Department of Political Science at the University of Florida, College of Liberal Arts and Sciences, invites applications for a full-time, nine-month, tenure-track Assistant Professor in American Politics (Public Policy) to begin August 16, 2024. The Department is open to all fields of specialization, including but not limited to criminal justice, health care, the environment, U.S. trade and immigration, digital technologies, social welfare, education, housing, or research addressing federalism or the policy process more generally.

The Department seeks to hire faculty broadly engaged in research that is field-bridging, adding to our Department's long tradition of intellectual diversity and pluralism in keeping with the themes of our recent cluster hires. While we are open to fields of study, we are particularly interested in candidates who combine rigorous and original scholarship and evidence of grant activity.

Successful applicants are expected to teach two courses per fall and two courses per spring semester, with a mix of introductory and advanced undergraduate courses and graduate seminars. The ability to develop experiential learning opportunities for undergraduates and excel in mentoring undergraduate research in the Department's Honors and Junior Fellows programs is a plus.

More information about the Department of Political Science can be found at: <http://www.polisci.ufl.edu>.

UF is the state's oldest, largest, and most comprehensive land grant university with an enrollment of over 50,000 students and was ranked the Number 1 public university in the United States by Wall Street Journal in its "2024 Best Colleges in the U.S." report. UF is located in Gainesville, a city of approximately 150,000 residents in North-Central Florida, 50 miles from the Gulf of Mexico, and 67 miles from the Atlantic Ocean, and within a 2-hour drive to large metropolitan areas (Orlando, Tampa, Jacksonville). The beautiful climate and extensive nearby parks and recreational areas afford year-round outdoor activities, including hiking, biking, and nature photography. UF's large college sports programs, museums, and performing arts center support a range of activities and cultural events for residents to enjoy. Alachua County schools are highly rated and offer a variety of programs including magnet schools and an international baccalaureate program. Learn more about what Gainesville has to offer at Visit Gainesville.

Start Date: Fall 2024
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/21/2023
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 12573

University of Wyoming

Rank: Assistant Professor

The University of Wyoming's School of Politics, Public Affairs, and International Studies (SPPAIS) invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track position at the rank of Assistant Professor to contribute to its Master of Public Administration program with emphasis in policy analysis beginning August 2024.

Research area is open. Minimum qualifications include a PhD (or ABD near completion of the PhD) in public administration or related field and the ability to teach courses in Policy Analysis, Empirical Methods, and/or Policy Process. Desired qualifications include an ability to contribute to core courses in the larger MPA curriculum such as public personnel and introduction to public administration at the graduate and undergraduate level.

Interested individuals must complete on-line application at: https://eeik.fa.us2.oraclecloud.com/hcmUI/CandidateExperience/en/sites/CX_1/job/233188/?utm_medium=jobshare

A completed application includes uploading the following as one PDF document: Letter of application that includes a statement of teaching interests and experience, a research agenda; current CV; list of graduate courses or a graduate transcript; and contact information for at least three work-related references. Review of applications will begin October 23rd, 2023.

The School of Politics, Public Affairs, and International Studies offers bachelor's degrees in Political Science and International Studies and master's degrees in Political Science, International Studies, and Public Administration. Political Science majors pursue a variety of career interests with a plurality having the goal of attending law school. SPPAIS faculty members are drawn from diverse academic backgrounds, utilize a variety of approaches in teaching and scholarly activity, and collaborate with faculty in other academic units (<https://www.uwyo.edu/sppais>).

The University of Wyoming is located in Laramie, a town of 30,000 in the heart of the Rocky Mountain West. The state of Wyoming continues to invest in its university, helping to make it a leader in academics, research and outreach. The university has state-of-the-art facilities in many areas and the community provides the advantages of a major university.

Located in a high mountain valley near the Colorado border, Laramie offers both outstanding recreational opportunities and close proximity to Colorado's Front Range, a bustling group of metropolitan cities including Denver, Boulder, and Fort Collins. This beautiful mountain landscape offers outdoor enjoyment in all seasons, with over 300 days of sunshine annually. For more information about the region, please visit <http://visitlaramie.org/>

The University of Wyoming is an Equal Employment Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability or protected veteran status or any other characteristic protected by law and University policy. To review the EEO is the Law Poster and its Supplement, please see The Diversity & Fairness page. Pursuant to Wyoming State law, W.S. 19-14-102, as amended, an honorably discharged veteran who has been a resident of the state of Wyoming for one (1) year or more at any time prior to the date when the veteran applies for employment, or any surviving spouse who was married to such veteran at the time of the veteran's death, who is receiving federal survivor benefits based on the veteran's military service and is applying for employment, shall receive an interview preference during the applicant screening process with the University of Wyoming. At the time of application the applicant must possess the business capacity, competency, education or other qualifications required for the position. If disabilities do not materially interfere with performance of job duties, disabled veterans will be given preference over able-bodied veterans. Appropriate documentation of veteran status must be provided at time of application as outlined in the application process. No preference will be given to a veteran currently employed by a public department.

We conduct background investigations for all final candidates being considered for employment. Offers of employment are contingent upon the completion of the background check.

Applicants with disabilities may request accommodation to complete the application and selection process. Please notify Human Resources at least three (3) working days prior to the date of need.

Questions regarding the position can be directed to Robert Schuhmann, search committee chair, at robert.schuhmann@uwyo.edu, and to Andrew Garner, SPPAIS Chair, at agarner1@uwyo.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/21/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12575

American University

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of Justice, Law & Criminology in the School of Public Affairs at American University invites applications for a full time, tenure-line position at the rank of Assistant Professor beginning August 1, 2024.

The successful candidate will be able to complement our department's strengths in areas such as policing, court systems, victimology, juvenile justice, criminological theory, quantitative and/or qualitative methods. Successful applicants must have a strong research portfolio in criminal justice or criminology that includes a track record of publications in high-quality peer-reviewed outlets as well as the ability to attract external funding for their research. Applicants also need documented experience in teaching at the undergraduate and graduate levels. Candidates should be effective teachers and must be strongly committed to excellence in scholarly research.

A Ph.D. in criminal justice, criminology, sociology, or a closely related field at the time of appointment is required. Candidates who possess a law degree only (J.D. or LL.M.) will not be considered for this position.

Start Date: Summer 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/20/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12562

Georgetown University

Rank: Assistant Professor in Computational Social Science

The McCourt School of Public Policy at Georgetown University invites applications for a tenure-line assistant professor in Computational Social Science.

Candidates are expected have the following:

- Strong interests in public policy, ideally indicating interests or participation in public policy administration, design, implementation, evaluation, and/or how governments use computational social science methods in public policy

- Expertise in computational social science methods such as machine learning, large language models, text as data, spatial data, computation using large-scale data, network analysis, data visualization

- Have completed or be planning to complete a Ph.D. in economics, public policy, political science, sociology, statistics, information science, computational social science, computer science or a related field by August 1, 2024.

The person hired in this search will be expected to do research at the intersection of data science and public policy and teach courses in Python and/or R for McCourt's Data Science for Public Policy (DSPP) program. The DSPP program is a two-year MS degree program that trains students to use modern computing power to understand important issues in public policy. DSPP courses include topics such as programming, machine learning, statistics, data visualization, databases, data infrastructure and, project management and ethics.

Application Instructions

To apply, applicants should submit a cover letter, CV, teaching statement, writing sample, and three letters of recommendation. We will begin reviewing applications October 15, 2023. [<https://apply.interfolio.com/132215>].

Start Date: Fall 2024

Date Posted: 9/20/2023

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 12566

University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill

Rank: Assistant Professor, Associate Professor

Subfield(s): Political Theory, Public Policy, Other

Specializations: Political Philosophy & Theory, Political Theory, Political Economy

The Department of Political Science and the Philosophy, Politics, and Economics Program (PPE) Program in the College of Arts and Sciences at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill invite applications for a tenure-track position at the rank of Assistant or Associate Professor or Associate Professor with tenure in political theory starting July 1, 2024. Required qualifications are ABD or Ph.D or an equivalent degree in Political Science, Philosophy, Public Policy or a related field in the humanities or social sciences. The successful candidate will be a core faculty member in UNC's thriving Philosophy, Politics, and Economics Program and will be expected to take an active role in developing and expanding the PPE Program. The successful candidate must have research and teaching interests that include the intersection of philosophy, politics, and economics, and be committed to the value of PPE as an educational and intellectual endeavor. The successful candidate will be expected to teach the core courses in PPE and thus must have a working knowledge of political economy and game theory. We are primarily seeking candidates trained in political theory who are able to teach normative political theory courses. However, candidates with a strong normative background who primarily teach American or Comparative politics will be considered as will candidates with an expertise in ethics and public policy who have an interest in a primary appointment in the Department of Public Policy. Significant promise of research excellence is a necessary condition for consideration, as is evidence of significant skills in teaching. Salary commensurate with qualifications.

The University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill is an equal opportunity and affirmative action employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to age, color, disability, gender, gender expression, gender identity, genetic information, national origin, race, religion, sex, sexual orientation, or status as a protected veteran.

Review of applications will begin October 8th 2023, and will continue until the position is filled. To apply for the position, please follow this link <https://unc.peopleadmin.com/postings/265898>. Please include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, research statement, teaching statement (including available teaching evaluations and other evidence of teaching excellence), and a writing sample. Applicants will be required to identify the names, titles and email addresses of professional references at the time of application (please note that four are required). Recommenders identified by the applicant will be contacted via email with instructions for uploading their letters of support. Alternatively, applicants may list Interfolio as a reference and the application system will solicit recommendations directly from Interfolio. Please see <http://help.interfolio.com/entries/24062742-Uploading-Letters-to-an-Online-Application-System> for instructions. Applicants may also list the email of a Graduate Coordinator who will upload their references instead of the referring faculty. The departmental contact person is Shannon Eubanks; the department address is Department of Political Science, University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, CB# 3265, Chapel Hill, NC 27599-3265 and the web address is <http://www.unc.edu/depts/polisci>.

Start Date: Summer 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/20/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12561

University of Chicago

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Public Administration, American Government and Politics

Specializations: Urban Politics, Public Finance & Budgeting, United States

The Mansueto Institute for Urban Innovation at the University of Chicago invites applications for Institute Postdoctoral Fellows for appointments for the 2024-25 academic year. We welcome individuals from a variety of disciplines and perspectives who are interested in building a scholarly understanding of cities.

Fellowships at the Mansueto Institute provide exceptional emergent scholars with a unique nurturing environment that includes advanced technical training, a platform for interdisciplinary research, mentoring by senior faculty, and a community of people studying and working on issues impacting cities from a diversity of areas and perspectives.

Postdoctoral fellows come to us with a variety of backgrounds, including traditional social science disciplines such as economics, political science, and sociology, as well as allied disciplines such as public policy, urban planning, and data science.

Institute Postdoctoral Fellowships are full-time, year-long appointments that can be renewed for a second year, subject to a mutual agreement. Positions are structured between the Mansueto Institute and one of the University of Chicago's Departments or Schools.

Application review will begin December 15.

Apply <https://miurban.uchicago.edu/opportunities/mansuetofellowspostdoc/>

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 12/15/2023

Date Posted: 9/19/2023

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 12552

IE University

Rank: Tenure-Track Faculty Position in Political Economy 2024-2025

Tenure-Track Faculty Position in Political Economy 2024-2025
IE University's School of Politics, Economics, and Global Affairs (SPEGA) seeks applicants for a tenure-track faculty position in Political Economy at the rank of Assistant Professor starting September 1, 2024. We seek candidates using quantitative methods and/or formal theory to study substantive questions of broad disciplinary relevance. We are especially but not exclusively interested in candidates whose work addresses the interface between political-economy and new technologies.

Successful candidates will demonstrate capacity to produce publications in top peer-reviewed outlets (both generalist and field journals) in the coming years. More generally, we seek academics with the capacity to engage in policy-relevant work and an overall commitment to institution-building - applying for research grants, participating in affiliated research centers and academic programs, and expanding our current network and partnerships.

Successful candidates will join the Political Science and International Relations group within SPEGA, which consists of 14 tenured and tenure-track scholars studying comparative politics, international relations, political economy, and political behavior. Recent publications from this group appear in APSR, AJPS, JOP, BJPS, and many other top generalist and field outlets.

Candidates should have a PhD from a recognized department of political science, public policy, economics, or a related field, or demonstrate clear evidence that their PhD will be complete by July 2024.

The IE SPEGA is part of IE University, located in Madrid and Segovia, Spain, and is a full member of the Association of Professional Schools in International Affairs (APSIA). We are a fast-growing department of professors committed to world-class academic research and teaching in the social sciences, public policy, and international affairs.

We offer a competitive remuneration package, attractive teaching commitments, and an enriching and cosmopolitan work environment in the heart of Madrid. Our working language is English, and both our faculty and student body are highly diverse and international.

IE University is an Equal Opportunity Employer and strongly encourages applications from individuals who will expand the ethnic and gender diversity of our faculty.

Applications should include a cover letter and vita, a job market paper, and three confidential letters of recommendation.

Candidates may apply via Interfolio by October 20, 2023, using the following link: <http://apply.interfolio.com/132207>

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 10/20/2023

Date Posted: 9/18/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12541

University of Michigan

Rank: WCEE Postdoctoral Fellow

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Public Law, Political Theory

The Weiser Center for Europe and Eurasia (WCEE) at the University of Michigan invites scholars with a recent PhD to apply for a two-year WCEE Postdoctoral Fellowship, from August 2024 – July 2026.

WCEE Postdoctoral Fellows are expected to focus on their own research, participate in the center's events, present at least one public lecture during their two-year fellowship, and teach one course per year at the University of Michigan while in full-time residency.

Two positions are open for the 2024-26 fellowship:

1. Contemporary Russian Society and Politics

We welcome applicants in any social science field focused on key aspects of contemporary Russian society and politics, including but not limited to: Russian nationalism, post-Soviet politics, ethno-cultural and religious movements, authoritarianism and Putinism, and Russian economic policy and practice.

2. Ukraine in Context

We welcome applicants from history, the social sciences, law, and public policy, whose research sheds light on: the causes and consequences of the war in Ukraine; its related histories and geopolitical dynamics; and/or the relationship of Ukraine with its neighbors, the EU, NATO countries, and the international community.

Eligibility:

Eligibility is restricted to applicants who have obtained their PhD no earlier than January 1, 2022. Current doctoral candidates are eligible to apply but must have defended and filed their dissertations by August 31, 2024.

Benefits:

Fellowships carry an annual salary of $60,000 and up to $10,000 in research funds during the postdoctoral appointment. Fellowship recipients will be eligible for U-M health, dental, and life insurance options (beginning August 1, 2024 through July 31, 2026). Fellows have full access to U-M library resources.

Application materials:

Candidates should submit the following via Interfolio (<http://apply.interfolio.com/130617>) and indicate on the research proposal what position they are applying for:

- A research proposal (2000 words maximum) that describes your intellectual objectives and concrete plan for the fellowship duration

- Curriculum Vitae
- A scholarly writing sample, such as a dissertation chapter or peer-reviewed journal article (50 pages maximum)
- Teaching statement with potential course topics
- DEI statement
- Two letters of recommendation

To be assured full consideration, fellowship applications should be received by October 15, 2023, 11:59 PM EST. Successful applicants will be notified by December 2023.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 10/15/2023

Date Posted: 9/18/2023

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 12545

American Enterprise Institute

Rank: Jeane Kirkpatrick Fellowship Program

Overview

The American Enterprise Institute is inviting candidates to apply for two open scholar positions in the Jeane Kirkpatrick Fellowship Program in Foreign and Defense Policy Studies. The program is open to mid-career academics, government, and civilian professionals in foreign policy and security studies who are looking for an opportunity to deepen their work.

The application period commences on August 14, 2023 and concludes on December 1, 2023. The program begins in January 2024, although the starting date for new Jeane Kirkpatrick scholars is negotiable to accommodate existing personal and professional obligations. The program's duration is one year from the start date, with the possibility of a one-year extension.

Applications are reviewed on a rolling basis.

Fellowship Benefits:

Guided by the belief that American liberties are best preserved by a robust national defense and US global leadership, senior research fellows will conduct in-depth research to produce policy recommendations intended to enhance American security and interests. AEI will assist fellows in developing and disseminating their research by providing the support and training needed to publish serious longer works, place their work in the nation's most-read publications, brief policymakers, and host public and private events at the Institute.

Application Process:

Qualified applicants should apply at www.aei.org/jobs and submit a resume and a 1,000-word statement addressing academic interests, how this fellowship will enhance their professional goals, and which scholars they would like to work with in AEI's foreign and defense policy department.

Start Date: Spring 2024

Application Deadline: 12/1/2023

Date Posted: 9/15/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12531

Pennsylvania State University

Rank: Assistant Professor of American Politics

Assistant Professor, American Politics

The Department of Political Science at The Pennsylvania State University in University Park, Pennsylvania, USA, invites applications for an Assistant Professor of American Politics. This is a tenure-line position to begin in Fall 2024.

Duties for an Assistant Professor will involve a combination of research, teaching, and service. In the role, the selected candidate will be expected to focus their research and teaching on social inequity and/or health or wellbeing widely defined. For example, the department welcomes applications from scholars whose work focuses on race or ethnicity, class, gender, sexual orientation, gender identity, disability, mental health, and/or political voice and representation. Assistant Professor positions at Penn State involve substantial research support and offer significant release time.

This position is co-funded by Penn State's interdisciplinary Social Science Research Institute and is part of an initiative to hire faculty members in different units across Penn State. These faculty members join an existing campus cluster, with the goal to foster collaborations among social and behavioral scientists and others, working at different levels of aggregation on understanding and reducing disparities.

Candidates whose research addresses critical social problems and shows evidence of, or potential for, interdisciplinary collaborations across disciplinary lines are particularly desired. We particularly welcome scholars who build on existing departmental strengths. Scholars whose work speaks to questions or policies that fit well with the cluster focus, are especially encouraged to apply. A description of the Social Science Research Institute's Strategic Foci can be found at <https://ssri.psu.edu/about/ssri-overview>.

Candidates for this position should show demonstrated ability as a researcher and teacher, evidence of scholarly and professional growth, and demonstrate the potential for external funding. Candidates must have completed their Ph.D. in American Politics or related field by the time of appointment.

In addition, successful candidates must either have demonstrated a commitment to building an inclusive, equitable, and diverse campus community, or describe one or more ways they would envision doing so, given the opportunity.

To apply, submit a cover letter outlining your research interests and teaching credentials, a curriculum vitae that provides evidence of qualifications, a sample of scholarly writing, evidence of effectiveness as a teacher (e.g., course evaluations, sample syllabi/assignments, teaching statement), and the names/contact information of three references at Penn State's Job Posting Board.

System limitations allow for a total of 5 documents (5mb per document) as part of your application. Please combine materials to meet the 5-document limit.

Review of applications will begin immediately and continue until the position is filled. To receive full consideration, materials should be received by October 15, 2023.

Penn State is committed to and accountable for advancing diversity, equity, and inclusion in all of its forms. We embrace individual uniqueness, foster a culture of inclusion that supports both broad and specific diversity initiatives, leverage the educational and institutional benefits of diversity, and engage all individuals to help them thrive. We value inclusion as a core strength and an essential element of our public service mission.

Penn State offers competitive benefits to full-time employees, including medical, dental, vision, and retirement plans, in addition to 75% tuition discounts (including for a spouse and dependent children up to the age of 26) and paid holidays. Please visit <https://hr.psu.edu/benefits> for more detailed information.

To apply, please visit https://psu.wd1.myworkdayjobs.com/PSU_Academic/job/Penn-State-University-Park/Assistant-Professor--American-Politics_REQ_0000048762

To review the Annual Security Report which contains information about crime statistics and other safety and security matters and policies, please go to <https://www.police.psu.edu/annual-security-reports>, which will also explain how to request a paper copy of the Annual Security Report.

Penn State is an equal opportunity, affirmative action employer, and is committed to providing employment opportunities to all qualified applicants without regard to race, color, religion, age, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability or protected veteran.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/15/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12534

Texas Woman's University

Rank: Assistant Professor in Political Science - IRC 52812

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Policy, Other Specializations: Ethnic & Feminist Theory, Race & Ethnic Politics, Political Behavior

Type: Full-Time

Salary: Salary Competitive

Posted: 09/07/2023

Application Due: Open Until Filled

Category: Political Science

JOB DESCRIPTION:

The Department of Social Sciences and Historical Studies at Texas Woman's University invites applicants for a tenure-track Assistant Professor of Political Science position beginning fall 2024. The successful applicant will be broadly trained in political science with a primary field of American Politics. Special attention will be given to candidates with expertise in one or more of the following areas: public policy; racial, ethnic, or gender politics; or political behavior. Candidates should hold a Ph.D. in Political Science or a related field and demonstrate a commitment to excellence in undergraduate and graduate teaching and an active record of research. The successful candidate will teach the introductory American government course, as well as advanced undergraduate courses and Master's level courses. Candidates will also advise students and serve the department, university, and profession. Favor will be shown to candidates who can propose interdisciplinary courses with department colleagues in History and/or Sociology.

Required qualifications:

- Earned doctorate in Political Science or related field;
- Demonstrated potential for teaching excellence; and
- Demonstrated potential for research and publication.

Preferred qualifications:

- Prior teaching experience.

The Department offers both Bachelor's and Master's degrees in Political Science as well as a Bachelor's in Criminal Justice (co-administered with Sociology). Beginning in fall 2023, our Master's program is fully online. The department has five Political Science faculty members (plus the chair, a political scientist), five History faculty, and six Sociology faculty. Political Science offers degrees to approximately 100 undergraduate Political Science majors and 15 Master's students.

How to apply:

Please submit the following items as a single combined PDF to facultyjobs@twu.edu:

1. Cover Letter (that briefly addresses teaching and research philosophies);
2. Curriculum Vitae;
3. Copy of Graduate Transcripts; and
4. Three Letters of Support/Reference.

Additional materials may be requested at a later date.

The email Header or Subject line must include job title and job code 52812. Review of applications will begin on Friday, October 20, 2023.

University Information:

TWU is a system encompassing three campuses: Houston, Dallas, and the main campus in Denton (population 115,000), located 40 miles north of the Dallas/Fort Worth area. The DFW metroplex, the nation's fourth largest urban center, has world-class museums, orchestras, opera, ballet, theater companies, as well as an array of professional and collegiate sports venues. Additional information about the University is available at <http://www.twu.edu>.

TWU prides itself on providing students with a well-rounded educational experience focused on service, integrity, and health and well-being. Hallmarks of a TWU education include respect for diversity in all dimensions (TWU is currently ranked 6th in the nation for diversity) and a safe campus environment (TWU is among the safest campuses in the nation). TWU faculty and staff are passionate defenders of a "learn by doing" experiential learning environment where they provide students with opportunities to engage in campus, workplace, and community activities that can help shape their sense of purpose, their appreciation for the importance of building quality personal and professional relationships, and their ability to address life's challenges. This holistic, mentoring approach to developing students and future librarians as engaged, productive citizens in the complex world of the 21st Century encompasses understanding of the balance of health, spiritual and mental well-being.

TWU strives to provide an educational environment that affirms the rights and dignity of each individual, fosters diversity, and encourages a respect for the differences among persons. Discrimination or harassment of any kind is considered inappropriate. TWU is committed to equal opportunity in employment and education and does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, national or ethnic origin, age, veteran's status, genetic information, or against qualified disabled persons.

TWU strives to provide an educational environment that affirms the rights and dignity of each individual, fosters diversity, and encourages a respect for the differences among persons. Discrimination or harassment of any kind is considered inappropriate.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/14/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12526

Florida State UniversityRank: Assistant Professor in American Public Policy

The Department of Political Science (<https://coss.fsu.edu/polisci/>) in the College of Social Sciences & Public Policy at Florida State University seeks applications for a tenure-track assistant professor position to begin in Fall 2024. We seek candidates whose research focuses on American public policy. The search is open with respect to specialization. Successful candidates are expected to add to the department's strengths in quantitative, experimental, and/or formal methods.

Florida State University is a Carnegie Foundation classified Research I institution. Among its 44,000 students are over 10,000 graduate students pursuing over 200 programs of study. Tallahassee is Florida's capital and has a metropolitan population of over 385,000. Its principal employers are state government and three higher education institutions.

Applicants should submit (1) a letter of application indicating research and teaching interests, (2) a curriculum vitae, (3) writing samples, (4) three letters of recommendation, and (5) a graduate school transcript. All items must be submitted electronically. Send these files as separate email attachments (PDFs are expected) to polisci@fsu.edu and specify "Public Policy Search 2023" in the subject line. Review of applications will begin October 6, 2023 and will continue until the position is filled.

Contact: Prof. Eric Coleman

Email: ecoleman@fsu.edu

Phone: 850-644-5727

Department of Political Science
Florida State University
P.O. Box 3062160
Bellamy 531
Tallahassee, FL 32306-2230

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 10/6/2023

Date Posted: 9/13/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12514

University of Notre Dame

Rank: Assistant Professor of Irish Policy

The University of Notre Dame's Keough School of Global Affairs invites applications for a tenure track assistant professor in the area of Irish policy studies, broadly defined. This position will be based in the Keough-Naughton Institute for Irish Studies (<https://irishstudies.nd.edu/>). Areas of interest include, but are not limited to, security studies, contemporary politics, social and economic development, peace and reconciliation. Particular preference will be given to candidates whose research agenda or expertise can support, augment, or extend the work of the Keough-Naughton Institute/Royal Irish Academy project 'Analyzing and Researching Ireland North and South' (ARINS).

In addition to holding a doctoral degree, competitive candidates for this tenure track position will demonstrate evidence of strong scholarship and teaching. The search is open with respect to discipline and may include political science, economics, peace studies, history, development studies, sociology, or related fields that touch on public policy.

The successful candidate is expected to contribute across all dimensions of research, teaching, and service, and to participate fully in the academic life of the Keough School, the Keough-Naughton Institute for Irish Studies, and the Clingen Family Center for the Study of Modern Ireland. Responsibilities will include teaching and mentoring students at all levels. The assistant professorship will be based in the Keough School (<https://keough.nd.edu>), which advances integral human development through research, policy and practice, transformative educational programs, and partnerships for global engagement. It promotes interdisciplinary research on critical issues in global affairs.

The Keough School is committed to fostering a culture of diverse views and approaches to Global Affairs. All applicants whose scholarly pursuits will enhance our ability to fulfill that commitment are encouraged to apply. Questions about the position can be directed to Colin Barr, Professor of Modern Irish History, at cbarr2@nd.edu. All applicants are required to submit a cover letter, C.V., research statement summarizing examples of recent or ongoing research in the above areas of interest, and arrange for the submission of three confidential letters of reference. Evidence of teaching effectiveness is also welcomed. All application materials must be submitted through the Interfolio/Notre Dame online application system: <http://apply.interfolio.com/131737>

The position will close on October 31, 2023 and review of applications will begin at that time.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 10/31/2023

Date Posted: 9/13/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12510

Harvard University

Rank: FELLOWS-IN-RESIDENCE PROGRAM

Subfield(s): Other, Public Administration, Public Policy

The Edmond & Lily Safra Center for Ethics at Harvard University invites applications from a broad range of researchers and practitioners who will work over the course of the year on pressing issues in ethics. Faculty in arts and sciences and professional schools, postdoctoral scholars, practitioners, and researchers from industry, government, and NGOs are eligible to apply. The call for applications for the 2024-25 is completely open: we will consider any topic pertaining to the serious ethical questions of our time. All eligible applicants are encouraged to apply and will be given careful consideration; priority will be given to outstanding early career scholars and practitioners.

As always, our goal will be to craft a cohort in which all fellows will find valuable intellectual partnerships to support and spur their work. The ideal candidates are those who are willing to invest time and energy into building community with the other fellows in their cohort.

Fellows-in-Residence will be expected to devote the majority of their time to their individual projects and to participate in regular work-in-progress seminars. In addition, Fellows are strongly encouraged to participate in—and contribute to—the Center's programming, which includes public lectures, themed seminars and reading groups, conferences, workshops, and lunch discussions.

This Fellowship is intended to be residential. With the exception of travel to conferences and meetings, Fellows are expected to be in residence in the Boston area at least four working days per week during the term.

For the last few years, the Center has offered the possibility of joint fellowship opportunities with several other Centers at Harvard. We continue to offer that possibility, with specific potential affiliations to be worked out on a case-by-case basis:

- Berkman Klein Center for Internet and Society at Harvard University
- Carr Center for Human Rights at the Harvard Kennedy School
- Center for Bioethics at the Harvard Medical School
- Center for Research on Computation and Society at the Harvard John A. Paulson School of Engineering and Applied Sciences
- Hutchins Center for African & African American Research at Harvard University
- Petrie-Flom Center for Health Law Policy, Biotechnology and Bioethics at the Harvard Law School

Applicants will be invited to indicate on the application form whether they wish to be considered for a joint fellowship position with one of these Centers. If selected, the joint fellowship will offer access to development opportunities and programming at the Edmond & Lily Safra Center for Ethics and the partnering center.

ELIGIBILITY

Applicants must have a PhD, professional degree, or a minimum of 5 years of equivalent professional experience by the start of the fellowship year. Applicants from any discipline or professional field will be considered. Those who have previously held a yearlong residential Fellowship at the Center are not eligible; this limitation does not apply to former Undergraduate Fellows or former Graduate Fellows. The Fellows-in-Residence Program runs the course of the academic year, typically from the beginning of September through the end of May, and is open to all applicants who meet the above criteria, regardless of citizenship.

STIPEND

Faculty:

We offer a stipend of one-half of your base academic year salary, up to $80,000, and a research allowance of up to $5,000 for approved expenses directly related to your work, such as travel, books, and research assistance.

Post-Doc:

The stipend for post-doctoral fellows will be $70,000 for 2024-25. We also provide a research allowance of up to $5,000 for approved expenses directly related to your work, such as travel, books, and research assistance.

Practitioner:

Practitioner stipends are determined on a case-by-case basis, commensurate with experience, up to a maximum of $80,000. We also provide a research allowance of up to $5,000 for approved expenses directly related to your work, such as travel, books, and research assistance.

APPLICATION REQUIREMENTS

Before beginning the application, you may wish to have the following information available:

- The title of your research proposal
- Names and contact information for 3 references (no letters are accepted at this stage)

To apply, complete our online application form, which will request the information noted above. You will also be asked to upload the following documents:

- Cover letter stating your background and interest in the Fellows-in-Residence Program at the Edmond & Lily Safra Center for Ethics
- Curriculum Vitae
- Research proposal
- Recent writing sample

Please note: Name and contact information for three professional references will be requested, but no letters will be accepted at this stage.

The deadline to submit an application is November 15, 2023, with decisions likely to be announced in February 2024. Please note that the application form will be saved automatically while in progress, but no edits or alterations will be allowed once you have submitted the application. Please direct questions regarding this application process to EJSafraFellowships@fas.harvard.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 11/15/2023

Date Posted: 9/12/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12500

Misericordia University

Rank: Assistant Professor in Government, Law, and National Security

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Methodology, Public Policy

Specializations: American Politics, State Politics, Judicial Politics

Misericordia University invites applications for a tenure-track position at the level of Assistant Professor in the Government, Law, and National Security program (GLNS) starting in the fall 2024. The GLNS program, which is part of the university's Department of History and Government, seeks a specialist in American Politics with expertise in American political institutions, public policy, public law, and/or homeland security. The candidate will have the freedom to develop elective courses based on their expertise. A Ph.D. in Political Science is preferred by the time of appointment, but ABD candidates will be considered. Teaching experience is preferable.

Misericordia University is committed to student, faculty and staff diversity and values the educational benefit this brings to campus. Candidates should indicate any experience and/or leadership that contribute to this goal.

Misericordia University, founded in 1924 by the Sisters of Mercy, is located adjacent to the Pocono Mountains region of Northeastern Pennsylvania, approximately two hours from New York city and Philadelphia. The University's approach of combining a quality liberal arts education with professional preparation and service leadership has resulted in its wide regional acclaim.

Review of credentials will begin immediately and continue until the position is filled. For confidential consideration, applicants should submit a letter of application that contains a curriculum vitae, letters of reference, statements of teaching philosophy and research agenda, and teaching evaluations online at www.misericordia.edu/hr under Faculty Opportunities or by mail to Human Resources Department, Misericordia University, 301 Lake Street, Dallas, PA, 18612.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/12/2023

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 12499

California State University-Sacramento

Rank: Department Chairperson and Tenured Associate/Full Professor

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Public Administration, American Government and Politics

The Department of Public Policy and Administration at Sacramento State seeks applications for Department Chair at the level of Associate or Full Professor. The Department prepares future leaders to address the complex issues facing California; it focuses on professional training for graduate students. Application review begins on October 8, 2023 and the position will remain open until filled. Application submission requirements are available at <https://careers.csus.edu/en-us/job/531163/tenured-faculty-and-department-chair-public-policy-and-administration>.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/11/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12498

Department of International Studies, Hamilton Lugar School, Indiana University

Rank: Tenure Track/Tenured Professor of Global Economic Development

Subfield(s): International Relations, Public Law, Public Policy

Specializations: Economic Policy, Foreign Policy, International Law & Organizations

The Hamilton Lugar School of Global and International Studies at Indiana University Bloomington seeks to hire a professor of Global Economic Development, with an emphasis on issues at the intersection of economic development, inequality, and governance, to begin August 1, 2024. This is an open rank tenured/tenure track position in the school's multidisciplinary Department of International Studies.

The department seeks a scholar of economic development who focuses on the role of international economic and financial organizations, donor countries, prominent recipient countries, and/or international civil society organizations in driving development initiatives, influencing their implementation, and/or affecting development and distributional outcomes.

The successful candidate will hold a PhD or equivalent in a relevant discipline in the social sciences or the humanities. Candidates should have an outstanding record of research, publication, teaching and professional service (appropriate to their rank). The selected candidate will be appointed at the rank of Assistant Professor, Associate Professor, or Professor, depending upon their qualifications.

Practical experience in the development field, and/or experience teaching in professional master's programs is desirable. In addition, scholars who combine quantitative methodology with qualitative field-based methods are especially encouraged to apply.

Interested candidates should review the application requirements and submit the following documentation within their portfolio of materials: a cover letter highlighting qualifications and fit with the department's strengths and its needs, curriculum vitae, two writing samples, and the names and contact information for three academic references. A separate statement that addresses past and/or potential contributions to diversity, equity and inclusion must also be included in the application materials. Interested candidates should review the application requirements and submit their application at: <https://indiana.peopleadmin.com/postings/20148>

Review of applications will begin on October 8, 2023 and continue until the position is filled. All applications received by October 8, 2023 will be guaranteed full consideration.

Start Date: Fall 2024
Date Posted: 9/11/2023
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 12490

Indiana University

Rank: Tenure Track/Tenured Professor of Cyber Security and Governance

Subfield(s): International Relations, Public Law, Public Policy
Specializations: International Security, Foreign Policy, Science & Technology

Indiana University's Hamilton Lugar School of Global and International Studies invites applications for a full-time position in Cyber Security and Governance to begin August 1, 2024. This is an open rank tenured/tenure track position in the school's multidisciplinary Department of International Studies.

The successful candidate will have an active research agenda and teaching experience at the intersections of emerging cyber technologies and threats, global governance and security, and international law. We seek candidates who demonstrate a deep familiarity with the range of legal and ethical challenges pertaining to information and artificial intelligence governance at the state, international, and transnational levels.

The selected candidate will be appointed at the rank of Assistant Professor, Associate Professor, or Professor, depending upon their qualifications.

Candidates should hold a PhD or equivalent in a relevant discipline in the social sciences, humanities, or law and have a strong record of research, publication, teaching, and professional service (appropriate to their rank).

Interested candidates should review the application requirements and submit the following documentation within their portfolio of materials: a cover letter highlighting their research and teaching, a curriculum vitae, two writing samples, and the names and contact information for three academic references. A separate statement that addresses past and/or potential contributions to diversity, equity and inclusion must also be included in the application materials. Interested candidates should review the application requirements and submit their application at: <https://indiana.peopleadmin.com/postings/20162>

Review of applications will begin on October 11, 2023 and continue until the position is filled. All applications received by October 11, 2023 will be guaranteed full consideration.

Start Date: Fall 2024
Date Posted: 9/11/2023
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 12489

Stanford University

Rank: Shorenstein Postdoctoral Fellowship on Contemporary Asia 2024-2025

Subfield(s): International Relations, Public Policy, Comparative Politics

Specializations: East Asia, Southeast Asia, South Asia

Stanford University: 2024-2025 Postdoctoral Fellowship on Contemporary Asia

The Walter H. Shorenstein Asia-Pacific Research Center at Stanford University is pleased to announce its search for up to two 2024-2025 Shorenstein Postdoctoral Fellows on Contemporary Asia-Pacific Studies. Made possible through the generosity of Walter H. Shorenstein, awards will be made to two junior scholars (recent PhDs must have degree conferral and approval by June 30, 2024) for research and writing on Asia.

The primary focus of the fellowship is on contemporary political, economic, or social change in the Asia-Pacific region (including North-east, Southeast, and South Asia), or topics in international relations and international political economy. The postdoctoral fellowship is a 10-month appointment with salary rate commensurate with Stanford policy, plus up to $3,000 for research expenses. Appointments will begin in the fall quarter of the 2024-2025 academic year.

Applications will be accepted until December 1, 2023.

For additional information and to apply, visit: <https://aparc.fsi.stanford.edu/education/fellowship-and-training-opportunities/shorenstein-postdoctoral-fellowship>

About the Center:

The Shorenstein Asia-Pacific Research Center (APARC) is dedicated to the study of critical issues affecting the countries of Asia and their regional and global relations. Our scholar community is comprised of distinguished academics and practitioners in government, business, and civil society. Through policy-relevant research, publications, education, public programs, and international collaborations, we address pressing challenges in a world in which Asia plays an increasingly central role.

Start Date: Fall 2024
Application Deadline: 12/1/2023
Date Posted: 9/11/2023
Salary: $60,000 - $69,999
eJobs ID: 12451

Boston University

Rank: Professor of International Relations and Director of the Pardee Center for the Study of the Longer-Range Future
Specializations: Environmental Policy, Science & Technology, International Security

The Pardee School of Global Studies at Boston University invites applications for a Director, at the rank of Professor with tenure, of the Pardee Center for the Study of the Longer-Range Future. The appointment is expected to begin July 1, 2024. The search is open to applicants from all disciplines and functional specializations. Successful candidates would be expected to have demonstrated the potential for excellence in any discipline relevant to international affairs, and share a commitment to the Pardee School's institutional values of diversity, equity, inclusion, and social justice. The successful candidate must have a demonstrated record of interdisciplinary research that addresses globally important issues that affect the human condition presently, with increasing global relevance over the next several decades. Scholars and practitioners whose work addresses the challenges of climate change and other forms of environmental degradation, artificial intelligence, cyber security, the future of technologies, governance, or human security are especially encouraged to apply. We are particularly interested in work that has policy relevance.

The Frederick S. Pardee Center for the Study of the Longer-Range Future is an interdisciplinary research center of the Frederick S. Pardee School of Global Studies at Boston University. The Pardee Center was established in 2000 through the generosity of the late Frederick S. Pardee, whose career as a systems analyst and an economic forecaster was imbued with a passion for analyzing trends for the future. Both the Pardee Center and the Pardee School are motivated by Mr. Pardee's lifelong dedication to the creation of a better future for all of humanity. The Center conducts interdisciplinary research on globally important issues that affect the human condition over the course of several decades. Through programs of scholarship, outreach, and education, the Pardee Center works to improve public decision-making and policy and to train future generations of interdisciplinary scholars.

The Center Director oversees the operations and activities of the Center, including research affiliates, research seminars, summer graduate fellows program, and supervises staff. The Director is expected to participate in fundraising activities for the School and the Pardee Center. In addition to leading the work of the Center, the successful candidate will be expected to teach courses in his/her/their area(s) of functional expertise, and will also advise and mentor our undergraduate and graduate students. A distinguished record of publication and research and the capacity for excellence in teaching are essential. The Pardee School of Global Studies is committed to multidisciplinary, policy-relevant research and teaching and to nurturing the next generation of international relations practitioners, and it is expected that candidates will share this commitment. Candidates who have demonstrated policy experience in addition to scholarly qualifications are encouraged to apply.

Boston University is a member of the prestigious Association of American Universities, with a rich tradition of inclusion and social justice. We are proud of our record of inclusiveness, including being the first American university to award a PhD to a woman and the institution from which Martin Luther King, Jr. received his PhD. We are also the home of the BU Center for Antiracist Research. We are dedicated to increasing participation of all talented students and professionals, especially women and underrepresented minorities. We are an equal opportunity employer: all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law. We are a Vietnam Era Veterans' Readjustment Assistance Act federal contractor.

BU conducts a background check on all final candidates for certain faculty and staff positions. The background check includes contacting the final candidate's current and previous employer(s) to ask whether, in the last seven years, there has been a substantiated finding of misconduct violating that employer's applicable sexual misconduct policies. To implement this process, the University requires a final candidate to complete and sign the form entitled "Authorization to Release Information" after execution of an offer letter.

Please submit 1) a letter of application describing your teaching and research interests and professional experience, 2) statement of how you will support the university's commitment to diversity, equity, and inclusion, and 3) curriculum vitae electronically at <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/25543>. Questions about the position or school may be directed to Ms. Elaine Bidianos at elaineb@bu.edu. Applications will be reviewed on a rolling basis, beginning October 1, 2023, but applications will be accepted until the job is filled. The expected starting date for employment is July 1, 2024.

Start Date: Summer 2024
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/8/2023
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 12484

Catholic University of America

Rank: Assistant Professor of Politics
Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Policy, Political Theory

Assistant Professor of Politics (American Politics)

The Department of Politics at The Catholic University of America invites applications for a tenure-track faculty appointment in American politics, to begin in the fall of 2024. We are interested in a candidate with a range of interests, including but not limited to public opinion, ideology, political parties, elections, and the presidency. The successful candidate could also play an important advisory role for our Washington, D.C. internship programs. The department especially welcomes applicants whose research interests complement its traditional strengths in historical, theoretical, and institutional perspectives. Situated on a large and beautiful campus, Catholic University is only three metro stops from the Capitol. Politics is one of the largest majors on campus, attracting many students who value the community of a Catholic university while pursuing careers related to politics and law in the nation's capital. The department's Ph.D program has a long and distinguished history, and the development of professionally minded M.A. programs is a university priority.

We seek candidates who understand, are enthusiastic about, and will make a significant contribution to the mission of the University, which reads as follows: "As the national university of the Catholic Church in the United States, founded and sponsored by the bishops of the country with the approval of the Holy See, The Catholic University of America is committed to being a comprehensive Catholic and American institution of higher learning, faithful to the teachings of Jesus Christ as handed on by the Church. Dedicated to advancing the dialogue between faith and reason, The Catholic University of America seeks to discover and impart the truth through excellence in teaching and research, all in service to the Church, the nation and the world."

Applicants should submit a cover letter, a curriculum vitae, a statement of current research and future research plans, a statement of teaching philosophy, graduate school transcript, and a sample of written work (including scholarly publications) to pol-search@cua.edu and arrange for the submission of three letters of reference. In addition, applicants are asked to submit a one- to two-page personal statement indicating how their research, teaching, and service will make a distinctive contribution to our University's mission and to the vision of Catholic education outlined in the Apostolic Constitution on Catholic Universities Ex Corde Ecclesiae.

Review of applications will begin November 15 and continue until the position is filled. Questions may be directed to Jakub Grygiel, Department Chair, at grygiel@cua.edu.

The Catholic University of America is an Equal Opportunity Employer.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/7/2023

Salary: $70,000 - $79,999

eJobs ID: 12478

Catholic University of America

Rank: Clinical Assistant Professor of Politics

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Comparative Politics, American Government and Politics

Specializations: American Politics, Latin American, Political Theory

Clinical Assistant Professor of Politics (Public Policy)

The Department of Politics at The Catholic University of America invites applications for a clinical (non-tenure track, two-year renewable contract) faculty appointment, to begin in the fall of 2024. Candidates should have expertise in public policy (American and/or comparative, as well as familiarity with the principles of Catholic/social teaching). The department especially welcomes applicants whose research interests complement its traditional strengths in historical, theoretical, ethical and institutional perspectives. The successful candidate will have an opportunity to teach both undergraduates and graduates, including students in a new MA in Public Policy program currently under development.

We seek candidates who understand, are enthusiastic about, and will make a significant contribution to the mission of the University, which reads as follows: "As the national university of the Catholic Church in the United States, founded and sponsored by the bishops of the country with the approval of the Holy See, The Catholic University of America is committed to being a comprehensive Catholic and American institution of higher learning, faithful to the teachings of Jesus Christ as handed on by the Church. Dedicated to advancing the dialogue between faith and reason, The Catholic University of America seeks to discover and impart the truth through excellence in teaching and research, all in service to the Church, the nation and the world."

Applicants should submit a cover letter, a curriculum vitae, a statement of current research and future research plans, a statement of teaching philosophy, graduate school transcript, and a sample of written work (including scholarly publications) to pol-search@cua.edu and arrange for the submission of three letters of reference. In addition, applicants are asked to submit a one- to two-page personal statement indicating how their research, teaching, and service will make a distinctive contribution to our University's mission and to the vision of Catholic education outlined in the Apostolic Constitution on Catholic Universities Ex Corde Ecclesiae.

Review of applications will begin November 15 and continue until the position is filled.

Questions may be directed to Jakub Grygiel, Department Chair, at grygiel@cua.edu.

The Catholic University of America is an Equal Opportunity Employer.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/7/2023

Salary: $70,000 - $79,999

eJobs ID: 12475

University of Iowa

Rank: Health Services Research (Assistant, Associate, or full Professor)

The Department of Health Management and Policy in the College of Public Health at the University of Iowa invites applications for an open-rank Health Services Research (Assistant, Associate, or full Professor) tenure-track faculty position. Consideration of applications will occur on a rolling basis. Applications will continue to be accepted until the position is filled. We will begin reviewing applications on October 1, 2023, for a start date of August 2024.

Required qualifications:

- Doctoral degree (or expected by time of appointment) in Health Services Research or related fields, including but not limited to public health, health policy, economics, management and organizational behavior, political science, public administration, public policy, or sociology.
- Demonstration of research productivity commensurate with professional experience, including potential for external research funding (Assistant) or receipt of research external funding (Associate or full Professor).

- Ability to mentor junior faculty (rank of Associate or full Professor).
- Ability to offer instruction and mentorship in broad areas within Health Services Research and Practice.
- Ability to work collaboratively and with diverse populations, including students.

Desired qualifications:

- Ability to engage in multi-disciplinary collaboration between academic departments across the university and with external organizations such as public health agencies, health care systems, and policy practitioners.
- Previous experience advising PhD students (rank of Associate or full Professor).

The Department of Health Management and Policy is one of five academic units within the College of Public Health. According to U.S. News and World Report, the College of Public Health is among the top 10 publicly funded colleges of public health in the country, and the Department’s MHA program is ranked 14th in the nation, in the top 10% of CAHME-accredited programs. The College of Public Health’s collective areas of excellence include rural health, community engagement, and comparative effectiveness. The College is committed to student success, research and discovery, diversity, equity, and inclusion.

The Department of Health Management and Policy has 13 primary faculty and 52 adjunct faculty members. Collectively, Departmental primary faculty average approximately $4 million annually in research grants and contracts as principal investigators. The Department has strong collaborative relationships with non-governmental organizations and state agencies, University of Iowa Health Care, NCI-designated Holden Comprehensive Cancer Center, and the Iowa City VA Health Care System, as well as with other colleges, departments, and centers throughout the University. The Department’s PhD, MHA, EMHA, MS and MPH in Policy programs have an excellent history of recruiting, training, and placing graduates. The Department’s over 1,400 alumni work in a wide variety of healthcare settings, academic units, government, consulting, and professional organizations throughout the nation and internationally and provide significant financial, instructional, and advisory resources to the Department. Additional information about the College of Public Health and the Department of Health Management and Policy are available on our website: <http://www.public-health.uiowa.edu/hmp/>.

Iowa City, the sixth largest city in Iowa, is consistently voted one of the best places to live in the U.S. It is one of only two UNESCO Cities of Literature in the U.S. and enjoys a vibrant artistic community. With over 30,000 students, the University is one of the state’s largest employers. The University of Iowa Hospitals and Clinics has been included in the US News and World Report’s list of “America’s Best Hospitals” for 27 years in a row. At the University of Iowa, we recognize the important relationship between productive careers and quality personal lives. The resources at the following link are designed to assist you to successfully build a career and build a life: <https://worklife.uiowa.edu/>.

The Department of Health Management and Policy is committed to creating an accessible, supportive environment and an educational experience that recognizes diversity and cultural competence as integral components of academic excellence. The University of Iowa is an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer. All qualified applicants are encouraged to apply and will receive consideration for employment free from discrimination on the basis of race, creed, color, religion, national origin, age, sex, pregnancy (including childbirth and related conditions), disability, genetic information, status as a U.S. veteran, service in the U.S. military, sexual orientation, gender identity, or associational preferences.

Persons with disabilities may contact University Human Resources/Faculty and Staff Disability Services, 319/335-2660 or fsds@uiowa.edu, to inquire or discuss accommodation needs.

Successful candidates will be required to self-disclose any misconduct history or pending research misconduct investigation including but not limited to sexual misconduct in prior employment and provide a related release and will be subject to a criminal background and credential check.

Interested candidates should apply electronically: <https://jobs.uiowa.edu/jobSearch/faculty/>. Requisition #74933. Applicants should address position requirements in their submission materials: (1) a cover letter outlining interest and relevant experience; (2) a CV; and (3) a list of three references (to be contacted only with permission). Please address inquiries and nominations to hmp-facultysearch@uiowa.edu.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/6/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12473

University of Tennessee

Rank: Associate Professor/Professor for Public Administration

Subfield(s): Administration, Public Administration, Public Policy

Associate Professor/Professor for Public Administration (2 positions needed), Fall 2024

Location

Baker School

Position Type

UTK Tenure Track Faculty

Position URL

apply.interfolio.com/127756

Position Description

The Howard H. Baker, Jr. School of Public Policy and Public Affairs at the University of Tennessee, Knoxville invites applications for a tenure-track faculty position in Public Policy and Public Affairs to begin in August 2024. We are seeking two scholars to contribute primarily to graduate and undergraduate degree programs in public administration. This search is for tenured applicants at the Associate Professor or Full Professor rank with established research and teaching records.

2 Positions needed.

Qualifications

Candidates must have tenure at the Associate Professor or Full Professor rank with established research and teaching records. Candidates must have a doctoral degree in Public Administration, Public Management, Public Policy, Political Science, or a related field. Candidates must be able to contribute to teaching in a master's program in public administration, including field courses and core coursework in public budgeting, human resources management, public and non-profit management, and emergency management; provide service to the university and community; contribute to current research activities; and develop new avenues of research and teaching.

Candidates for Associate Professor should have a demonstrated record of publishing in appropriate journals, exceptional teaching, and internal and external service to their professional community. Candidates who have experience in securing and executing externally funded research are preferred, though this is not a requirement of the position.

Candidates for Full Professor should have a demonstrated record of publishing in appropriate journals, exceptional teaching, and internal and external service to their professional community. In addition, the candidate should have national/international recognition in their field of study. Candidates who have experience in securing and executing externally funded research are preferred, though this is not a requirement of the position.

The successful candidates will be part of a multidisciplinary hiring initiative to build the new Baker School of Public Policy and Public Affairs, the first such organization at a public institution in the State of Tennessee. We are seeking future colleagues who will help build the School and can contribute fresh ideas, a growth mindset, and interdisciplinary experience.

In addition to teaching responsibilities, the candidates will ideally contribute with their research to one of the three active research and engagement centers that are part of the School: the Center for National Security and Foreign Affairs; the Center for Energy, Transportation, and Environmental Policy; the Center for Economic and Community Development; and the Institute of American Civics.

Application Instructions

To Apply: apply.interfolio.com/127756

The University of Tennessee, Knoxville, is the state's flagship research institution, a campus of choice for outstanding undergraduates, and a premier graduate institution. As a land-grant university, it is committed to excellence in learning, scholarship, and engagement with society.

Applicants should submit the following via Interfolio: a cover letter explaining their research and teaching experience, a current CV, graduate transcripts, a sample of scholarly writing, and teaching evaluations (if available). All applicants should request letters from three references. These letters will be uploaded to Interfolio. Review of applications will begin October 1, 2023, and will continue until the position is filled. For questions or inquiries, contact John M. Scheb, Interim Associate Dean for Academic Affairs (scheb@utk.edu).

The Knoxville campus of the University of Tennessee is seeking candidates who have the ability to contribute in meaningful ways to the diversity and intercultural goals of the University.

About the Baker School

The new Howard H. Baker Jr. School for Public Policy and Public Affairs (Baker School), was established in 2023 to honor the distinguished life and legacy of Howard H. Baker Jr., a former US Senator, Senate Majority Leader, White House Chief of Staff, and Ambassador to Japan. Located in a 51,000-sq. ft purpose-built facility, the Baker School evolved from the Baker Center, which for twenty years has operated as a think-tank producing research, public engagement programming, and an active set of student programs. The Baker School is very excited to add degree programs and to grow its research programming into independent research centers. In addition, the Baker School houses the Institute of American Civics, which is responsible for encouraging civic knowledge and civic participation among UT undergraduates and the state at large.

Who We Are

We are a dynamic and close-knit team of dedicated and hardworking individuals who are devoted to research, education, and public service initiatives that address real world problems in local, state, national, and global communities. Each member of our team is a valuable contributor to achieving our mission and we work together to find innovative approaches to moving the Baker School forward. We are fast-moving and growing. Our work is constantly evolving to meet changing needs.

Who We Are Looking For

We are in search of a solution-finder, someone who enthusiastically embraces opportunities to address novel situations through teamwork and collaboration. We need a hardworking and flexible professional, who thrives in developing out-of-the-box approaches and addressing new challenges. We are looking for an achiever, someone who is searching for a chance to grow their skills and who is open to learning from others. We need a critical thinker who exercises good judgment and who can be relied upon and trusted to provide sound counsel to colleagues and leadership. We need teammates who are dedicated to public service.

Equal Employment Opportunity Statement

All qualified applicants will receive equal consideration for employment and admission without regard to race, color, national origin, religion, sex, pregnancy, marital status, sexual orientation, gender identity, age, physical or mental disability, genetic information, veteran status, and parental status, or any other characteristic protected by federal or state law. In accordance with the requirements of Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972, Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, and the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990, the University of Tennessee affirmatively states that it does not discriminate on the basis of race, sex, or disability in its education programs and activities, and this policy extends to employment by the university. Inquiries and charges of violation of Title VI (race, color, and national origin), Title IX (sex), Section 504 (disability), the ADA (disability), the Age Discrimination in Employment Act (age), sexual orientation, or veteran status should be directed to the Office of Equity and Diversity, 1840 Melrose Avenue, Knoxville, TN 37996-3560, telephone 865-974-2498. Requests for accommodation of a disability should be directed to the ADA Coordinator at the Office of Equity and Diversity.

Start Date: Fall

Date Posted: 9/6/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12464

University of Tennessee

Rank: Professor/Associate Professor of Public Policy and Public Affairs

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Administration, International Relations

Specializations: Energy Policy, Environmental Policy, Trade

The University of Tennessee, Knoxville, invites applications for three tenure-track faculty positions in Public Policy and Public Affairs at the Howard H. Baker Jr. School of Public Policy and Public Affairs. These positions are set to commence in August 2024 and offer a unique opportunity to contribute to both undergraduate and graduate degree programs in public policy.

Ideal candidates should hold a PhD in Economics, Political Science, Public Policy, or a related field and possess relevant experience commensurate with Associate or Full Professor rank. Responsibilities include teaching relevant program courses, including research methods, statistics, policy analysis, microeconomics, and policy communication. Candidates should actively engage in research, with specializations in areas such as energy, transportation, environmental policy, national security, or foreign policy.

Associate Professor applicants should demonstrate a strong publishing record, exceptional teaching skills, and service to the academic community. While experience in securing external research funding is preferred, it is not mandatory. Full Professor candidates should additionally have national/international recognition in their field.

For more information, and to apply, visit the provided link: <https://apply.interfolio.com/127813>

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/6/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12461

University of Texas, Austin

Rank: Latin American National Security and Foreign Policy (Assistant Professor or Professor of Practice)

Latin American National Security and Foreign Policy (Assistant Professor or Professor of Practice)

The University of Texas at Austin: LBJ School of Public Affairs

Location: Austin, TX

Open Date: Sep 01, 2023

Description

Latin American National Security and Foreign Policy (Assistant Professor or Professor of Practice)

The Lyndon B. Johnson School of Public Affairs (LBJ School) at the University of Texas at Austin invite applications for a Professor of Practice or a tenure-track Assistant Professor of Latin American National Security and Foreign Policy to begin in Fall of academic year 2024-25 (with an August 2024 start date). This faculty position will be housed at the LBJ School with commitments to cross-list elective courses and collaborate with the Teresa Lozano Long Institute of Latin American Studies (LLILAS).

The appointee's research may focus on:

- Intelligence sharing: analyzing the mechanisms and effectiveness of intelligence sharing between Latin American countries, as well as with external partners, such as the United States and Europe.

- Drug trafficking: studying the dynamics of drug trafficking in the region, including the role of transnational criminal organizations, drug cartels, and local criminal networks.
 - Arms trafficking: examining the flow of arms across national borders in Latin America, including the sources of illicit arms, the actors involved in arms trafficking, and the impacts on regional security.
 - Cybersecurity: analyzing the emerging threats to cybersecurity in Latin America, including the rise of cybercrime and cyber espionage, and the capacity of states to respond to these threats.
 - Transnational organized crime: exploring the broader phenomenon of transnational organized crime in Latin America, including human trafficking, money laundering, and corruption.
 - Border security: studying the policies and practices of border security in Latin America, including the construction of physical barriers, the use of surveillance technologies, and the management of migration flows.
- Political violence: studying the causes, dynamics, and impacts of political violence, including terrorism, civil wars, and human rights abuses.
- Foreign policy: examining the role of Latin American countries in international relations, including issues such as regional integration, relations with the United States, and South-South cooperation.

The appointee will teach core courses either in the master's program or the new undergraduate program as well as electives in the areas of specialization described above. The appointee's research will have direct relevance to public policy. The appointee may conduct and publish scholarly research and seek grant opportunities in support of their research and/or teaching activities. In the case of a Professor of Practice position, the appointee will be expected to actively engage in policy development and teaching. The appointee will participate in faculty governance in the LBJ School.

One of the nation's top ten programs in public affairs, the LBJ School comprises more than 40 faculty members and approximately 300 graduate students, and offers multi-disciplinary curricula leading to the degrees of Master of Public Affairs, Master of Global Policy Studies, and Ph.D. in Public Policy. In its 75-year history, LLILAS is among the largest Latin American studies centers in the US, with an academic unit with several undergraduate and graduate degrees and an interdisciplinary research and outreach center. LLILAS and the LBJ School have had a longstanding relationship, which includes teaching and research initiatives in areas such as public health, environmental and migratory policy, and security; faculty-led research projects, student opportunities, scholarly programming, and public outreach. LLILAS and the LBJ School offer an MA dual degree. This degree responds to an increased need in both public and private sectors for policy specialists, who have a global perspective on public affairs and related fields, and a desire to specialize on Latin America and US-Latin American relations.

Qualifications:

A master's degree in a related field is required for a Professor of Practice position. For a tenure-track Assistant Professor, a PhD is required. ABD candidates will be considered if the doctoral degree will be complete by the time of employment. Experience in college teaching and evidence of scholarship or scholarly potential is preferred.

Application Instructions:

Interested candidates can submit their cover letter, CV, statement of teaching, three years of teaching evaluations (or fewer if unavailable), three letters of reference, and one article-length writing sample via <https://apptrkr.com/4559587>. Questions about the position can be directed to Sergio Garcia-Rios at garcia.rios@utexas.edu. Questions about the application can be directed to Shannon LaFevers at slafevers@austin.utexas.edu

The search committee will begin considering applications October 15th. The position will remain open until filled.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/5/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12453

New York University Arts and Science

Rank: Assistant Professor - Social Media and Computational Social Science

Subfield(s): Political Theory, Public Policy, Comparative Politics

Specializations: Political Communication, Social Movements, Quantitative Methods

Assistant Professor - Social Media and Computational Social Science
Center for Social Media and Politics
New York University Arts and Science

The NYU School of Arts and Science seeks excellent candidates whose research stands at the intersection of digital media and politics. This tenure track, assistant professor position is open to scholars across disciplines. The successful candidate will join the appropriate academic department in the NYU School of Arts and Science and is expected to play an integral role in the NYU Center for Social Media and Politics (CSMaP). Methodologically, applicants should demonstrate a mastery of quantitative and/or computational methods in the social sciences. Substantively, applicants should have research interests that align with and/or compliment the areas of interest at CSMaP. The position is to begin September 1, 2024, pending budgetary and administrative approval.

In compliance with NYC's Pay Transparency Act, the annual base salary range for this position is $100,000 - $150,000. New York University considers factors such as (but not limited to) the scope and responsibilities of the position, the candidate's work experience, education/training, key skills, internal peer equity, as well as market and organizational considerations when extending an offer.

Qualifications

Candidates are expected to possess a PhD by September 1, 2024 in a relevant social science or related discipline; to have records of excellent research; and to indicate the potential to be future disciplinary leaders in their respective fields of expertise.

The School of Arts and Science at NYU is dedicated to the goal of building a diverse and inclusive academic community. Accordingly, we strongly encourage applications from candidates who demonstrate through their scholarship, teaching and mentoring, and/or service engagement, a commitment to these goals. We are particularly interested in hearing about steps you have taken (or plan to take) to foster an open and inclusive intellectual environment in the classroom, in the department and on campus, and/or in your field more generally.

Initial application deadline is September 5, 2023, but applications will be considered until the position is filled. Interested candidates should submit: a cover letter, CV, a research statement, a teaching statement, a one-page statement as to how the candidate will contribute to a diverse and inclusive environment at NYU, a job market paper, two additional research papers, and three letters of recommendation. All of these documents are to be uploaded to the following Interfolio link: <https://apply.interfolio.com/129573>

The Faculty of Arts and Science at NYU is at the heart of a leading research university that spans the globe. We seek scholars of the highest caliber, who embody the diversity of the United States as well as the global society in which we live. We strongly encourage applications from women, racial and ethnic minorities, and other individuals who are under-represented in the profession, across color, creed, race, ethnic and national origin, physical ability, gender and sexual identity, or any other legally protected basis. NYU affirms the value of differing perspectives on the world as we strive to build the strongest possible university with the widest reach. To learn more about the Arts and Science commitment to equality and inclusion, please read see <http://as.nyu.edu/departments/facultydiversity.html>

EOE/Affirmative Action/Minorities/Females/Vet/Disabled/Sexual Orientation/Gender Identity.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/31/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12428

University of Southern California

Rank: (Open Rank) Professor in American Politics

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Law, Public Policy

The Department of Political Science and International Relations (POIR) in the Dana and David Dornsife College of Letters, Arts and Sciences at the University of Southern California (USC) in Los Angeles invites applications for a tenure-track or tenured position in American Politics as part of a major hiring initiative.

We seek candidates with a strong substantive research program in any domain of American politics, whose work advances theoretical and empirical research on important questions in their subfield.

Candidates are expected to have strong methodological training, and their methodological skills, ability to advise graduate students on methodological issues and teach graduate classes in the Department's core methods sequence will be a consideration. A strong commitment to undergraduate and graduate education is also expected.

The candidate must have completed a Ph.D. by the appointment date. Review of applications will start September 15, 2023 and will continue until the positions are filled.

In order to be considered for this position, applicants are required to submit an electronic USC application; follow this job link or paste in a browser: <https://usc Careers.usc.edu/job/los-angeles/open-rank-faculty-position-in-american-politics/1209/53486590032>. Required materials for upload include a CV, letter of interest, sample research paper(s), statement of research interests, evidence of teaching effectiveness, the names of three individuals who will be contacted by USC for a letter of reference, and official graduate transcripts. Send inquiries to poir@usc.edu. Materials submitted by regular mail will not be accepted.

The annual base salary range for this position is $93,500 - $175,700. When extending an offer of employment, the University of Southern California considers factors such as (but not limited to) the scope and responsibilities of the position, the candidate's work experience, education/training, key skills, internal peer equity, federal, state and local laws, contractual stipulations, grant funding, as well as external market and organizational considerations.

USC is an equal-opportunity educator and employer, proudly pluralistic and firmly committed to providing equal opportunity for outstanding persons of every race, gender, creed and background. The University particularly encourages women, members of underrepresented groups, veterans and individuals with disabilities to apply. USC will make reasonable accommodations for qualified individuals with known disabilities unless doing so would result in an undue hardship. Further information is available by contacting uschr@usc.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/29/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12398

California State University, Fullerton

Rank: Assistant Professor of Public Administration

The Division of Politics, Administration, and Justice at California State University, Fullerton, invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position in Public Administration with an appointment to begin Fall 2024.

California State University, Fullerton (CSUF) is a minority-serving institution, affirmative action, and equal opportunity employer. CSUF is firmly committed to increasing the diversity of the campus community and the curriculum and fostering an inclusive environment within which students, staff, administrators, and faculty thrive. Candidates who can contribute to this goal through their teaching, research, advising and other activities are encouraged to identify their strengths and experiences. Individuals advancing the University's strategic diversity goals and those from groups whose underrepresentation in the American professoriate has been severe and longstanding are particularly encouraged to apply.

CSUF is committed to retaining all faculty and has established affinity groups you can join to support your success. The CSU is currently engaged in a directed multi-year initiative to improve graduation rates for all students, with a particular focus on first-generation college students, low-socioeconomic students, Latinx, African American, and Native American students.

We are committed to pedagogy and scholarship that acknowledges historical and current structural inequalities. We will prioritize candidates whose work will engage students in questions of fairness in public policy and governance.

Position

CSUF faculty are committed teacher/scholars who bring research and creative discovery to life for students in classrooms, labs, studios, and individually mentored projects. They teach broadly in the curricula of their departments, advise students, and serve on departmental and university-wide committees. The person's primary responsibilities in this position will include developing and teaching courses in public administration and their area(s) of specialization. Specific courses that this person will teach may include graduate and undergraduate courses in at least three of the following areas: Public Policy Analysis, Public Policy Process, Research Methods, Public Economics, and/or Public Finance. This person will also be responsible for producing scholarship or creative work commensurate with the requirements for tenure. The successful candidate will also be expected to contribute to and participate in the life and development of the MPA program, advise students, serve on committees, and participate in the broader university and disciplinary communities.

Required Qualifications

- Ph.D. in Public Administration, Public Affairs, or a related field, research specialization open
- Ability to teach graduate and/or undergraduate courses in at least two of the following areas: Public Policy Analysis, Public Policy Process, Research Methods, Public Economics, and/or Public Finance.
- A strong record of scholarly accomplishments appropriate to the level of appointment
- Ability to balance excellent teaching, scholarship, and service
- Ability to integrate technology into class instruction
- Demonstrated knowledge or experience in public administration and/or public affairs education

Preferred Qualifications

- Ability to teach graduate and/or undergraduate courses in at least three of the following areas: Public Policy Analysis, Public Policy Process, Research Methods, Public Economics, and/or Public Finance.
- A coherent research agenda
- Ability and/or experience teaching in multiple modalities
- Experience working in or with governments or not-for-profit organizations
- Demonstrated commitment to and excellence in teaching in a public administration or public affairs program
- Demonstrated commitment to working effectively with students from marginalized social groups
- Experience working collaboratively with colleagues
- A commitment to high-quality graduate and undergraduate education

Application

A complete online application must be received by electronic submission to be considered. To apply, please visit <http://hr.fullerton.edu/careers/Faculty.php>, choose full-time faculty, search for position 531196, and provide the following required materials:

- Cover letter in which you respond to the required qualifications
- Curriculum vitae
- Graduate transcripts
- Research statement (1-2 pages)
- Writing/publication sample(s)
- Teaching statement (1-2 pages)
- Teaching materials (sample of syllabi, assignments, performance data, etc.)
- Candidate statement on commitment to inclusive excellence
 - o This statement provides the candidate's unique perspective on their past and present contributions to and future aspirations for promoting diversity, inclusion, and social justice in their professional careers. This statement aims to help the department identify candidates with professional experience, intellectual commitments, and/or willingness to engage in activities that could help CSUF contribute to its mission in these areas. The statement shall address one or more of the following criteria:

1. The candidate has acquired knowledge of barriers for underrepresented students and faculty in higher education.
 2. The candidate has experience in and is committed to engaging in service with underrepresented populations in higher education.
 3. The candidate has experience in and is committed to teaching and/or mentoring underrepresented students in a higher education environment.
 4. The candidate has experience integrating underrepresented populations and communities into scholarly and creative activities.
- A list of three references with relevant contact information
 - o Semi-finalists must submit three letters of recommendation. Please have these ready for the referents to submit. On the References page of the online application, enter information and email addresses for three referents who will provide a confidential letter of reference for your application. At the appropriate time in the search process, they will receive a request via email along with information on uploading the letter. You can verify that CSUF has received each letter by logging back into your applicant portal.

Finalists will be asked to have each of their three referents submit a letter of recommendation. Please have these ready for the referents to offer should you proceed to this search phase.

Please direct all questions about the position to: Dr. Samuel B. Stone at ssone@fullerton.edu or call 657-278-3728.

Application Deadline

To be assured full consideration, all application materials must be received by October 15, 2023. The anticipated appointment date is August 2024

The College and Department

The Department of Public Administration is situated within the Division of Politics, Administration & Justice, a multi-disciplinary Division that provides faculty opportunities for collaboration with colleagues from Political Science and Criminal Justice. The Division is housed within the College of Humanities and Social Sciences.

Compensation

The Assistant Professor (Academic Year) classification salary range is $5,405 to $11,994 monthly (12 monthly payments per academic year). The anticipated hiring range is $6,690 to $6,790 per month.

Salary offered is commensurate with experience and qualifications. In addition, the California Equal Pay Act prohibits employers from paying its employees less than those of the opposite sex and/or another race or ethnicity for substantially similar work (https://www.dir.ca.gov/dlse/california_equal_pay_act.htm).

Summer research grants, moving expenses, start-up funds, and a reduced teaching load may be available.

CSUF Benefits

An excellent comprehensive benefits package includes health/vision/dental plans; spouse, domestic partner, and dependent fee-waiver; access to campus child-care; and a defined-benefit retirement through the state system and optional tax sheltering opportunities. For a detailed description of benefits, please visit <https://hr.fullerton.edu/total-wellness/>.

Additional Information

Multiple positions may be hired from this recruitment based on the strength of the applicant pool.

CSU Policies

The person holding this position is considered a 'mandated reporter' under the California Child Abuse and Neglect Reporting Act and must comply with the requirements set forth in CSU Executive Order 1083, revised July 21, 2017, as a condition of employment.

A background check (including a criminal records check) must be completed satisfactorily before any candidate can be formally offered a position with the CSU. Failure to satisfactorily complete the background check may affect the application status of applicants or the continued employment of current CSU employees who apply for the position.

Reasonable accommodations will be provided for qualified applicants with disabilities who self-disclose.

Notice of Non-Discrimination based on Gender or Sex and Contact Information for Title IX Coordinator (<http://www.fullerton.edu/titleix/about/notice.php>).

In accordance with the California State University (CSU) Out-of-State Employment Policy, the CSU is a state

entity whose business operations reside within the State of California. It requires hiring employees to perform CSU-related work within the State of California.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 10/15/2023

Date Posted: 8/28/2023

Salary: $80,000 - $89,999

eJobs ID: 12381

Princeton University, School of Public and International Affairs

Rank: Open Rank Professor of Latino Society

Assistant, Associate or Full Professor (joint department TBD). The School of Public and International Affairs at Princeton University invites applicants for a tenure-track (assistant professor) or tenured position (associate or full professor) in Latino Society in the US. The ideal candidate will show clear dedication to contributing to both the study of Latino/as and to the policies relevant to that population.

Candidates with a range of disciplinary training are encouraged to apply, including scholars in psychology, economics, sociology, and political science. The faculty appointment may be joint with a disciplinary department.

Interested parties should apply online at: <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/31303>

The successful candidate will be appointed in the School with a possible joint appointment with another academic department. Interested candidates should submit a letter of interest, a curriculum vita, a 2-3 page statement summarizing research accomplishments and future plans. Please provide contact information for three references. No letters of recommendation are required until the interview stage. Screening will begin on October 15, 2023 and continue until the position is filled.

Princeton is especially interested in candidates who, through their research, teaching, and service, will contribute to the diversity and excellence of the academic community. Women and underrepresented minorities are strongly encouraged to submit applications.

This position is subject to the University's background check policy.

We at the School of Public and International Affairs believe that it is vital to cultivate an environment that embraces and promotes diversity, equity and inclusion - fundamental to the success of our education and research mission. This commitment to diversity informs our efforts in recruitment and hiring as we actively seek colleagues of exceptional ability who represent a broad range of viewpoints, experiences and value systems, and who share Princeton University's dedication to excellence.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/28/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12382

Copenhagen Business School

Rank: Postdoc in Business and Government

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Methodology, Public Policy

We invite applications for a 2-year postdoc on the project "The Determinants and Consequences of Legislative Capacity" starting August 1st, 2024. The project is led by associate professors Florian M. Hollenbach (CBS) and David Fortunato (UCSD) and funded by the Independent Research Fund Denmark. The postdoc will be based at the Department of International Economics, Government and Business (EGB) at the Copenhagen Business School. It is a 100% research postdoc—there are no teaching requirements. It is our hope that the postdoc will coauthor with the project leaders and develop publications related to the project.

The project

Because policy is written by elected representatives but implemented by unelected bureaucratic agents with their own preferences, the legislature's capacity for ex-ante policy design and ex-post oversight sets a de facto budget constraint on potential democratic responsiveness. Importantly, parliaments choose their own capacity by allocating resources necessary for legislative work, yet we observe tremendous variation in these endowments. Why? In this project, we investigate the determinants of capacity choices and their broader implications for democratic accountability.

The "Legislative Capacity" project consists of two work packages. Work package I will focus on developing a formal theoretical model of the legislature's choice over its capacity for policy influence. The model will consider the trade-offs for current majorities to increase capacity to improve its policy making power while also handing more efficient institutions to future governments, should it lose power. Work package II moves on to empirically investigate the relationships predicted by the theoretical model. To do so, we will collect data on legislative capacity in OECD countries over the last 20 years, as well as subnational legislatures.

The postdoc will work on both packages, contributing to development of the central theoretical model, data collection, analysis, and writing.

It is essential that applicants have strong research potential in comparative political economy and the ability to work in a team environment, collaborating/co-authoring with other team members.

Non-exhaustive examples of research areas that the postdoc may cover:

Comparative Political Economy
Social Data Science
Quantitative Methods
Formal Modelling
Political Institutions

Department

EGB is a multidisciplinary department that conducts high-quality research in the fields of international business and political science with direct relevance to business, policymakers, and the public. Research at the department focuses on two principal focus areas Business & Government and International Business, in relation to societal challenges. To learn more about the research and education of the department, please visit the departmental homepage; www.cbs.dk/egb.

Qualifications

The applicant must have completed – or be close to completing – a PhD in the political science, political economy, or a related field. The applicant must have excellent research skills and proficiency in English (written and spoken). The ideal applicant will have solid skills in formal modelling and advanced quantitative methods.

To fulfill the research requirements of the position, the postdoc is expected to be physically present at the department on a regular basis.

Copenhagen Business School has a broad commitment to the excellence, distinctiveness and relevance of its teaching and research programs. Candidates who wish to join us should demonstrate enthusiasm for working in an organization of this type.

Appointment and salary will be in accordance with the Ministry of Finance's agreement with the Central Academic Organisation (presently approximately $70,080 USD including pension contribution).

Applications must be sent via the electronic recruitment system, using the link; <https://www.cbs.dk/en/about-cbs/jobs-cbs/vacant-positions/postdoc-in-business-and-government-copenhagen-business-school-2-years>

Applications must include:

- A cover letter outlining the candidate's main strengths and abilities.
- Transcript(s) and a full CV
- A job market paper
- A complete, numbered list of publications (indicating titles, co-authors, page numbers and year) with an * marking of the academic productions to be considered during the assessment. A maximum of 5 publications for assessment are allowed. Applicants are requested to prioritise their publications in relation to the field of this job advertisement.
- Copies of the publications marked with an *. Only publications written in English (or another specified principal language, according to research tradition) or one of the Scandinavian languages will be taken into consideration)
- A brief (1-page) research statement for the 2-year postdoc period, and possibly beyond.

Recruitment procedure

The Recruitment Committee will shortlist a minimum of two applicants; when possible five or more applicants will be shortlisted. The shortlisted applicants will be assessed by the Assessment Committee. All applicants will be notified of their status in the recruitment process shortly after the application deadline.

The applicants selected for assessment will be notified about the composition of the Assessment Committee and later in the process about the result of the assessment.

Once the recruitment process is completed each applicant will be notified of the outcome of their application.

Closing date: October 30, 2023

Copenhagen Business School must receive all application material, including all appendices (see items above), by the application deadline.

For further information about the project, please contact: Associate Professor Florian M. Hollenbach, e-mail: fho.egb@cbs.dk.

For further information about the department (EGB), please contact: Head of Department Jens Gammelgaard, e-mail jg.egb@cbs.dk.

Details about Copenhagen Business School are available at www.cbs.dk

Closing date: 30 October 2023.

Apply online

<https://www.cbs.dk/en/about-cbs/jobs-cbs/vacant-positions/postdoc-in-business-and-government-copenhagen-business-school-2-years>

CBS is a globally recognised business school with deep roots in the Nordic socio-economic model. We have a broad focus on business and societal challenges of the 21st century. As such we have a full portfolio of high-quality disciplinary and interdisciplinary research and education that has equipped generations of professionals and leaders in the private sector and beyond.

Located at Frederiksberg, Denmark, the school has approx. 21.000 full and part-time students, 760 full-time faculty members, 210 PhD students and 680 administrative staff, and a full portfolio of Bachelor, Master's, MBA/EMBA, PhD and Executive programmes delivered in English and Danish.

Our global profile carries the obligation to develop the transformational capabilities of students, graduates and business leaders via our educational activities and opportunities for lifelong learning. Complex challenges call for joint action, and therefore our strategy focuses on strengthening current and starting new partnerships with other sciences, the business community, authorities and civil society.

CBS is working continuously on becoming a diverse and inclusive organization, and we encourage all regardless of gender identity and expression, ethnicity, religious beliefs, LGBT+ status, cultural background etc. to apply.

Reach out to us if you need assistance in the application or recruitment process, if there is something we should know, or if as a person with disability you wish to make use of your preferential access.

Start Date: Summer 2024

Application Deadline: 10/30/2023

Date Posted: 8/25/2023

Salary: $70,000 - $79,999

eJobs ID: 12363

Iowa State University

Rank: Assistant Professor in Political Science, Public Policy or related field

The Department of Political Science at Iowa State University (Ames, Iowa) invites applications for two tenure-track faculty members at the rank of assistant professor. The successful candidates will conduct research and teach in at least one of four critical areas identified by the University: Climate Science and Sustainability, Critical Materials, Cybersecurity, and/or Human Health Initiatives (i.e. Health Politics and Policy). The ability to contribute to the department's instructional needs in the areas of American Politics, Global Politics, Research Methods, or pre-Law is a plus.

Responsibilities for this position include conducting research, including participation in multi-disciplinary research teams; mentoring students and teaching undergraduate and graduate courses; and providing service to the department, university, profession, and community.

Required Minimum Qualifications:

Ph.D. in Political Science, Public Policy, or related field. The degree must be conferred by the date of appointment

Scholarly expertise in at least one of the following: Climate Science and Sustainability, Critical Materials, Cybersecurity, and/or Human Health Initiatives (i.e. Health Politics and Policy).

Preferred Qualifications:

Research excellence, as demonstrated by a record of high-quality publications and external funding, or by the promise thereof

A research agenda with the potential for multi-disciplinary collaborations

Demonstrated ability in teaching in American Politics, Global Politics, Methods, or pre-Law

Demonstrated excellence in undergraduate and/or graduate teaching and student mentoring

Application Instructions:

Applications will be accepted until the position is filled. However, to receive full consideration, applications should be received by Monday, October 16, 2023.

All interested, qualified persons must apply for this position online at jobs.iastate.edu to Job Requisition Number R12791. Application instructions and required materials are available online.

Please direct questions to Dr. Karen M. Kedrowski, Search Committee chair, at karenmk1@iastate.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 10/16/2023
Date Posted: 8/25/2023
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 12371

Salem State University

Rank: Faculty - Public Policy - Full Time, Temporary
Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Methodology, Public Policy
Specializations: Race & Ethnic Politics, Housing, American Politics

The politics, policy and international relations department at Salem State University invites a full-time, temporary faculty position for the 2024-2025 academic year. We are seeking a public policy specialist with familiarity with policies in an urban context such as housing, education, transportation, policing, poverty, and/or immigration. This position is part of a Salem State initiative to help establish and advance our proposed North Shore Policy Lab and may be reappointed for up to two additional years subject to available funding. With continued growth of the program, there may be additional tenure track lines in the department.

Housed in the department's Bates Center for Public and Global Affairs, the North Shore Policy Lab will involve students in research conducted on behalf of local and state government and non-governmental organizations in order to prepare them for jobs in the public, non-profit and/or private sectors.

The candidate should be well-versed in both quantitative and qualitative research methods and be able to teach our current Research Methods course as well as a new, advanced multi-methods class that will serve as the foundation for student work on applied policy research projects as a part of the policy lab. The ideal candidate will have a demonstrated record of community-based research and community partnerships with a focus on equity issues in the context of urban areas like those served by Salem State.

Salem State University is committed to excellence in teaching. We pride ourselves in providing first-rate classroom experiences and supervising intensive learning opportunities such as research and internships. Many of our students are first generation, racial/ethnic minorities, veterans, and adult learners. Salem State University is located in the Greater Boston area in the historic city of Salem, Massachusetts. The Greater Boston region is famous for its world-class education, healthcare, and business enterprises and the area offers numerous opportunities for professional and personal enrichment.

Duties and Responsibilities

Candidates are required to perform duties in accordance with the MSCA contract. Duties include teaching, advising, scholarship and contributions to continuously improve the department and university. The standard teaching load is 12 credit hours per semester. The position is subject to available funding.

Required Qualifications:

Earned PhD in public policy or a related field from an accredited institution (ABD considered if degree will be conferred by September 2024)

Advising and/or mentoring experience

Preferred Qualifications:

Commitment to anti-racist, culturally responsive teaching

Demonstrated expertise in community-based research
 Active publication record and/or exemplary scholarly potential (e.g., ABD candidates with strong pipeline of research)
 Prior applied experience in non-profit or public sector settings
 Demonstrated excellence in teaching

As an emerging Hispanic Serving Institution (HSI), Salem State University seeks to enrich the faculty/librarian ranks by actively encouraging candidates whose lived and scholarly experiences directly address issues regarding the health, welfare, and representation of Latinx populations in the United States. Candidates who meet this strongly desired qualification should present documented activities in Latinx-related teaching, scholarship/research, and service, including community-based endeavors in each of these three areas.

Working Conditions:

This is an on-site, in-person position.

Salem State University complies with the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) to provide reasonable accommodation to qualified applicants and employees with disabilities. For accommodation information or requests please email eo-hr@salemstate.edu.

Special Instructions to Applicants:

Please apply online and attach curriculum vitae, cover letter, teaching philosophy, and a diversity statement (please read our institutional diversity statement and describe how you would contribute to our mission in your teaching, research, mentoring/advising, and service).

The online portal can be found at: <https://internal-salemstate.icims.com/jobs/2894/faculty%2c-political-science-%28public-policy%29%2c-full-time%2c-temporary%2c-fall-2024/job>

Employment is contingent upon a completed background and CORI check satisfactory to the university.

This position is not eligible for H1B visa sponsorship.

Please Note: If there is no application deadline associated with a position, it may be removed at any time and additional applications will not be accepted.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/23/2023

Salary: $70,000 - $79,999

eJobs ID: 12351

Columbia University

Rank: Assistant Professor, Urban Politics and Policy

Salary Range: $115,000 - $135,000

Position Description

The School of International and Public Affairs at Columbia University in the City of New York invites applications from scholars working in the field of urban politics and policy, for a tenure-track renewable position of Assistant Professor, to begin on July 1, 2024. Research must be policy relevant and can focus on cities within the framework of the American or comparative politics sub-fields. The successful candidate will contribute to teaching and intellectual leadership in the SIPA urban and social policy curriculum at the master's level. Addressing one or more of the following global policy challenges: democratic resilience; urban governance; race and ethnicity; technology and innovation; inclusive prosperity and economic development; and climate and sustainable development would also be important.

Qualifications

Ph.D. in Political Science, Public Policy, or a field related to urban politics and is required at the time of appointment. Candidates will be expected to sustain a strong commitment to research, publication, policy engagement and teaching.

Application Instructions

Applicants should upload a cover letter, curriculum vitae, teaching statement, statement of current and future plans, a writing sample, and three (3) letters of recommendation.

Please visit our online application site at: apply.interfolio.com/130467 for further information about this position and to submit your application.

Screening of the candidates will begin immediately, and the search will remain open for at least 30 days from the day of posting and continue until filled. For further information, please contact Deirdre Brady, Senior Assistant Dean for Academic Affairs, at d.brady@columbia.edu.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/18/2023

Salary: Any

eJobs ID: 12324

University of British Columbia

Rank: Assistant Professor in China Policy and Governance

The School of Public Policy and Global Affairs (SPPGA) at The University of British Columbia (Vancouver) invites applications for the tenure-track position of Assistant Professor in China Policy and Governance to begin on July 1, 2024.

We seek a scholar who engages in applied research on policy and governance issues related to China. This may include expertise on issues of policy and governance within China, with regards to China's global engagements, and/or comparative work between Chinese and other actors or institutions. We welcome and are committed to supporting candidates with critical perspectives, from a broad array of personal backgrounds and experiences, and across a range of potential disciplinary training. Evidence of experience in communicating to both academic and non-academic audiences and contributing to or influencing policy will be considered an asset.

Candidates should have demonstrated excellence or promise of excellence in research and have a strong commitment to teaching. The successful candidate will be expected to develop and support a dynamic research program, including active policy engagements. The position is open to those specializing in quantitative as well as qualitative research. They are expected to contribute to teaching in the core curriculum of the professional Master of Public Policy and Global Affairs (MPPGA) as well as elective courses on China.

Candidates for this position must have a completed Ph.D. from any disciplinary or interdisciplinary field within the social sciences. Those who have progressed to the point where completion of the PhD is imminent and who demonstrate clear and superior promise of excellent research and teaching will also be considered. The successful candidate is expected to have a Ph.D. for the start of the appointment. The anticipated start date is July 1, 2024.

Applicants should be prepared to upload by the closing deadline of October 16, 2023 in the following order and in a single PDF file (maximum size 15MB):

- Cover letter (up to 2 pages) that contains:
 - o description of current and proposed research;
 - o teaching interests and accomplishments;
 - o experience of contributing to, or influencing, policy;
 - o names and contact information for three scholars from whom confidential letters of assessment can be obtained.
- Curriculum vitae;
- Description of current and proposed research (up to 2 pages);
- Statement (300-500 words) identifying the applicant's philosophy of working with a diverse student body, and contributions, or potential contributions, to advancing a culture of inclusion within the university and beyond;
- Teaching statement and evidence of teaching ability and effectiveness, including sample syllabi (may include teaching evaluations, and teaching dossier);
- One sample of research or publication similar in length to a journal article;
- One sample of writing that aims at communicating the results of research to a policy audience.

Review of applications will begin on 16 October 2023, and will continue until the position has been filled. Applicants with questions about the position are welcome to contact the Administration Manager, Ian Taylor, at ian.taylor@ubc.ca. This position is subject to final budgetary approval. Salary is competitive and will be commensurate with experience.

Further Information:

UBC's School of Public Policy and Global Affairs (SPPGA) is an interdisciplinary and collaborative hub that contributes to developing policies and solutions to complex global and local issues. The School offers the Master of Public Policy and Global Affairs (MPPGA), a 2-year professional global public policy program with particular expertise in Asia Pacific and sustainability. For more information on the SPPGA visit <https://sppga.ubc.ca/>

UBC-Vancouver's Point Grey Campus is located on the traditional, ancestral, and unceded territories of the Musqueam people, with whom UBC shares a framework Memorandum of Affiliation. For information on Indigenous initiatives at UBC, visit: <http://indigenous.ubc.ca/>. SPPGA is committed to increasing Indigenous engagement within its curriculum.

We are actively seeking to recruit from a diverse pool of applicants. Equity and diversity are essential to academic excellence. An open and diverse community fosters the inclusion of voices that have been underrepresented or discouraged. We encourage applications from members of groups that have been marginalized on any grounds enumerated under the B.C. Human Rights Code, including sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, racialization, disability, political belief, religion, marital or family status, age, and/or status as a First Nation, Metis, Inuit, or Indigenous person. All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply; however, Canadians and permanent residents of Canada will be given priority.

UBC welcomes and encourages applications from persons with disabilities. Accommodations are available on request for all candidates taking part in all aspects of the selection process. For requests, contact SPPGA Administration Manager, Ian Taylor (ian.taylor@ubc.ca). The University committed to creating and maintaining an inclusive and equitable work environment for all members of its workforce, and in particular, for its employees with disabilities. An inclusive work environment for employees with disabilities presumes an environment where differences are accepted, recognized, and integrated into current structures, planning, and decision-making modes. For contact information regarding UBC's accommodation and access policies and resources (for faculty and staff as well as students), please visit the Centre for Workplace Accessibility.

<https://hr.ubc.ca/health-and-wellbeing/working-injury-illness-or-disability/centre-workplace-accessibility>

APPLY NOW: <https://sppga.air.arts.ubc.ca/application-for-assistant-professor-in-china-policy-and-governance/>

Start Date: Summer 2024

Application Deadline: 10/16/2023

Date Posted: 8/18/2023

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 12328

University of Notre Dame

Rank: Professor of Computational Social Science

The University of Notre Dame's Keough School of Global Affairs in conjunction with the Notre Dame Lucy Family Institute for Data and Society invites applicants for a tenure-track (open rank) professorship focused in the area of computational social science. The ideal candidate will have completed a Ph.D. in business, computer science, economics, information science, public policy, political science, psychology, sociology, or a related field with a strong research focus on the intersection of business and society.

The candidate should have strong skills in computational social science and data analytics with expertise in methods such as machine learning, network analysis, system dynamics or big-data analytics and visualization. They should have a strong research agenda focused on using these methods to help understand the role and impacts of business policies, practice and performance in society with a particular focus on public policy interventions to address challenges of human development, persistent poverty and growing inequality. Areas of particular interest include, but are not limited to, a focus on lower income countries, implementation of environmental social and governance (ESG) principles, global supply chains, trade, migration, and human trafficking.

Competitive candidates for this professorship will have a scholarly track record with evidence of high-quality research as well as experience or interest in policy engagement on questions of social and economic development. Scholars with direct experience working on policy with governments, international organizations, or non-governmental organizations are encouraged to apply. The successful candidate is expected to participate in the Keough School in all dimensions of research, teaching, and service.

The professorship will be based in the Keough School (<https://keough.nd.edu>), which advances integral human development through research, policy and practice, transformative educational programs, and partnerships for global engagement. It promotes interdisciplinary research on critical issues in global affairs. The successful candidate will be appointed as an affiliated faculty member of Notre Dame's Lucy Family Institute (<https://lucyinstitute.nd.edu/>), which seeks to advance data innovation to help transform society and individual lives.

The Keough School is committed to fostering a culture of diverse views and approaches to Global Affairs. All applicants whose scholarly pursuits will enhance our ability to fulfill that commitment are encouraged to apply. Questions about the position can be directed to Tom Mustillo at tmustill@nd.edu. All applicants are required to submit a cover letter, C.V., and research statement summarizing examples of recent or ongoing research in the above areas of interest. Evidence of teaching effectiveness is also welcomed. Junior candidates should also arrange for the submission of three confidential letters of reference. All application materials must be submitted through the Interfolio/Notre Dame online application system: <http://apply.interfolio.com/122625>

The position will close on September 29, 2023 and review of applications will begin at that time.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 9/29/2023

Date Posted: 8/18/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12300

Princeton University

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Associate, Program in Latin American Studies

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Public Policy

Program in Latin American Studies (PLAS) Postdoctoral Fellowship, 2024-2025

Job Title: Postdoctoral Research Associate

Requisition Number: D-24-LAS-00001

The Program in Latin American Studies (PLAS) is seeking candidates from any discipline who are engaged in scholarly research on topics related to Latin American Studies, including the Caribbean and Brazil, to fill Postdoctoral Research Associate or more senior research positions. Candidates will be expected to devote themselves to research and writing, and may teach not more than one course per semester. When teaching, successful candidates will hold the secondary rank of Lecturer, and any teaching opportunities are subject to sufficient enrollments and the approval of the Dean of the Faculty. They also will be invited to participate regularly in the scholarly activities of the PLAS intellectual community.

Appointments are for a 12-month term during the 2024-2025 academic year, starting September 1, 2024, with the possibility of renewal, contingent on satisfactory performance and continued funding.

A competitive salary commensurate with experience and excellent benefits will be offered.

This position is subject to the University's background check policy.

How to Apply

For full consideration complete applications including letters of recommendation should be submitted by December 3, 2023, 11:59 p.m. EST.

All candidates must apply online and submit the below materials (in English) at <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/31282>.

- 1) Cover letter
- 2) Curriculum vitae
- 3) Statement of research interests (1,000 – 1,500 words)
- 4) A representative sample of recent work (under 30 written pages or equivalent)
- 5) Three letters of recommendation

Required Qualifications: Doctoral degree (earned within three years of the start date). Academic excellence, potential to bring new ideas and approaches to Princeton University and to interact successfully with a broad range of faculty and students.

Princeton University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer, and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to age, race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 12/3/2023

Date Posted: 8/17/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12290

California Polytechnic State University

Rank: Tenure-Track Assistant Professor: Public Policy

The Department of Political Science at California Polytechnic State University in San Luis Obispo, CA, seeks applications for a full-time (academic year), tenure-track Assistant Professor with a specialization in Public Policy to begin September 16, 2024. The second specialty field is open. Salary is commensurate with qualifications and experience. Ph.D. in Public Policy, Political Science, or a related field is required at the time of appointment. Evidence of strong teaching skills is required.

Applicants should be prepared to offer graduate and undergraduate courses in their substantive area of expertise. The successful candidate should also be able to teach core public policy courses at the graduate and undergraduate levels, including but not limited to: Introduction to Public Policy, Quantitative Methods, Public Policy Analysis, Research Design, Regulatory and Economic Policy, and/or a graduate research seminar. Preference is given to candidates with teaching and research interest in social justice issues or who can expand the Department's existing expertise areas.

An earned doctorate (Ph.D.) in Political Science or Public Policy from an accredited institution or international equivalent is required. Candidates nearing completion of the doctorate (ABD) may be considered but must provide proof that the doctorate has been completed prior to the start of the appointment. The initial appointment is for two years, subject to renewal.

Although Cal Poly is primarily a teaching university, our faculty are expected to balance teaching with an active program of research/professional development (including publication), student supervision and advising, and participation in service activities at the department and college/university level. The typical teaching load is 12 units (three courses) per quarter, with a reduction in course load in each of the first two years to help new faculty establish an active program of research and professional development. Cal Poly strongly values diversity, equity, and inclusion (DEI), especially in the classroom and among its areas of study.

The College of Liberal Arts (CLA) sees diversity as central to its mission and is committed to fostering an equitable and inclusive environment within the college and university. We value our diversity of complex and intersecting identities, while striving to maintain an environment that is equitable, respectful, and inclusive. The successful applicant should be able to clearly demonstrate how they have infused these values and student learning objectives into their work. They should be prepared to present clear examples of how they would infuse these areas into their work as a faculty member.

At California Polytechnic State University, San Luis Obispo, we believe that cultivating an environment that embraces and promotes diversity is fundamental to the success of our students, our employees and our community. Bringing people together from different backgrounds and experiences fosters the innovative and creative thinking that exemplifies Cal Poly's values of free inquiry and reflection on impacts of cultural context, mutual respect, civic engagement, and social and environmental responsibility. Cal Poly's commitment to DEI informs our efforts in recruitment, hiring and retention. California Polytechnic State University is an equal opportunity employer.

Required Qualifications:

A.B.D. or Ph.D. in Public Policy, Political Science or a closely related field;

Demonstrated university teaching experience;

Demonstrated proficiency in written and oral use of the English language is required.

Preferred Qualifications:

Teaching and research interest in social justice issues;

Preference is also given to candidates who can expand the Department's existing areas of expertise;

Experience working with diverse populations and fostering a collaborative, supportive and inclusive environment;

The ability to collaboratively work in multidisciplinary settings is preferred;

Preference is also given to candidates with relevant work experience and those who bring professional capabilities.

Special Conditions:

The person holding this position is considered a 'mandated reporter' under the California Child Abuse and Neglect Reporting Act and is required to comply with the requirements set forth in CSU Executive Order 1083 as a condition of employment.

Following a conditional offer of employment, a background check (including a criminal records check) must be completed satisfactorily before any candidate may start work with Cal Poly, San Luis Obispo.

Failure to satisfactorily complete the background check may result in the withdrawal of the offer of employment. Note: Cal Poly cannot deny an applicant a position solely or in part due to a criminal conviction history until it has performed an individualized assessment and linked the relevant conviction history with specific job duties in the position being sought.

Please note: Current employees who are offered positions on campus will be required to undergo a background check for any position where a background check is required by law or that Cal Poly has designated as sensitive. Sensitive positions are those requiring heightened scrutiny of individuals holding the position based on potential for harm to children, concerns for the safety and security of people, animals, or property, or heightened risk of financial loss to Cal Poly or individuals in the university community.

For health and well-being, Cal Poly is a smoke & tobacco-free campus. The university is committed to promoting a healthy environment for all members of our community.

In accordance with the California State University (CSU) Out-of-State Employment Policy, the CSU is a state entity whose business operations reside within the State of California and prohibits hiring employees to perform CSU related work outside of California.

About the Department

The Cal Poly Political Science Department prides itself on its collegiality and commitment to excellence in teaching and scholarship. The department serves approximately 350 majors, 180 minors, and 25 graduate students. At the undergraduate level, the department offers concentrations in American Politics, Global Politics, Pre-Law, and Individualized Courses of Study, as well as minors in Law & Society, Political Science, and Global Politics. It also administers a Master of Public Policy Program.

How to Apply

To apply, please visit <http://jobs.calpoly.edu/>, complete a required online faculty application and apply to Requisition #529941. Please upload the following required materials as part of the electronic application:

Cover letter (may wish to address the feasibility of conducting research, scholarship, and/or creative activities within the context of a primarily teaching-oriented undergraduate program)

Current curriculum vitae

Statement of demonstrated commitment to DEI in teaching, scholarship and/or service describing past experience, contributions to DEI efforts, the impact on students, faculty, staff and/or your field and a description of how you will demonstrate a commitment in these areas in teaching, research, and/or service at Cal Poly

Teaching portfolio: provide evidence of teaching effectiveness including student evaluations and course syllabi

Statement of teaching philosophy

Statement of Professional/Research Goals

Unofficial transcripts showing highest degree earned, official transcripts showing highest degree earned will be required prior to appointment.

Please be prepared to provide three professional references with names and email addresses when completing the online faculty application.

Projected Start Date: 09-16-2024

Review Begin Date: Oct-15-2023. Applicants with complete files by the Review Begin Date will be given full consideration. Applications received after this date may be considered.

For questions about the position please contact Helene Shanruo Ning Zhang via email at nizhang@calpoly.edu

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 10/15/2023

Date Posted: 8/15/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12274

University of Chicago

Rank: Assistant Professor - Political Science/Political Economy

The Harris School of Public Policy at the University of Chicago invites applications for tenure-track faculty positions in Political Science or Political Economy at the Assistant Professor level. The search is open with respect to subfield. Applicants are expected to complete a Ph.D. by July 31, 2024 and demonstrate strong promise for a scholarly career.

To apply for this position, candidates must submit their application through the University of Chicago's Interfolio academic job board at: <http://apply.interfolio.com/130048>. Applicants are required to submit: 1) curriculum vitae, 2) two letters of recommendation, 3) one writing sample, 4) research statement, 5) teaching statement, and 6) no more than one-page abstract from their job market paper or dissertation. Applicants may also submit additional optional documents such as: a cover letter, additional writing sample, and/or a third letter of reference. Review of applicants will begin on September 15, 2023. No applications will be accepted after May 1, 2024.

Equal Employment Opportunity Statement

All University departments and institutes are charged with building a faculty from a diversity of backgrounds and with diverse viewpoints; with cultivating an inclusive community that values freedom of expression; and with welcoming and supporting all their members.

We seek a diverse pool of applicants who wish to join an academic community that places the highest value on rigorous inquiry and encourages diverse perspectives, experiences, groups of individuals, and ideas to inform and stimulate intellectual challenge, engagement, and exchange. The University's Statements on Diversity are at <https://provost.uchicago.edu/statements-diversity>.

The University of Chicago is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity/Disabled/Veterans Employer and does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national or ethnic origin, age, status as an individual with a disability, protected veteran status, genetic information, or other protected classes under the law. For additional information please see the University's Notice of Nondiscrimination.

Job seekers in need of a reasonable accommodation to complete the application process should call 773-834-3988 or email equalopportunity@uchicago.edu with their request.

Start Date: Summer 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/14/2023

Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 12265

Trinity College

Rank: Director, Greenberg Center for the Study of Religion in Public Life

Trinity College seeks the next Director of the Leonard E. Greenberg Center for the Study of Religion in Public Life, commencing July 2024. Non-sectarian and non-partisan, the Greenberg Center was established at Trinity College in 1996 to advance knowledge and understanding of the varied roles that religious movements, institutions, and ideas play in the contemporary world. The Center sponsors public lectures, organizes conferences and workshops, contributes to the liberal arts curriculum, and supports the publication and dissemination of materials for both academic and general audiences. Its initiatives are designed to foster discussion of religion in public life both within the campus community and among various external publics.

We seek a mid-career or advanced candidate with a Ph.D. and a record of success in program administration, teaching, and scholarship. The Director serves as an 9-month administrative faculty member with joint appointments in Trinity's Public Policy & Law Program and Religious Studies Department. The Director's faculty title will be commensurate with experience.

The Director will shape the Center's goals and activities; enhance the Center's profile on and off campus; and evaluate the Center's impact. The position co-supervises a Program and Communications Assistant and convenes a Center advisory board. As a faculty member, the Director teaches three courses per academic year during the Fall and Spring semesters, cross-listed in Religious Studies and Public Policy & Law. The successful candidate will manage an annual budget of over $65,000, including generous research funds.

We encourage applicants who share our commitment to diversity and inclusion and seek applications from historically underrepresented candidates. Trinity College seeks a faculty that reflects the changing demographics of our student body. Our student body is diverse, representing 41 states and 70 countries, with 21 percent U.S. students of color and 50 percent who identify as women. More than 90 percent of students live on campus. Trinity is a highly selective, independent, nonsectarian liberal arts institution located in the capital city of Hartford, Conn. With more than 2,100 full-time undergraduate students and 91 graduate students, the college maintains a rigorous academic profile complemented by a vibrant and diverse co-curricular program. We consider our location in a culturally and socioeconomically diverse capital city to be among Trinity's most distinctive assets, and we cultivate strong connections with our surrounding neighbors and with institutions and organizations throughout Hartford and the region. As a preeminent liberal arts college in an urban setting, Trinity College prepares students to be bold, independent thinkers who lead transformative lives.

Evidence of demonstrable success in program administration, teaching, and scholarship is required. A Ph.D. in Religious Studies, Public Policy, or a related field should be in hand by July 2024.

Competitive salary and benefits, plus start-up expense fund.

To ensure full consideration please submit a cover letter (describing research; teaching; and commitment to advancing diversity, equity, and inclusion), CV, sample of scholarly writing, course syllabi and evaluations (if available), and the names of three referees who can provide letters of reference to by October 2, 2023. Please contact Administrative Assistant Christine.McMorris@trincoll.edu with questions.

<https://trincoll.peopleadmin.com/postings/3085>

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/11/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12233

University of Chicago

Rank: Collegiate Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): Public Policy, American Government and Politics, International Relations

Specializations: Political Philosophy & Theory, History & Politics, Quantitative Methods

The College at the University of Chicago is now accepting applications for four-year postdoctoral teaching appointments as Harper and Schmidt Fellows who hold the rank of Collegiate Assistant Professor. Collegiate Assistant Professors are members of the College Faculty whose primary professional responsibility is to teach in the general education (Core) program. <https://college.uchicago.edu/academics/core-curriculum>

Core courses in the Humanities typically deal with fundamental issues and texts in history, philosophy, and literature. Currently, the Core is organized into eight year-long sequences: Readings in World Literature; Human Being and Citizen; Greece and Rome: Texts, Traditions, Transformations; Philosophical Perspectives on the Humanities; Media Aesthetics; Reading Cultures; Poetry and the Human; and Language and the Human. We encourage applicants to spend time reviewing the descriptions and syllabi for Core sequences to understand the distinct topics and approaches and gauge best fit. Descriptions of these courses are available here: <https://college.uchicago.edu/academics/core/humanities-core>

Core courses in the Social Sciences explore, on the basis of significant works or primary source materials, the fundamental concepts and the different modes of inquiry that have defined the social sciences in the modern period. Currently, we are inviting applications for Collegiate Assistant Professors to teach in some of the year-long sequences into which the Core is organized: Self, Culture and Society; Classics of Social and Political Thought; Power, Identity, and Resistance; Democracy: Equality, Liberty and the Dilemma of Self-Governance; Global Society; Mind; and Social Science Inquiry. We encourage applicants to spend time reviewing the descriptions and syllabi for Core sequences to understand the distinct topics and approaches and gauge best fit. Descriptions of these courses are available here: <https://college.uchicago.edu/academics/core/social-sciences-core>

Some Collegiate Assistant Professors also teach in the History of European Civilization Core sequence as well as the Introductions to the Civilizations of East Asian Core sequences. These courses are taught on the basis of intensive readings of significant primary source documents. For descriptions and syllabi of the History of European Civilization and the Civilizations of East Asia sequences see: <https://college.uchicago.edu/academics/core/civilization-studies-core>

The positions are open to scholars in all disciplines and areas of specialization who will have completed all requirements for their Ph.D. degree no later than August 31, 2024. Candidates must demonstrate excellence in teaching as well as in their original scholarship. While many Core sequences feature set reading lists, applicants need not have conventional expertise in the specific texts and topics that are currently taught. Rather, we welcome applicants from a wide variety of disciplinary backgrounds who can apply conceptual and methodological creativity and skill to the teaching of general education courses. Applicants should be prepared 1) to identify and guide students through fundamental questions in a Core sequence and 2) to contribute meaningfully to the instructional community and the curricular evolution for that Core sequence.

In most years, Collegiate Assistant Professors teach two courses (usually of identical preparation) for each of three quarters. In the second through fourth year of residence, each Collegiate Assistant Professor has the opportunity to design up to two independent courses and each is eligible for one quarter of research sabbatical. In the fourth year there is a possibility of another quarter of sabbatical with salary reduction.

The position comes with an annual salary for 2024-25 of $82,571, carries full benefits, and an annual professional development fund of $6,500. The effective date for these teaching appointments is September 1, 2024.

To apply for these positions, please see our web site at <https://fellows.uchicago.edu>.

The terms and conditions of these positions are described in the collective bargaining agreement between the University and the Service Employees International Union.

On-line application deadline: 11:59:59 PM EDT, Friday, October 13, 2023.

All University departments and institutes are charged with building a faculty from a diversity of backgrounds and with diverse viewpoints; with cultivating an inclusive community that values freedom of expression; and with welcoming and supporting all their members.

We seek a diverse pool of applicants who wish to join an academic community that places the highest value on rigorous inquiry and encourages diverse perspectives, experiences, groups of individuals, and ideas to inform and stimulate intellectual challenge, engagement, and exchange. The University's Statements on Diversity are at <https://provost.uchicago.edu/statements-diversity>.

The University of Chicago is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity/Disabled/Veterans Employer and does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national or ethnic origin, age, status as an individual with a disability, protected veteran status, genetic information, or other protected classes under the law. For additional information please see the University's Notice of Nondiscrimination.

Job seekers in need of a reasonable accommodation to complete the application process should call 773-834-0681 or email dneibel@uchicago.edu with their request before the application deadline.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 10/13/2023

Date Posted: 8/11/2023

Salary: $80,000 - $89,999

eJobs ID: 12264

Princeton University

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Associate

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Public Policy

Specializations: Economic Policy, International Political Economy, International Law & Organizations

The Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance (NCGG) at Princeton University's School of Public and International Affairs invites applications for postdoctoral or more senior research associate positions from individuals with a Ph.D. degree or who expect to receive a Ph.D. degree by August 1, 2024, for the 2024-2025 academic year. These awards are designed to promote basic research in the broad areas of international and comparative political economy, international organization and global governance, and globalization. Research on the causes and consequences of globalization, the political economy of foreign trade, monetary and regulatory policies, the sources of international cooperation at the global and regional level, the domestic and international politics of economic development, the political economy of human security issues, the evolution and impact of international institutions, and the politics of international law and human rights policies are of relevance. Outstanding scholars anywhere in the world are eligible to apply. The Center invites candidates with a background in political science, economics, modern history, sociology, anthropology, law, business, and other disciplines bearing on the study of globalization to apply. Selected candidates will be required to be in residence in Princeton or the local vicinity, or demonstrate to the program's satisfaction the ability to be on campus on a daily basis and on short notice in order to fulfill responsibilities relating to in-person participation, office hours, and related activities for the duration of the fellowship (August 1, 2024 - July 1, 2025).

Application Deadline - Applicants should apply by Wednesday, November 1, 2023 (11:59 pm EST) for full consideration; however, posting will remain open until filled.

Application Process - All candidates must use the online application process to submit materials at: <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/30941>.

Applicants are required to hold a Ph.D. or expect to receive a Ph.D. degree by August 1, 2024, in one of the above-mentioned disciplines. To apply, please provide the following:

*Cover letter explaining the candidate's scholarly career, prospective or actual doctoral defense date, and academic interests;

*Current curriculum vitae, including publications;

*2,000-word description of the proposed research project, including its specific objectives, importance, and research design;

*One writing sample (limit of 50 pages);

*Contact information for three references, who will be asked to comment specifically on the applicant's qualifications for the proposed research project. Referees will be contacted directly by email with instructions for submitting a confidential recommendation on your behalf. Letters of reference are to be submitted by the end of business day on Saturday, November 4, 2023. Complete your application well before the deadline so that references can be submitted on time.

Salary - Rank and salary will be contingent on qualifications. NCGG Fellows will receive applicable Princeton University benefits, a taxable moving allowance, and a $5,000 research fund. This is a one-year appointment.

Successful applicants will be notified of the outcome of their application in February 2024. This position is subject to the University's background check policy.

For more information about the Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance fellowship program, please contact Jennifer Bolton, Assistant Director, at jbolton@princeton.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 11/1/2023

Date Posted: 8/7/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12220

Princeton University

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Associate Fellowship Program in Regional Political Economy

The Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance (NCGG) at Princeton University's School of Public and International Affairs invites applications for postdoctoral or more senior research associate positions from individuals with a Ph.D. degree or who expect to receive a Ph.D. degree by August 1, 2024, for the Postdoctoral Fellowship Program in regional political economy for the 2024-2025 academic year. This fellows' program aims to develop a generation of scholars able to analyze and make policy recommendations about the regional political economy in the Middle East, East, South and Southeast Asia, Africa, and Latin America. The Center welcomes applications from candidates with a background in economics, political science, contemporary history, sociology, law, business, and other disciplines bearing on the study of markets, politics, and economic development, focusing on the regions of the Middle East, East, South, or Southeast Asia, Africa and Latin America. Scholarly work should explore the ways in which the politics within and between a set of countries intersect with natural resource endowments, market conditions, technological and physical infrastructure, and cultural biases to explain existing patterns of economic development and promote higher levels of development more effectively. Selected candidates will be required to be in residence in Princeton or the local vicinity, or demonstrate to the program's satisfaction the ability to be on campus on a daily basis and on short notice in order to fulfill responsibilities relating to in-person participation, office hours, and the like for the duration of the fellowship (August 1, 2024 - July 1, 2025).

Application Deadline - Applicants should apply by Wednesday, November 1, 2023 (11:59 pm EST), for full consideration; however, posting will remain open until filled.

Application Process -All candidates must use the online application process to submit materials at: <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/30944>

Applicants are required to hold a Ph.D. in one of the above-mentioned disciplines or expect to receive a Ph.D. by August 1, 2024. To apply, please provide the following:

*Cover letter explaining the candidate's scholarly career, prospective or actual doctoral defense date, and academic interests;

*Current curriculum vitae, including publications;

*2,000-word description of the proposed research project, including its specific objectives, importance, and research design;

*One writing sample (limit of 50 pages);

*Contact information for three references, who will be asked to comment specifically on the applicant's qualifications for the proposed research project. Referees will be contacted directly by email with instructions for submitting a confidential recommendation on your behalf. Letters of reference are to be submitted by the end of business day (5 pm EST) on Saturday, November 4, 2023. Complete your application well before the deadline so that references can be submitted on time.

Salary - Rank and salary will be contingent on qualifications. NCGG Fellows will receive applicable Princeton University benefits, a taxable moving allowance, and a $5,000 research fund. This is a one-year appointment.

Successful applicants will be notified of the outcome of their application in February 2024. This position is subject to the University's background check policy.

For more information about the Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance fellowship program, please contact Jennifer Bolton, Assistant Director, at jbolton@princeton.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 11/1/2023

Date Posted: 8/7/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12218

Princeton University

Rank: Visiting Fellowship Program

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Public Policy

Specializations: Economic Policy, International Political Economy, International Law & Organizations

The Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance (NCGG) at Princeton University's School of Public and International Affairs seeks two or more visitors for the 2024-2025 academic year in the Visiting Fellowship Program. These awards are designed to promote basic research in the broad areas of international and comparative political economy, international organization and global governance, and globalization. Research on the causes and consequences of globalization, the political economy of foreign trade, monetary and regulatory policies, the sources of international cooperation at the global and regional level, the domestic and international politics of economic development, the political economy of human security issues, the evolution and impact of international institutions, and the politics of international law and human rights policies are of relevance.

Outstanding scholars anywhere in the world are eligible to apply. The Center invites candidates with a background in political science, economics, modern history, sociology, anthropology, law, business, and other disciplines bearing on the study of globalization to apply. Fellows will be required to be in residence in Princeton or the local vicinity, or demonstrate to the program's satisfaction the ability to be on campus daily for the duration of the fellowship (expected to be September 1, 2024 - July 1, 2025).

Application Deadline - Applicants should apply by Wednesday, November 1, 2023 (11:59 pm EST) for full consideration; however, posting will remain open until filled.

Application Process - All candidates must use the online application process to submit materials at: <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/31261>

Applicants are required to hold a Ph.D. in one of the above-mentioned disciplines. To apply, please provide the following:

*Cover letter explaining the candidate's scholarly career, prospective or actual doctoral defense date, and academic interests;

*Current curriculum vitae, including publications;

*2,000-word description of the proposed research project, including its specific objectives, importance, and research design;

*One writing sample (limit of 50 pages);

*Contact information for three references, who will be asked to comment specifically on the applicant's qualifications for the proposed research project. Referees will be contacted directly by email with instructions for submitting a confidential recommendation on your behalf. Letters of reference are to be submitted by the end of the business day (5 pm EST) on Saturday, November 4, 2023. Complete your application well before the deadline so that references can be submitted on time.

Candidates who hold positions at academic institutions may also be required to submit:

*Home institution policy with regard to sabbatical pay;

*Selected candidates will be asked to either submit a confidential statement indicating their salary for the current academic year (September 2023 - July 2024) or provide written authorization for Princeton to confirm their salary.

Salary - Rank and salary will be contingent on qualifications. NCGG Fellows will receive applicable Princeton University benefits, reimbursement of travel to/from Princeton, and a $10,000 research fund.

Successful applicants will be notified of the outcome of their application in February 2024.

For more information about the Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance fellowship program, please contact Jennifer Bolton, Assistant Director, at jbolton@princeton.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 11/1/2023

Date Posted: 8/7/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12219

Princeton University

Rank: Visiting Fellowship Program in Regional Political Economy

Specializations: Political Economy, Economic Policy, International Political Economy

The Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance (NCGG) at Princeton University's School of Public and International Affairs seeks two or more candidates for the Visiting Fellowship Program in Regional Political Economy for the 2024-2025 academic year. This fellows' program aims to develop a generation of scholars able to analyze and make policy recommendations about the regional political economy in the Middle East, East, South or Southeast Asia, Africa, and Latin America. Candidates with a background in economics, political science, contemporary history, sociology, law, business, and other disciplines bearing on the study of markets, politics, and economic development, focusing on the regions mentioned above, are invited to apply. Scholarly work should explore the ways in which the politics within and between a set of countries intersect with natural resource endowments, market conditions, technological and physical infrastructure, and cultural biases to explain existing patterns of economic development and to promote higher levels of development more effectively. Fellows will be required to be in residence in Princeton or the local vicinity, or demonstrate to the program's satisfaction the ability to be on campus daily and on short notice, to fulfill responsibilities relating to in-person participation for the duration of the fellowship (expected to be September 1, 2024 - July 1, 2025).

Application Deadline - Applicants should apply by Wednesday, November 1, 2023 (11:59 pm EST), for full consideration; however, posting will remain open until filled.

Application Process -All candidates must use the online application process to submit materials at: <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/31262>.

Applicants are required to hold a Ph.D. in one of the above-mentioned disciplines. To apply, please provide the following:

*Cover letter explaining the candidate's scholarly career, prospective or actual doctoral defense date, and academic interests;

*Current curriculum vitae, including publications;

*2,000-word description of the proposed research project, including its specific objectives, importance, and research design;

*One writing sample (limit of 50 pages);

*Contact information for three references, who will be asked to comment specifically on the applicant's qualifications for the proposed research project. Referees will be contacted directly by email with instructions for submitting a confidential recommendation on your behalf. Letters of reference are to be submitted by the end of the business day (5 pm EST) on Saturday, November 4, 2023. Complete your application well before the deadline so that references can be submitted on time.

Candidates who hold positions at academic institutions may also be required to submit:

*Home institution policy with regard to sabbatical pay;

*Selected candidates will be asked to either submit a confidential statement indicating their salary for the current academic year (September 2023 - July 2024) or provide written authorization for Princeton to confirm their salary.

Salary - Rank and salary will be contingent on qualifications. NCGG Fellows will receive applicable Princeton University benefits, reimbursement of roundtrip travel to/from Princeton, and a $10,000 research fund.

Successful applicants will be notified of the outcome of their application in February 2024.

For more information about the Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance fellowship program, please contact Jennifer Bolton, Assistant Director, at jbolton@princeton.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2024
Application Deadline: 11/1/2023
Date Posted: 8/7/2023
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 12217

Hamilton College

Rank: Assistant Professor of Government

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Policy, Public Administration

The Government Department at Hamilton College invites applications for three tenure-track positions at the rank of Assistant Professor, beginning July 1, 2024. The new hires will collectively cover courses in public policy, American politics, and research methods, allocated based on individual expertise. This coordinated hire is part of a commitment to nourishing a diverse learning community and increasing possibilities for exchange focused on issues related to equality and inequality. We actively encourage applications from candidates whose work investigates the politics and policy of equality and inequality along one or more of the following axes: race and ethnicity; gender; class; sexuality; ability; religion; and migrant, refugee, or citizenship status. We seek candidates trained in either or both quantitative and qualitative methods and with academic backgrounds in American Politics, Public Policy, or Public Administration. Beyond that, there are no restrictions on area focus.

We are seeking candidates who can demonstrate their experience in teaching or working with diverse student populations. Your cover letter should address ways in which you raise issues of diversity and inclusion in your teaching, scholarship, and/or service.

These positions require institutional service including academic advising of undergraduate students after the first year.

The Government Department is responsible for the study of politics and public affairs at Hamilton. The department, which is one of Hamilton's largest, currently includes 17 faculty members, 12 of whom are tenured or pre-tenure. Department faculty include specialists in American politics, comparative politics, international relations, political theory, and public policy, and we teach a wide variety of courses across all these subfields. Each year, we also hire two practitioners, each of whom teaches a single one-semester course. The Department offers three majors: Government, World Politics, and Public Policy. Taken together, these three majors total about 85 students a year.

Candidates with ABD will be considered (and hired at the Instructor level until successful completion of their dissertation), although candidates with a Ph.D. are preferred. The teaching load for these positions is four courses during the first year and five courses thereafter. The expected salary range for these positions is $88,000 to $94,100. Candidates should submit cover letter, c.v., a writing sample, evidence of teaching ability, and a list of references via Interfolio at <https://apply.interfolio.com/129439>. Questions regarding the search may be directed to Peter F. Cannavò, Search Committee Chair, at pcannavo@hamilton.edu. Our review of applications will begin on October 1, 2023.

Hamilton College is a residential liberal arts college located in upstate New York. The College has built its reputation on the teaching excellence and leading scholarship of its faculty, and on the academic distinction and intellectual curiosity of its approximately 2000 students who take advantage of Hamilton's open curriculum (<https://www.hamilton.edu/academics/open-curriculum>). Please visit the college website for more information (www.hamilton.edu).

Applicants with dual-career considerations can find other Hamilton and nearby academic job listings at <https://www.hercjobs.org/regions/higher-ed-careers-upstate-new-york/>, as well as additional information at <https://www.hamilton.edu/dof/faculty-development/resources-for-prospective-or-new-faculty/opportunities-for-spouses-or-partners> (Opportunities for Spouses or Partners). Hamilton provides domestic partner benefits.

Start Date: Fall 2024
Application Deadline: 10/1/2023
Date Posted: 8/1/2023
Salary: $90,000 - $99,999
eJobs ID: 12190

CUNY-Baruch College

Rank: Assistant Professor - International Security

Subfield(s): International Relations, Public Policy, American Government and Politics

The Austin W. Marx School of Public and International Affairs at Baruch College invites applications for an Assistant Professor (Marx School), tenure track, with a specialization in international security and technology. Areas of policy research could address cyber conflict, disinformation, military uses of AI, hybrid warfare, weapons proliferation, and other national security and global security challenges of the 21st century. Teaching responsibilities will include electives in a new Global Security concentration and core courses in the Master of International Affairs (MIA) program.

This position is part of an interdisciplinary cluster of new faculty across the College studying data science. Faculty in this cluster will prepare students to understand the threats and opportunities of the digital world. They will form an interdisciplinary data analytics group that will conduct high level research while simultaneously suffusing data science across all areas of the Baruch curriculum to improve student employment prospects.

Compensation and Benefits:
 90,134 - 99,532; Commensurate with qualifications and experience. CUNY offers faculty a competitive compensation and benefits package covering health insurance, pension and retirement benefits, paid parental leave, and savings programs. We also provide mentoring and support for research, scholarship, and publication as part of our commitment to ongoing faculty professional development.

Qualifications:
 Ph.D. degree in area(s) of experience or equivalent. Also required are the ability to teach successfully, demonstrated scholarship or achievement, and ability to cooperate with others for the good of the institution.

How to apply:
 Go to the CUNY website cuny.jobs to see the complete position description and job requirements in CUNYFirst under Job Opening ID #27080. You can view and apply for this job in CUNYFirst via the following direct link to the posting <https://cuny.jobs/new-yorkny/assistant-professor-of-policy-cyber-security/85CF44B277D7485D89E11ED06ABE4027/job/>

Candidate should provide:

- Cover letter explaining your interest in the position
- Curriculum vitae
- One recent scholarly publication or paper
- Statement of scholarship interest (1 page maximum)
- A narrative statement describing your commitment to working effectively with faculty, staff, and students in a multicultural/multiethnic urban campus environment with a substantial population of students who are among the first-generation of their family to attend a college or university. (1 page maximum)
- Reference list with contact information

Closing Date:

This position will be open until filled and review of applications will start on October 1, 2023.

EEO Statement:

CUNY encourages people with disabilities, minorities, veterans and women to apply. At CUNY, Italian Americans are also included among our protected groups. Applicants and employees will not be discriminated against on the basis of any legally protected category, including sexual orientation or gender identity. EEO/AA/Vet/Disability Employer.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/20/2023

Salary: $90,000 - $99,999

eJobs ID: 12119

Suffolk University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

Specializations: Race & Ethnic Politics, American Politics, African American Politics

The Political Science and Legal Studies (PSLS) Department at Suffolk University invites applicants for a full time, tenure-track position in American Politics and Public Policy. The Department is interested in recruiting a teacher scholar with a focus on civil rights and liberties, race and ethnic politics, the role of identity in politics, or the impact of economic, social, or political inequality on marginalized groups.

Candidates should provide evidence of commitment to excellent teaching and scholarly potential including a research agenda and plans for peer-reviewed publication. The successful candidate will teach at the undergraduate and graduate level; previous teaching experience is preferred. The PSLS department offers three undergraduate majors (political science, international relations, and law) and two graduate programs (Master's in Applied Politics and a Master's in Global Public Policy). We are looking for candidates who are excited about developing and teaching courses in American Politics, American Institutions and/or public policy. Research methods is also a need in the department.

The successful candidate will contribute to a rich tradition of community-engaged teaching and experiential education that prepares our diverse, substantially first-generation college students—40% of whom are Pell eligible—for careers and civic engagement. The successful candidate will have a commitment to inclusive pedagogy and curricular diversity, mentoring and advising students—especially first-generation college students—as well as conducting impactful research.

Not sure this is you? Contact us to find out! Research indicates that women and members of under-represented groups tend not to apply to jobs when they think they do not meet every qualification, when, in fact, they often do. Suffolk University is dedicated to a diverse and inclusive academic community. Familiarity with and experience using pedagogical methods that enable students across racial, ethnic, socio-economic, and ability groups to reach their maximum potential is a valuable qualification.

Faculty in the PSLS department are award-winning teachers recognized for innovative pedagogical practices, community leaders civically engaged in advancing social justice, internationally recognized policy and political consultants and active researchers and scholars. Department faculty take advantage of our location in the heart of Boston to design exciting real-world learning opportunities.

Diversity, equity and inclusion are woven into Suffolk University's very fabric. We have been providing access and expanding opportunities for under-represented groups for more than a century. This mission is lived through our decisions at every level. U.S. News ranked Suffolk University among the top 100 universities in the country for social mobility. Suffolk was also listed 14th nationally in percentage of international students. Through student, faculty and staff recruitment and support, community engagement, curriculum development, and research, the University community works to advance equity for every student, every day. Learn more about how we manifest the core values of our mission at Suffolk DEI.

Candidates must hold a PhD by the commencement of the 2024/2025 academic year; ABD candidates in the final stages of completing their degrees will be considered.

Application should be made through the Suffolk University Human Resources' Careers at Suffolk site. A complete submission will include: cover letter (including research agenda); CV; graduate transcripts; research writing sample; statement of teaching philosophy; student course evaluations; and contact information for three professional references. For full consideration, applications should be submitted by September 30. Initial interviews will be via Zoom followed by on-campus interviews. The department will also hold an information session at the 2023 APSA conference in August.

Suffolk University is a private, comprehensive, urban university located in downtown Boston, and is an equal opportunity employer committed to faculty diversity. Candidates from underrepresented groups are encouraged to apply. You can learn more about Suffolk University from our website. To learn more about the Political Science & Legal Studies department, go to our department website.

Inquiries about the position and the APSA information session should be addressed to Dr. Rachael Cobb, Chair of the PSLS Department at rcobb@suffolk.edu.

Start Date: Summer 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/13/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12094

University of Michigan-Ann Arbor

Rank: Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): Methodology, Public Policy, Political Theory

Specializations: Quantitative Methods, Science & Technology, Political Economy

The Center for the Study of Complex Systems (CSCS) at the University of Michigan seeks applicants for a tenure-track faculty position in complex systems science. The Center is a broad, interdisciplinary unit whose faculty use and develop tools from applied mathematics, computation, physics, statistics, engineering, and network theory to understand questions in the social, biological, and physical sciences. This is a University-year appointment at the Assistant Professor level. The expected start date is August 26, 2024.

Required Qualifications: We seek applicants with a research agenda focused on the development and/or application of complex systems models and/or methods. This may involve theoretical or applied research in areas of complex systems including (but not limited to) mathematical and computational work in network science, computational approaches in complex systems and related topics in computer science, social science, emergence and robustness, or scientific applications where complex systems theory lies at the core of the approach such as: quantitative modeling of biological and social systems, complex systems approaches to systemic racism and health disparities, biological and social evolution, artificial life, and cognition. We are particularly interested in candidates with a record of working across disciplines.

How to Apply: All applications must be uploaded here: <https://webapps.lsa.umich.edu/apply/1700>

This faculty position will be in the Center for the Study of Complex Systems or joint between Complex Systems and another academic department or school at the University of Michigan. If a joint appointment is preferred, candidates should suggest possible partner departments or schools. Complex Systems has a tradition of jointly appointed faculty across a wide range of schools and colleges at the University of Michigan, however both joint and 100% Complex Systems appointments will be considered. Applicants must submit a CV, a statement of current and future research plans, a statement of teaching philosophy and experience, and evidence of teaching excellence, if any. At least three letters of recommendation are required and must be uploaded by the letter writers to the same website. Finally, please include a diversity statement that demonstrates your commitment to diversity, equity, and inclusion through scholarship/research, and/or teaching/mentoring, and/or service/engagement. There may be some overlap with your research proposal and teaching statements (1-3 pages).

Review of applications will begin on October 1, 2023 and continue until the position is filled.

Offers for this appointment are contingent on successful completion of a background screening. The University of Michigan is supportive of the needs of dual career couples and is an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer. Women and minority groups are encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 10/1/2023

Date Posted: 7/12/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12090

Yale University

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellowships with the Leitner Program on Effective Democratic Governance at Yale, 2023-24

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Law, Public Policy

Specializations: Economic Policy, Political Economy, Regulatory Policy

Postdoctoral Fellowships with the Leitner Program on Effective Democratic Governance at Yale, 2023-24

Yale University's Leitner Program on Effective Democratic Governance housed at the Jackson School of Global Affairs is seeking applications for a Postdoctoral Associate with strong training in political economy and quantitative methods. We are interested in candidates who study the effects of regime type, electoral systems, and the rule of law on the economy with particular attention to economic growth, regulation, social protection, and the performance of financial markets." The Postdoctoral Associate will work with a Yale group led by Professor Ian Shapiro.

This is a full-time position. The Postdoctoral Associate will spend fifty percent of their time working collaboratively on this project and the other fifty percent pursuing their own research.

The appointment period will run for twelve months, starting in July 2023. Fellows will be expected to be in full-time residence at Yale for the duration of their appointment.

Applicants should submit a cover letter, CV, one page description of research plans, and two letters of recommendation. All information from the applicant should be submitted electronically through Interfolio at <http://apply.interfolio.com/118479>.

Compensation includes a salary of $65,000 for the duration of the appointment, health insurance, and other benefits afforded to postdoctoral associates at Yale. For more information see <https://your.yale.edu/enroll#pda>.

Review of applications will begin on December 15, 2022 and will continue until the position is filled.

For questions concerning this search, please contact larisa.satara@yale.edu

Start Date: Summer 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 12/8/2022

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 11487

Ramapo College of New Jersey

Rank: Assistant or Associate Professor of Political Science & Public Policy - 10 month - Tenure Track

Job Details

Title:

Assistant or Associate Professor of Political Science & Public Policy - 10 month - Tenure Track

Position Number:

641050

Position Type:

Faculty Tenure Track - 10 Month

Department:

SHGS

Posted Date:

10/06/2022

Position Type and Expected Hours of Work:

Full-time tenure-track - Starting August 30, 2023

Job Summary/Description:

RAMAPO COLLEGE OF NEW JERSEY:

Mission: Ramapo College of New Jersey is New Jersey's Public Liberal Arts College, dedicated to providing students with a strong foundation for a lifetime of achievement. The College is committed to academic excellence through interdisciplinary and experiential learning and international and intercultural understanding. Ramapo College emphasizes teaching and individual attention to all students. We promote diversity, inclusiveness, sustainability, student engagement, and community involvement.

Established in 1969, Ramapo College offers bachelor's degrees in the arts, business, humanities, social sciences, and the sciences, as well as in professional studies, which include business, elementary education, nursing, and social work. The College also offers articulated programs, including dental, optometry, chiropractic, and health professions, as well as visual arts therapy and law, with colleges and institutions in New Jersey and New York.

Undergraduate students may choose to concentrate their studies in one of five schools with over 500 course offerings and more than 40 academic programs. Ramapo College boasts an average student/faculty ratio of 15:1 and an average class size of 21, which allows students to develop close ties to the College's exceptional faculty

The School of Humanities and Global Studies aims to create a holistic educational experience that enables our students to become literate, intentional, and empowered global citizens who are prepared, not only in specific recognized fields but also in interdisciplinary dialogue. Through our varied offerings (in Anthropology, American Studies, Foreign Languages, History, International Studies, Literature, Political Science, Liberal Studies, and Philosophy), we seek to enhance students' understanding and appreciation of the complex cultural, political, and imaginative dimensions of human existence.

Our teaching, service, and scholarly or creative achievement combine to help our students develop their powers of reasoning, speaking, writing, and creativity, thus equipping them for the challenges of contemporary life. The School's faculty members are dedicated to teaching and scholarship, have traveled extensively and studied abroad, and have backgrounds in foreign languages, humanities, and social sciences.

EEO STATEMENT:

Ramapo College is an Affirmative Action/Equal Employment Opportunity Employer. Ramapo has a long history of advocating, advising, and supporting diversity, equity, and inclusiveness. Examples can be found in its mission statement, strategic plans, degree and course offerings, community outreach programs, and diversity programs. Ramapo's commitment to diversity and inclusion is infused across all facets of the College; where the environment is welcoming, dedicated to social justice, respectful of freedom of expression, focused on educating and having an ongoing conversation regarding cultural competence and the benefits and importance of diversity.

JOB SUMMARY:

Ramapo College of New Jersey invites applications for one assistant Professor or Associate Professor (tenure-track) position in Political Science and Public Policy. Primary teaching responsibilities include public policy courses in the Political Science program and in the Public Policy minor. Areas of policy research and methodology are open. Rank will depend on experience. The appointment will begin on August 30, 2023, subject to administrative and budgetary approval. Successful applicants must show commitment to teaching, the potential for success in scholarly achievement and productivity, commitment to service to the institution and community, and the ability to develop a public policy curriculum. The candidate must have a strong background in their discipline, as evidenced by publications, presentations, professional experience, external funding record, and/or their work as a Ph.D. candidate. Applicants whose work demonstrates a commitment to diversity and inclusion in higher education are particularly encouraged to apply.

Duties/Responsibilities:

Duties/Responsibilities:

Primary teaching responsibilities include six (6) courses per academic year within the Political Science major and Public Policy minor.

Develop courses and curriculum in public policy.

Develop policy-related student internships and co-curricular activities.

Demonstrate excellence in teaching and advising, professional and scholarly achievements, and a commitment to service to the institution and community.

Perform other duties as assigned.

Education/Experience:

Candidates must have earned a Ph.D. in Political Science or Public Policy by August 30, 2023, and must demonstrate the potential to be an excellent teacher, mentor, curriculum developer, and researcher in Political Science and Public Policy.

Application Process:

Applications will begin to be reviewed starting October 24, 2022. Apply through <https://www.ramapojobs.com/>. Inquiries may be directed to Professor Michael Unger, Search Committee Chair, School of Humanities & Global Studies (unger@ramapo.edu). To request accommodations, call (201) 684 - 7732. For more information about the Political Science program (major and minor) and the Public Policy minor at Ramapo College, please visit our webpage: <https://www.ramapo.edu/majors> - minors/majors/political - science/ and <https://www.ramapo.edu/majors> - minors/majors/public - policy.

Application Materials :

Cover letter

CV

Statement of teaching philosophy

Experience with curriculum development

One sample of research/scholarship

List of three references

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/7/2022

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 11128