

POLITICAL SCIENCE JOBS

Online journal from the American Political Science Association

August 2025 | Volume 14, Issue 08

ISSN 2167-8332

In this Issue

Career Resources

Finding a Job in Political Science	3
--	---

Job Listings

Administration	4
American Government and Politics	6
Comparative Politics	25
International Relations	40
Methodology	58
Non-Academic	64
Open	64
Other	74
Political Theory	88
Public Administration	98
Public Law	103
Public Policy	111

About the Journal

Published monthly by the American Political Science Association, Political Science Jobs is an online journal containing all active jobs in political science as listed in the APSA online job board eJobs. The combined resource of the Political Science Jobs journal and the daily updated and fully searchable eJobs platform provides a comprehensive employment resource for political science and supports a transparent, efficient, and ethically-grounded labor market for the discipline.

Access to the journal is made freely accessible to APSA's over 14,000 individual and departmental members within the US and around the world.

Submissions

Job listings may be submitted to the journal via the online eJobs platform at www.apsanet.org/jobs and applicable fees may apply.

Online Access: www.apsanet.org/jobs

The core content in this journal draws upon active listings within eJobs, linkages to association programs and career resources. Readers are encouraged to visit the eJobs website for daily updates on new job listings and candidate resumes, and use the online features including search tool to locate listings by field of interest, employer or candidate name, region, keyword, position, salary, institution type, and most recent submissions.

Copyright © 2012
American Political Science Association
All rights reserved

APSA does not grant permission to any individual or party to republish or otherwise distribute this journal or any portion therein in any print or electronic form.

POLITICAL SCIENCE JOBS

August 2025 | Volume 14, Issue 08

ISSN 2167-8332

Online journal from the American Political Science Association

In this Issue

Career Resources

Finding a Job in Political Science 3

Job Listings

Administration	4 (3 listings)
American Government and Politics	6 (31 listings)
Comparative Politics	25 (23 listings)
International Relations	40 (28 listings)
Methodology	58 (10 listings)
Non-Academic	64 (18 listings)
Open	64 (15 listings)
Other	74 (17 listings)
Political Theory	88 (11 listings)
Public Administration	98 (12 listings)
Public Law	103 (21 listings)
Public Policy	111 (listings)
Total listings this issue	189

Resources and Guidance on

Finding a Job in Political Science

Hundreds of academic positions are advertised each year in political science. Finding the openings is the easy part; knowing how to approach the application and interview process is a little more challenging. At APSA, we have collected resources to assist candidates in the academic job search. We would like to highlight a few of these key resources here. The complete list of job resources is available online at www.apsanet.org/jobs.

eJobs: This online resource contains comprehensive online listing of political science jobs, is updated daily with new job listings and candidate resumes, and is fully searchable by field of interest, name of employer/candidate, region, keyword, position, salary, type of institution, and most recent posts.

Data on Jobs Market: APSA gathers and releases data regarding the placement of political science Ph.Ds. View this information at www.apsanet.org/content_7623.cfm.

Mentoring: Enroll in the APSA Mentoring Program online at www.apsanet.org/mentoring.

eJobs Placement Interview Services: The eJobs Annual Meeting Placement Interview Service provides space and facilities for employers who have eJobs posted to interview candidates at the APSA meeting. Many other conferences, such as the Northeastern and Western, also use the APSA online service to schedule placement interviews. Check the listings online in eJobs.

Ethics Guide: The APSA Guide to Professional Ethics in Political Science includes specific guidance on hiring and employment practices. Order a print copy or view online at www.apsanet.org/ethics.

Asking the Right Questions: APSA Job Candidate Questions to Ask Program

Asking the right questions provides valuable information for career decisions. As part of the APSA Job Candidate Questions to Ask (JCQ) Program participating political science departments have agreed to answer the following questions from job candidates.

Salary

1. What is the salary structure?
2. How is salary normally negotiated?
3. How are annual increases handled?
4. Is there an automatic escalator to ensure the salaries of future hires will not outpace those of existing department members?

Service Activities

1. What are the expectations of pre-tenure and tenured faculty regarding:
 - departmental and institutional committee work,
 - professional or disciplinary activities, and
 - outreach activities to communities external to institution?

Research Support

1. What departmental or institutional resources are available to support:
 - access to research materials and equipment,
 - the employment of research assistants,
 - research expenses on/off campus, and
 - travel expenses for conferences?

2. What departmental or institutional resources are available to seek external funding and to administer external funding awards?

Teaching Support

1. What departmental or institutional resources are available to support:
 - the development of teaching expertise,
 - innovations in teaching, and
 - the introduction of new courses and new technologies?
2. What are departmental expectations regarding:
 - the average course load,
 - the number of different courses taught by faculty, and
 - advising of graduate and undergraduate students?

Tenure, Renewal, and Annual Review

1. What policies and procedures govern the granting of tenure, renewal of contracts for pre-tenure faculty, and annual reviews of faculty performance?
2. What are the department's expectations for successful performance leading to the granting of tenure or renewal of contracts for pre-tenure faculty?
3. What are the department's expectations for a positive annual review?

Mentoring and Faculty Support Initiatives

1. What attention does the department give to integrating new faculty into the department, the institution, and in the profession?
2. Does the department or institution have programs that address:
 - the employment of dual-career professional couples,
 - family needs of faculty and staff, and
 - issues associated with minority faculty and staff?

Health and Life Insurance

1. What are the plans offered?
2. How are benefits disbursed?
3. What are the out-of-pocket expenses?
4. Are partners and/or children covered, and to what extent?
5. What portion of my paycheck will be deducted for these benefits?

Retirement

1. How many types of retirement plans are offered?
2. What is the matching percentage of the institution?
3. Is contribution required (and how much)?

More on the APSA Job Candidate Questions to Ask (JCQ) Program

For more information about the JCQ program and to view the departments who agreed to answer these questions at www.apsanet.org/JCQ.

Political Science Jobs for August

ADMINISTRATION

University of Copenhagen

Rank: Postdoctoral Researcher Position in Business Power, Wage Inequality, and Climate Change Regulation, Department of Sociology/Political Science, University of Copenhagen

The Employment Relations Research Centre (FAOS) at the Department of Sociology, University of Copenhagen, invites applications for a fixed-term postdoctoral researcher position (2 years) starting 1 October 2025, or as soon as possible thereafter.

This position is part of the BIZPOWER (Business Power in the Politics of Wage Inequality and Climate Change) project, which investigates how businesses use self-regulation (S-R) to influence public policy and preempt statutory regulation. The postdoctoral researcher will primarily contribute to Work Package 2 (WP2) and Work Package 3 (WP3), which focus on comparative case studies of how businesses engage in regulatory strategies in Denmark and Germany. The postdoctoral research will focus mainly on Germany.

The project is led by Associate Professor Christian Lyhne Ibsen (PI) and is funded by the Independent Research Fund Denmark. The research team consists of another postdoctoral researcher who will conduct survey experiments (WP1) and the PI.

Job Description

In a context of multiple global crises—COVID-19, increased inequality, and climate change—citizens are looking to political leaders and the state to solve problems and protect them. The increased role of the state might fundamentally change the conditions under which business operates around the world.

This project investigates how business actors manage the regulatory challenge in two of the most pressing structural transformations in the 21st century – the rising inequality and climate change. It poses the following research question: Under what conditions can business be powerful in the high-salience politics of wage inequality and carbon emissions?

Specifically, the postdoctoral researcher will investigate how businesses in Denmark and Germany have historically influenced wage policies and climate regulations through self-regulation, lobbying, and coalition-building.

Key Tasks:

Conduct comparative case studies of business self-regulation in wage policy (WP2) and climate policy (WP3) in Germany.

Utilize process-tracing methodologies to analyze how business actors attempt to influence policymaking and public opinion.

Gather and analyze archival data, media sources, policy documents, and corporate reports to reconstruct historical decision-making processes.

Conduct and analyze elite interviews with business leaders, policymakers, trade unions, and environmental organizations.

Compare cross-national and cross-policy variations in how businesses preempt regulatory challenges.

Write academic articles based on findings for submission to top political science and sociology journals.

Present findings at international conferences (e.g., APSA, EPSA, SASE, CES).

This position is ideal for a researcher with a strong background in comparative political economy, business-government relations, and regulatory politics.

The postdoctoral researcher position is a full-time research position and does not involve any teaching obligations.

For further information, including more details on BIZPOWER, please contact Associate Professor Christian Lyhne Ibsen (cli@faos.dk).

Qualifications

We seek candidates with the following qualifications:

A PhD in Political Science, Sociology, Political History, or a related field (completed or near completion).

Expertise in qualitative research methods, particularly process-tracing, elite interviews, and comparative case study analysis.

Strong knowledge of business power, regulatory governance, and political economy.

Experience working with policy documents, archival research, and media analysis.

Ability to conduct interviews with high-level stakeholders (e.g., business associations, policymakers, trade unions, and NGOs).

Fluency in German and English is required; proficiency in Danish is desirable but not a requirement.

Work Environment & Research Team

The postdoctoral researcher will work closely with Associate Professor Christian Lyhne Ibsen, another postdoc and an international advisory board, including leading scholars from Harvard University, MIT, Boston University, University of Konstanz, and Stanford University.

The University of Copenhagen provides a dynamic interdisciplinary research environment, offering access to state-of-the-art research infrastructure for qualitative and comparative political research.

The project will provide opportunities for collaboration on high-impact publications, networking with leading experts in business power and public policy, and participation in international research events.

Application Process

Applicants should submit the following documents:

Cover Letter detailing research interests and fit for the project.

CV including a list of publications.

Research Statement (max. 2 pages) outlining past experience and future research agenda.

Two Writing Samples (published papers or dissertation chapters).

Terms of Employment

Further information on qualification requirements as postdoc can be found in the Memorandum on Job Structure for Academic Staff at Danish Universities 2019 here: Bekendtgørelse om stillingsstruktur for videnskabeligt personale ved universiteter (in Danish only).

Terms of appointment and salary is in accordance with the Danish Confederation of Professional Associations (Akademikerne).

The salary range starts at DKK approx. 38,700 per month + a 17.1 % contribution to the pension scheme. It is possible to negotiate salary supplements on an annual basis.

The recruitment process

Further information on the recruitment process at University of Copenhagen can be found here: <https://employment.ku.dk/faculty/recruitment-process/>

An Equal Opportunity Workplace

The University of Copenhagen is committed in its pursuit of academic excellence to equality of opportunity and to creating an inclusive working environment and therefore encourages all qualified candidates to apply, regardless of personal background, gender, sexual orientation, age, disability, ethnicity etc. For more on the diverse working place environment at the University and the University's participation in the HRS4R HR Excellence in Research, see <https://employment.ku.dk/working-at-ucph/eu-charter-for-researchers/>

International applicant?

The University of Copenhagen offers a broad variety of services for international researchers and accompanying families, including support before and during your relocation and career counselling to expat partners. Please find more information about these services as well as information on entering and working in Denmark here: <https://ism.ku.dk/>

Contact information

For further information please contact Associate Professor Christian Lyhne Ibsen at cli@faos.dk.

Information about the recruitment process is available from HR, e-mail: HR-soendre@adm.ku.dk - please refer to ID number: 211-2194/25-2I #2.

We look forward to receiving your application!

The closing date for applications is 20 August 2025 at 23:59 CEST.

Applications or enclosures received thereafter will not be considered.

Part of the International Alliance of Research Universities (IARU), and among Europe's top-ranking universities, the University of Copenhagen promotes research and teaching of the highest international standard. Rich in tradition and modern in outlook, the University gives students and staff the opportunity to cultivate their talent in an ambitious and informal environment. An effective organisation – with good working conditions and a collaborative work culture – creates the ideal framework for a successful academic career.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 8/20/2025

Date Posted: 7/18/2025

Salary: $70,000 - $79,999

eJobs ID: 15687

Howard University

Rank: Chair, Department of Political Science

Howard University (HU) invites applications and nominations for the position of Chair of the Department of Political Science.

The Department of Political Science seeks a dynamic, energetic leader with the ability to effectively engage faculty, staff, students, and external constituencies in a collegial and collaborative manner. The Chair will have a demonstrated record of excellence in collegial academic leadership, faculty development, fundraising, executive administration, and financial management. This is an outstanding opportunity for a creative leader at an exciting time in the continued growth of the Department, College, and University.

The Chair represents the Department as part of the College's leadership team and is responsible for the Department's faculty and staff recruiting, development, retention, resource attainment, financial management, and stakeholder relationship management. The Chair manages a diverse faculty, staff and student body, and is expected to lead the Department in publishing scholarship, teaching capacity, grantsmanship, service, and outreach.

The Chair must be an active intellectual leader, adept at building and supporting multi-disciplinary partnerships within a diverse community, knowledgeable in higher education issues, collaborative in developing team-focused, data-driven approaches to problem solving, and possess effective people-skills.

Working in partnership with the senior administration of the College of Arts & Sciences, the successful candidate is expected to embrace and contribute to the mission of the University.

Desired Qualifications

Earned doctorate or terminal degree from an accredited institution; PhD in Political Science preferred, but a PhD in an allied discipline will be considered;

Record of professional accomplishments and published scholarship in the discipline that meet the qualifications for appointment to the rank of professor in the College and University. Applications from advanced associate professors will be considered.

Established and sustained record of graduate and undergraduate teaching excellence and interdisciplinary initiatives;

Recognized and reputable record of research, collaborative projects, and creative accomplishments;

Administrative, personnel, and budgetary experience at the department level;

Evidence of and capacity to secure external funding and undertake successful fundraising campaigns;

Documentation of a strong commitment to helping students obtain a broad-based education, student centeredness, and optimization of student learning;

Record of successful curriculum development including a commitment to collaboration and use of innovative pedagogies;

Successful record of effective interpersonal and communication skills with faculty, staff, students, alumni, and community members;

Demonstrated ability to manage a complex academic unit and work effectively with colleagues across divisions;

Demonstrated ability to effectively forge and build partnerships and productive relations on and off campus; engage with the community via outreach efforts; leadership abilities with both campus and external constituencies, including alumni;

Evidence of successful recruitment and retention of a diverse faculty and staff, as well as teambuilding, supervision, and staff support for professional development;

Established in 1867, Howard University is a federally chartered, private, doctoral/research extensive university located in Washington, D.C., and is widely recognized as one of the world's most prestigious institutions of higher learning. The only comprehensive American university with a predominantly African-American constituency, Howard University is committed to preparing its students to not only be respected leaders in the national and global communities, but to also promote social justice and democracy the world over. Howard has historically educated more African-American PhD's than any other university. It has a track record, for more than a century as the home to the single, largest concentration of Black scholars in the world.

Procedure for Candidacy

Applications should include a cover letter and curriculum vitae. Applications and nominations will be accepted until the position is filled.

Confidential review of materials and screening of candidates will begin immediately.

Contact Information:

POLSearch@Howard.edu

The University does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, national and ethnic origin, sex, sexual orientation, gender or gender identity, marital status, religion, disability or protected veterans status. Veterans and people with disabilities are encouraged to apply. Inquiries regarding provisions for persons with disabilities or veteran's status, Equal Employment Opportunity and Title IX should be directed to the Office of Employee Relations and Equal Employment Opportunity at 202-806-1280.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 11/11/2025

Date Posted: 11/13/2024

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 15203

KAPSARC School of Public Policy

Rank: Faculty - Public Finance

Subfield(s): Administration, Public Administration, Public Policy

Position Summary:

The KSPP is a newly established graduate school that offers master's and executive education programs. The first cohort of master's students commenced their graduate studies in the fall of 2024. Situated in the thriving capital city of Riyadh, Saudi Arabia, on the state-of-the-art KAPSARC campus, the KSPP is well-placed to offer students an exceptional educational experience.

The KSPP's vision is to be a world-class education and research institution that prepares the next generation of public policy leaders and professionals within the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia and globally. To achieve this vision, the school is committed to providing high-quality educational programs and creating a bridge between academia, industry, and government. As the first public policy school in the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia, the KSPP is uniquely positioned to offer public policy degrees focusing on management and leadership, energy and climate policy, and data analytics. By providing concentrations in these areas, the school aims to help students develop the skills and knowledge necessary to address pressing policy challenges and make a meaningful impact in their communities and beyond. The KAPSARC School of Public Policy (KSPP) invites applications for a faculty position in public management.

The KAPSARC School of Public Policy (KSPP) invites applications for a faculty position in public finance. We welcome candidates whose research, teaching, and outreach activities broadly address public finance topics. The KSPP offers a highly competitive salary and benefits package, including children's educational support, housing support, and premier health insurance.

Responsibilities:

The successful candidate will be expected to carry out impactful research, teach courses related to the candidate's research field, contribute to core courses and/or electives in public sector management and leadership, supervise capstone projects, and contribute to the overall academic environment of the School.

Qualifications:

The successful candidate must have a Ph.D. in economics with a field specialization in public finance

To apply, please visit: <https://www.kspp.edu.sa/careers/faculty-public-finance>

Start Date:

Date Posted: 11/4/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15145

AMERICAN GOVERNMENT AND POLITICS

University of Central Missouri

Rank: Assistant Professor - Political Science - Tenure Track

Specializations: Constitutional Law & Theory, Civil Rights & Liberties, Judicial Politics

Description:

The Department of Government, Law, and International Affairs (GLIA) at the University of Central Missouri (UCM) is seeking qualified candidates to fill a 9-month, tenure-track Assistant Professor position in American Politics with an emphasis on U.S. Constitutional Law beginning August 2026. GLIA resides in the College of Arts, Humanities, and Social Sciences (CAHSS).

Faculty in CAHSS support the University's mission of providing a high-quality education and are committed to the success of their students.

Successful candidates should be prepared to teach undergraduate (and potentially graduate) courses in American Government, Public Law, Constitutional Law, as well as Civil Rights and Liberties. Preference will be given to candidates who can also teach Administrative Law, Trial Advocacy, and/or the American Presidency.

Additionally, candidates should be prepared to serve as the Coach of the UCM Mock Trial team (negotiated with the Chair as part of the teaching load or service).

Candidates must be committed to excellence in teaching and are expected to carry out a sustained research agenda in their area of expertise.

Candidates with a Ph.D. in Political Science are preferred, but ABDs in Political Science and J.D.s will be considered.

Review of completed applications will begin October 31st, 2025, and will continue until the position is filled.

Examples of Duties:

The faculty member's job duties will include:

Teach 9-12 hours per semester in consultation with the Department Chair.

Coach the Mock Trial team.

Conduct scholarly research in their area of expertise.

Advise and mentor undergraduate Political Science majors who pursue a Legal Studies minor.

Undertake service at the department, college, and/or university levels.

Teaching:

The primary responsibility of the faculty is quality teaching in their respective content areas, regardless of delivery format. This entails adequate preparation for courses, effective course design and instruction, and fair and timely evaluation/feedback of student progress. To ensure quality teaching, faculty must be committed to student success and ongoing assessment of curriculum and student learning.

Keep current in your discipline.

Organize courses to facilitate quality student engagement and high-impact practices.

Assist department/school chairs with scheduling classes that meet the needs of students.

Comply with departmental, college, and university standards concerning the academic quality and integrity of their classes.

Keep current in their use of technology by attending university training sessions and other professional development opportunities.

Be available to meet students outside the classroom by being available before or after classes and scheduling office hours in both physical and electronic formats, including in-person and virtual office hours. Assist with department and college assessment and be proactive with modifications to the curriculum based on assessment feedback.

Scholarship/Professional Development:

The strength of a university rests on the knowledge and skills of its faculty.

Faculty must stay current in their field of expertise/teaching area.

Authoring academic writings.

Presentation of work at local/state/regional/national conferences.

Active membership and/or office holding in professional organizations at the local/state/regional/national levels.

Service:

An expectation of a professional faculty member is to serve the department, college, and university community.

Attending department/college/university meetings.

Engaging in committee work that will advance the department/college/institution.

Assisting with student mentoring.

Participating in graduation and convocation ceremonies.

Serve on committees at the department, college, and university levels.

Typical Qualifications

Candidates with a Ph.D. in Political Science are preferred, but ABDs in Political Science and J.D.s will be considered.

Supplemental Information:

UCM is located 40 miles southeast of the Kansas City Metropolitan area. It is a public comprehensive university with roughly 11,000 students providing a small-college learning environment coupled with large-university opportunities.

The Department of GLIA offers B.A. and B.S. degrees in Political Science, a B.A. degree in International Studies, and minors in those fields as well as Legal Studies and Global Security Studies. More information about GLIA can be found here: <https://www.ucmo.edu/college-of-arts-humanities-and-social-sciences/department-of-government-law-and-international-affairs/>

To apply, Candidates must complete the online faculty profile (position #997659) by going to

<https://www.schooljobs.com/careers/ucmo>.

Candidates will attach a cover letter, curriculum vitae, three letters of recommendation, writing sample, statement of teaching philosophy, evidence of teaching effectiveness, and copies of transcripts showing all degrees completed to their online application.

UCM requires that all applicants for this position complete the online faculty profile and submit it to the appropriate position for consideration at <https://www.schooljobs.com/careers/ucmo>.

All documents requested for this position must also be attached to the faculty profile at the time of application. Only completed faculty profiles with attached documents will be accepted for this position.

Direct inquiries regarding this position to: Dr. Gregory Streich, Search Committee Chair, at streich@ucmo.edu

For information about the online application process, contact Human Resources at humanresources@ucmo.edu or (660) 543-4255 and note position #997659 in the request.

Special Instructions:

Full-time benefits-eligible position: Benefits include competitive salary; health, dental, vision, life insurance, AD & D, long-term disability; 3 weeks paid vacation per year; 3 weeks of accrued sick leave per year; 13 paid holidays; retirement; and generous education assistance for an employee, spouse and dependent children taking classes at UCM.

Completed UCM online application for employment required. Incomplete applications will not be considered.

NOTE: A background check is required for the selected candidate of all staff, faculty, adjunct, and temporary positions and any job offer is contingent on the results of this check. Student employees and graduate assistants do not require a background check to be conducted prior to employment.

The University of Central Missouri is an Equal Opportunity Employer and specifically invites applications from women, minorities, veteran status, and people with disabilities.

Start Date: Fall 2026

Application Deadline: 10/31/2025

Date Posted: 8/1/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15692

Princeton University

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Associate/Center for the Study of Democratic Politics

Princeton University's Center for the Study of Democratic Politics (CSDP) seeks post-doctoral associates for 12-month positions starting in August 2026. The Center supports empirical research on democratic political processes and institutions. PhD required.

Each post-doctoral associate will pursue research and contribute to the intellectual life of the Center, the Princeton School of Public and International Affairs, and the Department of Politics. CSDP scholars are expected to participate in the weekly CSDP seminars and related weekly research seminars in the Department of Politics, as well as occasional lectures, conferences, and other events.

Successful candidates will receive a competitive salary and applicable Princeton University benefits in accordance with university guidelines, as well as a taxable moving allowance and a research allowance. The work location for this position is in-person on campus at Princeton University. It is necessary to have the ability to be on campus daily and on short notice in order to fulfill responsibilities relating to in-person participation for the duration of the fellowship starting in August of 2026.

Applicants must apply online and submit a CV, a 3-5 page (double-spaced) statement of research interest/research proposal, a writing sample, and the names of two (and not more than two) references. A cover letter is optional. Applicants for this 2026-2027 postdoctoral research associate position must apply to <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/39401>. The deadline for receipt of complete applications is Monday, October 20, 2025, at 11:59 p.m. EST. Referees will be contacted directly by email with instructions for submitting a confidential recommendation on your behalf. Letters of reference are to be submitted by the end of the business day on Monday, November 3, 2025. Complete your application well before the deadline so that references can be submitted in a timely manner. This position is subject to the University's background check policy.

We at the Center for the Study of Democratic Politics believe that it is vital to create a climate that embraces excellence that will enhance the work of the Center and that will attract and retain a diverse student body.

Start Date: Fall 2026

Application Deadline: 10/20/2025

Date Posted: 7/31/2025

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 15726

Columbia University

Rank: Post-Doctoral Fellow

Subfield(s): International Relations, American Government and Politics, Other

Specializations: China, International Security, International Political Economy

China and the World Program (C&WP)

Professors Thomas J. Christensen of Columbia University's School of International and Public Affairs and Alastair Iain Johnston of Harvard University's Government Department jointly founded the China and the World fellowship program for the advanced study of China's international relations in 2005. As part of Professor Christensen's recent move to Columbia University, the Program was renamed the Columbia-Harvard China and the World Program (C&WP) in 2018. The China and the World Program supports research that integrates theoretical innovations in the field of international relations with the rigorous study of China's interactions with countries, regions, institutions, and non-state actors.

For academic year 2026-2027, C&WP plans to award 2 postdoctoral research fellowships. Both fellows will be in residence at Columbia University and will teach one course in the Fall or Spring semester. When not attending to program or teaching-related duties, fellows' time should be devoted to their own research, and to participating actively in the life of C&WP, the Weatherhead East Asian Institute (WEAI), the Saltzman Institute of War and Peace Studies, etc. Fellows also will be expected to make at least one public presentation during their appointment and participate in the annual C&WP workshop where an entire day is devoted entirely to the examination of the fellows' research by former fellows of the program. Preference will be given to applicants who are currently working on revising their Ph.D. thesis for publication as a book, or who are just beginning a second major research project.

The appointment is for the 2026-2027 year, beginning September 1, 2026, ending June 30, 2027. The position comes with shared office space and access to the libraries and resources of Columbia University, access to all of which is COVID permitting.

Qualifications

Applicants must have completed all Ph.D. requirements (dissertation completed and filed) between May 1, 2021 and August 31, 2026. Applications from individuals who hold or have held full-time teaching appointments will not be considered.

Only applicants working on some aspect of China's relations with the outside world that supports CWP's and WEAI's missions need apply.

Application Process

To apply, submit application materials to sipacwp@columbia.edu. Please note that applicants are required to send all files in one email or to upload them to a cloud based application and send the URL via email for full consideration. Faxed or mailed applications will not be considered.

1-2 page cover letter that briefly states your interest in the program, your background, and a summary of your research project
Updated Curriculum Vitae, including a list of classes taught (if any)
Project description

Two scholarly writing samples

One course proposal with syllabus for a seminar directed at M.A. students and advanced undergraduates

Course evaluations for classes taught (if any)

Unofficial transcripts from all graduate-level degrees

Two letters of reference. Please note: Applicants should submit only the name and contact information of their referees. Referees should submit their letter directly to sipacwp@columbia.edu.

Application Deadline

All application materials, including letters of reference, must be received by December 20, 2025, 11:59 p.m. EST in the United States. Candidates may be invited for an interview to be held by video, phone, or in-person. All evaluations made in connection with applications received are confidential.

Successful applicants will be notified of the outcome of their applications in February or March of 2026; a public announcement will be made by April 2026.

For more information about the Columbia-Harvard China and the World Program, the Weatherhead East Asian Institute, or the the Saltzman Institute of War and Peace Studies please visit www.CWP.SIPA.Columbia.edu, www.weai.columbia.edu, and <http://www.siws.org/> respectively.

This search is subject to all rules and regulations of Columbia University. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to age, race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, pregnancy and pregnancy-related conditions, or any other characteristic protected by law.

As the COVID-19 Pandemic is an evolving concern around the world, these expectations guidelines are subject to change. Thank you for your patience during this challenging time.

Start Date: Fall 2026

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/30/2025

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 15316

The University of Texas at Austin

Rank: U.S. Constitutional Studies: Law, History, and Government (Assistant Professor)

Specializations: American Politics, Constitutional Law & Theory, Political Thought: Historical

The School of Civic Leadership at The University of Texas at Austin (UT Austin) invites applications for full-time tenure-track positions at the assistant professor level with expertise in U.S. Constitutional Studies (Law, History, and Government).

Considering the responsibility public institutions of higher education have to prepare students for leadership in a free society, the University of Texas System Board of Regents established the School of Civic Leadership at UT Austin. The School of Civic Leadership is an interdisciplinary school whose dual mission is to equip students with the knowledge and aptitudes necessary to lead in a free society, and to produce academic research at the highest levels of scholarly excellence.

The School of Civic Leadership offers a Civics Honors major, a minor in Civics, and a minor in Philosophy, Politics, and Economics (PPE).

We seek outstanding candidates in U.S. Constitutional Studies (Law, History, and Government) whose work focuses on the constitutional experience of the United States and speaks to the School of Civic Leadership's core themes: political, economic, and individual liberty and its philosophical underpinnings; constitutionalism and the rule of law; and the political economy of a free society. Ideal candidates will (1) have excellent records of scholarship with robust research agendas, (2) provide evidence of exceptional teaching, and (3) show a readiness to contribute to the intellectual life, governance, and programmatic development of the School of Civic Leadership.

The School of Civic Leadership invites applicants to submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, and three letters of recommendation. Cover letters should give a brief overview of the candidate's research agenda, highlight areas of teaching competence, and concisely describe how the candidate would contribute to developing the School of Civic Leadership.

Review of applications will begin on August 15, 2025.

<https://apply.interfolio.com/170416>

Start Date: Fall 2026

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/30/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15717

The University of Texas at Austin

Rank: U.S. Constitutional Studies: Law, History, and Government (Tenured Associate or Full Professor)

Specializations: American Politics, Constitutional Law & Theory, Political Thought: Historical

The School of Civic Leadership at The University of Texas at Austin (UT Austin) invites applications for full-time tenured faculty positions at the associate or full professor level with expertise in U.S. Constitutional Studies (Law, History, and Government). Outstanding senior candidates will be considered for endowed professorships and chairs.

Considering the responsibility public institutions of higher education have to prepare students for leadership in a free society, the University of Texas System Board of Regents established the School of Civic Leadership at UT Austin. The School of Civic Leadership is an interdisciplinary school whose dual mission is to equip students with the knowledge and aptitudes necessary to lead in a free society, and to produce academic research at the highest levels of scholarly excellence.

The School of Civic Leadership offers a Civics Honors major, a minor in Civics, and a minor in Philosophy, Politics, and Economics (PPE).

We seek outstanding candidates in U.S. Constitutional Studies (Law, History, and Government) whose work focuses on the constitutional experience of the United States and speaks to the School of Civic Leadership's core themes: political, economic, and individual liberty and its philosophical underpinnings; constitutionalism and the rule of law; and the political economy of a free society. Ideal candidates will (1) have excellent records of scholarship with robust research agendas, (2) provide evidence of exceptional teaching, and (3) show a readiness to contribute to the intellectual life, governance, and programmatic development of the School of Civic Leadership.

The School of Civic Leadership invites applicants to submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, and list of three academic references (references do not need to submit full letters at this stage). Cover letters should give a brief overview of the candidate's research agenda, highlight areas of teaching competence, and concisely describe how the candidate would contribute to developing the School of Civic Leadership.

Review of applications will begin on August 15, 2025.

<https://apply.interfolio.com/170404>

Start Date: Fall 2026

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/30/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15716

Pepperdine University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, International Relations, Methodology

The Social Science Division of the Seaver College of Letters, Arts, and Sciences at Pepperdine University invites applications for a tenure-track faculty position in Political Science to begin August 1, 2026. We are open to various areas of expertise within the fields of either U.S. or international politics. An interest in teaching an introductory U.S. government course that serves the general education program of Seaver College, an introductory statistics course for the social sciences, or a course on Hispanic or Latin American politics would be welcome regardless of specialty. Qualifications include a Ph.D. in Political Science or a closely related field, an active scholarly agenda, and a commitment to excellent teaching in a Christian liberal arts environment.

Review of applicants will begin on October 1, 2025 and will continue until the position is filled.

Application Instructions

The standard application documents are:

- Letter of application
- Curriculum vitae
- Names and contact information for three references. These should be the same individuals who will provide a Confidential Letter of Recommendation or Evaluation if you proceed with the interview process.
- Transcripts of all graduate work. (Unofficial copies are acceptable for the application; however, official transcripts may be required for selected applicants.)
- Personal Statement. Reflect on Pepperdine's Christian mission and address your pattern of support for generally accepted Christian values and the University's mission, your active participation in a faith community, and your practice or vision for integrating faith and learning in the classroom.
- [Confidential Letter of Recommendation or Evaluation] Once selected for preliminary interviews: Three current letters of reference. All letters should be specific to the position and completed within one year prior to the date of submission. The name and email address for each individual providing a letter of recommendation is required when submitting an application.
- [Teaching statement] Once selected for preliminary interviews: Teaching statement. Please reflect on your values, beliefs, and goals regarding the teaching and learning process and any pedagogical practices used or envisioned to achieve these goals. Two to three pages maximum length.
- [Research Statement] Once selected for preliminary interviews: Research Statement. Outline your short- and long-term objectives and goals for your research and/or creative activities. Please reflect on currently published or presented work(s) as a foundation for the statement. Two to three pages maximum length.

To submit application materials please go to this URL: <https://apply.interfolio.com/171069>

Start Date: Fall 2026

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/29/2025

Salary: $90,000 - $99,999

eJobs ID: 15714

Wake Forest University

Rank: Assistant Professor of American Politics

Assistant Professor of Politics and International Affairs in Wake Forest University Department of Politics and International Affairs

Position URL: apply.interfolio.com/171131

Job Description: The Department of Politics and International Affairs welcomes applications for a tenure-track faculty position as an Assistant Professor in the subfield of American Politics who can speak to questions related to media and politics. We welcome applicants who approach this topic from a variety of theoretical and methodological orientations such as political communication, political psychology, and public opinion. The position begins July 1, 2026. Skillful teaching is a key responsibility, with a course load of nine (9) courses over four (4) semesters that includes courses at both introductory and advanced undergraduate levels. Additionally, the successful candidate will maintain a robust program of research, publication, and/or creative production, in keeping with standards of the discipline, and support the Wake Forest University mission through service to the department, the College of Liberal Arts, and the university.

Position Qualifications: An earned Ph.D. in Political Science or a related field is required for the position; ABD candidates are invited to apply. Qualified applicants will demonstrate their ability to teach introductory courses in American politics and develop and teach courses that connect with their research and complement subjects already represented among American politics scholars in the department, initiate and sustain original research and scholarship in their area(s) of expertise, and contribute to an academic environment that fosters learning and growth for all its stakeholders.

Application Instructions: Interested applicants are invited to submit the following materials through Interfolio at <https://apply.interfolio.com/171131>:

- 1) a cover letter that outlines interest in and qualifications for the position;
- 2) a CV;
- 3) a statement that describes the applicant's approach to teaching students across a wide and varied spectrum of values, identities, skills, and professional ambitions, as well as their experience leading undergraduate courses and any future teaching interests;
- 4) a statement that describes the applicant's research, scholarly, and/or creative production agenda, particularly in the context of the current state of the discipline/field;
- 5) evidence of teaching engagement and effectiveness (this should include a syllabus from an introductory-level class and an upper-level class the applicant would offer to teach at Wake Forest and can also include syllabi from course(s) the applicant may have already taught as well as student and/or peer teaching evaluations from these courses);
- 6) one writing sample (this could be a dissertation chapter, published or unpublished article, book chapter, or conference paper); and
- 7) three confidential letters of recommendation.

Questions regarding the search may be directed to John Dinan, department chair, at dananj@wfu.edu. For full consideration, complete applications should be submitted by September 15, 2025, when review of applications will begin.

Additional Information: Information about the Department of Politics and International Affairs is available at politics.wfu.edu.

Wake Forest University, formed in 1834, is a distinctive university that combines a liberal arts core with graduate and professional schools and innovative research programs. The University embraces the teacher-scholar ideal, which prizes the personal interaction between students and faculty. It is a place where exceptional teaching, fundamental research and discovery, and the engagement of faculty and students in the classroom and the laboratory are paramount.

As an academic community, Wake Forest University seeks the enlightenment and freedom that come through diligent study and learning. Its higher goal, however, is to give life to the University motto "Pro Humanitate," as members translate a passion for knowledge into compassionate service. The community shares a tradition that embraces freedom and integrity and promotes a democratic spirit arising from open-mindedness and discourse. Its collective strength and character are derived from the values and distinctive experiences of each individual; therefore, it affirms the richness of human intellect and cultures as it strives toward a society in which goodwill, respect, and empathy prevail. To that end, Wake Forest University rejects hatred and bigotry in any form and promotes justice, honor, and mutual trust.

The University today enrolls about 4,846 undergraduates and 2,823 students in graduate programs at its principal location, the Reynolda campus in Winston-Salem, NC. Students at Wake Forest University enjoy a great deal of access to and interaction with world-class faculty both in and out of the classroom setting with a student-faculty ratio of 11:1. Wake Forest employs approximately 2,772 full and part-time faculty and staff. More information about the University can be found at www.wfu.edu.

The University is an equal opportunity employer and welcomes all qualified candidates to apply without regard to race, color, religion, national origin, sex, age, sexual orientation, gender identity and expression, genetic information, disability and military or veteran status. If you are an individual with a disability and need an accommodation to participate in the application or interview process, please contact AskHR@wfu.edu or (336) 758-5222. In order to provide a safe and productive learning and living community, Wake Forest University conducts background investigations for all final faculty candidates being considered for employment.

Start Date: Fall 2026

Application Deadline: 9/15/2025

Date Posted: 7/29/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15713

American University

Rank: Assistant Professor

Specializations: American Politics, Congress, African American Politics

The Department of Government in the School of Public Affairs at American University invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track position beginning in Academic Year 2026-27. The position will be at the rank of Assistant Professor. The Department is seeking an American Politics scholar.

Applicants should hold a PhD in political science or government. Candidates must be strongly committed to excellence in scholarly research and teaching. The search is open regarding areas of substantive specialty, but the Department is especially interested in scholars whose research and teaching interests include American political institutions (e.g., Congress), African American politics, or women and politics. Most of all, the department seeks scholars who will further its goals of producing high impact research and providing innovative undergraduate and graduate teaching. Applications are particularly welcome from scholars who can contribute to high visibility centers and research initiatives at American University, such as the Women and Politics Institute, Center for Congressional and Presidential Studies, Center for Data Science, and Center for Environmental Policy. In addition to scholarship and teaching, all faculty are expected to hold office hours and participate in School and University activities and service.

Review of applications will begin on September 3, 2025, and will continue until the position is filled, subject to on-going budgetary approvals. The position begins on August 1, 2026. Applicants should have a PhD or an anticipated PhD completion date by August 2026.

Salary and benefits are competitive, with an expected salary range of $90,000 to $110,000. Please submit applications via Workday. Include a letter of application, curriculum vitae, three confidential letters of recommendation, research and teaching narratives, and a writing sample. Please contact Joanne Wiesman, Staff Assistant to the Chair, 202-885-6459 or jwiesman@american.edu if you have any questions.

Benefits

AU offers a competitive benefits package including a 200% matching retirement plan, tuition benefits for full-time staff and their families, several leadership development certificates, and has been recognized by the American Heart Association as a fit-friendly worksite. Click here to learn about American University's unique benefit options.

Other Details

Hiring offers for this position are contingent on successful completion of a background check.

Employees in staff positions at American University must deliver their services to the university from either the District of Columbia, Maryland, or Virginia, or perform work on-site at the university.

Please note this job announcement is not designed to cover or contain a comprehensive listing of activities, duties or responsibilities that are required of the employee for this job. Duties, responsibilities, and activities may change at any time with or without notice.

American University is an E-Verify employer.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/28/2025

Salary: $90,000 - $99,999

eJobs ID: 15707

University of Richmond

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

The University of Richmond Department of Political Science invites applications for a tenure-track position at the rank of Assistant Professor to begin in the 2026-27 academic year.

The Department seeks to hire a teacher-scholar whose research focuses on executive-branch politics in the United States. The candidate's approach to the study of executive-branch politics should add to other needed areas of expertise within the Department such as the presidency, administrative politics and policymaking, and executive-legislative relations. The successful candidate will be expected to teach Introduction to American Government and to develop new electives in the American Presidency and other areas based on expertise. The position carries a 3-2 teaching load with courses typically capped at 24 or fewer students.

Applicants must either hold a PhD in Political Science or show credible evidence that they will complete the dissertation and degree requirements by August 1, 2026.

In keeping with the University's mission, the Department strives to be one of the best undergraduate departments of political science in the nation. It recognizes the variety of different theoretical approaches and methodological orientations within the discipline and offers students the opportunity to learn the critical thinking, analytical, and communicative skills needed for understanding how government and politics function in both contemporary and historical contexts.

Applicants should apply online at <http://jobs.richmond.edu> and submit a curriculum vitae, cover letter, and separate research and teaching statements. The cover letter should provide a brief summary of the candidate's research and teaching interests and describe their commitment to the teacher-scholar model. The research statement should expand on the candidate's research agenda and expertise. The teaching statement should articulate the candidate's teaching philosophy, interests, ability to teach courses in executive politics, and future professional development goals as well as involvement in and commitment to inclusive pedagogy. Candidates for this position may be asked, at a later date, to provide the names and contact information for three references who will be asked to submit letters of recommendation. Review of applications will commence September 19, 2025, and continue until the position is filled.

Please contact Dr. Tracy Roof at troof@richmond.edu with any questions. For more information on the department and its programs, please see <https://polisci.richmond.edu/>.

The University of Richmond is a private university located just a short drive from downtown Richmond, Virginia. Through its five schools and wide array of campus programming, the University combines the best qualities of a small liberal arts college and a large university. With approximately 4,000 students, an 8:1 student-faculty ratio, and more than 90% of traditional undergraduate students living on campus, the University is remarkably student-centered.

The mission of the University of Richmond is to educate in an academically challenging, intellectually vibrant, and collaborative community dedicated to the holistic development of students and the production of scholarly and creative work. A Richmond education prepares students for lives of purpose, thoughtful inquiry, and responsible leadership in a diverse world. The University of Richmond's strategic priorities are academic excellence, belonging and community, access and affordability, well-being, and experiential learning and community engagement. The University seeks to model a relentlessly welcoming and inclusive campus community that values the expression of difference in ways that promote excellence in teaching, learning, personal development, and institutional success. Our academic community strongly encourages applications that are in keeping with this commitment.

Start Date: Fall 2026

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/28/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15704

Austin College

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

The Austin College Department of Political Science invites applications for the tenure-track position of Assistant Professor of Political Science. Candidates must have PhD in hand before the position begins in August 2026.

We are searching for a position within American Politics or American Political Thought, with the ideal candidate having a teaching and research focus on Race, Ethnicity, and Politics. The successful candidate will possess a willingness to serve as the campus-wide pre-law advisor and develop courses (Constitutional Law required) in support of that program. As such, having a background in public law, courts and politics, the judiciary, and/or legal studies is necessary.

Austin College is a leading national private liberal arts college located north of Dallas in Sherman, Texas. Founded in 1849, it is the oldest institution of higher education in Texas operating under original charter and name. Recognized nationally for academic excellence in the areas of international education, pre-professional training, and leadership studies, the College provides an academically challenging and lively community of students, staff, and faculty committed to intellectual growth through individual and collaborative endeavors. Austin College (AC) is one of 40 schools profiled in Loren Pope's influential book, Colleges That Change Lives.

Candidates should send the following:

- letter of application
- CV
- copies of graduate transcripts (unofficial are sufficient for the application),
- statement of teaching philosophy, no more than one page
- statement of research, no more than one page
- a statement reflecting on the composition of our student body and outlining how they would engage all our students in their teaching, scholarship, and/or service.

Please combine materials into one PDF document and email it to PoliticalScienceSearch@austincollege.edu.

Three references should send recommendation letters directly to the aforementioned email address with the candidate's name in the subject line.

We will begin reviewing applications September 10, 2025.

Austin College is an Equal Opportunity Employer that serves a diverse student body and is committed to the same in the hiring process. Applicants must be currently authorized to work in the United States for any employer.

Start Date: Fall 2026

Application Deadline: 9/12/2025

Date Posted: 7/24/2025

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 15702

DePaul University

Rank: Assistant Professor (Tenure Track) - Political Science (American Politics/Geography/Public Policy)

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Policy, Other
Specializations: American Politics, Quantitative Methods, State Politics

The Department of Political Science at DePaul University invites applications for a full-time, tenure track position at the assistant professor level in American Politics (with an emphasis on state and local politics). The successful candidate will be responsible for teaching courses in American Politics, Political Geography and Public Policy. We will give priority to a person whose research would enable them to develop courses with a Chicago focus, and address public policy issues such as gun violence, poverty, sustainability or economic development. An ability to teach social science statistics and/or courses in Geographic Information Systems will also be viewed favorably.

With a total enrollment over 21,000 students, DePaul is one of the largest private non-profit universities in the nation. Yet class sizes are typically between 20 and 40 students, reflecting the value the university places on teaching excellence. Our programs provide high quality, personalized, accessible education to a diverse student body, grounded in the values of St. Vincent de Paul. Our teaching and research advance knowledge and service to society.

For more information, e-mail polisci@depaul.edu or visit the department's web site at <https://las.depaul.edu/academics/political-science/Pages/default.aspx>

DePaul University seeks applicants that reflect the diversity of its student body and the City of Chicago. Those with experience working with diverse faculty, staff, and students, and who can contribute to an inclusive climate are encouraged to apply. Women, members of historically underrepresented groups, and persons with disabilities are particularly encouraged to apply.

Qualifications

A Ph.D. is preferred at the time of appointment, but ABD candidates will be considered.

Application Instructions

Candidates should electronically submit the following: (1) a letter of application (cover letter), (2) a CV, (3) an unofficial transcript of the last degree (earned or in progress), (4) syllabi and (5) complete course evaluations if available. All candidates will also be asked to submit three letters of recommendation.

Applicants may apply at: <https://apply.interfolio.com/170188>

The screening of applications will begin September 15, 2025 and continue until the position is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2026

Date Posted: 7/17/2025

Salary: $70,000 - $79,999

eJobs ID: 15685

Lafayette College

Rank: Assistant Professor of American Politics (American Public Law)

Specializations: Constitutional Law & Theory, Civil Rights & Liberties, Social Movements

The Department of Government and Law at Lafayette College invites applications for a tenure-track position in American Politics at the rank of Assistant Professor commencing July 1, 2026. The Department seeks candidates specializing in U.S. Public Law, with research and teaching expertise in law and society, constitutional law, and civil rights. Research programs that focus on law through the lenses of politics and power, as well as additional expertise in American political development and social movements, are especially welcome.

Applicants must possess a Ph.D. in political science or demonstrate the Ph.D. is near completion. The successful candidate will teach Introduction to U.S. Politics, Law and Society, and other intermediate and advanced courses in their areas of expertise, including one or more courses in the Department's constitutional law offerings. The successful candidate will also be expected to make a contribution to the College's interdisciplinary programs and maintain an active research agenda. The Department especially welcomes applications from candidates who will contribute to Lafayette's commitment to diversity and inclusion. The teaching load during the first year is four courses (normally two each semester) and five courses each year thereafter.

Applications should include a letter of intent, curriculum vitae, sample of scholarly work, graduate school transcript, evidence of teaching ability (including, if available, syllabi and teaching evaluations), and three letters of recommendation. The letter of intent should contain a statement of teaching philosophy and scholarly interests, and address the ways in which the applicant's teaching, scholarship, and/or community engagement will advance Lafayette College's commitment to diversity, equity, and inclusion as articulated in the College's diversity statement (<https://belong.lafayette.edu/diversity-statement/>).

Please upload application materials electronically through Interfolio at <https://apply.interfolio.com/170467>. Review of applications will begin on September 22, 2025 and continue until the position is filled. Questions may be directed to the Search Committee Chair, Professor Michael Feola (feola@lafayette.edu).

Located within 70 miles of New York City and Philadelphia, Lafayette College is a highly selective undergraduate liberal arts and engineering institution with significant resources to support faculty members in their teaching and scholarship. Lafayette College is committed to creating a diverse community, one that is inclusive and responsive, and is supportive of its faculty, students, and staff. All members of the College community share a responsibility for creating, maintaining, and developing a learning environment in which difference is valued, equity is sought, and inclusiveness is practiced. Lafayette welcomes applicants from diverse backgrounds.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 9/22/2025

Date Posted: 7/17/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15679

University of California, Berkeley

Rank: Assistant Professor - Department of Political Science

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, International Relations, Public Law

Assistant Professor - Department of Political Science

Position overview

Salary range: The current salary range for this position is $80,800-$128,700 (9-month academic year salary), however, off-scale salary and other components of pay, which would yield compensation that is higher than this range, are offered to meet competitive conditions.

Anticipated start: 07/01/2026

Application Window

Open date: July 15, 2025

Next review date: Tuesday, Sep 2, 2025 at 11:59pm (Pacific Time)
Apply by this date to ensure full consideration by the committee.

Final date: Tuesday, Sep 2, 2025 at 11:59pm (Pacific Time)
Applications will continue to be accepted until this date.

Position description

The Charles and Louise Travers Department of Political Science in the College of Letters and Science at the University of California, Berkeley invites applications for a full-time tenure-track Assistant Professor faculty position in political science with preference for scholars who work in the areas of: American Politics, International Relations, or Public Law.

The Charles and Louise Travers Department of Political Science is committed to fostering an environment in which all members of the Berkeley community feel empowered to pursue their educational goals in a welcoming environment. We believe that every individual must be treated with equality and dignity as we work together to ensure the success of students, staff, and faculty. For more information, please visit the department website: <https://polisci.berkeley.edu/>.

The Charles and Louise Travers Department of Political Science is committed to addressing the family needs of faculty, including dual career couples and single parents. We are also interested in candidates who have had non-traditional career paths or who have taken time off for family reasons, or who have achieved excellence in careers outside academia. For information about potential relocation to Berkeley, or career needs of accompanying partners and spouses, please visit: <http://ofew.berkeley.edu/new-faculty>.

Department: <https://polisci.berkeley.edu/>

Qualifications

Basic qualifications (required at time of application)
PhD (or equivalent international degree), or enrolled in PhD or equivalent international degree granting program at the time of application.

Preferred qualifications

Evidence of strong research productivity.

Successful applicants will support undergraduate and graduate teaching and mentoring, contribute to the department's collaborative academic environment, and advance research agendas.

Application Requirements

Document requirements

- Curriculum Vitae - Your most recently updated C.V.
- Cover Letter
- Statement of Research - Please discuss research accomplishments and proposed plans. This can include, for example, your publication record, awards, presentations, inclusive research practices that promote the excellence of your research, and areas for future research.
- Statement of Teaching and Mentoring - Please discuss prior teaching experience, teaching approach, and future teaching interests. This can include, for example, specific efforts and accomplishments, and future plans to support the success of all students through inclusive curriculum, classroom environment, and pedagogy. Please also discuss your mentoring experiences and approach. This can include, for example, past efforts and future plans to support the success of all students, and to foster an inclusive research environment that removes barriers and promotes equitable access and advancement of the research program.
- Sample of Significant Written Scholarship One - Please provide a sample of significant written scholarship.

- Sample of Significant Written Scholarship Two - Please provide a sample of significant written scholarship.
(Optional)

- Sample of Significant Written Scholarship Three - Please provide a sample of significant written scholarship.
(Optional)

- Covid Impact Statement - If applicable, please provide a statement discussing if COVID-19 has impacted your research.
(Optional)

- Statement of Service - Please discuss specific prior and proposed academic, professional and/or public service activities. This can include, for example, participating in professional or scientific associations, serving on committees that advance department, campus or discipline goals, and conducting outreach activities that can remove barriers and increase participation of academics in your field.

- Authorization Release Form - A reference check will be completed only if you are selected as the candidate to whom the hiring unit would like to extend a formal offer.

Download, complete, sign, and upload the https://apo.berkeley.edu/sites/default/files/authorization_release_of_information_form.pdf.

Reference requirements

- 3 letters of reference required

It is preferred that letters of reference be received by referees no later than the final date to apply (September 2, 2025).

Apply link: <https://apptrkr.com/6384544>

Help contact: knera@berkeley.edu

About UC Berkeley

UC Berkeley is committed to diversity, equity, inclusion, and belonging in our public mission of research, teaching, and service, consistent with <https://regents.universityofcalifornia.edu/governance/policies/4400.html> and University of California Academic Personnel policy (https://www.ucop.edu/academic-personnel-programs/_files/apm/apm-210.pdf). These values are embedded in our <https://chancellor.berkeley.edu/about/principles-community>, which reflect our passion for critical inquiry, debate, discovery and innovation, and our deep commitment to contributing to a better world. Every member of the UC Berkeley community has a role in sustaining a safe, caring and humane environment in which these values can thrive.

The University of California, Berkeley is an Equal Opportunity employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability, age, or protected veteran status.

For more information, please refer to the https://www.ucop.edu/academic-personnel-programs/_files/apm/apm-035.pdf and the <https://policy.ucop.edu/doc/1001004/Anti-Discrimination>.

In searches when letters of reference are required all letters will be treated as confidential per University of California policy and California state law. Please refer potential referees, including when letters are provided via a third party (i.e., dossier service or career center), to the <http://apo.berkeley.edu/ucb-confidentiality-policy> prior to submitting their letter.

As a University employee, you will be required to comply with all applicable University policies and/or collective bargaining agreements, as may be amended from time to time. Federal, state, or local government directives may impose additional requirements.

The University of California is committed to creating and maintaining a community dedicated to the advancement, application, and transmission of knowledge and creative endeavors through academic excellence, where all individuals who participate in University programs and activities can work and learn together in a safe and secure environment, free of violence, harassment, or discrimination. Consistent with this commitment, UC Berkeley requires all applicants for Senate faculty positions to complete, sign, and upload an Authorization of Information Release form into AP Recruit as part of their application. If an applicant does not include the signed authorization, the application will be considered incomplete, and as with any incomplete application, will not receive further consideration. Although all applicants for faculty recruitments must complete the entire application, applicants will only be subject to institutional reference checks if and when they are selected as the candidate to whom the hiring unit would like to extend a formal offer. More information is available on <https://apo.berkeley.edu/misconduct-disclosure-review>.

As a condition of employment, the finalist will be required to disclose if they are subject to any final administrative or judicial decisions within the last seven years determining that they committed any misconduct.

- “Misconduct” means any violation of the policies or laws governing conduct at the applicant’s previous place of employment, including, but not limited to, violations of policies or laws prohibiting sexual harassment, sexual assault, or other forms of harassment or discrimination, as defined by the employer.
- <https://policy.ucop.edu/doc/4000385/SVSH>
- <https://policy.ucop.edu/doc/1001004/Anti-Discrimination>
- https://www.ucop.edu/academic-personnel-programs/_files/apm/apm-035.pdf

Job location
Berkeley, CA

To apply, visit <https://apptrkr.com/6384544>

Copyright ©2025 Jobelephant.com Inc. All rights reserved.

<https://www.jobelephant.com/>

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 9/2/2025

Date Posted: 7/17/2025

Salary: $80,000 - $89,999

eJobs ID: 15682

University of Texas at Austin

Rank: Tenure Track Nonmarket Strategy Position

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, Political Theory

The Department of Business, Government & Society (BGS) at the University of Texas at Austin’s McCombs School of Business invites applications for an assistant professor (tenure track) position in non-market strategy effective August 16, 2026. We are particularly interested in candidates whose research focuses on corporate political activity, including but not limited to money in politics, sociopolitical activism, and regulation, and we are open as to geographic focus.

The BGS department (<https://www.mcombs.utexas.edu/departments/BGS>) teaches future leaders at all levels of McCombs’ curriculum how to recognize and respond to the political, social, legal, and ethical expectations that businesses face. BGS aims to contribute to important public policy debates in these and related areas through research that applies rigorous social science methods to relevant non-market strategy questions.

The school’s location in Austin is particularly attractive to faculty interested in connecting with a thriving business community and the Texas state government. For more details on the school and the department, please visit <http://www.mcombs.utexas.edu/> and <https://www.mcombs.utexas.edu/Departments/BGS>. Finally, Austin is an outstanding place to live! See <http://www.austintexas.org/visit/> for some of the many things that contribute to the high quality of life in Austin.

Qualifications:

The ideal candidate will possess a Ph.D. prior to the start date in economics, political science, sociology, or strategic management and be prepared to publish in top outlets in these fields. The primary teaching responsibilities for this position will be corporate political strategy at the undergraduate, MBA, and EMBA levels, as well as the department’s new undergraduate core class in nonmarket strategy.

Application Instructions:

Interested parties should submit the following: 1) a cover letter that includes brief statements of research and teaching interests, 2) a CV, 3) a job market paper, 4) three letters of recommendation, and, if available, 5) evidence of teaching effectiveness (e.g., sample syllabi and student evaluations). All applications submitted by Friday, September 26, 2025 will receive full consideration, although the search will continue until a suitable candidate is identified. UT-Austin uses Interfolio’s Faculty Search. Applicants to this position receive a free Dossier account and can send all application materials free of charge. The posting is available here: apply.interfolio.com/169635

Direct any inquiries to Timothy Werner (timothy.werner@mcombs.utexas.edu). The University of Texas at Austin is an Equal Opportunity Employer. As part of standard University practice and policy, a criminal history background check will be required for finalist(s) under consideration for this position.

Equal Employment Opportunity Statement

The University of Texas at Austin, as an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer, complies with all applicable federal and state laws regarding nondiscrimination and affirmative action. The University is committed to a policy of equal opportunity for all persons and does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, national origin, age, marital status, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, gender expression, disability, religion, or veteran status in employment, educational programs and activities, and admissions.

College / School / Unit
McCombs School of Business

Department
Business, Government & Society

Posted
Jun 25, 2025

Apply by

We strongly encourage applications from candidates who can demonstrate through their teaching, scholarship or governance that they can contribute to the diversity and inclusivity of our community.

Special Instructions To Applicants - Applicants should complete the online application. A cover letter, curriculum vitae, and a statement of teaching goals in a liberal arts context should be submitted. As part of the teaching statement, we ask applicants to elaborate on their cultural proficiencies and experiences engaging an increasingly diverse student body. Applicants also must comment on the courses that they would like to teach. Applicants should include the names and email addresses of three professional references, at least one of whom can speak to the applicant's teaching effectiveness. After the applicant completes the online application, the professional references indicated will be contacted by Gettysburg College via email to submit letters of recommendation electronically.

<https://gettysburg.peopleadmin.com/postings/5923>

Review of applications will begin immediately, and will continue until a successful candidate is found. Application materials should be submitted as soon as possible given the short timeline. Inquiries can be addressed to Professor Caroline Hartzell at chartzel@gettysburg.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/14/2025

Salary: Any

eJobs ID: 15662

Texas Christian University

Rank: Assistant Professor of American Politics

Application Deadline:

Open Until Filled. Application will begin on October 1.

Position Details:

The Department of Political Science at Texas Christian University invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track assistant professor of American Politics, with a preference for applicants who specialize in gender and politics. The appointment will begin in August 2026. We seek applications from talented teacher-scholars with a record of (or potential for) successful scholarly publication, undergraduate teaching, and academic service. The successful candidate should have a Ph.D. in Political Science in hand by the start date. The position carries a 3/2 teaching load, competitive salary, and internal research support.

Required Application Materials & Application Instructions:

Applications should upload a letter of application, a curriculum vitae, a writing sample, and statements (up to two pages for each) detailing their research agenda and teaching interests. Three reference letters should be also submitted. Additional materials may be requested of finalists. Full review of applications begins on October 1 and will continue until the position is filled. All questions regarding the application process may be directed to Human Resources at hrtalentacquisition@tcu.edu or 817-257-7790. Questions about the position may be directed to the search committee chair, Adam Schiffer, at a.schiffer@tcu.edu.

Department Details:

The TCU political science department has 15 full-time faculty members and nearly 400 majors in two undergraduate degrees with a Bachelor of Science and Bachelor of Arts. TCU political science faculty lead co-curricular programs such as pre-law advising, Moot Court, Model U.N., and Washington and local internships. They also teach and contribute to interdisciplinary programs, including Women and Gender Studies, Comparative Race and Ethnic Studies, Asian Studies, and Middle East Studies. The department is the editorial home to the journal Social Science Quarterly.

School/College Description:

Named for TCU's founders, Addison and Randolph Clark, the AddRan College of Liberal Arts is home to the core academic disciplines of the humanities and social sciences. The College includes approximately 155 full-time faculty members, 13 departments (Comparative Race & Ethnic Studies, Criminology & Criminal Justice, Economics, English, Geography, History, Modern Language Studies, Philosophy, Political Science, Religion, Sociology & Anthropology, Spanish and Hispanic Studies, and Women & Gender Studies), and two units of Reserve Officers' Training Corps (Army and Air Force). AddRan College departments confer 17 Bachelor of Arts and 7 Bachelor of Science degrees, a Bachelor of General Studies, an online master's degree in Criminology and Criminal Justice, a Master of Liberal Arts degree, and master's and Ph.D. degrees in History, English, and Rhetoric and Composition.

University & Fort Worth Description:

ABOUT TCU

Founded in 1873, Texas Christian University sits on 302 acres nestled in a primarily residential part of Fort Worth, just minutes away from downtown. The University includes seven schools and colleges, in addition to the John V. Roach Honors College and the Burnett School of Medicine.

Currently, TCU enrolls more than 10,200 undergraduates and 1,700 graduate students. Twenty-eight percent of students self-identify as a member of a minority group, five percent are international students, and forty-five percent are from out-of-state. Our students are supported by more than 2,200 faculty and staff. The University has more than 700 full-time faculty members and is a top 100 National University as classified by US News and World Report and has a Carnegie Classification of R2: Doctoral Universities – High Research Activity.

ABOUT FORT WORTH

Like TCU, Fort Worth has the approachable, friendly charm of a smaller town, but offers the amenities, cultural activities, diversity and unique personality of a much larger city. Fort Worth, Texas, is the 13th largest city in the United States with an ever-growing population nearing 1 million. Fort Worth and TCU have grown together in a nearly 150-year relationship. You'll find that many Horned Frogs remain here after graduation, thanks to the region's thriving job market. Fort Worth is part of the Dallas-Fort Worth metropolitan area, the fourth largest metropolitan area in the United States, and the number 1 tourist destination in Texas. In 2018, bizjournals.com ranked Fort Worth the 7th most affordable city to live and work in the United States and U.S. News and World Report named Fort Worth one of the Best Places to Live. Fort Worth, Dallas and Arlington all rank among the top 25 most diverse cities in the country.

Fort Worth is known for its vast array of cultural, educational and entertainment opportunities. The city boasts three world class art museums—the Kimbell Art Museum, the Modern Art Museum of Fort Worth and the Amon Carter Museum of American Art. The Bass Performance Hall is one of the premier performance venues in the country. Concerts, film festivals and other events are held regularly at Sundance Square, Panther Island and Near Southside venues.

Start Date: Fall 2026

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/11/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15658

Public Religion Research Institute

Rank: PRRI Public Fellows Program

Specializations: Religion & Politics, Race & Ethnic Politics, Immigration Policy

Open Call: PRRI Public Fellowship 2025-2026

The PRRI Public Fellows program, founded in 2017, promotes and supports interdisciplinary public scholarship through a cohort of emerging scholar-leaders from across the humanities, humanistic social sciences, and empirical social sciences. The program expanded in the academic year 2021-2022 as part of PRRI's Religion and Renewing Democracy Initiative with support from the Mellon Foundation and the Henry Luce Foundation.

PRRI is announcing an opportunity to join a diverse cohort of 12 non-residential Public Fellows who are engaged in public scholarship at the intersection of religion, culture, and politics.

PRRI Public Fellows will work alongside the organization's research and communications staff during the 2025-2026 academic year (September to July). This 11-month fellowship includes a stipend, support for a course release during the spring semester, and access to microgrants to support collaborative research. The fellowship will benefit scholars who want to shape their work for broader public consumption, receive communications support for placing public-facing work in top-tier media outlets, and integrate quantitative data into their research and teaching. Successful fellows will be eligible to apply for a one-time renewal at the end of the program year; however, renewal is not guaranteed.

The organization is seeking applicants whose research agendas align with one of four principal vectors of PRRI's ongoing work: 1) racial justice and white supremacy; 2) immigration and migration; 3) LGBTQ rights; and 4) reproductive health and rights. In each area of scholarship, PRRI will select three Public Fellows.

The ideal candidates are mid-career scholars (three to twelve years out from earning a terminal degree) who have an aptitude and track record of socially engaged or public scholarship. PRRI is seeking a diverse cohort in terms of academic disciplines (humanities, humanistic social sciences, and empirical social sciences, including sociology, religious studies, political science, history, ethnic studies, American studies, and literary studies); research methods (qualitative and mixed methods); types of institutions (college, university, seminary, or a research institute housed within an academic institution); and geographic location. Mixed-method scholars are strongly encouraged to apply. Additionally, PRRI encourages applications from women, people of color, and other members of under-represented groups who will contribute to the diversity of the cohort.

Fellowship Benefits

PRRI Public Fellows in the 2025-2026 cohort will receive the following:

- An 11-month fellowship with a cohort of 12 diverse scholars (three from each area of PRRI's core areas of work) engaged in public scholarship;
- Fellowship stipend of $5,000;
- Course release funds up to $10,000 for the Spring 2026 semester;
- Access to annual microgrants of $12,500 in each area of PRRI's work for new interdisciplinary scholarly projects within the cohort;
- Monthly meetings and quarterly trainings and workshops;
- An in-person convening in Washington, D.C., with travel expenses paid by PRRI. During the convening, Fellows will meet with writers from major media outlets, receive media training from PRRI's communications consultants, and dialogue with experts in writing for trade, crossover, and non-academic books;
- Advance access to PRRI data and archives;
- Collaborative work with PRRI's research and communications teams;
- For Fellows from primarily qualitative backgrounds, PRRI will provide training, support, and advice on how to connect public-opinion survey research to their field of expertise

Application Requirements:

Applicants for the PRRI Public Fellows program must meet the following requirements:

- Fellows must have a Ph.D. or comparable terminal degree plus a formal affiliation with an accredited college, university, seminary, or research institute in the United States;
- Fellows must have earned their terminal degree at least three years ago and no more than 12 years ago;
- Fellows should have demonstrable academic expertise in at least one of the following key areas of PRRI's work (racial justice and white supremacy; immigration and migration studies; reproductive health and rights; and LGBTQ rights);
- Fellows must be authorized to work in the United States

Application Process:

The application includes:

- Statement of interest: in 800 words or less, please explain your interest in pursuing this fellowship opportunity and your professional development goals in public scholarship.
- Current curriculum vitae

• Work samples: please provide links to and PDF copies of three articles, op-eds, or blogs published within the last three years, preferably in publications or sites aimed at the general public. These samples should be your best recent work.

The application deadline is Friday, July 25, 2025. Visit www.prrri.org/open-call to learn more.

For questions, please contact PRRI at public.fellows@publicreligion.org

Start Date: Summer

Application Deadline: 7/25/2025

Date Posted: 7/2/2025

Salary: Below $20,000

eJobs ID: 15644

Villanova University

Rank: Assistant Professor

Specializations: American Politics, Presidency, Bureaucracy & Organizational Behavior

The Department of Political Science at Villanova University invites applications for a tenure-track position at the rank of Assistant Professor beginning August 2026. The successful candidate will have broad training in American national institutions and the presidency as their primary research interest. While we are not looking for a scholar of Congress or the federal judiciary, candidates with a secondary research interest in some other area of American national institutions (e.g., the federal bureaucracy as a whole or specific departments/agencies within the bureaucracy) are especially welcome to apply. The successful candidate will be expected to teach courses in their areas of specialization at both the undergraduate and graduate level. While the successful candidate will also be expected to teach an undergraduate research design course, we are not seeking someone principally trained as a methodologist.

Teaching responsibilities include undergraduate and graduate (MA) courses. Teaching duties include a 3-2 teaching load for the first three years. After a successful Third Year Review, a one-semester sabbatical is available in the fourth year, and the 3-2 teaching load may be continued for another three years contingent on a successful and promising record of scholarship. Ph.D. in hand is strongly preferred. ABDs will be considered; however, continued employment is subject to completion of the Ph.D. no later than August 15, 2026.

Applicants must apply online at <https://jobs.villanova.edu>. The online application should include a detailed letter of application indicating your interest in and suitability for the position, statements of teaching philosophy and research interests, curriculum vitae, official graduate and undergraduate transcripts, three letters of recommendation, two short writing samples, two syllabi (if available), and evidence of teaching effectiveness. All materials must be received by September 12, 2025.

While the Department is not conducting preliminary interviews at APSA, members of the search committee are available should a candidate have specific questions about the position. Candidates with such questions should contact Jessica Schwartz (jessica.schwartz@villanova.edu).

Villanova is a Catholic university sponsored by the Augustinian Order. The University is an equal opportunity employer and seeks candidates who understand, respect and can contribute to the University's mission and values.

For a more detailed description of the Department of Political Science, please consult <https://www1.villanova.edu/university/liberal-arts-sciences/programs/political-science.html?>

Start Date: Fall 2026

Application Deadline: 9/12/2025

Date Posted: 6/26/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15638

Williams College

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

Position Description

The Political Science Department at Williams College seeks an Assistant Professor of Political Science with scholarly expertise in American Politics. We are especially interested in candidates whose scholarship speaks to the dynamics of public policy in national or state government. We seek a colleague who has a record or promise of excellence in research and is committed to inclusive undergraduate education. The teaching load is four courses each year (2-2); successful candidates will be able to teach Introduction to American Politics as well as additional courses in their areas of interest. This tenure track appointment will begin in the 2026–2027 academic year. We welcome applications from candidates of all backgrounds and strongly encourage individuals whose experiences and perspectives will enhance our commitment to academic excellence and innovation to apply.

The Political Science Department has a strong commitment to professional development which includes regular opportunities to present work in progress. Williams College offers additional professional development opportunities, including the College's First3 program as well as programming organized by the Rice Center for Teaching and the NCFDD, among other mentoring.

Qualifications

Candidates should have the Ph.D. completed by June 2026.

Application Instructions

Application items should include: a cover letter detailing scholarly interests as well as teaching experience; a curriculum vitae; a writing sample of only one article or chapter; and three letters of recommendation. We ask you to write in your cover letter about your ability to work effectively with a student population that is broadly diverse with regard to gender, race, ethnicity, nationality, sexual orientation, and religion. Candidates invited to the first round of (Zoom) interviews will be asked at that time to provide sample syllabi and evidence of teaching effectiveness.

The deadline for the submission of applications is September 15, 2025 for full consideration. All application materials should be submitted through Interfolio (<http://apply.interfolio.com/168211>). Fax and email applications will not be accepted. Inquiries may be sent to Erin Malloy at emb8@williams.edu. All offers of employment are contingent upon completion of a background check. Further information is available here: <https://faculty.williams.edu/prospective-faculty/background-check-policy/>

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 9/15/2025
Date Posted: 6/19/2025
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 15619

Baylor University

Rank: Lecturer, Non-Tenure-Track, American Politics

Specializations: Constitutional Law & Theory, Congress, Political Parties & Organizations

To apply, go to: <https://apply.interfolio.com/167836>

Description:

The Department of Political Science at Baylor University seeks a full-time, Regular Lecturer in American Politics to begin August 2026. The primary teaching responsibility will be teaching a general education course (PSC 1387: The U.S. Constitution, Its Interpretation, and the American Political Experience). Opportunities to teach courses in Congress, the Supreme Court, political parties, or state politics may also be available.

Regular Lecturer appointments are renewable full-time, benefits-eligible, teaching-focused positions with six-year promotion paths to Senior Lecturer for successful candidates and twelve-year promotion paths to Teaching Professor for highly successful candidates. For more information, see Baylor University's Policy on Full-Time Lecturers, Senior Lecturers, and Teaching Professors.

Complete applications must be submitted by 11pm Central Daylight Time on October 31, 2025.

About Baylor University:

Baylor University is located in Waco, Texas and is the oldest college in the state. It has a diverse student population of 21,000 and is recognized as one of the top universities in the nation, achieving R1 institution status by the Carnegie Classification in January 2022. Baylor also made it to the honor roll of "Great Colleges to Work For" from The Chronicle of Higher Education. It offers competitive salaries and benefits, allowing faculty and staff to live in one of the fastest-growing parts of the state. Baylor's new strategic plan, Baylor in Deeds, guides the University as it continues to fulfill its mission of educating men and women for worldwide leadership and service by integrating academic excellence and Christian commitment within a caring community.

Qualifications:

Candidate must have a Ph.D. in political science or a related field by the time of appointment. Teaching experience is preferred.

Application Instructions. To apply, candidates should submit:

1. Cover letter
2. Curriculum vitae
3. Statement of teaching philosophy
4. Teaching portfolio (including student evaluations and sample syllabi, if available)
5. Three letters of recommendation
6. Transcript from highest degree granting institution (unofficial copy acceptable)
7. Completed self-disclosed Religious Affiliation Form (found in Interfolio)

If you have questions about the position, please contact the search committee chair, Dr. Dave Bridge (David_Bridge@baylor.edu).

Start Date: Fall 2026
Application Deadline: 10/31/2025
Date Posted: 6/6/2025
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 15605

Clemson University

Rank: Lecturer - American Politics

The Department of Political Science at Clemson University is conducting a search for a Lecturer in American politics to join our faculty in August 2025. This is a full-time, nine-month position, and the successful candidate will be eligible for annual reappointment. Lecturers at Clemson cannot advance to tenure, but they are full, voting members of the university's faculty who can pursue promotion along an academic professional track leading to the rank of Senior Lecturer and Principal Lecturer with multi-year contracts. The position's normal teaching load is four courses each semester (4-4). The selected candidate principally will offer introductory and advanced undergraduate courses in American politics. Teaching assignments may also include sections of undergraduate research methods. The ability to offer upper-level courses in constitutional law, judicial politics, Congress, or parties and interest groups is desirable.

Apply at: <https://apply.interfolio.com/167554>

Qualifications

A Ph.D. in political science or a related field, completed by August 15, 2025, is required.

To apply, candidates should submit a (1) cover letter, (2) curriculum vitae, (3) statement describing their teaching philosophy and teaching interests, (4) evidence of teaching effectiveness (such as, sample syllabi, sample assignments, course evaluations, or other relevant materials), and (5) contact information for three references who can provide confidential letters of recommendation.

Application Instructions

The review of applications will begin May 16, 2025, and continue until the position is filled. Questions regarding this position may be sent to Dr. Joseph Ura (jura@clemson.edu), Department Chair.

Start Date: Fall 2025
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 5/12/2025
Salary: $60,000 - $69,999
eJobs ID: 15578

Baylor University

Rank: Lecturer, Full-Time, Temporary - Political Science

To apply, go to: <https://apply.interfolio.com/164380>

Applications will be reviewed as they are received.

Baylor University: Office of the Provost: Arts and Sciences: Arts and Sciences - Humanities and Social Sciences: Political Science

This is a temporary lecturer position with full-time responsibilities teaching courses in the Department of Political Science during the 2025-2026 academic year. Primary teaching responsibilities will be the core curriculum common course, PSC 1387 The U.S. Constitution, Its Interpretation, and the American Constitutional Experience.

We especially welcome applicants with research or undergraduate teaching experience in American politics, public law, or political or constitutional theory. An ability to teach introductory courses in another subfield of political science is welcome but not required. Finalists will be required to attend an on-campus interview with University administration. Employment will be contingent upon the successful completion of a background check.

Located in Waco, Texas, Baylor University is the oldest college in Texas. With a population of 21,000 diverse students, Baylor is one of the top universities in the nation, having been named an R1 institution by the Carnegie Classification in January 2022. Baylor is also on the honor roll of the "Great Colleges to Work For" from The Chronicle of Higher Education; Baylor offers competitive salaries and benefits while allowing faculty and staff to live in one of the fastest-growing parts of the state. Our strategic plan, Illuminate, guides the University as we continue to live up to Baylor's mission of educating men and women for worldwide leadership and service by integrating academic excellence and Christian commitment within a caring community.

Qualifications

The successful applicant must hold an advanced degree in the teaching discipline, preferably the Ph.D., by the start date of the appointment. Teaching experience is preferred.

The following application materials should be submitted through Interfolio:

- (1) a cover/application letter,
- (2) current curriculum vitae,
- (3) an official transcript of the highest degree completed (if a Ph.D. or other advanced degree is in progress, a transcript showing hours completed toward the Ph.D. is also required)

All applicants must complete the self-disclosed Religious Affiliation Form in Interfolio.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 3/21/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15523

University of Chicago

Rank: Postdoctoral Researcher Position at the University of Chicago

Postdoctoral Researcher Position at the University of Chicago, Postdoctoral Scholar in American Politics

Employment type: Postdoctoral, full-time (40 hours/week)

Duration: This position is planned to be 12 months, from August 1, 2025 through July 31, 2026, though we have some flexibility on the timing. Please indicate your availability in your cover letter. Reappointment is possible dependent on satisfactory performance, the availability of funding, and the candidate's continuing eligibility for postdoctoral training. The total duration of an individual's postdoctoral experience may not exceed seven years, including postdoctoral work at other institutions.

Applications are strongly preferred by March 31, 2025, though the position will remain open until filled or the search is closed. Interviews with shortlisted candidates: April 1-30, 2025.

Responsibilities and expected outputs:

- The Postdoctoral Researcher will collaborate with Professor Jon Rogowski on research related to American political institutions.
- You will have time to carry out your own research projects.
- You will be encouraged to participate in the intellectual life of the Department of Political Science, and the University of Chicago more broadly, by attending the weekly American politics workshops, hosting public conversations, etc.
- The Postdoctoral Researcher must be based at the University of Chicago's main campus in Chicago, IL.

Skills and qualifications:

- Ph.D. in political science (preferred), economics, or adjacent disciplines
- Strong skills in quantitative methods, data analysis, project management, and written communication

What we offer:

- 12-month employment at the Department of Political Science at the University of Chicago
- $75,000/year salary
- This position is benefits-eligible, and information regarding benefits can be found here.
- Flexible working arrangements

Your application package should include:

- A 1-3 page cover letter explaining your research interests and experience, and how you would expect to advance your research agenda during the fellowship year
- An up-to-date CV
- Two academic writing samples (e.g., chapter of doctoral thesis, articles, working papers)
- Two letters of recommendation submitted by the letter authors to the email address below

Please send your application electronically, in PDF format (either as one single file or as separate PDFs) to americanpolitics@uchicago.edu. Inquiries about the position and project can be addressed here as well.

Applications are strongly preferred by March 31, 2025, though the position will remain open until filled or the search is closed. Interviews with shortlisted candidates: April 1-30, 2025. Starting date of position: August 1, 2025 (with some flexibility).

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 3/17/2025

Salary: $70,000 - $79,999

eJobs ID: 15512

University of Southern California

Rank: Open Rank Tenure Track Faculty Position

The Department of Political Science and International Relations (POIR) in the Dana and David Dornsife College of Letters, Arts and Sciences at the University of Southern California (USC) in Los Angeles invites applications for a tenure-track or tenured position in American Politics as part of a major hiring initiative.

We seek candidates with a strong substantive research program in any domain of American politics, whose work advances theoretical and empirical research on important questions in their subfield.

Candidates are expected to have strong methodological training, and their methodological skills, ability to advise graduate students on methodological issues and teach graduate classes in the Department's core methods sequence will be a consideration. A strong commitment to undergraduate and graduate education is also expected.

The candidate must have completed a Ph.D. by the appointment date. Review of applications will start March 24, 2025 and will continue until the position is filled.

In order to be considered for this position, applicants are required to submit an electronic USC application; follow this job link or paste in a browser: <https://usccareers.usc.edu/job/los-angeles/open-rank-faculty-position-in-american-politics/1209/77699335312>. Required materials for upload include a CV, letter of interest, sample research paper(s), statement of research interests, evidence of teaching effectiveness, the names of three individuals who will be contacted by USC for a letter of reference, and official graduate transcripts. Send inquiries to poir@usc.edu. Materials submitted by regular mail will not be accepted.

The annual base salary range for this position is $100,510 - $281,400. When extending an offer of employment, the University of Southern California considers factors such as (but not limited to) the scope and responsibilities of the position, the candidate's work experience, education/training, key skills, internal peer equity, federal, state and local laws, contractual stipulations, grant funding, as well as external market and organizational considerations.

USC is an equal-opportunity educator and employer, proudly pluralistic and firmly committed to providing equal opportunity for outstanding persons of every race, gender, creed and background. The University particularly encourages women, members of underrepresented groups, veterans and individuals with disabilities to apply. USC will make reasonable accommodations for qualified individuals with known disabilities unless doing so would result in an undue hardship. Further information is available by contacting uschr@usc.edu.

USC will consider for employment all qualified applicants with criminal records in a manner consistent with applicable laws and regulations, including the Los Angeles County Fair Chance Ordinance for employers and the Fair Chance Initiative for Hiring Ordinance, and with due consideration for patient and student safety. Please refer to the Background Screening Policy Appendix D for specific employment screen implications for the position for which you are applying.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 3/11/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15504

Western Carolina University

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor - American Government & Politics

The Department of Political Science and Public Affairs at Western Carolina University is searching for a visiting assistant professor with a specialization in American politics (subfield open) to join our growing and accomplished faculty.

This is a fixed-term nine-month position with the potential for summer teaching. The anticipated start date is August 2025. The successful candidate will contribute to the Political Science program by teaching six courses per academic year on our Cullowhee, NC campus, including sections of our "Introduction to American Government" course, a core course for our Political Science major and a key component in the University's general education program. Upper-level courses within the candidate's specialization may also be part of the teaching load.

Minimum qualifications include candidates that are advanced ABD with a minimum of 18 graduate credit hours in Political Science from an accredited university.

Preferred qualifications include a PhD in Political Science from an accredited institution, prior teaching experience at the university level, and a promising research agenda in American government or politics.

Candidates will apply online: <https://jobs.wcu.edu/postings/29969>

The search committee will begin reviewing applications on or about March 5, 2025.

Start Date: Fall

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 2/7/2025

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 15406

University of Nevada, Las Vegas

Rank: Assistant Professor-in-Residence, Public Law, Department of Political Science

https://nshe.wd1.myworkdayjobs.com/en-US/UNLV-External/job/UNLV1-Main-Campus-Las-Vegas/Assistant-Professor-in-Residence--Public-Law--Department-of-Political-Science--R0146179-_R0146179

The Department of Political Science at the University of Nevada, Las Vegas, invites applications from well-qualified individuals for an Assistant Professor-in-Residence of Public Law starting in the fall semester of 2025. At UNLV, faculty-in-residence are full-time, non-tenure-track, instruction-intensive faculty members with a promotional track from Assistant Professor-in-Residence, to Associate Professor-in-Residence, to Professor-in-Residence. Faculty-in-Residence in the Department of Political Science participate in departmental meetings and committees, and they contribute to departmental deliberation and decision making on most matters. Job responsibilities include teaching twelve credits in each of the fall and spring semesters, which may include a mixture of in-person and online classes. In addition to teaching introductory courses in American politics, the successful candidate will be expected to teach undergraduate courses in the American judicial process and various topics in constitutional law from a social science perspective. Other responsibilities include mentoring undergraduate students and providing appropriate levels of service at the department, college, and university levels. The department is interested in candidates whose professional experience has prepared them to contribute to our commitment to diversity and inclusion in higher education.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 2/5/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15398

Quinnipiac University

Rank: Assistant Teaching Professor of Political Science

The Department of Philosophy and Political Science in the College of Arts & Sciences at Quinnipiac University seeks a dynamic, student-centered Political Scientist to teach at the undergraduate level. We are looking for applicants in the field of American Politics who specialize in ethnic/racial politics. We are also open to candidates specializing in other areas of American Politics whose expertise meaningfully intersects with race and ethnic politics. Candidates using theoretical, quantitative, interpretive, or historical approaches are equally welcome. The appointment will be at the rank of Assistant Teaching Professor, with expectations for teaching (four courses per semester), advising students, and engaging in service activities and committees that strengthen the program, department, college, and university community. Our student-centered department has a strong sense of community, and our faculty are highly collaborative in both teaching and research. We welcome and encourage applications from candidates of all backgrounds.

The anticipated start date is August 2025.

About the College:

The College of Arts & Sciences is a vibrant and inclusive community dedicated to providing an immersive and distinctive educational experience. Known for our inclusive teaching, faculty mentorship, and high-impact experiences, our programs integrate career planning and skill development into a broad education tailored to meet the needs and challenges of the 21st century. Our students emerge as ethical and intellectual leaders, capable of critical and independent thinking, equipped to collaborate on solutions to pressing global issues, and prepared for success in their personal, professional, and civic lives. The College of Arts and Sciences offers 25 undergraduate majors, 34 undergraduate minors, an MS in Molecular and Cell Biology, 6 undergraduate and 1 graduate certificates, and 13 undergraduate/graduate dual-degree programs.

About Quinnipiac:

Quinnipiac University is a private, coeducational institution located 90 minutes north of New York City and two hours from Boston. The university currently has an enrollment of 9,000 students in more than 130 degree programs through its Schools of Business, Communications, Education, Computing, and Engineering, Health Sciences, Law, Medicine, Nursing, and the College of Arts and Sciences. Our 21 Division I teams have achieved remarkable success, boasting multiple conference titles. This includes a 2023 NCAA National Championship win in ice hockey, a three-time defending national champion women's rugby team, and a trip to the Sweet 16 for our women's basketball team. The Quinnipiac University Poll is nationally recognized as a leader in public opinion research, and the university is consistently recognized by U.S. News & World Report and Princeton Review's "The Best 388 Colleges." The university is in the midst of program expansion and renewal for both traditional and adult learners, attraction of diverse communities, development of innovative corporate partnerships, and construction of an ambitious set of capital projects. For more information, please visit qu.edu. Connect with Quinnipiac on Facebook, Instagram, YouTube, TikTok and X.

Responsibilities:

Teach, advise, and mentor undergraduate students and help them achieve their academic and career goals

Teach courses in race and ethnic politics

Teach courses in the American government survey, Introduction to Political Science, American Political Movements, and occasional teaching of our undergraduate methods and senior seminars

Engage in service to support the program, department, college and university, which includes attending weekly department meetings and other college and university meetings as required

The successful candidate should be a strong communicator who is comfortable responding to requests for media interviews and commentary regarding their area of expertise

Education Requirements:

Ph.D. in political science, or a related social science, must be completed by the start of appointment

Qualifications:

Experience or a demonstrated commitment to working with diverse student populations and with the effective use of inclusive teaching practices

Demonstrated ability to teach courses in race and ethnic politics

Preferred Qualifications:

Demonstrated success in teaching, preferably at the college level

Ability and interest in teaching courses in U.S. national institutions, political psychology, social movements, public policy, survey methodology/polling, or experiential learning pedagogy

Experience in curriculum design and development

Experience and interest in guiding student internships and other forms of experiential learning

Experience seeking funding to support research or teaching

Special Instructions to Applicants:

TO APPLY:

Applications must be submitted electronically to <https://career.qu.edu/ci/en-us/job/495853/fulltime-teaching-faculty-political-science> and include:

1. Letter of interest that addresses your qualifications for the position.
2. Curriculum vitae with a list of three academic/professional references who will not be contacted without your permission.
3. Teaching statement (one page preferred) that describes your approach to instruction, which includes a description of your commitment to inclusive teaching practices.
4. Sample teaching evaluations if available.

Applications received by October 21, 2024 will receive first consideration.

Quinnipiac University has a strong commitment to the principles and practices of diversity and inclusion throughout the University community and welcomes candidates who enhance that diversity.

We offer a comprehensive benefits package for full-time faculty and staff which includes tuition remission and a culture that is inclusive and driven by excellence.

Quinnipiac University is an Equal Opportunity Employer.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/10/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14827

Yale University

Rank: Assistant Professor, African American Studies and Political Science, Psychology, or Sociology

Description

Yale's Departments of African American Studies, Political Science, Psychology, and Sociology invite applicants for multiple positions at the assistant professor level beginning July 2025. These positions are part of a cluster hire in African American Studies and the social sciences. The goal is to deepen empirical scholarship of Black experiences—growing the community at Yale necessary for such scholarship in the process. Applicants' research should fit within one or both of two broad subfields: 1) Racial Attitudes and Political Participation (e.g., estimating the role of prejudice in politics, topics in sexuality and gender identity, race and attitudes towards climate justice, and/or other relevant subspecializations) and 2) Race, Systems, and Institutions (e.g., the intersections of race and class, race and artificial intelligence, race relations in specific domains such as education, child welfare, public administration, and/or other relevant subspecializations). All applicants will be jointly appointed with African American Studies and either Political Science, Psychology, or Sociology and each successful applicant will work with their hiring departments to construct a mentorship plan designed to optimize the applicant's ability to navigate the resources of two departments on their path towards promotion. Candidates will be expected to teach courses whose content falls within one or both general areas of research listed above. Candidates who wish to be considered for more than one combination (e.g., African American Studies and Psychology and/or African American Studies and Sociology) should indicate this desire on the cover sheet and apply by the earliest relevant deadline below.

Qualifications

Applicants must have a PhD (or equivalent) at time of hire.

Application Instructions

Yale seeks outstanding applicants who will advance our mission of understanding Black experiences across a broad range of disciplines.

For those seeking to be considered jointly by African American Studies and Political Science, please apply by September 15, 2024.

For those seeking to be considered jointly by African American Studies and Sociology, please apply by October 1, 2024.

For both the Af-Am/PoliSci and Af-Am/Soc applicants, review of applications in these areas will begin immediately after the deadlines and you will be informed no later than the end of November about the status of your application.

For those seeking to be considered jointly by African American Studies and Psychology, please apply by November 1, 2024.

For these applicants, review of applications in these areas will also begin immediately after the deadline, and you will be informed by early February about the status of your application.

For questions, please contact Senior Administrative Assistant, Ms. Vanessa Epps @vanessa.epps@yale.edu. Applicants must submit the following materials for full consideration to URL: <http://apply.interfolio.com/151852>

Cover Letter – Indicate your desired department affiliations (African American Studies and Political Science, Psychology, and/or Sociology) and broad area(s) of research.

Sample Works – For applicants wishing to be considered jointly with Political Science and/or Sociology, submit up to two samples of original research. For applicants wishing to be considered jointly with Psychology, submit three samples of original research.

Research Statement – Describe your most significant scientific discoveries and accomplishments to date as well as your goals for your future research program in a supportive environment like Yale. (2 pages max)

Mentoring and Teaching – Describe your philosophy, experience, and plans for mentoring and teaching undergraduate and graduate students. (1 page max)

Curriculum Vitae – Include your most recent CV with links to publications (or website).

Letters of Recommendation – Please arrange for three referees to upload letters of recommendation by the due date. Recommenders are encouraged to upload them directly.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 8/15/2025

Date Posted: 8/21/2024

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 14685

Yale University

Rank: Assistant/Associate/Full Professor, American Politics

The Department of Political Science at Yale University is seeking to hire multiple faculty members with expertise in American Politics at the rank of Assistant, Associate, or Full Professor, beginning July 1, 2025. A successful applicant should focus on substantive questions in any area of American Politics. Candidates will be expected to teach courses in American Politics commensurate with their experience. If candidates are appointed at the untenured level, the initial appointment will be for 5 years. The teaching expectation is normally 3 courses per academic year.

Qualifications

Ph.D. or equivalent degree required at time of hire.

Application Instructions

All applications must include a cover letter and CV. Untenured candidates should also supply 3 recommendation letters, 2 writing samples, and separate short (2 pages or less) research and teaching statements. All materials should be uploaded to Interfolio at <http://apply.interfolio.com/151671>. Review of applications will begin September 15, 2024 (or 30 days after posting, whichever is later), and to guarantee full consideration your file should be complete by this date.

Please contact Xaria Callender, Sr. Administrative Assistant for the Political Science Department, at xaria.callender@yale.edu if you have questions about the application process.

Start Date: Fall 2025
Application Deadline: 8/7/2025
Date Posted: 8/12/2024
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 14618

COMPARATIVE POLITICS

Agnes Scott College

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of Political Science at Agnes Scott College invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track position at the Assistant Professor level to begin in Fall 2026. We are seeking a candidate who focuses on comparative politics with a special emphasis on political behavior and/or quantitative methods Successful candidates should expect to offer courses that will contribute to other programs at the college, such as International Relations and Human Rights, as well as the new Data Analytics minor. Such courses would also contribute to the Summit program, the College's general education on global learning and leadership curriculum. Applicants should have a Ph.D. in Political Science (ABDs will be considered), as well as evidence of effective and inclusive teaching and a robust research and publication agenda. A commitment to serve a diverse student population is required.

To apply, email the following to Professor Eleanor Morris through facultyserve@agnesscott.edu:

- ? Cover letter that outlines the candidate's qualifications in research and teaching
- ? Curriculum vitae
- ? Three (3) letters of recommendation
- ? Unofficial graduate transcript(s)
- ? Research statement
- ? Statement on teaching philosophy
- ? Teaching evaluations
- ? Writing sample

Review of applications will start October 1, 2025 and continue until the position is filled.

Agnes Scott College is a highly selective, independent national liberal arts college for women located in metropolitan Atlanta. An equal opportunity employer, Agnes Scott College does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, national origin, religion, sex, sexual orientation, age, veteran status, disability or genetic information, gender identity, gender expression, or any other characteristic protected by law in its employment. Agnes Scott College has a strong commitment to diversity and urges members of underrepresented groups to apply.

Questions about the position, department, or college may be directed to Eleanor Morris at emorris@agnesscott.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2026
Application Deadline: 10/1/2025
Date Posted: 8/1/2025
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 15700

Charles University

Rank: Research Group Leader in Comparative Area Studies

Specializations: East Asia, Middle East, Post Communist Europe

Research Group Leader in Comparative Area Studies

The Faculty of Arts, Charles University (Prague, Czech Republic) is seeking a RESEARCH GROUP LEADER IN COMPARATIVE AREA STUDIES. As part of the project funded by Horizon Europe (ERA Chair in Multidisciplinary Area Studies, ERA-AREAS), this post holder will be responsible for coordinating a newly created Center for Multidisciplinary Area Studies (CENMAS). The applicant will work closely with the ERA Chair Holder, Prof. Mariana Llanos. The applicants are expected to focus on one of three regional specializations: Middle Eastern studies, Asian studies, East European studies.

The Faculty of Arts belongs among the largest and longest-established centers for area studies research and instruction in Central and Eastern Europe, covering all global regions in its research. By engaging in the ERA-AREAS project, it seeks to strengthen its area studies programs focused on non-European global regions and Eastern Europe. We invite applications from scholars within area studies whose research demonstrates strong regional expertise and a commitment to addressing globally significant issues through a social science lens. The research group leader will coordinate a research group composed of scholars focusing on other global regions under a shared topic. We therefore expect experience with managing and coordinating academic research as well as the ability to foster particular research agendas in a collaborative fashion. The ideal candidate will employ comparative methodologies and actively engage in disciplinary debates within area studies on critical current events from a comparative perspective. While the specific disciplinary focus of the applicants is secondary (gravitating towards the loosely defined core of sociology, political science, economics, contemporary history or anthropology), the research group leader is expected to engage in research of the causes and consequences of contemporary crises in global regions which include, in particular, political crises, economic shocks, coups, democratic breakdowns, social protests, early government terminations, threats to democracies, and outbursts of political violence. Applications from scholars at middle or advanced career stage with past active engagement in international academic networks are especially welcome.

Essential criteria

- Academic focus on one of three regional specializations: Middle Eastern studies, Asian studies, East European studies,
- Completed Ph.D. in a relevant social science discipline,
- Proven experience with approaches that compare contexts within or across global regions, including the ability to combine deep contextual knowledge of specific global regions with comparative methods (qualitative or quantitative) to identify causal linkages,
- Demonstrated capacity to apply social science research methods to area studies, moving beyond traditional linguistic-cultural approaches while avoiding purely universalist, theory-driven models of explanation,
- Experience with academic management or coordination of research activities ideally within a university or research institute. This includes leading a team of researchers, overseeing project planning and execution, managing grants and reporting, supporting the preparation of publications and other research outputs. Highly desirable is the ability to represent the center externally and contribute to its strategic development.
- Highly proficient in spoken and written English, Czech language proficiency is not required,

- Language skills adequate for deep contextual understanding of the given global region,
- A strong international publication record in an area studies field appropriate for the senior level position,
- A well-developed and ambitious research agenda featuring regionally grounded social science work that addresses global issues using comparative approaches,
- Advanced knowledge of area studies methodologies and social science research techniques, especially the ability to utilize comparative methods of causal inference to uncover the determinants and consequences of critical contemporary events,
- We expect a broader expertise in a global region that extends beyond the study of a single country or community and that spans multiple national contexts,
- Proven ability to work collaboratively across disciplinary boundaries, supporting multidisciplinary dialogue and research,

Desirable Criteria

- Engaging with research that involves cross-region comparisons to other global regions than those which constitute the thrust of the applicant's expertise (that is Middle East, Asia, Eastern Europe, Latin America and Africa),
- The ability to engage in research from a methodologically pluralist perspective, including historical, interpretivist, ethnographic or critical-theoretical perspectives (including decolonial and postcolonial perspectives that interrogate knowledge production in area studies).
- Prior experience with graduate student teaching and supervision.
- Evidence of research impact beyond academia, including engagement with policymakers, practitioners, or civil society,
- Engagement with the methodological and conceptual challenges of pursuing area studies.
- The ability to present research findings to broader public through media and public outreach
- A history of successful external research grant applications and a clear potential to attract further research funding.

Your Responsibilities

- The post holder will coordinate research activities of a multidisciplinary and cross-regional research team (Center for Multidisciplinary Area Studies) composed of newly hired postdoctoral researchers and current researchers at the Faculty of Arts area studies departments. They will contribute to the selection of postdoctoral researchers (covering different global regions) within his/her research topic to forge a cohesive research group guided by a single overarching analytic theme,
- Contribute to the scientific goal of the project by analyzing the causes and consequences of critical current events from a methodologically rigorous and comparative perspective,
- Limited teaching duties (approximately 1 course per semester for MA and PhD students within the research interest of the post holder),
- Conduct innovative and impactful research that pushes the boundaries of the field, collaborating with students and colleagues to cultivate a vibrant research environment and mentor early-career researchers and postgraduate students,
- Maintain a strong and consistent publication output in leading international publication outlets (peer-reviewed journals, book publishers),
- Secure external research funding, lead collaborative projects, develop and submit competitive grant applications,
- Ensure practical relevance and societal impact of the research by contributing to policy development, engage proactively with non-academic audiences, including policymakers, practitioners, and media outlets, ensuring research is accessible and socially relevant,

- Participate in other activities of the ERA-AREAS project, including public outreach, communication with area studies departments at the Faculty of Arts, contribute to the implementation of the new organizational model for area studies—both in research and academic programmes—developed within the project, and actively foster collaboration among the area studies departments,
- The post holder will be formally associated to one of the area studies departments at the Faculty of Arts (Middle Eastern Studies, Asian Studies, East European Studies) based on his/her region of expertise. They will therefore be expected to participate in the activities of that department,
- Cooperate with the ERA Chair Holder (Prof. Mariana Llanos), and the Project Coordinator (Prof. Karel Kouba).

We Offer:

- Full-time employment (40 hours per week)
- Permanent contract (indefinite period)
- Salary 3.500 - 4.000 EUR per month (take-home pay approx. 2.600-3.000 EUR)
- A dynamic and intellectually stimulating academic environment at one of the oldest and most prestigious universities in Central Europe
- Full access to the research infrastructure and resources of the Faculty of Arts, Charles University, including libraries, databases, and support services
- Opportunities for interdisciplinary collaboration within the university and with partner institutions in the Czech Republic and abroad
- Employee Benefits at Charles University
- Office space located in the centre of Prague
- Relocation Support such as assistance with visa arrangements, housing, healthcare registration and other individual needs related to settling in

The successful candidate is expected to start on 1 April 2026.

The ERA-AREAS project is scheduled to conclude on 31 March 2030. However, the position of the CENMAS Leader will remain permanent, as CENMAS will continue its operations beyond the project's end. Its ongoing activities as well as the CENMAS Leader salary will be supported through external funding, which CENMAS will actively seek and apply for during the project's implementation phase.

Selection Process Timeline

- Candidate Questions Concerning the Recruitment Process: 1 August 2025 – 15 September 2025
- Deadline for submission of applications: 30 September 2025 at 23:59 CEST
- Pre-selection of candidates invited to online interview: 1 - 15 October 2025
- Online interviews: 16 – 31 October 2025
- Final shortlisting of candidates invited to in-person interview: 31 October 2025
- In-person interviews in Prague: 19 November 2025 Travel (economy class) and accommodation expenses will be provided by the ERA-AREAS project.
- Final decision: 15 December 2025

How to apply

To apply please submit the following documents to era-areas@ff.cuni.cz

Please specify the position you're applying for in the email subject.

- Curriculum Vitae
- A cover letter (supporting statement), which explains why you are applying for the post and provides evidence of how your qualifications, skills, and experience meet the selection criteria outlined above. This includes experience gained in education or employment. Particular reference should be made to your research plans within the scope of the ERA-AREAS project (max. 2 pages)

- List of Publications and Research Outputs (including peer-reviewed articles, books, conference presentations, etc.)
- Contact details for two persons available to provide references (these might be contacted as part of the selection process)

Project-Specific Criteria

- In accordance with the Horizon Europe Work Programme 2023–2025 – Widening Participation and Strengthening the European Research Area, no more than 50% of the appointed team members may have had previous contractual links with Charles University. Therefore, preference will be given to candidates from outside the university.
- Charles University is committed to promoting equal opportunities and fostering a diverse, inclusive, and respectful academic environment. In line with its institutional policies, the university actively supports gender balance and particularly encourages applications from female candidates. We welcome applications from all qualified individuals regardless of age, race, ethnicity, gender identity or expression, sexual orientation, disability, religion, or any other characteristic protected by applicable law.
- The selection process includes a due diligence review to ensure compliance with resilience and sanctions-related provisions under both international and national legislation.

If you would like to discuss this job post and find out more please contact the Project Coordinator Prof. Karel Kouba and Project HR Manager Petra Koubová (era-areas@ff.cuni.cz). All enquiries will be treated in strict confidence and will not form part of the selection decision. Questions should be emailed between 1 August and 15 September 2025.

As English is the official language of the selection process, all documents submitted by applicants, as well as all communication, must be conducted in English.

By submitting your application, you consent to the processing of your personal data by Charles University for the purposes of the recruitment process, in accordance with Regulation (EU) 2016/679 of the European Parliament and of the Council (General Data Protection Regulation – GDPR). Your data will be processed solely for the purpose of evaluating your application and will not be shared with third parties without your consent.

The project ERA Chair in Multidisciplinary Area Studies (ERA-AREAS), Project No. 101185327, is funded by the European Union under the Horizon Europe program.

Start Date: Spring 2026

Application Deadline: 9/30/2025

Date Posted: 8/1/2025

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 15724

Charles University

Rank: Researcher in Comparative Area Studies (Postdoctoral level)

Specializations: East Asia, Middle East, Post Communist Europe

The Faculty of Arts, Charles University (Prague, Czech Republic) is seeking a postdoctoral researcher in comparative area studies. As part of the project funded by Horizon Europe (ERA Chair in Multidisciplinary Area Studies, ERA-AREAS), this post holder will participate in the newly created Center for Multidisciplinary Area Studies (CEN-MAS). The applicant will work closely with the ERA Chair holder, Prof Mariana Llanos, and the research group leader. The applicants are expected to focus on one of five regional specializations: Middle Eastern studies, Asian studies, East European studies, African studies, Latin American studies.

The Faculty of Arts belongs among the largest and longest-established centers for area studies research and instruction in Central and Eastern Europe, covering all global regions in its research. By engaging in the ERA-AREAS project, it seeks to strengthen its area studies programs focused on non-European global regions and Eastern Europe. We invite applications from scholars within area studies whose research demonstrates strong regional expertise and a commitment to addressing globally significant issues through a social science lens. The ideal candidate will employ comparative methodologies and actively engage in disciplinary debates within area studies on critical current events from a comparative perspective. While the specific disciplinary focus of the applicants is secondary (gravitating towards the loosely defined core of sociology, political science, economics, contemporary history or anthropology), the researcher is expected to engage in research of the causes and consequences of contemporary crises in global regions which include, in particular, political crises, economic shocks, coups, democratic breakdowns, social protests, early government terminations, threats to democracies, and outbursts of political violence.

Essential criteria

- Proven experience with approaches that compare contexts within or across global regions, including the ability to combine deep contextual knowledge of specific global regions with comparative methods (qualitative or quantitative) to identify causal linkages,
- Demonstrated capacity to apply social science research methods to area studies, moving beyond traditional linguistic-cultural approaches while avoiding purely universalist, theory-driven models of explanation,
- A completed Ph.D. (or an internationally recognized equivalent) in a relevant social science discipline, obtained no more than five years prior to the application deadline (excluding eligible career breaks such as parental leave, military service, serious illness, or other legally recognized interruptions)
- High proficiency in spoken and written English, Czech language proficiency is not required,
- Language skills adequate for deep contextual understanding of the given global region,
- An international publication record in an area studies field appropriate for the postdoctoral-level position,
- A well-developed and ambitious research agenda featuring regionally grounded social science work that addresses global issues using comparative approaches,
- Advanced knowledge of area studies methodologies and social science research techniques, especially the ability to utilize comparative methods of causal inference to uncover the determinants and consequences of critical contemporary events,
- We expect a broader expertise in a global region that extends beyond the study of a single country or community and that spans multiple national contexts,
- Proven ability to work collaboratively across disciplinary boundaries, supporting multidisciplinary dialogue and research,

Desirable Criteria

- Engaging with research that involves cross-region comparisons to other global regions than those which constitute the thrust of the applicant's expertise (that is Middle East, Asia, Eastern Europe, Latin America and Africa),

- Evidence of research impact beyond academia, including engagement with policymakers, practitioners, or civil society,
- The ability to present research findings to broader public through media and public outreach. Limited travel budget will be available for academic conferences.
- A history of successful research grant applications and a clear potential to attract further research funding.

Your Responsibilities

- The postdoctoral researchers will form part of a multidisciplinary and cross-regional research team (Center for Multidisciplinary Area Studies) guided by a single overarching analytic theme, composed of other newly hired postdoctoral researchers and current researchers at the Faculty Arts area studies departments,
- Contribute to the scientific goal of the project by analyzing the causes and consequences of critical current events from a methodologically rigorous and comparative perspective,
- Limited teaching duties (approximately 1 course per semester for MA and PhD students within the research interest of the post holder),
- Conduct innovative and impactful research that pushes the boundaries of the field, collaborating with students and colleagues to cultivate a vibrant research environment,
- Maintain a strong and consistent publication output in leading international publication outlets (peer – reviewed journals, book publishers),
- Secure external research funding, engage in further collaborative projects, develop and submit competitive grant applications,
- Ensure practical relevance and societal impact of the research by contributing to policy development, engage proactively with non-academic audiences, including policymakers, practitioners, and media outlets, ensuring research is accessible and socially relevant,
- Participate in other activities of the ERA-AREAS project, including public outreach, communication with area studies departments at the Faculty of Arts,
- The post holder will be formally associated to one of the area studies departments at the Faculty of Arts (Middle Eastern Studies, Asian studies, East European, Ibero-American studies) based on his/her region of expertise. They will therefore be expected to participate in the activities of that department,
- Cooperate with the ERA Chair Holder (Prof. Mariana Llanos), the Project Coordinator (Prof. Karel Kouba), and the CENMAS research group leader.

We Offer:

- Full-time employment (40 hours per week)
- Fixed-term position for a period of two years, with the possibility of extension
- Salary 2.000-2.600 EUR per month (take-home pay approx. 1.600-2.040 EUR)
- A dynamic and intellectually stimulating academic environment at one of the oldest and most prestigious universities in Central Europe
- Full access to the research infrastructure and resources of the Faculty of Arts, Charles University, including libraries, databases, and support services
- Opportunities for interdisciplinary collaboration within the university and with partner institutions in the Czech Republic and abroad
- Employee Benefits at Charles University
- Office space located in the centre of Prague
- Relocation Support such as assistance with visa arrangements, housing, healthcare registration and other individual needs related to settling in

The successful candidate is expected to start on 1 April 2026.

The ERA-AREAS project will end on 31 March 2030, but CENMAS will continue operating with external funding. The researcher can remain at the faculty if they secure a grant for further financing.

Selection Process Timeline

- Candidate Questions Concerning the Recruitment Process: 1 August 2025 – 15 September 2025
- Deadline for submission of applications: 30 September 2025 at 23:59 CEST
- Pre-selection of candidates invited to online interview: 15 October 2025
- Online interviews: 16 – 31 October 2025
- Final decision: 15 November 2025

How to apply

To apply please submit the following documents to era-areas@ff.cuni.cz

Please specify the position you're applying for in the email subject.

- Curriculum Vitae
- A cover letter (supporting statement), which explains why you are applying for the post and provides evidence of how your qualifications, skills, and experience meet the selection criteria outlined above. This includes experience gained in education or employment. Particular reference should be made to your research plans within the scope of the ERA-AREAS project (max. 2 pages)
- List of Publications and Research Outputs (including peer-reviewed articles, books, conference presentations, etc.)
- Contact details for two persons available to provide references (these might be contacted as part of the selection process)

Project-Specific Criteria

- In accordance with the Horizon Europe Work Programme 2023–2025 – Widening Participation and Strengthening the European Research Area, no more than 50% of the appointed team members may have had previous contractual links with Charles University. Therefore, preference will be given to candidates from outside the university.
- Charles University is committed to promoting equal opportunities and fostering a diverse, inclusive, and respectful academic environment. In line with its institutional policies, the university actively supports gender balance and particularly encourages applications from female candidates. We welcome applications from all qualified individuals regardless of age, race, ethnicity, gender identity or expression, sexual orientation, disability, religion, or any other characteristic protected by applicable law.
- The selection process includes a due diligence review to ensure compliance with resilience and sanctions-related provisions under both international and national legislation.

If you would like to discuss this job post and find out more please contact the Project Coordinator Prof. Karel Kouba and Project HR Manager Petra Koubová (era-areas@ff.cuni.cz). All enquiries will be treated in strict confidence and will not form part of the selection decision. Questions should be emailed between 1 August and 15 September 2025.

Questions regarding the application process should be emailed between 1 August 2025 and 15 September 2025.

As English is the official language of the selection process, all documents submitted by applicants, as well as all communication, must be conducted in English.

By submitting your application, you consent to the processing of your personal data by Charles University for the purposes of the recruitment process, in accordance with Regulation (EU) 2016/679 of the European Parliament and of the Council (General Data Protection Regulation – GDPR). Your data will be processed solely for the purpose of evaluating your application and will not be shared with third parties without your consent.

The project ERA Chair in Multidisciplinary Area Studies (ERA-AREAS), Project No. 101185327, is funded by the European Union under the Horizon Europe programme.

Start Date: Spring 2026

Application Deadline: 9/30/2025

Date Posted: 8/1/2025

Salary: $30,000 - $39,999

eJobs ID: 15725

Princeton University

Rank: Visiting Fellow, Program in Latin American Studies

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Public Policy

Specializations: South America, Central America, Caribbean

Program in Latin American Studies (PLAS) Short-term Visiting Fellowships, 2026-2027

Job Title: Visiting Fellow

Requisition Number: D-25-LAS-00003

The Program in Latin American Studies is launching an open call for applications for next year's visiting short-term fellowships. We are looking for advanced or mid-career scholars from any discipline whose research projects focused on Latin America, including Brazil or the Caribbean. Applications will be accepted from scholars in the humanities and social sciences, as well as from established Latin American writers, artists, filmmakers, or architects working on research or creative projects who may benefit from a short stay at Princeton University.

Appointments will be for one calendar month during the 2026-2027 academic year (September 1, 2026, to June 30, 2027) or the summer (July and August), to be determined on a case-by-case basis. In addition to a stipend, the program will provide up to $2,500 as a housing allowance and up to $2,000 as a travel allowance to reimburse allowable out-of-pocket rental and travel expenses, some of which may be taxable. The work location for these positions is in-person on campus at Princeton University.

Visiting Fellows will be expected to devote themselves to research and to participate regularly in the scholarly activities of the PLAS intellectual community.

How to Apply:

For full consideration, all the materials listed below must be received by October 12, 2025. All candidates must apply online to submit materials at: <https://puwebp.princeton.edu/AcadHire/position/38403>

1) Cover letter (in English) indicating the calendar month the applicant proposes to stay), title and short description of the proposed research project, and an explanation for reasons to be here at Princeton (i.e., use the library, look at particular archives, work with members of the faculty, etc.);

2) Curriculum vitae (in English);

3) A statement (in English) describing the research project as well as the ways Princeton resources and/or faculty will be useful for the project (1,000-1500 words);

4) The names and contact information of two referees. (The Program will contact them, if needed, later).

Expected Salary Range: $5,000 per month

The University considers factors such as (but not limited to) scope and responsibilities of the position, candidate's qualifications, work experience, education/training, key skills, market, collective bargaining agreements as applicable, and organizational considerations when extending an offer. The posted salary range represents the University's good faith and reasonable estimate for a full-time position; salaries for part-time positions are pro-rated accordingly.

The University also offers a comprehensive benefit program to eligible employees. Please see this link for more information <https://hr.princeton.edu/thrive/health>.

Start Date: Fall 2026

Date Posted: 8/1/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15709

Princeton University

Rank: Visiting Research Scholar, Program in Latin American Studies

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Public Policy

Specializations: South America, Central America, Caribbean

Program in Latin American Studies (PLAS) Visiting Fellowship, 2026-2027

Job Title: Visiting Research Scholar

Requisition Number: D-25-LAS-00002

The Program in Latin American Studies (PLAS) is seeking top scholars in their fields who have teaching experience and will provide Princeton students with an opportunity to study topics that are not regularly offered at the University. Applications will be accepted from outstanding scholars in the humanities and social sciences, as well as from established writers, artists, filmmakers, or architects working on projects related to Latin America.

Visiting Research Scholars will be expected to teach one undergraduate course per semester, conditional upon sufficient enrollments and approval of the Office of the Dean of the Faculty, and to participate regularly in PLAS-related events on campus.

Appointments are expected to be for one or two semesters during the 2026-2027 academic year (fall semester: September 1, 2026 - January 16, 2027; spring semester: January 16, 2026 - June 1, 2027). In addition to salary, the program will provide up to $7,500 as a housing allowance and up to $2,000 as a travel allowance to reimburse allowable out-of-pocket rental and travel expenses, some of which may be taxable. If teaching, the visitor would be paid at a nominally higher rate.

The work location for this position is in-person on campus at Princeton University.

How to Apply:

For full consideration, all the materials listed must be received by October 12, 2025, 11:59 p.m. EST. All candidates must submit materials (in English) and apply online at: <https://puwebp.princeton.edu/AcadHire/position/38402>

- 1) Cover letter indicating the applicant's proposed length of stay (1-2 semesters), title and short description of the proposed research project, and teaching interests;
- 2) Curriculum vitae;
- 3) One undergraduate seminar proposal or syllabus for each proposed semester of the fellowship, including a statement of how the course(s) would enhance undergraduate education at Princeton;
- 4) A statement describing the research project and its scholarly contribution (1,500 - 2,000 words);
- 5) The names and contact information of two referees (the Program will contact them, if needed, later).

Advanced degree preferred.

Expected Salary Range: $49,250 per semester

The University considers factors such as (but not limited to) scope and responsibilities of the position, candidate's qualifications, work experience, education/training, key skills, market, collective bargaining agreements as applicable, and organizational considerations when extending an offer. The posted salary range represents the University's good faith and reasonable estimate for a full-time position; salaries for part-time positions are pro-rated accordingly.

The University also offers a comprehensive benefit program to eligible employees. Please see this link for more information <https://hr.princeton.edu/thrive/health>.

Start Date: Fall 2026

Application Deadline: 10/12/2025

Date Posted: 8/1/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15710

Swarthmore College

Rank: Assistant Professor of Comparative Politics: Chinese Politics and Policy

The Department of Political Science at Swarthmore College invites applications for a full-time tenure track appointment at the level of Assistant Professor (Comparative Politics: China) to begin in Fall 2026. We seek a candidate with research and teaching expertise on the domestic politics of China, who can also teach about China in a comparative context and who can contribute more broadly to our Comparative Politics offerings through substantively themed courses.

Teaching will include both introductory courses and upper level seminars, with a typical load of four courses each academic year (2 in the fall, 2 in the spring), with the first year comprising only a three-course load.

The Department of Political Science provides students with a rigorous education that spans four traditional subfields of the discipline—American Politics, Comparative Politics, International Relations, and Political Theory. Courses on research design and methodology are also offered.

The Department consists of ten tenure-line faculty members and three visiting faculty members. The salary is highly competitive.

Additional information about the Department of Political Science can be found at <https://www.swarthmore.edu/political-science>

Located in the suburbs of Philadelphia and near Wilmington DE, Swarthmore College is a highly selective liberal arts college whose mission combines academic rigor with social responsibility. Swarthmore has a strong institutional commitment to diversity, and actively seeks and welcomes applications from candidates with exceptional qualifications, particularly those with demonstrable commitments to a more inclusive society and world. Applicants from traditionally underrepresented groups are strongly encouraged to apply. For more information on Faculty Diversity and Excellence at Swarthmore, see <http://www.swarthmore.edu/faculty-diversity-excellence/information-candidates-new-faculty>

Qualifications

Qualifications include a Ph.D. in Political Science in hand by August 2026, a passion for teaching and mentoring undergraduate students of diverse backgrounds and identities, and the potential for innovative and impactful scholarship.

Application Instructions

Applicants should include a brief cover letter describing their interest in Swarthmore College, a curriculum vitae, teaching and research statements, two syllabi, and three letters of recommendation. The teaching statement should describe the applicant's interests in teaching at an undergraduate institution, previous teaching experience, and approach to teaching and mentoring students from diverse backgrounds. The research statement should describe the applicant's program of research (including research interests, recent and current research, and anticipated areas for future work).

Apply at: apply.interfolio.com/170741. Applications will not be considered complete if the letters of recommendation are not received by the deadline.

All complete applications received by September 15, 2025, will receive full consideration, and review of applications will continue until the position is filled.

Please address any questions you may have to Christina Dahl, cdahl1@swarthmore.edu, Administrative Coordinator of Political Science.

Start Date: Fall 2026

Application Deadline: 9/15/2025

Date Posted: 7/22/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15691

University of Texas at Austin

Rank: Tenure Track Nonmarket Strategy Position

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, Political Theory

The Department of Business, Government & Society (BGS) at the University of Texas at Austin's McCombs School of Business invites applications for an assistant professor (tenure track) position in non-market strategy effective August 16, 2026. We are particularly interested in candidates whose research focuses on corporate political activity, including but not limited to money in politics, sociopolitical activism, and regulation, and we are open as to geographic focus.

The BGS department (<https://www.mcombs.utexas.edu/departments/BGS>) teaches future leaders at all levels of McCombs' curriculum how to recognize and respond to the political, social, legal, and ethical expectations that businesses face. BGS aims to contribute to important public policy debates in these and related areas through research that applies rigorous social science methods to relevant non-market strategy questions.

The school's location in Austin is particularly attractive to faculty interested in connecting with a thriving business community and the Texas state government. For more details on the school and the department, please visit <http://www.mcombs.utexas.edu/> and <https://www.mcombs.utexas.edu/Departments/BGS>. Finally, Austin is an outstanding place to live! See <http://www.austintexas.org/visit/> for some of the many things that contribute to the high quality of life in Austin.

Qualifications:

The ideal candidate will possess a Ph.D. prior to the start date in economics, political science, sociology, or strategic management and be prepared to publish in top outlets in these fields. The primary teaching responsibilities for this position will be corporate political strategy at the undergraduate, MBA, and EMBA levels, as well as the department's new undergraduate core class in nonmarket strategy.

Application Instructions:

Interested parties should submit the following: 1) a cover letter that includes brief statements of research and teaching interests, 2) a CV, 3) a job market paper, 4) three letters of recommendation, and, if available, 5) evidence of teaching effectiveness (e.g., sample syllabi and student evaluations). All applications submitted by Friday, September 26, 2025 will receive full consideration, although the search will continue until a suitable candidate is identified. UT-Austin uses Interfolio's Faculty Search. Applicants to this position receive a free Dossier account and can send all application materials free of charge. The posting is available here: apply.interfolio.com/169635 and interfolio.com/169635.

Direct any inquiries to Timothy Werner (timothy.werner@mcombs.utexas.edu). The University of Texas at Austin is an Equal Opportunity Employer. As part of standard University practice and policy, a criminal history background check will be required for finalist(s) under consideration for this position.

Equal Employment Opportunity Statement

The University of Texas at Austin, as an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer, complies with all applicable federal and state laws regarding nondiscrimination and affirmative action. The University is committed to a policy of equal opportunity for all persons and does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, national origin, age, marital status, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, gender expression, disability, religion, or veteran status in employment, educational programs and activities, and admissions.

College / School / Unit

McCombs School of Business

Department

Business, Government & Society

Posted

Jun 25, 2025

Apply by

Sep 26, 2025

Applying

UT Austin uses Interfolio to manage the application process. Please only apply through the UT Austin website.

Start Date: Fall 2026

Date Posted: 7/16/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15676

Troy University

Rank: Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Comparative Politics, American Government and Politics

The Department of Political Science is accepting applications for a tenure-track position of Assistant Professor of Political Science, with a concentration in policy studies, broadly defined, beginning on August 1, 2025. The successful candidate for this position must have an active and promising research agenda, and enthusiasm for working with first-generation students in a diverse setting. Preference will be given to applicants who possess strengths in research methodology. This is a ten-month tenure-track position at our Troy, Alabama location. Responsibilities include teaching 12 credit hours per semester (4/4 load; undergraduate; face to face with potential for fully online courses), and maintaining an active research agenda. We are also looking for applicants willing to advise students, perform service outside of our department, and contribute to Troy University's identity as "Alabama's International University."

The Department of Political Science at Troy University currently employs fifteen faculty members and we offer Bachelor's of Political Science Degree, a Master's in International Relations (MSIR), and a Master's in Public Administration (MPA). Additional opportunities may arise for the applicant to teach in online courses in one or both of our two graduate programs, and the University offers a wide-range of professional development opportunities to instructors developing and teaching online.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/15/2025

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 15674

Lafayette College

Rank: Assistant Professor of International Relations/Comparative Politics

Specializations: Developing Nations, Political Economy, International Political Economy

The Department of Government and Law and the International Affairs Program at Lafayette College invite applications for a shared tenure-track position in International Relations and/or Comparative Politics at the rank of Assistant Professor commencing July 1, 2026. We seek a teacher-scholar whose teaching and research focus on the politics of development in the Global South, with expertise in topics such as, but not limited to, political economy, global inequality, and/or international organizations. Preference will be given to candidates with a regional focus in South Asia or the Middle East and North Africa (MENA). Acknowledging the vibrant diversity of studies of socioeconomic transformations in the Global South, we welcome innovative theoretical perspectives and methodological approaches.

Applicants must possess a Ph.D. in political science or demonstrate that the Ph.D. is near completion. The successful candidate will teach introductory as well as intermediate and advanced courses in their areas of expertise for the Government and Law Department and the International Affairs Program and is expected to maintain an active research agenda. The Department and Program especially welcome applications from candidates who will contribute to Lafayette's commitment to diversity and inclusion. The teaching load during the first year is four courses (normally two each semester) and five courses each year thereafter.

Applications should include a letter of intent, curriculum vitae, sample of scholarly work, graduate school transcript, evidence of teaching ability (including, if available, syllabi and teaching evaluations), and three letters of recommendation. The letter of intent should contain a statement of teaching philosophy and scholarly interests, and address the ways in which the applicant's teaching, scholarship, and/or community engagement will advance Lafayette College's commitment to diversity, equity, and inclusion as articulated in the College's diversity statement (<https://belong.lafayette.edu/diversity-statement/>).

Please upload application materials electronically through Interfolio at <https://apply.interfolio.com/170245>. Review of applications will begin on September 22, 2025 and continue until the position is filled. Questions may be directed to the Search Committee Co-Chairs, Professor Seo-Hyun Park (parksh@lafayette.edu) and Professor Caleb Gallemore (galleemoc@lafayette.edu).

Located within 70 miles of New York City and Philadelphia, Lafayette College is a highly selective undergraduate liberal arts and engineering institution with significant resources to support faculty members in their teaching and scholarship. Lafayette College is committed to creating a diverse community, one that is inclusive and responsive, and is supportive of its faculty, students, and staff. All members of the College community share a responsibility for creating, maintaining, and developing a learning environment in which difference is valued, equity is sought, and inclusiveness is practiced. Lafayette welcomes applicants from diverse backgrounds.

Start Date: Fall 2026

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/11/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15661

Princeton University

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Associate, PIIRS Postdoctoral Fellowship Program

Subfield(s): Open, International Relations, Comparative Politics

The Princeton Institute for International and Regional Studies (PIIRS) at Princeton University is pleased to announce the call for applications to the PIIRS Postdoctoral Fellowship Program for the 2026-27 academic year. As a leading global institution in interdisciplinary research on international issues, PIIRS is dedicated to advancing innovative scholarship that addresses the world's most pressing challenges. The PIIRS Postdoctoral Fellows Program is integral to that mission.

We will award two postdoctoral fellowships to our 2026-27 cohort. PIIRS seeks recent PhDs in the Social Sciences who have demonstrated exceptional scholarship, congruent with the Institute's intellectual focus, that simultaneously advances theoretical debates in their disciplinary field; creatively speaks to and engages with a multidisciplinary audience; and deepens substantive regional knowledge of specific places.

Appointments are for one year (12 months) with the possibility of renewal pending satisfactory performance and continued funding. Postdoctoral Research Associates (PDRAs) are expected to be in residence at Princeton or the local vicinity for the entire academic year or demonstrate to the program's satisfaction the ability to be on campus on a daily basis and on short notice in order to fulfill responsibilities relating to in-person participation. The position requires PDRAs to be on campus at least four days per week.

Leveraging Princeton's scholarly resources, fellows will focus on research, expand their intellectual horizons, and prepare work for publication. They will have biweekly meetings with the faculty director to share their work, and monthly meetings with faculty fellows from various social sciences to present their work and learn from others. Fellows are also encouraged to engage with colleagues and attend departmental seminars.

Applicants must demonstrate outstanding scholarly achievement and promise. To be eligible, applicants generally cannot have more than two years of postdoctoral experience prior to the start of the appointment, at the beginning of the academic year on September 1, 2026.

The postdoctoral selection will be made based on the strength of the candidates' scholarly record; the promise of the proposed research; and the ability to contribute to the intellectual life of the postdoctoral program (with interest in connecting with other PIIRS and Princeton departments on campus).

In addition to a competitive salary, benefits, and housing subsidy, the program will provide the Fellow with the opportunity to host a small, pre-publication, book workshop; and a research fund of $4,000 per year.

Applicants must apply online at <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/39141>. Applications are due by September 15, 2025 (11:59 p.m. EST). The following application items should be uploaded by the applicant:

*Cover letter

*Curriculum vitae

*Transcripts

*Research Proposal indicating plans for two-year postdoc (maximum 5 pages double-spaced)

*Dissertation abstract (including Table of Contents)

*Writing sample: one chapter of the dissertation or one published article related to dissertation topic.

*Document confirming either that you have completed all requirements for the PhD degree or a letter signed by your dissertation advisor indicating that you will complete the PhD by the start date of the fellowship.

*The names and email addresses of three referees, who will be contacted automatically by the online application system with an invitation to upload their letter of recommendation to the system by the application deadline.

Further information can be found at <https://piirs.princeton.edu/funding-fellowships/piirs-postdoctoral-fellows>.

This position is subject to the University's background check policy. The work location for this position is in-person on campus at Princeton University.

Start Date: Fall 2026

Application Deadline: 9/15/2025

Date Posted: 7/7/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15652

Southwestern University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science (tenure-track)

Specializations: International Law & Organizations, International Political Economy, International Security

The Department of Political Science at Southwestern University invites applications for an assistant professor in Comparative Politics and International Relations beginning in August of 2026. We are open to a wide range of specializations within Comparative Politics and International Relations, but are especially interested in applicants whose teaching and research interests can complement existing departmental strengths in racial/ethnic politics, gender and politics, and East Asia.

The successful candidate will contribute to the Political Science program by teaching five courses per academic year. These courses will include an "Introduction to Comparative Politics" course, a core introductory class in our Political Science major, and an introductory course in International Politics. Elective courses within the areas of the candidate's specialization will also be part of their eventual course rotation. Faculty at Southwestern are also expected to participate in university governance, departmental collaboration, and academic advising.

Qualifications include a PhD in Political Science, International Relations, or a related discipline from an accredited institution. Advanced ABD candidates from an accredited university may also be considered.

Candidates are asked to submit the following materials:

- ? a letter of interest
- ? a CV
- ? two relevant sample syllabi
- ? a statement of teaching philosophy
- ? a statement regarding research interests
- ? three letters of recommendation

Candidates are encouraged to include examples of how they foster equity in the classroom throughout their materials.

All materials must be uploaded to Interfolio at <https://apply.interfolio.com/169531>; no materials will be accepted in hard copy or via email. Review of applications will begin on September 22, 2025. We will be speaking with interested candidates at the APSA Annual Meeting; to set up an appointment or ask questions about this position, please contact Zoe Moss (mossz@southwestern.edu).

Starting annual salary for 9-month position: $65,000. The final offer for the successful candidate will be commensurate with experience and may exceed this figure. Teaching in Southwestern University summer school provides faculty with an opportunity to supplement their income during the summer months.

Southwestern University (Georgetown, Texas) is a selective undergraduate residential liberal arts institution in the greater Austin area. Established in 1840, Southwestern enrolls approximately 1,500 students and maintains a student-faculty ratio of 11 to 1. The university provides a highly interdisciplinary, integrated, and holistic education that values high-impact learning experiences, including study abroad, internships, faculty-student research, and community-engaged learning. Additional information about the university can be found at our website: www.southwestern.edu.

At Southwestern University we are committed to fostering an environment where every individual feels respected, valued, and empowered. We believe that a thriving community is built on the strength of varying perspectives and experiences, and we strive to create an atmosphere of mutual respect and understanding. Our actions are guided by a commitment to fairness, openness, and the belief that our differences are what make us stronger as a whole.

In compliance with the Immigration Reform and Control Act of 1986, proof of authorization to work in the United States will be required at the time appointment begins.

Southwestern University is an equal opportunity employer and prohibits discrimination and harassment of any kind. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability, veteran status, or any other protected status under applicable law.

We do not discriminate in hiring on the basis of sex, gender identity, sexual orientation, race, color, religious creed, national origin, physical or mental disability, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by federal, state, or local law. If you need a reasonable accommodation for any part of the employment process, please contact us by email at hr@southwestern.edu.

Jeanne Clery Statement: Notice of Availability of Annual Security and Fire Safety Report— Southwestern University Annual Safety and Fire Report is available online at <https://www.southwestern.edu/life-at-southwestern/safety-security/annual-security-reports/> containing mandated information about current campus policies concerning safety and security issues, required statistics, and other related information for the past three calendar years. To obtain a paper copy of the report, please call 512-863-1435.

Start Date: Fall 2026

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/3/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15649

University of Bern

Rank: PhD student (75-100%)

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Other, Other

Specializations: Political Communication, China, Russia

The Institute of Communication and Media Studies at the University of Bern (icmb) is looking for a PhD student (75-100%)

for the project "Through a Glass, Darkly: How to Study Authoritarian Regimes" funded by the Swiss National Science Foundation. This five-year project examines how foreign audiences learn about the inner workings of authoritarian regimes (specifically the People's Republic of China and the Russian Federation), focusing on the role of country experts and their connections. The position will be available from September 1st, 2025 (or by appointment).

Note that there is a 2nd position available in this project that focuses on implementing a panel survey of China and Russia experts.

We offer:

- A fully funded PhD position for four years, with a starting salary of approximately 50'000 CHF and no teaching requirements. Compensated teaching assignments may be available, subject to departmental needs. Employment adheres to the regulations of the Canton of Berne.
- An attractive work environment with a collegial and international team, committed to supporting young scholars through cooperation and exchange.
- The freedom to develop your own ideas for your dissertation and request additional support from the University of Bern's Data Science Lab.

Tasks:

- Write a dissertation within the broader scope of the project
- Adapt open-source LLMs to extract elite networks from unstructured text, including adapting them to Russian and Chinese texts
- Help collect publicly available data on the experts and their social media and publications
- Help disseminate results and organize stakeholder conferences

Requirements:

- An above-average completed or soon-to-be completed master's degree in communication science, political science, or other relevant social sciences. Applicants with a master's level background in computer science and a strong interest in social science are also welcome to apply.

- Proven quantitative research and data science skills, experience working with ML applications and/or APIs, and interest in using LLMs as research tools.
- Excellent English skills (German and French is an asset)
- Ability to work independently as well as collaboratively within interdisciplinary and cross-institutional teams.

- Chinese and/or Russian language skills are an asset, as is demonstrated interest in the politics of those two countries

To apply for this position, please submit to franziska.keller@unibe.ch one PDF file with a letter of motivation including research interests and ideas, a current CV including a list of publications (if available), a writing sample (e.g. MA thesis), a copy of university transcripts and degrees, and a letter of recommendation by July 14th, 2025. Late submissions will be considered until the position is filled.

Contact Franziska Keller if you have questions regarding this position. The interviews will take place on Monday 28th / Tuesday 29th of July 2025.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 7/14/2025

Date Posted: 7/1/2025

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 15641

University of Bern

Rank: PhD student (75-100%)

Specializations: Political Communication, China, Russia

The Institute of Communication and Media Studies at the University of Bern (icmb) is looking for a PhD student (75-100%)

for the project "Through a Glass, Darkly: How to Study Authoritarian Regimes" funded by the Swiss National Science Foundation

This five-year project examines how foreign audiences learn about the inner workings of authoritarian regimes (specifically the People's Republic of China and the Russian Federation), focusing on the role of country experts and their connections. The position will be available from September 1st, 2025 (or by appointment). Note that there is a 2nd position available in this project that focuses on using LLMs to extract political networks from unstructured text.

We offer:

- A fully funded PhD position for four years, with a starting salary of approximately 50'000 CHF and no teaching requirements. Compensated teaching assignments may be available, subject to departmental needs. Employment adheres to the regulations of the Canton of Berne.
- An attractive work environment with a collegial and international team, committed to supporting young scholars through cooperation and exchange.
- The freedom to develop your own ideas for your dissertation and add relevant questions to the surveys of China and Russia experts.

Tasks:

- Write a dissertation within the broader scope of the project
- Implement surveys of China and Russia experts and collect publicly available data on those experts
- Help disseminate results and organize stakeholder conferences

Requirements:

- An above-average completed or soon-to-be completed master's degree in communication science, political science, or other relevant social sciences.
- Proven quantitative research and data science skills, experience with survey research
- Excellent English skills (German and French is an asset)
- Ability to work independently as well as collaboratively within interdisciplinary teams.
- Chinese and/or Russian language skills are an asset, as is demonstrated interest in the politics of those two countries

To apply for this position, please submit to franziska.keller@unibe.ch one PDF file with a letter of motivation including research interests and ideas, a current CV including a list of publications (if available), a writing sample (e.g. MA thesis), a copy of university transcripts and degrees, and a letter of recommendation by July 14th, 2025. Late submissions will be considered until the position is filled.

Contact Franziska Keller if you have questions regarding this position. The interviews will take place on Monday 28th / Tuesday 29th of July 2025.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 7/14/2025

Date Posted: 7/1/2025

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 15642

University of Bern

Rank: PhD student (full position) / Post-doc (full position) in political communication

The Institute of Communication and Media Studies (icmb) at the University of Bern is part of the Department of Social Sciences. It focuses on political communication in all its dimensions, exploring, for example, how digitalization, algorithms, but also psychological mechanisms shape communication in both democratic and authoritarian contexts.

Tasks

- (potential for) collaboration in an SNF-sponsored cross-national research project about how the feeling of being left-behind by society influences political information usage and effects. Our project draws on the role of social identity and identity threats for political information behavior.
- development and implementation of own research ideas
- teaching of courses in the BA Social Sciences and supervision of BA thesis
- contribution to the general tasks of the institute

Requirements

- above-average degree in communication science, a related social science discipline and /or psychology
- strong interest in political communication
- very good skills in quantitative (surveys & experiments) and/or qualitative (interviews) methods of empirical social science
- willingness to present research at (inter-)national conferences and to publish in top journals
- ability to work in a team
- very good command in English (German and French is a plus)

We offer

An attractive working environment awaits you at the Institute of Communication and Media Studies at the University of Bern: a collegial team, cooperation and exchange, as well as the freedom to develop your own ideas. Employment adheres to the regulations of the Canton of Berne.

Application and contact

Applications, should be mailed as a PDF file by July 7th, 2025, to Prof. Dr. Silke Adam at silke.adam@unibe.ch

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 7/7/2025

Date Posted: 7/1/2025

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 15640

University of Oxford

Rank: Associate Professor of International Business

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Public Administration, International Relations

Specializations: Developing Nations, Political Economy, International Political Economy

Saïd Business School and St Antony's College are recruiting an Associate Professor of International Business. For this post, the School welcomes applications from early career candidates (i.e., scholars who have completed or will very soon complete their PhD), postdoctoral researchers (i.e., scholars who are currently in a postdoc position), and faculty who are already a tenure-track faculty member. At Oxford the rank of Associate Professor includes faculty that would elsewhere be considered of Assistant or Associate Professor rank.

The position is tenable from 1 September 2026 or at a different date by negotiation. The position is associated with a non-tutorial fellowship at St Antony's College.

We are inviting applications from those with a background in International Business, broadly defined, who are committed to a programme of intellectually rigorous and relevant scholarship in global strategy, comparative political economy of business, and international political economy, that is publishable in top academic management journals (as defined, for instance, by the Financial Times's 48 peer-reviewed academic journals), top social science journals and as books with top academic publishers.

The successful candidate will join the International Business group which conducts research addressing pressing global issues, such as sustainability and labour standards in global value chains, innovation in emerging markets, digital transformation (including the adoption of artificial intelligence) and future of work, and state capacity and its implication for business. The group takes a distinct multi-level perspective to studying the political economy of international business. An important focus of the group, therefore, is to study how system-level institutions affect, and are affected by, organizational strategies, management and politics. Many of the group members engage actively with colleagues from other parts of Oxford in formal and informal research collaborations. The group is also committed to mixed methods in research, ranging from qualitative methods to experimental and quantitative methods. We therefore strongly encourage applicants from any methodological background as we continue to broaden the methodological interests of our group.

The duties for this post include research, teaching and service to the business school, college and wider University. Full details of the duties can be found at the link below.

If you would like to discuss this post and find out more about joining the academic community at Oxford, please contact akshay.mangla@sbs.ox.ac.uk

All enquiries will be treated in strict confidence and will not form part of the selection decision.

To apply, please follow this link: https://my.corehr.com/pls/uoxrecruit/erq_jobspec_version_4.display_form?p_company=10&p_internal_external=E&p_display_in_irish=N&p_process_type=&p_applicant_no=&p_form_profile_detail=&p_display_apply_ind=Y&p_refresh_search=Y&p_recruitment_id=178440

The closing date for applications is 12.00 noon (UK time) on Monday 29 September 2025

Start Date: Fall 2026

Application Deadline: 9/29/2025

Date Posted: 7/1/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15636

College of the Holy Cross

Rank: Visiting Full-Time Assistant Professor in Comparative Politics/Latin American Politics

The Department of Political Science

Visiting Full-Time Faculty Position in Comparative Politics

GENERAL INFORMATION

The Department of Political Science at the College of the Holy Cross invites applications for a visiting full-time faculty position in comparative politics for the 2025-2026 academic year to begin in August 2025. Candidates should specialize in Latin America. Candidates will be expected to offer two sections of Latin American Politics (19 students) and one section of Introduction to Comparative Politics (27 students) in the fall. In the spring, candidates will offer two sections of Introduction to Comparative Politics and an upper-level course (19 students). This is a one-year, full-time position owing to a faculty leave. You can learn more about Political Science at the College of the Holy Cross at <https://www.holycross.edu/academics/programs/political-science>.

Visiting full-time faculty teach 3 courses each semester and are eligible to apply for support to present at a conference or attend a professional development program through the Provost's Supplemental Research Fund. The College will support reimbursement of relocation costs within its published policies. All full-time appointments offer competitive salaries and include full benefits.

QUALIFICATIONS

Candidates must demonstrate commitment to, and excellence in, undergraduate teaching and inclusive pedagogies as informed by current practice and scholarship in the field. Candidates should have experience as an instructor or teaching assistant for introductory courses in comparative politics and Latin American Politics. A preference will be given to candidates with a Ph.D. in Political Science at the time of appointment; however, advanced ABD candidates with appropriate teaching experience will be considered.

APPLICATION INSTRUCTIONS

Please submit a letter of application; a current curriculum vitae; a statement on teaching philosophy and interests; graduate transcripts (Ph.D. preferred); and two confidential letters of recommendation. In addition, candidates may, at their discretion, include sample comparative politics and Latin American politics syllabi.

In your cover letter, please address the ways you might contribute to and further the College's mission as a Jesuit, undergraduate liberal arts college, and its core commitment to diversity, equity, and inclusion (<http://www.holycross.edu/mission>, <http://holycross.edu/campus-life/diversity-and-inclusion>).

The College of the Holy Cross uses Interfolio to collect all faculty job applications electronically. Please submit all application materials to <https://apply.interfolio.com/169557>.

Review of applications will begin immediately and continue until the position has been filled. For full consideration, please apply by July 3, 2025. Questions about this search may be directed to Prof. Denis Kennedy, Chair of Political Science, at dkennedy@holycross.edu.

COLLEGE OF THE HOLY CROSS

College of the Holy Cross is a highly selective Catholic liberal arts college in the Jesuit tradition. It enrolls about 3,200 students and is located in Worcester, Massachusetts—New England's second-largest city.

The College seeks faculty members who demonstrate an enduring commitment to academic excellence and inclusive excellence and who embrace the educational benefits of a richly diverse community. Holy Cross aspires to meet the needs of dual-career couples, in part through its membership in the Higher Education Consortium of Central Massachusetts and the New England Higher Education Recruitment Consortium. To learn more about faculty life at the College, applicants are encouraged to visit <http://holycross.edu/join>.

EQUAL OPPORTUNITY EMPLOYMENT STATEMENT

The College is an Equal Employment Opportunity Employer and complies with all Federal and Massachusetts laws concerning equal opportunity and affirmative action in the workplace.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/24/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15630

Sun Yat-sen University

Rank: Assistant Professor/Associate Professor/Professor in Political Science

The Department of Political Science at the School of Government, Sun Yat-sen University, China invites applications for tenure-track and tenured faculty positions at the ranks of Assistant Professor, Associate Professor, and Professor. We seek outstanding political scientists with expertise in comparative politics, political science methodology, or Chinese studies to join our vibrant academic community.

1. Position Details

1.1 Ranks: Assistant Professor (tenure-track), Associate Professor (tenure-track and tenured), Professor (tenured)

1.2 Fields of Interest: Comparative Politics, Political Science Methodology, Chinese Studies

2. Qualifications

2.1 A Ph.D. in Political Science or a closely related field is required.

2.2 Candidates must currently hold a post-doctoral position, an assistant professor position, or a higher academic rank.

2.3 A robust record of research and publication in one or more of the specified fields.

2.4 Demonstrated excellence in teaching at the undergraduate and/or graduate levels.

2.5 For Associate and Professor ranks, candidates must have an established research profile with a significant publication record and evidence of academic leadership.

3. Responsibilities

3.1 Conduct high-impact research and publish in leading academic journals.

3.2 Teach undergraduate and graduate courses in political science, tailored to expertise in comparative politics, methodology, or Chinese studies.

3.3 Supervise graduate students and contribute to the development of the department's academic programs.

3.4 Participate in departmental, university, and professional service activities.

4. Why Join Us?

4.1 Competitive Salary: We offer a decent, competitive salary commensurate with experience and qualifications, ensuring that our faculty are fairly compensated for their expertise and contributions.

4.2 Exceptional Organizational Culture: Our department fosters a very good, collegial, and collaborative atmosphere where faculty are encouraged to pursue their research interests, engage in interdisciplinary collaboration, and contribute to a thriving academic community. We prioritize professional growth and work-life balance.

4.3 Unique Opportunities: Faculty at Sun Yat-sen University benefit from opportunities for international collaboration, access to cutting-edge research facilities, and a dynamic academic environment that supports innovation and excellence.

5. Application Process

This is an ongoing recruitment, and applications are welcome at any time. There is no deadline for applications; applications are accepted on a rolling basis, and reviews and interviews will be conducted periodically. Candidates are encouraged to apply whenever they are ready, as the position remains open indefinitely. Interested candidates should submit the following materials:

- (1) A cover letter outlining research interests, teaching experience, and alignment with the department's priorities.
- (2) A current curriculum vitae.
- (3) A research statement detailing current and future research plans.
- (4) A teaching statement describing teaching philosophy and experience.
- (5) Two writing samples (e.g., published articles or manuscripts).
- (6) Contact information for three professional references.

Applications should be submitted electronically to: soghr@mail.syu.edu.cn.

6. About Sun Yat-sen University

Located in Guangzhou, China, Sun Yat-sen University is a prestigious, top-tier research institution renowned for its commitment to academic excellence and innovation. The School of Government is a leader in political science and public administration, fostering a dynamic environment for research, teaching, and collaboration.

7. About Guangzhou

Guangzhou, a bustling metropolis in southern China, offers a rich blend of cultural heritage, economic vitality, and modern amenities. As a key academic and economic center, it provides an attractive setting for international scholars.

For more information about the department and university, visit <http://sog.sysu.edu.cn>.

Sun Yat-sen University is an equal opportunity employer and welcomes applications from all qualified individuals.

Start Date:

Date Posted: 6/17/2025

Salary: $70,000 - $79,999

eJobs ID: 15615

Waseda University

Rank: Tenure-track or tenured position in Political Science (open subfield).

Subfield(s): Open, Methodology, Comparative Politics

Faculty Recruitment Information in Political Science (open subfield)

The Faculty of Political Science and Economics (the "FPSE") at Waseda University in Tokyo, Japan invites applications for a tenure-track or tenured position in any of the following subfields of political science: Japanese Politics, Political Economy, Comparative Politics, International Relations, or Formal and Quantitative Methods. We seek candidates who advance theoretical and empirical research on important questions in their subfield. Candidates should have strong methodological training and be able to advise graduate students on both substantive and methodological issues. The start date can be as early as April 1, 2026 (see below).

Teaching responsibility:

The successful candidate will teach a course in the field of empirical political science, such as "Introduction to Political Analysis," "Quantitative Political Analysis," etc. and other related courses for the School of Political Science and Economics (Undergraduate Program) and the Graduate School of Political Science, as well as research seminars.

Scheduled start of employment:

April 1, 2026, or September 1, 2026 (or a mutually agreed later date)

For more details and instructions for application, please go to the website at

<https://www.waseda.jp/fpse/pse/news-en/2025/06/02/24138/>

Start Date: Spring 2026

Application Deadline: 9/2/2025

Date Posted: 6/3/2025

Salary: Any

eJobs ID: 15599

National University of Singapore

Rank: Head of Department position (Full Professor level with tenure)

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Public Policy

The Department of Political Science at the National University of Singapore invites applications for the position of Head of Department at the rank of full professor or higher (endowed chair professor). Research and teaching specialisation is open, although candidates should contribute to one or more of the Department's four subfields: comparative politics, governance and public policy, international relations, and political theory.

The successful candidate will have an internationally recognised record of research and publication, as well as a record of very good teaching. Exceptional leadership skills are essential, as is a demonstrable commitment to intellectual and methodological pluralism. Other qualifications include evidence of substantial administrative experience; a record of promoting faculty and student success; a commitment to collegiality and diversity; and excellent interpersonal, communication, and organisational skills. The Head is expected to provide leadership to implement a strategic vision, with the support of department faculty, which advances the Department's international profile and reputation. Research and teaching expectations may be reduced (e.g. one course teaching commitment per year), given the Head's crucial service role.

Interested candidates should submit a CV, cover letter that addresses the qualifications outlined above, research statement (approx. two pages), teaching statement (approx. two pages), and names and addresses of at least four references.

Review of applications will begin in August 2025 and will continue until the position is filled. Campus visits for selected candidates will be arranged for October 2025. The position is expected to commence in January 2027. Questions about the position should be directed to the Search Committee Chair, Professor William Bain (wbain@nus.edu.sg).

Exceptional candidates at the rank of senior associate professor are welcome to apply, subject to being promoted to full professor upon appointment at NUS.

The Department of Political Science is a vibrant multidisciplinary community comprised of over 25 tenure- and educator-track faculty members. The Department offers degrees in Political Science and Global Studies at the undergraduate level and in Political Science at the Masters and Doctoral levels. It also partners with the International Political Science Association (IPSA) to host the IPSA-NUS Summer School in Social Science Research Methods annually. It is one of 16 departments in a large Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences, which is home to a comprehensive range of programmes in Asian Studies, Humanities, Social Science, and Language Studies. The Lee Kuan Yew School of Public Policy, the Asia Research Institute, the Asia-Europe Foundation, the East Asian Institute, the ISEAS–Yusof Ishak Institute, among other research units inside and outside NUS, provide additional opportunities for research interaction and collaboration.

NUS offers an internationally competitive remuneration package that includes a period of subsidised housing (for non-Singaporean applicants), annual performance bonus, medical benefits, and relocation expenses (where applicable). Outstanding applicants might also be considered for endowed/chair professorship that comes with annual research support and business class travel eligibility. NUS provides significant research support, including generous start-up grants for new faculty members.

Please submit your application through the NUS Career Portal : https://careers.nus.edu.sg/job/Professor-&-Head-of-Department-%28Political-Science%29/29011-en_GB/

Qualifications

The successful candidate will have an internationally recognised record of research and publication, as well as a record of very good teaching. Exceptional leadership skills are essential, as is a strong commitment to intellectual and methodological pluralism. Other qualifications include evidence of substantial administrative experience; a record of promoting faculty and student success; a commitment to collegiality and diversity; and excellent interpersonal, communication, and organisational skills. The Head is expected to provide leadership in co-creating with department faculty to implement a strategic vision, consistent with NUS' research and teaching mission, which advances the Department's international profile and reputation. Research and teaching expectations may be reduced (e.g. one course teaching commitment per year), given the Head's crucial service role.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 5/27/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15591

National University of Singapore

Rank: Assistant Professor in Political Science

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Open

Assistant Professor in Political Science

The Department of Political Science at the National University of Singapore invites application for one full-time tenure-track position in Political Science at the rank of Assistant Professor. We welcome applications from candidates working in all subfields, including but not limited to international relations (including non-traditional security and human security), international political economy, gender politics, global studies, and governance and public policy. We also encourage applications from candidates with research experience relating to Asia and whose backgrounds are traditionally underrepresented in the discipline.

The teaching load is three courses per academic year. Compensation is competitive and includes eligibility for annual performance bonus and salary increment, subsidized housing, medical benefits, and substantial research support. Successful candidates are expected to teach graduate and undergraduate classes and take a leading role in developing new departmental initiatives. Candidates with publications in top outlets who conduct innovative and impactful research using, eg. computational methods, may also be invited to apply for the Presidential Young Professorship. <https://www.nus.edu.sg/careers/nus-programmes/>

The Department of Political Science (<http://www.fas.nus.edu.sg/pol/>) includes scholars working in all areas of political science, as well as an interdisciplinary Global Studies programme examining the processes and effects of globalisation across political, economic, social, and cultural domains (<https://fass.nus.edu.sg/globalstudies>). Faculty and students can take advantage of resources in the Asia Research Institute, the Lee Kuan Yew School of Public Policy, and various research institutes including the Asia-Europe Foundation, the Institute of South Asian Studies, the East Asia Institute, and the Yusof Ishak Institute—Institute of Southeast Asian Studies among others. NUS (<http://www.nus.edu.sg/>) is a global leader in research and higher education. Singapore is a highly livable global city that is a major regional and international travel hub.

Interested applicants are invited to apply directly at our NUS Career Portal: https://careers.nus.edu.sg/job/Assistant-Professor-in-Political-Science/28742-en_GB/.

Applicants should submit the following documents:

1. Cover letter clearly detailing their research and teaching interests.
2. Curriculum vitae.
3. Three letters of reference. Please send all letters directly to pol-ir@nus.edu.sg.
4. A research statement of no more than 2 pages stating your research interests and research plans for the next 3 years.
5. A teaching statement of no more than 2 pages, as well as sample syllabi, teaching evaluations, and/or other evidence of teaching quality.
6. Up to three writing samples

For full consideration, please submit your materials to this website by 1 July 2025. Applications received after this date may still be considered until the position is filled.

For any queries, please write to: pol-ir@nus.edu.sg.

Please note that only short-listed candidates will be notified.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 5/13/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15580

Hampden-Sydney College

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of Government and Foreign Affairs at Hampden-Sydney College invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track appointment at the rank of Assistant Professor beginning in Fall 2025. Candidates should have expertise in Comparative Politics and/or International Relations. The Department seeks applicants who can offer intermediate courses in European politics, international relations theory and/or international organization. The successful applicant may participate in the college-wide Core Cultures program or teach introductory courses in world politics. Faculty teach in a 6-6-7 course rotation with six courses per year for two years and seven courses in the third year.

Hampden-Sydney College values the teacher/scholar model. Successful applicants will have a record of effective classroom teaching, a commitment to scholarly productivity, and a willingness to work with colleagues on professional service responsibilities. Applicants should have a Ph.D. or be advanced ABD in political science at the time of appointment.

Please submit a letter of application, curriculum vitae, teaching statement, research statement, and three letters of reference to Dr. Celia Carroll Jones, Chair, Department of Government and Foreign Affairs, Hampden-Sydney College at <http://apply.interfolio.com/161830>. Review of applications will begin February 15, 2025.

Hampden-Sydney is one of three liberal arts colleges in the United States dedicated to the education of men, and our mission is to educate “good men and good citizens in an atmosphere of sound learning.” As a community, we are dedicated to the goal of building a culturally diverse staff committed to working in a multicultural environment and strongly encourage applications from women and minoritized groups. Hampden-Sydney College values diversity, prohibits discrimination, and is committed to equal opportunity for all employees and applicants for employment.

Start Date: Fall 2025
Application Deadline: 2/15/2025
Date Posted: 1/12/2025
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 15335

Yale University

Rank: Assistant/Associate/Full Professor, International Relations, Comparative Politics, and Political Economy

The Department of Political Science at Yale University is seeking to hire several faculty members at the rank of Assistant, Associate, or Full Professor with an appointment in the fields of Comparative Politics, Political Economy, and/or International Relations, beginning July 1, 2025. Suitable candidates may also be hired jointly with the Jackson School of Global Affairs, in which case faculty will be expected to share their teaching and service obligations between both the Political Science Department and the Jackson School of Global Affairs. This search includes additional resources in two targeted areas within this broader search area. The first is for an assistant professor with expertise in African Politics, who will teach at least one course cross-listed with, and contribute to, Yale’s Council on African Studies. The second is for a candidate who works on Environmental Politics, jointly appointed with the Jackson School of Global Affairs. Candidates will be expected to teach undergraduate and graduate courses in areas of political science commensurate with their expertise. Candidates jointly appointed with Jackson will also teach courses in Jackson’s undergraduate and graduate curriculum. If candidates are appointed at the untenured level, the initial appointment will be for 5 years. The teaching expectation is normally 3 courses per academic year.

Qualifications

Ph.D. or equivalent degree required at time of hire.

Application Instructions

All applications must include a cover letter and CV. Untenured candidates should also supply 3 recommendation letters, 2 writing samples, and separate short (2 pages or less) research and teaching statements. All materials should be uploaded to Interfolio at <http://apply.interfolio.com/151662>. Review of applications will begin September 15, 2024 (or 30 days after posting, whichever is later), and to guarantee full consideration your file should be complete by this date.

Please contact Xaria Callender, Sr. Administrative Assistant for the Political Science Department, at xaria.callender@yale.edu if you have questions about the application process.

Start Date: Fall 2025
Application Deadline: 8/7/2025
Date Posted: 8/12/2024
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 14619

Universidad Torcuato Di Tella

Rank: Assistant Professor, Associate Professor

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Methodology

The Department of Political Science and International Studies at Universidad Torcuato Di Tella (UTDT) seeks candidates for two tenure-track assistant professor positions in Comparative Politics and International Relations, with an expected (but negotiable) start date of March 2025. Very strong candidates at the associate level will also be considered. We are open with respect to substantive subfield, theoretical orientation, and methodological approach. Regional expertise in regions other than Latin America (e.g., East, South, or Southeast Asia, Western or Eastern Europe, the Middle East or North America) is a plus, as is the ability to teach courses on research design, data science/statistics, and/or causal inference. Candidates are expected to demonstrate a strong commitment to research and to teaching and mentoring students. The teaching load is three courses per year. Most courses are taught in Spanish, although a growing number are offered in English. The position includes a research fund and a year’s sabbatical (at full salary) every six years.

Duties will include teaching assigned courses in Comparative Politics and/or International Relations at both the undergraduate and graduate levels, conducting research, writing for publication in high-quality academic venues, advising students, participating in department governance, and university service.

Qualifications: Ph.D. in Political Science or related disciplines (ABD candidates will also be considered) and a demonstrated record of excellence in research and teaching. Proficiency in both Spanish and English is required. Questions should be directed to Professor Carlos Gervasoni, Chair of the Department of Political Science and International Studies, at cgervasoni@utdt.edu.

To apply please visit https://utdt.hiringroom.com/jobs/get_vacancy/665727a62994ec85980166a0, by August 30, 2024 (applications received after this date will continue to be reviewed until the positions are filled). The required documents include a cover letter, CV, a research statement, a teaching statement, a writing sample, and the names and email addresses of 3 references (letters of reference will be required of short-listed finalists).

Universidad Torcuato Di Tella is a private research university located in Buenos Aires, Argentina. Our Department is consistently ranked as one of the best in Latin America in terms of reputation and research excellence. Our guiding principles are academic excellence, pluralism of ideas and equal opportunity. UTDT is committed to creating a diverse community of students, faculty, and staff, following the principles of equal opportunity and treatment in education and employment, regardless of national origin, race, color, ethnicity, religion, political ideology, age, sex, sexual orientation, or gender identity. The university encourages applications of individuals from historically underrepresented groups who will further enrich the diversity of our educational community. We welcome applications from all nationalities. Approximately 25% of the Department's research professors are foreigners. For further information about Universidad Torcuato Di Tella and our department, please visit: <https://www.utdt.edu/>.

Start Date: Spring 2025

Application Deadline: 8/30/2024

Date Posted: 6/5/2024

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 14404

INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS

Princeton University

Rank: Visiting Fellow, Program in Latin American Studies

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Public Policy

Specializations: South America, Central America, Caribbean

Program in Latin American Studies (PLAS) Short-term Visiting Fellowships, 2026-2027

Job Title: Visiting Fellow

Requisition Number: D-25-LAS-00003

The Program in Latin American Studies is launching an open call for applications for next year's visiting short-term fellowships. We are looking for advanced or mid-career scholars from any discipline whose research projects focused on Latin America, including Brazil or the Caribbean. Applications will be accepted from scholars in the humanities and social sciences, as well as from established Latin American writers, artists, filmmakers, or architects working on research or creative projects who may benefit from a short stay at Princeton University.

Appointments will be for one calendar month during the 2026-2027 academic year (September 1, 2026, to June 30, 2027) or the summer (July and August), to be determined on a case-by-case basis. In addition to a stipend, the program will provide up to $2,500 as a housing allowance and up to $2,000 as a travel allowance to reimburse allowable out-of-pocket rental and travel expenses, some of which may be taxable. The work location for these positions is in-person on campus at Princeton University.

Visiting Fellows will be expected to devote themselves to research and to participate regularly in the scholarly activities of the PLAS intellectual community.

How to Apply:

For full consideration, all the materials listed below must be received by October 12, 2025. All candidates must apply online to submit materials at: <https://puwebp.princeton.edu/AcadHire/position/38403>

1) Cover letter (in English) indicating the calendar month the applicant proposes to stay), title and short description of the proposed research project, and an explanation for reasons to be here at Princeton (i.e., use the library, look at particular archives, work with members of the faculty, etc.);

2) Curriculum vitae (in English);

3) A statement (in English) describing the research project as well as the ways Princeton resources and/or faculty will be useful for the project (1,000-1500 words);

4) The names and contact information of two referees. (The Program will contact them, if needed, later).

Expected Salary Range: $5,000 per month

The University considers factors such as (but not limited to) scope and responsibilities of the position, candidate's qualifications, work experience, education/training, key skills, market, collective bargaining agreements as applicable, and organizational considerations when extending an offer. The posted salary range represents the University's good faith and reasonable estimate for a full-time position; salaries for part-time positions are pro-rated accordingly.

The University also offers a comprehensive benefit program to eligible employees. Please see this link for more information <https://hr.princeton.edu/thrive/health>.

Start Date: Fall 2026

Date Posted: 8/1/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15709

Princeton University

Rank: Visiting Research Scholar, Program in Latin American Studies

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Public Policy

Specializations: South America, Central America, Caribbean

Program in Latin American Studies (PLAS) Visiting Fellowship, 2026-2027

Job Title: Visiting Research Scholar

Requisition Number: D-25-LAS-00002

The Program in Latin American Studies (PLAS) is seeking top scholars in their fields who have teaching experience and will provide Princeton students with an opportunity to study topics that are not regularly offered at the University. Applications will be accepted from outstanding scholars in the humanities and social sciences, as well as from established writers, artists, filmmakers, or architects working on projects related to Latin America.

Visiting Research Scholars will be expected to teach one undergraduate course per semester, conditional upon sufficient enrollments and approval of the Office of the Dean of the Faculty, and to participate regularly in PLAS-related events on campus.

Appointments are expected to be for one or two semesters during the 2026-2027 academic year (fall semester: September 1, 2026 - January 16, 2027; spring semester: January 16, 2026 - June 1, 2027). In addition to salary, the program will provide up to $7,500 as a housing allowance and up to $2,000 as a travel allowance to reimburse allowable out-of-pocket rental and travel expenses, some of which may be taxable. If teaching, the visitor would be paid at a nominally higher rate.

The work location for this position is in-person on campus at Princeton University.

How to Apply:

For full consideration, all the materials listed must be received by October 12, 2025, 11:59 p.m. EST. All candidates must submit materials (in English) and apply online at: <https://puwebp.princeton.edu/AcadHire/position/38402>

- 1) Cover letter indicating the applicant's proposed length of stay (1-2 semesters), title and short description of the proposed research project, and teaching interests;
- 2) Curriculum vitae;
- 3) One undergraduate seminar proposal or syllabus for each proposed semester of the fellowship, including a statement of how the course(s) would enhance undergraduate education at Princeton;
- 4) A statement describing the research project and its scholarly contribution (1,500 - 2,000 words);
- 5) The names and contact information of two referees (the Program will contact them, if needed, later).

Advanced degree preferred.

Expected Salary Range: $49,250 per semester

The University considers factors such as (but not limited to) scope and responsibilities of the position, candidate's qualifications, work experience, education/training, key skills, market, collective bargaining agreements as applicable, and organizational considerations when extending an offer. The posted salary range represents the University's good faith and reasonable estimate for a full-time position; salaries for part-time positions are pro-rated accordingly.

The University also offers a comprehensive benefit program to eligible employees. Please see this link for more information <https://hr.princeton.edu/thrive/health>.

Start Date: Fall 2026

Application Deadline: 10/12/2025

Date Posted: 8/1/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15710

Bates College

Rank: Assistant Professor of Politics

The Politics Department at Bates College invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track position in Political Economy, to begin July 2026. We seek an outstanding scholar with strong commitments to excellent undergraduate teaching and mentorship in a liberal arts context. The successful candidate will have demonstrated excellence in either international political economy or comparative political economy. We encourage applications from candidates whose areas of expertise include emerging economies, democracy and capitalism, and the effects of regime types on economic development. We are open to a variety of theoretical and methodological approaches. Candidates should have received or successfully defended a Ph.D. in Political Science or related field by July 1, 2026.

The position carries a standard five-course annual teaching load. The duties of the position include the three main areas of faculty work: teaching, research, and service to the profession and the college. The standards of excellence for faculty at Bates are articulated in Article II of the faculty handbook, and include a commitment to inclusive and evidence-based pedagogy, impactful professional work, and contributions to the broader Bates community. We are interested in applicants who will add to the current perspectives in the department, contribute to the college's ongoing commitment to social and cultural inclusion, connect with other disciplinary and interdisciplinary work at the College, and be attentive to the design of inclusive pedagogy. The successful applicant will offer courses in quantitative methods and in introductory and advanced political economy each year, contribute to the general education curriculum, provide academic advising, and mentor student theses. We also expect the candidate to take part in our system of shared governance.

Review of applications will begin on September 19, 2025. Applications should include a cover letter and a curriculum vitae. A teaching statement that describes how the applicant meets Bates' standards of excellence in terms of inclusive and evidence-based pedagogy, and a research plan that speaks to the current and future promise of a candidate's professional work, are required.

Given the wide range of backgrounds of Bates students, we seek candidates who are committed to each student's success. As part of the submitted statements, we ask that candidates share plans for helping all students succeed, and share evidence of relevant preparation or experience. This can be either in a separate, additional document or integrated into the teaching and research statements. We encourage applications from individuals from historically marginalized groups and from those who may have followed non-traditional pathways to higher education due to societal, economic, or academic circumstances. The search committee will request letters of recommendation from three referees for short-listed candidates. Employment is contingent upon successful completion of a background check and verification of degree.

Bates College is a residential liberal arts college in Lewiston, Maine—a diverse and growing community roughly 45 minutes from the state's largest city (Portland), 2 ½ hours north of Boston, and 4 ½ hours south of Montreal. Faculty scholarship and creative work at Bates are robustly supported by start-up packages, internal grants, and a well-staffed external grants office. Community-engaged learning and study abroad are both broadly encouraged and supported; pedagogical development and innovation is further buttressed by the Center for Inclusive Teaching and Learning.

Educational access and racial justice are central to Bates' history and mission and our faculty-led initiatives reflect this commitment.

APPLY HERE: <https://apply.interfolio.com/171240>

Start Date: Fall 2026

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/30/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15715

Columbia University

Rank: Post-Doctoral Fellow

Subfield(s): International Relations, American Government and Politics, Other

Specializations: China, International Security, International Political Economy

China and the World Program (C&WP)

Professors Thomas J. Christensen of Columbia University's School of International and Public Affairs and Alastair Iain Johnston of Harvard University's Government Department jointly founded the

China and the World fellowship program for the advanced study of China's international relations in 2005. As part of Professor Christensen's recent move to Columbia University, the Program was renamed the Columbia-Harvard China and the World Program (C&WP) in 2018. The China and the World Program supports research that integrates theoretical innovations in the field of international relations with the rigorous study of China's interactions with countries, regions, institutions, and non-state actors.

For academic year 2026-2027, C&WP plans to award 2 postdoctoral research fellowships. Both fellows will be in residence at Columbia University and will teach one course in the Fall or Spring semester. When not attending to program or teaching-related duties, fellows' time should be devoted to their own research, and to participating actively in the life of C&WP, the Weatherhead East Asian Institute (WEAI), the Saltzman Institute of War and Peace Studies, etc. Fellows also will be expected to make at least one public presentation during their appointment and participate in the annual C&WP workshop where an entire day is devoted entirely to the examination of the fellows' research by former fellows of the program. Preference will be given to applicants who are currently working on revising their Ph.D. thesis for publication as a book, or who are just beginning a second major research project.

The appointment is for the 2026-2027 year, beginning September 1, 2026, ending June 30, 2027. The position comes with shared office space and access to the libraries and resources of Columbia University, access to all of which is COVID permitting.

Qualifications

Applicants must have completed all Ph.D. requirements (dissertation completed and filed) between May 1, 2021 and August 31, 2026. Applications from individuals who hold or have held full-time teaching appointments will not be considered.

Only applicants working on some aspect of China's relations with the outside world that supports CWP's and WEAI's missions need apply.

Application Process

To apply, submit application materials to sipacwp@columbia.edu. Please note that applicants are required to send all files in one email or to upload them to a cloud based application and send the URL via email for full consideration. Faxed or mailed applications will not be considered.

1-2 page cover letter that briefly states your interest in the program, your background, and a summary of your research project
Updated Curriculum Vitae, including a list of classes taught (if any)
Project description

Two scholarly writing samples

One course proposal with syllabus for a seminar directed at M.A. students and advanced undergraduates

Course evaluations for classes taught (if any)

Unofficial transcripts from all graduate-level degrees

Two letters of reference. Please note: Applicants should submit only the name and contact information of their referees. Referees should submit their letter directly to sipacwp@columbia.edu.

Application Deadline

All application materials, including letters of reference, must be received by December 20, 2025, 11:59 p.m. EST in the United States. Candidates may be invited for an interview to be held by video, phone, or in-person. All evaluations made in connection with applications received are confidential.

Successful applicants will be notified of the outcome of their applications in February or March of 2026; a public announcement will be made by April 2026.

For more information about the Columbia-Harvard China and the World Program, the Weatherhead East Asian Institute, or the the Saltzman Institute of War and Peace Studies please visit www.CWP.SIPA.Columbia.edu, www.weai.columbia.edu, and <https://www.siwwps.org/> respectively.

This search is subject to all rules and regulations of Columbia University. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to age, race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, pregnancy and pregnancy-related conditions, or any other characteristic protected by law.

As the COVID-19 Pandemic is an evolving concern around the world, these expectations guidelines are subject to change. Thank you for your patience during this challenging time.

Start Date: Fall 2026

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/30/2025

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 15316

Pepperdine University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, International Relations, Methodology

The Social Science Division of the Seaver College of Letters, Arts, and Sciences at Pepperdine University invites applications for a tenure-track faculty position in Political Science to begin August 1, 2026. We are open to various areas of expertise within the fields of either U.S. or international politics. An interest in teaching an introductory U.S. government course that serves the general education program of Seaver College, an introductory statistics course for the social sciences, or a course on Hispanic or Latin American politics would be welcome regardless of specialty. Qualifications include a Ph.D. in Political Science or a closely related field, an active scholarly agenda, and a commitment to excellent teaching in a Christian liberal arts environment.

Review of applicants will begin on October 1, 2025 and will continue until the position is filled.

Application Instructions

The standard application documents are:

--Letter of application

--Curriculum vitae

--Names and contact information for three references. These should be the same individuals who will provide a Confidential Letter of Recommendation or Evaluation if you proceed with the interview process.

--Transcripts of all graduate work. (Unofficial copies are acceptable for the application; however, official transcripts may be required for selected applicants.)

--Personal Statement. Reflect on Pepperdine's Christian mission and address your pattern of support for generally accepted Christian values and the University's mission, your active participation in a faith community, and your practice or vision for integrating faith and learning in the classroom.

--[Confidential Letter of Recommendation or Evaluation] Once selected for preliminary interviews: Three current letters of reference. All letters should be specific to the position and completed within one year prior to the date of submission. The name and email address for each individual providing a letter of recommendation is required when submitting an application.

--[Teaching statement] Once selected for preliminary interviews: Teaching statement. Please reflect on your values, beliefs, and goals regarding the teaching and learning process and any pedagogical practices used or envisioned to achieve these goals. Two to three pages maximum length.

--[Research Statement] Once selected for preliminary interviews: Research Statement. Outline your short- and long-term objectives and goals for your research and/or creative activities. Please reflect on currently published or presented work(s) as a foundation for the statement. Two to three pages maximum length.

To submit application materials please go to this URL: <https://apply.interfolio.com/171069>

Start Date: Fall 2026

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/29/2025

Salary: $90,000 - $99,999

eJobs ID: 15714

American University in Cairo

Rank: Assistant/Associate Professor in International Relations Theory - The American University in Cairo

Location: Cairo, Egypt Category: Political Science Posted On: Thu Jul 17 2025 Job Description:

The Department of Political Science invites applications for a position in International Relations starting Fall 2026. This is a tenure-track position. We invite applications at the Assistant/Associate Professor level. Teaching responsibilities will include a combination of courses in the fields of theories of international relations including critical international relations theory, global governance and security studies. This position will involve teaching at the BA and MA levels within the Department of Political Science. It also involves MA theses supervisions. The search committee is eager to review applications of individuals with demonstrated excellence in teaching, an accomplished and active research agenda, and an interest in living and working in the Middle East. The American University in Cairo is committed to equal opportunity and a diverse faculty.

Job Requirements:

A PhD is required at the time of appointment. Successful candidates should have an ongoing research and publication program and teaching experience. In addition to research and teaching, responsibilities include service to the Department and the University. Note also that candidates with experience in and familiarity with the North American higher education system are preferred.

Additional Information:

Priority will be given to applications received by October 30, 2025. The position is open until filled.

Apply Here: <https://www.click2apply.net/Q8lQk1IJReK87Hy2NUgP2B>

PI276168307

Start Date:

Date Posted: 7/25/2025

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 15703

DePaul University

Rank: Assistant Professor (tenure track) - Political Science: International Relations

Specializations: Conflict Processes, Political Economy, South America

The Department of Political Science at DePaul University invites applications for a full time, tenure-track position with primary expertise in the field of International Relations at the rank of Assistant Professor. Responsibilities will include teaching courses on International Relations, Political Economy, International Security and American Foreign Policy. The successful candidate will be expected to teach courses in the Honors program of the University. An ability to teach research methods or courses on Latin America will be viewed favorably.

With a total enrollment over 21,000 students, DePaul is one of the largest private non-profit universities in the nation. Yet class sizes are typically between 20 and 40 students, reflecting the value the university places on teaching excellence. Our programs provide high quality, personalized, accessible education to a diverse student body, grounded in the values of St. Vincent de Paul. Our teaching and research advance knowledge and service to society.

For more information, e-mail polisci@depaul.edu or visit the department's web site at <https://las.depaul.edu/academics/political-science/Pages/default.aspx>

Qualifications

A Ph.D. is preferred at the time of appointment, but ABD candidates will be considered.

DePaul University seeks applicants that reflect the diversity of its student body and the City of Chicago. Those with experience working with diverse faculty, staff, and students, and who can contribute to an inclusive climate are encouraged to apply. We urge candidates to provide examples of their successes in these areas. Women, members of historically underrepresented groups, and persons with disabilities are particularly encouraged to apply.

Application Instructions

Candidates should electronically submit the following: (1) a letter of application (cover letter), (2) a CV, (3) an unofficial transcript of the last degree (earned or in progress), (4) syllabi and (5) complete course evaluations if available. All candidates will also be asked to submit three letters of recommendation.

apply.interfolio.com/169318

The screening of applications will begin September 15, 2025 and continue until the position is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2026

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/17/2025

Salary: $70,000 - $79,999
eJobs ID: 15686

Hebrew University

Rank: Assistant/Associate/Full Professor

Tenure Track Positions (Open rank)
 Department of International Relations
 The Hebrew University of Jerusalem

The Department of International Relations at The Hebrew University of Jerusalem seeks to fill two open-rank positions beginning Fall 2026:

1) Position in International Relations/Global Studies: We seek excellent candidates from all academic ranks who can complement the strengths of our department in all areas and subfields of International Relations and adjacent subfields, broadly defined, including but not limited to security studies, foreign policy analysis, conflict and peace science, great-power politics, political economy, international political thought, global governance, transnational networks and flows, and environmental politics.

2) Position in Gender and International Relations: We seek excellent candidates from all academic ranks who have a proven record of excellence in cutting edge research and teaching in Gender and International Relations. We are especially interested in candidates with a substantive focus on gender, conflict resolution and peace. The holder of this position is expected to take on a leadership role in the development of research and teaching on Gender and IR at the Hebrew University of Jerusalem. We encourage applications from scholars of all approaches to the study of gender. We especially seek candidates who can complement the strengths of our department in other areas of International Relations.

Candidates for both positions should be able to teach undergraduate and graduate-level classes as well as mentor students.

Junior and senior scholars are encouraged to apply. Advanced doctoral candidates are expected to have their dissertation approved no later than 1 October 2026.

The deadline for applications is 10 October 2025. Candidates selected by the Department of International Relations require the approval of the Faculty of Social Sciences.

The Department of International Relations and the Hebrew University are committed to diversity and equal opportunity.

Please submit all application materials electronically at <http://ttp.huji.ac.il>.

The applicants will be asked to upload:

- A letter of intent stating willingness to begin teaching at The Hebrew University of Jerusalem in the fall of 2026
- A list of required and elective courses that can be taught at the Hebrew University of Jerusalem
- A scientific biography outlining research orientation and plans for the coming years
- A Curriculum Vitae, including teaching experience
- Three writing samples
- Teaching evaluations, if available

Three letters of recommendation should be sent directly according to the guidelines in the application website.

For questions regarding the search please contact Prof. Devorah Manekin at: dmanekin@mail.huji.ac.il

Start Date: Fall 2026

Application Deadline: 10/10/2025

Date Posted: 7/17/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15677

University of California, Berkeley

Rank: Assistant Professor - Department of Political Science

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, International Relations, Public Law

Assistant Professor - Department of Political Science

Position overview

Salary range: The current salary range for this position is $80,800-$128,700 (9-month academic year salary), however, off-scale salary and other components of pay, which would yield compensation that is higher than this range, are offered to meet competitive conditions.

Anticipated start: 07/01/2026

Application Window

Open date: July 15, 2025

Next review date: Tuesday, Sep 2, 2025 at 11:59pm (Pacific Time)
 Apply by this date to ensure full consideration by the committee.

Final date: Tuesday, Sep 2, 2025 at 11:59pm (Pacific Time)
 Applications will continue to be accepted until this date.

Position description

The Charles and Louise Travers Department of Political Science in the College of Letters and Science at the University of California, Berkeley invites applications for a full-time tenure-track Assistant Professor faculty position in political science with preference for scholars who work in the areas of: American Politics, International Relations, or Public Law.

The Charles and Louise Travers Department of Political Science is committed to fostering an environment in which all members of the Berkeley community feel empowered to pursue their educational goals in a welcoming environment. We believe that every individual must be treated with equality and dignity as we work together to ensure the success of students, staff, and faculty. For more information, please visit the department website: <https://polisci.berkeley.edu/>.

The Charles and Louise Travers Department of Political Science is committed to addressing the family needs of faculty, including dual career couples and single parents. We are also interested in candidates who have had non-traditional career paths or who have taken time off for family reasons, or who have achieved excellence in careers outside academia. For information about potential relocation to Berkeley, or career needs of accompanying partners and spouses, please visit: <http://ofew.berkeley.edu/new-faculty>.

Department: <https://polisci.berkeley.edu/>

Qualifications

Basic qualifications (required at time of application)

PhD (or equivalent international degree), or enrolled in PhD or equivalent international degree granting program at the time of application.

Preferred qualifications

Evidence of strong research productivity.

Successful applicants will support undergraduate and graduate teaching and mentoring, contribute to the department's collaborative academic environment, and advance research agendas.

Application Requirements

Document requirements

- Curriculum Vitae - Your most recently updated C.V.
- Cover Letter
- Statement of Research - Please discuss research accomplishments and proposed plans. This can include, for example, your publication record, awards, presentations, inclusive research practices that promote the excellence of your research, and areas for future research.
- Statement of Teaching and Mentoring - Please discuss prior teaching experience, teaching approach, and future teaching interests. This can include, for example, specific efforts and accomplishments, and future plans to support the success of all students through inclusive curriculum, classroom environment, and pedagogy. Please also discuss your mentoring experiences and approach. This can include, for example, past efforts and future plans to support the success of all students, and to foster an inclusive research environment that removes barriers and promotes equitable access and advancement of the research program.
- Sample of Significant Written Scholarship One - Please provide a sample of significant written scholarship.
- Sample of Significant Written Scholarship Two - Please provide a sample of significant written scholarship.
(Optional)
- Sample of Significant Written Scholarship Three - Please provide a sample of significant written scholarship.
(Optional)
- Covid Impact Statement - If applicable, please provide a statement discussing if COVID-19 has impacted your research.
(Optional)
- Statement of Service - Please discuss specific prior and proposed academic, professional and/or public service activities. This can include, for example, participating in professional or scientific associations, serving on committees that advance department, campus or discipline goals, and conducting outreach activities that can remove barriers and increase participation of academics in your field.
- Authorization Release Form - A reference check will be completed only if you are selected as the candidate to whom the hiring unit would like to extend a formal offer.

Download, complete, sign, and upload the https://apo.berkeley.edu/sites/default/files/authorization_release_of_information_form.pdf.

Reference requirements

- 3 letters of reference required

It is preferred that letters of reference be received by referees no later than the final date to apply (September 2, 2025).

Apply link: <https://apptrkr.com/6384544>

Help contact: knera@berkeley.edu

About UC Berkeley

UC Berkeley is committed to diversity, equity, inclusion, and belonging in our public mission of research, teaching, and service, consistent with <https://regents.universityofcalifornia.edu/governance/policies/4400.html> and University of California Academic Personnel policy (https://www.ucop.edu/academic-personnel-programs/_files/apm/apm-210.pdf). These values are embedded in our <https://chancellor.berkeley.edu/about/principles-community>, which reflect our passion for critical inquiry, debate, discovery and innovation, and our deep commitment to contributing to a better world. Every member of the UC Berkeley community has a role in sustaining a safe, caring and humane environment in which these values can thrive.

The University of California, Berkeley is an Equal Opportunity employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability, age, or protected veteran status.

For more information, please refer to the https://www.ucop.edu/academic-personnel-programs/_files/apm/apm-035.pdf and the <https://policy.ucop.edu/doc/1001004/Anti-Discrimination>.

In searches when letters of reference are required all letters will be treated as confidential per University of California policy and California state law. Please refer potential referees, including when letters are provided via a third party (i.e., dossier service or career center), to the <http://apo.berkeley.edu/ucb-confidentiality-policy> prior to submitting their letter.

As a University employee, you will be required to comply with all applicable University policies and/or collective bargaining agreements, as may be amended from time to time. Federal, state, or local government directives may impose additional requirements.

The University of California is committed to creating and maintaining a community dedicated to the advancement, application, and transmission of knowledge and creative endeavors through academic excellence, where all individuals who participate in University programs and activities can work and learn together in a safe and secure environment, free of violence, harassment, or discrimination. Consistent with this commitment, UC Berkeley requires all applicants for Senate faculty positions to complete, sign, and upload an Authorization of Information Release form into AP Recruit as part of their application. If an applicant does not include the signed authorization, the application will be considered incomplete, and as with any incomplete application, will not receive further consideration. Although all applicants for faculty recruitments must complete the entire application, applicants will only be subject to institutional reference checks if and when they are selected as the candidate to whom the hiring unit would like to extend a formal offer. More information is available on <https://apo.berkeley.edu/misconduct-disclosure-review>.

As a condition of employment, the finalist will be required to disclose if they are subject to any final administrative or judicial decisions within the last seven years determining that they committed any misconduct.

• “Misconduct” means any violation of the policies or laws governing conduct at the applicant's previous place of employment, including, but not limited to, violations of policies or laws prohibiting sexual harassment, sexual assault, or other forms of harassment or discrimination, as defined by the employer.

- <https://policy.ucop.edu/doc/4000385/SVSH>
- <https://policy.ucop.edu/doc/1001004/Anti-Discrimination>
- https://www.ucop.edu/academic-personnel-programs/_files/apm/apm-035.pdf

Job location
Berkeley, CA

To apply, visit <https://apptrkr.com/6384544>

Copyright ©2025 Jobelephant.com Inc. All rights reserved.

<https://www.jobelephant.com/>

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 9/2/2025

Date Posted: 7/17/2025

Salary: $80,000 - $89,999

eJobs ID: 15682

Massachusetts Institute of Technology

Rank: Assistant Professor

International Relations

The Massachusetts Institute of Technology (MIT) Department of Political Science in Cambridge MA invites applications for two full-time tenure-track faculty positions in International Relations at the rank of Assistant Professor effective July 1st, 2026, or as soon thereafter as possible. Responsibilities include research, graduate and undergraduate teaching, and student research supervision. Applicants should have a PhD degree in Political Science or a related field by start of employment.

The Department offers supportive mentorship to junior faculty and instructors, an exceptional environment for political science inquiry, and a strong commitment to an inclusive, welcoming culture. MIT is an equal opportunity employer. We value diversity and strongly encourage applications from individuals from all identities and backgrounds. All qualified applicants will receive equitable consideration for employment based on their experience and qualifications and will not be discriminated against on the basis of race, color, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, pregnancy, religion, disability, age, genetic information, veteran status, or national or ethnic origin. See MIT's full policy on nondiscrimination <https://policies.mit.edu/policies-procedures/90-relations-and-responsibilities-within-mit-community/93-nondiscrimination>

https://www.eeoc.gov/sites/default/files/2023-06/22-088_EEOC_KnowYourRights6.12ScreenRdr.pdf Know Your Rights

Employment is contingent upon the completion of a satisfactory background check, including verifying any finding of misconduct (or pending investigation) from prior employers. Applications should include a cover letter which addresses your research agenda and teaching interests. Also include a CV, writing sample(s), and three recommendations.

Please submit online applications to <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/30245>

Completed applications must be submitted by September 15th, 2025.

Start Date: Fall 2026

Application Deadline: 9/15/2025

Date Posted: 7/15/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15669

McGill University

Rank: Visiting Professor

McGill University
Department of Political Science
Faculty of Arts

Visiting Professorship in International Relations

Subfield: International Relations

The Department of Political Science at McGill University invites applications for a Visiting Professorship in International Relations. The aim of the Visiting Professorship is to promote collaboration between members of the Department of Political Science at McGill and leading International Relations researchers from other universities.

The Visiting Professorship can be taken up during either the Fall 2025 or Winter 2026 semesters at McGill University. The Visiting Professor must hold a full-time ranked academic appointment or its equivalent in another academic institution. Ideally the Visiting Professor will be on sabbatical and working on a major research project.

The Visiting Professor should be present at McGill for the entire semester and make a substantial contribution to the academic life of the department. The Visiting Professor should plan to undertake a defined research project in International Relations, offer one advanced undergraduate or graduate-level seminar in their area of expertise, and give a public research presentation.

The Visiting Professor will be provided office space and access to the McGill library with borrowing privileges.

The Department of Political Science engages in world-class research and teaching. For more information about the Department of Political Science, please visit our website at: <https://www.mcgill.ca/politicalscience/>.

Inquiries may be directed to Professor Arash Abizadeh, Chair of the Department of Political Science, at chair.polisci@mcgill.ca.

Job Duties:

Defined research project in International Relations, teaching one advanced undergraduate or graduate-level seminar and a public research presentation.

Qualifications and Education Requirements:

Candidates should have completed their PhD and hold a ranked position at another university.

Faculty/Department/Unit:
Department of Political Science
Faculty of Arts

Job Type:
Academic Contractual (Fixed Term)

Rank:
Visiting Professor

Remuneration:
Subject to final approval

Application Deadline:
Applications must be submitted online to Workday here: https://mcgill.wd3.myworkdayjobs.com/en-US/McGill_Careers/job/Leacock-Building/Visiting-Professor_JR0000067291

Applications will be reviewed immediately; for full consideration applications must be received before August 5, 2025.

Required Documents:
Applicants should submit a current CV and a cover letter (max 2 pages) indicating the proposed research project and contribution to teaching in the department.

Please note that to work at McGill University, you must be both authorized to work in Canada (or apply and obtain authorization) and willing to work in the province of Quebec at the campus where the position is based / located.

McGill University is an English-language university where most teaching and research activities are conducted in the English language, thereby requiring English communication both verbally and in writing.

Start Date:
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 7/15/2025
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 15673

Lafayette College

Rank: Assistant Professor of International Relations/Comparative Politics

Specializations: Developing Nations, Political Economy, International Political Economy

The Department of Government and Law and the International Affairs Program at Lafayette College invite applications for a shared tenure-track position in International Relations and/or Comparative Politics at the rank of Assistant Professor commencing July 1, 2026. We seek a teacher-scholar whose teaching and research focus on the politics of development in the Global South, with expertise in topics such as, but not limited to, political economy, global inequality, and/or international organizations. Preference will be given to candidates with a regional focus in South Asia or the Middle East and North Africa (MENA). Acknowledging the vibrant diversity of studies of socioeconomic transformations in the Global South, we welcome innovative theoretical perspectives and methodological approaches.

Applicants must possess a Ph.D. in political science or demonstrate that the Ph.D. is near completion. The successful candidate will teach introductory as well as intermediate and advanced courses in their areas of expertise for the Government and Law Department and the International Affairs Program and is expected to maintain an active research agenda. The Department and Program especially welcome applications from candidates who will contribute to Lafayette's commitment to diversity and inclusion. The teaching load during the first year is four courses (normally two each semester) and five courses each year thereafter.

Applications should include a letter of intent, curriculum vitae, sample of scholarly work, graduate school transcript, evidence of teaching ability (including, if available, syllabi and teaching evaluations), and three letters of recommendation. The letter of intent should contain a statement of teaching philosophy and scholarly interests, and address the ways in which the applicant's teaching, scholarship, and/or community engagement will advance Lafayette College's commitment to diversity, equity, and inclusion as articulated in the College's diversity statement (<https://belong.lafayette.edu/diversity-statement/>).

Please upload application materials electronically through Interfolio at <https://apply.interfolio.com/170245>. Review of applications will begin on September 22, 2025 and continue until the position is filled. Questions may be directed to the Search Committee Co-Chairs, Professor Seo-Hyun Park (parksh@lafayette.edu) and Professor Caleb Gallemore (gallemoc@lafayette.edu).

Located within 70 miles of New York City and Philadelphia, Lafayette College is a highly selective undergraduate liberal arts and engineering institution with significant resources to support faculty members in their teaching and scholarship. Lafayette College is committed to creating a diverse community, one that is inclusive and responsive, and is supportive of its faculty, students, and staff. All members of the College community share a responsibility for creating, maintaining, and developing a learning environment in which difference is valued, equity is sought, and inclusiveness is practiced. Lafayette welcomes applicants from diverse backgrounds.

Start Date: Fall 2026
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 7/11/2025
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 15661

Princeton University

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Associate, PIIRS Postdoctoral Fellowship Program

Subfield(s): Open, International Relations, Comparative Politics

The Princeton Institute for International and Regional Studies (PIIRS) at Princeton University is pleased to announce the call for applications to the PIIRS Postdoctoral Fellowship Program for the 2026-27 academic year. As a leading global institution in interdisciplinary research on international issues, PIIRS is dedicated to advancing innovative scholarship that addresses the world's most pressing challenges. The PIIRS Postdoctoral Fellows Program is integral to that mission.

We will award two postdoctoral fellowships to our 2026-27 cohort. PIIRS seeks recent PhDs in the Social Sciences who have demonstrated exceptional scholarship, congruent with the Institute's intellectual focus, that simultaneously advances theoretical debates in their disciplinary field; creatively speaks to and engages with a multidisciplinary audience; and deepens substantive regional knowledge of specific places.

Appointments are for one year (12 months) with the possibility of renewal pending satisfactory performance and continued funding. Postdoctoral Research Associates (PDRAs) are expected to be in residence at Princeton or the local vicinity for the entire academic year or demonstrate to the program's satisfaction the ability to be on campus on a daily basis and on short notice in order to fulfill responsibilities relating to in-person participation. The position requires PDRAs to be on campus at least four days per week.

Leveraging Princeton's scholarly resources, fellows will focus on research, expand their intellectual horizons, and prepare work for publication. They will have biweekly meetings with the faculty director to share their work, and monthly meetings with faculty fellows from various social sciences to present their work and learn from others. Fellows are also encouraged to engage with colleagues and attend departmental seminars.

Applicants must demonstrate outstanding scholarly achievement and promise. To be eligible, applicants generally cannot have more than two years of postdoctoral experience prior to the start of the appointment, at the beginning of the academic year on September 1, 2026.

The postdoctoral selection will be made based on the strength of the candidates' scholarly record; the promise of the proposed research; and the ability to contribute to the intellectual life of the postdoctoral program (with interest in connecting with other PIIRS and Princeton departments on campus).

In addition to a competitive salary, benefits, and housing subsidy, the program will provide the Fellow with the opportunity to host a small, pre-publication, book workshop; and a research fund of $4,000 per year.

Applicants must apply online at <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/39141>. Applications are due by September 15, 2025 (11:59 p.m. EST). The following application items should be uploaded by the applicant:

- *Cover letter
- *Curriculum vitae
- *Transcripts
- *Research Proposal indicating plans for two-year postdoc (maximum 5 pages double-spaced)
- *Dissertation abstract (including Table of Contents)
- *Writing sample: one chapter of the dissertation or one published article related to dissertation topic.
- *Document confirming either that you have completed all requirements for the PhD degree or a letter signed by your dissertation advisor indicating that you will complete the PhD by the start date of the fellowship.
- *The names and email addresses of three referees, who will be contacted automatically by the online application system with an invitation to upload their letter of recommendation to the system by the application deadline.

Further information can be found at <https://piirs.princeton.edu/funding-fellowships/piirs-postdoctoral-fellows>.

This position is subject to the University's background check policy. The work location for this position is in-person on campus at Princeton University.

Start Date: Fall 2026
Application Deadline: 9/15/2025
Date Posted: 7/7/2025
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 15652

Hampden-Sydney College

Rank: Assistant Professor

Specializations: International Security, Intelligence, Defense

The Department of Government and Foreign Affairs and the Wilson Center for Leadership in the Public Interest at Hampden-Sydney College invite applications for a full-time, tenure-track appointment in security studies at the Assistant Professor level, beginning Fall 2026.

The successful applicant will have research and teaching interests on topics including U.S. and international security, intelligence and cybersecurity, and the history and ethics of irregular warfare. Faculty teach in a 6-6-7 course rotation with six courses per year for two years and seven courses in the third year.

Hampden-Sydney College highly values the teacher/scholar model. Successful applicants will have a record of effective classroom teaching, a commitment to scholarly productivity, and a spirit for collaborative professional service to the broader College community. Applicants should have a Ph.D. in political science or related field at the time of appointment; ABDs close to completion will be considered.

Please submit a letter of application, curriculum vitae, teaching statement, sample syllabi research statement, and three letters of reference to Dr. Celia Carroll Jones, Chair, Department of Government and Foreign Affairs, Hampden-Sydney College at <https://apply.interfolio.com/169215>. Review of applications will begin on September 15, 2025.

About Hampden-Sydney College

Hampden-Sydney is one of three liberal arts colleges in the United States dedicated to the education of men, and our mission is to educate "good men and good citizens in an atmosphere of sound learning." As a community, we are dedicated to the goal of building a culturally diverse staff committed to working in a multicultural environment and strongly encourage applications from women and minoritized groups. Hampden-Sydney College values diversity, prohibits discrimination, and is committed to equal opportunity for all employees and applicants for employment.

Start Date: Fall 2025
Application Deadline: 9/15/2025
Date Posted: 7/3/2025
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 15648

Bucknell University

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor Of International Relations, Global Government

Visiting Assistant Professor Of International Relations, Global Government

R0000001652

Bucknell University

Position Title:
 Visiting Assistant Professor of International Relations, Global Government

Position Type:
 Full time

Location:
 Bucknell University

Categories:
 Faculty Exempt

Job Summary:

Job Duties:

The Department of International Relations at Bucknell University invites applications for a one-year Visiting Assistant Professor position to begin in August 2025. We seek a teacher-scholar with a Ph.D. degree in International Relations, Political Science, International Development, Anthropology, Geography, or another relevant discipline by the start of the appointment. Candidates in the final stages of completing their degree requirements will be considered.

We welcome candidates who demonstrate excellence in reflective multicultural and inclusive teaching practices and who display a strong commitment to collaboration and interdisciplinarity.

We are seeking a candidate whose teaching and research are in global governance with expertise in one or more of the following areas: global and regional governance, international peace and conflict resolution, peacebuilding, international law, humanitarian assistance and relief, and nonstate actors. The selected candidate should be able to teach an interdisciplinary introductory course in international relations, a required course on global governance, as well as a set of electives. A geographic specialization in Europe is preferred. The successful candidate will teach six courses.

Applications must be submitted online at: careers.bucknell.edu. Online applications require a cover letter; CV; a statement on the candidate's teaching philosophy; sample syllabi (relevant to the position) and course evaluations. Applicants may be asked during the interview process to provide a list of three references so that the committee may obtain confidential letters of recommendation. For additional information and to apply, please visit Bucknell's career site (careers.bucknell.edu). Inquiries may be sent to Professor Emek Uçarer <mailto:ucarer@bucknell.edu>. Review of applications will begin on July 15, 2025, and continue until the position is filled.

About Bucknell

Bucknell University is a private, highly ranked, primarily undergraduate, national liberal arts institution that also offers strong professional programs in engineering, management, education, and music.

Bucknell University is an Equal Opportunity Employer. The university believes that students learn best in a diverse, inclusive community and is therefore committed to academic excellence through diversity in its faculty, staff, and students. Applications from members of groups that have been historically underrepresented in higher education are encouraged.

Bucknell is committed to creating a climate that fosters inclusion, growth, and development for a diverse student body, and seeks candidates who are also committed to these goals.

The Lewisburg area offers a combination of outdoor recreation opportunities and small-town amenities. In addition to the cultural and athletic events offered at the University and in town, the region offers strong schools and medical facilities, and an affordable cost of living. Bucknell is about three hours from Philadelphia, New York, Baltimore, and Washington, D.C.

Benefits:

Eligible full- and part-time employees are compensated beyond base salary through our total rewards package that includes (but is not limited to):

- Flexible scheduling options determined by role;
- Medical, prescription drug, vision, dental, life, and long-term disability insurance options

- An outstanding 10% employer contribution to your retirement plan (no contribution requirement for non-exempt positions)
- Full-time and part-time members of the faculty and staff are eligible for tuition remission for themselves. Additionally, full-time members of the faculty and staff are eligible for tuition remission for their spouse/spousal equivalent and are eligible for various tuition programs for their children. Credit for full-time benefits eligible employment at other institutions of higher education will be applied to waiting periods.
- A comprehensive employee wellness program including program incentives
- A myriad of other benefits, including parental leave, an employee assistance program, fitness center membership, and the power of your Bucknell ID card

To learn more about Bucknell's benefits, click <https://nam11.safelinks.protection.outlook.com/?url=https%3A%2F%2Fshared.outlook.inkey.com%2Flink%3Fdomain%3Dwww.bucknell.edu%26t%3Dh.eJxVzskOgJAuHeFXIV1LB4pWWPEqHS5DaAvpEILGd9cmLnT7n-TLeaIcLorNKe0x56Q4ziwynr1YC0Gk4l8mCWATls4yZyd9HWAuOWgIRJwu9yPCrOEFczWg47eTYATTqA298pvSXDZCKHE3hAnK7ryrMVCfBeK662ijA-D8tmYvYXX29DLEeI.MEYCIQC1RyOy4DhjXXCXNCow8wOJFrTlfc1wZ9KWeAofMs1fwIhAliuJXSV7oshGQxQ2-gu39m81&data=05%7C01%7Cmegan.mcguire%40alchemy.us%7Ce8522130b6294bf38a0008dbf618b3b9%7C276a21e7bb2f4244aec848c869aa5be5%7C0%7C0%7C638374358188308666%7CUnknown%7CTWFpbGZsb3d8eyJWIjoiMC4wLjAwMDAiLCJQIjoiV2luMzliLCJBTiI6Iklha3D%7C3000%7C%7C%7C&sdata=nOYboIBqQ%2FS7whA0bXAOhtsVWaiUOSlx%2FzK%2FvKESID4%3D&reserved=0> (*Eligibility criteria and waiting periods may apply.)

Diversity, Equity & Inclusion:

Bucknell is committed to fostering an environment that embraces diversity, equity and inclusion, and seeks candidates who will contribute to a climate that supports the growth and development of a diverse campus community. We endeavor to enhance our capacity to value and capitalize on the cultural richness that diversity brings. We encourage all individuals to apply and do not discriminate in admissions, employment, educational programs and/or activities on the basis of race, color, national or ethnic origin, age, religion, disability, pregnancy, sex/gender, gender identity and/or expression, sexual orientation, marital or family status, military or veteran status, or genetic information.

E-Verify

Bucknell University participates with the United States Customs and Immigration Services (USCIS) E-Verify program. We will provide the federal government with your Form I-9 information to confirm that you are authorized to work in the U.S. For additional information regarding Bucknell's E-Verify requirements, please contact the office of Talent, Culture & Human Resources (570) 577-1631 or email hr@bucknell.edu. <https://www.e-verify.gov/employers/employer-resources?resource=32> (sharing the link to the posters, which are also attached)

To apply, visit <https://apptkr.com/6349239>.

Copyright ©2025 Jobelephant.com Inc. All rights reserved.

<https://www.jobelephant.com/>

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/2/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15646

University of Oxford

Rank: Associate Professor of International Business

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Public Administration, International Relations

Specializations: Developing Nations, Political Economy, International Political Economy

Saïd Business School and St Antony's College are recruiting an Associate Professor of International Business. For this post, the School welcomes applications from early career candidates (i.e., scholars who have completed or will very soon complete their PhD), postdoctoral researchers (i.e., scholars who are currently in a postdoc position), and faculty who are already a tenure-track faculty member. At Oxford the rank of Associate Professor includes faculty that would elsewhere be considered of Assistant or Associate Professor rank.

The position is tenable from 1 September 2026 or at a different date by negotiation. The position is associated with a non-tutorial fellowship at St Antony's College.

We are inviting applications from those with a background in International Business, broadly defined, who are committed to a programme of intellectually rigorous and relevant scholarship in global strategy, comparative political economy of business, and international political economy, that is publishable in top academic management journals (as defined, for instance, by the Financial Times's 48 peer-reviewed academic journals), top social science journals and as books with top academic publishers.

The successful candidate will join the International Business group which conducts research addressing pressing global issues, such as sustainability and labour standards in global value chains, innovation in emerging markets, digital transformation (including the adoption of artificial intelligence) and future of work, and state capacity and its implication for business. The group takes a distinct multi-level perspective to studying the political economy of international business. An important focus of the group, therefore, is to study how system-level institutions affect, and are affected by, organizational strategies, management and politics. Many of the group members engage actively with colleagues from other parts of Oxford in formal and informal research collaborations. The group is also committed to mixed methods in research, ranging from qualitative methods to experimental and quantitative methods. We therefore strongly encourage applicants from any methodological background as we continue to broaden the methodological interests of our group.

The duties for this post include research, teaching and service to the business school, college and wider University. Full details of the duties can be found at the link below.

If you would like to discuss this post and find out more about joining the academic community at Oxford, please contact akshay.mangla@sbs.ox.ac.uk

All enquiries will be treated in strict confidence and will not form part of the selection decision.

To apply, please follow this link: https://my.corehr.com/pls/uoxrecruit/erq_jobspec_version_4.display_form?p_company=10&p_

internal_external=E&p_display_in_irish=N&p_process_type=&p_applicant_no=&p_form_profile_detail=&p_display_apply_ind=Y&p_refresh_search=Y&p_recruitment_id=178440

The closing date for applications is 12.00 noon (UK time) on Monday 29 September 2025

Start Date: Fall 2026

Application Deadline: 9/29/2025

Date Posted: 7/1/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15636

University of Tennessee

Rank: Assistant Director of National Security & Foreign Affairs, Baker School - UTK

Subfield(s): International Relations, Public Policy, Other

Specializations: International Security, Foreign Policy, East Asia

The Howard H. Baker School of Public Policy and Public Affairs (Baker School) at the University of Tennessee, Knoxville, seeks applications for a full-time Assistant Director at the Center for National Security & Foreign Affairs (NSFA) at the Baker School. We seek candidates with national security and/or foreign affairs expertise who can help lead the Center's efforts to deliver high quality student experience through undergraduate, graduate, and executive education, both in person and online. The successful candidate will also contribute to the Center's policy engagement work through research and public engagement activities.

The Baker School offers a Bachelor of Science in Public Affairs and a Master of Public Policy (MPP) with concentrations in national security and nuclear policy, among other focus areas.

This position will play a central role in shaping and expanding the Center for National Security and Foreign Affairs' (NSFA) impact on national security, foreign policy, and public engagement. Working closely with the Director, the Assistant Director will help build a nationally recognized hub for scholarship, student development, and public policy engagement in national security and foreign affairs. This position is responsible for advancing the Center's vision to become a dynamic platform for connecting students, faculty, policymakers, and the public through rigorous research, strategic partnerships, and experiential learning. The successful candidate will contribute to the development of the Center's policy engagement through the execution of research projects, conferences, policy dialogues, and public events that reflect the Center's commitment to addressing today's most pressing national security and foreign policy challenges. The candidate will work with NSFA-affiliated faculty and student research assistants on research projects, policy briefs, and reports related to national security and foreign affairs. The candidate will also help build the Center's presence as a trusted, nonpartisan contributor to state, national, and international policy conversations. This position will work closely with the NSFA Director and the Baker School's Student Success team to engage and mentor students interested in careers in state and federal government, the private sector, thinktanks, and other organizations in the fields of national security, foreign policy, nuclear policy, and related fields. This includes developing and delivering training, supporting professional development experiences such as internships, fellowships, study abroad opportunities (including the Baker School's program in Japan), Washington, D.C. trips, guest speaker events, and wargaming simulations. The position will help expand and deepen these opportunities to build a robust professional pathway for students entering the field. This is a forward-facing role for a strategic builder, ideally suited for someone committed to educating future public servants, producing policy-relevant research, and strengthening the bridge between academia and the national policymaking community.

Responsibilities

POLICY ENGAGEMENT (50%)

- Assists in developing and implementing strategic planning objectives, initiatives, and activities for the center.
- Identifies opportunities for externally funded research from foundations, government agencies, and/or corporate entities.
- Participates in the development and submission of proposals.
- Proposes and produces research-based policy briefs and reports about topics relevant to NSFA expertise.
- Participates in the planning and execution of funded and unfunded research projects.
- Supervises student research assistants while providing direction and mentorship.
- Participates in periodic meetings with university partners, external partners, and other stakeholders to discuss joint issues and initiatives.
- Participates in periodic management meetings to relay information about center updates and issues.
- Clearly and effectively communicates research findings through presentations to funders, professional audiences, and/or policymakers and other audiences.
- Interacts and networks within the Baker School, with NSFA affiliates and fellows, and across campus to seek potential collaborators and develop potential research projects.

STUDENT MENTORSHIP & PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT (50%)

- Develops and delivers presentations at high schools and regional colleges about national security, foreign affairs, and/or nuclear policy to grow interest in the undergraduate and graduate programs at the Baker School.
- Develop and deliver training for students and outside stakeholders for policy education and professional development.
- Collaborates with the NSFA Director and the school's office of Student Success to develop and implement national security and foreign affairs-related experiences for students, both within and outside the classroom, including student travel.
- Identify, plan, and organize support for professional development experiences such as internships, fellowships, study abroad opportunities (including the Baker School's program in Japan), Washington, D.C. trips, guest speaker events, and crisis or wargaming simulations.
- Advises students on academic and career matters.
- Maintains regular office hours for student interaction.

Qualifications

Required Qualifications

Education:

Candidates must hold a master's degree in political science, public policy, international relations, defense or security studies, or a related field.

Experience:

- Experience in government, public policy, national security, international security, think tanks, non-governmental organizations, international organizations, teaching or research in public policy / foreign policy schools, or related career areas.

- Experience in working on research related to national security, foreign affairs, and related topics.

Knowledge, Skills, Abilities:

- Knowledge of applicable policy processes and actors in national security and foreign affairs.
- Ability to work independently and in collaborative multidisciplinary teams.
- Ability to develop, plan, and implement short- and long-range goals.
- Excellent communication, interpersonal, and presentation skills.
- Commitment to teaching excellence and student success.
- Strong knowledge of field concepts, practices, procedures, and professional standards in national security and foreign affairs.
- Strong research design and analytical skills.
- Commitment to continuous professional development.

A PhD in political science, public policy, international relations, defense/security studies, or a related field

Preferred Qualifications

Education: A PhD in political science, public policy, international relations, defense/security studies, or a related field

Experience: Experience in higher education teaching. Strong publication record in relevant field

Work Location

- Knoxville, TN
- On-site
- Remote work may be available on either Thursday or Friday with the permission of the position supervisor and consistent with the institution's regulations. This may be impacted by in-person responsibilities and events that conflict with this schedule.

UT market range:

- MR 11

Applicants should submit the materials below:

- Cover letter explaining research experience, any teaching experience, any policy experience, any relevant qualifications, and interest in the position
- CV
- Graduate transcripts
- Writing samples of policy related research
- Teaching evaluations (if available)
- List of three (3) references

About the Howard H. Baker Jr. School for Public Policy and Public Affairs (Baker School)

The Howard H. Baker Jr. School for Public Policy and Public Affairs (Baker School) was established in 2023 to honor the distinguished life and legacy of Howard H. Baker Jr., a former US Senator, Senate Majority Leader, White House Chief of Staff, and Ambassador to Japan. Located in a 51,000-sq. In a purpose-built facility, the Baker School evolved from the Baker Center, which operated as a think tank producing research, public engagement programming, and an active set of student programs for twenty years. The Baker School now offers degree programs and developed its research initiatives into independent research centers - NSFA and the Center for Transportation, Energy, and Environmental Policy (CETEP). In addition, the Baker School houses the Institute of American Civics, which encourages civic knowledge and participation among UT students and the state at large.

Who We Are

We are a dynamic and close-knit team of dedicated and hardworking individuals devoted to research, education, and public service initiatives that address real-world problems in local, state, national, and global communities. Each team member is a valuable contributor to achieving our mission, and we work together to find innovative approaches to moving the Baker School forward. We are fast-moving and growing. Our work continually evolves to meet changing needs.

About Us

The University of Tennessee, Knoxville, has shaped leaders, change-makers, and innovative thinkers since its founding in 1794. The university is home to more than 38,000 students and 10,000 statewide employees—the Volunteers—who uphold the university's tradition of lighting the way for others through leadership and service.

UT Knoxville offers over 900 programs of study across 14 degree-granting colleges and schools. As Tennessee's flagship land-grant university, its footprint spans the entire state. The university holds the highest Carnegie classification for research activity and has deep partnerships with industry leaders and the US Department of Energy's largest multidisciplinary laboratory, Oak Ridge National Laboratory. The Knoxville campus serves and recruits for UT Knoxville, including the Institute of Agriculture and the Space Institute, as well as the UT Institute of Public Service.

UT Knoxville considers its employees its number one asset. With values that focus on work-life balance, compensation, and innovation leadership, all Vols are supported to advance professionally. Employees have access to career development and coaching, continued education, and an extensive list of development and training possibilities. The Volunteer employee experience implements structures and practices that attract and retain a diverse community and that support a culture where everyone matters and belongs.

The university holds a strong commitment to its land-grant mission of learning and engagement, with a tradition of service and leadership that carries that Volunteer spirit throughout the state and around the world. It has been ranked nationally as "Best Employer for New Graduates," "One of America's Best Large Employers," and "Best Workplace for Women," and has been designated as "Best Place for Working Parents" by Forbes Magazine.

Apply today and join the Tennessee Volunteer community!

Link to apply: https://fa-ewlq-saasfaprod1.f.a.ocs.oraclecloud.com/hcmUI/CandidateExperience/en/sites/CX_1/job/3454/?utm_medium=jobshare&utm_source=External+Job+Share

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/23/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15626

Williams College

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

Position Description

The Political Science Department at Williams College seeks an Assistant Professor of Political Science with scholarly expertise in International Relations. We are especially interested in candidates whose scholarship focuses on global governance and international law. We seek a colleague who has a record or promise of excellence in research and is committed to inclusive undergraduate education. The teaching load is four courses each year (2-2); successful candidates will be able to teach Introduction to World Politics as well as additional courses in their areas of interest. This tenure track appointment will begin in the 2026–2027 academic year. We welcome applications from candidates of all backgrounds and strongly encourage individuals whose experiences and perspectives will enhance our commitment to academic excellence and innovation to apply.

The Political Science Department has a strong commitment to professional development which includes regular opportunities to present work in progress. Williams College offers additional professional development opportunities, including the College's First3 program as well as programming organized by the Rice Center for Teaching and the NCFDD, among other mentoring

Qualifications

Candidates should have the Ph.D. completed by June 2026.

Application Instructions

Application items should include: a cover letter detailing scholarly interests as well as teaching experience; a curriculum vitae; a writing sample of only one article or chapter; and three letters of recommendation. We ask you to write in your cover letter about your ability to work effectively with a student population that is broadly diverse with regard to gender, race, ethnicity, nationality, sexual orientation, and religion. Candidates invited to the first round of (Zoom) interviews will be asked at that time to provide sample syllabi and evidence of teaching effectiveness.

The deadline for the submission of applications is September 15, 2025 for full consideration. All application materials should be submitted through Interfolio (<http://apply.interfolio.com/168214>). Fax and email applications will not be accepted. Inquiries may be sent to Erin Malloy at emb8@williams.edu. All offers of employment are contingent upon completion of a background check. Further information is available here: <https://faculty.williams.edu/prospective-faculty/background-check-policy/>

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 9/15/2025

Date Posted: 6/19/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15618

Princeton University

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Associate formal theory and international relations

Specializations: Conflict Processes, Environmental Policy, Political Economy

The Department of Politics at Princeton University seeks applicants for a postdoctoral research associate in the fields of formal theory and international relations. The term of appointment is for one year, with the possibility of renewal pending satisfactory performance and continued funding.

Interested applicants must apply online at <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/39021> and submit a CV, cover letter, writing sample, transcript, and the names and contact information of three references.

Unofficial transcripts are sufficient and may be uploaded with the application. Applicants who are unable to upload unofficial transcripts may send official transcripts to Politics Postdoc Search, Department of Politics, 001 Fisher Hall, Princeton University, Princeton, NJ 08540.

A PhD is required.

We will be reviewing applications as they are received. This position is subject to the University's background check policy. The work location for this position is in-person on campus at Princeton University.

Expected Salary Range: $65,000 - $73,000

The University considers factors such as (but not limited to) scope and responsibilities of the position, candidate's qualifications, work experience, education/training, key skills, market, collective bargaining agreements as applicable, and organizational considerations when extending an offer. The posted salary range represents the University's good faith and reasonable estimate for a full-time position; salaries for part-time positions are pro-rated accordingly.

The University also offers a comprehensive benefit program to eligible employees. Please see this link for more information.

Requisition No: D-25-POL-00018

Start Date:

Date Posted: 6/17/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15617

National University of Singapore

Rank: Head of Department position (Full Professor level with tenure)

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Public Policy

The Department of Political Science at the National University of Singapore invites applications for the position of Head of Department at the rank of full professor or higher (endowed chair professor). Research and teaching specialisation is open, although candidates should contribute to one or more of the Department's four subfields: comparative politics, governance and public policy, international relations, and political theory.

The successful candidate will have an internationally recognised record of research and publication, as well as a record of very good teaching. Exceptional leadership skills are essential, as is a demonstrable commitment to intellectual and methodological pluralism. Other qualifications include evidence of substantial administrative experience; a record of promoting faculty and student success; a commitment to collegiality and diversity; and excellent interpersonal, communication, and organisational skills. The Head is expected to provide leadership to implement a strategic vision, with the support of department faculty, which advances the Department's international profile and reputation. Research and teaching expectations may be reduced (e.g. one course teaching commitment per year), given the Head's crucial service role.

Interested candidates should submit a CV, cover letter that addresses the qualifications outlined above, research statement (approx. two pages), teaching statement (approx. two pages), and names and addresses of at least four references.

Review of applications will begin in August 2025 and will continue until the position is filled. Campus visits for selected candidates will be arranged for October 2025. The position is expected to commence in January 2027. Questions about the position should be directed to the Search Committee Chair, Professor William Bain (wbain@nus.edu.sg).

Exceptional candidates at the rank of senior associate professor are welcome to apply, subject to being promoted to full professor upon appointment at NUS.

The Department of Political Science is a vibrant multidisciplinary community comprised of over 25 tenure- and educator-track faculty members. The Department offers degrees in Political Science and Global Studies at the undergraduate level and in Political Science at the Masters and Doctoral levels. It also partners with the International Political Science Association (IPSA) to host the IPSA-NUS Summer School in Social Science Research Methods annually. It is one of 16 departments in a large Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences, which is home to a comprehensive range of programmes in Asian Studies, Humanities, Social Science, and Language Studies. The Lee Kuan Yew School of Public Policy, the Asia Research Institute, the Asia-Europe Foundation, the East Asian Institute, the ISEAS–Yusof Ishak Institute, among other research units inside and outside NUS, provide additional opportunities for research interaction and collaboration.

NUS offers an internationally competitive remuneration package that includes a period of subsidised housing (for non-Singaporean applicants), annual performance bonus, medical benefits, and relocation expenses (where applicable). Outstanding applicants might also be considered for endowed/chair professorship that comes with annual research support and business class travel eligibility. NUS provides significant research support, including generous start-up grants for new faculty members.

Please submit your application through the NUS Career Portal : https://careers.nus.edu.sg/job/Professor-&Head-of-Department-%28Political-Science%29/29011-en_GB/

Qualifications

The successful candidate will have an internationally recognised record of research and publication, as well as a record of very good teaching. Exceptional leadership skills are essential, as is a strong commitment to intellectual and methodological pluralism. Other qualifications include evidence of substantial administrative experience; a record of promoting faculty and student success; a commitment to collegiality and diversity; and excellent interpersonal, communication, and organisational skills. The Head is expected to provide leadership in co-creating with department faculty to implement a strategic vision, consistent with NUS' research and teaching mission, which advances the Department's international profile and reputation. Research and teaching expectations may be reduced (e.g. one course teaching commitment per year), given the Head's crucial service role.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 5/27/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15591

University of London, SOAS

Rank: Assistant Professor in International Relations

Subfield(s): International Relations, International Relations, International Relations

Job title: Assistant Professor in International Relations

Department: Politics and International Studies

Contract Type: Full-Time (Permanent)

Salary: Grade 8 - £51,248.57 - £60,268.57 per annum incl. London Allowance

Location: Bloomsbury WC1H 0XG, London

SOAS University of London is the leading Higher Education institution in Europe specialising in the study of Asia, Africa and the Middle East.

SOAS is committed to both research intensity and student learning in conjunction with international partnerships that respond to global challenges.

About the Department:

The SOAS Department of Politics and International Studies is a world-leading, research-led department, ranked 3rd in the world for academic reputation (QS World University Rankings / Politics 2025).

The Department is known for its combination of both academic and professional training in politics and international relations with a focus on the Global South (Asia, Africa, and the Middle East). Our MA programme in International Studies and Diplomacy is widely recognised for its distinctive approach to policy-oriented postgraduate training, with a global focus that also covers the role of the US, Europe, and multilateral institutions in partnership with emerging powers. Preparation for careers in international affairs has long been a key strength of the Department.

About the Role:

We are pleased to invite applications for a permanent Lecturer in International Relations starting in Autumn 2025 or as soon as possible thereafter.

We are looking for a scholar with a promising publication record and an active research agenda, as well as demonstrated excellence in innovative forms of teaching including undergraduate, postgraduate, online, and professional training.

You can find further information on the key criteria for the role in the Job Description and Person Specification, along with a full list of duties and responsibilities, on the SOAS website.

What We Offer:

We are committed to providing a supportive and rewarding work environment. In addition to a competitive salary, we offer a comprehensive range of benefits designed to enhance your well-being and work-life balance:

Generous Holiday Entitlement: Benefit from 44 days of holiday (30 days annual leave, plus bank holidays and 6 closure days over Christmas and Easter) to ensure ample time for rest and relaxation.

Flexible Working Arrangements: We recognise the importance of flexibility and offer options to help you manage your professional and personal commitments effectively.

Generous occupational pension scheme: To provide financial security for your future

Learning and Development: We are dedicated to your professional growth and development and offer diverse learning and development opportunities to enhance your skills and advance your career.

Health and Well-being Initiatives: Take advantage of our cycle to work scheme, eye tests, and season ticket loan to support your health and mobility.

Enhanced Family Leave: We offer enhanced maternity, paternity & partner leave, and shared parental leave to support you during significant life events.

Employee Assistance Programme: Access our confidential EAP for advice and support whenever needed.

Discounted Gym Membership: Maintain your fitness with our discounted gym membership.

We would particularly welcome applications from candidates from working class, first generation Higher Education, Black, Asian, other minority ethnic and underrepresented groups from within the UK and beyond. All appointment decisions will be made on merit, following a fair and competitive process.

How to Apply:

<https://vacancies.soas.ac.uk/>

Closing date: 15 August 2025

Interviews to be held: TBC

Use of AI

While AI tools can be beneficial, we value the personal touch and authenticity in job applications. We encourage you to highlight your unique experience, knowledge, skills, and abilities, ensuring all information is accurate. Please use AI tools responsibly and with integrity throughout the application and selection process.

Further information

Successful candidates will need to demonstrate their eligibility to work in the UK or have limited leave to remain in the UK and associated right to work for the duration of their employment with SOAS, in accordance with the Immigration, Asylum and Nationality Act 2006.

We are able to offer sponsorship for candidates who do not currently possess the right to work in the UK.

For information on how and why SOAS processes personal data about its job applicants, please read our Job Applicant Notice.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 5/16/2025

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 15583

National University of Singapore

Rank: Assistant Professor in Political Science

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Open

Assistant Professor in Political Science

The Department of Political Science at the National University of Singapore invites application for one full-time tenure-track position in Political Science at the rank of Assistant Professor. We welcome applications from candidates working in all subfields, including but not limited to international relations (including non-traditional security and human security), international political economy, gender politics, global studies, and governance and public policy. We also encourage applications from candidates with research experience relating to Asia and whose backgrounds are traditionally underrepresented in the discipline.

The teaching load is three courses per academic year. Compensation is competitive and includes eligibility for annual performance bonus and salary increment, subsidized housing, medical benefits, and substantial research support. Successful candidates are expected to teach graduate and undergraduate classes and take a leading role in developing new departmental initiatives. Candidates with publications in top outlets who conduct innovative and impactful research using, eg, computational methods, may also be invited to apply for the Presidential Young Professorship. <https://www.nus.edu.sg/careers/nus-programmes/>

The Department of Political Science (<http://www.fas.nus.edu.sg/pol/>) includes scholars working in all areas of political science, as well as an interdisciplinary Global Studies programme examining the processes and effects of globalisation across political, economic, social, and cultural domains (<https://fass.nus.edu.sg/globalstudies>). Faculty and students can take advantage of resources in the Asia Research Institute, the Lee Kuan Yew School of Public Policy, and various research institutes including the Asia-Europe Foundation, the Institute of South Asian Studies, the East Asia Institute, and the Yusof Ishak Institute—Institute of Southeast Asian Studies among others. NUS (<http://www.nus.edu.sg/>) is a global leader in research and higher education. Singapore is a highly livable global city that is a major regional and international travel hub.

Interested applicants are invited to apply directly at our NUS Career Portal: https://careers.nus.edu.sg/job/Assistant-Professor-in-Political-Science/28742-en_GB/.

Applicants should submit the following documents:

1. Cover letter clearly detailing their research and teaching interests.
2. Curriculum vitae.
3. Three letters of reference. Please send all letters directly to pol-ir@nus.edu.sg.
4. A research statement of no more than 2 pages stating your research interests and research plans for the next 3 years.
5. A teaching statement of no more than 2 pages, as well as sample syllabi, teaching evaluations, and/or other evidence of teaching quality.
6. Up to three writing samples

For full consideration, please submit your materials to this website by 1 July 2025. Applications received after this date may still be considered until the position is filled.

For any queries, please write to: pol-ir@nus.edu.sg.

Please note that only short-listed candidates will be notified.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 5/13/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15580

University of Toronto

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow in Chinese Politics or Chinese Political Economy

The Munk School of Global Affairs & Public Policy is looking to hire a Postdoctoral Fellow to support Professor Lynette Ong at the China Governance Lab.

Area of Research: Chinese Politics or Chinese Political Economy

Description of Duties: To conduct research related to Chinese politics and/or political economy, including collecting and analyzing Chinese government and social media data, and author academic publications. To take charge of research projects, including leading a team of student researchers, and execute deliverables as instructed by supervisor. Opportunities for collaboration with supervisor. Possible areas of specialization: state-business relations, public opinion, conflict studies, and governance.

Salary: $65,000 per year, plus standard benefits

Closing Date: Application opens MAY 15, 2025 and will close once the position is filled

Supervisor: Professor Lynette Ong, Distinguished Professor of Chinese Politics, University of Toronto

Expected Start Date: July 1, 2025

Required Qualifications: Candidates must have a PhD, with a strong background in quantitative methods, including computational social science. Knowledge of Chinese politics, and proficiency in Mandarin Chinese are also required.

Application Instructions: All individuals interested in the position must submit the following documents by the closing date to Professor Lynette Ong, at lynette.ong@utoronto.ca using the subject line "Post-doc – [Your Name]":

- a. A cover letter outlining how you meet the qualifications for the position
- b. Your academic CV
- c. A research sample that showcases your research ability and method skills (e.g., a dissertation chapter, a conference paper, or a published article)
- d. The names and contact information for three academic referees (Your referees will only be contacted once you've advanced to the interview round)

Term: 1 year with a renewal opportunity for a second year

FTE: This is a full-time position. The normal hours of work are 40 hours per week for a full-time postdoctoral fellow, recognizing that the needs of the employee's research and training and the needs of the supervisor's research program may require flexibility in the performance of the employee's duties and hours of work.

If you have any questions about this opportunity, please connect with Professor Lynette Ong, at lynette.ong@utoronto.ca.

Employment as a Postdoctoral Fellow at the University of Toronto is covered by the terms of the CUPE 3902 Unit 5 Collective Agreement. This job is posted in accordance with the CUPE 3902 Unit 5 Collective Agreement.

The University of Toronto is strongly committed to diversity within its community and especially welcomes applications from racialized persons, persons of colour, women, Indigenous Aboriginal People of North America, persons with disabilities, LGBTQ persons, and others who may contribute to the further diversification of ideas.

Start Date: Summer 2025

Application Deadline: 7/1/2025

Date Posted: 5/8/2025

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 15577

Hampden-Sydney College

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of Government and Foreign Affairs at Hampden-Sydney College invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track appointment at the rank of Assistant Professor beginning in Fall 2025. Candidates should have expertise in Comparative Politics and/or International Relations. The Department seeks applicants who can offer intermediate courses in European politics, international relations theory and/or international organization. The successful applicant may participate in the college-wide Core Cultures program or teach introductory courses in world politics. Faculty teach in a 6-6-7 course rotation with six courses per year for two years and seven courses in the third year.

Hampden-Sydney College values the teacher/scholar model. Successful applicants will have a record of effective classroom teaching, a commitment to scholarly productivity, and a willingness to work with colleagues on professional service responsibilities. Applicants should have a Ph.D. or be advanced ABD in political science at the time of appointment.

Please submit a letter of application, curriculum vitae, teaching statement, research statement, and three letters of reference to Dr. Celia Carroll Jones, Chair, Department of Government and Foreign Affairs, Hampden-Sydney College at <http://apply.interfolio.com/161830>. Review of applications will begin February 15, 2025.

Hampden-Sydney is one of three liberal arts colleges in the United States dedicated to the education of men, and our mission is to educate “good men and good citizens in an atmosphere of sound learning.” As a community, we are dedicated to the goal of building a culturally diverse staff committed to working in a multicultural environment and strongly encourage applications from women and minoritized groups. Hampden-Sydney College values diversity, prohibits discrimination, and is committed to equal opportunity for all employees and applicants for employment.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 2/15/2025

Date Posted: 1/12/2025

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 15335

Yale University

Rank: Identity & Conflict Lab: Postdoctoral Associate, 2025-26

The Identity & Conflict Lab (ICL) at Yale University, led by Professor Nicholas Sambanis, seeks to appoint up to two exceptional candidates as Postdoctoral Associates for the 2025-2026 academic year. This opportunity is for a one-year, full-time residential postdoctoral research fellowship, with potential to renew for one year conditional on successful performance. The appointment will begin on July 1, 2025.

Housed in the MacMillan Center for International and Area Studies, the ICL addresses a broad range of critical questions focused on inter-group conflict and identity politics. The ICL analyzes how social identities shape individual behavior, how conflict affects identities, and what interventions are effective in reducing inter-group conflict. Both violent and non-violent forms of conflict are considered, ranging from bias, discrimination, and protest to ethnic violence, secessionism and war.

Postdoctoral associates will work in one of ICL's ongoing projects in the following two thematic areas: (1) measuring norms of good citizenship across countries; (2) conducting experimental interventions to reduce native-immigrant conflict in Europe with a primary focus on Greece; and (3) analyzing sources of the escalation of foreign policy disputes. Postdoctoral associates may also be asked to contribute to projects in other areas/ongoing projects on a variety of different topics related to the broad theme of “identity and conflict.” Most of the research currently in progress uses quantitative methods, with an emphasis on experimental methods. The ICL seeks to integrate substantive and methodological knowledge across the social and behavioral sciences to develop new analytical approaches and new insights into these thematic areas with a view to shaping new directions in scholarly literatures as well as influencing policy design.

Postdoctoral associates will be expected to work three days/week on ICL projects under the direction of Professor Nicholas Sambanis and can pursue their own research for the remainder of their work time.

Job responsibilities may include the following: Collect and clean data; program complex surveys in Qualtrics; prepare IRB applications; manage logistical details of field projects; prepare scripts and do-files for statistical analysis in Stata and R; prepare visualizations of quantitative data/results; draft short reports with project results; assist with the drafting of grant proposals; review/comment projects by other ICL affiliates; and co-author papers and reports with the Lab Director and affiliated faculty. Associates may be asked to contribute to the ICL Director's engagement with funders and agencies that enable the ICL's work by preparing power-point presentations of ICL projects and drafting non-technical summaries of results from different projects. Associates will also assist with preparing replication files for published studies, and help manage the ICL website and seminar series.

There is no formal teaching requirement. Associates will be asked to co-organize with the Director the ICL's annual conference or the workshop, which holds meetings throughout the year. Associates will be expected to give at least one presentation of their research at the workshop or at a graduate-level course led by the ICL Director. They would also be expected to engage with research by graduate students who are affiliated with the ICL.

The salary for this position is commensurate with experience and complies with the Yale Office of Postdoctoral Affairs compensation policy and includes a benefits package.

Qualifications

Applications are welcome from scholars who have received their Ph.D. or equivalent degrees since June 2023, or who expect to complete their degree by June 2025. Applications will be reviewed on a rolling basis starting on November 25, 2023. Applications will be received until December 15, 2024. Successful applicants will be contacted by mid-January 2025.

Successful applicants will have excellent training in quantitative methods with an emphasis on statistical analysis, survey methods and experimental methods. Excellent knowledge of the statistical software Stata and R is required as is expertise in programming surveys in Qualtrics. Applicants should have outstanding organizational and communication skills and prior experience using large databases. They should be intellectually curious, ambitious, energetic, and self-motivated; they should be able to work independently, but also as part of a team and be sensitive to the demands of multiple simultaneously ongoing projects; they should be able to multi-task and respond to feedback quickly. Applicants must be willing to travel for fieldwork if necessary. Training in behavioral economics and/or social psychology is a plus as several of the Lab's projects cross disciplinary boundaries.

Application Instructions

All application materials must be submitted online through Interfolio: <https://apply.interfolio.com/158750>

Applicants will be asked to upload a cover letter, CV/resume, one-page research statement, writing sample, and unofficial PhD transcript (only required for current graduate students). We will also ask for the name and email address of two letter writers who can submit a letter of recommendation (only references for short-listed candidates will be requested).

If you have questions, please email the ICL Director at nicholas.sambanis@yale.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 11/12/2025

Date Posted: 11/12/2024

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 15189

Yale University

Rank: Assistant/Associate/Full Professor, International Relations, Comparative Politics, and Political Economy

The Department of Political Science at Yale University is seeking to hire several faculty members at the rank of Assistant, Associate, or Full Professor with an appointment in the fields of Comparative Politics, Political Economy, and/or International Relations, beginning July 1, 2025. Suitable candidates may also be hired jointly with the Jackson School of Global Affairs, in which case faculty will be expected to share their teaching and service obligations between both the Political Science Department and the Jackson School of Global Affairs. This search includes additional resources in two targeted areas within this broader search area. The first is for an assistant professor with expertise in African Politics, who will teach at least one course cross-listed with, and contribute to, Yale's Council on African Studies. The second is for a candidate who works on Environmental Politics, jointly appointed with the Jackson School of Global Affairs. Candidates will be expected to teach undergraduate and graduate courses in areas of political science commensurate with their expertise. Candidates jointly appointed with Jackson will also teach courses in Jackson's undergraduate and graduate curriculum. If candidates are appointed at the untenured level, the initial appointment will be for 5 years. The teaching expectation is normally 3 courses per academic year.

Qualifications

Ph.D. or equivalent degree required at time of hire.

Application Instructions

All applications must include a cover letter and CV. Untenured candidates should also supply 3 recommendation letters, 2 writing samples, and separate short (2 pages or less) research and teaching statements. All materials should be uploaded to Interfolio at <http://apply.interfolio.com/151662>. Review of applications will begin September 15, 2024 (or 30 days after posting, whichever is later), and to guarantee full consideration your file should be complete by this date.

Please contact Xaria Callender, Sr. Administrative Assistant for the Political Science Department, at xaria.callender@yale.edu if you have questions about the application process.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 8/7/2025

Date Posted: 8/12/2024

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 14619

Yale University

Rank: Assistant/Associate/Full Professor, South Asian Politics

The Department of Political Science at Yale University is seeking to hire a faculty member with expertise in South Asian Politics at the rank of Assistant, Associate, or Full Professor, beginning July 1, 2025. A successful applicant should focus on substantive questions in any major subfield(s) of political science, with reference to the domestic and/or international politics of one or more of the following countries: Afghanistan, Bangladesh, Bhutan, India, Nepal, Pakistan, and Sri Lanka. Expected teaching, commensurate with the candidate's expertise, will be in South Asian Politics. If candidates are appointed at the untenured level, the initial appointment will be for 5 years. The teaching expectation is normally 3 courses per academic year.

Qualifications

Ph.D. or equivalent degree required at time of hire.

Application Instructions

All applications must include a cover letter and CV. Untenured candidates should also supply 3 recommendation letters, 2 writing samples, and separate short (2 pages or less) research and teaching statements. All materials should be uploaded to Interfolio at <http://apply.interfolio.com/151100>. Review of applications will begin September 15, 2024, and to guarantee full consideration your file should be complete by this date.

Please contact Xaria Callender, Sr. Administrative Assistant for the Political Science Department, at xaria.callender@yale.edu if you have questions about the application process.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 8/7/2025

Date Posted: 8/12/2024

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 14620

Universidad Torcuato Di Tella

Rank: Assistant Professor, Associate Professor

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Methodology

The Department of Political Science and International Studies at Universidad Torcuato Di Tella (UTDT) seeks candidates for two tenure-track assistant professor positions in Comparative Politics and International Relations, with an expected (but negotiable) start date of March 2025. Very strong candidates at the associate level will also be considered. We are open with respect to substantive subfield, theoretical orientation, and methodological approach. Regional expertise in regions other than Latin America (e.g., East, South, or Southeast Asia, Western or Eastern Europe, the Middle East or North America) is a plus, as is the ability to teach courses on research design, data science/statistics, and/or causal inference. Candidates are expected to demonstrate a strong commitment to research and to teaching and mentoring students. The teaching load is three courses per year. Most courses are taught in Spanish, although a growing number are offered in English. The position includes a research fund and a year's sabbatical (at full salary) every six years.

Duties will include teaching assigned courses in Comparative Politics and/or International Relations at both the undergraduate and graduate levels, conducting research, writing for publication in high-quality academic venues, advising students, participating in department governance, and university service.

Qualifications: Ph.D. in Political Science or related disciplines (ABD candidates will also be considered) and a demonstrated record of excellence in research and teaching. Proficiency in both Spanish and English is required. Questions should be directed to Professor Carlos Gervasoni, Chair of the Department of Political Science and International Studies, at cgervasoni@utdt.edu.

To apply please visit https://utdt.hiringroom.com/jobs/get_vacancy/665727a62994ec85980166a0, by August 30, 2024 (applications received after this date will continue to be reviewed until the positions are filled). The required documents include a cover letter, CV, a research statement, a teaching statement, a writing sample, and the names and email addresses of 3 references (letters of reference will be required of short-listed finalists).

Universidad Torcuato Di Tella is a private research university located in Buenos Aires, Argentina. Our Department is consistently ranked as one of the best in Latin America in terms of reputation and research excellence. Our guiding principles are academic excellence, pluralism of ideas and equal opportunity. UTDT is committed to creating a diverse community of students, faculty, and staff, following the principles of equal opportunity and treatment in education and employment, regardless of national origin, race, color, ethnicity, religion, political ideology, age, sex, sexual orientation, or gender identity. The university encourages applications of individuals from historically underrepresented groups who will further enrich the diversity of our educational community. We welcome applications from all nationalities. Approximately 25% of the Department's research professors are foreigners. For further information about Universidad Torcuato Di Tella and our department, please visit: <https://www.utdt.edu/>.

Start Date: Spring 2025

Application Deadline: 8/30/2024

Date Posted: 6/5/2024

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 14404

METHODOLOGY

Pepperdine University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, International Relations, Methodology

The Social Science Division of the Seaver College of Letters, Arts, and Sciences at Pepperdine University invites applications for a tenure-track faculty position in Political Science to begin August 1, 2026. We are open to various areas of expertise within the fields of either U.S. or international politics. An interest in teaching an introductory U.S. government course that serves the general education program of Seaver College, an introductory statistics course for the social sciences, or a course on Hispanic or Latin American politics would be welcome regardless of specialty. Qualifications include a Ph.D. in Political Science or a closely related field, an active scholarly agenda, and a commitment to excellent teaching in a Christian liberal arts environment.

Review of applicants will begin on October 1, 2025 and will continue until the position is filled.

Application Instructions

The standard application documents are:

- Letter of application
- Curriculum vitae
- Names and contact information for three references. These should be the same individuals who will provide a Confidential Letter of Recommendation or Evaluation if you proceed with the interview process.
- Transcripts of all graduate work. (Unofficial copies are acceptable for the application; however, official transcripts may be required for selected applicants.)
- Personal Statement. Reflect on Pepperdine's Christian mission and address your pattern of support for generally accepted Christian values and the University's mission, your active participation in a faith community, and your practice or vision for integrating faith and learning in the classroom.
- [Confidential Letter of Recommendation or Evaluation] Once selected for preliminary interviews: Three current letters of reference. All letters should be specific to the position and completed within one year prior to the date of submission. The name and email address for each individual providing a letter of recommendation is required when submitting an application.
- [Teaching statement] Once selected for preliminary interviews: Teaching statement. Please reflect on your values, beliefs, and goals regarding the teaching and learning process and any pedagogical practices used or envisioned to achieve these goals. Two to three pages maximum length.
- [Research Statement] Once selected for preliminary interviews: Research Statement. Outline your short- and long-term objectives and goals for your research and/or creative activities. Please reflect on currently published or presented work(s) as a foundation for the statement. Two to three pages maximum length.

To submit application materials please go to this URL: <https://apply.interfolio.com/171069>

Start Date: Fall 2026

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/29/2025

Salary: $90,000 - $99,999

eJobs ID: 15714

DePaul University

Rank: Assistant Professor (tenure track) - Political Science: International Relations

Specializations: Conflict Processes, Political Economy, South America

The Department of Political Science at DePaul University invites applications for a full time, tenure-track position with primary expertise in the field of International Relations at the rank of Assistant Professor. Responsibilities will include teaching courses on International Relations, Political Economy, International Security and American Foreign Policy. The successful candidate will be expected to teach courses in the Honors program of the University. An ability to teach research methods or courses on Latin America will be viewed favorably.

With a total enrollment over 21,000 students, DePaul is one of the largest private non-profit universities in the nation. Yet class sizes are typically between 20 and 40 students, reflecting the value the university places on teaching excellence. Our programs provide high quality, personalized, accessible education to a diverse student body, grounded in the values of St. Vincent de Paul. Our teaching and research advance knowledge and service to society.

For more information, e-mail polisci@depaul.edu or visit the department's web site at <https://las.depaul.edu/academics/political-science/Pages/default.aspx>

Qualifications

A Ph.D. is preferred at the time of appointment, but ABD candidates will be considered.

DePaul University seeks applicants that reflect the diversity of its student body and the City of Chicago. Those with experience working with diverse faculty, staff, and students, and who can contribute to an inclusive climate are encouraged to apply. We urge candidates to provide examples of their successes in these areas. Women, members of historically underrepresented groups, and persons with disabilities are particularly encouraged to apply.

Application Instructions

Candidates should electronically submit the following: (1) a letter of application (cover letter), (2) a CV, (3) an unofficial transcript of the last degree (earned or in progress), (4) syllabi and (5) complete course evaluations if available. All candidates will also be asked to submit three letters of recommendation.

apply.interfolio.com/169318

The screening of applications will begin September 15, 2025 and continue until the position is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2026

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/17/2025

Salary: $70,000 - $79,999

eJobs ID: 15686

Syracuse University

Rank: Postdoctoral Scholar Data Ethics and Research Openness

Postdoctoral Scholar Data Ethics and Research Openness

Location: Syracuse, NY

Pay Range: $60,450 - $63,900

Pay Determination: Salary offers at Syracuse University will be based on education, experience, and relevant skills, as well as the academic or professional discipline of the position in the context of the home department, school, or college. Salary offers may also be influenced by prior relevant work or industry experience, where applicable. Faculty pay ranges are for 8.5 months' salary unless otherwise specified.

FLSA Status: Exempt

Hours: As determined by supervisor.

Job Type: Full Time

Rank: Post Doc

Campus:

Unionized Position Code: Not Applicable

Job Description:

The Qualitative Data Repository (QDR) at the Center for Qualitative and Multi-Method Inquiry (CQMI) invites applications for a postdoctoral position, "Postdoctoral Scholar in Data Ethics and Research Openness." QDR and CQMI are part of the Moynihan Institute of Global Affairs in the Maxwell School at Syracuse University. CQMI aims to enhance Maxwell's reputation as a leader in qualitative and multi-method research, advance transparency in research, and coordinate related activities both within Maxwell and across Syracuse University. QDR is a trusted repository dedicated to curating, preserving, and publishing data from qualitative and multi-method research. Funded by the National Science Foundation, private funders, and Syracuse University, QDR serves a range of disciplines in the social, behavioral, health, and education sciences. It is one of a few U.S. social science repositories certified by CoreTrustSeal. QDR's mission is to encourage researchers to share qualitative data, build infrastructure to support research openness, and promote institutional change to advance data sharing.

The Postdoctoral Scholar will be integral to QDR's activities, helping to organize and participate in workshops and events related to ongoing projects. This role offers the opportunity to present at professional venues, expand their professional network, and raise their profile. The scholar will also be involved in CQMI and QDR's fundraising efforts, gaining experience in grant proposal writing and submission. Additionally, the scholar will contribute to publications related to their work, enhancing their scholarly output. The position will also involve supporting QDR's sustainability initiatives, including data annotation, verification, and teaching with data.

QDR has a strong track record of mentoring junior scholars and is dedicated to helping the Postdoctoral Scholar advance to the next stage of their career. The scholar will be mentored by the Director and Associate Director of QDR.

Qualifications:

Applicants should have a Ph.D. in information science, a social science, or another relevant discipline in hand by the time of appointment, or verifiable plans for completing all requirements for the degree by the month in which they begin the position. They should also have some knowledge of and experience with data ethics, human participant protection, and/or the use of data in research transparency, reproducibility, and pedagogy.

Job Specific Qualifications:

- A strong background in information science and/or social science
- A strong interest in qualitative data and research methods, open science, and research evaluation
- A research program focused on data ethics, human participant protection, sensitive data, and/or the use of data in research transparency, reproducibility, and pedagogy
- Proven record of securing grants/funding for research
- Experience working productively as part of a diverse team in a fast-paced environment
- Excellent verbal and written communication skills
- The position may be hybrid eligible

Responsibilities:

- Engage in research on data ethics, human participant protection, sensitive data
- Engage in research on transparency, reproducibility, and verification
- Engage in research on teaching with data
- Develop proposals and securing grants funding for related research
- Contribute to developing research and strategic partnerships
- Contribute to publications drawing on research
- Engage in activities that support the general mission of QDR

Physical Requirements: N/A

Tools/Equipment: N/A

Application Instructions:

Applications should include a cover letter; a curriculum vitae; a research statement; a writing sample; and three letters of reference. Applications should be filed using the Syracuse University online system.

About Syracuse University:

Syracuse University is a private, international research university with distinctive academics, diversely unique offerings and an undeniable spirit. Located in the geographic heart of New York State, with a global footprint, and nearly 150 years of history, Syracuse University offers a quintessential college experience.

The scope of Syracuse University is a testament to its strengths: a pioneering history dating back to 1870; a choice of more than 200 majors and 100 minors offered through 13 schools and colleges; nearly 15,000 undergraduates and 5,000 graduate students; more than a quarter of a million alumni in 160 countries; and a student population from all 50 U.S. states and 123 countries. For more information, please visit www.syracuse.edu.

About the Syracuse area:

Syracuse is a medium-sized city situated in the geographic center of New York State approximately 250 miles northwest of New York City. The metro-area population totals approximately 500,000. The area offers a low cost of living and provides many social, cultural, and recreational options, including parks, museums, festivals, professional regional theater, and premier shopping venues. Syracuse and Central New York present a wide range of seasonal recreation and attractions ranging from water skiing and snow skiing, hiking in the Adirondacks, touring the historic sites, visiting wineries along the Finger Lakes, and biking on trails along the Erie Canal.

Application Deadline: 07/30/2025

To apply, visit <https://apptrkr.com/6275401>

Syracuse University is an equal-opportunity institution. The University prohibits discrimination and harassment based on race, color, creed, religion, sex, gender, national origin, citizenship, ethnicity, marital status, age, disability, sexual orientation, gender identity and gender expression, veteran status, or any other status protected by applicable law to the extent prohibited by law. This nondiscrimination policy covers admissions, employment, and access to and treatment in University programs, services, and activities.

Syracuse University has a long history of engaging veterans and the military-connected community through its educational programs, community outreach, and employment programs. After World War II, Syracuse University welcomed more than 10,000 returning veterans to our campus, and those veterans literally transformed Syracuse University into the national research institution it is today. The University's contemporary commitment to veterans builds on this historical legacy, and extends to both class-leading initiatives focused on making an SU degree accessible and affordable to the post-9/11 generation of veterans, and also programs designed to position Syracuse University as the employer of choice for military veterans, members of the Guard and Reserve, and military family members.

Copyright ©2025 Jobelephant.com Inc. All rights reserved.

<https://www.jobelephant.com/>

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 7/30/2025

Date Posted: 7/10/2025

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 15656

Loyola Marymount University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

The Department of Political Science and International Relations at Loyola Marymount University invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position in research methods and political psychology (with a focus on the U.S. context).

The successful candidate is expected to contribute at least two courses per year to the new Applied Data Analysis minor (i.e. the introductory undergraduate quantitative research methods course and another methods course). The standard teaching load is 2-2-2-3 over two academic years (that is, 2-2 one year and 2-3 the following year). A Ph.D. is required at the time of appointment.

We are seeking to hire a dedicated teacher and emerging scholar who will embrace the department's mission of helping students become informed, analytically reflective, and engaged global citizens. Successful candidates must demonstrate a commitment to working with diverse student and community populations. Our department welcomes antiracist and inclusive pedagogies, and/or curricula.

Candidates should submit application materials via the LMU Human Resources online application portal:

https://lmu.wd1.myworkdayjobs.com/en-US/Careers/job/Westchester-Campus/Assistant-Professor-Political-Science-and-International-Relations_R12100

Please be aware that the portal can only accept 5 attachments. Applicants must include: 1) a cover letter; 2) a curriculum vitae; 3) a research statement; 4) a statement of teaching philosophy and (if available) teaching evaluations; and 5) two writing samples. Three confidential letters of recommendation should be submitted directly to Luke Hart-Moynihan at luke.hart-moynihan@lmu.edu.

Only online applications will be accepted. Please direct questions to the Chair of the Department of Political Science and International Relations, Gabriele Magni, at Gabriele.magni@lmu.edu.

The deadline for applications is September 8, 2025.

Faculty Regular

Reasonable expected salary: $87,000.00

Loyola Marymount University, a Carnegie classified R2 institution in the mainstream of American Catholic higher education, seeks outstanding applicants who value its mission and share its commitment to inclusive excellence, the education of the whole person, and the building of a just society. LMU is an equal opportunity employer committed to providing an environment free from discrimination and harassment as defined by federal, state and local law. We invite all persons in the full diversity of their being, life experience, and beliefs to apply. (Visit www.lmu.edu for more information.)

Start Date: Fall 2026

Application Deadline: 9/8/2025

Date Posted: 7/7/2025

Salary: $80,000 - $89,999

eJobs ID: 15650

Princeton University

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Associate formal theory and international relations

Specializations: Conflict Processes, Environmental Policy, Political Economy

The Department of Politics at Princeton University seeks applicants for a postdoctoral research associate in the fields of formal theory and international relations. The term of appointment is for one year, with the possibility of renewal pending satisfactory performance and continued funding.

Interested applicants must apply online at <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/39021> and submit a CV, cover letter, writing sample, transcript, and the names and contact information of three references.

Unofficial transcripts are sufficient and may be uploaded with the application. Applicants who are unable to upload unofficial transcripts may send official transcripts to Politics Postdoc Search, Department of Politics, 001 Fisher Hall, Princeton University, Princeton, NJ 08540.

A PhD is required.

We will be reviewing applications as they are received. This position is subject to the University's background check policy. The work location for this position is in-person on campus at Princeton University.

Expected Salary Range: $65,000 - $73,000

The University considers factors such as (but not limited to) scope and responsibilities of the position, candidate's qualifications, work experience, education/training, key skills, market, collective bargaining agreements as applicable, and organizational considerations when extending an offer. The posted salary range represents the University's good faith and reasonable estimate for a full-time position; salaries for part-time positions are pro-rated accordingly.

The University also offers a comprehensive benefit program to eligible employees. Please see this link for more information.

Requisition No: D-25-POL-00018

Start Date:

Date Posted: 6/17/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15617

Sun Yat-sen University

Rank: Assistant Professor/Associate Professor/Professor in Political Science

The Department of Political Science at the School of Government, Sun Yat-sen University, China invites applications for tenure-track and tenured faculty positions at the ranks of Assistant Professor, Associate Professor, and Professor. We seek outstanding political scientists with expertise in comparative politics, political science methodology, or Chinese studies to join our vibrant academic community.

1. Position Details

1.1 Ranks: Assistant Professor (tenure-track), Associate Professor (tenure-track and tenured), Professor (tenured)

1.2 Fields of Interest: Comparative Politics, Political Science Methodology, Chinese Studies

2. Qualifications

2.1 A Ph.D. in Political Science or a closely related field is required.

2.2 Candidates must currently hold a post-doctoral position, an assistant professor position, or a higher academic rank.

2.3 A robust record of research and publication in one or more of the specified fields.

2.4 Demonstrated excellence in teaching at the undergraduate and/or graduate levels.

2.5 For Associate and Professor ranks, candidates must have an established research profile with a significant publication record and evidence of academic leadership.

3. Responsibilities

3.1 Conduct high-impact research and publish in leading academic journals.

3.2 Teach undergraduate and graduate courses in political science, tailored to expertise in comparative politics, methodology, or Chinese studies.

3.3 Supervise graduate students and contribute to the development of the department's academic programs.

3.4 Participate in departmental, university, and professional service activities.

4. Why Join Us?

4.1 Competitive Salary: We offer a decent, competitive salary commensurate with experience and qualifications, ensuring that our faculty are fairly compensated for their expertise and contributions.

4.2 Exceptional Organizational Culture: Our department fosters a very good, collegial, and collaborative atmosphere where faculty are encouraged to pursue their research interests, engage in interdisciplinary collaboration, and contribute to a thriving academic community. We prioritize professional growth and work-life balance.

4.3 Unique Opportunities: Faculty at Sun Yat-sen University benefit from opportunities for international collaboration, access to cutting-edge research facilities, and a dynamic academic environment that supports innovation and excellence.

5. Application Process

This is an ongoing recruitment, and applications are welcome at any time. There is no deadline for applications; applications are accepted on a rolling basis, and reviews and interviews will be conducted periodically. Candidates are encouraged to apply whenever they are ready, as the position remains open indefinitely. Interested candidates should submit the following materials:

- (1) A cover letter outlining research interests, teaching experience, and alignment with the department's priorities.
- (2) A current curriculum vitae.
- (3) A research statement detailing current and future research plans.
- (4) A teaching statement describing teaching philosophy and experience.
- (5) Two writing samples (e.g., published articles or manuscripts).
- (6) Contact information for three professional references.

Applications should be submitted electronically to: soghr@mail.sysu.edu.cn.

6. About Sun Yat-sen University

Located in Guangzhou, China, Sun Yat-sen University is a prestigious, top-tier research institution renowned for its commitment to academic excellence and innovation. The School of Government is a leader in political science and public administration, fostering a dynamic environment for research, teaching, and collaboration.

7. About Guangzhou

Guangzhou, a bustling metropolis in southern China, offers a rich blend of cultural heritage, economic vitality, and modern amenities. As a key academic and economic center, it provides an attractive setting for international scholars.

For more information about the department and university, visit <http://sog.sysu.edu.cn>.

Sun Yat-sen University is an equal opportunity employer and welcomes applications from all qualified individuals.

Start Date:

Date Posted: 6/17/2025

Salary: $70,000 - $79,999

eJobs ID: 15615

Waseda University

Rank: Tenure-track or tenured position in Political Science (open subfield).

Subfield(s): Open, Methodology, Comparative Politics

Faculty Recruitment Information in Political Science (open subfield)

The Faculty of Political Science and Economics (the "FPSE") at Waseda University in Tokyo, Japan invites applications for a tenure-track or tenured position in any of the following subfields of political science: Japanese Politics, Political Economy, Comparative Politics, International Relations, or Formal and Quantitative Methods. We seek candidates who advance theoretical and empirical research on important questions in their subfield. Candidates should have strong methodological training and be able to advise graduate students on both substantive and methodological issues. The start date can be as early as April 1, 2026 (see below).

Teaching responsibility:

The successful candidate will teach a course in the field of empirical political science, such as "Introduction to Political Analysis," "Quantitative Political Analysis," etc. and other related courses for the School of Political Science and Economics (Undergraduate Program) and the Graduate School of Political Science, as well as research seminars.

Scheduled start of employment:

April 1, 2026, or September 1, 2026 (or a mutually agreed later date)

For more details and instructions for application, please go to the website at

<https://www.waseda.jp/fpse/pse/news-en/2025/06/02/24138/>

Start Date: Spring 2026

Application Deadline: 9/2/2025

Date Posted: 6/3/2025

Salary: Any

eJobs ID: 15599

University of Southern California

Rank: Open Rank Tenure Track Faculty Position

The Department of Political Science and International Relations (POIR) in the Dana and David Dornsife College of Letters, Arts and Sciences at the University of Southern California (USC) in Los Angeles invites applications for a tenure-track or tenured position in American Politics as part of a major hiring initiative.

We seek candidates with a strong substantive research program in any domain of American politics, whose work advances theoretical and empirical research on important questions in their subfield.

Candidates are expected to have strong methodological training, and their methodological skills, ability to advise graduate students on methodological issues and teach graduate classes in the Department's core methods sequence will be a consideration. A strong commitment to undergraduate and graduate education is also expected.

The candidate must have completed a Ph.D. by the appointment date. Review of applications will start March 24, 2025 and will continue until the position is filled.

In order to be considered for this position, applicants are required to submit an electronic USC application; follow this job link or paste in a browser: <https://usccareers.usc.edu/job/los-angeles/open-rank-faculty-position-in-american-politics/1209/77699335312>. Required materials for upload include a CV, letter of interest, sample research paper(s), statement of research interests, evidence of teaching effectiveness, the names of three individuals who will be contacted by USC for a letter of reference, and official graduate transcripts. Send inquiries to poir@usc.edu. Materials submitted by regular mail will not be accepted.

The annual base salary range for this position is $100,510 - $281,400. When extending an offer of employment, the University of Southern California considers factors such as (but not limited to) the scope and responsibilities of the position, the candidate's work experience, education/training, key skills, internal peer equity, federal, state and local laws, contractual stipulations, grant funding, as well as external market and organizational considerations.

USC is an equal-opportunity educator and employer, proudly pluralistic and firmly committed to providing equal opportunity for outstanding persons of every race, gender, creed and background. The University particularly encourages women, members of underrepresented groups, veterans and individuals with disabilities to apply. USC will make reasonable accommodations for qualified individuals with known disabilities unless doing so would result in an undue hardship. Further information is available by contacting uschr@usc.edu.

USC will consider for employment all qualified applicants with criminal records in a manner consistent with applicable laws and regulations, including the Los Angeles County Fair Chance Ordinance for employers and the Fair Chance Initiative for Hiring Ordinance, and with due consideration for patient and student safety. Please refer to the Background Screening Policy Appendix D for specific employment screen implications for the position for which you are applying.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 3/11/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15504

Washington University in St. Louis

Rank: Weidenbaum Center Postdoctoral Fellowship

We are pleased to announce a new Postdoctoral Fellowship in Survey Research through the Weidenbaum Center. This fellowship allows new Ph.D.s and early career scholars the opportunity to contribute to cutting-edge research using high-quality survey data collected by the Weidenbaum Center. This fellowship is uniquely situated at the intersection of academic and public-facing scholarship, allowing the fellow to pursue a multitude of career paths, contribute to research that directly affects important issues in American politics, and increase visibility of their research.

The Weidenbaum Center at Washington University in St. Louis invites applications from recent Ph.D. graduates for a one-year postdoctoral fellowship. The fellowship will run for 12 months, starting on or around July 1, 2025, with the possibility of a one-year renewal.

The Weidenbaum Center has supported survey data collection efforts through The American Panel Survey (TAPS), The American Social Survey (TASS), and the Weidenbaum Center Survey (WCS). The Center's most recent efforts have focused on the launch of the WCS, which is fielded three times each year, includes a sample of 3,000 respondents (2,000 general US adult population and oversample of 1,000 African Americans), with each survey paired with voter file data and web-tracking data for a subset of respondents. For more information on survey work supported by the Center, please visit: <https://wc.wustl.edu/weidenbaum-center-survey-work>.

The Fellow will work collaboratively with Taylor Carlson, graduate student fellows, and other Weidenbaum Center affiliates to support the launch of the Weidenbaum Center Survey and other data collection efforts through the Center. The Fellow will assist with the launch of an online dashboard that allows people to analyze and download the survey data, write public-facing reports describing key findings from the data, draft survey instruments, create publicly available data repositories, and conduct both coauthored and independent academic research.

We are seeking an individual with social science research interests who will advance the Center's mission by engaging in collaborative and independent research and who will enjoy the opportunity to contribute to public scholarship (blog posts, reports, website graphics). We are especially interested in candidates with training in survey methodology and experience with public-facing scholarship (e.g., op-eds). Candidates should detail their experience in these areas in their cover letters and showcase any of these interests in the writing sample. We anticipate that the Fellow will spend most of their time working on Center-related and coauthored projects with Taylor Carlson and other Center affiliates.

Qualifications

We invite applications from qualified candidates who will have a PhD in hand by the time of the appointment, are no more than four years from the granting of their Ph.D. at the time of the submission, and who do not yet hold tenure-track academic positions.

Applications are evaluated against a broad set of criteria with special consideration given to contributions the candidate can make to academic diversity in our University community and more specifically to the study of survey methodology or addressing contemporary issues in American society with survey data.

Application Instructions

Proposal Submission Deadline: We will begin reviewing applications on February 7 and anticipate scheduling Zoom interviews as early as late February.

Proposal Format:

Applications should include the following:

- Cover letter
- Curriculum vitae
- Research statement not to exceed 2000 words describing the dissertation project and other research
- Writing sample
- Three letters of reference
- The cover letter should be addressed to Taylor Carlson

NOTE: Please apply through Interfolio: <https://apply.interfolio.com/161709>

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 1/15/2025
Salary: $60,000 - $69,999
eJobs ID: 15339

Universidad Torcuato Di Tella

Rank: Assistant Professor, Associate Professor

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Methodology

The Department of Political Science and International Studies at Universidad Torcuato Di Tella (UTDT) seeks candidates for two tenure-track assistant professor positions in Comparative Politics and International Relations, with an expected (but negotiable) start date of March 2025. Very strong candidates at the associate level will also be considered. We are open with respect to substantive subfield, theoretical orientation, and methodological approach. Regional expertise in regions other than Latin America (e.g., East, South, or Southeast Asia, Western or Eastern Europe, the Middle East or North America) is a plus, as is the ability to teach courses on research design, data science/statistics, and/or causal inference. Candidates are expected to demonstrate a strong commitment to research and to teaching and mentoring students. The teaching load is three courses per year. Most courses are taught in Spanish, although a growing number are offered in English. The position includes a research fund and a year's sabbatical (at full salary) every six years.

Duties will include teaching assigned courses in Comparative Politics and/or International Relations at both the undergraduate and graduate levels, conducting research, writing for publication in high-quality academic venues, advising students, participating in department governance, and university service.

Qualifications: Ph.D. in Political Science or related disciplines (ABD candidates will also be considered) and a demonstrated record of excellence in research and teaching. Proficiency in both Spanish and English is required. Questions should be directed to Professor Carlos Gervasoni, Chair of the Department of Political Science and International Studies, at cgervasoni@utdt.edu.

To apply please visit https://utdt.hiringroom.com/jobs/get_vacancy/665727a62994ec85980166a0, by August 30, 2024 (applications received after this date will continue to be reviewed until the positions are filled). The required documents include a cover letter, CV, a research statement, a teaching statement, a writing sample, and the names and email addresses of 3 references (letters of reference will be required of short-listed finalists).

Universidad Torcuato Di Tella is a private research university located in Buenos Aires, Argentina. Our Department is consistently ranked as one of the best in Latin America in terms of reputation and research excellence. Our guiding principles are academic excellence, pluralism of ideas and equal opportunity. UTDT is committed to creating a diverse community of students, faculty, and staff, following the principles of equal opportunity and treatment in education and employment, regardless of national origin, race, color, ethnicity, religion, political ideology, age, sex, sexual orientation, or gender identity. The university encourages applications of individuals from historically underrepresented groups who will further enrich the diversity of our educational community. We welcome applications from all nationalities. Approximately 25% of the Department's research professors are foreigners. For further information about Universidad Torcuato Di Tella and our department, please visit: <https://www.utdt.edu/>.

Start Date: Spring 2025
Application Deadline: 8/30/2024
Date Posted: 6/5/2024
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 14404

NON-ACADEMIC

OPEN

Wesleyan University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Government

Wesleyan University

Rank: Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): Open

Wesleyan University's Department of Government invites applicants for a tenure-track Assistant Professor of Government beginning July 1, 2026. The successful candidate should be a specialist in Global Justice, with training in any number of relevant subfields. Examples of potential research areas include human rights, international inequality, migration, global health, the environment, international law, or the erosion of democracy.

Candidates must have a Ph.D. in Political Science or related field in hand by the time of appointment to be hired as an Assistant Professor; a successful candidate may be hired as an Instructor if the candidate does not have a Ph.D. in hand at the time of appointment, but will complete the Ph.D. in Political Science within one year of hire.

The teaching load is 2/2, in person on Wesleyan's campus. Additional duties include advising and mentoring students, carrying on a program of research, and participating in faculty governance at the departmental and university levels. Applicants should be prepared to teach the introductory course in their subfield and other courses related to Global Justice.

With a strong and diverse undergraduate student body, Wesleyan is a highly selective liberal arts college that values both scholarship and teaching very highly and offers a generous sabbatical program and competitive salaries and benefits.

To apply, please go to <https://wesleyan.wd5.myworkdayjobs.com/careers>. A complete application includes (1) a cover letter of application, (2) a curriculum vitae, (3) an article-length writing sample (e.g., the first chapter of your dissertation), (4) a statement about your teaching philosophy and methods, teaching evaluation statistics or other evidence of teaching effectiveness (but please do not send copies of individual student evaluations), and sample syllabi if available (please combine these into a single pdf), and (5) graduate school transcripts.

In the cover letter, applicants should describe how they will embrace the University's commitment to fostering an inclusive community. You will also be asked to provide the email addresses of three referees from whom we may obtain confidential letters of recommendation.

Applications received by September 12, 2025, will receive full consideration. Please contact Ms. Susan Lundgren-Regan (slundgrenreg@wesleyan.edu).

wesleyan.edu), the Government Department administrative assistant, if you have questions about the application process.

Work Location: On Campus

All offers to external applicants are contingent on the candidate's completion of a pre-employment background check screening to the satisfaction of Wesleyan University.

Wesleyan University, located in Middletown, Connecticut, does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religious creed, age, gender, gender identity or expression, national origin, marital status, ancestry, present or past history of mental disorder, learning disability or physical disability, political belief, veteran status, sexual orientation, genetic information or non-position-related criminal record. We welcome applications from women and historically underrepresented minority groups. Inquiries regarding Title IX, Section 504 or any other non-discrimination policies should be directed to Vice President for Equity and Inclusion, Title IX and ADA/504 Coordinator.

Wesleyan University complies with the Clery Act and maintains records of campus crime statistics and security policies. Copies of Wesleyan University's Clery Act Report are available on request and online at <https://www.wesleyan.edu/publicsafety/clery.html>.

Experience is taken into consideration in the determination of salary offers. For more information visit <https://www.wesleyan.edu/hr/handbook/compensation-practices/index.html>

Wesleyan offers a broad range of employee benefits and development opportunities, including comprehensive group insurance plans, wellness programs and incentives, generous paid time off and retirement plans, flexible work schedules, employee and dependent tuition programs for those who qualify.

Detailed information on the benefits of working at Wesleyan is located at: <https://wesleyan.edu/hr/careers/prospective-resources.html>.

Start Date: Fall 2026

Application Deadline: 9/12/2025

Date Posted: 7/28/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15705

Princeton University

Rank: Laurance S. Rockefeller Visiting Faculty Fellow for AY 2026-27

The University Center for Human Values invites applications for Laurance S. Rockefeller Visiting Faculty Fellowships for the academic year 2026-27. Fellows devote an academic year in residence at Princeton to research and writing about topics involving human values in public and private life. This full-time visiting program is open to scholars in all disciplines across the humanities and social sciences. We welcome applications from scholars from a variety of disciplines.

Fellows are expected to reside in or around Princeton or demonstrate to the program's satisfaction the ability to commute to campus on a daily basis during the 12-week fall and spring semesters. Fellows pursue their own research and are active contributors to the intellectual life of the Center. This includes participating in a weekly seminar attended by fellows and Center faculty to discuss work in progress and in various other seminars, colloquia and lectures sponsored by the Center. Fellows enjoy access to Firestone Library and to a wide range of activities and facilities throughout the University.

Candidates must have a doctorate or equivalent professional degree and a strong record of research publications appropriate to their career stage. Typically, Fellows hold faculty positions at other universities or colleges; in exceptional cases we consider applications from independent scholars when there is a high level of scholarly achievement. This is not a postdoctoral fellowship program and we do not generally consider candidates who will have held the Ph.D. for less than two years at the time of appointment, or who are coming directly from a postdoctoral fellowship.

The fellowship extends from September 1 to June 1. Fellows receive a stipend paid in nine equal installments. Ordinarily, home institutions provide a portion of their salaries in addition to benefits, although this is not a requirement. Independent scholars are eligible to apply.

Main considerations in the evaluation of applications are the following:

*The significance of the proposed research and its relevance to the purposes of the University Center for Human Values (see <http://uchv.princeton.edu/>)

*The quality of a candidate's previous research and the contribution the candidate is likely to make in the future through their scholarship

*The likelihood that the research would benefit from being conducted in the University Center environment

How to apply

Candidates must submit an online application at <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/39121>.

Required materials:

1. A CV
2. One scholarly paper (no more than 12,000 words) written in the past three years
3. A statement (no more than 1,500 words) describing the proposed research project, including a brief working title for the project.
4. Contact information for three referees, including at least one referee who was not a graduate advisor (note that referees will be asked to send in their letters fairly quickly – by October 26, 2025 for best consideration).

Applicant materials must be submitted by the deadline: October 17, 2025, 11:59 p.m. EST. We aim to announce decisions by late March 2026.

The work location for this position is in-person on campus at Princeton University.

Expected Salary Range: $100,000

The University considers factors such as (but not limited to) scope and responsibilities of the position, candidate's qualifications, work experience, education/training, key skills, market, collective bargaining agreements as applicable, and organizational considerations when extending an offer. The posted salary range represents the University's good faith and reasonable estimate for a full-time position; salaries for part-time positions are pro-rated accordingly.

The University also offers a comprehensive benefit program to eligible employees. Please see this link for more information <https://hr.princeton.edu/thrive/health>.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 10/17/2025

Date Posted: 7/14/2025

Salary: $100,000 - $109,999
eJobs ID: 15663

Brigham Young University Rank: Political Science Faculty

Required Degree:

Ph.D. in political science or related field. The required degree must be completed by the start date.

Experience:

The department invites applications for a CFS-track position. The CFS-Professorial track position may be filled with visiting faculty. (Non-CFS-Professorial).

Duties/Expectations:

The appointment would begin in Fall 2026. Successful candidates will demonstrate potential for high-quality teaching, have a strong research agenda, and be committed to giving the university's students a sound academic experience. Salary, teaching load, and research and travel support are competitive.

Documents Required at the Time of Application:

To apply, go to <https://byu.wd1.myworkdayjobs.com/faculty-careers> and search for Job 4638. Please fill out the application, and attach your updated curriculum vitae, cover letter and Mission Alignment Statement. In addition, please send graduate transcript and at least two samples of scholarly work to: Jay Goodliffe, Chair, Department of Political Science, Brigham Young University, 745 KMBL, Provo, Utah 84602. Phone: 801-422-9136 Email: goodliffe@byu.edu

Mission Alignment Statement:

BYU is committed to hiring faculty members who enthusiastically embrace and energetically advance its unique mission. To this end, please include a one-page mission alignment statement as part of your application that addresses how you might, as a BYU faculty member: (1) live a life of loyalty to Jesus Christ and His restored Church and align yourself with doctrine and teachings declared by living prophets, seers, and revelators; (2) demonstrate intentionality in building faith in Jesus Christ and testimony of His restored gospel among students and others in the BYU community; and (3) teach your subject matter with the Spirit of God and strive to keep it "bathed in the light and color of the restored gospel" (Spencer W. Kimball).

Applicants who are not members of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints include a one-page mission alignment statement that describes understanding of and commitment to the Mission of Brigham Young University and the AIMS of a BYU Education.

Employment Requirements:

All new employees who are members of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints will be required to hold and be worthy to hold a current temple recommend.

All faculty are required to abide by the university's Honor Code and Dress & Grooming Standards. Preference is given to qualified candidates who are members in good standing of the affiliated church, The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints. Successful candidates are expected to support and contribute to the academic and religious missions of the university within the context of the principles and doctrine of the affiliated church.

Equal Opportunity:

Brigham Young University is an equal opportunity employer, including disability and protected veteran status.

United by our common primary identity as children of God, BYU values equal opportunity. We also value and embrace the variety of individual characteristics, life experiences and circumstances, perspectives, talents, and gifts of each member of the BYU community and the richness and strength they bring in helping create and support an environment of covenant belonging centered in Jesus Christ. Candidates with experience in and commitment to mentoring students from a variety of backgrounds are encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2026

Application Deadline: 9/1/2025

Date Posted: 7/11/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15659

SUNY, University at Buffalo

Rank: Assistant, Associate, Professor

The Department of AI and Society (AIS) at the University at Buffalo (UB) invites candidates to apply for multiple positions as Assistant Professor, Associate Professor, or Full Professor.

The new AIS department was created with the goal of creating AI systems that are designed to be built by society, for society. We seek to upend the dominant approach where AI systems are built with accuracy as the primary metric and then "fine tuned" for societal considerations. A successful candidate is expected to contribute to our initial attempts to make this vision a reality. To that end, we are looking for candidates who can operate effectively in a team environment with a diverse community of students and faculty, and who share and want to help shape our vision for a new department in the field of AI and Society.

Review of applications will begin immediately with start dates in Fall 2025 and beyond; applications will be considered until all positions are filled. (the posting can be found here: <https://www.ubjobs.buffalo.edu/postings/57734>)

The AIS department seeks to hire interdisciplinary scholars whose research agenda connects the study of AI with humanistic and/or social scientific line(s) of study and are open to hire scholars with training in a wide range of home disciplines, including (but not limited to) Social Work, History, Computer Science, Engineering, Public Health, Digital Media and Art, Education, Psychology, Sociology, Geography, Languages and Literatures, etc. We expect a successful applicant to be a transdisciplinary researcher who incorporates insights across AI and the arts, humanities and/or one or more of the social sciences.

We envision successful candidates might include scholars who:

Use methodologies, theories, and/or concepts from the arts, humanities and/or social sciences to develop new kinds of AI (e.g. new models or new uses of existing models informed by humanistic or social scientific theory);

Use AI to engage social science questions (e.g. computational social science) or humanistic lines of inquiry (e.g. digital humanities concerned with social change and justice);

Develop community-driven (e.g. participatory-design-based) AI solutions to address societal problems (e.g. HCI, Human Factors, and other design scholars specializing in community work);

Pursue critical work on AI through a social scientific or humanistic lens (e.g. critical algorithm studies or critical artistic work).

These lines of inquiry are by no means exhaustive, but reflect our belief as a department that 1) we cannot have AI systems that are built for society without undertaking meaningful analyses of the strengths and weaknesses of existing AI systems, 2) that AI can, if used effectively, be an important tool in the social sciences, humanities, and arts, and 3) that attempts to build "AI for social good" that do not involve impacted communities from the start of the design process are doomed to fail. Given that AIS is a new department, initially, all faculty members are expected to fully engage and participate in the building of a new department including but not limited to Developing a vision for the department that encompasses its role in enhancing training opportunities and engaging communities around issues related to AI and society,
Developing department policies and procedures,
Creating undergraduate and graduate programs, including developing and implementing new courses, in the department.

In the steady state, successful candidates will be expected to teach courses at the graduate and undergraduate levels, mentor graduate students, advise students at all levels, and maintain an active research program. The successful Associate Professor or Full Professor candidates should also have a record of scholarly accomplishments, teaching experience, and a record of sustained external funding through grants, fellowships, or foundations. We also expect any successful candidate to work with faculty and experts from multiple fields within the AIS department and/or the UB community in general.

About the Department

The Department of AI and Society (AIS) is the newest department at UB and reports to both School of Engineering and Applied Science (SEAS) as well as the College of Arts and Sciences (CAS). The department has been initially supported by New York State with the goal of being the epicenter of new foundational education and research at the intersection of AI and society.

The University at Buffalo (UB) is a flagship of the State University of New York (SUNY) system, a member of the prestigious American Association of Universities, is the largest and most comprehensive university in the SUNY system, with about 21,000 undergraduates, 11,000 graduate students, and 2500 full-time faculty. The College of Arts and Sciences is the home for the liberal arts at UB, with 30 departments, 16 academic programs, and 23 centers and institutes covering the full range of the Arts and Humanities, Social Sciences, the Natural Sciences, and Mathematics. The School of Engineering and Applied Sciences has about 8,000 students across 10 academic departments. Funding of $400M was recently announced to launch EmpireAI, located at UB and supporting the state-wide consortium. The prestigious NSF National AI Institute for Exceptional Education continues to innovate in the application of AI to address important problems across disciplines.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/8/2025

Salary: Any

eJobs ID: 15653

Princeton University

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Associate, PIIRS Postdoctoral Fellowship Program

Subfield(s): Open, International Relations, Comparative Politics

The Princeton Institute for International and Regional Studies (PIIRS) at Princeton University is pleased to announce the call for applications to the PIIRS Postdoctoral Fellowship Program for the 2026-27 academic year. As a leading global institution in interdisciplinary research on international issues, PIIRS is dedicated to advancing innovative scholarship that addresses the world's most pressing challenges. The PIIRS Postdoctoral Fellows Program is integral to that mission.

We will award two postdoctoral fellowships to our 2026-27 cohort. PIIRS seeks recent PhDs in the Social Sciences who have demonstrated exceptional scholarship, congruent with the Institute's intellectual focus, that simultaneously advances theoretical debates in their disciplinary field; creatively speaks to and engages with a multidisciplinary audience; and deepens substantive regional knowledge of specific places.

Appointments are for one year (12 months) with the possibility of renewal pending satisfactory performance and continued funding. Postdoctoral Research Associates (PDRAs) are expected to be in residence at Princeton or the local vicinity for the entire academic year or demonstrate to the program's satisfaction the ability to be on campus on a daily basis and on short notice in order to fulfill responsibilities relating to in-person participation. The position requires PDRAs to be on campus at least four days per week.

Leveraging Princeton's scholarly resources, fellows will focus on research, expand their intellectual horizons, and prepare work for publication. They will have biweekly meetings with the faculty director to share their work, and monthly meetings with faculty fellows from various social sciences to present their work and learn from others. Fellows are also encouraged to engage with colleagues and attend departmental seminars.

Applicants must demonstrate outstanding scholarly achievement and promise. To be eligible, applicants generally cannot have more than two years of postdoctoral experience prior to the start of the appointment, at the beginning of the academic year on September 1, 2026.

The postdoctoral selection will be made based on the strength of the candidates' scholarly record; the promise of the proposed research; and the ability to contribute to the intellectual life of the postdoctoral program (with interest in connecting with other PIIRS and Princeton departments on campus).

In addition to a competitive salary, benefits, and housing subsidy, the program will provide the Fellow with the opportunity to host a small, pre-publication, book workshop; and a research fund of $4,000 per year.

Applicants must apply online at <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/39141>. Applications are due by September 15, 2025 (11:59 p.m. EST). The following application items should be uploaded by the applicant:

- *Cover letter
- *Curriculum vitae
- *Transcripts
- *Research Proposal indicating plans for two-year postdoc (maximum 5 pages double-spaced)
- *Dissertation abstract (including Table of Contents)

*Writing sample: one chapter of the dissertation or one published article related to dissertation topic.

*Document confirming either that you have completed all requirements for the PhD degree or a letter signed by your dissertation advisor indicating that you will complete the PhD by the start date of the fellowship.

*The names and email addresses of three referees, who will be contacted automatically by the online application system with an invitation to upload their letter of recommendation to the system by the application deadline.

Further information can be found at <https://piirs.princeton.edu/funding-fellowships/piirs-postdoctoral-fellows>.

This position is subject to the University's background check policy. The work location for this position is in-person on campus at Princeton University.

Start Date: Fall 2026

Application Deadline: 9/15/2025

Date Posted: 7/7/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15652

Texas A&M University

Rank: Associate/Full Professor

The Department of Political Science, Bush School of Government & Public Service at Texas A&M University (<http://bush.tamu.edu/pols>) is recruiting 3 tenured full-time, nine-month positions which are open with respect to subfields. This search is for the rank of Associate Professor or Professor. Successful candidates will be expected to carry out a vigorous program of research and actively contribute to undergraduate and graduate teaching, and service to the profession. Strong research and teaching interests across traditional subfields of political science will be highly valued. All appointees are expected to be committed to teaching and research of the highest quality. The expected starting date for this position is August 1, 2026. The Bush School of Government and Public Service at Texas A&M University in College Station, Texas was founded in 1997 under President George H. W. Bush's philosophy that "public service is a noble calling." <https://bush.tamu.edu/>

Qualifications

This position requires a Ph.D. in political science or a related field.

Application Instructions

Applicants should submit the following materials electronically through Interfolio at apply.interfolio.com/169060 1) cover letter 2) curriculum vitae, 3) personal statement, (your statement should include your philosophy and plans for teaching, research and service), 4) provide contact information for five professional references. Salary is competitive and will be commensurate with qualifications and experience.

The review of applications will begin on September 15, 2025, and will continue until the positions are filled.

Equal Employment Opportunity Statement
Equal Opportunity/Veterans/Disability Employer.

Start Date: Fall 2026

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/20/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15623

Ashoka University

Rank: Visiting Faculty Positions in Political Science (2025-2026)

The Department of Political Science at Ashoka University invites applications for multiple Visiting Faculty positions (open rank) for the 2025-2026 academic year. We prefer candidates who can teach the entire academic year, but are open to candidate who are available for only either the Monsoon semester (25 August – 13 December 2025) or the Spring semester (19 January – 9 May 2026). Please indicate your availability in your cover letter.

Successful candidates are expected to have a strong teaching record and a competitive research profile. We prefer candidates with a completed PhD, but are willing to consider advanced PhD students with a strong teaching record as instructor of record. The successful applicant will have a 2/2 teaching load in addition to light administrative and advising duties. Instruction will be in-person.

While we look for candidates in any subfield of Political Science, at least one of the positions will be filled by a candidate who can teach quantitative and/or qualitative research methods. Applications will be considered on a rolling basis.

Please submit:

- A cover letter including teaching interests.
- Your curriculum vitae (CV).
- One writing sample.
- (Optional) A teaching statement.

Applications must be submitted by 15 July 2025 but are considered on a rolling basis. Any queries can be directed to hod.pol@ashoka.edu.in. Please submit your applications through Interfolio: <https://apply.interfolio.com/168894>

About Ashoka

Founded in 2014, Ashoka University is a rapidly growing private liberal arts university dedicated to providing students with an innovative interdisciplinary liberal arts education and an inclusive place to research, think deeply and critically, and express themselves creatively. The university currently offers 12 pure and 9 interdisciplinary majors as well as 17 minor programmes. It is also home to a number of interdisciplinary educational and research centres.

Ashoka is located in Sonapat, India, about 40 km (25 mi) North of New Delhi, India's vibrant capital city. Ashoka has near-campus faculty residence facilities and it is also accessible from Delhi via a regular shuttle that runs between campus and the Jahangirpuri metro station. The campus is home to over 3000 students from 28 states and Union Territories in India as well as 21 other countries. The student to faculty ratio is approximately 11:1.

The Department of Political Science has 10 permanent members with research interests which include but are not limited to Indian politics, comparative politics, peace and conflict studies, political economy, political theory, history of political thought, and legal theory. The Department has a major and minor and contributes to the Politics, Philosophy, and Economics major.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/11/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15608

Purdue University

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor in AI, Policy and Society

Subfield(s): Open, Public Policy, Public Administration

Job Title: Visiting Assistant Professor

Job Description:

Visiting Assistant Professor in Artificial Intelligence, Policy, and Society

Purdue's Political Science Department is seeking a visiting assistant professor for the 2025-2026 academic year to teach master's level core courses AI policy, governance, and social impacts in the university-wide Master of Science in Artificial Intelligence degree. The position begins in August 2025 and, with approval, may be held remotely from locations within the United States. The position may be renewable for an additional year, contingent on budget approval.

This person in this position will teach a four-course equivalency per semester of online master's level courses in areas related to AI governance, public policy, and social impacts of AI. This position also contributes to the administrative management of the core courses and assists with updating course material. Purdue offers a supportive environment with many opportunities for professional development.

Qualifications

Qualified candidates must hold a master's degree in political science, public policy, public administration, or a closely related field. Preferred: A PhD or at least three years of relevant job experience in addition to a masters degree. Candidates must have academic expertise and/or work experience related to one or more of the following areas: public policy, public administration, social and policy impacts of artificial intelligence, or use of AI tools in the workplace. Applicants should have evidence of successful post-secondary teaching experience.

The Department, College, and University

Purdue University is Indiana's public land-grant university and a world-class research and teaching institution. In 2023, for the sixth consecutive year, U.S. News & World Report has ranked Purdue among the top 10 Most Innovative Schools in the nation. Purdue is home to over 44,000 undergraduate students and 12,000 graduate students. Purdue is in West Lafayette/Lafayette community with an abundance of activities, high quality of life, and reasonable cost of living.

The Department of Political Science, home to 27 faculty and over thirty-five PhD students, offers BA, MA, and PhD degrees. We are a welcoming and supportive community for visiting faculty and post-docs, with regular opportunities for professional development through mentoring, workshops, research labs, and an active speaker series. The Department is part of the College of Liberal Arts, a leader in developing innovative programs such as the nationally recognized Cornerstone Integrated Liberal Arts program, which challenges students to become independent thinkers, preparing them to become bold, visionary leaders.

Applications

Application materials must be submitted electronically via <https://careers.purdue.edu/> with job id #37523.

Candidates should submit 1) a cover letter that describes their qualifications for the position, 2) a CV, and 3) a brief teaching portfolio with evidence of post-secondary teaching experience. Candidates who advance in the process will be required to submit additional materials including names of references and transcripts. A background check is required for employment in this position.

Review of applications will begin July 6, 2025, and continue until the position is filled. Questions should be addressed to Department Head Cherie Maestas at cmestas@purdue.edu.

The anticipated salary range is $55,000 – $57,000 for the academic year.

Candidates must have the ability to work in the US without immigration sponsorship from Purdue University.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/6/2025

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 15604

Waseda University

Rank: Tenure-track or tenured position in Political Science (open subfield).

Subfield(s): Open, Methodology, Comparative Politics

Faculty Recruitment Information in Political Science (open subfield)

The Faculty of Political Science and Economics (the "FPSE") at Waseda University in Tokyo, Japan invites applications for a tenure-track or tenured position in any of the following subfields of political science: Japanese Politics, Political Economy, Comparative Politics, International Relations, or Formal and Quantitative Methods. We seek candidates who advance theoretical and empirical research on important questions in their subfield. Candidates should have strong methodological training and be able to advise graduate students on both substantive and methodological issues. The start date can be as early as April 1, 2026 (see below).

Teaching responsibility:

The successful candidate will teach a course in the field of empirical political science, such as "Introduction to Political Analysis," "Quantitative Political Analysis," etc. and other related courses for the School of Political Science and Economics (Undergraduate Program) and the Graduate School of Political Science, as well as research seminars.

Scheduled start of employment:

April 1, 2026, or September 1, 2026 (or a mutually agreed later date)

For more details and instructions for application, please go to the website at

<https://www.waseda.jp/fpse/pse/news-en/2025/06/02/24138/>

Start Date: Spring 2026

Application Deadline: 9/2/2025

Date Posted: 6/3/2025

Salary: Any

eJobs ID: 15599

Washington University in St. Louis

Rank: WASHINGTON UNIVERSITY IN ST. LOUIS—Professor
- Ordered Liberty Project

Washington University invites applications for multiple endowed professorships from tenured faculty whose research and teaching engage with the principles of classical liberalism, including the rule of law, free markets, regulatory reform, and government accountability. We seek scholars with a strong record of rigorous research, employing advanced doctrinal or empirical methods to explore fundamental questions related to democratic governance, private ordering, individual liberties, economic regulation, and the institutional foundations of a free society. This search is open to tenured scholars across disciplines, including but not limited to law, economics, political science, sociology, philosophy, and business. Appointments will be made at the rank of Full Professor and begin as early as the spring semester of 2026.

Qualifications

For a law appointment, a JD (or the equivalent international credential), JSD, or Ph.D. is required at the time of appointment. For an appointment outside of law, a Ph.D. in a relevant field is required at the time of appointment. Duties will include teaching assigned courses, conducting research, writing for publication, advising students, participating in department governance, and university service.

Application Instructions

Application materials should include a cover letter that addresses how their research and teaching align with the goals of the search and indicates the department they would most like to join. Applications should also include a CV and a list of references. Materials should be submitted via Interfolio.

Consideration of applications will begin May 1 and will be considered on a rolling basis.

Please apply via Interfolio: <https://apply.interfolio.com/166960>

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 5/15/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15582

National University of Singapore

Rank: Assistant Professor in Political Science

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Open

Assistant Professor in Political Science

The Department of Political Science at the National University of Singapore invites application for one full-time tenure-track position in Political Science at the rank of Assistant Professor. We welcome applications from candidates working in all subfields, including but not limited to international relations (including non-traditional security and human security), international political economy, gender politics, global studies, and governance and public policy. We also encourage applications from candidates with research experience relating to Asia and whose backgrounds are traditionally underrepresented in the discipline.

The teaching load is three courses per academic year. Compensation is competitive and includes eligibility for annual performance bonus and salary increment, subsidized housing, medical benefits, and substantial research support. Successful candidates are expected to teach graduate and undergraduate classes and take a leading role in developing new departmental initiatives. Candidates with publications in top outlets who conduct innovative and impactful research using, eg, computational methods, may also be invited to apply for the Presidential Young Professorship. <https://www.nus.edu.sg/careers/nus-programmes/>

The Department of Political Science (<http://www.fas.nus.edu.sg/pol/>) includes scholars working in all areas of political science, as well as an interdisciplinary Global Studies programme examining the processes and effects of globalisation across political, economic, social, and cultural domains (<https://fass.nus.edu.sg/globalstudies>). Faculty and students can take advantage of resources in the Asia Research Institute, the Lee Kuan Yew School of Public Policy, and various research institutes including the Asia-Europe Foundation, the Institute of South Asian Studies, the East Asia Institute, and the Yusof Ishak Institute—Institute of Southeast Asian Studies among others. NUS (<http://www.nus.edu.sg/>) is a global leader in research and higher education. Singapore is a highly livable global city that is a major regional and international travel hub.

Interested applicants are invited to apply directly at our NUS Career Portal: https://careers.nus.edu.sg/job/Assistant-Professor-in-Political-Science/28742-en_GB/.

Applicants should submit the following documents:

1. Cover letter clearly detailing their research and teaching interests.
2. Curriculum vitae.
3. Three letters of reference. Please send all letters directly to pol-ir@nus.edu.sg.
4. A research statement of no more than 2 pages stating your research interests and research plans for the next 3 years.
5. A teaching statement of no more than 2 pages, as well as sample syllabi, teaching evaluations, and/or other evidence of teaching quality.
6. Up to three writing samples

For full consideration, please submit your materials to this website by 1 July 2025. Applications received after this date may still be considered until the position is filled.

For any queries, please write to: pol-ir@nus.edu.sg.

Please note that only short-listed candidates will be notified.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 5/13/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15580

Yale University

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Associate

Position Description

Professor Hélène Landemore seeks a postdoctoral research associate for a one-year, full-time appointment beginning July 1, 2025. Professor Landemore seeks someone capable of helping her conduct research on the ethics and politics of Artificial Intelligence. The research associate will work on various editorial projects (books, articles, edited volumes) and help professor Landemore organize conferences and workshops. Job responsibilities will be tailored to the strengths of the successful applicant.

Qualifications

A background in political theory/philosophy is preferred; additional background in computer science, engineering, or economics would be a plus. Excellent organizational skills and editorial experience are essential. Project management experience is a plus. PhD or equivalent degree at time of hire is required. Salary is negotiable.

Application Instructions

Applications should include the following:

- A cover letter indicating your interest in the Post-doctoral Fellowship
- CV
- One scholarly writing sample (in English)
- PhD program transcript
- Two letters of recommendation (uploaded by letter writers in interfolio)
- The review process will begin April 1, 2025.

<http://apply.interfolio.com/164436>

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 3/8/2026

Date Posted: 3/8/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15497

University of Rochester

Rank: Political Science, Philosophy, and Economics Instructional Track

Political Science, Philosophy, and Economics

The University of Rochester's Department of Political Science invites applications from candidates for a full-time, instructional-track position that is open with regard to rank, starting July 1, 2025. The initial appointment is for one year with subsequent reappointment on a four-year cycle, conditional on a successful first year. The position involves a mix of teaching and administrative responsibilities, which will contribute broadly to undergraduate training in political science, and will support our major in Politics, Philosophy, and Economics (PPE).

We seek candidates who can contribute to teaching in a selection of the following areas: political philosophy, constitutional law, environmental policy, public economics, and race and ethnic politics. Qualified candidates must be able to teach two required courses for the PPE major: a 4-credit seminar course (Politics, Philosophy, and Economics: How to Change the World), and a 2-credit student-paper presentation seminar. Teaching responsibilities will be four 4-credit courses and the one 2-credit course, for a total of 4.5 courses, each academic year.

Administrative duties consist of being part of our advising team (including major declarations and degree audits for majors run by the department), with special responsibility for the PPE major. The administrative duties will be the equivalent of 1.5 courses over the academic year.

The position is open to candidates from diverse intellectual backgrounds, including economics, law, philosophy, political science, and public policy.

Salary: $70,000-$80,000. The referenced pay range represents the full base range of pay for this job. Individual salaries will be determined within the job's salary range and established based on market data, experience and expertise of the individual, and internal equity considerations.

All applications should include a letter of interest, curriculum vitae, teaching statement, three letters of recommendation, and sample syllabi (if available). Candidates without a prior academic appointment should include a graduate transcript.

The University of Rochester is firmly committed to advancing equity and fostering an inclusive and diverse community. We ask candidates to include a statement discussing the ways in which their experiences will shape their pursuits as a member of our faculty and help them add to the University's core values of Meliora (ever better).

Materials should be submitted online at: www.rochester.edu/faculty-recruiting. For more information on the University of Rochester Political Science Department, go to: <http://www.sas.rochester.edu/psc/>. We will begin reviewing applications in March 2025.

The University of Rochester is an Equal Opportunity Employer with a strong commitment to diversity, and actively encourages applications from candidates from groups underrepresented in higher education.

EOE / Minorities / Females / Protected Veterans / Disabled

Start Date: 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 2/17/2025

Salary: $70,000 - $79,999

eJobs ID: 15435

University of South Carolina

Rank: Professional Track Instructor

The Department of Political Science at the University of South Carolina seeks applications for a full-time instructor position to begin August 16, 2025. Area of specialization is open, but the successful candidate will be able to teach Introduction to Global Politics, Introduction to Politics, and/or American National Government, as well as other classes in their field of interest. The position is a 9-month appointment with a teaching load of 8 courses for the academic year (4 each semester). This is an annual appointment that may be renewed, contingent upon satisfactory performance, departmental needs, and the availability of funding. The university provides opportunities for promotion to higher professional track ranks for eligible instructors. A Ph.D. in political science is required by the start date of appointment.

From the Upstate to the Lowcountry, the University of South Carolina system is transforming the lives of South Carolinians through the impact of our eight institutions and 20 locations throughout the state. More than 50,000 students are enrolled at one of eight institutions, including the research campus in Columbia and comprehensive four-year universities in Aiken, Upstate and Beaufort. In addition, our Palmetto College campuses in Salkehatchie, Union, Lancaster, and Sumter enable students to earn associate or bachelor's degrees through a combination of in-person, online or blended learning. All of our system institutions place strong emphasis on service — helping to build healthier, more educated communities in South Carolina and beyond.

At the University of South Carolina, we strive to cultivate an inclusive environment that is open, welcoming, and supportive of individuals of all backgrounds. We recognize diversity in our workforce is essential to providing academic excellence and critical to our sustainability. The University is committed to eliminating barriers created by institutional discrimination through accountability and continuous process improvement. We celebrate the diverse voices, perspectives, and experiences of our employees.

The University of South Carolina is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Institution. Women, minorities, protected veterans, and individuals with disabilities are encouraged to apply. The University of South Carolina does not discriminate in educational or employment opportunities or decisions for qualified persons on the basis of age, ancestry, citizenship status, color, disability, ethnicity, familial status, gender (including transgender), gender identity or expression, genetic information, HIV/AIDS status, military status, national origin, pregnancy (false pregnancy, termination of pregnancy, childbirth, recovery therefrom or related medical conditions, breastfeeding), race, religion (including religious dress and grooming practices), sex, sexual orientation, veteran status, or any other bases under federal, state, local law, or regulations.

How to Apply

Applicants must submit a cover letter; curriculum vitae; teaching statement; graduate transcript; and contact information (including telephone number and email address) for three references. References will be contacted directly for letters of recommendation (which must be submitted on appropriate letterhead). Review of applications will begin on March 17th 2025, and the position will remain open until filled. All applicants must fill out an online application at USC Jobs: <https://uscjobs.sc.edu> (see here for direct link: <https://uscjobs.sc.edu/postings/183076>)

Please contact the search committee chair, Dr. Neal Woods (woods@n@mailbox.sc.edu) with any questions. Information regarding the Department of Political Science can be found at the department's website: <http://artsandsciences.sc.edu/poli/welcome>.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 2/14/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15431

Western Carolina University

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor - American Government & Politics

The Department of Political Science and Public Affairs at Western Carolina University is searching for a visiting assistant professor with a specialization in American politics (subfield open) to join our growing and accomplished faculty.

This is a fixed-term nine-month position with the potential for summer teaching. The anticipated start date is August 2025. The successful candidate will contribute to the Political Science program by teaching six courses per academic year on our Cullowhee, NC campus, including sections of our "Introduction to American Government" course, a core course for our Political Science major and a key component in the University's general education program. Upper-level courses within the candidate's specialization may also be part of the teaching load.

Minimum qualifications include candidates that are advanced ABD with a minimum of 18 graduate credit hours in Political Science from an accredited university.

Preferred qualifications include a PhD in Political Science from an accredited institution, prior teaching experience at the university level, and a promising research agenda in American government or politics.

Candidates will apply online: <https://jobs.wcu.edu/postings/29969>

The search committee will begin reviewing applications on or about March 5, 2025.

Start Date: Fall

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 2/7/2025

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 15406

Yale University

Rank: Postdoctoral Associate

The Program on Ethics, Politics, and Economics sponsors interdisciplinary teaching and research in the Social Sciences and Humanities at Yale. The program offers two postdoctoral positions to support outstanding scholars starting their academic careers. We seek scholars whose work spans disciplinary boundaries and integrates empirical, analytical, and normative concerns to shed light on substantial social problems.

We welcome applications from new PhDs in political science, economics, philosophy, business, and related social sciences working on furthering our understanding of complex social realities from an interdisciplinary perspective. This year, we are particularly interested in supporting scholars who are examining political economy problems.

The positions allow new PhD's to develop a strong research program in a stimulating collegial environment alongside faculty across the social sciences and humanities at Yale University. In addition to conducting their research, postdocs are expected to teach one interdisciplinary undergraduate seminar, be available to meet undergraduate students of the EP&E major, and assist with advising majors on their senior essays.

Positions are for one year, renewable to two, at a salary of $70,000 with Yale health benefits. Applicants should have completed PhD requirements by September 2025.

Applications should include the following:

- A cover letter indicating your interest in the Post-doctoral Fellowship
- CV
- Job Market Paper or at least one scholarly writing sample (in English)
- PhD program transcript
- A preliminary syllabus for an interdisciplinary undergraduate course that integrates material from at least two of the following: Political Science, Economics, and Ethics.
- Two letters of recommendation (uploaded by letter writers in interfolio) Please submit application materials electronically to Interfolio at <http://apply.interfolio.com/160735>. The review process will begin January 5, 2025. We will continue to accept applications until the position has been filled. Please direct inquiries to Ana De La O, Director of Ethics, Politics, and Economics, ana.delao@yale.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 12/12/2025

Date Posted: 12/12/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15282

Fudan University

Rank: Distinguished Professors/Associate Professor/Senior Lecturer

Areas Expertise: Open for all candidates who have expertise in computational political science, computational social sciences, AI for social research with strong publication records.

Job Summary: Fudan Institute for Advanced Study in Social Sciences (Fudan IAS) is seeking applicants for the full-time positions at the top rank of Distinguished Professors/Associate Professor/Senior Lecturer at Fudan University, Shanghai. The position is Open for all candidates who have expertise in computational political science, computational social sciences, AI for social research with strong publication records. The position is open till filled, and the employment starts at any time. The disciplines are open for political Science, economics, and sociology. Applicants should demonstrate strong publication records and their potentials to continue their scholarship during their tenure, and employ rigorous research methods, either quantitative or qualitative, to address important theoretical questions in the fields, and well recognized as leading scholars in the fields of their research. Applicants are expected to continue publishing research on highly reputable international journals (SSCI, AHCI, SCI, and CSSCI), and contribute to the annual research projects at Fudan IAS and to the disciplinary development at Fudan University. Applicants must have the ability to communicate fluently both in English and in Mandarin Chinese.

Institution background: Fudan University is an internationally recognized influential academic institution, one of China's top universities, ranking 3rd in the country and 43rd in QS World University Ranking. Fudan IAS is a comprehensive and cross-disciplinary research institute, with 10 full time research fellows at different academic ranks from junior to distinguished professorship. The institute is an important platform for interdisciplinary integration in the social sciences, recruiting outstanding research fellows, hosting visits of world-renowned scholars, and engaging in international scholarly exchange. The Contemporary China Research Center at Fudan University is created by and housed at the Fudan IAS. The two international journals, Fudan Journal of the Humanities and Social Sciences and Chinese Political Science Review's editorial offices are housed at the Fudan IAS and published by the prestigious Springer-Nature Press.

Application documents (all in English):

1. A cover letter;
2. A brief statement of research interest and agenda;
3. Two published journal articles in PDF;
4. An extensive/detailed curriculum vitae; including honors and awards in disciplines, list of publications, information of three references. Letters of recommendation may be requested.

We will arrange on-site interviews at Fudan IAS or other forms of interviews such as Skype and Zoom.

Contact: Please put the intended rank/position in the subject line of email, and send your application documents to the hiring committee at ias_fudan@126.com

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/23/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 14923

Fudan University

Rank: Post-doctoral fellows

Subfield: Political Science, Economics, Sociology

Job Summary: Fudan Institute for Advanced Study in Social Sciences (Fudan IAS) is seeking applicants for the full-time "Post-doc fellows" at Fudan University, Shanghai. The position is open for all candidates who have expertise in computational political science, computational social sciences, AI for social research with strong publication records. The position is open till filled, and the employment starts at any time. The disciplines are open for political Science, economics, and sociology. Applicants should demonstrate strong potentials to publish their research on highly reputable international journals (SSCI, AHCI, SCI, and CSSCI). They should employ rigorous research methods, either quantitative or qualitative, to address important theoretical questions in the field. Applicants must have the ability to communicate fluently both in English and in Mandarin Chinese.

Institution background: Fudan University is an internationally recognized influential academic institution, one of China's top universities, ranking 3rd in the country and 43rd in QS World University Ranking. Fudan IAS is a comprehensive and cross-disciplinary research institute, with 10 full time research fellows at different academic ranks from junior to distinguished professorship. The institute is an important platform for interdisciplinary integration in the social sciences, recruiting outstanding research fellows, hosting visits of world-renowned scholars, and engaging in international scholarly exchange. The Contemporary China Research Center at Fudan University is created by and housed at the Fudan IAS. The two international journals, Fudan Journal of the Humanities and Social Sciences and Chinese Political Science Review's editorial offices are housed at the Fudan IAS and published by the prestigious Springer-Nature Press. The journals are both included in the Emerging Sources Citation Index (ESCI), a new index in the Web of Science Core Collection of Clarivate Analytics (formerly Thomson Reuter).

Application documents (all in English):

1. A cover letter;
2. An extensive curriculum vitae; including a publication list and information of three references.
3. A statement of research interest and agenda;
4. 1-2 published articles/writing samples;

We will arrange on-site interviews at Fudan IAS or other forms of interviews such as Skype and Zoom.

Contact: Please put the intended position in the subject line of email, and send your application documents to the hiring committee at ias_fudan@126.com

Start Date: Spring
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/23/2024
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 14924

OTHER

Bates College

Rank: Assistant Professor of Politics

The Politics Department at Bates College invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track position in Political Economy, to begin July 2026. We seek an outstanding scholar with strong commitments to excellent undergraduate teaching and mentorship in a liberal arts context. The successful candidate will have demonstrated excellence in either international political economy or comparative political economy. We encourage applications from candidates whose areas of expertise include emerging economies, democracy and capitalism, and the effects of regime types on economic development. We are open to a variety of theoretical and methodological approaches. Candidates should have received or successfully defended a Ph.D. in Political Science or related field by July 1, 2026.

The position carries a standard five-course annual teaching load. The duties of the position include the three main areas of faculty work: teaching, research, and service to the profession and the college. The standards of excellence for faculty at Bates are articulated in Article II of the faculty handbook, and include a commitment to inclusive and evidence-based pedagogy, impactful professional work, and contributions to the broader Bates community. We are interested in applicants who will add to the current perspectives in the department, contribute to the college's ongoing commitment to social and cultural inclusion, connect with other disciplinary and interdisciplinary work at the College, and be attentive to the design of inclusive pedagogy. The successful applicant will offer courses in quantitative methods and in introductory and advanced political economy each year, contribute to the general education curriculum, provide academic advising, and mentor student theses. We also expect the candidate to take part in our system of shared governance.

Review of applications will begin on September 19, 2025. Applications should include a cover letter and a curriculum vitae. A teaching statement that describes how the applicant meets Bates' standards of excellence in terms of inclusive and evidence-based pedagogy, and a research plan that speaks to the current and future promise of a candidate's professional work, are required.

Given the wide range of backgrounds of Bates students, we seek candidates who are committed to each student's success. As part of the submitted statements, we ask that candidates share plans for helping all students succeed, and share evidence of relevant preparation or experience. This can be either in a separate, additional document or integrated into the teaching and research statements. We encourage applications from individuals from historically marginalized groups and from those who may have followed non-traditional pathways to higher education due to societal, economic, or academic circumstances. The search committee will request letters of recommendation from three referees for short-listed candidates. Employment is contingent upon successful completion of a background check and verification of degree.

Bates College is a residential liberal arts college in Lewiston, Maine—a diverse and growing community roughly 45 minutes from the state's largest city (Portland), 2 ½ hours north of Boston, and 4 ½ hours south of Montreal. Faculty scholarship and creative work at Bates are robustly supported by start-up packages, internal grants, and a well-staffed external grants office. Community-engaged learning and study abroad are both broadly encouraged and supported; pedagogical development and innovation is further buttressed by the Center for Inclusive Teaching and Learning.

Educational access and racial justice are central to Bates' history and mission and our faculty-led initiatives reflect this commitment.

APPLY HERE: <https://apply.interfolio.com/171240>

Start Date: Fall 2026
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 7/30/2025
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 15715

Columbia University

Rank: Post-Doctoral Fellow

Subfield(s): International Relations, American Government and Politics, Other

Specializations: China, International Security, International Political Economy

China and the World Program (C&WP)

Professors Thomas J. Christensen of Columbia University's School of International and Public Affairs and Alastair Iain Johnston of Harvard University's Government Department jointly founded the China and the World fellowship program for the advanced study of China's international relations in 2005. As part of Professor Christensen's recent move to Columbia University, the Program was renamed the Columbia-Harvard China and the World Program (C&WP) in 2018. The China and the World Program supports research that integrates theoretical innovations in the field of international relations with the rigorous study of China's interactions with countries, regions, institutions, and non-state actors.

For academic year 2026-2027, C&WP plans to award 2 postdoctoral research fellowships. Both fellows will be in residence at Columbia University and will teach one course in the Fall or Spring semester. When not attending to program or teaching-related duties, fellows' time should be devoted to their own research, and to participating actively in the life of C&WP, the Weatherhead East Asian Institute (WEAI), the Saltzman Institute of War and Peace Studies, etc. Fellows also will be expected to make at least one public presentation during their appointment and participate in the annual C&WP workshop where an entire day is devoted entirely to the examination of the fellows' research by former fellows of the program. Preference will be given to applicants who are currently working on revising their Ph.D. thesis for publication as a book, or who are just beginning a second major research project.

The appointment is for the 2026-2027 year, beginning September 1, 2026, ending June 30, 2027. The position comes with shared office space and access to the libraries and resources of Columbia University, access to all of which is COVID permitting.

Qualifications

Applicants must have completed all Ph.D. requirements (dissertation completed and filed) between May 1, 2021 and August 31, 2026.

Applications from individuals who hold or have held full-time teaching appointments will not be considered.

Only applicants working on some aspect of China's relations with the outside world that supports CWP's and WEAI's missions need apply.

Application Process

To apply, submit application materials to sipacwp {att} columbia.edu. Please note that applicants are required to send all files in one email or to upload them to a cloud based application and send the URL via email for full consideration. Faxed or mailed applications will not be considered.

1-2 page cover letter that briefly states your interest in the program, your background, and a summary of your research project
Updated Curriculum Vitae, including a list of classes taught (if any)

Project description

Two scholarly writing samples

One course proposal with syllabus for a seminar directed at M.A. students and advanced undergraduates

Course evaluations for classes taught (if any)

Unofficial transcripts from all graduate-level degrees

Two letters of reference. Please note: Applicants should submit only the name and contact information of their referees. Referees should submit their letter directly to sipacwp {att} columbia.edu.

Application Deadline

All application materials, including letters of reference, must be received by December 20, 2025, 11:59 p.m. EST in the United States. Candidates may be invited for an interview to be held by video, phone, or in-person. All evaluations made in connection with applications received are confidential.

Successful applicants will be notified of the outcome of their applications in February or March of 2026; a public announcement will be made by April 2026.

For more information about the Columbia-Harvard China and the World Program, the Weatherhead East Asian Institute, or the the Saltzman Institute of War and Peace Studies please visit www.CWP.SIPA.Columbia.edu, www.weai.columbia.edu, and <http://www.siws.org/> respectively.

This search is subject to all rules and regulations of Columbia University. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to age, race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, pregnancy and pregnancy-related conditions, or any other characteristic protected by law.

As the COVID-19 Pandemic is an evolving concern around the world, these expectations guidelines are subject to change. Thank you for your patience during this challenging time.

Start Date: Fall 2026

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/30/2025

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 15316

University of Toronto

Rank: Assistant Professor - Canadian Politics

The Department of Political Science in the Faculty of Arts and Science at the University of Toronto invites applications for a full-time tenure stream position in the area of Canadian Politics. The appointment will be at the rank of Assistant Professor, with an anticipated start date of July 1, 2026.

Candidates must have earned a PhD degree in Political Science or a related discipline by the time of appointment, or shortly thereafter, with a demonstrated record of excellence in research and teaching. We seek candidates whose teaching and research will contribute to the theoretical and empirical understanding of Canadian politics, with a focus on Canadian institutions, governance or public policy.

We seek candidates whose research and teaching interests complement and deepen our existing departmental strengths. The successful candidate will undertake undergraduate and graduate teaching responsibilities on the University of Toronto's downtown (St. George) campus. Candidates are encouraged to review the research and teaching profiles of current faculty members. Please visit our home page (Department of Political Science <https://politics.utoronto.ca>) to learn more about us. The successful candidate will be expected to pursue innovative and independent research at the highest international level and to establish an outstanding, competitive, and externally funded research program.

Candidates must provide evidence of research excellence which can be demonstrated by a record of publications in top-ranked and field relevant journals or forthcoming publications meeting high international standards, presentations at significant conferences, the submitted research statement, awards and accolades, and strong endorsements from referees of high standing.

Evidence of excellence in teaching will be provided through teaching accomplishments, a teaching dossier (with required materials outlined below) submitted as part of the application, as well as strong letters of reference.

Salary will be commensurate with qualifications and experience.

All qualified candidates are invited to apply online by clicking the link below. Applicants must submit a cover letter; a current curriculum vitae; a research statement outlining current and future research interests; a recent writing sample of no more than 30 pages; and a teaching dossier including a teaching statement, sample course materials, and teaching evaluations.

Equity, diversity and inclusion are essential to academic excellence as articulated in University of Toronto's Statement on Equity, Diversity, and Excellence. We seek candidates who share these values and who demonstrate throughout the application materials their commitment and efforts to advance equity, diversity, inclusion, and the promotion of a respectful and collegial learning and working environment.

Applicants must provide the name and contact information of three references. The University of Toronto's recruiting tool will automatically solicit and collect letters of reference from each referee within 48 hours after an application is submitted. Applicants remain responsible for ensuring that references submit letters (on letterhead, dated and signed) by the closing date. More details on the automatic reference letter collection, including timelines, are available in the candidate FAQ.

Submission guidelines can be found at <http://uoft.me/how-to-apply>. Your CV and cover letter should be uploaded into the dedicated fields. Please combine additional application materials into one or two files in PDF/MS Word format. If you have any questions about this position, please contact Sari Sherman at chair.polisci@utoronto.ca.

All application materials, including recent reference letters, must be received by October 14, 2025.

All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply; however, Canadians and permanent residents will be given priority.

Diversity Statement

The University of Toronto embraces Diversity and is building a culture of belonging that increases our capacity to effectively address and serve the interests of our global community. We strongly encourage applications from Indigenous Peoples, Black and racialized persons, women, persons with disabilities, and people of diverse sexual and gender identities. We value applicants who have demonstrated a commitment to equity, diversity and inclusion and recognize that diverse perspectives, experiences, and expertise are essential to strengthening our academic mission.

As part of your application, you will be asked to complete a brief Diversity Survey. This survey is voluntary. Any information directly related to you is confidential and cannot be accessed by search committees or human resources staff. Results will be aggregated for institutional planning purposes. For more information, please see <http://uoft.me/UP>.

Accessibility Statement

The University strives to be an equitable and inclusive community, and proactively seeks to increase diversity among its community members. Our values regarding equity and diversity are linked with our unwavering commitment to excellence in the pursuit of our academic mission.

The University is committed to the principles of the Accessibility for Ontarians with Disabilities Act (AODA). As such, we strive to make our recruitment, assessment and selection processes as accessible as possible and provide accommodations as required for applicants with disabilities.

If you require any accommodations at any point during the application and hiring process, please contact uoft.careers@utoronto.ca.

Start Date: Summer 2026

Application Deadline: 10/14/2025

Date Posted: 7/28/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15706

McGill University

Rank: Canada Excellence Research Chair (CERC) in Computational Social Science, AI, and Democracy

Canada Excellence Research Chair (CERC) in Computational Social Science, AI, and Democracy

The Department of Political Science, the Max Bell School of Public Policy, and the School of Computer Science at McGill University invite applications for the Canada Excellence Research Chair in Computational Social Science, AI, and Democracy

McGill University's Department of Political Science is seeking applicants for a nomination to a Canada Excellence Research Chair (CERC) in the area of Computational Social Science, AI, and Democracy. The CERC program supports Canadian universities in their efforts to build on Canada's growing reputation as a global leader in research and innovation. The program supports world-renowned researchers and their teams to establish ambitious research programs at Canadian universities. These awards are among the most prestigious and generous available globally.

Following a highly competitive and rigorous selection process involving peer review, CERCs are appointed for a period of eight years in values of $8 million or $4 million (over the entire award period). These awards are not renewable. The two award values recognize the varying costs of research across different research disciplines and aim to be inclusive of diverse areas of research. Accepted CERC chairholders are McGill professors during and after the award period.

Conditional on the approval of the nominee by CERC, the ideal CERC Chairholder will be appointed as a tenured Associate or Full Professor at the Department of Political Science, with potential cross-appointments in the Max Bell School of Public Policy and the School of Computer Science. The candidate for the CERC in Computational Social Science, AI, and Democracy is expected to be a leader in exploring the complex interactions between digital media systems, democratic participation and governance, artificial intelligence, and the proliferation of misinformation. This interdisciplinary role will focus on how digital media — including AI-driven technologies and social media platforms — are reshaping public discourse and engagement as well as democratic accountability. This position will combine the analytical power of data science and algorithmic research with the fields of democratic theory, political science, and public policy.

Ideally, the candidate has expertise and interest in innovative research using computational methods such as machine learning (ML), natural language processing (NLP), multi-modal large language model algorithms (LLMs), network analysis, and/or data mining to study the influence of digital media and AI technologies on democratic engagement and governance, for example on fair elections, social mobilization, and the spread of uncivil discourse and information manipulation. The candidate could contribute to the theorizing on the ethical and political implications of AI technologies, for example involving transparency, democratic accountability, and the protection of democratic values. Ideally, the selected candidate runs a lab or research group affiliated with the chair. The Chairholder may serve as the focal point between the Centre for the Study of Democratic Citizenship (CSDC), the Centre for Media, Technology and Democracy, and the Media Ecosystem Observatory, at McGill University.

Applicants from the academic sector must currently be at the rank of Full Professor or be an Associate Professor who is expected to be promoted to Full Professor within 2 years. Applicants from outside academia should have qualifications and a track record that will enable them to be appointed at the level of Full Professor within 2 years. As per McGill University requirements, successful applicants will have a doctoral degree (or equivalent) in the relevant discipline.

Equity, diversity, and inclusion (EDI) is a foundational principle in the CERC program. To achieve its research excellence-based objectives and outcomes, the program requires the participation and contributions of students, trainees, and researchers from underrepresented groups. These groups include, but are not limited to, racialized minorities, Indigenous Peoples, persons with disabilities, women, and individuals from LGBTQ2+ communities.

The CERC nominee will thus be expected to possess the skills needed to recruit, teach, and mentor a diverse group of researchers and trainees, reflecting McGill's commitments to equity and diversity as set out in core institutional documents including McGill's Equity, Diversity & Inclusion (EDI) Strategic Plan, Taskforce on Indigenous Studies and Indigenous Education, Action Plan to Address Anti-Black Racism, and McGill Accessibility Strategy.

We welcome and encourage applications from racialized persons/visible minorities, women, Indigenous persons, persons with disabilities, ethnic minorities, and persons of minority sexual orientations and gender identities, as well as from all qualified candidates with the skills and knowledge to engage productively with diverse communities.

Salary will be commensurate with qualifications and experience. CERC guidelines state that researchers who are currently at another Canadian institution are eligible as candidates if there is demonstrable net benefit to the country in moving the researcher from one Canadian institution to another. Enquiries from potential applicants are welcome and will be treated in strict confidence. Enquiries can be directed to Prof. Dietlind Stolle – dietlind.stolle@mcgill.ca.

Applications must be submitted on-line through Workday: https://mcgill.wd3.myworkdayjobs.com/en-US/McGill_Careers/job/Leacock-Building/Canada-Excellence-Research-Chair--CERC--in-Computational-Social-Science--AI--and-Democracy_JR0000066958-1. Use a personal email address when creating an account in Workday. Applications should include (i) a cover letter describing their research program, (ii) a curriculum vitae, (iii) a teaching statement, (iv) names and contact information of 3 references.

Applications should be received by August 15, 2025, to guarantee full consideration, although applications will continue to be reviewed until the position is filled.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 8/15/2025

Date Posted: 7/24/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15701

MIT Sloan School of Management

Rank: Faculty Position in Work and Organization Studies

The Work and Organization Studies (WOS) group at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology (MIT) Sloan School located in Cambridge, MA is hiring a tenure-track faculty member to start July 1, 2026, or as soon thereafter as possible. The faculty member's teaching and research should focus on work, employment, and organizational issues. The rank is open, and junior and senior candidates at the Assistant Professor, Associate Professor, and Full Professor levels will be considered.

Faculty responsibilities include teaching courses and conducting research related to Work and Organization Studies. WOS has current teaching needs in courses on organizational processes, power and influence, as well as other courses on work, employment, and organizational issues.

At the Assistant Professor level, candidates must possess a Ph.D. in a field related to Work and Organization Studies, such as Sociology, Organizational Behavior, Industrial Relations, Social Psychology, Political Science, or Economics, at the start of employment. At the Associate Professor and Full Professor levels, a Ph.D. and demonstrated research expertise is required.

The WOS group is part of the Behavioral and Policy Sciences Area, one of three major academic areas at Sloan. The WOS faculty is interdisciplinary. WOS research approaches may include quantitative, computational social science, ethnographic, field based, and/or lab based. WOS builds on the traditions of Organization Studies and the Institute for Work and Employment Research and has Ph.D. programs in both areas.

Please submit applications electronically at <https://apply.interfolio.com/170634> providing a cover letter outlining interests and experience, a current CV, research and teaching statements, and one or two papers that indicate your research focus and capabilities. Applicants at the Assistant Professor level should also arrange for three letters of recommendation to be submitted via this link; applicants at the Associate and Full Professor levels will be asked to provide three letters of recommendation if they are advanced to the finalist stage. Applications will be reviewed as received but are due no later than September 5, 2025.

MIT is an equal opportunity employer committed to building a culturally diverse and pluralistic intellectual community and strongly encourages applications from women and minorities.

Employment is contingent upon the completion of a satisfactory background check, including verifying any finding of misconduct (or pending investigation) from prior employers.

Questions should be addressed to SloanSearchMaster@mit.edu

Start Date: Summer 2026

Application Deadline: 9/5/2025

Date Posted: 7/18/2025

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 15678

DePaul University

Rank: Assistant Professor (Tenure Track) - Political Science (American Politics/Geography/Public Policy)

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Policy, Other
Specializations: American Politics, Quantitative Methods, State Politics

The Department of Political Science at DePaul University invites applications for a full-time, tenure track position at the assistant professor level in American Politics (with an emphasis on state and local politics). The successful candidate will be responsible for teaching courses in American Politics, Political Geography and Public Policy. We will give priority to a person whose research would enable them to develop courses with a Chicago focus, and address public policy issues such as gun violence, poverty, sustainability or economic development. An ability to teach social science statistics and/or courses in Geographic Information Systems will also be viewed favorably.

With a total enrollment over 21,000 students, DePaul is one of the largest private non-profit universities in the nation. Yet class sizes are typically between 20 and 40 students, reflecting the value the university places on teaching excellence. Our programs provide high quality, personalized, accessible education to a diverse student body, grounded in the values of St. Vincent de Paul. Our teaching and research advance knowledge and service to society.

For more information, e-mail polisci@depaul.edu or visit the department's web site at <https://las.depaul.edu/academics/political-science/Pages/default.aspx>

DePaul University seeks applicants that reflect the diversity of its student body and the City of Chicago. Those with experience working with diverse faculty, staff, and students, and who can contribute to an inclusive climate are encouraged to apply. Women, members of historically underrepresented groups, and persons with disabilities are particularly encouraged to apply.

Qualifications

A Ph.D. is preferred at the time of appointment, but ABD candidates will be considered.

Application Instructions

Candidates should electronically submit the following: (1) a letter of application (cover letter), (2) a CV, (3) an unofficial transcript of the last degree (earned or in progress), (4) syllabi and (5) complete course evaluations if available. All candidates will also be asked to submit three letters of recommendation.

Applicants may apply at: <https://apply.interfolio.com/170188>

The screening of applications will begin September 15, 2025 and continue until the position is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2026

Date Posted: 7/17/2025

Salary: $70,000 - $79,999

eJobs ID: 15685

Syracuse University

Rank: Postdoctoral Researcher - PARCC Activism & Advocacy

Postdoctoral Researcher - PARCC Activism & Advocacy

Location: Syracuse, NY

Pay Range: $62,400 - $70,000

Pay Determination: Salary offers at Syracuse University will be based on education, experience, and relevant skills, as well as the academic or professional discipline of the position in the context of the home department, school, or college. Salary offers may also be influenced by prior relevant work or industry experience, where applicable. Faculty pay ranges are for 8.5 months' salary unless otherwise specified.

FLSA Status: Exempt

Hours: Determined by supervisor.

Job Type: Full Time

Rank: Post Doc

Campus:

Unionized Position Code: Not Applicable

Job Description:

The Program for the Advancement of Research on Conflict and Collaboration (PARCC) at Syracuse University's Maxwell School of Citizenship and Public Affairs seeks to hire a Postdoctoral Researcher with expertise in democratic activism, advocacy, and social movements to work with an interdisciplinary team on the "Frontlines of Democracy Project." The Frontlines Project is a multi-method, interdisciplinary research effort focused on the global democracy and freedom ecosystem. Specifically, the project investigates the perspectives of democracy advocates and activists in terms of barriers, opportunities, and priorities, as well as the perspectives of philanthropists, foundations, and other funders in terms of how they understand giving and potential investments in democracy and freedom. Through this research, the project team seeks to develop data-driven strategies that strengthen democracy and freedom networks, connect advocates and funders, and direct targeted resources toward critical gaps in the ecosystem.

The postdoctoral researcher position is a one-year (12 month) appointment with the possibility of renewal for up to three years. Review of applications will begin on August 15, 2025, and appointments may begin as early as September 1, 2025.

Qualifications:

- PhD in public administration, nonprofit management, public policy, political science, sociology, or other related area conferred by the time of appointment.
- Must demonstrate strong interest in the global democracy movement and expertise in democratic advocacy, activism, and/or social movements.
- Demonstrate excellent research and data analysis skills, including proficiency with both quantitative and qualitative research approaches, and have outstanding communication skills, including the ability to write for and speak to different kinds of audiences.
- Self-motivated and organized, with strong time management, communication, and team skills.

Job Specific Qualifications: Not Applicable

Responsibilities:

- Expertise in democratic activism, advocacy, and/or social movements.
- Assist with the design and implementation of large-scale research designs, including the development of data collection instruments such as surveys and interview protocols, the construction of databases, the analysis of qualitative and quantitative data, and the production and dissemination of knowledge through reports, publications, and presentations.
- Engage in the creation of teaching and educational resources, the organization and facilitation of workshops, and team management and oversight, among other duties.

Physical Requirements: Not Applicable

Tools/Equipment: Not Applicable

Application Instructions:

In addition to completing an online application, please submit a curriculum vitae, a cover letter specifying qualifications for the position, a writing sample, and a list of 3 references.

About Syracuse University:

Syracuse University is a private, international research university with distinctive academics, diversely unique offerings, and an undeniable spirit. Located in the geographic heart of New York State, with a global footprint, and over 150 years of history, Syracuse University offers a quintessential college experience.

The scope of Syracuse University is a testament to its strengths: a pioneering history dating back to 1870; a choice of more than 200 majors, 100 minors, and 200 advanced degree programs offered across the University's 13 schools and colleges; over 15,000 undergraduates and over 6,000 graduate students; more than a quarter of a million alumni in 160 countries; and a student population from all 50 U.S. states and 123 countries. For more information, please visit <http://www.syracuse.edu>.

About the Syracuse area:

Syracuse is a medium-sized city situated in the geographic center of New York State approximately 250 miles northwest of New York City. The metro-area population totals approximately 500,000. The area offers a low cost of living and provides many social, cultural, and recreational options, including parks, museums, festivals, professional regional theater, and premier shopping venues. Syracuse and Central New York present a wide range of seasonal recreation and attractions ranging from water skiing and snow skiing, hiking in the Adirondacks, touring the historic sites, visiting wineries along the Finger Lakes, and biking on trails along the Erie Canal.

Application Deadline:

To apply, visit <https://appptrkr.com/6389615>

Syracuse University is an equal-opportunity institution. The University prohibits discrimination and harassment based on race, color, creed, religion, sex, gender, national origin, citizenship, ethnicity, marital status, age, disability, sexual orientation, gender identity and gender expression, veteran status, or any other status protected by applicable law to the extent prohibited by law. This nondiscrimination policy covers admissions, employment, and access to and treatment in University programs, services, and activities.

Syracuse University has a long history of engaging veterans and the military-connected community through its educational programs, community outreach, and employment programs. After World War II, Syracuse University welcomed more than 10,000 returning veterans to our campus, and those veterans literally transformed Syracuse University into the national research institution it is today. The University's contemporary commitment to veterans builds on this historical legacy, and extends to both class-leading initiatives focused on making an SU degree accessible and affordable to the post-9/11 generation of veterans, and also programs designed to position Syracuse University as the employer of choice for military veterans, members of the Guard and Reserve, and military family members.

Copyright ©2025 Jobelephant.com Inc. All rights reserved.

<https://www.jobelephant.com/>

jeid-1274ab92fe198a42847cf5162135b22c

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/17/2025

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 15681

Syracuse University

Rank: Postdoctoral Researcher - PARCC Philanthropy

Postdoctoral Researcher - PARCC Philanthropy

Location: Syracuse, NY

Pay Range: $62,400 - $70,000

Pay Determination: Salary offers at Syracuse University will be based on education, experience, and relevant skills, as well as the academic or professional discipline of the position in the context of the home department, school, or college. Salary offers may also be influenced by prior relevant work or industry experience, where applicable. Faculty pay ranges are for 8.5 months' salary unless otherwise specified.

FLSA Status: Exempt

Hours: Determined by supervisor.

Job Type: Full Time

Rank: Post Doc

Campus:

Unionized Position Code: Not Applicable

Job Description:

The Program for the Advancement of Research on Conflict and Collaboration (PARCC) at Syracuse University's Maxwell School of Citizenship and Public Affairs seeks to hire a Postdoctoral Researcher with expertise in philanthropy and foundations to work with an interdisciplinary team on the "Frontlines of Democracy Project." The Frontlines Project is a multi-method, interdisciplinary research effort focused on the global democracy and freedom ecosystem. Specifically, the project investigates the perspectives of philanthropists, foundations, and other funders in terms of how they understand giving and potential investments in democracy and freedom, as well as the perspectives of democracy advocates and activists in terms of barriers, opportunities, and priorities. Through this research, the project team seeks to develop data-driven strategies that strengthen democracy and freedom networks, connect advocates and funders, and direct targeted resources toward critical gaps in the ecosystem.

The postdoctoral researcher position is a one-year (12 month) appointment with the possibility of renewal for up to three years. Review of applications will begin on August 15, 2025, and appointments may begin as early as September 1, 2025.

Qualifications:

- PhD in public administration, nonprofit management, public policy, political science, sociology, or other related area conferred by the time of appointment.
- Must demonstrate strong interest in the global democracy movement and expertise in philanthropy and foundations.
- Demonstrate excellent research and data analysis skills, including proficiency with both quantitative and qualitative research approaches, and have outstanding communication skills, including the ability to write for and speak to different kinds of audiences.
- Self-motivated and organized, with strong time management, communication, and team skills.

Job Specific Qualifications: Not Applicable

Responsibilities:

- Expertise in philanthropy and foundations.
- Assist with the design and implementation of large-scale research designs, including the development of data collection instruments such as surveys and interview protocols, the construction of databases, the analysis of qualitative and quantitative data, and the production and dissemination of knowledge through reports, publications, and presentations.

• Engage in the creation of teaching and educational resources, the organization and facilitation of workshops, and team management and oversight, among other duties.

Physical Requirements: Not Applicable

Tools/Equipment: Not Applicable

Application Instructions:

In addition to completing an online application, please attach a curriculum vitae, a cover letter, a writing sample, and a list of 3 references.

About Syracuse University:

Syracuse University is a private, international research university with distinctive academics, diversely unique offerings, and an undeniable spirit. Located in the geographic heart of New York State, with a global footprint, and over 150 years of history, Syracuse University offers a quintessential college experience.

The scope of Syracuse University is a testament to its strengths: a pioneering history dating back to 1870; a choice of more than 200 majors, 100 minors, and 200 advanced degree programs offered across the University's 13 schools and colleges; over 15,000 undergraduates and over 6,000 graduate students; more than a quarter of a million alumni in 160 countries; and a student population from all 50 U.S. states and 123 countries. For more information, please visit <http://www.syracuse.edu>.

About the Syracuse area:

Syracuse is a medium-sized city situated in the geographic center of New York State approximately 250 miles northwest of New York City. The metro-area population totals approximately 500,000. The area offers a low cost of living and provides many social, cultural, and recreational options, including parks, museums, festivals, professional regional theater, and premier shopping venues. Syracuse and Central New York present a wide range of seasonal recreation and attractions ranging from water skiing and snow skiing, hiking in the Adirondacks, touring the historic sites, visiting wineries along the Finger Lakes, and biking on trails along the Erie Canal.

Application Deadline:

To apply, visit <https://apptrkr.com/6389439>

Syracuse University is an equal-opportunity institution. The University prohibits discrimination and harassment based on race, color, creed, religion, sex, gender, national origin, citizenship, ethnicity, marital status, age, disability, sexual orientation, gender identity and gender expression, veteran status, or any other status protected by applicable law to the extent prohibited by law. This nondiscrimination policy covers admissions, employment, and access to and treatment in University programs, services, and activities.

Syracuse University has a long history of engaging veterans and the military-connected community through its educational programs, community outreach, and employment programs. After World War II, Syracuse University welcomed more than 10,000 returning veterans to our campus, and those veterans literally transformed Syracuse University into the national research institution it is today. The University's contemporary commitment to veterans builds on this historical legacy, and extends to both class-leading initiatives focused on making an SU degree accessible and affordable to the post-9/11 generation of veterans, and also programs designed to position Syracuse University as the employer of choice for military veterans, members of the Guard and Reserve, and military family members.

Copyright ©2025 Jobelephant.com Inc. All rights reserved.

<https://www.jobelephant.com/>

jeid-37605174596ea143afd760139bee6ce0

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/17/2025

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 15680

University of California, Berkeley

Rank: Assistant/Associate/Full Professor - Climate Equity and Environmental Justice - Rausser College of Natural Resources

Assistant/Associate/Full Professor - Climate Equity and Environmental Justice - Rausser College of Natural Resources

Position overview Position titles:

- Assistant Professor of Climate Equity and Environmental Justice
- Associate/Full Professor of Climate Equity and Environmental Justice

Salary range: The current salary range for this position is $80,800-$256,100 (9-month academic year salary), however, off-scale salary and other components of pay, which would yield compensation that is higher than this range, are offered to meet competitive conditions.

Anticipated start: July 1, 2026

Application Window

Open date: July 11, 2025

Next review date: Monday, Sep 15, 2025 at 11:59pm (Pacific Time)
Apply by this date to ensure full consideration by the committee.

Final date: Monday, Sep 15, 2025 at 11:59pm (Pacific Time)
Applications will continue to be accepted until this date.

Position description

The University of California, Berkeley seeks applicants for one open rank faculty position (assistant, associate, or full professor) in "Climate Equity and Environmental Justice," with an intended start date of July 1, 2026. Successful candidates will be appointed to one or more of the following departments in the <https://nature.berkeley.edu/> (Department of <https://ourenvironment.berkeley.edu/> and <https://erg.berkeley.edu/>); <https://ls.berkeley.edu/> (Department of <https://sociology.berkeley.edu/>); <https://ced.berkeley.edu/> (Departments of <https://ced.berkeley.edu/academics/city-regional-planning/> and <https://ced.berkeley.edu/academics/landscape-architecture-environmental-planning/>); and <https://engineering.berkeley.edu/> (<https://ce.berkeley.edu/>).

Human-induced climate change is transforming our physical and social world, and we are witnessing a 'climate gap,' in which the impacts of these changes disproportionately affect vulnerable and marginalized groups due to historically entrenched inequities and recent shifts in the global economy. In addition, climate change has increased migration from disappearing or unlivable land, due to sea level rise, wildfire, drought, etc. These local, national, and global developments have made urgent the study of the socioeconomic, political and health effects of climate change in rural, urban, and refugee communities, and associated impacts on democracy and inequality around the world. This search will expand an engaged multidisciplinary research community of UC Berkeley faculty working in the area of <https://ceej.berkeley.edu/about> to conduct research in areas affected by climate change such as food security and sovereignty, natural resource access, biodiversity loss, energy production and use, water access, water and air quality, land use and scarcity, and human health. Understanding, and proposing solutions to these challenges, is also informed by policy- and community-engaged, equity-focused research at local, national or global scales about mitigation and adaptation strategies in the realms of governance, planning/regulation, engineering, design, infrastructure, and housing development, among other areas.

UC Berkeley is committed to addressing the family needs of faculty, including dual career couples and single parents. We are also interested in candidates who have had non-traditional career paths or who have taken time off for family reasons. For information about potential relocation to Berkeley, or career needs of accompanying partners and spouses, please visit: <https://ofew.berkeley.edu/new-faculty>.

Climate Equity and Environmental Justice: <https://ceej.berkeley.edu/>

Rausser College: <https://nature.berkeley.edu/>

ERG Department: <https://erg.berkeley.edu/>

ESPM Department: <https://ourenvironment.berkeley.edu/>

College of Engineering: <https://engineering.berkeley.edu/>

Civil and Environmental Engineering: <https://ce.berkeley.edu/>

College of Environmental Design: <https://ced.berkeley.edu/>

Landscape Architecture and Environmental Design: <https://ced.berkeley.edu/land>

City and Regional Planning: <https://ced.berkeley.edu/city>

Division of Social Sciences: <https://ls.berkeley.edu/SocialSciences>

Sociology: <https://sociology.berkeley.edu/>

Campus: <https://www.berkeley.edu/>

Qualifications

Basic qualifications (required at time of application)

Applicants must have a Ph.D., J.D. (or equivalent international degree), or be enrolled in Ph.D., J.D. or equivalent international degree-granting program at the time of application.

Preferred qualifications

Successful applicants are expected to develop a nationally or internationally recognized research program in the realm of climate equity and environmental justice.

We seek rising or established leaders from diverse fields including, but not limited to, the social, physical, natural, biological and environmental health sciences, civil and environmental engineering, city and regional planning, and landscape architecture.

Candidates should demonstrate evidence of strong research productivity given career stage, potential to secure extramural funding, and a commitment to excellence in teaching and mentoring of undergraduates, graduate students, and post-docs.

We are particularly interested in scholars with the ability to support the success of all students through inclusive curriculum, classroom environment, and pedagogy. At Berkeley, we recognize the intrinsic relationship between diversity and excellence in all our endeavors and embrace open and equitable access to opportunities for learning and development as our obligation and goal.

Application Requirements by Level

Assistant Professor

Position title: Assistant Professor of Climate Equity and Environmental Justice

Individuals should submit their application at this level if they meet one of the following conditions: Current or recent PhD candidate or graduate; current or recent postdoc; current assistant professor (including those who are “senior” assistant professors near tenure); position equivalent to assistant professor (ie., at an international university). Please note that this level determination is only for application review purposes, not the ultimate appointment level of the finalist.

Document requirements

- Curriculum Vitae - Your most recently updated C.V.
- Cover letter - In addition to stating the reasons for your interest in and alignment with the position, please indicate the department(s) by which you wish to be considered. You may identify up to two departments. Participating units include: the departments of: Environmental Science, Policy, and Management (ESPM); Civil and Environmental Engineering, Sociology, City and Regional Planning, Landscape Architecture and Planning, and the Energy and Resources group.
- Statement of Research - Please discuss research accomplishments and proposed plans. This can include, for example, your publication record, awards, presentations, inclusive research practices that promote the excellence of your research, and areas for future research.
- Statement of Teaching and Mentoring - Please discuss prior teaching experience, teaching approach, and future teaching interests. This can include, for example, specific efforts and accomplishments, and future plans to support the success of all students through inclusive curriculum, classroom environment, and pedagogy. Please also discuss your mentoring experiences and approach. This can include, for example, past efforts and future plans to support the success of all students, and to foster an inclusive research environment that removes barriers and promotes equitable access and advancement of the research program.
- Statement of Service - Please discuss specific prior and proposed academic, professional and/or public service activities. This can include, for example, participating in professional or scientific associations, serving on committees that advance department, campus or discipline goals, and conducting outreach activities that can remove barriers and increase participation of academics in your field.
- Publication One - Copy of a publication or work-in-progress such as journal articles, book chapters, dissertation chapters, or other appropriate products.

- Publication Two - Copy of a publication or work-in-progress such as journal articles, book chapters, dissertation chapters, or other appropriate products.

- Publication Three - Copy of a publication or work-in-progress such as journal articles, book chapters, dissertation chapters, or other appropriate products.

- Authorization to Release Information Form - A reference check will be completed only if you are selected as the candidate to whom the hiring unit would like to extend a formal offer. Download, complete, sign, and upload the https://apo.berkeley.edu/sites/default/files/authorization_release_of_information_form.pdf.

- Evidence of Teaching Effectiveness - Course evaluations, assessments, scores, ratings, or comments, as it relates to your performance as an instructor or teaching assistant.

(Optional)

- Additional Research Chapter or Paper - Do not upload an additional letter of recommendation because it will not be confidential and cannot be considered or reviewed.

(Optional)

Reference requirements

- 3 letters of reference required

Apply link: <https://apptrkr.com/6380638>

Associate/Full Professor

Position title: Associate/Full Professor of Climate Equity and Environmental Justice

Individuals should submit their application at this level if they meet one of the following conditions: Current tenured professor; position equivalent to tenured professor (ie., at an international university). Please note that this level determination is only for application review purposes, not the ultimate appointment level of the finalist.

Document requirements

- Curriculum Vitae - Your most recently updated C.V.

- Cover letter - In addition to stating the reasons for your interest in and alignment with the position, please indicate the department(s) by which you wish to be considered. You may identify up to two departments. Participating units include: the departments of: Environmental Science, Policy, and Management (ESPM); Civil and Environmental Engineering, Sociology, City and Regional Planning, Landscape Architecture and Planning, and the Energy and Resources group.

- Statement of Research - Please discuss research accomplishments and proposed plans. This can include, for example, your publication record, awards, presentations, inclusive research practices that promote the excellence of your research, and areas for future research.

- Statement of Teaching and Mentoring - Please discuss prior teaching experience, teaching approach, and future teaching interests. This can include, for example, specific efforts and accomplishments, and future plans to support the success of all students through inclusive curriculum, classroom environment, and pedagogy. Please also discuss your mentoring experiences and approach. This can include, for example, past efforts and future plans to support the success of all students, and to foster an inclusive research environment that removes barriers and promotes equitable access and advancement of the research program.

- Statement of Service - Please discuss specific prior and proposed academic, professional and/or public service activities. This can include, for example, participating in professional or scientific associations, serving on committees that advance department, campus or discipline goals, and conducting outreach activities that can remove barriers and increase participation of academics in your field.

- Publication One - Copy of a publication or work-in-progress such as journal articles, book chapters, dissertation chapters, or other appropriate products.

- Publication Two - Copy of a publication or work-in-progress such as journal articles, book chapters, dissertation chapters, or other appropriate products.

- Publication Three - Copy of a publication or work-in-progress such as journal articles, book chapters, dissertation chapters, or other appropriate products.

- Authorization to Release Information Form - A reference check will be completed only if you are selected as the candidate to whom the hiring unit would like to extend a formal offer. Download, complete, sign, and upload the https://apo.berkeley.edu/sites/default/files/authorization_release_of_information_form.pdf.

- Evidence of Teaching Effectiveness - Course evaluations, assessments, scores, ratings, or comments, as it relates to your performance as an instructor or teaching assistant.

(Optional)

- Additional Research Chapter or Paper - Do not upload an additional letter of recommendation because it will not be confidential and cannot be considered or reviewed.

(Optional)

Reference requirements

- 3 letters of reference required

Apply link: <https://apptrkr.com/6380638>

Help contact: mailto:erg_ap@berkeley.edu

About UC Berkeley

UC Berkeley is committed to diversity, equity, inclusion, and belonging in our public mission of research, teaching, and service, consistent with <https://regents.universityofcalifornia.edu/governance/policies/4400.html> and University of California Academic Personnel policy (https://www.ucop.edu/academic-personnel-programs/_files/apm/apm-210.pdf). These values are embedded in our <https://chancellor.berkeley.edu/about/principles-community>, which reflect our passion for critical inquiry, debate, discovery and innovation, and our deep commitment to contributing to a better world. Every member of the UC Berkeley community has a role in sustaining a safe, caring and humane environment in which these values can thrive.

The University of California, Berkeley is an Equal Opportunity employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability, age, or protected veteran status.

For more information, please refer to the https://www.ucop.edu/academic-personnel-programs/_files/apm/apm-035.pdf and the <https://policy.ucop.edu/doc/1001004/Anti-Discrimination>.

In searches when letters of reference are required all letters will be treated as confidential per University of California policy and California state law. Please refer potential referees, including when letters are provided via a third party (i.e., dossier service or career center), to the <http://apo.berkeley.edu/ucb-confidentiality-policy> prior to submitting their letter.

As a University employee, you will be required to comply with all applicable University policies and/or collective bargaining agreements, as may be amended from time to time. Federal, state, or local government directives may impose additional requirements.

The University of California is committed to creating and maintaining a community dedicated to the advancement, application, and transmission of knowledge and creative endeavors through academic excellence, where all individuals who participate in University programs and activities can work and learn together in a safe and secure environment, free of violence, harassment, or discrimination. Consistent with this commitment, UC Berkeley requires all applicants for Senate faculty positions to complete, sign, and upload an Authorization of Information Release form into AP Recruit as part of their application. If an applicant does not include the signed authorization, the application will be considered incomplete, and as with any incomplete application, will not receive further consideration. Although all applicants for faculty recruitments must complete the entire application, applicants will only be subject to institutional reference checks if and when they are selected as the candidate to whom the hiring unit would like to extend a formal offer. More information is available on <https://apo.berkeley.edu/misconduct-disclosure-review>.

As a condition of employment, the finalist will be required to disclose if they are subject to any final administrative or judicial decisions within the last seven years determining that they committed any misconduct.

- “Misconduct” means any violation of the policies or laws governing conduct at the applicant’s previous place of employment, including, but not limited to, violations of policies or laws prohibiting sexual harassment, sexual assault, or other forms of harassment or discrimination, as defined by the employer.
- <https://policy.ucop.edu/doc/4000385/SVSH>
- <https://policy.ucop.edu/doc/1001004/Anti-Discrimination>
- https://www.ucop.edu/academic-personnel-programs/_files/apm/apm-035.pdf

Job location
Berkeley, CA

To apply, visit <https://apptrkr.com/6380638>

Copyright ©2025 Jobelephant.com Inc. All rights reserved.

<https://www.jobelephant.com/>

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/16/2025

Salary: $80,000 - $89,999

eJobs ID: 15675

The University of Hong Kong

Rank: Tenure-Track Assistant Professor / Associate Professor in International Relations

The University of Hong Kong

Applications are invited for appointment as Tenure-Track Assistant Professor / Associate Professor in International Relations in the Department of Politics and Public Administration (Ref: 532628), to commence in August 2026 or at another mutually agreed time, on a three-year fixed-term basis, with the possibility of renewal and consideration for tenure before the expiry of a second three-year fixed-term contract, both subject to satisfactory performance. Exceptionally outstanding candidates at the Associate Professor level may be considered for appointment on direct tenure terms subject to the University's approval.

The Department of Politics and Public Administration is an internationally oriented research-focused department that covers a broad range of fields in Political Science and Public Administration. The Department offers three highly successful taught postgraduate programmes - Master in International and Public Affairs (MIPA), Master of Public Administration (MPA) and Doctor of Public Administration (DPA) - as well as a thriving undergraduate programme. More information about the Department can be found at <https://ppa.hku.hk/>.

Applicants should hold a Ph.D. degree and demonstrate excellence in research and teaching. The Department welcomes applications from excellent candidates who specialise in any field of International Relations and is eager to both consolidate its existing strengths and to diversify into new areas of research and teaching.

A highly competitive salary commensurate with qualifications and experience will be offered, in addition to annual leave and medical benefits. At the current rates, salaries tax does not exceed 15% of the gross income. The appointment will attract a contract-end gratuity and University contribution to a retirement benefits scheme, totalling up to 15% of the basic salary. Housing benefits will be provided as applicable.

The University only accepts online applications for the above post. Applicants should apply online at the University's careers site (<https://jobs.hku.hk>) and upload (1) an up-to-date CV, (2) a letter of interest, (3) graduate transcripts where relevant, (4) a research statement, (5) a teaching statement, (6) teaching evaluations where available, and (7) the contact information of three referees. Review of applications will begin on October 1, 2025. Further inquiries may be made to the Head of Department, Professor Robert Thomson, rthomson@hku.hk.

The University is an equal opportunities employer and is committed to equality, ethics, inclusivity, diversity and transparency.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 10/13/2025

Date Posted: 7/15/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15668

University of Chicago

Rank: Instructional Professor in Law, Letters, and Society (Open Rank)

The Social Sciences Collegiate Division at the University of Chicago is now accepting applications for a full-time Instructional Professor who will teach in the program in Law, Letters, and Society. The appointment is non-renewable, for a one-year term that begins September 1, 2025. Appointment at the rank of Assistant, Associate, and full Instructional Professor will be considered based on the candidate's experience.

The program in Law, Letters, and Society (LLSO) is an undergraduate program that offers a major, courses, student research opportunities, and a variety of co-curricular activities. The program is designed to develop students' analytical skills and enable informed and critical examination of law broadly construed. Rather than situating the study of the law solely in contemporary debates in the field of American constitutional law, LLSO seeks to organize its exploration of law through the broader terms of "letters" and "society." LLSO has approximately 120 undergraduate majors and offers courses taught by instructors from diverse disciplines. More information about the program in Law, Letters, and Society can be viewed in the College's online catalog: <http://collegecatalog.uchicago.edu/thecollege/lawlettersandsociety/>

The successful candidate will teach six quarter-length courses during the academic year, including required and elective courses in Law, Letters, and Society. The successful candidate will teach one or two sections of the major's B.A. thesis seminar, a two-quarter sequence. The successful candidate will also participate in developing new coursework for the Law, Letters, and Society major; participate in planning and coordinating co-curricular activities; support the Faculty Chair and Program Director in developing workshops, student research experiences, and opportunities for internships and professional placement; and advise up to five B.A. theses.

The terms and conditions of employment for this position are covered by a collective bargaining agreement between the Service Employees International Union (SEIU) and the University.

Qualifications

The position requires either a J.D. or a Ph.D. in a relevant field in the social sciences or humanities. Candidates must have completed all degree requirements no later than August 31, 2025. Experience teaching at the college level is required.

Application Instructions

To apply for this position, you must submit your application through the University of Chicago's Interfolio job board at: <http://apply.interfolio.com/169158> and upload the following:

1. a letter of application describing your academic interests and teaching background
2. a curriculum vitae
3. syllabi of courses previously taught and/or designed by the candidate or sample syllabi of proposed courses
4. a teaching statement
5. evidence of teaching effectiveness, such as student evaluations or performance reviews
6. three (3) letters of recommendation

Only complete applications will be considered.

The review of applications will begin on August 1, 2025, and continue until the position is filled or the search is closed.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/2/2025

Salary: $80,000 - $89,999

eJobs ID: 15645

University of Bern

Rank: PhD student (75-100%)

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Other, Other

Specializations: Political Communication, China, Russia

The Institute of Communication and Media Studies at the University of Bern (icmb) is looking for a PhD student (75-100%)

for the project "Through a Glass, Darkly: How to Study Authoritarian Regimes" funded by the Swiss National Science Foundation

This five-year project examines how foreign audiences learn about the inner workings of authoritarian regimes (specifically the People's Republic of China and the Russian Federation), focusing on the role of country experts and their connections. The position will be available from September 1st, 2025 (or by appointment).

Note that there is a 2nd position available in this project that focuses on implementing a panel survey of China and Russia experts.

We offer:

- A fully funded PhD position for four years, with a starting salary of approximately 50'000 CHF and no teaching requirements. Compensated teaching assignments may be available, subject to departmental needs. Employment adheres to the regulations of the Canton of Berne.

- An attractive work environment with a collegial and international team, committed to supporting young scholars through cooperation and exchange.

- The freedom to develop your own ideas for your dissertation and request additional support from the University of Bern's Data Science Lab.

Tasks:

- Write a dissertation within the broader scope of the project
- Adapt open-source LLMs to extract elite networks from unstructured text, including adapting them to Russian and Chinese texts
- Help collect publicly available data on the experts and their social media and publications
- Help disseminate results and organize stakeholder conferences

Requirements:

- An above-average completed or soon-to-be completed master's degree in communication science, political science, or other relevant social sciences. Applicants with a master's level background in computer science and a strong interest in social science are also welcome to apply.

- Proven quantitative research and data science skills, experience working with ML applications and/or APIs, and interest in using LLMs as research tools.

- Excellent English skills (German and French is an asset)

- Ability to work independently as well as collaboratively within interdisciplinary and cross-institutional teams.

- Chinese and/or Russian language skills are an asset, as is demonstrated interest in the politics of those two countries

To apply for this position, please submit to franziska.keller@unibe.ch one PDF file with a letter of motivation including research interests and ideas, a current CV including a list of publications (if available), a writing sample (e.g. MA thesis), a copy of university transcripts and degrees, and a letter of recommendation by July 14th, 2025. Late submissions will be considered until the position is filled.

Contact Franziska Keller if you have questions regarding this position. The interviews will take place on Monday 28th / Tuesday 29th of July 2025.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 7/14/2025

Date Posted: 7/1/2025

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 15641

University of Bern

Rank: PhD student (full position) / Post-doc (full position) in political communication

The Institute of Communication and Media Studies (icmb) at the University of Bern is part of the Department of Social Sciences. It focuses on political communication in all its dimensions, exploring, for example, how digitalization, algorithms, but also psychological mechanisms shape communication in both democratic and authoritarian contexts.

Tasks

- (potential for) collaboration in an SNF-sponsored cross-national research project about how the feeling of being left-behind by society influences political information usage and effects. Our project draws on the role of social identity and identity threats for political information behavior.
- development and implementation of own research ideas
- teaching of courses in the BA Social Sciences and supervision of BA thesis
- contribution to the general tasks of the institute

Requirements

- above-average degree in communication science, a related social science discipline and /or psychology
- strong interest in political communication
- very good skills in quantitative (surveys & experiments) and/or qualitative (interviews) methods of empirical social science
- willingness to present research at (inter-)national conferences and to publish in top journals
- ability to work in a team
- very good command in English (German and French is a plus)

We offer

An attractive working environment awaits you at the Institute of Communication and Media Studies at the University of Bern: a collegial team, cooperation and exchange, as well as the freedom to develop your own ideas. Employment adheres to the regulations of the Canton of Berne.

Application and contact

Applications, should be mailed as a PDF file by July 7th, 2025, to Prof. Dr. Silke Adam at silke.adam@unibe.ch

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 7/7/2025

Date Posted: 7/1/2025

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 15640

University of Copenhagen

Rank: Postdoctoral Researcher Position in Business Power, Self-Regulation and Public Opinion at Departments of Sociology and Political Science, University of Copenhagen

The Employment Relations Research Centre (FAOS) at the Department of Sociology at the University of Copenhagen invites applications for a fixed-term postdoctoral researcher position (2 years) starting on 1 October 2025, or as soon as possible thereafter.

This position is part of the BIZPOWER (Business Power in the Politics of Wage Inequality and Climate Change) project, which investigates how businesses use self-regulation (S-R) to influence public opinion and preempt statutory regulation. The postdoctoral researcher will primarily contribute to Work Package 1 (WP1), which focuses on survey experiments measuring the impact of S-R on public support for wage and climate policies.

The project is led by Associate Professor Christian Lyhne Ibsen and is funded by the Independent Research Fund Denmark. The research team consists of another postdoctoral researcher who will conduct comparative case studies of Germany and Denmark (WP2-3) and the P.I.

Job Description

In a context of multiple global crises—COVID-19, increased inequality, and climate change—citizens are looking to political leaders and the state to solve problems and protect them. The increased role of the state might fundamentally change the conditions under which business operates around the world.

This project investigates how business actors manage the regulatory challenge in two of the most pressing structural transformations in the 21st century – the rising inequality and climate change. It poses the following research question: Under what conditions can business be powerful in the high-salience politics of wage inequality and carbon emissions?

The postdoctoral researcher will be responsible for designing, implementing, and analyzing survey experiments that assess how business self-regulation influences public opinion on wage inequality and carbon emissions regulation.

Key tasks:

Designing survey experiments that test whether S-R affects public support for stricter government regulation.

Developing experimental treatments.

Managing data collection in collaboration with survey providers in Denmark and Germany.

Analyzing survey data using quantitative methods such as conjoint analysis, regression modeling, and causal inference techniques.

Writing academic articles based on the survey findings for submission to top sociology/political science journals.

Presenting research findings at international conferences (e.g., APSA, EPSA, SASE, CES).

This position is ideal for a researcher with a strong background in survey methodology, experimental design, and statistical analysis who is interested in business power, self-regulation, and public opinion in policymaking.

The post-doctoral researcher position is a full-time research position and does not involve any teaching obligations.

For further information, including more details on BIZPOWER, please contact Associate Professor Christian Lyhne Ibsen (cli@faos.dk).

Qualifications

We seek candidates with the following qualifications:

A PhD in Political Science, Sociology, Economics, or a related field (completed or near completion).

Strong expertise in survey experiments, causal inference, and statistical modeling.

Experience in political behavior, regulatory politics, or business-government relations.

Proficiency in data analysis software (e.g., R, Stata, or Python).

Interest in comparative politics and political economy, preferably in European wage regulation and climate policy.

Fluency in English is required; proficiency in Danish or German is an advantage.

Work Environment & Research Team

The postdoctoral researcher will work closely with Associate Professor Christian Lyhne Ibsen, another postdoc and an international advisory board, including leading scholars from Harvard University, MIT, Boston University, University of Konstanz, and Stanford University.

The University of Copenhagen provides a dynamic interdisciplinary research environment, offering access to state-of-the-art research infrastructure for qualitative and comparative political research.

The project will provide opportunities for collaboration on high-impact publications, networking with leading experts in business power and public policy, and participation in international research events.

Application Process

Submit a complete application at our online portal. Click on the "Apply now" icon at the bottom of the page to apply. The documents must be in Adobe PDF or Word.

Applicants must submit the following documents:

Cover Letter detailing research interests and fit for the project.

CV including a list of publications.

Diplomas (master's and PhD)

Research Statement (max. 2 pages) outlining past experience and future research agenda.

Two Writing Samples (published papers or dissertation chapters).

Terms of Employment

Further information on qualification requirements as postdoc can be found in the Memorandum on Job Structure for Academic Staff at Danish Universities 2019 here: Bekendtgørelse om stillingsstruktur for videnskabeligt personale ved universiteter (in Danish only).

Terms of appointment and salary is in accordance with the Danish Confederation of Professional Associations (Akademikerne).

The salary range starts at DKK approx. 38,700 per month + a 17.1 % contribution to the pension scheme. It is possible to negotiate salary supplements on an annual basis.

The recruitment process

Further information on the recruitment process at University of Copenhagen can be found here: <https://employment.ku.dk/faculty/recruitment-process/>

An Equal Opportunity Workplace

The University of Copenhagen is committed in its pursuit of academic excellence to equality of opportunity and to creating an inclusive working environment and therefore encourages all qualified candidates to apply, regardless of personal background, gender, sexual orientation, age, disability, ethnicity etc. For more on the diverse working place environment at the University and the University's participation in the HRS4R HR Excellence in Research, see <https://employment.ku.dk/working-at-ucph/eu-charter-for-researchers/>

International applicant?

The University of Copenhagen offers a broad variety of services for international researchers and accompanying families, including support before and during your relocation and career counselling to expat partners. Please find more information about these services as well as information on entering and working in Denmark here: <https://ism.ku.dk/>

Contact information

For further information please contact Associate Professor Christian Lyhne Ibsen at cli@faos.dk.

Information about the recruitment process is available from HR, e-mail: HR-soendre@adm.ku.dk - please refer to ID number: 211-2193/25-2I #2.

We look forward to receiving your application!

The closing date for applications is 20 August 2025 at 23:59 CEST.

Applications or enclosures received thereafter will not be considered.

Apply

<https://candidate.hr-manager.net/ApplicationInit.aspx?cid=1307&ProjectId=164158&DepartmentId=18991&MediaId=4638&SkipAdvertisement=true>

Part of the International Alliance of Research Universities (IARU), and among Europe's top-ranking universities, the University of Copenhagen promotes research and teaching of the highest international standard. Rich in tradition and modern in outlook, the University gives students and staff the opportunity to cultivate their talent in an ambitious and informal environment. An effective organisation – with good working conditions and a collaborative work culture – creates the ideal framework for a successful academic career.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/25/2025

Salary: $90,000 - $99,999

eJobs ID: 15634

University of Tennessee

Rank: Assistant Director of National Security & Foreign Affairs, Baker School - UTK

Subfield(s): International Relations, Public Policy, Other

Specializations: International Security, Foreign Policy, East Asia

The Howard H. Baker School of Public Policy and Public Affairs (Baker School) at the University of Tennessee, Knoxville, seeks applications for a full-time Assistant Director at the Center for National Security & Foreign Affairs (NSFA) at the Baker School. We seek candidates with national security and/or foreign affairs expertise who can help lead the Center's efforts to deliver high quality student experience through undergraduate, graduate, and executive education, both in person and online. The successful candidate will also contribute to the Center's policy engagement work through research and public engagement activities.

The Baker School offers a Bachelor of Science in Public Affairs and a Master of Public Policy (MPP) with concentrations in national security and nuclear policy, among other focus areas.

This position will play a central role in shaping and expanding the Center for National Security and Foreign Affairs' (NSFA) impact on national security, foreign policy, and public engagement. Working closely with the Director, the Assistant Director will help build a nationally recognized hub for scholarship, student development, and public policy engagement in national security and foreign affairs. This position is responsible for advancing the Center's vision to become a dynamic platform for connecting students, faculty, policymakers, and the public through rigorous research, strategic partnerships, and experiential learning. The successful candidate will contribute to the development of the Center's policy engagement through the execution of research projects, conferences, policy dialogues, and public events that reflect the Center's commitment to addressing today's most pressing national security and foreign policy challenges. The candidate will work with NSFA-affiliated faculty and student research assistants on research projects, policy briefs, and reports related to national security and foreign affairs. The candidate will also help build the Center's presence as a trusted, nonpartisan contributor to state, national, and international policy conversations. This position will work closely with the NSFA Director and the Baker School's Student Success team to engage and mentor students interested in careers in state and federal government, the private sector, thinktanks, and other organizations in the fields of national security, foreign policy, nuclear policy, and related fields. This includes developing and delivering training, supporting professional development experiences such as internships, fellowships, study abroad opportunities (including the Baker School's program in Japan), Washington, D.C. trips, guest speaker events, and wargaming simulations. The position will help expand and deepen these opportunities to build a robust professional pathway for students entering the field. This is a forward-facing role for a strategic builder, ideally suited for someone committed to educating future public servants, producing policy-relevant research, and strengthening the bridge between academia and the national policymaking community.

Responsibilities

POLICY ENGAGEMENT (50%)

- Assists in developing and implementing strategic planning objectives, initiatives, and activities for the center.
- Identifies opportunities for externally funded research from foundations, government agencies, and/or corporate entities.
- Participates in the development and submission of proposals.
- Proposes and produces research-based policy briefs and reports about topics relevant to NSFA expertise.
- Participates in the planning and execution of funded and unfunded research projects.
- Supervises student research assistants while providing direction and mentorship.
- Participates in periodic meetings with university partners, external partners, and other stakeholders to discuss joint issues and initiatives.
- Participates in periodic management meetings to relay information about center updates and issues.
- Clearly and effectively communicates research findings through presentations to funders, professional audiences, and/or policymakers and other audiences.

- Interacts and networks within the Baker School, with NSFA affiliates and fellows, and across campus to seek potential collaborators and develop potential research projects.

STUDENT MENTORSHIP & PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT (50%)

- Develops and delivers presentations at high schools and regional colleges about national security, foreign affairs, and/or nuclear policy to grow interest in the undergraduate and graduate programs at the Baker School.
- Develop and deliver training for students and outside stakeholders for policy education and professional development.
- Collaborates with the NSFA Director and the school's office of Student Success to develop and implement national security and foreign affairs-related experiences for students, both within and outside the classroom, including student travel.
- Identify, plan, and organize support for professional development experiences such as internships, fellowships, study abroad opportunities (including the Baker School's program in Japan), Washington, D.C. trips, guest speaker events, and crisis or wargaming simulations.
- Advises students on academic and career matters.
- Maintains regular office hours for student interaction.

Qualifications

Required Qualifications

Education:

Candidates must hold a master's degree in political science, public policy, international relations, defense or security studies, or a related field.

Experience:

- Experience in government, public policy, national security, international security, think tanks, non-governmental organizations, international organizations, teaching or research in public policy / foreign policy schools, or related career areas.
- Experience in working on research related to national security, foreign affairs, and related topics.

Knowledge, Skills, Abilities:

- Knowledge of applicable policy processes and actors in national security and foreign affairs.
- Ability to work independently and in collaborative multidisciplinary teams.
- Ability to develop, plan, and implement short- and long-range goals.
- Excellent communication, interpersonal, and presentation skills.
- Commitment to teaching excellence and student success.
- Strong knowledge of field concepts, practices, procedures, and professional standards in national security and foreign affairs.
- Strong research design and analytical skills.
- Commitment to continuous professional development.

A PhD in political science, public policy, international relations, defense/security studies, or a related field

Preferred Qualifications

Education: A PhD in political science, public policy, international relations, defense/security studies, or a related field

Experience: Experience in higher education teaching. Strong publication record in relevant field

Work Location

- Knoxville, TN
- On-site
- Remote work may be available on either Thursday or Friday with the permission of the position supervisor and consistent with the institution's regulations. This may be impacted by in-person responsibilities and events that conflict with this schedule.

UT market range:

- MR 11

Applicants should submit the materials below:

- Cover letter explaining research experience, any teaching experience, any policy experience, any relevant qualifications, and interest in the position
- CV
- Graduate transcripts
- Writing samples of policy related research
- Teaching evaluations (if available)
- List of three (3) references

About the Howard H. Baker Jr. School for Public Policy and Public Affairs (Baker School)

The Howard H. Baker Jr. School for Public Policy and Public Affairs (Baker School) was established in 2023 to honor the distinguished life and legacy of Howard H. Baker Jr., a former US Senator, Senate Majority Leader, White House Chief of Staff, and Ambassador to Japan. Located in a 51,000-sq. ft. purpose-built facility, the Baker School evolved from the Baker Center, which operated as a think tank producing research, public engagement programming, and an active set of student programs for twenty years. The Baker School now offers degree programs and developed its research initiatives into independent research centers - NSFA and the Center for Transportation, Energy, and Environmental Policy (CETEP). In addition, the Baker School houses the Institute of American Civics, which encourages civic knowledge and participation among UT students and the state at large.

Who We Are

We are a dynamic and close-knit team of dedicated and hardworking individuals devoted to research, education, and public service initiatives that address real-world problems in local, state, national, and global communities. Each team member is a valuable contributor to achieving our mission, and we work together to find innovative approaches to moving the Baker School forward. We are fast-moving and growing. Our work continually evolves to meet changing needs.

About Us

The University of Tennessee, Knoxville, has shaped leaders, change-makers, and innovative thinkers since its founding in 1794. The university is home to more than 38,000 students and 10,000 statewide employees—the Volunteers—who uphold the university's tradition of lighting the way for others through leadership and service.

UT Knoxville offers over 900 programs of study across 14 degree-granting colleges and schools. As Tennessee's flagship land-grant university, its footprint spans the entire state. The university holds the highest Carnegie classification for research activity and has deep partnerships with industry leaders and the US Department of Energy's largest multidisciplinary laboratory, Oak Ridge National Laboratory. The Knoxville campus serves and recruits for UT Knoxville, including the Institute of Agriculture and the Space Institute, as well as the UT Institute of Public Service.

UT Knoxville considers its employees its number one asset. With values that focus on work-life balance, compensation, and innovation leadership, all Vols are supported to advance professionally. Employees have access to career development and coaching, continued education, and an extensive list of development and training possibilities. The Volunteer employee experience implements structures and practices that attract and retain a diverse community and that support a culture where everyone matters and belongs.

The university holds a strong commitment to its land-grant mission of learning and engagement, with a tradition of service and leadership that carries that Volunteer spirit throughout the state and around the world. It has been ranked nationally as "Best Employer for New Graduates," "One of America's Best Large Employers," and "Best Workplace for Women," and has been designated as "Best Place for Working Parents" by Forbes Magazine.

Apply today and join the Tennessee Volunteer community!

Link to apply: https://fa-ewlq-saasfaprod1.fa.ocs.oraclecloud.com/hcmUI/CandidateExperience/en/sites/CX_1/job/3454/?utm_medium=jobshare&utm_source=External+Job+Share

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/23/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15626

POLITICAL THEORY

The University of Texas at Austin

Rank: History of Philosophy, Political Thought, Intellectual History, & Humanities (Assistant Professor)

Specializations: Political Philosophy & Theory, Political Thought: Historical, Political Theory

The School of Civic Leadership at The University of Texas at Austin (UT Austin) invites applications for full-time tenure-track faculty positions at the assistant professor level in the areas of history of philosophy, history of political thought, intellectual history, and humanities.

Considering the responsibility public institutions of higher education have to prepare students for leadership in a free society, the University of Texas System Board of Regents established the School of Civic Leadership at UT Austin. The School of Civic Leadership is an interdisciplinary school whose dual mission is to equip students with the knowledge and aptitudes necessary to lead in a free society, and to produce academic research at the highest levels of scholarly excellence.

The School of Civic Leadership offers a Civics Honors major, a minor in Civics, and a minor in Philosophy, Politics, and Economics (PPE).

We seek outstanding candidates in the areas of history of philosophy, history of political thought, intellectual history, and humanities whose work speaks to the School of Civic Leadership's core themes: political, economic, and individual liberty and its philosophical underpinnings; constitutionalism and the rule of law; and the political economy of a free society. Ideal candidates will (1) have excellent records of scholarship with robust research agendas, (2) provide evidence of exceptional teaching, and (3) show a readiness to contribute to the intellectual life, governance, and programmatic development of the School of Civic Leadership.

The School of Civic Leadership invites applicants to submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, and three letters of recommendation. Cover letters should give a brief overview of the candidate's research agenda, highlight areas of teaching competence, and concisely describe how the candidate would contribute to developing the School of Civic Leadership.

Review of applications will begin Aug 15, 2025.
<https://apply.interfolio.com/170419>

Start Date: Fall 2026

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/30/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15718

The University of Texas at Austin

Rank: History of Philosophy, Political Thought, Intellectual History, & Humanities (Associate or Full Professor)

Specializations: Political Philosophy & Theory, Political Theory, Political Thought: Historical

The School of Civic Leadership at The University of Texas at Austin (UT Austin) invites applications for full-time tenured faculty positions at the associate professor and full professor levels in the areas of history of philosophy, history of political thought, intellectual history, and humanities. Outstanding senior candidates will be considered for endowed professorships and chairs.

Considering the responsibility public institutions of higher education have to prepare students for leadership in a free society, the University of Texas System Board of Regents established the School of Civic Leadership at UT Austin. The School of Civic Leadership is an interdisciplinary school whose dual mission is to equip students with the knowledge and aptitudes necessary to lead in a free society, and to produce academic research at the highest levels of scholarly excellence.

The School of Civic Leadership offers a Civics Honors major, a minor in Civics, and a minor in Philosophy, Politics, and Economics (PPE).

We seek outstanding candidates in the areas of history of philosophy, history of political thought, intellectual history, and humanities whose work speaks to the School of Civic Leadership's core themes: political, economic, and individual liberty and its philosophical underpinnings; constitutionalism and the rule of law; and the political economy of a free society. Ideal candidates will (1) have excellent records of scholarship with robust research agendas, (2) provide evidence of exceptional teaching, and (3) show a readiness to contribute to the intellectual life, governance, and programmatic development of the School of Civic Leadership.

The School of Civic Leadership invites applicants to submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, and list of three academic references (references do not need to submit full letters at this stage). Cover letters should give a brief overview of the candidate's research agenda, highlight areas of teaching competence, and concisely describe how the candidate would contribute to developing the School of Civic Leadership.

Review of applications will begin on August 15, 2025.
<https://apply.interfolio.com/170425>

Start Date: Fall 2026

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/30/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15719

Austin College

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

The Austin College Department of Political Science invites applications for the tenure-track position of Assistant Professor of Political Science. Candidates must have PhD in hand before the position begins in August 2026.

We are searching for a position within American Politics or American Political Thought, with the ideal candidate having a teaching and research focus on Race, Ethnicity, and Politics. The successful candidate will possess a willingness to serve as the campus-wide pre-law advisor and develop courses (Constitutional Law required) in support of that program. As such, having a background in public law, courts and politics, the judiciary, and/or legal studies is necessary.

Austin College is a leading national private liberal arts college located north of Dallas in Sherman, Texas. Founded in 1849, it is the oldest institution of higher education in Texas operating under original charter and name. Recognized nationally for academic excellence in the areas of international education, pre-professional training, and leadership studies, the College provides an academically challenging and lively community of students, staff, and faculty committed to intellectual growth through individual and collaborative endeavors. Austin College (AC) is one of 40 schools profiled in Loren Pope's influential book, Colleges That Change Lives.

Candidates should send the following:

- letter of application
- CV
- copies of graduate transcripts (unofficial are sufficient for the application),
- statement of teaching philosophy, no more than one page
- statement of research, no more than one page
- a statement reflecting on the composition of our student body and outlining how they would engage all our students in their teaching, scholarship, and/or service.

Please combine materials into one PDF document and email it to PoliticalScienceSearch@austincollege.edu.

Three references should send recommendation letters directly to the aforementioned email address with the candidate's name in the subject line.

We will begin reviewing applications September 10, 2025.

Austin College is an Equal Opportunity Employer that serves a diverse student body and is committed to the same in the hiring process. Applicants must be currently authorized to work in the United States for any employer.

Start Date: Fall 2026

Application Deadline: 9/12/2025

Date Posted: 7/24/2025

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 15702

KAPSARC School of Public Policy

Rank: Faculty Position in Political Science

Subfield(s): Public Administration, Political Theory, Public Policy

The KAPSARC School of Public Policy (KSPP) invites applications for a faculty position in political science. We welcome candidates whose research, teaching, and outreach activities broadly address political science topics.

The successful candidate will be expected to carry out impactful research, teach courses related to the candidate's research field, contribute to core courses and/or electives in political science, supervise capstone projects, and contribute to the overall academic environment of the school. The successful candidate must have a Ph.D. in political science.

The KSPP is a newly established graduate school that offers master's and executive education programs. The first cohort of master's students commenced their graduate studies in the fall of 2024. Situated in the thriving capital city of Riyadh, Saudi Arabia, on the state-of-the-art KAPSARC campus, the KSPP is well-placed to offer students an exceptional educational experience.

The KSPP's vision is to be a world-class education and research institution that prepares the next generation of public policy leaders and professionals within the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia and globally. To achieve this vision, the school is committed to providing high-quality educational programs and creating a bridge between academia, industry, and government. As the first public policy school in the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia, the KSPP is uniquely positioned to offer public policy degrees focusing on management and leadership, energy and climate policy, and data analytics. By providing concentrations in these fields, the school aims to help students develop the skills and knowledge necessary to address pressing policy challenges and make a meaningful impact in their communities and beyond.

The KSPP offers a highly competitive salary and benefits package, including children's educational support, housing support, and premier health insurance.

Start Date:

Date Posted: 7/24/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15698

KAPSARC School of Public Policy

Rank: Faculty Position in Public Management

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Public Administration, Political Theory

The KAPSARC School of Public Policy (KSPP) invites applications for a faculty position in public management. We welcome candidates from any subfield of public management, including those with research interests that intersect with political science, decision science, and/or economics.

The successful candidate will be expected to carry out impactful research, teach courses related to the candidate's research field, contribute to core courses and/or electives in public sector management and leadership, supervise capstone projects, and contribute to the overall academic environment of the School. The successful candidate must have a Ph.D. in management science, political science, or similar disciplines with a track record of research on public management topics.

The KSPP is a newly established graduate school that offers master's and executive education programs. The first cohort of master's students commenced their graduate studies in the fall of 2024. Situated in the thriving capital city of Riyadh, Saudi Arabia, on the state-of-the-art KAPSARC campus, the KSPP is well-placed to offer students an exceptional educational experience.

The KSPP's vision is to be a world-class education and research institution that prepares the next generation of public policy leaders and professionals within the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia and globally. To achieve this vision, the school is committed to providing high-quality educational programs and creating a bridge between academia, industry, and government. As the first public policy school in the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia, the KSPP is uniquely positioned to offer public policy degrees focusing on management and leadership, energy and climate policy, and data analytics. By providing concentrations in these areas, the school aims to help students develop the skills and knowledge necessary to address pressing policy challenges and make a meaningful impact in their communities and beyond.

The KSPP offers a highly competitive salary and benefits package, including children's educational support, housing support, and premier health insurance.

Start Date:

Date Posted: 7/24/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15697

KAPSARC School of Public Policy

Rank: Faculty Position in Public Policy

Subfield(s): Public Administration, Public Policy, Political Theory

The KAPSARC School of Public Policy (KSPP) invites applications for a faculty position in public policy. We welcome candidates whose research, teaching, and outreach activities broadly focus on applied econometrics and public policy design topics.

The successful candidate will be expected to carry out impactful research, teach courses related to the candidate's research field, contribute to core courses and/or electives in public policy design and evaluation, supervise capstone projects, and contribute to the overall academic environment of the School. The successful candidate must have a Ph.D. in public policy.

The KSPP is a newly established graduate school that offers master's and executive education programs. The first cohort of master's students commenced their graduate studies in the fall of 2024. Situated in the thriving capital city of Riyadh, Saudi Arabia, on the state-of-the-art KAPSARC campus, the KSPP is well-placed to offer students an exceptional educational experience.

The KSPP's vision is to be a world-class education and research institution that prepares the next generation of public policy leaders and professionals within the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia and globally. To achieve this vision, the school is committed to providing high-quality educational programs and creating a bridge between academia, industry, and government. As the first public policy school in the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia, the KSPP is uniquely positioned to offer public policy degrees focusing on management and leadership, energy and climate policy, and data analytics. By providing concentrations in these fields, the school aims to help students develop the skills and knowledge necessary to address pressing policy challenges and make a meaningful impact in their communities and beyond.

The KSPP offers a highly competitive salary and benefits package, including children's educational support, housing support, and premier health insurance.

Start Date:

Date Posted: 7/24/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15699

Colorado College

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

The Department of Political Science invites applications for a tenure-track position in political philosophy beginning fall 2026. We seek broadly trained candidates prepared to teach introductory and advanced courses in political philosophy. Appointment will be made at the rank of Assistant Professor. Candidates should provide evidence of scholarly potential and a commitment to excellence in undergraduate teaching.

Colorado College is a nationally recognized, residential liberal arts and sciences college enrolling approximately 2,100 students from across the US and around the world. The College, located on a 99-acre campus in Colorado Springs, is distinguished by its immersive learning and pedagogy made possible by the Block Plan, in which professors teach, and students take, one course at a time. Each block is three and a half weeks long, allowing for unique teaching and learning strategies. Professors have a six-block teaching duty in the eight-block year, where one of the six blocks may be assigned to supervising senior and independent projects where the work is spread out across the year rather than completed in a conventional block. As part of a full teaching load, the candidate will typically teach incoming students as part of the First-Year Program.

All requirements for the Ph.D. should be complete by the starting date of August 17, 2026.

Minimum Qualifications:

Ph.D. in Political Science or Philosophy by the start of employment.

Preferred Qualifications:

Experience in undergraduate teaching.

Application Instructions:

Continuous Recruitment - for full consideration, apply by: 09-15-2025

References will be contacted to upload a letter of recommendation for all candidates (letters will be requested upon application submission) You must meet the minimum qualifications to be considered for this position.

Required Documents:

Applicants should submit the following by September 15, 2025: (1) a cover letter, (2) a curriculum vitae, (3) a statement of pedagogical principles, (4) a research statement, (5) evidence of teaching effectiveness (including syllabi and evaluations), (6) graduate transcripts, (7) a dissertation abstract, (8) a sample of scholarship (published, if possible), and (9) three letters of recommendation.

Offers of employment are contingent on completion of a background check. Further information can be found here: <https://www.coloradocollege.edu/offices/humanresources/people-practices/forms/#newemployment>

coloradocollege.edu/offices/humanresources/people-practices/forms/#newemployment

Review of applications will begin September 15, 2025 and continue until the position is filled.

Optional Documents

Anticipated Hiring Salary Range:

$90,000

Visa Sponsorship Information:

Eligible for H-1B sponsorship

Please apply using this link <https://jobs.coloradocollege.edu/jobs/assistant-professor-of-political-science-on-campus-colorado-united-states> or at www.coloradocollege.edu

Start Date: Fall 2026

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/18/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15689

University of Copenhagen

Rank: Postdoctoral Researcher Position in Business Power, Wage Inequality, and Climate Change Regulation, Department of Sociology/Political Science, University of Copenhagen

The Employment Relations Research Centre (FAOS) at the Department of Sociology, University of Copenhagen, invites applications for a fixed-term postdoctoral researcher position (2 years) starting 1 October 2025, or as soon as possible thereafter.

This position is part of the BIZPOWER (Business Power in the Politics of Wage Inequality and Climate Change) project, which investigates how businesses use self-regulation (S-R) to influence public policy and preempt statutory regulation. The postdoctoral researcher will primarily contribute to Work Package 2 (WP2) and Work Package 3 (WP3), which focus on comparative case studies of how businesses engage in regulatory strategies in Denmark and Germany. The postdoctoral research will focus mainly on Germany.

The project is led by Associate Professor Christian Lyhne Ibsen (PI) and is funded by the Independent Research Fund Denmark. The research team consists of another postdoctoral researcher who will conduct survey experiments (WP1) and the PI.

Job Description

In a context of multiple global crises—COVID-19, increased inequality, and climate change—citizens are looking to political leaders and the state to solve problems and protect them. The increased role of the state might fundamentally change the conditions under which business operates around the world.

This project investigates how business actors manage the regulatory challenge in two of the most pressing structural transformations in the 21st century – the rising inequality and climate change. It poses the following research question: Under what conditions can business be powerful in the high-salience politics of wage inequality and carbon emissions?

Specifically, the postdoctoral researcher will investigate how businesses in Denmark and Germany have historically influenced wage policies and climate regulations through self-regulation, lobbying, and coalition-building.

Key Tasks:

Conduct comparative case studies of business self-regulation in wage policy (WP2) and climate policy (WP3) in Germany.

Utilize process-tracing methodologies to analyze how business actors attempt to influence policymaking and public opinion.

Gather and analyze archival data, media sources, policy documents, and corporate reports to reconstruct historical decision-making processes.

Conduct and analyze elite interviews with business leaders, policymakers, trade unions, and environmental organizations.

Compare cross-national and cross-policy variations in how businesses preempt regulatory challenges.

Write academic articles based on findings for submission to top political science and sociology journals.

Present findings at international conferences (e.g., APSA, EPSA, SASE, CES).

This position is ideal for a researcher with a strong background in comparative political economy, business-government relations, and regulatory politics.

The postdoctoral researcher position is a full-time research position and does not involve any teaching obligations.

For further information, including more details on BIZPOWER, please contact Associate Professor Christian Lyhne Ibsen (cli@faos.dk).

Qualifications

We seek candidates with the following qualifications:

A PhD in Political Science, Sociology, Political History, or a related field (completed or near completion).

Expertise in qualitative research methods, particularly process-tracing, elite interviews, and comparative case study analysis.

Strong knowledge of business power, regulatory governance, and political economy.

Experience working with policy documents, archival research, and media analysis.

Ability to conduct interviews with high-level stakeholders (e.g., business associations, policymakers, trade unions, and NGOs).

Fluency in German and English is required; proficiency in Danish is desirable but not a requirement.

Work Environment & Research Team

The postdoctoral researcher will work closely with Associate Professor Christian Lyhne Ibsen, another postdoc and an international advisory board, including leading scholars from Harvard University, MIT, Boston University, University of Konstanz, and Stanford University.

The University of Copenhagen provides a dynamic interdisciplinary research environment, offering access to state-of-the-art research infrastructure for qualitative and comparative political research.

The project will provide opportunities for collaboration on high-impact publications, networking with leading experts in business power and public policy, and participation in international research events.

Application Process

Applicants should submit the following documents:

Cover Letter detailing research interests and fit for the project.

CV including a list of publications.

Research Statement (max. 2 pages) outlining past experience and future research agenda.

Two Writing Samples (published papers or dissertation chapters).

Terms of Employment

Further information on qualification requirements as postdoc can be found in the Memorandum on Job Structure for Academic Staff at Danish Universities 2019 here: Bekendtgørelse om stillingsstruktur for videnskabeligt personale ved universiteter (in Danish only).

Terms of appointment and salary is in accordance with the Danish Confederation of Professional Associations (Akademikerne).

The salary range starts at DKK approx. 38,700 per month + a 17.1 % contribution to the pension scheme. It is possible to negotiate salary supplements on an annual basis.

The recruitment process

Further information on the recruitment process at University of Copenhagen can be found here: <https://employment.ku.dk/faculty/recruitment-process/>

An Equal Opportunity Workplace

The University of Copenhagen is committed in its pursuit of academic excellence to equality of opportunity and to creating an inclusive working environment and therefore encourages all qualified candidates to apply, regardless of personal background, gender, sexual orientation, age, disability, ethnicity etc. For more on the diverse working place environment at the University and the University's participation in the HRS4R HR Excellence in Research, see <https://employment.ku.dk/working-at-ucph/eu-charter-for-researchers/>

International applicant?

The University of Copenhagen offers a broad variety of services for international researchers and accompanying families, including support before and during your relocation and career counselling to expat partners. Please find more information about these services as well as information on entering and working in Denmark here: <https://ism.ku.dk/>

Contact information

For further information please contact Associate Professor Christian Lyhne Ibsen at cli@faos.dk.

Information about the recruitment process is available from HR, e-mail: HR-soendre@adm.ku.dk - please refer to ID number: 211-2194/25-2I #2.

We look forward to receiving your application!

The closing date for applications is 20 August 2025 at 23:59 CEST.

Applications or enclosures received thereafter will not be considered.

Part of the International Alliance of Research Universities (IARU), and among Europe's top-ranking universities, the University of Copenhagen promotes research and teaching of the highest international standard. Rich in tradition and modern in outlook, the University gives students and staff the opportunity to cultivate their talent in an ambitious and informal environment. An effective organisation – with good working conditions and a collaborative work culture – creates the ideal framework for a successful academic career.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 8/20/2025

Date Posted: 7/18/2025

Salary: $70,000 - $79,999

eJobs ID: 15687

University of Texas at Austin

Rank: Tenure Track Nonmarket Strategy Position

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, Political Theory

The Department of Business, Government & Society (BGS) at the University of Texas at Austin's McCombs School of Business invites applications for an assistant professor (tenure track) position in non-market strategy effective August 16, 2026. We are particularly interested in candidates whose research focuses on corporate political activity, including but not limited to money in politics, sociopolitical activism, and regulation, and we are open as to geographic focus.

The BGS department (<https://www.mcombs.utexas.edu/departments/BGS>) teaches future leaders at all levels of McCombs' curriculum how to recognize and respond to the political, social, legal, and ethical expectations that businesses face. BGS aims to contribute to important public policy debates in these and related areas through research that applies rigorous social science methods to relevant non-market strategy questions.

The school's location in Austin is particularly attractive to faculty interested in connecting with a thriving business community and the Texas state government. For more details on the school and the department, please visit <http://www.mcombs.utexas.edu/> and <https://www.mcombs.utexas.edu/Departments/BGS>. Finally, Austin is an outstanding place to live! See <http://www.austintexas.org/visit/> for some of the many things that contribute to the high quality of life in Austin.

Qualifications:

The ideal candidate will possess a Ph.D. prior to the start date in economics, political science, sociology, or strategic management and be prepared to publish in top outlets in these fields. The primary teaching responsibilities for this position will be corporate political strategy at the undergraduate, MBA, and EMBA levels, as well as the department's new undergraduate core class in nonmarket strategy.

Application Instructions:

Interested parties should submit the following: 1) a cover letter that includes brief statements of research and teaching interests, 2) a CV, 3) a job market paper, 4) three letters of recommendation, and, if available, 5) evidence of teaching effectiveness (e.g., sample syllabi and student evaluations). All applications submitted by Friday, September 26, 2025 will receive full consideration, although the search will continue until a suitable candidate is identified. UT-Austin uses Interfolio's Faculty Search. Applicants to this position receive a free Dossier account and can send all application materials free of charge. The posting is available here: apply.interfolio.com/169635

Direct any inquiries to Timothy Werner (timothy.werner@mcombs.utexas.edu). The University of Texas at Austin is an Equal Opportunity Employer. As part of standard University practice and policy, a criminal history background check will be required for finalist(s) under consideration for this position.

Equal Employment Opportunity Statement

The University of Texas at Austin, as an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer, complies with all applicable federal and state laws regarding nondiscrimination and affirmative action. The University is committed to a policy of equal opportunity for all persons and does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, national origin, age, marital status, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, gender expression, disability, religion, or veteran status in employment, educational programs and activities, and admissions.

College / School / Unit

McCombs School of Business

Department

Business, Government & Society

Posted

Jun 25, 2025

Apply by

Sep 26, 2025

Applying

UT Austin uses Interfolio to manage the application process. Please only apply through the UT Austin website.

Start Date: Fall 2026

Date Posted: 7/16/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15676

Claremont McKenna College

Rank: Assistant / Associate / Full Professor of Political Philosophy

The Department of Government at Claremont McKenna College (CMC) invites applications for an open-rank, tenure-track professorship in Political Philosophy. The position will begin on July 1, 2026. The successful candidate is expected to hold a Ph.D. in Political Science by the time of the appointment. The department is interested in candidates whose scholarship and teaching focus on the moral and ethical foundations of liberal democracy. Research and teaching topics of particular interest include the grounding of rights and republican government, studies of the works of central figures of classical and modern political philosophy, political rhetoric, and statesmanship.

The ideal candidate will also be a teacher-scholar who can contribute to CMC's Open Academy Initiative, which embodies the College's foundational commitment to freedom of expression, viewpoint diversity, and constructive dialogue.

The teaching load is two courses per semester. The candidate must have demonstrated ability to maintain an active, high quality research program and to maintain the highest standards of excellence in teaching. The successful applicant will teach courses in their area of expertise, including one introductory course a year.

Given the College's commitment to cultivating an inclusive educational environment, we seek candidates who can demonstrate a commitment to teaching, mentoring, and inspiring students representing a broad range of socioeconomic backgrounds, political opinions, genders, races, ethnicities, nationalities, sexual orientations, and religions.

Anticipated Annual Salary Range:

$110,000 - $210,000 per year

Please upload application materials at: https://webapps.cmc.edu/jobs/faculty/faculty_opening_detail.php?PostingID=17072

Applications should include a cover letter; curriculum vitae; research statement; teaching statement that addresses the candidate's ability to teach, mentor, and inspire students representing a broad range of backgrounds; evidence of teaching effectiveness; and a writing sample. Applicants must also submit the names and e-mail addresses of three references; an email will be automatically sent to them with a link to upload their confidential recommendation letter.

Complete applications, including letters of recommendation, will be reviewed beginning October 1, 2025. Review of complete applications will continue until the position is filled. Preliminary interviews may be conducted via Zoom.

Claremont McKenna College is a highly selective undergraduate institution ranked among the top liberal arts colleges nationally. It is part of The Claremont Colleges, which also includes Pomona College, Scripps College, Harvey Mudd College, Pitzer College, Claremont Graduate University, and Keck Graduate Institute. The Claremont Colleges consortium constitutes an academic community of more than 9,000 students. Claremont is located 35 miles east of downtown Los Angeles.

Claremont McKenna College is an equal opportunity employer. In a continuing effort to enrich its academic environment and provide equal educational and employment opportunities, the College actively encourages applications from members of historically under-represented groups in higher education.

Start Date: Summer 2026
Application Deadline: 10/1/2025
Date Posted: 7/9/2025
Salary: Above $159,999
eJobs ID: 15654

University of Michigan

Rank: WCEE Postdoctoral Fellow
Subfield(s): Public Policy, Public Law, Political Theory

The Weiser Center for Europe and Eurasia seeks to hire a scholar of contemporary Russia for a two-year WCEE Postdoctoral Fellowship, from August 2026 to July 2028. We encourage applications from specialists on Russia proper as well as those who focus on Russia's interactions with its neighbors (the Baltic states, Moldova, Belarus, Ukraine, the Caucasus, Central Asia, Mongolia, China, Japan). Candidates should have a PhD completed, or nearly completed, in the social sciences and/or cultural studies, broadly construed. We are especially interested in scholars who will complement and add to the coverage offered by our existing faculty.

WCEE Postdoctoral Fellows are expected to focus on their own research, participate in the center's events, present at least one public lecture during their two-year fellowship, and teach one course per year at the University of Michigan while in full-time residency.

Eligibility:
 Eligibility is restricted to applicants who have obtained their PhD no earlier than January 1, 2024. Current doctoral candidates are eligible to apply but must have defended and filed their dissertations by July 31, 2026.

Benefits:
 Fellowships carry an annual salary of $60,000 and up to $10,000 in research funds during the postdoctoral appointment. Fellowship recipients will be eligible for U-M health, dental, and life insurance options (beginning August 1, 2026 through July 31, 2028). Fellows have full access to U-M library resources.

Application materials:
 Candidates should submit the following via Interfolio (<https://apply.interfolio.com/169185>):

- A research proposal (2000 words maximum) that describes your intellectual objectives and concrete plan for the fellowship duration
- Curriculum Vitae
- A scholarly writing sample, such as a dissertation chapter or peer-reviewed journal article (50 pages maximum)
- Teaching statement with potential course topics
- Two letters of recommendation

To be assured full consideration, fellowship applications should be received by October 15, 2025, 11:59 PM EST. Successful applicants will be notified by December 2025.

Start Date: Fall 2026
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 7/1/2025
Salary: $60,000 - $69,999
eJobs ID: 15610

University of Copenhagen

Rank: Postdoctoral Researcher Position in Business Power, Self-Regulation and Public Opinion at Departments of Sociology and Political Science, University of Copenhagen

The Employment Relations Research Centre (FAOS) at the Department of Sociology at the University of Copenhagen invites applications for a fixed-term postdoctoral researcher position (2 years) starting on 1 October 2025, or as soon as possible thereafter.

This position is part of the BIZPOWER (Business Power in the Politics of Wage Inequality and Climate Change) project, which investigates how businesses use self-regulation (S-R) to influence public opinion and preempt statutory regulation. The postdoctoral researcher will primarily contribute to Work Package 1 (WP1), which focuses on survey experiments measuring the impact of S-R on public support for wage and climate policies.

The project is led by Associate Professor Christian Lyhne Ibsen and is funded by the Independent Research Fund Denmark. The research team consists of another postdoctoral researcher who will conduct comparative case studies of Germany and Denmark (WP2-3) and the P.I.

Job Description

In a context of multiple global crises—COVID-19, increased inequality, and climate change—citizens are looking to political leaders and the state to solve problems and protect them. The increased role of the state might fundamentally change the conditions under which business operates around the world.

This project investigates how business actors manage the regulatory challenge in two of the most pressing structural transformations in the 21st century – the rising inequality and climate change. It poses the following research question: Under what conditions can business be powerful in the high-salience politics of wage inequality and carbon emissions?

The postdoctoral researcher will be responsible for designing, implementing, and analyzing survey experiments that assess how business self-regulation influences public opinion on wage inequality and carbon emissions regulation.

Key tasks:

Designing survey experiments that test whether S-R affects public support for stricter government regulation.

Developing experimental treatments.

Managing data collection in collaboration with survey providers in Denmark and Germany.

Analyzing survey data using quantitative methods such as conjoint analysis, regression modeling, and causal inference techniques.

Writing academic articles based on the survey findings for submission to top sociology/political science journals.

Presenting research findings at international conferences (e.g., APSA, EPSA, SASE, CES).

This position is ideal for a researcher with a strong background in survey methodology, experimental design, and statistical analysis who is interested in business power, self-regulation, and public opinion in policymaking.

The post-doctoral researcher position is a full-time research position and does not involve any teaching obligations.

For further information, including more details on BIZPOWER, please contact Associate Professor Christian Lyhne Ibsen (cli@faos.dk).

Qualifications

We seek candidates with the following qualifications:

A PhD in Political Science, Sociology, Economics, or a related field (completed or near completion).

Strong expertise in survey experiments, causal inference, and statistical modeling.

Experience in political behavior, regulatory politics, or business-government relations.

Proficiency in data analysis software (e.g., R, Stata, or Python).

Interest in comparative politics and political economy, preferably in European wage regulation and climate policy.

Fluency in English is required; proficiency in Danish or German is an advantage.

Work Environment & Research Team

The postdoctoral researcher will work closely with Associate Professor Christian Lyhne Ibsen, another postdoc and an international advisory board, including leading scholars from Harvard University, MIT, Boston University, University of Konstanz, and Stanford University.

The University of Copenhagen provides a dynamic interdisciplinary research environment, offering access to state-of-the-art research infrastructure for qualitative and comparative political research.

The project will provide opportunities for collaboration on high-impact publications, networking with leading experts in business power and public policy, and participation in international research events.

Application Process

Submit a complete application at our online portal. Click on the "Apply now" icon at the bottom of the page to apply. The documents must be in Adobe PDF or Word.

Applicants must submit the following documents:

Cover Letter detailing research interests and fit for the project.

CV including a list of publications.

Diplomas (master's and PhD)

Research Statement (max. 2 pages) outlining past experience and future research agenda.

Two Writing Samples (published papers or dissertation chapters).

Terms of Employment

Further information on qualification requirements as postdoc can be found in the Memorandum on Job Structure for Academic Staff at Danish Universities 2019 here: Bekendtgørelse om stillingsstruktur for videnskabeligt personale ved universiteter (in Danish only).

Terms of appointment and salary is in accordance with the Danish Confederation of Professional Associations (Akademikerne).

The salary range starts at DKK approx. 38,700 per month + a 17.1 % contribution to the pension scheme. It is possible to negotiate salary supplements on an annual basis.

The recruitment process

Further information on the recruitment process at University of Copenhagen can be found here: <https://employment.ku.dk/faculty/recruitment-process/>

An Equal Opportunity Workplace

The University of Copenhagen is committed in its pursuit of academic excellence to equality of opportunity and to creating an inclusive working environment and therefore encourages all qualified candidates to apply, regardless of personal background, gender, sexual orientation, age, disability, ethnicity etc. For more on the diverse working place environment at the University and the University's participation in the HRS4R HR Excellence in Research, see <https://employment.ku.dk/working-at-ucph/eu-charter-for-researchers/>

International applicant?

The University of Copenhagen offers a broad variety of services for international researchers and accompanying families, including support before and during your relocation and career counselling to expat partners. Please find more information about these services as well as information on entering and working in Denmark here: <https://ism.ku.dk/>

Contact information

For further information please contact Associate Professor Christian Lyhne Ibsen at cli@faos.dk.

Information about the recruitment process is available from HR, e-mail: HR-soendre@adm.ku.dk - please refer to ID number: 211-2193/25-2I #2.

We look forward to receiving your application!

The closing date for applications is 20 August 2025 at 23:59 CEST.

Applications or enclosures received thereafter will not be considered.

Apply

<https://candidate.hr-manager.net/ApplicationInit.aspx?cid=1307&ProjectId=164158&DepartmentId=18991&MediaId=4638&SkipAdvertisement=true>

Part of the International Alliance of Research Universities (IARU), and among Europe's top-ranking universities, the University of Copenhagen promotes research and teaching of the highest international standard. Rich in tradition and modern in outlook, the University gives students and staff the opportunity to cultivate their talent in an ambitious and informal environment. An effective organisation – with good working conditions and a collaborative work culture – creates the ideal framework for a successful academic career.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/25/2025

Salary: $90,000 - $99,999

eJobs ID: 15634

Middlebury College

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

The Department of Political Science invites applicants for a tenure-track position in political philosophy beginning fall 2026. We seek broadly trained candidates prepared to teach the introductory and advanced courses in the history of political philosophy. Appointment will be made at the rank of Assistant Professor. Candidates should provide evidence of commitment to excellence in teaching and scholarly potential.

As part of a full teaching load, the candidate will also occasionally contribute to Middlebury's First Year Seminar Program and Winter Term course offerings. All faculty at Middlebury are also expected to contribute to service to the College including, but not limited to, committee membership and, once tenured, serving as Director or Chair of a Program or Department when asked.

Middlebury College is a top-tier liberal arts college with a demonstrated commitment to excellence in teaching and research. It is also an Equal Opportunity Employer committed to fostering a truly open, and supportive learning, teaching, and working environment. The College hires faculty from a myriad of life experiences, cultures, frames of reference, social identities, and learning perspectives to help cultivate and advance innovation in our curriculum and to provide a rich and varied educational experience to our talented and distinguished student body. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability, age or protected veteran status.

Middlebury College uses Interfolio to collect all faculty job applications electronically. Email and paper applications will not be accepted. At Middlebury, we strive to make our campus a respectful, engaged community that embraces difference, and a full range of views and opinions, with all the complexity and individuality each person brings. Through Interfolio submit: a letter of application addressed to the search committee chair, Professor Murray Dry; a curriculum vitae; a sample of scholarly production; undergraduate and graduate transcripts; a statement of teaching and research plans; and three current letters of recommendation, at least two of which must speak to teaching ability/promise. More information is available at <https://apply.interfolio.com/169061> and <https://www.middlebury.edu/academics/ps>. Review of applications begins September 15, 2025 and will continue until the position is filled. This is a full time, benefits eligible, salaried position with a hiring range of $88,963 – $100,129 per year.

Offers of employment are contingent on completion of a background check. Information on our background check policy can be found here: <http://go.middlebury.edu/backgroundchecks>.

Start Date: Fall 2026

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/12/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15609

Institute for Advanced Study

Rank: Faculty Position - School of Social Science

The Institute for Advanced Study invites nominations and applications for a professorial position in the School of Social Science. The Institute seeks a distinguished scholar in political theory/political science whose research interests are varied in scope, and whose area of concentration includes the study of the development and functioning of contemporary industrial societies.

All specializations will be considered for candidates with exceptional scholarly accomplishments. This tenured position requires a distinguished record of achievement and clear potential for continued significant contributions. Successful candidates will demonstrate the ability to engage in interdisciplinary exchanges and meaningfully interact with visiting postdoctoral members.

Please submit all inquiries, nominations, and applications to: School of Social Science Institute for Advanced Study Einstein Drive Princeton, NJ 08540 or sssappqueries@ias.edu. Applications must be received by August 1, 2025, and should include a curriculum vitae with publication list. All communications will be held in strict confidence.

The anticipated pay range for this position is $425,000 to $450,000. We offer a comprehensive benefits package including medical, dental and vision insurance, life insurance, short- and long-term disability coverage, flexible spending accounts, paid holidays, paid time off, tuition assistance, retirement plans, and an employee assistance program.

The Institute for Advanced Study is an equal opportunity employer.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 8/1/2025

Date Posted: 6/4/2025

Salary: Above $159,999

eJobs ID: 15601

University of Houston

Rank: Visiting Professor

The Department of Political Science at the University of Houston invites applications for a one-year, non-tenure track, Professor of Practice position for the academic year Fall 2025 - Spring 2026. We seek applicants who have research and teaching interests in Political Theory. Special consideration will be given to those whose research agendas will add to the department's existing strengths in this subfield and have potential for collaboration with a variety of current faculty. Successful candidates will demonstrate a clear commitment to undergraduate teaching. Review of applications will begin immediately and continue until the position is filled.

Applications should be submitted through the University's online job site, <http://www.uh.edu/human-resources/uh-careers/>. The position number keyword is 494091. To apply please submit a letter of application, CV, unofficial transcripts, and contact information for three professional references. Listed references will be asked to provide letters of recommendation.

The direct link to the position is here: <https://careers.uh.edu/jobs/professor-of-practice-political-theory-houston-texas-united-states>

For further information, please contact Professor Jeffrey Church, Department of Political Science, University of Houston, at jchurch@uh.edu.

Qualifications: PhD in Political Science preferred; MA in Political Science with three years of experience.

The Department of Political Science provides high-quality undergraduate and graduate education, with over 800 undergraduate majors and 75 M.A. and Ph.D. students. The Department capitalizes on the strengths of our city, offering students and faculty opportunities to research the politics of the future in a dynamic hub of international commerce, and in a region that is on the leading edge of national demographic and economic trends.

The University's prime location in America's fourth-largest city supports extensive industry partnerships and experiential learning opportunities. Renowned for its energy industry and NASA's Space Center, Houston is home to a vibrant cultural scene with world-class museums, theaters, and restaurants. Houston thrives as a hub for innovation, education, and arts, fostering a unique blend of community charm and modern progress.

The University of Houston, a dynamic research institution founded in 1927, stands as a vibrant hub of academic excellence in Texas. With over 46,000 students, it offers a comprehensive range of programs across 15 colleges, fostering innovation in fields such as energy, health, hospitality, business, education, law, STEM, and the humanities. Boasting top-tier faculty, state-of-the-art facilities, student success initiatives, and a strong commitment to community engagement, UH prepares students to thrive in a globally interconnected world while contributing impactful research and innovation to the region and beyond.

Official transcripts are required for a faculty appointment and will be requested upon selection of the final candidates. All positions at the University of Houston-System are security sensitive and will require a criminal history check.

The University of Houston System and its universities are an Equal Opportunity Institution.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 5/22/2025

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 15588

KAPSARC School of Public Policy

Rank: Faculty - Energy & Environmental Economics

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Public Administration, Political Theory

Position Summary:

The KSPP is a newly established graduate school that offers master's and executive education programs. The first cohort of master's students commenced their graduate studies in the fall of 2024. Situated in the thriving capital city of Riyadh, Saudi Arabia, on the state-of-the-art KAPSARC campus, the KSPP is well-placed to offer students an exceptional educational experience.

The KSPP's vision is to be a world-class education and research institution that prepares the next generation of public policy leaders and professionals within the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia and globally. To achieve this vision, the school is committed to providing high-quality educational programs and creating a bridge between academia, industry, and government. As the first public policy school in the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia, the KSPP is uniquely positioned to offer public policy degrees focusing on management and leadership, energy and climate policy, and data analytics. By providing concentrations in these areas, the school aims to help students develop the skills and knowledge necessary to address pressing policy challenges and make a meaningful impact in their communities and beyond.

The KAPSARC School of Public Policy (KSPP) invites applications for a faculty position in energy and environmental economics. We welcome candidates whose research, teaching, and outreach activities broadly focus on energy markets, climate finance, and climate policy design. The KSPP offers a highly competitive salary and benefits package, including children's educational support, housing support, and premier health insurance.

Responsibilities:

The successful candidate will be expected to carry out impactful research, teach courses related to the candidate's research field, contribute to core courses and/or electives in public sector management and leadership, supervise capstone projects, and contribute to the overall academic environment of the School.

Qualifications:

The successful candidate must have a Ph.D. in economics with a field specialization in energy and environmental economics.

To apply, please visit: <https://www.kspp.edu.sa/careers/faculty-energy-environmental-economics>

Start Date:

Date Posted: 11/4/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15146

Yale University

Rank: Assistant Professor, Normative Political Theory

The Department of Political Science at Yale University is seeking to hire a faculty member with expertise in Normative Political Theory at the rank of Assistant Professor, beginning July 1, 2025. A successful applicant should focus on substantive questions in any area of political theory. The candidate will be asked to teach courses in political theory commensurate with their expertise. The initial appointment will be for 5 years. The teaching expectation is normally 3 courses per academic year.

Qualifications

Ph.D. or equivalent degree required at time of hire.

Application Instructions

All applications must include a cover letter, CV, 3 recommendation letters, 2 writing samples, and separate short (2 pages or less) research and teaching statements. All materials should be uploaded to Interfolio at <http://apply.interfolio.com/151667>. Review of applications will begin September 15, 2024 (or 30 days after posting, whichever is later), and to guarantee full consideration your file should be complete by this date.

Please contact Xaria Callender, Sr. Administrative Assistant for the Political Science Department, at xaria.callender@yale.edu if you have questions about the application process.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: 8/15/2025

Date Posted: 8/15/2024

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 14645

PUBLIC ADMINISTRATION

KAPSARC School of Public Policy

Rank: Faculty Position in Political Science

Subfield(s): Public Administration, Political Theory, Public Policy

The KAPSARC School of Public Policy (KSPP) invites applications for a faculty position in political science. We welcome candidates whose research, teaching, and outreach activities broadly address political science topics.

The successful candidate will be expected to carry out impactful research, teach courses related to the candidate's research field, contribute to core courses and/or electives in political science, supervise capstone projects, and contribute to the overall academic environment of the school. The successful candidate must have a Ph.D. in political science.

The KSPP is a newly established graduate school that offers master's and executive education programs. The first cohort of master's students commenced their graduate studies in the fall of 2024. Situated in the thriving capital city of Riyadh, Saudi Arabia, on the state-of-the-art KAPSARC campus, the KSPP is well-placed to offer students an exceptional educational experience.

The KSPP's vision is to be a world-class education and research institution that prepares the next generation of public policy leaders and professionals within the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia and globally. To achieve this vision, the school is committed to providing high-quality educational programs and creating a bridge between academia, industry, and government. As the first public policy school in the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia, the KSPP is uniquely positioned to offer public policy degrees focusing on management and leadership, energy and climate policy, and data analytics. By providing concentrations in these fields, the school aims to help students develop the skills and knowledge necessary to address pressing policy challenges and make a meaningful impact in their communities and beyond.

The KSPP offers a highly competitive salary and benefits package, including children's educational support, housing support, and premier health insurance.

Start Date:

Date Posted: 7/24/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15698

KAPSARC School of Public Policy

Rank: Faculty Position in Public Management

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Public Administration, Political Theory

The KAPSARC School of Public Policy (KSPP) invites applications for a faculty position in public management. We welcome candidates from any subfield of public management, including those with research interests that intersect with political science, decision science, and/or economics.

The successful candidate will be expected to carry out impactful research, teach courses related to the candidate's research field, contribute to core courses and/or electives in public sector management and leadership, supervise capstone projects, and contribute to the overall academic environment of the School. The successful candidate must have a Ph.D. in management science, political science, or similar disciplines with a track record of research on public management topics.

The KSPP is a newly established graduate school that offers master's and executive education programs. The first cohort of master's students commenced their graduate studies in the fall of 2024. Situated in the thriving capital city of Riyadh, Saudi Arabia, on the state-of-the-art KAPSARC campus, the KSPP is well-placed to offer students an exceptional educational experience.

The KSPP's vision is to be a world-class education and research institution that prepares the next generation of public policy leaders and professionals within the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia and globally. To achieve this vision, the school is committed to providing high-quality educational programs and creating a bridge between academia, industry, and government. As the first public policy school in the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia, the KSPP is uniquely positioned to offer public policy degrees focusing on management and leadership, energy and climate policy, and data analytics. By providing concentrations in these areas, the school aims to help students develop the skills and knowledge necessary to address pressing policy challenges and make a meaningful impact in their communities and beyond.

The KSPP offers a highly competitive salary and benefits package, including children's educational support, housing support, and premier health insurance.

Start Date:

Date Posted: 7/24/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15697

KAPSARC School of Public Policy

Rank: Faculty Position in Public Policy

Subfield(s): Public Administration, Public Policy, Political Theory

The KAPSARC School of Public Policy (KSPP) invites applications for a faculty position in public policy. We welcome candidates whose research, teaching, and outreach activities broadly focus on applied econometrics and public policy design topics.

The successful candidate will be expected to carry out impactful research, teach courses related to the candidate's research field, contribute to core courses and/or electives in public policy design and evaluation, supervise capstone projects, and contribute to the overall academic environment of the School. The successful candidate must have a Ph.D. in public policy.

The KSPP is a newly established graduate school that offers master's and executive education programs. The first cohort of master's students commenced their graduate studies in the fall of 2024. Situated in the thriving capital city of Riyadh, Saudi Arabia, on the state-of-the-art KAPSARC campus, the KSPP is well-placed to offer students an exceptional educational experience.

The KSPP's vision is to be a world-class education and research institution that prepares the next generation of public policy leaders and professionals within the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia and globally. To achieve this vision, the school is committed to providing high-quality educational programs and creating a bridge between academia, industry, and government. As the first public policy school in the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia, the KSPP is uniquely positioned to offer public policy degrees focusing on management and leadership, energy and climate policy, and data analytics. By providing concentrations in these fields, the school aims to help students develop the skills and knowledge necessary to address pressing policy challenges and make a meaningful impact in their communities and beyond.

The KSPP offers a highly competitive salary and benefits package, including children's educational support, housing support, and premier health insurance.

Start Date:

Date Posted: 7/24/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15699

Waseda University

Rank: Tenure-track or tenured position in Public Administration/Public Policy(Political Science)

Faculty Recruitment Information in Public Administration/Public Policy(Political Science)

The Faculty of Political Science and Economics at Waseda University invites applications for a tenure-track or tenured position in Public Administration/Public Policy(Political Science) to begin in the spring or fall of 2026 (or a mutually agreed later date).

Qualifications

- Substantial research achievements in Public Administration or Public Policy
- Ability to teach courses in Japanese and English
- Ability to teach research methods in the field of empirical analysis and/or formal models at the Graduate School of Political Science
- Ph.D. in Political Science or a relevant field by the time of appointment
- Teaching experience is desirable

Teaching responsibility:

- Graduate Seminar in the Graduate School of Political Science, Political Science Course
- Related undergraduate courses in the fields of Public Administration and Public Policy

Scheduled start of employment:

April 1, 2026, or September 1, 2026 (or a mutually agreed later date)

For more details and instructions for application, please go to the website at

<https://www.waseda.jp/fpse/pse/news-en/2025/07/10/24379/>

Start Date: Spring 2026

Application Deadline: 9/30/2025

Date Posted: 7/10/2025

Salary: Any

eJobs ID: 15655

University of Oxford

Rank: Associate Professor of International Business

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Public Administration, International Relations

Specializations: Developing Nations, Political Economy, International Political Economy

Saïd Business School and St Antony's College are recruiting an Associate Professor of International Business. For this post, the School welcomes applications from early career candidates (i.e., scholars who have completed or will very soon complete their PhD), postdoctoral researchers (i.e., scholars who are currently in a postdoc position), and faculty who are already a tenure-track faculty member. At Oxford the rank of Associate Professor includes faculty that would elsewhere be considered of Assistant or Associate Professor rank.

The position is tenable from 1 September 2026 or at a different date by negotiation. The position is associated with a non-tutorial fellowship at St Antony's College.

We are inviting applications from those with a background in International Business, broadly defined, who are committed to a programme of intellectually rigorous and relevant scholarship in global strategy, comparative political economy of business, and international political economy, that is publishable in top academic management journals (as defined, for instance, by the Financial Times's 48 peer-reviewed academic journals), top social science journals and as books with top academic publishers.

The successful candidate will join the International Business group which conducts research addressing pressing global issues, such as sustainability and labour standards in global value chains, innovation in emerging markets, digital transformation (including the adoption of artificial intelligence) and future of work, and state capacity and its implication for business. The group takes a distinct multi-level perspective to studying the political economy of international business. An important focus of the group, therefore, is to study how system-level institutions affect, and are affected by, organizational strategies, management and politics. Many of the group members engage actively with colleagues from other parts of Oxford in formal and informal research collaborations. The group is also committed to mixed methods in research, ranging from qualitative methods to experimental and quantitative methods. We therefore strongly encourage applicants from any methodological background as we continue to broaden the methodological interests of our group.

The duties for this post include research, teaching and service to the business school, college and wider University. Full details of the duties can be found at the link below.

If you would like to discuss this post and find out more about joining the academic community at Oxford, please contact akshay.man-gla@sbs.ox.ac.uk

All enquiries will be treated in strict confidence and will not form part of the selection decision.

To apply, please follow this link: https://my.corehr.com/pls/uoxrecruit/erq_jobspec_version_4.display_form?p_company=10&p_internal_external=E&p_display_in_irish=N&p_process_type=&p_applicant_no=&p_form_profile_detail=&p_display_apply_ind=Y&p_refresh_search=Y&p_recruitment_id=178440

The closing date for applications is 12.00 noon (UK time) on Monday 29 September 2025

Start Date: Fall 2026

Application Deadline: 9/29/2025

Date Posted: 7/1/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15636

National University of Singapore

Rank: Assistant Professor – International Relations, Public Policy, Public Administration

Specializations: International Security, Public Finance & Budgeting, Leadership Studies

Job Description

The Lee Kuan Yew School of Public Policy (LKYSPP), National University of Singapore, invites applications for multiple tenure-track Assistant Professor appointments. One position will be in international security (political science-international relations or other relevant disciplines), which is broadly defined to include traditional and emerging security issues. For the other two positions—in public policy and public administration—the areas of interest are open; however, there is a particular interest in candidates with research and teaching expertise in public budgeting and finance, social policy and administration, leadership in public service, decentralization and local governance, and Technology/AI.

Job Qualifications

The ideal candidate will have:

- a PhD conferred by 1 August 2026 in the fields of international relations, political science, public policy, public administration, or related disciplines;
- publications in quality peer-reviewed journals in their field and/or a strong pipeline of working papers;
- a clear research identity and trajectory to become an independent scholar;
- research that is relevant to contemporary issues in Asia and/or Southeast Asia;
- demonstrated ability to teach core and specialized courses in the public policy school environment; and
- a willingness and ability to mentor graduate students.

Application

Please submit your application package in electronic form (PDF) to the Hiring Committee via AcademicJobsOnline (AJO) https:// academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/30182. The deadline for submitting the package is September 1, 2025.

The package should include:

1. A cover letter
2. Curriculum Vitae
3. A research statement that outlines your past, current, and future research agenda
4. A teaching statement outlining your pedagogical philosophy and practices, courses taught, and, where available, evidence of teaching effectiveness.
5. Up to two writing samples (please clearly denote which is your primary sample, which can be a job market paper or chapter(s) from a book project)
6. Names and contact information of three referees. Referees will be contacted automatically via AJO with instructions to upload their letters of recommendation.

The cover letter, research statement and teaching statement should each be a maximum of two pages, double-spaced.

Members of the hiring committee will be attending the APSA Annual Conference in Vancouver and will be available for an informational session and preliminary interviews. Shortlisted candidates who are unable to meet at APSA will be contacted separately over email. If you have any questions, you may contact Ms Sarah Seow, Senior Manager, Academic Affairs, LKYSPP at email: sarah@nus.edu.sg.

Additional Information

About the Lee Kuan Yew School of Public Policy

LKYSPP is a leading public policy school in Asia, attracting an internationally diverse, world-class faculty and student body to engage and address the world's most pressing challenges. Its mission is to inspire, improve lives, and take central positions in the policy and governance conversations within Asia and beyond. We do this by working hard on two planks: pursuing academic and intellectual excellence, and crafting lessons for meaningful public policymaking. The school is housed within the National University of Singapore, the highest ranked university in Asia and 8th in the world (QS World University Rankings 2026).

LKYSPP offers highly competitive research funding, salary, relocation and housing support, and other benefits. The teaching load (typically three per academic year) allows faculty to focus on providing quality instruction while maintaining their research excellence. For more information about LKYSPP, please visit www.lkyspp.nus.edu.sg.

Start Date:

Date Posted: 6/25/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15632

National University of Singapore

Rank: Assistant Professor – Public Administration/Public Management

Job Description

The Lee Kuan Yew School of Public Policy (LKYSPP) at the National University of Singapore (NUS) invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position in Public Administration/Public Management. We are especially interested in candidates with research and teaching expertise in public budgeting and finance, social policy and administration, leadership in public service, decentralization and local governance, and Technology/AI.

Job Qualifications

The ideal candidate will have:

- a PhD conferred by 1 August 2026 in the fields of public administration, public management, public policy, political science, or a related discipline at the time of appointment;
- publications in quality peer-reviewed journals in their field and/or a strong pipeline of working papers;
- a clear research identity and trajectory to become an independent scholar;
- research that is relevant to contemporary issues in Asia and/or Southeast Asia;
- demonstrated ability to teach core and specialized courses in the public policy school environment; and
- a willingness and ability to mentor graduate students.

Application

Please submit your application package in electronic form (PDF) via AcademicJobsOnline (AJO) <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/30180>.

The package should include:

1. A cover letter
2. Curriculum Vitae
3. A research statement that outlines your past, current, and future research agenda
4. A teaching statement outlining your pedagogical philosophy and practices, courses taught, and, where available, evidence of teaching effectiveness.
5. Up to two writing samples (please clearly denote which is your primary sample, which can be a job market paper or chapter(s) from a book project)
6. Names and contact information of three referees. Referees will be contacted automatically via AJO with instructions to upload their letters of recommendation.

The cover letter, research statement and teaching statement should each be a maximum of two pages, double-spaced.

Applications submitted prior to September 15, 2025 will receive preference; but the review of applications will continue until positions are filled. Only shortlisted candidates will be notified. Initial face-to-face conversations may be conducted at the Asian Association for Public Administration Conference in October 2025 in Beijing, or at other relevant international conferences in 2025. Promising candidates not attending these events will be invited to a Zoom conversation. If you have any questions, you may contact Ms Sarah Seow, Senior Manager, Academic Affairs, LKYSPP at email: sarah@nus.edu.sg.

Additional Information

About the Lee Kuan Yew School of Public Policy

LKYSPP is a leading public policy school in Asia, attracting an internationally diverse, world-class faculty and student body to engage and address the world's most pressing challenges. Its mission is to inspire, improve lives, and take central positions in the policy and governance conversations within Asia and beyond. We do this by working hard on two planks: pursuing academic and intellectual excellence, and crafting lessons for meaningful public policymaking. The school is housed within the National University of Singapore, the highest ranked university in Asia and 8th in the world (QS World University Rankings 2026).

LKYSPP offers highly competitive research funding, salary, relocation and housing support, and other benefits. The teaching load (typically three per academic year) allows faculty to focus on providing quality instruction while maintaining their research excellence. For more information about LKYSPP, please visit www.lkyspp.nus.edu.sg.

Start Date:

Date Posted: 6/25/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15631

Purdue University

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor in AI, Policy and Society

Subfield(s): Open, Public Policy, Public Administration

Job Title: Visiting Assistant Professor

Job Description:

Visiting Assistant Professor in Artificial Intelligence, Policy, and Society

Purdue's Political Science Department is seeking a visiting assistant professor for the 2025-2026 academic year to teach master's level core courses AI policy, governance, and social impacts in the university-wide Master of Science in Artificial Intelligence degree. The position begins in August 2025 and, with approval, may be held remotely from locations within the United States. The position may be renewable for an additional year, contingent on budget approval.

This person in this position will teach a four-course equivalency per semester of online master's level courses in areas related to AI governance, public policy, and social impacts of AI. This position also contributes to the administrative management of the core courses and assists with updating course material. Purdue offers a supportive environment with many opportunities for professional development.

Qualifications

Qualified candidates must hold a master's degree in political science, public policy, public administration, or a closely related field. Preferred: A PhD or at least three years of relevant job experience in addition to a masters degree. Candidates must have academic expertise and/or work experience related to one or more of the following areas: public policy, public administration, social and policy impacts of artificial intelligence, or use of AI tools in the workplace. Applicants should have evidence of successful post-secondary teaching experience.

The Department, College, and University

Purdue University is Indiana's public land-grant university and a world-class research and teaching institution. In 2023, for the sixth consecutive year, U.S. News & World Report has ranked Purdue among the top 10 Most Innovative Schools in the nation. Purdue is home to over 44,000 undergraduate students and 12,000 graduate students. Purdue is in West Lafayette/Lafayette community with an abundance of activities, high quality of life, and reasonable cost of living.

The Department of Political Science, home to 27 faculty and over thirty-five PhD students, offers BA, MA, and PhD degrees. We are a welcoming and supportive community for visiting faculty and post-docs, with regular opportunities for professional development through mentoring, workshops, research labs, and an active speaker series. The Department is part of the College of Liberal Arts, a leader in developing innovative programs such as the nationally recognized Cornerstone Integrated Liberal Arts program, which challenges students to become independent thinkers, preparing them to become bold, visionary leaders.

Applications

Application materials must be submitted electronically via <https://careers.purdue.edu/> with job id #37523.

Candidates should submit 1) a cover letter that describes their qualifications for the position, 2) a CV, and 3) a brief teaching portfolio with evidence of post-secondary teaching experience. Candidates who advance in the process will be required to submit additional materials including names of references and transcripts. A background check is required for employment in this position.

Review of applications will begin July 6, 2025, and continue until the position is filled. Questions should be addressed to Department Head Cherie Maestas at cmaestas@purdue.edu.

The anticipated salary range is $55,000 – $57,000 for the academic year.

Candidates must have the ability to work in the US without immigration sponsorship from Purdue University.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/6/2025

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 15604

KAPSARC School of Public Policy

Rank: Faculty - Energy & Environmental Economics

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Public Administration, Political Theory

Position Summary:

The KSPP is a newly established graduate school that offers master's and executive education programs. The first cohort of master's students commenced their graduate studies in the fall of 2024. Situated in the thriving capital city of Riyadh, Saudi Arabia, on the state-of-the-art KAPSARC campus, the KSPP is well-placed to offer students an exceptional educational experience.

The KSPP's vision is to be a world-class education and research institution that prepares the next generation of public policy leaders and professionals within the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia and globally. To achieve this vision, the school is committed to providing high-quality educational programs and creating a bridge between academia, industry, and government. As the first public policy school in the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia, the KSPP is uniquely positioned to offer public policy degrees focusing on management and leadership, energy and climate policy, and data analytics. By providing concentrations in these areas, the school aims to help students develop the skills and knowledge necessary to address pressing policy challenges and make a meaningful impact in their communities and beyond.

The KAPSARC School of Public Policy (KSPP) invites applications for a faculty position in energy and environmental economics. We welcome candidates whose research, teaching, and outreach activities broadly focus on energy markets, climate finance, and climate policy design. The KSPP offers a highly competitive salary and benefits package, including children's educational support, housing support, and premier health insurance.

Responsibilities:

The successful candidate will be expected to carry out impactful research, teach courses related to the candidate's research field, contribute to core courses and/or electives in public sector management and leadership, supervise capstone projects, and contribute to the overall academic environment of the School.

Qualifications:

The successful candidate must have a Ph.D. in economics with a field specialization in energy and environmental economics.

To apply, please visit: <https://www.kspp.edu.sa/careers/faculty-energy-environmental-economics>

Start Date:

Date Posted: 11/4/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15146

KAPSARC School of Public Policy

Rank: Faculty - Public Finance

Subfield(s): Administration, Public Administration, Public Policy

Position Summary:

The KSPP is a newly established graduate school that offers master's and executive education programs. The first cohort of master's students commenced their graduate studies in the fall of 2024. Situated in the thriving capital city of Riyadh, Saudi Arabia, on the state-of-the-art KAPSARC campus, the KSPP is well-placed to offer students an exceptional educational experience.

The KSPP's vision is to be a world-class education and research institution that prepares the next generation of public policy leaders and professionals within the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia and globally. To achieve this vision, the school is committed to providing high-quality educational programs and creating a bridge between academia, industry, and government. As the first public policy school in the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia, the KSPP is uniquely positioned to offer public policy degrees focusing on management and leadership, energy and climate policy, and data analytics. By providing concentrations in these areas, the school aims to help students develop the skills and knowledge necessary to address pressing policy challenges and make a meaningful impact in their communities and beyond. The KAPSARC School of Public Policy (KSPP) invites applications for a faculty position in public management.

The KAPSARC School of Public Policy (KSPP) invites applications for a faculty position in public finance. We welcome candidates whose research, teaching, and outreach activities broadly address public finance topics. The KSPP offers a highly competitive salary and benefits package, including children's educational support, housing support, and premier health insurance.

Responsibilities:

The successful candidate will be expected to carry out impactful research, teach courses related to the candidate's research field, contribute to core courses and/or electives in public sector management and leadership, supervise capstone projects, and contribute to the overall academic environment of the School.

Qualifications:

The successful candidate must have a Ph.D. in economics with a field specialization in public finance

To apply, please visit: <https://www.kspp.edu.sa/careers/faculty-public-finance>

Start Date:

Date Posted: 11/4/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15145

KAPSARC School of Public Policy

Rank: Faculty - Public Management

Position Summary:

The KSPP is a newly established graduate school that offers master's and executive education programs. The first cohort of master's students commenced their graduate studies in the fall of 2024. Situated in the thriving capital city of Riyadh, Saudi Arabia, on the state-of-the-art KAPSARC campus, the KSPP is well-placed to offer students an exceptional educational experience.

The KSPP's vision is to be a world-class education and research institution that prepares the next generation of public policy leaders and professionals within the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia and globally. To achieve this vision, the school is committed to providing high-quality educational programs and creating a bridge between academia, industry, and government. As the first public policy school in the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia, the KSPP is uniquely positioned to offer public policy degrees focusing on management and leadership, energy and climate policy, and data analytics. By providing concentrations in these areas, the school aims to help students develop the skills and knowledge necessary to address pressing policy challenges and make a meaningful impact in their communities and beyond. The KAPSARC School of Public Policy (KSPP) invites applications for a faculty position in public management.

The KAPSARC School of Public Policy (KSPP) invites applications for a faculty position in public management. We welcome candidates from any subfield of public management, including those with research interests that intersect with political science, decision science, and/or economics. The KSPP offers a highly competitive salary and benefits package, including children's educational support, housing support, and premier health insurance.

Responsibilities:

The successful candidate will be expected to carry out impactful research, teach courses related to the candidate's research field, contribute to core courses and/or electives in public sector management and leadership, supervise capstone projects, and contribute to the overall academic environment of the School.

Qualifications:

The successful candidate must have a Ph.D. in management science, political science, or similar disciplines with a track record of research on public management topics.

To apply, please visit: <https://www.kspp.edu.sa/careers/faculty-public-management>

Start Date:

Date Posted: 11/4/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15147

PUBLIC LAW

University of Central Missouri

Rank: Assistant Professor - Political Science - Tenure Track

Specializations: Constitutional Law & Theory, Civil Rights & Liberties, Judicial Politics

Description:

The Department of Government, Law, and International Affairs (GLIA) at the University of Central Missouri (UCM) is seeking qualified candidates to fill a 9-month, tenure-track Assistant Professor position in American Politics with an emphasis on U.S. Constitutional Law beginning August 2026. GLIA resides in the College of Arts, Humanities, and Social Sciences (CAHSS).

Faculty in CAHSS support the University's mission of providing a high-quality education and are committed to the success of their students.

Successful candidates should be prepared to teach undergraduate (and potentially graduate) courses in American Government, Public Law, Constitutional Law, as well as Civil Rights and Liberties. Preference will be given to candidates who can also teach Administrative Law, Trial Advocacy, and/or the American Presidency.

Additionally, candidates should be prepared to serve as the Coach of the UCM Mock Trial team (negotiated with the Chair as part of the teaching load or service).

Candidates must be committed to excellence in teaching and are expected to carry out a sustained research agenda in their area of expertise.

Candidates with a Ph.D. in Political Science are preferred, but ABDs in Political Science and J.D.s will be considered.

Review of completed applications will begin October 31st, 2025, and will continue until the position is filled.

Examples of Duties:

The faculty member's job duties will include:

Teach 9-12 hours per semester in consultation with the Department Chair.

Coach the Mock Trial team.

Conduct scholarly research in their area of expertise.

Advise and mentor undergraduate Political Science majors who pursue a Legal Studies minor.

Undertake service at the department, college, and/or university levels.

Teaching:

The primary responsibility of the faculty is quality teaching in their respective content areas, regardless of delivery format. This entails adequate preparation for courses, effective course design and instruction, and fair and timely evaluation/feedback of student progress. To ensure quality teaching, faculty must be committed to student success and ongoing assessment of curriculum and student learning.

Keep current in your discipline.

Organize courses to facilitate quality student engagement and high-impact practices.

Assist department/school chairs with scheduling classes that meet the needs of students.

Comply with departmental, college, and university standards concerning the academic quality and integrity of their classes.

Keep current in their use of technology by attending university training sessions and other professional development opportunities.

Be available to meet students outside the classroom by being available before or after classes and scheduling office hours in both physical and electronic formats, including in-person and virtual office hours.

Assist with department and college assessment and be proactive with modifications to the curriculum based on assessment feedback.

Scholarship/Professional Development:

The strength of a university rests on the knowledge and skills of its faculty.

Faculty must stay current in their field of expertise/teaching area.

Authoring academic writings.

Presentation of work at local/state/regional/national conferences.

Active membership and/or office holding in professional organizations at the local/state/regional/national levels.

Service:

An expectation of a professional faculty member is to serve the department, college, and university community.

Attending department/college/university meetings.

Engaging in committee work that will advance the department/college/institution.

Assisting with student mentoring.

Participating in graduation and convocation ceremonies.

Serve on committees at the department, college, and university levels.

Typical Qualifications

Candidates with a Ph.D. in Political Science are preferred, but ABDs in Political Science and J.D.s will be considered.

Supplemental Information:

UCM is located 40 miles southeast of the Kansas City Metropolitan area. It is a public comprehensive university with roughly 11,000 students providing a small-college learning environment coupled with large-university opportunities.

The Department of GLIA offers B.A. and B.S. degrees in Political Science, a B.A. degree in International Studies, and minors in those fields as well as Legal Studies and Global Security Studies. More information about GLIA can be found here: <https://www.ucmo.edu/>

college-of-arts-humanities-and-social-sciences/departments/government-law-and-international-affairs/

To apply, Candidates must complete the online faculty profile (position #997659) by going to

<https://www.schooljobs.com/careers/ucmo>.

Candidates will attach a cover letter, curriculum vitae, three letters of recommendation, writing sample, statement of teaching philosophy, evidence of teaching effectiveness, and copies of transcripts showing all degrees completed to their online application.

UCM requires that all applicants for this position complete the online faculty profile and submit it to the appropriate position for consideration at <https://www.schooljobs.com/careers/ucmo>.

All documents requested for this position must also be attached to the faculty profile at the time of application. Only completed faculty profiles with attached documents will be accepted for this position.

Direct inquiries regarding this position to: Dr. Gregory Streich, Search Committee Chair, at streich@ucmo.edu

For information about the online application process, contact Human Resources at humanresources@ucmo.edu or (660) 543-4255 and note position #997659 in the request.

Special Instructions:

Full-time benefits-eligible position: Benefits include competitive salary; health, dental, vision, life insurance, AD & D, long-term disability; 3 weeks paid vacation per year; 3 weeks of accrued sick leave per year; 13 paid holidays; retirement; and generous education assistance for an employee, spouse and dependent children taking classes at UCM.

Completed UCM online application for employment required. Incomplete applications will not be considered.

NOTE: A background check is required for the selected candidate of all staff, faculty, adjunct, and temporary positions and any job offer is contingent on the results of this check. Student employees and graduate assistants do not require a background check to be conducted prior to employment.

The University of Central Missouri is an Equal Opportunity Employer and specifically invites applications from women, minorities, veteran status, and people with disabilities.

Start Date: Fall 2026

Application Deadline: 10/31/2025

Date Posted: 8/1/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15692

Princeton University

Rank: Assistant/Associate/Full Professor, Public Law

The Department of Politics is seeking applications from well-qualified individuals for a faculty position in public law. This position involves teaching at the graduate and undergraduate levels. We seek applicants with demonstrated excellence in research and a commitment to teaching and mentoring. Applicants are expected to have earned their PhD by September 2026. Interested applicants should apply online at <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/39421>.

Candidates should submit a vita, cover letter, research statement, writing sample, transcripts, and the names and contact information of three references. Unofficial transcripts are sufficient and may be uploaded with the application. Applicants who are unable to upload unofficial transcripts may send official transcripts to: Public Law Search Committee, Department of Politics, 001 Fisher Hall, Princeton, NJ 08544.

Senior scholars should submit a letter of interest along with a vita, but no publications or other writings at this time.

We will begin reviewing applications on September 17, 2025.

Princeton University is an Equal Opportunity Employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to age, race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law. This position is subject to the University's background check policy.

Requisition Number D-26-POL-00001

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 9/17/2025

Date Posted: 7/30/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15720

Lafayette College

Rank: Assistant Professor of American Politics (American Public Law)

Specializations: Constitutional Law & Theory, Civil Rights & Liberties, Social Movements

The Department of Government and Law at Lafayette College invites applications for a tenure-track position in American Politics at the rank of Assistant Professor commencing July 1, 2026. The Department seeks candidates specializing in U.S. Public Law, with research and teaching expertise in law and society, constitutional law, and civil rights. Research programs that focus on law through the lenses of politics and power, as well as additional expertise in American political development and social movements, are especially welcome.

Applicants must possess a Ph.D. in political science or demonstrate the Ph.D. is near completion. The successful candidate will teach Introduction to U.S. Politics, Law and Society, and other intermediate and advanced courses in their areas of expertise, including one or more courses in the Department's constitutional law offerings. The successful candidate will also be expected to make a contribution to the College's interdisciplinary programs and maintain an active research agenda. The Department especially welcomes applications from candidates who will contribute to Lafayette's commitment to diversity and inclusion. The teaching load during the first year is four courses (normally two each semester) and five courses each year thereafter.

Applications should include a letter of intent, curriculum vitae, sample of scholarly work, graduate school transcript, evidence of teaching ability (including, if available, syllabi and teaching evaluations), and three letters of recommendation. The letter of intent should contain a statement of teaching philosophy and scholarly interests, and address the ways in which the applicant's teaching, scholarship, and/or community engagement will advance Lafayette College's commitment to diversity, equity, and inclusion as articulated in the College's diversity statement (<https://belong.lafayette.edu/diversity-statement/>).

Please upload application materials electronically through Interfolio at <https://apply.interfolio.com/170467>. Review of applications will begin on September 22, 2025 and continue until the position is filled. Questions may be directed to the Search Committee Chair, Professor Michael Feola (feola@lafayette.edu).

Located within 70 miles of New York City and Philadelphia, Lafayette College is a highly selective undergraduate liberal arts and engineering institution with significant resources to support faculty members in their teaching and scholarship. Lafayette College is committed to creating a diverse community, one that is inclusive and responsive, and is supportive of its faculty, students, and staff. All members of the College community share a responsibility for creating, maintaining, and developing a learning environment in which difference is valued, equity is sought, and inclusiveness is practiced. Lafayette welcomes applicants from diverse backgrounds.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 9/22/2025

Date Posted: 7/17/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15679

University of California, Berkeley

Rank: Assistant Professor - Department of Political Science

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, International Relations, Public Law

Assistant Professor - Department of Political Science

Position overview

Salary range: The current salary range for this position is $80,800-$128,700 (9-month academic year salary), however, off-scale salary and other components of pay, which would yield compensation that is higher than this range, are offered to meet competitive conditions.

Anticipated start: 07/01/2026

Application Window

Open date: July 15, 2025

Next review date: Tuesday, Sep 2, 2025 at 11:59pm (Pacific Time)
Apply by this date to ensure full consideration by the committee.

Final date: Tuesday, Sep 2, 2025 at 11:59pm (Pacific Time)
Applications will continue to be accepted until this date.

Position description

The Charles and Louise Travers Department of Political Science in the College of Letters and Science at the University of California, Berkeley invites applications for a full-time tenure-track Assistant Professor faculty position in political science with preference for scholars who work in the areas of: American Politics, International Relations, or Public Law.

The Charles and Louise Travers Department of Political Science is committed to fostering an environment in which all members of the Berkeley community feel empowered to pursue their educational goals in a welcoming environment. We believe that every individual must be treated with equality and dignity as we work together to ensure the success of students, staff, and faculty. For more information, please visit the department website: <https://polisci.berkeley.edu/>.

The Charles and Louise Travers Department of Political Science is committed to addressing the family needs of faculty, including dual career couples and single parents. We are also interested in candidates who have had non-traditional career paths or who have taken time off for family reasons, or who have achieved excellence in careers outside academia. For information about potential relocation to Berkeley, or career needs of accompanying partners and spouses, please visit: <http://ofew.berkeley.edu/new-faculty>.

Department: <https://polisci.berkeley.edu/>

Qualifications

Basic qualifications (required at time of application)

PhD (or equivalent international degree), or enrolled in PhD or equivalent international degree granting program at the time of application.

Preferred qualifications

Evidence of strong research productivity.

Successful applicants will support undergraduate and graduate teaching and mentoring, contribute to the department's collaborative academic environment, and advance research agendas.

Application Requirements

Document requirements

- Curriculum Vitae - Your most recently updated C.V.

• Cover Letter

- Statement of Research - Please discuss research accomplishments and proposed plans. This can include, for example, your publication record, awards, presentations, inclusive research practices that promote the excellence of your research, and areas for future research.

- Statement of Teaching and Mentoring - Please discuss prior teaching experience, teaching approach, and future teaching interests. This can include, for example, specific efforts and accomplishments, and future plans to support the success of all students through inclusive curriculum, classroom environment, and pedagogy. Please also discuss your mentoring experiences and approach. This can include, for example, past efforts and future plans to support the success of all students, and to foster an inclusive research environment that removes barriers and promotes equitable access and advancement of the research program.

- Sample of Significant Written Scholarship One - Please provide a sample of significant written scholarship.

- Sample of Significant Written Scholarship Two - Please provide a sample of significant written scholarship.
(Optional)

- Sample of Significant Written Scholarship Three - Please provide a sample of significant written scholarship.
(Optional)

- Covid Impact Statement - If applicable, please provide a statement discussing if COVID-19 has impacted your research.

(Optional)

- Statement of Service - Please discuss specific prior and proposed academic, professional and/or public service activities. This can include, for example, participating in professional or scientific associations, serving on committees that advance department, campus or discipline goals, and conducting outreach activities that can remove barriers and increase participation of academics in your field.

- Authorization Release Form - A reference check will be completed only if you are selected as the candidate to whom the hiring unit would like to extend a formal offer.

Download, complete, sign, and upload the https://apo.berkeley.edu/sites/default/files/authorization_release_of_information_form.pdf.

Reference requirements

- 3 letters of reference required

It is preferred that letters of reference be received by referees no later than the final date to apply (September 2, 2025).

Apply link: <https://apptrkr.com/6384544>

Help contact: knera@berkeley.edu

About UC Berkeley

UC Berkeley is committed to diversity, equity, inclusion, and belonging in our public mission of research, teaching, and service, consistent with <https://regents.universityofcalifornia.edu/governance/policies/4400.html> and University of California Academic Personnel policy (https://www.ucop.edu/academic-personnel-programs/_files/apm/apm-210.pdf). These values are embedded in our <https://chancellor.berkeley.edu/about/principles-community>, which reflect our passion for critical inquiry, debate, discovery and innovation, and our deep commitment to contributing to a better world. Every member of the UC Berkeley community has a role in sustaining a safe, caring and humane environment in which these values can thrive.

The University of California, Berkeley is an Equal Opportunity employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability, age, or protected veteran status.

For more information, please refer to the https://www.ucop.edu/academic-personnel-programs/_files/apm/apm-035.pdf and the <https://policy.ucop.edu/doc/1001004/Anti-Discrimination>.

In searches when letters of reference are required all letters will be treated as confidential per University of California policy and California state law. Please refer potential referees, including when letters are provided via a third party (i.e., dossier service or career center), to the <http://apo.berkeley.edu/ucb-confidentiality-policy> prior to submitting their letter.

As a University employee, you will be required to comply with all applicable University policies and/or collective bargaining agreements, as may be amended from time to time. Federal, state, or local government directives may impose additional requirements.

The University of California is committed to creating and maintaining a community dedicated to the advancement, application, and transmission of knowledge and creative endeavors through academic excellence, where all individuals who participate in University programs and activities can work and learn together in a safe and secure environment, free of violence, harassment, or discrimination. Consistent with this commitment, UC Berkeley requires all applicants for Senate faculty positions to complete, sign, and upload an Authorization of Information Release form into AP Recruit as part of their application. If an applicant does not include the signed authorization, the application will be considered incomplete, and as with any incomplete application, will not receive further consideration. Although all applicants for faculty recruitments must complete the entire application, applicants will only be subject to institutional reference checks if and when they are selected as the candidate to whom the hiring unit would like to extend a formal offer. More information is available on <https://apo.berkeley.edu/misconduct-disclosure-review>.

As a condition of employment, the finalist will be required to disclose if they are subject to any final administrative or judicial decisions within the last seven years determining that they committed any misconduct.

- “Misconduct” means any violation of the policies or laws governing conduct at the applicant's previous place of employment, including, but not limited to, violations of policies or laws prohibiting sexual harassment, sexual assault, or other forms of harassment or discrimination, as defined by the employer.

- <https://policy.ucop.edu/doc/4000385/SVSH>
- <https://policy.ucop.edu/doc/1001004/Anti-Discrimination>
- https://www.ucop.edu/academic-personnel-programs/_files/apm/apm-035.pdf

Job location
Berkeley, CA

To apply, visit <https://apptrkr.com/6384544>

Copyright ©2025 Jobelephant.com Inc. All rights reserved.

<https://www.jobelephant.com/>

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 9/2/2025

Date Posted: 7/17/2025

Salary: $80,000 - $89,999

eJobs ID: 15682

Texas Christian University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Judicial Politics

Position Details:

The Department of Political Science Texas Christian University invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track assistant professor with specialization in public law and/or judicial politics to begin August 2026. We seek applications from talented teacher-scholars with a record of (or potential for) successful scholarly publication, undergraduate teaching, and academic service. The successful candidate should have a Ph.D. in Political Science in hand by the start date. The position carries a 3/2 teaching load, competitive salary, and internal research support.

Required Application Materials & Application Instructions:

Applications should upload a letter of application, a curriculum vitae, a writing sample, and statements (up to two pages for each) detailing their research agenda and teaching interests. Three reference letters should be also submitted. Additional materials may be requested of finalists. Full review of applications begins on October 1 and will continue until the position is filled. All questions regarding the application process may be directed to Human Resources at hrtalentacquisition@tcu.edu or 817-257-7790. Questions about the position may be directed to the search committee chair, Emily Farris, at e.farris@tcu.edu.

Department Details:

The TCU political science department has 15 full-time faculty members and nearly 400 majors in two undergraduate degrees with a Bachelor of Science and Bachelor of Arts. TCU political science faculty lead co-curricular programs such as pre-law advising, Moot Court, Model U.N., and Washington and local internships. They also teach and contribute to interdisciplinary programs, including Women and Gender Studies, Comparative Race and Ethnic Studies, Asian Studies, and Middle East Studies. The department is the editorial home to the journal Social Science Quarterly.

School/College Description:

Named for TCU's founders, Addison and Randolph Clark, the AddRan College of Liberal Arts is home to the core academic disciplines of the humanities and social sciences. The College includes approximately 155 full-time faculty members, 13 departments (Comparative Race & Ethnic Studies, Criminology & Criminal Justice, Economics, English, Geography, History, Modern Language Studies, Philosophy, Political Science, Religion, Sociology & Anthropology, Spanish and Hispanic Studies, and Women & Gender Studies), and two units of Reserve Officers' Training Corps (Army and Air Force). AddRan College departments confer 17 Bachelor of Arts and 7 Bachelor of Science degrees, a Bachelor of General Studies, an online master's degree in Criminology and Criminal Justice, a Master of Liberal Arts degree, and master's and Ph.D. degrees in History, English, and Rhetoric and Composition.

University & Fort Worth Description:

ABOUT TCU

Founded in 1873, Texas Christian University sits on 302 acres nestled in a primarily residential part of Fort Worth, just minutes away from downtown. The University includes seven schools and colleges, in addition to the John V. Roach Honors College and the Burnett School of Medicine.

Currently, TCU enrolls more than 10,200 undergraduates and 1,700 graduate students. Twenty-eight percent of students self-identify as a member of a minority group, five percent are international students, and forty-five percent are from out-of-state. Our students are supported by more than 2,200 faculty and staff. The University has more than 700 full-time faculty members and is a top 100 National University as classified by US News and World Report and has a Carnegie Classification of R2: Doctoral Universities – High Research Activity.

ABOUT FORT WORTH

Like TCU, Fort Worth has the approachable, friendly charm of a smaller town, but offers the amenities, cultural activities, diversity and unique personality of a much larger city. Fort Worth, Texas, is the 13th largest city in the United States with an ever-growing population nearing 1 million. Fort Worth and TCU have grown together in a nearly 150-year relationship. You'll find that many Horned Frogs remain here after graduation, thanks to the region's thriving job market. Fort Worth is part of the Dallas-Fort Worth metropolitan area, the fourth largest metropolitan area in the United States, and the number 1 tourist destination in Texas. In 2018, bizjournals.com ranked Fort Worth the 7th most affordable city to live and work in the United States and U.S. News and World Report named Fort Worth one of the Best Places to Live. Fort Worth, Dallas and Arlington all rank among the top 25 most diverse cities in the country.

Fort Worth is known for its vast array of cultural, educational and entertainment opportunities. The city boasts three world class art museums—the Kimbell Art Museum, the Modern Art Museum of Fort Worth and the Amon Carter Museum of American Art. The Bass Performance Hall is one of the premier performance venues in the country. Concerts, film festivals and other events are held regularly at Sundance Square, Panther Island and Near Southside venues.

Start Date: Fall 2026

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/11/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15660

Loyola Marymount University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

The Department of Political Science and International Relations at Loyola Marymount University invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position in public law.

The successful candidate will have a demonstrated research and teaching interest in the areas of race and inequality. Applications are welcome from those who study courts as political institutions, jurisprudence and areas of law including administrative law, environmental law, voting rights, criminal justice reform, housing justice, and civil rights. The standard teaching load is 2-2-2-3 over two academic years (that is, 2-2 one year and 2-3 the following year). A Ph.D. is required at the time of appointment.

We are seeking to hire a dedicated teacher and emerging scholar who will embrace the department's mission of helping students become informed, analytically reflective, and engaged global citizens. Successful candidates must demonstrate a commitment to working with diverse student and community populations. Our department welcomes antiracist and inclusive pedagogies, and/or curricula.

Candidates should submit application materials via the LMU Human Resources online application portal:

https://lmu.wd1.myworkdayjobs.com/en-US/Careers/job/Westchester-Campus/Assistant-Professor-in-Political-Science-and-International-Relations_R12098

Please be aware that the portal can only accept 5 attachments. Applicants must include: 1) a cover letter; 2) a curriculum vitae; 3) a research statement; 4) a statement of teaching philosophy and (if available) teaching evaluations; and 5) two writing samples. Three confidential letters of recommendation should be submitted directly to Luke Hart-Moynihan at luke.hart-moynihan@lmu.edu.

Only online applications will be accepted. Please direct questions to the Chair of the Department of Political Science and International Relations, Gabriele Magni, at Gabriele.magni@lmu.edu.

The deadline for applications is September 8, 2025.

Faculty Regular

Reasonable expected salary: $87,000.00

Loyola Marymount University, a Carnegie classified R2 institution in the mainstream of American Catholic higher education, seeks outstanding applicants who value its mission and share its commitment to inclusive excellence, the education of the whole person, and the building of a just society. LMU is an equal opportunity employer committed to providing an environment free from discrimination and harassment as defined by federal, state and local law. We invite all persons in the full diversity of their being, life experience, and beliefs to apply. (Visit www.lmu.edu for more information.)

Start Date: Fall 2026

Application Deadline: 9/8/2025

Date Posted: 7/7/2025

Salary: $80,000 - $89,999

eJobs ID: 15651

University of Michigan

Rank: WCEE Postdoctoral Fellow

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Public Law, Political Theory

The Weiser Center for Europe and Eurasia seeks to hire a scholar of contemporary Russia for a two-year WCEE Postdoctoral Fellowship, from August 2026 to July 2028. We encourage applications from specialists on Russia proper as well as those who focus on Russia's interactions with its neighbors (the Baltic states, Moldova, Belarus, Ukraine, the Caucasus, Central Asia, Mongolia, China, Japan). Candidates should have a PhD completed, or nearly completed, in the social sciences and/or cultural studies, broadly construed. We are especially interested in scholars who will complement and add to the coverage offered by our existing faculty.

WCEE Postdoctoral Fellows are expected to focus on their own research, participate in the center's events, present at least one public lecture during their two-year fellowship, and teach one course per year at the University of Michigan while in full-time residency.

Eligibility:

Eligibility is restricted to applicants who have obtained their PhD no earlier than January 1, 2024. Current doctoral candidates are eligible to apply but must have defended and filed their dissertations by July 31, 2026.

Benefits:

Fellowships carry an annual salary of $60,000 and up to $10,000 in research funds during the postdoctoral appointment. Fellowship recipients will be eligible for U-M health, dental, and life insurance options (beginning August 1, 2026 through July 31, 2028). Fellows have full access to U-M library resources.

Application materials:

Candidates should submit the following via Interfolio (<https://apply.interfolio.com/169185>):

- A research proposal (2000 words maximum) that describes your intellectual objectives and concrete plan for the fellowship duration
- Curriculum Vitae
- A scholarly writing sample, such as a dissertation chapter or peer-reviewed journal article (50 pages maximum)
- Teaching statement with potential course topics
- Two letters of recommendation

To be assured full consideration, fellowship applications should be received by October 15, 2025, 11:59 PM EST. Successful applicants will be notified by December 2025.

Start Date: Fall 2026
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 7/1/2025
Salary: $60,000 - $69,999
eJobs ID: 15610

Baylor University

Rank: Lecturer, Non-Tenure-Track, American Politics
Specializations: Constitutional Law & Theory, Congress, Political Parties & Organizations

To apply, go to: <https://apply.interfolio.com/167836>

Description:

The Department of Political Science at Baylor University seeks a full-time, Regular Lecturer in American Politics to begin August 2026. The primary teaching responsibility will be teaching a general education course (PSC 1387: The U.S. Constitution, Its Interpretation, and the American Political Experience). Opportunities to teach courses in Congress, the Supreme Court, political parties, or state politics may also be available.

Regular Lecturer appointments are renewable full-time, benefits-eligible, teaching-focused positions with six-year promotion paths to Senior Lecturer for successful candidates and twelve-year promotion paths to Teaching Professor for highly successful candidates. For more information, see Baylor University's Policy on Full-Time Lecturers, Senior Lecturers, and Teaching Professors.

Complete applications must be submitted by 11pm Central Daylight Time on October 31, 2025.

About Baylor University:

Baylor University is located in Waco, Texas and is the oldest college in the state. It has a diverse student population of 21,000 and is recognized as one of the top universities in the nation, achieving R1 institution status by the Carnegie Classification in January 2022. Baylor also made it to the honor roll of "Great Colleges to Work For" from The Chronicle of Higher Education. It offers competitive salaries and benefits, allowing faculty and staff to live in one of the fastest-growing parts of the state. Baylor's new strategic plan, Baylor in Deeds, guides the University as it continues to fulfill its mission of educating men and women for worldwide leadership and service by integrating academic excellence and Christian commitment within a caring community.

Qualifications:

Candidate must have a Ph.D. in political science or a related field by the time of appointment. Teaching experience is preferred.

Application Instructions. To apply, candidates should submit:

1. Cover letter
2. Curriculum vitae
3. Statement of teaching philosophy
4. Teaching portfolio (including student evaluations and sample syllabi, if available)
5. Three letters of recommendation
6. Transcript from highest degree granting institution (unofficial copy acceptable)
7. Completed self-disclosed Religious Affiliation Form (found in Interfolio)

If you have questions about the position, please contact the search committee chair, Dr. Dave Bridge (David_Bridge@baylor.edu).

Start Date: Fall 2026
Application Deadline: 10/31/2025
Date Posted: 6/6/2025
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 15605

Baylor University

Rank: Lecturer, Full-Time, Temporary - Political Science

To apply, go to: <https://apply.interfolio.com/164380>

Applications will be reviewed as they are received.

Baylor University: Office of the Provost: Arts and Sciences: Arts and Sciences - Humanities and Social Sciences: Political Science

This is a temporary lecturer position with full-time responsibilities teaching courses in the Department of Political Science during the 2025-2026 academic year. Primary teaching responsibilities will be the core curriculum common course, PSC 1387 The U.S. Constitution, Its Interpretation, and the American Constitutional Experience. We especially welcome applicants with research or undergraduate teaching experience in American politics, public law, or political or constitutional theory. An ability to teach introductory courses in another subfield of political science is welcome but not required. Finalists will be required to attend an on-campus interview with University administration. Employment will be contingent upon the successful completion of a background check.

Located in Waco, Texas, Baylor University is the oldest college in Texas. With a population of 21,000 diverse students, Baylor is one of the top universities in the nation, having been named an R1 institution by the Carnegie Classification in January 2022. Baylor is also on the honor roll of the "Great Colleges to Work For" from The Chronicle of Higher Education; Baylor offers competitive salaries and benefits while allowing faculty and staff to live in one of the fastest-growing parts of the state. Our strategic plan, Illuminate, guides the University as we continue to live up to Baylor's mission of educating men and women for worldwide leadership and service by integrating academic excellence and Christian commitment within a caring community.

Qualifications

The successful applicant must hold an advanced degree in the teaching discipline, preferably the Ph.D., by the start date of the appointment. Teaching experience is preferred.

The following application materials should be submitted through Interfolio:

- (1) a cover/application letter,
- (2) current curriculum vitae,
- (3) an official transcript of the highest degree completed (if a Ph.D. or other advanced degree is in progress, a transcript showing hours completed toward the Ph.D. is also required)

All applicants must complete the self-disclosed Religious Affiliation Form in Interfolio.

Start Date: Fall 2025
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 3/21/2025

Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 15523

University of Nevada, Las Vegas

Rank: Assistant Professor-in-Residence, Public Law, Department of Political Science

https://nshe.wd1.myworkdayjobs.com/en-US/UNLV-External/job/UNLV1-Main-Campus-Las-Vegas/Assistant-Professor-in-Residence--Public-Law--Department-of-Political-Science--R0146179-_R0146179

The Department of Political Science at the University of Nevada, Las Vegas, invites applications from well-qualified individuals for an Assistant Professor-in-Residence of Public Law starting in the fall semester of 2025. At UNLV, faculty-in-residence are full-time, non-tenure-track, instruction-intensive faculty members with a promotional track from Assistant Professor-in-Residence, to Associate Professor-in-Residence, to Professor-in-Residence. Faculty-in-Residence in the Department of Political Science participate in departmental meetings and committees, and they contribute to departmental deliberation and decision making on most matters. Job responsibilities include teaching twelve credits in each of the fall and spring semesters, which may include a mixture of in-person and online classes. In addition to teaching introductory courses in American politics, the successful candidate will be expected to teach undergraduate courses in the American judicial process and various topics in constitutional law from a social science perspective. Other responsibilities include mentoring undergraduate students and providing appropriate levels of service at the department, college, and university levels. The department is interested in candidates whose professional experience has prepared them to contribute to our commitment to diversity and inclusion in higher education.

Start Date: Fall 2025
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 2/5/2025
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 15398

Dickinson College

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor of Political Science (Comparative Law/Law and Society)

The Political Science and Law & Policy programs at Dickinson College seek applications for a full-time Visiting Assistant Professor of law and society. A successful applicant will have research and teaching interests in either law and society or in comparative law. This position is for one year with the possibility of renewal and carries a five-course (annual) teaching load. The department expects the successful candidate to be a committed, collaborative, and imaginative scholar with a Ph.D. in hand by September 2025.

Dickinson College is a highly selective four-year, independent liberal arts college with 2300 students. It is located 20 minutes west of Harrisburg and is a two-hour drive from Baltimore, Washington, D.C., and Philadelphia. Students, faculty, and staff often enjoy the food, art, entertainment, and cultural enrichment of these major hubs and/or New York City. The ability to create inclusive learning environments for an increasingly diverse student body will be an important characteristic of the successful candidate. Applicants may highlight their ongoing or anticipated contributions to promoting equity and inclusion in their materials. Interested candidates should apply for this position electronically via <https://jobs.dickinson.edu>.

Review of applications will begin February 1, 2025. Candidates should submit via QUEST (online application system) at <https://jobs.dickinson.edu>; please include a letter of application, a curriculum vitae, a graduate transcript, three letters of recommendation, a statement of teaching philosophy, sample syllabi, and teaching evaluations or other evidence of teaching effectiveness. Review of applications will begin at the start of February and will continue until the position is filled. Please address questions to the department chair, J. Toby Reiner at: reinerj@dickinson.edu.

Dickinson College is committed to building a representative and diverse faculty, administrative staff, and student body. We strive to foster an inclusive community where members from all backgrounds can live, learn, and thrive together. Accordingly, we encourage applications from all qualified persons.

Start Date:
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 1/9/2025
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 15333

Dickinson College

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor of Political Science (US Public Law)

The Political Science and Law & Policy programs at Dickinson College seek applications for a full-time Visiting Assistant Professor of American Public Law. A successful applicant will have research and teaching interests in either constitutional law or the judiciary. The ability to teach either American politics or political theory at introductory level is a plus. This position is for one year with the possibility of renewal and carries a five-course (annual) teaching load. The department expects the successful candidate to be a committed, collaborative, and imaginative scholar with a Ph.D. in hand by September 2025.

Dickinson College is a highly selective four-year, independent liberal arts college with 2300 students. It is located 20 minutes west of Harrisburg and is a two-hour drive from Baltimore, Washington, D.C., and Philadelphia. Students, faculty, and staff often enjoy the food, art, entertainment, and cultural enrichment of these major hubs and/or New York City. The ability to create inclusive learning environments for an increasingly diverse student body will be an important characteristic of the successful candidate. Applicants may highlight their ongoing or anticipated contributions to promoting equity and inclusion in their materials.

Interested candidates should apply for this position electronically via <https://jobs.dickinson.edu>. Review of applications will begin February 1, 2025. Candidates should submit via QUEST (online application system) at <https://jobs.dickinson.edu>; please include a letter of application, a curriculum vitae, a graduate transcript, three letters of recommendation, a statement of teaching philosophy, sample syllabi, and teaching evaluations or other evidence of teaching effectiveness.

Review of applications will begin at the start of February and will continue until the position is filled. Please address questions to the department chair, J. Toby Reiner at: reinerj@dickinson.edu. Dickinson College is committed to building a representative and diverse faculty, administrative staff, and student body. We strive to foster an inclusive community where members from all backgrounds can live, learn, and thrive together. Accordingly, we encourage applications from all qualified persons.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 1/9/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15332

PUBLIC POLICY

Princeton University

Rank: Visiting Fellow, Program in Latin American Studies

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Public Policy

Specializations: South America, Central America, Caribbean

Program in Latin American Studies (PLAS) Short-term Visiting Fellowships, 2026-2027

Job Title: Visiting Fellow

Requisition Number: D-25-LAS-00003

The Program in Latin American Studies is launching an open call for applications for next year's visiting short-term fellowships. We are looking for advanced or mid-career scholars from any discipline whose research projects focused on Latin America, including Brazil or the Caribbean. Applications will be accepted from scholars in the humanities and social sciences, as well as from established Latin American writers, artists, filmmakers, or architects working on research or creative projects who may benefit from a short stay at Princeton University.

Appointments will be for one calendar month during the 2026-2027 academic year (September 1, 2026, to June 30, 2027) or the summer (July and August), to be determined on a case-by-case basis. In addition to a stipend, the program will provide up to $2,500 as a housing allowance and up to $2,000 as a travel allowance to reimburse allowable out-of-pocket rental and travel expenses, some of which may be taxable. The work location for these positions is in-person on campus at Princeton University.

Visiting Fellows will be expected to devote themselves to research and to participate regularly in the scholarly activities of the PLAS intellectual community.

How to Apply:

For full consideration, all the materials listed below must be received by October 12, 2025. All candidates must apply online to submit materials at: <https://puwebp.princeton.edu/AcadHire/position/38403>

- 1) Cover letter (in English) indicating the calendar month the applicant proposes to stay), title and short description of the proposed research project, and an explanation for reasons to be here at Princeton (i.e., use the library, look at particular archives, work with members of the faculty, etc.);
- 2) Curriculum vitae (in English);
- 3) A statement (in English) describing the research project as well as the ways Princeton resources and/or faculty will be useful for the project (1,000-1500 words);
- 4) The names and contact information of two referees. (The Program will contact them, if needed, later).

Expected Salary Range: $5,000 per month

The University considers factors such as (but not limited to) scope and responsibilities of the position, candidate's qualifications, work experience, education/training, key skills, market, collective bargaining agreements as applicable, and organizational considerations when extending an offer. The posted salary range represents the University's good faith and reasonable estimate for a full-time position; salaries for part-time positions are pro-rated accordingly.

The University also offers a comprehensive benefit program to eligible employees. Please see this link for more information <https://hr.princeton.edu/thrive/health>.

Start Date: Fall 2026

Date Posted: 8/1/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15709

Princeton University

Rank: Visiting Research Scholar, Program in Latin American Studies

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Public Policy

Specializations: South America, Central America, Caribbean

Program in Latin American Studies (PLAS) Visiting Fellowship, 2026-2027

Job Title: Visiting Research Scholar

Requisition Number: D-25-LAS-00002

The Program in Latin American Studies (PLAS) is seeking top scholars in their fields who have teaching experience and will provide Princeton students with an opportunity to study topics that are not regularly offered at the University. Applications will be accepted from outstanding scholars in the humanities and social sciences, as well as from established writers, artists, filmmakers, or architects working on projects related to Latin America.

Visiting Research Scholars will be expected to teach one undergraduate course per semester, conditional upon sufficient enrollments and approval of the Office of the Dean of the Faculty, and to participate regularly in PLAS-related events on campus.

Appointments are expected to be for one or two semesters during the 2026-2027 academic year (fall semester: September 1, 2026 - January 16, 2027; spring semester: January 16, 2026 - June 1, 2027). In addition to salary, the program will provide up to $7,500 as a housing allowance and up to $2,000 as a travel allowance to reimburse allowable out-of-pocket rental and travel expenses, some of which may be taxable. If teaching, the visitor would be paid at a nominally higher rate.

The work location for this position is in-person on campus at Princeton University.

How to Apply:

For full consideration, all the materials listed must be received by October 12, 2025, 11:59 p.m. EST. All candidates must submit materials (in English) and apply online at: <https://puwebp.princeton.edu/AcadHire/position/38402>

- 1) Cover letter indicating the applicant's proposed length of stay (1-2 semesters), title and short description of the proposed research project, and teaching interests;

- 2) Curriculum vitae;
- 3) One undergraduate seminar proposal or syllabus for each proposed semester of the fellowship, including a statement of how the course(s) would enhance undergraduate education at Princeton;
- 4) A statement describing the research project and its scholarly contribution (1,500 - 2,000 words);
- 5) The names and contact information of two referees (the Program will contact them, if needed, later).

Advanced degree preferred.

Expected Salary Range: $49,250 per semester

The University considers factors such as (but not limited to) scope and responsibilities of the position, candidate's qualifications, work experience, education/training, key skills, market, collective bargaining agreements as applicable, and organizational considerations when extending an offer. The posted salary range represents the University's good faith and reasonable estimate for a full-time position; salaries for part-time positions are pro-rated accordingly.

The University also offers a comprehensive benefit program to eligible employees. Please see this link for more information <https://hr.princeton.edu/thrive/health>.

Start Date: Fall 2026

Application Deadline: 10/12/2025

Date Posted: 8/1/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15710

KAPSARC School of Public Policy

Rank: Faculty Position in Political Science

Subfield(s): Public Administration, Political Theory, Public Policy

The KAPSARC School of Public Policy (KSPP) invites applications for a faculty position in political science. We welcome candidates whose research, teaching, and outreach activities broadly address political science topics.

The successful candidate will be expected to carry out impactful research, teach courses related to the candidate's research field, contribute to core courses and/or electives in political science, supervise capstone projects, and contribute to the overall academic environment of the school. The successful candidate must have a Ph.D. in political science.

The KSPP is a newly established graduate school that offers master's and executive education programs. The first cohort of master's students commenced their graduate studies in the fall of 2024. Situated in the thriving capital city of Riyadh, Saudi Arabia, on the state-of-the-art KAPSARC campus, the KSPP is well-placed to offer students an exceptional educational experience.

The KSPP's vision is to be a world-class education and research institution that prepares the next generation of public policy leaders and professionals within the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia and globally. To achieve this vision, the school is committed to providing high-quality educational programs and creating a bridge between academia, industry, and government. As the first public policy school in the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia, the KSPP is uniquely positioned to offer public policy degrees focusing on management and leadership, energy and climate policy, and data analytics. By providing concentrations in these fields, the school aims to help students develop the skills and knowledge necessary to address pressing policy challenges and make a meaningful impact in their communities and beyond.

The KSPP offers a highly competitive salary and benefits package, including children's educational support, housing support, and premier health insurance.

Start Date:

Date Posted: 7/24/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15698

KAPSARC School of Public Policy

Rank: Faculty Position in Public Management

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Public Administration, Political Theory

The KAPSARC School of Public Policy (KSPP) invites applications for a faculty position in public management. We welcome candidates from any subfield of public management, including those with research interests that intersect with political science, decision science, and/or economics.

The successful candidate will be expected to carry out impactful research, teach courses related to the candidate's research field, contribute to core courses and/or electives in public sector management and leadership, supervise capstone projects, and contribute to the overall academic environment of the School. The successful candidate must have a Ph.D. in management science, political science, or similar disciplines with a track record of research on public management topics.

The KSPP is a newly established graduate school that offers master's and executive education programs. The first cohort of master's students commenced their graduate studies in the fall of 2024. Situated in the thriving capital city of Riyadh, Saudi Arabia, on the state-of-the-art KAPSARC campus, the KSPP is well-placed to offer students an exceptional educational experience.

The KSPP's vision is to be a world-class education and research institution that prepares the next generation of public policy leaders and professionals within the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia and globally. To achieve this vision, the school is committed to providing high-quality educational programs and creating a bridge between academia, industry, and government. As the first public policy school in the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia, the KSPP is uniquely positioned to offer public policy degrees focusing on management and leadership, energy and climate policy, and data analytics. By providing concentrations in these areas, the school aims to help students develop the skills and knowledge necessary to address pressing policy challenges and make a meaningful impact in their communities and beyond.

The KSPP offers a highly competitive salary and benefits package, including children's educational support, housing support, and premier health insurance.

Start Date:

Date Posted: 7/24/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15697

KAPSARC School of Public Policy

Rank: Faculty Position in Public Policy

Subfield(s): Public Administration, Public Policy, Political Theory

The KAPSARC School of Public Policy (KSPP) invites applications for a faculty position in public policy. We welcome candidates whose research, teaching, and outreach activities broadly focus on applied econometrics and public policy design topics.

The successful candidate will be expected to carry out impactful research, teach courses related to the candidate's research field, contribute to core courses and/or electives in public policy design and evaluation, supervise capstone projects, and contribute to the overall academic environment of the School. The successful candidate must have a Ph.D. in public policy.

The KSPP is a newly established graduate school that offers master's and executive education programs. The first cohort of master's students commenced their graduate studies in the fall of 2024. Situated in the thriving capital city of Riyadh, Saudi Arabia, on the state-of-the-art KAPSARC campus, the KSPP is well-placed to offer students an exceptional educational experience.

The KSPP's vision is to be a world-class education and research institution that prepares the next generation of public policy leaders and professionals within the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia and globally. To achieve this vision, the school is committed to providing high-quality educational programs and creating a bridge between academia, industry, and government. As the first public policy school in the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia, the KSPP is uniquely positioned to offer public policy degrees focusing on management and leadership, energy and climate policy, and data analytics. By providing concentrations in these fields, the school aims to help students develop the skills and knowledge necessary to address pressing policy challenges and make a meaningful impact in their communities and beyond.

The KSPP offers a highly competitive salary and benefits package, including children's educational support, housing support, and premier health insurance.

Start Date:

Date Posted: 7/24/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15699

DePaul University

Rank: Assistant Professor (Tenure Track) - Political Science (American Politics/Geography/Public Policy)

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Policy, Other
Specializations: American Politics, Quantitative Methods, State Politics

The Department of Political Science at DePaul University invites applications for a full-time, tenure track position at the assistant professor level in American Politics (with an emphasis on state and local politics). The successful candidate will be responsible for teaching courses in American Politics, Political Geography and Public Policy. We will give priority to a person whose research would enable them to develop courses with a Chicago focus, and address public policy issues such as gun violence, poverty, sustainability or economic development. An ability to teach social science statistics and/or courses in Geographic Information Systems will also be viewed favorably.

With a total enrollment over 21,000 students, DePaul is one of the largest private non-profit universities in the nation. Yet class sizes are typically between 20 and 40 students, reflecting the value the university places on teaching excellence. Our programs provide high quality, personalized, accessible education to a diverse student body, grounded in the values of St. Vincent de Paul. Our teaching and research advance knowledge and service to society.

For more information, e-mail polisci@depaul.edu or visit the department's web site at <https://las.depaul.edu/academics/political-science/Pages/default.aspx>

DePaul University seeks applicants that reflect the diversity of its student body and the City of Chicago. Those with experience working with diverse faculty, staff, and students, and who can contribute to an inclusive climate are encouraged to apply. Women, members of historically underrepresented groups, and persons with disabilities are particularly encouraged to apply.

Qualifications

A Ph.D. is preferred at the time of appointment, but ABD candidates will be considered.

Application Instructions

Candidates should electronically submit the following: (1) a letter of application (cover letter), (2) a CV, (3) an unofficial transcript of the last degree (earned or in progress), (4) syllabi and (5) complete course evaluations if available. All candidates will also be asked to submit three letters of recommendation.

Applicants may apply at: <https://apply.interfolio.com/170188>

The screening of applications will begin September 15, 2025 and continue until the position is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2026

Date Posted: 7/17/2025

Salary: $70,000 - $79,999

eJobs ID: 15685

Troy University

Rank: Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Comparative Politics, American Government and Politics

The Department of Political Science is accepting applications for a tenure-track position of Assistant Professor of Political Science, with a concentration in policy studies, broadly defined, beginning on August 1, 2025. The successful candidate for this position must have an active and promising research agenda, and enthusiasm for working with first-generation students in a diverse setting. Preference will be given to applicants who possess strengths in research methodology. This is a ten-month tenure-track position at our Troy, Alabama location. Responsibilities include teaching 12 credit hours per semester (4/4 load; undergraduate; face to face with potential for fully online courses), and maintaining an active research agenda. We are also looking for applicants willing to advise students, perform service outside of our department, and contribute to Troy University's identity as "Alabama's International University."

The Department of Political Science at Troy University currently employs fifteen faculty members and we offer Bachelor's of Political Science Degree, a Master's in International Relations (MSIR), and a Master's in Public Administration (MPA). Additional opportunities may arise for the applicant to teach in online courses in one or both of our two graduate programs, and the University offers a wide-range of professional development opportunities to instructors developing and teaching online.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/15/2025

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 15674

Waseda University

Rank: Tenure-track or tenured position in Public Administration/Public Policy(Political Science)

Faculty Recruitment Information in Public Administration/Public Policy(Political Science)

The Faculty of Political Science and Economics at Waseda University invites applications for a tenure-track or tenured position in Public Administration/Public Policy(Political Science) to begin in the spring or fall of 2026 (or a mutually agreed later date).

Qualifications

- Substantial research achievements in Public Administration or Public Policy
- Ability to teach courses in Japanese and English
- Ability to teach research methods in the field of empirical analysis and/or formal models at the Graduate School of Political Science
- Ph.D. in Political Science or a relevant field by the time of appointment
- Teaching experience is desirable

Teaching responsibility:

- Graduate Seminar in the Graduate School of Political Science, Political Science Course
- Related undergraduate courses in the fields of Public Administration and Public Policy

Scheduled start of employment:

April 1, 2026, or September 1, 2026 (or a mutually agreed later date)

For more details and instructions for application, please go to the website at

<https://www.waseda.jp/fpse/pse/news-en/2025/07/10/24379/>

Start Date: Spring 2026

Application Deadline: 9/30/2025

Date Posted: 7/10/2025

Salary: Any

eJobs ID: 15655

University of Michigan

Rank: WCEE Postdoctoral Fellow

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Public Law, Political Theory

The Weiser Center for Europe and Eurasia seeks to hire a scholar of contemporary Russia for a two-year WCEE Postdoctoral Fellowship, from August 2026 to July 2028. We encourage applications from specialists on Russia proper as well as those who focus on Russia's interactions with its neighbors (the Baltic states, Moldova, Belarus, Ukraine, the Caucasus, Central Asia, Mongolia, China, Japan). Candidates should have a PhD completed, or nearly completed, in the social sciences and/or cultural studies, broadly construed. We are especially interested in scholars who will complement and add to the coverage offered by our existing faculty.

WCEE Postdoctoral Fellows are expected to focus on their own research, participate in the center's events, present at least one public lecture during their two-year fellowship, and teach one course per year at the University of Michigan while in full-time residency.

Eligibility:

Eligibility is restricted to applicants who have obtained their PhD no earlier than January 1, 2024. Current doctoral candidates are eligible to apply but must have defended and filed their dissertations by July 31, 2026.

Benefits:

Fellowships carry an annual salary of $60,000 and up to $10,000 in research funds during the postdoctoral appointment. Fellowship recipients will be eligible for U-M health, dental, and life insurance options (beginning August 1, 2026 through July 31, 2028). Fellows have full access to U-M library resources.

Application materials:

Candidates should submit the following via Interfolio (<https://apply.interfolio.com/169185>):

- A research proposal (2000 words maximum) that describes your intellectual objectives and concrete plan for the fellowship duration
- Curriculum Vitae
- A scholarly writing sample, such as a dissertation chapter or peer-reviewed journal article (50 pages maximum)
- Teaching statement with potential course topics
- Two letters of recommendation

To be assured full consideration, fellowship applications should be received by October 15, 2025, 11:59 PM EST. Successful applicants will be notified by December 2025.

Start Date: Fall 2026

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/1/2025

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 15610

National University of Singapore

Rank: Assistant Professor – International Relations, Public Policy, Public Administration

Specializations: International Security, Public Finance & Budgeting, Leadership Studies

Job Description

The Lee Kuan Yew School of Public Policy (LKYSPP), National University of Singapore, invites applications for multiple tenure-track Assistant Professor appointments. One position will be in international security (political science-international relations or other relevant disciplines), which is broadly defined to include traditional and emerging security issues. For the other two positions—in public policy and public administration—the areas of interest are open; however, there is a particular interest in candidates with research and teaching expertise in public budgeting and finance, social policy and administration, leadership in public service, decentralization and local governance, and Technology/AI.

Job Qualifications

The ideal candidate will have:

- a PhD conferred by 1 August 2026 in the fields of international relations, political science, public policy, public administration, or related disciplines;
- publications in quality peer-reviewed journals in their field and/or a strong pipeline of working papers;
- a clear research identity and trajectory to become an independent scholar;
- research that is relevant to contemporary issues in Asia and/or Southeast Asia;
- demonstrated ability to teach core and specialized courses in the public policy school environment; and
- a willingness and ability to mentor graduate students.

Application

Please submit your application package in electronic form (PDF) to the Hiring Committee via AcademicJobsOnline (AJO) <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/30182>. The deadline for submitting the package is September 1, 2025.

The package should include:

1. A cover letter
2. Curriculum Vitae
3. A research statement that outlines your past, current, and future research agenda
4. A teaching statement outlining your pedagogical philosophy and practices, courses taught, and, where available, evidence of teaching effectiveness.
5. Up to two writing samples (please clearly denote which is your primary sample, which can be a job market paper or chapter(s) from a book project)
6. Names and contact information of three referees. Referees will be contacted automatically via AJO with instructions to upload their letters of recommendation.

The cover letter, research statement and teaching statement should each be a maximum of two pages, double-spaced.

Members of the hiring committee will be attending the APSA Annual Conference in Vancouver and will be available for an informational session and preliminary interviews. Shortlisted candidates who are unable to meet at APSA will be contacted separately over email. If you have any questions, you may contact Ms Sarah Seow, Senior Manager, Academic Affairs, LKYSPP at email: sarah@nus.edu.sg.

Additional Information

About the Lee Kuan Yew School of Public Policy

LKYSPP is a leading public policy school in Asia, attracting an internationally diverse, world-class faculty and student body to engage and address the world's most pressing challenges. Its mission is to inspire, improve lives, and take central positions in the policy and governance conversations within Asia and beyond. We do this by working hard on two planks: pursuing academic and intellectual excellence, and crafting lessons for meaningful public policymaking. The school is housed within the National University of Singapore, the highest ranked university in Asia and 8th in the world (QS World University Rankings 2026).

LKYSPP offers highly competitive research funding, salary, relocation and housing support, and other benefits. The teaching load (typically three per academic year) allows faculty to focus on providing quality instruction while maintaining their research excellence. For more information about LKYSPP, please visit www.lkyspp.nus.edu.sg.

Start Date:

Date Posted: 6/25/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15632

National University of Singapore

Rank: Assistant Professor – Public Administration/Public Management

Job Description

The Lee Kuan Yew School of Public Policy (LKYSPP) at the National University of Singapore (NUS) invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position in Public Administration/Public Management. We are especially interested in candidates with research and teaching expertise in public budgeting and finance, social policy and administration, leadership in public service, decentralization and local governance, and Technology/AI.

Job Qualifications

The ideal candidate will have:

- a PhD conferred by 1 August 2026 in the fields of public administration, public management, public policy, political science, or a related discipline at the time of appointment;
- publications in quality peer-reviewed journals in their field and/or a strong pipeline of working papers;
- a clear research identity and trajectory to become an independent scholar;
- research that is relevant to contemporary issues in Asia and/or Southeast Asia;
- demonstrated ability to teach core and specialized courses in the public policy school environment; and
- a willingness and ability to mentor graduate students.

Application

Please submit your application package in electronic form (PDF) via AcademicJobsOnline (AJO) <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/30180>.

The package should include:

1. A cover letter
2. Curriculum Vitae
3. A research statement that outlines your past, current, and future research agenda
4. A teaching statement outlining your pedagogical philosophy and practices, courses taught, and, where available, evidence of teaching effectiveness.
5. Up to two writing samples (please clearly denote which is your primary sample, which can be a job market paper or chapter(s) from a book project)

6. Names and contact information of three referees. Referees will be contacted automatically via AJO with instructions to upload their letters of recommendation.

The cover letter, research statement and teaching statement should each be a maximum of two pages, double-spaced.

Applications submitted prior to September 15, 2025 will receive preference; but the review of applications will continue until positions are filled. Only shortlisted candidates will be notified. Initial face-to-face conversations may be conducted at the Asian Association for Public Administration Conference in October 2025 in Beijing, or at other relevant international conferences in 2025. Promising candidates not attending these events will be invited to a Zoom conversation. If you have any questions, you may contact Ms Sarah Seow, Senior Manager, Academic Affairs, LKYSPP at email: sarah@nus.edu.sg.

Additional Information

About the Lee Kuan Yew School of Public Policy

LKYSPP is a leading public policy school in Asia, attracting an internationally diverse, world-class faculty and student body to engage and address the world's most pressing challenges. Its mission is to inspire, improve lives, and take central positions in the policy and governance conversations within Asia and beyond. We do this by working hard on two planks: pursuing academic and intellectual excellence, and crafting lessons for meaningful public policymaking. The school is housed within the National University of Singapore, the highest ranked university in Asia and 8th in the world (QS World University Rankings 2026).

LKYSPP offers highly competitive research funding, salary, relocation and housing support, and other benefits. The teaching load (typically three per academic year) allows faculty to focus on providing quality instruction while maintaining their research excellence. For more information about LKYSPP, please visit www.lkyspp.nus.edu.sg.

Start Date:

Date Posted: 6/25/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15631

University of Tennessee

Rank: Assistant Director of National Security & Foreign Affairs, Baker School - UTK

Subfield(s): International Relations, Public Policy, Other

Specializations: International Security, Foreign Policy, East Asia

The Howard H. Baker School of Public Policy and Public Affairs (Baker School) at the University of Tennessee, Knoxville, seeks applications for a full-time Assistant Director at the Center for National Security & Foreign Affairs (NSFA) at the Baker School. We seek candidates with national security and/or foreign affairs expertise who can help lead the Center's efforts to deliver high quality student experience through undergraduate, graduate, and executive education, both in person and online. The successful candidate will also contribute to the Center's policy engagement work through research and public engagement activities.

The Baker School offers a Bachelor of Science in Public Affairs and a Master of Public Policy (MPP) with concentrations in national security and nuclear policy, among other focus areas.

This position will play a central role in shaping and expanding the Center for National Security and Foreign Affairs' (NSFA) impact on national security, foreign policy, and public engagement. Working closely with the Director, the Assistant Director will help build a nationally recognized hub for scholarship, student development, and public policy engagement in national security and foreign affairs. This position is responsible for advancing the Center's vision to become a dynamic platform for connecting students, faculty, policymakers, and the public through rigorous research, strategic partnerships, and experiential learning. The successful candidate will contribute to the development of the Center's policy engagement through the execution of research projects, conferences, policy dialogues, and public events that reflect the Center's commitment to addressing today's most pressing national security and foreign policy challenges. The candidate will work with NSFA-affiliated faculty and student research assistants on research projects, policy briefs, and reports related to national security and foreign affairs. The candidate will also help build the Center's presence as a trusted, nonpartisan contributor to state, national, and international policy conversations. This position will work closely with the NSFA Director and the Baker School's Student Success team to engage and mentor students interested in careers in state and federal government, the private sector, thinktanks, and other organizations in the fields of national security, foreign policy, nuclear policy, and related fields. This includes developing and delivering training, supporting professional development experiences such as internships, fellowships, study abroad opportunities (including the Baker School's program in Japan), Washington, D.C. trips, guest speaker events, and wargaming simulations. The position will help expand and deepen these opportunities to build a robust professional pathway for students entering the field. This is a forward-facing role for a strategic builder, ideally suited for someone committed to educating future public servants, producing policy-relevant research, and strengthening the bridge between academia and the national policymaking community.

Responsibilities

POLICY ENGAGEMENT (50%)

- Assists in developing and implementing strategic planning objectives, initiatives, and activities for the center.
- Identifies opportunities for externally funded research from foundations, government agencies, and/or corporate entities.
- Participates in the development and submission of proposals.
- Proposes and produces research-based policy briefs and reports about topics relevant to NSFA expertise.
- Participates in the planning and execution of funded and unfunded research projects.
- Supervises student research assistants while providing direction and mentorship.
- Participates in periodic meetings with university partners, external partners, and other stakeholders to discuss joint issues and initiatives.
- Participates in periodic management meetings to relay information about center updates and issues.
- Clearly and effectively communicates research findings through presentations to funders, professional audiences, and/or policymakers and other audiences.
- Interacts and networks within the Baker School, with NSFA affiliates and fellows, and across campus to seek potential collaborators and develop potential research projects.

STUDENT MENTORSHIP & PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT (50%)

- Develops and delivers presentations at high schools and regional colleges about national security, foreign affairs, and/or nuclear policy to grow interest in the undergraduate and graduate programs at the Baker School.
- Develop and deliver training for students and outside stakeholders for policy education and professional development.
- Collaborates with the NSFA Director and the school's office of Student Success to develop and implement national security and foreign affairs-related experiences for students, both within and outside the classroom, including student travel.
- Identify, plan, and organize support for professional development experiences such as internships, fellowships, study abroad opportunities (including the Baker School's program in Japan), Washington, D.C. trips, guest speaker events, and crisis or wargaming simulations.
- Advises students on academic and career matters.
- Maintains regular office hours for student interaction.

Qualifications

Required Qualifications

Education:

Candidates must hold a master's degree in political science, public policy, international relations, defense or security studies, or a related field.

Experience:

- Experience in government, public policy, national security, international security, think tanks, non-governmental organizations, international organizations, teaching or research in public policy / foreign policy schools, or related career areas.
- Experience in working on research related to national security, foreign affairs, and related topics.

Knowledge, Skills, Abilities:

- Knowledge of applicable policy processes and actors in national security and foreign affairs.
- Ability to work independently and in collaborative multidisciplinary teams.
- Ability to develop, plan, and implement short- and long-range goals.
- Excellent communication, interpersonal, and presentation skills.
- Commitment to teaching excellence and student success.
- Strong knowledge of field concepts, practices, procedures, and professional standards in national security and foreign affairs.
- Strong research design and analytical skills.
- Commitment to continuous professional development.

A PhD in political science, public policy, international relations, defense/security studies, or a related field

Preferred Qualifications

Education: A PhD in political science, public policy, international relations, defense/security studies, or a related field

Experience: Experience in higher education teaching. Strong publication record in relevant field

Work Location

- Knoxville, TN
- On-site
- Remote work may be available on either Thursday or Friday with the permission of the position supervisor and consistent with the institution's regulations. This may be impacted by in-person responsibilities and events that conflict with this schedule.

UT market range:

- MR 11

Applicants should submit the materials below:

- Cover letter explaining research experience, any teaching experience, any policy experience, any relevant qualifications, and interest in the position
- CV
- Graduate transcripts
- Writing samples of policy related research
- Teaching evaluations (if available)
- List of three (3) references

About the Howard H. Baker Jr. School for Public Policy and Public Affairs (Baker School)

The Howard H. Baker Jr. School for Public Policy and Public Affairs (Baker School) was established in 2023 to honor the distinguished life and legacy of Howard H. Baker Jr., a former US Senator, Senate Majority Leader, White House Chief of Staff, and Ambassador to Japan. Located in a 51,000-sq. In a purpose-built facility, the Baker School evolved from the Baker Center, which operated as a think tank producing research, public engagement programming, and an active set of student programs for twenty years. The Baker School now offers degree programs and developed its research initiatives into independent research centers - NSFA and the Center for Transportation, Energy, and Environmental Policy (CETEP). In addition, the Baker School houses the Institute of American Civics, which encourages civic knowledge and participation among UT students and the state at large.

Who We Are

We are a dynamic and close-knit team of dedicated and hardworking individuals devoted to research, education, and public service initiatives that address real-world problems in local, state, national, and global communities. Each team member is a valuable contributor to achieving our mission, and we work together to find innovative approaches to moving the Baker School forward. We are fast-moving and growing. Our work continually evolves to meet changing needs.

About Us

The University of Tennessee, Knoxville, has shaped leaders, change-makers, and innovative thinkers since its founding in 1794. The university is home to more than 38,000 students and 10,000 statewide employees—the Volunteers—who uphold the university's tradition of lighting the way for others through leadership and service.

UT Knoxville offers over 900 programs of study across 14 degree-granting colleges and schools. As Tennessee's flagship land-grant university, its footprint spans the entire state. The university holds the highest Carnegie classification for research activity and has deep partnerships with industry leaders and the US Department of Energy's largest multidisciplinary laboratory, Oak Ridge National Laboratory. The Knoxville campus serves and recruits for UT Knoxville, including the Institute of Agriculture and the Space Institute, as well as the UT Institute of Public Service.

UT Knoxville considers its employees its number one asset. With values that focus on work-life balance, compensation, and innovation leadership, all Vols are supported to advance professionally. Employees have access to career development and coaching, continued education, and an extensive list of development and training possibilities. The Volunteer employee experience implements structures and practices that attract and retain a diverse community and that support a culture where everyone matters and belongs.

The university holds a strong commitment to its land-grant mission of learning and engagement, with a tradition of service and leadership that carries that Volunteer spirit throughout the state and around the world. It has been ranked nationally as “Best Employer for New Graduates,” “One of America’s Best Large Employers,” and “Best Workplace for Women,” and has been designated as “Best Place for Working Parents” by Forbes Magazine.

Apply today and join the Tennessee Volunteer community!

Link to apply: https://fa-ewlq-saasfaprod1.fa.ocs.oraclecloud.com/hcmUI/CandidateExperience/en/sites/CX_1/job/3454/?utm_medium=jobshare&utm_source=External+Job+Share

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/23/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15626

Purdue University

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor in AI, Policy and Society

Subfield(s): Open, Public Policy, Public Administration

Job Title: Visiting Assistant Professor

Job Description:

Visiting Assistant Professor in Artificial Intelligence, Policy, and Society

Purdue’s Political Science Department is seeking a visiting assistant professor for the 2025–2026 academic year to teach master’s level core courses AI policy, governance, and social impacts in the university-wide Master of Science in Artificial Intelligence degree. The position begins in August 2025 and, with approval, may be held remotely from locations within the United States. The position may be renewable for an additional year, contingent on budget approval.

This person in this position will teach a four-course equivalency per semester of online master’s level courses in areas related to AI governance, public policy, and social impacts of AI. This position also contributes to the administrative management of the core courses and assists with updating course material. Purdue offers a supportive environment with many opportunities for professional development.

Qualifications

Qualified candidates must hold a master’s degree in political science, public policy, public administration, or a closely related field. Preferred: A PhD or at least three years of relevant job experience in addition to a masters degree. Candidates must have academic expertise and/or work experience related to one or more of the following areas: public policy, public administration, social and policy impacts of artificial intelligence, or use of AI tools in the workplace. Applicants should have evidence of successful post-secondary teaching experience.

The Department, College, and University

Purdue University is Indiana’s public land-grant university and a world-class research and teaching institution. In 2023, for the sixth consecutive year, U.S. News & World Report has ranked Purdue among the top 10 Most Innovative Schools in the nation. Purdue is home to over 44,000 undergraduate students and 12,000 graduate students. Purdue is in West Lafayette/Lafayette community with an abundance of activities, high quality of life, and reasonable cost of living.

The Department of Political Science, home to 27 faculty and over thirty-five PhD students, offers BA, MA, and PhD degrees. We are a welcoming and supportive community for visiting faculty and post-docs, with regular opportunities for professional development through mentoring, workshops, research labs, and an active speaker series. The Department is part of the College of Liberal Arts, a leader in developing innovative programs such as the nationally recognized Cornerstone Integrated Liberal Arts program, which challenges students to become independent thinkers, preparing them to become bold, visionary leaders.

Applications

Application materials must be submitted electronically via <https://careers.purdue.edu/> with job id #37523.

Candidates should submit 1) a cover letter that describes their qualifications for the position, 2) a CV, and 3) a brief teaching portfolio with evidence of post-secondary teaching experience. Candidates who advance in the process will be required to submit additional materials including names of references and transcripts. A background check is required for employment in this position.

Review of applications will begin July 6, 2025, and continue until the position is filled. Questions should be addressed to Department Head Cherie Maestas at cmaestas@purdue.edu.

The anticipated salary range is $55,000 – $57,000 for the academic year.

Candidates must have the ability to work in the US without immigration sponsorship from Purdue University.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/6/2025

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 15604

Emory University

Rank: Pre/Post Doctoral Fellowship – Local Politics and Policy Lab

Directed by Professor Natalia Bueno, the Local Politics and Policy Lab conducts cutting-edge, rigorous empirical research on local politics and policy around the globe (United States included), especially on issues of housing, municipal finance, decentralization, public service provision, and local elections. The Fellow will work closely with Professor Bueno to manage the Lab, collaborate on research initiatives, collect and analyze data. The Fellow will also participate in the academic activity of the department and will have time to conduct their own research.

Salary is competitive. There is no formal teaching required. The starting date of the position is flexible.

Priority will be given to candidates with a Ph.D. in political science, economics, or adjacent disciplines in hand, but exceptional candidates without a Ph.D. will be considered.

Strong skills in quantitative methods, data analysis, project management, and written communication.

The application package should contain:

- A 1-3 page cover letter explaining your research interests and experience, and how you would expect to advance your research agenda during the fellowship.
- A CV
- One academic writing sample
- Three letters of recommendation

Application materials should be submitted electronically to Professor Natalia Bueno, Department of Political Science, at <https://apply.interfolio.com/168743>. To ensure full consideration, please have all materials sent by September 5, 2025, though the position will remain open until filled or the search is closed. Shortlisted candidates will be contacted for an interview.

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/5/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15602

National University of Singapore

Rank: Head of Department position (Full Professor level with tenure)

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Public Policy

The Department of Political Science at the National University of Singapore invites applications for the position of Head of Department at the rank of full professor or higher (endowed chair professor). Research and teaching specialisation is open, although candidates should contribute to one or more of the Department's four subfields: comparative politics, governance and public policy, international relations, and political theory.

The successful candidate will have an internationally recognised record of research and publication, as well as a record of very good teaching. Exceptional leadership skills are essential, as is a demonstrable commitment to intellectual and methodological pluralism. Other qualifications include evidence of substantial administrative experience; a record of promoting faculty and student success; a commitment to collegiality and diversity; and excellent interpersonal, communication, and organisational skills. The Head is expected to provide leadership to implement a strategic vision, with the support of department faculty, which advances the Department's international profile and reputation. Research and teaching expectations may be reduced (e.g. one course teaching commitment per year), given the Head's crucial service role.

Interested candidates should submit a CV, cover letter that addresses the qualifications outlined above, research statement (approx. two pages), teaching statement (approx. two pages), and names and addresses of at least four references.

Review of applications will begin in August 2025 and will continue until the position is filled. Campus visits for selected candidates will be arranged for October 2025. The position is expected to commence in January 2027. Questions about the position should be directed to the Search Committee Chair, Professor William Bain (wbain@nus.edu.sg).

Exceptional candidates at the rank of senior associate professor are welcome to apply, subject to being promoted to full professor upon appointment at NUS.

The Department of Political Science is a vibrant multidisciplinary community comprised of over 25 tenure- and educator-track faculty members. The Department offers degrees in Political Science and Global Studies at the undergraduate level and in Political Science at the Masters and Doctoral levels. It also partners with the International Political Science Association (IPSA) to host the IPSA-NUS Summer School in Social Science Research Methods annually. It is one of 16 departments in a large Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences, which is home to a comprehensive range of programmes in Asian Studies, Humanities, Social Science, and Language Studies. The Lee Kuan Yew School of Public Policy, the Asia Research Institute, the Asia-Europe Foundation, the East Asian Institute, the ISEAS–Yusof Ishak Institute, among other research units inside and outside NUS, provide additional opportunities for research interaction and collaboration.

NUS offers an internationally competitive remuneration package that includes a period of subsidised housing (for non-Singaporean applicants), annual performance bonus, medical benefits, and relocation expenses (where applicable). Outstanding applicants might also be considered for endowed/chair professorship that comes with annual research support and business class travel eligibility. NUS provides significant research support, including generous start-up grants for new faculty members.

Please submit your application through the NUS Career Portal : https://careers.nus.edu.sg/job/Professor-&Head-of-Department-%28Political-Science%29/29011-en_GB/

Qualifications

The successful candidate will have an internationally recognised record of research and publication, as well as a record of very good teaching. Exceptional leadership skills are essential, as is a strong commitment to intellectual and methodological pluralism. Other qualifications include evidence of substantial administrative experience; a record of promoting faculty and student success; a commitment to collegiality and diversity; and excellent interpersonal, communication, and organisational skills. The Head is expected to provide leadership in co-creating with department faculty to implement a strategic vision, consistent with NUS' research and teaching mission, which advances the Department's international profile and reputation. Research and teaching expectations may be reduced (e.g. one course teaching commitment per year), given the Head's crucial service role.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 5/27/2025

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15591

Washington University in St. Louis

Rank: Weidenbaum Center Postdoctoral Fellowship

We are pleased to announce a new Postdoctoral Fellowship in Survey Research through the Weidenbaum Center. This fellowship allows new Ph.D.s and early career scholars the opportunity to contribute to cutting-edge research using high-quality survey data collected by the Weidenbaum Center. This fellowship is uniquely situated at the intersection of academic and public-facing scholarship, allowing the fellow to pursue a multitude of career paths, contribute to research that directly affects important issues in American politics, and increase visibility of their research.

The Weidenbaum Center at Washington University in St. Louis invites applications from recent Ph.D. graduates for a one-year post-doctoral fellowship. The fellowship will run for 12 months, starting on or around July 1, 2025, with the possibility of a one-year renewal.

The Weidenbaum Center has supported survey data collection efforts through The American Panel Survey (TAPS), The American Social Survey (TASS), and the Weidenbaum Center Survey (WCS). The Center's most recent efforts have focused on the launch of the WCS, which is fielded three times each year, includes a sample of 3,000 respondents (2,000 general US adult population and oversample of 1,000 African Americans), with each survey paired with voter file data and web-tracking data for a subset of respondents. For more information on survey work supported by the Center, please visit: <https://wc.wustl.edu/weidenbaum-center-survey-work>.

The Fellow will work collaboratively with Taylor Carlson, graduate student fellows, and other Weidenbaum Center affiliates to support the launch of the Weidenbaum Center Survey and other data collection efforts through the Center. The Fellow will assist with the launch of an online dashboard that allows people to analyze and download the survey data, write public-facing reports describing key findings from the data, draft survey instruments, create publicly available data repositories, and conduct both coauthored and independent academic research.

We are seeking an individual with social science research interests who will advance the Center's mission by engaging in collaborative and independent research and who will enjoy the opportunity to contribute to public scholarship (blog posts, reports, website graphics). We are especially interested in candidates with training in survey methodology and experience with public-facing scholarship (e.g., op-eds). Candidates should detail their experience in these areas in their cover letters and showcase any of these interests in the writing sample. We anticipate that the Fellow will spend most of their time working on Center-related and coauthored projects with Taylor Carlson and other Center affiliates.

Qualifications

We invite applications from qualified candidates who will have a PhD in hand by the time of the appointment, are no more than four years from the granting of their Ph.D. at the time of the submission, and who do not yet hold tenure-track academic positions.

Applications are evaluated against a broad set of criteria with special consideration given to contributions the candidate can make to academic diversity in our University community and more specifically to the study of survey methodology or addressing contemporary issues in American society with survey data.

Application Instructions

Proposal Submission Deadline: We will begin reviewing applications on February 7 and anticipate scheduling Zoom interviews as early as late February.

Proposal Format:

Applications should include the following:

- Cover letter
- Curriculum vitae
- Research statement not to exceed 2000 words describing the dissertation project and other research
- Writing sample
- Three letters of reference
- The cover letter should be addressed to Taylor Carlson

NOTE: Please apply through Interfolio: <https://apply.interfolio.com/161709>

Start Date: Fall 2025

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 1/15/2025

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 15339

KAPSARC School of Public Policy

Rank: Faculty - Climate Policy and Sustainability

Position Summary:

The KSPP is a newly established graduate school that offers master's and executive education programs. The first cohort of master's students commenced their graduate studies in the fall of 2024. Situated in the thriving capital city of Riyadh, Saudi Arabia, on the state-of-the-art KAPSARC campus, the KSPP is well-placed to offer students an exceptional educational experience.

The KSPP's vision is to be a world-class education and research institution that prepares the next generation of public policy leaders and professionals within the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia and globally. To achieve this vision, the school is committed to providing high-quality educational programs and creating a bridge between academia, industry, and government. As the first public policy school in the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia, the KSPP is uniquely positioned to offer public policy degrees focusing on management and leadership, energy and climate policy, and data analytics. By providing concentrations in these areas, the school aims to help students develop the skills and knowledge necessary to address pressing policy challenges and make a meaningful impact in their communities and beyond. The KAPSARC School of Public Policy (KSPP) invites applications for a faculty position in public management.

The KAPSARC School of Public Policy (KSPP) invites applications for a faculty position in climate policy and sustainability. We welcome candidates whose research, teaching, and outreach activities broadly focus on climate policies and sustainability. The KSPP offers a highly competitive salary and benefits package, including children's educational support, housing support, and premier health insurance.

Responsibilities:

The successful candidate will be expected to carry out impactful research, teach courses related to the candidate's research field, contribute to core courses and/or electives in public sector management and leadership, supervise capstone projects, and contribute to the overall academic environment of the School.

Qualifications:

The successful candidate must have a Ph.D. in economics or an interdisciplinary Ph.D. in environmental science/engineering and economics with a track record of research on environmental and sustainability topics.

To apply, please visit: <https://www.kspp.edu.sa/careers/faculty-climate-policy-and-sustainability>

Start Date:

Date Posted: 11/4/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15148

KAPSARC School of Public Policy

Rank: Faculty - Energy & Environmental Economics

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Public Administration, Political Theory

Position Summary:

The KSPP is a newly established graduate school that offers master's and executive education programs. The first cohort of master's students commenced their graduate studies in the fall of 2024. Situated in the thriving capital city of Riyadh, Saudi Arabia, on the state-of-the-art KAPSARC campus, the KSPP is well-placed to offer students an exceptional educational experience.

The KSPP's vision is to be a world-class education and research institution that prepares the next generation of public policy leaders and professionals within the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia and globally. To achieve this vision, the school is committed to providing high-quality educational programs and creating a bridge between academia, industry, and government. As the first public policy school in the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia, the KSPP is uniquely positioned to offer public policy degrees focusing on management and leadership, energy and climate policy, and data analytics. By providing concentrations in these areas, the school aims to help students develop the skills and knowledge necessary to address pressing policy challenges and make a meaningful impact in their communities and beyond.

The KAPSARC School of Public Policy (KSPP) invites applications for a faculty position in energy and environmental economics. We welcome candidates whose research, teaching, and outreach activities broadly focus on energy markets, climate finance, and climate policy design. The KSPP offers a highly competitive salary and benefits package, including children's educational support, housing support, and premier health insurance.

Responsibilities:

The successful candidate will be expected to carry out impactful research, teach courses related to the candidate's research field, contribute to core courses and/or electives in public sector management and leadership, supervise capstone projects, and contribute to the overall academic environment of the School.

Qualifications:

The successful candidate must have a Ph.D. in economics with a field specialization in energy and environmental economics.

To apply, please visit: <https://www.kspp.edu.sa/careers/faculty-energy-environmental-economics>

Start Date:

Date Posted: 11/4/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15146

KAPSARC School of Public Policy

Rank: Faculty - Public Finance

Subfield(s): Administration, Public Administration, Public Policy

Position Summary:

The KSPP is a newly established graduate school that offers master's and executive education programs. The first cohort of master's students commenced their graduate studies in the fall of 2024. Situated in the thriving capital city of Riyadh, Saudi Arabia, on the state-of-the-art KAPSARC campus, the KSPP is well-placed to offer students an exceptional educational experience.

The KSPP's vision is to be a world-class education and research institution that prepares the next generation of public policy leaders and professionals within the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia and globally. To achieve this vision, the school is committed to providing high-quality educational programs and creating a bridge between academia, industry, and government. As the first public policy school in the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia, the KSPP is uniquely positioned to offer public policy degrees focusing on management and leadership, energy and climate policy, and data analytics. By providing concentrations in these areas, the school aims to help students develop the skills and knowledge necessary to address pressing policy challenges and make a meaningful impact in their communities and beyond. The KAPSARC School of Public Policy (KSPP) invites applications for a faculty position in public management.

The KAPSARC School of Public Policy (KSPP) invites applications for a faculty position in public finance. We welcome candidates whose research, teaching, and outreach activities broadly address public finance topics. The KSPP offers a highly competitive salary and benefits package, including children's educational support, housing support, and premier health insurance.

Responsibilities:

The successful candidate will be expected to carry out impactful research, teach courses related to the candidate's research field, contribute to core courses and/or electives in public sector management and leadership, supervise capstone projects, and contribute to the overall academic environment of the School.

Qualifications:

The successful candidate must have a Ph.D. in economics with a field specialization in public finance

To apply, please visit: <https://www.kspp.edu.sa/careers/faculty-public-finance>

Start Date:

Date Posted: 11/4/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15145

KAPSARC School of Public Policy

Rank: Faculty - Public Management

Position Summary:

The KSPP is a newly established graduate school that offers master's and executive education programs. The first cohort of master's students commenced their graduate studies in the fall of 2024. Situated in the thriving capital city of Riyadh, Saudi Arabia, on the state-of-the-art KAPSARC campus, the KSPP is well-placed to offer students an exceptional educational experience.

The KSPP's vision is to be a world-class education and research institution that prepares the next generation of public policy leaders and professionals within the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia and globally. To achieve this vision, the school is committed to providing high-quality educational programs and creating a bridge between academia, industry, and government. As the first public policy school in the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia, the KSPP is uniquely positioned to offer public policy degrees focusing on management and leadership, energy and climate policy, and data analytics. By providing concentrations in these areas, the school aims to help students develop the skills and knowledge necessary to address pressing policy challenges and make a meaningful impact in their communities and beyond. The KAPSARC School of Public Policy (KSPP) invites applications for a faculty position in public management.

The KAPSARC School of Public Policy (KSPP) invites applications for a faculty position in public management. We welcome candidates from any subfield of public management, including those with research interests that intersect with political science, decision science, and/or economics. The KSPP offers a highly competitive salary and benefits package, including children's educational support, housing support, and premier health insurance.

Responsibilities:

The successful candidate will be expected to carry out impactful research, teach courses related to the candidate's research field, contribute to core courses and/or electives in public sector management and leadership, supervise capstone projects, and contribute to the overall academic environment of the School.

Qualifications:

The successful candidate must have a Ph.D. in management science, political science, or similar disciplines with a track record of research on public management topics.

To apply, please visit: <https://www.kspp.edu.sa/careers/faculty-public-management>

Start Date:

Date Posted: 11/4/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15147

KAPSARC School of Public Policy

Rank: Faculty - Public Policy

Position Summary:

The KSPP is a newly established graduate school that offers master's and executive education programs. The first cohort of master's students commenced their graduate studies in the fall of 2024. Situated in the thriving capital city of Riyadh, Saudi Arabia, on the state-of-the-art KAPSARC campus, the KSPP is well-placed to offer students an exceptional educational experience.

The KSPP's vision is to be a world-class education and research institution that prepares the next generation of public policy leaders and professionals within the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia and globally. To achieve this vision, the school is committed to providing high-quality educational programs and creating a bridge between academia, industry, and government. As the first public policy school in the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia, the KSPP is uniquely positioned to offer public policy degrees focusing on management and leadership, energy and climate policy, and data analytics. By providing concentrations in these areas, the school aims to help students develop the skills and knowledge necessary to address pressing policy challenges and make a meaningful impact in their communities and beyond.

The KAPSARC School of Public Policy (KSPP) invites applications for a faculty position in public policy. We welcome candidates whose research, teaching, and outreach activities broadly focus on applied econometrics and public policy design topics. The KSPP offers a highly competitive salary and benefits package, including children's educational support, housing support, and premier health insurance.

Responsibilities:

The successful candidate will be expected to carry out impactful research, teach courses related to the candidate's research field, contribute to core courses and/or electives in public sector management and leadership, supervise capstone projects, and contribute to the overall academic environment of the School.

Qualifications:

The successful candidate must have a Ph.D. in public policy.

To apply, please visit: <https://www.kspp.edu.sa/careers/faculty-public-policy>

Start Date:

Date Posted: 11/4/2024

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 15144