

POLITICAL SCIENCE JOBS

Online journal from the American Political Science Association

April 2025 | Volume 14, Issue 04

ISSN 2167-8332

In this Issue

Career Resources

Finding a Job in Political Science	3
--	---

Job Listings

Administration	4
American Government and Politics	7
Comparative Politics	39
International Relations	63
Methodology	90
Non-Academic	101
Open	103
Other	109
Political Theory	123
Public Administration	133
Public Law	141
Public Policy	147

About the Journal

Published monthly by the American Political Science Association, Political Science Jobs is an online journal containing all active jobs in political science as listed in the APSA online job board eJobs. The combined resource of the Political Science Jobs journal and the daily updated and fully searchable eJobs platform provides a comprehensive employment resource for political science and supports a transparent, efficient, and ethically-grounded labor market for the discipline.

Access to the journal is made freely accessible to APSA's over 14,000 individual and departmental members within the US and around the world.

Submissions

Job listings may be submitted to the journal via the online eJobs platform at www.apsanet.org/jobs and applicable fees may apply.

Online Access: www.apsanet.org/jobs

The core content in this journal draws upon active listings within eJobs, linkages to association programs and career resources. Readers are encouraged to visit the eJobs website for daily updates on new job listings and candidate resumes, and use the online features including search tool to locate listings by field of interest, employer or candidate name, region, keyword, position, salary, institution type, and most recent submissions.

Copyright © 2012
American Political Science Association
All rights reserved

APSA does not grant permission to any individual or party to republish or otherwise distribute this journal or any portion therein in any print or electronic form.

POLITICAL SCIENCE JOBS

April 2025 | Volume 14, Issue 04

ISSN 2167-8332

Online journal from the American Political Science Association

In this Issue

Career Resources

Finding a Job in Political Science 3

Job Listings

Administration	4 (4 listings)
American Government and Politics	7 (53 listings)
Comparative Politics	39 (40 listings)
International Relations	63 (43 listings)
Methodology	90 (21 listings)
Non-Academic	101 (1 listings)
Open	103 (12 listings)
Other	109 (23 listings)
Political Theory	123 (15 listings)
Public Administration	133 (14 listings)
Public Law	141 (14 listings)
Public Policy	147 (25 listings)
Total listings this issue	265

Resources and Guidance on

Finding a Job in Political Science

Hundreds of academic positions are advertised each year in political science. Finding the openings is the easy part; knowing how to approach the application and interview process is a little more challenging. At APSA, we have collected resources to assist candidates in the academic job search. We would like to highlight a few of these key resources here. The complete list of job resources is available online at www.apsanet.org/jobs.

eJobs: This online resource contains comprehensive online listing of political science jobs, is updated daily with new job listings and candidate resumes, and is fully searchable by field of interest, name of employer/candidate, region, keyword, position, salary, type of institution, and most recent posts.

Data on Jobs Market: APSA gathers and releases data regarding the placement of political science Ph.Ds. View this information at www.apsanet.org/content_7623.cfm.

Mentoring: Enroll in the APSA Mentoring Program online at www.apsanet.org/mentoring.

eJobs Placement Interview Services: The eJobs Annual Meeting Placement Interview Service provides space and facilities for employers who have eJobs posted to interview candidates at the APSA meeting. Many other conferences, such as the Northeastern and Western, also use the APSA online service to schedule placement interviews. Check the listings online in eJobs.

Ethics Guide: The APSA Guide to Professional Ethics in Political Science includes specific guidance on hiring and employment practices. Order a print copy or view online at www.apsanet.org/ethics.

Asking the Right Questions: APSA Job Candidate Questions to Ask Program

Asking the right questions provides valuable information for career decisions. As part of the APSA Job Candidate Questions to Ask (JCQ) Program participating political science departments have agreed to answer the following questions from job candidates.

Salary

1. What is the salary structure?
2. How is salary normally negotiated?
3. How are annual increases handled?
4. Is there an automatic escalator to ensure the salaries of future hires will not outpace those of existing department members?

Service Activities

1. What are the expectations of pre-tenure and tenured faculty regarding:
 - departmental and institutional committee work,
 - professional or disciplinary activities, and
 - outreach activities to communities external to institution?

Research Support

1. What departmental or institutional resources are available to support:
 - access to research materials and equipment,
 - the employment of research assistants,
 - research expenses on/off campus, and
 - travel expenses for conferences?

2. What departmental or institutional resources are available to seek external funding and to administer external funding awards?

Teaching Support

1. What departmental or institutional resources are available to support:
 - the development of teaching expertise,
 - innovations in teaching, and
 - the introduction of new courses and new technologies?
2. What are departmental expectations regarding:
 - the average course load,
 - the number of different courses taught by faculty, and
 - advising of graduate and undergraduate students?

Tenure, Renewal, and Annual Review

1. What policies and procedures govern the granting of tenure, renewal of contracts for pre-tenure faculty, and annual reviews of faculty performance?
2. What are the department's expectations for successful performance leading to the granting of tenure or renewal of contracts for pre-tenure faculty?
3. What are the department's expectations for a positive annual review?

Mentoring and Faculty Support Initiatives

1. What attention does the department give to integrating new faculty into the department, the institution, and in the profession?
2. Does the department or institution have programs that address:
 - the employment of dual-career professional couples,
 - family needs of faculty and staff, and
 - issues associated with minority faculty and staff?

Health and Life Insurance

1. What are the plans offered?
2. How are benefits disbursed?
3. What are the out-of-pocket expenses?
4. Are partners and/or children covered, and to what extent?
5. What portion of my paycheck will be deducted for these benefits?

Retirement

1. How many types of retirement plans are offered?
2. What is the matching percentage of the institution?
3. Is contribution required (and how much)?

More on the APSA Job Candidate Questions to Ask (JCQ) Program

For more information about the JCQ program and to view the departments who agreed to answer these questions at www.apsanet.org/JCQ.

Political Science Jobs for April

ADMINISTRATION

Stony Brook University

Rank: Director of the M.A. in Public Policy Program (Lecturer)

Specializations: Quantitative Methods, Urban Politics, Economic Policy

Description:

The Department of Political Science at Stony Brook University invites applications for a full-time Lecturer starting in Fall 2025. The position will serve as the Director of the M.A. in Public Policy program and will manage the program's development and strategic growth. The ideal candidate will be a dynamic leader capable of advancing the department's mission to prepare students for successful careers in government, nonprofit organizations, and the private sector. We are especially interested in candidates with a background in public policy and/or public administration, teaching experience, and some familiarity with academic administrative work. This is a twelve-month, year-round position. This is not a tenure-track position.

Key Responsibilities:

Teaching, Advising, and Supervision:

- Proactively advise new and continuing students in the program to support student success, retention, and timely degree completion.
- Teach four graduate courses within the program each academic year (2-2).
- Teach the capstone preparation seminar each fall, spring, and summer terms.
- Supervise capstone internship placements and oversee advising for capstone thesis projects.
- Other instructional duties that may arise to support the program.

Program Administration:

- Work with campus graduate recruitment teams to plan and execute recruitment campaigns to attract high-quality and diverse student populations.
- Perform outreach to prospective students as part of the recruitment/admissions process. Manage program application reviews and make admissions decisions.
- Lead the development of curriculum appropriate for the program.
- Oversee the program's course planning and scheduling process, including planning hiring requests for course instructors to meet scheduling and enrollment needs.
- Develop and implement a program assessment plan.
- Organize campus and external events, including events, speakers, workshops, open houses, and conferences, to support the program's visibility and impact.
- Develop relationships with external stakeholders, such as alumni networks and private, public, and non-profit practitioners. Cultivate relationships with alumni to grow and strengthen the professional networks of current and graduating students.
- Collaborate with department faculty, staff, and campus partners (the Graduate School, School of Professional Development, etc.) to support any program administrative initiatives.
- Additional departmental, university, or professional service may be required.

Qualifications:

Required Qualifications:

- A master's degree (foreign equivalent or higher) in public policy, public administration, political science, or a related field.

- Teaching experience at the graduate level in administration/planning and strong familiarity with topics such as budgeting and finance, governmental relations and policy delivery, and data applications of policy, among others.

- At least three years of relevant work experience in a policy, planning, administration, or closely related field.

- Strong quantitative analysis skills as evidenced by CV and writing sample.

Preferred Qualifications:

- A doctorate or comparable degree (or foreign equivalent) in public policy, public administration, political science, law, or a related field.

- Demonstrated record of the following, as evidenced by the applicant's CV and supporting materials:

--Ability to successfully lead administrative initiatives and programs in a complex work environment (higher education, private, or non-profit settings).

--Evidence of excellence in teaching, including educating, supporting, and mentoring students and practitioners.

--Commitment to enhancing diversity, equity, and inclusion among faculty, undergraduate, and graduate students.

Application Instructions:

Please upload:

1. Cover letter
2. Curriculum Vitae
3. Teaching statement
4. Quantitative writing sample
5. Recent course syllabi
6. Course teaching evaluations
7. Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion (DEI) statement
8. Three confidential letters of reference, submitted via Interfolio

All application materials must be submitted online. The names of applicants will be kept confidential until a list of finalists is confirmed. Referees will not be contacted without the candidate's prior consent. Please use the Apply Now button to begin your application. For technical support, please visit Interfolio's Support Site (<https://support.interfolio.com/>) or reach out to their Scholar Service Team at help@interfolio.com or (877) 997-8807.

For questions regarding this position, please contact the search chair, Professor Ryan Vander Wielen at ryan.vanderwielen@stonybrook.edu.

For full consideration, please submit your materials by 11:59 PM Eastern Time on Monday, April 28, 2025.

Special Notes: This is a non-tenure track, FLSA Exempt position, not eligible for the overtime provisions of the FLSA.

The selected candidate must successfully clear a background investigation.

In accordance with the Title II Crime Awareness and Security Act, a copy of our crime statistics is available upon request by calling (631) 632- 6350. It can also be viewed online at the University Police website at <http://www.stonybrook.edu/police>.

About the Department:

The Department of Political Science is committed to excellence in research and scholarship, graduate student training, undergraduate teaching and learning, public outreach, and the promotion of responsible citizenship. It contributes to the generation of knowledge about politics and aims to deepen scholarly and public understanding of political institutions and the citizenry. The department seeks to prepare students for successful careers in government, academics, and the private sector. In addition to the M.A. in Public Policy program, the Department administers B.A. and Ph.D. programs in Political Science, as well as an M.A. in Political Psychology. It is home to 13 tenured and tenure-track faculty, roughly 600 undergraduate majors and minors, staff, Political Science graduate students, and several non-tenure track full-time lecturers. The Department is ranked in the top 30 Political Science graduate programs in the most recent U.S. News & World Report rankings, and the dynamic, interdisciplinary faculty produce high-quality research that is consistently published in top-rated journals. <http://www.stonybrook.edu/polsci/>

About the College:

As part of a great research university, the College of Arts and Sciences at Stony Brook University focuses on scholarly creativity, connecting our disciplines of fine arts; humanities; social, behavioral and natural sciences; and mathematics with medicine, technology, culture, education, business and environment. As the largest College for the campus, we help students and faculty begin a lifetime of learning and discovery by exploring new ideas that drive innovation and inspiration across all sectors of society. <http://www.stonybrook.edu/cas/>

About Stony Brook University:

Stony Brook University, one of two flagships within the State University of New York (SUNY) system, is one of America's most dynamic public universities, a center of academic excellence, and an internationally recognized research institution that is changing the world. After more than 60 years of existence, it is ranked among the top 100 universities in the nation and the top 25 public universities in the nation. It is a member of the prestigious invitation-only Association of American Universities, composed of the top 66 leading research institutions in North America. As Long Island's largest single-site employer, Stony Brook has nearly 15,000 full- and part-time employees, including 2,800 faculty and nearly 27,000 students — including almost 18,000 undergraduates — and offers more than 200 majors, minors and combined-degree programs. Located approximately 60 miles east of Manhattan on Long Island's beautiful North Shore, Stony Brook is situated on 1,454 wooded acres, encompassing 13 schools and colleges; a Research and Development Park; world-class athletics facilities, including an 8,300-seat stadium and a 4,000-seat arena; and Stony Brook Medicine, Long Island's premier academic medical center. Also part of the University is a teaching and research campus in Southampton, New York, which offers graduate arts programs and is the site of the Marine Sciences Center. In addition, Stony Brook has a role in running, and performs joint research with, Brookhaven National Laboratory, the only Department of Energy Laboratory in the Northeast. Home to the Emerson String Quartet, the Pollock-Krasner House in East Hampton, NY, and the Humanities Institute, with endeavors that extend to the Turkana Basin Institute in Kenya and the Ranomafana National Park in Madagascar, Stony Brook sustains an international reputation that cuts across the arts, humanities, social sciences and natural sciences.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Date Posted: 3/24/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15528

University of Mississippi

Rank: Executive Director

Executive Director of Croft Institute for International Studies

The Croft Institute for International Studies at the University of Mississippi invites applications for the position of Executive Director.

Established in 1997, the Croft Institute for International Studies offers a selective-admission academic program, small classes and first-rate facilities. The Bachelor of Arts degree in International Studies combines the study of global economics, history, politics and social dynamics with the intensive study of languages and cultures in an interdisciplinary curriculum. Students must specialize in one of four thematic areas, one of four world regions, and intensively study a related foreign language. They are required to study abroad for a semester and write an original thesis for graduation.

The Executive Director of the Croft Institute for International Studies is a 12-month, executive position whose incumbent is responsible for the management of the Croft Institute and its academic programs, especially the B.A. in International Studies, which falls under the Academic Program Inventory of the College of Liberal Arts. The successful applicant will teach one course per year in his or her area of specialization, will hold a faculty appointment within an academic department, and will report to the Provost at the University of Mississippi and the Croft Board of Trustees.

The successful applicant will possess a Ph.D. in one of the humanities or social sciences disciplines, administrative experience, advanced proficiency in a language other than English, and an academic record commensurate with appointment at the rank of full professor or advanced associate professor to the faculty of the University of Mississippi. The successful candidate should also demonstrate a commitment to the recruitment of a wide variety of domestic and international students.

Duties will include managing Croft's academic programs and curriculum; student recruiting, admissions, and advising; working with Croft faculty, who are primarily tenured and tenure-track faculty who hold tenure in academic departments, and overseeing staff; collaborating with the chairs of the academic departments that have Croft faculty; engaging in shared governance with Croft faculty; collaborating collegially with all departments across campus to enhance interdisciplinary engagement and foster a cohesive academic community; setting and managing the unit's budget; serving on Croft senior thesis committees; managing its speaker series and alumni relations; and serving on the Liberal Arts Curriculum and Policy Committee and other University committees.

The appointment will begin as early as July 1, 2025. Follow the online application procedure at <https://jobs.olemiss.edu/> and attach a cover letter, which addresses your executive experience and your view of the discipline of international studies within a university curriculum; a CV; and a list of references. Inquiries may be directed to Ms. Blair Thomson, chair of the search committee, at blair@olemiss.edu. Applications will be received until an adequate pool of candidates has been established or until the position is filled. The University of Mississippi is an EEO/AA/Title VI/Title X/Section 504/ADA/ADEA employer.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 2/21/2025

Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 15451

Howard University

Rank: Chair, Department of Political Science

Howard University (HU) invites applications and nominations for the position of Chair of the Department of Political Science.

The Department of Political Science seeks a dynamic, energetic leader with the ability to effectively engage faculty, staff, students, and external constituencies in a collegial and collaborative manner. The Chair will have a demonstrated record of excellence in collegial academic leadership, faculty development, fundraising, executive administration, and financial management. This is an outstanding opportunity for a creative leader at an exciting time in the continued growth of the Department, College, and University.

The Chair represents the Department as part of the College's leadership team and is responsible for the Department's faculty and staff recruiting, development, retention, resource attainment, financial management, and stakeholder relationship management. The Chair manages a diverse faculty, staff and student body, and is expected to lead the Department in publishing scholarship, teaching capacity, grantsmanship, service, and outreach.

The Chair must be an active intellectual leader, adept at building and supporting multi-disciplinary partnerships within a diverse community, knowledgeable in higher education issues, collaborative in developing team-focused, data-driven approaches to problem solving, and possess effective people-skills.

Working in partnership with the senior administration of the College of Arts & Sciences, the successful candidate is expected to embrace and contribute to the mission of the University.

Desired Qualifications

Earned doctorate or terminal degree from an accredited institution; PhD in Political Science preferred, but a PhD in an allied discipline will be considered;

Record of professional accomplishments and published scholarship in the discipline that meet the qualifications for appointment to the rank of professor in the College and University. Applications from advanced associate professors will be considered.

Established and sustained record of graduate and undergraduate teaching excellence and interdisciplinary initiatives;

Recognized and reputable record of research, collaborative projects, and creative accomplishments;

Administrative, personnel, and budgetary experience at the department level;

Evidence of and capacity to secure external funding and undertake successful fundraising campaigns;

Documentation of a strong commitment to helping students obtain a broad-based education, student centeredness, and optimization of student learning;

Record of successful curriculum development including a commitment to collaboration and use of innovative pedagogies;

Successful record of effective interpersonal and communication skills with faculty, staff, students, alumni, and community members;

Demonstrated ability to manage a complex academic unit and work effectively with colleagues across divisions;

Demonstrated ability to effectively forge and build partnerships and productive relations on and off campus; engage with the community via outreach efforts; leadership abilities with both campus and external constituencies, including alumni;

Evidence of successful recruitment and retention of a diverse faculty and staff, as well as teambuilding, supervision, and staff support for professional development;

Established in 1867, Howard University is a federally chartered, private, doctoral/research extensive university located in Washington, D.C., and is widely recognized as one of the world's most prestigious institutions of higher learning. The only comprehensive American university with a predominantly African-American constituency, Howard University is committed to preparing its students to not only be respected leaders in the national and global communities, but to also promote social justice and democracy the world over. Howard has historically educated more African-American PhD's than any other university. It has a track record, for more than a century as the home to the single, largest concentration of Black scholars in the world.

Procedure for Candidacy

Applications should include a cover letter and curriculum vitae. Applications and nominations will be accepted until the position is filled. Confidential review of materials and screening of candidates will begin immediately.

Contact Information:

POLSChairSearch@Howard.edu

The University does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, national and ethnic origin, sex, sexual orientation, gender or gender identity, marital status, religion, disability or protected veterans status. Veterans and people with disabilities are encouraged to apply. Inquiries regarding provisions for persons with disabilities or veteran's status, Equal Employment Opportunity and Title IX should be directed to the Office of Employee Relations and Equal Employment Opportunity at 202-806-1280.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 11/11/2025

Date Posted: 11/13/2024

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 15203

KAPSARC School of Public Policy

Rank: Faculty - Public Finance

Subfield(s): Administration, Public Administration, Public Policy

Position Summary:

The KSPP is a newly established graduate school that offers master's and executive education programs. The first cohort of master's students commenced their graduate studies in the fall of 2024. Situated in the thriving capital city of Riyadh, Saudi Arabia, on the state-of-the-art KAPSARC campus, the KSPP is well-placed to offer students an exceptional educational experience.

The KSPP's vision is to be a world-class education and research institution that prepares the next generation of public policy leaders and professionals within the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia and globally. To achieve this vision, the school is committed to providing high-quality educational programs and creating a bridge between academia, industry, and government. As the first public policy school in the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia, the KSPP is uniquely positioned to offer public policy degrees focusing on management and leadership, energy and climate policy, and data analytics. By providing concentrations in these areas, the school aims to help students develop the skills and knowledge necessary to address pressing policy challenges and make a meaningful impact in their communities and beyond. The KAPSARC School of Public Policy (KSPP) invites applications for a faculty position in public management.

The KAPSARC School of Public Policy (KSPP) invites applications for a faculty position in public finance. We welcome candidates whose research, teaching, and outreach activities broadly address public finance topics. The KSPP offers a highly competitive salary and benefits package, including children's educational support, housing support, and premier health insurance.

Responsibilities:

The successful candidate will be expected to carry out impactful research, teach courses related to the candidate's research field, contribute to core courses and/or electives in public sector management and leadership, supervise capstone projects, and contribute to the overall academic environment of the School.

Qualifications:

The successful candidate must have a Ph.D. in economics with a field specialization in public finance

To apply, please visit: <https://www.kspp.edu.sa/careers/faculty-public-finance>

Start Date:

Date Posted: 11/4/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15145

AMERICAN GOVERNMENT AND POLITICS

Morehouse College

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor (American Politics/Public Law)

The Division of Humanities, Social Sciences, Media & Arts (HSSMA) invites applications for a full-time, visiting assistant professor in the Political Science Department. Candidates should specialize in American politics and public law. Candidates should be prepared to teach courses on American national government, constitutional law, race and law, and civil liberties.

We are looking for someone who thinks creatively about their teaching, engages in scholarship, and can be committed to the mission of Morehouse College—to develop men with disciplined minds who lead lives of leadership and service by emphasizing the intellectual and character development of its students and by assuming a special responsibility for teaching the history and culture of Black people.

The Political Science department offers a broad range of courses, including majors in Urban Studies and International Studies. Applicants should have experience teaching political science concepts to a diverse group of students including non-majors. We welcome candidates who can develop innovative first-year experience (FYE) courses for our general education program.

This is a one-year appointment. The teaching load for visiting professors is 3-4. The start date for the position is August 2025. Note that the department will conduct a national search for a permanent, tenure-track assistant professor in this area of specialization next fall.

Application deadline is April 4, 2025. Please direct any questions to Dr. Andrew Douglas (andrew.douglas@morehouse.edu).

All applications must be submitted via the Morehouse HR website: <https://morehouse.peopleadmin.com/postings/11876>

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 4/4/2025

Date Posted: 3/26/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15530

Baylor University

Rank: Lecturer, Full-Time, Temporary - Political Science

To apply, go to: <https://apply.interfolio.com/164380>

Applications will be reviewed as they are received.

Baylor University: Office of the Provost: Arts and Sciences: Arts and Sciences - Humanities and Social Sciences: Political Science

This is a temporary lecturer position with full-time responsibilities teaching courses in the Department of Political Science during the 2025-2026 academic year. Primary teaching responsibilities will be the core curriculum common course, PSC 1387 The U.S. Constitution, Its Interpretation, and the American Constitutional Experience. We especially welcome applicants with research or undergraduate teaching experience in American politics, public law, or political or constitutional theory. An ability to teach introductory courses in another subfield of political science is welcome but not required. Finalists will be required to attend an on-campus interview with University administration. Employment will be contingent upon the successful completion of a background check.

Located in Waco, Texas, Baylor University is the oldest college in Texas. With a population of 21,000 diverse students, Baylor is one of the top universities in the nation, having been named an R1 institution by the Carnegie Classification in January 2022. Baylor is also on the honor roll of the "Great Colleges to Work For" from The Chronicle of Higher Education; Baylor offers competitive salaries and benefits while allowing faculty and staff to live in one of the fastest-growing parts of the state. Our strategic plan, Illuminate, guides the University as we continue to live up to Baylor's mission of educating men and women for worldwide leadership and service by integrating academic excellence and Christian commitment within a caring community.

Qualifications

The successful applicant must hold an advanced degree in the teaching discipline, preferably the Ph.D., by the start date of the appointment. Teaching experience is preferred.

The following application materials should be submitted through Interfolio:

- (1) a cover/application letter,
- (2) current curriculum vitae,
- (3) an official transcript of the highest degree completed (if a Ph.D. or other advanced degree is in progress, a transcript showing hours completed toward the Ph.D. is also required)

All applicants must complete the self-disclosed Religious Affiliation Form in Interfolio.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 3/21/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15523

University of Alabama, Tuscaloosa

Rank: Instructor of Political Science (3 Year Term, Renewable Contract Instructor)

Subfield(s): Public Administration, American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics

Position Summary

The Department of Political Science at the University of Alabama invites applications for a renewable contract instructor. This is a 9-month appointment will be for a three-year term, subject to satisfactory performance reviews. The appointment will begin on August 16, 2025.

Detailed Position Information

The Department of Political Science at the University of Alabama invites applications for a renewable contract instructor. The annual 9-month appointment will be for a three-year term, subject to satisfactory performance reviews. We invite applications from specialists in public administration, U.S. politics, international relations, or comparative politics. Minimum qualifications: MA in Political Science or related field; with some experience teaching at the college level. Preferred qualifications: PhD in Political Science or a related field; experience teaching courses independently. For more information about the department, see <https://psc.ua.edu/>. The position begins August 16, 2025.

Applications must be submitted via the University website at <http://careers.ua.edu/cw/en-us/job/526037>

Application review will begin immediately and will continue until the position is filled. Submit applications by April 30, 2025, for best consideration.

Minimum Qualifications

MA in Political Science or related field; with some experience teaching at the college level.

Preferred Qualifications

PhD in Political Science or a related field; experience teaching courses independently.

Instructions and Required Materials for Application

Applicants should submit a cover letter summarizing their teaching qualifications and experience, courses prepared to offer, and reasons for interest in the position; a CV; evidence of teaching effectiveness; and the names and contact information of 3 references (ideally with knowledge of candidate's teaching experience). Letters will only be required for short-listed candidates.

To see more information and to apply: <http://careers.ua.edu/cw/en-us/job/526037> ***

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 3/20/2025

Salary: $40,000 - $49,999

eJobs ID: 15524

St. Mary's University

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor of Political Science

Subfield(s): Public Law, Political Theory, American Government and Politics

The Department of Political Science at St. Mary's University is conducting a search for a one-year Visiting Assistant Professor faculty position to begin August 2025. The desired applicant should hold a Ph.D. (or be ABD) in political science from an accredited university with a concentration in American politics and a subfield expertise in public law, specifically constitutional law and judicial politics. A secondary subfield in political behavior, theory, civil rights and voting rights, or media and politics is welcome. The ideal candidate will also have some post-secondary teaching experience. Pending budgetary approval, the Department intends to conduct a search for a tenure-track position in these fields of study with a start date of August 2026.

The expected teaching load is four courses per semester. In addition to teaching introductory political science courses, the applicant should be able to offer upper-division undergraduate courses in public law, specifically constitutional law and judicial politics.

The Department of Political Science is the civic conscience of the University and fosters the building of civil society through the education of the whole student with a commitment to civic engagement and a focus on justice and service to society. To fulfill this role, the Department offers a Civic Engagement and Social Action course, which is required of majors and an option for the partial fulfillment of the social science core curriculum requirement. The Department resides in the College of Arts, Humanities and Social Sciences, the largest of the University's undergraduate schools.

St. Mary's University, as a Catholic Marianist University, fosters the formation of people in faith and educates leaders for the common good through community, integrated liberal arts and professional education, and academic excellence: www.stmarytx.edu/about. St. Mary's is the oldest Catholic university in the Southwest and continues to advocate the Marianist mission. St. Mary's enrolls approximately 3,500 students in a diverse university with four schools, more than 40 academic programs including Ph.D. and J.D. programs, and numerous pre-professional programs. The successful candidate is expected to support and contribute to the University's Marianist educational mission.

Applications can be found at <http://stmarytx.applicantpro.com/jobs/> with the option to upload all supporting documents electronically. Along with the employment application, also submit: (1) a letter of application addressing interest in position; (2) curriculum vitae; (3) an unofficial* graduate transcript confirming the doctoral degree or progress towards the doctoral degree; (4) a statement of teaching philosophy; and (5) evidence of teaching excellence. A research statement is optional, and if included should discuss how the applicant's research informs their teaching. Review of applications will begin immediately and continue until the position is filled. Any offer of employment will be contingent upon successful completion of a clear background check and receipt of an official transcript* confirming progress towards or completion of doctoral studies.

Two letters of reference should be sent by email directly to the chair of the search committee—Dr. Leona Pallansch, Associate Professor of Political Science and Director of Pre-Law, lpallansch@stmarytx.edu.

St. Mary's University is a Hispanic-Serving Institution and an Equal Opportunity Employer.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 3/18/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15514

University of Denver

Rank: Visiting Teaching Assistant Professor, Political Science

Specializations: Political Theory, American Politics, Political Philosophy & Theory

POSITION SUMMARY

The Department of Political Science invites applications for a non-tenure track, part-time Visiting Teaching Assistant Professor in the field of political theory for the 2025-26 academic year. The candidate hired will teach four in-person, on campus courses across three quarters, with at least three of these courses in the field of political theory. Successful candidates will demonstrate a record of excellence in undergraduate teaching and a strong commitment to constructively engaging students with diverse backgrounds and learning styles.

ESSENTIAL FUNCTIONS

Teach undergraduate courses in political theory, including introductory and upper-division offerings.

Deploy best practices for classroom technology through the University of Denver's online learning platform, Canvas, utilizing Canvas tools such as discussion boards, quizzes, assignments with uploaded files, and the gradebook as the means to collect student work and communicate feedback and assignment grades.

Meet outside of class in weekly office hours to provide guidance and assistance to students enrolled in courses taught.

KNOWLEDGE, SKILLS, AND ABILITIES

Advanced scholarly expertise in political theory (ABD/PhD level).

Excellent skills in oral and written communication.

Ability to interact constructively with a diverse population of faculty, staff, and undergraduate students.

REQUIRED QUALIFICATIONS

ABD in political science or relevant interdisciplinary social sciences area with specialization in political theory.

Experience teaching undergraduate courses in political science, particularly in political theory. Experience using course management software as part of a conventional in-person class.

PREFERRED QUALIFICATIONS

PhD in political science or relevant field.

Experience teaching both introductory and upper-division undergraduate courses, as the instructor of record, in political theory. Experience using the Canvas course management software. Strong teaching evaluations and/or other evidence of teaching effectiveness.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Date Posted: 3/18/2025

Salary: $20,000 - $29,999

eJobs ID: 15515

University of Chicago

Rank: Postdoctoral Researcher Position at the University of Chicago

Postdoctoral Researcher Position at the University of Chicago, Postdoctoral Scholar in American Politics

Employment type: Postdoctoral, full-time (40 hours/week)

Duration: This position is planned to be 12 months, from August 1, 2025 through July 31, 2026, though we have some flexibility on the timing. Please indicate your availability in your cover letter.

Reappointment is possible dependent on satisfactory performance, the availability of funding, and the candidate's continuing eligibility for postdoctoral training. The total duration of an individual's postdoctoral experience may not exceed seven years, including postdoctoral work at other institutions.

Applications are strongly preferred by March 31, 2025, though the position will remain open until filled or the search is closed. Interviews with shortlisted candidates: April 1-30, 2025.

Responsibilities and expected outputs:

- The Postdoctoral Researcher will collaborate with Professor Jon Rogowski on research related to American political institutions.
- You will have time to carry out your own research projects.
- You will be encouraged to participate in the intellectual life of the Department of Political Science, and the University of Chicago more broadly, by attending the weekly American politics workshops, hosting public conversations, etc.
- The Postdoctoral Researcher must be based at the University of Chicago's main campus in Chicago, IL.

Skills and qualifications:

- Ph.D. in political science (preferred), economics, or adjacent disciplines
- Strong skills in quantitative methods, data analysis, project management, and written communication

What we offer:

- 12-month employment at the Department of Political Science at the University of Chicago
- $75,000/year salary
- This position is benefits-eligible, and information regarding benefits can be found here.
- Flexible working arrangements

Your application package should include:

- A 1-3 page cover letter explaining your research interests and experience, and how you would expect to advance your research agenda during the fellowship year

- An up-to-date CV
- Two academic writing samples (e.g., chapter of doctoral thesis, articles, working papers)
- Two letters of recommendation submitted by the letter authors to the email address below

Please send your application electronically, in PDF format (either as one single file or as separate PDFs) to americanpolitics@uchicago.edu. Inquiries about the position and project can be addressed here as well.

Applications are strongly preferred by March 31, 2025, though the position will remain open until filled or the search is closed. Interviews with shortlisted candidates: April 1-30, 2025.

Starting date of position: August 1, 2025 (with some flexibility).

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 3/17/2025

Salary: $70,000 - $79,999

eJobs ID: 15512

Smith College

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor of Government (American Politics)

The Department of Government (GOV) at Smith College invites applications for a position in American Politics at the rank of Visiting Assistant Professor. The position is full-time and non-tenure-track, for a term of one year to begin July 1, 2025. By the time of appointment, applicants must have a PhD in Political Science with a core specialization in American Politics, or a PhD in a closely related field (e.g., Public Policy). Those from outside of Political Science must have demonstrated knowledge of and ability to teach within a core American Politics curriculum.

This position has a teaching load of five semester-long courses over the academic year. The successful candidate will offer one section of Introduction to American Politics, as well as some combination of courses in American political institutions (Congress, the presidency), public policy, and/or state and local politics. This is a teaching-focused position, and does not require advising or service commitments. Candidates from groups underrepresented in political science are encouraged to apply. Successful candidates should be prepared to engage actively with diverse students across the liberal arts.

Located in Northampton, MA, Smith College is the largest historically women's college in the country, dedicated to excellence in teaching and research across the liberal arts. A faculty of outstanding scholars interact with students in small classes, as advisors, and through student-faculty research projects. Smith College offers opportunities to foster faculty success at every career stage, such as those listed here.

The College is a member of the Five College Consortium with Amherst College, Hampshire College, Mt. Holyoke College, and the University of Massachusetts-Amherst. Students cross-enroll and faculty cross-teach across the Five Colleges. Details about the Department of Government may be found at <https://www.smith.edu/gov/>.

Submit applications at <http://apply.interfolio.com/164855> with a cover letter describing your research and teaching interests, curriculum vitae, teaching statement, diversity/inclusion statement, chapter- or article-length writing sample, and the contact information for three confidential references. Finalists may be asked for additional materials. Review of applications will begin April 2, 2025.

As set forth in our mission and values, Smith College is committed to promoting a culture of equity and inclusion among students, staff, faculty, and administration and will not discriminate on the basis of race, color, ethnic origin, national origin, creed, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, gender expression, pregnancy, genetic information, age, veteran status, or physical or mental disability.

Start Date: Summer 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 3/12/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15507

University of Southern California

Rank: Open Rank Tenure Track Faculty Position

The Department of Political Science and International Relations (POIR) in the Dana and David Dornsife College of Letters, Arts and Sciences at the University of Southern California (USC) in Los Angeles invites applications for a tenure-track or tenured position in American Politics as part of a major hiring initiative.

We seek candidates with a strong substantive research program in any domain of American politics, whose work advances theoretical and empirical research on important questions in their subfield.

Candidates are expected to have strong methodological training, and their methodological skills, ability to advise graduate students on methodological issues and teach graduate classes in the Department's core methods sequence will be a consideration. A strong commitment to undergraduate and graduate education is also expected.

The candidate must have completed a Ph.D. by the appointment date. Review of applications will start March 24, 2025 and will continue until the position is filled.

In order to be considered for this position, applicants are required to submit an electronic USC application; follow this job link or paste in a browser: <https://usccareers.usc.edu/job/los-angeles/open-rank-faculty-position-in-american-politics/1209/77699335312>. Required materials for upload include a CV, letter of interest, sample research paper(s), statement of research interests, evidence of teaching effectiveness, the names of three individuals who will be contacted by USC for a letter of reference, and official graduate transcripts. Send inquiries to poir@usc.edu. Materials submitted by regular mail will not be accepted.

The annual base salary range for this position is $100,510 - $281,400. When extending an offer of employment, the University of Southern California considers factors such as (but not limited to) the scope and responsibilities of the position, the candidate's work experience, education/training, key skills, internal peer equity, federal, state and local laws, contractual stipulations, grant funding, as well as external market and organizational considerations.

USC is an equal-opportunity educator and employer, proudly pluralistic and firmly committed to providing equal opportunity for outstanding persons of every race, gender, creed and background. The University particularly encourages women, members of underrepresented groups, veterans and individuals with disabilities to apply. USC will make reasonable accommodations for qualified individuals with known disabilities unless doing so would result in an undue hardship. Further information is available by contacting uschr@usc.edu.

USC will consider for employment all qualified applicants with criminal records in a manner consistent with applicable laws and regulations, including the Los Angeles County Fair Chance Ordinance for employers and the Fair Chance Initiative for Hiring Ordinance, and with due consideration for patient and student safety. Please refer to the Background Screening Policy Appendix D for specific employment screen implications for the position for which you are applying.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 3/11/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15504

University of Southern California

Rank: Practice-track or Teaching-track position - Chair & C0-Director

The Department of Political Science and International Relations in the Dana and David Dornsife College of Letters, Arts and Sciences at the University of Southern California invites applicants for a practice-track or teaching-track faculty position as The Carmen H. and Louis Warschaw Chair in Practical Politics with an anticipated start date in the Fall of 2025. The successful candidate will serve as Co-Director of the USC Dornsife Center for the Political Future (CPF).

The USC Dornsife Center for the Political Future combines rigorous intellectual inquiry with the deep engagement of students and Fellows and conducts conversations and conferences to advance civil dialogue, transcend partisan divisions, and seek solutions to pressing local, national, and global challenges. CPF events, programs, scholarships, and internships inspire and train students for careers in public service and lifetimes of civic engagement. Further information about CPF can be found here: https://drive.google.com/file/d/1MYqrGftp3wK3tMVolyNgm_btYrAePbMl/view Candidates for this position should have a long and distinguished record of high-level, first-hand experience in practical politics at the state and federal level and demonstrable teaching abilities. Candidates should submit a cover letter, current curriculum vitae, and names of two references who can speak to teaching ability. In order to be considered for this position, applicants are required to submit an electronic USC application; follow this job link or paste in a browser: <https://usccareers.usc.edu/job/los-angeles/practice-track-or-teaching-track-faculty-position-in-political-science-and-international-relations/1209/77401697392>.

The annual base salary range for this position is $175,000 - $250,000. When extending an offer of employment, the University of Southern California considers factors such as (but not limited to) the scope and responsibilities of the position, the candidate's work experience, education/training, key skills, internal peer equity, federal, state and local laws, contractual stipulations, grant funding, as well as external market and organizational considerations.

USC is an equal-opportunity educator and employer, proudly pluralistic and firmly committed to providing equal opportunity for outstanding persons of every race, gender, creed and background. The university particularly encourages members of underrepresented groups, veterans and individuals with disabilities to apply. USC will make reasonable accommodations for qualified individuals with known disabilities unless doing so would result in an undue hardship. Further information is available by contacting uschr@usc.edu.

USC will consider for employment all qualified applicants with criminal records in a manner consistent with applicable laws and regulations, including the Los Angeles County Fair Chance Ordinance for employers and the Fair Chance Initiative for Hiring Ordinance, and with due consideration for patient and student safety. Please refer to the Background Screening Policy Appendix D for specific employment screen implications for the position for which you are applying.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 3/11/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15505

Rhodes College

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor in Political Science

The Politics and Law Department at Rhodes College invites applications for a two-year, non-tenure track visiting assistant professor position in American Politics that will begin August 13, 2025. Candidates should have, or be close to completing (ABD), a PhD in Political Science. Candidates will be expected to teach multiple sections of Introduction to United States Politics (25 student cap per class), and upper-level topics classes in American politics informed by their research to complement the needs of the department. Candidates who have experience with liberal arts education and college-level teaching experience are preferred. The teaching load is six courses a year. All faculty are eligible for $2000 in annual professional development funds.

Rhodes is a nationally ranked residential college committed to the liberal arts and sciences. Our highest priorities are intellectual engagement, community excellence, service to others, and honor among ourselves. Our students live and learn on one of the country's most beautiful campuses, located in the heart of Memphis, an economic, medical, and culturally diverse center, making Rhodes one of a handful of prominent liberal arts colleges in a major metropolitan area.

Rhodes College prides itself on providing a welcoming environment for employees of all backgrounds, viewpoints, and life experiences. We are an equal-opportunity employer that does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity and expression, national origin, religion, age, disability, genetic information, or other protected characteristics.

A complete application will include 1) a cover letter that addresses the strengths the candidate will bring as a teacher and scholar to a liberal arts college environment; 2) a curriculum vitae; 3) a separate statement that addresses how the candidate will foster an inclusive learning environment where students from a wide variety of perspectives, beliefs, and backgrounds learn how to engage in civil and respectful dialogue. Also, you must include the following under Additional Documents: (4) a teaching philosophy statement, which includes descriptions of two American politics topics classes that the applicant would like to teach (1-page, single spaced); (5) evidence of teaching performance; (6) and a sample syllabus for Introduction to United States Politics.

The review of completed applications will begin on March 28th and will continue until the position is filled. Letters of recommendation will only be solicited for short-listed applicants, at which time you will be prompted for the names and contact information for three (3) references. Background checks are required before candidates can be brought to campus for interviews.

Please direct any questions to Dr. Erin Dolgoy (dolgoye@rhodes.edu).

Applications must be submitted via Workday: https://rhodes.wd5.myworkdayjobs.com/Rhodes_Careers/job/Memphis-Tennessee/Visiting-Assistant-Professor-In-Political-Science_JR-661

Link to department website: <https://www.rhodes.edu/academics/majors-minors/politics-law>

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 3/10/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15498

Trinity College

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor of Public Policy and Law

Subfield(s): Public Law, American Government and Politics, Other

The Trinity College Public Policy and Law Program seeks applications for a visiting assistant professor in public law, law and society, or public policy. The teaching load is 5 courses a year and will include courses in the candidate's area of research expertise. We will prioritize candidates with the interest and ability to teach introductory law courses for liberal arts undergraduates. The ability to teach one or more of the following courses also would be valued: (1) an introduction to US public policy; (2) a research methods course incorporating quantitative and qualitative analysis skills; and/or (3) a seminar in which students apply learning from policy and law internships to crafting policy memos and op-eds.

Public Policy & Law is an interdisciplinary program in which undergraduates learn and practice methods and modes of thinking that help them understand and become actively engaged in legal and public policy issues. Our multidisciplinary, multi-method program introduces students to a broad range of analytical skills from the social sciences and humanities, including statistical analysis, legal argumentation, and close reading of texts. Our major offers continuous opportunities to apply learning through internships and community-engaged projects, with the aim of cultivating civic participants with the capacity to make well-informed, ethical decisions.

Trinity is a highly selective, independent, nonsectarian liberal arts institution located in the capital city of Hartford, Connecticut. The college maintains a rigorous academic profile complemented by a vibrant co-curricular program. With more than 2,100 full-time undergraduate students, representing forty-three states and ninety-one countries, we consider our location in a culturally and socioeconomically diverse capital city to be among Trinity's most distinctive assets; and we cultivate strong connections with our surrounding neighbors and with institutions and organizations throughout Hartford and the region. As a preeminent liberal arts college in an urban setting, Trinity College prepares students to be bold, independent thinkers who lead transformative lives.

Evidence of academic expertise and teaching effectiveness is required. A Ph.D. in Legal Studies, Public Policy, Sociology, Political Science

or a related field should be in hand by August 2025. We will also consider candidates with a JD and experience that prepares them for undergraduate teaching. We encourage applicants who share our commitment to inclusive scholarship, teaching, and service that accounts for diverse identities and perspectives. We encourage applications from candidates from historically underrepresented backgrounds. The successful candidate will be eligible for research and conference travel funds.

Please submit the following materials: a CV; cover letter (describing research and teaching, including your approach to issues of diversity, equity and inclusion in your teaching, scholarship, or service); sample of scholarly or professional writing; course syllabi; course evaluations; a graduate transcript; and contact information for at least three individuals who will provide letters of reference. Applications will be reviewed on a rolling basis and those received by March 26, 2025 will receive full consideration.

<https://trincoll.peopleadmin.com/postings/3481>

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 3/26/2025

Date Posted: 3/7/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15493

University of the Pacific

Rank: Post-Doctoral Instructor

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Administration, Public Policy

The Department of Political Science at University of the Pacific invites applications for a three-year, full-time, non-tenure track appointment as post-doctoral instructor in American politics. A Ph.D. in Political Science is required by the time of appointment. Salary is commensurate with experience and includes the option of receiving additional compensation for summer teaching. This position includes health, dental and vision benefits, as well as conference travel support during the academic year. The successful candidate will teach 5 courses over the academic year. Preference is given to applicants with teaching experience in American institutions and/or public policy.

Qualified candidates should have demonstrated experience working with a diverse community of learners. For more information about Pacific's Political Science department, visit: <http://www.pacific.edu/Academics/Schools-and-Colleges/College-of-the-Pacific/Academics/Departments-and-Programs/political-science.html>

Application review will begin on March 14, 2025 and will continue until the position has been filled. Please apply through people admin and include the following as attachments: 1) letter of interest; 2) CV; 3) teaching statement, including a list of preferred courses; 4) up to two sample syllabi and related course materials including teaching evaluations; and 5) names and contact information for three references.

To apply, please use the following link: <https://pacific.peopleadmin.com/postings/30056>

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 3/7/2025

Salary: $40,000 - $49,999

eJobs ID: 15495

Morehouse College

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor (American Politics/Public Law)

The Division of Humanities, Social Sciences, Media & Arts (HSSMA) invites applications for a full-time, visiting assistant professor in the Political Science Department. Candidates should specialize in American politics and public law. Candidates should be prepared to teach courses on American national government, constitutional law, race and law, and civil liberties.

We are looking for someone who thinks creatively about their teaching, engages in scholarship, and can be committed to the mission of Morehouse College—to develop men with disciplined minds who lead lives of leadership and service by emphasizing the intellectual and character development of its students and by assuming a special responsibility for teaching the history and culture of Black people.

The Political Science department offers a broad range of courses, including majors in Urban Studies and International Studies. Applicants should have experience teaching political science concepts to a diverse group of students including non-majors. We welcome candidates who can develop innovative first-year experience (FYE) courses for our general education program.

This is a one-year appointment. The teaching load for visiting professors is 3-4. The start date for the position is August 2025. Note that the department will conduct a national search for a permanent, tenure-track assistant professor in this area of specialization next fall.

Application deadline is April 4, 2025. Please direct any questions to Dr. Andrew Douglas (andrew.douglas@morehouse.edu).

All applications must be submitted via the Morehouse HR website: <https://morehouse.peopleadmin.com/postings/11876>

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 4/4/2025

Date Posted: 3/5/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15487

Princeton University

Rank: Senior Research Specialist

The Department of Politics at Princeton University seeks a Senior Research Specialist for a 12-month position to support ongoing research on race and ethnic politics and experimental methods. The research specialist will maintain their own research agenda (approximately 15 hours per week) and work on collaborative projects with faculty affiliated with the Princeton Research Lab on Politics, Race, and Experimental Methods. In addition, the research specialist will provide mentoring and supervision of graduate and undergraduate researchers affiliated with the lab in a team-based environment. The research specialist will also help to manage data collection efforts, analyze data, and other research-related activities. Administrative duties will include lab management and arranging invitations and travel of external speakers. Finally, the research specialist will be expected to participate in the broader intellectual life of the Politics Department at Princeton University.

Start date is on July 2025. This is initially a one-year position with the potential of renewal up to two years.

Candidates should submit a cover letter describing fit for the position, CV, the names of three references, graduate transcripts, a separate statement on diversity, equity, and inclusiveness in mentoring, and a solo-authored writing sample. Qualified candidates will be invited to participate in a virtual interview process.

<https://research-princeton.icims.com/jobs/20574/senior-research-specialist/job?mode=view&mobile=false&width=1903&height=500&bga=true&needsRedirect=false&jan1offset=-300&jun1offset=-240>

Responsibilities

Research specialist's independent research projects.

Lab management and administrative duties

Analyzing data, cleaning, merging, visualization, and writing and commenting scripts.

Research and implement appropriate statistical and data analysis tools. Work independently to find and address data and statistical issues and potential difficulties.

Writing articles and literature reviews.

Qualifications

ESSENTIAL

Master's or professional degree

1+ years work experience

Educational background in political science or a closely related field.

Candidates must have strong training in research design and quantitative methods using both R and Stata.

Candidates must also have experience with experimental and quasi-experimental design and analysis and experience with survey design and implementation.

PREFERRED

Interest and familiarity with the literature in Black politics, and race and ethnic politics more broadly.

Start Date: Summer 2025

Date Posted: 3/5/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15488

University of Wisconsin-Platteville

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor of Political Science

Position Summary:

The Department of Social Sciences at the University of Wisconsin-Platteville invites applications for a Visiting Assistant Professor of Political Science with an anticipated start date of August 2025. This is a one-year, nine-month position. Pending budgetary approval and satisfactory performance, this position may transition into a tenure track line.

The University of Wisconsin System has a nationally top ranked retirement plan and a comprehensive benefits package.

Responsibilities:

- The primary duty will be teaching undergraduate courses in Political Science with a load of four courses per semester. The courses will include sections of Introduction to American Government, law-related courses, and upper-level courses in their area of specialization.

- Additionally, the position requires working closely with our Pre-Law students, in advising and mentoring, and prep for law school.

- The candidate will also be expected to provide mentorship to our Pre-law students and Political Science majors interested in Law or graduate school and to effectively interact and collaborate with colleagues in the department.

What You'll Need to Succeed:

- Ph.D. in Political Science (American Politics/Law). An ABD (all but dissertation) will be considered if the candidate is near completion.
- A minimum of two years of experience teaching at the undergraduate level and an interest in developing an upper-level course in their area of specialization.
- Strong commitment to undergraduate education and an interest in mentoring undergraduate majors and pre-law advising.
- Excellent oral and written communication skills.

Why It's Great to be a Pioneer:

The Political Science program is housed in the Social Sciences Department in the College of Liberal Arts and Education and engages with both General Education students and undergraduate majors. Our interdisciplinary department also includes Political Science, Sociology, Ethnic Studies, International Studies, and Women's and Gender Studies programs. Our faculty and staff interact dynamically with the university and Platteville community on a regular basis.

The University of Wisconsin-Platteville, founded in 1866, offers 47 baccalaureate and 10 master's programs. It possesses institutional strengths in middle level education, engineering, industrial technology, agriculture, criminal justice and business. The campus is located in Southwest Wisconsin's largest and most historic community. The region offers excellent school systems, high quality medical and hospital facilities, outstanding recreational opportunities, and vibrant businesses and industries. UW-Platteville is a cultural and educational center for the Tri-State region of Illinois, Iowa and Wisconsin.

Application Deadline:

To ensure full consideration, applications must be submitted through our online applicant portal (<https://careers.uwplatt.edu>) by March 18, 2025. Applications will be reviewed until the position has been filled.

How to Apply:

The following documents are required for applicant consideration:

- Letter of application addressing all required qualifications
- A current curriculum vitae
- Contact information (name, telephone number, and email address) for 3 professional references.

We Support Diversity and Inclusion:

Our mission is to foster a diverse environment that contributes to an inclusive culture and climate by promoting critical discourse and meaningful interactions between all members of our campus community.

Equal Employment Opportunity:

The University of Wisconsin-Platteville is committed to recruiting, supporting and fostering a diverse, inclusive and civil community of outstanding faculty, staff and students, and is an AA/EEO Employer. A criminal background check is required for employment. Applicants must be legally entitled to work in the U.S. at time of hire.

Employment will require a criminal background check. It will also require you and your references to answer questions regarding sexual violence and sexual harassment.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 3/18/2025

Date Posted: 3/4/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15479

University of California, Santa Cruz

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor in Legal Studies

Subfield(s): Public Law, American Government and Politics, International Relations

The Legal Studies Program at the University of California, Santa Cruz (UCSC) invites applications for the position of Visiting Assistant Professor in Legal Studies.

Under the direction of the Legal Studies Program Director, the Visiting Assistant Professor will teach four undergraduate courses across three quarters, mentor students, and contribute to research and service in the Program. The UC Santa Cruz Legal Studies Program offers an interdisciplinary undergraduate major, administered by the Politics Department, which seeks to integrate the study of law and legal issues through the contributions and insights of many diverse fields of study in the social sciences and humanities.

While the specialization is open, we welcome candidates whose education, professional activities, and teaching combine law and policy from a comparative or international perspective, or with a focus on the United States. We welcome candidates who will contribute to the inclusive excellence of the academic community through their teaching and other duties.

The hiring unit will not sponsor employment-eligible immigration statuses for this position.

Legal Studies Program: <https://legalstudies.ucsc.edu/>

Politics Department: <https://politics.ucsc.edu>

Qualifications

Basic qualifications (required at the time the application is submitted) Ph.D. in legal studies, law, law and society, political science, or a related field; and/or a J.D. Equivalent foreign degrees will be considered. It is expected the degree will be completed by August 31, 2025. Demonstrated record of teaching that includes a minimum of one year of college-level teaching (three quarters or two semesters) in legal studies, law, law and society, political science, or a related field. Professional record of accomplishments that includes publications; grants; awards; fellowships; organizing workshops; and/or participation in conferences, workshops, or summer schools. Your application must demonstrate that you meet all of the basic qualifications when you submit your application. There are no exceptions to this requirement.

Application Requirements

Curriculum Vitae - Your most recently updated C.V.

Cover Letter

Statement of Teaching

Sample Syllabus

Teaching Evaluations (3 sets) - (Optional)

3 letters of reference required

Applications must include confidential letters of recommendation*. Note that your references, or dossier service, will submit their confidential letters directly to the UC Recruit System.

*All letters will be treated as confidential per University of California policy and California state law. For any reference letter provided via a third party (i.e., dossier service, career center), direct the author to UCSC's confidentiality statement at <https://academicpersonnel.ucsc.edu/confidentiality-statements/>.

Apply link: <https://recruit.ucsc.edu/JPF01877>

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 4/25/2025

Date Posted: 3/3/2025

Salary: $80,000 - $89,999

eJobs ID: 15477

Rice University

Rank: Assistant Teaching Professor

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Political Theory, Public Law

Description:

The Department of Political Science at Rice University, located in Houston, Texas, invites applications for an assistant teaching professor. This is a full-time, benefits-eligible, non-tenure track faculty position. The appointment is renewable, with an initial term of three years, and promotable thereafter. The successful candidate will (1) show promise as a teacher of courses in American Politics, Political Theory, Public Law, and/or Constitutional Law; (2) demonstrate knowledge of recent evidence-based advances in pedagogical practices; (3) show potential for effective advising and mentorship of undergraduate students; and (4) be willing to participate actively in the department through service.

Duties and Responsibilities:

The assistant teaching professor will teach 5 semester-long courses in a 3-2 or 2-3 split. Courses will be accessible and hold broad appeal to students in Political Science and other fields. One course will contribute to the core curriculum of the Politics, Law, and Social Thought minor that is grounded in the close study of texts and other source material (for more information, see the program description at <https://politics.rice.edu/about-plst>). The assistant teaching professor will also serve as the major advisor for Political Science, help build a more vibrant and student-centered major and contribute to the ongoing review and development of the undergraduate curriculum in Political Science.

Start Date:

July 1, 2025

About Rice University:

Rice University is a private R1 university with a strong reputation for excellence in both teaching and research, located in the heart of Houston's dynamic Museum District and adjacent to the Texas Medical Center. It offers undergraduate and graduate degrees across eight schools, with a student body of approximately 4,800 undergraduate and 4,000 graduate students. Rice consistently ranks among the top 20 national universities and the top 10 in undergraduate teaching (US News & World Report).

We welcome the fullness of diversity to Rice. Qualified applicants are considered without regard to race, color, religion, age, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national or ethnic origin, genetic information, disability, or protected veteran status. Also, in our candidate pools, we seek to attract greater representation of women, scholars of color, people with disabilities, veterans, and others who have historically been underrepresented in political science; attract students from a wide range of countries and backgrounds; accelerate progress in building a faculty and staff varied in background and thought; and maintain an environment that fosters interaction and understanding within our community.

Qualifications:

Candidates must currently hold a Ph.D. degree in Political Science or related field, or have the degree conferred by July 1, 2025.

Application Instructions:

Review of applications will begin immediately, and candidates are encouraged to apply by March 15, 2025 to be given full consideration. Applicants should use the application portal: apply.interfolio.com/164384 to provide (1) cover letter, (2) curriculum vitae, (3) teaching statement incl. undergraduate courses you could teach (2-3 pages), (4) evidence of teaching effectiveness (e.g. teaching evaluations, peer observations), (5) at least two course syllabi, (6) and three letters of reference from persons familiar with your teaching experience.

Start Date: Summer 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 2/28/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15474

University of California, Davis

Rank: Assistant Adjunct Professorship

The UC Center Sacramento (UCCS) is pleased to announce a one-year Assistant Adjunct Professorship for 2025-2026 in American Politics and Public Policy with the possibility of renewal. We welcome new or recent Ph.D. scholars with an interest in California state politics and policy. Degree must be completed by June 30, 2025.

The University of California Center, Sacramento (UCCS) is a system-wide program of the University of California. Since its inception in 2004, the program has offered UC students from across the 10-campus system opportunities to study public policy through seminars and internships in and around the state Capitol. The Center also serves as a conduit through which research-based knowledge generated on the 10 campuses is disseminated to lawmakers, legislative staff, and executive branch officials.

The Assistant Adjunct Professor will be responsible for teaching Political Science undergraduate Courses, including but not limited to courses on California policy and politics and on policy research and analysis, as well as performing administrative duties assigned as part of the UCCS academic and leadership team. Duties include teaching at least four undergraduate courses per year, mentoring undergraduate students engaged in research, and in addition, to contribute materially towards the Center's mission to increase student and alumni outreach, enhance the student experience, and expand the Center's research and knowledge sharing function.

The Assistant Adjunct Professor will have primary responsibility for translational research work including writing and/or oversight of policy briefs, research poster compilations, and oversight of UCCS' internal e-publication journal through the California Digital Library. This is in addition to independent research work related to candidate's own research interests that will be evaluated at the time of possible merit review and/or re-appointment. Support for UC Center Sacramento's evidence-based knowledge sharing activities including the UC Center Sacramento Wednesday Speaker Series. Will be responsible for mentoring UC Center Sacramento undergraduate and graduate students beyond classroom related activities. As part of the Center's service responsibilities, will also serve on any UC Center Sacramento's knowledge sharing and student focused selection committees.

The appointment will be housed at UCCS located in Sacramento, California. This is an in-person full-time position. In evaluating the candidates, the following criteria will be used: coursework and demonstrated knowledge of American Politics and public policy; quality of the graduate training program; demonstration of teaching ability; experience with research methods and evidence-based policy analysis; letters of recommendation; ability to complete degree before appointment; and interview. An acquaintance with California politics and policy making, policy research design and conduct, quantitative methods, and working with a diverse student body is considered advantageous. A reasonable estimated salary range for this position is $78,200 – $86,600, plus benefits.

To apply, please submit a cover letter, CV, teaching evaluations, statement on teaching, writing sample, and three letters of reference through the online application form found at <https://recruit.ucdavis.edu/JPF07016>. For full consideration, applications must be received by March 31, 2025. The position is open until filled.

For additional information about UCCS please see <http://uccs.ucdavis.edu>.

Start Date: Summer 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 2/28/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15475

Purdue University

Rank: Post Doc Research Associate Political Institutions

Specializations: Congress, Political Parties & Organizations, Judicial Politics

Postdoctoral Research Associate, American Political Institutions, Political Science

The Department of Political Science seeks a two-year postdoctoral researcher to assist with projects, papers, and grant proposals as part of the Program on American Institutional Renewal (PAIR) at Purdue. The postdoctoral fellow will be mentored in research and proposal writing by PAIR faculty directors, Drs. Jesse Crosson and Logan Strother, and participate in an active research community in Political Science and the College of Liberal Arts.

For information about PAIR, please see the following website: <https://cla.purdue.edu/academic/polsci/research/labs/pair-program/index.html>

The start date is August 18, 2025. The position is at Purdue's main campus in West Lafayette, Indiana.

Qualifications

A PhD in Political Science, Public Policy, or a closely related field is required. ABDs will be considered, but the successful candidate must provide evidence of completion of all requirements for the PhD prior to the start date of the position. Qualified candidates must have strong interest and skills in studying American political institutions, including the use of quantitative data analysis and/or formal theory. Candidates should have experience managing research projects and a record of successful collaboration.

About Purdue University

Political Science is home to 29 faculty and more than 40 PhD students, visiting scholars, and post-docs. Purdue University is a member of the AAU and a land grant university with enrollment of over 52,000 students. The campus is located in West Lafayette, Indiana, an area with a favorable cost of living and a vibrant local community. Purdue University offers high-quality research and computing facilities with many opportunities for collaboration in Centers and Institutes across campus and in the broader region.

The Program on American Institutional Renewal (PAIR) at Purdue Co-directed by Drs. Jesse Crosson and Logan Strother, Program on American Institutional Renewal (PAIR) seeks to advance the generation, communication, and use of new knowledge about the workings of America's governing institutions. To this end, PAIR brings together interdisciplinary scholars, students, and practitioners interested in improving the workings of legislatures, courts, executive agencies, and other institutions. Among other core events and activities, PAIR sponsors a yearly research conference on American institutions, hosts guest lectures, facilitates panel discussions with political practitioners, and supports research on American institutions.

Within PAIR, Dr. Crosson directs the Partisanship, Polarization, and Pluralism Lab, where he directs projects on legislative politics, policy expertise, lobbying, and money in politics. In many cases, this work examines how a variety of institutional changes, such as primary reform and the introduction of term limits, have influenced politics in each of these areas. Broadly, his research focuses on the development, consequences, and potential responses to hyperpartisan competition in American politics.

Dr. Strother directs the Court of Claims Lab at PAIR, which aims to better understand the understudied and crucial role that the U.S. Court of Federal Claims plays within the federal judiciary. This research grows out of his broader research interests in the rule of law, judicial institutions, and interactions between courts and the mass public.

Application Procedures

To apply, please visit <https://careers.purdue.edu/>. Applications must be submitted online and include: 1) Cover letter of interest that includes a statement describing how the applicant's research fits the principal duties and qualifications of the position, 2) Curriculum Vitae, and 3) Recent research paper or other writing sample related to the position description. Candidates who advance in the review process may be asked to provide letters of recommendation and transcripts.

Screening of applicants will begin on March 14, 2025, and will continue until the position is filled. A background check is required for employment in this position. For additional information, contact Dr. Jesse Crosson at jcrosson@purdue.edu or Dr. Logan Strother at lstrothe@purdue.edu.

Purdue University is an EOE/AA employer. All individuals, including minorities, women, individuals with disabilities, and veterans are encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 2/27/2025

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 15470

Harvard University

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellowship for 2025-2026

Postdoctoral Fellowship for 2025-2026. Offered by the Program on Constitutional Government, Harvard University - Harvey Mansfield, Director.

The Program on Constitutional Government in the Center for American Political Studies and the FAS Department of Government at Harvard University will offer one postdoctoral fellowship for the 2025-2026 academic year. The stipend will be at least $67,600, health insurance is included. Applicants must have received their doctorates no earlier than spring 2022 and no later than June 2025. Applicants' work should bear upon the theoretical foundations or institutional and political consequences of the American Constitution.

Applications must include a cover letter, resume, research proposal, and brief writing sample. Additionally, two letters of recommendation are required. Applications may be made in ARIES (<https://academicpositions.harvard.edu/postings/14760>), and any questions should be directed to Laura Donaldson at ldonaldson@fas.harvard.edu.

The application review process will begin on MARCH 15, 2025 and will continue until the position is filled.

Start Date: Summer 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 2/25/2025

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 15457

Gonzaga University

Rank: Lecturer

The Department of Political Science at Gonzaga University in Spokane, WA invites applications for a nine-month, fixed term, non-tenure track lecturer position in American politics and political theory for the 2025-2026 academic year. Position may be renewable contingent on department and core curriculum needs. The teaching load is the equivalent of 24 credits per academic year (typically three (3) unique course preparations/semester). The successful candidate will teach sections of an introductory American politics course, upper division course(s) on the Congress and/or the presidency, and one or more upper division political theory classes with prioritization being political thought of the US founding or theories of democracy more broadly. The candidate may also have the opportunity to teach on topics related to their research specialization. We seek applicants whose teaching methods and materials intentionally foster the full participation and engagement of our students, with particular attention to students from diverse and marginalized backgrounds.

About Gonzaga University and Spokane, Washington:

Founded in 1887, Gonzaga is a private, liberal arts institution located in Spokane, WA. Gonzaga's mission reflects its Catholic, Jesuit, and humanistic identity. The Department of Political Science awards the BA degree and enjoys a growing enrollment of politically involved, social justice-minded students. Our average class size is under 25, enabling our faculty to invest in engaged pedagogy and transformational teaching. Gonzaga has been ranked in the top 20 for excellence in undergraduate teaching among National Universities by US News and World Report.

Gonzaga's 152-acre campus sits along the Spokane River within walking distance of downtown Spokane, on the ancestral homelands of the Spokane Tribe of Indians. Spokane is the second largest city in Washington and pairs a lower cost of living with many urban advantages, including a conveniently located international airport, a vibrant art community, and a range of exciting restaurants. Located on the east side of Washington State, Spokane offers many options for outdoor enjoyment including hiking, boating and fishing on numerous local lakes, and several ski resorts within driving distance.

Required Qualifications:

- Ph.D. in Political Science or international equivalent (ABD will be considered if the degree will be conferred by July 16, 2025).
- Evidence of teaching effectiveness, including the ability to effectively respond to the academic needs of learners from diverse backgrounds.
- Evidence of effective use of classroom strategies and pedagogies to advance equity, inclusion, and belonging.

Job Duties:

- Teach an equivalent of 24 credits per academic year (typically three unique course preparations per semester), including introductory course on American politics, courses required for the political science major and minor, and upper division courses in the candidate's areas of expertise.
- Support the department, university, and discipline through service and other forms of academic citizenship.

To apply, please visit our website at www.gonzaga.edu/jobs. Applicants must complete an online application and electronically submit (1) a cover letter including a discussion of the courses you are qualified to teach, (2) curriculum vitae, (3) a one-two page statement of teaching effectiveness that includes evidence of responsiveness to the needs of diverse learners and experience using equitable and inclusive classroom strategies and pedagogies, (4) unofficial copies of graduate school transcripts, and (5) the names and email addresses of three persons who will be writing letters of recommendation (letters will be solicited when finalists are selected).

The position remains open until filled. For best consideration, applicants should be received by March 24, 2025, when review will begin. For assistance with your online application, please contact Human Resources at (509) 313-5996. Direct other inquiries to the chair of the search committee, Dr. Joe Gardner, gardnerj@gonzaga.edu.

Gonzaga University is a Catholic, Jesuit, humanistic institution, and is therefore interested in candidates who will contribute to its distinctive mission. Gonzaga University is a committed EEO/AA employer and diversity candidates are encouraged to apply. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to their disability status and/or protected veteran status.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 2/24/2025

Salary: $70,000 - $79,999

eJobs ID: 15454

Utah State University

Rank: Temporary Assistant Professor

The Department of Political Science at Utah State University (USU) invites applications for a Visiting Assistant Professor of Political Science with a teaching load of 3 courses per semester. Successful candidates will either hold a PhD (or be working towards a PhD) in Political Science or a related field. The successful applicant will teach introductory and/or advanced courses in comparative politics. An ability to teach courses in American politics is a plus. This is a one-year term appointment in-person at USU's main campus in Logan. The successful applicant may expect an annual salary of $55,000 plus excellent benefits as well as funds to present at a professional conference. The anticipated start date of the position is August 2025.

Review of applications begins on March 12, 2025, and continues until the position is filled. Please apply here: <https://careers-usu.icims.com/jobs/8858/temporary-assistant-professor/job>

Responsibilities

- Teach 3 courses per semester to meet the department's needs in comparative and/or American politics?
- Please consult the USU catalog for more course information

Qualifications

Minimum Qualifications:

- PhD or ABD in Political Science or related field?
- Evidence of effective teaching?
- Preferred Qualifications:

? Specialization in Comparative or American Politics

Required Documents

Along with the online application, please attach: ?

- Resume/CV to be uploaded at the beginning of your application in the Candidate Profile under "Resume/CV";
- Name and contact information for 3 professional references to be entered into Candidate Profile. (References will be contacted after initial screening of applicants)
- Evidence of effective teaching to be uploaded at the beginning of your application in the Candidate - Profile under "Documents 1-10";
- A cover letter that speaks to your effectiveness as a teacher and your specializations in political science. Cover letter to be typed/pasted at the end of your application.

Document size may not exceed 10 MB.

Additional materials may be requested of candidates who advance to the next level.

Please direct questions to Dr. Anna Pechenkina, Search Committee Chair, at anna.pechenkina@usu.edu (Do not send application materials to this email address.)

Advertised Salary

$55,000; Commensurate with qualifications and experience, plus excellent benefits

ADA

Employees typically work indoors and are protected from weather and/or contaminants, but not, necessarily, occasional temperature changes.

College/Department Highlights

Faculty for this position will be located at the main campus in Logan. For more information on the Political Science department, see our websites: <https://chass.usu.edu/political-science/>.

?

All faculty are part of the College of Humanities and Social Sciences, which plays an instrumental role in teaching critical thinking, knowledge-building skills, and the ability to pose meaningful questions that advance understanding and knowledge. Students in our college confront the great questions and controversies, learn about the forces that have shaped our world, and develop the skills to tackle its most pressing challenges. Our graduates are creative problem-solvers with a passion for making a difference. The education they receive here prepares them to address the problems of today and to succeed wherever their career path takes them tomorrow.

University Highlights

Founded in 1888, Utah State University is Utah's premier land-grant, public service university. As an R1 research institution, Utah State is dedicated to advancing knowledge through research and scholarly activities, providing a high-quality undergraduate and graduate education at an affordable price.

USU enrolls 28,900 students, both online and in person at locations throughout the state. Utah State's 30 locations include a main campus in Logan, Utah, residential campuses in Price and Blanding, and six additional statewide campuses, along with education centers serving every county. USU Online educates students from all 50 states and 55 countries. For over 25 years, USU Extension has served and engaged Utahns in all of Utah's counties.

Competing at the NCAA Division I level, USU is a proud member of the Mountain West Conference and will join the Pac-12 Conference beginning in the 2026-2027 season. The Aggies' long-standing tradition of athletic and academic excellence is exemplified by conference championships in multiple sports, reflecting USU's commitment to perseverance and achievement.

Utah State is dedicated to fostering a community where all individuals feel respected, valued, and supported. We seek to recruit, hire, and retain people from all walks of life who will champion excellence in education, research, discovery, outreach, and service. We believe that promoting a strong sense of community and belonging empowers and engages all members of USU to thrive and be successful. Forbes recognized our commitment to employees when they named Utah State the best employer in Utah in 2023. Learn more about USU.

The university provides a Dual Career Assistance Program to support careers for partners who are also seeking employment. Additionally, USU is committed to providing access and reasonable accommodations for individuals with disabilities. To request a reasonable accommodation for a disability, contact the university's ADA Coordinator in the Office of Human Resources at (435) 797-0122 or hr@usu.edu.

*updated 01/2025

Notice of Non-discrimination

In its programs and activities, including in admissions and employment, Utah State University does not discriminate or tolerate discrimination, including harassment, based on race, color, religion, sex, national origin, age, genetic information, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, disability, status as a protected veteran, or any other status protected by University policy, Title IX, or any other federal, state, or local law.

The following individuals have been designated to handle inquiries regarding the application of Title IX and its implementing regulations and/or USU's non-discrimination policies:

Executive Director of the Office of Equity Matthew Pinner, discrimination@usu.edu, Distance Education Rm. 401, 435-797-1266

Title IX Coordinator Cody Carmichael, titleix@usu.edu, Distance Education Rm. 404, 435-797-1266

Mailing address: 5100 Old Main Hill, Logan, UT 84322

For further information regarding non-discrimination, please visit <https://equity.usu.edu/>, or contact:

U.S. Department of Education, Office of Assistant Secretary for Civil Rights, 800-421-3481, OCR@ed.gov

*updated 09/2023

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 2/12/2025

Date Posted: 2/20/2025

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 15450

Patrick Henry College

Rank: Professor of Government—American Politics

Specializations: Congress, Presidency, Political Parties & Organizations

Professor of Government—American Politics

Patrick Henry College seeks a professor of government (rank negotiable) to begin in the fall of 2025. Applicants should demonstrate a commitment to excellence in teaching and research and possess a strong biblical worldview that aligns with historic orthodox Christian teachings. The ideal candidate will have an earned Ph.D. in Government or Political Science with the ability to provide leadership to PHC's vibrant American Politics and Policy program and teach a variety of courses in American Politics including Congress, Presidency, Campaigns and Elections, Public Policy, State and Local Government, and either a methods course or an introductory Comparative Politics course.

Candidates should be evangelical Christians, in full agreement with the College's Statement of Faith and Biblical Foundations Statement, and supportive of the College's Mission, Vision, and Educational Philosophy.

PHC is a private, nondenominational, SACS and TRACS-accredited institution located near Washington, D.C., in Purcellville, Virginia. The classical liberal arts—wed to a strong biblical foundation—are at the heart of the College's educational philosophy. This approach is evidenced by the College's unique sixty-three-credit core curriculum. PHC is known for its talented and highly motivated students and for its high academic quality.

The position is subject to the College's verification of credentials along with other information required by law and PHC's policies, including the successful completion of a background check. Compensation is competitive. Review of applications will begin immediately.

To apply, submit a cover letter addressed to Dr. Mark T. Mitchell, Dean of Academic Affairs, along with curriculum vitae, a list of three references (one pastoral), a sample of scholarship (if available), and a personal statement of faith including an explanation of how faith shapes your teaching in the classroom. Please also include teaching evaluations or evidence of successful teaching if available. Application materials should be submitted to jobs@phc.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 2/18/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15439

University of Central Florida

Rank: Assistant Professor in Cyber Security and Privacy

Subfield(s): Other, American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics

Specializations: International Security, Science & Technology, Research Methods

The Opportunity

The University of Central Florida (UCF) recently established nine interdisciplinary clusters to strengthen its academic offerings and research mission. In support of this effort, we are recruiting faculty in the broad area of cyber security and privacy, from a policy or social science perspective, and plan to hire a 9-month, tenure-earning assistant professor for this cluster. This position has an anticipated start date of August 8, 2025.

The Cybersecurity and Privacy Cluster is an interdisciplinary initiative, bringing together researchers from across the campus and working on addressing the pressing questions of our national security from engineering, science, and social perspectives. The cluster currently has 15 members, collectively advising more than 57+ doctoral students, and embracing a strong culture of collaboration and teamwork. This cluster runs various well-funded programs, has developed and implemented a new interdisciplinary M.S. in Cybersecurity and Privacy, is a recipient of the prestigious National Science Foundation Scholarship of Service Program, and has National Security Agency Center of Academic Excellence in Research (CAE-R) and in Cyber Defense (CAE-CD) designations.

This is an interdisciplinary position that will be expected to strengthen both the cluster and a chosen tenure home department and may include a combination of joint appointments. A strong advantage of this position is the ability of the candidate to choose a combination of units from the cluster for their own appointment. See <https://www.ucf.edu/research/cyber-security-privacy/> for a complete list of all the units involved. Both individual and interdisciplinary infrastructure and startup support will be provided with the new position.

The ideal candidate will have a strong background in cyber security and privacy and be on an upward leadership trajectory in these areas. They will have research impact as reflected in high-quality publications and the ability to build a well-funded research program. In particular, we are looking for a team player who can help bring together current campus efforts in cyber security or privacy, and someone who will work at the intersection of several areas addressing the intersection of the technical aspects of cyber security and privacy within the social sciences with a focus on one or more of the following topics: a) networked privacy; b) security/privacy issues of artificial intelligence (AI) applications; c) organizational issues of cyber security and privacy; d) cybercrimes; e) cyberwarfare; f) cyber security and intelligence; g) cyber security, privacy, and mis-information; h) politics of space and cybersecurity; i) political and behavioral issues in cyber-security; j) law, governance, and regulation related to privacy and cybersecurity; and k) simulation and modeling for cyber systems. With this in mind, we anticipate the selected candidate will be tenure-earning in one of, but not limited to, the following units: School of Modeling, Simulation, and Training (SMST); and the School of Politics, Security, and International Affairs (SPSIA).

The School of Politics, Security, and International Affairs (SPSIA) is a school in the College of Science and offers graduate programs in security studies (Ph.D.) and political science (M.A.) as well as certificate programs in Survey, Network Analysis and Intelligence and National Security. SPSIA strives to provide excellence in research and teaching at all levels of higher education to prepare a diverse student body for career and life success as engaged citizens. The school is the home to five centers that are nationally recognized (The India Center, The Kurdish Program, The Lou Fry Institute, The Center for Global Economic and Environmental Opportunity). More information is available at: <https://sciences.ucf.edu/politics/>

The School of Modeling, Simulation, and Training (SMST) is a vibrant school under the College of Engineering and Computer Science that offers interdisciplinary graduate programs in Modeling and Simulation, Behavioral Cyber Security, and Digital Twins. Our academic programs are among the most recognized in the U.S. and internationally with 25 years of history in graduate education. SMST faculty maintain active cutting-edge research programs in Modeling and Simulation, and Digital Twins. More information is available at: <https://www.cecs.ucf.edu/srst/>

Minimum Qualifications:

A Ph.D., terminal degree, or foreign degree equivalent from an accredited institution in an area appropriate to the cluster at the time of the appointment. Ph.D. candidates with an ABD status will be considered for the opening, subject to obtaining their degree before the start date. Applicants must demonstrate a record of publications and a clear vision for future research plans.

Preferred Qualifications:

- A history of working with teams, especially that span multiple disciplines
- A demonstrated record of high-quality publications in topics related to the focus topics listed above.
- A promising research agenda that reflects theoretical creativity and empirical sophistication. Prior experience in proposal writing is a plus.
- A record of, or potential for, external research funding as appropriate for the discipline and tenure-home

- Prior teaching experience or the capacity to teach courses related to cyber-security, privacy and their behavioral/political aspects.
- Prior experience of teaching, or the capacity to teach, qualitative and/or quantitative research methods at the graduate or undergraduate levels.
- The willingness to teach in different modalities including face-to-face and online.
- Can contribute to the graduate programs related to the tenure School and the Cyber Security and Privacy cluster.

Additional Application Materials Required:

UCF requires all applications and supporting documents be submitted electronically through the Human Resources employment opportunities website, <https://www.ucf.edu/jobs/>. In addition to the online application, candidates should upload:

- 1) A cover letter
- 2) A curriculum vitae
- 3) A statement of research plans and goals
- 4) A statement of teaching philosophy including any experience/familiarity with student-centered learning approaches
- 5) Reprints of 2-3 recent key publications.

In the research statement candidates should include descriptions of their successful interdisciplinary research collaborations and how their current and future research can contribute to the cluster's overall interdisciplinary objectives. In the cover letter, candidates should address their background in one or more of the areas listed above, as appropriate.

The selected candidate will be required to submit official transcripts (and, as applicable, U.S. degree equivalency evaluations) documenting the conferral of their qualifying academic credentials.

NOTE: Please have all documents ready when applying so they can be simultaneously uploaded. Once the online submission process is finalized, the system does not allow applicants to submit additional documents later.

Questions regarding this search can be directed to Nayade Ramirez (Nayade.Ramirez@ucf.edu) or Dr. Cliff Zou at Changchun.Zou@ucf.edu.

Special Instructions to the Applicants: N/A

Job Close Date: Open until filled

Note to applicants: Please keep in mind that a job posted as 'Open until filled' may close at any time without notice. As such, we encourage you to submit your application and all required documentation as quickly as possible to ensure consideration for the posted position.

Are you ready to unleash YOUR potential?

As a next-generation public research university and Forbes-ranked top employer in Florida, we are a community of thinkers, doers, creators, innovators, healers, and leaders striving to create broader prosperity and help shape a better future. No matter what your role is, when you join Knight Nation, you'll play an integral role at one of the most impactful universities in the country. You'll be met with opportunities to connect and collaborate with talented faculty, staff, and students across 13 colleges and multiple campuses, engaging in impactful work that makes a positive difference. Your time at UCF will provide you with many meaningful opportunities to grow, you'll work alongside talented colleagues on complex projects that will challenge you and help you gain new skills and you'll have countless rewarding experiences that go well beyond a paycheck.

Working at UCF has its perks! UCF offers:

- Benefit packages, including Medical, Dental, Vision, Life Insurance, Flexible Spending, and Employee Assistance Program.?

- Paid time off, including annual (12-month faculty) and sick time off and paid holidays.
- Retirement savings options.?
- Employee discounts, including tickets to many Orlando attractions.?
- Education assistance.
- Flexible work environment.?
- And more...For more benefits information, view the UCF Employee Benefits Guide click here.

Unless explicitly stated on the job posting, it is UCF's expectation that an employee of UCF will reside in Florida as of the date the employment begins.

Additional Requirements related to Research Positions:

Pursuant to Florida State Statute 1010.35, prior to offering employment to certain individuals in research-related positions, UCF is required to conduct additional screening. Applicants subject to additional screening include any citizen of a foreign country who is not a permanent resident of the U.S., or who is a citizen or permanent resident but is affiliated with or has had at least 1 year of education, employment, or training in China, Cuba, Iran, Russia, North Korea, Syria, or Venezuela.

The additional screening requirements only apply to research-related positions, including, but not limited to faculty, graduate positions, individuals compensated by research grants or contract funds, postdoctoral positions, undergraduate positions, visiting assistant professors, and visiting research associates.

Department: Office Of Research, Research Centers & Institutes, College Of Graduate Studies, And Burnett Honors College HR Business Center

Work Schedule: Varies

Type of Appointment: Regular

Expected Salary: Negotiable

Equal Employment Opportunity Statement:

The University of Central Florida is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer including Disabled/Vets. Click on UCF's Equal Opportunity Statement to view the President's Statement.

The UCF affirmative action plans for qualified individuals with disabilities and protected Veterans are available for inspection in the Office of Institutional Equity, Monday through Friday, from 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m., upon request.

As a Florida public university, UCF makes all application materials and selection procedures available to the public upon request.

The University of Central Florida is proud to be a smoke-free campus and an E-Verify employer.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 2/18/2025

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 15440

University of Central Arkansas

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor/Visiting Lecturer

The Department of Government, Public Service, & International Studies at the University of Central Arkansas invites applications for a visiting assistant professor/visiting lecturer position in American politics. The position begins August 15, 2025. Teaching responsibilities consist of lower-division courses in an undergraduate political science program, introductory sections of U.S. government & politics in particular. The successful candidate will possess excellent teaching skills. A Ph.D. in Political Science/Public Policy is required for the rank of Visiting Assistant Professor, an M.A. in Political Science/Public Policy for the rank of Visiting Lecturer. In addition to political science, the Department also offers undergraduate degrees in public administration and international studies. To apply, submit a letter of application, current vita, transcripts, three letters of recommendation, a scholarly writing sample, course syllabi, and teaching evaluations via UCA's online application system (<https://jobs.uca.edu>). Review of applications will begin March 14, 2025 and continue until the position is filled. For full consideration, please submit a complete application by March 14, 2025.

Founded in 1907, the University of Central Arkansas (www.uca.edu) has an enrollment of approximately 11,700 students. The university offers 87 undergraduate and 58 graduate certificate and degree programs, including doctoral programs in five disciplines. The student body consistently scores above the national average on the ACT exam. UCA is proud of its tradition of teaching excellence and its contributions in scholarly and creative activities. The campus is widely acclaimed for its beauty. UCA is located in Conway, Arkansas, a thriving city of approximately 60,000, located in central Arkansas, and thirty minutes from Little Rock. Conway is home to a number of major industries, two private colleges, an excellent public school system, and strong K-12 parochial schools. Residents have easy access to the Ouachita and Ozark National Forests and pristine wild areas near the Buffalo National River. The University of Central Arkansas is an affirmative action/equal opportunity employer and encourages women and minorities to apply.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 2/14/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15430

Dartmouth College

Rank: Guarini Dissertation and Postdoctoral Fellowship in Asian American Politics 2025-27

Dartmouth College invites applications for the Guarini Dissertation and Postdoctoral Fellowship in Asian American Politics in the Department of Government. This fellowship supports scholars whose research addresses Asian American politics (broadly defined). In addition, the fellowship promotes student and faculty diversity at Dartmouth, and throughout higher education, by supporting completion of the doctorate by underrepresented scholars and others with a demonstrated ability to advance educational diversity and inclusivity. Applicants will be selected on the basis of their academic achievement, promise in research and teaching, and demonstrated commitment to addressing underrepresentation in higher education.

This is a two-year residential fellowship in which the fellow is focused on their research and writing. We seek scholars who can contribute to building the intellectual life of the Department of Government and Dartmouth College. Fellows are expected to complete the dissertation at the end of their first year and then transition to a postdoctoral appointment for the second year. In the first year, predoctoral fellows receive an annual stipend of approximately $47,000 plus benefits and an allocation for research expenses. In the second year, postdoctoral fellows receive a stipend of approximately $61,000 plus benefits and an allocation for research expenses (exact funding levels for 2025-27 will be set at the time of offer). Fellows will teach one course in the second year.

Guarini Fellows are part of the Provost's Fellowship Program, a multidisciplinary cohort of approximately ten predoctoral and postdoctoral scholars who share a commitment to increasing diversity and inclusivity in their disciplines. Fellows participate together in mentoring and professional development programming, including guidance in preparing for faculty careers. Fellows are also supported by the Guarini School for Graduate and Advanced Studies, including their diversity and inclusion initiatives.

Dartmouth is committed to academic excellence and encourages the open exchange of ideas within a culture of mutual respect. People with different backgrounds, life experiences, and perspectives make the Dartmouth community diverse, which enhances academic excellence. Applicants should address in their Fellowship Statement how their research, teaching, service, and/or life experiences prepare them to advance Dartmouth's commitment to diversity in service of academic excellence.

Qualifications

Qualification: ABD in any social science discipline, with a focus on quantitative research on Asian American politics.

Application Instructions

Please submit all materials electronically through Interfolio (<https://apply.interfolio.com/160584>):

-Research statement outlining completed research (including dissertation), work in progress, and plans for publication (maximum two pages single-spaced).

-Teaching statement outlining past and future teaching interests (maximum one page single-spaced).

-Fellowship program statement describing your motivations to join a multidisciplinary cohort in the Provost's Fellowship Program. Please also address how your research, teaching, service, and/or life experiences prepare you to advance Dartmouth's commitment to diversity in service of academic excellence.

-Curriculum vitae, including the names and contact information for three references.

Review of applications will begin February 15, 2025 and continue until the position is filled. At a later date, semi-finalists will be asked to provide a writing sample and three confidential letters of recommendation, one of which must be from the dissertation advisor and address the projected timeline for completion.

For questions regarding this position, please contact: Professor Brendan Nyhan, chair of the search committee: Brendan.J.Nyhan@Dartmouth.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 2/13/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15425

Macalester College

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor

The Macalester College Department of Political Science invites applications for a one-year, full-time visiting position at the rank of Visiting Assistant Professor (PhD), for the 2025- 2026 academic year, beginning in August 2025. Candidates should have, or be close to completing, a PhD in Political Science (ABD candidates will be considered; however, they must have their degree in hand prior to August 2025) with a focus in American Politics. We prefer candidates who can teach Politics and Policymaking, and U.S. City and Metro Politics, and can offer electives in American institutions (e.g. presidency, Congress, the federal bureaucracy, except the judiciary) or American political behavior (e.g. public opinion, media and politics, political psychology). Visa sponsorship is not available. Salary and benefits are competitive.

The successful candidate will contribute to the undergraduate curriculum by teaching Politics and Policymaking, City and Metro Politics, and a combination of three other American Politics courses from our catalogue. The teaching load is five courses per year.

Applicants should submit a cover letter that includes a statement of interest in Macalester and discusses demonstrated activity and contributions to diversity, equity and inclusion initiatives in their teaching, advising, mentorship, curriculum, scholarship, service or community and professional engagement. Strong candidates will have experience and vision regarding teaching and mentorship of students of multiple and diverse backgrounds with attention to structural barriers that limit access to educational opportunities. Applications should also include a curriculum vitae; evidence of effective teaching (e.g., sample syllabi, course evaluations, comments in reference letters); and up to three reference letters.

All materials must be submitted to Academic Jobs Online. Inquiries can be directed to Professor Lesley Lavery, Search Committee Chair, llavery@macalester.edu. Applications received by March 14, 2025 will be granted full review.

Macalester College is a highly selective, private liberal arts college in the vibrant Minneapolis-Saint Paul metropolitan area, with a population of approximately three million people and home to numerous colleges and universities, including the University of Minnesota. Macalester College is located in Saint Paul on the ancestral homeland of the Dakota people who were forcibly exiled because of aggressive and persistent settler colonialism. Macalester's diverse student body comprises over 2000 undergraduates from all 50 states and the District of Columbia and 95 nations. The College maintains a longstanding commitment to academic excellence with a special emphasis on internationalism, multiculturalism, and service to society. As an Equal Opportunity employer supportive of affirmative efforts to achieve diversity among its faculty, Macalester College strongly encourages applications from women and members of underrepresented minority groups. Please note that offers of employment are contingent upon a successful criminal background check at the time of offer. Application Materials Required: Submit the following items online at this website to complete your application:

- Cover letter
- Curriculum Vitae
- Evidence of Effective Teaching
- Up to three reference letters (to be submitted online by the reference writers on this site) Further Info: <https://www.macalester.edu/politicalscience/>

Michael Zis <ztis@macalester.edu>
 651-696-6290
 Macalester College
 1600 Grand Avenue
 Saint Paul, Minnesota 55105
 Start Date: Fall 2025
 Application Deadline: 3/14/2025
 Date Posted: 1/26/2024
 Salary: $60,000-$65,000 eJobs ID: 13134

Start Date: Fall 2026
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 2/11/2025
Salary: $60,000 - $69,999
eJobs ID: 15418

Presbyterian College

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor of Political Science (Pre-Law and Judicial Politics)

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, American Government and Politics, Public Law

Specializations: Constitutional Law & Theory, Criminal Justice, Judicial Politics

The Department of Political Science at Presbyterian College invites applications for a two-year visiting assistant professor / instructor position (with the possibility of renewal) in the field of U.S. politics and to serve as the College's Director of Pre-law Studies with a start date of August 15, 2025. Review of applications will begin on Monday, March 17, 2025 and continue until the position is filled.

Responsibilities for this position include teaching an introductory course in U.S. government and various courses for the Pre-law Studies minor. Successful candidates will also direct the College's established pre-law program and serve as advisor to Pre-law Studies minors. The ideal candidate will also be able to teach courses outside of pre-law studies or judicial politics, including contributing other classes to the major and in inter-disciplinary areas. Successful applicants must display a strong enthusiasm for teaching and a commitment to both service and scholarship. Ph.D. preferred, but ABD will be considered at the rank of instructor versus assistant professor.

Submission of application materials by electronic mail is strongly encouraged. Interested individuals should provide, at a minimum, a letter stating interest in the position, a curriculum vitae, transcripts from undergraduate and graduate institutions, and three letters of recommendation. Materials should be sent to Dr. Erin McAdams at provost@presby.edu. For specific questions regarding the position, please contact Dr. David Liu, chair of the Political Science department, directly at zliu@presby.edu.

Presbyterian College (PC) is a liberal arts college affiliated with the Presbyterian Church USA. The college is committed to an equitable and inclusive learning environment for all students, supports academic freedom, and encourages community involvement. Located in Clinton, South Carolina, PC is approximately 40 minutes from Greenville and Spartanburg, South Carolina and about one hour from Columbia, South Carolina. The region offers abundant opportunity for social and recreational activities, with easy access to Asheville and Charlotte, North Carolina, and Atlanta, Georgia.

The Department of Political Science is one of the largest in terms of students on campus, and it typically graduates between fifteen and twenty students each year. The department has five current faculty members, and the teaching load is seven courses per academic year (4:3). For more information about the position, the Department of Political Science, or Presbyterian College, please see our web site at www.presby.edu.

Presbyterian College is an EEO employer and does not discriminate against any person or group on the basis of age, color, disability, gender, pregnancy, national origin, race, religion, sexual orientation, veteran status or genetic information. PC is building a culturally diverse faculty and staff committed to working in a multicultural environment and encourages applications from minorities and women.

Start Date: Fall 2025
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 2/10/2025
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 15413

University of Cincinnati

Rank: Assistant Professor in American Politics

Assistant Professor, American Politics, College of Arts and Sciences

Current UC employees must apply internally via SuccessFactors & <http://bit.ly/UCEMPL>

Founded in 1819, the University of Cincinnati ranks among the nation's best urban public research universities. Home to more than 50,000 students, 11,000 faculty and staff and 340,000 alumni, UC combines a Top 35 public research university with a physical setting The New York Times calls "the most ambitious campus design program in the country."

With the launch of Next Lives Here, the Cincinnati Innovation District, a $100 million JobsOhio investment, nine straight years of record enrollment, worldwide leadership in cooperative education, a dynamic academic health center and entry into the Big 12 Conference, UC's momentum has never been stronger. UC's annual budget tops $1.65 billion and its endowment totals $1.8 billion. The University's overall regional economic impact exceeds $10.6 billion, paving the way for the future of Cincinnati.

Job Overview

The School of Public and International Affairs (SPIA) at the University of Cincinnati invites applications for a full-time Assistant Professor in American Politics. The subfield is open, but candidates should specialize in empirical approaches to American politics. The appointment is intended to begin August 15, 2025.

SPIA offers an MPA, MA and PhD in Political Science as well as three undergraduate BAs (Political Science, International Affairs, and Law and Society). SPIA also houses three research centers—the Portman Center for Policy Solutions, the Center for Truth, Racial Healing and Transformation (CTRHT) and the Center for Cyber Strategy and Policy (CCSP).

The University of Cincinnati is an urban, public, comprehensive Research I institution committed to attracting, supporting, and retaining an academically and culturally diverse faculty.

Essential Functions
 The successful candidate will:

- Teach undergraduate courses in American politics, including at least one course per year on American institutions. May also teach occasional graduate course in American politics within our MA-PhD program. The course load for the position is 2-2 (two courses per 2 semesters).
- Maintain an active research agenda and academic engagement leading to scholarly publications in American Politics (sub-field specialization is open).
- Support School governance through unit-level, college, and/or university committee service and student advising. Engagement with the wider university community, external partners, and/or national and international professional organizations, including through peer review, is also expected as professional service.

Minimum Requirements

Prior to effective date of the appointment, PhD in Political Science or a related field.

Application Process

Interested and qualified applicants must complete our on-line application. In addition to the basic online application, please provide:

- a cover letter indicating fit with the job description and SPIA programs outlined above;
- full and current CV;
- three names of references (letters of reference will be required of short-listed finalists);
- a one-page statement addressing the candidate's intended contributions to the University's goals of building a team culture through teaching, research, and service.

Please use the 'additional documents' feature to include all these required items. Review of applications will begin March 1, 2025 with applications accepted until the position is filled. Apply at: <https://jobs.uc.edu/job/Cincinnati-Assistant-Professor%2C-American-Politics%2C-College-of-Arts-and-Sciences-OH-45201/1260024000/>

Questions should be directed to Professor David Niven, Search Chair at: David.Niven@uc.edu

Compensation and Benefits

UC offers a wide array of complementary and affordable benefit options, to meet the financial, educational, health, and wellness needs of you and your family. Eligibility varies by position and FTE.

- Competitive salary range dependent on the candidate's experience.
- Comprehensive insurance plans including medical, dental, vision, and prescription coverage.
- Flexible spending accounts and an award-winning employee wellness program, plus an employee assistance program.
- Financial security via our life and long-term disability insurance, accident and illness insurance, and retirement savings plans.
- Generous paid time off work options including vacation, sick leave, annual holidays, and winter season days in addition to paid parental leave.
- Tuition remission is available for employees and their eligible dependents.
- Enjoy discounts for on and off-campus activities and services.

As a UC employee, and an employee of an Ohio public institution, if hired you will not contribute to the federal Social Security system, other than contributions to Medicare. Instead, UC employees have the option to contribute to a state retirement plan (OPERS, STRS) or an alternative retirement plan (ARP).

To learn more about why UC is a great place to work, please visit our careers page at <https://www.uc.edu/careers.html>.

FOR ALL FACULTY HIRES OFFICIAL ACADEMIC TRANSCRIPTS WILL BE REQUIRED AT THE TIME OF HIRE

For questions about the UC recruiting process or to request accommodations with the application, please contact Human Resources at jobs@uc.edu.

The University of Cincinnati is an Equal Opportunity Employer.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 2/10/2025

Salary: $70,000 - $79,999

eJobs ID: 15409

Western Carolina University

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor - American Government & Politics

The Department of Political Science and Public Affairs at Western Carolina University is searching for a visiting assistant professor with a specialization in American politics (subfield open) to join our growing and accomplished faculty.

This is a fixed-term nine-month position with the potential for summer teaching. The anticipated start date is August 2025. The successful candidate will contribute to the Political Science program by teaching six courses per academic year on our Cullowhee, NC campus, including sections of our "Introduction to American Government" course, a core course for our Political Science major and a key component in the University's general education program. Upper-level courses within the candidate's specialization may also be part of the teaching load.

Minimum qualifications include candidates that are advanced ABD with a minimum of 18 graduate credit hours in Political Science from an accredited university.

Preferred qualifications include a PhD in Political Science from an accredited institution, prior teaching experience at the university level, and a promising research agenda in American government or politics.

Candidates will apply online: <https://jobs.wcu.edu/postings/29969>

The search committee will begin reviewing applications on or about March 5, 2025.

Start Date: Fall

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 2/7/2025

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 15406

Massachusetts Institute of Technology

Rank: Research Scientist

RESEARCH SCIENTIST 2, Political Science - MIT Election Data and Science Lab (MEDSL), to oversee the data science workflow of the lab's election-related data collection, processing, and dissemination efforts including assisting the director with designing and implementing research projects, gathering and analyzing data, designing research protocols, and documenting results; managing data science and quality control for the 2024 release of the Elections Performance Index (EPI); acquiring data from government sources and designing protocols to update indicators not provided by government sources; assisting with redistricting data collection/dissemination efforts; working with web designers to update EPI website and creating original content for MEDSL website; onboarding and monitoring the work of students/research support associates; tracking scholarship in the field of election science; and performing other data science/administrative/reporting duties as assigned. MEDSL aims to improve the democratic experience for all U.S. voters by applying scientific principles to how elections are studied and administered.

Job Requirements

REQUIRED: Master's degree in data science, political science, or related area; experience analyzing data independently using statistical programs such as R Python, and Stata; excellent written and oral communication skills; flexibility; initiative; and ability to work as part of a team and as an independent researcher. PREFERRED: Research experience in voting, elections, election administration, redistricting, campaign finance, or similar subjects; demonstrated portfolio in data science and/or original computationally-intensive quantitative social science; candidates for and recent Ph.D. recipients in political science, economics, or related field with strong data science concentration; and knowledge of web design and architecture. Those with at least three years' field experience in elections and voting research and significant data science experience will also be considered. Job #24804

Salary Range: 85k - 100k.

Apply at: https://careers.peopleclick.com/careerscp/client_mit/external/jobDetails/jobDetail.html?jobPostId=31827&localeCode=en-ushttps://careers.peopleclick.com/careerscp/client_mit/external/jobDetails/jobDetail.html?jobPostId=31827&localeCode=en-us

Start Date: Summer 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 2/6/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15400

University of Nevada, Las Vegas

Rank: Assistant Professor-in-Residence, Public Law, Department of Political Science

https://nshe.wd1.myworkdayjobs.com/en-US/UNLV-External/job/UNLV1-Main-Campus-Las-Vegas/Assistant-Professor-in-Residence--Public-Law--Department-of-Political-Science--R0146179-_R0146179

The Department of Political Science at the University of Nevada, Las Vegas, invites applications from well-qualified individuals for an Assistant Professor-in-Residence of Public Law starting in the fall semester of 2025. At UNLV, faculty-in-residence are full-time, non-tenure-track, instruction-intensive faculty members with a promotional track from Assistant Professor-in-Residence, to Associate Professor-in-Residence, to Professor-in-Residence. Faculty-in-Residence in the Department of Political Science participate in departmental meetings and committees, and they contribute to departmental deliberation and decision making on most matters. Job responsibilities include teaching twelve credits in each of the fall and spring semesters, which may include a mixture of in-person and online classes. In addition to teaching introductory courses in American politics, the successful candidate will be expected to teach undergraduate courses in the American judicial process and various topics in constitutional law from a social science perspective. Other responsibilities include mentoring undergraduate students and providing appropriate levels of service at the department, college, and university levels. The department is interested in candidates whose professional experience has prepared them to contribute to our commitment to diversity and inclusion in higher education.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 2/5/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15398

California State University, Northridge

Rank: Part Time Lecturer

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, Public Policy

Specializations: American Politics, United States, United States

Announcement of Anticipated Part-Time Faculty Openings

Department: Political Science

Effective Date of Appointment: Academic Year 2025-2026

CSUN's Commitment to You:

CSUN is committed to achieving excellence through teaching, scholarship, learning and inclusion. Our values include a respect for all people, building partnerships with the community and the encouragement of innovation, experimentation and creativity. CSUN strives to cultivate a community in which a diverse population can learn and work in an atmosphere of civility and respect. CSUN is especially interested in candidates who make contributions to equity and inclusion in the pursuit of excellence for all members of the university community.

As a Hispanic-serving Institution (HSI), inclusiveness and diversity are integral to CSUN's commitment to excellence in teaching, research, and engagement. As of Fall 2024, CSUN enrolls 36,848 students, where 56.3% are Latinx, 18.9% are White, 8.7% are Asian-American, 5.3% are Black/African American, 0.1% are Native American, and 0.1% are Native Hawaiian or Pacific Islander.

For more information about the University, visit our website at: <http://www.csun.edu>

About the College:

For information about the College, visit our website at: <https://www.csun.edu/social-behavioral-sciences>

About the Department:

For information about the department, visit our website at: <https://www.csun.edu/social-behavioral-sciences/political-science>

ANTICIPATED NEEDS:

Instructors for in-person Washington, D.C.-based classes in support of the CSUN in DC Internship Program. Specific classes are listed below.

Note: All part-time faculty appointments are temporary and do not confer academic rank. Final determination of part-time teaching assignments is contingent upon student enrollment figures and funding.

Current Salary Range:
 Fractional Amount of Base Salary (($5507- $6221)
 Paid in 6 monthly installments

Courses or Specialization:

Upper division courses in:

1. POLS 494IB. Social Science Career Internship
2. POLS 494I/A. Political Science Internship
3. POLS 449DC. DC Politics, Culture, and History
4. POLS 449PR. Professional Development in DC

Qualifications:

Applicants must have Ph.D. in Political Science or a closely related field in hand or must be in the advanced stages of Ph.D. candidacy or must have at least 10 years of professional experience working in government, politics, non-profit management, or advocacy. Applicants who are in the advanced stages of Ph.D. candidacy must have passed the comprehensive examination for the Ph.D. in their field. University teaching experience is strongly preferred.

A demonstrated ability and commitment to teach, mentor and work with a diverse student population.

Application Process:

Applicants must submit a current resume, a cover letter, a sample syllabus, evidence of teaching effectiveness and the attached checklist indicating which course(s) they are interested in teaching to the address in the section below. The resume should include educational background, prior teaching experience, evidence of scholarship, and/or related professional experience. In later phases of the search process, applicants may be requested to provide verification of terminal degrees, licenses and certificates.

Application Deadline:

For AY 2025 - 2026: March 24, 2025

(Checklist)PLEASE INDICATE COURSES YOU ARE INTERESTED IN TEACHING:

- ☐ POLS 494IB. Social Science Career Internship
☐ POLS 494I/A. Political Science Internship
☐ POLS 449DC. DC Politics, Culture, and History
☐ POLS 449PR. Professional Development in DC

Inquiries and applications should be emailed to: keiko.hirata@csun.edu and copied to sue.talavera@csun.edu.

With a subject line of "Lecturer application 2025-2026".

Dr. Keiko Hirata, Chair & Eugene Price Professor
 Department of Political Science
 California State University, Northridge
 18111 Nordhoff Street
 Northridge, CA 91330-8254

General Information:

In compliance with the Annual Security Report & Fire Safety Report of Campus Security Policy and Campus Crime Statistics Act, California State University, Northridge has made crime-reporting statistics available on-line here. Print copies are available by request from the Department of Police Services, the Office for Faculty Affairs, and the Office of Equity and Diversity.

The person holding this position may be considered a 'mandated reporter' under the California Child Abuse and Neglect Reporting Act and is required to comply with the requirements set forth in CSU Executive Order 1083 as a condition of employment.

A background check (including a criminal records check) must be completed satisfactorily before any candidate can be offered a position with the CSU. Failure to satisfactorily complete the background check may affect the application status of applicants or continued employment of current CSU employees who apply for the position.

CSUN is an Equal Opportunity Employer and prohibits discrimination based on race, color, ethnicity, religion, national origin, age, gender, gender identity/expression, sexual orientation, genetic information, medical condition, marital status, veteran status, and disability. Our nondiscrimination policy is set forth in Interim CSU Nondiscrimination Policy. Reasonable accommodations will be provided for applicants with disabilities who self-disclose by contacting Political Science at 818-677- 3488.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 3/24/2025

Date Posted: 2/4/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15395

California State University, Northridge

Rank: Part Time Lecturer

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Political Theory, Public Policy

Specializations: American Politics, Congress, Constitutional Law & Theory

Department: Political Science Effective Date of Appointment: Academic Year 2025-2026

CSUN's Commitment to You:

CSUN is committed to achieving excellence through teaching, scholarship, learning and inclusion. Our values include a respect for all people, building partnerships with the community and the encouragement of innovation, experimentation and creativity. CSUN strives to cultivate a community in which a diverse population can learn and work in an atmosphere of civility and respect. CSUN is especially interested in candidates who make contributions to equity and inclusion in the pursuit of excellence for all members of the university community.

As a Hispanic-serving Institution (HSI), inclusiveness and diversity are integral to CSUN's commitment to excellence in teaching, research, and engagement. As of Fall 2024, CSUN enrolls 36,848 students, where 56.3% are Latinx, 18.9% are White, 8.7% are Asian-American, 5.3% are Black/African American, 0.1% are Native American, and 0.1% are Native Hawaiian or Pacific Islander.

For more information about the University, visit our website at: <http://www.csun.edu>

About the College:

For information about the College, visit our website at: <https://www.csun.edu/social-behavioral-sciences>

About the Department:

For information about the department, visit our website at: <https://www.csun.edu/social-behavioral-sciences/political-science>

ANTICIPATED NEEDS:

Note: All part-time faculty appointments are temporary and do not confer academic rank. Final determination of part-time teaching assignments is contingent upon student enrollment figures and funding. In addition to teaching, the position requires weekly office hours and participation in assessment of student learning, and university. The successful candidate will be held to the standards and requirements of the college and department in which he/she/they is/are employed. Given CSUN's commitment to excellence in teaching, research, and engagement in a diverse environment, the successful candidate will help the Department achieve equitable academic outcomes for all students through teaching, student mentorship, and scholarship.

Qualifications:

1) With the exception of POLS 347, 450, 455, 457A, 457B and 471F, applicants must hold a Ph.D. in Political Science or a closely related field in hand or must be in the advanced stages of Ph.D. candidacy. Applicants who are in the advanced stages of Ph.D. candidacy must have passed the comprehensive examination for the Ph.D. in Political Science or closely related field in the field of American Government, Comparative Politics, International Relations, Public Policy, Political Theory, or Research Methodology, depending on the course for which the applicant is applying to teach.

2) For POLS 347, 450, 455, 457A, 457B, and 471F, a JD may be substituted for the Ph.D.

3) University teaching experience in the fields of American Politics, International Relations, Comparative Politics, Public Policy or Research Methodology, depending on the course for which the applicant is applying to teach.

4) A demonstrated ability and commitment to teach, mentor and work with a diverse student population.

Salary Range

Fractional Amount of Base Salary ($5507 - $6221)

Paid in 6 monthly installments

Current Courses or Specialization

(Specify time if appropriate)

Lower division courses in:

- (1) POLS155. American Political Institutions
- (2) POLS156. Introduction to Comparative Politics
- (3) POLS 197. Ethnic Politics
- (4) POLS 225. Elements of International Relations

Upper division courses in:

- (1) POLS 310. Problems of Political Economy
- (2) POLS 321. Comparative Political Ideologies
- (3) POLS 332. Politics of Latin America
- (4) POLS 347. The Judicial Process
- (5) POLS 350. Great Questions in Politics
- (6) POLS 355. American National, State and Local Governments
- (7) POLS 360. Public Administration
- (8) POLS 361. Introduction to Public Policy
- (9) POLS 372. Principles and Methods of Political Science
- (10) POLS 380. LA: Past, Present, Future

- (11) POLS 403. State and Local Government
- (12) POLS 404. Urban Politics
- (13) POLS 405. The Process of Public Policy Formation
- (14) POLS 406. Fundamentals of Policy Analysis
- (15) POLS 407. Policy Implementation and Program Evaluation
- (16) POLS 410. Advanced Comparative Politics
- (17) POLS 411. Greek, Roman, and Medieval Political Theory
- (18) POLS 412. Modern Western Political Theory
- (19) POLS 413. American Political Thought
- (20) POLS 414. Western Political Theory in the 20th Century
- (21) POLS 420A-H. International Relations of Selected Areas
 - (A) Latin America
 - (B) Western Europe
 - (C) Eastern Europe
 - (D) Middle East
 - (E) Africa
 - (F) South Asia
 - (G) Southeast Asia
 - (H) Northeast Asia
- (22) POLS 421. The Politics of Development
- (23) POLS 422. International Politics
- (24) POLS 423. Security Studies
- (25) POLS 426. International Law
- (26) POLS 427A/L. Model United Nations I and Lab
- (27) POLS 428. International Organization
- (28) POLS 429. United States Foreign Policy
- (29) POLS 432A. Politics of Mexico
- (30) POLS 432B. Governments and Politics of South America
- (31) POLS 433A. The Politics of Central America
- (32) POLS 434A. Government and Politics of South Asia
- (33) POLS 434B. Government and Politics of Southeast Asia
- (34) POLS 435A. Government and Politics of China
- (35) POLS 435B. Government and Politics of Japan
- (36) POLS 436A. Government and Politics of Europe
- (37) POLS 438. Governments and Politics of the Middle East
- (38) POLS 439A. Government and Politics of Sub-Saharan Africa
- (39) POLS 439B. Government and Politics of Southern Africa
- (40) POLS 440. American Political Parties and Politics
- (41) POLS 441. Interest Groups
- (42) POLS 441A. Latina/o Politics
- (43) POLS 443. Congress and the Legislative Process
- (44) POLS 444. Elections and Voting Behavior
- (45) POLS 445. Political Behavior
- (46) POLS 446. The Presidency
- (47) POLS 447A. Media & Politics
- (48) POLS 448. Women & Politics in the US & the World
- (49) POLS 449. The Politics of Community Action
- (50) POLS 450. Jurisprudence
- (51) POLS 455. Criminal Procedures
- (52) POLS 457A. Constitutional Law
- (53) POLS 457B. Constitutional Law II
- (54) POLS 460. Welfare State
- (55) POLS 461. Environmental Policy
- (56) POLS 462. Ethics in Politics and Administration
- (57) POLS 463. Public Personnel Administration
- (58) POLS 464. Comparative Public Policy
- (59) POLS 465. Administrative Behavior
- (60) POLS 466. The Politics of Public Spending
- (61) POLS 467. Urban Admin
- (62) POLS 469/L. City Planning and Lab
- (63) POLS 470 I/M The Politics of International Migration

- (64) POLS 471A-F. Proseminar
 - (A) American Government
 - (B) Comparative Government
 - (C) International Relations
 - (D) Political Theory
 - (E) Public Administration and Policy
 - (F) Public Law
- (65) POLS 480. The Politics of Globalization
- (66) POLS 481. Globalization, Gender and Democratization
- (67) POLS 490CA. Supervised Independent Project-California Government
- (68) POLS 494I. Political Science Internship
- (69) POLS 494J. Judicial Internship
- (70) POLS 496M. The Politics of Climate Change

Graduate

- (71) POLS 522A-G. Seminar in International Relations
- (72) POLS 530A-J. Seminar in Comparative Government
- (73) POLS 540A-J. Seminar in American Government and Politics
- (74) POLS 570. Seminar in Political Theory
- (75) POLS 571. Seminar in Methodology.

Application Process:

Applicants must submit a current resume, a cover letter, a sample syllabus, evidence of teaching effectiveness and the attached checklist indicating which course(s) they are interested in teaching to the address in the section below. The resume should include educational background, prior teaching experience, evidence of scholarship, and/or related professional experience. In later phases of the search process, applicants may be requested to provide verification of terminal degrees, licenses and certificates.

Application Deadline:

For AY 2025 – 2026: March 24, 2025

Inquiries and applications should be emailed to keiko.hirata@csun.edu and copied to sue.talavera@csun.edu.

With a subject line of "Lecturer application 2025-2026".

Dr. Keiko Hirata, Chair & Eugene Price Professor
 Department of Political Science
 California State University, Northridge
 18111 Nordhoff Street
 Northridge, CA 91330-8254

(Checklist) PLEASE INDICATE COURSES YOU ARE INTERESTED IN TEACHING:

- 155 American Political Institutions
- 156 Introduction to Comparative Politics
- 197 Ethnic Politics
- 225 Elements of International Relations
- 310 Problems of Political Economy
- 321 Comparative Political Ideologies
- 332 Politics of Latin America
- 347 The Judicial Process
- 350 Great Questions in Politics
- 355 American National, State and Local Govts
- 360 Public Administration
- 361 Introduction to Public Policy
- 372 Principles and Methods of Political Science

- 380 Los Angeles: Past, Present, Future
- 403 State and Local Government
- 404 Urban Politics
- 405 The Process of Public Policy Formation
- 406 Fundamentals of Policy Analysis
- 407 Policy Implementation and Program Evaluation
- 410 Advanced Comparative Politics
- 411 Greek, Roman and Medieval Political Theory
- 412 Modern Western Political Theory
- 413 American Political Thought
- 414 Western Political Theory in the 20th Century
- 420A-H International Relations of Selected Areas
 - (A) International Relations Latin America
 - (B) International Relations Western Europe
 - (C) International Relations Eastern Europe
 - (D) International Relations Middle East
 - (E) International Relations Africa
 - (F) International Relations South Asia
 - (G) International Relations Southeast Asia
 - (H) International Relations Northeast Asia
- 421 The Politics of Development
- 422 International Politics
- 423 Security Studies
- 426 International Law
- 427A/L Model United Nations I and Lab
- 428 International Organization
- 429 United States Foreign Policy
- 432A Politics of Mexico
- 432B Governments and Politics of South America
- 433A The Politics of Central America
- 434A Government and Politics of South Asia
- 434B Government and Politics of Southeast Asia
- 435A Government and Politics of China
- 435B Government and Politics of Japan
- 436A Government and Politics of Europe
- 438 Governments and Politics of the Middle East
- 439A Government and Politics of Sub-Saharan Africa
- 439B Government and Politics of Southern Africa
- 440 American Political Parties and Politics
- 441 Interest Groups
- 441A Latino/a Politics
- 443 The Legislative Process
- 444 Elections and Voting Behavior
- 445 Political Behavior
- 446 The Presidency
- 447A Media and Politics
- 448 Women & Politics in the US and the World
- 449 The Politics of Community Action
- 450 Jurisprudence
- 455 Criminal Procedure
- 457A Constitutional Law I
- 457B Constitutional Law II
- 460 Welfare State
- 461 Environmental Policy
- 462 Ethics in Politics and Administration
- 463 Public Personnel Administration
- 464 Comparative Public Policy
- 465 Administrative Behavior
- 466 The Politics of Public Spending
- 467 Urban Administration
- 469/L City Planning and Lab

470 I/M The Politics of International Migration
 471A-F Proseminar
 (A) Proseminar American Government
 (B) Proseminar Comparative Government
 (C) Proseminar International Relations
 (D) Proseminar Political Theory
 (E) Proseminar Public Admin & Public Policy
 (F) Proseminar Public Law
 480 The Politics of Globalization
 481 Globalization, Gender and Democratization
 490CA Supervised Independent Project-CA Gov't
 494I Political Science Internship
 494J Judicial Internship
 496M The Politics of Climate Change
 522A-G Seminar in International Relations
 530A-J Seminar in Comparative Government
 540A-J Seminar in American Govt and Politics
 570 Seminar in Political Theory
 571 Seminar in Methodology

General Information:

In compliance with the Annual Security Report & Fire Safety Report of Campus Security Policy and Campus Crime Statistics Act, California State University, Northridge has made crime-reporting statistics available on-line here. Print copies are available by request from the Department of Police Services, the Office for Faculty Affairs, and the Office of Equity and Diversity.

The person holding this position may be considered a 'mandated reporter' under the California Child Abuse and Neglect Reporting Act and is required to comply with the requirements set forth in CSU Executive Order 1083 as a condition of employment.

A background check (including a criminal records check) must be completed satisfactorily. Failure to satisfactorily complete the background check may affect the status of applicants. Please note that working in the state of California is a condition of employment.

CSUN is an Equal Opportunity Employer and prohibits discrimination based on race, color, ethnicity, religion, national origin, age, gender, gender identity/expression, sexual orientation, genetic information, medical condition, marital status, veteran status, and disability. Our nondiscrimination policy is set forth in Interim CSU Nondiscrimination Policy. Reasonable accommodations will be provided for applicants with disabilities who self-disclose by contacting Political Science at 818-677- 3488.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 3/24/2025

Date Posted: 2/4/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15396

William Paterson University

Rank: Predoctoral Fellow of Urban Planning and Policy

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Public Administration, American Government and Politics

William Paterson University
 Division of Academic Affairs
 College of Arts, Humanities and Social Sciences

Department of Political Science, Legal Studies, and Urban Studies
 Wayne, New Jersey
 Predoctoral Fellow of Urban Planning and Policy

William Paterson University seeks applications from outstanding candidates for a Predoctoral Fellow of Urban Planning and Policy in the Department of Political Science, Legal Studies, and Urban Studies within the College of Arts, Humanities and Social Sciences.

Applications from all areas of political science, policy and planning will be considered but research or teaching experience in areas such as urban planning and policy, public management, emergency/disaster management, environmental policy and planning, environmental sustainability, urban design, are preferred. Experience in the use of geographic information systems (GIS) in teaching and/or research, is a plus

As a public university serving a highly diverse student population and holding federal standing as a Hispanic Serving Institution (HSI) and Minority Serving Institution (MSI), William Paterson University seeks to intentionally support the mentoring and development of its diverse faculty, particularly faculty from underrepresented backgrounds.

The Fellow will be appointed for up to two academic years in a non-tenure-track teaching position (NTTP) under New Jersey's statewide contract, with full benefits and a competitive salary. Appointment to the second year is contingent upon a successful mid-year review in the first year. Fellows will teach a 3/3 load during the time of their appointments in a planned and supported period of growth in the role of full-time faculty member.

The University will provide the Fellow a structured program of focused mentorship, pedagogical support, and an introduction to university and professional service. This pre-doctoral fellowship program will be supporting three Fellows across the University. The goals of the program are (a) to support the career success of selected candidates, (b) to advance the University's commitment to building a diverse campus community, and (c) to expand the University's pool of highly qualified candidates for faculty positions.

Following the first year of the fellowship and upon successful completion of the requirements of the doctoral degree, by mutual agreement between the department and the Fellow the department may request conversion of the fellowship to a tenure-track line, contingent on demonstrated need.

The start date of this fellowship is fall 2025.

Department Overview:

The Department of Political Science, Legal Studies, and Urban Studies offers a variety of programs at the undergraduate and graduate levels that help students build successful careers at the city, county, state, and federal levels, as well as in the private and non-profit sectors. The department offers a BA in Political Science, BA in Legal Studies, and an accelerated 5-year BA/MPP in Political Science and Public Policy. It also offers minors in Forensic Studies, Political Science, Legal Studies, and Public Policy. Most WP undergraduate students are employed in related fields or accepted into a graduate program within six months of completion of their degree.

For more information about the department, please visit the website:

<https://www.wpunj.edu/cohss/departments/political-science-legal-and-urban-studies/index.html>

Timeline for the fall 2025 fellowship cohort:

- Friday, February 14, 2025: Applications due for priority consideration.
- Thursday-Friday, April 10-11, 2025: Virtual campus visit and interviews. Details to follow.

Fellowship offers are anticipated by the beginning of May with appointments beginning August 2025.

Fellowship Requirements include:

Teaching:

- Teach a total of 18 graduate and/or undergraduate credits annually in online, hybrid or face-to-face modalities per departmental needs; Collaborate with faculty through tailored mentorship.
- Using approved course outline as a guide, develop relevant syllabi in order to deploy course content, objectives, and methods of student assessment.
- Contribute to student success of a diverse student population by providing consistent and effective support and guidance through role modeling, mentoring, and being available to respond to student questions and needs.

Scholarship:

- A strong commitment to establishing a research program involving undergraduates and graduate students.
- A continued dedication to be involved in research and scholarship and to disseminate these in quality research publications, external and internal grant submissions; Collaborate with faculty through tailored mentorship.

Service:

- Participate in the variety of service opportunities within the department, college, and university community including mentoring students where appropriate.
- Engage in assessment of student learning as well as program and accreditation assessment and reporting requirements.
- Attend department and college meetings and engage in activities of the department.

Required Qualifications:

- Identifies as a member of an underrepresented population in one or more of the following ways—race, ethnicity, gender, socio-economic background, first-generation college, etc.
- ABD from an accredited college or university, with an emphasis in urban planning and policy, public management, environmental policy and planning, urban design, or closely related field.
- Strong commitment to teaching.
- Evidence or promise of research capacity and a planned agenda of achievement in scholarly productivity.
- Demonstrates an understanding of diversity, equity and inclusion concepts and their applicability to the field of teaching and learning.
- Commitment to advancing the mission, vision, and values of the University.

Preferred qualifications:

- Demonstrated ability to succeed in a collaborative environment by freely offering expertise and being open to meaningful feedback and ongoing professional development.

- Evidence of teaching excellence and supporting student success.
- Capable of engaging and contributing in order to make a positive impact.
- Ability to navigate the complexities of a multi-faceted organization with competing wants and needs.

Invitation to apply:

Please click https://wpunj.wd1.myworkdayjobs.com/ext/job/William-Paterson-University/Predoctoral-Fellow_R651 to view the description and apply for the position. Interested candidates will be prompted to submit a letter of application addressing teaching interests and philosophy and curriculum vitae.

About William Paterson:

We invite you to join William Paterson University: a wonderful community to learn, work, grow, and thrive. William Paterson University has been named to Forbes' prestigious "Best Employers by State" list for 2024, recognizing the institution as one of the best-ranked employers in New Jersey based on nationwide surveys. WP is one of four education institutions on the Garden State's list this year (<https://www.forbes.com/lists/best-employers-by-state/>). William Paterson University is among more than 40 companies and organizations that will be honored with a 2024 NJBIZ Empowering Women Award for their commitment to supporting and elevating women employees.

William Paterson University employs approximately 1000 full time employees. Located on 400 wooded acres in suburban Wayne, New Jersey – just 20 miles from New York City – our campus is one of the most diverse in the nation and ranks in the top 4 percent of colleges for social mobility. Your work as a member of our team is important to our students and to the progress of our University. What you do here matters, and we value every contribution.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 2/14/2025

Date Posted: 1/22/2025

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 15359

University of Chicago

Rank: Post-doctoral Position in Political Science at the University of Chicago

Postdoctoral Researcher Position at the University of Chicago:

<https://democracy.uchicago.edu/>

The Chicago Center on Democracy at the University of Chicago is now accepting applications for a postdoctoral scholar to work on issues of democratic engagement in transnational settings, with a focus on Latin America. This 14-month grant-funded position will support the international project "Global Governance, Trust and Democratic Engagement in Past and Present" (GLO), working under the guidance of Professor Susan Stokes at the University of Chicago, as part of an international team with collaborators from Canada, Switzerland, and the United Kingdom.

Drawing on insights from history, international relations, political science and sociology, GLO pursues two major lines of inquiry. First, it examines campaigns that sought to create, reform, transform, or abolish international organizations. In doing so, it highlights the democratic potentials and shortcomings of international organizations, while tracing broader efforts to democratize international relations.

Second, the project investigates attempts by non-governmental organisations and social movements to enlist the support of international bodies, partly in response to the obstacles they encountered domestically.

This is an in-person position at the University of Chicago. The position description and application instructions can be found here: <https://democracy.uchicago.edu/files/2025/01/UChicago-global-governance-postdoc-posting-250113-1.pdf>

Applications are strongly preferred by February 2nd, 2025. Please reach out to democracy@uchicago.edu with any additional questions, and kindly share with anyone who might be interested.

Start Date: Spring 2025

Date Posted: 1/21/2025

Salary: $70,000 - $79,999

eJobs ID: 15356

Ohio State University

Rank: Post-Doctoral Scholar: AI & Politics

Subfield(s): Methodology, American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics

Post-Doctoral Scholar: AI & Politics

The Department of Political Science at The Ohio State University invites applications for a Post Doctoral Scholar position. Successful applicants will have research interests in the area of AI in Politics and Society. Based in Columbus, Ohio, the position will begin in the fall of 2025 for a one-year term. Preferred applicants will have the promise of a sustained and substantial body of work developing and utilizing data analytic and/or artificial intelligence tools for the analysis of socio-political questions. The position is open with respect to substantive focus or disciplinary subfield in Political Science.

This position is part of the investment of The Ohio State University Provost in the Department of Political Science in Socio-Political Analysis and AI: <https://polisci.osu.edu/good-to-great-proposal> Socio-Political Analysis and AI (SPAI)

Responsibilities include conducting research on advanced topics in the application of data analytics and AI to social scientific questions and engaging with interdisciplinary efforts focused on data analytics and/or AI, including relevant field seminars.

Minimum Education Required

Doctoral degree in a relevant field is required. ABDs are welcome to apply but must have PhD in hand prior to the start date of this position.

Required Qualifications

Must have the capacity to integrate methodological insights with substantive research demonstrated through a record of and/or a promise of scholarly excellence.

Desired

Preferred candidates will show a willingness to participate in interdisciplinary collaborative efforts and should demonstrate a commitment to building a diverse intellectual community, in line with <https://www.osu.edu/shared-values> Ohio State's Shared Values

Additional Information:

Candidates are asked to include the following with their application:

- Cover letter and CV as a single document
- Research Statement
- One or more writing sample as a single document
- Unofficial transcripts

Questions regarding this position can be directed to the search committee chair, Prof. Janet Box-Steffensmeier (box-steffensmeier.1@osu.edu and box-steffensmeier.1@osu.edu).

Applications should be submitted through our https://osu.wd1.myworkdayjobs.com/OSUCareers/job/Columbus-Campus/Post-Doctoral-Scholar---AI---Politics_R121216-1/applyonline portal for this position

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 2/14/2025

Date Posted: 1/16/2025

Salary: $70,000 - $79,999

eJobs ID: 15343

University of Central Arkansas

Rank: Assistant Professor

Specializations: Congress, Judicial Politics, Environmental Policy

The Department of Government, Public Service, & International Studies at the University of Central Arkansas invites applications for a tenure-track assistant professor position in American institutions and public policy. The position begins August 16, 2025. A Ph.D. in Political Science or Public Policy is preferred. ABDs will be considered. If the candidate does not have the Ph.D. in hand, he/she will be hired as an instructor until the degree is earned. Apply at <https://jobs.uca.edu>.

Teaching responsibilities include lower and upper-division courses in an undergraduate political science program. The successful candidate will teach introductory sections of U.S. government and politics and upper-division courses on Congress, judicial systems, and one or more areas of public policy, environmental policy in particular. Other responsibilities include scholarly research and publication in their areas of interest.

The successful candidate will possess excellent teaching skills and indicate the potential for scholarly research and publication. Skills considered essential for success include:

- Knowledge of the organization and administration of higher education.
- Knowledge of state, federal, and university rules, regulations and procedures.
- Ability to work in a diverse and dynamic environment.
- Ability to work collaboratively and independently with common goals as a part of a team.
- Ability to make sound judgments.
- Effective interpersonal communication, writing, and organizational abilities.
- Civility in all interactions.
- Demonstrate effective follow-up.

To apply, submit a letter of application, current vita, transcripts, three letters of recommendation, a scholarly writing sample, course syllabi, and teaching evaluations via UCA's online application system: <https://jobs.uca.edu>. Please use the "other documents" and "additional documents" to submit your course syllabi and teaching evaluations, respectively. To assure full review of your application, please submit the required materials by February 14, 2025.

Founded in 1907, UCA has an enrollment of more than 10,000, of which more than 15% are graduate students. The university offers more than 90 undergraduate and 60 graduate certificate and degree programs, including doctoral programs in five disciplines. The undergraduate student body consistently scores above the national average on the ACT exam. UCA is proud of its tradition of teaching excellence and its contributions in research, scholarship, and creative activities. UCA seeks to attract students and employees that are dedicated to building a culture of diversity, belonging, inclusion, and equity.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 1/8/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15326

Dickinson College

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor of Political Science

The Political Science Department at Dickinson College seeks applications for a full-time Visiting Assistant Professor of American Politics. A successful applicant will have research and teaching interests in either American national political institutions (e.g., presidency, Congress, the federal bureaucracy) or in American political behavior (e.g., public opinion, voting, media and politics). The ability to teach research methods in Political Science is a plus. This position is for one year with the possibility of renewal and carries a five-course (annual) teaching load.

The department expects the successful candidate to be a committed, collaborative, and imaginative scholar with a Ph.D. in hand by September 2025. Dickinson College is a highly selective four-year, independent liberal arts college with 2300 students. It is located 20 minutes west of Harrisburg and is a two-hour drive from Baltimore, Washington, D.C., and Philadelphia. Students, faculty, and staff often enjoy the food, art, entertainment, and cultural enrichment of these major hubs and/or New York City. The ability to create inclusive learning environments for an increasingly diverse student body will be an important characteristic of the successful candidate. Applicants may highlight their ongoing or anticipated contributions to promoting equity and inclusion in their materials. Interested candidates should apply for this position electronically via <https://jobs.dickinson.edu>.

Review of applications will begin February 1, 2025. Candidates should submit via QUEST (online application system) at <https://jobs.dickinson.edu>; please include a letter of application, a curriculum vitae, a graduate transcript, three letters of recommendation, statement of teaching philosophy, sample syllabi and teaching evaluations or other evidence of teaching effectiveness. Review of applications will begin at the start of February and will continue until the position is filled.

Please address questions to the department chair, J. Toby Reiner at: reinerj@dickinson.edu.

Dickinson College is committed to building a representative and diverse faculty, administrative staff, and student body. We strive to foster an inclusive community where members from all backgrounds can live, learn, and thrive together. Accordingly, we encourage applications from all qualified persons.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 12/12/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15284

George Washington University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

The Department of Political Science invites applications for a tenure track professor (Assistant Professor) in American Politics. The position will start in Fall 2025 and is pending final budgetary approval.

The successful candidate will be affiliated with GW's Institute for Data, Democracy and Politics, whose mission is to help society understand critical challenges that arise at the intersection of digital technology, media and democracy, in turn informing sound policy solutions through rigorous, evidence-based research that advances democratic values. The successful candidate will teach graduate and undergraduate courses and maintain an active, theoretically-oriented research agenda.

Applicants must have an active, theoretically-oriented research agenda as evidenced by working papers or publications, and be able to teach graduate and undergraduate courses as indicated by research presentations and/or teaching assessments. The Department requires applicants to have strong substantive and methodological training, as demonstrated by completed coursework. Applicants must hold a Ph.D. in Political Science or a related field. ABDs will be considered but must have completed all requirements for the Ph.D. by the date of appointment.

The salary range for this position is $100,000 to $120,000.

The successful applicant will be eligible for GW's employee benefits including medical, dental, and retirement. A full explanation of those benefits is available at <https://hr.gwu.edu/benefits>

To apply please complete an online faculty application at <https://www.gwu.jobs/postings/116106> and upload a cover letter, curriculum vitae, statement of teaching interest, statement of research interest, summaries of teaching evaluations (if available), and samples of written work. In addition, please instruct three academic references to send letters of recommendation directly to pscjobs_ap@gwu.edu. Review of applications will begin on January 2, 2025, and will continue until the position is filled. Only complete applications will be considered.

The university is an Equal Employment Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer that does not unlawfully discriminate in any of its programs or activities on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, national origin, age, disability, veteran status, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, or on any other basis prohibited by applicable law.

The university and department have a strong commitment to achieving diversity among faculty and staff. We strongly encourage women and persons of color to apply.

Employment offers are contingent on the satisfactory outcome of a standard background screening.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 1/2/2025

Date Posted: 11/27/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15251

Western Carolina University

Rank: Assistant Professor of American Government & Politics

The Department of Political Science and Public Affairs at Western Carolina University is excited to seek applications for a tenure-track position in American government and politics at the rank of Assistant Professor. The position will begin in August 2025.

The successful candidate will contribute in teaching, scholarship, and service to an accomplished and growing department. This is a nine-month position with the possibility of summer teaching. The successful candidate will hold a PhD in Political Science or related field from an accredited institution. Advanced ABD candidates will also be considered.

The successful candidate will teach three courses per semester (six per year) on our Cullowhee, N.C. campus, including sections of our Introduction to American Government course.

Candidates should show a promising research agenda within American government or politics, but the area of specialization is open. Preferred candidates will also have prior teaching experience at the university level and the ability and desire to teach undergraduate research methods.

Application materials must be submitted online (<https://jobs.wcu.edu/postings/29407>).

Review of applications will begin January 15, 2025 and will continue until a candidate has been selected for hire.

Please include the following:

cover letter

curriculum vitae

unofficial transcripts from highest degree earned* a list of three professional references with full contact information a statement of teaching philosophy

For questions please contact Dr. Chris Cooper, search committee chair, at ccooper@wcu.edu

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 11/20/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15224

Florida Gulf Coast University

Rank: Instructor I, American Politics

The Department of Political Science, Public Administration, and History at Florida Gulf Coast University invites applications for an Instructor (I) of Political Science with specialization in American Politics. The successful candidate will teach the state-mandated civic literacy course on American National Government and, based on qualification and need, other undergraduate courses; be involved in course and/or curriculum development; be active in professional development; maintain an active professional development agenda; participate on College and University committees and/or initiatives; and perform other duties as assigned.

The review process will start on January 15, 2025, and will continue until position is filled. Appointment will be based on a 9-month continuous multi-year contract starting in August 2025.

Florida Gulf Coast University is a comprehensive university dedicated to quality education, research, and service. All faculty are expected to be excellent teachers, responsive to changing professional needs; be committed to innovative delivery of instruction resulting in improved student learning; be committed to effective use of technology including distance learning, and provide service to the College, University and Community. Teaching assignments may be on the main campus or at off-campus sites within our region.

FGCU is a member of the State University System of Florida and an Affirmative Action and Equal Employment Opportunity and Access Employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, age, disability, sex, pregnancy, national origin, marital status, genetic predisposition, sexual orientation, gender identity/gender expression, veteran status, and any other protected class(es), as required by applicable state and federal law, as well as University regulations and policies.

For more information and to apply, please visit <https://www.fgcu.edu/jobs/>

(Job# R0005693 Instructor I, Political Science)

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 11/13/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15196

Western Carolina University

Rank: Director of African American Studies

Subfield(s): Open, American Government and Politics, Public Policy

Specializations: African American Politics, Social Movements, Urban Politics

Please go to our web page for the full advertisement: <https://jobs.wcu.edu/postings/29334>

Western Carolina University seeks a dynamic scholar at the assistant professor level in Global Black Studies (GBS) beginning in August 2025. The successful candidate will assume directorship of the program within one to three years of employment. This is a tenure track, nine-month position.

Program directors receive an administrative course release each semester. The successful candidate must demonstrate expertise centered in Black Studies and continue build the intellectual identity of the GBS program. The successful candidate must have a PhD in Black Studies or a related discipline with experience in Black Studies. The successful candidate must assure an exciting and collegial environment for faculty, students, and staff by fostering interdisciplinary campus, regional, and national collaboration and continue to shape the curriculum, mission, and community outreach of the program. The successful candidate must teach courses within the GBS program and within another department at WCU that is appropriate for their expertise.

The director's duties will include:

Teaching course(s) for student within and outside the minor that support the minor and other majors on campus and conducting research.

Continuing to develop curriculum appropriate for Global Black studies minor and facilitating the development of relevant courses across campus.

Convening a program board of faculty, students, and community members to guide the minor.

Encouraging students to participate in high impact practices related to the minor and engaging in Black Studies.
 Recruiting and advising students in the minor.
 Managing the program budget.
 Developing and implementing an assessment plan for the minor.
 Facilitating programming related to GBS, including on campus speakers.
 Serve as faculty advisor for the Global Black Studies Club.
 Other duties that may arise to support the program.

The director will collaborate with department heads, the deans, and work with a board of interested faculty, students, and community members who will aid in supporting, developing, and promoting programming.

Western Carolina University holds inclusive excellence as a core value, and we work together to foster a welcoming community, where all are respected and know they belong.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 11/8/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15172

University of Chicago

Rank: Senior Instructional Professor in CIR

Subfield(s): International Relations, American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics

Description

The Division of the Social Sciences at the University of Chicago invites applications for one or more positions as Senior Instructional Professor (SIP) in the Committee on International Relations (CIR). This is a full-time, career track teaching position. The initial will be between three and five years, depending on rank, and will begin in Academic Year 2024-5 and is renewable with opportunity for promotion. Appointments at the Assistant, Associate, and Full Senior Instructional Professor rank will be considered.

The University of Chicago's CIR is a one-year MA program that trains students in the theory and methods in the study international politics. CIR is a top 15 ranked Master's program, according to Foreign Policy magazine. Founded in 1928, it is the country's oldest MA program in International Relations. CIR's curriculum is organized around core courses in international security, international political economy, and global governance. Students also have access to a vast array of graduate courses offered by the faculty in all University of Chicago departments. Each MA student writes an original, research-intensive thesis. Overall, the program is characterized by a strong focus on academic research and intellectual collaboration across disciplines. The program trains MA students for research-oriented positions in academia, industry, government, consulting, and a variety of think tanks. Graduates have entered top Ph.D. programs and taken prestigious non-academic professional roles.

This is a leadership position. The appointee will also hold the title of Assistant or Associate Director of CIR.

The SIP will annually teach up to four courses. These may include 2-3 courses in the current CIR core curriculum (International Security and Order, International Political Economy, or Global Governance, Rights, and Norms) or a new addition to the core curriculum. These may also include 1-2 electives on more specialized topics in international relations in any of our five field specializations: (1) International Security, Conflict Studies, and Contentious Politics; (2) International Political Economy and Development; (3) Comparative Studies in Institutions and Identity; (4) Human Rights, the Environment, and International Law; and (5) Research Methods in the Social Sciences. The SIP will also oversee a limited number of MA theses (approximately 8-10 per year).

In their administrative leadership, the SIP will, in consultation with the Faculty Director(s) of CIR, provide leadership in vision, planning, and promotion of CIR within and beyond the University; develop, implement, and oversee curricular and co-curricular programs to advance student learning; directly supervise and evaluate other teaching personnel and manage their reappointments; develop new programming to assist in the pedagogical training of all CIR instructors; coordinate all CIR course offerings; serve as the first point of contact for students with disciplinary concerns and for student well-being; make recommendations on how best to improve program operations; lead our PhD application clinic; develop programs to improve post-graduation placement and track these outcomes; and contribute to admissions, staff hiring, student recruitment, and alumni engagement. The SIP will be supervised by CIR's Faculty Director.

This position also includes support for professional development and the possibility of affiliate status with other academic units, such as the Department of Political Science.

Qualifications

Candidates must be at least three years post-PhD in prior to the start date. They must have a demonstrated record designing and teaching courses at the undergraduate or graduate level as a degreed professional, demonstrated experience in research and practice related to the field of International Relations, and promise of future achievement in the performance of all leadership, management, administrative, and supervisory responsibilities to a high standard of excellence.

Application Instructions

The following materials must be submitted through Interfolio at URL: <http://apply.interfolio.com/157717> (1) a cover letter which includes information about the applicant's prior experience with administrative duties, managing staff, and mentoring students; (2) a curriculum vitae; (3) a teaching statement describing previous experience in the classroom, in advising, and suggested course offerings; (4) a research statement; (5) at least one course syllabus; (6) an article-length writing sample on a topic of specialty in International Relations; (7) course evaluations or other evidence of past excellence in teaching or mentoring; and (8) the names and contact information for three recommenders.

Review of applications will begin November 23rd and will continue until the position is filled or the search is close.

Equal Employment Opportunity Statement

All University departments and institutes are charged with building a faculty from a diversity of backgrounds and with diverse viewpoints;

with cultivating an inclusive community that values freedom of expression; and with welcoming and supporting all their members.

We seek a diverse pool of applicants who wish to join an academic community that places the highest value on rigorous inquiry and encourages diverse perspectives, experiences, groups of individuals, and ideas to inform and stimulate intellectual challenge, engagement, and exchange. The University's Statements on Diversity are at <https://provost.uchicago.edu/statements-diversity>.

The University of Chicago is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity/Disabled/Veterans Employer and does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender, gender identity, national or ethnic origin, age, status as an individual with a disability, military or veteran status, genetic information, or other protected classes under the law. For additional information please see the University's Notice of Nondiscrimination.

Job seekers in need of a reasonable accommodation to complete the application process should call 773-834-3988 or email equalopportunity@uchicago.edu with their request.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/25/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15110

Florida Gulf Coast University

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of Political Science, Public Administration, and History at Florida Gulf Coast University invites applications for an Assistant Professor of Political Science with specialization in American political institutions, broadly defined. The successful candidate will teach lower and upper-level courses in an undergraduate Political Science program along with the state-mandated civic literacy course on American National Government; be involved in course and/or curriculum development; maintain an active research portfolio; participate on College and University committees and/or initiatives; and perform other duties as assigned.

The review process will start on November 15, 2024, and will continue until position is filled. Appointment will be based on a 9-month continuous multi-year contract starting in August 2025.

Florida Gulf Coast University is a regional comprehensive university dedicated to quality education, research, and service. All faculty are expected to be excellent teachers, and responsive to changing professional needs; be committed to innovative delivery of instruction resulting in improved student learning; be committed to effective use of technology including distance learning; produce peer reviewed scholarship; and provide service to the College, University and Community. Teaching assignments may be on the main campus or at off-campus sites within our region.

FGCU is a member of the State University System of Florida and an Affirmative Action and Equal Employment Opportunity and Access Employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, age, disability, sex, pregnancy, national origin, marital status, genetic predisposition, sexual orientation, gender identity/gender expression, veteran status, and any other protected class(es), as required by applicable state and federal law, as well as University regulations and policies.

For full job description and to apply, please visit https://fgcu.wd5.myworkdayjobs.com/eaglejobs/job/Main-Campus/Assistant-Professor--Political-Science_R0005532

FGCU is an EOE AA M/F/Vet/Disability Employer.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/4/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15007

Quinnipiac University

Rank: Assistant Teaching Professor of Political Science

The Department of Philosophy and Political Science in the College of Arts & Sciences at Quinnipiac University seeks a dynamic, student-centered Political Scientist to teach at the undergraduate level. We are looking for applicants in the field of American Politics who specialize in ethnic/racial politics. We are also open to candidates specializing in other areas of American Politics whose expertise meaningfully intersects with race and ethnic politics. Candidates using theoretical, quantitative, interpretive, or historical approaches are equally welcome. The appointment will be at the rank of Assistant Teaching Professor, with expectations for teaching (four courses per semester), advising students, and engaging in service activities and committees that strengthen the program, department, college, and university community. Our student-centered department has a strong sense of community, and our faculty are highly collaborative in both teaching and research. We welcome and encourage applications from candidates of all backgrounds.

The anticipated start date is August 2025.

About the College:

The College of Arts & Sciences is a vibrant and inclusive community dedicated to providing an immersive and distinctive educational experience. Known for our inclusive teaching, faculty mentorship, and high-impact experiences, our programs integrate career planning and skill development into a broad education tailored to meet the needs and challenges of the 21st century. Our students emerge as ethical and intellectual leaders, capable of critical and independent thinking, equipped to collaborate on solutions to pressing global issues, and prepared for success in their personal, professional, and civic lives. The College of Arts and Sciences offers 25 undergraduate majors, 34 undergraduate minors, an MS in Molecular and Cell Biology, 6 undergraduate and 1 graduate certificates, and 13 undergraduate/graduate dual-degree programs.

About Quinnipiac:

Quinnipiac University is a private, coeducational institution located 90 minutes north of New York City and two hours from Boston. The university currently has an enrollment of 9,000 students in more than 130 degree programs through its Schools of Business, Communications, Education, Computing, and Engineering, Health Sciences, Law, Medicine, Nursing, and the College of Arts and Sciences. Our 21 Division I teams have achieved remarkable success, boasting multiple conference titles. This includes a 2023 NCAA National Championship win in ice hockey, a three-time defending national champion women's rugby team, and a trip to the Sweet 16 for our women's basketball team. The Quinnipiac University Poll is nationally recognized as a leader in public opinion research, and the university is consistently recognized by U.S. News & World Report and Princeton Review's "The Best 388 Colleges." The university is in the midst of program expansion and renewal for both traditional and adult learners, attraction of diverse communities, development of innovative corporate partnerships, and construction of an ambitious set of capital projects. For more information, please visit qu.edu. Connect with Quinnipiac on Facebook, Instagram, YouTube, TikTok and X.

Responsibilities:

Teach, advise, and mentor undergraduate students and help them achieve their academic and career goals

Teach courses in race and ethnic politics

Teach courses in the American government survey, Introduction to Political Science, American Political Movements, and occasional teaching of our undergraduate methods and senior seminars

Engage in service to support the program, department, college and university, which includes attending weekly department meetings and other college and university meetings as required

The successful candidate should be a strong communicator who is comfortable responding to requests for media interviews and commentary regarding their area of expertise

Education Requirements:

Ph.D. in political science, or a related social science, must be completed by the start of appointment

Qualifications:

Experience or a demonstrated commitment to working with diverse student populations and with the effective use of inclusive teaching practices

Demonstrated ability to teach courses in race and ethnic politics

Preferred Qualifications:

Demonstrated success in teaching, preferably at the college level

Ability and interest in teaching courses in U.S. national institutions, political psychology, social movements, public policy, survey methodology/polling, or experiential learning pedagogy

Experience in curriculum design and development

Experience and interest in guiding student internships and other forms of experiential learning

Experience seeking funding to support research or teaching

Special Instructions to Applicants:

TO APPLY:

Applications must be submitted electronically to <https://career.qu.edu/ci/en-us/job/495853/fulltime-teaching-faculty-political-science> and include:

1. Letter of interest that addresses your qualifications for the position.
2. Curriculum vitae with a list of three academic/professional references who will not be contacted without your permission.
3. Teaching statement (one page preferred) that describes your approach to instruction, which includes a description of your commitment to inclusive teaching practices.
4. Sample teaching evaluations if available.

Applications received by October 21, 2024 will receive first consideration.

Quinnipiac University has a strong commitment to the principles and practices of diversity and inclusion throughout the University community and welcomes candidates who enhance that diversity.

We offer a comprehensive benefits package for full-time faculty and staff which includes tuition remission and a culture that is inclusive and driven by excellence.

Quinnipiac University is an Equal Opportunity Employer.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/10/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14827

Yale University

Rank: Assistant Professor, African American Studies and Political Science, Psychology, or Sociology

Description

Yale's Departments of African American Studies, Political Science, Psychology, and Sociology invite applicants for multiple positions at the assistant professor level beginning July 2025. These positions are part of a cluster hire in African American Studies and the social sciences. The goal is to deepen empirical scholarship of Black experiences—growing the community at Yale necessary for such scholarship in the process. Applicants' research should fit within one or both of two broad subfields: 1) Racial Attitudes and Political Participation (e.g., estimating the role of prejudice in politics, topics in sexuality and gender identity, race and attitudes towards climate justice, and/or other relevant subspecializations) and 2) Race, Systems, and Institutions (e.g., the intersections of race and class, race and artificial intelligence, race relations in specific domains such as education, child welfare, public administration, and/or other relevant subspecializations). All applicants will be jointly appointed with African American Studies and either Political Science, Psychology, or Sociology and each successful applicant will work with their hiring departments to construct a mentorship plan designed to optimize the applicant's ability to navigate the resources of two departments on their path towards promotion. Candidates will be expected to teach courses whose content falls within one or both general areas of research listed above. Candidates who wish to be considered for more than one combination (e.g., African American Studies and Psychology and/or African American Studies and Sociology) should indicate this desire on the cover sheet and apply by the earliest relevant deadline below.

Qualifications

Applicants must have a PhD (or equivalent) at time of hire.

Application Instructions

Yale seeks outstanding applicants who will advance our mission of understanding Black experiences across a broad range of disciplines.

For those seeking to be considered jointly by African American Studies and Political Science, please apply by September 15, 2024.

For those seeking to be considered jointly by African American Studies and Sociology, please apply by October 1, 2024.

For both the Af-Am/PoliSci and Af-Am/Soc applicants, review of applications in these areas will begin immediately after the deadlines and you will be informed no later than the end of November about the status of your application.

For those seeking to be considered jointly by African American Studies and Psychology, please apply by November 1, 2024.

For these applicants, review of applications in these areas will also begin immediately after the deadline, and you will be informed by early February about the status of your application.

For questions, please contact Senior Administrative Assistant, Ms. Vanessa Epps @vanessa.epps@yale.edu. Applicants must submit the following materials for full consideration to URL: <http://apply.interfolio.com/151852>

Cover Letter – Indicate your desired department affiliations (African American Studies and Political Science, Psychology, and/or Sociology) and broad area(s) of research.

Sample Works – For applicants wishing to be considered jointly with Political Science and/or Sociology, submit up to two samples of original research. For applicants wishing to be considered jointly with Psychology, submit three samples of original research.

Research Statement – Describe your most significant scientific discoveries and accomplishments to date as well as your goals for your future research program in a supportive environment like Yale. (2 pages max)

Mentoring and Teaching – Describe your philosophy, experience, and plans for mentoring and teaching undergraduate and graduate students. (1 page max)

Curriculum Vitae – Include your most recent CV with links to publications (or website).

Letters of Recommendation – Please arrange for three referees to upload letters of recommendation by the due date. Recommenders are encouraged to upload them directly.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 8/15/2025

Date Posted: 8/21/2024

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 14685

Washington University in St. Louis

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science in the field of Racial and Ethnic Politics

The Department of Political Science at Washington University in St. Louis invite applications for a tenure-track faculty appointment in racial and ethnic politics. The appointment is at the rank of Assistant Professor to begin in the fall semester of 2025. A Ph.D. in Political Science or a closely related field is required at the time of appointment. Duties will include teaching assigned courses, conducting research, writing for publication, advising students, participating in department and program governance, and university service.

Application materials should include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, statement of research and teaching interests, at least three letters of reference, writing samples, and other relevant materials.

Applications received before September 15, 2024 will receive full consideration. Consideration after that date will be at the discretion of the search committee. All applications and supporting documentation should be submitted electronically through Interfolio at apply.interfolio.com/151793. If you encounter difficulties with the application process or have any additional questions, please email Amanda Nutter (nutter@wustl.edu).

Start Date: Summer 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/13/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14630

Washington University in St. Louis

Rank: Open Rank Professor of Political Science in the field of Environmental Politics

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, Methodology

The Department of Political Science at Washington University in St. Louis and the Environmental Studies Program invite applications for a tenure-track faculty appointment in the area of Environmental Politics at the rank of assistant professor, associate professor, or professor. The appointment is to begin in the fall semester of 2025. A Ph.D. in Political Science or a closely related field is required at the time of appointment. Candidates for the rank of associate or full professor should have an outstanding academic record of research, publication teaching, and service commensurate with tenure at that rank. Duties will include teaching assigned courses, conducting research, writing for publication, advising students, participating in department and program governance, and university service.

Application materials should include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, statement of research and teaching interests, at least three letters of reference, writing samples, and other relevant materials.

Applications received before September 15, 2024 will receive full consideration. Consideration after that date will be at the discretion of the search committee. All applications and supporting documentation should be submitted electronically through Interfolio at apply.interfolio.com/151775. If you encounter difficulties with the application process or have any additional questions, please email Amanda Nutter (nutter@wustl.edu).

Start Date: Summer 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/13/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14628

Yale University

Rank: Assistant/Associate/Full Professor, American Politics

The Department of Political Science at Yale University is seeking to hire multiple faculty members with expertise in American Politics at the rank of Assistant, Associate, or Full Professor, beginning July 1, 2025. A successful applicant should focus on substantive questions in any area of American Politics. Candidates will be expected to teach courses in American Politics commensurate with their experience. If candidates are appointed at the untenured level, the initial appointment will be for 5 years. The teaching expectation is normally 3 courses per academic year.

Qualifications

Ph.D. or equivalent degree required at time of hire.

Application Instructions

All applications must include a cover letter and CV. Untenured candidates should also supply 3 recommendation letters, 2 writing samples, and separate short (2 pages or less) research and teaching statements. All materials should be uploaded to Interfolio at <http://apply.interfolio.com/151671>. Review of applications will begin September 15, 2024 (or 30 days after posting, whichever is later), and to guarantee full consideration your file should be complete by this date.

Please contact Xaria Callender, Sr. Administrative Assistant for the Political Science Department, at xaria.callender@yale.edu if you have questions about the application process.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 8/7/2025

Date Posted: 8/12/2024

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 14618

University of Texas, Arlington

Rank: Associate Professor

Specializations: Electoral Behavior, Public Opinion, Political Parties & Organizations

The Department of Political Science in the College of Liberal Arts at the University of Texas at Arlington invites applications for a full-time, tenured associate professor to begin in August 2025. The successful applicant will conduct research and teach in the area of American Politics. We are especially interested in candidates who can teach and expand our current offerings in public opinion, elections, and/or public policy.

The successful applicant will be expected to develop and teach substantive courses in their area of expertise, including introductory courses, upper-division undergraduate courses, and Master's level courses. Candidates should demonstrate a record of excellence in social science research, undergraduate and graduate teaching, and service appropriate for a tenured professor. The faculty member will assist the Department in efforts to recruit, advise, and engage students and develop and refine the Department's curriculum.

Applicants must apply by October 15, 2024. Review of applications will begin immediately after that and will continue until the position is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/8/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14602

Simmons University

Rank: Assistant Professor, American Politics

ABOUT SIMMONS

Located in Boston's historic Fenway area, Simmons has a strong tradition of empowering women and challenging traditional gender roles. Simmons University was one of the first higher education institutions to prepare women to become leaders and has evolved to become a university offering a women's undergraduate program and graduate programs open to all.

You're joining our community at an especially exciting time as one of our strategic goals is to become the most inclusive campus in New England. You'll find that people who work here are truly committed to our mission of preparing students to become champions of social justice and leaders in their professions and their communities. This commitment and pride make for a dynamic workplace. Simmons University is committed to inclusive excellence in all aspects of an individual's community experience.

As a university committed to diversity, equity, and inclusion, Simmons encourages applications from all under-represented groups. Simmons is committed to creating, developing, promoting, and enhancing inclusive hiring practices—at all levels, for all positions—ensuring diverse talent pools and the delivery of a consistent positive candidate experience. Simmons is an equal opportunity employer and is committed to continuing to develop a more diverse faculty, staff, student body, and curriculum.

ABOUT OPPORTUNITY

The Department of Politics and Policy in the Gwen Ifill School of Media, Humanities, and Social Sciences at Simmons University invites candidates to submit materials for a tenure-track assistant professor position in American politics.

We seek outstanding applicants with a demonstrated track record of effective teaching and scholarship. Multiple areas of expertise within the field of American politics will be considered, including American political institutions, political parties, elections, ideology, voting behavior, and public law. Applicants must be able to teach introduction to American politics, as well as a broad range of electives, including state and local government, Congress and the presidency, and constitutional law, among others. The ability to teach in our Master of Public Policy program is preferred, though not required.

PRIMARY DUTIES & RESPONSIBILITIES

- Carrying a 6-course teaching load per academic year.
- Participating in the ongoing creation of explicit and implicit curricula in consultation with faculty and program leadership.
- Conducting research and scholarship.
- Demonstrate service to the department, school, and university through committee work.

ACADEMIC RESPONSIBILITY

- Serve as instructor for on-ground and online courses.
- Design individual courses and classes.
- Support course development and revision schedule for classes.
- Participate in ongoing Department curricular planning and periodic program review of on-ground and online classes.

STUDENT ADVISING & ENGAGEMENT

- Serve as primary faculty contact for matriculated students, including monitoring academic status, resolving student concerns, and verifying graduation requirements.
- Ensure advising processes are carried out alongside Department Chair and academic advising team and monitor students' course plans and progress towards their degree objectives.

OTHER DUTIES

- Assume other duties as assigned by the Dean and Department Chair.

TERMS OF SERVICE

- The position will be a 10-month, full-time, tenure-track faculty appointment.

- This position is campus based in Boston, Massachusetts.

QUALIFICATIONS

- PhD in Political Science or a related discipline required
- Demonstrated record of excellent teaching
- Demonstrated record of excellent scholarship
- A robust scholarly agenda
- Effective communication and organizational skills.

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION FOR APPLICANTS

A Complete applications consist of a single PDF file containing the following:

- 1) Cover letter addressing qualifications listed above;
- 2) Current curriculum vitae;
- 3) 1-2-page statement of research;
- 4) 1-2-page statement of teaching experience and philosophy

Three letters of recommendation should be sent separately to Lena Zuckerwise, Chair of the Department of Politics and Policy: lena.zuckerwise@simmons.edu.

To apply, submit your application materials via the Simmons University Careers portal: https://simmons.wd1.myworkdayjobs.com/en-US/Simmons-Careers/job/Assistant-Professor--American-Politics_R10176

Review of Applications will begin on September 15th.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/9/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14477

Hampden-Sydney College

Rank: Assistant Professor: Public Law

Specializations: Constitutional Law & Theory, Civil Rights & Liberties, Political Theory

The Department of Government and Foreign Affairs at Hampden-Sydney College invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track appointment at the rank of Assistant Professor to begin in Fall 2025. Candidates should have expertise in American public law with a focus on constitutional law and American judicial process. The successful applicant will serve as faculty advisor to the Pre-Law Society and Moot Court team and may teach, as needed, introductory courses in American Politics. Faculty teach in a 6-6-7 course rotation with six courses per year for two years and seven courses in the third year.

Hampden-Sydney College highly values the teacher/scholar model. Successful applicants will have a record of effective classroom teaching, a commitment to scholarly productivity, and a willingness to work with colleagues on professional service responsibilities. Applicants should have a Ph.D. in political science or a comparable degree by the time of appointment. ABDs and JDs with teaching experience will also be considered.

Please submit a letter of application, curriculum vitae, teaching statement, research statement, and three letters of reference to Dr. Celia Carroll Jones, Chair, Department of Government and Foreign Affairs, Hampden-Sydney College via Interfolio: <http://apply.interfolio.com/>

147105. Review of applications will begin immediately and continue until the position is filled.

Hampden-Sydney College is a selective liberal arts institution enrolling approximately 1000 students. Founded in 1775, it is the tenth oldest institution of higher learning in the United States. Hampden-Sydney is one of three liberal arts colleges in the United States dedicated to the education of men. Our mission is to educate "good men and good citizens in an atmosphere of sound learning."

Our beautiful 1300-acre campus is less than 7 miles from downtown Farmville, home to Longwood University and the Moton Museum, which is listed on the U.S. Civil Rights Trail. The campus is located 65 miles west of Richmond, 50 miles east of Lynchburg, and 75 miles south of Charlottesville, providing abundant cultural, recreational and artistic resources. As a community, we are dedicated to the goal of building a culturally diverse faculty committed to working in a multicultural environment and strongly encourage applications from women and minoritized groups. Hampden-Sydney College values diversity, prohibits discrimination, and is committed to equal opportunity for all employees and applicants for employment.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 8/15/2024

Date Posted: 5/25/2024

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 14370

COMPARATIVE POLITICS

Copenhagen Business School

Rank: Postdoc in Political Economy at CBS

Copenhagen Business School invites applications for a postdoctoral position in Political Economy with a focus on Ukraine. The postdoc has a duration 3½ years (42 months), which includes nine months of teaching at CBS. The postdoc is based on a collaboration with the Danish Institute of International Studies (DIIS), based on a grant for research on political economy in Ukraine from the Danish Ministry of Foreign Affairs. The postdoc is employed at the Department of International Economics, Government and Business (EGB) at CBS. The successful candidate is expected to divide work time equally between CBS and DIIS and, while carrying out his/her own project, engage in research activities and collaborate with colleagues at both institutions.

The project

The proposed postdoc project should be anchored in the field of political economy, political science, or a related field. The focus of the postdoc is on state-business relations with Ukraine as a case.

Relevant topics for the postdoc could revolve around, but are not limited to:

- Business tycoons and politics in Ukraine
- Money in politics in Ukraine
- Public administration and the interaction between state and businesses in Ukraine
- Corruption and anti-corruption reforms in Ukraine
- Public policy and administration related to trade and economic development

The expected starting date is September 1, 2025 (negotiable).

About EGB

EGB is a multidisciplinary department that conducts high-quality research in the fields of international business and political science with direct relevance to business, policy-makers and the public. Research at the department focuses on two principal focus areas Business & Government and International Business, in relation to societal challenges. These challenges include the consequences of inequality; the impact of technological change and digital transformation; the ethical dilemmas facing MNEs, regulatory challenges, the changes brought about by emerging markets and the rise of Asia; the consequences of global shifts for public policy, and the relationship between business and democracy. We have a large group of faculty committed to examining the role of money in politics and non-market strategy. Faculty apply advanced quantitative and qualitative methods to generate systematic knowledge about business-government relations and international business relations. To learn more about the research and education of the department, please visit the departmental website

About DIIS

DIIS is an independent public research institution for international studies. DIIS conducts and communicates high-quality multidisciplinary research and aims to be agenda-setting in research, policy and public debate. DIIS' research covers foreign, security and development policy. This position is part of a broader initiative to develop DIIS' research, policy studies, and dissemination on the Ukrainian political economy as it pertains to corruption, state-business relations, and public administration. To learn more about DIIS please visit the website.

Qualifications

The applicant must have completed – or be close to completing – a PhD in the political science, political economy, or a related field. The applicant must have excellent research skills and excellent professional proficiency in English (written and spoken). Knowledge of Ukrainian language is an advantage. The candidate must have excellent skills in quantitative methods. Good knowledge of the Ukrainian context and mixed methods research is an advantage.

To fulfill the research requirements of the position, the postdoc is expected to be physically present at the department and DIIS on a regular basis. The postdoc consists of 33 months of research plus nine (9) months of teaching.

Copenhagen Business School has a broad commitment to the excellence, distinctiveness and relevance of its teaching and research programs. Candidates who wish to join us should demonstrate enthusiasm for working in an organization of this type.

Appointment and salary will be in accordance with the Ministry of Finance's agreement with the Central Academic Organisation. Applications must be sent via the electronic recruitment system, using the link below.

Applications must include:

1. A cover letter outlining the candidate's main strengths and abilities.
2. Transcript(s) and a full CV
3. A complete, numbered list of publications (indicating titles, co-authors, page numbers and year) with an * marking of the academic productions to be considered during the assessment. A maximum of 5 publications for assessment are allowed. Applicants are requested to prioritise their publications in relation to the field of this job advertisement.
4. Copies of the publications marked with an *. Only publications written in English (or another specified principal language, according to research tradition) or one of the Scandinavian languages will be taken into consideration)

5. A brief (1-page) research statement explaining research plans for the postdoc period, and possibly beyond.

Recruitment procedure

The Recruitment Committee will shortlist a minimum of two applicants; when possible five or more applicants will be shortlisted. The shortlisted applicants will be assessed by the Assessment Committee. All applicants will be notified of their status in the recruitment process shortly after the application deadline.

The applicants selected for assessment will be notified about the composition of the Assessment Committee and later in the process about the result of the assessment.

Once the recruitment process is completed each applicant will be notified of the outcome of their application.

Closing date: May 1, 2025

Copenhagen Business School must receive all application material, including all appendices (see items above), by the application deadline.

For further information on the project, prospective applicants can contact Professor Mogens K. Justesen (EGB) mkj.eg@cbs.dk, Head of Department Jens Gammelgaard (EGB) jg.egb@cbs.dk, Head of Unit Lars Engberg-Pedersen (DIIS), lep@diis.dk, or Director Peter Kragelund (DIIS), pekr@diis.dk

Details about Copenhagen Business School and the department are available at www.cbs.dk.

Closing date: 1 May 2025.

Apply online

<https://candidate.hr-manager.net/ApplicationForm/SinglePageApplicationForm.aspx?cid=1309&departmentId=19022&ProjectId=147526&MediaId=4614>

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 5/1/2025

Date Posted: 3/31/2025

Salary: $70,000 - $79,999

eJobs ID: 15516

Georgia Institute of Technology

Rank: Assistant Professor in Comparative Politics and Sustainability

Specializations: Africa, Environmental Policy, Political Economy

The Sam Nunn School of International Affairs at Georgia Tech invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position in Comparative Politics with a focus on environmental sustainability with a preference for regional expertise in Asian (especially Japan or India) or African regional politics. Scholars are strongly encouraged to apply who bring a comparative political perspective to issues such as energy, the environment, natural resource management or infrastructure resilience. The start date for the position could be either August 2025 or August 2026. Applicants should show promise or evidence of outstanding scholarly achievement, exceptional commitment to teaching at the undergraduate and graduate levels and have an interest in contributing to the advancement of the intellectual community and related outreach efforts. The position will contribute to enhancing the Nunn School's programming in areas of growing interest across campus such as the UN Sustainable Development Goals, resilience, peace engineering, environmental security, and innovation. Candidates are expected to demonstrate an exceptional commitment to the teaching and mentoring of students.

To apply, go to <https://hr.gatech.edu/careers/> and search for Job Opening ID: 283136
Posting Title: Assistant Professor

Start Date:

Date Posted: 3/23/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15527

University of Chile

Rank: Full Time Tenure Track in Comparative Politics

Profile for Track Position in Comparative Politics:

Desired Areas of Specialization:

-State Capacity and Challenges to the State from Non-State Actors.

More information and applications in:

<https://concurso-academico.uchile.cl/> (Code: FG2502)

Start Date: Summer 2025

Application Deadline: 4/30/2025

Date Posted: 3/21/2025

Salary: $40,000 - $49,999

eJobs ID: 15526

University of Alabama, Tuscaloosa

Rank: Instructor of Political Science (3 Year Term, Renewable Contract Instructor)

Subfield(s): Public Administration, American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics

Position Summary

The Department of Political Science at the University of Alabama invites applications for a renewable contract instructor. This is a 9-month appointment will be for a three-year term, subject to satisfactory performance reviews. The appointment will begin on August 16, 2025.

Detailed Position Information

The Department of Political Science at the University of Alabama invites applications for a renewable contract instructor. The annual 9-month appointment will be for a three-year term, subject to satisfactory performance reviews. We invite applications from specialists in public administration, U.S. politics, international relations, or comparative politics. Minimum qualifications: MA in Political Science or related field; with some experience teaching at the college level. Preferred qualifications: PhD in Political Science or a related field; experience teaching courses independently. For more information about the department, see <https://psc.ua.edu/>. The position begins August 16, 2025.

Applications must be submitted via the University website at <http://careers.ua.edu/cw/en-us/job/526037>

Application review will begin immediately and will continue until the position is filled. Submit applications by April 30, 2025, for best consideration.

Minimum Qualifications

MA in Political Science or related field; with some experience teaching at the college level.

Preferred Qualifications

PhD in Political Science or a related field; experience teaching courses independently.

Instructions and Required Materials for Application

Applicants should submit a cover letter summarizing their teaching qualifications and experience, courses prepared to offer, and reasons for interest in the position; a CV; evidence of teaching effectiveness; and the names and contact information of 3 references (ideally with knowledge of candidate's teaching experience). Letters will only be required for short-listed candidates.

To see more information and to apply: <http://careers.ua.edu/cw/en-us/job/526037> ***

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 3/20/2025

Salary: $40,000 - $49,999

eJobs ID: 15524

New York University Graduate School of Arts and Science

Rank: Faculty Fellow, XE: Experimental Humanities & Social Engagement

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Methodology

Specializations: Social Movements, Urban Politics, History & Politics

Faculty Fellow

XE: Experimental Humanities & Social Engagement

New York University Graduate School of Arts and Science

XE: Experimental Humanities & Social Engagement, an interdisciplinary master's program in the Graduate School of Arts and Science at New York University, invites applications for a Faculty Fellow position in the social sciences. The initial appointment will be for one year beginning September 1, 2025, renewable annually for a maximum of three years, pending administrative and budgetary approval.

We seek outstanding interdisciplinary scholars and teachers working in the social sciences whose fields include or span: anthropology, sociology, political science, or urban studies, among other subfields. Faculty fellows teach three graduate seminars per year, advise and mentor students, oversee master's theses, organize public programs, and actively participate in shaping the life of the program.

XE is a highly innovative master's program and tight-knit community of scholars and practitioners who value collaborative mentoring and career building, as well as exploring new pedagogies and research methods at the intersection of creativity, criticality, and social engagement.

Qualifications:

We seek candidates with a PhD in the social sciences who are committed to interdisciplinary scholarship and excellence in teaching. Candidates should have completed their Ph.D. no earlier than 2020 and no later than by August 31, 2025.

Application Instructions:

To apply, please submit: a cover letter, curriculum vitae, a research statement, sample syllabi for two dream classes, and three letters of recommendation.

Applications should be submitted through Interfolio: <https://apply.interfolio.com/165002>

The search committee will begin reviewing applications on April 15, 2025 and will continue until the position is filled.

In compliance with NYC's Pay Transparency Act, the annual base salary for this position is $60,000. New York University considers factors such as (but not limited to) the scope and responsibilities of the position, the candidate's work experience, education/training, key skills, internal peer equity, as well as market and organizational considerations when extending an offer.

Arts & Science at NYU is at the heart of a leading research university that spans the globe. We seek scholars of the highest caliber who embody the diversity of the United States and the global society in which we live. We strongly encourage applications from women, racial and ethnic minorities, and other individuals who are underrepresented in the profession, across color, creed, race, ethnic and national origin, physical ability, gender, and sexual identity, or any other legally protected basis. NYU affirms the value of differing perspectives on the world as we strive to build the strongest possible university with the widest reach. To learn more about the Arts & Science commitment to inclusive excellence, please read here: <https://as.nyu.edu/departments/facultyexcellence.html>.

EOE/Affirmative Action/Minorities/Females/Vet/Disabled/Sexual Orientation/Gender Identity.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 4/15/2025

Date Posted: 3/19/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15518

University of Zurich

Rank: Postdoc Position in the Research Group of Lucas Leemann
Specializations: Advanced Industrial Societies, Political Behavior, Quantitative Methods

Postdoc Position in the Research Group of Lucas Leemann

The Department of Political Science at the University of Zurich invites applications for a Postdoc position in the research group of Lucas Leemann (<https://lucasleemann.ch/research/>). We offer excellent research support in a vibrant research community and are committed to advancing young scholars' careers. The department aims to increase the diversity of its members and thus explicitly invites applications from women and other traditionally underrepresented groups. We are seeking a post-doctoral researcher with research experience and/or interest in survey statistics and political participation. The future post holder will work on modeling survey data for small spatial areas (neighborhoods). Successful applicants will have a substantive interest in political participation and have experience with more advanced statistical modeling. Ideally, candidates have prior experience with more simple correction approaches such as raking and post-stratification but also with more advanced techniques such as multi-level regression with post-stratification (MrP).

This position is funded through a project grant and there is no teaching obligation, but teaching a course may be possible if desired by the future postholder.

Your profile

- A PhD in a social science discipline (e.g., political science, economics, sociology)
- Research interest in political participation and data science
- A strong interest in academic research, ideally proven through internationally visible publications, third-party funding, or related research activities.
- Dedication, ability to work in a team, and ability to work independently.
- Strong command of English.
- Essential skills:
- Experience with small-area estimation or non-representative data (e.g., using MRP models).
- Strong methodological skills and willingness to keep learning how to use new tools.
- Experience with machine learning and/or data engineering.
- Desired skills:
- Experience with geo-spatial data.
- Experience in dealing with missing data and strategies to overcome this problem.

What we offer

- Integration in a leading department of political science with highly motivated and engaged members.
- Possibility to co-author within the research group and beyond.
- Possibility to independently develop a research agenda.
- Financial and academic support from the research group and department.
- The appointment is for three years.
- Salary is according to cantonal guidelines and approximately 81'500 CHF per year (gross salary).

Place of work: Zurich

Start of employment: September 1, 2025 (or by arrangement)

Closing date for applications: April 15, 2025

Further information

Further inquiries can be directed to Lucas Leemann (leemann@ipz.uzh.ch).

Please apply through our application page (<https://www.ipz.uzh.ch/de/ueber-uns/offene-stellen/2025-Postdoc-Leemann.html>) where you can upload your letter of interest, a current CV, a writing sample (i.e., job market paper), and the contact details of two people willing to serve as a reference.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 3/17/2025

Salary: $70,000 - $79,999

eJobs ID: 15511

ETH Zürich

Rank: Professor of International and Swiss Security Policy and Politics

Subfield(s): International Relations, Political Theory, Comparative Politics

The Department of Humanities, Social and Political Sciences (www.gess.ethz.ch) at ETH Zurich invites applications for the above-mentioned position.

ETH Zurich seeks an experienced scholar with an excellent research record in international security studies and an interest in building innovative research collaborations across academic disciplines. Successful candidates are familiar with theoretical debates in international relations and political science and have shown a proven track record of applying a wide array of quantitative and qualitative research methods. Candidates should also have a genuine interest in Swiss security policy and policymaking.

The new professor is expected to build up a research group and assume the leadership of the Center for Security Studies (CSS, www.css.ethz.ch), with its 50 employees, at the end of 2028. The CSS offers security policy expertise in research and science-based policy advice. The professorship will also be associated with the future ETH School of Public Policy. Continuous dialogue and knowledge transfer are an integral part of the professorship's activities. Successful applicants are expected to demonstrate leadership experience, the ability to engage in dialogue with Swiss policymakers and society, and a willingness to contribute to research on Swiss security policy and politics. He or she is also expected to be fluent in English and German.

The professor will teach courses in international and Swiss security policy and politics in the department's BA and MA programs. Courses at the undergraduate level are taught in German or English and at the graduate level in English.

ETH Zurich is an equal opportunity and family-friendly employer, values diversity, and is responsive to the needs of dual-career couples.

Please apply online: www.facultyaffairs.ethz.ch

Applications should include a curriculum vitae, a list of publications, a project list, a statement of future research and teaching interests, a description of the leadership philosophy, a description of the three most important achievements, and a certificate of the highest degree. The letter of application should be addressed to the President of ETH Zurich, Prof. Dr. Joël Mesot. The closing for applications is 30 April 2025.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 4/30/2025

Date Posted: 3/13/2025

Salary: Any

eJobs ID: 15508

Rutgers University, New Brunswick

Rank: Comparative Politics Assistant Teaching Professor

The Department of Political Science at Rutgers University, New Brunswick, seeks applicants for a full-time, one-year, non-tenure-track position to teach undergraduate classes in the field of comparative politics. Appointment will be at the Assistant Teaching Professor rank. Start date is negotiable depending on candidate availability. The appointment entails a 6-course teaching load (3/3) per academic year, a minimum salary of $82,110, and health benefits. PhD degree in Political Science by start date is required.

The successful candidate will teach courses in the department's undergraduate curriculum, especially our large lecture introduction to comparative politics, as well as courses in European politics, Middle Eastern politics, and social movements. This position is primarily focused on teaching. While research and service opportunities are available and supported, they are not required. Experience working with teaching assistants is preferred.

Candidates should submit the following materials: (1) C.V.; (2) cover letter; (3) teaching statement addressing teaching experience and experience with inclusive teaching; and (4) names and email addresses of three references who can upload letters of recommendation. The materials should be uploaded to <https://jobs.rutgers.edu/postings/246794>

As one of 34 public US institutions that belong to the Association of American Universities, Rutgers is among the leading research universities in the US and Canada. Rutgers University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer, with a historic commitment to diversity. The Political Science Department is strongly committed to increasing the diversity of our faculty. Women, minorities, and members of under-represented groups are encouraged to apply. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, national origin, disability, protected veteran status or any other classification protected by law.

Review of applicants will begin on April 12, 2025, and continue until the job is filled.

All job offers are contingent upon successful pre-employment background screening prior to commencement of employment.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 4/12/2025

Date Posted: 3/11/2025

Salary: $80,000 - $89,999

eJobs ID: 15500

University College Dublin

Rank: 95 Lecturer/Asst Professor Above The Bar, UCD School of Politics and International Relations, Permanent

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Other

Lecturer/Assistant Professor, UCD School of Politics and International Relations, Permanent

Applications are invited for a permanent post of a Lecturer/Assistant Professor within UCD School of Politics and International Relations

The person(s) appointed will be expected to contribute significantly to research and teaching in their own area of specialisation within politics, international relations and/or development studies. The ability to teach in additional sub-fields is desirable. The principal motivation for these posts is to expand and deepen the School's research profile, to strengthen undergraduate teaching, to contribute to further expansion in graduate education (taught and research), to build additional international research networks and to contribute to a vibrant, collegial and ambitious group of scholars. In pursuit of its commitment to equality, diversity and inclusiveness, the School especially welcomes applications from women, minorities, and from around the globe.

95 Lecturer/Asst Professor Above The Bar (7943) Salary Scale: €64,112 - €101,524 Per Annum.

Appointment will be made on scale and in accordance with the Department of Finance guidelines.

Closing date: 12:00 noon (local Irish time) on the 7th of April 2025.

For a full Job Description and Information on How to Apply, follow the link below

https://my.corehr.com/pls/coreportal_ucdp/apply?id=018390

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 4/7/2025

Date Posted: 3/11/2025

Salary: $70,000 - $79,999

eJobs ID: 15499

Charles University, Prague, Czech Republic

Rank: Call for postdoctoral position: Political economy and geopolitics of East Asia

Subfield(s): International Relations, Political Theory, Comparative Politics

Specializations: East Asia, China, Political Economy

Offer Description

Charles University, Faculty of Arts offers a full-time temporary (2-year) researcher position (senior level, with PhD) with a specialization on the political economy and geopolitics of East Asia. The researcher will be part of a research team analyzing the geopolitical vulnerability and resilience of supply chains in East Asia, with a particular emphasis on Taiwan.

The researcher is expected to perform research tasks related to identifying the risks to semiconductor supply chains stemming from geopolitical disruptions, macroeconomic developments (such as the rise of protectionist policies), as well as other disruptions resulting from political, security-related and economic developments.

The researcher is expected to perform research tasks concerned with applied research, providing strategic recommendations to policy makers, as well as to contribute to academic debates and to publish his/her academic research in leading journals.

Applicants will be asked to perform limited teaching duties in their area of expertise (estimated 1 course per semester) and to cooperate on research activities within a wider research team.

The applicants are also expected to prepare grant applications within their area of expertise and provide policy expertise through policy papers and stakeholder involvement.

Please send your CV, motivation letter (max. 2 pages), names of two references, and a copy of one published work in pdf (article, chapter or book) to filip.maly@ff.cuni.cz (Mr. Filip Maly) by April 15th, 2025. Mark your application "Postdoc - Geopolitics".

Where to apply: Email: filip.maly@ff.cuni.cz

Requirements:

Research Field: International Relations, Business, Political Science or Economics

Researcher Profile: Recognised Researcher (R2)

Positions: Postdoc Positions

Education Level: PhD

Additional Information

Terms of contract:

- Preferably from September 2025 to August 2027 (negotiable)
- We expect your physical presence in Prague most of the time
- An obligation to submit a research grant proposal within the applicant's expertise to an external (Czech or international) funding agency within the duration of the contract

Eligibility criteria

- Applicants must hold a PhD degree (or equivalent) in International Relations, Economics, Business, Political Science or other related disciplines before taking up the post.

- The applicant must demonstrate an extensive ability to analyze East Asian politics and possess relevant area expertise
- Applicants must demonstrate the ability to produce high-level academic outputs as well as the capability to communicate complex research insights in a clear and accessible manner to both non-experts and practitioners.
- Applicants must have a very good command of English
- Proven experience in the use of advanced qualitative and/or quantitative social science research methods
- Country-specific knowledge and language skills for one or more of East Asian countries

Application deadline: 15 April 2025- 12:00 (Europe/Prague)

Work Location(s)

Number of offers available: 1

Company/Institute: Department of Political Science, Faculty of Arts, Charles University

Country: Czech Republic

City: Prague 1

Postal Code: 11638

Street: nám. Jana Palacha 1/2

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 4/15/2025

Date Posted: 3/7/2025

Salary: $30,000 - $39,999

eJobs ID: 15491

Harvard University

Rank: Japan Foundation Postdoctoral Fellow

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Public Policy

Specializations: Japan, International Political Economy, Science & Technology

With support from The Japan Foundation, we invite applications for a postdoctoral fellowship which includes a teaching component in political science & international relations. The award is for $75,000 paid in monthly installments, with eligibility for university subsidized health insurance coverage for the grantee. The Postdoctoral Fellow will be actively engaged in research and teaching related to "Technology, Society, and Geopolitics: Japan in a Globalized Economy." Deadline is 3/24/2025. For the application portal and more information, please see this webpage: <https://us-japan.wcfia.harvard.edu/apply-japan-foundation-fellowship>. For any questions, please email: usjapan@wcfia.harvard.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 3/24/2025

Date Posted: 3/7/2025

Salary: $70,000 - $79,999

eJobs ID: 15494

National Taiwan University

Rank: Assistant Professor / Associate Professor / Professor (Tenure and non-tenure)

Invitation for Faculty Positions to Master's Programs in Political Economy and Finance (Two Tracks) at the School of Political Science and Economics, National Taiwan University

POSITION

Assistant Professor / Associate Professor / Professor

TYPE

Full-Time Academic Faculty (Tenure and non-tenure)

LOCATION

Taipei, Taiwan

DESIRED FIELDS OF RESEARCH AND TEACHING

(International) Political Economy, Comparative Economic/Political Systems, International Relations, International Economics, Financial Economics, Public Economics, Economic Development

ABOUT US

Join the dynamic School of Political Science and Economics (SPE) at National Taiwan University, a distinguished institution at the forefront of innovative research in international political economy and finance. Endorsed by Taiwan's National Development Fund and leading global enterprises such as TSMC, we are committed to excellence through interdisciplinary collaboration among scholars in political science, economics, finance, and management. Our recently inaugurated master's programs—the MA in Political Economy and MS in Finance—cultivate a rigorous academic environment that nurtures creativity and facilitates pioneering research.

WE INVITE YOU TO JOIN US

We invite applications for multiple faculty positions at the assistant professor level and above. We are looking for candidates who are enthusiastic about unique methodologies and are keen to incorporate science, humanities, and/or technology into their work. This position provides an opportunity to shape and inspire the leaders of tomorrow while contributing to a globally engaged community.

WHAT WE OFFER

- Competitive salary and comprehensive benefits based on your expertise and dedication.
- An English-speaking academic environment that supports global engagement among faculty members
- Access to state-of-the-art resources and research facilities that drive innovation and impact.

CANDIDATE QUALIFICATIONS

Candidates must hold a Ph.D. degree before July for the fall semester or January for the spring semester. We value creativity, collaboration, and dedication to integrating contemporary scientific or other disciplinary insights into economics, political science, or finance.

APPLICATION PROCESS

Interviews will take place virtually to guarantee equal accessibility for all candidates. Positions will be filled as outstanding applicants are recognized. If deemed appropriate, selected candidates may be invited to SPE to deliver a job talk.

APPLICATION REQUIREMENTS

1. Cover Letter
2. CV
3. Two Letters of Recommendation
4. Research Papers
5. Transcripts (if you are yet to complete your PhD)

DOSSIER SUBMISSION

Ms. Linda Chang

Chief Executive Officer

School of Political Science and Economics, National Taiwan University

Email: ntuspe@ntu.edu.tw

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 3/6/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15490

University of Maine

Rank: Assistant/Associate Professor

Assistant or Associate Professor of Political Science and International Affairs

Orono, ME, United States (On-site)

Job Info

Job Identification

1208

Job Category

Faculty

Posting Date

03/05/2025, 09:00 AM

Locations

College Avenue, Orono, ME, 04469, US

(On-site)

Business Unit

University of Maine

Job Schedule

Full time

Regular or Temporary

Regular

Department

UM Political Science

Bargaining Unit

Associated Faculties of the University of Maine System (AFUM)

Job Description

The Department of Political Science and the School of Policy and International Affairs (SPIA) at the University of Maine are seeking qualified candidates to fill two full-time, tenure-track, academic-year faculty positions in International Relations and Comparative Politics at the rank of Assistant Professor or Associate Professor, anticipated to start September 1, 2025. The first of these positions is a 50/50 joint appointment in Political Science and SPIA with a tenure home in Political Science. The second position is a 60/40 joint appointment in SPIA and Political Science with a tenure home in Political Science and entails an initial five-year appointment as the Dan '63 and Betty Churchill Professorship in Climate Policy and International Affairs. One position may be filled at the rank of associate professor. The area of specialization is open. The Churchill Professor must have expertise in climate change policy.

These positions have teaching, research, and service duties. The typical teaching assignment for both positions is five courses per year. For the first position the teaching assignment will alternate yearly between three introductory or upper-level undergraduate courses and two courses at the master's level, and two introductory or upper-level undergraduate courses and three courses at the master's level. For the second position (Churchill Professorship) the annual teaching assignment will be two introductory or upper-level undergraduate courses and three courses at the master's level. Other responsibilities include, but are not limited to:

Supervise internships and undergraduate and master's theses. Advise students on their course of study and aid them in the registration process, which includes maintaining regular office hours.

Participate in curriculum development, assessment, and student recruitment.

Maintain an active, productive research program in international relations and comparative politics. The second position requires a focus on climate change policy. Pursuit of external funding to support research activities is encouraged.

Perform appropriate service, which may include, but is not limited to, active participation in the internal governance of the School of Policy and International Affairs and Department of Political Science, and service to the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences and University communities.

We are a faculty that values work-life balance and maintaining a productively collegial workplace. These are in-person, on-campus positions.

About the University:

The University of Maine is a community of more than 11,900 undergraduate and graduate students, and 2,500 employees located on the Orono campus, the regional campus in Machias, and throughout the state. UMaine is a land, sea and space grant university, and maintains a leadership role as the University of Maine System's flagship institution. UMaine is the state's public research university and a Carnegie R1 top-tier research institution, dedicated to providing excellent teaching, research and service for Maine, the nation and the world. More information about UMaine is at umaine.edu.

The University of Maine offers a wide range of benefits for employees including, but not limited to, tuition benefits (employee and dependent), comprehensive insurance coverage including medical, dental, vision, life insurance, and short and long term disability as well as retirement plan options.

UMaine is located in beautiful Central Maine. Many employees report that a primary reason for choosing to come to UMaine is quality of life. Numerous cultural activities, excellent public schools, safe neighborhoods, high quality medical care, little traffic, and a reasonable cost of living make the greater Bangor area a wonderful place to live. Learn more about what the Bangor region has to offer here.

Qualifications:

Required:

Ph.D. in Political Science or closely related field by date of hire.

Specialization in international relations.

Evidence of ability to develop and teach courses in a variety of areas including introductory international relations, a graduate field seminar in international relations, and advanced topics related to the candidate's other specialties.

Record of or demonstrated potential for success in university-level teaching.

Record of or demonstrated potential for an active, productive research program.

Appropriate methodological training and analytical skills.

For position 2 (Churchill Professorship) only:

Specialization in international relations with a focus closely related to climate change policy.

Evidence of ability to develop and teach courses in advanced topics related to climate change.

Preferred:

A proven record of international fieldwork, preferably in language(s) other than English is desired, but not required.

Ability to teach courses in comparative politics.

Experience relevant to student mentoring, advising, and/or recruitment.

Expertise in quantitative methods.

Commitment to equal opportunity and nondiscrimination.

Other Information:

To be considered for this position you will need to "Apply" and upload the documentation listed below:

1.) a cover letter which describes your experience, interests, and suitability for the position

2.) a resume/curriculum vitae

Candidates selected to proceed to the final stages of the search process will be requested to provide a list of names and contact information for references.

Incomplete application materials cannot be considered. Materials received after the initial review date will be reviewed at the discretion of the University.

For full consideration, materials must be submitted by 4:30 p.m. EST on April 5, 2025.

For questions about the search, please contact search committee chair Professor Rich Powell at rpowell@umaine.edu or 207-581-1795.

The successful applicant is subject to appropriate background screening.

In complying with the letter and spirit of applicable laws and pursuing its own goals of diversity, the University of Maine System does not discriminate on the grounds of race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, transgender status, gender, gender identity or expression, ethnicity, national origin, citizenship status, familial status, ancestry, age, disability physical or mental, genetic information, or veterans or military status in employment, education, and all other programs and activities. The University provides reasonable accommodations to qualified individuals with disabilities upon request. The following person has been designated to handle inquiries regarding non-discrimination policies: Director of Equal Opportunity, 5713 Chadbourn Hall, Room 412, University of Maine, Orono, ME 04469-5713, 207.581.1226, TTY 711 (Maine Relay System).

Clery Act

The Jeanne Clery Disclosure of Campus Security Policy and Campus Crime Statistics Act, or Clery Act, mandates that all Title IV institutions, such as the University, prepare, publish and distribute an Annual Security Report, (ASR) and provide notice of the availability of the ASR to all prospective employees. This report consists of two basic parts: disclosure of the University's crime statistics for the past three calendar years; and disclosures regarding the University's current campus security policies. You may view the University's Annual Security Report. If you wish to have a paper copy of the ASR or you need to have a copy of the ASR in an accessible format, the University will provide such a copy upon request. Please contact: UMaine Police Department, 81 Rangeley Rd., The University of Maine, Orono, ME 04469-5794, or call 207.581.4053.

Apply Now

Apply Now: https://fa-ewca-saasfaprod1.fa.ocs.oraclecloud.com/hcmUI/CandidateExperience/en/sites/CX_1/job/1208/apply/email

Start Date: Fall 2025
Application Deadline: 5/5/2025
Date Posted: 3/5/2025
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 15484

Texas A&M University, Kingsville

Rank: Assistant Professor

Specializations: Western Europe, Central America, South America

Texas A&M University – Kingsville

Job Title: Tenure Track - Assistant Professor in Political Science

Salary: Commensurate with qualifications

Specialization: Comparative Politics

Location: Texas A&M University-Kingsville, Kingsville, TX

Application Deadline: Open until filled

Job Summary: The Department of History, Political Science and Philosophy seeks applicants for a full-time, tenure-track faculty position at the rank of Assistant Professor. Candidates should have a Ph.D. in Political Science and should have focus on Comparative Politics with an emphasis on European politics or Central/South American politics.

Responsibilities will include teaching four 3 credit-hour undergraduate courses per semester. This will include three introductory American Government courses and one upper-division undergraduate course in an area of specialization. In time, the candidate will also teach an introductory course in Texas Government. In addition, responsibilities will include an active program of research and publication, commitment to mentoring undergraduate students, and Departmental/University-level service, including committee work. Active and demonstrable participation in the University's recruiting and retention functions will be a key responsibility.

Job Responsibilities

- Teach 8 undergraduate courses per year (4 per semester), typically including three introductory courses in American and/or Texas Government, and an upper-division undergraduate course in the areas of one's professional specialization
 - Develop and maintain a program of focused research and publishing, including publication in peer-reviewed journals and presentations at professional conferences
 - Participate in Departmental and University student recruitment and retention
 - Participate in committee work, both inside and outside the Department, as required
 - Obtain external funding to support research and outreach fields (where appropriate to that candidates' area of expertise)
- Minimum Qualifications
- PhD from an accredited institution or university in Political Science or a closely related discipline, and demonstrable expertise within the field(s).

Preferred Qualifications

- Evidence of or potential for excellence in research and service; undergraduate teaching; interdisciplinary collaboration; and community outreach.
- Demonstrated experience reflecting passion for teaching, particularly students at the undergraduate level.
- Evidence of or potential for strong student engagement activities aimed at recruitment and retention
- Experience with online or hybrid teaching formats.

Application Instructions

Interested applicants should submit an application packet containing:

1. A letter of application stating interest in the position and qualifications relative to the credentials outlined in the Job Description
 2. A single page statement of teaching philosophy, including evidence of teaching excellence
 3. A single page statement outlining research interests
 4. Curriculum vitae (CV)
 5. Copies of academic transcripts
 6. Three letters of recommendation, including contact information.
- To ensure full consideration, all application materials should be submitted electronically via Workday: www.tamus.wd1.myworkdayjobs.com/TAMUK_External.

A background check is required prior to employment for this position. In addition, the selected candidate will be required to provide an official transcript(s) from each degree-granting institution before an offer can be made. Degrees earned from institutions outside of the United States are required to be evaluated and certified for equivalency to a Doctorate of Philosophy (PhD) degree, and other higher education degrees.

The anticipated employment start date is August, 2024.

EEOC Statement

Equal Employment Opportunity Statement: TAMUK is an equal opportunity employer and does not discriminate in hiring or employment on the basis of race, color, creed, religion or belief, national or ethnic origin, citizenship status, marital or domestic partnership status, sexual orientation, sex, gender identity or expression, age, disability, military or veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by federal, state, or local law.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 3/4/2025

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 15478

Loyola Marymount University

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): Methodology, Comparative Politics, International Relations

The Department of Political Science and International Relations at Loyola Marymount University invites applications for a Visiting Assistant Professor position. LMU values community engagement, diversity, social justice, and inclusive pedagogy in fostering academic excellence.

The department seeks candidates who can teach undergraduate research methods courses. The ability to also offer comparative politics or international relations upper-division courses is preferred but not required.

The position is for one year (2025-2026) and has a 3-3 teaching load for the academic year (three courses in the fall and three courses in the spring).

We seek a dedicated teacher-scholar with demonstrated or the potential of teaching excellence. We strongly encourage women, minorities, and individuals from underrepresented groups to apply. A Ph.D. in political science is required at the time of appointment.

Candidates should submit application materials via the LMU Human Resources online application portal:

https://lmu.wd1.myworkdayjobs.com/en-US/Careers/details/Visiting-Assistant-Professor---Political-Science_R11333

Please be aware that the portal can only accept 5 attachments. Applicants must include: 1) a cover letter; 2) a curriculum vitae; 3) a statement of teaching philosophy and (if available) teaching evaluations; 4) a sample syllabus for an undergraduate research methods course; and 5) a writing sample. Three confidential letters of recommendation should be submitted directly to Luke Hart-Moynihan at luke.hart-moynihan@lmu.edu.

Only online applications will be accepted. Please direct questions to the Chair of the Department of Political Science and International Relations, Gabriele Magni, at Gabriele.magni@lmu.edu. The deadline for applications is April 1st.

Faculty Regular

Reasonable expected salary: $68,640.00

Loyola Marymount University, a Carnegie classified R2 institution in the mainstream of American Catholic higher education, seeks outstanding applicants who value its mission and share its commitment to inclusive excellence, the education of the whole person, and the building of a just society. LMU is an equal opportunity employer committed to providing an environment free from discrimination and harassment as defined by federal, state and local law. We invite all persons in the full diversity of their being, life experience, and beliefs to apply. (Visit www.lmu.edu for more information.)

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 4/1/2025

Date Posted: 2/28/2025

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 15471

Dartmouth College

Rank: Lecturer in Comparative Politics

The Department of Government at Dartmouth College invites applications for a Lecturer in Comparative Politics. The area of research is open. Applicants should be prepared to teach an introductory course in comparative politics and other electives for undergraduate students. Preference will be given to candidates who possess teaching experience in some of the courses to be taught.

This position is non-remote, in-residence at Dartmouth College in Hanover, NH. The teaching assignment will be 3 or 4 courses during the 2025-26 academic year. Lecturers may teach up to 2 courses per term during any of Dartmouth's four 10-week quarters (Summer 2025 through Spring 2026). The position includes pro-rated benefits if the courses are taught across three consecutive terms. Qualified candidates who can offer the introductory course in comparative politics during Fall 2025 and/or Winter 2026 are particularly encouraged to apply.

Dartmouth is committed to academic excellence and encourages the open exchange of ideas within a culture of mutual respect. People with different backgrounds, life experiences, and perspectives make the Dartmouth community diverse, which enhances academic excellence. Applicants should address in their letter of application how their research, teaching, service, and/or life experiences prepare them to advance Dartmouth's commitment to diversity in service of academic excellence.

Qualifications

Ph.D. in Political Science or a related field, or ABD with degree conferred by the start date. This position is not eligible for H-1B sponsorship.

Application Instructions

Please submit all materials through Interfolio:

Letter of application
Curriculum vitae,
Evidence of teaching effectiveness (such as teaching evaluations, syllabi, portfolio, etc.),
Graduate school transcripts,
Three letters of recommendation to Interfolio.

Screening of applications will begin March 31, 2025, and continue until the position is filled. Questions may be addressed to Professor Lucas Swaine, Lucas.Swaine@dartmouth.edu.

Please submit material at <http://apply.interfolio.com/163941>.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 2/25/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15455

University of Alabama, Tuscaloosa

Rank: Instructor of Political Science (3 Year Term, Renewable Contract Instructor)

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Public Administration

Position Summary

The Department of Political Science at the University of Alabama invites applications for a renewable contract instructor. This is a 9-month appointment will be for a three-year term, subject to satisfactory performance reviews. The appointment will begin on August 16, 2025.

Detailed Position Information

The Department of Political Science at the University of Alabama invites applications for a renewable contract instructor. The annual 9-month appointment will be for a three-year term, subject to satisfactory performance reviews. We invite applications from specialists in international relations, comparative politics, public administration, or U.S. politics. Minimum qualifications: MA in Political Science or related field; with some experience teaching at the college level. Preferred qualifications: PhD in Political Science or a related field; experience teaching courses independently. For more information about the department, see <https://psc.ua.edu/>. The position begins August 16, 2025.

Applications must be submitted via the University website at <http://careers.ua.edu/cw/en-us/job/525885>

Application review will begin immediately and will continue until the position is filled. Submit applications by March 25, 2025, for best consideration.

Minimum Qualifications

MA in Political Science or related field; with some experience teaching at the college level.

Preferred Qualifications

PhD in Political Science or a related field; experience teaching courses independently.

Instructions and Required Materials for Application

Applicants should submit a cover letter summarizing their teaching qualifications and experience, courses prepared to offer, and reasons for interest in the position; a CV; evidence of teaching effectiveness; and the names and contact information of 3 references (ideally with knowledge of candidate's teaching experience). Letters will only be required for short-listed candidates.

To see more information and to apply: <http://careers.ua.edu/cw/en-us/job/525885> ***

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 2/25/2025

Salary: $40,000 - $49,999

eJobs ID: 15459

Utah State University

Rank: Temporary Assistant Professor

The Department of Political Science at Utah State University (USU) invites applications for a Visiting Assistant Professor of Political Science with a teaching load of 3 courses per semester. Successful candidates will either hold a PhD (or be working towards a PhD) in Political Science or a related field. The successful applicant will teach introductory and/or advanced courses in comparative politics. An ability to teach courses in American politics is a plus. This is a one-year term appointment in-person at USU's main campus in Logan. The successful applicant may expect an annual salary of $55,000 plus excellent benefits as well as funds to present at a professional conference. The anticipated start date of the position is August 2025.

Review of applications begins on March 12, 2025, and continues until the position is filled. Please apply here: <https://careers-usu.icims.com/jobs/8858/temporary-assistant-professor/job>

Responsibilities

- Teach 3 courses per semester to meet the department's needs in comparative and/or American politics?
- Please consult the USU catalog for more course information

Qualifications

Minimum Qualifications:

- PhD or ABD in Political Science or related field?
- Evidence of effective teaching?
- Preferred Qualifications:

? Specialization in Comparative or American Politics

Required Documents

Along with the online application, please attach: ?

- Resume/CV to be uploaded at the beginning of your application in the Candidate Profile under "Resume/CV"
- Name and contact information for 3 professional references to be entered into Candidate Profile. (References will be contacted after initial screening of applicants)
- Evidence of effective teaching to be uploaded at the beginning of your application in the Candidate - Profile under "Documents 1-10"
- A cover letter that speaks to your effectiveness as a teacher and your specializations in political science. Cover letter to be typed/pasted at the end of your application.

Document size may not exceed 10 MB.

Additional materials may be requested of candidates who advance to the next level.

Please direct questions to Dr. Anna Pechenkina, Search Committee Chair, at anna.pechenkina@usu.edu (Do not send application materials to this email address.)

Advertised Salary

$55,000; Commensurate with qualifications and experience, plus excellent benefits

ADA

Employees typically work indoors and are protected from weather and/or contaminants, but not, necessarily, occasional temperature changes.

College/Department Highlights

Faculty for this position will be located at the main campus in Logan. For more information on the Political Science department, see our websites: <https://chass.usu.edu/political-science/>.

?

All faculty are part of the College of Humanities and Social Sciences, which plays an instrumental role in teaching critical thinking, knowledge-building skills, and the ability to pose meaningful questions that advance understanding and knowledge. Students in our college confront the great questions and controversies, learn about the forces that have shaped our world, and develop the skills to tackle its most pressing challenges. Our graduates are creative problem-solvers with a passion for making a difference. The education they receive here prepares them to address the problems of today and to succeed wherever their career path takes them tomorrow.

University Highlights

Founded in 1888, Utah State University is Utah's premier land-grant, public service university. As an R1 research institution, Utah State is dedicated to advancing knowledge through research and scholarly activities, providing a high-quality undergraduate and graduate education at an affordable price.

USU enrolls 28,900 students, both online and in person at locations throughout the state. Utah State's 30 locations include a main campus in Logan, Utah, residential campuses in Price and Blanding, and six additional statewide campuses, along with education centers serving every county. USU Online educates students from all 50 states and 55 countries. For over 25 years, USU Extension has served and engaged Utahns in all of Utah's counties.

Competing at the NCAA Division I level, USU is a proud member of the Mountain West Conference and will join the Pac-12 Conference beginning in the 2026-2027 season. The Aggies' long-standing tradition of athletic and academic excellence is exemplified by conference championships in multiple sports, reflecting USU's commitment to perseverance and achievement.

Utah State is dedicated to fostering a community where all individuals feel respected, valued, and supported. We seek to recruit, hire, and retain people from all walks of life who will champion excellence in education, research, discovery, outreach, and service. We believe that promoting a strong sense of community and belonging empowers and engages all members of USU to thrive and be successful. Forbes recognized our commitment to employees when they named Utah State the best employer in Utah in 2023. Learn more about USU.

The university provides a Dual Career Assistance Program to support careers for partners who are also seeking employment. Additionally, USU is committed to providing access and reasonable accommodations for individuals with disabilities. To request a reasonable accommodation for a disability, contact the university's ADA Coordinator in the Office of Human Resources at (435) 797-0122 or hr@usu.edu.

*updated 01/2025

Notice of Non-discrimination

In its programs and activities, including in admissions and employment, Utah State University does not discriminate or tolerate discrimination, including harassment, based on race, color, religion, sex, national origin, age, genetic information, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, disability, status as a protected veteran, or any other status protected by University policy, Title IX, or any other federal, state, or local law.

The following individuals have been designated to handle inquiries regarding the application of Title IX and its implementing regulations and/or USU's non-discrimination policies:

Executive Director of the Office of Equity Matthew Pinner, discrimination@usu.edu, Distance Education Rm. 401, 435-797-1266

Title IX Coordinator Cody Carmichael, titleix@usu.edu, Distance Education Rm. 404, 435-797-1266

Mailing address: 5100 Old Main Hill, Logan, UT 84322

For further information regarding non-discrimination, please visit <https://equity.usu.edu/>, or contact:

U.S. Department of Education, Office of Assistant Secretary for Civil Rights, 800-421-3481, OCR@ed.gov

*updated 09/2023

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 2/12/2025

Date Posted: 2/20/2025

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 15450

St. Olaf College

Rank: Assistant Professor in American Politics

Subfield(s): Methodology, International Relations, Comparative Politics

The Department of Political Science at St. Olaf College invites applications for a full-time, one-year position in methodology and an additional subfield (American, international relations, comparative, or political theory) at the level of Visiting Instructor or Assistant Professor, to begin August 2025. This position has the potential for additional years of reappointment.

The teaching load will be six courses during the year, including three sections of political science research methodology and three sections reflecting the candidate's interests and expertise. The successful candidate will be able to offer instruction in quantitative and qualitative methods and explain how these methods contribute to a broad and rigorous liberal arts education. While additional expertise in international relations is preferred, expertise in American, comparative, or political theory will be considered.

Qualifications

A Ph.D. in Political Science or a related field completed by the start of the fall semester is preferred, but ABD candidates will be considered.

About the Department

We are a collegial department, with two faculty members teaching regularly in each of the four subfields. We are committed to supporting our colleagues in their pursuit of creative and thoughtful pedagogy and rigorous scholarship. For more information about the department, visit wp.stolaf.edu/poli-sci/.

How to Apply

Submit application at: https://fa-ewur-saasfaprod1.fa.ocs.oraclecloud.com/hcmUI/CandidateExperience/en/sites/CX_3/job/1824

A complete application includes the following:

References: Provide contact information for three professional references who can speak to your abilities in teaching and scholarship.

Supporting Documents and URLs:

Cover letter outlining your qualifications and why you are interested in this particular position

Curriculum vitae

Graduate transcripts (unofficial)

Evidence of Teaching Excellence

Review of applications will begin immediately and will continue until the position is filled. Questions about the position, department, or college may be directed to the Department Chair, Douglas Casson, at casson@stolaf.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 2/19/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15442

Washington University in St. Louis

Rank: Weidenbaum Center Postdoctoral Fellowship

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Methodology, International Relations

The Weidenbaum Center on the Economy, Government and Public Policy (at Washington University in St. Louis) is seeking an exceptional candidate for an anticipated two-year post-doctoral fellow position, potentially renewable for a third year. Continuation is subject to performance and successful annual reviews. The fellow will work with Prof. Margit Tavits on setting up and pursuing a research program aimed at identifying the social, economic, and political factors that build or erode social trust, solidarity, and resilience. Central to this agenda are questions about how to sustain cohesion in the face of violence and other shocks, and how to break entrenched cycles of distrust, discrimination, and hostility.

The fellow will work closely with Prof. Tavits and will be involved in all aspects of the research process, with a particular emphasis on study design, data analysis, and preparation of grant proposals as well as manuscripts for leading peer-reviewed journals.

We are seeking a technically strong social science researcher who is interested in asking bold new questions. We are especially interested in candidates with a proven record of publications or completed projects that demonstrate an outstanding ability to ask transformative questions, design rigorous research, and use advanced statistical methods. Candidates should detail their experience in these areas in their cover letters and showcase any of these skills and compatible substantive research interests in the writing sample.

Employment in this fellowship is anticipated to begin in July 2025. Additional information about the postdoctoral program and benefits at Washington University is found at: <https://postdoc.wustl.edu>

Qualifications

- Doctorate in a social science program with a preference for political science or a closely related discipline (degree must be completed at time of appointment)
- Graduate level knowledge of advanced causal inference methods, survey research, and applied statistics
- Experience in running and analyzing field experiments and/or conducting quasi-experimental studies is a plus
- Ability to collaborate effectively with others and coordinate the work of a research team
- Strong work ethic
- Proficiency and excellent writing skills in English

Application Instructions

Proposal Submission Deadline: We will begin reviewing applications on March 15 and anticipate scheduling Zoom interviews as early as late March.

Proposal Format:

Applications should include the following:

- Cover letter describing your interest in and qualifications for this position
- Curriculum vitae
- Research statement not to exceed 2000 words describing the dissertation project and other research
- Writing sample
- Three letters of reference
- The cover letter should be addressed to Margit Tavits

*Please apply via Interfolio: <https://apply.interfolio.com/163623>

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 3/15/2025

Date Posted: 2/19/2025

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 15445

University of Central Florida

Rank: Assistant Professor in Cyber Security and Privacy

Subfield(s): Other, American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics

Specializations: International Security, Science & Technology, Research Methods

The Opportunity

The University of Central Florida (UCF) recently established nine interdisciplinary clusters to strengthen its academic offerings and research mission. In support of this effort, we are recruiting faculty in the broad area of cyber security and privacy, from a policy or social science perspective, and plan to hire a 9-month, tenure-earning assistant professor for this cluster. This position has an anticipated start date of August 8, 2025.

The Cybersecurity and Privacy Cluster is an interdisciplinary initiative, bringing together researchers from across the campus and working on addressing the pressing questions of our national security from engineering, science, and social perspectives. The cluster currently has 15 members, collectively advising more than 57+ doctoral students, and embracing a strong culture of collaboration and teamwork. This cluster runs various well-funded programs, has developed and implemented a new interdisciplinary M.S. in Cybersecurity and Privacy, is a recipient of the prestigious National Science Foundation Scholarship of Service Program, and has National Security Agency Center of Academic Excellence in Research (CAE-R) and in Cyber Defense (CAE-CD) designations.

This is an interdisciplinary position that will be expected to strengthen both the cluster and a chosen tenure home department and may include a combination of joint appointments. A strong advantage of this position is the ability of the candidate to choose a combination of units from the cluster for their own appointment. See <https://www.ucf.edu/research/cyber-security-privacy/> for a complete list of all the units involved. Both individual and interdisciplinary infrastructure and startup support will be provided with the new position.

The ideal candidate will have a strong background in cyber security and privacy and be on an upward leadership trajectory in these areas. They will have research impact as reflected in high-quality publications and the ability to build a well-funded research program. In particular, we are looking for a team player who can help bring together current campus efforts in cyber security or privacy, and someone who will work at the intersection of several areas addressing the intersection of the technical aspects of cyber security and privacy within the social sciences with a focus on one or more of the following topics: a) networked privacy; b) security/privacy issues of artificial intelligence (AI) applications; c) organizational issues of cyber security and privacy; d) cybercrimes; e) cyberwarfare; f) cyber security and intelligence; g) cyber security, privacy, and mis-information; h) politics of space and cybersecurity; i) political and behavioral issues in cyber-security; j) law, governance, and regulation related to privacy and cybersecurity; and k) simulation and modeling for cyber systems. With this in mind, we anticipate the selected candidate will be tenure-earning in one of,

but not limited to, the following units: School of Modeling, Simulation, and Training (SMST); and the School of Politics, Security, and International Affairs (SPSIA).

The School of Politics, Security, and International Affairs (SPSIA) is a school in the College of Science and offers graduate programs in security studies (Ph.D.) and political science (M.A.) as well as certificate programs in Survey, Network Analysis and Intelligence and National Security. SPSIA strives to provide excellence in research and teaching at all levels of higher education to prepare a diverse student body for career and life success as engaged citizens. The school is the home to five centers that are nationally recognized (The India Center, The Kurdish Program, The Lou Fry Institute, The Center for Global Economic and Environmental Opportunity). More information is available at: <https://sciences.ucf.edu/politics/>

The School of Modeling, Simulation, and Training (SMST) is a vibrant school under the College of Engineering and Computer Science that offers interdisciplinary graduate programs in Modeling and Simulation, Behavioral Cyber Security, and Digital Twins. Our academic programs are among the most recognized in the U.S. and internationally with 25 years of history in graduate education. SMST faculty maintain active cutting-edge research programs in Modeling and Simulation, and Digital Twins. More information is available at: <https://www.cecs.ucf.edu/sms/>

Minimum Qualifications:

A Ph.D., terminal degree, or foreign degree equivalent from an accredited institution in an area appropriate to the cluster at the time of the appointment. Ph.D. candidates with an ABD status will be considered for the opening, subject to obtaining their degree before the start date. Applicants must demonstrate a record of publications and a clear vision for future research plans.

Preferred Qualifications:

- A history of working with teams, especially that span multiple disciplines
- A demonstrated record of high-quality publications in topics related to the focus topics listed above.
- A promising research agenda that reflects theoretical creativity and empirical sophistication. Prior experience in proposal writing is a plus.
- A record of, or potential for, external research funding as appropriate for the discipline and tenure-home
- Prior teaching experience or the capacity to teach courses related to cyber-security, privacy and their behavioral/political aspects.
- Prior experience of teaching, or the capacity to teach, qualitative and/or quantitative research methods at the graduate or undergraduate levels.
- The willingness to teach in different modalities including face-to-face and online.
- Can contribute to the graduate programs related to the tenure School and the Cyber Security and Privacy cluster.

Additional Application Materials Required:

UCF requires all applications and supporting documents be submitted electronically through the Human Resources employment opportunities website, <https://www.ucf.edu/jobs/>. In addition to the online application, candidates should upload:

- 1) A cover letter
- 2) A curriculum vitae
- 3) A statement of research plans and goals
- 4) A statement of teaching philosophy including any experience/familiarity with student-centered learning approaches
- 5) Reprints of 2-3 recent key publications.

In the research statement candidates should include descriptions of their successful interdisciplinary research collaborations and how their current and future research can contribute to the cluster's overall interdisciplinary objectives. In the cover letter, candidates should address their background in one or more of the areas listed above, as appropriate.

The selected candidate will be required to submit official transcripts (and, as applicable, U.S. degree equivalency evaluations) documenting the conferral of their qualifying academic credentials.

NOTE: Please have all documents ready when applying so they can be simultaneously uploaded. Once the online submission process is finalized, the system does not allow applicants to submit additional documents later.

Questions regarding this search can be directed to Nayade Ramirez (Nayade.Ramirez@ucf.edu) or Dr. Cliff Zou at Changchun.Zou@ucf.edu.

Special Instructions to the Applicants: N/A

Job Close Date: Open until filled

Note to applicants: Please keep in mind that a job posted as 'Open until filled' may close at any time without notice. As such, we encourage you to submit your application and all required documentation as quickly as possible to ensure consideration for the posted position.

Are you ready to unleash YOUR potential?

As a next-generation public research university and Forbes-ranked top employer in Florida, we are a community of thinkers, doers, creators, innovators, healers, and leaders striving to create broader prosperity and help shape a better future. No matter what your role is, when you join Knight Nation, you'll play an integral role at one of the most impactful universities in the country. You'll be met with opportunities to connect and collaborate with talented faculty, staff, and students across 13 colleges and multiple campuses, engaging in impactful work that makes a positive difference. Your time at UCF will provide you with many meaningful opportunities to grow, you'll work alongside talented colleagues on complex projects that will challenge you and help you gain new skills and you'll have countless rewarding experiences that go well beyond a paycheck.

Working at UCF has its perks! UCF offers:

- Benefit packages, including Medical, Dental, Vision, Life Insurance, Flexible Spending, and Employee Assistance Program.?
- Paid time off, including annual (12-month faculty) and sick time off and paid holidays.
- Retirement savings options.?
- Employee discounts, including tickets to many Orlando attractions.?
- Education assistance.
- Flexible work environment.?
- And more...For more benefits information, view the UCF Employee Benefits Guide click here.

Unless explicitly stated on the job posting, it is UCF's expectation that an employee of UCF will reside in Florida as of the date the employment begins.

Additional Requirements related to Research Positions:

Pursuant to Florida State Statute 1010.35, prior to offering employment to certain individuals in research-related positions, UCF is required to conduct additional screening. Applicants subject to additional screening include any citizen of a foreign country who is not a permanent resident of the U.S., or who is a citizen or permanent resident but is affiliated with or has had at least 1 year of education, employment, or training in China, Cuba, Iran, Russia, North Korea, Syria, or Venezuela.

The additional screening requirements only apply to research-related positions, including, but not limited to faculty, graduate positions, individuals compensated by research grants or contract funds, postdoctoral positions, undergraduate positions, visiting assistant professors, and visiting research associates.

Department: Office Of Research, Research Centers & Institutes, College Of Graduate Studies, And Burnett Honors College HR Business Center

Work Schedule: Varies

Type of Appointment: Regular

Expected Salary: Negotiable

Equal Employment Opportunity Statement:

The University of Central Florida is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer including Disabled/Vets. Click on UCF's Equal Opportunity Statement to view the President's Statement.

The UCF affirmative action plans for qualified individuals with disabilities and protected Veterans are available for inspection in the Office of Institutional Equity, Monday through Friday, from 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m., upon request.

As a Florida public university, UCF makes all application materials and selection procedures available to the public upon request.

The University of Central Florida is proud to be a smoke-free campus and an E-Verify employer.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 2/18/2025

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 15440

Denison University

Rank: Visiting Assistant Position in Comparative Politics

Visiting Assistant Position in Comparative Politics

Denison University: Politics and Public Affairs

Location

Granville, Ohio

Open Date

Feb 10, 2025

Description

The Department of Politics and Public Affairs (PPA) at Denison University invites applications for a year-long visiting assistant position in comparative politics beginning Fall 2025. We seek applicants who are trained in comparative politics. Area of specialization is open, but we are interested in candidates who can teach classes with a regional focus beyond Europe/North America. The teaching load for this position is a 3-3.

Our newly inaugurated program in Politics and Public Affairs provides our students an integrated view of politics emphasizing links between theory and practice. Our major is structured as a learning community, where undergraduates pursue a track of interest that aligns with traditional subfields and have multiple opportunities to share their knowledge with peers. Our majors must complement classroom experiences with a department-approved off campus learning component. We are enthusiastic about our new approach to teaching about politics and public affairs, and we seek a VAP who shares our excitement. The successful candidate is expected to have strong interest in teaching in a liberal arts setting, with preference for individuals with demonstrated ability in effective teaching at the undergraduate level.

Qualifications

The successful candidate must have the demonstrated ability to teach PPA 102 Introduction to Policy-Making in Democracies as well as interest and ability to teach upper level classes in their area of expertise. The ability to teach an additional introductory course is a plus (PPA 122 Introduction to Global Governance or PPA 132 Introduction to Theorizing about Political Life).

Candidates should have completed a Ph.D. in Political Science or closely-related field by the start date but ABDs will also be considered. Independent teaching experience (beyond TA) strongly preferred.

Application Instructions

Applications must be submitted online at <https://employment.denison.edu> and should include the following:

<https://apply.interfolio.com/162871>

Letter of application

Curriculum vitae

Unofficial Graduate level transcript

Evidence of teaching effectiveness such as teaching evaluations or other artifacts (including additional syllabus)

1 page statement addressing the candidate's teaching philosophy, interests, and experience

A syllabus for a comparative politics class, ideally for an introductory comparative politics class

Contact information for three reference

To ensure full consideration, completed applications must be received by March 2, 2025.

For further information or questions, please contact:

Malliga Och, Search Committee Chair (ochm@denison.edu)

Department of Politics and Public Affairs

Denison University

100 W College St
Granville, OH 43023

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 2/13/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15424

Wellesley College

Rank: Visiting Lecturer in Political Science

Specializations: East Asia, Middle East, Russia

The Political Science Department at Wellesley College invites applications for a one-year visiting lecturer in comparative politics. We are particularly interested in candidates whose research and teaching focuses on one of the following regions: East Asia; the Middle East and North Africa; Russia and Central Asia. The successful candidate will teach five courses over two semesters, including one section of the Comparative Politics introductory course in both the fall and spring semesters.

Applications should be submitted online through the college's career application website (<https://www.wellesley.edu/about-us/working-at-wellesley>). Please submit the following: a letter of application, a C.V., and a writing sample (not to exceed 40 pages). Reference letters are not required at the time of application, but may be requested. Applications will be considered on a rolling basis, beginning on February 18th. This position is in a collective bargaining unit represented by Wellesley Organized Academic Workers – UAW (WOAW-UAW).

Wellesley College is an Equal Opportunity Employer, and Massachusetts law prohibits discrimination in hiring against qualified individuals. Candidates who believe they can contribute to the college community are encouraged to apply.

Start Date:

Date Posted: 2/11/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15416

Wofford College

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor of International Affairs

The Department of Government and International Affairs at Wofford College in Spartanburg, South Carolina, invites applications for a one-year visiting assistant professor/instructor of international affairs to begin fall 2025. At Wofford, faculty serve as teacher-scholars dedicated to the education and mentorship of undergraduates in a liberal arts tradition. We require candidates to be broadly trained in international relations and/or comparative politics and to have the ability to teach a range of introductory and upper level international relations and comparative politics courses. Graduate coursework on teaching and/or additional pedagogical training through workshops or certificates is helpful for this position. The teaching load for this position is 4-4 with multiple sections of the same course.

REQUIRED QUALIFICATIONS

A Ph.D. or ABD in Political Science, equivalent or closely related field. Experience as a graduate teaching assistant or have taught at least one undergraduate level course(s).

APPLICATION

All applications must include the following materials:

- (1) a letter of application that discusses the candidate's interest in teaching at a residential liberal arts college, the candidate's interest in Wofford College and the Department of Government & International Affairs, and the candidate's teaching philosophy.
- (2) a curriculum vitae;
- (3) evidence of teaching effectiveness;
- (4) letters of support from two professional references;

All application materials should be sent to InternationalAffairsVAP@Wofford.edu

Applications due by March 7, 2025, or until position is filled.

ABOUT WOFFORD COLLEGE:

Wofford College is a place where thought leads, where ideas are celebrated and problem solving is expected. Wofford invites applicants who are focused on student success and excited to join a community committed to preparing thought leaders.

Wofford College, established in 1854, is a four-year, residential liberal arts college located in Spartanburg, South Carolina. It offers 27 major fields of study to a student body of 1,874 undergraduates. Nationally known for the strength of its academic program, outstanding faculty, experiential learning opportunities and successful and supportive graduates, Wofford is recognized consistently as a "best value" and for its commitment to student success and accessibility for low- and middle-income students. The college community has 12 sororities and fraternities as well as 20 NCAA Division I athletics teams.

The Department of Government and International Affairs has six full-time tenure-track faculty and over a hundred majors. We cover a broad scope of subject matter with an intellectually diverse faculty.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 3/7/2025

Date Posted: 2/10/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15410

California State University, Northridge

Rank: Part Time Lecturer

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, Public Policy

Specializations: American Politics, United States, United States

Announcement of Anticipated Part-Time Faculty Openings

Department: Political Science

Effective Date of Appointment: Academic Year 2025-2026

CSUN's Commitment to You:

CSUN is committed to achieving excellence through teaching, scholarship, learning and inclusion. Our values include a respect for all people, building partnerships with the community and the encouragement of innovation, experimentation and creativity. CSUN strives to cultivate a community in which a diverse population can learn and work in an atmosphere of civility and respect. CSUN is especially interested in candidates who make contributions to equity and inclusion in the pursuit of excellence for all members of the university community.

As a Hispanic-serving Institution (HSI), inclusiveness and diversity are integral to CSUN's commitment to excellence in teaching, research, and engagement. As of Fall 2024, CSUN enrolls 36,848 students, where 56.3% are Latinx, 18.9% are White, 8.7% are Asian-American, 5.3% are Black/African American, 0.1% are Native American, and 0.1% are Native Hawaiian or Pacific Islander.

For more information about the University, visit our website at: <http://www.csun.edu>

About the College:

For information about the College, visit our website at: <https://www.csun.edu/social-behavioral-sciences>

About the Department:

For information about the department, visit our website at: <https://www.csun.edu/social-behavioral-sciences/political-science>

ANTICIPATED NEEDS:

Instructors for in-person Washington, D.C.-based classes in support of the CSUN in DC Internship Program. Specific classes are listed below.

Note: All part-time faculty appointments are temporary and do not confer academic rank. Final determination of part-time teaching assignments is contingent upon student enrollment figures and funding.

Current Salary Range:

Fractional Amount of Base Salary (($5507- $6221)

Paid in 6 monthly installments

Courses or Specialization:

Upper division courses in:

1. POLS 494IB. Social Science Career Internship
2. POLS 494I/A. Political Science Internship
3. POLS 449DC. DC Politics, Culture, and History
4. POLS 449PR. Professional Development in DC

Qualifications:

Applicants must have Ph.D. in Political Science or a closely related field in hand or must be in the advanced stages of Ph.D. candidacy or must have at least 10 years of professional experience working in government, politics, non-profit management, or advocacy. Applicants who are in the advanced stages of Ph.D. candidacy must have passed the comprehensive examination for the Ph.D. in their field. University teaching experience is strongly preferred.

A demonstrated ability and commitment to teach, mentor and work with a diverse student population.

Application Process:

Applicants must submit a current resume, a cover letter, a sample syllabus, evidence of teaching effectiveness and the attached checklist indicating which course(s) they are interested in teaching to the address in the section below. The resume should include educational background, prior teaching experience, evidence of scholarship, and/or related professional experience. In later phases of the search process, applicants may be requested to provide verification of terminal degrees, licenses and certificates.

Application Deadline:

For AY 2025 - 2026: March 24, 2025

(Checklist)PLEASE INDICATE COURSES YOU ARE INTERESTED IN TEACHING:

- ☐ POLS 494IB. Social Science Career Internship
☐ POLS 494I/A. Political Science Internship
☐ POLS 449DC. DC Politics, Culture, and History
☐ POLS 449PR. Professional Development in DC

Inquiries and applications should be emailed to: keiko.hirata@csun.edu and copied to sue.talavera@csun.edu.

With a subject line of "Lecturer application 2025-2026".

Dr. Keiko Hirata, Chair & Eugene Price Professor
 Department of Political Science
 California State University, Northridge
 18111 Nordhoff Street

Northridge, CA 91330-8254

General Information:

In compliance with the Annual Security Report & Fire Safety Report of Campus Security Policy and Campus Crime Statistics Act, California State University, Northridge has made crime-reporting statistics available on-line here. Print copies are available by request from the Department of Police Services, the Office for Faculty Affairs, and the Office of Equity and Diversity.

The person holding this position may be considered a 'mandated reporter' under the California Child Abuse and Neglect Reporting Act and is required to comply with the requirements set forth in CSU Executive Order 1083 as a condition of employment.

A background check (including a criminal records check) must be completed satisfactorily before any candidate can be offered a position with the CSU. Failure to satisfactorily complete the background check may affect the application status of applicants or continued employment of current CSU employees who apply for the position.

CSUN is an Equal Opportunity Employer and prohibits discrimination based on race, color, ethnicity, religion, national origin, age, gender, gender identity/expression, sexual orientation, genetic information, medical condition, marital status, veteran status, and disability. Our nondiscrimination policy is set forth in Interim CSU Nondiscrimination Policy. Reasonable accommodations will be provided for applicants with disabilities who self-disclose by contacting Political Science at 818-677- 3488.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 3/24/2025

Date Posted: 2/4/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15395

Western Carolina University

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor - International Relations/Comparative Politics

The Department of Political Science and Public Affairs at Western Carolina University is searching for a visiting assistant professor in International Relations and/or Comparative Politics to join our growing and accomplished faculty.

This is a fixed-term nine-month position, with a chance of renewal. The anticipated begin date is August 2025. The successful candidate will contribute to the Political Science and International Studies programs by teaching six courses per academic year, including sections of our "Exploring Global Politics" course, a core introductory class in our Political Science major. Upper-level courses within the candidate's specialization will also be part of the teaching load. The primary location of this position is the Cullowhee, NC campus. The possibility of summer teaching may also be available, but not required for this position.

Preferred qualifications include a PhD in Political Science, International Relations, International Studies, or a related discipline from an accredited institution. Advanced ABD candidates from an accredited university will also be considered. Preferred candidates will also have research and teaching expertise in the politics of the Middle East or Asia, and a demonstrated focus on these regions.

The position is open until filled and the search committee will begin reviewing applications on February 26, 2025.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 1/17/2025

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 15350

Ohio State University

Rank: Post-Doctoral Scholar: AI & Politics

Subfield(s): Methodology, American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics

Post-Doctoral Scholar: AI & Politics

The Department of Political Science at The Ohio State University invites applications for a Post Doctoral Scholar position. Successful applicants will have research interests in the area of AI in Politics and Society. Based in Columbus, Ohio, the position will begin in the fall of 2025 for a one-year term. Preferred applicants will have the promise of a sustained and substantial body of work developing and utilizing data analytic and/or artificial intelligence tools for the analysis of socio-political questions. The position is open with respect to substantive focus or disciplinary subfield in Political Science.

This position is part of the investment of The Ohio State University Provost in the Department of Political Science in Socio-Political Analysis and AI: <https://polisci.osu.edu/good-to-great-proposal> Socio-Political Analysis and AI (SPAI)

Responsibilities include conducting research on advanced topics in the application of data analytics and AI to social scientific questions and engaging with interdisciplinary efforts focused on data analytics and/or AI, including relevant field seminars.

Minimum Education Required

Doctoral degree in a relevant field is required. ABDs are welcome to apply but must have PhD in hand prior to the start date of this position.

Required Qualifications

Must have the capacity to integrate methodological insights with substantive research demonstrated through a record of and/or a promise of scholarly excellence.

Desired

Preferred candidates will show a willingness to participate in interdisciplinary collaborative efforts and should demonstrate a commitment to building a diverse intellectual community, in line with <https://www.osu.edu/shared-values> Ohio State's Shared Values.

Additional Information:

Candidates are asked to include the following with their application:

- Cover letter and CV as a single document
- Research Statement
- One or more writing sample as a single document
- Unofficial transcripts

Questions regarding this position can be directed to the search committee chair, Prof. Janet Box-Steffensmeier (mailto:box-steffensmeier.1@osu.edubox-steffensmeier.1@osu.edu).

Applications should be submitted through our https://osu.wd1.myworkdayjobs.com/OSUCareers/job/Columbus-Campus/Post-Doctoral-Scholar---AI---Politics_R121216-1/applyonline portal for this position.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 2/14/2025

Date Posted: 1/16/2025

Salary: $70,000 - $79,999

eJobs ID: 15343

Hampden-Sydney College

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of Government and Foreign Affairs at Hampden-Sydney College invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track appointment at the rank of Assistant Professor beginning in Fall 2025. Candidates should have expertise in Comparative Politics and/or International Relations. The Department seeks applicants who can offer intermediate courses in European politics, international relations theory and/or international organization. The successful applicant may participate in the college-wide Core Cultures program or teach introductory courses in world politics. Faculty teach in a 6-6-7 course rotation with six courses per year for two years and seven courses in the third year.

Hampden-Sydney College values the teacher/scholar model. Successful applicants will have a record of effective classroom teaching, a commitment to scholarly productivity, and a willingness to work with colleagues on professional service responsibilities. Applicants should have a Ph.D. or be advanced ABD in political science at the time of appointment.

Please submit a letter of application, curriculum vitae, teaching statement, research statement, and three letters of reference to Dr. Celia Carroll Jones, Chair, Department of Government and Foreign Affairs, Hampden-Sydney College at <http://apply.interfolio.com/161830>. Review of applications will begin February 15, 2025.

Hampden-Sydney is one of three liberal arts colleges in the United States dedicated to the education of men, and our mission is to educate “good men and good citizens in an atmosphere of sound learning.” As a community, we are dedicated to the goal of building a culturally diverse staff committed to working in a multicultural environment and strongly encourage applications from women and minoritized groups. Hampden-Sydney College values diversity, prohibits discrimination, and is committed to equal opportunity for all employees and applicants for employment.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 2/15/2025

Date Posted: 1/12/2025

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 15335

Bowdoin College

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor of Government

The Government Department at Bowdoin College invites applications for two full-time, benefits-eligible visiting assistant professor positions for the 2025-2026 academic year. The appointments will be for one year and begin July 1, 2025. The teaching load is two courses per semester. The successful candidates must be able to teach Introduction to Comparative Politics as well as courses in their own specialties. The subfield is open; we are especially interested in candidates specializing in the comparative politics of Japan and/or other countries in Asia. A PhD in Political Science or a related field is expected by the date of appointment.

Bowdoin College offers opportunities for professional development including robust programming and resources for establishing and enhancing mentoring networks. The College also offers support for teaching, scholarship, publication, digital initiatives, computing software, conference travel, and community partnerships in courses.

Bowdoin embraces diversity in all forms, and the College is home to talented students, faculty and staff—with a variety of racial, ethnic, cultural, and socioeconomic backgrounds; religious beliefs; and gender identities, among other factors. We encourage applications from candidates committed to the inclusive instruction and support of a diverse student population and those who will enrich and contribute to the College's multifaceted diversity. Accessibility during the application and interview stages, as well as once employed, is a priority of the College: <https://www.bowdoin.edu/accessibility/index.html>. In addition, visa sponsorships for faculty hires are available.

At Bowdoin, we also embrace inclusive excellence, an ongoing collective practice that honors our institutional commitment to provide an outstanding liberal arts education and serve the common good. We practice inclusive excellence when we build capacity to engage with and learn from differences, leverage resources to disrupt inequities, and foster belonging so that all members of our community can thrive.

Bowdoin College accepts only electronic submissions. Please submit: 1) a cover letter that includes a summary of your scholarly focus, a description of your teaching philosophy and experience, and a description of how your approach demonstrates a commitment to inclusive excellence in teaching; 2) a curriculum vitae; 3) the names and contact information for three references who have agreed to provide letters of recommendation. Letter writers will be automatically contacted upon submission of your application.

Review of applications will begin on January 24, 2025, and continue until the position is filled. The targeted hiring salary range for this appointment based on the position requirements is $71,000 – $75,000.

Founded in 1794, Bowdoin has maintained its commitment to the liberal arts for well over 200 years. Bowdoin's reputation as a preeminent liberal arts college rests on the excellence of its faculty, students, and staff; intimate size; strong sense of community; and connections to the people, history, and natural beauty of Maine. Bowdoin's campus is situated in a beautiful natural setting. Located in Brunswick, Maine, a town of approximately 20,000, the College is a short drive from the Maine coast, twenty-five miles from Portland and 120 miles from Boston. Bowdoin College complies with applicable provisions of federal and state laws that prohibit unlawful discrimination in employment, admission, or access to its educational or extracurricular programs, activities, or facilities based on race, color, ethnicity, ancestry and national origin, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity and/or expression, age, marital status, place of birth, genetic predisposition, veteran status, or against qualified individuals with physical or mental disabilities on the basis of disability, or any other legally protected statuses. For further information about the College and our department, please visit our website: <http://www.bowdoin.edu>.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 1/9/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15331

University of California, Berkeley

Rank: Postdoctoral Employee, Political Economy of Climate Policy

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Public Policy, International Relations

Specializations: Political Economy, Environmental Policy, Energy Policy

POSITION OVERVIEW

Position title: Postdoc Employee, Political Economy of Climate Policy
Salary range: The UC postdoc salary scales set the minimum pay determined by experience level at appointment. See the following table(s) for the current salary scale(s) for this position: https://www.ucop.edu/academic-personnel-programs/_files/2024-25/oct-2024-scales/t23.pdf. The current minimum salary range for this position is $66,737-$74,425. Salaries above the minimum may be offered when necessary to meet competitive conditions.

Percent time: 100

Anticipated start: as early as possible, negotiable

Position duration: Initial appointment is for 2 years with possibility of renewal based on performance and availability of funding.

APPLICATION WINDOW

Next review date: Monday, January 13, 2025

Final date: Applications will continue to be accepted until a candidate has been chosen.

POSITION DESCRIPTION

The Berkeley Economy and Society Initiative seeks applications for a Postdoctoral Scholar in the area of the political economy of climate policy and the energy transition.

The Postdoctoral Scholar will be part of the Berkeley Economy and Society Initiative (BESI), a campuswide program to advance new political and economic thought on urgent societal challenges. BESI's climate cluster conducts research and engagement on climate politics and policy, with a focus on the intersection of climate and economic policymaking. Jonas Meckling directs the cluster and is the faculty lead for the position, while other faculty may be involved in projects. Areas of research interest include but are not limited to the intersection of climate policy and economic policy broadly understood. Specific interests relate to the greening of innovation, industrial, trade, development, monetary, and fiscal policy. We welcome international political economy, comparative political economy, or regional/country perspectives as well as firm-centered approaches.

Applicants are expected to pitch their existing research and possible areas of collaboration. They may also contribute to possible projects of collaboration proposed by us.

QUALIFICATIONS

Basic qualifications (required at time of application)

PhD or equivalent international degree or enrolled in such a program.

APPLICATION REQUIREMENTS

Document requirements

Curriculum Vitae - Your most recently updated C.V.

Cover Letter - Please include a 1-2 page cover letter.

Statement of Research - This research proposal should not exceed 5 pages. Applicants should provide specific information about research plans, including possible areas of collaboration.

Recent Publications - Please include at least one recent publication.

Reference requirements

Names and contact details for 3 references. We will only request letters of recommendation for shortlisted candidates.

Apply email: Submit your application as a single pdf file to BESIHR@berkeley.edu.

Start Date: Summer 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 1/8/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15327

Williams College

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor in Political Science

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Other

The Williams College Department of Political Science invites applications for a one-year appointment in the 2025 - 2026 academic year, as Visiting Assistant Professor in Political Science. We seek individuals who can teach courses in comparative politics, especially those with an East Asia, Africa, or other regional focus. The ability to teach introduction to comparative politics is required. The ability to teach courses in international relations is a plus. The teaching load is four courses, split evenly between the fall and spring semesters. We welcome applications from candidates of all backgrounds and strongly encourage individuals from underrepresented identities or those whose experiences and perspectives will enhance our commitment to academic excellence and innovation to apply. The Williams College Department of Political Science invites applications for a one-year appointment in the 2025 - 2026 academic year, as Visiting Assistant Professor in Political Science. We seek individuals who can teach courses in comparative politics, especially those with an East Asia, Africa, or other regional focus. The ability to teach introduction to comparative politics is required. The ability to teach courses in international relations is a plus. The teaching load is four courses, split evenly between the fall and spring semesters. We welcome applications from candidates of all backgrounds and strongly encourage individuals from underrepresented identities or those whose experiences and perspectives will enhance our commitment to academic excellence and innovation to apply.

Candidates should have the Ph.D. completed by June 2025. Application items should include: a cover letter detailing teaching experience and competencies as well as current scholarly interests; two syllabi of classes taught or planned to be taught; a curriculum vitae; three letters of recommendation; teaching evaluations accompanied by comparative or statistical context (if available); and a writing sample of only one article or chapter. We ask you to write in your cover letter about your ability to work effectively with a student population that is broadly diverse with regard to gender, race, ethnicity, nationality, sexual orientation, and religion.

We will begin to review applications on February 1st, but will consider submissions until the search is completed. All application materials should be submitted through Interfolio [apply.interfolio.com/160837]. Fax and email applications will not be not accepted. Inquiries may be sent to Erin Malloy at emb8@williams.edu. All offers of employment are contingent upon completion of a background check.

Further information is available here: faculty.williams.edu/prospective-faculty/background-check-policy/

Williams College is a liberal arts institution located in the Berkshire Hills of western Massachusetts. The college has built its reputation on outstanding teaching and scholarship and on the academic excellence of its approximately 2,000 students. Please visit the Williams College website (<http://www.williams.edu>) to learn more about the College and in particular its professional development resources for faculty. Beyond meeting fully its legal obligations for non-discrimination, Williams College is committed to building a diverse and inclusive community where members from all backgrounds can live, learn, and thrive. and innovation to apply.

Start Date: Summer 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 1/6/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15322

University of Notre Dame

Rank: Postdoctoral Researcher in Democracy (SM)

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Methodology, Other

Specializations: Latin American, Political Development, Political Parties & Organizations

The Kellogg Institute for International Studies, part of the Keough School of Global Affairs at the University of Notre Dame, is seeking a Postdoctoral Researcher in Democracy for academic years 2025-27 as part of its commitment to the University's Democracy Initiative. Individuals selected for the postdoctoral position will have the option of renewing their appointment for a second year, conditional on satisfactory performance.

The individual selected for this position will devote approximately 50% of their time to working with Scott Mainwaring, Eugene and Helen Conley Professor of Political Science, and 50% of his/her time to independent research. The work with Professor Mainwaring will revolve around the third wave of democratization in Latin America and globally. The expectation is that the individual will coauthor one or two articles and possibly a book on this topic with Professor Mainwaring and Fernando Bizzarro (Boston College).

A successful postdoctoral candidate will have a Ph.D. in Political Science or Sociology by the start of the 2025-26 academic year. Expertise on Latin America and excellent quantitative and qualitative skills are essential, as the candidate is expected to contribute to both quantitative and qualitative analyses. Strong knowledge of the literature on political regimes is desirable, but scholars who have expertise on a wide range of subjects related to democracy could be outstanding candidates even if they have not worked directly on political regimes. The candidate must have reading proficiency in Spanish and/or Portuguese.

The successful candidate will have dedicated office space and a $5,000 per year research allowance. They will be expected to attend and present at Kellogg Tuesday and Work-In-Progress seminars. Reasonable moving expenses will be covered.

To apply, please submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, research statement, dissertation abstract, a writing sample, and three letters of recommendation, along with filling out the short application form. Review of applications will begin on February 3, 2025. Candidates are expected to join Notre Dame in August 2025. This position is located in South Bend, Indiana, and the successful candidate is expected to be in residence for the duration of the appointment.

Qualifications

A successful postdoctoral candidate will have a Ph.D. in Political Science or Sociology before starting the position.

Application Instructions

To apply, please submit a cover letter that includes a description of your current research, a curriculum vitae, a writing sample, three letters of recommendation, and fill out the short application form.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 2/28/2025

Date Posted: 12/12/2024

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 15283

George Washington University

Rank: Assistant/Associate Professor

Academic Title: Assistant/Associate Professor of Middle East politics

Position Description Summary

The Elliott School of International Affairs at the George Washington University in Washington, D.C. invites applications for the position of Assistant/Associate Professor of Middle East politics with expertise on Iran. We seek a professor with expertise in Middle East politics and the ability to teach courses on Iran and U.S.-Iran relations. The successful candidate also will be able to teach courses on the international relations of the Middle East. The initial contract period will begin as early as Fall 2025 and be for three academic years, with the potential for renewal. This is a full-time, specialized service (non-tenure track) faculty position.

George Washington University's culture reflects its shared values, including respect and diversity. The Elliott School recognizes that diversity and social mobility are among our country's greatest assets in engaging the rest of the world; we are deeply committed as a school to fostering an inclusive community. To this end, we encourage candidates from diverse identities, backgrounds, and experiences. We are particularly interested in receiving applications from members of underrepresented groups. The selected candidate will be expected to support inclusive excellence, including inclusive teaching. To learn more about the Elliott School's commitment to diversity, equity, and inclusion, visit elliott.gwu.edu/diversity-and-inclusion.

Specific Duties And Responsibilities

The effort breakdown for the position is 75 percent teaching and 25 percent service. The successful candidate will offer five courses a year that are predominantly for undergraduates and can include different aspects of modern Iranian politics, contemporary Iranian society and culture, and the international relations of the Middle East. Service will involve working with the Director of the Institute for Middle East Studies on organizing public lectures and other events.

Minimum Qualifications

Applicants must have excellent teaching skills as demonstrated by student evaluations, experience in teaching undergraduate students, and a demonstrated commitment to equity and inclusion in the classroom. They must hold a doctorate or equivalent degree in International Relations, International Security, Political Science, or a related field by date of appointment; ABD applicants will be considered but must complete all requirements for the doctorate by date of appointment. Fluency in Persian is required.

Advertised Salary: $90,000 - $125,000

Benefits: GW offers a comprehensive benefit package that includes medical, dental, vision, life & disability insurance, time off & leave, retirement savings, tuition, well-being and various voluntary benefits. For program details and eligibility, please visit <https://hr.gwu.edu/benefits-programs>

Special Instructions To Applicants

To apply, please complete an online application at <https://www.gwu.jobs/postings/116111>. Applicants must submit a cover letter that includes a statement of interest in the Elliott School and discusses the candidate's contributions to teaching.

Applicants must also submit a CV; a statement of teaching objectives and methods (upload under Statement of Teaching Interest); evidence of effective teaching (upload under Course Evaluations or Summaries); DEI diversity statement (upload under Other Documents); and names of three references. Letters of recommendation are not required for application but will be requested for final candidates. Candidates who are invited for an interview will be expected to give a teaching demonstration.

Review of applications will begin on December 20, 2024, and will continue until the position is filled. Only complete applications will be considered.

Successful Completion of a Background Screening will be required as a condition of hire.

EEO Statement: The university is an Equal Employment Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer that does not unlawfully discriminate in any of its programs or activities on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, national origin, age, disability, veteran status, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, or on any other basis prohibited by applicable law.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 12/20/2024

Date Posted: 11/22/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15239

University of Chicago

Rank: Senior Instructional Professor in CIR

Subfield(s): International Relations, American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics

Description

The Division of the Social Sciences at the University of Chicago invites applications for one or more positions as Senior Instructional Professor (SIP) in the Committee on International Relations (CIR). This is a full-time, career track teaching position. The initial will be between three and five years, depending on rank, and will begin in Academic Year 2024-5 and is renewable with opportunity for promotion. Appointments at the Assistant, Associate, and Full Senior Instructional Professor rank will be considered.

The University of Chicago's CIR is a one-year MA program that trains students in the theory and methods in the study international politics. CIR is a top 15 ranked Master's program, according to Foreign Policy magazine. Founded in 1928, it is the country's oldest MA program in International Relations. CIR's curriculum is organized around core courses in international security, international political economy, and global governance. Students also have access to a vast array of graduate courses offered by the faculty in all University of Chicago departments. Each MA student writes an original, research-intensive thesis. Overall, the program is characterized by a strong focus on academic research and intellectual collaboration across disciplines. The program trains MA students for research-oriented positions in academia, industry, government, consulting, and a variety of think tanks. Graduates have entered top Ph.D. programs and taken prestigious non-academic professional roles.

This is a leadership position. The appointee will also hold the title of Assistant or Associate Director of CIR.

The SIP will annually teach up to four courses. These may include 2-3 courses in the current CIR core curriculum (International Security and Order, International Political Economy, or Global Governance, Rights, and Norms) or a new addition to the core curriculum. These may also include 1-2 electives on more specialized topics in international relations in any of our five field specializations: (1) International Security, Conflict Studies, and Contentious Politics; (2) International Political Economy and Development; (3) Comparative Studies in Institutions and Identity; (4) Human Rights, the Environment, and International Law; and (5) Research Methods in the Social Sciences. The SIP will also oversee a limited number of MA theses (approximately 8-10 per year).

In their administrative leadership, the SIP will, in consultation with the Faculty Director(s) of CIR, provide leadership in vision, planning, and promotion of CIR within and beyond the University; develop, implement, and oversee curricular and co-curricular programs to advance student learning; directly supervise and evaluate other teaching personnel and manage their reappointments; develop new programming to assist in the pedagogical training of all CIR instructors; coordinate all CIR course offerings; serve as the first point of contact for students with disciplinary concerns and for student well-being; make recommendations on how best to improve program operations; lead our PhD application clinic; develop programs to improve post-graduation placement and track these outcomes; and contribute to admissions, staff hiring, student recruitment, and alumni engagement. The SIP will be supervised by CIR's Faculty Director.

This position also includes support for professional development and the possibility of affiliate status with other academic units, such as the Department of Political Science.

Qualifications

Candidates must be at least three years post-PhD in prior to the start date. They must have a demonstrated record designing and teaching courses at the undergraduate or graduate level as a degreed professional, demonstrated experience in research and practice related to the field of International Relations, and promise of future achievement in the performance of all leadership, management, administrative, and supervisory responsibilities to a high standard of excellence.

Application Instructions

The following materials must be submitted through Interfolio at URL: <http://apply.interfolio.com/157717> (1) a cover letter which includes information about the applicant's prior experience with administrative duties, managing staff, and mentoring students; (2) a curriculum vitae; (3) a teaching statement describing previous experience in the classroom, in advising, and suggested course offerings; (4) a research statement; (5) at least one course syllabus; (6) an article-length writing sample on a topic of specialty in International Relations; (7) course evaluations or other evidence of past excellence in teaching or mentoring; and (8) the names and contact information for three recommenders.

Review of applications will begin November 23rd and will continue until the position is filled or the search is close.

Equal Employment Opportunity Statement

All University departments and institutes are charged with building a faculty from a diversity of backgrounds and with diverse viewpoints; with cultivating an inclusive community that values freedom of expression; and with welcoming and supporting all their members.

We seek a diverse pool of applicants who wish to join an academic community that places the highest value on rigorous inquiry and encourages diverse perspectives, experiences, groups of individuals, and ideas to inform and stimulate intellectual challenge, engagement, and exchange. The University's Statements on Diversity are at <https://provost.uchicago.edu/statements-diversity>.

The University of Chicago is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity/Disabled/Veterans Employer and does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender, gender identity, national or ethnic origin, age, status as an individual with a disability, military or veteran status, genetic information, or other protected classes under the law. For additional information please see the University's Notice of Nondiscrimination.

Job seekers in need of a reasonable accommodation to complete the application process should call 773-834-3988 or email equalopportunity@uchicago.edu with their request.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/25/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15110

Universidad Catolica del Uruguay

Rank: Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Methodology, International Relations

The Universidad Católica del Uruguay calls for applications to fill a position of Assistant Professor (Full time) at its Department of Social Sciences. Candidates should hold a Ph.D. of be near completion (July 2025) in Sociology or Political Science, but candidates in other social science disciplines such as Demography, Human Geography or Criminology are also encouraged to apply. Candidates may be specialized in any substantive subarea (for example, research methods, public policy, social stratification, socioeconomic inequalities, political economy, or comparative politics).

Candidates must demonstrate excellence in teaching, an active substantive research agenda, and a demonstrated ability to publish and teach in English and Spanish. Successful candidates are expected to work full-time (160 hours per month) and start working in February or August 2025.

Applications will start being analyzed on October 30, 2024, but applications received after that will still be considered until the position is filled or the university closes the call. A complete application must contain (1) a cover letter, (2) CV, (3) an example of an undergraduate course program that the candidate would be able to teach, (4) up to 2 examples of academic research work, (5) teacher evaluations, and (6) three letters of recommendation. The application should be made electronically (<https://bpm.ucu.edu.uy/public/01LPOSD>). Letters of recommendation must be directly sent by their author to the following email: ines.fynn@ucu.edu.uy (Ref: LLAMACA-257–Letter of recommendation for [Name Last name]).

The selection process will consist on the following stages. First, a short list of candidates will be selected to be interviewed by the Selection Committee in person or via videoconference in case of residing abroad. Then, 3 shortlisted candidates will be invited to the Montevideo campus to present their research and hold interviews with members of the Department and other authorities. The selection committee may request from the candidates, at any time during the process, additional materials, or the corresponding accreditations. The decisions of the selection committee will be final. The Universidad Católica del Uruguay reserves the right not to hire any candidates without responsibility of any kind at its own expense.

For additional information, applicants may contact the Department's Chair, Rosario Queirolo (rosario.queirolo@ucu.edu.uy).

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/14/2024

Salary: $40,000 - $49,999

eJobs ID: 15054

MU (Columbia) Campus

Rank: Open-Rank Tenure-Track/Tenured Professor

Open-Rank Tenure-Track/Tenured Professor
University of Missouri in Columbia, MO

Description

The University of Missouri's ambitious multi-year hiring initiative, Mizzou Forward, is intended to attract high profile scholars with a record of significant external funding. The Truman School of Government and Public Affairs is participating in this initiative and tenure-line positions are available for exceptional candidates in the fields of public policy, political science, comparative politics, international relations, and/or public administration. This is an executive style search that is managed centrally by the University; applications may be submitted at any time.

A successful MizzouForward candidate is a research leader with a passion for collaboration and the grit to address our world's most pressing research challenges. The colleagues we're looking to recruit possess:

- ? A proven track record of active, external research funding, particularly from federal agencies
- ? A research agenda that complements the goals of MizzouForward
- ? A robust publication and citation record
- ? National awards and honors, membership with national academies
- ? An interdisciplinary scope of work.

For more information and to apply, see: <https://provost.missouri.edu/mizzou-forward/>.

The Truman School of Government and Public Affairs has 33 faculty with academic appointments in the school and houses a PhD in Political Science, a PhD in Public Affairs, a Master's in Public Affairs, and a Master's in Defense and Strategic Studies, as well as BA in Political Science and a BA in Public Administration and Policy. For more information see: <https://truman.missouri.edu/>.

About the University of Missouri

The University of Missouri was founded in 1839 in Columbia, Missouri, as the first public university west of the Mississippi River and the first state university in the Louisiana Purchase territory. MU provides the benefits of two universities in one — it is a major land-grant institution and Missouri's largest public research university.

Considered one of the nation's top-tier institutions, MU has a reputation of excellence in teaching and research and is the flagship campus of the four-campus University of Missouri System. It is one of only 64 public universities, and the only public institution in Missouri, to be selected for membership in the Association of American Universities. Mizzou is the flagship campus of the University of Missouri system, located in Columbia, just 20 minutes to the Columbia Regional Airport, and less than 2 hours to St. Louis or Kansas City.

Columbia, MO., consistently rated as one of the best communities to live, is an ideal college town, combining small-town comforts, community spirit and low cost of living with big-city culture, activities and resources. Home to nationally renowned public schools and other colleges and educational centers, Columbia is packed with restaurants and entertainment venues and hosts more than a dozen annual cultural festivals.

Application Requirements

- External application URL and instructions below:
<https://provost.missouri.edu/mizzou-forward/>.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/10/2024

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 15032

Lehigh University

Rank: Bernard L. & Bertha F. Cohen Chair in International Relations

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Other

Position: Bernard L. and Bertha F. Cohen Chair in International Relations

LEHIGH UNIVERSITY. The Department of International Relations invites applications for a tenured Full Professor to fill the Bernard L. and Bertha F. Cohen Chair, with an anticipated start date of July 2025. The position is open to all research and teaching specializations within the fields of international relations, foreign policy, and/or comparative politics.

Candidates must have an earned PhD in International Relations or a closely related field. The ideal candidate will have connections to the policy community in Washington, DC, and/or New York City and be able to assist students with internship placement.

Candidates are expected to have a strong commitment to undergraduate teaching and excellence in research. The individual hired will, specifically, be expected to teach courses in International Relations at the undergraduate level, engage in scholarly activities, and participate in departmental, college, and university service, as well as advise undergraduate internships.

Lehigh is among the few higher educational institutions in the US that has long had a separate department of IR. This allows students with a particular interest in international affairs to benefit from a concentrated, high-level program of study that few other schools offer.

Founded in 1865, Lehigh University has combined outstanding academic and learning opportunities with leadership in fostering innovative research. Recognized among the nation's highly-ranked research universities, Lehigh offers a rigorous academic community for over 7,500 students. Lehigh University has some 5,800 undergraduates, 1,800 graduate students, and nearly 600 full-time faculty members. Lehigh University is located in Bethlehem, PA, a vibrant and historic area. Over 840,000 people live in the Lehigh Valley, which is in close proximity to New York City and Philadelphia.

Review of applications will begin on October 11, 2024, and will continue until the position is filled. For full consideration, however, applications should be received by October 11, 2024. Applicants should submit their materials at <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajol/jobs/28335>. Candidates should submit the following materials:

Cover letter

Curriculum vitae

Research statement that describes past scholarly contributions and future research directions

Teaching statement that describes instructional philosophy and courses that the candidate would want to teach or develop

Name and contact information for three references

A statement on contributions to diversity, equity, and inclusion (DEI) that describes knowledge, prior DEI experience, and the candidate's future plans for enhancing community and culture at Lehigh (the Lehigh ADVANCE Center's guide for understanding and preparing such statements is available here)

All inquiries regarding the search should be directed to Ms. Edann Brady at emb703@lehigh.edu or 610-758-3390.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/6/2024

Salary: Above $159,999

eJobs ID: 14800

Washington University in St. Louis

Rank: Open Rank Professor of Political Science in the field of Environmental Politics

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, Methodology

The Department of Political Science at Washington University in St. Louis and the Environmental Studies Program invite applications for a tenure-track faculty appointment in the area of Environmental Politics at the rank of assistant professor, associate professor, or professor. The appointment is to begin in the fall semester of 2025. A Ph.D. in Political Science or a closely related field is required at the time of appointment. Candidates for the rank of associate or full professor should have an outstanding academic record of research, publication teaching, and service commensurate with tenure at that rank. Duties will include teaching assigned courses, conducting research, writing for publication, advising students, participating in department and program governance, and university service.

Application materials should include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, statement of research and teaching interests, at least three letters of reference, writing samples, and other relevant materials.

Applications received before September 15, 2024 will receive full consideration. Consideration after that date will be at the discretion of the search committee. All applications and supporting documentation should be submitted electronically through Interfolio at apply.interfolio.com/151775. If you encounter difficulties with the application process or have any additional questions, please email Amanda Nutter (nutter@wustl.edu).

Start Date: Summer 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/13/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14628

Yale University

Rank: Assistant/Associate/Full Professor, International Relations, Comparative Politics, and Political Economy

The Department of Political Science at Yale University is seeking to hire several faculty members at the rank of Assistant, Associate, or Full Professor with an appointment in the fields of Comparative Politics, Political Economy, and/or International Relations, beginning July 1, 2025. Suitable candidates may also be hired jointly with the Jackson School of Global Affairs, in which case faculty will be expected to share their teaching and service obligations between both the Political Science Department and the Jackson School of Global Affairs. This search includes additional resources in two targeted areas within this broader search area. The first is for an assistant professor with expertise in African Politics, who will teach at least one course cross-listed with, and contribute to, Yale's Council on African Studies. The second is for a candidate who works on Environmental Politics, jointly appointed with the Jackson School of Global Affairs. Candidates will be expected to teach undergraduate and graduate courses in areas of political science commensurate with their expertise. Candidates jointly appointed with Jackson will also teach courses in Jackson's undergraduate and graduate curriculum. If candidates are appointed at the untenured level, the initial appointment will be for 5 years. The teaching expectation is normally 3 courses per academic year.

Qualifications

Ph.D. or equivalent degree required at time of hire.

Application Instructions

All applications must include a cover letter and CV. Untenured candidates should also supply 3 recommendation letters, 2 writing samples, and separate short (2 pages or less) research and teaching statements. All materials should be uploaded to Interfolio at <http://apply.interfolio.com/151662>. Review of applications will begin September 15, 2024 (or 30 days after posting, whichever is later), and to guarantee full consideration your file should be complete by this date.

Please contact Xaria Callender, Sr. Administrative Assistant for the Political Science Department, at xaria.callender@yale.edu if you have questions about the application process.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 8/7/2025

Date Posted: 8/12/2024

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 14619

Universidad Torcuato Di Tella

Rank: Assistant Professor, Associate Professor

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Methodology

The Department of Political Science and International Studies at Universidad Torcuato Di Tella (UTDT) seeks candidates for two tenure-track assistant professor positions in Comparative Politics and International Relations, with an expected (but negotiable) start date of March 2025. Very strong candidates at the associate level will also be considered. We are open with respect to substantive subfield, theoretical orientation, and methodological approach. Regional expertise in regions other than Latin America (e.g., East, South, or Southeast Asia, Western or Eastern Europe, the Middle East or North America) is a plus, as is the ability to teach courses on research design, data science/statistics, and/or causal inference. Candidates are expected to demonstrate a strong commitment to research and to teaching and mentoring students. The teaching load is three courses per year. Most courses are taught in Spanish, although a growing number are offered in English. The position includes a research fund and a year's sabbatical (at full salary) every six years.

Duties will include teaching assigned courses in Comparative Politics and/or International Relations at both the undergraduate and graduate levels, conducting research, writing for publication in high-quality academic venues, advising students, participating in department governance, and university service.

Qualifications: Ph.D. in Political Science or related disciplines (ABD candidates will also be considered) and a demonstrated record of excellence in research and teaching. Proficiency in both Spanish and English is required. Questions should be directed to Professor Carlos Gervasoni, Chair of the Department of Political Science and International Studies, at cgervasoni@utdt.edu.

To apply please visit https://utdt.hiringroom.com/jobs/get_vacancy/665727a62994ec85980166a0, by August 30, 2024 (applications received after this date will continue to be reviewed until the positions are filled). The required documents include a cover letter, CV, a research statement, a teaching statement, a writing sample, and the names and email addresses of 3 references (letters of reference will be required of short-listed finalists).

Universidad Torcuato Di Tella is a private research university located in Buenos Aires, Argentina. Our Department is consistently ranked as one of the best in Latin America in terms of reputation and research excellence. Our guiding principles are academic excellence, pluralism of ideas and equal opportunity. UTDT is committed to creating a diverse community of students, faculty, and staff, following the principles of equal opportunity and treatment in education and employment, regardless of national origin, race, color, ethnicity, religion, political ideology, age, sex, sexual orientation, or gender identity. The university encourages applications of individuals from historically underrepresented groups who will further enrich the diversity of our educational community. We welcome applications from all nationalities. Approximately 25% of the Department's research professors are foreigners. For further information about Universidad Torcuato Di Tella and our department, please visit: <https://www.utdt.edu/>.

Start Date: Spring 2025

Application Deadline: 8/30/2024

Date Posted: 6/5/2024

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 14404

INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS

University of Cincinnati

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor in Cyber Strategy and Policy

Visiting Assistant Professor in Cyber Strategy and Policy, College of Arts and Sciences

Founded in 1819, the University of Cincinnati ranks among the nation's best urban public research universities. Home to 53,235 students, more than 11,000 faculty and staff and 350,000+ living alumni, UC combines a Top 35 public research university with a physical setting The New York Times calls "the most ambitious campus design program in the country."

With the launch of Next Lives Here, the Cincinnati Innovation District, a $100 million JobsOhio investment, three straight years of record enrollment, worldwide leadership in cooperative education, a dynamic academic health center and entry into the Big 12 Conference, UC's momentum has never been stronger. UC's annual budget stands at $1.85 billion, and its endowment totals nearly $1.8 billion.

Job Overview

The School of Public and International Affairs (SPIA) at the University of Cincinnati invites applications for a full-time Visiting Assistant Professor with a primary workload focus in support of our cyber strategy and policy sub-field. The sub-field is supported through SPIA's Center for Cyber Strategy and Policy, which is a research arm of the Ohio Cyber Range Institute housed at the University of Cincinnati as a cyber education, workforce and economic development platform for the state of Ohio.

SPIA offers an MA, MPA (with cyber track) and PhD in Political Science as well as three undergraduate BAs (Political Science, International Affairs, and Law and Society). SPIA is planning a new BA in Cyber Strategy and Digital Affairs. SPIA also houses three research centers—the Portman Center for Policy Solutions, the Center for Truth, Racial Healing and Transformation (CTRHT) and the Center for Cyber Strategy and Policy (CCSP). The Portman Center encourages civility, bipartisanship, and finding common ground to achieve policy solutions. CTRHT uses research, learning, and action to provide space for healing the harms caused by racial injustice. CCSP seeks to engage scholars, students, and practitioners in interdisciplinary work related to digital strategy and policy. The successful candidate will have the opportunity to affiliate with these centers if they wish.

As one part of its overall programming, SPIA seeks to strengthen its focus on emerging technology and cyber strategy and policy and advance its research connection with the University's Digital Futures project exploring the intersection of social science and emerging technology. The successful candidate will have the opportunity to affiliate with Digital Futures programming as well.

Essential Functions

The successful candidates will be expected to teach, research, and provide service.

- Teach the core introductory undergraduate course on national and international cyber strategy and policy (twice a year), and two other cyber-related courses at undergraduate and graduate-level covering topics, such as but not limited to Cyber Conflict and Cyber Red Team. The course load for this visiting assistant professor is two courses per 2 semesters.
- Research activities include support of CCSP and OCRI grant activities in 2025-2026 and support the conducting, presenting, and publishing of scholarship and on emerging technology and national or international cyber security strategy and policy.
- Service activities may include, but not be limited to, support of SPIA events and student advising.

Minimum Requirements

Prior to the effective date of the appointment, candidates must minimally be all but dissertation (ABD) status (i.e., must have completed all requirements for graduation short of completion of final dissertation defense) in Political Science or a related field.

Application Process

Interested and qualified applicants must complete our online application. <https://jobs.uc.edu/job-invite/98517/> In addition to the basic online application, please provide:

- Cover letter indicating fit with the job description and SPIA programs outlined above
- Full and current CV
- Three names of references (letters of reference will be required of short-listed finalists)
- A one-page statement addressing the candidate's intended contributions to the University's team culture goals through teaching, research, and service is also required.

Please use the 'additional documents' feature to include all these required items. Applications will be accepted until the positions are filled.

Questions should be directed to Dr. Richard Harknett, Director and Search Committee Chair at: richard.harknett@uc.edu

Compensation and Benefits

UC offers a wide array of complementary and affordable benefit options, to meet the financial, educational, health, and wellness needs of you and your family. Eligibility varies by position and FTE.

- Competitive salary range dependent on the candidate's experience.
- Comprehensive insurance plans including medical, dental, vision, and prescription coverage.
- Flexible spending accounts and an award-winning employee wellness program, plus an employee assistance program.
- Financial security via our life and long-term disability insurance, accident and illness insurance, and retirement savings plans.
- Generous paid time off work options including vacation, sick leave, annual holidays, and winter season days in addition to paid parental leave.
- Tuition remission is available for employees and their eligible dependents.
- Enjoy discounts for on and off-campus activities and services.

As a UC employee, and an employee of an Ohio public institution, if hired you will not contribute to the federal Social Security system, other than contributions to Medicare. Instead, UC employees have the option to contribute to a state retirement plan (OPERS, STRS) or an alternative retirement plan (ARP).

To learn more about why UC is a great place to work, please visit our careers page at <https://www.uc.edu/careers.html>.

For questions about the UC recruiting process or to request accommodations with the application, please contact Human Resources at jobs@uc.edu.

The University of Cincinnati is an Equal Opportunity Employer.
REQ: 98517

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 3/28/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15533

Victoria University of Wellington

Rank: Pkenga - Lecturer in International Relations/International Security

- Do you have a record of successful contribution to teaching and course design in fields of International Relations and/or International Security at all levels?
- Do you have a developing research profile with a particular interest in international relations of Asia or Asian security issues?
- Are you interested in Australia/New Zealand-Asia connections?

Korero mo te turanga - About the role

Te Herenga Waka - Victoria University of Wellington is currently recruiting a permanent, full-time Pukenga - Lecturer in International Relations/International Security to join the Political Science and International Relations Programme. The anticipated starting date is July 2025 (negotiable).

Key responsibilities:

- Contribute to teaching courses at all levels in International Relations/International Security
- Advance a sustained and disciplinary-relevant research programme
- Successfully supervise post-graduate students to completion

- Contribute to Haututanga/leadership, administrative roles, and outreach to the wider community

O pumanawa - About you

You will be a dynamic scholar-teacher who will complement the current staff's research expertise. We have particular interest in applicants specialising in any aspect of international relations of Asia or Asian security issues. Interests in Australia/New Zealand - Asia connections will be advantageous.

Key requirements:

- A completed PhD (or near completion) in International Relations, International Security, Strategic Studies, or a related field
- Demonstrated excellence in undergraduate teaching related to International Relations or a related field
- A developing research profile of emerging international standing
- Commitment to public engagement
- Outstanding people and communication skills, including the ability to adjust to different audiences

There are many benefits to working at Te Herenga Waka - Victoria University of Wellington, including being part of New Zealand's top research University.

Role description - For further information including salary, copy and paste the following link into your browser: <https://vuw.sharepoint.com/sites/VacancyRoleDescriptions/Role%20Descriptions/1007443%20P%20c%20abkenga%20-%20Lecturer%20in%20International%20Relations,%20International%20Security%20RD.pdf?ga=1>

Close date for vacancy: Friday, 18 April 2025

Contact details for vacancy

If you have any questions regarding this role please get in touch with Professor Simon Keller, Tumuaiki - Head of School, History, Philosophy, Political Science and International Relations (simon.keller@vuw.ac.nz).

Mo Te Herenga Waka - About Our University

Te Herenga Waka - Victoria University of Wellington is renowned for its high-quality research and exceptional teaching. We attract people from around the world. Our university campus spans Te Whanganui-a-Tara Wellington - the creative, scientific and political centre of Aotearoa New Zealand - and our students thrive on the connections we've made here.

Explore the many benefits of working at Te Herenga Waka - Victoria University of Wellington. Find out where you fit in our strategic direction and learn more about our research expertise.

Etahi korero hai awhina i a koe - Why you should join our team

Te Kura Aro Whakamuri, Rapunga Whakaaro, Matai Torangapu me te Ao - School of History, Philosophy, Political Science and International Relations offers diverse programs and cutting-edge research opportunities. Engage in research areas like ethics, political philosophy, experimental philosophy, and strategic studies. Collaborate with a passionate team and explore our world's complexities.

Click "apply" and follow the process to enter your contact details, answer pre-screening questions, then attach a resume, cover letter, and any supporting documents.

Reference 1007443

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 4/18/2025

Date Posted: 3/27/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15532

New York University Graduate School of Arts and Science

Rank: Faculty Fellow, XE: Experimental Humanities & Social Engagement

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Methodology

Specializations: Social Movements, Urban Politics, History & Politics

Faculty Fellow

XE: Experimental Humanities & Social Engagement

New York University Graduate School of Arts and Science

XE: Experimental Humanities & Social Engagement, an interdisciplinary master's program in the Graduate School of Arts and Science at New York University, invites applications for a Faculty Fellow position in the social sciences. The initial appointment will be for one year beginning September 1, 2025, renewable annually for a maximum of three years, pending administrative and budgetary approval.

We seek outstanding interdisciplinary scholars and teachers working in the social sciences whose fields include or span: anthropology, sociology, political science, or urban studies, among other subfields. Faculty fellows teach three graduate seminars per year, advise and mentor students, oversee master's theses, organize public programs, and actively participate in shaping the life of the program.

XE is a highly innovative master's program and tight-knit community of scholars and practitioners who value collaborative mentoring and career building, as well as exploring new pedagogies and research methods at the intersection of creativity, criticality, and social engagement.

Qualifications:

We seek candidates with a PhD in the social sciences who are committed to interdisciplinary scholarship and excellence in teaching. Candidates should have completed their Ph.D. no earlier than 2020 and no later than by August 31, 2025.

Application Instructions:

To apply, please submit: a cover letter, curriculum vitae, a research statement, sample syllabi for two dream classes, and three letters of recommendation.

Applications should be submitted through Interfolio: <https://apply.interfolio.com/165002>

The search committee will begin reviewing applications on April 15, 2025 and will continue until the position is filled.

In compliance with NYC's Pay Transparency Act, the annual base salary for this position is $60,000. New York University considers factors such as (but not limited to) the scope and responsibilities of the position, the candidate's work experience, education/training, key skills, internal peer equity, as well as market and organizational considerations when extending an offer.

Arts & Science at NYU is at the heart of a leading research university that spans the globe. We seek scholars of the highest caliber who embody the diversity of the United States and the global society in which we live. We strongly encourage applications from women, racial and ethnic minorities, and other individuals who are under-represented in the profession, across color, creed, race, ethnic and national origin, physical ability, gender, and sexual identity, or any other legally protected basis. NYU affirms the value of differing perspectives on the world as we strive to build the strongest possible university with the widest reach. To learn more about the Arts & Science commitment to inclusive excellence, please read here: <https://as.nyu.edu/departments/facultyexcellence.html>.

EOE/Affirmative Action/Minorities/Females/Vet/Disabled/Sexual Orientation/Gender Identity.

Start Date: Fall 2025
Application Deadline: 4/15/2025
Date Posted: 3/19/2025
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 15518

ETH Zürich

Rank: Professor of International and Swiss Security Policy and Politics

Subfield(s): International Relations, Political Theory, Comparative Politics

The Department of Humanities, Social and Political Sciences (www.gess.ethz.ch) at ETH Zurich invites applications for the above-mentioned position.

ETH Zurich seeks an experienced scholar with an excellent research record in international security studies and an interest in building innovative research collaborations across academic disciplines. Successful candidates are familiar with theoretical debates in international relations and political science and have shown a proven track record of applying a wide array of quantitative and qualitative research methods. Candidates should also have a genuine interest in Swiss security policy and policymaking.

The new professor is expected to build up a research group and assume the leadership of the Center for Security Studies (CSS, www.css.ethz.ch), with its 50 employees, at the end of 2028. The CSS offers security policy expertise in research and science-based policy advice. The professorship will also be associated with the future ETH School of Public Policy. Continuous dialogue and knowledge transfer are an integral part of the professorship's activities. Successful applicants are expected to demonstrate leadership experience, the ability to engage in dialogue with Swiss policymakers and society, and a willingness to contribute to research on Swiss security policy and politics. He or she is also expected to be fluent in English and German.

The professor will teach courses in international and Swiss security policy and politics in the department's BA and MA programs. Courses at the undergraduate level are taught in German or English and at the graduate level in English.

ETH Zurich is an equal opportunity and family-friendly employer, values diversity, and is responsive to the needs of dual-career couples.

Please apply online: www.facultyaffairs.ethz.ch

Applications should include a curriculum vitae, a list of publications, a project list, a statement of future research and teaching interests, a description of the leadership philosophy, a description of the three most important achievements, and a certificate of the highest degree. The letter of application should be addressed to the President of ETH Zurich, Prof. Dr. Joël Mesot. The closing for applications is 30 April 2025.

Start Date:
Application Deadline: 4/30/2025
Date Posted: 3/13/2025
Salary: Any
eJobs ID: 15508

University College Dublin

Rank: 95 Lecturer/Asst Professor Above The Bar, UCD School of Politics and International Relations, Permanent

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Other

Lecturer/Assistant Professor, UCD School of Politics and International Relations, Permanent

Applications are invited for a permanent post of a Lecturer/Assistant Professor within UCD School of Politics and International Relations

The person(s) appointed will be expected to contribute significantly to research and teaching in their own area of specialisation within politics, international relations and/or development studies. The ability to teach in additional sub-fields is desirable. The principal motivation for these posts is to expand and deepen the School's research profile, to strengthen undergraduate teaching, to contribute to further expansion in graduate education (taught and research), to build additional international research networks and to contribute to a vibrant, collegial and ambitious group of scholars. In pursuit of its commitment to equality, diversity and inclusiveness, the School especially welcomes applications from women, minorities, and from around the globe.

95 Lecturer/Asst Professor Above The Bar (7943) Salary Scale: €64,112 - €101,524 Per Annum.

Appointment will be made on scale and in accordance with the Department of Finance guidelines.

Closing date: 12:00 noon (local Irish time) on the 7th of April 2025.

For a full Job Description and Information on How to Apply, follow the link below

https://my.corehr.com/pls/coreportal_ucdp/apply?id=018390

Start Date: Fall 2025
Application Deadline: 4/7/2025
Date Posted: 3/11/2025
Salary: $70,000 - $79,999
eJobs ID: 15499

Charles University, Prague, Czech Republic

Rank: Call for postdoctoral position: Political economy and geopolitics of East Asia

Subfield(s): International Relations, Political Theory, Comparative Politics

Specializations: East Asia, China, Political Economy

Offer Description

Charles University, Faculty of Arts offers a full-time temporary (2-year) researcher position (senior level, with PhD) with a specialization

on the political economy and geopolitics of East Asia. The researcher will be part of a research team analyzing the geopolitical vulnerability and resilience of supply chains in East Asia, with a particular emphasis on Taiwan.

The researcher is expected to perform research tasks related to identifying the risks to semiconductor supply chains stemming from geopolitical disruptions, macroeconomic developments (such as the rise of protectionist policies), as well as other disruptions resulting from political, security-related and economic developments.

The researcher is expected to perform research tasks concerned with applied research, providing strategic recommendations to policy makers, as well as to contribute to academic debates and to publish his/her academic research in leading journals.

Applicants will be asked to perform limited teaching duties in their area of expertise (estimated 1 course per semester) and to cooperate on research activities within a wider research team.

The applicants are also expected to prepare grant applications within their area of expertise and provide policy expertise through policy papers and stakeholder involvement.

Please send your CV, motivation letter (max. 2 pages), names of two references, and a copy of one published work in pdf (article, chapter or book) to filip.maly@ff.cuni.cz (Mr. Filip Maly) by April 15th, 2025. Mark your application "Postdoc - Geopolitics".

Where to apply: Email: filip.maly@ff.cuni.cz

Requirements:

Research Field: International Relations, Business, Political Science or Economics

Researcher Profile: Recognised Researcher (R2)

Positions: Postdoc Positions

Education Level: PhD

Additional Information

Terms of contract:

- Preferably from September 2025 to August 2027 (negotiable)
- We expect your physical presence in Prague most of the time
- An obligation to submit a research grant proposal within the applicant's expertise to an external (Czech of international) funding agency within the duration of the contract

Eligibility criteria

- Applicants must hold a PhD degree (or equivalent) in International Relations, Economics, Business, Political Science or other related disciplines before taking up the post.
- The applicant must demonstrate an extensive ability to analyze East Asian politics and possess relevant area expertise
- Applicants must demonstrate the ability to produce high-level academic outputs as well as the capability to communicate complex research insights in a clear and accessible manner to both non-experts and practitioners.
- Applicants must have a very good command of English
- Proven experience in the use of advanced qualitative and/or quantitative social science research methods
- Country-specific knowledge and language skills for one or more of East Asian countries

Application deadline: 15 April 2025- 12:00 (Europe/Prague)

Work Location(s)

Number of offers available: 1

Company/Institute: Department of Political Science, Faculty of Arts, Charles University

Country: Czech Republic

City: Prague 1

Postal Code: 11638

Street: nám. Jana Palacha 1/2

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 4/15/2025

Date Posted: 3/7/2025

Salary: $30,000 - $39,999

eJobs ID: 15491

Harvard University

Rank: Japan Foundation Postdoctoral Fellow

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Public Policy

Specializations: Japan, International Political Economy, Science & Technology

With support from The Japan Foundation, we invite applications for a postdoctoral fellowship which includes a teaching component in political science & international relations. The award is for $75,000 paid in monthly installments, with eligibility for university subsidized health insurance coverage for the grantee. The Postdoctoral Fellow will be actively engaged in research and teaching related to "Technology, Society, and Geopolitics: Japan in a Globalized Economy." Deadline is 3/24/2025. For the application portal and more information, please see this webpage: <https://us-japan.wcfia.harvard.edu/apply-japan-foundation-fellowship>. For any questions, please email: usjapan@wcfia.harvard.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 3/24/2025

Date Posted: 3/7/2025

Salary: $70,000 - $79,999

eJobs ID: 15494

National Taiwan University

Rank: Assistant Professor / Associate Professor / Professor (Tenure and non-tenure)

Invitation for Faculty Positions to Master's Programs in Political Economy and Finance (Two Tracks) at the School of Political Science and Economics, National Taiwan University

POSITION

Assistant Professor / Associate Professor / Professor

TYPE

Full-Time Academic Faculty (Tenure and non-tenure)

LOCATION

Taipei, Taiwan

DESIRED FIELDS OF RESEARCH AND TEACHING

(International) Political Economy, Comparative Economic/Political Systems, International Relations, International Economics, Financial Economics, Public Economics, Economic Development

ABOUT US

Join the dynamic School of Political Science and Economics (SPE) at National Taiwan University, a distinguished institution at the forefront of innovative research in international political economy and finance. Endorsed by Taiwan's National Development Fund and leading global enterprises such as TSMC, we are committed to excellence through interdisciplinary collaboration among scholars in political science, economics, finance, and management. Our recently inaugurated master's programs—the MA in Political Economy and MS in Finance—cultivate a rigorous academic environment that nurtures creativity and facilitates pioneering research.

WE INVITE YOU TO JOIN US

We invite applications for multiple faculty positions at the assistant professor level and above. We are looking for candidates who are enthusiastic about unique methodologies and are keen to incorporate science, humanities, and/or technology into their work. This position provides an opportunity to shape and inspire the leaders of tomorrow while contributing to a globally engaged community.

WHAT WE OFFER

- Competitive salary and comprehensive benefits based on your expertise and dedication.
- An English-speaking academic environment that supports global engagement among faculty members
- Access to state-of-the-art resources and research facilities that drive innovation and impact.

CANDIDATE QUALIFICATIONS

Candidates must hold a Ph.D. degree before July for the fall semester or January for the spring semester. We value creativity, collaboration, and dedication to integrating contemporary scientific or other disciplinary insights into economics, political science, or finance.

APPLICATION PROCESS

Interviews will take place virtually to guarantee equal accessibility for all candidates. Positions will be filled as outstanding applicants are recognized. If deemed appropriate, selected candidates may be invited to SPE to deliver a job talk.

APPLICATION REQUIREMENTS

1. Cover Letter
2. CV
3. Two Letters of Recommendation
4. Research Papers
5. Transcripts (if you are yet to complete your PhD)

DOSSIER SUBMISSION

Ms. Linda Chang
Chief Executive Officer
School of Political Science and Economics, National Taiwan University
Email: ntuspe@ntu.edu.tw

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 3/6/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15490

University of Maine

Rank: Assistant/Associate Professor

Assistant or Associate Professor of Political Science and International Affairs

Orono, ME, United States (On-site)

Job Info

Job Identification

1208

Job Category

Faculty

Posting Date

03/05/2025, 09:00 AM

Locations

College Avenue, Orono, ME, 04469, US

(On-site)

Business Unit

University of Maine

Job Schedule

Full time

Regular or Temporary

Regular

Department

UM Political Science

Bargaining Unit

Associated Faculties of the University of Maine System (AFUM)

Job Description

The Department of Political Science and the School of Policy and International Affairs (SPIA) at the University of Maine are seeking qualified candidates to fill two full-time, tenure-track, academic-year faculty positions in International Relations and Comparative Politics at the rank of Assistant Professor or Associate Professor, anticipated to start September 1, 2025. The first of these positions is a 50/50 joint appointment in Political Science and SPIA with a tenure home in Political Science. The second position is a 60/40 joint appointment in SPIA and Political Science with a tenure home in Political Science and entails an initial five-year appointment as the Dan '63 and Betty Churchill Professorship in Climate Policy and International Affairs. One position may be filled at the rank of associate professor. The area of specialization is open. The Churchill Professor must have expertise in climate change policy.

These positions have teaching, research, and service duties. The typical teaching assignment for both positions is five courses per year. For the first position the teaching assignment will alternate yearly between three introductory or upper-level undergraduate courses and two courses at the master's level, and two introductory or upper-level undergraduate courses and three courses at the master's level. For the second position (Churchill Professorship) the annual teaching assignment will be two introductory or upper-level undergraduate courses and three courses at the master's level. Other responsibilities include, but are not limited to:

Supervise internships and undergraduate and master's theses.

Advise students on their course of study and aid them in the registration process, which includes maintaining regular office hours.

Participate in curriculum development, assessment, and student recruitment.

Maintain an active, productive research program in international relations and comparative politics. The second position requires a focus on climate change policy. Pursuit of external funding to support research activities is encouraged.

Perform appropriate service, which may include, but is not limited to, active participation in the internal governance of the School of Policy and International Affairs and Department of Political Science, and service to the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences and University communities.

We are a faculty that values work-life balance and maintaining a productively collegial workplace. These are in-person, on-campus positions.

About the University:

The University of Maine is a community of more than 11,900 undergraduate and graduate students, and 2,500 employees located on the Orono campus, the regional campus in Machias, and throughout the state. UMaine is a land, sea and space grant university, and maintains a leadership role as the University of Maine System's flagship institution. UMaine is the state's public research university and a Carnegie R1 top-tier research institution, dedicated to providing excellent teaching, research and service for Maine, the nation and the world. More information about UMaine is at umaine.edu.

The University of Maine offers a wide range of benefits for employees including, but not limited to, tuition benefits (employee and dependent), comprehensive insurance coverage including medical, dental, vision, life insurance, and short and long term disability as well as retirement plan options.

UMaine is located in beautiful Central Maine. Many employees report that a primary reason for choosing to come to UMaine is quality of life. Numerous cultural activities, excellent public schools, safe neighborhoods, high quality medical care, little traffic, and a reasonable cost of living make the greater Bangor area a wonderful place to live. Learn more about what the Bangor region has to offer here.

Qualifications:
Required:

Ph.D. in Political Science or closely related field by date of hire.

Specialization in international relations.

Evidence of ability to develop and teach courses in a variety of areas including introductory international relations, a graduate field seminar in international relations, and advanced topics related to the candidate's other specialties.

Record of or demonstrated potential for success in university-level teaching.

Record of or demonstrated potential for an active, productive research program.

Appropriate methodological training and analytical skills.

For position 2 (Churchill Professorship) only:

Specialization in international relations with a focus closely related to climate change policy.

Evidence of ability to develop and teach courses in advanced topics related to climate change.

Preferred:

A proven record of international fieldwork, preferably in language(s) other than English is desired, but not required.

Ability to teach courses in comparative politics.

Experience relevant to student mentoring, advising, and/or recruitment.

Expertise in quantitative methods.

Commitment to equal opportunity and nondiscrimination.

Other Information:

To be considered for this position you will need to "Apply" and upload the documentation listed below:

- 1.) a cover letter which describes your experience, interests, and suitability for the position
- 2.) a resume/curriculum vitae

Candidates selected to proceed to the final stages of the search process will be requested to provide a list of names and contact information for references.

Incomplete application materials cannot be considered. Materials received after the initial review date will be reviewed at the discretion of the University.

For full consideration, materials must be submitted by 4:30 p.m. EST on April 5, 2025.

For questions about the search, please contact search committee chair Professor Rich Powell at rpowell@umaine.edu or 207-581-1795.

The successful applicant is subject to appropriate background screening.

In complying with the letter and spirit of applicable laws and pursuing its own goals of diversity, the University of Maine System does not discriminate on the grounds of race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, transgender status, gender, gender identity or expression, ethnicity, national origin, citizenship status, familial status, ancestry, age, disability physical or mental, genetic information, or veterans or military status in employment, education, and all other programs and activities. The University provides reasonable accommodations to qualified individuals with disabilities upon request. The following person has been designated to handle inquiries regarding non-discrimination policies: Director of Equal Opportunity, 5713 Chadbourne Hall, Room 412, University of Maine, Orono, ME 04469-5713, 207.581.1226, TTY 711 (Maine Relay System).

Clery Act

The Jeanne Clery Disclosure of Campus Security Policy and Campus Crime Statistics Act, or Clery Act, mandates that all Title IV institutions, such as the University, prepare, publish and distribute an Annual Security Report, (ASR) and provide notice of the availability of the ASR to all prospective employees. This report consists of two basic parts: disclosure of the University's crime statistics for the past three calendar years; and disclosures regarding the University's current campus security policies. You may view the University's Annual Security Report. If you wish to have a paper copy of the ASR or you need to have a copy of the ASR in an accessible format, the University will provide such a copy upon request. Please contact: UMaine Police Department, 81 Rangeley Rd., The University of Maine, Orono, ME 04469-5794, or call 207.581.4053.

Apply Now

Apply Now: https://fa-ewca-saasfaprod1.fao.ocs.oraclecloud.com/hcmUI/CandidateExperience/en/sites/CX_1/job/1208/apply/email

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 5/5/2025

Date Posted: 3/5/2025

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 15484

University of California, Santa Cruz

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor in Legal Studies

Subfield(s): Public Law, American Government and Politics, International Relations

The Legal Studies Program at the University of California, Santa Cruz (UCSC) invites applications for the position of Visiting Assistant Professor in Legal Studies.

Under the direction of the Legal Studies Program Director, the Visiting Assistant Professor will teach four undergraduate courses across three quarters, mentor students, and contribute to research and service in the Program. The UC Santa Cruz Legal Studies Program offers an interdisciplinary undergraduate major, administered by the Politics Department, which seeks to integrate the study of law and legal issues through the contributions and insights of many diverse fields of study in the social sciences and humanities.

While the specialization is open, we welcome candidates whose education, professional activities, and teaching combine law and policy from a comparative or international perspective, or with a focus on the United States. We welcome candidates who will contribute to the inclusive excellence of the academic community through their teaching and other duties.

The hiring unit will not sponsor employment-eligible immigration statuses for this position.

Legal Studies Program: <https://legalstudies.ucsc.edu/>

Politics Department: <https://politics.ucsc.edu>

Qualifications

Basic qualifications (required at the time the application is submitted) Ph.D. in legal studies, law, law and society, political science, or a related field; and/or a J.D. Equivalent foreign degrees will be considered. It is expected the degree will be completed by August 31, 2025. Demonstrated record of teaching that includes a minimum of one year of college-level teaching (three quarters or two semesters) in legal studies, law, law and society, political science, or a related field. Professional record of accomplishments that includes publications; grants; awards; fellowships; organizing workshops; and/or participation in conferences, workshops, or summer schools. Your application must demonstrate that you meet all of the basic qualifications when you submit your application. There are no exceptions to this requirement.

Application Requirements

Curriculum Vitae - Your most recently updated C.V.
Cover Letter
Statement of Teaching
Sample Syllabus
Teaching Evaluations (3 sets) - (Optional)

3 letters of reference required

Applications must include confidential letters of recommendation*. Note that your references, or dossier service, will submit their confidential letters directly to the UC Recruit System.

*All letters will be treated as confidential per University of California policy and California state law. For any reference letter provided via a third party (i.e., dossier service, career center), direct the author to UCSC's confidentiality statement at <https://academicpersonnel.ucsc.edu/confidentiality-statements/>.

Apply link: <https://recruit.ucsc.edu/JPF01877>

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 4/25/2025

Date Posted: 3/3/2025

Salary: $80,000 - $89,999

eJobs ID: 15477

Loyola Marymount University

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): Methodology, Comparative Politics, International Relations

The Department of Political Science and International Relations at Loyola Marymount University invites applications for a Visiting Assistant Professor position. LMU values community engagement, diversity, social justice, and inclusive pedagogy in fostering academic excellence.

The department seeks candidates who can teach undergraduate research methods courses. The ability to also offer comparative politics or international relations upper-division courses is preferred but not required.

The position is for one year (2025-2026) and has a 3-3 teaching load for the academic year (three courses in the fall and three courses in the spring).

We seek a dedicated teacher-scholar with demonstrated or the potential of teaching excellence. We strongly encourage women, minorities, and individuals from underrepresented groups to apply. A Ph.D. in political science is required at the time of appointment.

Candidates should submit application materials via the LMU Human Resources online application portal:

https://lmu.wd1.myworkdayjobs.com/en-US/Careers/details/Visiting-Assistant-Professor---Political-Science_R11333

Please be aware that the portal can only accept 5 attachments. Applicants must include: 1) a cover letter; 2) a curriculum vitae; 3) a statement of teaching philosophy and (if available) teaching evaluations; 4) a sample syllabus for an undergraduate research methods course; and 5) a writing sample. Three confidential letters of recommendation should be submitted directly to Luke Hart-Moynihan at luke.hart-moynihan@lmu.edu.

Only online applications will be accepted. Please direct questions to the Chair of the Department of Political Science and International Relations, Gabriele Magni, at Gabriele.magni@lmu.edu. The deadline for applications is April 1st.

Faculty Regular

Reasonable expected salary: $68,640.00

Loyola Marymount University, a Carnegie classified R2 institution in the mainstream of American Catholic higher education, seeks outstanding applicants who value its mission and share its commitment to inclusive excellence, the education of the whole person, and the building of a just society. LMU is an equal opportunity employer committed to providing an environment free from discrimination and harassment as defined by federal, state and local law. We invite all persons in the full diversity of their being, life experience, and beliefs to apply. (Visit www.lmu.edu for more information.)

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 4/1/2025

Date Posted: 2/28/2025

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 15471

Bucknell University

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor

Bucknell University's Department of Political Science invites applications for a one-year Visiting Assistant Professor position in International Relations (specialization open) beginning in the fall semester of 2025. The successful candidate will be prepared to teach sections of a core course in international relations and sections of quantitative methods. The teaching load is three courses per semester.

We are especially interested in candidates whose teaching and research will contribute to the Department's commitment to academic excellence. We welcome candidates who demonstrate excellence in reflective multicultural and inclusive teaching practices and who display a strong commitment to collaboration and interdisciplinarity. Evidence of teaching experience, potential for teaching excellence, and the promise of being a productive scholar are critically important. By the start date of the position, candidates are expected to have a Ph.D. or be ABD in Political Science with a primary subfield specialization in International Relations.

For additional information and to apply, please go to careers.bucknell.edu. The application should include a cover letter, CV, statement of teaching philosophy, graduate transcripts, a sample of scholarship, course evaluations if available, and sample syllabi in quantitative methods and international relations. Questions about the position should be addressed by email to Professor Doug Hecock at douglas.hecock@bucknell.edu. Applications received by March 15, 2025 will receive full consideration.

About Bucknell

Founded in 1846 and located along the banks of the Susquehanna River in historic Lewisburg, Pa., Bucknell University is an undergraduate-focused institution that stands uniquely at the intersection of top-ranked liberal arts, engineering and management programs. Our students choose from more than 60 majors and 70 minors in the arts, engineering, humanities, management, and natural and social sciences, as well as extensive global study, service-learning and research opportunities. Bucknell's 3,700 undergraduate and 30 graduate students enjoy a low 9:1 student-faculty ratio and exceptional opportunities to collaborate with faculty mentors on scholarly and artistic projects.

Bucknell's beautiful 450-acre campus includes first-rate facilities and is home to more than 90 percent of its undergraduate students. Student life is vibrant with about 200 student-run organizations, 27 NCAA Division I athletics teams, a robust arts culture, and a commitment among many of the students to community and global service work.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 3/15/2025

Date Posted: 2/27/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15467

Fairfield University

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor, Politics and International Studies

The International Studies Program at Fairfield University seeks a nine-month Visiting Assistant Professor (VAP) in International Studies. This is a one-year appointment starting September 2025.

The Program seeks to hire an interdisciplinary faculty member who specializes in international politics, international political economy, and/or social and political theories, and focuses on an area that complements existing offerings in the program, with a particular interest in either development, migration, global security, peace and conflict studies and/or humanitarianism. Candidates with a regional focus on the Middle East and East Asia are especially welcome. The new faculty member will teach courses in their area of specialization along with Introduction to International Relations and People, Places, and Global Issues, that bridge political, cultural, and historical perspectives. The successful candidate should demonstrate a commitment to interdisciplinary approaches, to fostering critical engagement with global challenges, and to inspiring students to understand the complexities of international dynamics in these regions.

This position carries a 4-4 teaching load, normally three courses in the International Studies Program and one course in the Politics department per semester. Selected candidates will engage in department and Program meetings, committees, and special project work to further the goals of the Program.

Minimum Education and Experience Requirements

Applicants are expected to have a PhD in either International Relations, International Studies, Global Studies or a closely related field (preferred by August 31, 2025). Exceptional ABD candidates who are very close to PhD conferral may also be considered.

Preferred Education, Knowledge, Skills & Experience

The successful candidate for this position will: 1) be committed to exceptional teaching at the introductory level and upper-level undergraduate courses in their specialty and; 2) support the established undergraduate programs and activities within the International Studies Program and Politics department.

Special Notes to Applicants

Prior to the official appointment to the university, the candidate(s) selected for hire must be able to demonstrate eligibility to teach assigned courses by successfully meeting the credentialing requirements based on transcripts and other documentation as required.

This is a one-year appointment starting September 1, 2025.

Application review will begin on March 15, 2025, and continue until the position is filled. To apply, please click "<https://ffd.wd1.myworkdayjobs.com/en-US/EmploymentOpportunities/details/JR0002548>" and upload the following materials as an Adobe PDF document including:

1. Cover Letter
2. Curriculum Vita
3. Teaching Philosophy – Statement of Teaching Philosophy describing teaching interests including a list of potential course offerings, a plan for actively engaging students in field-based or methods courses, and how issues of diversity shape the applicant's working practices, past and planned.
4. Examples of syllabi and teaching evaluations if applicable
5. Unofficial graduate transcript
6. Contact information for a minimum of three references

Note that letters of application without the requested components will not meet the application requirements.

References will be requested during the screening process.

Please direct questions concerning the search to Dr. Alfred Babo, Chair Visiting Assistant Professor Search Committee, at ababo@fairfield.edu.

Information on the Program

The International Studies Program at Fairfield University draws from a group of interdisciplinary faculty, practitioners, and students from many parts of the world with a commitment to thinking critically about global challenges, promoting social justice, and engaging in service. Students have opportunities to pursue a major or minor in International Studies in the College of Arts and Sciences or an innovative co-curricular program major in International Business. International Business students must earn a complementary major or minor in the Dolan School of Business. The core of the program is the same for both International Studies and International Business. The Program seeks to heighten global awareness in the ways we situate ourselves geographically, and encounter conflict, gender, race, class, nationality, the environment, and economic development.

University Information

Fairfield University is a Jesuit, Catholic institution, with consistent top ranking for its undergraduate teaching excellence with a 12:1 student-faculty ratio and ranked among the Best Jesuit Colleges and Universities in the United States. It is located in the scenic shoreline community of Fairfield, CT, one hour from New York City along Long Island Sound. Our five Colleges and Professional Schools enroll approximately 5,000 undergraduate and 1,500 graduate students, developing intellectual potential and fostering ethical values in the Jesuit tradition that includes an explicit commitment to social justice and to religious and cultural pluralism. We welcome differences in race, color, religion, age, sex, national origin, disability status, genetics, protected veteran status, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, and any other characteristic protected by federal, state, or local laws.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 2/27/2025

Salary: $90,000 - $99,999

eJobs ID: 15466

McDaniel College

Rank: Visiting Professor (Assistant, Associate, or Full) – Political Science and International Studies

Company Description:

McDaniel College, recognized nationally among “Colleges that Change Lives” and U.S. News and World Report top-tier liberal arts colleges, is a four-year private college of the liberal arts and sciences offering more than 70 undergraduate programs of study, including dual and student-designed majors, plus 20 highly regarded graduate programs. At McDaniel College we value our employees by offering our full-time employees tuition remission, 403B retirement accounts, paid time off, medical insurance, flexible spending accounts, life insurance, and paid maternity and parental leave. For more information about the college's benefits, please click here to review the 2024 benefits guidebook.

Click here to see how McDaniel College employees impact the lives of students.

Job Description:

McDaniel College's Department of Political Science and International Studies invites applications for a one year Visiting Professor (Assistant, Associate, or Full) position with emphasis in International Relations, especially related to Asia and Security Studies, beginning August 2025. Ph.D. preferred by time of appointment. The department seeks applicants with experience in teaching the international relations of Asia, emerging security threats (such as Cyber Warfare and AI), international law, and research methods.

?

Faculty teaching load is three courses per semester. The position holder will also oversee the college's Model United Nations Team and mentor students in the college's National Security Fellows program.

?

One of forty colleges and universities nationwide known for its success at changing the lives of its students, McDaniel College is a selective liberal arts college located in central Maryland, an hour's drive from Baltimore and Washington, D.C. Its primary commitment is to outstanding teaching and to fostering critical and creative thinking and humane and responsible action. McDaniel College is an Affirmative Action, Equal Opportunity institution and welcomes applications from diverse candidates and candidates who support diversity.?

Requirements:

Ph.D. in relevant field preferred, advanced ABD considered.

A graduate degree in political science, international relations, or a related field.

Experience teaching undergraduate courses

The ability and willingness to provide excellent service and to work in a collegial manner with students, faculty and staff, and other constituencies is essential.

Additional Information:

McDaniel College is committed to building a diverse workforce that reflects the student body. McDaniel College, in compliance with federal and state laws and regulations, does not discriminate in the recruitment, admission, and employment of students, faculty, and staff in the operation of any of its educational programs and activities. McDaniel College will not tolerate any discrimination or harassment on basis of any protected status including protective hairstyle, race, religion, color, ancestry or national origin, disability, age, sex, gender, gender identity, gender expression, sexual orientation, pregnancy, military status, genetic information, marital status, veteran's status, or any other actual or p For more information on the College's commitment to diversity, equity and inclusion, please visit this?link.

Application Instructions:

Interested applicants should submit a letter of application that addresses philosophy of teaching at a liberal arts college and research interests, CV, and three letters of reference to Dr. Anouar Boukhars at <https://employment.mcdaniel.edu/>.

Review of applications will begin on March 21st and continue until the position is filled.??

Start Date: Summer 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 2/27/2025

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 15465

Southern Illinois University, Carbondale

Rank: Assistant Professor of International Relations

The School of Anthropology, Political Science, and Sociology invites those with potential for excellence in research and teaching to apply for consideration as an Assistant Professor in Political Science. This position is a continuing, tenure track, 9-month appointment to start August 12, 2025. Tenure will be housed in the School of Anthropology, Political Science, and Sociology.

This position is represented by SIU Carbondale Faculty Association/IEA-NEA. For more information regarding salary and other details please visit: <https://laborrelations.siu.edu/labor-contracts/>

The target salary offer for this position is $75,006 annually at full time. Actual salary for part-time appointments will be prorated based on the percentage FTE of the appointment.

Examples of Duties

The selected candidate will participate in undergraduate and graduate teaching, engage in scholarly research, and provide School/University service appropriate to their academic rank.

Qualifications

Minimum Qualifications: PhD in Political Science, Government, or International Relations by date of hire. Specialization in International Relations and Quantitative Methods. In addition to the degree requirement, applicants must demonstrate the following:

1. A potential to develop a strong program of individual scholarship
2. Evidence of an active research agenda.
3. Demonstrated ability to teach International Relations
4. Commitment to working with students from diverse backgrounds such as racial and ethnic minorities, women, individuals who identify as LGBT+, individuals with disabilities, individuals from lower income backgrounds, and/or first-generation or otherwise underserved college students.

Preferred Qualifications: Candidates who have a demonstrated record of peer-reviewed publication in International Relations and Political Science. Candidates who are prepared to teach quantitative methods at the undergraduate and graduate level. Candidates who are prepared to direct PhD students in International Relations.

Required Documents: Submit a letter of application, a current CV, and three references.

Contact: Stephen Bloom, bloom@siu.edu

Supplemental Information

School of Anthropology, Political Science and Sociology candidates who have experience working with a diverse range of faculty, staff, and students and who can contribute to the climate of inclusivity are encouraged to identify their experiences in these areas in their cover letter. New faculty in the College of Liberal Arts are offered competitive startup packages, often including graduate teaching or research assistant support and summer salary, designed to jumpstart research scholarship. All applications are welcomed and encouraged and will receive consideration. Southern Illinois University Carbondale is a Carnegie Doctoral Research University (R1) offering 200+ undergraduate degrees, minors and specializations, 79 master's degrees, and 40 doctoral degrees. Our main campus is 1,136 acres, with additional acreage in University Farms, Touch of Nature Outdoor Education Center, and other facilities.

The university is an essential part of the city of Carbondale and an important contributor to the culture of the entire region. While Carbondale includes many of the amenities of urban life, it retains its small-town flavor. We are approximately 2 hours from St. Louis, 3-4 hours from Memphis and Nashville, and 5 hours from Chicago. The cost of living is lower in the region than in similar areas elsewhere, and many employees commute from nearby counties. Southern Illinois is beautifully nestled between the Ohio and Mississippi rivers and boasts a temperate climate and considerable natural beauty including the Shawnee National Forest, many state parks, national wildlife areas, and several lakes beloved for recreation. Local foods are readily available in the area, with a variety of eateries and a growing specialized food truck presence. The area is home to the Shawnee Hills Wine Trail, an official wine appellation designation; as well as multiple breweries. The campus itself is a microcosm of the area, with a lake and forest on campus, as well as traditional collegiate architecture, quad, and residential halls. To learn about employee benefits and find resources about Carbondale and the Southern Illinois region, visit: <https://jobs.siu.edu/>.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 3/31/2025

Date Posted: 2/25/2025

Salary: $70,000 - $79,999

eJobs ID: 15458

University of Alabama, Tuscaloosa

Rank: Instructor of Political Science (3 Year Term, Renewable Contract Instructor)

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Public Administration

Position Summary

The Department of Political Science at the University of Alabama invites applications for a renewable contract instructor. This is a 9-month appointment will be for a three-year term, subject to satisfactory performance reviews. The appointment will begin on August 16, 2025.

Detailed Position Information

The Department of Political Science at the University of Alabama invites applications for a renewable contract instructor. The annual 9-month appointment will be for a three-year term, subject to satisfactory performance reviews. We invite applications from specialists in international relations, comparative politics, public administration, or U.S. politics. Minimum qualifications: MA in Political Science or related field; with some experience teaching at the college level. Preferred qualifications: PhD in Political Science or a related field; experience teaching courses independently. For more information about the department, see <https://psc.ua.edu/>. The position begins August 16, 2025.

Applications must be submitted via the University website at <http://careers.ua.edu/cw/en-us/job/525885>

Application review will begin immediately and will continue until the position is filled. Submit applications by March 25, 2025, for best consideration.

Minimum Qualifications

MA in Political Science or related field; with some experience teaching at the college level.

Preferred Qualifications

PhD in Political Science or a related field; experience teaching courses independently.

Instructions and Required Materials for Application

Applicants should submit a cover letter summarizing their teaching qualifications and experience, courses prepared to offer, and reasons for interest in the position; a CV; evidence of teaching effectiveness; and the names and contact information of 3 references (ideally with knowledge of candidate's teaching experience). Letters will only be required for short-listed candidates.

To see more information and to apply: <http://careers.ua.edu/cw/en-us/job/525885> ***

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 2/25/2025

Salary: $40,000 - $49,999

eJobs ID: 15459

St. Olaf College

Rank: Assistant Professor in American Politics

Subfield(s): Methodology, International Relations, Comparative Politics

The Department of Political Science at St. Olaf College invites applications for a full-time, one-year position in methodology and an additional subfield (American, international relations, comparative, or political theory) at the level of Visiting Instructor or Assistant Professor, to begin August 2025. This position has the potential for additional years of reappointment.

The teaching load will be six courses during the year, including three sections of political science research methodology and three sections reflecting the candidate's interests and expertise. The successful candidate will be able to offer instruction in quantitative and qualitative methods and explain how these methods contribute to a broad and rigorous liberal arts education. While additional expertise in international relations is preferred, expertise in American, comparative, or political theory will be considered.

Qualifications

A Ph.D. in Political Science or a related field completed by the start of the fall semester is preferred, but ABD candidates will be considered.

About the Department

We are a collegial department, with two faculty members teaching regularly in each of the four subfields. We are committed to supporting our colleagues in their pursuit of creative and thoughtful pedagogy and rigorous scholarship. For more information about the department, visit wp.stolaf.edu/poli-sci/.

How to Apply

Submit application at: https://fa-ewur-saasfaprod1.fa.ocs.oraclecloud.com/hcmUI/CandidateExperience/en/sites/CX_3/job/1824

A complete application includes the following:

References: Provide contact information for three professional references who can speak to your abilities in teaching and scholarship.

Supporting Documents and URLs:

Cover letter outlining your qualifications and why you are interested in this particular position

Curriculum vitae

Graduate transcripts (unofficial)

Evidence of Teaching Excellence

Review of applications will begin immediately and will continue until the position is filled. Questions about the position, department, or college may be directed to the Department Chair, Douglas Casson, at casson@stolaf.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 2/19/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15442

Washington University in St. Louis

Rank: Weidenbaum Center Postdoctoral Fellowship

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Methodology, International Relations

The Weidenbaum Center on the Economy, Government and Public Policy (at Washington University in St. Louis) is seeking an exceptional candidate for an anticipated two-year post-doctoral fellow position, potentially renewable for a third year. Continuation is subject to performance and successful annual reviews. The fellow will work with Prof. Margit Tavits on setting up and pursuing a research program aimed at identifying the social, economic, and political factors that build or erode social trust, solidarity, and resilience. Central to this agenda are questions about how to sustain cohesion in the face of violence and other shocks, and how to break entrenched cycles of distrust, discrimination, and hostility.

The fellow will work closely with Prof. Tavits and will be involved in all aspects of the research process, with a particular emphasis on study design, data analysis, and preparation of grant proposals as well as manuscripts for leading peer-reviewed journals.

We are seeking a technically strong social science researcher who is interested in asking bold new questions. We are especially interested in candidates with a proven record of publications or completed projects that demonstrate an outstanding ability to ask transformative questions, design rigorous research, and use advanced statistical methods. Candidates should detail their experience in these areas in their cover letters and showcase any of these skills and compatible substantive research interests in the writing sample.

Employment in this fellowship is anticipated to begin in July 2025. Additional information about the postdoctoral program and benefits at Washington University is found at: <https://postdoc.wustl.edu>

Qualifications

- Doctorate in a social science program with a preference for political science or a closely related discipline (degree must be completed at time of appointment)
- Graduate level knowledge of advanced causal inference methods, survey research, and applied statistics
- Experience in running and analyzing field experiments and/or conducting quasi-experimental studies is a plus
- Ability to collaborate effectively with others and coordinate the work of a research team
- Strong work ethic
- Proficiency and excellent writing skills in English

Application Instructions

Proposal Submission Deadline: We will begin reviewing applications on March 15 and anticipate scheduling Zoom interviews as early as late March.

Proposal Format:

Applications should include the following:

- Cover letter describing your interest in and qualifications for this position
- Curriculum vitae
- Research statement not to exceed 2000 words describing the dissertation project and other research
- Writing sample
- Three letters of reference
- The cover letter should be addressed to Margit Tavits

*Please apply via Interfolio: <https://apply.interfolio.com/163623>

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 3/15/2025

Date Posted: 2/19/2025

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 15445

Berry College

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor

The Department of Political Science and International Affairs at Berry College invites applications for a two-year Visiting Assistant Professor in international affairs, starting in August 2025. We seek a candidate with expertise in international relations, with an openness to any specialty area. Candidates will also contribute courses on contemporary world issues to the Foundations curriculum. This faculty member will teach seven courses annually and help support the College's Model United Nations program.

The Department is committed to preparing students to become good citizens of the United States and the world. We seek candidates who demonstrate aptitude and enthusiasm for teaching in a liberal arts environment, and a commitment to mentoring and guiding students.

We are especially interested in candidates whose teaching will contribute to Berry's Good Neighbor Culture.

REQUIREMENTS

Minimum Qualifications: PhD in Political Science, International Relations, or International Affairs required by August 2025.

ABOUT BERRY COLLEGE

Berry is a selective independent college of 2,200 students located adjacent to Rome, GA, midway between Atlanta, GA, and Chattanooga, TN. Berry's educational approach deliberately unites challenging academic programs with practical work experience in a residential campus community that encourages faith and emphasizes caring for the needs of others above self. Our mission and values are grounded in the ethic that our founder instilled more than a century ago: "We educate the head, heart, and hands – to inspire leaders of integrity who cultivate thriving communities." Nationally recognized for quality of learning and quality of life, Berry offers first-rate undergraduate degree programs in the sciences, humanities, arts and human sciences, as well as undergraduate and master's level opportunities in business and teacher education. The College's stunning 27,000-acre campus affords opportunities that cannot be duplicated elsewhere. Berry's ongoing commitment is to provide exceptional educational experiences to talented students from a wide range of social, racial, and economic backgrounds.

?

COLLEGE COMMITMENTS

Berry College is committed to recruiting and supporting a diverse faculty and staff. An Equal Opportunity Institution, Berry complies with all applicable laws and provisions prohibiting discrimination in its educational and employment policies. Berry respects the essential dignity of all individuals and accordingly hires and promotes employees without regard to matters of personal identity such as race, ethnicity, religion, gender, sexual orientation, and political affiliation. Berry College is committed to ensuring facilities, programs, services, and activities are accessible to everyone, including those seeking employment at Berry College. Inquiries about interview or workplace accommodations are welcomed and can be directed to Wayne Phipps, Director of Human Resources, at (706) 290-2698.

APPLICATION INSTRUCTIONS

Applicants should submit a letter of application describing the candidate's interest in this position, commitment to the Berry mission, and to inclusive teaching and learning; a curriculum vitae; a teaching statement that should articulate the candidate's teaching approach, experience, and goals; a statement of research plans; unofficial undergraduate and graduate transcripts; and names and contact information of three references.

Submit application to <https://berry.interviewexchange.com/jobofferdetails.jsp?JOBID=185624>

Review of applications will begin on March 1 and will continue until the position is filled.

Specific questions about the position may be sent directly to the chair of the search committee, Dr. Kirsten Taylor (ktaylor@berry.edu).

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 2/17/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15438

Hertie School – the University of Governance in Berlin

Rank: Full Professor of Military Strategy and Technology (gn)

Subfield(s): International Relations, Public Policy, Other

The Hertie School,

the University of Governance in Berlin,

is recruiting a

Full Professor of Military Strategy and Technology (gn)

The Hertie School is recruiting an exceptional scholar to fill a vacancy in Military Strategy and Technology. The position is full-time. We expect as a starting date summer 2025.

Applicants must hold a doctoral degree in History, Political Science or International Relations, alongside an excellent record in research and teaching. An ideal candidate will be in the position to teach classes on military operations, military technology, military strategy and defence-industrial production; have an outstanding record of publications in the most selective journals, with demonstrated academic and policy impact; and have a proven record in carrying out both qualitative and quantitative research. Particularly welcome to apply are applicants with a track record of interdisciplinary research who can teach and write on technical topics, including sensing technologies and signal processing in war, modern production methods such as advances in material sciences and mechanical engineering, as well as technological competition in both the commercial and the defence industry. Past collaborations with engineers and scientists are considered a plus.

Candidates are expected to show full commitment to working in an interdisciplinary, international environment with English as the language of instruction and operation. The professor will initially be on a three-year fixed-term contract with the possibility of renewal. If the position is renewed, a tenure review would be expected under the next contract.

As a private non-profit university, endowed and supported by the Hertie Foundation, the Hertie School offers an internationally competitive salary as well as a paid sabbatical after every five semesters. We provide excellent working conditions with outstanding financial and administrative support for research. The Hertie School is fully embedded in Berlin's vibrant research landscape and has close ties to the top institutions of the European and international teaching and research community.

The Hertie School is a diverse, international, and lively community located in the heart of Berlin. We welcome all applications – irrespective of gender, nationality, ethnic or social origin, religion, disability, age, or sexual orientation. The Hertie School expressly encourages women and/or persons from ethnic groups underrepresented in German academia to apply. Equally qualified applicants with disabilities will be given preference. The Hertie School is a certified family friendly university. Under German law, there is standard paid leave for parents after the birth or adoption of a child.

The deadline for the submission of applications is 19 March 2025. Applications are accepted via the online application tool only: <http://apply.interfolio.com/163523>. The Hertie School will review applications that include a letter of motivation, a curriculum vitae (including publication list, degrees earned, positions held, teaching experience, research projects, awards received), two writing samples, a diversity statement, and two recent teaching evaluations, if applicable.

For questions about the position, please contact Professor Marina Henke (henke@hertie-school.org). Strict confidentiality in the application process is assured. The Hertie School is an equal opportunity employer.

Start Date: Summer 2025

Application Deadline: 3/19/2025

Date Posted: 2/13/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15421

Utah State University

Rank: Temporary Assistant Professor in Political Science and Peace Studies

The Department of Political Science and the Heravi Peace Institute at Utah State University (USU) invite applications for a Temporary Assistant Professor of Political Science to serve as a Heravi Peace Fellow. Successful candidates must hold a PhD in Political Science or a related field and should have demonstrated expertise in the interdisciplinary field of Peace Studies. The Fellow will teach introductory courses in international relations, international studies, and peacebuilding as well as an upper-division course in our Global Peacebuilding certificate program. Additionally, the Fellow is expected to take an active role in departmental and institute activities and outreach, as appropriate to interests and skills. This is a one-year term appointment at USU's main campus in Logan. The successful applicant may expect an annual salary of $55,000 plus benefits as well as funds to present at a professional conference. The anticipated start date of the position is August 2025.

Please direct questions to Dr. Colin Flint, Search Committee Chair, at colin.flint@usu.edu (Do not send application materials to this email address.) Please submit your applications here: <https://careers-usu.icims.com/jobs/8847/temporary-assistant-professor%2c-political-science-and-peace-studies/job>

Review of applications begins February 28, 2025, and continues until the position is filled.

Responsibilities

- Teach POLS 2100 Introduction to International Relations
- Teach POLS 2500 Introduction to International Studies
- Teach PI 1010 Intro to Peacebuilding or another appropriate introductory course for the HPI
- Teach one upper-division course for the HPI (to be negotiated at time of hire). Please consult the USU catalog for information
- Conduct research in field of specialization
- Actively participate in departmental and institute activities and outreach

Minimum Qualifications:

- A PhD in Political Science or related field with training in peacebuilding (awarded or expected to be awarded by August 1, 2025)
- Evidence of teaching excellence

- Evidence of scholarly productivity

Preferred Qualifications:

- Specialization in International Studies or International Relations
- Educational and/or work background in peace studies or conflict transformation
- Ability to contribute to other units in the College or University

Required Documents

Along with the online application, please attach:

- Resume/CV to be uploaded at the beginning of your application in the Candidate Profile under "Resume/CV"
- Name and contact information for 3 professional references to be entered into Candidate Profile
- A cover letter that speaks to your effectiveness as a teacher and researcher and your specializations in both political science and peace studies to be typed/pasted at the end of your application.
- Additional materials may be requested of candidates who advance to the next level.

Document size may not exceed 10 MB.

Advertised Salary

$55,000, plus excellent benefits

ADA

Employees work indoors and are protected from weather and/or contaminants, but not, necessarily, occasional temperature changes. The employee is regularly required to sit and often uses repetitive hand motions. The employee is frequently required to reach with hands and arms and may lift and/or move up to 10 pounds.

College/Department Highlights

The Political Science Department at Utah State includes dynamic teacher-scholars as well as undergraduate and master's level students interested in global fields of study. The faculty value high-quality research in keeping with the department's research mission, but also place the highest importance on accessible and quality teaching. Faculty for this position will be located at the main campus in Logan. For more information on the Political Science department and the Heravi Peace Institute, see our websites: <https://chass.usu.edu/political-science/> and <https://chass.usu.edu/peace-institute/>

Founded in 2022 through a generous endowed gift from USU alumnus, Dr. Mehdi Heravi, the gift became the impetus to integrate five existing interdisciplinary certificates—Conflict Management, Global Peacebuilding, Interfaith Leadership, Leadership and Diplomacy, and Social Entrepreneurship—under the umbrella of a single administrative unit to allow for greater coordination and impact. Heravi also established an experiential learning fund and a Peace Scholars fund to help undergraduate students access internships and study abroad programs. The HPI empowers USU students, faculty, and staff by cultivating the necessary character, knowledge, and skills to constructively transform conflict and build peace. Leveraging research, teaching, praxis, and community engagement, we develop and equip peace-builders for today's world. For more information see: <https://chass.usu.edu/peace-institute/>

All faculty are part of the College of Humanities and Social Sciences, which plays an instrumental role in teaching critical thinking, knowledge-building skills and the ability to pose meaningful questions that advance understanding and knowledge. Students in our college confront the great questions and controversies, learn about the forces that shape our world, and develop the skills to tackle pressing societal challenges. Our graduates are creative problem-solvers with a passion for making a difference. The education they receive here prepares them to address the problems of today and to succeed wherever their career path takes them tomorrow.

University Highlights

Founded in 1888, Utah State University is Utah's premier land-grant, public service university. As an R1 research institution, Utah State is dedicated to advancing knowledge through research and scholarly activities, providing a high-quality undergraduate and graduate education at an affordable price.

USU enrolls 28,900 students, both online and in person at locations throughout the state. Utah State's 30 locations include a main campus in Logan, Utah, residential campuses in Price and Blanding, and six additional statewide campuses, along with education centers serving every county. USU Online educates students from all 50 states and 55 countries. For over 25 years, USU Extension has served and engaged Utahns in all of Utah's counties.

Competing at the NCAA Division I level, USU is a proud member of the Mountain West Conference and will join the Pac-12 Conference beginning in the 2026-2027 season. The Aggies' long-standing tradition of athletic and academic excellence is exemplified by conference championships in multiple sports, reflecting USU's commitment to perseverance and achievement.

Utah State is dedicated to fostering a community where all individuals feel respected, valued, and supported. We seek to recruit, hire, and retain people from all walks of life who will champion excellence in education, research, discovery, outreach, and service. We believe that promoting a strong sense of community and belonging empowers and engages all members of USU to thrive and be successful. Forbes recognized our commitment to employees when they named Utah State the best employer in Utah in 2023. Learn more about USU.

The university provides a Dual Career Assistance Program to support careers for partners who are also seeking employment. Additionally, USU is committed to providing access and reasonable accommodations for individuals with disabilities. To request a reasonable accommodation for a disability, contact the university's ADA Coordinator in the Office of Human Resources at (435) 797-0122 or hr@usu.edu.

*updated 01/2025

Notice of Non-discrimination

In its programs and activities, including in admissions and employment, Utah State University does not discriminate or tolerate discrimination, including harassment, based on race, color, religion, sex, national origin, age, genetic information, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, disability, status as a protected veteran, or any other status protected by University policy, Title IX, or any other federal, state, or local law.

The following individuals have been designated to handle inquiries regarding the application of Title IX and its implementing regulations and/or USU's non-discrimination policies:

Executive Director of the Office of Equity Matthew Pinner, discrimination@usu.edu, Distance Education Rm. 401, 435-797-1266

Title IX Coordinator Cody Carmichael, titleix@usu.edu, Distance Education Rm. 404, 435-797-1266

Mailing address: 5100 Old Main Hill, Logan, UT 84322

For further information regarding non-discrimination, please visit <https://equity.usu.edu/>, or contact:

U.S. Department of Education, Office of Assistant Secretary for Civil Rights, 800-421-3481, OCR@ed.gov

*updated 09/2023

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 2/13/2025

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 15423

University of Notre Dame

Rank: Assistant Director and Senior Research Fellow, Notre Dame International Security Center

The Notre Dame International Security Center (NDISC) invites applications for a unique combination administrative and research position to support the Center's growing portfolio of scholarly and other activities. Significant teaching opportunities may be available as well.

This appointment will be equally divided between assisting the Director and the principals with various aspects of NDISC's expanding administrative portfolio while pursuing a robust research agenda in some aspect of "Innovative Approaches to Grand Strategy."

By grand strategy, we mean some aspect of where, when, and how states (as well as armed groups) consider using military force among other instruments of statecraft to achieve foreign policy goals, broadly defined.

The position offers a competitive salary, benefits, and significant professional support. The initial appointment is for up to three years.

We seek candidates whose work applies the very best scholarship to the most pressing policy issues facing the United States in the 21st Century and does so in a way that broadens the intellectual and practical discussion of the issues in innovative ways. In addition to having first-rate scholarly credentials, the ideal candidate will also have an interest in applying their scholarly work to some aspect of the formulation and implementation of grand strategy.

We are particularly eager to receive applications from women and minority scholars.

All applicants should submit a CV, letter of interest outlining not only the candidate's administrative experience and interest but also their research agenda and scholarly objectives for the period of their appointment, a brief (10,000 words) writing sample, and have three reference letters submitted on their behalf to <http://apply.interfolio.com/163311>. Applications received by April 1, 2025 will receive full consideration. Please direct any further questions about this position to Michael Desch at mdesch@nd.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 4/1/2025

Date Posted: 2/11/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15415

Wofford College

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor of International Affairs

The Department of Government and International Affairs at Wofford College in Spartanburg, South Carolina, invites applications for a one-year visiting assistant professor/instructor of international affairs to begin fall 2025. At Wofford, faculty serve as teacher-scholars dedicated to the education and mentorship of undergraduates in a liberal arts tradition. We require candidates to be broadly trained in international relations and/or comparative politics and to have the ability to teach a range of introductory and upper level international relations and comparative politics courses. Graduate coursework on teaching and/or additional pedagogical training through workshops or certificates is helpful for this position. The teaching load for this position is 4-4 with multiple sections of the same course.

REQUIRED QUALIFICATIONS

A Ph.D. or ABD in Political Science, equivalent or closely related field. Experience as a graduate teaching assistant or have taught at least one undergraduate level course(s).

APPLICATION

All applications must include the following materials:

- (1) a letter of application that discusses the candidate's interest in teaching at a residential liberal arts college, the candidate's interest in Wofford College and the Department of Government & International Affairs, and the candidate's teaching philosophy.
- (2) a curriculum vitae;
- (3) evidence of teaching effectiveness;
- (4) letters of support from two professional references;

All application materials should be sent to InternationalAffairsVAP@Wofford.edu

Applications due by March 7, 2025, or until position is filled.

ABOUT WOFFORD COLLEGE:

Wofford College is a place where thought leads, where ideas are celebrated and problem solving is expected. Wofford invites applicants who are focused on student success and excited to join a community committed to preparing thought leaders.

Wofford College, established in 1854, is a four-year, residential liberal arts college located in Spartanburg, South Carolina. It offers 27 major fields of study to a student body of 1,874 undergraduates. Nationally known for the strength of its academic program, outstanding faculty, experiential learning opportunities and successful and supportive graduates, Wofford is recognized consistently as a “best value” and for its commitment to student success and accessibility for low- and middle-income students. The college community has 12 sororities and fraternities as well as 20 NCAA Division I athletics teams.

The Department of Government and International Affairs has six full-time tenure-track faculty and over a hundred majors. We cover a broad scope of subject matter with an intellectually diverse faculty.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 3/7/2025

Date Posted: 2/10/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15410

Western Carolina University

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor - International Relations/Comparative Politics

The Department of Political Science and Public Affairs at Western Carolina University is searching for a visiting assistant professor in International Relations and/or Comparative Politics to join our growing and accomplished faculty.

This is a fixed-term nine-month position, with a chance of renewal. The anticipated begin date is August 2025. The successful candidate will contribute to the Political Science and International Studies programs by teaching six courses per academic year, including sections of our “Exploring Global Politics” course, a core introductory class in our Political Science major. Upper-level courses within the candidate’s specialization will also be part of the teaching load. The primary location of this position is the Cullowhee, NC campus. The possibility of summer teaching may also be available, but not required for this position.

Preferred qualifications include a PhD in Political Science, International Relations, International Studies, or a related discipline from an accredited institution. Advanced ABD candidates from an accredited university will also be considered. Preferred candidates will also have research and teaching expertise in the politics of the Middle East or Asia, and a demonstrated focus on these regions.

The position is open until filled and the search committee will begin reviewing applications on February 26, 2025.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 1/17/2025

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 15350

Hampden-Sydney College

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of Government and Foreign Affairs at Hampden-Sydney College invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track appointment at the rank of Assistant Professor beginning in Fall 2025. Candidates should have expertise in Comparative Politics and/or International Relations. The Department seeks applicants who can offer intermediate courses in European politics, international relations theory and/or international organization. The successful applicant may participate in the college-wide Core Cultures program or teach introductory courses in world politics. Faculty teach in a 6-6-7 course rotation with six courses per year for two years and seven courses in the third year.

Hampden-Sydney College values the teacher/scholar model. Successful applicants will have a record of effective classroom teaching, a commitment to scholarly productivity, and a willingness to work with colleagues on professional service responsibilities. Applicants should have a Ph.D. or be advanced ABD in political science at the time of appointment.

Please submit a letter of application, curriculum vitae, teaching statement, research statement, and three letters of reference to Dr. Celia Carroll Jones, Chair, Department of Government and Foreign Affairs, Hampden-Sydney College at <http://apply.interfolio.com/161830>. Review of applications will begin February 15, 2025.

Hampden-Sydney is one of three liberal arts colleges in the United States dedicated to the education of men, and our mission is to educate “good men and good citizens in an atmosphere of sound learning.” As a community, we are dedicated to the goal of building a culturally diverse staff committed to working in a multicultural environment and strongly encourage applications from women and minoritized groups. Hampden-Sydney College values diversity, prohibits discrimination, and is committed to equal opportunity for all employees and applicants for employment.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 2/15/2025

Date Posted: 1/12/2025

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 15335

University of California, Berkeley

Rank: Postdoctoral Employee, Political Economy of Climate Policy

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Public Policy, International Relations

Specializations: Political Economy, Environmental Policy, Energy Policy

POSITION OVERVIEW

Position title: Postdoc Employee, Political Economy of Climate Policy
Salary range: The UC postdoc salary scales set the minimum pay determined by experience level at appointment. See the following table(s) for the current salary scale(s) for this position: https://www.ucop.edu/academic-personnel-programs/_files/2024-25/oct-2024-scales/t23.pdf. The current minimum salary range for this position is $66,737-$74,425. Salaries above the minimum may be offered when necessary to meet competitive conditions.

Percent time: 100

Anticipated start: as early as possible, negotiable

Position duration: Initial appointment is for 2 years with possibility of renewal based on performance and availability of funding.

APPLICATION WINDOW

Next review date: Monday, January 13, 2025

Final date: Applications will continue to be accepted until a candidate has been chosen.

POSITION DESCRIPTION

The Berkeley Economy and Society Initiative seeks applications for a Postdoctoral Scholar in the area of the political economy of climate policy and the energy transition.

The Postdoctoral Scholar will be part of the Berkeley Economy and Society Initiative (BESI), a campuswide program to advance new political and economic thought on urgent societal challenges. BESI's climate cluster conducts research and engagement on climate politics and policy, with a focus on the intersection of climate and economic policymaking. Jonas Meckling directs the cluster and is the faculty lead for the position, while other faculty may be involved in projects. Areas of research interest include but are not limited to the intersection of climate policy and economic policy broadly understood. Specific interests relate to the greening of innovation, industrial, trade, development, monetary, and fiscal policy. We welcome international political economy, comparative political economy, or regional/country perspectives as well as firm-centered approaches.

Applicants are expected to pitch their existing research and possible areas of collaboration. They may also contribute to possible projects of collaboration proposed by us.

QUALIFICATIONS

Basic qualifications (required at time of application)

PhD or equivalent international degree or enrolled in such a program.

APPLICATION REQUIREMENTS

Document requirements

Curriculum Vitae - Your most recently updated C.V.

Cover Letter - Please include a 1-2 page cover letter.

Statement of Research - This research proposal should not exceed 5 pages. Applicants should provide specific information about research plans, including possible areas of collaboration.

Recent Publications - Please include at least one recent publication.

Reference requirements

Names and contact details for 3 references. We will only request letters of recommendation for shortlisted candidates.

Apply email: Submit your application as a single pdf file to BESIHR@berkeley.edu.

Start Date: Summer 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 1/8/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15327

Williams College

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor in Political Science

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Other

The Williams College Department of Political Science invites applications for a one-year appointment in the 2025 - 2026 academic year, as Visiting Assistant Professor in Political Science. We seek individuals who can teach courses in comparative politics, especially those with an East Asia, Africa, or other regional focus. The ability to teach introduction to comparative politics is required. The ability to teach courses in international relations is a plus. The teaching load is four courses, split evenly between the fall and spring semesters. We welcome applications from candidates of all backgrounds and strongly encourage individuals from underrepresented identities or those whose experiences and perspectives will enhance our commitment to academic

The Williams College Department of Political Science invites applications for a one-year appointment in the 2025 - 2026 academic year, as Visiting Assistant Professor in Political Science. We seek individuals who can teach courses in comparative politics, especially those with an East Asia, Africa, or other regional focus. The ability to teach introduction to comparative politics is required. The ability to teach courses in international relations is a plus. The teaching load is four courses, split evenly between the fall and spring semesters. We welcome applications from candidates of all backgrounds and strongly encourage individuals from underrepresented identities or those whose experiences and perspectives will enhance our commitment to academic excellence and innovation to apply.

Candidates should have the Ph.D. completed by June 2025. Application items should include: a cover letter detailing teaching experience and competencies as well as current scholarly interests; two syllabi of classes taught or planned to be taught; a curriculum vitae; three letters of recommendation; teaching evaluations accompanied by comparative or statistical context (if available); and a writing sample of only one article or chapter. We ask you to write in your cover letter about your ability to work effectively with a student population that is broadly diverse with regard to gender, race, ethnicity, nationality, sexual orientation, and religion.

We will begin to review applications on February 1st, but will consider submissions until the search is completed. All application materials should be submitted through Interfolio [apply.interfolio.com/160837]. Fax and email applications will not be accepted. Inquiries may be sent to Erin Malloy at emb8@williams.edu. All offers of employment are contingent upon completion of a background check. Further information is available here: faculty.williams.edu/prospective-faculty/background-check-policy/

Williams College is a liberal arts institution located in the Berkshire Hills of western Massachusetts. The college has built its reputation on outstanding teaching and scholarship and on the academic excellence of its approximately 2,000 students. Please visit the Williams College website (<http://www.williams.edu>) to learn more about the College and in particular its professional development resources for faculty. Beyond meeting fully its legal obligations for non-discrimination, Williams College is committed to building a diverse and inclusive community where members from all backgrounds can live, learn, and thrive. and innovation to apply.

Start Date: Summer 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 1/6/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15322

University of Missouri, Columbia

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor

The University of Missouri, Columbia is seeking a Visiting Assistant Professor to teach courses in international relations. Teaching responsibilities will include undergraduate introduction to international relations, a MA course on American foreign policy, and other related courses. The position is a non-tenure track visiting position focused on teaching courses for the MA in Defense and Strategic Studies and BA in Political Science programs for the 2025-2026 academic year. This is a 9-month teaching and research appointment with a workload distribution of 60% teaching, 30% research, and 10% service. The teaching load will be 3 courses per semester and will include both in-person and online courses. There is a possibility for renewal for an additional year.

Qualifications

Minimum Qualifications:

A PhD in Political Science or related field by the time of appointment.

Competitive applicants will have clear ability to teach effectively at the graduate and undergraduate levels. Candidates should also have a clear research agenda, strong theoretical orientation, excellent methodological skills, ability to publish in highly ranked journals and academic presses. Applications from scholars whose research has an emphasis on any area of international relations will be considered. However, the ideal candidate will also be able to contribute to the TSGPA's MA and undergraduate minor in Defense and Strategic Studies.

Application Materials

Please apply online at: <https://hr.missouri.edu/job-openings> (Job Opening ID 54284). Use the online application and be prepared to upload your curriculum vitae, a cover letter, and writing samples. Please also provide evidence of effective teaching, as well as a teaching statement that describes your pedagogical goals/practices including information about your ability to teach undergraduate and graduate students from a variety of backgrounds and experiences. The cover letter should address teaching interests as well as current and future research. Candidates should have three letters of recommendation sent to the Truman School Director's Office at mutsgpadirector@missouri.edu.

We value the uniqueness of every individual and strive to ensure each person's success. Contributions from individuals with diverse backgrounds, experiences and perspectives promote intellectual pluralism and enable us to achieve the excellence that we seek in learning, research and engagement. This commitment makes our university a better place to work, learn and innovate. In your application materials, please discuss your experiences and expertise that support these values and enrich our missions of teaching, research, and engagement.

Applicants may contact the Chair of the Search Committee Dr. Stephen Quackenbush (quackenbush@missouri.edu) with any questions about the job duties. Contact Andrew Longley (andrew.longley@umsystem.edu) for any questions about the application process. We will begin reviewing applications on February 1, 2025, and continue until the position is filled.

The Truman School of Government and Public Affairs has 33 faculty with academic appointments in the school and houses a PhD in Political Science, a PhD in Public Affairs, a Master of Public Affairs, and a MA in Defense and Strategic Studies, as well as BA in Political Science, and a BA in Public Administration and Policy. For more information see: <https://truman.missouri.edu/>.

Benefit Eligibility

This position is eligible for University benefits. The University offers a comprehensive benefits package, including medical, dental and vision plans, retirement, and educational fee discounts. For additional information on University benefits, please visit the Faculty & Staff Benefits website at <http://www.umsystem.edu/totalrewards/benefits>.

Equal Employment Opportunity

The University of Missouri System is an Equal Opportunity Employer. Equal Opportunity is and shall be provided for all employees and applicants for employment on the basis of their demonstrated ability and competence without unlawful discrimination on the basis of their race, color, national origin, ancestry, religion, sex, pregnancy, sexual orientation, gender identity, gender expression, age, disability, or protected veteran status, or any other status protected by applicable state or federal law. This policy applies to all employment decisions including, but not limited to, recruiting, hiring, training, promotions, pay practices, benefits, disciplinary actions and terminations. For more information, visit <https://www.umsystem.edu/ums/hr/eoo>.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 12/20/2024

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 15309

George Washington University

Rank: Assistant/Associate Professor of International Affairs

Assistant/Associate Professor of International Affairs

Position Description Summary

The Security Policy Studies (SPS) Program in the Elliott School of International Affairs at the George Washington University in Washington, D.C. invites applications for the position of Assistant/Associate Professor of International Affairs and Associate Director of the SPS master's program beginning as early as Summer 2025. The initial contract period will be three years, with the potential for renewal. This is a full-time, non-tenure track faculty position.

SPS is a policy-oriented master's degree program focusing on international security issues, with a particular emphasis on 21st century security challenges and how to respond to them. Students enroll in one of our 4 concentrations: U.S. national security, transnational security, conflict resolution, and science and technology. Students take cornerstone courses in international security and security policy analysis, and other foundational courses in their field of concentration in small classes with cohort members in Fall, Spring, and Summer semesters.

The SPS Program has approximately 200 students. This faculty role of Assistant/Associate Professor will also serve as Associate Director of the SPS program, with both teaching and academic administration as central to the position. The finalist will teach classes serving the SPS core curriculum needs and will report to the SPS Program Director and to the Senior Associate Dean for Academic Affairs at the Elliott School. The finalist will work to integrate curricular offerings and activities to enhance the academic experiences of all SPS students. In addition to teaching, the position will include service responsibilities related to student recruitment, advising and oversight; curriculum design, planning, and management; recruitment and management of part-time faculty; and regular reporting and assessment of the program. They will also participate in SPS information sessions for prospective students and organize and participate in other SPS-related campus and virtual events.

The successful candidate will be expected to teach graduate courses in international security. We welcome applicants familiar with non-conventional security studies, including cybersecurity, climate security, transnational challenges, and other emerging topics. The teaching load will be 2-2.

George Washington University's culture reflects its shared values, including respect and diversity. The Elliott School recognizes that diversity and social mobility are among our country's greatest assets in engaging the rest of the world; we are deeply committed as a school to fostering an inclusive community. To this end, we encourage candidates from diverse identities, backgrounds, and experiences. We are particularly interested in receiving applications from members of underrepresented groups. The selected candidate will be expected to support inclusive excellence, including inclusive teaching. To learn more about the Elliott School's commitment to diversity, equity, and inclusion, visit elliott.gwu.edu/diversity-and-inclusion.

Specific Duties And Responsibilities

The effort breakdown for the position is 40% teaching, 40% administration/service and 20% research. The teaching component includes four graduate courses during Fall (2) and Spring (2) semesters, which will include online instruction, in-person classes, or a combination of online/in-person instruction. The courses will cover core SPS curriculum requirements. Administrative work and service includes student recruitment, advising and oversight; curriculum design, planning, and management; recruitment and management of part-time faculty; organizing curricular events; and regular reporting and assessment of the program.

Minimum Qualifications

Applicants must have excellent teaching skills as demonstrated by student evaluations, experience teaching and advising students at the graduate level, and a demonstrated commitment to equity and inclusion in the classroom. They must hold a doctorate or equivalent degree in International Relations, International Security, Political Science, or a related field by date of appointment; ABD applicants will be considered but must complete all requirements for the doctorate by date of appointment.

Advertised Salary: $95,000 - $125,000

Health Benefits: This position is eligible for full-time health benefits. For more information, please visit: <https://hr.gwu.edu/health-benefits>

Special Instructions To Applicants

To apply, please complete an online application at <https://www.gwu.jobs/postings/116282>. Applicants must submit a cover letter that includes a statement of interest in the SPS Program and discusses contributions to teaching, program management, advising, and research.

Applicants must also submit a CV; a statement of teaching objectives and methods (upload under Statement of Teaching Interest); evidence of effective teaching (upload under Course Evaluations or Summaries); DEI diversity statement (upload under Other Documents); and names of three references. Letters of recommendation are not required for application but will be requested for final candidates. Candidates who are invited for an interview will be expected to give a teaching demonstration.

Review of applications will begin on January 15, 2025 and will continue until the position is filled. Only complete applications will be considered.

?Successful Completion of a Background Screening will be required as a condition of hire.

EEO Statement: The university is an Equal Employment Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer that does not unlawfully discriminate in any of its programs or activities on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, national origin, age, disability, veteran status, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, or on any other basis prohibited by applicable law.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 1/15/2025

Date Posted: 12/12/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15286

Auburn University Montgomery

Rank: Associate/Full Professor of Political Science and Khaled Chair

The Department of Political Science and Public Administration at Auburn University at Montgomery invites applications for the endowed Khaled Chair in Political Science and International Policy. This is a nine-month full-time tenure-eligible faculty appointment; rank commensurate based on professional experience. The endowment provides the Khaled Chair with a summer research stipend, research and travel support, and a reduced teaching load. Applicants must have a Ph.D. in political science or a related field. The position begins with the Fall 2025 semester.

The Department of Political Science and Public Administration offers bachelor's and master's degree programs in political science and a NASPAA-accredited master's degree program in public administration. The successful candidate will teach introductory and upper-level undergraduate courses in international relations, graduate courses, mentor undergraduate and graduate students, and develop programming of interest to the campus and the wider community. Demonstrated excellence in teaching and a distinguished record of publication and research are required. Candidates who have experience successfully delivering online courses are especially encouraged to apply.

Review of applications begins on January 10, 2025. To apply, complete an online application at <https://www.jobs.aum.edu/postings/6999> and upload the following materials: (1) a cover letter addressing the candidate's qualifications for the position in the areas of teaching and research; (2) a curriculum vitae; (3) two recent writing samples; (4) graduate transcript (an official transcript will be needed at the time of hire); and (5) contact information for at least three professional references. Separately, three confidential letters of reference are required and must be sent by email to politicalscience@aum.edu by the application deadline.

Auburn University at Montgomery (AUM) is a comprehensive public university and is the metropolitan campus of Auburn University. Located in the state capital on a 500-acre campus, AUM enrolls approximately 5,200 undergraduate and graduate students and attracts a diverse student body. AUM is ranked by U.S. News and World Report as one of the top thirty-five Comprehensive Regional Universities in the South and by the Princeton Review as one of the best colleges in the Southeast.

Montgomery is a diverse city offering an array of cultural and recreational opportunities including the Alabama Shakespeare Festival, the Legacy Museum and the National Memorial for Peace and Justice, a ballet company, a natural habitat zoo, a chamber music society, an independent film theater, and the Montgomery Biscuits Double-A baseball team; it is home to Maxwell-Gunter Air Force Base and Air University, Hyundai Motor's U.S. production facility, and the headquarters of leading non-profits including Equal Justice Initiative and the Southern Poverty Law Center. The campus is within a two-and-a-half-hour drive to Atlanta, ninety minutes to Birmingham, and less than three hours to the Gulf Coast.

Auburn University at Montgomery is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer. It is our policy to provide equal employment and education opportunities for all individuals without regard to race, color, national origin, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, gender expression, pregnancy, age, disability, protected veteran status, genetic information, or any other classification protected by applicable law. The Office of Affirmative Action/Equal Employment Opportunity (AA/EEO) strives to ensure an inclusive and equitable working, living, and learning environment for members of the AUM community.

While this position is open until filled, Auburn University at Montgomery reserves the right to stop accepting applications once interviewing has begun.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 12/6/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15262

George Washington University

Rank: Assistant/Associate Professor

Academic Title: Assistant/Associate Professor of Middle East politics

Position Description Summary

The Elliott School of International Affairs at the George Washington University in Washington, D.C. invites applications for the position of Assistant/Associate Professor of Middle East politics with expertise on Iran. We seek a professor with expertise in Middle East politics and the ability to teach courses on Iran and U.S.-Iran relations. The successful candidate also will be able to teach courses on the international relations of the Middle East. The initial contract period will begin as early as Fall 2025 and be for three academic years, with the potential for renewal. This is a full-time, specialized service (non-tenure track) faculty position.

George Washington University's culture reflects its shared values, including respect and diversity. The Elliott School recognizes that diversity and social mobility are among our country's greatest assets in engaging the rest of the world; we are deeply committed as a school to fostering an inclusive community. To this end, we encourage candidates from diverse identities, backgrounds, and experiences. We are particularly interested in receiving applications from members of underrepresented groups. The selected candidate will be expected to support inclusive excellence, including inclusive teaching. To learn more about the Elliott School's commitment to diversity, equity, and inclusion, visit elliott.gwu.edu/diversity-and-inclusion.

Specific Duties And Responsibilities

The effort breakdown for the position is 75 percent teaching and 25 percent service. The successful candidate will offer five courses a year that are predominantly for undergraduates and can include different aspects of modern Iranian politics, contemporary Iranian society and culture, and the international relations of the Middle East. Service will involve working with the Director of the Institute for Middle East Studies on organizing public lectures and other events.

Minimum Qualifications

Applicants must have excellent teaching skills as demonstrated by student evaluations, experience in teaching undergraduate students, and a demonstrated commitment to equity and inclusion in the classroom. They must hold a doctorate or equivalent degree in International Relations, International Security, Political Science, or a related field by date of appointment; ABD applicants will be considered but must complete all requirements for the doctorate by date of appointment. Fluency in Persian is required.

Advertised Salary: $90,000 - $125,000

Benefits: GW offers a comprehensive benefit package that includes medical, dental, vision, life & disability insurance, time off & leave, retirement savings, tuition, well-being and various voluntary benefits. For program details and eligibility, please visit <https://hr.gwu.edu/benefits-programs>

Special Instructions To Applicants

To apply, please complete an online application at <https://www.gwu.jobs/postings/116111>. Applicants must submit a cover letter that includes a statement of interest in the Elliott School and discusses the candidate's contributions to teaching.

Applicants must also submit a CV; a statement of teaching objectives and methods (upload under Statement of Teaching Interest); evidence of effective teaching (upload under Course Evaluations or Summaries); DEI diversity statement (upload under Other Documents); and names of three references. Letters of recommendation are not required for application but will be requested for final candidates. Candidates who are invited for an interview will be expected to give a teaching demonstration.

Review of applications will begin on December 20, 2024, and will continue until the position is filled. Only complete applications will be considered.

Successful Completion of a Background Screening will be required as a condition of hire.

EEO Statement: The university is an Equal Employment Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer that does not unlawfully discriminate in any of its programs or activities on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, national origin, age, disability, veteran status, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, or on any other basis prohibited by applicable law.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 12/20/2024

Date Posted: 11/22/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15239

George Washington University

Rank: Associate Professor/Professor of Political Science and International Affairs

Description Summary

Security studies: The George Washington University's Elliott School of International Affairs and Department of Political Science invite applications for a full-time, tenured faculty position in security studies at the level of associate or full professor beginning as early as Fall 2025. We are seeking faculty with a strong track record of research, teaching, and policy engagement in the field of security studies, broadly defined. The position will be based in the Elliott School's Institute for Security and Conflict Studies and affiliated with the M.A. program in Security Policy Studies. Successful candidates will be jointly appointed in the GW Political Science Department. Teaching responsibilities would include courses for undergraduate and graduate students in the Elliott School and Political Science Department.

Minimum qualifications: A Ph.D. in political science or closely related field (such as government, politics, public policy, or international relations) with a primary focus on security. Applicants must have a strong publication record, an active research agenda, substantial teaching experience at the undergraduate and graduate levels, a track record of external funding, and a demonstrated record of engagement with the broader academic and policy communities.

Advertised Salary: $125,000 - $150,000

Health Benefits: GW offers a comprehensive benefit package that includes medical, dental, vision, life & disability insurance, time off & leave, retirement savings, tuition, well-being and various voluntary benefits. For program details and eligibility, please visit <https://hr.gwu.edu/benefits-programs>.

Special Instructions To Applicants

Application procedure: Applicants must complete an online faculty application at <https://www.gwu.jobs/postings/116108> and upload a cover letter, CV, and 2-3 page research statement outlining past accomplishments and future research plans. Applicants selected for an interview will also be asked to submit three letters of recommendation.

Review of applications will begin on January 10, 2025 and will continue until the position is filled. Only complete applications will be considered.

Successful Completion of a Background Screening will be required as a condition of hire.

EEO Statement: The university is an Equal Employment Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer that does not unlawfully discriminate in any of its programs or activities on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, national origin, age, disability, veteran status, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, or on any other basis prohibited by applicable law.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 11/22/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15238

Yale University

Rank: Identity & Conflict Lab: Postdoctoral Associate, 2025-26

The Identity & Conflict Lab (ICL) at Yale University, led by Professor Nicholas Sambanis, seeks to appoint up to two exceptional candidates as Postdoctoral Associates for the 2025-2026 academic year. This opportunity is for a one-year, full-time residential postdoctoral research fellowship, with potential to renew for one year conditional on successful performance. The appointment will begin on July 1, 2025.

Housed in the MacMillan Center for International and Area Studies, the ICL addresses a broad range of critical questions focused on inter-group conflict and identity politics. The ICL analyzes how social identities shape individual behavior, how conflict affects identities, and what interventions are effective in reducing inter-group conflict. Both violent and non-violent forms of conflict are considered, ranging from bias, discrimination, and protest to ethnic violence, secessionism and war.

Postdoctoral associates will work in one of ICL's ongoing projects in the following two thematic areas: (1) measuring norms of good citizenship across countries; (2) conducting experimental interventions to reduce native-immigrant conflict in Europe with a primary focus on Greece; and (3) analyzing sources of the escalation of foreign policy disputes. Postdoctoral associates may also be asked to contribute to projects in other areas/ongoing projects on a variety of different topics related to the broad theme of "identity and conflict." Most of the research currently in progress uses quantitative methods, with an emphasis on experimental methods. The ICL seeks to integrate substantive and methodological knowledge across the social and behavioral sciences to develop new analytical approaches and new insights into these thematic areas with a view to shaping new directions in scholarly literatures as well as influencing policy design.

Postdoctoral associates will be expected to work three days/week on ICL projects under the direction of Professor Nicholas Sambanis and can pursue their own research for the remainder of their work time.

Job responsibilities may include the following: Collect and clean data; program complex surveys in Qualtrics; prepare IRB applications; manage logistical details of field projects; prepare scripts and do-files for statistical analysis in Stata and R; prepare visualizations of quantitative data/results; draft short reports with project results; assist with the drafting of grant proposals; review/comment projects by other ICL affiliates; and co-author papers and reports with the Lab Director and affiliated faculty. Associates may be asked to contribute to the ICL Director's engagement with funders and agencies that enable the ICL's work by preparing power-point presentations of ICL projects and drafting non-technical summaries of results from different projects. Associates will also assist with preparing replication files for published studies, and help manage the ICL website and seminar series.

There is no formal teaching requirement. Associates will be asked to co-organize with the Director the ICL's annual conference or the workshop, which holds meetings throughout the year. Associates will be expected to give at least one presentation of their research at the workshop or at a graduate-level course led by the ICL Director. They would also be expected to engage with research by graduate students who are affiliated with the ICL.

The salary for this position is commensurate with experience and complies with the Yale Office of Postdoctoral Affairs compensation policy and includes a benefits package.

Qualifications

Applications are welcome from scholars who have received their Ph.D. or equivalent degrees since June 2023, or who expect to complete their degree by June 2025. Applications will be reviewed on a rolling basis starting on November 25, 2023. Applications will be received until December 15, 2024. Successful applicants will be contacted by mid-January 2025.

Successful applicants will have excellent training in quantitative methods with an emphasis on statistical analysis, survey methods and experimental methods. Excellent knowledge of the statistical software Stata and R is required as is expertise in programming surveys in Qualtrics. Applicants should have outstanding organizational and communication skills and prior experience using large databases. They should be intellectually curious, ambitious, energetic, and self-motivated; they should be able to work independently, but also as part of a team and be sensitive to the demands of multiple simultaneously ongoing projects; they should be able to multi-task and respond to feedback quickly. Applicants must be willing to travel for fieldwork if necessary. Training in behavioral economics and/or social psychology is a plus as several of the Lab's projects cross disciplinary boundaries.

Application Instructions

All application materials must be submitted online through Interfolio: <https://apply.interfolio.com/158750>

Applicants will be asked to upload a cover letter, CV/resume, one-page research statement, writing sample, and unofficial PhD transcript (only required for current graduate students). We will also ask for the name and email address of two letter writers who can submit a letter of recommendation (only references for short-listed candidates will be requested).

If you have questions, please email the ICL Director at nicholas.sambanis@yale.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 11/12/2025

Date Posted: 11/12/2024

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 15189

University of Chicago

Rank: Senior Instructional Professor in CIR

Subfield(s): International Relations, American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics

Description

The Division of the Social Sciences at the University of Chicago invites applications for one or more positions as Senior Instructional Professor (SIP) in the Committee on International Relations (CIR). This is a full-time, career track teaching position. The initial will be between three and five years, depending on rank, and will begin in Academic Year 2024-5 and is renewable with opportunity for promotion. Appointments at the Assistant, Associate, and Full Senior Instructional Professor rank will be considered.

The University of Chicago's CIR is a one-year MA program that trains students in the theory and methods in the study international politics. CIR is a top 15 ranked Master's program, according to Foreign Policy magazine. Founded in 1928, it is the country's oldest MA program in International Relations. CIR's curriculum is organized around core courses in international security, international political economy, and global governance. Students also have access to a vast array of graduate courses offered by the faculty in all University of Chicago departments. Each MA student writes an original, research-intensive thesis. Overall, the program is characterized by a strong focus on academic research and intellectual collaboration across disciplines. The program trains MA students for research-oriented positions in academia, industry, government, consulting, and a variety of think tanks. Graduates have entered top Ph.D. programs and taken prestigious non-academic professional roles.

This is a leadership position. The appointee will also hold the title of Assistant or Associate Director of CIR.

The SIP will annually teach up to four courses. These may include 2-3 courses in the current CIR core curriculum (International Security and Order, International Political Economy, or Global Governance, Rights, and Norms) or a new addition to the core curriculum. These may also include 1-2 electives on more specialized topics in international relations in any of our five field specializations: (1) International Security, Conflict Studies, and Contentious Politics; (2) International Political Economy and Development; (3) Comparative Studies in Institutions and Identity; (4) Human Rights, the Environment, and International Law; and (5) Research Methods in the Social Sciences. The SIP will also oversee a limited number of MA theses (approximately 8-10 per year).

In their administrative leadership, the SIP will, in consultation with the Faculty Director(s) of CIR, provide leadership in vision, planning, and promotion of CIR within and beyond the University; develop, implement, and oversee curricular and co-curricular programs to advance student learning; directly supervise and evaluate other teaching personnel and manage their reappointments; develop new programming to assist in the pedagogical training of all CIR instructors; coordinate all CIR course offerings; serve as the first point of contact for students with disciplinary concerns and for student well-being; make recommendations on how best to improve program operations; lead our PhD application clinic; develop programs to improve post-graduation placement and track these outcomes; and contribute to admissions, staff hiring, student recruitment, and alumni engagement. The SIP will be supervised by CIR's Faculty Director.

This position also includes support for professional development and the possibility of affiliate status with other academic units, such as the Department of Political Science.

Qualifications

Candidates must be at least three years post-PhD in prior to the start date. They must have a demonstrated record designing and teaching courses at the undergraduate or graduate level as a degreed professional, demonstrated experience in research and practice related to the field of International Relations, and promise of future achievement in the performance of all leadership, management, administrative, and supervisory responsibilities to a high standard of excellence.

Application Instructions

The following materials must be submitted through Interfolio at URL: <http://apply.interfolio.com/157717> (1) a cover letter which includes information about the applicant's prior experience with administrative duties, managing staff, and mentoring students; (2) a curriculum vitae; (3) a teaching statement describing previous experience in the classroom, in advising, and suggested course offerings; (4) a research statement; (5) at least one course syllabus; (6) an article-length writing sample on a topic of specialty in International Relations; (7) course evaluations or other evidence of past excellence in teaching or mentoring; and (8) the names and contact information for three recommenders.

Review of applications will begin November 23rd and will continue until the position is filled or the search is close.

Equal Employment Opportunity Statement

All University departments and institutes are charged with building a faculty from a diversity of backgrounds and with diverse viewpoints; with cultivating an inclusive community that values freedom of expression; and with welcoming and supporting all their members.

We seek a diverse pool of applicants who wish to join an academic community that places the highest value on rigorous inquiry and encourages diverse perspectives, experiences, groups of individuals, and ideas to inform and stimulate intellectual challenge, engagement, and exchange. The University's Statements on Diversity are at <https://provost.uchicago.edu/statements-diversity>.

The University of Chicago is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity/Disabled/Veterans Employer and does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender, gender identity, national or ethnic origin, age, status as an individual with a disability, military or veteran status, genetic information, or other protected classes under the law. For additional information please see the University's Notice of Nondiscrimination.

Job seekers in need of a reasonable accommodation to complete the application process should call 773-834-3988 or email equalopportunity@uchicago.edu with their request.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/25/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15110

New York University Abu Dhabi

Rank: Post-Doctoral Associate in the Division of Social Science (Political Science) - Dr. Sujeong Shim and Dr. Muhammet Bas

We are inviting applications for a 3-year Post-Doctoral Associate in the Division of Social Science at NYU Abu Dhabi from individuals who recently have or will soon receive a PhD in Political Science. The appointment will begin September 1, 2025, subject to final budget approval.

The post-doctoral associate will spend half their time on independent research, and half their time on collaborative research with Professors Sujeong Shim and Muhammet Bas. The collaborative research will be broadly on global economic cooperation and emerging challenges to it.

We seek a candidate who studies international political economy and/or international institutions, and their interactions with security domains; is trained well in quantitative research methods; and has experience in managing and analyzing data. Experience in survey research is not mandatory but is appreciated. Example focus areas include, but not limited to, politics of sovereign financing, geopolitics of different types of foreign aid, and the political economy of the environment.

The position does not require teaching, but it may be possible to get teaching experience for compensation. You would join a group of over 20 post-doctoral fellows and 70 faculty in the Division of Social Science.

For consideration, applicants must submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae with full publication list, statement of research interests, and two letters of reference, all in PDF format. If you have any questions, please email Professors Shim and Bas at ss17029@nyu.edu and mbas@nyu.edu.

Priority will be given to applications submitted by December 1, 2024. However, we will continue to accept applications after the deadline until the position is filled.

About NYU Abu Dhabi

NYU Abu Dhabi is a degree-granting research university with a fully integrated liberal arts and science undergraduate program in the Arts, Sciences, Social Sciences, Humanities, and Engineering. NYU Abu Dhabi, NYU New York, and NYU Shanghai, form the backbone of NYU's global network university, an interconnected network of portal campuses and academic centers across six continents that enable seamless international mobility of students and faculty in their pursuit of academic and scholarly activity. This global university represents a transformative shift in higher education, one in which the intellectual and creative endeavors of academia are shaped and examined through an international and multicultural perspective. As a major intellectual hub at the crossroads of the Arab world, NYUAD serves as a center for scholarly thought, advanced research, knowledge creation, and sharing, through its academic, research, and creative activities.

EOE/AA/Minorities/Females/Vet/Disabled/Sexual Orientation/Gender Identity Employer

UAE Nationals are encouraged to apply.

Working for NYUAD

We offer a comprehensive benefits package. This starts with a generous relocation allowance to ensure a smooth transition to Abu Dhabi. It includes a competitive salary; housing and transportation allowances; educational assistance for your dependents attending school in the UAE; and access to health and wellness services. Click here for more information on benefits for you and your family.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 5/30/2025

Date Posted: 10/16/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15064

Universidad Catolica del Uruguay

Rank: Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Methodology, International Relations

The Universidad Católica del Uruguay calls for applications to fill a position of Assistant Professor (Full time) at its Department of Social Sciences. Candidates should hold a Ph.D. of be near completion (July 2025) in Sociology or Political Science, but candidates in other social science disciplines such as Demography, Human Geography or Criminology are also encouraged to apply. Candidates may be specialized in any substantive subarea (for example, research methods, public policy, social stratification, socioeconomic inequalities, political economy, or comparative politics).

Candidates must demonstrate excellence in teaching, an active substantive research agenda, and a demonstrated ability to publish and teach in English and Spanish. Successful candidates are expected to work full-time (160 hours per month) and start working in February or August 2025.

Applications will start being analyzed on October 30, 2024, but applications received after that will still be considered until the position is filled or the university closes the call. A complete application must contain (1) a cover letter, (2) CV, (3) an example of an undergraduate course program that the candidate would be able to teach, (4) up to 2 examples of academic research work, (5) teacher evaluations, and (6) three letters of recommendation. The application should be made electronically (<https://bpm.ucu.edu.uy/public/01LPOSD>). Letters of recommendation must be directly sent by their author to the following email: ines.fynn@ucu.edu.uy (Ref: LLAMACA-257–Letter of recommendation for [Name Last name]).

The selection process will consist on the following stages. First, a short list of candidates will be selected to be interviewed by the Selection Committee in person or via videoconference in case of residing abroad. Then, 3 shortlisted candidates will be invited to the Montevideo campus to present their research and hold interviews with members of the Department and other authorities. The selection committee may request from the candidates, at any time during the process, additional materials, or the corresponding accreditations. The decisions of the selection committee will be final. The Universidad Católica del Uruguay reserves the right not to hire any candidates without responsibility of any kind at its own expense.

For additional information, applicants may contact the Department's Chair, Rosario Queirolo (rosario.queirolo@ucu.edu.uy).

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/14/2024

Salary: $40,000 - $49,999

eJobs ID: 15054

Lehigh University

Rank: Bernard L. & Bertha F. Cohen Chair in International Relations

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Other

Position: Bernard L. and Bertha F. Cohen Chair in International Relations

LEHIGH UNIVERSITY. The Department of International Relations invites applications for a tenured Full Professor to fill the Bernard L.

and Bertha F. Cohen Chair, with an anticipated start date of July 2025. The position is open to all research and teaching specializations within the fields of international relations, foreign policy, and/or comparative politics.

Candidates must have an earned PhD in International Relations or a closely related field. The ideal candidate will have connections to the policy community in Washington, DC, and/or New York City and be able to assist students with internship placement.

Candidates are expected to have a strong commitment to undergraduate teaching and excellence in research. The individual hired will, specifically, be expected to teach courses in International Relations at the undergraduate level, engage in scholarly activities, and participate in departmental, college, and university service, as well as advise undergraduate internships.

Lehigh is among the few higher educational institutions in the US that has long had a separate department of IR. This allows students with a particular interest in international affairs to benefit from a concentrated, high-level program of study that few other schools offer.

Founded in 1865, Lehigh University has combined outstanding academic and learning opportunities with leadership in fostering innovative research. Recognized among the nation's highly-ranked research universities, Lehigh offers a rigorous academic community for over 7,500 students. Lehigh University has some 5,800 undergraduates, 1,800 graduate students, and nearly 600 full-time faculty members. Lehigh University is located in Bethlehem, PA, a vibrant and historic area. Over 840,000 people live in the Lehigh Valley, which is in close proximity to New York City and Philadelphia.

Review of applications will begin on October 11, 2024, and will continue until the position is filled. For full consideration, however, applications should be received by October 11, 2024. Applicants should submit their materials at <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajob/jobs/28335>. Candidates should submit the following materials:

Cover letter

Curriculum vitae

Research statement that describes past scholarly contributions and future research directions

Teaching statement that describes instructional philosophy and courses that the candidate would want to teach or develop

Name and contact information for three references

A statement on contributions to diversity, equity, and inclusion (DEI) that describes knowledge, prior DEI experience, and the candidate's future plans for enhancing community and culture at Lehigh (the Lehigh ADVANCE Center's guide for understanding and preparing such statements is available here)

All inquiries regarding the search should be directed to Ms. Edann Brady at emb703@lehigh.edu or 610-758-3390.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/6/2024

Salary: Above $159,999

eJobs ID: 14800

Case Western Reserve University

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of Political Science at Case Western Reserve University invites applications for a tenure-track assistant professor position. The successful applicant will study international or global politics with a focus on security, broadly defined, and participate in the rotation of faculty who teach the introductory course on international politics.

Case Western Reserve University is a private R1 research university where Political Science faculty teach a standard 2-2 load. For more information about CWRU, the department and Cleveland, see this description (<https://acrobat.adobe.com/link/review?uri=urn:aaid:scds:US:eb78a8c9-9c71-3e27-96a2-5bca47c715b8>).

The position will commence July 1, 2025 and requires a PhD or ABD in Political Science or related field.

Candidates should submit 1) a cover letter, 2) a curriculum vitae, 3) an approximately one-page research statement, 4) an approximately one-page teaching statement, 5) a publication or writing sample, and 6) three letters of recommendation. Case Western Reserve University and the Department of Political Science value activities that support diversity and inclusion and invite applicants to describe such activities in their cover letter and research and teaching statements.

Candidates should upload all application materials electronically through Interfolio (<http://apply.interfolio.com/152595>). Consideration of applicants will begin on November 1, 2024 and continue until the position is filled. Inquiries may be sent to Professor Pete Moore, Search Committee Chair, at pwm10@case.edu.

Case Western Reserve University strives to maintain a diverse and inclusive work environment. All applicants are protected under Federal law from discrimination based on race, color, religion, sex, national origin, disability, age and genetics.

Case Western Reserve provides reasonable accommodations to applicants with disabilities. Applicants requiring a reasonable accommodation for any part of the application and hiring process should contact the Office of Equity by phone at 216.368.3066 or by email at equity@case.edu. Determinations as to granting reasonable accommodations for any applicant will be made on a case-by-case basis.

Start Date: Summer 2025

Application Deadline: 11/1/2024

Date Posted: 8/30/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14768

Washington University in St. Louis

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science in the field of International Relations

The Department of Political Science at Washington University in St. Louis invite applications for a tenure-track faculty appointment in international relations. The appointment is at the rank of Assistant Professor to begin in the fall semester of 2025. A Ph.D. in Political Science or a closely related field is required at the time of appointment. Duties will include teaching assigned courses, conducting research, writing for publication, advising students, participating in department and program governance, and university service.

Application materials should include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, statement of research and teaching interests, at least three letters of reference, writing samples, and other relevant materials.

Applications received before September 15, 2024 will receive full consideration. Consideration after that date will be at the discretion of the search committee. All applications and supporting documentation should be submitted electronically through Interfolio at <https://apply.interfolio.com/151783>. If you encounter difficulties with the application process or have any additional questions, please email Amanda Nutter (nutter@wustl.edu).

Start Date: Summer 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/13/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14625

Yale University

Rank: Assistant/Associate/Full Professor, International Relations, Comparative Politics, and Political Economy

The Department of Political Science at Yale University is seeking to hire several faculty members at the rank of Assistant, Associate, or Full Professor with an appointment in the fields of Comparative Politics, Political Economy, and/or International Relations, beginning July 1, 2025. Suitable candidates may also be hired jointly with the Jackson School of Global Affairs, in which case faculty will be expected to share their teaching and service obligations between both the Political Science Department and the Jackson School of Global Affairs. This search includes additional resources in two targeted areas within this broader search area. The first is for an assistant professor with expertise in African Politics, who will teach at least one course cross-listed with, and contribute to, Yale's Council on African Studies. The second is for a candidate who works on Environmental Politics, jointly appointed with the Jackson School of Global Affairs. Candidates will be expected to teach undergraduate and graduate courses in areas of political science commensurate with their expertise. Candidates jointly appointed with Jackson will also teach courses in Jackson's undergraduate and graduate curriculum. If candidates are appointed at the untenured level, the initial appointment will be for 5 years. The teaching expectation is normally 3 courses per academic year.

Qualifications

Ph.D. or equivalent degree required at time of hire.

Application Instructions

All applications must include a cover letter and CV. Untenured candidates should also supply 3 recommendation letters, 2 writing samples, and separate short (2 pages or less) research and teaching statements. All materials should be uploaded to Interfolio at <http://apply.interfolio.com/151662>. Review of applications will begin September 15, 2024 (or 30 days after posting, whichever is later), and to guarantee full consideration your file should be complete by this date.

Please contact Xaria Callender, Sr. Administrative Assistant for the Political Science Department, at xaria.callender@yale.edu if you have questions about the application process.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 8/7/2025

Date Posted: 8/12/2024

Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 14619

Yale University

Rank: Assistant/Associate/Full Professor, South Asian Politics

The Department of Political Science at Yale University is seeking to hire a faculty member with expertise in South Asian Politics at the rank of Assistant, Associate, or Full Professor, beginning July 1, 2025. A successful applicant should focus on substantive questions in any major subfield(s) of political science, with reference to the domestic and/or international politics of one or more of the following countries: Afghanistan, Bangladesh, Bhutan, India, Nepal, Pakistan, and Sri Lanka. Expected teaching, commensurate with the candidate's expertise, will be in South Asian Politics. If candidates are appointed at the untenured level, the initial appointment will be for 5 years. The teaching expectation is normally 3 courses per academic year.

Qualifications

Ph.D. or equivalent degree required at time of hire.

Application Instructions

All applications must include a cover letter and CV. Untenured candidates should also supply 3 recommendation letters, 2 writing samples, and separate short (2 pages or less) research and teaching statements. All materials should be uploaded to Interfolio at <http://apply.interfolio.com/151100>. Review of applications will begin September 15, 2024, and to guarantee full consideration your file should be complete by this date.

Please contact Xaria Callender, Sr. Administrative Assistant for the Political Science Department, at xaria.callender@yale.edu if you have questions about the application process.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 8/7/2025

Date Posted: 8/12/2024

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 14620

Yale University

Rank: Associate/Full Professor, International/Global History, International Relations

Specializations: International Law & Organizations, International Political Economy, International Security

Description

Yale University seeks applicants with expertise in the field of international/global history or international relations for a tenured faculty position at the Associate or Full Professor level, to begin 1 July 2025.

The successful candidate will receive a fully joint appointment in the Jackson School of Global Affairs and either the Faculty of Arts and Sciences' Department of History or its Department of Political Science. The appointee will be expected to teach courses in international relations or international/global history and share their teaching and service obligations between both the Jackson School and the Faculty of Arts and Sciences.

Qualifications

The appointee must hold a Ph.D. or equivalent degree in a directly related field by the time of hire.

Application Instructions

Application materials include a cover letter, CV, research statement, teaching statement and writing sample. Materials should be uploaded to Interfolio at <http://apply.interfolio.com/147211>.

Review of applications will begin on September 15, 2024 and to guarantee full consideration your file should be complete by this date.

Please contact Larisa Satara at larisa.satara@yale.edu if you have questions regarding the position or application process.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 6/10/2025

Date Posted: 6/10/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14405

Universidad Torcuato Di Tella

Rank: Assistant Professor, Associate Professor

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Methodology

The Department of Political Science and International Studies at Universidad Torcuato Di Tella (UTDT) seeks candidates for two tenure-track assistant professor positions in Comparative Politics and International Relations, with an expected (but negotiable) start date of March 2025. Very strong candidates at the associate level will also be considered. We are open with respect to substantive subfield, theoretical orientation, and methodological approach. Regional expertise in regions other than Latin America (e.g., East, South, or Southeast Asia, Western or Eastern Europe, the Middle East or North America) is a plus, as is the ability to teach courses on research design, data science/statistics, and/or causal inference. Candidates are expected to demonstrate a strong commitment to research and to teaching and mentoring students. The teaching load is three courses per year. Most courses are taught in Spanish, although a growing number are offered in English. The position includes a research fund and a year's sabbatical (at full salary) every six years.

Duties will include teaching assigned courses in Comparative Politics and/or International Relations at both the undergraduate and graduate levels, conducting research, writing for publication in high-quality academic venues, advising students, participating in department governance, and university service.

Qualifications: Ph.D. in Political Science or related disciplines (ABD candidates will also be considered) and a demonstrated record of excellence in research and teaching. Proficiency in both Spanish and English is required. Questions should be directed to Professor Carlos Gervasoni, Chair of the Department of Political Science and International Studies, at cgervasoni@utdt.edu.

To apply please visit https://utdt.hiringroom.com/jobs/get_vacancy/665727a62994ec85980166a0, by August 30, 2024 (applications received after this date will continue to be reviewed until the positions are filled). The required documents include a cover letter, CV, a research statement, a teaching statement, a writing sample, and the names and email addresses of 3 references (letters of reference will be required of short-listed finalists).

Universidad Torcuato Di Tella is a private research university located in Buenos Aires, Argentina. Our Department is consistently ranked as one of the best in Latin America in terms of reputation and research excellence. Our guiding principles are academic excellence, pluralism of ideas and equal opportunity. UTDT is committed to creating a diverse community of students, faculty, and staff, following the principles of equal opportunity and treatment in education and employment, regardless of national origin, race, color, ethnicity, religion, political ideology, age, sex, sexual orientation, or gender identity. The university encourages applications of individuals from historically underrepresented groups who will further enrich the diversity of our educational community. We welcome applications from all nationalities. Approximately 25% of the Department's research professors are foreigners. For further information about Universidad Torcuato Di Tella and our department, please visit: <https://www.utdt.edu/>.

Start Date: Spring 2025

Application Deadline: 8/30/2024

Date Posted: 6/5/2024

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 14404

METHODOLOGY

New York University Graduate School of Arts and Science

Rank: Faculty Fellow, XE: Experimental Humanities & Social Engagement

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Methodology

Specializations: Social Movements, Urban Politics, History & Politics

Faculty Fellow

XE: Experimental Humanities & Social Engagement

New York University Graduate School of Arts and Science

XE: Experimental Humanities & Social Engagement, an interdisciplinary master's program in the Graduate School of Arts and Science at New York University, invites applications for a Faculty Fellow position in the social sciences. The initial appointment will be for one year beginning September 1, 2025, renewable annually for a maximum of three years, pending administrative and budgetary approval.

We seek outstanding interdisciplinary scholars and teachers working in the social sciences whose fields include or span: anthropology, sociology, political science, or urban studies, among other subfields. Faculty fellows teach three graduate seminars per year, advise and mentor students, oversee master's theses, organize public programs, and actively participate in shaping the life of the program.

XE is a highly innovative master's program and tight-knit community of scholars and practitioners who value collaborative mentoring and career building, as well as exploring new pedagogies and research methods at the intersection of creativity, criticality, and social engagement.

Qualifications:

We seek candidates with a PhD in the social sciences who are committed to interdisciplinary scholarship and excellence in teaching. Candidates should have completed their Ph.D. no earlier than 2020 and no later than by August 31, 2025.

Application Instructions:

To apply, please submit: a cover letter, curriculum vitae, a research statement, sample syllabi for two dream classes, and three letters of recommendation.

Applications should be submitted through Interfolio: <https://apply.interfolio.com/165002>

The search committee will begin reviewing applications on April 15, 2025 and will continue until the position is filled.

In compliance with NYC's Pay Transparency Act, the annual base salary for this position is $60,000. New York University considers factors such as (but not limited to) the scope and responsibilities of the position, the candidate's work experience, education/training, key skills, internal peer equity, as well as market and organizational considerations when extending an offer.

Arts & Science at NYU is at the heart of a leading research university that spans the globe. We seek scholars of the highest caliber who embody the diversity of the United States and the global society in which we live. We strongly encourage applications from women, racial and ethnic minorities, and other individuals who are underrepresented in the profession, across color, creed, race, ethnic and national origin, physical ability, gender, and sexual identity, or any other legally protected basis. NYU affirms the value of differing perspectives on the world as we strive to build the strongest possible university with the widest reach. To learn more about the Arts & Science commitment to inclusive excellence, please read here: <https://as.nyu.edu/departments/facultyexcellence.html>.

EOE/Affirmative Action/Minorities/Females/Vet/Disabled/Sexual Orientation/Gender Identity.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 4/15/2025

Date Posted: 3/19/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15518

University of Tennessee

Rank: Visiting Professor - Open Ranked Public Policy and Public Affairs, Fall 2025

Subfield(s): Methodology, Public Policy, Public Administration

The Howard H. Baker, Jr. School of Public Policy and Public Affairs (Baker School) at the University of Tennessee, Knoxville (UTK) invites applications for a Visiting Professor (open rank) in Public Policy and Public Affairs to begin August 1, 2025. This is a one-year appointment.

We seek a scholar with expertise in public policy and quantitative methods to contribute to our undergraduate and graduate teaching needs. The successful candidate will teach a 2-2 course load, including research design, quantitative methods, advanced quantitative methods, and policy communication and data visualization.

This position is well-suited for a scholar looking for a short-term academic opportunity—whether early in their career, between positions, or on sabbatical. This role will focus on teaching, but scholars will be supported in their professional development and encouraged to fully engage in the University of Tennessee's exciting academic environment. Examples of light service opportunities at the Baker School that contribute to professional development include advising undergraduate research, participating in a research workshop, and/or contributing to public engagement.

About the University of Tennessee, Knoxville

The University of Tennessee, Knoxville, is the state's flagship research institution, a campus of choice for outstanding undergraduates, and a premier graduate institution. As a land-grant university, it is committed to excellence in learning, scholarship, and engagement with society. UTK is located in Knoxville, Tennessee, a thriving community in close proximity to the Great Smoky Mountains National Park.
About the Baker School

The Howard H. Baker Jr. School of Public Policy and Public Affairs aims to produce the next generation of skilled public problem solvers prepared to take leadership roles in their communities. Baker School students are grounded in the legacy of Howard H. Baker Jr., a former U.S. Senator, Senate Majority Leader, White House Chief of Staff, and Ambassador to Japan, with curriculum and co-curricular activities focused on Baker's guiding principles, including Confidence in America, Finding Common Ground, and You Might Be Right.

The Baker School houses two research centers dedicated to addressing pressing public policy challenges and also operates the Institute of American Civics, which encourages civic knowledge and participation among UT undergraduates and the broader public.
Qualifications

At the time of appointment, candidates must have a doctoral degree in public policy, political science, economics, or a relevant field.

An ideal candidate would have experience teaching undergraduate or graduate courses in research design, quantitative methods, advanced quantitative methods, and policy communication and visualization. However, we welcome applications from early-career scholars and other candidates who demonstrate strong methodological expertise and an interest in teaching these courses.

We seek candidates who can effectively engage students in person and online.

The title and compensation for this position will be commensurate with experience:

- Visiting Assistant Professor: Candidates at this rank should provide evidence of teaching effectiveness and a demonstrated ability to develop and deliver coursework in public policy and quantitative methods.
- Visiting Associate Professor: Candidates should have at least five years of experience in teaching or related academic work and a record of professional activity.
- Visiting Full Professor: Candidates should have at least ten years of experience, a strong teaching record, and a record of significant professional activity.

Position Expectations and Compensation

- Teaching Load: 2 courses per semester (2-2)
- Service Expectations: Minimal, but may include mentorship, student engagement, or participation in Baker School programming
- Course Modality: Courses will be taught in person, with the possibility of some online instruction
- Compensation:
 - $100,000 at the Assistant Professor level
 - $120,000 at the Associate Professor level
 - $140,000 at the Full Professor level

Application Instructions

Applicants should submit the following via Interfolio:
<http://apply.interfolio.com/164895>

- Cover letter
- CV
- Graduate transcripts
- Teaching statement
- Evidence of teaching effectiveness (e.g., syllabi and course evaluations)
- Names and contact information for three references

Additional materials, such as examples of scholarly works, are welcome but not required.

Review of applications will begin April 8, 2025, and will continue until the position is filled.

For inquiries, contact Professor Jack Mewhirter at jmewhirt@utk.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 3/19/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15520

University of Zurich

Rank: Postdoc Position in the Research Group of Lucas Leemann

Specializations: Advanced Industrial Societies, Political Behavior, Quantitative Methods

Postdoc Position in the Research Group of Lucas Leemann

The Department of Political Science at the University of Zurich invites applications for a Postdoc position in the research group of Lucas Leemann (<https://lucasleemann.ch/research/>). We offer excellent research support in a vibrant research community and are committed to advancing young scholars' careers. The department aims to increase the diversity of its members and thus explicitly invites applications from women and other traditionally underrepresented groups. We are seeking a post-doctoral researcher with research experience and/or interest in survey statistics and political participation. The future post holder will work on modeling survey data for small spatial areas (neighborhoods). Successful applicants will have a substantive interest in political participation and have experience with more advanced statistical modeling. Ideally, candidates have prior experience with more simple correction approaches such as raking and post-stratification but also with more advanced techniques such as multi-level regression with post-stratification (MrP).

This position is funded through a project grant and there is no teaching obligation, but teaching a course may be possible if desired by the future postholder.

Your profile

- A PhD in a social science discipline (e.g., political science, economics, sociology)
- Research interest in political participation and data science
- A strong interest in academic research, ideally proven through internationally visible publications, third-party funding, or related research activities.
- Dedication, ability to work in a team, and ability to work independently.
- Strong command of English.

- Essential skills:
- Experience with small-area estimation or non-representative data (e.g., using MRP models).
- Strong methodological skills and willingness to keep learning how to use new tools.
- Experience with machine learning and/or data engineering.
- Desired skills:
- Experience with geo-spatial data.
- Experience in dealing with missing data and strategies to overcome this problem.

What we offer

- Integration in a leading department of political science with highly motivated and engaged members.
- Possibility to co-author within the research group and beyond.
- Possibility to independently develop a research agenda.
- Financial and academic support from the research group and department.
- The appointment is for three years.
- Salary is according to cantonal guidelines and approximately 81'500 CHF per year (gross salary).

Place of work: Zurich

Start of employment: September 1, 2025 (or by arrangement)

Closing date for applications: April 15, 2025

Further information

Further inquiries can be directed to Lucas Leemann (leemann@ipz.uzh.ch).

Please apply through our application page (<https://www.ipz.uzh.ch/de/ueber-uns/offene-stellen/2025-Postdoc-Leemann.html>) where you can upload your letter of interest, a current CV, a writing sample (i.e., job market paper), and the contact details of two people willing to serve as a reference.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 3/17/2025

Salary: $70,000 - $79,999

eJobs ID: 15511

University of Southern California

Rank: Open Rank Tenure Track Faculty Position

The Department of Political Science and International Relations (POIR) in the Dana and David Dornsife College of Letters, Arts and Sciences at the University of Southern California (USC) in Los Angeles invites applications for a tenure-track or tenured position in American Politics as part of a major hiring initiative.

We seek candidates with a strong substantive research program in any domain of American politics, whose work advances theoretical and empirical research on important questions in their subfield.

Candidates are expected to have strong methodological training, and their methodological skills, ability to advise graduate students on methodological issues and teach graduate classes in the Department's core methods sequence will be a consideration. A strong commitment to undergraduate and graduate education is also expected.

The candidate must have completed a Ph.D. by the appointment date. Review of applications will start March 24, 2025 and will continue until the position is filled.

In order to be considered for this position, applicants are required to submit an electronic USC application; follow this job link or paste in a browser: <https://usccareers.usc.edu/job/los-angeles/open-rank-faculty-position-in-american-politics/1209/77699335312>. Required materials for upload include a CV, letter of interest, sample research paper(s), statement of research interests, evidence of teaching effectiveness, the names of three individuals who will be contacted by USC for a letter of reference, and official graduate transcripts. Send inquiries to poir@usc.edu. Materials submitted by regular mail will not be accepted.

The annual base salary range for this position is $100,510 - $281,400. When extending an offer of employment, the University of Southern California considers factors such as (but not limited to) the scope and responsibilities of the position, the candidate's work experience, education/training, key skills, internal peer equity, federal, state and local laws, contractual stipulations, grant funding, as well as external market and organizational considerations.

USC is an equal-opportunity educator and employer, proudly pluralistic and firmly committed to providing equal opportunity for outstanding persons of every race, gender, creed and background. The University particularly encourages women, members of underrepresented groups, veterans and individuals with disabilities to apply. USC will make reasonable accommodations for qualified individuals with known disabilities unless doing so would result in an undue hardship. Further information is available by contacting uschr@usc.edu.

USC will consider for employment all qualified applicants with criminal records in a manner consistent with applicable laws and regulations, including the Los Angeles County Fair Chance Ordinance for employers and the Fair Chance Initiative for Hiring Ordinance, and with due consideration for patient and student safety. Please refer to the Background Screening Policy Appendix D for specific employment screen implications for the position for which you are applying.?

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 3/11/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15504

Princeton University

Rank: Senior Research Specialist

The Department of Politics at Princeton University seeks a Senior Research Specialist for a 12-month position to support ongoing research on race and ethnic politics and experimental methods. The research specialist will maintain their own research agenda (approximately 15 hours per week) and work on collaborative projects with faculty affiliated with the Princeton Research Lab on Politics, Race, and Experimental Methods. In addition, the research specialist will provide mentoring and supervision of graduate and undergraduate researchers affiliated with the lab in a team-based environment. The research specialist will also help to manage data collection efforts, analyze data, and other research-related activities. Administrative duties will include lab management and arranging invitations and travel of external speakers. Finally, the research specialist will be expected to participate in the broader intellectual life of the Politics Department at Princeton University.

Start date is on July 2025. This is initially a one-year position with the potential of renewal up to two years.

Candidates should submit a cover letter describing fit for the position, CV, the names of three references, graduate transcripts, a separate statement on diversity, equity, and inclusiveness in mentoring, and a solo-authored writing sample. Qualified candidates will be invited to participate in a virtual interview process.

<https://research-princeton.icims.com/jobs/20574/senior-research-specialist/job?mode=view&mobile=false&width=1903&height=500&bga=true&needsRedirect=false&jan1offset=-300&jun1offset=-240>

Responsibilities

Research specialist's independent research projects.

Lab management and administrative duties

Analyzing data, cleaning, merging, visualization, and writing and commenting scripts.

Research and implement appropriate statistical and data analysis tools. Work independently to find and address data and statistical issues and potential difficulties.

Writing articles and literature reviews.

Qualifications

ESSENTIAL

Master's or professional degree

1+ years work experience

Educational background in political science or a closely related field. Candidates must have strong training in research design and quantitative methods using both R and Stata.

Candidates must also have experience with experimental and quasi-experimental design and analysis and experience with survey design and implementation.

PREFERRED

Interest and familiarity with the literature in Black politics, and race and ethnic politics more broadly.

Start Date: Summer 2025

Date Posted: 3/5/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15488

Loyola Marymount University

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): Methodology, Comparative Politics, International Relations

The Department of Political Science and International Relations at Loyola Marymount University invites applications for a Visiting Assistant Professor position. LMU values community engagement, diversity, social justice, and inclusive pedagogy in fostering academic excellence.

The department seeks candidates who can teach undergraduate research methods courses. The ability to also offer comparative politics or international relations upper-division courses is preferred but not required.

The position is for one year (2025-2026) and has a 3-3 teaching load for the academic year (three courses in the fall and three courses in the spring).

We seek a dedicated teacher-scholar with demonstrated or the potential of teaching excellence. We strongly encourage women, minorities, and individuals from underrepresented groups to apply. A Ph.D. in political science is required at the time of appointment.

Candidates should submit application materials via the LMU Human Resources online application portal:

https://lmu.wd1.myworkdayjobs.com/en-US/Careers/details/Visiting-Assistant-Professor---Political-Science_R11333

Please be aware that the portal can only accept 5 attachments. Applicants must include: 1) a cover letter; 2) a curriculum vitae; 3) a statement of teaching philosophy and (if available) teaching evaluations; 4) a sample syllabus for an undergraduate research methods course; and 5) a writing sample. Three confidential letters of recommendation should be submitted directly to Luke Hart-Moynihan at luke.hart-moynihan@lmu.edu.

Only online applications will be accepted. Please direct questions to the Chair of the Department of Political Science and International Relations, Gabriele Magni, at Gabriele.magni@lmu.edu. The deadline for applications is April 1st.

Faculty Regular

Reasonable expected salary: $68,640.00

Loyola Marymount University, a Carnegie classified R2 institution in the mainstream of American Catholic higher education, seeks outstanding applicants who value its mission and share its commitment to inclusive excellence, the education of the whole person, and the building of a just society. LMU is an equal opportunity employer committed to providing an environment free from discrimination and harassment as defined by federal, state and local law. We invite all persons in the full diversity of their being, life experience, and beliefs to apply. (Visit www.lmu.edu for more information.)

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 4/1/2025

Date Posted: 2/28/2025

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 15471

Southern Illinois University, Carbondale

Rank: Assistant Professor of International Relations

The School of Anthropology, Political Science, and Sociology invites those with potential for excellence in research and teaching to apply for consideration as an Assistant Professor in Political Science. This position is a continuing, tenure track, 9-month appointment to start August 12, 2025. Tenure will be housed in the School of Anthropology, Political Science, and Sociology.

This position is represented by SIU Carbondale Faculty Association/IEA-NEA. For more information regarding salary and other details please visit: <https://laborrelations.siu.edu/labor-contracts/>

The target salary offer for this position is $75,006 annually at full time. Actual salary for part-time appointments will be prorated based on the percentage FTE of the appointment.

Examples of Duties

The selected candidate will participate in undergraduate and graduate teaching, engage in scholarly research, and provide School/University service appropriate to their academic rank.

Qualifications

Minimum Qualifications: PhD in Political Science, Government, or International Relations by date of hire. Specialization in International Relations and Quantitative Methods. In addition to the degree requirement, applicants must demonstrate the following:

1. A potential to develop a strong program of individual scholarship
2. Evidence of an active research agenda.
3. Demonstrated ability to teach International Relations
4. Commitment to working with students from diverse backgrounds such as racial and ethnic minorities, women, individuals who identify as LGBT+, individuals with disabilities, individuals from lower income backgrounds, and/or first-generation or otherwise underserved college students.

Preferred Qualifications: Candidates who have a demonstrated record of peer-reviewed publication in International Relations and Political Science. Candidates who are prepared to teach quantitative methods at the undergraduate and graduate level. Candidates who are prepared to direct PhD students in International Relations.

Required Documents: Submit a letter of application, a current CV, and three references.

Contact: Stephen Bloom, bloom@siu.edu

Supplemental Information

School of Anthropology, Political Science and Sociology candidates who have experience working with a diverse range of faculty, staff, and students and who can contribute to the climate of inclusivity are encouraged to identify their experiences in these areas in their cover letter. New faculty in the College of Liberal Arts are offered competitive startup packages, often including graduate teaching or research assistant support and summer salary, designed to jumpstart research scholarship. All applications are welcomed and encouraged and will receive consideration. Southern Illinois University Carbondale is a Carnegie Doctoral Research University (R1) offering 200+ undergraduate degrees, minors and specializations, 79 master's degrees, and 40 doctoral degrees. Our main campus is 1,136 acres, with additional acreage in University Farms, Touch of Nature Outdoor Education Center, and other facilities.

The university is an essential part of the city of Carbondale and an important contributor to the culture of the entire region. While Carbondale includes many of the amenities of urban life, it retains its small-town flavor. We are approximately 2 hours from St. Louis, 3-4 hours from Memphis and Nashville, and 5 hours from Chicago. The cost of living is lower in the region than in similar areas elsewhere, and many employees commute from nearby counties. Southern Illinois is beautifully nestled between the Ohio and Mississippi rivers and boasts a temperate climate and considerable natural beauty including the Shawnee National Forest, many state parks, national wildlife areas, and several lakes beloved for recreation. Local foods are readily available in the area, with a variety of eateries and a growing specialized food truck presence. The area is home to the Shawnee Hills Wine Trail, an official wine appellation designation; as well as multiple breweries. The campus itself is a microcosm of the area, with a lake and forest on campus, as well as traditional collegiate architecture, quad, and residential halls. To learn about employee benefits and find resources about Carbondale and the Southern Illinois region, visit: <https://jobs.siu.edu/>.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 3/31/2025

Date Posted: 2/25/2025

Salary: $70,000 - $79,999

eJobs ID: 15458

St. Olaf College

Rank: Assistant Professor in American Politics

Subfield(s): Methodology, International Relations, Comparative Politics

The Department of Political Science at St. Olaf College invites applications for a full-time, one-year position in methodology and an additional subfield (American, international relations, comparative, or political theory) at the level of Visiting Instructor or Assistant Professor, to begin August 2025. This position has the potential for additional years of reappointment.

The teaching load will be six courses during the year, including three sections of political science research methodology and three sections reflecting the candidate's interests and expertise. The successful candidate will be able to offer instruction in quantitative and qualitative methods and explain how these methods contribute to a broad and rigorous liberal arts education. While additional expertise in international relations is preferred, expertise in American, comparative, or political theory will be considered.

Qualifications

A Ph.D. in Political Science or a related field completed by the start of the fall semester is preferred, but ABD candidates will be considered.

About the Department

We are a collegial department, with two faculty members teaching regularly in each of the four subfields. We are committed to supporting our colleagues in their pursuit of creative and thoughtful pedagogy and rigorous scholarship. For more information about the department, visit wp.stolaf.edu/poli-sci/.

How to Apply

Submit application at: https://fa-ewur-saasfaprod1.fa.ocs.oraclecloud.com/hcmUI/CandidateExperience/en/sites/CX_3/job/1824

A complete application includes the following:

References: Provide contact information for three professional references who can speak to your abilities in teaching and scholarship.

Supporting Documents and URLs:

Cover letter outlining your qualifications and why you are interested in this particular position

Curriculum vitae

Graduate transcripts (unofficial)

Evidence of Teaching Excellence

Review of applications will begin immediately and will continue until the position is filled. Questions about the position, department, or college may be directed to the Department Chair, Douglas Casson, at casson@stolaf.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 2/19/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15442

Washington University in St. Louis

Rank: Weidenbaum Center Postdoctoral Fellowship

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Methodology, International Relations

The Weidenbaum Center on the Economy, Government and Public Policy (at Washington University in St. Louis) is seeking an exceptional candidate for an anticipated two-year post-doctoral fellow position, potentially renewable for a third year. Continuation is subject to performance and successful annual reviews. The fellow will work with Prof. Margit Tavits on setting up and pursuing a research program aimed at identifying the social, economic, and political factors that build or erode social trust, solidarity, and resilience. Central to this agenda are questions about how to sustain cohesion in the face of violence and other shocks, and how to break entrenched cycles of distrust, discrimination, and hostility.

The fellow will work closely with Prof. Tavits and will be involved in all aspects of the research process, with a particular emphasis on study design, data analysis, and preparation of grant proposals as well as manuscripts for leading peer-reviewed journals.

We are seeking a technically strong social science researcher who is interested in asking bold new questions. We are especially interested in candidates with a proven record of publications or completed projects that demonstrate an outstanding ability to ask transformative questions, design rigorous research, and use advanced statistical methods. Candidates should detail their experience in these areas in their cover letters and showcase any of these skills and compatible substantive research interests in the writing sample.

Employment in this fellowship is anticipated to begin in July 2025. Additional information about the postdoctoral program and benefits at Washington University is found at: <https://postdoc.wustl.edu>

Qualifications

- Doctorate in a social science program with a preference for political science or a closely related discipline (degree must be completed at time of appointment)
- Graduate level knowledge of advanced causal inference methods, survey research, and applied statistics
- Experience in running and analyzing field experiments and/or conducting quasi-experimental studies is a plus
- Ability to collaborate effectively with others and coordinate the work of a research team
- Strong work ethic
- Proficiency and excellent writing skills in English

Application Instructions

Proposal Submission Deadline: We will begin reviewing applications on March 15 and anticipate scheduling Zoom interviews as early as late March.

Proposal Format:

Applications should include the following:

- Cover letter describing your interest in and qualifications for this position

- Curriculum vitae

- Research statement not to exceed 2000 words describing the dissertation project and other research

- Writing sample

- Three letters of reference

- The cover letter should be addressed to Margit Tavits

*Please apply via Interfolio: <https://apply.interfolio.com/163623>

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 3/15/2025

Date Posted: 2/19/2025

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 15445

Duke University

Rank: Postdoctoral Associate

Duke University was created in 1924 through an indenture of trust by James Buchanan Duke. Today, Duke is regarded as one of America's leading research universities. Located in Durham, North Carolina, Duke is positioned in the heart of the Research Triangle, ranked annually as one of the best places in the country to work and live. Duke has more than 15,000 students who study and conduct research in its 10 undergraduate, graduate, and professional schools. With about 40,000 employees, Duke is the third largest private employer in North Carolina, and it now has international programs in more than 150 countries.

BACKGROUND: The Social Science Research Institute (SSRI) is the interdisciplinary social science research institute of Duke University. SSRI's core mission is to catalyze and produce pioneering social science research and methods across the social and behavioral sciences.

OCCUPATIONAL SUMMARY: This position will work as a team member in conjunction with the Social Science Research Institute at Duke University and invites applications for a Postdoctoral Associate in survey research methods. The Associate will have four primary responsibilities: (1) collaborate on research leading to publication; (2) advise social and behavioral scientists on campus on issues of survey design, implementation, and analysis; (3) teach workshops and develop resources on survey research tools and methods, including the Qualtrics online survey software that Duke provides to its user communities; (4) support and assist with the operation and administration of the Duke Initiative on Survey Methodology (<https://dism.duke.edu/>). Interested candidates can also have a shared appointment with the Duke Polarization Lab (<https://www.polarizationlab.com/>). The Associate will be supervised by Dr. Sunshine Hillygus, professor of political science and public policy and director of DISM.

The ideal candidate will have a strong background in survey methods, experience conducting survey research, and familiarity with survey and statistical software and will hold a Ph.D in a social or behavioral science discipline. The Associate will be expected to participate in research leading to publication. Responsibility, initiative, good judgment, and the ability to work well on a team are required. This position is full-time, offers a salary of $65,000, and is eligible for benefits. Further information about Duke University's post-doctoral positions and the policies guiding their administration is available online: <https://tinyurl.com/DukePostdocPolicies>.

Though there is some flexibility concerning the start date, preference will generally be given to candidates available for a start date of July

1, 2025. Applicants should submit their CVs, a brief statement of their background and interests, and contact information for at least three references. All application materials should be submitted electronically at: <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/29716>

Applications will be reviewed on a rolling basis; all applications received by 2/28/2025 will be considered.

Duke is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer committed to providing employment opportunities without regard to an individual's age, color, disability, gender, gender expression, gender identity, genetic information, national origin, race, religion, sex, sexual orientation, or veteran status. Duke aspires to create a community built on collaboration, innovation, creativity, and belonging. Our collective success depends on the robust exchange of ideas—the best exchange when the rich diversity of our perspectives, backgrounds, and experiences flourishes. To achieve this exchange, it is essential that all community members feel secure and welcome, that the contributions of all individuals are respected, and that all voices are heard. All members of our community have a responsibility to uphold these values.

Essential Physical Job Functions: Certain jobs at Duke University and Duke University Health System may include essential job functions that require specific physical and/or mental abilities. Each hiring department will provide additional information and provisions for requests for reasonable accommodation.

Start Date:

Date Posted: 2/13/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15427

Brown University

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor of Political Science

The Political Science Department at Brown University seeks applications for a full-time Visiting Assistant Professor in Quantitative Research Methods (any subfield). The position is for one year and carries a four-course teaching load. Candidates must have completed the PhD by July 1, 2025.

Candidates should submit a cover letter identifying their primary teaching and research interests as well as a current CV, writing sample, graduate transcript, teaching evaluations, and three confidential letters of reference.

Scholars from outside the United States are appointed under J-1 visas (exchange visitors status) only.

The Political Science Department is interested in qualified candidates who have demonstrated commitment to excellence by providing leadership in teaching, research or service toward building an equitable and diverse scholarly environment.

Review of applications will begin on February 15, 2025; but applications will be accepted until the position is filled. The anticipated position start date is July 1, 2025.

Apply here: <http://apply.interfolio.com/161007>

Start Date: Summer 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 1/16/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15349

Ohio State University

Rank: Post-Doctoral Scholar: AI & Politics

Subfield(s): Methodology, American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics

Post-Doctoral Scholar: AI & Politics

The Department of Political Science at The Ohio State University invites applications for a Post Doctoral Scholar position. Successful applicants will have research interests in the area of AI in Politics and Society. Based in Columbus, Ohio, the position will begin in the fall of 2025 for a one-year term. Preferred applicants will have the promise of a sustained and substantial body of work developing and utilizing data analytic and/or artificial intelligence tools for the analysis of socio-political questions. The position is open with respect to substantive focus or disciplinary subfield in Political Science.

This position is part of the investment of The Ohio State University Provost in the Department of Political Science in Socio-Political Analysis and AI: <https://polisci.osu.edu/good-to-great-proposal> Socio-Political Analysis and AI (SPAI)

Responsibilities include conducting research on advanced topics in the application of data analytics and AI to social scientific questions and engaging with interdisciplinary efforts focused on data analytics and/or AI, including relevant field seminars.

Minimum Education Required

Doctoral degree in a relevant field is required. ABDs are welcome to apply but must have PhD in hand prior to the start date of this position.

Required Qualifications

Must have the capacity to integrate methodological insights with substantive research demonstrated through a record of and/or a promise of scholarly excellence.

Desired

Preferred candidates will show a willingness to participate in interdisciplinary collaborative efforts and should demonstrate a commitment to building a diverse intellectual community, in line with <https://www.osu.edu/shared-values> Ohio State's Shared Values.

Additional Information:

Candidates are asked to include the following with their application:

- Cover letter and CV as a single document
- Research Statement
- One or more writing sample as a single document
- Unofficial transcripts

Questions regarding this position can be directed to the search committee chair, Prof. Janet Box-Steffensmeier (<mailto:box-steffensmeier.1@osu.edu>).

Applications should be submitted through our https://osu.wd1.myworkdayjobs.com/OSUCareers/job/Columbus-Campus/Post-Doctoral-Scholar---AI---Politics_R121216-1/apply online portal for this position.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 2/14/2025

Date Posted: 1/16/2025

Salary: $70,000 - $79,999

eJobs ID: 15343

Washington University in St. Louis

Rank: Weidenbaum Center Postdoctoral Fellowship

We are pleased to announce a new Postdoctoral Fellowship in Survey Research through the Weidenbaum Center. This fellowship allows new Ph.D.s and early career scholars the opportunity to contribute to cutting-edge research using high-quality survey data collected by the Weidenbaum Center. This fellowship is uniquely situated at the intersection of academic and public-facing scholarship, allowing the fellow to pursue a multitude of career paths, contribute to research that directly affects important issues in American politics, and increase visibility of their research.

The Weidenbaum Center at Washington University in St. Louis invites applications from recent Ph.D. graduates for a one-year postdoctoral fellowship. The fellowship will run for 12 months, starting on or around July 1, 2025, with the possibility of a one-year renewal.

The Weidenbaum Center has supported survey data collection efforts through The American Panel Survey (TAPS), The American Social Survey (TASS), and the Weidenbaum Center Survey (WCS). The Center's most recent efforts have focused on the launch of the WCS, which is fielded three times each year, includes a sample of 3,000 respondents (2,000 general US adult population and oversample of 1,000 African Americans), with each survey paired with voter file data and web-tracking data for a subset of respondents. For more information on survey work supported by the Center, please visit: <https://wc.wustl.edu/weidenbaum-center-survey-work>.

The Fellow will work collaboratively with Taylor Carlson, graduate student fellows, and other Weidenbaum Center affiliates to support the launch of the Weidenbaum Center Survey and other data collection efforts through the Center. The Fellow will assist with the launch of an online dashboard that allows people to analyze and download the survey data, write public-facing reports describing key findings from the data, draft survey instruments, create publicly available data repositories, and conduct both coauthored and independent academic research.

We are seeking an individual with social science research interests who will advance the Center's mission by engaging in collaborative and independent research and who will enjoy the opportunity to contribute to public scholarship (blog posts, reports, website graphics). We are especially interested in candidates with training in survey methodology and experience with public-facing scholarship (e.g., op-eds). Candidates should detail their experience in these areas in their cover letters and showcase any of these interests in the writing sample. We anticipate that the Fellow will spend most of their time working on Center-related and coauthored projects with Taylor Carlson and other Center affiliates.

Qualifications

We invite applications from qualified candidates who will have a PhD in hand by the time of the appointment, are no more than four years from the granting of their Ph.D. at the time of the submission, and who do not yet hold tenure-track academic positions.

Applications are evaluated against a broad set of criteria with special consideration given to contributions the candidate can make to academic diversity in our University community and more specifically to the study of survey methodology or addressing contemporary issues in American society with survey data.

Application Instructions

Proposal Submission Deadline: We will begin reviewing applications on February 7 and anticipate scheduling Zoom interviews as early as late February.

Proposal Format:

Applications should include the following:

- Cover letter
- Curriculum vitae
- Research statement not to exceed 2000 words describing the dissertation project and other research
- Writing sample
- Three letters of reference
- The cover letter should be addressed to Taylor Carlson

NOTE: Please apply through Interfolio: <https://apply.interfolio.com/161709>

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 1/15/2025

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 15339

Brown University

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor of Political Science

The Political Science Department at Brown University seeks applications for a full-time Visiting Assistant Professor in Quantitative Research Methods (any subfield). The position is for one year and carries a four-course teaching load. Candidates must have completed the PhD by July 1, 2025.

Candidates should submit a cover letter identifying their primary teaching and research interests as well as a current CV, writing sample, graduate transcript, teaching evaluations, and three confidential letters of reference.

Scholars from outside the United States are appointed under J-1 visas (exchange visitors status) only.

The Political Science Department is interested in qualified candidates who have demonstrated commitment to excellence by providing leadership in teaching, research or service toward building an equitable and diverse scholarly environment.

Review of applications will begin on February 15, 2025; but applications will be accepted until the position is filled. The anticipated position start date is July 1, 2025.

Apply here: <http://apply.interfolio.com/161007>

Start Date: Summer 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 12/19/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15302

University of Notre Dame

Rank: Postdoctoral Researcher in Democracy (SM)

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Methodology, Other

Specializations: Latin American, Political Development, Political Parties & Organizations

The Kellogg Institute for International Studies, part of the Keough School of Global Affairs at the University of Notre Dame, is seeking a Postdoctoral Researcher in Democracy for academic years 2025-27 as part of its commitment to the University's Democracy Initiative. Individuals selected for the postdoctoral position will have the option of renewing their appointment for a second year, conditional on satisfactory performance.

The individual selected for this position will devote approximately 50% of their time to working with Scott Mainwaring, Eugene and Helen Conley Professor of Political Science, and 50% of his/her time to independent research. The work with Professor Mainwaring will revolve around the third wave of democratization in Latin America and globally. The expectation is that the individual will coauthor one or two articles and possibly a book on this topic with Professor Mainwaring and Fernando Bizzarro (Boston College).

A successful postdoctoral candidate will have a Ph.D. in Political Science or Sociology by the start of the 2025-26 academic year. Expertise on Latin America and excellent quantitative and qualitative skills are essential, as the candidate is expected to contribute to both quantitative and qualitative analyses. Strong knowledge of the literature on political regimes is desirable, but scholars who have expertise on a wide range of subjects related to democracy could be outstanding candidates even if they have not worked directly on political regimes. The candidate must have reading proficiency in Spanish and/or Portuguese.

The successful candidate will have dedicated office space and a $5,000 per year research allowance. They will be expected to attend and present at Kellogg Tuesday and Work-In-Progress seminars. Reasonable moving expenses will be covered.

To apply, please submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, research statement, dissertation abstract, a writing sample, and three letters of recommendation, along with filling out the short application form. Review of applications will begin on February 3, 2025. Candidates are expected to join Notre Dame in August 2025. This position is located in South Bend, Indiana, and the successful candidate is expected to be in residence for the duration of the appointment.

Qualifications

A successful postdoctoral candidate will have a Ph.D. in Political Science or Sociology before starting the position.

Application Instructions

To apply, please submit a cover letter that includes a description of your current research, a curriculum vitae, a writing sample, three letters of recommendation, and fill out the short application form.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 2/28/2025

Date Posted: 12/12/2024

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 15283

University of Rhode Island

Rank: Advanced Assistant/Associate Professor in Computational Social Science

POSITION DESCRIPTION

The Department of Political Science at the University of Rhode Island invites applications for a faculty position at the level of Associate Professor (tenured) or advanced Assistant Professor (tenure track) in Computational Social Science, starting in Fall 2025. We are seeking candidates with expertise in developing and applying cutting-edge computational and quantitative methods to the study of politics as well as a demonstrated ability to work across disciplines. Areas of methods focus may include, but are not limited to, machine learning, AI, deep learning, digital experimentation, natural language processing, network analysis, text analysis, big-data analytics, or system dynamics.

The successful candidate is expected to direct a new interdisciplinary Ph.D. program in Computational Social Science in the College of Arts & Sciences with a tenure home department in Political Science.

We are seeking to attract a diverse pool of job applicants for this position. A key pillar of URI's mission is to "inspire an enlightened community that is characterized by vibrant cultural diversity; that embraces difference; that is built upon a learning environment that fosters respect, understanding, and social justice; and that rejects prejudice and intolerance." Our department seeks candidates whose principles align with that mission.

DUTIES AND RESPONSIBILITIES

The successful candidate will be expected to have strong skills in computational social science with a substantive research program on politics informed by innovative quantitative, data-intensive, or computationally-intensive techniques. Competitive candidates will have a scholarly track record with evidence of high-quality research in their respective field of study as well as demonstrated potential in program leadership, advising and mentoring of Ph.D. students, and curriculum development.

The successful candidate will be responsible for directing the new interdisciplinary Ph.D. program in Computational Social Science (CSS) within the College of Arts & Sciences. As the Director, the candidate will lead the development and refinement of its curriculum, foster interdisciplinary collaborations, and oversee recruitment, advising, and mentoring of Ph.D. students. This position will involve working closely with faculty across multiple social science departments to ensure the program remains at the cutting edge of computational methodologies and their applications in the social sciences.

The Computational Social Science program's administrative home resides within the Political Science Department; this position will split their teaching and service duties across the CSS and traditional Political Science programs.

REQUIRED QUALIFICATIONS:

- 1) Ph.D. in Political Science, Computational Social Science, or in a closely related discipline.
- 2) Primary or secondary specialization in one or more of the following areas: computational social science, big-data analytics, machine learning, AI, natural language processing, text analysis, or network analysis.
- 3) Demonstrated ability to excel in teaching advanced coursework on applications of innovative quantitative, data-intensive, or computationally-intensive techniques in the social sciences.
- 4) Demonstrated experience in advising and mentoring of students.
- 5) Evidence of research in the area of computational social science, with scholarly work commensurate with level of academic experience.
- 6) Demonstrated potential to develop and maintain an externally grant-funded research program relevant to Computational Social Science.
- 7) Demonstrated interpersonal communication skills.
- 8) Demonstrated proficiency in written communication skills.
- 9) Demonstrated experience working with diverse populations or in diverse environments.

All requirements are subject to possible modification to reasonably accommodate individuals with disabilities.

PREFERRED QUALIFICATIONS:

- 1) Ability to teach undergraduate research methods courses and substantive political science courses.
- 2) Demonstrated leadership and management skills in the areas of program development, student recruitment, and coordination of faculty and resources.
- 3) Demonstrated experience or interest in interdisciplinary collaboration, particularly with statistics, computer science, or related fields.
- 4) Demonstrated interest in developing collaborative research and/or consulting to support the interdisciplinary nature of programs within the Department, College, and the University as a whole.

APPLICATION DEADLINE:

The search will remain open until the position has been filled. First consideration will be given to applications received by December 15, 2024. Applications received after December 15, 2024 may be reviewed depending on search progress and needs but are not guaranteed full consideration.

For the full job posting and to apply online, please visit: <https://jobs.uri.edu/postings/14232>

SPECIAL INSTRUCTIONS TO APPLICANTS

Required Documents: Please attach 5 (PDF) documents to your online Faculty Profile Application:

- 1) A letter of application that describes your interest in this position that addresses the required qualifications
- 2) A Curriculum Vitae that includes the names/contact information for three professional references, a list of all completed graduate-level courses taken, and course syllabi and teaching evaluations for select courses you have taught (note: please scan and attach all of this information as a single CV document),
- 3) A brief research and teaching statement
- 4) URI is committed to diversity and seeks candidates who will contribute to a climate that supports a fully inclusive, equitable, and diverse working and learning environment. Please provide a statement, with examples, that summarizes your contributions to diversity and inclusion in your discipline. These contributions may arise from scholarship, teaching/mentoring, service, or other activities.

- 5) Submit an article-length sample of relevant scholarly work.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 12/15/2024

Date Posted: 11/1/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15143

Universidad Catolica del Uruguay

Rank: Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Methodology, International Relations

The Universidad Católica del Uruguay calls for applications to fill a position of Assistant Professor (Full time) at its Department of Social Sciences. Candidates should hold a Ph.D. or be near completion (July 2025) in Sociology or Political Science, but candidates in other social science disciplines such as Demography, Human Geography or Criminology are also encouraged to apply. Candidates may be specialized in any substantive subarea (for example, research methods, public policy, social stratification, socioeconomic inequalities, political economy, or comparative politics).

Candidates must demonstrate excellence in teaching, an active substantive research agenda, and a demonstrated ability to publish and teach in English and Spanish. Successful candidates are expected to work full-time (160 hours per month) and start working in February or August 2025.

Applications will start being analyzed on October 30, 2024, but applications received after that will still be considered until the position is filled or the university closes the call. A complete application must contain (1) a cover letter, (2) CV, (3) an example of an undergraduate course program that the candidate would be able to teach, (4) up to 2 examples of academic research work, (5) teacher evaluations, and (6) three letters of recommendation. The application should be made electronically (<https://bpm.ucu.edu.uy/public/01LPOSD>). Letters of recommendation must be directly sent by their author to the following email: ines.fynn@ucu.edu.uy (Ref: LLAMACA-257-Letter of recommendation for [Name Last name]).

The selection process will consist on the following stages. First, a short list of candidates will be selected to be interviewed by the Selection Committee in person or via videoconference in case of residing abroad. Then, 3 shortlisted candidates will be invited to the Montevideo campus to present their research and hold interviews with members of the Department and other authorities. The selection committee may request from the candidates, at any time during the process, additional materials, or the corresponding accreditations. The decisions of the selection committee will be final. The Universidad Católica del Uruguay reserves the right not to hire any candidates without responsibility of any kind at its own expense.

For additional information, applicants may contact the Department's Chair, Rosario

Queirolo (rosario.queirolo@ucu.edu.uy).

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/14/2024

Salary: $40,000 - $49,999

eJobs ID: 15054

University of Chicago

Rank: Post-doctoral Position in Political Science at the University of Chicago

The University of Chicago is seeking a post-doctoral researcher to work on a project funded by a European Research Council Starting Grant (ERC Stg), "DEPOLARIZE: Affective Polarization and Democratic Attitudes." The project will establish whether affective polarization is a factor driving democratic backsliding using state-of-the-art causal inference methods in four countries – Hungary, Poland, Turkey, and the United States. This position will focus on the case of the United States in the project.

Through a collaboration with Koç University in Istanbul, this position will work with Professor Susan Stokes at the University of Chicago and Associate Professor Selim Erdem Aytaç at Koç University. The researcher for this position will be hired by the University of Chicago. This is a one-year position, in person at the University of Chicago.

Duties and responsibilities:

This position focuses on data collection and analyses related to surveys in the United States. The researcher is expected to engage in project-related activities for 80% of full-time work (32 hrs/week), while the remaining 20% (8 hrs/week) is set aside for independent research.

The responsibilities include:

- Conduct and publish high-quality research within the framework of DEPOLARIZE,
- Support the organization of roundtable discussions, literature reviews, development of survey instruments and experimental interventions, coordination with survey firms, analyses of data, and reporting of results,
- Participate in research administration and organization of project-related events,
- Disseminate results at international conferences and department seminars.

Skills and qualifications:

- PhD in Political Science or related discipline (all requirements for the PhD must be completed by the start date),
- Advanced quantitative methodological skills and experience with survey analysis and experimental designs,

- Strong interest in or background on the study of democracy, democratic backsliding, and affective polarization,
- Proficiency in Stata and R,
- Interest in or background on the study of American political behavior is an asset but is not required.

What we offer:

- 1-year employment at the vibrant Department of Political Science and the Chicago Center on Democracy at the University of Chicago,
- An internationally competitive and salary and benefits package,
- Funding for conference travel within the scope of the project.

Application instructions:

Your application package should include:

- A letter of motivation (1-2 pages) explaining your research profile and interests,
- An up-to-date CV,
- Two academic writing samples (e.g., chapter of doctoral thesis, articles, working papers),
- Two letters of recommendation.

Please send your application electronically as a single pdf file to democracy@uchicago.edu.

Application deadline: Applications are strongly preferred by October 25, 2024, though the position will remain open until filled or the search is closed.

Interviews with shortlisted candidates: Early November 2024

Starting date of position: January 2025 (with some flexibility)

Informal inquiries about the position and project can be addressed to Selim Erdem Aytaç at saytac@ku.edu.tr.

Start Date: Winter 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/14/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15051

Washington University in St. Louis

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science in the field of Formal Theory

The Department of Political Science at Washington University in St. Louis invite applications for a tenure-track appointment in formal theory. The appointment is at the rank of Assistant Professor to begin in the fall semester of 2025. A Ph.D. in Political Science or a closely related field is required at the time of appointment. Duties will include teaching assigned courses, conducting research, writing for publication, advising students, participating in department and program governance, and university service.

Application materials should include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, statement of research and teaching interests, at least three letters of reference, writing samples, and other relevant materials.

Applications received before September 15, 2024 will receive full consideration. Consideration after that date will be at the discretion of the search committee. All applications and supporting documentation should be submitted electronically through Interfolio at <https://apply.interfolio.com/151776>. If you encounter difficulties with the application process or have any additional questions, please email Amanda Nutter (nutter@wustl.edu).

Start Date: Summer 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/13/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14624

Washington University in St. Louis

Rank: Open Rank Professor of Political Science in the field of Environmental Politics

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, Methodology

The Department of Political Science at Washington University in St. Louis and the Environmental Studies Program invite applications for a tenure-track faculty appointment in the area of Environmental Politics at the rank of assistant professor, associate professor, or professor. The appointment is to begin in the fall semester of 2025. A Ph.D. in Political Science or a closely related field is required at the time of appointment. Candidates for the rank of associate or full professor should have an outstanding academic record of research, publication teaching, and service commensurate with tenure at that rank. Duties will include teaching assigned courses, conducting research, writing for publication, advising students, participating in department and program governance, and university service.

Application materials should include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, statement of research and teaching interests, at least three letters of reference, writing samples, and other relevant materials.

Applications received before September 15, 2024 will receive full consideration. Consideration after that date will be at the discretion of the search committee. All applications and supporting documentation should be submitted electronically through Interfolio at apply.interfolio.com/151775. If you encounter difficulties with the application process or have any additional questions, please email Amanda Nutter (nutter@wustl.edu).

Start Date: Summer 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/13/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14628

Universidad Torcuato Di Tella

Rank: Assistant Professor, Associate Professor

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Methodology

The Department of Political Science and International Studies at Universidad Torcuato Di Tella (UTDT) seeks candidates for two tenure-track assistant professor positions in Comparative Politics and International Relations, with an expected (but negotiable) start date of March 2025. Very strong candidates at the associate level will also be considered. We are open with respect to substantive subfield, theoretical orientation, and methodological approach. Regional expertise in regions other than Latin America (e.g., East, South, or Southeast Asia, Western or Eastern Europe, the Middle East or North America) is a plus, as is the ability to teach courses on research design, data science/statistics, and/or causal inference. Candidates are expected to demonstrate a strong commitment to research and to teaching and mentoring students. The teaching load is three courses per year. Most courses are taught in Spanish, although a growing number are offered in English. The position includes a research fund and a year's sabbatical (at full salary) every six years.

Duties will include teaching assigned courses in Comparative Politics and/or International Relations at both the undergraduate and graduate levels, conducting research, writing for publication in high-quality academic venues, advising students, participating in department governance, and university service.

Qualifications: Ph.D. in Political Science or related disciplines (ABD candidates will also be considered) and a demonstrated record of excellence in research and teaching. Proficiency in both Spanish and English is required. Questions should be directed to Professor Carlos Gervasoni, Chair of the Department of Political Science and International Studies, at cgervasoni@utdt.edu.

To apply please visit https://utdt.hiringroom.com/jobs/get_vacancy/665727a62994ec85980166a0, by August 30, 2024 (applications received after this date will continue to be reviewed until the positions are filled). The required documents include a cover letter, CV, a research statement, a teaching statement, a writing sample, and the names and email addresses of 3 references (letters of reference will be required of short-listed finalists).

Universidad Torcuato Di Tella is a private research university located in Buenos Aires, Argentina. Our Department is consistently ranked as one of the best in Latin America in terms of reputation and research excellence. Our guiding principles are academic excellence, pluralism of ideas and equal opportunity. UTDT is committed to creating a diverse community of students, faculty, and staff, following the principles of equal opportunity and treatment in education and employment, regardless of national origin, race, color, ethnicity, religion, political ideology, age, sex, sexual orientation, or gender identity. The university encourages applications of individuals from historically underrepresented groups who will further enrich the diversity of our educational community. We welcome applications from all nationalities. Approximately 25% of the Department's research professors are foreigners. For further information about Universidad Torcuato Di Tella and our department, please visit: <https://www.utdt.edu/>.

Start Date: Spring 2025

Application Deadline: 8/30/2024

Date Posted: 6/5/2024

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 14404

NON-ACADEMIC

Pew Research Center

Rank: Associate Director, U.S. Politics Research

Washington, DC (Pew Research Center)

Organization Overview

Pew Research Center is a nonpartisan fact tank that informs the public about the issues, attitudes and trends shaping America and the world.

It conducts public opinion polling, demographic research, media content analysis and other empirical social science research in the areas of U.S. politics and policy views; media and journalism; internet and technology; religion and public life; science and society; race and ethnicity; global attitudes; and U.S. social and demographic trends. Pew Research does not take policy positions. It is a subsidiary of The Pew Charitable Trusts. Pew Research Center's work is carried out by a staff of approximately 170 based in Washington, DC. Staff are required to be present in the Center's office at 901 E Street NW two days per week (Tuesdays and Wednesdays), and may work virtually from remote locations on the three other days of the week.

Position Description

Pew Research Center is looking for an Associate Director for its U.S. Politics team. The Associate Director will play a key role in managing a research team which provides nonpartisan survey research about American attitudes toward politics and policy. In addition to conducting regular timely surveys on politics and domestic and international policy issues, this department periodically takes on larger-scale research projects exploring current political themes in depth - this includes long-term studies of public opinion trends in values and issues, biannual "validated voter" studies, explorations of themes like public trust in government and the political system, and the Center's signature "political typology" work. The Associate Director will manage much of the team's day-to-day operations, including questionnaire development, quality control, data analysis, writing, editing, visualizations and number checking, and liaising with other research teams and internal stakeholders. The Associate Director is also expected to provide intellectual leadership for the team in conceptualizing the team's research and to serve as a writer, editor and spokesperson for the Center's research.

Reporting to Director, Politics, the Associate Director will model best practices in collaboration across teams, as well as in creating systems and processes that help produce the best possible products.

Responsibilities

- Manage development and execution of original U.S. politics research
- Manage team day-to-day operations planning, editorial and production calendars, budgeting and staff assignments to projects
- Substantially contribute to the editorial output of the team, including in providing editorial direction to staff
- Supervise team members by providing regular feedback and comfortably addressing performance issues
- Act as a spokesperson for the team's research
- Take an institutional role in setting the research agenda and contribute to management and culture building across the Center as a whole
- Work with the Center's communications team to ensure that the work meets the needs of, and is accessible to, the Center's priority audiences
- Work with the Center's methods team to ensure that the Center's survey research meets the highest methodological standards
- Ensure accuracy, impartiality, clarity and methodological transparency in all research products

Knowledge and Skills Required

- Must have a passion for the mission of a non-advocacy organization that conducts high-quality social science research and reports its findings in impartial, clear and accessible ways
- Demonstrated success in project management along with maturity, independence and time management skills to work effectively with little or no day-to-day supervision

- Dedicated to the highest principles of transparency and accountability
- Ability to execute on multiple complex projects in a dynamic, fast-paced environment
- Excellent writing and speaking skills
- Ability to develop and maintain productive relationships with direct reports, peers and managers
- Strong inter-personal skills to relate effectively to staff at all levels
- Strong collaboration skills

Education/Training/Experience

- We welcome applications from a range of professional backgrounds, including but not limited to academia, journalism, media or other fields with demonstrated experience in designing public opinion surveys and writing, editing and visualizing narratives using public opinion and/or behavioral data.

- MA required, with at least 15 years of professional experience in a relevant field or institution (academia, news media, research organization, etc.). A minimum of 10 years of specialized experience in research and analysis, with significant experience working collaboratively with others on projects, including in a supervisory role.

- Demonstrated subject matter expertise in U.S. politics and policy landscape, particularly in public attitudes and behaviors on topics like polarization, trust, values, etc.

- Advanced skills in quantitative data analysis

- Proven ability to write clear, compelling and accessible reports on quantitative research, ideally with experience in visualizing and communicating findings to lay audiences

- Successful experience leading small teams, mentoring others and giving feedback

FLSA Status: Exempt

The typical starting salary for this position is $ 155,000.

Location

Pew Research Center staff are required to be present in the Center's Washington, D.C., office two core days weekly (Tuesday, Wednesday). Staff may work virtually from remote locations on other days in a typical work week.

Application Procedure

Click on the Apply button, and complete required fields. Both cover letter and resume are required.

When requested, please upload a copy of your resume/cv, as well as a copy of your cover letter in the section labeled Resume/Cover Letter. If the documents have successfully uploaded, you should see 2 attached files beneath the "Drop files here" box. Please make sure you have uploaded a resume AND a cover letter before moving on to the next page.

Total Rewards

In addition to competitive pay, Pew Research Center's employees enjoy a robust total rewards package that includes:

- Affordable, comprehensive health care that includes medical, dental (including adult orthodontia) and vision benefits.
- Generous paid annual leave plan, including a winter break between Dec. 25 and Jan. 1
- Employer-paid disability, life insurance and paid family leave plans
- Up to a 12% employer 401(k) contribution, with vesting at the end of the first year.
- A 37.5-hour workweek.
- Health savings or flexible spending account options with employer funding component.
- Flexibility to telework up to 60% for most staff

EEO:

Pew Research Center makes employment decisions without regard to age, sex, ethnicity, religion, disability, marital status, sexual orientation or gender identity, military/veteran status, or any other basis prohibited by applicable law. We champion inclusion, diversity and equity, and we encourage applications from candidates who represent a variety of backgrounds, perspectives, and skills.

Apply Here: <https://www.click2apply.net/6y1KWArY1OWp5cMRyUxOnw>

PI265587735

Start Date:

Date Posted: 3/14/2025

Salary: $150,000 - $159,999

eJobs ID: 15509

OPEN

Yale University

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Associate

Position Description

Professor Hélène Landemore seeks a postdoctoral research associate for a one-year, full-time appointment beginning July 1, 2025. Professor Landemore seeks someone capable of helping her conduct research on the ethics and politics of Artificial Intelligence. The research associate will work on various editorial projects (books, articles, edited volumes) and help professor Landemore organize conferences and workshops. Job responsibilities will be tailored to the strengths of the successful applicant.

Qualifications

A background in political theory/philosophy is preferred; additional background in computer science, engineering, or economics would be a plus. Excellent organizational skills and editorial experience are essential. Project management experience is a plus. PhD or equivalent degree at time of hire is required. Salary is negotiable.

Application Instructions

Applications should include the following:

- A cover letter indicating your interest in the Post-doctoral Fellowship
- CV
- One scholarly writing sample (in English)
- PhD program transcript
- Two letters of recommendation (uploaded by letter writers in interfolio)

. The review process will begin April 1, 2025.

<http://apply.interfolio.com/164436>

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 3/8/2026

Date Posted: 3/8/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15497

Arizona State University

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Scholar

Description

The School of Politics and Global Studies (SPGS) at Arizona State University (ASU) invites applications for a full-time postdoctoral research scholar as part of an NSF-funded grant project to code new data on economic restrictions. This is a full-time, benefits-eligible, fiscal year (July 1 – June 30) one-year position. The salary is $61,008.

The Government-imposed Restrictions on International Economic Relations (GRIER) project is an NSF funded research endeavor designed to complement and add to existing sanctions data while pushing forward the scholarly study of sanctions. Using each “restriction” (the specific prohibited interaction) as the unit of analysis, the project will code all government-mandated restrictions by the US, EU, and UN on the international flow of goods, services, money, finance, and investment, as well as restrictions on travel, media, and diplomacy for the years spanning 1992 to 2023. The project will also construct time-varying, comparable indicators of the comprehensiveness and severity of each economic restriction for the target. The GRIER dataset will be used to test systematically two broad research questions. First, what affects the composition and severity of government-imposed economic restrictions against target states—whether specifically against governments, individuals, or other entities? Second, how does the composition of economic restrictions affect not only the likelihood of target concession, but the broader reshaping of economic and political networks?

About Arizona State University:

ASU is a large, comprehensive, research university and for nearly two decades, has transformed into the “New American University,” one dedicated to the simultaneous pursuit of excellence, broad access to quality education, and meaningful societal impact. By our Charter and Design Aspirations, we center inclusive excellence on and success as values that drive the enterprise; adopt inter- and transdisciplinary approaches to teaching and learning as ways to address society’s greatest challenges; and develop innovative partnerships to produce master learners across the lifespan. To learn more about ASU, visit <http://www.asu.edu>.

Job description:

The postdoctoral research scholar will work under the supervision of Principal Investigator Timothy M. Peterson and with Co-PI Dursun Peksen (U. Memphis) to collect and manage data spanning 1992-2024. The position will also offer opportunities to conduct and publish research in peer-reviewed outlets. Primary activities will include data collection, evaluation, and analysis related to the determinants of (kinds and combinations of) economic restrictions, as well as the consequence of economic restrictions for economic and political relationships.

This is an in-person, academic year, benefits-eligible appointment. The anticipated start date is July 1, 2025.

Qualifications

Required qualifications:

A PhD in Political Science, International Relations, Computer Science, Economics, or a related field conferred by the time of appointment, but no earlier than Spring of 2023.

Demonstrated experience in data collection and management.

Evidence of programming understanding and experience with R (preferred), Python, or Stata.

Demonstrated advanced methods skills in one or more of the following:

Quantitative text analysis and machine learning

Web scraping

Network modeling

Spatial econometrics

Item response modeling

Excellent organizational and communication skills

Desired qualifications:

Substantive research experience in one or more of the following topics:

Economic sanctions

Export controls

Commodity trade and supply chains

Armed conflict

Deterrence (broadly defined)

Demonstrated commitment to working with faculty, staff, students and communities to advance the principles of the ASU Charter.

Application Instructions

Applications and Inquiries:

This is a paperless search, and only materials submitted electronically will be considered.

Application materials should include:

A curriculum vitae

A letter of interest describing how you meet the qualifications noted above

A writing sample or research statement

Contact information for 3 references including email addresses

The application deadline is March 28, 2025; if not filled, then every two weeks thereafter until the search is closed.

Interested applicants may contact Timothy M. Peterson at tmpte15@asu.edu with questions, or for a copy of the NSF project description.

Apply here: <https://apply.interfolio.com/164168>

Start Date: Summer 2025

Application Deadline: 3/28/2025

Date Posted: 2/27/2025

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 15463

University of Rochester

Rank: Political Science, Philosophy, and Economics Instructional Track

Political Science, Philosophy, and Economics

The University of Rochester's Department of Political Science invites applications from candidates for a full-time, instructional-track position that is open with regard to rank, starting July 1, 2025. The initial appointment is for one year with subsequent reappointment on a four-year cycle, conditional on a successful first year. The position involves a mix of teaching and administrative responsibilities, which will contribute broadly to undergraduate training in political science, and will support our major in Politics, Philosophy, and Economics (PPE).

We seek candidates who can contribute to teaching in a selection of the following areas: political philosophy, constitutional law, environmental policy, public economics, and race and ethnic politics. Qualified candidates must be able to teach two required courses for the PPE major: a 4-credit seminar course (Politics, Philosophy, and Economics: How to Change the World), and a 2-credit student-paper presentation seminar. Teaching responsibilities will be four 4-credit courses and the one 2-credit course, for a total of 4.5 courses, each academic year.

Administrative duties consist of being part of our advising team (including major declarations and degree audits for majors run by the department), with special responsibility for the PPE major. The administrative duties will be the equivalent of 1.5 courses over the academic year.

The position is open to candidates from diverse intellectual backgrounds, including economics, law, philosophy, political science, and public policy.

Salary: $70,000-$80,000. The referenced pay range represents the full base range of pay for this job. Individual salaries will be determined within the job's salary range and established based on market data, experience and expertise of the individual, and internal equity considerations.

All applications should include a letter of interest, curriculum vitae, teaching statement, three letters of recommendation, and sample syllabi (if available). Candidates without a prior academic appointment should include a graduate transcript.

The University of Rochester is firmly committed to advancing equity and fostering an inclusive and diverse community. We ask candidates to include a statement discussing the ways in which their experiences will shape their pursuits as a member of our faculty and help them add to the University's core values of Meliora (ever better).

Materials should be submitted online at: www.rochester.edu/faculty-recruiting. For more information on the University of Rochester Political Science Department, go to: <http://www.sas.rochester.edu/psc/>. We will begin reviewing applications in March 2025.

The University of Rochester is an Equal Opportunity Employer with a strong commitment to diversity, and actively encourages applications from candidates from groups underrepresented in higher education.

EOE / Minorities / Females / Protected Veterans / Disabled

Start Date: 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 2/17/2025

Salary: $70,000 - $79,999

eJobs ID: 15435

University of South Carolina

Rank: Professional Track Instructor

The Department of Political Science at the University of South Carolina seeks applications for a full-time instructor position to begin August 16, 2025. Area of specialization is open, but the successful candidate will be able to teach Introduction to Global Politics, Introduction to Politics, and/or American National Government, as well as other classes in their field of interest. The position is a 9-month appointment with a teaching load of 8 courses for the academic year (4 each semester). This is an annual appointment that may be renewed, contingent upon satisfactory performance, departmental needs, and the availability of funding. The university provides opportunities for promotion to higher professional track ranks for eligible instructors. A Ph.D. in political science is required by the start date of appointment.

From the Upstate to the Lowcountry, the University of South Carolina system is transforming the lives of South Carolinians through the impact of our eight institutions and 20 locations throughout the state. More than 50,000 students are enrolled at one of eight institutions, including the research campus in Columbia and comprehensive four-year universities in Aiken, Upstate and Beaufort. In addition, our Palmetto College campuses in Salkehatchie, Union, Lancaster, and Sumter enable students to earn associate or bachelor's degrees through a combination of in-person, online or blended learning. All of our system institutions place strong emphasis on service — helping to build healthier, more educated communities in South Carolina and beyond.

At the University of South Carolina, we strive to cultivate an inclusive environment that is open, welcoming, and supportive of individuals of all backgrounds. We recognize diversity in our workforce is essential to providing academic excellence and critical to our sustainability. The University is committed to eliminating barriers created by institutional discrimination through accountability and continuous process improvement. We celebrate the diverse voices, perspectives, and experiences of our employees.

The University of South Carolina is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Institution. Women, minorities, protected veterans, and individuals with disabilities are encouraged to apply. The University of South Carolina does not discriminate in educational or employment opportunities or decisions for qualified persons on the basis of age, ancestry, citizenship status, color, disability, ethnicity, familial status, gender (including transgender), gender identity or expression, genetic information, HIV/AIDS status, military status, national origin, pregnancy (false pregnancy, termination of pregnancy, childbirth, recovery therefrom or related medical conditions, breastfeeding), race, religion (including religious dress and grooming practices), sex, sexual orientation, veteran status, or any other bases under federal, state, local law, or regulations.

How to Apply

Applicants must submit a cover letter; curriculum vitae; teaching statement; graduate transcript; and contact information (including telephone number and email address) for three references. References will be contacted directly for letters of recommendation (which must be submitted on appropriate letterhead). Review of applications will begin on March 17th 2025, and the position will remain open until filled. All applicants must fill out an online application at USC Jobs: <https://uscjobs.sc.edu> (see here for direct link: <https://uscjobs.sc.edu/postings/183076>)

Please contact the search committee chair, Dr. Neal Woods (woods@sc.edu) with any questions. Information regarding the Department of Political Science can be found at the department's website: <http://artsandsciences.sc.edu/poli/welcome>.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 2/14/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15431

Western Carolina University

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor - American Government & Politics

The Department of Political Science and Public Affairs at Western Carolina University is searching for a visiting assistant professor with a specialization in American politics (subfield open) to join our growing and accomplished faculty.

This is a fixed-term nine-month position with the potential for summer teaching. The anticipated start date is August 2025. The successful candidate will contribute to the Political Science program by teaching six courses per academic year on our Cullowhee, NC campus, including sections of our "Introduction to American Government" course, a core course for our Political Science major and a key component in the University's general education program. Upper-level courses within the candidate's specialization may also be part of the teaching load.

Minimum qualifications include candidates that are advanced ABD with a minimum of 18 graduate credit hours in Political Science from an accredited university.

Preferred qualifications include a PhD in Political Science from an accredited institution, prior teaching experience at the university level, and a promising research agenda in American government or politics.

Candidates will apply online: <https://jobs.wcu.edu/postings/29969>

The search committee will begin reviewing applications on or about March 5, 2025.

Start Date: Fall

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 2/7/2025

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 15406

Yale University

Rank: Postdoctoral Associate

The Program on Ethics, Politics, and Economics sponsors interdisciplinary teaching and research in the Social Sciences and Humanities at Yale. The program offers two postdoctoral positions to support outstanding scholars starting their academic careers. We seek scholars whose work spans disciplinary boundaries and integrates empirical, analytical, and normative concerns to shed light on substantial social problems.

We welcome applications from new PhDs in political science, economics, philosophy, business, and related social sciences working on furthering our understanding of complex social realities from an interdisciplinary perspective. This year, we are particularly interested in supporting scholars who are examining political economy problems.

The positions allow new PhD's to develop a strong research program in a stimulating collegial environment alongside faculty across the social sciences and humanities at Yale University. In addition to conducting their research, postdocs are expected to teach one interdisciplinary undergraduate seminar, be available to meet undergraduate students of the EP&E major, and assist with advising majors on their senior essays.

Positions are for one year, renewable to two, at a salary of $70,000 with Yale health benefits. Applicants should have completed PhD requirements by September 2025.

Applications should include the following:

- A cover letter indicating your interest in the Post-doctoral Fellowship
- CV
- Job Market Paper or at least one scholarly writing sample (in English)
- PhD program transcript
- A preliminary syllabus for an interdisciplinary undergraduate course that integrates material from at least two of the following: Political Science, Economics, and Ethics.
- Two letters of recommendation (uploaded by letter writers in interfolio) Please submit application materials electronically to Interfolio at <http://apply.interfolio.com/160735>. The review process will begin January 5, 2025. We will continue to accept applications until the position has been filled. Please direct inquiries to Ana De La O, Director of Ethics, Politics, and Economics, ana.delao@yale.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 12/12/2025

Date Posted: 12/12/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15282

The University of Chicago

Rank: Instructional Professor (Political Science) - MA Program in the Social Sciences

Position Description

The Division of the Social Sciences at the University of Chicago invites applications for appointment as Instructional Professor (IP), with a specialization in Political Science, in the Master of Arts Program in the Social Sciences (<https://mapss.uchicago.edu>). We invite applications from candidates across the full range of fields within the discipline. Areas of expertise that are of particular interest to MAPSS include China, quantitative methods, and migration.

This is a full-time, career track teaching and advising position that involves designing graduate seminars, mentoring students on research projects, and helping a diverse range of students navigate graduate school. The initial three-year appointment will begin in the Academic Year 2025-26 and is renewable with the opportunity for promotion. Appointment at the rank of Assistant, Associate, or Full Instructional Professor will be considered based on the candidate's experience.

MAPSS is a one-year program providing students with a foundation in graduate-level interdisciplinary social science research. Students concentrate on psychology, economics, anthropology, history, political science, sociology, or interdisciplinary research, and conduct original research projects under the supervision of UChicago faculty. MAPSS recruits talented students from a wide array of backgrounds, experiences, and trajectories. Some go on to doctoral study after MAPSS, while others use the degree to advance their careers with the help of an in-house Career Services team.

IP at UChicago teaches up to 6 courses per year. In MAPSS, IP has an annual teaching load of 4 courses, in addition to substantial mentoring and service responsibilities. Their courses include one section of the MAPSS core social theory course "Perspectives in Social Science Analysis," and other courses oriented toward MA and/or undergraduate students, according to program needs. This often includes a graduate seminar introducing an important social science research methodology.

MAPSS IP performs substantive roles as preceptors, a position that entails advising students on their independent research projects and quarterly course selection, serving as first and second readers on student theses, and providing broad academic and professional guidance to a cohort of master's students during office hours. They also closely advise students and alumni who are applying to PhD programs.

MAPSS IP fulfills a range of service requirements. They participate in admissions and recruiting as well as other co-curricular academic programming. They hire and manage teaching assistants and contribute to program operations, participate in staff meetings and pedagogy workshops, and participate in the student academic conference or on decision-making committees (e.g. student prizes).

The position includes support for professional development, including funds to attend conferences and workshops, as well as mentoring from senior members of the MAPSS instructional team. The position also offers opportunities to participate in the intellectual life of the University.

Qualifications

Applicants must have a PhD in Political Science or in a related discipline prior to the start date. Prior teaching in the social sciences is required. Experience mentoring students on original research projects is preferred.

Application Instructions

The following materials must be submitted through Interfolio at <http://apply.interfolio.com/160257>: 1) a cover letter, outlining the applicant's prior training and research experience, their prior teaching and/or mentoring experience, and their suggested course offerings; 2) a curriculum vitae; 3) a doctoral transcript (unofficial is acceptable); 4) an article-length writing sample; 5) at least one course syllabus designed by the candidate; 6) course evaluations or other evidence of past experience teaching or mentoring; 7) a teaching statement; and 8) three letters of recommendation.

Review of applications will begin on March 1, 2025, and will continue until the position is filled or the search is closed.

This position will be part of the Service Employees International Union.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 12/8/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15268

Western Carolina University

Rank: Director of African American Studies

Subfield(s): Open, American Government and Politics, Public Policy

Specializations: African American Politics, Social Movements, Urban Politics

Please go to our web page for the full advertisement: <https://jobs.wcu.edu/postings/29334>

Western Carolina University seeks a dynamic scholar at the assistant professor level in Global Black Studies (GBS) beginning in August 2025. The successful candidate will assume directorship of the program within one to three years of employment. This is a tenure track, nine-month position.

Program directors receive an administrative course release each semester. The successful candidate must demonstrate expertise centered in Black Studies and continue build the intellectual identity of the GBS program. The successful candidate must have a PhD in Black Studies or a related discipline with experience in Black Studies. The successful candidate must assure an exciting and collegial environment for faculty, students, and staff by fostering interdisciplinary campus, regional, and national collaboration and continue to shape the curriculum, mission, and community outreach of the program. The successful candidate must teach courses within the GBS program and within another department at WCU that is appropriate for their expertise.

The director's duties will include:

Teaching course(s) for student within and outside the minor that support the minor and other majors on campus and conducting research.

Continuing to develop curriculum appropriate for Global Black studies minor and facilitating the development of relevant courses across campus.

Convening a program board of faculty, students, and community members to guide the minor.

Encouraging students to participate in high impact practices related to the minor and engaging in Black Studies.

Recruiting and advising students in the minor.

Managing the program budget.

Developing and implementing an assessment plan for the minor.

Facilitating programming related to GBS, including on campus speakers.

Serve as faculty advisor for the Global Black Studies Club.

Other duties that may arise to support the program.

The director will collaborate with department heads, the deans, and work with a board of interested faculty, students, and community members who will aid in supporting, developing, and promoting programming.

Western Carolina University holds inclusive excellence as a core value, and we work together to foster a welcoming community, where all are respected and know they belong.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 11/8/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15172

University of Texas, Arlington

Rank: Assistant Professor - Artificial Intelligence in the Liberal Arts

The College of Liberal Arts, at the University of Texas at Arlington, a Carnegie Research I institution, invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor working at the intersection of the arts and humanities with artificial intelligence and emerging technologies, beginning in fall 2025. Candidates must have a terminal degree in an academic field housed in a department in the College of Liberal Arts (see listing of departments below).

Broadly, the committee is seeking candidates who will work in one or more of the following areas:

Using AI in Teaching / Pedagogy—AI is becoming an essential tool in the classroom, allowing for personalized learning experiences and new forms of creative expression.

Teaching AI Tools—Students must develop a strong understanding of AI technologies, such as large language models and generative AI, to succeed in an increasingly AI-driven world. Teaching communication technology, multilingual AI, and algorithmic bias helps prepare students to navigate AI's complexities across industries.

Using AI to Conduct Research—AI has become a powerful tool for conducting research, particularly in social sciences, communication, and public policy. Researchers use AI to analyze vast datasets, investigate human decision-making processes, and explore how emerging digital media and AI systems shape society.

Examining How AI is Changing the Liberal Arts—AI is reshaping the very fields we study, transforming empathy, communication, and creativity. Broader discussions on AI futures, automation, and agency will push scholars to examine how technology redefines prosperity, power, and human agency.

Ethics and Impact of AI—The ethical and societal impact of AI is at the forefront of its adoption, raising critical questions about bias, privacy, and regulation. AI ethics touches on public trust, the potential for algorithmic discrimination, and the need for ethical AI regulation to protect individuals and communities. As AI continues to shape human decision-making and public policy, understanding its philosophical and societal implications is crucial for navigating the evolving technological landscape.

The committee is especially interested in research that develops new, expansive, and creative approaches to understanding, using, and interpreting ML, AI and emerging technologies within the mission of the college, and in candidates. Candidates whose scholarship encourages valuable critical debate around AI and emerging technologies are highly encouraged.

Sample areas of research and teaching may include, but are not limited to:

AI at Work

AI Ethics

AI in Campaigns, Elections, and Policymaking

Digital Media and Emerging Communication Technologies

Computational Communication Studies

AI Regulation

Human-AI Interaction

Philosophy of AI

Societal Impact of AI
 AI Futures
 AI in the Visual Arts
 AI in the Performing Arts
 AI-First Creative Works
 Large Language Models and Generative AI
 Multilingual and Multicultural AI
 AI and Language Learning
 AI and Algorithmic Bias

The successful candidate will contribute to the research and teaching goals of their home department as well as working in an interdisciplinary way—collaboratively researching, authoring, teaching and presenting across disciplines both within the College and across campus. Additionally, the candidate will be a leader dedicated to fostering a research and teaching environment that advances AI and emerging technologies across the College of Liberal Arts. A new assistant professor in liberal arts is expected to actively seek funding opportunities from varying sources, including governmental agencies, foundations, and private donors.

Start Date: Fall 2025
Application Deadline: 12/1/2024
Date Posted: 10/31/2024
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 15132

Fudan University

Rank: Distinguished Professors/Associate Professor/Senior Lecturer

Areas Expertise: Open for all candidates who have expertise in computational political science, computational social sciences, AI for social research with strong publication records.

Job Summary: Fudan Institute for Advanced Study in Social Sciences (Fudan IAS) is seeking applicants for the full-time positions at the top rank of Distinguished Professors/Associate Professor/Senior Lecturer at Fudan University, Shanghai. The position is Open for all candidates who have expertise in computational political science, computational social sciences, AI for social research with strong publication records. The position is open till filled, and the employment starts at any time. The disciplines are open for political Science, economics, and sociology. Applicants should demonstrate strong publication records and their potentials to continue their scholarship during their tenure, and employ rigorous research methods, either quantitative or qualitative, to address important theoretical questions in the fields, and well recognized as leading scholars in the fields of their research. Applicants are expected to continue publishing research on highly reputable international journals (SSCI, AHCI, SCI, and CSSCI), and contribute to the annual research projects at Fudan IAS and to the disciplinary development at Fudan University. Applicants must have the ability to communicate fluently both in English and in Mandarin Chinese.

Institution background: Fudan University is an internationally recognized influential academic institution, one of China's top universities, ranking 3rd in the country and 43rd in QS World University Ranking. Fudan IAS is a comprehensive and cross-disciplinary research institute, with 10 full time research fellows at different academic ranks from junior to distinguished professorship. The institute is an important platform for interdisciplinary integration in the social sciences, recruiting outstanding research fellows, hosting visits of world-renowned scholars, and engaging in international scholarly exchange. The Contemporary China Research Center at Fudan University is created by and housed at the Fudan IAS. The two international journals, Fudan Journal of the Humanities and Social Sciences and Chinese Political Science Review's editorial offices are housed at the Fudan IAS and published by the prestigious Springer-Nature Press.

Application documents (all in English):

1. A cover letter;
3. A brief statement of research interest and agenda;
4. Two published journal articles in PDF;
2. An extensive/detailed curriculum vitae; including honors and awards in disciplines, list of publications, information of three references. Letters of recommendation may be requested.

We will arrange on-site interviews at Fudan IAS or other forms of interviews such as Skype and Zoom.

Contact: Please put the intended rank/position in the subject line of email, and send your application documents to the hiring committee at ias_fudan@126.com

Start Date:
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/23/2024
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 14923

Fudan University

Rank: Post-doctoral fellows

Subfield: Political Science, Economics, Sociology

Job Summary: Fudan Institute for Advanced Study in Social Sciences (Fudan IAS) is seeking applicants for the full-time "Post-doc fellows" at Fudan University, Shanghai. The position is open for all candidates who have expertise in computational political science, computational social sciences, AI for social research with strong publication records. The position is open till filled, and the employment starts at any time. The disciplines are open for political Science, economics, and sociology. Applicants should demonstrate strong potentials to publish their research on highly reputable international journals (SSCI, AHCI, SCI, and CSSCI). They should employ rigorous research methods, either quantitative or qualitative, to address important theoretical questions in the field. Applicants must have the ability to communicate fluently both in English and in Mandarin Chinese.

Institution background: Fudan University is an internationally recognized influential academic institution, one of China's top universities, ranking 3rd in the country and 43rd in QS World University Ranking. Fudan IAS is a comprehensive and cross-disciplinary research institute, with 10 full time research fellows at different academic ranks from junior to distinguished professorship. The institute is an important platform for interdisciplinary integration in the social sciences, recruiting outstanding research fellows, hosting visits of world-renowned scholars, and engaging in international scholarly exchange. The Contemporary China Research Center at Fudan University is created by and housed at the Fudan IAS. The two international journals, Fudan Journal of the Humanities and Social Sciences and Chinese Political Science Review's editorial offices are housed at the Fudan IAS and published by the prestigious Springer-Nature Press. The journals are both included in the Emerging Sources Citation Index (ESCI), a new index in the Web of Science Core Collection of Clarivate Analytics (formerly Thomson Reuters).

Application documents (all in English):

1. A cover letter;
2. An extensive curriculum vitae; including a publication list and information of three references.
3. A statement of research interest and agenda;
4. 1-2 published articles/writing samples;

We will arrange on-site interviews at Fudan IAS or other forms of interviews such as Skype and Zoom.

Contact: Please put the intended position in the subject line of email, and send your application documents to the hiring committee at ias_fudan@126.com

Start Date: Spring
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/23/2024
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 14924

Hampden-Sydney College

Rank: Assistant Professor: Political Theory

Specializations: Political Philosophy & Theory, Political Theory, Political Thought: Historical

The Department of Government and Foreign Affairs at Hampden-Sydney College invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track appointment at the rank of Assistant Professor to begin in Fall 2025. Candidates should have expertise in political theory and the ability to offer courses in classical, early modern, and modern political theory. The successful candidate will teach Western Culture in the College's Core Cultures program and may participate in the Rhetoric program. Faculty teach in a 6-6-7 course rotation with six courses per year for two years and seven courses in the third year.

Hampden-Sydney College highly values the teacher/scholar model. Successful applicants will have a record of effective classroom teaching, a commitment to scholarly productivity, and a willingness to work with colleagues on professional service responsibilities. Applicants should have a Ph.D. in political science or a comparable degree by the time of appointment. ABDs near completion may also be considered.

Please submit a letter of application, curriculum vitae, teaching statement, research statement, and three letters of reference to Dr. Celia Carroll-Jones, Chair, Department of Government and Foreign Affairs, Hampden-Sydney College via Interfolio: <http://apply.interfolio.com/147324>. Review of applications will begin in early fall and continue until the position is filled.

Hampden-Sydney College is a selective liberal arts institution enrolling approximately 1000 students. Founded in 1775, it is the tenth oldest institution of higher learning in the United States. Hampden-Sydney is one of three liberal arts colleges in the United States dedicated to the education of men. Our mission is to educate "good men and good citizens in an atmosphere of sound learning."

Our beautiful 1300-acre campus is less than 7 miles from downtown Farmville, home to Longwood University and the Moton Museum, which is listed on the U.S. Civil Rights Trail. The campus is located 65 miles west of Richmond, 50 miles east of Lynchburg, and 75 miles south of Charlottesville, providing abundant cultural, recreational and artistic resources. As a community, we are dedicated to the goal of building a culturally diverse faculty committed to working in a multicultural environment and strongly encourage applications from women and minoritized groups. Hampden-Sydney College values diversity, prohibits discrimination, and is committed to equal opportunity for all employees and applicants for employment.

Start Date: Fall 2025
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 5/25/2024
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 14369

OTHER

Georgia Institute of Technology

Rank: Assistant Professor in Comparative Politics and Sustainability

Specializations: Africa, Environmental Policy, Political Economy

The Sam Nunn School of International Affairs at Georgia Tech invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position in Comparative Politics with a focus on environmental sustainability with a preference for regional expertise in Asian (especially Japan or India) or African regional politics. Scholars are strongly encouraged to apply who bring a comparative political perspective to issues such as energy, the environment, natural resource management or infrastructure resilience. The start date for the position could be either August 2025 or August 2026. Applicants should show promise or evidence of outstanding scholarly achievement, exceptional commitment to teaching at the undergraduate and graduate levels and have an interest in contributing to the advancement of the intellectual community and related outreach efforts. The position will contribute to enhancing the Nunn School's programming in areas of growing interest across campus such as the UN Sustainable Development Goals, resilience, peace engineering, environmental security, and innovation. Candidates are expected to demonstrate an exceptional commitment to the teaching and mentoring of students.

To apply, go to <https://hr.gatech.edu/careers/> and search for Job Opening ID: 283136
 Posting Title: Assistant Professor

Start Date:
Date Posted: 3/23/2025
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 15527

West Virginia University

Rank: Teaching Assistant Professor

The Department of Political Science at West Virginia University invites applications for a Teaching Assistant Professor with a specialization in National Security and Intelligence Analysis starting August 16, 2025. This is a 9-month, full-time, position with full benefits. Teaching Assistant Professor appointments have renewable terms of up to three years, with no limit on the number of terms. These positions are eligible for promotion (e.g., Teaching Assistant Professor to Teaching Associate Professor, etc.); however, promotion to senior ranks is not a requirement for institutional commitment and career stability. The teaching load is four courses or course equivalents per semester.

The Department of Political Science offers a full range of academic programs (B.A., M.A., and Ph.D.) and has 16 full-time faculty, 36 graduate students, and about 400 undergraduates, a majority of whom are in the Pre-Law Area of Emphasis. The department faculty are active in research on American and state politics, class politics, comparative elections, computational methods, conflict analysis, congressional politics, contentious politics, International Relations, political and economic inequality, public opinion, public policy, racial and ethnic politics, religion and politics, representation, and state courts. The department's methodologically rigorous doctoral program offers fields in American politics, comparative politics, international politics, and public policy. Additionally, the department houses the International Studies Program, which is an interdisciplinary undergraduate major focusing on national security, diplomacy, and development.

Professional Qualifications

- 1) A Ph.D. or equivalent doctoral degree in Political Science or a related field OR a Master's Degree in Political Science or related field is required.
- 2) 10 years of professional experience working in national intelligence, national security, or foreign policy and/or defense policy is required.

In addition, the successful applicant must show: 1) evidence of or strong potential to teach undergraduate courses that may include: International Studies, Introduction to Intelligence Analysis, Intelligence Analysis Methods, National Security; 2) evidence of or the potential to advise students and student success initiatives; 3) excellent written and oral communication skills; and 4) excellent interpersonal skills.

Responsibilities

We seek an outstanding and dedicated educator who will be responsible for teaching courses in Political Science and International Studies. The successful applicant may teach courses in: Introduction to Intelligence Analysis, Intelligence Analysis Methods, National Security, and additional relevant courses in the candidate's area of expertise. Additionally, the candidate will be responsible for the Open-Source Intelligence Exchange (OSIX) Lab and other experiential learning opportunities related to Political Science and International Studies. The applicant must maintain working relationships with the intelligence, foreign policy, and/or defense policy communities to draw insights, skills, and connections to facilitate student research and analysis to real-world application. The candidate will also contribute to advising and recruitment efforts in the Department and provide high-quality mentorship to undergraduate students. The teaching load is 4 courses or course equivalents per semester.

Application:

To apply, please visit WVU Careers. Upload the following: 1) a curriculum vitae; 2) an application letter that discusses experience in the classroom (as an instructor or GTA); 3) teaching statement; 4) unofficial transcript; 5) and any student evaluation of instruction or external evaluation of instruction.

The screening process will begin April 30, 2025, and continue until the position is filled. For more information, please visit (https:// politicalscience.wvu.edu/) or contact the chair of the search committee, Dr. John Kilwein (John.Kilwein@mail.wvu.edu).

Morgantown, WV is a growing university city. The area offers abundant outdoor recreation and the cultural opportunities of a college town. It is within easy driving distance of Pittsburgh, PA (70 mi) and is within a day's driving distance to Washington DC and Columbus, OH (200 mi). West Virginia University is a place of purpose and community. We take pride in our profound impact on the state of West Virginia and are committed to the personal and professional growth of our employees. From the groundbreaking R1 research at our flagship campus in Morgantown to the career-oriented programs at WVU Potomac State in Keyser, and the technology-intensive programs at WVU Tech in Beckley, the contributions of WVU employees resonate across the state, touching lives and shaping futures. At WVU, you will discover a supportive community that champions work-life balance and fosters a collaborative atmosphere. Our core values — service, curiosity, respect, accountability and appreciation — unite us as Mountaineers. Join us at West Virginia University, where your work will make a lasting impact. To learn more about WVU, visit wvu.edu.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 4/21/2025

Date Posted: 3/21/2025

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 15525

Loyola University, Chicago

Rank: Paul and Ann Rubino Endowed Professorship (Assistant Professor of Italian American Studies), Tenure Track

The College of Arts and Sciences at Loyola University Chicago seeks qualified candidates, discipline open, for a tenure-track appointment at the assistant professor level for the Paul and Ann Rubino Endowed Professorship of Italian American Studies beginning Fall 2025. We seek candidates with strong research and teaching profiles in Italian American Studies who can contribute to the College's undergraduate and graduate programs. The tenure home of the successful candidate will be determined by the doctoral discipline of the candidate, with possibilities including the departments of English, History, Modern Languages and Literatures, Philosophy, Political Science, Psychology, Sociology, and Theology.

The Rubino Professorship includes funds to coordinate an annual fall guest lecture by a visiting scholar in Italian American Studies, support student activities in Italian American Studies throughout the academic year, and direct student research, including during the summer as part of the College's Undergraduate Summer Research Experience (USRE) program. The successful candidate will be joining a College of Arts and Sciences that has over 450 full-time faculty, nearly 8,000 students, 20 academic departments, and 38 interdisciplinary programs and centers. For more information about the College of Arts and Sciences, please visit its website at <https://www.luc.edu/cas/>.

This search is part of a College-wide, multiyear hiring initiative to attract outstanding researchers and teachers who are reflective of our diverse student body, committed to interdisciplinarity, dedicated to the pursuit of external grants, and appreciative of a Jesuit, Catholic education. As a University that is situated in the world-class, multicultural City of Chicago with a vibrant Italian American community and dedicated to mentoring a diverse student body, many of whom come from underrepresented and underserved populations, we especially encourage applications from candidates from underrepresented groups.

The position involves teaching undergraduate courses as well as graduate courses, depending on whether the home academic department has an M.A. and/or Ph.D. program. The candidate will be expected to teach courses focused on the Italian American experience for at least 50% of their teaching load as well as general courses within their discipline. The successful candidate will pursue a strong program of research and publication within Italian American Studies, including the pursuit of external grants. They will engage in service at the department level or above and be active in the Italian American community.

The candidate will have a Ph.D. at the time of appointment within one of the following disciplines: English, History, Modern Languages and Literatures, Philosophy, Political Science, Psychology, Sociology, or Theology. Their research and teaching must be solidly within Italian American Studies. Candidates for the position must demonstrate clear potential for excellence in research and publication and teaching, obtaining external funding, and student mentorship. The candidate must be willing to support the mission of Loyola University Chicago and the goals of a Jesuit, Catholic education.

Review will begin March 28, 2025. Further details and access to the submission site can be found at: <https://www.careers.luc.edu/postings/31077>.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 3/19/2025

Salary: $80,000 - $89,999

eJobs ID: 15519

Johns Hopkins University

Rank: Research Scientist

The Net Zero Industrial Policy Lab at Johns Hopkins is looking for an industrial policy lead or senior fellow to drive policy research and engagement for the lab.

The lab seeks to produce the world-leading academic research and timely policy analysis needed to grapple with geopolitics and political economy of the energy transition. It combines the technical analysis of net-zero supply chains with the study of net-zero industrial policies to catalyze strategic collaborations between government and industry. The lab operates as more than an academic research unit—it works closely with partners from industry and government to develop solutions in real-time. The lab works across sectors with projects in critical minerals, hydrogen, steel, aluminum, biofuels, renewables, and other clean energy supply chains.

The lab is embarking on a multi-year project to support the development of smart green industrial policies in multiple countries. In this project, we will map the global industrial base for clean energy technology and assess each country's capacity to produce the natural resources and technologies needed to build a net zero world economy. We will then look at countries' potential in a prospective analysis of where various countries could contribute to a net zero future. This methodology will produce a picture of each country's current capacities and future capabilities. This provides a rigorous, highly detailed analytical base for the formulation of foreign, trade, industrial, and supply chain policy. We need a top-level candidate to translate the results of a complex global modeling exercise into policy designs in both developed and developing countries.

The industrial policy lead at the Net Zero Industrial Policy Lab will work closely with co-directors Bentley Allan and Tim Sahay. The successful candidate will lead engagement and outreach activities in key countries to advance smart industrial policy. They will work with partners to advance and influence policy development and the formation of clean energy supply chains. They will co-author academic publications, policy reports, and briefs. They will manage a small team to deliver on ambitious and important projects on clear deadlines.

This is a full-time position with benefits on a three-year renewable contract. Remote work is an option, with a commitment to spend 4 weeks per year in the Baltimore-Washington DC region.

Duties:

Research (40%)

- Work with the co-directors to lead industrial policy research. This work will be focused on identifying areas of green competitive advantage in priority countries and designing smart industrial policies in those areas.
- Co-author briefs, policy reports, and peer-reviewed academic papers.
- Co-author grants and funding proposals related to the industrial policy file.
- Develop research and engagement projects in collaboration with the co-directors and partners in industry, government, and civil society.

Engagement (40%)

- Build relationships with policy makers and civil society organizations in key countries.
- Engage with these partners, translating lab analysis into actionable insights and policy proposals.
- Design and facilitate webinars, workshops, and engagement sessions.
- Prepare slide decks and other briefing materials as needed.
- Work with KSAS to launch the lab's executive education program and offer two week-long courses per year.

Management (20%)

- Manage a small team (2-5 staff) to produce deliverables on deadlines.
- Lead on administrative work for this team.
 - o Liaise with Hopkins' administrative staff on grant administration, HR, facilities, and events as needed for the industrial policy team.
 - o Support the co-directors in hiring and training staff within the industrial policy team.

Qualifications

Ten years of government or industry experience or a PhD in a field related to industrial policy (political science, public policy, economics, sociology, or science and engineering). Experience leading a team and working with partners in industry and government will strengthen the application.

Application Instructions

To apply log on to Interfolio: <http://apply.interfolio.com/165118>. Candidates should upload a letter of application, and curriculum vitae.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 4/4/2025

Date Posted: 3/18/2025

Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 15513

Georgia Institute of Technology

Rank: Assistant Professor in International Security and Intelligence Studies

The Sam Nunn School of International Affairs (www.inta.gatech.edu) at the Georgia Institute of Technology invites applications for a tenure-track assistant professor position in International Security and Intelligence Studies, with possibility to start in August 2025 or 2026. The position is open to applicants employing any methodologies in their research and teaching, but applicants with research specializations in such areas as open-source intelligence analysis, technology and intelligence, tailored data/visual analytics, intelligence statecraft, geopolitics of intelligence policy, international/network security analysis, commercial threat intelligence, or strategic decision-making are especially encouraged to apply. A geographic area of specialization is welcomed but not necessary. Candidates with a proven record in conducting rigorous policy relevant research are encouraged to apply.

To apply, go to <https://hr.gatech.edu/careers/> and search for Job Opening ID: 283008
 Posting Title: Assistant Professor

Or directly via this link (system may prompt you to create an account first):

https://careers.hprod.onehcm.usg.edu/psp/careers/CAREERS/HRMS/c/HRS_HRAM_FL.HRS_CG_SEARCH_FL.GBL?Page=HRS_APP_JBPST_FL&Action=U&FOCUS=Applicant&SiteId=3000&JobOpeningId=283008&PostingSeq=1

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 3/14/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15510

Converge Government Affairs of Florida, Inc.

Rank: Social Scientists and Related Worker

Social Scientists & Rel Worker (MIA, FL)
 Plan/regional transportation. Present props. in pub meetings, gather fb, collab. w/ engs. Rec. sys. improv., dev. mods., analyze land use/ env. impacts, interpret GIS/traffic data. Design surveys., eval. costs, review plans, prep reps., perms. & env. docs. Assess laws, dev. transp. mods., design infra. upgs.

Min. 5 yrs exp. Mo. travel: Arg, Col, Mex.

Mail CV: Converge Gov Affairs FL, Inc., Attn: Mr. Bilbao, 3250 NE 1st Ave, Unit 203, Miami, FL 33137

Start Date:

Date Posted: 3/11/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15501

University College Dublin

Rank: 95 Lecturer/Asst Professor Above The Bar, UCD School of Politics and International Relations, Permanent

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Other

Lecturer/Assistant Professor, UCD School of Politics and International Relations, Permanent

Applications are invited for a permanent post of a Lecturer/Assistant Professor within UCD School of Politics and International Relations

The person(s) appointed will be expected to contribute significantly to research and teaching in their own area of specialisation within politics, international relations and/or development studies. The ability to teach in additional sub-fields is desirable. The principal motivation for these posts is to expand and deepen the School's research profile, to strengthen undergraduate teaching, to contribute to further expansion in graduate education (taught and research), to build additional international research networks and to contribute to a vibrant, collegial and ambitious group of scholars. In pursuit of its commitment to equality, diversity and inclusiveness, the School especially welcomes applications from women, minorities, and from around the globe.

95 Lecturer/Asst Professor Above The Bar (7943) Salary Scale: €64,112 - €101,524 Per Annum.

Appointment will be made on scale and in accordance with the Department of Finance guidelines.

Closing date: 12:00 noon (local Irish time) on the 7th of April 2025.

For a full Job Description and Information on How to Apply, follow the link below

https://my.corehr.com/pls/coreportal_ucdp/apply?id=018390

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 4/7/2025

Date Posted: 3/11/2025

Salary: $70,000 - $79,999

eJobs ID: 15499

Trinity College

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor of Public Policy and Law

Subfield(s): Public Law, American Government and Politics, Other

The Trinity College Public Policy and Law Program seeks applications for a visiting assistant professor in public law, law and society, or public policy. The teaching load is 5 courses a year and will include courses in the candidate's area of research expertise. We will prioritize candidates with the interest and ability to teach introductory law courses for liberal arts undergraduates. The ability to teach one or more of the following courses also would be valued: (1) an introduction to US public policy; (2) a research methods course incorporating quantitative and qualitative analysis skills; and/or (3) a seminar in which students apply learning from policy and law internships to crafting policy memos and op-eds.

Public Policy & Law is an interdisciplinary program in which undergraduates learn and practice methods and modes of thinking that help them understand and become actively engaged in legal and public policy issues. Our multidisciplinary, multi-method program introduces students to a broad range of analytical skills from the social sciences and humanities, including statistical analysis, legal argumentation, and close reading of texts. Our major offers continuous opportunities to apply learning through internships and community-engaged projects, with the aim of cultivating civic participants with the capacity to make well-informed, ethical decisions.

Trinity is a highly selective, independent, nonsectarian liberal arts institution located in the capital city of Hartford, Connecticut. The college maintains a rigorous academic profile complemented by a vibrant co-curricular program. With more than 2,100 full-time undergraduate students, representing forty-three states and ninety-one countries, we consider our location in a culturally and socioeconomically diverse capital city to be among Trinity's most distinctive assets; and we cultivate strong connections with our surrounding neighbors and with institutions and organizations throughout Hartford and the region. As a preeminent liberal arts college in an urban setting, Trinity College prepares students to be bold, independent thinkers who lead transformative lives.

Evidence of academic expertise and teaching effectiveness is required. A Ph.D. in Legal Studies, Public Policy, Sociology, Political Science or a related field should be in hand by August 2025. We will also consider candidates with a JD and experience that prepares them for undergraduate teaching. We encourage applicants who share our commitment to inclusive scholarship, teaching, and service that accounts for diverse identities and perspectives. We encourage applications from candidates from historically underrepresented backgrounds. The successful candidate will be eligible for research and conference travel funds.

Please submit the following materials: a CV; cover letter (describing research and teaching, including your approach to issues of diversity, equity and inclusion in your teaching, scholarship, or service); sample of scholarly or professional writing; course syllabi; course evaluations; a graduate transcript; and contact information for at least three individuals who will provide letters of reference. Applications will be reviewed on a rolling basis and those received by March 26, 2025 will receive full consideration.

<https://trincoll.peopleadmin.com/postings/3481>

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 3/26/2025

Date Posted: 3/7/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15493

Bucknell University

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor Of Environment, Politics, And Health

Visiting Assistant Professor Of Environment, Politics, And Health

R0000001309

Academic West Building

Position Title:

Visiting Assistant Professor of Environment, Politics, and Health

Position Type:

Full time

Location:

Academic West Building

Categories:

Faculty Exempt

Job Summary:

Job Duties:

The Departments of Environmental Studies & Sciences and Geography at Bucknell University invite applications for a Visiting Assistant Professor position to begin August, 2025. This is a one-year position with the possibility of renewal for a second year depending on departmental need and contingent on successful performance during the first year.

We seek a social scientist or humanist with expertise in the study of environment, politics, and health. We encourage applications from candidates who study these topics, and their intersections, from any issue area (i.e. food; resource extraction; pollution exposure; transportation; etc) and from any region of the world.

The successful candidate will show evidence of specialization in some of the following fields: environmental politics and policy; environmental justice; environmental health; environmental geography; sustainability; environmental studies; or a related field. They will also have the ability to direct students to think spatially and across disciplines about the environment, politics, and health. Ph.D. or ABD status is required by the start of the appointment.

Teaching load is three courses per semester. Teaching responsibilities include two sections of "Environmental Politics, Policy, and Justice"; two sections of "Environmental Health and Climate Change"; and two sections of a course in the candidate's area of expertise that complements our current departmental offerings in Environmental Studies & Sciences and Geography.

Evidence of teaching experience and excellence is required. The successful candidate will have a track record of active support for inclusive, innovative pedagogy.

APPLICATION INSTRUCTIONS

Applications must be submitted online via Bucknell's career site.

Applicants should submit a complete dossier including a letter of application; C.V.; a statement of teaching philosophy, a syllabus for an upper-level undergraduate seminar in the candidate's area of expertise; and a complete set of official teaching evaluations for up to three courses. Your application should establish your interest in working at a primarily undergraduate liberal arts institution. Include how your experiences, knowledge, skills, and/or past accomplishments will contribute to equitable and inclusive teaching, broadly defined as including classroom instruction, advising, mentoring, and other educational experiences. Candidates invited for a second-round interview will be asked to provide three letters of recommendation.

The committee will begin reviewing applications on March 24, 2025, and continue until the position is filled.

Questions about the position should be directed via email to the chair of the search committee, Dr. Andrew Stuhl at <mailto:ats011@bucknell.edu>.

Advertised:

2025-02-24

Benefits:

Eligible full- and part-time employees are compensated beyond base salary through our total rewards package that includes (but is not limited to):

- Flexible scheduling options determined by role;
- Medical, prescription drug, vision, dental, life, and long-term disability insurance options
- An outstanding 10% employer contribution to your retirement plan (no contribution requirement for non-exempt positions)
- Full-time and part-time members of the faculty and staff are eligible for tuition remission for themselves. Additionally, full-time members of the faculty and staff are eligible for tuition remission for their spouse/spousal equivalent and are eligible for various tuition programs for their children. Credit for full-time benefits eligible employment at other institutions of higher education will be applied to waiting periods.

- A comprehensive employee wellness program including program incentives
- A myriad of other benefits, including parental leave, an employee assistance program, fitness center membership, and the power of your Bucknell ID card

To learn more about Bucknell's benefits, click <https://www.bucknell.edu/azdirectory/human-resources/employee-benefits> (*Eligibility criteria and waiting periods may apply.)

Diversity, Equity & Inclusion:

Bucknell is committed to fostering an environment that embraces diversity, equity and inclusion, and seeks candidates who will contribute to a climate that supports the growth and development of a diverse campus community. We endeavor to enhance our capacity to value and capitalize on the cultural richness that diversity brings. We encourage all individuals to apply and do not discriminate in admissions, employment, educational programs and/or activities on the basis of race, color, national or ethnic origin, age, religion, disability, pregnancy, sex/gender, gender identity and/or expression, sexual orientation, marital or family status, military or veteran status, or genetic information.

E-Verify

Bucknell University participates with the United States Customs and Immigration Services (USCIS) E-Verify program. We will provide the federal government with your Form I-9 information to confirm that you are authorized to work in the U.S.

For additional information regarding Bucknell's E-Verify requirements, please contact the office of Talent, Culture & Human Resources (570) 577-1631 or email hr@bucknell.edu. <https://www.e-verify.gov/employers/employer-resources?resource=32> (sharing the link to the posters, which are also attached)

To apply, visit <https://apptkr.com/6045774>.

Copyright ©2024 Jobelephant.com Inc. All rights reserved.

<https://www.jobelephant.com/>

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 3/5/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15485

University of Alabama in Huntsville

Rank: Eminent Scholar in Global Studies

DEPARTMENT: Accounting, Economics, and Finance

RANK: Eminent Scholar and Professor

ABOUT THE POSITION: The College of Business at The University of Alabama in Huntsville invites applications for the position of Sawan Eminent Scholar in Global Studies at the rank of Associate Professor or Professor. We seek applicants who welcome the challenges and rewards of serving as part of a collaborative and intellectually curious faculty of a growing college located in a dynamic and supportive high-tech community.

Responsibilities: Conduct and publish high-quality scholarly research in a collegial environment where both intra- and inter-disciplinary collaborations are valued. Effectively teach courses in economics and business in graduate and undergraduate programs in face-to-face or online modes as needed by the college. Participate in the profession, university service, and outreach to the local community. In addition to a strong commitment to work with the local industry and government agencies, the successful candidate will be expected to mentor graduate students and junior faculty.

Qualifications: A Ph.D. in economics or a related business discipline is required. A Ph.D. from an AACSB accredited institution is preferred. Demonstrated success in teaching courses at the bachelor's and master's levels in an AACSB accredited business school is required. The Sawan Eminent Scholar in Global Studies must have a strong academic reputation and a distinguished research record of publications in high-quality journals that meet the college's standards for appointment at the rank of Associate Professor or Professor. Research or active professional engagement relevant to the U.S. and India with emphasis on the Indian State of Punjab and the ability to teach courses offered in the college's undergraduate and graduate programs are preferred. We also prefer candidates who have teaching interests in multiple areas of economics and business, a commitment to excellence in graduate and undergraduate education, the ability to mentor graduate students and junior faculty, and the potential to expand student interest and engagement in economics and international business.

APPOINTMENT DATE: Fall 2025

ABOUT THE COLLEGE: The College of Business is accredited by AACSB International and has approximately 35 tenured, tenure-track, and clinical faculty, 30 part-time faculty, 1,050 undergraduate students, and 350 graduate students. The college offers a BSBA degree with majors in accounting, analytics, finance, information systems, management, and marketing; a BS degree in economics and computational analysis; and six graduate degrees: an MBA, and specialized master's degrees in business analytics, cybersecurity, human resource management, information systems, as well as supply chain management. UAH has been ranked by the NSF in recent years among the top 10 in the nation for federal funding of research in management and economics. The college hosts two centers and one office that provide outreach, service, and engagement with the greater community. The Center for Management and Economics Research, Small Business Development Center, and Apex Accelerator, and Office of Professional and Continuing Education serve individuals, businesses, and organizations in the community and throughout the U.S. with business consulting and non-degree educational services. For detailed information about the college and its programs, please visit uah.edu/business.

ABOUT THE UNIVERSITY: Founded in 1969, The University of Alabama in Huntsville is one of America's premier doctoral-granting, comprehensive universities known for addressing some of the world's most critical technological challenges. UAH, a part of the University of Alabama System, offers an environment where students are able to explore, discover, create, and communicate knowledge. With eight colleges, more than 100 areas of study, and 17 high-tech research centers, UAH is a Carnegie R1 top-tier research university. Located in the heart of the Technology Hub of the South, UAH serves as the anchor tenant of the second-largest research park in the United States, Cummings Research Park. UAH boasts storied partnerships with Redstone Arsenal, NASA, and the Department of Homeland Defense. The institution is a member of the Gulf South athletic conference.

UAH is where technology and human understanding converge to prepare students to transform their future. Learn more at uah.edu.

ABOUT HUNTSVILLE: Among other accolades, Huntsville has been rated in the Top 10 Best Places to Live by U.S. News & World Report over the last five years. Defense, space, telecommunications, biotechnology, diversified manufacturing, and a variety of emerging specialties contribute to the vibrant economy of Huntsville, also known as the Rocket City. The area enjoys a favorable cost of living, highly rated schools, excellent healthcare, and an outstanding overall quality of life in the Southeast. Huntsville is the largest city in Alabama and is the major urban hub serving more than 1.2 million people who reside in the North Alabama region. From outdoor recreational activities to a thriving arts and entertainment community, Huntsville contributes to a wonderful way to live, work, and play. Learn more at huntsville.org.

APPLICATION PROCEDURE AND DEADLINE: Applicants must submit the following via email to the search committee at esgssearch@uah.edu: a letter of interest, a curriculum vita, evidence of teaching effectiveness, a representative sample of recent research work, and identification of three references. Up-to-date letters of recommendation and official transcripts of terminal degree work will be required for finalists. Review of candidates will begin March 15, 2025. Applications will continue to be accepted until the position is filled.

Please refer to log number: 25-26-138

The University of Alabama in Huntsville is an affirmative action/equal opportunity employer of minorities/females/veterans/disabled.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 2/27/2025

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 15469

University of Central Florida

Rank: Assistant Professor in Cyber Security and Privacy

Subfield(s): Other, American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics

Specializations: International Security, Science & Technology, Research Methods

The Opportunity

The University of Central Florida (UCF) recently established nine interdisciplinary clusters to strengthen its academic offerings and research mission. In support of this effort, we are recruiting faculty in the broad area of cyber security and privacy, from a policy or social science perspective, and plan to hire a 9-month, tenure-earning assistant professor for this cluster. This position has an anticipated start date of August 8, 2025.

The Cybersecurity and Privacy Cluster is an interdisciplinary initiative, bringing together researchers from across the campus and working on addressing the pressing questions of our national security from engineering, science, and social perspectives. The cluster currently has 15 members, collectively advising more than 57+ doctoral students, and embracing a strong culture of collaboration and teamwork. This cluster runs various well-funded programs, has developed and implemented a new interdisciplinary M.S. in Cybersecurity and Privacy, is a recipient of the prestigious National Science Foundation Scholarship of Service Program, and has National Security Agency Center of Academic Excellence in Research (CAE-R) and in Cyber Defense (CAE-CD) designations.

This is an interdisciplinary position that will be expected to strengthen both the cluster and a chosen tenure home department and may include a combination of joint appointments. A strong advantage of this position is the ability of the candidate to choose a combination of units from the cluster for their own appointment. See <https://www.ucf.edu/research/cyber-security-privacy/> for a complete list of all the units involved. Both individual and interdisciplinary infrastructure and startup support will be provided with the new position.

The ideal candidate will have a strong background in cyber security and privacy and be on an upward leadership trajectory in these areas. They will have research impact as reflected in high-quality publications and the ability to build a well-funded research program. In particular, we are looking for a team player who can help bring together current campus efforts in cyber security or privacy, and someone who will work at the intersection of several areas addressing the intersection of the technical aspects of cyber security and privacy within the social sciences with a focus on one or more of the following topics: a) networked privacy; b) security/privacy issues of artificial intelligence (AI) applications; c) organizational issues of cyber security and privacy; d) cybercrimes; e) cyberwarfare; f) cyber security and intelligence; g) cyber security, privacy, and mis-information; h) politics of space and cybersecurity; i) political and behavioral issues in cyber-security; j) law, governance, and regulation related to privacy and cybersecurity; and k) simulation and modeling for cyber systems. With this in mind, we anticipate the selected candidate will be tenure-earning in one of, but not limited to, the following units: School of Modeling, Simulation, and Training (SMST); and the School of Politics, Security, and International Affairs (SPSIA).

The School of Politics, Security, and International Affairs (SPSIA) is a school in the College of Science and offers graduate programs in security studies (Ph.D.) and political science (M.A.) as well as certificate programs in Survey, Network Analysis and Intelligence and National Security. SPSIA strives to provide excellence in research and teaching at all levels of higher education to prepare a diverse student body for career and life success as engaged citizens. The school is the home to five centers that are nationally recognized (The India Center, The Kurdish Program, The Lou Fry Institute, The Center for Global Economic and Environmental Opportunity). More information is available at: <https://sciences.ucf.edu/politics/>

The School of Modeling, Simulation, and Training (SMST) is a vibrant school under the College of Engineering and Computer Science that offers interdisciplinary graduate programs in Modeling and Simulation, Behavioral Cyber Security, and Digital Twins. Our academic programs are among the most recognized in the U.S. and internationally with 25 years of history in graduate education. SMST faculty maintain active cutting-edge research programs in Modeling and Simulation, and Digital Twins. More information is available at: <https://www.cecs.ucf.edu/smsst/>

Minimum Qualifications:

A Ph.D., terminal degree, or foreign degree equivalent from an accredited institution in an area appropriate to the cluster at the time of the appointment. Ph.D. candidates with an ABD status will be considered for the opening, subject to obtaining their degree before the start date. Applicants must demonstrate a record of publications and a clear vision for future research plans.

Preferred Qualifications:

- A history of working with teams, especially that span multiple disciplines
- A demonstrated record of high-quality publications in topics related to the focus topics listed above.
- A promising research agenda that reflects theoretical creativity and empirical sophistication. Prior experience in proposal writing is a plus.
- A record of, or potential for, external research funding as appropriate for the discipline and tenure-home
- Prior teaching experience or the capacity to teach courses related to cyber-security, privacy and their behavioral/political aspects.
- Prior experience of teaching, or the capacity to teach, qualitative and/or quantitative research methods at the graduate or undergraduate levels.
- The willingness to teach in different modalities including face-to-face and online.
- Can contribute to the graduate programs related to the tenure School and the Cyber Security and Privacy cluster.

Additional Application Materials Required:

UCF requires all applications and supporting documents be submitted electronically through the Human Resources employment opportunities website, <https://www.ucf.edu/jobs/>. In addition to the online application, candidates should upload:

- 1) A cover letter
- 2) A curriculum vitae
- 3) A statement of research plans and goals
- 4) A statement of teaching philosophy including any experience/familiarity with student-centered learning approaches
- 5) Reprints of 2-3 recent key publications.

In the research statement candidates should include descriptions of their successful interdisciplinary research collaborations and how their current and future research can contribute to the cluster's overall interdisciplinary objectives. In the cover letter, candidates should address their background in one or more of the areas listed above, as appropriate.

The selected candidate will be required to submit official transcripts (and, as applicable, U.S. degree equivalency evaluations) documenting the conferral of their qualifying academic credentials.

NOTE: Please have all documents ready when applying so they can be simultaneously uploaded. Once the online submission process is finalized, the system does not allow applicants to submit additional documents later.

Questions regarding this search can be directed to Nayade Ramirez (Nayade.Ramirez@ucf.edu) or Dr. Cliff Zou at Changchun.Zou@ucf.edu.

Special Instructions to the Applicants: N/A

Job Close Date: Open until filled

Note to applicants: Please keep in mind that a job posted as 'Open until filled' may close at any time without notice. As such, we encourage you to submit your application and all required documentation as quickly as possible to ensure consideration for the posted position.

Are you ready to unleash YOUR potential?

As a next-generation public research university and Forbes-ranked top employer in Florida, we are a community of thinkers, doers, creators, innovators, healers, and leaders striving to create broader prosperity and help shape a better future. No matter what your role is, when you join Knight Nation, you'll play an integral role at one of the most impactful universities in the country. You'll be met with opportunities to connect and collaborate with talented faculty, staff, and students across 13 colleges and multiple campuses, engaging in impactful work that makes a positive difference. Your time at UCF will provide you with many meaningful opportunities to grow, you'll work alongside talented colleagues on complex projects that will challenge you and help you gain new skills and you'll have countless rewarding experiences that go well beyond a paycheck.

Working at UCF has its perks! UCF offers:

- Benefit packages, including Medical, Dental, Vision, Life Insurance, Flexible Spending, and Employee Assistance Program.?
- Paid time off, including annual (12-month faculty) and sick time off and paid holidays.
- Retirement savings options.?
- Employee discounts, including tickets to many Orlando attractions.?
- Education assistance.
- Flexible work environment.?
- And more... For more benefits information, view the UCF Employee Benefits Guide click here.

Unless explicitly stated on the job posting, it is UCF's expectation that an employee of UCF will reside in Florida as of the date the employment begins.

Additional Requirements related to Research Positions:

Pursuant to Florida State Statute 1010.35, prior to offering employment to certain individuals in research-related positions, UCF is required to conduct additional screening. Applicants subject to additional screening include any citizen of a foreign country who is not a permanent resident of the U.S., or who is a citizen or permanent resident but is affiliated with or has had at least 1 year of education, employment, or training in China, Cuba, Iran, Russia, North Korea, Syria, or Venezuela.

The additional screening requirements only apply to research-related positions, including, but not limited to faculty, graduate positions, individuals compensated by research grants or contract funds, postdoctoral positions, undergraduate positions, visiting assistant professors, and visiting research associates.

Department: Office Of Research, Research Centers & Institutes, College Of Graduate Studies, And Burnett Honors College HR Business Center

Work Schedule: Varies

Type of Appointment: Regular

Expected Salary: Negotiable

Equal Employment Opportunity Statement:

The University of Central Florida is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer including Disabled/Vets. Click on UCF's Equal Opportunity Statement to view the President's Statement.

The UCF affirmative action plans for qualified individuals with disabilities and protected Veterans are available for inspection in the Office of Institutional Equity, Monday through Friday, from 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m., upon request.

As a Florida public university, UCF makes all application materials and selection procedures available to the public upon request.

The University of Central Florida is proud to be a smoke-free campus and an E-Verify employer.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 2/18/2025

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 15440

Hertie School – the University of Governance in Berlin

Rank: Full Professor of Military Strategy and Technology (gn)

Subfield(s): International Relations, Public Policy, Other

The Hertie School,

the University of Governance in Berlin,

is recruiting a

Full Professor of Military Strategy and Technology (gn)

The Hertie School is recruiting an exceptional scholar to fill a vacancy in Military Strategy and Technology. The position is full-time. We expect as a starting date summer 2025.

Applicants must hold a doctoral degree in History, Political Science or International Relations, alongside an excellent record in research and teaching. An ideal candidate will be in the position to teach classes on military operations, military technology, military strategy and defence-industrial production; have an outstanding record of publications in the most selective journals, with demonstrated academic and policy impact; and have a proven record in carrying out both qualitative and quantitative research. Particularly welcome to apply are applicants with a track record of interdisciplinary research who can teach and write on technical topics, including sensing technologies and signal processing in war, modern production methods such as advances in material sciences and mechanical engineering, as well as technological competition in both the commercial and the defence industry. Past collaborations with engineers and scientists are considered a plus.

Candidates are expected to show full commitment to working in an interdisciplinary, international environment with English as the language of instruction and operation. The professor will initially be on a three-year fixed-term contract with the possibility of renewal. If the position is renewed, a tenure review would be expected under the next contract.

As a private non-profit university, endowed and supported by the Hertie Foundation, the Hertie School offers an internationally competitive salary as well as a paid sabbatical after every five semesters. We provide excellent working conditions with outstanding financial and administrative support for research. The Hertie School is fully embedded in Berlin's vibrant research landscape and has close ties to the top institutions of the European and international teaching and research community.

The Hertie School is a diverse, international, and lively community located in the heart of Berlin. We welcome all applications – irrespective of gender, nationality, ethnic or social origin, religion, disability, age, or sexual orientation. The Hertie School expressly encourages women and/or persons from ethnic groups underrepresented in German academia to apply. Equally qualified applicants with disabilities will be given preference. The Hertie School is a certified family friendly university. Under German law, there is standard paid leave for parents after the birth or adoption of a child.

The deadline for the submission of applications is 19 March 2025. Applications are accepted via the online application tool only: <http://apply.interfolio.com/163523>. The Hertie School will review applications that include a letter of motivation, a curriculum vitae (including publication list, degrees earned, positions held, teaching experience, research projects, awards received), two writing samples, a diversity statement, and two recent teaching evaluations, if applicable.

For questions about the position, please contact Professor Marina Henke (henke@hertie-school.org). Strict confidentiality in the application process is assured. The Hertie School is an equal opportunity employer.

Start Date: Summer 2025

Application Deadline: 3/19/2025

Date Posted: 2/13/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15421

New York University Abu Dhabi

Rank: Post-Doctoral Associate in the Division of Social Science [Post-Doc Research] - Dr. Christopher Paik

We are inviting applications for a Post-doctoral Associate in the Division of Social Science at NYU Abu Dhabi from individuals who have or will soon receive a PhD in one of the social sciences or a related discipline. The appointment will begin September 1, 2025, subject to final budget approval and is available for up to three years.

The post-doctoral associate will spend half their time on independent research, and half their time on collaborative research with Professor Christopher Paik. The collaborative research will focus on statehood, state capacity, or development in a historical context. As such, a candidate with a background in any of the following fields should apply: economic history, cultural economics, global historical sociology, historical political economy and comparative politics. Within these fields, candidates who are interested in historical statehood and state capacity, political fragmentation and social attitudes, territoriality and nomads, historical legacies of cultural interaction, or colonialism are ideal. The ideal candidate will have expertise in formal modelling and/or research methods including (but not limited to) geospatial and statistical analysis, large language models, and machine learning.

The position does not require teaching, but it may be possible to get teaching experience for compensation. You would join a group of over 20 post-doctoral fellows and 70 faculty in the Division of Social Science.

For consideration, applicants must submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae with full publication list, statement of research interests, and two letters of reference, all in PDF format. If you have any questions, please email Professor Paik at cp92@nyu.edu. Applications will be accepted until March 31, 2025.

About NYU Abu Dhabi

NYU Abu Dhabi is a degree-granting research university with a fully integrated liberal arts and science undergraduate program in the Arts, Sciences, Social Sciences, Humanities, and Engineering. NYU Abu Dhabi, NYU New York, and NYU Shanghai, form the backbone of NYU's global network university, an interconnected network of portal campuses and academic centers across six continents that enable seamless international mobility of students and faculty in their pursuit of academic and scholarly activity. This global university represents a transformative shift in higher education, one in which the intellectual and creative endeavors of academia are shaped and examined through an international and multicultural perspective. As a major intellectual hub at the crossroads of the Arab world, NYUAD serves as a center for scholarly thought, advanced research, knowledge creation, and sharing, through its academic, research, and creative activities.

EOE/AA/Minorities/Females/Vet/Disabled/Sexual Orientation/Gender Identity Employer

UAE Nationals are encouraged to apply.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 3/31/2025

Date Posted: 2/6/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15399

MU (Columbia) Campus

Rank: Kinder Institute on Constitutional Democracy Postdoctoral Fellowship

The Kinder Institute on Constitutional Democracy at the University of Missouri invites applications for a postdoctoral fellow in political science for researchers whose work examines the political development and political thought of the early United States. Candidates' research areas might include American political development and thought, and its connections to contemporary U.S. politics, political institutions and processes, constitutional law & theory and related areas. We also welcome applications from scholars whose research examines political development and thought within a transatlantic context.

The Fellowship is a full-time position that comes with a competitive salary, university benefits, an office at the Kinder Institute, and dedicated funds for conference travel, research, and other professional expenses. Funds are also available to help offset moving costs. The fellowship is renewable for up to three years.

The Postdoctoral Fellow will have an annual teaching load of 2-1 or 1-2. These courses will include small, discussion-based seminars associated with the common curriculum for the Kinder Institute's B.A. in Constitutional Democracy, a team-taught online section of American Government, and potentially an upper division class on American political development.

Qualifications:

Applicants should have a Ph.D. or an anticipated Ph.D. in Political Science or Government, completed by August 2025, and continue until a suitable candidate is identified.

Application Requirements:

To apply, please submit the following materials:

1. A letter of interest;
2. a research proposal;
3. a curriculum vitae;
4. a statement of teaching
5. and the names of two scholarly references.

Applications and inquiries should be sent electronically to Kinder Institute Program Coordinator Amber Strong Helwig at stronga@missouri.edu using "Kinder Postdoctoral Fellowship" in the subject line. Review of applications will begin on Friday, January 24th, 2025, and continue until a suitable candidate is identified.

About the Kinder Institute on Constitutional Democracy:

The Kinder Institute on Constitutional Democracy at the University of Missouri is an interdisciplinary, signature academic center on the Columbia campus, jointly operated by faculty from the Political Science and History Departments, in cooperation with other scholars across campus. It is dedicated to excellence in research, teaching, and community engagement on the subjects of American political thought and development, history, and institutions, with a particular emphasis on the ideas and events of the American Founding and their continued global impact and relevance today. Learn more about the Kinder Institute at <https://democracy.missouri.edu>.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 1/23/2025

Date Posted: 1/16/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15344

Williams College

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor in Political Science

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Other

The Williams College Department of Political Science invites applications for a one-year appointment in the 2025 - 2026 academic year, as Visiting Assistant Professor in Political Science. We seek individuals who can teach courses in comparative politics, especially those with an East Asia, Africa, or other regional focus. The ability to teach introduction to comparative politics is required. The ability to teach courses in international relations is a plus. The teaching load is four courses, split evenly between the fall and spring semesters. We welcome applications from candidates of all backgrounds and strongly encourage individuals from underrepresented identities or those whose experiences and perspectives will enhance our commitment to academic excellence. The Williams College Department of Political Science invites applications for a one-year appointment in the 2025 - 2026 academic year, as Visiting Assistant Professor in Political Science. We seek individuals who can teach courses in comparative politics, especially those with an East Asia, Africa, or other regional focus. The ability to teach introduction to comparative politics is required. The ability to teach courses in international relations is a plus. The teaching load is four courses, split evenly between the fall and spring semesters. We welcome applications from candidates of all backgrounds and strongly encourage individuals from underrepresented identities or those whose experiences and perspectives will enhance our commitment to academic excellence and innovation to apply.

Candidates should have the Ph.D. completed by June 2025. Application items should include: a cover letter detailing teaching experience and competencies as well as current scholarly interests; two syllabi of classes taught or planned to be taught; a curriculum vitae; three letters of recommendation; teaching evaluations accompanied by comparative or statistical context (if available); and a writing sample of only one article or chapter. We ask you to write in your cover letter about your ability to work effectively with a student population that is broadly diverse with regard to gender, race, ethnicity, nationality, sexual orientation, and religion.

We will begin to review applications on February 1st, but will consider submissions until the search is completed. All application materials should be submitted through Interfolio [apply.interfolio.com/160837]. Fax and email applications will not be accepted. Inquiries may be sent to Erin Malloy at emb8@williams.edu. All offers of employment are contingent upon completion of a background check.

Further information is available here: faculty.williams.edu/prospective-faculty/background-check-policy/

Williams College is a liberal arts institution located in the Berkshire Hills of western Massachusetts. The college has built its reputation on outstanding teaching and scholarship and on the academic excellence of its approximately 2,000 students. Please visit the Williams College website (<http://www.williams.edu>) to learn more about the College and in particular its professional development resources for faculty. Beyond meeting fully its legal obligations for non-discrimination, Williams College is committed to building a diverse and inclusive community where members from all backgrounds can live, learn, and thrive. and innovation to apply.

Start Date: Summer 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 1/6/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15322

University of Notre Dame

Rank: Postdoctoral Researcher in Democracy (SM)

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Methodology, Other

Specializations: Latin American, Political Development, Political Parties & Organizations

The Kellogg Institute for International Studies, part of the Keough School of Global Affairs at the University of Notre Dame, is seeking a Postdoctoral Researcher in Democracy for academic years 2025-27 as part of its commitment to the University's Democracy Initiative. Individuals selected for the postdoctoral position will have the option of renewing their appointment for a second year, conditional on satisfactory performance.

The individual selected for this position will devote approximately 50% of their time to working with Scott Mainwaring, Eugene and Helen Conley Professor of Political Science, and 50% of his/her time to independent research. The work with Professor Mainwaring will revolve around the third wave of democratization in Latin America and globally. The expectation is that the individual will coauthor one or two articles and possibly a book on this topic with Professor Mainwaring and Fernando Bizzarro (Boston College).

A successful postdoctoral candidate will have a Ph.D. in Political Science or Sociology by the start of the 2025-26 academic year. Expertise on Latin America and excellent quantitative and qualitative skills are essential, as the candidate is expected to contribute to both quantitative and qualitative analyses. Strong knowledge of the literature on political regimes is desirable, but scholars who have expertise on a wide range of subjects related to democracy could be outstanding candidates even if they have not worked directly on political regimes. The candidate must have reading proficiency in Spanish and/or Portuguese.

The successful candidate will have dedicated office space and a $5,000 per year research allowance. They will be expected to attend and present at Kellogg Tuesday and Work-In-Progress seminars. Reasonable moving expenses will be covered.

To apply, please submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, research statement, dissertation abstract, a writing sample, and three letters of recommendation, along with filling out the short application form. Review of applications will begin on February 3, 2025. Candidates are expected to join Notre Dame in August 2025. This position is located in South Bend, Indiana, and the successful candidate is expected to be in residence for the duration of the appointment.

Qualifications

A successful postdoctoral candidate will have a Ph.D. in Political Science or Sociology before starting the position.

Application Instructions

To apply, please submit a cover letter that includes a description of your current research, a curriculum vitae, a writing sample, three letters of recommendation, and fill out the short application form.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 2/28/2025

Date Posted: 12/12/2024

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 15283

University of Rhode Island

Rank: Advanced Assistant/Associate Professor in Computational Social Science

POSITION DESCRIPTION

The Department of Political Science at the University of Rhode Island invites applications for a faculty position at the level of Associate Professor (tenured) or advanced Assistant Professor (tenure track) in Computational Social Science, starting in Fall 2025. We are seeking candidates with expertise in developing and applying cutting-edge computational and quantitative methods to the study of politics as well as a demonstrated ability to work across disciplines. Areas of methods focus may include, but are not limited to, machine learning, AI, deep learning, digital experimentation, natural language processing, network analysis, text analysis, big-data analytics, or system dynamics.

The successful candidate is expected to direct a new interdisciplinary Ph.D. program in Computational Social Science in the College of Arts & Sciences with a tenure home department in Political Science.

We are seeking to attract a diverse pool of job applicants for this position. A key pillar of URI's mission is to "inspire an enlightened community that is characterized by vibrant cultural diversity; that embraces difference; that is built upon a learning environment that fosters respect, understanding, and social justice; and that rejects prejudice and intolerance." Our department seeks candidates whose principles align with that mission.

DUTIES AND RESPONSIBILITIES

The successful candidate will be expected to have strong skills in computational social science with a substantive research program on politics informed by innovative quantitative, data-intensive, or computationally-intensive techniques. Competitive candidates will have a scholarly track record with evidence of high-quality research in their respective field of study as well as demonstrated potential in program leadership, advising and mentoring of Ph.D. students, and curriculum development.

The successful candidate will be responsible for directing the new interdisciplinary Ph.D. program in Computational Social Science (CSS) within the College of Arts & Sciences. As the Director, the candidate will lead the development and refinement of its curriculum, foster interdisciplinary collaborations, and oversee recruitment, advising, and mentoring of Ph.D. students. This position will involve working closely with faculty across multiple social science departments to ensure the program remains at the cutting edge of computational methodologies and their applications in the social sciences.

The Computational Social Science program's administrative home resides within the Political Science Department; this position will split their teaching and service duties across the CSS and traditional Political Science programs.

REQUIRED QUALIFICATIONS:

- 1) Ph.D. in Political Science, Computational Social Science, or in a closely related discipline.
- 2) Primary or secondary specialization in one or more of the following areas: computational social science, big-data analytics, machine learning, AI, natural language processing, text analysis, or network analysis.
- 3) Demonstrated ability to excel in teaching advanced coursework on applications of innovative quantitative, data-intensive, or computationally-intensive techniques in the social sciences.
- 4) Demonstrated experience in advising and mentoring of students.
- 5) Evidence of research in the area of computational social science, with scholarly work commensurate with level of academic experience.
- 6) Demonstrated potential to develop and maintain an externally grant-funded research program relevant to Computational Social Science.
- 7) Demonstrated interpersonal communication skills.
- 8) Demonstrated proficiency in written communication skills.
- 9) Demonstrated experience working with diverse populations or in diverse environments.

All requirements are subject to possible modification to reasonably accommodate individuals with disabilities.

PREFERRED QUALIFICATIONS:

- 1) Ability to teach undergraduate research methods courses and substantive political science courses.
- 2) Demonstrated leadership and management skills in the areas of program development, student recruitment, and coordination of faculty and resources.
- 3) Demonstrated experience or interest in interdisciplinary collaboration, particularly with statistics, computer science, or related fields.
- 4) Demonstrated interest in developing collaborative research and/or consulting to support the interdisciplinary nature of programs within the Department, College, and the University as a whole.

APPLICATION DEADLINE:

The search will remain open until the position has been filled. First consideration will be given to applications received by December 15, 2024. Applications received after December 15, 2024 may be reviewed depending on search progress and needs but are not guaranteed full consideration.

For the full job posting and to apply online, please visit: <https://jobs.uri.edu/postings/14232>

SPECIAL INSTRUCTIONS TO APPLICANTS

Required Documents: Please attach 5 (PDF) documents to your online Faculty Profile Application:

- 1) A letter of application that describes your interest in this position that addresses the required qualifications
- 2) A Curriculum Vitae that includes the names/contact information for three professional references, a list of all completed graduate-level courses taken, and course syllabi and teaching evaluations for select courses you have taught (note: please scan and attach all of this information as a single CV document),

3) A brief research and teaching statement

4) URI is committed to diversity and seeks candidates who will contribute to a climate that supports a fully inclusive, equitable, and diverse working and learning environment. Please provide a statement, with examples, that summarizes your contributions to diversity and inclusion in your discipline. These contributions may arise from scholarship, teaching/mentoring, service, or other activities.

5) Submit an article-length sample of relevant scholarly work.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 12/15/2024

Date Posted: 11/1/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15143

University of Texas, Arlington

Rank: Assistant Professor - Health and Society

Specializations: Health Care, Social Welfare, Regulatory Policy

The College of Liberal Arts at the University of Texas at Arlington invites applications for an Assistant Professor (Tenure Track) specializing in Health and Society. The position is open to applicants in the arts, humanities, or social sciences. The eventual hire will have a home department in the College of Liberal Arts that is determined by their primary disciplinary area, in which they are expected to have an active program of scholarship or creative work.

We seek an innovative scholar whose research focuses on health and society. Example areas of specialization include, but are not limited to, biomedical ethics, cultural conceptions of illness and health, disability studies, global health and health justice, medical anthropology, and the social determinants of health.

We are especially seeking candidates who demonstrate strong potential for interdisciplinary collaboration, program development, and community engagement, and who can build on existing strengths across the College and University. Successful candidates may collaborate with established interdisciplinary programs within the college, such as ASL and Deaf Studies, Disability Studies, and Medical Humanities and Bioethics.

As a part of their responsibilities, the eventual hire will:

- Develop and teach courses on topics related to health and society;
- Maintain an active and interdisciplinary research program and build a strong record of academic output (e.g., peer-reviewed articles and presentations at national or international conferences); and
- Participate in service within the Department, College, University, and the broader academic community.

For more information and to apply, please see here: <https://uta.peopleadmin.com/postings/30064>

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 12/1/2024

Date Posted: 10/18/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15086

University of Florida

Rank: Director

The College of Liberal Arts and Sciences at the University of Florida invites applications for the full-time, nine-month position of Director of the Samuel Proctor Oral History Program, with appointment to begin August 16, 2025. The appointment requires a Ph.D. in one's discipline and will be made at the rank of a tenured or tenure-earning assistant, associate, or full professor. All geographic fields and disciplines that fall within the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences will be considered.

The Samuel Proctor Oral History Program (SPOHP) is an award-winning, nationally respected institution that has long been a cornerstone unit on the University of Florida campus, providing its services across disciplines and to the general public. The director will supervise a professional staff of five, along with several undergraduate and graduate assistants, and oversee a collection that constitutes more than 150,000 transcribed pages produced from more than 8,000 interviews found in the SPOHP archives and University of Florida Digital Collections.

The successful candidate therefore should have considerable experience in acquiring, conducting, and archiving oral histories and come with a strategic vision for the future of SPOHP in the digital age. Equally essential is the ability to manage personnel, budgets, and applying for and winning grants. The new director must also be willing to work with other units on campus, such as various area-studies programs, UF libraries, the Center for the Humanities and the Public Sphere, and the Gulf Scholars Program (a National Academies of Sciences, Engineering, and Medicine-supported certificate program for undergraduates).

The new director will have a tenure home in the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences and, in addition to SPOHP responsibilities, must be able to contribute to their department's intellectual growth and emphasis on interdisciplinary and collaborative research. The successful candidate will be expected to demonstrate a strong commitment to teaching a diverse body of undergraduate and graduate students in Gainesville, Florida, and maintain a robust research and publishing agenda appropriate to a Research 1 institution. Teaching responsibilities include upper-division undergraduate and graduate courses in the applicant's field. Equally important is the ability to contribute effectively to the graduate program of one's department: mentoring graduate students, offering graduate seminars, and chairing and serving on graduate committees (including serving on committees in other departments). The position also includes service responsibilities appropriate to rank.

UF is the state's oldest, largest, and most comprehensive land grant university with an enrollment of over 50,000 students and was ranked 7th in the country among public universities (US News and World Report 2023 rankings), and 1st among public institutions in the Wall Street Journal 2023 survey. UF is located in Gainesville, a city of approximately 150,000 residents in North-Central Florida, 50 miles from the Gulf of Mexico, and 67 miles from the Atlantic Ocean, and within a 2-hour drive to large metropolitan areas (Orlando, Tampa, Jacksonville). The beautiful climate and extensive nearby parks and recreational areas afford year-round outdoor activities, including hiking, biking, and nature photography. UF's large college sports programs, museums, and performing arts center support a range of activities and cultural events for residents to enjoy. Alachua County schools are highly rated and offer a variety of programs including magnet schools and an international baccalaureate program. Learn more about what Gainesville has to offer at Visit Gainesville.

The salary is competitive and commensurate with qualifications and experience, and the compensation includes a full benefits package.

Employment Benefits include:

Health Insurance: UF participates in state- and university-sponsored benefits programs for individuals, families, and domestic partners, and offers voluntary insurance that includes vision, dental, long-term disability and more.

Retirement Options: Attractive options include Florida Retirement System Pension Plan, State University System Optional Retirement Program, Florida Retirement System Investment Plan, and Voluntary Retirement Savings Plan.

Leave: UF staff enjoy a generous paid leave plan as well as access to a sick-leave pool, parental leave, and leave payouts.

For full consideration, applications must be submitted online. Click on Apply Now at the top of this posting.

A complete application includes (1) a letter of application summarizing the applicant's qualifications, interests, and suitability for the position, while also articulating one's vision for an oral history program (2) a complete curriculum vitae, (3) a statement on teaching and research goals, and (4) and names of three references (the search committee will request confidential letters of recommendation only from candidates selected for its preliminary "long" list).

Applications will be reviewed beginning November 15, 2024, and the position will remain open until filled. Only complete applications will be reviewed at this time. Applications received after this date may be considered at the discretion of the committee and/or hiring authority.

All candidates for employment are subject to a pre-employment screening which includes a review of criminal records, reference checks, and verification of education.

The selected candidate will be required to provide an official transcript to the hiring department upon hire. A transcript will not be considered "official" if a designation of "Issued to Student" is visible. Degrees earned from an educational institution outside of the United States require evaluation by a professional credentialing service provider approved by the National Association of Credential Evaluation Services (NACES), which can be found at <http://www.naces.org/>.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/15/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15052

Temple University

Rank: Assistant Professor -- Instructional

The College of Liberal Arts at Temple University is excited to announce the creation of a new undergraduate major in Cybersecurity and Human Behavior, designed to explore the intersection of technology, policy, politics, ethics, and human psychology in cybersecurity contexts. We are seeking a dynamic and innovative Assistant Professor – Instructional, who will play a key role in shaping the future of this interdisciplinary program. The program emphasizes the human aspects of cybersecurity, while providing students with foundational technical skills. The initial contract is for one year beginning fall 2025, with the potential for contract renewal. Note that instructional faculty are eligible for promotion

Teaching and other responsibilities:

- Expected to teach the required Introduction to Cybersecurity and Human Behavior.
- Preference will be given to those applicants who can also teach cybersecurity topics in the social science and/or humanities.
- Focus on real-world applications rather than in-depth technical skills.
- Expected to foster an inclusive and supportive learning environment for students from diverse backgrounds.
- Manage schedule of courses, student advising and faculty coordination.
- Participate in outreach efforts, including marketing the program and attracting prospective students.

Qualifications:

- Graduate degree in Cybersecurity, Social Sciences, Humanities, Information Systems or related fields or equivalent professional experience in the private, public, or nonprofit sector.
- Teaching experience at the undergraduate level preferred.
- Ability to build strong relationships with students, faculty, and external stakeholders.
- Familiarity with emerging trends in cybersecurity education and training.

Required documents: cover letter, CV, and names and contact information of three references should be send via email attachment to: cyberpos@temple.edu We will review of applications and plan for the first round of interviews on a rolling basis.

Temple University is a state-related Carnegie Research University (highest research activity) located in Philadelphia. The College of Liberal Arts is home to 32 undergraduate majors, 32 minors, 23 certificate programs and 15 graduate degree programs. With its vibrant and diverse array of educational programs, the College of Liberal Arts plays a tremendous role in Temple University's academic success and its mission mirrors both the historical importance of the liberal arts in society and the principles on which the university was founded. Temple University is an AA/ EOE employer and is committed to diversity within its community. In pursuit of that, we encourage diversity among applicants for this position.

For questions, please contact Sandra Suarez (suarez@temple.edu) or Hiram Aldarondo (hiram.aldarondo@temple.edu).

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/13/2024

Salary: Any

eJobs ID: 15040

University of Chicago

Rank: Open-Rank Faculty Position, Department of Political Science

Position Description

The Department of Political Science at the University of Chicago invites applications for Assistant, Associate, or Full Professor in climate politics. This position is part of a departmental initiative in the politics of climate and the Climate and Energy Institute at the University of Chicago. We welcome applications from all subfields of political science addressing the political challenges of climate mitigation and adaptation at the local, national, or global level. This position will begin on or after July 1, 2025.

Qualifications

Candidates must have completed all requirements for the PhD degree prior to the start of the appointment.

Application Instructions

Applicants must apply at the University of Chicago's Interfolio website at <https://apply.interfolio.com/157101>. Applications must include: 1) a cover letter that, among other things, describes the applicant's prior and potential contributions to diversity in the context of academic research, teaching, and service; 2) a curriculum vitae; 3) research statement; and 4) teaching statement. Short-listed candidates will be asked to submit supplemental documents. Consideration of applications will begin on November 15, 2024.

Equal Employment Opportunity Statement

All University departments and institutes are charged with building a faculty from a diversity of backgrounds and with diverse viewpoints; with cultivating an inclusive community that values freedom of expression; and with welcoming and supporting all their members.

We seek a diverse pool of applicants who wish to join an academic community that places the highest value on rigorous inquiry and encourages diverse perspectives, experiences, groups of individuals, and ideas to inform and stimulate intellectual challenge, engagement, and exchange. The University's Statements on Diversity are at <https://provost.uchicago.edu/statements-diversity>.

The University of Chicago is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity/Disabled/Veterans Employer and does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender, gender identity, national or ethnic origin, age, status as an individual with a disability, military or veteran status, genetic information, or other protected classes under the law. For additional information please see the University's Notice of Nondiscrimination.

Job seekers in need of a reasonable accommodation to complete the application process should call 773-834-3988 or email equalopportunity@uchicago.edu with their request.

Start Date: Summer 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/11/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15039

Lehigh University

Rank: Bernard L. & Bertha F. Cohen Chair in International Relations

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Other

Position: Bernard L. and Bertha F. Cohen Chair in International Relations

LEHIGH UNIVERSITY. The Department of International Relations invites applications for a tenured Full Professor to fill the Bernard L. and Bertha F. Cohen Chair, with an anticipated start date of July 2025. The position is open to all research and teaching specializations within the fields of international relations, foreign policy, and/or comparative politics.

Candidates must have an earned PhD in International Relations or a closely related field. The ideal candidate will have connections to the policy community in Washington, DC, and/or New York City and be able to assist students with internship placement.

Candidates are expected to have a strong commitment to undergraduate teaching and excellence in research. The individual hired will, specifically, be expected to teach courses in International Relations at the undergraduate level, engage in scholarly activities, and participate in departmental, college, and university service, as well as advise undergraduate interns.

Lehigh is among the few higher educational institutions in the US that has long had a separate department of IR. This allows students with a particular interest in international affairs to benefit from a concentrated, high-level program of study that few other schools offer.

Founded in 1865, Lehigh University has combined outstanding academic and learning opportunities with leadership in fostering innovative research. Recognized among the nation's highly-ranked research universities, Lehigh offers a rigorous academic community for over 7,500 students. Lehigh University has some 5,800 undergraduates, 1,800 graduate students, and nearly 600 full-time faculty members. Lehigh University is located in Bethlehem, PA, a vibrant and historic area. Over 840,000 people live in the Lehigh Valley, which is in close proximity to New York City and Philadelphia.

Review of applications will begin on October 11, 2024, and will continue until the position is filled. For full consideration, however, applications should be received by October 11, 2024. Applicants should submit their materials at <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajol/jobs/28335>. Candidates should submit the following materials:

Cover letter

Curriculum vitae

Research statement that describes past scholarly contributions and future research directions

Teaching statement that describes instructional philosophy and courses that the candidate would want to teach or develop

Name and contact information for three references

A statement on contributions to diversity, equity, and inclusion (DEI) that describes knowledge, prior DEI experience, and the candidate's future plans for enhancing community and culture at Lehigh (the Lehigh ADVANCE Center's guide for understanding and preparing such statements is available here)

All inquiries regarding the search should be directed to Ms. Edann Brady at emb703@lehigh.edu or 610-758-3390.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/6/2024

Salary: Above $159,999

eJobs ID: 14800

Western Carolina University

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Emergency and Disaster Management Program within the Department of Criminology & Criminal Justice is seeking two faculty members at the rank of Assistant Professor (tenure-track), beginning August 1, 2025. These are nine-month positions with summer teaching possibilities and are for our residential program with some likely online teaching responsibilities. Salary is commensurate with qualifications and experience. Responsibilities include teaching, research, and service.

Candidates must have a Ph.D. in Emergency Management, Criminology/Criminal Justice, Political Science, Public Administration, Public Health, Urban Planning, or other discipline closely related to the field of Emergency & Disaster Management. Highly qualified ABD candidates will be considered if completion of the degree is imminent. Candidates must have a clearly articulated research agenda in Emergency & Disaster Management, experience and/or graduate coursework related to Emergency & Disaster Management, and a commitment of academic excellence and collegiality.

The Emergency and Disaster Management Program has an established record of engaging students through undergraduate research and experiential learning and is consistently ranked as one of the best undergraduate programs in the nation. The ideal candidate will have an interest in contributing to these efforts and have a firm foundation to teach a range of emergency and disaster management courses.

Application Process:

Application materials must be submitted online to the Western Carolina University Human Resources Portal at <http://jobs.wcu.edu>. Candidates should submit an online candidate profile, cover letter, curriculum vitae, statement of research interests, unofficial transcripts, evidence of teaching experience/philosophy, and contact information for three current references.

Review of applications will begin September 15th and continue until the position is filled.

Contact:

Inquiries may be directed to Committee Chair and EDM Director Dr. Lisa Briggs at lbriggs@wcu.edu or 828.227.2180.

About WCU:

Western Carolina University is the UNC system's westernmost campus and has been consistently ranked as one of the Top 15 public regional institutions in the South. WCU's main campus sits in the beautiful mountains of Western, North Carolina, near the Great Smoky and Blue Ridge mountains, fifty-two miles west of Asheville. WCU's location in the rural mountains amidst incredible biodiversity and unique communities creates an opportunity for academic discovery service and is a haven for outdoor enthusiasts. The campus covers approximately 600 acres, with a student body population of over 11,500.

Please go to <https://www.wcu.edu> for more information.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/7/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14590

POLITICAL THEORY

Pennsylvania State University

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor of Public Policy

The School of Public Policy at The Pennsylvania State University invites applications for a full-time Visiting Assistant Professor to start Fall 2025, with flexibility.

Responsibilities include conducting high-quality research and supporting the research agenda of Professor Anthony Bertelli, the Sherwin Whitmore Chair of Liberal Arts.

Candidates should have research interests in bureaucratic politics and/or European politics, possess advanced proficiency in quantitative methods, and demonstrate a strong background in theory building. The ideal candidate will be an independent and motivated researcher. Fluent English language skills are required, and fluency in another language, such as French, German, Italian, Portuguese, or Spanish, is desirable.

Preference will be given for those who can teach statistics, policy analysis, or economics policy in the Master of Public Policy Program and the State, Society, and Public Policy course at the undergraduate level.

This position will include resident instruction and normal university service. Your teaching load during the academic year is three courses for the School of Public Policy. Onsite teaching is an essential function of this job.

A Ph.D. in public policy, political science, or related field is required by the appointment date. This is a non-tenure-track, term position with the possibility of renewal. This position will be filled at the rank of Assistant Teaching Professor.

The College of the Liberal Arts is committed to offering professional growth and promotional opportunities for non-tenure-line faculty appointments. Information on faculty ranks and progression can be found at <https://policy.psu.edu/policies/ac21> <https://policy.psu.edu/policies/ac21> .

Interested candidates must submit an online application and upload a cover letter outlining their research interests and methodological expertise, a curriculum vitae (CV), and two writing samples that demonstrate relevant skills and research interests.

System limitations allow for a total of 5 documents (5mb per document) as part of your application. Please combine materials to meet the 5-document limit.

Any questions or concerns with the online application can be directed to Paige McCarthy, <mailto:pem5220@psu.edu> pem5220@psu.edu .

Visit our website at <https://publicpolicy.psu.edu/> <https://publicpolicy.psu.edu/> for more information on our School.

The Pennsylvania State University is committed to and accountable for advancing equity, respect, and belonging in all its forms. We embrace individual uniqueness, as well as a culture of belonging that supports both broad and specific equity initiatives, leverages the educational and institutional benefits of inclusion in society, and provides opportunities for engagement intended to help all members of the community thrive. We value belonging as a core strength and an essential element of the university's teaching, research, and service mission.

To apply, please visit https://psu.wd1.myworkdayjobs.com/PSU_Academic/job/Penn-State-University-Park/Visiting-Assistant-Professor-of-Public-Policy_REQ_0000065361-2 https://psu.wd1.myworkdayjobs.com/PSU_Academic/job/Penn-State-University-Park/Visiting-Assistant-Professor-of-Public-Policy_REQ_0000065361-2 .

To review the Annual Security Report which contains information about crime statistics and other safety and security matters and policies, please go to <https://www.police.psu.edu/annual-security-reports> <https://www.police.psu.edu/annual-security-reports> , which will also explain how to request a paper copy of the Annual Security Report.

Penn State is an equal opportunity, affirmative action employer, and is committed to providing employment opportunities to all qualified applicants without regard to race, color, religion, age, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability or protected veteran status.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 3/19/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15521

St. Mary's University

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor of Political Science

Subfield(s): Public Law, Political Theory, American Government and Politics

The Department of Political Science at St. Mary's University is conducting a search for a one-year Visiting Assistant Professor faculty position to begin August 2025. The desired applicant should hold a Ph.D. (or be ABD) in political science from an accredited university with a concentration in American politics and a subfield expertise in public law, specifically constitutional law and judicial politics. A secondary subfield in political behavior, theory, civil rights and voting rights, or media and politics is welcome. The ideal candidate will also have some post-secondary teaching experience. Pending budgetary approval, the Department intends to conduct a search for a tenure-track position in these fields of study with a start date of August 2026.

The expected teaching load is four courses per semester. In addition to teaching introductory political science courses, the applicant should be able to offer upper-division undergraduate courses in public law, specifically constitutional law and judicial politics.

The Department of Political Science is the civic conscience of the University and fosters the building of civil society through the education of the whole student with a commitment to civic engagement and a focus on justice and service to society. To fulfill this role, the Department offers a Civic Engagement and Social Action course, which is required of majors and an option for the partial fulfillment of the social science core curriculum requirement. The Department resides in the College of Arts, Humanities and Social Sciences, the largest of the University's undergraduate schools.

St. Mary's University, as a Catholic Marianist University, fosters the formation of people in faith and educates leaders for the common good through community, integrated liberal arts and professional education, and academic excellence: www.stmarytx.edu/about. St. Mary's is the oldest Catholic university in the Southwest and continues to advocate the Marianist mission. St. Mary's enrolls approximately 3,500 students in a diverse university with four schools, more than 40 academic programs including Ph.D. and J.D. programs, and numerous pre-professional programs. The successful candidate is expected to support and contribute to the University's Marianist educational mission.

Applications can be found at <http://stmarytx.applicantpro.com/jobs/> with the option to upload all supporting documents electronically.

Along with the employment application, also submit: (1) a letter of application addressing interest in position; (2) curriculum vitae; (3) an unofficial* graduate transcript confirming the doctoral degree or progress towards the doctoral degree; (4) a statement of teaching philosophy; and (5) evidence of teaching excellence. A research statement is optional, and if included should discuss how the applicant's research informs their teaching. Review of applications will begin immediately and continue until the position is filled. Any offer of employment will be contingent upon successful completion of a clear background check and receipt of an official transcript* confirming progress towards or completion of doctoral studies.

Two letters of reference should be sent by email directly to the chair of the search committee—Dr. Leona Pallansch, Associate Professor of Political Science and Director of Pre-Law, lpallansch@stmarytx.edu.

St. Mary's University is a Hispanic-Serving Institution and an Equal Opportunity Employer.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 3/18/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15514

University of Denver

Rank: Visiting Teaching Assistant Professor, Political Science

Specializations: Political Theory, American Politics, Political Philosophy & Theory

POSITION SUMMARY

The Department of Political Science invites applications for a non-tenure track, part-time Visiting Teaching Assistant Professor in the field of political theory for the 2025-26 academic year. The candidate hired will teach four in-person, on campus courses across three quarters, with at least three of these courses in the field of political theory. Successful candidates will demonstrate a record of excellence in undergraduate teaching and a strong commitment to constructively engaging students with diverse backgrounds and learning styles.

ESSENTIAL FUNCTIONS

Teach undergraduate courses in political theory, including introductory and upper-division offerings.

Deploy best practices for classroom technology through the University of Denver's online learning platform, Canvas, utilizing Canvas tools such discussion boards, quizzes, assignments with uploaded files, and the gradebook as the means to collect student work and communicate feedback and assignment grades.

Meet outside of class in weekly office hours to provide guidance and assistance to students enrolled in courses taught.

KNOWLEDGE, SKILLS, AND ABILITIES

Advanced scholarly expertise in political theory (ABD/PhD level).

Excellent skills in oral and written communication.

Ability to interact constructively with a diverse population of faculty, staff, and undergraduate students.

REQUIRED QUALIFICATIONS

ABD in political science or relevant interdisciplinary social sciences area with specialization in political theory.

Experience teaching undergraduate courses in political science, particularly in political theory. Experience using course management software as part of a conventional in-person class.

PREFERRED QUALIFICATIONS

PhD in political science or relevant field.

Experience teaching both introductory and upper-division undergraduate courses, as the instructor of record, in political theory. Experience using the Canvas course management software. Strong teaching evaluations and/or other evidence of teaching effectiveness.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Date Posted: 3/18/2025

Salary: $20,000 - $29,999

eJobs ID: 15515

ETH Zürich

Rank: Professor of International and Swiss Security Policy and Politics

Subfield(s): International Relations, Political Theory, Comparative Politics

The Department of Humanities, Social and Political Sciences (www.gess.ethz.ch) at ETH Zurich invites applications for the above-mentioned position.

ETH Zurich seeks an experienced scholar with an excellent research record in international security studies and an interest in building innovative research collaborations across academic disciplines. Successful candidates are familiar with theoretical debates in international relations and political science and have shown a proven track record of applying a wide array of quantitative and qualitative research methods. Candidates should also have a genuine interest in Swiss security policy and policymaking.

The new professor is expected to build up a research group and assume the leadership of the Center for Security Studies (CSS, www.css.ethz.ch), with its 50 employees, at the end of 2028. The CSS offers security policy expertise in research and science-based policy advice. The professorship will also be associated with the future ETH School of Public Policy. Continuous dialogue and knowledge transfer are an integral part of the professorship's activities. Successful applicants are expected to demonstrate leadership experience, the ability to engage in dialogue with Swiss policymakers and society, and a willingness to contribute to research on Swiss security policy and politics. He or she is also expected to be fluent in English and German.

The professor will teach courses in international and Swiss security policy and politics in the department's BA and MA programs. Courses at the undergraduate level are taught in German or English and at the graduate level in English.

ETH Zurich is an equal opportunity and family-friendly employer, values diversity, and is responsive to the needs of dual-career couples.

Please apply online: www.facultyaffairs.ethz.ch

Applications should include a curriculum vitae, a list of publications, a project list, a statement of future research and teaching interests, a description of the leadership philosophy, a description of the three most important achievements, and a certificate of the highest degree. The letter of application should be addressed to the President of ETH Zurich, Prof. Dr. Joël Mesot. The closing for applications is 30 April 2025.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 4/30/2025

Date Posted: 3/13/2025

Salary: Any
eJobs ID: 15508

Smith College

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor of Government (Political Theory)

The Department of Government (GOV) at Smith College invites applications for a position in Political Theory at the rank of Visiting Assistant Professor. The position is full-time and non-tenure-track, for a term of one year to begin July 1, 2025. By the time of appointment, applicants must have a PhD in Political Science with a core specialization in Political Theory, or a PhD in a closely related field (e.g., political philosophy). Those from outside of Political Science must have demonstrated knowledge of and ability to teach within a Political Theory curriculum.

This position has a teaching load of five semester-long courses over the academic year—but will entail only four course preps: 2 sections of Introduction to Political Thinking (an introductory course in the history of political thought which serves as a gateway to the Government major) and 3 upper division courses in the candidate's areas of expertise. This is a teaching-focused position, and the successful candidate will not be responsible for advising or service.

We invite applications from all areas of political theory, but would be especially interested in candidates able to offer courses in either American Political Thought or Comparative Political Theory/Non-Western Political Thought. Candidates from groups underrepresented in political science are encouraged to apply. Successful candidates should be prepared to engage actively with diverse students across the liberal arts.

Located in Northampton, MA, Smith College is the largest historically women's college in the country, dedicated to excellence in teaching and research across the liberal arts. A faculty of outstanding scholars interact with students in small classes, as advisors, and through student-faculty research projects. Smith College offers opportunities to foster faculty success at every career stage, such as those listed here.

The College is a member of the Five College Consortium with Amherst College, Hampshire College, Mt. Holyoke College, and the University of Massachusetts-Amherst. Students cross-enroll and faculty cross-teach across the Five Colleges. Details about the Department of Government may be found at <https://www.smith.edu/gov/>.

Submit applications at <http://apply.interfolio.com/164854> with a cover letter describing your research and teaching interests, curriculum vitae, teaching statement, diversity/inclusion statement, chapter- or article-length writing sample, and the contact information for three confidential references. Finalists may be asked for additional materials. Review of applications will begin April 2, 2025.

As set forth in our mission and values, Smith College is committed to promoting a culture of equity and inclusion among students, staff, faculty, and administration and will not discriminate on the basis of race, color, ethnic origin, national origin, creed, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, gender expression, pregnancy, genetic information, age, veteran status, or physical or mental disability.

Start Date: Summer 2025
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 3/12/2025

Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 15506

University of Texas at Austin

Rank: Post-doctoral Teaching Fellow

Specializations: American Politics, Political Philosophy & Theory, Political Thought: Historical

Responsibilities

Teach one undergraduate course per semester on classic writings on American Democracy including Tocqueville, the Founders, and African-American political thinkers or major works in the history of political philosophy.

Conduct scholarly research.

Other related functions as assigned

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 3/8/2025

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 15496

Charles University, Prague, Czech Republic

Rank: Call for postdoctoral position: Political economy and geopolitics of East Asia

Subfield(s): International Relations, Political Theory, Comparative Politics

Specializations: East Asia, China, Political Economy

Offer Description

Charles University, Faculty of Arts offers a full-time temporary (2-year) researcher position (senior level, with PhD) with a specialization on the political economy and geopolitics of East Asia. The researcher will be part of a research team analyzing the geopolitical vulnerability and resilience of supply chains in East Asia, with a particular emphasis on Taiwan.

The researcher is expected to perform research tasks related to identifying the risks to semiconductor supply chains stemming from geopolitical disruptions, macroeconomic developments (such as the rise of protectionist policies), as well as other disruptions resulting from political, security-related and economic developments.

The researcher is expected to perform research tasks concerned with applied research, providing strategic recommendations to policy makers, as well as to contribute to academic debates and to publish his/her academic research in leading journals.

Applicants will be asked to perform limited teaching duties in their area of expertise (estimated 1 course per semester) and to cooperate on research activities within a wider research team.

The applicants are also expected to prepare grant applications within their area of expertise and provide policy expertise through policy papers and stakeholder involvement.

Please send your CV, motivation letter (max. 2 pages), names of two references, and a copy of one published work in pdf (article, chapter or book) to filip.maly@ff.cuni.cz (Mr. Filip Malý) by April 15th, 2025. Mark your application "Postdoc - Geopolitics".

Where to apply: Email: filip.maly@ff.cuni.cz

Requirements:

Research Field: International Relations, Business, Political Science or Economics

Researcher Profile: Recognised Researcher (R2)

Positions: Postdoc Positions

Education Level: PhD

Additional Information

Terms of contract:

- Preferably from September 2025 to August 2027 (negotiable)
- We expect your physical presence in Prague most of the time
- An obligation to submit a research grant proposal within the applicant's expertise to an external (Czech or international) funding agency within the duration of the contract

Eligibility criteria

- Applicants must hold a PhD degree (or equivalent) in International Relations, Economics, Business, Political Science or other related disciplines before taking up the post.
- The applicant must demonstrate an extensive ability to analyze East Asian politics and possess relevant area expertise
- Applicants must demonstrate the ability to produce high-level academic outputs as well as the capability to communicate complex research insights in a clear and accessible manner to both non-experts and practitioners.
- Applicants must have a very good command of English
- Proven experience in the use of advanced qualitative and/or quantitative social science research methods
- Country-specific knowledge and language skills for one or more of East Asian countries

Application deadline: 15 April 2025- 12:00 (Europe/Prague)

Work Location(s)

Number of offers available: 1

Company/Institute: Department of Political Science, Faculty of Arts, Charles University

Country: Czech Republic

City: Prague 1

Postal Code: 11638

Street: nám. Jana Palacha 1/2

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 4/15/2025

Date Posted: 3/7/2025

Salary: $30,000 - $39,999

eJobs ID: 15491

Rice University

Rank: Assistant Teaching Professor

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Political Theory, Public Law

Description:

The Department of Political Science at Rice University, located in Houston, Texas, invites applications for an assistant teaching professor. This is a full-time, benefits-eligible, non-tenure track faculty position. The appointment is renewable, with an initial term of three years, and promotable thereafter. The successful candidate will (1) show promise as a teacher of courses in American Politics, Political Theory, Public Law, and/or Constitutional Law; (2) demonstrate knowledge of recent evidence-based advances in pedagogical practices;

(3) show potential for effective advising and mentorship of undergraduate students; and (4) be willing to participate actively in the department through service.

Duties and Responsibilities:

The assistant teaching professor will teach 5 semester-long courses in a 3-2 or 2-3 split. Courses will be accessible and hold broad appeal to students in Political Science and other fields. One course will contribute to the core curriculum of the Politics, Law, and Social Thought minor that is grounded in the close study of texts and other source material (for more information, see the program description at <https://politics.rice.edu/about-plst>). The assistant teaching professor will also serve as the major advisor for Political Science, help build a more vibrant and student-centered major and contribute to the ongoing review and development of the undergraduate curriculum in Political Science.

Start Date:

July 1, 2025

About Rice University:

Rice University is a private R1 university with a strong reputation for excellence in both teaching and research, located in the heart of Houston's dynamic Museum District and adjacent to the Texas Medical Center. It offers undergraduate and graduate degrees across eight schools, with a student body of approximately 4,800 undergraduate and 4,000 graduate students. Rice consistently ranks among the top 20 national universities and the top 10 in undergraduate teaching (US News & World Report).

We welcome the fullness of diversity to Rice. Qualified applicants are considered without regard to race, color, religion, age, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national or ethnic origin, genetic information, disability, or protected veteran status. Also, in our candidate pools, we seek to attract greater representation of women, scholars of color, people with disabilities, veterans, and others who have historically been underrepresented in political science; attract students from a wide range of countries and backgrounds; accelerate progress in building a faculty and staff varied in background and thought; and maintain an environment that fosters interaction and understanding within our community.

Qualifications:

Candidates must currently hold a Ph.D. degree in Political Science or related field, or have the degree conferred by July 1, 2025.

Application Instructions:

Review of applications will begin immediately, and candidates are encouraged to apply by March 15, 2025 to be given full consideration. Applicants should use the application portal: apply.interfolio.com/164384 to provide (1) cover letter, (2) curriculum vitae, (3) teaching statement incl. undergraduate courses you could teach (2-3 pages), (4) evidence of teaching effectiveness (e.g. teaching evaluations, peer observations), (5) at least two course syllabi, (6) and three letters of reference from persons familiar with your teaching experience.

Start Date: Summer 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 2/28/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15474

Gonzaga University

Rank: Lecturer

The Department of Political Science at Gonzaga University in Spokane, WA invites applications for a nine-month, fixed term, non-tenure track lecturer position in American politics and political theory for the 2025-2026 academic year. Position may be renewable contingent on department and core curriculum needs. The teaching load is the equivalent of 24 credits per academic year (typically three (3) unique course preparations/semester). The successful candidate will teach sections of an introductory American politics course, upper division course(s) on the Congress and/or the presidency, and one or more upper division political theory classes with prioritization being political thought of the US founding or theories of democracy more broadly. The candidate may also have the opportunity to teach on topics related to their research specialization. We seek applicants whose teaching methods and materials intentionally foster the full participation and engagement of our students, with particular attention to students from diverse and marginalized backgrounds.

About Gonzaga University and Spokane, Washington:

Founded in 1887, Gonzaga is a private, liberal arts institution located in Spokane, WA. Gonzaga's mission reflects its Catholic, Jesuit, and humanistic identity. The Department of Political Science awards the BA degree and enjoys a growing enrollment of politically involved, social justice-minded students. Our average class size is under 25, enabling our faculty to invest in engaged pedagogy and transformational teaching. Gonzaga has been ranked in the top 20 for excellence in undergraduate teaching among National Universities by US News and World Report.

Gonzaga's 152-acre campus sits along the Spokane River within walking distance of downtown Spokane, on the ancestral homelands of the Spokane Tribe of Indians. Spokane is the second largest city in Washington and pairs a lower cost of living with many urban advantages, including a conveniently located international airport, a vibrant art community, and a range of exciting restaurants. Located on the east side of Washington State, Spokane offers many options for outdoor enjoyment including hiking, boating and fishing on numerous local lakes, and several ski resorts within driving distance.

Required Qualifications:

- Ph.D. in Political Science or international equivalent (ABD will be considered if the degree will be conferred by July 16, 2025).
- Evidence of teaching effectiveness, including the ability to effectively respond to the academic needs of learners from diverse backgrounds.
- Evidence of effective use of classroom strategies and pedagogies to advance equity, inclusion, and belonging.

Job Duties:

- Teach an equivalent of 24 credits per academic year (typically three unique course preparations per semester), including introductory course on American politics, courses required for the political science major and minor, and upper division courses in the candidate's areas of expertise.
- Support the department, university, and discipline through service and other forms of academic citizenship.

To apply, please visit our website at www.gonzaga.edu/jobs. Applicants must complete an online application and electronically submit (1) a cover letter including a discussion of the courses you are qualified to teach, (2) curriculum vitae, (3) a one-two page statement of teaching effectiveness that includes evidence of responsiveness to the needs of diverse learners and experience using equitable and inclusive classroom strategies and pedagogies, (4) unofficial copies of graduate school transcripts, and (5) the names and email addresses of three persons who will be writing letters of recommendation (letters will be solicited when finalists are selected).

The position remains open until filled. For best consideration, applicants should be received by March 24, 2025, when review will begin. For assistance with your online application, please contact Human Resources at (509) 313-5996. Direct other inquiries to the chair of the search committee, Dr. Joe Gardner, gardnerj@gonzaga.edu.

Gonzaga University is a Catholic, Jesuit, humanistic institution, and is therefore interested in candidates who will contribute to its distinctive mission. Gonzaga University is a committed EEO/AA employer and diversity candidates are encouraged to apply. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to their disability status and/or protected veteran status.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 2/24/2025

Salary: $70,000 - $79,999

eJobs ID: 15454

Michigan State University

Rank: M. Richard Zinman Scholar-in-Residence

James Madison College, the undergraduate residential college of public and international affairs at Michigan State University, invites applications for the M. Richard Zinman Scholar-in-Residence fellowship. This fellowship is named in honor of the long-time James Madison College professor and is made possible by generous donations from his many grateful students. We seek accomplished scholars in the history of political philosophy interested in developing mid-stage research projects, with preference for book length or multi-article projects, by giving a series of 3-4 public lectures, paired with a series of seminar discussions with students and interested faculty of the college. Special preference will be given to projects that address core texts of ancient political philosophy. In addition, the selected Zinman Fellow is expected to be in residence at JMC/MSU for some part of either the fall 2025 or spring 2026 semesters, to take part in the intellectual life of the college and to play an active role in mentoring students.

Duration: The duration of the award will be arranged depending upon the availability and interests of the selected scholar and the needs of the college. The award period could range from a short-term visit of 1-3 weeks to a longer-term visit during the fall of 2025 or spring 2026 semester.

Qualifications/Eligibility:

- Applicants should be working in the history of political philosophy with demonstrated experience in classical (ancient) political philosophy (preference for candidates at the Associate Professor rank or above).
- International applicants must hold or be eligible for an appropriate visa to be eligible to visit MSU's campus and receive the financial support of the Zinman fellowship.

Application and Review Process:

- Application must include a cover letter detailing the candidate's interests and expertise as well as the theme for the lectures and seminars to be offered, CV, 4-5 page proposal detailing the proposed project (including a sketch of its organization by means of lectures and seminars) and its place within the candidate's scholarly trajectory, teaching materials (e.g., syllabi for courses taught in the history of political philosophy), and names/contact information for three references.

b) The selection committee may choose to interview candidates to evaluate their lecturing/teaching potential.

c) After review of the candidates, the selection committee will submit their recommendations to the Dean who will make the final decision on the selection.

Financial Considerations: Zinman Fellows will be awarded an honorarium to be determined based on the seniority of the candidate and the duration of the visit as well as activities to be undertaken. The College will also provide support for travel to/from Updated: 2/13/2025 MSU's campus, on-campus or other available lodging arrangements, and meal and incidental expenses support. Additionally, Zinman Fellows may be eligible for research support, including student assistance, course materials and other related expenditures to fulfill the teaching, public presentations, and research responsibilities they have negotiated with the College.

Application materials: Please forward all materials to Katie Dyjach – dyjachk@msu.edu.

Review of applications will begin on April 1, 2025. MSU is committed to achieving excellence through cultural diversity. The university actively encourages applications and/or nominations of women, persons of color, veterans, and persons with disabilities.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 2/13/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15428

California State University, Northridge

Rank: Part Time Lecturer

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Political Theory, Public Policy

Specializations: American Politics, Congress, Constitutional Law & Theory

Department: Political Science Effective Date of Appointment: Academic Year 2025-2026

CSUN's Commitment to You:

CSUN is committed to achieving excellence through teaching, scholarship, learning and inclusion. Our values include a respect for all people, building partnerships with the community and the encouragement of innovation, experimentation and creativity. CSUN strives to cultivate a community in which a diverse population can learn and work in an atmosphere of civility and respect. CSUN is especially interested in candidates who make contributions to equity and inclusion in the pursuit of excellence for all members of the university community.

As a Hispanic-serving Institution (HSI), inclusiveness and diversity are integral to CSUN's commitment to excellence in teaching, research, and engagement. As of Fall 2024, CSUN enrolls 36,848 students, where 56.3% are Latinx, 18.9% are White, 8.7% are Asian-American, 5.3% are Black/African American, 0.1% are Native American, and 0.1% are Native Hawaiian or Pacific Islander.

For more information about the University, visit our website at: <http://www.csun.edu>

About the College:

For information about the College, visit our website at: <https://www.csun.edu/social-behavioral-sciences>

About the Department:

For information about the department, visit our website at: <https://www.csun.edu/social-behavioral-sciences/political-science>

ANTICIPATED NEEDS:

Note: All part-time faculty appointments are temporary and do not confer academic rank. Final determination of part-time teaching assignments is contingent upon student enrollment figures and funding. In addition to teaching, the position requires weekly office hours and participation in assessment of student learning, and university. The successful candidate will be held to the standards and requirements of the college and department in which he/she/they is/are employed. Given CSUN's commitment to excellence in teaching, research, and engagement in a diverse environment, the successful candidate will help the Department achieve equitable academic outcomes for all students through teaching, student mentorship, and scholarship.

Qualifications:

1) With the exception of POLS 347, 450, 455, 457A, 457B and 471F, applicants must hold a Ph.D. in Political Science or a closely related field in hand or must be in the advanced stages of Ph.D. candidacy. Applicants who are in the advanced stages of Ph.D. candidacy must have passed the comprehensive examination for the Ph.D. in Political Science or closely related field in the field of American Government, Comparative Politics, International Relations, Public Policy, Political Theory, or Research Methodology, depending on the course for which the applicant is applying to teach.

2) For POLS 347, 450, 455, 457A, 457B, and 471F, a JD may be substituted for the Ph.D.

3) University teaching experience in the fields of American Politics, International Relations, Comparative Politics, Public Policy or Research Methodology, depending on the course for which the applicant is applying to teach.

4) A demonstrated ability and commitment to teach, mentor and work with a diverse student population.

Salary Range

Fractional Amount of Base Salary ($5507 - $6221)

Paid in 6 monthly installments

Current Courses or Specialization

(Specify time if appropriate)

Lower division courses in:

- (1) POLS155. American Political Institutions
- (2) POLS156. Introduction to Comparative Politics
- (3) POLS 197. Ethnic Politics
- (4) POLS 225. Elements of International Relations

Upper division courses in:

- (1) POLS 310. Problems of Political Economy
 - (2) POLS 321. Comparative Political Ideologies
 - (3) POLS 332. Politics of Latin America
 - (4) POLS 347. The Judicial Process
 - (5) POLS 350. Great Questions in Politic
 - (6) POLS 355. American National, State and Local Governments
 - (7) POLS 360. Public Administration
 - (8) POLS 361. Introduction to Public Policy
 - (9) POLS 372. Principles and Methods of Political Science
 - (10) POLS 380. LA: Past, Present, Future
 - (11) POLS 403. State and Local Government
 - (12) POLS 404. Urban Politics
 - (13) POLS 405. The Process of Public Policy Formation
 - (14) POLS 406. Fundamentals of Policy Analysis
 - (15) POLS 407. Policy Implementation and Program Evaluation
 - (16) POLS 410. Advanced Comparative Politics
 - (17) POLS 411. Greek, Roman, and Medieval Political Theory
 - (18) POLS 412. Modern Western Political Theory
 - (19) POLS 413. American Political Thought
 - (20) POLS 414. Western Political Theory in the 20th Century
 - (21) POLS 420A-H. International Relations of Selected Areas
 - (A) Latin America
 - (B) Western Europe
 - (C) Eastern Europe
 - (D) Middle East
 - (E) Africa
 - (F) South Asia
 - (G) Southeast Asia
 - (H) Northeast Asia
 - (22) POLS 421. The Politics of Development
 - (23) POLS 422. International Politics
 - (24) POLS 423. Security Studies
 - (25) POLS 426. International Law
 - (26) POLS 427A/L. Model United Nations I and Lab
 - (27) POLS 428. International Organization
 - (28) POLS 429. United States Foreign Policy
 - (29) POLS 432A. Politics of Mexico
 - (30) POLS 432B. Governments and Politics of South America
 - (31) POLS 433A. The Politics of Central America
 - (32) POLS 434A. Government and Politics of South Asia
 - (33) POLS 434B. Government and Politics of Southeast Asia
 - (34) POLS 435A. Government and Politics of China
 - (35) POLS 435B. Government and Politics of Japan
 - (36) POLS 436A. Government and Politics of Europe
 - (37) POLS 438. Governments and Politics of the Middle East
 - (38) POLS 439A. Government and Politics of Sub-Saharan Africa
 - (39) POLS 439B. Government and Politics of Southern Africa
 - (40) POLS 440. American Political Parties and Politics
 - (41) POLS 441. Interest Groups
 - (42) POLS 441A. Latina/o Politics
 - (43) POLS 443. Congress and the Legislative Process
 - (44) POLS 444. Elections and Voting Behavior
 - (45) POLS 445. Political Behavior
 - (46) POLS 446. The Presidency
 - (47) POLS 447A. Media & Politics
 - (48) POLS 448. Women & Politics in the US & the World
 - (49) POLS 449. The Politics of Community Action
 - (50) POLS 450. Jurisprudence
 - (51) POLS 455. Criminal Procedures
 - (52) POLS 457A. Constitutional Law
 - (53) POLS 457B. Constitutional Law II
 - (54) POLS 460. Welfare State
 - (55) POLS 461. Environmental Policy
 - (56) POLS 462. Ethics in Politics and Administration
 - (57) POLS 463. Public Personnel Administration
 - (58) POLS 464. Comparative Public Policy
 - (59) POLS 465. Administrative Behavior
 - (60) POLS 466. The Politics of Public Spending
 - (61) POLS 467. Urban Admin
 - (62) POLS 469/L. City Planning and Lab
 - (63) POLS 470 I/M The Politics of International Migration
 - (64) POLS 471A-F. Proseminar
 - (A) American Government
 - (B) Comparative Government
 - (C) International Relations
 - (D) Political Theory
 - (E) Public Administration and Policy
 - (F) Public Law
 - (65) POLS 480. The Politics of Globalization
 - (66) POLS 481. Globalization, Gender and Democratization
 - (67) POLS 490CA. Supervised Independent Project-California Government
 - (68) POLS 494I. Political Science Internship
 - (69) POLS 494J. Judicial Internship
 - (70) POLS 496M. The Politics of Climate Change
- Graduate
- (71) POLS 522A-G. Seminar in International Relations
 - (72) POLS 530A-J. Seminar in Comparative Government
 - (73) POLS 540A-J. Seminar in American Government and Politics
 - (74) POLS 570. Seminar in Political Theory
 - (75) POLS 571. Seminar in Methodology.
- Application Process:
- Applicants must submit a current resume, a cover letter, a sample syllabus, evidence of teaching effectiveness and the attached checklist indicating which course(s) they are interested in teaching to the address in the section below. The resume should include educational background, prior teaching experience, evidence of scholarship, and/or related professional experience. In later phases of the search process, applicants may be requested to provide verification of terminal degrees, licenses and certificates.
- Application Deadline:
- For AY 2025 – 2026: March 24, 2025
- Inquiries and applications should be emailed to keiko.hirata@csun.edu and copied to sue.talavera@csun.edu. With a subject line of "Lecturer application 2025-2026".
- Dr. Keiko Hirata, Chair & Eugene Price Professor
Department of Political Science
California State University, Northridge
18111 Nordhoff Street
Northridge, CA 91330-8254
- (Checklist) PLEASE INDICATE COURSES YOU ARE INTERESTED IN TEACHING:
- 155 American Political Institutions
 - 156 Introduction to Comparative Politics
 - 197 Ethnic Politics

225 Elements of International Relations
 310 Problems of Political Economy
 321 Comparative Political Ideologies
 332 Politics of Latin America
 347 The Judicial Process
 350 Great Questions in Politics
 355 American National, State and Local Govts
 360 Public Administration
 361 Introduction to Public Policy
 372 Principles and Methods of Political Science
 380 Los Angeles: Past, Present, Future
 403 State and Local Government
 404 Urban Politics
 405 The Process of Public Policy Formation
 406 Fundamentals of Policy Analysis
 407 Policy Implementation and Program Evaluation
 410 Advanced Comparative Politics
 411 Greek, Roman and Medieval Political Theory
 412 Modern Western Political Theory
 413 American Political Thought
 414 Western Political Theory in the 20th Century
 420A-H International Relations of Selected Areas
 (A) International Relations Latin America
 (B) International Relations Western Europe
 (C) International Relations Eastern Europe
 (D) International Relations Middle East
 (E) International Relations Africa
 (F) International Relations South Asia
 (G) International Relations Southeast Asia
 (H) International Relations Northeast Asia
 421 The Politics of Development
 422 International Politics
 423 Security Studies
 426 International Law
 427A/L Model United Nations I and Lab
 428 International Organization
 429 United States Foreign Policy
 432A Politics of Mexico
 432B Governments and Politics of South America
 433A The Politics of Central America
 434A Government and Politics of South Asia
 434B Government and Politics of Southeast Asia
 435A Government and Politics of China
 435B Government and Politics of Japan
 436A Government and Politics of Europe
 438 Governments and Politics of the Middle East
 439A Government and Politics of Sub-Saharan Africa
 439B Government and Politics of Southern Africa
 440 American Political Parties and Politics
 441 Interest Groups
 441A Latino/a Politics
 443 The Legislative Process
 444 Elections and Voting Behavior
 445 Political Behavior
 446 The Presidency
 447A Media and Politics
 448 Women & Politics in the US and the World
 449 The Politics of Community Action
 450 Jurisprudence
 455 Criminal Procedure
 457A Constitutional Law I

457B Constitutional Law II
 460 Welfare State
 461 Environmental Policy
 462 Ethics in Politics and Administration
 463 Public Personnel Administration
 464 Comparative Public Policy
 465 Administrative Behavior
 466 The Politics of Public Spending
 467 Urban Administration
 469/L City Planning and Lab
 470 I/M The Politics of International Migration
 471A-F Proseminar
 (A) Proseminar American Government
 (B) Proseminar Comparative Government
 (C) Proseminar International Relations
 (D) Proseminar Political Theory
 (E) Proseminar Public Admin & Public Policy
 (F) Proseminar Public Law
 480 The Politics of Globalization
 481 Globalization, Gender and Democratization
 490CA Supervised Independent Project-CA Gov't
 494I Political Science Internship
 494J Judicial Internship
 496M The Politics of Climate Change
 522A-G Seminar in International Relations
 530A-J Seminar in Comparative Government
 540A-J Seminar in American Govt and Politics
 570 Seminar in Political Theory
 571 Seminar in Methodology

General Information:

In compliance with the Annual Security Report & Fire Safety Report of Campus Security Policy and Campus Crime Statistics Act, California State University, Northridge has made crime-reporting statistics available on-line here. Print copies are available by request from the Department of Police Services, the Office for Faculty Affairs, and the Office of Equity and Diversity.

The person holding this position may be considered a 'mandated reporter' under the California Child Abuse and Neglect Reporting Act and is required to comply with the requirements set forth in CSU Executive Order 1083 as a condition of employment.

A background check (including a criminal records check) must be completed satisfactorily. Failure to satisfactorily complete the background check may affect the status of applicants. Please note that working in the state of California is a condition of employment.

CSUN is an Equal Opportunity Employer and prohibits discrimination based on race, color, ethnicity, religion, national origin, age, gender, gender identity/expression, sexual orientation, genetic information, medical condition, marital status, veteran status, and disability. Our nondiscrimination policy is set forth in Interim CSU Nondiscrimination Policy. Reasonable accommodations will be provided for applicants with disabilities who self-disclose by contacting Political Science at 818-677- 3488.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 3/24/2025

Date Posted: 2/4/2025

Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 15396

KAPSARC School of Public Policy

Rank: Faculty - Energy & Environmental Economics

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Public Administration, Political Theory

Position Summary:

The KSPP is a newly established graduate school that offers master's and executive education programs. The first cohort of master's students commenced their graduate studies in the fall of 2024. Situated in the thriving capital city of Riyadh, Saudi Arabia, on the state-of-the-art KAPSARC campus, the KSPP is well-placed to offer students an exceptional educational experience.

The KSPP's vision is to be a world-class education and research institution that prepares the next generation of public policy leaders and professionals within the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia and globally. To achieve this vision, the school is committed to providing high-quality educational programs and creating a bridge between academia, industry, and government. As the first public policy school in the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia, the KSPP is uniquely positioned to offer public policy degrees focusing on management and leadership, energy and climate policy, and data analytics. By providing concentrations in these areas, the school aims to help students develop the skills and knowledge necessary to address pressing policy challenges and make a meaningful impact in their communities and beyond.

The KAPSARC School of Public Policy (KSPP) invites applications for a faculty position in energy and environmental economics. We welcome candidates whose research, teaching, and outreach activities broadly focus on energy markets, climate finance, and climate policy design. The KSPP offers a highly competitive salary and benefits package, including children's educational support, housing support, and premier health insurance.

Responsibilities:

The successful candidate will be expected to carry out impactful research, teach courses related to the candidate's research field, contribute to core courses and/or electives in public sector management and leadership, supervise capstone projects, and contribute to the overall academic environment of the School.

Qualifications:

The successful candidate must have a Ph.D. in economics with a field specialization in energy and environmental economics.

To apply, please visit: <https://www.kspp.edu.sa/careers/faculty-energy-environmental-economics>

Start Date:

Date Posted: 11/4/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15146

Yale University

Rank: Assistant Professor, Normative Political Theory

The Department of Political Science at Yale University is seeking to hire a faculty member with expertise in Normative Political Theory at the rank of Assistant Professor, beginning July 1, 2025. A successful applicant should focus on substantive questions in any area of political theory. The candidate will be asked to teach courses in political theory commensurate with their expertise. The initial appointment will be for 5 years. The teaching expectation is normally 3 courses per academic year.

Qualifications

Ph.D. or equivalent degree required at time of hire.

Application Instructions

All applications must include a cover letter, CV, 3 recommendation letters, 2 writing samples, and separate short (2 pages or less) research and teaching statements. All materials should be uploaded to Interfolio at <http://apply.interfolio.com/151667>. Review of applications will begin September 15, 2024 (or 30 days after posting, whichever is later), and to guarantee full consideration your file should be complete by this date.

Please contact Xaria Callender, Sr. Administrative Assistant for the Political Science Department, at xaria.callender@yale.edu if you have questions about the application process.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 8/15/2025

Date Posted: 8/15/2024

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 14645

Washington University in St. Louis

Rank: Assistant Professor in the field of Political Theory

The Department of Political Science at Washington University in St. Louis invites applications for a tenure-track faculty appointment in political theory at the rank of Assistant Professor, to begin in the fall semester of 2025. We are a small theory group that works closely with our empirically oriented colleagues: we are thus especially interested in scholars whose research speaks to pressing political problems, including but not limited to racial and gender-based justice, environmental justice, global justice, democratic erosion, populism, protest, and the political and ethical challenges posed by AI and other emerging technologies.

A Ph.D. in Political Science or a closely related field is required at the time of appointment. Duties will include teaching assigned courses, conducting research, writing for publication, advising students, participating in department and program governance, and university service.

Application materials should include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, statement of research and teaching interests, at least three letters of reference, writing samples, and other relevant materials.

Applications received before October 15, 2024 will receive full consideration. Consideration after that date will be at the discretion of the search committee. All applications and supporting documentation should be submitted electronically through Interfolio at <https://apply.interfolio.com/151789>. If you encounter difficulties with the application process or have any additional questions, please email Amanda Nutter (nutter@wustl.edu).

Start Date: Summer 2025
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/13/2024
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 14629

Hampden-Sydney College

Rank: Assistant Professor: Political Theory

Specializations: Political Philosophy & Theory, Political Theory, Political Thought: Historical

The Department of Government and Foreign Affairs at Hampden-Sydney College invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track appointment at the rank of Assistant Professor to begin in Fall 2025. Candidates should have expertise in political theory and the ability to offer courses in classical, early modern, and modern political theory. The successful candidate will teach Western Culture in the College's Core Cultures program and may participate in the Rhetoric program. Faculty teach in a 6-6-7 course rotation with six courses per year for two years and seven courses in the third year.

Hampden-Sydney College highly values the teacher/scholar model. Successful applicants will have a record of effective classroom teaching, a commitment to scholarly productivity, and a willingness to work with colleagues on professional service responsibilities. Applicants should have a Ph.D. in political science or a comparable degree by the time of appointment. ABDs near completion may also be considered.

Please submit a letter of application, curriculum vitae, teaching statement, research statement, and three letters of reference to Dr. Celia Carroll-Jones, Chair, Department of Government and Foreign Affairs, Hampden-Sydney College via Interfolio: <http://apply.interfolio.com/147324>. Review of applications will begin in early fall and continue until the position is filled.

Hampden-Sydney College is a selective liberal arts institution enrolling approximately 1000 students. Founded in 1775, it is the tenth oldest institution of higher learning in the United States. Hampden-Sydney is one of three liberal arts colleges in the United States dedicated to the education of men. Our mission is to educate "good men and good citizens in an atmosphere of sound learning."

Our beautiful 1300-acre campus is less than 7 miles from downtown Farmville, home to Longwood University and the Moton Museum, which is listed on the U.S. Civil Rights Trail. The campus is located 65 miles west of Richmond, 50 miles east of Lynchburg, and 75 miles south of Charlottesville, providing abundant cultural, recreational and artistic resources. As a community, we are dedicated to the goal of building a culturally diverse faculty committed to working in a multicultural environment and strongly encourage applications from women and minoritized groups. Hampden-Sydney College values diversity, prohibits discrimination, and is committed to equal opportunity for all employees and applicants for employment.

Start Date: Fall 2025
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 5/25/2024
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 14369

PUBLIC ADMINISTRATION

Murray State University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

Apply at: <https://www.murraystatejobs.com/postings/11906>

The Department of Political Science and Sociology invites applications for a tenure-track position in public administration starting in August 2025. We offer both an on-campus and online Master of Public Administration program with several concentrations. Teaching may include a variety of undergraduate and graduate courses in political science and public administration. We are particularly interested in candidates who can teach courses on Public Organizations, Public Sector Human Resource Management, Research Methods, and Foundations of Public Administration. Preference will be given to candidates who can also contribute to our undergraduate program through teaching courses, such as American Government and State and Local Government.

Candidates will be expected to demonstrate a commitment to scholarship and service as well as excellence in teaching and must also be able to use multiple delivery methods in non-traditional formats.

Responsibilities will include:

- *Teaching online, in-person and ITV
- *Teaching at the graduate and undergraduate level
- *Contributing to other required/core courses in the program such as research methods, foundations (intro) to public administration, public policy analysis, public budgeting and finance, public organizations, and the capstone
- *Contributing to other elective courses in the curriculum
- *Advising students in the Master of Public Administration program
- *Building relationships between the MPA program and the community
- *Maintaining a record of scholarship and publications
- *Building and maintaining a record of service
- *Other duties as assigned.

Ph.D., DPA, or related doctorate in political science, public administration, or public policy. A doctorate outside of these fields may be considered with specific experience in the field. ABDs with a documented plan of completion by appointment date will be considered. Prior experience preferred.

Start Date: Fall 2025
Date Posted: 3/24/2025
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 15529

University of Alabama, Tuscaloosa

Rank: Instructor of Political Science (3 Year Term, Renewable Contract Instructor)

Subfield(s): Public Administration, American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics

Position Summary

The Department of Political Science at the University of Alabama invites applications for a renewable contract instructor. This is a 9-month appointment will be for a three-year term, subject to satisfactory performance reviews. The appointment will begin on August 16, 2025.

Detailed Position Information

The Department of Political Science at the University of Alabama invites applications for a renewable contract instructor. The annual 9-month appointment will be for a three-year term, subject to satisfactory performance reviews. We invite applications from specialists in public administration, U.S. politics, international relations, or comparative politics. Minimum qualifications: MA in Political Science or related field; with some experience teaching at the college level. Preferred qualifications: PhD in Political Science or a related field; experience teaching courses independently. For more information about the department, see <https://psc.ua.edu/>. The position begins August 16, 2025.

Applications must be submitted via the University website at <http://careers.ua.edu/cw/en-us/job/526037>

Application review will begin immediately and will continue until the position is filled. Submit applications by April 30, 2025, for best consideration.

Minimum Qualifications

MA in Political Science or related field; with some experience teaching at the college level.

Preferred Qualifications

PhD in Political Science or a related field; experience teaching courses independently.

Instructions and Required Materials for Application

Applicants should submit a cover letter summarizing their teaching qualifications and experience, courses prepared to offer, and reasons for interest in the position; a CV; evidence of teaching effectiveness; and the names and contact information of 3 references (ideally with knowledge of candidate's teaching experience). Letters will only be required for short-listed candidates.

To see more information and to apply: <http://careers.ua.edu/cw/en-us/job/526037> ***

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 3/20/2025

Salary: $40,000 - $49,999

eJobs ID: 15524

University of Tennessee

Rank: Visiting Professor - Open Ranked Public Policy and Public Affairs_ Fall 2025

Subfield(s): Methodology, Public Policy, Public Administration

The Howard H. Baker, Jr. School of Public Policy and Public Affairs (Baker School) at the University of Tennessee, Knoxville (UTK) invites applications for a Visiting Professor (open rank) in Public Policy and Public Affairs to begin August 1, 2025. This is a one-year appointment.

We seek a scholar with expertise in public policy and quantitative methods to contribute to our undergraduate and graduate teaching needs. The successful candidate will teach a 2-2 course load, including research design, quantitative methods, advanced quantitative methods, and policy communication and data visualization.

This position is well-suited for a scholar looking for a short-term academic opportunity—whether early in their career, between positions, or on sabbatical. This role will focus on teaching, but scholars will be supported in their professional development and encouraged to fully engage in the University of Tennessee's exciting academic environment. Examples of light service opportunities at the Baker School that contribute to professional development include advising undergraduate research, participating in a research workshop, and/or contributing to public engagement.

About the University of Tennessee, Knoxville

The University of Tennessee, Knoxville, is the state's flagship research institution, a campus of choice for outstanding undergraduates, and a premier graduate institution. As a land-grant university, it is committed to excellence in learning, scholarship, and engagement with society. UTK is located in Knoxville, Tennessee, a thriving community in close proximity to the Great Smoky Mountains National Park. About the Baker School

The Howard H. Baker Jr. School of Public Policy and Public Affairs aims to produce the next generation of skilled public problem solvers prepared to take leadership roles in their communities. Baker School students are grounded in the legacy of Howard H. Baker Jr., a former U.S. Senator, Senate Majority Leader, White House Chief of Staff, and Ambassador to Japan, with curriculum and co-curricular activities focused on Baker's guiding principles, including Confidence in America, Finding Common Ground, and You Might Be Right.

The Baker School houses two research centers dedicated to addressing pressing public policy challenges and also operates the Institute of American Civics, which encourages civic knowledge and participation among UT undergraduates and the broader public.

Qualifications

At the time of appointment, candidates must have a doctoral degree in public policy, political science, economics, or a relevant field.

An ideal candidate would have experience teaching undergraduate or graduate courses in research design, quantitative methods, advanced quantitative methods, and policy communication and visualization. However, we welcome applications from early-career scholars and other candidates who demonstrate strong methodological expertise and an interest in teaching these courses.

We seek candidates who can effectively engage students in person and online.

The title and compensation for this position will be commensurate with experience:

- Visiting Assistant Professor: Candidates at this rank should provide evidence of teaching effectiveness and a demonstrated ability to develop and deliver coursework in public policy and quantitative methods.
- Visiting Associate Professor: Candidates should have at least five years of experience in teaching or related academic work and a record of professional activity.
- Visiting Full Professor: Candidates should have at least ten years of experience, a strong teaching record, and a record of significant professional activity.

Position Expectations and Compensation

- Teaching Load: 2 courses per semester (2-2)
- Service Expectations: Minimal, but may include mentorship, student engagement, or participation in Baker School programming
- Course Modality: Courses will be taught in person, with the possibility of some online instruction
- Compensation:
 - $100,000 at the Assistant Professor level

- $120,000 at the Associate Professor level
 - $140,000 at the Full Professor level
- Application Instructions

Applicants should submit the following via Interfolio:
<http://apply.interfolio.com/164895>

- Cover letter
- CV
- Graduate transcripts
- Teaching statement
- Evidence of teaching effectiveness (e.g., syllabi and course evaluations)
- Names and contact information for three references

Additional materials, such as examples of scholarly works, are welcome but not required.

Review of applications will begin April 8, 2025, and will continue until the position is filled.

For inquiries, contact Professor Jack Mewhirter at jmewhirt@utk.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 3/19/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15520

University of the Pacific

Rank: Post-Doctoral Instructor

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Administration, Public Policy

The Department of Political Science at University of the Pacific invites applications for a three-year, full-time, non-tenure track appointment as post-doctoral instructor in American politics. A Ph.D. in Political Science is required by the time of appointment. Salary is commensurate with experience and includes the option of receiving additional compensation for summer teaching. This position includes health, dental and vision benefits, as well as conference travel support during the academic year. The successful candidate will teach 5 courses over the academic year. Preference is given to applicants with teaching experience in American institutions and/or public policy.

Qualified candidates should have demonstrated experience working with a diverse community of learners. For more information about Pacific's Political Science department, visit: <http://www.pacific.edu/Academics/Schools-and-Colleges/College-of-the-Pacific/Academics/Departments-and-Programs/political-science.html>

Application review will begin on March 14, 2025 and will continue until the position has been filled. Please apply through people admin and include the following as attachments: 1) letter of interest; 2) CV; 3) teaching statement, including a list of preferred courses; 4) up to two sample syllabi and related course materials including teaching evaluations; and 5) names and contact information for three references.

To apply, please use the following link: <https://pacific.peopleadmin.com/postings/30056>

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 3/7/2025

Salary: $40,000 - $49,999

eJobs ID: 15495

Arkansas State University

Rank: Post-Doctoral Fellow

The Department of Government, Law & Policy at Arkansas State University invites applications for a teaching and research Post-Doctoral Fellow, beginning fall 2025 and lasting the 2025–26 academic year.

This position is open with respect to any aspect of public administration and policy research (comparative perspectives are openly considered), although candidates whose teaching interests include public finance, budgeting, or related topics are strongly encouraged to apply. Candidates who have a strong theoretical and empirical background with the ability to publish high quality research are preferred.

Please note: all position postings close at 12:00 A.M. CST on the position closing date

All items listed below are requirements must be submitted in order for your file to be considered complete:

- (1) A statement of purpose indicating research and teaching interests
- (2) Curriculum Vitae
- (3) Writing sample (e.g., recent peer-reviewed article, book chapter, or dissertation chapter)
- (4) Three (3) letters of recommendation

Arkansas State University is a comprehensive public research university located approximately 70 miles northwest of Memphis, TN. The department offers a well-rounded curriculum to its more than 100 majors. The department also offers two graduate programs—an MA in Political Science and a NASPAA-accredited MPA program. The latter includes an enrollment of more than 150 students.

Apply here: <https://phe.tbe.taleo.net/phe02/ats/careers/v2/viewRequisition?org=ARKASTAT2&cws=40&rid=36041>

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 4/4/2025

Date Posted: 3/4/2025

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 15483

University of Houston

Rank: Instructional Assistant Professor/ Director of Elizabeth D. Rockwell Center

Instructional Assistant Professor/ Director of Elizabeth D. Rockwell Center

The Hobby School of Public Affairs at the University of Houston invites applications for an Instructional Assistant Professor who will serve as Director of the Elizabeth D. Rockwell Center on Ethics and Leadership. Director responsibilities include: inviting and hosting speakers on campus; running the EDR Center Article Prize competition, scholarship programs, and conference funding program; organizing and coaching an Ethics Bowl team; selecting visiting professors for residencies at the EDR Center; and overseeing other Center activities.

Teaching responsibilities include five courses per year in ethics, philosophy, and public policy as well as a community-oriented public policy lab.

The Elizabeth D. Rockwell Center on Ethics and Leaders was founded in 2020 to promote ethics and leadership education and research at the University of Houston. Located in the Hobby School of Public Affairs, and boasting a substantial endowment, the Center hosts lectures and conferences by prominent public figures, philosophers, and others with a special focus on public policy issues. The Hobby School of Public Affairs, which was founded in 2016, offers undergraduate and graduate degrees in public policy with a rigorous methods training and required courses on ethics and public policy.

The salary for this position is competitive with assistant and associate professor salaries in political theory, philosophy, and other social science and humanities disciplines. It is expected that the Director will continue to earn recognition for the Center, Hobby School, and University of Houston through their leadership of the Center.

Applicants should submit (1) a cover letter highlighting the candidate's strengths and interest in the position, (2) a curriculum vitae, (3) a statement of research interest, (4) a statement of teaching interest and/or evidence of teaching effectiveness (e.g., syllabi, student evaluations), (5) a statement highlighting the candidate's interest in and experience with organizing extracurricular lectures and other events; and (6) names and contact information of three references.

Detailed list of responsibilities:

Oversee the EDR Center Budget and work with Hobby School Business Office to ensure proper budgeting practices.

Hold meetings twice per year with the EDR Center Oversight Committee.

Organize the annual Elizabeth D. Rockwell Distinguished Lecture on Ethics and Leadership.

Organize the search for and help to hire the Elizabeth D. Rockwell Center Visiting Professor.

Organize additional lectures and events on ethics and leadership.

Organize the annual Richard Gelwick Lecture.

Work with Hobby School Communications Team to advertise EDR Center lectures and events and send out announcements about programs.

Run other EDR Center programs: EDR Center Prize Competition, student scholarship programs, conference funding program, faculty fellows program, and lecture funding program.

Coach the UH Ethics Bowl team and lead them to the regional competition.

Minimum Qualifications

Ph.D in Public Policy, Political Science, Economics, Philosophy, or related fields.

Preferred Qualifications

Some teaching experience at the college level. Ability to teach Introduction to Public Policy, Introduction to Public Administration, and Philosophy & Public Policy courses.

Additional desired qualities:

An interest in writing op-ed pieces, reaching out to the greater Houston community, and acting as a public intellectual.

A vision for increasing the standing of the Center and UH as an active hub of ethics and leadership research, teaching, and activities.

Official transcripts are required for a faculty appointment and will be requested upon selection of the final candidates. All positions at the University of Houston-System are security sensitive and will require a criminal history check.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 3/4/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15482

Arkansas State University

Rank: Post-Doctoral Fellow

The Department of Government, Law & Policy at Arkansas State University invites applications for a teaching and research Post-Doctoral Fellow, beginning fall 2025 and lasting the 2025–26 academic year.

This position is open with respect to any aspect of public administration and policy research (comparative perspectives are openly considered), although candidates whose teaching interests include public management, grant writing, or human resources are strongly encouraged to apply. Candidates who have a strong theoretical and empirical background with the ability to publish high quality research are preferred.

Please note: all position postings close at 12:00 A.M. CST on the position closing date

All items listed below are requirements must be submitted in order for your file to be considered complete:

- (1) A statement of purpose indicating research and teaching interests
- (2) Curriculum Vitae
- (3) Writing sample (e.g., recent peer-reviewed article, book chapter, or dissertation chapter)
- (4) Three (3) letters of recommendation

Arkansas State University is a comprehensive public research university located approximately 70 miles northwest of Memphis, TN. The department offers a well-rounded curriculum to its more than 100 majors. The department also offers two graduate programs—an MA in Political Science and a NASPAA-accredited MPA program. The latter includes an enrollment of more than 150 students.

Apply here: <https://phe.tbe.taleo.net/phe02/ats/careers/v2/viewRequisition?org=ARKASTAT2&cws=40&rid=36034>

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 3/30/2025

Date Posted: 3/3/2025

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 15476

University of Alabama, Tuscaloosa

Rank: Instructor of Political Science (3 Year Term, Renewable Contract Instructor)

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Public Administration

Position Summary

The Department of Political Science at the University of Alabama invites applications for a renewable contract instructor. This is a 9-month appointment will be for a three-year term, subject to satisfactory performance reviews. The appointment will begin on August 16, 2025.

Detailed Position Information

The Department of Political Science at the University of Alabama invites applications for a renewable contract instructor. The annual 9-month appointment will be for a three-year term, subject to satisfactory performance reviews. We invite applications from specialists in international relations, comparative politics, public administration, or U.S. politics. Minimum qualifications: MA in Political Science or related field; with some experience teaching at the college level. Preferred qualifications: PhD in Political Science or a related field; experience teaching courses independently. For more information about the department, see <https://psc.ua.edu/>. The position begins August 16, 2025.

Applications must be submitted via the University website at <http://careers.ua.edu/cw/en-us/job/525885>

Application review will begin immediately and will continue until the position is filled. Submit applications by March 25, 2025, for best consideration.

Minimum Qualifications

MA in Political Science or related field; with some experience teaching at the college level.

Preferred Qualifications

PhD in Political Science or a related field; experience teaching courses independently.

Instructions and Required Materials for Application

Applicants should submit a cover letter summarizing their teaching qualifications and experience, courses prepared to offer, and reasons for interest in the position; a CV; evidence of teaching effectiveness; and the names and contact information of 3 references (ideally with knowledge of candidate's teaching experience). Letters will only be required for short-listed candidates.

To see more information and to apply: <http://careers.ua.edu/cw/en-us/job/525885> ***

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 2/25/2025

Salary: $40,000 - $49,999

eJobs ID: 15459

William Paterson University

Rank: Predoctoral Fellow of Urban Planning and Policy

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Public Administration, American Government and Politics

William Paterson University

Division of Academic Affairs

College of Arts, Humanities and Social Sciences

Department of Political Science, Legal Studies, and Urban Studies

Wayne, New Jersey

Predoctoral Fellow of Urban Planning and Policy

William Paterson University seeks applications from outstanding candidates for a Predoctoral Fellow of Urban Planning and Policy in the Department of Political Science, Legal Studies, and Urban Studies within the College of Arts, Humanities and Social Sciences.

Applications from all areas of political science, policy and planning will be considered but research or teaching experience in areas such as urban planning and policy, public management, emergency/disaster management, environmental policy and planning, environmental sustainability, urban design, are preferred. Experience in the use of geographic information systems (GIS) in teaching and/or research, is a plus

As a public university serving a highly diverse student population and holding federal standing as a Hispanic Serving Institution (HSI) and Minority Serving Institution (MSI), William Paterson University seeks to intentionally support the mentoring and development of its diverse faculty, particularly faculty from underrepresented backgrounds.

The Fellow will be appointed for up to two academic years in a non-tenure-track teaching position (NTTP) under New Jersey's statewide contract, with full benefits and a competitive salary. Appointment to the second year is contingent upon a successful mid-year review in the first year. Fellows will teach a 3/3 load during the time of their appointments in a planned and supported period of growth in the role of full-time faculty member.

The University will provide the Fellow a structured program of focused mentorship, pedagogical support, and an introduction to university and professional service. This pre-doctoral fellowship program will be supporting three Fellows across the University. The goals of the program are (a) to support the career success of selected candidates, (b) to advance the University's commitment to building a diverse campus community, and (c) to expand the University's pool of highly qualified candidates for faculty positions.

Following the first year of the fellowship and upon successful completion of the requirements of the doctoral degree, by mutual agreement between the department and the Fellow the department may request conversion of the fellowship to a tenure-track line, contingent on demonstrated need.

The start date of this fellowship is fall 2025.

Department Overview:

The Department of Political Science, Legal Studies, and Urban Studies offers a variety of programs at the undergraduate and graduate levels that help students build successful careers at the city, county, state, and federal levels, as well as in the private and non-profit sectors. The department offers a BA in Political Science, BA in Legal Studies, and an accelerated 5-year BA/MPP in Political Science and Public Policy. It also offers minors in Forensic Studies, Political Science, Legal Studies, and Public Policy. Most WP undergraduate students are employed in related fields or accepted into a graduate program within six months of completion of their degree.

For more information about the department, please visit the website:

<https://www.wpunj.edu/cohss/departments/political-science-legal-and-urban-studies/index.html>

Timeline for the fall 2025 fellowship cohort:

- Friday, February 14, 2025: Applications due for priority consideration.
- Thursday-Friday, April 10-11, 2025: Virtual campus visit and interviews. Details to follow.

Fellowship offers are anticipated by the beginning of May with appointments beginning August 2025.

Fellowship Requirements include:

Teaching:

- Teach a total of 18 graduate and/or undergraduate credits annually in online, hybrid or face-to-face modalities per departmental needs; Collaborate with faculty through tailored mentorship.
- Using approved course outline as a guide, develop relevant syllabi in order to deploy course content, objectives, and methods of student assessment.
- Contribute to student success of a diverse student population by providing consistent and effective support and guidance through role modeling, mentoring, and being available to respond to student questions and needs.

Scholarship:

- A strong commitment to establishing a research program involving undergraduates and graduate students.
- A continued dedication to be involved in research and scholarship and to disseminate these in quality research publications, external and internal grant submissions; Collaborate with faculty through tailored mentorship.

Service:

- Participate in the variety of service opportunities within the department, college, and university community including mentoring students where appropriate.
- Engage in assessment of student learning as well as program and accreditation assessment and reporting requirements.
- Attend department and college meetings and engage in activities of the department.

Required Qualifications:

- Identifies as a member of an underrepresented population in one or more of the following ways—race, ethnicity, gender, socio-economic background, first-generation college, etc.
- ABD from an accredited college or university, with an emphasis in urban planning and policy, public management, environmental policy and planning, urban design, or closely related field.
- Strong commitment to teaching.
- Evidence or promise of research capacity and a planned agenda of achievement in scholarly productivity.
- Demonstrates an understanding of diversity, equity and inclusion concepts and their applicability to the field of teaching and learning.
- Commitment to advancing the mission, vision, and values of the University.

Preferred qualifications:

- Demonstrated ability to succeed in a collaborative environment by freely offering expertise and being open to meaningful feedback and ongoing professional development.
- Evidence of teaching excellence and supporting student success.
- Capable of engaging and contributing in order to make a positive impact.
- Ability to navigate the complexities of a multi-faceted organization with competing wants and needs.

Invitation to apply:

Please click https://wpunj.wd1.myworkdayjobs.com/ext/job/William-Paterson-University/Predoctoral-Fellow_R651 to view the description and apply for the position. Interested candidates will be prompted to submit a letter of application addressing teaching interests and philosophy and curriculum vitae.

About William Paterson:

We invite you to join William Paterson University: a wonderful community to learn, work, grow, and thrive. William Paterson University has been named to Forbes' prestigious "Best Employers by State" list for 2024, recognizing the institution as one of the best-ranked employers in New Jersey based on nationwide surveys. WP is one of four education institutions on the Garden State's list this year (<https://www.forbes.com/lists/best-employers-by-state/>). William Paterson University is among more than 40 companies and organizations that will be honored with a 2024 NJBIZ Empowering Women Award for their commitment to supporting and elevating women employees.

William Paterson University employs approximately 1000 full time employees. Located on 400 wooded acres in suburban Wayne, New Jersey – just 20 miles from New York City – our campus is one of the most diverse in the nation and ranks in the top 4 percent of colleges for social mobility. Your work as a member of our team is important to our students and to the progress of our University. What you do here matters, and we value every contribution.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 2/14/2025

Date Posted: 1/22/2025

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 15359

KAPSARC School of Public Policy

Rank: Faculty - Energy & Environmental Economics

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Public Administration, Political Theory

Position Summary:

The KSPP is a newly established graduate school that offers master's and executive education programs. The first cohort of master's students commenced their graduate studies in the fall of 2024. Situated in the thriving capital city of Riyadh, Saudi Arabia, on the state-of-the-art KAPSARC campus, the KSPP is well-placed to offer students an exceptional educational experience.

The KSPP's vision is to be a world-class education and research institution that prepares the next generation of public policy leaders and professionals within the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia and globally. To achieve this vision, the school is committed to providing high-quality educational programs and creating a bridge between academia, industry, and government. As the first public policy school in the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia, the KSPP is uniquely positioned to offer public policy degrees focusing on management and leadership, energy and climate policy, and data analytics. By providing concentrations in these areas, the school aims to help students develop the skills and knowledge necessary to address pressing policy challenges and make a meaningful impact in their communities and beyond.

The KAPSARC School of Public Policy (KSPP) invites applications for a faculty position in energy and environmental economics. We welcome candidates whose research, teaching, and outreach activities broadly focus on energy markets, climate finance, and climate policy design. The KSPP offers a highly competitive salary and benefits package, including children's educational support, housing support, and premier health insurance.

Responsibilities:

The successful candidate will be expected to carry out impactful research, teach courses related to the candidate's research field, contribute to core courses and/or electives in public sector management and leadership, supervise capstone projects, and contribute to the overall academic environment of the School.

Qualifications:

The successful candidate must have a Ph.D. in economics with a field specialization in energy and environmental economics.

To apply, please visit: <https://www.kspp.edu.sa/careers/faculty-energy-environmental-economics>

Start Date:

Date Posted: 11/4/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15146

KAPSARC School of Public Policy

Rank: Faculty - Public Finance

Subfield(s): Administration, Public Administration, Public Policy

Position Summary:

The KSPP is a newly established graduate school that offers master's and executive education programs. The first cohort of master's students commenced their graduate studies in the fall of 2024. Situated in the thriving capital city of Riyadh, Saudi Arabia, on the state-of-the-art KAPSARC campus, the KSPP is well-placed to offer students an exceptional educational experience.

The KSPP's vision is to be a world-class education and research institution that prepares the next generation of public policy leaders and professionals within the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia and globally. To achieve this vision, the school is committed to providing high-quality educational programs and creating a bridge between academia, industry, and government. As the first public policy school in the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia, the KSPP is uniquely positioned to offer public policy degrees focusing on management and leadership, energy and climate policy, and data analytics. By providing concentrations in these areas, the school aims to help students develop the skills and knowledge necessary to address pressing policy challenges and make a meaningful impact in their communities and beyond. The KAPSARC School of Public Policy (KSPP) invites applications for a faculty position in public management.

The KAPSARC School of Public Policy (KSPP) invites applications for a faculty position in public finance. We welcome candidates whose research, teaching, and outreach activities broadly address public finance topics. The KSPP offers a highly competitive salary and benefits package, including children's educational support, housing support, and premier health insurance.

Responsibilities:

The successful candidate will be expected to carry out impactful research, teach courses related to the candidate's research field, contribute to core courses and/or electives in public sector management and leadership, supervise capstone projects, and contribute to the overall academic environment of the School.

Qualifications:

The successful candidate must have a Ph.D. in economics with a field specialization in public finance

To apply, please visit: <https://www.kspp.edu.sa/careers/faculty-public-finance>

Start Date:

Date Posted: 11/4/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15145

KAPSARC School of Public Policy

Rank: Faculty - Public Management

Position Summary:

The KSPP is a newly established graduate school that offers master's and executive education programs. The first cohort of master's students commenced their graduate studies in the fall of 2024. Situated in the thriving capital city of Riyadh, Saudi Arabia, on the state-of-the-art KAPSARC campus, the KSPP is well-placed to offer students an exceptional educational experience.

The KSPP's vision is to be a world-class education and research institution that prepares the next generation of public policy leaders and professionals within the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia and globally. To achieve this vision, the school is committed to providing high-quality educational programs and creating a bridge between academia, industry, and government. As the first public policy school in the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia, the KSPP is uniquely positioned to offer public policy degrees focusing on management and leadership, energy and climate policy, and data analytics. By providing concentrations in these areas, the school aims to help students develop the skills and knowledge necessary to address pressing policy challenges and make a meaningful impact in their communities and beyond. The KAPSARC School of Public Policy (KSPP) invites applications for a faculty position in public management.

The KAPSARC School of Public Policy (KSPP) invites applications for a faculty position in public management. We welcome candidates from any subfield of public management, including those with research interests that intersect with political science, decision science, and/or economics. The KSPP offers a highly competitive salary and benefits package, including children's educational support, housing support, and premier health insurance.

Responsibilities:

The successful candidate will be expected to carry out impactful research, teach courses related to the candidate's research field, contribute to core courses and/or electives in public sector management and leadership, supervise capstone projects, and contribute to the overall academic environment of the School.

Qualifications:

The successful candidate must have a Ph.D. in management science, political science, or similar disciplines with a track record of research on public management topics.

To apply, please visit: <https://www.kspp.edu.sa/careers/faculty-public-management>

Start Date:

Date Posted: 11/4/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15147

MU (Columbia) Campus

Rank: Open-Rank Tenure-Track/Tenured Professor

Open-Rank Tenure-Track/Tenured Professor
University of Missouri in Columbia, MO

Description

The University of Missouri's ambitious multi-year hiring initiative, Mizzou Forward, is intended to attract high profile scholars with a record of significant external funding. The Truman School of Government and Public Affairs is participating in this initiative and tenure-line positions are available for exceptional candidates in the fields of public policy, political science, comparative politics, international relations, and/or public administration. This is an executive style search that is managed centrally by the University; applications may be submitted at any time.

A successful MizzouForward candidate is a research leader with a passion for collaboration and the grit to address our world's most pressing research challenges. The colleagues we're looking to recruit possess:

- ? A proven track record of active, external research funding, particularly from federal agencies
- ? A research agenda that complements the goals of MizzouForward
- ? A robust publication and citation record
- ? National awards and honors, membership with national academies
- ? An interdisciplinary scope of work.

For more information and to apply, see: <https://provost.missouri.edu/mizzou-forward/>.

The Truman School of Government and Public Affairs has 33 faculty with academic appointments in the school and houses a PhD in Political Science, a PhD in Public Affairs, a Master's in Public Affairs, and a Master's in Defense and Strategic Studies, as well as BA in Political Science and a BA in Public Administration and Policy. For more information see: <https://truman.missouri.edu/>.

About the University of Missouri

The University of Missouri was founded in 1839 in Columbia, Missouri, as the first public university west of the Mississippi River and the first state university in the Louisiana Purchase territory. MU provides the benefits of two universities in one — it is a major land-grant institution and Missouri's largest public research university.

Considered one of the nation's top-tier institutions, MU has a reputation of excellence in teaching and research and is the flagship campus of the four-campus University of Missouri System. It is one of only 64 public universities, and the only public institution in Missouri, to be selected for membership in the Association of American Universities. Mizzou is the flagship campus of the University of Missouri system, located in Columbia, just 20 minutes to the Columbia Regional Airport, and less than 2 hours to St. Louis or Kansas City.

Columbia, MO., consistently rated as one of the best communities to live, is an ideal college town, combining small-town comforts, community spirit and low cost of living with big-city culture, activities and resources. Home to nationally renowned public schools and other colleges and educational centers, Columbia is packed with restaurants and entertainment venues and hosts more than a dozen annual cultural festivals.

Application Requirements

- External application URL and instructions below: <https://provost.missouri.edu/mizzou-forward/>.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/10/2024

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 15032

Western Carolina University

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Emergency and Disaster Management Program within the Department of Criminology & Criminal Justice is seeking two faculty members at the rank of Assistant Professor (tenure-track), beginning August 1, 2025. These are nine-month positions with summer teaching possibilities and are for our residential program with some likely online teaching responsibilities. Salary is commensurate with qualifications and experience. Responsibilities include teaching, research, and service.

Candidates must have a Ph.D. in Emergency Management, Criminology/Criminal Justice, Political Science, Public Administration, Public Health, Urban Planning, or other discipline closely related to the field of Emergency & Disaster Management. Highly qualified ABD candidates will be considered if completion of the degree is imminent. Candidates must have a clearly articulated research agenda in Emergency & Disaster Management, experience and/or graduate coursework related to Emergency & Disaster Management, and a commitment of academic excellence and collegiality.

The Emergency and Disaster Management Program has an established record of engaging students through undergraduate research and experiential learning and is consistently ranked as one of the best undergraduate programs in the nation. The ideal candidate will have an interest in contributing to these efforts and have a firm foundation to teach a range of emergency and disaster management courses.

Application Process:

Application materials must be submitted online to the Western Carolina University Human Resources Portal at <http://jobs.wcu.edu>. Candidates should submit an online candidate profile, cover letter, curriculum vitae, statement of research interests, unofficial transcripts, evidence of teaching experience/philosophy, and contact information for three current references.

Review of applications will begin September 15th and continue until the position is filled.

Contact:

Inquiries may be directed to Committee Chair and EDM Director Dr. Lisa Briggs at lbriggs@wcu.edu or 828.227.2180.

About WCU:

Western Carolina University is the UNC system's westernmost campus and has been consistently ranked as one of the Top 15 public regional institutions in the South. WCU's main campus sits in the beautiful mountains of Western, North Carolina, near the Great Smoky and Blue Ridge mountains, fifty-two miles west of Asheville. WCU's location in the rural mountains amidst incredible biodiversity and unique communities creates an opportunity for academic discovery service and is a haven for outdoor enthusiasts. The campus covers approximately 600 acres, with a student body population of over 11,500.

Please go to <https://www.wcu.edu> for more information.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/7/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14590

PUBLIC LAW

Morehouse College

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor (American Politics/Public Law)

The Division of Humanities, Social Sciences, Media & Arts (HSSMA) invites applications for a full-time, visiting assistant professor in the Political Science Department. Candidates should specialize in American politics and public law. Candidates should be prepared to teach courses on American national government, constitutional law, race and law, and civil liberties.

We are looking for someone who thinks creatively about their teaching, engages in scholarship, and can be committed to the mission of Morehouse College—to develop men with disciplined minds who lead lives of leadership and service by emphasizing the intellectual and character development of its students and by assuming a special responsibility for teaching the history and culture of Black people.

The Political Science department offers a broad range of courses, including majors in Urban Studies and International Studies. Applicants should have experience teaching political science concepts to a diverse group of students including non-majors. We welcome candidates who can develop innovative first-year experience (FYE) courses for our general education program.

This is a one-year appointment. The teaching load for visiting professors is 3-4. The start date for the position is August 2025. Note that the department will conduct a national search for a permanent, tenure-track assistant professor in this area of specialization next fall.

Application deadline is April 4, 2025. Please direct any questions to Dr. Andrew Douglas (andrew.douglas@morehouse.edu).

All applications must be submitted via the Morehouse HR website: <https://morehouse.peopleadmin.com/postings/11876>

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 4/4/2025

Date Posted: 3/26/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15530

Baylor University

Rank: Lecturer, Full-Time, Temporary - Political Science

To apply, go to: <https://apply.interfolio.com/164380>

Applications will be reviewed as they are received.

Baylor University: Office of the Provost: Arts and Sciences: Arts and Sciences - Humanities and Social Sciences: Political Science

This is a temporary lecturer position with full-time responsibilities teaching courses in the Department of Political Science during the 2025-2026 academic year. Primary teaching responsibilities will be the core curriculum common course, PSC 1387 The U.S. Constitution, Its Interpretation, and the American Constitutional Experience. We especially welcome applicants with research or undergraduate teaching experience in American politics, public law, or political or constitutional theory. An ability to teach introductory courses in another subfield of political science is welcome but not required. Finalists will be required to attend an on-campus interview with University administration. Employment will be contingent upon the successful completion of a background check.

Located in Waco, Texas, Baylor University is the oldest college in Texas. With a population of 21,000 diverse students, Baylor is one of the top universities in the nation, having been named an R1 institution by the Carnegie Classification in January 2022. Baylor is also on the honor roll of the "Great Colleges to Work For" from The Chronicle of Higher Education; Baylor offers competitive salaries and benefits while allowing faculty and staff to live in one of the fastest-growing parts of the state. Our strategic plan, Illuminate, guides the University as we continue to live up to Baylor's mission of educating men and women for worldwide leadership and service by integrating academic excellence and Christian commitment within a caring community.

Qualifications

The successful applicant must hold an advanced degree in the teaching discipline, preferably the Ph.D., by the start date of the appointment. Teaching experience is preferred.

The following application materials should be submitted through Interfolio:

- (1) a cover/application letter,
- (2) current curriculum vitae,
- (3) an official transcript of the highest degree completed (if a Ph.D. or other advanced degree is in progress, a transcript showing hours completed toward the Ph.D. is also required)

All applicants must complete the self-disclosed Religious Affiliation Form in Interfolio.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 3/21/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15523

St. Mary's University

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor of Political Science

Subfield(s): Public Law, Political Theory, American Government and Politics

The Department of Political Science at St. Mary's University is conducting a search for a one-year Visiting Assistant Professor faculty position to begin August 2025. The desired applicant should hold a Ph.D. (or be ABD) in political science from an accredited university with a concentration in American politics and a subfield expertise in public law, specifically constitutional law and judicial politics. A secondary subfield in political behavior, theory, civil rights and voting rights, or media and politics is welcome. The ideal candidate will also have some post-secondary teaching experience. Pending budgetary approval, the Department intends to conduct a search for a tenure-track position in these fields of study with a start date of August 2026.

The expected teaching load is four courses per semester. In addition to teaching introductory political science courses, the applicant should be able to offer upper-division undergraduate courses in public law, specifically constitutional law and judicial politics.

The Department of Political Science is the civic conscience of the University and fosters the building of civil society through the education of the whole student with a commitment to civic engagement and a focus on justice and service to society. To fulfill this role, the Department offers a Civic Engagement and Social Action course, which is required of majors and an option for the partial fulfillment of the social science core curriculum requirement. The Department resides in the College of Arts, Humanities and Social Sciences, the largest of the University's undergraduate schools.

St. Mary's University, as a Catholic Marianist University, fosters the formation of people in faith and educates leaders for the common good through community, integrated liberal arts and professional education, and academic excellence: www.stmarytx.edu/about. St. Mary's is the oldest Catholic university in the Southwest and continues to advocate the Marianist mission. St. Mary's enrolls approximately 3,500 students in a diverse university with four schools, more than 40 academic programs including Ph.D. and J.D. programs, and numerous pre-professional programs. The successful candidate is expected to support and contribute to the University's Marianist educational mission.

Applications can be found at <http://stmarytx.applicantpro.com/jobs/> with the option to upload all supporting documents electronically. Along with the employment application, also submit: (1) a letter of application addressing interest in position; (2) curriculum vitae; (3) an unofficial* graduate transcript confirming the doctoral degree or progress towards the doctoral degree; (4) a statement of teaching philosophy; and (5) evidence of teaching excellence. A research statement is optional, and if included should discuss how the applicant's research informs their teaching. Review of applications will begin immediately and continue until the position is filled. Any offer of employment will be contingent upon successful completion of a clear background check and receipt of an official transcript* confirming progress towards or completion of doctoral studies.

Two letters of reference should be sent by email directly to the chair of the search committee—Dr. Leona Pallansch, Associate Professor of Political Science and Director of Pre-Law, lpallansch@stmarytx.edu.

St. Mary's University is a Hispanic-Serving Institution and an Equal Opportunity Employer.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 3/18/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15514

Trinity College

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor of Public Policy and Law

Subfield(s): Public Law, American Government and Politics, Other

The Trinity College Public Policy and Law Program seeks applications for a visiting assistant professor in public law, law and society, or public policy. The teaching load is 5 courses a year and will include courses in the candidate's area of research expertise. We will prioritize candidates with the interest and ability to teach introductory law courses for liberal arts undergraduates. The ability to teach one or more of the following courses also would be valued: (1) an introduction to US public policy; (2) a research methods course incorporating quantitative and qualitative analysis skills; and/or (3) a seminar in which students apply learning from policy and law internships to crafting policy memos and op-eds.

Public Policy & Law is an interdisciplinary program in which undergraduates learn and practice methods and modes of thinking that help them understand and become actively engaged in legal and public policy issues. Our multidisciplinary, multi-method program introduces students to a broad range of analytical skills from the social sciences and humanities, including statistical analysis, legal argumentation, and close reading of texts. Our major offers continuous opportunities to apply learning through internships and community-engaged projects, with the aim of cultivating civic participants with the capacity to make well-informed, ethical decisions.

Trinity is a highly selective, independent, nonsectarian liberal arts institution located in the capital city of Hartford, Connecticut. The college maintains a rigorous academic profile complemented by a vibrant co-curricular program. With more than 2,100 full-time undergraduate students, representing forty-three states and ninety-one countries, we consider our location in a culturally and socioeconomically diverse capital city to be among Trinity's most distinctive assets; and we cultivate strong connections with our surrounding neighbors and with institutions and organizations throughout Hartford and the region. As a preeminent liberal arts college in an urban setting, Trinity College prepares students to be bold, independent thinkers who lead transformative lives.

Evidence of academic expertise and teaching effectiveness is required. A Ph.D. in Legal Studies, Public Policy, Sociology, Political Science or a related field should be in hand by August 2025. We will also consider candidates with a JD and experience that prepares them for undergraduate teaching. We encourage applicants who share our commitment to inclusive scholarship, teaching, and service that accounts for diverse identities and perspectives. We encourage applications from candidates from historically underrepresented backgrounds. The successful candidate will be eligible for research and conference travel funds.

Please submit the following materials: a CV; cover letter (describing research and teaching, including your approach to issues of diversity, equity and inclusion in your teaching, scholarship, or service); sample of scholarly or professional writing; course syllabi; course evaluations; a graduate transcript; and contact information for at least three individuals who will provide letters of reference. Applications will be reviewed on a rolling basis and those received by March 26, 2025 will receive full consideration.

<https://trincoll.peopleadmin.com/postings/3481>

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 3/26/2025

Date Posted: 3/7/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15493

Morehouse College

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor (American Politics/Public Law)

The Division of Humanities, Social Sciences, Media & Arts (HSSMA) invites applications for a full-time, visiting assistant professor in the Political Science Department. Candidates should specialize in American politics and public law. Candidates should be prepared to teach courses on American national government, constitutional law, race and law, and civil liberties.

We are looking for someone who thinks creatively about their teaching, engages in scholarship, and can be committed to the mission of Morehouse College—to develop men with disciplined minds who lead lives of leadership and service by emphasizing the intellectual and character development of its students and by assuming a special responsibility for teaching the history and culture of Black people.

The Political Science department offers a broad range of courses, including majors in Urban Studies and International Studies. Applicants should have experience teaching political science concepts to a diverse group of students including non-majors. We welcome candidates who can develop innovative first-year experience (FYE) courses for our general education program.

This is a one-year appointment. The teaching load for visiting professors is 3-4. The start date for the position is August 2025. Note that the department will conduct a national search for a permanent, tenure-track assistant professor in this area of specialization next fall.

Application deadline is April 4, 2025. Please direct any questions to Dr. Andrew Douglas (andrew.douglas@morehouse.edu).

All applications must be submitted via the Morehouse HR website: <https://morehouse.peopleadmin.com/postings/11876>

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 4/4/2025

Date Posted: 3/5/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15487

University of Wisconsin-Platteville

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor of Political Science

Position Summary:

The Department of Social Sciences at the University of Wisconsin-Platteville invites applications for a Visiting Assistant Professor of Political Science with an anticipated start date of August 2025. This is a one-year, nine-month position. Pending budgetary approval and satisfactory performance, this position may transition into a tenure track line.

The University of Wisconsin System has a nationally top ranked retirement plan and a comprehensive benefits package.

Responsibilities:

- The primary duty will be teaching undergraduate courses in Political Science with a load of four courses per semester. The courses will include sections of Introduction to American Government, law-related courses, and upper-level courses in their area of specialization.
- Additionally, the position requires working closely with our Pre-Law students, in advising and mentoring, and prep for law school.
- The candidate will also be expected to provide mentorship to our Pre-law students and Political Science majors interested in Law or graduate school and to effectively interact and collaborate with colleagues in the department.

What You'll Need to Succeed:

- Ph.D. in Political Science (American Politics/Law). An ABD (all but dissertation) will be considered if the candidate is near completion.
- A minimum of two years of experience teaching at the undergraduate level and an interest in developing an upper-level course in their area of specialization.
- Strong commitment to undergraduate education and an interest in mentoring undergraduate majors and pre-law advising.
- Excellent oral and written communication skills.

Why It's Great to be a Pioneer:

The Political Science program is housed in the Social Sciences Department in the College of Liberal Arts and Education and engages with both General Education students and undergraduate majors. Our interdisciplinary department also includes Political Science, Sociology, Ethnic Studies, International Studies, and Women's and Gender Studies programs. Our faculty and staff interact dynamically with the university and Platteville community on a regular basis.

The University of Wisconsin-Platteville, founded in 1866, offers 47 baccalaureate and 10 master's programs. It possesses institutional strengths in middle level education, engineering, industrial technology, agriculture, criminal justice and business. The campus is located in Southwest Wisconsin's largest and most historic community. The region offers excellent school systems, high quality medical and hospital facilities, outstanding recreational opportunities, and vibrant businesses and industries. UW-Platteville is a cultural and educational center for the Tri-State region of Illinois, Iowa and Wisconsin.

Application Deadline:

To ensure full consideration, applications must be submitted through our online applicant portal (<https://careers.uwplatt.edu>) by March 18, 2025. Applications will be reviewed until the position has been filled.

How to Apply:

The following documents are required for applicant consideration:

- Letter of application addressing all required qualifications
- A current curriculum vitae
- Contact information (name, telephone number, and email address) for 3 professional references.

We Support Diversity and Inclusion:

Our mission is to foster a diverse environment that contributes to an inclusive culture and climate by promoting critical discourse and meaningful interactions between all members of our campus community.

Equal Employment Opportunity:

The University of Wisconsin-Platteville is committed to recruiting, supporting and fostering a diverse, inclusive and civil community of outstanding faculty, staff and students, and is an AA/EEO Employer. A criminal background check is required for employment. Applicants must be legally entitled to work in the U.S. at time of hire.

Employment will require a criminal background check. It will also require you and your references to answer questions regarding sexual violence and sexual harassment.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 3/18/2025

Date Posted: 3/4/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15479

University of California, Santa Cruz

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor in Legal Studies

Subfield(s): Public Law, American Government and Politics, International Relations

The Legal Studies Program at the University of California, Santa Cruz (UCSC) invites applications for the position of Visiting Assistant Professor in Legal Studies.

Under the direction of the Legal Studies Program Director, the Visiting Assistant Professor will teach four undergraduate courses across three quarters, mentor students, and contribute to research and service in the Program. The UC Santa Cruz Legal Studies Program offers an interdisciplinary undergraduate major, administered by the Politics Department, which seeks to integrate the study of law and legal issues through the contributions and insights of many diverse fields of study in the social sciences and humanities.

While the specialization is open, we welcome candidates whose education, professional activities, and teaching combine law and policy from a comparative or international perspective, or with a focus on the United States. We welcome candidates who will contribute to the inclusive excellence of the academic community through their teaching and other duties.

The hiring unit will not sponsor employment-eligible immigration statuses for this position.

Legal Studies Program: <https://legalstudies.ucsc.edu/>

Politics Department: <https://politics.ucsc.edu>

Qualifications

Basic qualifications (required at the time the application is submitted) Ph.D. in legal studies, law, law and society, political science, or a related field; and/or a J.D. Equivalent foreign degrees will be considered. It is expected the degree will be completed by August 31, 2025. Demonstrated record of teaching that includes a minimum of one year of college-level teaching (three quarters or two semesters) in legal studies, law, law and society, political science, or a related field. Professional record of accomplishments that includes publications; grants; awards; fellowships; organizing workshops; and/or participation in conferences, workshops, or summer schools.

Your application must demonstrate that you meet all of the basic qualifications when you submit your application. There are no exceptions to this requirement.

Application Requirements

Curriculum Vitae - Your most recently updated C.V.

Cover Letter

Statement of Teaching

Sample Syllabus

Teaching Evaluations (3 sets) - (Optional)

3 letters of reference required

Applications must include confidential letters of recommendation*.

Note that your references, or dossier service, will submit their confidential letters directly to the UC Recruit System.

*All letters will be treated as confidential per University of California policy and California state law. For any reference letter provided via a third party (i.e., dossier service, career center), direct the author to UCSC's confidentiality statement at <https://academicpersonnel.ucsc.edu/confidentiality-statements/>.

Apply link: <https://recruit.ucsc.edu/JPF01877>

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 4/25/2025

Date Posted: 3/3/2025

Salary: $80,000 - $89,999

eJobs ID: 15477

Rice University

Rank: Assistant Teaching Professor

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Political Theory, Public Law

Description:

The Department of Political Science at Rice University, located in Houston, Texas, invites applications for an assistant teaching professor. This is a full-time, benefits-eligible, non-tenure track faculty position. The appointment is renewable, with an initial term of three years, and promotable thereafter. The successful candidate will (1) show promise as a teacher of courses in American Politics, Political Theory, Public Law, and/or Constitutional Law; (2) demonstrate knowledge of recent evidence-based advances in pedagogical practices; (3) show potential for effective advising and mentorship of undergraduate students; and (4) be willing to participate actively in the department through service.

Duties and Responsibilities:

The assistant teaching professor will teach 5 semester-long courses in a 3-2 or 2-3 split. Courses will be accessible and hold broad appeal to students in Political Science and other fields. One course will contribute to the core curriculum of the Politics, Law, and Social Thought minor that is grounded in the close study of texts and other source material (for more information, see the program description at <https://politics.rice.edu/about-plst>). The assistant teaching professor will also serve as the major advisor for Political Science, help build a more vibrant and student-centered major and contribute to the ongoing review and development of the undergraduate curriculum in Political Science.

Start Date:

July 1, 2025

About Rice University:

Rice University is a private R1 university with a strong reputation for excellence in both teaching and research, located in the heart of Houston's dynamic Museum District and adjacent to the Texas Medical Center. It offers undergraduate and graduate degrees across eight schools, with a student body of approximately 4,800 undergraduate and 4,000 graduate students. Rice consistently ranks among the top 20 national universities and the top 10 in undergraduate teaching (US News & World Report).

We welcome the fullness of diversity to Rice. Qualified applicants are considered without regard to race, color, religion, age, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national or ethnic origin, genetic information, disability, or protected veteran status. Also, in our candidate pools, we seek to attract greater representation of women, scholars of color, people with disabilities, veterans, and others who have historically been underrepresented in political science; attract students from a wide range of countries and backgrounds; accelerate progress in building a faculty and staff varied in background and thought; and maintain an environment that fosters interaction and understanding within our community.

Qualifications:

Candidates must currently hold a Ph.D. degree in Political Science or related field, or have the degree conferred by July 1, 2025.

Application Instructions:

Review of applications will begin immediately, and candidates are encouraged to apply by March 15, 2025 to be given full consideration. Applicants should use the application portal: apply.interfolio.com/164384 to provide (1) cover letter, (2) curriculum vitae, (3) teaching statement incl. undergraduate courses you could teach (2-3 pages), (4) evidence of teaching effectiveness (e.g. teaching evaluations, peer observations), (5) at least two course syllabi, (6) and three letters of reference from persons familiar with your teaching experience.

Start Date: Summer 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 2/28/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15474

Presbyterian College

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor of Political Science (Pre-Law and Judicial Politics)

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, American Government and Politics, Public Law

Specializations: Constitutional Law & Theory, Criminal Justice, Judicial Politics

The Department of Political Science at Presbyterian College invites applications for a two-year visiting assistant professor / instructor position (with the possibility of renewal) in the field of U.S. politics and to serve as the College's Director of Pre-law Studies with a start date of August 15, 2025. Review of applications will begin on Monday, March 17, 2025 and continue until the position is filled.

Responsibilities for this position include teaching an introductory course in U.S. government and various courses for the Pre-law Studies minor. Successful candidates will also direct the College's established pre-law program and serve as advisor to Pre-law Studies minors. The ideal candidate will also be able to teach courses outside of pre-law studies or judicial politics, including contributing other classes to the major and in inter-disciplinary areas. Successful applicants must display a strong enthusiasm for teaching and a commitment to both service and scholarship. Ph.D. preferred, but ABD will be considered at the rank of instructor versus assistant professor.

Submission of application materials by electronic mail is strongly encouraged. Interested individuals should provide, at a minimum, a letter stating interest in the position, a curriculum vitae, transcripts from undergraduate and graduate institutions, and three letters of recommendation. Materials should be sent to Dr. Erin McAdams at provost@presby.edu. For specific questions regarding the position, please contact Dr. David Liu, chair of the Political Science department, directly at zliu@presby.edu.

Presbyterian College (PC) is a liberal arts college affiliated with the Presbyterian Church USA. The college is committed to an equitable and inclusive learning environment for all students, supports academic freedom, and encourages community involvement. Located in Clinton, South Carolina, PC is approximately 40 minutes from Greenville and Spartanburg, South Carolina and about one hour from Columbia, South Carolina. The region offers abundant opportunity for social and recreational activities, with easy access to Asheville and Charlotte, North Carolina, and Atlanta, Georgia.

The Department of Political Science is one of the largest in terms of students on campus, and it typically graduates between fifteen and twenty students each year. The department has five current faculty members, and the teaching load is seven courses per academic year (4:3). For more information about the position, the Department of Political Science, or Presbyterian College, please see our web site at www.presby.edu.

Presbyterian College is an EEO employer and does not discriminate against any person or group on the basis of age, color, disability, gender, pregnancy, national origin, race, religion, sexual orientation, veteran status or genetic information. PC is building a culturally diverse faculty and staff committed to working in a multicultural environment and encourages applications from minorities and women.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 2/10/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15413

Amherst College

Rank: Amherst College Visiting Assistant Professor in Law, Jurisprudence and Social Thought

Amherst College's Department of Law, Jurisprudence and Social Thought invites applications for a full-time three-year visiting appointment at the rank of assistant professor for the 2025-8 academic years (beginning July 1, 2025 and ending June 30, 2028). Teaching responsibilities include two courses per semester and supervision of senior honors projects. We welcome applications from persons trained in the humanities, social sciences, and/or law. We are particularly interested in candidates whose research and teaching is in one or more of the following areas: global legality; post-colonial legality; law and science; law and critical race theory; law and religion; legal theory; legal history; and law and culture. The position requires a Ph.D or a J.D.

Applicants are asked to submit electronically to Interfolio <https://apply.interfolio.com/163214> a cover letter addressed to Professor Adam Sitze, curriculum vitae, sample of their scholarship, a statement of teaching philosophy, and three confidential letters of recommendation. Review of applications will begin on March 21, 2025, and continue until the position is filled.

Amherst College is a small, distinguished undergraduate institution with a strong liberal arts curriculum, committed to excellence in teaching and scholarship. Amherst is one of the most diverse liberal arts colleges in the country. Located in the Connecticut River Valley of western Massachusetts, Amherst participates with Hampshire, Mount Holyoke, and Smith Colleges and the University of Massachusetts in the Five-College Consortium. The college is committed to providing financial aid that meets 100 percent of every student's demonstrated need, and nearly 60 percent of Amherst students receive financial aid. Our expectation is that the successful candidate will excel at teaching and mentoring a broad range of students. The college is committed to enriching its educational experience and its culture through the diversity of its faculty, administration, and staff and works to support all members of its community. Amherst College is an equal opportunity employer and encourages persons of all genders, persons of color, and persons with disabilities to apply.

Statement of Nondiscrimination

Amherst College does not discriminate in admission, employment, or administration of its programs and activities on the basis of race, national or ethnic origin, color, religion, sex or gender (including pregnancy, sexual orientation, gender expression, and gender identity), age, disability, genetic information, military service, or any other characteristic or class protected under applicable federal, state or local law. Amherst College complies with all state and federal laws that prohibit discrimination, including Title VII of the Civil Rights Act, Title IX, Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act, the Americans with Disabilities Act, the Equal Pay Act, and the Age Discrimination in Employment Act. Inquiries should be addressed to the chief equity and inclusion officer, Amherst College, P.O. Box 5000, Amherst, MA 01002-5000.

Start Date: Summer 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 2/9/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15408

University of Nevada, Las Vegas

Rank: Assistant Professor-in-Residence, Public Law, Department of Political Science

https://nshe.wd1.myworkdayjobs.com/en-US/UNLV-External/job/UNLV1-Main-Campus-Las-Vegas/Assistant-Professor-in-Residence--Public-Law--Department-of-Political-Science--R0146179-_R0146179

The Department of Political Science at the University of Nevada, Las Vegas, invites applications from well-qualified individuals for an Assistant Professor-in-Residence of Public Law starting in the fall semester of 2025. At UNLV, faculty-in-residence are full-time, non-tenure-track, instruction-intensive faculty members with a promotional track from Assistant Professor-in-Residence, to Associate Professor-in-Residence, to Professor-in-Residence. Faculty-in-Residence in the Department of Political Science participate in departmental meetings and committees, and they contribute to departmental deliberation and decision making on most matters. Job responsibilities include teaching twelve credits in each of the fall and spring semesters, which may include a mixture of in-person and online classes. In addition to teaching introductory courses in American politics, the successful candidate will be expected to teach undergraduate courses in the American judicial process and various topics in constitutional law from a social science perspective. Other responsibilities include mentoring undergraduate students and providing appropriate levels of service at the department, college, and university levels. The department is interested in candidates whose professional experience has prepared them to contribute to our commitment to diversity and inclusion in higher education.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 2/5/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15398

Dickinson College

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor of Political Science (Comparative Law/Law and Society)

The Political Science and Law & Policy programs at Dickinson College seek applications for a full-time Visiting Assistant Professor of law and society. A successful applicant will have research and teaching interests in either law and society or in comparative law. This position is for one year with the possibility of renewal and carries a five-course (annual) teaching load. The department expects the successful candidate to be a committed, collaborative, and imaginative scholar with a Ph.D. in hand by September 2025.

Dickinson College is a highly selective four-year, independent liberal arts college with 2300 students. It is located 20 minutes west of Harrisburg and is a two-hour drive from Baltimore, Washington, D.C., and Philadelphia. Students, faculty, and staff often enjoy the food, art, entertainment, and cultural enrichment of these major hubs and/or New York City. The ability to create inclusive learning environments for an increasingly diverse student body will be an important characteristic of the successful candidate. Applicants may highlight their ongoing or anticipated contributions to promoting equity and inclusion in their materials. Interested candidates should apply for this position electronically via <https://jobs.dickinson.edu>.

Review of applications will begin February 1, 2025. Candidates should submit via QUEST (online application system) at <https://jobs.dickinson.edu>; please include a letter of application, a curriculum vitae, a graduate transcript, three letters of recommendation, a statement of teaching philosophy, sample syllabi, and teaching evaluations or other evidence of teaching effectiveness. Review of applications will begin at the start of February and will continue until the position is filled. Please address questions to the department chair, J. Toby Reiner at: reinerj@dickinson.edu.

Dickinson College is committed to building a representative and diverse faculty, administrative staff, and student body. We strive to foster an inclusive community where members from all backgrounds can live, learn, and thrive together. Accordingly, we encourage applications from all qualified persons.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 1/9/2025

Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 15333

Dickinson College

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor of Political Science (US Public Law)

The Political Science and Law & Policy programs at Dickinson College seek applications for a full-time Visiting Assistant Professor of American Public Law. A successful applicant will have research and teaching interests in either constitutional law or the judiciary. The ability to teach either American politics or political theory at introductory level is a plus. This position is for one year with the possibility of renewal and carries a five-course (annual) teaching load. The department expects the successful candidate to be a committed, collaborative, and imaginative scholar with a Ph.D. in hand by September 2025.

Dickinson College is a highly selective four-year, independent liberal arts college with 2300 students. It is located 20 minutes west of Harrisburg and is a two-hour drive from Baltimore, Washington, D.C., and Philadelphia. Students, faculty, and staff often enjoy the food, art, entertainment, and cultural enrichment of these major hubs and/or New York City. The ability to create inclusive learning environments for an increasingly diverse student body will be an important characteristic of the successful candidate. Applicants may highlight their ongoing or anticipated contributions to promoting equity and inclusion in their materials.

Interested candidates should apply for this position electronically via <https://jobs.dickinson.edu>. Review of applications will begin February 1, 2025. Candidates should submit via QUEST (online application system) at <https://jobs.dickinson.edu>; please include a letter of application, a curriculum vitae, a graduate transcript, three letters of recommendation, a statement of teaching philosophy, sample syllabi, and teaching evaluations or other evidence of teaching effectiveness.

Review of applications will begin at the start of February and will continue until the position is filled. Please address questions to the department chair, J. Toby Reiner at: reinerj@dickinson.edu. Dickinson College is committed to building a representative and diverse faculty, administrative staff, and student body. We strive to foster an inclusive community where members from all backgrounds can live, learn, and thrive together. Accordingly, we encourage applications from all qualified persons.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 1/9/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15332

Hampden-Sydney College

Rank: Assistant Professor: Public Law

Specializations: Constitutional Law & Theory, Civil Rights & Liberties, Political Theory

The Department of Government and Foreign Affairs at Hampden-Sydney College invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track appointment at the rank of Assistant Professor to begin in Fall 2025. Candidates should have expertise in American public law with a focus on constitutional law and American judicial process. The successful applicant will serve as faculty advisor to the Pre-Law Society and Moot Court team and may teach, as needed, introductory courses in American Politics. Faculty teach in a 6-6-7 course rotation with six courses per year for two years and seven courses in the third year.

Hampden-Sydney College highly values the teacher/scholar model. Successful applicants will have a record of effective classroom teaching, a commitment to scholarly productivity, and a willingness to work with colleagues on professional service responsibilities. Applicants should have a Ph.D. in political science or a comparable degree by the time of appointment. ABDs and JDs with teaching experience will also be considered.

Please submit a letter of application, curriculum vitae, teaching statement, research statement, and three letters of reference to Dr. Celia Carroll Jones, Chair, Department of Government and Foreign Affairs, Hampden-Sydney College via Interfolio: <http://apply.interfolio.com/147105>. Review of applications will begin immediately and continue until the position is filled.

Hampden-Sydney College is a selective liberal arts institution enrolling approximately 1000 students. Founded in 1775, it is the tenth oldest institution of higher learning in the United States. Hampden-Sydney is one of three liberal arts colleges in the United States dedicated to the education of men. Our mission is to educate "good men and good citizens in an atmosphere of sound learning."

Our beautiful 1300-acre campus is less than 7 miles from downtown Farmville, home to Longwood University and the Moton Museum, which is listed on the U.S. Civil Rights Trail. The campus is located 65 miles west of Richmond, 50 miles east of Lynchburg, and 75 miles south of Charlottesville, providing abundant cultural, recreational and artistic resources. As a community, we are dedicated to the goal of building a culturally diverse faculty committed to working in a multicultural environment and strongly encourage applications from women and minoritized groups. Hampden-Sydney College values diversity, prohibits discrimination, and is committed to equal opportunity for all employees and applicants for employment.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 8/15/2024

Date Posted: 5/25/2024

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 14370

PUBLIC POLICY

Copenhagen Business School

Rank: Postdoc in Political Economy at CBS

Copenhagen Business School invites applications for a postdoctoral position in Political Economy with a focus on Ukraine. The postdoc has a duration 3½ years (42 months), which includes nine months of teaching at CBS. The postdoc is based on a collaboration with the Danish Institute of International Studies (DIIS), based on a grant for research on political economy in Ukraine from the Danish Ministry of Foreign Affairs. The postdoc is employed at the Department of International Economics, Government and Business (EGB) at CBS. The successful candidate is expected to divide work time equally between CBS and DIIS and, while carrying out his/her own project, engage in research activities and collaborate with colleagues at both institutions.

The project

The proposed postdoc project should be anchored in the field of political economy, political science, or a related field. The focus of the postdoc is on state-business relations with Ukraine as a case.

Relevant topics for the postdoc could revolve around, but are not limited to:

- Business tycoons and politics in Ukraine
- Money in politics in Ukraine
- Public administration and the interaction between state and businesses in Ukraine
- Corruption and anti-corruption reforms in Ukraine
- Public policy and administration related to trade and economic development

The expected starting date is September 1, 2025 (negotiable).

About EGB

EGB is a multidisciplinary department that conducts high-quality research in the fields of international business and political science with direct relevance to business, policy-makers and the public. Research at the department focuses on two principal focus areas Business & Government and International Business, in relation to societal challenges. These challenges include the consequences of inequality; the impact of technological change and digital transformation; the ethical dilemmas facing MNEs, regulatory challenges, the changes brought about by emerging markets and the rise of Asia; the consequences of global shifts for public policy, and the relationship between business and democracy. We have a large group of faculty committed to examining the role of money in politics and non-market strategy. Faculty apply advanced quantitative and qualitative methods to generate systematic knowledge about business-government relations and international business relations. To learn more about the research and education of the department, please visit the departmental website

About DIIS

DIIS is an independent public research institution for international studies. DIIS conducts and communicates high-quality multidisciplinary research and aims to be agenda-setting in research, policy and public debate. DIIS' research covers foreign, security and development policy. This position is part of a broader initiative to develop DIIS' research, policy studies, and dissemination on the Ukrainian political economy as it pertains to corruption, state-business relations, and public administration. To learn more about DIIS please visit the website.

Qualifications

The applicant must have completed – or be close to completing – a PhD in the political science, political economy, or a related field. The applicant must have excellent research skills and excellent professional proficiency in English (written and spoken). Knowledge of Ukrainian language is an advantage. The candidate must have excellent skills in quantitative methods. Good knowledge of the Ukrainian context and mixed methods research is an advantage.

To fulfill the research requirements of the position, the postdoc is expected to be physically present at the department and DIIS on a regular basis. The postdoc consists of 33 months of research plus nine (9) months of teaching.

Copenhagen Business School has a broad commitment to the excellence, distinctiveness and relevance of its teaching and research programs. Candidates who wish to join us should demonstrate enthusiasm for working in an organization of this type.

Appointment and salary will be in accordance with the Ministry of Finance's agreement with the Central Academic Organisation.

Applications must be sent via the electronic recruitment system, using the link below.

Applications must include:

1. A cover letter outlining the candidate's main strengths and abilities.
2. Transcript(s) and a full CV
3. A complete, numbered list of publications (indicating titles, co-authors, page numbers and year) with an * marking of the academic productions to be considered during the assessment. A maximum of 5 publications for assessment are allowed. Applicants are requested to prioritise their publications in relation to the field of this job advertisement.
4. Copies of the publications marked with an *. Only publications written in English (or another specified principal language, according to research tradition) or one of the Scandinavian languages will be taken into consideration)
5. A brief (1-page) research statement explaining research plans for the postdoc period, and possibly beyond.

Recruitment procedure

The Recruitment Committee will shortlist a minimum of two applicants; when possible five or more applicants will be shortlisted. The shortlisted applicants will be assessed by the Assessment Committee. All applicants will be notified of their status in the recruitment process shortly after the application deadline.

The applicants selected for assessment will be notified about the composition of the Assessment Committee and later in the process about the result of the assessment.

Once the recruitment process is completed each applicant will be notified of the outcome of their application.

Closing date: May 1, 2025

Copenhagen Business School must receive all application material, including all appendices (see items above), by the application deadline.

For further information on the project, prospective applicants can contact Professor Mogens K. Justesen (EGB) mkj.eg@cbs.dk, Head of Department Jens Gammelgaard (EGB) jg.egb@cbs.dk, Head of Unit Lars Engberg-Pedersen (DIIS), lep@diis.dk, or Director Peter Kragelund (DIIS), pekr@diis.dk

Details about Copenhagen Business School and the department are available at www.cbs.dk.

Closing date: 1 May 2025.

Apply online

<https://candidate.hr-manager.net/ApplicationForm/SinglePageApplicationForm.aspx?cid=1309&departmentId=19022&ProjectId=147526&MediaId=4614>

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 5/1/2025

Date Posted: 3/31/2025

Salary: $70,000 - $79,999

eJobs ID: 15516

Stony Brook University

Rank: Director of the M.A. in Public Policy Program (Lecturer)

Specializations: Quantitative Methods, Urban Politics, Economic Policy

Description:

The Department of Political Science at Stony Brook University invites applications for a full-time Lecturer starting in Fall 2025. The position will serve as the Director of the M.A. in Public Policy program and will manage the program's development and strategic growth. The ideal candidate will be a dynamic leader capable of advancing the department's mission to prepare students for successful careers in government, nonprofit organizations, and the private sector. We are especially interested in candidates with a background in public policy and/or public administration, teaching experience, and some familiarity with academic administrative work. This is a twelve-month, year-round position. This is not a tenure-track position.

Key Responsibilities:

Teaching, Advising, and Supervision:

- Proactively advise new and continuing students in the program to support student success, retention, and timely degree completion.
- Teach four graduate courses within the program each academic year (2-2).
- Teach the capstone preparation seminar each fall, spring, and summer terms.
- Supervise capstone internship placements and oversee advising for capstone thesis projects.
- Other instructional duties that may arise to support the program.

Program Administration:

- Work with campus graduate recruitment teams to plan and execute recruitment campaigns to attract high-quality and diverse student populations.
- Perform outreach to prospective students as part of the recruitment/admissions process. Manage program application reviews and make admissions decisions.
- Lead the development of curriculum appropriate for the program.
- Oversee the program's course planning and scheduling process, including planning hiring requests for course instructors to meet scheduling and enrollment needs.
- Develop and implement a program assessment plan.
- Organize campus and external events, including events, speakers, workshops, open houses, and conferences, to support the program's visibility and impact.
- Develop relationships with external stakeholders, such as alumni networks and private, public, and non-profit practitioners. Cultivate relationships with alumni to grow and strengthen the professional networks of current and graduating students.
- Collaborate with department faculty, staff, and campus partners (the Graduate School, School of Professional Development, etc.) to support any program administrative initiatives.
- Additional departmental, university, or professional service may be required.

Qualifications:

Required Qualifications:

- A master's degree (foreign equivalent or higher) in public policy, public administration, political science, or a related field.
- Teaching experience at the graduate level in administration/planning and strong familiarity with topics such as budgeting and finance, governmental relations and policy delivery, and data applications of policy, among others.

- At least three years of relevant work experience in a policy, planning, administration, or closely related field.
- Strong quantitative analysis skills as evidenced by CV and writing sample.

Preferred Qualifications:

- A doctorate or comparable degree (or foreign equivalent) in public policy, public administration, political science, law, or a related field.
- Demonstrated record of the following, as evidenced by the applicant's CV and supporting materials:
 - Ability to successfully lead administrative initiatives and programs in a complex work environment (higher education, private, or non-profit settings).
 - Evidence of excellence in teaching, including educating, supporting, and mentoring students and practitioners.
 - Commitment to enhancing diversity, equity, and inclusion among faculty, undergraduate, and graduate students.

Application Instructions:

Please upload:

1. Cover letter
2. Curriculum Vitae
3. Teaching statement
4. Quantitative writing sample
5. Recent course syllabi
6. Course teaching evaluations
7. Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion (DEI) statement
8. Three confidential letters of reference, submitted via Interfolio

All application materials must be submitted online. The names of applicants will be kept confidential until a list of finalists is confirmed. Referees will not be contacted without the candidate's prior consent. Please use the Apply Now button to begin your application. For technical support, please visit Interfolio's Support Site (<https://support.interfolio.com/>) or reach out to their Scholar Service Team at help@interfolio.com or (877) 997-8807.

For questions regarding this position, please contact the search chair, Professor Ryan Vander Wielen at ryan.vanderwielen@stonybrook.edu.

For full consideration, please submit your materials by 11:59 PM Eastern Time on Monday, April 28, 2025.

Special Notes: This is a non-tenure track, FLSA Exempt position, not eligible for the overtime provisions of the FLSA.

The selected candidate must successfully clear a background investigation.

In accordance with the Title II Crime Awareness and Security Act, a copy of our crime statistics is available upon request by calling (631) 632- 6350. It can also be viewed online at the University Police website at <http://www.stonybrook.edu/police>.

About the Department:

The Department of Political Science is committed to excellence in research and scholarship, graduate student training, undergraduate teaching and learning, public outreach, and the promotion of responsible citizenship. It contributes to the generation of knowledge about politics and aims to deepen scholarly and public understanding of political institutions and the citizenry. The department seeks to prepare students for successful careers in government, academics, and the private sector. In addition to the M.A. in Public Policy program, the Department administers B.A. and Ph.D. programs in Political Science, as well as an M.A. in Political Psychology. It is home to 13 tenured and tenure-track faculty, roughly 600 undergraduate majors and minors, staff, Political Science graduate students, and several non-tenure track full-time lecturers. The Department is ranked in the top 30 Political Science graduate programs in the most recent U.S. News & World Report rankings, and the dynamic, interdisciplinary faculty produce high-quality research that is consistently published in top-rated journals. <http://www.stonybrook.edu/polsci/>

About the College:

As part of a great research university, the College of Arts and Sciences at Stony Brook University focuses on scholarly creativity, connecting our disciplines of fine arts; humanities; social, behavioral and natural sciences; and mathematics with medicine, technology, culture, education, business and environment. As the largest College for the campus, we help students and faculty begin a lifetime of learning and discovery by exploring new ideas that drive innovation and inspiration across all sectors of society. <http://www.stonybrook.edu/cas/>

About Stony Brook University:

Stony Brook University, one of two flagships within the State University of New York (SUNY) system, is one of America's most dynamic public universities, a center of academic excellence, and an internationally recognized research institution that is changing the world. After more than 60 years of existence, it is ranked among the top 100 universities in the nation and the top 25 public universities in the nation. It is a member of the prestigious invitation-only Association of American Universities, composed of the top 66 leading research institutions in North America. As Long Island's largest single-site employer, Stony Brook has nearly 15,000 full- and part-time employees, including 2,800 faculty and nearly 27,000 students — including almost 18,000 undergraduates — and offers more than 200 majors, minors and combined-degree programs. Located approximately 60 miles east of Manhattan on Long Island's beautiful North Shore, Stony Brook is situated on 1,454 wooded acres, encompassing 13 schools and colleges; a Research and Development Park; world-class athletics facilities, including an 8,300-seat stadium and a 4,000-seat arena; and Stony Brook Medicine, Long Island's premier academic medical center. Also part of the University is a teaching and research campus in Southampton, New York, which offers graduate arts programs and is the site of the Marine Sciences Center. In addition, Stony Brook has a role in running, and performs joint research with, Brookhaven National Laboratory, the only Department of Energy Laboratory in the Northeast. Home to the Emerson String Quartet, the Pollock-Krasner House in East Hampton, NY, and the Humanities Institute, with endeavors that extend to the Turkana Basin Institute in Kenya and the Ranomafana National Park in Madagascar, Stony Brook sustains an international reputation that cuts across the arts, humanities, social sciences and natural sciences.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Date Posted: 3/24/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15528

University of Tennessee

Rank: Visiting Professor - Open Ranked Public Policy and Public Affairs_ Fall 2025

Subfield(s): Methodology, Public Policy, Public Administration

The Howard H. Baker, Jr. School of Public Policy and Public Affairs (Baker School) at the University of Tennessee, Knoxville (UTK) invites applications for a Visiting Professor (open rank) in Public Policy and Public Affairs to begin August 1, 2025. This is a one-year appointment.

We seek a scholar with expertise in public policy and quantitative methods to contribute to our undergraduate and graduate teaching needs. The successful candidate will teach a 2-2 course load, including research design, quantitative methods, advanced quantitative methods, and policy communication and data visualization.

This position is well-suited for a scholar looking for a short-term academic opportunity—whether early in their career, between positions, or on sabbatical. This role will focus on teaching, but scholars will be supported in their professional development and encouraged to fully engage in the University of Tennessee's exciting academic environment. Examples of light service opportunities at the Baker School that contribute to professional development include advising undergraduate research, participating in a research workshop, and/or contributing to public engagement.

About the University of Tennessee, Knoxville

The University of Tennessee, Knoxville, is the state's flagship research institution, a campus of choice for outstanding undergraduates, and a premier graduate institution. As a land-grant university, it is committed to excellence in learning, scholarship, and engagement with society. UTK is located in Knoxville, Tennessee, a thriving community in close proximity to the Great Smoky Mountains National Park.

About the Baker School

The Howard H. Baker Jr. School of Public Policy and Public Affairs aims to produce the next generation of skilled public problem solvers prepared to take leadership roles in their communities. Baker School students are grounded in the legacy of Howard H. Baker Jr., a former U.S. Senator, Senate Majority Leader, White House Chief of Staff, and Ambassador to Japan, with curriculum and co-curricular activities focused on Baker's guiding principles, including Confidence in America, Finding Common Ground, and You Might Be Right.

The Baker School houses two research centers dedicated to addressing pressing public policy challenges and also operates the Institute of American Civics, which encourages civic knowledge and participation among UT undergraduates and the broader public.

Qualifications

At the time of appointment, candidates must have a doctoral degree in public policy, political science, economics, or a relevant field.

An ideal candidate would have experience teaching undergraduate or graduate courses in research design, quantitative methods, advanced quantitative methods, and policy communication and visualization. However, we welcome applications from early-career scholars and other candidates who demonstrate strong methodological expertise and an interest in teaching these courses.

We seek candidates who can effectively engage students in person and online.

The title and compensation for this position will be commensurate with experience:

- Visiting Assistant Professor: Candidates at this rank should provide evidence of teaching effectiveness and a demonstrated ability to develop and deliver coursework in public policy and quantitative methods.
- Visiting Associate Professor: Candidates should have at least five years of experience in teaching or related academic work and a record of professional activity.
- Visiting Full Professor: Candidates should have at least ten years of experience, a strong teaching record, and a record of significant professional activity.

Position Expectations and Compensation

- Teaching Load: 2 courses per semester (2-2)
- Service Expectations: Minimal, but may include mentorship, student engagement, or participation in Baker School programming
- Course Modality: Courses will be taught in person, with the possibility of some online instruction
- Compensation:
 - $100,000 at the Assistant Professor level
 - $120,000 at the Associate Professor level
 - $140,000 at the Full Professor level

Application Instructions

Applicants should submit the following via Interfolio:

<http://apply.interfolio.com/164895>

- Cover letter
- CV
- Graduate transcripts
- Teaching statement
- Evidence of teaching effectiveness (e.g., syllabi and course evaluations)
- Names and contact information for three references

Additional materials, such as examples of scholarly works, are welcome but not required.

Review of applications will begin April 8, 2025, and will continue until the position is filled.

For inquiries, contact Professor Jack Mewhirter at jmewhirt@utk.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 3/19/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15520

Harvard University

Rank: Japan Foundation Postdoctoral Fellow

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Public Policy

Specializations: Japan, International Political Economy, Science & Technology

With support from The Japan Foundation, we invite applications for a postdoctoral fellowship which includes a teaching component in political science & international relations. The award is for $75,000 paid in monthly installments, with eligibility for university subsidized health insurance coverage for the grantee. The Postdoctoral Fellow will be actively engaged in research and teaching related to "Technology, Society, and Geopolitics: Japan in a Globalized Economy." Deadline is 3/24/2025. For the application portal and more information, please see this webpage: <https://us-japan.wcfia.harvard.edu/apply-japan-foundation-fellowship>. For any questions, please email: usjapan@wcfia.harvard.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 3/24/2025

Date Posted: 3/7/2025

Salary: $70,000 - $79,999

eJobs ID: 15494

University of the Pacific

Rank: Post-Doctoral Instructor

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Administration, Public Policy

The Department of Political Science at University of the Pacific invites applications for a three-year, full-time, non-tenure track appointment as post-doctoral instructor in American politics. A Ph.D. in Political Science is required by the time of appointment. Salary is commensurate with experience and includes the option of receiving additional compensation for summer teaching. This position includes health, dental and vision benefits, as well as conference travel support during the academic year. The successful candidate will teach 5 courses over the academic year. Preference is given to applicants with teaching experience in American institutions and/or public policy.

Qualified candidates should have demonstrated experience working with a diverse community of learners. For more information about Pacific's Political Science department, visit: <http://www.pacific.edu/Academics/Schools-and-Colleges/College-of-the-Pacific/Academics/Departments-and-Programs/political-science.html>

Application review will begin on March 14, 2025 and will continue until the position has been filled. Please apply through people admin and include the following as attachments: 1) letter of interest; 2) CV; 3) teaching statement, including a list of preferred courses; 4) up to two sample syllabi and related course materials including teaching evaluations; and 5) names and contact information for three references.

To apply, please use the following link: <https://pacific.peopleadmin.com/postings/30056>

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 3/7/2025

Salary: $40,000 - $49,999

eJobs ID: 15495

Arkansas State University

Rank: Post-Doctoral Fellow

The Department of Government, Law & Policy at Arkansas State University invites applications for a teaching and research Post-Doctoral Fellow, beginning fall 2025 and lasting the 2025–26 academic year.

This position is open with respect to any aspect of public administration and policy research (comparative perspectives are openly considered), although candidates whose teaching interests include public finance, budgeting, or related topics are strongly encouraged to apply. Candidates who have a strong theoretical and empirical background with the ability to publish high quality research are preferred.

Please note: all position postings close at 12:00 A.M. CST on the position closing date

All items listed below are requirements must be submitted in order for your file to be considered complete:

- (1) A statement of purpose indicating research and teaching interests
- (2) Curriculum Vitae
- (3) Writing sample (e.g., recent peer-reviewed article, book chapter, or dissertation chapter)
- (4) Three (3) letters of recommendation

Arkansas State University is a comprehensive public research university located approximately 70 miles northwest of Memphis, TN. The department offers a well-rounded curriculum to its more than 100 majors. The department also offers two graduate programs—an MA in Political Science and a NASPAA-accredited MPA program. The latter includes an enrollment of more than 150 students.

Apply here: <https://phe.tbe.taleo.net/phe02/ats/careers/v2/viewRequisition?org=ARKASTAT2&cws=40&rid=36041>

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 4/4/2025

Date Posted: 3/4/2025

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 15483

University of California, Berkeley

Rank: Postdoctoral Scholar

Specializations: Research Methods, Bureaucracy & Organizational Behavior, State Politics

The Possibility Lab, led by Professor Amy Lerman at the University of California, Berkeley (UCB), is seeking a Postdoctoral Scholar in political science, sociology, economics or a related field with a focus on applied public policy, social inequality, civic engagement, and/or racial justice. The Possibility Lab is comprised of a team of policy researchers and practitioners who partner with government and community to design, pilot, and scale data-driven innovations for the public good.

Projects cover a range of topics, from criminal justice to housing and public health policy, with a focus on data-driven public policy research that is co-designed in collaboration with government and community partners. These partnerships often involve descriptive data analysis of large administrative data, and conducting and analyzing surveys and field experiments.

The position is a full-time mentored research opportunity, with expectations to collaborate with Possibility Lab faculty, faculty affiliates, and research staff on current and new research projects. Successful candidates will have a strong proven interest in applied research that helps to inform and support public-sector leaders in advancing social justice, equity, and civic engagement.

For more information about the Possibility Lab, visit <https://possibilitylab.berkeley.edu/about-us-2/>

To apply: <https://aprecruit.berkeley.edu/JPF04817>

Start Date: Summer 2025

Application Deadline: 4/16/2025

Date Posted: 3/4/2025

Salary: $70,000 - $79,999

eJobs ID: 15481

University of Houston

Rank: Instructional Assistant Professor/ Director of Elizabeth D. Rockwell Center

Instructional Assistant Professor/ Director of Elizabeth D. Rockwell Center

The Hobby School of Public Affairs at the University of Houston invites applications for an Instructional Assistant Professor who will serve as Director of the Elizabeth D. Rockwell Center on Ethics and Leadership. Director responsibilities include: inviting and hosting speakers on campus; running the EDR Center Article Prize competition, scholarship programs, and conference funding program; organizing and coaching an Ethics Bowl team; selecting visiting professors for residencies at the EDR Center; and overseeing other Center activities. Teaching responsibilities include five courses per year in ethics, philosophy, and public policy as well as a community-oriented public policy lab.

The Elizabeth D. Rockwell Center on Ethics and Leaders was founded in 2020 to promote ethics and leadership education and research at the University of Houston. Located in the Hobby School of Public Affairs, and boasting a substantial endowment, the Center hosts lectures and conferences by prominent public figures, philosophers, and others with a special focus on public policy issues. The Hobby School of Public Affairs, which was founded in 2016, offers undergraduate and graduate degrees in public policy with a rigorous methods training and required courses on ethics and public policy.

The salary for this position is competitive with assistant and associate professor salaries in political theory, philosophy, and other social science and humanities disciplines. It is expected that the Director will continue to earn recognition for the Center, Hobby School, and University of Houston through their leadership of the Center.

Applicants should submit (1) a cover letter highlighting the candidate's strengths and interest in the position, (2) a curriculum vitae, (3) a statement of research interest, (4) a statement of teaching interest and/or evidence of teaching effectiveness (e.g., syllabi, student evaluations), (5) a statement highlighting the candidate's interest in and experience with organizing extracurricular lectures and other events; and (6) names and contact information of three references.

Detailed list of responsibilities:

Oversee the EDR Center Budget and work with Hobby School Business Office to ensure proper budgeting practices.

Hold meetings twice per year with the EDR Center Oversight Committee.

Organize the annual Elizabeth D. Rockwell Distinguished Lecture on Ethics and Leadership.

Organize the search for and help to hire the Elizabeth D. Rockwell Center Visiting Professor.

Organize additional lectures and events on ethics and leadership.

Organize the annual Richard Gelwick Lecture.

Work with Hobby School Communications Team to advertise EDR Center lectures and events and send out announcements about programs.

Run other EDR Center programs: EDR Center Prize Competition, student scholarship programs, conference funding program, faculty fellows program, and lecture funding program.

Coach the UH Ethics Bowl team and lead them to the regional competition.

Minimum Qualifications

Ph.D in Public Policy, Political Science, Economics, Philosophy, or related fields.

Preferred Qualifications

Some teaching experience at the college level. Ability to teach Introduction to Public Policy, Introduction to Public Administration, and Philosophy & Public Policy courses.

Additional desired qualities:

An interest in writing op-ed pieces, reaching out to the greater Houston community, and acting as a public intellectual.

A vision for increasing the standing of the Center and UH as an active hub of ethics and leadership research, teaching, and activities.

Official transcripts are required for a faculty appointment and will be requested upon selection of the final candidates. All positions at the University of Houston-System are security sensitive and will require a criminal history check.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 3/4/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15482

Arkansas State University

Rank: Post-Doctoral Fellow

The Department of Government, Law & Policy at Arkansas State University invites applications for a teaching and research Post-Doctoral Fellow, beginning fall 2025 and lasting the 2025–26 academic year.

This position is open with respect to any aspect of public administration and policy research (comparative perspectives are openly considered), although candidates whose teaching interests include public management, grant writing, or human resources are strongly encouraged to apply. Candidates who have a strong theoretical and empirical background with the ability to publish high quality research are preferred.

Please note: all position postings close at 12:00 A.M. CST on the position closing date

All items listed below are requirements must be submitted in order for your file to be considered complete:

- (1) A statement of purpose indicating research and teaching interests
- (2) Curriculum Vitae
- (3) Writing sample (e.g., recent peer-reviewed article, book chapter, or dissertation chapter)
- (4) Three (3) letters of recommendation

Arkansas State University is a comprehensive public research university located approximately 70 miles northwest of Memphis, TN. The department offers a well-rounded curriculum to its more than 100 majors. The department also offers two graduate programs—an MA in Political Science and a NASPAA-accredited MPA program. The latter includes an enrollment of more than 150 students.

Apply here: <https://phe.tbe.taleo.net/phe02/ats/careers/v2/viewRequisition?org=ARKASTAT2&cws=40&rid=36034>

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 3/30/2025

Date Posted: 3/3/2025

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 15476

Chapman University

Rank: Non-Tenure Track Instructional Assistant Professor of Environmental Policy

The Wilkinson College of Arts, Humanities, and Social Sciences at Chapman University invites applications for a Non-Tenure Track Instructional Assistant Professor of Environmental Policy, beginning August 1, 2025.

This position will support both the Environmental Science and Policy major (a joint program with Schmid College of Science and Technology) and the Environmental Studies minor. Teaching responsibilities include Introduction to Environmental Policy and elective courses such as US Environmental History, Society and the Environment, Environmental Rhetoric, and/or other areas of related interest.

The successful candidate should possess quantitative skills in the social sciences, including the use of R, as part of a mixed methods approach that is central to our students' learning.

For full description and application instructions, visit: <https://jobs.chronicle.com/job/37785602/instructional-assistant-professor-of-environmental-policy-non-tenure-track-fall-2025/>

Chapman University is a nationally ranked, R2 Carnegie Classified private institution offering traditional undergraduate and graduate programs in the heart of Orange County, one of Southern California's most diverse and vibrant regions. Chapman's campuses are home to nearly 10,000 students representing 50 states, three territories, and 78 countries. The 11 schools and colleges of Chapman, including Wilkinson College of Arts, Humanities, and Social Sciences, offer 65 bachelor's, 53 master's, and six doctoral programs, along with nearly 60 minors and 17 accelerated and bridge programs. Classes are taught by the more than 1,100 dedicated faculty members who are leaders in their fields, including Nobel Prize recipients, MacArthur Fellows, National Medal of Science honorees, former U.S. Supreme Court clerks, and Emmy, Grammy, and Academy Award winners.

The mission of Wilkinson College of Arts, Humanities, and Social Sciences is to foster rigorous inquiry among our students through a curriculum grounded in the liberal arts that is scholarly, creative, interdisciplinary, and experiential. Wilkinson College plays an important and unique role in the educational journey of every Chapman student and aims to ensure that graduates are prepared to assume their responsibility as global citizens, acting knowledgeably, and providing compassionate leadership in our community and world. <https://www.chapman.edu/wilkinson/index.aspx>

The University is dedicated to enhancing diversity and inclusion in all aspects of recruitment and employment. More information on diversity and inclusion at Chapman University is available at <https://www.chapman.edu/diversity/>.

RESPONSIBILITIES

- Teaching responsibilities include Introduction to Environmental Policy and elective courses such as US Environmental History, Society and the Environment, Environmental Rhetoric, and/or other areas of related interest.
- Plan, develop, and deliver high-quality courses in environmental policy and area of expertise and interest to support the ES&P and Environmental Studies programs.
- Offer regular office hours to provide students with opportunities for one-on-one consultations, academic advising, and clarification of course materials.
- Contribute to discussions and decisions related to curriculum development, and other relevant matters.
- Contribute to the overall mission of the institution by participating in faculty meetings and supporting campus-wide initiatives, events, and community engagement initiatives.
- Promote diversity, equity, and inclusion in the classroom by creating an inclusive and welcoming learning environment that respects and values the perspectives of all students.

QUALIFICATIONS

Required

- A Ph.D. in relevant field from an accredited institution of higher education.
- In-depth knowledge and expertise in the appropriate subject area and quantitative skills in the social sciences.
- A dedication to excellence in teaching and commitment to student success.
- The successful candidate should possess quantitative skills in the social sciences, including the use of R, as part of a mixed methods approach that is central to our students' learning.

Preferred

- Prior teaching experience
- Evidence of community engagement
- Interest in promoting undergraduate research

Application materials should be submitted through Interfolio:

<https://apply.interfolio.com/161808>

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 2/27/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15468

Hertie School – the University of Governance in Berlin

Rank: Full Professor of Military Strategy and Technology (gn)

Subfield(s): International Relations, Public Policy, Other

The Hertie School,

the University of Governance in Berlin,

is recruiting a

Full Professor of Military Strategy and Technology (gn)

The Hertie School is recruiting an exceptional scholar to fill a vacancy in Military Strategy and Technology. The position is full-time. We expect as a starting date summer 2025.

Applicants must hold a doctoral degree in History, Political Science or International Relations, alongside an excellent record in research and teaching. An ideal candidate will be in the position to teach classes on military operations, military technology, military strategy and defence-industrial production; have an outstanding record of publications in the most selective journals, with demonstrated academic and policy impact; and have a proven record in carrying out both qualitative and quantitative research. Particularly welcome to apply are applicants with a track record of interdisciplinary research who can teach and write on technical topics, including sensing technologies and signal processing in war, modern production methods such as advances in material sciences and mechanical engineering, as well as technological competition in both the commercial and the defence industry. Past collaborations with engineers and scientists are considered a plus.

Candidates are expected to show full commitment to working in an interdisciplinary, international environment with English as the language of instruction and operation. The professor will initially be on a three-year fixed-term contract with the possibility of renewal. If the position is renewed, a tenure review would be expected under the next contract.

As a private non-profit university, endowed and supported by the Hertie Foundation, the Hertie School offers an internationally competitive salary as well as a paid sabbatical after every five semesters. We provide excellent working conditions with outstanding financial and administrative support for research. The Hertie School is fully embedded in Berlin's vibrant research landscape and has close ties to the top institutions of the European and international teaching and research community.

The Hertie School is a diverse, international, and lively community located in the heart of Berlin. We welcome all applications – irrespective of gender, nationality, ethnic or social origin, religion, disability, age, or sexual orientation. The Hertie School expressly encourages women and/or persons from ethnic groups underrepresented in German academia to apply. Equally qualified applicants with disabilities will be given preference. The Hertie School is a certified family friendly university. Under German law, there is standard paid leave for parents after the birth or adoption of a child.

The deadline for the submission of applications is 19 March 2025. Applications are accepted via the online application tool only: <http://apply.interfolio.com/163523>. The Hertie School will review applications that include a letter of motivation, a curriculum vitae (including publication list, degrees earned, positions held, teaching experience, research projects, awards received), two writing samples, a diversity statement, and two recent teaching evaluations, if applicable.

For questions about the position, please contact Professor Marina Henke (henke@hertie-school.org). Strict confidentiality in the application process is assured. The Hertie School is an equal opportunity employer.

Start Date: Summer 2025

Application Deadline: 3/19/2025

Date Posted: 2/13/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15421

College of William & Mary

Rank: Visiting Assistant Teaching Professor of Public Policy

The Public Policy Program at William & Mary, a public university of the Commonwealth of Virginia, invites applications for a two-year, non-tenure track instructional position that will begin August 10, 2025.

We seek an individual with expertise in public policy, either from a theoretical or applied perspective, to teach classes in our Master's in Public Policy (MPP) program and our undergraduate public policy major (B.A. Public Policy). Preference will be given to those with previous teaching experience and an ability to teach a methods course (qualitative or quantitative). The successful applicant will be expected to be an effective teacher and will have a [3-3] teaching load.

Required Qualifications:

A Ph.D. (or appropriate terminal degree) in Public Policy, Economics, Government/Political Science or a related field or the equivalent (master's degree and five years working experience in public policy) is required at the time appointment begins (August 10, 2025).

Preferred Qualifications:

Previous teaching experience, experience and/or ability to teach a methods courses (qualitative or quantitative), and professional experience in the field of public policy are preferred.

Conditions of Employment :

This is a restricted position, subject to the continued availability of funding. This position may require additional hours beyond the typical work week, including occasional overnight and weekend work as needed to meet the business needs of the operation.

Applicants must apply online at <https://jobs.wm.edu>. Submit a curriculum vitae, a cover letter, and a statement of teaching interests that describes your approach to teaching and mentoring and that may also incorporate a discussion of how your past scholarly work informs your approach. Candidates are encouraged to reflect on their past experiences or future plans to foster an inclusive and welcoming climate for learners/scholars in Public Policy in any of the aforementioned required documents. You cannot submit a separate diversity statement. You will be prompted to submit online the names and email addresses of three references who will be contacted by the system with instructions for how to submit a letter of reference.

For full consideration, submit application materials by the initial review date, March 10, 2025. Applications received after the initial review date will be considered if needed.

Information on the degree programs in the Public Policy Program may be found at <https://www.wm.edu/as/publicpolicy/>

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 3/10/2025

Date Posted: 2/12/2025

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 15420

Macalester College

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor

The Macalester College Department of Political Science invites applications for a one-year, full-time visiting position at the rank of Visiting Assistant Professor (PhD), for the 2025- 2026 academic year, beginning in August 2025. Candidates should have, or be close to completing, a PhD in Political Science (ABD candidates will be considered; however, they must have their degree in hand prior to August 2025) with a focus in American Politics. We prefer candidates who can teach Politics and Policymaking, and U.S. City and Metro Politics, and can offer electives in American institutions (e.g. presidency, Congress, the federal bureaucracy, except the judiciary) or American political behavior (e.g. public opinion, media and politics, political psychology). Visa sponsorship is not available. Salary and benefits are competitive.

The successful candidate will contribute to the undergraduate curriculum by teaching Politics and Policymaking, City and Metro Politics, and a combination of three other American Politics courses from our catalogue. The teaching load is five courses per year.

Applicants should submit a cover letter that includes a statement of interest in Macalester and discusses demonstrated activity and contributions to diversity, equity and inclusion initiatives in their teaching, advising, mentorship, curriculum, scholarship, service or community and professional engagement. Strong candidates will have experience and vision regarding teaching and mentorship of students of multiple and diverse backgrounds with attention to structural barriers that limit access to educational opportunities. Applications should also include a curriculum vitae; evidence of effective teaching (e.g., sample syllabi, course evaluations, comments in reference letters); and up to three reference letters.

All materials must be submitted to Academic Jobs Online. Inquiries can be directed to Professor Lesley Lavery, Search Committee Chair, llavery@macalester.edu. Applications received by March 14, 2025 will be granted full review.

Macalester College is a highly selective, private liberal arts college in the vibrant Minneapolis-Saint Paul metropolitan area, with a population of approximately three million people and home to numerous colleges and universities, including the University of Minnesota. Macalester College is located in Saint Paul on the ancestral homeland of the Dakota people who were forcibly exiled because of aggressive and persistent settler colonialism. Macalester's diverse student body comprises over 2000 undergraduates from all 50 states and the District of Columbia and 95 nations. The College maintains a longstanding commitment to academic excellence with a special emphasis on internationalism, multiculturalism, and service to society. As an Equal Opportunity employer supportive of affirmative efforts to achieve diversity among its faculty, Macalester College strongly encourages applications from women and members of underrepresented minority groups. Please note that offers of employment are contingent upon a successful criminal background check at the time of offer. Application Materials Required: Submit the following items online at this website to complete your application:

- Cover letter
- Curriculum Vitae
- Evidence of Effective Teaching
- Up to three reference letters (to be submitted online by the reference writers on this site) Further Info: <https://www.macalester.edu/politicalscience/>

Michael Zis <zis@macalester.edu>
651-696-6290

Macalester College

1600 Grand Avenue

Saint Paul, Minnesota 55105

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 3/14/2025

Date Posted: 1/26/2024

Salary: $60,000-$65,000 eJobs ID: 13134

Start Date: Fall 2026

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 2/11/2025

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 15418

California State University, Northridge

Rank: Part Time Lecturer

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, Public Policy

Specializations: American Politics, United States, United States

Announcement of Anticipated Part-Time Faculty Openings

Department: Political Science

Effective Date of Appointment: Academic Year 2025-2026

CSUN's Commitment to You:

CSUN is committed to achieving excellence through teaching, scholarship, learning and inclusion. Our values include a respect for all people, building partnerships with the community and the encouragement of innovation, experimentation and creativity. CSUN strives to cultivate a community in which a diverse population can learn and work in an atmosphere of civility and respect. CSUN is especially interested in candidates who make contributions to equity and inclusion in the pursuit of excellence for all members of the university community.

As a Hispanic-serving Institution (HSI), inclusiveness and diversity are integral to CSUN's commitment to excellence in teaching, research, and engagement. As of Fall 2024, CSUN enrolls 36,848 students, where 56.3% are Latinx, 18.9% are White, 8.7% are Asian-American, 5.3% are Black/African American, 0.1% are Native American, and 0.1% are Native Hawaiian or Pacific Islander.

For more information about the University, visit our website at: <http://www.csun.edu>

About the College:

For information about the College, visit our website at: <https://www.csun.edu/social-behavioral-sciences>

About the Department:

For information about the department, visit our website at: <https://www.csun.edu/social-behavioral-sciences/political-science>

ANTICIPATED NEEDS:

Instructors for in-person Washington, D.C.-based classes in support of the CSUN in DC Internship Program. Specific classes are listed below.

Note: All part-time faculty appointments are temporary and do not confer academic rank. Final determination of part-time teaching assignments is contingent upon student enrollment figures and funding.

Current Salary Range:

Fractional Amount of Base Salary (($5507- $6221)

Paid in 6 monthly installments

Courses or Specialization:

Upper division courses in:

1. POLS 494IB. Social Science Career Internship
2. POLS 494I/A. Political Science Internship
3. POLS 449DC. DC Politics, Culture, and History
4. POLS 449PR. Professional Development in DC

Qualifications:

Applicants must have Ph.D. in Political Science or a closely related field in hand or must be in the advanced stages of Ph.D. candidacy or must have at least 10 years of professional experience working in government, politics, non-profit management, or advocacy. Applicants who are in the advanced stages of Ph.D. candidacy must have passed the comprehensive examination for the Ph.D. in their field. University teaching experience is strongly preferred.

A demonstrated ability and commitment to teach, mentor and work with a diverse student population.

Application Process:

Applicants must submit a current resume, a cover letter, a sample syllabus, evidence of teaching effectiveness and the attached checklist indicating which course(s) they are interested in teaching to the address in the section below. The resume should include educational background, prior teaching experience, evidence of scholarship, and/or related professional experience. In later phases of the search process, applicants may be requested to provide verification of terminal degrees, licenses and certificates.

Application Deadline:

For AY 2025 - 2026: March 24, 2025

(Checklist)PLEASE INDICATE COURSES YOU ARE INTERESTED IN TEACHING:

- ___POLS 494IB. Social Science Career Internship
- ___POLS 494I/A. Political Science Internship
- ___POLS 449DC. DC Politics, Culture, and History
- ___POLS 449PR. Professional Development in DC

Inquiries and applications should be emailed to: keiko.hirata@csun.edu and copied to sue.talavera@csun.edu.

With a subject line of "Lecturer application 2025-2026".

Dr. Keiko Hirata, Chair & Eugene Price Professor
Department of Political Science
California State University, Northridge
18111 Nordhoff Street
Northridge, CA 91330-8254

General Information:

In compliance with the Annual Security Report & Fire Safety Report of Campus Security Policy and Campus Crime Statistics Act, California State University, Northridge has made crime-reporting statistics available on-line here. Print copies are available by request from the Department of Police Services, the Office for Faculty Affairs, and the Office of Equity and Diversity.

The person holding this position may be considered a 'mandated reporter' under the California Child Abuse and Neglect Reporting Act and is required to comply with the requirements set forth in CSU Executive Order 1083 as a condition of employment.

A background check (including a criminal records check) must be completed satisfactorily before any candidate can be offered a position with the CSU. Failure to satisfactorily complete the background check may affect the application status of applicants or continued employment of current CSU employees who apply for the position.

CSUN is an Equal Opportunity Employer and prohibits discrimination based on race, color, ethnicity, religion, national origin, age, gender, gender identity/expression, sexual orientation, genetic information, medical condition, marital status, veteran status, and disability. Our nondiscrimination policy is set forth in Interim CSU Nondiscrimination Policy. Reasonable accommodations will be provided for applicants with disabilities who self-disclose by contacting Political Science at 818-677-3488.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 3/24/2025

Date Posted: 2/4/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15395

California State University, Northridge

Rank: Part Time Lecturer

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Political Theory, Public Policy

Specializations: American Politics, Congress, Constitutional Law & Theory

Department: Political Science Effective Date of Appointment: Academic Year 2025-2026

CSUN's Commitment to You:

CSUN is committed to achieving excellence through teaching, scholarship, learning and inclusion. Our values include a respect for all people, building partnerships with the community and the encouragement of innovation, experimentation and creativity. CSUN strives to cultivate a community in which a diverse population can learn and work in an atmosphere of civility and respect. CSUN is especially interested in candidates who make contributions to equity and inclusion in the pursuit of excellence for all members of the university community.

As a Hispanic-serving Institution (HSI), inclusiveness and diversity are integral to CSUN's commitment to excellence in teaching, research, and engagement. As of Fall 2024, CSUN enrolls 36,848 students, where 56.3% are Latinx, 18.9% are White, 8.7% are Asian-American, 5.3% are Black/African American, 0.1% are Native American, and 0.1% are Native Hawaiian or Pacific Islander.

For more information about the University, visit our website at: <http://www.csun.edu>

About the College:

For information about the College, visit our website at: <https://www.csun.edu/social-behavioral-sciences>

About the Department:

For information about the department, visit our website at: <https://www.csun.edu/social-behavioral-sciences/political-science>

ANTICIPATED NEEDS:

Note: All part-time faculty appointments are temporary and do not confer academic rank. Final determination of part-time teaching assignments is contingent upon student enrollment figures and funding. In addition to teaching, the position requires weekly office hours and participation in assessment of student learning, and university. The successful candidate will be held to the standards and requirements of the college and department in which he/she/they is/are employed. Given CSUN's commitment to excellence in teaching, research, and engagement in a diverse environment, the successful candidate will help the Department achieve equitable academic outcomes for all students through teaching, student mentorship, and scholarship.

Qualifications:

1) With the exception of POLS 347, 450, 455, 457A, 457B and 471F, applicants must hold a Ph.D. in Political Science or a closely related field in hand or must be in the advanced stages of Ph.D. candidacy. Applicants who are in the advanced stages of Ph.D. candidacy must have passed the comprehensive examination for the Ph.D. in Political Science or closely related field in the field of American Government, Comparative Politics, International Relations, Public Policy, Political Theory, or Research Methodology, depending on the course for which the applicant is applying to teach.

2) For POLS 347, 450, 455, 457A, 457B, and 471F, a JD may be substituted for the Ph.D.

3) University teaching experience in the fields of American Politics, International Relations, Comparative Politics, Public Policy or Research Methodology, depending on the course for which the applicant is applying to teach.

4) A demonstrated ability and commitment to teach, mentor and work with a diverse student population.

Salary Range

Fractional Amount of Base Salary ($5507 - $6221)

Paid in 6 monthly installments

Current Courses or Specialization
(Specify time if appropriate)

Lower division courses in:

- (1) POLS155. American Political Institutions
- (2) POLS156. Introduction to Comparative Politics
- (3) POLS 197. Ethnic Politics
- (4) POLS 225. Elements of International Relations

Upper division courses in:

- (1) POLS 310. Problems of Political Economy
- (2) POLS 321. Comparative Political Ideologies
- (3) POLS 332. Politics of Latin America
- (4) POLS 347. The Judicial Process
- (5) POLS 350. Great Questions in Politics
- (6) POLS 355. American National, State and Local Governments
- (7) POLS 360. Public Administration
- (8) POLS 361. Introduction to Public Policy
- (9) POLS 372. Principles and Methods of Political Science
- (10) POLS 380. LA: Past, Present, Future
- (11) POLS 403. State and Local Government
- (12) POLS 404. Urban Politics
- (13) POLS 405. The Process of Public Policy Formation
- (14) POLS 406. Fundamentals of Policy Analysis

- (15) POLS 407. Policy Implementation and Program Evaluation
- (16) POLS 410. Advanced Comparative Politics
- (17) POLS 411. Greek, Roman, and Medieval Political Theory
- (18) POLS 412. Modern Western Political Theory
- (19) POLS 413. American Political Thought
- (20) POLS 414. Western Political Theory in the 20th Century
- (21) POLS 420A-H. International Relations of Selected Areas
 - (A) Latin America
 - (B) Western Europe
 - (C) Eastern Europe
 - (D) Middle East
 - (E) Africa
 - (F) South Asia
 - (G) Southeast Asia
 - (H) Northeast Asia
- (22) POLS 421. The Politics of Development
- (23) POLS 422. International Politics
- (24) POLS 423. Security Studies
- (25) POLS 426. International Law
- (26) POLS 427A/L. Model United Nations I and Lab
- (27) POLS 428. International Organization
- (28) POLS 429. United States Foreign Policy
- (29) POLS 432A. Politics of Mexico
- (30) POLS 432B. Governments and Politics of South America
- (31) POLS 433A. The Politics of Central America
- (32) POLS 434A. Government and Politics of South Asia
- (33) POLS 434B. Government and Politics of Southeast Asia
- (34) POLS 435A. Government and Politics of China
- (35) POLS 435B. Government and Politics of Japan
- (36) POLS 436A. Government and Politics of Europe
- (37) POLS 438. Governments and Politics of the Middle East
- (38) POLS 439A. Government and Politics of Sub-Saharan Africa
- (39) POLS 439B. Government and Politics of Southern Africa
- (40) POLS 440. American Political Parties and Politics
- (41) POLS 441. Interest Groups
- (42) POLS 441A. Latina/o Politics
- (43) POLS 443. Congress and the Legislative Process
- (44) POLS 444. Elections and Voting Behavior
- (45) POLS 445. Political Behavior
- (46) POLS 446. The Presidency
- (47) POLS 447A. Media & Politics
- (48) POLS 448. Women & Politics in the US & the World
- (49) POLS 449. The Politics of Community Action
- (50) POLS 450. Jurisprudence
- (51) POLS 455. Criminal Procedures
- (52) POLS 457A. Constitutional Law
- (53) POLS 457B. Constitutional Law II
- (54) POLS 460. Welfare State
- (55) POLS 461. Environmental Policy
- (56) POLS 462. Ethics in Politics and Administration
- (57) POLS 463. Public Personnel Administration
- (58) POLS 464. Comparative Public Policy
- (59) POLS 465. Administrative Behavior
- (60) POLS 466. The Politics of Public Spending
- (61) POLS 467. Urban Admin
- (62) POLS 469/L. City Planning and Lab
- (63) POLS 470 I/M The Politics of International Migration
- (64) POLS 471A-F. Proseminar
 - (A) American Government
 - (B) Comparative Government
 - (C) International Relations

- (D) Political Theory
- (E) Public Administration and Policy
- (F) Public Law
- (65) POLS 480. The Politics of Globalization
- (66) POLS 481. Globalization, Gender and Democratization
- (67) POLS 490CA. Supervised Independent Project-California Government
- (68) POLS 494I. Political Science Internship
- (69) POLS 494J. Judicial Internship
- (70) POLS 496M. The Politics of Climate Change

Graduate

- (71) POLS 522A-G. Seminar in International Relations
- (72) POLS 530A-J. Seminar in Comparative Government
- (73) POLS 540A-J. Seminar in American Government and Politics
- (74) POLS 570. Seminar in Political Theory
- (75) POLS 571. Seminar in Methodology.

Application Process:

Applicants must submit a current resume, a cover letter, a sample syllabus, evidence of teaching effectiveness and the attached checklist indicating which course(s) they are interested in teaching to the address in the section below. The resume should include educational background, prior teaching experience, evidence of scholarship, and/or related professional experience. In later phases of the search process, applicants may be requested to provide verification of terminal degrees, licenses and certificates.

Application Deadline:

For AY 2025 – 2026: March 24, 2025

Inquiries and applications should be emailed to keiko.hirata@csun.edu and copied to sue.talavera@csun.edu.

With a subject line of "Lecturer application 2025-2026".

Dr. Keiko Hirata, Chair & Eugene Price Professor
 Department of Political Science
 California State University, Northridge
 18111 Nordhoff Street
 Northridge, CA 91330-8254

(Checklist) PLEASE INDICATE COURSES YOU ARE INTERESTED IN TEACHING:

- 155 American Political Institutions
- 156 Introduction to Comparative Politics
- 197 Ethnic Politics
- 225 Elements of International Relations
- 310 Problems of Political Economy
- 321 Comparative Political Ideologies
- 332 Politics of Latin America
- 347 The Judicial Process
- 350 Great Questions in Politics
- 355 American National, State and Local Govts
- 360 Public Administration
- 361 Introduction to Public Policy
- 372 Principles and Methods of Political Science
- 380 Los Angeles: Past, Present, Future
- 403 State and Local Government
- 404 Urban Politics
- 405 The Process of Public Policy Formation

406 Fundamentals of Policy Analysis
 407 Policy Implementation and Program Evaluation
 410 Advanced Comparative Politics
 411 Greek, Roman and Medieval Political Theory
 412 Modern Western Political Theory
 413 American Political Thought
 414 Western Political Theory in the 20th Century
 420A-H International Relations of Selected Areas
 (A) International Relations Latin America
 (B) International Relations Western Europe
 (C) International Relations Eastern Europe
 (D) International Relations Middle East
 (E) International Relations Africa
 (F) International Relations South Asia
 (G) International Relations Southeast Asia
 (H) International Relations Northeast Asia
 421 The Politics of Development
 422 International Politics
 423 Security Studies
 426 International Law
 427A/L Model United Nations I and Lab
 428 International Organization
 429 United States Foreign Policy
 432A Politics of Mexico
 432B Governments and Politics of South America
 433A The Politics of Central America
 434A Government and Politics of South Asia
 434B Government and Politics of Southeast Asia
 435A Government and Politics of China
 435B Government and Politics of Japan
 436A Government and Politics of Europe
 438 Governments and Politics of the Middle East
 439A Government and Politics of Sub-Saharan Africa
 439B Government and Politics of Southern Africa
 440 American Political Parties and Politics
 441 Interest Groups
 441A Latino/a Politics
 443 The Legislative Process
 444 Elections and Voting Behavior
 445 Political Behavior
 446 The Presidency
 447A Media and Politics
 448 Women & Politics in the US and the World
 449 The Politics of Community Action
 450 Jurisprudence
 455 Criminal Procedure
 457A Constitutional Law I
 457B Constitutional Law II
 460 Welfare State
 461 Environmental Policy
 462 Ethics in Politics and Administration
 463 Public Personnel Administration
 464 Comparative Public Policy
 465 Administrative Behavior
 466 The Politics of Public Spending
 467 Urban Administration
 469/L City Planning and Lab
 470 I/M The Politics of International Migration
 471A-F Proseminar
 (A) Proseminar American Government
 (B) Proseminar Comparative Government

(C) Proseminar International Relations
 (D) Proseminar Political Theory
 (E) Proseminar Public Admin & Public Policy
 (F) Proseminar Public Law
 480 The Politics of Globalization
 481 Globalization, Gender and Democratization
 490CA Supervised Independent Project-CA Gov't
 494I Political Science Internship
 494J Judicial Internship
 496M The Politics of Climate Change
 522A-G Seminar in International Relations
 530A-J Seminar in Comparative Government
 540A-J Seminar in American Govt and Politics
 570 Seminar in Political Theory
 571 Seminar in Methodology

General Information:

In compliance with the Annual Security Report & Fire Safety Report of Campus Security Policy and Campus Crime Statistics Act, California State University, Northridge has made crime-reporting statistics available on-line here. Print copies are available by request from the Department of Police Services, the Office for Faculty Affairs, and the Office of Equity and Diversity.

The person holding this position may be considered a 'mandated reporter' under the California Child Abuse and Neglect Reporting Act and is required to comply with the requirements set forth in CSU Executive Order 1083 as a condition of employment.

A background check (including a criminal records check) must be completed satisfactorily. Failure to satisfactorily complete the background check may affect the status of applicants. Please note that working in the state of California is a condition of employment.

CSUN is an Equal Opportunity Employer and prohibits discrimination based on race, color, ethnicity, religion, national origin, age, gender, gender identity/expression, sexual orientation, genetic information, medical condition, marital status, veteran status, and disability. Our nondiscrimination policy is set forth in Interim CSU Nondiscrimination Policy. Reasonable accommodations will be provided for applicants with disabilities who self-disclose by contacting Political Science at 818-677- 3488.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 3/24/2025

Date Posted: 2/4/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15396

William Paterson University

Rank: Predoctoral Fellow of Urban Planning and Policy

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Public Administration, American Government and Politics

William Paterson University

Division of Academic Affairs

College of Arts, Humanities and Social Sciences

Department of Political Science, Legal Studies, and Urban Studies

Wayne, New Jersey

Predoctoral Fellow of Urban Planning and Policy

William Paterson University seeks applications from outstanding candidates for a Predoctoral Fellow of Urban Planning and Policy in the Department of Political Science, Legal Studies, and Urban Studies within the College of Arts, Humanities and Social Sciences.

Applications from all areas of political science, policy and planning will be considered but research or teaching experience in areas such as urban planning and policy, public management, emergency/disaster management, environmental policy and planning, environmental sustainability, urban design, are preferred. Experience in the use of geographic information systems (GIS) in teaching and/or research, is a plus

As a public university serving a highly diverse student population and holding federal standing as a Hispanic Serving Institution (HSI) and Minority Serving Institution (MSI), William Paterson University seeks to intentionally support the mentoring and development of its diverse faculty, particularly faculty from underrepresented backgrounds.

The Fellow will be appointed for up to two academic years in a non-tenure-track teaching position (NTTP) under New Jersey's statewide contract, with full benefits and a competitive salary. Appointment to the second year is contingent upon a successful mid-year review in the first year. Fellows will teach a 3/3 load during the time of their appointments in a planned and supported period of growth in the role of full-time faculty member.

The University will provide the Fellow a structured program of focused mentorship, pedagogical support, and an introduction to university and professional service. This pre-doctoral fellowship program will be supporting three Fellows across the University. The goals of the program are (a) to support the career success of selected candidates, (b) to advance the University's commitment to building a diverse campus community, and (c) to expand the University's pool of highly qualified candidates for faculty positions.

Following the first year of the fellowship and upon successful completion of the requirements of the doctoral degree, by mutual agreement between the department and the Fellow the department may request conversion of the fellowship to a tenure-track line, contingent on demonstrated need.

The start date of this fellowship is fall 2025.

Department Overview:

The Department of Political Science, Legal Studies, and Urban Studies offers a variety of programs at the undergraduate and graduate levels that help students build successful careers at the city, county, state, and federal levels, as well as in the private and non-profit sectors. The department offers a BA in Political Science, BA in Legal Studies, and an accelerated 5-year BA/MPP in Political Science and Public Policy. It also offers minors in Forensic Studies, Political Science, Legal Studies, and Public Policy. Most WP undergraduate students are employed in related fields or accepted into a graduate program within six months of completion of their degree.

For more information about the department, please visit the website:

<https://www.wpunj.edu/cohss/departments/political-science-legal-and-urban-studies/index.html>

Timeline for the fall 2025 fellowship cohort:

- Friday, February 14, 2025: Applications due for priority consideration.

- Thursday-Friday, April 10-11, 2025: Virtual campus visit and interviews. Details to follow.

Fellowship offers are anticipated by the beginning of May with appointments beginning August 2025.

Fellowship Requirements include:

Teaching:

- Teach a total of 18 graduate and/or undergraduate credits annually in online, hybrid or face-to-face modalities per departmental needs; Collaborate with faculty through tailored mentorship.
- Using approved course outline as a guide, develop relevant syllabi in order to deploy course content, objectives, and methods of student assessment.
- Contribute to student success of a diverse student population by providing consistent and effective support and guidance through role modeling, mentoring, and being available to respond to student questions and needs.

Scholarship:

- A strong commitment to establishing a research program involving undergraduates and graduate students.
- A continued dedication to be involved in research and scholarship and to disseminate these in quality research publications, external and internal grant submissions; Collaborate with faculty through tailored mentorship.

Service:

- Participate in the variety of service opportunities within the department, college, and university community including mentoring students where appropriate.
- Engage in assessment of student learning as well as program and accreditation assessment and reporting requirements.
- Attend department and college meetings and engage in activities of the department.

Required Qualifications:

- Identifies as a member of an underrepresented population in one or more of the following ways—race, ethnicity, gender, socio-economic background, first-generation college, etc.
- ABD from an accredited college or university, with an emphasis in urban planning and policy, public management, environmental policy and planning, urban design, or closely related field.
- Strong commitment to teaching.
- Evidence or promise of research capacity and a planned agenda of achievement in scholarly productivity.
- Demonstrates an understanding of diversity, equity and inclusion concepts and their applicability to the field of teaching and learning.
- Commitment to advancing the mission, vision, and values of the University.

Preferred qualifications:

- Demonstrated ability to succeed in a collaborative environment by freely offering expertise and being open to meaningful feedback and ongoing professional development.
- Evidence of teaching excellence and supporting student success.
- Capable of engaging and contributing in order to make a positive impact.

- Ability to navigate the complexities of a multi-faceted organization with competing wants and needs.

Invitation to apply:

Please click https://wpunj.wd1.myworkdayjobs.com/ext/job/William-Paterson-University/Predoctoral-Fellow_R651 to view the description and apply for the position. Interested candidates will be prompted to submit a letter of application addressing teaching interests and philosophy and curriculum vitae.

About William Paterson:

We invite you to join William Paterson University: a wonderful community to learn, work, grow, and thrive. William Paterson University has been named to Forbes' prestigious "Best Employers by State" list for 2024, recognizing the institution as one of the best-ranked employers in New Jersey based on nationwide surveys. WP is one of four education institutions on the Garden State's list this year (<https://www.forbes.com/lists/best-employers-by-state/>). William Paterson University is among more than 40 companies and organizations that will be honored with a 2024 NJBIZ Empowering Women Award for their commitment to supporting and elevating women employees.

William Paterson University employs approximately 1000 full time employees. Located on 400 wooded acres in suburban Wayne, New Jersey – just 20 miles from New York City – our campus is one of the most diverse in the nation and ranks in the top 4 percent of colleges for social mobility. Your work as a member of our team is important to our students and to the progress of our University. What you do here matters, and we value every contribution.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 2/14/2025

Date Posted: 1/22/2025

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 15359

Washington University in St. Louis

Rank: Weidenbaum Center Postdoctoral Fellowship

We are pleased to announce a new Postdoctoral Fellowship in Survey Research through the Weidenbaum Center. This fellowship allows new Ph.D.s and early career scholars the opportunity to contribute to cutting-edge research using high-quality survey data collected by the Weidenbaum Center. This fellowship is uniquely situated at the intersection of academic and public-facing scholarship, allowing the fellow to pursue a multitude of career paths, contribute to research that directly affects important issues in American politics, and increase visibility of their research.

The Weidenbaum Center at Washington University in St. Louis invites applications from recent Ph.D. graduates for a one-year postdoctoral fellowship. The fellowship will run for 12 months, starting on or around July 1, 2025, with the possibility of a one-year renewal.

The Weidenbaum Center has supported survey data collection efforts through The American Panel Survey (TAPS), The American Social Survey (TASS), and the Weidenbaum Center Survey (WCS). The Center's most recent efforts have focused on the launch of the WCS, which is fielded three times each year, includes a sample of 3,000 respondents (2,000 general US adult population and oversample of 1,000 African Americans), with each survey paired with voter file data and web-tracking data for a subset of respondents. For more information on survey work supported by the Center, please visit: <https://wc.wustl.edu/weidenbaum-center-survey-work>.

The Fellow will work collaboratively with Taylor Carlson, graduate student fellows, and other Weidenbaum Center affiliates to support the launch of the Weidenbaum Center Survey and other data collection efforts through the Center. The Fellow will assist with the launch of an online dashboard that allows people to analyze and download the survey data, write public-facing reports describing key findings from the data, draft survey instruments, create publicly available data repositories, and conduct both coauthored and independent academic research.

We are seeking an individual with social science research interests who will advance the Center's mission by engaging in collaborative and independent research and who will enjoy the opportunity to contribute to public scholarship (blog posts, reports, website graphics). We are especially interested in candidates with training in survey methodology and experience with public-facing scholarship (e.g., op-eds). Candidates should detail their experience in these areas in their cover letters and showcase any of these interests in the writing sample. We anticipate that the Fellow will spend most of their time working on Center-related and coauthored projects with Taylor Carlson and other Center affiliates.

Qualifications

We invite applications from qualified candidates who will have a PhD in hand by the time of the appointment, are no more than four years from the granting of their Ph.D. at the time of the submission, and who do not yet hold tenure-track academic positions.

Applications are evaluated against a broad set of criteria with special consideration given to contributions the candidate can make to academic diversity in our University community and more specifically to the study of survey methodology or addressing contemporary issues in American society with survey data.

Application Instructions

Proposal Submission Deadline: We will begin reviewing applications on February 7 and anticipate scheduling Zoom interviews as early as late February.

Proposal Format:

Applications should include the following:

- Cover letter
- Curriculum vitae
- Research statement not to exceed 2000 words describing the dissertation project and other research
- Writing sample

- Three letters of reference
- The cover letter should be addressed to Taylor Carlson

NOTE: Please apply through Interfolio: <https://apply.interfolio.com/161709>

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 1/15/2025

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 15339

University of California, Berkeley

Rank: Postdoctoral Employee, Political Economy of Climate Policy

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Public Policy, International Relations

Specializations: Political Economy, Environmental Policy, Energy Policy

POSITION OVERVIEW

Position title: Postdoc Employee, Political Economy of Climate Policy
Salary range: The UC postdoc salary scales set the minimum pay determined by experience level at appointment. See the following table(s) for the current salary scale(s) for this position: https://www.ucop.edu/academic-personnel-programs/_files/2024-25/oct-2024-scales/t23.pdf. The current minimum salary range for this position is $66,737-$74,425. Salaries above the minimum may be offered when necessary to meet competitive conditions.

Percent time: 100

Anticipated start: as early as possible, negotiable

Position duration: Initial appointment is for 2 years with possibility of renewal based on performance and availability of funding.

APPLICATION WINDOW

Next review date: Monday, January 13, 2025

Final date: Applications will continue to be accepted until a candidate has been chosen.

POSITION DESCRIPTION

The Berkeley Economy and Society Initiative seeks applications for a Postdoctoral Scholar in the area of the political economy of climate policy and the energy transition.

The Postdoctoral Scholar will be part of the Berkeley Economy and Society Initiative (BESI), a campuswide program to advance new political and economic thought on urgent societal challenges. BESI's climate cluster conducts research and engagement on climate politics and policy, with a focus on the intersection of climate and economic policymaking. Jonas Meckling directs the cluster and is the faculty lead for the position, while other faculty may be involved in projects. Areas of research interest include but are not limited to the intersection of climate policy and economic policy broadly understood. Specific interests relate to the greening of innovation, industrial, trade, development, monetary, and fiscal policy. We welcome international political economy, comparative political economy, or regional/country perspectives as well as firm-centered approaches.

Applicants are expected to pitch their existing research and possible areas of collaboration. They may also contribute to possible projects of collaboration proposed by us.

QUALIFICATIONS

Basic qualifications (required at time of application)
PhD or equivalent international degree or enrolled in such a program.

APPLICATION REQUIREMENTS

Document requirements

Curriculum Vitae - Your most recently updated C.V.

Cover Letter - Please include a 1-2 page cover letter.

Statement of Research - This research proposal should not exceed 5 pages. Applicants should provide specific information about research plans, including possible areas of collaboration.

Recent Publications - Please include at least one recent publication.

Reference requirements

Names and contact details for 3 references. We will only request letters of recommendation for shortlisted candidates.

Apply email: Submit your application as a single pdf file to BESHR@berkeley.edu.

Start Date: Summer 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 1/8/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15327

University of Central Arkansas

Rank: Assistant Professor

Specializations: Congress, Judicial Politics, Environmental Policy

The Department of Government, Public Service, & International Studies at the University of Central Arkansas invites applications for a tenure-track assistant professor position in American institutions and public policy. The position begins August 16, 2025. A Ph.D. in Political Science or Public Policy is preferred. ABDs will be considered. If the candidate does not have the Ph.D. in hand, he/she will be hired as an instructor until the degree is earned. Apply at <https://jobs.uca.edu>.

Teaching responsibilities include lower and upper-division courses in an undergraduate political science program. The successful candidate will teach introductory sections of U.S. government and politics and upper-division courses on Congress, judicial systems, and one or more areas of public policy, environmental policy in particular. Other responsibilities include scholarly research and publication in their areas of interest.

The successful candidate will possess excellent teaching skills and indicate the potential for scholarly research and publication. Skills considered essential for success include:

- Knowledge of the organization and administration of higher education.
- Knowledge of state, federal, and university rules, regulations and procedures.
- Ability to work in a diverse and dynamic environment.
- Ability to work collaboratively and independently with common goals as a part of a team.
- Ability to make sound judgments.
- Effective interpersonal communication, writing, and organizational abilities.
- Civility in all interactions.
- Demonstrate effective follow-up.

To apply, submit a letter of application, current vita, transcripts, three letters of recommendation, a scholarly writing sample, course syllabi, and teaching evaluations via UCA's online application system: <https://jobs.uca.edu>. Please use the "other documents" and "additional documents" to submit your course syllabi and teaching evaluations, respectively. To assure full review of your application, please submit the required materials by February 14, 2025.

Founded in 1907, UCA has an enrollment of more than 10,000, of which more than 15% are graduate students. The university offers more than 90 undergraduate and 60 graduate certificate and degree programs, including doctoral programs in five disciplines. The undergraduate student body consistently scores above the national average on the ACT exam. UCA is proud of its tradition of teaching excellence and its contributions in research, scholarship, and creative activities. UCA seeks to attract students and employees that are dedicated to building a culture of diversity, belonging, inclusion, and equity.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 1/8/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15326

Western Carolina University

Rank: Director of African American Studies

Subfield(s): Open, American Government and Politics, Public Policy

Specializations: African American Politics, Social Movements, Urban Politics

Please go to our web page for the full advertisement: <https://jobs.wcu.edu/postings/29334>

Western Carolina University seeks a dynamic scholar at the assistant professor level in Global Black Studies (GBS) beginning in August 2025. The successful candidate will assume directorship of the program within one to three years of employment. This is a tenure track, nine-month position.

Program directors receive an administrative course release each semester. The successful candidate must demonstrate expertise centered in Black Studies and continue build the intellectual identity of the GBS program. The successful candidate must have a PhD in Black Studies or a related discipline with experience in Black Studies. The successful candidate must assure an exciting and collegial environment for faculty, students, and staff by fostering interdisciplinary campus, regional, and national collaboration and continue to shape the curriculum, mission, and community outreach of the program. The successful candidate must teach courses within the GBS program and within another department at WCU that is appropriate for their expertise.

The director's duties will include:

Teaching course(s) for student within and outside the minor that support the minor and other majors on campus and conducting research.

Continuing to develop curriculum appropriate for Global Black studies minor and facilitating the development of relevant courses across campus.

Convening a program board of faculty, students, and community members to guide the minor.

Encouraging students to participate in high impact practices related to the minor and engaging in Black Studies.

Recruiting and advising students in the minor.

Managing the program budget.

Developing and implementing an assessment plan for the minor.

Facilitating programming related to GBS, including on campus speakers.

Serve as faculty advisor for the Global Black Studies Club.

Other duties that may arise to support the program.

The director will collaborate with department heads, the deans, and work with a board of interested faculty, students, and community members who will aid in supporting, developing, and promoting programming.

Western Carolina University holds inclusive excellence as a core value, and we work together to foster a welcoming community, where all are respected and know they belong.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 11/8/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15172

KAPSARC School of Public Policy

Rank: Faculty - Climate Policy and Sustainability

Position Summary:

The KSPP is a newly established graduate school that offers master's and executive education programs. The first cohort of master's students commenced their graduate studies in the fall of 2024. Situated in the thriving capital city of Riyadh, Saudi Arabia, on the state-of-the-art KAPSARC campus, the KSPP is well-placed to offer students an exceptional educational experience.

The KSPP's vision is to be a world-class education and research institution that prepares the next generation of public policy leaders and professionals within the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia and globally. To achieve this vision, the school is committed to providing high-quality educational programs and creating a bridge between academia, industry, and government. As the first public policy school in the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia, the KSPP is uniquely positioned to offer public policy degrees focusing on management and leadership, energy and climate policy, and data analytics. By providing concentrations in these areas, the school aims to help students develop the skills and knowledge necessary to address pressing policy challenges and make a meaningful impact in their communities and beyond. The KAPSARC School of Public Policy (KSPP) invites applications for a faculty position in public management.

The KAPSARC School of Public Policy (KSPP) invites applications for a faculty position in climate policy and sustainability. We welcome candidates whose research, teaching, and outreach activities broadly focus on climate policies and sustainability. The KSPP offers a highly competitive salary and benefits package, including children's educational support, housing support, and premier health insurance.

Responsibilities:

The successful candidate will be expected to carry out impactful research, teach courses related to the candidate's research field, contribute to core courses and/or electives in public sector management and leadership, supervise capstone projects, and contribute to the overall academic environment of the School.

Qualifications:

The successful candidate must have a Ph.D. in economics or an interdisciplinary Ph.D. in environmental science/engineering and economics with a track record of research on environmental and sustainability topics.

To apply, please visit: <https://www.kspp.edu.sa/careers/faculty-climate-policy-and-sustainability>

Start Date:

Date Posted: 11/4/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15148

KAPSARC School of Public Policy

Rank: Faculty - Energy & Environmental Economics

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Public Administration, Political Theory

Position Summary:

The KSPP is a newly established graduate school that offers master's and executive education programs. The first cohort of master's students commenced their graduate studies in the fall of 2024. Situated in the thriving capital city of Riyadh, Saudi Arabia, on the state-of-the-art KAPSARC campus, the KSPP is well-placed to offer students an exceptional educational experience.

The KSPP's vision is to be a world-class education and research institution that prepares the next generation of public policy leaders and professionals within the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia and globally. To achieve this vision, the school is committed to providing high-quality educational programs and creating a bridge between academia, industry, and government. As the first public policy school in the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia, the KSPP is uniquely positioned to offer public policy degrees focusing on management and leadership, energy and climate policy, and data analytics. By providing concentrations in these areas, the school aims to help students develop the skills and knowledge necessary to address pressing policy challenges and make a meaningful impact in their communities and beyond.

The KAPSARC School of Public Policy (KSPP) invites applications for a faculty position in energy and environmental economics. We welcome candidates whose research, teaching, and outreach activities broadly focus on energy markets, climate finance, and climate policy design. The KSPP offers a highly competitive salary and benefits package, including children's educational support, housing support, and premier health insurance.

Responsibilities:

The successful candidate will be expected to carry out impactful research, teach courses related to the candidate's research field, contribute to core courses and/or electives in public sector management and leadership, supervise capstone projects, and contribute to the overall academic environment of the School.

Qualifications:

The successful candidate must have a Ph.D. in economics with a field specialization in energy and environmental economics.

To apply, please visit: <https://www.kspp.edu.sa/careers/faculty-energy-environmental-economics>

Start Date:

Date Posted: 11/4/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15146

KAPSARC School of Public Policy

Rank: Faculty - Public Finance

Subfield(s): Administration, Public Administration, Public Policy

Position Summary:

The KSPP is a newly established graduate school that offers master's and executive education programs. The first cohort of master's students commenced their graduate studies in the fall of 2024. Situated in the thriving capital city of Riyadh, Saudi Arabia, on the state-of-the-art KAPSARC campus, the KSPP is well-placed to offer students an exceptional educational experience.

The KSPP's vision is to be a world-class education and research institution that prepares the next generation of public policy leaders and professionals within the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia and globally. To achieve this vision, the school is committed to providing high-quality educational programs and creating a bridge between academia, industry, and government. As the first public policy school in the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia, the KSPP is uniquely positioned to offer public policy degrees focusing on management and leadership, energy and climate policy, and data analytics. By providing concentrations in these areas, the school aims to help students develop the skills and knowledge necessary to address pressing policy challenges and make a meaningful impact in their communities and beyond. The KAPSARC School of Public Policy (KSPP) invites applications for a faculty position in public management.

The KAPSARC School of Public Policy (KSPP) invites applications for a faculty position in public finance. We welcome candidates whose research, teaching, and outreach activities broadly address public finance topics. The KSPP offers a highly competitive salary and benefits package, including children's educational support, housing support, and premier health insurance.

Responsibilities:

The successful candidate will be expected to carry out impactful research, teach courses related to the candidate's research field, contribute to core courses and/or electives in public sector management and leadership, supervise capstone projects, and contribute to the overall academic environment of the School.

Qualifications:

The successful candidate must have a Ph.D. in economics with a field specialization in public finance

To apply, please visit: <https://www.kspp.edu.sa/careers/faculty-public-finance>

Start Date:

Date Posted: 11/4/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15145

KAPSARC School of Public PolicyRank: Faculty - Public Management*Position Summary:

The KSPP is a newly established graduate school that offers master's and executive education programs. The first cohort of master's students commenced their graduate studies in the fall of 2024. Situated in the thriving capital city of Riyadh, Saudi Arabia, on the state-of-the-art KAPSARC campus, the KSPP is well-placed to offer students an exceptional educational experience.

The KSPP's vision is to be a world-class education and research institution that prepares the next generation of public policy leaders and professionals within the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia and globally. To achieve this vision, the school is committed to providing high-quality educational programs and creating a bridge between academia, industry, and government. As the first public policy school in the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia, the KSPP is uniquely positioned to offer public policy degrees focusing on management and leadership, energy and climate policy, and data analytics. By providing concentrations in these areas, the school aims to help students develop the skills and knowledge necessary to address pressing policy challenges and make a meaningful impact in their communities and beyond. The KAPSARC School of Public Policy (KSPP) invites applications for a faculty position in public management.

The KAPSARC School of Public Policy (KSPP) invites applications for a faculty position in public management. We welcome candidates from any subfield of public management, including those with research interests that intersect with political science, decision science, and/or economics. The KSPP offers a highly competitive salary and benefits package, including children's educational support, housing support, and premier health insurance.

Responsibilities:

The successful candidate will be expected to carry out impactful research, teach courses related to the candidate's research field, contribute to core courses and/or electives in public sector management and leadership, supervise capstone projects, and contribute to the overall academic environment of the School.

Qualifications:

The successful candidate must have a Ph.D. in management science, political science, or similar disciplines with a track record of research on public management topics.

To apply, please visit: <https://www.kspp.edu.sa/careers/faculty-public-management>

Start Date:Date Posted: 11/4/2024Salary: CompetitiveeJobs ID: 15147KAPSARC School of Public Policy*Rank: Faculty - Public Policy*Position Summary:

The KSPP is a newly established graduate school that offers master's and executive education programs. The first cohort of master's students commenced their graduate studies in the fall of 2024. Situated in the thriving capital city of Riyadh, Saudi Arabia, on the state-of-the-art KAPSARC campus, the KSPP is well-placed to offer students an exceptional educational experience.

The KSPP's vision is to be a world-class education and research institution that prepares the next generation of public policy leaders and professionals within the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia and globally. To achieve this vision, the school is committed to providing high-quality educational programs and creating a bridge between academia, industry, and government. As the first public policy school in the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia, the KSPP is uniquely positioned to offer public policy degrees focusing on management and leadership, energy and climate policy, and data analytics. By providing concentrations in these areas, the school aims to help students develop the skills and knowledge necessary to address pressing policy challenges and make a meaningful impact in their communities and beyond.

The KAPSARC School of Public Policy (KSPP) invites applications for a faculty position in public policy. We welcome candidates whose research, teaching, and outreach activities broadly focus on applied econometrics and public policy design topics. The KSPP offers a highly competitive salary and benefits package, including children's educational support, housing support, and premier health insurance.

Responsibilities:

The successful candidate will be expected to carry out impactful research, teach courses related to the candidate's research field, contribute to core courses and/or electives in public sector management and leadership, supervise capstone projects, and contribute to the overall academic environment of the School.

Qualifications:

The successful candidate must have a Ph.D. in public policy.

To apply, please visit: <https://www.kspp.edu.sa/careers/faculty-public-policy>

Start Date:Date Posted: 11/4/2024Salary: CompetitiveeJobs ID: 15144