

POLITICAL SCIENCE JOBS

Online journal from the American Political Science Association

August 2024 | Volume 13, Issue 08

ISSN 2167-8332

In this Issue

Career Resources

Finding a Job in Political Science 3

Job Listings

Administration 4

American Government and Politics 8

Comparative Politics 33

International Relations 57

Methodology 81

Non-Academic 88

Open 88

Other 97

Political Theory 112

Public Administration 124

Public Law 129

Public Policy 138

About the Journal

Published monthly by the American Political Science Association, Political Science Jobs is an online journal containing all active jobs in political science as listed in the APSA online job board eJobs. The combined resource of the Political Science Jobs journal and the daily updated and fully searchable eJobs platform provides a comprehensive employment resource for political science and supports a transparent, efficient, and ethically-grounded labor market for the discipline.

Access to the journal is made freely accessible to APSA's over 14,000 individual and departmental members within the US and around the world.

Submissions

Job listings may be submitted to the journal via the online eJobs platform at www.apsanet.org/jobs and applicable fees may apply.

Online Access: www.apsanet.org/jobs

The core content in this journal draws upon active listings within eJobs, linkages to association programs and career resources. Readers are encouraged to visit the eJobs website for daily updates on new job listings and candidate resumes, and use the online features including search tool to locate listings by field of interest, employer or candidate name, region, keyword, position, salary, institution type, and most recent submissions.

Copyright © 2012
American Political Science Association
All rights reserved

APSA does not grant permission to any individual or party to republish or otherwise distribute this journal or any portion therein in any print or electronic form.

POLITICAL SCIENCE JOBS

August 2024 | Volume 13, Issue 08

ISSN 2167-8332

Online journal from the American Political Science Association

In this Issue

Career Resources

Finding a Job in Political Science 3

Job Listings

Administration 4 (5 listings)

American Government and Politics 8 (40 listings)

Comparative Politics 33 (41 listings)

International Relations 57 (45 listings)

Methodology 81 (12 listings)

Non-Academic 88 (19 listings)

Open 88 (23 listings)

Other 97 (20 listings)

Political Theory 112 (6 listings)

Public Administration 124 (14 listings)

Public Law 129 (26 listings)

Public Policy 138 (listings)

Total listings this issue 251

Resources and Guidance on

Finding a Job in Political Science

Hundreds of academic positions are advertised each year in political science. Finding the openings is the easy part; knowing how to approach the application and interview process is a little more challenging. At APSA, we have collected resources to assist candidates in the academic job search. We would like to highlight a few of these key resources here. The complete list of job resources is available online at www.apsanet.org/jobs.

eJobs: This online resource contains comprehensive online listing of political science jobs, is updated daily with new job listings and candidate resumes, and is fully searchable by field of interest, name of employer/candidate, region, keyword, position, salary, type of institution, and most recent posts.

Data on Jobs Market: APSA gathers and releases data regarding the placement of political science Ph.Ds. View this information at www.apsanet.org/content_7623.cfm.

Mentoring: Enroll in the APSA Mentoring Program online at www.apsanet.org/mentoring.

eJobs Placement Interview Services: The eJobs Annual Meeting Placement Interview Service provides space and facilities for employers who have eJobs posted to interview candidates at the APSA meeting. Many other conferences, such as the Northeastern and Western, also use the APSA online service to schedule placement interviews. Check the listings online in eJobs.

Ethics Guide: The APSA Guide to Professional Ethics in Political Science includes specific guidance on hiring and employment practices. Order a print copy or view online at www.apsanet.org/ethics.

Asking the Right Questions: APSA Job Candidate Questions to Ask Program

Asking the right questions provides valuable information for career decisions. As part of the APSA Job Candidate Questions to Ask (JCQ) Program participating political science departments have agreed to answer the following questions from job candidates.

Salary

1. What is the salary structure?
2. How is salary normally negotiated?
3. How are annual increases handled?
4. Is there an automatic escalator to ensure the salaries of future hires will not outpace those of existing department members?

Service Activities

1. What are the expectations of pre-tenure and tenured faculty regarding:
 - departmental and institutional committee work,
 - professional or disciplinary activities, and
 - outreach activities to communities external to institution?

Research Support

1. What departmental or institutional resources are available to support:
 - access to research materials and equipment,
 - the employment of research assistants,
 - research expenses on/off campus, and
 - travel expenses for conferences?

2. What departmental or institutional resources are available to seek external funding and to administer external funding awards?

Teaching Support

1. What departmental or institutional resources are available to support:
 - the development of teaching expertise,
 - innovations in teaching, and
 - the introduction of new courses and new technologies?
2. What are departmental expectations regarding:
 - the average course load,
 - the number of different courses taught by faculty, and
 - advising of graduate and undergraduate students?

Tenure, Renewal, and Annual Review

1. What policies and procedures govern the granting of tenure, renewal of contracts for pre-tenure faculty, and annual reviews of faculty performance?
2. What are the department's expectations for successful performance leading to the granting of tenure or renewal of contracts for pre-tenure faculty?
3. What are the department's expectations for a positive annual review?

Mentoring and Faculty Support Initiatives

1. What attention does the department give to integrating new faculty into the department, the institution, and in the profession?
2. Does the department or institution have programs that address:
 - the employment of dual-career professional couples,
 - family needs of faculty and staff, and
 - issues associated with minority faculty and staff?

Health and Life Insurance

1. What are the plans offered?
2. How are benefits disbursed?
3. What are the out-of-pocket expenses?
4. Are partners and/or children covered, and to what extent?
5. What portion of my paycheck will be deducted for these benefits?

Retirement

1. How many types of retirement plans are offered?
2. What is the matching percentage of the institution?
3. Is contribution required (and how much)?

More on the APSA Job Candidate Questions to Ask (JCQ) Program

For more information about the JCQ program and to view the departments who agreed to answer these questions at www.apsanet.org/JCQ.

Political Science Jobs for August

ADMINISTRATION

University of South Carolina

Rank: Department Chair

Chair, Department of Political Science
College of Arts and Sciences
University of South Carolina, Columbia

The College of Arts and Sciences at the University of South Carolina (USC) invites nominations and applications for the position of Chair of the Department of Political Science to begin August 16, 2025. The appointment will be at the rank of Full Professor, tenurable in the department of Political Science within the College of Arts and Sciences. We seek a dynamic scholar and visionary leader with a Ph.D. in political science, or a related social science discipline, plus years of academic experience as required by policy for faculty rank. The faculty position will be on a 9-month pay basis, converted to an 11-month pay basis as Department Chair.

The Department of Political Science has 21 faculty members, including some with joint or affiliate appointments with other departments and colleges, as well as a full-time staff of professional student advisors. The faculty are committed to excellence in research and teaching befitting a Research 1 University. The Dean is committed to growing the tenure track faculty in the department over the coming years. The department currently enrolls about 35 Ph.D. students, 50 Masters level students between its M.A. in International Affairs and accredited Master of Public Administration programs, and has more than 800 undergraduate majors. The department offers an undergraduate internship program and several experiential learning opportunities, including an adolescent mentoring program and a NSF funded Research Experience for Undergraduates (REU) program. For more information about the department, please visit our website at: https://sc.edu/study/colleges_schools/artsandsciences/political_science/

The department chair provides academic and administrative leadership within the department and is responsible for spearheading the unit's strategic goals, overseeing the budget, facilitating the academic programs (including undergraduate, Masters, and doctoral degree programs), communicating with internal and external personnel for development purposes, and supporting faculty in efforts to secure external funds. Qualifications include administrative expertise and the demonstrated ability to work collaboratively with faculty, staff, and students, consistent with the expectations and mission of a Research 1 University. Candidates should have a strong record of scholarly achievement and teaching excellence commensurate with appointment as a tenured Full Professor, as the chair is expected to maintain an active research agenda and teach and mentor undergraduate and graduate students.

At the University of South Carolina, we strive to cultivate an inclusive environment that is open, welcoming, and supportive of individuals of all backgrounds. We recognize diversity in our workforce is essential to providing academic excellence and critical to our sustainability. The University is committed to eliminating barriers created by institutional discrimination through accountability and continuous process improvement. We celebrate the diverse voices, perspectives, and experiences of our employees.

The University of South Carolina is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Institution. Women, minorities, protected veterans, and individuals with disabilities are encouraged to apply. The University of South Carolina does not discriminate in educational or employment opportunities or decisions for qualified persons on the basis of age, ancestry, citizenship status, color, disability, ethnicity, familial status, gender (including transgender), gender identity or expression, genetic information, HIV/AIDS status, military status, national origin, pregnancy (false pregnancy, termination of pregnancy, childbirth, recovery therefrom or related medical conditions, breastfeeding), race, religion (including religious dress and grooming practices), sex, sexual orientation, veteran status, or any other bases under federal, state, local law, or regulations.

How to Apply

All applicants must apply online at USCJobs at <https://uscjobs.sc.edu>. Review of applications will begin October 1, 2024 and will continue until the position is filled. Applications must include a cover letter, statement of leadership philosophy, CV, and contact information for three references. References will only be contacted for candidates on the short list.

Please send any nominations to Brent Simpson, (bts@sc.edu), incoming Interim Department Chair and Chair of the Search Committee, by September 15. Any questions about the position should also be sent to Brent Simpson.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/23/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14520

Pennsylvania State University

Rank: Assistant Research Professor

REQ_0000058029 Assistant Research Professor, Center for Social Data Analytics

The Center for Social Data Analytics (C-SoDA) at The Pennsylvania State University invites applications for an Assistant Research Professor with a specialty in data and/or computationally intensive social research to start as soon as possible.

Methodological areas of specialization relevant to the position include, but are not limited to, text analysis, computational statistics, causal inference, network analysis, and machine learning.

The Assistant Research Professor will serve as the Assistant Director of C-SoDA and will be supervised by C-SoDA's Director.

The job responsibilities will include conducting individual research, collaborating on projects led by C-SoDA-affiliated faculty, and taking the lead on external grant proposals to secure funding for research projects.

Additional responsibilities include engaging in service efforts at C-SoDA and in collaboration with the Social Science Research Institute to support researchers and students working with cutting-edge quantitative methods. Service for C-SoDA will also involve managing graduate student researchers, assisting C-SoDA-affiliated researchers in utilizing high-performance computing resources on campus, and contributing to the center's administrative tasks and grant proposal preparations.

A PhD in Political Science or related field is required by the appointment date. In addition, successful candidates must either have demonstrated a commitment to building an inclusive, equitable, and diverse campus community, or describe one or more ways they would envision doing so, given the opportunity.

Penn State scholars participate extensively in the intellectual life of the Center, including opportunities to attend seminars and workshops and present research results. Salary is competitive, with additional funds available for travel and research.

To apply, submit a cover letter explaining research and any administrative experience, a current CV, and two samples of scholarly writing.

System limitations allow for a total of 5 documents (5mb per document) as part of your application. Please combine materials to meet the 5-document limit.

Additionally, please arrange for three confidential letters of reference to be sent directly to plsapplications@psu.edu and plscapplications@psu.edu. Application review will begin immediately and continue until the position is filled.

This non-tenure-line position is a full-time, term appointment, with an excellent possibility of renewal.

For more information on C-SoDA, please visit <https://soda.la.psu.edu/>.

Penn State offers competitive benefits to full-time employees, including medical, dental, vision, and retirement plans, in addition to 75% tuition discounts (including for a spouse and dependent children up to the age of 26) and paid holidays. Please visit <https://hr.psu.edu/benefits>.

The College of the Liberal Arts is committed to offering professional growth and promotional opportunities for non-tenure-line faculty appointments. Information on faculty ranks and progression can be found at <https://policy.psu.edu/policies/ac21>.

Penn State is committed to and accountable for advancing diversity, equity, and inclusion in all of its forms. We embrace individual uniqueness, foster a culture of inclusion that supports both broad and specific diversity initiatives, leverage the educational and institutional benefits of diversity, and engage all individuals to help them thrive. We value inclusion as a core strength and an essential element of our public service mission.

To apply, please visit https://psu.wd1.myworkdayjobs.com/PSU_Academic/job/Penn-State-University-Park/Assistant-Research-Professor--Center-for-Social-Data-Analytics_REQ_0000058029-1.

To review the Annual Security Report which contains information about crime statistics and other safety and security matters and policies, please go to <https://www.police.psu.edu/annual-security-reports>, which will also explain how to request a paper copy of the Annual Security Report.

Penn State is an equal opportunity, affirmative action employer, and is committed to providing employment opportunities to all qualified applicants without regard to race, color, religion, age, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability or protected veteran status.

Start Date:
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 7/18/2024
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 14507

University of Colorado, Boulder
Rank: Visiting Scholar in Conservative Thought and Policy

Application Link:
<https://jobs.colorado.edu/jobs/JobDetail/Visiting-Scholar-in-Conservative-Thought-and-Policy/56999>

Visiting Scholar in Conservative Thought and Policy

Department: 10850 - Benson Center
 Requisition Number: 56999
 Location: Boulder, Colorado
 Employment Group: Faculty
 Schedule: Full-Time
 Posting Date: 07/01/2024
 Posting Close Date: 12/01/2024

Job Summary
 The College of Arts and Sciences at the University of Colorado Boulder invites applications for the position of Visiting Scholar in Conservative Thought and Policy (VSCPT). We seek a highly visible individual who is eminent in their field and deeply engaged with the intellectual tradition or practice of conservative thought and policy-making, or both. The term of the appointment is variable, with a minimum of two up to a maximum of four semesters. The position begins August 2025.

Who We Are
 The mission of the Benson Center is to explore the culture, languages and ideas of the Western tradition, ranging from antiquity to modernity society. The Center is especially concerned with the values that emerge from that tradition, and their ongoing role in the institutions of the United States. Integral to this mission is the Center’s commitment to fostering research, debate and dialogue on the fundamental issues of our time – moral, political and economic. Our aim is to promote a lively and balanced conversation that respects both conservative and liberal ideals, thus fostering the full diversity of political, economic and philosophical perspectives on the CU Boulder campus.

What Your Key Responsibilities Will Be
 The Visiting Scholar will continue an open and vigorous dialogue on campus featuring the principles of conservatism in historical and contemporary contexts. Specific duties include teaching undergraduate courses, delivering public lectures, and organizing visiting speakers and events.

What You Should Know
 The successful candidate will receive a senior professorial appointment, without tenure, in the College of Arts and Sciences. Faculty with previous University teaching experience will be hired as Visiting (rank) Professor. Those without previous experience as a faculty member will be hired as a Visiting Scholar.

What We Can Offer
 The hiring salary for this 100% position is between $185,000 and $225,000, commensurate with experience.

A signing bonus may be available per departmental guidelines.
 ?The compensation package is competitive, including relocation subsidy, dedicated budget, and administrative assistance.
 ?Benefits are available including medical, dental, and life insurance, as well as tax deferred annuity (optional savings plans – 403B, 457, 401k). An Eco Pass (for the bus system) will also be provided.
 Be groundbreaking. Be creative. Be Boulder.

What We Require

??Candidates are expected to have a Ph.D. at the time of appointment.?

What You Will Need

This is a senior position intended for professionals who are advanced in their careers.
 ?Candidates are expected to be highly visible scholars who are deeply engaged in either the analytical scholarship or practice of conservative thinking and policymaking or both.?

Special Application Instructions

To apply, please submit the following materials:

Resume/CV

Cover Letter??

During the application process you will need to enter contact information for three references who will be contacted to provide letters of recommendation as the search progresses.

?Full consideration will be given to applications received by October 2, 2024. Position will remain open until filled.

?Note: Application materials will not be accepted via email. For consideration, applications must be submitted through CU Boulder Jobs.?

Posting Contact Name: Boulder Campus Human Resources

Posting Contact Email: Recruiting@colorado.edu

The University of Colorado is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer

Application Link:

<https://jobs.colorado.edu/jobs/JobDetail/Visiting-Scholar-in-Conservative-Thought-and-Policy/56999>

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 12/1/2024

Date Posted: 7/4/2024

Salary: Above $159,999

eJobs ID: 14472

University of Colorado, Boulder

Rank: Visiting Researcher

Application Link:

<https://jobs.colorado.edu/jobs/JobDetail/Visiting-Researcher/56833>

Visiting Researcher

Department: 10596 - Benson Center

Requisition Number: 56833

Location: Boulder, Colorado

Employment Group: Research Faculty

Schedule: Full-Time

Posting Date: 07/01/2024

Posting Close Date: 05/31/2025

Job Summary

The Benson Center for the Study of Western Civilization invites applications for sabbatical researchers to visit and serve as Sabbatical Fellows on an ongoing basis. Faculty in fields or with sabbatical projects relating to politically heterodox programs, ideas and activities are especially encouraged to apply. Sabbatical Fellows are expected to make progress on a substantial research progress during their time in residence. In addition, they are encouraged to participate in the various activities of the Center, including faculty and student seminars, colloquia, and public lectures. Sabbatical Fellows will be appointed as a Visiting Researcher, given office space in the Center, and University of Colorado privileges. The anticipated state date is August 2025.

Who We Are

The mission of the Benson Center is to explore the culture, languages and ideas of the Western tradition, ranging from antiquity to modernity. The Center is especially concerned with the values that emerge from that tradition, and their ongoing role in the institutions of the United States. Integral to this mission is the Center's commitment to fostering research, debate and dialogue on the fundamental issues of our time – moral, political and economic. Our aim is to promote a lively and balanced conversation that respects both conservative and liberal ideals, thus fostering the full diversity of political, economic and philosophical perspectives on the CU Boulder campus.

What Your Key Responsibilities Will Be

Work on faculty research that relates to the Benson Center's mission to promote critical reflection on the distinctive traditions and political perspectives that characterize Western Civilization. The visiting researcher will be asked to participate in Center activities throughout the academic year. Faculty in fields or with sabbatical projects related to conservative programs, projects, and/or activities of the Center are eligible to apply.

What We Can Offer

Applicants should make every effort to bring their own funding to remain in residence. If such support is not possible, candidates with part-time support can apply for additional support from the Benson Center to match the home institution's contribution (for instance, one semester of salary support to match the home institution's sabbatical salary, plus a yearlong appointment in the Benson Center). If external funding is not available, the Benson Center will provide a monthly salary between $6,000 - $10,000 for a full-time position, dependent on experience. Relocation expenses may be available, as well as dedicated funds to support travel and research expenses. Signing bonus and incentive pay may be available, depending on the candidate's experience and Center funding. Benefits will be provided for 50% time or greater appointments, including medical, dental, and life insurance, as well as tax deferred annuity (optional savings plans – 403B, 457, 401k). An Eco Pass (for the bus system) will also be provided.

Be impactful. Be creative. Be Boulder.

What We Require

Completed Ph.D., or a doctoral degree in progress with a dissertation defense date scheduled.

Special Application Instructions

To apply, please submit the following materials:

Resume/CV

Cover letter indicating how your work will fit in with the Benson Center's mission (up to 3 pages)

Executive summary of your proposed project (up to 200 words)

Statement of Financial Support – statement indicating the sort of financial support needed. Statement of financial report should include what kind of financial support applicant is looking for, and if any financial support is offered from the home institution.

During the application process, you will need to enter contact information for three references. We will request a letter of recommendation and additional materials, if needed, as the search progresses.

Applications will be evaluated on the basis of their appropriateness to the mission of the Center

Position will remain open until filled but is set to close by May 31, 2025.

Note: Application materials will not be accepted via email. For consideration, please apply through CU Boulder Jobs.

Posting Contact Name: Boulder Campus Human Resources

Posting Contact Email: Recruiting@colorado.edu

The University of Colorado is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer

Application Link:

<https://jobs.colorado.edu/jobs/JobDetail/Visiting-Researcher/56833>

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 5/31/2025

Date Posted: 7/4/2024

Salary: $110,000 - $119,999

eJobs ID: 14473

Simon Fraser University

Rank: Teaching Faculty Lecturer in International Security, Defence & Diplomacy, with support for the NATO Field School Specializations: International Security, Defense, Intelligence

The Department of Political Science invites applications for a continuing Lecturer position in International Security, Defence and Diplomacy. The candidate will provide teaching and support to the NATO Field School (NFS) and teach introductory courses in Political Science and courses in their areas of expertise. The position will start when filled; preferred starting date is January 2025.

We seek candidates who have a strong background in International Security, Defence, and/or Diplomacy, as well as outstanding teaching skills in a diversity of classroom settings. Relevant experiences in experiential learning (hands-on learning, field exercises, summer schools, simulations, case studies, role-play exercises, peer group learning, etc.) are an asset.

Duties

The successful candidate will collaborate with the NFS Director in preparing and teaching the NFS. The NFS is a growing teaching and engagement endeavour with an emphasis on professional placement of its graduates.

In Political Science, the standard course load for lecturers is eight courses per year. The Collective Agreement stipulates that teaching faculty are to be released from their teaching duties one out every nine terms. This position will likely be paired with an additional role – involving logistical and administrative tasks to support the NFS – that will reduce the overall teaching load based on the level of support.

The NATO Field School and Simulation Program is an intensive political science experience that combines coursework with experiential learning. As one of the lead instructors, you are expected to:

- Act as a liaison between SFU and NATO, working closely with the Director.
- Accompany and guide students during their field school experience
- The NFS is held in Europe every summer. The candidate will be expected to travel for up to eight weeks per year in summer to support the field school.
- Help to set up the logistics and with recruitment and financial reporting for the field school.
- Teach courses and prepare lectures relevant to the topic.
- Set up simulations and other exercises to help students prepare for the field school.

Required Qualifications:

- The chosen candidate must hold a PhD in Political Science or in a related field, with research and/or teaching experience in Defence, Diplomacy, and/or International Security. Candidates with firm defence dates by December 2024 may be considered
- Candidates should have demonstrated teaching experience and potential for teaching excellence

Desirable Qualifications:

The following attributes will be considered as additional assets for the position:

- Academic expertise in at least one of the following areas: NATO; international institutions; interstate conflict, diplomacy and negotiations; North American security and defence; Indo-Pacific security and defence; alliances and multilateral security cooperation; interstate conflict, Canadian foreign policy; cyber information warfare and artificial intelligence
- Teaching experience in experiential and engagement courses, including field schools and security simulations for university students
- Professional experience in defence, diplomacy or international relations
- Related publications
- Teaching experience in large classes introductory classes particularly introductory courses in International Relations and Political Science

Candidates must submit the following documents in a single PDF to pol_apply@sfu.ca:

- Cover letter
- Curriculum vitae
- Teaching portfolio demonstrating teaching excellence in experiential learning and simulations and discussing candidate's approach to equity, diversity and inclusion
- List of three possible referees, to be contacted if the candidate is short-listed

Full consideration will be given to applications submitted by September 5, 2024, however, we will continue to accept applications until the position is filled. Short-listed candidates will be contacted to have three letters of reference forwarded directly to the department via email at pol_apply@sfu.ca

Faculty salaries at SFU are based on the salary scales bargained between the University and the SFU Faculty Association. A reasonable estimate of the salary range for this role is $98,340 to $114,241.

Simon Fraser University is an institution whose strength is based on our shared commitment to diversity, equity, and inclusion. Diversity is an underlying principle of our Strategic Vision, which pledges SFU to “foster a culture of inclusion and mutual respect, celebrating the diversity reflected among its students, faculty, staff, and our community.” SFU is committed to ensuring that no individual is denied access to employment opportunities for reasons unrelated to ability or qualifications. Consistent with this principle, SFU will advance the interests of underrepresented members of the work force, including Indigenous peoples, persons with disabilities, racialized persons, and women; embrace gender and sexual diversity; ensure that equal opportunity is afforded to all who seek employment at the University; and treat all employees equitably. Candidates that belong to underrepresented groups are particularly encouraged to apply.

SFU is consistently ranked among the top comprehensive universities in Canada and was recently ranked in the top 50 in the world for engaged research. The Department of Political Science at SFU has a growing number of faculty in diverse fields and is strongly supportive of faculty members’ strengths, interests, and career progress. The department strongly believes in methodological pluralism. More information about the department and the university can be found on our website: <http://www.sfu.ca/politics.html>. The campus is located on Burnaby Mountain in Greater Vancouver. Vancouver is a scenic waterfront city located minutes from the mountains and a wide range of outdoor activities. It has a reputation as a clean, safe, multicultural, and ethnically diverse city and is one of the very top cities in the world in which to live and work.

All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply; however, Canadian citizens and permanent residents will be given priority. This position is subject to the availability of funding.

Personal information that forms part of an application is collected under the general authority of the Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy Act, applicable University Policies, and the SFUFA/SFU Collective Agreement. For further details see the full Collection Notice.

Please submit all inquiries and application materials to pol_apply@sfu.ca

Start Date: Winter 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/20/2024

Salary: Any

eJobs ID: 14427

AMERICAN GOVERNMENT AND POLITICS

United States Air Force Academy

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science, US Politics

Specializations: Political Psychology, Political Behavior, Race & Ethnic Politics

The Department of Political Science at the United States Air Force Academy invites applications for a Tenure-Track Assistant Professor position focusing on U.S. Politics beginning June 2025. Candidates with teaching and research interests in any U.S. Politics subfield are encouraged to apply though we are especially interested in candidates with an expertise in American Political Behavior/Political Psychology or U.S. political institutions. This could include research related to race and ethnicity, economic or educational inequality, or gender politics, but it is not limited to these areas. Additionally, we encourage candidates with an interest in teaching research methods to apply. Responsibilities include teaching upper division U.S. politics courses and taking a lead role in the USAFA American government core course; maintaining a strong record of teaching and research; academic advising; and service to the department and Academy.

The United States Air Force Academy, located just north of Colorado Springs, Colorado, awards the Bachelor of Science degree as part of its mission to educate, train, and inspire people to become officers of character, motivated to lead the United States Air Force in service to our nation. The Federal Government is an equal opportunity employer. The United States Air Force Academy is committed to building a culturally diverse educational environment. Applicants are requested to include in their cover letter information about how they will further this goal. USAFA’s Department of Political Science homepage is found at <https://www.usafa.edu/department/political-science/>

To apply, either go to <https://www.usajobs.gov/job/802392200> or go to www.usajobs.gov then type in “United States Air Force Academy, CO” in the “Location” box, and scroll down until you find this position. The deadline for applications is Oct 15, 2024. A doctorate in Political Science or a related field by the start date and U.S. citizenship are required. Essential qualities expected of every faculty member include the personal attributes of integrity, industry, cooperation, initiative, and breadth of intellectual interests.

Start Date: Summer 2025

Application Deadline: 9/15/2024

Date Posted: 8/1/2024

Salary: $100,000 - $109,999

eJobs ID: 14563

Boston College

Rank: Assistant Professor in American Politics

The Political Science Department at Boston College seeks a tenure-track assistant professor in American politics beginning Fall 2025. The position is open as to specialty and approach. The Department has multiple needs, but we have a particular interest in scholars of civic politics, parties, and political participation. The Boston College political science department seeks candidates who ask substantively important political questions and are committed to both producing the high-level scholarship expected at a Ph.D.-granting R1 institution and to undergraduate teaching in an institutional culture that values liberal and civic education.

We expect applicants to complete the PhD no later than the summer of 2025.

Interested candidates should send a letter of introduction, curriculum vitae, three confidential letters of recommendation, graduate transcript, and writing sample to apply.interfolio.com/150752. Three confidential letters of recommendation should be uploaded to Interfolio by the individual letter writers. We will not accept any applications by email nor by U.S.P.S.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 10/1/2024
Date Posted: 7/31/2024
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 14568

Stanford University

Rank: American Politics, Senior Rank Faculty Position in Political Science

The Department of Political Science at Stanford University seeks applicants for a senior appointment at the rank of Associate Professor or Professor. The preferred area of specialty is American Politics. Applicants must have demonstrated the ability to maintain a world-class research program and a commitment to effective teaching and mentoring. The successful candidate must have a Ph.D. in a related field and will be expected to teach and advise students at both the graduate and undergraduate levels. The term of appointment is expected to begin on September 1, 2025.

Candidates should apply through Stanford Faculty Positions (<https://facultypositions.stanford.edu/en-us/job/494753/american-politics-senior-rank-faculty-position-in-political-science>) and submit

- a cover letter
- curriculum vitae (including a publication list)
- a research and teaching statement (no more than three single-spaced pages)
- teaching evaluations

The Department of Political Science, School of Humanities and Sciences and Stanford University value faculty who will help foster an inclusive academic environment for colleagues, students, and staff with a wide range of backgrounds, identities, and outlooks. Candidates may choose to include as part of their research and teaching statements a brief discussion about how their work and experience will further these ideals.

The salary range for this position is $175,000 – $350,000 for academic year 2024–25.

Stanford University has provided a pay range representing its good faith estimate of what the university reasonably expects to pay for the position. The pay offered to the selected candidate will be determined based on factors including (but not limited to) the qualifications of the selected candidate, budget availability, and internal equity.

Further information about Stanford's Department of Political Science may be found at <https://politicalscience.stanford.edu/>. Inquiries may be directed to Natalie Badalov, Faculty Affairs Coordinator, nbadalov@stanford.edu.

Review of applications will begin on September 8th, 2024; later applications may be considered at the discretion of the search committee.

Stanford is an equal employment opportunity and affirmative action employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law. Stanford welcomes applications from all who would bring additional dimensions to the University's research, teaching, and clinical mission.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 10/15/2024
Date Posted: 7/31/2024
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 14569

Agnes Scott College

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of Political Science at Agnes Scott College invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track position at the Assistant Professor level to begin in Fall 2025. The position requires specialization in American institutions, policy, and/or law. Preference will be given to candidates who may be able to teach courses in international law and organizations as well. Successful candidates should expect to offer courses that will contribute to other programs at the college, such as International Relations and Human Rights, and will also serve ASC's pre-law students. Such courses would also contribute to the Summit program, the College's general education on global learning and leadership curriculum. Applicants should have a Ph.D. in Political Science (ABDs will be considered), as well as evidence of effective and inclusive teaching and a robust research and publication agenda. A commitment to serve a diverse student population is required.

To apply, email the following to Professor Eleanor Morris through faculty@agnesscott.edu:

- ? Cover letter that outlines the candidate's qualifications in research and teaching
- ? Curriculum vitae
- ? Three (3) letters of recommendation
- ? Unofficial graduate transcript(s)
- ? Research statement
- ? Statement on teaching philosophy
- ? Teaching evaluations
- ? Writing sample

Review of applications will start October 1, 2024 and continue until the position is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/30/2024

Salary: Any

eJobs ID: 14554

Stanford University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science - American Politics

The Department of Political Science at Stanford University seeks applications for a tenure line position at the rank of assistant professor in American Politics. Candidates should demonstrate the capacity for a high-quality research trajectory and a commitment to excellence in teaching at both graduate and undergraduate levels. Candidates must have a PhD or be enrolled in a PhD program or equivalent international degree-granting program at the time of application, with expected degree completion by date of appointment as an assistant professor. Candidates will be expected to teach and advise students at both the graduate and undergraduate levels. The term of appointment is expected to begin on September 1, 2025.

Candidates should apply through Stanford Faculty Positions and submit

- a cover letter

- curriculum vitae (including a complete publication list)
- a research and teaching statement (no more than three single-spaced pages)
- teaching evaluations
- writing sample
- three professional letters of recommendation

The Department of Political Science, School of Humanities & Sciences, and Stanford University value faculty who will help foster an inclusive academic environment for colleagues, students, and staff with a wide range of backgrounds, identities, and outlooks. Candidates may choose to include as part of their research and teaching statements a brief discussion about how their work and experience will further these ideals.

The salary range for this position is $135,000 – $145,000, for academic year 2024–25.

Stanford University has provided a pay range representing its good faith estimate of what the university reasonably expects to pay for the position. The pay offered to the selected candidate will be determined based on factors including (but not limited to) the qualifications of the selected candidate, budget availability, and internal equity.

Further information about Stanford's Department of Political Science may be found at <https://politicalscience.stanford.edu/>. Inquiries may be directed to Natalie Badalov, Faculty Affairs Coordinator, nbadalov@stanford.edu.

Review of applications will begin on September 8th, 2024, but applications may be considered after that date at the discretion of the search committee.

Stanford is an equal employment opportunity and affirmative action employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law. Stanford welcomes applications from all who would bring additional dimensions to the University's research, teaching, and clinical missions.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 10/15/2024

Date Posted: 7/30/2024

Salary: $130,000 - $139,999

eJobs ID: 14555

Princeton University

Rank: Postdoctoral Associate

Princeton University's Initiatives for Contemporary European Affairs (ICEA) through Princeton School of Public and International and the Department of Politics hosts postdoctoral associate positions for twelve-month appointment anticipated to start September 2, 2025. ICEA welcomes applications from social scientists who specialize in comparative politics and whose research includes a focus on European politics.

Research associates will pursue research and contribute to the intellectual life of ICEA, the Department of Politics, and the Princeton School of Public and International Affairs. To fully participate in the daily intellectual life of the university, they will be required to be in residence in Princeton or the local vicinity.

Successful candidates will receive a competitive salary and applicable Princeton University benefits in accordance with university guidelines, a taxable moving allowance, and a research allowance. PhD is required.

Applicants must apply online and submit a CV, a 3-5 page (double-spaced) statement of research interest/research proposal, a writing sample, and the names of two (and not more than two) references. A cover letter is optional.

The deadline for receipt of complete applications is November 4, 2024, at 11:59 p.m. EST. Referees will be contacted directly by email with instructions for submitting a confidential recommendation on your behalf. Letters of reference are to be submitted by November 8, 2024 11:59 p.m. EST. Please complete your application well before the deadline so that references can be submitted in a timely manner. This position is subject to the University's background check policy. The work location for this position is in-person on campus at Princeton University.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 11/4/2024

Date Posted: 7/29/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14549

Princeton University

Rank: Visiting Research Scholar

Princeton University's Initiatives for Contemporary European Affairs (ICEA) hosts a Visiting Research Scholar Program for faculty members applying to spend their academic leave year with ICEA. ICEA welcomes applications from social scientists who specialize in comparative politics and whose research includes a focus on European politics. ICEA visiting scholar positions are restricted to employed scholars on leave who are expected to return to their positions.

Visiting scholars will pursue research and contribute to the intellectual life of ICEA, the Department of Politics, and the Princeton School of Public and International Affairs. To fully participate in the daily intellectual life of the university, they will be required to be in residence in Princeton or the local vicinity, or to demonstrate to the program's satisfaction the ability to be on campus on a daily basis and on short notice.

Visiting scholars from academic institutions often receive up to one-half of their academic-year salaries from their home institutions for the appointment period. The amount that Princeton contributes to the scholar's salary is based on the financial support provided by their home institution. Selected candidates will be asked to indicate, or provide written authorization for Princeton to confirm, what percentage of financial support their home institution and other sources are likely to provide during their visit, if any, and to submit a confidential statement indicating salary for the current academic year (September 1, 2024 – July 1, 2025) or provide written authorization for Princeton to confirm their salary; they will also be asked to provide a statement of their home institution's leave policy. Successful candidates will receive applicable benefits, travel to and from Princeton, and a research allowance.

Verification of employment will be requested prior to approval by the Office of the Dean of the Faculty. PhD or equivalent doctoral degree required. Applicants must apply online and submit a CV, a 3-5 page (double-spaced) statement of research interest/research proposal, a writing sample. A cover letter is optional. The deadline for receipt of complete applications is November 4, 2024, at 11:59 p.m. EST.

The work location for this position is in-person on campus at Princeton University.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 11/4/2024

Date Posted: 7/29/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14550

Santa Clara University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science (American Politics, with an emphasis on Law and Courts)

Position Type: Regular

Salary Range:

The salary range for this position is $85,947 to $95,410, depending on the successful candidate's years of teaching experience at the college-level. The position comes with generous benefits (scu.edu/hr/benefits), including medical, dental, vision, and life insurance, and university contributions toward retirement. Recognizing the high cost of housing in the local area, there are two University housing assistance programs: Rental assistance to ease the transition into the local housing market, and housing purchase assistance for tenure-stream faculty. For details, go to <https://www.scu.edu/provost/policies-and-procedures/support-for-faculty/housing-assistance/> ?

PURPOSE:

The Department of Political Science at Santa Clara University, a Jesuit, Catholic university, seeks applicants for a tenure-track assistant professor position in American Politics, with an emphasis on Law and Courts.

We seek a teacher-scholar with demonstrated commitment to, and excellence in, undergraduate teaching and scholarly achievement. Candidates from all subfields and methodological approaches whose research and teaching contribute to the empirical study of law and courts are encouraged to apply. Preference will be given to candidates whose research and teaching focus on judicial behavior, constitutional law, race and the law, law and policy, or immigration law.

SCU is on the quarter system and a typical load for tenure-stream faculty is two courses per quarter, assuming engagement in an active scholarship program. The successful candidate will teach (a) Introduction to U.S. Politics, (b) upper-division courses in constitutional law and judicial politics and their area of specialty, and (c) qualitative or quantitative research methods. The ability to develop and teach courses on Race and the Law, Law and Policy, or Immigration Law will be considered a plus.

Santa Clara University's College of Arts & Sciences is currently conducting its third cluster-hire in the area of Inequality & Social Justice. If applicable, this position will be included in the Fall 2025 cohort. Cluster hire participants will receive mentorship and have the opportunity to participate in regular group meetings providing peer support and interdisciplinary intellectual community to support their scholarly and creative work.

Our department is committed to creating a diverse, welcoming, inclusive, and supportive workplace. We encourage applications from members of historically excluded groups, including people of color, women, LGBTQ+, and people with disabilities. Over the last decade, Santa Clara University has recruited an increasingly diverse faculty, enrolled more diverse and low-income students, and committed to becoming a Hispanic Serving Institution. Please see <https://www.scu.edu/cas/political-science/> for more information about our programs, faculty, staff, and students.

The position will begin on September 1, 2025.

BASIC QUALIFICATIONS:

- 1) PhD in Political Science or a closely related discipline at the time of appointment.
- 2) A clear research trajectory.
- 3) Evidence of excellence in teaching.

PREFERRED QUALIFICATIONS:

- 1) A record of publication.
- 2) Specialization in race and the law, law and policy, or immigration law.
- 3) Teaching and research interests that will contribute to the Department's pre-law and public-sector studies emphases (See SCU Undergraduate Bulletin).
- 4) Experience with inclusive pedagogical practices that advance SCU's goals of diversity and equity.

RESPONSIBILITIES:

Tenure track faculty at SCU are teaching scholars who are expected to balance teaching, research and service. This is an in-person position. More specifically, duties include but are not limited to:

Teaching

- 1) Teach lower- and upper-division courses in the major and in the university Core Curriculum, as assigned by the chair, including an introductory course in US politics; upper-division courses in their area of specialty; and qualitative or quantitative methods.
- 2) Teaching responsibilities include, but are not limited to, the following:
 - a) Conducting and appearing at all assigned class meetings in a timely and prepared manner that demonstrates a command of the discipline and skill in presenting it effectively.
 - b) Assigning and evaluating written work, projects, and exams that align with course or core learning objectives and providing timely feedback to students.
 - c) Holding weekly office hours at times reasonably convenient to students.
 - d) Assigning and submitting student grades that are appropriate, accurate, and fair measures of student performance to the Office of the Registrar by the designated deadline.
 - e) Administering numerical and narrative evaluations in each section for all courses.
- 3) Develop and teach courses that contribute to ongoing curriculum development in the relevant degree program and/or the university core. Faculty teaching university core courses should follow an approved syllabus or work with the chair to design an appropriate syllabus for submission for approval from the relevant Faculty Core Curriculum Committee.
- 4) Participate in assessment of student learning for courses in the department.

- 5) Provide informed advice and mentoring to undergraduate students.
- 6) Fulfill other instructional or academic duties as may be assigned by the Dean of the College of Arts and Sciences or by the chair of the Political Science Department.

Research

- 1) Develop and sustain a research program at SCU that will result in peer-reviewed publications, monographs, and/or creative work per the department scholarship standards.
- 2) Preference will be given to candidates with a research program that can accommodate participation of undergraduates.

Service

Provide effective service to the Department, the College, the University and profession through contributions other than teaching and scholarship such as service on committees, participation in professional organizations and activities, and community service performed by virtue of professional expertise or association with the university, as appropriate to rank and experience.

APPLICATION DEADLINE:

For full consideration, applications should be received by September 2, 2024. Applications will be considered until the position is filled.

APPLICATION INSTRUCTIONS:

Using the "Apply" button on the SCU job posting (https://wd1.myworkdaysite.com/en-US/recruiting/scu/scu/details/Assistant-Professor-of-Political-Science--American-Politics--with-an-emphasis-on-Law-and-Courts-_R4691), please submit the following materials through the hiring portal:

- 1) A cover letter addressing teaching and research interests, your teaching philosophy, and your experience or interest in working with people of diverse cultures and identities
- 2) CV
- 3) Sample syllabi and teaching evaluations
- 4) A writing sample of no more than 40 pages
- 5) Unofficial graduate transcripts
- 6) Three confidential letters of recommendation must be emailed directly to the department manager, Ms. Pam Doherty, at pdoherty@scu.edu, by either the recommenders or a dossier service.

HIRING RANGE:

Competitive salary and benefits; housing assistance available.

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION:

Inquiries about this position can be emailed to the department chair, Dr. Elsa Chen, at echen@scu.edu.

Work Authorization:

A foreign national who is appointed to a tenured or tenure-track faculty position is eligible for visa sponsorship assessment by Santa Clara University together with its legal counsel.

Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972

Santa Clara University does not discriminate in its employment practices or in its educational programs or activities on the basis of sex/gender, and prohibits retaliation against any person opposing discrimination or participating in any discrimination investigation or complaint process internally or externally. The Title IX Coordinator and

Section 504 and ADA Coordinator is Jenna Elliott, Interim Director of Equal Opportunity and Title IX, 408-551-3043, jrelliot@scu.edu, www.scu.edu/title-ix. Inquiries can also be made to the Assistant Secretary of Education within the Office for Civil Rights (OCR).

Clery Notice of Availability

Santa Clara University annually collects information about campus crimes and other reportable incidents in accordance with the federal Jeanne Clery Disclosure of Campus Security Policy and Campus Crime Statistics Act. To view the Santa Clara University report, please go to the Campus Safety Services website. To request a paper copy please call Campus Safety at (408) 554-4441. The report includes the type of crime, venue, and number of occurrences.

Americans with Disabilities Act

Santa Clara University affirms its commitment to employ qualified individuals with disabilities within the workplace and to comply with the Americans with Disability Act. All applicants desiring an accommodation should contact the Department of Human Resources, and 408-554-5750 and request to speak to Indu Ahluwalia by phone at 408-554-5750 or by email at iahluwalia@scu.edu.

Santa Clara University annually collects information about campus crimes and other reportable incidents in accordance with the federal Jeanne Clery Disclosure of Campus Security Policy and Campus Crime Statistics Act. To view the Santa Clara University report, please go to the Campus Safety Services website. To request a paper copy please call Campus Safety at (408) 554-4441. The report includes the type of crime, venue, and number of occurrences.

COVID-19 Statement

The health and safety of the University community is a top priority. The University strongly recommends that all employees are fully vaccinated for COVID-19 as the vaccination and boosters are safe, effective tools that significantly minimize the chances of serious illness and hospitalization. Please contact Human Resources if you have any questions.

Telecommute

Santa Clara University is registered to do business in the following states: California, Nevada, Oregon, Washington, Arizona, and Illinois. Employees approved to telecommute are required to perform their work within one of these states.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 9/2/2024

Date Posted: 7/29/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14546

University of Denver

Rank: Assistant Professor of American Politics, Critical Race and Ethnic Studies

The Department of Political Science and the Critical Race and Ethnic Studies Program (CRES) at the University of Denver invite applications for a jointly appointed tenure-line Assistant Professor to start in Fall 2025 in the field of American politics. The Department of Political Science consists of eleven tenured or tenure-line faculty supporting the Bachelors of Arts degree in political science within the College of Arts, Humanities, and Social Sciences at the University of Denver. Founded in 2018, the Critical Race and Ethnic Studies program (CRES) is a full program with two current tenure-line faculty, a tenured faculty director, and numerous affiliated faculty members. Like Political Science, CRES offers both an undergraduate major and minor. Both also serve undergraduates across campus by offering courses for the common curriculum.

Our faculty are dedicated to the robust pursuit of research, publication, and public engagement. We also value diversity, equity, and inclusion: a commitment by all constituents to create an academic experience that embraces and engages diverse perspectives and communities within an atmosphere of mutual respect. Our curricula endeavor to develop students' abilities to think critically, communicate clearly, write effectively, and develop compelling analytical argumentation based on justifiable sources of empirical evidence and analytical reasoning.

Position Summary

We seek applications from American Politics scholars who study Race and/or Ethnicity. Specific concentrations within American Politics, Race, and/or Ethnicity are open. Scholars of Political Sociology and Public Policy who study Race and/or Ethnicity in the U.S. political context are also encouraged to apply.

The University of Denver embraces a teacher-scholar model where faculty balance their commitments to rigorous scholarship and to undergraduate education. The position requires teaching the equivalent of five in-person courses over the standard academic year (three quarters) in the Political Science department and/or CRES program, covering a range of CRES major requirements (i.e., Introduction to CRES, Quantitative Methods in CRES, or the CRES Capstone) and cross-listed upper division courses. The faculty member will be a fully participating and voting member of both programs. During the first two years of the position, the faculty member will also assist the Director of the CRES program in developing the new CRES major. To facilitate this, the faculty member will be protected from other substantial service obligations. After the first two years, the CRES program and Political Science department have established a practical distribution of teaching and service obligations to protect the faculty member from work overload, and that arrangement will be codified through a signed memorandum of understanding.

Our curricula are delivered via conventional face-to-face classes on our traditional residential campus, with most online-only courses occurring during summer sessions (in which faculty may elect to teach for supplemental income, pending sufficient enrollment). We welcome the incorporation of experiential learning opportunities in the curriculum. Adhering to the teacher-scholar model, the position requires maintaining an active scholarly agenda as demonstrated via scholarly publications, academic conference participation, etc. The person holding this position would also be expected to contribute to University, College, and departmental/program service.

Essential Functions

Pursue a research agenda that results in high-quality scholarly publications.

Teach the equivalent of five courses across three quarters per academic year, including cross-listed upper division classes between Political Science and the CRES program, as well as introductory, methods, theory, or senior project courses within the CRES program specifically. The teaching schedule will be annually coordinated with the CRES program director and Political Science department chair.

Meet outside of class in office hours on campus and/or online to provide guidance and assistance to students enrolled in courses taught and to provide major advising to political science and CRES students.

Deploy best practices through the University of Denver's current course management system (Canvas), utilizing Canvas tools such as discussion boards, quizzes, assignments with uploaded files, and the gradebook as the means to collect student work, communicate feedback and assign grades, and to conduct class sessions and individual appointments remotely when the need for this arises.

Advise students about major and BA requirements.

Contribute to University, College, departmental, and program service

Knowledge, Skills, and Abilities

Advanced scholarly expertise (PhD level) in the field of American politics, focusing on Race, Ethnicity, and Politics.

Successful publication of peer-reviewed scholarship on American politics, focusing on Race, Ethnicity, and Politics, and/or evidence of future promise as a scholar.

Excellent skills in oral and written communication.

Excellent undergraduate teaching skills

Ability to interact constructively with a diverse population of faculty, staff, and undergraduate students.

Required Qualifications

Ph.D. in Political Science, Political Sociology, or related field or interdisciplinary program (e.g. American studies or Public Policy). Must have a Ph.D. by start of appointment.

Evidence of a relevant established scholarly agenda as indicated by peer-reviewed publications.

Experience serving as an instructor of record in undergraduate &/or graduate courses in political (or related social) science.

Interest in developing upper-division undergraduate courses to help build out the CRES curriculum.

Growth toward teaching excellence and a commitment to incorporate inclusive teaching methods and/or pedagogies to effectively engage students from a wide range of backgrounds.

A demonstrated commitment to, and experience in, promoting DEI and in using inclusive pedagogies.

Experience using course management software (such as Canvas or similar).

Preferred Qualifications

Experience independently teaching two or more courses concurrently

Working Environment

1. Standard office environment.
2. Unexpected interruptions occur often and stress level is moderate to high.
3. Noise level is quiet to moderate.

Physical Activities

1. Ability to sit in front of a computer for an extended period of time.
2. Occasionally required to move about the office/campus with the capability of transporting objects up to 20 lbs.

Work Schedule

While the University's administrative offices are open Monday – Friday, 8:00 am – 4:30 pm, faculty schedules vary from term to term and are based on courses taught, service commitments, and research agendas. The University's academic calendars are posted on the registrar's website (the law school is on a semester system and has a different academic calendar).

Application Deadline

For consideration, please submit your application materials by 4:00 p.m. (MST) September 9, 2024.

Special Instructions

Candidates must apply online through jobs.du.edu to be considered. Only applications submitted online will be accepted.

Salary Range:

The salary range for this position is $72,000-$82,000

The University of Denver has provided a compensation range that represents its good faith estimate of what the University may pay for the position at the time of posting. The University may ultimately pay more or less than the posted compensation range. The salary offered to the selected candidate will be determined based on factors such as the qualifications of the selected candidate, departmental budget availability, internal salary equity considerations, and available market information, but not based on a candidate's sex or any other protected status.

Benefits:

The University of Denver offers excellent benefits, including medical, dental, retirement, paid time off, tuition benefit and ECO pass. The University of Denver is a private institution that empowers students who want to make a difference. Learn more about the University of Denver.

Please include the following documents with your application:

1. CV that indicates scholarly specialization, publications and/or working papers, and courses you have taught before as an instructor.
2. Cover Letter explaining your interest in and qualifications for this position
3. Three distinct statements (1-2 pages each), combined into one document with identifying headers, that articulate your (a) research agenda, (b) teaching philosophy and methods to engage students, and (c) how your research, teaching, and/or service contribute to DU's values, practices, and actions regarding diversity, equity, and inclusion. Candidates can view DU's DEI Action Plan [<https://www.du.edu/equity/dei-action-plan>] and/or the College of Arts and Humanities and Social Sciences (CAHSS) DEI Strategic Plan [<https://liberalarts.du.edu/news-events/all-articles/diversity-equity-and-inclusion-strategic-plan-cahss>] for reference.
4. Three samples of written work (e.g., two chapters from dissertation or book and one article).
5. Evidence of teaching effectiveness including two course syllabi, a set of teaching evaluations from two different courses, and any other relevant artifacts of teaching excellence (e.g., a teaching award or recognition), all combined into one pdf file with headers identifying each discrete component.
6. For applicants who have not finished their PhD, please include graduate transcripts.
7. Contact information for three professional/academic references who will be emailed to upload letters of recommendation upon request. Candidates using Interfolio may arrange to send all three letters of recommendation in one pdf file via email to Darlene.Squires@du.edu. No other materials beyond letters of recommendation will be accepted via Interfolio.

The University of Denver recognizes that its success in being a great university dedicated to the public good depends greatly on how well it engages, supports, and champions the values of diversity, equity, inclusion, and justice. As part of our intentionality in recruiting and retaining faculty from a wide variety of historically excluded intersecting identities, including those from communities of color, with diverse gender and sexual identities, first-generation college graduates, or with disabilities, new faculty will have the opportunity to choose to participate in a university-wide initiative. This initiative will connect new colleagues in a cohort, building community across units with supportive programming led by the Office of the Vice Provost of Faculty Affairs in collaboration with the Division of Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion and each faculty participant's academic unit. To learn more about the University of Denver's commitments and work in support of DEI and J, please visit: <https://www.du.edu/equity>. For more information about this program or if you have any questions, please email inclusion@du.edu and/or visit <https://duvpfa.du.edu/faculty-resources/prospective-faculty/>.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 9/9/2024

Date Posted: 7/29/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14543

Harvard University

Rank: TENURE-TRACK PROFESSOR OF GOVERNMENT – AMERICAN POLITICS

Position Description: The Department of Government seeks to appoint a tenure-track professor in Government specializing in American Politics, with an emphasis on American political institutions. The appointment is expected to begin on July 1, 2025. The tenure-track professor will be responsible for teaching at the undergraduate and graduate levels. Candidates are encouraged to apply by September 20, 2024; applications will be reviewed until the position is filled.

Basic Qualifications: Doctorate or terminal degree in Political Science, Government or related disciplines required by the time the appointment begins.

Additional Qualifications: Demonstrated strong commitment to teaching and advising is desired.

Special Instructions: Please submit the following materials through the ARIeS portal (<https://academicpositions.harvard.edu>). The Committee will begin reviewing applications on September 16, 2024.

1. Cover letter
2. Curriculum Vitae
3. Teaching/advising statement (describing the candidate's teaching philosophy and practices as well as their approach to creating a learning environment in which students are encouraged to ask questions and share their ideas)
4. Research statement
5. Service statement describing efforts to strengthen academic communities, e.g., the candidate's department, institution, and/or professional societies.
6. Names and contact information of 3-5 referees, who will be asked by a system-generated email to upload a letter of recommendation once the candidate's application has been submitted. Three letters of recommendation are required, and the application is considered complete only when at least three letters have been received. At least one letter must come from someone who has not served as the candidate's undergraduate, graduate, or postdoctoral advisor.

7. Publications or copies of creative works, if applicable.

Contact Information: James Snyder, Search Committee, Department of Government, jsnyder@gov.harvard.edu.

The health of our workforce is a priority for Harvard University. With that in mind, we strongly encourage all employees to be up-to-date on CDC-recommended vaccines.

Start Date: Summer 2025

Application Deadline: 9/20/2024

Date Posted: 7/26/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14538

Washington College

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science (Tenure Track)

Specializations: State Politics, Social Movements, Women & Politics

The Department of Political Science and Studies at Washington College invites applications for a ten-ure-track position at the Assistant Professor level specializing in U.S. politics starting in August 2025. A successful candidate must show promise in both undergraduate teaching and political science research. Tenure expectations include teaching excellence, a pattern of productive scholarship leading to peer-reviewed publica-tion, and effective participation in the shared governance of the College.

Founded in 1782, Washington College is a selective liberal arts institution located in Chestertown, Maryland on a major tributary of the Chesapeake Bay. The Political Science Department is a vibrant program with six faculty members and numerous curricular and co-curricular experiential learning opportunities for students. A typical course load consists of three classes each semester during the academic year. Faculty also advise senior capstone projects.

Qualified candidates must have a Ph.D. in Political Science. Candidates who are nearing completion must have degree in hand before the position begins. We are seeking a candidate with a specialization in American Politics to cover existing courses on American Government, Women and Politics, State and Local Politics, Political Data Analysis, and supervise our popular Maryland General Assembly Internship course, offered each spring semester. The ideal candidate would also develop new courses focused on social justice and political advocacy. We seek a candidate with a deep commitment to experiential learning to develop new co-curricular experiential learning opportunities (with an emphasis on historically marginalized groups within our community) in conjunction with the Starr Center for the Study of the American Experience, which would count towards the Fall semester course load (<https://www.washcoll.edu/learn-by-doing/starr/index.php>)

Applicants must submit all the following application materials: (1) a cover letter indicating how the candidate will complement or expand the existing program, (2) a CV, (3) a written narrative, not to exceed three pages, that describes the candidate's teaching philosophy, research interests, and the ways in which the candidate promotes diversity, equity and inclusion through their teaching, mentoring, and/or outreach and (4) names of three profes-sional references with contact information. Review of applications will begin on October 18, 2024. Application materials must be submitted through the college's employment portal: <https://www.paycomonline.net/v4/ats/web.php/jobs/ViewJobDetails?job=28835&clientkey=DA71CF6827C59F768030B3905BDF8A6A>

Diversity Statement

The Political Science Department upholds Washington College's Diversity Statement, creating supportive classroom spaces and opportunities for students of all backgrounds. We recognize the potential of political science as a discipline to foster dialogue, empathy, and civic engagement. We are committed to equitable, inclusive classrooms that support the dignity of all. https://www.washcoll.edu/people_departments/offices/president/diversitystatement.php

EEO Statement & Title IX

Washington College values diversity within our students, faculty, and staff, and strives to recruit, develop, and retain the most talented people. Washington College does not discriminate in employment on the basis of race, color, creed, religion, sex, sexual orientation, transgender status, gender identity, age, national origin, disability, veteran status, or any other legally protected status in accordance with applicable federal, state and/or local laws. We particularly encourage members of historically underrepresented groups, veterans, individuals with disabili-ties, and others who demonstrate the ability to help us achieve our vision of a diverse and inclusive community to apply for this position. For information on Washington College's Title IX compliance, please visit <https://www.washcoll.edu/title-ix/>

Employment is contingent upon completion of a successful background check and establishment of identity and verification of employment eligibility as required by the Immigration Reform and Control Act of 1986. It is the policy of Washington College to provide reasonable accommodations. If you require any accommodations to participate in any part of the hiring process, please contact hr@washcoll.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 10/15/2024

Date Posted: 7/26/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14537

Wake Forest University

Rank: Assistant Professor of American Politics

WAKE FOREST UNIVERSITY's Department of Politics and International Affairs is seeking applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position in the sub-field of American politics to start July 1, 2025.

We invite applicants from the subfield of American Politics who can speak to questions related to media and politics. We welcome applicants who approach this topic from a variety of theoretical and methodological orientations.

We seek candidates pursuing an active research agenda and committed to excellence in teaching who are prepared to teach introductory courses in American politics and develop and teach courses that connect with their research and complement subjects already represented among American politics scholars in the department. More information about the department is available at <https://politics.wfu.edu/>

We have a particular interest in scholars who make connections between subfields and leverage intersectional, interdisciplinary, and community-engaged perspectives. Faculty in the Politics and International Affairs Department engage formally and informally with interdisciplinary academic programs focusing on Women's, Gender, and Sexuality Studies; African American Studies, American Ethnic Studies; Environmental and Sustainability Studies; African Studies, Latin American and Latino Studies; Middle East and South Asia Studies; and East Asian Studies.

Successful applicants will demonstrate a commitment to excellence in teaching, mentoring, and advising undergraduate students from diverse backgrounds, including international students, first-generation students, and those who identify as members of historically marginalized communities. A Ph.D. or ABD status in Political Science or a closely related field is required.

With 5,400 undergraduates and 3,700 graduate and professional students and a student-faculty ratio of 11:1, Wake Forest University is a private institution dedicated to academic excellence in liberal arts, graduate, and professional education and offers a vibrant intellectual community. The University has a deep institutional commitment to public service and engagement with the world, as indicated by the motto "pro humanitate."

Interested applicants should apply via the University's career website at: <https://hr.wfu.edu/careers/>. The application should be submitted as ONE PDF file and include all of the following:

- Cover letter addressing the motivation to join our teacher-scholar community;
- Curriculum vitae including contact information for three professional references;
- Research statement describing candidate's current research and future trajectory;
- Scholarly writing sample (e.g. journal article, dissertation chapter, or draft);
- Teaching statement including plan to establish an inclusive learning environment;
- Sample undergraduate course syllabi;
- Teaching evaluations or other evidence of effective student engagement;
- Copy of graduate transcript(s) (official copies only required upon employment).

In addition to the above, we ask that candidates have three letters of recommendation either mailed or emailed directly to the address listed below. Review of applications will begin on September 16, 2024. Applications will be accepted until the position is filled, but to guarantee full consideration they should be received by September 16, 2024. If access to the internet is an issue, a hard copy of the application can be submitted to John Dinan, Chair, Department of Politics and International Affairs, Wake Forest University, P.O. Box 7568, Winston-Salem, NC 27109.

Inquiries about the application process and document submission may be addressed to AskHR@wfu.edu. Inquiries about the position should be directed to John Dinan, Chair and Professor, Politics and International Affairs, dinanjj@wfu.edu.

Wake Forest University welcomes and encourages diversity and inclusivity and seeks applicants with demonstrated success in working with diverse populations. Wake Forest University is an AA/EO employer and values an inclusive and diverse learning community and campus climate. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law. Wake Forest University and the Department of Politics and International Affairs welcomes applications from all who would bring additional dimensions to the University's research, teaching, and community engagement.

In order to provide a safe and productive learning and living community, Wake Forest University conducts background investigations for final candidates upon their acceptance of an offer of employment.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 9/16/2024

Date Posted: 7/24/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14528

Colorado State University

Rank: Assistant Professor of American Politics

The Department of Political Science at Colorado State University invites applications for an entry-level tenure-track Assistant Professor position in American politics with a specialization in political communication. We are open with respect to theoretical orientation, substantive focus, and methodological approaches, and encourage applicants with a broad array of expertise in political communication in the US to apply.

The Department values both strong teaching and research. Successful candidates will be expected to offer courses in the American politics curriculum at both the undergraduate and graduate levels, including an upper-division undergraduate course in political communication. Additional teaching assignments will depend on the candidate's interests and expertise as well as departmental needs. The normal teaching load is 2-2.

Faculty members are also expected to advise and mentor graduate and undergraduate students; demonstrate an active research agenda; and provide service to the department, college, university, and community.

Approximately one-third of undergraduate political science majors at CSU are first-generation college students. The Department offers programs of study leading to the B.A., M.A., and Ph.D. degrees. The doctoral degree emphasizes the study of environmental politics and policy.

Required Job Qualifications:

- * Primary teaching and/or scholarly emphasis in American Politics
- * Evidence of an active research agenda focused on political communication in the US
- * Evidence of teaching effectiveness including the capacity to teach an upper division undergraduate course on political communication in the US
- * PhD in Political Science or related field by August 16, 2025
- * Ability to enhance the Department's commitment to diversity and inclusion reflecting Departmental and institutional values

Applications will be accepted until the position is filled; to ensure full consideration, complete applications should be received by September 8th, 2024. Applicants should submit: 1) a letter of application outlining teaching interests and research agenda as well as a brief statement on how your teaching, research and/or service demonstrate a commitment to diversity and inclusion; 2) Curriculum vitae; 3) Graduate school transcripts (unofficial transcripts acceptable at the initial stage of the search), 4) Evidence of demonstrated or potential teaching effectiveness (syllabi, teaching evaluations, letters of observation), 5) One sample of published or presented work, and 6) The names and contact information of three professional referees who will be emailed immediately upon submission of an application with a request to submit a letter of reference. Please note that a complete application consists of the requested materials and three letters of reference. Your referees will be emailed a request for a letter of reference immediately upon submission of your application. As such, applicants should allow sufficient time for their letters to be submitted by September 15th, 2024 to ensure full consideration. Application materials of semifinalist candidates, including letters of reference, will be made available for review by the entire faculty in the Department of Political Science. Questions about the position can be directed to Dr. Robert Duffy (Robert.Duffy@colostate.edu)

To apply, please visit: <https://jobs.colostate.edu/postings/148354>

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/23/2024

Salary: $70,000 - $79,999

eJobs ID: 14524

SUNY, Stony Brook University

Rank: Assistant Professor, Computational Political Science

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Methodology, Comparative Politics

Specializations: American Politics, Political Behavior, Research Methods

The Department of Political Science at Stony Brook University invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor in Computational Political Science. This position would begin in Fall 2025. The department is interested in applicants with expertise in applying big data methods, computational methods, or advanced statistical methods to problems in political science. Successful candidates will have a strong record of demonstrated research excellence. Additional duties include fostering inclusive teaching at the graduate and undergraduate levels, conducting a program of research, and participating in faculty governance at the departmental, college, and university levels.

Qualifications

Required Qualifications:

Ph.D. (or foreign equivalent) in Political Science or a closely related field in hand by August 31, 2025. Research work applying big data methods, computational methods, or advanced statistical methods to problems in political science.

Preferred Qualifications:

Demonstrated record of the following, as evidenced by the applicant's CV and supporting materials:

- record of producing high-quality research
- strong research background and training
- strong publication record

- research interests in political behavior, American politics, or comparative politics
- experience teaching at the undergraduate and/or graduate level

Application Instructions

Apply through Interfolio at the job posting here: <http://apply.interfolio.com/147877>

Please upload:

Cover letter

1. Curriculum Vitae
2. Samples of written work
3. Teaching statement
4. Research statement
5. Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion (DEI) statement
6. Three reference contacts able to provide letters of reference upon request

For full consideration please submit your materials by 11:59 PM Eastern Time on Monday, September 16, 2024.

All application materials must be submitted online. Please use the Apply Now button to begin your application. For technical support, please visit Interfolio's Support Site (<https://support.interfolio.com/>) or reach out to their Scholar Service Team at help@interfolio.com or (877) 997-8807.

For questions regarding this position, please contact the search chair, Professor Michael Peress at Michael.Peress@stonybrook.edu.

Special Notes: This is a tenure track position. FLSA Exempt position, not eligible for the overtime provisions of the FLSA.

About the Department:

The Department of Political Science is committed to excellence in research and scholarship, graduate student training, undergraduate teaching and learning, public outreach, and the promotion of responsible citizenship. It contributes to the generation of knowledge about politics and aims to deepen scholarly and public understanding of political institutions and the citizenry. The department seeks to prepare students for successful careers in government, academics, and the private sector. The Department provides training for PhD and MA students in cutting-edge approaches to the empirical study of political science to produce graduates with outstanding research, teaching, and professional skills. <http://www.stonybrook.edu/polsci/>

About the College:

As part of a great research university, the College of Arts and Sciences at Stony Brook University focuses on scholarly creativity, connecting our disciplines of fine arts; humanities; social, behavioral and natural sciences; and mathematics with medicine, technology, culture, education, business and environment. As the largest College for the campus, we help students and faculty begin a lifetime of learning and discovery by exploring new ideas that drive innovation and inspiration across all sectors of society. <http://www.stonybrook.edu/cas/>

Campus Description:

Stony Brook University, one of two flagships within the State University of New York (SUNY) system, is one of America's most dynamic public universities, a center of academic excellence, and an internationally recognized research institution that is changing the world. After more than 60 years of existence, it is ranked among the top 100 universities in the nation and the top 25 public universities in the nation. It is a member of the prestigious invitation-only Association of American Universities, composed of the top 66 leading research institutions in North America. As Long Island's largest single-site employer, Stony Brook has nearly 15,000 full- and part-time employees, including 2,800 faculty and nearly 27,000 students — including almost 18,000 undergraduates — and offers more than 200 majors, minors and combined-degree programs. Located approximately 60 miles east of Manhattan on Long Island's beautiful North Shore, Stony Brook is situated on 1,454 wooded acres, encompassing 13 schools and colleges; a Research and Development Park; world-class athletics facilities, including an 8,300-seat stadium and a 4,000-seat arena; and Stony Brook Medicine, Long Island's premier academic medical center. Also part of the University is a teaching and research campus in Southampton, New York, which offers graduate arts programs and is the site of the Marine Sciences Center. In addition, Stony Brook has a role in running, and performs joint research with, Brookhaven National Laboratory, the only Department of Energy Laboratory in the Northeast. Home to the Emerson String Quartet, the Pollock-Krasner House in East Hampton, NY, and the Humanities Institute, with endeavors that extend to the Turkana Basin Institute in Kenya and the Ranomafana National Park in Madagascar, Stony Brook sustains an international reputation that cuts across the arts, humanities, social sciences and natural sciences.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 9/16/2024

Date Posted: 7/23/2024

Salary: $110,000 - $119,999

eJobs ID: 14519

University of Georgia

Rank: Associate Professor

The Department of Political Science in the UGA School of Public and International Affairs seeks a new faculty colleague at the associate professor level in American government/politics in the field of political communication. This colleague will hold the newly endowed Jones Family Professorship (named for UGA alumnus Joshua Jones). Applicants should have a demonstrated interest in political media, especially new media. The successful candidate will exhibit a record of funded research or strong potential for external funding. The position will contribute to the Bachelor of Arts/the Bachelor of Science in Political Science, undergraduate certificate programs in applied politics and data analytics, and graduate-level degree programs in Political Science. Experts who employ a diverse set of methodological approaches, such as (but not limited to) web-scraping and text analysis, are especially encouraged to apply.

Minimum Qualifications:

- Ph.D. in political science
- Holds appointment at the associate level (candidates who are currently standing for tenure and promotion and expect to be an associate professor by August 1, 2025 are encouraged to apply)
- Strong research record with substantive scholarly interests related to American politics - political communication
- Interest in teaching and mentoring undergraduate and graduate students

Preferred Qualifications:

- Demonstrated record of excellence in teaching and scholarship
- Scholarly background, interest, and/or experience that will contribute to the Department's graduate course offerings and undergraduate courses in political communications, including those that would support certificate programs in applied politics and data analytics

-Potential to contribute to the university's efforts to enhance and maintain an inclusive environment for learning, teaching, research and service

-Potential to create synergies with existing departmental faculty in political methodology, all fields of American politics, and/or political theory

-Potential to collaborate with scholars on interdisciplinary research

Instructions to Applicants:

Prospective candidates should submit the following in electronic form to the UGA Jobs website, <https://www.ugajobsearch.com/postings/388332> : a cover letter that addresses the minimum and preferred qualifications for this position, a curriculum vita, a recent publication or research-related writing sample, a teaching portfolio including evaluations, transcripts, and a list of three letter writers, who will separately provide letters of recommendation (in electronic form).

Questions can be sent to Wendi Finch, Office Manager, Department of Political Science, University of Georgia, 180 Baldwin Hall, Athens, GA 30602-1615 (wendif@uga.edu). Applications will be accepted until the position is filled, though applications received on or before October 1, 2024 will receive full consideration. Review of applications will begin October 1st and will continue until the position is filled.

The Department of Political Science has a strong reputation in the discipline, including 20+ faculty whose research and teaching focus on American politics. For more information about the Department and the School of Public and International Affairs, visit <http://spia.uga.edu/departments-of-political-science/>. Athens is well known for its quality of life, including both outdoor and urban activities and conveniently located 70 miles northeast of Atlanta.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/23/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14521

Syracuse University

Rank: Postdoctoral Research - Campbell Institute

Specializations: American Politics, Bureaucracy & Organizational Behavior, Public Opinion

Syracuse University has joined with the University of Texas at Austin in directing the United States Policy Agendas Project. The Policy Agendas Project is an academic initiative aimed at collecting and coding government activities in the United States to enable researchers, policymakers, and citizens to track changes in policy processes and outputs over time.

The Campbell Institute at the Maxwell School of Citizenship and Public Affairs at Syracuse University is seeking a Postdoctoral Scholar (postdoc) to manage a group to collect and organize policy data in the areas of Media, Interest Groups, Public Opinion and the Budget. The postdoc will lead a small group of graduate and undergraduate students in weekly policy coding sessions, meeting weekly coding goals and participating in meetings that ensure uniformity of the data collection. The postdoc will report to Campbell Director Chris Faricy and collaborate closely with faculty, students and staff involved in the Policy Agendas Project at Syracuse University.

This is a two-year position as a postdoctoral researcher. Salary Range: $60,000-$65,000.

Applications will be accepted on a rolling basis. To apply, applicants must provide:

1. A resume/CV
2. Cover letter
3. Research statement
4. Writing sample
5. Reference list

APPLICATION HERE:

<https://www.sujobopps.com/postings/105007>

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/16/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14502

American University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Violence and Terrorism

The Department of Justice, Law & Criminology in the School of Public Affairs at American University invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track Assistant Professor position beginning in Academic Year 2025-26. For this position, the department is seeking scholars with substantive expertise in political violence and terrorism. The search is open regarding specialty, but the Department is especially interested in scholars whose research and teaching interests include terrorism, political violence, radicalization, extremism, and cybersecurity. Applications from candidates who would enhance the diversity of the department are especially welcome.

Applicants should hold a PhD in political science, criminology, sociology, or other closely related discipline. Candidates who possess a law degree only (J.D. or LL.M.) will not be considered for this position. Candidates should be effective teachers and must be strongly committed to excellence in scholarly research. Most of all, the department seeks scholars who will further its goals of producing high impact research and providing innovative undergraduate and graduate teaching. Competitive candidates will possess a strong background in social science methodologies and a productive research portfolio, including publications in high-quality peer reviewed outlets. The Department is home to a range of disciplines, approaches, and methods. We are particularly interested in individuals whose research is interdisciplinary. In addition to scholarship and teaching, all faculty are expected to hold office hours and participate in School and University activities and service.

Teaching responsibilities will include core and elective courses. Possible courses include Causes of Terrorism, Radicalization, and various research methods classes. In addition to producing high quality scholarship and effective teaching, responsibilities will include mentoring graduate students and service to the department, school, and university. The search committee is especially interested in candidates who, through their research, teaching, and/or service will contribute to the diversity and excellence of the academic community.

Link here:

https://urldefense.com/v3/__https://american.wd1.myworkdayjobs.com/AU/job/Main-Campus-Washington-DC/Assistant-Professor_

R1353__!!IaT_gp1N!xkkDdE2iyhEXP5_KU53wv373Ac-jan8a3J5-HMYlhfhpQCqNErKxPGc8dVYZnM5TkEJg6ggiWx5zzwo0CsYA$

Review of applications will begin on September 15, 2024, and will continue until the positions are filled, subject to on-going budgetary approvals. The positions begin August 1, 2025. Applicants should have a PhD or an anticipated PhD completion date by August 2025.

Salary and benefits are competitive, with an expected salary range of $90,000 to $110,000. Please submit applications via Workday. Applications should include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, copies of up to three recently published articles and/or working papers, and three letters of recommendation (note: instead of letters, a list of references is sufficient if applicant currently holds tenure). Please contact Ms. Sarah Feighery, Staff Assistant, at JLC_FacultySearch@american.edu if you have any questions.

Benefits

AU offers a competitive benefits package including a 200% matching retirement plan, tuition benefits for full-time staff and their families, several leadership development certificates, and has been recognized by the American Heart Association as a fit-friendly worksite. Click here to learn about American University's unique benefit options.

Other Details

Hiring offers for this position are contingent on successful completion of a background check.

Employees in staff positions at American University must deliver their services to the university from either the District of Columbia, Maryland, or Virginia, or perform work on-site at the university.

Please note this job announcement is not designed to cover or contain a comprehensive listing of activities, duties or responsibilities that are required of the employee for this job. Duties, responsibilities, and activities may change at any time with or without notice.

American University is an E-Verify employer.

Current American University Employees

American University current employees must apply through their employee Workday account. If you are a current employee at American University, please log into Workday and select the Find Jobs report which will take you to our internal career listings.

Contact Us

For more information or assistance with the American University careers site, email theworkline@american.edu.

American University is an equal opportunity, affirmative action institution that operates in compliance with applicable laws and regulations. The university does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, national origin, religion, sex (including pregnancy), age, sexual orientation, disability, marital status, personal appearance, gender identity and expression, family responsibilities, political affiliation, source of income, veteran status, an individual's genetic information or any other bases under federal or local laws (collectively "Protected Bases") in its programs and activities.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 9/13/2024

Date Posted: 7/15/2024
Salary: $90,000 - $99,999
eJobs ID: 14495

American University
Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of Government in the School of Public Affairs at American University invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track position beginning in Academic Year 2025-26. The position will be in American Politics at the rank of Assistant Professor. The Department is seeking American Politics scholars.

Applicants should hold a PhD in political science or government. Candidates should be effective teachers and must be strongly committed to excellence in scholarly research. The search is open regarding areas of substantive specialty, but the Department is especially interested in scholars whose research and teaching interests include American political institutions. Most of all, the department seeks scholars who will further its goals of producing high impact research and providing innovative undergraduate and graduate teaching. Applications are particularly welcome from scholars who can contribute to high visibility centers and research initiatives at American University, such as the Women and Politics Institute, Center for Congressional and Presidential Studies, Center for Data Science, and Center for Environmental Policy. In addition to scholarship and teaching, all faculty are expected to hold office hours and participate in School and University activities and service.

Review of applications will begin on September 1, 2024, and will continue until the positions are filled, subject to on-going budgetary approvals. The position begins on August 1, 2025. Applicants should have a PhD or an anticipated PhD completion date by August 2025.

Salary and benefits are competitive, with an expected salary range of $90,000 to $110,000. Please submit applications via the Workday link below. Include a letter of application, curriculum vitae, three confidential letters of recommendation, research and teaching narratives, and a writing sample. Please contact Joanne Wiesman, Government Staff Assistant at jwiesman@american.edu if you have any questions.

Workday Listing: https://american.wd1.myworkdayjobs.com/AU/job/Main-Campus-Washington-DC/Assistant-Professor_R1360

Benefits

AU offers a competitive benefits package including a 200% matching retirement plan, tuition benefits for full-time staff and their families, several leadership development certificates, and has been recognized by the American Heart Association as a fit-friendly worksite. Click the link to learn more about American University's unique benefit options. <https://www.american.edu/hr/benefits/>

Other Details

Hiring offers for this position are contingent on successful completion of a background check.

Employees in staff positions at American University must deliver their services to the university from either the District of Columbia, Maryland, or Virginia, or perform work on-site at the university.

Please note this job announcement is not designed to cover or contain a comprehensive listing of activities, duties or responsibilities that are required of the employee for this job. Duties, responsibilities, and activities may change at any time with or without notice.

American University is an E-Verify employer.
 Contact Us

For more information or assistance with the American University careers site, email theworkline@american.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/12/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14487

University of Richmond

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

The University of Richmond Department of Political Science invites applications for a tenure-track position at the rank of Assistant Professor to begin in the 2025-26 academic year.

The Department seeks to hire a teacher-scholar whose research focuses on Latina/o/x/e politics in the U.S. All methodological and theoretical approaches to Latina/o/x/e politics are welcomed provided they enhance the department's existing areas of substantive expertise. Topics of interest include but are not limited to immigration policy, political behavior, state and local or urban politics, social movements, or identity politics. The successful candidate will be expected to teach either Introduction to American Government or Introduction to Public Policy and to develop new electives in Latino/a/x politics and the areas noted above based on expertise. The position carries a 3-2 teaching load.

Applicants must either hold a PhD in Political Science or show credible evidence that they will complete the dissertation and degree requirements by August 1, 2025.

The University of Richmond is a private university located just a short drive from downtown Richmond, Virginia. Through its five schools and wide array of campus programming, the University combines the best qualities of a small liberal arts college and a large university. With approximately 4,000 students, an 8:1 student-faculty ratio, and more than 90% of traditional undergraduate students living on campus, the University is remarkably student-centered, focused on preparing students "to live lives of purpose, thoughtful inquiry, and responsible leadership in a global and pluralistic society."

The University of Richmond is committed to developing a diverse workforce and student body, and to modeling an inclusive campus community which values the expression of difference in ways that promote excellence in teaching, learning, personal development, and institutional success. Our academic community strongly encourages applications that are in keeping with this commitment. For more information on the department and its programs, please see <https://polisci.richmond.edu/>.

Applicants should apply online at <http://jobs.richmond.edu> and submit a curriculum vitae, cover letter, and separate research and teaching statements. The cover letter should provide a brief summary of the candidate's research and teaching interests and describe their commitment to the teacher-scholar model. The research statement should expand on the candidate's research agenda and expertise. The teaching statement should articulate the candidate's teaching philosophy, interests, and future professional development goals, with particular emphasis on involvement in and commitment to inclusive pedagogy. In addition, please include copies of academic transcripts. Candidates for this position may be asked, at a later date, to provide the names and contact information for three references who will be asked to submit letters of recommendation. Review of applications will commence September 20, 2024, and continue until the position is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/12/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14486

Simmons University

Rank: Assistant Professor, American Politics

ABOUT SIMMONS

Located in Boston's historic Fenway area, Simmons has a strong tradition of empowering women and challenging traditional gender roles. Simmons University was one of the first higher education institutions to prepare women to become leaders and has evolved to become a university offering a women's undergraduate program and graduate programs open to all.

You're joining our community at an especially exciting time as one of our strategic goals is to become the most inclusive campus in New England. You'll find that people who work here are truly committed to our mission of preparing students to become champions of social justice and leaders in their professions and their communities. This commitment and pride make for a dynamic workplace. Simmons University is committed to inclusive excellence in all aspects of an individual's community experience.

As a university committed to diversity, equity, and inclusion, Simmons encourages applications from all under-represented groups. Simmons is committed to creating, developing, promoting, and enhancing inclusive hiring practices—at all levels, for all positions—ensuring diverse talent pools and the delivery of a consistent positive candidate experience. Simmons is an equal opportunity employer and is committed to continuing to develop a more diverse faculty, staff, student body, and curriculum.

ABOUT OPPORTUNITY

The Department of Politics and Policy in the Gwen Ifill School of Media, Humanities, and Social Sciences at Simmons University invites candidates to submit materials for a tenure-track assistant professor position in American politics.

We seek outstanding applicants with a demonstrated track record of effective teaching and scholarship. Multiple areas of expertise within the field of American politics will be considered, including American political institutions, political parties, elections, ideology, voting behavior, and public law. Applicants must be able to teach introduction to American politics, as well as a broad range of electives, including state and local government, Congress and the presidency, and constitutional law, among others. The ability to teach in our Master of Public Policy program is preferred, though not required.

PRIMARY DUTIES & RESPONSIBILITIES

- Carrying a 6-course teaching load per academic year.

- Participating in the ongoing creation of explicit and implicit curricula in consultation with faculty and program leadership.
- Conducting research and scholarship.
- Demonstrate service to the department, school, and university through committee work.

ACADEMIC RESPONSIBILITY

- Serve as instructor for on-ground and online courses.
- Design individual courses and classes.
- Support course development and revision schedule for classes.
- Participate in ongoing Department curricular planning and periodic program review of on-ground and online classes.

STUDENT ADVISING & ENGAGEMENT

- Serve as primary faculty contact for matriculated students, including monitoring academic status, resolving student concerns, and verifying graduation requirements.
- Ensure advising processes are carried out alongside Department Chair and academic advising team and monitor students' course plans and progress towards their degree objectives.

OTHER DUTIES

- Assume other duties as assigned by the Dean and Department Chair.

TERMS OF SERVICE

- The position will be a 10-month, full-time, tenure-track faculty appointment.
- This position is campus based in Boston, Massachusetts.

QUALIFICATIONS

- PhD in Political Science or a related discipline required
- Demonstrated record of excellent teaching
- Demonstrated record of excellent scholarship
- A robust scholarly agenda
- Effective communication and organizational skills.

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION FOR APPLICANTS

A Complete applications consist of a single PDF file containing the following:

- 1) Cover letter addressing qualifications listed above;
- 2) Current curriculum vitae;
- 3) 1-2-page statement of research;
- 4) 1-2-page statement of teaching experience and philosophy

Three letters of recommendation should be sent separately to Lena Zuckerman, Chair of the Department of Politics and Policy: lena.zuckerman@simmons.edu.

To apply, submit your application materials via the Simmons University Careers portal: https://simmons.wd1.myworkdayjobs.com/en-US/Simmons-Careers/job/Assistant-Professor--American-Politics_R10176

Review of Applications will begin on September 15th.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/9/2024

Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 14477

Transylvania University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science (American Politics and Public Law)

Transylvania University (www.transy.edu), a top-tier, independent, residential liberal arts college in Lexington, Kentucky, invites applications for the position of Assistant Professor of Political Science with expertise in American Politics and Public Law. This is a tenure-track position, teaching in-person classes, beginning August 29, 2025. Transylvania University recognizes that a diverse and inclusive community is essential to the fulfillment of our mission as a liberal arts institution. To that end, we seek to attract a diverse faculty skilled in the scholarship of teaching, research, and mentorship of students from a variety of backgrounds. Candidates are encouraged, in their cover letter, to identify their strengths and experiences in creating an inclusive academic community.

Job Description:

The successful candidate will specialize in the field of American Politics with expertise in Public Law and will instruct core courses in the major, including Introduction to U.S. Politics and our research methods course, Political Analysis, and specialized courses emphasizing the role and practice of law, legal theory, and/or judicial politics. Candidates with the ability to teach courses that contribute to our university's interdisciplinary programs in Africana Studies and/or Women, Gender, and Sexuality (WGS) studies will receive special consideration. Occasional contributions to First-Year programming and service as an academic adviser are also expected. The teaching load consists of three courses per semester, plus one short-term course in May (3-3-1) that offers additional opportunities for travel courses, team-taught courses and other more experimental classroom endeavors. Other responsibilities include academic scholarship/professional activity, preferably involving undergraduate students, and service to the university through various committee appointments. The university also has an excellent faculty development program that competitively funds faculty (and student) scholarly research.

Qualifications:

A Ph.D. in Political Science is required by the start date. Preference will be given to candidates with undergraduate teaching experience. The candidate must demonstrate a commitment to continuing their own professional work along with a commitment to teaching, interdisciplinary dialogue, and working collaboratively with other faculty and with students both within the Political Science Program and across disciplines within a liberal arts environment. The ideal applicant is committed to attracting, teaching, and mentoring students from historically excluded and underrepresented groups.

To begin the application process, please submit one PDF that contains all of the following: your curriculum vitae, your unofficial graduate transcripts, and a statement of teaching philosophy. Candidates are encouraged in their cover letter to identify their strengths and experiences in creating an inclusive academic community. This PDF, along with your cover letter, which will be uploaded separately, may be submitted by following the job openings link at <http://www.transy.edu/jobs>. If you are selected to move forward in the application process, you will be asked to provide official graduate transcripts and letters of recommendation at a later date. Please send questions specific to this search to Professor Steve Hess, at shess@transy.edu. Review of applications will begin on September 1, 2024 and will continue until an appointment is made.

Transylvania University is ranked in the top 15 percent of the nation's four-year colleges by the Princeton Review, which cites its community-driven, personalized approach to a liberal arts education through 49 majors and 39 minors. Founded in 1780, it is the 16th oldest institution of higher learning in the country, with approximately 1,000 students.

Transylvania University is an Equal Opportunity Employer and is committed to enhancing the diversity of the university community. In support of this goal, we seek qualified candidates with a wide range of backgrounds, perspectives, and experiences. We embrace diversity and encourage all who are interested to apply.

Application closes: Sep 1, 2024

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/9/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14479

University of Tulsa

Rank: Assistant Professor of American Politics

The Department of Political Science at the University of Tulsa invites applications for a tenure-track position as Assistant Professor of American Politics, to begin Fall 2025. The search is open with respect to substantive focus. The department is methodologically pluralist, though we anticipate hiring a candidate who conducts research with and is willing to teach quantitative research methods.

The University of Tulsa is a small, private university seeking to enhance its research profile, particularly in areas related to indigeneity, race and ethnicity, and law. It is also a university with small class sizes in the model of a liberal arts institution. The successful candidate for this position will demonstrate excellence in both research and teaching.

Home to approximately 4,000 undergraduate and graduate students, the University of Tulsa is located in midtown Tulsa, approximately two miles from downtown. Both areas are undergoing an exciting period of growth and are home to vibrant art and music scenes. Tulsa is mid-sized (population ~400,000), family-friendly, and an affordable place to live, with easy access to urban, suburban, and rural areas. The city of Tulsa is nestled in an area where the Muscogee Creek, Cherokee, and Osage tribal territories share a common boundary. Tulsa is also home to The Gathering Place, an expansive riverside park, that Time magazine calls "One of the World's Greatest Places" (<https://www.gatheringplace.org/>). Oklahoma is geographically diverse, including plains, grasslands, rocky mesas, and mountains, and is culturally unique as it is home to 39 federally recognized Native American tribes.

Interested candidates should submit the following materials: 1) cover letter; 2) curriculum vitae; 3) research statement; 4) teaching philosophy; and 5) writing sample, preferably a sole-authored paper. Candidates may be asked to submit additional materials as the review process unfolds. Application materials must be submitted through the University's call for applications at <https://universitytulsa.peopleadmin.com/postings/8960>.

Review of applications will begin on September 16, 2024. Questions about the position can be directed to Department Chair Matt Hindman (matt-hindman@utulsa.edu).

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/8/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14476

Villanova University

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of Political Science at Villanova University invites applications for a tenure-track position at the rank of Assistant Professor beginning August 2025. The successful candidate will have broad training in American political behavior as their primary research interest. We are especially interested in candidates with a specialization in one or more of the following areas: parties, elections, media and politics, and interest groups. The successful candidate will be expected to teach courses in their areas of specialization at both the undergraduate and graduate level. While the successful candidate will also be expected to teach an undergraduate research methods course, we are not seeking someone principally trained as a methodologist.

For a more detailed description of the Department of Political Science, please consult <https://www1.villanova.edu/university/liberal-arts-sciences/programs/political-science.html>.

The selected candidate will hold a four-year inaugural appointment as the Jolyon Pitt Girard Endowed Assistant Professorship of Political Science which includes an annual research fund.

Teaching responsibilities include undergraduate and graduate (MA) courses. Teaching duties include a 2-2 teaching load for the first year and a 3-2 teaching load thereafter. After a successful Third Year Review, a one-year sabbatical is available in the fourth year and the 3-2 teaching load may be continued for another three years contingent on a successful and promising record of scholarship. Ph.D. in hand is strongly preferred. ABDs will be considered; however, continued employment is subject to completion of the Ph.D. no later than August 15, 2025.

Applicants must apply online at <https://jobs.villanova.edu>. The online application should include a detailed letter of application indicating your interest in and suitability for the position, statements of teaching philosophy and research interests, curriculum vitae, official graduate and undergraduate transcripts, three letters of recommendation, two short writing samples, two syllabi (if available), and evidence of teaching effectiveness. All materials must be received by September 13, 2024.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 9/13/2024

Date Posted: 7/3/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14470

Loyola University Maryland

Rank: Per course Instructor in American Politics

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Policy, Other

Specializations: Congress, Electoral Behavior, Political Behavior

The Department of Political Science at Loyola University Maryland invites applications to teach undergraduate American Politics courses in-person for the Spring 2025 semester. We seek instructors capable of teaching in their area of expertise, in one or more of nearly any area of American Politics (for example, Political Parties, Campaigns and Elections, Public Policy, Public Opinion, Media and Politics, Political Psychology, Social Movements). The instructor would teach in a part-time, non-tenure track capacity but may be able to teach multiple sections of the same course.

The Political Science Department has a strong teaching culture. We especially value candidates who have a strong interest in teaching undergraduates and who are able to implement thoughtful, intentional pedagogies that support the learning of a wide range of students.

A Ph.D. or A.B.D. in Political Science is required. College/university teaching experience is strongly preferred. Aside from holding office hours with students, no committee assignments or service requirements will be associated with the position.

Loyola University Maryland is a dynamic, highly selective, Jesuit Catholic university in the liberal arts tradition. It is highly ranked among the leading independent, comprehensive universities in the northeastern United States. Committed to intellectual excellence, diversity, and social justice, the University enrolls over 4,000 students in its undergraduate programs and more than 3,000 students in its graduate programs.

Loyola University Maryland strongly values the benefits that diversity brings to the workplace. In accord with its Ignatian values, the University is committed to creating and promoting a community that recognizes the inherent value and dignity of each person. Loyola University Maryland does not discriminate on the basis of race, sex, color, national or ethnic origin, age, religion, disability, marital status, sexual orientation, gender identity, genetic information, military status, or any other legally protected classification. The University recruits, hires, and promotes in accord with this policy and its Core Values.

To begin the application process, please send a curriculum vitae with a statement of interest. Eventually, we will ask for letters of reference, a graduate transcript, teaching evaluations (if available), and a cover letter explaining teaching interests and experience in relation to Loyola's educational mission. Application materials should be submitted to Political Science Department Chair Dr. Carsten Vala at cvala@loyola.edu, who is also available to answer questions. The search committee will begin screening applications immediately and continue until the position is filled.

Salary range: $4,000 - $4,500 per course (without and with PhD)

Start Date: Spring 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/2/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14463

California State Polytechnic University, Pomona

Rank: Assistant Professor in American Politics

Specializations: American Politics, Race & Ethnic Politics, Gender Politics & Policy

Tenure Track Faculty Position

Assistant Professor in American Politics

Department of Political Science

Cal Poly Pomona

Position description

The faculty member will primarily teach undergraduate classes in American Politics. All areas of specialization within American Politics will be considered. The faculty member will be expected to teach Introduction to American Government, a general education course required for all students at the university, and in addition, contribute to teaching upper-division major courses in both institutions and political behavior. A faculty member could potentially demonstrate a teaching and scholarly interest in gender, identity, intersectionality, and/or race and ethnic politics. The department also welcomes the new faculty member to introduce or teach upper-division major courses based on the lived experiences of racial and ethnic minorities, such as Black Politics and/or Indigenous Politics.

The faculty member will be part of a collegial Political Science Department that grants both B.A. degrees and M.P.A. (Master's in Public Administration) degrees. The position requires excellence in teaching and advising, professional and scholarly achievements, and a commitment to service to the university. Applicants whose work demonstrates a commitment to inclusive excellence and diversity in higher education are particularly encouraged to apply. Cal Poly Pomona is a Hispanic-serving institution, and the faculty member will be an advisor to many under-represented minorities and first-generation college students.

Minimum requirements include:

*Ph.D. in Political Science from an accredited university at the time of appointment (Degree must be conferred by the start date of the position.)

*Demonstrated commitment to inclusivity and equity. Evidence should be provided in a Student Success Statement that responds to the prompt above - "Inclusive Excellence and Student Success"

*Ability to teach courses in the political science curriculum, specifically within the American politics subfield.

*University teaching experience as instructor of record and/or teaching assistant

*Evidence of scholarly potential (conference presentations, publications, grant development, etc.)

*Evidence of demonstrated ability to contribute to the diversity and excellence of the academic community through research, teaching, and/or service and work, as well as experience fostering an inclusive environment

Preferred/Desired Qualifications:

*(Research interests related, but not limited to: social or racial justice, gender inequities, inequality, intersectionality, feminism, political and racial violence, voting rights, social movements and political resistance, tribal politics, and/or the continued impact of colonialism in the US.
*Teaching or scholarly interest in gender, identity, intersectionality, and/or race and ethnic politics.

*The ability to introduce or teach upper-division courses based on the lived experiences of Black Americans and/or Indigenous Americans.

*Preference will be given to candidates who can demonstrate the ability to mentor and advise under-served populations including, but not limited to, Asian American, Pacific Islander, Black, Latino/e, and Indigenous students.

*Preference will be given to candidates with a scholarly expertise in Black politics and/or Indigenous politics.

*Ability to teach a range of courses, such as undergraduate, graduate, and high impact classes

*Experience in curriculum development and assessment

Conditions of Employment:

The person offered this position is required to pass a background check.

Application Process:

A completed application will consist of:

*Cover letter in which you describe your interest in the position, teaching performance, research experience and interests, and how you meet the duties and qualifications articulated in the position description;

*A Student Success Statement (up to 2 pages, single-spaced) that responds to the prompt below - "Inclusive Excellence and Student Success" and addresses at least two of the inclusive excellence criteria listed (please indicate the criteria numbers in your Statement);

*Curriculum vitae;

*The names and contact information for at least three individuals who can serve as references;

*Unofficial transcripts (undergraduate and graduate, official transcripts will be required of finalists).

Finalists for the position will:

*be required to provide official transcripts for highest degree before the on-campus interview;

*be required to provide three letters of reference dated within the last two years;

*be expected to make a presentation of creative work and a teaching demonstration to faculty and interact with students.

The position is open until filled. First consideration will be given to completed applications received no later than Monday, September 16, 2024.

Applications accepted only via PageUp— <https://careers.cpp.edu/en-us/job/540751/political-scienceassistant-professor> —for University hires.

Department of Political Science. The Political Science Department offers a bachelor's degree in Political Science with courses in six subfields: American Politics, Public Administration, Public Law, Political Theory, International Relations, and Comparative Politics. We also offer a master's degree in Public Administration. The undergraduate program values research, with a strong capstone program, offering majors the opportunity to complete a senior project centered around a public-service internship or thesis. We also offer and prioritize several polytechnic, small-group experiences including National Model United Nations, Model Organization of American States, Judicial Internship, and department Study Away/Study Abroad programs (e.g., Sacramento, Iowa Caucuses, Japan, Italy, England). Applicants with a commitment to rigorous academic inquiry, practical experiential learning, and contributions to public service are encouraged to apply. Please visit our department webpage if you are considering applying: <https://www.cpp.edu/class/political-science/>.

Cal Poly Pomona. The university has a student body with diverse socio-economic and cultural backgrounds and learning styles. The Department is looking for faculty who can thrive and contribute meaningfully in this environment. Our majors reflect the diversity of the overall university student population. The department currently has over 400 major students, including over 40 graduate students. Sixty percent of our majors are first generation and 70% identify with a minoritized group. The major enrolls a diverse student body that identifies as 64% Latinx, 14% White, 8% Asian, 5% Black, 3% two or more races, 3% international, 3% unknown, and less than 1% Native Hawaiian or Native Pacific Islander. We value faculty who can inspire students through their teaching, but also, who can inspire students through teaching and mentorship in research.

Cal Poly Pomona is one of three polytechnic universities in the 23-campus California State University system and among 12 such institutions nationwide. Since its founding in 1938, Cal Poly Pomona students participate in an integrative experiential learning education that is inclusive, relevant, and values diverse perspectives and experiences. With a variety of degree programs in the arts, humanities, sciences, engineering, and professional disciplines, the university is well known for its learn- by-doing approach and Teacher Scholar Model.

The university is noted for its scenic and historic 1,400-acre campus, which was once the winter ranch of cereal magnate W.K. Kellogg. We acknowledge that Cal Poly Pomona resides on the territorial and homelands of the Tongva and Tataavium people who are the traditional land caretakers of Tovaangar. The university's nearly 30,000 students are taught and mentored by the campus's more than 1,400 faculty as part of 54 baccalaureate and 29 master's degree programs, 11 credential and certificate programs, and a doctorate in educational leadership.

Highly regarded among its peer institutions, Cal Poly Pomona is No. 2 in the U.S. News and World Report rankings of top public regional universities in the west and was named the No. 28 best value college in the nation by Money Magazine. Cal Poly Pomona, a Hispanic-Serving Institution and an Asian American and Native American Pacific Islander-Serving Institution, stands as a national leader in promoting social mobility, and was placed among the 25 top institutions in the country in awarding bachelor's degrees to minoritized students by Diverse Issues in Higher Education. In 2022, the campus launched the Black Thriving Initiative recognizing that Cal Poly Pomona's future as a university is linked to the success of its Black community. More information about our campus initiatives and our Principles of Community can be found on the Office of Inclusive Excellence's website: <https://www.cpp.edu/inclusive-excellence/>

The Cal Poly Pomona campus is located less than 30 miles east of downtown Los Angeles at the intersection of Los Angeles, Orange, Riverside and San Bernardino counties. It is within an hour's drive of beaches, mountains and deserts. For additional information about the university, please visit www.cpp.edu, and for more about faculty life, please see <https://www.cpp.edu/yourlife/>.

Student Population. Cal Poly Pomona is the number one polytechnic university in the nation for student diversity and economic mobility. Our caring and inclusive campus community is committed to helping anyone who dreams of success achieve it. In Fall 2023, Cal Poly Pomona served more than 24,000 students and close to 2,000 graduate students, mostly residents of California. Over half of Cal Poly Pomona students are first-generation college students, 70% receive financial aid, and 42% are low-income students. The university enrolls 56% percent of historically underrepresented students. Our diverse student body identifies as 53% Hispanic/Latinx, 22% Asian, 13% White, 4% two or more races, 3% unknown, 3% African American/Black, 2% International, less than 1% Native Hawaiian or Pacific Islander, and less than 1% Native American. Forty-three percent of students enroll in our STEM majors and our top five enrolled programs across the university include mechanical engineering, computer science, civil engineering, psychology, as well as finance, real estate, and law.

Inclusive Excellence and Student Success. We aspire to be the model inclusive polytechnic university in the nation. We have a strong commitment to inclusive excellence and to educational experiences that leverage the diverse perspectives and experiences needed to succeed and thrive in a diverse society.

*As a part of the application for faculty positions, all candidates must submit a Student Success Statement that demonstrates their commitment and record of contributions to diversity and equity through their teaching, scholarship, or service by speaking to at least two of the inclusive excellence criteria below.

Candidates should explain how they have engaged in the criteria below in their pedagogy, scholarship, and/or service, as well as the level to which these efforts have been consistently incorporated into their work.

Inclusive Excellence Criteria:

1. Incorporates the contributions and struggles of historic ethnic minority groups or other disadvantaged communities into their teaching, scholarly work, and/or service contributions;
2. Adopts teaching strategies that support the learning and success of students from diverse student populations;
3. Mentors and engages diverse student populations in discovery, scholarship, and creative activities;
4. Engages students in problem-based projects and learning that address the needs of diverse communities;
5. Possesses knowledge of challenges and barriers for underrepresented students and faculty within the discipline and uses it to inform their work in specific ways;
6. Mentors and assists diverse student populations interested in pursuing graduate education;
7. Engages in community-responsive action research or service with diverse student populations and communities;
8. Has experience in or demonstrates a commitment to adopting experiential learning activities and pedagogy with diverse student populations and communities; and
9. Has expertise in or demonstrated commitment to teaching, scholarship and/or service that contributes to access, diversity, and equal opportunity in higher education.

Please direct inquiries to mag@cpp.edu.

Salary Range for academic-year/nine-month appointment: $83,000-$85,500

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/26/2024

Salary: $80,000 - $89,999

eJobs ID: 14448

St. Olaf College

Rank: Assistant Professor in American Politics

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Law, Public Policy

Specializations: American Politics, Constitutional Law & Theory, Race & Ethnic Politics

The Department of Political Science at St. Olaf College invites applications for a full-time, tenure track position in American Politics, with a primary focus on institutions and/or law, at the Assistant Professor level, to begin August 2025. Preference will be given to candidates who specialize in race, gender, sexuality, and/or economic inequality, who have a broad background in the discipline, and whose research and teaching interests speak to contemporary public concerns.

The teaching responsibilities, five courses per year, would include Introduction to American Politics as well as upper-level courses depending on the scholar's areas of research and teaching interest, such as courses on Congress, the presidency, the courts, state politics, or constitutional law. We expect that the person who fills this position will contribute to our department as a creative teacher, an engaged scholar, and a collaborative colleague.

Qualifications

A Ph.D. in Political Science or a related field completed by the start of the fall semester is preferred, but ABD candidates will be considered.

About the Department

We are a collegial department, with two faculty members teaching regularly in each of the four subfields. We are committed to supporting our colleagues in their pursuit of creative and thoughtful pedagogy and rigorous scholarship. For more information about the department, visit wp.stolaf.edu/poli-sci/.

How to Apply

Submit application at: <https://tinyurl.com/4zxwjpd>

A complete application includes the following:

References: Provide contact information for three professional references who can speak to your abilities in teaching and scholarship.

Cover letter outlining your qualifications and why you are interested in this particular position

Curriculum vitae

Diversity statement (500 word limit): Describe how you would contribute to the development of a diverse and inclusive learning community at our college through your teaching, research, and/or service. Include examples of your contributions when possible.

Graduate transcripts (unofficial)

Evidence of Teaching Excellence, including a statement of teaching philosophy, focused on pedagogy in and out of the classroom at a liberal arts college

Research Statement focused on your current scholarship and plans for future scholarship

Writing sample

Review of applications will begin on September 20, 2024, and will continue until the position is filled. Applications received by that date will receive fullest consideration. Finalist interviews are expected in November. Questions about the position, department, or College may be directed to Menevis Cilizoglu, Search Committee Chair, at tt2025ps@stolaf.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 9/20/2024

Date Posted: 6/26/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14446

Williams College

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

The Political Science Department at Williams College seeks an Assistant Professor of Political Science with scholarly expertise in American political institutions and public policy. We seek a colleague who has a record of excellence in research and is committed to inclusive undergraduate education. The typical teaching load is four courses each year (2-2) plus a Winter Study (January term) course every other year; successful candidates will be able to teach Introduction to American Politics as well as a course on Congress and additional courses in their areas of interest. This tenure track appointment will begin in the 2025–2026 academic year. We welcome applications from members of groups traditionally underrepresented in the field. Candidates should have the Ph.D. completed by June 2025.

Application items should include: a cover letter detailing scholarly interests as well as teaching experience; a curriculum vitae; a writing sample of only one article or chapter; and three letters of recommendation. We ask you to write in your cover letter about your ability to work effectively with a student population that is broadly diverse with regard to gender, race, ethnicity, nationality, sexual orientation, and religion. Candidates invited to the first round of (Zoom) interviews will be asked at that time to provide sample syllabi and evidence of teaching effectiveness.

The deadline for the submission of applications is September 10 for full consideration. All application materials should be submitted through Interfolio [<https://apply.interfolio.com/148629>]. Fax and email applications will not be accepted. Inquiries may be sent to Erin Malloy at emb8@williams.edu. All offers of employment are contingent upon completion of a background check. Further information is available here: <https://faculty.williams.edu/prospective-faculty/background-check-policy/>

The Political Science department has a strong commitment to professional development which includes regular opportunities to present work in progress. Williams College offers additional professional development opportunities, including the college's First3 program as well as programming organized by the Rice Center for Teaching and the NCFDD, among other mentoring initiatives.

Williams College is a liberal arts institution located in the Berkshire Hills of western Massachusetts. The college has built its reputation on outstanding teaching and scholarship and on the academic excellence of its approximately 2,000 students. Please visit the Williams College website (<http://www.williams.edu>) to learn more about the College and in particular its professional development resources for faculty. Beyond meeting fully its legal obligations for non-discrimination, Williams College is committed to building a diverse and inclusive community where members from all backgrounds can live, learn, and thrive.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 9/10/2024

Date Posted: 6/25/2024

Salary: $80,000 - $89,999

eJobs ID: 14444

Rollins College

Rank: Assistant Professor, American Politics

Assistant Professor, American Politics

Rollins is the best college in Florida, but don't just take our word for it. See what the experts are saying. Explore all of the ways Rollins is top ranked—from our academic excellence and expert faculty to our unparalleled campus and one-of-a-kind study abroad opportunities.

<https://www.rollins.edu/news/rollins-named-a-2023-great-college-to-work-for/> Be a part of the Rollins experience and find a place where you belong. Ready to join us?

Position Summary:

The <https://www.rollins.edu/political-science/> invites applications for the position of tenure-track Assistant Professor of American politics, beginning August 2025. We seek an Americanist with proficiency in research methodology. Substantive focus is open, although applicants able to contribute to Rollins' interdisciplinary programs such as African & African American Studies, American Studies, Data Analytics, or Public Policy and Political Economy, are especially welcome.

Our department members regularly engage in student/faculty collaborative summer research, international field studies, and honors thesis supervision. The regular teaching load is three courses per semester, including Introduction to American Government and one course yearly for our general education program.

Rollins College is a comprehensive liberal arts college located just north of Orlando, FL, a diverse metropolitan community with a thriving economic and cultural scene. Nearby Orlando International Airport provides easy access to U.S. and international destinations. The college emphasizes innovative and quality teaching in small classes and ranks number one among 121 Southern master's-level universities in the annual rankings of "America's Best Colleges," released by U.S. News & World Report. Please visit the college website at <http://www.rollins.edu/>.

Minimum Qualifications and Education:

- Ph.D. or ABD in Political Science with a specialization in American politics and proficiency in research methods.
- Demonstrated commitment to teaching excellence, preferably in the liberal arts.
- Ability to contribute to, help foster, and sustain a diverse and inclusive learning and working environment at Rollins.
- Record of scholarly activity showing strong potential for future publication.

Instructions to Applicants:

Interested applicants must apply online via the College's employment website and upload the following materials as follows:

- Letter of interest
- Curriculum vitae
- Provide three reference names and email addresses on application

Inquiries can be directed to:

Mike Gunter

Chair, Department of Political Science

mailto:mgunter@rollins.edu

To discuss your application in person or schedule an introductory interview at the 2024 APSA, contact our department chair via email at <mailto:mgunter@rollins.edu>.

The closing date for applications is Friday, Oct. 11, 2024.

Diversity & Inclusion at Rollins:

Rollins is committed to fostering a diverse and inclusive campus community, and the College celebrates the open exchange of ideas within a climate of civility and mutual respect. We view differences—from race and ethnicity to sexual orientation and political perspectives—as rich opportunities for understanding, learning, and growth. To learn more, please click <https://www.rollins.edu/about-rollins/diversity-inclusion/index.html>.

Through its mission, Rollins College is firmly committed to creating a just community that embraces multiculturalism; persons from historically under-represented minority groups are therefore encouraged to apply. Rollins does not discriminate on the basis of sex, disability, race, age, religion, color, national or ethnic origin, ancestry, marital status, veteran status, sexual orientation, gender identity, gender expression, genetic information, physical characteristics, or any other category protected by federal, state, or local law, in its educational programs and activities.

Benefits & Perks:

- Paid Holidays and College Closure Days
- Eligible for Medical, Prescription, Dental & Vision Insurance (within 30 days of hire)
- 100% Employer-Funded Health Reimbursement Account ($125+/month)
- 100% Employer-Paid Short & Long Term Disability Insurance
- Domestic Partner Benefits
- 11.5% Employer Retirement Contributions
- Discounted On-Campus Dining Meal Plans
- FREE On-Campus Parking
- FREE Access to Campus Amenities (gyms, pools, library, sporting events and more)
- FREE Full Tuition for Employees and their Families
- Pet Insurance
- 100% Employer-Funded Employee Assistance Program
- Flexible Spending Accounts
- Award-Winning Wellbeing Programs: Blue Rewards, Rally Dollars, Hinge Health Musculoskeletal Coaching
- Plus More!

Additional Perks:

- Local & National Discount Programs, including Winter Park Locations (i.e. shops, restaurants, gift cards and more)
- FREE E-Training Courses & Professional Development Opportunities
- IT Software & Laptop Discounts (Apple, Lenovo, and more)
- College Bookstore Discounts
- Annual Service Awards & Recognition Programs
- Discover what it's like to live in Orlando: <https://life.orlando.org/live/>
- Plus More!

<https://www.rollins.edu/human-resources/working-at-rollins/why-rollins/benefits.html>.

FLSA Status:

Exempt

Service Months:

9

To apply, visit <https://apptrkr.com/5344819>

Rollins is the best college in Florida, but don't just take our word for it. See what the experts are saying. Explore all of the ways Rollins is top ranked—from our academic excellence and expert faculty to our unparalleled campus and one-of-a-kind study abroad opportunities.

<https://www.rollins.edu/news/rollins-named-a-2023-great-college-to-work-for/> Be a part of the Rollins experience and find a place where you belong. Ready to join us?

Copyright ©2024 Jobelephant.com Inc. All rights reserved.

<https://www.jobelephant.com/>

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/21/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14433

Missouri State University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

ANNOUNCEMENT OF POSITION VACANCY

Missouri State University

American Politics

The Department of Political Science and Philosophy at Missouri State University invites applications for a nine-month, tenure-track appointment in American Politics at the assistant professor rank. The successful candidate will have a primary field and/or identifiable research agenda in American institutions and must be prepared to teach undergraduate courses in Political Institutions, particularly Congress and the Executive, and the introductory American politics course. While ABDs will be considered, the successful candidate must have a Ph.D. in political science by the time of appointment in August 2025. The successful candidate will be able to enhance the Public Affairs mission of the University and demonstrate a commitment to working with diverse student and community populations. The successful candidate will demonstrate a commitment to teaching and service and possess an identifiable research agenda that demonstrates the potential for a sustained record of scholarship leading to publications in peer-reviewed journals.

The Department of Political Science and Philosophy has 20 full-time faculty members—14 in political science and six in philosophy—and approximately 160 undergraduate majors as well as master's programs in both Public Administration and International Affairs. Missouri State University is a selective-admission, comprehensive, and multi-campus university system with an enrollment of over 20,000 students, 150 undergraduate majors, and 47 graduate programs. MSU is located in Springfield, MO, with a metropolitan population of over 400,000, in the heart of the Ozarks region of Southwest Missouri.

Apply online at <https://jobs.missouristate.edu/>. For additional information, contact:

Dr. Christopher Lynch, Head
Department of Political Science and Philosophy
Missouri State University
901 S. National Ave.
Springfield, MO 65897

Salary is competitive and commensurate with background and experience. Consideration of applicants begins October 1, 2024, continuing until the position is filled. Employment requires a criminal background check performed at the University's expense.

Missouri State University is an equal opportunity/affirmative action/minority/female/veterans/disability/sexual orientation/gender identity employer and institution. We encourage applications from all interested minorities, females, veterans, individuals with disabilities, and sexual orientation/gender identity.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/20/2024

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 14431

USC Sol Price School of Public Policy

Rank: Professor of Public Policy and Management; Bedrosian Chair in Governance and the Public Enterprise

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Public Administration, American Government and Politics

Position Description and Qualifications

The Sol Price School of Public Policy at the University of Southern California seeks a senior faculty member at the rank of professor (tenured) in the Public Policy and Management Department to serve as the Bedrosian Chair in Governance and the Public Enterprise. The individual will have a stellar record of scholarship and leadership in governance and the public enterprise. Of particular interest will be a focus on civic engagement, democratic processes and institutions, collective action, public policy processes and analytics, and public/nonprofit management. We are interested in scholars from all relevant disciplines as well as an interest in a wide array of issue areas that are part of the School's portfolio. Applicants must present evidence of a creative, vibrant and intellectually rigorous research agenda and significant accomplishments in their field. The candidate will also serve as Director of the Bedrosian Center for Governance and the Public Enterprise and is expected to develop and execute public facing programs on Democracy and Governance, including highly visible related policy discussions.

About the Bedrosian Center

The Judith and John Bedrosian Center on Governance and the Public Enterprise was established with a generous gift from Judith and John Bedrosian in 2004. Effective governance is essential to the quality of life of all Americans. The center is dedicated to understanding and improving the nature of democratic governance, policymaking, and management of the public enterprise in the 21st century. The center provides a highly visible focal point for imaginative research, policy analysis, and dialogue across the university. Through public discussion, the center focuses on pressing issues facing society and integrates conversations with civic education, which is at the heart of strong communities.

For additional information about the USC Sol Price School of Public Policy, see our website: <https://priceschool.usc.edu>.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/13/2024

Salary: Above $159,999

eJobs ID: 14410

Michigan State University

Rank: Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): Political Theory, Comparative Politics, American Government and Politics

Specializations: African American Politics, Native American Politics, Race & Ethnic Politics

James Madison College at Michigan State University invites applications for a tenure-track assistant professor position in Political Theory

and Constitutional Democracy (PTCD). James Madison College engages undergraduates in a liberal arts education in public affairs in a residential college setting within a broader research-intensive university. The Political Theory and Constitutional Democracy major is an interdisciplinary field of public affairs. It focuses on liberal constitutional democracy (its origins, practice, critics, and defenders) from the perspective of political philosophy.

We seek a teacher-scholar broadly trained in the history of political theory that supports curriculum in Black political thought (American and comparative), as well as radical perspectives on modern constitutional democracy. Areas of research and teaching focus include African-American politics, comparative Black political thought, and radical political theory. In addition to these requirements, preferred areas of interest include: colonialism studies, Native-American studies, Indigenous studies, American constitutional politics, or modern political theory. Preference will be given to candidates who can teach elective courses cross-listed between PTCD and Social Relations and Policy majors.

Successful candidates will have demonstrated ability to teach core courses in the history of political thought combining serious study of canonical texts as well as authors/voices from outside the canon, with a view to the present and future of constitutional democracy. Applicants should also be able to contribute to the broader interdisciplinary curriculum of the major and the college, including the first-year sequence. The successful candidate will be expected to maintain an active scholarly agenda in their respective field(s). The College is especially interested in candidates who can contribute, through their teaching, research and/or service, to the diversity and excellence of the academic community.

For more information, please see the college website: <https://jmc.msu.edu> and the full position description at <https://careers.msu.edu>.

Ph.D. in a related field is required by August 16th, 2025.

Applications must be submitted electronically to the Michigan State University Human Resources web site: <https://careers.msu.edu>. Please see posting number 955409 for complete instructions on how to apply. Review of applications will begin on September 20th, 2024, and will continue until the position is filled. Please contact Katie Dyjach (dyjachk@msu.edu) with any questions.

MSU is an Affirmative Action/Equal opportunity employer. MSU is committed to achieving excellence through cultural diversity. The university actively encourages applications and/or nominations of women, persons of color, veterans, and persons with disabilities.

Michigan State University occupies the ancestral, traditional, and contemporary Lands of the Anishinaabeg-Three Fires Confederacy of Ojibwe, Odawa, and Potawatomi peoples. The University resides on Land ceded in the 1819 Treaty of Saginaw.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 5/31/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14388

Waseda University

Rank: Tenure-track or tenured position in Political Science in Any Subfield

Subfield(s): Open, American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics

Faculty Recruitment Information in Political Science in Any Subfield

The Faculty of Political Science and Economics (the “FPSE”) at Waseda University in Tokyo, Japan invites applications for a tenure-track or tenured position in any of the following subfields of political science: Japanese Politics, Political Economy, Comparative Politics, International Relations, or Formal and Quantitative Methods. We seek candidates who advance theoretical and empirical research on important questions in their subfield. Candidates should have strong methodological training and be able to advise graduate students on both substantive and methodological issues.

The primary teaching responsibility of this position is “Introduction to Political Analysis,” one of the foundational courses offered at the FPSE, which is required for all the first-year undergraduate students majoring in political science, economics, or global political economy. This course introduces the most important questions in politics and how political scientists use analytical and scientific methods to answer those questions. In addition, the successful candidate will teach other undergraduate and graduate-level seminars. Applicants must have the ability to teach fluently both in Japanese and English.

The position will begin as early as April 1, 2025.

For more details and instructions for application, please go to the website at

https://www.waseda.jp/fpse/pse/assets/uploads/2024/05/RecruitmentInfo_PoliSci24_ENG.pdf

Start Date: Spring 2025

Application Deadline: 9/3/2024

Date Posted: 5/30/2024

Salary: Any

eJobs ID: 14381

Hampden-Sydney College

Rank: Assistant Professor: Public Law

Specializations: Constitutional Law & Theory, Civil Rights & Liberties, Political Theory

The Department of Government and Foreign Affairs at Hampden-Sydney College invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track appointment at the rank of Assistant Professor to begin in Fall 2025. Candidates should have expertise in American public law with a focus on constitutional law and American judicial process. The successful applicant will serve as faculty advisor to the Pre-Law Society and Moot Court team and may teach, as needed, introductory courses in American Politics. Faculty teach in a 6-6-7 course rotation with six courses per year for two years and seven courses in the third year.

Hampden-Sydney College highly values the teacher/scholar model. Successful applicants will have a record of effective classroom teaching, a commitment to scholarly productivity, and a willingness to work with colleagues on professional service responsibilities. Applicants should have a Ph.D. in political science or a comparable degree by the time of appointment. ABDs and JDs with teaching experience will also be considered.

Please submit a letter of application, curriculum vitae, teaching statement, research statement, and three letters of reference to Dr. Celia Carroll Jones, Chair, Department of Government and Foreign Affairs, Hampden-Sydney College via Interfolio: <http://apply.interfolio.com/147105>. Review of applications will begin immediately and continue until the position is filled.

Hampden-Sydney College is a selective liberal arts institution enrolling approximately 1000 students. Founded in 1775, it is the tenth oldest institution of higher learning in the United States. Hampden-Sydney is one of three liberal arts colleges in the United States dedicated to the education of men. Our mission is to educate "good men and good citizens in an atmosphere of sound learning."

Our beautiful 1300-acre campus is less than 7 miles from downtown Farmville, home to Longwood University and the Moton Museum, which is listed on the U.S. Civil Rights Trail. The campus is located 65 miles west of Richmond, 50 miles east of Lynchburg, and 75 miles south of Charlottesville, providing abundant cultural, recreational and artistic resources. As a community, we are dedicated to the goal of building a culturally diverse faculty committed to working in a multicultural environment and strongly encourage applications from women and minoritized groups. Hampden-Sydney College values diversity, prohibits discrimination, and is committed to equal opportunity for all employees and applicants for employment.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 8/15/2024

Date Posted: 5/25/2024

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 14370

American University

Rank: Professorial Lecturer

Applicants should hold a PhD or other terminal degree. Highly qualified applicants with a master's degree related to political science will be considered at the rank of instructor. The position will require the incumbent to teach three undergraduate or M.A. courses per semester in political science with a primary focus on American Politics and Public Policy. We are especially interested in applicants who can teach GOVT 443/643 (Applied Political Writing), GOVT 210 (Political Power and American Public Policy), and GOVT 620 (Applied Politics and American Public Policy). All faculty are expected to hold office hours and participate in School and University activities and service.

Salary is competitive. Review of applications will begin immediately and will continue until the position is filled, subject to on-going budgetary approval. Include a letter of application, curriculum vitae, contact information for three professional recommendations, recent teaching evaluations (when possible), and copies of recent published papers or working papers.

Please contact Rachel Whelan, Faculty Coordinator, 202-885-6201 or spa_academicaffairs@american.edu if you have any questions.

Benefits

AU offers a competitive benefits package including a 200% matching retirement plan, tuition benefits for full-time staff and their families, several leadership development certificates, and has been recognized by the American Heart Association as a fit-friendly worksite.

Other Details

Hiring offers for this position are contingent on successful completion of a background check.

Please note this job announcement is not designed to cover or contain a comprehensive listing of activities, duties or responsibilities that are required of the employee for this job. Duties, responsibilities, and activities may change at any time with or without notice.

American University is an E-Verify employer.

American University is a student-centered research institution located in Washington, DC, with highly ranked schools and colleges, internationally renowned faculty, and a reputation for creating meaningful change in the world.

Learn more about American University. <https://www.american.edu/>

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 4/23/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14334

Rowan University

Rank: Open Rank Tenure/Track Faculty Position, Political Science

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Policy, Open

The Department of Political Science & Economics at Rowan University invites applications for one or more tenure-track positions in Political Science beginning in Fall 2024. The Department seeks candidates with expertise in public policy and the politics of health equity broadly constructed. Areas of research interest may include but are not limited to: welfare or social policies that relate to health including housing policy, food insecurity, Medicare and/or Medicaid expansion, the politics of the ACA, reproductive rights, LGBTQ+ rights, and other gender issues associated with health, and equal access to healthcare. Applicants must demonstrate a commitment to excellence in both research and teaching, as well as the potential to secure external grant/fellowship support. Teaching responsibilities include introductory, advanced courses and graduate courses in American politics, methodology, and/or public policy.

A top 100 national public research institution, Rowan University offers bachelor's through doctoral and professional programs in person and online to 22,000 students through its main campus in Glassboro, N.J., its medical school campuses in Camden and Stratford, and five others. The University has earned national recognition for innovation, commitment to high-quality, affordable education, and developing public-private partnerships. A Carnegie-classified R2 (high research activity) institution, Rowan has been recognized as the fourth fastest-growing public research university, as reported by The Chronicle of Higher Education. For more information on Rowan University, click here.

Minimum Qualifications: Applicants at the assistant professor level must have a Ph.D. in Political Science, Public Policy (or related field) or ABD with a firm date of completion no later than July 1, 2024, a strong research agenda, and a commitment to quality teaching and active service. Associate or full professor applicants must have a Ph.D. in Political Science, Public Policy (or related field), a strong record of publications and external grant activity, and a commitment to quality teaching and active service.

Applications will be accepted on a rolling basis until the position is filled. The first full review of applications will be on January 19, 2024. Applications must be submitted through our online applicant tracking system at <https://jobs.rowan.edu/en-us/job/499103/open-rank-tenure-track-faculty-position-political-science-department-of-political-science-and-economics>.

Applications must include a cover letter, a CV, unofficial transcripts, a writing sample, and a teaching portfolio (including a statement of teaching philosophy, courses taught, teaching evaluations, etc.). Please do not submit letters of reference at this time.

Rowan University values diversity and is committed to equal opportunity in employment.

All positions are contingent upon budget appropriations.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 11/19/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12902

Catholic University of America

Rank: Assistant Professor of Politics

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Policy, Political Theory

Assistant Professor of Politics (American Politics)

The Department of Politics at The Catholic University of America invites applications for a tenure-track faculty appointment in American politics, to begin in the fall of 2024. We are interested in a candidate with a range of interests, including but not limited to public opinion, ideology, political parties, elections, and the presidency. The successful candidate could also play an important advisory role for our Washington, D.C. internship programs. The department especially welcomes applicants whose research interests complement its traditional strengths in historical, theoretical, and institutional perspectives. Situated on a large and beautiful campus, Catholic University is only three metro stops from the Capitol. Politics is one of the largest majors on campus, attracting many students who value the community of a Catholic university while pursuing careers related to politics and law in the nation's capital. The department's Ph.D program has a long and distinguished history, and the development of professionally minded M.A. programs is a university priority.

We seek candidates who understand, are enthusiastic about, and will make a significant contribution to the mission of the University, which reads as follows: "As the national university of the Catholic Church in the United States, founded and sponsored by the bishops of the country with the approval of the Holy See, The Catholic University of America is committed to being a comprehensive Catholic and American institution of higher learning, faithful to the teachings of Jesus Christ as handed on by the Church. Dedicated to advancing the dialogue between faith and reason, The Catholic University of America seeks to discover and impart the truth through excellence in teaching and research, all in service to the Church, the nation and the world."

Applicants should submit a cover letter, a curriculum vitae, a statement of current research and future research plans, a statement of teaching philosophy, graduate school transcript, and a sample of written work (including scholarly publications) to pol-search@cua.edu and arrange for the submission of three letters of reference. In addition, applicants are asked to submit a one- to two-page personal statement indicating how their research, teaching, and service will make a distinctive contribution to our University's mission and to the vision of Catholic education outlined in the Apostolic Constitution on Catholic Universities Ex Corde Ecclesiae.

Review of applications will begin November 15 and continue until the position is filled. Questions may be directed to Jakub Grygiel, Department Chair, at grygiel@cua.edu.

The Catholic University of America is an Equal Opportunity Employer.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/7/2023

Salary: $70,000 - $79,999

eJobs ID: 12478

Catholic University of America

Rank: Clinical Assistant Professor of Politics

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Comparative Politics, American Government and Politics

Specializations: American Politics, Latin American, Political Theory

Clinical Assistant Professor of Politics (Public Policy)

The Department of Politics at The Catholic University of America invites applications for a clinical (non-tenure track, two-year renewable contract) faculty appointment, to begin in the fall of 2024. Candidates should have expertise in public policy (American and/or comparative, as well as familiarity with the principles of Catholic social teaching). The department especially welcomes applicants whose research interests complement its traditional strengths in historical, theoretical, ethical and institutional perspectives. The successful candidate will have an opportunity to teach both undergraduates and graduates, including students in a new MA in Public Policy program currently under development.

We seek candidates who understand, are enthusiastic about, and will make a significant contribution to the mission of the University, which reads as follows: "As the national university of the Catholic Church in the United States, founded and sponsored by the bishops of the country with the approval of the Holy See, The Catholic University of America is committed to being a comprehensive Catholic and American institution of higher learning, faithful to the teachings of Jesus Christ as handed on by the Church. Dedicated to advancing the dialogue between faith and reason, The Catholic University of America seeks to discover and impart the truth through excellence in teaching and research, all in service to the Church, the nation and the world."

Applicants should submit a cover letter, a curriculum vitae, a statement of current research and future research plans, a statement of teaching philosophy, graduate school transcript, and a sample of written work (including scholarly publications) to pol-search@cua.edu and arrange for the submission of three letters of reference. In addition, applicants are asked to submit a one- to two-page personal statement indicating how their research, teaching, and service will make a distinctive contribution to our University's mission and to the vision of Catholic education outlined in the Apostolic Constitution on Catholic Universities Ex Corde Ecclesiae.

Review of applications will begin November 15 and continue until the position is filled.

Questions may be directed to Jakub Grygiel, Department Chair, at grygiel@cua.edu.

The Catholic University of America is an Equal Opportunity Employer.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/7/2023

Salary: $70,000 - $79,999

eJobs ID: 12475

University of Pittsburgh

Rank: Assistant Professor - American Politics

Assistant Professor – American Politics

The Department of Political Science at the University of Pittsburgh invites applications for a tenure-stream position at the level of Assistant Professor of American Politics, with a focus on partisanship, polarization, representation, and challenges to democracy. We are particularly interested in candidates working in areas including (but not limited to) group identity and bias, media consumption, public-elite interactions, and policy responsiveness. Preferred candidates would also complement the Department's current strengths, which include state politics, identity politics, structural racism, and community-engaged research. In addition, while it is not required for this position, we also value the ability of an applicant to augment the Department's and the University of Pittsburgh's training and reputation in computational social science and methodology. Applicants are required to have or expect to have a Ph.D. in Political Science or a related field before the appointment begins. Applications should include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, statement of research and teaching interests, two or three writing samples, teaching evaluations (if available), a brief description of how your research, teaching or service demonstrates a commitment to diversity, equity, and inclusion, and a minimum of three letters of reference; references will receive email notification with instructions about submitting their letters. In order to ensure full consideration, applications must be received by September 22, 2023, and the review of applications will continue until the position is filled.

Applications should include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, statement of research and teaching interests, two or three writing samples, teaching evaluations (if available), a brief description of how your research, teaching or service demonstrates a commitment to diversity, equity, and inclusion, and a minimum of three letters of reference; references will receive email notification with instructions about submitting their letters.

The University of Pittsburgh is committed to championing all aspects of diversity, equity, inclusion, and accessibility within our community. This commitment is a fundamental value of the University and is crucial in helping us advance our mission, which includes attracting and retaining diverse workforces. We will continue to create and maintain an environment that allows individuals to discover, belong, contribute, and grow, while honoring the experiences, perspectives, and unique identities of all.

The University of Pittsburgh is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer and values equality of opportunity, human dignity, and diversity. EOE, including disability/vets. The University of Pittsburgh requires all Pitt constituents (employees and students) on all campuses to be vaccinated against COVID-19 or have an approved exemption. Visit coronavirus.pitt.edu to learn more about this requirement.

Applicants should be submitted at the following site:

https://cfopitt.taleo.net/careersection/pitt_faculty_external/jobdetail.ftl?job=23006664&tz=GMT-04%3A00&tzname=America%2FNew_York

The political science Department telephone number is (412) 648-7290; the contact e-mail address is nek89@pitt.edu.

The University of Pittsburgh is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer and values equality of opportunity, human dignity, and diversity. EOE, including disability/vets.

Start Date: Fall 2023

Application Deadline: 9/23/2023

Date Posted: 8/29/2023

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 12396

Yale University

Rank: Assistant/Associate/Full Professor, Political Science

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, International Relations

Specializations: American Politics, Political Economy, International Law & Organizations

Position Description

The Department of Political Science at Yale University is seeking to hire several faculty members at the rank of Assistant, Associate, or Full Professor with an appointment in the fields of American Politics, Comparative Politics, Political Economy, and/or International Relations, beginning July 1, 2024. The successful applicant will be expected to teach courses in their substantive area of expertise in political science.

Qualifications

If candidates are appointed at the untenured level, the initial appointment will be for 5 years. The teaching expectation is normally 3 courses per academic year.

Ph.D. or equivalent degree required at time of hire.

Application Instructions

All applications must include a cover letter, CV, and a list of 3 references. Untenured candidates should also supply 3 recommendation letters, 2 writing samples, and separate short (2 pages or less) research and teaching statements. All materials should be uploaded to Interfolio at <http://apply.interfolio.com/129113>. Review of applications will begin September 15, 2023, and to guarantee full consideration your file should be complete by this date.

Please contact Ms. Xaria Callender, Sr. Administrative Assistant for the Political Science Department, at xaria.callender@yale.edu if you have questions about the application process.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Date Posted: 8/7/2023

Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 12216

Bloomsburg University

Rank: Political Science Temporary Pool-Intro to and U.S. Government

Position Description

The Department of Political Science at Bloomsburg University of Pennsylvania seeks qualified candidates for temporary teaching positions (full-time one semester, part-time one semester or part-time academic year) as needs arise. A successful applicant must be able to teach POLISCI 101: Elements of Political Science and POLISCI 120: U.S. Government. A description of these courses can be found in the most current Academic Catalog at Bloomsburg University <https://archive.bloomu.edu/catalog->

Qualifying Education/Experience

Applicants must possess a Master's Degree in Political Science or related field (Public Administration, Public Policy) from a regionally accredited institution. A Ph.D. in Political Science or related field is preferred as is specialization in the disciplinary subfield of American Politics. Applicants should also possess a demonstrated ability to work with diverse populations. Previous college teaching experience is preferred.

Supplemental Information

A complete application includes a cover letter addressing requirements and preferences for the position, a current CV, teaching evaluations (if available), a statement of philosophy of education, and 3 letters of recommendation. Submit application materials online at www.bloomu.edu/jobs Applications to this temporary pool will be accepted through April 30, 2024 (to reflect three-year life cycle of pool). Questions may be directed to Search & Screen Committee Chair, Dr. Neil Strine, hstrin2@bloomu.edu

Finalist(s) for these positions must communicate well and successfully complete an interview process and/or teaching demonstration as judged by the department faculty. Recommendation for hiring is needed from a majority of the regular, full-time department faculty.

Prior to a final offer of employment, the selected candidate will be required to submit to a background check including, but not limited to, employment verification, educational and other credential verification, Pennsylvania Child Abuse History Clearance and criminal background.

Completing this search is contingent upon enrollment and available funding.

The University prohibits any form of discrimination or harassment on the basis of sex, race, color, age, religion, national or ethnic origin, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, pregnancy, marital or family status, medical condition, genetic information, veteran status, or disability in any decision regarding admissions, employment, or participation in a University program or activity in accordance with the letter and spirit of federal, state, and local non-discrimination and equal opportunity laws, such as Titles VI and VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972, the Age Discrimination in Employment Act, the Americans with Disabilities Act and ADA Amendments Act, the Equal Pay Act, and the Pennsylvania Human Relations Act. The University also complies with the Jeanne Clery Disclosure of Campus Security Policy and Campus Crimes Statistics Act, as amended by the Violence Against Women Act (VAWA). Title IX prohibits retaliation for asserting or otherwise participating in claims of sex discrimination. VAWA imposes additional duties on universities and colleges to investigate and respond to reports of sexual assault, stalking, and dating or domestic violence, and to publish policies and procedures related to the way these reports are handled. The University has designated the Title IX Coordinator (Jennifer Raup, Elwell Hall, ORL, 570-389-4808, jraup@bloomu.edu or titleixcoord@bloomu.edu), to coordinate the University's compliance with Title IX and VAWA and to respond to reports of violations. The University has directed the Bloomsburg University Police Department to coordinate the University's compliance with the VAWA- related Clery reporting requirements. Additionally, inquiries concerning Title IX and its implementing regulation can be made to the U.S. Department of Education, Office of Civil Rights, Region III, The Wanamaker Building, 100 Penn Square East - Suite 505, Philadelphia, PA 19107; Phone: (215) 656-6010; Fax: (215) 656-6020.

Start Date: Spring 2021

Application Deadline: 4/30/2024

Date Posted: 4/30/2021

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 8844

COMPARATIVE POLITICS

Lake Forest College

Rank: Latin American Politics and International Relations

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Methodology

Specializations: South America, Central America, Mexico

The Lake Forest College Department of Politics and International Relations invites applications for a tenure-track assistant professor in comparative politics or international relations with a specialization in Latin America to begin August 2025. We seek someone to teach

Introduction to Comparative Politics; Introduction to Global Politics; a research methods survey course, required for Politics and International Relations majors, that includes qualitative and/or quantitative methods; and a broad range of other courses in comparative politics or international relations with a focus on Spanish-speaking countries in Latin America. While we encourage candidates of all substantive interests to apply, those whose work focuses on issues of human rights, social movements, migration, indigenous communities, or populism are preferred. Additionally, candidates with corollary research and/or teaching interests in the Latinx experience within the domestic United States are particularly encouraged to apply.

Lake Forest College has a rich, interdisciplinary program in Latin American and Latinx Studies to which the successful candidate is expected to contribute significantly. Other interdisciplinary programs include Urban Studies; Gender, Sexuality, and Women's Studies; African American Studies; and Social Justice. We also have an "In the Loop" semester-long residential program in Chicago, as well as many courses emphasizing Chicago history, politics, and its diverse cultures. Lake Forest College's proximity to Chicago provides an opportunity to use the city as a "laboratory" for student work and research. We are interested in candidates who can contribute to any of these programs. We are especially interested in candidates who can incorporate students into their research programs and want to build a career centered on teaching and advising excellence.

Candidates are expected to have a record of demonstrated teaching excellence and the promise of scholarly productivity. A Ph.D. in political science or a related field is required. (ABD is acceptable if degree is conferred prior to the start of the 25-26 academic year.) Our teaching load is 3/3, with small classes (typically 15-25 students). We support faculty research through the provision of student research assistants and the potential to apply for summer research funds. The successful passage of the third-year review earns a one-semester sabbatical at full pay in the fourth or fifth year of service. Tenure review takes place at the start of the sixth year.

Applicants should submit a curriculum vitae, an unofficial graduate transcript, a teaching statement that addresses diversity in a liberal arts setting, sample syllabi, a single sample of scholarly writing, three confidential letters of recommendation, and evidence of teaching effectiveness to James J. Marquardt, Ph.D., Chair of the Department of Politics and International Relations at the following email address: latinamericasearch2024@lakeforest.edu. Applications will be accepted until the position is filled but must be received by October 1, 2024, to be assured full consideration.

A highly selective liberal arts college located on Chicago's North Shore, Lake Forest College enrolls approximately 1,800 students from more than 40 states and from more than 100 countries. Lake Forest is one of the most diverse small colleges in the Midwest with approximately 40% of our student body comprised of domestic students of color and international students. At Lake Forest College, the quality of a faculty member's teaching is the most important criterion for evaluation. The College also expects peer-reviewed publications and active participation in the College community. Lake Forest College embraces diversity and encourages applications from women, members of historically underrepresented groups, veterans, and individuals with disabilities.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 10/1/2024

Date Posted: 8/1/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14565

Occidental College

Rank: Tenure-track Assistant Professor

The Politics Department at Occidental College invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor in Political Theory to begin in August 2025. We seek a political theorist with a specialization in contemporary political thought. Areas of focus may include, but are not limited to, democratic theory, multiculturalism, comparative political theory, feminist theory, queer theory, critical race theory, non-Western theory, postcolonial theory, Indigenous theory, and environmental political thought. The department is especially interested in candidates whose work speaks to democratic, comparative, non-Western and/or Indigenous perspectives or environmental political thought. All candidates should be prepared to offer (i) courses in traditional political thought (ancient and modern); (ii) a survey class in contemporary political thought that addresses challenges of and to democracy, and (iii) courses in their specialization.

Strong candidates will be thoughtful in their pedagogical approaches, will seek to continually improve their teaching, and will possess a record of, or potential for, teaching excellence. Strong candidates will design and teach a wide variety of courses attractive to undergraduate liberal arts students and we welcome applications from candidates interested in contributing to the College's First Year Program as well as those whose courses might be cross listed with other humanities and social sciences departments. Successful candidates will possess a record of, or potential for, strong scholarship in the discipline of political science. Finally, strong candidates will contribute to and participate in the life of the college, through service, advising, mentoring students, and other activities.

Required Qualifications

? Ph.D. in political science – Applicants may be Ph.D. candidates in political science who expect to have their Ph.D. in hand by August 1, 2025.

? A specialization in contemporary political thought.

? Demonstrated commitment to and excellence in undergraduate teaching.

? A strong record of scholarly accomplishments appropriate to the level of appointment.

? Demonstrated commitment to working effectively with students from minoritized and marginalized social groups.

? Ability to balance excellent teaching, scholarship, and service.

? Demonstrated commitment to the four cornerstones of the mission of the College: excellence, equity, community, and service.

Preferred Qualifications

Experience working collaboratively with local community organizations.

Application Submission Materials

Upload your application materials to Interfolio, <http://apply.interfolio.com/150794>

You must submit a complete application package electronically to be considered by the search committee. An application includes the following:

- ? Cover Letter in which you describe the education, experience, and/or skills you possess that are relevant to the position description, required and preferred qualifications
- ? Curriculum Vitae
- ? Research Statement (maximum 2-page single-spaced)
- ? Teaching Philosophy Statement (maximum 2-page single-spaced)
- ? Commitment to Inclusive Excellence Statement (maximum 2-page single-spaced)

o This statement provides your unique perspective on your past and present contributions to and future aspirations for promoting justice, equity, inclusion, and diversity in your professional career. This should include your demonstrated commitment to, past evidence of, and future plans for creating equitable opportunities for learning and mentoring especially for students from marginalized and minoritized groups. You may also speak to how your research and/or service promotes justice, equity, inclusion, and diversity. The purpose of this statement is to help the department identify candidates who have professional experience, intellectual commitments, and/or willingness to engage in activities that could help the College contribute to its mission in these areas.

- ? List of three references with relevant contact information

o If you advance to the finalist phase, you will be asked to have each of your three references submit a letter of recommendation. Please have these ready for the referents to submit should you move forward to this phase of the search. Do not submit these letters with your initial application.

Please direct all questions about the position to: Regina Freer, Chair of Politics at rffreer@oxy.edu or call 323-259-2924.

Application Deadline

To be assured full consideration, your application materials must be received by September 6, 2024. Upon receipt of a complete application package, you will receive a preliminary questionnaire. Please complete this questionnaire by September 9, 2024 to move forward in the search process.

The Department and College

The dynamic curriculum and exciting faculty research agendas in the Politics department focus on questions of democracy, social justice, power, rights, and liberties. We work closely with our students, preparing them to become thoughtful, well-informed, and engaged leaders in our increasingly complex, interdependent world, combining rigorous in-classroom work, research, and community-based experiential learning opportunities. The faculty are active scholars and contributors to the local, state, national, and international communities.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 9/6/2024

Date Posted: 8/1/2024

Salary: $80,000 - $89,999

eJobs ID: 14572

Princeton University

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Associate, Program in Latin American Studies

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Public Policy

Program in Latin American Studies (PLAS) Postdoctoral Fellowship, 2025-2026

Job Title: Postdoctoral Research Associate

Requisition Number: D-24-LAS-00006

The Program in Latin American Studies (PLAS) is seeking candidates from any discipline who are engaged in scholarly research on topics related to Latin American Studies, including the Caribbean and Brazil, to fill Postdoctoral Research Associate or more senior research positions. Candidates will be expected to devote themselves to research and writing, and may teach not more than one course per semester. When teaching, successful candidates will hold the secondary rank of Lecturer, and any teaching opportunities are subject to sufficient enrollments and the approval of the Dean of the Faculty. Postdoctoral associates are expected to participate regularly in the scholarly and academic activities of the program.

The Term of appointment is based on rank. Positions at the postdoctoral rank are for a 12-month term during the 2025-2026 academic year with the possibility of renewal pending satisfactory performance and continued funding; those hired at more senior ranks may have multi-year appointments. Start date is around September 1, 2025.

Appointments are for a 12-month term during the 2025-2026 academic year, starting September 1, 2025, with the possibility of renewal, contingent on satisfactory performance and continued funding.

A competitive salary commensurate with experience and excellent benefits will be offered.

This position is subject to the University's background check policy. The work location for this position is in-person on campus at Princeton University.

How to Apply:

For full consideration complete applications including letters of recommendation should be submitted by December 1, 2024, 11:59 p.m. EST.

All candidates must apply online and submit the below materials (in English) at <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/34843>.

1. Cover letter
2. Curriculum vitae
3. Statement of research interests (1,000 – 1,500 words)
4. A representative sample of recent work (under 30 written pages or equivalent)

5. Three letters of recommendation

Required Qualifications: Doctoral degree. Eligible candidate must have less than three years of post- PhD research experience prior to anticipated start date. Academic excellence, potential to bring new ideas and approaches to Princeton University and to interact successfully with a broad range of faculty and students.

Start Date: Fall 2025
Application Deadline: 12/1/2024
Date Posted: 8/1/2024
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 14514

Tulane University

Rank: Assistant Professor (tenure-track) in Comparative Politics of Autocracies

Position description: We seek to hire an Assistant Professor (tenure-track) in the Comparative Politics of Autocracies to complement our existing strength in Comparative Politics; the position is open with regard to regional focus and specialization. We aim to foster methodological pluralism. Prospective candidates may work on a single country or conduct comparisons across multiple cases. The teaching load is 2-2. The prospective candidate will contribute to the Political Science program at the undergraduate and graduate curricular levels. The expected start date for this position is July 1, 2025. For further questions about the position, contact Prof. Eduardo Silva, gesilva@tulane.edu

Qualifications: PhD in Political Science preferred. Although ABD candidates will be considered, a terminal degree is required by the time the Assistant Professor appointment begins.

Application instructions: Please send in a cover letter, a CV, a statement of research, a teaching statement, a writing sample, and 3 letters of recommendation by September 2, 2024. All materials should be uploaded directly in Interfolio: <http://apply.interfolio.com/150920>

Start Date: Fall 2025
Application Deadline: 9/2/2024
Date Posted: 8/1/2024
Salary: $80,000 - $89,999
eJobs ID: 14570

Boston College

Rank: Assistant Professor in Comparative Politics/China and East Asia

The Department of Political Science at Boston College invites applications for a tenure-track position at the Assistant Professor rank in Comparative Politics/China and East Asia. The position is open in regard to research focus and methods. Preference will be given to candidates with demonstrated teaching excellence and broad knowledge of Chinese domestic politics. The appointment begins Fall 2025.

We expect applicants to complete the PhD no later than the summer of 2025.

A completed application should include: a letter of interest, stating research and teaching interests; curriculum vitae; three confidential letters of recommendation; a writing sample; teaching evaluations; and graduate transcript to apply.interfolio.com/151086. The three confidential letters of recommendation should be uploaded to Interfolio by individual letter writers. We will not accept any applications by email nor by U.S.P.S.

Start Date: Fall 2025
Application Deadline: 10/1/2024
Date Posted: 7/31/2024
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 14567

Morehouse College

Rank: Assistant Professor

Specializations: Africa, Developing Nations, International Political Economy

The Division of Humanities, Social Sciences, Media & Arts (HSSMA) at Morehouse College invites applications for a full-time, assistant professor in the Political Science Department. Candidates should specialize in comparative politics with a regional focus on Africa. The successful applicant will be able to teach courses in comparative politics, African politics, and the politics of development and underdevelopment. An ability to teach courses in international relations is preferred but not required. The candidate is also expected to maintain an appropriate level of scholarly activity/ research and service to the Department, the Division and the College.

We are looking for someone who thinks creatively about their teaching, engages in scholarship, and can be committed to the mission of Morehouse College—to develop men with disciplined minds who lead lives of leadership and service by emphasizing the intellectual and character development of its students and by assuming a special responsibility for teaching the history and culture of Black people.

The Political Science Department offers a broad range of courses, including majors in Urban Studies and International Studies. Applicants should have experience teaching political science concepts to a diverse group of students including non-majors. We are especially interested in candidates who can develop innovative first-year experience (FYE) courses for our general education program. We also encourage faculty to be active in soliciting external funding through grants and other sources.

Responsibilities include teaching courses (a 3-3 load), advising, and mentoring students; developing and maintaining a scholarly research and publication agenda; and service to the department and the College. We also encourage faculty to be active in soliciting external funding through grants and other sources. An official transcript will be required of the selected candidate.

The start date for the position is August 2025.

For further information about the position as well as application instructions, please visit: <https://morehouse.peopleadmin.com/postings/10491>

Members of the search committee will conduct a limited number of preliminary interviews at the annual meeting of the American Political Science Association in Philadelphia. Candidates who wish to be considered for a brief interview at APSA should send a cover letter and CV to pscfacultysearch@morehouse.edu no later than August 23, 2024.

Start Date: Fall 2025
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 7/31/2024

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999
eJobs ID: 14562

Denison University

Rank: Open Rank Professor in Comparative Politics

Position Title: Open-rank Professor in Comparative Politics

Location: Denison University

Position Type: Tenure Track Faculty

Position URL: <https://apply.interfolio.com/150219>

Position Description:

The Department of Politics and Public Affairs (PPA) at Denison University invites applications for an open rank, tenure-track position in comparative politics, beginning Fall 2025. We seek applicants whose research and teaching emphasizes constitutionalism, policy analysis, or how social movements interact with either, with a geographic focus on the politics of countries or regions beyond the United States or Western Europe. The successful candidate must have the demonstrated ability to teach introductory courses in comparative politics of democracies, as well as interest and ability to teach a rotating set of upper division courses in comparative politics broadly and in their areas of expertise.

The Politics and Public Affairs program provides our students an integrated view of politics emphasizing links between theory and practice. Our major is structured as a learning community where undergraduates pursue a track of interest that aligns with traditional subfields and have multiple opportunities to share their knowledge with peers. Our majors must complement classroom experiences with a department-approved off campus learning component. We seek a new colleague who shares our enthusiasm for this approach to teaching about politics and public affairs. As a department, we work hard to ensure our students hear and consider diverse perspectives and we welcome applicants who contribute to that diversity. In the fall of 2025, our faculty includes four full-time tenured or tenure track faculty and one long-term visiting faculty member. We graduate roughly 30 seniors each year.

All instructors are expected to regularly teach introductory classes (typically around 24 students) that serve PPA majors/minors as well as the general education requirements of the college's curriculum; successfully teaching introductory classes requires teachers who relish the challenge of tailoring instruction for both the skeptical and the interested student. All instructors regularly teach upper division classes (typically capped at 20 students) in their area of interest which are usually populated by PPA or related majors, as well as required PPA major courses such as sophomore and senior seminar. The teaching load is 5 courses per academic year (3/2). Denison is a fully residential campus and all classes are held in-person and on-campus.

Applicants should provide evidence of teaching effectiveness from college-level courses. We seek to hire a new colleague with broad training in the study of politics. The successful candidate is expected to have significant interest in and demonstrated ability to be effective at undergraduate teaching in a liberal arts setting, and in contributing to the integration of the theoretical with experiential elements of our major. Independent teaching experience (beyond TA) is preferred.

Successful candidates are expected to maintain an ongoing research agenda; thus, applicants should show promise of a strong publication record. The prospective teacher-scholar also will support the University's commitment to liberal arts education, be an effective advisor to a range of students, be an active participant in departmental and university governance, and develop a program of research leading to peer-reviewed publication.

Denison is an increasingly diverse, highly selective, residential liberal arts college enrolling approximately 2,300 students from across the nation and around the world. The college is located in the village of Granville, 30 minutes from Columbus, Ohio, the state capital, which hosts a wide range of cultural and artistic opportunities. Granville offers an excellent public school system and easy access to outdoor activities. Denison is committed to attracting and supporting an academically and culturally diverse faculty and is committed to providing a work and learning environment free from discrimination. A supportive environment for teacher-scholars who value both classroom and research excellence, Denison offers extensive support for its faculty, including start-up research funds, an annual professional development account, competitive professional development funding, and a one-semester research leave after a successful pre-tenure review. The college also offers opportunities for student-faculty research collaboration, stipends for supervising summer-research students, and a range of workshops and mentoring programs to develop our strengths as teacher-scholars. Denison offers a competitive salary and a comprehensive benefits package, including tuition benefits to attend Denison or other affiliated colleges and a generous retirement contribution.

Qualifications:

Candidates are required to have completed a Ph.D. in Political Science or closely-related field by start date.

Application Instructions:

To ensure full consideration, completed applications must be received by October 7, 2024. Applications should include the following:

- Cover Letter
- Curriculum vitae
- Graduate level transcript [official or unofficial]
- Teaching Portfolio, which should include a 1) teaching statement that lays out the candidate's teaching philosophy, interests, and experience; the teaching statement should also describe how the candidate fosters an inclusive classroom where students with diverse perspectives and experiences can respectfully contribute and learn, 2) Evidence of teaching effectiveness (e.g., teaching evaluations or other artifacts), 3) an introductory syllabus for comparative politics of democracies, and 4) an upper division syllabus that reflects your expertise.

- Research Statement that lays out the candidate's scholarly interests and plans
- A writing sample
- Contact information for three letters of reference

Job seekers who may need a reasonable accommodation to complete the application process should contact the Office of Human Resources at (740) 587-6299 or by email at HR@denison.edu

Start Date: Fall 2025
Application Deadline: 10/7/2024
Date Posted: 7/30/2024
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 14553

European University Institute

Rank: Chair in Political Science and Social Sciences
Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Other, Political Theory
Specializations: Western Europe, Normative Political Theory, Political Parties & Organizations

The European University Institute is looking for candidates with a distinguished record of scholarly publications and experience in postgraduate teaching and doctoral supervision, to fill a Chair in Political Science and Social Sciences. Candidates should have an interest in comparative research in political science, preferably with a focus on European societies and politics. The successful candidate will have a strong record of empirical research, an interest in theory and research methods and a commitment to excellence in postgraduate teaching. The chair will be open to candidates at different levels of seniority. Interested applicants should consult Open competitions for academic posts • European University Institute (eui.eu) for further particulars: <https://www.eui.eu/About/JobOpportunities/Open-competitions-for-academic-posts>

Start Date: Fall 2025
Application Deadline: 9/16/2024
Date Posted: 7/29/2024
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 14544

Princeton University

Rank: Visiting Research Scholar

Princeton University's Initiatives for Contemporary European Affairs (ICEA) hosts a Visiting Research Scholar Program for faculty members applying to spend their academic leave year with ICEA. ICEA welcomes applications from social scientists who specialize in comparative politics and whose research includes a focus on European politics. ICEA visiting scholar positions are restricted to employed scholars on leave who are expected to return to their positions.

Visiting scholars will pursue research and contribute to the intellectual life of ICEA, the Department of Politics, and the Princeton School of Public and International Affairs. To fully participate in the daily intellectual life of the university, they will be required to be in residence in Princeton or the local vicinity, or to demonstrate to the program's satisfaction the ability to be on campus on a daily basis and on short notice.

Visiting scholars from academic institutions often receive up to one-half of their academic-year salaries from their home institutions for the appointment period. The amount that Princeton contributes to the scholar's salary is based on the financial support provided by their home institution. Selected candidates will be asked to indicate, or provide written authorization for Princeton to confirm, what percentage of financial support their home institution and other sources are likely to provide during their visit, if any, and to submit a confidential statement indicating salary for the current academic year (September 1, 2024 – July 1, 2025) or provide written authorization for Princeton to confirm their salary; they will also be asked to provide a statement of their home institution's leave policy. Successful candidates will receive applicable benefits, travel to and from Princeton, and a research allowance.

Verification of employment will be requested prior to approval by the Office of the Dean of the Faculty. PhD or equivalent doctoral degree required. Applicants must apply online and submit a CV, a 3-5 page (double-spaced) statement of research interest/research proposal, a writing sample. A cover letter is optional. The deadline for receipt of complete applications is November 4, 2024, at 11:59 p.m. EST.

The work location for this position is in-person on campus at Princeton University.

Start Date:
Application Deadline: 11/4/2024
Date Posted: 7/29/2024
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 14550

Hamilton College

Rank: Assistant Professor of Government (African Politics)

The Government Department at Hamilton College invites applications for a tenure-track position in African politics to begin in Summer 2025. The department seeks a specialist in sub-Saharan African politics, but within this specialty, we are open to all substantive areas of expertise in either comparative politics or international relations.

The teaching load for this position is four courses during the first year and five courses thereafter, including an introductory course in either comparative politics or international relations and upper-level courses in the candidate's specialty. The expected salary range for this position is $89,800 to $96,000. The position requires institutional service, including academic advising of undergraduate students after the first year.

Candidates should submit a cover letter, CV, writing sample, evidence of teaching ability, and letters of reference via Interfolio at <http://apply.interfolio.com/150100>. We seek candidates who can demonstrate their experience in teaching or working with diverse student populations. Your cover letter should address ways in which you raise issues of diversity, equity, inclusion, and/or belonging in your teaching, scholarship, and/or service. Preference will be given to candidates who have the PhD in hand at the start of the position, but ABD candidates will also be considered.

Our review of applications will begin on 15 September 2024. Questions regarding the search may be directed to Prof. Sharon Rivera, African Politics Search Committee Chair, at srivera@hamilton.edu.

To schedule an informational interview at APSA 2024, please email Erica De Bruin (edebruin@hamilton.edu) and Heather Sullivan (hasullivan@hamilton.edu).

Hamilton College is a residential liberal arts college located in central New York. The College has built its reputation on the teaching excellence and leading scholarship of its faculty, and on the academic distinction and intellectual curiosity of its approximately 2000 students who take advantage of Hamilton's open curriculum (<https://www.hamilton.edu/academics/open-curriculum>). Accomplished faculty, highly capable and motivated students, and a student-faculty ratio of 9:1 provide an educational experience that emphasizes academic excellence, intellectual and cultural diversity, and respect for differences in the development of students as human beings. Hamilton's commitment to diversity is embodied in its need-blind admission policy and meeting the full demonstrated financial need of every accepted student for their entire undergraduate program. Please visit the college website for more information (www.hamilton.edu).

Hamilton College is an affirmative action, equal opportunity employer that is committed to building an inclusive and diverse learning community where members from all backgrounds can live, learn, and excel. We encourage candidates from underrepresented groups in higher education to apply. Applicants with dual-career considerations can find other Hamilton and nearby academic job listings at <https://www.hercjobs.org/regions/higher-ed-careers-upstate-new-york/>, as well as additional information at <https://www.hamilton.edu/dof/faculty-development/resources-for-prospective-or-new-faculty/opportunities-for-spouses-or-partners> (Opportunities for Spouses or Partners). Hamilton provides domestic partner benefits.

Start Date: Summer 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/24/2024

Salary: $90,000 - $99,999

eJobs ID: 14529

SUNY, Stony Brook University

Rank: Assistant Professor, Computational Political Science

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Methodology, Comparative Politics

Specializations: American Politics, Political Behavior, Research Methods

The Department of Political Science at Stony Brook University invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor in Computational Political Science. This position would begin in Fall 2025. The department is interested in applicants with expertise in applying big data methods, computational methods, or advanced statistical methods to problems in political science. Successful candidates will have a strong record of demonstrated research excellence. Additional duties include fostering inclusive teaching at the graduate and undergraduate levels, conducting a program of research, and participating in faculty governance at the departmental, college, and university levels.

Qualifications

Required Qualifications:

Ph.D. (or foreign equivalent) in Political Science or a closely related field in hand by August 31, 2025. Research work applying big data methods, computational methods, or advanced statistical methods to problems in political science.

Preferred Qualifications:

Demonstrated record of the following, as evidenced by the applicant's CV and supporting materials:

- record of producing high-quality research
- strong research background and training
- strong publication record
- research interests in political behavior, American politics, or comparative politics
- experience teaching at the undergraduate and/or graduate level

Application Instructions

Apply through Interfolio at the job posting here: <http://apply.interfolio.com/147877>

Please upload:

Cover letter

1. Curriculum Vitae
2. Samples of written work
3. Teaching statement
4. Research statement
5. Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion (DEI) statement
6. Three reference contacts able to provide letters of reference upon request

For full consideration please submit your materials by 11:59 PM Eastern Time on Monday, September 16, 2024.

All application materials must be submitted online. Please use the Apply Now button to begin your application. For technical support, please visit Interfolio's Support Site (<https://support.interfolio.com/>) or reach out to their Scholar Service Team at help@interfolio.com or (877) 997-8807.

For questions regarding this position, please contact the search chair, Professor Michael Peress at Michael.Peress@stonybrook.edu.

Special Notes: This is a tenure track position. FLSA Exempt position, not eligible for the overtime provisions of the FLSA.

About the Department:

The Department of Political Science is committed to excellence in research and scholarship, graduate student training, undergraduate teaching and learning, public outreach, and the promotion of responsible citizenship. It contributes to the generation of knowledge about politics and aims to deepen scholarly and public understanding of political institutions and the citizenry. The department seeks to prepare students for successful careers in government, academics, and the private sector. The Department provides training for PhD and MA students in cutting-edge approaches to the empirical study of political science to produce graduates with outstanding research, teaching, and professional skills. <http://www.stonybrook.edu/polsci/>

About the College:

As part of a great research university, the College of Arts and Sciences at Stony Brook University focuses on scholarly creativity, connecting our disciplines of fine arts; humanities; social, behavioral and natural sciences; and mathematics with medicine, technology, culture, education, business and environment. As the largest College for the campus, we help students and faculty begin a lifetime of learning and discovery by exploring new ideas that drive innovation and inspiration across all sectors of society. <http://www.stonybrook.edu/cas/>

Campus Description:

Stony Brook University, one of two flagships within the State University of New York (SUNY) system, is one of America's most dynamic public universities, a center of academic excellence, and an internationally recognized research institution that is changing the world. After more than 60 years of existence, it is ranked among the top 100 universities in the nation and the top 25 public universities in the nation. It is a member of the prestigious invitation-only Association of American Universities, composed of the top 66 leading research institutions in North America. As Long Island's largest single-site employer, Stony Brook has nearly 15,000 full- and part-time employees, including 2,800 faculty and nearly 27,000 students — including almost 18,000 undergraduates — and offers more than 200 majors, minors and combined-degree programs. Located approximately 60 miles east of Manhattan on Long Island's beautiful North Shore, Stony Brook is situated on 1,454 wooded acres, encompassing 13 schools and colleges; a Research and Development Park; world-class athletics facilities, including an 8,300-seat stadium and a 4,000-seat arena; and Stony Brook Medicine, Long Island's premier academic medical center. Also part of the University is a teaching and research campus in Southampton, New York, which offers graduate arts programs and is the site of the Marine Sciences Center. In addition, Stony Brook has a role in running, and performs joint research with, Brookhaven National Laboratory, the only Department of Energy Laboratory in the Northeast. Home to the Emerson String Quartet, the Pollock-Krasner House in East Hampton, NY, and the Humanities Institute, with endeavors that extend to the Turkana Basin Institute in Kenya and the Ranomafana National Park in Madagascar, Stony Brook sustains an international reputation that cuts across the arts, humanities, social sciences and natural sciences.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 9/16/2024

Date Posted: 7/23/2024

Salary: $110,000 - $119,999

eJobs ID: 14519

University of Southern California

Rank: Full-Time, Teaching or Practice Track Faculty

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Public Policy

Full-Time, Teaching or Practice-Track Faculty Positions in Political Science and International Relations

The Department of Political Science and International Relations in the Dana and David Dornsife College of Letters, Arts and Sciences at the University of Southern California in Los Angeles, California invites applications for two full-time, teaching faculty positions:

1. An instructor with expertise in Intelligence and Cyber Operations (INCO). While a Professor of the Practice is preferred, the position is open to the ranks of Assistant Professor (Teaching), Assistant Professor of the Practice, Associate Professor (Teaching), Associate Professor of the Practice, Professor (Teaching) and Professor of the Practice.

2. An Assistant Professor (Teaching), Associate Professor (Teaching), or Professor (Teaching) with expertise in one or more of the following areas: peace and conflict, including topics such as terrorism, genocide, and humanitarian interventions; European security, foreign policy, and diplomacy; international finance; and Environmental politics, policy, or law.

Successful candidates would teach 5 undergraduate-level courses per year.

Qualifications: Successful candidates for the first position must have completed an advanced degree (PhD or JD preferred) in a relevant field and should have demonstrated subject matter expertise, with professional experience in the field preferred, and excellence in teaching. Successful candidates for the second position must have completed a doctorate (PhD strongly preferred) and demonstrated excellence in teaching.

Application Materials:

- Cover Letter (including thorough description of relevant expertise and experience)
- Curriculum Vitae
- Teaching Evaluations, if available.
- The names of three individuals who may be contacted by USC for a letter of reference (referees should speak to teaching abilities)

In order to be considered for this position, applicants are required to submit an electronic USC application; follow this job link or paste in a browser: <https://usccareers.usc.edu/job/los-angeles/full-time-teaching-or-practice-track-faculty-positions-in-political-science-and-international-relat/1209/64030220864> .

Review of applications has begun. We will continue to consider new applications until August 1, 2024.

For additional information please contact:

Morris Levy, Associate Professor and Director of Undergraduate Studies

Department of Political Science and International Relations

Dr. Medicine Crow (DMC) 352

University of Southern California

Los Angeles, CA 90089-0044

morrisl@usc.edu

The annual base salary range for this position is $76,000 - $106,200. When extending an offer of employment, the University of Southern California considers factors such as (but not limited to) the scope and responsibilities of the position, the candidate's work experience, education/training, key skills, internal peer equity, federal, state and local laws, contractual stipulations, grant funding, as well as external market and organizational considerations.

USC is an equal-opportunity educator and employer, proudly pluralistic and firmly committed to providing equal opportunity for outstanding persons of every race, gender, creed and background. The university particularly encourages members of underrepresented groups, veterans and individuals with disabilities to apply. USC will make reasonable accommodations for qualified individuals with known disabilities unless doing so would result in an undue hardship. USC will consider for employment all qualified applicants with criminal histories in a manner consistent with the requirements of the Los Angeles Fair Chance Initiative for Hiring ordinance. Further information is available by contacting uschr@usc.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 7/23/2024
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 14523

Rice University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

The Department of Political Science at Rice University, located in Houston, Texas, invites applications for a tenure-track position to begin July 1, 2025. The appointment will be made at the rank of assistant professor. Assistant professors are expected to teach undergraduate and graduate courses, perform research in their specialized area, and contribute to university service. Successful candidates will have a promising research agenda and very strong quantitative research skills as well as aspire to the highest standards of scholarship, professional activity, and commitment to graduate and undergraduate education.

We are particularly interested in candidates whose research interests and expertise lie in the study of democratic representation, mass political behavior, elite behavior and/or political institutions. Successful candidates will have advanced skills in quantitative research methods. Candidates must currently have a Ph.D. or complete the Ph.D. by July 1, 2025.

Rice University and the Department of Political Science are committed to building and sustaining an inclusive, diverse environment for our faculty, staff, and students. We especially encourage applications from individuals who are underrepresented in academia, including people of color, LGBTQIA+ people, women, and people with disabilities. We strive to counter prejudice actively and to create a working environment that is inclusive and equitable.

The application deadline is September 15, 2024. A complete application must include a letter of application; a curriculum vitae; research, teaching, and DEI statements; graduate school transcripts; two writing samples; evidence of teaching effectiveness; and three letters of recommendation (applicants must provide contact information for three references who will be contacted automatically for letters of recommendation). All applications should be submitted electronically at <http://apply.interfolio.com/150044>.

Start Date: Summer 2025
Application Deadline: 9/15/2024
Date Posted: 7/18/2024
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 14511

University of Missouri, Columbia

Rank: Assistant, associate, Full Professor, Korea Foundation Endowed Professor
Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Public Administration

The University of Missouri, Columbia is seeking a Korea Foundation Endowed Professor. The position is an open rank tenured/tenure track position focused on Korean politics to begin in the Fall Semester of 2025. This is a 9-month teaching and research appointment. The typical teaching load will be two (2) courses per semester. Additional expectations include active engagement with the University of Missouri Institute for Korean Studies.

Qualifications
Minimum Qualifications:

A Ph.D. in Political Science or related field by the time of appointment.

Candidates will be evaluated on:

Competitive applicants will have a clear research agenda, strong theoretical orientation, excellent methodological skills, ability to publish in highly ranked journals and academic presses, and potential for effective teaching at the graduate and undergraduate levels.

Applicants from scholars whose research has an emphasis on Korea from all subfields of political science and related fields are encouraged to apply including comparative politics, international relations, public policy, and public administration. However, the ideal candidate will contribute to the TSGPA's teaching and research interests in comparative politics.

Application Materials

Please apply online at: <https://hr.missouri.edu/job-openings> (Job Opening ID 52446). Use the online application and be prepared to upload your curriculum vitae, a cover letter, and writing samples. Please also provide evidence of effective teaching, as well as a teaching statement that describes your pedagogical goals/practices including information about your ability to teach and supervise undergraduate and graduate students from a variety of backgrounds and experiences.

Candidates at the assistant professor level should provide three letters of recommendations to the Truman School Director's Office (mutsgpadirector@missouri.edu). Candidates at the associate or full professor level should provide three names and contact information of references. Written references will be required prior to an on-campus interview. The cover letter should address the following: current and future research, teaching interests including how the applicant ensures the classroom is inclusive of multiple perspectives and of students from different backgrounds, as well as, how the applicant envisions engaging in research focused on Korea, and with universities there. This information can also be provided in separate teaching and research statements.

We value the uniqueness of every individual and strive to ensure each person's success. Contributions from individuals with diverse backgrounds, experiences and perspectives promote intellectual pluralism and enable us to achieve the excellence that we seek in learning, research and engagement. This commitment makes our university a better place to work, learn and innovate. In your application materials, please discuss your experiences and expertise that support these values and enrich our missions of teaching, research and engagement.

Applicants may contact the Chair of the Search Committee Dr. Laron Williams (williamslaro@missouri.edu) with any questions about the job duties. Contact Andrew Longley (andrew.longley@umsystem.edu) for any questions about the application process. We will begin reviewing applications on September 15th, 2024, and continue until the position is filled.

The Truman School of Government and Public Affairs has 33 faculty with academic appointments in the school and houses a PhD in Political Science, a PhD in Public Affairs, a Master's in Public Affairs, and a Master's in Defense and Strategic Studies, as well as BA in Political Science, and a BA in Public Administration and Policy. For more information see: <https://truman.missouri.edu>.

Benefit Eligibility This position is eligible for University benefits. The University offers a comprehensive benefits package, including medical, dental and vision plans, retirement, and educational fee discounts. For additional information on University benefits, please visit the Faculty & Staff Benefits website at <http://www.umsystem.edu/totalrewards/benefits>.

Equal Employment Opportunity

The University of Missouri System is an Equal Opportunity Employer. Equal Opportunity is and shall be provided for all employees and applicants for employment on the basis of their demonstrated ability and competence without unlawful discrimination on the basis of their race, color, national origin, ancestry, religion, sex, pregnancy, sexual orientation, gender identity, gender expression, age, disability, or protected veteran status, or any other status protected by applicable state or federal law. This policy applies to all employment decisions including, but not limited to, recruiting, hiring, training, promotions, pay practices, benefits, disciplinary actions and terminations. For more information, visit <https://www.umsystem.edu/ums/hr/eo>

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 12/13/2024

Date Posted: 7/18/2024

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 14512

Middlebury College

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

The MIDDLEBURY COLLEGE Department of Political Science invites applications for a tenure-track position in Comparative Politics with a regional focus on the politics of Russia and Eastern Europe. The position begins in September 2025. We seek broadly trained candidates prepared to teach the introductory course in comparative politics as well as a variety of upper-level courses on Russia and Eastern Europe. Appointment will be made at the rank of Assistant Professor. Candidates should provide evidence of commitment to excellence in teaching and scholarly potential. Tenure-track faculty at Middlebury teach a 2/2 load with an additional class in winter term every other year. They are also required to contribute to the College in the form of service including, but not limited to, serving on elected committees and as Chair or Director of the department or program at the appropriate time in their career.

Middlebury College is a top-tier liberal arts college with a demonstrated commitment to excellence in faculty teaching and research. It is also committed to fostering a truly inclusive, open, and supportive learning, teaching, and working environment. The College hires faculty from around the world with a myriad of life experiences, cultures, frames of reference, social identities, and learning perspectives to help cultivate and advance innovation in our curriculum and to provide a rich and varied educational experience to our talented and distinguished student body. To that end, as an equal opportunity employer, Middlebury College seeks applications from people who would contribute to our increasingly diverse educational community not only through their backgrounds and interests, but in age, gender identity or expression, sexual orientation, ethnicity, national origin, religion, and physical ability.

Middlebury College uses Interfolio to collect all faculty job applications electronically. Email and paper applications will not be accepted. At Middlebury, we strive to make our campus a respectful, engaged community that embraces difference, with all the complexity and individuality each person brings. Thus, with your application materials please provide a separate, one-page statement on inclusion that addresses how your teaching, scholarship, mentorship, and/or community service demonstrate a commitment to and/or evidence of engaging with issues of diversity and inclusion. Through Interfolio submit: a letter of application addressed to the search committee chair, Professor Erik Bleich; a curriculum vitae; undergraduate and graduate transcripts; a statement of teaching and research plans; a sample of scholarly production; and three current letters of recommendation, at least two of which must speak to teaching ability/promise. More information is available at <http://apply.interfolio.com/149901> and <https://www.middlebury.edu/academics/ps>. Review of applications begins September 15, 2024 and will continue until the position is filled.

Offers of employment are contingent on completion of a background check. Information on our background check policy can be found here: <http://go.middlebury.edu/backgroundchecks>

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/16/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14503

Clemson University

Rank: Associate Professor or Professor

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Comparative Politics, Public Administration

The Department of Political Science at Clemson University invites applications for an Associate Professor or Professor in domestic, comparative, or international public policy; policymaking processes; or public administration, to begin in August 2025. We welcome applicants from all subfields in political science, especially those that have an interest in the development and promotion of our Master of Public Administration (MPA) and Ph.D. Policy Studies programs, as well as mentoring graduate students. This is a nine-month faculty position, and qualified candidates will be considered for tenure on arrival. Candidates must have a Ph.D. in political science, public policy, public administration, or in a related field.

The successful candidate also will be expected to pursue an active research agenda resulting in a strong record of peer-reviewed publications. We especially encourage applications from candidates with a history of external research funding or definite plans to apply for grants. The position's teaching responsibilities will include offering courses in public policy, public administration, or in related areas within the Department's Ph.D., MPA, and undergraduate programs. The expected teaching load is two courses per semester.

The Department of Political Science offers B.A. and B.S. degrees in political science, along with its master's degree in public administration and Ph.D. in policy studies. The Department has 26 full-time faculty and 3 full-time staff. Clemson University is a land-grant institution located in western South Carolina in the Greenville metropolitan area. Its strategic plan—Clemson Elevate—articulates three dynamic goals: delivering the #1 student experience in the nation, doubling research productivity by 2035, and transforming lives statewide and beyond. These overlapping priorities are intended to continue Clemson's development as a leading public research university, sustain its Carnegie R1 status, and position itself for membership in the Association of American Universities (AAU).

Clemson University is an AA/EEO employer and does not discriminate against any person or group on the basis of age, color, disability, gender, pregnancy, national origin, race, religion, sexual orientation, veteran status, or genetic information.

To apply, candidates should submit the following: (1) a cover letter, (2) curriculum vitae, (3) contact information for three references who will provide confidential letters of recommendation, (4) a research statement, (5) a statement on teaching and student mentoring (including evidence of teaching effectiveness); and (6) sample syllabi for undergraduate and/or graduate courses. Apply at - Interfolio (<https://apply.interfolio.com/149108>).

The review of applications will begin October 1, 2024, and continue until the position is filled. Questions regarding this position may be sent to Dr. Adam Warber (awarber@clemsun.edu), Search Committee Chair, or to Dr. Joseph Ura (jura@clemsun.edu), Department Chair.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/3/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14468

Texas Christian University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Comparative Politics

Application Deadline:

Review of applications will begin September 16. Open until filled.

Position Details:

This full-time faculty position is on-campus and in-person.

The Department of Political Science at Texas Christian University invites applications for a tenure track, assistant professor of comparative politics with a regional specialization in Latin America or Sub-Saharan Africa. The normal teaching load for this position is 3-2. The successful candidate will show evidence of teaching excellence and will have an active research agenda supported by published research or the strong promise of such publication. We prefer applicants who will have completed their Ph.D. in political science by the appointment date.

Required Application Materials & Application Instructions:

To apply, upload a letter of application, CV, unofficial transcript, research statement, teaching statement (addressing teaching philosophy and potential course offerings), diversity statement, writing sample, and a sample syllabus of an upper-level course offering. Full review of applications begins on September 16 and will continue until the position is filled. All questions regarding the application process may be directed to Human Resources at hrtalentacquisition@tcu.edu or 817-257-7790. Questions about the Department of Political Science may be directed to the search committee chair, Eric Cox, at e.cox@tcu.edu.

Department Details:

The TCU political science department has 17 full-time faculty members and nearly 400 majors in two undergraduate degrees. TCU political science faculty run co-curricular programs such as pre-law advising, Moot Court, Model U.N., and Washington and local internships, as well as teach in and administer interdisciplinary programs including Women and Gender Studies, Comparative Race and Ethnic Studies, Asian Studies, and Middle East Studies.

School/College Description:

Named for TCU's founders, Addison and Randolph Clark, the AddRan College of Liberal Arts is home to the core academic disciplines of the humanities and social sciences. The College includes approximately 155 full-time faculty members, 13 departments (Comparative Race & Ethnic Studies, Criminology & Criminal Justice, Economics, English, Geography, History, Modern Language Studies, Philosophy, Political Science, Religion, Sociology & Anthropology, Spanish and Hispanic Studies, and Women & Gender Studies), and two units of Reserve Officers' Training Corps (Army and Air Force). AddRan College departments confer 17 Bachelor of Arts and 7 Bachelor of Science degrees, a Bachelor of General Studies, an online master's degree in Criminology and Criminal Justice, a Master of Liberal Arts degree, and master's and Ph.D. degrees in History, English, and Rhetoric and Composition.

University & Fort Worth Description:

ABOUT TCU

Founded in 1873, Texas Christian University sits on 302 acres nestled in a primarily residential part of Fort Worth, just minutes away from downtown. The University includes seven schools and colleges, in addition to the John V. Roach Honors College and the Burnett School of Medicine.

Currently, TCU enrolls more than 10,200 undergraduates and 1,700 graduate students. Twenty-eight percent of students self-identify as a member of a minority group, five percent are international students, and forty-five percent are from out-of-state. Our students are supported by more than 2,200 faculty and staff. The University has more than 700 full-time faculty members and is a top 100 National University as classified by US News and World Report and has a Carnegie Classification of R2: Doctoral Universities – High Research Activity.

At TCU, diversity, equity, and inclusion (DEI) are an educational imperative directly tied to the University mission, vision, and strategic plan. Fulfilling TCU's mission to develop ethical leaders and critical thinkers in a global community depends on the University's ability to attract and retain students, faculty, and staff from diverse backgrounds. A diverse and inclusive campus leads to innovation, broadened perspective, and understanding—values that are foundational aspects of higher education. For the fourth consecutive year, TCU has earned the Higher Education Excellence in Diversity Award, which highlights ongoing commitment to build a comprehensive DEI strategy that aligns with core values and creates a campus culture where everyone is respected and included.

ABOUT FORT WORTH

Like TCU, Fort Worth has the approachable, friendly charm of a smaller town, but offers the amenities, cultural activities, diversity and unique personality of a much larger city. Fort Worth, Texas, is the 13th largest city in the United States with an ever-growing population nearing 1 million. Fort Worth and TCU have grown together in a nearly 150-year relationship. You'll find that many Horned Frogs remain here after graduation, thanks to the region's thriving job market. Fort Worth is part of the Dallas-Fort Worth metropolitan area, the fourth largest metropolitan area in the United States, and the number 1 tourist destination in Texas. In 2018, bizjournals.com ranked Fort Worth the 7th most affordable city to live and work in the United States and U.S. News and World Report named Fort Worth one of the Best Places to Live. Fort Worth, Dallas and Arlington all rank among the top 25 most diverse cities in the country.

Fort Worth is known for its vast array of cultural, educational and entertainment opportunities. The city boasts three world class art museums—the Kimbell Art Museum, the Modern Art Museum of Fort Worth and the Amon Carter Museum of American Art. The Bass Performance Hall is one of the premier performance venues in the country. Concerts, film festivals and other events are held regularly at Sundance Square, Panther Island and Near Southside venues.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/2/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14465

Princeton University

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Associate

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Public Policy

Specializations: Economic Policy, International Political Economy, International Law & Organizations

The Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance (NCGG) at Princeton University's School of Public and International Affairs invites applications for postdoctoral research associates from individuals with a Ph.D. degree or who expect to receive a Ph.D. degree by July 1, 2025, for the 2025-2026 academic year. These awards are designed to promote basic research in the broad areas of international and comparative political economy, international organization and global governance, and globalization. Research on the causes and consequences of globalization, the political economy of foreign trade, monetary and regulatory policies, the sources of international cooperation at the global and regional level, the domestic and international politics of economic development, the political economy of human security issues, the evolution and impact of international institutions, and the politics of international law and human rights policies are of relevance. Outstanding scholars anywhere in the world are eligible to apply. NCGG invites candidates with a background in political science, economics, modern history, sociology, anthropology, law, business, and other disciplines bearing on the study of globalization to apply. Selected candidates will be required to be in residence in Princeton or the local vicinity, or demonstrate to the program's satisfaction the ability to be on campus on a daily basis and on short notice in order to fulfill responsibilities relating to in-person participation, office hours, and related activities for the duration of the fellowship (July 1, 2025- July 1, 2026). Appointments are for one year.

Application Deadline - Applicants should apply by Tuesday, October 1, 2024 (11:59 pm EST) for full consideration; however, posting will remain open until filled.

Application Process - All candidates must use the online application process to submit materials at: <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/35041>.

Applicants are required to hold a Ph.D. or expect to receive a Ph.D. degree by July 1, 2025, in one of the above-mentioned disciplines. To apply, please provide the following:

*Cover letter explaining the candidate's scholarly career, prospective or actual doctoral defense date, and academic interests;

*Current curriculum vitae, including publications;

*2,000-word description of the proposed research project, including its specific objectives, importance, and research design;

*One writing sample (limit of 50 pages);

*Contact information for three references, who will be asked to comment specifically on the applicant's qualifications for the proposed research project. Referees will be contacted directly by email with instructions for submitting a confidential recommendation on your behalf. Letters of reference are to be submitted by the end of business day on Saturday, October 5, 2024. Complete your application well before the deadline so that references can be submitted on time.

Salary - Rank and salary will be contingent on qualifications. NCGG Fellows will receive applicable Princeton University benefits, a taxable moving allowance, and a $5,000 research fund. This is a one-year appointment.

Successful applicants will be notified of the outcome of their application in December 2024. This position is subject to the University's background check policy. The work location for this position is in-person on campus at Princeton University.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 10/1/2024

Date Posted: 7/1/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14462

Trinity College

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science in Comparative Politics

The Department of Political Science at Trinity College, Hartford, invites applications for a tenure-track position in comparative politics at the assistant professor level, starting Fall 2025. We especially welcome candidates with research expertise in the following countries and geographic regions: Europe, Russia and Eurasia, China, or South-east Asia. Candidates should also have the ability and interest to teach an introductory research methodology course.

Evidence of scholarly promise is required. Evidence of teaching effectiveness is desired, if available. The teaching load is 2/2 for the first two years (and 3/2 thereafter), with a one-semester leave every fourth year. A Ph.D. in political science should be completed by August 2025.

To ensure full consideration, please submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, research statement, statement of teaching interests (including your potential to teach and supervise diverse undergraduates), a scholarly writing sample, graduate transcript, course syllabi (including a syllabus for an introductory research methodology course) and evaluations (if available), and three letters of reference to <https://trincoll.peopleadmin.com> by September 30, 2024.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/1/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14458

George Washington University

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor of Political Science

The Elizabeth J. Somers Women's Leadership Program (WLP) at the George Washington University in Washington, D.C. invites applications for the position of Visiting Assistant Professor in Political Science position to fill a 1-year vacancy beginning August 12, 2024. WLP is a selective, living-learning program for first year students to build leadership skills within the context of their discipline and as part of a supportive community. Students enroll in one of 4 WLP cohorts: Globalization, Economics, & Business; International Arts & Culture; Science, Health, & Medicine; or International Politics. Students take foundational courses in their field of study in small classes with their cohort faculty members both fall and spring, as well as a year-long, experiential leadership symposium course.

The selected candidate will serve as the primary faculty and Program Coordinator for the International Politics cohort of approximately 20 students in the WLP. They will teach small classes of first-year students for WLP and the University Honors Program. The selected candidate will report to the Associate Provost for Undergraduate Affairs and Special Programs. They will work with the WLP Director and colleagues to integrate co-curricular offerings and activities to enhance the academic experiences of all WLP students. The Program Coordinator serves as instructor, academic mentor, and advisor to students in the International Politics cohort, teaching Introduction to International Politics and Introduction to Comparative Politics, and helping students navigate their college experience from the first year and beyond. They will also participate in WLP orientation, information sessions for prospective students, and other campus events.

Diversity, equity, and inclusion (DEI) are core principles of the WLP, and we are committed to building and sustaining a community that is supportive and inclusive of all individuals. Strong candidates will have experience and vision regarding teaching and mentorship of students of multiple and diverse backgrounds with attention to structural barriers that limit access to educational opportunities. The university has a strong commitment to achieving diversity among faculty and staff, and we are particularly interested in receiving applications from members of historically marginalized groups. Learn more about our commitment via the GW Statement on Diversity and Inclusion.

Minimum Qualifications: Applicants must have excellent teaching skills as demonstrated by student evaluations, a strong desire to teach and mentor students at the undergraduate level, and a demonstrated commitment to equity and inclusion in the classroom. For appointment at the rank of Visiting Assistant Professor, they must hold a doctorate in political science or related field by date of appointment. ABD applicants will be considered for appointment at the rank of Visiting Instructor if they have not completed all requirements for the doctorate by date of appointment.

Specific Duties and Responsibilities: The effort breakdown for the position is 70% teaching, 15% administration/service, and 15% scholarship. The teaching component includes four undergraduate courses during the course of the year and co-teaching a year-long, one-credit leadership symposium. Two courses and the symposium are taught to first-year students in the Women's Leadership Program. The remaining two courses are taught to students in the University Honors Program. Administrative work is related to the Program Coordinator role, and includes planning co-curricular events and symposium structure. Service obligations may be met by serving on a departmental or university-level committee, engaging with prospective students, and attending major campus events. Scholarship for this role is broadly defined and may include activities such as presenting at conferences, creating and disseminating curriculum materials, or publishing political science research.

Application Procedure: To apply please send an application to wlp@gwu.edu. Applicants should submit a cover letter that includes a statement of interest in the Women's Leadership Program and discusses contributions to DEI initiatives in their teaching, mentorship, and/or professional engagement.

Applicants should also submit curriculum vitae; evidence of effective teaching through student evaluations; statement of past and/or potential contributions to DEI; and names of three references.

Advertised Salary: Salary is commensurate with experience

The George Washington University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer that does not unlawfully discriminate in any of its programs or activities on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, national origin, age, disability, veteran status, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, or on any other basis prohibited by applicable law.

Employment offers are contingent on the satisfactory outcome of a standard background screening.

A direct link to the GW jobs portal can be found here: <https://www.gwu.jobs/postings/112299>

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 7/29/2024

Date Posted: 6/28/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14450

South Dakota State University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Public Administration, Public Policy

Assistant Professor of Political Science
School of American & Global Studies
South Dakota State University

The School of American & Global Studies (AGS) at South Dakota State University (SDSU) invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor of Political Science. The School of AGS seeks a dynamic scholar whose field areas include public administration or public policy. Located on our main campus in Brookings, South Dakota, this position is nine months, full time, benefits eligible, and tenure track, with the possibility of supplemental summer salary. The position is supervised by the Director of the School of American & Global Studies. We anticipate a start date of August 22, 2025.

The School of American & Global Studies is a vibrant, interdisciplinary unit, offering B.A./B.S. degrees in American Indian & Indigenous Studies, Global Studies, History, Modern Languages (French, German, Lakota, Spanish), and Political Science as well as standalone minors in Legal Studies, Philosophy, and Religion. Over 300 students major in AGS programs, with another 400 from programs across campus who pursue AGS minors. The school's current composition of 21 tenured and tenure-track faculty and 6 non-tenure track faculty value interdisciplinary and interprofessional collaboration across its research, teaching, and outreach efforts. In alignment with the university's land-grant mission, the schoolhouses four public-facing research and outreach centers: The Ethics Lab, The PHI | Public Humanities Institute, the South Dakota Polling Project, and the recently launched Mike Huether Public Service Academy.

South Dakota State University promotes access to and opportunities for all to receive the benefit of and participate in education, research, and service and is especially interested in candidates that can contribute to this land-grant mission of access.

KEY RESPONSIBILITIES:

The successful candidate will teach three classes per semester in consultation with the director based on student needs and school/program strategic priorities. This faculty member will mentor students in the Political Science program and the Huether Public Service Academy and contribute to the overall academic environment of the School. The new member of the SDSU faculty will conduct scholarly research consistent with their field. Candidates are expected to be excellent classroom instructors with an active research agenda.

SALARY RANGE:

The salary is commensurate with qualifications. We offer a generous retirement plan that includes 6% matching, 9.34 hours of sick leave each month, and eleven paid holidays. Relocation benefits are available per university's guidelines.

BENEFITS:

We offer a rich academic experience in an environment of inclusions and access. The university is part of a dynamic community for families, students, young professionals, and retirees, which offers an abundance of attractions and activities. South Dakota State University offers a wide range of excellent benefits including medical, dental, and flexible benefits, retirement plans, compensation packages, paid holidays, and leave. Employees also have access to internal and state-sponsored training as well as reduced tuition for state-supported courses at all State of South Dakota academic institutions.

MINIMUM QUALIFICATIONS:

- Hold a Ph.D. in Public Administration, Public Policy, Political Science or closely related field by start date.
- Ability to teach public policy (open specialization) and/or public administration courses as well as state and local government.
- Ability or potential to develop and teach undergraduate elective courses in the candidate's area of specialization.
- Ability or potential to develop and sustain an active research agenda.
- Ability to contribute to program and school initiatives through general service.
- Effective written and verbal communication and interpersonal skills.

THE UNIVERSITY:

South Dakota State University is the state's largest, most comprehensive university with more than 200 academic programs, an enrollment of approximately 12,000 students, and over $60 million annual research expenditures.

South Dakota State University offers a rich academic experience in an environment of inclusion and access through inspired, student-centered education, creative activities and research, innovation and engagement that improve the quality of life in South Dakota, the region, the nation, and the world. Its employees embrace the university's core values of being people-centered, expanding knowledge through creativity, embracing organizational and personal integrity, commitment to diversity of thought, and excellence through continuous improvement.

The College of Arts, Humanities and Social Sciences is the intellectual and cultural heart of SDSU. The college consists of seven interdisciplinary schools—American and Global Studies, Communication and Journalism, Design, English and Interdisciplinary Studies, the Ness School of Management and Economics, and Performing Arts—additionally, the college includes programs in military science (Army ROTC) and Aerospace Studies (Air Force ROTC). The college's unique administrative structure supports and encourages interdisciplinary collaboration among both faculty and students, allowing each unit and discipline to thrive. The college is committed to supporting the Land Grant Mission of SDSU. Our faculty regularly conduct research that directly benefits the people of South Dakota and our region with research that engages our communities, supporting their social, cultural, and economic development.

As the state's 1862 Morrill Act land grant institution, the work of the university is carried out on its main resident campus in Brookings, at sites in Sioux Falls, Pierre, Rapid City, and Aberdeen, and through SDSU Extension offices and Agricultural Experiment Station research sites across South Dakota.

Jackrabbits Athletics competes as an NCAA Division I member with membership in the Missouri Valley Football Conference, the Summit League, and the Big XII.

The university benefits from a robust investor and alumni network actively engaged in classrooms and student ventures. The recent SDSU Bold and Blue comprehensive campaign—the university's largest fundraising effort—raised over $600 million to support the university.

BROOKINGS, SOUTH DAKOTA:

Brookings is home to approximately 24,000 residents and is located 60 miles north of Sioux Falls and 200 miles west of Minneapolis. Brookings is listed as an ideal community for families, students, young professionals, and retirees, and is rated among the safest and most vibrant cities in South Dakota.

The Brookings Public School District educates approximately 3,300 K-12 students and ranks among the state's highest academic achieving school districts. The district includes three elementary schools, an intermediate school for fourth and fifth grade, one middle school, and a high school.

The city also boasts an abundance of attractions and activities, including the Children's Museum of South Dakota, the Dakota Nature Park, the South Dakota Art Museum, McCrory Gardens, the South Dakota Agricultural Heritage Museum, an outdoor adventure center, and the Brookings summer arts festival.

APPLICATION DEADLINE:

Position is open until filled with full consideration given to applications received by September 20, 2024.

APPLICATION PROCESS:

SDSU accepts applications through an on-line employment site. To apply, visit: <https://yourfuture.sdbor.edu>, search by the position title, view the job announcement, and click on "apply for this job." This system will guide you through the electronic application form. This employment site will also require the attachment of a cover letter, which should specifically address how the candidate meets the qualifications as outlined in the advertisement, teaching statement, CV, and a reference page with the contact information for three professional references. Email applications will not be accepted. Please contact SDSU Human Resources at (605) 688-4128 if you require assistance with this process.

Any offer of employment is contingent on the university's verification of credentials and other information required by law and/or university policies, including but not limited to, successful completion of a criminal background check.

South Dakota State University is a tobacco free environment. It is the policy of the University to maintain a drug-free environment and to thereby establish, promote, and maintain a safe and healthy working and learning environment for employees and students. This position is subject to South Dakota State University's Drug and Alcohol Testing Policy 4:14.

For questions on the position, contact search committee chair and Professor of Political Science David Wiltse at 605-688-6367 or David.Wiltse@sdstate.edu.

South Dakota State University promotes access to and opportunities for all to receive the benefit of and participate in education, research, and service and is especially interested in candidates that can contribute to this land-grant access mission. SDSU is an affirmative action, equal opportunity employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration without regard to, and SDSU prohibits discrimination on, the basis of, sex, race, color, creed, national origin, ancestry, citizenship, gender, gender identity, sexual orientation, marital status, pregnancy, religion, age, disability, genetic information, veteran's status, or any other status that may become protected in the offering of all educational programs and employment. Arrangements for accommodations required by disabilities can be made by emailing HR@sdstate.edu. Individuals with concerns regarding discrimination should contact: Equal Opportunity Officer/Title IX Coordinator, Human Resources, Morrill Hall 100, SDSU, Brookings, SD 57007. Phone: (605) 688-4128.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 9/20/2024

Date Posted: 6/27/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14449

Loyola University Maryland

Rank: Per course Instructor in Latin American Politics

The Department of Political Science at Loyola University Maryland invites applications to teach a course in-person on Latin American Politics (one section only) for the Fall 2024 semester in a part-time, non-tenure track position as a teaching faculty member. The upper-level course is called PS 303 Latin American Politics.

The Political Science Department has a strong teaching culture. We especially value candidates who have a strong interest in teaching undergraduates and who are able to implement thoughtful, intentional pedagogies that support the learning of a wide range of students.

Ph.D. or A.B.D. in Political Science is required. College/university teaching experience is strongly preferred. Aside from holding office hours with students, no committee assignments or service requirements will be associated with the position.

Loyola University Maryland is a dynamic, highly selective, Jesuit Catholic university in the liberal arts tradition. It is highly ranked among the leading independent, comprehensive universities in the northeastern United States. Committed to intellectual excellence, diversity, and social justice, the University enrolls over 4,000 students in its undergraduate programs and more than 3,000 students in its graduate programs.

Loyola University Maryland strongly values the benefits that diversity brings to the workplace. In accord with its Ignatian values, the University is committed to creating and promoting a community that recognizes the inherent value and dignity of each person. Loyola University Maryland does not discriminate on the basis of race, sex, color, national or ethnic origin, age, religion, disability, marital status, sexual orientation, gender identity, genetic information, military status, or any other legally protected classification. The University recruits, hires, and promotes in accord with this policy and its Core Values.

To apply, please first send a curriculum vitae with a statement of interest. Eventually, we will ask for letters of reference, a graduate transcript, and teaching evaluations (if available), and a cover letter explaining teaching interests and experience in relation to Loyola's educational mission. Application materials should be submitted to Political Science Department Chair Dr. Carsten Vala at cvala@loyola.edu, who is also available to answer questions. The search committee will begin screening applications immediately and continue until the position is filled.

Salary range: $4,000 - $4,500 per course (without and with PhD)

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/25/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14441

Loyola University Maryland

Rank: Per course Instructor in Middle East Politics

The Department of Political Science at Loyola University Maryland invites applications to teach an upper-level, undergraduate course in-person on Middle East Politics (one section only) for the Spring 2025 semester. The instructor will teach in a part-time, non-tenure track capacity.

The Political Science Department has a strong teaching culture. We especially value candidates who have a strong interest in teaching undergraduates and who are able to implement thoughtful, intentional pedagogies that support the learning of a wide range of students.

Ph.D. or A.B.D. in Political Science is required. College/university teaching experience is strongly preferred. Aside from holding office hours with students, no committee assignments or service requirements will be associated with the position.

Loyola University Maryland is a dynamic, highly selective, Jesuit Catholic university in the liberal arts tradition. It is highly ranked among the leading independent, comprehensive universities in the northeastern United States. Committed to intellectual excellence, diversity, and social justice, the University enrolls over 4,000 students in its undergraduate programs and more than 3,000 students in its graduate programs.

Loyola University Maryland strongly values the benefits that diversity brings to the workplace. In accord with its Ignatian values, the University is committed to creating and promoting a community that recognizes the inherent value and dignity of each person. Loyola University

Maryland does not discriminate on the basis of race, sex, color, national or ethnic origin, age, religion, disability, marital status, sexual orientation, gender identity, genetic information, military status, or any other legally protected classification. The University recruits, hires, and promotes in accord with this policy and its Core Values.

To apply, please first send a curriculum vitae with a statement of interest. Eventually, we will ask for letters of reference, a graduate transcript, and teaching evaluations (if available), and a cover letter explaining teaching interests and experience in relation to Loyola's educational mission. Application materials should be submitted to Political Science Department Chair Dr. Carsten Vala at cvala@loyola.edu, who is also available to answer questions. The search committee will begin screening applications immediately and continue until the position is filled.

Salary range: $4,000 - $4,500 per course (without and with PhD)

Start Date: Spring 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/25/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14442

Michigan State University

Rank: Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): Public Law, Comparative Politics, International Relations

Specializations: Civil Rights & Liberties, Judicial Politics, International Law & Organizations

Michigan State University actively promotes a dynamic research and learning environment in which qualified individuals of differing perspectives and cultural backgrounds pursue academic goals with mutual respect and shared inquiry. The Department of Political Science at Michigan State University is seeking to hire a 9-month academic year, tenure system professor at the rank of Assistant Professor in the field of public law, broadly construed.

Candidates from all subfields and methodological approaches whose research and teaching contribute to the scientific study of law are strongly encouraged to apply. We are particularly interested in candidates whose research and teaching interests would complement existing thematic areas and subfields within the department: Minority Politics, Comparative Politics, Political Theory, International Relations, Public Policy, and/or American Politics. Substantive areas of interest include, but are not limited to, civil rights, civil liberties, comparative judicial institutions, comparative law, human rights, international law, judicial behavior, judicial elections, or the philosophy of law.

Candidates with a history of receiving external research funding, or those with mature plans to apply for funding, will be highly favored. The candidate would be expected to teach courses and mentor students at both the undergraduate and graduate levels.

Required Degree

Doctorate by date of hire

Minimum Requirements

- Completed PhD by the date of hire.

- Research and teaching interests that contribute to the scientific study of law.
- Potential for high impact peer-reviewed publications.
- Potential for obtaining external funding.
- Potential for high-quality instruction and mentoring at the undergraduate and graduate level.
- Potential for working with students from diverse backgrounds and working to improving access to higher education for all students.

Desired Qualifications

- Research and teaching interests that connect with existing thematic areas and/or subfields within the Department of Political Science (see position summary).

Required Application Materials

Electronic submission is required, and materials should be uploaded at <http://careers.msu.edu> (posting number 950778). Applicants must submit a CV, cover letter, research statement, teaching statement, two samples of written work, a diversity and inclusion statement, and contact information for three references.

The search committee members are Ryan Black (search chair, rblack@msu.edu), Ana Bracic (bracic@msu.edu), and Cory Smidt (smidtc@msu.edu). Please contact any committee member with questions about this position.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/24/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14440

Massachusetts Institute of Technology

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Massachusetts Institute of Technology (MIT) Department of Political Science in Cambridge MA invites applications for a full-time tenure-track faculty position in Comparative Politics at the rank of Assistant Professor effective July 1st, 2025, or as soon thereafter as possible. Responsibilities include research, graduate and undergraduate teaching, and student research supervision. Applicants should have a PhD degree in Political Science or a related field by start of employment. MIT is an Equal Employment Opportunity employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment and will not be discriminated against on the basis of race, color, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, religion, disability, age, genetic information, veteran status, ancestry, or national or ethnic origin. Applications should include a cover letter which addresses your research agenda and teaching interests. Also include a CV, writing sample(s), and three recommendations. Please submit online applications to <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/27778> <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/27778>. Completed applications must be submitted by September 15th, 2024.

Employment is contingent upon the completion of a satisfactory background check.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 9/15/2024

Date Posted: 6/18/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14422

Loyola Marymount University

Rank: Assistant Professor in Political Science and International Relations

Specializations: Environmental Policy, South Asia, Russia

The Department of Political Science and International Relations at Loyola Marymount University invites applications for an assistant professor position beginning in Fall 2025. Loyola Marymount University (LMU) faculty are helping to create the world we want to live in. We are seeking the next generation of mission-driven teacher-scholars. We seek a candidate who is excited to teach undergraduate students.

<https://academics.lmu.edu/joinourfaculty/>

Substantively, the department is interested in candidates with expertise in comparative politics and/or international relations. We are open to field but will prioritize areas that complement our department's curricular needs, including but not limited to:

Environment/climate change

Democracy and authoritarianism

Comparative public policy

South Asia, Russia, China

International organizations

Security

International Relations Theory

We are open to methodological approach and welcome qualitative, quantitative and mixed methods research.

The regular teaching load for this position includes teaching introductory courses (e.g. comparative politics, international relations) and upper-division courses. LMU has a 2-2/2-3 teaching load, meaning that faculty teach two undergraduate courses per semester, with one 3-course load semester every other year. We are seeking to hire a dedicated teacher and emerging scholar who will embrace the department's mission of helping students become informed, analytically reflective, and engaged global citizens. Successful candidates must demonstrate a commitment to working with diverse student and community populations. Our department welcomes antiracist and inclusive pedagogies, and/or curricula.

Candidates should submit application materials via the LMU Human Resources online application portal (<http://jobs.lmu.edu>). Applicants must include: 1) a cover letter (outlining area of expertise, teaching and research interests, and resonance with LMU's Mission); 2) a curriculum vitae; 3) a writing sample; 4) a statement of teaching philosophy that demonstrates your approach to teaching in the liberal arts tradition, and 5) if available, teaching evaluations and/or sample syllabi as a single PDF.

A minimum of three confidential letters of recommendation should be submitted directly to POLS@lmu.edu.

Only online applications will be accepted.

Please direct questions to POLS@lmu.edu. We will begin our review of applications on September 13, 2024, and will consider applications beyond this date until we conclude our search.

A PhD is required; ABD applicants who anticipate completion of the doctorate by Fall 2025 will be considered.

#HERC# #HEJ#

Faculty Regular

Reasonable expected salary: $87,000.00

Loyola Marymount University, a Carnegie classified R2 institution in the mainstream of American Catholic higher education, seeks outstanding applicants who value its mission and share its commitment to inclusive excellence, the education of the whole person, and the building of a just society. LMU is an equal opportunity employer committed to providing an environment free from discrimination and harassment as defined by federal, state and local law. We invite all persons in the full diversity of their being, life experience, and beliefs to apply. (Visit www.lmu.edu for more information.)

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/12/2024

Salary: $80,000 - $89,999

eJobs ID: 14425

National University of Singapore

Rank: Assistant Professor - International Political Economy; Comparative Politics of Asia

Specializations: International Political Economy, Southeast Asia, East Asia

Job Description

The Lee Kuan Yew School of Public Policy (LKYSPP), National University of Singapore, invites applications for two tenure-track Assistant Professor appointments, one in International Political Economy (IPE) and the other in Comparative Politics (CP). For the IPE position, individuals with research expertise in emerging technologies, such as AI, biotechnology, cyber, or environmental/climate change are especially encouraged to apply. For the CP position, we have a preference for those who work on East and Southeast Asia, especially the latter. Those with other substantive expertise are also welcome to apply.

Job Qualifications

The ideal candidate will have:

- a completed PhD by August 2025 in international relations, political science, or related disciplines;
- publications in top journals in the field and/or a strong pipeline of working papers;
- demonstrated ability to teach core and specialized courses in IPE or CP; and
- a willingness and ability to mentor graduate students.

Application

Please submit your application package in electronic form (PDF) to the Hiring Committee via <https://careers.nus.edu.sg/job-invite/25150/https://careers.nus.edu.sg/job-invite/25150/>>.

The deadline for submitting the package is November 1, 2024.
The package should include:

1. A cover letter
2. Curriculum Vitae
3. A research statement (1000 words max) that outlines your past, current and future research agenda
4. A teaching statement (1000 words max) detailing courses taught, your pedagogical philosophy and practices, along with any available evidence of teaching effectiveness
5. Up to two writing samples
6. Three references sent directly to <https://careers.nus.edu.sg/job-invite/25150/> <https://careers.nus.edu.sg/job-invite/25150/>.

Members of the hiring committee will be attending the APSA Annual Conference in Philadelphia (September 5-8) and will be available for an informational session. If you are interested in attending the APSA informational session, please send us your CV by August 15, 2024. Only shortlisted candidates will be invited to attend the informational session. Please submit your application package in electronic form (PDF) to the Hiring Committee via <https://careers.nus.edu.sg/job-invite/25150/> <https://careers.nus.edu.sg/job-invite/25150/>.

Additional Information

About the Lee Kuan Yew School of Public Policy

LKYSPP is a leading public policy school in Asia, attracting an internationally diverse, world-class faculty and student body to engage and address the world's most pressing challenges. Its mission is to inspire, improve lives, and take central positions in the policy and governance conversations within Asia and beyond. We do this by working hard on two planks: pursuing academic and intellectual excellence, and crafting lessons for meaningful public policymaking. The school is housed within the National University of Singapore, the highest ranked university in Asia and 8th in the world (QS World University Rankings 2024).

LKYSPP offers highly competitive research funding, salary, relocation and housing support, and other benefits. The teaching load (typically three per academic year; two for first contract assistant professors) allows faculty to focus on providing quality instruction while maintaining their research excellence. For more information about the LKY School, please visit www.lkyspp.nus.edu.sg.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/5/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14399

Universidad Torcuato Di Tella

Rank: Assistant Professor, Associate Professor

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Methodology

The Department of Political Science and International Studies at Universidad Torcuato Di Tella (UTDT) seeks candidates for two tenure-track assistant professor positions in Comparative Politics and International Relations, with an expected (but negotiable) start date of March 2025. Very strong candidates at the associate level will also be considered. We are open with respect to substantive subfield, theoretical orientation, and methodological approach. Regional expertise in regions other than Latin America (e.g., East, South, or Southeast Asia, Western or Eastern Europe, the Middle East or North America) is a plus, as is the ability to teach courses on research design, data science/statistics, and/or causal inference. Candidates are expected to demonstrate a strong commitment to research and to teaching and mentoring students. The teaching load is three courses per year. Most courses are taught in Spanish, although a growing number are offered in English. The position includes a research fund and a year's sabbatical (at full salary) every six years.

Duties will include teaching assigned courses in Comparative Politics and/or International Relations at both the undergraduate and graduate levels, conducting research, writing for publication in high-quality academic venues, advising students, participating in department governance, and university service.

Qualifications: Ph.D. in Political Science or related disciplines (ABD candidates will also be considered) and a demonstrated record of excellence in research and teaching. Proficiency in both Spanish and English is required. Questions should be directed to Professor Carlos Gervasoni, Chair of the Department of Political Science and International Studies, at cgervasoni@utdt.edu.

To apply please visit https://utdt.hiringroom.com/jobs/get_vacancy/665727a62994ec85980166a0, by August 30, 2024 (applications received after this date will continue to be reviewed until the positions are filled). The required documents include a cover letter, CV, a research statement, a teaching statement, a writing sample, and the names and email addresses of 3 references (letters of reference will be required of short-listed finalists).

Universidad Torcuato Di Tella is a private research university located in Buenos Aires, Argentina. Our Department is consistently ranked as one of the best in Latin America in terms of reputation and research excellence. Our guiding principles are academic excellence, pluralism of ideas and equal opportunity. UTDT is committed to creating a diverse community of students, faculty, and staff, following the principles of equal opportunity and treatment in education and employment, regardless of national origin, race, color, ethnicity, religion, political ideology, age, sex, sexual orientation, or gender identity. The university encourages applications of individuals from historically underrepresented groups who will further enrich the diversity of our educational community. We welcome applications from all nationalities. Approximately 25% of the Department's research professors are foreigners. For further information about Universidad Torcuato Di Tella and our department, please visit: <https://www.utdt.edu/>.

Start Date: Spring 2025

Application Deadline: 8/30/2024

Date Posted: 6/5/2024

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 14404

National University of Singapore

Rank: Assistant Professor (Presidential Young Professor (PYP))

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Public Policy

The Department of Political Science at the National University of Singapore invites applications for the tenure-track position of Presidential Young Professor (PYP) at the rank of Assistant Professor, to commence in 2025. Applications are invited from all major subfields of political science including, but not limited to, comparative politics, international relations, and public policy. We are especially interested in candidates with an Asia-focused research programme.

The NUS Presidential Young Professorship and NUS Presidential Fellowship Awards aim to attract, support, and empower the brightest and most promising young academics in the early stage of their careers so that they can develop themselves into world-class scholars. As a young academic at NUS, you will have the opportunity to work alongside a diverse and dynamic community of scholars and students, to pursue excellence and innovation with a positive societal impact. Successful PYP candidates are awarded a start-up grant package of either SGD 250,000 or SGD 750,000, depending on the demands of their research program. Successful PYP candidates are also granted an award of an additional SGD 250,000 for discretionary spending.

The NUS Department of Political Science is one of the leading global programs, with a vibrant research culture and located in a cosmopolitan hub. It is one of 15 departments within the Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences. Southeast and East Asia are geographical areas of departmental strength, but our 20+ faculty members have research interests which range across the subfields of political theory, international relations, comparative politics, and governance and public policy. In addition, the world-renowned Asia Research Institute (ARI) at NUS engages political scientists as part of its interdisciplinary community, as do our many area studies departments. Our department is committed to promoting equity, diversity, and inclusion as integral values in our strategic development. We also offer a competitive remuneration package, including housing and relocation benefits for eligible overseas candidates. The typical teaching load is 2:1 (one or two courses per semester, totaling three per academic year).

Interested applicants are invited to apply directly at our NUS Career Portal <https://careers.nus.edu.sg/job-invite/25147/>. Application dossiers should include:

- ? A brief cover letter explaining why the position at NUS is of interest and discusses the ambition of your research program
- ? A comprehensive CV with a complete list of publications, awards, grants, and courses taught
- ? A research statement with a three year research plan
- ? Two signature publications with the applicant as the lead author
- ? Letters from at least three referees. If the applicant is two or more years post-PhD, the referees should not be limited to supervisors. The referees should compare the research performance of the applicant to specific individuals at equivalent and top institutions and/or programs. Please send all referee letters directly to pol-ir@nus.edu.sg.

Review of applications will begin on 29 July 2024 and continue until an appointment is made. We regret that only shortlisted candidates will be notified. If there are any questions, please email the search committee at pol-ir@nus.edu.sg.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/4/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14396

Fordham University

Rank: Tenure-Track: Comparative Politics/Middle East (Fordham University)

The Department of Political Science at Fordham University invites applications for a tenure-track position in Comparative Politics at the rank of Assistant Professor, beginning Fall 2025. The primary location for this position is at Fordham College-Lincoln Center campus in Manhattan but service may be at any campus of the University.

The area of specialization for this position is comparative politics with a regional focus on the Middle East/North Africa. Within these regional contexts, we are seeking innovative scholars with significant expertise in areas that could include but are not limited to populism, social movements, institutions, political behavior, crime and corruption, political identities, ethnic and racial politics, intersectional approaches to power and marginalization, the effects of climate change, the politics of crisis, and socio-economic inequality. Scholars who are able to contribute to the University's interdisciplinary programs such as, but not limited to: Middle East Studies, Islamic Studies, International Studies, Urban Studies, Humanitarian Studies, Women, Gender, and Sexuality Studies, or Peace and Justice Studies are of particular interest. We encourage applications from candidates who will deepen our engagement with political and social institutions in New York City and contribute to the University and the department's commitment to quality teaching and research.

Consistent with our Jesuit and Catholic mission, we believe that diversity is central to the excellence of our academic program, and we strive to create an academic community and campus culture that attracts and facilitates the development of promising and diverse teacher-scholars. As our student body becomes increasingly diverse, we are especially interested in candidates with substantive experience and commitment to teaching and mentoring students of different races and ethnicities, from a range of socioeconomic and cultural backgrounds.

Review of applications will begin on September 10, 2024. Interested applicants must submit the following documents in electronic format (PDF or Microsoft Word) to Professor José Alemán, Committee Chair, via Interfolio, at <http://apply.interfolio.com/147081>: a cover letter addressing research interests and experience; curriculum vitae; writing sample; three letters of reference; evidence of teaching effectiveness; and a Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion Statement. Evidence of teaching effectiveness should include a teaching statement reflecting the candidate's pedagogical approach and experience and may include past course syllabi, peer observations, and/or student evaluations. The Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion Statement should address how the candidate's teaching, mentoring, scholarship, and/or community service supports Fordham University's commitment to diversity. Ph.D. at the time of appointment is required.

Fordham is an independent, Catholic University in the Jesuit tradition committed to excellence through diversity. Fordham is an equal opportunity employer, and we especially encourage women, people of color, veterans and people with disabilities to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 9/10/2024

Date Posted: 5/31/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14392

Michigan State University

Rank: Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): Political Theory, Comparative Politics, American Government and Politics

Specializations: African American Politics, Native American Politics, Race & Ethnic Politics

James Madison College at Michigan State University invites applications for a tenure-track assistant professor position in Political Theory and Constitutional Democracy (PTCD). James Madison College engages undergraduates in a liberal arts education in public affairs in a residential college setting within a broader research-intensive university. The Political Theory and Constitutional Democracy major is an interdisciplinary field of public affairs. It focuses on liberal constitutional democracy (its origins, practice, critics, and defenders) from the perspective of political philosophy.

We seek a teacher-scholar broadly trained in the history of political theory that supports curriculum in Black political thought (American and comparative), as well as radical perspectives on modern constitutional democracy. Areas of research and teaching focus include African-American politics, comparative Black political thought, and radical political theory. In addition to these requirements, preferred areas of interest include: colonialism studies, Native-American studies, Indigenous studies, American constitutional politics, or modern political theory. Preference will be given to candidates who can teach elective courses cross-listed between PTCD and Social Relations and Policy majors.

Successful candidates will have demonstrated ability to teach core courses in the history of political thought combining serious study of canonical texts as well as authors/voices from outside the canon, with a view to the present and future of constitutional democracy. Applicants should also be able to contribute to the broader interdisciplinary curriculum of the major and the college, including the first-year sequence. The successful candidate will be expected to maintain an active scholarly agenda in their respective field(s). The College is especially interested in candidates who can contribute, through their teaching, research and/or service, to the diversity and excellence of the academic community.

For more information, please see the college website: <https://jmc.msu.edu> and the full position description at <https://careers.msu.edu>.

Ph.D. in a related field is required by August 16th, 2025.

Applications must be submitted electronically to the Michigan State University Human Resources web site: <https://careers.msu.edu>. Please see posting number 955409 for complete instructions on how to apply. Review of applications will begin on September 20th, 2024, and will continue until the position is filled. Please contact Katie Dyjach (dyjachk@msu.edu) with any questions.

MSU is an Affirmative Action/Equal opportunity employer. MSU is committed to achieving excellence through cultural diversity. The university actively encourages applications and/or nominations of women, persons of color, veterans, and persons with disabilities.

Michigan State University occupies the ancestral, traditional, and contemporary Lands of the Anishinaabeg-Three Fires Confederacy of Ojibwe, Odawa, and Potawatomi peoples. The University resides on Land ceded in the 1819 Treaty of Saginaw.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 5/31/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14388

Waseda University

Rank: Tenure-track or tenured position in Political Science in Any Subfield

Subfield(s): Open, American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics

Faculty Recruitment Information in Political Science in Any Subfield

The Faculty of Political Science and Economics (the "FPSE") at Waseda University in Tokyo, Japan invites applications for a tenure-track or tenured position in any of the following subfields of political science: Japanese Politics, Political Economy, Comparative Politics, International Relations, or Formal and Quantitative Methods. We seek candidates who advance theoretical and empirical research on important questions in their subfield. Candidates should have strong methodological training and be able to advise graduate students on both substantive and methodological issues.

The primary teaching responsibility of this position is "Introduction to Political Analysis," one of the foundational courses offered at the FPSE, which is required for all the first-year undergraduate students majoring in political science, economics, or global political economy. This course introduces the most important questions in politics and how political scientists use analytical and scientific methods to answer those questions. In addition, the successful candidate will teach other undergraduate and graduate-level seminars. Applicants must have the ability to teach fluently both in Japanese and English.

The position will begin as early as April 1, 2025.

For more details and instructions for application, please go to the website at

https://www.waseda.jp/fpse/pse/assets/uploads/2024/05/RecruitmentInfo_PoliSci24_ENG.pdf

Start Date: Spring 2025

Application Deadline: 9/3/2024

Date Posted: 5/30/2024

Salary: Any

eJobs ID: 14381

Hampden-Sydney College

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor

Specializations: Western Europe, Post Communist Europe, International Law & Organizations

The Department of Government and Foreign Affairs at Hampden-Sydney College invites applications for a Visiting Assistant Professor to begin August 2024. Candidates should have research and teaching interests in European politics (region open) and the ability to offer introductory and intermediate courses in comparative politics and international relations.

Successful applicants should have a record of effective classroom teaching and must have their Ph.D. in political science or be ABD near completion by the time of appointment. The teaching load is seven courses over the 2024-2025 academic year.

Please submit a letter of application, curriculum vitae, teaching statement, research statement, and three letters of reference to Dr. Celia

Carroll Jones, Chair, Department of Government and Foreign Affairs, Hampden-Sydney College via Interfolio (<http://apply.interfolio.com/146717>) Review of applications will begin immediately.

Hampden-Sydney College is a selective liberal arts institution enrolling approximately 1000 students. Founded in 1775, it is the tenth oldest institution of higher learning in the United States and one of four liberal arts colleges in the United States dedicated to the education of men. Our mission is to educate “good men and good citizens in an atmosphere of sound learning.”

Our beautiful 1300-acre campus is less than 7 miles from downtown Farmville, home to Longwood University and the Moton Museum, which is listed on the U.S. Civil Rights Trail. The campus is located 65 miles west of Richmond, 50 miles east of Lynchburg, and 75 miles south of Charlottesville, providing abundant cultural, recreational and artistic resources. As a community, we are dedicated to the goal of building a culturally diverse faculty committed to working in a multicultural environment and strongly encourage applications from women and minoritized groups. Hampden-Sydney College values diversity, prohibits discrimination, and is committed to equal opportunity for all employees and applicants for employment.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 5/21/2024

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 14363

American University of Sharjah

Rank: Postdoctoral Associate

Subfield(s): Methodology, Comparative Politics, Open

Specializations: Quantitative Methods, Political Behavior, Middle East

The Department of International Studies at the American University of Sharjah (AUS), United Arab Emirates, is seeking a highly motivated and enthusiastic Postdoctoral Associate to work with Dr. Bethany Shockley and her US-based collaborator, Dr. Yuree Noh on an experimental study of egalitarianism in the UAE and Tunisia. The anticipated appointment is expected to start on September 1, 2024 and end on May 30, 2025.

The ideal candidate will play an integral role in supporting the collection and analysis of experimental data on the opinions of nationals and non-national residents in the UAE. Specifically, the individual will work with the AUS-based team of graduate and undergraduate assistants to conduct lab and survey experiments under the direction of Dr. Bethany Shockley and Dr. Yuree Noh. It is expected that the postdoctoral scholar will join the team in actively publishing research findings and presenting research.

Qualifications and Skills Required:

The applicant needs to have obtained a PhD in political science or related fields such as economics, psychology, or sociology with research experience. The successful applicant will have excellent quantitative methods skills with an emphasis on lab and/or survey experiments. The position is open to applicants with topical knowledge in areas such as public opinion, populism, migration studies, gender & politics, authoritarianism, and state-society relations. Prior experience in the Arab Gulf region and knowledge of Arabic will also be considered favorably but are not required.

This position is based in Sharjah, UAE, and the selected candidate must be willing to relocate. Sharjah is a diverse and multicultural city, only 25 minutes from Dubai. The terms of employment are competitive. Applications will be reviewed immediately, and candidates will be considered until the position is filled. You are welcome to contact Dr. Bethany Shockley bshockley@aus.edu or Dr. Yuree Noh yuree.noh@gmail.com at with any questions about the position.

The application is to include the following:

- A curriculum vitae with a full publication list.
- A cover letter with a statement of research interests, a writing sample and 2 letters of references.

To apply, please visit: <https://www.aus.edu/employment/postdoctoral-research-assistant-college-of-arts-and-sciences>

AUS is an equal opportunity employer. We adhere to a policy of making employment decisions without regard to race, color, age, gender, religion, national origin, disability or marital status. Opportunities for employment are based solely upon one's qualifications.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 4/2/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 13294

New School for Social Research

Rank: Professor, Comparative Politics (one semester, fixed-term)

PRIORITY APPLICATION DEADLINE: April 1, 2024

To apply, visit this link: <https://shorturl.at/nzIS1>

The Department of Politics at The New School seeks applicants for a one-semester professorship in comparative politics. The Professor will offer two courses during the spring 2025 semester (which runs January 21-May 14, 2025). While research and teaching can cover any themes or regions, the department prefers applicants with a demonstrated record of university teaching experience.

The Department of Politics specializes in critical, historical, grounded, and interdisciplinary approaches to the study of politics. Faculty and students bring the leading edge of scholarly debate and analysis into conversation with pressing issues of our time. We engage in political and intellectual life at the university, in New York City, and as a part of extensive global research networks. The Department offers Bachelor of Arts, Master of Arts, and PhD degrees.

The New School is strongly committed to diversity and inclusion in the workplace and particularly seeks applications from members of underrepresented groups, as well as candidates who share this commitment.

RESPONSIBILITIES

The term Professor will be expected to teach two courses (likely one graduate seminar and one undergraduate seminar) in spring 2025. In addition to holding regular office hours, the Faculty will be expected to take part in the curricular and intellectual life of the department, by giving one research presentation, sitting on a field examination committee, and attending department events.

MINIMUM QUALIFICATIONS

The selection among eligible candidates will be based on:

A PhD in Political Science or cognate discipline or program

Evidence of progress toward research publications

Evidence of instructional experience (teaching assistant, instructor)

WORK MODALITY

On-Campus Position: Faculty are expected to work on-campus due to the nature of the work in accordance with the University policies as set forth in the Full-Time Faculty Handbook.

SALARY RANGE

$50,000 - $55,000

SPECIAL INSTRUCTION TO APPLICANTS

Review of applications will begin on April 1, 2024 and continue until the position is filled. Interested candidates should submit:

Cover letter outlining research and teaching interests and relevant experience

Curriculum Vitae

Names and contact information of three references

Applicants may be contacted at the discretion of the department faculty for additional materials.

For information on the University benefits package including health and retirement plans, please visit <http://www.newschool.edu/human-resources/benefits/>.

To apply, please visit this link: <https://shorturl.at/nzIS1>

We look forward to receiving your application!

Start Date: Spring 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 2/26/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 13222

George Washington University

Rank: Postdoctoral Associate

The George Washington University Political Science Department is seeking an exceptional candidate for a full-time, academic research position at the rank of postdoctoral associate. The term of this position is two years beginning in September 2024. The researcher will work on topics broadly related to international cooperation on emerging technologies, using social scientific methods. Substantive interest in China's international engagement with safety and security issues linked to hazardous technologies is especially welcome.

The postdoctoral associate will work closely with Assistant Professor Jeffrey Ding. The successful candidate will be expected to contribute to all parts of the research process, including design, implementation, manuscript preparation, and presentation of results.

The postdoctoral associate will also have the opportunity to affiliate with George Washington University's Institute of Security and Conflict Studies (ISCS) and present work at research-in-progress seminars at the ISCS, which has a vibrant community of predoctoral fellows, visiting scholars, and PhDs in residence.

Application Procedure: To apply please complete an online application at <https://www.gwu.jobs/postings/109125>. A complete application package will include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, statement of research interest, samples of written work, and names and contact information of three professional references. Review of applications will begin on March 25, 2024, and will continue until the position is filled. Only complete applications will be considered.

Please direct all questions to Prof. Jeffrey Ding at jeffreying@gwu.edu.

Qualified candidates will hold a Doctoral degree or comparable doctoral degree in a related discipline. Degree must be conferred by the start date of the position.

Minimum Qualifications: Qualified candidates will hold a Doctoral degree. Degree must be conferred by the start date of the position.

Preferred Qualifications:

Desired Qualifications:

PhD in fields including political science, international relations, area studies, safety sciences, or other related fields

Proficiency in Mandarin Chinese or demonstrated expertise on China

Strong communication skills

The ability to work in a highly collaborative and interdisciplinary environment

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 2/16/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 13204

George Washington University

Rank: Professor and Director, M.A. Program in International Affairs

The George Washington University's Elliott School of International Affairs invites applications for a full-time, non-tenure-accruing, faculty position to serve as Director of the school's M.A. program in International Affairs. We invite applications from individuals who have substantial academic or professional experience in International Affairs. The successful candidate will be appointed as the John O. Rankin Professor of International Affairs (or Associate Professor) or the John O. Rankin Professor of Practice of International Affairs (or Associate Professor), depending on qualifications. This appointment will begin in academic year 2024-25 for an initial term of three years, and may be renewed thereafter on a term basis. Salary is commensurate with experience, and will reflect a nine-month academic year appointment, leaving summers for individual research. The successful candidate will be expected to carry out occasional duties during the summer months, as needed, to ensure the effectiveness and quality of the MAIA program. There will be a separate stipend for administrative responsibilities.

As a member of the Elliott School's faculty, the Rankin Professor will teach courses, conduct research, and publish in scholarly or policy-related venues on international affairs. As Director of the M.A. program in International Affairs, this person will be responsible for the administration of one of the Elliott School's two largest graduate programs, with an enrollment of approximately 200 students. This will entail working with the deans, departments, and faculty to design and deliver a curriculum that is challenging and current; recruiting and admitting students; advising students; organizing extracurricular events; engaging in outreach (including with program alumni) and fundraising activities; and other aspects of program leadership. The successful candidate will be responsible for the delivery of the program's capstone course.

Minimum qualifications: A graduate degree (such as a Ph.D. or M.A. in a relevant social science or humanities discipline, or a J.D. or M.D. in a relevant field) and broad experience in international affairs and contemporary policy issues as evidenced by a record of college-level teaching, published research, or lengthy professional employment in international affairs.

Application Procedure: Applicants must complete an online faculty application at <https://www.gwu.jobs/postings/108672> and upload a cover letter that explains how their qualifications and experiences satisfy the basic qualifications for this position, a CV, and (where available) a writing sample, a sample course syllabus, and sample teaching evaluations or assessments. Please provide names and contact information for three references. Review of applications will begin on March 18 and will continue until the position is filled. Only completed applications will be considered.

The George Washington University seeks to attract a diverse faculty of the highest caliber; women and people of color are particularly encouraged to apply. The University is an equal opportunity/Affirmative Action employer that does not unlawfully discriminate in any of its programs or activities on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, national origin, age, disability, veteran status, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, or on any other basis prohibited by applicable law.

Employment offers are contingent on the satisfactory outcome of a standard background screening.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 2/16/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 13203

Yale University

Rank: Associate/Full Professor, International Relations, Comparative Politics and Political Economy

Position Description

The Department of Political Science at Yale University and the Jackson School of Global Affairs are seeking to jointly hire several faculty members at the rank of Associate or Full Professor with tenure with an appointment in the fields of Comparative Politics, Comparative Political Economy, Political Economy, and/or International Relations, beginning July 1, 2024. Faculty are expected to share their teaching and service obligations between both the Political Science Department and the Jackson School of Global Affairs. The teaching expectation is normally 3 courses per academic year.

Qualifications

Ph.D. or equivalent degree required at time of hire.

Application Instructions

All applications must include a cover letter and a CV. All materials should be uploaded to Interfolio at <http://apply.interfolio.com/131556>. Review of applications will begin October 15, 2023 (or 30 days after posting, whichever is later), and to guarantee full consideration your file should be complete by this date.

Please contact Ms. Xaria Callender, Sr. Administrative Assistant for the Political Science Department, at xaria.callender@yale.edu if you have questions about the application process.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 9/21/2024

Date Posted: 9/21/2023

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 12585

Catholic University of America

Rank: Clinical Assistant Professor of Politics

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Comparative Politics, American Government and Politics

Specializations: American Politics, Latin American, Political Theory

Clinical Assistant Professor of Politics (Public Policy)

The Department of Politics at The Catholic University of America invites applications for a clinical (non-tenure track, two-year renewable contract) faculty appointment, to begin in the fall of 2024. Candidates should have expertise in public policy (American and/or comparative, as well as familiarity with the principles of Catholic social teaching). The department especially welcomes applicants whose research interests complement its traditional strengths in historical, theoretical, ethical and institutional perspectives. The successful candidate will have an opportunity to teach both undergraduates and graduates, including students in a new MA in Public Policy program currently under development.

We seek candidates who understand, are enthusiastic about, and will make a significant contribution to the mission of the University, which reads as follows: "As the national university of the Catholic Church in the United States, founded and sponsored by the bishops of the country with the approval of the Holy See, The Catholic University of America is committed to being a comprehensive Catholic and American institution of higher learning, faithful to the teachings of Jesus Christ as handed on by the Church. Dedicated to advancing the dialogue between faith and reason, The Catholic University of America seeks to discover and impart the truth through excellence in teaching and research, all in service to the Church, the nation and the world."

Applicants should submit a cover letter, a curriculum vitae, a statement of current research and future research plans, a statement of teaching philosophy, graduate school transcript, and a sample of written work (including scholarly publications) to pol-search@cua.edu and arrange for the submission of three letters of reference. In addition, applicants are asked to submit a one- to two-page personal statement indicating how their research, teaching, and service will make a distinctive contribution to our University's mission and to the vision of Catholic education outlined in the Apostolic Constitution on Catholic Universities Ex Corde Ecclesiae.

Review of applications will begin November 15 and continue until the position is filled.

Questions may be directed to Jakub Grygiel, Department Chair, at grygiel@cua.edu.

The Catholic University of America is an Equal Opportunity Employer.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/7/2023

Salary: $70,000 - $79,999

eJobs ID: 12475

Rhodes College

Rank: Assistant Professor of International Relations/Comparative Politics

The Department of International Studies at Rhodes College invites applications for a tenure-track position at the rank of assistant professor to begin Fall of 2024. Rhodes College believes that diversity and inclusion are critical to our success as an institution, and we seek to recruit, develop, and retain the most talented people from a diverse candidate pool. Furthermore, Rhodes College is committed to supporting the work-life alignment of its faculty. We encourage applications from candidates who have expertise in security, peace, and conflict. The search is open in terms of regional or area studies expertise. This position has a 3:2 teaching load, and applicants should demonstrate a firm commitment to teaching and research in an undergraduate, liberal arts environment. The successful candidate will have classroom experience and is expected to teach introductory and advanced courses in either International Relations or Comparative Politics. Additional courses will be based on the candidate's area of specialization. Preference will be given to candidates who can teach an upper-level course on international conflict or security and those who can contribute to an interdisciplinary atmosphere. The successful candidate is expected to earn their Ph.D. by July 2024.

Rhodes is a nationally ranked residential college committed to the liberal arts and sciences. Our highest priorities are intellectual engagement, service to others, commitment to diversity and inclusion, and honor among ourselves. Our students live and learn on one of the country's most beautiful campuses, located in the heart of Memphis, an economic, medical, and culturally diverse center, making Rhodes one of a handful of prominent liberal arts colleges in a major metropolitan area.

Rhodes College prides itself on being a diverse, inclusive, and welcoming environment. We are an equal opportunity employer committed to diversity and anti-discrimination.

A complete application will include 1) a cover letter that addresses the strengths the candidate will bring as a teacher and scholar to a liberal arts college environment; 2) a curriculum vitae; 3) a separate statement that addresses how the candidate's experiences with teaching, scholarship, and/or service will contribute to a college community that includes a commitment to diversity and inclusion as one of its core values; 4) a writing sample; 5) an unofficial graduate transcript; and 6) evidence of teaching performance (if applicable). Review of completed applications will begin on October 1, 2023, and will continue until the position is filled. Candidates from backgrounds typically underrepresented in higher education are strongly encouraged to apply. Letters of recommendation will only be solicited for short-listed applicants, at which time you will be prompted for the names and contact information for three (3) references. Background checks are required before candidates can be brought to campus for interviews.

For further information, please contact Dr. Chien-Kai Chen, chair of the search committee, at [chenc@rhodes.edu].

Please apply here: [https://rhodes.wd5.myworkdayjobs.com/Rhodes_Careers/job/Memphis-Tennessee/Assistant-Professor-of-International-Relations-Comparative-Politics_JR-471].

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/31/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12427

Yale University

Rank: Assistant/Associate/Full Professor, Political Science

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, International Relations

Specializations: American Politics, Political Economy, International Law & Organizations

Position Description

The Department of Political Science at Yale University is seeking to hire several faculty members at the rank of Assistant, Associate, or Full Professor with an appointment in the fields of American Politics, Comparative Politics, Political Economy, and/or International Relations, beginning July 1, 2024. The successful applicant will be expected to teach courses in their substantive area of expertise in political science.

Qualifications

If candidates are appointed at the untenured level, the initial appointment will be for 5 years. The teaching expectation is normally 3 courses per academic year.

Ph.D. or equivalent degree required at time of hire.

Application Instructions

All applications must include a cover letter, CV, and a list of 3 references. Untenured candidates should also supply 3 recommendation letters, 2 writing samples, and separate short (2 pages or less) research and teaching statements. All materials should be uploaded to Interfolio at <http://apply.interfolio.com/129113>. Review of applications will begin September 15, 2023, and to guarantee full consideration your file should be complete by this date.

Please contact Ms. Xaria Callender, Sr. Administrative Assistant for the Political Science Department, at xaria.callender@yale.edu if you have questions about the application process.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Date Posted: 8/7/2023

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 12216

INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS

Lake Forest College

Rank: Latin American Politics and International Relations

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Methodology

Specializations: South America, Central America, Mexico

The Lake Forest College Department of Politics and International Relations invites applications for a tenure-track assistant professor in comparative politics or international relations with a specialization in Latin America to begin August 2025. We seek someone to teach Introduction to Comparative Politics; Introduction to Global Politics; a research methods survey course, required for Politics and International Relations majors, that includes qualitative and/or quantitative methods; and a broad range of other courses in comparative politics or international relations with a focus on Spanish-speaking countries in Latin America. While we encourage candidates of all substantive interests to apply, those whose work focuses on issues of human rights, social movements, migration, indigenous communities, or populism are preferred. Additionally, candidates with corollary research and/or teaching interests in the Latinx experience within the domestic United States are particularly encouraged to apply.

Lake Forest College has a rich, interdisciplinary program in Latin American and Latinx Studies to which the successful candidate is expected to contribute significantly. Other interdisciplinary programs include Urban Studies; Gender, Sexuality, and Women's Studies; African American Studies; and Social Justice. We also have an "In the Loop" semester-long residential program in Chicago, as well as many courses emphasizing Chicago history, politics, and its diverse cultures. Lake Forest College's proximity to Chicago provides an opportunity to use the city as a "laboratory" for student work and research. We are interested in candidates who can contribute to any of these programs. We are especially interested in candidates who can incorporate students into their research programs and want to build a career centered on teaching and advising excellence.

Candidates are expected to have a record of demonstrated teaching excellence and the promise of scholarly productivity. A Ph.D. in political science or a related field is required. (ABD is acceptable if degree is conferred prior to the start of the 25-26 academic year.) Our teaching load is 3/3, with small classes (typically 15-25 students). We support faculty research through the provision of student research assistants and the potential to apply for summer research funds. The successful passage of the third-year review earns a one-semester sabbatical at full pay in the fourth or fifth year of service. Tenure review takes place at the start of the sixth year.

Applicants should submit a curriculum vitae, an unofficial graduate transcript, a teaching statement that addresses diversity in a liberal arts setting, sample syllabi, a single sample of scholarly writing, three confidential letters of recommendation, and evidence of teaching effectiveness to James J. Marquardt, Ph.D., Chair of the Department of Politics and International Relations at the following email address: latinamericasearch2024@lakeforest.edu. Applications will be accepted until the position is filled but must be received by October 1, 2024, to be assured full consideration.

A highly selective liberal arts college located on Chicago's North Shore, Lake Forest College enrolls approximately 1,800 students from more than 40 states and from more than 100 countries. Lake Forest is one of the most diverse small colleges in the Midwest with approximately 40% of our student body comprised of domestic students of color and international students. At Lake Forest College, the quality of a faculty member's teaching is the most important criterion for evaluation. The College also expects peer-reviewed publications and active participation in the College community. Lake Forest College embraces diversity and encourages applications from women, members of historically underrepresented groups, veterans, and individuals with disabilities.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 10/1/2024

Date Posted: 8/1/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14565

Princeton University

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Associate, Program in Latin American Studies

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Public Policy

Program in Latin American Studies (PLAS) Postdoctoral Fellowship, 2025-2026

Job Title: Postdoctoral Research Associate

Requisition Number: D-24-LAS-00006

The Program in Latin American Studies (PLAS) is seeking candidates from any discipline who are engaged in scholarly research on topics related to Latin American Studies, including the Caribbean and Brazil, to fill Postdoctoral Research Associate or more senior research positions. Candidates will be expected to devote themselves to research and writing, and may teach not more than one course per semester. When teaching, successful candidates will hold the secondary rank of Lecturer, and any teaching opportunities are subject to sufficient enrollments and the approval of the Dean of the Faculty. Postdoctoral associates are expected to participate regularly in the scholarly and academic activities of the program.

The Term of appointment is based on rank. Positions at the postdoctoral rank are for a 12-month term during the 2025-2026 academic year with the possibility of renewal pending satisfactory performance and continued funding; those hired at more senior ranks may have multi-year appointments. Start date is around September 1, 2025.

Appointments are for a 12-month term during the 2025-2026 academic year, starting September 1, 2025, with the possibility of renewal, contingent on satisfactory performance and continued funding.

A competitive salary commensurate with experience and excellent benefits will be offered.

This position is subject to the University's background check policy. The work location for this position is in-person on campus at Princeton University.

How to Apply:

For full consideration complete applications including letters of recommendation should be submitted by December 1, 2024, 11:59 p.m. EST.

All candidates must apply online and submit the below materials (in English) at <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/34843>.

1. Cover letter
2. Curriculum vitae
3. Statement of research interests (1,000 – 1,500 words)
4. A representative sample of recent work (under 30 written pages or equivalent)
5. Three letters of recommendation

Required Qualifications: Doctoral degree. Eligible candidate must have less than three years of post- PhD research experience prior to anticipated start date. Academic excellence, potential to bring new ideas and approaches to Princeton University and to interact successfully with a broad range of faculty and students.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 12/1/2024

Date Posted: 8/1/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14514

Grinnell College

Rank: Political Science/International Relations Tenure Track Fall 2025

Specializations: Conflict Processes, Foreign Policy, International Law & Organizations

GRINNELL COLLEGE. The Department of Political Science invites applications for a tenure-track appointment in International Relations beginning Fall 2025. Assistant Professor (Ph.D.) preferred; Instructor (ABD) or Associate Professor possible. Research and teaching interests might include, but are not limited to: security, conflict, political violence, human rights, foreign policy, global governance, international organizations, or international law. High consideration will be given to individuals who can demonstrate educational, research, service, or other experiences that prepare them for mentoring and engaging with underrepresented and historically marginalized students and colleagues.

Grinnell College is a highly selective undergraduate liberal arts college with a strong tradition of social responsibility. In letters of application, candidates should discuss their potential to contribute to a college community that maintains a diversity of people and perspectives as one of its core values. To be assured of full consideration, all application materials should be received by September 13, 2024. Please visit our application website at <https://jobs.grinnell.edu> to find more details about the job and submit applications online. Candidates will need to upload a letter of application, curriculum vitae, transcripts (copies are acceptable), a sample of scholarly work, and provide email addresses for three references. Questions about this search should be directed to the search chair, Professor Barry Driscoll at [politicalsciencesearch@grinnell.edu] or 641-269-3137.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 9/25/2024

Date Posted: 7/29/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14545

Harvard University

Rank: TENURE-TRACK PROFESSOR OF GOVERNMENT – INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS

The Department of Government seeks to appoint a tenure-track professor in Government specializing in International Relations. The appointment is expected to begin on July 1, 2025. The tenure-track professor will be responsible for teaching at the undergraduate and graduate levels. Candidates are encouraged to apply by September 20, 2024; applications will be reviewed until the position is filled.

Basic Qualifications: Doctorate or terminal degree in Political Science, Government or related disciplines required by the time the appointment begins.

Additional Qualifications: Demonstrated strong commitment to teaching and advising is desired.

Special Instructions: Please submit the following materials through the ARIeS portal (<https://academicpositions.harvard.edu>). The Committee will begin reviewing applications on September 16, 2024.

1. Cover letter
2. Curriculum Vitae
3. Teaching/advising statement (describing the candidate's teaching philosophy and practices as well as their approach to creating a learning environment in which students are encouraged to ask questions and share their ideas)
4. Research statement
5. Service statement describing efforts to strengthen academic communities, e.g., the candidate's department, institution, and/or professional societies.
6. Names and contact information of 3-5 referees, who will be asked by a system-generated email to upload a letter of recommendation once the candidate's application has been submitted. Three letters of recommendation are required, and the application is considered complete only when at least three letters have been received. At least one letter must come from someone who has not served as the candidate's undergraduate, graduate, or postdoctoral advisor.
7. Publications or copies of creative works, if applicable.

The health of our workforce is a priority for Harvard University. With that in mind, we strongly encourage all employees to be up-to-date on CDC-recommended vaccines.

Harvard is an equal opportunity employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, sex, gender identity, sexual orientation, religion, creed, national origin, ancestry, age, protected veteran status, disability, genetic information, military service, pregnancy and pregnancy-related conditions, or other protected status.

Start Date: Summer 2025

Application Deadline: 9/20/2024

Date Posted: 7/29/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14548

University of Denver

Rank: Assistant or Associate Professor, Environment and Society

The Josef Korbel School of International Studies of the University of Denver seeks to hire a tenure-line assistant or associate professor focused on the societal, economic, and developmental impacts of and responses to environmental change. The position will commence in September 2025.

The successful candidate for this position will demonstrate outstanding potential at the assistant level or an outstanding record at the associate level as both a scholar and a teacher in an interdisciplinary school and will complement the expertise of the existing faculty who specialize in environmental issues. We will give special consideration to scholars who focus on the societal, economic, and developmental consequences of climate change on such matters as economic development, social vulnerability, human well-being, security, and democracy, environmental justice, and/or the efficacy of societal and technological responses to them, including public policies, corporate environmental and social governance, climate adaptation, energy transition, and environmental activism.

The faculty member in this position will be prepared to teach core courses in the Korbel School's MA in Global Environmental Sustainability, which also enrolls students from other Korbel graduate programs and in the Korbel School's undergraduate programs. Through research and outreach, the person in this position will contribute to the growth of the School's environmental programs and commitment to engaged scholarship.

The Korbel School is a leader in public and international affairs education and scholarship, with two undergraduate majors, six MA programs, and an MPP program. We are deeply committed to building a diverse and inclusive educational environment and particularly seek candidates with research, teaching, service, or life experiences that can contribute to realizing that commitment. Candidates must demonstrate the ability to work effectively with ethnically/racially diverse populations. The ideal candidate demonstrates experience and versatility in inclusive pedagogy. We also encourage applications from candidates with non-traditional career paths and from international applicants.

Position Summary

Completed applications received by September 20, 2024, will be guaranteed full consideration. A complete application includes a cover letter, a CV, up to two writing samples, at least one-course syllabus, and (three separate) statements on research, teaching, and how, as a faculty member, the applicant would contribute to values and practices embracing diversity, equity, and inclusivity. Please refer to the University of Denver's DEI Resources for further information. Applicants should also arrange for three letters of recommendation that referees should submit directly through the University of Denver job application portal. These materials are to be submitted through the University of Denver's online application system at Pioneer Jobs. Questions can be directed to Sage.Brewer@du.edu.

The University of Denver is committed to enhancing the diversity of its faculty and staff. We are an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment regardless of age, race, color, national origin, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, disability, military/veteran status or any other status protected by law.

Required Qualifications

A PhD or equivalent in public policy, economics, sociology, political science, political economy, or related field. Applicants with degrees from interdisciplinary environmental and natural resource programs or from the natural sciences will be considered but must also demonstrate a clear connection to the social sciences.

The ability to teach undergraduate and graduate courses in environmental economics, sustainable development, environmental politics, or environmental justice, as indicated by evidence of teaching experience or potential.

Scholarly publications or other evidence of high research potential.

Preferred Qualifications

Experience with research that engages, or has the potential to engage, with various policy communities and stakeholders.

Experience in obtaining or applying for sponsored research funding.

Experience collaborating with scholars in other disciplines.

Salary Range:

The salary range for this nine-month position is $88,000 - $98,000 at the Assistant Professor level and $105,000 - $120,000 at the Associate Professor level.

Application Deadline

For consideration, please submit your application materials by 4:00 p.m. (MST) September 20, 2024.

Special Instructions

Candidates must apply online through jobs.du.edu to be considered. Only applications submitted online will be accepted. For complete information about the position and to apply, please consult the University of Denver's job site.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 9/20/2024

Date Posted: 7/25/2024

Salary: $110,000 - $119,999

eJobs ID: 14534

El Colegio de México

Rank: Three full-time professor positions (tenure-track)

Subfield(s): International Relations, Political Theory, International Relations

Specializations: International Political Economy, Political Theory, United States

The Center for International Studies invites interested individuals of any nationality to apply for three full-time professor positions (tenure-track).

Requirements:

- a) Hold a PhD/Doctorate in Political Science or related fields.
- b) Be a member of the National System of Researchers (SNII) of Mexico or be eligible for imminent inclusion.
- c) Dedicate full-time and exclusively to El Colegio de México.
- d) Have proficiency in Spanish if a foreigner.
- e) Commit to staying at least three years at the Center for International Studies, provided that El Colegio decides to renew the contracts each year.

The selection committee will also evaluate the candidates' publications and teaching experience.

The Center is particularly interested in candidates with the ability and experience to develop cutting-edge research projects in one of the following areas:

- 1) International relations (particularly on U.S. foreign policy issues).
- 2) International political economy (ideally in industrial policy, trade policy, or economic development).
- 3) Political theory, political sociology, or sociology of the State.

Activities:

The selected professor-researchers will be required to: a) Conduct research activities on the topics mentioned above; b) Teach courses in CEI's academic programs related to their research areas and according to the Center's needs; c) Participate in the rest of the Center's activities, particularly student tutoring and thesis advising.

Candidates should submit an electronic file with the following documents to the email address iladron@colmex.mx before September 15, 2024: a) Complete curriculum vitae; b) Thesis, copy of the doctoral degree, and publications; c) Two letters of recommendation; and d) Statement of purpose including a research and teaching proposal (5 to 10 pages). Candidates selected for interviews must be available during the second week of October 2024. The Selection Committee's decisions will be final.

Start Date: Winter 2024

Application Deadline: 9/15/2024

Date Posted: 7/24/2024

Salary: $40,000 - $49,999

eJobs ID: 14480

Hamilton College

Rank: Assistant Professor of Government (African Politics)

The Government Department at Hamilton College invites applications for a tenure-track position in African politics to begin in Summer 2025. The department seeks a specialist in sub-Saharan African politics, but within this specialty, we are open to all substantive areas of expertise in either comparative politics or international relations.

The teaching load for this position is four courses during the first year and five courses thereafter, including an introductory course in either comparative politics or international relations and upper-level courses in the candidate's specialty. The expected salary range for this position is $89,800 to $96,000. The position requires institutional service, including academic advising of undergraduate students after the first year.

Candidates should submit a cover letter, CV, writing sample, evidence of teaching ability, and letters of reference via Interfolio at <http://apply.interfolio.com/150100>. We seek candidates who can demonstrate their experience in teaching or working with diverse student populations. Your cover letter should address ways in which you raise issues of diversity, equity, inclusion, and/or belonging in your teaching, scholarship, and/or service. Preference will be given to candidates who have the PhD in hand at the start of the position, but ABD candidates will also be considered.

Our review of applications will begin on 15 September 2024. Questions regarding the search may be directed to Prof. Sharon Rivera, African Politics Search Committee Chair, at srivera@hamilton.edu.

To schedule an informational interview at APSA 2024, please email Erica De Bruin (edebruin@hamilton.edu) and Heather Sullivan (hasullivan@hamilton.edu).

Hamilton College is a residential liberal arts college located in central New York. The College has built its reputation on the teaching excellence and leading scholarship of its faculty, and on the academic distinction and intellectual curiosity of its approximately 2000 students who take advantage of Hamilton's open curriculum (<https://www.hamilton.edu/academics/open-curriculum>). Accomplished faculty, highly capable and motivated students, and a student-faculty ratio of 9:1 provide an educational experience that emphasizes academic excellence, intellectual and cultural diversity, and respect for differences in the development of students as human beings. Hamilton's commitment to diversity is embodied in its need-blind admission policy and meeting the full demonstrated financial need of every accepted student for their entire undergraduate program. Please visit the college website for more information (www.hamilton.edu).

Hamilton College is an affirmative action, equal opportunity employer that is committed to building an inclusive and diverse learning community where members from all backgrounds can live, learn, and excel. We encourage candidates from underrepresented groups in higher education to apply. Applicants with dual-career considerations can find other Hamilton and nearby academic job listings at <https://www.hercjobs.org/regions/higher-ed-careers-upstate-new-york/>, as well as additional information at <https://www.hamilton.edu/dof/faculty-development/resources-for-prospective-or-new-faculty/opportunities-for-spouses-or-partners> (Opportunities for Spouses or Partners). Hamilton provides domestic partner benefits.

Start Date: Summer 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/24/2024

Salary: $90,000 - $99,999

eJobs ID: 14529

Franklin & Marshall College

Rank: Tenure Track Position

Franklin & Marshall College invites applications for a tenure-track position in the Department of Government beginning August 2025. The rank will be Assistant Professor or Instructor depending on qualifications. Applicants should possess or be close to completing a doctorate degree. The position is in international relations and we are particularly interested in candidates whose scholarship and teaching combine that expertise with a regional focus on the Middle East. In addition, the candidate would offer courses that build on the Department's offerings along with contributions in the College's general education program, Connections. Faculty maintain active research programs and contribute to the College's shared governance.

Candidates must submit the following items electronically via Interfolio: apply.interfolio.com/149720: a cover letter; curriculum vitae; graduate transcript(s) (unofficial copies are fine); a holistic statement on your approach to inclusive excellence in teaching and student success; a research statement; teaching evaluations and/or observations (if available); and a list of three reference names (NOTE: letters of reference will be solicited at a later stage, and once they are solicited referees will need to supply them within two weeks). For full consideration applications should be received by September 23, 2024.

Pursuant to cultivating an inclusive college community, the search committee will holistically assess the qualifications of each applicant. We will consider an individual's record working with students and colleagues with diverse perspectives, experiences, and backgrounds. We will also consider experience overcoming or helping others overcome barriers to academic success.

Franklin & Marshall College is committed to having an inclusive campus community where all members are treated with dignity and respect. As an Equal Opportunity Employer, the College does not discriminate in its hiring or employment practices on the basis of gender, sex, race, ethnicity, color, national origin, religion, age, disability, family or marital status, sexual orientation, or any protected characteristic. Individuals who need accommodation due to a disability in order to submit an application or to otherwise participate in the employment process should contact the department's academic coordinator, Caroline Fresh (cfresh@fandm.edu).

Franklin and Marshall College is committed to providing a safe and productive learning, living and working community. To assist in achieving this goal, we conduct background investigations for all prospective applicants being considered for employment.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 9/23/2024

Date Posted: 7/23/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14522

University of Southern California

Rank: Full-Time, Teaching or Practice Track Faculty

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Public Policy

Full-Time, Teaching or Practice-Track Faculty Positions in Political Science and International Relations

The Department of Political Science and International Relations in the Dana and David Dornsife College of Letters, Arts and Sciences at the University of Southern California in Los Angeles, California invites applications for two full-time, teaching faculty positions:

1. An instructor with expertise in Intelligence and Cyber Operations (INCO). While a Professor of the Practice is preferred, the position is open to the ranks of Assistant Professor (Teaching), Assistant Professor of the Practice, Associate Professor (Teaching), Associate Professor of the Practice, Professor (Teaching) and Professor of the Practice.
2. An Assistant Professor (Teaching), Associate Professor (Teaching), or Professor (Teaching) with expertise in one or more of the following areas: peace and conflict, including topics such as terrorism, genocide, and humanitarian interventions; European security, foreign policy, and diplomacy; international finance; and Environmental politics, policy, or law.

Successful candidates would teach 5 undergraduate-level courses per year.

Qualifications: Successful candidates for the first position must have completed an advanced degree (PhD or JD preferred) in a relevant field and should have demonstrated subject matter expertise, with professional experience in the field preferred, and excellence in teaching. Successful candidates for the second position must have completed a doctorate (PhD strongly preferred) and demonstrated excellence in teaching.

Application Materials:

- Cover Letter (including thorough description of relevant expertise and experience)
- Curriculum Vitae
- Teaching Evaluations, if available.
- The names of three individuals who may be contacted by USC for a letter of reference (referees should speak to teaching abilities)

In order to be considered for this position, applicants are required to submit an electronic USC application; follow this job link or paste in a browser: <https://usccareers.usc.edu/job/los-angeles/full-time-teaching-or-practice-track-faculty-positions-in-political-science-and-international-relat/1209/64030220864> .

Review of applications has begun. We will continue to consider new applications until August 1, 2024.

For additional information please contact:

Morris Levy, Associate Professor and Director of Undergraduate Studies

Department of Political Science and International Relations

Dr. Medicine Crow (DMC) 352

University of Southern California

Los Angeles, CA 90089-0044

morrisl@usc.edu

The annual base salary range for this position is $76,000 - $106,200. When extending an offer of employment, the University of Southern California considers factors such as (but not limited to) the scope and responsibilities of the position, the candidate's work experience, education/training, key skills, internal peer equity, federal, state and local laws, contractual stipulations, grant funding, as well as external market and organizational considerations.

USC is an equal-opportunity educator and employer, proudly pluralistic and firmly committed to providing equal opportunity for outstanding persons of every race, gender, creed and background. The university particularly encourages members of underrepresented groups, veterans and individuals with disabilities to apply. USC will make reasonable accommodations for qualified individuals with known disabilities unless doing so would result in an undue hardship. USC will consider for employment all qualified applicants with criminal histories in a manner consistent with the requirements of the Los Angeles Fair Chance Initiative for Hiring ordinance. Further information is available by contacting uschr@usc.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/23/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14523

Rice University

Rank: Assistant Professor in Political Science

The Department of Political Science at Rice University, located in Houston, Texas, invites applications for a tenure-track position to begin July 1, 2025. The appointment will be made at the rank of assistant professor. Assistant professors are expected to teach undergraduate and graduate courses, perform research in their specialized area, and contribute to university service. Therefore, successful candidates will have a promising research agenda and strong analytical and empirical skills as well as aspire to the highest standards of scholarship, professional activity, and commitment to graduate and undergraduate education.

We are particularly interested in candidates whose research interests and expertise lie in the area of international relations, including international security, international cooperation, the intersection of domestic politics and IR, foreign policy, and political violence/civil war. Successful candidates will have advanced skills in quantitative research methods and use these methods in their work. Candidates must currently have a Ph.D. or complete the Ph.D. by July 1, 2025.

Rice University and the Department of Political Science are committed to building and sustaining an inclusive, diverse environment for our faculty, staff, and students. We encourage applications from individuals who have been historically underrepresented in academia, including people of color, LGBTQI+ people, women, and people with disabilities. We strive to counter prejudice actively and to create a working environment that is inclusive and equitable.

The application deadline is September 15, 2024. A complete application must include a letter of application; a curriculum vitae; research, teaching, and DEI statements; graduate school transcripts; two writing samples; evidence of teaching effectiveness; and three letters of recommendation (applicants must provide contact information for three references who will be contacted automatically for letters of recommendation). All applications should be submitted electronically at <http://apply.interfolio.com/150029>.

Start Date: Summer 2025

Application Deadline: 9/15/2024

Date Posted: 7/18/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14509

University of Missouri, Columbia

Rank: Assistant, associate, Full Professor, Korea Foundation Endowed Professor

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Public Administration

The University of Missouri, Columbia is seeking a Korea Foundation Endowed Professor. The position is an open rank tenured/tenure track position focused on Korean politics to begin in the Fall Semester of 2025. This is a 9-month teaching and research appointment. The typical teaching load will be two (2) courses per semester. Additional expectations include active engagement with the University of Missouri Institute for Korean Studies.

Qualifications

Minimum Qualifications:

A Ph.D. in Political Science or related field by the time of appointment.

Candidates will be evaluated on:

Competitive applicants will have a clear research agenda, strong theoretical orientation, excellent methodological skills, ability to publish in highly ranked journals and academic presses, and potential for effective teaching at the graduate and undergraduate levels.

Applicants from scholars whose research has an emphasis on Korea from all subfields of political science and related fields are encouraged to apply including comparative politics, international relations, public policy, and public administration. However, the ideal candidate will contribute to the TSGPA's teaching and research interests in comparative politics.

Application Materials

Please apply online at: <https://hr.missouri.edu/job-openings> (Job Opening ID 52446). Use the online application and be prepared to upload your curriculum vitae, a cover letter, and writing samples. Please also provide evidence of effective teaching, as well as a teaching statement that describes your pedagogical goals/practices including information about your ability to teach and supervise undergraduate and graduate students from a variety of backgrounds and experiences.

Candidates at the assistant professor level should provide three letters of recommendations to the Truman School Director's Office (mutsg-padirector@missouri.edu). Candidates at the associate or full professor level should provide three names and contact information of references. Written references will be required prior to an on-campus interview. The cover letter should address the following: current and future research, teaching interests including how the applicant ensures the classroom is inclusive of multiple perspectives and of students from different backgrounds, as well as, how the applicant envisions engaging in research focused on Korea, and with universities there. This information can also be provided in separate teaching and research statements.

We value the uniqueness of every individual and strive to ensure each person's success. Contributions from individuals with diverse backgrounds, experiences and perspectives promote intellectual pluralism and enable us to achieve the excellence that we seek in learning, research and engagement. This commitment makes our university a better place to work, learn and innovate. In your application materials, please discuss your experiences and expertise that support these values and enrich our missions of teaching, research and engagement.

Applicants may contact the Chair of the Search Committee Dr. Laron Williams (williamslaro@missouri.edu) with any questions about the job duties. Contact Andrew Longley (andrew.longley@umsystem.edu) for any questions about the application process. We will begin reviewing applications on September 15th, 2024, and continue until the position is filled.

The Truman School of Government and Public Affairs has 33 faculty with academic appointments in the school and houses a PhD in Political Science, a PhD in Public Affairs, a Master's in Public Affairs, and a Master's in Defense and Strategic Studies, as well as BA in Political Science, and a BA in Public Administration and Policy. For more information see: <https://truman.missouri.edu>.

Benefit Eligibility This position is eligible for University benefits. The University offers a comprehensive benefits package, including medical, dental and vision plans, retirement, and educational fee discounts. For additional information on University benefits, please visit the Faculty & Staff Benefits website at <http://www.umsystem.edu/totalrewards/benefits>.

Equal Employment Opportunity

The University of Missouri System is an Equal Opportunity Employer. Equal Opportunity is and shall be provided for all employees and applicants for employment on the basis of their demonstrated ability and competence without unlawful discrimination on the basis of their race, color, national origin, ancestry, religion, sex, pregnancy, sexual orientation, gender identity, gender expression, age, disability, or protected veteran status, or any other status protected by applicable state or federal law. This policy applies to all employment decisions including, but not limited to, recruiting, hiring, training, promotions, pay practices, benefits, disciplinary actions and terminations. For more information, visit <https://www.umsystem.edu/ums/hr/eeo>

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 12/13/2024

Date Posted: 7/18/2024

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 14512

The American University in Cairo

Rank: Assistant/Associate Professor in International Relations Theory

Company Description:

The American University in Cairo (AUC) has a rich legacy that dates back 100 years. Founded in 1919 as an English-language university based on high standards of conduct and scholarship, AUC remains a vibrant institution that contributes to the intellectual growth, discipline, and character of the future leaders of Egypt and the region. AUC emphasizes a liberal arts education, with all undergraduate students studying a common set of courses in the humanities and the natural and social sciences as part of the University's Core Curriculum. The AUC Libraries contain the largest English-language research collection in the region and are an active and integral part of the University's pursuit of excellence in all academic and scholarly programs. Located in one of the most interesting and important cities in the world - at the nexus of Africa, the Middle East, Asia, and Europe, and the center of events of the Arab world - AUC is chartered and accredited in the United States and Egypt. AUC is an English-medium institution.

Job Description:

The Department of Political Science invites applications for a position in International Relations starting Fall 2025. This is a tenure-track position. We invite applications at the Assistant/Associate Professor level. Teaching responsibilities will include a combination of courses in the fields of theories of international relations including critical international relations theory, global governance and security studies. For this position an expertise in Asian studies will be a distinct advantage. These positions will involve teaching at the BA and MA levels within the Department of Political Science. The search committee is eager to review applications of individuals with demonstrated excellence in teaching, an accomplished and active research agenda, and an interest in living and working in the Middle East. The American University in Cairo is committed to equal opportunity and a diverse faculty.

Requirements:

A PhD is required at the time of appointment. Successful candidates should have an ongoing research and publication program and teaching experience. In addition to research and teaching, responsibilities include service to the Department and the University.

Additional Information:

Priority will be given to applications received by November 30th, 2024. The position is open until filled.

Application Instructions:

Applicants must submit the following documents via the online system: (a) an updated CV; (b) a letter of interest addressing the required qualifications; (c) a completed AUC Personnel Information Form (PIF); (d) a statement of teaching philosophy; (e) copies of recent student evaluations; (f) an example of a recent publication relevant to the position; and (g) letters of reference from at least three referees familiar with the applicant's professional background.

To ensure full consideration, candidates are encouraged to submit their applications by November 30th, 2024. The committee will begin reviewing applications after this date; however, applications will continue to be accepted until a qualified applicant pool has been achieved or until the position is filled. Questions may be directed to: Dr. Javed Maswood, Chair, javedmaswood@aucegypt.edu; Dr. Dina Hosni, Senior Officer Student Liaison, dina_h@aucegypt.edu; or visit the department's website at: <http://www.aucegypt.edu/huss/pols/pages/default.aspx>

Apply Here: <https://www.click2apply.net/rJZ7Jyh7dRjgoF1jLHDaOg>

PI243808946

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/16/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14500

Hebrew University of Jerusalem

Rank: Tenure Track Position - Gender and International Relations (Open Rank)

Specializations: Gender Politics & Policy, Women & Politics, Conflict Processes

The Department of International Relations at the Hebrew University of Jerusalem is seeking to fill the Leonard and Sophie Davis Lecture-ship in Gender, Conflict Resolution, and Peace, beginning fall 2025. We welcome applicants at all academic ranks.

The candidate for this endowed position is expected to have a proven record of excellence in cutting-edge research and teaching in Gender and International Relations with an emphasis on Gender, Conflict Resolution, and Peace, and is expected to take on a leadership role in the development of research and teaching on Gender and IR at the Hebrew University of Jerusalem.

We encourage applications from scholars of all epistemological and methodological approaches to the study of gender. We especially seek candidates who can complement the strengths of our department in other areas of International Relations. Candidates should be able to conduct research, teach undergraduate and graduate-level classes, as well as mentor students. Advanced doctoral candidates are expected to have their dissertation approved no later than October 1st 2025.

The language of teaching at the Hebrew University of Jerusalem is Hebrew, though some courses are taught in English. New faculty members are expected to be able to teach in Hebrew within a few years following their arrival.

The deadline for applications is 15 September 2024. Candidates selected by the Department of International Relations require the approval of the Faculty of Social Sciences. The Department of International Relations and the Hebrew University are committed to diversity and equal opportunity. These issues are considered in hiring deliberations.

Please submit all application materials electronically at: <http://tp.huji.ac.il/>

The applicants will be asked to upload:

- A cover letter stating willingness to begin teaching at The Hebrew University of Jerusalem in the fall of 2025;

- A list of required and elective courses that can be taught at The Hebrew University of Jerusalem;
 - A scientific biography outlining research orientation and plans for the coming years;
 - A Curriculum Vitae, including teaching experience;
 - Three writing samples;
 - Teaching evaluations, if available
- Three letters of recommendation should be sent directly according to the guidelines on the application website.

For questions regarding the search, please contact Prof. Piki Ish-Shalom, piki.ish-shalom@mail.huji.ac.il

Start Date: Fall 2025
Application Deadline: 9/15/2024
Date Posted: 7/15/2024
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 14435

Hebrew University of Jerusalem

Rank: Tenure Track Positions - International Relations (Open rank)

The Department of International Relations at The Hebrew University of Jerusalem seeks to fill one or more tenure-track positions beginning fall 2025.

We seek excellent candidates who can complement the strengths of our department in all areas and subfields of International Relations, broadly defined. Candidates should have a promising research agenda in international relations and be able to teach undergraduate and graduate level classes as well as mentor students.

Junior and senior scholars are encouraged to apply. Applications by Arab-Israeli/Palestinian applicants are especially welcome. Advanced doctoral candidates are expected to have their dissertation approved no later than 1 October 2025.

The language of teaching at the Hebrew University of Jerusalem is Hebrew, though some courses are taught in English. New faculty members are expected to be able to teach in Hebrew within a few years following their arrival.

The deadline for applications is 15 September 2024. Candidates selected by the Department of International Relations require the approval of the Faculty of Social Sciences. The Department of International Relations and the Hebrew University are committed to diversity and equal opportunity. These issues are considered in hiring deliberations.

Please submit all application materials electronically <http://ttp.huji.ac.il/>.

The applicants will be asked to upload:

- A cover letter stating willingness to begin teaching at The Hebrew University of Jerusalem in the fall of 2025;
- A list of required and elective courses that can be taught at the Hebrew University of Jerusalem;
- A scientific biography outlining research orientation and plans for the coming years;
- A Curriculum Vitae, including teaching experience;
- Three writing samples;
- Teaching evaluations, if available

Three letters of recommendation should be sent directly according to the guidelines on the application website.

For questions regarding the search, please contact Prof. Piki Ish-Shalom (piki.ish-shalom@mail.huji.ac.il)

Start Date: Fall 2025
Application Deadline: 9/15/2024
Date Posted: 7/15/2024
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 14434

Stanford University

Rank: Research Scholar

Stanford University's Center for International Security and Cooperation (CISAC) at the Freeman Spogli Institute for International Studies (FSI), has long been one of the nation's leading research centers devoted to addressing issues at the intersection of science, technology, and international security. Through the production of policy-relevant research, teaching and training of the next generation of security scholars and leaders, and advice to and engagement with policy makers, CISAC creates knowledge to build a safer world.

CISAC seeks candidates for a Research Scholar position in international security with a particular focus on policy-relevant research. The appointment is open as to disciplinary focus, and the successful candidate will have interest or experience in policy with expertise in one or more of the following core CISAC areas of research: international security, nuclear security, digital security, biosecurity, and/or environmental security.

The Research Scholar, who is expected to be in residence and to take part in Center activities throughout the academic year, will have responsibility for:

- ? Conducting policy-relevant research on international security, both individually and in collaboration with other scholars.
- ? Co-teaching the CISAC undergraduate honors seminar, a highly selective year-long program designed to help Stanford seniors from all disciplines produce honors theses in international security.
- ? Teaching a course in the Stanford Master's in International Policy program, or co-teaching one of CISAC's undergraduate survey courses.
- ? Serving as a mentor to postdoctoral fellows at the Center as well as Stanford undergraduate and graduate students with related research interests.
- ? Working closely in coordination with the Center Directors and with other researchers and faculty members within the Center and across campus to promote excellence in international security at Stanford University.

The initial appointment is for a five-year term. Salary is commensurate with qualifications and experience and includes an attractive benefits package. We are open to international candidates and visa assistance will be provided as necessary.

Qualifications

? Background in issues related to international security with a demonstrated capacity for analytical and policy-relevant research in one or more of the following areas of interest: nuclear security, digital security, biosecurity, and environmental security.

? A PhD in relevant social science, science, or engineering discipline.

? An excellent publication record and/or evidence of outstanding potential for research and teaching.

? Well-developed conceptual and analytic skills and a proven ability to design and develop a program of independent research, courses, and outreach.

? Experience teaching undergraduate courses is a plus.

Qualified applicants should submit a cover letter, C.V., and statement of current and planned research interests, teaching philosophy statement, and three letters of reference by September 16, 2024. Letters of reference can be submitted via the job application site or sent directly by referees to Kelly Remus, Associate Director for Administration and Finance, at kmremus@stanford.edu.

Stanford is an equal employment opportunity and affirmative action employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law. Stanford welcomes applications from all who would bring additional dimensions to the University's research mission.

Start Date:

Date Posted: 7/11/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14481

Soka University of America

Rank: Tenure-Track Faculty Position Assistant Professor of Middle East and North African (MENA) Studies

The International Studies Concentration at Soka University of America (SUA) invites applications for a full-time tenure-track faculty position as Assistant Professor of Middle East and North African Studies (MENA), effective August 1st, 2025.

The successful candidate will demonstrate their ability to excite and engage classes of 16 or fewer students, to develop a productive program of research and scholarship, and to engage in service.

Responsibilities:

We seek a broadly trained expert in the MENA region who is capable of teaching students from multiple disciplinary, ideological and national perspectives. The successful candidate will be expected to develop a rotation of lower and upper-division courses in consultation with the Concentration and is expected to teach a course on Peace and Conflict in the Middle East. As part of a five-course annual teaching load, the successful applicant will normally teach three courses in the International Studies Concentration as well as two courses in our interdisciplinary general education program, for example, Core 1, Core 2, Modes of Inquiry, Pacific Basin, American Experience, and/or Learning Cluster (see our Undergraduate Catalog.)

The successful candidate will demonstrate a strong background in teaching and scholarship as well as evidence of ongoing research activity. The successful candidate should describe a plan to maintain an active research program involving undergraduates. SUA provides resources to support faculty research year-round with undergraduates through institutional research funds and student research assistantships. All SUA graduates complete a Capstone (senior thesis), and successful applicants will demonstrate their ability to mentor student Capstones.

Qualifications:

Applicants will hold or be near completing a PhD in peace studies, political science, economics, sociology, anthropology, cultural studies, history, or another scholarly field with an emphasis on the peoples and countries of the Middle East and North Africa.

Candidates should demonstrate responsiveness toward and understanding of diverse student backgrounds, especially regarding socioeconomic status, race, ethnicity, culture, ability/disability, sexual orientation, and gender identity. The successful candidate will demonstrate a commitment to the university's mission to develop global citizens. Having the ability and willingness to work collegially is essential, as is an understanding of an interdisciplinary liberal arts curriculum.

Soka University of America:

Soka University of America (SUA), located in Aliso Viejo, California, is a private liberal arts college founded on the principles of peace, human rights, and the sanctity of life. It offers a unique and globally focused education with a commitment to fostering a learning environment that emphasizes critical thinking, creativity, and intercultural understanding. SUA's small student body, approximately 450 undergraduates, ensures personalized attention and a close-knit academic community. The university's curriculum is rooted in the liberal arts tradition and incorporates a strong international perspective, requiring students to study abroad for a semester. Faculty members at SUA have the opportunity to engage in interdisciplinary teaching and research, supported by state-of-the-art facilities and a strong commitment to faculty development and academic freedom. The campus is known for its beautiful architecture, serene environment, and a culture that values dialogue, diversity, and the holistic development of its students.

Application Instructions:

Applicants should submit the following materials: (1) Letter of application addressing the required qualifications; (2) A Curriculum vitae; (3) A teaching statement that describes their teaching experience in relevant courses, specifically a philosophy that should reflect how the candidate would address teaching needs in a liberal arts environment and address diverse identities and viewpoints (maximum two pages, single-spaced); (4) Statement of research interests and plan, detailing how undergraduate students will be involved (maximum two pages, single-spaced); and (5) three letters of reference, uploaded directly via Interfolio.

We welcome all candidates and encourage those from historically disadvantaged communities.

Review of applications will begin on 15 November and will continue until the position is filled.

Employment is contingent on the completion of a successful background check.

Benefits and Salary:

SUA offers an excellent benefits package for full-time faculty that includes medical, dental, vision, retirement, dependent tuition remission, and faculty home loans. The salary range for this position is $87,000 - $97,000 and will be commensurate with qualifications and experience.

Please apply by submitting your application through Interfolio using this link:

<http://apply.interfolio.com/148730>

Email: facultyrecruiting@soka.edu

Soka University of America is an equal-opportunity employer.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/2/2024

Salary: $90,000 - $99,999

eJobs ID: 14466

National University of Singapore

Rank: Associate Professor in International Relations

The Department of Political Science at the National University of Singapore invites application for one full-time tenure-track or tenured position in International Relations at the rank of full Professor or Associate Professor. We welcome applications from candidates working in all areas of the subfield, including but not limited to non-traditional security, human security, and gender and international relations. We especially encourage applications from candidates with research experience relating to Asia and whose backgrounds are traditionally underrepresented in the discipline. Candidates should submit a letter of application detailing research and teaching interests as well as leadership experience; curriculum vitae; up to three writing samples; four references; and teaching evaluations and materials if available.

The teaching load is three modules per academic year. Compensation is competitive and includes eligibility for annual performance bonus and salary increment, subsidized housing, medical benefits, and substantial research support. Successful candidates are expected to teach graduate and undergraduate classes and take a leading role in developing new departmental initiatives.

The Department of Political Science (<http://www.fas.nus.edu.sg/pol/>) includes scholars working in all areas of political science. Faculty and students can take advantage of resources in the Asia Research Institute, the Lee Kuan Yew School of Public Policy, and various research institutes including the Asia-Europe Foundation, the Institute of South Asian Studies, the East Asia Institute, and the Yusof Ishak Institute—Institute of Southeast Asian Studies among others. NUS (<http://www.nus.edu.sg/>) is a global leader in research and higher education. Singapore is a highly livable global city that is a major regional and international travel hub. Members of the search committee will be attending the American Political Science Annual Meeting 2024 and would be happy to arrange informal informational meetings.

Interested applicants are invited to apply directly at our NUS Career Portal : <https://careers.nus.edu.sg/job-invite/21719/> . Applications will be reviewed on 1 October 2024, and continue until the search is complete. Application materials should be sent to the Chair of the Search Committee at polbox5@nus.edu.sg.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/1/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14457

Princeton University

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Associate

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Public Policy

Specializations: Economic Policy, International Political Economy, International Law & Organizations

The Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance (NCGG) at Princeton University's School of Public and International Affairs invites applications for postdoctoral research associates from individuals with a Ph.D. degree or who expect to receive a Ph.D. degree by July 1, 2025, for the 2025-2026 academic year. These awards are designed to promote basic research in the broad areas of international and comparative political economy, international organization and global governance, and globalization. Research on the causes and consequences of globalization, the political economy of foreign trade, monetary and regulatory policies, the sources of international cooperation at the global and regional level, the domestic and international politics of economic development, the political economy of human security issues, the evolution and impact of international institutions, and the politics of international law and human rights policies are of relevance. Outstanding scholars anywhere in the world are eligible to apply. NCGG invites candidates with a background in political science, economics, modern history, sociology, anthropology, law, business, and other disciplines bearing on the study of globalization to apply. Selected candidates will be required to be in residence in Princeton or the local vicinity, or demonstrate to the program's satisfaction the ability to be on campus on a daily basis and on short notice in order to fulfill responsibilities relating to in-person participation, office hours, and related activities for the duration of the fellowship (July 1, 2025- July 1, 2026). Appointments are for one year.

Application Deadline - Applicants should apply by Tuesday, October 1, 2024 (11:59 pm EST) for full consideration; however, posting will remain open until filled.

Application Process - All candidates must use the online application process to submit materials at: <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/35041>.

Applicants are required to hold a Ph.D. or expect to receive a Ph.D. degree by July 1, 2025, in one of the above-mentioned disciplines. To apply, please provide the following:

*Cover letter explaining the candidate's scholarly career, prospective or actual doctoral defense date, and academic interests;

*Current curriculum vitae, including publications;

*2,000-word description of the proposed research project, including its specific objectives, importance, and research design;

*One writing sample (limit of 50 pages);

*Contact information for three references, who will be asked to comment specifically on the applicant's qualifications for the proposed research project. Referees will be contacted directly by email with instructions for submitting a confidential recommendation on your behalf. Letters of reference are to be submitted by the end of business day on Saturday, October 5, 2024. Complete your application well before the deadline so that references can be submitted on time.

Salary - Rank and salary will be contingent on qualifications. NCGG Fellows will receive applicable Princeton University benefits, a taxable moving allowance, and a $5,000 research fund. This is a one-year appointment.

Successful applicants will be notified of the outcome of their application in December 2024. This position is subject to the University's background check policy. The work location for this position is in-person on campus at Princeton University.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 10/1/2024

Date Posted: 7/1/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14462

George Washington University

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor of Political Science

The Elizabeth J. Somers Women's Leadership Program (WLP) at the George Washington University in Washington, D.C invites applications for the position of Visiting Assistant Professor in Political Science position to fill a 1-year vacancy beginning August 12, 2024. WLP is a selective, living-learning program for first year students to build leadership skills within the context of their discipline and as part of a supportive community. Students enroll in one of 4 WLP cohorts: Globalization, Economics, & Business; International Arts & Culture; Science, Health, & Medicine; or International Politics. Students take foundational courses in their field of study in small classes with their cohort faculty members both fall and spring, as well as a year-long, experiential leadership symposium course.

The selected candidate will serve as the primary faculty and Program Coordinator for the International Politics cohort of approximately 20 students in the WLP. They will teach small classes of first-year students for WLP and the University Honors Program. The selected candidate will report to the Associate Provost for Undergraduate Affairs and Special Programs. They will work with the WLP Director and colleagues to integrate co-curricular offerings and activities to enhance the academic experiences of all WLP students. The Program Coordinator serves as instructor, academic mentor, and advisor to students in the International Politics cohort, teaching Introduction to International Politics and Introduction to Comparative Politics, and helping students navigate their college experience from the first year and beyond. They will also participate in WLP orientation, information sessions for prospective students, and other campus events.

Diversity, equity, and inclusion (DEI) are core principles of the WLP, and we are committed to building and sustaining a community that is supportive and inclusive of all individuals. Strong candidates will have experience and vision regarding teaching and mentorship of students of multiple and diverse backgrounds with attention to structural barriers that limit access to educational opportunities. The university has a strong commitment to achieving diversity among faculty and staff, and we are particularly interested in receiving applications from members of historically marginalized groups. Learn more about our commitment via the GW Statement on Diversity and Inclusion.

Minimum Qualifications: Applicants must have excellent teaching skills as demonstrated by student evaluations, a strong desire to teach and mentor students at the undergraduate level, and a demonstrated commitment to equity and inclusion in the classroom. For appointment at the rank of Visiting Assistant Professor, they must hold a doctorate in political science or related field by date of appointment.

ABD applicants will be considered for appointment at the rank of Visiting Instructor if they have not completed all requirements for the doctorate by date of appointment.

Specific Duties and Responsibilities: The effort breakdown for the position is 70% teaching, 15% administration/service, and 15% scholarship. The teaching component includes four undergraduate courses during the course of the year and co-teaching a year-long, one-credit leadership symposium. Two courses and the symposium are taught to first-year students in the Women's Leadership Program. The remaining two courses are taught to students in the University Honors Program. Administrative work is related to the Program Coordinator role, and includes planning co-curricular events and symposium structure. Service obligations may be met by serving on a departmental or university-level committee, engaging with prospective students, and attending major campus events. Scholarship for this role is broadly defined and may include activities such as presenting at conferences, creating and disseminating curriculum materials, or publishing political science research.

Application Procedure: To apply please send an application to wlp@gwu.edu. Applicants should submit a cover letter that includes a statement of interest in the Women's Leadership Program and discusses contributions to DEI initiatives in their teaching, mentorship, and/or professional engagement.

Applicants should also submit curriculum vitae; evidence of effective teaching through student evaluations; statement of past and/or potential contributions to DEI; and names of three references.

Advertised Salary: Salary is commensurate with experience

The George Washington University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer that does not unlawfully discriminate in any of its programs or activities on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, national origin, age, disability, veteran status, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, or on any other basis prohibited by applicable law.

Employment offers are contingent on the satisfactory outcome of a standard background screening.

A direct link to the GW jobs portal can be found here: <https://www.gwu.jobs/postings/112299>

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: 7/29/2024

Date Posted: 6/28/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14450

Loyola University Maryland

Rank: Per course Instructor in Latin American Politics

The Department of Political Science at Loyola University Maryland invites applications to teach a course in-person on Latin American Politics (one section only) for the Fall 2024 semester in a part-time, non-tenure track position as a teaching faculty member. The upper-level course is called PS 303 Latin American Politics.

The Political Science Department has a strong teaching culture. We especially value candidates who have a strong interest in teaching undergraduates and who are able to implement thoughtful, intentional pedagogies that support the learning of a wide range of students.

Ph.D. or A.B.D. in Political Science is required. College/university teaching experience is strongly preferred. Aside from holding office hours with students, no committee assignments or service requirements will be associated with the position.

Loyola University Maryland is a dynamic, highly selective, Jesuit Catholic university in the liberal arts tradition. It is highly ranked among the leading independent, comprehensive universities in the northeastern United States. Committed to intellectual excellence, diversity, and social justice, the University enrolls over 4,000 students in its undergraduate programs and more than 3,000 students in its graduate programs.

Loyola University Maryland strongly values the benefits that diversity brings to the workplace. In accord with its Ignatian values, the University is committed to creating and promoting a community that recognizes the inherent value and dignity of each person. Loyola University Maryland does not discriminate on the basis of race, sex, color, national or ethnic origin, age, religion, disability, marital status, sexual orientation, gender identity, genetic information, military status, or any other legally protected classification. The University recruits, hires, and promotes in accord with this policy and its Core Values.

To apply, please first send a curriculum vitae with a statement of interest. Eventually, we will ask for letters of reference, a graduate transcript, and teaching evaluations (if available), and a cover letter explaining teaching interests and experience in relation to Loyola's educational mission. Application materials should be submitted to Political Science Department Chair Dr. Carsten Vala at cvala@loyola.edu, who is also available to answer questions. The search committee will begin screening applications immediately and continue until the position is filled.

Salary range: $4,000 - $4,500 per course (without and with PhD)

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/25/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14441

Loyola University Maryland

Rank: Per course Instructor in Middle East Politics

The Department of Political Science at Loyola University Maryland invites applications to teach an upper-level, undergraduate course in person on Middle East Politics (one section only) for the Spring 2025 semester. The instructor will teach in a part-time, non-tenure track capacity .

The Political Science Department has a strong teaching culture. We especially value candidates who have a strong interest in teaching undergraduates and who are able to implement thoughtful, intentional pedagogies that support the learning of a wide range of students.

Ph.D. or A.B.D. in Political Science is required. College/university teaching experience is strongly preferred. Aside from holding office hours with students, no committee assignments or service requirements will be associated with the position.

Loyola University Maryland is a dynamic, highly selective, Jesuit Catholic university in the liberal arts tradition. It is highly ranked among the leading independent, comprehensive universities in the northeastern United States. Committed to intellectual excellence, diversity, and social justice, the University enrolls over 4,000 students in its undergraduate programs and more than 3,000 students in its graduate programs.

Loyola University Maryland strongly values the benefits that diversity brings to the workplace. In accord with its Ignatian values, the University is committed to creating and promoting a community that recognizes the inherent value and dignity of each person. Loyola University Maryland does not discriminate on the basis of race, sex, color, national or ethnic origin, age, religion, disability, marital status, sexual orientation, gender identity, genetic information, military status, or any other legally protected classification. The University recruits, hires, and promotes in accord with this policy and its Core Values.

To apply, please first send a curriculum vitae with a statement of interest. Eventually, we will ask for letters of reference, a graduate transcript, and teaching evaluations (if available), and a cover letter explaining teaching interests and experience in relation to Loyola's educational mission. Application materials should be submitted to Political Science Department Chair Dr. Carsten Vala at cvala@loyola.edu, who is also available to answer questions. The search committee will begin screening applications immediately and continue until the position is filled.

Salary range: $4,000 - $4,500 per course (without and with PhD)

Start Date: Spring 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/25/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14442

Brandeis University

Rank: Assistant Professor of International Relations

The Department of Politics at Brandeis University invites applications for a tenure-track position in International Relations at the rank of Assistant Professor, beginning in academic year 2025-2026. This position is subject to budget approval. We seek candidates whose research and teaching interests focus on one or more of these areas: international conflict and cooperation; foreign policy; national security; and war and peace. Duties include the teaching of undergraduate courses in International Relations, including Introduction to International Relations, one or more courses on a topic listed above, and more specialized offerings; undergraduate thesis advising; and departmental and university service. The course load is two courses per semester. Candidates should have a Ph.D. in hand by August 2025. Applicants should submit a cover letter; curriculum vitae; a statement of research and teaching interests (including potential course offerings and, where available, syllabi and student evaluations); a statement on diversity, equity, and inclusion; two chapters or article-length writing samples; and names and contact information for three referees. Brandeis University is committed to advancing diversity, equity, and inclusion in all areas of faculty effort, including scholarship, instruction, and service. In the statement on diversity, equity, and inclusion, applicants should address how their experiences, interests, commitments, or future goals could promote and build departmental and institutional pluralism, justice, and unity. Only online applications will be accepted. Application materials may be uploaded here: <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/27783>. First consideration will be given to applications received by 23 September 2024. Questions about the position can be directed to: Kerry Chase, Chair, Search Committee on International Relations (chase@brandeis.edu). At Brandeis, we believe that diversity, equity, and inclusion are essential components of academic excellence. Brandeis University is an affirmative action, equal opportunity employer that is committed to creating equitable access and opportunities for applicants to all employment positions. Because diversity, equity, and inclusion are at the core of Brandeis' history and mission, we value and are seeking candidates with a variety of social identities, including those that have been underrepresented in higher education, who possess skills that spark innovation, and who, through their scholarly pursuits, teaching, and/or service experiences, bring expertise in building, engaging and sustaining a pluralistic, unified, and just campus community.

Application Materials Required:

Submit the following items online at this website to complete your application:

Cover letter

Curriculum Vitae

statement on diversity, equity, and inclusion

Two chapters or article-length writing samples statement of research and teaching interests (including potential course offerings and, where available, syllabi and student evaluations)

Three references (no actual letters, just names and email addresses help popup)

Start Date: Summer 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/24/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14438

Michigan State University

Rank: Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): Public Law, Comparative Politics, International Relations

Specializations: Civil Rights & Liberties, Judicial Politics, International Law & Organizations

Michigan State University actively promotes a dynamic research and learning environment in which qualified individuals of differing perspectives and cultural backgrounds pursue academic goals with mutual respect and shared inquiry. The Department of Political Science at Michigan State University is seeking to hire a 9-month academic year, tenure system professor at the rank of Assistant Professor in the field of public law, broadly construed.

Candidates from all subfields and methodological approaches whose research and teaching contribute to the scientific study of law are strongly encouraged to apply. We are particularly interested in candidates whose research and teaching interests would complement existing thematic areas and subfields within the department: Minority Politics, Comparative Politics, Political Theory, International Relations, Public Policy, and/or American Politics. Substantive areas of interest include, but are not limited to, civil rights, civil liberties, comparative judicial institutions, comparative law, human rights, international law, judicial behavior, judicial elections, or the philosophy of law.

Candidates with a history of receiving external research funding, or those with mature plans to apply for funding, will be highly favored. The candidate would be expected to teach courses and mentor students at both the undergraduate and graduate levels.

Required Degree

Doctorate by date of hire

Minimum Requirements

- Completed PhD by the date of hire.
- Research and teaching interests that contribute to the scientific study of law.
- Potential for high impact peer-reviewed publications.
- Potential for obtaining external funding.
- Potential for high-quality instruction and mentoring at the undergraduate and graduate level.
- Potential for working with students from diverse backgrounds and working to improving access to higher education for all students.

Desired Qualifications

- Research and teaching interests that connect with existing thematic areas and/or subfields within the Department of Political Science (see position summary).

Required Application Materials

Electronic submission is required, and materials should be uploaded at <http://careers.msu.edu> (posting number 950778). Applicants must submit a CV, cover letter, research statement, teaching statement, two samples of written work, a diversity and inclusion statement, and contact information for three references.

The search committee members are Ryan Black (search chair, rblack@msu.edu), Ana Bracic (bracic@msu.edu), and Cory Smidt (smidtc@msu.edu). Please contact any committee member with questions about this position.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/24/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14440

Baylor University

Rank: Assistant Professor, International Relations

Specializations: International Security, International Political Economy, Science & Technology

To apply, go to: <https://apply.interfolio.com/147215>

Baylor University seeks to fill a tenure-track faculty position within the Department of Political Science at the Assistant Professor level in the field of International Relations, beginning Fall 2025. Area of specialization is open, and we welcome all methodological approaches. The department is particularly interested in candidates whose research or teaching interests include alliances, diplomacy, emerging technologies, environmental/climate politics, globalization, history of international relations thought, human rights, international political economy, migration, the Middle East, religion, or security studies. An ability to contribute to the university's cybersecurity initiative would be a plus.

In their application materials, candidates whose teaching/research intersects their faith are welcome to reflect on those connections.

Please visit our webpage for more information about the College of Arts and Sciences and the Department of Political Science: <https://politicalscience.artsandsciences.baylor.edu/>

About Baylor University: Located in Waco, Texas, Baylor University is the oldest college in Texas. With a population of 21,000 diverse students, Baylor is one of the top universities in the nation, having been named an R1 institution by the Carnegie Classification in January 2022. Baylor is also on the honor roll of the "Great Colleges to Work For" from The Chronicle of Higher Education; Baylor offers competitive salaries and benefits while allowing faculty and staff to live in one of the fastest-growing parts of the state. Our strategic plan, Illuminate, guides the University as we continue to live up to Baylor's mission of educating men and women for worldwide leadership and service by integrating academic excellence and Christian commitment within a caring community.

Qualifications:

1. Candidates must have fulfilled all doctoral degree requirements in political science or a related field by the time of appointment.
2. Candidates must demonstrate an active research agenda and a commitment to research excellence.
3. A commitment to teaching excellence as demonstrated by pedagogical thoughtfulness and effective classroom instruction is preferred.

Please submit the following materials electronically via Interfolio:

1. cover letter
2. curriculum vitae
3. research statement
4. teaching portfolio including a statement of teaching philosophy and, if available, student evaluations and sample syllabi
5. copy of the transcript from the highest-degree granting institution (unofficial copy acceptable for application)
6. three letters of recommendation

As part of the application process, all applicants must complete a self-disclosed Religious Affiliation Form.

Candidates invited for an on-campus interview will need to provide official transcripts.

Complete applications must be submitted by 11 PM Central time on 9/12/2024.

Questions concerning the position should be directed to the Search Committee Chairs, Peter Campbell and Richard Jordan, peter_campbell@baylor.edu and richard_jordan@baylor.edu.

Baylor University is committed to making information and resources available via the web accessible for all users. If you are a job seeker and need accessibility assistance or accommodation to apply for one of our open positions, please call 254-710-2000.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 9/12/2024

Date Posted: 6/20/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14430

Simon Fraser University

Rank: Teaching Faculty Lecturer in International Security, Defence & Diplomacy, with support for the NATO Field School

Specializations: International Security, Defense, Intelligence

The Department of Political Science invites applications for a continuing Lecturer position in International Security, Defence and Diplomacy. The candidate will provide teaching and support to the NATO Field School (NFS) and teach introductory courses in Political Science and courses in their areas of expertise. The position will start when filled; preferred starting date is January 2025.

We seek candidates who have a strong background in International Security, Defence, and/or Diplomacy, as well as outstanding teaching skills in a diversity of classroom settings. Relevant experiences in experiential learning (hands-on learning, field exercises, summer schools, simulations, case studies, role-play exercises, peer group learning, etc.) are an asset.

Duties

The successful candidate will collaborate with the NFS Director in preparing and teaching the NFS. The NFS is a growing teaching and engagement endeavour with an emphasis on professional placement of its graduates.

In Political Science, the standard course load for lecturers is eight courses per year. The Collective Agreement stipulates that teaching faculty are to be released from their teaching duties one out every nine terms. This position will likely be paired with an additional role – involving logistical and administrative tasks to support the NFS – that will reduce the overall teaching load based on the level of support.

The NATO Field School and Simulation Program is an intensive political science experience that combines coursework with experiential learning. As one of the lead instructors, you are expected to:

- Act as a liaison between SFU and NATO, working closely with the Director.
- Accompany and guide students during their field school experience
- The NFS is held in Europe every summer. The candidate will be expected to travel for up to eight weeks per year in summer to support the field school.
- Help to set up the logistics and with recruitment and financial reporting for the field school.
- Teach courses and prepare lectures relevant to the topic.
- Set up simulations and other exercises to help students prepare for the field school.

Required Qualifications:

- The chosen candidate must hold a PhD in Political Science or in a related field, with research and/or teaching experience in Defence, Diplomacy, and/or International Security. Candidates with firm defence dates by December 2024 may be considered
- Candidates should have demonstrated teaching experience and potential for teaching excellence

Desirable Qualifications:

The following attributes will be considered as additional assets for the position:

- Academic expertise in at least one of the following areas: NATO; international institutions; interstate conflict, diplomacy and negotiations; North American security and defence; Indo-Pacific security and defence; alliances and multilateral security cooperation; interstate conflict, Canadian foreign policy; cyber information warfare and artificial intelligence
- Teaching experience in experiential and engagement courses, including field schools and security simulations for university students
- Professional experience in defence, diplomacy or international relations
- Related publications
- Teaching experience in large classes introductory classes particularly introductory courses in International Relations and Political Science

Candidates must submit the following documents in a single PDF to pol_apply@sfu.ca:

- Cover letter
- Curriculum vitae
- Teaching portfolio demonstrating teaching excellence in experiential learning and simulations and discussing candidate's approach to equity, diversity and inclusion
- List of three possible referees, to be contacted if the candidate is short-listed

Full consideration will be given to applications submitted by September 5, 2024, however, we will continue to accept applications until the position is filled. Short-listed candidates will be contacted to have three letters of reference forwarded directly to the department via email at pol_apply@sfu.ca

Faculty salaries at SFU are based on the salary scales bargained between the University and the SFU Faculty Association. A reasonable estimate of the salary range for this role is $98,340 to $114,241.

Simon Fraser University is an institution whose strength is based on our shared commitment to diversity, equity, and inclusion. Diversity is an underlying principle of our Strategic Vision, which pledges SFU to "foster a culture of inclusion and mutual respect, celebrating the diversity reflected among its students, faculty, staff, and our community." SFU is committed to ensuring that no individual is denied access to employment opportunities for reasons unrelated to ability or qualifications. Consistent with this principle, SFU will advance the interests of underrepresented members of the work force, including Indigenous peoples, persons with disabilities, racialized persons, and women; embrace gender and sexual diversity; ensure that equal opportunity is afforded to all who seek employment at the University; and treat all employees equitably. Candidates that belong to underrepresented groups are particularly encouraged to apply.

SFU is consistently ranked among the top comprehensive universities in Canada and was recently ranked in the top 50 in the world for engaged research. The Department of Political Science at SFU has a growing number of faculty in diverse fields and is strongly supportive of faculty members' strengths, interests, and career progress. The department strongly believes in methodological pluralism. More information about the department and the university can be found on our website: <http://www.sfu.ca/politics.html>. The campus is located on Burnaby Mountain in Greater Vancouver. Vancouver is a scenic waterfront city located minutes from the mountains and a wide range of outdoor activities. It has a reputation as a clean, safe, multicultural, and ethnically diverse city and is one of the very top cities in the world in which to live and work.

All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply; however, Canadian citizens and permanent residents will be given priority. This position is subject to the availability of funding.

Personal information that forms part of an application is collected under the general authority of the Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy Act, applicable University Policies, and the SFUFA/SFU Collective Agreement. For further details see the full Collection Notice.

Please submit all inquiries and application materials to pol_apply@sfu.ca

Start Date: Winter 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/20/2024

Salary: Any

eJobs ID: 14427

Massachusetts Institute of Technology

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Massachusetts Institute of Technology (MIT) Department of Political Science in Cambridge MA invites applications for a full-time tenure-track faculty position in International Relations at the rank of Assistant Professor effective July 1st, 2025, or as soon thereafter as possible. Responsibilities include research, graduate and undergraduate teaching, and student research supervision. Applicants should have a PhD degree in Political Science or a related field by start of employment. MIT is an Equal Employment Opportunity employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment and will not be discriminated against on the basis of race, color, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, religion, disability, age, genetic information, veteran status, ancestry, or national or ethnic origin. Applications should include a cover letter which addresses your research agenda and teaching interests. Also include a CV, writing sample(s), and three recommendations. Please submit online applications to <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/27779><https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/27779>. Completed applications must be submitted by September 15th, 2024.

Employment is contingent upon the completion of a satisfactory background check.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 9/15/2024

Date Posted: 6/18/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14423

University of Michigan, Ann Arbor

Rank: Professor of Public Policy

The University of Michigan's Gerald R. Ford School of Public Policy invites applications for a tenured position in International Policy, especially at the rank of full professor. We welcome a broad range of applicants who have a PhD in Political Science, Public Policy, Economics, or Sociology who conduct policy-relevant research on international institutions. Examples of topical focus include (but are not limited to) sustainability, migration, conflict, or global or regional collaboration. Successful candidates must demonstrate a record of outstanding research impact; ability and willingness to teach core and elective courses in undergraduate, master and PhD degree programs in public policy; effective public and policy engagement; and a keen interest in interacting with students, faculty, staff, and policy practitioners in an interdisciplinary professional school environment. Candidates should combine relevant substantive expertise with strong interests in public policy. A demonstrated record of leadership in an academic or policy setting is a plus.

The following application materials are required: a letter of interest; curriculum vitae; a statement of research and policy interests; a statement of teaching experience and philosophy; the names of three references; and a statement describing how your work would contribute to the Ford School's and University of Michigan's strategic commitment to diversity, equity and inclusion (fordschool.umich.edu/dei).

Interested applicants may upload their application materials to <http://apply.interfolio.com/148203>. This is an ongoing search. First consideration will be given to applications received by October 1, 2024, but applications will be considered until the position is filled.

The University of Michigan is an AA/EEO employer. Women and minorities are encouraged to apply. The University is supportive of the needs of dual career couples.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 10/1/2024

Date Posted: 6/17/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14418

Loyola Marymount University

Rank: Assistant Professor in Political Science and International Relations

Specializations: Environmental Policy, South Asia, Russia

The Department of Political Science and International Relations at Loyola Marymount University invites applications for an assistant professor position beginning in Fall 2025. Loyola Marymount University (LMU) faculty are helping to create the world we want to live in. We are seeking the next generation of mission-driven teacher-scholars. We seek a candidate who is excited to teach undergraduate students.

<https://academics.lmu.edu/joinourfaculty/>

Substantively, the department is interested in candidates with expertise in comparative politics and/or international relations. We are open to field but will prioritize areas that complement our department's curricular needs, including but not limited to:

Environment/climate change

Democracy and authoritarianism

Comparative public policy

South Asia, Russia, China

International organizations

Security

International Relations Theory

We are open to methodological approach and welcome qualitative, quantitative and mixed methods research.

The regular teaching load for this position includes teaching introductory courses (e.g. comparative politics, international relations) and upper-division courses. LMU has a 2-2/2-3 teaching load, meaning that faculty teach two undergraduate courses per semester, with one 3-course load semester every other year. We are seeking to hire a dedicated teacher and emerging scholar who will embrace the department's mission of helping students become informed, analytically reflective, and engaged global citizens. Successful candidates must demonstrate a commitment to working with diverse student and community populations. Our department welcomes antiracist and inclusive pedagogies, and/or curricula.

Candidates should submit application materials via the LMU Human Resources online application portal (<http://jobs.lmu.edu>). Applicants must include: 1) a cover letter (outlining area of expertise, teaching and research interests, and resonance with LMU's Mission); 2) a curriculum vitae; 3) a writing sample; 4) a statement of teaching philosophy that demonstrates your approach to teaching in the liberal arts tradition, and 5) if available, teaching evaluations and/or sample syllabi as a single PDF.

A minimum of three confidential letters of recommendation should be submitted directly to POLS@lmu.edu.

Only online applications will be accepted.

Please direct questions to POLS@lmu.edu. We will begin our review of applications on September 13, 2024, and will consider applications beyond this date until we conclude our search.

A PhD is required; ABD applicants who anticipate completion of the doctorate by Fall 2025 will be considered.

#HERC# #HEJ#

Faculty Regular

Reasonable expected salary: $87,000.00

Loyola Marymount University, a Carnegie classified R2 institution in the mainstream of American Catholic higher education, seeks outstanding applicants who value its mission and share its commitment to inclusive excellence, the education of the whole person, and the building of a just society. LMU is an equal opportunity employer committed to providing an environment free from discrimination and harassment as defined by federal, state and local law. We invite all persons in the full diversity of their being, life experience, and beliefs to apply. (Visit www.lmu.edu for more information.)

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/12/2024

Salary: $80,000 - $89,999

eJobs ID: 14425

Yale University

Rank: Associate/Full Professor, International/Global History, International Relations

Specializations: International Law & Organizations, International Political Economy, International Security

Description

Yale University seeks applicants with expertise in the field of international/global history or international relations for a tenured faculty position at the Associate or Full Professor level, to begin 1 July 2025.

The successful candidate will receive a fully joint appointment in the Jackson School of Global Affairs and either the Faculty of Arts and Sciences' Department of History or its Department of Political Science. The appointee will be expected to teach courses in international relations or international/global history and share their teaching and service obligations between both the Jackson School and the Faculty of Arts and Sciences.

Qualifications

The appointee must hold a Ph.D. or equivalent degree in a directly related field by the time of hire.

Application Instructions

Application materials include a cover letter, CV, research statement, teaching statement and writing sample. Materials should be uploaded to Interfolio at <http://apply.interfolio.com/147211>.

Review of applications will begin on September 15, 2024 and to guarantee full consideration your file should be complete by this date.

Please contact Larisa Satara at larisa.satara@yale.edu if you have questions regarding the position or application process.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 6/10/2025

Date Posted: 6/10/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14405

Universidad Torcuato Di Tella

Rank: Assistant Professor, Associate Professor

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Methodology

The Department of Political Science and International Studies at Universidad Torcuato Di Tella (UTDT) seeks candidates for two tenure-track assistant professor positions in Comparative Politics and International Relations, with an expected (but negotiable) start date of March 2025. Very strong candidates at the associate level will also be considered. We are open with respect to substantive subfield, theoretical orientation, and methodological approach. Regional expertise in regions other than Latin America (e.g., East, South, or Southeast Asia, Western or Eastern Europe, the Middle East or North America) is a plus, as is the ability to teach courses on research design, data science/statistics, and/or causal inference. Candidates are expected to demonstrate a strong commitment to research and to teaching and mentoring students. The teaching load is three courses per year. Most courses are taught in Spanish, although a growing number are offered in English. The position includes a research fund and a year's sabbatical (at full salary) every six years.

Duties will include teaching assigned courses in Comparative Politics and/or International Relations at both the undergraduate and graduate levels, conducting research, writing for publication in high-quality academic venues, advising students, participating in department governance, and university service.

Qualifications: Ph.D. in Political Science or related disciplines (ABD candidates will also be considered) and a demonstrated record of excellence in research and teaching. Proficiency in both Spanish and English is required. Questions should be directed to Professor Carlos Gervasoni, Chair of the Department of Political Science and International Studies, at cgervasoni@utdt.edu.

To apply please visit https://utdt.hiringroom.com/jobs/get_vacancy/665727a62994ec85980166a0, by August 30, 2024 (applications received after this date will continue to be reviewed until the positions are filled). The required documents include a cover letter, CV, a research statement, a teaching statement, a writing sample, and the names and email addresses of 3 references (letters of reference will be required of short-listed finalists).

Universidad Torcuato Di Tella is a private research university located in Buenos Aires, Argentina. Our Department is consistently ranked as one of the best in Latin America in terms of reputation and research excellence. Our guiding principles are academic excellence, pluralism of ideas and equal opportunity. UTDT is committed to creating a diverse community of students, faculty, and staff, following the principles of equal opportunity and treatment in education and employment, regardless of national origin, race, color, ethnicity, religion, political ideology, age, sex, sexual orientation, or gender identity. The university encourages applications of individuals from historically underrepresented groups who will further enrich the diversity of our educational community. We welcome applications from all nationalities. Approximately 25% of the Department's research professors are foreigners. For further information about Universidad Torcuato Di Tella and our department, please visit: <https://www.utdt.edu/>.

Start Date: Spring 2025

Application Deadline: 8/30/2024

Date Posted: 6/5/2024

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 14404

University of Kentucky

Rank: Full Time Instructor (International Relations)

The Department of Political Science in the College of Arts and Sciences at the University of Kentucky in Lexington, Kentucky, invites applications for a Temporary, non-tenure eligible, Full-Time Instructor to begin August 1, 2024. The instructor will teach four courses (12 credit hours) per semester covering a range International Relations courses. Successful candidates will have a demonstrated record of teaching excellence at the undergraduate level. A PhD in Political Science (International Relations) is required.

<https://ukjobs.uky.edu/postings/531607>

Applicants must include the following: 1) letter of application (upload as Cover Letter), 2) CV, 3) Teaching Statement (upload as Specific Request 1) and 4) a Copy of Transcript. In addition, please provide the names and contact information for three references when prompted in the academic profile. This information may be utilized to solicit recommendation letters from your references within the employment system.

The University of Kentucky provides comprehensive benefits which are fully described at <https://hr.uky.edu/employment/working-uk/our-benefits>.

Questions about this search should be addressed to Dr. Emily Bacchus, Department Chair, Department of Political Science (emily.beaulieu@uky.edu)

Review of applications will begin on June 10th, 2024 and will continue until the position is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/5/2024

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999
eJobs ID: 14403

National University of Singapore

Rank: Assistant Professor (Presidential Young Professor (PYP))

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Public Policy

The Department of Political Science at the National University of Singapore invites applications for the tenure-track position of Presidential Young Professor (PYP) at the rank of Assistant Professor, to commence in 2025. Applications are invited from all major subfields of political science including, but not limited to, comparative politics, international relations, and public policy. We are especially interested in candidates with an Asia-focused research programme.

The NUS Presidential Young Professorship and NUS Presidential Fellowship Awards aim to attract, support, and empower the brightest and most promising young academics in the early stage of their careers so that they can develop themselves into world-class scholars. As a young academic at NUS, you will have the opportunity to work alongside a diverse and dynamic community of scholars and students, to pursue excellence and innovation with a positive societal impact. Successful PYP candidates are awarded a start-up grant package of either SGD 250,000 or SGD 750,000, depending on the demands of their research program. Successful PYP candidates are also granted an award of an additional SGD 250,000 for discretionary spending.

The NUS Department of Political Science is one of the leading global programs, with a vibrant research culture and located in a cosmopolitan hub. It is one of 15 departments within the Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences. Southeast and East Asia are geographical areas of departmental strength, but our 20+ faculty members have research interests which range across the subfields of political theory, international relations, comparative politics, and governance and public policy. In addition, the world-renowned Asia Research Institute (ARI) at NUS engages political scientists as part of its interdisciplinary community, as do our many area studies departments. Our department is committed to promoting equity, diversity, and inclusion as integral values in our strategic development. We also offer a competitive remuneration package, including housing and relocation benefits for eligible overseas candidates. The typical teaching load is 2:1 (one or two courses per semester, totaling three per academic year).

Interested applicants are invited to apply directly at our NUS Career Portal <https://careers.nus.edu.sg/job-invite/25147/>. Application dossiers should include:

- ? A brief cover letter explaining why the position at NUS is of interest and discusses the ambition of your research program
- ? A comprehensive CV with a complete list of publications, awards, grants, and courses taught
- ? A research statement with a three year research plan
- ? Two signature publications with the applicant as the lead author
- ? Letters from at least three referees. If the applicant is two or more years post-PhD, the referees should not be limited to supervisors. The referees should compare the research performance of the applicant to specific individuals at equivalent and top institutions and/or programs. Please send all referee letters directly to pol-ir@nus.edu.sg.

Review of applications will begin on 29 July 2024 and continue until an appointment is made. We regret that only shortlisted candidates will be notified. If there are any questions, please email the search committee at pol-ir@nus.edu.sg.

Start Date:
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 6/4/2024
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 14396

Fordham University

Rank: Tenure-Track: International Politics/Security (Fordham University)

The Department of Political Science at Fordham University invites applications for a tenure track position in International Politics at the Assistant Professor level, beginning Fall 2025. The primary location for this position is at Fordham College-Rose Hill campus in the Bronx but service may be at any campus of the University.

We are particularly interested in candidates in the field of international security. We especially welcome applicants with regional expertise and a perspective from the Global South. Specializations for this position include, but would not be limited to: inter-state conflict; great power politics; national security; foreign policy; transnational terrorism; and the politics of weapons of mass destruction. The successful candidate will be expected to contribute to undergraduate and graduate curricular needs in political science, as well as contribute to Fordham's interdisciplinary International Studies major, the Humanitarian Studies Program, and the Cybersecurity Program. We encourage applications from candidates who will deepen our engagement with institutions within New York City and contribute to our University and department's commitment to quality teaching and research.

Consistent with our Jesuit and Catholic mission, we believe that diversity is central to the excellence of our academic programs, and we strive to create an academic community and campus culture that attracts and facilitates the development of promising and diverse teacher-scholars. As our student body becomes increasingly diverse, we are especially interested in candidates with substantive experience and commitment to teaching and mentoring students of different races and ethnicities, from a range of socioeconomic and cultural backgrounds.

Review of applications will begin on September 15, 2024. Interested applicants must submit the following documents in electronic format (PDF or Microsoft Word) to Professor Anjali Dayal, Committee Chair, via Interfolio, at <http://apply.interfolio.com/147076>: a cover letter addressing research interests and experience; curriculum vitae; writing sample; a diversity, equity, and inclusion statement; three letters of recommendation; and evidence of teaching effectiveness. Evidence of teaching effectiveness should include a teaching statement reflecting the candidate's pedagogical approach and experience and may include past course syllabi, peer observations, and/or student evaluations. The diversity, equity, and inclusion statement should address how the candidate's teaching, mentoring, scholarship, and/or community service supports Fordham University's commitment to diversity. Earned Ph.D. at the time of appointment is required.

Fordham is an independent, Catholic University in the Jesuit tradition committed to excellence through diversity. Fordham is an equal opportunity employer, and we especially encourage women, people of color, veterans, and people with disabilities to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2025
Application Deadline: 9/15/2024
Date Posted: 5/31/2024
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 14393

University of Michigan, Ann Arbor
Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

All applications must be submitted electronically to <https://apply.interfolio.com/147035>

The University of Michigan's Department of Political Science invites applications from outstanding candidates for a tenure track position for a scholar who studies World Politics/International Relations.

This position is at the assistant professor rank and is a university year appointment. It is anticipated to begin August 25, 2025. Promise of excellence in research and teaching is required.

Applicants should include the following applications materials in PDF format: a cover letter, curriculum vitae, a concise statement describing current and future plans for research, a statement of teaching philosophy and experience, evidence of teaching excellence (if any), writing samples, graduate transcripts, and a statement that demonstrates your commitment to diversity, equity, and inclusion in academia. Applications should also submit three letters of recommendation. Information on our research initiatives and scholarly interest of current faculty can be found on the Department's website: <https://lsa.umich.edu/polisci>. All applications must be submitted electronically to: <https://lsa.umich.edu/polisci/current-job-postings.html>.

For full consideration, complete applications should be submitted by August 19, 2024.

Employment will require a criminal background check and candidates must meet all degree requirements prior to the start date of the position.

The University of Michigan is committed to fostering and maintaining a diverse work culture that respects the rights of each individual, without regard to race, color, national origin, ancestry, religious creed, sex, gender identity, sexual orientation, gender expression, height, weight, marital status, disability, medical condition, age, or veteran status. The University of Michigan is supportive of the needs of dual career couples and is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer. Women and members of minority groups are encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2025
Application Deadline: 8/19/2024
Date Posted: 5/31/2024
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 14383

Mount Holyoke College
Rank: Tenure-track faculty position

Open Rank Professor of Politics
 Department of Politics

The Department of Politics at Mount Holyoke College invites applications for an open rank tenure-track faculty position in international relations with specialization in U.S. foreign policy, to begin July 1, 2025. Ph.D. or A.B.D. in political science required.

Candidates should be prepared to teach a range of introductory through advanced undergraduate courses on both the process and substance of U.S. foreign policy since World War II. They may also expect to teach an introductory course in international relations on a rotating basis. The successful candidate will teach and mentor students in both Politics and the multidisciplinary International Relations Program. Teaching load is 2-2. The successful candidate will have a demonstrated record of strong teaching at the undergraduate level and experience mentoring students who are broadly diverse with regard to race, ethnicity, socioeconomic status, gender, nationality, sexual orientation, and religion.

Applicants should submit a cover letter, C.V., and statements concerning (1) research interests, (2) teaching philosophy, and (3) mentoring of a diverse student body. In addition, they should provide graduate transcripts, a sample syllabus of an introductory course in international relations, a sample syllabus of a course on U.S. foreign policy, and a short writing sample in their field of specialization. Please upload these additional documents in the Please upload other documents in support of your application section of the application. The application website is:

https://mtholyoke.wd5.myworkdayjobs.com/External/job/Mount-Holyoke-College---Main-Campus/Open-Rank-Professor-of-Politics_R-0000000969

Deadline for receipt of complete applications is September 15, 2024. Reference letters will be requested at a later date in the process. Questions regarding the position should be directed to the chair of the search committee, Sohail Hashmi.

Mount Holyoke is an undergraduate liberal arts college with 2,200 students and 220 faculty. Mount Holyoke College is located about 90 miles west of Boston in the Connecticut River valley, and is a member of the Five College Consortium consisting of Amherst, Hampshire, Mount Holyoke, and Smith Colleges and the University of Massachusetts.

Background Checks:

Mount Holyoke College is committed to providing a safe and secure environment, supported by qualified employees that will allow all of its students, faculty, staff and those associated with them to successfully carry out the mission of the college. As a condition of employment, the College will conduct appropriate background checks for all new hires. Mount Holyoke has designated the Office of Human Resources as the office responsible for ensuring that background checks (CORI, SORI, Credit History, & Driver Credential) are completed and utilized in the hiring process and Five College Office of Compliance and Risk Management as the office responsible for facilitating background checks as articulated in this policy.

Special Instructions for Applicants:

Apply online; application materials must include:

- A cover letter summarizing interests and qualifications
- A complete resume or curriculum vitae
- For faculty positions, statements on mentoring, teaching, and research will also be required.

Mount Holyoke College is an Equal Opportunity Employer (EOE)

Mount Holyoke College, the leading gender-diverse women's college, is dedicated to providing equal employment opportunities for all individuals regardless of their race, color, religion, sex, national origin, age, disability, or any other legally protected status. We are a diverse community of staff, faculty, and students, united in our mission to offer an intellectually adventurous education in the liberal arts through academic programs that are renowned internationally for their cross-disciplinary excellence, experiential approach, and commitment to diversity.

Mount Holyoke College is a welcoming and inclusive environment that values and respects individuals of all backgrounds. As an EOE, we encourage members of historically underrepresented groups or nontraditional backgrounds to apply for open positions at our institution. The College has a long-standing tradition of providing women and other historically underrepresented groups with access to an innovative educational experience that prepares students for purposeful leadership by integrating hands-on opportunities into the curriculum. We firmly believe that diversity enriches our community and enhances our ability to prepare students for success in an increasingly globalized world.

We are dedicated to providing equal opportunities for all qualified applicants and to building an exemplary workforce that reflects the diversity of our student body and the communities we serve. Our ultimate goal is to produce graduates who are capable of engaging thoughtfully, effectively, and boldly with the world.

Start Date: Summer 2025

Application Deadline: 9/15/2024

Date Posted: 5/30/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14386

American Enterprise Institute

Rank: Jeane Kirkpatrick Fellowship Program

Overview

The American Enterprise Institute is inviting candidates to apply for an open scholar position in the Jeane Kirkpatrick Fellowship Program in Foreign and Defense Policy Studies. The program is open to mid-career academics, government, and civilian professionals in foreign policy and security studies who are looking for an opportunity to deepen their work.

The application period commences on May 1, 2024. The program begins in September 2024, although the starting date for new Jeane Kirkpatrick scholars is negotiable to accommodate existing personal and professional obligations. The program's duration is one year from the start date, with the possibility of a one-year extension.

Applications are reviewed on a rolling basis.

Fellowship Benefits:

Guided by the belief that American liberties are best preserved by a robust national defense and US global leadership, senior research fellows will conduct in-depth research to produce policy recommendations intended to enhance American security and interests. AEI will assist fellows in developing and disseminating their research by providing the support and training needed to publish serious longer works, place their work in the nation's most-read publications, brief policy-makers, and host public and private events at the Institute.

Application Process:

Qualified applicants should apply at www.aei.org/jobs and submit a resume and a 1,000-word statement addressing academic interests, how this fellowship will enhance their professional goals, and which scholars they would like to work with in AEI's foreign and defense policy department.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 5/29/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14376

Hampden-Sydney College

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor

Specializations: Western Europe, Post Communist Europe, International Law & Organizations

The Department of Government and Foreign Affairs at Hampden-Sydney College invites applications for a Visiting Assistant Professor to begin August 2024. Candidates should have research and teaching interests in European politics (region open) and the ability to offer introductory and intermediate courses in comparative politics and international relations.

Successful applicants should have a record of effective classroom teaching and must have their Ph.D. in political science or be ABD near completion by the time of appointment. The teaching load is seven courses over the 2024-2025 academic year.

Please submit a letter of application, curriculum vitae, teaching statement, research statement, and three letters of reference to Dr. Celia Carroll Jones, Chair, Department of Government and Foreign Affairs, Hampden-Sydney College via Interfolio (<http://apply.interfolio.com/146717>) Review of applications will begin immediately.

Hampden-Sydney College is a selective liberal arts institution enrolling approximately 1000 students. Founded in 1775, it is the tenth oldest institution of higher learning in the United States and one of four liberal arts colleges in the United States dedicated to the education of men. Our mission is to educate "good men and good citizens in an atmosphere of sound learning."

Our beautiful 1300-acre campus is less than 7 miles from downtown Farmville, home to Longwood University and the Moton Museum, which is listed on the U.S. Civil Rights Trail. The campus is located 65 miles west of Richmond, 50 miles east of Lynchburg, and 75 miles south of Charlottesville, providing abundant cultural, recreational and artistic resources. As a community, we are dedicated to the goal of building a culturally diverse faculty committed to working in a multicultural environment and strongly encourage applications from women and minoritized groups. Hampden-Sydney College values diversity, prohibits discrimination, and is committed to equal opportunity for all employees and applicants for employment.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 5/21/2024

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 14363

Scripps College

Rank: Tenure Track Position in Global Politics

SCRIPPS COLLEGE
CLAREMONT, CALIFORNIA 91711

TENURE TRACK POSITION IN GLOBAL POLITICS

Scripps College, a women's liberal arts college with a strong interdisciplinary tradition, invites applications for a tenure-track position in Global Politics starting July 1, 2025.

The department seeks scholarly and teaching expertise in global politics broadly defined. We are particularly interested in topics including, but not limited to, the transnational politics of climate, migration, gender, human rights, international development, social movements, and settler colonialism, with a preference for expertise in the Global South. We value interdisciplinary approaches to, and breadth in, teaching and research, and are interested in candidates who show potential for engaging, research-informed teaching in small classroom settings, and who can supervise undergraduate research effectively. Participation in the Core Curriculum in Interdisciplinary Studies [about to be changed from Interdisciplinary Humanities] is expected.

The position entails a 2-2 teaching load, including the introductory survey course in Global Politics, as well as supervision (shared with other department faculty) of required one-semester senior theses. The candidate should have a PhD in hand by July 1, 2025, either in political science or in adjacent fields, such as geography, sociology, and anthropology.

Candidates should submit the following materials online at <http://apply.interfolio.com/145103>: a CV, a cover letter, a statement of teaching philosophy that also discusses how the candidate could contribute to the College's mission of inclusive and equitable education, an article-length writing sample, and names and contact information for three references.

Semi-finalists will be asked to submit evidence of effective and inclusive teaching, three letters of recommendation, and, potentially, additional research materials.

The salary for this position will range from $81,000 to $90,000 and will be set based on a variety of factors, including but not limited to internal equity, experience, education, specialty, and training.

Review of materials will begin on September 16, 2024. For more information, please contact Nancy Neiman, search committee chair at nneiman@scrippscollege.edu.

Scripps College is one of the seven members of The Claremont Colleges consortium located 35 miles east of Los Angeles. In keeping with its ongoing commitment to build and support a diverse and equitable academic community, Scripps College actively encourages applications from women and members of historically underrepresented groups. Preference will be given to applicants committed to improving higher education for underrepresented students.

Start Date: Summer 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 5/13/2024

Salary: $80,000 - $89,999

eJobs ID: 14355

George Washington University

Rank: Postdoctoral Associate

The George Washington University Political Science Department is seeking an exceptional candidate for a full-time, academic research position at the rank of postdoctoral associate. The term of this position is two years beginning in September 2024. The researcher will work on topics broadly related to international cooperation on emerging technologies, using social scientific methods. Substantive interest in China's international engagement with safety and security issues linked to hazardous technologies is especially welcome.

The postdoctoral associate will work closely with Assistant Professor Jeffrey Ding. The successful candidate will be expected to contribute to all parts of the research process, including design, implementation, manuscript preparation, and presentation of results.

The postdoctoral associate will also have the opportunity to affiliate with George Washington University's Institute of Security and Conflict Studies (ISCS) and present work at research-in-progress seminars at the ISCS, which has a vibrant community of predoctoral fellows, visiting scholars, and PhDs in residence.

Application Procedure: To apply please complete an online application at <https://www.gwu.jobs/postings/109125>. A complete application package will include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, statement of research interest, samples of written work, and names and contact information of three professional references. Review of applications will begin on March 25, 2024, and will continue until the position is filled. Only complete applications will be considered.

Please direct all questions to Prof. Jeffrey Ding at jeffreyding@gwu.edu.

Qualified candidates will hold a Doctoral degree or comparable doctoral degree in a related discipline. Degree must be conferred by the start date of the position.

Minimum Qualifications: Qualified candidates will hold a Doctoral degree. Degree must be conferred by the start date of the position.

Preferred Qualifications:

Desired Qualifications:

PhD in fields including political science, international relations, area studies, safety sciences, or other related fields

Proficiency in Mandarin Chinese or demonstrated expertise on China

Strong communication skills

The ability to work in a highly collaborative and interdisciplinary environment

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 2/16/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 13204

George Washington University

Rank: Professor and Director, M.A. Program in International Affairs

The George Washington University's Elliott School of International Affairs invites applications for a full-time, non-tenure-accruing, faculty position to serve as Director of the school's M.A. program in International Affairs. We invite applications from individuals who have substantial academic or professional experience in International Affairs.

The successful candidate will be appointed as the John O. Rankin Professor of International Affairs (or Associate Professor) or the John O. Rankin Professor of Practice of International Affairs (or Associate Professor), depending on qualifications. This appointment will begin in academic year 2024-25 for an initial term of three years, and may be renewed thereafter on a term basis. Salary is commensurate with experience, and will reflect a nine-month academic year appointment, leaving summers for individual research. The successful candidate will be expected to carry out occasional duties during the summer months, as needed, to ensure the effectiveness and quality of the MAIA program. There will be a separate stipend for administrative responsibilities.

As a member of the Elliott School's faculty, the Rankin Professor will teach courses, conduct research, and publish in scholarly or policy-related venues on international affairs. As Director of the M.A. program in International Affairs, this person will be responsible for the administration of one of the Elliott School's two largest graduate programs, with an enrollment of approximately 200 students. This will entail working with the deans, departments, and faculty to design and deliver a curriculum that is challenging and current; recruiting and admitting students; advising students; organizing extracurricular events; engaging in outreach (including with program alumni) and fundraising activities; and other aspects of program leadership. The successful candidate will be responsible for the delivery of the program's capstone course.

Minimum qualifications: A graduate degree (such as a Ph.D. or M.A. in a relevant social science or humanities discipline, or a J.D. or M.D. in a relevant field) and broad experience in international affairs and contemporary policy issues as evidenced by a record of college-level teaching, published research, or lengthy professional employment in international affairs.

Application Procedure: Applicants must complete an online faculty application at <https://www.gwu.jobs/postings/108672> and upload a cover letter that explains how their qualifications and experiences satisfy the basic qualifications for this position, a CV, and (where available) a writing sample, a sample course syllabus, and sample teaching evaluations or assessments. Please provide names and contact information for three references. Review of applications will begin on March 18 and will continue until the position is filled. Only completed applications will be considered.

The George Washington University seeks to attract a diverse faculty of the highest caliber; women and people of color are particularly encouraged to apply. The University is an equal opportunity/Affirmative Action employer that does not unlawfully discriminate in any of its programs or activities on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, national origin, age, disability, veteran status, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, or on any other basis prohibited by applicable law.

Employment offers are contingent on the satisfactory outcome of a standard background screening.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 2/16/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 13203

Yale University

Rank: Post-doctoral fellowships with the Identity & Conflict Lab
Specializations: Germany, China, United States

The Identity & Conflict Lab (ICL) at Yale University, led by Professor Nicholas Sambanis, seeks up to two exceptional candidates as Postdoctoral Associates for the 2024-2025 academic year. This opportunity is for a one-year, full-time residential postdoctoral research fellowship, with potential to renew for one year.

Housed in the MacMillan Center for International and Area Studies, the ICL addresses a broad range of critical questions focused on inter-group conflict and identity politics. The ICL analyzes how social identities shape individual behavior, how conflict affects identities, and what interventions are effective in reducing inter-group conflict. Both violent and non-violent forms of conflict are considered, ranging from bias, discrimination, and protest to ethnic violence, secessionism and war. The ICL has several ongoing projects in four thematic areas: (1) native-immigrant conflict and the politics of immigrant integration across countries, with a focus on Greece, Cyprus, Turkey, Germany, Denmark, and Qatar; (2) effects of national identification (patriotism; nationalism) on foreign policy preferences with case applications in Greece, South Korea, China, and the United States; (3) strategies to reduce majority-minority group conflicts in India and Pakistan; and (4) collection and analysis of new data on separatist conflicts worldwide, and prediction of new conflict outbreaks of separatist violence. A variety of methods are used to study these topics, including surveys, survey experiments, field experiments, and quantitative analysis of observational data. The ICL seeks to integrate substantive and methodological knowledge across the social and behavioral sciences to develop new analytical approaches and new insights into these thematic areas with a view to shaping new directions in scholarly literatures as well as influencing policy design.

Postdoctoral associates will split their time between their own research and work with Professor Nicholas Sambanis on one or more of the Lab's ongoing projects. Innovative new project proposals by associates can also be considered for funding by the ICL.

Job responsibilities will vary depending on the strengths and interests of the successful applicant. Associates will be expected to collect and clean data; review reports on ongoing projects; prepare visualizations and reports of quantitative analysis of new data collected in the lab; assist with drafting grant proposals; program surveys; prepare IRB applications; conduct quantitative data analysis to support ongoing Lab projects; and co-author papers and reports with the Lab Director and affiliated faculty. Additionally, associates will be asked to contribute to the ICL Director's engagement with funders, prepare presentations of lab reports/papers, prepare replication files for published studies, help manage the ICL website and seminar series, and provide summaries of ongoing ICL work for public outreach.

There is no formal teaching requirement. Associates will be expected to help organize the ICL's annual conference as well as the workshop, which will hold occasional meetings throughout the year. Associates will give at least one presentation on their research at the workshop or a graduate-level course led by the ICL Director and would be expected to engage with research by graduate students who are affiliated with the ICL.

The salary is competitive and comes with a benefits package. Information regarding benefits associated with the position can be found here:

<https://your.yale.edu/work-yale/benefits/benefits-enrollment-2023/postdoctoral-associates-benefits-2023>

Qualifications

Applications are welcome from scholars who have received their Ph.D. or equivalent degrees since June 2022, or who expect to complete their degree by June 2024. Applications will be reviewed on a rolling basis starting on November 10, 2023. To receive full consideration, application material should be received by that date.

Successful applicants will have excellent training in quantitative methods with an emphasis on statistical analysis, survey methods and experimental methods. Programming skills are desirable. Applicants should have outstanding organizational and communication skills and prior experience using large databases. Excellent knowledge of the statistical software Stata and R is required as is extensive experience programming surveys in Qualtrics. Applicants should be intellectually curious, ambitious, energetic, and self-motivated; they should be able to work independently, but also as part of a team and be sensitive to the demands of multiple simultaneously ongoing projects; they should be able to multi-task and be willing to travel for fieldwork if necessary. Training in behavioral economics and/or social psychology is a plus as several of the Lab's projects cross disciplinary boundaries.

Application Instructions

All application materials must be submitted online through Interfolio. Applicants will be asked to upload a cover letter, CV/resume, one-page research statement, writing sample, and unofficial PhD transcript (only required for current graduate students). We will also ask for the name and email address of two letter writers who can submit a letter of recommendation (only references for short-listed candidates will be requested).

Link to apply: <https://apply.interfolio.com/135524>

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 11/13/2023

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 12883

Rhodes College

Rank: Assistant Professor of International Relations/Comparative Politics

The Department of International Studies at Rhodes College invites applications for a tenure-track position at the rank of assistant professor to begin Fall of 2024. Rhodes College believes that diversity and inclusion are critical to our success as an institution, and we seek to recruit, develop, and retain the most talented people from a diverse candidate pool. Furthermore, Rhodes College is committed to supporting the work-life alignment of its faculty. We encourage applications from candidates who have expertise in security, peace, and conflict. The search is open in terms of regional or area studies expertise. This position has a 3:2 teaching load, and applicants should demonstrate a firm commitment to teaching and research in an undergraduate, liberal arts environment. The successful candidate will have classroom experience and is expected to teach introductory and advanced courses in either International Relations or Comparative Politics. Additional courses will be based on the candidate's area of specialization. Preference will be given to candidates who can teach an upper-level course on international conflict or security and those who can contribute to an interdisciplinary atmosphere. The successful candidate is expected to earn their Ph.D. by July 2024.

Rhodes is a nationally ranked residential college committed to the liberal arts and sciences. Our highest priorities are intellectual engagement, service to others, commitment to diversity and inclusion, and honor among ourselves. Our students live and learn on one of the country's most beautiful campuses, located in the heart of Memphis, an economic, medical, and culturally diverse center, making Rhodes one of a handful of prominent liberal arts colleges in a major metropolitan area.

Rhodes College prides itself on being a diverse, inclusive, and welcoming environment. We are an equal opportunity employer committed to diversity and anti-discrimination.

A complete application will include 1) a cover letter that addresses the strengths the candidate will bring as a teacher and scholar to a liberal arts college environment; 2) a curriculum vitae; 3) a separate statement that addresses how the candidate's experiences with teaching, scholarship, and/or service will contribute to a college community that includes a commitment to diversity and inclusion as one of its core values; 4) a writing sample; 5) an unofficial graduate transcript; and 6) evidence of teaching performance (if applicable). Review of completed applications will begin on October 1, 2023, and will continue until the position is filled. Candidates from backgrounds typically underrepresented in higher education are strongly encouraged to apply. Letters of recommendation will only be solicited for short-listed applicants, at which time you will be prompted for the names and contact information for three (3) references. Background checks are required before candidates can be brought to campus for interviews.

For further information, please contact Dr. Chien-Kai Chen, chair of the search committee, at [chenc@rhodes.edu].

Please apply here: [https://rhodes.wd5.myworkdayjobs.com/Rhodes_Careers/job/Memphis-Tennessee/Assistant-Professor-of-International-Relations-Comparative-Politics_JR-471].

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/31/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12427

University of Pittsburgh

Rank: Assistant Professor - International Relations

Assistant Professor – International Relations

The Department of Political Science at the University of Pittsburgh invites applications for a tenure-stream position at the level of Assistant Professor in International Relations. We welcome applications from all areas of international relations but are particularly interested in candidates who can contribute to teaching and research in international organizations, international cooperation, foreign policy, the international dimensions of digital technology or international political economy. In addition, while it is not required for this position, we also value the ability of an applicant to augment the departments and the University of Pittsburgh's training and reputation in computational social science and methodology. Applicants are required to have or expect to have a Ph.D. in Political Science or a related field before the appointment begins.

Applications should include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, statement of research and teaching interests, two or three writing samples, teaching evaluations (if available), a brief description of how your research, teaching or service demonstrates a commitment to diversity, equity, and inclusion, and a minimum of three letters of reference; references will receive email notification with instructions about submitting their letters. In order to ensure full consideration, applications must be received by September 22, 2023, and the review of applications will continue until the position is filled.

The University of Pittsburgh is committed to championing all aspects of diversity, equity, inclusion, and accessibility within our community. This commitment is a fundamental value of the University and is crucial in helping us advance our mission, which includes attracting and retaining diverse workforces. We will continue to create and maintain an environment that allows individuals to discover, belong, contribute, and grow, while honoring the experiences, perspectives, and unique identities of all.

The University of Pittsburgh is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer and values equality of opportunity, human dignity, and diversity. EOE, including disability/vets. The University of Pittsburgh requires all Pitt constituents (employees and students) on all campuses to be vaccinated against COVID-19 or have an approved exemption. Visit coronavirus.pitt.edu to learn more about this requirement.

Applicants should be submitted at the following site:

https://cfopitt.taleo.net/careersection/pitt_faculty_external/jobdetail.ftl?job=23006603&tz=GMT-04%3A00&tzname=America%2FNew_York

The political science Department telephone number is (412) 648-7290; the contact e-mail address is nek89@pitt.edu.

The University of Pittsburgh is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer and values equality of opportunity, human dignity, and diversity. EOE, including disability/vets.

Start Date: Fall 2023
Application Deadline: 9/23/2023
Date Posted: 8/29/2023
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 12394

Yale University

Rank: Assistant/Associate/Full Professor, Political Science
Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, International Relations
Specializations: American Politics, Political Economy, International Law & Organizations

Position Description

The Department of Political Science at Yale University is seeking to hire several faculty members at the rank of Assistant, Associate, or Full Professor with an appointment in the fields of American Politics, Comparative Politics, Political Economy, and/or International Relations, beginning July 1, 2024. The successful applicant will be expected to teach courses in their substantive area of expertise in political science.

Qualifications

If candidates are appointed at the untenured level, the initial appointment will be for 5 years. The teaching expectation is normally 3 courses per academic year.

Ph.D. or equivalent degree required at time of hire.

Application Instructions

All applications must include a cover letter, CV, and a list of 3 references. Untenured candidates should also supply 3 recommendation letters, 2 writing samples, and separate short (2 pages or less) research and teaching statements. All materials should be uploaded to Interfolio at <http://apply.interfolio.com/129113>. Review of applications will begin September 15, 2023, and to guarantee full consideration your file should be complete by this date.

Please contact Ms. Xaria Callender, Sr. Administrative Assistant for the Political Science Department, at xaria.callender@yale.edu if you have questions about the application process.

Start Date: Fall 2024
Date Posted: 8/7/2023
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 12216

Yale University

Rank: Assistant/Associate/Full Professor, South Asian Politics
Specializations: India, International Law & Organizations, International Political Economy

Position Description

The Department of Political Science at Yale University is seeking to hire a faculty member with expertise in South Asian Politics at the rank of Assistant, Associate, or Full Professor, beginning July 1, 2024. A successful applicant will be expected to teach courses in their substantive area of expertise in political science and courses with a regional focus on South Asia.

Qualifications

If candidates are appointed at the untenured level, the initial appointment will be for 5 years. The teaching expectation is normally 3 courses per academic year.

Ph.D. or equivalent degree required at time of hire.

Application Instructions

All applications must include a cover letter, CV, and a list of 3 references. Untenured candidates should also supply 3 recommendation letters, 2 writing samples, and separate short (2 pages or less) research and teaching statements. All materials should be uploaded to Interfolio at <http://apply.interfolio.com/129098>. Review of applications will begin September 15, 2023, and to guarantee full consideration your file should be complete by this date.

Please contact Ms. Xaria Callender, Sr. Administrative Assistant for the Political Science Department, at xaria.callender@yale.edu if you have questions about the application process.

Start Date: Fall 2024
Application Deadline: 7/31/2024
Date Posted: 8/7/2023
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 12214

METHODOLOGY

Lake Forest College

Rank: Latin American Politics and International Relations

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Methodology

Specializations: South America, Central America, Mexico

The Lake Forest College Department of Politics and International Relations invites applications for a tenure-track assistant professor in comparative politics or international relations with a specialization in Latin America to begin August 2025. We seek someone to teach Introduction to Comparative Politics; Introduction to Global Politics; a research methods survey course, required for Politics and International Relations majors, that includes qualitative and/or quantitative methods; and a broad range of other courses in comparative politics or international relations with a focus on Spanish-speaking countries in Latin America. While we encourage candidates of all substantive interests to apply, those whose work focuses on issues of human rights, social movements, migration, indigenous communities, or populism are preferred. Additionally, candidates with corollary research and/or teaching interests in the Latinx experience within the domestic United States are particularly encouraged to apply.

Lake Forest College has a rich, interdisciplinary program in Latin American and Latinx Studies to which the successful candidate is expected to contribute significantly. Other interdisciplinary programs include Urban Studies; Gender, Sexuality, and Women's Studies; African American Studies; and Social Justice. We also have an "In the Loop" semester-long residential program in Chicago, as well as many courses emphasizing Chicago history, politics, and its diverse cultures. Lake Forest College's proximity to Chicago provides an opportunity to use the city as a "laboratory" for student work and research. We are interested in candidates who can contribute to any of these programs. We are especially interested in candidates who can incorporate students into their research programs and want to build a career centered on teaching and advising excellence.

Candidates are expected to have a record of demonstrated teaching excellence and the promise of scholarly productivity. A Ph.D. in political science or a related field is required. (ABD is acceptable if degree is conferred prior to the start of the 25-26 academic year.) Our teaching load is 3/3, with small classes (typically 15-25 students). We support faculty research through the provision of student research assistants and the potential to apply for summer research funds. The successful passage of the third-year review earns a one-semester sabbatical at full pay in the fourth or fifth year of service. Tenure review takes place at the start of the sixth year.

Applicants should submit a curriculum vitae, an unofficial graduate transcript, a teaching statement that addresses diversity in a liberal arts setting, sample syllabi, a single sample of scholarly writing, three confidential letters of recommendation, and evidence of teaching effectiveness to James J. Marquardt, Ph.D., Chair of the Department of Politics and International Relations at the following email address: latinamericasearch2024@lakeforest.edu. Applications will be accepted until the position is filled but must be received by October 1, 2024, to be assured full consideration.

A highly selective liberal arts college located on Chicago's North Shore, Lake Forest College enrolls approximately 1,800 students from more than 40 states and from more than 100 countries. Lake Forest is one of the most diverse small colleges in the Midwest with approximately 40% of our student body comprised of domestic students of color and international students. At Lake Forest College, the quality of a faculty member's teaching is the most important criterion for evaluation. The College also expects peer-reviewed publications and active participation in the College community. Lake Forest College embraces diversity and encourages applications from women, members of historically underrepresented groups, veterans, and individuals with disabilities.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 10/1/2024

Date Posted: 8/1/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14565

Harvard University

Rank: TENURE-TRACK PROFESSOR OF GOVERNMENT – QUANTITATIVE METHODS

Position Description: The Department of Government seeks to appoint a tenure-track professor in Government specializing in Political Methodology or Formal Theory. The appointment is expected to begin on July 1, 2025. The tenure-track professor will be responsible for teaching at the undergraduate and graduate levels. Candidates are encouraged to apply by September 20, 2024; applications will be reviewed until the position is filled.

Basic Qualifications: Doctorate or terminal degree in Political Science, Government or related disciplines required by the time the appointment begins.

Additional Qualifications: Demonstrated strong commitment to teaching and advising is desired.

Special Instructions: Please submit the following materials through the ARIES portal (<https://academicpositions.harvard.edu>). The Committee will begin reviewing applications on September 16, 2024.

1. Cover letter
2. Curriculum Vitae
3. Teaching/advising statement (describing the candidate's teaching philosophy and practices as well as their approach to creating a learning environment in which students are encouraged to ask questions and share their ideas)
4. Research statement
5. Service statement describing efforts to strengthen academic communities, e.g., the candidate's department, institution, and/or professional societies.
6. Names and contact information of 3-5 referees, who will be asked by a system-generated email to upload a letter of recommendation once the candidate's application has been submitted. Three letters of recommendation are required, and the application is considered complete only when at least three letters have been received. At least one letter must come from someone who has not served as the candidate's undergraduate, graduate, or postdoctoral advisor.
7. Publications or copies of creative works, if applicable.

Contact Information: Gary King, Search Committee, Department of Government, king@harvard.edu.

The health of our workforce is a priority for Harvard University. With that in mind, we strongly encourage all employees to be up-to-date on CDC-recommended vaccines.

Start Date: Summer 2025

Application Deadline: 9/20/2024

Date Posted: 7/26/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14539

SUNY, Stony Brook University

Rank: Assistant Professor, Computational Political Science

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Methodology, Comparative Politics

Specializations: American Politics, Political Behavior, Research Methods

The Department of Political Science at Stony Brook University invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor in Computational Political Science. This position would begin in Fall 2025. The department is interested in applicants with expertise in applying big data methods, computational methods, or advanced statistical methods to problems in political science. Successful candidates will have a strong record of demonstrated research excellence. Additional duties include fostering inclusive teaching at the graduate and undergraduate levels, conducting a program of research, and participating in faculty governance at the departmental, college, and university levels.

Qualifications

Required Qualifications:

Ph.D. (or foreign equivalent) in Political Science or a closely related field in hand by August 31, 2025. Research work applying big data methods, computational methods, or advanced statistical methods to problems in political science.

Preferred Qualifications:

Demonstrated record of the following, as evidenced by the applicant's CV and supporting materials:

- record of producing high-quality research
- strong research background and training
- strong publication record
- research interests in political behavior, American politics, or comparative politics
- experience teaching at the undergraduate and/or graduate level

Application Instructions

Apply through Interfolio at the job posting here: <http://apply.interfolio.com/147877>

Please upload:

Cover letter

1. Curriculum Vitae
2. Samples of written work
3. Teaching statement
4. Research statement
5. Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion (DEI) statement
6. Three reference contacts able to provide letters of reference upon request

For full consideration please submit your materials by 11:59 PM Eastern Time on Monday, September 16, 2024.

All application materials must be submitted online. Please use the Apply Now button to begin your application. For technical support, please visit Interfolio's Support Site (<https://support.interfolio.com/>) or reach out to their Scholar Service Team at help@interfolio.com or (877) 997-8807.

For questions regarding this position, please contact the search chair, Professor Michael Peress at Michael.Peress@stonybrook.edu.

Special Notes: This is a tenure track position. FLSA Exempt position, not eligible for the overtime provisions of the FLSA.

About the Department:

The Department of Political Science is committed to excellence in research and scholarship, graduate student training, undergraduate teaching and learning, public outreach, and the promotion of responsible citizenship. It contributes to the generation of knowledge about politics and aims to deepen scholarly and public understanding of political institutions and the citizenry. The department seeks to prepare students for successful careers in government, academics, and the private sector. The Department provides training for PhD and MA students in cutting-edge approaches to the empirical study of political science to produce graduates with outstanding research, teaching, and professional skills. <http://www.stonybrook.edu/polsci/>

About the College:

As part of a great research university, the College of Arts and Sciences at Stony Brook University focuses on scholarly creativity, connecting our disciplines of fine arts; humanities; social, behavioral and natural sciences; and mathematics with medicine, technology, culture, education, business and environment. As the largest College for the campus, we help students and faculty begin a lifetime of learning and discovery by exploring new ideas that drive innovation and inspiration across all sectors of society. <http://www.stonybrook.edu/cas/>

Campus Description:

Stony Brook University, one of two flagships within the State University of New York (SUNY) system, is one of America's most dynamic public universities, a center of academic excellence, and an internationally recognized research institution that is changing the world. After more than 60 years of existence, it is ranked among the top 100 universities in the nation and the top 25 public universities in the nation. It is a member of the prestigious invitation-only Association of American Universities, composed of the top 66 leading research institutions in North America. As Long Island's largest single-site employer, Stony Brook has nearly 15,000 full- and part-time employees, including 2,800 faculty and nearly 27,000 students — including almost 18,000 undergraduates — and offers more than 200 majors, minors and combined-degree programs. Located approximately 60 miles east of Manhattan on Long Island's beautiful North Shore, Stony Brook is situated on 1,454 wooded acres, encompassing 13 schools and colleges; a Research and Development Park; world-class athletics facilities, including an 8,300-seat stadium and a 4,000-seat arena; and Stony Brook Medicine, Long Island's premier academic medical center. Also part of the University is a teaching and research campus in Southampton, New York, which offers graduate arts programs and is the site of the Marine Sciences Center. In addition, Stony Brook has a role in running, and performs joint research with, Brookhaven National Laboratory, the only Department of Energy Laboratory in the Northeast. Home to the Emerson String Quartet, the Pollock-Krasner House in East Hampton, NY, and the Humanities Institute, with endeavors that extend to the Turkana Basin Institute in Kenya and the Ranomafana National Park in Madagascar, Stony Brook sustains an international reputation that cuts across the arts, humanities, social sciences and natural sciences.

Start Date: Fall 2025
Application Deadline: 9/16/2024
Date Posted: 7/23/2024
Salary: $110,000 - $119,999
eJobs ID: 14519

Pennsylvania State University

Rank: Assistant Research Professor

REQ_0000058029 Assistant Research Professor, Center for Social Data Analytics

The Center for Social Data Analytics (C-SoDA) at The Pennsylvania State University invites applications for an Assistant Research Professor with a specialty in data and/or computationally intensive social research to start as soon as possible.

Methodological areas of specialization relevant to the position include, but are not limited to, text analysis, computational statistics, causal inference, network analysis, and machine learning.

The Assistant Research Professor will serve as the Assistant Director of C-SoDA and will be supervised by C-SoDA's Director.

The job responsibilities will include conducting individual research, collaborating on projects led by C-SoDA-affiliated faculty, and taking the lead on external grant proposals to secure funding for research projects.

Additional responsibilities include engaging in service efforts at C-SoDA and in collaboration with the Social Science Research Institute to support researchers and students working with cutting-edge quantitative methods. Service for C-SoDA will also involve managing graduate student researchers, assisting C-SoDA-affiliated researchers in utilizing high-performance computing resources on campus, and contributing to the center's administrative tasks and grant proposal preparations.

A PhD in Political Science or related field is required by the appointment date. In addition, successful candidates must either have demonstrated a commitment to building an inclusive, equitable, and diverse campus community, or describe one or more ways they would envision doing so, given the opportunity.

Penn State scholars participate extensively in the intellectual life of the Center, including opportunities to attend seminars and workshops and present research results. Salary is competitive, with additional funds available for travel and research.

To apply, submit a cover letter explaining research and any administrative experience, a current CV, and two samples of scholarly writing.

System limitations allow for a total of 5 documents (5mb per document) as part of your application. Please combine materials to meet the 5-document limit.

Additionally, please arrange for three confidential letters of reference to be sent directly to plsapplications@psu.edu. Application review will begin immediately and continue until the position is filled.

This non-tenure-line position is a full-time, term appointment, with an excellent possibility of renewal.

For more information on C-SoDA, please visit <https://soda.la.psu.edu/>.

Penn State offers competitive benefits to full-time employees, including medical, dental, vision, and retirement plans, in addition to 75% tuition discounts (including for a spouse and dependent children up to the age of 26) and paid holidays. Please visit <https://hr.psu.edu/benefits>.

The College of the Liberal Arts is committed to offering professional growth and promotional opportunities for non-tenure-line faculty appointments. Information on faculty ranks and progression can be found at <https://policy.psu.edu/policies/ac21>.

Penn State is committed to and accountable for advancing diversity, equity, and inclusion in all of its forms. We embrace individual uniqueness, foster a culture of inclusion that supports both broad and specific diversity initiatives, leverage the educational and institutional benefits of diversity, and engage all individuals to help them thrive. We value inclusion as a core strength and an essential element of our public service mission.

To apply, please visit https://psu.wd1.myworkdayjobs.com/PSU_Academic/job/Penn-State-University-Park/Assistant-Research-Professor--Center-for-Social-Data-Analytics_REQ_0000058029-1.

To review the Annual Security Report which contains information about crime statistics and other safety and security matters and policies, please go to <https://www.police.psu.edu/annual-security-reports>, which will also explain how to request a paper copy of the Annual Security Report.

Penn State is an equal opportunity, affirmative action employer, and is committed to providing employment opportunities to all qualified applicants without regard to race, color, religion, age, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability or protected veteran status.

Start Date:
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 7/18/2024
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 14507

Rice University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

The Department of Political Science at Rice University, located in Houston, Texas, invites applications for a tenure-track position to begin July 1, 2025. The appointment will be made at the rank of assistant professor. Assistant professors are expected to teach undergraduate and graduate courses, perform research in their specialized area, and contribute to university service. Successful candidates will have a promising research agenda and very strong quantitative research skills as well as aspire to the highest standards of scholarship, professional activity, and commitment to graduate and undergraduate education.

We are particularly interested in candidates whose research interests and expertise lie in the study of democratic representation, mass political behavior, elite behavior and/or political institutions. Successful candidates will have advanced skills in quantitative research methods. Candidates must currently have a Ph.D. or complete the Ph.D. by July 1, 2025.

Rice University and the Department of Political Science are committed to building and sustaining an inclusive, diverse environment for our faculty, staff, and students. We especially encourage applications from individuals who are underrepresented in academia, including people of color, LGBTQIA+ people, women, and people with disabilities. We strive to counter prejudice actively and to create a working environment that is inclusive and equitable.

The application deadline is September 15, 2024. A complete application must include a letter of application; a curriculum vitae; research, teaching, and DEI statements; graduate school transcripts; two writing samples; evidence of teaching effectiveness; and three letters of recommendation (applicants must provide contact information for three references who will be contacted automatically for letters of recommendation). All applications should be submitted electronically at <http://apply.interfolio.com/150044>.

Start Date: Summer 2025

Application Deadline: 9/15/2024

Date Posted: 7/18/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14511

Ohio Wesleyan University

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor of Data Analytics

Ohio Wesleyan University invites applications for a one-year Visiting Assistant Professor position in Data Analytics to begin in August 2024.

OWU's interdisciplinary Data Analytics program is grounded in the Liberal Arts tradition: Students take courses from across the academic divisions, and also take a sequence of specialized courses in one of a number of cognate disciplines, such as Economics, Psychology, Neuroscience, Sociology, Anthropology, Computer Science, Physics, or Biology. Hence, we welcome applications from all academic disciplines provided that the applicant has deep experience analyzing data in their chosen field.

Ideal candidates will have interest and experience in teaching and mentoring students of all backgrounds, including those underrepresented in the field. Candidates should also be able to effectively teach courses in which student skills vary widely.

The individual in this position will teach three courses each semester. This will include Introduction to Data Analytics, a popular course that introduces students to analyzing data and applying data software.

Depending on the successful candidate's background, this position also provides the opportunity to teach upper-level Data Analytics courses, including a course on data visualization, a course on ethical considerations relating to data analytics, and/or a course on data analytics methods. As an instructor in the Data Analytics program, you will have the opportunity to shape a growing interdisciplinary program at Ohio Wesleyan and teach practical skills critical to student success. You will also have the opportunity to participate in OWU's Summer Science Research Program, through which you can mentor undergraduate students in an immersive undergraduate research program. Ohio Wesleyan does not offer online (remote/distance) courses during the academic year.

Qualifications

A PhD degree (completed or expected) in Data Science, Statistics, Mathematics, Computer Science, a quantitative social science discipline, or a related field, and significant experience in data analytics. Alternatively, a Master's degree with two or more years of working and teaching experience.

Capable of teaching introductory courses in Data Analytics

Highly proficient in a data analysis software

Preferred Qualifications

Capable of teaching upper-level courses in Data Analytics including Data Visualization & Presentation, Methods in Data Analytics, and Social, Ethical, and Cultural Impacts of Big Data.

Experience using R and/or Python to analyze data

Experience with SQL or a similar querying language.

Application Requirements

Cover Letter: A short letter addressing the areas mentioned in the advertisement.

Curriculum vita

Teaching Statement: A statement articulating your teaching philosophy. Please address your ability to teach a wide range of courses and employ a variety of pedagogical techniques to reach students from different backgrounds.

DEI statement: A statement that describes your experience and/or approach to supporting students from underrepresented groups, including examples of ways in which you have intentionally addressed diversity, equity, and inclusion in your classroom.

Transcripts of graduate work (unofficial acceptable for initial application).

Three references. Letters of recommendation will be required from these three references later for applicants that advance in the selection process. One of these letters must address teaching.

Syllabus from a course relevant to Data Analytics that you've taught previously (optional).

Additional documents may be requested.

Please submit all materials using the OWU web page for job openings. Additional materials may be requested at a later time and can be sent directly to facultyjobs@owu.edu. Please make sure to include "Data Analytics" in the subject line. Applications will be reviewed as they are received.

About Ohio Wesleyan

Located in the Columbus, Ohio metropolitan area, Ohio Wesleyan is a selective residential liberal arts college enrolling approximately 1,500 students from across the nation and around the world. The college's signature program, the OWU Connection, is designed to integrate student knowledge across disciplines, consider diverse and global perspectives, and teach students to apply their knowledge in real-world settings. Ohio Wesleyan is featured in the book Colleges That Change Lives and was recently listed as the No. 1 liberal arts college in Ohio for social mobility by U.S. News and World Report. OWU is located in Delaware, OH, a lively college town just 30 minutes from Columbus, the 14th most populous city in the United States and part of the fastest growing, most economically vibrant area of the Midwest. Columbus, known increasingly as the "Silicon Midwest," was named by LinkedIn as one of the top 10 U.S. cities in which to launch your career.

To achieve our mission, we continually strive to foster a diverse, inclusive, and anti-racist campus community, which celebrates the value of all persons regardless of race, ethnicity, gender, color, gender identity and/or expression, sexual orientation, family configuration, disability, socioeconomic status, religion, national origin, age or military status. OWU is an equal opportunity institution and seeks applications from individuals who will help us honor and strengthen our commitments to diversity, equity, and inclusion.

Note: Employment sponsorship is not available for this position. Applicants must be currently authorized to work in the United States. Ohio Wesleyan is not an E-Verify institution.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/15/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14491

Massachusetts Institute of Technology

Rank: Assistant/Associate/Full Professor

The Massachusetts Institute of Technology (MIT) Department of Political Science in Cambridge MA invites applications for a full-time tenure-track faculty position in Political Methodology, open as to rank, effective July 1st, 2025, or as soon thereafter as possible. Responsibilities include research, graduate and undergraduate teaching, and student research supervision. Applicants should have a PhD degree in Political Science or a related field by start of employment. MIT is an Equal Employment Opportunity employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment and will not be discriminated against on the basis of race, color, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, religion, disability, age, genetic information, veteran status, ancestry, or national or ethnic origin. Applications should include a cover letter which addresses your research agenda and teaching interests. Also include a CV, writing sample(s), and three recommendations. Please submit online applications to <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/27780> and <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/27780>. Completed applications must be submitted by September 15th, 2024.

Employment is contingent upon the completion of a satisfactory background check.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 9/15/2024

Date Posted: 6/18/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14424

Purdue University

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Association AI and Political Science

Subfield(s): Open, Methodology, Public Policy

Postdoctoral Research Associate, Artificial Intelligence, Political Science

Job Summary

The Department of Political Science seeks a two-year postdoctoral researcher to assist with projects, papers, and grant proposals in the Governance and Responsible AI Lab (GRAIL) and the Computational Social Science Lab (CSS). The postdoctoral fellow will be mentored in research and proposal writing by faculty directors of the labs and participate in an active research community in Political Science and the College of Liberal Arts.

For information about the labs, please see the following websites:

GRAIL: <https://cla.purdue.edu/academic/polsci/research/labs/grail/index.html>

CSS: <https://cla.purdue.edu/academic/polsci/research/labs/computational-social-science-lab/index.html>

The start date is negotiable, but must fall between August 1, 2024 and January 1, 2025. The position is at Purdue's main campus in West Lafayette, Indiana.

Qualifications

A PhD in Political Science, Public Policy, or a closely related field is required. ABDs will be considered but the successful candidate must provide evidence of completion of all requirements for the PhD prior to the start date of the position. Qualified candidates must have strong skills in writing, quantitative data analysis, data visualization, and research methods. Candidates must have experience managing research projects and a record of successful collaboration. Candidates must also have evidence of a research pipeline related to the aims of GRAIL and the CSS Lab.

About Purdue University

In recent years, the College of Liberal Arts at Purdue University has hired a large group of faculty in the area of artificial intelligence (AI), broadly construed. Representing a variety of disciplines in the College, this cohort of scholars expands our capacity to explore the implications of AI development across multiple domains and contribute to disciplinary and interdisciplinary research and educational initiatives surrounding AI in new and important ways.

Political Science is home to 28 faculty and more than 40 PhD students, visiting scholars, and post-docs. Purdue University is a member of the AAU and a land grant university with enrollment of over 52,000 students. The campus is located in West Lafayette, Indiana, an area with a favorable cost of living and a vibrant local community. Purdue University offers high-quality research and computing facilities with many opportunities for collaboration in Centers and Institutes across campus and in the broader region. Purdue University is building world-leading programs in AI, including a new Institute for Physical Artificial Intelligence.

Computational Social Science (CSS) Lab at Purdue University

Under the direction of Dr. Bryce J. Dietrich, the Computational Social Science Lab (CSS) was established to promote the application and development of computational methods to large, typically complex, human, and behavioral data. CSS has received coverage both on and off campus for its "revolutionary" approach to social science research, especially its novel use of text, audio, and video data. The lab comprises an interdisciplinary team of undergraduate and graduate students, faculty, and postdoctoral fellows.

Dr. Bryce J. Dietrich joined the faculty at Purdue University in the Fall of 2022. His research uses novel quantitative, automated, and machine learning methods to analyze non-traditional data sources such as audio (or speech) data and video data. His work has appeared in prominent journals like the American Political Science Review, Journal of Politics, Nature Human Behavior, Political Analysis, and Political Psychology. In addition to securing external awards from the NIH and NSF, his work has also been covered by prominent media outlets like The Washington Post, The Economist and National Public Radio (NPR). His most recent work using C-SPAN has looked at gender and social dynamics on the floor of the U.S. House of Representatives.

Governance and Responsible AI Lab (GRAIL) at Purdue University

The Governance and Responsible AI Lab (GRAIL), co-directed by Dr. Daniel S. Schiff and Dr. Kaylyn Jackson Schiff, conducts research on the social, ethical, and governance implications of artificial intelligence and other emerging technologies. GRAIL consists of an interdisciplinary team of faculty, graduate students, and undergraduate students and produces rigorous, policy-relevant work on AI supported by funding from the National Institute of Justice and Google. The lab's research explores topics such as the political impacts of deepfakes, emerging legislation and regulation related to AI, use of AI in government and law enforcement, and public and elite opinion on AI. GRAIL is a member of the National Institute of Standards and Technology's AI Safety Institute Consortium and an affiliate of Purdue's Institute for Physical Artificial Intelligence.

Dr. Daniel S. Schiff studies the formal and informal governance of AI through policy and industry, as well as AI's social and ethical implications in domains like education, manufacturing, finance, and criminal justice. Daniel previously served as the founding Responsible AI Lead at JP Morgan Chase & Co. and as the Secretary of the IEEE 7010-2020 standard, the first AI ethics industry standard. His research has been published in prominent interdisciplinary venues such as Policy Studies Journal, the American Political Science Review, AI & Society, and the International Journal of AI in Education.

Dr. Kaylyn Jackson Schiff conducts research on how technological developments are changing citizen-government contact and explores implications for service provision, misinformation, policing, education, and government use of artificial intelligence. Her research has won the award for best dissertation in the field of public administration from the American Political Science Association and the Journal of Politics best paper award. Her work has been published in top journals such as the American Political Science Review, Public Administration Review, Policy Studies Journal, and Nature Human Behavior.

Application Procedures

To apply, please visit <https://careers.purdue.edu/> position number 32237. Applications must be submitted online and include: 1) Cover letter of interest that includes a statement describing how the applicant's research fits the principal duties and qualifications of the position, 2) Curriculum Vitae, and 3) Recent research paper or other writing sample related to the position description. Candidates who advance in the review process may be asked to provide letters of recommendation and transcripts.

Screening of applicants will begin on July 15th, 2024, and will continue until the position is filled. A background check is required for employment in this position. For additional information, contact Dr. Bryce J. Dietrich at bjdietri@purdue.edu.

Purdue University is an EOE/AA employer. All individuals, including minorities, women, individuals with disabilities, and veterans are encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/17/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14420

University of North Carolina, Pembroke

Rank: Assistant Professor of Public Administration focus on Emergency Management

Subfield(s): Public Administration, Other, Methodology

Assistant Professor of Public Administration with focus on Emergency Management

The Department of Political Science and Public Administration at the University of North Carolina, Pembroke seeks an assistant professor of public administration with the ability to teach in the area of emergency management. This position will be responsible for teaching a mix of courses in emergency management and public administration at the graduate level, methodology courses at the graduate and undergraduate level, and at least one of our general education courses (Introduction to Political Science, American National Government, or State and Local Government and Administration).

The area of teaching and research specialization is open. Preferences will be given to candidates who are focused clearly on the administration side of the discipline, those who have a record of teaching courses in emergency management, and to those who can teach methodology. Preferences will also be given to candidates who show how their research may connect and enhance community resiliency through emergency preparation at all government levels. Successful candidates must show excellence in both online teaching as well as in the traditional classroom since this position will require the candidate to consistently teach in both learning platforms. While the teaching load for the university is 4-4, course release time is provided for those who teach graduate courses. The expected teaching for this position is three to five graduate courses each year and one or more undergraduate course each year, with most courses offered on a predictable rotation.

UNCP is a regional university serving rural North Carolina that emphasizes excellence in teaching. The Department of Political Science and Public Administration serves several programs including a B.A. program with four different concentrations and a Master of Public Administration program with four different concentrations. Additionally, the department actively contributes to a growing B.I.S. program in Public and Non-profit Management and Administration. Courses for the department are offered both on campus and in online formats.

To be considered for this position, candidates must hold a Ph.D. in public administration, emergency management, or a closely related field, or be ABD with a clear date of completion. To apply, applicants must complete the application for employment form found at <https://jobs.uncp.edu> where they will be instructed to submit a CV, a writing sample, and a teaching portfolio that demonstrates competence in online teaching and in person, as well as past course evaluations (if applicable). Candidates who are selected after the first round of consideration will be asked to submit three letters of recommendation for consideration. For questions, please contact the chair of the department, Dr. Emily Sharum (emily.sharum@uncp.edu).

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/10/2024

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 14406

Universidad Torcuato Di Tella

Rank: Assistant Professor, Associate Professor

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Methodology

The Department of Political Science and International Studies at Universidad Torcuato Di Tella (UTDT) seeks candidates for two tenure-track assistant professor positions in Comparative Politics and International Relations, with an expected (but negotiable) start date of March 2025. Very strong candidates at the associate level will also be considered. We are open with respect to substantive subfield, theoretical orientation, and methodological approach. Regional expertise in regions other than Latin America (e.g., East, South, or Southeast Asia, Western or Eastern Europe, the Middle East or North America) is a plus, as is the ability to teach courses on research design, data science/statistics, and/or causal inference. Candidates are expected to demonstrate a strong commitment to research and to teaching and mentoring students. The teaching load is three courses per year. Most courses are taught in Spanish, although a growing number are offered in English. The position includes a research fund and a year's sabbatical (at full salary) every six years.

Duties will include teaching assigned courses in Comparative Politics and/or International Relations at both the undergraduate and graduate levels, conducting research, writing for publication in high-quality academic venues, advising students, participating in department governance, and university service.

Qualifications: Ph.D. in Political Science or related disciplines (ABD candidates will also be considered) and a demonstrated record of excellence in research and teaching. Proficiency in both Spanish and English is required. Questions should be directed to Professor Carlos Gervasoni, Chair of the Department of Political Science and International Studies, at cgervasoni@utdt.edu.

To apply please visit https://utdt.hiringroom.com/jobs/get_vacancy/665727a62994ec85980166a0, by August 30, 2024 (applications received after this date will continue to be reviewed until the positions are filled). The required documents include a cover letter, CV, a research statement, a teaching statement, a writing sample, and the names and email addresses of 3 references (letters of reference will be required of short-listed finalists).

Universidad Torcuato Di Tella is a private research university located in Buenos Aires, Argentina. Our Department is consistently ranked as one of the best in Latin America in terms of reputation and research excellence. Our guiding principles are academic excellence, pluralism of ideas and equal opportunity. UTDT is committed to creating a diverse community of students, faculty, and staff, following the principles of equal opportunity and treatment in education and employment, regardless of national origin, race, color, ethnicity, religion, political ideology, age, sex, sexual orientation, or gender identity. The university encourages applications of individuals from historically underrepresented groups who will further enrich the diversity of our educational community. We welcome applications from all nationalities. Approximately 25% of the Department's research professors are foreigners. For further information about Universidad Torcuato Di Tella and our department, please visit: <https://www.utdt.edu/>.

Start Date: Spring 2025

Application Deadline: 8/30/2024

Date Posted: 6/5/2024

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 14404

Dartmouth College

Rank: Data Scientist

These positions will be shared with the Economics and QSS departments and will serve all the social sciences. The new staff members will help students and faculty with computational and statistical research. Among the tasks they will likely perform are:

- Hosting quarterly tutorials in Stata and R for students
- Working with faculty in classes using quantitative methods (e.g., Gov 12, Data Visualization, Experiments in Politics, etc.)
- Helping honors students with data analysis and visualization
- Helping faculty scrape, clean, prepare and analyze data
- Helping faculty with data visualizations and slides

More details here: <https://searchjobs.dartmouth.edu/postings/73875/>

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 5/22/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14364

American University of Sharjah

Rank: Postdoctoral Associate

Subfield(s): Methodology, Comparative Politics, Open

Specializations: Quantitative Methods, Political Behavior, Middle East

The Department of International Studies at the American University of Sharjah (AUS), United Arab Emirates, is seeking a highly motivated and enthusiastic Postdoctoral Associate to work with Dr. Bethany Shockley and her US-based collaborator, Dr. Yuree Noh on an experimental study of egalitarianism in the UAE and Tunisia. The anticipated appointment is expected to start on September 1, 2024 and end on May 30, 2025.

The ideal candidate will play an integral role in supporting the collection and analysis of experimental data on the opinions of nationals and non-national residents in the UAE. Specifically, the individual will work with the AUS-based team of graduate and undergraduate assistants to conduct lab and survey experiments under the direction of Dr. Bethany Shockley and Dr. Yuree Noh. It is expected that the postdoctoral scholar will join the team in actively publishing research findings and presenting research.

Qualifications and Skills Required:

The applicant needs to have obtained a PhD in political science or related fields such as economics, psychology, or sociology with research experience. The successful applicant will have excellent quantitative methods skills with an emphasis on lab and/or survey experiments. The position is open to applicants with topical knowledge in areas such as public opinion, populism, migration studies, gender & politics, authoritarianism, and state-society relations. Prior experience in the Arab Gulf region and knowledge of Arabic will also be considered favorably but are not required.

This position is based in Sharjah, UAE, and the selected candidate must be willing to relocate. Sharjah is a diverse and multicultural city, only 25 minutes from Dubai. The terms of employment are competitive. Applications will be reviewed immediately, and candidates will be considered until the position is filled. You are welcome to contact Dr. Bethany Shockley bshockley@aus.edu or Dr. Yuree Noh yuree.noh@gmail.com at with any questions about the position.

The application is to include the following:

- A curriculum vitae with a full publication list.
- A cover letter with a statement of research interests, a writing sample and 2 letters of references.

To apply, please visit: <https://www.aus.edu/employment/postdoctoral-research-assistant-college-of-arts-and-sciences>

AUS is an equal opportunity employer. We adhere to a policy of making employment decisions without regard to race, color, age, gender, religion, national origin, disability or marital status. Opportunities for employment are based solely upon one's qualifications.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 4/2/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 13294

NON-ACADEMIC

OPEN

Brigham Young University

Rank: Political Science Faculty

Required Degree: Ph.D. in political science or related field by start date.

Duties/Expectations: The appointment would begin in Fall 2025. Successful candidates will demonstrate potential for high-quality teaching, have a strong research agenda, and be committed to giving the university's students a sound academic experience. Salary, teaching load, and research and travel support are competitive.

The department invites applications for a CFS-track position and a visiting position. The CFS-Professorial track position may be filled with visiting faculty. (Non-CFS-Professorial).

Brigham Young University is an equal opportunity employer. All faculty are required to abide by the university's honor code and dress and grooming standards. Preference is given to qualified candidates who are members in good standing of the affiliated church, The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints. All new employees who are members of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints will be required to hold and be worthy to hold a current temple recommend.

BYU is committed to hiring faculty members who enthusiastically embrace and energetically advance its unique mission. To this end, please include a one-page mission alignment statement as part of your application that addresses how you might, as a BYU faculty member: (1) live a life of loyalty to Jesus Christ and His restored Church and align yourself with doctrines and teachings declared by living prophets, seers, and revelators; (2) demonstrate intentionality in building faith in Jesus Christ and testimony of His restored gospel among students and others in the BYU community; and (3) teach your subject matter with the Spirit of God and strive to keep it "bathed in the light and color of the restored gospel" (Spencer W. Kimball).

To apply, go to <https://yjobs.byu.edu/> and search for Job ID 132783. Fill out the application and attach your Mission Alignment Statement, updated Curriculum Vitae, and cover letter. Please list the individual contact information for each of your three recommenders on the faculty application. At some point during the selection process, they may be contacted to submit their letters of reference electronically. In addition, please send graduate transcript and at least two samples of scholarly work to: Jay Goodliffe, Chair, Department of Political Science, Brigham Young University, 745 KMBL, Provo, Utah 84602. Phone: 801-422-9136 Email: goodliffe@byu.edu

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 9/1/2024

Date Posted: 8/1/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14571

American University

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Impact Fellow

The Translating Research into Action Center (TRAC) and the Research on International Policy Implementation Lab (RIPIL) at American University (AU) invite applications for a full-time, one-year Postdoctoral Research Impact Fellow, with the possibility of renewal for an additional year. We are looking for postdoctoral fellowship applicants who have completed their doctoral degree in political science, international relations, sociology, economics, public health, education policy, or a related discipline. We especially encourage applications from individuals from sectors of the population historically underrepresented on the professorial faculties of U.S. colleges and universities. The position will ideally begin on September 15, 2024, though the start date is negotiable.

We welcome applicants who possess a deep interest in understanding how and when research and evidence can have a positive societal impact. In particular, applicants should be interested in understanding the pathways through which evidence may influence domestic and international policies and practices. Professional skills supporting success in this role include strong project management skills, strong networking skills, experience working across multiple disciplines, experience designing training curricula, strong primary data collection skills, and quantitative and qualitative data analysis skills. Candidates should be enthusiastic about working in a team committed to improving the impact of scholarship on today's most challenging policy problems.

TRAC is funded by a grant from the US National Science Foundation's (NSF) Accelerating Research Translation (ART) program. This project aims to foster greater use of evidence in the public and private sectors by producing new knowledge on best practices in research translation, training scholars in the effective conduct of research translation, supporting the dissemination of research findings that have the potential to benefit society, building institutional capacity at American University for promoting research translation, and cultivating a culture of research translation at American University and other institutions of higher education.

Remote work is possible. The postdoctoral fellow will work directly with Provost Associate Professor and Director of RIPIL, Susanna Campbell. Tasks will focus on supporting the development of a research repository on translational research; supporting convening and networking among other NSF grantees, universities, foundations, and research institutes; and conducting descriptive and inferential research on practices and methods of research translation.

Applicants should hold a PhD or the highest equivalent degree in a relevant discipline by the start date. Annual salary: $70,000 including benefits. Review of applications will begin on August 19, 2024 and will continue until the position is filled.

Applications should be submitted through Workday (https://american.wd1.myworkdayjobs.com/AU/job/Main-Campus-Washington-DC/Postdoctoral-Research-Impact-Fellow_R1425) and should include the following:

- Cover letter
- Curriculum vitae
- Sample publication(s)
- Brief research statement including research agenda
- Brief diversity, equity, and inclusion (DEI) statement
- Please do not submit references when submitting your application. You may be contacted later in the review process to submit references.

Queries about the search may be sent to Christina Harris, Program Manager, RIPIL (ch3629a@american.edu). Queries about the online application system may be sent to SIS faculty affairs manager Alissa Iwaniuk (aiwaniuk@american.edu).

American University is a private institution of higher education in the nation's capital (Please visit www.american.edu for more information). American University's School of International Service (SIS) is a top-ten school of international affairs with 3,000 students, 120+ full-time faculty and more than 20,000 alumni worldwide. SIS faculty produce transformational research and our prime location provides opportunities for collaboration with professionals in government, the private sector, and think tanks and other non-profits. Learn more about SIS at www.american.edu/sis.

American University is an equal opportunity, affirmative action institution that operates in compliance with applicable laws and regulations. The university does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, national origin, religion, sex (including pregnancy), age, sexual orientation, disability, marital status, personal appearance, gender identity and expression, family responsibilities, political affiliation, source of income, veteran status, an individual's genetic information or any other bases under federal or local laws (collectively "Protected Bases") in its programs and activities.

American University is a tobacco and smoke free campus.

Hiring offers for this position are contingent on the successful completion of a background check.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/31/2024

Salary: $70,000 - $79,999

eJobs ID: 14566

University of Michigan, Ann Arbor

Rank: ASST, ASSOC Professor of Political Science

The University of Michigan's Department of Political Science seeks outstanding early-career or new associate professors to join our faculty through the 2024 LSA Collegiate Fellows Program (LCFP) whose teaching and mentoring, AND/OR, research and scholarship, AND/OR service and engagement will contribute to our interconnected goals of excellence, diversity, equity, and inclusion. We encourage applicants from a wide range of institution types as we seek to diversify where we hire from.

The LSA Collegiate Fellows Program aims to recruit and hire exceptional early career faculty at two levels: as postdoctoral fellows/tenure-track assistant professors and early-in-rank tenured associate professors in the Department of Political Science:

Political Science applications are due Tuesday, September 10, 2024, at 11:59 p.m. ET, with reference letters due Thursday, September 12, 2024, by 11:59 p.m. ET.

The LSA Collegiate Fellows Program was launched in 2016 as a major college initiative aimed at promoting an intellectually rich and inclusive scholarly environment, recruiting and retaining exceptional early career faculty scholars, and supporting these outstanding scholars who are committed to working with college colleagues to build a diverse, equitable scholarly and learning community. The program is administered by U-M's National Center for Institutional Diversity (NCID) in conjunction with LSA academic departments.

Postdoctoral Fellow/Assistant Professor Rank:

The early-career program provides either one to two years of postdoctoral fellowship support with tenure-track assistant professors offers to follow the fellowship period or immediate tenure-track appointments in LSA departments. Successful candidates will receive dedicated research time, mentorship, research and travel funding, and cohort- and program-based professional development opportunities related to scholarship and teaching.

Associate Professor Rank:

The associate professor program seeks to hire early-in-rank associate professors or scholars in the year they are seeking promotion to associate rank. In their first year, successful candidates will participate in a cohort-based professional development program designed to support DEI leadership in their service and administrative roles.

Eligibility:

Applicants must apply through the application portal in order to be considered for the Collegiate Fellows Program (linked below). A list of participating departments/units, eligibility requirements, and crucial application information can be found at <https://ncid.umich.edu/initiatives/lsa-collegiate-fellowship-program/>. Inquiries may be directed to lsacollegiate@umich.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 9/12/2024

Date Posted: 7/31/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14564

The University of Texas at Austin

Rank: Distinguished Visiting Professor

The School of Civic Leadership (SCL) at The University of Texas at Austin (UT Austin) invites applications for a one-year distinguished visiting professor positions at the full professor level. The position is open to a scholars from a broad range of disciplines whose work is in one or more of SCL's core areas: 1) History of Philosophy, History of Political Thought; 2) Constitutional Studies: Law, History, and Theory; and 3) Economic Opportunity and Dynamism.

Considering the responsibility public institutions of higher education have to prepare students for leadership in a free society, the University of Texas System Board of Regents established the School of Civic Leadership at UT Austin in 2023. Building on the strengths of the Civitas Institute, the School of Civic Leadership is an interdisciplinary school whose dual mission is to equip students with the knowledge and aptitudes necessary to lead in a free society, and to produce academic research at the highest levels of scholarly excellence.

The school offers a minor in Philosophy, Politics, and Economics (PPE) in collaboration with the College of Liberal Arts and will launch a new Civics Honors major and Civics minor in the 2025-26 academic year.

The School of Civic Leadership invites applicants to submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, and list of three academic references. (References do not need to submit full letters at this stage.) Cover letters should give a brief overview of the candidate's research agenda, highlight areas of teaching competence, and concisely describe how the candidate would contribute to developing the school.

Review of applications will begin on September 15.
<https://apply.interfolio.com/149476>

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/30/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14558

The University of Texas at Austin

Rank: Larry R. Faulkner Distinguished Professorship

The School of Civic Leadership (SCL) at The University of Texas at Austin invites applications for the Larry R. Faulkner Distinguished Professorship. The position is open to a scholars from a broad range of disciplines whose work is in one or more of SCL's core areas: 1) History of Philosophy, History of Political Thought; 2) Constitutional Studies: Law, History, and Theory; and 3) Economic Opportunity and Dynamism.

Considering the responsibility public institutions of higher education have to prepare students for leadership in a free society, the University of Texas System Board of Regents established the School of Civic Leadership at UT Austin in 2023. SCL is interdisciplinary school whose dual mission is to equip students with the knowledge and aptitudes necessary to lead in a free society, and to produce academic research at the highest levels of scholarly excellence.

The school offers a minor in Philosophy, Politics, and Economics (PPE) in collaboration with the College of Liberal Arts and will launch a new Civics Honors major and Civics minor in the 2025-26 academic year.

The School of Civic Leadership invites applicants to submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, and list of three academic references. (References do not need to submit full letters at this stage.) Cover letters should give a brief overview of the candidate's research agenda, highlight areas of teaching competence, and concisely describe how the candidate would contribute to developing the School of Civic Leadership. Ideal candidates will (1) have excellent records of scholarship with robust research agendas, (2) provide evidence of exceptional teaching, and (3) show a readiness to contribute to the intellectual life, governance, and programmatic development of the school.

Review of applications will begin on September 15.

<https://apply.interfolio.com/149473>

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/30/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14557

University of Calgary

Rank: Mark Grosjean Post-doctoral Fellowship in Political Science

Mark Grosjean Postdoctoral Fellowship in Political Science

Location: Calgary, Alberta, Canada.

Application Deadline: November 1, 2024.

Fellowship Start: Between May 1 and September 1, 2025.

Job Description: Postdoctoral Fellow in the Department of Political Science at the University of Calgary.

Position Summary: During the period of the Fellowship, the successful candidate must carry out a program of independent research, be an active, in-person, full-time participant in official departmental functions and events where possible, and disseminate the research undertaken during the Fellowship in a public forum in Calgary, Alberta, Canada.

Salary: CAN $70,000 per year, plus specified Postdoctoral Associate Group Benefits, plus a CAN $6,000 research stipend.

Qualifications: Applicants must have earned their PhD in political science less than 4 years before the start date of the position in any given competition year.

Eligibility: Unrestricted citizenship. Applicants working in any area of political science are eligible. Fellows must be in residence at UCalgary, unless required by occasional research trips. Applicants must not simultaneously hold another postdoctoral fellowship or any other full-time position.

Minimum Education/Experience: Applicants must have earned their PhD in political science less than 4 years before the start date of the position in any given competition year.

More Information or To Apply: <https://arts.ucalgary.ca/grosjean-fellowship>

Email: Grosjean.Fellowship@UCalgary.ca

Start Date: Summer 2025

Application Deadline: 11/1/2024

Date Posted: 7/24/2024

Salary: $70,000 - $79,999

eJobs ID: 14530

Texas A&M University

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of Political Science, Bush School of Government & Public Service at Texas A&M University (<http://bush.tamu.edu/pols>) is recruiting for two (2) tenure-track (Assistant Professor) full-time, nine-month positions which are open with respect to subfields. Successful candidates will be expected to carry out a vigorous program of research and actively contribute to undergraduate and graduate teaching, and service to the profession. Strong research and teaching interests across traditional subfields of political science will be highly valued. The starting date for this position is fall 2025. The Bush School of Government and Public Service at Texas A&M University in College Station, Texas was founded in 1997 under President George H. W. Bush's philosophy that "public service is a noble calling." <https://bush.tamu.edu/>

This position requires a Ph.D. in political science or a related field. All appointees are expected to be committed to teaching and research of the highest quality.

Applicants should submit the following materials electronically through Interfolio at apply.interfolio.com/147939: 1) cover letter (Letter of Interest (referencing research agenda and teaching interests)) 2) curriculum vitae, 3) personal statement, (The statement should include your philosophy and plans for research, teaching and service), 4) writing sample (You may provide unpublished works or works in progress if you have not published, 5) three (3) confidential letters of recommendation requested through applicant's Interfolio account, and 6) provide contact information for two additional professional references. Salary is competitive and will be commensurate with qualifications and experience.

The review of applications will begin on September 1, 2024, and will continue until the positions are filled.

Questions regarding this position should be sent to Carrie Kilpatrick at carriek@tamu.edu.

Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action/Veterans/Disability Employer.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/18/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14508

Hebrew University of Jerusalem

Rank: Tenure Track Position - Gender and International Relations (Open Rank)

Specializations: Gender Politics & Policy, Women & Politics, Conflict Processes

The Department of International Relations at the Hebrew University of Jerusalem is seeking to fill the Leonard and Sophie Davis Lecture-ship in Gender, Conflict Resolution, and Peace, beginning fall 2025. We welcome applicants at all academic ranks.

The candidate for this endowed position is expected to have a proven record of excellence in cutting-edge research and teaching in Gender and International Relations with an emphasis on Gender, Conflict Resolution, and Peace, and is expected to take on a leadership role in the development of research and teaching on Gender and IR at the Hebrew University of Jerusalem.

We encourage applications from scholars of all epistemological and methodological approaches to the study of gender. We especially seek candidates who can complement the strengths of our department in other areas of International Relations. Candidates should be able to conduct research, teach undergraduate and graduate-level classes, as well as mentor students. Advanced doctoral candidates are expected to have their dissertation approved no later than October 1st 2025.

The language of teaching at the Hebrew University of Jerusalem is Hebrew, though some courses are taught in English. New faculty members are expected to be able to teach in Hebrew within a few years following their arrival.

The deadline for applications is 15 September 2024. Candidates selected by the Department of International Relations require the approval of the Faculty of Social Sciences. The Department of International Relations and the Hebrew University are committed to diversity and equal opportunity. These issues are considered in hiring deliberations.

Please submit all application materials electronically at: <http://tp.huji.ac.il/>

The applicants will be asked to upload:

- A cover letter stating willingness to begin teaching at The Hebrew University of Jerusalem in the fall of 2025;
- A list of required and elective courses that can be taught at The Hebrew University of Jerusalem;
- A scientific biography outlining research orientation and plans for the coming years;
- A Curriculum Vitae, including teaching experience;
- Three writing samples;
- Teaching evaluations, if available

Three letters of recommendation should be sent directly according to the guidelines on the application website.

For questions regarding the search, please contact Prof. Piki Ish-Shalom, piki.ish-shalom@mail.huji.ac.il

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 9/15/2024

Date Posted: 7/15/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14435

Texas A&M University

Rank: Associate/Full Professor

The Department of Political Science, Bush School of Government & Public Service at Texas A&M University (<http://bush.tamu.edu/pols>) is recruiting 4 tenured full-time, nine-month positions which are open with respect to subfields. This search is for the rank of Associate or Full Professor. Successful candidates will be expected to carry out a vigorous program of research and actively contribute to undergraduate and graduate teaching, and service to the profession. Strong research and teaching interests across traditional subfields of political science will be highly valued. A Ph.D. is required. The expected starting date for this position is August 1, 2025. The Bush School of Government and Public Service at Texas A&M University in College Station, Texas was founded in 1997 under President George H. W. Bush's philosophy that "public service is a noble calling." <https://bush.tamu.edu/>

This position requires a Ph.D. in political science or a related field. All appointees are expected to be committed to teaching and research of the highest quality.

Applicants should submit the following materials electronically through Interfolio at apply.interfolio.com/147945 1) cover letter 2) curriculum vitae, 3) personal statement, (your statement should include your philosophy and plans for teaching), 4) provide contact information for five professional references. Salary is competitive and will be commensurate with qualifications and experience.

The review of applications will begin on September 1, 2024, and will continue until the positions are filled.

Questions regarding this position should be sent to Carrie Kilpatrick at carriek@tamu.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/15/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14497

Hebrew University of Jerusalem

Rank: Tenure Track Position

The Department of Political Science at The Hebrew University of Jerusalem invites applications for a tenure-track position (open rank), beginning fall 2025. We welcome applications from outstanding candidates with a record of excellence in research in all fields of political science. We currently have a particular interest in researchers working on Israeli politics from an institutional, public policy & administration, or comparative politics perspective. However, scholars specializing in other fields of political science are also welcome to apply. Both junior and senior researchers, holding a PhD in political science or a closely related discipline, are encouraged to apply. Candidates are expected to have their dissertation approved no later than June 30th 2025.

The Department of Political Science is committed to equal opportunities. Applicants from disadvantaged groups under-represented in our faculty, including women and minorities, are encouraged to apply.

To apply, please submit the following materials:

- A letter of intent stating willingness to begin teaching in the fall of 2025
- Curriculum Vitae
- Scientific biography outlining research orientation and plans for the coming years
- List of courses the candidate can teach at the undergraduate and graduate level
- Electronic copies of up to three writing samples
- Teaching evaluations, if available

Additionally, three letters of recommendation should be submitted directly to the Search Committee.

Please submit all application materials electronically at: <http://tpp.huji.ac.il>

The language of teaching at The Hebrew University of Jerusalem is Hebrew, though some courses are taught in English. New faculty members are expected to be able to teach in Hebrew within a few years of their arrival.

The deadline for applications is September 29th, 2024. Candidates selected by the Department will compete with candidates from other departments in the Faculty of Social Sciences for available positions. For inquiries concerning the search please contact Prof. Oren Barak at oren.barak1@mail.huji.ac.il.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 9/29/2024

Date Posted: 7/14/2024

Salary: $90,000 - $99,999

eJobs ID: 14490

Harvard University

Rank: Academy Scholar

The Academy Scholars Program of The Harvard Academy for International and Area Studies identifies and supports outstanding scholars at the start of their academic careers whose work combines excellence in a social science discipline with a command of the language and knowledge or expertise of countries or regions outside of the United States or Canada. Their scholarship should span traditional disciplinary divisions and elucidate comparative, transnational, or domestic issues, past or present.

The Academy Scholars are a select community of individuals possessed of resourcefulness, initiative, and originality whose work shows promise as a foundation for careers in research universities or international institutions.

Academy Scholars are appointed for a two-year, in-residence, postdoctoral fellowship at The Harvard Academy for International and Area Studies, Harvard University, Cambridge, MA, USA. They receive substantial financial and research assistance which permits them to undertake robust research projects and skills development in their chosen fields and areas. They meet at dinners, seminars, and informal get-togethers in order to pursue innovative interdisciplinary approaches to their work. They are mentored by the Harvard Academy Senior Scholars, a cohort of faculty members who act as a selection committee, participate in Harvard Academy events, and are committed to supporting the Academy Scholars as they work to achieve their potential.

These awards are open to recipients of PhD or comparable doctoral degrees (within two years of the August 1, 2025, start date) and advanced doctoral candidates in the social sciences. Scholars nearing dissertation completion must be able to submit degree conferral documentation issued by their university registrar's office by June 30, 2025, for an August 1, 2025, start date. Individuals who hold or have completed another Harvard postdoctoral fellowship are not eligible to apply.

The Harvard Academy is dedicated to building an inclusive community of scholars with an array of experiences, perspectives, and methods and welcomes a diverse pool of applicants.

Each year, five to six Academy Scholars are named for two-year appointments with an annual stipend of $80,000 (annual research support of $5,000 is also provided, along with funds for hiring research assistants), with the two years to be completed within a three-year window. Year 1 of the fellowship must be taken up no later than the fall immediately following the postdoctoral fellowship offer. Delays or deferrals in the start of Year 1 are not permitted. Between Years 1 and 2, Academy Scholars may apply for a one-time leave (up to 12 months), either to accept or to continue with a tenure-track teaching appointment but for no other professional reason. Academy Scholars may not accept other sources of funding, awards, or obligations during their appointment.

All application materials must be submitted by the deadline of September 20, 2024. We do not accept late applications.

The completed application will include:

Curriculum vitae (CV); including list of publications

Research proposal (2000 words maximum); including intellectual objectives and planned methodological and disciplinary work

One scholarly writing sample (e.g., PhD dissertation chapter or single-authored peer-reviewed academic journal article; fifty pages maximum; in English)

A copy of your PhD program transcript

Three letters of recommendation (uploaded directly and confidentially by the recommend-er through the online application)

All parts of the application, including the three letters of recommendation, are submitted online as pdf documents. Access the online application through the homepage of The Harvard Academy's website: <https://academy.wcfia.harvard.edu>.

All materials must be received by September 20, 2024. The selection process begins immediately thereafter. Applicants whose materials are incomplete are at a disadvantage when considered by the Selection Committee. Announcement of the awards will be made in December 2024.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 9/20/2024

Date Posted: 7/1/2024

Salary: $80,000 - $89,999

eJobs ID: 14459

Purdue University

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Association AI and Political Science
Subfield(s): Open, Methodology, Public Policy

Postdoctoral Research Associate, Artificial Intelligence, Political Science

Job Summary

The Department of Political Science seeks a two-year postdoctoral researcher to assist with projects, papers, and grant proposals in the Governance and Responsible AI Lab (GRAIL) and the Computational Social Science Lab (CSS). The postdoctoral fellow will be mentored in research and proposal writing by faculty directors of the labs and participate in an active research community in Political Science and the College of Liberal Arts.

For information about the labs, please see the following websites:
GRAIL: <https://cla.purdue.edu/academic/polsci/research/labs/grail/index.html>

CSS: <https://cla.purdue.edu/academic/polsci/research/labs/computational-social-science-lab/index.html>

The start date is negotiable, but must fall between August 1, 2024 and January 1, 2025. The position is at Purdue's main campus in West Lafayette, Indiana.

Qualifications

A PhD in Political Science, Public Policy, or a closely related field is required. ABDs will be considered but the successful candidate must provide evidence of completion of all requirements for the PhD prior to the start date of the position. Qualified candidates must have strong skills in writing, quantitative data analysis, data visualization, and research methods. Candidates must have experience managing research projects and a record of successful collaboration. Candidates must also have evidence of a research pipeline related to the aims of GRAIL and the CSS Lab.

About Purdue University

In recent years, the College of Liberal Arts at Purdue University has hired a large group of faculty in the area of artificial intelligence (AI), broadly construed. Representing a variety of disciplines in the College, this cohort of scholars expands our capacity to explore the implications of AI development across multiple domains and contribute to disciplinary and interdisciplinary research and educational initiatives surrounding AI in new and important ways.

Political Science is home to 28 faculty and more than 40 PhD students, visiting scholars, and post-docs. Purdue University is a member of the AAU and a land grant university with enrollment of over 52,000 students. The campus is located in West Lafayette, Indiana, an area with a favorable cost of living and a vibrant local community. Purdue University offers high-quality research and computing facilities with many opportunities for collaboration in Centers and Institutes across campus and in the broader region. Purdue University is building world-leading programs in AI, including a new Institute for Physical Artificial Intelligence.

Computational Social Science (CSS) Lab at Purdue University Under the direction of Dr. Bryce J. Dietrich, the Computational Social Science Lab (CSS) was established to promote the application and development of computational methods to large, typically complex, human, and behavioral data. CSS has received coverage both on and off campus for its "revolutionary" approach to social science research, especially its novel use of text, audio, and video data. The lab comprises an interdisciplinary team of undergraduate and graduate students, faculty, and postdoctoral fellows.

Dr. Bryce J. Dietrich joined the faculty at Purdue University in the Fall of 2022. His research uses novel quantitative, automated, and machine learning methods to analyze non-traditional data sources such as audio (or speech) data and video data. His work has appeared in prominent journals like the American Political Science Review, Journal of Politics, Nature Human Behavior, Political Analysis, and Political Psychology. In addition to securing external awards from the NIH and NSF, his work has also been covered by prominent media outlets like The Washington Post, The Economist and National Public Radio (NPR). His most recent work using C-SPAN has looked at gender and social dynamics on the floor of the U.S. House of Representatives.

Governance and Responsible AI Lab (GRAIL) at Purdue University The Governance and Responsible AI Lab (GRAIL), co-directed by Dr. Daniel S. Schiff and Dr. Kaylyn Jackson Schiff, conducts research on the social, ethical, and governance implications of artificial intelligence and other emerging technologies. GRAIL consists of an interdisciplinary team of faculty, graduate students, and undergraduate students and produces rigorous, policy-relevant work on AI supported by funding from the National Institute of Justice and Google. The lab's research explores topics such as the political impacts of deepfakes, emerging legislation and regulation related to AI, use of AI in government and law enforcement, and public and elite opinion on AI. GRAIL is a member of the National Institute of Standards and Technology's AI Safety Institute Consortium and an affiliate of Purdue's Institute for Physical Artificial Intelligence.

Dr. Daniel S. Schiff studies the formal and informal governance of AI through policy and industry, as well as AI's social and ethical implications in domains like education, manufacturing, finance, and criminal justice. Daniel previously served as the founding Responsible AI Lead at JP Morgan Chase & Co. and as the Secretary of the IEEE 7010-2020 standard, the first AI ethics industry standard. His research has been published in prominent interdisciplinary venues such as Policy Studies Journal, the American Political Science Review, AI & Society, and the International Journal of AI in Education.

Dr. Kaylyn Jackson Schiff conducts research on how technological developments are changing citizen-government contact and explores implications for service provision, misinformation, policing, education, and government use of artificial intelligence. Her research has won the award for best dissertation in the field of public administration from the American Political Science Association and the Journal of Politics best paper award. Her work has been published in top journals such as the American Political Science Review, Public Administration Review, Policy Studies Journal, and Nature Human Behavior.

Application Procedures

To apply, please visit <https://careers.purdue.edu/> position number 32237. Applications must be submitted online and include: 1) Cover letter of interest that includes a statement describing how the applicant's research fits the principal duties and qualifications of the position, 2) Curriculum Vitae, and 3) Recent research paper or other writing sample related to the position description. Candidates who advance in the review process may be asked to provide letters of recommendation and transcripts.

Screening of applicants will begin on July 15th, 2024, and will continue until the position is filled. A background check is required for employment in this position. For additional information, contact Dr. Bryce J. Dietrich at bjdietri@purdue.edu.

Purdue University is an EOE/AA employer. All individuals, including minorities, women, individuals with disabilities, and veterans are encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/17/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14420

University of Michigan, Ann Arbor

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

All applications must be submitted electronically to <https://apply.interfolio.com/147036>

The University of Michigan's Department of Political Science invites applications from outstanding candidates for a tenure track position for a scholar who studies Race and Ethnic Politics, open with respect to subfield.

This position is at the assistant professor rank and is a university year appointment. It is anticipated to begin August 25, 2025. Promise of excellence in research and teaching is required.

Applicants should include the following applications materials in PDF format: a cover letter, curriculum vitae, a concise statement describing current and future plans for research, a statement of teaching philosophy and experience, evidence of teaching excellence (if any), writing samples, graduate transcripts, and a statement that demonstrates your commitment to diversity, equity, and inclusion in academia. Applications should also submit three letters of recommendation. Information on our research initiatives and scholarly interest of current faculty can be found on the Department's website: <https://lsa.umich.edu/>

polisci. All applications must be submitted electronically to: <https://lsa.umich.edu/polisci/current-job-postings.html>.

For full consideration, complete applications should be submitted by August 19, 2024.

Employment will require both a criminal background and candidates must meet all degree requirements prior to the start date of the position.

The University of Michigan is committed to fostering and maintaining a diverse work culture that respects the rights of each individual, without regard to race, color, national origin, ancestry, religious creed, sex, gender identity, sexual orientation, gender expression, height, weight, marital status, disability, medical condition, age, or veteran status. The University of Michigan is supportive of the needs of dual career couples and is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer. Women and members of minority groups are encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 8/19/2024

Date Posted: 5/31/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14382

Waseda University

Rank: Tenure-track or tenured position in Political Science in Any Subfield

Subfield(s): Open, American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics

Faculty Recruitment Information in Political Science in Any Subfield

The Faculty of Political Science and Economics (the "FPSE") at Waseda University in Tokyo, Japan invites applications for a tenure-track or tenured position in any of the following subfields of political science: Japanese Politics, Political Economy, Comparative Politics, International Relations, or Formal and Quantitative Methods. We seek candidates who advance theoretical and empirical research on important questions in their subfield. Candidates should have strong methodological training and be able to advise graduate students on both substantive and methodological issues.

The primary teaching responsibility of this position is "Introduction to Political Analysis," one of the foundational courses offered at the FPSE, which is required for all the first-year undergraduate students majoring in political science, economics, or global political economy. This course introduces the most important questions in politics and how political scientists use analytical and scientific methods to answer those questions. In addition, the successful candidate will teach other undergraduate and graduate-level seminars. Applicants must have the ability to teach fluently both in Japanese and English.

The position will begin as early as April 1, 2025.

For more details and instructions for application, please go to the website at

https://www.waseda.jp/fpse/pse/assets/uploads/2024/05/RecruitmentInfo_PoliSci24_ENG.pdf

Start Date: Spring 2025

Application Deadline: 9/3/2024

Date Posted: 5/30/2024

Salary: Any
eJobs ID: 14381

Hampden-Sydney College

Rank: Assistant Professor: Political Theory

Specializations: Political Philosophy & Theory, Political Theory, Political Thought: Historical

The Department of Government and Foreign Affairs at Hampden-Sydney College invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track appointment at the rank of Assistant Professor to begin in Fall 2025. Candidates should have expertise in political theory and the ability to offer courses in classical, early modern, and modern political theory. The successful candidate will teach Western Culture in the College's Core Cultures program and may participate in the Rhetoric program. Faculty teach in a 6-6-7 course rotation with six courses per year for two years and seven courses in the third year.

Hampden-Sydney College highly values the teacher/scholar model. Successful applicants will have a record of effective classroom teaching, a commitment to scholarly productivity, and a willingness to work with colleagues on professional service responsibilities. Applicants should have a Ph.D. in political science or a comparable degree by the time of appointment. ABDs near completion may also be considered.

Please submit a letter of application, curriculum vitae, teaching statement, research statement, and three letters of reference to Dr. Celia Carroll-Jones, Chair, Department of Government and Foreign Affairs, Hampden-Sydney College via Interfolio: <http://apply.interfolio.com/147324>. Review of applications will begin in early fall and continue until the position is filled.

Hampden-Sydney College is a selective liberal arts institution enrolling approximately 1000 students. Founded in 1775, it is the tenth oldest institution of higher learning in the United States. Hampden-Sydney is one of three liberal arts colleges in the United States dedicated to the education of men. Our mission is to educate "good men and good citizens in an atmosphere of sound learning."

Our beautiful 1300-acre campus is less than 7 miles from downtown Farmville, home to Longwood University and the Moton Museum, which is listed on the U.S. Civil Rights Trail. The campus is located 65 miles west of Richmond, 50 miles east of Lynchburg, and 75 miles south of Charlottesville, providing abundant cultural, recreational and artistic resources. As a community, we are dedicated to the goal of building a culturally diverse faculty committed to working in a multicultural environment and strongly encourage applications from women and minoritized groups. Hampden-Sydney College values diversity, prohibits discrimination, and is committed to equal opportunity for all employees and applicants for employment.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 5/25/2024

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 14369

American University of Sharjah

Rank: Postdoctoral Associate

Subfield(s): Methodology, Comparative Politics, Open

Specializations: Quantitative Methods, Political Behavior, Middle East

The Department of International Studies at the American University of Sharjah (AUS), United Arab Emirates, is seeking a highly motivated

and enthusiastic Postdoctoral Associate to work with Dr. Bethany Shockley and her US-based collaborator, Dr. Yuree Noh on an experimental study of egalitarianism in the UAE and Tunisia. The anticipated appointment is expected to start on September 1, 2024 and end on May 30, 2025.

The ideal candidate will play an integral role in supporting the collection and analysis of experimental data on the opinions of nationals and non-national residents in the UAE. Specifically, the individual will work with the AUS-based team of graduate and undergraduate assistants to conduct lab and survey experiments under the direction of Dr. Bethany Shockley and Dr. Yuree Noh. It is expected that the postdoctoral scholar will join the team in actively publishing research findings and presenting research.

Qualifications and Skills Required:

The applicant needs to have obtained a PhD in political science or related fields such as economics, psychology, or sociology with research experience. The successful applicant will have excellent quantitative methods skills with an emphasis on lab and/or survey experiments. The position is open to applicants with topical knowledge in areas such as public opinion, populism, migration studies, gender & politics, authoritarianism, and state-society relations. Prior experience in the Arab Gulf region and knowledge of Arabic will also be considered favorably but are not required.

This position is based in Sharjah, UAE, and the selected candidate must be willing to relocate. Sharjah is a diverse and multicultural city, only 25 minutes from Dubai. The terms of employment are competitive. Applications will be reviewed immediately, and candidates will be considered until the position is filled. You are welcome to contact Dr. Bethany Shockley bshockley@aus.edu or Dr. Yuree Noh yuree.noh@gmail.com at with any questions about the position.

The application is to include the following:

- A curriculum vitae with a full publication list.
- A cover letter with a statement of research interests, a writing sample and 2 letters of references.

To apply, please visit: <https://www.aus.edu/employment/postdoctoral-research-assistant-college-of-arts-and-sciences>

AUS is an equal opportunity employer. We adhere to a policy of making employment decisions without regard to race, color, age, gender, religion, national origin, disability or marital status. Opportunities for employment are based solely upon one's qualifications.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 4/2/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 13294

Fudan University

Rank: Post-doctoral fellows

Subfield(s): Open, Open, Open

Fudan Institute for Advanced Study in Social Sciences (Fudan IAS)

Subfield: Political Science, Economics, Sociology

Areas Expertise: Region Open

Job Type: Full-Time

Job Summary: Fudan Institute for Advanced Study in Social Sciences (Fudan IAS) is seeking applicants for the full-time "Post-doc fellows" at Fudan University, Shanghai. The position is open till filled, and the employment starts at any time. The disciplines are open for political Science, economics, and sociology. Applicants should demonstrate strong potentials to publish their research on highly reputable international journals (SSCI, AHCI, SCI, and CSSCI). They should employ rigorous research methods, either quantitative or qualitative, to address important theoretical questions in the field. Applicants must have the ability to communicate fluently both in English and in Mandarin Chinese.

Institution background: Fudan University is an internationally recognized influential academic institution, one of China's top universities, ranking 3rd in the country and 43rd in QS World University Ranking. Fudan IAS is a comprehensive and cross-disciplinary research institute, with 10 full time research fellows at different academic ranks from junior to distinguished professorship. The institute is an important platform for interdisciplinary integration in the social sciences, recruiting outstanding research fellows, hosting visits of world-renowned scholars, and engaging in international scholarly exchange. The Contemporary China Research Center at Fudan University is created by and housed at the Fudan IAS. The two international journals, Fudan Journal of the Humanities and Social Sciences and Chinese Political Science Review's editorial offices are housed at the Fudan IAS and published by the prestigious Springer-Nature Press. The journals are both included in the Emerging Sources Citation Index (ESCI), a new index in the Web of Science Core Collection of Clarivate Analytics (formerly Thomson Reuter).

Application documents (all in English):

1. A cover letter;
2. An extensive curriculum vitae; including a publication list and information of three references.
3. A statement of research interest and agenda;
4. 1-2 published articles/writing samples;

We will arrange on-site interviews at Fudan IAS or other forms of interviews such as Skype and Zoom.

Contact: Please put the intended position in the subject line of email, and send your application documents to the hiring committee at ias_fudan@126.com

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 12/6/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 13000

Rowan University

Rank: Open Rank Tenure/Track Faculty Position, Political Science

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Policy, Open

The Department of Political Science & Economics at Rowan University invites applications for one or more tenure-track positions in Political Science beginning in Fall 2024. The Department seeks candidates with expertise in public policy and the politics of health equity broadly constructed. Areas of research interest may include but are not limited to: welfare or social policies that relate to health including housing policy, food insecurity, Medicare and/or Medicaid expansion, the politics of the ACA, reproductive rights, LGBTQ+ rights, and other gender issues associated with health, and equal access to healthcare. Applicants must demonstrate a commitment to excellence in both research and teaching, as well as the potential to secure external grant/fellowship support. Teaching responsibilities include introductory, advanced courses and graduate courses in American politics, methodology, and/or public policy.

A top 100 national public research institution, Rowan University offers bachelor's through doctoral and professional programs in person and online to 22,000 students through its main campus in Glassboro, N.J., its medical school campuses in Camden and Stratford, and five others. The University has earned national recognition for innovation, commitment to high-quality, affordable education, and developing public-private partnerships. A Carnegie-classified R2 (high research activity) institution, Rowan has been recognized as the fourth fastest-growing public research university, as reported by The Chronicle of Higher Education. For more information on Rowan University, click here.

Minimum Qualifications: Applicants at the assistant professor level must have a Ph.D. in Political Science, Public Policy (or related field) or ABD with a firm date of completion no later than July 1, 2024, a strong research agenda, and a commitment to quality teaching and active service. Associate or full professor applicants must have a Ph.D. in Political Science, Public Policy (or related field), a strong record of publications and external grant activity, and a commitment to quality teaching and active service.

Applications will be accepted on a rolling basis until the position is filled. The first full review of applications will be on January 19, 2024. Applications must be submitted through our online applicant tracking system at <https://jobs.rowan.edu/en-us/job/499103/open-rank-tenure-track-faculty-position-political-science-department-of-political-science-and-economics>.

Applications must include a cover letter, a CV, unofficial transcripts, a writing sample, and a teaching portfolio (including a statement of teaching philosophy, courses taught, teaching evaluations, etc.). Please do not submit letters of reference at this time.

Rowan University values diversity and is committed to equal opportunity in employment.

All positions are contingent upon budget appropriations.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 11/19/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12902

University of Missouri, Columbia

Rank: Open-Rank Tenure-Track/Tenured Professor

Open-Rank Tenure-Track/Tenured Professor

Truman School of Government and Public Affairs, University of Missouri

Job Description:

The University of Missouri has launched an ambitious multi-year hiring initiative, Mizzou Forward, that is intended to attract high profile scholars with a record of significant external funding. The Truman School of Government and Public Affairs is participating in this initiative and tenure-line positions are available for exceptional candidates in the fields of public policy, political science, comparative politics, international relations, and/or public administration. This is an executive style search that is managed centrally by the University; applications may be submitted at any time.

A successful MizzouForward candidate is a research leader with a passion for collaboration and the grit to address our world's most pressing research challenges. The colleagues we're looking to recruit possess:

- A proven track record of active, external research funding, particularly from federal agencies
- A research agenda that complements the goals of MizzouForward
- A robust publication and citation record
- National awards and honors, membership with national academies
- An interdisciplinary scope of work

Although all research areas will be considered, the University of Missouri is particularly interested in recruiting scholars focused on artificial intelligence, economic development, disparities in science, health, and education, as well as energy and technology policy.

To apply go to Mizzou Forward (<https://provost.missouri.edu/mizzou-forward>) and submit materials through the priority area that best matches your expertise. For questions about the Truman School or potential priority areas through which to apply, contact Lael Keiser, Truman School Director, at keiserl@missouri.edu.

The Truman School of Government and Public Affairs: Almost 1,000 students and 10,000 alumni strong, the Truman School of Government and Public Affairs provides an interdisciplinary educational environment for our undergraduate and graduate students. Through our research and teaching, we inform public policy, educate for ethical leadership in public service, and foster democratic discourse among citizens, policymakers, and scholars. We offer degrees in Political Science (BA, PhD), Public Administration and Policy (BA), Public Affairs (MPA, PhD), and Defense and Strategic Studies (MA).

About the University of Missouri: The University of Missouri was founded in 1839 in Columbia, Missouri, as the first public university west of the Mississippi River and the first state university in the Louisiana Purchase territory. MU provides the benefits of two universities in one — it is a major land-grant institution and Missouri's largest public research university.

Considered one of the nation's top-tier institutions, MU has a reputation of excellence in teaching and research and is the flagship campus of the four-campus University of Missouri System. It is one of only 64 public universities, and the only public institution in Missouri, to be selected for membership in the Association of American Universities. Mizzou is the flagship campus of the University of Missouri system, located in Columbia, just 20 minutes to the Columbia Regional Airport, and less than 2 hours to St. Louis or Kansas City.

Columbia, MO., consistently rated as one of the best communities to live, is an ideal college town, combining small-town comforts, community spirit and low cost of living with big-city culture, activities and resources. Home to nationally renowned public schools and other colleges and educational centers, Columbia is packed with restaurants and entertainment venues and hosts more than a dozen annual cultural festivals.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/4/2023

Salary: Any

eJobs ID: 12662

OTHER

Denison University

Rank: Open Rank Professor in Comparative Politics

Position Title: Open-rank Professor in Comparative Politics

Location: Denison University

Position Type: Tenure Track Faculty

Position URL: <https://apply.interfolio.com/150219>

Position Description:

The Department of Politics and Public Affairs (PPA) at Denison University invites applications for an open rank, tenure-track position in comparative politics, beginning Fall 2025. We seek applicants whose research and teaching emphasizes constitutionalism, policy analysis, or how social movements interact with either, with a geographic focus on the politics of countries or regions beyond the United States or Western Europe. The successful candidate must have the demonstrated ability to teach introductory courses in comparative politics of democracies, as well as interest and ability to teach a rotating set of upper division courses in comparative politics broadly and in their areas of expertise. The Politics and Public Affairs program provides our students an integrated view of politics emphasizing links between theory and practice. Our major is structured as a learning community where undergraduates pursue a track of interest that aligns with traditional subfields and have multiple opportunities to share their knowledge with peers. Our majors must complement classroom experiences with a department-approved off campus learning component. We seek a new colleague who shares our enthusiasm for this approach to teaching about politics and public affairs. As a department, we work hard to ensure our students hear and consider diverse perspectives and we welcome applicants who contribute to that diversity. In the fall of 2025, our faculty includes four full-time tenured or tenure track faculty and one long-term visiting faculty member. We graduate roughly 30 seniors each year.

All instructors are expected to regularly teach introductory classes (typically around 24 students) that serve PPA majors/minors as well as the general education requirements of the college's curriculum; successfully teaching introductory classes requires teachers who relish the challenge of tailoring instruction for both the skeptical and the interested student. All instructors regularly teach upper division classes (typically capped at 20 students) in their area of interest which are usually populated by PPA or related majors, as well as required PPA major courses such as sophomore and senior seminar. The teaching load is 5 courses per academic year (3/2). Denison is a fully residential campus and all classes are held in-person and on-campus.

Applicants should provide evidence of teaching effectiveness from college-level courses. We seek to hire a new colleague with broad training in the study of politics. The successful candidate is expected to have significant interest in and demonstrated ability to be effective at undergraduate teaching in a liberal arts setting, and in contributing to the integration of the theoretical with experiential elements of our major. Independent teaching experience (beyond TA) is preferred.

Successful candidates are expected to maintain an ongoing research agenda; thus, applicants should show promise of a strong publication record. The prospective teacher-scholar also will support the University's commitment to liberal arts education, be an effective advisor to a range of students, be an active participant in departmental and university governance, and develop a program of research leading to peer-reviewed publication.

Denison is an increasingly diverse, highly selective, residential liberal arts college enrolling approximately 2,300 students from across the nation and around the world. The college is located in the village of Granville, 30 minutes from Columbus, Ohio, the state capital, which hosts a wide range of cultural and artistic opportunities. Granville offers an excellent public school system and easy access to outdoor activities. Denison is committed to attracting and supporting an academically and culturally diverse faculty and is committed to providing a work and learning environment free from discrimination. A supportive environment for teacher-scholars who value both classroom and research excellence, Denison offers extensive support for its faculty, including start-up research funds, an annual professional development account, competitive professional development funding, and a one-semester research leave after a successful pre-tenure review. The college also offers opportunities for student-faculty research collaboration, stipends for supervising summer-research students, and a range of workshops and mentoring programs to develop our strengths as teacher-scholars. Denison offers a competitive salary and a comprehensive benefits package, including tuition benefits to attend Denison or other affiliated colleges and a generous retirement contribution.

Qualifications:

Candidates are required to have completed a Ph.D. in Political Science or closely-related field by start date.

Application Instructions:

To ensure full consideration, completed applications must be received by October 7, 2024. Applications should include the following:

- Cover Letter
- Curriculum vitae
- Graduate level transcript [official or unofficial]

- Teaching Portfolio, which should include a 1) teaching statement that lays out the candidate's teaching philosophy, interests, and experience; the teaching statement should also describe how the candidate fosters an inclusive classroom where students with diverse perspectives and experiences can respectfully contribute and learn, 2) Evidence of teaching effectiveness (e.g., teaching evaluations or other artifacts), 3) an introductory syllabus for comparative politics of democracies, and 4) an upper division syllabus that reflects your expertise.
- Research Statement that lays out the candidate's scholarly interests and plans
- A writing sample
- Contact information for three letters of reference

Job seekers who may need a reasonable accommodation to complete the application process should contact the Office of Human Resources at (740) 587-6299 or by email at HR@denison.edu

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 10/7/2024

Date Posted: 7/30/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14553

The University of Texas at Austin

Rank: Professor (Open Rank) in Constitutional Studies: Law, History, and Theory

Subfield(s): Political Theory, Public Law, Other

The School of Civic Leadership (SCL) at The University of Texas at Austin (UT Austin) invites applications for full-time tenure-track and tenured faculty positions at the assistant, associate, or full professor level with expertise in the area of Constitutional Studies (Law, History, and Theory).

Considering the responsibility public institutions of higher education have to prepare students for leadership in a free society, the University of Texas System Board of Regents established the School of Civic Leadership at UT Austin in 2023. SCL is an interdisciplinary school whose dual mission is to equip students with the knowledge and aptitudes necessary to lead in a free society, and to produce academic research at the highest levels of scholarly excellence.

The school offers a minor in Philosophy, Politics, and Economics (PPE) in collaboration with the College of Liberal Arts and will launch a new Civics Honors major and Civics minor in the 2025-26 academic year.

We seek outstanding candidates in the areas of Constitutional Studies (Law, History, and Theory) whose work speaks to the SCL's core themes: political, economic, and individual liberty and its philosophical underpinnings; constitutionalism and the rule of law; and the political economy of a free society. Ideal candidates will (1) have excellent records of scholarship with robust research agendas, (2) provide evidence of exceptional teaching, and (3) show a readiness to contribute to the intellectual life, governance, and programmatic development of the school.

The School of Civic Leadership invites applicants to submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, and list of three academic references. (References do not need to submit full letters at this stage.) Cover letters should give a brief overview of the candidate's research agenda, highlight areas of teaching competence, and concisely describe how the candidate would contribute to developing the school.

Review of applications will begin on September 15.
<https://apply.interfolio.com/149448>

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/30/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14556

European University Institute

Rank: Chair in Political Science and Social Sciences

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Other, Political Theory

Specializations: Western Europe, Normative Political Theory, Political Parties & Organizations

The European University Institute is looking for candidates with a distinguished record of scholarly publications and experience in postgraduate teaching and doctoral supervision, to fill a Chair in Political Science and Social Sciences. Candidates should have an interest in comparative research in political science, preferably with a focus on European societies and politics. The successful candidate will have a strong record of empirical research, an interest in theory and research methods and a commitment to excellence in postgraduate teaching. The chair will be open to candidates at different levels of seniority. Interested applicants should consult Open competitions for academic posts • European University Institute (eui.eu) for further particulars: <https://www.eui.eu/About/JobOpportunities/Open-competitions-for-academic-posts>

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 9/16/2024

Date Posted: 7/29/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14544

University of Maryland, Baltimore County

Rank: Assistant Professor in Middle East Politics

The Department of Political Science at the University of Maryland, Baltimore County (UMBC) invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position in Middle East politics and either or both comparative politics and international relations, beginning in August 2025. UMBC is a Carnegie Research-1, community-engaged, minority-serving institution focused on inclusive excellence. The annual teaching load is five courses, which includes two sections of one course preparation.

UMBC is a dynamic and growing public research university located in the Baltimore-Washington Corridor, an area rich in scholarly resources and opportunities. We have 14,000 undergraduate and graduate students. U.S. News and World Report regularly ranks UMBC in the top 10 of most innovative universities, and the Chronicle of Higher Education recognizes the university as one its "Great Colleges to Work For" in areas such as cooperative governance, compensation, teaching environment, and work-life balance. We are especially proud of the diversity of our student body (<https://umbc.edu/about/>), and we hope to attract an equally diverse applicant pool for this position. Our campus community has a strong commitment to equity and social justice. For example, our department's undergraduate Council of Majors is spearheading an initiative to increase diversity and inclusion in the curriculum. To learn more about the Department of Political Science at UMBC, please visit <https://politicalscience.umbc.edu/> and <https://politicalscience.umbc.edu/commitment-to-diversity-equity-and-inclusion/>.

Qualifications

Preference will be given to candidates who have a Ph.D. in political science or international politics, or will have a Ph.D. in hand by August 2025. Applicants must provide evidence of a focused, ambitious research agenda and a commitment to excellent undergraduate teaching. Candidates must also describe how their research, teaching, and/or life experiences contribute to "inclusive excellence," such as their ability to work with underserved and diverse populations and their capacity to respond in pedagogically productive ways to the competence, aspirations, and needs of students from diverse backgrounds. The successful candidate can expect to teach undergraduate courses on the Middle East from a comparative politics and/or international relations perspective, with a preference for candidates able to teach courses in both subdisciplines.

Application Instructions

For best consideration, applicants should submit their applications by September 20, 2024, using apply.interfolio.com/150619. Please provide a cover letter; a CV; a statement of your research agenda; a statement of your teaching philosophy; a statement of your commitment to diversity, equity, and inclusion; up to two writing samples or publications; two sample course syllabi; and three letters of reference. Questions should be addressed to either of the search co-chairs, Dr. Carolyn Forestiere (forestie@umbc.edu) and Dr. Brian Grodsky (bgrodsky@umbc.edu), using the subject line "POLI Search."

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 9/20/2024

Date Posted: 7/25/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14532

The University of Texas at Austin

Rank: Professor (Open Rank) in the areas of History of Philosophy, History of Political Thought, and Intellectual History

Subfield(s): Other, Other, Other

The School of Civic Leadership (SCL) at The University of Texas at Austin invites applications for full-time tenure-track and tenured faculty positions at the assistant, associate, or full professor level in the areas of History of Philosophy, History of Political Thought, and Intellectual History.

Considering the responsibility public institutions of higher education have to prepare students for leadership in a free society, the University of Texas System Board of Regents established the School of Civic Leadership at UT Austin in 2023. SCL is an interdisciplinary school whose dual mission is to equip students with the knowledge and aptitudes necessary to lead in a free society, and to produce academic research at the highest levels of scholarly excellence. The school offers a minor in Philosophy, Politics, and Economics (PPE) in collaboration with the College of Liberal Arts and will launch a new Civics Honors major and Civics minor in the 2025-26 academic year.

We seek outstanding candidates in the areas of history of philosophy, history of political thought, and intellectual history whose work speaks to the SCL's core themes: political, economic, and individual liberty and its philosophical underpinnings; constitutionalism and the rule of law; and the political economy of a free society. Ideal candidates will (1) have excellent records of scholarship with robust research agendas, (2) provide evidence of exceptional teaching, and (3) show a readiness to contribute to the intellectual life, governance, and programmatic development of the school.

The School of Civic Leadership invites applicants to submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, and list of three academic references. (References do not need to submit full letters at this stage.) Cover letters should give a brief overview of the candidate's research agenda, highlight areas of teaching competence, and concisely describe how the candidate would contribute to developing the School of Civic Leadership.

Review of applications will begin on September 15.
<https://apply.interfolio.com/149408>

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/24/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14526

University of Michigan

Rank: Stuart B. and Barbara Padnos Professorship in Jewish Thought

The Frankel Center for Judaic Studies at the University of Michigan invites applications for the Stuart B. and Barbara Padnos Professorship in Jewish Thought. Successful candidates will be appointed at the tenure-track Assistant Professor or tenured Associate Professor rank. This is a university-year appointment with an expected start date of August 25, 2025.

This field as we envision it encompasses the full range and dynamism of textual, material, embodied, and ritual sources that Jews across the globe have thought with and through. We invite applications from scholars working in all subfields, geographical areas, periods, and languages of Jewish thought. We welcome scholars whose work in related fields such as anthropology, political theory, law, religious studies, gender/sexuality/queer studies, environment, and ecology intersects with the study of philosophy and intellectual history.

Candidates should demonstrate outstanding scholarly potential as well as commitment to excellence in teaching and mentorship. They will also be expected to contribute to the Frankel Center's public outreach efforts and participate in cross-departmental initiatives and collaborations.

A completed Ph.D. is required by the time of appointment. Application review begins on September 16, 2024 and will continue until an appointment is made.

All application materials should be submitted online through Interfolio: <http://apply.interfolio.com/148285>

Materials should include a cover letter detailing the candidate's interest in and qualifications for the position; curriculum vitae; statement of teaching philosophy and experience (2-3 pages); statement of current and future research plans (2-3 pages); a writing sample (approximately 25 pages); teaching evaluations and other evidence of teaching excellence. Additionally, please include a diversity statement that demonstrates commitment to diversity, equity, and inclusion through scholarship/research, and/or teaching/mentoring, and/or service/engagement. There may be some overlap between the DEI statement and the research proposal and teaching statements (1-3 pages). Candidates selected for interviews will be asked to provide three letters of reference.

Questions about the application process or materials may be directed to Michele Fleming (js-secretary-admin@umich.edu).

The University of Michigan is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action (EOAA) employer. We strongly encourage women and minoritized communities to apply including, but not limited to, applicants who are racially marginalized; people with disabilities; and members of the LGBTQI and gender non-conforming communities. The University of Michigan is also supportive of the needs of dual career couples.

Background Screening

The University of Michigan conducts background checks on all job candidates upon acceptance of a contingent offer and may use a third party administrator to conduct background checks. Background checks are performed in compliance with the Fair Credit Reporting Act. Employment may also require an institutional reference check regarding any misconduct. Candidates will be required to submit a self-disclosure form as well as an authorization to release information form, and must meet all degree requirements prior to the start date of the position.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/19/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14513

Daniel K. Inouye Asia-Pacific Center for Security Studies

Rank: Associate Professor/Professor

Specializations: Economic Policy, South Asia, International Security

About the Position

The Daniel K. Inouye Asia-Pacific Center for Security Studies (DKI APCSS) invites applications for an executive education faculty member to educate, connect and empower mid- to senior-level security practitioners primarily from the Indo-Pacific region. The faculty member will offer presentations, facilitate discussions, lead and support a variety of engagements and mentor practitioners in ways that build capacity and increase mutual understanding in support of a free and prosperous Indo-Pacific.

About DKI APCSS

- DKI APCSS is a Honolulu-based Department of Defense executive education institution that builds resilient capacity, shared understanding and networked relationships among civilian, military and non-governmental security practitioners and institutions.
- The center performs its mission to promote collaborative, inclusive security in support of a free and open Indo-Pacific region by addressing traditional and non-traditional security issues aligned with the Secretary of Defense and U.S. Indo-Pacific Command strategic security priorities. The Center's executive programs include courses, workshops and partnerships in Honolulu and in the broader Indo-Pacific region.

- The engagement program educates, connects and empowers current and future leaders and security practitioners. Engagement participants include mid- to senior-level security practitioners drawn from the whole of society – civilian, military and non-governmental – from the Indo-Pacific region and beyond.

Expertise

All applicants with expertise in Indo-Pacific security challenges and collaborative opportunities will be considered. Priority will be given to candidates with expertise in any of the following areas.

- Climate Security
- Cybersecurity and Disruptive Technology
- Security Dynamics in South Asia
- Economic Security, Statecraft, and Coercion

Responsibilities

- Educating, connecting, and empowering international and U.S. security practitioners;
- Positively contributing to a collegial, team-centric working environment;
- Leading teams of peers to accomplish objectives;
- Creating and presenting current and relevant executive education content;
- Prompting objective-based discussion, reflection, and learning;
- Facilitating seminars in which critical reasoning is used to consolidate learning;
- Contributing to distinguished visitor engagements with subject matter expertise;
- Performing administrative and institutional duties to the center;
- Conducting official travel to support external events and partnerships; and
- As assigned: developing, managing, coordinating, conducting and assessing all aspects of engagements, including courses, workshops, partnerships and visits.

Essential Selection Criteria

- Expertise and ability to carry out the position responsibilities.
- General understanding of Indo-Pacific security dynamics including history, geography, environment, politics, economics, population, demographics and culture.
- Knowledge of key public and private actors and networks that can contribute to developing collaborative strategies to contend with Indo-Pacific security challenges.
- Ability to recommend policy objectives to address Indo-Pacific security challenges.

Requirements

- Must be a U.S. citizen.
- Must be determined suitable for federal employment.
- Must participate in the direct deposit pay program.
- New employees to the Department of Defense will be required to successfully pass the E-Verify employment verification check.
- If a male born after December 31, 1959, must certify registration with the Selective Service System, or be exempt from having to do so under the Selective Service Law
- A Secret security clearance must be obtained and maintained prior to entrance on duty. Failure to obtain and maintain the required level of clearance may result in the withdrawal of a job offer or removal.

Education Requirements

Basic Requirements

Degree: that included or was supplemented by major study in education or in a subject-matter field appropriate to the position.

Or

Combination of education and experience -- courses equivalent to a major in education, or in a subject-matter field appropriate to the position, plus appropriate experience or additional course work that provided knowledge comparable to that normally acquired through the successful completion of the 4-year course of study described above.

Preferred Attributes

- Master or doctorate degree in an international, security-related field.
- Experience living or working in the Indo-Pacific Region.
- Proven ability in teaching and seminar facilitation.
- Proven ability to function as an effective, collaborative team member.
- Experience working in multinational and operational, strategic, or policy settings.

Salary and Conditions

- Salary and rank are commensurate with qualifications. Salary range is $107,809 - $189,808 inclusive of locality pay (21.79%). You will also be entitled to cost of living allowance (COLA), currently 8.90%, but subject to change.
- All faculty at the Daniel K. Inouye Asia-Pacific Center for Security Studies are employed on a limited term, excepted-service positions, for up to three years, with the possibility of renewal. Relocation expenses may be authorized.
- Professors are designated with either a Full or Associate based on a holistic assessment of expertise and previous positions held. Advancement from Associate to Full Professor is considered after at least two years of demonstrated professional excellence in the role at DKI APCSS.

Benefits: A career with the U.S. government provides employees with a comprehensive benefits package. As a federal employee, you and your family will have access to a range of benefits that are designed to make your federal career very rewarding. Benefits include Healthcare Insurance, Dental and Vision Insurance, Flexible Spending Accounts, Long-Term Care Insurance, Federal Employees Group Life Insurance, Federal Employees Retirement System, Thrift Savings Plan, Leave and Holidays.

Application Procedure

Interested candidates must submit a Letter of Interest, a Curriculum Vitae, and two letters of reference to happlications@dkiapcss.edu. Incomplete applications will not be considered. Please type the position title in the email subject line.

1. LETTER OF INTEREST. Address the essential selection criteria and describe your professional goals and desired areas of study in one or two pages.
2. CURRICULUM VITAE. Include educational background, teaching and mentoring experience, relevant work experience, publications, and salary history.
3. TWO ORIGINAL LETTERS OF REFERENCE.

Additional Information

- Applications must be received by August 26, 2024.
- Applications will be considered against current faculty requirements.
- A tentative offer of employment will be rescinded if the selectee fails to meet the pre-employment requirements, including failure to report to any of the scheduled appointments.

- Application materials become property of the U.S. Department of Defense, will be retained for one year, and will not be returned.
- Individuals selected for interview must provide bona fide academic transcripts from the institutions granting their degree(s) and two samples of their publications.
- The Department of Defense is an Equal Opportunity Employer so all qualified candidates will receive consideration without regard to race, color, religion, sex, national origin, age, disability, marital status, political affiliation, sexual orientation, or any other non-merit factor.
- The Department of Defense provides reasonable accommodation to applicants with disabilities. Applicants with disabilities who believe they require reasonable accommodation should contact the Center's Human Resources Department at hrappliations@dkiapcss.edu to ensure that the Department of Defense can consider such a request. The decision to grant an accommodation will be made on a case-by-case basis.

Learn more about the Daniel K. Inouye Asia-Pacific Center for Security Studies by visiting: <https://dkiapcss.edu>.

Start Date: Summer 2024

Application Deadline: 8/26/2024

Date Posted: 7/18/2024

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 14506

University of Denver

Rank: Research Associate or Senior Research Associate - Pardee Institute for International Futures, Josef Korbel School

The Frederick S. Pardee Institute for International Futures is the home of long-term forecasting and global trend analysis at the Josef Korbel School of International Studies. International Futures (IFs) is a large-scale, long-term, integrated global modeling system that represents demographic, economic, health, energy, agriculture, education, infrastructure, socio-political, environmental, and international politics subsystems for 188 countries interacting in the global system. The Pardee Institute works heavily on sponsored research projects with various government institutions, international organizations, NGOs, and to a lesser extent, private sector clients.

The Pardee Institute is committed to building a culturally diverse faculty and staff who, in turn, are committed to working in a pluralistic environment.

Position Summary:

This opening is for a Research Associate or Senior Research Associate, depending on the applicant's relevant education and experience.

Research Associates play a core role in the completion of the Pardee Institute's research efforts and external engagement. A primary function of the Research Associate is to support – and, for the Senior Research Associate, to lead – analytical and associated modeling and data building and management activities for geopolitical-related research at the Pardee Institute. Working under the supervision of the Associate Director of Geopolitical Analysis, these activities include: (a) effective management and balancing of concurrent but perhaps disparate research projects and associated tasks; (b) building, maintaining, and refining analytical skills, particularly those related to quantitative analysis; (c) managing a team of research aides who support data building and data management activities related to geopolitical analysis; and, for Senior Research Associates, and (d) presenting and otherwise communicating Pardee Institute research to external audiences, including sponsors and the public.

Additionally, Research Associates and Senior Research Associates are sensitive to and support IFs data building and data management needs when needed. In particular, this involves gathering, cleaning, and sharing bilateral data for the IFs tool. For Senior Research Associates, this role will also provide analytical expertise and advice for geopolitical research projects at the Pardee Institute to which they are assigned, keeping pace with theoretical and methodological developments in international relations and related fields.

Essential Functions:

The Research Associate or Senior Research Associate will support the Pardee Institute's geopolitical analysis research portfolio by collaborating with and leading student researchers in fast-paced data collection projects that tracks diplomatic engagements and other security and economic interactions between countries. Essential functions include coding data; training new coders; vetting data; maintaining and refining data management processes; maintaining technical documentation; analyzing data to discern meaningful patterns. For Senior Research Associates, essential functions also include leading internal-facing research products, collaborating on – and occasionally leading – external-facing research products, and guiding less experienced staff.

This individual is expected to:

Research, input, clean, evaluate, and confirm data, utilizing quantitative skills (e.g., trend analysis, network analysis, multivariate regression) and, occasionally, qualitative skills (e.g., basic case studies). Supervise a team of student research aides, effectively managing human and financial resources.

Lead data management and creation of datasets.

Ensure that the data gathered are of the highest possible quality through cleaning, verification, analysis, and vetting.

Maintain technical documentation of data management processes.

Interpret data and identify relevant analyses with the goal of providing actionable insights.

Leverage their knowledge of international relations theory and related fields of study.

Discern the appropriate qualitative or quantitative technique to help improve our understanding of the data/challenge at hand.

Work independently and collaboratively in problem-solving efforts to meet internal and external deadlines and objectives.

Maintain positive client/sponsor relations through clear, timely, and professional verbal and written communication.

The Senior Research Associate will also be expected to:

Provide well-researched advice on project conceptualization in the pre-project stage, particularly related to analytical methodology.

Lead authorship on client-/sponsor-facing analytical reports for geopolitically-relevant topics, consulting with the Associate Director of Geopolitical Analysis and Director, as needed.

Coordinate own workflow and set priorities, subject to general guidelines provided by the Associate Director of Geopolitical Analysis and Director.

Knowledge, Skills, and Abilities:

Willingness and ability to become knowledgeable with the IFs model, with a rapidly-developed ability to support – and, for Senior Research Associates, and eventually lead – client-/sponsor-facing analysis.

Knowledgeable with advanced statistical analysis (or with demonstrated ability to become knowledgeable), with an ability to apply techniques to real-world data and produce analysis for technical and non-technical audiences.

Strong project management skills, including (but not limited to): tracking and communicating progress of toward milestones/deliverables; coordinating multiple tasks toward completion, communicating and managing expectations with subordinates and supervisors; and effective resource management.

Excellent technical writing skills to support – and, for Senior Research Associates, occasionally lead – research projects and support grant applications.

Ability to create professional quality presentations and visualizations on geopolitically-relevant research products.

Ability to organize and efficiently manipulate data in Microsoft Excel. Knowledge of STATA, SAS, R, Python or other software suitable for the transformation, visualization, and statistical analysis of large data-sets.

For Senior Research Associates: Ability to set and meet goals independently.

For Senior Research Associates: Ability to develop and manage good working relationships internal and external to the organization.

For Senior Research Associates: Ability to manage projects with multiple stakeholders, tactfully holding project members and leadership accountable to deadlines.

Required Qualifications:

Research Associate:

Bachelor's degree in International Relations, Political Science, Public Policy, Economics, or related field.

1 year of experience supporting high-quality social science research. Experience functioning within a team and meeting deadlines.

College-level coursework on conducting high-quality, advanced quantitative analysis.

Demonstrated commitment to fostering an environment in which faculty, staff, students, and community partners from diverse backgrounds and cultural identities feel welcome and valued.

U.S. Citizen.

Senior Research Associate:

For Senior Research Associate I: Master's degree in International Relations, Political Science, Public Policy, Economics, or related field.

For Senior Research Associate II: PhD in International Relations, Political Science, Public Policy, Economics, or related field.

3 years of experience conducting high-quality, social science research. Experience functioning within a team, working on multiple projects simultaneously, and meeting deadlines.

Demonstrated experience in successfully conducting high-quality, advanced quantitative analysis.

Demonstrated commitment to fostering an environment in which faculty, staff, students, and community partners from diverse backgrounds and cultural identities feel welcome and valued.

U.S. Citizen.

Preferred Qualifications:

Research Associate:

Master's degree in International Relations, Political Science, Public Policy, Economics, or related field.

2 years of experience conducting high-quality, social science research.

Senior Research Associate:

Ph.D. in International Relations, Political Science, Public Policy, Economics, or related field.

5+ years of experience in high quality social science research related to international development, security, or the environment using quantitative methods.

Supervisory experience of hourly employees and/or students.

Working Environment

Standard office environment.

Unexpected interruptions occur often, and stress level is moderate to high.

Noise level is quiet to moderate.

Physical Activities

Ability to sit in front of a computer for an extended period.

Occasionally required to move about the office/campus with the capability of transporting objects up to 20 lbs.

Work Schedule:

Monday - Friday, 9:00 a.m.- 5:00 p.m. Work hours may vary; in conversation with the employee's supervisor, flexible hours may be considered in accordance with the University's flexible work policies. Hybrid (in-person and remote).

Application Deadline:

For consideration, please submit your application materials by 4:00 p.m. (MST) July 31, 2024.

Special Instructions:

Candidates must apply online through jobs.du.edu to be considered. Only applications submitted online will be accepted.

Salary Grade Number:

The salary grade for the Research Associate position is 12. The salary grade for the Senior Research Associate position is 13.

Salary Range:

The salary range for the Research Associate position is $70,000-$90,000.

The salary range for the Senior Research Associate position is $85,000-$102,200.

The University of Denver has provided a compensation range that represents its good faith estimate of what the University may pay for the position at the time of posting. The University may ultimately pay more or less than the posted compensation range. The salary offered to the selected candidate will be determined based on factors such as the qualifications of the selected candidate, departmental budget availability, internal salary equity considerations, and available market information, but not based on a candidate's sex or any other protected status.

Benefits:

The University of Denver offers excellent benefits, including medical, dental, retirement, paid time off, tuition benefit and ECO pass. The University of Denver is a private institution that empowers students who want to make a difference. Learn more about the University of Denver.

Please include the following documents with your application:

Resume
Cover Letter

The University of Denver is an equal opportunity employer. The University of Denver prohibits discrimination on the basis of race, color, national origin, ancestry, age, religion, creed, disability, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, gender expression, marital status, pregnancy, genetic information, military enlistment, or veteran status, and any other class of individuals protected from discrimination under federal, state, or local law, regulation, or ordinance in any of the University's educational programs and activities, and in the employment (including application for employment) and admissions (including application for admission) context, as required by Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972; the Americans with Disabilities Act; Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973; Title VI and VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964; the Age Discrimination Act of 1975; the Age Discrimination in Employment Act of 1967; Equal Pay Act; Colorado Equal Pay for Equal Work Act; the Colorado Protecting Opportunities and Workers' Rights ("POWR") Act; and any other federal, state, and local laws, regulations, or ordinances that prohibit discrimination, harassment, and/or retaliation. For more information, please see the University of Denver's Non-Discrimination Statement.

All offers of employment are contingent upon satisfactory completion of a criminal history background check.

Start Date: Fall 2024
Application Deadline: 7/31/2024
Date Posted: 7/18/2024
Salary: $100,000 - $109,999
eJobs ID: 14510

American Bar Foundation

Rank: Research Professor

The American Bar Foundation (ABF) invites applications to join its residential faculty as a Research Professor beginning in the 2025-2026 academic year. We seek one or more early to mid-career scholar(s) with a PhD and/or JD and a demonstrated capacity for innovative research on socio-legal issues. We welcome applicants from all research domains, all social science disciplines, and all methodological and theoretical approaches. We are deeply committed to fostering a diverse scholarly community, and we strongly encourage applicants from historically under-represented groups.

The successful candidate(s) will join a vibrant interdisciplinary community of scholars, contributing to expanding knowledge and advancing justice through rigorous, theoretically grounded empirical research. ABF Research Professors hold a mix of full-time appointments at the ABF and joint appointments with nearby universities. These appointments are ongoing, subject to periodic performance reviews. All ABF Research Professors receive competitive salary and benefits and generous internal research funding, along with office space, computing support, and library access at the ABF's downtown Chicago headquarters, adjacent to the Northwestern University Law School. They enjoy intellectual autonomy and are responsible for setting their own research agendas and designing and conducting their own empirical investigations, and they are expected to pursue external funding and publication opportunities whenever feasible and appropriate.

For the current hiring cycle, we especially encourage applicants with backgrounds in anthropology, or with research agendas addressing migration and citizenship, whether in the US or globally. We also particularly welcome applicants, regardless of discipline or research domain, who seek a full-time (non-joint) ABF appointment, although joint appointments with Chicago-area universities are also possible.

Interested candidates should submit a cover letter of no more than three pages, which should include a brief statement about the applicant's commitment to diversity and inclusion in their scholarship and professional life; a curriculum vitae; a writing sample; a Research Statement of no more than two pages, describing current and future research plans; and three academic letters of reference.

All materials should be uploaded electronically, through the Breezy portal, at <https://bit.ly/abfrp25>. To ensure full consideration, applications should be submitted no later than September 15, 2024. Inquiries can be directed to careers@abfn.org.

About the ABF

The ABF is a world-renowned interdisciplinary research institute committed to the empirical social scientific study of law, legal institutions, and legal processes. Founded in 1952 by the American Bar Association (ABA) and supported in part by the American Bar Endowment (ABE), the ABF operates as a fully independent organization – autonomous, nonpartisan, and firmly committed to academic freedom and open inquiry. Its Chicago-based but globally engaged faculty-in-residence includes leading scholars in anthropology, economics, history, political science, psychology, sociology, and law. The vibrant and diverse ABF community also features a wide array of weekly speakers, visiting scholars, and post-doctoral, doctoral, and undergraduate research fellows. (For more about the ABF, see: www.americanbarfoundation.org/about and www.americanbarfoundation.org/careers.)

Start Date: Fall 2025
Application Deadline: 9/15/2024
Date Posted: 7/15/2024
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 14496

University of Cambridge

Rank: THE PROFESSORSHIP OF POLITICS

THE PROFESSORSHIP OF POLITICS

Department of Politics and International Studies

The Board of Electors to the Professorship of Politics invite applications for this Professorship from persons whose work falls within the general field of Politics (with the exception of International Relations and Public Policy), to take up appointment on 1 September 2025 or as soon as possible thereafter.

Candidates will have an outstanding research record of international stature in the field of Politics and the vision, leadership, experience and enthusiasm to build on current strengths of the Department of Politics and International Studies at the University of Cambridge. They will hold a PhD or equivalent postgraduate qualification and demonstrate a proven track record of publications in the best international outlets.

Standard professorial duties include lecturing, supervising, research, examining, supervision and administration. The Professor is expected to be based in Cambridge. A competitive salary will be offered.

Further information is available at: <http://www.hr.admin.cam.ac.uk/professorships> or contact the Human Resources, University Offices, The Old Schools, Cambridge, CB2 1TT, (email: professorships@admin.cam.ac.uk).

Applications, consisting of a letter of application, a statement of current and future research plans, a description of the range of possible teaching that could be offered, a description of leadership experience, a curriculum vitae and a publications list, along with details of three referees should be made online no later than 15 September 2024.

Informal enquiries may be directed to Professor Jude Browne, Head of Department and Convenor of Board of Electors: jmb63@cam.ac.uk.

Start Date: Summer 2024

Application Deadline: 9/15/2024

Date Posted: 7/15/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14493

Princeton University

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Associate

The Princeton Institute for International and Regional Studies (PIIRS) at Princeton University is pleased to introduce a groundbreaking fellowship program. As a leading global institution in interdisciplinary research on international issues, PIIRS is dedicated to advancing innovative scholarship that addresses the world's most pressing challenges. The PIIRS Postdoctoral Fellows Program is integral to that mission.

We will award multiple postdoctoral fellowships to our inaugural cohort in 2025-2026, recent PhDs in the Social Sciences who have demonstrated exceptional scholarship, congruent with the Institute's intellectual focus, that simultaneously advances theoretical debates in their disciplinary field; creatively speaks to and engages with a multidisciplinary audience; and deepens substantive regional knowledge of specific places.

Appointments are for one year (12 months) with the possibility of renewal pending satisfactory performance and continued funding. Fellows must reside on campus during the academic year to fully engage with PIIRS and university activities. Leveraging Princeton's scholarly resources, fellows will focus on research, expand their intellectual horizons, and prepare work for publication. They will have biweekly meetings with the faculty director to share their work, and monthly meetings with faculty fellows from various social sciences to present their work and learn from others. Fellows are also encouraged to engage with colleagues and attend departmental seminars.

Applicants must demonstrate outstanding scholarly achievement and promise. To be eligible, applicants generally cannot have more than two years of postdoctoral experience prior to the start of the appointment, at the beginning of the academic year, September 1, 2025.

The postdoctoral selection will be made based on the strength of the candidates' scholarly record; the promise of the proposed research; and the ability to contribute to the intellectual life of the postdoctoral program (with interest in connecting with other PIIRS and Princeton departments on campus).

In addition to a competitive salary, benefits, and housing subsidy, the program will provide the Fellow with the opportunity to host a small, pre-publication, book workshop; and a research fund of $4,000 per year.

Applicants must apply online at <https://puwebp.princeton.edu/AcadHire/apply/application.xhtml?listingId=35401><https://puwebp.princeton.edu/AcadHire/apply/application.xhtml?listingId=35401>. Applications are due by November 1, 2024 (11:59 p.m. EST). The following application items should be uploaded by the applicant:

- Cover letter
- Curriculum vitae
- Transcripts
- Research Proposal indicating plans for two-year postdoc (maximum 5 pages doublespaced)
- Dissertation abstract (including Table of Contents)
- Writing sample: one chapter of the dissertation or one published article related to dissertation topic.
- Document confirming either that you have completed all requirements for the PhD degree or a letter signed from your dissertation advisor indicating that you will complete the PhD by the start date of the fellowship
- The names and email addresses for three referees, who will be contacted automatically by the online application system with an invitation to upload their letter of recommendation to the system by the application deadline. (Please note: all letters of reference should be submitted by your referees before the November 1, 2024 deadline. **)

Further information can be found at <https://piirs.princeton.edu/funding-fellowships/piirs-postdoctoral-fellows><https://piirs.princeton.edu/funding-fellowships/piirs-postdoctoral-fellows1>.

This position is subject to the University's background check policy. The work location for this position is in-person on campus at Princeton University.

Princeton University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to age, race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 11/4/2024

Date Posted: 7/11/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14483

University of Iowa

Rank: Assistant Professor in the Study of Conflict

The Department of Political Science at the University of Iowa invites applications for a tenure-track position at the rank of Assistant Professor with a focus in the study of conflict (either inter-state or intra-state). The Department welcomes applications from candidates who are doing research on violent conflict between or within countries.

This could include great power conflicts, wars and military crises between countries, the effect of domestic politics on inter-state conflict, the political economy of inter- or intra-state conflict, terrorism, civil wars, and studies on resolving, ending, and preventing conflict. Preference will be given to candidates who use quantitative methods. Candidates must be able to teach courses in International Relations. Candidates should clearly describe their research and teaching interests in their letter of application and include a CV, research statement, teaching statement, writing sample, teaching evaluations, and letters of recommendation.

The position will begin on August 20, 2025, and the appointment requires a Ph.D in hand by start date. The review of applicants will begin September 10, 2024, and will continue until the position is filled.

For information on how to apply, please visit <http://jobs.uiowa.edu/> and reference Requisition #75285. Electronic attachments to the online application include a letter of interest, curriculum vitae, research statement, teaching statement, writing sample, teaching evaluations and information for 3 letters of reference. Question can be directed to polisci@uiowa.edu.

Required Qualifications

- PhD in Political Science, International Relations, Government, or related field in hand by start date.
- Has a primary research and teaching specialty in International Relations and Conflict
- Has conducted research in the study of Conflict.
- Ability to teach International Relations classes at the undergraduate and graduate level

Desirable Qualifications

- Ability to publish in general field refereed journals or books
- Demonstrated strong quantitative methods skills
- Proven ability to be an effective instructor

Successful candidates will be required to self-disclose any misconduct history or pending research misconduct investigation including but not limited to sexual misconduct in prior employment and provide a related release and will be subject to a criminal background and credential check and credential/education verification.

The University of Iowa is an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer. All qualified applicants are encouraged to apply and will receive consideration for employment free from discrimination on the basis of race, creed, color, religion, national origin, age, sex, pregnancy (including childbirth and related conditions), disability, genetic information, status as a U.S. veteran, service in the U.S. military, sexual orientation, gender identity, or associational preferences.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/9/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14478

New York University Abu Dhabi

Rank: Post-Doctoral Associate in the Division of Social Science - Dr. Aaron Kaufman

Subfield(s): Political Theory, Political Theory, Other

Specializations: Science & Technology, Political Economy, Science & Technology

We are inviting applications for a Postdoctoral Associate in the Division of Social Science at NYU Abu Dhabi from individuals who have or will soon receive a PhD in one of the social sciences, computer science, or a related discipline. The appointment will begin September 1, 2025, subject to final budget approval.

The post-doctoral associate will spend half their time on independent research, and half their time on collaborative research with Professor Aaron Kaufman. The collaborative research will be at the intersection of computational social science, large language models, and political science.

We seek a candidate with expertise in managing big data sets and efficiently implementing machine learning and NLP workflows, and who has an interest in applying those tools to political institutions and political economy. This is an excellent position for a computational scientist looking to move to the social sciences.

The position does not require teaching, but it may be possible to get teaching experience for compensation. You would join a group of over 20 post-doctoral fellows and 70 faculty in the Division of Social Science.

For consideration, applicants must submit their application to <http://apply.interfolio.com/146823>. The application must include a cover letter, curriculum vitae with full publication list, statement of research interests, transcript of degree, and two letters of reference, all in PDF format

If you have any questions, please email Professor Kaufman at aaron-kaufman@nyu.edu.

About NYU Abu Dhabi:

NYU Abu Dhabi is a degree-granting research university with a fully integrated liberal arts and science undergraduate program in the Arts, Sciences, Social Sciences, Humanities, and Engineering. NYU Abu Dhabi, NYU New York, and NYU Shanghai, form the backbone of NYU's global network university, an interconnected network of portal campuses and academic centers across six continents that enable seamless international mobility of students and faculty in their pursuit of academic and scholarly activity. This global university represents a transformative shift in higher education, one in which the intellectual and creative endeavors of academia are shaped and examined through an international and multicultural perspective. As a major intellectual hub at the crossroads of the Arab world, NYUAD serves as a center for scholarly thought, advanced research, knowledge creation, and sharing, through its academic, research, and creative activities.

EOE/AA/Minorities/Females/Vet/Disabled/Sexual Orientation/Gender Identity Employer

UAE Nationals are encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/8/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14474

University of Massachusetts, Amherst

Rank: Assistant Professor Legal Studies Program

About UMass Amherst

UMass Amherst, the Commonwealth's flagship campus, is a nationally ranked public research university offering a full range of undergraduate, graduate, and professional degrees. The University sits on nearly 1,450-acres in the scenic Pioneer Valley of Western Massachusetts and offers a rich cultural environment in a bucolic setting close to major urban centers. In addition, the University is part of the Five Colleges (including Amherst College, Hampshire College, Mount Holyoke College, and Smith College), which adds to the intellectual energy of the region.

Job Description

The interdisciplinary Legal Studies Program of the Department of Political Science and the Commonwealth Honors College at the University of Massachusetts Amherst are pleased to announce a joint faculty position at the rank of Assistant Professor of Legal Studies and Commonwealth Honors College, to commence Fall 2025. This is an Honors faculty tenure-track position. We welcome applicants from a variety of methodological, disciplinary, and theoretical backgrounds with a substantive focus on law, crime, and society, punishment, and/or the carceral state, in the United States or the US in comparative perspective. The teaching load is 2/2 and consists of two Legal Studies courses and two Honors courses per year, particularly the Honors Thesis Seminar or courses satisfying General Education requirements. Honors Faculty also are engaged in the Commonwealth Honors College community and meet annually with the CHC Dean, in addition to contributing to the life of their home department, college, and university.

Requirements

Applicants must have earned a Ph.D. in Political Science, Sociology, Anthropology, Criminology, or other related field by the appointment start date.

Additional Information

Legal Studies at UMass is the oldest undergraduate liberal arts program for the study of law and society in the country, and the only one in New England at a public university. The Program is housed in the Department of Political Science and maintains its own distinct undergraduate major. The expanding Legal Studies Program is a center for ambitious intellectual activity and research that addresses important questions about the place of law in societies around the world while helping to produce the next generation of social science law and society scholars. The College of Social and Behavioral Sciences is the institutional home of the Law and Society Association, the world's premier interdisciplinary legal studies organization, and the Center for Justice, Law, and Societies. Commonwealth Honors College is the flagship honors college for the Commonwealth of Massachusetts and a nationally recognized residential community that serves the land grant mission of UMass Amherst. Honors students benefit from small honors classes and close-knit ties with faculty that enrich the honors thesis experience and student success.

Instructions for Applicants

Along with the application, please submit the following:

A letter of interest addressed to Professor Rebecca Hamlin, Director of Legal Studies, Thompson Hall, 200 Hicks Way, Amherst, MA 01003 USA.

A curriculum vitae.

Evidence of quality teaching (such as summaries of teaching evaluations) and a teaching statement.

A statement explaining your understanding of justice, equity, diversity, and inclusion and how you would contribute to these values at UMass. Names and contact information for three (3) references who are willing to submit letters upon request through the UMass online application system.

Writing sample.

Inquiries about the position can be addressed to Rebecca Hamlin, Director of Legal Studies (rhamlin@umass.edu). Applications will be reviewed beginning September 10, 2024, and will continue until the position is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/5/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14461

Loyola University Maryland

Rank: Per course Instructor in American Politics

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Policy, Other

Specializations: Congress, Electoral Behavior, Political Behavior

The Department of Political Science at Loyola University Maryland invites applications to teach undergraduate American Politics courses in-person for the Spring 2025 semester. We seek instructors capable of teaching in their area of expertise, in one or more of nearly any area of American Politics (for example, Political Parties, Campaigns and Elections, Public Policy, Public Opinion, Media and Politics, Political Psychology, Social Movements). The instructor would teach in a part-time, non-tenure track capacity but may be able to teach multiple sections of the same course.

The Political Science Department has a strong teaching culture. We especially value candidates who have a strong interest in teaching undergraduates and who are able to implement thoughtful, intentional pedagogies that support the learning of a wide range of students.

A Ph.D. or A.B.D. in Political Science is required. College/university teaching experience is strongly preferred. Aside from holding office hours with students, no committee assignments or service requirements will be associated with the position.

Loyola University Maryland is a dynamic, highly selective, Jesuit Catholic university in the liberal arts tradition. It is highly ranked among the leading independent, comprehensive universities in the northeastern United States. Committed to intellectual excellence, diversity, and social justice, the University enrolls over 4,000 students in its undergraduate programs and more than 3,000 students in its graduate programs.

Loyola University Maryland strongly values the benefits that diversity brings to the workplace. In accord with its Ignatian values, the University is committed to creating and promoting a community that recognizes the inherent value and dignity of each person. Loyola University Maryland does not discriminate on the basis of race, sex, color, national or ethnic origin, age, religion, disability, marital status, sexual orientation, gender identity, genetic information, military status, or any other legally protected classification. The University recruits, hires, and promotes in accord with this policy and its Core Values.

To begin the application process, please send a curriculum vitae with a statement of interest. Eventually, we will ask for letters of reference, a graduate transcript, teaching evaluations (if available), and a cover letter explaining teaching interests and experience in relation to Loyola's educational mission. Application materials should be submitted to Political Science Department Chair Dr. Carsten Vala at cvala@loyola.edu, who is also available to answer questions. The search committee will begin screening applications immediately and continue until the position is filled.

Salary range: $4,000 - $4,500 per course (without and with PhD)

Start Date: Spring 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/2/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14463

Ashoka University

Rank: Assistant Professor (Tenure Track) positions in the Department of Political Science

The Department of Political Science at Ashoka University invites applications for full-time faculty positions at the level of tenure track Assistant Professor. We welcome outstanding candidates in any subfield of Political Science. Those with expertise involving regions outside South Asia are particularly encouraged to apply.

Successful candidates are expected to excel in teaching and research. Faculty members are also expected to mentor students, supervise their research, and contribute to the institution. Ashoka offers an attractive pay package as well as support for research.

We strongly encourage applications by women and members of other groups underrepresented in academia.

Qualifications

Applicants should have a PhD by the time of appointment. Selected candidates would be expected to join by 1 January or 1 August 2025.

Application Instructions

Applicants for the position of tenure track Assistant Professor should submit:

- 1) a cover letter
- 2) curriculum vitae
- 3) two samples of academic writings
- 4) teaching philosophy statement and evaluations (if available)
- 5) research statement
- 6) three confidential letters of reference.

All materials should be submitted through Interfolio link: <http://apply.interfolio.com/147240>

The deadline for submitting a complete application is 20th October 2024.

For any queries or further information, please contact: hod.pol@ashoka.edu.in with '2024 Faculty Recruitment' marked in the Subject line.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 10/20/2024

Date Posted: 7/1/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14454

Ashoka University

Rank: Professor/Associate Professor, Tenure-track Professor positions in Political Science

The Department of Political Science at Ashoka University invites applications for full-time faculty positions at the levels of tenured Associate and Full Professors. We welcome outstanding candidates in any subfield of Political Science. Those with expertise involving regions outside South Asia are particularly encouraged to apply.

Successful candidates are expected to excel in teaching and research. Faculty members are also expected to mentor students, supervise their research, and contribute to the institution. Ashoka offers an attractive pay package as well as support for research.

We strongly encourage applications by women and members of other groups underrepresented in academia.

Qualifications

Applicants should have a PhD by the time of appointment. Selected candidates would be expected to join by 1 January or 1 August 2025.

Application Instructions

Applicants for the position of tenured Associate or Full Professor should submit:

- 1) a cover letter
- 2) curriculum vitae
- 3) two samples of academic writings
- 4) statement of teaching philosophy
- 5) research statement
- 6) names of three references.

All materials should be submitted through Interfolio link: <http://apply.interfolio.com/147241>

The deadline for submitting a complete application is: 20th October, 2024.

For any queries or further information, please contact: hod.pol@ashoka.edu.in with '2024 Faculty Recruitment' marked in the Subject line.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 10/20/2024

Date Posted: 7/1/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14453

Princeton University

Rank: Harold T. Shapiro Postdoctoral Research Associate in Bioethics

The Princeton University Center for Human Values invites applications for the Harold T. Shapiro Postdoctoral Fellowship in Bioethics for a position starting around September 2025. The Shapiro Fellowship supports outstanding scholars studying ethical questions arising from developments in medicine, the biological sciences, or the human population. We particularly encourage proposals focusing on problems of practical importance that have broader theoretical interest.

Appointments are for one year with the possibility of renewal pending satisfactory performance and continued funding. The Shapiro Fellow will spend time at Princeton conducting research and, as needed, teaching up to one semester course each year, pending sufficient course enrollments and with the approval of the Office of the Dean of the Faculty. They will participate in the Ira W. DeCamp Seminar in Bioethics and in a range of other activities in the University Center for Human Values.

Qualifications

Applications welcome from candidates who have or expect to have a Ph.D., M.D., or other equivalent doctoral degree. Applicants should not have more than two years of postdoctoral experience by the start of appointment. An applicant may have a background in any related field, not necessarily in bioethics. However, the proposed research plan should be in the field of bioethics.

Applications will be evaluated on the basis of the applicant's previous accomplishments and the promise of the proposed research project in bioethics. The capacity to contribute to the University's teaching program will also be considered.

Term of Appointment

The term of the fellowship is one year, normally beginning September 1, 2025, with the possibility of renewal for up to two additional years pending satisfactory performance. Appointment will be made to the rank of Postdoctoral Research Associate; the Shapiro Fellow will also carry the title of Lecturer, if teaching. Princeton University offers competitive salary and employee benefits.

How to Apply

Candidates must submit an online application at <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/35121> (Link is external).

A complete application will include the following supporting materials:

- A curriculum vitae;
- A research proposal (not to exceed 1,500 words). Please provide an indicative title in the heading;
- A scholarly paper (of no more than 12,000 words, not including bibliography) representing the applicant's scholarly achievement or potential;
- Contact information for two referees, who should be prepared to comment specifically about the applicant's qualifications for the proposed research project. Referees will be contacted directly with instructions for uploading letters of reference.

These materials must be submitted online by the application deadline of Monday, November 25, 2024, 11:59 p.m. EST. We do not accept application materials by any other method. Letters of reference should be submitted by Monday, December 2, 2024, 11:59 p.m. EST. The selection committee will begin reviewing applications immediately, so receipt of letters of reference after December 2nd may put candidates at a disadvantage.

Decisions will be announced in March 2025. This position is subject to the University's background check policy. The work location for this position is in-person on campus at Princeton University.

Princeton University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to age, race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 11/25/2024

Date Posted: 6/26/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14445

Princeton University

Rank: Laurance S Rockefeller Visiting Faculty Fellowships

The University Center for Human Values invites applications for Laurance S. Rockefeller Visiting Faculty Fellowships for the academic year 2025-26. Fellows devote an academic year in residence at Princeton to research and writing about topics involving human values in public and private life. This full-time visiting program is open to scholars in all disciplines across the humanities and social sciences. We welcome applications from scholars from a variety of disciplines.

Fellows are expected to reside in or around Princeton or demonstrate to the program's satisfaction the ability to commute to campus on a daily basis during the 12-week fall and spring semesters. Fellows pursue their own research and are active contributors to the intellectual life of the Center. This includes participating in a weekly seminar attended by fellows and Center faculty to discuss work in progress and in various other seminars, colloquia and lectures sponsored by the Center. Fellows enjoy access to Firestone Library and to a wide range of activities and facilities throughout the University.

Candidates must have a doctorate or equivalent professional degree and a strong record of research publications appropriate to their career stage. Typically, Fellows hold faculty positions at other universities or colleges; in exceptional cases we consider applications from independent scholars when there is a high level of scholarly achievement. This is not a postdoctoral fellowship program and we do not generally consider candidates who will have held the Ph.D. for less than two years at the time of appointment, or who are coming directly from a postdoctoral fellowship.

The fellowship typically extends from September 1 to June 1. Fellows receive a stipend paid in nine equal installments. Ordinarily, home institutions provide a portion of their salaries in addition to benefits, although this is not a requirement. Independent scholars are eligible to apply.

Main considerations in the evaluation of applications are the following:

The significance of the proposed research and its relevance to the purposes of the University Center for Human Values (see <http://uchv.princeton.edu/> (Link is external))

The quality of a candidate's previous research and the contribution the candidate is likely to make in the future through their scholarship. The likelihood that the research would benefit from being conducted in the University Center environment

How to apply

Candidates must submit an online application at <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/35003> (Link is external).

Required materials:

- A CV

- One scholarly paper (no more than 12,000 words) written in the past three years
- A statement (no more than 1,500 words) describing the proposed research project, including a brief working title for the project.
- Contact information for three referees, including at least one referee who was not a graduate advisor (note that referees will be asked to send in their letters fairly quickly – by October 26, 2024 for best consideration).

Applicant materials must be submitted by the deadline: October 18, 2024, 11:59 p.m. EST. We aim to announce decisions by late March 2025.

The work location for this position is in-person on campus at Princeton University.

Princeton University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to age, race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 10/18/2024

Date Posted: 6/24/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14439

University of North Carolina, Pembroke

Rank: Assistant Professor of Public Administration focus on Emergency Management

Subfield(s): Public Administration, Other, Methodology

Assistant Professor of Public Administration with focus on Emergency Management

The Department of Political Science and Public Administration at the University of North Carolina, Pembroke seeks an assistant professor of public administration with the ability to teach in the area of emergency management. This position will be responsible for teaching a mix of courses in emergency management and public administration at the graduate level, methodology courses at the graduate and undergraduate level, and at least one of our general education courses (Introduction to Political Science, American National Government, or State and Local Government and Administration).

The area of teaching and research specialization is open. Preferences will be given to candidates who are focused clearly on the administration side of the discipline, those who have a record of teaching courses in emergency management, and to those who can teach methodology. Preferences will also be given to candidates who show how their research may connect and enhance community resiliency through emergency preparation at all government levels. Successful candidates must show excellence in both online teaching as well as in the traditional classroom since this position will require the candidate to consistently teach in both learning platforms. While the teaching load for the university is 4-4, course release time is provided for those who teach graduate courses. The expected teaching for this position is three to five graduate courses each year and one or more undergraduate course each year, with most courses offered on a predictable rotation.

UNCP is a regional university serving rural North Carolina that emphasizes excellence in teaching. The Department of Political Science and Public Administration serves several programs including a

B.A. program with four different concentrations and a Master of Public Administration program with four different concentrations. Additionally, the department actively contributes to a growing B.I.S. program in Public and Non-profit Management and Administration. Courses for the department are offered both on campus and in online formats.

To be considered for this position, candidates must hold a Ph.D. in public administration, emergency management, or a closely related field, or be ABD with a clear date of completion. To apply, applicants must complete the application for employment form found at <https://jobs.uncp.edu> where they will be instructed to submit a CV, a writing sample, and a teaching portfolio that demonstrates competence in online teaching and in person, as well as past course evaluations (if applicable). Candidates who are selected after the first round of consideration will be asked to submit three letters of recommendation for consideration. For questions, please contact the chair of the department, Dr. Emily Sharum (emily.sharum@uncp.edu).

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/10/2024

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 14406

Amherst College

Rank: Assistant Professor Race and American Law

Specializations: African American Politics, Civil Rights & Liberties, Race & Ethnic Politics

Amherst College's Department of Law, Jurisprudence and Social Thought invites applications for a tenure-track position at the rank of assistant professor in the area of Race and American Law. The college is committed to cultivating an inclusive and critically engaged educational environment. Nearly one-quarter of Amherst's students are Pell Grant recipients; close to half of our students are domestic students of color. The successful candidate will demonstrate competence and sensitivity in working in a department in which students are broadly diverse in matters of gender, race, ethnicity, nationality, socioeconomic status, sexual identity, political outlook, and religion.

In searching in the field of race and American law, we seek a colleague who sees the domain broadly through the light of theory, practice, and history. We are interested in candidates who conduct research into, for example: the legal construction of race; the moral and legal debates concerning race-based reparative and redistributive practices; the racial dimensions of carceral practices, understood both domestically and trans-nationally; the racial dimensions of the legal construction of space; the role that racial-thinking has played in the construction of immigration policy and the very idea of "Americanness"; how matters of race inform issues of environmental justice; and how the American legal response to the legacy of slavery compares and contrasts with that of other nations with a history of chattel slavery (eg. Brazil).

Teaching responsibilities include two courses per semester and supervision of senior honors projects. We welcome applications from persons trained in the social sciences, the humanities, and/or law. We are particularly interested in candidates whose research and teaching are interdisciplinary. The position requires a Ph.D. (candidates must have the Ph.D. degree in hand or all requirements for the degree fulfilled by the start of the appointment) or a J.D. The start date for the position is July 1, 2025. To apply, candidates are asked to submit electronically (<https://apply.interfolio.com/142507>) a cover letter addressed to Professor Lawrence Douglas, a curriculum vitae, a sample of their scholarship, a teaching statement, and three confidential letters of recommendation. Review of applications will begin on September 15, 2024, and will continue until the position is filled. Amherst College is a private undergraduate liberal arts college with 1,800 students and more than 200 faculty members. Located in the Connecticut River Valley of western Massachusetts, Amherst participates with Hampshire, Mount Holyoke, and Smith Colleges and the University of Massachusetts in the Five-College Consortium.

Start Date: Summer 2025

Application Deadline: 9/15/2024

Date Posted: 3/11/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 13251

National University of Singapore

Rank: Lectureship in Global Studies

The Department of Political Science and Global Studies Programme at the National University of Singapore invites applications for a lecturer of Global Studies Programme. Global Studies is an interdisciplinary programme examining the processes and effects of globalisation across political, economic, social, and cultural domains. We welcome applications from scholars with teaching and research interests in any of the following three areas: global political economy; global dimensions of environmental/climate change; or, global dimensions of human health and development. More information about these themes can be found on the Global Studies website.

Scholars from all social science disciplines with expertise in the themes referenced above are welcome to apply. Applicants with multidisciplinary or interdisciplinary teaching experience and a specialization in global political economy and its effect on race, class, or gender are particularly encouraged to apply.

Lecturers may be promoted advance to Senior Lecturer and then to open-contracted Associate Professor and Professor appointments. Initial appointments are for three years, Senior Lecturer appointments come with a five-year appointment, while appointments at the Associate Professor and above come with open contracts. The teaching load is 3:3 (three courses per semester, totaling six per academic year). Exceptional applicants may be considered for Senior Lecturer if they have at least 5 years of relevant experience.

Salaries at NUS are internationally competitive, includes eligibility for annual performance bonuses and salary increments, subsidized housing for nine years, medical benefits, and research and conference support.

Applicants should submit the following documents:

1. Candidates should submit a letter of application clearly detailing how their research or teaching expertise aligns with the teaching of GL2102 Global Political Economy, and your potential for interdisciplinary teaching;
2. A CV;
3. A teaching statement of no more than 2 pages (short-listed candidates will be asked to submit sample syllabi, teaching evaluations, and/or other evidence of teaching effectiveness);
4. The names and contact information for three references (References will only be contacted for short-listed candidates).

For full consideration, please submit your materials to this website <https://careers.nus.edu.sg/job-invite/23710/> by 22 March 2024.

Applications received after this date may still be considered until the position is filled. Only shortlisted candidates will be contacted.

Contact list for further enquiries

Enquiries may be directed to Dr George Radics at socrgb@nus.edu.sg. Further information about working at the National University of Singapore is available at <https://www.nus.edu.sg/careers/why-join-us/>. The Department website can be found at <https://fass.nus.edu.sg/globalstudies/>.

Please note that only short-listed candidates will be notified.

Start Date:

Date Posted: 2/21/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 13210

Yale University

Rank: Post-doctoral fellowships with the Identity & Conflict Lab

Specializations: Germany, China, United States

The Identity & Conflict Lab (ICL) at Yale University, led by Professor Nicholas Sambanis, seeks up to two exceptional candidates as Postdoctoral Associates for the 2024-2025 academic year. This opportunity is for a one-year, full-time residential postdoctoral research fellowship, with potential to renew for one year.

Housed in the MacMillan Center for International and Area Studies, the ICL addresses a broad range of critical questions focused on inter-group conflict and identity politics. The ICL analyzes how social identities shape individual behavior, how conflict affects identities, and what interventions are effective in reducing inter-group conflict. Both violent and non-violent forms of conflict are considered, ranging from bias, discrimination, and protest to ethnic violence, secessionism and war. The ICL has several ongoing projects in four thematic areas: (1) native-immigrant conflict and the politics of immigrant integration across countries, with a focus on Greece, Cyprus, Turkey, Germany, Denmark, and Qatar; (2) effects of national identification (patriotism; nationalism) on foreign policy preferences with case applications in Greece, South Korea, China, and the United States; (3) strategies to reduce majority-minority group conflicts in India and Pakistan; and (4) collection and analysis of new data on separatist conflicts worldwide, and prediction of new conflict outbreaks of separatist violence. A variety of methods are used to study these topics, including surveys, survey experiments, field experiments, and quantitative analysis of observational data. The ICL seeks to integrate substantive and methodological knowledge across the social and behavioral sciences to develop new analytical approaches and new insights into these thematic areas with a view to shaping new directions in scholarly literatures as well as influencing policy design.

Postdoctoral associates will split their time between their own research and work with Professor Nicholas Sambanis on one or more of the Lab's ongoing projects. Innovative new project proposals by associates can also be considered for funding by the ICL.

Job responsibilities will vary depending on the strengths and interests of the successful applicant. Associates will be expected to collect and clean data; review reports on ongoing projects; prepare visualizations and reports of quantitative analysis of new data collected in the lab; assist with drafting grant proposals; program surveys; prepare IRB applications; conduct quantitative data analysis to support ongoing

Lab projects; and co-author papers and reports with the Lab Director and affiliated faculty. Additionally, associates will be asked to contribute to the ICL Director's engagement with funders, prepare presentations of lab reports/papers, prepare replication files for published studies, help manage the ICL website and seminar series, and provide summaries of ongoing ICL work for public outreach.

There is no formal teaching requirement. Associates will be expected to help organize the ICL's annual conference as well as the workshop, which will hold occasional meetings throughout the year. Associates will give at least one presentation on their research at the workshop or a graduate-level course led by the ICL Director and would be expected to engage with research by graduate students who are affiliated with the ICL.

The salary is competitive and comes with a benefits package. Information regarding benefits associated with the position can be found here: <https://your.yale.edu/work-yale/benefits/benefits-enrollment-2023/postdoctoral-associates-benefits-2023>

Qualifications

Applications are welcome from scholars who have received their Ph.D. or equivalent degrees since June 2022, or who expect to complete their degree by June 2024. Applications will be reviewed on a rolling basis starting on November 10, 2023. To receive full consideration, application material should be received by that date.

Successful applicants will have excellent training in quantitative methods with an emphasis on statistical analysis, survey methods and experimental methods. Programming skills are desirable. Applicants should have outstanding organizational and communication skills and prior experience using large databases. Excellent knowledge of the statistical software Stata and R is required as is extensive experience programming surveys in Qualtrics. Applicants should be intellectually curious, ambitious, energetic, and self-motivated; they should be able to work independently, but also as part of a team and be sensitive to the demands of multiple simultaneously ongoing projects; they should be able to multi-task and be willing to travel for fieldwork if necessary. Training in behavioral economics and/or social psychology is a plus as several of the Lab's projects cross disciplinary boundaries.

Application Instructions

All application materials must be submitted online through Interfolio. Applicants will be asked to upload a cover letter, CV/resume, one-page research statement, writing sample, and unofficial PhD transcript (only required for current graduate students). We will also ask for the name and email address of two letter writers who can submit a letter of recommendation (only references for short-listed candidates will be requested).

Link to apply: <https://apply.interfolio.com/135524>

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 11/13/2023

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 12883

POLITICAL THEORY

Occidental College

Rank: Tenure-track Assistant Professor

The Politics Department at Occidental College invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor in Political Theory to begin in August 2025. We seek a political theorist with a specialization in contemporary political thought. Areas of focus may include, but are not limited to, democratic theory, multiculturalism, comparative political theory, feminist theory, queer theory, critical race theory, non-Western theory, postcolonial theory, Indigenous theory, and environmental political thought. The department is especially interested in candidates whose work speaks to democratic, comparative, non-Western and/or Indigenous perspectives or environmental political thought. All candidates should be prepared to offer (i) courses in traditional political thought (ancient and modern); (ii) a survey class in contemporary political thought that addresses challenges of and to democracy, and (iii) courses in their specialization.

Strong candidates will be thoughtful in their pedagogical approaches, will seek to continually improve their teaching, and will possess a record of, or potential for, teaching excellence. Strong candidates will design and teach a wide variety of courses attractive to undergraduate liberal arts students and we welcome applications from candidates interested in contributing to the College's First Year Program as well as those whose courses might be cross listed with other humanities and social sciences departments. Successful candidates will possess a record of, or potential for, strong scholarship in the discipline of political science. Finally, strong candidates will contribute to and participate in the life of the college, through service, advising, mentoring students, and other activities.

Required Qualifications

? Ph.D. in political science – Applicants may be Ph.D. candidates in political science who expect to have their Ph.D. in hand by August 1, 2025.

? A specialization in contemporary political thought.

? Demonstrated commitment to and excellence in undergraduate teaching.

? A strong record of scholarly accomplishments appropriate to the level of appointment.

? Demonstrated commitment to working effectively with students from minoritized and marginalized social groups.

? Ability to balance excellent teaching, scholarship, and service.

? Demonstrated commitment to the four cornerstones of the mission of the College: excellence, equity, community, and service.

Preferred Qualifications

Experience working collaboratively with local community organizations.

Application Submission Materials

Upload your application materials to Interfolio, <http://apply.interfolio.com/150794>

You must submit a complete application package electronically to be considered by the search committee. An application includes the following:

- ? Cover Letter in which you describe the education, experience, and/or skills you possess that are relevant to the position description, required and preferred qualifications
- ? Curriculum Vitae
- ? Research Statement (maximum 2-page single-spaced)
- ? Teaching Philosophy Statement (maximum 2-page single-spaced)
- ? Commitment to Inclusive Excellence Statement (maximum 2-page single-spaced)

o This statement provides your unique perspective on your past and present contributions to and future aspirations for promoting justice, equity, inclusion, and diversity in your professional career. This should include your demonstrated commitment to, past evidence of, and future plans for creating equitable opportunities for learning and mentoring especially for students from marginalized and minoritized groups. You may also speak to how your research and/or service promotes justice, equity, inclusion, and diversity. The purpose of this statement is to help the department identify candidates who have professional experience, intellectual commitments, and/or willingness to engage in activities that could help the College contribute to its mission in these areas.

- ? List of three references with relevant contact information

o If you advance to the finalist phase, you will be asked to have each of your three references submit a letter of recommendation. Please have these ready for the referents to submit should you move forward to this phase of the search. Do not submit these letters with your initial application.

Please direct all questions about the position to: Regina Freer, Chair of Politics at rffreer@oxy.edu or call 323-259-2924.

Application Deadline

To be assured full consideration, your application materials must be received by September 6, 2024.

Upon receipt of a complete application package, you will receive a preliminary questionnaire. Please complete this questionnaire by September 9, 2024 to move forward in the search process.

The Department and College

The dynamic curriculum and exciting faculty research agendas in the Politics department focus on questions of democracy, social justice, power, rights, and liberties. We work closely with our students, preparing them to become thoughtful, well-informed, and engaged leaders in our increasingly complex, interdependent world, combining rigorous in-classroom work, research, and community-based experiential learning opportunities. The faculty are active scholars and contributors to the local, state, national, and international communities.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 9/6/2024

Date Posted: 8/1/2024

Salary: $80,000 - $89,999

eJobs ID: 14572

Haverford College

Rank: Tenure-Track Assistant Professor of Political Science

Haverford College seeks a tenure-track Assistant Professor of Political Science to begin Fall 2025.

Haverford College invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position in Political Science, with a primary specialization in contemporary political theory. The position will start in the Fall semester of 2025. Successful candidates must: have earned their PhD by September 1, 2025; demonstrate an independent and productive research program; teach effectively at all levels of the political theory curriculum; have the ability to mentor a diverse set of students in their research activities; show interest in and ability to advance diversity (broadly construed) within the political science department; and contribute to a collegial, inclusive, and active departmental culture.

Candidates with teaching and/or research interests that contribute to our interdisciplinary programs, including but not limited to African and African Studies; Latin American, Iberian and Latinx Studies; Middle Eastern and Islamic Studies; Environmental Studies; Health Studies; Gender and Sexuality Studies; and Peace Justice and Human Rights, will be viewed positively.

To learn more about the Political Science Department at Haverford, please see here:

<https://www.haverford.edu/political-science>

For more information about Haverford and this position, please see here:

<https://www.haverford.edu/available-positions/tenure-track-search-political-science-2024>

Applicants should submit the following via Interfolio (<http://apply.interfolio.com/150887>): a cover letter; a CV; a statement of research interests, goals, and plans (2-3 pages); a teaching statement that includes teaching interests and experience and addresses the candidate's ability to teach political theory to a diverse undergraduate student body (1-2 pages); a sample syllabus; and a writing sample. They should also arrange for three confidential letters of recommendation to be submitted.

All application materials must be submitted by September 15, 2024 via Interfolio.

Questions about the position or application process should be directed to: hc-poliscisearch@haverford.edu. For technical questions, please contact Interfolio directly at 1-877-997-8807 or help@interfolio.com.

Haverford College is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer committed to diversity, equity, inclusion, social justice, and providing equal opportunities and access to all individuals regardless of race, ethnicity, religion, gender identity, sexual orientation, national origin or ancestry, age, marital status, disability, or veteran status. Women, non-binary and transgender individuals, people of color, Indigenous people, and those with other or multiple historically marginalized and/or underrepresented identities are especially encouraged to apply. Haverford College and our consortial partners are located on Lenape lands.

Start Date:Application Deadline: 9/15/2024Date Posted: 7/30/2024Salary: CompetitiveeJobs ID: 14552Pitzer College*Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Studies

Pitzer College, a member of the Claremont Colleges, invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track Assistant Professor position in Political Studies with an emphasis in political theory. Research and teaching interests should include one or more of the following focuses: feminist political theory; comparative/global political theory; race/ethnicity and political theory.

The successful candidate will teach an introductory political theory course along with other courses in their area of specialization, as well as regularly contributing to the college-wide First-Year Writing seminar program. It is expected that the Ph.D. will be completed by the time of appointment. Pitzer College has a strong institutional commitment to diversity in all areas and strongly encourages candidates from underrepresented groups. We favor candidates who can contribute to the College's distinctive educational objectives, which promote interdisciplinary perspectives, intercultural understanding, and concern with social responsibility and the ethical implications of knowledge and action. Pitzer College is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer. For the successful applicant with the relevant interests, affiliations are possible with the intercollegiate departments of Africana Studies, Asian American Studies, Chican@/Latin@Studies, and/or the Intercollegiate Feminist Center for Teaching, Research, and Engagement.

To apply, submit to a letter of application, curriculum vitae, evidence of excellence in teaching and research, statement of teaching philosophy, statement of commitment and experience with diversity, equity, and inclusion, description of research, and three letters of recommendation. Additionally, candidates should include a separate statement that addresses how their cultural, experiential, and/or academic background contribute to the understanding of diversity at the College level. These materials should be submitted via the following link: <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajol/jobs/27918>

Compensation range: $93,000 – $95,000 The salary of the finalist(s) selected for this role will be set based on a variety of factors, including but not limited to, internal equity, experience, education, specialty, and training. Pitzer College is committed to providing comprehensive benefits to eligible employees and their eligible dependents. Our benefits package includes competitive compensation, health, dental, and vision insurance, retirement savings plans, generous paid time off (vacation, holidays, sick time, parental leave, bereavement, etc.), tuition reimbursement, tuition exchange program participation and more. Questions may be directed to faculty_jobs@pitzer.edu

Start Date: Fall 2025Application Deadline: 9/15/2024Date Posted: 7/30/2024Salary: $90,000 - $99,999eJobs ID: 14551The University of Texas at Austin*Rank: Professor (Open Rank) in Constitutional Studies: Law, History, and Theory*Subfield(s): Political Theory, Public Law, Other

The School of Civic Leadership (SCL) at The University of Texas at Austin (UT Austin) invites applications for full-time tenure-track and tenured faculty positions at the assistant, associate, or full professor level with expertise in the area of Constitutional Studies (Law, History, and Theory).

Considering the responsibility public institutions of higher education have to prepare students for leadership in a free society, the University of Texas System Board of Regents established the School of Civic Leadership at UT Austin in 2023. SCL is an interdisciplinary school whose dual mission is to equip students with the knowledge and aptitudes necessary to lead in a free society, and to produce academic research at the highest levels of scholarly excellence.

The school offers a minor in Philosophy, Politics, and Economics (PPE) in collaboration with the College of Liberal Arts and will launch a new Civics Honors major and Civics minor in the 2025-26 academic year.

We seek outstanding candidates in the areas of Constitutional Studies (Law, History, and Theory) whose work speaks to the SCL's core themes: political, economic, and individual liberty and its philosophical underpinnings; constitutionalism and the rule of law; and the political economy of a free society. Ideal candidates will (1) have excellent records of scholarship with robust research agendas, (2) provide evidence of exceptional teaching, and (3) show a readiness to contribute to the intellectual life, governance, and programmatic development of the school.

The School of Civic Leadership invites applicants to submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, and list of three academic references. (References do not need to submit full letters at this stage.) Cover letters should give a brief overview of the candidate's research agenda, highlight areas of teaching competence, and concisely describe how the candidate would contribute to developing the school.

Review of applications will begin on September 15.

<https://apply.interfolio.com/149448>

Start Date:Application Deadline: Open until FilledDate Posted: 7/30/2024Salary: CompetitiveeJobs ID: 14556

European University Institute

Rank: Chair in Political Science and Social Sciences

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Other, Political Theory

Specializations: Western Europe, Normative Political Theory, Political Parties & Organizations

The European University Institute is looking for candidates with a distinguished record of scholarly publications and experience in postgraduate teaching and doctoral supervision, to fill a Chair in Political Science and Social Sciences. Candidates should have an interest in comparative research in political science, preferably with a focus on European societies and politics. The successful candidate will have a strong record of empirical research, an interest in theory and research methods and a commitment to excellence in postgraduate teaching. The chair will be open to candidates at different levels of seniority. Interested applicants should consult Open competitions for academic posts • European University Institute (eui.eu) for further particulars: <https://www.eui.eu/About/JobOpportunities/Open-competitions-for-academic-posts>

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 9/16/2024

Date Posted: 7/29/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14544

University of Toronto

Rank: Assistant Professor - Black Political Thought

The Department of Political Science in the Faculty of Arts and Science at the University of Toronto invites applications for a full-time tenure stream position in the area of Black Political Thought. The appointment will be at the rank of Assistant Professor, with an anticipated start date of July 1, 2025.

This search aligns with the University's commitment to strategically and proactively promote diversity among our community members (Statement on Equity, Diversity & Excellence). Recognizing that Black, Indigenous, and other Racialized communities have experienced inequities that have developed historically and are ongoing, we strongly welcome and encourage candidates from those communities to apply.

Candidates must have earned a PhD degree in Political Science or a related discipline by the time of appointment, or shortly thereafter, with a clearly demonstrated record of excellence in research and teaching. The successful candidate will specialize in Black Political Thought, understood broadly to include political thought from Africa, the Caribbean, Latin America, Canada, the United States, Europe, or other parts of the world. The position is open with respect to approach and methodology. Examples of possible research areas include but are not limited to the history of political thought; critical analysis of race, racism, and ethnicity; gendered and class hierarchies of power; colonialism, imperialism, slavery, and their afterlives; political solidarity and social movements; and the implications of Black political thought for comparative political theory.

We seek candidates whose research and teaching interests complement and deepen our existing departmental strengths. The successful candidate will undertake undergraduate and graduate teaching responsibilities on the University of Toronto's downtown (St. George) campus. Applicants are encouraged to review the research and teaching profiles of current faculty members. Please visit our home page (Department of Political Science <https://politics.utoronto.ca>) to learn more about us. The successful candidate will be expected to pursue innovative and independent research at the highest international level and to establish an outstanding, competitive, and externally funded research program. Candidates must provide evidence of research excellence which can be demonstrated by the submitted research statement, a record of publications in top-ranked and field relevant journals or forthcoming publications meeting high international standards, presentations at significant conferences, awards and accolades, and strong endorsements from referees of high standing. Evidence of excellence in teaching will be provided through teaching accomplishments, the teaching dossier (with required materials outlined below) submitted as part of the application, as well as strong letters of reference.

Salary will be commensurate with qualifications and experience.

All qualified candidates are invited to apply online by clicking the link below.

Applicants must submit a cover letter; a current curriculum vitae; a research statement outlining current and future research interests; a recent writing sample of no more than 30 pages; and a teaching dossier including a teaching statement, sample course materials, and teaching evaluations. Equity, diversity and inclusion are essential to academic excellence as articulated in University of Toronto's Statement on Equity, Diversity and Excellence. We seek candidates who share these values and who demonstrate throughout the application materials their commitment and efforts to advance equity, diversity, inclusion, and the promotion of a respectful and collegial learning and working environment. Applicants must provide the name and contact information of three references. The University of Toronto's recruiting tool will automatically solicit and collect letters of reference from each after an application is submitted.

Applicants remain responsible for ensuring that references submit recent letters (on letterhead, dated and signed) by the closing date. More details on the automatic reference letter collection, including timelines, are available in the candidate FAQ.

Submission guidelines can be found at <http://uoft.me/how-to-apply>. Your CV and cover letter should be uploaded into the dedicated fields. Please combine additional application materials into one or two files in PDF/MS Word format. If you have any questions about this position, please contact Sari Sherman at chair.polisci@utoronto.ca. All application materials, including reference letters, must be received by October 7, 2024.

All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply; however, Canadians and permanent residents will be given priority.

Diversity Statement

The University of Toronto embraces Diversity and is building a culture of belonging that increases our capacity to effectively address and serve the interests of our global community. We strongly encourage applications from Indigenous Peoples, Black and racialized persons, women, persons with disabilities, and people of diverse sexual and gender identities. We value applicants who have demonstrated a commitment to equity, diversity and inclusion and recognize that diverse perspectives, experiences, and expertise are essential to strengthening our academic mission.

As part of your application, you will be asked to complete a brief Diversity Survey. This survey is voluntary. Any information directly related to you is confidential and cannot be accessed by search committees or human resources staff. Results will be aggregated for institutional planning purposes. For more information, please see <http://uoft.me/UP>.

Accessibility Statement

The University strives to be an equitable and inclusive community, and proactively seeks to increase diversity among its community members. Our values regarding equity and diversity are linked with our unwavering commitment to excellence in the pursuit of our academic mission.

The University is committed to the principles of the Accessibility for Ontarians with Disabilities Act (AODA). As such, we strive to make our recruitment, assessment and selection processes as accessible as possible and provide accommodations as required for applicants with disabilities.

If you require any accommodations at any point during the application and hiring process, please contact uoft.careers@utoronto.ca.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 10/7/2024

Date Posted: 7/26/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14542

University of Toronto

Rank: Assistant Professor - Liberal Democratic Theory

The Department of Political Science in the Faculty of Arts and Science at the University of Toronto invites applications for a full-time tenure stream position in liberal democratic theory. The appointment will be at the rank of Assistant Professor, with an expected start date of July 1, 2025.

Candidates must have earned a PhD degree in Political Science or a related area by the time of the appointment, or shortly thereafter, with a demonstrated record of excellence in research and teaching. The successful candidate will specialize in liberal and/or democratic theory. We would particularly welcome candidates who consider criticisms of, or threats to, liberal democracy and the theoretical arguments for addressing them. The position is open with respect to approaches and methods.

We seek candidates whose research and teaching interests complement and deepen our existing departmental strengths. The successful candidate will undertake undergraduate and graduate teaching responsibilities on the University of Toronto's downtown (St. George) campus. Candidates are encouraged to review the research and teaching profiles of current faculty members. Please visit our home page (Department of Political Science <https://politics.utoronto.ca>) to learn more about us. The successful candidate will be expected to pursue innovative and independent research at the highest international level and to establish an outstanding, competitive, and externally funded research program.

Candidates must provide evidence of research excellence which can be demonstrated by the submitted research statement, a record of publications in top-ranked and field relevant journals or forthcoming publications meeting high international standards, presentations at significant conferences, awards and accolades, and strong endorsements from referees of high standing.

Evidence of excellence in teaching will be provided through teaching accomplishments, the teaching dossier (with required materials outlined below) submitted as part of the application, as well as strong letters of reference.

Candidates are also expected to show evidence of a commitment to equity, diversity, inclusion, and the promotion of a respectful and collegial learning and working environment demonstrated through the application materials.

Salary will be commensurate with qualifications and experience.

All qualified candidates are invited to apply online by clicking the link below. Applicants must submit a cover letter; a current curriculum vitae; a research statement outlining current and future research interests; a recent writing sample of no more than 30 pages; and a teaching dossier to include a teaching statement, sample course materials, and teaching evaluations. Equity, diversity and inclusion are essential to academic excellence as articulated in University of Toronto's Statement on Equity, Diversity and Excellence. We seek candidates who share these values and who demonstrate throughout the application materials their commitment and efforts to advance equity, diversity, inclusion, and the promotion of a respectful and collegial learning and working environment.

Applicants must provide the name and contact information of three references. The University of Toronto's recruiting tool will automatically solicit and collect letters of reference from each after an application is submitted.

Applicants remain responsible for ensuring that references submit recent letters (on letterhead, dated and signed) by the closing date. More details on the automatic reference letter collection, including timelines, are available in the candidate FAQ. Submission guidelines can be found at <http://uoft.me/how-to-apply>. Your CV and cover letter should be uploaded into the dedicated fields. Please combine additional application materials into one or two files in PDF/MS Word format. If you have any questions about this position, please contact Sari Sherman at chair.polisci@utoronto.ca.

All application materials, including reference letters, must be received by September 23, 2024.

All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply; however, Canadians and permanent residents will be given priority.

Diversity Statement

The University of Toronto embraces Diversity and is building a culture of belonging that increases our capacity to effectively address and serve the interests of our global community. We strongly encourage applications from Indigenous Peoples, Black and racialized persons, women, persons with disabilities, and people of diverse sexual and gender identities. We value applicants who have demonstrated a commitment to equity, diversity and inclusion and recognize that diverse perspectives, experiences, and expertise are essential to strengthening our academic mission.

As part of your application, you will be asked to complete a brief Diversity Survey. This survey is voluntary. Any information directly related to you is confidential and cannot be accessed by search committees or human resources staff. Results will be aggregated for institutional planning purposes. For more information, please see <http://uoft.me/UP>.

Accessibility Statement

The University strives to be an equitable and inclusive community, and proactively seeks to increase diversity among its community members. Our values regarding equity and diversity are linked with our unwavering commitment to excellence in the pursuit of our academic mission.

The University is committed to the principles of the Accessibility for Ontarians with Disabilities Act (AODA). As such, we strive to make our recruitment, assessment and selection processes as accessible as possible and provide accommodations as required for applicants with disabilities.

If you require any accommodations at any point during the application and hiring process, please contact uoft.careers@utoronto.ca.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 9/23/2024

Date Posted: 7/26/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14540

University of Toronto

Rank: Associate Professor or Professor - Black Political Thought

The Department of Political Science in the Faculty of Arts and Science at the University of Toronto invites applications for a full-time tenure stream position in the area of Black Political Thought. The appointment will be at the rank of Associate Professor or Professor, with an expected start date of July 1, 2025.

This search aligns with the University's commitment to strategically and proactively promote diversity among our community members (Statement on Equity, Diversity & Excellence). Recognizing that Black, Indigenous, and other Racialized communities have experienced inequities that have developed historically and are ongoing, we strongly welcome and encourage candidates from those communities to apply.

Applicants must have earned a PhD degree in Political Science or a related discipline with a clearly demonstrated record of excellence in research and teaching. The successful candidate will specialize in Black Political Thought, understood broadly to include political thought from Africa, the Caribbean, Latin America, Canada, the United States, Europe, or other parts of the world. The position is open with respect to approach and methodology. Examples of possible research areas include but are not limited to the history of political thought; critical analysis of race, racism, and ethnicity; gendered and class hierarchies of power; colonialism, imperialism, slavery, and their afterlives; political solidarity and social movements; and the implications of Black political thought for comparative political theory.

We seek candidates whose research and teaching interests complement and deepen our existing departmental strengths. The successful candidate will undertake undergraduate and graduate teaching responsibilities on the University of Toronto's downtown (St. George) campus. Applicants are encouraged to review the research and teaching profiles of current faculty members. Please visit our home page (Department of Political Science <https://politics.utoronto.ca>) to learn more about us. The successful candidate will be expected to sustain and lead innovative and independent research at the highest international level and maintain an outstanding, competitive, and externally funded research program, and will have an established reputation.

Candidates must provide evidence of research excellence which can be demonstrated by the submitted research statement, a record of sustained high-impact contributions and publications in top-ranked and field relevant journals, presentations at significant conferences, distinguished awards and accolades and other noteworthy activities that contribute to the visibility and prominence of the discipline, as well as strong endorsements from referees of high standing.

Evidence of excellence in teaching will be provided through teaching accomplishments, the teaching dossier (with required materials outlined below) submitted as part of the application, as well as strong letters of reference.

Salary and rank will be commensurate with qualifications and experience.

All qualified candidates are invited to apply online by clicking the link below. Applicants must submit a cover letter; a current curriculum vitae; a research statement outlining current and future research interests; a recent writing sample of no more than 30 pages; and a teaching dossier to include a teaching statement, sample course materials, and teaching evaluations. Equity, diversity and inclusion are essential to academic excellence as articulated in University of Toronto's Statement on Equity, Diversity and Excellence. We seek candidates who share these values and who demonstrate throughout the application materials their commitment and efforts to advance equity, diversity, inclusion, and the promotion of a respectful and collegial learning and working environment.

Applicants must provide the name and contact information of three references. The University of Toronto's recruiting tool will automatically solicit and collect letters of reference from each after an application is submitted. Applicants remain responsible for ensuring that references submit letters (on letterhead, dated and signed) by the closing date.

Submission guidelines can be found at <http://uoft.me/how-to-apply>. Your CV and cover letter should be uploaded into the dedicated fields. Please combine additional application materials into one or two files in PDF/MS Word format. If you have any questions about this position, please contact Sari Sherman at chair.polisci@utoronto.ca. All application materials, including reference letters, must be received by October 7, 2024.

The University of Toronto has adopted the AAU Principles on Preventing Sexual Harassment in Academia, including the requirement that applicants release personnel information from prior employers regarding sexual misconduct. Full details and requirements can be found here.

All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply; however, Canadians and permanent residents will be given priority.

Diversity Statement

The University of Toronto embraces Diversity and is building a culture of belonging that increases our capacity to effectively address and serve the interests of our global community. We strongly encourage applications from Indigenous Peoples, Black and racialized persons, women, persons with disabilities, and people of diverse sexual and gender identities. We value applicants who have demonstrated a commitment to equity, diversity and inclusion and recognize that diverse perspectives, experiences, and expertise are essential to strengthening our academic mission.

As part of your application, you will be asked to complete a brief Diversity Survey. This survey is voluntary. Any information directly related to you is confidential and cannot be accessed by search committees or human resources staff. Results will be aggregated for institutional planning purposes. For more information, please see <http://uoft.me/UP>.

Accessibility Statement

The University strives to be an equitable and inclusive community, and proactively seeks to increase diversity among its community members. Our values regarding equity and diversity are linked with our unwavering commitment to excellence in the pursuit of our academic mission.

The University is committed to the principles of the Accessibility for Ontarians with Disabilities Act (AODA). As such, we strive to make our recruitment, assessment and selection processes as accessible as possible and provide accommodations as required for applicants with disabilities.

If you require any accommodations at any point during the application and hiring process, please contact uoft.careers@utoronto.ca.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 10/7/2024

Date Posted: 7/26/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14541

Loyola University Maryland

Rank: Per course Instructor in Political Theory

The Department of Political Science at Loyola University Maryland invites applications to teach an upper-level, undergraduate course in-person on Modern Political Theory (one section only) for the Fall 2024 semester. The instructor will teach in a part-time, non-tenure track capacity .

The Political Science Department has a strong teaching culture. We especially value candidates who have a strong interest in teaching undergraduates and who are able to implement thoughtful, intentional pedagogies that support the learning of a wide range of students.

Ph.D. or A.B.D. in Political Science is required. College/university teaching experience is strongly preferred. Aside from holding office hours with students, no committee assignments or service requirements will be associated with the position.

Loyola University Maryland is a dynamic, highly selective, Jesuit Catholic university in the liberal arts tradition. It is highly ranked among the leading independent, comprehensive universities in the northeastern United States. Committed to intellectual excellence, diversity, and social justice, the University enrolls over 4,000 students in its undergraduate programs and more than 3,000 students in its graduate programs.

Loyola University Maryland strongly values the benefits that diversity brings to the workplace. In accord with its Ignatian values, the University is committed to creating and promoting a community that recognizes the inherent value and dignity of each person. Loyola University Maryland does not discriminate on the basis of race, sex, color, national or ethnic origin, age, religion, disability, marital status, sexual orientation, gender identity, genetic information, military status, or any other legally protected classification. The University recruits, hires, and promotes in accord with this policy and its Core Values.

To apply, please first send a curriculum vitae with a statement of interest. Eventually, we will ask for letters of reference, a graduate transcript, and teaching evaluations (if available), and a cover letter explaining teaching interests and experience in relation to Loyola's educational mission. Application materials should be submitted to Political Science Department Chair Dr. Carsten Vala at cvala@loyola.edu, who is also available to answer questions. The search committee will begin screening applications immediately and continue until the position is filled.

Salary range: $4,000 - $4,500 per course (without and with PhD)

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/25/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14535

El Colegio de México

Rank: Three full-time professor positions (tenure-track)

Subfield(s): International Relations, Political Theory, International Relations

Specializations: International Political Economy, Political Theory, United States

The Center for International Studies invites interested individuals of any nationality to apply for three full-time professor positions (tenure-track).

Requirements:

- Hold a PhD/Doctorate in Political Science or related fields.
- Be a member of the National System of Researchers (SNII) of Mexico or be eligible for imminent inclusion.
- Dedicate full-time and exclusively to El Colegio de México.
- Have proficiency in Spanish if a foreigner.
- Commit to staying at least three years at the Center for International Studies, provided that El Colegio decides to renew the contracts each year.

The selection committee will also evaluate the candidates' publications and teaching experience.

The Center is particularly interested in candidates with the ability and experience to develop cutting-edge research projects in one of the following areas:

- International relations (particularly on U.S. foreign policy issues).
- International political economy (ideally in industrial policy, trade policy, or economic development).
- Political theory, political sociology, or sociology of the State.

Activities:

The selected professor-researchers will be required to: a) Conduct research activities on the topics mentioned above; b) Teach courses in CEI's academic programs related to their research areas and according to the Center's needs; c) Participate in the rest of the Center's activities, particularly student tutoring and thesis advising.

Candidates should submit an electronic file with the following documents to the email address iladron@colmex.mx before September 15, 2024: a) Complete curriculum vitae; b) Thesis, copy of the doctoral degree, and publications; c) Two letters of recommendation; and d) Statement of purpose including a research and teaching proposal (5 to 10 pages). Candidates selected for interviews must be available during the second week of October 2024. The Selection Committee's decisions will be final.

Start Date: Winter 2024

Application Deadline: 9/15/2024
Date Posted: 7/24/2024
Salary: $40,000 - $49,999
eJobs ID: 14480

CUNY-Baruch College

Rank: Assistant Professor (Tenure Track)

“At Baruch College, we believe that student success is everyone’s responsibility.”

Baruch College's Political Science Department invites applications for a tenure track position as assistant professor in the subfield of Political Theory. Preferred area of specialization is Non-Western Political Theory. The position will begin in the Fall semester 2025.

Baruch, a senior college of the City University of New York (CUNY), is located in the historic Gramercy Park/Flatiron district of Manhattan. Baruch has an extremely diverse student body of more than 19,000, many of them first-generation college students. We seek faculty who thrive in multicultural academic environments and are committed to access and excellence in higher education. www.baruch.cuny.edu

QUALIFICATIONS

Candidates must have a PhD in Political Science or closely related field at time of appointment and an active research agenda.

COMPENSATION

Salary range: $82,928-$99,532, commensurate with qualifications and experience.

CUNY offers faculty a competitive compensation and benefits package covering health insurance, pension and retirement benefits, paid parental leave, and savings programs. We also provide mentoring and support for research, scholarship, and publication as part of our commitment to ongoing faculty professional development.

HOW TO APPLY

STEP ONE – Online Application and Required Materials
 Copy and paste the link below into your browser:

<https://cuny.jobs/new-york-ny/assistant-professor-political-science/11B7995C938048029DA607341CF6821B/job/>

Please submit your application online by clicking on “Apply Now.”

For instructions for creating an account on the CUNYfirst job application system, please click here:

<https://www.cuny.edu/employment/search-jobs/cunyfirst-job-system-instructions/>

Required Materials: Candidates must provide a cover letter describing research and teaching interests and their interest in the position; a CV; writing samples, and (if applicable) any formal evaluations of teaching performance. Additionally, applicants are required to submit a narrative statement describing their commitment to and experience with working effectively with faculty, staff and students in a multicultural/multiethnic environment with a substantial population of students who are among the first-generation of their family to attend a college or university.

STEP TWO – Confidential Letters of Recommendation

All applicants are further required to have three confidential letters of recommendation submitted by their references via email to the Search Committee: WSAS.POLSearch@baruch.cuny.edu.

CLOSING DATE

For full consideration, all materials, including letters of recommendation, must be received by September 15, 2024.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 9/15/2024

Date Posted: 7/17/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14505

Sciences Po

Rank: Assistant Professor (Tenure Track) in Political Theory - Immigration & Democracy

In collaboration with the Department of Political Science at Sciences Po, The Centre for Political Research at Sciences Po (CEVIPOF) is seeking an Assistant Professor (tenure track) in Political Theory/Philosophy, with a speciality in ‘Immigration and Democracy’. We are particularly interested in someone who can address the theoretical issues raised by migration and its impact on contemporary democracies and, if possible, whose theoretical work reflects an engagement with empirical literature and research in the field.

RESEARCH: The candidate will be affiliated with the CEVIPOF, a multidisciplinary research center of Sciences Po, founded in 1960 and based in Paris, and a joint research unit of the French National Centre for Scientific Research (CNRS). The successful candidate is expected to actively participate to its ‘political theory’ subfield, while being able to work in synergy with its other teams or researchers of CEVIPOF.

TEACHING: There will be a reduced teaching and administrative load for the first three years (per year: two instead of three courses of 24 hours each; 40 instead of 56 hours of general service and other academic duties). The candidate will teach courses in political science and/or political humanities at BA, Master and PhD levels.

The application, in French or English, comprises the following: a cover letter (2 pages max.); a complete CV with list of publications; two significant publications in PDF; a research statement (3000 words max.); a synopsis of a potential course; (if available) teaching evaluations; a photocopy of the Doctoral Diploma (political science or philosophy).

The dossier should be sent by email to recrutement.cevipof@sciencespo.fr no later than August 23, 2024 (6:00 PM, Paris time).

Interviews of shortlisted candidates will be held in Paris, September 27, 2024.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 8/23/2024

Date Posted: 7/17/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14504

New York University Abu Dhabi

Rank: Post-Doctoral Associate in the Division of Social Science - Dr. Aaron Kaufman

Subfield(s): Political Theory, Political Theory, Other

Specializations: Science & Technology, Political Economy, Science & Technology

We are inviting applications for a Postdoctoral Associate in the Division of Social Science at NYU Abu Dhabi from individuals who have or will soon receive a PhD in one of the social sciences, computer science, or a related discipline. The appointment will begin September 1, 2025, subject to final budget approval.

The post-doctoral associate will spend half their time on independent research, and half their time on collaborative research with Professor Aaron Kaufman. The collaborative research will be at the intersection of computational social science, large language models, and political science.

We seek a candidate with expertise in managing big data sets and efficiently implementing machine learning and NLP workflows, and who has an interest in applying those tools to political institutions and political economy. This is an excellent position for a computational scientist looking to move to the social sciences.

The position does not require teaching, but it may be possible to get teaching experience for compensation. You would join a group of over 20 post-doctoral fellows and 70 faculty in the Division of Social Science.

For consideration, applicants must submit their application to <http://apply.interfolio.com/146823>. The application must include a cover letter, curriculum vitae with full publication list, statement of research interests, transcript of degree, and two letters of reference, all in PDF format

If you have any questions, please email Professor Kaufman at aaron-kaufman@nyu.edu.

About NYU Abu Dhabi:

NYU Abu Dhabi is a degree-granting research university with a fully integrated liberal arts and science undergraduate program in the Arts, Sciences, Social Sciences, Humanities, and Engineering. NYU Abu Dhabi, NYU New York, and NYU Shanghai, form the backbone of NYU's global network university, an interconnected network of portal campuses and academic centers across six continents that enable seamless international mobility of students and faculty in their pursuit of academic and scholarly activity. This global university represents a transformative shift in higher education, one in which the intellectual and creative endeavors of academia are shaped and examined through an international and multicultural perspective. As a major intellectual hub at the crossroads of the Arab world, NYUAD serves as a center for scholarly thought, advanced research, knowledge creation, and sharing, through its academic, research, and creative activities.

EOE/AA/Minorities/Females/Vet/Disabled/Sexual Orientation/Gender Identity Employer

UAE Nationals are encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/8/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14474

Appalachian State University

Rank: Tenure-Track Political Theory Position

The Department of Government and Justice Studies at Appalachian State University invites applications for a Tenure-Track Assistant Professor position in Political Science focusing on political theory beginning August 2025. The areas of specialization are open with a preference for candidates with expertise in American Political Thought and intersectional approaches to political theory. The individual hired in this position will provide a sophomore-level course on political ideologies, upper-division undergraduate courses, and graduate courses based on their area of expertise and program needs. The teaching load is 3 courses per semester for faculty with an active research agenda. A Ph.D. in political science or a related discipline is required at the time of appointment.

To apply, please use the People Admin portal at <https://appstate.peopleadmin.com/> to provide a letter of application outlining teaching experience and research interests, a current CV, a writing sample or recent publication, and 3 letters of recommendation. Only electronic submissions will be accepted. We will begin reviewing applications on August 15, 2024 and continue until the position is filled.

Appalachian State University is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer. The University does not discriminate in access to its educational programs and activities, or with respect to hiring or the terms and conditions of employment, on the basis of race, color, national origin, religion, sex, gender identity and expression, political affiliation, age, disability, veteran status, genetic information or sexual orientation. Individuals with disabilities may request accommodations in the application process by contacting Maranda Maxey, Executive Director of Equity and Access, at 828-262-3056 or maxeymr@appstate.edu. Proper documentation of identity and employability will be required before the hiring process can be finalized. Any offer of employment to a successful candidate will be conditioned upon the University's receipt of a satisfactory criminal background report.

Additional information about the Department of Government and Justice Studies can be found at <http://gjs.appstate.edu>. Additional information about the University and surrounding area can be found at www.appstate.edu.

This position advertisement will be placed on PeopleAdmin, Chronicle, and Higher Ed Jobs. In addition, the department will pay for the advertisement to be posted on the American Political Science Association employment website for one month. The search chair will contact doctoral programs in field, also sending the advertisement to HBCUs and schools with underrepresented populations.

Start Date: Fall 2025
Application Deadline: 8/15/2024
Date Posted: 7/3/2024
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 14469

University of Michigan

Rank: WCEE Postdoctoral Fellow
Subfield(s): Public Policy, Public Law, Political Theory

The Weiser Center for Europe and Eurasia (WCEE) at the University of Michigan invites scholars with a recent PhD in social sciences, humanities, public policy, and related fields with expertise in Ukraine and Ukrainian affairs to apply for a two-year WCEE Postdoctoral Fellowship, from August 2025 to July 2027.

WCEE Postdoctoral Fellows are expected to focus on their own research, participate in the center's events, present at least one public lecture during their two-year fellowship, and teach one course per year at the University of Michigan while in full-time residency.

Eligibility:

Eligibility is restricted to applicants who have obtained their PhD no earlier than January 1, 2023. Current doctoral candidates are eligible to apply but must have defended and filed their dissertations by July 31, 2025.

Benefits:

Fellowships carry an annual salary of $60,000 and up to $10,000 in research funds during the postdoctoral appointment. Fellowship recipients will be eligible for U-M health, dental, and life insurance options (beginning August 1, 2024 through July 31, 2026). Fellows have full access to U-M library resources.

Application materials:

Candidates should submit the following via Interfolio (<http://apply.interfolio.com/146559>):

- A research proposal (2000 words maximum) that describes your intellectual objectives and concrete plan for the fellowship duration
- Curriculum Vitae
- A scholarly writing sample, such as a dissertation chapter or peer-reviewed journal article (50 pages maximum)
- Teaching statement with potential course topics
- DEI statement
- Two letters of recommendation

To be assured full consideration, fellowship applications should be received by October 15, 2024, 11:59 PM EST. Successful applicants will be notified by December 2024.

Start Date: Fall 2025
Application Deadline: 10/15/2024
Date Posted: 6/1/2024
Salary: $60,000 - $69,999
eJobs ID: 14390

Michigan State University

Rank: Assistant Professor
Subfield(s): Political Theory, Comparative Politics, American Government and Politics
Specializations: African American Politics, Native American Politics, Race & Ethnic Politics

James Madison College at Michigan State University invites applications for a tenure-track assistant professor position in Political Theory and Constitutional Democracy (PTCD). James Madison College engages undergraduates in a liberal arts education in public affairs in a residential college setting within a broader research-intensive university. The Political Theory and Constitutional Democracy major is an interdisciplinary field of public affairs. It focuses on liberal constitutional democracy (its origins, practice, critics, and defenders) from the perspective of political philosophy.

We seek a teacher-scholar broadly trained in the history of political theory that supports curriculum in Black political thought (American and comparative), as well as radical perspectives on modern constitutional democracy. Areas of research and teaching focus include African-American politics, comparative Black political thought, and radical political theory. In addition to these requirements, preferred areas of interest include: colonialism studies, Native-American studies, Indigenous studies, American constitutional politics, or modern political theory. Preference will be given to candidates who can teach elective courses cross-listed between PTCD and Social Relations and Policy majors.

Successful candidates will have demonstrated ability to teach core courses in the history of political thought combining serious study of canonical texts as well as authors/voices from outside the canon, with a view to the present and future of constitutional democracy. Applicants should also be able to contribute to the broader interdisciplinary curriculum of the major and the college, including the first-year sequence. The successful candidate will be expected to maintain an active scholarly agenda in their respective field(s). The College is especially interested in candidates who can contribute, through their teaching, research and/or service, to the diversity and excellence of the academic community.

For more information, please see the college website: <https://jmc.msu.edu> and the full position description at <https://careers.msu.edu>.

Ph.D. in a related field is required by August 16th, 2025.

Applications must be submitted electronically to the Michigan State University Human Resources web site: <https://careers.msu.edu>. Please see posting number 955409 for complete instructions on how to apply. Review of applications will begin on September 20th, 2024, and will continue until the position is filled. Please contact Katie Dyjack (dychack@msu.edu) with any questions.

MSU is an Affirmative Action/Equal opportunity employer. MSU is committed to achieving excellence through cultural diversity. The university actively encourages applications and/or nominations of women, persons of color, veterans, and persons with disabilities.

Michigan State University occupies the ancestral, traditional, and contemporary Lands of the Anishinaabeg-Three Fires Confederacy of Ojibwe, Odawa, and Potawatomi peoples. The University resides on Land ceded in the 1819 Treaty of Saginaw.

Start Date: Fall 2025
Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 5/31/2024
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 14388

Hampden-Sydney College

Rank: Assistant Professor: Political Theory

Specializations: Political Philosophy & Theory, Political Theory, Political Thought: Historical

The Department of Government and Foreign Affairs at Hampden-Sydney College invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track appointment at the rank of Assistant Professor to begin in Fall 2025. Candidates should have expertise in political theory and the ability to offer courses in classical, early modern, and modern political theory. The successful candidate will teach Western Culture in the College's Core Cultures program and may participate in the Rhetoric program. Faculty teach in a 6-6-7 course rotation with six courses per year for two years and seven courses in the third year.

Hampden-Sydney College highly values the teacher/scholar model. Successful applicants will have a record of effective classroom teaching, a commitment to scholarly productivity, and a willingness to work with colleagues on professional service responsibilities. Applicants should have a Ph.D. in political science or a comparable degree by the time of appointment. ABDs near completion may also be considered.

Please submit a letter of application, curriculum vitae, teaching statement, research statement, and three letters of reference to Dr. Celia Carroll-Jones, Chair, Department of Government and Foreign Affairs, Hampden-Sydney College via Interfolio: <http://apply.interfolio.com/147324>. Review of applications will begin in early fall and continue until the position is filled.

Hampden-Sydney College is a selective liberal arts institution enrolling approximately 1000 students. Founded in 1775, it is the tenth oldest institution of higher learning in the United States. Hampden-Sydney is one of three liberal arts colleges in the United States dedicated to the education of men. Our mission is to educate "good men and good citizens in an atmosphere of sound learning."

Our beautiful 1300-acre campus is less than 7 miles from downtown Farmville, home to Longwood University and the Moton Museum, which is listed on the U.S. Civil Rights Trail. The campus is located 65 miles west of Richmond, 50 miles east of Lynchburg, and 75 miles south of Charlottesville, providing abundant cultural, recreational and artistic resources. As a community, we are dedicated to the goal of building a culturally diverse faculty committed to working in a multicultural environment and strongly encourage applications from women and minoritized groups. Hampden-Sydney College values diversity, prohibits discrimination, and is committed to equal opportunity for all employees and applicants for employment.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 5/25/2024

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 14369

Yale University

Rank: Associate/Full Professor, Normative Political Theory

The Department of Political Science at Yale University is seeking to hire a faculty member with expertise in Political Theory at the rank of Associate (with tenure) or Full Professor, beginning as early as July 1, 2024. The successful candidate will be expected to teach courses in Normative Political Theory. We are open as well to those operating at the intersection of political theory and allied subfields/disciplines. The teaching expectation is normally 3 courses per academic year.

Qualifications

Ph.D. or equivalent degree required at time of hire.

Application Instructions

All applications must include a cover letter and a CV. All materials should be uploaded to Interfolio at <http://apply.interfolio.com/138148>. Review of applications will begin February 15, 2024, and to guarantee full consideration your file should be complete by this date.

<http://apply.interfolio.com/138148>

Please contact Ms. Xaria Callender, Sr. Administrative Assistant for the Political Science Department, at xaria.callender@yale.edu if you have questions about the application process.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Date Posted: 1/10/2024

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 13056

Catholic University of America

Rank: Assistant Professor of Politics

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Policy, Political Theory

Assistant Professor of Politics (American Politics)

The Department of Politics at The Catholic University of America invites applications for a tenure-track faculty appointment in American politics, to begin in the fall of 2024. We are interested in a candidate with a range of interests, including but not limited to public opinion, ideology, political parties, elections, and the presidency. The successful candidate could also play an important advisory role for our Washington, D.C. internship programs. The department especially welcomes applicants whose research interests complement its traditional strengths in historical, theoretical, and institutional perspectives. Situated on a large and beautiful campus, Catholic University is only three metro stops from the Capitol. Politics is one of the largest majors on campus, attracting many students who value the community of a Catholic university while pursuing careers related to politics and law in the nation's capital. The department's Ph.D program has a long and distinguished history, and the development of professionally minded M.A. programs is a university priority.

We seek candidates who understand, are enthusiastic about, and will make a significant contribution to the mission of the University, which reads as follows: "As the national university of the Catholic Church in the United States, founded and sponsored by the bishops of the country with the approval of the Holy See, The Catholic University of America is committed to being a comprehensive Catholic and American institution of higher learning, faithful to the teachings of Jesus Christ as handed on by the Church. Dedicated to advancing the dialogue between faith and reason, The Catholic University of America seeks to discover and impart the truth through excellence in teaching and research, all in service to the Church, the nation and the world."

Applicants should submit a cover letter, a curriculum vitae, a statement of current research and future research plans, a statement of teaching philosophy, graduate school transcript, and a sample of written work (including scholarly publications) to pol-search@cua.edu and arrange for the submission of three letters of reference. In addition, applicants are asked to submit a one- to two-page personal statement indicating how their research, teaching, and service will make a distinctive contribution to our University's mission and to the vision of Catholic education outlined in the Apostolic Constitution on Catholic Universities Ex Corde Ecclesiae.

Review of applications will begin November 15 and continue until the position is filled. Questions may be directed to Jakub Grygiel, Department Chair, at grygiel@cua.edu.

The Catholic University of America is an Equal Opportunity Employer.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/7/2023

Salary: $70,000 - $79,999

eJobs ID: 12478

California State University, Long Beach

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science (Political Theory)

Assistant Professor of Political Science (Political Theory)

Job no: 531489

Work type: Instructional Faculty – Tenured/Tenure-Track

Location: Long Beach

Categories: Unit 3 - CFA - California Faculty Association, Faculty - Letters/Humanities, Tenured/Tenure-Track, Full Time

Position: Assistant Professor of Political Science (Political Theory)

Effective Date: August 19, 2024 (Fall Semester)

Salary: The Assistant Professor (Academic Year) classification salary is $5,405 to $11,994/per month (12 monthly payments per academic year). The anticipated hiring range is $6,667 to $7,084/per month. Salary offered is commensurate with qualifications and experience.

Application Deadline: Review of applications to begin October 3, 2023. Position opened until filled (or recruitment canceled).

College of Liberal Arts
Department of Political Science

Required Qualifications:

- Ph.D. in Political Science or appropriate related discipline with specialization in Political Theory. Degree at time of application or official notification of completion of the doctoral degree by August 1, 2024.
- Record of, or demonstrated potential for, effective teaching
- Record of, or demonstrated potential for, successful research and publication
- Experience with, or demonstrated potential for, effective participation in faculty governance
- Demonstrated commitment to working successfully with a diverse student population

Preferred Qualifications:

- Evidence of academic training in the canon of political theory (i.e., antiquity, modernity, and contemporary thought)
 - Evidence of scholarly activities grounded in political theory and focusing on timely topics central to the discipline (e.g., ancient, modern, and contemporary theories; democratic and critical race theory, gender studies and feminist scholarship, migration studies, postcolonial and decolonial theory, politics of indigeneity, environmental theory, disability studies, non-Western and queer theory, the carceral state, political economy and inequality/oppression, nationalism, technology and political theory, and the impact of COVID)
 - Evidence of ability to effectively teach current University course offerings in political theory at the undergraduate and graduate levels (e.g., ancient and modern political thought, recent ideology, special topics in political theory, and the graduate seminar)
 - Evidence of ability to develop new course offerings in political theory that engage issues of diversity
 - Evidence of support for and/or experience related to the University's strong commitment to the academic success of its diverse student body
 - Evidence of interest in and/or experience with department, college, university and community service
 - Experience of successfully working with populations demographically and socioeconomically similar to the CSULB student body (Demographics)
- Duties:
- Teach courses in political theory at the undergraduate and graduate levels [Mode of instruction may include in-person, hybrid, online, and/or any combination thereof.]
 - Develop courses in political theory at undergraduate and graduate levels
 - Advise and mentor students, including the supervision of Master's students taking comprehensive exams and theses
 - Engage in research leading to conference participation and peer-reviewed publications
 - Participate in faculty governance
 - Participate in service to the department, college, university, and community

The Department of Political Science takes great pride in having one of the most diverse student bodies in higher education. We have more than 600 students in one of our three academic programs: a Bachelor of Arts, a Minor, and a Master of Arts. Our 19 full-time and 15 part-time faculty are passionate about teaching politics in the twenty-first century, offering courses that are directly relevant to the contemporary world. Together we seek to provide our students the foundational knowledge and skills essential to understand and engage issues relevant to our common political life today. Our department offers numerous programs and clubs, including Moot Court, Model United Nations, undergraduate and graduate student associations, a chapter of the Pi Sigma Alpha National Honor Society, internship and research opportunities, a Legal Studies certificate, and much more.

The College of Liberal Arts at CSULB is the largest college on campus, with thirty-one excellent departments and programs, several innovative centers and projects, over 685 outstanding faculty members, and over 74 individual staff members. The college faculty are among the best in the nation and have received a variety of national and international awards. CLA has 9300 undergraduate students pursuing a variety of highly valued degrees through the college's 99 unique majors and minors. Additionally, 575 graduate students are also obtaining advanced degrees and special certificates in the college. With degrees ranging from humanities and foreign languages to social and behavioral sciences, CLA's graduates are well-rounded citizens, effective communicators, and analytical thinkers who live knowledgeable, responsibly, and humanely in a world where complex problems demand informed, creative, and thoughtful solutions. The skills gained through degrees from CLA are invaluable and open up countless career paths for graduates to follow.

CSULB seeks to recruit faculty who enthusiastically support the University's strong commitment to the academic success of all of our students, including students of color, students with disabilities, students who are first generation to college, veterans, students with diverse socio-economic backgrounds, and students of diverse sexual orientations and gender expressions. CSULB seeks to recruit and retain a diverse workforce as a reflection of our commitment to serve the People of California, to maintain the excellence of the University, and to offer our students a rich variety of expertise, perspectives, and ways of knowing and learning.

Information on excellent benefits package available to CSULB faculty is located here: CSU Employee Benefits

How to Apply - Required Documentation:

- An Equity and Diversity Statement about your teaching or other experiences, successes, and challenges in working with a diverse student population (maximum two pages, single-spaced). For further information and guidelines, please visit: Equity and Diversity Statement
- Letter of application addressing the required and preferred qualifications
- CV
- Names and contact information for three references (to be contacted for confidential letters of recommendation should the applicant reach the semi-finalist stage)
- Writing sample(s)
- Teaching evaluations, if applicable
- Copy of transcript from institution awarding highest degree (to be submitted by request should you reach the semi-finalist stage)
- Finalists should be prepared to submit an official transcript (e-transcript preferred, if available)

How to Apply: Click Apply Now icon (at the web address below) to complete the CSULB online application

Requests for information about the position should be addressed to:

Mary Caputi, Professor
California State University, Long Beach
Department of Political Science

1250 Bellflower Boulevard
Long Beach, CA 90840-4605

562-985-4705 or E-Mail: mary.caputi@csulb.edu

EMPLOYMENT REQUIREMENTS:

A background check (including a criminal records check and telephone reference check with most recent employer) must be completed satisfactorily before any candidate can be offered a position with the CSU. Failure to satisfactorily complete the background check may affect the application status of applicants or continued employment of current CSU employees who apply for the position.

The person holding this position is considered a "mandated reporter" under the California Child Abuse and Neglect Reporting Act and is required to comply with the requirements set forth in CSU Executive Order 1083 Revised July 21, 2017 as a condition of employment.

CSU Vaccination Policy

CSU requires faculty, staff, and students who are accessing campus facilities to be immunized against COVID-19 or declare a medical or religious exemption from doing so. Any candidates advanced in a currently open search process should be prepared to comply with this requirement. The systemwide policy can be found at <https://calstate.policystat.com/policy/9779821/latest/> and questions may be sent to fahr@csulb.edu.

CSULB is committed to creating a community in which a diverse population can learn, live, and work in an atmosphere of tolerance, civility and respect for the rights and sensibilities of each individual, without regard to race or ethnicity (including color or ancestry), nationality, religion or religious creed, gender (or sex), gender identity (including transgender), gender expression, sexual orientation, marital status, disability (physical or mental), medical condition, genetic information, age, veteran or military status. CSULB is an Equal Opportunity Employer.

Applications close: Open until filled

Full information with active links available here: <https://careers.pageuppeople.com/873/lb/en-us/job/531489/assistant-professor-of-political-science-political-theory>

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/30/2023

Salary: $80,000 - $89,999

eJobs ID: 12420

PUBLIC ADMINISTRATION

University of Missouri, Columbia

Rank: Assistant, associate, Full Professor, Korea Foundation Endowed Professor

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Public Administration

The University of Missouri, Columbia is seeking a Korea Foundation Endowed Professor. The position is an open rank tenured/tenure track position focused on Korean politics to begin in the Fall Semester of 2025. This is a 9-month teaching and research appointment. The typical teaching load will be two (2) courses per semester. Additional expectations include active engagement with the University of Missouri Institute for Korean Studies.

Qualifications

Minimum Qualifications:

A Ph.D. in Political Science or related field by the time of appointment.

Candidates will be evaluated on:

Competitive applicants will have a clear research agenda, strong theoretical orientation, excellent methodological skills, ability to publish in highly ranked journals and academic presses, and potential for effective teaching at the graduate and undergraduate levels.

Applicants from scholars whose research has an emphasis on Korea from all subfields of political science and related fields are encouraged to apply including comparative politics, international relations, public policy, and public administration. However, the ideal candidate will contribute to the TSGPA's teaching and research interests in comparative politics.

Application Materials

Please apply online at: <https://hr.missouri.edu/job-openings> (Job Opening ID 52446). Use the online application and be prepared to upload your curriculum vitae, a cover letter, and writing samples. Please also provide evidence of effective teaching, as well as a teaching statement that describes your pedagogical goals/practices including information about your ability to teach and supervise undergraduate and graduate students from a variety of backgrounds and experiences.

Candidates at the assistant professor level should provide three letters of recommendations to the Truman School Director's Office (mutsgpdirector@missouri.edu). Candidates at the associate or full professor level should provide three names and contact information of references. Written references will be required prior to an on-campus interview. The cover letter should address the following: current and future research, teaching interests including how the applicant ensures the classroom is inclusive of multiple perspectives and of students from different backgrounds, as well as, how the applicant envisions engaging in research focused on Korea, and with universities there. This information can also be provided in separate teaching and research statements.

We value the uniqueness of every individual and strive to ensure each person's success. Contributions from individuals with diverse backgrounds, experiences and perspectives promote intellectual pluralism and enable us to achieve the excellence that we seek in learning, research and engagement. This commitment makes our university a better place to work, learn and innovate. In your application materials, please discuss your experiences and expertise that support these values and enrich our missions of teaching, research and engagement.

Applicants may contact the Chair of the Search Committee Dr. Laron Williams (williamslaro@missouri.edu) with any questions about the job duties. Contact Andrew Longley (andrew.longley@umsystem.edu) for any questions about the application process. We will begin reviewing applications on September 15th, 2024, and continue until the position is filled.

The Truman School of Government and Public Affairs has 33 faculty with academic appointments in the school and houses a PhD in Political Science, a PhD in Public Affairs, a Master's in Public Affairs, and a Master's in Defense and Strategic Studies, as well as BA in Political Science, and a BA in Public Administration and Policy. For more information see: <https://truman.missouri.edu>.

Benefit Eligibility This position is eligible for University benefits. The University offers a comprehensive benefits package, including medical, dental and vision plans, retirement, and educational fee discounts. For additional information on University benefits, please visit the Faculty & Staff Benefits website at <http://www.umsystem.edu/totalrewards/benefits>.

Equal Employment Opportunity

The University of Missouri System is an Equal Opportunity Employer. Equal Opportunity is and shall be provided for all employees and applicants for employment on the basis of their demonstrated ability and competence without unlawful discrimination on the basis of their race, color, national origin, ancestry, religion, sex, pregnancy, sexual orientation, gender identity, gender expression, age, disability, or protected veteran status, or any other status protected by applicable state or federal law. This policy applies to all employment decisions including, but not limited to, recruiting, hiring, training, promotions, pay practices, benefits, disciplinary actions and terminations. For more information, visit <https://www.umsystem.edu/ums/hr/eoo>

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 12/13/2024

Date Posted: 7/18/2024

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 14512

Clemson University

Rank: Associate Professor or Professor

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Comparative Politics, Public Administration

The Department of Political Science at Clemson University invites applications for an Associate Professor or Professor in domestic, comparative, or international public policy; policymaking processes; or public administration, to begin in August 2025. We welcome applicants from all subfields in political science, especially those that have an interest in the development and promotion of our Master of Public Administration (MPA) and Ph.D. Policy Studies programs, as well as mentoring graduate students. This is a nine-month faculty position, and qualified candidates will be considered for tenure on arrival. Candidates must have a Ph.D. in political science, public policy, public administration, or in a related field.

The successful candidate also will be expected to pursue an active research agenda resulting in a strong record of peer-reviewed publications. We especially encourage applications from candidates with a history of external research funding or definite plans to apply for grants. The position's teaching responsibilities will include offering courses in public policy, public administration, or in related areas within the Department's Ph.D., MPA, and undergraduate programs. The expected teaching load is two courses per semester.

The Department of Political Science offers B.A. and B.S. degrees in political science, along with its master's degree in public administration and Ph.D. in policy studies. The Department has 26 full-time faculty and 3 full-time staff. Clemson University is a land-grant institution located in western South Carolina in the Greenville metropolitan area. Its strategic plan—Clemson Elevate—articulates three dynamic goals: delivering the #1 student experience in the nation, doubling research productivity by 2035, and transforming lives statewide and beyond. These overlapping priorities are intended to continue Clemson's development as a leading public research university, sustain its Carnegie R1 status, and position itself for membership in the Association of American Universities (AAU).

Clemson University is an AA/EEO employer and does not discriminate against any person or group on the basis of age, color, disability, gender, pregnancy, national origin, race, religion, sexual orientation, veteran status, or genetic information.

To apply, candidates should submit the following: (1) a cover letter, (2) curriculum vitae, (3) contact information for three references who will provide confidential letters of recommendation, (4) a research statement, (5) a statement on teaching and student mentoring (including evidence of teaching effectiveness); and (6) sample syllabi for undergraduate and/or graduate courses. Apply at - Interfolio (<https://apply.interfolio.com/149108>).

The review of applications will begin October 1, 2024, and continue until the position is filled. Questions regarding this position may be sent to Dr. Adam Warber (awarber@clemsun.edu), Search Committee Chair, or to Dr. Joseph Ura (jura@clemsun.edu), Department Chair.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/3/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14468

South Dakota State University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Public Administration, Public Policy

Assistant Professor of Political Science
School of American & Global Studies
South Dakota State University

The School of American & Global Studies (AGS) at South Dakota State University (SDSU) invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor of Political Science. The School of AGS seeks a dynamic scholar whose field areas include public administration or public policy. Located on our main campus in Brookings, South Dakota, this position is nine months, full time, benefits eligible, and tenure track, with the possibility of supplemental summer salary. The position is supervised by the Director of the School of American & Global Studies. We anticipate a start date of August 22, 2025.

The School of American & Global Studies is a vibrant, interdisciplinary unit, offering B.A./B.S. degrees in American Indian & Indigenous Studies, Global Studies, History, Modern Languages (French, German, Lakota, Spanish), and Political Science as well as standalone minors in Legal Studies, Philosophy, and Religion. Over 300 students major in AGS programs, with another 400 from programs across campus who pursue AGS minors. The school's current composition of 21 tenured and tenure-track faculty and 6 non-tenure track faculty value interdisciplinary and interprofessional collaboration across its research, teaching, and outreach efforts. In alignment with the university's land-grant mission, the schoolhouses four public-facing research and outreach centers: The Ethics Lab, The PHI | Public Humanities Institute, the South Dakota Polling Project, and the recently launched Mike Huether Public Service Academy.

South Dakota State University promotes access to and opportunities for all to receive the benefit of and participate in education, research, and service and is especially interested in candidates that can contribute to this land-grant mission of access.

KEY RESPONSIBILITIES:

The successful candidate will teach three classes per semester in consultation with the director based on student needs and school/program strategic priorities. This faculty member will mentor students in the Political Science program and the Huether Public Service Academy and contribute to the overall academic environment of the School. The new member of the SDSU faculty will conduct scholarly research consistent with their field. Candidates are expected to be excellent classroom instructors with an active research agenda.

SALARY RANGE:

The salary is commensurate with qualifications. We offer a generous retirement plan that includes 6% matching, 9.34 hours of sick leave each month, and eleven paid holidays. Relocation benefits are available per university's guidelines.

BENEFITS:

We offer a rich academic experience in an environment of inclusions and access. The university is part of a dynamic community for families, students, young professionals, and retirees, which offers an abundance of attractions and activities. South Dakota State University offers a wide range of excellent benefits including medical, dental, and flexible benefits, retirement plans, compensation packages, paid holidays, and leave. Employees also have access to internal and state-sponsored training as well as reduced tuition for state-supported courses at all State of South Dakota academic institutions.

MINIMUM QUALIFICATIONS:

- Hold a Ph.D. in Public Administration, Public Policy, Political Science or closely related field by start date.
- Ability to teach public policy (open specialization) and/or public administration courses as well as state and local government.
- Ability or potential to develop and teach undergraduate elective courses in the candidate's area of specialization.
- Ability or potential to develop and sustain an active research agenda.
- Ability to contribute to program and school initiatives through general service.
- Effective written and verbal communication and interpersonal skills.

THE UNIVERSITY:

South Dakota State University is the state's largest, most comprehensive university with more than 200 academic programs, an enrollment of approximately 12,000 students, and over $60 million annual research expenditures.

South Dakota State University offers a rich academic experience in an environment of inclusion and access through inspired, student-centered education, creative activities and research, innovation and engagement that improve the quality of life in South Dakota, the region, the nation, and the world. Its employees embrace the university's core values of being people-centered, expanding knowledge through creativity, embracing organizational and personal integrity, commitment to diversity of thought, and excellence through continuous improvement.

The College of Arts, Humanities and Social Sciences is the intellectual and cultural heart of SDSU. The college consists of seven interdisciplinary schools—American and Global Studies, Communication and Journalism, Design, English and Interdisciplinary Studies, the Ness

School of Management and Economics, and Performing Arts—additionally, the college includes programs in military science (Army ROTC) and Aerospace Studies (Air Force ROTC). The college's unique administrative structure supports and encourages interdisciplinary collaboration among both faculty and students, allowing each unit and discipline to thrive. The college is committed to supporting the Land Grant Mission of SDSU. Our faculty regularly conduct research that directly benefits the people of South Dakota and our region with research that engages our communities, supporting their social, cultural, and economic development.

As the state's 1862 Morrill Act land grant institution, the work of the university is carried out on its main resident campus in Brookings, at sites in Sioux Falls, Pierre, Rapid City, and Aberdeen, and through SDSU Extension offices and Agricultural Experiment Station research sites across South Dakota.

Jackrabbits Athletics competes as an NCAA Division I member with membership in the Missouri Valley Football Conference, the Summit League, and the Big XII.

The university benefits from a robust investor and alumni network actively engaged in classrooms and student ventures. The recent SDSU Bold and Blue comprehensive campaign—the university's largest fundraising effort—raised over $600 million to support the university.

BROOKINGS, SOUTH DAKOTA:

Brookings is home to approximately 24,000 residents and is located 60 miles north of Sioux Falls and 200 miles west of Minneapolis. Brookings is listed as an ideal community for families, students, young professionals, and retirees, and is rated among the safest and most vibrant cities in South Dakota.

The Brookings Public School District educates approximately 3,300 K-12 students and ranks among the state's highest academic achieving school districts. The district includes three elementary schools, an intermediate school for fourth and fifth grade, one middle school, and a high school.

The city also boasts an abundance of attractions and activities, including the Children's Museum of South Dakota, the Dakota Nature Park, the South Dakota Art Museum, McCrory Gardens, the South Dakota Agricultural Heritage Museum, an outdoor adventure center, and the Brookings summer arts festival.

APPLICATION DEADLINE:

Position is open until filled with full consideration given to applications received by September 20, 2024.

APPLICATION PROCESS:

SDSU accepts applications through an on-line employment site. To apply, visit: <https://yourfuture.sdbor.edu>, search by the position title, view the job announcement, and click on "apply for this job." This system will guide you through the electronic application form. This employment site will also require the attachment of a cover letter, which should specifically address how the candidate meets the qualifications as outlined in the advertisement, teaching statement, CV, and a reference page with the contact information for three professional references. Email applications will not be accepted. Please contact SDSU Human Resources at (605) 688-4128 if you require assistance with this process.

Any offer of employment is contingent on the university's verification of credentials and other information required by law and/or university policies, including but not limited to, successful completion of a criminal background check.

South Dakota State University is a tobacco free environment. It is the policy of the University to maintain a drug-free environment and to thereby establish, promote, and maintain a safe and healthy working and learning environment for employees and students. This position is subject to South Dakota State University's Drug and Alcohol Testing Policy 4:14.

For questions on the position, contact search committee chair and Professor of Political Science David Wiltse at 605-688-6367 or David.Wiltse@sdstate.edu.

South Dakota State University promotes access to and opportunities for all to receive the benefit of and participate in education, research, and service and is especially interested in candidates that can contribute to this land-grant access mission. SDSU is an affirmative action, equal opportunity employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration without regard to, and SDSU prohibits discrimination on, the basis of, sex, race, color, creed, national origin, ancestry, citizenship, gender, gender identity, sexual orientation, marital status, pregnancy, religion, age, disability, genetic information, veteran's status, or any other status that may become protected in the offering of all educational programs and employment. Arrangements for accommodations required by disabilities can be made by emailing HR@sdstate.edu. Individuals with concerns regarding discrimination should contact: Equal Opportunity Officer/Title IX Coordinator, Human Resources, Morrill Hall 100, SDSU, Brookings, SD 57007. Phone: (605) 688-4128.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 9/20/2024

Date Posted: 6/27/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14449

USC Sol Price School of Public Policy

Rank: Professor of Public Policy and Management; Bedrosian Chair in Governance and the Public Enterprise

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Public Administration, American Government and Politics

Position Description and Qualifications

The Sol Price School of Public Policy at the University of Southern California seeks a senior faculty member at the rank of professor (tenured) in the Public Policy and Management Department to serve as the Bedrosian Chair in Governance and the Public Enterprise. The individual will have a stellar record of scholarship and leadership in governance and the public enterprise. Of particular interest will be a focus on civic engagement, democratic processes and institutions, collective action, public policy processes and analytics, and public/nonprofit management. We are interested in scholars from all relevant disciplines as well as an interest in a wide array of issue areas that are part of the School's portfolio. Applicants must present evidence of a creative, vibrant and intellectually rigorous research agenda and significant accomplishments in their field. The candidate will also serve as Director of the Bedrosian Center for Governance and the Public Enterprise and is expected to develop and execute public facing programs on Democracy and Governance, including highly visible related policy discussions.

About the Bedrosian Center

The Judith and John Bedrosian Center on Governance and the Public Enterprise was established with a generous gift from Judith and John Bedrosian in 2004. Effective governance is essential to the quality of life of all Americans. The center is dedicated to understanding and improving the nature of democratic governance, policymaking, and management of the public enterprise in the 21st century. The center provides a highly visible focal point for imaginative research, policy analysis, and dialogue across the university. Through public discussion, the center focuses on pressing issues facing society and integrates conversations with civic education, which is at the heart of strong communities.

For additional information about the USC Sol Price School of Public Policy, see our website: <https://priceschool.usc.edu>.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/13/2024

Salary: Above $159,999

eJobs ID: 14410

University of North Carolina, Pembroke

Rank: Assistant Professor of Public Administration focus on Emergency Management

Subfield(s): Public Administration, Other, Methodology

Assistant Professor of Public Administration with focus on Emergency Management

The Department of Political Science and Public Administration at the University of North Carolina, Pembroke seeks an assistant professor of public administration with the ability to teach in the area of emergency management. This position will be responsible for teaching a mix of courses in emergency management and public administration at the graduate level, methodology courses at the graduate and undergraduate level, and at least one of our general education courses (Introduction to Political Science, American National Government, or State and Local Government and Administration).

The area of teaching and research specialization is open. Preferences will be given to candidates who are focused clearly on the administration side of the discipline, those who have a record of teaching courses in emergency management, and to those who can teach methodology. Preferences will also be given to candidates who show how their research may connect and enhance community resiliency through emergency preparation at all government levels. Successful candidates must show excellence in both online teaching as well as in the traditional classroom since this position will require the candidate to consistently teach in both learning platforms. While the teaching load for the university is 4-4, course release time is provided for those who teach graduate courses. The expected teaching for this position is three to five graduate courses each year and one or more undergraduate course each year, with most courses offered on a predictable rotation.

UNCP is a regional university serving rural North Carolina that emphasizes excellence in teaching. The Department of Political Science and Public Administration serves several programs including a B.A. program with four different concentrations and a Master of Public Administration program with four different concentrations. Additionally, the department actively contributes to a growing B.I.S. program in Public and Non-profit Management and Administration. Courses for the department are offered both on campus and in online formats.

To be considered for this position, candidates must hold a Ph.D. in public administration, emergency management, or a closely related field, or be ABD with a clear date of completion. To apply, applicants must complete the application for employment form found at <https://jobs.uncp.edu> where they will be instructed to submit a CV, a writing sample, and a teaching portfolio that demonstrates competence in online teaching and in person, as well as past course evaluations (if applicable). Candidates who are selected after the first round of consideration will be asked to submit three letters of recommendation for consideration. For questions, please contact the chair of the department, Dr. Emily Sharum (emily.sharum@uncp.edu).

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/10/2024

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 14406

National University of Singapore

Rank: Assistant Professor - Public Administration/Public Management/Public Policy

The Lee Kuan Yew School of Public Policy (LKYSPP), National University of Singapore, invites applications for two tenure-track Assistant Professor appointments. Applicants are expected to have research and teaching expertise in the fields of public policy, public administration, and/or public management. Of particular interest are scholars whose research and teaching focuses on public management, public policy, digital technologies and sustainability and with relevance to Asia.

Job Qualifications:

The ideal candidate will have:

- A completed PhD by 2024 in public administration, public management, public policy, political science, or related disciplines;
- Publications in top journals in the field and a strong pipeline of ground-breaking research / working papers;
- Demonstrated ability to teach core and specialized courses in public management and policy; and
- A willingness and ability to mentor graduate students.

Application:

Please submit your application package in electronic form (PDF) to the Hiring Committee via CHRS Link. <https://careers.nus.edu.sg/job-invite/24841/>

The package should include:

- A cover letter.
- Curriculum Vitae.
- A research statement that outlines your publications at the very top journals, your current research interests and pipeline of working papers.
- A teaching statement detailing course taught, your pedagogical philosophy and practices, along with any available evidence of teaching effectiveness.
- Names and contact information for three referees.
- Up to two writing samples.

The review of applications will begin in early October 2024 and continue until positions are filled. Members of the hiring committee may be present at PMRC 2024 and/or APPAM 2024. Interested candidates are welcome to arrange meetings by writing to lkysppjoi-nus@nus.edu.sg

Additional Information:

LKYSPP is a leading public policy school in Asia, attracting an internationally diverse, world-class faculty and student body to engage and address the world's most pressing challenges. Its mission is to inspire, improve lives, and take central positions in the policy and governance conversations within Asia and beyond. We do this by working hard on two planks: pursuing academic and intellectual excellence, and crafting lessons for meaningful public policymaking. The school is housed within the National University of Singapore, the highest ranked university in Asia and the 8th in the world (QS World University Rankings 2024).

LKYSPP offers highly competitive research funding, salary, relocation and housing support, and other benefits. The teaching load (typically three per academic year) allows faculty to focus on providing quality instruction while maintaining their research excellence. For more information about the LKY School, please visit www.lkyspp.nus.edu.sg.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 5/28/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14374

PUBLIC LAW

The University of Texas at Austin

Rank: Professor (Open Rank) in Constitutional Studies: Law, History, and Theory

Subfield(s): Political Theory, Public Law, Other

The School of Civic Leadership (SCL) at The University of Texas at Austin (UT Austin) invites applications for full-time tenure-track and tenured faculty positions at the assistant, associate, or full professor level with expertise in the area of Constitutional Studies (Law, History, and Theory).

Considering the responsibility public institutions of higher education have to prepare students for leadership in a free society, the University of Texas System Board of Regents established the School of Civic Leadership at UT Austin in 2023. SCL is an interdisciplinary school whose dual mission is to equip students with the knowledge and aptitudes necessary to lead in a free society, and to produce academic research at the highest levels of scholarly excellence.

The school offers a minor in Philosophy, Politics, and Economics (PPE) in collaboration with the College of Liberal Arts and will launch a new Civics Honors major and Civics minor in the 2025-26 academic year.

We seek outstanding candidates in the areas of Constitutional Studies (Law, History, and Theory) whose work speaks to the SCL's core themes: political, economic, and individual liberty and its philosophical underpinnings; constitutionalism and the rule of law; and the political economy of a free society. Ideal candidates will (1) have excellent records of scholarship with robust research agendas, (2) provide evidence of exceptional teaching, and (3) show a readiness to contribute to the intellectual life, governance, and programmatic development of the school.

The School of Civic Leadership invites applicants to submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, and list of three academic references. (References do not need to submit full letters at this stage.) Cover letters should give a brief overview of the candidate's research agenda, highlight areas of teaching competence, and concisely describe how the candidate would contribute to developing the school.

Review of applications will begin on September 15.

<https://apply.interfolio.com/149448>

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/30/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14556

Santa Clara University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science (American Politics, with an emphasis on Law and Courts)

Position Type: Regular

Salary Range:

The salary range for this position is $85,947 to $95,410, depending on the successful candidate's years of teaching experience at the college-level. The position comes with generous benefits (scu.edu/hr/benefits), including medical, dental, vision, and life insurance, and university contributions toward retirement. Recognizing the high cost of housing in the local area, there are two University housing assistance programs: Rental assistance to ease the transition into the local housing market, and housing purchase assistance for tenure-stream faculty. For details, go to <https://www.scu.edu/provost/policies-and-procedures/support-for-faculty/housing-assistance/> ?

PURPOSE:

The Department of Political Science at Santa Clara University, a Jesuit, Catholic university, seeks applicants for a tenure-track assistant professor position in American Politics, with an emphasis on Law and Courts.

We seek a teacher-scholar with demonstrated commitment to, and excellence in, undergraduate teaching and scholarly achievement. Candidates from all subfields and methodological approaches whose research and teaching contribute to the empirical study of law and courts are encouraged to apply. Preference will be given to candidates whose research and teaching focus on judicial behavior, constitutional law, race and the law, law and policy, or immigration law.

SCU is on the quarter system and a typical load for tenure-stream faculty is two courses per quarter, assuming engagement in an active scholarship program. The successful candidate will teach (a) Introduction to U.S. Politics, (b) upper-division courses in constitutional law and judicial politics and their area of specialty, and (c) qualitative or quantitative research methods. The ability to develop and teach courses on Race and the Law, Law and Policy, or Immigration Law will be considered a plus.

Santa Clara University's College of Arts & Sciences is currently conducting its third cluster-hire in the area of Inequality & Social Justice.

If applicable, this position will be included in the Fall 2025 cohort. Cluster hire participants will receive mentorship and have the opportunity to participate in regular group meetings providing peer support and interdisciplinary intellectual community to support their scholarly and creative work.

Our department is committed to creating a diverse, welcoming, inclusive, and supportive workplace. We encourage applications from members of historically excluded groups, including people of color, women, LGBTQ+, and people with disabilities. Over the last decade, Santa Clara University has recruited an increasingly diverse faculty, enrolled more diverse and low-income students, and committed to becoming a Hispanic Serving Institution. Please see <https://www.scu.edu/cas/political-science/> for more information about our programs, faculty, staff, and students.

The position will begin on September 1, 2025.

BASIC QUALIFICATIONS:

- 1) PhD in Political Science or a closely related discipline at the time of appointment.
- 2) A clear research trajectory.
- 3) Evidence of excellence in teaching.

PREFERRED QUALIFICATIONS:

- 1) A record of publication.
- 2) Specialization in race and the law, law and policy, or immigration law.
- 3) Teaching and research interests that will contribute to the Department's pre-law and public-sector studies emphases (See SCU Undergraduate Bulletin).
- 4) Experience with inclusive pedagogical practices that advance SCU's goals of diversity and equity.

RESPONSIBILITIES:

Tenure track faculty at SCU are teaching scholars who are expected to balance teaching, research and service. This is an in-person position. More specifically, duties include but are not limited to:

Teaching

1) Teach lower- and upper-division courses in the major and in the university Core Curriculum, as assigned by the chair, including an introductory course in US politics; upper-division courses in their area of specialty; and qualitative or quantitative methods.

2) Teaching responsibilities include, but are not limited to, the following:

- a) Conducting and appearing at all assigned class meetings in a timely and prepared manner that demonstrates a command of the discipline and skill in presenting it effectively.
- b) Assigning and evaluating written work, projects, and exams that align with course or core learning objectives and providing timely feedback to students.
- c) Holding weekly office hours at times reasonably convenient to students.
- d) Assigning and submitting student grades that are appropriate, accurate, and fair measures of student performance to the Office of the Registrar by the designated deadline.
- e) Administering numerical and narrative evaluations in each section for all courses.

3) Develop and teach courses that contribute to ongoing curriculum development in the relevant degree program and/or the university core.

Faculty teaching university core courses should follow an approved syllabus or work with the chair to design an appropriate syllabus for submission for approval from the relevant Faculty Core Curriculum Committee.

4) Participate in assessment of student learning for courses in the department.

5) Provide informed advice and mentoring to undergraduate students.

6) Fulfill other instructional or academic duties as may be assigned by the Dean of the College of Arts and Sciences or by the chair of the Political Science Department.

Research

1) Develop and sustain a research program at SCU that will result in peer-reviewed publications, monographs, and/or creative work per the department scholarship standards.

2) Preference will be given to candidates with a research program that can accommodate participation of undergraduates.

Service

Provide effective service to the Department, the College, the University and profession through contributions other than teaching and scholarship such as service on committees, participation in professional organizations and activities, and community service performed by virtue of professional expertise or association with the university, as appropriate to rank and experience.

APPLICATION DEADLINE:

For full consideration, applications should be received by September 2, 2024. Applications will be considered until the position is filled.

APPLICATION INSTRUCTIONS:

Using the "Apply" button on the SCU job posting (<https://wd1.myworkdaysite.com/en-US/recruiting/scu/scu/details/Assistant-Professor-of-Political-Science--American-Politics--with-an-emphasis-on-Law-and-Courts--R4691>), please submit the following materials through the hiring portal:

1) A cover letter addressing teaching and research interests, your teaching philosophy, and your experience or interest in working with people of diverse cultures and identities

2) CV

3) Sample syllabi and teaching evaluations

4) A writing sample of no more than 40 pages

5) Unofficial graduate transcripts

6) Three confidential letters of recommendation must be emailed directly to the department manager, Ms. Pam Doherty, at pdoherty@scu.edu, by either the recommenders or a dossier service.

HIRING RANGE:

Competitive salary and benefits; housing assistance available.

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION:

Inquiries about this position can be emailed to the department chair, Dr. Elsa Chen, at echen@scu.edu.

Work Authorization:

A foreign national who is appointed to a tenured or tenure-track faculty position is eligible for visa sponsorship assessment by Santa Clara University together with its legal counsel.

Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972

Santa Clara University does not discriminate in its employment practices or in its educational programs or activities on the basis of sex/gender, and prohibits retaliation against any person opposing discrimination or participating in any discrimination investigation or complaint process internally or externally. The Title IX Coordinator and Section 504 and ADA Coordinator is Jenna Elliott, Interim Director of Equal Opportunity and Title IX, 408-551-3043, jrelliot@scu.edu, www.scu.edu/title-ix. Inquiries can also be made to the Assistant Secretary of Education within the Office for Civil Rights (OCR).

Clery Notice of Availability

Santa Clara University annually collects information about campus crimes and other reportable incidents in accordance with the federal Jeanne Clery Disclosure of Campus Security Policy and Campus Crime Statistics Act. To view the Santa Clara University report, please go to the Campus Safety Services website. To request a paper copy please call Campus Safety at (408) 554-4441. The report includes the type of crime, venue, and number of occurrences.

Americans with Disabilities Act

Santa Clara University affirms its commitment to employ qualified individuals with disabilities within the workplace and to comply with the Americans with Disability Act. All applicants desiring an accommodation should contact the Department of Human Resources, and 408-554-5750 and request to speak to Indu Ahluwalia by phone at 408-554-5750 or by email at iahluwalia@scu.edu.

Santa Clara University annually collects information about campus crimes and other reportable incidents in accordance with the federal Jeanne Clery Disclosure of Campus Security Policy and Campus Crime Statistics Act. To view the Santa Clara University report, please go to the Campus Safety Services website. To request a paper copy please call Campus Safety at (408) 554-4441. The report includes the type of crime, venue, and number of occurrences.

COVID-19 Statement

The health and safety of the University community is a top priority. The University strongly recommends that all employees are fully vaccinated for COVID-19 as the vaccination and boosters are safe, effective tools that significantly minimize the chances of serious illness and hospitalization. Please contact Human Resources if you have any questions.

Telecommute

Santa Clara University is registered to do business in the following states: California, Nevada, Oregon, Washington, Arizona, and Illinois. Employees approved to telecommute are required to perform their work within one of these states.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 9/2/2024

Date Posted: 7/29/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14546

University of Denver

Rank: Assistant or Associate Professor, Environment and Society

The Josef Korbel School of International Studies of the University of Denver seeks to hire a tenure-line assistant or associate professor focused on the societal, economic, and developmental impacts of and responses to environmental change. The position will commence in September 2025.

The successful candidate for this position will demonstrate outstanding potential at the assistant level or an outstanding record at the associate level as both a scholar and a teacher in an interdisciplinary school and will complement the expertise of the existing faculty who specialize in environmental issues. We will give special consideration to scholars who focus on the societal, economic, and developmental consequences of climate change on such matters as economic development, social vulnerability, human well-being, security, and democracy, environmental justice, and/or the efficacy of societal and technological responses to them, including public policies, corporate environmental and social governance, climate adaptation, energy transition, and environmental activism.

The faculty member in this position will be prepared to teach core courses in the Korbel School's MA in Global Environmental Sustainability, which also enrolls students from other Korbel graduate programs and in the Korbel School's undergraduate programs. Through research and outreach, the person in this position will contribute to the growth of the School's environmental programs and commitment to engaged scholarship.

The Korbel School is a leader in public and international affairs education and scholarship, with two undergraduate majors, six MA programs, and an MPP program. We are deeply committed to building a diverse and inclusive educational environment and particularly seek candidates with research, teaching, service, or life experiences that can contribute to realizing that commitment. Candidates must demonstrate the ability to work effectively with ethnically/racially diverse populations. The ideal candidate demonstrates experience and versatility in inclusive pedagogy. We also encourage applications from candidates with non-traditional career paths and from international applicants.

Position Summary

Completed applications received by September 20, 2024, will be guaranteed full consideration. A complete application includes a cover letter, a CV, up to two writing samples, at least one-course syllabus, and (three separate) statements on research, teaching, and how, as a faculty member, the applicant would contribute to values and practices embracing diversity, equity, and inclusivity. Please refer to the University of Denver's DEI Resources for further information. Applicants should also arrange for three letters of recommendation that referees should submit directly through the University of Denver job application portal. These materials are to be submitted through the University of Denver's online application system at Pioneer Jobs. Questions can be directed to Sage.Brewer@du.edu.

The University of Denver is committed to enhancing the diversity of its faculty and staff. We are an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment regardless of age, race, color, national origin, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, disability, military/veteran status or any other status protected by law.

Required Qualifications

A PhD or equivalent in public policy, economics, sociology, political science, political economy, or related field. Applicants with degrees from interdisciplinary environmental and natural resource programs or from the natural sciences will be considered but must also demonstrate a clear connection to the social sciences.

The ability to teach undergraduate and graduate courses in environmental economics, sustainable development, environmental politics, or environmental justice, as indicated by evidence of teaching experience or potential.

Scholarly publications or other evidence of high research potential.

Preferred Qualifications

Experience with research that engages, or has the potential to engage, with various policy communities and stakeholders.

Experience in obtaining or applying for sponsored research funding.

Experience collaborating with scholars in other disciplines.

Salary Range:

The salary range for this nine-month position is $88,000 - $98,000 at the Assistant Professor level and $105,000 - $120,000 at the Associate Professor level.

Application Deadline

For consideration, please submit your application materials by 4:00 p.m. (MST) September 20, 2024.

Special Instructions

Candidates must apply online through jobs.du.edu to be considered. Only applications submitted online will be accepted. For complete information about the position and to apply, please consult the University of Denver's job site.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 9/20/2024

Date Posted: 7/25/2024

Salary: $110,000 - $119,999

eJobs ID: 14534

University of Georgia

Rank: Assistant or Associate Professor

Specializations: Constitutional Law & Theory, Criminal Justice, Judicial Politics

The Department of Political Science at the University of Georgia seeks an Associate or Assistant Professor in judicial politics starting August 2025. We encourage nominations and applications from Associate Professors, Assistant Professors, and graduate students who will have completed their degree by the start date.

Duties focus on the publishing of original research in professional outlets and teaching and mentoring at the graduate and undergraduate levels. The successful candidate will be expected to contribute to the Department's offerings in law and courts including topical areas such as US courts, judicial process, constitutional law, and criminal justice.

Minimum Qualifications:

-Ph.D. in political science by August 2025.

-Strong research-related skills with substantive scholarly interests related to law and US courts.

-Interest in teaching and mentoring undergraduate and graduate students.

Preferred Qualifications:

-Demonstrated record or potential for excellence in teaching and scholarship.

-Candidates who will contribute to the university's efforts to enhance and maintain an inclusive environment for learning, teaching, research and service.

-Potential to create synergies with existing departmental faculty in political methodology, all fields of American politics, and/or political theory.

Instructions to Applicants:

Prospective candidates should submit the following in electronic form: a cover letter that addresses the minimum and preferred qualifications for this position, a curriculum vita, a recent publication or research-related writing sample, a teaching portfolio including evaluations, transcripts, and a list of three letter writers, who will separately provide letters of recommendation (in electronic form), to the UGA job search web site: <https://www.ugajobsearch.com/postings/388077>

Questions can be sent to Wendi Finch, Office Manager, Department of Political Science, University of Georgia, 180 Baldwin Hall, Athens, GA 30602-1615 (wendif@uga.edu). Review of applications will begin October 1st and will continue until the position is filled.

The Department of Political Science has an exceptionally strong reputation in American politics, including six faculty who teach and conduct research in areas related to law and courts. For more information about the Department and the School of Public and International Affairs, visit <http://spia.uga.edu/department-of-political-science/>. Athens is well known for its quality of life, including both outdoor and urban activities and conveniently located 70 miles northeast of Atlanta.

The University of Georgia is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, national origin, ethnicity, age, genetic information, disability, gender identity, sexual orientation, or protected veteran status. Persons needing accommodations or assistance with the accessibility of materials related to this search are encouraged to contact Central HR at hrweb@uga.edu. Please do not contact the department or search committee with such requests.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/23/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14518

SUNY, University at Albany

Rank: Assistant Professor in Public Law

Assistant Professor in Public Law

About University at Albany:

Established in 1844 and designated a University Center of the State University of New York in 1962, the University at Albany's broad mission of excellence in undergraduate and graduate education, research and public service engages a diverse student body of approximately 17,000 students in nine schools and colleges across three campuses.

Located in Albany, New York, New York State's capital, the University is convenient to Boston, New York City and the Adirondacks.

Job Description:

Rockefeller College of Public Affairs seeks an Assistant Professor in the field of Public Law. This is a tenure-track appointment in the Department of Political Science, which has a strong public law cohort among faculty, the graduate and undergraduate programs have a public law concentration, and there is a growing minor in Legal Studies that draws students from other departments. The course load is four courses a year. The department's priority is a scholar who addresses big ideas at the intersection of law and politics, pursues research questions of broad theoretical interest and with real-world implications, and who can work across a range of research areas in the field of public law, including U.S., comparative, and international law and courts. Examples of relevant research topics include those pertaining to empowerment, activations, behavior, and/or impact of legal actors and institutions at the subnational, national, and supranational levels. We are open to methodological diversity and welcome scholars who can work across methodological boundaries, including qualitative, quantitative, causal, computational, and multi-method approaches. Although not a requirement of the position, the search committee looks favorably on candidates who are willing to pursue external funding for their research. Candidates should also be willing to teach courses in online formats when specific needs arise. Applicants should have their Ph.D. in hand by June 30, 2025.

Requirements:

Minimum Qualifications:

A Ph.D. in Political Science from a college or university accredited by a U.S. Department of Education or internationally recognized accrediting organization by June 30, 2025. Candidates who will not hold the degree by this date will not be considered. Applicants must demonstrate an ability to develop inclusive and equitable relationships within our diverse campus community. Applicants must demonstrate an ability to support diversity, equity, access, inclusion, and belonging relative to their role. Applicants must demonstrate the ability to conduct a program of original research in the field of Public Law that is likely to produce a stream of publications sufficient for tenure at an R1 university. Applicants must demonstrate the potential to teach a broad range of courses that address the big questions in Public Law at both the undergraduate and graduate levels.

Preferred Qualifications:

A record of, or demonstrated potential for, generating external funding to support the candidate's research agenda.
Experience teaching undergraduate and/or graduate courses.
A demonstrated ability, or potential for, teaching classes in both online and in-person settings.
Record of publishing research that addresses the big questions in one or more areas of Public Law related to Political Science described above

Additional Information:

Professional Rank and Salary Range: Assistant Professor (10 months)

The Jeanne Clery Disclosure of Campus Security Policy and Campus Crime Statistics Act, or Clery Act, mandates that all Title IV institutions, without exception, prepare, publish and distribute an Annual Security Report. This report consists of two basic parts: disclosure of the University's crime statistics for the past three years; and disclosures regarding the University's current campus security policies. The University at Albany's Annual Security Report is available in portable document format [PDF] by clicking this link <http://police.albany.edu/ASR.shtml>

Pursuant to Executive Order 161, no State entity, as defined by the Executive Order, is permitted to ask, or mandate, in any form, that an applicant for employment provide his or her current compensation, or any prior compensation history, until such time as the applicant is extended a conditional offer of employment with compensation. If such information has been requested from you before such time, please contact the Governor's Office of Employee Relations at (518) 474-6988 or via email at info@goer.ny.gov.

THE UNIVERSITY AT ALBANY IS AN EO/AA/IRCA/ADA EMPLOYER

Please apply online via <https://albany.interviewexchange.com/jobofferdetails.jsp?JOBID=178365>

Application Instructions:

Applicants MUST submit the following documents:

CV

Cover letter stating all the required minimum qualifications and any of the applicable preferred qualifications.

Graduate Transcript

Writing Sample or Publication

Available evidence of teaching effectiveness (e.g., syllabi, student evaluations, and/or teaching statement)

List of 3 professional references with e-mail addresses and telephone numbers

Note: After submitting your CV, the subsequent pages give you instructions for uploading additional documents (i.e. cover letter etc.).

See the FAQ for using our online system. Please contact us if you need assistance applying through this website.

Returning Applicants - Login to your UAlbany Careers Account to check your completed application.

A review of applications will start on September 16, 2024, and the search will remain open until the position is filled.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/16/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14499

University of Massachusetts, Boston

Rank: Assistant Professor

Specializations: Civil Rights & Liberties, Constitutional Law & Theory, Judicial Politics

The Department of Political Science at the University of Massachusetts Boston invites applications for a tenure-track position in American politics to be filled at the rank of Assistant Professor beginning September 1, 2025. We are interested in candidates whose area of specialization is judicial politics, civil liberties, and/or constitutional law. A typical teaching load is two courses per semester, and candidates are expected to be productive scholars with active research agendas and pedagogical commitments. This position will come with pre-law advising responsibilities.

Requirements:

All candidates should hold a PhD in a relevant field or should have a reasonable expectation of earning the PhD by no later than August 31, 2025.

Application instructions:

Review of applications will begin October 14, 2024 and will continue until the position is filled. Applicants should submit: (1) a cover letter, (2) curriculum vitae, (3) relevant transcripts, (4) a statement of research and teaching interests, (5) a writing sample, and (6) three letters of recommendation. Please submit application materials online.

UMass Boston is an urban public research university with a teaching soul, whose impact is both local and global. We are the third most diverse university in the country - more than 60% of our undergraduate students come from minoritized communities and groups and more than half of our students are the first in their families to attend a college or university. Thus, our students come to us from richly diverse life experiences and backgrounds; they bring to our classrooms and research settings the robust range of perspectives growing out of the socio-cultural, economic, and historical contexts in which they have lived, along with the challenges they encounter, engage, and strive to overcome. We invite applications from candidates who engage the diverse life experiences of our student body, who appreciate that students bring their holistic selves into the academic setting, and who recognize and articulate how their own life experiences and backgrounds have shaped their journeys, practices, and commitments as researchers, scholars, and educators.

UMass Boston is committed to the full inclusion of all qualified individuals. As part of this commitment, we will ensure that persons with disabilities are provided reasonable accommodations for the hiring process. If reasonable accommodation is needed, please contact HRDirect@umb.edu or 617-287-5150.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 10/15/2024

Date Posted: 7/15/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14494

Transylvania University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science (American Politics and Public Law)

Transylvania University (www.transy.edu), a top-tier, independent, residential liberal arts college in Lexington, Kentucky, invites applications for the position of Assistant Professor of Political Science with expertise in American Politics and Public Law. This is a tenure-track position, teaching in-person classes, beginning August 29, 2025. Transylvania University recognizes that a diverse and inclusive community is essential to the fulfillment of our mission as a liberal arts institution. To that end, we seek to attract a diverse faculty skilled in the scholarship of teaching, research, and mentorship of students from a variety of backgrounds. Candidates are encouraged, in their cover letter, to identify their strengths and experiences in creating an inclusive academic community.

Job Description:

The successful candidate will specialize in the field of American Politics with expertise in Public Law and will instruct core courses in the major, including Introduction to U.S. Politics and our research methods course, Political Analysis, and specialized courses emphasizing the role and practice of law, legal theory, and/or judicial politics. Candidates with the ability to teach courses that contribute to our university's interdisciplinary programs in Africana Studies and/or Women, Gender, and Sexuality (WGS) studies will receive special consideration. Occasional contributions to First-Year programming and service as an academic adviser are also expected. The teaching load consists of three courses per semester, plus one short-term course in May (3-3-1) that offers additional opportunities for travel courses, team-taught courses and other more experimental classroom endeavors. Other responsibilities include academic scholarship/professional activity, preferably involving undergraduate students, and service to the university through various committee appointments. The university also has an excellent faculty development program that competitively funds faculty (and student) scholarly research.

Qualifications:

A Ph.D. in Political Science is required by the start date. Preference will be given to candidates with undergraduate teaching experience. The candidate must demonstrate a commitment to continuing their own professional work along with a commitment to teaching, interdisciplinary dialogue, and working collaboratively with other faculty and with students both within the Political Science Program and across disciplines within a liberal arts environment. The ideal applicant is committed to attracting, teaching, and mentoring students from historically excluded and underrepresented groups.

To begin the application process, please submit one PDF that contains all of the following: your curriculum vitae, your unofficial graduate transcripts, and a statement of teaching philosophy. Candidates are encouraged in their cover letter to identify their strengths and experiences in creating an inclusive academic community. This PDF, along with your cover letter, which will be uploaded separately, may be submitted by following the job openings link at <http://www.transy.edu/jobs>. If you are selected to move forward in the application process, you will be asked to provide official graduate transcripts and letters of recommendation at a later date. Please send questions specific to this search to Professor Steve Hess, at shess@transy.edu. Review of applications will begin on September 1, 2024 and will continue until an appointment is made.

Transylvania University is ranked in the top 15 percent of the nation's four-year colleges by the Princeton Review, which cites its community-driven, personalized approach to a liberal arts education through 49 majors and 39 minors. Founded in 1780, it is the 16th oldest institution of higher learning in the country, with approximately 1,000 students.

Transylvania University is an Equal Opportunity Employer and is committed to enhancing the diversity of the university community. In support of this goal, we seek qualified candidates with a wide range of backgrounds, perspectives, and experiences. We embrace diversity and encourage all who are interested to apply.

Application closes: Sep 1, 2024

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/9/2024
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 14479

University of Tulsa

Rank: Assistant Professor of American Politics

The Department of Political Science at the University of Tulsa invites applications for a tenure-track position as Assistant Professor of American Politics, to begin Fall 2025. The search is open with respect to substantive focus. The department is methodologically pluralist, though we anticipate hiring a candidate who conducts research with and is willing to teach quantitative research methods.

The University of Tulsa is a small, private university seeking to enhance its research profile, particularly in areas related to indigeneity, race and ethnicity, and law. It is also a university with small class sizes in the model of a liberal arts institution. The successful candidate for this position will demonstrate excellence in both research and teaching.

Home to approximately 4,000 undergraduate and graduate students, the University of Tulsa is located in midtown Tulsa, approximately two miles from downtown. Both areas are undergoing an exciting period of growth and are home to vibrant art and music scenes. Tulsa is mid-sized (population ~400,000), family-friendly, and an affordable place to live, with easy access to urban, suburban, and rural areas. The city of Tulsa is nestled in an area where the Muscogee Creek, Cherokee, and Osage tribal territories share a common boundary. Tulsa is also home to The Gathering Place, an expansive riverside park, that Time magazine calls "One of the World's Greatest Places" (<https://www.gatheringplace.org/>). Oklahoma is geographically diverse, including plains, grasslands, rocky mesas, and mountains, and is culturally unique as it is home to 39 federally recognized Native American tribes.

Interested candidates should submit the following materials: 1) cover letter; 2) curriculum vitae; 3) research statement; 4) teaching philosophy; and 5) writing sample, preferably a sole-authored paper. Candidates may be asked to submit additional materials as the review process unfolds. Application materials must be submitted through the University's call for applications at <https://universitytulsa.peopleadmin.com/postings/8960>.

Review of applications will begin on September 16, 2024. Questions about the position can be directed to Department Chair Matt Hindman (matt-hindman@utulsa.edu).

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/8/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14476

St. Olaf College

Rank: Assistant Professor in American Politics

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Law, Public Policy

Specializations: American Politics, Constitutional Law & Theory, Race & Ethnic Politics

The Department of Political Science at St. Olaf College invites applications for a full-time, tenure track position in American Politics, with a primary focus on institutions and/or law, at the Assistant Professor level, to begin August 2025. Preference will be given to candidates who specialize in race, gender, sexuality, and/or economic inequality, who have a broad background in the discipline, and whose research and teaching interests speak to contemporary public concerns.

The teaching responsibilities, five courses per year, would include Introduction to American Politics as well as upper-level courses depending on the scholar's areas of research and teaching interest, such as courses on Congress, the presidency, the courts, state politics, or constitutional law. We expect that the person who fills this position will contribute to our department as a creative teacher, an engaged scholar, and a collaborative colleague.

Qualifications

A Ph.D. in Political Science or a related field completed by the start of the fall semester is preferred, but ABD candidates will be considered.

About the Department

We are a collegial department, with two faculty members teaching regularly in each of the four subfields. We are committed to supporting our colleagues in their pursuit of creative and thoughtful pedagogy and rigorous scholarship. For more information about the department, visit wp.stolaf.edu/poli-sci/.

How to Apply

Submit application at: <https://tinyurl.com/4zxwjpdt>

A complete application includes the following:

References: Provide contact information for three professional references who can speak to your abilities in teaching and scholarship.

Cover letter outlining your qualifications and why you are interested in this particular position

Curriculum vitae

Diversity statement (500 word limit): Describe how you would contribute to the development of a diverse and inclusive learning community at our college through your teaching, research, and/or service. Include examples of your contributions when possible.

Graduate transcripts (unofficial)

Evidence of Teaching Excellence, including a statement of teaching philosophy, focused on pedagogy in and out of the classroom at a liberal arts college

Research Statement focused on your current scholarship and plans for future scholarship

Writing sample

Review of applications will begin on September 20, 2024, and will continue until the position is filled. Applications received by that date will receive fullest consideration. Finalist interviews are expected in November. Questions about the position, department, or College may be directed to Menevis Cilizoglu, Search Committee Chair, at tt2025ps@stolaf.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 9/20/2024

Date Posted: 6/26/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14446

Michigan State University

Rank: Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): Public Law, Comparative Politics, International Relations

Specializations: Civil Rights & Liberties, Judicial Politics, International Law & Organizations

Michigan State University actively promotes a dynamic research and learning environment in which qualified individuals of differing perspectives and cultural backgrounds pursue academic goals with mutual respect and shared inquiry. The Department of Political Science at Michigan State University is seeking to hire a 9-month academic year, tenure system professor at the rank of Assistant Professor in the field of public law, broadly construed.

Candidates from all subfields and methodological approaches whose research and teaching contribute to the scientific study of law are strongly encouraged to apply. We are particularly interested in candidates whose research and teaching interests would complement existing thematic areas and subfields within the department: Minority Politics, Comparative Politics, Political Theory, International Relations, Public Policy, and/or American Politics. Substantive areas of interest include, but are not limited to, civil rights, civil liberties, comparative judicial institutions, comparative law, human rights, international law, judicial behavior, judicial elections, or the philosophy of law.

Candidates with a history of receiving external research funding, or those with mature plans to apply for funding, will be highly favored. The candidate would be expected to teach courses and mentor students at both the undergraduate and graduate levels.

Required Degree

Doctorate by date of hire

Minimum Requirements

- Completed PhD by the date of hire.
- Research and teaching interests that contribute to the scientific study of law.
- Potential for high impact peer-reviewed publications.
- Potential for obtaining external funding.
- Potential for high-quality instruction and mentoring at the undergraduate and graduate level.
- Potential for working with students from diverse backgrounds and working to improving access to higher education for all students.

Desired Qualifications

- Research and teaching interests that connect with existing thematic areas and/or subfields within the Department of Political Science (see position summary).

Required Application Materials

Electronic submission is required, and materials should be uploaded at <http://careers.msu.edu> (posting number 950778). Applicants must submit a CV, cover letter, research statement, teaching statement, two samples of written work, a diversity and inclusion statement, and contact information for three references.

The search committee members are Ryan Black (search chair, rblack@msu.edu), Ana Bracic (bracic@msu.edu), and Cory Smidt (smidtc@msu.edu).

msu.edu). Please contact any committee member with questions about this position.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/24/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14440

University of Michigan

Rank: WCEE Postdoctoral Fellow

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Public Law, Political Theory

The Weiser Center for Europe and Eurasia (WCEE) at the University of Michigan invites scholars with a recent PhD in social sciences, humanities, public policy, and related fields with expertise in Ukraine and Ukrainian affairs to apply for a two-year WCEE Postdoctoral Fellowship, from August 2025 to July 2027.

WCEE Postdoctoral Fellows are expected to focus on their own research, participate in the center's events, present at least one public lecture during their two-year fellowship, and teach one course per year at the University of Michigan while in full-time residency.

Eligibility:

Eligibility is restricted to applicants who have obtained their PhD no earlier than January 1, 2023. Current doctoral candidates are eligible to apply but must have defended and filed their dissertations by July 31, 2025.

Benefits:

Fellowships carry an annual salary of $60,000 and up to $10,000 in research funds during the postdoctoral appointment. Fellowship recipients will be eligible for U-M health, dental, and life insurance options (beginning August 1, 2024 through July 31, 2026). Fellows have full access to U-M library resources.

Application materials:

Candidates should submit the following via Interfolio (<http://apply.interfolio.com/146559>):

- A research proposal (2000 words maximum) that describes your intellectual objectives and concrete plan for the fellowship duration
- Curriculum Vitae
- A scholarly writing sample, such as a dissertation chapter or peer-reviewed journal article (50 pages maximum)
- Teaching statement with potential course topics
- DEI statement
- Two letters of recommendation

To be assured full consideration, fellowship applications should be received by October 15, 2024, 11:59 PM EST. Successful applicants will be notified by December 2024.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 10/15/2024

Date Posted: 6/1/2024

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 14390

Hampden-Sydney College

Rank: Assistant Professor: Public Law

Specializations: Constitutional Law & Theory, Civil Rights & Liberties, Political Theory

The Department of Government and Foreign Affairs at Hampden-Sydney College invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track appointment at the rank of Assistant Professor to begin in Fall 2025. Candidates should have expertise in American public law with a focus on constitutional law and American judicial process. The successful applicant will serve as faculty advisor to the Pre-Law Society and Moot Court team and may teach, as needed, introductory courses in American Politics. Faculty teach in a 6-6-7 course rotation with six courses per year for two years and seven courses in the third year.

Hampden-Sydney College highly values the teacher/scholar model. Successful applicants will have a record of effective classroom teaching, a commitment to scholarly productivity, and a willingness to work with colleagues on professional service responsibilities. Applicants should have a Ph.D. in political science or a comparable degree by the time of appointment. ABDs and JDs with teaching experience will also be considered.

Please submit a letter of application, curriculum vitae, teaching statement, research statement, and three letters of reference to Dr. Celia Carroll Jones, Chair, Department of Government and Foreign Affairs, Hampden-Sydney College via Interfolio: <http://apply.interfolio.com/147105>. Review of applications will begin immediately and continue until the position is filled.

Hampden-Sydney College is a selective liberal arts institution enrolling approximately 1000 students. Founded in 1775, it is the tenth oldest institution of higher learning in the United States. Hampden-Sydney is one of three liberal arts colleges in the United States dedicated to the education of men. Our mission is to educate "good men and good citizens in an atmosphere of sound learning."

Our beautiful 1300-acre campus is less than 7 miles from downtown Farmville, home to Longwood University and the Moton Museum, which is listed on the U.S. Civil Rights Trail. The campus is located 65 miles west of Richmond, 50 miles east of Lynchburg, and 75 miles south of Charlottesville, providing abundant cultural, recreational and artistic resources. As a community, we are dedicated to the goal of building a culturally diverse faculty committed to working in a multicultural environment and strongly encourage applications from women and minoritized groups. Hampden-Sydney College values diversity, prohibits discrimination, and is committed to equal opportunity for all employees and applicants for employment.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 8/15/2024

Date Posted: 5/25/2024

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 14370

Michigan State University

Rank: Assistant Professor

Specializations: Judicial Politics, International Law & Organizations, Civil Rights & Liberties

Michigan State University actively promotes a dynamic research and learning environment in which qualified individuals of differing perspectives, and cultural backgrounds pursue academic goals with mutual respect and shared inquiry. The Department of Political Science at Michigan State University is seeking to hire a 9-month academic year, tenure system professor at the rank of Assistant Professor in the field of public law, broadly construed.

Candidates from all subfields and methodological approaches whose research and teaching contribute to the scientific study of law are strongly encouraged to apply. We are particularly interested in candidates whose research and teaching interests would complement existing thematic areas and subfields within the department: Minority Politics, Comparative Politics, Political Theory, International Relations, Public Policy, and/or American Politics. Substantive areas of interest include, but are not limited to, civil rights, civil liberties, comparative judicial institutions, comparative law, human rights, international law, judicial behavior, judicial elections, or the philosophy of law.

Candidates with a history of receiving external research funding, or those with mature plans to apply for funding, will be highly favored. The candidate would be expected to teach courses and mentor students at both the undergraduate and graduate levels.

Equal Opportunity Statement

All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, citizenship, disability, or protected veteran status.

Required Degree

Doctorate

Minimum Requirements

- Completed PhD by the date of hire.
- Research and teaching interests that contribute to the scientific study of law.
- Potential for high impact peer-reviewed publications.
- Potential for obtaining external funding.
- Potential for high-quality instruction and mentoring at the undergraduate and graduate level.
- Potential for working with students from diverse backgrounds and working to improving access to higher education for all students.

Desired Qualifications

- Research and teaching interests that connect with existing thematic areas and/or subfields within the Department of Political Science (see position summary).

Required Application Materials

Electronic submission is required, and materials should be uploaded at <http://careers.msu.edu> (posting number 950778). Applicants must submit a CV, cover letter, research statement, teaching statement, two samples of written work, a diversity and inclusion statement, and contact information three references.

The search committee members are Ryan Black (search chair, rblack@msu.edu), Ana Bracic (bracic@msu.edu), and Cory Smidt (smidtc@msu.edu). Please contact any committee member with questions about this position.

Review of Applications Begins On September 23, 2024.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 5/17/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14359

Amherst College

Rank: Assistant Professor Race and American Law

Specializations: African American Politics, Civil Rights & Liberties, Race & Ethnic Politics

Amherst College's Department of Law, Jurisprudence and Social Thought invites applications for a tenure-track position at the rank of assistant professor in the area of Race and American Law. The college is committed to cultivating an inclusive and critically engaged educational environment. Nearly one-quarter of Amherst's students are Pell Grant recipients; close to half of our students are domestic students of color. The successful candidate will demonstrate competence and sensitivity in working in a department in which students are broadly diverse in matters of gender, race, ethnicity, nationality, socioeconomic status, sexual identity, political outlook, and religion.

In searching in the field of race and American law, we seek a colleague who sees the domain broadly through the light of theory, practice, and history. We are interested in candidates who conduct research into, for example: the legal construction of race; the moral and legal debates concerning race-based reparative and redistributive practices; the racial dimensions of carceral practices, understood both domestically and trans-nationally; the racial dimensions of the legal construction of space; the role that racial-thinking has played in the construction of immigration policy and the very idea of "Americanness"; how matters of race inform issues of environmental justice; and how the American legal response to the legacy of slavery compares and contrasts with that of other nations with a history of chattel slavery (eg. Brazil).

Teaching responsibilities include two courses per semester and supervision of senior honors projects. We welcome applications from persons trained in the social sciences, the humanities, and/or law. We are particularly interested in candidates whose research and teaching are interdisciplinary. The position requires a Ph.D. (candidates must have the Ph.D. degree in hand or all requirements for the degree fulfilled by the start of the appointment) or a J.D. The start date for the position is July 1, 2025. To apply, candidates are asked to submit electronically (<https://apply.interfolio.com/142507>) a cover letter addressed to Professor Lawrence Douglas, a curriculum vitae, a sample of their scholarship, a teaching statement, and three confidential letters of recommendation. Review of applications will begin on September 15, 2024, and will continue until the position is filled. Amherst College is a private undergraduate liberal arts college with 1,800 students and more than 200 faculty members. Located in the Connecticut River Valley of western Massachusetts, Amherst participates with Hampshire, Mount Holyoke, and Smith Colleges and the University of Massachusetts in the Five-College Consortium.

Start Date: Summer 2025

Application Deadline: 9/15/2024

Date Posted: 3/11/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 13251

PUBLIC POLICY

Princeton University

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Associate, Program in Latin American Studies

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Public Policy

Program in Latin American Studies (PLAS) Postdoctoral Fellowship, 2025-2026

Job Title: Postdoctoral Research Associate

Requisition Number: D-24-LAS-00006

The Program in Latin American Studies (PLAS) is seeking candidates from any discipline who are engaged in scholarly research on topics related to Latin American Studies, including the Caribbean and Brazil, to fill Postdoctoral Research Associate or more senior research positions. Candidates will be expected to devote themselves to research and writing, and may teach not more than one course per semester. When teaching, successful candidates will hold the secondary rank of Lecturer, and any teaching opportunities are subject to sufficient enrollments and the approval of the Dean of the Faculty. Postdoctoral associates are expected to participate regularly in the scholarly and academic activities of the program.

The Term of appointment is based on rank. Positions at the postdoctoral rank are for a 12-month term during the 2025-2026 academic year with the possibility of renewal pending satisfactory performance and continued funding; those hired at more senior ranks may have multi-year appointments. Start date is around September 1, 2025.

Appointments are for a 12-month term during the 2025-2026 academic year, starting September 1, 2025, with the possibility of renewal, contingent on satisfactory performance and continued funding.

A competitive salary commensurate with experience and excellent benefits will be offered.

This position is subject to the University's background check policy. The work location for this position is in-person on campus at Princeton University.

How to Apply:

For full consideration complete applications including letters of recommendation should be submitted by December 1, 2024, 11:59 p.m. EST.

All candidates must apply online and submit the below materials (in English) at <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/34843>.

1. Cover letter
2. Curriculum vitae
3. Statement of research interests (1,000 – 1,500 words)
4. A representative sample of recent work (under 30 written pages or equivalent)
5. Three letters of recommendation

Required Qualifications: Doctoral degree. Eligible candidate must have less than three years of post- PhD research experience prior to anticipated start date. Academic excellence, potential to bring new ideas and approaches to Princeton University and to interact successfully with a broad range of faculty and students.

Start Date: Fall 2025
Application Deadline: 12/1/2024
Date Posted: 8/1/2024
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 14514

Agnes Scott College

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of Political Science at Agnes Scott College invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track position at the Assistant Professor level to begin in Fall 2025. The position requires specialization in American institutions, policy, and/or law. Preference will be given to candidates who may be able to teach courses in international law and organizations as well. Successful candidates should expect to offer courses that will contribute to other programs at the college, such as International Relations and Human Rights, and will also serve ASC's pre-law students. Such courses would also contribute to the Summit program, the College's general education on global learning and leadership curriculum. Applicants should have a Ph.D. in Political Science (ABDs will be considered), as well as evidence of effective and inclusive teaching and a robust research and publication agenda. A commitment to serve a diverse student population is required.

To apply, email the following to Professor Eleanor Morris through faculty@agnesscott.edu:

- ? Cover letter that outlines the candidate's qualifications in research and teaching
- ? Curriculum vitae
- ? Three (3) letters of recommendation
- ? Unofficial graduate transcript(s)
- ? Research statement
- ? Statement on teaching philosophy
- ? Teaching evaluations
- ? Writing sample

Review of applications will start October 1, 2024 and continue until the position is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2025
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 7/30/2024
Salary: Any
eJobs ID: 14554

University of Denver

Rank: Assistant Professor of American Politics, Critical Race and Ethnic Studies

The Department of Political Science and the Critical Race and Ethnic Studies Program (CRES) at the University of Denver invite applications for a jointly appointed tenure-line Assistant Professor to start in Fall 2025 in the field of American politics. The Department of Political Science consists of eleven tenured or tenure-line faculty supporting the Bachelors of Arts degree in political science within the College of Arts, Humanities, and Social Sciences at the University of Denver. Founded in 2018, the Critical Race and Ethnic Studies program (CRES) is a full program with two current tenure-line faculty, a tenured faculty director, and numerous affiliated faculty members. Like Political Science, CRES offers both an undergraduate major and minor. Both also serve undergraduates across campus by offering courses for the common curriculum.

Our faculty are dedicated to the robust pursuit of research, publication, and public engagement. We also value diversity, equity, and inclusion: a commitment by all constituents to create an academic experience that embraces and engages diverse perspectives and communities within an atmosphere of mutual respect. Our curricula endeavor to develop students' abilities to think critically, communicate clearly, write effectively, and develop compelling analytical argumentation based on justifiable sources of empirical evidence and analytical reasoning.

Position Summary

We seek applications from American Politics scholars who study Race and/or Ethnicity. Specific concentrations within American Politics, Race, and/or Ethnicity are open. Scholars of Political Sociology and Public Policy who study Race and/or Ethnicity in the U.S. political context are also encouraged to apply.

The University of Denver embraces a teacher-scholar model where faculty balance their commitments to rigorous scholarship and to undergraduate education. The position requires teaching the equivalent of five in-person courses over the standard academic year (three quarters) in the Political Science department and/or CRES program, covering a range of CRES major requirements (i.e., Introduction to CRES, Quantitative Methods in CRES, or the CRES Capstone) and cross-listed upper division courses. The faculty member will be a fully participating and voting member of both programs. During the first two years of the position, the faculty member will also assist the Director of the CRES program in developing the new CRES major. To facilitate this, the faculty member will be protected from other substantial service obligations. After the first two years, the CRES program and Political Science department have established a practical distribution of teaching and service obligations to protect the faculty member from work overload, and that arrangement will be codified through a signed memorandum of understanding.

Our curricula are delivered via conventional face-to-face classes on our traditional residential campus, with most online-only courses occurring during summer sessions (in which faculty may elect to teach for supplemental income, pending sufficient enrollment). We welcome the incorporation of experiential learning opportunities in the curriculum. Adhering to the teacher-scholar model, the position requires maintaining an active scholarly agenda as demonstrated via scholarly publications, academic conference participation, etc. The person holding this position would also be expected to contribute to University, College, and departmental/program service.

Essential Functions

Pursue a research agenda that results in high-quality scholarly publications.

Teach the equivalent of five courses across three quarters per academic year, including cross-listed upper division classes between Political Science and the CRES program, as well as introductory, methods, theory, or senior project courses within the CRES program specifically. The teaching schedule will be annually coordinated with the CRES program director and Political Science department chair.

Meet outside of class in office hours on campus and/or online to provide guidance and assistance to students enrolled in courses taught and to provide major advising to political science and CRES students.

Deploy best practices through the University of Denver's current course management system (Canvas), utilizing Canvas tools such as discussion boards, quizzes, assignments with uploaded files, and the gradebook as the means to collect student work, communicate feedback and assign grades, and to conduct class sessions and individual appointments remotely when the need for this arises.

Advise students about major and BA requirements.

Contribute to University, College, departmental, and program service

Knowledge, Skills, and Abilities

Advanced scholarly expertise (PhD level) in the field of American politics, focusing on Race, Ethnicity, and Politics.

Successful publication of peer-reviewed scholarship on American politics, focusing on Race, Ethnicity, and Politics, and/or evidence of future promise as a scholar.

Excellent skills in oral and written communication.

Excellent undergraduate teaching skills

Ability to interact constructively with a diverse population of faculty, staff, and undergraduate students.

Required Qualifications

Ph.D. in Political Science, Political Sociology, or related field or interdisciplinary program (e.g. American studies or Public Policy). Must have a Ph.D. by start of appointment.

Evidence of a relevant established scholarly agenda as indicated by peer-reviewed publications.

Experience serving as an instructor of record in undergraduate &/or graduate courses in political (or related social) science.

Interest in developing upper-division undergraduate courses to help build out the CRES curriculum.

Growth toward teaching excellence and a commitment to incorporate inclusive teaching methods and/or pedagogies to effectively engage students from a wide range of backgrounds.

A demonstrated commitment to, and experience in, promoting DEI and in using inclusive pedagogies.

Experience using course management software (such as Canvas or similar).

Preferred Qualifications

Experience independently teaching two or more courses concurrently

Working Environment

1. Standard office environment.
2. Unexpected interruptions occur often and stress level is moderate to high.
3. Noise level is quiet to moderate.

Physical Activities

1. Ability to sit in front of a computer for an extended period of time.
2. Occasionally required to move about the office/campus with the capability of transporting objects up to 20 lbs.

Work Schedule

While the University's administrative offices are open Monday – Friday, 8:00 am – 4:30 pm, faculty schedules vary from term to term and are based on courses taught, service commitments, and research agendas. The University's academic calendars are posted on the registrar's website (the law school is on a semester system and has a different academic calendar).

Application Deadline

For consideration, please submit your application materials by 4:00 p.m. (MST) September 9, 2024.

Special Instructions

Candidates must apply online through jobs.du.edu to be considered. Only applications submitted online will be accepted.

Salary Range:

The salary range for this position is $72,000-$82,000

The University of Denver has provided a compensation range that represents its good faith estimate of what the University may pay for the position at the time of posting. The University may ultimately pay more or less than the posted compensation range. The salary offered to the selected candidate will be determined based on factors such as the qualifications of the selected candidate, departmental budget availability, internal salary equity considerations, and available market information, but not based on a candidate's sex or any other protected status.

Benefits:

The University of Denver offers excellent benefits, including medical, dental, retirement, paid time off, tuition benefit and ECO pass. The University of Denver is a private institution that empowers students who want to make a difference. Learn more about the University of Denver.

Please include the following documents with your application:

1. CV that indicates scholarly specialization, publications and/or working papers, and courses you have taught before as an instructor.
2. Cover Letter explaining your interest in and qualifications for this position
3. Three distinct statements (1-2 pages each), combined into one document with identifying headers, that articulate your (a) research agenda, (b) teaching philosophy and methods to engage students, and (c) how your research, teaching, and/or service contribute to DU's values, practices, and actions regarding diversity, equity, and inclusion. Candidates can view DU's DEI Action Plan [<https://www.du.edu/equity/dei-action-plan>] and/or the College of Arts and Humanities and Social Sciences (CAHSS) DEI Strategic Plan [<https://liberalarts.du.edu/news-events/all-articles/diversity-equity-and-inclusion-strategic-plan-cahss>] for reference.
4. Three samples of written work (e.g., two chapters from dissertation or book and one article).
5. Evidence of teaching effectiveness including two course syllabi, a set of teaching evaluations from two different courses, and any other relevant artifacts of teaching excellence (e.g., a teaching award or recognition), all combined into one pdf file with headers identifying each discrete component.
6. For applicants who have not finished their PhD, please include graduate transcripts.
7. Contact information for three professional/academic references who will be emailed to upload letters of recommendation upon request. Candidates using Interfolio may arrange to send all three letters of recommendation in one pdf file via email to Darlene.Squires@du.edu. No other materials beyond letters of recommendation will be accepted via Interfolio.

The University of Denver recognizes that its success in being a great university dedicated to the public good depends greatly on how well it engages, supports, and champions the values of diversity, equity, inclusion, and justice. As part of our intentionality in recruiting and retaining faculty from a wide variety of historically excluded intersecting identities, including those from communities of color, with diverse gender and sexual identities, first-generation college graduates, or with disabilities, new faculty will have the opportunity to choose to participate in a university-wide initiative. This initiative will connect new colleagues in a cohort, building community across units with supportive programming led by the Office of the Vice Provost of Faculty Affairs in collaboration with the Division of Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion and each faculty participant's academic unit. To learn more about the University of Denver's commitments and work in support of DEI and J, please visit: <https://www.du.edu/equity>. For more information about this program or if you have any questions, please email inclusion@du.edu and/or visit <https://duvpfa.du.edu/faculty-resources/prospective-faculty/>.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 9/9/2024

Date Posted: 7/29/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14543

University of Southern California

Rank: Full-Time, Teaching or Practice Track Faculty

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Public Policy

Full-Time, Teaching or Practice-Track Faculty Positions in Political Science and International Relations

The Department of Political Science and International Relations in the Dana and David Dornsife College of Letters, Arts and Sciences at the University of Southern California in Los Angeles, California invites applications for two full-time, teaching faculty positions:

1. An instructor with expertise in Intelligence and Cyber Operations (INCO). While a Professor of the Practice is preferred, the position is open to the ranks of Assistant Professor (Teaching), Assistant Professor of the Practice, Associate Professor (Teaching), Associate Professor of the Practice, Professor (Teaching) and Professor of the Practice.
2. An Assistant Professor (Teaching), Associate Professor (Teaching), or Professor (Teaching) with expertise in one or more of the following areas: peace and conflict, including topics such as terrorism, genocide, and humanitarian interventions; European security, foreign policy, and diplomacy; international finance; and Environmental politics, policy, or law.

Successful candidates would teach 5 undergraduate-level courses per year.

Qualifications: Successful candidates for the first position must have completed an advanced degree (PhD or JD preferred) in a relevant field and should have demonstrated subject matter expertise, with professional experience in the field preferred, and excellence in teaching. Successful candidates for the second position must have completed a doctorate (PhD strongly preferred) and demonstrated excellence in teaching.

Application Materials:

- Cover Letter (including thorough description of relevant expertise and experience)
- Curriculum Vitae
- Teaching Evaluations, if available.
- The names of three individuals who may be contacted by USC for a letter of reference (referees should speak to teaching abilities)

In order to be considered for this position, applicants are required to submit an electronic USC application; follow this job link or paste in a browser: <https://usccareers.usc.edu/job/los-angeles/full-time-teaching-or-practice-track-faculty-positions-in-political-science-and-international-relat/1209/64030220864> .

Review of applications has begun. We will continue to consider new applications until August 1, 2024.

For additional information please contact:

Morris Levy, Associate Professor and Director of Undergraduate Studies

Department of Political Science and International Relations

Dr. Medicine Crow (DMC) 352

University of Southern California

Los Angeles, CA 90089-0044

morrisl@usc.edu

The annual base salary range for this position is $76,000 - $106,200. When extending an offer of employment, the University of Southern California considers factors such as (but not limited to) the scope and responsibilities of the position, the candidate's work experience, education/training, key skills, internal peer equity, federal, state and local laws, contractual stipulations, grant funding, as well as external market and organizational considerations.

USC is an equal-opportunity educator and employer, proudly pluralistic and firmly committed to providing equal opportunity for outstanding persons of every race, gender, creed and background. The university particularly encourages members of underrepresented groups, veterans and individuals with disabilities to apply. USC will make reasonable accommodations for qualified individuals with known disabilities unless doing so would result in an undue hardship. USC will consider for employment all qualified applicants with criminal histories in a manner consistent with the requirements of the Los Angeles Fair Chance Initiative for Hiring ordinance. Further information is available by contacting uschr@usc.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/23/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14523

Syracuse University

Rank: Postdoctoral Research - Campbell Institute

Specializations: American Politics, Bureaucracy & Organizational Behavior, Public Opinion

Syracuse University has joined with the University of Texas at Austin in directing the United States Policy Agendas Project. The Policy Agendas Project is an academic initiative aimed at collecting and coding government activities in the United States to enable researchers, policymakers, and citizens to track changes in policy processes and outputs over time.

The Campbell Institute at the Maxwell School of Citizenship and Public Affairs at Syracuse University is seeking a Postdoctoral Scholar (postdoc) to manage a group to collect and organize policy data in the areas of Media, Interest Groups, Public Opinion and the Budget. The postdoc will lead a small group of graduate and undergraduate students in weekly policy coding sessions, meeting weekly coding goals and participating in meetings that ensure uniformity of the data collection. The postdoc will report to Campbell Director Chris Faricy and collaborate closely with faculty, students and staff involved in the Policy Agendas Project at Syracuse University.

This is a two-year position as a postdoctoral researcher. Salary Range: $60,000-$65,000.

Applications will be accepted on a rolling basis. To apply, applicants must provide:

1. A resume/CV
2. Cover letter
3. Research statement
4. Writing sample
5. Reference list

APPLICATION HERE:

<https://www.sujobpps.com/postings/105007>

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/16/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14502

University of California, Riverside

Rank: Assistant Professor of Public Policy

Position Announcement:

Assistant Professor of Public Policy, University of California, Riverside

The School of Public Policy at UCR is seeking to hire up to two Assistant Professors of Public Policy. We are seeking scholars who can conduct research and teaching on the politics of the policy process (inclusive of political advocacy, policy creation, implementation, and/or policy evaluation). Competitive candidates are expected to have produced research that: (a) prospectively or retrospectively assesses the impact of specific public policies on humans, the built environment, and/or the natural world; (b) studies how policy is created and implemented and how organizations and implementers operate; (c) evaluates how and when advocacy for policy change is successful; (d) proposes or evaluates reforms to political processes that might improve (or hinder) policy outcomes; and/or (e) develops analytical methods for policy research. The School of Public Policy values public policies that promote efficiency, equity, prosperity, and justice; we are particularly interested in scholars who apply these principles in their research and teaching.

(Note: this search is in addition to a search we will be posting in September that is “open to area of public policy scholarship”. If you are also interested in being considered for the “open” search, please additionally respond to that search advertisement.)

Applicants must have an earned doctorate by the time of appointment in a relevant field and demonstrated excellence in research and teaching. As these experiences may be helpful in the production of policy research and/or teaching public policy students, the following will be considered a positive (but not necessary) applicant characteristic: (a) having a bachelor's degree, master's degree, or PhD in public policy, public affairs, or public administration; and/or (b) work experience in government agencies, legislative offices, policy think tanks and consulting firms, or political advocacy organizations. Instructional and mentoring activities include teaching four, 10-week courses per academic year and guiding the research of undergraduate and graduate students.

The School of Public Policy values diversity among its faculty and strongly encourages applications from women and members of under-represented groups.

The Assistant Professor Series is a full-time position with the rights and responsibilities of membership in the Academic Senate. Appointments and reappointments are limited to a maximum term of two years. The total University service with this title may not exceed eight years except as provided in APM - 133-12-b and 133-12-c https://www.ucop.edu/academic-personnel-programs/_files/apm/apm-133.pdf. Advancement through the faculty and non-senate academic ranks at the University of California is through a series of structured, merit-based evaluations, occurring every 2-3 years, each of which includes substantial peer input. Teaching, scholarly professional achievement, and activities, and university and public service constitute the criteria for advancement.

All materials must be uploaded using UCR's on-line application system via <https://aprecruit.ucr.edu/JPF01951>. To ensure full consideration, complete applications including cover letter, CV, writing samples, a research statement, a teaching statement, evidence of teaching excellence, statement of past and/or planned future contributions to advancing diversity and inclusive excellence, and at least 3 letters of recommendation should be received by September 15, 2024. Review of applicants will continue until the position is filled. The appointment will commence as early as July 1, 2025, or as late as September 1, 2025, per negotiation with the candidate.

The posted UC salary scales, <https://www.ucop.edu/academic-personnel-programs/compensation/index.html>, set the minimum pay determined by rank and/or step at appointment. See Table 1 https://www.ucop.edu/academic-personnel-programs/_files/2024-25/oct-2024-scales/t1.pdf for the salary range. The salary range for this appointment is $74,600 to $97,200 annually. “Off-scale salaries” and other components of pay, i.e., a salary that is higher than the published system-wide salary at the designated rank and step, are offered when necessary to meet competitive conditions.

UCR is a world-class research university with an exceptionally diverse undergraduate student body. Its mission is explicitly linked to providing routes to educational success for underrepresented and first-generation college students. A commitment to this mission is a preferred qualification.

The University of California is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer. All qualified candidates will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, age, disability, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law.

As a University employee, you will be required to comply with all applicable University policies and/or collective bargaining agreements, as may be amended from time to time. Federal, state, or local government directives may impose additional requirements.

For more information about the position, please contact Victoria Anaya at victoria.anaya@ucr.edu.

Start Date: Summer 2025

Application Deadline: 9/15/2024

Date Posted: 7/16/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14501

American University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Violence and Terrorism

The Department of Justice, Law & Criminology in the School of Public Affairs at American University invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track Assistant Professor position beginning in Academic Year 2025-26. For this position, the department is seeking scholars with substantive expertise in political violence and terrorism. The search is open regarding specialty, but the Department is especially interested in scholars whose research and teaching interests include terrorism, political violence, radicalization, extremism, and cybersecurity. Applications from candidates who would enhance the diversity of the department are especially welcome.

Applicants should hold a PhD in political science, criminology, sociology, or other closely related discipline. Candidates who possess a law degree only (J.D. or LL.M.) will not be considered for this position. Candidates should be effective teachers and must be strongly committed to excellence in scholarly research. Most of all, the department seeks scholars who will further its goals of producing high impact research and providing innovative undergraduate and graduate teaching. Competitive candidates will possess a strong background in social science methodologies and a productive research portfolio, including publications in high-quality peer reviewed outlets. The Department is home to a range of disciplines, approaches, and methods. We are particularly interested in individuals whose research is interdisciplinary. In addition to scholarship and teaching, all faculty are expected to hold office hours and participate in School and University activities and service.

Teaching responsibilities will include core and elective courses. Possible courses include Causes of Terrorism, Radicalization, and various research methods classes. In addition to producing high quality scholarship and effective teaching, responsibilities will include mentoring graduate students and service to the department, school, and university. The search committee is especially interested in candidates who, through their research, teaching, and/or service will contribute to the diversity and excellence of the academic community.

Link here:

https://urldefense.com/v3/__https://american.wd1.myworkdayjobs.-com/AU/job/Main-Campus-Washington-DC/Assistant-Professor_R1353__;!!IaT_gp1N!xkkDde2iyhEXP5_KU53wv373Ac-jan8a3J5-HMYlfhfQcQNErKxPGc8dVYZnM5TkeJg6ggiWx5zwo0CsYA\$

Review of applications will begin on September 15, 2024, and will continue until the positions are filled, subject to on-going budgetary approvals. The positions begin August 1, 2025. Applicants should have a PhD or an anticipated PhD completion date by August 2025.

Salary and benefits are competitive, with an expected salary range of $90,000 to $110,000. Please submit applications via Workday. Applications should include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, copies of up to three recently published articles and/or working papers, and three letters of recommendation (note: instead of letters, a list of references is sufficient if applicant currently holds tenure). Please contact Ms. Sarah Feighery, Staff Assistant, at JLC_FacultySearch@american.edu if you have any questions.

Benefits

AU offers a competitive benefits package including a 200% matching retirement plan, tuition benefits for full-time staff and their families, several leadership development certificates, and has been recognized by the American Heart Association as a fit-friendly worksite. Click here to learn about American University's unique benefit options.

Other Details

Hiring offers for this position are contingent on successful completion of a background check.

Employees in staff positions at American University must deliver their services to the university from either the District of Columbia, Maryland, or Virginia, or perform work on-site at the university.

Please note this job announcement is not designed to cover or contain a comprehensive listing of activities, duties or responsibilities that are required of the employee for this job. Duties, responsibilities, and activities may change at any time with or without notice.

American University is an E-Verify employer.

Current American University Employees

American University current employees must apply through their employee Workday account. If you are a current employee at American University, please log into Workday and select the Find Jobs report which will take you to our internal career listings.

Contact Us

For more information or assistance with the American University careers site, email theworkline@american.edu.

American University is an equal opportunity, affirmative action institution that operates in compliance with applicable laws and regulations. The university does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, national origin, religion, sex (including pregnancy), age, sexual orientation, disability, marital status, personal appearance, gender identity and expression, family responsibilities, political affiliation, source of income, veteran status, an individual's genetic information or any other bases under federal or local laws (collectively "Protected Bases") in its programs and activities.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 9/13/2024

Date Posted: 7/15/2024

Salary: $90,000 - $99,999

eJobs ID: 14495

University of Richmond

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

The University of Richmond Department of Political Science invites applications for a tenure-track position at the rank of Assistant Professor to begin in the 2025-26 academic year.

The Department seeks to hire a teacher-scholar whose research focuses on Latina/o/x/e politics in the U.S. All methodological and theoretical approaches to Latina/o/x/e politics are welcomed provided they enhance the department's existing areas of substantive expertise. Topics of interest include but are not limited to immigration policy, political behavior, state and local or urban politics, social movements, or identity politics. The successful candidate will be expected to teach either Introduction to American Government or Introduction to Public Policy and to develop new electives in Latino/a/x politics and the areas noted above based on expertise. The position carries a 3-2 teaching load.

Applicants must either hold a PhD in Political Science or show credible evidence that they will complete the dissertation and degree requirements by August 1, 2025.

The University of Richmond is a private university located just a short drive from downtown Richmond, Virginia. Through its five schools and wide array of campus programming, the University combines the best qualities of a small liberal arts college and a large university. With approximately 4,000 students, an 8:1 student-faculty ratio, and more than 90% of traditional undergraduate students living on campus, the University is remarkably student-centered, focused on preparing students “to live lives of purpose, thoughtful inquiry, and responsible leadership in a global and pluralistic society.”

The University of Richmond is committed to developing a diverse workforce and student body, and to modeling an inclusive campus community which values the expression of difference in ways that promote excellence in teaching, learning, personal development, and institutional success. Our academic community strongly encourages applications that are in keeping with this commitment. For more information on the department and its programs, please see <https://polisci.richmond.edu/>.

Applicants should apply online at <http://jobs.richmond.edu> and submit a curriculum vitae, cover letter, and separate research and teaching statements. The cover letter should provide a brief summary of the candidate’s research and teaching interests and describe their commitment to the teacher-scholar model. The research statement should expand on the candidate’s research agenda and expertise. The teaching statement should articulate the candidate’s teaching philosophy, interests, and future professional development goals, with particular emphasis on involvement in and commitment to inclusive pedagogy. In addition, please include copies of academic transcripts. Candidates for this position may be asked, at a later date, to provide the names and contact information for three references who will be asked to submit letters of recommendation. Review of applications will commence September 20, 2024, and continue until the position is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/12/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14486

Stanford University

Rank: Research Scholar

Stanford University’s Center for International Security and Cooperation (CISAC) at the Freeman Spogli Institute for International Studies (FSI), has long been one of the nation’s leading research centers devoted to addressing issues at the intersection of science, technology, and international security. Through the production of policy-relevant research, teaching and training of the next generation of security scholars and leaders, and advice to and engagement with policy makers, CISAC creates knowledge to build a safer world.

CISAC seeks candidates for a Research Scholar position in international security with a particular focus on policy-relevant research. The appointment is open as to disciplinary focus, and the successful candidate will have interest or experience in policy with expertise in one or more of the following core CISAC areas of research: international security, nuclear security, digital security, biosecurity, and/or environmental security.

The Research Scholar, who is expected to be in residence and to take part in Center activities throughout the academic year, will have responsibility for:

- ? Conducting policy-relevant research on international security, both individually and in collaboration with other scholars.
- ? Co-teaching the CISAC undergraduate honors seminar, a highly selective year-long program designed to help Stanford seniors from all disciplines produce honors theses in international security.
- ? Teaching a course in the Stanford Master’s in International Policy program, or co-teaching one of CISAC’s undergraduate survey courses.
- ? Serving as a mentor to postdoctoral fellows at the Center as well as Stanford undergraduate and graduate students with related research interests.
- ? Working closely in coordination with the Center Directors and with other researchers and faculty members within the Center and across campus to promote excellence in international security at Stanford University.

The initial appointment is for a five-year term. Salary is commensurate with qualifications and experience and includes an attractive benefits package. We are open to international candidates and visa assistance will be provided as necessary.

Qualifications

- ? Background in issues related to international security with a demonstrated capacity for analytical and policy-relevant research in one or more of the following areas of interest: nuclear security, digital security, biosecurity, and environmental security.
- ? A PhD in relevant social science, science, or engineering discipline.
- ? An excellent publication record and/or evidence of outstanding potential for research and teaching.
- ? Well-developed conceptual and analytic skills and a proven ability to design and develop a program of independent research, courses, and outreach.
- ? Experience teaching undergraduate courses is a plus.

Qualified applicants should submit a cover letter, C.V., and statement of current and planned research interests, teaching philosophy statement, and three letters of reference by September 16, 2024. Letters of reference can be submitted via the job application site or sent directly by referees to Kelly Remus, Associate Director for Administration and Finance, at kmremus@stanford.edu.

Stanford is an equal employment opportunity and affirmative action employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law. Stanford welcomes applications from all who would bring additional dimensions to the University’s research mission.

Start Date:

Date Posted: 7/11/2024

Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 14481

University of Pennsylvania

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellowship Position University of Pennsylvania (Economics and Policy)

Postdoctoral Fellowship Position University of Pennsylvania (Economics and Policy)

Postdoctoral Fellowship Position (Economics and Policy)

The <https://sp2.upenn.edu/program/master-of-science-in-social-policy/> (MSSP) Program at the https://sp2.upenn.edu/\(SP2\)) at University of Pennsylvania is accepting applications for a Postdoctoral Fellow position beginning no later than August 27, 2024. The position is for 10 months, with the possibility of renewal. The successful candidate will work full-time across research projects focused on labor and/or public economics and teach one section of “<https://sp2.upenn.edu/mssp-resources/#core-courses>” at MSSP (course materials will be provided).

Under the supervision of <https://sp2.upenn.edu/person/ioana-emarinescu/>, the successful candidate will have the opportunity to conduct research in a number of areas, such as monopsony power in the labor market, the impact of technology on jobs and inequality, and the design of income support programs. The fellow is expected to work on at least one co-authored project with Professor Marinescu. The fellow will have the opportunity to participate in Penn's research community and in professional conferences. This position will provide a competitive salary commensurate with qualifications and experience, along with an attractive benefits package.

Compensation will be commensurate with the University of Pennsylvania's postdoctoral fellow policy and will include annual allowances for research and travel.

Applicants are expected to hold a PhD in Economics, or a similar field (or expected to obtain one by Fall 2024).

Preferred skills include:

- Strong written and oral communication skills.
- Ability to work collaboratively, including possibly supervising research assistants.
- Proficiency in statistical software, including STATA, is required. Proficiency in R is preferred.

Oh

Applications will be accepted until August 14, 2024, and will be reviewed by the Search Committee on a rolling basis. Only short-listed applicants will be contacted for interviews.

Please email the following application materials to the MSSP Program at: <mailto:msspprogram@sp2.upenn.edu> and use “Econ Postdoc” in the subject line.

- Curriculum vitae
- Research statement
- Three letters of reference

- Cover letter (1 page, maximum)
- Job market paper

Location of job: SP2, UPenn

Degree required: Doctorate

Job start date: Flexible

Job duration: 10 months, with the possibility of renewal on July 1, 2025.

Letters of reference required: 3

Interviews: Interviews will be conducted remotely by video.

To apply, visit <https://apptrkr.com/5377441>

Copyright ©2024 Jobelephant.com Inc. All rights reserved.

<https://www.jobelephant.com/>

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 8/14/2024

Date Posted: 7/8/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14475

Clemson University

Rank: Associate Professor or Professor

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Comparative Politics, Public Administration

The Department of Political Science at Clemson University invites applications for an Associate Professor or Professor in domestic, comparative, or international public policy; policymaking processes; or public administration, to begin in August 2025. We welcome applicants from all subfields in political science, especially those that have an interest in the development and promotion of our Master of Public Administration (MPA) and Ph.D. Policy Studies programs, as well as mentoring graduate students. This is a nine-month faculty position, and qualified candidates will be considered for tenure on arrival. Candidates must have a Ph.D. in political science, public policy, public administration, or in a related field.

The successful candidate also will be expected to pursue an active research agenda resulting in a strong record of peer-reviewed publications. We especially encourage applications from candidates with a history of external research funding or definite plans to apply for grants. The position's teaching responsibilities will include offering courses in public policy, public administration, or in related areas within the Department's Ph.D., MPA, and undergraduate programs. The expected teaching load is two courses per semester.

The Department of Political Science offers B.A. and B.S. degrees in political science, along with its master's degree in public administration and Ph.D. in policy studies. The Department has 26 full-time faculty and 3 full-time staff. Clemson University is a land-grant institution located in western South Carolina in the Greenville metropolitan area. Its strategic plan—Clemson Elevate—articulates three dynamic goals: delivering the #1 student experience in the nation, doubling research productivity by 2035, and transforming lives statewide and beyond. These overlapping priorities are intended to continue Clemson's development as a leading public research university, sustain its Carnegie R1 status, and position itself for membership in the Association of American Universities (AAU).

Clemson University is an AA/EEO employer and does not discriminate against any person or group on the basis of age, color, disability, gender, pregnancy, national origin, race, religion, sexual orientation, veteran status, or genetic information.

To apply, candidates should submit the following: (1) a cover letter, (2) curriculum vitae, (3) contact information for three references who will provide confidential letters of recommendation, (4) a research statement, (5) a statement on teaching and student mentoring (including evidence of teaching effectiveness); and (6) sample syllabi for undergraduate and/or graduate courses. Apply at - Interfolio (<https://apply.interfolio.com/149108>).

The review of applications will begin October 1, 2024, and continue until the position is filled. Questions regarding this position may be sent to Dr. Adam Warber (awarber@clemsun.edu), Search Committee Chair, or to Dr. Joseph Ura (jura@clemsun.edu), Department Chair.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/3/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14468

Loyola University Maryland

Rank: Per course Instructor in American Politics

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Policy, Other

Specializations: Congress, Electoral Behavior, Political Behavior

The Department of Political Science at Loyola University Maryland invites applications to teach undergraduate American Politics courses in-person for the Spring 2025 semester. We seek instructors capable of teaching in their area of expertise, in one or more of nearly any area of American Politics (for example, Political Parties, Campaigns and Elections, Public Policy, Public Opinion, Media and Politics, Political Psychology, Social Movements). The instructor would teach in a part-time, non-tenure track capacity but may be able to teach multiple sections of the same course.

The Political Science Department has a strong teaching culture. We especially value candidates who have a strong interest in teaching undergraduates and who are able to implement thoughtful, intentional pedagogies that support the learning of a wide range of students.

A Ph.D. or A.B.D. in Political Science is required. College/university teaching experience is strongly preferred. Aside from holding office hours with students, no committee assignments or service requirements will be associated with the position.

Loyola University Maryland is a dynamic, highly selective, Jesuit Catholic university in the liberal arts tradition. It is highly ranked among the leading independent, comprehensive universities in the northeastern United States. Committed to intellectual excellence, diversity, and social justice, the University enrolls over 4,000 students in its undergraduate programs and more than 3,000 students in its graduate programs.

Loyola University Maryland strongly values the benefits that diversity brings to the workplace. In accord with its Ignatian values, the University is committed to creating and promoting a community that recognizes the inherent value and dignity of each person. Loyola University

Maryland does not discriminate on the basis of race, sex, color, national or ethnic origin, age, religion, disability, marital status, sexual orientation, gender identity, genetic information, military status, or any other legally protected classification. The University recruits, hires, and promotes in accord with this policy and its Core Values.

To begin the application process, please send a curriculum vitae with a statement of interest. Eventually, we will ask for letters of reference, a graduate transcript, teaching evaluations (if available), and a cover letter explaining teaching interests and experience in relation to Loyola's educational mission. Application materials should be submitted to Political Science Department Chair Dr. Carsten Vala at cvala@loyola.edu, who is also available to answer questions. The search committee will begin screening applications immediately and continue until the position is filled.

Salary range: $4,000 - $4,500 per course (without and with PhD)

Start Date: Spring 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/2/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14463

University of Cincinnati

Rank: Assistant Professor, Environmental Public Policy

Founded in 1819, the University of Cincinnati ranks among the nation's best urban public research universities. Home to more than 50,000 students, 11,000 faculty and staff and 340,000 alumni, UC combines a Top 35 public research university with a physical setting The New York Times calls "the most ambitious campus design program in the country."

With the launch of Next Lives Here, the Cincinnati Innovation District, a $100 million JobsOhio investment, nine straight years of record enrollment, worldwide leadership in cooperative education, a dynamic academic health center and entry into the Big 12 Conference, UC's momentum has never been stronger. UC's annual budget tops $1.65 billion and its endowment totals $1.8 billion. The University's overall regional economic impact exceeds $10.6 billion, paving the way for the future of Cincinnati.

Job Overview

The School of Public and International Affairs (SPIA) at the University of Cincinnati (UC) invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor in the area of environmental public policy and research methodology. While the tenure-home of the position is in SPIA, the successful candidate is expected to teach cross-listed courses in support of the mission of UC's School of Environment and Sustainability Studies (SEaS). SPIA is seeking to expand its research capacity to leverage broader theories/frameworks of public policy and/or governance, which align with SPIA's mission to advance research with public impact.

SPIA offers a PhD and MA in Political Science, a Master's of Public Administration (MPA), as well as three undergraduate BAs (Political Science, International Affairs, and Law and Society). SPIA also houses three centers—the Center for Cyber Strategy and Policy (CCSP), the Portman Center for Policy Solutions (PCPS), and the Center for Truth, Racial Healing and Transformation (CTRHT). SEaS is home to the Environmental Studies BS and BA, as well as two minor tracks.

SEaS brings together expertise in the Natural Sciences, Social Sciences, and Humanities to create a transdisciplinary approach to problem solving in the classroom and in the community.

Essential Functions

The successful candidate will be expected to:

- Apply their research and methodological expertise to an environmental policy-centered research agenda that exhibits potential for external funding. Research in any environmental issue-area or using any methodological approach is welcome.
 - Teach primarily, but not exclusively, courses at the undergraduate level. The course load for research active tenure-track faculty is 2-2 (two courses per 2 semesters). All undergraduate courses taught will be cross listed between SPIA and SEaS. Courses might include, but are not limited to, Introduction to Environmental Policy, Environmental Justice, Environmental Science and Politics, and/or Global Environmental Politics. Graduate courses might include Public Policy Research Methods and Environmental Policy.
 - Develop their own courses that coincide with their specific area of expertise.
 - Perform service activities such as committee membership at the unit level as well as the college, university and at national and international levels with professional organizations, community-engagement, public service, as well as student mentorship and advising.
- Minimum Requirements

Prior to the effective date of the appointment, candidates must have a completed PhD (i.e., must have completed all requirements for graduation) in Public Policy, Political Science, or a related field.

The expected appointment will begin August 15, 2025.

Application Process

Interested and qualified applicants must complete our on-line application. <https://jobs.uc.edu/job/Cincinnati-Assistant-Professor-in-Environmental-Public-Policy%2C-College-of-Arts-and-Sciences-OH-45201/1182689900/>

In addition to the basic online application, please provide: a cover letter indicating fit with the job description; full and current CV; contact information for three references (letters of reference will be requested for semifinalists); teaching philosophy statement; one writing sample. A one-page statement addressing the candidate's intended contributions to the University's team culture goals is also required. Please use the 'additional documents' feature to include all these required items. Review of applications will begin August 1, 2024 with applications accepted until the position is filled.

Questions should be directed to Dr. Richard Harknett, Director of SPIA and Search Committee Chair at: Richard.harknett@uc.edu

Compensation and Benefits

UC offers a wide array of complementary and affordable benefit options, to meet the financial, educational, health, and wellness needs of you and your family. Eligibility varies by position and FTE.

Competitive salary range dependent on the candidate's experience. Comprehensive insurance plans including medical, dental, vision, and prescription coverage.

Flexible spending accounts and an award-winning employee wellness program, plus an employee assistance program.

Financial security via our life and long-term disability insurance, accident and illness insurance, and retirement savings plans.

Generous paid time off work options including vacation, sick leave, annual holidays, and winter season days in addition to paid parental leave.

Tuition remission is available for employees and their eligible dependents.

Enjoy discounts for on and off-campus activities and services.

For questions about the UC recruiting process or to request accommodations with the application, please contact Human Resources at jobs@uc.edu.

The University of Cincinnati is an Equal Opportunity Employer.

REQ: 96391

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/2/2024

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 14467

Princeton University

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Associate

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Public Policy

Specializations: Economic Policy, International Political Economy, International Law & Organizations

The Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance (NCGG) at Princeton University's School of Public and International Affairs invites applications for postdoctoral research associates from individuals with a Ph.D. degree or who expect to receive a Ph.D. degree by July 1, 2025, for the 2025-2026 academic year. These awards are designed to promote basic research in the broad areas of international and comparative political economy, international organization and global governance, and globalization. Research on the causes and consequences of globalization, the political economy of foreign trade, monetary and regulatory policies, the sources of international cooperation at the global and regional level, the domestic and international politics of economic development, the political economy of human security issues, the evolution and impact of international institutions, and the politics of international law and human rights policies are of relevance. Outstanding scholars anywhere in the world are eligible to apply. NCGG invites candidates with a background in political science, economics, modern history, sociology, anthropology, law, business, and other disciplines bearing on the study of globalization to apply. Selected candidates will be required to be in residence in Princeton or the local vicinity, or demonstrate to the program's satisfaction the ability to be on campus on a daily basis and on short notice in order to fulfill responsibilities relating to in-person participation, office hours, and related activities for the duration of the fellowship (July 1, 2025- July 1, 2026). Appointments are for one year.

Application Deadline - Applicants should apply by Tuesday, October 1, 2024 (11:59 pm EST) for full consideration; however, posting will remain open until filled.

Application Process - All candidates must use the online application process to submit materials at: <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/35041>.

Applicants are required to hold a Ph.D. or expect to receive a Ph.D. degree by July 1, 2025, in one of the above-mentioned disciplines. To apply, please provide the following:

*Cover letter explaining the candidate's scholarly career, prospective or actual doctoral defense date, and academic interests;

*Current curriculum vitae, including publications;

*2,000-word description of the proposed research project, including its specific objectives, importance, and research design;

*One writing sample (limit of 50 pages);

*Contact information for three references, who will be asked to comment specifically on the applicant's qualifications for the proposed research project. Referees will be contacted directly by email with instructions for submitting a confidential recommendation on your behalf. Letters of reference are to be submitted by the end of business day on Saturday, October 5, 2024. Complete your application well before the deadline so that references can be submitted on time.

Salary - Rank and salary will be contingent on qualifications. NCGG Fellows will receive applicable Princeton University benefits, a taxable moving allowance, and a $5,000 research fund. This is a one-year appointment.

Successful applicants will be notified of the outcome of their application in December 2024. This position is subject to the University's background check policy. The work location for this position is in-person on campus at Princeton University.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 10/1/2024

Date Posted: 7/1/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14462

South Dakota State University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Public Administration, Public Policy

Assistant Professor of Political Science
School of American & Global Studies
South Dakota State University

The School of American & Global Studies (AGS) at South Dakota State University (SDSU) invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor of Political Science. The School of AGS seeks a dynamic scholar whose field areas include public administration or public policy. Located on our main campus in Brookings, South Dakota, this position is nine months, full time, benefits eligible, and tenure track, with the possibility of supplemental summer salary. The position is supervised by the Director of the School of American & Global Studies. We anticipate a start date of August 22, 2025.

The School of American & Global Studies is a vibrant, interdisciplinary unit, offering B.A./B.S. degrees in American Indian & Indigenous Studies, Global Studies, History, Modern Languages (French, German, Lakota, Spanish), and Political Science as well as standalone

minors in Legal Studies, Philosophy, and Religion. Over 300 students major in AGS programs, with another 400 from programs across campus who pursue AGS minors. The school's current composition of 21 tenured and tenure-track faculty and 6 non-tenure track faculty value interdisciplinary and interprofessional collaboration across its research, teaching, and outreach efforts. In alignment with the university's land-grant mission, the schoolhouses four public-facing research and outreach centers: The Ethics Lab, The PHI | Public Humanities Institute, the South Dakota Polling Project, and the recently launched Mike Huether Public Service Academy.

South Dakota State University promotes access to and opportunities for all to receive the benefit of and participate in education, research, and service and is especially interested in candidates that can contribute to this land-grant mission of access.

KEY RESPONSIBILITIES:

The successful candidate will teach three classes per semester in consultation with the director based on student needs and school/program strategic priorities. This faculty member will mentor students in the Political Science program and the Huether Public Service Academy and contribute to the overall academic environment of the School. The new member of the SDSU faculty will conduct scholarly research consistent with their field. Candidates are expected to be excellent classroom instructors with an active research agenda.

SALARY RANGE:

The salary is commensurate with qualifications. We offer a generous retirement plan that includes 6% matching, 9.34 hours of sick leave each month, and eleven paid holidays. Relocation benefits are available per university's guidelines.

BENEFITS:

We offer a rich academic experience in an environment of inclusions and access. The university is part of a dynamic community for families, students, young professionals, and retirees, which offers an abundance of attractions and activities. South Dakota State University offers a wide range of excellent benefits including medical, dental, and flexible benefits, retirement plans, compensation packages, paid holidays, and leave. Employees also have access to internal and state-sponsored training as well as reduced tuition for state-supported courses at all State of South Dakota academic institutions.

MINIMUM QUALIFICATIONS:

- Hold a Ph.D. in Public Administration, Public Policy, Political Science or closely related field by start date.
- Ability to teach public policy (open specialization) and/or public administration courses as well as state and local government.
- Ability or potential to develop and teach undergraduate elective courses in the candidate's area of specialization.
- Ability or potential to develop and sustain an active research agenda.
- Ability to contribute to program and school initiatives through general service.
- Effective written and verbal communication and interpersonal skills.

THE UNIVERSITY:

South Dakota State University is the state's largest, most comprehensive university with more than 200 academic programs, an enrollment of approximately 12,000 students, and over $60 million annual research expenditures.

South Dakota State University offers a rich academic experience in an environment of inclusion and access through inspired, student-centered education, creative activities and research, innovation and engagement that improve the quality of life in South Dakota, the region, the nation, and the world. Its employees embrace the university's core values of being people-centered, expanding knowledge through creativity, embracing organizational and personal integrity, commitment to diversity of thought, and excellence through continuous improvement.

The College of Arts, Humanities and Social Sciences is the intellectual and cultural heart of SDSU. The college consists of seven interdisciplinary schools—American and Global Studies, Communication and Journalism, Design, English and Interdisciplinary Studies, the Ness School of Management and Economics, and Performing Arts—additionally, the college includes programs in military science (Army ROTC) and Aerospace Studies (Air Force ROTC). The college's unique administrative structure supports and encourages interdisciplinary collaboration among both faculty and students, allowing each unit and discipline to thrive. The college is committed to supporting the Land Grant Mission of SDSU. Our faculty regularly conduct research that directly benefits the people of South Dakota and our region with research that engages our communities, supporting their social, cultural, and economic development.

As the state's 1862 Morrill Act land grant institution, the work of the university is carried out on its main resident campus in Brookings, at sites in Sioux Falls, Pierre, Rapid City, and Aberdeen, and through SDSU Extension offices and Agricultural Experiment Station research sites across South Dakota.

Jackrabbits Athletics competes as an NCAA Division I member with membership in the Missouri Valley Football Conference, the Summit League, and the Big XII.

The university benefits from a robust investor and alumni network actively engaged in classrooms and student ventures. The recent SDSU Bold and Blue comprehensive campaign—the university's largest fundraising effort—raised over $600 million to support the university.

BROOKINGS, SOUTH DAKOTA:

Brookings is home to approximately 24,000 residents and is located 60 miles north of Sioux Falls and 200 miles west of Minneapolis. Brookings is listed as an ideal community for families, students, young professionals, and retirees, and is rated among the safest and most vibrant cities in South Dakota.

The Brookings Public School District educates approximately 3,300 K-12 students and ranks among the state's highest academic achieving school districts. The district includes three elementary schools, an intermediate school for fourth and fifth grade, one middle school, and a high school.

The city also boasts an abundance of attractions and activities, including the Children's Museum of South Dakota, the Dakota Nature Park, the South Dakota Art Museum, McCrory Gardens, the South Dakota Agricultural Heritage Museum, an outdoor adventure center, and the Brookings summer arts festival.

APPLICATION DEADLINE:

Position is open until filled with full consideration given to applications received by September 20, 2024.

APPLICATION PROCESS:

SDSU accepts applications through an on-line employment site. To apply, visit: <https://yourfuture.sdbor.edu>, search by the position title, view the job announcement, and click on "apply for this job." This system will guide you through the electronic application form. This employment site will also require the attachment of a cover letter, which should specifically address how the candidate meets the qualifications as outlined in the advertisement, teaching statement, CV, and a reference page with the contact information for three professional references. Email applications will not be accepted. Please contact SDSU Human Resources at (605) 688-4128 if you require assistance with this process.

Any offer of employment is contingent on the university's verification of credentials and other information required by law and/or university policies, including but not limited to, successful completion of a criminal background check.

South Dakota State University is a tobacco free environment. It is the policy of the University to maintain a drug-free environment and to thereby establish, promote, and maintain a safe and healthy working and learning environment for employees and students. This position is subject to South Dakota State University's Drug and Alcohol Testing Policy 4:14.

For questions on the position, contact search committee chair and Professor of Political Science David Wiltse at 605-688-6367 or David.Wiltse@sdstate.edu.

South Dakota State University promotes access to and opportunities for all to receive the benefit of and participate in education, research, and service and is especially interested in candidates that can contribute to this land-grant access mission. SDSU is an affirmative action, equal opportunity employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration without regard to, and SDSU prohibits discrimination on, the basis of, sex, race, color, creed, national origin, ancestry, citizenship, gender, gender identity, sexual orientation, marital status, pregnancy, religion, age, disability, genetic information, veteran's status, or any other status that may become protected in the offering of all educational programs and employment. Arrangements for accommodations required by disabilities can be made by emailing HR@sdstate.edu. Individuals with concerns regarding discrimination should contact: Equal Opportunity Officer/Title IX Coordinator, Human Resources, Morrill Hall 100, SDSU, Brookings, SD 57007. Phone: (605) 688-4128.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 9/20/2024

Date Posted: 6/27/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14449

St. Olaf College

Rank: Assistant Professor in American Politics

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Law, Public Policy

Specializations: American Politics, Constitutional Law & Theory, Race & Ethnic Politics

The Department of Political Science at St. Olaf College invites applications for a full-time, tenure track position in American Politics, with a primary focus on institutions and/or law, at the Assistant Professor level, to begin August 2025. Preference will be given to candidates who specialize in race, gender, sexuality, and/or economic inequality, who have a broad background in the discipline, and whose research and teaching interests speak to contemporary public concerns.

The teaching responsibilities, five courses per year, would include Introduction to American Politics as well as upper-level courses depending on the scholar's areas of research and teaching interest, such as courses on Congress, the presidency, the courts, state politics, or constitutional law. We expect that the person who fills this position will contribute to our department as a creative teacher, an engaged scholar, and a collaborative colleague.

Qualifications

A Ph.D. in Political Science or a related field completed by the start of the fall semester is preferred, but ABD candidates will be considered.

About the Department

We are a collegial department, with two faculty members teaching regularly in each of the four subfields. We are committed to supporting our colleagues in their pursuit of creative and thoughtful pedagogy and rigorous scholarship. For more information about the department, visit wp.stolaf.edu/poli-sci/.

How to Apply

Submit application at: <https://tinyurl.com/4zxwjpdt>

A complete application includes the following:

References: Provide contact information for three professional references who can speak to your abilities in teaching and scholarship.

Cover letter outlining your qualifications and why you are interested in this particular position

Curriculum vitae

Diversity statement (500 word limit): Describe how you would contribute to the development of a diverse and inclusive learning community at our college through your teaching, research, and/or service. Include examples of your contributions when possible.

Graduate transcripts (unofficial)

Evidence of Teaching Excellence, including a statement of teaching philosophy, focused on pedagogy in and out of the classroom at a liberal arts college

Research Statement focused on your current scholarship and plans for future scholarship

Writing sample

Review of applications will begin on September 20, 2024, and will continue until the position is filled. Applications received by that date will receive fullest consideration. Finalist interviews are expected in November. Questions about the position, department, or College may be directed to Menevis Cilizoglu, Search Committee Chair, at tt2025ps@stolaf.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 9/20/2024

Date Posted: 6/26/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14446

Purdue University

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Association AI and Political Science

Subfield(s): Open, Methodology, Public Policy

Postdoctoral Research Associate, Artificial Intelligence, Political Science

Job Summary

The Department of Political Science seeks a two-year postdoctoral researcher to assist with projects, papers, and grant proposals in the Governance and Responsible AI Lab (GRAIL) and the Computational Social Science Lab (CSS). The postdoctoral fellow will be mentored in research and proposal writing by faculty directors of the labs and participate in an active research community in Political Science and the College of Liberal Arts.

For information about the labs, please see the following websites:

GRAIL: <https://cla.purdue.edu/academic/polsci/research/labs/grail/index.html>

CSS: <https://cla.purdue.edu/academic/polsci/research/labs/computational-social-science-lab/index.html>

The start date is negotiable, but must fall between August 1, 2024 and January 1, 2025. The position is at Purdue's main campus in West Lafayette, Indiana.

Qualifications

A PhD in Political Science, Public Policy, or a closely related field is required. ABDs will be considered but the successful candidate must provide evidence of completion of all requirements for the PhD prior to the start date of the position. Qualified candidates must have strong skills in writing, quantitative data analysis, data visualization, and research methods. Candidates must have experience managing research projects and a record of successful collaboration. Candidates must also have evidence of a research pipeline related to the aims of GRAIL and the CSS Lab.

About Purdue University

In recent years, the College of Liberal Arts at Purdue University has hired a large group of faculty in the area of artificial intelligence (AI), broadly construed. Representing a variety of disciplines in the College, this cohort of scholars expands our capacity to explore the implications of AI development across multiple domains and contribute to disciplinary and interdisciplinary research and educational initiatives surrounding AI in new and important ways.

Political Science is home to 28 faculty and more than 40 PhD students, visiting scholars, and post-docs. Purdue University is a member of the AAU and a land grant university with enrollment of over 52,000 students. The campus is located in West Lafayette, Indiana, an area with a favorable cost of living and a vibrant local community. Purdue University offers high-quality research and computing facilities with many opportunities for collaboration in Centers and Institutes across campus and in the broader region. Purdue University is building world-leading programs in AI, including a new Institute for Physical Artificial Intelligence.

Computational Social Science (CSS) Lab at Purdue University

Under the direction of Dr. Bryce J. Dietrich, the Computational Social Science Lab (CSS) was established to promote the application and development of computational methods to large, typically complex, human, and behavioral data. CSS has received coverage both on and off campus for its "revolutionary" approach to social science research, especially its novel use of text, audio, and video data. The lab comprises an interdisciplinary team of undergraduate and graduate students, faculty, and postdoctoral fellows.

Dr. Bryce J. Dietrich joined the faculty at Purdue University in the Fall of 2022. His research uses novel quantitative, automated, and machine learning methods to analyze non-traditional data sources such as audio (or speech) data and video data. His work has appeared in prominent journals like the American Political Science Review, Journal of Politics, Nature Human Behavior, Political Analysis, and Political Psychology. In addition to securing external awards from the NIH and NSF, his work has also been covered by prominent media outlets like The Washington Post, The Economist and National Public Radio (NPR). His most recent work using C-SPAN has looked at gender and social dynamics on the floor of the U.S. House of Representatives.

Governance and Responsible AI Lab (GRAIL) at Purdue University
The Governance and Responsible AI Lab (GRAIL), co-directed by Dr. Daniel S. Schiff and Dr. Kaylyn Jackson Schiff, conducts research on the social, ethical, and governance implications of artificial intelligence and other emerging technologies. GRAIL consists of an interdisciplinary team of faculty, graduate students, and undergraduate students and produces rigorous, policy-relevant work on AI supported by funding from the National Institute of Justice and Google. The lab's research explores topics such as the political impacts of deepfakes, emerging legislation and regulation related to AI, use of AI in government and law enforcement, and public and elite opinion on AI. GRAIL is a member of the National Institute of Standards and Technology's AI Safety Institute Consortium and an affiliate of Purdue's Institute for Physical Artificial Intelligence.

Dr. Daniel S. Schiff studies the formal and informal governance of AI through policy and industry, as well as AI's social and ethical implications in domains like education, manufacturing, finance, and criminal justice. Daniel previously served as the founding Responsible AI Lead at JP Morgan Chase & Co. and as the Secretary of the IEEE 7010-2020 standard, the first AI ethics industry standard. His research has been published in prominent interdisciplinary venues such as Policy Studies Journal, the American Political Science Review, AI & Society, and the International Journal of AI in Education.

Dr. Kaylyn Jackson Schiff conducts research on how technological developments are changing citizen-government contact and explores implications for service provision, misinformation, policing, education, and government use of artificial intelligence. Her research has won the award for best dissertation in the field of public administration from the American Political Science Association and the Journal of Politics best paper award. Her work has been published in top journals such as the American Political Science Review, Public Administration Review, Policy Studies Journal, and Nature Human Behavior.

Application Procedures

To apply, please visit <https://careers.purdue.edu/> position number 32237. Applications must be submitted online and include: 1) Cover letter of interest that includes a statement describing how the applicant's research fits the principal duties and qualifications of the position, 2) Curriculum Vitae, and 3) Recent research paper or other writing sample related to the position description. Candidates who advance in the review process may be asked to provide letters of recommendation and transcripts.

Screening of applicants will begin on July 15th, 2024, and will continue until the position is filled. A background check is required for employment in this position. For additional information, contact Dr. Bryce J. Dietrich at bjdietri@purdue.edu.

Purdue University is an EOE/AA employer. All individuals, including minorities, women, individuals with disabilities, and veterans are encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/17/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14420

USC Sol Price School of Public Policy

Rank: Professor of Public Policy and Management; Bedrosian Chair in Governance and the Public Enterprise

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Public Administration, American Government and Politics

Position Description and Qualifications

The Sol Price School of Public Policy at the University of Southern California seeks a senior faculty member at the rank of professor (tenured) in the Public Policy and Management Department to serve as the Bedrosian Chair in Governance and the Public Enterprise. The individual will have a stellar record of scholarship and leadership in governance and the public enterprise. Of particular interest will be a focus on civic engagement, democratic processes and institutions, collective action, public policy processes and analytics, and public/nonprofit management. We are interested in scholars from all relevant disciplines as well as an interest in a wide array of issue areas that are part of the School's portfolio. Applicants must present evidence of a creative, vibrant and intellectually rigorous research agenda and significant accomplishments in their field. The candidate will also serve as Director of the Bedrosian Center for Governance and the Public Enterprise and is expected to develop and execute public facing programs on Democracy and Governance, including highly visible related policy discussions.

About the Bedrosian Center

The Judith and John Bedrosian Center on Governance and the Public Enterprise was established with a generous gift from Judith and John Bedrosian in 2004. Effective governance is essential to the quality of life of all Americans. The center is dedicated to understanding and improving the nature of democratic governance, policymaking, and management of the public enterprise in the 21st century. The center provides a highly visible focal point for imaginative research, policy analysis, and dialogue across the university. Through public discussion, the center focuses on pressing issues facing society and integrates conversations with civic education, which is at the heart of strong communities.

For additional information about the USC Sol Price School of Public Policy, see our website: <https://priceschool.usc.edu>.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/13/2024

Salary: Above $159,999

eJobs ID: 14410

National University of Singapore

Rank: Assistant Professor (Presidential Young Professor (PYP))

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Public Policy

The Department of Political Science at the National University of Singapore invites applications for the tenure-track position of Presidential Young Professor (PYP) at the rank of Assistant Professor, to commence in 2025. Applications are invited from all major subfields of political science including, but not limited to, comparative politics, international relations, and public policy. We are especially interested in candidates with an Asia-focused research programme.

The NUS Presidential Young Professorship and NUS Presidential Fellowship Awards aim to attract, support, and empower the brightest and most promising young academics in the early stage of their careers so that they can develop themselves into world-class scholars. As a young academic at NUS, you will have the opportunity to work alongside a diverse and dynamic community of scholars and students, to pursue excellence and innovation with a positive societal impact. Successful PYP candidates are awarded a start-up grant package of either SGD 250,000 or SGD 750,000, depending on the demands of their research program. Successful PYP candidates are also granted an award of an additional SGD 250,000 for discretionary spending.

The NUS Department of Political Science is one of the leading global programs, with a vibrant research culture and located in a cosmopolitan hub. It is one of 15 departments within the Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences. Southeast and East Asia are geographical areas of departmental strength, but our 20+ faculty members have research interests which range across the subfields of political theory, international relations, comparative politics, and governance and public policy. In addition, the world-renowned Asia Research Institute (ARI) at NUS engages political scientists as part of its interdisciplinary community, as do our many area studies departments. Our department is committed to promoting equity, diversity, and inclusion as integral values in our strategic development. We also offer a competitive remuneration package, including housing and relocation benefits for eligible overseas candidates. The typical teaching load is 2:1 (one or two courses per semester, totaling three per academic year).

Interested applicants are invited to apply directly at our NUS Career Portal <https://careers.nus.edu.sg/job-invite/25147/>. Application dossiers should include:

- ? A brief cover letter explaining why the position at NUS is of interest and discusses the ambition of your research program
- ? A comprehensive CV with a complete list of publications, awards, grants, and courses taught
- ? A research statement with a three year research plan
- ? Two signature publications with the applicant as the lead author
- ? Letters from at least three referees. If the applicant is two or more years post-PhD, the referees should not be limited to supervisors. The referees should compare the research performance of the applicant to specific individuals at equivalent and top institutions and/or programs. Please send all referee letters directly to pol-ir@nus.edu.sg.

Review of applications will begin on 29 July 2024 and continue until an appointment is made. We regret that only shortlisted candidates will be notified. If there are any questions, please email the search committee at pol-ir@nus.edu.sg.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/4/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14396

University of Michigan

Rank: WCEE Postdoctoral Fellow

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Public Law, Political Theory

The Weiser Center for Europe and Eurasia (WCEE) at the University of Michigan invites scholars with a recent PhD in social sciences, humanities, public policy, and related fields with expertise in Ukraine and Ukrainian affairs to apply for a two-year WCEE Postdoctoral Fellowship, from August 2025 to July 2027.

WCEE Postdoctoral Fellows are expected to focus on their own research, participate in the center's events, present at least one public lecture during their two-year fellowship, and teach one course per year at the University of Michigan while in full-time residency.

Eligibility:

Eligibility is restricted to applicants who have obtained their PhD no earlier than January 1, 2023. Current doctoral candidates are eligible to apply but must have defended and filed their dissertations by July 31, 2025.

Benefits:

Fellowships carry an annual salary of $60,000 and up to $10,000 in research funds during the postdoctoral appointment. Fellowship recipients will be eligible for U-M health, dental, and life insurance options (beginning August 1, 2024 through July 31, 2026). Fellows have full access to U-M library resources.

Application materials:

Candidates should submit the following via Interfolio (<http://apply.interfolio.com/146559>):

- A research proposal (2000 words maximum) that describes your intellectual objectives and concrete plan for the fellowship duration
- Curriculum Vitae
- A scholarly writing sample, such as a dissertation chapter or peer-reviewed journal article (50 pages maximum)
- Teaching statement with potential course topics
- DEI statement
- Two letters of recommendation

To be assured full consideration, fellowship applications should be received by October 15, 2024, 11:59 PM EST. Successful applicants will be notified by December 2024.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 10/15/2024

Date Posted: 6/1/2024

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 14390

American Enterprise Institute

Rank: Jeane Kirkpatrick Fellowship Program

Overview

The American Enterprise Institute is inviting candidates to apply for an open scholar position in the Jeane Kirkpatrick Fellowship Program in Foreign and Defense Policy Studies. The program is open to mid-career academics, government, and civilian professionals in foreign policy and security studies who are looking for an opportunity to deepen their work.

The application period commences on May 1, 2024. The program begins in September 2024, although the starting date for new Jeane Kirkpatrick scholars is negotiable to accommodate existing personal and professional obligations. The program's duration is one year from the start date, with the possibility of a one-year extension.

Applications are reviewed on a rolling basis.

Fellowship Benefits:

Guided by the belief that American liberties are best preserved by a robust national defense and US global leadership, senior research fellows will conduct in-depth research to produce policy recommendations intended to enhance American security and interests. AEI will assist fellows in developing and disseminating their research by providing the support and training needed to publish serious longer works, place their work in the nation's most-read publications, brief policy-makers, and host public and private events at the Institute.

Application Process:

Qualified applicants should apply at www.aei.org/jobs and submit a resume and a 1,000-word statement addressing academic interests, how this fellowship will enhance their professional goals, and which scholars they would like to work with in AEI's foreign and defense policy department.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 5/29/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14376

National University of Singapore

Rank: Assistant Professor - Public Administration/Public Management/Public Policy

The Lee Kuan Yew School of Public Policy (LKYSPP), National University of Singapore, invites applications for two tenure-track Assistant Professor appointments. Applicants are expected to have research and teaching expertise in the fields of public policy, public administration, and/or public management. Of particular interest are scholars whose research and teaching focuses on public management, public policy, digital technologies and sustainability and with relevance to Asia.

Job Qualifications:

The ideal candidate will have:

- A completed PhD by 2024 in public administration, public management, public policy, political science, or related disciplines;
- Publications in top journals in the field and a strong pipeline of ground-breaking research / working papers;
- Demonstrated ability to teach core and specialized courses in public management and policy; and
- A willingness and ability to mentor graduate students.

Application:

Please submit your application package in electronic form (PDF) to the Hiring Committee via CHRS Link. <https://careers.nus.edu.sg/job-invite/24841/>

The package should include:

- A cover letter.
- Curriculum Vitae.
- A research statement that outlines your publications at the very top journals, your current research interests and pipeline of working papers.
- A teaching statement detailing course taught, your pedagogical philosophy and practices, along with any available evidence of teaching effectiveness.
- Names and contact information for three referees.
- Up to two writing samples.

The review of applications will begin in early October 2024 and continue until positions are filled. Members of the hiring committee may be present at PMRC 2024 and/or APPAM 2024. Interested candidates are welcome to arrange meetings by writing to lkysppjoi-nus@nus.edu.sg

Additional Information:

LKYSPP is a leading public policy school in Asia, attracting an internationally diverse, world-class faculty and student body to engage and address the world's most pressing challenges. Its mission is to inspire, improve lives, and take central positions in the policy and governance conversations within Asia and beyond. We do this by working hard on two planks: pursuing academic and intellectual excellence, and crafting lessons for meaningful public policymaking. The school is housed within the National University of Singapore, the highest ranked university in Asia and the 8th in the world (QS World University Rankings 2024).

LKYSPP offers highly competitive research funding, salary, relocation and housing support, and other benefits. The teaching load (typically three per academic year) allows faculty to focus on providing quality instruction while maintaining their research excellence. For more information about the LKY School, please visit www.lkyspp.nus.edu.sg.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 5/28/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14374

American University

Rank: Professorial Lecturer

Applicants should hold a PhD or other terminal degree. Highly qualified applicants with a master's degree related to political science will be considered at the rank of instructor. The position will require the incumbent to teach three undergraduate or M.A. courses per semester in political science with a primary focus on American Politics and Public Policy. We are especially interested in applicants who can teach GOVT 443/643 (Applied Political Writing), GOVT 210 (Political Power and American Public Policy), and GOVT 620 (Applied Politics and American Public Policy). All faculty are expected to hold office hours and participate in School and University activities and service.

Salary is competitive. Review of applications will begin immediately and will continue until the position is filled, subject to on-going budgetary approval. Include a letter of application, curriculum vitae, contact information for three professional recommendations, recent teaching evaluations (when possible), and copies of recent published papers or working papers.

Please contact Rachel Whelan, Faculty Coordinator, 202-885-6201 or spa_academicaffairs@american.edu if you have any questions.

Benefits

AU offers a competitive benefits package including a 200% matching retirement plan, tuition benefits for full-time staff and their families, several leadership development certificates, and has been recognized by the American Heart Association as a fit-friendly worksite.

Other Details

Hiring offers for this position are contingent on successful completion of a background check.

Please note this job announcement is not designed to cover or contain a comprehensive listing of activities, duties or responsibilities that are required of the employee for this job. Duties, responsibilities, and activities may change at any time with or without notice.

American University is an E-Verify employer.

American University is a student-centered research institution located in Washington, DC, with highly ranked schools and colleges, internationally renowned faculty, and a reputation for creating meaningful change in the world.

Learn more about American University. <https://www.american.edu/>

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 4/23/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14334

Rowan University

Rank: Open Rank Tenure/Track Faculty Position, Political Science

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Policy, Open

The Department of Political Science & Economics at Rowan University invites applications for one or more tenure-track positions in Political Science beginning in Fall 2024. The Department seeks candidates with expertise in public policy and the politics of health equity broadly constructed. Areas of research interest may include but are not limited to: welfare or social policies that relate to health including housing policy, food insecurity, Medicare and/or Medicaid expansion, the politics of the ACA, reproductive rights, LGBTQ+ rights, and other gender issues associated with health, and equal access to healthcare. Applicants must demonstrate a commitment to excellence in both research and teaching, as well as the potential to secure external grant/fellowship support. Teaching responsibilities include introductory, advanced courses and graduate courses in American politics, methodology, and/or public policy.

A top 100 national public research institution, Rowan University offers bachelor's through doctoral and professional programs in person and online to 22,000 students through its main campus in Glassboro, N.J., its medical school campuses in Camden and Stratford, and five others. The University has earned national recognition for innovation, commitment to high-quality, affordable education, and developing public-private partnerships. A Carnegie-classified R2 (high research activity) institution, Rowan has been recognized as the fourth fastest-growing public research university, as reported by The Chronicle of Higher Education. For more information on Rowan University, click here.

Minimum Qualifications: Applicants at the assistant professor level must have a Ph.D. in Political Science, Public Policy (or related field) or ABD with a firm date of completion no later than July 1, 2024, a strong research agenda, and a commitment to quality teaching and active service. Associate or full professor applicants must have a Ph.D. in Political Science, Public Policy (or related field), a strong record of publications and external grant activity, and a commitment to quality teaching and active service.

Applications will be accepted on a rolling basis until the position is filled. The first full review of applications will be on January 19, 2024. Applications must be submitted through our online applicant tracking system at <https://jobs.rowan.edu/en-us/job/499103/open-rank-tenure-track-faculty-position-political-science-department-of-political-science-and-economics>.

Applications must include a cover letter, a CV, unofficial transcripts, a writing sample, and a teaching portfolio (including a statement of teaching philosophy, courses taught, teaching evaluations, etc.). Please do not submit letters of reference at this time.

Rowan University values diversity and is committed to equal opportunity in employment.

All positions are contingent upon budget appropriations.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 11/19/2023

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 12902

Catholic University of America

Rank: Assistant Professor of Politics

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Policy, Political Theory

Assistant Professor of Politics (American Politics)

The Department of Politics at The Catholic University of America invites applications for a tenure-track faculty appointment in American politics, to begin in the fall of 2024. We are interested in a candidate with a range of interests, including but not limited to public opinion, ideology, political parties, elections, and the presidency. The successful candidate could also play an important advisory role for our Washington, D.C. internship programs. The department especially welcomes applicants whose research interests complement its traditional strengths in historical, theoretical, and institutional perspectives. Situated on a large and beautiful campus, Catholic University is only three metro stops from the Capitol. Politics is one of the largest majors on campus, attracting many students who value the community of a Catholic university while pursuing careers related to politics and law in the nation's capital. The department's Ph.D program has a long and distinguished history, and the development of professionally minded M.A. programs is a university priority.

We seek candidates who understand, are enthusiastic about, and will make a significant contribution to the mission of the University, which reads as follows: "As the national university of the Catholic Church in the United States, founded and sponsored by the bishops of the country with the approval of the Holy See, The Catholic University of America is committed to being a comprehensive Catholic and American institution of higher learning, faithful to the teachings of Jesus Christ as handed on by the Church. Dedicated to advancing the dialogue between faith and reason, The Catholic University of America seeks to discover and impart the truth through excellence in teaching and research, all in service to the Church, the nation and the world."

Applicants should submit a cover letter, a curriculum vitae, a statement of current research and future research plans, a statement of teaching philosophy, graduate school transcript, and a sample of written work (including scholarly publications) to pol-search@cua.edu and arrange for the submission of three letters of reference. In addition, applicants are asked to submit a one- to two-page personal statement indicating how their research, teaching, and service will make a distinctive contribution to our University's mission and to the vision of Catholic education outlined in the Apostolic Constitution on Catholic Universities Ex Corde Ecclesiae.

Review of applications will begin November 15 and continue until the position is filled. Questions may be directed to Jakub Grygiel, Department Chair, at grygiel@cua.edu.

The Catholic University of America is an Equal Opportunity Employer.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/7/2023

Salary: $70,000 - $79,999

eJobs ID: 12478

Catholic University of America

Rank: Clinical Assistant Professor of Politics

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Comparative Politics, American Government and Politics

Specializations: American Politics, Latin American, Political Theory

Clinical Assistant Professor of Politics (Public Policy)

The Department of Politics at The Catholic University of America invites applications for a clinical (non-tenure track, two-year renewable contract) faculty appointment, to begin in the fall of 2024. Candidates should have expertise in public policy (American and/or comparative, as well as familiarity with the principles of Catholic social teaching). The department especially welcomes applicants whose research interests complement its traditional strengths in historical, theoretical, ethical and institutional perspectives. The successful candidate will have an opportunity to teach both undergraduates and graduates, including students in a new MA in Public Policy program currently under development.

We seek candidates who understand, are enthusiastic about, and will make a significant contribution to the mission of the University, which reads as follows: "As the national university of the Catholic Church in the United States, founded and sponsored by the bishops of the country with the approval of the Holy See, The Catholic University of America is committed to being a comprehensive Catholic and American institution of higher learning, faithful to the teachings of Jesus Christ as handed on by the Church. Dedicated to advancing the dialogue between faith and reason, The Catholic University of America seeks to discover and impart the truth through excellence in teaching and research, all in service to the Church, the nation and the world."

Applicants should submit a cover letter, a curriculum vitae, a statement of current research and future research plans, a statement of teaching philosophy, graduate school transcript, and a sample of written work (including scholarly publications) to pol-search@cua.edu and arrange for the submission of three letters of reference. In addition, applicants are asked to submit a one- to two-page personal statement indicating how their research, teaching, and service will make a distinctive contribution to our University's mission and to the vision of Catholic education outlined in the Apostolic Constitution on Catholic Universities Ex Corde Ecclesiae.

Review of applications will begin November 15 and continue until the position is filled.

Questions may be directed to Jakub Grygiel, Department Chair, at grygiel@cua.edu.

The Catholic University of America is an Equal Opportunity Employer.

Start Date: Fall 2024

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/7/2023

Salary: $70,000 - $79,999

eJobs ID: 12475