

POLITICAL SCIENCE JOBS

Online journal from the American Political Science Association

June 2025 | Volume 14, Issue 06

ISSN 2167-8332

In this Issue

Career Resources

Finding a Job in Political Science	3
--	---

Job Listings

Administration	4
American Government and Politics	6
Comparative Politics	17
International Relations	23
Methodology	35
Non-Academic	38
Open	38
Other	44
Political Theory	51
Public Administration	54
Public Law	58
Public Policy	61

About the Journal

Published monthly by the American Political Science Association, Political Science Jobs is an online journal containing all active jobs in political science as listed in the APSA online job board eJobs. The combined resource of the Political Science Jobs journal and the daily updated and fully searchable eJobs platform provides a comprehensive employment resource for political science and supports a transparent, efficient, and ethically-grounded labor market for the discipline.

Access to the journal is made freely accessible to APSA's over 14,000 individual and departmental members within the US and around the world.

Submissions

Job listings may be submitted to the journal via the online eJobs platform at www.apsanet.org/jobs and applicable fees may apply.

Online Access: www.apsanet.org/jobs

The core content in this journal draws upon active listings within eJobs, linkages to association programs and career resources. Readers are encouraged to visit the eJobs website for daily updates on new job listings and candidate resumes, and use the online features including search tool to locate listings by field of interest, employer or candidate name, region, keyword, position, salary, institution type, and most recent submissions.

Copyright © 2012
American Political Science Association
All rights reserved

APSA does not grant permission to any individual or party to republish or otherwise distribute this journal or any portion therein in any print or electronic form.

POLITICAL SCIENCE JOBS

June 2025 | Volume 14, Issue 06

ISSN 2167-8332

Online journal from the American Political Science Association

In this Issue

Career Resources

Finding a Job in Political Science 3

Job Listings

Administration	4 (3 listings)
American Government and Politics	6 (26 listings)
Comparative Politics	17 (14 listings)
International Relations	23 (22 listings)
Methodology	35 (6 listings)
Non-Academic	38 (13 listings)
Open	38 (12 listings)
Other	44 (7 listings)
Political Theory	51 (9 listings)
Public Administration	54 (6 listings)
Public Law	58 (17 listings)
Public Policy	61 (listings)
Total listings this issue	135

Resources and Guidance on

Finding a Job in Political Science

Hundreds of academic positions are advertised each year in political science. Finding the openings is the easy part; knowing how to approach the application and interview process is a little more challenging. At APSA, we have collected resources to assist candidates in the academic job search. We would like to highlight a few of these key resources here. The complete list of job resources is available online at www.apsanet.org/jobs.

eJobs: This online resource contains comprehensive online listing of political science jobs, is updated daily with new job listings and candidate resumes, and is fully searchable by field of interest, name of employer/candidate, region, keyword, position, salary, type of institution, and most recent posts.

Data on Jobs Market: APSA gathers and releases data regarding the placement of political science Ph.Ds. View this information at www.apsanet.org/content_7623.cfm.

Mentoring: Enroll in the APSA Mentoring Program online at www.apsanet.org/mentoring.

eJobs Placement Interview Services: The eJobs Annual Meeting Placement Interview Service provides space and facilities for employers who have eJobs posted to interview candidates at the APSA meeting. Many other conferences, such as the Northeastern and Western, also use the APSA online service to schedule placement interviews. Check the listings online in eJobs.

Ethics Guide: The APSA Guide to Professional Ethics in Political Science includes specific guidance on hiring and employment practices. Order a print copy or view online at www.apsanet.org/ethics.

Asking the Right Questions: APSA Job Candidate Questions to Ask Program

Asking the right questions provides valuable information for career decisions. As part of the APSA Job Candidate Questions to Ask (JCQ) Program participating political science departments have agreed to answer the following questions from job candidates.

Salary

1. What is the salary structure?
2. How is salary normally negotiated?
3. How are annual increases handled?
4. Is there an automatic escalator to ensure the salaries of future hires will not outpace those of existing department members?

Service Activities

1. What are the expectations of pre-tenure and tenured faculty regarding:
 - departmental and institutional committee work,
 - professional or disciplinary activities, and
 - outreach activities to communities external to institution?

Research Support

1. What departmental or institutional resources are available to support:
 - access to research materials and equipment,
 - the employment of research assistants,
 - research expenses on/off campus, and
 - travel expenses for conferences?

2. What departmental or institutional resources are available to seek external funding and to administer external funding awards?

Teaching Support

1. What departmental or institutional resources are available to support:
 - the development of teaching expertise,
 - innovations in teaching, and
 - the introduction of new courses and new technologies?
2. What are departmental expectations regarding:
 - the average course load,
 - the number of different courses taught by faculty, and
 - advising of graduate and undergraduate students?

Tenure, Renewal, and Annual Review

1. What policies and procedures govern the granting of tenure, renewal of contracts for pre-tenure faculty, and annual reviews of faculty performance?
2. What are the department's expectations for successful performance leading to the granting of tenure or renewal of contracts for pre-tenure faculty?
3. What are the department's expectations for a positive annual review?

Mentoring and Faculty Support Initiatives

1. What attention does the department give to integrating new faculty into the department, the institution, and in the profession?
2. Does the department or institution have programs that address:
 - the employment of dual-career professional couples,
 - family needs of faculty and staff, and
 - issues associated with minority faculty and staff?

Health and Life Insurance

1. What are the plans offered?
2. How are benefits disbursed?
3. What are the out-of-pocket expenses?
4. Are partners and/or children covered, and to what extent?
5. What portion of my paycheck will be deducted for these benefits?

Retirement

1. How many types of retirement plans are offered?
2. What is the matching percentage of the institution?
3. Is contribution required (and how much)?

More on the APSA Job Candidate Questions to Ask (JCQ) Program

For more information about the JCQ program and to view the departments who agreed to answer these questions at www.apsanet.org/JCQ.

Political Science Jobs for June

ADMINISTRATION

Hertie School – the University of Governance in Berlin

Rank: President

The Hertie School is recruiting a

President (f/m/div)

The Hertie School has established a search committee to recommend a candidate for appointment as the President for the term starting 2026. Since its foundation in 2003, the Hertie School has grown into one of the leading graduate schools of public policy worldwide. The Hertie School educates the next generation of leaders in government, business and civil society. It strives for excellence in research, teaching and outreach, promoting active engagement for the common good. The Hertie School is a renowned institution of higher learning and acknowledged as a centre of excellence in research on governance and policy issues that invites interdisciplinary, cross-sectoral approaches informed by comparative as well as international perspectives. The Hertie School acts as a recognised platform for vibrant public debates and intellectual discourse among academic experts and policy-makers.

The Hertie School is a highly selective private graduate school based in Berlin with an interdisciplinary focus on issues of governance. A renowned international and interdisciplinary faculty of nearly 40 professors conducts state-of-the-art research, some of them located at the School's 5 research centres and the Data Science Lab. The language of instruction is English. The school has more than 800 students and 260 employees.

The Hertie School, accredited by the German Science Council, prepares exceptional students for leadership positions in government, business and civil society by offering three full-time master programmes, an Executive master and a PhD programme. It has numerous dual degree programmes and close ties to top institutions of the European and international teaching and research community. The Hertie School is a full member of the Global Public Policy Network (GPPN), the Association of Professional School for International Affairs (APSIA) and CIVICA – the European University of Social Sciences.

The Hertie School was founded by the Hertie Foundation, a well-endowed foundation in Germany, which remains its major funder. The ideal candidate is a distinguished academic, appointable as full professor and President, has a strong professional network as well as extensive leadership experience and a strong track record in academia or a closely related sector. In line with the mission of the Hertie School, the President is expected to further develop the School's strategy. The candidate should be able to expand fundraising for the School and combine a strong professional network with the ability to address the needs of various stakeholders – academics, students, alumni, administrators, donors, media or policy-makers. The President manages the school and represents it internally as well as externally. The President acts as Chairperson and Academic Managing Director of the legal entity Hertie School gemeinnützige GmbH, a German non-profit limited liability company. In this capacity, the President holds the overall responsibility for the development of the Hertie School and chairs the meetings of the Hertie School Leadership. The President will be appointed by the Supervisory Board upon approval by the Academic Senate of the Hertie School for a term of four years. Re-appointment is possible under the same conditions.

The President's office will start at the beginning of the academic year (Sept) 2026.

To submit your application, please send your documents (CV and motivation letter) via e-mail to Helge Braun (chairmanboardoftrustees@hertie-school.org), Chairman of the Search Committee. Applications submitted until May 31, 2025 are guaranteed to be considered. Submissions received after this date may be reviewed by the Search Committee at their discretion.

For information about the Hertie School, please visit www.hertie-school.org.

For questions about the position, please contact Helge Braun (chairmanboardoftrustees@hertie-school.org), Chairman of the Search Committee or Björn Schäfer, Secretary to the Search Committee (B.Schaefer@hertie-school.org).

Strict confidentiality in the application process is assured. The Hertie School is committed to equal opportunity employment. To promote gender equality, we strongly encourage applications from qualified women. Severely disabled persons will be given preferential consideration in case of equal suitability.

Start Date:

Date Posted: 4/25/2025

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 15563

Howard University

Rank: Chair, Department of Political Science

Howard University (HU) invites applications and nominations for the position of Chair of the Department of Political Science.

The Department of Political Science seeks a dynamic, energetic leader with the ability to effectively engage faculty, staff, students, and external constituencies in a collegial and collaborative manner. The Chair will have a demonstrated record of excellence in collegial academic leadership, faculty development, fundraising, executive administration, and financial management. This is an outstanding opportunity for a creative leader at an exciting time in the continued growth of the Department, College, and University.

The Chair represents the Department as part of the College's leadership team and is responsible for the Department's faculty and staff recruiting, development, retention, resource attainment, financial management, and stakeholder relationship management. The Chair manages a diverse faculty, staff and student body, and is expected to lead the Department in publishing scholarship, teaching capacity, grantsmanship, service, and outreach.

The Chair must be an active intellectual leader, adept at building and supporting multi-disciplinary partnerships within a diverse community, knowledgeable in higher education issues, collaborative in developing team-focused, data-driven approaches to problem solving, and possess effective people-skills.

Working in partnership with the senior administration of the College of Arts & Sciences, the successful candidate is expected to embrace and contribute to the mission of the University.

Desired Qualifications

Earned doctorate or terminal degree from an accredited institution; PhD in Political Science preferred, but a PhD in an allied discipline will be considered;

Record of professional accomplishments and published scholarship in the discipline that meet the qualifications for appointment to the rank of professor in the College and University. Applications from advanced associate professors will be considered.

Established and sustained record of graduate and undergraduate teaching excellence and interdisciplinary initiatives;

Recognized and reputable record of research, collaborative projects, and creative accomplishments;

Administrative, personnel, and budgetary experience at the department level;

Evidence of and capacity to secure external funding and undertake successful fundraising campaigns;

Documentation of a strong commitment to helping students obtain a broad-based education, student centeredness, and optimization of student learning;

Record of successful curriculum development including a commitment to collaboration and use of innovative pedagogies;

Successful record of effective interpersonal and communication skills with faculty, staff, students, alumni, and community members;

Demonstrated ability to manage a complex academic unit and work effectively with colleagues across divisions;

Demonstrated ability to effectively forge and build partnerships and productive relations on and off campus; engage with the community via outreach efforts; leadership abilities with both campus and external constituencies, including alumni;

Evidence of successful recruitment and retention of a diverse faculty and staff, as well as teambuilding, supervision, and staff support for professional development;

Established in 1867, Howard University is a federally chartered, private, doctoral/research extensive university located in Washington, D.C., and is widely recognized as one of the world's most prestigious institutions of higher learning. The only comprehensive American university with a predominantly African-American constituency, Howard University is committed to preparing its students to not only be respected leaders in the national and global communities, but to also promote social justice and democracy the world over. Howard has historically educated more African-American PhD's than any other university. It has a track record, for more than a century as the home to the single, largest concentration of Black scholars in the world.

Procedure for Candidacy

Applications should include a cover letter and curriculum vitae. Applications and nominations will be accepted until the position is filled. Confidential review of materials and screening of candidates will begin immediately.

Contact Information:

POLSearch@Howard.edu

The University does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, national and ethnic origin, sex, sexual orientation, gender or gender identity, marital status, religion, disability or protected veterans status. Veterans and people with disabilities are encouraged to apply. Inquiries regarding provisions for persons with disabilities or veteran's status, Equal Employment Opportunity and Title IX should be directed to the Office of Employee Relations and Equal Employment Opportunity at 202-806-1280.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 11/11/2025

Date Posted: 11/13/2024

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 15203

KAPSARC School of Public Policy

Rank: Faculty - Public Finance

Subfield(s): Administration, Public Administration, Public Policy

Position Summary:

The KSPP is a newly established graduate school that offers master's and executive education programs. The first cohort of master's students commenced their graduate studies in the fall of 2024. Situated in the thriving capital city of Riyadh, Saudi Arabia, on the state-of-the-art KAPSARC campus, the KSPP is well-placed to offer students an exceptional educational experience.

The KSPP's vision is to be a world-class education and research institution that prepares the next generation of public policy leaders and professionals within the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia and globally. To achieve this vision, the school is committed to providing high-quality educational programs and creating a bridge between academia, industry, and government. As the first public policy school in the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia, the KSPP is uniquely positioned to offer public policy degrees focusing on management and leadership, energy and climate policy, and data analytics. By providing concentrations in these areas, the school aims to help students develop the skills and knowledge necessary to address pressing policy challenges and make a meaningful impact in their communities and beyond. The KAPSARC School of Public Policy (KSPP) invites applications for a faculty position in public management.

The KAPSARC School of Public Policy (KSPP) invites applications for a faculty position in public finance. We welcome candidates whose research, teaching, and outreach activities broadly address public finance topics. The KSPP offers a highly competitive salary and benefits package, including children's educational support, housing support, and premier health insurance.

Responsibilities:

The successful candidate will be expected to carry out impactful research, teach courses related to the candidate's research field, contribute to core courses and/or electives in public sector management and leadership, supervise capstone projects, and contribute to the overall academic environment of the School.

Qualifications:

The successful candidate must have a Ph.D. in economics with a field specialization in public finance

To apply, please visit: <https://www.kspp.edu.sa/careers/faculty-public-finance>

Start Date:

Date Posted: 11/4/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15145

AMERICAN GOVERNMENT AND POLITICS

University of California, Davis

Rank: Lecturer

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, Political Theory

The Department of Political Science at the University of California at Davis invites applications for one or more temporary teaching positions in the fields of International Relations, Comparative Politics, American Politics and/or Political Theory for the 2025-2026 academic year. Availability of this position depends upon final administrative approval and the teaching needs of the department. The Department seeks applicants with demonstrated research and teaching expertise. A completed Ph.D. is required. This position is covered by a Collective Bargaining Unit.

The appointee(s) will offer up to two courses per quarter over three quarters. The core courses to be taught will be in the areas of International Relations, Comparative Politics, American Politics and/or Political Theory. Compensation is commensurate with ability and experience. Candidates should electronically submit a letter of application, curriculum vitae, evidence of teaching ability, two letters of reference and a writing sample to: <https://recruit.ucdavis.edu/apply/JPF07149>. To ensure review of your application, please submit all materials by June 16, 2025, but materials will be accepted until the positions are filled.

The University of California at Davis and the Department of Political Science are interested in candidates who are committed to the highest standards of scholarship and professional activities, and to the development of a campus climate that supports equality and diversity. The University of California is an affirmative action/equal opportunity employer.

Start Date: Summer 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 5/29/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15598

Clemson University

Rank: Lecturer - American Politics

The Department of Political Science at Clemson University is conducting a search for a Lecturer in American politics to join our faculty in August 2025. This is a full-time, nine-month position, and the successful candidate will be eligible for annual reappointment. Lecturers at Clemson cannot advance to tenure, but they are full, voting members of the university's faculty who can pursue promotion along an academic professional track leading to the rank of Senior Lecturer and Principal Lecturer with multi-year contracts. The position's normal teaching load is four courses each semester (4-4). The selected candidate principally will offer introductory and advanced undergraduate courses in American politics. Teaching assignments may also include sections of undergraduate research methods. The ability to offer upper-level courses in constitutional law, judicial politics, Congress, or parties and interest groups is desirable.

Apply at: <https://apply.interfolio.com/167554>

Qualifications

A Ph.D. in political science or a related field, completed by August 15, 2025, is required.

To apply, candidates should submit a (1) cover letter, (2) curriculum vitae, (3) statement describing their teaching philosophy and teaching interests, (4) evidence of teaching effectiveness (such as, sample syllabi, sample assignments, course evaluations, or other relevant materials), and (5) contact information for three references who can provide confidential letters of recommendation.

Application Instructions

The review of applications will begin May 16, 2025, and continue until the position is filled. Questions regarding this position may be sent to Dr. Joseph Ura (jura@clemson.edu), Department Chair.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 5/12/2025

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 15578

Northwestern University

Rank: Instructor Positions (Winter &/or Spring 2026)

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, International Relations

The Department of Political Science invites applications for three part-time instructor positions in AY2025-2026. Each instructor will be responsible for teaching two courses, helping us round our curriculum across three of the subfields. We are particularly interested in instructors who can teach two of the following courses within a given field: (1) American politics/race and ethnic politics instructor – e.g., Race and Public Policy, Immigration Politics and Policy, and/or Racial and Ethnic Politics, (2) International relations instructor – e.g., International Organizations, National Security, and/or Ethics in International Relations, and (3) Comparative politics instructor – e.g., Social Movements, Refugee Crises and Human Rights, Politics of Latin America, and/or Chinese Foreign Policy.

Advanced graduate students (with advisor and Director of Graduate Study approval) and recent PhDs are welcome to apply. Candidates must have graduate training in Political Science or a similar field. Compensation ranges from $8,000-9,200 per course, depending on experience and qualifications. Courses will be offered in winter and/or spring 2026. Each quarter is 10 weeks in length, with 170 minutes of classroom instruction each week. Instructors can review previous course syllabi but are expected to design their own syllabus, course materials, and assessments. No grading support is provided for these instructional positions. Enrollment caps will vary across courses but are expected to be 25 students or less.

Candidates should submit a cover letter; CV; teaching statement that describes their teaching interests and experiences, including which courses they would seek to teach, pedagogy, and evidence of teaching effectiveness; and contact information for three letters of reference. Consideration of the application will begin on May 23 and continue until the position is filled. Note that these instructional positions are not eligible for moving, travel, housing, or related costs. To apply for this position, please visit <https://polisci.northwestern.edu/about/faculty-searches.html> and click on "Search for Faculty" and then click on "Apply".

For inquiries about job advertisements or the application process, please contact <mailto:stephen.monteiro@northwestern.edu> Stephen Monteiro, Business Administrator in the Political Science Department. Hiring is contingent upon eligibility to work in the United States.

Start Date: Winter 2026

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 5/7/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15574

Angelo State University

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Other, International Relations

Job Summary:

Angelo State University's Department of Political Science and Philosophy is hiring a temporary faculty member to teach core surveys in Texas and Federal Government. This will be a 4-4 teaching load. The applicant would possibly teach an upper level course in international relations in the spring.

Job Duties:

Teach courses in both in person and online modalities.

Minimum Qualifications:

PhD in Political Science by August 2025.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 5/2/2025

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 15570

Tufts University

Rank: Part-Time Lecturer in American Politics

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Administration, Public Policy

Position Description

The Department of Political Science at Tufts University invites applications for a part-time lecturer position to teach two in-person undergraduate courses in American politics during the 2025-2026 academic year. Both courses can be in the same semester (fall or spring), or the applicant can propose teaching one course per semester.

Qualifications

We welcome applications across the American politics subfield, though we are particularly interested in candidates who can teach a course on the U.S. Congress and/or the U.S. Presidency. Ph.D. or A.B.D. in Political Science or related field required. College/university teaching experience strongly preferred.

Application Instructions

All application materials must be submitted via Interfolio at: apply.interfolio.com/165149. Please submit a dossier including a cover letter that includes a discussion of teaching interests and/or experience, curriculum vitae, draft syllabus for at least one proposed course, and one letter of recommendation.

The search committee will begin screening applications immediately and will continue until the position is filled. Please contact Abdulahi

Salam, Administrative Coordinator, at Abdulahi.Salam@tufts.edu with any questions. More information about our department can be found here: <https://as.tufts.edu/politicalscience/>.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 4/28/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15566

University of North Texas

Rank: Continuing (renewable) Lecturer: American Politics, Legal Studies

Specializations: Constitutional Law & Theory, Civil Rights & Liberties, Criminal Justice

The Department of Political Science at the University of North Texas invites applications for a Continuing (renewable) Lecturer position anticipated to begin in the Fall of 2025. The faculty member will be expected to teach our core undergraduate American politics courses (2305 and 2306 classes). The typical teaching load is 4/4 but with a teaching release for service to the department (i.e. a 3/3 load with service requirement). The faculty member will also contribute to advising students in our legal studies minor and certificate programs and is expected to contribute to the law-related upper division courses, including American Legal Systems, and the three course sequence in Constitutional Law. Responsibilities at the college and university level include coordinating with other advisors and oversight of the Legal Studies Certificate and Legal Studies Minor. Ideal candidates will be able to contribute to our dynamic student body, understand the importance of a holistic student experience, and connect students to alumni working with both groups to facilitate student opportunities for lifelong learning.

A master's degree in political science or other law-related discipline, or a Juris Doctor degree (J.D.) from accredited institutions are required.

A PhD. is preferred although ABD students may also be considered depending on their credentials. Those with experience in public law and legal studies, teaching excellence, undergraduate advising, and programmatic service are preferred. Those with experience in public law and legal studies, teaching excellence, undergraduate advising, and programmatic service are preferred.

The Department of Political Science at UNT is a highly productive department with 30 faculty members who are committed to excellence in both teaching and research. It offers BA, MA, and PhD degrees. Faculty in the department have previously edited the American Political Science Review, International Studies Quarterly, Politics and Religion, Politics, Groups, and Identities, and the Journal of Political Science Education. The department also houses the Castleberry Peace Institute, the Peace Studies Program, and the Latina/o Mexican-American Studies Program. The Department's web site is: <http://politicalscience.unt.edu>

Applications may be submitted through the University of North Texas job portal:

<https://careers.untssystem.edu/jobs/lecturer-continuing-denton-texas-united-states-8d876415-0db6-4990-96e4-6dee0e5292f5>

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 4/28/2025

Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 15568

Arizona State University

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Scholar

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Policy, Other

Specializations: Latino Politics, Political Behavior, Public Opinion

Postdoctoral Research Scholar

Arizona State University: Office of the University Provost Tempe;
 The College of Liberal Arts and Sciences: Hispanic Research Center

The Hispanic Research Center (HRC) at Arizona State University invites applications for a full-time Postdoctoral Research Scholar position in one or more areas that examines the experiences and challenges of the Hispanic/Latino community in the United States. The specific area of specialization in the study of Latinos is open, but preference will be given to candidates who bring an interdisciplinary perspective to their research and a desire to engage with faculty, students, and HRC affiliates to build an intellectual community. HRC is committed to the success of a Postdoctoral Research Scholar who will work closely with the HRC director and associate director, as well as other partners across ASU.

Anticipated start date is fall 2025, but exact start date is negotiable. Deadline to apply is May 21, 2025. Full information about the position and instructions for applying can be found at: <https://apply.interfolio.com/166638>

Questions should be directed to Stella Rouse (stella.rouse@asu.edu), Director, Hispanic Research Center and Professor, School of Politics and Global Studies.

Start Date: Fall 2025
Application Deadline: 5/21/2025
Date Posted: 4/24/2025
Salary: $60,000 - $69,999
eJobs ID: 15562

Skidmore College

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor, Political Science

Two Year Visiting Assistant Professor in American Politics

The Political Science Department at Skidmore College invites applications for a two-year, full-time Visiting Assistant Professor position in American Politics with a focus on political behavior, representation, voting, elections, and related subfields. The appointment will begin in Fall 2025.

The successful candidate will have expertise in political behavior, voting, elections, social movements, and related aspects of US politics. We are looking for a candidate who is broadly trained in one or more of the following areas: political behavior, representation, voting behavior, election science, political psychology, social movements or other relevant subfields. The ability to offer courses that contribute to Skidmore College's Black Studies Program and/or Latin American & Latinx Studies Program would be valued.

The position carries a 3-2 teaching load, and the successful candidate will be expected to teach courses in American Politics that will include Introduction to American Politics, political behavior, campaigns and elections, and other courses in their specialization. Demonstrated excellence in teaching is required and experience teaching and mentoring students from diverse backgrounds is valued.

The application deadline is April 21, 2025. Candidates should submit a letter of application, curriculum vitae, teaching philosophy, sample syllabi, evaluations of undergraduate teaching or other evidence of teaching effectiveness, and the names of three recommenders. A Ph.D. in Political Science at time of appointment is strongly preferred.

Salary: $67,636 plus comprehensive benefits.

All bargaining unit faculty members are covered by a collective bargaining agreement between Skidmore College and Services Employees International Union, Local 200United.

Visa sponsorship is not available for this position.

EEO STATEMENT

Skidmore College is committed to being an inclusive campus community and, as an Equal Opportunity Employer, does not discriminate in its hiring or employment practices on the basis of race, color, creed, religion, gender, age, national or ethnic origin, physical or mental disability, military or veteran status, marital status, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, genetic information, predisposition or carrier status, domestic violence victim status, familial status, dating violence, or stalking, or any other category protected by applicable federal, state or local laws.

CREATIVE THOUGHT MATTERS.

Start Date: Fall 2025
Application Deadline: 4/21/2025
Date Posted: 4/8/2025
Salary: $60,000 - $69,999
eJobs ID: 15545

College of Charleston

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor of Political Science

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Public Administration, American Government and Politics

The Department of Political Science at the College of Charleston invites applications for a Visiting Assistant Professor position in environmental policy and politics beginning on August 16, 2025, and ending on May 15, 2026. The ideal candidate will have the skills necessary to teach the public policy core course and elective environmental law/policy courses in our NASPAA-accredited Master of Public Administration program. Undergraduate teaching requirements include a US-focused environmental policy course, American government, and introductory courses in public administration and policy. The expected teaching load is 4-4, with at least one graduate course and up to three undergraduate courses per semester. A PhD in Political Science, Public Administration, or a closely related field is preferred, but ABD candidates will be considered.

Applicants should apply online at <https://jobs.cofc.edu/> and submit a cover letter, a curriculum vita, graduate transcripts, a teaching portfolio (with teaching philosophy and evidence of teaching effectiveness including, but not limited to, course syllabi and course evaluations), and contact information for three references.

The Political Science Department has 20 full-time faculty, over 360 undergraduate majors (<http://polisci.cofc.edu/>), and a Geography

Minor (<http://geography-minor.cofc.edu/>). The department also supports a NASPAA Accredited Master of Public Administration (<http://puba.cofc.edu/>) and a Master of Science in Environmental and Sustainability Studies (<http://mes.cofc.edu/>) program. The Department of Political Science is committed to the rigorous study of politics, power, and place, expanding opportunities for learning and service, career preparation, and civic participation locally and globally.

The College of Charleston is located in historic downtown Charleston in a coastal metropolitan area of 800,000. The College is a public, liberal arts and sciences institution with a student body consisting of approximately 10,000 undergraduate students and 900 graduate students, including 20% of whom identify as minority and 140 international students from 34 different countries. Additional information about the institution, the student body, and the surrounding area is available at <https://www.cofc.edu/>.

Questions about the search can be directed to the chair, Dr. Hollis France (franceh@cofc.edu), or Dr. Matt Nowlin, chair of the search committee. Review of applications will begin April 30th and continue until the position is filled. The College of Charleston is an AA/EEO employer and seeks to create a work environment and organizational culture that reflects the society and community in which it is located and a climate for the success of every employee and student by appreciating the uniqueness that each one brings to the learning environment. To that end, we actively encourage applications from all groups underrepresented in higher education.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Date Posted: 4/2/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15537

Baylor University

Rank: Lecturer, Full-Time, Temporary - Political Science

To apply, go to: <https://apply.interfolio.com/164380>

Applications will be reviewed as they are received.

Baylor University: Office of the Provost: Arts and Sciences: Arts and Sciences - Humanities and Social Sciences: Political Science

This is a temporary lecturer position with full-time responsibilities teaching courses in the Department of Political Science during the 2025-2026 academic year. Primary teaching responsibilities will be the core curriculum common course, PSC 1387 The U.S. Constitution, Its Interpretation, and the American Constitutional Experience. We especially welcome applicants with research or undergraduate teaching experience in American politics, public law, or political or constitutional theory. An ability to teach introductory courses in another subfield of political science is welcome but not required. Finalists will be required to attend an on-campus interview with University administration. Employment will be contingent upon the successful completion of a background check.

Located in Waco, Texas, Baylor University is the oldest college in Texas. With a population of 21,000 diverse students, Baylor is one of the top universities in the nation, having been named an R1 institution by the Carnegie Classification in January 2022. Baylor is also on the honor roll of the "Great Colleges to Work For" from The Chronicle of Higher Education; Baylor offers competitive salaries and benefits while allowing faculty and staff to live in one of the fastest-growing parts of the state. Our strategic plan, Illuminate, guides the University as we continue to live up to Baylor's mission of educating men and women for worldwide leadership and service by integrating academic excellence and Christian commitment within a caring community.

Qualifications

The successful applicant must hold an advanced degree in the teaching discipline, preferably the Ph.D., by the start date of the appointment. Teaching experience is preferred.

The following application materials should be submitted through Interfolio:

- (1) a cover/application letter,
- (2) current curriculum vitae,
- (3) an official transcript of the highest degree completed (if a Ph.D. or other advanced degree is in progress, a transcript showing hours completed toward the Ph.D. is also required)

All applicants must complete the self-disclosed Religious Affiliation Form in Interfolio.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 3/21/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15523

University of Alabama, Tuscaloosa

Rank: Instructor of Political Science (3 Year Term, Renewable Contract Instructor)

Subfield(s): Public Administration, American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics

Position Summary

The Department of Political Science at the University of Alabama invites applications for a renewable contract instructor. This is a 9-month appointment will be for a three-year term, subject to satisfactory performance reviews. The appointment will begin on August 16, 2025.

Detailed Position Information

The Department of Political Science at the University of Alabama invites applications for a renewable contract instructor. The annual 9-month appointment will be for a three-year term, subject to satisfactory performance reviews. We invite applications from specialists in public administration, U.S. politics, international relations, or comparative politics. Minimum qualifications: MA in Political Science or related field; with some experience teaching at the college level. Preferred qualifications: PhD in Political Science or a related field; experience teaching courses independently. For more information about the department, see <https://psc.ua.edu/>. The position begins August 16, 2025.

Applications must be submitted via the University website at <http://careers.ua.edu/cw/en-us/job/526037>

Application review will begin immediately and will continue until the position is filled. Submit applications by April 30, 2025, for best consideration.

Minimum Qualifications

MA in Political Science or related field; with some experience teaching at the college level.

Preferred Qualifications

PhD in Political Science or a related field; experience teaching courses independently.

Instructions and Required Materials for Application

Applicants should submit a cover letter summarizing their teaching qualifications and experience, courses prepared to offer, and reasons for interest in the position; a CV; evidence of teaching effectiveness; and the names and contact information of 3 references (ideally with knowledge of candidate's teaching experience). Letters will only be required for short-listed candidates.

To see more information and to apply: <http://careers.ua.edu/cw/en-us/job/526037> ***

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 3/20/2025

Salary: $40,000 - $49,999

eJobs ID: 15524

University of Chicago

Rank: Postdoctoral Researcher Position at the University of Chicago

Postdoctoral Researcher Position at the University of Chicago, Postdoctoral Scholar in American Politics

Employment type: Postdoctoral, full-time (40 hours/week)

Duration: This position is planned to be 12 months, from August 1, 2025 through July 31, 2026, though we have some flexibility on the timing. Please indicate your availability in your cover letter.

Reappointment is possible dependent on satisfactory performance, the availability of funding, and the candidate's continuing eligibility for postdoctoral training. The total duration of an individual's postdoctoral experience may not exceed seven years, including postdoctoral work at other institutions.

Applications are strongly preferred by March 31, 2025, though the position will remain open until filled or the search is closed. Interviews with shortlisted candidates: April 1-30, 2025.

Responsibilities and expected outputs:

- The Postdoctoral Researcher will collaborate with Professor Jon Rogowski on research related to American political institutions.
- You will have time to carry out your own research projects.
- You will be encouraged to participate in the intellectual life of the Department of Political Science, and the University of Chicago more broadly, by attending the weekly American politics workshops, hosting public conversations, etc.
- The Postdoctoral Researcher must be based at the University of Chicago's main campus in Chicago, IL.

Skills and qualifications:

- Ph.D. in political science (preferred), economics, or adjacent disciplines
- Strong skills in quantitative methods, data analysis, project management, and written communication

What we offer:

- 12-month employment at the Department of Political Science at the University of Chicago
- $75,000/year salary
- This position is benefits-eligible, and information regarding benefits can be found here.
- Flexible working arrangements

Your application package should include:

- A 1-3 page cover letter explaining your research interests and experience, and how you would expect to advance your research agenda during the fellowship year
- An up-to-date CV
- Two academic writing samples (e.g., chapter of doctoral thesis, articles, working papers)
- Two letters of recommendation submitted by the letter authors to the email address below

Please send your application electronically, in PDF format (either as one single file or as separate PDFs) to americanpolitics@uchicago.edu. Inquiries about the position and project can be addressed here as well.

Applications are strongly preferred by March 31, 2025, though the position will remain open until filled or the search is closed. Interviews with shortlisted candidates: April 1-30, 2025.

Starting date of position: August 1, 2025 (with some flexibility).

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 3/17/2025

Salary: $70,000 - $79,999

eJobs ID: 15512

University of Southern California

Rank: Open Rank Tenure Track Faculty Position

The Department of Political Science and International Relations (POIR) in the Dana and David Dornsife College of Letters, Arts and Sciences at the University of Southern California (USC) in Los Angeles invites applications for a tenure-track or tenured position in American Politics as part of a major hiring initiative.

We seek candidates with a strong substantive research program in any domain of American politics, whose work advances theoretical and empirical research on important questions in their subfield.

Candidates are expected to have strong methodological training, and their methodological skills, ability to advise graduate students on methodological issues and teach graduate classes in the Department's core methods sequence will be a consideration. A strong commitment to undergraduate and graduate education is also expected.

The candidate must have completed a Ph.D. by the appointment date. Review of applications will start March 24, 2025 and will continue until the position is filled.

In order to be considered for this position, applicants are required to submit an electronic USC application; follow this job link or paste in a browser: <https://usccareers.usc.edu/job/los-angeles/open-rank-faculty-position-in-american-politics/1209/77699335312> . Required materials for upload include a CV, letter of interest, sample research paper(s), statement of research interests, evidence of teaching effectiveness, the names of three individuals who will be contacted by USC for a letter of reference, and official graduate transcripts. Send inquiries to poir@usc.edu. Materials submitted by regular mail will not be accepted.

The annual base salary range for this position is $100,510 - $281,400. When extending an offer of employment, the University of Southern California considers factors such as (but not limited to) the scope and responsibilities of the position, the candidate's work experience, education/training, key skills, internal peer equity, federal, state and local laws, contractual stipulations, grant funding, as well as external market and organizational considerations.

USC is an equal-opportunity educator and employer, proudly pluralistic and firmly committed to providing equal opportunity for outstanding persons of every race, gender, creed and background. The University particularly encourages women, members of underrepresented groups, veterans and individuals with disabilities to apply. USC will make reasonable accommodations for qualified individuals with known disabilities unless doing so would result in an undue hardship. Further information is available by contacting uschr@usc.edu.

USC will consider for employment all qualified applicants with criminal records in a manner consistent with applicable laws and regulations, including the Los Angeles County Fair Chance Ordinance for employers and the Fair Chance Initiative for Hiring Ordinance, and with due consideration for patient and student safety. Please refer to the Background Screening Policy Appendix D for specific employment screen implications for the position for which you are applying.?

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 3/11/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15504

University of Southern California

Rank: Practice-track or Teaching-track position - Chair & Co-Director

The Department of Political Science and International Relations in the Dana and David Dornsife College of Letters, Arts and Sciences at the University of Southern California invites applicants for a practice-track or teaching-track faculty position as The Carmen H. and Louis Warschaw Chair in Practical Politics with an anticipated start date in the Fall of 2025. The successful candidate will serve as Co-Director of the USC Dornsife Center for the Political Future (CPF).

The USC Dornsife Center for the Political Future combines rigorous intellectual inquiry with the deep engagement of students and Fellows and conducts conversations and conferences to advance civil dialogue, transcend partisan divisions, and seek solutions to pressing local, national, and global challenges. CPF events, programs, scholarships, and internships inspire and train students for careers in public service and lifetimes of civic engagement. Further information about CPF can be found here: https://drive.google.com/file/d/1MYqrGftp3wK3tMVolyNgm_btYrAePbMl/view Candidates for this position should have a long and distinguished record of high-level, first-hand experience in practical politics at the state and federal level and demonstrable teaching abilities. Candidates should submit a cover letter, current curriculum vitae, and names of two references who can speak to teaching ability. In order to be considered for this position, applicants are required to submit an electronic USC application; follow this job link or paste in a browser: <https://usccareers.usc.edu/job/los-angeles/practice-track-or-teaching-track-faculty-position-in-political-science-and-international-relations/1209/77401697392> .

The annual base salary range for this position is $175,000 - $250,000. When extending an offer of employment, the University of Southern California considers factors such as (but not limited to) the scope and responsibilities of the position, the candidate's work experience, education/training, key skills, internal peer equity, federal, state and local laws, contractual stipulations, grant funding, as well as external market and organizational considerations.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 3/11/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15505

University of the Pacific

Rank: Post-Doctoral Instructor

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Administration, Public Policy

The Department of Political Science at University of the Pacific invites applications for a three-year, full-time, non-tenure track appointment as post-doctoral instructor in American politics. A Ph.D. in Political Science is required by the time of appointment. Salary is commensurate with experience and includes the option of receiving additional compensation for summer teaching. This position includes health, dental and vision benefits, as well as conference travel support during the academic year. The successful candidate will teach 5 courses over the academic year. Preference is given to applicants with teaching experience in American institutions and/or public policy.

Qualified candidates should have demonstrated experience working with a diverse community of learners. For more information about Pacific's Political Science department, visit: <http://www.pacific.edu/Academics/Schools-and-Colleges/College-of-the-Pacific/Academics/Departments-and-Programs/political-science.html>

Application review will begin on March 14, 2025 and will continue until the position has been filled. Please apply through people admin and include the following as attachments: 1) letter of interest; 2) CV; 3) teaching statement, including a list of preferred courses; 4) up to two sample syllabi and related course materials including teaching evaluations; and 5) names and contact information for three references.

To apply, please use the following link: <https://pacific.peopleadmin.com/postings/30056>

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 3/7/2025

Salary: $40,000 - $49,999

eJobs ID: 15495

University of Central Arkansas

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor/Visiting Lecturer

The Department of Government, Public Service, & International Studies at the University of Central Arkansas invites applications for a visiting assistant professor/visiting lecturer position in American politics. The position begins August 15, 2025. Teaching responsibilities consist of lower-division courses in an undergraduate political science program, introductory sections of U.S. government & politics in particular. The successful candidate will possess excellent teaching skills. A Ph.D. in Political Science/Public Policy is required for the rank of Visiting Assistant Professor, an M.A. in Political Science/Public Policy for the rank of Visiting Lecturer. In addition to political science, the Department also offers undergraduate degrees in public administration and international studies. To apply, submit a letter of application, current vita, transcripts, three letters of recommendation, a scholarly writing sample, course syllabi, and teaching evaluations via UCA's online application system (<https://jobs.uca.edu>). Review of applications will begin March 14, 2025 and continue until the position is filled. For full consideration, please submit a complete application by March 14, 2025.

Founded in 1907, the University of Central Arkansas (www.uca.edu) has an enrollment of approximately 11,700 students. The university offers 87 undergraduate and 58 graduate certificate and degree programs, including doctoral programs in five disciplines. The student body consistently scores above the national average on the ACT exam. UCA is proud of its tradition of teaching excellence and its contributions in scholarly and creative activities. The campus is widely acclaimed for its beauty. UCA is located in Conway, Arkansas, a thriving city of approximately 60,000, located in central Arkansas, and thirty minutes from Little Rock. Conway is home to a number of major industries, two private colleges, an excellent public school system, and strong K-12 parochial schools. Residents have easy access to the Ouachita and Ozark National Forests and pristine wild areas near the Buffalo National River. The University of Central Arkansas is an affirmative action/equal opportunity employer and encourages women and minorities to apply.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 2/14/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15430

Western Carolina University

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor - American Government & Politics

The Department of Political Science and Public Affairs at Western Carolina University is searching for a visiting assistant professor with a specialization in American politics (subfield open) to join our growing and accomplished faculty.

This is a fixed-term nine-month position with the potential for summer teaching. The anticipated start date is August 2025. The successful candidate will contribute to the Political Science program by teaching six courses per academic year on our Cullowhee, NC campus, including sections of our "Introduction to American Government" course, a core course for our Political Science major and a key component in the University's general education program. Upper-level courses within the candidate's specialization may also be part of the teaching load.

Minimum qualifications include candidates that are advanced ABD with a minimum of 18 graduate credit hours in Political Science from an accredited university.

Preferred qualifications include a PhD in Political Science from an accredited institution, prior teaching experience at the university level, and a promising research agenda in American government or politics.

Candidates will apply online: <https://jobs.wcu.edu/postings/29969>

The search committee will begin reviewing applications on or about March 5, 2025.

Start Date: Fall

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 2/7/2025

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 15406

University of Nevada, Las Vegas

Rank: Assistant Professor-in-Residence, Public Law, Department of Political Science

https://nshe.wd1.myworkdayjobs.com/en-US/UNLV-External/job/UNLV1-Main-Campus-Las-Vegas/Assistant-Professor-in-Residence--Public-Law--Department-of-Political-Science--R0146179_R0146179

The Department of Political Science at the University of Nevada, Las Vegas, invites applications from well-qualified individuals for an Assistant Professor-in-Residence of Public Law starting in the fall semester of 2025. At UNLV, faculty-in-residence are full-time, non-tenure-track, instruction-intensive faculty members with a promotional track from Assistant Professor-in-Residence, to Associate Professor-in-Residence, to Professor-in-Residence. Faculty-in-Residence in the Department of Political Science participate in departmental meetings and committees, and they contribute to departmental deliberation and decision making on most matters. Job responsibilities include teaching twelve credits in each of the fall and spring semesters, which may include a mixture of in-person and online classes. In addition to teaching introductory courses in American politics, the successful candidate will be expected to teach undergraduate courses in the American judicial process and various topics in constitutional law from a social science perspective. Other responsibilities include mentoring undergraduate students and providing appropriate levels of service at the department, college, and university levels. The department is interested in candidates whose professional experience has prepared them to contribute to our commitment to diversity and inclusion in higher education.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 2/5/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15398

University of Chicago

Rank: Post-doctoral Position in Political Science at the University of Chicago

Postdoctoral Researcher Position at the University of Chicago:

<https://democracy.uchicago.edu/>

The Chicago Center on Democracy at the University of Chicago is now accepting applications for a postdoctoral scholar to work on issues of democratic engagement in transnational settings, with a focus on Latin America. This 14-month grant-funded position will support the international project “Global Governance, Trust and Democratic Engagement in Past and Present” (GLO), working under the guidance of Professor Susan Stokes at the University of Chicago, as part of an international team with collaborators from Canada, Switzerland, and the United Kingdom.

Drawing on insights from history, international relations, political science and sociology, GLO pursues two major lines of inquiry. First, it examines campaigns that sought to create, reform, transform, or abolish international organizations. In doing so, it highlights the democratic potentials and shortcomings of international organizations, while tracing broader efforts to democratize international relations. Second, the project investigates attempts by non-governmental organisations and social movements to enlist the support of international bodies, partly in response to the obstacles they encountered domestically.

This is an in-person position at the University of Chicago. The position description and application instructions can be found here: <https://democracy.uchicago.edu/files/2025/01/UChicago-global-governance-postdoc-posting-250113-1.pdf>

Applications are strongly preferred by February 2nd, 2025. Please reach out to democracy@uchicago.edu with any additional questions, and kindly share with anyone who might be interested.

Start Date: Spring 2025

Date Posted: 1/21/2025

Salary: $70,000 - $79,999

eJobs ID: 15356

Dickinson College

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor of Political Science

The Political Science Department at Dickinson College seeks applications for a full-time Visiting Assistant Professor of American Politics. A successful applicant will have research and teaching interests in either American national political institutions (e.g., presidency, Congress, the federal bureaucracy) or in American political behavior (e.g., public opinion, voting, media and politics). The ability to teach research methods in Political Science is a plus. This position is for one year with the possibility of renewal and carries a five-course (annual) teaching load.

The department expects the successful candidate to be a committed, collaborative, and imaginative scholar with a Ph.D. in hand by September 2025. Dickinson College is a highly selective four-year, independent liberal arts college with 2300 students. It is located 20 minutes west of Harrisburg and is a two-hour drive from Baltimore, Washington, D.C., and Philadelphia. Students, faculty, and staff often enjoy the food, art, entertainment, and cultural enrichment of these major hubs and/or New York City. The ability to create inclusive learning environments for an increasingly diverse student body will be an important characteristic of the successful candidate. Applicants may highlight their ongoing or anticipated contributions to promoting equity and inclusion in their materials. Interested candidates should apply for this position electronically via <https://jobs.dickinson.edu>.

Review of applications will begin February 1, 2025. Candidates should submit via QUEST (online application system) at <https://jobs.dickinson.edu>; please include a letter of application, a curriculum vitae, a graduate transcript, three letters of recommendation, statement of teaching philosophy, sample syllabi and teaching evaluations or other evidence of teaching effectiveness. Review of applications will begin at the start of February and will continue until the position is filled.

Please address questions to the department chair, J. Toby Reiner at: reinerj@dickinson.edu.

Dickinson College is committed to building a representative and diverse faculty, administrative staff, and student body. We strive to foster an inclusive community where members from all backgrounds can live, learn, and thrive together. Accordingly, we encourage applications from all qualified persons.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 12/12/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15284

Quinnipiac University

Rank: Assistant Teaching Professor of Political Science

The Department of Philosophy and Political Science in the College of Arts & Sciences at Quinnipiac University seeks a dynamic, student-centered Political Scientist to teach at the undergraduate level. We are looking for applicants in the field of American Politics who specialize in ethnic/racial politics. We are also open to candidates specializing in other areas of American Politics whose expertise meaningfully intersects with race and ethnic politics. Candidates using theoretical, quantitative, interpretive, or historical approaches are equally welcome. The appointment will be at the rank of Assistant Teaching Professor, with expectations for teaching (four courses per semester), advising students, and engaging in service activities and committees that strengthen the program, department, college, and university community. Our student-centered department has a strong sense of community, and our faculty are highly collaborative in both teaching and research. We welcome and encourage applications from candidates of all backgrounds.

The anticipated start date is August 2025.

About the College:

The College of Arts & Sciences is a vibrant and inclusive community dedicated to providing an immersive and distinctive educational experience. Known for our inclusive teaching, faculty mentorship, and high-impact experiences, our programs integrate career planning and skill development into a broad education tailored to meet the needs and challenges of the 21st century. Our students emerge as ethical and intellectual leaders, capable of critical and independent thinking, equipped to collaborate on solutions to pressing global issues, and prepared for success in their personal, professional, and civic lives. The College of Arts and Sciences offers 25 undergraduate majors, 34 undergraduate minors, an MS in Molecular and Cell Biology, 6 undergraduate and 1 graduate certificates, and 13 undergraduate/graduate dual-degree programs.

About Quinnipiac:

Quinnipiac University is a private, coeducational institution located 90 minutes north of New York City and two hours from Boston. The university currently has an enrollment of 9,000 students in more than 130 degree programs through its Schools of Business, Communications, Education, Computing, and Engineering, Health Sciences, Law, Medicine, Nursing, and the College of Arts and Sciences. Our 21 Division I teams have achieved remarkable success, boasting multiple conference titles. This includes a 2023 NCAA National Championship win in ice hockey, a three-time defending national champion women's rugby team, and a trip to the Sweet 16 for our women's basketball team. The Quinnipiac University Poll is nationally recognized as a leader in public opinion research, and the university is consistently recognized by U.S. News & World Report and Princeton Review's "The Best 388 Colleges." The university is in the midst of program expansion and renewal for both traditional and adult learners, attraction of diverse communities, development of innovative corporate partnerships, and construction of an ambitious set of capital projects. For more information, please visit qu.edu. Connect with Quinnipiac on Facebook, Instagram, YouTube, TikTok and X.

Responsibilities:

Teach, advise, and mentor undergraduate students and help them achieve their academic and career goals

Teach courses in race and ethnic politics

Teach courses in the American government survey, Introduction to Political Science, American Political Movements, and occasional teaching of our undergraduate methods and senior seminars

Engage in service to support the program, department, college and university, which includes attending weekly department meetings and other college and university meetings as required

The successful candidate should be a strong communicator who is comfortable responding to requests for media interviews and commentary regarding their area of expertise

Education Requirements:

Ph.D. in political science, or a related social science, must be completed by the start of appointment

Qualifications:

Experience or a demonstrated commitment to working with diverse student populations and with the effective use of inclusive teaching practices

Demonstrated ability to teach courses in race and ethnic politics

Preferred Qualifications:

Demonstrated success in teaching, preferably at the college level

Ability and interest in teaching courses in U.S. national institutions, political psychology, social movements, public policy, survey methodology/polling, or experiential learning pedagogy

Experience in curriculum design and development

Experience and interest in guiding student internships and other forms of experiential learning

Experience seeking funding to support research or teaching

Special Instructions to Applicants:

TO APPLY:

Applications must be submitted electronically to <https://career.qu.edu/ci/en-us/job/495853/fulltime-teaching-faculty-political-science> and include:

1. Letter of interest that addresses your qualifications for the position.
2. Curriculum vitae with a list of three academic/professional references who will not be contacted without your permission.

3. Teaching statement (one page preferred) that describes your approach to instruction, which includes a description of your commitment to inclusive teaching practices.

4. Sample teaching evaluations if available.

Applications received by October 21, 2024 will receive first consideration.

Quinnipiac University has a strong commitment to the principles and practices of diversity and inclusion throughout the University community and welcomes candidates who enhance that diversity.

We offer a comprehensive benefits package for full-time faculty and staff which includes tuition remission and a culture that is inclusive and driven by excellence.

Quinnipiac University is an Equal Opportunity Employer.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/10/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14827

Yale University

Rank: Assistant Professor, African American Studies and Political Science, Psychology, or Sociology

Description

Yale's Departments of African American Studies, Political Science, Psychology, and Sociology invite applicants for multiple positions at the assistant professor level beginning July 2025. These positions are part of a cluster hire in African American Studies and the social sciences. The goal is to deepen empirical scholarship of Black experiences—growing the community at Yale necessary for such scholarship in the process. Applicants' research should fit within one or both of two broad subfields: 1) Racial Attitudes and Political Participation (e.g., estimating the role of prejudice in politics, topics in sexuality and gender identity, race and attitudes towards climate justice, and/or other relevant subspecializations) and 2) Race, Systems, and Institutions (e.g., the intersections of race and class, race and artificial intelligence, race relations in specific domains such as education, child welfare, public administration, and/or other relevant subspecializations). All applicants will be jointly appointed with African American Studies and either Political Science, Psychology, or Sociology and each successful applicant will work with their hiring departments to construct a mentorship plan designed to optimize the applicant's ability to navigate the resources of two departments on their path towards promotion. Candidates will be expected to teach courses whose content falls within one or both general areas of research listed above. Candidates who wish to be considered for more than one combination (e.g., African American Studies and Psychology and/or African American Studies and Sociology) should indicate this desire on the cover sheet and apply by the earliest relevant deadline below.

Qualifications

Applicants must have a PhD (or equivalent) at time of hire.

Application Instructions

Yale seeks outstanding applicants who will advance our mission of understanding Black experiences across a broad range of disciplines.

For those seeking to be considered jointly by African American Studies and Political Science, please apply by September 15, 2024.

For those seeking to be considered jointly by African American Studies and Sociology, please apply by October 1, 2024.

For both the Af-Am/PoliSci and Af-Am/Soc applicants, review of applications in these areas will begin immediately after the deadlines and you will be informed no later than the end of November about the status of your application.

For those seeking to be considered jointly by African American Studies and Psychology, please apply by November 1, 2024.

For these applicants, review of applications in these areas will also begin immediately after the deadline, and you will be informed by early February about the status of your application.

For questions, please contact Senior Administrative Assistant, Ms. Vanessa Epps @vanessa.epps@yale.edu. Applicants must submit the following materials for full consideration to URL: <http://apply.interfolio.com/151852>

Cover Letter – Indicate your desired department affiliations (African American Studies and Political Science, Psychology, and/or Sociology) and broad area(s) of research.

Sample Works – For applicants wishing to be considered jointly with Political Science and/or Sociology, submit up to two samples of original research. For applicants wishing to be considered jointly with Psychology, submit three samples of original research.

Research Statement – Describe your most significant scientific discoveries and accomplishments to date as well as your goals for your future research program in a supportive environment like Yale. (2 pages max)

Mentoring and Teaching – Describe your philosophy, experience, and plans for mentoring and teaching undergraduate and graduate students. (1 page max)

Curriculum Vitae – Include your most recent CV with links to publications (or website).

Letters of Recommendation – Please arrange for three referees to upload letters of recommendation by the due date. Recommenders are encouraged to upload them directly.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 8/15/2025

Date Posted: 8/21/2024

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 14685

Washington University in St. Louis

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science in the field of Racial and Ethnic Politics

The Department of Political Science at Washington University in St. Louis invite applications for a tenure-track faculty appointment in racial and ethnic politics. The appointment is at the rank of Assistant Professor to begin in the fall semester of 2025. A Ph.D. in Political Science or a closely related field is required at the time of appointment. Duties will include teaching assigned courses, conducting research, writing for publication, advising students, participating in department and program governance, and university service.

Application materials should include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, statement of research and teaching interests, at least three letters of reference, writing samples, and other relevant materials.

Applications received before September 15, 2024 will receive full consideration. Consideration after that date will be at the discretion of the search committee. All applications and supporting documentation should be submitted electronically through Interfolio at apply.interfolio.com/151793. If you encounter difficulties with the application process or have any additional questions, please email Amanda Nutter (nutter@wustl.edu).

Start Date: Summer 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/13/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14630

Washington University in St. Louis

Rank: Open Rank Professor of Political Science in the field of Environmental Politics

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, Methodology

The Department of Political Science at Washington University in St. Louis and the Environmental Studies Program invite applications for a tenure-track faculty appointment in the area of Environmental Politics at the rank of assistant professor, associate professor, or professor. The appointment is to begin in the fall semester of 2025. A Ph.D. in Political Science or a closely related field is required at the time of appointment. Candidates for the rank of associate or full professor should have an outstanding academic record of research, publication teaching, and service commensurate with tenure at that rank. Duties will include teaching assigned courses, conducting research, writing for publication, advising students, participating in department and program governance, and university service.

Application materials should include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, statement of research and teaching interests, at least three letters of reference, writing samples, and other relevant materials.

Applications received before September 15, 2024 will receive full consideration. Consideration after that date will be at the discretion of the search committee. All applications and supporting documentation should be submitted electronically through Interfolio at apply.interfolio.com/151775. If you encounter difficulties with the application process or have any additional questions, please email Amanda Nutter (nutter@wustl.edu).

Start Date: Summer 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/13/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14628

Yale University

Rank: Assistant/Associate/Full Professor, American Politics

The Department of Political Science at Yale University is seeking to hire multiple faculty members with expertise in American Politics at the rank of Assistant, Associate, or Full Professor, beginning July 1, 2025. A successful applicant should focus on substantive questions in any area of American Politics. Candidates will be expected to teach courses in American Politics commensurate with their experience. If candidates are appointed at the untenured level, the initial appointment will be for 5 years. The teaching expectation is normally 3 courses per academic year.

Qualifications

Ph.D. or equivalent degree required at time of hire.

Application Instructions

All applications must include a cover letter and CV. Untenured candidates should also supply 3 recommendation letters, 2 writing samples, and separate short (2 pages or less) research and teaching statements. All materials should be uploaded to Interfolio at <http://apply.interfolio.com/151671>. Review of applications will begin September 15, 2024 (or 30 days after posting, whichever is later), and to guarantee full consideration your file should be complete by this date.

Please contact Xaria Callender, Sr. Administrative Assistant for the Political Science Department, at xaria.callender@yale.edu if you have questions about the application process.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 8/7/2025

Date Posted: 8/12/2024

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 14618

Simmons University

Rank: Assistant Professor, American Politics

ABOUT SIMMONS

Located in Boston's historic Fenway area, Simmons has a strong tradition of empowering women and challenging traditional gender roles. Simmons University was one of the first higher education institutions to prepare women to become leaders and has evolved to become a university offering a women's undergraduate program and graduate programs open to all.

You're joining our community at an especially exciting time as one of our strategic goals is to become the most inclusive campus in New England. You'll find that people who work here are truly committed to our mission of preparing students to become champions of social justice and leaders in their professions and their communities. This commitment and pride make for a dynamic workplace. Simmons University is committed to inclusive excellence in all aspects of an individual's community experience.

As a university committed to diversity, equity, and inclusion, Simmons encourages applications from all under-represented groups. Simmons is committed to creating, developing, promoting, and enhancing inclusive hiring practices—at all levels, for all positions—ensuring diverse talent pools and the delivery of a consistent positive candidate experience. Simmons is an equal opportunity employer and is committed to continuing to develop a more diverse faculty, staff, student body, and curriculum.

ABOUT OPPORTUNITY

The Department of Politics and Policy in the Gwen Ifill School of Media, Humanities, and Social Sciences at Simmons University invites candidates to submit materials for a tenure-track assistant professor position in American politics.

We seek outstanding applicants with a demonstrated track record of effective teaching and scholarship. Multiple areas of expertise within the field of American politics will be considered, including American political institutions, political parties, elections, ideology, voting behavior, and public law. Applicants must be able to teach introduction to American politics, as well as a broad range of electives, including state and local government, Congress and the presidency, and constitutional law, among others. The ability to teach in our Master of Public Policy program is preferred, though not required.

PRIMARY DUTIES & RESPONSIBILITIES

- Carrying a 6-course teaching load per academic year.
- Participating in the ongoing creation of explicit and implicit curricula in consultation with faculty and program leadership.
- Conducting research and scholarship.
- Demonstrate service to the department, school, and university through committee work.

ACADEMIC RESPONSIBILITY

- Serve as instructor for on-ground and online courses.
- Design individual courses and classes.
- Support course development and revision schedule for classes.
- Participate in ongoing Department curricular planning and periodic program review of on-ground and online classes.

STUDENT ADVISING & ENGAGEMENT

- Serve as primary faculty contact for matriculated students, including monitoring academic status, resolving student concerns, and verifying graduation requirements.
- Ensure advising processes are carried out alongside Department Chair and academic advising team and monitor students' course plans and progress towards their degree objectives.

OTHER DUTIES

- Assume other duties as assigned by the Dean and Department Chair.

TERMS OF SERVICE

- The position will be a 10-month, full-time, tenure-track faculty appointment.
- This position is campus based in Boston, Massachusetts.

QUALIFICATIONS

- PhD in Political Science or a related discipline required
- Demonstrated record of excellent teaching
- Demonstrated record of excellent scholarship
- A robust scholarly agenda
- Effective communication and organizational skills.

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION FOR APPLICANTS

A Complete applications consist of a single PDF file containing the following:

- 1) Cover letter addressing qualifications listed above;
- 2) Current curriculum vitae;
- 3) 1-2-page statement of research;
- 4) 1-2-page statement of teaching experience and philosophy

Three letters of recommendation should be sent separately to Lena Zuckerwise, Chair of the Department of Politics and Policy: lena.zuckerwise@simmons.edu.

To apply, submit your application materials via the Simmons University Careers portal: https://simmons.wd1.myworkdayjobs.com/en-US/Simmons-Careers/job/Assistant-Professor--American-Politics_R10176

Review of Applications will begin on September 15th.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/9/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14477

COMPARATIVE POLITICS

University of California, Davis

Rank: Lecturer

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, Political Theory

The Department of Political Science at the University of California at Davis invites applications for one or more temporary teaching positions in the fields of International Relations, Comparative Politics, American Politics and/or Political Theory for the 2025-2026 academic year. Availability of this position depends upon final administrative approval and the teaching needs of the department. The Department seeks applicants with demonstrated research and teaching expertise. A completed Ph.D. is required. This position is covered by a Collective Bargaining Unit.

The appointee(s) will offer up to two courses per quarter over three quarters. The core courses to be taught will be in the areas of International Relations, Comparative Politics, American Politics and/or Political Theory. Compensation is commensurate with ability and experience. Candidates should electronically submit a letter of application, curriculum vitae, evidence of teaching ability, two letters of reference and a writing sample to: <https://recruit.ucdavis.edu/apply/JPF07149>. To ensure review of your application, please submit all materials by June 16, 2025, but materials will be accepted until the positions are filled.

The University of California at Davis and the Department of Political Science are interested in candidates who are committed to the highest standards of scholarship and professional activities, and to the development of a campus climate that supports equality and diversity. The University of California is an affirmative action/equal opportunity employer.

Start Date: Summer 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 5/29/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15598

National University of Singapore

Rank: Head of Department position (Full Professor level with tenure)

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Public Policy

The Department of Political Science at the National University of Singapore invites applications for the position of Head of Department at the rank of full professor or higher (endowed chair professor). Research and teaching specialisation is open, although candidates should contribute to one or more of the Department's four subfields: comparative politics, governance and public policy, international relations, and political theory.

The successful candidate will have an internationally recognised record of research and publication, as well as a record of very good teaching. Exceptional leadership skills are essential, as is a demonstrable commitment to intellectual and methodological pluralism. Other qualifications include evidence of substantial administrative experience; a record of promoting faculty and student success; a commitment to collegiality and diversity; and excellent interpersonal, communication, and organisational skills. The Head is expected to provide leadership to implement a strategic vision, with the support of department faculty, which advances the Department's international profile and reputation. Research and teaching expectations may be reduced (e.g. one course teaching commitment per year), given the Head's crucial service role.

Interested candidates should submit a CV, cover letter that addresses the qualifications outlined above, research statement (approx. two pages), teaching statement (approx. two pages), and names and addresses of at least four references.

Review of applications will begin in August 2025 and will continue until the position is filled. Campus visits for selected candidates will be arranged for October 2025. The position is expected to commence in January 2027. Questions about the position should be directed to the Search Committee Chair, Professor William Bain (wbain@nus.edu.sg).

Exceptional candidates at the rank of senior associate professor are welcome to apply, subject to being promoted to full professor upon appointment at NUS.

The Department of Political Science is a vibrant multidisciplinary community comprised of over 25 tenure- and educator-track faculty members. The Department offers degrees in Political Science and Global Studies at the undergraduate level and in Political Science at the Masters and Doctoral levels. It also partners with the International Political Science Association (IPSA) to host the IPSA-NUS Summer School in Social Science Research Methods annually. It is one of 16 departments in a large Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences, which is home to a comprehensive range of programmes in Asian Studies, Humanities, Social Science, and Language Studies. The Lee Kuan Yew School of Public Policy, the Asia Research Institute, the Asia-Europe Foundation, the East Asian Institute, the ISEAS–Yusof Ishak Institute, among other research units inside and outside NUS, provide additional opportunities for research interaction and collaboration.

NUS offers an internationally competitive remuneration package that includes a period of subsidised housing (for non-Singaporean applicants), annual performance bonus, medical benefits, and relocation expenses (where applicable). Outstanding applicants might also be considered for endowed/chair professorship that comes with annual research support and business class travel eligibility. NUS provides significant research support, including generous start-up grants for new faculty members.

Please submit your application through the NUS Career Portal : https://careers.nus.edu.sg/job/Professor-&-Head-of-Department-%28Political-Science%29/29011-en_GB/

Qualifications

The successful candidate will have an internationally recognised record of research and publication, as well as a record of very good teaching. Exceptional leadership skills are essential, as is a strong commitment to intellectual and methodological pluralism. Other qualifications include evidence of substantial administrative experience; a record of promoting faculty and student success; a commitment to collegiality and diversity; and excellent interpersonal, communication, and organizational skills. The Head is expected to provide leadership in co-creating with department faculty to implement a strategic vision, consistent with NUS' research and teaching mission, which advances the Department's international profile and reputation. Research and teaching expectations may be reduced (e.g. one course teaching commitment per year), given the Head's crucial service role.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 5/27/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15591

National University of Singapore

Rank: Assistant Professor in Political Science

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Open

Assistant Professor in Political Science

The Department of Political Science at the National University of Singapore invites application for one full-time tenure-track position in Political Science at the rank of Assistant Professor. We welcome applications from candidates working in all subfields, including but not limited to international relations (including non-traditional security and human security), international political economy, gender politics, global studies, and governance and public policy. We also encourage applications from candidates with research experience relating to Asia and whose backgrounds are traditionally underrepresented in the discipline.

The teaching load is three courses per academic year. Compensation is competitive and includes eligibility for annual performance bonus and salary increment, subsidized housing, medical benefits, and substantial research support. Successful candidates are expected to teach graduate and undergraduate classes and take a leading role in developing new departmental initiatives. Candidates with publications in top outlets who conduct innovative and impactful research using, eg. computational methods, may also be invited to apply for the Presidential Young Professorship. <https://www.nus.edu.sg/careers/nus-programmes/>

The Department of Political Science (<http://www.fas.nus.edu.sg/pol/>) includes scholars working in all areas of political science, as well as an interdisciplinary Global Studies programme examining the processes and effects of globalisation across political, economic, social, and cultural domains (<https://fass.nus.edu.sg/globalstudies>). Faculty and students can take advantage of resources in the Asia Research Institute, the Lee Kuan Yew School of Public Policy, and various research institutes including the Asia-Europe Foundation, the Institute of South Asian Studies, the East Asia Institute, and the Yusof Ishak Institute—Institute of Southeast Asian Studies among others. NUS (<http://www.nus.edu.sg/>) is a global leader in research and higher education. Singapore is a highly livable global city that is a major regional and international travel hub.

Interested applicants are invited to apply directly at our NUS Career Portal: https://careers.nus.edu.sg/job/Assistant-Professor-in-Political-Science/28742-en_GB/.

Applicants should submit the following documents:

1. Cover letter clearly detailing their research and teaching interests.
2. Curriculum vitae.
3. Three letters of reference. Please send all letters directly to pol-ir@nus.edu.sg.
4. A research statement of no more than 2 pages stating your research interests and research plans for the next 3 years.
5. A teaching statement of no more than 2 pages, as well as sample syllabi, teaching evaluations, and/or other evidence of teaching quality.
6. Up to three writing samples

For full consideration, please submit your materials to this website by 1 July 2025. Applications received after this date may still be considered until the position is filled.

For any queries, please write to: pol-ir@nus.edu.sg.

Please note that only short-listed candidates will be notified.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 5/13/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15580

University of South Florida

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor of Instruction

Position Summary

The School of Interdisciplinary Global Studies (SIGS) at the University of South Florida seeks to fill a 9-month, full-time Visiting Assistant Professor of Instruction position in comparative politics/ international relations beginning on August 7, 2025. The position is for the 2025-2026 academic year with possible extension for a second and/or third year.

The salary for this position is $50,000. The teaching load for the successful candidate is four courses per semester, including one section of Graduate Qualitative Research Methods. The other courses depend on the successful candidate's area of specialization.

The School of Interdisciplinary Global Studies is an academic unit in the College of Arts & Sciences. It consists of four academic programs - Political Science, International Studies, Africana Studies, and Latin American & Caribbean Studies - which act collaboratively to promote global teaching, research, and engagement.

Minimum Qualifications

PhD degree from an accredited institution in an appropriate field of specialization or equivalent qualifications based on professional experience and otherwise qualified to perform assigned duties. Must meet university criteria for appointment to the rank of Instructor.

Preferred Qualifications

First preference will be given to applicants who have had training in Qualitative Methods and Comparative Politics/International Relations.

Information for Applicants

ABDs may apply but must have PhD in hand at time of appointment.

Applications must be submitted through the University of South Florida Employment website at <http://employment.usf.edu>. Applicants should attach ONE collated document including the following four items to their application: a cover letter outlining their qualifications, a current CV, documentation of effective teaching, and names and contact information for three references. Position is open until filled. Application review will begin on May 26th, 2025.

Legal Statement:

Conclusion of this search is subject to final budget approval. According to Florida Law, applications and meetings regarding them are open to the public. For ADA accommodations, please contact Jamie Lane at jamilane@usf.edu at least five working days prior to need. USF is an AA/EA/EO institution.

The University of South Florida, a high-impact research university dedicated to student success and committed to community engagement, generates an annual economic impact of more than $6 billion. With campuses in Tampa, St. Petersburg and Sarasota-Manatee, USF serves approximately 50,000 students who represent nearly 150 different countries. For four consecutive years, U.S. News & World Report has ranked USF as one of the nation's top 50 public universities, including USF's highest ranking ever in 2023 (No. 42). In 2023, USF became the first public university in Florida in nearly 40 years to be invited to join the Association of American Universities, a prestigious group of the leading universities in the United States and Canada. Through hundreds of millions of dollars in research activity each year and as one of top universities in the world for securing new patents, USF is a leader in solving global problems and improving lives. USF is a member of the American Athletic Conference. Learn more at www.usf.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 5/12/2025

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 15579

Northwestern University

Rank: Instructor Positions (Winter &/or Spring 2026)

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, International Relations

The Department of Political Science invites applications for three part-time instructor positions in AY2025-2026. Each instructor will be responsible for teaching two courses, helping us round our curriculum across three of the subfields. We are particularly interested in instructors who can teach two of the following courses within a given field: (1) American politics/race and ethnic politics instructor – e.g., Race and Public Policy, Immigration Politics and Policy, and/or Racial and Ethnic Politics, (2) International relations instructor – e.g., International Organizations, National Security, and/or Ethics in International Relations, and (3) Comparative politics instructor – e.g., Social Movements, Refugee Crises and Human Rights, Politics of Latin America, and/or Chinese Foreign Policy.

Advanced graduate students (with advisor and Director of Graduate Study approval) and recent PhDs are welcome to apply. Candidates must have graduate training in Political Science or a similar field. Compensation ranges from $8,000-9,200 per course, depending on experience and qualifications. Courses will be offered in winter and/or spring 2026. Each quarter is 10 weeks in length, with 170 minutes of classroom instruction each week. Instructors can review previous course syllabi but are expected to design their own syllabus, course materials, and assessments. No grading support is provided for these instructional positions. Enrollment caps will vary across courses but are expected to be 25 students or less.

Candidates should submit a cover letter; CV; teaching statement that describes their teaching interests and experiences, including which courses they would seek to teach, pedagogy, and evidence of teaching effectiveness; and contact information for three letters of reference. Consideration of the application will begin on May 23 and continue until the position is filled. Note that these instructional positions are not eligible for moving, travel, housing, or related costs. To apply for this position, please visit https://polisci.northwestern.edu/about/faculty-searches.html"target="_blankhttps://polisci.northwestern.edu/about/faculty-searches.html.

For inquiries about job advertisements or the application process, please contact <mailto:stephen.monteiro@northwestern.edu> Stephen Monteiro, Business Administrator in the Political Science Department. Hiring is contingent upon eligibility to work in the United States.

Start Date: Winter 2026

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 5/7/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15574

University of Alabama, Tuscaloosa

Rank: Instructor of Political Science (3 Year Term, Renewable Contract Instructor)

Subfield(s): Public Administration, American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics

Position Summary

The Department of Political Science at the University of Alabama invites applications for a renewable contract instructor. This is a 9-month appointment will be for a three-year term, subject to satisfactory performance reviews. The appointment will begin on August 16, 2025.

Detailed Position Information

The Department of Political Science at the University of Alabama invites applications for a renewable contract instructor. The annual 9-month appointment will be for a three-year term, subject to satisfactory performance reviews. We invite applications from specialists in public administration, U.S. politics, international relations, or comparative politics. Minimum qualifications: MA in Political Science or related field; with some experience teaching at the college level. Preferred qualifications: PhD in Political Science or a related field; experience teaching courses independently. For more information about the department, see <https://psc.ua.edu/>. The position begins August 16, 2025.

Applications must be submitted via the University website at <http://careers.ua.edu/cw/en-us/job/526037>

Application review will begin immediately and will continue until the position is filled. Submit applications by April 30, 2025, for best consideration.

Minimum Qualifications

MA in Political Science or related field; with some experience teaching at the college level.

Preferred Qualifications

PhD in Political Science or a related field; experience teaching courses independently.

Instructions and Required Materials for Application

Applicants should submit a cover letter summarizing their teaching qualifications and experience, courses prepared to offer, and reasons for interest in the position; a CV; evidence of teaching effectiveness; and the names and contact information of 3 references (ideally with knowledge of candidate's teaching experience). Letters will only be required for short-listed candidates.

To see more information and to apply: <http://careers.ua.edu/cw/en-us/job/526037> ***

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 3/20/2025

Salary: $40,000 - $49,999

eJobs ID: 15524

St. Olaf College

Rank: Assistant Professor in American Politics

Subfield(s): Methodology, International Relations, Comparative Politics

The Department of Political Science at St. Olaf College invites applications for a full-time, one-year position in methodology and an additional subfield (American, international relations, comparative, or political theory) at the level of Visiting Instructor or Assistant Professor, to begin August 2025. This position has the potential for additional years of reappointment.

The teaching load will be six courses during the year, including three sections of political science research methodology and three sections reflecting the candidate's interests and expertise. The successful candidate will be able to offer instruction in quantitative and qualitative methods and explain how these methods contribute to a broad and rigorous liberal arts education. While additional expertise in international relations is preferred, expertise in American, comparative, or political theory will be considered.

Qualifications

A Ph.D. in Political Science or a related field completed by the start of the fall semester is preferred, but ABD candidates will be considered.

About the Department

We are a collegial department, with two faculty members teaching regularly in each of the four subfields. We are committed to supporting our colleagues in their pursuit of creative and thoughtful pedagogy and rigorous scholarship. For more information about the department, visit wp.stolaf.edu/polisci/.

How to Apply

Submit application at: https://fa-ewur-saasfaprod1.fa.ocs.oraclecloud.com/hcmUI/CandidateExperience/en/sites/CX_3/job/1824

A complete application includes the following:

References: Provide contact information for three professional references who can speak to your abilities in teaching and scholarship.

Supporting Documents and URLs:

Cover letter outlining your qualifications and why you are interested in this particular position

Curriculum vitae

Graduate transcripts (unofficial)

Evidence of Teaching Excellence

Review of applications will begin immediately and will continue until the position is filled. Questions about the position, department, or college may be directed to the Department Chair, Douglas Casson, at casson@stolaf.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 2/19/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15442

Western Carolina University

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor - International Relations/Comparative Politics

The Department of Political Science and Public Affairs at Western Carolina University is searching for a visiting assistant professor in International Relations and/or Comparative Politics to join our growing and accomplished faculty.

This is a fixed-term nine-month position, with a chance of renewal. The anticipated begin date is August 2025. The successful candidate will contribute to the Political Science and International Studies programs by teaching six courses per academic year, including sections of our "Exploring Global Politics" course, a core introductory class in our Political Science major. Upper-level courses within the candidate's specialization will also be part of the teaching load. The primary location of this position is the Cullowhee, NC campus. The possibility of summer teaching may also be available, but not required for this position.

Preferred qualifications include a PhD in Political Science, International Relations, International Studies, or a related discipline from an accredited institution. Advanced ABD candidates from an accredited university will also be considered. Preferred candidates will also have research and teaching expertise in the politics of the Middle East or Asia, and a demonstrated focus on these regions.

The position is open until filled and the search committee will begin reviewing applications on February 26, 2025.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 1/17/2025

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 15350

Hampden-Sydney College

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of Government and Foreign Affairs at Hampden-Sydney College invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track appointment at the rank of Assistant Professor beginning in Fall 2025. Candidates should have expertise in Comparative Politics and/or International Relations. The Department seeks applicants who can offer intermediate courses in European politics, international relations theory and/or international organization. The successful applicant may participate in the college-wide Core Cultures program or teach introductory courses in world politics. Faculty teach in a 6-6-7 course rotation with six courses per year for two years and seven courses in the third year.

Hampden-Sydney College values the teacher/scholar model. Successful applicants will have a record of effective classroom teaching, a commitment to scholarly productivity, and a willingness to work with colleagues on professional service responsibilities. Applicants should have a Ph.D. or be advanced ABD in political science at the time of appointment.

Please submit a letter of application, curriculum vitae, teaching statement, research statement, and three letters of reference to Dr. Celia Carroll Jones, Chair, Department of Government and Foreign Affairs, Hampden-Sydney College at <http://apply.interfolio.com/161830>. Review of applications will begin February 15, 2025.

Hampden-Sydney is one of three liberal arts colleges in the United States dedicated to the education of men, and our mission is to educate “good men and good citizens in an atmosphere of sound learning.” As a community, we are dedicated to the goal of building a culturally diverse staff committed to working in a multicultural environment and strongly encourage applications from women and minoritized groups. Hampden-Sydney College values diversity, prohibits discrimination, and is committed to equal opportunity for all employees and applicants for employment.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 2/15/2025

Date Posted: 1/12/2025

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 15335

Williams College

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor in Political Science

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Other

The Williams College Department of Political Science invites applications for a one-year appointment in the 2025 - 2026 academic year, as Visiting Assistant Professor in Political Science. We seek individuals who can teach courses in comparative politics, especially those with an East Asia, Africa, or other regional focus. The ability to teach introduction to comparative politics is required. The ability to teach courses in international relations is a plus. The teaching load is four courses, split evenly between the fall and spring semesters. We welcome applications from candidates of all backgrounds and strongly encourage individuals from underrepresented identities or those whose experiences and perspectives will enhance our commitment to academic excellence. The Williams College Department of Political Science invites applications for a one-year appointment in the 2025 - 2026 academic year, as Visiting Assistant Professor in Political Science. We seek individuals who can teach courses in comparative politics, especially those with an East Asia, Africa, or other regional focus. The ability to teach introduction to comparative politics is required. The ability to teach courses in international relations is a plus. The teaching load is four courses, split evenly between the fall and spring semesters. We welcome applications from candidates of all backgrounds and strongly encourage individuals from underrepresented identities or those whose experiences and perspectives will enhance our commitment to academic excellence and innovation to apply.

Candidates should have the Ph.D. completed by June 2025. Application items should include: a cover letter detailing teaching experience and competencies as well as current scholarly interests; two syllabi of classes taught or planned to be taught; a curriculum vitae; three letters of recommendation; teaching evaluations accompanied by comparative or statistical context (if available); and a writing sample of only one article or chapter. We ask you to write in your cover letter about your ability to work effectively with a student population that is broadly diverse with regard to gender, race, ethnicity, nationality, sexual orientation, and religion.

We will begin to review applications on February 1st, but will consider submissions until the search is completed. All application materials should be submitted through Interfolio [apply.interfolio.com/160837]. Fax and email applications will not be accepted. Inquiries may be sent to Erin Malloy at emb8@williams.edu. All offers of employment are contingent upon completion of a background check. Further information is available here: faculty.williams.edu/prospective-faculty/background-check-policy/

Williams College is a liberal arts institution located in the Berkshire Hills of western Massachusetts. The college has built its reputation on outstanding teaching and scholarship and on the academic excellence of its approximately 2,000 students. Please visit the Williams College website (<http://www.williams.edu>) to learn more about the College and in particular its professional development resources for faculty. Beyond meeting fully its legal obligations for non-discrimination, Williams College is committed to building a diverse and inclusive community where members from all backgrounds can live, learn, and thrive. and innovation to apply.

Start Date: Summer 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 1/6/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15322

Lehigh University

Rank: Bernard L. & Bertha F. Cohen Chair in International Relations

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Other

Position: Bernard L. and Bertha F. Cohen Chair in International Relations

LEHIGH UNIVERSITY. The Department of International Relations invites applications for a tenured Full Professor to fill the Bernard L. and Bertha F. Cohen Chair, with an anticipated start date of July 2025. The position is open to all research and teaching specializations within the fields of international relations, foreign policy, and/or comparative politics.

Candidates must have an earned PhD in International Relations or a closely related field. The ideal candidate will have connections to the policy community in Washington, DC, and/or New York City and be able to assist students with internship placement.

Candidates are expected to have a strong commitment to undergraduate teaching and excellence in research. The individual hired will, specifically, be expected to teach courses in International Relations at the undergraduate level, engage in scholarly activities, and participate in departmental, college, and university service, as well as advise undergraduate internships.

Lehigh is among the few higher educational institutions in the US that has long had a separate department of IR. This allows students with a particular interest in international affairs to benefit from a concentrated, high-level program of study that few other schools offer.

Founded in 1865, Lehigh University has combined outstanding academic and learning opportunities with leadership in fostering innovative research. Recognized among the nation's highly-ranked research universities, Lehigh offers a rigorous academic community for over 7,500 students. Lehigh University has some 5,800 undergraduates, 1,800 graduate students, and nearly 600 full-time faculty members. Lehigh University is located in Bethlehem, PA, a vibrant and historic area. Over 840,000 people live in the Lehigh Valley, which is in close proximity to New York City and Philadelphia.

Review of applications will begin on October 11, 2024, and will continue until the position is filled. For full consideration, however, applications should be received by October 11, 2024. Applicants should submit their materials at <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajojobs/28335>. Candidates should submit the following materials:

Cover letter

Curriculum vitae

Research statement that describes past scholarly contributions and future research directions

Teaching statement that describes instructional philosophy and courses that the candidate would want to teach or develop

Name and contact information for three references

A statement on contributions to diversity, equity, and inclusion (DEI) that describes knowledge, prior DEI experience, and the candidate's future plans for enhancing community and culture at Lehigh (the Lehigh ADVANCE Center's guide for understanding and preparing such statements is available here)

All inquiries regarding the search should be directed to Ms. Edann Brady at emb703@lehigh.edu or 610-758-3390.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/6/2024

Salary: Above $159,999

eJobs ID: 14800

Washington University in St. Louis

Rank: Open Rank Professor of Political Science in the field of Environmental Politics

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, Methodology

The Department of Political Science at Washington University in St. Louis and the Environmental Studies Program invite applications for a tenure-track faculty appointment in the area of Environmental Politics at the rank of assistant professor, associate professor, or professor. The appointment is to begin in the fall semester of 2025. A Ph.D. in Political Science or a closely related field is required at the time of appointment. Candidates for the rank of associate or full professor should have an outstanding academic record of research, publication teaching, and service commensurate with tenure at that rank. Duties will include teaching assigned courses, conducting research, writing for publication, advising students, participating in department and program governance, and university service.

Application materials should include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, statement of research and teaching interests, at least three letters of reference, writing samples, and other relevant materials.

Applications received before September 15, 2024 will receive full consideration. Consideration after that date will be at the discretion of the search committee. All applications and supporting documentation should be submitted electronically through Interfolio at apply.interfolio.com/151775. If you encounter difficulties with the application process or have any additional questions, please email Amanda Nutter (nutter@wustl.edu).

Start Date: Summer 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/13/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14628

Yale University

Rank: Assistant/Associate/Full Professor, International Relations, Comparative Politics, and Political Economy

The Department of Political Science at Yale University is seeking to hire several faculty members at the rank of Assistant, Associate, or Full Professor with an appointment in the fields of Comparative Politics, Political Economy, and/or International Relations, beginning July 1, 2025. Suitable candidates may also be hired jointly with the Jackson School of Global Affairs, in which case faculty will be expected to share their teaching and service obligations between both the Political Science Department and the Jackson School of Global Affairs. This search includes additional resources in two targeted areas within this broader search area. The first is for an assistant professor with expertise in African Politics, who will teach at least one course cross-listed with, and contribute to, Yale's Council on African Studies. The second is for a candidate who works on Environmental Politics, jointly appointed with the Jackson School of Global Affairs. Candidates will be expected to teach undergraduate and graduate courses in areas of political science commensurate with their expertise. Candidates jointly appointed with Jackson will also teach courses in Jackson's undergraduate and graduate curriculum. If candidates are appointed at the untenured level, the initial appointment will be for 5 years. The teaching expectation is normally 3 courses per academic year.

Qualifications

Ph.D. or equivalent degree required at time of hire.

Application Instructions

All applications must include a cover letter and CV. Untenured candidates should also supply 3 recommendation letters, 2 writing samples, and separate short (2 pages or less) research and teaching statements. All materials should be uploaded to Interfolio at <http://apply.interfolio.com/151662>. Review of applications will begin September 15, 2024 (or 30 days after posting, whichever is later), and to guarantee full consideration your file should be complete by this date.

Please contact Xaria Callender, Sr. Administrative Assistant for the Political Science Department, at xaria.callender@yale.edu if you have questions about the application process.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 8/7/2025

Date Posted: 8/12/2024

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 14619

Universidad Torcuato Di Tella

Rank: Assistant Professor, Associate Professor

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Methodology

The Department of Political Science and International Studies at Universidad Torcuato Di Tella (UTDT) seeks candidates for two tenure-track assistant professor positions in Comparative Politics and International Relations, with an expected (but negotiable) start date of March 2025. Very strong candidates at the associate level will also be considered. We are open with respect to substantive subfield, theoretical orientation, and methodological approach. Regional expertise in regions other than Latin America (e.g., East, South, or Southeast Asia, Western or Eastern Europe, the Middle East or North America) is a plus, as is the ability to teach courses on research design, data science/statistics, and/or causal inference. Candidates are expected to demonstrate a strong commitment to research and to teaching and mentoring students. The teaching load is three courses per year. Most courses are taught in Spanish, although a growing number are offered in English. The position includes a research fund and a year's sabbatical (at full salary) every six years.

Duties will include teaching assigned courses in Comparative Politics and/or International Relations at both the undergraduate and graduate levels, conducting research, writing for publication in high-quality academic venues, advising students, participating in department governance, and university service.

Qualifications: Ph.D. in Political Science or related disciplines (ABD candidates will also be considered) and a demonstrated record of excellence in research and teaching. Proficiency in both Spanish and English is required. Questions should be directed to Professor Carlos Gervasoni, Chair of the Department of Political Science and International Studies, at cgervasoni@utdt.edu.

To apply please visit https://utdt.hiringroom.com/jobs/get_vacancy/665727a62994ec85980166a0, by August 30, 2024 (applications received after this date will continue to be reviewed until the positions are filled). The required documents include a cover letter, CV, a research statement, a teaching statement, a writing sample, and the names and email addresses of 3 references (letters of reference will be required of short-listed finalists).

Universidad Torcuato Di Tella is a private research university located in Buenos Aires, Argentina. Our Department is consistently ranked as one of the best in Latin America in terms of reputation and research excellence. Our guiding principles are academic excellence, pluralism of ideas and equal opportunity. UTDT is committed to creating a diverse community of students, faculty, and staff, following the principles of equal opportunity and treatment in education and employment, regardless of national origin, race, color, ethnicity, religion, political ideology, age, sex, sexual orientation, or gender identity. The university encourages applications of individuals from historically underrepresented groups who will further enrich the diversity of our educational community. We welcome applications from all nationalities. Approximately 25% of the Department's research professors are foreigners. For further information about Universidad Torcuato Di Tella and our department, please visit: <https://www.utdt.edu/>.

Start Date: Spring 2025

Application Deadline: 8/30/2024

Date Posted: 6/5/2024

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 14404

INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS

National University of Singapore

Rank: Head of Department position (Full Professor level with tenure)

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Public Policy

The Department of Political Science at the National University of Singapore invites applications for the position of Head of Department at the rank of full professor or higher (endowed chair professor). Research and teaching specialisation is open, although candidates should contribute to one or more of the Department's four subfields: comparative politics, governance and public policy, international relations, and political theory.

The successful candidate will have an internationally recognised record of research and publication, as well as a record of very good teaching. Exceptional leadership skills are essential, as is a demonstrable commitment to intellectual and methodological pluralism. Other qualifications include evidence of substantial administrative experience; a record of promoting faculty and student success; a commitment to collegiality and diversity; and excellent interpersonal, communication, and organisational skills. The Head is expected to provide leadership to implement a strategic vision, with the support of department faculty, which advances the Department's international profile and reputation. Research and teaching expectations may be reduced (e.g. one course teaching commitment per year), given the Head's crucial service role.

Interested candidates should submit a CV, cover letter that addresses the qualifications outlined above, research statement (approx. two pages), teaching statement (approx. two pages), and names and addresses of at least four references.

Review of applications will begin in August 2025 and will continue until the position is filled. Campus visits for selected candidates will be arranged for October 2025. The position is expected to commence in January 2027. Questions about the position should be directed to the Search Committee Chair, Professor William Bain (wbain@nus.edu.sg).

Exceptional candidates at the rank of senior associate professor are welcome to apply, subject to being promoted to full professor upon appointment at NUS.

The Department of Political Science is a vibrant multidisciplinary community comprised of over 25 tenure- and educator-track faculty members. The Department offers degrees in Political Science and Global Studies at the undergraduate level and in Political Science at the Masters and Doctoral levels. It also partners with the International Political Science Association (IPSA) to host the IPSA-NUS Summer School in Social Science Research Methods annually. It is one of 16 departments in a large Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences, which is home to a comprehensive range of programmes in Asian Studies, Humanities, Social Science, and Language Studies. The Lee Kuan Yew School of Public Policy, the Asia Research Institute, the Asia-Europe Foundation, the East Asian Institute, the ISEAS–Yusof Ishak Institute, among other research units inside and outside NUS, provide additional opportunities for research interaction and collaboration.

NUS offers an internationally competitive remuneration package that includes a period of subsidised housing (for non-Singaporean applicants), annual performance bonus, medical benefits, and relocation expenses (where applicable). Outstanding applicants might also be considered for endowed/chair professorship that comes with annual research support and business class travel eligibility. NUS provides significant research support, including generous start-up grants for new faculty members.

Please submit your application through the NUS Career Portal : https://careers.nus.edu.sg/job/Professor-&-Head-of-Department-%28Political-Science%29/29011-en_GB/

Qualifications

The successful candidate will have an internationally recognised record of research and publication, as well as a record of very good teaching. Exceptional leadership skills are essential, as is a strong commitment to intellectual and methodological pluralism. Other qualifications include evidence of substantial administrative experience; a record of promoting faculty and student success; a commitment to collegiality and diversity; and excellent interpersonal, communication, and organisational skills. The Head is expected to provide leadership in co-creating with department faculty to implement a strategic vision, consistent with NUS' research and teaching mission, which advances the Department's international profile and reputation. Research and teaching expectations may be reduced (e.g. one course teaching commitment per year), given the Head's crucial service role.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 5/27/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15591

Augustana University

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): International Relations, Political Theory, Open

Job Title: Visiting Assistant Professor

Position Type: Full-Time

Department: Government and International Affairs

The Department of Government and International Affairs at Augustana University invites applications for a one-year Visiting Assistant Professor position. The effective start date is August 20, 2025.

Responsibilities:

The successful applicant will demonstrate a strong commitment to teaching excellence in a liberal arts environment. The position involves teaching seven courses each academic year: three courses per semester, with an additional course during the three-week Interim term in January. We seek a scholar who can contribute to our efforts to enhance the variety and international content of our upper-level course offerings, as well as offer sections of our Introduction to Government courses taught within the general education curriculum. We are open to scholars approaching these tasks from the standpoint of international relations, political theory and/or law.

Qualifications:

A Ph.D. completed by August 1, 2025 is strongly preferred, with evidence of teaching excellence expected.

Interacting with students, faculty and leadership from diverse backgrounds and perspectives, along with a deep appreciation and respect for academic principles and culture, must be a top value of the candidate.

Application Procedure:

Review of applications will begin immediately and continue until the position has been filled. Interested applicants are asked to submit the below application materials in one document to our career center portal. If assistance is needed in the application process, please reach out to humanresources@augie.edu. Official website: augie.edu. Questions may be directed to Dr. Emily Wanless, department chair, at ewanless@augie.edu.

*Letter of interest

*Curriculum vitae

*Statement of teaching philosophy

*Evidence of teaching effectiveness

*Phone numbers and email addresses of three current professional references

Augustana University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action/Title IX Employer. Applicants must comply with the Immigration Reform and Control Act and may be required to submit official transcripts upon employment. Finalist candidates must satisfactorily complete a pre-employment background check.

About Augustana University:

Located in the growing and vibrant city of Sioux Falls, South Dakota, Augustana University has, for more than 160 years, provided a strong student-centric education based on its five core values: Christian faith, liberal arts, excellence, community, and service. The institution continues to expand its pre-professional and graduate offerings, while remaining true to its liberal arts tradition. Guided by the Viking Bold: Journey to 2030 strategic plan, Augustana seeks to grow its enrollment from just over 1,900 students to more than 3,000 undergraduate and graduate students.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 5/20/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15584

University of London, SOAS

Rank: Assistant Professor in International Relations

Subfield(s): International Relations, International Relations, International Relations

Job title: Assistant Professor in International Relations

Department: Politics and International Studies

Contract Type: Full-Time (Permanent)

Salary: Grade 8 - £51,248.57 - £60,268.57 per annum incl. London Allowance

Location: Bloomsbury WC1H 0XG, London

SOAS University of London is the leading Higher Education institution in Europe specialising in the study of Asia, Africa and the Middle East.

SOAS is committed to both research intensity and student learning in conjunction with international partnerships that respond to global challenges.

About the Department:

The SOAS Department of Politics and International Studies is a world-leading, research-led department, ranked 3rd in the world for academic reputation (QS World University Rankings / Politics 2025).

The Department is known for its combination of both academic and professional training in politics and international relations with a focus on the Global South (Asia, Africa, and the Middle East). Our MA programme in International Studies and Diplomacy is widely recognised for its distinctive approach to policy-oriented postgraduate training, with a global focus that also covers the role of the US, Europe, and multilateral institutions in partnership with emerging powers. Preparation for careers in international affairs has long been a key strength of the Department.

About the Role:

We are pleased to invite applications for a permanent Lecturer in International Relations starting in Autumn 2025 or as soon as possible thereafter.

We are looking for a scholar with a promising publication record and an active research agenda, as well as demonstrated excellence in innovative forms of teaching including undergraduate, postgraduate, online, and professional training.

You can find further information on the key criteria for the role in the Job Description and Person Specification, along with a full list of duties and responsibilities, on the SOAS website.

What We Offer:

We are committed to providing a supportive and rewarding work environment. In addition to a competitive salary, we offer a comprehensive range of benefits designed to enhance your well-being and work-life balance:

Generous Holiday Entitlement: Benefit from 44 days of holiday (30 days annual leave, plus bank holidays and 6 closure days over Christmas and Easter) to ensure ample time for rest and relaxation.

Flexible Working Arrangements: We recognise the importance of flexibility and offer options to help you manage your professional and personal commitments effectively.

Generous occupational pension scheme: To provide financial security for your future

Learning and Development: We are dedicated to your professional growth and development and offer diverse learning and development opportunities to enhance your skills and advance your career.

Health and Well-being Initiatives: Take advantage of our cycle to work scheme, eye tests, and season ticket loan to support your health and mobility.

Enhanced Family Leave: We offer enhanced maternity, paternity & partner leave, and shared parental leave to support you during significant life events.

Employee Assistance Programme: Access our confidential EAP for advice and support whenever needed.

Discounted Gym Membership: Maintain your fitness with our discounted gym membership.

We would particularly welcome applications from candidates from working class, first generation Higher Education, Black, Asian, other minority ethnic and underrepresented groups from within the UK and beyond. All appointment decisions will be made on merit, following a fair and competitive process.

How to Apply:

<https://vacancies.soas.ac.uk/>

Closing date: 15 August 2025

Interviews to be held: TBC

Use of AI

While AI tools can be beneficial, we value the personal touch and authenticity in job applications. We encourage you to highlight your unique experience, knowledge, skills, and abilities, ensuring all information is accurate. Please use AI tools responsibly and with integrity throughout the application and selection process.

Further information

Successful candidates will need to demonstrate their eligibility to work in the UK or have limited leave to remain in the UK and associated right to work for the duration of their employment with SOAS, in accordance with the Immigration, Asylum and Nationality Act 2006.

We are able to offer sponsorship for candidates who do not currently possess the right to work in the UK.

For information on how and why SOAS processes personal data about its job applicants, please read our Job Applicant Notice.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 5/16/2025

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 15583

National University of Singapore

Rank: Assistant Professor in Political Science

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Open

Assistant Professor in Political Science

The Department of Political Science at the National University of Singapore invites application for one full-time tenure-track position in Political Science at the rank of Assistant Professor. We welcome applications from candidates working in all subfields, including but not limited to international relations (including non-traditional security and human security), international political economy, gender politics, global studies, and governance and public policy. We also encourage applications from candidates with research experience relating to Asia and whose backgrounds are traditionally underrepresented in the discipline.

The teaching load is three courses per academic year. Compensation is competitive and includes eligibility for annual performance bonus and salary increment, subsidized housing, medical benefits, and substantial research support. Successful candidates are expected to teach graduate and undergraduate classes and take a leading role in developing new departmental initiatives. Candidates with publications in top outlets who conduct innovative and impactful research using, eg. computational methods, may also be invited to apply for the Presidential Young Professorship. <https://www.nus.edu.sg/careers/nus-programmes/>

The Department of Political Science (<http://www.fas.nus.edu.sg/pol/>) includes scholars working in all areas of political science, as well as an interdisciplinary Global Studies programme examining the processes and effects of globalisation across political, economic, social, and cultural domains (<https://fass.nus.edu.sg/globalstudies>). Faculty and students can take advantage of resources in the Asia Research Institute, the Lee Kuan Yew School of Public Policy, and various research institutes including the Asia-Europe Foundation, the Institute of South Asian Studies, the East Asia Institute, and the Yusof Ishak Institute—Institute of Southeast Asian Studies among others. NUS (<http://www.nus.edu.sg/>) is a global leader in research and higher education. Singapore is a highly livable global city that is a major regional and international travel hub.

Interested applicants are invited to apply directly at our NUS Career Portal: https://careers.nus.edu.sg/job/Assistant-Professor-in-Political-Science/28742-en_GB/.

Applicants should submit the following documents:

1. Cover letter clearly detailing their research and teaching interests.
2. Curriculum vitae.
3. Three letters of reference. Please send all letters directly to pol-ir@nus.edu.sg.
4. A research statement of no more than 2 pages stating your research interests and research plans for the next 3 years.
5. A teaching statement of no more than 2 pages, as well as sample syllabi, teaching evaluations, and/or other evidence of teaching quality.
6. Up to three writing samples

For full consideration, please submit your materials to this website by 1 July 2025. Applications received after this date may still be considered until the position is filled.

For any queries, please write to: pol-ir@nus.edu.sg.

Please note that only short-listed candidates will be notified.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 5/13/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15580

University of Toronto

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow in Chinese Politics or Chinese Political Economy

The Munk School of Global Affairs & Public Policy is looking to hire a Postdoctoral Fellow to support Professor Lynette Ong at the China Governance Lab.

Area of Research: Chinese Politics or Chinese Political Economy

Description of Duties: To conduct research related to Chinese politics and/or political economy, including collecting and analyzing Chinese government and social media data, and author academic publications. To take charge of research projects, including leading a team of student researchers, and execute deliverables as instructed by supervisor. Opportunities for collaboration with supervisor. Possible areas of specialization: state-business relations, public opinion, conflict studies, and governance.

Salary: $65,000 per year, plus standard benefits

Closing Date: Application opens MAY 15, 2025 and will close once the position is filled

Supervisor: Professor Lynette Ong, Distinguished Professor of Chinese Politics, University of Toronto

Expected Start Date: July 1, 2025

Required Qualifications: Candidates must have a PhD, with a strong background in quantitative methods, including computational social science. Knowledge of Chinese politics, and proficiency in Mandarin Chinese are also required.

Application Instructions: All individuals interested in the position must submit the following documents by the closing date to Professor Lynette Ong, at lynette.ong@utoronto.ca using the subject line "Post-doc – [Your Name]":

- a. A cover letter outlining how you meet the qualifications for the position
- b. Your academic CV
- c. A research sample that showcases your research ability and method skills (e.g., a dissertation chapter, a conference paper, or a published article)
- d. The names and contact information for three academic referees (Your referees will only be contacted once you've advanced to the interview round)

Term: 1 year with a renewal opportunity for a second year

FTE: This is a full-time position. The normal hours of work are 40 hours per week for a full-time postdoctoral fellow, recognizing that the needs of the employee's research and training and the needs of the supervisor's research program may require flexibility in the performance of the employee's duties and hours of work.

If you have any questions about this opportunity, please connect with Professor Lynette Ong, at lynette.ong@utoronto.ca.

Employment as a Postdoctoral Fellow at the University of Toronto is covered by the terms of the CUPE 3902 Unit 5 Collective Agreement. This job is posted in accordance with the CUPE 3902 Unit 5 Collective Agreement.

The University of Toronto is strongly committed to diversity within its community and especially welcomes applications from racialized persons, persons of colour, women, Indigenous Aboriginal People of North America, persons with disabilities, LGBTQ persons, and others who may contribute to the further diversification of ideas.

Start Date: Summer 2025

Application Deadline: 7/1/2025

Date Posted: 5/8/2025

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 15577

Northwestern University

Rank: Instructor Positions (Winter &/or Spring 2026)

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, International Relations

The Department of Political Science invites applications for three part-time instructor positions in AY2025-2026. Each instructor will be responsible for teaching two courses, helping us round our curriculum across three of the subfields. We are particularly interested in instructors who can teach two of the following courses within a given field: (1) American politics/race and ethnic politics instructor – e.g., Race and Public Policy, Immigration Politics and Policy, and/or Racial and Ethnic Politics, (2) International relations instructor – e.g., International Organizations, National Security, and/or Ethics in International Relations, and (3) Comparative politics instructor – e.g., Social Movements, Refugee Crises and Human Rights, Politics of Latin America, and/or Chinese Foreign Policy.

Advanced graduate students (with advisor and Director of Graduate Study approval) and recent PhDs are welcome to apply. Candidates must have graduate training in Political Science or a similar field. Compensation ranges from $8,000-9,200 per course, depending on experience and qualifications. Courses will be offered in winter and/or spring 2026. Each quarter is 10 weeks in length, with 170 minutes of classroom instruction each week. Instructors can review previous course syllabi but are expected to design their own syllabus, course materials, and assessments. No grading support is provided for these instructional positions. Enrollment caps will vary across courses but are expected to be 25 students or less.

Candidates should submit a cover letter; CV; teaching statement that describes their teaching interests and experiences, including which courses they would seek to teach, pedagogy, and evidence of teaching effectiveness; and contact information for three letters of reference. Consideration of the application will begin on May 23 and continue until the position is filled. Note that these instructional positions are not eligible for moving, travel, housing, or related costs. To apply for this position, please visit <https://polisci.northwestern.edu/about/faculty-searches.html> and click on the link for the position you are interested in.

For inquiries about job advertisements or the application process, please contact <mailto:stephen.monteiro@northwestern.edu> Stephen Monteiro, Business Administrator in the Political Science Department. Hiring is contingent upon eligibility to work in the United States.

Start Date: Winter 2026

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 5/7/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15574

Angelo State University

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Other, International Relations

Job Summary:

Angelo State University's Department of Political Science and Philosophy is hiring a temporary faculty member to teach core surveys in Texas and Federal Government. This will be a 4-4 teaching load. The applicant would possibly teach an upper level course in international relations in the spring.

Job Duties:

Teach courses in both in person and online modalities.

Minimum Qualifications:

PhD in Political Science by August 2025.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 5/2/2025

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 15570

Stanford University

Rank: Faculty Appointment in International and Nuclear Security

Stanford seeks an expert in international security and nuclear security to hold the Stanton Foundation Professorship in Nuclear Security. A joint appointment would be made at tenured rank of Associate Professor or Professor in a Stanford department or school and as a Senior Fellow on a continuing term with an endowed chair at the Center for International Security and Cooperation (CISAC), Freeman Spogli Institute for International Studies (FSI). Faculty from the social sciences, engineering, and physical sciences are all encouraged to apply.

The successful candidate for this position will be an internationally recognized scholar with an interest and expertise in nuclear and security related research as demonstrated through prior publications, teaching, or public service. He or she may well have other significant interests and expertise as well that would add to Stanford's faculty community working on a variety of security issues. In addition, he or she may also have a record of policy relevant publication, teaching, or public service in additional security studies areas such as the military technology, nuclear power, and risk analysis, or on nuclear weapons states, states at risk for nuclear proliferation, and their security relationships with the United States.

Applicants should possess an exceptional record of research and publication and be committed to teaching at the undergraduate and graduate levels and training pre- and post-doctoral fellows at CISAC to become the next generation of scholars on international security policy. Applicants might also have substantial interest or proven expertise in making, advising or implementing national or international security policy. The successful candidates will be expected to provide leadership for the study of international security issues at Stanford University.

Application packages should be submitted online at <https://facultypositions.stanford.edu/en-us/job/494847/faculty-appointment-in-international-and-nuclear-security> and include the following documents: 1) a curriculum vitae with complete bibliography; 2) a research statement (up to 2 pages); 3) a statement of teaching interests (1 page); 4) up to three examples of scholarly publications; and 5) a cover letter.

Review of application files will start from July 15, 2025. Questions regarding this application may be directed to Patrick Laboon.

The expected base pay range for this position is:

Associate Professor (tenured) and/or Senior Fellow: $ 162,000 - $226,000

Professor (tenured) and/or Senior Fellow: $ 174,000 - $280,000

Stanford University has provided a pay range representing its good faith estimate of what the university reasonably expects to pay for the position. The pay offered to the selected candidate will be determined based on factors including (but not limited to) the experience and qualifications of the selected candidate including years since terminal degree, training, and field or discipline; departmental budget availability; internal equity; and external market pay for comparable jobs.

Stanford is an equal employment opportunity and affirmative action employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law. Stanford also welcomes applications from others who would bring additional dimensions to the University's research, teaching and clinical missions.

Consistent with its obligations under the law, the University will provide reasonable accommodations to applicants and employees with disabilities. Applicants requiring a reasonable accommodation for any part of the application or hiring process should contact Stanford University Human Resources at stanfordelr@stanford.edu.

Start Date:

Date Posted: 4/23/2025

Salary: Above $159,999

eJobs ID: 15560

St. Olaf College

Rank: Assistant Professor in American Politics

Subfield(s): Methodology, International Relations, Comparative Politics

The Department of Political Science at St. Olaf College invites applications for a full-time, one-year position in methodology and an additional subfield (American, international relations, comparative, or political theory) at the level of Visiting Instructor or Assistant Professor, to begin August 2025. This position has the potential for additional years of reappointment.

The teaching load will be six courses during the year, including three sections of political science research methodology and three sections reflecting the candidate's interests and expertise. The successful candidate will be able to offer instruction in quantitative and qualitative methods and explain how these methods contribute to a broad and rigorous liberal arts education. While additional expertise in international relations is preferred, expertise in American, comparative, or political theory will be considered.

Qualifications

A Ph.D. in Political Science or a related field completed by the start of the fall semester is preferred, but ABD candidates will be considered.

About the Department

We are a collegial department, with two faculty members teaching regularly in each of the four subfields. We are committed to supporting our colleagues in their pursuit of creative and thoughtful pedagogy and rigorous scholarship. For more information about the department, visit wp.stolaf.edu/poli-sci/.

How to Apply

Submit application at: https://fa-ewur-saasfaprod1.fa.ocs.oraclecloud.com/hcmUI/CandidateExperience/en/sites/CX_3/job/1824

A complete application includes the following:

References: Provide contact information for three professional references who can speak to your abilities in teaching and scholarship.

Supporting Documents and URLs:

Cover letter outlining your qualifications and why you are interested in this particular position

Curriculum vitae

Graduate transcripts (unofficial)

Evidence of Teaching Excellence

Review of applications will begin immediately and will continue until the position is filled. Questions about the position, department, or college may be directed to the Department Chair, Douglas Casson, at casson@stolaf.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 2/19/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15442

Berry College

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor

The Department of Political Science and International Affairs at Berry College invites applications for a two-year Visiting Assistant Professor in international affairs, starting in August 2025. We seek a candidate with expertise in international relations, with an openness to any specialty area. Candidates will also contribute courses on contemporary world issues to the Foundations curriculum. This faculty member will teach seven courses annually and help support the College's Model United Nations program.

The Department is committed to preparing students to become good citizens of the United States and the world. We seek candidates who demonstrate aptitude and enthusiasm for teaching in a liberal arts environment, and a commitment to mentoring and guiding students. We are especially interested in candidates whose teaching will contribute to Berry's Good Neighbor Culture.

REQUIREMENTS

Minimum Qualifications: PhD in Political Science, International Relations, or International Affairs required by August 2025.

ABOUT BERRY COLLEGE

Berry is a selective independent college of 2,200 students located adjacent to Rome, GA, midway between Atlanta, GA, and Chattanooga, TN. Berry's educational approach deliberately unites challenging academic programs with practical work experience in a residential campus community that encourages faith and emphasizes caring for the needs of others above self. Our mission and values are grounded in the ethic that our founder instilled more than a century ago: "We educate the head, heart, and hands – to inspire leaders of integrity who cultivate thriving communities." Nationally recognized for quality of learning and quality of life, Berry offers first-rate undergraduate degree programs in the sciences, humanities, arts and human sciences, as well as undergraduate and master's level opportunities in business and teacher education. The College's stunning 27,000-acre campus affords opportunities that cannot be duplicated elsewhere. Berry's ongoing commitment is to provide exceptional educational experiences to talented students from a wide range of social, racial, and economic backgrounds.

?

COLLEGE COMMITMENTS

Berry College is committed to recruiting and supporting a diverse faculty and staff. An Equal Opportunity Institution, Berry complies with all applicable laws and provisions prohibiting discrimination in its educational and employment policies. Berry respects the essential dignity of all individuals and accordingly hires and promotes employees without regard to matters of personal identity such as race, ethnicity, religion, gender, sexual orientation, and political affiliation. Berry College is committed to ensuring facilities, programs, services, and activities are accessible to everyone, including those seeking employment at Berry College. Inquiries about interview or workplace accommodations are welcomed and can be directed to Wayne Phipps, Director of Human Resources, at (706) 290-2698.

APPLICATION INSTRUCTIONS

Applicants should submit a letter of application describing the candidate's interest in this position, commitment to the Berry mission, and to inclusive teaching and learning; a curriculum vitae; a teaching statement that should articulate the candidate's teaching approach, experience, and goals; a statement of research plans; unofficial undergraduate and graduate transcripts; and names and contact information of three references.

Submit application to <https://berry.interviewexchange.com/jobofferdetails.jsp?JOBID=185624>

Review of applications will begin on March 1 and will continue until the position is filled.

Specific questions about the position may be sent directly to the chair of the search committee, Dr. Kirsten Taylor (ktaylor@berry.edu).

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 2/17/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15438

Western Carolina University

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor - International Relations/Comparative Politics

The Department of Political Science and Public Affairs at Western Carolina University is searching for a visiting assistant professor in International Relations and/or Comparative Politics to join our growing and accomplished faculty.

This is a fixed-term nine-month position, with a chance of renewal. The anticipated begin date is August 2025. The successful candidate will contribute to the Political Science and International Studies programs by teaching six courses per academic year, including sections of our "Exploring Global Politics" course, a core introductory class in our Political Science major. Upper-level courses within the candidate's specialization will also be part of the teaching load. The primary location of this position is the Cullowhee, NC campus. The possibility of summer teaching may also be available, but not required for this position.

Preferred qualifications include a PhD in Political Science, International Relations, International Studies, or a related discipline from an accredited institution. Advanced ABD candidates from an accredited university will also be considered. Preferred candidates will also have research and teaching expertise in the politics of the Middle East or Asia, and a demonstrated focus on these regions.

The position is open until filled and the search committee will begin reviewing applications on February 26, 2025.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 1/17/2025

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 15350

Hampden-Sydney College

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of Government and Foreign Affairs at Hampden-Sydney College invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track appointment at the rank of Assistant Professor beginning in Fall 2025. Candidates should have expertise in Comparative Politics and/or International Relations. The Department seeks applicants who can offer intermediate courses in European politics, international relations theory and/or international organization. The successful applicant may participate in the college-wide Core Cultures program or teach introductory courses in world politics. Faculty teach in a 6-6-7 course rotation with six courses per year for two years and seven courses in the third year.

Hampden-Sydney College values the teacher/scholar model. Successful applicants will have a record of effective classroom teaching, a commitment to scholarly productivity, and a willingness to work with colleagues on professional service responsibilities. Applicants should have a Ph.D. or be advanced ABD in political science at the time of appointment.

Please submit a letter of application, curriculum vitae, teaching statement, research statement, and three letters of reference to Dr. Celia Carroll Jones, Chair, Department of Government and Foreign Affairs, Hampden-Sydney College at <http://apply.interfolio.com/161830>. Review of applications will begin February 15, 2025.

Hampden-Sydney is one of three liberal arts colleges in the United States dedicated to the education of men, and our mission is to educate "good men and good citizens in an atmosphere of sound learning." As a community, we are dedicated to the goal of building a culturally diverse staff committed to working in a multicultural environment and strongly encourage applications from women and minoritized groups. Hampden-Sydney College values diversity, prohibits discrimination, and is committed to equal opportunity for all employees and applicants for employment.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 2/15/2025

Date Posted: 1/12/2025

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 15335

Williams College

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor in Political Science

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Other

The Williams College Department of Political Science invites applications for a one-year appointment in the 2025 - 2026 academic year, as Visiting Assistant Professor in Political Science. We seek individuals who can teach courses in comparative politics, especially those with an East Asia, Africa, or other regional focus. The ability to teach introduction to comparative politics is required. The ability to teach courses in international relations is a plus. The teaching load is four courses, split evenly between the fall and spring semesters. We welcome applications from candidates of all backgrounds and strongly encourage individuals from underrepresented identities or those whose experiences and perspectives will enhance our commitment to academic excellence. The Williams College Department of Political Science invites applications for a one-year appointment in the 2025 - 2026 academic year, as Visiting Assistant Professor in Political Science. We seek individuals who can teach courses in comparative politics, especially those with an East Asia, Africa, or other regional focus. The ability to teach introduction to comparative politics is required. The ability to teach courses in international relations is a plus. The teaching load is four courses, split evenly between the fall and spring semesters. We welcome applications from candidates of all backgrounds and strongly encourage individuals from underrepresented identities or those whose experiences and perspectives will enhance our commitment to academic excellence and innovation to apply.

Candidates should have the Ph.D. completed by June 2025. Application items should include: a cover letter detailing teaching experience and competencies as well as current scholarly interests; two syllabi of classes taught or planned to be taught; a curriculum vitae; three letters of recommendation; teaching evaluations accompanied by comparative or statistical context (if available); and a writing sample of only one article or chapter. We ask you to write in your cover letter about your ability to work effectively with a student population that is broadly diverse with regard to gender, race, ethnicity, nationality, sexual orientation, and religion.

We will begin to review applications on February 1st, but will consider submissions until the search is completed. All application materials should be submitted through Interfolio [apply.interfolio.com/160837]. Fax and email applications will not be accepted. Inquiries may be sent to Erin Malloy at emb8@williams.edu. All offers of employment are contingent upon completion of a background check. Further information is available here: faculty.williams.edu/prospect-faculty/background-check-policy/

Williams College is a liberal arts institution located in the Berkshire Hills of western Massachusetts. The college has built its reputation on outstanding teaching and scholarship and on the academic excellence of its approximately 2,000 students. Please visit the Williams College website (<http://www.williams.edu>) to learn more about the College and in particular its professional development resources for faculty. Beyond meeting fully its legal obligations for non-discrimination, Williams College is committed to building a diverse and inclusive community where members from all backgrounds can live, learn, and thrive, and innovation to apply.

Start Date: Summer 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 1/6/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15322

University of Missouri, Columbia

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor

The University of Missouri, Columbia is seeking a Visiting Assistant Professor to teach courses in international relations. Teaching responsibilities will include undergraduate introduction to international relations, a MA course on American foreign policy, and other related courses. The position is a non-tenure track visiting position focused on teaching courses for the MA in Defense and Strategic Studies and BA in Political Science programs for the 2025-2026 academic year.

This is a 9-month teaching and research appointment with a workload distribution of 60% teaching, 30% research, and 10% service. The teaching load will be 3 courses per semester and will include both in-person and online courses. There is a possibility for renewal for an additional year.

Qualifications

Minimum Qualifications:

A PhD in Political Science or related field by the time of appointment.

Competitive applicants will have clear ability to teach effectively at the graduate and undergraduate levels. Candidates should also have a clear research agenda, strong theoretical orientation, excellent methodological skills, ability to publish in highly ranked journals and academic presses. Applications from scholars whose research has an emphasis on any area of international relations will be considered. However, the ideal candidate will also be able to contribute to the TSGPA's MA and undergraduate minor in Defense and Strategic Studies.

Application Materials

Please apply online at: <https://hr.missouri.edu/job-openings> (Job Opening ID 54284). Use the online application and be prepared to upload your curriculum vitae, a cover letter, and writing samples. Please also provide evidence of effective teaching, as well as a teaching statement that describes your pedagogical goals/practices including information about your ability to teach undergraduate and graduate students from a variety of backgrounds and experiences. The cover letter should address teaching interests as well as current and future research. Candidates should have three letters of recommendation sent to the Truman School Director's Office at mutsgpadirector@missouri.edu.

We value the uniqueness of every individual and strive to ensure each person's success. Contributions from individuals with diverse backgrounds, experiences and perspectives promote intellectual pluralism and enable us to achieve the excellence that we seek in learning, research and engagement. This commitment makes our university a better place to work, learn and innovate. In your application materials, please discuss your experiences and expertise that support these values and enrich our missions of teaching, research, and engagement.

Applicants may contact the Chair of the Search Committee Dr. Stephen Quackenbush (quackenbush@missouri.edu) with any questions about the job duties. Contact Andrew Longley (andrew.longley@umsystem.edu) for any questions about the application process. We will begin reviewing applications on February 1, 2025, and continue until the position is filled.

The Truman School of Government and Public Affairs has 33 faculty with academic appointments in the school and houses a PhD in Political Science, a PhD in Public Affairs, a Master of Public Affairs, and a MA in Defense and Strategic Studies, as well as BA in Political Science, and a BA in Public Administration and Policy. For more information see: <https://truman.missouri.edu/>.

Benefit Eligibility

This position is eligible for University benefits. The University offers a comprehensive benefits package, including medical, dental and vision plans, retirement, and educational fee discounts. For additional information on University benefits, please visit the Faculty & Staff Benefits website at <http://www.umsystem.edu/totalrewards/benefits>.

Equal Employment Opportunity

The University of Missouri System is an Equal Opportunity Employer. Equal Opportunity is and shall be provided for all employees and applicants for employment on the basis of their demonstrated ability and competence without unlawful discrimination on the basis of their race, color, national origin, ancestry, religion, sex, pregnancy, sexual orientation, gender identity, gender expression, age, disability, or protected veteran status, or any other status protected by applicable state or federal law. This policy applies to all employment decisions including, but not limited to, recruiting, hiring, training, promotions, pay practices, benefits, disciplinary actions and terminations. For more information, visit <https://www.umsystem.edu/ums/hr/eeo>.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 12/20/2024

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 15309

George Washington University

Rank: Assistant/Associate Professor of International Affairs

Assistant/Associate Professor of International Affairs

Position Description Summary

The Security Policy Studies (SPS) Program in the Elliott School of International Affairs at the George Washington University in Washington, D.C. invites applications for the position of Assistant/Associate Professor of International Affairs and Associate Director of the SPS master's program beginning as early as Summer 2025. The initial contract period will be three years, with the potential for renewal. This is a full-time, non-tenure track faculty position.

SPS is a policy-oriented master's degree program focusing on international security issues, with a particular emphasis on 21st century security challenges and how to respond to them. Students enroll in one of our 4 concentrations: U.S. national security, transnational security, conflict resolution, and science and technology. Students take cornerstone courses in international security and security policy analysis, and other foundational courses in their field of concentration in small classes with cohort members in Fall, Spring, and Summer semesters.

The SPS Program has approximately 200 students. This faculty role of Assistant/Associate Professor will also serve as Associate Director of the SPS program, with both teaching and academic administration as central to the position. The finalist will teach classes serving the SPS core curriculum needs and will report to the SPS Program Director and to the Senior Associate Dean for Academic Affairs at the Elliott School. The finalist will work to integrate curricular offerings and activities to enhance the academic experiences of all SPS students. In addition to teaching, the position will include service responsibilities related to student recruitment, advising and oversight; curriculum design, planning, and management; recruitment and management of part-time faculty; and regular reporting and assessment of the program. They will also participate in SPS information sessions for prospective students and organize and participate in other SPS-related campus and virtual events.

The successful candidate will be expected to teach graduate courses in international security. We welcome applicants familiar with non-conventional security studies, including cybersecurity, climate security, transnational challenges, and other emerging topics. The teaching load will be 2-2.

George Washington University's culture reflects its shared values, including respect and diversity. The Elliott School recognizes that diversity and social mobility are among our country's greatest assets in engaging the rest of the world; we are deeply committed as a school to fostering an inclusive community. To this end, we encourage candidates from diverse identities, backgrounds, and experiences. We are particularly interested in receiving applications from members of underrepresented groups. The selected candidate will be expected to support inclusive excellence, including inclusive teaching. To learn more about the Elliott School's commitment to diversity, equity, and inclusion, visit elliott.gwu.edu/diversity-and-inclusion.

Specific Duties And Responsibilities

The effort breakdown for the position is 40% teaching, 40% administration/service and 20% research. The teaching component includes four graduate courses during Fall (2) and Spring (2) semesters, which will include online instruction, in-person classes, or a combination of online/in-person instruction. The courses will cover core SPS curriculum requirements. Administrative work and service includes student recruitment, advising and oversight; curriculum design, planning, and management; recruitment and management of part-time faculty; organizing curricular events; and regular reporting and assessment of the program.

Minimum Qualifications

Applicants must have excellent teaching skills as demonstrated by student evaluations, experience teaching and advising students at the graduate level, and a demonstrated commitment to equity and inclusion in the classroom. They must hold a doctorate or equivalent degree in International Relations, International Security, Political Science, or a related field by date of appointment; ABD applicants will be considered but must complete all requirements for the doctorate by date of appointment.

Advertised Salary: $95,000 - $125,000

Health Benefits: This position is eligible for full-time health benefits. For more information, please visit: <https://hr.gwu.edu/health-benefits>

Special Instructions To Applicants

To apply, please complete an online application at <https://www.gwu.jobs/postings/116282>. Applicants must submit a cover letter that includes a statement of interest in the SPS Program and discusses contributions to teaching, program management, advising, and research.

Applicants must also submit a CV; a statement of teaching objectives and methods (upload under Statement of Teaching Interest); evidence of effective teaching (upload under Course Evaluations or Summaries); DEI diversity statement (upload under Other Documents); and names of three references. Letters of recommendation are not required for application but will be requested for final candidates. Candidates who are invited for an interview will be expected to give a teaching demonstration.

Review of applications will begin on January 15, 2025 and will continue until the position is filled. Only complete applications will be considered.

?Successful Completion of a Background Screening will be required as a condition of hire.

EEO Statement: The university is an Equal Employment Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer that does not unlawfully discriminate in any of its programs or activities on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, national origin, age, disability, veteran status, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, or on any other basis prohibited by applicable law.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 1/15/2025

Date Posted: 12/12/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15286

Yale University

Rank: Identity & Conflict Lab: Postdoctoral Associate, 2025-26

The Identity & Conflict Lab (ICL) at Yale University, led by Professor Nicholas Sambanis, seeks to appoint up to two exceptional candidates as Postdoctoral Associates for the 2025-2026 academic year. This opportunity is for a one-year, full-time residential postdoctoral research fellowship, with potential to renew for one year conditional on successful performance. The appointment will begin on July 1, 2025.

Housed in the MacMillan Center for International and Area Studies, the ICL addresses a broad range of critical questions focused on inter-group conflict and identity politics. The ICL analyzes how social identities shape individual behavior, how conflict affects identities, and what interventions are effective in reducing inter-group conflict. Both violent and non-violent forms of conflict are considered, ranging from bias, discrimination, and protest to ethnic violence, secessionism and war.

Postdoctoral associates will work in one of ICL's ongoing projects in the following two thematic areas: (1) measuring norms of good citizenship across countries; (2) conducting experimental interventions to reduce native-immigrant conflict in Europe with a primary focus on Greece; and (3) analyzing sources of the escalation of foreign policy disputes. Postdoctoral associates may also be asked to contribute to projects in other areas/ongoing projects on a variety of different topics related to the broad theme of "identity and conflict." Most of the research currently in progress uses quantitative methods, with an emphasis on experimental methods. The ICL seeks to integrate substantive and methodological knowledge across the social and behavioral sciences to develop new analytical approaches and new insights into these thematic areas with a view to shaping new directions in scholarly literatures as well as influencing policy design.

Postdoctoral associates will be expected to work three days/week on ICL projects under the direction of Professor Nicholas Sambanis and can pursue their own research for the remainder of their work time.

Job responsibilities may include the following: Collect and clean data; program complex surveys in Qualtrics; prepare IRB applications; manage logistical details of field projects; prepare scripts and do-files for statistical analysis in Stata and R; prepare visualizations of quantitative data/results; draft short reports with project results; assist with the drafting of grant proposals; review/comment projects by other ICL affiliates; and co-author papers and reports with the Lab Director and affiliated faculty. Associates may be asked to contribute to the ICL Director's engagement with funders and agencies that enable the ICL's work by preparing power-point presentations of ICL projects and drafting non-technical summaries of results from different projects. Associates will also assist with preparing replication files for published studies, and help manage the ICL website and seminar series.

There is no formal teaching requirement. Associates will be asked to co-organize with the Director the ICL's annual conference or the workshop, which holds meetings throughout the year. Associates will be expected to give at least one presentation of their research at the workshop or at a graduate-level course led by the ICL Director. They would also be expected to engage with research by graduate students who are affiliated with the ICL.

The salary for this position is commensurate with experience and complies with the Yale Office of Postdoctoral Affairs compensation policy and includes a benefits package.

Qualifications

Applications are welcome from scholars who have received their Ph.D. or equivalent degrees since June 2023, or who expect to complete their degree by June 2025. Applications will be reviewed on a rolling basis starting on November 25, 2023. Applications will be received until December 15, 2024. Successful applicants will be contacted by mid-January 2025.

Successful applicants will have excellent training in quantitative methods with an emphasis on statistical analysis, survey methods and experimental methods. Excellent knowledge of the statistical software Stata and R is required as is expertise in programming surveys in Qualtrics. Applicants should have outstanding organizational and communication skills and prior experience using large databases. They should be intellectually curious, ambitious, energetic, and self-motivated; they should be able to work independently, but also as part of a team and be sensitive to the demands of multiple simultaneously ongoing projects; they should be able to multi-task and respond to feedback quickly. Applicants must be willing to travel for fieldwork if necessary. Training in behavioral economics and/or social psychology is a plus as several of the Lab's projects cross disciplinary boundaries.

Application Instructions

All application materials must be submitted online through Interfolio: <https://apply.interfolio.com/158750>

Applicants will be asked to upload a cover letter, CV/resume, one-page research statement, writing sample, and unofficial PhD transcript (only required for current graduate students). We will also ask for the name and email address of two letter writers who can submit a letter of recommendation (only references for short-listed candidates will be requested).

If you have questions, please email the ICL Director at nicholas.sambanis@yale.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 11/12/2025

Date Posted: 11/12/2024

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 15189

Lehigh UniversityRank: Bernard L. & Bertha F. Cohen Chair in International RelationsSubfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Other

Position: Bernard L. and Bertha F. Cohen Chair in International Relations

LEHIGH UNIVERSITY. The Department of International Relations invites applications for a tenured Full Professor to fill the Bernard L. and Bertha F. Cohen Chair, with an anticipated start date of July 2025. The position is open to all research and teaching specializations within the fields of international relations, foreign policy, and/or comparative politics.

Candidates must have an earned PhD in International Relations or a closely related field. The ideal candidate will have connections to the policy community in Washington, DC, and/or New York City and be able to assist students with internship placement.

Candidates are expected to have a strong commitment to undergraduate teaching and excellence in research. The individual hired will, specifically, be expected to teach courses in International Relations at the undergraduate level, engage in scholarly activities, and participate in departmental, college, and university service, as well as advise undergraduate internships.

Lehigh is among the few higher educational institutions in the US that has long had a separate department of IR. This allows students with a particular interest in international affairs to benefit from a concentrated, high-level program of study that few other schools offer.

Founded in 1865, Lehigh University has combined outstanding academic and learning opportunities with leadership in fostering innovative research. Recognized among the nation's highly-ranked research universities, Lehigh offers a rigorous academic community for over 7,500 students. Lehigh University has some 5,800 undergraduates, 1,800 graduate students, and nearly 600 full-time faculty members. Lehigh University is located in Bethlehem, PA, a vibrant and historic area. Over 840,000 people live in the Lehigh Valley, which is in close proximity to New York City and Philadelphia.

Review of applications will begin on October 11, 2024, and will continue until the position is filled. For full consideration, however, applications should be received by October 11, 2024. Applicants should submit their materials at <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajol/jobs/28335>. Candidates should submit the following materials:

Cover letter

Curriculum vitae

Research statement that describes past scholarly contributions and future research directions

Teaching statement that describes instructional philosophy and courses that the candidate would want to teach or develop

Name and contact information for three references

A statement on contributions to diversity, equity, and inclusion (DEI) that describes knowledge, prior DEI experience, and the candidate's future plans for enhancing community and culture at Lehigh (the Lehigh ADVANCE Center's guide for understanding and preparing such statements is available here)

All inquiries regarding the search should be directed to Ms. Edann Brady at emb703@lehigh.edu or 610-758-3390.

Start Date: Fall 2025Application Deadline: Open until FilledDate Posted: 9/6/2024Salary: Above $159,999eJobs ID: 14800Washington University in St. Louis*Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science in the field of International Relations

The Department of Political Science at Washington University in St. Louis invite applications for a tenure-track faculty appointment in international relations. The appointment is at the rank of Assistant Professor to begin in the fall semester of 2025. A Ph.D. in Political Science or a closely related field is required at the time of appointment. Duties will include teaching assigned courses, conducting research, writing for publication, advising students, participating in department and program governance, and university service.

Application materials should include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, statement of research and teaching interests, at least three letters of reference, writing samples, and other relevant materials.

Applications received before September 15, 2024 will receive full consideration. Consideration after that date will be at the discretion of the search committee. All applications and supporting documentation should be submitted electronically through Interfolio at <https://apply.interfolio.com/151783>. If you encounter difficulties with the application process or have any additional questions, please email Amanda Nutter (nutter@wustl.edu).

Start Date: Summer 2025Application Deadline: Open until FilledDate Posted: 8/13/2024Salary: CompetitiveeJobs ID: 14625Yale University*Rank: Assistant/Associate/Full Professor, International Relations, Comparative Politics, and Political Economy

The Department of Political Science at Yale University is seeking to hire several faculty members at the rank of Assistant, Associate, or Full Professor with an appointment in the fields of Comparative Politics, Political Economy, and/or International Relations, beginning July 1, 2025. Suitable candidates may also be hired jointly with the Jackson School of Global Affairs, in which case faculty will be expected to share their teaching and service obligations between both the Political Science Department and the Jackson School of Global Affairs. This search includes additional resources in two targeted areas within this broader search area. The first is for an assistant professor with expertise in African Politics, who will teach at least one course cross-listed with, and contribute to, Yale's Council on African Studies. The second is for a candidate who works on Environmental Politics, jointly appointed with the Jackson School of Global Affairs. Candidates will be expected to teach undergraduate and graduate courses in areas of political science commensurate with their expertise. Candidates jointly appointed with Jackson will also teach courses in Jackson's undergraduate and graduate curriculum. If candidates are appointed at the untenured level, the initial appointment will be for 5 years. The teaching expectation is normally 3 courses per academic year.

Qualifications

Ph.D. or equivalent degree required at time of hire.

Application Instructions

All applications must include a cover letter and CV. Untenured candidates should also supply 3 recommendation letters, 2 writing samples, and separate short (2 pages or less) research and teaching statements. All materials should be uploaded to Interfolio at <http://apply.interfolio.com/151662>. Review of applications will begin September 15, 2024 (or 30 days after posting, whichever is later), and to guarantee full consideration your file should be complete by this date.

Please contact Xaria Callender, Sr. Administrative Assistant for the Political Science Department, at xaria.callender@yale.edu if you have questions about the application process.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 8/7/2025

Date Posted: 8/12/2024

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 14619

Yale University

Rank: Assistant/Associate/Full Professor, South Asian Politics

The Department of Political Science at Yale University is seeking to hire a faculty member with expertise in South Asian Politics at the rank of Assistant, Associate, or Full Professor, beginning July 1, 2025. A successful applicant should focus on substantive questions in any major subfield(s) of political science, with reference to the domestic and/or international politics of one or more of the following countries: Afghanistan, Bangladesh, Bhutan, India, Nepal, Pakistan, and Sri Lanka. Expected teaching, commensurate with the candidate's expertise, will be in South Asian Politics. If candidates are appointed at the untenured level, the initial appointment will be for 5 years. The teaching expectation is normally 3 courses per academic year.

Qualifications

Ph.D. or equivalent degree required at time of hire.

Application Instructions

All applications must include a cover letter and CV. Untenured candidates should also supply 3 recommendation letters, 2 writing samples, and separate short (2 pages or less) research and teaching statements. All materials should be uploaded to Interfolio at <http://apply.interfolio.com/151100>. Review of applications will begin September 15, 2024, and to guarantee full consideration your file should be complete by this date.

Please contact Xaria Callender, Sr. Administrative Assistant for the Political Science Department, at xaria.callender@yale.edu if you have questions about the application process.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 8/7/2025

Date Posted: 8/12/2024

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 14620

Yale University

Rank: Associate/Full Professor, International/Global History, International Relations

Specializations: International Law & Organizations, International Political Economy, International Security

Description

Yale University seeks applicants with expertise in the field of international/global history or international relations for a tenured faculty position at the Associate or Full Professor level, to begin 1 July 2025.

The successful candidate will receive a fully joint appointment in the Jackson School of Global Affairs and either the Faculty of Arts and Sciences' Department of History or its Department of Political Science. The appointee will be expected to teach courses in international relations or international/global history and share their teaching and service obligations between both the Jackson School and the Faculty of Arts and Sciences.

Qualifications

The appointee must hold a Ph.D. or equivalent degree in a directly related field by the time of hire.

Application Instructions

Application materials include a cover letter, CV, research statement, teaching statement and writing sample. Materials should be uploaded to Interfolio at <http://apply.interfolio.com/147211>.

Review of applications will begin on September 15, 2024 and to guarantee full consideration your file should be complete by this date.

Please contact Larisa Satara at larisa.satara@yale.edu if you have questions regarding the position or application process.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 6/10/2025

Date Posted: 6/10/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14405

Universidad Torcuato Di Tella

Rank: Assistant Professor, Associate Professor

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Methodology

The Department of Political Science and International Studies at Universidad Torcuato Di Tella (UTDT) seeks candidates for two tenure-track assistant professor positions in Comparative Politics and International Relations, with an expected (but negotiable) start date of March 2025. Very strong candidates at the associate level will also be considered. We are open with respect to substantive subfield, theoretical orientation, and methodological approach. Regional expertise in regions other than Latin America (e.g., East, South, or Southeast Asia, Western or Eastern Europe, the Middle East or North America) is a plus, as is the ability to teach courses on research design, data science/statistics, and/or causal inference. Candidates are expected to demonstrate a strong commitment to research and to teaching and mentoring students. The teaching load is three courses per year. Most courses are taught in Spanish, although a growing number are offered in English. The position includes a research fund and a year's sabbatical (at full salary) every six years.

Duties will include teaching assigned courses in Comparative Politics and/or International Relations at both the undergraduate and graduate levels, conducting research, writing for publication in high-quality academic venues, advising students, participating in department governance, and university service.

Qualifications: Ph.D. in Political Science or related disciplines (ABD candidates will also be considered) and a demonstrated record of excellence in research and teaching. Proficiency in both Spanish and English is required. Questions should be directed to Professor Carlos Gervasoni, Chair of the Department of Political Science and International Studies, at cgervasoni@utdt.edu.

To apply please visit https://utdt.hiringroom.com/jobs/get_vacancy/665727a62994ec85980166a0, by August 30, 2024 (applications received after this date will continue to be reviewed until the positions are filled). The required documents include a cover letter, CV, a research statement, a teaching statement, a writing sample, and the names and email addresses of 3 references (letters of reference will be required of short-listed finalists).

Universidad Torcuato Di Tella is a private research university located in Buenos Aires, Argentina. Our Department is consistently ranked as one of the best in Latin America in terms of reputation and research excellence. Our guiding principles are academic excellence, pluralism of ideas and equal opportunity. UTDT is committed to creating a diverse community of students, faculty, and staff, following the principles of equal opportunity and treatment in education and employment, regardless of national origin, race, color, ethnicity, religion, political ideology, age, sex, sexual orientation, or gender identity. The university encourages applications of individuals from historically underrepresented groups who will further enrich the diversity of our educational community. We welcome applications from all nationalities. Approximately 25% of the Department's research professors are foreigners. For further information about Universidad Torcuato Di Tella and our department, please visit: <https://www.utdt.edu/>.

Start Date: Spring 2025

Application Deadline: 8/30/2024

Date Posted: 6/5/2024

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 14404

METHODOLOGY

University of Southern California

Rank: Open Rank Tenure Track Faculty Position

The Department of Political Science and International Relations (POIR) in the Dana and David Dornsife College of Letters, Arts and Sciences at the University of Southern California (USC) in Los Angeles invites applications for a tenure-track or tenured position in American Politics as part of a major hiring initiative.

We seek candidates with a strong substantive research program in any domain of American politics, whose work advances theoretical and empirical research on important questions in their subfield.

Candidates are expected to have strong methodological training, and their methodological skills, ability to advise graduate students on methodological issues and teach graduate classes in the Department's core methods sequence will be a consideration. A strong commitment to undergraduate and graduate education is also expected.

The candidate must have completed a Ph.D. by the appointment date. Review of applications will start March 24, 2025 and will continue until the position is filled.

In order to be considered for this position, applicants are required to submit an electronic USC application; follow this job link or paste in a browser: <https://uscareers.usc.edu/job/los-angeles/open-rank-faculty-position-in-american-politics/1209/77699335312>. Required materials for upload include a CV, letter of interest, sample research paper(s), statement of research interests, evidence of teaching effectiveness, the names of three individuals who will be contacted by USC for a letter of reference, and official graduate transcripts. Send inquiries to poir@usc.edu. Materials submitted by regular mail will not be accepted.

The annual base salary range for this position is $100,510 - $281,400. When extending an offer of employment, the University of Southern California considers factors such as (but not limited to) the scope and responsibilities of the position, the candidate's work experience, education/training, key skills, internal peer equity, federal, state and local laws, contractual stipulations, grant funding, as well as external market and organizational considerations.

USC is an equal-opportunity educator and employer, proudly pluralistic and firmly committed to providing equal opportunity for outstanding persons of every race, gender, creed and background. The University particularly encourages women, members of underrepresented groups, veterans and individuals with disabilities to apply. USC will make reasonable accommodations for qualified individuals with known disabilities unless doing so would result in an undue hardship. Further information is available by contacting uschr@usc.edu.

USC will consider for employment all qualified applicants with criminal records in a manner consistent with applicable laws and regulations, including the Los Angeles County Fair Chance Ordinance for employers and the Fair Chance Initiative for Hiring Ordinance, and with due consideration for patient and student safety. Please refer to the Background Screening Policy Appendix D for specific employment screen implications for the position for which you are applying.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 3/11/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15504

St. Olaf College

Rank: Assistant Professor in American Politics

Subfield(s): Methodology, International Relations, Comparative Politics

The Department of Political Science at St. Olaf College invites applications for a full-time, one-year position in methodology and an additional subfield (American, international relations, comparative, or political theory) at the level of Visiting Instructor or Assistant Professor, to begin August 2025. This position has the potential for additional years of reappointment.

The teaching load will be six courses during the year, including three sections of political science research methodology and three sections reflecting the candidate's interests and expertise. The successful candidate will be able to offer instruction in quantitative and qualitative methods and explain how these methods contribute to a broad and rigorous liberal arts education. While additional expertise in international relations is preferred, expertise in American, comparative, or political theory will be considered.

Qualifications

A Ph.D. in Political Science or a related field completed by the start of the fall semester is preferred, but ABD candidates will be considered.

About the Department

We are a collegial department, with two faculty members teaching regularly in each of the four subfields. We are committed to supporting our colleagues in their pursuit of creative and thoughtful pedagogy and rigorous scholarship. For more information about the department, visit wp.stolaf.edu/poli-sci/.

How to Apply

Submit application at: https://fa-ewur-saasfaprod1.fa.ocs.oraclecloud.com/hcmUI/CandidateExperience/en/sites/CX_3/job/1824

A complete application includes the following:

References: Provide contact information for three professional references who can speak to your abilities in teaching and scholarship.

Supporting Documents and URLs:

Cover letter outlining your qualifications and why you are interested in this particular position

Curriculum vitae

Graduate transcripts (unofficial)

Evidence of Teaching Excellence

Review of applications will begin immediately and will continue until the position is filled. Questions about the position, department, or college may be directed to the Department Chair, Douglas Casson, at casson@stolaf.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 2/19/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15442

Washington University in St. Louis

Rank: Weidenbaum Center Postdoctoral Fellowship

We are pleased to announce a new Postdoctoral Fellowship in Survey Research through the Weidenbaum Center. This fellowship allows new Ph.D.s and early career scholars the opportunity to contribute to cutting-edge research using high-quality survey data collected by the Weidenbaum Center. This fellowship is uniquely situated at the intersection of academic and public-facing scholarship, allowing the fellow to pursue a multitude of career paths, contribute to research that directly affects important issues in American politics, and increase visibility of their research.

The Weidenbaum Center at Washington University in St. Louis invites applications from recent Ph.D. graduates for a one-year postdoctoral fellowship. The fellowship will run for 12 months, starting on or around July 1, 2025, with the possibility of a one-year renewal.

The Weidenbaum Center has supported survey data collection efforts through The American Panel Survey (TAPS), The American Social Survey (TASS), and the Weidenbaum Center Survey (WCS). The Center's most recent efforts have focused on the launch of the WCS, which is fielded three times each year, includes a sample of 3,000 respondents (2,000 general US adult population and oversample of 1,000 African Americans), with each survey paired with voter file data and web-tracking data for a subset of respondents. For more information on survey work supported by the Center, please visit: <https://wc.wustl.edu/weidenbaum-center-survey-work>.

The Fellow will work collaboratively with Taylor Carlson, graduate student fellows, and other Weidenbaum Center affiliates to support the launch of the Weidenbaum Center Survey and other data collection efforts through the Center. The Fellow will assist with the launch of an online dashboard that allows people to analyze and download the survey data, write public-facing reports describing key findings from the data, draft survey instruments, create publicly available data repositories, and conduct both coauthored and independent academic research.

We are seeking an individual with social science research interests who will advance the Center's mission by engaging in collaborative and independent research and who will enjoy the opportunity to contribute to public scholarship (blog posts, reports, website graphics). We are especially interested in candidates with training in survey methodology and experience with public-facing scholarship (e.g., op-eds). Candidates should detail their experience in these areas in their cover letters and showcase any of these interests in the writing sample. We anticipate that the Fellow will spend most of their time working on Center-related and coauthored projects with Taylor Carlson and other Center affiliates.

Qualifications

We invite applications from qualified candidates who will have a PhD in hand by the time of the appointment, are no more than four years from the granting of their Ph.D. at the time of the submission, and who do not yet hold tenure-track academic positions.

Applications are evaluated against a broad set of criteria with special consideration given to contributions the candidate can make to academic diversity in our University community and more specifically to the study of survey methodology or addressing contemporary issues in American society with survey data.

Application Instructions

Proposal Submission Deadline: We will begin reviewing applications on February 7 and anticipate scheduling Zoom interviews as early as late February.

Proposal Format:

Applications should include the following:

- Cover letter
- Curriculum vitae
- Research statement not to exceed 2000 words describing the dissertation project and other research
- Writing sample
- Three letters of reference

- The cover letter should be addressed to Taylor Carlson

NOTE: Please apply through Interfolio: <https://apply.interfolio.com/161709>

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 1/15/2025

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 15339

Washington University in St. Louis

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science in the field of Formal Theory

The Department of Political Science at Washington University in St. Louis invite applications for a tenure-track appointment in formal theory. The appointment is at the rank of Assistant Professor to begin in the fall semester of 2025. A Ph.D. in Political Science or a closely related field is required at the time of appointment. Duties will include teaching assigned courses, conducting research, writing for publication, advising students, participating in department and program governance, and university service.

Application materials should include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, statement of research and teaching interests, at least three letters of reference, writing samples, and other relevant materials.

Applications received before September 15, 2024 will receive full consideration. Consideration after that date will be at the discretion of the search committee. All applications and supporting documentation should be submitted electronically through Interfolio at <https://apply.interfolio.com/151776>. If you encounter difficulties with the application process or have any additional questions, please email Amanda Nutter (nutter@wustl.edu).

Start Date: Summer 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/13/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14624

Washington University in St. Louis

Rank: Open Rank Professor of Political Science in the field of Environmental Politics

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, Methodology

The Department of Political Science at Washington University in St. Louis and the Environmental Studies Program invite applications for a tenure-track faculty appointment in the area of Environmental Politics at the rank of assistant professor, associate professor, or professor. The appointment is to begin in the fall semester of 2025. A Ph.D. in Political Science or a closely related field is required at the time of appointment. Candidates for the rank of associate or full professor should have an outstanding academic record of research, publication teaching, and service commensurate with tenure at that rank. Duties will include teaching assigned courses, conducting research, writing for publication, advising students, participating in department and program governance, and university service.

Application materials should include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, statement of research and teaching interests, at least three letters of reference, writing samples, and other relevant materials.

Applications received before September 15, 2024 will receive full consideration. Consideration after that date will be at the discretion of the search committee. All applications and supporting documentation should be submitted electronically through Interfolio at apply.interfolio.com/151775. If you encounter difficulties with the application process or have any additional questions, please email Amanda Nutter (nutter@wustl.edu).

Start Date: Summer 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/13/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14628

Universidad Torcuato Di Tella

Rank: Assistant Professor, Associate Professor

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Methodology

The Department of Political Science and International Studies at Universidad Torcuato Di Tella (UTDT) seeks candidates for two tenure-track assistant professor positions in Comparative Politics and International Relations, with an expected (but negotiable) start date of March 2025. Very strong candidates at the associate level will also be considered. We are open with respect to substantive subfield, theoretical orientation, and methodological approach. Regional expertise in regions other than Latin America (e.g., East, South, or Southeast Asia, Western or Eastern Europe, the Middle East or North America) is a plus, as is the ability to teach courses on research design, data science/statistics, and/or causal inference. Candidates are expected to demonstrate a strong commitment to research and to teaching and mentoring students. The teaching load is three courses per year. Most courses are taught in Spanish, although a growing number are offered in English. The position includes a research fund and a year's sabbatical (at full salary) every six years.

Duties will include teaching assigned courses in Comparative Politics and/or International Relations at both the undergraduate and graduate levels, conducting research, writing for publication in high-quality academic venues, advising students, participating in department governance, and university service.

Qualifications: Ph.D. in Political Science or related disciplines (ABD candidates will also be considered) and a demonstrated record of excellence in research and teaching. Proficiency in both Spanish and English is required. Questions should be directed to Professor Carlos Gervasoni, Chair of the Department of Political Science and International Studies, at cgervasoni@utdt.edu.

To apply please visit https://utdt.hiringroom.com/jobs/get_vacancy/665727a62994ec85980166a0, by August 30, 2024 (applications received after this date will continue to be reviewed until the positions are filled). The required documents include a cover letter, CV, a research statement, a teaching statement, a writing sample, and the names and email addresses of 3 references (letters of reference will be required of short-listed finalists).

Universidad Torcuato Di Tella is a private research university located in Buenos Aires, Argentina. Our Department is consistently ranked as one of the best in Latin America in terms of reputation and research excellence. Our guiding principles are academic excellence, pluralism of ideas and equal opportunity. UTDT is committed to creating a diverse community of students, faculty, and staff, following the principles of equal opportunity and treatment in education and employment, regardless of national origin, race, color, ethnicity, religion, political ideology, age, sex, sexual orientation, or gender identity. The university encourages applications of individuals from historically underrepresented groups who will further enrich the diversity of our educational community. We welcome applications from all nationalities. Approximately 25% of the Department's research professors are foreigners. For further information about Universidad Torcuato Di Tella and our department, please visit: <https://www.utdt.edu/>.

Start Date: Spring 2025

Application Deadline: 8/30/2024

Date Posted: 6/5/2024

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 14404

NON-ACADEMIC

OPEN

Western University

Rank: Canada Excellence Research Chair (CERC) Positions, Western University

CANADA EXCELLENCE RESEARCH CHAIR POSITIONS

Western University (London, Canada) invites world-leading researchers to apply for one of several prestigious Canada Excellence Research Chair (CERC) opportunities.

Launched in 2008, the CERC Program supports Canadian universities in their efforts to build upon Canada's reputation as a global leader in research and innovation and to attract world-renowned researchers to Canada. The awards are among the most prestigious and generous available globally. The program stands at the centre of our national strategy to foster research excellence in Canada and improve the depth of knowledge and quality of life, strengthen Canada's international competitiveness, and to help train the next generation of highly skilled people. The awards provide an opportunity for international researchers, including Canadian expatriates wishing to relocate to Canada, to lead a prestigious research program at Western and to contribute to Canada's excellence in research and innovation.

The CERC nomination is a two-stage process where applicants first apply to this job posting. Successful applicants then work with our institution to submit a nomination to the 2026 CERC competition. The university will support successful nominees throughout the development of their applications. Following a highly competitive selection process, the CERC program awards successful researchers and their teams either $8 million or $4 million over 8 years to establish ambitious research programs at the nominating university. There are two award values to recognize the varying costs of research within different research disciplines and to be inclusive of all areas of research.

Research Alignment

Western anticipates nominating up to three candidates for CERC positions, based on award value. Applications from outstanding established scholars are welcomed in the following seven areas, with at most one nomination to be selected from a given area:

(1) Infectious Disease Epidemiology and Public Health Interventions

(2) Neuroscience and Brain Health

(3) Multi-Hazard Resilient Infrastructure

(4) Smart Infrastructure Technologies

(5) Electrochemistry and Materials Degradation

(6) Earth and Space Exploration – Astromaterials

(7) Political Polarization.

Please see the full job description available at this website: <https://www.uwo.ca/facultyrelations/careers/CERC-2026-Job-Ad-May-8.pdf>

How to Apply

Applications will be reviewed by a multi-disciplinary committee and must include the following:

1. Completed Canada Excellence Research Chair Application.
2. Cover letter that also identifies which of the seven areas align with your research.
3. Detailed curriculum vitae.
4. A plan identifying the proposed research program, including how you embed equity, diversity, and inclusion principles in your research. (Maximum five pages)
5. Highlights of your most significant contributions to your field, including how they have led to societal benefits, and how they connect with your research plan. (Maximum two pages)
6. A statement of your teaching and mentoring philosophies. (Maximum two pages)
7. The names and email addresses of three references.

The application should be submitted as a single PDF file to: cerc2026@groups.uwo.ca

This ad will be posted on Western's Faculty Relations website on May 8, 2025 and will be posted for a minimum of 30 days. Review of applications will begin on June 9, 2025, and continue until the nominations are filled.

Positions are subject to budget approval. Applicants should have fluent written and oral communication skills in English.

The University invites applications from all qualified individuals. Western is committed to employment equity and diversity in the workplace and welcomes applications from women, members of racialized groups, Indigenous peoples, persons with disabilities, persons of any sexual orientation and persons of any gender identity or gender expression.

Western, like many postsecondary institutions in Canada, is moving beyond the sole reliance upon Indigenous self-identification in hiring designated Indigenous roles to safeguard against use of incorrect, incomplete, or misleading information regarding claims of Indigenous identity. Indigenous candidates who are invited for an interview will be asked to have their claim to Indigenous membership or citizenship (First Nations, Métis, and Inuit) affirmed through a relational accountability process, led by the Office of Indigenous Initiatives (OII), that is consistent with Indigenous ways of knowing, being, and doing. Please contact the OII directly for details on the affirmation processes: <https://indigenous.uwo.ca/>.

Accommodations are available for applicants with disabilities throughout the application and recruitment process. If you require accommodations, please contact Sherri Castrilli at cerc2026@groups.uwo.ca.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 5/27/2025

Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 15593

University College Dublin

Rank: UCD Post-doctoral Research Fellow Level 1 or 2, School of Politics and International Relations, 12 months

Specializations: Developing Nations, Economic Policy, Gender Politics & Policy

Applications are invited for a 12 months temporary post of a UCD Post doctoral Research Fellow Level 1 or 2 within School of Politics and International Relations.

Empowering Malawian Women Farmers through Precision Agriculture and Market E-Linkages EMPOWER-ME is an interdisciplinary research project supported by the Research Ireland and Irish Aid SFI Future Innovator Prize: 24 FIP SDG 13388. The project tackles gender disparities in agricultural productivity by designing and piloting gender-responsive, site-specific digital agricultural technologies DATs tailored for smallholder women farmers in Malawi. Through a mixed-methods research design-combining household surveys, focus group discussions, key informant interviews, and on-farm agronomic trials-the project aims to deliver scalable solutions that enhance women's access to agronomic advice, soil testing, and market linkages. EMPOWER-ME is jointly led by University College Dublin UCD, the International Institute for Tropical Agriculture IITA-Malawi, and NASFAM, Malawi's largest farmer organisation, with support from other strategic partners in Ireland and Malawi.

Postdoctoral Researcher 2017 Level I - 7097 - €45,847 - €52,339 per annum

Appointment on the above range will be dependent upon qualifications and experience.

Postdoctoral Researcher 2017 Level II - 7098 Fixed Salary: €53,770 per annum

Closing date: 12:00 noon (local Irish time) on 06th June 2025

For further information on the application process and to read the full Job Descriptions, please go to www.ucd.ie/workatucd/jobs and search under External Applicants and the School of Politics and International Relations

The PD1 position is intended for early stage researchers, either just after completion of a PhD or for someone entering a new area for the first time. If you have already completed your PD1 stage in UCD or will soon complete a PD1, or you are an external applicant whose total Postdoctoral experience, inclusive of the duration of the advertised post, would exceed 4 years, you should not apply and should refer to PD2 posts instead.

The PD2 post is intended for researchers that have completed PD1. As with the PD1, if you have already completed your PD2 stage in UCD or will soon complete a PD2, or your total Postdoctoral experience, inclusive of the duration of the advertised post, would exceed 6 years, you should not apply and should refer to Research Fellow posts instead.

Start Date: Fall 2025
Application Deadline: 6/6/2025
Date Posted: 5/21/2025

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999
eJobs ID: 15585

University College Dublin

Rank: UCD Post-doctoral Research Fellow Level 1, UCD School of Politics and International Relations, Temporary 24 months

Applications are invited for a temporary post of a UCD Post-doctoral Research Fellow Level 1 within UCD School of Politics and International Relations.

We are seeking a postdoctoral researcher in Political Normativity to contribute to the European Research Council Project, Moral Agency in Election Campaigns (ELECT – 2023-2028). Candidates should be trained in moral and political philosophy or other approaches to normative research and, ideally, they will have experience with or training in qualitative methods.

The position is scheduled to start in September 2025, but this is negotiable.

The ELECT project aims to understand the normative attitudes of key actors in the electoral process and the values that play a role in their decision-making processes, how those attitudes and values are shaped by different institutional and regulatory contexts, and the consequences of this for democratic norms and political trust. To this end, four agents in the electoral context are studied in four countries: candidates, campaign professionals, journalists and citizens in Germany, Italy, the UK and the USA. Surveys, interviews and focus groups are central to the data collection.

The postdoctoral researcher will join the project team in its third year, after most of the empirical data has been collected. Their central role will be to help analyse the qualitative data from the perspective of key themes in moral and political philosophy or other relevant normative lenses, identify normative issues that arise and prescribe normative solutions that are responsive to how the electoral actors experience their moral agency. The researcher will also be involved in the design and delivery of other data yet to be collected, such as citizen focus groups, as well as the analysis of this data.

Application materials:

Cover letter (max 2 pages), Including Writing sample (publication or work in progress, max 12,000 words)

CV (max 2 pages)

Fixed Salary: €45,847 Per Annum

Closing date: 12:00 noon (local Irish time) on the 9th of June 2025.

For further information on the application process and to read the full Job Descriptions, please go to www.ucd.ie/workatucd/jobs and search under External Applicants and the School of Politics and International Relations

Start Date: Fall 2025
Application Deadline: 6/9/2025
Date Posted: 5/21/2025
Salary: $50,000 - $59,999
eJobs ID: 15586

Augustana UniversityRank: Visiting Assistant ProfessorSubfield(s): International Relations, Political Theory, Open

Job Title: Visiting Assistant Professor

Position Type: Full-Time

Department: Government and International Affairs

The Department of Government and International Affairs at Augustana University invites applications for a one-year Visiting Assistant Professor position. The effective start date is August 20, 2025.

Responsibilities:

The successful applicant will demonstrate a strong commitment to teaching excellence in a liberal arts environment. The position involves teaching seven courses each academic year: three courses per semester, with an additional course during the three-week Interim term in January. We seek a scholar who can contribute to our efforts to enhance the variety and international content of our upper-level course offerings, as well as offer sections of our Introduction to Government courses taught within the general education curriculum. We are open to scholars approaching these tasks from the standpoint of international relations, political theory and/or law.

Qualifications:

A Ph.D. completed by August 1, 2025 is strongly preferred, with evidence of teaching excellence expected.

Interacting with students, faculty and leadership from diverse backgrounds and perspectives, along with a deep appreciation and respect for academic principles and culture, must be a top value of the candidate.

Application Procedure:

Review of applications will begin immediately and continue until the position has been filled. Interested applicants are asked to submit the below application materials in one document to our career center portal. If assistance is needed in the application process, please reach out to humanresources@augie.edu. Official website: augie.edu. Questions may be directed to Dr. Emily Wanless, department chair, at ewanless@augie.edu.

*Letter of interest

*Curriculum vitae

*Statement of teaching philosophy

*Evidence of teaching effectiveness

*Phone numbers and email addresses of three current professional references

Augustana University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action/Title IX Employer. Applicants must comply with the Immigration Reform and Control Act and may be required to submit official transcripts upon employment. Finalist candidates must satisfactorily complete a pre-employment background check.

About Augustana University:

Located in the growing and vibrant city of Sioux Falls, South Dakota, Augustana University has, for more than 160 years, provided a strong student-centric education based on its five core values: Christian faith, liberal arts, excellence, community, and service. The institution continues to expand its pre-professional and graduate offerings, while remaining true to its liberal arts tradition. Guided by the Viking Bold: Journey to 2030 strategic plan, Augustana seeks to grow its enrollment from just over 1,900 students to more than 3,000 undergraduate and graduate students.

Start Date: Fall 2025Application Deadline: Open until FilledDate Posted: 5/20/2025Salary: CompetitiveeJobs ID: 15584Washington University in St. Louis*Rank: WASHINGTON UNIVERSITY IN ST. LOUIS–Professor- Ordered Liberty Project

Washington University invites applications for multiple endowed professorships from tenured faculty whose research and teaching engage with the principles of classical liberalism, including the rule of law, free markets, regulatory reform, and government accountability. We seek scholars with a strong record of rigorous research, employing advanced doctrinal or empirical methods to explore fundamental questions related to democratic governance, private ordering, individual liberties, economic regulation, and the institutional foundations of a free society. This search is open to tenured scholars across disciplines, including but not limited to law, economics, political science, sociology, philosophy, and business. Appointments will be made at the rank of Full Professor and begin as early as the spring semester of 2026.

Qualifications

For a law appointment, a JD (or the equivalent international credential), JSD, or Ph.D. is required at the time of appointment. For an appointment outside of law, a Ph.D. in a relevant field is required at the time of appointment. Duties will include teaching assigned courses, conducting research, writing for publication, advising students, participating in department governance, and university service.

Application Instructions

Application materials should include a cover letter that addresses how their research and teaching align with the goals of the search and indicates the department they would most like to join. Applications should also include a CV and a list of references. Materials should be submitted via Interfolio.

Consideration of applications will begin May 1 and will be considered on a rolling basis.

Please apply via Interfolio: <https://apply.interfolio.com/166960>

Start Date:Application Deadline: Open until FilledDate Posted: 5/15/2025Salary: CompetitiveeJobs ID: 15582National University of Singapore*Rank: Assistant Professor in Political ScienceSubfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Open

Assistant Professor in Political Science

The Department of Political Science at the National University of Singapore invites application for one full-time tenure-track position in Political Science at the rank of Assistant Professor. We welcome applications from candidates working in all subfields, including but not limited to international relations (including non-traditional security and human security), international political economy, gender politics, global studies, and governance and public policy. We also encourage applications from candidates with research experience relating to Asia and whose backgrounds are traditionally underrepresented in the discipline.

The teaching load is three courses per academic year. Compensation is competitive and includes eligibility for annual performance bonus and salary increment, subsidized housing, medical benefits, and substantial research support. Successful candidates are expected to teach graduate and undergraduate classes and take a leading role in developing new departmental initiatives. Candidates with publications in top outlets who conduct innovative and impactful research using, eg, computational methods, may also be invited to apply for the Presidential Young Professorship. <https://www.nus.edu.sg/careers/nus-programmes/>

The Department of Political Science (<http://www.fas.nus.edu.sg/pol/>) includes scholars working in all areas of political science, as well as an interdisciplinary Global Studies programme examining the processes and effects of globalisation across political, economic, social, and cultural domains (<https://fass.nus.edu.sg/globalstudies>). Faculty and students can take advantage of resources in the Asia Research Institute, the Lee Kuan Yew School of Public Policy, and various research institutes including the Asia-Europe Foundation, the Institute of South Asian Studies, the East Asia Institute, and the Yusof Ishak Institute—Institute of Southeast Asian Studies among others. NUS (<http://www.nus.edu.sg/>) is a global leader in research and higher education. Singapore is a highly livable global city that is a major regional and international travel hub.

Interested applicants are invited to apply directly at our NUS Career Portal: https://careers.nus.edu.sg/job/Assistant-Professor-in-Political-Science/28742-en_GB/.

Applicants should submit the following documents:

1. Cover letter clearly detailing their research and teaching interests.
2. Curriculum vitae.
3. Three letters of reference. Please send all letters directly to pol-ir@nus.edu.sg.
4. A research statement of no more than 2 pages stating your research interests and research plans for the next 3 years.
5. A teaching statement of no more than 2 pages, as well as sample syllabi, teaching evaluations, and/or other evidence of teaching quality.
6. Up to three writing samples

For full consideration, please submit your materials to this website by 1 July 2025. Applications received after this date may still be considered until the position is filled.

For any queries, please write to: pol-ir@nus.edu.sg.

Please note that only short-listed candidates will be notified.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 5/13/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15580

Yale University

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Associate

Position Description

Professor Hélène Landemore seeks a postdoctoral research associate for a one-year, full-time appointment beginning July 1, 2025. Professor Landemore seeks someone capable of helping her conduct research on the ethics and politics of Artificial Intelligence. The research associate will work on various editorial projects (books, articles, edited volumes) and help professor Landemore organize conferences and workshops. Job responsibilities will be tailored to the strengths of the successful applicant.

Qualifications

A background in political theory/philosophy is preferred; additional background in computer science, engineering, or economics would be a plus. Excellent organizational skills and editorial experience are essential. Project management experience is a plus. PhD or equivalent degree at time of hire is required. Salary is negotiable.

Application Instructions

Applications should include the following:

- A cover letter indicating your interest in the Post-doctoral Fellowship
- CV
- One scholarly writing sample (in English)
- PhD program transcript
- Two letters of recommendation (uploaded by letter writers in interfolio)
- The review process will begin April 1, 2025.

<http://apply.interfolio.com/164436>

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 3/8/2026

Date Posted: 3/8/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15497

University of Rochester

Rank: Political Science, Philosophy, and Economics Instructional Track

Political Science, Philosophy, and Economics

The University of Rochester's Department of Political Science invites applications from candidates for a full-time, instructional-track position that is open with regard to rank, starting July 1, 2025. The initial appointment is for one year with subsequent reappointment on a four-year cycle, conditional on a successful first year. The position involves a mix of teaching and administrative responsibilities, which will contribute broadly to undergraduate training in political science, and will support our major in Politics, Philosophy, and Economics (PPE).

We seek candidates who can contribute to teaching in a selection of the following areas: political philosophy, constitutional law, environmental policy, public economics, and race and ethnic politics. Qualified candidates must be able to teach two required courses for the PPE major: a 4-credit seminar course (Politics, Philosophy, and Economics: How to Change the World), and a 2-credit student-paper presentation seminar. Teaching responsibilities will be four 4-credit courses and the one 2-credit course, for a total of 4.5 courses, each academic year.

Administrative duties consist of being part of our advising team (including major declarations and degree audits for majors run by the department), with special responsibility for the PPE major. The administrative duties will be the equivalent of 1.5 courses over the academic year.

The position is open to candidates from diverse intellectual backgrounds, including economics, law, philosophy, political science, and public policy.

Salary: $70,000-$80,000. The referenced pay range represents the full base range of pay for this job. Individual salaries will be determined within the job's salary range and established based on market data, experience and expertise of the individual, and internal equity considerations.

All applications should include a letter of interest, curriculum vitae, teaching statement, three letters of recommendation, and sample syllabi (if available). Candidates without a prior academic appointment should include a graduate transcript.

The University of Rochester is firmly committed to advancing equity and fostering an inclusive and diverse community. We ask candidates to include a statement discussing the ways in which their experiences will shape their pursuits as a member of our faculty and help them add to the University's core values of Meliora (ever better).

Materials should be submitted online at: www.rochester.edu/faculty-recruiting. For more information on the University of Rochester Political Science Department, go to: <http://www.sas.rochester.edu/psc/>. We will begin reviewing applications in March 2025.

The University of Rochester is an Equal Opportunity Employer with a strong commitment to diversity, and actively encourages applications from candidates from groups underrepresented in higher education.

EOE / Minorities / Females / Protected Veterans / Disabled

Start Date: 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 2/17/2025

Salary: $70,000 - $79,999

eJobs ID: 15435

University of South Carolina

Rank: Professional Track Instructor

The Department of Political Science at the University of South Carolina seeks applications for a full-time instructor position to begin August 16, 2025. Area of specialization is open, but the successful candidate will be able to teach Introduction to Global Politics, Introduction to Politics, and/or American National Government, as well as other classes in their field of interest. The position is a 9-month appointment with a teaching load of 8 courses for the academic year (4 each semester). This is an annual appointment that may be renewed, contingent upon satisfactory performance, departmental needs, and the availability of funding. The university provides opportunities for promotion to higher professional track ranks for eligible instructors. A Ph.D. in political science is required by the start date of appointment.

From the Upstate to the Lowcountry, the University of South Carolina system is transforming the lives of South Carolinians through the impact of our eight institutions and 20 locations throughout the state. More than 50,000 students are enrolled at one of eight institutions, including the research campus in Columbia and comprehensive four-year universities in Aiken, Upstate and Beaufort. In addition, our Palmetto College campuses in Salkehatchie, Union, Lancaster, and Sumter enable students to earn associate or bachelor's degrees through a combination of in-person, online or blended learning. All of our system institutions place strong emphasis on service — helping to build healthier, more educated communities in South Carolina and beyond.

At the University of South Carolina, we strive to cultivate an inclusive environment that is open, welcoming, and supportive of individuals of all backgrounds. We recognize diversity in our workforce is essential to providing academic excellence and critical to our sustainability. The University is committed to eliminating barriers created by institutional discrimination through accountability and continuous process improvement. We celebrate the diverse voices, perspectives, and experiences of our employees.

The University of South Carolina is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Institution. Women, minorities, protected veterans, and individuals with disabilities are encouraged to apply. The University of South Carolina does not discriminate in educational or employment opportunities or decisions for qualified persons on the basis of age, ancestry, citizenship status, color, disability, ethnicity, familial status, gender (including transgender), gender identity or expression, genetic information, HIV/AIDS status, military status, national origin, pregnancy (false pregnancy, termination of pregnancy, childbirth, recovery therefrom or related medical conditions, breastfeeding), race, religion (including religious dress and grooming practices), sex, sexual orientation, veteran status, or any other bases under federal, state, local law, or regulations.

How to Apply

Applicants must submit a cover letter; curriculum vitae; teaching statement; graduate transcript; and contact information (including telephone number and email address) for three references. References will be contacted directly for letters of recommendation (which must be submitted on appropriate letterhead). Review of applications will begin on March 17th 2025, and the position will remain open until filled. All applicants must fill out an online application at USC Jobs: <https://uscjobs.sc.edu> (see here for direct link: <https://uscjobs.sc.edu/postings/183076>)

Please contact the search committee chair, Dr. Neal Woods (woodsn@mailbox.sc.edu) with any questions. Information regarding the Department of Political Science can be found at the department's website: <http://artsandsciences.sc.edu/poli/welcome>.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 2/14/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15431

Western Carolina University

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor - American Government & Politics

The Department of Political Science and Public Affairs at Western Carolina University is searching for a visiting assistant professor with a specialization in American politics (subfield open) to join our growing and accomplished faculty.

This is a fixed-term nine-month position with the potential for summer teaching. The anticipated start date is August 2025. The successful candidate will contribute to the Political Science program by teaching six courses per academic year on our Cullowhee, NC campus, including sections of our “Introduction to American Government” course, a core course for our Political Science major and a key component in the University’s general education program. Upper-level courses within the candidate’s specialization may also be part of the teaching load.

Minimum qualifications include candidates that are advanced ABD with a minimum of 18 graduate credit hours in Political Science from an accredited university.

Preferred qualifications include a PhD in Political Science from an accredited institution, prior teaching experience at the university level, and a promising research agenda in American government or politics.

Candidates will apply online: <https://jobs.wcu.edu/postings/29969>

The search committee will begin reviewing applications on or about March 5, 2025.

Start Date: Fall

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 2/7/2025

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 15406

Yale University

Rank: Postdoctoral Associate

The Program on Ethics, Politics, and Economics sponsors interdisciplinary teaching and research in the Social Sciences and Humanities at Yale. The program offers two postdoctoral positions to support outstanding scholars starting their academic careers. We seek scholars whose work spans disciplinary boundaries and integrates empirical, analytical, and normative concerns to shed light on substantial social problems.

We welcome applications from new PhDs in political science, economics, philosophy, business, and related social sciences working on furthering our understanding of complex social realities from an interdisciplinary perspective. This year, we are particularly interested in supporting scholars who are examining political economy problems.

The positions allow new PhD’s to develop a strong research program in a stimulating collegial environment alongside faculty across the social sciences and humanities at Yale University. In addition to conducting their research, postdocs are expected to teach one interdisciplinary undergraduate seminar, be available to meet undergraduate students of the EP&E major, and assist with advising majors on their senior essays.

Positions are for one year, renewable to two, at a salary of $70,000 with Yale health benefits. Applicants should have completed PhD requirements by September 2025.

Applications should include the following:

- A cover letter indicating your interest in the Post-doctoral Fellowship
- CV
- Job Market Paper or at least one scholarly writing sample (in English)

- PhD program transcript

- A preliminary syllabus for an interdisciplinary undergraduate course that integrates material from at least two of the following: Political Science, Economics, and Ethics.

- Two letters of recommendation (uploaded by letter writers in interfolio) Please submit application materials electronically to Interfolio at <http://apply.interfolio.com/160735>. The review process will begin January 5, 2025. We will continue to accept applications until the position has been filled. Please direct inquiries to Ana De La O, Director of Ethics, Politics, and Economics, ana.delao@yale.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 12/12/2025

Date Posted: 12/12/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15282

Fudan University

Rank: Distinguished Professors/Associate Professor/Senior Lecturer

Areas Expertise: Open for all candidates who have expertise in computational political science, computational social sciences, AI for social research with strong publication records.

Job Summary: Fudan Institute for Advanced Study in Social Sciences (Fudan IAS) is seeking applicants for the full-time positions at the top rank of Distinguished Professors/Associate Professor/Senior Lecturer” at Fudan University, Shanghai. The position is Open for all candidates who have expertise in computational political science, computational social sciences, AI for social research with strong publication records. The position is open till filled, and the employment starts at any time. The disciplines are open for political Science, economics, and sociology. Applicants should demonstrate strong publication records and their potentials to continue their scholarship during their tenure, and employ rigorous research methods, either quantitative or qualitative, to address important theoretical questions in the fields, and well recognized as leading scholars in the fields of their research. Applicants are expected to continue publishing research on highly reputable international journals (SSCI, AHCI, SCI, and CSSCI), and contribute to the annual research projects at Fudan IAS and to the disciplinary development at Fudan University. Applicants must have the ability to communicate fluently both in English and in Mandarin Chinese.

Institution background: Fudan University is an internationally recognized influential academic institution, one of China’s top universities, ranking 3rd in the country and 43rd in QS World University Ranking. Fudan IAS is a comprehensive and cross-disciplinary research institute, with 10 full time research fellows at different academic ranks from junior to distinguished professorship. The institute is an important platform for interdisciplinary integration in the social sciences, recruiting outstanding research fellows, hosting visits of world-renowned scholars, and engaging in international scholarly exchange. The Contemporary China Research Center at Fudan University is created by and housed at the Fudan IAS. The two international journals, Fudan Journal of the Humanities and Social Sciences and Chinese Political Science Review’s editorial offices are housed at the Fudan IAS and published by the prestigious Springer-Nature Press.

Application documents (all in English):

1. A cover letter;
3. A brief statement of research interest and agenda;
4. Two published journal articles in PDF;
2. An extensive/detailed curriculum vitae; including honors and awards in disciplines, list of publications, information of three references. Letters of recommendation may be requested.

We will arrange on-site interviews at Fudan IAS or other forms of interviews such as Skype and Zoom.

Contact: Please put the intended rank/position in the subject line of email, and send your application documents to the hiring committee at ias_fudan@126.com

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/23/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14923

Fudan University

Rank: Post-doctoral fellows

Subfield: Political Science, Economics, Sociology

Job Summary: Fudan Institute for Advanced Study in Social Sciences (Fudan IAS) is seeking applicants for the full-time "Post-doc fellows" at Fudan University, Shanghai. The position is open for all candidates who have expertise in computational political science, computational social sciences, AI for social research with strong publication records. The position is open till filled, and the employment starts at any time. The disciplines are open for political Science, economics, and sociology. Applicants should demonstrate strong potentials to publish their research on highly reputable international journals (SSCI, AHCI, SCI, and CSSCI). They should employ rigorous research methods, either quantitative or qualitative, to address important theoretical questions in the field. Applicants must have the ability to communicate fluently both in English and in Mandarin Chinese.

Institution background: Fudan University is an internationally recognized influential academic institution, one of China's top universities, ranking 3rd in the country and 43rd in QS World University Ranking. Fudan IAS is a comprehensive and cross-disciplinary research institute, with 10 full time research fellows at different academic ranks from junior to distinguished professorship. The institute is an important platform for interdisciplinary integration in the social sciences, recruiting outstanding research fellows, hosting visits of world-renowned scholars, and engaging in international scholarly exchange. The Contemporary China Research Center at Fudan University is created by and housed at the Fudan IAS. The two international journals, Fudan Journal of the Humanities and Social Sciences and Chinese Political Science Review's editorial offices are housed at the Fudan IAS and published by the prestigious Springer-Nature Press. The journals are both included in the Emerging Sources Citation Index (ESCI), a new index in the Web of Science Core Collection of Clarivate Analytics (formerly Thomson Reuter).

Application documents (all in English):

1. A cover letter;
2. An extensive curriculum vitae; including a publication list and information of three references.
3. A statement of research interest and agenda;

4. 1-2 published articles/writing samples;

We will arrange on-site interviews at Fudan IAS or other forms of interviews such as Skype and Zoom.

Contact: Please put the intended position in the subject line of email, and send your application documents to the hiring committee at ias_fudan@126.com

Start Date: Spring

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/23/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14924

OTHER

European University Institute

Rank: Chair (or Assistant Professors) in Digital Governance and Policy Innovation

The School of Transnational Governance seeks to appoint a Chair in Digital Governance and Policy Innovation, or alternatively two Chairs at Assistant Professor level.

We recognise that digital governance and policy innovation are fast-moving domains. We are looking for candidates who can think outside the box and who are committed to developing new ways of thinking and doing for institutions and societies by leveraging digital technologies. We encourage applications from candidates with relevant experience in domains that are reshaping digital governance and policy in theory and practice (for example, systems thinking, interface design and interoperability, or complexity theory and experimentalism).

We are looking for exceptional candidates with experience and expertise in digital governance, especially but not exclusively with a focus on: digital policy design & implementation; the implementation and regulation of AI; data literacy & management; cross-border data flows, digital trade and cyber security; digital infrastructures and content governance; regulatory frameworks for digital spaces. We are looking for candidates with a strong disciplinary background and a commitment to multi- and interdisciplinary teaching and research.

Interested applicants should consult our webpage for further particulars: <https://www.eui.eu/About/JobOpportunities/Open-competitions-for-academic-posts>

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 6/25/2025

Date Posted: 5/29/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15596

European University Institute

Rank: Chair in Transnational Law

Specializations: Environmental Policy, International Law & Organizations, Trade

The European University Institute is looking for candidates with a distinguished record of scholarly publications and experience in postgraduate teaching and doctoral supervision, to fill a Chair in Transnational Law.

We are looking for exceptional candidates with a strong focus on transnational law scholarship, in areas of expertise related, but not limited to, institution building for the management of the environment, human rights, security, trade, economic law, health, digital and AI.

The ideal candidate has demonstrable expertise and interest in engaging in innovative research that addresses the complex interactions between national, international, and supranational legal systems in addressing transnational societal challenges. The successful candidate will be expected to collaborate with scholars from various disciplines, including political science, economics, history and international relations, to address pressing European and global issues. We are looking for a legal scholar with a strong disciplinary background and a commitment to multi- and interdisciplinary teaching and research.

We are looking for exceptional candidates whose teaching and research experience and expertise can be demonstrated by a robust track record of university-level teaching, stakeholder training, and significant academic publications. Experience in policy advice or policymaking is highly desirable.

Interested applicants should consult our webpage for further particulars: <https://www.eui.eu/About/JobOpportunities/Open-competitions-for-academic-posts>

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 6/25/2025

Date Posted: 5/29/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15597

Colorado State University

Rank: Director, IRISS

The Institute for Research in the Social Sciences (IRISS) is a Level II Core Facility supported by the Office of the Vice President for Research and College of Liberal Arts at Colorado State University which aims to connect and support social scientists with other researchers, as well as university, community, and industry partners. IRISS staff are thought partners who provide robust social science research and collaboration tools to integrate community partners and researchers from all disciplines. IRISS collaborates with internal and external partners to enhance social science research capacity, improve grant competitiveness campus-wide, promote interdisciplinary research networking opportunities, and provide and support research methods training in support of the University's land grant mission.

Position Summary:

The Institute for Research in the Social Sciences Director is a full-time, twelve-month administrative professional leadership position that reports to the Associate Dean for Research, College of Liberal Arts. The Director may select to have a faculty affiliate appointment in an appropriate department in the College of Liberal Arts. Desire to maintain an active research program will be considered but is not required.

We seek an established leader with expertise in the field of applied social science who is committed to collaboration, networking, and team building. The institute collaborates on projects and services with colleagues across campus in the colleges of Agriculture Science, Liberal Arts, Business, Engineering, Health and Human Sciences, Natural Resources, Natural Sciences, and Veterinary Medicine and Biomedical Sciences, as well as administrative divisions and departments.

A large number of state and federal government agencies, including CDC, USDA, NIH, NOAA, NPS, USGS, Colorado Parks and Wildlife, and others are located in the Northern Colorado area, providing strong opportunities to develop research and advancements in social sciences. Nongovernmental stakeholders, including industry/producer groups, are also key constituents served by research staff at the Institute.

The Institute's mission is to empower research teams and partners to address complex challenges through innovative applied social science. Executing this mission demands broad experience across social science disciplines and a leader who can inspire social scientists at all career stages. This leader must forge powerful connections with both campus and external partners to deliver robust social science research that enhances the research capacity of our clients.

The Director will drive both existing and emerging research initiatives in the community and across campus that leverage collaboration with social scientists. This includes: forging strategic partnerships, alliances, and collaborations both on-campus and with academic and non-profit institutions nationally; establishing and energizing advisory boards; coordinating high-impact activities throughout campus and community; championing the University through strategic networking and professional collaboration and engagement with external constituents, industry stakeholders, schools, and organizations; and securing vital resources for programmatic growth and long-term sustainability.

The Director will lead a dynamic collaborative team to launch and expand social science service areas (e.g., evaluation research, Science of Team Science), featuring both fee-for-service offerings and transformational training and educational components.

The IRISS Director will leverage their expertise to cultivate research partnerships, develop compelling grant proposals, and collaborate with academic researchers and community partners to lead strategically vital research initiatives. This position is responsible for cultivating and maintaining relationships with community partners and key clients, seeking projects aligned with IRISS strategic goals, and securing internal and external funding. The Director will co-develop grant proposals in collaboration with researchers across campus (e.g., natural resources, engineering, agricultural sciences) as well as with community partners. The Director will be responsible for supporting ongoing initiatives while launching innovative programs that integrate social science research methods and theories to support the growth and development of research programs across campus.

Specifically, the IRISS Director will:

- Develop and champion a strategic and collaborative vision for IRISS's future, working with staff, other university centers and institutes, departments and colleges, and the Advisory Board to drive collective impact.

- Elevate IRISS's reputation as the premier source of rigorous, unbiased, science-based information for external stakeholders, administration, campus-wide committees, peer institutions, and greater community. Identify and pursue innovative and entrepreneurial initiatives that position CSU at the forefront of social science agendas and policy development, creating distinctive competitive advantages.

- Promote institutional growth and establish synergies with other CSU entities to maximize collective resources and impact.

- Create compelling written and oral products that showcase IRISS's unique integration of experiential and scientific knowledge, enhancing visibility and influence.

Ensure a culture of excellence through continuous improvement, creativity, and transformative innovation in all aspects of the Institute's operations and programs.

Serve as a prominent thought leader and authoritative voice representing IRISS and constituent groups in leading policy expertise through public forums, media interviews, publications, expert testimony, speaking engagements, and other appropriate venues.

The successful candidate must be legally authorized to work in the United States by the proposed start date. The Institute will not sponsor a visa for this position. This is a three-year appointment and may continue thereafter based on administrative performance and comprehensive review.

Required Job Qualifications

Professional degree, PhD (or equivalent), in social sciences or related field from an accredited university.

An exemplary record of peer-reviewed scholarship commensurate with a senior scholar in a social science field.

Demonstrated post-terminal degree experience leading research programs, initiatives, or teams related to social science (e.g., entrepreneurial activities, administration, etc.).

Demonstrated success with revenue generation and leading awarded grants.

Demonstrated expertise with an array of social and behavioral science research methods, data sources, and analytic techniques.

Strong organizational, project management, and collaboration skills as demonstrated by work experience.

Demonstrated ability to write outreach materials and research reports for both academic and non-academic audiences.

Demonstrated experience and enthusiasm in supervising faculty, professional staff, and student researchers.

Preferred Job Qualifications:

Previous experience with strategic planning, long-range project coordination, and analytical problem solving.

Experience working closely and independently with administrators of institutions and/or leaders of science programs, organizations, or initiatives on a local, national, and/or international scale.

Knowledge of regulatory and compliance policies and procedures related to social science and human-subjects oriented research.

Research experience in one or more of the following areas: community engagement, team science, evaluation, and survey methods.

Demonstrated research experience leading interdisciplinary, transdisciplinary, and/or cross-sector teams.
Excellent communication skills, including written and verbal presentation abilities.

Candidates must have demonstrated ability to advance CSU's principles of community.

To apply, please visit: <https://jobs.colostate.edu/postings/160941>

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 5/22/2025

Salary: Above $159,999

eJobs ID: 15587

California Polytechnic State University

Rank: Full-Time Lecturer AY - Political Science - Law

POLITICAL SCIENCE - The Political Science Department in the College of Liberal Arts at California Polytechnic State University, San Luis Obispo, is seeking a full-time lecturer position on Law to begin September 11, 2025, for Fall Quarter, 2025. The current appointment is for two years with the possibility of an extension to a third year. Salary is commensurate with qualifications and experience. Duties and responsibilities include teaching undergraduate courses on law on both introductory and advanced levels. The courses may include, but are not limited to, Jurisprudence, Judicial Politics, U.S. Constitutional Law, Civil Liberty and Civil Rights, Constitutional Theory. The teaching load is 45 units in total for the academic year, which translates to a 4-4-3 teaching load across three quarters. University-level teaching experience is required. ABD or PhD in Political Science or related field and demonstrated evidence of potential for excellence in teaching at the university level is preferred.

Initial rank and salary for lecturer faculty are based on professional experience and educational background and are determined by the hiring department. Most new lecturers are hired at the Lecturer A or B rank. As of July 2024, the classification salary ranges for the respective ranks are:

Lecturer A: $5,507-$6,677

Lecturer B: $6,221-$13,224

Lecturer C: $6,825-$14,523

Lecturer D: $8,593-$15,221

Equal Opportunity and Excellence in Education and Employment

This position is open and available to all regardless of race, sex, color, ethnicity or national origin. Consistent with California law and federal civil rights laws, Cal Poly provides equal opportunity in education and employment without unlawful discrimination or preferential treatment based on race, sex, color, ethnicity, or national origin. Our commitment to equal opportunity means ensuring that every student and employee has access to the resources and support they need to thrive and succeed in a university environment and in their communities. Cal Poly complies with Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972, the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA), Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act, the California Equity in Higher Education Act, California's Proposition 209 (Art. I, Section 31 of the California Constitution), other applicable state and federal anti-discrimination laws, and CSU's Nondiscrimination Policy. We prohibit discriminatory preferential treatment, segregation based on race or any other protected status, and all forms of discrimination, harassment, and retaliation in all university programs, policies, and practices.

Cal Poly is a diverse community of individuals who represent many perspectives, beliefs and identities, and is committed to fostering an inclusive, respectful, and intellectually vibrant environment. We cultivate a culture of open dialogue, mutual respect, and belonging to support educational excellence and student success. Through academic programs, student organizations and activities, faculty initiatives, and community partnerships, we encourage meaningful engagement with diverse perspectives. As a higher education institution, we are dedicated to advancing knowledge and empowering individuals to reach their full potential by prioritizing inclusive curriculum development, faculty and staff training, student mentorship, and comprehensive support programs. At Cal Poly, excellence is built on merit, talent, diversity, accessibility, and equal opportunity for all.

Due to CSU policies, the person hired must reside in the state of California at the time of hire and for the entirety of the appointment.

REQUIRED QUALIFICATIONS

Juris Doctorate or Master's Degree in Political Science or related field with professional and teaching experience required.

Ability to teach courses including Jurisprudence, Judicial Politics, U.S. Constitutional Law, Civil Liberty and Civil Rights, Constitutional Theory.

Demonstrated experience and commitment to student-centered learning and teaching.

The ability to collaboratively work in multidisciplinary settings is required.

Demonstrated proficiency in written and oral use of the English language is required.

PREFERRED QUALIFICATIONS

ABD or PhD in Political Science or a related field preferred.

Ability to work with a diverse population fostering a collaborative, supportive and inclusive environment.

Preference will be given to those with relevant work experience and those who bring professional capabilities.

SPECIAL CONDITIONS

The person holding this position is considered a 'mandated reporter' under the California Child Abuse and Neglect Reporting Act and is required to comply with the requirements set forth in CSU Executive Order 1083 as a condition of employment.

Following a conditional offer of employment, a background check (including a criminal records check) must be completed satisfactorily before any candidate may start work with Cal Poly, San Luis Obispo. Failure to satisfactorily complete the background check may result in the withdrawal of the offer of employment. Note: Cal Poly cannot deny an applicant a position solely or in part due to a criminal conviction history until it has performed an individualized assessment and linked the relevant conviction history with specific job duties in the position being sought.

Please note: Current employees who are offered positions on campus will be required to undergo a background check for any position where a background check is required by law or that Cal Poly has designated as sensitive. Sensitive positions are those requiring heightened scrutiny of individuals holding the position based on potential for harm to children, concerns for the safety and security of people, animals, or property, or heightened risk of financial loss to Cal Poly or individuals in the university community.

For health and well-being, Cal Poly is a smoke & tobacco-free campus. The university is committed to promoting a healthy environment for all members of our community.

In accordance with the California State University (CSU) Out-of-State Employment Policy, the CSU is a state entity whose business operations reside within the State of California and prohibits hiring employees to perform CSU related work outside of California.

ABOUT THE DEPARTMENT

The Cal Poly Political Science Department prides itself on its collegiality and commitment to excellence in teaching and scholarship. The department serves approximately 400 majors, 130 minors, and 25 graduate students. At the undergraduate level, the department offers concentrations in American Politics, Global Politics, Pre-Law and Individualized Courses of Study, as well as minors in Law & Society, Political Science, and Global Politics. It also administers a Master of Public Policy Program.

HOW TO APPLY

Interested candidates must attach the following required materials:

- 1) Cover Letter
- 2) Curriculum Vitae
- 3) Statement of teaching philosophy and evidence of teaching effectiveness
- 4) A copy of unofficial transcripts of highest degree earned (sealed official transcripts will be required prior to an appointment).

Please be prepared to provide three professional references with names and email addresses when completing the online faculty application. Cal Poly will directly solicit letters from the people listed by applicants. For full consideration, all applicant materials, except final transcripts, must be received by the Review Begin Date.

REVIEW BEGIN DATE: May 30, 2025 and will continue until the position is filled.

For questions, please contact the Political Science Department by phone at (805) 756-2985 or the department chair, Professor Helene Shanruo Ning Zhang, by email at nizhang@calpoly.edu

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 5/14/2025

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 15581

Virginia Tech

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor

Visiting Assistant Professor Position
Department of Political Science
College of Liberal Arts and Human Sciences
Virginia Tech

The Department of Political Science at Virginia Tech is seeking to appoint a faculty member as a Visiting Assistant Professor to enhance and expand its instructional mission, student advising, international programs, and experiential learning opportunities by coordinating the department's participation in the Bridge Experience program [<https://xl.vt.edu/programs-and-opportunities/bridge-experience.html>] coordinated by the Academy for Experiential Learning. This is a three-year restricted position beginning on August 10, 2025.

Responsibilities:

- Teach up to six Political Science undergraduate courses per academic year, including courses related to the Bridge Experience.

- Provide advising and support tied to the Bridge Experience to undergraduate students in the department's Political Science, International Relations, International Studies, Environment, Development, and Global Economy, and National Security and Foreign Affairs majors and minors.
- Organize, manage and coordinate all internship programs, living-learning communities study programs (e.g., Defense Civilian Training Corps, Virginia Tech Corps of Cadets, etc.); study-abroad courses, study-away courses, field study, student research publication opportunities, and international initiatives as well as assist in their academic assessment.
- Participate in recruiting activities for the university, college, and department to promote the Bridge Experience, including but not limited to New Student Orientation, College of Liberal Arts and Human Sciences Majors Fair, and Hokie Focus.
- Help facilitate the department's First Year Experience (FYE) course and undergraduate program curricula relating to the Bridge Experience.
- Other duties as assigned by the department chair.

Qualifications:

Required:

- A PhD (preferred) or an M.A./M.S. degree in Government, Political Science or related field required by time of appointment.
- Significant collegiate teaching experience.
- Experience in undergraduate advising and mentorship.
- Record of leadership and significant experience in the development and/or coordination of Bridge Experience-related programming.
- Creative problem-solving skills.
- Ability to work effectively with students, faculty members, administrators, and external partners.
- Ability to maintain confidentiality in accordance with the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA).

Preferred:

- Outstanding communication and organizational skills.
- Demonstrated commitment to the principles of Equal Opportunity.
- Willingness to collaborate closely with other Bridge Experience programs across the college and university

Application Process:

Interested persons must apply at www.jobs.vt.edu, Job No. 533116, where they will submit a letter of interest addressing the position, complete curriculum vitae (including documentation of all prior Bridge Experience-style activities), evidence of teaching effectiveness, a writing sample, and names and contact information for three references.

Screening of applicants will begin May 26, 2025, and will continue until the position is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 6/6/2025

Date Posted: 5/5/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15573

Angelo State University

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Other, International Relations

Job Summary:

Angelo State University's Department of Political Science and Philosophy is hiring a temporary faculty member to teach core surveys in Texas and Federal Government. This will be a 4-4 teaching load. The applicant would possibly teach an upper level course in international relations in the spring.

Job Duties:

Teach courses in both in person and online modalities.

Minimum Qualifications:

PhD in Political Science by August 2025.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 5/2/2025

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 15570

Arizona State University

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Scholar

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Policy, Other

Specializations: Latino Politics, Political Behavior, Public Opinion

Postdoctoral Research Scholar

Arizona State University: Office of the University Provost Tempe:
The College of Liberal Arts and Sciences: Hispanic Research Center

The Hispanic Research Center (HRC) at Arizona State University invites applications for a full-time Postdoctoral Research Scholar position in one or more areas that examines the experiences and challenges of the Hispanic/Latino community in the United States. The specific area of specialization in the study of Latinos is open, but preference will be given to candidates who bring an interdisciplinary perspective to their research and a desire to engage with faculty, students, and HRC affiliates to build an intellectual community. HRC is committed to the success of a Postdoctoral Research Scholar who will work closely with the HRC director and associate director, as well as other partners across ASU.

Anticipated start date is fall 2025, but exact start date is negotiable. Deadline to apply is May 21, 2025. Full information about the position and instructions for applying can be found at: <https://apply.interfolio.com/166638>

Questions should be directed to Stella Rouse (stella.rouse@asu.edu), Director, Hispanic Research Center and Professor, School of Politics and Global Studies.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 5/21/2025

Date Posted: 4/24/2025

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 15562

Michigan State University

Rank: Assistant Professor - Fixed Term

Subfield(s): Public Administration, Public Policy, Other

Director of Master of Public Policy Program

Michigan State University actively promotes a dynamic research and learning environment in which qualified individuals of differing perspectives, and cultural backgrounds pursue academic goals with mutual respect and shared inquiry.

Position Description

The Departments of Political Science and Economics invites outstanding candidates to apply to an Assistant Professor-Fixed Term position, to serve as Director of the Master of Public Policy Program. The Program is co-administered by the Departments of Political Science and Economics.

Duties

- Overseeing and organizing annual admissions process to the Program, including recruiting, communicating with, and reviewing applicants
- Completing academic reviews of students
- Advising students on course enrollment and degree requirements
- Acting as a resource for students on internship and post-degree employment opportunities
- Seeking partners for funding opportunities for enrolled students
- Teaching annual Capstone for students in final year of program
- Teaching 1-2 other courses in the Program per academic year, dependent on applicant experience & expertise
- Working with Political Science and College communications staff on promoting Program and alumni achievements
- Leading Program fundraising efforts, cultivating relationships with alumni, and engaging key stakeholders to advance the Program's mission and sustainability
- Overseeing administrative responsibilities, including program reviews, accreditation processes, and collaboration with the Departments of Political Science and Economics, College of Social Science, and Graduate School through regular meetings and reporting.

Required Degree

PhD in Economics, Public Administration, Public Policy, Political Science or related social science field by start date of appointment

Minimum Requirements

- At least five years experience working in higher education or public sector
- Strong written and oral communication skills
- Potential for high-quality instruction and mentoring at the graduate level
- Potential for working with students from diverse backgrounds and working to improve access to higher education for all students

Desired Qualifications

- Teaching experience at undergraduate or graduate level
- Administrative experience
- Applied public policy experience in the public, private, or non-profit sectors

Required Application Materials

- Cover letter
- Curriculum Vita
- Please provide the names and contact information of three references.

Review of Applications Begins On 4/21/2025

Website

<https://polisci.msu.edu/mpp/>

Department Statement

MSU is located in East Lansing, MI, with easy access to the state capital, Lake Michigan, Lake Huron, Lake Erie, Lake Superior (albeit more time-consuming), excellent school districts, affordable housing, Whole Foods, Horrocks, Trader Joe's, and two large metropolitan areas (Grand Rapids, Detroit).

MSU Statement

Michigan State University has been advancing the common good with uncommon will for more than 160 years. One of the top research universities in the world, MSU pushes the boundaries of discovery and forges enduring partnerships to solve the most pressing global challenges while providing life-changing opportunities to a diverse and inclusive academic community through more than 200 programs of study in 17 degree-granting colleges.

Equal Employment Opportunity Statement

All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, citizenship, age, disability or protected veteran status

Start Date: Summer 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 4/11/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15549

Georgia Institute of Technology

Rank: Assistant Professor in International Security and Intelligence Studies

The Sam Nunn School of International Affairs (www.inta.gatech.edu) at the Georgia Institute of Technology invites applications for a tenure-track assistant professor position in International Security and Intelligence Studies, with possibility to start in August 2025 or 2026. The position is open to applicants employing any methodologies in their research and teaching, but applicants with research specializations in such areas as open-source intelligence analysis, technology and intelligence, tailored data/visual analytics, intelligence statecraft, geopolitics of intelligence policy, international/network security analysis, commercial threat intelligence, or strategic decision-making are especially encouraged to apply. A geographic area of specialization is welcomed but not necessary. Candidates with a proven record in conducting rigorous policy relevant research are encouraged to apply.

To apply, go to <https://hr.gatech.edu/careers/> and search for Job Opening ID: 283008
Posting Title: Assistant Professor

Or directly via this link (system may prompt you to create an account first):

https://careers.hprod.onehcm.usg.edu/psp/careers/CAREERS/HRMS/c/HRS_HRAM_FL.HRS_CG_SEARCH_FL.GBL?Page=HRS_APP_JBPST_FL&Action=U&FOCUS=Applicant&SiteId=3000&JobOpeningId=283008&PostingSeq=1

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 3/14/2025
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 15510

Williams College

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor in Political Science

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Other

The Williams College Department of Political Science invites applications for a one-year appointment in the 2025 - 2026 academic year, as Visiting Assistant Professor in Political Science. We seek individuals who can teach courses in comparative politics, especially those with an East Asia, Africa, or other regional focus. The ability to teach introduction to comparative politics is required. The ability to teach courses in international relations is a plus. The teaching load is four courses, split evenly between the fall and spring semesters. We welcome applications from candidates of all backgrounds and strongly encourage individuals from underrepresented identities or those whose experiences and perspectives will enhance our commitment to academic excellence and innovation to apply.

Candidates should have the Ph.D. completed by June 2025. Application items should include: a cover letter detailing teaching experience and competencies as well as current scholarly interests; two syllabi of classes taught or planned to be taught; a curriculum vitae; three letters of recommendation; teaching evaluations accompanied by comparative or statistical context (if available); and a writing sample of only one article or chapter. We ask you to write in your cover letter about your ability to work effectively with a student population that is broadly diverse with regard to gender, race, ethnicity, nationality, sexual orientation, and religion.

We will begin to review applications on February 1st, but will consider submissions until the search is completed. All application materials should be submitted through Interfolio [apply.interfolio.com/160837]. Fax and email applications will not be accepted. Inquiries may be sent to Erin Malloy at emb8@williams.edu. All offers of employment are contingent upon completion of a background check. Further information is available here: faculty.williams.edu/prospective-faculty/background-check-policy/

Williams College is a liberal arts institution located in the Berkshire Hills of western Massachusetts. The college has built its reputation on outstanding teaching and scholarship and on the academic excellence of its approximately 2,000 students. Please visit the Williams College website (<http://www.williams.edu>) to learn more about the College and in particular its professional development resources for faculty. Beyond meeting fully its legal obligations for non-discrimination, Williams College is committed to building a diverse and inclusive community where members from all backgrounds can live, learn, and thrive. and innovation to apply.

Start Date: Summer 2025
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 1/6/2025
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 15322

University of Texas, Arlington

Rank: Assistant Professor - Health and Society

Specializations: Health Care, Social Welfare, Regulatory Policy

The College of Liberal Arts at the University of Texas at Arlington invites applications for an Assistant Professor (Tenure Track) specializing in Health and Society. The position is open to applicants in the arts, humanities, or social sciences. The eventual hire will have a home department in the College of Liberal Arts that is determined by their primary disciplinary area, in which they are expected to have an active program of scholarship or creative work.

We seek an innovative scholar whose research focuses on health and society. Example areas of specialization include, but are not limited to, biomedical ethics, cultural conceptions of illness and health, disability studies, global health and health justice, medical anthropology, and the social determinants of health.

We are especially seeking candidates who demonstrate strong potential for interdisciplinary collaboration, program development, and community engagement, and who can build on existing strengths across the College and University. Successful candidates may collaborate with established interdisciplinary programs within the college, such as ASL and Deaf Studies, Disability Studies, and Medical Humanities and Bioethics.

As a part of their responsibilities, the eventual hire will:

- Develop and teach courses on topics related to health and society;
- Maintain an active and interdisciplinary research program and build a strong record of academic output (e.g., peer-reviewed articles and presentations at national or international conferences); and
- Participate in service within the Department, College, University, and the broader academic community.

For more information and to apply, please see here: <https://uta.peopleadmin.com/postings/30064>

Start Date: Fall 2025
Application Deadline: 12/1/2024
Date Posted: 10/18/2024
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 15086

Lehigh University

Rank: Bernard L. & Bertha F. Cohen Chair in International Relations

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Other

Position: Bernard L. and Bertha F. Cohen Chair in International Relations

LEHIGH UNIVERSITY. The Department of International Relations invites applications for a tenured Full Professor to fill the Bernard L. and Bertha F. Cohen Chair, with an anticipated start date of July 2025. The position is open to all research and teaching specializations within the fields of international relations, foreign policy, and/or comparative politics.

Candidates must have an earned PhD in International Relations or a closely related field. The ideal candidate will have connections to the policy community in Washington, DC, and/or New York City and be able to assist students with internship placement.

Candidates are expected to have a strong commitment to undergraduate teaching and excellence in research. The individual hired will, specifically, be expected to teach courses in International Relations at the undergraduate level, engage in scholarly activities, and participate in departmental, college, and university service, as well as advise undergraduate internships.

Lehigh is among the few higher educational institutions in the US that has long had a separate department of IR. This allows students with a particular interest in international affairs to benefit from a concentrated, high-level program of study that few other schools offer.

Founded in 1865, Lehigh University has combined outstanding academic and learning opportunities with leadership in fostering innovative research. Recognized among the nation's highly-ranked research universities, Lehigh offers a rigorous academic community for over 7,500 students. Lehigh University has some 5,800 undergraduates, 1,800 graduate students, and nearly 600 full-time faculty members. Lehigh University is located in Bethlehem, PA, a vibrant and historic area. Over 840,000 people live in the Lehigh Valley, which is in close proximity to New York City and Philadelphia.

Review of applications will begin on October 11, 2024, and will continue until the position is filled. For full consideration, however, applications should be received by October 11, 2024. Applicants should submit their materials at <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajob/jobs/28335>. Candidates should submit the following materials:

Cover letter

Curriculum vitae

Research statement that describes past scholarly contributions and future research directions

Teaching statement that describes instructional philosophy and courses that the candidate would want to teach or develop

Name and contact information for three references

A statement on contributions to diversity, equity, and inclusion (DEI) that describes knowledge, prior DEI experience, and the candidate's future plans for enhancing community and culture at Lehigh (the Lehigh ADVANCE Center's guide for understanding and preparing such statements is available here)

All inquiries regarding the search should be directed to Ms. Edann Brady at emb703@lehigh.edu or 610-758-3390.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/6/2024

Salary: Above $159,999

eJobs ID: 14800

POLITICAL THEORY

University of California, Davis

Rank: Lecturer

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, Political Theory

The Department of Political Science at the University of California at Davis invites applications for one or more temporary teaching positions in the fields of International Relations, Comparative Politics,

American Politics and/or Political Theory for the 2025-2026 academic year. Availability of this position depends upon final administrative approval and the teaching needs of the department. The Department seeks applicants with demonstrated research and teaching expertise. A completed Ph.D. is required. This position is covered by a Collective Bargaining Unit.

The appointee(s) will offer up to two courses per quarter over three quarters. The core courses to be taught will be in the areas of International Relations, Comparative Politics, American Politics and/or Political Theory. Compensation is commensurate with ability and experience. Candidates should electronically submit a letter of application, curriculum vitae, evidence of teaching ability, two letters of reference and a writing sample to: <https://recruit.ucdavis.edu/apply/JPF07149>. To ensure review of your application, please submit all materials by June 16, 2025, but materials will be accepted until the positions are filled.

The University of California at Davis and the Department of Political Science are interested in candidates who are committed to the highest standards of scholarship and professional activities, and to the development of a campus climate that supports equality and diversity. The University of California is an affirmative action/equal opportunity employer.

Start Date: Summer 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 5/29/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15598

University of Houston

Rank: Visiting Professor

The Department of Political Science at the University of Houston invites applications for a one-year, non-tenure track, Professor of Practice position for the academic year Fall 2025 - Spring 2026. We seek applicants who have research and teaching interests in Political Theory. Special consideration will be given to those whose research agendas will add to the department's existing strengths in this subfield and have potential for collaboration with a variety of current faculty. Successful candidates will demonstrate a clear commitment to undergraduate teaching. Review of applications will begin immediately and continue until the position is filled.

Applications should be submitted through the University's online job site, <http://www.uh.edu/human-resources/uh-careers/>. The position number keyword is 494091. To apply please submit a letter of application, CV, unofficial transcripts, and contact information for three professional references. Listed references will be asked to provide letters of recommendation.

The direct link to the position is here: <https://careers.uh.edu/jobs/professor-of-practice-political-theory-houston-texas-united-states>

For further information, please contact Professor Jeffrey Church, Department of Political Science, University of Houston, at jchurch@uh.edu.

Qualifications: PhD in Political Science preferred; MA in Political Science with three years of experience.

The Department of Political Science provides high-quality undergraduate and graduate education, with over 800 undergraduate majors and 75 M.A. and Ph.D. students. The Department capitalizes on the strengths of our city, offering students and faculty opportunities to research the politics of the future in a dynamic hub of international commerce, and in a region that is on the leading edge of national demographic and economic trends.

The University's prime location in America's fourth-largest city supports extensive industry partnerships and experiential learning opportunities. Renowned for its energy industry and NASA's Space Center, Houston is home to a vibrant cultural scene with world-class museums, theaters, and restaurants. Houston thrives as a hub for innovation, education, and arts, fostering a unique blend of community charm and modern progress.

The University of Houston, a dynamic research institution founded in 1927, stands as a vibrant hub of academic excellence in Texas. With over 46,000 students, it offers a comprehensive range of programs across 15 colleges, fostering innovation in fields such as energy, health, hospitality, business, education, law, STEM, and the humanities. Boasting top-tier faculty, state-of-the-art facilities, student success initiatives, and a strong commitment to community engagement, UH prepares students to thrive in a globally interconnected world while contributing impactful research and innovation to the region and beyond.

Official transcripts are required for a faculty appointment and will be requested upon selection of the final candidates. All positions at the University of Houston-System are security sensitive and will require a criminal history check.

The University of Houston System and its universities are an Equal Opportunity Institution.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 5/22/2025

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 15588

Augustana University

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): International Relations, Political Theory, Open

Job Title: Visiting Assistant Professor

Position Type: Full-Time

Department: Government and International Affairs

The Department of Government and International Affairs at Augustana University invites applications for a one-year Visiting Assistant Professor position. The effective start date is August 20, 2025.

Responsibilities:

The successful applicant will demonstrate a strong commitment to teaching excellence in a liberal arts environment. The position involves teaching seven courses each academic year: three courses per semester, with an additional course during the three-week Interim term in January. We seek a scholar who can contribute to our efforts to enhance the variety and international content of our upper-level course offerings, as well as offer sections of our Introduction to Government courses taught within the general education curriculum. We are open to scholars approaching these tasks from the standpoint of international relations, political theory and/or law.

Qualifications:

A Ph.D. completed by August 1, 2025 is strongly preferred, with evidence of teaching excellence expected.

Interacting with students, faculty and leadership from diverse backgrounds and perspectives, along with a deep appreciation and respect for academic principles and culture, must be a top value of the candidate.

Application Procedure:

Review of applications will begin immediately and continue until the position has been filled. Interested applicants are asked to submit the below application materials in one document to our career center portal. If assistance is needed in the application process, please reach out to humanresources@augie.edu. Official website: augie.edu. Questions may be directed to Dr. Emily Wanless, department chair, at ewanless@augie.edu.

*Letter of interest

*Curriculum vitae

*Statement of teaching philosophy

*Evidence of teaching effectiveness

*Phone numbers and email addresses of three current professional references

Augustana University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action/Title IX Employer. Applicants must comply with the Immigration Reform and Control Act and may be required to submit official transcripts upon employment. Finalist candidates must satisfactorily complete a pre-employment background check.

About Augustana University:

Located in the growing and vibrant city of Sioux Falls, South Dakota, Augustana University has, for more than 160 years, provided a strong student-centric education based on its five core values: Christian faith, liberal arts, excellence, community, and service. The institution continues to expand its pre-professional and graduate offerings, while remaining true to its liberal arts tradition. Guided by the Viking Bold: Journey to 2030 strategic plan, Augustana seeks to grow its enrollment from just over 1,900 students to more than 3,000 undergraduate and graduate students.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 5/20/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15584

Pennsylvania State University

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor of Public Policy

The School of Public Policy at The Pennsylvania State University invites applications for a full-time Visiting Assistant Professor to start Fall 2025, with flexibility.

Responsibilities include conducting high-quality research and supporting the research agenda of Professor Anthony Bertelli, the Sherwin Whitmore Chair of Liberal Arts.

Candidates should have research interests in bureaucratic politics and/or European politics, possess advanced proficiency in quantitative methods, and demonstrate a strong background in theory building. The ideal candidate will be an independent and motivated researcher.

Fluent English language skills are required, and fluency in another language, such as French, German, Italian, Portuguese, or Spanish, is desirable.

Preference will be given for those who can teach statistics, policy analysis, or economics policy in the Master of Public Policy Program and the State, Society, and Public Policy course at the undergraduate level.

This position will include resident instruction and normal university service. Your teaching load during the academic year is three courses for the School of Public Policy. Onsite teaching is an essential function of this job.

A Ph.D. in public policy, political science, or related field is required by the appointment date. This is a non-tenure-track, term position with the possibility of renewal. This position will be filled at the rank of Assistant Teaching Professor.

The College of the Liberal Arts is committed to offering professional growth and promotional opportunities for non-tenure-line faculty appointments. Information on faculty ranks and progression can be found at <https://policy.psu.edu/policies/ac21><https://policy.psu.edu/policies/ac21>;

Interested candidates must submit an online application and upload a cover letter outlining their research interests and methodological expertise, a curriculum vitae (CV), and two writing samples that demonstrate relevant skills and research interests.

System limitations allow for a total of 5 documents (5mb per document) as part of your application. Please combine materials to meet the 5-document limit.

Any questions or concerns with the online application can be directed to Paige McCarthy, pem5220@psu.edupem5220@psu.edu;

Visit our website at <https://publicpolicy.psu.edu/><https://publicpolicy.psu.edu/> for more information on our School.

The Pennsylvania State University is committed to and accountable for advancing equity, respect, and belonging in all its forms. We embrace individual uniqueness, as well as a culture of belonging that supports both broad and specific equity initiatives, leverages the educational and institutional benefits of inclusion in society, and provides opportunities for engagement intended to help all members of the community thrive. We value belonging as a core strength and an essential element of the university's teaching, research, and service mission.

To apply, please visit https://psu.wd1.myworkdayjobs.com/PSU_Academic/job/Penn-State-University-Park/Visiting-Assistant-Professor-of-Public-Policy_REQ_0000065361-2https://psu.wd1.myworkdayjobs.com/PSU_Academic/job/Penn-State-University-Park/Visiting-Assistant-Professor-of-Public-Policy_REQ_0000065361-2;

To review the Annual Security Report which contains information about crime statistics and other safety and security matters and policies, please go to <https://www.police.psu.edu/annual-security-reports><https://www.police.psu.edu/annual-security-reports>;

gt;, which will also explain how to request a paper copy of the Annual Security Report.

Penn State is an equal opportunity, affirmative action employer, and is committed to providing employment opportunities to all qualified applicants without regard to race, color, religion, age, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability or protected veteran status.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 3/19/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15521

KAPSARC School of Public Policy

Rank: Faculty - Energy & Environmental Economics

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Public Administration, Political Theory

Position Summary:

The KSPP is a newly established graduate school that offers master's and executive education programs. The first cohort of master's students commenced their graduate studies in the fall of 2024. Situated in the thriving capital city of Riyadh, Saudi Arabia, on the state-of-the-art KAPSARC campus, the KSPP is well-placed to offer students an exceptional educational experience.

The KSPP's vision is to be a world-class education and research institution that prepares the next generation of public policy leaders and professionals within the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia and globally. To achieve this vision, the school is committed to providing high-quality educational programs and creating a bridge between academia, industry, and government. As the first public policy school in the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia, the KSPP is uniquely positioned to offer public policy degrees focusing on management and leadership, energy and climate policy, and data analytics. By providing concentrations in these areas, the school aims to help students develop the skills and knowledge necessary to address pressing policy challenges and make a meaningful impact in their communities and beyond.

The KAPSARC School of Public Policy (KSPP) invites applications for a faculty position in energy and environmental economics. We welcome candidates whose research, teaching, and outreach activities broadly focus on energy markets, climate finance, and climate policy design. The KSPP offers a highly competitive salary and benefits package, including children's educational support, housing support, and premier health insurance.

Responsibilities:

The successful candidate will be expected to carry out impactful research, teach courses related to the candidate's research field, contribute to core courses and/or electives in public sector management and leadership, supervise capstone projects, and contribute to the overall academic environment of the School.

Qualifications:

The successful candidate must have a Ph.D. in economics with a field specialization in energy and environmental economics.

To apply, please visit: <https://www.kspp.edu.sa/careers/faculty-energy-environmental-economics>

Start Date:

Date Posted: 11/4/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15146

Yale University

Rank: Assistant Professor, Normative Political Theory

The Department of Political Science at Yale University is seeking to hire a faculty member with expertise in Normative Political Theory at the rank of Assistant Professor, beginning July 1, 2025. A successful applicant should focus on substantive questions in any area of political theory. The candidate will be asked to teach courses in political theory commensurate with their expertise. The initial appointment will be for 5 years. The teaching expectation is normally 3 courses per academic year.

Qualifications

Ph.D. or equivalent degree required at time of hire.

Application Instructions

All applications must include a cover letter, CV, 3 recommendation letters, 2 writing samples, and separate short (2 pages or less) research and teaching statements. All materials should be uploaded to Interfolio at <http://apply.interfolio.com/151667>. Review of applications will begin September 15, 2024 (or 30 days after posting, whichever is later), and to guarantee full consideration your file should be complete by this date.

Please contact Xaria Callender, Sr. Administrative Assistant for the Political Science Department, at xaria.callender@yale.edu if you have questions about the application process.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 8/15/2025

Date Posted: 8/15/2024

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 14645

Washington University in St. Louis

Rank: Assistant Professor in the field of Political Theory

The Department of Political Science at Washington University in St. Louis invites applications for a tenure-track faculty appointment in political theory at the rank of Assistant Professor, to begin in the fall semester of 2025. We are a small theory group that works closely with our empirically oriented colleagues: we are thus especially interested in scholars whose research speaks to pressing political problems, including but not limited to racial and gender-based justice, environmental justice, global justice, democratic erosion, populism, protest, and the political and ethical challenges posed by AI and other emerging technologies.

A Ph.D. in Political Science or a closely related field is required at the time of appointment. Duties will include teaching assigned courses, conducting research, writing for publication, advising students, participating in department and program governance, and university service.

Application materials should include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, statement of research and teaching interests, at least three letters of reference, writing samples, and other relevant materials.

Applications received before October 15, 2024 will receive full consideration. Consideration after that date will be at the discretion of the search committee. All applications and supporting documentation should be submitted electronically through Interfolio at <https://apply.interfolio.com/151789>. If you encounter difficulties with the application process or have any additional questions, please email Amanda Nutter (nutter@wustl.edu).

Start Date: Summer 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/13/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14629

PUBLIC ADMINISTRATION

Arkansas State University

Rank: Post-Doctoral Fellow

The Department of Government, Law & Policy at Arkansas State University invites applications for a teaching and research Post-Doctoral Fellow, beginning fall 2025 and lasting the 2025–26 academic year.

This position is open with respect to any aspect of public administration and policy research (comparative perspectives are openly considered), although candidates whose teaching interests include public finance, budgeting, or related topics are strongly encouraged to apply. Candidates who have a strong theoretical and empirical background with the ability to publish high quality research are preferred.

Please note: all position postings close at 12:00 A.M. CST on the position closing date

All items listed below are requirements must be submitted in order for your file to be considered complete:

- (1) A statement of purpose indicating research and teaching interests
- (2) Curriculum Vitae
- (3) Writing sample (e.g., recent peer-reviewed article, book chapter, or dissertation chapter)
- (4) Three (3) letters of recommendation

Arkansas State University is a comprehensive public research university located approximately 70 miles northwest of Memphis, TN. The department offers a well-rounded curriculum to its more than 100 majors. The department also offers two graduate programs—an MA in Political Science and a NASPAA-accredited MPA program. The latter includes an enrollment of more than 150 students.

Apply here: <https://phe.tbe.taleo.net/phe02/ats/careers/v2/viewRequisition?org=ARKASTAT2&cws=40&rid=36041>

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 5/19/2025

Date Posted: 5/8/2025

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 15575

Tufts University

Rank: Part-Time Lecturer in American Politics

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Administration, Public Policy

Position Description

The Department of Political Science at Tufts University invites applications for a part-time lecturer position to teach two in-person undergraduate courses in American politics during the 2025-2026 academic year. Both courses can be in the same semester (fall or spring), or the applicant can propose teaching one course per semester.

Qualifications

We welcome applications across the American politics subfield, though we are particularly interested in candidates who can teach a course on the U.S. Congress and/or the U.S. Presidency. Ph.D. or A.B.D. in Political Science or related field required. College/university teaching experience strongly preferred.

Application Instructions

All application materials must be submitted via Interfolio at: apply.interfolio.com/165149. Please submit a dossier including a cover letter that includes a discussion of teaching interests and/or experience, curriculum vitae, draft syllabus for at least one proposed course, and one letter of recommendation.

The search committee will begin screening applications immediately and will continue until the position is filled. Please contact Abdulahi Salam, Administrative Coordinator, at Abdulahi.Salam@tufts.edu with any questions. More information about our department can be found here: <https://as.tufts.edu/politicalscience/>.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 4/28/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15566

Michigan State University

Rank: Assistant Professor - Fixed Term

Subfield(s): Public Administration, Public Policy, Other

Director of Master of Public Policy Program

Michigan State University actively promotes a dynamic research and learning environment in which qualified individuals of differing perspectives, and cultural backgrounds pursue academic goals with mutual respect and shared inquiry.

Position Description

The Departments of Political Science and Economics invites outstanding candidates to apply to an Assistant Professor-Fixed Term position, to serve as Director of the Master of Public Policy Program. The Program is co-administered by the Departments of Political Science and Economics.

Duties

- Overseeing and organizing annual admissions process to the Program, including recruiting, communicating with, and reviewing applicants
- Completing academic reviews of students
- Advising students on course enrollment and degree requirements

- Acting as a resource for students on internship and post-degree employment opportunities
- Seeking partners for funding opportunities for enrolled students
- Teaching annual Capstone for students in final year of program
- Teaching 1-2 other courses in the Program per academic year, dependent on applicant experience & expertise
- Working with Political Science and College communications staff on promoting Program and alumni achievements
- Leading Program fundraising efforts, cultivating relationships with alumni, and engaging key stakeholders to advance the Program's mission and sustainability
- Overseeing administrative responsibilities, including program reviews, accreditation processes, and collaboration with the Departments of Political Science and Economics, College of Social Science, and Graduate School through regular meetings and reporting.

Required Degree

PhD in Economics, Public Administration, Public Policy, Political Science or related social science field by start date of appointment

Minimum Requirements

- At least five years experience working in higher education or public sector
- Strong written and oral communication skills
- Potential for high-quality instruction and mentoring at the graduate level
- Potential for working with students from diverse backgrounds and working to improve access to higher education for all students

Desired Qualifications

- Teaching experience at undergraduate or graduate level
- Administrative experience
- Applied public policy experience in the public, private, or non-profit sectors

Required Application Materials

- Cover letter
- Curriculum Vita
- Please provide the names and contact information of three references.

Review of Applications Begins On

4/21/2025

Website

<https://polisci.msu.edu/mpp/>

Department Statement

MSU is located in East Lansing, MI, with easy access to the state capital, Lake Michigan, Lake Huron, Lake Erie, Lake Superior (albeit more time-consuming), excellent school districts, affordable housing, Whole Foods, Horrocks, Trader Joe's, and two large metropolitan areas (Grand Rapids, Detroit).

MSU Statement

Michigan State University has been advancing the common good with uncommon will for more than 160 years. One of the top research universities in the world, MSU pushes the boundaries of discovery and forges enduring partnerships to solve the most pressing global challenges while providing life-changing opportunities to a diverse and inclusive academic community through more than 200 programs of study in 17 degree-granting colleges.

Equal Employment Opportunity Statement

All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, citizenship, age, disability or protected veteran status

Start Date: Summer 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 4/11/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15549

College of Charleston

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor of Political Science

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Public Administration, American Government and Politics

The Department of Political Science at the College of Charleston invites applications for a Visiting Assistant Professor position in environmental policy and politics beginning on August 16, 2025, and ending on May 15, 2026. The ideal candidate will have the skills necessary to teach the public policy core course and elective environmental law/policy courses in our NASPAA-accredited Master of Public Administration program. Undergraduate teaching requirements include a US-focused environmental policy course, American government, and introductory courses in public administration and policy. The expected teaching load is 4-4, with at least one graduate course and up to three undergraduate courses per semester. A PhD in Political Science, Public Administration, or a closely related field is preferred, but ABD candidates will be considered.

Applicants should apply online at <https://jobs.cofc.edu/> and submit a cover letter, a curriculum vita, graduate transcripts, a teaching portfolio (with teaching philosophy and evidence of teaching effectiveness including, but not limited to, course syllabi and course evaluations), and contact information for three references.

The Political Science Department has 20 full-time faculty, over 360 undergraduate majors (<http://polisci.cofc.edu/>), and a Geography Minor (<http://geography-minor.cofc.edu/>). The department also supports a NASPAA Accredited Master of Public Administration (<http://puba.cofc.edu/>) and a Master of Science in Environmental and Sustainability Studies (<http://mes.cofc.edu/>) program. The Department of Political Science is committed to the rigorous study of politics, power, and place, expanding opportunities for learning and service, career preparation, and civic participation locally and globally.

The College of Charleston is located in historic downtown Charleston in a coastal metropolitan area of 800,000. The College is a public, liberal arts and sciences institution with a student body consisting of approximately 10,000 undergraduate students and 900 graduate students, including 20% of whom identify as minority and 140 international students from 34 different countries. Additional information about the institution, the student body, and the surrounding area is available at <https://www.cofc.edu/>.

Questions about the search can be directed to the chair, Dr. Hollis France (franceh@cofc.edu), or Dr. Matt Nowlin, chair of the search committee. Review of applications will begin April 30th and continue until the position is filled. The College of Charleston is an AA/EO employer and seeks to create a work environment and organizational culture that reflects the society and community in which it is located and a climate for the success of every employee and student by appreciating the uniqueness that each one brings to the learning environment. To that end, we actively encourage applications from all groups underrepresented in higher education.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Date Posted: 4/2/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15537

University of Alabama, Tuscaloosa

Rank: Instructor of Political Science (3 Year Term, Renewable Contract Instructor)

Subfield(s): Public Administration, American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics

Position Summary

The Department of Political Science at the University of Alabama invites applications for a renewable contract instructor. This is a 9-month appointment will be for a three-year term, subject to satisfactory performance reviews. The appointment will begin on August 16, 2025.

Detailed Position Information

The Department of Political Science at the University of Alabama invites applications for a renewable contract instructor. The annual 9-month appointment will be for a three-year term, subject to satisfactory performance reviews. We invite applications from specialists in public administration, U.S. politics, international relations, or comparative politics. Minimum qualifications: MA in Political Science or related field; with some experience teaching at the college level. Preferred qualifications: PhD in Political Science or a related field; experience teaching courses independently. For more information about the department, see <https://psc.ua.edu/>. The position begins August 16, 2025.

Applications must be submitted via the University website at <http://careers.ua.edu/cw/en-us/job/526037>

Application review will begin immediately and will continue until the position is filled. Submit applications by April 30, 2025, for best consideration.

Minimum Qualifications

MA in Political Science or related field; with some experience teaching at the college level.

Preferred Qualifications

PhD in Political Science or a related field; experience teaching courses independently.

Instructions and Required Materials for Application

Applicants should submit a cover letter summarizing their teaching qualifications and experience, courses prepared to offer, and reasons for interest in the position; a CV; evidence of teaching effectiveness; and the names and contact information of 3 references (ideally with knowledge of candidate's teaching experience). Letters will only be required for short-listed candidates.

To see more information and to apply: <http://careers.ua.edu/cw/en-us/job/526037> ***

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 3/20/2025

Salary: $40,000 - $49,999

eJobs ID: 15524

University of the Pacific

Rank: Post-Doctoral Instructor

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Administration, Public Policy

The Department of Political Science at University of the Pacific invites applications for a three-year, full-time, non-tenure track appointment as post-doctoral instructor in American politics. A Ph.D. in Political Science is required by the time of appointment. Salary is commensurate with experience and includes the option of receiving additional compensation for summer teaching. This position includes health, dental and vision benefits, as well as conference travel support during the academic year. The successful candidate will teach 5 courses over the academic year. Preference is given to applicants with teaching experience in American institutions and/or public policy.

Qualified candidates should have demonstrated experience working with a diverse community of learners. For more information about Pacific's Political Science department, visit: <http://www.pacific.edu/Academics/Schools-and-Colleges/College-of-the-Pacific/Academics/Departments-and-Programs/political-science.html>

Application review will begin on March 14, 2025 and will continue until the position has been filled. Please apply through people admin and include the following as attachments: 1) letter of interest; 2) CV; 3) teaching statement, including a list of preferred courses; 4) up to two sample syllabi and related course materials including teaching evaluations; and 5) names and contact information for three references.

To apply, please use the following link: <https://pacific.peopleadmin.com/postings/30056>

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 3/7/2025

Salary: $40,000 - $49,999

eJobs ID: 15495

KAPSARC School of Public Policy

Rank: Faculty - Energy & Environmental Economics

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Public Administration, Political Theory

Position Summary:

The KSPP is a newly established graduate school that offers master's and executive education programs. The first cohort of master's students commenced their graduate studies in the fall of 2024. Situated in the thriving capital city of Riyadh, Saudi Arabia, on the state-of-the-art KAPSARC campus, the KSPP is well-placed to offer students an exceptional educational experience.

The KSPP's vision is to be a world-class education and research institution that prepares the next generation of public policy leaders and professionals within the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia and globally.

To achieve this vision, the school is committed to providing high-quality educational programs and creating a bridge between academia, industry, and government. As the first public policy school in the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia, the KSPP is uniquely positioned to offer public policy degrees focusing on management and leadership, energy and climate policy, and data analytics. By providing concentrations in these areas, the school aims to help students develop the skills and knowledge necessary to address pressing policy challenges and make a meaningful impact in their communities and beyond.

The KAPSARC School of Public Policy (KSPP) invites applications for a faculty position in energy and environmental economics. We welcome candidates whose research, teaching, and outreach activities broadly focus on energy markets, climate finance, and climate policy design. The KSPP offers a highly competitive salary and benefits package, including children's educational support, housing support, and premier health insurance.

Responsibilities:

The successful candidate will be expected to carry out impactful research, teach courses related to the candidate's research field, contribute to core courses and/or electives in public sector management and leadership, supervise capstone projects, and contribute to the overall academic environment of the School.

Qualifications:

The successful candidate must have a Ph.D. in economics with a field specialization in energy and environmental economics.

To apply, please visit: <https://www.kspp.edu.sa/careers/faculty-energy-environmental-economics>

Start Date:

Date Posted: 11/4/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15146

KAPSARC School of Public Policy

Rank: Faculty - Public Finance

Subfield(s): Administration, Public Administration, Public Policy

Position Summary:

The KSPP is a newly established graduate school that offers master's and executive education programs. The first cohort of master's students commenced their graduate studies in the fall of 2024. Situated in the thriving capital city of Riyadh, Saudi Arabia, on the state-of-the-art KAPSARC campus, the KSPP is well-placed to offer students an exceptional educational experience.

The KSPP's vision is to be a world-class education and research institution that prepares the next generation of public policy leaders and professionals within the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia and globally. To achieve this vision, the school is committed to providing high-quality educational programs and creating a bridge between academia, industry, and government. As the first public policy school in the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia, the KSPP is uniquely positioned to offer public policy degrees focusing on management and leadership, energy and climate policy, and data analytics. By providing concentrations in these areas, the school aims to help students develop the skills and knowledge necessary to address pressing policy challenges and make a meaningful impact in their communities and beyond. The KAPSARC School of Public Policy (KSPP) invites applications for a faculty position in public management.

The KAPSARC School of Public Policy (KSPP) invites applications for a faculty position in public finance. We welcome candidates whose research, teaching, and outreach activities broadly address public finance topics. The KSPP offers a highly competitive salary and benefits package, including children's educational support, housing support, and premier health insurance.

Responsibilities:

The successful candidate will be expected to carry out impactful research, teach courses related to the candidate's research field, contribute to core courses and/or electives in public sector management and leadership, supervise capstone projects, and contribute to the overall academic environment of the School.

Qualifications:

The successful candidate must have a Ph.D. in economics with a field specialization in public finance

To apply, please visit: <https://www.kspp.edu.sa/careers/faculty-public-finance>

Start Date:

Date Posted: 11/4/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15145

KAPSARC School of Public Policy

Rank: Faculty - Public Management

Position Summary:

The KSPP is a newly established graduate school that offers master's and executive education programs. The first cohort of master's students commenced their graduate studies in the fall of 2024. Situated in the thriving capital city of Riyadh, Saudi Arabia, on the state-of-the-art KAPSARC campus, the KSPP is well-placed to offer students an exceptional educational experience.

The KSPP's vision is to be a world-class education and research institution that prepares the next generation of public policy leaders and professionals within the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia and globally. To achieve this vision, the school is committed to providing high-quality educational programs and creating a bridge between academia, industry, and government. As the first public policy school in the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia, the KSPP is uniquely positioned to offer public policy degrees focusing on management and leadership, energy and climate policy, and data analytics. By providing concentrations in these areas, the school aims to help students develop the skills and knowledge necessary to address pressing policy challenges and make a meaningful impact in their communities and beyond. The KAPSARC School of Public Policy (KSPP) invites applications for a faculty position in public management.

The KAPSARC School of Public Policy (KSPP) invites applications for a faculty position in public management. We welcome candidates from any subfield of public management, including those with research interests that intersect with political science, decision science, and/or economics. The KSPP offers a highly competitive salary and benefits package, including children's educational support, housing support, and premier health insurance.

Responsibilities:

The successful candidate will be expected to carry out impactful research, teach courses related to the candidate's research field, contribute to core courses and/or electives in public sector management and leadership, supervise capstone projects, and contribute to the overall academic environment of the School.

Qualifications:

The successful candidate must have a Ph.D. in management science, political science, or similar disciplines with a track record of research on public management topics.

To apply, please visit: <https://www.kspp.edu.sa/careers/faculty-public-management>

Start Date:

Date Posted: 11/4/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15147

PUBLIC LAW

European University Institute

Rank: Chair in Transnational Law

Specializations: Environmental Policy, International Law & Organizations, Trade

The European University Institute is looking for candidates with a distinguished record of scholarly publications and experience in postgraduate teaching and doctoral supervision, to fill a Chair in Transnational Law.

We are looking for exceptional candidates with a strong focus on transnational law scholarship, in areas of expertise related, but not limited to, institution building for the management of the environment, human rights, security, trade, economic law, health, digital and AI.

The ideal candidate has demonstrable expertise and interest in engaging in innovative research that addresses the complex interactions between national, international, and supranational legal systems in addressing transnational societal challenges. The successful candidate will be expected to collaborate with scholars from various disciplines, including political science, economics, history and international relations, to address pressing European and global issues. We are looking for a legal scholar with a strong disciplinary background and a commitment to multi- and interdisciplinary teaching and research.

We are looking for exceptional candidates whose teaching and research experience and expertise can be demonstrated by a robust track record of university-level teaching, stakeholder training, and significant academic publications. Experience in policy advice or policymaking is highly desirable.

Interested applicants should consult our webpage for further particulars: <https://www.eui.eu/About/JobOpportunities/Open-competitions-for-academic-posts>

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 6/25/2025

Date Posted: 5/29/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15597

University of North Texas

Rank: Continuing (renewable) Lecturer: American Politics, Legal Studies

Specializations: Constitutional Law & Theory, Civil Rights & Liberties, Criminal Justice

The Department of Political Science at the University of North Texas invites applications for a Continuing (renewable) Lecturer position anticipated to begin in the Fall of 2025. The faculty member will be expected to teach our core undergraduate American politics courses (2305 and 2306 classes). The typical teaching load is 4/4 but with a teaching release for service to the department (i.e. a 3/3 load with service requirement). The faculty member will also contribute to advising students in our legal studies minor and certificate programs and is expected to contribute to the law-related upper division courses, including American Legal Systems, and the three course sequence in Constitutional Law. Responsibilities at the college and university level include coordinating with other advisors and oversight of the Legal Studies Certificate and Legal Studies Minor. Ideal candidates will be able to contribute to our dynamic student body, understand the importance of a holistic student experience, and connect students to alumni working with both groups to facilitate student opportunities for lifelong learning.

A master's degree in political science or other law-related discipline, or a Juris Doctor degree (J.D.) from accredited institutions are required.

A Ph.D. is preferred although ABD students may also be considered depending on their credentials. Those with experience in public law and legal studies, teaching excellence, undergraduate advising, and programmatic service are preferred. Those with experience in public law and legal studies, teaching excellence, undergraduate advising, and programmatic service are preferred.

The Department of Political Science at UNT is a highly productive department with 30 faculty members who are committed to excellence in both teaching and research. It offers BA, MA, and PhD degrees. Faculty in the department have previously edited the American Political Science Review, International Studies Quarterly, Politics and Religion, Politics, Groups, and Identities, and the Journal of Political Science Education. The department also houses the Castleberry Peace Institute, the Peace Studies Program, and the Latina/o Mexican-American Studies Program. The Department's web site is: <http://politicalscience.unt.edu>

Applications may be submitted through the University of North Texas job portal:

<https://careers.untssystem.edu/jobs/lecturer-continuing-denton-texas-united-states-8d876415-0db6-4990-96e4-6dee0e5292f5>

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 4/28/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15568

Baylor University

Rank: Lecturer, Full-Time, Temporary - Political Science

To apply, go to: <https://apply.interfolio.com/164380>

Applications will be reviewed as they are received.

Baylor University: Office of the Provost: Arts and Sciences: Arts and Sciences - Humanities and Social Sciences: Political Science

This is a temporary lecturer position with full-time responsibilities teaching courses in the Department of Political Science during the 2025-2026 academic year. Primary teaching responsibilities will be the core curriculum common course, PSC 1387 The U.S. Constitution, Its Interpretation, and the American Constitutional Experience. We especially welcome applicants with research or undergraduate teaching experience in American politics, public law, or political or constitutional theory. An ability to teach introductory courses in another subfield of political science is welcome but not required. Finalists will be required to attend an on-campus interview with University administration. Employment will be contingent upon the successful completion of a background check.

Located in Waco, Texas, Baylor University is the oldest college in Texas. With a population of 21,000 diverse students, Baylor is one of the top universities in the nation, having been named an R1 institution by the Carnegie Classification in January 2022. Baylor is also on the honor roll of the "Great Colleges to Work For" from The Chronicle of Higher Education; Baylor offers competitive salaries and benefits while allowing faculty and staff to live in one of the fastest-growing parts of the state. Our strategic plan, Illuminate, guides the University as we continue to live up to Baylor's mission of educating men and women for worldwide leadership and service by integrating academic excellence and Christian commitment within a caring community.

Qualifications

The successful applicant must hold an advanced degree in the teaching discipline, preferably the Ph.D., by the start date of the appointment. Teaching experience is preferred.

The following application materials should be submitted through Interfolio:

- (1) a cover/application letter,
- (2) current curriculum vitae,
- (3) an official transcript of the highest degree completed (if a Ph.D. or other advanced degree is in progress, a transcript showing hours completed toward the Ph.D. is also required)

All applicants must complete the self-disclosed Religious Affiliation Form in Interfolio.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 3/21/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15523

University of Nevada, Las Vegas

Rank: Assistant Professor-in-Residence, Public Law, Department of Political Science

https://nshe.wd1.myworkdayjobs.com/en-US/UNLV-External/job/UNLV1-Main-Campus-Las-Vegas/Assistant-Professor-in-Residence--Public-Law--Department-of-Political-Science--R0146179-_R0146179

The Department of Political Science at the University of Nevada, Las Vegas, invites applications from well-qualified individuals for an Assistant Professor-in-Residence of Public Law starting in the fall semester of 2025. At UNLV, faculty-in-residence are full-time, non-tenure-track, instruction-intensive faculty members with a promotional track from Assistant Professor-in-Residence, to Associate Professor-in-Residence, to Professor-in-Residence. Faculty-in-Residence in the Department of Political Science participate in departmental meetings and committees, and they contribute to departmental deliberation and decision making on most matters. Job responsibilities include teaching twelve credits in each of the fall and spring semesters, which may include a mixture of in-person and online classes. In addition to teaching introductory courses in American politics, the successful candidate will be expected to teach undergraduate courses in the American judicial process and various topics in constitutional law from a social science perspective. Other responsibilities include mentoring undergraduate students and providing appropriate levels of service at the department, college, and university levels. The department is interested in candidates whose professional experience has prepared them to contribute to our commitment to diversity and inclusion in higher education.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 2/5/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15398

Dickinson College

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor of Political Science (Comparative Law/Law and Society)

The Political Science and Law & Policy programs at Dickinson College seek applications for a full-time Visiting Assistant Professor of law and society. A successful applicant will have research and teaching interests in either law and society or in comparative law. This position is for one year with the possibility of renewal and carries a five-course (annual) teaching load. The department expects the successful candidate to be a committed, collaborative, and imaginative scholar with a Ph.D. in hand by September 2025.

Dickinson College is a highly selective four-year, independent liberal arts college with 2300 students. It is located 20 minutes west of Harrisburg and is a two-hour drive from Baltimore, Washington, D.C., and Philadelphia. Students, faculty, and staff often enjoy the food, art, entertainment, and cultural enrichment of these major hubs and/or New York City. The ability to create inclusive learning environments for an increasingly diverse student body will be an important characteristic of the successful candidate. Applicants may highlight their ongoing or anticipated contributions to promoting equity and inclusion in their materials. Interested candidates should apply for this position electronically via <https://jobs.dickinson.edu>.

Review of applications will begin February 1, 2025. Candidates should submit via QUEST (online application system) at <https://jobs.dickinson.edu>.

dickinson.edu; please include a letter of application, a curriculum vitae, a graduate transcript, three letters of recommendation, a statement of teaching philosophy, sample syllabi, and teaching evaluations or other evidence of teaching effectiveness. Review of applications will begin at the start of February and will continue until the position is filled. Please address questions to the department chair, J. Toby Reiner at: reinerj@dickinson.edu.

Dickinson College is committed to building a representative and diverse faculty, administrative staff, and student body. We strive to foster an inclusive community where members from all backgrounds can live, learn, and thrive together. Accordingly, we encourage applications from all qualified persons.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 1/9/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15333

Dickinson College

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor of Political Science (US Public Law)

The Political Science and Law & Policy programs at Dickinson College seek applications for a full-time Visiting Assistant Professor of American Public Law. A successful applicant will have research and teaching interests in either constitutional law or the judiciary. The ability to teach either American politics or political theory at introductory level is a plus. This position is for one year with the possibility of renewal and carries a five-course (annual) teaching load. The department expects the successful candidate to be a committed, collaborative, and imaginative scholar with a Ph.D. in hand by September 2025.

Dickinson College is a highly selective four-year, independent liberal arts college with 2300 students. It is located 20 minutes west of Harrisburg and is a two-hour drive from Baltimore, Washington, D.C., and Philadelphia. Students, faculty, and staff often enjoy the food, art, entertainment, and cultural enrichment of these major hubs and/or New York City. The ability to create inclusive learning environments for an increasingly diverse student body will be an important characteristic of the successful candidate. Applicants may highlight their ongoing or anticipated contributions to promoting equity and inclusion in their materials.

Interested candidates should apply for this position electronically via <https://jobs.dickinson.edu>. Review of applications will begin February 1, 2025. Candidates should submit via QUEST (online application system) at <https://jobs.dickinson.edu>; please include a letter of application, a curriculum vitae, a graduate transcript, three letters of recommendation, a statement of teaching philosophy, sample syllabi, and teaching evaluations or other evidence of teaching effectiveness.

Review of applications will begin at the start of February and will continue until the position is filled. Please address questions to the department chair, J. Toby Reiner at: reinerj@dickinson.edu. Dickinson College is committed to building a representative and diverse faculty, administrative staff, and student body. We strive to foster an inclusive community where members from all backgrounds can live, learn, and thrive together. Accordingly, we encourage applications from all qualified persons.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 1/9/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15332

PUBLIC POLICY

European University Institute

Rank: Chair (or Assistant Professors) in Digital Governance and Policy Innovation

The School of Transnational Governance seeks to appoint a Chair in Digital Governance and Policy Innovation, or alternatively two Chairs at Assistant Professor level.

We recognise that digital governance and policy innovation are fast-moving domains. We are looking for candidates who can think outside the box and who are committed to developing new ways of thinking and doing for institutions and societies by leveraging digital technologies. We encourage applications from candidates with relevant experience in domains that are reshaping digital governance and policy in theory and practice (for example, systems thinking, interface design and interoperability, or complexity theory and experimentalism).

We are looking for exceptional candidates with experience and expertise in digital governance, especially but not exclusively with a focus on: digital policy design & implementation; the implementation and regulation of AI; data literacy & management; cross-border data flows, digital trade and cyber security; digital infrastructures and content governance; regulatory frameworks for digital spaces. We are looking for candidates with a strong disciplinary background and a commitment to multi- and interdisciplinary teaching and research.

Interested applicants should consult our webpage for further particulars: <https://www.eui.eu/About/JobOpportunities/Open-competitions-for-academic-posts>

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 6/25/2025

Date Posted: 5/29/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15596

National University of Singapore

Rank: Head of Department position (Full Professor level with tenure)

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Public Policy

The Department of Political Science at the National University of Singapore invites applications for the position of Head of Department at the rank of full professor or higher (endowed chair professor). Research and teaching specialisation is open, although candidates should contribute to one or more of the Department's four subfields: comparative politics, governance and public policy, international relations, and political theory.

The successful candidate will have an internationally recognised record of research and publication, as well as a record of very good teaching. Exceptional leadership skills are essential, as is a demonstrable commitment to intellectual and methodological pluralism. Other qualifications include evidence of substantial administrative experience; a record of promoting faculty and student success; a commitment to collegiality and diversity; and excellent interpersonal, communication, and organisational skills. The Head is expected to provide leadership to implement a strategic vision, with the support of department faculty, which advances the Department's international profile and reputation. Research and teaching expectations may be reduced (e.g. one course teaching commitment per year), given the Head's crucial service role.

Interested candidates should submit a CV, cover letter that addresses the qualifications outlined above, research statement (approx. two pages), teaching statement (approx. two pages), and names and addresses of at least four references.

Review of applications will begin in August 2025 and will continue until the position is filled. Campus visits for selected candidates will be arranged for October 2025. The position is expected to commence in January 2027. Questions about the position should be directed to the Search Committee Chair, Professor William Bain (wbain@nus.edu.sg).

Exceptional candidates at the rank of senior associate professor are welcome to apply, subject to being promoted to full professor upon appointment at NUS.

The Department of Political Science is a vibrant multidisciplinary community comprised of over 25 tenure- and educator-track faculty members. The Department offers degrees in Political Science and Global Studies at the undergraduate level and in Political Science at the Masters and Doctoral levels. It also partners with the International Political Science Association (IPSA) to host the IPSA-NUS Summer School in Social Science Research Methods annually. It is one of 16 departments in a large Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences, which is home to a comprehensive range of programmes in Asian Studies, Humanities, Social Science, and Language Studies. The Lee Kuan Yew School of Public Policy, the Asia Research Institute, the Asia-Europe Foundation, the East Asian Institute, the ISEAS–Yusof Ishak Institute, among other research units inside and outside NUS, provide additional opportunities for research interaction and collaboration.

NUS offers an internationally competitive remuneration package that includes a period of subsidised housing (for non-Singaporean applicants), annual performance bonus, medical benefits, and relocation expenses (where applicable). Outstanding applicants might also be considered for endowed/chair professorship that comes with annual research support and business class travel eligibility. NUS provides significant research support, including generous start-up grants for new faculty members.

Please submit your application through the NUS Career Portal : https://careers.nus.edu.sg/job/Professor-&-Head-of-Department-%28Political-Science%29/29011-en_GB/

Qualifications

The successful candidate will have an internationally recognised record of research and publication, as well as a record of very good teaching. Exceptional leadership skills are essential, as is a strong commitment to intellectual and methodological pluralism. Other qualifications include evidence of substantial administrative experience; a record of promoting faculty and student success; a commitment to collegiality and diversity; and excellent interpersonal, communication, and organisational skills. The Head is expected to provide leadership in co-creating with department faculty to implement a strategic vision, consistent with NUS' research and teaching mission, which advances the Department's international profile and reputation. Research and teaching expectations may be reduced (e.g. one course teaching commitment per year), given the Head's crucial service role.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 5/27/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15591

Hunter College

Rank: Distinguished Lecturer - Roosevelt House, Public Policy Program

Distinguished Lecturer - Roosevelt House, Public Policy Program

FACULTY VACANCY ANNOUNCEMENT

Hunter College, City University of New York (CUNY), invites applications for the position of Distinguished Lecturer, Public Policy, and Associate Director of the Public Policy Program at the Roosevelt House Public Policy Institute. We seek a public policy expert, preferably with experience working in a college environment to teach, to work on public programming and civic engagement, and to help administer the Public Policy Program at Roosevelt House.

Hunter College is the largest college of the City University of New York. It is comprised of five schools: Arts and Sciences, Education, Nursing, Health Professions, and Social Work, and has nearly 600 full-time faculty members. Hunter enrolls over 23,000 students and has one of the most diverse student bodies in the United States. Hunter is committed to active engagement with students and the community at large and embraces equity, inclusiveness, and global awareness in all dimensions of our work. Located near the main campus of Hunter College, the Roosevelt House Public Policy Institute is based in the former home of Franklin and Eleanor Roosevelt and is dedicated to fostering academic and public engagement in a wide range of domestic policy issues and international human rights. The Institute opened in 2010. Roosevelt House administers two interdisciplinary programs for undergraduates: in public policy and human rights. The Public Policy Program offers students the opportunity to fulfill the requirements for either a minor or a more advanced certificate in Public Policy. Nearly 100 students are currently enrolled in the Public Policy Program (PPP).

The incumbent's key responsibilities will be focused on teaching program courses each semester and developing outreach public policy programming. This is a one-year term appointment with the possibility of annual renewals based on satisfactory performance, up to a total of six reappointments. The incumbent will work closely with the Director of the Public Policy Program, the Director of Roosevelt House, and the Program's Policy and Curriculum faculty committee and its chair in the planning and development of new courses. The successful candidate will be responsible for running existing internship and civic engagement programs and developing new ones. The incumbent will work closely with leadership at Roosevelt House in developing academic conferences and public programs and in publicizing them. The incumbent will convene subject matter experts and thought leaders to discuss and consider important public policy initiatives via academic and public program activities. The incumbent will also take the lead in working with faculty associates, offering support for research initiatives and centers based at Roosevelt House. Hunter College has both a teaching and a research mission.

QUALIFICATIONS

Bachelor's degree and a record of achievement in a profession or field of expertise related to teaching assignments required. Advanced degree and a record of achievement in a profession or field of expertise related to teaching assignments. PhD preferred. Also required is the ability to cooperate with others for the good of the institution. A strong record of and interest in community, government, and civic engagement, along with public policy practitioners and officials, are a plus for job candidates. Demonstrated leadership, teaching, and practical experience in public policy preferred. A record of academic publications and public scholarship is preferred.

COMPENSATION

Salary is commensurate with academic accomplishments and experience within the range: $85,000 - $98,309.

CUNY is in the process of implementing salary schedule increases. Once implemented, salaries of eligible employees will be adjusted by 6.09% with additional increases of 3.25% effective 9/1/2025 and 3.5% effective 9/1/26, in accordance with the terms of the PSC-CUNY collective bargaining agreement.

CUNY offers a competitive benefits package that includes health insurance, pension and retirement benefits, paid parental leave, and savings programs. The institution is committed to faculty professional development, providing mentoring and support for research, scholarship, and publication.

HOW TO APPLY

Applications must be submitted online by accessing the CUNY Portal on City University of New York job website www.cuny.edu/employment. To search for this vacancy, click on SEARCH ALL POSTINGS and in SEARCH JOBS field, enter the Job Opening ID number 30280.

Click on the "APPLY NOW" button and follow the application instructions. Current users of the site should access their established accounts; new users should follow the instructions to set up an account. Please have your documents available to attach into the application before you begin. Note, the required material must be uploaded as ONE document under CV/ Resume (do not upload individual files for a cover letter, references, etc.). The document must be in .doc, .docx, .pdf, .rtf, or text format- and name of file should not exceed ten (10) characters – also DO NOT USE SYMBOLS (such as accents (é, è, â, î or ô), ñ, ü, ÿ, -, _ or ç)).

Incomplete applications will not be considered.

Please include:

- Cover Letter and/ or Statement of scholarly interests
- Curriculum Vitae/ Resume
- Names and contact information of 3 references

Upload all documents as ONE single file-- PDF format preferred

CLOSING DATE

The search will remain open until the position is filled.

JOB SEARCH CATEGORY

CUNY Job Posting: Faculty

EQUAL EMPLOYMENT OPPORTUNITY

CUNY encourages people with disabilities, minorities, veterans and women to apply. At CUNY, Italian Americans are also included among our protected groups. Applicants and employees will not be discriminated against on the basis of any legally protected category, including sexual orientation or gender identity. EEO/AA/Vet/Disability Employer.

Job ID
30280

Location
Hunter College

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 5/23/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15589

Arkansas State University

Rank: Post-Doctoral Fellow

The Department of Government, Law & Policy at Arkansas State University invites applications for a teaching and research Post-Doctoral Fellow, beginning fall 2025 and lasting the 2025–26 academic year.

This position is open with respect to any aspect of public administration and policy research (comparative perspectives are openly considered), although candidates whose teaching interests include public finance, budgeting, or related topics are strongly encouraged to apply. Candidates who have a strong theoretical and empirical background with the ability to publish high quality research are preferred.

Please note: all position postings close at 12:00 A.M. CST on the position closing date

All items listed below are requirements must be submitted in order for your file to be considered complete:

- (1) A statement of purpose indicating research and teaching interests
- (2) Curriculum Vitae
- (3) Writing sample (e.g., recent peer-reviewed article, book chapter, or dissertation chapter)
- (4) Three (3) letters of recommendation

Arkansas State University is a comprehensive public research university located approximately 70 miles northwest of Memphis, TN. The department offers a well-rounded curriculum to its more than 100 majors. The department also offers two graduate programs—an MA in Political Science and a NASPAA-accredited MPA program. The latter includes an enrollment of more than 150 students.

Apply here: <https://phe.tbe.taleo.net/phe02/ats/careers/v2/viewRequisition?org=ARKASTAT2&cws=40&rid=36041>

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 5/19/2025

Date Posted: 5/8/2025

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 15575

Tufts University

Rank: Part-Time Lecturer in American Politics

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Administration, Public Policy

Position Description

The Department of Political Science at Tufts University invites applications for a part-time lecturer position to teach two in-person undergraduate courses in American politics during the 2025–2026 academic year. Both courses can be in the same semester (fall or spring), or the applicant can propose teaching one course per semester.

Qualifications

We welcome applications across the American politics subfield, though we are particularly interested in candidates who can teach a course on the U.S. Congress and/or the U.S. Presidency. Ph.D. or A.B.D. in Political Science or related field required. College/university teaching experience strongly preferred.

Application Instructions

All application materials must be submitted via Interfolio at: apply.interfolio.com/165149. Please submit a dossier including a cover letter that includes a discussion of teaching interests and/or experience, curriculum vitae, draft syllabus for at least one proposed course, and one letter of recommendation.

The search committee will begin screening applications immediately and will continue until the position is filled. Please contact Abdulahi Salam, Administrative Coordinator, at Abdulahi.Salam@tufts.edu with any questions. More information about our department can be found here: <https://as.tufts.edu/politicalscience/>.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 4/28/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15566

Arizona State University

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Scholar

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Policy, Other
Specializations: Latino Politics, Political Behavior, Public Opinion

Postdoctoral Research Scholar

Arizona State University: Office of the University Provost Tempe: The College of Liberal Arts and Sciences: Hispanic Research Center

The Hispanic Research Center (HRC) at Arizona State University invites applications for a full-time Postdoctoral Research Scholar position in one or more areas that examines the experiences and challenges of the Hispanic/Latino community in the United States. The specific area of specialization in the study of Latinos is open, but preference will be given to candidates who bring an interdisciplinary perspective to their research and a desire to engage with faculty, students, and HRC affiliates to build an intellectual community. HRC is committed to the success of a Postdoctoral Research Scholar who will work closely with the HRC director and associate director, as well as other partners across ASU.

Anticipated start date is fall 2025, but exact start date is negotiable. Deadline to apply is May 21, 2025. Full information about the position and instructions for applying can be found at: <https://apply.interfolio.com/166638>

Questions should be directed to Stella Rouse (stella.rouse@asu.edu), Director, Hispanic Research Center and Professor, School of Politics and Global Studies.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 5/21/2025

Date Posted: 4/24/2025

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 15562

Stanford University

Rank: Faculty Appointment in International and Nuclear Security

Stanford seeks an expert in international security and nuclear security to hold the Stanton Foundation Professorship in Nuclear Security. A joint appointment would be made at tenured rank of Associate Professor or Professor in a Stanford department or school and as a Senior Fellow on a continuing term with an endowed chair at the Center for International Security and Cooperation (CISAC), Freeman Spogli Institute for International Studies (FSI). Faculty from the social sciences, engineering, and physical sciences are all encouraged to apply.

The successful candidate for this position will be an internationally recognized scholar with an interest and expertise in nuclear and security related research as demonstrated through prior publications, teaching, or public service. He or she may well have other significant interests and expertise as well that would add to Stanford's faculty community working on a variety of security issues. In addition, he or she may also have a record of policy relevant publication, teaching, or public service in additional security studies areas such as the military technology, nuclear power, and risk analysis, or on nuclear weapons states, states at risk for nuclear proliferation, and their security relationships with the United States.

Applicants should possess an exceptional record of research and publication and be committed to teaching at the undergraduate and graduate levels and training pre- and post-doctoral fellows at CISAC to become the next generation of scholars on international security policy. Applicants might also have substantial interest or proven expertise in making, advising or implementing national or international security policy. The successful candidates will be expected to provide leadership for the study of international security issues at Stanford University.

Application packages should be submitted online at <https://facultypositions.stanford.edu/en-us/job/494847/faculty-appointment-in-international-and-nuclear-security> and include the following documents: 1) a curriculum vitae with complete bibliography; 2) a research statement (up to 2 pages); 3) a statement of teaching interests (1 page); 4) up to three examples of scholarly publications; and 5) a cover letter.

Review of application files will start from July 15, 2025. Questions regarding this application may be directed to Patrick Laboon.

The expected base pay range for this position is:

Associate Professor (tenured) and/or Senior Fellow: $ 162,000 - $226,000

Professor (tenured) and/or Senior Fellow: $ 174,000 - $280,000

Stanford University has provided a pay range representing its good faith estimate of what the university reasonably expects to pay for the position. The pay offered to the selected candidate will be determined based on factors including (but not limited to) the experience and qualifications of the selected candidate including years since terminal degree, training, and field or discipline; departmental budget availability; internal equity; and external market pay for comparable jobs.

Stanford is an equal employment opportunity and affirmative action employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law. Stanford also welcomes applications from others who would bring additional dimensions to the University's research, teaching and clinical missions.

Consistent with its obligations under the law, the University will provide reasonable accommodations to applicants and employees with disabilities. Applicants requiring a reasonable accommodation for any part of the application or hiring process should contact Stanford University Human Resources at stanfordelr@stanford.edu.

Start Date:

Date Posted: 4/23/2025

Salary: Above $159,999

eJobs ID: 15560

Michigan State University

Rank: Assistant Professor - Fixed Term

Subfield(s): Public Administration, Public Policy, Other

Director of Master of Public Policy Program

Michigan State University actively promotes a dynamic research and learning environment in which qualified individuals of differing perspectives, and cultural backgrounds pursue academic goals with mutual respect and shared inquiry.

Position Description

The Departments of Political Science and Economics invites outstanding candidates to apply to an Assistant Professor-Fixed Term position, to serve as Director of the Master of Public Policy Program. The Program is co-administered by the Departments of Political Science and Economics.

Duties

- Overseeing and organizing annual admissions process to the Program, including recruiting, communicating with, and reviewing applicants
- Completing academic reviews of students
- Advising students on course enrollment and degree requirements
- Acting as a resource for students on internship and post-degree employment opportunities
- Seeking partners for funding opportunities for enrolled students
- Teaching annual Capstone for students in final year of program
- Teaching 1-2 other courses in the Program per academic year, dependent on applicant experience & expertise
- Working with Political Science and College communications staff on promoting Program and alumni achievements

- Leading Program fundraising efforts, cultivating relationships with alumni, and engaging key stakeholders to advance the Program's mission and sustainability
- Overseeing administrative responsibilities, including program reviews, accreditation processes, and collaboration with the Departments of Political Science and Economics, College of Social Science, and Graduate School through regular meetings and reporting.

Required Degree

PhD in Economics, Public Administration, Public Policy, Political Science or related social science field by start date of appointment

Minimum Requirements

- At least five years experience working in higher education or public sector
- Strong written and oral communication skills
- Potential for high-quality instruction and mentoring at the graduate level
- Potential for working with students from diverse backgrounds and working to improve access to higher education for all students

Desired Qualifications

- Teaching experience at undergraduate or graduate level
- Administrative experience
- Applied public policy experience in the public, private, or non-profit sectors

Required Application Materials

- Cover letter
- Curriculum Vita
- Please provide the names and contact information of three references.

Review of Applications Begins On 4/21/2025

Website

<https://polisci.msu.edu/mpp/>

Department Statement

MSU is located in East Lansing, MI, with easy access to the state capital, Lake Michigan, Lake Huron, Lake Erie, Lake Superior (albeit more time-consuming), excellent school districts, affordable housing, Whole Foods, Horrocks, Trader Joe's, and two large metropolitan areas (Grand Rapids, Detroit).

MSU Statement

Michigan State University has been advancing the common good with uncommon will for more than 160 years. One of the top research universities in the world, MSU pushes the boundaries of discovery and forges enduring partnerships to solve the most pressing global challenges while providing life-changing opportunities to a diverse and inclusive academic community through more than 200 programs of study in 17 degree-granting colleges.

Equal Employment Opportunity Statement

All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, citizenship, age, disability or protected veteran status

Start Date: Summer 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 4/11/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15549

College of Charleston

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor of Political Science

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Public Administration, American Government and Politics

The Department of Political Science at the College of Charleston invites applications for a Visiting Assistant Professor position in environmental policy and politics beginning on August 16, 2025, and ending on May 15, 2026. The ideal candidate will have the skills necessary to teach the public policy core course and elective environmental law/policy courses in our NASPAA-accredited Master of Public Administration program. Undergraduate teaching requirements include a US-focused environmental policy course, American government, and introductory courses in public administration and policy. The expected teaching load is 4-4, with at least one graduate course and up to three undergraduate courses per semester. A PhD in Political Science, Public Administration, or a closely related field is preferred, but ABD candidates will be considered.

Applicants should apply online at <https://jobs.cofc.edu/> and submit a cover letter, a curriculum vita, graduate transcripts, a teaching portfolio (with teaching philosophy and evidence of teaching effectiveness including, but not limited to, course syllabi and course evaluations), and contact information for three references.

The Political Science Department has 20 full-time faculty, over 360 undergraduate majors (<http://polisci.cofc.edu/>), and a Geography Minor (<http://geography-minor.cofc.edu/>). The department also supports a NASPAA Accredited Master of Public Administration (<http://puba.cofc.edu/>) and a Master of Science in Environmental and Sustainability Studies (<http://mes.cofc.edu/>) program. The Department of Political Science is committed to the rigorous study of politics, power, and place, expanding opportunities for learning and service, career preparation, and civic participation locally and globally.

The College of Charleston is located in historic downtown Charleston in a coastal metropolitan area of 800,000. The College is a public, liberal arts and sciences institution with a student body consisting of approximately 10,000 undergraduate students and 900 graduate students, including 20% of whom identify as minority and 140 international students from 34 different countries. Additional information about the institution, the student body, and the surrounding area is available at <https://www.cofc.edu/>.

Questions about the search can be directed to the chair, Dr. Hollis France (franceh@cofc.edu), or Dr. Matt Nowlin, chair of the search committee. Review of applications will begin April 30th and continue until the position is filled. The College of Charleston is an AA/EO employer and seeks to create a work environment and organizational culture that reflects the society and community in which it is located and a climate for the success of every employee and student by appreciating the uniqueness that each one brings to the learning environment. To that end, we actively encourage applications from all groups underrepresented in higher education.

Start Date: Fall 2025
Date Posted: 4/2/2025
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 15537

University of the Pacific

Rank: Post-Doctoral Instructor

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Administration, Public Policy

The Department of Political Science at University of the Pacific invites applications for a three-year, full-time, non-tenure track appointment as post-doctoral instructor in American politics. A Ph.D. in Political Science is required by the time of appointment. Salary is commensurate with experience and includes the option of receiving additional compensation for summer teaching. This position includes health, dental and vision benefits, as well as conference travel support during the academic year. The successful candidate will teach 5 courses over the academic year. Preference is given to applicants with teaching experience in American institutions and/or public policy.

Qualified candidates should have demonstrated experience working with a diverse community of learners. For more information about Pacific's Political Science department, visit: <http://www.pacific.edu/Academics/Schools-and-Colleges/College-of-the-Pacific/Academics/Departments-and-Programs/political-science.html>

Application review will begin on March 14, 2025 and will continue until the position has been filled. Please apply through people admin and include the following as attachments: 1) letter of interest; 2) CV; 3) teaching statement, including a list of preferred courses; 4) up to two sample syllabi and related course materials including teaching evaluations; and 5) names and contact information for three references.

To apply, please use the following link: <https://pacific.peopleadmin.com/postings/30056>

Start Date: Fall 2025
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 3/7/2025
Salary: $40,000 - $49,999
eJobs ID: 15495

Chapman University

Rank: Non-Tenure Track Instructional Assistant Professor of Environmental Policy

The Wilkinson College of Arts, Humanities, and Social Sciences at Chapman University invites applications for a Non-Tenure Track Instructional Assistant Professor of Environmental Policy, beginning August 1, 2025.

This position will support both the Environmental Science and Policy major (a joint program with Schmid College of Science and Technology) and the Environmental Studies minor. Teaching responsibilities include Introduction to Environmental Policy and elective courses such as US Environmental History, Society and the Environment, Environmental Rhetoric, and/or other areas of related interest.

The successful candidate should possess quantitative skills in the social sciences, including the use of R, as part of a mixed methods approach that is central to our students' learning.

For full description and application instructions, visit: <https://jobs.chronicle.com/job/37785602/instructional-assistant-professor-of-environmental-policy-non-tenure-track-fall-2025/>

Chapman University is a nationally ranked, R2 Carnegie Classified private institution offering traditional undergraduate and graduate programs in the heart of Orange County, one of Southern California's most diverse and vibrant regions. Chapman's campuses are home to nearly 10,000 students representing 50 states, three territories, and 78 countries. The 11 schools and colleges of Chapman, including Wilkinson College of Arts, Humanities, and Social Sciences, offer 65 bachelor's, 53 master's, and six doctoral programs, along with nearly 60 minors and 17 accelerated and bridge programs. Classes are taught by the more than 1,100 dedicated faculty members who are leaders in their fields, including Nobel Prize recipients, MacArthur Fellows, National Medal of Science honorees, former U.S. Supreme Court clerks, and Emmy, Grammy, and Academy Award winners.

The mission of Wilkinson College of Arts, Humanities, and Social Sciences is to foster rigorous inquiry among our students through a curriculum grounded in the liberal arts that is scholarly, creative, interdisciplinary, and experiential. Wilkinson College plays an important and unique role in the educational journey of every Chapman student and aims to ensure that graduates are prepared to assume their responsibility as global citizens, acting knowledgeably, and providing compassionate leadership in our community and world. <https://www.chapman.edu/wilkinson/index.aspx>

The University is dedicated to enhancing diversity and inclusion in all aspects of recruitment and employment. More information on diversity and inclusion at Chapman University is available at <https://www.chapman.edu/diversity/>.

RESPONSIBILITIES

- Teaching responsibilities include Introduction to Environmental Policy and elective courses such as US Environmental History, Society and the Environment, Environmental Rhetoric, and/or other areas of related interest.
- Plan, develop, and deliver high-quality courses in environmental policy and area of expertise and interest to support the ES&P and Environmental Studies programs.
- Offer regular office hours to provide students with opportunities for one-on-one consultations, academic advising, and clarification of course materials.
- Contribute to discussions and decisions related to curriculum development, and other relevant matters.
- Contribute to the overall mission of the institution by participating in faculty meetings and supporting campus-wide initiatives, events, and community engagement initiatives.
- Promote diversity, equity, and inclusion in the classroom by creating an inclusive and welcoming learning environment that respects and values the perspectives of all students.

QUALIFICATIONS

Required

- A Ph.D. in relevant field from an accredited institution of higher education.

- In-depth knowledge and expertise in the appropriate subject area and quantitative skills in the social sciences.
- A dedication to excellence in teaching and commitment to student success.
- The successful candidate should possess quantitative skills in the social sciences, including the use of R, as part of a mixed methods approach that is central to our students' learning.

Preferred

- Prior teaching experience
- Evidence of community engagement
- Interest in promoting undergraduate research

Application materials should be submitted through Interfolio:

<https://apply.interfolio.com/161808>

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 2/27/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15468

Washington University in St. Louis

Rank: Weidenbaum Center Postdoctoral Fellowship

We are pleased to announce a new Postdoctoral Fellowship in Survey Research through the Weidenbaum Center. This fellowship allows new Ph.D.s and early career scholars the opportunity to contribute to cutting-edge research using high-quality survey data collected by the Weidenbaum Center. This fellowship is uniquely situated at the intersection of academic and public-facing scholarship, allowing the fellow to pursue a multitude of career paths, contribute to research that directly affects important issues in American politics, and increase visibility of their research.

The Weidenbaum Center at Washington University in St. Louis invites applications from recent Ph.D. graduates for a one-year postdoctoral fellowship. The fellowship will run for 12 months, starting on or around July 1, 2025, with the possibility of a one-year renewal.

The Weidenbaum Center has supported survey data collection efforts through The American Panel Survey (TAPS), The American Social Survey (TASS), and the Weidenbaum Center Survey (WCS). The Center's most recent efforts have focused on the launch of the WCS, which is fielded three times each year, includes a sample of 3,000 respondents (2,000 general US adult population and oversample of 1,000 African Americans), with each survey paired with voter file data and web-tracking data for a subset of respondents. For more information on survey work supported by the Center, please visit: <https://wc.wustl.edu/weidenbaum-center-survey-work>.

The Fellow will work collaboratively with Taylor Carlson, graduate student fellows, and other Weidenbaum Center affiliates to support the launch of the Weidenbaum Center Survey and other data collection efforts through the Center. The Fellow will assist with the launch of an online dashboard that allows people to analyze and download the survey data, write public-facing reports describing key findings from the data, draft survey instruments, create publicly available data repositories, and conduct both coauthored and independent academic research.

We are seeking an individual with social science research interests who will advance the Center's mission by engaging in collaborative and independent research and who will enjoy the opportunity to contribute to public scholarship (blog posts, reports, website graphics). We are especially interested in candidates with training in survey methodology and experience with public-facing scholarship (e.g., op-eds). Candidates should detail their experience in these areas in their cover letters and showcase any of these interests in the writing sample. We anticipate that the Fellow will spend most of their time working on Center-related and coauthored projects with Taylor Carlson and other Center affiliates.

Qualifications

We invite applications from qualified candidates who will have a PhD in hand by the time of the appointment, are no more than four years from the granting of their Ph.D. at the time of the submission, and who do not yet hold tenure-track academic positions.

Applications are evaluated against a broad set of criteria with special consideration given to contributions the candidate can make to academic diversity in our University community and more specifically to the study of survey methodology or addressing contemporary issues in American society with survey data.

Application Instructions

Proposal Submission Deadline: We will begin reviewing applications on February 7 and anticipate scheduling Zoom interviews as early as late February.

Proposal Format:

Applications should include the following:

- Cover letter
- Curriculum vitae
- Research statement not to exceed 2000 words describing the dissertation project and other research
- Writing sample
- Three letters of reference
- The cover letter should be addressed to Taylor Carlson

NOTE: Please apply through Interfolio: <https://apply.interfolio.com/161709>

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 1/15/2025

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 15339

KAPSARC School of Public PolicyRank: Faculty - Climate Policy and Sustainability*Position Summary:

The KSPP is a newly established graduate school that offers master's and executive education programs. The first cohort of master's students commenced their graduate studies in the fall of 2024. Situated in the thriving capital city of Riyadh, Saudi Arabia, on the state-of-the-art KAPSARC campus, the KSPP is well-placed to offer students an exceptional educational experience.

The KSPP's vision is to be a world-class education and research institution that prepares the next generation of public policy leaders and professionals within the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia and globally. To achieve this vision, the school is committed to providing high-quality educational programs and creating a bridge between academia, industry, and government. As the first public policy school in the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia, the KSPP is uniquely positioned to offer public policy degrees focusing on management and leadership, energy and climate policy, and data analytics. By providing concentrations in these areas, the school aims to help students develop the skills and knowledge necessary to address pressing policy challenges and make a meaningful impact in their communities and beyond. The KAPSARC School of Public Policy (KSPP) invites applications for a faculty position in public management.

The KAPSARC School of Public Policy (KSPP) invites applications for a faculty position in climate policy and sustainability. We welcome candidates whose research, teaching, and outreach activities broadly focus on climate policies and sustainability. The KSPP offers a highly competitive salary and benefits package, including children's educational support, housing support, and premier health insurance.

Responsibilities:

The successful candidate will be expected to carry out impactful research, teach courses related to the candidate's research field, contribute to core courses and/or electives in public sector management and leadership, supervise capstone projects, and contribute to the overall academic environment of the School.

Qualifications:

The successful candidate must have a Ph.D. in economics or an interdisciplinary Ph.D. in environmental science/engineering and economics with a track record of research on environmental and sustainability topics.

To apply, please visit: <https://www.kspp.edu.sa/careers/faculty-climate-policy-and-sustainability>

Start Date:Date Posted: 11/4/2024Salary: CompetitiveeJobs ID: 15148KAPSARC School of Public Policy*Rank: Faculty - Energy & Environmental Economics*Subfield(s): Public Policy, Public Administration, Political TheoryPosition Summary:

The KSPP is a newly established graduate school that offers master's and executive education programs. The first cohort of master's students commenced their graduate studies in the fall of 2024. Situated in the thriving capital city of Riyadh, Saudi Arabia, on the state-of-the-art KAPSARC campus, the KSPP is well-placed to offer students an exceptional educational experience.

The KSPP's vision is to be a world-class education and research institution that prepares the next generation of public policy leaders and professionals within the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia and globally. To achieve this vision, the school is committed to providing high-quality educational programs and creating a bridge between academia, industry, and government. As the first public policy school in the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia, the KSPP is uniquely positioned to offer public policy degrees focusing on management and leadership, energy and climate policy, and data analytics. By providing concentrations in these areas, the school aims to help students develop the skills and knowledge necessary to address pressing policy challenges and make a meaningful impact in their communities and beyond.

The KAPSARC School of Public Policy (KSPP) invites applications for a faculty position in energy and environmental economics. We welcome candidates whose research, teaching, and outreach activities broadly focus on energy markets, climate finance, and climate policy design. The KSPP offers a highly competitive salary and benefits package, including children's educational support, housing support, and premier health insurance.

Responsibilities:

The successful candidate will be expected to carry out impactful research, teach courses related to the candidate's research field, contribute to core courses and/or electives in public sector management and leadership, supervise capstone projects, and contribute to the overall academic environment of the School.

Qualifications:

The successful candidate must have a Ph.D. in economics with a field specialization in energy and environmental economics.

To apply, please visit: <https://www.kspp.edu.sa/careers/faculty-energy-environmental-economics>

Start Date:Date Posted: 11/4/2024Salary: CompetitiveeJobs ID: 15146KAPSARC School of Public Policy*Rank: Faculty - Public Finance*Subfield(s): Administration, Public Administration, Public PolicyPosition Summary:

The KSPP is a newly established graduate school that offers master's and executive education programs. The first cohort of master's students commenced their graduate studies in the fall of 2024. Situated in the thriving capital city of Riyadh, Saudi Arabia, on the state-of-the-art KAPSARC campus, the KSPP is well-placed to offer students an exceptional educational experience.

The KSPP's vision is to be a world-class education and research institution that prepares the next generation of public policy leaders and professionals within the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia and globally. To achieve this vision, the school is committed to providing high-quality educational programs and creating a bridge between academia, industry, and government. As the first public policy school in the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia, the KSPP is uniquely positioned to offer public policy degrees focusing on management and leadership, energy and climate policy, and data analytics. By providing concentrations in these areas, the school aims to help students develop the skills and knowledge necessary to address pressing policy challenges and make a meaningful impact in their communities and beyond. The KAPSARC School of Public Policy (KSPP) invites applications for a faculty position in public management.

The KAPSARC School of Public Policy (KSPP) invites applications for a faculty position in public finance. We welcome candidates whose research, teaching, and outreach activities broadly address public finance topics. The KSPP offers a highly competitive salary and benefits package, including children's educational support, housing support, and premier health insurance.

Responsibilities:

The successful candidate will be expected to carry out impactful research, teach courses related to the candidate's research field, contribute to core courses and/or electives in public sector management and leadership, supervise capstone projects, and contribute to the overall academic environment of the School.

Qualifications:

The successful candidate must have a Ph.D. in economics with a field specialization in public finance

To apply, please visit: <https://www.kspp.edu.sa/careers/faculty-public-finance>

Start Date:

Date Posted: 11/4/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15145

KAPSARC School of Public Policy

Rank: Faculty - Public Management

Position Summary:

The KSPP is a newly established graduate school that offers master's and executive education programs. The first cohort of master's students commenced their graduate studies in the fall of 2024. Situated in the thriving capital city of Riyadh, Saudi Arabia, on the state-of-the-art KAPSARC campus, the KSPP is well-placed to offer students an exceptional educational experience.

The KSPP's vision is to be a world-class education and research institution that prepares the next generation of public policy leaders and professionals within the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia and globally.

To achieve this vision, the school is committed to providing high-quality educational programs and creating a bridge between academia, industry, and government. As the first public policy school in the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia, the KSPP is uniquely positioned to offer public policy degrees focusing on management and leadership, energy and climate policy, and data analytics. By providing concentrations in these areas, the school aims to help students develop the skills and knowledge necessary to address pressing policy challenges and make a meaningful impact in their communities and beyond. The KAPSARC School of Public Policy (KSPP) invites applications for a faculty position in public management.

The KAPSARC School of Public Policy (KSPP) invites applications for a faculty position in public management. We welcome candidates from any subfield of public management, including those with research interests that intersect with political science, decision science, and/or economics. The KSPP offers a highly competitive salary and benefits package, including children's educational support, housing support, and premier health insurance.

Responsibilities:

The successful candidate will be expected to carry out impactful research, teach courses related to the candidate's research field, contribute to core courses and/or electives in public sector management and leadership, supervise capstone projects, and contribute to the overall academic environment of the School.

Qualifications:

The successful candidate must have a Ph.D. in management science, political science, or similar disciplines with a track record of research on public management topics.

To apply, please visit: <https://www.kspp.edu.sa/careers/faculty-public-management>

Start Date:

Date Posted: 11/4/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15147

KAPSARC School of Public Policy

Rank: Faculty - Public Policy

Position Summary:

The KSPP is a newly established graduate school that offers master's and executive education programs. The first cohort of master's students commenced their graduate studies in the fall of 2024. Situated in the thriving capital city of Riyadh, Saudi Arabia, on the state-of-the-art KAPSARC campus, the KSPP is well-placed to offer students an exceptional educational experience.

The KSPP's vision is to be a world-class education and research institution that prepares the next generation of public policy leaders and professionals within the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia and globally. To achieve this vision, the school is committed to providing high-quality educational programs and creating a bridge between academia, industry, and government. As the first public policy school in the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia, the KSPP is uniquely positioned to offer public policy degrees focusing on management and leadership, energy and climate policy, and data analytics. By providing concentrations in these areas, the school aims to help students develop the skills and knowledge necessary to address pressing policy challenges and make a meaningful impact in their communities and beyond.

The KAPSARC School of Public Policy (KSPP) invites applications for a faculty position in public policy. We welcome candidates whose research, teaching, and outreach activities broadly focus on applied econometrics and public policy design topics. The KSPP offers a highly competitive salary and benefits package, including children's educational support, housing support, and premier health insurance.

Responsibilities:

The successful candidate will be expected to carry out impactful research, teach courses related to the candidate's research field, contribute to core courses and/or electives in public sector management and leadership, supervise capstone projects, and contribute to the overall academic environment of the School.

Qualifications:

The successful candidate must have a Ph.D. in public policy.

To apply, please visit: <https://www.kspp.edu.sa/careers/faculty-public-policy>

Start Date:

Date Posted: 11/4/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15144